Lions convention to begin tomorrow

"True Lionism in Action" is the theme for the two-day District 2-T2 Lions Club convention scheduled in Snyder Friday and Saturday.

Snyder's Max von Roeder, current district governor of the vast West Texas district, will preside over the meeting which is expected to attract more than 200 out-of-town guests.

Lions will start arriving Thursday night and Friday morning, and convention activities start at 9 a.m. Friday with a golf tournament at the WTC course.

The first business session will be held from 2 to 5 p.m. Friday at the Willow Park Inn. While Lions are in session, the ladies will be touring the Diamond M Museum and be given a guided shopping tour of Snyder.

A cabinet dinner will be held from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Friday at Willow Park. The banquet and dance that will follow will have a western theme and western dress is encouraged. At the cabinet dinner, Von Roeder will present plaques to members of his district cabinet.

Saturday's activities start with a key member breakfast at Willow Park. The breakfast will recognize district Lions members for their efforts to secure new members. Guest speaker will be District Gov. Pat Waddle of District 2-E2 in Denton.

Following a second business session Saturday morning, Lions will host the Queen's Candidate Luncheon scheduled for poolside at Willow Park. Guest speaker will be Bruce Murray, past-Lions International director from Canada.

Thirty-five area girls will be competing for District Lions Queen to succeed Vicky Falkenberg of Plainview, the reigning queen. The competition is set for 3:30 p.m. Saturday in the high school auditorium.

Candidates include Jennifer Goodwin, representing the host Snyder Lions Club. A senior, she is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Bobby Goodwin.

During Saturday's afternoon session, district Lions will elect a new district governor, lieutenant governor, a director to the Texas Lions Camp and five directors to the Lions Eye Bank. This business session is set for 1:45 to 3 p.m. at Willow Park.

The convention will conclude Saturday night with the traditional Governor's Banquet.

Speaker will be Earl Dotson, a past Lions International Director from Richmond, Va.

Trade deficit

by The Associated Press

The trade deficit, helped by the largest export surge in six years, narrowed to $13.6 billion in March, the Commerce Department reported today.

The trade shortfall was down from a $15.1 billion deficit in February.

Exports increased by 12.9 percent in March, to $21.1 billion — the highest level since March 1981, when they were $22.9 billion.

Coup in Fiji

SUVA, Fiji (AP) — The country's most influential chieftain today called on troops who arrested the prime minister and Cabinet to end their rebellion, and said he was assuming control of the government.

Governor General Ratu Sir Penaia Ganilau, normally a figurehead, declared a state of emergency and issued his appeal on a commercial radio station. Ganilau, an ethnic Fijian, is the representative of Queen Elizabeth II, Fiji's head of state.

To wash cars

Local youth will be sponsoring two fund raising car wash events here Saturday.

Snyder eighth grade students, parents and teachers will sponsor a car wash from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at the Kwik Kar Wash located on College Ave. across from the Towle Park entrance.

It will be a fund raiser for the junior high courtyard renovation project.

Both the exterior and interior of the vehicle will be cleaned. Donations will be accepted with a minimum donation of $7 asked.

Also Saturday, the youth of Colonial Hill Baptist Church will have a car wash at the church parking lot. It will be from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. with donations accepted.

Dog classes

Persons aged 10 years to 17 years may signup at 5:30 p.m. Friday at the kennel for six weeks of dog obedience classes. Classes will be taught on Saturdays beginning May 23.

Those interested are to bring their dogs Friday when they register and current shot records.

The kennel is located one mile out on the Lamesa Highway.

Hearings Friday in legal challenge to new power line

By NOBLE B. YOUNG
SDN Staff Writer

Hearings have been scheduled for 10 a.m. Friday in 132nd District Court regarding a temporary restraining order and a damage suit filed by parties involved in a condemnation lawsuit filed in February by TU Electric Utilities against the heirs of the Winston estate.

The legal action stems from the utility company's effort, now underway, to construct a new power line from west of Snyder to its 37th St. sub-station here. A portion of this line crosses property owned by the Winston family heirs.

The court will be hearing arguments pertaining to an application for a writ of possession and temporary restraining order filed by TU last Thursday and a suit filed by Helen Joyce Hatter on May 8.

The lawsuit filed by Hatter, one of the Winston heirs, asks for damages from TU Electric for

EARLY MORNING ACCIDENT — Emergency medical personnel Robert Callan, Jamey Baldwin and Sterling Williams are pictured here removing Edward Bolka, 53, of Lubbock from the wreckage of his late model Chevrolet just after 7 a.m. Thursday. Air flight called for driver

A 53-year-old Lubbock man was transferred from Cogdell Hospital to Lubbock's St. Mary's Hosital by helicopter ambulance at 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Edward Bolka of Lubbock sustained internal injuries just after 7 a.m. Thursday in a traffic mishap on U.S. Highway 84 in front of the Eiland Ranch southeast of Dermott.

According to Department of Public Safety accident reports, Bolka — who works for American State Bank in Lubbock — was driving toward Snyder when he apparently lost control of his late model Chevrolet.

The Bolka vehicle crossed the highway median and the westbound traffic lanes before striking a crew cab Chevrolet pickup parked on the highway right-of-way in front of the Eiland ranch house.

The pickup had been tagged by DPS troopers Wednesday as abandonded and its owner had not been determined as of noon Thursday.

Phony police officer using telephone ruse

Police reported at least two local incidents Wednesday of an individual using the telephone to masquerade as a police officer, perhaps as a ruse to obtain information regarding valuables in the home.

Police received the first of two reports at 10:19 a.m. Wednesday of a man who called an elderly female resident and told her he was a police officer.

The man then told the woman that he had two suspects in

City, points south enjoy rain

From Local, Wire Reports

The Snyder area and points southeast toward Abilene experienced rainfall and stormy conditions Wednesday evening and Thursday morning.

The heaviest rains in Scurry County were to the south. In the Ira area, some 1.6 inches fell, and some 1.2 inches fell at Dunn.

Snyder's rainfall measured some .68 of an inch. Most of this was noted late Wednesday afternoon with a brief shower falling during the night also.

Other rain totals included Hermleigh, .10, and Fluvanna, .20 of an inch. Lake J.B. Thomas received .80 of an inch as well.

Hail the size of golf balls was reported early Thursday at Rising Star, some 50 miles southeast of Abilene. Wind damage was reported at both Sweetwater and Roscoe.

Civil defense sirens wailed in Abilene from 3 a.m. to 3:30 a.m. Thursday, but it was a false alarm. Police said the siren was triggered by a malfunction in the system.

Death ruled self-inflicted Wednesday

A Snyder man, reportedly in poor health the past several months, took his own life in an entrance way at the Willow Park Inn Wednesday afternoon.

Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway ruled self-inflicted gunshot wound as the cause of death for J.A. Hood Jr., 67, of 3615 Hill Ave. Hood had been undergoing treatment for cancer.

Time of death was placed at about 2:05 p.m. Wednesday.

Callaway said that Hood drove to the motel and parked his car under the awning in front of the main office.

He then walked into the office, told the woman at the desk that he did not feel well and to call a telephone number on his check

The feller on Deep Creek says, "If computers threaten to take over the world, we can always call a congressional hearing and that'll slow 'em down."

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas was one of the senators voting for the bill that raised the speed limit to 65 mph on rural interstate highways.

In Lubbock recently, Sen. Bentsen explained his vote. "I was trying to keep my 95-year-old father out of jail," Bentsen joked. "He still drives and thinks a fuzz buster is standard equipment on his car."

Saturday was the first day of the new speed limit, and we experienced the legal pleasure of driving 65 between Big Spring and Odessa Saturday afternoon.

We hope the switch is only the beginning. Perhaps the new limit will soon be expanded to all four-lane divided highways.

Also, the present law requires the limit to drop to 55 mph inside the corporate limits of towns 50,000 and over. In the case of Midland and Odessa, the city limits can be 10 miles away from any conjested area. This was particularly true of Midland whose west limit extends almost to the airport turnoff.

Someone with their cruise set at 65 mph, unless they watch the signs closely, could find themselves inadvertently speeding. The change is a step in the right direction, but it could still use some fine tuning.

We read a comment from a trucker who was complaining that trucks may only go 60 mph while passenger cars can travel five miles faster.

The trucker called the situation "unsafe" as motorists would be pulling in and out of traffic. Truckers along I-20 have been doing that for years--regardless of the posted speed limit.

Burglary with intent filed here

Police jailed a 25-year-old parolee from the Texas Department of Corrections Thursday morning on a charge of burglary with intent to commit sexual assault.

Freddie Lee Harris of 3206 Ave. G is now being held in the Scurry County Jail without bond on a warrant issued from the TDC for revocation of parole.

He was jailed in connection with an incident Saturday night in which a young couple awoke to find him in their bedroom.

According to police reports, a husband and wife residing at the Colonial Apartments on 25th St. woke up around 2:30 a.m. Sunday to find a black man in the room and attempting to engage in a

Life sentence to be appealed

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for Felipe Molina Uribe say they will appeal the life sentence he received for the murder of a federal narcotics agent.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela issued the sentence to Molina, of Mexico City, through an interpreter on Wednesday.

Molina, 29, was convicted in April of first-degree murder in the shooting death of special agent William Ramos of the Drug Enforcement Administration.

Ramos, 30, was shot in the chest while struggling over a gun during a New Year's Eve drug bust in the parking lot of a South Texas grocery store.

Defense attorney Joseph Connors III said he would appeal the sentence based on several factors, including the defense contention that Molina committed voluntary manslaughter in an incident that took place in the "heat of passion."

The maximum penalty for voluntary manslaughter is 10 years.

With other convictions associated with the shooting, Molina will be eligible for parole in 37 years.

Connors said Molina may have thought he was being robbed, and did not intend to kill a DEA agent.

Before handing down the mandatory life sentence, Vela denied a defense motion for a new trial. He told Molina that although he may not have intended to kill an agent, "you found yourself in a situation that you created," which ended with "serious, adverse results."

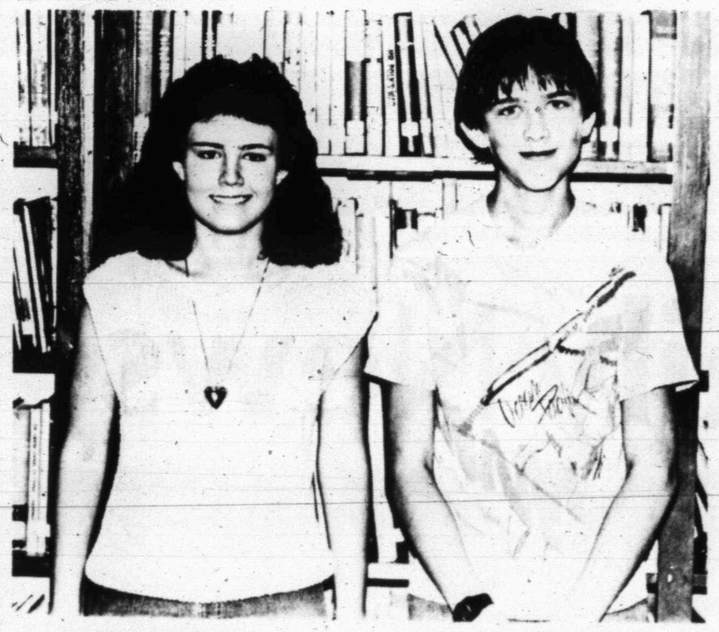

Connors said the appeal also would include Molina's consumption of beer and marijuana before the shooting as mitigating factors.

The shooting took place as Ramos and a DEA informant struggled with Molina over a gun while in Ramos' car.

Ramos and two DEA informants had met Molina at Junior's Supermarket in Las Milpas, a few miles from the Mexican border, where they had arranged to buy 300 pounds of marijuana, according to testimony.

Prior to the murder conviction in April, a jury had found Molina guilty of using a firearm in the commission of a violent crime in the Ramos shooting. Vela sentenced him to five years for the firearms offense.

Molina also had pleaded guilty to conspiracy to possess marijuana and possession of marijuana. The judge sentenced him to 25 years for each drug offense, to run concurrently with the life term.

Dear Abby

Alcoholic's Pathetic Plight Troubles Stranger's Heart

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I placed an ad in our local Lincoln paper to "drive your car to any destination for a fee." This morning a lady called, wanting me to drive her to a retirement home in Texas. After the price was agreed upon, I went to her apartment in Lincoln.

When she met me at the door she was crying, saying she was an alcoholic — and a very sick woman — and could I please help her. The poor woman was shaking, so I suggested we call a family member as I had never seen this lady before in my life. (There is alcoholism in my family, so my heart went out to her.) She said she was 69, but she looked much older. She started shaking badly, and began looking for her bottle. (She had bottles hidden all over the place, but the ones I found were empty!) We visited for half an hour, then she fell asleep on the couch, so I called the apartment manager who turned out to be a young lady about 35. She said, "Leave her alone; don't get involved. Go on home."

I went home, but, Abby, this poor lady has called me five times asking me to come back. Part of me says, "Go back and try to help her," and the other half says, "Listen to the manager — don't get involved."

I feel guilty because like most people, I don't want to get involved, but I can't get this lady out of my mind. She said she has no family. What would you do in a case like this?

W.F., PALMYRA, NEB.

DEAR W.F.: I would go back to try to find out from the woman (or the apartment manager) if she has anyone, anywhere, to notify in case of accident or death. Telephone the retirement home in Texas; the people there may have recent information.

As it stands, she's not competent to live alone. If you can find no one, then contact your county department of social services.

My hat is off to you. That pathetic woman said she has no family. She has. We are all part of the family of man. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: I am so angry and disappointed! Earlier today a good friend of my deceased husband's grabbed me in a sexual way. I was shocked, and told him off in no uncertain terms. If I were interested in a man, it would be for marriage — not a casual romp in the hay.

His wife and I are such good friends, and when my husband was alive, we were a constant foursome. Is there no loyalty, no respect for old friendships? His wife would be devastated if she knew, and my late husband would turn over in his grave if he knew his good friend was such a rat. Abby, this man has destroyed a friendship. Now I am going to be forever uncomfortable when I see him or his wife. Any advice on how to handle this from now on?

INSULTED IN THE MIDWEST

DEAR INSULTED: Since you have already put him in his place, chalk it up as an unfortunate lapse in judgment and try to put it behind you. Why sacrifice your friendship with his wife? A woman whose husband tries to put the make on her friends needs all the friends she can keep. And as unbelievable as it may seem, the poor boob probably thought he was doing you a favor.

Ways to treat scarred liver

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter, who is in her 40s, has been diagnosed as having sclerosing cholangitis. I understand that this is scar tissue around and in the liver. What specialist treats this disease?

DEAR READER — Sclerosing cholangitis is a condition of unknown cause that consists of inflammation and scarring of the bile ducts. This process produces narrowing of the ducts, the small tubes that carry bile from the liver to the gallbladder. Jaundice results, and if the obstruction is not relieved, liver failure develops.

Some experts recommend cortisone to retard the rate of scar formation, and balloon dilatation sometimes is used. During this procedure, a balloon catheter is passed into the larger bile ducts and expanded. The force opens the narrow ducts and permits drainage of bile. As a last resort, surgeons will try to bypass the narrowed segments of duct.

Your daughter should be seen by a gastroenterologist, a physician who specializes in treating diseases of the liver and intestinal tract.

DEAR DR. GOTT — When I become ill, my body temperature drops. How can I raise it?

DEAR READER — Although most people tend to have an increase in body temperature when they are ill with an infection, some patients have a paradoxical response: Their body temperatures fall. This is particularly true during the prodrome of certain viral illnesses — the phase in which a person is infected, but has not yet developed the signs and symptoms of disease.

If your body temperature is about 98 degrees Fahrenheit when you are in good health, you need not worry about it. If you consistently have a low temperature, you should be checked by a doctor, because certain glandular abnormalities, such as hypothyroidism, are associated with low basal temperatures and must be treated. I don't know of any substance that you could — or should — take to raise your temperature.

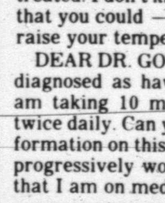

DEAR DR. GOTT — I recently was diagnosed as having narcolepsy and am taking 10 milligrams of Ritalin twice daily. Can you give me more information on this disorder? Will it get progressively worse or stabilize now that I am on medication?

DEAR READER — Narcolepsy, a disease of unknown cause, is characterized by inappropriate, uncontrollable urges to sleep. These are called sleep attacks or sleep paralysis. The attacks occur suddenly, and often without warning. They can interfere with eating, talking, driving and any normal activity.

Narcolepsy usually begins in adolescence and is a permanent affliction. However, the attacks can be prevented or reduced by using stimulant medicine, such as Ritalin. Narcolepsy does not become worse with time, so once your sleep attacks have been stabilized, you need not worry that the illness will progress.

If you're having an operation, you should know all you can about it. Dr. Gott's new Health Report, AN INFORMED APPROACH TO SURGERY, covers everything from second opinions to outpatient surgery. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

Your Birthday

Friday, May 15, 1987

Your greatest benefits are likely to be found where you'll least expect them. Synchronize yourself with the tide of events instead of swimming against it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It's a sensible policy to protect what we feel is ours. Today, however, be careful that you are not overly possessive or selfish. Major changes are ahead for Taurus in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you fail to cooperate today, don't expect more from others. You'll be treated the same way you treat them. The choice is yours.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A temperamental co-worker may be even more difficult than usual to get along with today. If you ignite the fuse, you'll regret it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's best not to try to mix friends today who don't get along well with one another. This might turn out to be a sure-fire recipe for trouble.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The outside world might not treat you kindly today. Be careful not to target your anger on innocent family members.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be selective today about whom you let in on your latest plans. Don't discuss your intentions with an associate whose response is usually more destructive than discerning.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Unreasonable material desires could cause you to be discontented with your present lot in life. Stop worrying about what the other guys have and start enjoying what you possess.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Maintaining harmony between you and your mate today could be a delicate, balancing procedure. If either of you get off on the wrong foot, a rumble may ensue.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You won't feel free to enjoy yourself today if you fail to give proper attention to an important responsibility. It's something that shouldn't be swept under the rug.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't push yourself too hard today if you're involved in some form of strenuous physical activity. It won't be worth tomorrow's sore muscles.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Success is in the offing for you today, provided you don't put more pressures on yourself than the event or situations warrant.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) To maintain peaceful relationships today, keep in mind that discussions with friends aren't the forum for the United Nations. Avoid unreasonable topics.

Woman settles her complaint

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — A woman who claimed her 40-20-36 figure and its distracting effect on male co-workers got her fired from Caterpillar Inc. has settled her 7-year-old sex discrimination complaint, a state official said.

Luanna Cashatt claimed she was fired in February 1980 because the company decided it would be easier to dismiss her than to discipline the men. Caterpillar maintained she was fired because she couldn't handle her job.

She said male co-workers greeted her with a hearty round of applause on her first day of work at the Mount Joy plant and was fired 22 days later, purportedly for a clerical error.

"I can't help it," she said in a 1983 interview. "Everybody in my family is, uh, well-endowed. I did my job and if the men came to look, then that's the company's problem, not mine. I didn't encourage it."

Her complaint sought reinstatement, back pay and at least $200,000 damages.

The settlement was reached last week, days before the Iowa Civil Rights Commission was to consider her case, said Louis Martin, a commission spokesman. The terms were not disclosed by agreement of both parties.

The case received national attention in 1983 after a commission hearing officer found probable cause to believe Ms. Cashatt had been subjected to sexual harassment and fired, at least in part, because of her appearance.

Local teacher judges in Lubbock piano auditions

Lynn Bethel, local piano teacher, is judging in the Lubbock Piano Guild auditions at Garland Art Center this week. She recently adjudicated Lamesa's guild auditions.

Bethel has taught piano since 1957. She is an active member of NMTA, TMTA, LMTA and American College of Musicians. A piano guild member since 1958, she is also in the membership of TFMC, Musical Coterie and the International Piano Teaching Foundation.

Bethel has been a national and Texas certified teacher of piano by Music Teachers National Association since 1961. She was in Who's Who of American Women '77-'78 and was inducted into the Piano Guild's Hall of Fame in June of 1968.

Certified by the American College of Musicians, Bethel received her batchelor of music degree from Baylor University in 1957 and her master of music degree in piano from Hardin-Simmons Univeristy in 1974. She has completed post doctoral work with Teachers College, Columbia University, 1986.

Bethel students have consistently won awards, scholarships and superior ratings in all competitions.

Amitie club cleans highway

Amitie Study Club recently participated in the "trash off" sponsored by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. Amitie is the only organization in this area to "adopt-a-highway." Club members picked up 92 bags of trash during an afternoon's work.

The program is aimed at increasing community involvement in the department's anti-litter campaign. Under the program, civic organizations or non-profit organizations can adopt a two-mile stretch of highway and are responsible for picking up the litter along that section at least twice a year. It is the first effort of its kind in the nation.

Once an organization has adopted a stretch of highway, the department will place signs at each end of the two-mile section, giving credit to the adopting group. As a result, attention of the public is directed toward the severe litter problem that exists on public right of way.

Image meets for honors banquet

The women's support group "Image" held its end of semester banquet May 7 at the Senior Citizen's Center.

Jo Ann Bishop, group president, recognized Pat Blakely and Dan Osborn for their continuing efforts in support of the group.

Blakely presented seven women with framed certificates in honor of their completion of G.E.D. tests. They are Julia Hernandez, Maria Alaniz, Vivian Hill, Cindy Lee, Dede Oliver, Aurora Mirdes and Cindy Garcia.

The next "Image" meeting is set for June 23.

Locals place in art display

Two local members of the Snyder Palette Club entered work in the annual spring art show held in Post from April 28 to May 3. Over 300 entries were shown.

Karen Rinker's miniature oil painting, "Cactus," won first place in its division.

LaVerne Lee entered a miniature watercolor, "Two Alone," winning third place. Her watercolor, "Milkweed Pods," won honorable mention in its class.

Dr. David Rindlesbacker, professor of art at West Texas State University in Canyon, judged the show.

The United States annexed New Mexico in 1846.

Leadership programs are available locally

Gingah Williamson, extension homemaker, and Kathryn Roberts, county extension agent, attended a Family Community Leadership Seminar recently held in Ceta Canyon. This educational program is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Extension Homemakers Association.

FCL is designed to increase the leadership capabilities and involvement of women and others in the public policy and decision making process. Teaching materials were developed through a grant from the W.K. Kellog Foundation by six western state Cooperative Extension Services and Extension Homemakers Associations.

The first workshop began in March with sessions entitled "Can You Lead," "Conflict Management," "Preparing for Change" and "How to Use Power and Power Tools."

Williamson and Roberts are available for community programs and may be reached through the extension office at 573-5423.

You can't get there from here

Although natural bidding methods usually lead you to a contract in the partnership's longest suit (5-3, 5-4 or 6-4 fits), playing in a 4-4 fit may be better, enabling you to discard a loser on the last card of your five-card side-suit. But getting to that contract might not be easy.

After North's raise to three hearts, South bid three spades, a cue-bid of course, but also a natural bid. North cue-bid his club ace and South cue-bid his diamond ace. In a sense, North had nothing more to show, but he did have four spades. And he was smart enough to recognize that if South also held four spades, that might just be the right place to play a slam contract. So he bid four spades. South wondered whether that four-spade bid was natural or showing a control like a singleton spade. South gambled on spades as the right trump suit. When he bid five spades, North went to six.

Diamonds were led. Declarer won, cashed the A-K of spades, led a club to the ace and ruffed a club with his spade 10. He then led a low spade toward dummy's Q-9 to pick up West's jack. On dummy's last spade, declarer threw his small diamond. He then took the remaining hearts to make seven. Can you bid it? Only if you're looking at all the cards.

Sorority sets new officers

The Iota Psi Chapter 2259 of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met May 6 for the monthly business meeting and officer installation. The installation table was decorated with the ESA banner, blue candles and yellow jonquils.

During the business session, discussion was heard for the types of programs to be presented during the next club year. The group will choose a needy child or family for club adoption in September.

Wanda Eicke, memorial fund chairperson, reported the balance on hand with scholarships paid to date. The club will sponsor another student or nurse attending Western Texas College.

Eicke was hostess for the evening; refreshments were served.

Iota Psi will hold its next meeting Sept. 2.

"I WAS WHOOPIN' IT UP WITH SOME BUCKEROOS AN' SHE THREW ME IN THE SLAMMER FOR DISTURBIN' THE PEACE"

Milwaukee keeps series alive; Detroit ends Atlanta's hopes

by The Associated Press

It had been over two years since Milwaukee won in Boston and five months since anybody beat the Celtics on the parquet floor, but that was secondary to Bucks' Coach Don Nelson.

"It probably will mean something some day," Nelson said after his club downed Boston 129-124 Wednesday night, cutting the Celtics' lead to 3-2 in the best-of-seven NBA Eastern Conference semifinals. "All it means now is a nice win for us, a great win. It kept us from being eliminated."

The Celtics, who last lost at home to the Los Angeles Lakers on Dec. 12, had a streak of 33 consecutive victories and a run of 11 straight wins over the Bucks in Boston.

The Bucks' victory kept alive their chances of facing the Detroit Pistons in the Eastern Conference finals. The Pistons wrapped up their series with Atlanta on Wednesday night, rallying from a 13-point deficit in the third quarter to beat the Hawks 104-96 and win four games to one.

In the Western Conference, Houston, trailing 3-2, will play the SuperSonics in Seattle tonight. They are fighting to play the Lakers, who eliminated Golden State 4-1 on Tuesday.

Terry Cummings paced the Bucks in final quarter, scoring 14 points in the last 12 minutes, including the game-winner with 51 seconds remaining.

Milwaukee was led by Sidney Moncrief, who scored a career playoff high 33 points, Cummings with 23 and Jack Sikma with 21.

For Boston, Robert Parish had 30 points, Kevin McHale 27 and Larry Bird 26.

Boston gets another chance to end the series when Game 6 is played at Milwuakee on Friday night.

Pistons 104, Hawks 96

Detroit will sit and wait for Friday's outcome with some sense of invincibility.

"I told Vinnie (Johnson) in the fourth quarter when we were down 11 points that we were going to win," Isiah Thomas said. "I said to him, 'Hey, we can win it. Don't put your head down. You've got to come through for us. No one else can do it. You've got to get hot.' He just said 'OK.'"

Johnson scored 15 of his 17 points and Thomas 12 of his 19 points in the final quarter as the Pistons outscored the Hawks 39-19.

"There's no reason," Johnson said trying to explain the surge. "That's what a streak shooter is all about I guess."

Atlanta's Randy Wittman, who finished with 21 points, said fourth-quarter turnovers killed the Hawks.

"We were up by 12 points and then had two straight turnovers," he said. "Instead of the lead being 16, they hit two baskets and it's eight and it put a little fire into their game."

Joe Dumars led Detroit with 21 points while Adrian Dantley had 17 and Mahorn 10.

TKD junior meet set Saturday in Abilene

ABILENE -- The 5th Texas State Junior Tae Kwon Do Championships will be held here May 16 at the Mabee Sports Complex on the Hardin-Simmons University campus.

Between 700 and 1,000 competitors, including more than 20 from Snyder, are expected to attend the competition, which begins at 9 a.m.

Competitors range in age from 6 to 17 years and will vie in Poomse (stylized forms) and Sparring.

Any competitor placing in one of the top four positions in any of the 240 age-weight divisions becomes eligible for the Junior National Tournament, to be held June 20-21 in Tulsa, Okla. Those placing in the top three positions at the national level will be invited to compete in the 1987 Junior Olympics.

Tickets are $3 for adults, $2 for children or $5 for a family. Any profits will be used to finance competitors to the national tournament.

SMU running back...

Atkins signs pact with CFL

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Former Southern Methodist University running back Jeff Atkins, overlooked in the recent NFL draft after legal and drug problems, has signed a free agent contract with Winnipeg of the Canadian Football League.

Atkins, the No. 9 career rusher in Southwest Conference history, signed a two-year, non-guaranteed contract Wednesday with an option for a third year, said Joe Mack, the Blue Bombers' director of player personnel.

Atkins will be paid between $50,000 and $60,000 per year, Mack told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Atkins, a high school all-America at Fort Worth Eastern Hills, gained 3,260 yards for SMU, but NFL scouts said he lacked the size and speed to make it in the National Football League.

The 5-foot-11, 217-pound Atkins was timed at 4.8 seconds over 40 yards.

Also, Atkins admitted himself into a drug rehabilitation center last December for treatment of cocaine dependency. He stayed one month.

Shortly after his release from Baylor Medical Drug Treatment Center in Dallas, a man driving Atkins' car was shot and killed in a Dallas apartment complex. Atkins said he did not know the driver, and that he had loaned the car to a friend, who had in turn loaned it to the driver.

"That is a concern to us," Mack said of Atkins' recent off-the-field problems. "We've been assured all that is in the past, but we will monitor the situation."

Atkins gained 796 yards on 201 carries last fall at SMU. His best year with the Mustangs was his first, in 1983, when he set a SWC record for freshmen by gaining 937 yards.

Other former SWC players on the Blue Bombers' roster are Baylor quarterback Tom Muecke, Texas Christian linebacker Darrell Patterson, and Texas Tech defensive end Hasson Arbubakrr.

Springer wins county roping

Ty Springer was the all-around winner at the Western Texas College Booster Club County Roping, held here last week.

Springer won the calf roping and teamed with Perry Echols to win the team roping.

He received an all-around award, but his buckles in the individual events went to others, according to a policy of the roping, which allows a winner to receive a buckle only once in three years.

Tommy Bynum was second in the calf roping and took that buckle while the second place heeler in the team roping was Johnny Eicke.

Sponsors included Colorado City Livestock Auction, Everybody's Thriftway, The Shack, Hays Ranch, Scurry County Ag Center, West Texas State Bank, American State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Bar-H-Bar, Ezell-Key Feed and Seed, Snyder Farm and Ranch, Koda Kountry and Bill Eiland.

Directors were Aubrey Brewster and Keith Hackfeld. Others helping included Jerry Baird, M.L. Duke, the Colorado City Ice House and Tommy Marricle.

The roping added $2,200 to the WTC Booster Club fund.

Rangers 8, Yankees 6

Larry Parrish drove in three runs for the third straight game and Don Slaught's two-run homer capped a four-run fourth inning that led Texas over New York.

Parrish, who has driven home 19 runs in 11 games, had an RBI single in the fourth, a run-scoring double in the sixth and a sacrifice fly in the eighth.

Jose Guzman, 2-2, got the victory and Dale Mohorcic earned his fourth save as the Rangers won their fourth straight game. Tommy John, 2-1, took the loss.

Steve Buechele also homered for Texas and Claudell Washington hit a two-run shot for the host Yankees.

Phil Cavarretta, a first baseman, played in three losing World Series for the Chicago Cubs, 1935-38-45, but still managed to post a .317 batting average.

RUUD® IS PROUD OF THESE NUMBERS

They represent the range of the Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratios of Ruud's central air conditioning units. The higher the S.E.E.R. number, the greater the energy efficiency, and the higher the efficiency, the lower monthly cooling costs will be.

If your present air conditioning unit was made more than 10 years ago, it's probably less efficient than any unit Ruud® now makes.

For example, even Ruud's budget model has a S.E.E.R. range of 8 or above, while Ruud's most efficient, the ADVANTAGE,™ offers S.E.E.R. numbers above 12, more than twice the efficiency of many older units.

Call today. Take Advantage and get Ruud's energy efficiency and save on cooling costs.

Judge raced time for life saving-surgery

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas appellate judge who was facing death from a declining liver almost missed a chance for a new life when an electronic pager failed after doctors located a donor liver.

After being tracked down by state troopers, Judge F.P. "Pete" Benavides underwent a liver transplant on April 30. Doctors at Methodist Hospital said he was in good condition and should be back at work within 60 days.

"God has given me a new life," Benavides said Wednesday from his hospital bed. "I was one of the lucky ones."

Dr. Hartwell Whisennand, a cardiovascular surgeon at Methodist, said Benavides was placed on a list of transplant candidates after his liver went into decline earlier this year.

Benavides, said Whisennand, is a big man who needed a liver from a donor of about the same size. Such organs, said the doctor, are rare.

Hospital tests established the tissue and blood type for Benavides and he was sent home to Corpus Christi to await a donor. The judge was told to be ready to respond quickly if a donor was found. He was equipped with an electronic pager so he could be contacted immediately.

On April 29, a 21-year-old man in Oklahoma City put a gun to his head and pulled the trigger. The family agreed to donate his organs.

"The judge's name popped up on the list and they called me," said Whisennand. He left immediately for Oklahoma City.

While he was en route, Methodist Hospital staffers tried to locate Benavides. But the electronic pager failed to work and the judge could not be found. Time was running out.

Once a liver is removed from a donor, it is viable for only eight hours.

"We were concerned that I would get back with the liver and the judge would not be here for the surgery," said Dr. Whisennand.

Hospital staffers notified the Texas Department of Public Safety and the highway patrol searched the Corpus Christi area until Benavides was found. He was rushed to Houston and was in surgery within hours.

The operation was successful. Whisennand said Benavides endured one rejection episode very well and now is in good condition.

The judge said he was still stunned that he required a liver transplant.

"I spent a long period of time doing exercises, jogging and eating health foods, and I'm only 40," he said. "It came as quite a shock, a bolt out of the blue, that I needed a new liver."

Whisennand said Benevides' liver problem started with a case of hepatitis at an early age.

"Most livers regenerate, but his did not for some reason," said the surgeon. "He ended up with a scar that just wouldn't detoxify."

The judge said he had not been told the name of his liver donor, but added, "I am grateful."

"I was quite moved. It's wonderful that there are families who agree to organ donations in order to keep someone else alive," he said. "They'll allow me to see my kids grow up and to live my life."

The judge and his wife have two daughters.

Benavides is one of six judges on the 13th Court of Appeals, which sits in Corpus Christi. He was appointed in 1984 and was elected to another term in 1986, running unopposed. He once served as county court-at-law judge and state district judge in Hidalgo County.

County employees are organizing a blood drive in Edinburg, the county seat.

"The people I have talked to are very concerned about it," said Pete Leal, Benavides' uncle, who is coordinating the drive set for May 21.

"He's pretty well respected here," said Leal, a deputy county clerk. "He was one of the youngest district judges they ever had here."

County Judge J. Edgar Ruiz said, "Pete has a great deal of distinction both professionally and in the community. To this point, we've gotten a great response."

Benavides said he knows of others in the Rio Grande Valley, where he grew up, who also are in need of transplants and he hopes to find a way to help them find donors.

Whisennand said Benavides will be out of the hospital within 30 days and then will remain in Houston for 10 to 15 days so Methodist doctors can monitor his progress. A few weeks after that, said the doctor, the judge should be back on the bench.

"It's a wonderful feeling," said Benavides. "God's been good to me."

Step taken toward testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is putting the United States on a "slippery slope" by notifying Congress he has the legal right to order new tests of "Star Wars" weapons in space despite Soviet objections, a leading Senate Democrat says.

Reagan's legal advisers, headed by Abraham D. Sofaer of the State Department, based their Star Wars judgment on a study of negotiations of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty.

"As the record shows," Sofaer said Wednesday, "the Soviets adamantly opposed the regulation of unknown devices based on future technologies and ultimately agreed only to limit their deployment."

The tests would be to see if research conducted in American laboratories since Reagan in 1983 unveiled the Strategic Defense Initiative, as Star Wars is known formally, has produced weapons capable of shooting down Soviet missiles before they reached U.S. territory.

Senior U.S. arms control adviser Paul H. Nitze said some lasers, other types of directed-energy weapons and infra-red sensor systems all might be tested in space without violating the 1972 treaty.

But Nitze said there was no definite decision whether kinetic kill vehicles, another technology, could be tested too.

The Senate Armed Services Committee moved, meanwhile, to ban spending for tests that flout a strict version of the accord.

The findings were announced Wednesday by Sofaer, a former New York judge, and Nitze, a member of the U.S. delegation in 1972 and adviser to Reagan and Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

Austin update

Filibuster threats stall abortion bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Threats from several senators to filibuster against an abortion regulation bill have put the controversial measure on indefinite hold.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Wednesday he will not allow a vote on the bill on the Senate floor because the filibusters that might ensue would take up too much of the body's limited time.

"Enough senators have told me that they would filibuster an abortion bill from now on so that I can't tie up the Senate for the rest of the session while budgetary matters are pending," Hobby said.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, is carrying a bill that would strip physicians of their medical licenses for performing abortions during the third trimester of pregnancy.

Although Lyon said he had 27 solid votes for the bill, some senators said they would only support it if Lyon did not attempt to reinsert criminal penalties against doctors who perform late-term abortions.

House slated for vote on lottery

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gib Lewis says he won't twist arms to gain crucial House votes for the lottery proposal, but he is making it clear the state needs the money the game of chance could raise.

The House planned to debate and vote today on a proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize the lottery, which could mean $600 million for the state in 1988-89.

By most accounts, lottery backers are within a handful of the 100 votes they need in the 150-member House to send the proposal to the Senate.

If approved by lawmakers, the lottery proposal would go on the November general election ballot. That ballot already includes a proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize horse and dog race betting.

Minimum wage increase voted on

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill that would increase the state minimum wage by $1.95 — to $3.35 an hour — and would extend the wage to farm workers who are now exempt.

Senators also approved a bill Wednesday that would require students seeking a teaching certificate after Sept. 1, 1991, to have a bachelor's degree with an academic major other than education. The bill would limit to 18 the number of semester hours of education courses required for certification.

"Less than one-third of the farm workers will be affected," sponsoring Sen. Tati Santiesteban said of the minimum wage bill. "What this bill does is extend the coverage to those who are not covered by the federal act, including farm workers."

The federal minimum wage of $3.35 already covers workers on larger farms. Workers on medium-sized farms are covered by the state minimum wage of $1.40, and they would get a pay raise. Smaller farms are not now covered by any minimum wage, but the bill would cover such workers.

Winston heirs file damage suit

leaving herself and any "unknown remaindermen" out of the original condemnation suit.

Legal action in the matter began in Feburary when TU filed a condemnation lawsuit in the local court seeking an easement across the Winston property for construction of the power transmission line.

The land area at issue — according to the documents filed with the court — totals some "20 acres more or less."

TU filed the condemnation suit on Feb. 26. This was required since the landowners would not voluntarily sell the property.

Named as defendants were J.R. Joyce and wife Florentz Joyce, Sam B. Casey, Dorothy Casey and Jess Everett as tenant.

Everett was included in the suit due to the fact that he leases a portion of the Winston land immediately south of Western Texas College.

Following the filing of the original suit, Judge Gene Dulaney appointed a panel of three special commissioners — Bill Eiland, Jack Denman, and Roswell Rigsby — to hear arguments in the case and set a monetary award for the defendants.

The special commission met on March 26 and awarded the Winston heirs a total of $56,990 for the land in question with $3,500 of that total to be paid to Everett for damages he would suffer due to construction of the line.

On April 13, attorney's representing TU filed a motion with the court objecting to the "grossly excessive" award handed down by the commission and asking for a further hearing.

On April 20, the defendants in the case filed a motion to withdraw the proceeds of the award from the registry of the court and the $56,990 was released to them.

Contract construction crews for TU then began preliminary work on the line in May.

Last Thursday, TU returned to court with an application for a writ of possession and a temporary restraining order.

In that application, TU alleged that the defendants had attempted to deny the construction crews access to the property on May 4.

Dulaney granted the temporary restraining order at that time and construction work on the line began with the defendants under a court order not to interfere.

According to Jack Smartt of the local TU office, work on the line was continuing under that order Thursday morning.

Part of Friday's hearing will be dedicated to arguments regarding if the order should continue in force.

Also last Thursday, the defendants filed an answer to TU's objection to the award in which they claim additional damage from the construction and asked for additional damage awards totaling some $100,000.

No hearing date has been set for either TU's objection to the award or the defendant's answer to the objection.

The last move in the suit was made Friday when Helen Hatter — daughter of J.R. and Florentz Joyce — filed a new and separate lawsuit against TU alleging damage to her interests by virtue of her being left out of the original suit.

Hatter is claiming interest in the property under the will of her grandmother — LeClaire Winston — and alleges that she should have been included as a party to the original suit.

She asked in her suit for a temporary restraining order stopping construction of the power line, but that request was not granted.

She also asked for actual damages from TU in the amount of $50,000 actual damages and $50,000 exemplary damages.

Her request for a restraining order against TU will also be heard Friday.

Hatter and the other Winston heirs are represented in the cases by Tahoka attorney Callaway Huffaker.

TU electric is represented locally by the firm of Cotton and Cotton and by S.G. Johndroe of the Fort Worth firm of Cantey, Hanger, Gooch, Munn & Collins.

custody and one of them had a piece of paper in his possession with her name and address.

The caller reportedly told the woman he was going to release the suspects. Then, he began questioning her about any money or jewelry she might have in her residence.

Detectives theorize that the phone caller is attempting to size up a potential burglary target or lure the individual called into some type of confidence game.

WTC COMMENCEMENT — Four graduating students will be the featured speakers at the Western Texas College commencement program due at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the central courtyard. Pictured are three of the students, Paul Smith of Van Horn; Paula Stewart of Sweetwater; and Betty Lovelady of Snyder. Also shown is Jim Rambo, associate professor of drama, who will give the faculty response. Todd Danley of Mesilla Park, N.M. will be the fourth student speaker. (SDN Staff Photo)

NATO talks begin

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — NATO defense ministers began two days of talks today on the security implications of a proposed superpower accord to eliminate hundreds of land-based nuclear missiles from Europe.

U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger met privately with his West German counterpart, Manfred Woerner, before all 14 defense chiefs started their closed-door session in a Stavanger hotel ringed by armed security forces. Details of their talks were not immediately available.

The West German government has been split over the latest Soviet proposal for eliminating all superpower medium- and shorter-range nuclear missiles from Europe. Woerner has expressed grave doubts about the offer, while Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher has leaned toward acceptance of it.

In remarks released today from a private meeting Wednesday between Weinberger and a group of Norwegian politicians, the defense secretary denied the United States was pressuring West Germany to make up its mind on the arms issue.

sexual act with the woman.

The suspect fled the apartment — breaking out a front window — after the woman screamed and the husband woke up.

Police say Harris entered the apartment by opening an unlocked window at the rear.

Harris was previously convicted of burglary and rape in Scurry County in 1980 and given a five-year prison sentence at that time.

Local authorities do not know what Harris was on parole for at this time since he had been sentenced to TDC from another jurisdiction.

Three accidents investigated

Police investigated three minor traffic accidents Wednesday.

Involved in the first — at 11:55 a.m. in the 3400 Block of College Ave. — were a 1975 Ford driven by Pilar Luna of Ira and a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Scott Matthew Cole of 2801 37th St.

The second mishap occurred in the construction zone at the intersection of 37th St. and College Ave. at 3:38 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1978 Mack dump truck driven by Emmitt Elgene Folsom of Abilene and a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Terry Blaine Hildreth of Rt. 1, Snyder.

The 4200 Block of College Ave. was the scene of the day's third mishap at 3:57 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1985 Chevrolet driven by Dawn Etta Patrick of 2416 Gilmore Ave. and a 1976 Dodge driven by Harvey Guerrero of 202 Elm St.

No injuries resulted from any of the three mishaps.

Suspect faces more charges

Police detectives say they cleared a recent theft case Wednesday.

Investigators have charged 17-year-old Ruben Castenada of Snyder — arrested on three other theft charges last Friday — with the March 23 theft of tools from a pickup truck owned by Kermit Ford of 502 33rd St.

Wednesday's charge brings the total against Castenada to five.

In other action Wednesday, police jailed one man on a warrant for failure to appear in county court on a misdemeanor charge.

book if he did not return in 10 minutes.

He returned to the office a short while later, left his hat at the front desk, then took a chair to a rear entrance at the motel's southwest corner.

At this point, he apparently sat down, pulled a .38 cal. pistol from a sack he had been carrying and shot himself once in the head.

Services for Hood are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel. He was born in Hermleigh on June 3, 1919.

His wife, one son and one sister survives him.

Weekend restaurant now open

An "all you can eat" fish restaurant, open on Thursday, Friday and Saturday only, opened last week and will mark its second weekend beginning this Thursday.

M&D Fish Place is located in the restaurant building (formerly the Smorgasbord) at the Phillips 66 Truck Stop on East Hwy.

Its owners are Peggy Grinslade and Chloanne Lindsey.

Hours Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be from 5 until 9:30 p.m.

Featured on the menu is southern fried fish, all you can eat, for $6.95. Included is pinto beans, cole slaw, hush-puppies, french fries and a beverage. Other menu items, to include a salad bar, chicken fried steak and hamburgers, are offered also.

Obituaries

J. A. Hood, Jr.

Services for J. A. Hood, Jr. 67, of 3615 Hill are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Bob Metzger, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens.

He died at 2:05 p.m. Wednesday of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was born June 3, 1919 in Hermleigh.

He was a rancher and was married to LaVerne Fleming in 1943 in Breckenridge. She survives.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church and had lived in Scurry County for 22 years, moving here from Stevens County.

He is survived by a son, Jim Buck Hood of Kingwood; two grandchildren; one sister, Mary Curnette of Snyder; and several nieces and nephews.

FLORA CRAIG

Flora Craig

Graveside services for Flora Craig, 77, of Queen Creek, Ariz. will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Snyder Cemetery with Glenn McCathern of Colonial Hill Baptist Church officiating.

She died June 14, 1986 in Phoenix, Ariz. She was born April 23, 1909 in St. James, Arkansas.

She was the daughter of Thomas Harlan and Birdie Leon (Kelley) Graham who moved the family from St. James, Ark. to East Texas in 1913 and to Scurry County in 1927. She had one sister and four brothers.

She was married to James Hobart Holman. Surviving children of that union include a son, James Jr. and a daughter, Earlene L. Taylor, both of Queen Creek, Ariz. Grandchildren include Jack F. Taylor, Jr. of Mesa, Ariz. and Wendy Steiner of Flagstaff, Ariz. She is also survived by three grandchildren.

She was later married to Robert Clair Craig, now deceased. Step-children who grew up in the home include John Craig of Florida and Lori Foster of Los Cruces, N.M.

HHS sets banquet

The Hermleigh Booster Club All Activities Banquet is slated Saturday and ticket reservations were to have been made by Thursday, according to school sponsors.

Tickets were to be reserved by calling the school office at 863-2451. Adult and non-Hermleigh School student tickets are $7 each and Hermleigh student tickets are $3.50 each.

The banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. at the Towle Park National Guard Armory. Guest speaker will be Bob Walsh, the Dallas-based commentator for the Texas State News Network.

A barbecue meal will be served and a dance will follow.

Judge raced time for life saving-surgery

HOUSTON (AP) — A Texas appellate judge who was facing death from a declining liver almost missed a chance for a new life when an electronic pager failed after doctors located a donor liver.

After being tracked down by state troopers, Judge F.P. "Pete" Benavides underwent a liver transplant on April 30. Doctors at Methodist Hospital said he was in good condition and should be back at work within 60 days.

"God has given me a new life," Benavides said Wednesday from his hospital bed. "I was one of the lucky ones."

Dr. Hartwell Whisennand, a cardiovascular surgeon at Methodist, said Benavides was placed on a list of transplant candidates after his liver went into decline earlier this year.

Benavides, said Whisennand, is a big man who needed a liver from a donor of about the same size. Such organs, said the doctor, are rare.

Hospital tests established the tissue and blood type for Benavides and he was sent home to Corpus Christi to await a donor. The judge was told to be ready to respond quickly if a donor was found. He was equipped with an electronic pager so he could be contacted immediately.

On April 29, a 21-year-old man in Oklahoma City put a gun to his head and pulled the trigger. The family agreed to donate his organs.

"The judge's name popped up on the list and they called me," said Whisennand. He left immediately for Oklahoma City.

While he was en route, Methodist Hospital staffers tried to locate Benavides. But the electronic pager failed to work and the judge could not be found. Time was running out.

Once a liver is removed from a donor, it is viable for only eight hours.

"We were concerned that I would get back with the liver and the judge would not be here for the surgery," said Dr. Whisennand.

Hospital staffers notified the Texas Department of Public Safety and the highway patrol searched the Corpus Christi area until Benavides was found. He was rushed to Houston and was in surgery within hours.

The operation was successful. Whisennand said Benavides endured one rejection episode very well and now is in good condition.

The judge said he was still stunned that he required a liver transplant.

"I spent a long period of time doing exercises, jogging and eating health foods, and I'm only 40," he said. "It came as quite a shock, a bolt out of the blue, that I needed a new liver."

Whisennand said Benevides' liver problem started with a case of hepatitis at an early age.

"Most livers regenerate, but his did not for some reason," said the surgeon. "He ended up with a scar that just wouldn't detoxify."

The judge said he had not been told the name of his liver donor, but added, "I am grateful."

"I was quite moved. It's wonderful that there are families who agree to organ donations in order to keep someone else alive," he said. "They'll allow me to see my kids grow up and to live my life."

The judge and his wife have two daughters.

Benavides is one of six judges on the 13th Court of Appeals, which sits in Corpus Christi. He was appointed in 1984 and was elected to another term in 1986, running unopposed. He once served as county court-at-law judge and state district judge in Hidalgo County.

County employees are organizing a blood drive in Edinburg, the county seat.

"The people I have talked to are very concerned about it," said Pete Leal, Benavides' uncle, who is coordinating the drive set for May 21.

"He's pretty well respected here," said Leal, a deputy county clerk. "He was one of the youngest district judges they ever had here."

County Judge J. Edgar Ruiz said, "Pete has a great deal of distinction both professionally and in the community. To this point, we've gotten a great response."

Benavides said he knows of others in the Rio Grande Valley, where he grew up, who also are in need of transplants and he hopes to find a way to help them find donors.

Whisennand said Benavides will be out of the hospital within 30 days and then will remain in Houston for 10 to 15 days so Methodist doctors can monitor his progress. A few weeks after that, said the doctor, the judge should be back on the bench.

"It's a wonderful feeling," said Benavides. "God's been good to me."

Step taken toward testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is putting the United States on a "slippery slope" by notifying Congress he has the legal right to order new tests of "Star Wars" weapons in space despite Soviet objections, a leading Senate Democrat says.

Reagan's legal advisers, headed by Abraham D. Sofaer of the State Department, based their Star Wars judgment on a study of negotiations of the 1972 Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty.

"As the record shows," Sofaer said Wednesday, "the Soviets adamantly opposed the regulation of unknown devices based on future technologies and ultimately agreed only to limit their deployment."

The tests would be to see if research conducted in American laboratories since Reagan in 1983 unveiled the Strategic Defense Initiative, as Star Wars is known formally, has produced weapons capable of shooting down Soviet missiles before they reached U.S. territory.

Senior U.S. arms control adviser Paul H. Nitze said some lasers, other types of directed-energy weapons and infra-red sensor systems all might be tested in space without violating the 1972 treaty.

But Nitze said there was no definite decision whether kinetic kill vehicles, another technology, could be tested too.

The Senate Armed Services Committee moved, meanwhile, to ban spending for tests that flout a strict version of the accord.

The findings were announced Wednesday by Sofaer, a former New York judge, and Nitze, a member of the U.S. delegation in 1972 and adviser to Reagan and Secretary of State George P. Shultz.

Austin update

Filibuster threats stall abortion bills

AUSTIN (AP) — Threats from several senators to filibuster against an abortion regulation bill have put the controversial measure on indefinite hold.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said Wednesday he will not allow a vote on the bill on the Senate floor because the filibusters that might ensue would take up too much of the body's limited time.

"Enough senators have told me that they would filibuster an abortion bill from now on so that I can't tie up the Senate for the rest of the session while budgetary matters are pending," Hobby said.

Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, is carrying a bill that would strip physicians of their medical licenses for performing abortions during the third trimester of pregnancy.

Although Lyon said he had 27 solid votes for the bill, some senators said they would only support it if Lyon did not attempt to reinsert criminal penalties against doctors who perform late-term abortions.

House slated for vote on lottery

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gib Lewis says he won't twist arms to gain crucial House votes for the lottery proposal, but he is making it clear the state needs the money the game of chance could raise.

The House planned to debate and vote today on a proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize the lottery, which could mean $600 million for the state in 1988-89.

By most accounts, lottery backers are within a handful of the 100 votes they need in the 150-member House to send the proposal to the Senate.

If approved by lawmakers, the lottery proposal would go on the November general election ballot. That ballot already includes a proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize horse and dog race betting.

Minimum wage increase voted on

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill that would increase the state minimum wage by $1.95 — to $3.35 an hour — and would extend the wage to farm workers who are now exempt.

Senators also approved a bill Wednesday that would require students seeking a teaching certificate after Sept. 1, 1991, to have a bachelor's degree with an academic major other than education. The bill would limit to 18 the number of semester hours of education courses required for certification.

"Less than one-third of the farm workers will be affected," sponsoring Sen. Tati Santiesteban said of the minimum wage bill. "What this bill does is extend the coverage to those who are not covered by the federal act, including farm workers."

The federal minimum wage of $3.35 already covers workers on larger farms. Workers on medium-sized farms are covered by the state minimum wage of $1.40, and they would get a pay raise. Smaller farms are not now covered by any minimum wage, but the bill would cover such workers.

Winston heirs file damage suit

leaving herself and any "unknown remaindermen" out of the original condemnation suit.

Legal action in the matter began in Feburary when TU filed a condemnation lawsuit in the local court seeking an easement across the Winston property for construction of the power-transmission line.

The land area at issue — according to the documents filed with the court — totals some "20 acres more or less."

TU filed the condemnation suit on Feb. 26. This was required since the landowners would not voluntarily sell the property.

Named as defendants were J.R. Joyce and wife Florentz Joyce, Sam B. Casey, Dorothy Casey and Jess Everett as tenant.

Everett was included in the suit due to the fact that he leases a portion of the Winston land immediately south of Western Texas College.

Following the filing of the original suit, Judge Gene Dulaney appointed a panel of three special commissioners — Bill Eiland, Jack Denman, and Roswell Rigsby — to hear arguments in the case and set a monetary award for the defendants.

The special commission met on March 26 and awarded the Winston heirs a total of $56,990 for the land in question with $3,500 of that total to be paid to Everett for damages he would suffer due to construction of the line.

On April 13, attorney's representing TU filed a motion with the court objecting to the "grossly excessive" award handed down by the commission and asking for a further hearing.

On April 20, the defendants in the case filed a motion to withdraw the proceeds of the award from the registry of the court and the $56,990 was released to them.

Contract construction crews for TU then began preliminary work on the line in May.

Last Thursday, TU returned to court with an application for a writ of possession and a temporary restraining order.

In that application, TU alleged that the defendants had attempted to deny the construction crews access to the property on May 4.

Dulaney granted the temporary restraining order at that time and construction work on the line began with the defendants under a court order not to interfere.

According to Jack Smartt of the local TU office, work on the line was continuing under that order Thursday morning.

Part of Friday's hearing will be dedicated to arguments regarding if the order should continue in force.

Also last Thursday, the defendants filed an answer to TU's objection to the award in which they claim additional damage from the construction and asked for additional damage awards totaling some $100,000.

No hearing date has been set for either TU's objection to the award or the defendant's answer to the objection.

The last move in the suit was made Friday when Helen Hatter — daughter of J.R. and Florentz Joyce — filed a new and separate lawsuit against TU alleging damage to her interests by virtue of her being left out of the original suit.

Hatter is claiming interest in the property under the will of her grandmother — LeClaire Winston — and alleges that she should have been included as a party to the original suit.

She asked in her suit for a temporary restraining order stopping construction of the power line, but that request was not granted.

She also asked for actual damages from TU in the amount of $50,000 actual damages and $50,000 exemplary damages.

Her request for a restraining order against TU will also be heard Friday.

Hatter and the other Winston heirs are represented in the cases by Tahoka attorney Callaway Huffaker.

TU electric is represented locally by the firm of Cotton and Cotton and by S.G. Johndroe of the Fort Worth firm of Cantey, Hanger, Gooch, Munn & Collins.

custody and one of them had a piece of paper in his possession with her name and address.

The caller reportedly told the woman he was going to release the suspects. Then, he began questioning her about any money or jewelry she might have in her residence.

Detectives theorize that the phone caller is attempting to size up a potential burglary target or lure the individual called into some type of confidence game.

WTC COMMENCEMENT — Four graduating students will be the featured speakers at the Western Texas College commencement program due at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the central courtyard. Pictured are three of the students, Paul Smith of Van Horn; Paula Stewart of Sweetwater; and Betty Lovelady of Snyder. Also shown is Jim Rambo, associate professor of drama, who will give the faculty response. Todd Danley of Mesilla Park, N.M. will be the fourth student speaker. (SDN Staff Photo)

NATO talks begin

STAVANGER, Norway (AP) — NATO defense ministers began two days of talks today on the security implications of a proposed superpower accord to eliminate hundreds of land-based nuclear missiles from Europe.

U.S. Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger met privately with his West German counterpart, Manfred Woerner, before all 14 defense chiefs started their closed-door session in a Stavanger hotel ringed by armed security forces. Details of their talks were not immediately available.

The West German government has been split over the latest Soviet proposal for eliminating all superpower medium- and shorter-range nuclear missiles from Europe. Woerner has expressed grave doubts about the offer, while Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher has leaned toward acceptance of it.

In remarks released today from a private meeting Wednesday between Weinberger and a group of Norwegian politicians, the defense secretary denied the United States was pressuring West Germany to make up its mind on the arms issue.

sexual act with the woman.

The suspect fled the apartment — breaking out a front window — after the woman screamed and the husband woke up.

Police say Harris entered the apartment by opening an unlocked window at the rear.

Harras was previously convicted of burglary and rape in Scurry County in 1980 and given a five year prison sentence at that time.

Local authorities do not know what Harris was on parole for at this time since he had been sentenced to TDC from another jurisdiction.

Three accidents investigated

Police investigated three minor traffic accidents Wednesday.

Involved in the first — at 11:55 a.m. in the 3400 Block of College Ave. — were a 1975 Ford driven by Pilar Luna of Ira and a 1981 Chevrolet driven by Scott Matthew Cole of 2801 37th St.

The second mishap occurred in the construction zone at the intersection of 37th St. and College Ave. at 3:38 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1978 Mack dump truck driven by Emmitt Elgene Folsom of Abilene and a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Terry Blaine Hildreth of Rt. 1, Snyder.

The 4200 Block of College Ave. was the scene of the day's third mishap at 3:57 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1985 Chevrolet driven by Dawn Etta Patrick of 2416 Gilmore Ave. and a 1976 Dodge driven by Harvey Guerrero of 202 Elm St.

No injuries resulted from any of the three mishaps.

Suspect faces more charges

Police detectives say they cleared a recent theft case Wednesday.

Investigators have charged 17-year-old Ruben Castenada of Snyder — arrested on three other theft charges last Friday — with the March 23 theft of tools from a pickup truck owned by Kermit Ford of 502 33rd St.

Wednesday's charge brings the total against Castenada to five.

In other action Wednesday, police jailed one man on a warrant for failure to appear in county court on a misdemeanor charge.

He returned to the office a short while later, left his hat at the front desk, then took a chair to a rear entrance at the motel's southwest corner.

At this point, he apparently sat down, pulled a .38 cal. pistol from a sack he had been carrying and shot himself once in the head.

Services for Hood are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel. He was born in Hermleigh on June 3, 1919.

His wife, one son and one sister survives him.

Weekend restaurant now open

An "all you can eat" fish restaurant, open on Thursday, Friday and Saturday only, opened last week and will mark its second weekend beginning this Thursday.

M&D Fish Place is located in the restaurant building (formerly the Smorgasbord) at the Phillips 66 Truck Stop on East Hwy.

Its owners are Peggy Grinslade and Chloanne Lindsey.

Hours Thursday, Friday, and Saturday will be from 5 until 9:30 p.m.

Featured on the menu is southern fried fish, all you can eat, for $6.95. Included is pinto beans, cole slaw, hush puppies, french fries and a beverage. Other menu items, to include a salad bar, chicken fried steak and hamburgers, are offered also.

J. A. Hood, Jr.

Services for J. A. Hood, Jr. 67, of 3615 Hill are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Bob Metzger, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will follow in Hillside Memorial Gardens.

He died at 2:05 p.m. Wednesday of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was born June 3, 1919 in Hermleigh.

He was a rancher and was married to LaVerne Fleming in 1943 in Breckenridge. She survives.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church and had lived in Scurry County for 22 years, moving here from Stevens County.

He is survived by a son, Jim Buck Hood of Kingwood; two grandchildren; one sister, Mary Curnette of Snyder; and several nieces and nephews.

FLORA CRAIG

Flora Craig

Graveside services for Flora Craig, 77, of Queen Creek, Ariz. will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at Snyder Cemetery with Glenn McCathern of Colonial Hill Baptist Church officiating.

She died June 14, 1986 in Phoenix, Ariz. She was born April 23, 1909 in St. James, Arkansas.

She was the daughter of Thomas Harlan and Birdie Leon (Kelley) Graham who moved the family from St. James, Ark. to East Texas in 1913 and to Scurry County in 1927. She had one sister and four brothers.

She was married to James Hobart Holman. Surviving children of that union include a son, James Jr. and a daughter, Earlene L. Taylor, both of Queen Creek, Ariz. Grandchildren include Jack F. Taylor, Jr. of Mesa, Ariz. and Wendy Steiner of Flagstaff, Ariz. She is also survived by three grandchildren.

She was later married to Robert Clair Craig, now deceased. Step-children who grew up in the home include John Craig of Florida and Lori Foster of Los Cruces, N.M.

Evidence suggests existence of inherited suicide tendency

CHICAGO (AP) — The brains of suicide victims show significant physical abnormalities that provide good evidence of an inherited tendency to commit suicide, a researcher says.

The finding could ultimately lead to a test that would enable doctors to predict which people may be prone to attempt suicide, Dr. J. John Mann said Wednesday at the American Psychiatric Association's annual meeting.

The finding also demonstrates "that there is an illness here that needs to be treated," said Mann, a psychiatrist at New York Hospital-Cornell University Medical Center in New York City.

At least 25,000 Americans kill themselves each year, and that is probably a low estimate, Mann said.

Comparisons of more than 70 suicide victims with people of similar ages but who died of other causes have shown that suicide victims tend to have an abnormality in the production and use of serotonin, one of the many chemical messengers that brain cells use to communicate, said Dr. Michael Stanley of Columbia University.

"The findings would be most compatible with decreased serotonin release" by brain cells, said Stanley, who collaborated with Mann in the research.

The researchers, examining brain tissue from the suicide victims, found that the victims' brains contained fewer release sites for serotonin and more sites to receive serotonin than did the brains of normal subjects.

The research strengthens the notion that the serotonin system is related to suicide, said Mann.

However, he added, it was unlikely that abnormalities in the serotonin system were the only abnormalities to be found in suicide victims.

Earlier studies have found that suicide victims had abnormally low levels of a serotonin breakdown product called 5-HIAA in their spinal fluid, which circulates in the spinal cord and the brain.

Those studies showed that death from suicide was 10 times more likely to occur over a one- or two-year period in people with low levels of the substance in their spinal fluid when compared to those with normal levels, Mann said.

"Eventually, you're going to reach a point of prediction or identification of people who might make suicide attempts," Stanley said.

Helping others may have led to slaying

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A nursing student who friends say took it on faith that the people she helped wouldn't hurt her was found strangled with a jump rope, her body wrapped in plastic and stuffed in a cardboard box.

"She was the sort of person who wanted to help people," said Kit Kucinkas, a nursing aide instructor at Mansfield Business College. "Whenever she talked about helping people, her face lit up."

The body of 19-year-old Debra Cotton was found late Monday within blocks of a car she borrowed April 7, investigators said.

Sheriff's spokesman Maurice Rose said details surrounding the investigation could not be revealed.

"Right now, we are not able to talk about the investigation," he said. "It's going pretty well."

Ms. Cotton was last was seen leaving a private home-care residence about 8 a.m. April 7 to run an errand, the San Antonio Light reported.

"She came (to classes) Wednesday, but we never saw her Thursday," Kucinkas said.

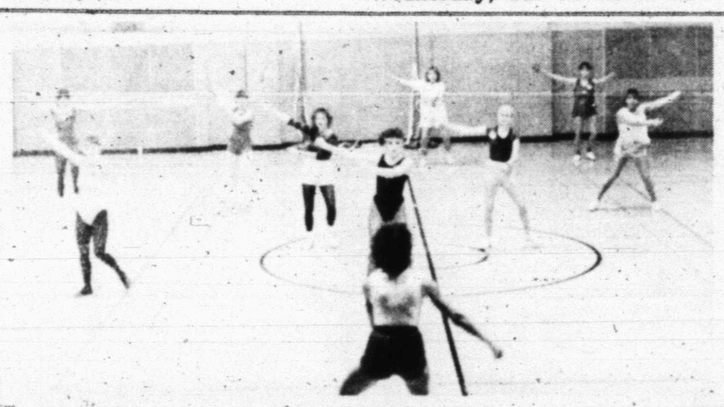

Ms. Cotton was in her third semester of a nursing assistant program at the business school.

Her boyfriend, Darrell Lewis, 25, said Ms. Cotton attended classes at the school daily and would catch a bus in the afternoons.

"One day, she came and said she met a weirdo," he said. "I think (a relationship) developed out of the kindness of her heart."

Ms. Cotton lived and worked in the private home-care residence managed by Ruby Johnson, Lewis' mother.

The three had been working together for about 11 months, Lewis said.

Snyder Lions oldest club

The Snyder Lions Club, currently with more than 110 members, was chartered on Aug. 17, 1924.

The Snyder club is the oldest Lions Club in the vast District 2-T2 and over the years the Snyder Club has provided leadership at the district level.

The Snyder club has two reputations that will likely never be outlived. The first is the fun-loving luncheon meetings held each Tuesday in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

The second trademark of the Snyder club is service, a motto of Lions International. Through a variety of fund-raising efforts the Snyder Lions Club supports sight conservation and has bought thousands of eyeglasses for Scurry County school children.

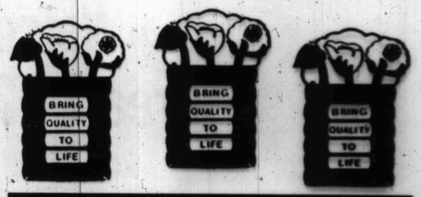

The club also supports diabetes research, the Lions Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville, the Lubbock Eye Bank, Leader Dog Schools and Girlstown at Whiteface.

Howard Harrington, a member of the Snyder Club, is a recent past district governor, Max von Roeder is the present district governor.

Those who have served as president of the Snyder Lions Club include J. M. Harris, Ernest Taylor, C. Wedgeworth, Warren Dodson, J.C. Smyth, J. E. Sentell, Frank Farmer, A.C. Prueitt, H.L. Wren, Willard Jones, A.A. Bullock, Herman Darby, Lyle Deffebach, Wayne Boren, R.L. Farr, and Leighton Griffin.

Sam Williams, Don Robinson, R.E. Patterson, M.H. Roe, Dr. John Blum, J.J. Dyer, Woodrow W. Adcock, Haskel O. Beard, W.R. Bell, Jr. John H. Boren, Charles R. Wolfe, W.W. Park, Dan Cotton, D.D. Shelburne, Wayland Holt, Phil Burns, Dr. John Hamblen, Harold Bennett, Cecil J. Boren and L.A. Patterson.

Frank Taylor, Bill Seale, Jack Gorman, Olin Bunch, Horrace Bostick, Bill Sikes, Les Francis, Howard Harrington, John H. Jarrell, Bill Dryden, Jerry McWilliams, Robert H. This jacket and hat with over 120 pins will be sold during a "Chinese Auction" at the District 2-T2 convention May 16. The jacket and hat are being donated by the family of Roe Tipton in his memory.

Lion Tipton was a member of the Lubbock Lip Lipscomb Lions Club for many years. Lion Tipton served in 1985-86 as district song leader.

Proceeds from this auction will go to the special building fund of the Texas Lions Camp for crippled children at Kerrville.

The hat has over 50 pins and will be auctioned to ladies only. Each club should come prepared to bid on these items. It would make a nice memorial gift for your club queen.

Lions Code of Ethics

To show my faith in the worthiness of my vocation by industrious application to the end that I may merit a reputation for quality of service.

To seek success and to demand all fair remuneration or profit as my just due, but to accept no profit or success at the price of my own self respect lost because of unfair advantage taken or because of questionable acts on my part.

To remember that in building up my business it is not necessary to tear down another's; to be loyal to my clients or customers and true to myself.

Whenever a doubt arises as to the right or ethics of my position or action towards my fellow men, to resolve such doubt against myself.

To hold friendship as an end and not a means. To hold that true friendship exists not on account of the service performed by one to another, but that true friendship demands nothing but accepts service in the spirit in which it is given.

Always to bear in mind my obligations as a citizen to my nation, my state and my community, and to give to them my unswerving loyalty in word, act and deed. To give them freely of my time, labor and means.

To aid my fellow men by giving my sympathy to those in distress, my aid to the weak, and my substance to the needy.

To be careful with my criticisms and liberal with my praise; to build up and not destroy.

District Convention In

"True Lionism in Action" is the theme selected for the 1987

The activities of Lionism

Sight Conservation and Work with the Blind—Lions Clubs have established glaucoma screening clinics, eye banks and rehabilitation institutes. They support workshops and help pay scholarships for deserving blind students. The familiar white canes were introduced by the Lions and clubs provide guide dogs and other mobility needs.

Hearing and Speech Action and Work with the Deaf—Auditory equipment is furnished to schools with hearing-impaired students and scholarships are issued to youngsters with this handicap. Lions conduct screening programs for children and adults, support a variety of rehabilitation services and provide and repair hearing aids for the needy.

Citizenship Services—Lions work with veterans' organizations and hold special programs of a patriotic and civic nature in their communities. They sponsor numerous youth groups such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Guides and others. Respect for law and work with delinquents are also important programs sponsored by Clubs.

Educational Services—Lions award hundreds of scholarships every year. Clubs also sponsor career nights at high schools and invite locally prominent people to help graduates plan their futures. Literacy programs and vocational training in underprivileged areas are also high on the program agendas for many Lions Clubs.

Environmental Services—Lions looks for viable and feasible ways of awakening interest in environmental problems and of motivating individuals and Clubs to positive action—whether in the area of natural environment (air, land, noise, water pollution) or social and cultural environment (demographic planning, alcohol and drug abuse education, ethical conduct). Lions are encouraged to cooperate with other individuals, organizations, and governmental agencies in implementing environmental projects.

Public Services—Included in this comprehensive category is the distribution of information concerning the latest methods of food production and protection. Clubs, urban and rural, conduct a variety of programs relative to their areas — programs that emphasize traffic, home, farm, school and recreational safety.

Recreational Services—Lions build playgrounds and contribute equipment. They also build community centers, swimming pools, gardens and town squares. Lions sponsor baseball, football, basketball, hockey, soccer and other sports teams for youngsters. Clubs plan and conduct carnivals, picnics and various celebrations.

Health Services—Lions provide extensive medical relief to underdeveloped areas and organize a wide range of detection and prevention programs. Medical research institutions have also been the recipients of generous contributions from Lions clubs and districts. Lions are also active in helping to curb drug abuse by conducting Drug Education programs.

International Services—Lions have established many international friendship contacts and participate in worldwide assistance programs. Lions support the Lions Clubs International Foundation, the humanitarian aims of the United Nations and are closely associated with CARE. Increasingly more young people are annually participating in the International Youth Exchange program.

Social Services—Lions sponsor many programs for the physically and mentally handicapped, the aged and the underprivileged. Clubs and districts have also constructed homes for orphans and the elderly as well as rehabilitation institutes for the handicapped. Many clubs supply food baskets for the poor on a regular basis.

LIONS CLUBS plan and conduct a variety of community and humanitarian projects. The services are part of the broadly-based Ten Major Activities of Lionism. Clubs can choose any one or more specific projects from among these comprehensive categories. These projects and a brief summary are shown on page 4 and 5.

Lions organized in 1917 as dream of Melvin Jones

The International Association of Lions Clubs is the world's largest and most active service club organizations. Local and district Lions work with more than 1.3 million members in more than 150 countries and geographical areas to seek out and help the needy in each community, country and the world.

The association began as the dream of Chicago insurance man Melvin Jones, who wondered why local business clubs could not expand their horizons from purely business concerns to the betterment of their communities and the world at large.

Jones' idea struck a chord within his own group, the Business Circle of Chicago, and they authorized him to explore his concept with similar organizations from around the United States. His efforts resulted in an organizational meeting at a local hotel on June 7, 1917. The 12 men who gathered there overcame a natural sense of loyalty to their parent clubs, voted the Lions Club into existence, and issued a call for a national convention to be held in Dallas, Tx., in October of the same year.

Thirty-six delegates representing 22 clubs from nine states heeded the call, approved the "Lions Clubs" designation, and elected Dr. William P. Woods of Indiana as their first president. Guiding force and founder Melvin Jones was named acting secretary, thus beginning an association with Lionism that only ended with his death in 1961.

That first convention also began to define what Lionism was to become. A constitution and by-laws were accepted. The colors of purple and gold approved, and a start made on Lionism's objects and code of ethics. One of the objects was starting for an era that prided itself on mercenary individualism, and has remained one of the main tenets of Lionism: "No club shall hold out the financial betterment of its members as its object."

Community leaders soon began to organize clubs throughout the U.S. and the association became "international" with the formation of the Windsor, Ontario, Canada Lions Club in 1920. Clubs were later organized in China, Mexico and Cuba. By 1927, membership stood at 69,000 in 1,183 clubs. In 1935, Panama became home to the first Central American club, with the first South American club being organized in Colombia the following year. Lionism reached Europe in 1948 as clubs were chartered in Sweden, Switzerland and France. In 1952, the first club was chartered in Japan. Since then, Lionism has become truly global, with clubs in more than 150 countries and areas worldwide.

The motto of every Lion is simply "We Serve". What better way to express the true meaning of Lionism? The slogan of Lionism is "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety."

The royal colors of purple and gold were selected as the offical colors when the association was organized in 1917. Purple stands for loyalty to friends and to one's self, and for integrity of mind and heart. Gold symbolizes sincerity of purpose, liberality in judgement, purity in life and generosity in mind, heart and purse toward one's fellow man.

In Honor of The Lions Club, we would like to welcome you to Snyder
We are honored that the District 2-T2 Lion Club Convention is being held here!

BELL-CYPERT-SEALE
FUNERAL HOME
3101 College Ave. 573-5454

Voting By-laws are listed

Purpose of the district convention is to conduct general district business, elect a district governor, a lieutenant governor, one director of the Crippled Childrens Camp, five eye bank directors and act on the nomination of Past Internatonal Director M. P. (Mike) Butler as a candidate for third International Vice President.

In addition, on the ballot will appear a proposal to build a State Office Building in Kerrville and a separate proposal providing for the financing of such a building. Finally, on the ballot will appear six proposals to amend the Multiple District 2 Constitution and By-Laws and a proposal asking the Lions of Texas to recognize the Pin Traders Club of Texas as Multiple District 2 Pin Trading Club.

Delegates and alternates are requested to study these proposals and discuss them with their respective clubs in advance of the convention.

Voting at the convention will be in accordance with the International Constitution and By-Laws. For a delegate to vote, his club must be in good standing with the district and with Lions Clubs International.

The International Constitution in Article VII, Section 6, provdes for the qualification of delegates to the District Convention as follows:

Each chartered club in good standing in the Association and its district shall be represented by one or more delegates at the annual convention of its district and shall be entitled in each such convention to one voting delegate and one alternate delegate for each 10 members, or major fraction thereof, of said club as shown by the records of the International Office on the first day of the month last preceding that month during which the convention is held. The major fraction referred to in this section shall be five or more members. Any club which is newly chartered, and any other chartered club which takes in new members prior to the convening of any such convention, shall have its delegate quota determined on the basis of members shown on such record date in the records of Lions International Office.

Lions Clubs International uses the following criteria in determining if a club is in good standing:

--current per capital tax must be paid in full.

--old balances of more than $50, 90 days past due, must be paid.

--entrance fees for new members affecting voting strenth of more than one delegate must be paid.

In addition, all district dues must be paid.

Lions International reserves the right to determine if a club is in good standing.

Drug Awareness—A marked increase in the number of people who overuse drugs or take dangerous drugs has created a serious problem in many communities. Some District Governors have appointed special Chairmen responsible for the topic of Drug Abuse Education. Many Clubs, in fact, have appointed similar Chairmen at the Club level.

Leo Clubs—Since the beginning of the Leo Club Program, Leo Clubs have engaged in many outstanding activities primarily aimed at aiding the less fortunate and contributing to the betterment of their local communities. By emphasizing Leadership, Experience and Opportunity, Leo Clubs are giving young people a chance to develop into interested and involved citizens.

Lioness Clubs—The Lioness Program offers women all around the world the opportunity to serve the needy through their own Clubs. Wives of Lions and other community minded women perform service projects as varied as those of Lions. They receive guide materials and other benefits of an international program tailor-made for the socially conscious woman.

Youth Exchange—Lions Clubs contribute greatly to international understanding and good will by participating in the Youth Exchange Program.

Qualified young people are selected by sponsoring Lions Clubs to visit other lands as the guests of host Lions Clubs. They observe typical community life and gain knowledge of other cultures and peoples.

International Youth Camps—Lionism's first youth camp was conducted by the Swedish Lions of Multiple District 101 in 1963. Since that time, thousands of young adults have had the opportunity to share an international camping experience.
