Luncheon For Merchants

Good Hospitality Benefits All

The Schleicher County Chamber of Commerce, in a combined effort with the Schleicher County Extension Service, held a luncheon Monday, October 16, for the merchants of Eldorado. The theme of the luncheon was Texas Hospitality.

Nancy Lester welcomed everyone and stated that tourism is big industry in Texas. She went on to say, "We all need each other to make this community active and productive. I'm so glad all of you are here -- we have a great start."

After a meal of sandwiches and desserts was served, a video titled "Texas Hospitality" was shown. It related that Texans are known for their friendly spirit, with the motto being friendship.

Tourism is big business and every Texan benefits from each dollar earned through tourism. Every Texan should show pride in their state heritage. The impressions of tourists depends on each individual.

The video went on to emphasize our state strategy which is sharing pride in our Texas heritage and our goal is to carry this out. Each merchant and individual should be friendly towards every guest that visits this great state. If the tourist is treated friendly, he will be happy and will stay longer.

Good hospitality habits should be shown by one and all alike. These habits are:

1. Make a good first impression.
2. Know Your Community.
3. Communicate Clearly.
4. Know your job.
5. Handle problems effectively.
6. Make a good last impression.

If these hospitality habits are shown, it will benefit the community as well as yourself. Develop these habits and the tourist will come back.

The chamber plans to have more luncheons in the future to benefit the merchant -- to make this community stronger and united in its efforts.

Life Among The Fishes

By Thomas Giovannitti

You know, I never really thought of myself as prudish or excessively sensitive. Last night, on a regular network show, they showed some scenes that I figure were not proper for family entertainment. I don't recall, but I am pretty sure they did not give any warnings that some of the scenes in the movie they were showing, a parent might not want their child to see or maybe the parent himself would not want to view.

The show was a movie, "The Big Easy". It was billed as a suspense thriller and had fairly well-known actors in it. It started out as a regular murder mystery, and not as bloody as some, but when they went into a scene that was, I suppose, going to bring a romantic sub-plot, they let air a "love (and I use that term loosely as did the director) scene" it got to be a little too steamy for prime time television.

It is my understanding that they edit these shows before they show them on regular prime time television. I don't even want to guess what that bedroom scene must be like in the original movie but I am fairly sure it is not something a child under 25 should be viewing.

The trouble is there is not too much lead-in time for this sort of scene either. By the time we realized where this particular scene was going, most of the implications of the actors' actions had already been revealed. (I do mean revealed.)

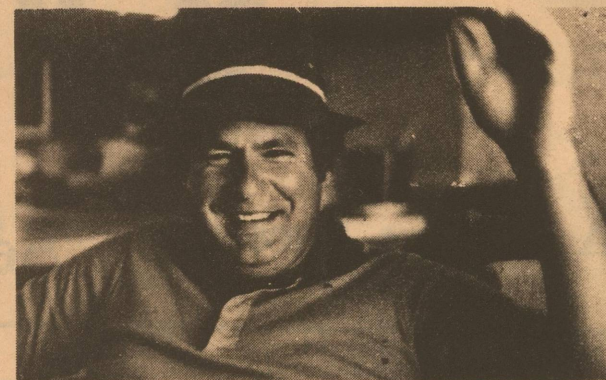

I am a little ashamed of myself for not writing to the network and expressing my anger and disappointment with it for allowing such fare on television while my minor children are still up and about. Maybe it is my failure to express my disapproval that leads the network executives to believe that I want this sort of thing coming into my living room.

Television should be entertaining and sometimes informative. I also know that in this free country of ours the networks don't have to tailor every show to my tastes or my values. I don't necessarily think we ought to get into the area of censorship but I do think we need some sort of better advance warning about the content of a show so we can make a more informed choice as to what to watch.

After flipping the channel last night, other than the world series, Maxine and I would have probably opted to leave the TV off for the night. Those short one-line blurbs it the television guides just didn't prepare me to watch two grown folks do things in front of a camera what should only be done behind a locked door.

Remember getting into hot water at a very young age. Teacher asked the question, "Gary, if Billy gave you 3 dogs and Ronald gave you 2 dogs, how many dogs would you have?"

I said, "Seven."

Teacher said, "You're not listening, Gary. Are you sure you would have seven dogs if Billy gave you 3 dogs and Ronald gave you 2 dogs?"

And I said, "Yep, ya see, I already got 2 dogs."

Although my teacher didn't know it, I was always fairly good at math. But, some folk seem to have a slightly tougher time at ciphering.

Here are a few 5th grade math definitions...

* A straight line is any distance between two places.

* Parallel lines are lines that cannot meet until they run together.

* To find the number of square feet in a room, you multiply the number of feet by the room. The product is the result.

* A Horace uncle line is a line that isn't crooked.

* A circle is a round straight line with a hole in the middle.

Sure do hope that these insights into the world of mathematics will be of benefit to some of you folks out there. If you need any more help, just ask you're kids.

Sorry about last week, but the thought process just wasn't there. But there is something on my mind this week -- something that needs to be brought to light.

We try as parents to teach our children right from wrong, respect for others and responsibility. Somewhere in there we try to throw in little things about behavior.

What am I getting at? I am very concerned with our youth as they cross the main highway during their lunch break.

First of all, there is a blinking light at certain times of the lunch hour. I stay within the 20 mph speed limit and have had cars and trucks speed past me. This might not be such a problem -- but there are very often middle school and high school students crossing the highway.

Even when I am going the speed limit of 20 mph, some of these youngsters start across the highway without even looking to see if anyone is coming down the road. When they do look up, they look right at me and laugh -- but keep on going, very slowly, across the highway.

Living here, I know to look for these youngsters and slow down a little more to allow them to cross. This is not a problem for me. But it does worry me somewhat.

Some of the cars and trucks that go through the school zone do not slow down, and the kids are not looking before they cross. As of yet, as far as I know, there has been no accident. But there is an accident out there, waiting to happen, if the drivers do not slow down and the youngsters do not start watching before they cross.

I remember when I was their age and thought it was "cool", or "neat", to dare the other person. But when they dare someone in an automobile, they are playing with their lives.

Students, wake up! You have so much ahead of you. Don't take a chance with your life. Take a little responsibility on yourself, and think about your behavior. Parents, encourage your children to look before they cross. And drivers, please, please slow down when you are in the school zone during school hours.

Think about it!

Asthmatic Home Care: Israeli investigators have found that home care of asthma attacks based on the treatment plan instituted in emergency rooms significantly decreased the number of visits to the emergency room, the number of hospitalizations, and the number of absences from school in 6 to 13 year old children. Parents of 50 youngsters were taught to administer crises and, if necessary, to give prednisone (also prescription) for 3 to 4 days. They also were taught to measure the respiratory rate via a pulmonary flow meter. (Annals of Allergy)

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

There has been much discussion lately about hair length and dress lengths in the school system. I personally feel that this issue has been blown out of proportion, as it has many times in the past.

My children will abide by the rules, no matter how they feel about them. We all abide by rules every day, and we don't always agree with them.

There is a problem in Eldorado that needs more discussion than the above, and it involves the children in this town more than their hair or clothing.

I work in one of the local stores which stays open late every night. I see children walking the streets of our town unsupervised by anyone. I am talking about children in junior high and younger.

There can be nothing good which comes from children running the streets like this. These children are out until 10, 11 or 12 p.m., sometimes on school nights. It seems to me that parents should be more concerned with this problem, and should know where their children are at night.

This is no small problem -- you would be surprised at how large this problem really is. This causes extra work for our law enforcement by having to make sure these children stay out of trouble.

Cities throughout the country have started imposing curfews on children at night. If you do not want Eldorado to have to resort to something like this, then be aware of where your children are, who they are running with, and what they are doing.

Children that age should be home at night, not running the streets. Lets do our part, parents, to stop the decline of our children's morals, both in school and out. Our children will grow to be law abiding, decent adult people if we do our job now.

Thank You
Brian Holsey

Dear Taxpayers,

This is the second letter I have started today about the Hospital District and its recent Tax levy. The first was wordy, this one will get right to the meat.

There is a tax roll-back election petition being circulated. It states that the SCHD adopted a 30% tax increase over last year. The advertised fact is that the tax increase was 21.6 % over the effective tax rate. High yes, but more on that later. The tax roll-back election would make it possible for the voters of Schleicher County to roll the rate back to an 8% increase.

The effective tax rate for SCHD for 1989 was 38.24 cents per $100 property value. At that rate, a $50,000 home in town would pay $191.20. At the rollback rate, 41.24 cents, taxes are $206.20. At the adopted rate, 46.50 cents, $232.50.

SCMC is having financial difficulties, as are many hospitals. Nineteen hospitals have closed their doors in Texas this year. Robert Lee, Rocksprings, San Saba and Menard have all had their hospitals close in the recent past. The difference in those towns and Eldorado is physicians and their cooperation with the hospital. They all lost their doctors and as a result, their hospitals. We have two doctors on staff who live and are raising their families in Eldorado, and who by all indications intend to stay and practice here.

SCMC currently has Doctors Clinics, Dental services, a Nursing Home and a Medicare approved (70% of our patients are Medicare) hospital with 24 hour emergency room staffed by two nurses, with a resident doctor on call 365 days a year. The primary gripe I hear is the tax burden.

At the current level of services, our expenses are to a large degree fixed. The income side of the ledger is made up of two kinds of dollars, patient service dollars and tax dollars. These two total to balance the budget. Short and sweet, if you want to decrease the need for tax subsidy, get sick, go see the doctor here, and pay our bill. If you owned part of Buzz's Exxon, would you take your flats to Angelo?

Yes, we as a board have looked at the possibility of cutting services to decrease our costs. The loss of revenue would offset most of the savings.

The biggest loser is the emergency room and hospital and would logically be the first to get the ax, but in my opinion that would be a grave error. 24-hour emergency service is the most vital service we provide here. Two years ago a horse crushed my groin muscle and me in the process. Darlene loaded me in the car and had me in the emergency room in under five minutes. Blood pressure 30 over nothing and weak thready pulse. Patsy started fluids and had my blood pressure on the rise (slightly) by the time Dr. Addy could walk across the street and continue the therapy. This old boy wouldn't have survived an hour ride in the ambulance.

Last Halloween, Frank had a fever and stopped breathing at the Memorial Building. We were in the car, so we smoked the tires to the hospital. I was doing CPR on the way, but the nurses took him, started doing it well, and he is keeping us awake at nights now. You can talk what if all you want, but those two incidents have convinced me that we need a 24-hour emergency room here.

One proposal that is floating around is that we turn the hospital over to a larger hospital to manage. The proposal that I saw would cost us $300,000 for a minor emergency clinic from 8 a.m. til 6 p.m., 7 days a week with a nurse (LVN) and a doctor on call the balance of the time. We provide the maintenance of the building, utilities, and janitorial services. We could provide the same services at about the same or less cost, if a doctor would live where there is no emergency room. Dr. Johnson has indicated he would not expose his family to that level of risk. The first hour after a serious emergency is critical to the survival of a patient. He doesn't want to spend that hour on the highway.

What happens with the EMS service if we close the emergency room? They currently spend under one hour on a typical emergency run, then have time in case of a transfer to arrange for someone who has time to take a two to three hour transfer. With no stabilization possible here, it would be at least a two to three hour run every time the phone rings. The EMS personnel are particularly selfless, but how many can stand that kind of demand on their time?

Bottom line time. If you want the hospital to close, sign and vote for the rollback election. We are doing the best job we can at controlling costs and using your tax dollars wisely. If you think your hospital taxes are high compare

Air Force To Hold Public Meeting In Christoval

Ground Wave Emergency Network Possible

The Ground Wave Emergency Network (GWEN) is a system of radio relay nodes with towers similar to those used by commercial broadcast station transmitters. GWEN is an essential part of the President's Strategic Modernization Program to upgrade and improve our nation's communications systems, thereby strengthening deterrence.

The Air Force Electronic Systems Division will hold a public information meeting about the possible selection of a radio relay tower site (approximately 11 acres) in the area of Southern Tom Green and Northern Schleicher Counties including the Community of Christoval. Location of the meeting will be the Christoval Community Center in Christoval. It will be held Monday, October 30, at 7 p.m.

The ability to deter nuclear attack rests upon the credibility of our threat to retaliate if attacked.

Our strategic forces, our bombers, and our land- and sea-based missiles are only as effective as the command, control and communications systems which support them. If the Soviet leadership were convinced U.S. military communications could be destroyed with a well-planned attack, thereby preventing U.S. forces from retaliating, then deterrence would indeed be threatened.

A crucial, in fact the most important, part of our Strategic Modernization Program is to upgrade the command links necessary for credible deterrence. In this context, a number of initiatives are being undertaken which the GWEN program is but one.

GWEN provides a communications network immune to the effects of high-altitude electromagnetic pulse (HEMP) to carry critical attack warning and force execution data. As a result, GWEN will remove any possibility of potential aggressors taking advantage of the electromagnetic pulse generated by a high-altitude nuclear burst. GWEN will prevent HEMP from being an impediment to attack warning messages reaching the President or his ability to order retaliation. By blocking a technique of which our potential aggressors are well aware, the GWEN system strengthens deterrence and enhances our ability to prevent war.

A typical relay node site is located on approximately 11 acres of land. It contains a 299-foot tall, 3-sided, 2-foot wide, LF transmitter tower including its insulator and lightning rods. The station uses existing commercial electric power. Other equipment includes a back-up diesel generator (with fuel tanks) for use during power outages, an antenna turning unit, and a radio processor. This equipment is housed in three shelters. Two shelters are at the perimeter of the property, and one is at the base of the tower.

These shelter areas are surrounded by locked, 8-foot-high, chain link fences topped with barbed wire to provide safety and to inhibit unauthorized entry.

GWEN operates intermittently in the low frequency band at 150-175 KHz (for comparison, the bottom of the AM band is 530 KHz). The peak broadcast power for each GWEN tower is from 2,000 to 3,000 watts depending on local soil conditions. In its ready status, GWEN typically transmits for a total of 6 seconds per hour. GWEN does not interfere with commercial television, radio broadcasts, amateur radio operations, garage door openers, or pace-makers.

Closing the hospital will also increase the cost of doing business in the nursing home, because the office personnel and management, housekeeping and kitchen serve both, but will still be needed for the remaining services.

ACS Guestroom Program A Success

In cooperation with local hotels, the American Cancer Society is helping cancer patients find accommodations during out-of-town visits for cancer treatment. "The rooms are generously donated by the hotels free of charge to patients and usually one family member," said John Bilberry, volunteer chairman of the American Cancer Society's Tom Green County local Service/Rehabilitation program. "And out-of-town cancer patients who show a financial need can be housed for several weeks if necessary, depending on the availability of donated rooms."

Individual hotel managers determine how long guests can stay at their inns on a "space available" basis.

The program was initiated in El Paso several years ago and has been extended by American Cancer Society volunteers to include most major cities in Texas. According to the American Cancer Society, most of the people taking advantage of the program have been from rural Texas towns.

"The program helps defray expenses and make life a little easier for cancer patients who must travel long distances for treatment," Bilberry says. "All arrangements are made through the patient's medical treatment center and the American Cancer Society."

Anyone needing more information about Reach to Recovery can call the American Cancer Society office in San Angelo at 944-2509.

Woman's Club Plans For Convention

By Evelyn Stigler

The Woman's Club met in the Club Room Tuesday, October 10. Virginia Griffin lead the group in prayer and pledges to the flags were led by Ora Deal.

Mrs. Peggy McGrath, a guest, was welcomed to the club.

A report on needs for the District Convention, which will be October 20 and 21, was given by Charlene Edmiston. Each member was asked to bring an item for a Silent Auction for the Convention.

Registration forms and tickets for the luncheon were passed around and were filled out ahead of time.

Each member answered roll call with where they were born as "Roots -- Our Foundation", was the theme of the program.

Bobby Sanders, program chairman, suggested each one tell something of their roots for the program. It was interesting to hear about everyone's background, their home life, mothers and fathers, grandmothers and grandfathers, and the type of homes they came from. Some came from other states and a few from other countries. One was originally from Czechoslovakia.

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ten women will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as a result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $60.00.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Amendment Will Benefit Fire Departments

Special legislation passed by the 71st Legislature will give Texas voters the opportunity to have direct input into life safety and property protection for years to come. The special law creates an emergency fund for the fire service of Texas and does so without an increase in taxes or fees. Texas voters will decide the issue on November 7, in the general election.

The proposed constitutional amendment, Proposition No. 17 on the ballot, authorizes the creation of the fund which can be used by all fire departments in the state, paid or volunteer, large or small. The fund may be used only for training and equipment and will be distributed on a priority basis with the most urgent needs being served first.

The fund will be administered by a board under the direction of the State Fire Marshall's Office. The seven member board, appointed by the governor, will include fire members representing the fire service and two members representing the general public and will serve without pay.

If approved by a majority of Texas voters, the fund will address the serious problem of funding for the almost 2,000 fire departments in the state. Fire departments across the state will be eligible to apply for low interest loans or grants in an effort to address unnecessary deaths and injuries as well as the needless loss of property due to fire which could be prevented with better training and equipment. During 1987, 322 Texans died in fires which caused $486,000.00 in damages.

State Representative Rick Perry, (R), of Haskell, author of the bill, said, "Voting against this proposition is the same as putting a $99 price tag on a human life."

Booster Club Happenings

The Booster Club Tennis Tournament was a huge success. There were big crowds at the courts throughout the two-day event. There were 58 entries in eight events.

A big thank you to Chris McCravey and Angie Bownds for organizing the tournament. They did a fantastic job and always did it with a smile. Sherry Lux gathered all the supplies for the concession and did her job well. Hats off to Gail and Joe Max for cooking hamburgers; Buff, Mack and Jack for keeping us supplied with ice, and Richard for the tent.

Thanks Doug for being there from start to finish. Lots of people helped in the concession -- too many to mention. Everyone had a great time.

The trophy winners were:

Thanks to all the booster club members who took food to the concession and took up tickets for the high school rodeo.

If you drive by the football field, notice the back of the scoreboard. Fourteen titles have been added. These are honors received by our athletic groups in the past.

We also have had a part in the facelift of the gym. When the gym opens for our 1989-90 season, new additions will be green Eagle and double E emblems on the playing floor.

The Spirit Award was received by Juan Espinosa and Ward Evans for their effort in the Junction game and Jessie Vasquez and Shane Criswell in the Mason game.

Seventh Grade Defeats Big Lake

The Seventh grade football team handily defeated Big Lake, at Big Lake, last Thursday 25-0. The Eldorado team is the only team to beat Big Lake this year.

Coach Dunlap remarked on the game by saying, "The boys executed their plays well. They played a heck of a good ball game."

Big Lake was scored on by the running play by Reagan

Bownds, who made two touchdowns, and Cody McCravey who also made a touchdown. Pepper Nix made a touchdown on a pass from Travis Whitten. Will Thomerson kicked the extra point to shut out Big Lake.

Dunlap commented, "The linemen played an exceptional game. The defense held Big Lake scoreless."

The Schleicher County Independent School serves nutritious meals every day. Students in Grades K-3 may buy lunch for $1.00; grades 4-6 for $1.10; Grades 7-12 for $1.20 and adult visitors for $3.45. Students may buy breakfast for 50 cents and adults for 75 cents. Children from households that meet Federal income guidelines are eligible for free meals or reduced price meals at 40 cents for lunch and 25 cents for breakfast. To apply for free or reduced-price meals, complete the enclosed application, sign it and return it to the school.

FOOD STAMP/AFDC HOUSEHOLDS: If you currently receive Food Stamps or "Aid to Families with Dependent Children" for your child, you only have to list your child's name and food stamp or AFDC number, print your name, and sign the application. Since you have already given income information to the welfare office, the school can confirm your eligibility.

ALL OTHER HOUSEHOLDS: If your household income is at or below the level shown on the enclosed scale, your child is eligible for either free or reduced-price meals. To apply for meal benefits, you must provide the following information and sign the application: (1) list the names of everyone who lives in your household. Include parents, grandparents, all children, other relatives and unrelated people who live in your household, (2) list the social security number of each adult age 21 or older. If an adult does not have a social security number print "None", (3) list total monthly income and amount of income (BEFORE deductions for taxes, social security, etc.) each person received last month and where it is from, such as wages, retirement or welfare. If you have a household member for whom last month's income was high or lower than usual, list the person's expected average monthly income.

VERIFICATION: The information on the application may be checked by school officials at any time during the school year.

REPORTING CHANGES: If you list income information and your child is approved for meal benefits, you must tell the school when your household income increases by $50 or more per month ($600 per year) or when your household size decreases. If you list a food stamp case number or AFDC number, you must tell the school when you no longer receive food stamps or AFDC for your child.

FOSTER CHILD: Your foster child may be eligible for meal benefits. If you wish to apply for meal benefits for a foster child, contact the school for help with the application.

NONDISCRIMINATION: Children who receive free or reduced-price meal benefits are treated the same as children who pay for meals. In the operation of child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap. If you believe you have been discriminated against, write immediately to the Secretary of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

FAIR HEARING: If you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the result of verification, you may wish to discuss it with the school. You also have the right to a fair hearing. This can be done by calling or writing the following official:

This weekend the Golf Club sponsored an adult-student play day. The club raised $440 and donated all proceeds to the Eagle Booster Club.

Mickey Rathbone and Gary Smith were responsible for the tournament. The Boosters cannot thank these men or the golf club enough for their generosity.

We also think Gary Warnock deserves recognition for spending time with these young golfers.

Prizes were donated by the First National Bank of Eldorado, McCormick's Exxon, The Eldorado Success, Old Main Street Cafe, Casa Arispe, Larry Blair for the Schleicher County Independent School District, Bill and Mabel Freitag, Golf Plus, Toni's Cafe, Glen Nix and Melissa O'Harrow, Eagle Dairy Mart, the Booster Club, Angelo Indoor Miniature Golf and Foxworth-Galbraith

Butterflies In Flight

By Kim-et Nelson

Have you noticed lately the Monarch Butterflies? This is their annual migration south to Mexico and this year there seems to be more than in the last couple of years.

As I look out my window each day to the courthouse lawn, there are hundreds floating amongst the trees. I have wondered, are those the same as yesterday or is this a new group?

I also find myself slowing down on my way home so as not to hit one. I can see slowing down for a deer, but a butterfly? I just can't seem to end their flight in Eldorado when they have come so far and have just as far to go.

So, you may take time to smell the roses, but I think I'll just take time to watch the butterflies, and if you see my brake lights come on suddenly for no apparent reason, you might look a little closer and see one orange and black beauty crossing the street.

Influenza Caused By Viruses

It's that time of year again when the flu seems to travel around. Influenza (flu) is a respiratory infection caused by viruses. When people get flu, they may have fever, chills, headache, dry cough, or muscle aches. Illness may last several days or a week or more and complete recovery is usual. However, complications may lead to pneumonia or death in some people.

It is not possible to estimate the risk of an individual getting the flu this year, but for the elderly and for people with diabetes or heart, lung or kidney disease, flu may be especially serious.

There is a flu vaccine available. An injection of flu vaccine will not give you flu, because the vaccine is made from killed viruses. The vaccine is made from viruses selected by the US Public Health Service.

Side effects of influenza vaccine are generally mild in adults and occur at low frequency. These reactions consist of tenderness at the injection site, fever, chills, headaches, or muscular aches. These symptoms last up to 48 hours.

Special precautions should be taken for children under three years of age and pregnant women, who should consult with their personal physicians before receiving this vaccine.

Persons who are allergic to eggs or egg products should not receive this vaccine until they have consulted their personal physicians.

Persons with fever should not receive this vaccine. Persons who have received another type of vaccine within the past 14 days should see their personal physicians before receiving this vaccine.

If you do have a reaction, see your personal physician immediately. If you have any questions, please ask.

To all customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company:

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company hereby gives notice that on August 29, 1989 the Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to revise its Texas intrastate Digital Link Service Tariff. This application proposes to restructure the rates for MICROLINK IISM - Packet Switching Digital Service to establish uniform rates for the service in each of the market areas where it is offered within the State and to expand the service to an additional nineteen (19) Primary Market Areas (PMAs).

MICROLINK IISM - Packet Switching Digital Service is for business customers with interactive data transport requirements who are located within the Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Longview, Lubbock, Midland, San Antonio, Waco, or Wichita Falls Local Access and Transport Areas (LATAs). This service utilizes several existing network services in combination with packet switching capabilities. A MICROLINK II Primary Market Area is the service area from which subscribers may reach public dial access to the service by dialing a local seven digit number. The twenty-four (24) PMAs that will be affected by this filing are: Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, McAllen, Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Victoria, Dallas, Fort Worth, El Paso, Houston, Galveston, Laredo, Longview, Tyler, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Antonio, Waco, Temple, and Wichita Falls.

The PUC has assigned this matter to Docket No. 9034.
