

Area Asks Hike In Beet Acres

Representatives from the High Plains Sugar Beet Growers Association were in Denver, Colorado, Monday conferring with officials of Great Western Sugar Beet Company on details for next year's acreage.

Melvin McReynolds, manager of Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture was among a group of 18 area men who attended the meeting.

"Our purpose," said McReynolds, "was to try to promote an increase in sugar beet acreage for next year."

The five-county makeup of High Plains growers includes Floydada, Idalou, Tulia, Plainview and Olton. Each of the towns had a representative at the Denver conference.

Beet farmers and officials in this five-county concern were confident that the 1964 acreage will be substantially expanded by Great Western.

McReynolds said President of the company Frank Kemp was non-committal concerning acreage increases at the conference, pending further checking.

It is hoped locally the conference will result in some guidance and assistance in an upcoming agriculture department hearing in Washington, Dec. 10.

With the harvest of a successful crop on 1,000 acres in an area around Plainview, interest in sugar beets as a standard crop for this region mounts.

McReynolds told that Great Western officials were impressed with the tonage and sugar content in beets grown in this vicinity.

A number of Olton farmers were allotted sugar beet acreage.

BEET GROWERS MEET MONDAY

Olton sugar beet grower Dub Hall and Melvin McReynolds, manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, have announced a meeting of the Olton Sugar Beet Growers Association and any other interested party.

Purpose of the meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday night in the Community Room of the PCA building, is to discuss results of this year's sugar beet crop.

McReynolds said he would give a report on his recent trip to Denver and conference with sugar beet officials there. Hall and other beet growers here will tell about their tonage and sugar content raised into beets here.

Also present at the Monday meeting will be Kenny Knaus, field representative for Great Western Sugar Beet Company.

Cotton Men Poised For Starting Gun

Gin Count At 2,548

A bale count in Olton, which includes six gins, shows 2,548 bales ginned off as of Wednesday.

Ginners don't believe the real rush will begin for a couple of weeks.

Lloyd Graham, manager of the Co-Op Gin, said, "I think we'll really get rolling in about two weeks, if the weather stays good."

He was glad to see Sunday's killing freeze but the rain was an unwelcome sight for ginners and cotton farmers.

"I don't believe the rain hurt grades much," said Graham, "but it will slow the crop down some."

T. E. Williams, manager of Thompson Gin, said, "Stripping conditions aren't the same for all farmers, but stripping will probably begin this next week and speed up about the first week in December."

Williams believes Sunday's freeze killed the cotton for good. "It's got that frosted smell, and you can tell when it has been killed."

He said this year's ginning will probably be off in comparison to last year. "There's not as much acreage, and the first of the year hurt some farmers."

He added that the weather was ideal for the grain people and hoped it would be as nice to the cotton farmers.

Leo Smith, owner of Smith Gin, said, "It will probably be the first week in December before ginning really picks up."

He said he would like to see it freeze every night for two weeks with the sun shining brightly in the daytime.

Smith thought Monday's rain may have stained the cotton some and lowered the grade. "It won't hurt much though if the rain doesn't continue."

Henry Mathis at Circle Gin said it would be a couple of weeks before the harvest really got underway. He added, it just depends on the weather. The ginner is wanting some more killing freezes and some more sunshine.

Farmers Expect To Roll Dec. 1

Old man weather crowded into the area spotlight earlier this week with his supporting cast of killing frost and falling rain.

Not to be elbowed entirely into the background, however, were balmy days and more sunshine.

Farmers, on the whole, report their cotton is looking good and have hopes of beginning stripping around the first of Dec.

A number of the men are in the same shoes of Charles Gallaway. He said Wednesday that he probably will strip what little cotton he has in around two weeks.

Gallaway was one of the unfortunate southwest of town who tried to raise cotton in the hail belt this year. "It wouldn't have hurt my cotton," he said, "if the killing frost had held off a couple of more weeks. Some of my bolls are rather mushy and will probably make knots."

Asked if Monday's rain hurt his cotton, Gallaway said, "No, it was too sorry to hurt." Had it not been for a fair corn crop, the farmer said things would look even bleaker.

The freezing weather Sunday night dropped the mercury to a frigid 29 degrees throughout the area and was followed by rain Monday.

In Olton almost an inch was recorded.

Elmer McGill, who farms south of town about four miles, was also hailed out earlier, but was able to salvage some of his cotton. He said the rain didn't hurt him but would like to see things dry out pretty quickly.

"I'd like to see another hard freeze or two to set things up for stripping," said the farmer. He added that things are just lingering along but that he didn't defoliate in order to let his cotton grow off.

McGill said he made a good corn crop once the hail left him alone and that his potatoes were good—but the price was terrible. He added that he still has a barn filled with the spuds. McGill estimated about 3/4 of an inch of moisture fell Monday at his place.

Jack Thomas, 1/2 mile north of Circle said his cotton is looking good but he doesn't think it was all killed by Sunday's freeze. "It's going to take a harder freeze before I can begin stripping," he said.

Thomas has had five bales of his cotton hand-pulled.

He added the grades hadn't come back on the cotton yet so it couldn't tell what it is yielding.

Thomas was sure how much moisture he received but doesn't believe it hurt his cotton. "I don't think it will hurt the grade unless it stays wet," he added.

Melvin Berry, eight miles north of Olton, said his cotton looks good and that he will begin stripping as soon as it dries out.

"I defoliated about two weeks ago," he said, "and would have started stripping Monday except for the weather."

Berry said he planted his cotton in April but a good many of the top bolls are still unopen. He plans to pull a boll catcher.

"The early bad weather and insects hit me pretty hard," said the farmer, "and most of my staple may be short."

Johnny Hodges, about four and 3/4 miles north of Olton, said his cotton was looking pretty good but the rain sure didn't help.

"If it clears off and the weather holds, I should be able to begin stripping in two weeks," said Hodges.

He said his cotton wasn't as good this year as last.

"I need another good freeze or two to get it ready," Hodges said he has only been farming 10 years and Sunday's freeze is the latest he can remember.

He estimated .8 of an inch of moisture fell Monday.

E. D. Harper said his cotton looks good to be so late. "It's better than I expected, but I couldn't estimate how much I'll make." He believes he can start his strippers next week.

Harper received .90 of an inch of rain but said it wouldn't hurt much since the ground was so dry already.

Robert Meinecke said this is one of the hardest years he's ever seen to guess what his cotton will make. "It just depends on the percentage of lint, and I'm hoping for a good turnout."

Meinecke said his pecans were excellent this year and thought they might be his most promising crop.

Church Is Hale Gold Star Boy

Charles Church, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Church, was singled out as the top 4-H boy in Hale County last Saturday when he was presented the 4-H Gold Star Award.

Sharon Baumgardner won in the girl's category. Both Church and Miss Baumgardner are from the Halfway Community. Church attends school in Olton.

Presentation of awards was made at the 4-H Achievement Program, held at the First Baptist Church in Halfway.

The Gold Star award is the highest county award a 4-H'er can receive. Church has received a number of lesser awards.

The 15-year-old sophomore was a recent guest of the State Fair of Texas, which was a special recognition of a 4-H Club boy from each extension district.

Church has been in 4-H work for eight years and has been an active participant at all levels. He has carried projects in gardening, entomology, livestock, electricity, field crops, and junior leadership.

Late Freeze Near Record

A killing freeze moved into this area Sunday night, dropping temperatures to 29 degrees. The big frost was one of the latest recorded by the weather bureau.

Since 1911, when the bureau began keeping an official tab on the weather, the latest killing frost was Nov. 26, 1944.

This year's record breaker was a life saver to farmers, holding off for late cotton crops. According to weather reports from the Lubbock Bureau, the average date of killing frost is Nov. 7.

Ball Point Pen Collector Began Hobby 10 Years Ago

If there's one person in Olton who is especially conscious of advertising, it's Doug Jones.

This fact becomes more evident if some enterprise has its line of trade printed on a ball point pen.

Jones, an Olton farmer, collects pens which have advertising on them. Since 1953 when he first began to accumulate a large number of pens, Jones has become a conspicuous examiner of writing apparatus.

"I began my collection," he said, "when I began to end up with more pens than I could possibly use."

His collection has mounted to over 400, and his interest continues. "I intend to keep collecting unusual pens and some ever-sharps indefinitely."

The hobby also has occasional sentimental value attached to it. For example, Jones has an ever-sharp given him when he bought his first tractor, years ago in Slaton.

Oddly pens and pencils also are increasing in number, finding their way into Jones' collection. He has pens shaped like a small rifle, an ice pick, a bale of cotton, a cigarette, two 8-ball pens and a pencil which is walking cane shaped.

"I have pens from 82 different towns," said Jones, "and from about 23 different states." He added that his sister's husbands who are in the air corp send him quite a few of the instruments.

Asked if his wife and children help with the collection, Jones said, "They help me do away with them." He added that the children sometimes scatter them a bit.

Of the scores of pens accumulated by Jones, he says that only about 13 won't write. Several persons have told him that the ink will harden, but he still uses pens given him in 1953.

In moving about the country, Jones has personally added pens from firms in Lubbock, Muleshoe, Abilene and Hale Center and Olton.

There's a younger sister in Kermit who sends Jones pens and a brother in Kress who has sent pens from almost every business house there.

"You'd be surprised how many people bring you pens when they know you're collecting them," he said.

Elmer Houston also collects pens. Sometimes there is a trade on duplicates.

"It's a funny thing," sums up Jones, "of all the pens I have, I never seem to have one in my pocket when I need it."

Fillies Try Ralls Friday

Coach Sandra Meadow's Olton Fillies will take to the hardwood here Friday night in a game with Ralls. The game is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The Fillies will try to even their early season record at 500 per cent by knocking off the visiting Ralls unit.

Monday night's game ended in defeat for the Fillies as they were beaten by a top notch team from Floydada.

Gayle Nicholas dumped in 28 points to lead the Fillies in the 53-34 contest. Susan Norfleet had four points for Olton.

Leading the Floydada attack were Dee Wilson with 33 points and Shirley Rainer with 16. Floydada had beaten Spearman and New Deal and had fallen only to Roosevelt.

The Fillies' victory was a 56-53 decision over Petersburg. Olton lost its opener to Tulia, 66-58.

The night's work was not all in vain Monday. Olton freshmen girls rolled up their Floydada opponents, 39-33 with Karen Hipp leading the attack.

Runner-up in scoring was Brenda Kirkpatrick with 12. Donna Digby scored eight points.

Misses McIntosh and Miller had 12 points each for Floydada.

Interested persons may buy season tickets to the varsity games from any of the Fillies or freshmen. Price of the tickets is $5 for 10 home games. Buyers will save $2.50 over the season by purchasing the season receipts.

'Preparedness' Theme At Civil Defense Talks

Do you carry a jack and a spare tire in your car?

That question and others like it caused persons attending a Civil Defense Conference in Lubbock Tuesday to do some reflective thinking about being prepared.

Attending the conference from Olton were City Councilman Russell Rucker and Fire Chief Tom Smith.

During the course of the meeting, talks were made by Colonel Harry N. Tower, director of Lubbock Civil Defense;

Lubbock Mayor Jack Strong; Inspector C.O. Layne, deputy director of the office of defense and disaster relief, Texas; Don Decker, radiological health specialist, Texas; Gaines West, Region V, Office of Civil Defense with the Department of Defense;

Don Timberlake, instructor in civil defense training at Texas A&M; Frank T. Cox, communications officer with the office of defense and disaster relief and Dr. W.R. Bodine, chief of civil defense training at Texas A&M.

Mayor Strong kicked off the meeting by telling why civil defense measures should be taken. He said such precautions for radio-active fallout, major fires, tornados, and other calamities call for good judgement.

"We need to be preparing to meet the different situations which challenge or threaten us," the mayor said.

He told the assembly that the danger of nuclear weapons make fallout an ever-present reality and the public should not turn from that fact. He said, "We need to use all our skill and ability to preserve life."

Civil Defense, he added, is insurance against such a threat. The mayor went on to say that people should be prepared

Botkin Food Sold To Chilicothe Man

The sale of Botkin Food to a Chilicothe man was announced Tuesday by Louis Botkin.

Kenneth Moore, 33, is the new proprietor and the business will be known as Moore Food Market.

A veteran of 10 years in the grocery business, Moore has been operating a food store at Chilicothe.

The change of ownership was effective Tuesday.

Botkin, who has operated the store here the past nine years, said: "We certainly appreciate the courtesy shown us over the years and want to thank the people of Olton for the opportunity to serve them."

Moore and his family will move here as soon as housing is available.

Moore and his wife, Lawanda, have four children, Royetta, 12, Bobby, 9, Kenna Sherry, 7, and Bret Dale, 19 months. They attend the Church of Christ.

Botkin said his future plans are indefinite, but added the family probably will be here until the end of the school year, allowing three school-age youngsters to finish the term. Botkin and his wife, Geneva, have four sons, Monty, 12, Gary, 11, Tim, 8 and David, 5. They attend the Church of Christ.

The change of ownership was the third among grocery stores here in the past few weeks.

Recently Gray Grocery became Adrian Food and Sherman Food became Olton Super Save.

SANTA HAS A NEW WRINKLE

Hey, boys and girls a letter came this week from the North Pole, and it was from the jolly old fellow himself—Santa Claus. He's got himself a Zip Code with the post office and is all set to receive your letters.

But you've got to write before Dec. 15, or it will be too late from him to take orders. Once Santa has finished with your letters, they all will be published in the Enterprise.

Here's the letter we got this week.

Toyland, North Pole
Nov., 1963
Olton Enterprise
Mr. Bill Turner, Editor
Olton, Texas

Dear Bill:
I'm sure getting anxious to see you and all my little friends around Olton. It's been nearly a year since my last visit there, and that's a long time to stay away from such a fine group of friends like I have in your town.

Me and my helpers have been busy all this year, and we have some of the finest presents we have ever made—and lots of them.

We're going to spread happiness and good cheer all over the country this Holiday Season. I want you to tell all the little children that I want them to have the very nicest and happiest Christmas ever.

And Bill, I want you to tell them that this year Santa Claus has a ZIP CODE number, and inform them they should place my Zip number on all their letters. (I give my correct address below.)

Also tell them they should include their ZIP CODE in their return addresses. Give them the important news that this year Santa Claus is going to answer all letters received before Dec. 15th.

So, if they want to get a reply from Santa Claus, they should mail their letters before Dec. 15, giving my Zip Code number. They should include their Zip Code on return addresses.

This will make it much easier to find you children when I visit Olton on Christmas Eve. Until I see you Dec. 24th, I send my love and best wishes to you and all my friends in Olton.

Sincerely,
S. Claus

For Women Only

Lipstick May Reveal Personality Traits

This article is for women only--and, maybe, their psychiatrists.

That is not to say that women NEED psychiatrists.

It's just that their lipstick may be dead give-aways of their personalities, their hidden desires, secret secrets.

And this is NOT to say when it show up on a man's collar.

It is to point out that different women in the use of lipstick wear down the little cylinders of color in different ways.

A woman develops her own technique for application of the lip rouge, and, in so doing, leaves her personal mark upon the little stick.

Generally, (and this is for the men who dare to read) lipstick when new is rounded on the end, elliptically, or it comes to a beveled point like the business end of a screw driver.

After a few days use, the stick begins to take different form at the end applied to the lips, the shape depending upon the technique of application of the individual woman.

In the case of Miss A, the lipstick is worn into a trough across its diameter, the high sides of the circumference remaining sharp.

Miss B's lipstick is worn equally on all sides of the lip end, and she leaves a neat but dull point at the end of the stick.

Miss C wears her lipstick down equally from all points until the end somewhat resembles the rounded nose of a blunt bullet.

Miss D, on the other hand, wears off her lipstick squarely, leaving it flat on the end with sharp edges. (Of women surveyed, two used the same method of application, giving the squared end lipstick. One was left-handed, the other right-handed).

Now Miss E wears down her stick of lip rouge at an angle, say about 45 degrees, leaving a sharp angled edge on the high side of the stick. Miss F does the same thing, except the high side edge is slightly smoothed and rounded.

Perhaps the most unusual case is Miss G, who, in the use of her lipstick, rounds it off smoothly but leaves a slight groove on one side.

The difference in the "erosion" of the lipstick, results from the different application methods, and the women apply the stuff without conscious thought of what they are doing to the little stick of coloring itself.

Therefore, to the student of psychology or psychiatry, the matter of lipstick may be a whole new field for delving into Milady's subconscious.

Perhaps the learned one might justifiably question why someone would be interested in the shapes of old used lipstick anyhow.

Let's see, Phone book, Doctor, Physician, Let's see, now, Phys...Psy...There! Psychiatrist!

And perhaps you find yourself in the office of the brilliant Doctor Idon Nonozzin, a student of women and a life-long researcher into the use of lipstick.

According to this learned man:

The flat-top, perhaps, indicates, ambition, competence, perseverance and a tendency toward abruptness. These may be the characteristics of an editor a surgeon, but not those of a kindergarten teacher or a social worker.

The bullet nose could show intelligence, that you're practical and have a sense of balance, but you may be somewhat stand-offish. These qualities may be those of a lawyer or a journalist. But don't try to enter a field which requires fantastic imagination.

The groove might mean that you're in the groove when it comes to orderliness, consideration, cheerfulness and patience. You're probably energetic, thrifty and a darned good receptionist or secretary, or, maybe, even a financial wizard. But can you compete as an artist?

The angle points to you as a creative individual, versatile, artistic. You may be bubbly at times. But, at other times, you may be moody and possibly, a little unrealistic. This adds up to your being of the artistic type who would find routine chores somewhat confusing.

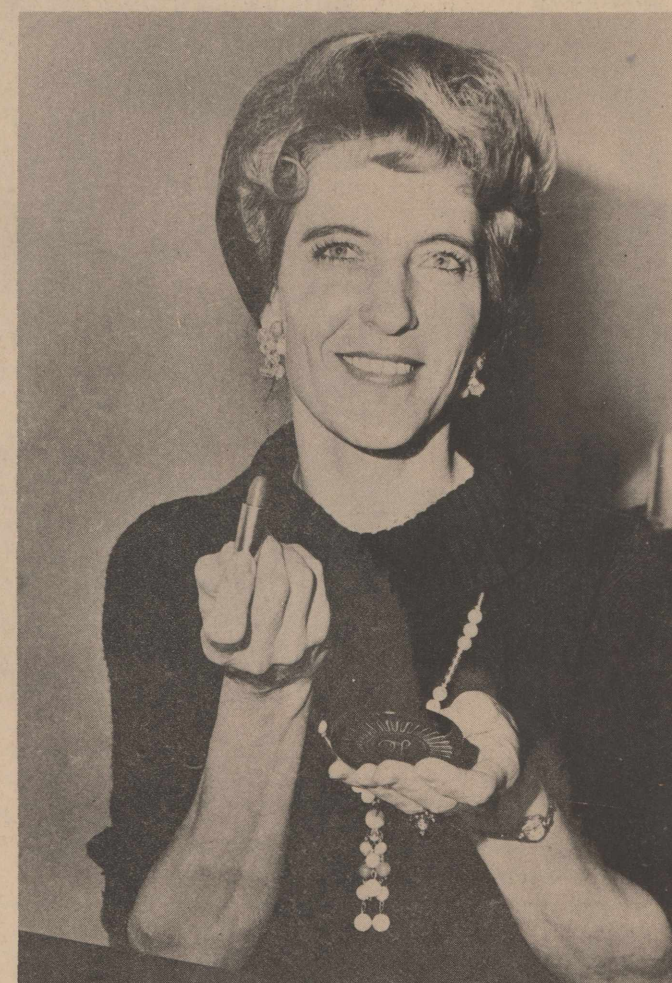

The trough could indicate that you are thrifty, affectionate, sensitive and had rather be in the game than watching from the sidelines. You like to travel. You probably like to teach and to find satisfaction in the accomplishments of your charges.

The point must mean that you make a point of accuracy. You're neat, and you like the dramatic. You likely would be a fine interior decorator, designer, photographer provided you didn't have to meet hurried deadlines. That's because you don't like haphazardly created products.

So there you have it from the great analyst, Dr. Idon Nonozzin who said, thoughtfully, "If the lipstick fits, then wear it".

LADIES, DO YOU have a well-worn tube of lipstick in your possession? It just might be a clue to your personality. For in your use of the lip rouge, you wear down the cosmetic in a certain pattern. And that may be the give-away to your personality, or even your future. Lipstick patterns shown are seen often. Left to right, they are the flat-top, the bullet nose, the groove, the angle, the trough, and the point.

VIRGINIA MOSS, school business office employee, assumes a typically feminine pose and, maybe, unknowingly reveals some of her personal traits. Her lipstick shows to be more of the bullet nose shape. An accompanying article brings out the possibility of character traits being revealed by your lipstick.

GENERAL TELEPHONE TOWNS ON THE MOVE

Memphis wins new Textile Plant

Today, because of aggressive leadership, this Texas Panhandle town boasts an active new textile plant making sheets for national distribution. What is more important, the plant's parent company is the world's largest manufacturer of textiles using all known fibers.

This new industry is the Hall Plant of Postex Cotton Mills, a unit of Burlington Industries, Inc. It is designed to have in excess of 100 employees, mostly women, and is an important addition to the economy of this 3500 population community. It is another reason we say big things are happening in General Telephone towns.

These towns are on the move. Community improvements are under way, local resources are being developed, new businesses, new industries are coming in. If your town seeks additional information about expansion, perhaps we can help. Just write our Community Development Department, Box 1001, San Angelo, Texas.

Grain Sorghum Directors To Hold Tuesday Meeting

The Grain Sorghum Producers Association will hold its regular quarterly directors meeting in Plainview Tuesday, Nov. 26. Elbert Harp of Abert, association president, indicated that approximately 30 farmers from throughout the High Plains will participate in the meeting at Wayne's Restaurant from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Harp said that in addition to giving direction to the area-wide organization program it is expected that the Directors will enter into discussions and gain information which will be helpful to them as they conduct local meetings in their individual counties during the next several weeks.

The sorghum midge will get close scrutiny as Dr. Donald Ashdown and Dr. Ellis Huddleston of Texas Tech Entomology Department, and Mr. C. E. Fisher of the Texas Agriculture

Experiment Station, Lubbock, will give progress reports on sorghum midge research at the two institutions.

One of the newest grain sorghum production innovations, that of solid drill planting grain sorghum combined with flame cultivation this past year on the Frank Moore farm in Hale County will be reviewed as Bedford Forest of the High Plains Research Foundation presents the results which pushed sorghum yield from 5400 pounds to 6900 pounds.

OLTON HALFBACK Richard Hall poured on the steam on this reverse as he rambled 20 yards for Olton's second touchdown against Friona last Friday night. The Mustangs went on to win 21-6 for their seventh victory of the year and second place in district play. He met these Friona defenders at the goal and bulled across.

OLTON'S DARREL GLOVER put a stop to this run by Friona's Gary Renner, with an assist from Jerry LaFrance (28). Renner was stopped for no gain on the play, which came in the fourth quarter.

Mustangs Get Runner-Up Spot With 21-6 Victory Over Friona

Olton's Mustangs closed out their 1963 football season in a blaze of glory Friday night at Friona, whipping the upstart Chiefs 21-6 for sole possession of second place in District 3-AA.

It was the career windup for four Olton seniors, and all four turned in fine performances. George Jones, the Mustang captain, capped a fine year by racing for 133 yards in 18 carries and scoring once on a one-yard burst.

Three other seniors, Guards Bill Carson and Paul Hernandez and End Clyde Galloway, sparkled for the Ponies. The win gave the Mustangs a 7-3 season record and a 3-1 mark in the district wars, good for second place.

Friona wound up third, 8-2 and 2-2.

The district champion, Muleshoe, a 21-13 victor over the Ponies, takes on Denver City's Big Red Friday night at Muleshoe in bi-district play.

Although Olton and Friona were out of the championship fight, both clubs turned in good efforts last Friday night.

But it was the Olton eleven that carried the fight to Friona's best team in years.

The Mustangs had to buckle down early. After the Chiefs got a first down at the Friona 29, speedster Doug Dodd broke loose on a 47-yard scamper to the Olton 24.

Four plays later, however, the Mustangs took over. Brilliant defensive work by Leon Kendall, Jerry LaFrance, Carson, Jones and Don Mitchell turned the Chiefs back.

From their 15, the Mustangs drove the distance for their first touchdown, which came with 1:16 left in the first period.

After QB Joe Priest almost hit wide-open Darrell Glover for a "bomb" on the first play, Jones raced 15 yards to the 30. Priest ran for five and Fullback Joe Costello tacked on 20 more.

Costello ran twice more for a total of five and Jones rolled for 11 yards to the Friona 29. Jones added 10 more on a nifty run, Costello got four and then Jones came back with a 12-yard carry to the Friona two.

He cracked the line twice and made it to pay dirt the second time, Jones then added the PAT and it was 7-0 with the first quarter almost gone.

After the kick-off, Friona moved for a couple of first downs, getting to the Olton 37. There Dodd fumbled and Kendall was the last man off the ball.

From the Mustang 41, Priest ran 12 yards, but a 15-yard penalty put the Ponies right back at their starting point.

Jones got those 12 yards back, but the advance was halted at the Friona 44 and Priest punted.

Friona couldn't go and punted right back, with Olton taking over at the Mustang 38.

Priest hit his first pass of the night, hitting Glover at the Chief 44, and then Costello ran three straight times for a total of 18 yards.

Jones got off a 10-yard sprint and the Mustangs had a first down at the Friona 16 with 1:06 left in the half.

A 15-yard-penalty killed the march, as Costello's fourth down run played out at the Friona 17.

The Mustangs put the icing on the cake in the third quarter, racking up a pair of scores. Taking over at their 23 after Friona punted on its first possession of the half, the Mustangs drove all the way.

Jones got one first down with a 12-yard run to the 38, and Priest passed to Glover for 16 yards and another first at the Friona 46.

Jones got six on a crucial third down play for another first at the 36.

Then Priest used a fourth down-and-three situation to pass to Jones for nine yards and a first down at the 18. Two plays later, the Ponies face third-and-12 at the Friona 20.

Priest called on Richard Hall on a reverse, and the Ponies' junior halfback went all the way for the TD. Jones kicked the PAT and it was 14-0 with 3:21 left in the third period.

Only 41 seconds later Olton had its third score.

After Olton kicked off following TD number two, Friona took over at the Chief 24 and QB Gary Renner unlimbered his passing arm.

On third down, the Mustangs rushed with such force that Renner barely got the ball away and when he did, the pighide went right in the arms of Olton's Don Mitchell, a tackle, at the Friona 12.

Mitchell looked more like a fullback as he plowed across.

With 2:40 left in the third quarter, it was 21-0, following Jones' third successful PAT.

Friona came marching back, but a penalty broke up the drive after the Chiefs had reached the Olton 27.

The two teams exchanged punts and Friona got back in business at the Olton 44, following a 12-yard punt return by Everett Gee.

Dodd made good on a fourth-down gamble by getting two yards and a first down by inches at the Olton 34.

Dodd and Renner combined for 11 more to the 23, and the same pair alternated for 14 more in two plays.

With a first down at the nine, Renner passed complete to End S. D. Baize for the TD. Dodd's PAT missed and it was 21-6 with three minutes left.

In addition to Jones' great night, Costello had a good night for himself, gaining 85 yards in 14 carries.

On defense, the Ponies got great play from Carson, Kendall, Dennis Givens, Mitchell, LaFrance, Don Sopher, Jones, Hall and Priest.

Civil Defense

An example of radio-activity destruction brought home the realization of what could happen. It was made by Decker. He showed those present the kind of protection they would get from ordinary shelter, which was practically none, in comparison to protection offered by necessary precautions.

Decker used materials of wood, concrete, lead and dirt and their combinations to illustrate how they would stop fallout.

Bodine explained the adult education program, medical assistance and rural civil defense programs.

Olton would fall under the rural program since its population is under 10,000.

The civil defense director explained that shelters are being encouraged which will hold 40 or more persons. Such shelters will be stocked by the government and the government will share half the expense.

He also estimated 50 per cent of the nation's population would perish in an atomic attack if they had no training. Chances of survival would rise to 90 per cent for those people who were trained, Bodine added.

Layne called on city judges and mayors to take the lead in pushing the civil defense program. He asked that a clear and realistic picture be presented the public.

Civil defense units in this area will be under the Texas Highway Department. A Texas Operational Survival Plan chart shows the Governor and state coordinator taking the reins with approximately 40 other responsible state agencies and emergency units following suit.

Olton's Rucker said the Texas A&M University, under contract with the Department of Defense, Office of Civil Defense and in cooperation with the Department of Public Safety, Office of Defense and Disaster Relief, will conduct Civil Defense Courses and Conferences through its Engineering Extension Service.

Twenty-four conferences will be offered to orient state and local officials on civil defense programs and to develop a better understanding of the civil defense responsibilities of government officials.

There is no fee for attendance, however, any travel and or living needs are at the expense of the student.

Persons interested in basic organizational plans for using shelters and stocking them should write Col. M. P. Bowden, Box 4087 NAS, North Austin Station, Austin, Texas.

The Zip Code is 78751.

age on a trial basis for finding out what this area is capable of producing.

Ned Curran, Washington correspondent of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, reported to it last weekend on the Washington scene. In an article headed "Battle Lines Forming for New Sugar War", Curran said "West Texas" desire for more mills (sugar) is directly hinged on an increase in domestic production of sugar beets.

Congressman George Mahon and Rep. Walter Rogers are optimistic about increased beet acreage and possible mills for the High Plains.

First round in the battle could come Dec. 10 at the Agriculture Department hearing on new sugar mills.

Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?

Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-wall construction. Chevrolet Fleetside—best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payloads. Standard engine is 230-cu.-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMPside. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame-floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish: bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.

Philosopher Figures Way For Congress To Raise Pay Without Getting Voted Out

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his care-less weed farm on Running Water Draw tries to help Congress with a ticklish problem this week.

Dear Editor:

While I have never been able to work out a plan whereby both football teams can win the same game and nobody leaves the stadium broken-hearted, I haven't given up, and to rest my mind from the problem, I have been working on an idea where Congress can vote itself a raise without getting beat.

As I understand it, there's a move on to increase the salaries of numerous government officials, on the grounds you have to pay them about as much as they could make in private life or they'll quit and we'll have to take on second-rate people, although this doesn't always work out that way. For example, I've heard it argued that if we increase the pay of state legislators, say we'll get a better quality of men, but whenever a state does, it seems to me the same men turn up running again.

At any rate, in the Washington salary problem, there's a proposal to increase Congressmen and Senators' pay by $10,000 a year, and a lot of the members go along with this, except for one thing. While they figure they're worth $10,000 a year more than the $22,000 they're getting now, they'd rather have the $22,000 than nothing, which is what they're afraid they'd get if they voted themselves a raise and got voted out of office. On the other hand, a $10,000 raise sure looks tempting.

They might have to change the rules a little, but I have worked out a plan where they can swing it.

Let the Senate vote the House a raise. Every member of the House can then rise to oratorical heights and denounce this as a gross waste of taxes and send copies of the speeches back home. The Senate though should remain firm and ramrod the raise through. Then the House could vote the Senate a raise, and every member of the Senate could make a speech against it for home consumption.

There's more than one way to skin a cat.
Yours faithfully,
J. A.
