Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Amerada Discovers Prolific Reef Pay In C-S Terry Area

Amerada Petroleum Corporation appears to have a prolific flowing oil discovery from a lower Permian lime in Central-South Terry County, at its No. 1 N. W. Willard, which is located 14 1/2 miles south of Brownfield.

This development took a drillstem test for five hours and five minutes at 8,450-8,507 feet. Gas showed at the surface in five minutes and oil started flowing out of the drill pipe in 38 minutes. The fluid was run to pits for 27 minutes to clean.

Now Pulling Tool

The well was then flowed to tanks for four hours and it produced 144 barrels of 43-gravity oil during that period. Gas-oil ratio was 431-1. The flow was through a five-eighths inch bottom hole choke, and a one-inch top opening on the drill pipe.

There was no formation water in the oil. Operator was pulling the tester at last report.

Interested observers think the production is possibly coming from the Wolfcamp, lower Permian.

This new pay opener is one mile west of the Adair-San Andres field, six miles west of the Corrigan-Fusselman field and four miles southeast of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1 Bevers, recently completed flowing discovery from a lime reef. That well was finished for a daily potential of 2,280 barrels of high-gravity oil, flowing naturally from pay at 9,712-9,805 feet.

High To Bevers

The Amerada No. 1 Willard topped the Spraberry section of the Permian at 7,270 feet, which was on a datum of minus 4,035 feet, and correlated 272 feet high to the same marker in the Anderson-Prichard No. 1 Bevers.

No lower markers have been picked from No. 1 Willard.

Location of the new Terry County discovery is 660 feet from north and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 6, block C-37, psl survey.

NE Howard Opener Gets Three Offsets

North, south and east offsets to the George Brown No. 1 Branon, new lime discovery in Northeast Howard County, have been staked for immediate drilling.

Brown will drill the east offset, one-half mile from the discovery. It will be his No. 2 Branon, located in the center of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 19, block 27, H&TC survey.

Amcan Oil Corporation and Southland Royalty Company will drill their No. 1-18 Branon as the north offset. It will be one-quarter mile north of the discovery and in the center of the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 18, block 27, H&TC survey.

South Offset

One-quarter mile south of the discovery, Amcan will drill its No. 1-19 Branon, to be in the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 19, block 27, H&TC survey.

Amcan and Southland jointly own the leases in the south half of section 18. They have farmed out to Brown the southwest forty acres in both the southwest and southeast quarters of the section. Amcan owns full lease interests on the north half of section 19, on which its south offset is to be drilled.

Amcan and Southland are now staking 16 locations on their leases in the two sections. In the jointly owned south half of section 18, six locations have been staked, while Amcan is staking eight locations in the north half of section 19.

The concerns plan to keep two rigs in operation until the leases on the two sections are drilled, or the area defined.

Discovery Runs Pipe

The Brown No. 1 Branon, discovery well of this new pool, or extension to the East Vealmoor pool, one and one-half miles to the north, is running five and one-half inch casing to be set at approximately 7,325 feet.

On a final drillstem test at 7,360-86 feet, this venture flowed 25 to 30 barrels of oil hourly on a 30-minute test.

Top of the reef was picked at 7,300 feet, on a minus datum of 4,763 feet.

SE Dawson Slated For Deep Wildcat

Dan Auld of Kerrville has scheduled a Pennsylvanian wildcat in Southeast Dawson County, three miles southwest of the Spraberry field.

Operations on the proposed No. 1 G. W. Grissom are to begin by September 1. Drillsite will be 660 feet from east and north lines of section 17, block 34, T&P survey, T-4-N.

Projected depth is 9,250 feet, which is sufficient to test through most of the Pennsylvanian formations in that area.

A number of oil concerns and oil operators are supporting the venture. Continental Oil Company, The Pure Oil Company, Sun Oil Company, Honolulu Oil Corporation, Warren Oil Corporation, R. R. Rutherford of Houston and W. B. Collins of Midland all are con-

Russian Subs Pose Top Far East Problem

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Russia is believed to have an assorted collection of about 800 naval craft deployed near the Korean war area—including between 70 and 80 submarines.

Naval sources here figure perhaps a third of this school of submarines are the new XXI snorkels.

Although the 800 total estimate is numerically big, there is no present evidence that it comprises anything like a balanced naval force. Those studying the situation believe many of these vessels are small craft of various types and that certainly nothing bigger than cruisers are in the area.

So far as can be determined, the Russian Navy still possesses no aircraft carriers.

One unknown factor seems to be how many of the smaller Soviet vessels may be landing craft or types that could be used in emergency for an amphibious operation.

Grave Concern To America

The presence in the Far East of any sizeable number of landing craft could be of grave concern to American forces. They could be used to provide an amphibious "lift" for North Korean flanking operations down the South Korean coast lines. Or they might some day be used in an attempted operation against the American defense bas-

Blind Man Gives Self Up For Bank Robbery, Years Old

MONAHANS—(AP)—A blind man's tale of bank robbery was being checked Thursd ".

A 38-year-old man turned himself over to Sheriff W. B. McNerlin in Monahans Wednesday and said he was wanted for a bank robbery in Havana, Ark., 19 years ago. Sheriff McNerlin identified the man as Stanley E. Hedrick.

"My conscience has been hurting me all these years. And I'd do anything to get something done about my eyes, even if it means going to the pen," he told the sheriff.

He said he had been blind 13 years from an inherited disease.

The sheriff and Hugh P. Cooper, editor of The Monahans News, heard his story.

Sheriff Checks Story

He said he and another fellow gained $900 from the bank robbery in Arkansas late in 1931; he didn't remember what month. He also said he was involved in a post office robbery at Quitaque (Briscoe County), Texas, in 1932, when he and another fellow got $300.

Sheriff McNerlin held him in jail while he checked the story.

Hedrick said he was born in Paris, Texas; that he was married to a girl from Quitaque in 1933, and that his wife and two children now live at Pyote.

He told the sheriff he had been acquitted in the slaying of Harvey Bolin of Plainview in a trial at Portales, N. M., in 1931.

For 19 years, he said, he has worked in Texas at various jobs—as a truck driver and mechanic. For the last six weeks, he said, he had been working as a mechanic at a garage in Pyote, near here.

First Draft Exams Set August 7-11

AUSTIN —(AP)— Physical examinations for the first Texans called by draft boards will begin August 7, State Selective Service Headquarters announced Thursday.

Registrants selected by local draft boards will be sent to main Army recruiting stations in Texas and Louisiana August 7-11 inclusive, Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state director, said.

State headquarters now is working on quotas for each of the state's 107 draft boards. Texas has been called on for 1,005 men.

"We have to send enough men to the examining stations to be sure we get enough passed to fill our call," General Wakefield said. "We'll be ready just as soon as we can with the exact figure."

The examining stations are at Amarillo, El Paso, San Antonio, Dallas, Houston and Shreveport, La.

The men who pass the August examinations will be inducted in September. The exact date is not yet known.

Local boards will send men for examination by the shortest and most economical routes, Wakefield said. When registrants go up for their physical examinations, they are returned to their local boards, whether accepted or rejected.

Precipitation Light In Midland, Vicinity

Precipitation—very light—was recorded in Midland and vicinity most of Wednesday and part of Thursday morning. Cooler temperatures early Thursday accompanied the rainy weather.

The City Barn reported only a trace, too light to measure, had been recorded there up to Thursday noon. The CAA office at Midland Air Terminal reported .02 inch.

Army Denies Plans For New Draft Call

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Army said Thursday there "is no present plan" to issue a second draft call. It asked last Monday for 20,000 draftees.

A spokesman denied there were plans for a second call when told there were published reports the Army would ask for 80,000 more draftees.

Big Military Plane Crashes, Explodes; Survivors Sighted

TUCSON, ARIZ.—(AP)—A big military plane crashed and exploded into a mass of flames in the rugged Galuro Mountains of Southern Arizona early Thursday.

Six hours after the crash, a search plane reported sighting wreckage and three survivors. Parachutes were spread on a ridge.

Davis-Monthan Air Force Base here said the type of military plane had not been established. B-29 Superfortresses and the more modern B-50's operate out of the base regularly. Both four-engine types carry a normal crew of 11.

The scene of the wreckage is about 40 miles northeast of Tucson in some of Arizona's roughest country.

Clifford Stahl, pilot of the CAP search plane from which the wreckage was sighted, returned to the Air Force base here and reported the location of the wreckage. A rescue party and ambulances left the base immediately.

A rancher, Homer Byrd, had reported he heard engines thunder over his ranch house, 40 miles northwest of Willcox, at 12:20 a.m. (MST).

Standard Oil Buys Heidelberg Property

A bid of $12,000, submitted by the Standard Oil Company of Texas, Wednesday afternoon was accepted by the City and County of Midland for property located in East Midland. The Standard bid was the only one received.

The property, located on a portion of lot 5, and on lots 6, 7, 8, 9, and 10, of Block 18, Original Town, commonly is known as the Heidelberg property. It is located at the intersection of East Illinois and Wall Streets.

W. S. Helms represented the Standard Oil Company at the sale. W. H. Oswalt, city manager, handled the sale for both the city and the county.

MacArthur Lists American Casualties, Praises GI's

TOKYO —(AP)— General MacArthur's headquarters announced Thursday night that American losses in the Korean war to date have been 42 killed, 190 wounded and 256 missing.

The announcement said "Losses sustained by the American forces have been greatly exaggerated in press reports from the front.

"Many of the missing are undoubtedly men who, in the confusion of the fighting, have lost touch with their own units and will eventually return."

"Probably the most flagrant of these exaggerated reports dealt with the so-called 'lost battalion' of the 34th Infantry which was reported as being completely annihilated whereas its actual losses amounted to only two killed, seven wounded and 12 missing."

Reports of American losses have been exaggerated because, the statement said, the Army has avoided any military censorship or undue restrictions on the movements of war correspondents.

It said this was the first time in modern war that such an experiment had been tried.

The Midland Lions Band, directed by Duke Jimerson, will serve as an official orchestra for the Texas delegation at the convention. The unit, which attended the New York convention two years ago, is booked to play more than 25 concerts in Chicago, in addition to numerous programs enroute to and from the convention city.

Bandsters Listed

Included in the band group are Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Stracener and Linda Murl, Dr. and Mrs. Steve Shannon, Dr. and Mrs. Tom Inman, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. The Midland delegates will be loaded down with attractive, illustrated "Howdy Pardner" booklets, prepared and furhished by the Chamber of Commerce and other individuals and organizations. The booklets tell the story of Midland and West Texas.

The Midlanders will board a Texas Lions special train in Fort Worth Friday afternoon and will arrive in Chicago late Saturday. The convention opens Sunday.

Funds obtained in a series of special events sponsored by the Lions Club and its band, plus gifts from individuals and business firms, are financing the Chicago trip.

Band members Thursday expressed appreciation to everyone who has had a part in the successful raising of the "On to Chicago" fund.

Absentee Ballots Total 80 Thursday

With the deadline less than a week away, absentee votes cast for the July 22 Democratic primary Thursday totaled 80, County Clerk Lucille Johnson announced.

The absentee balloting will close next Tuesday, July 18.

Thursday was the last day for candidates and campaign managers to file their second campaign expenses. They were to be filed in the county clerk's office.

Pity The Women— They Have Troubles

The women have their troubles and there is no denying it. You can ask any Midland policeman and he'll tell you the same thing.

Want some examples?

One woman called in and said her husband had nailed up the doors to their house and she couldn't get in. Police went to the rescue and helped her gain entrance.

A pajama-clad woman was found (slightly inebriated) early Thursday in front of the post office. She really had troubles.

A button on her pajamas had come off and she was in a bad state trying to hold up the bottom part of the garments and carry her shoes in the other hand.

Police again came to the rescue. They gave her a free room in the Midland County Jail.

Red Korean Troops Mass For Assault

TOKYO—(AP)—U. S. Air Forces threw their first mass B-29 Superfortress strike at North Korea Thursday, blasting a rail center with 500 tons of bombs.

The raid was made in daylight against a rail center north of the thirty-eighth parallel by almost 50 planes.

On the ground, tank-lashed U. S. troops dug in behind the vital Kum River while three North Korean divisions massed to the north for an assault over this natural barrier.

Far to the northeast, the Reds bridged the Han River at Tanyang and sent at least one division, with artillery, to cut the key rail line from the Southeast Korean port of Pusan to Taejon, 13 miles south of the Kum River line.

General MacArthur, in a communique covering developments reported earlier in front line dispatches, said American and South Korean forces "continued to withdraw before numerically superior forces to take up defense behind prepared positions and natural barriers."

He apparently referred to the withdrawal south of the Kum. Spokesmen at the front said earlier U. S. troops had blasted several bridges over the strategic stream.

Skillful Holding Action

"American ground units in Korea are fighting one of the most skillful and heroic holding and rear guard actions in history," MacArthur's statement said, adding:

"Casualties inflicted on the enemy have been immeasurably greater . . . each day we reduce the enemy's relative superiority in numbers and weapons."

Hurled back by North Korea's Red horde, weary doughboys dug in on the Kum River's south bank for a new defense. They had a new commander, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, veteran tank fighter of World War II.

The front was relatively quiet. Presumably the North Koreans were regrouping for an assault across the vital Kum, last natural barrier in South Korea. Allied warplanes pounded transport and supply routes

Red Planes Shoot Down First B-29

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force Thursday said it had received a report that a B-29 Superfortress has been shot down by enemy fighters near Seoul, the first reported B-29 loss to enemy action.

An Air Force briefing officer at the Pentagon said the report came from the pilot of a USAF F-80 fighter who had been in radio contact with the B-29.

Dispatches from Tokyo told of a strike by B-29 Superfortresses plastering a key North Korean military target with 500 tons of bombs. Tokyo reported, however, that all of the planes and crew members returned safely from that raid without meeting opposition.

The Air Force gave no indication as to when or how the B-29 reported lost was downed.

Crew Bails Out

The report said the Superfortress was attacked by an unknown number of enemy fighters and the B-29 crew bailed out.

The report on the shot-down B-29 made no reference to what happened to the crew after they parachuted out.

Reports received here did not say what type of enemy fighters attacked the Superfortress.

Most of the North Korean planes said to have been in action so far have been conventional - engined types such as the Yak-9.

Recently there was a report that Yak-15 jets had appeared in the war zone. An Air Force briefing officer said that report appeared to have come from an Army sergeant on the ground and to date no similar reports have been made by American airmen.

San Antonio Census Count Is 406,811

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—San Antonio has a population of 406,811, according to figures released Thursday by James W. Stroud, regional census director.

It compares with 253,854 in 1940, a gain of 152,957 or 60 per cent. Stroud said the percentage increase was largest of the state's major cities.

The city will rank third in the state behind Houston, unannounced, and Dallas, with 432,000.

County, or metropolitan, population is 496,050.

This compares with 338,176 in 1940 and is a gain of 157,914 or 47 per cent.

He is Tommy Gebhart, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gebhart, 1600 block of McKenzie Street. The youth was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital early Wednesday.

Pressute Increases For Limited U. S. Control Over Plants

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Well-placed officials Thursday reported growing pressure on the Administration to seek at least limited control powers over industry to help arm the country for the fighting in Korea.

They said no specific plan yet has reached President Truman to their knowledge, nor has there been any decision on the seeking of emergency powers from Congress.

They said they expected the whole question of home-front mobilization to be placed before Friday's cabinet meeting. One official said there would be a "top-to-bottom" survey.

Some Administration officials were reported to favor an early White House request for powers comparable to those of World War II, under which automobile assembly lines could be converted to tanks and guns, and radio and television plants to radar equipment.

'Wait And See' Policy

Others, it was said, advocate a "wait-and-see" policy, or one which would call controls into play only as needed.

Foremost responsibility for advising Truman rests on two men, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Chairman W. Stuart Symington of the National Security Resources Board. The latter agency is responsible for industrial mobilization planning.

The major pressure so far, officials said, has come from industry and from Congress members. A good deal of it originated with smaller manufacturing companies which have sought government allocations on grounds that their suppliers are not delivering enough materials to keep their plants in full operation.

Development Of Antibiotic 'Wonder' Drugs Still Goes On

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Everyone has become so used to new "wonder" drugs of the antibiotic family which attack infectious diseases that it is hard to keep up with them. Penicillin came first. The history of this remarkable substance, which originally was obtained from a mold, is too well known to need repeating.

Millions of people who have received penicillin for pneumonia, meningitis, and a host of other diseases, owe their lives to that substance, or at least have been spared perhaps weeks or months of costly battling with the grim reaper.

Penicillin has been followed by other substances related to molds or to germs in the soil. One of them, streptomycin, has proved particularly useful in certain germ infections of the urinary tract which yield to it better than they do to penicillin.

Another of these antibiotics is aureomycin. This antibiotic has brought a whole new list of diseases under better control. Particularly important is the fact that it seems to work against some of those infections with living invaders smaller than germs, such as viruses or rickettsiae, which are not touched at all by penicillin.

Developed at about the same time as aureomycin is chloramphenicol or chloromycetin. This antibiotic, too, acts on many of the smaller infecting agents and on some of the germ infections even better than penicillin. Indeed, aureomycin and chloromycetin both have been used against so many infections that it has been quite confusing to keep track of the situation.

Latest Addition

The most recent addition to this group of battlers against disease is terramycin. As yet this has been tried on a comparatively small number of patients but the early reports are also favorable.

Those people whose memories go back to the terrible infections of 15 or more year ago, and to the little which could be done for sufferers from many infections at that time, are the ones who fully realize what a powerful weapon against disease the development of the antibiotics has brought into the hands of the medical profession. May their tribe increase!

The convention was held last week in San Francisco and Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, prominent Texas judge, was elected president of the national group.

Opera House

In her letter, Mrs. Carter describes the War Memorial opera house in which the convention was held, and says "it is particularly interesting at this time because it was the birthplace of the United Nations."

"Of outstanding interest to the Midlanders," she continues, "was the hour long broadcast of the Standard Symphony Orchestra with many stars of radio present, and the documentary coast to coast broadcast starring Rosalind Russell. This was written especially for the national B&PW."

All-Out Effort Required

The government wisely has declared there will be no slackening of aid to Western Europe as a result of U. S. commitments in the Korean war.

Some members of Congress recently dropped hints that since we now must spend more in the Far East, we perhaps can spend less in Europe.

That's something like removing fire-fighting equipment from the western half of a city because the last couple of fires happened to occur in the eastern half.

The free world's defenses against Russian communism must be worldwide. Any appreciable reduction in strength anywhere plainly would embolden the Soviet Union or its satellites to probe the soft spot as was done in South Korea.

• • •

Naturally some of those who advocate cutting down on aid to Europe are isolationists who seize upon any excuse to justify "economy" on that continent. But others honestly are concerned that it may be Russian purpose to spread us thin on a multitude of fronts, to bleed us white so we may be too weak ultimately to resist.

The danger here is real. Yet we have no alternative but to take the risk. Anything less than fully effective aid to the free world's trouble spots probably is worse than no aid at all; it would give an illusion of strength that doesn't exist.

There is evidence that even before the Korean war we were not committing ourselves heavily enough to the military defense of Europe, that the sums already voted by Congress or pending there are not much more than tokens of our intent.

As for the Far East, the Korean war itself is proof that our efforts to hold an Asiatic line against advancing communism were woefully short of the effective minimum.

The blunt truth is that the job is one of tremendous proportions. We are slow to get it through our heads that Russia is a far greater menace to us than was Hitler's Germany at the full tide of its power.

Up to now we have deluded ourselves that this combat with the Russians could be conducted conveniently and comfortably, at no large sacrifice in our relatively luxurious postwar pattern of living. Possibly, however, the loss of American lives in Korea will serve as a sharp and necessary corrective to our self-indulgence.

John Foster Dulles said the other day that we must now be prepared for greater sacrifices. Having seen Russian intentions nakedly exposed in Korea, we all should recognize the magnitude of our task. To do it right means to spend billions more on all fronts. Almost inevitably that will mean higher taxes, and perhaps fewer civilian goods available for our pleasure. If we are unwilling to face this prospect, then we are not truly ready to meet the Soviet Union's challenge.

No tyrant that ever stalked the earth could match Russia as a peril to freedom. Half-hearted measures are not the weapons to destroy such peril.

Why is it that when it is so easy to find fault, so many people keep right on looking for it?

"Where Are You Going, My Little One?"

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Florida gambling probed while Gillette committee soft pedals big campaign contributors; Kefauver investigators will find racketeers "buying" politicians; Huge Pennsylvania campaign gifts escape inspection.

WASHINGTON — Two Democratic senators in two widely separated areas appear to have widely divergent views on big campaign contributions:

No. 1 is serious-minded Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee who Thursday opens up a big probe of Florida gambling, including the third of a million dollars pumped into the political kitty of Fuller Warren to elect him governor of Florida. Warren is a Democrat and so is Kefauver, but the senator isn't letting that hamper the investigation.

No. 2 is likeable, silver-crested Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa, chairman of a Senate committee supposed to investigate big campaign contributions. When the easy-going Gillette is asked too many questions about his probe, he puts on his hat and walks away.

So far this year more big money has been pumped into senatorial primaries than almost any other year in history, both by Democrats and Republicans. But Guy Gillette just doesn't seem anxious to embarrass either party.

Who Elects Governors

Down in Miami, Senator Kefauver's investigation, beginning Thursday, goes to the root of how the gambling rackets have become political rackets. I haven't talked to Kefauver's investigators, but I have made a study of Florida gambling and here is the general picture he will find:

Gambling in the lush Winter sportingland around Florida has been divided among three gangs:

A. The old Capone mob under William H. Johnston of Chicago and Jacksonville controls the dog races of the entire state.

B. The S. and G. Syndicate, a group of local businessmen, control the bookmaking in Miami and Miami Beach.

C. The New York mob, under Meyer Lansky, an associate of Frankie Costello, operate in Broward County, north of Miami Beach.

In order to preserve the millions in profits raked in from these areas, the gangs subsidize the sheriffs of their local counties and even the governor of Florida himself. In fact, when the Chicago gang told the S. and G. Syndicate to move over and let them in on part of the Miami bookmaking, the S. and G. Syndicate immediately appealed to the man it had helped elect to office, Dade County Sheriff Jimmy Sullivan.

Dog-Racer Names Governor

Whereupon, the Chicago gang also fell back on the man it had helped elect to office, Gov. Fuller Warren. Dog-racer William Johnston, it developed, had contributed the amazing amount of $154,000 to Warren's primary campaign, despite the fact that it was against the law at that time to contribute more than $5,000 per person. After Warren was elected to office, of course, he got the law changed.

Another $154,000 was given and loaned to Warren by Louis E. Wolfson of Jacksonville, also in violation of the $5,000 limit.

Governor Warren now has found himself betwixt and between in the war of gamblers, and the Kefauver Crime Committee wants to find out what the gamblers get in return for their stupendous campaign gifts.

Pennsylvanians No Pikers

Meanwhile, in another part of the U. S., other sizable campaign gifts have been revealed in the good old Republican state of Pennsylvania. This time gamblers were not the contributors, but big manufacturers. Joe Grundy, the famed GOP high-tariff advocate, contributed $94,000 to the Jay Cooke-John Kunkel campaign in Pennsylvania to defeat Gov. Jim Duff, also Republican. Mason Owlett put up $52,000; loaned another $45,000, while his wife gave $3,000. W. T. Wright also loaned $156,135 to the Kunkel-Cooke committee.

But in Washington, Senator Gillette did not seem much interested in these big contributions. He sent Fielding Wright, Jr., son of the Mississippi Dixiecrat governor, to Pennsylvania to probe the big dough shelled out by the manufacturers, but it was learned that Wright chiefly paid a social call on the Pennsylvania Secretary of State.

Gillette Prefers Scouts

Asked what young Wright had done in Pennsylvania, Gillette said he didn't know.

"Aren't you the chairman?" the senator was asked.

"Of course, but I don't keep track of every detail," said Gillette, and reached for his hat.

"As a matter of fact," the senator was reminded, "all Fielding Wright did in Pennsylvania was to pick up the information that was available in the Secretary of State's office. You could have gotten just as much by writing a letter."

"No, he got more information than that," insisted Gillette.

"What is Wright's background as an investigator?" the senator was asked.

"I don't know."

"Didn't you study his qualifications before hiring him?"

"Sure," shot back the senator, again reaching for his hat.

"Then how much experience has he had?"

"I'm just not going to give you that information."

"Isn't it true that Wright really spends most of his time in the office of Senator Stennis of Mississippi rather than being out in the field investigating campaign expenditures?"

This time the senator not only got his hat, but ducked through the door and began walking rapidly down the corridor of the Senate Office Building.

"The senator," explained his assistant, "has to meet some Boy Scouts."

That, perhaps, explains the type of handshaking likable Guy Gillette prefers at a time when as much as $1,500,000 has been spent in one primary to elect a man to a job paying only $12,500. Maybe Gillette thinks Boy Scouts are more important, but the voters, when they finally wake up to what's going on, probably won't.

Tax-Cutting Bill Is Shelved In Face Of Korean War Crisis

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Korean war, with its growing costs, has ditched the $1,010,000,000 excise tax-slashing bill.

On advice from the White House that "it would not be prudent in the light of developments in Korea" to cut any taxes now, the Senate Finance Committee put the bill aside, postponing action indefinitely.

Senator Byrd (D-Va), a finance member, said: "In my opinion this tax bill is dead."

Many in Congress expect the Treasury Department will ask for higher taxes, rather than lower, if the Korean situation does not improve. However, it was said at the Treasury that no decisions on such a request have been made.

Little Hope For Action

Technically, if the situation improves swiftly, the tax cut bill can be taken up later. Few, if any, lawmakers now hold any hope for action this year, however.

It looks as though the excises, many of them imposed in World War II, will stay at least until the Korean war is over.

The Finance Committee decided informally to shelve the bill after Secretary of the Treasury Snyder Wednesday personally visited Capitol Hill. After this call, the Treasury Department issued a formal statement saying:

"After consultation with President Truman, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder today in conference with Chairman George of the Finance Committee of the Senate and Chairman Doughton of the Ways and Means Committee of the House advised them that it would not be prudent in light of developments in Korea to proceed with further consideration of the tax bill now before the Senate."

Korean War Crisis Halts Imports Fight

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Korean war has brought a break at least on one front in the oil industry's import war.

The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association announced Wednesday that it temporarily is shelving its fight with major importers in the interests of the war crisis.

"Under existing conditions, dissension within the industry that might impair the effectiveness of the over-all program cannot be tolerated. In the national interest the differences between the independent producers and importing companies must be shelved for the duration of the emergency," TIPROA President R. L. Foree of Dallas wrote the major oil companies.

Foree made clear, however, that the independents would resume their efforts to fix imports permanently at supplemental levels as soon as the war crisis subsides.

Houston Nose-Count Still Is Unfinished

HOUSTON —(AP)— Just how big is Houston?

You'll have to wait a while longer to find out, says District Census Supervisor George Findlay.

Findlay says as many as 10,000 Harris County residents may have been missed in the counting. His office is going to try and get them counted before announcing preliminary figures for Houston. He wouldn't say when this would be, but added:

"We have enough money to keep our office open until July 30, but I believe we can finish before that deadline."

FORMOSA OFFERS SHIPPING

TAIPEI, FORMOSA —(AP)— The Formosa Mercantile Association Thursday offered General MacArthur use of commercial shipping up to 100,000 tons for the Korea war.

The staple food of big and little fish is plankton, a great variety of plants and animals carried by tides and current.

"I'm an easy fellow to get along with," said Generous George. "I didn't come here to kill anybody, and I'm willing to give up a trick now and then."

"Don't think you're fooling anybody," East observed gruffly. "I just can't do anything about it. You simply stumbled on the right line of play."

George didn't argue about the "stumbling." Like old Omar Khayyam, he is willing to take the cash and let the credit go. East was correct, however, when he said that he couldn't do anything about it. George had managed to bring a difficult contract home by giving up the right trick.

West had opened the king of spades, dummy winning with the ace. The hand looked like a "pianola" as Generous George, playing the South cards, began to draw trumps.

When West discarded a club on the second round of trumps, George stopped abruptly. It was time for a little thought.

If South continued to draw all of East's trumps, he would then have only one trump left in his own hand. When he led diamonds, the enemy would be able to lead a spade, forcing out the last trump. They would surely gain the lead with the second high diamond to cash the rest of their spades. Since South could not make 10 tricks without getting a diamond, it was clear that he could not afford to draw trumps.

After some thought, George decided to abandon the trumps. He switched to diamonds, and East won with the king. East returned a spade, and South ruffed with his low trump. George led another diamond, and West won with the ace. West returned a third round of spades, and South was forced to ruff with the jack.

It was at this point that George generously led a third round of diamonds, allowing East to trump with the nine of hearts. George could have taken this trick away from East by drawing the trumps earlier, but as we have seen, drawing trumps would have cost him the contract.

After trumping the third round of diamonds, East was helpless. He returned a fourth spade, but dummy was able to ruff this trick. This, of course, was the reason George had abandoned the trumps. He wanted to leave one trump in dummy to act eventually as a barrier against the spades.

George re-entered his hand with the ace of clubs and could then afford to draw East's last trump. The rest of the tricks, of course, were easy.

'50 Senate Race Shunned By Three Midwestern Governors

By PETER EDSON
NEA Service Correspondent

COLUMBUS, OHIO—It is a curious political fact that in this off-year election the Democrats are not putting forward their best possible candidates in the three key mid western states of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

The three best men in these states are their governors —Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Henry F. Schricker of Indiana, and Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois.

Their senatorial candidates in these states are Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson in Ohio, Senator Scott Lucas in Illinois, and ex-Assistant Attorney General Alex Campbell of Indiana.

The three Republicans these Democrats will have to beat are the incumbent Senators Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Homer Capehart of Indiana, former Rep. Everett Dirksen in Illinois. All three are formidable opposition for entirely different reasons; because of varying personalities, backgrounds and political situations.

Lausche, Schricker and Stevenson have built up amazing records. They may not yet be presidential materia.. They are definitely good vice presidential material, and first-class senatorial material.

Even Republicans in the three states admit that their governors have been good administrators. They are honest. They have big popular followings. They have not played machine politics in their appointments, but obviously have tried to get the best man for the job, regardless of his party affiliations.

They are independent. Their principal concern seems to have been a sincere effort to give the taxpayers of their states decent government. And if there is one place where the American form of government seems to bog down in corruption and plain everyday inefficiency, it is at the state level.

Senate Races Shunned

The reasons why these three good governors have not been tapped for the U. S. Senate are similar in one respect. All three governors may have their eyes on senatorial races in 1952 or later. The gubernatorial terms of Stevenson and Schricker run until 1953. Lausche must run for a two-year term reelection this year. Otherwise, their situations differ considerably.

Governor Lausche is frankly an admirer of Senator Taft, and would not want to campaign against him. Governor Lausche's frank statement at the governors' conference in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., that he had not made up his mind whether to vote for Taft or Ferguson is an indication of this nonpartisan admiration. But in 1952, Ohio's Senator John W. Bricker's term as senator will expire. And beating Bricker should be duck soup for Lausche.

In Illinois, Governor Stevenson has just begun his cleanup and reform program. For him to walk out on this job at this early stage would be a great political mistake. Also, as long as Democratic Majority Leader Scott Lucas wants to retain his seat, it would create a major party split to try to take it away from him.

But there is no denying that Senator Lucas has not been an unqualified success as majority leader in the Senate. Smart political strategy for the Democrats might have been to pick a new and more popular candidate.

After this year's race, Illinois will not elect another U. S. senator until 1954, when Democratic Senator Paul Douglas' present term expires. Senator Douglas has been popular, and probably can have renomination if he wants it.

Democrats Split In Indiana

Both Governor Stevenson and Senator Douglas, however, may be headed for even bigger things, politically. Both have been mentioned as vice presidential material, and even as presidential material in case President Truman should not be a candidate in 1952. Governor Stevenson has been mentioned as a possible secretary of State.

The Indiana senatorial picture is confusion compounded. Governor Schricker could have had the Democratic senatorial nomination by a mere nod of the head or a flick of the finger. But he told his many friends and supporters not to present his name to the Indiana Democratic convention.

Senator Capehart has a good chance to beat Campbell. Senator Capehart probably could not beat Governor Schricker if he had to face him.

The indications now are that Governor Schricker has his eyes on 1952. Republican Senator William E. Jenner wants to retire from the Senate and run for governor of Indiana in 1952. He does not like Washington. And in 1952, Schricker would be almost unbeatable.

LITTLE DOC

By Walt Coburn

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Just as John Sand, M. D., arrives at Wolf Point, Mont., there is a shooting in which Dusty Rhodes, a cowboy, shoots a gambler. Dusty finds a place for Sand to open an office and while the doctor is finishing dressing the wound Kit Carson, named after the famous trapper, appears. Kit is a pretty red-head and she is apparently grieved because Dusty killed a man. After Dusty leaves, Kit offers to take Doc to breakfast and the doctor tells her that he came west because "something happened" to interfere with his plans to practice in the East.

• • •

IV

KIT CARSON smiled at Doc and her hand smoothed the guilt lettering on his medical bag.

"Then something happened," she repeated. Doc's words in a low-toned voice. "It must've been a girl." She made it sound like a flat statement. Her gray eyes watched him flinch.

Then the girl named Kit Carson did a strange thing. She found a harness awl among the litter of odds and ends that cluttered the table. She scratched out the gilt lettering with almost savage haste until there was nothing left of it. And where the lettering had been she slowly and painstaking carved with the pointed awl the words

"LITTLE DOC"

"That's what Wolf Point will call you before the moon changes. You can mark the words of a prophet—a she-prophet."

She tossed the awl on the table and walked slowly over to where John Sand stood. Both her hands reached out and she held his face between them as she kissed him.

"Put on your hat and coat and rubbers and we'll eat. I'm due back in the hotel kitchen to start breakfast. The cook's in jail and I'm it. How do you like your steak?"

He helped her into the saddle slicker and she pulled her hat down on her red head.

"I know only a greenhorn tenderfoot asks questions. But who is the big cowboy I just patched up?" He put on his hat and looked around for his mackintosh.

"Oh, he's Dusty Rhodes, a cattleman. Brands the Rocking R. He has the idea I'm going to marry him—one of those gents that claims what he wants, and usually gets what he goes after. The man he killed was a tinhorn gambler called Blackjack Lambert."

"Why the tears?" asked Little Doc.

"Blackjack Lambert was a slimy customer and a tinhorn sport like his cronie Toad, that he ran around with," the girl said. "I cried because Dusty Rhodes had no business getting his hands dirty with a killing. But when that big cowhand gets an idea, there's no stopping him. He's gotten the notion he had to protect me. You didn't speak out of turn, John. Anything else you want to know?"

"Dusty said to tell anybody who asked how I got hold of the cabin he called the Whitehouse, that I was to tell them it was given to me by one of the Johnson Boys. Who are the Johnson Boys?" John Sand asked.

• • •

THE girl laughed. "Outlaws. It's a name used by any outlaw. When a train is held up or a bank robbed or somebody gets killed and they don't know who did the holdups or killing, they lay the blame on the Johnson Boys. There's even a song about them. They are the Paul Bunyons of the cow country."

Kit stepped to the door, motioning him to silence. She slid the bar back cautiously and perked the door inward. The shaft of lamplight revealed a crouched figure, rain sodden, hat pulled down.

"Jump him, Little Doc."

Without thinking, John Sand dove at the man, tackling him like a football player. They fought desperately and for a few minutes John Sand had his hands full. Then he got his arm hooked under the man's chin and he bent his arm back in a hammerlock and pulled him into the cabin, snarling and kicking.

It was the little ex-jockey Toad. John Sand turned him loose and yanked him to his feet. Blood flowed from the doctor's nose and his brown eyes glinted.

A knife suddenly appeared in Toad's hand when he rushed. John Sand chopped down at his wrist with the flat of his hand and the knife went spinning. The doctor sidestepped and his short uppercut caught Toad under the jaw and lifted him up and off his feet and landed him on his back. He lay spread eagled and his eyes rolled back until the whites showed like dirty white marbles.

John Sands stepped back, breathing hard through his nose, head forward and a little down, blowing the blood from his nostrils.

"You sure pack a wallop, Doc," said Kit Carson.

John Sand wiped the blood from his nose with the back of his hand and grinned. "I boxed a little in school."

Kit kept watching the man on the floor. She had picked up the knife, a pearl-handled knife with a four-inch blade that sprang open when she pressed a button.

• • •

JOHN SAND took his first good look at Toad when he moaned and sat up. He saw the flat nose, the wicked little pale eyes and the thin-lipped, wide, froglike mouth.

"Just in case you commence spreading a lot of filthy lies, Toad," said the girl, "I'm keeping this plaything of yours. It'll come in handy when I'm sewing, to rip out the basting. Or it could be used to shed a little light on one or two stabbings that are still a mystery to Constable Butch Bell, if any gossip bounces back to me. You'd better get out now."

After he had gone, John Sand pulled on his mackintosh. "Evil little germ, isn't he?" He hesitated about calling her name. "Miss—"

"Kit's the name," she reminded him. "He's wicked as sin. I hope he hasn't spoiled your appetite."

"I like my steak rare, Kit," said Little Doc.

Missionaries From West Africa Tell Many Experiences In Midland Church

By BETTY STULTZ

Wearing the native dress of the British West Africans in the Southern Territory of the Gold Coast, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold S. Lehmann and children, David and Gretchen, were guests in the First Assembly of God Church in the mid-week service Wednesday.

The visiting Assembly of God missionaries have served four and one-half years in the Gold Coast in Bawku, Tamale, and Accra.

They returned to the United States in April and have been attending the University of Oklahoma, training for a new work in Bolagatenga in the Northern Territory of British West Africa. The language has been translated into speech and also Bible material. The continent has 26 distinct languages.

Women Do Work

Mr. Lehmann wore the customary white shorts and a large cover. The cover is used in Africa as a bedspread, sheet and other household necessities, since it is more than three yards wide and two yards long. Men in this territory do the weaving and embroidery and the women do the work. The women make the clay pots which are used for cooking. They also carry water and food in the pots on their heads.

Lavender cotton stripe was worn by Mrs. Lehmann. The floor length dress had a straight skirt and the jacket had an attached pleated skirt which usually is 18 or 20 inches long. A third skirt is worn when going to market, to church and also tieing the infants on their backs. Six yards of material are required for making this type of dress.

Eight-year-old Gretchen wore a green flowered dress similar to her mother's. She demonstrated how the baby is placed on the back and tied.

Wears White Shorts

David, 12, wore the white shorts and a large piece of material tieing at the back of the neck. When playing, the outer dress is tied at the waist.

Supplies are purchased for a term which covers three years.

Mr. Lehmann said that they only have two kinds of weather—"hot and hotter." The family wears light Summer clothing the year round and occasionally a sweater.

The children are educated by taking a correspondence course. Their papers are sent in each month to the States.

Four types of wood were shown. Kaku, used for shaft guides and heavy construction, is from very large trees and common in areas of high rainfall.

Wawa wood is so light that a few men can maneuver a large canoe into the water when the canoe is finished. This wood is very similar to balsawood. For interior fittings in ships, veneer, panelling and furniture, the African mahogany is used. This type of wood is not very common and grows from a large tree.

Also shown were cocoa pods and cocoa beans, and different types of native jewelry. Clothing worn in the Northern Territory also was shown.

In the United States, the family resides in Monterey, Calif. Bolagatenga will be their destination when they sail in December or early January of this year.

Nadine Clement Is Gift Tea Honoree

Complimenting Nadine Clement, bride-elect of Lewis Wingo, Mrs. L. G. Mackey entertained with a gift tea Wednesday in her home.

Miss Clement is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clement, 506 West Louisiana Street, and Wingo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wingo, 602 South Main Street. The marriage will be solemnized September 1 in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor, officiating.

Receiving guests were Mrs. Mackey, the honoree, Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Wingo. Others included in the house party were Edith Collings, Maydelle Midkiff, Loyce Midkiff, Mrs. H. S. Collings, Mrs. A. E. Bowman, Mrs. W. T. Hagler and Mrs. A. C. Smith. Mrs. DeLo Douglas played the piano and sang during the calling hours. Approximately 75 persons called.

The bride-elect wore a white organdy gown designed with off-the-shoulder ruffles and a full skirt. She wore a corsage of dyed blue daisies. Members of the house party wore corsages of gladiolus.

Arrangements of Marconi daisies were used in the living room, the gift display room and the dining room. The serving table was appointed with silver service. The centerpiece was formed by a satin wedding ring in the center and a smaller one on either side. The satin rings were topped with small arrangements of gladiolus.

Record Opening Night Crowd Attends Electric Show Here

The largest opening night crowd to attend an Electric Show in Midland thronged the east grounds of the Midland Junior High School Wednesday night to see the 1950 version of the annual show presented by the Texas Electric Service Company, in cooperation with electric appliance dealers.

More than 6,100 visitors passed through the entrance to the Big Top where displays of electric appliances and other exhibits were in operation.

One of the main attractions of the show was the unusual band music of Red Woodward and his "Home Town Dandies." The popular band plays and sings both old and modern music, with the members changing from staid blue uniforms of a Gay Nineties band to the striped blazers of an orchestra of the Roaring Twenties while playing music to fit the changing times.

Band Plays On

A shower of rain during the 9 p.m. band performance sent the spectators running for shelter, while Woodward continued singing "Shine on Harvest Moon" in true showman style.

Other attractions of the big tent show are a colored movie of West Texas, clowns, baby pigs, side show barker, life-sized, animated pigmy elephant and, of course, the many displays of the most modern electric appliances. Never have the many and varied appliance displays been so glittering or so attractive.

The show will continue Thursday and Friday nights. It opens at 6 p.m. Band performances are at 7:30, 9 and 10 o'clock, and the movie is shown at 8:30 and 9:30 p.m. It is free to the public. Officials expect an even larger crowd Thursday night.

A typical county fair spirit prevailed at the opening night performance, as the throngs of visitors mixed and mingled with each other under the Big Top and on the circus grounds.

R. L. Miller, district manager for TESCO, said it was the best and most successful opening night in the history of the show.

Bi-Partisan Bloc Seeks Reduction In Non-War Spending

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Bi-partisan backing was claimed Thursday for a move to force a 10 per cent cut in all federal spending except for defense and other essential activities.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), outlining the proposed amendment to the one - package $34,688,000,000 money bill now before the Senate, estimated it would save about $600,000,000.

He told a reporter both Republicans and Democrats are being asked to join in offering it, adding that some senators in both parties already have agreed to do so.

Ferguson said the amendment would prevent departments, unless specifically exempted, from spending more than 90 per cent of the funds voted by Congress for the 12 months that started July 1.

He noted that the cut would apply to only about $6,000,000,000 of the total appropriations, because the armed services, the Atomic energy program, foreign arms aid and most Veterans' Administration spending would be exempt.

The Senate eliminated a $10,000,000 item for a new Senate Office Building Wednesday in what Ferguson said was anticipation that military expenditures may have to be increased because of the war in Korea.

Rainmaker Is Here; And Guess What's Happening In City

The Rev. Eddie Clayton, independent evangelist and rainmaker, is back in Midland, distributing New Testaments and helping area farmers out with some prayers for precipitation.

The evangelist arrived in Midland Wednesday, in the wake of a drizzly morning, and set up headquarters in the Crawford Hotel. He was back in The Reporter-Telegram office early Thursday and, you guessed it, rain was falling on downtown streets and sidewalks.

The rainmaker says he will be in Midland "two or three days," to carry on his evangelistic work and help the farmers obtain enough moisture for their oils to pull 1950 crops through.

A former candidate for President of the United States, the evangelist this week withdrew his candidacy. He had been running on a platform of no more irrigation. His theory was that irrigation is not needed in arid areas if the people will turn to God and call on the rainmaker for assistance in praying for rain.

In a letter to President Truman this week Mr. Clayton said:

"I am this day withdrawing from being a candidate for president in 1952."

He previously had written the President, informing the Chief Executive of his candidacy, and questioning his platform.

Expert Sees Need For Nuclear TVA

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA.—(AP)— Dr. Alvin Weinberg believes atomic power ultimately will be sold to private consumers.

But it will have to be developed by the government through a "nuclear TVA" because the difficulty and cost will be too much for private capital, the atomic scientist told the University of Virginia's Seventeenth Institute of Public Affairs Wednesday night.

The development would be connected with military use in much the same way that waterpower is tied in with flood control and navigation, said Dr. Weinberg, director of the Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratory.

Such a "nuclear TVA" probably would come about as a dual weapons and power producer unless the need for nuclear weapons disappears, he said. And he expressed the belief that atomic power for private use would be the by-product of the development of atomic weapons.

Regarding private capital, Dr. Weinberg said "even now, more than 10 years since the discovery of nuclear fission, not one single kilowatt of useful mechanical energy has been extracted from uranium —at least not in this country. And so far as I know, in no other country."

Legion Post Thinks Work Unappreciated

MILFORD —(AP)— The American Legion said Thursday it isn't going to put on any more Fourth of July fireworks displays here unless the spectators show more appreciation than they did this year.

The Legion passed the hat among an estimated 5,000 persons at its display last week and this, it said, is what it got:

Eighty-nine dollars in cash; 93 bus tokens, no good since bus fare went to a straight 10 cents more than a year ago; assorted nuts and bolts, and four and a half pounds of pebbles.

Unionist Charges Economy Panel Is Being Pressured

AUSTIN —(AP)— A union labor leader charged Thursday that an effort was being made to "pervert" the Texas Economy Commission into a propaganda agency against the wage ideals of unions.

In a letter to Gov. Allan Shivers, Paul C. Sparks, executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor, said the effort was being made in connection with the El Paso highway wage dispute.

"We believe Ike Ashburn has betrayed his trust and obligations as a member of the commission by writing a letter to the members of the commission, as such urging them to join the battle against the El Paso Building and Construction Trades Council, which is currently seeking by lawful means in Texas courts to enforce the state law requiring payment of the prevailing wage on public work," Sparks' letter said.

KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS are coming to realize the grave danger to world peace in the intervention of the Truman Administration in the conflict in Korea.

- U. S. Air and Sea Forces are now being used in actual warfare;
- The lives of American boys in the Navy and Air forces are now being recklessly endangered by the Brass Hats of Washington;
- The use of American armed forces puts our country [illegible] the peace of the

'Peace' In Our Time

Commies around the world are working overtime to sell the Kremlin story that the Korean situation is a war of "Wall Street versus the Korean people." The leaflet above, issued by the Communist Party of Ohio, and the petition at right, "made available by" the Peace Information Center of New York, were among those distributed in a Cleveland, Ohio, public housing project. The FBI investigated, but can take no action unless some specific law is broken.

Gardener Assessed Eight-Year Term In Palace Attack

LONDON —(AP)— A royal gardener was packed off to prison for eight years Thursday for knifing and beating two of Queen Mary's housekeepers in an early morning burglary on her palace.

The man, Gerald O'Brien, 26, pleaded guilty to being armed with a knife, and three other charges concerned with the June 24 attack on Mrs. Alice Knight and Mrs. Winifred Ralph, elderly housekeepers who caught him in Marlborough House.

Judge G. B. McClure said he accepted O'Brien's statement that he didn't know whose house he was in.

"Indeed," said the judge, "it does not matter."

He said it was no more serious to break into a palace than into a pre-fabricated house.

Ground Broken For Radar Control Center

Superforts Plaster North Korea Target

By RUSSELL BRINES

TOKYO—(AP)—Almost 50 B-29 Superfortresses plastered a key North Korean military target with 500 tons of bombs Thursday in the mightiest single air blow of the Korean campaign.

The mission inaugurated mass precision bombing by two groups of Superforts rushed here from their U. S. West Coast bases.

World War II trained crews flew the four-engined bombers from two Far Eastern bases through rain and mist for the largest mass foray of the campaign. The target was a railroad center north of the thirty-eighth parallel.

All of the planes and their eager, youthful veterans returned safely without meeting opposition on the daylight raid.

It took exactly eight days to deliver this new punch—from the date overseas orders first were delivered to the release of bombs. In that time the men, their planes and most of their equipment were moved 8,000 miles and prepared for an air blow that meant a round trip of more than 1,500 miles.

Notice To 'Uncle Joe'

Air officers said this proved the speed with which strategic bombing assignments could be carried out throughout the world.

One of the aircraft commanders, Lt. James T. Patrick of Carnation, Wash., said it differently: "This will make Uncle Joe sit up and take notice."

I was in Patrick's plane on an assignment representing the combined Allied press. But a few miles after grunting our plane—and its 20,000 pounds of bombs—off the ground, we had to turn back with a faulty motor.

The remainder of the sleek bombers made a perfect overwater rendezvous and released their bombs. Through mist so thick that radar was used to sight the target.

Maj. Gen. Emmett (Rosy) O'Donnell directed this first mission of his new command, the Far East Bomber Command (provisional). The 43-year-old two-star general, once a West Point football coach, led the first World War II B-29 raid on Japan.

Combat Tested Veterans

About [illegible] per cent of the men in his new command are combat tested veterans of thunderous pattern bombing missions from Germany to Japan. They were geared for battle with alert, confident eagerness.

"I wish they had forgotten my name this time," said S/Sgt. William M. Kofmehl, Spokane, Wash., tail gunner on our abortive flight and veteran of the European air war. "But mebbe it's better to get it over with now instead of getting pushed around all the time like we've been doing."

They know they have the planes and the experience to master this kind of war—and they know, too, what it was like for the infantrymen on the ground, most of them untested before two weeks ago, to be outnumbered and outgunned.

"I sure hope our bombs help," T/Sgt. Robert Asher told Flint O. Dupre, a former Dallas newspaperman. Dupre, as FEAF public information officer, flew in one of the planes reaching the target. Asher, engineer on that ship, comes from Riverside, Calif.

Dupre said that over the target area the weather closed in so tightly that his aircraft commander, Lt. Norman B. Hemingway, Miami, Fla., had to climb 500 feet to be sure of avoiding his wing plane.

The bombers were skittish. Each was loaded with 10 tons of explosives, and precision flying as well as precision bombing was essential. One squadron of the B-29's carried more than three times the weight of explosives carried by the famous B-24's of World War II.

The B-29's walked out gingerly to the runway and were flagged off on a precision schedule.

"Looks like the start of a dog race," said Lt. James S. Murphy, Columbus, Ohio, a veteran of the B-17 war in Europe. Then he laid down a steel flak suit for me to sit on, just behind the cockpit.

"It'll keep the bullets out of your behind," he remarked.

They were like that, these young-old men, back in war and resigned to it, confident of their machines—yet wary. They had been briefed seriously—on their mission of blasting out war potential, and on their opponents.

T/Sgt. Joseph C. Goslin, Spokane, Wash., a Naval aircraft engineer during the last war, came out to the plane with a paper showing pictures of the bodies of American doughboys shot with their hands tied behind their backs.

'Pick The Old Ones'

"Looks like they're teaching us early," he said.

They knew. Patrick, at 27 a veteran of 42 missions over the hump in China, said, strapping on a revolver:

"If they knock us down, be careful what Koreans you trust—try to pick out the old ones because they might remember something of democracy."

The planes carried men like S/Sgt. William T. Ayres, a tail gunner of Jonesboro, Ark., and Oroville, Wash. He was shot down in Europe and imprisoned by the Germans in World War II.

And yet what happened when our No. 4 motor started spouting oil?

"Nuts," said Patrick, "This is a fine way to make your first mission."

"Come on," said Capt. James L. Sefton, Bloomington, Ind., "We can make it on three engines. come on, let's go."

But Patrick decided against it when we started losing a gallon of oil every three seconds. We cut out the offending motor and circled over the ocean to drop our bombs.

'Wait Until Next Time'

They made a white ringworm on the blue sea.

"Nice shooting, Jimmy," someone said.

"Yeah," said Sefton. "They would have been that way on the target too."

The word spread through the plane and gunners got glum even when they relaxed their vigil.

"All that work," said Lt. John B. Wood, Jr., Utica, Pa., the navigator. "It took us two days to load those bombs."

With our bombs gone, we weighed around 114,000 pounds and were considered safe for landing.

The crew trailed off the plane like a losing football team.

"Wait until next time," Patrick promised.

II Cor. 5:10; Rom. 8:11, 21-23, 26; Ps. 63:1.

DOES CHARACTER AFFECT THE GLANDS?

When the effects of glands were first discovered in any real way, many people felt they had found the basis of morality and character—the glands decided everything. One could change a man's moral character by changing the secretion of his glands. So character and morality must be purely physical in origin. This seemed a terrific blow at Christianity, which says that morality has its origin in a spiritual being, God. But now the further truth is emerging: If the secretions of glands determine character, then character determines the secretions of glands. A man's mental and spiritual state determines in what proportion his glands flow.

Moreover, this important fact is being realized: Unchristian mental and spiritual attitudes upset the proper secretion of the glands. I asked an able medical man this question: "If we live in a truly Christian way, will not the glands, provided that they are healthy, function perfectly?" The answer was an unqualified "Yes." Then we have Christian glands! Unchristian fear, hate, selfishness, and guilt upset them, throw them out of proportion. Christian confidence, love, unselfishness, and reconciliation make the glands function naturally and in the right proportion. If our glands make us, then it is better stated this way: God made our glands and into their structure He wrote the Christian law, and when we obey that law our glands are harmonious and rightly proportioned for health.

"Three weeks after I lost my boy I went to the hospital with stomach ulcer. Worry and anxiety—grief—had brought the ulcer on," said a pastor. He surrendered his grief to God and found release from the ulcer. "You restored me to health and newness of life," said a radiant young woman. And the two were connected—her newness of life brought health. Said a doctor to me: "If three-quarters of my patients found God, they would be well. My wife had a peptic ulcer, but it was functional—when she became straightened out spiritually, she was well."

O God of harmony and peace and health, I bring to Thee my disharmonies, my unrest, my unhealth. Take them all into Thy hands and re-shape them into harmony. Where they have missed the way bring them back, and where they are out of balance, balance them. I would be harmonized like Thee. Amen.

"LIKE ONE OF THE FAMILY"

The Bundys believe in good old-fashioned family life—and so do their many relatives in Topeka.

And the telephone is an active member of the family circle, helping to keep family news and plans "up-to-the-minute."

As Mrs. Bundy puts it: "We'd be lost without our telephone. It's like one of the family. And best of all—when we kept a five-day record of all our calls recently, we found that we're paying only about 2¢ for each call made and received. You can't beat that for a bargain."

☆ ☆ ☆

Yes, Mrs. Bundy, a real bargain—and one that increases in value year after year as more telephones are added and improvements are made. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

One of the many calls listed in our five-day record was from my MOTHER-IN-LAW. She wondered what our little Larry would like for his birthday. He'll be five next week.

Talked with MY SISTER. She has some cute little children's chairs. Arranged to borrow them for Larry's birthday party.

GRANDMA WELLS called, invited us to dinner. She has some fresh vegetables for us, too—saves about $4 on the grocery bill. Grandma lives alone, three miles from our house, but she's just seconds away by telephone.

Called AUNT CLARA. Out-of-town friends dropped in, wanted to say hello to Mother and Dad. Thought they might be at Aunt Clara's. They were!

Reds' Underground Operations Hiked, FBI Chief Asserts

WASHINGTON —(AP)— U. S. Communists have increased their underground operations during the last year, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Wednesday. The result, he said, is the heaviest work load his agency ever has handled.

In an annual review of FBI activities for the fiscal year which ended June 30, Hoover said the number of investigations involving internal security and national defense is at a record level, exceeding the volume of similar work during the World War II years.

"The increased work load," the report said, "stems from the activities of the Communist Party and the expanded orbit of their underground operations.

Party Decentralization

"Increased security consciousness on the part of the party leadership has brought about decentralization of party administrative machinery and transferal of previously open operations to an underground apparatus.

"These developments have complicated the FBI task of maintaining coverage of Communist activity."

The FBI director recently asked Congress for more than 300 additional agents, saying they were required principally for internal security investigations.

The annual report showed 8,921 convictions in FBI cases of all kinds during the 1950 fiscal year, a six per cent increase over 1949.

Hoover said that in line with previous years, 96.9 per cent of all trials growing out of FBI inquiries resulted in convictions.

Republican Solon Demands Reopening Of Senate Red-Hunt

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) Thursday demanded that the Senate Communist inquiry be reopened for a look into Senator McCarthy's latest charges—accusations the State Department termed false and distorted.

The charges by McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, are based on material which he said proves the department hired men in 1946 to strip its personnel files of derogatory information about other employes.

The department Wednesday night got out a statement accusing McCarthy of "a characteristic distortion of facts."

There was no indication Hickenlooper's demand for an inquiry into McCarthy new charges would be heeded by the Demoratic majority of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee.

McCarthy Wednesday produced four statements signed by men he said the State Department hired four years ago. They told of being directed to destroy all data in personnel files of a damaging nature to other employes.

McCarthy, in a letter to President Truman, said the statements bore out his charges that department loyalty files had been "denuded" by the agency before the records were turned over to the inquiry committee.

Woman's Bound, Weighted Body Taken From River

WINDSOR, ONTARIO —(AP)— A woman's body, bound with wire and weighted with pieces of steel, was taken from the Detroit River Wednesday.

Police checked missing persons files in an effort to establish her identity.

Coroner C. V. Mills said the woman, a brunet about 30, apparently had died after an illegal operation.

An autopsy indicated she was dead before she was placed in the water, evidently six or seven days ago.

Strands of wire were tied around her neck and ankles. The body was weighted with eight steel plates of the type used with railroad ties.

LONGTIME RESIDENT OF SAN ANGELO DIES

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— Mrs. Willis Lawhon, 87, San Angelo resident for 72 years and mother of former San Angelo City Manager Sam Lawhon, died here Tuesday.

Survivors include four sons and five daughters.

AMERICAN PRISONERS SHOT BY REDS—Just released by the Defense Department, this radiophoto from Korea shows an American soldier as he was found midway between a forward observation post and the actual front line. The caption states the American GI's probably were captured the night of July 2 and then shot. Most of them were shot through the head with their hands tied behind their back, as was this victim.

Russia Reports First U. S. War Prisoners In Korea

MOSCOW—(AP)—The Soviet news agency Tass reported Thursday the first American war prisoners have arrived in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

Other reports said North Korean troops wiped out an American infantry group south of Chochiwon near the Kum River defenses. Four tanks and other war booty were reported captured along with American prisoners in fights in the Southern Chunchen Province, these reports said.

The Tass dispatch quoted one prisoner, identified as a battalion commander of the 24th Division, as saying: "I now understand that the American imperialists must abandon the military intervention now infringed upon the freedom of the Korean people."

The message said the American officer had made his statement to press representatives in Pyongyang.

Meanwhile, the Communist Party newspaper Pravda bitterly condemned sugestions that the atom bomb be used in Korea. The newspaper called the proposals " a challenge to all humanity."

Last Of Scottsboro Case Defendants Is Given Freedom

DETROIT —(AP)— The last of the nine negro defendants in the Scottsboro (Ala.) rape case of two decades ago was to be given his freedom Thursday.

The government decided to ask dismissal of a fugitive charge against Haywood Patterson, 38. A hearing on the charge was scheduled before U.S. District Judge Arthur F. Lederle.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney James S. Soltesz said Alabama authorities told him they would drop proceedings against Patterson in view of Gov. G. Mennan Williams' refusal to allow extradition.

The FBI had picked up Patterson on a charge of fleeing Alabama to avoid imprisonment.

Governor Williams, in refusing extradition, said "All of the others involved in the Scottsboro case were released from prison some years ago." He added "I can see no justifiable reason for returning Patterson to prison."

Patterson and eight other negroes were arrested aboard a freight train at Paint Rock, Ala., in 1931 on charges of raping two white women. One woman later repudiated her story. The United States Supreme Court twice reversed the death sentence given Patterson and affirmed a 75-year term.

XC-99 At San Diego; Mission Is Secret

SAN DIEGO —(AP)— The Air Force's XC-99, world's largest land-based military transport, flew here from San Antonio, Texas, Wednesday but its mission was kept secret.

A spokesman at Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation, where the giant six-engined plane was built, said purpose of the flight was veiled by Air Force security regulations.

The plane, capable of carrying 400 men, underwent modification recently at Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio, and made its first test flight, since the work was finished, there last week.

Flames Injure 37 After Tank Blasts

FAIRVIEW, OKLA.—(AP)—Flames which followed a chain explosion of gasoline storage tanks here Wednesday left 37 persons burned and estimated damage of $70,000 before being brought under control.

Three persons were burned seriously.

The fire started from a wholesale dealer's truck. Explosions followed, shooting flames into other tanks.

The flames raged through seven tanks in the northwest corner of the town, destroyed two gasoline warehouses and damaged three railroad freight cars.

Officials of Sinclair Oil Company, Cities Service Company and Phillips Petroleum Company said damage possibly would run more than the original estimate after a thorough inventory.

Burned seriously were Ray Deam, 38, volunteer fire chief, Woodrow Howerton, 33, and Forest Bowles, 56.

Murder Charged In Hotel Lobby Slayings

SAN JUAN, TEXAS—(AP)—J. G. (Tony) Coleman has been jailed and charged with the murder in the hotel lobby slayings of Mrs. Edna Nelson and Victor Gidry.

Coleman and his wife managed the San Juan Hotel, owned by Mrs. Nelson. Gidry, a traveling salesman from Corpus Christi, was stopping at the hotel.

The two were shot to death Tuesday night.

Assistant Hidalgo County Attorney Jam Bates said Mrs. Nelson recently had filed suit to evict Mr. and Mrs. Coleman from the managership of the hotel.

Shivers Explains Tidelands Fight Isn't 'Disunity'

AUSTIN —(AP)— Texas' fight for its Tidelands is dissent—not disunity—with the federal government, Gov. Allan Shivers Thursday told a big group of Texans gathered here to battle for the state's claim.

The assembly included state, county and school officials, mayors and legislators called by the newly-formed Texas Property Defense Association.

Purpose of the meeting was to set up an aggressive campaign to keep the marginal sea as a source of public school revenue.

"At a time like this, when our national well-being is imperiled, we must be careful to distinguish between disunity and dissent," the governor said.

"In our assembling here today, there is not even a hint of disunity over international policies. Whatever Texas has that the federal government needs to fight communism in Korea or elsewhere, those things the federal government can and will have."

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcentrate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barcentrate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better.

Barcentrate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcentrate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away —almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry.

NO STARVATION DIET

"I have taken lots of medicine but none to compare with Barcentrate. It's tops. Have lost 10 pounds in 2 weeks and no starvation diet." Signed, Mrs. J. E. Blalock, Route 1, Box 8D, Cleveland, Texas.

LOST 24 POUNDS

"I am writing you just to say I think Barcentrate is a wonderful medicine. I have tried so many other things and all failed. I weighed 182 pounds when I started to take Barcentrate. I now weigh 158." Signed, Maud Marrow, Archer City, Texas.

Small Crowd Hears Hervey-Regan Debat

Charges that opponents used "gross, infamous lies" in their attaks on him were made Wednesday night in El Paso by Rep. Ken Regan of Midland, who is seeking a second term in Congress as representative of the 16th Congressional District.

A crowd of less than 300 persons turned out for the debate held in Liberty Hall between El Paso candidate Fred Hervey and Regan. Hervey challenged Paul Moss, the third candidate from Odessa, and Regan to the debate, saying it would be on controversial campaign issues.

Moss declined to take part in the debate but his supporters distributed campaign circulars outside the hall.

The "infamous lie" charge was an answer to charges that Regan had "snubbed" Warren Hoyt, El Paso Veterans Administration official, when he went to Washington on a mission for the veterans hospital.

Killed was A. G. Custer, an Ohio State University student on two weeks of active duty.

Rescued from a lifeboat dropped by another plane were Lt. R. T. Mallorie, a farmer; Lt. Comdr. J. S. Temple, a newspaperman, and C. Fitzpatrick, an employe of the Ohio Federal Reformatory.

Home town addresses were not available, but all were from Ohio and on active duty at the Naval Air Station here.

Ochoa was arrested Monday night in Mexicali, Mexico, in Lower California.

At Mexicali Wednesday night, Gen. Perez Pejada announced Ochoa was enroute to Mexico City to face extradition proceedings.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written For NEA Service

"Aren't you interested in winning?" asked Optimistic Oliver's partner. "Just let me know what you're after. If you're looking for thrills, that's all right with me. I might be able to dream up a few for you to remember me by."

"I was trying to win a big score," Oliver defended himself. "If we had taken that pack we'd have made a fortune."

"True," admitted his partner. "If! If you had wheels you'd be a trolley car. And if I had any sense I'd know better than to play Canasta with you."

This was a bit strong, but the complaint was not unjustified. Oliver had lived up to his nickname, with disastrous results.

When the hand began, Oliver's side had 4500 points, while the opponents had only 2,000. His side needed 120 points for the first meld, while the opponents needed only 90 points. Neither side melded, and the pack grew to quite a respectable size. Finally, Oliver discarded a deuce, freezing the pack.

Oliver then proceeded to discard five kings in a row. The rest of the story will need no telling to experienced Canasta players. Oliver found a few more safe discards but eventually decided to discard additional wild cards for lack of anything else that was surely safe. Having done so, he was no longer able to meld 120 points, no matter what was discarded to him. His hand was useless, and his partner was no better off. Their only hope was that the opponents also would never be able to meld.

Unfortunately for Oliver, the enemy eventually got the pack, which was really huge by that time. They scored well over four thousand points on the hand!

Now let's go back to Oliver's position when he decided to freeze the pack. Before he discarded the deuce, he held the following twelve cards:

Now let's go back to Oliver's position when he decided to freeze the pack. Before he discarded the deuce, he held the following twelve cards:

Joker K-K-K-K-K J-9-8 2-2-2

He could have put down the five kings with the joker and a deuce. This would give him his initial meld and a canasta at the same time. He could discard one of the three odd cards and wait for a chance to meld out. Even if his partner could not help very much, Oliver could expect to meld out fairly quickly. The hand would probably be neither a great victory nor a great loss. However, his side would win the game and thus get rid of the disadvantage of needing a meld of 120 points.

Instead of playing it safe in this way, Oliver decided to gamble on a freeze. He reasoned that he had five safe discards and that other safe discards would be available by the time he had finished with them. In the meantime, he or his partner might get the pack.

It was typical of Optimistic Oliver that he thought only of what he might gain and not of what he might lose. He had no way of knowing whether his partner could find safe discards. Even if Oliver thought that he had a fair chance to score a lot of points, the risk was far too great.

The point is that there are times when it pays to take a small but sure profit rather than risk a huge loss in the attempt to make a killing.

Q—My opponents had a canasta consisting of four fives and three jokers. The deck was frozen and I discarded a five. The opponent at my left had two more fives in his hand. He claimed he could pick up my five and take the discard pile. Is this true?

A—Yes. You are always permitted to pick up the previous discard (and the rest of the discard pile with it) if you have two natural cards that match the discard. The closed canasta has nothing to do with the matter.

Serious Delays In Plane Output Seen If 'Heat Turned On'

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Times said Thursday that delays in plane production—worse than in World War II—lie ahead if the heat is turned on.

The progress of science is the cause.

"If the aircraft manufacturing industry of the United States were called upon now to start an all-out production effort," the Times said, "it would take 10 months longer to reach an annual output rate of 50,000 planes than it did in World War II."

The story, written by Frederick Graham, said "it took exactly 24 months to reach the goal after the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in May, 1940, called for a total plane production of 50,000 units a year."

To Take 34 Months

"If a similar effort were started now," the story stated, "it would require 34 months to reach the target figure."

This situation exists, Graham wrote after a survey, "despite the ready availability of more than a score of stand-by aircraft manufacturing plants built for World War II, a vast store of machine tools now in 'mothballs,' a huge stockpile of materials and a reservoir of trained personnel."

The story added:

"Key men in the aircraft manufacturing industry say the longer time required now to build up to 50,000 planes a year is easily explained: the modern warplane is about twice as heavy as its World War II counterpart, and because it is infinitely more complex, it requires about twice as many man-hours to build. x x x"

Ted Williams Goes Under Knife For Elbow Injury

BOSTON—(AP)—Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox $125,000-a-year outfielder, undergoes an operation for a fracture of the left elbow Thursday, but his teammates still have their sights set on the American League pennant.

"There is a good possibility Williams will be out for the rest of the season," orthopedic surgeon Joseph Shortell said as he prepared to perform the operation at Sancta Maria Hospital in Cambridge.

But the Red Sox took the news of their lanky slugger's injury in the All-Star Game as "part of the game" and refused to admit they were out of the pennant race, although eight games behind the front-running Detroit Tigers.

"There's no filling Williams' shoes," said Manager Steve O'Neill in announcing Clyde Vollmer will take over left field and bat in Ted's No. 3 spot.

"It is pretty tough luck for him and the ball club, but there is nothing we can do about it," the Boston pilot added.

Johnny Pesky's comment was typical "Gee, that's tough for Williams and certainly tough for all of us, but these things happen and we simply will have to battle all the harder."

Williams suffered his injury after hauling down Ralph Kiner's long smash in the first inning of the All-Star classic in Chicago's Comiskey Park Tuesday.

Costner Upsets Ike Williams In Fracas

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Ike Williams was expected to use George (Sugar) Costner as a stepping stone to a welterweight title fight with Ray (Sugar) Robinson. Instead, the lanky Costner thrashed Lightweight Champ Williams and emerged himself as a top contender for Robinson's crown.

Costner turned in the fistic upset of the year Wednesday night when he handed Williams one of the worst lickings the 135 pound titleholder ever received. The Camden, N. J., negro simply smashed Ike into submission in a 10 round, non-title scrap at Shibe Park.

Shirley Has First Workout In Channel

DOVER, ENGLAND —(AP)— Shirley May France slipped into the English Channel Thursday for her first big workout of the season.

The 17-year-old Somerset, Mass., High School girl had fine weather and a calm sea for her 18-mile training swim. She is here to train for another try at swimming the Channel from France to England—19 miles as the crow flies—sometime next month.

She tried and failed last September.

"This will be quite a good swim, considering she hasn't had much training," her coach, Harry Boudakian, said before Shirley, lightly greased, plunged into the sea from a rowboat about four miles off the Dover Cliffs.

Boudakian manned a rowboat while Capt. John Burwell, Dover pilot and channel swim expert, and Shirley's manager, Ted Worner, chugged along in a motorboat.

Shirley planned to leave the water at Ramsgate, a resort town down the coast, after swimming part of the time with the tide and part against it.

Gulf Coast College Loop To Stay Alive

DALLAS —(AP)— The Gulf Coast Athletic Conference plans business as usual—even if it has only three members.

The University of Houston dropped out to join the Missouri Valley Conference, but Gulf Coast President D. L. Ligon says his circuit plans to keep on operating.

He said Wednesday the conference probably would try to expand its membership in the future.

Trinity, North Texas State and Midwestern now are members of the conference.

A Down Home Statement

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

There it Was— Right in The Middle!

Easy Roberts mowed his lawn early last Saturday. Then he sat on the porch, and watched Handy Peterson cutting his grass.

The Roberts' property and the Peterson's border each other — with no hedge or fence between them. So, when Easy notices Handy had left about a four-foot strip unmowed along the boundary, he walks over and asks why.

"That's your land," says Handy. "Mine ends here. See, it lines up with that oak tree across the road!" Easy didn't think so, so they went up and down looking for the surveyor's marker. Where did they find it? Right in the middle of their "no man's land!"

Well, they both grin and take turns finishing the job and then retreat to Easy's for a friendly glass of beer together. From where I sit, a little searching around for the truth of the matter often shows that the other fellow is as much right as you are—at which point the whole thing doesn't seem as important anyway.

Big Spring Rips Indians 11 To 4; Twin-Bill Slated

The Midland Indians will engage the Big Spring Broncs in a doubleheader starting at 7 p.m. Thursday in Big Spring.

The series will continue in Big Spring Friday night and shift to Indian Park in Midland, Saturday night and Sunday.

Glen Patton and John Singleton are due to hurl for Midland in the twin-bill.

• • •

BIG SPRING — The Midland Indians led the Big Spring Broncs for four innings here Wednesday night but the roof caved in on them in the fifth and the Broncs waltzed off with a 11 to 4 decision. Darwin Chrisco, starting hurler for the Tribe, was charged with the defeat.

The Broncs iced the tilt with two big innings, the fifth and eighth. Four runs dented the plate in each of the frames.

Big Jim Prince put the Indians out front in the second inning when he clouted a home run over the right field wall with the bases empty. The ball was hit on the nose and cleared the fence with plenty to spare.

Stephenson Doubles

Tex Stephenson opened the fourth inning with a double off Luis Gonzales. He scored on Concepcion's two-base error on Prince's bounder, the miscue sending Prince to second. A single by Bob Cramer plated Prince to give the Indians a 3-0 lead.

Big Spring got two of the runs back in the bottom of the fourth and went ahead in the fifth with four big ones on four hits and an error.

Singles by Lou Dawson and Bob Phillion and a wild pitch let in the last Midland run in the seventh.

The Broncs added one in the bottom of the frame and counted four in the eighth to sew it up.

New Hurlers Work

George Hart and Dodson, a couple of new rookie hurlers, followed Chrisco on the mound for Midland. Hart came on in the fifth and Dodson in the eighth.

Potato Pascual, the Big Spring ace, worked the last two frames for the Broncs to protect the winning margin. He struck out four.

Kenny Jones, Midland catcher, was injured in a collision with Felix Gomez at home plate and retired from the game. His condition was reported not serious.

WT-NM League— Lamesa Nips Hubs, Takes Over First

By The Associated Press

The Lamesa Lobos forged into first place in the West Texas-New Mexico League Wednesday night as they whipped the Lubbock Hubbers 6-5.

The defeat put the Hubbers in second place, one-half game behind the fast-moving Lobos.

All other contests scheduled in the loop were postponed due to weather conditions.

The Lobos snuffed out Hubbers threates in the eighth and ninth innings to gain the victory. Lamesa took a 2-0 lead on Jodie Beeler's homer in the first, but Lubbock scored three times in the third to go ahead. The Lobos tallied three times in the fifth to regain the lead and give Eulis Rosson his fifteenth mound win of the season.

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— Second and third rounds of the twenty-fourth State Junior Golf Tournament were scheduled Thursday with medalist Billy Maxwell still the favorite.

The Odessa golfer Wednesday turned back Aureliano "Bud" Urrutia of San Antonio 3 and 2.

A couple of minor upsets in the first round were Wesley Ellis, Jr.'s, 4 and 3 victory over Joe Conrad of San Antonio and J. C. Goosie's 3 and 1 decision over a fellow San Antonian, Billy Erfurth.

Frank Wear, Jr., of Paris, whipped Bert Weaver, 1-up; Sammy Reynolds of Wichita Falls downed Julian Oates, Waco, 3 and 2, and Bob Moncrief, Houston, beat Ken Burnette, San Antonio, 3 and 1.

John Weaver of Houston needed five extra holes to oust Stanton Mosel, San Antonio.

Longhorn League— Oilers Bop Rockets To Increase Lead; Broncs Club Tribe

By The Associated Press

The Odessa Oilers did all to the good Wednesday night in the Longhorn League—they smashed second-place Roswell 9-2 to stretch their lead to two and one-half games.

The Big Spring Broncs, in third place, handed Midland an 11-4 trouncing on a muddy diamond, Vernon blanked Sweetwater 11-0, and the San Angelo-Ballinger game was washed out.

The Oilers collected four runs in the first frame on five hits and an error. From there on it was easy. Al Sokolowski scattered nine Roswell hits to post his thirteenth victory against four losses.

Big Spring spotted Midland three runs and then roared back with a 12-hit attack. Jim Prince homered for Midland.

Dick Tross gave Sweetwater a stingy three hits as his Vernon mates picked up 11. The Dusters made four runs in the fourth on four hits and Cotton Russell's three-run double highlighted another four-run outburst in the fifth.

Webb, Gilchrist To Coach In 'Star Tilt; Nelson Out

ABILENE—(AP)—Harold Webb, manager of the Midland Indians, and Larry Gilchrist, manager of the Ballinger Cats, have been named coaches for the Longhorn League All-Star Game which will be played July 19 in San Angelo, league President Hal Sayles announced Thursday.

Webb will coach for the West All-Stars while Gilchrist will work for the East team.

The coaches were chosen by Managers Tom Jordan of Roswell, West, and Joe Berry of Vernon, East. The appointments were approved by President Sayles.

Garcia Named

Sayles also announced Bert Garcia of the Big Spring Broncs has been named to replace Midland's Ernie Nelson as a pitcher on the West All-Star team.

Nelson Wednesday drew his release from the Midland club, making him ineligible to play in the annual classic.

Sayles said there have been no other personnel changes on either team up to now.

Garcia was selected because he was next high in votes cast by league fans for the All-Stars.

Notables Tee Off In Inverness Four-Ball

TOLEDO, OHIO—(AP)—A "sweet 16" of America's top-drawer golfers tee off Thursday in the $15,000 Inverness Invitational four-ball matches.

This is the thirteenth of the odd best-ball classics—but no one has become too familiar with the scoring system.

The 16 stars are split into eight teams. Each pair plays each other pair in 18-hole match play.

At the finish the winner gets a "plus" equal to the holes "up" on the foe, while the loser gets a corresponding "minus." A twosome losing a four down decision actually winds up eight points back. Scores are carried over from match to match. At the finish Sunday the loot goes to the team with the most points.

The leading twosome gets $4,000, and the prizes dwindle until the last pair gets $1,000.

Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Northville, Mich., and Bob Hamilton, the 1944 PGA champion from Landover, Md., are defending champions. They bump into Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burke, Jr., of White Plains, N. Y., in Thursday's single round. Demaret, paired with Ben Hogan, won the Inverness classic four times. Hogan and Chandler Harper from Portsmouth, Va., are the only notables missing here.

Rotary Engineers To Play Exhibition

The Andrews team is leading a league in Andrews and the Engineers are running a good race in the City Major League here.

NOW IT'S GREENVILLE HAVING BASEBALL WOES

GREENVILLE —(AP)— A meeting will be held Friday night to launch a drive to keep baseball in Greenville.

It is necessary to sell 26,000 tickets before July 20 in order to keep the Greenville club in the Big State League.

La Motta-Robinson Bout Shapes Up As Jake Whips Italian

NEW YORK —(AP)— Another Jake La Motto-Ray Robinson fight was in the making Thursday following the middleweight champion's easy conquest of Italy's Tiberio Mitri.

La Motta was due to step into the offices of the International Boxing Club some time Thursday afternoon to pick up a check for around $33,700 and to discuss plans for a sixth scrap with the welterweight king.

The Bronx Bull paved the way for that encounter by belting out a 15-round unanimous decision over Mitri in Madison Square Garden Wednesday night.

It was like old times in the Palace of Sock as a surprisingly large turnout of 16,369 paid $99,841 and rocked the roof with cheers. It was the biggest Garden fight gate in a couple of years. There was no radio or television broadcast.

La Motta will cut into a richer pot than that if he signs to take on Sugar Ray outdoors in September.

Abe Greene, commissioner of the NBA, said the champ had agreed in writing months ago to defend his crown against Robinson within 90 days.

MAJOR LEAGUES

Blue Chips Down As Phils-Cards Open Big Series

By The Associated Press

The chips will be down Thursday night when Philadelphia risks its hard won first place in the National League against the second-place Cardinals in the opening of a vital three-game series at St. Louis.

This is the big game of the day as the majors return to family feuding after the All-Star melodrama, although an important series opens Thursday night also at Yankee Stadium.

Cleveland's Indians, a game and one-half back of the second-place New York Yankees in the American circuit, have a three-game job at the Stadium. The injury-riddled Yanks are three games back of the league-leading Detroit Tigers, who meet the Senators at Washington in another night tussle.

But the Phillies vs. Cardinals affair dominates the scene, and upon the outcome rests temporary leadership in the National loop. The amazing Phillies, holding a one-game edge over St. Louis, are expected to shoot Curt Simmons (10-5) against Howie Pollet (9-5) in a battle of southpaws.

Both the Phils and Cards have to take into consideration the fast-stepping Boston Braves, slamming along in third place only two games out of the lead.

Billy Southworth's boys are in Cincinnati for a night game with the Reds, and Johnny Sain with a 12-5 record is due to be on the mound for the Beantowners.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, in fourth place four and one-half games back of Philadelphia, meet the ever-troublesome Cubs in Chicago.

Preacher Roe, with a 10-4 mark, is scheduled for duty against the Cubs. For Brooklyn, it brings up a major mid-season question. Can the Bums bounce back after sticking up near the top for most of the first half of the season?

In the American League, the hospital list is drawing as much attention as the schedule, which sees the four Western clubs in the East.

The loss of Ted Williams, who may be out for the season because of a left elbow fractured in Tuesday's All-Star Game at Chicago, is a stiff blow to the Boston Red Sox. They meet Chicago in Boston Thursday night.

The Yankees also are consulting the physicians, with Joe DiMaggio, Yogi Berra and Hank Bauer doubtful starters against Cleveland.

DiMaggio aggravated a groin muscle in the All-Star accident ward contest. Berra banged his knee at Boston 10 days ago and has been limping since. Bauer has a jammed ankle. In addition, the Yanks have had only spot service from Tommy Henrich for weeks due to his trick knee.

Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson (9-5) is scheduled to oppose Sid Hudson (8-7) at Washington, where the Tigers hope to make some pennant hay before coming in to Boston and New York later next week.

Texas League— Roughnecks Show Little Respect For Leading Cats

By The Associated Press

Those third-place Beaumont Roughnecks showed little respect for Texas League leading Fort Worth Wednesday night as they whacked them 3-1 in 10 innings.

The San Antonio Missions edged past Oklahoma City into fourth place with a 4-3 win over Tulsa. Houston thumped Oklahoma City 6-2 and Dallas overpowered Shreveport 12-1.

The Roughnecks and the Cats battled on horse collar terms until the top of the eighth when Dick Williams homered to put the Cats in front. Beaumont tied the score in the bottom of the ninth oh two singles, a hit batsman, tallying on a double-play ball.

Zeke Melignano, who relieved Ernie Nevel to start the tenth, came up in the bottom of that frame with Jess Landrum on first. Melignano stroked a 345-foot homer over the palings to take the victory—his eighth of the season.

The Missions blew a three-run lead and then came back strong in the eighth to score a run and edge the Oilers. Jim Dyck scored the winning run on Charlie Grant's infield out after tripling. Angelo Nardella set the Oilers down with only five hits for his second victory against two defeats. Bob Curley went the distance for Tulsa, giving up 10 hits.

The Houston Buffs hung up their second straight win as they belted two Indian hurlers for eight hits and put down a belated Indian rally.

The Dallas Eagles got hit happy at Shreveport—slamming out 16 hits as Wayne McLeland garnered his thirteenth victory against three defeats. Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe started for the Sports but was shelled from the mound in the second as the Eagles grabbed a six-run lead in the first two frames.

City Officials Will Talk With Engineers

City officials Friday will confer with Joe Ward, consultant engineer from Wichita Falls, and George Hannaman, sanitary engineer, regarding engineering work on water and sewer plans for the city.

W. H. Oswalt, city manager; H. E. Nunn, water and sewer engineer, and T. G. Jenkins, acting director of public works, will be at the meeting.

Ward has been working on the city's sewer and water improvement program since December, 1949.

Cotton

NEW YORK —(AP)— Thursday noon cotton prices were 60 cents to $1.60 a bale higher than the previous close. July 36.80, October 36.17 and December 36.11.

"BOTTLE OF PEARL, PLEASE"

SPORTS SLANTS by SHORTY SHELBURNE

When the top pitcher on a ball club's staff obtains his release, that club has lost something. That's just what happened to the Midland Indians Wednesday.

Ernie Nelson, the Indians' top hurler this season and of all time, has checked out. He bought his release from Harold Webb and H. W. Donohoo.

—SS—

Nelson, even though a veteran of 14 years in baseball and a southpaw whose fast ball isn't so fast any more, still could whip the leaders consistently. He has drawn the toughest pitching assignments this season and won in a dozen of them. He has lost five.

It won't be easy to replace an "old head" like the crafty Nelson. He had the head and the stuff it takes to win.

—SS—

Manager Harold Webb is negotiating with Leon Hayes, a lefthander who had success with the Indians last season. He will be brought in to replace Nelson if terms can be worked out.

Hayes is a question mark this year. He has been hurling some in semi-pro baseball but mostly has been out of the game.

He's big and fast and he beat the tough ones last year. Maybe he can do it again. We sincerely hope so.

—SS—

Nelson's shoes are big to fill, even for a big man like Hayes. Ernie was just about the pitchingest pitcher this league ever saw.

From the time he came here in 1947 right up until he quit Wednesday, he had been showing the Longhorn League new things.

—SS—

The first time Nelson pitched for Midland he struck out 18 men. That put him off on the right foot and when they put up the records at the end of the season, Nelson had his share.

He had won 24 games and lost six that year. He won three games in less than 24 hours on one occasion. He had been the biggest factor in Midland gaining the first division and the playoffs.

—SS—

In 1948, Nelson went to Greenville and remained there until the tail end of the season.

Harold Webb sent out a call and Nelson answered it.

It was Nelson, Sam Van Hoozer, Ralph Blair and Leland Crissman who pitched the Indians to the pennant that year.

Nelson won some important games at the end of the regular season and notched some highly important playoff wins.

—SS—

Last season, Nelson won 15 games for the Indians to run second to Ralph Blair, who won 18.

Nelson again won some key games in the latter part of the season and the playoffs.

He was hampered by injuries part of the season but still was able to win 15.

—SS—

Nelson got off to a little slower start this season but he came along fast when he did get rolling.

Aside from winning 12 this year, Nelson recently hurled a no-hit, no-run game here.

That's not all Nelson has done for the Midland Indians but it will give you an idea of what the club has lost.

—SS—

We hate to see Ernie check out but he says it is necessary. So, if that's the way it has to be—good luck to Midland's best pitcher ever.

Plastic Beats Shell; One Tilt Postponed

Western Plastic pounded out an abbreviated 13-6 softball victory over Shell Wednesday night in a JayCee - sponsored City Major League tilt. A scheduled game between Rendezvous and The Reporter-Telegram was rained out and will be played at a later date.

Phil Brock had scored and "Rookie" Haskins was on second base after singling with one away when the game was called due to rain in the bottom of the sixth.

Brock threw shut-out ball at the Shell nine until the fifth inning. Shell's James Griffin knocked in two runs with a line triple to left field. It was the only extra-base hit of the night.

The methodical Plastic squad took a three-run lead in the first inning. Shortstop Walker singled in two runs and scored on a passed ball.

Pitcher Brock starred at the plate, collecting three singles in four trips and scoring twice. He batted in three runs.

The line score:

KENNY JONES INJURED IN BASEBALL CONTEST

Kenny Jones, Midland Indian catcher, was admitted to Western Clinic-Hospital Thursday for treatment for a nose injury.

Jones was injured Wednesday night at Big Spring in a game between the Indians and the Big Spring Broncs.

Church Loop Playoff Set

The Lutherans and the Baptists will match runs in a playoff battle for first place in the JayCee-sponsored Church League Thursday night at Wadley Park. The winner of the game will be champion of the first half of league play.

Both teams have won eight softball games and lost four.

An Optimist League tilt is set for 6 p.m. and will be followed by the championship game. It will be the only Church League contest played Thursday.

Openings Announced In National Guard

A total of 112 more men are needed for Midland's Company E, Second Battalion of the 112th Armored Cavalry Division of the National Guard to bring the post's total to required combat strength, Royce Howard, unit administrator, announced Thursday.

The unit currently has 40 men on its rolls. Required strength, in case the National Guard is called to active duty, is 152 men.

Howard said all officer positions are filled but several openings exist for positions as high as staff sergeant. Men between the ages of 17 and 35 who can pass physical examination are eligible to join the National Guard.

Interested persons may call Howard at telephone number 3900 during working day hours or at number 2213-J at night. The unit post is located in Building T-247 at Midland Airpark.

tion in Japan, should Russia and the United States fall into gloves-off war.

However, it is the Russian submarine force that is drawing most U. S. attention.

As deployed, the Red sub fleet in the Far East seems to have as its main job the potential duty of cutting the Asiatic-Indonesian lifeline along which the United States would send help in event of general war in the Orient.

No Suspicious Actions

An almost equally important mission is to carry on reconnaissance of American and British naval ship, transport ship and air movement in the Western Pacific and the inland seas bordering Eastern Asia. If there have been any sightings of suspicious actions by Russian submarines in those waters, the Pentagon has kept it secret.

The Red Navy apparently is basing its Far East submarine fleet at a number of ports, rather than a few major ports, in the Soviet-controlled areas.

The reason for this may not be dictated entirely by strategy. The dispersal probably is caused in part by the fact that harbor facilities are limited at any one port.

The bases used by the Red sub fleet are believed to include the excellent ports of Darien, in Manchuria, on the Yellow Sea; harbors on Sakhalin Island, directly to the north of Japan; the big base of Vladivostok; Okhotsk, a port in the northwest corner of the sea of same name; naval installations along the Kamchatka Peninsula and to the north along the Siberian mainland.

Near Aleutian Islands

The latter two areas face, at easy cruising range, the United States' Aleutian Islands, the outermost of which Japan seized easily at the beginning of World War II.

Russia's Far Eastern submarine fleet is part of a total force estimated to run as high as 350 submersibles of types ranging from old wartime models to the latest snorkels.

The United States has indicated plainly it is thinking seriously about the submarine menace in the Western Pacific. Within the last few days the carrier Bataan left for that area. The Bataan had been converted from a strictly combat carrier to a specialized type for launching submarine-hunting planes.

The announcement said:

"American ground units in Korea are fighting one of the most skillful and heroic holding and rear guard actions in history. Their excellent peacetime training is reflected in the combat record they are now compiling. They have been overwhelmingly outnumbered, in some instances more than 20 to 1, and the casualties inflicted on the enemy have been immeasurably greater than those they have sustained.

"They have filled a branch without which the North Korean forces would have, long ere this, completely overrun and destroyed South Korea. This has provided time for the rapid movement of reinforcements forward in exploitation to the fullest extent of the logistical capabilities at hand. Each day we reduce the enemy's relative superiority in numbers and weapons."

Humble Oil & Refining Company has staked a 9,000-foot Ellenburger wildcat in Southeast Crockett County, two and one-half miles southwest of Ozona.

Humble's No. 1-D Alma Cox and others will be 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 4, block QR, GC&SF survey.

Drillsite is one mile due east of Humble's No. 1 Alma Cox, an 8,221-foot dry hole.

Central Runnels To Get Strawn Venture

A 3,900-foot wildcat has been scheduled in Central Runnels County, seven miles southeast of Winters.

The venture will be O. W. Killam of Laredo No. 2 J. P. Knight, located 1,357 feet from north and 2,754 feet from west lines of section 346, BBB&C survey.

The proposed venture is one-quarter mile northeast of the same operator's No. 1 Knight, a capped gas well which produces from the Strawn sand at 3,958-968 feet.

SW Midland Slated For Deep Prospector

C. W. Murchison of Dallas, and associates, are to start operations immediately on their No. 1 Joe Canon, and others, which is to be a 13,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Southwest Midland County.

The prospector is to be located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 13, block 41, TP survey, T-4-S. That makes it 24 miles southwest of the city of Midland.

The drillsite is one and three-quarter miles north and one-quarter of a mile west of the closest completed producer from the Ellenburger in the Pegasus field, and it is about four miles east of the multipay "Sweetie" Peck field.

Stanolind Schedules Wildcat In Howard

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1 C. W. Burton is to be a 9,500-foot wildcat to explore the Ellenburger in Northwest Howard County, 10 miles northwest of Big Spring and eight miles south and west of the Vealmoor-Canyon field.

Location is to be 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 27, block 33, TP survey, T-2-N. Operations are to be started by August 1 and are slated to be completed within 120 days after that date.

This prospector is to be drilled as a result of a deal worked up by Reese Cleveland of Midland, and turned to Stanolind.

Acreage Listed

Standard Oil Company of Texas contributed the southeast quarter of section 27, block 33, TP survey, T-2-N, to the deal, in return for a contract for the 9,500-foot wildcat.

Other acreage acquired by Stanolind in that area, as a result of that concern assuming the obligation to drill the wildcat, include the north half and the southeast quarter of section 22, the east 288 acres in the north half of section 26, the east half and the southwest quarter of section 28, all of section 35 and the north half of section 40, all being in block 33, TP survey, T-2-N.

Casing To Be Run On Borden Opener

Casing is slated to be run on the Rutherford and Heep Oil Corporation No. 1 Davis, new reef structure discovery in Southeast Borden County.

Five and one-half inch casing will be set at 6,766 feet, 15 feet of hole bottom. The Canyon reef was topped at 6,768 feet, on a minus datum of 4,519 feet.

Electric surveys verified the samples, which showed this new discovery to be 19 feet below the water level of the Von Roeder field, two miles to the north.

On a 12-minute drillstem test of the reef section at 6,744-81 feet, the No. 1 Davis flowed an estimated rate of 50 barrels hourly for a period of six minutes.

This new discovery is 467 feet from north and east lines of section 68, block 25, H&TC survey.

Auld Reveals Drillsite Of Wildcat For Jack

Dan Auld of Kerrville, while in Midland on a business trip, revealed that he has contracted to start drilling by September 1 on a 5,800-foot wildcat in Central Jack County of the North Texas district.

The venture will be Auld's No. 1 J. C. Carpenter estate. It will be 660 feet from south and west lines of the R. Carson survey, abstract 167, and four miles northwest of the town of Jacksboro.

The wildcat is projected as an exploration to the Flippen lime. Auld has a considerable spread of acreage in that region, including some leases he recently acquired in a farmout deal with Shell Oil Company.

Two Spraberry DST's In C-E Midland Fail

Forest Oil Corporation, Houston Oil Company of Texas, Robert S. Brennand, Jr., and others, No. 1 Pio Crespi, Central-East Midland County wildcat, eight miles southeast of the city of Midland, tried two drillstem tests when total depth was at 7,466 feet in th Spraberry lime and sand of the lower Permian.

The packers failed on both attempts and there were no recoveries. The prospector is to make more hole.

A core from 7,420 feet to 7,466 feet had shown a little free oil in fractures.

This prospector is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 17, block 38, TP survey, T-2-S. It is slated to go to at least 8,000 feet, unless it develops commercial production before reaching that depth. Up to now it has not shown any possibilities of making an oil well.

C-E Kent Wildcat Cuts Pensylvanian

Roeser & Pendleton, Inc., and others' No. 1 Ida Montgomery, wildcat in Central-East Kent County, passed through the top of the Pennsylvanian lime at 6,429 feet, datum minus 4,431 feet, and is now drilling below 6,454 feet in lime.

No shows have developed and geologists have not definitely established the age of the lime.

The project is one and one-half miles west of the town of Jayton and approximately 14 miles from production in the Clairemont-Pennsylvanian field which is producing from the Strawn.

The No. 1 Ida Montgomery is 1,213 feet from west and 2,170 feet from north lines of section 78, block 98, H&TC survey. It is projected to 7,500 feet.

Salt Creek Pool Gets SW Outpost

Spartan Drilling Company, and associates, have spudded and are drilling below 300 feet in a one and one-half mile west offset to a recently completed one and three-quarter mile southeast extension to the Salt Creek-Canyon pool of West-Central Kent County.

It is the No. 1-116 J. W. Young, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 116, block G, W&NW survey. Drillsite is one and one-half miles west of the Estil S. Heyser, Jr., et al, No. 2 L. T. Lohman, the extension producer in section 114, and one and five-eighths miles southwest of the nearest producer in the pool proper.

Geier-Jackson, Incorporated of Dallas has staked a three-quarter miles west stepout to its recently completed No. 2 Feldman & Pardo, extension to the Cogdell field in Central-South Kent County.

The stepout is the No. 2 Feldman & Pardo, 852.4 feet from west and north lines of section 703, block 97, H&TC survey, 16 3/4 miles north of Snyder. It will be rotary drilled to an estimated 7,500 feet depth.

Chapman & McFarlin Producing Company have staked two locations in South Kent County 22 miles northeast of Snyder, drilling to start immediately.

They are the No.'s 16 and 17 D. M. Cogdell. No. 16 is 2,043 feet from east and 1709 feet from south lines of section 716, block 97, H&TC survey. No. 17 is 1,850 feet from west and 1,787 feet from south lines of same section, block and survey. Both projects are to be rotary drilled and are projected to a 7,000-foot depth.

Edge Project Staked To Tex-Harvey Field

Ted Weiner and others have staked their No. 2 L. B. Floyd at the south edge of the Tex-Harvey field in Midland County, 13 1/2 miles southeast of the city of Midland.

It is one-quarter mile east of their No. 1 L. B. Floyd which was completed to pump 135 barrels of 40.2-gravity oil and 17 barrels of water daily through perforations from 7,865 to 7,875 feet and 8,045 to 8,055 feet.

The No. 2 L. B. Floyd is 666 feet from south and 1,973 feet from west lines of northwest quarter of section 15, block 37, T-3-N, T&P survey. It is projected to 8,000 feet with rotary equipment.

Five New Locations Reported In Scurry

Five new locations have been reported in Scurry County.

The Texas Company has spotted four edge locations to the Cogdell field in Central-North Scurry.

They are No.'s 57 through 60 P. L. Fuller. No. 57 is at the south edge of the field, 467 feet from west and 1,921 feet from north lines of section 614, block 97, H&TC survey.

No. 58 is another location at the south edge of the Cogdell, 1,878 feet from west and 467 feet from north lines of section 652, block 97, H&TC survey.

No. 59 P. L. Fuller is a southeast edge location, 467 feet from west and 1,982 feet from north lines of section 652, block 97, H&TC survey.

The No. 60 is an extreme west edge project, 467 feet from west and 3,350 feet from north lines of section 650, block 97, H&TC survey.

All four of The Texas Company ventures are to be rotary drilled to an estimated 7,000 feet depth, work to begin at once.

Honolulu Oil Corporation has staked the No. 4 Frank Strom, 660 feet from south and 1,951 feet from west lines of section 147, block 25, H&TC survey, northwest edge of the Diamond M-Canyon field, 15 miles southwest of Snyder.

Retail Pork Prices Top Food Advances

Retail pork prices jumped as much as 20 cents a pound in some stores this week as a flurry of price increases extended to several other meat items, poultry, eggs, coffee, bread, sugar and other foods.

Anxiety over the Korean war was blamed for touching off some of the boosts, which were foreshadowed by steep rises at wholesale levels last week.

The sharpest advances were for the more popular cuts of pork. A survey of chain store prices for center-cut pork chops showed increases ranging from two to 12 cents a pound, with extremes of as much as 20 cents.

Beef also advanced irregularly, but the biggest jump reported by the same big chain was eight cents a pound.

Hospital Visiting Hours Announced

Visiting hours at the new Midland Memorial Hospital were announced Thursday by Administrator E. R. Andres.

They are from 2 to 4 p.m., and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Andres also announced that children under 12 years of age will not be allowed to visit in patients' rooms, but will be allowed to view babies through nursery windows. He said the rules will be enforced strictly.

Here, Betty Newell and Bob MacDonald protest a parking ticket given them by officer Bobby Clark for parking both their little cars in one parking-meter space—using only one nickel. The cop let the couple tell it to the judge.

Freakish Weather Holds On In Texas

By The Associated Press

Texas weather remained freakish Thursday. A new rain record was set at Wichita Falls in normally-dry July. A tornoda with no oomph slapped at the Plains Country.

A slow, drenching rain at Wichita Falls totaled 3.84 inches in 24 hours. That was enough to bring precipitation in the first 13 days of July to a higher figure than ever recorded for a mid-Summer month there.

Wichita Falls' rain so far in July totals 7.20 inches. The previous record was 5.68 inches in a 31-day period of July, 1928. The North Texas city's records date back to 1897.

The hit- and-miss rain drenched some cities but barely moistened others. It still was raining over much of the state Thursday, and the cloud cover prevailed over the entire state.

Rainfall Spotted

Abilene recorded 2.35 inches. Mineral Wells recorded 1.65 Houston got 1.84 inches but nearby Galveston got only .05. Fort Worth received only .05 but Dallas received .33. Other amounts: Austin .04, Big Spring .28, El Paso .03, San Antonio .55, Waco .04, Beaumont .02, Laredo .07, Lubbock .02, Ozona .52, Victoria .02, Guadalupe Pass 1.13, Wink .01, Midland .04, Junction 1.76, Marfa .09 and Dalhart .50.

The tornado Wednesday hit sparsely settled rural country northwest of Smyer and between Levelland and Lubbock but caused no known damage or injuries.

North Korean Reds Agree To Observe Geneva Convention

TOKYO —(AP)— The Pyongyang radio said Thursday night the North Korean government has agreed to observe the Geneva Convention regarding treatment of prisoners of war.

Battlefield reports have said 18 captive American soldiers were bound and shot to death by the invading Communists.

Foreign Minister Pak Hong Young, the radio said, sent a message to United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie agreeing to comply with Lie's request to treat prisoners humanely.

General MacArthur, U. S. and UN commander for the Korean war, several days ago promised that Allied troops would observe the Geneva Convention. He warned North Korean leaders, by radio—both before and after the atrocities against his GI's—that he would hold Red leaders responsible for such "barbarity and murder."

High Court Judge Candidate Here

Joel W. Cook of Houston, a native of Yoakum, who is a candidate for judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas, brought his candidacy to Midland Thursday.

Cook, who says he is conducting a "one-man, one-car, burning desire for better courts in Texas," came here from El Paso. He currently is on a tour of West Texas.

Cook is a lawyer and is 39 years of age. He is married and is a father. He is a veteran of World War II. He has studied and practiced law 20 years.

Passengers Removed From Grounded Ship

QUEBEC—(AP)—Tugs and launches shuttled the St. Lawrence River Thursday removing 780 passengers from the 20,000-ton liner Franconia which rammed into a shallow reef during the night one mile out of Quebec.

The veteran Cunard-Donaldson cruise ship hit the shallows at Pointe a Taurea 45 minutes after clearing Quebec enroute to Liverpool.

Passengers, many of whom were attending a movie when the big ship hit, said there was a "terrific jolt," but no one appeared to be injured.

New Violence Flares In Texaco Walkout

PORT ARTHUR —(AP)— Further violence was reported Thursday in the strike at The Texas Company plant here.

Three workers were said to have been beaten Wednesday night and Thursday morning as they sought to enter or leave the plant.

Chief of Police G. B. Douglas said he had warrants for the arrest of two of the alleged assailiants.

A strike of CIO oil workers against The Texas Company now is in its 100th day.

Rotarians Honor Past President; Hear Band Music

Hilton Kaderli, retiring president of the Midland Rotary Club, was presented a past-president's pin as a gift of the club at its regular meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer. James N. Allison, who was installed as president last week, presided at the session.

The award was presented to Kaderli by Fred Wemple, former district governor and a past president of the club here, who reviewed Kaderli's career in Rotary and in business while praising his leadership and noteworthy accomplishments as president of the Midland club.

"To me, the outstanding career of Hilton Kaderli in Rotary and in business is Rotary and Americanism in action," Wemple said.

Home Town Dandies

The entertainment program was presented by Red Woodward and His Home Town Dandies, the popular five-piece band which is performing three times nightly at the Texas Electric Show of '50 here this week. The band played the same program it presents at the electric show.

R. L. Miller, district manager for the Texas Electric Service Company, introduced Woodward and his bandsters.

Allison announced a district assembly to be held in Slaton next Thursday.

New U. S. Commander

General MacArthur announced the appointment of Walker, chief of the Eighth Army in Japan, as commander of ground forces in Korea.

The Eighth Army has set up an advanced command post in Korea and taken over the job of U. S. Army Forces in Korea (USAFIK). The latter command was abolished.

Walker commanded the famed armored "Ghost Corps" of Gen. George Patton's Third Army in Europe. He was cited by Britain and praised by the U. S. War Department (now the Department of the Army) for his coordination of infantry and armored groups.

Walker made a flying visit to the Korean fighting front Saturday. MacArthur did not say if Walker would return to Korea.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, conferred here with MacArthur and, presumably, with Walker.

Reds Aim At Rail Line

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander in chief for the Navy in the Pacific, was flying from Pearl Harbor to Tokyo to confer with MacArthur.

MacArthur's communique said the 15th and Fifth North Korean divisions have started a drive to the southwest "in a wide envelopment heading for Hamchang," 45 miles northeast of Taejon and on a line that would take them to the Pusan-Taejon Railroad if they were successful.

Associated Press Correspondent Tom Lambert reported from the front that the drive began when the Reds bridged the Han River at Tanyang, about 20 miles east of fallen Chungju, and sent one division with artillery rolling south.

The American-trained South Korean Eighth Division was driven out of Tanyang, MacArthur said, and other South Korean troops "were pushed back to a position about 10 miles southeast of Chungju."

Lambert placed the active Red front on a 50-mile arc from Chochiwon, 20 miles north of Taejon, northward and eastward to Tanyang.

Debris Chokes Roads

He said Red pressure toward the east does not endanger Americans at the moment.

"But a rapid Red drive south from the Chochiwon-Tanyang arc could outflank them again," Lambert wrote. "Military maps show there are fair roads south from Chungju and Tanyang. These roads probably could accommodate the Red armor which has spearheaded successfully the Communist drive southward of about 100 miles in some sectors in this two-week-old war."

American and Australian warplanes hit Red columns in "increased strength," a Far Eastern Air Forces communique reported. They destroyed 38 tanks and damaged three others.

The Allied fighters and bombers have pretty well choked up the roads behind Red lines with the debris of Red tanks and other vehicles.

A senior officer at advanced American headquarters said, "It's going to be a job for the Reds to clear their way through it."

But front line doughboys knew painfully that Red tanks and infantry have handled themselves capably.

Texas Senators Ask Use Of Atomic Bomb, Calling Of Reserves

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Congressional demand for threatening the Korean Communists with the A-bomb and for calling up the National Guard served Thursday as an index to the growing seriousness with which lawmakers are treating the world situation.

Members of the House applauded Wednesday when Representative Bentsen (T-Texas) said President Truman should give the Communists one week to get out of Southern Korea. If they refuse, he said, the President then should supply their commander with a "named list of principal North Korean cities which would be subjected to atomic attacks by our air forces."

Another Texas Democrat, Senator Lyndon Johnson, raised the proposal for calling into active service immediately more than 800,000 National Guardsmen and Reservists to stiffen the battle in Korea.

Johnson made his proposal in a Senate speech Wednesday and followed it up by telling a reporter:

"We are going to be forced to do this anyway in time and the sooner the better.

Asks Quick Move

"Unless we move quickly there is a chance that our boys will be pushed clear out of Korea."

Senator Brewster (R-Maine) proposed that it be left up to General MacArthur whether to use atomic bombs on the Communists. He offered this idea of his own:

"The Communists should understand that we are not spending billions for bombs out of scientific curiosity. Presumably they are designed to save the lives of American boys."

Tracy S. Voorhees, former undersecretary of the Army, told a House committee that an atomic attack on the United States itself now is "more than a possibility." He said that if an attack does come, it doubtless will be a big one aimed at industrial centers.

No Bookkeeping War

Senator Johnson, in his speech, said that the Navy, Army and Air Force all had been subjected to a "withering away" not intended by Congress.

"This is not a bookkeeping war," he shouted, adding: "For too long, we have been more interested in making our books balance than in making our strength balance against the military power of communism."

"Far more dollars are being lost in South Korea than all the dollars we have saved—if we have saved any at all," he added.

Johnson offered a gloomy view of the Korean battle to date, saying U. S. forces are outnumbered seriously with little chance to overcome these odds "at least in many months."

"The enemy is well-trained and well-equipped," he said. "The enemy we face is ruthless and cold-blooded."

40 Injured When 15-Pullman Train Sideswipes Freight

PAYNESVILLE, MINN. —(AP)— A Soo Line special train carrying 225 Eastern vacationists to Canada sideswiped a freight train here Thursday, injuring approximately 40 persons.

Preliminary examination indicated only five or six were injured seriously. All were treated aboard the train or in doctors' offices here. Arrangements were made to take the passengers to Minneapolis later.

The 15-Pullman train had left Minneapolis at 1:30 a.m. It carried Ohio and Atlantic Seaboard hardware men and their wives, bound for Banff, Canada, enroute to the National Retail Hardware Association's convention in Seattle.

Dog Shootings Are Reported; Man Fined

Midland police recently have received several reports of dogs being shot in the city and steps are being taken to crack down on offenders.

City Judge J. M. DeArmond issued a $25 fine to one man charged with shooting a dog. He said any others who are found guilty of such violations will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

City ordinances prohibit the killing or mistreating of dogs here.

Strikes, Shortages In Available Steel Worry Auto Makers

DETROIT — (AP) — Supplier strikes and a shortening of steel gave concern Thursday for the booming production of the auto industry.

Two strikes already have slowed assembly lines in some plants.

The steel supply problem, however, loomed as more serious. Heavy production in industry generally has cut into steel stocks. The auto industry itself has been producing at all-time record rates. President Truman was said to be considering a request to Congress for stand-by power to allocate steel and other critical materials because of the Korean war.

The Ford Motor Company thought for a brief time Wednesday it might have to eliminate Saturday overtime work because of reduced steel supplies. But after rechecking the problem, the company said it would continue overtime production at 10 of its 15 Ford assembly plants this weekend. It has operated from seven to all 15 of these plants each Saturday on overtime this year.

Truck Output Curtailed

Ford said its only curtailment would be a reduction from five to four days a week for the remainder of this month at its Metuchen, N. J., and St. Louis Mercury plants.

At the same time Ford said a strike at the Budd Company plant in Philadelphia would force a 20 per cent cut in truck production starting Thursday. Ford depends on Budd for truck doors and other stampings.

In Toledo, Ohio, Willys-Overland said a strike at the Warner Gear Division plant of Borg-Warner Corporation in Muncie, Ind., would force a shutdown of its final assembly lines Thursday.

At Willow Run near here, Kaiser-Frazer Corporation already has halted one of its two final assembly lines because of the Warner strike. Warner makes transmissions for both Willys and K-F.

The Warner strike also was a threat to Chrysler, Nash, Studebaker and other auto firms. It forced Ford for the last several days to make all its Ford and Mercury cars without overdrives, which are optional equipment obtained from Warner.

House Passes Bill Authorizing Firing Of 'Security Risks'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bill giving 11 government agency heads the power to fire outright any employes they consider risky to U. S. security was handed over to the Senate Thursday following top-heavy approval in the House.

By a vote of 327 to 14, the House late Wednesday enthusiastically endorsed the proposal. It means employes deemed to be bad security risks could be booted out without appeal.

There are about 800,000 federal employes in the agencies affected.

While some House members raised the cry of "dictatorship," an overwhelming majority shouted approval of giving most government department chiefs "absolute discretion" to fire civilian employes they consider dangerous to the national security.

'Conclusive And Final'

The authority would apply to heads of the State, Treasury, Commerce, Justice and Defense Departments; the Army, Navy, Air Force, Atomic Energy Commission, the National Security Resources Board and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

Their determination of a bad security risk would be "conclusive and final," and the only review of a case would be by the agency head himself or someone designated by him.

The door was left open for extension of the powers to other agency heads by empowering the President to designate such additional agencies he deems necessary.

The House beat down three attempts to provide appeals procedure to protect employes from unjust or arbitrary firing. A roll call vote of 193 to 144 turned down a move to provide for employe appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

Mineola Officer Killed, Another Injured In Feud

MINEOLA —(AP)— Two feuding peace officers shot out their differences on a downtown street Wednesday. One was killed, the other critically hurt.

Killed was constable Will Whittle. Injured was acting Police Chief Wesley Taylor.

Police Chief C. M. Barnett, who had turned his office over to Taylor in order to run for the office of sheriff, said the two officers had argued over a minor traffic case.

Barnett said the two men met Wednesday morning in the business district and scuffled briefly. A bystander separated them and took a gun from Whittle.

Later—at about 11:15 a.m.—they met in front of the justice of the peace office, which was closed. The shooting followed.

20 Persons Killed In Train Collision

BERLIN —(AP)— Twenty persons were killed and more than 50 injured in a train wreck in the uranium mining section of Russian-occupied Saxony Wednesday night, the Soviet-licensed ADN News Agency reported.

The victims were described as workers.

The agency said the crash occurred when a passenger train lunged into a parked freight, between the towns of Zwickau and Aue.

ADN said that many of the injured were in serious condition and that the operator of a signal tower had been arrested and charged with negligence.

Tear Gas Sends 40 Persons To Hospital

WILMINGTON, DEL.—At least 40 persons were sent to the hospital after tear gas, accidentally released from a burglar alarm system, trapped them along with some 20 others in a bank building Wednesday.

The 40, all employes of the Security Trust Company, were carried to the street by firemen wearing gas masks. None was reported in serious condition.

The gas escaped on the main floor of the building. It spread to upper floors through the air conditioning system. Bank officials said they did not know how the gas was released.

In terms of value of standing timber and value of product cut, Douglas fir is considered the most important commercial tree.

European Veteran Longs For 'Jug Birds' In Korea

By LEIF ERICKSON

AT THE AMERICAN FRONT IN KOREA —(AP)— American troops who covered the retreat from Chochiwon said Thursday "The withdrawal was damn orderly."

"If it wasn't we wouldn't have brought so many back," said Lt. James Bufano of The Bronx, N. Y.

He said the Communists tried to "raise hell with the pull-out" but mortar and artillery fire splashed harmlessly in nearby rice paddies. Only four shells of the fairly heavy barrage fell in the city.

Lt. Delbert Gates of Joinerville, Texas, covered the withdrawal with a machine gun "until the last man I could see was out."

Gates said some Americans headed in the wrong direction, but they have a chance of working back to their own lines. Many returned to U. S. positions during the night.

The American front was quiet Thursday.

Battle seasoning is building confidence in the American GI. A big morale builder has been American air action, even though there have been mistaken strafings of U. S. positions.

Air Blows Stagger Reds

"The damned North Koreans are taking a hell of a lot worse of it than we are," said Gates. "Every time the air hits them they get a real bloody nose.

"Every time there's a fight it takes a couple of days for them to straighten themselves out."

A senior front line officer who is a veteran of the European war said "The guys (infantrymen) getting shot at don't see much of what our Air Force is doing.

"But all of a sudden there is no 'poosh' from the other side. You wonder what's going on. Then you figure it out. The air is getting them."

He said he would like to see the old "jug birds" (F-47 Thunderbolts) working over the enemy as they worked against Germans. Jet fighters weren't meant for this kind of business, he said, but "a jug bird with 500-pound bombs would really give them a jolt."

Texas General Assumes Command Of Ground Forces

BELTON, TEXAS —(AP)— Little Walt Walker's in another shooting war.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commanding general of the Eighth Army in Japan, Wednesday assumed command of ground troops in Korea. In World War II he commanded the 20th Tank Corps that spearheaded the Third Army drive in Europe.

Walker was born in Belton 60 years ago. Many here still remember him as that stocky little Walt Walker—who used to hunt jackrabbits around this Central Texas town.

The general's mother, Mrs. Sam S. Walker, still lives here.

When Walker came back from Europe, Belton tossed him a big celebration.

Most Army Applicants Flunk Mental Tests

NEW YORK—(AP)—The relatively high intelligence now required of an Army recruit has eliminated 51 per cent of those who have tried to enlist in this area since the outbreak of fighting in Korea.

Officials at Army and Air Force recruiting headquarters here said Wednesday that in the period from July 3 to 10 only 49 per cent of the 591 men given mental examinations were able to make a passing score of 90.

The average age groups of the applicants was 19-20.

The current mental test was described as "difficult" by an Army public relations officer. He predicted it would become easier if the fighting gets tougher.

The carat originally was based on the weight of the seed of the carob, a tree of Mediterranean regions.

Lighter Weapons Of U. S. GI's Still Pack Punch

The tank-killing bazookas and new recoilless weapons, used by American fighters late in World War II, are seen in new and deadlier models in the Korea fighting. An outstanding example of new weapons that give the infantryman an artillery punch is the 75mm recoilless rifle at right. Carried and fired by three men, the piece weighs only 110 pounds, but has substantially the same firepower as the old, motordrawn 75mm artillery piece below. Despite its lack of recoil, the cry for the 75mm rifle, and similar weapons, is "Look out behind!" The tremendous back blast of the rifle makes unsafe an area 75 feet or more to the rear.

Intermarriage For Indians Suggested

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— All problems of the American Indian could be solved by intermarriage with whites, says a University of Oklahoma history professor.

Dr. E. E. Dale, addressing a University of Southern California Summer session audience, said that "once education of the Indian has sufficiently advanced," intermarriage would be practical.

"Indians are a great people and Indian blood is good blood," he said. "Indians have had an influence upon our history and culture out of all proportion to their number.

"In Oklahoma, white - Indian marriages are so common they are not regarded as intermarriage."

Here's what usually goes into India relish—in case you're wondering! Sweet pickles are the main ingredient with red peppers, onions, cauliflower, and spices for seasoning.

Mrs. Tucker Cites '3 For 4' Offer

"3 pounds for 4 red treys" is Mrs. Tucker's standing offer to Canasta players, according to a spokesman for the dear old lady of shortening and margarine fame.

Realizing the great popularity of Canasta, Mrs. Tucker is offering to give a three-pound can of her new "Speed-Mix" Shortening to every woman in a Canasta game of four or more players using two decks of cards, if any one player in the game gets all 4 red treys during any deal and card drawing from stack before someone "goes out."

If all players in the game will sign score card or statement with date, names and addresses, showing which player got all four red treys, and mail it to Mrs. Tucker, Sherman, Texas, she will send every woman in the game a card good for a three-pound can of Mrs. Tucker's new SPEED-MIX Shortening.

In a six-hand, or more, game, using three decks of cards, any one player who gets six red treys during any one deal entitles every woman in game to a three-pound can of Mrs. Tucker's Shortening. This offer expires Dec. 31, 1950.

New Taste Treat: Bratenburgers

BRATENBURGERS are a tasty variation of the familiar hamburger, prepared in sauerbraten sauce.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

A variation on the familiar hamburger theme is always news.

Bratenburgers—they are news! Nothing more complicated than hamburgers cooked in a sauerbraten sauce of spices and vinegar, guaranteed to pick up languid weather appetites. Here's the brand new tested recipe:

Bratenburgers
(6 servings)

Three slices dry bread, 1/2 cup hot water, 1 pound hamburger, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 1 egg, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon butter or fortified margarine, 1/2 cup cider vinegar, 1 1/2 cups water, 12 cloves, 6 bay leaves, 8 gingersnaps (coarsely crumbled).

Break up bread and soften with 1/2 cup hot water. Add meat, onion, egg and salt; mix well. Shape into 6 patties and brown on both sides in hot fat. Mix together remaining ingredients; pour over patties. Cover and simmer about one hour.

Personally, I like them with mashed potatoes and a big bowl of garden salad—tomatoes, cucumbers, two or three different kinds of greens — all tossed with a good French dressing.

Here's a recipe for French dressing many of our friends enjoy. We, ourselves, don't like sugar in our dressing but a lot of people do.

French Dressing (Basic)
(Makes 3/4 cup)

One-half cup salad oil, 1/4 cup cider vinegar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon scraped onion with juice.

Combine all ingredients and shake or beat until thoroughly combined. Chill. Shake again each time before using. Note: Add a clove of garlic or a liberal shaking of garlic salt for even better flavor.

Mid-Day Nap Aids Efficiency

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Theres no need for a housewife to apologize if the doorbell or telephone summons her from a midday nap. A siesta is efficiency, not laziness.

It's only common-sense to provide some time in your busy schedule for restocking your energy. After such a respite, you can make far better use of your afternoon and evening working hours. And you can hang up your towel after supper dishes are finished without that all-gone feeling to spoil what remains of the evening.

Although cat-naps in chairs or quick snoozes on the couch are better than no rest at all, best results are obtained from a real sleep, however brief, on the bed.

This does not mean that a freshly-made bed must be disarranged. An extra coverlet from linen closet or blanket chest will suffice.

It's a good idea to remove your dress as well as your shoes, so that your body can relax all over without binding or constriction. A housecoat laid out nearby will prepare you for emergency calls to door or phone.

Some women even quite unabashedly post notes on their doors asking callers not to disturb them for a specified time while they nap.

Whether you are the note-posting type or not, mark out in your own mind the number of minutes you plan to sleep. This may be 15 minutes to perhaps two hours, depending upon individual needs. Too-long naps are not advisable, as they are time-wasters and leave you too groggy for efficient work thereafter.

After sticking to a brief-sleep schedule for a few days, sandwiching it in during baby's nap or whenever else there's time, most women find it easy to take full advantage of their rest time. They drop immediately into slumber without interrupting themselves, either mentally or physically, with household tasks still undone.

Sun Glasses Needed For Eye Insurance

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

If you've been getting frequent headaches this Summer, and attributing them to heat, hard work or diet deficiency, you'd better check your eyes. Perhaps you've been using them a lot in bright sunlight without the protection of sunglasses.

Sunglasses are necessary to prevent a loss in your eye's sensitivity to light, says Dr. Robert H. Peckham, associate professor of research opthamology at Temple University. Dr. Peckham, who was a member of the Army-Navy Vision Committee during the war, says that "this loss of sensitivity to light results in a drop in visual acuity—sharpness of seeing — particularly at night." It is greatest th night after exposure to sunlight which uses up the visual purple—a chemical on the retina of the eye that is needed if you are to see—faster than the eye can restore it normally.

Researchers have found that whenever you are out in the bright sun for an extended time between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the northern zones and between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. in southern zones, you should wear glasses. It is possible to lose from 50 to 90 per cent of night vision ability after prolonged unprotected exposure. The National Safety Council states that two-thirds of the automobile accidents occur after dark—many of these due to people with reduced "night vision."

Expensive Ones Unnecessary

Dr. Peckham says it is not necessary to buy expensive sunglasses —he claims the inexpensive glasses are just as effective and will not affect normal vision. He has determined that the density of color is the most important factor in sunglasses, since the purpose is to reduce the glare of reflected sunlight and in some cases, artifical light.

Sun glasses vary according to the purpose, he explains. During the war the Navy chose dark grey, the Army different shades of green and the Air Force brown-grey and sage green. Dr. Peckham suggests greenish-yellow, yellowish-green or blue-green lenses for flying and the beach; brownish grey lenses for mountain-climbing, skiing or snow shoeing; flesh-colored and "smoke" lenses for people such as green-eyed redheads who are hypersensitive to sunlight. Amber lenses are effective around beaches and for flying but should never be used while driving since they distort color perception of traffic lights. Sun glasses should never be worn at night.

All sorts of sun glasses are available in beautiful and flattering shades and at budget prices, so that no sun basker should be without them. There are flex-fit glasses with bars that bend at the temples and ears for the hard-to-fit, "sunlashies"—glasses with plastic eyelashes which lend a new fashion note, and any number of other smart colorful sunglasses to suit any girl.

Sea lilies really are animals, but they look like the plants for which they are named.

Couple To Lose Old Age Pension—All Because Of Oil Well

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

A Stonewall County couple will lose their old age pension. They have struck oil.

C. L. Williams is 80 and blind. His wife is 83. They've had a life of hard times, Aubrey Shouse of the Abilene Reporter-News said in telling their story. But a new day is here.

Since 1920 they had grubbed an existence from 160 sandy West Texas acres, eight miles north of Old Glory.

Williams went totally blind in 1927. Their children, all but one son, were married and away from home. Making a living—even getting enough to eat—was a major problem.

The son became ill. Mrs. Williams took in washing. But they hung onto the sandy 160 acres.

The couple applied for old age assistance from the state but, owning property, they could not qualify. So in desperation they deeded the 160 acres to their six children, retaining 50 per cent of the mineral rights. From then on they received about $74 each month from the state.

This month, the R. H. K. Drilling Company of Abilene brought in an oil well on the southern border of the farm. And the elderly couple became the center of much, heartwarming attention.

To celebrate the Williams No. 1 well, Aspermont businessmen and others passed the hat and threw a big community barbecue at the well site July 5. About 1,000 persons from Old Glory, Abilene, Aspermont, Rule and other cities went to the party and Mr. and Mrs. Williams were guests of honor.

Williams said he was happy because there will be money for the education of his grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

And Mrs. Williams said: "Finally, my prayers have been answered. My children will see something out of it, I know."

And the oil money will take Williams to an eye specialist.

"If we can fix his eyes where he can see even enough to get around, I would be the happiest woman in the world," Mrs. Williams declared.

SAFEWAY

DADDY RINGTAIL

By WESLEY DAVIS

Daddy Ringtail And The Why Of Things

Sammy Ringtail, the monkey boy, went with Daddy Ringtail through the bushes to show him the yellow jacket nest.

Yellow jackets were sitting on this nest, and crawling on it too. They had stingers that hurt if they stung. Sammy had found that out the day before. One had stung him on the tail.

"See how they work," Daddy Ringtail whispered. They were working to make a bigger nest for more and more yellow jackets to live there. Some were flying to and from the nest with water and food for the young. Others were flying in with pieces of this and that to make the nest larger. "We had better move back," Daddy Ringtail whispered again. "Let's move back to a safer place."

That is what they did. They went back again to a safer place by the very tall tree—the one with the monkey house in the top.

"Daddy Ringtail," said Sammy, "do you have to tear their nest down?" That's what Daddy Ringtail had been planning to do, so that never again would they sting anyone.

Oh, Daddy Ringtail knew the why for Sammy's asking. The yellow jackets were working so hard to make their nest. Yes, Sammy was the kind of boy who would like for everything living to live in peace, side by side, with never any trouble for anyone.

"Do you have to tear their nest down?" Sammy asked again. "I don't understand the why of it all."

Daddy Ringtail thought about this. He told of how the yellow jackets would sure be stinging people as long as they were living near by. A yellow jacket has no sense about who to sting and not to sting. They think that everyone is an enemy.

"Yes," Daddy Ringtail said, "it's hard sometimes to understand the why of things. We may even wish that certain things were different, but when we can't change them —." Daddy Ringtail looked at Sammy. "When there are things we can't change, we have to be happy with the way they are. We have to do the best we can."

The best thing for Daddy Ringtail to do was to tear down the yellow jacket nest, and that is what he did. It was a daddy's business to do it, to keep stings from happening to his family. Happy day. (Copyright 1950, General Features Corp.)

Tasty Ways With Canned Meats For Party

TASTY WAYS WITH CANNED MEATS—Here are three quick dishes prepared from canned meats which are pretty enough for parties and easy enough for everyday use. Left to right they are: Baked corned beef hash with peaches, luncheon meat with fruit on skewers, Vienna sausage and corn casserole.

It's the fresh air and sunshine season! So help yourself to lots of both by using your canned meat shelf to save precious minutes in meal planning and preparation. Stock up on a variety of items such as tasty corned beef hash, tangy luncheon meat and spicy Vienna sausage. From this every-ready meat supply you'll have meals which are "wink-quick" to prepare, as well as nutritious and penny-wise too!

Here's a canned meat special using corned beef hash which will put a twinkle into your menus. You'll be proud to serve this fruit studded beauty to your guests.

Corned Beef Hash Jubilee
(Serves 5 to 6)

2 cans corned beef hash
6 canned peach halves
Catsup

Firmly pack corned beef hash into a well greased square baking dish. Make indentations for peach halves with the back of a spoon. Place peaches in indentations, fill centers with catsup, and bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 45 minutes. Allow to stand 10 minutes on a rack. Then cut into squares around peaches and remove with a pancake turner.

A wonderful idea for a cheery spring dinner or luncheon are these savory luncheon meat and fruit morsels on skewers, drizzled with sauce, and deliciously broiled.

Skewered Meat—Fruit Nuggets
(Six skewers)

1 can luncheon meat
2 bananas
1 14-oz. can pineapple chunks
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon water
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves

For the sauce, mix together brown sugar, vinegar, catsup, water and cloves. Cut meat into 1-inch cubes (makes 18 cubes), slice bananas into 3/4 inch pieces. Alternate meat and fruit on skewers, using (per skewer) 3 meat cubes, 2 banana slices and 1 pineapple chunk. Place skewers in shallow pan, pour some sauce over each and broil 3 inches from heat 2 minutes per side. Serve with any sauce left in the pan spooned over the skewered food. (Use left over canned pineapple in salad or dessert.)

When "it's later than you think" and time is at its shortest, here's a whiz of a meal that's as good tasting as it is good for you. It's a one dish casserole treat in which you have no white sauce to make and, due to the corn content, no potatoes to prepare. The seasoning ingredients are those found in most kitchens and any leftovers from this hearty dish will make a tasty lunch for the following day.

Vienna Sausage—Corn Casserole
(Serves 6)

2 1-lb. cans whole kernel corn
2 cans Vienna sausage
3 tablespoons finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 can mushroom soup

Empty well drained corn into a mixing bowl. Add contents of one can Vienna sausage, cut into half-inch lengths. Add onion, catsup, Worcestershire sauce and undiluted mushroom soup. (No salt needed.) Pour mixture into well greased casserole. Arrange second can of Vienna sausage on top, spoke fashion. Bake uncovered at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes.

Try a vegetable dunking platter as a first course for a company luncheon or dinner. Mix cream cheese and blue cheese together thoroughly, soften with a little milk or cream to a fluffy consistency, and pile into a small attractive bowl; surround with carrot sticks, strips of celery, black olives, cucumber slices and radishes.

Texan Through With Flying As Business After 28 Crashes

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

Slates Rodgers, a durable fellow who has crawled away from 28 plane crashes, says he's through with flying as a business.

"Now," he adds, "I'm figuring on buying me a fast little cub just to cruise around in for my own pleasure."

Floyd H. (Slats) Rodgers, a spindly, weatherbeaten man of 62, and a resident of McAllen, was a pioneer barnstormer and crop-duster. Twenty-two years ago he flew a rickety jenny to the Rio Grande Valley and gave a public demonstration which inaugurated the big industry of crop-dusting in that area.

Slats started his flying carrer back in 1912. "There weren't any instructors around and there weren't too doggone many airplanes," he told Bruce Henderson of the Valley Evening Monitor. "I built my own ship and spent a year teaching myself to fly it."

During the first World War, Rodgers served as a civilian instructor and later became a barnstormer. The government assumed control of civilian aviation in the mid-twenties and Slats claims to be the first Texas pilot to apply for a license.

Gets Flying License

He got the license, but lost it next day for buzzing Love Field at Dallas. He had later license troubles, too. "I guess the government had my license more than I did," he laughed. "They'd always get to feeling sorry for me, though, and give it back after two or three months."

Slats has flown 12,000 logged hours, and thousands more unlogged. In all 28 accidents he lived through, the planes were demolished, and three of them burned.

For years, Rodgers conducted the only cotton dusting business in the Valley. "Everybody, even the county agent, was against it at first," he told Henderson, "but they soon caught on." Slats trained his own pilots and figures he dusted every grove in the Valley at one time or another. "Those were the rough days."

When he came to the Valley in 1928, Rodgers chose a grove just east of McAllen for his public dusting demonstration. On that site today, the old barnstormer is building a restaurant. He'll run it when he is not flying for pleasure.

Eggs absorb odors of other foods and never should be kept near such items as fish, onions and the like.

Minnie Pearl Will Perform In Odessa

Minnie Pearl is one of the many stars of the Grand Ole Opry show which will appear at Oiler Park in Odessa on Thursday night, July 20.

Sarah Ophelia Colley, whose personality has been practically usurped by the madcap character, was born at Grinder's Switch, Tenn., near the quiet little town of Centerville, ". . . too long back to laugh about."

Ophelia Colley first appeared in public as Minnie Pearl, costume and all, at a very fancy, gay, social function held at a fashionable hotel in a South Carolina resort town. She had been there once before, while she was a coach for amateur talent shows, and had been asked to help out on this benefit. Her 89 cent organdy dress, lisle stockings, big, flat-heeled shoes and beflowered and fruited straw sailor hat created a riot of laughter among the evening garbed socialites as she walked through them to the platform that evening.

She has been associated with the Grand Ole Opry Show since 1940.

For a particularly delicious salad using Summer greens, make a French dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar, salt, freshly-ground pepper and a little dried crushed, oregano. Then rub the salad bowl with a cut clove of garlic, if you like that flavor, before the salad greens and dressing go in.

Youth Center Chatter

By JUNE HAZLIP-JOYCE HOWELL

Even though we have harped on it the last few weeks, we just think we'll say it again! IT IS HOT! But anyway here we are again.

Now comes the problem of the week . . . how to begin??? Since we have only one "Bride's Bouquet" to throw, we will take off with it! Our congratulations this week go to Esther Pearl Reeves, who became Mrs. C. L. Hardin last week.

The pool table now has all the equipment needed and the Teeners are taking good advantage of it! Pardon us! We must correct this to read "the BOYS are taking advantage of it!" We have discovered that it is quite a problem to get close enough to the table to see just what is going on! Boys, boys everywhere . . . Never having had a chance to learn the fascinating game of pool, we naturally are inquisitive! (And we aren't the only ones!) Here is the chance of a lifetime for some ambitious males! The gals are just dying to learn! Tom Carruthers, "Red" Scott, Donald Johnson, Tom Armstrong, David Laverty, Joe Dorsey, Larry Hollingsworth and Jerry Webb are just a few of the fellows who always are to be found at the pool table! It certainly is a wonderful addition to the Youth Center.

'It's Different'

And speaking of pool . . . It seems that Joe Dorsey and Jerry Webb have found another use for pool cues. The boys "stack hands" on it and try to see who can hold it last . . . Just like a baseball bat! (Well, at least it's different!)

Coming events just don't seem to be coming! The only thing scheduled for this week is a council meeting which will be held Thursday night. The meeting will be to plan for Summer activities.

The fashions around the Center always are different and varied (to say the last!) The latest thing seems to be Erpie Wallace's white shirt with white circles on it! We also noticed Larry Hollingsworth sporting a bright purple and white striped scarf. It was tied around his neck in true "cowboy" fashion! On further inquiry we learned the tie is the property of Nancy McKinley! Ah well, variety is the spice of life!!

Another "main attraction" in the center these days is the new skee-ball machine. It is a sort of miniature bowling ally and is causing a minor sensation to say the least! JoAnn Reagan, Beverly Keisling, Jo Underwood Shirley Harrison and Jean Blackwell had a real tournament going on the other day! We never did know just who won!

Peggy Minear is back with us again! It seems that Sidney Smith, ex-Midlander now living in Taxco, Mexico, just took Peggy right along with her when she went home after a visit here. Peggy has been gone about two weeks and to hear her tell it she must have had a wonderful time!

Electric Show

It finally has come! The long-awaited Texas Electric show of 1950 finally arrived! The show is a great favorite of most Midlanders and the Teeners are no exception! Just about everyone hereabouts will attend. As for us . . . we plan to attend every night! After all . . . it only comes once a year!

We nominate for the meanest men of the week the little friends who take great pleasure in getting the blue chalk from the pool cues all over unsuspecting victims!

Year Ago In Center

Do you remember what was going on around these parts a year ago??? Well we do! The laugh of the week came when Jim Deavenport and girl friend Adele decided to try to fix the horn on Jim's little car. After an hour of hard work trying to get the steering wheel off they finally got to the horn. The horn honked after three long hours of work! The mystery is how! Four parts still were lying on the floor when the job was finished!

Gloria Anguish, Mary Neill, Shirley Harrison, Adele Blackman, Wilma Like, Betty Wilson, Ann Boring, Toya Chapple and Rosalynn Leggett all were seen in the vicinity of Jean Ferguson's house! Investigating boys discovered the reason . . . A slumber party!

Dewain Hammon was another new Teener around town! In case you don't recognize the name, it was Duane "Duck" Hammon! Seems we had a bad case of "misspellitis!"

We could go on forever but we won't, so let's get back to "now-a-days!"

Center Porch

The Youth Center porch is becoming more and more popular with the advent of mid-Summer heat! These days it is getting so you must fight your way over, through, or under the "front porch gab-fests" to get inside. Then, too, the porch always is interesting because you never know what will happen outside! The attraction Monday night was a meeting being held on the high school lawn by the Lions. (On looking at this again we think we should change it to read the Lions Club!) It seems they were electing officers and the proceedings were being observed by Teeners gathered on their porch. We would be willing to bet the Lions didn't know they were being "spied on!"

Imagine our surprise at seeing Royce Rae McKee driving down the street at 6:45 the other morning! It seems that she is attending Odessa College Summer classes and was on her way to school.

Mary Ann McRae, Madeline Schabarum, Peggy Simmons, Diane Anderson and Nancy Roberts were doing a fine job of holding up traffic on the Youth Center side street Tuesday afternoon! The cause of the holdup was Arnold Drake! The

Grape Nectar Wins Nationwide Acclaim

LODI, CALIF. — From the verdant, sun-drenched San Joaquin Valley of California, comes a new product, Val-Sweet Grape Nectar, which is creating "news" in the beverage market from coast-to-coast. Recommended by physicians, parents and dieticians everywhere, Val-Sweet has enjoyed almost instantaneous acceptance wherever introduced into California hospitals, state and private institutions, Army hospitals and U. S. Navy vessels.

Several important factors caused doctors, housewives and hospital superintendents to stock and serve Val-Sweet Grape Nectar whenever juices are called for in a patient's diet. For the same reason, they are particularly recommended to mother's for children's daily diet. They are: No sugar has been added; rich in natural dextrose and minerals; nutritious, healthful and refreshing, and inexpensive.

Beat Summer Heat With Fruit Salad

FOR HEAT-WILTED APPETITES try a light bowl of chilled fruit salad topped with molasses cheese sauce.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Fresh fruit salad with an unusual dressing is the kind of novelty that perks up hot weather appetites.

Here's an unusual molasses cheese sauce for your fruit salad:

Molasses Cheese Sauce for Fruit Salad

Beat together one square cream cheese, 3 tablespoons lemon juice and 3 tablespoons light New Orleans type molasses. Sprinkle in chopped nuts. Serve with fruit salads.

For the salads use melon balls, cherries, grapes, orange and grapefruit sections, arranged in individual bowls, garnished with tender greens. Pass sauce in separate bowl.

From San Francisco, Jessica C. McLachlin, an old friend of this column, sends this delicious recipe for veal:

Veal Balalaika

Three tablespoons bacon drippings or other fat, 2 pounds veal steak, cut in small cubes or strips, 1/4 cup flour, 1 cup hot water, 1 (4 ounce) can mushroom stems and pieces, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 onion, thinly sliced, 1 teaspoon paprika, salt and pepper to taste, 1 cup sour cream.

Heat bacon drippings in a large heavy skillet with tight-fitting lid. Add veal and brown slowly on all sides. Stir in flour; add water and wine; cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thickened and smooth. Add mushrooms (including liquid), parsley, onion, paprika, salt and pepper.

Cover tightly and simmer gently, stirring frequently, for 45 minutes to one hour, or until veal is tender. Just before serving, stir in sour cream. Taste and add additional salt and pepper if necessary. Serve with buttered noodles.

Y-C Chatter—

girls had stopped Arnold, who was in his truck, and were talking merrily away! Must be that "Drake charm!"

Out-Of-City Visitors

We have had a lot of out-of-city visitors this last week at our Youth Center. Last Saturday, Jo Ann Graves from Sweetwater was here. Many of you probably remember the Sweetwater Canteen—We went to a dance there after one of the football games a year ago. Jo Ann is an active member of the Sweetwater Center and we were glad to have her visit ours.

D. D. Jones from Iraan is visiting his cousin, Bobby Manning, this Summer. D. D. certainly likes Midland. Maxine Hill also had two guests staying with her last week. Shirley Riddle and Annelle Puckett both live in Big Spring. The girls spent three days in Midland and were in and out of the Center quite often.

What's this we hear about Emily Hamilton going into the fortune-telling business? Just by looking at a person's palm, Emily can tell you everything—well, almost everything! Joan Turner has learned that she is a twin—or rather, that she has a twin and Jean Blackwell has learned that she will fall in love many times!

Back From Meeting

Emily, Joan Turner and Mary Ann McRae have returned from an Episcopal Youth Conference at Ceta Glenn Canyon. Each year the campers choose a composite girl (by voting on the eyes, hair, hands, etc., of various campers). This year, Midland took top honors. From now on you can just call Emily the "Figure," Mary Ann, "The Smile," and Joan, "The Hands."

The Methodist Youth Fellowship had a very nice time last weekend. The group of teeners went down to Balmorhea for a day of swimming and relaxing (and sunburning—although this was not intentional). Some of them went down Saturday and spent the night out under the open sky. Sounds like a lot of fun—although we don't envy their burned backs.

That's about all for now . . . we'll be seeing you around.

California, if placed with one end in New York City, would extend to a point near Jacksonville, Fla.

WATER SHOES

Lightweight sandals, ideal as bedroom slippers and beach shoes as well as for use in the shower, bathtub or locker room are designed with molded grooves on the soles to prevent slipping. These water-resistant, flexible polyethylene sandals dry instantly by shaking off the water.

NEW BOBBY PINS

Fingernails and front teeth which are frequently used to pry apart bobby pins will be helped by new bobby pins which have rubber tips. The scientifically perfected rubber covered tips cushion the sharp steel edges and make the tooth opening method perfectly safe, if a girl must resort to that old habit.

City Dad's Ponder RFC's Question

WHITESBURG, GA. — (AP) — Which comes first, the water or the well?

Whitesburg officials asked the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a $50,000 loan to build a water system. They proposed to dig a well and build a tank.

But the RFC said it must be assured of a water supply before granting the loan.

City fathers want to know how they can find water without digging a well, and how they can dig a well without finding some money.
