AMERICAN AVIATION CARNIVAL REVEALS NEW STUNTS

BLANSCET NOSES OUT ANDREWS FOR SHERIFF BY 22 VOTES

This column is not, ordinarily, devoted to athletics. Today it is breaking away from custom to say a few things about Pampa's high school boys, who are in camp near LeFors.

When the kids opened camp they felt fine and acted like young animals before a rain. But to look at some of them now you would think them old men. The early morning plunge soon after arising at 6:30 does not have the glamor that it did on the first day. In short, the boys are stiff and sore, but they will be over it in a few days.

Breakfast is served at 7 or soon thereafter, then there is a rest period. Passing, blocking, and fundamentals of football are taught from 10:30 to 12 o'clock. Lunch, then more rest. It is not these August afternoons. Work starts about 4:30 o'clock and runs to 6 p. m. After a plunge, there is dinner. Then follows more rest, with song and story, until bedtime at 9:30. Some hikes, and sandwiched into this program.

Bedtime brings more trouble for Coach Mitchell. The boys are often changing bedfellows. They spread their quilts over a long area, and the mentor, with a flashlight, checks them all in and ascertains that nothing is amiss. Grid training is now a serious matter. Enthusiastic, the youngsters are working hard to get into condition for the game with Spur here Sept. 6.

Cigarettes are taboo, very taboo. Some of the boys who went to camp with cigarette-biased appetites are doing their share to make the camp food bill expensive for the school board, and they now realize that tobacco and football do not mingle well.

Anti-cigarette smoking at the camp took a definite form when an association to discourage smoking was formed with Captain Don Sautsbury as president. The club will have secret service members who will report smoking, and a "spitting" crew composed of Ray Chastain, Albert Lard, and Durwood Martindale will administer 30 licks to the guilty offenders. The idea will be carried through the football season, if not longer.

The 1930 squad has a fine looking backfield but a green line. The husky Guerrillas, or second team, of last year will have to carry the burden of ripping opposing forward walls. New men almost "aren't" it is too early to estimate the strength of the team, but it will be as strong as last year, at least, with stronger reserve power. The Class A season, first the Harvesters are to experience, will find them fighting with all the traditional Pampa fury. All they ask is reasonable community support.

As this is written the final word has been put into print regarding the gubernatorial race. Regardless of the one elected, the people of Texas will have a governor they did not wish. Had not the Fergusons entered the contest, Clint Small would in all probability have been first or second in the first primary and would have been nominated in the runoff. Any candidate with a strong regular following is apt to bring about a bad result, although there are not many Fergusons in this country. Most office seekers succeed while their popularity is "hot" or they decline into obscurity.

It is raining as this is written. A statewide rain would hurt the Fergusons' chances. The weather, believe it or not, greatly influences elections. And how well we Democrats should know how a little wave of prosperity helps the Republicans in national cam.

CONTEST NOT UNLIKELY IN COUNTY RACE

Stennis Is Nominated for Judge of County

BARNES GETS SMALL MARGIN

Turman Is Constable Nominee of This Precinct

Close races featured by the 22-vote margin of Lon Blanscet for sheriff over John Andrews developed in Gray county Saturday in the second Democratic primary.

Mr. Blanscet received 1497 votes according to complete unofficial reports gathered by The News, while Mr. Andrews was just behind with 1475. It was indicated that Mr. Andrews might contest the vote when the Democratic county committee meets to canvass the election.

Judge S. D. Stennis went ahead of C. E. Cary in the spirited race for county judge, the vote being 1592 to 1365.

Another close race was that of Larry Rider and C. W. Barnes for tax collector of Gray county. The vote was nearly even until the totals were tabulated, when Mr. Barnes was found to lead, 1491 to 1437.

For constable, E. R. Turman won the nomination from W. J. Turpin, 1037 votes to 802. This vote was confined to the four boxes of precinct 2.

Gray county gave Sterling 1656 votes for governor, compared to 1223 for Mrs. Ferguson. Strong was favored over Witt for lieutenant governor, 1532 to 980. Popular Jim Allred of Wichita Falls got 2011 votes for attorney general to 732 for Lee Bobbitt.

Lesser known candidates were more even. Lockhart for state treasurer was given 1244 votes to 1113 for Davis. For commissioner of agriculture, McDonald received 1277 votes and Kling 1100. Pat Neff ranked with Allred in popularity, getting 1909 votes to 727 for Hatcher.

Ward Packing Firm Has New Ownership

A deal has been completed by which E. E. Reynolds and W. T. and C. C. Stockstill have become owners of the Ward Packing company. W. E. Stockstill will be actively in the business, but T. C. Ward, founder of this home industry, will remain with the firm the rest of this year.

The new owners say they will keep on hand the choicest of milk fed calves and baby beavers direct from their ranches. They expect to enlarge their wholesale trade because of the quality of meat furnished. They will maintain the market for farm produce.

Canadian Will Have Clean-up

CANADIAN, Aug. 23. (Special)—Clean-up week will be held in Canadian Aug. 25 to 30, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. The city has been zoned, and workers from the three organizations, volunteer helpers, and property owners will direct their efforts to make the city uniformly clean and attractive. Leonard Records heads the central committee.

FRENCH ACE ADDS THRILLS AT CHICAGO

Inverted Flights and Variations Are Numerous

LEAP FROG IS DONE IN SHIPS

Pursuit Planes Are Sent Into Screw Spirals

CURTISS-REYNOLDS AIRPORT, Chicago, Aug. 23. (AP)—America's aviation carnival, the tenth annual national air races, proved at the opening today to be a stunt fliers' holiday.

A trio of navy pilots and Captain Marcel Doret, France's acrobatic ace, shared high honors in throwing open their bags of tricks to grip the crowd with aerial antics.

The navy stunters—Lieutenants Mathias Gardner, Pitt Storrs, and F. M. Trapnell—performed for the first time in public the ritual of maneuvers they have been practicing for several months over outlying sections of Virginia and Maryland.

Gardner, leading the section, crossed the field in inverted flight with his mates right side up, then looped as a single plane and, wing tip to tail, climbed straight up into the skies in close formation.

They displayed the airman's idea of leap frog in the clouds—the plane on the outer left of the formation darting straight up, turning over on its back, and falling in place on the right side of the line. Over and over the hurdling was performed.

The "pushover" was another new contribution, the fliers failing in line, performing the first half of an outside loop, and sweeping in the opposite directions across the field on their backs.

Captain Doret, flying a standard French pursuit ship, became a flash of crimson and silver as he roared across the airport, his ship at full speed and the landing wheels less than 10 feet from the ground.

He darted straight into the skies, climbing up and up until the ship hung on its propeller, and then sweeping to the ground with snap barrel-rolls.

Back across the field, he swept, his hands waving in the air, the controls free of guidance, taking charge again as the crowd-filled stands loomed in his face.

STATE VOTE RECORD SIZE ON SATURDAY

Mrs. Ferguson Fails to Get Expected Favor

ALLRED CHOICE FOR ATTORNEY

Pat Neff Rolls Up Huge Lead Over Hatcher

DALLAS, Aug. 23. (Texas Election Bureau)—Ross Sterling of Houston who campaigned with the cause of honest government as his issue, tonight had a commanding and probably conclusive lead over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson for the state Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Sterling took the lead with the first tabulation and increased it gradually as returns came in from most of the counties of Texas. He assumed he had been successful and issued a statement thanking the voters and asking for party harmony, but James E. Ferguson, who Gray county, scene of a number of heated political battles went into the Sterling column Saturday by the decisive margin of 1656 to 1223 votes.

The three Pampa boxes gave Ross Sterling 1096 ballots to 681 for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

The big crowd of political fans which jammed the space in front of the Daily News building gave cheer after cheer as the returns came in giving Sterling an early lead. The Ferguson supporters were not absent, however, and these applauded, megphoned county reports in which Mrs. Ferguson was ahead.

represented his wife on the stump in a strenuous drive for votes declined to concede defeat.

Edgar Witt was well ahead of Sterling P. Strong for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

James V. Allred of Wichita Falls was running up a big vote over Robert Lee Bobbitt, incumbent, for attorney general.

Charley Lockhart of Travis county apparently had won favor, defeating John E. Davis of Dallas

Library Profits $179.90 as Result of Chautauqua

The Pampa Library association is richer by $179.90 as the result of having sponsored the Redpath Chautauqua during the last week. This sum was cleared after the Chautauqua had been paid $1250, according to contract. The program was completed Friday evening when John Ross Reed, noted baritone, and his company presented "Fads and Fancies of 1930." The last event was hampered by rainfall which at times drowned the music.

The Chautauqua contract went into effect when the advance worker for the company Miss Camille LeVie, and local assistants secured ticket pledges amounting to the total of the contract. Miss LeVie assisted in all local arrangements. A tent furnished by the amusement company and placed just south of the Methodist church was used.

THE DANGER OF DELAY

One out of every seven persons over the age of 20 now dies of cancer. This figure in itself is sufficiently startling to emphasize anew the importance of fighting this dreadful, baffling disease in every way possible. It lends especial weight to a warning recently printed in the bulletin of The American Society for the Control of Cancer—a warning worth reprinting here:

The writer of Dr. David Arthur Welsh. Pointing out the great need for prompt action in cases of cancer, he says:

"If there is one fact of which we have clear and certain knowledge, it is that early cancer is often curable. Yet in this enlightened age one is astounded at the extent to which patients will allow cancers to grow before they seek service. They hesitate and hesitate until they are indeed lost, whereas if they had consulted their doctor at an earlier stage, and if the doctor had known what to do, a tragedy might have been averted."

"The experience of all who have had dealings with cancer is darkened by those tragedies of 'too late.' I do not hesitate to say that many of the deaths now credited to cancer should more promptly be ascribed to neglect."

"One reason is that cancer casts an unreasoning dread over its victims and that dread makes them reluctant to seek advice until it is too late and the time for cure has passed. There is the dread of cancer itself and the hope that the suspicious sign will prove not to be cancer after all, if only you wait long enough. But that is the one thing you cannot do; you cannot wait."

"Everyone knows that cancer is incurable when it has allowed to go too far. And it is often allowed to go too far because of that unreasoning dread which paralyzes the will, and because of that false hope which prevents timely action. Much of that dread would vanish if the patient would grasp the truth that early cancer is far from being the hopeless thing that late cancer unhappily is."

There is little to be added to that. Every citizen ought to take it to heart—and, if ever he discovers in his own body a condition that might conceivably be cancerous, consult a good physician at once.—NEA.

CUBS DEFEAT GIANTS 4-2—HOLD PLACE

CHICAGO, Aug. 23. (AP)—Nine Chicago Cubs, operating together like an intricate machine, fought the New York Giants today and tossed them one game farther back in the National league standings.

Every man in the Cub line-up contributed some important action and in less than two hours Chicago had a 4 to 2 victory. Pat Malone had his sixteenth victory of the season, and the Giants were four games back of the National league champions.

The terminal cause of the Giants downfall was a sizzling single to left field by Hack Wilson with English and Cuyler on the bases in the eighth inning, but the budge home run artist's effort would have been wasted had it not been for some preliminary work by Dan Taylor, Cuyler and Clarence Blair, combined with breath-taking fielding by English and long George Kelly.

Reds Beat Robins

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23. (AP)—The Reds extended Brooklyn's losing streak to seven games and gained a clean sweep of the series by winning both games of today's double header, 4 to 3 and 5 to 1. Eppa Rixey held the Robins to four hits in the second game, which was called after eight innings to allow Brooklyn to make a train.

Double Victory

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23. (AP)—A double triumph over Boston today gave Pittsburgh a string of six straight victories in which opponents have scored four earned runs. The Pirates took today's games 5 to 0 and 2 to 1. In the first encounter, Charley Wood, Western league rookie, gave the Braves five hits in scoring the shutout. Ervin Brame almost duplicated Wood's accomplishment in the second game, but McGuire's double and Cantwell's single in the eighth gave the visitors a run.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 23. (AP)—Jess Haines, who has been on the inactive list for several weeks with an injured shoulder, got back in the game today to pitch the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9 to 6 victory over the hard hitting Phillies. The win made it three in a row for the Red birds.

Only One New Player In Training Camp—Spur Game Is Moved Up Day

NEW RECORDS FEATURES OF FIELD MEET

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 23. (AP)—A new world's record in the discus throw and the best shot put and javelin heave ever recorded in America featured the National Senior track and field championships of the amateur athletic union at the University of Pittsburgh stadium this afternoon.

Led by a powerful band of athletes from Los Angeles A. C., which captured team honors by an overwhelming margin and also carried off seven of the 20 individual titles, the track and field talent of the far west turned in the most spectacular performances.

Sharing the spotlight with sensational achievements in the discus, javelin and shot was the latest renewal of spiriting rivalry between Eddie Toian of the University of Michigan and George Simpson of Ohio State. The time the honors in the 100-yard dash went to Michigan's "midnight express," after a great race in which he collared his rival at the half-way mark, but the buckeye bullet came back to beat him in the 220 yard sprint and set a new American record of 21.3 seconds for this event, around a turn.

All told, one world's record was set, another was equalled, three American records went by the board and five championship records went into the discard as this fifty-fifth annual meet provided all the thrills that had been anticipated, and more besides.

Tilden Limps To Big Victory

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 23. (AP)—The magic that Big Bill Tilden puts into his tennis racquet today overcame the elements and youth to give him the first important victories of the current American court season.

The lanky national champion, injured leg and hip and all, played through a driving rain storm this morning and defended successfully his Newport Casino singles championship against the young but seasoned Wilmer Allison, Davis Cup doubles player from Austin, Texas, in a stringently close finale, 6-1, 6-6, 6-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Tilden joined forces with his doubles partner, Frank Hunter of New Rochelle, to turn back the hard-fighting midwestern youngsters, Wilbur Coen, Jr., of Kansas City, and Harrison Coggeshall, Des Moines, Ia., in another five set battle for the doubles trophies 6-3, 6-4, 6-6, 8-6, 6-2.

Lions Bowlers Are Defeated in Match

Shooting in erratic fashion, the Pampa Lions lost three straight games to an all-star team at the bowling tournament Friday evening.

Powell, with an average of about 175, was high man for the all-stars, and Akers shot 167 to lead the Lions team. High man of the tourney was Clauson with 199.

A large crowd saw the tournament. The Lions will meet the Rotary team in a return match soon. The Lions won the first.

New material in the Harvester training camp near LeFors is confined to a single linesman, Edgar Burch of Duncan, Okla., who is 18 years old and weighs 172.

Burch appears to be a real find, whose presence in the line will fill a big gap.

Howard Young of Wilson, who weighs 187, has been found to be over-age, and will be lost to the squad.

The boys will be taking plays from now on, and will start short scrimmages tomorrow. They are working off early training soreness and exhibiting the proper grid spirit, according to Coach Odus Mitchell.

The opening game with Spur high school has been moved up to Friday, Sept. 5, and business houses will be asked to close during this game.

Mrs. O'Donnell Is Holding Lead In Feminine Race

FAIRFAX AIRPORT, Kansas City, Kans., Aug. 23. (AP)—Five of the six contestants in femininity's air derby from Long Beach, Calif., to Chicago, led by Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell of Long Beach, advanced to Kansas City from Wichita today while the sixth, Mrs. Marjorie Doig of Danbury, Conn., was forced down and perhaps out of the race by engine trouble.

Replacement parts were dispatched by airplane to Mrs. Doig at a farm near Olpe, Kans., about midway between Wichita and Kansas City, where she left her plane and telephoned race officials here.

Ruth Barron of Hollywood lost her directions again today and flew to St. Joseph, Mo., before discovering her error. She had landed for directions on a farm near Kansas City and became confused because of poor visibility.

Although her plane developed carburetor trouble which she said cost her about 20 miles an hour, Mrs. O'Donnell gained an impressive advantage on today's lap. With Mrs. Doig who was second in elapsed time at Wichita, out of the reckoning, Mrs. O'Donnell increased her lead from slightly more than an hour to 5 hours, 25 minutes 16 seconds.

FORT WORTH HITS TO BEAT BEAUMONT

BEAUMONT, Aug. 23. (AP)—Fielding brilliantly behind the steady twirling of Dick McCabe, Fort Worth salvaged the final game of the season with Beaumont today when they bunched hits with Shipper errors for a 7 to 3 victory. Denny Burns was routed early in the game by the Cats and Beaumont finished in splendid style. Bonowitz hit a homer with one on in the fourth but in the sixth was chased by Umpire Domingue when he disputed a play at first. Eddie Moore turned in the fielding gems of the afternoon.

YOUTH TAKES CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF TOURNEY

FORT WORTH, Aug. 23. (AP)—Byron Nelson, 18-year-old former Glen Garden caddy, is the champion of Glen Garden Country club's first invitation golf tournament. The tall, likeable chap literally walked away with the 36-hole championship match against the veteran M. L. (Happy) Massingill, River Crest, today 9 and 7.

The topheavy score failed to indicate the convincing manner in which Nelson reached the heights in his first major golf tournament. He has played around the city in municipal affairs but hadn't played in a "big time" tourney since becoming a member at Glen Garden. He only recently won the club championship but today saw him rise into the limelight for the first time.

To a little black-handed putter with a shining blade goes the credit for Nelson's victory. He was uncanny on the carpets, running them down from all angles and lengths.

Only three times during the match did Massingill win a hole. All three were scored on the front nine. Massingill won two holes on the first nine and it was the second time around the course before he was able to win another.

EARNshaw IS VICTOR AFTER FORM CHANGE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23. (AP)—George Earnshaw returned to the pitching peak for the Athletics today, after pitching five innings yesterday and being knocked out of the box, and avenged himself by shutting out Detroit, 2 to 0. Earnshaw was hit freely in the first three innings but grew more effective as the game went on, allowing only four hits in the last six innings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23. (AP)—Brown held St. Louis in check throughout today's game while his teammates pushed across two counters and Washington won 2 to 0 making it three out of four for the series. Washington's counters came in the fourth and eighth innings on bunched hits, with Bluege and Rice driving Meyer and Joe Judge across the plate.

GENE SARAZEN NEW WESTERN GOLF CHAMP

INDIANWOOD CLUB, Orion, Mich., Aug. 23. (AP)—Gene Sarazen, swarthy son of Italy, led a par-shelling brigade over the Indianwood club trail today with such an astonishing burst of marksmanship that he ran away with the Western open golf championship by a lop-sided margin of seven strokes. Finding the range of birdies and eagles with remarkable spade shots, the roly poly New York sharpshooter blasted old man par right out of his stronghold with polishing cards of 69 and 67, which, added to his leading 36-hole total of 142, gave him the handsome sum of 278 strokes for the long 72-hole struggle.

Sarazen's score not only netted him the second lowest score in the tournament's 31 years of play but won for him one of the few remaining crows to escape his grasp. Too, it was one of the finest scores he ever carded in the more than 15 years he has been dazzling around the fairways.

Al Espinosa, Chicago professional, who lost to Bobby Jones in the 1929 playoff for the National open title, landed in second place with 285 strokes. The Chicago star bounded there after a great comeback. Tied for fifteenth after the first 36 holes, Espinosa whizzed over the final two rounds with cards of 70 and 67.

AMARILLO MAN IS LEADING CONTESTANTS IN TRI-STATE OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

AMARILLO, Aug. 23. (AP)—Henry David Akin, Amarillo attorney and University of Texas player 10 years ago, continued his amazing drive today towards the top in the Tri-State open tennis tournament by turning back Leo Brady of Abilene in the third round, 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, after eliminating John White, Amarillo city champion and seeded No. 2, in the morning round.

Akin, a rank outsider, played a slow game and apparently had his opponents worried by his lack of fire and drive. White and Brady, both flashy players, could not fathom the careful, easy style of Akin.

Joe Bill Bralley, Austin junior ace, beat C. E. Lund of Amarillo, seeded No. 4, in a second round men's division match, 6-4, 6-2.

Colman Barnhill of Amarillo, defending champion, turned back Wilson McKirahan of Amarillo, 6-4, 6-3, in the third round after eliminating O. K. Davis of Clovis, N. M., in the morning round.

Dan Steakley of Abilene and Bralley defeated Lund and McKirahan 6-4, 6-3, in the feature doubles match.

In the intermediate division Steakley downed Bill Pearce, Amarillo, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2, and Brady turned back Myron Wright of Wynoka, Okla., 6-3, 7-5.

In another third round match in the men's division M. M. Ballard, net coach of Simmons university at Abilene, turned back the threat of his pupil, Harold Moore, of Abilene, 6-4, 6-3. Moore had eliminated Wayne Eubanks, West Texas State Teachers' star of Canyon, 6-2, 6-6, in a morning round.

Steakley and Bralley beat Lund and McKirahan, 4-6, 6-3, 6-2 in the feature doubles match of the day. In the first round of the women's match, carried over from Friday, Kathleen Darrell, interscholastic star from Dalhart, beat Mrs. Heley Mann of Amarillo, 6-6, 6-1.

Phillips and Guns Will Play

The Gulf Guns and Phillips teams will play a game at the Gun park this afternoon.

The Guns nosed out the Dial team last Sunday at Berger by a score of 3 to 2. Haddock who works at the Dial camp at Berger pitched for the Dials, and Lefty Coop did good work for the Gulf. The Gun line-up which won the tournament at Amarillo remains intact. Haddock will come over from Berger to help Coop—if Lefty needs any help. Two weeks ago the Guns won a seven-inning game from the Phillips 5-4.

Homes Needed to House Delegates At Big Meeting

More than a hundred delegates and visitors from six counties are expected for the annual convention of the Panhandle district of the First Christian church, opening at the local church at 1 o'clock Tuesday. One of the most interesting programs offered at a meeting of the district will be an attraction to active workers of the church throughout the area, prominent ministers and lay workers of the district and cities outside it being listed for discussions on the two-day schedule.

Housing and entertainment of the visitors is under the charge of the Woman's Council, which is composed of six units, and the majority of the women active in the work of the church. Having exhausted the supply of available rooms in homes of the congregation, the Council is asking that citizens outside that church extend the hospitality of their homes to aid in caring for the delegates and visitors.

Mrs. Paul Kasishke, vice president, now active, particularly urged that any members of the First Christian church who were not reached by the committee communicate with her today or tomorrow, if they will entertain visitors. Others who will extend hospitality also are asked to call Mrs. Kasishke. Out-of-town workers will arrive for the convention Tuesday morning or early in the afternoon, Mrs. Kasishke said, and will be in the city until Wednesday evening. Lodging for the two days, Tuesday night, and breakfast are asked for the visitors.

A picnic on Tuesday evening is the one distinctly social event planned for the meeting. It will be held at 7 o'clock, on the lawn of the church, if the weather permits, and if not, in the educational building. Each family in the congregation is to furnish a basket lunch sufficient for itself and a few visitors. All members of the local congregation are invited to be present, according to Mrs. Kasishke.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Craig are to spend the day in Clarendon with Mrs. Craig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Patching, Ralph Trimble, Jr., is to accompany them.

Autry Holmes made a trip to Hoover and Laketon Friday. S. D. Stennis and Harold Holmes made a trip to Alameda Friday.

Had Neuritis 20 Years; Famous Konjola Scored

Dallas Man Tells How Four Bottles of New Medicine Brought Glorious Relief.

THOMAS HARDY

"For twenty years I had that dreadful ailment, neuritis, in my shoulders and arms," said Mr. Thomas Hardy, 2419 Clark street, Dallas. "My arms were in such a condition that I could scarcely move them. A constant pain was present in my shoulders. Treatment after treatment failed but Konjola seemed to work immediately. Constipation was another ailment that I had to contend with. It seemed that none of my organs functioned as they should."

"Before I had completed the fourth bottle of Konjola my whole entire system had made a change for the better. The neuritis pains in my arms and shoulders have been greatly relieved. I shall continue the treatment until they have disappeared. Constipation has been relieved and my entire system is in great shape. Konjola is a real medicine and deserving of all the credit it gets."

It is the same story of success wherever Konjola is introduced and give a real test. Most cases require a systematic treatment of from six to eight bottles in order to secure the most sure and lasting results.

Konjola is sold in Pampa at the City Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Thanks

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to everyone who in any way assisted me in winning the race for Sheriff of Gray county.

Many of my supporters without compensation of any kind laid aside their business and worked for me. I realize that this was a great sacrifice on their part and to them I wish to make a special expression of appreciation.

For every word and act in my behalf on the part of any supporter I am truly grateful.

The closeness of the race bespeaks the worthiness of my opponent and although the majority was small I appreciate the fact that it is an honor to any man to defeat a man of the type of John V. Andrews.

Yours for a better county,

Twenty-one army pursuit ships opened the barnstorming program with a roar that rattled the grandstand seats. They sped in close formation and then breaking into a line, propeller to tail like elephants on parade, formed an aerial circle which soon became a whirling screw that spiraled toward the ground.

A section of three ships did the "split," shooting head-on into the stands, the two on the sides pulling up and out from the leader who darted in a steep climb directly over the spectators.

A navy squadron of 18 ships, with the famous Red Rippers from the aircraft carrier Lexington, executed pin wheels and horizontal figure 8's and then swung into a squirrel cage loop in full formation the planes individually going into loose tops that, collectively, formed a perfect, whirling circle in the skies.

Sterling in Statement HOUSTON, Aug. 23. (P)—Ross S. Sterling of Houston late tonight issued the following statement:

"Returns to the Texas election bureau indicate that I have been nominated to the governorship in today's Democratic primary by a substantial majority.

"I am deeply and humbly grateful for the support accorded me, and I wish to thank every citizen who contributed to the success of the cause I represented.

"I regard the outcome not as a personal victory but as a triumph of the people of Texas enlisted under the banner of good government.

"It is my hope that any animosities created by the heat of the campaign may be forgotten and the people of Texas united in a constructive era of progress in government.

"For my part, I shall strive to the utmost to justify in the fullest the confidence which the people have placed in me."

AUSTIN, Aug. 23. (P)—Ex-Gov. James E. Ferguson was silent tonight as his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in opposition to Ross S. Sterling of Houston, continued to trail the Houstonian by more than 50,000 votes.

While Ferguson said he had no comment to make on the result of the balloting so far, he indicated he would issue a statement tomorrow which would be based on more complete returns.

Mrs. Ferguson, too, had nothing to say but both appeared cheerful and Ferguson apparently had not lost hope that the rural sections of the state would come in strong to run up his wife's total. He did not concede Sterling's nomination.

Both ex-governors were resting at their home in Tulefield at 10 o'clock tonight. They were surrounded by a small group of friends and were chatting casually.

Moody Is Jubilant AUSTIN, Aug. 23. (P)—His voice husky from the strenuous campaign he has waged for the past three weeks against "Fergusonism," Governor Dan Moody was jubilant tonight as early returns from all parts of the state piled up a commanding lead for Ross S. Sterling over Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

The governor was busy with pencil and paper figuring up the returns as they came into the office of the American Statesman from the Texas election bureau. He was figuring the vote by percentages as each half hour tabulation was received.

The chief executive, who will retire from office in January, appeared none the worse for the numerous speeches he has made throughout the state in the interests of Sterling, who is Moody's appointee to the chairmanship of the state highway commission.

At ten o'clock tonight Governor Moody sent a telegram of congratulation to Sterling. He predicted the highway commission chairman would lead Mrs. Ferguson by at least 75,000 votes and expressed the belief that it might go much higher than this figure.

According to persons who have watched the governor during previous campaign he was as much excited at the returns tonight as he was when he was running for office himself.

DALLAS, Aug. 23. (P)—Somewhere under the avalanche of possibly the greatest Democratic primary vote in Texas history lay buried tonight the decision as to whether a woman former governor of a business man making his maiden effort in elective politics should be sent into the November gubernatorial lists against Dr. George C. Butte, the Republican nominee.

Mrs. Ferguson's name was placed on the ballot after a court decision had held her husband was ineligible to run for office because of his impeachment. After a similar court decision in 1924, she became a candidate for governor and was elected.

Ferguson based his appeal in this election, as in others, on a square deal for the farmers and "the common people." He bitterly attacked Sterling as a representative of wealth and the special interests.

She advocated lower taxes, more money for rural schools and a freer use of the governor's pardoning power. He said that if Mrs. Ferguson were elected she would pardon

3,000 convicts, but insisted these would be persons, in the main, who should have been pardoned during the administration of Governor Moody.

He denounced the plan sponsored by Sterling to issue $350,000,000 in bonds for a statewide highway program, declaring the teapot dome scandal would be swarmed in comparison with the scandal in the state highway department should Sterling be elected and the bonds voted.

Dr. Neal of Amarillo will speak at 3 p. m. We invite you to hear him. Training service opens at 7:30 p. m.

The sermon at 8:30 p. m. by the pastor will be on the subject "The Greatest Possible Offer." "Whom the Gods would destroy, they first make mad." It is just too bad that some in Pampa have completely lost their heads. Our sympathy goes out for them.

We of this city are a liberty-loving people, or, at least, we are a liberty-loving people. It was indeed a great day for humanity, as well as for America, when a more handful of colonists won their political freedom from the great nation on the other side of the sea, and flung wide the doors of a continent as a refuge for the poor and the oppressed.

The tyrant of political oppression has found no resting place upon the face of this continent except in Pampa. He has entrenched himself in this city, and said there will be no religious liberty on the part of some. Come to the Central Baptist church Sunday if you are not in church elsewhere and think with us as we discuss Christian liberty. A big welcome awaits you.

D. H. TRUITT, Pastor.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH
All officials of the church, officers and teachers of the Sunday school will meet for a special service at 9:30 o'clock in the ladies' parlor. Sunday school will open promptly at 9:45 o'clock. We are very anxious to make this Sunday the greatest of any during the entire year.

Our Annual revival will begin at the 11 o'clock. The official board has secured the services of Rev. Frank M. Neal, general evangelist, Amarillo, to bring the messages during the revival.

An added attraction during the revival will be the Glendon district gospel quartet, composed of John Crow of Oroom, Elmer Landreth of Hedley, D. W. Winkins of McLean, and Tom W. Brabham of Pampa. This message in song will be worth your time.

Our only mission is to make Pampa a better place in which to live. Will you not join us in lifting the standard of Christian living higher in our city?

TOM W. BRABHAM, Pastor.

Wheat Turns Up
CHICAGO, Aug. 23. (AP)—Huge enlargement of estimates of the amount of wheat used as livestock feed instead of bread material led to lively upturns in grain values today.

According to figures suggested today from responsible sources, the substitution of wheat for corn this season is likely to total 150,000,000 bushels, whereas the highest estimate heretofore has been 125,000,000 bushels and the generally accepted allowance was about an even 100,000,000 bushels.

Corn crop advices today continued to emphasize the unusual number of fields with corn only 3 to 4 feet tall, and the accumulating evidence that barren stalks and unfilled ears are much more the rule than has generally been believed.

Now is the time for all good men nervous 1-8 to 1-6-8 cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed unsettled 5-8 to 1-1-4 cents up, oats 1-8 to 3-4 cents advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 15 cents.

Substitution of as much as 150,000,000 bushels of wheat for corn would be by far the biggest switching of one grain for another ever known, trade authorities said today. The figures pointing to such a gigantic transfer came from the principle partner of one of the leading commission houses here, and were based on preliminary returns, gathered under the direction of a former department of agriculture expert. Statements which accompanied the preliminary figures said that if complete reports expected within a few days prove to be of the same character as those already in hand, recent forecasts that 100,000,000 bushels of wheat will be fed would have to be greatly altered, and that 150,000,000 bushels as the aggregate will not be far from actual.

Provisions averaged higher owing to grain strength, despite downturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indentities: Wheat—Sept. 88 1-4, 91; Dec. 93 1-4, 95 3-4 to 7-8; March 97 7-8, 1.00 5-8; May 1.00 5-8, 1.03 1-4. Corn—Sept. 97 1-4, 1.01 1-2; Dec. 92 to 1-5, 96 to 3-8; March 94, 98 1-3; May 96 1-8, 99 3-4 to 1.00.

Livestock Is Higher

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 23. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit this week was featured by substantial upturns in all departments. Cattle prices were sharply higher with late trade firm at the full advance. Bullish factors in the cattle market were light supplies for this season of the year and a thoroughly active dressed beef trade. Killing classes were unevenly 25 to 150 higher with beef steers and yearlings taking the big end of the advance and low grade cows, which were in broad demand last week, showing the minimum gain. Chicago scored 71.75 on choice yearling steers and realized 11.25 on choice heavy steers. Improvements of stockers continued light. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 179,800. Hogs Thursday were 1.00 higher than a week ago and an extreme top of 12.00 paid at St. Louis. Ship demand on closing sessions narrowed and a large portion of the week's early advance was erased. Closing rates are 25-65 higher than last Saturday with a late top of 11.50 in St. Louis. Total offerings were around 352,500.

Fat lambs were 50 to 1.00 higher for the week while matured classes of sheep at some centers were up 25 to 50. Demand for feeding lambs also widened materially and a gain on fat lambs were registered. The supply approximated 353,800.

DANCING JUDITH

by CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH GRANT, artist's model, loves ALAN STEYNE, who is also loved by CHUMMY MORLEY, her best friend. Chummy had loved Steyne years ago, and lost her memory when he went away; so, though he loves Judith, Judith insists it is his duty to marry Chummy, who regains her memory when she sees him again. Judith studies dancing and becomes a star in a musical show backed by RICHARD WYON; later, however, she learns Wyon is merely an agent for BRUCE GIDEON, a financier who is infatuated with her. Meanwhile Chummy learns Judith and Steyne are in love and breaks her engagement, but Judith refuses to marry Steyne, telling him he belongs to Chummy. Gideon tries to attack Judith in his apartment. She escapes, and he begs her to marry him, but she refuses and goes to Europe on a professional tour. Chummy and Steyne prepare to get married, but suddenly learn Judith has been badly hurt in a theater fire. She is brought back to New York and tells them she may never be able to dance again. BASTIEN DUMONT, a young artist who loves Judith, visits her at the hospital. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL

Dumont saw Judy oftener than anybody else during the "next" three or four days. She seemed to like him to sit with her. She was gentle and kind to him. She took a great interest in his work.

They were days that passed like a dream to the young artist. He was unbelievably happy. Each day he thought Judy looked more as if she were coming back to life. She said she had hardly any pain left, and she was healing up splendidly. They were truly golden September days, and all his life Bastien never forgot them.

Now and then he thought Judy was not quite as gay as usual. He was afraid that she was in pain, and was concealing it; but the next moment the pensive, troubled look would leave her face, and she would burst out with stories of all the made, and how they wrote to her and sent her presents, and were so kind and lovely that it seemed as if she had known them all her life.

"Bastien," she would say, with tears in her eyes, "did ever a girl have more friends than I?" And he would look at her with his whole soul in his beautiful eyes and would feel his heart burn within him for joy. He would never stop to reckon what he would have to pay for these blissful hours in loneliness and heartache and use less longing when Judy was well again, and had gone out into the world on her conquering way.

One day she said to him, just as he was going away: "Bastien, are they saying that I am going to marry Mr. Gideon?" "I believe most of them think so, Judy."

"You can tell them I am not. He asked me to, Bastien, but I said no."

"I don't think I ever believed you would, Judy," he said. "Only of course, you were about with him a great deal."

"I know. I played a little game with him, Bastien, if you want to know. He didn't want to marry me—you can imagine that. He didn't think I was good enough; but he found he couldn't get me any other way."

The young man was white. His hands were clenched.

"Judy!" he said, and he shook with a frenzy of rage.

"It's all right, Bastien," she said. "You needn't worry. Mr. Gideon asked me to marry him, and I refused. We're more than quits. You can tell the boys that I'm not going to marry him."

"Judy, you always said you would never marry until you fell in love. Aren't you ever going to fall in love?"

"Oh, Bastien!" She heaved a deep sigh, although she laughed, too. He saw the sadness in her eyes, and he wondered, having no inkling of the truth.

"Bastien," she went on, "Chummy hasn't been near me since she first came—that was four days ago. What has become of her? Do you think they've been married?"

"Oh, Judy, we should have heard," he replied.

"Oh, I wish they would," she cried. "I do wish they would!"

Her eagerness seemed natural to him, so he missed the feverish note in her voice. As he said goodby, she took one of his hands and laid her cheek against it for a second, just like a child. Before he could stop himself he had bent and kissed her hair.

"Dear old Bastien!" Judy murmured. "You're such a pal!"

Dumont thought it strange that he had not seen either Chummy or Steyne at the Cafe Ture for several nights. Perhaps they had gone off and been married without saying anything. They couldn't have married much of a festivity of it, anyhow, with Judy laid up.

He thought he would look in at Chummy's studio on his way back. It was then about half past six.

The day had been one of melting heat, and the atmosphere was dark and threatening. It felt like a storm. A few heavy raindrops fell as Bastien reached Chummy's building. He hoped it not hot the break. Up of those wonderful, golden days. Not a sound was to be heard in the building. Dumont reached her floor and knocked at her door. There was no response. He knocked again with the same result.

He tried the door, then, and found that it was not locked; so he went in.

Chummy's place was rather dark at all times. There was a little dark lobby that led into the studio, where, of course, it was light, but a curtain shut off the entrance. Leading out of the lobby on the right was a dark passage that led into the tiny gallery where Chummy's cooking was done. Her bedroom was on the other side of the studio.

The storm made it even darker this evening. Dumont stumbled against a tall oil jar that was meant to hold umbrellas. He called out Chummy's name, but there was no reply.

Just as he was going out, he smelled gas. The odor was strong. He thought Chummy must have gone out and left a burner on. He had better look into her gallery; so he went along the little passage and opened the door of the tiny kitchen.

Here the fumes of gas were almost overpowering. He dared not light a match, so he groped his way forward, as the little place was almost dark.

He gave a cry as he nearly fell over something soft. Bending he found that it was Chummy, quite unconscious, her fair head lying almost in the gas oven, the door of which was open. He began to choke and splutter, as he felt for the gas burners and found them all turned full on. When he had turned them off, he picked up Chummy and carried her into the studio.

He opened all the windows, top and bottom, and felt the fresh air rush in and purify the place.

He felt very queer and cold. What had happened to Chummy? Had she gone mad? Or had she been cleaning her gas stove and succumbed to the fumes? But one didn't clean a gas stove with the burners turned on.

Curiously enough, Bastien had once before been present when a friend had been resuscitated after having nearly killed himself in this self-same way. He knew what to do, and he did it without going for a doctor. Chummy was very far gone; but he satisfied himself that she could be revived; and he knew she would not wish him to call a doctor.

For by this time he realized that Chummy had intended to commit suicide. He was still numbed. It was so sordid—Chummy lying there, with her head in the gas oven, Chummy so badly hit by life that she had sought this way out! She looked wonderful as she lay on the couch, so fair and aristocratic, so delicate and rare. She had never been like the other. It seemed worse for her to have done this thing—almost more than Dumont could stand.

He could imagine other girls doing it—even Judy, under certain circumstances; but not Chummy—Chummy, who had made up her mind that love came before work, and who was going to be married and live happily ever after!

Her eyelids stirred, and she moaned faintly. Dumont held cold water to her lips. She drank a little. Then he hurried out to the gallery, and, knowing it was now safe to strike a light, put some water on to boil.

When he came back she was sitting up, greenish white about the face, but breathing more or less normally.

"Bastien!" she gasped. "Chummy!" he replied, with as much reproach as relief. "What a dreadful thing to do! It was luck that I came in time."

And then the proudly reserved Chummy came to the end of her self-control.

"I wish you hadn't come!" she cried. "I wish you hadn't come!" She broke down completely, and it was terrible to watch.

Little by little, Dumont managed to soothe her and to bring her back to normal behavior; but she was completely demoralized mentally, and could no more control her words than a person out of her mind.

She did what she would never have done, what she would rather have died than done, if she had been herself—she told him the truth.

"Bastien, you should have let me be. It's the only way out of it. Judy and Alan love each other, but they won't take their happiness because of me!"

At first Dumont thought Chummy must be mad. He had not had the faintest inkling of such a situation. He put it down to the gas. It had poisoned her mind. But little by little, through her disorganized volition and her eloquent words, he came to see that she knew what she was talking about. She gave chapter and verse. While the floodgates were open, the flood flowed through.

Judy and Alan loved each other. They had loved even more strongly since Alan came back. Alan had quite forgotten her, she said. Probably he had never loved her. He had been very fond of her as a friend—that was all; but he loved Judy. How could any man help loving Judy?

The last sentence was so true that Dumont laughed, and Chummy, did not know that it was the laughter of despair.

"But why did one never guess?" he asked.

"Because they didn't want any one to guess. Bastien," she said, still unable to keep anything back. "They wanted to keep it from me. It was Judy at first—you know Judy; but afterward it was Alan, too. She made him see it that way."

"How do you know?"

"Because I do know—I can't help it. It was just before we were going to be married the first time—last year—I can't tell you, but I saw them together, and I knew. They were saying goodby. Judy knew I loved Alan. She wouldn't take him from me. You know Judy. They didn't know I'd heard and seen."

"And then," said the young man, growing enlightened, "you suddenly decided that you must put your work before Steyne?"

Chummy nodded.

"Judy always thought you'd had a quarrel, you know."

"Yes, I know. I don't think she guessed at the time; but afterward she knew that I knew."

"Aren't you imagining things?" "No, Bastien, I'm sure of it. Then, you know, she made her great success and went away, and I believe she took up with Mr. Gideon so that Alan shouldn't think about her any more. You know Judy." It was pathetic how she repeated those three words. "She would never marry him while I was there—I knew that."

"But then," put in Dumont, intensely puzzled, "you were going to be married—now?"

"I know. Alan drifted back somehow. I expect it was because Judy had gone and there was all that talk about Mr. Gideon. I don't know, but there it was; and I was persuaded against myself, Bastien. I ought to have known that he hadn't forgotten her. I thought perhaps he had, but on the night when we heard about the fire at the theater—the night when we were all at the rate—then I knew once and for all. None of you noticed him, I think; but I did. I just saw him die, Bastien!"

Dumont looked at her and was moved to action. "Telling her to sit still, he went out, brewed coffee, and forced her to drink a cup. She had recovered somewhat, but she looked as if she had shaken hands with death.

BIG BUSINESS MEN

—are making plans for a greater Pampa; they feel that the future of Pampa as an industrial and business center is assured. With the advent of the new Denver railroad there will be a still greater demand for business houses and residences. Even at this time there is a greater demand than ever for rent property of all kind, and with construction material now at its lowest level since 1913, weather conditions ideal, and the brightest prospects generally Pampa has ever known, the spirit of optimism prevails. All this goes to make an ideal time to build business houses and residences. Confer with any Pampa lumberman.
