'Miss Burk Burnett Of '59' Recalls Joy Of Competition In Contests

Today I received a letter from the Miss Burk Burnett Pageant Committee inviting me to attend the annual event. As I read the letter, memories came rushing back. I remember the night back in 1959 when I was a contestant. I know I was the happiest girl in the world, when I was crowned the first Miss Burk Burnett.

At the Miss Texas Pageant in Beaumont, I made many friends, though I didn't win in place. I won in many, many other ways and today it is one of my happiest memories.

After I left Burk Burnett, I went to Dallas. I worked at the Dallas Morning News as receptionist. When we moved to Ft. Worth, I tried fighting the traffic for awhile, but gave up the Dallas work and started back in the twirling field.

So I am an instructor and an N.B.T.A. Judge in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. At present I teach over 70 pupils and have two corps of twirling girls. One Junior Corp and the Juvenile Corp.

My Junior Corp is 1967 State twirling champions and third in the Nationals. My Juvenile Corp is not yet a year old, but both corps are going to State Contest in El Paso on April 12 and 13 to compete for 1968 Championship. They are the "Tri-Cities-Misses."

I am married and have a little boy Ken, who is four years old. He is a skater.

My husband Swayne works for General Motors. He helps me with the corps and attends most of the contests with me. In June I will be teaching at a summer camp in Dallas — along with my own twirling.

I am looking forward to the Miss Burk Burnett Pageant 1968, of seeing old friends and making new ones.

Sincerely,
Glenna Landes Benson

house for Mobil oil, grease and other such items.

Nicklas expressed appreciation of the committee for Mobil Oil Corporation's generous donation to the project.

Mobil has been in business since the early days of Burk Burnett.

Others taking part in the presentation were: Clifford Willmon, the corporation's Burk representative, and a member of the Tourist Promotion Committee; and Gene Allen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Gene Allen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, left, smiles as Tom Nicklas, chairman of the Tourist Promotion Committee accepts the deed for this building from Jim Ferguson, dark suit, marketing representative of Mobil Oil Corporation. Also watching is Clifford Willmon, Burk representative for Mobil Oil and a member of the Tourist Promotion Committee. The building will be used in Boomtown Oil Park, a growing local tourist attraction.

THE SECOND FATHER-SON COMBINATION GOING STRONG AT ALEXANDER SERV. STA.

Jack and Kenneth Alexander

In 1931, Jim Alexander, the father and his son Jack, opened Alexander Service Station, at the corner of East 3rd St. and Avenue D. Business conditions were exceedingly trying at the time, but by hard work the two made the business go. The partnership continued until January, 1960, when Mr. Jim Alexander died after a short illness.

Jack continued to operate the station until 1966. September 1, 1966 Jack's son, Kenneth came into the organization, making the father-son combination. Alexander Service Station has been handling Goodyear tires for twenty-eight years, and Mobil products for thirty years. The slogan for many years, has been, "THE BEST SERVICE IN TOWN."

TAXED FOR THE UNKNOWNAN APRIL 15TH REMINDER

When the typical American family talks about buying a new car, building a home — or any other major expenditure — the head of the house usually asks some searching questions.

Can we afford it? Do we have the money, or will we borrow?

The average American family doesn't buy on impulse — we can't indulge our desires without regard to our pocketbooks. We must of necessity choose wisely.

But there is something we all buy each year with very little choice and with questionable satisfaction. It's the package presented every year in the federal budget — a package we pay for dearly with our taxes.

Today the federal government seems preoccupied with the issue of consumer protection. It wants to be sure our package of breakfast food is full and plainly marked; it wants us to be fully aware of the cost of borrowing money.

Right now, when many of us are having to think about borrowing to pay our taxes on April 15, we might well wish that our benevolent Uncle Sam would worry less about the size and weight of our breakfast food package and show more concern about our plight as harassed taxpayers.

When the Administration in Washington last summer proposed a surtax to help reduce large and persistent federal deficits, many economists and businessmen pointed out that sharp slash in government spending would be a better solution. The government continues to face a critical balance-of-payments situation, growing inflation, and interest rates at century-high levels.

A substantial cut in federal spending would help solve all these problems and of course help all of us as individual taxpayers.

Do your legislators in Washington know how you feel about excessive federal spending? It costs just six cents to express your views.

Mr. Maurice Stans, former Director of the Bureau of the Budget, speaking at the Congress of American Industry, expressed his concern over the rapidly accelerating inflation in the American economy. According to the National Association of Manufacturers, he stated that with large government deficits, a long unfavorable balance of payments, a new crisis in international finances, and general uncertainty for business and the domestic economy, it is a good time to probe for a better way of doing things. He suggests that one way is to slow down federal spending and apply common sense in setting of budget priorities.

California's State Senator George Miller, Jr., said: "After years of study and involvement in taxation problems, I know that taxation is only a choice among evils. Little is gained if attention is mainly focused on attempting to pass the burden to another level of government, be it federal or local. The only cure for tax rate increase is able administration. An elastic tax structure related by policy to healthy business growth is the only answer."

CARDBOARD TUBES FROM WAXED PAPER, ALUMINUM FOIL AND PAPER TOWELS MAKE EXCELLENT CONTAINERS WHEN CHILDREN WANT TO TAKE PICTURES AND PAPERS TO SCHOOL. ROLLED IN THE TUBE, THE CONTENTS ARRIVE AT SCHOOL CLEAN AND WHOLE. THEY ALSO COME IN HANDY WHEN THE CHILDREN HAVE ART WORK TO BRING HOME FROM SCHOOL.

Give Yourself A Break

"What did you do all day?" That's the age old question to homemakers to hit the hot button that makes the sparks fly.

You did the laundry, washed dishes, cleaned the house, taxed the children, shopped for groceries, and cooked, too. And you probably never stopped all day.

Who makes you work at such a frantic pace? You do. Just think about the advantages you have over your career-women contemporaries. You may envy them: the way they look when they set out each morning, and the exciting time you think they have in the business world. But look what you've got. You're your own boss. You can set your own pace. And no one puts a time limit on your breaks.

But, do you take a break? Or do you keep on working until you are dog-tired and a first rate drudge? You find it's difficult to be smiling and peppy when you greet the five o'clock crowd. Rare is the woman who really likes that way of life. So do something about it. Give yourself a break.

Look at it this way: Do your work as fast and as well as you can, but then stop. Take a mid-morning breather. Sit down with a cup of coffee, put your feet up and read a short story or the morning paper. Save the novels for the afternoon off you owe yourself. You'll find you're recharged and can sail through the rest of the morning with renewed energy.

Treat yourself to a sit-down lunch. Use your pretty china once in a while. Be your own guest. Listen to your favorite records and relax. You might want to think about your plan of attack for the rest of the day. Don't try to do everything in one day.

Some chores can wait until tomorrow and you won't be overwhelmed with what you have to accomplish by dinner time.

You'll be amazed at the change in your attitude. Now you've begun to enjoy the nicer things about your home that you strive so hard to have just right for your family at the end of a day.

Back to work, now, but be a clock watcher. About an hour before you're due to hear the first "Hi" at the door, close up shop. You've planned your dinner and have the major preparations out of the way. All that's left are the last minute details of serving dinner.

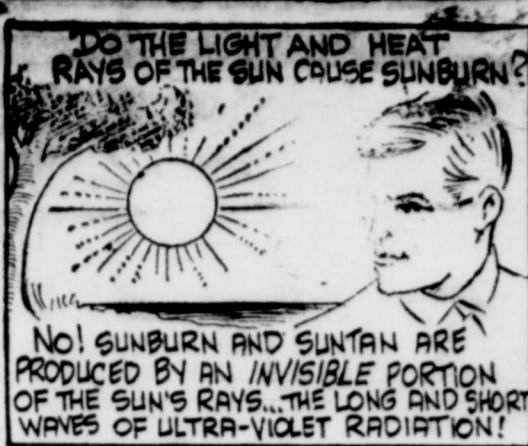

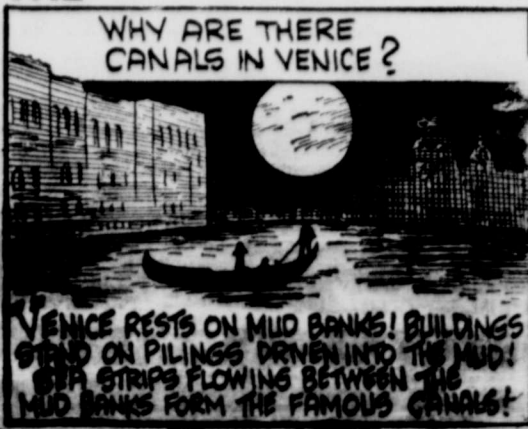

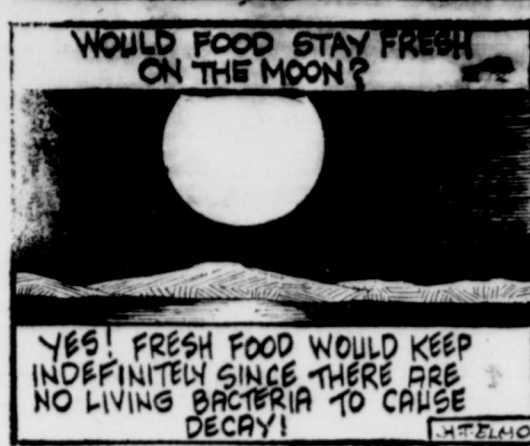

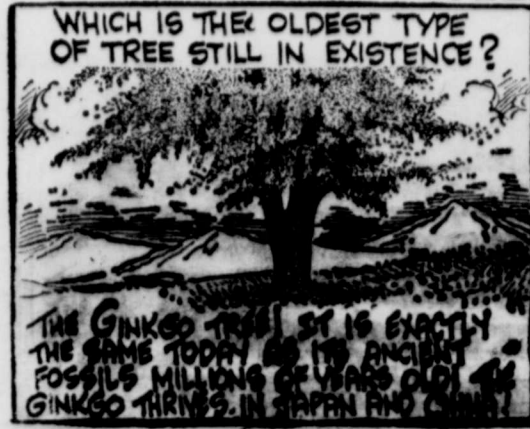

Now, run a bathtub full of water — as warm as you can comfortably stand it — add a little Calgon Bubble Bath, and step into a tubful of luxurious bubbles and relax — relax. Think pleasant thoughts. Hum a little tune. Flex your smile muscles. Take your time.

When you're completely rested and your skin feels all warm and velvety, step out onto your fluffiest bath mat. Pat yourself dry and don your prettiest robe.

When you apply your make-up, don't skimp on the extras, such as eyeliner or perhaps a little eye shadow. Wear a pretty, but comfortable outfit. Keep it feminine. Then take a long, careful look in the mirror. You'll like what you see. So will the family.

When he asks "What did you do all day?" you'll say "It was a good day — got a lot done."

Chamber Hears Of Local, State Industry Growth

Bill Vincent, chairman of the Industrial Committee, told the Chamber of Commerce members, at a regular meeting on Monday, April 1, of the increase of industry in Texas, pointing out growth in Burkburnett. He also showed large placards depicting the contribution each business makes to the community, in production and payrolls.

Other highlights of the meeting were a talk by Al Wingert, of CIBA, who explained the progress of the company from the ground-breaking January, 1967 to present day, saying that production of plastic pipe continues round the clock; reports by the committees; of a successful Community Clinic in which nearly 700 citizens participated; the coming Animal Vaccination Day to be held April 20 in the Vocational Agri building; a very successful Trades Day drawing for cash prizes last Saturday, which drew a large turnout; and an announcement that the Community Service Center has job listings and will gladly aid high school students in locating summer jobs.

Introduced as new individual members were: Bill Froman, football coach; Jerry Cash, Texas Electric Co.; Vernon Duncan, new member of the First National Bank; Leroy Mumford, with the Burkburnett Bank; and Lonnie Dickson, of Shepard Field.

Welcomed, also, were three businesses: Burk Auto Service, owned and operated by Charles Petty and Kenneth Houk; Deep Rock Service Station, Kenneth Sloan; Mobil consignee, Emil Loist.

Jack Aaron, president, presided at the luncheon and meeting.

STILL TIME FOR A FLOWER GARDEN

Abundant soil moisture and the late arrival of warm weather can work to the home flower gardener's advantage, says E. E. Janne, Extension landscape horticulturist. He suggests using started plants and planting them as soon as the soil is dry enough. By using started plants, he says, attractive flower borders can be established before hot summer weather arrives.

Paneling Walls Is Popular Handyman Job

Three out of four homeowners plan some kind of remodeling project in 1968.

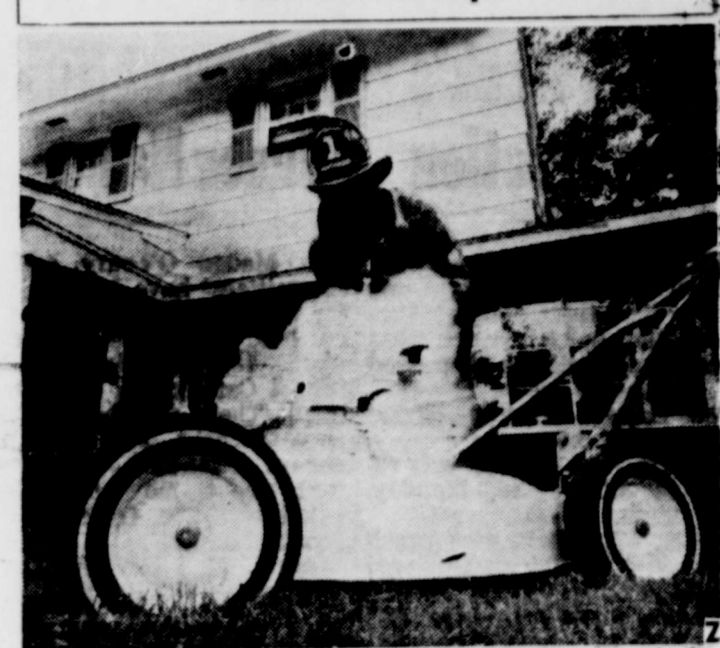

The total value of the home improvement projects anticipated by homeowners surveyed by the Bureau of Building Marketing Research is $23 billion — an average expenditure of $880.

The most popular do-it-yourself job, according to the survey, is wall paneling. Almost 93 percent of those who plan to panel walls indicated they would do the job themselves — a reflection of the increased popularity of materials such as prefabricated hardboard paneling.

Prefinished hardboard panels, available in woodgrain, colors and special finishes, can be installed simply over furring with colored nails or special adhesive. And they can be trimmed out with a "professional look" by using matching or color-coordinated wood, metal or vinyl moldings.

All Fired Up

Where there's smoke, there's fire. And where there's fire, there's been carelessness. It would seem almost self-evident that trying to fill up a power mower with gasoline while it's running is foolhardy. Yet according to the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute, it's one of the most common abuses.

You can easily avoid getting all fired up if you follow this simple procedure for handling gasoline. First of all, because it's highly flammable, it should always be handled with special care. Always fuel up the gas tank before you start. Use an approved gasoline container with the proper spigot so the liquid won't spill out; if some does, wipe it up immediately. Replace the cap securely. The tank should always be filled outdoors, but if you're running your motor in a garage for any reason, open the doors because exhaust gases are dangerous.

The cardinal "don't" is refueling a running or hot engine. If you run out of gas while mowing, give your machine a good ten minutes to cool off before you attempt to refuel. And you'll probably want a little break as well. Of course this isn't the time to light up a cigarette since you might not have finished it when you start gassing up.

Approximately four million 1968 mowers will bear the triangular safety seal which symbolizes the industry's safety standard and certifies that the machine conforms to strict safety requirements. But of course, the manufacturers can only go so far — and the rest is up to the mower owner.

Auto Inspection Deadline Nears

AUSTIN — The Texas Department of Public Safety reminded motorists today that less than two weeks remain for obtaining the 1968 inspection sticker with more than two million cars still in need of being inspected.

"Lanes are already beginning to form," a DPS spokesman said, "and they will get longer as the final date approaches. Many drivers may find it difficult to obtain necessary repairs if they continue putting off the inspection until the last minute."

The DPS pointed out that only about 3,500,000 vehicles have been inspected for the 1968 sticker through March 31, and that estimates indicate that more than six million vehicles will be registered during 1968.

Den 7-Pack 156 Visited Animal Shelter Recently

For the March outing, the Cub Scouts of Den 7, Pack 156, chose to visit the Animal Shelter on the Iowa Park Road. The boys enjoyed the talk that was given on how to care for your pets, and how they place animals into homes that want to care for a pet. It was sad to know the large percentage of animals that never have a home and how the Animal Shelter helps to keep down the amount of animals being born without homes.

The boys attending were: David Milner, John Montgomery, Melvin Antee, Paul Carr, Randall Schuman, Ronald Spinks, and Mark Rorabaw. Den Mother, Mrs. Barbara Rorabaw, Assistant Den Mother, Patsy Montgomery and Committeeman, Mr. Everett Rorabaw planned the trip for the boys.

Those who accompanied the Den were: Mrs. Jean Carr and Helen, Stephen and William Rorabaw, Jennifer and Lori Rorabaw and Jo Lyne Montgomery.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Even though April 15 is almost at hand, as taxpayers we have only reached the half-way point. About half of us have filed our income tax returns—a few of us have spent our refund checks, but at least half of us are still looking for those records that we did or did not keep during 1967. There is no better time than right now—get out those records and get that tax return ready.

(P. S. If you can't find the records, don't forget to keep them for 1968.)

A. H. LOHOEFENER
 Mayor
 Burk Burnett, Texas

Burk Burnett will join with other cities in observance of Texas Industrial Week which will be April 1, to April 6, according to B. J. Vincent, Chairman of the Industrial Committee. Mr. Vincent along with other members of the committee will leave for Austin, Texas Tuesday afternoon to be in attendance at the Governor's Industrial Expansion Conference.

CITY CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN SET MARCH 15 TO APRIL 30

The city-wide campaign to be held from March 15 to April 30 this year, will be of the same magnitude of the campaign held three years ago. Sponsored by the Jaycees in cooperation with the Community Service Council as coordinators, the assistance of all the local clubs—Ladies Clubs and Civic Clubs—will do much to help insure the success of the clean-up.

The Jaycees will have planned routes in each section of the city and each section will be cleaned up by one of the clubs.

If you have large items to get rid of, save them until the last week of the campaign. That is the week in which the trucks will be used to haul away such excess collections.

Everyone is urged to assist in beautifying Burk Burnett, by doing their bit during the clean-up. If each citizen tends his own little bit of area, then the program cannot help but become a vast success.

If you require further information contact any Jaycee. If you know no member of that organization, then call Billy Mize, president, 569-3412 or Tommy Antwine, who is chairman of the program, at 569-2394.

Beautify Burk Burnett! Clean-up!

Avoid Jelly Fish

Be careful of jelly fish when you are on the coast. They propel their way through the water by alternately expanding and contracting their bodies. Their contact with the human body means a very painful and sometimes fatal experience.

SPRING MAGIC

I will recall the sweetness of the hour
 When springs ago my narrow world trembled
 And whirled around the fragrance of one flower.
 Although the one he proffered that day came
 From a field growing wild and in profusion,
 (How much magic one gesture can impart)
 My child-spirit was trapped by an illusion:
 The flower was an orchid to my heart.

— KATHLEEN HENRY HARRIS

CLEAN-SWEEP THE EARTH

Spring winds come blustering as if to say,
 "Clean-sweep the earth! Prepare for verdant spring!
 It brings new hope, new joy for every day —
 New solace for the hearts quiet comforting."

That "Warmer days will hold fine ecstasy,"
 The gusty wind seems eager to announce
 As it gambols through branches soon to be Attired anew in pale green ruffled flounce.

The gay wind hums as if to prophesy,
 As it skips and vaults along the shore,
 That in this season Hate and Strife will die
 And Love and Peace will be enthroned once more.

— KATHLEEN HENRY HARRIS

RISEN LORD

"... And lo, I am with you ..." beyond the curfew:
 The promise shines so brightly and the vision
 Will never dim for those without derision
 For His assurance, spoken to imbue
 Our hearts with hope until our day is through.
 The promise is for glorious transition
 And all earth testifies to His provision
 When spring moves in, so potent, glowing, new.
 When pure white lilies labor from the ground,
 Returning birds whistle their happy chord
 And all the earth seems quickly to abound
 In green, the cross cannot be so abhorred;
 When from the flares of beauty all around
 Truth dawns and we behold our risen Lord.

Crocker Memorial Fund Started At Midwestern U.

Wichita Falls — Mrs. Robert Crocker recently presented a check to Midwestern University in memory of her late husband, Dr. Travis A. White, president of Midwestern, accepted the check in behalf of the University.

Crocker for several years was office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service in Wichita County for the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The money is to be used to purchase books on grass taxonomy for the MU library.

Crocker's sisters' families gave the money to establish some form of memorial. Mrs. Crocker said she gave the gift to the library because of her husband's special interest in the area of grasses.

Families contributing include Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Donnell of Wichita Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Cain of Beaver Dam, Wis.

Dr. Arthur Beyer, chairman of MU's biology department, and Calvin Boyer, director of libraries, selected the books to be purchased. Memorial labels will mark the books.

Beyer pointed out that the biology department's library holdings, especially in the area of grasses, needs improving.

"Mrs. Crocker's contribution is especially significant at this time since we have several students now doing advanced research in this area," Dr. Beyer said.

Mrs. Crocker is a teacher at the School of Listening Eyes, in Wichita Falls. Mike Crocker, her son, has attended Midwestern.

LOW MAINTENANCE

Rough sawn lumber siding on exterior walls is noted for its natural character which blends home with attractive surroundings.

Another desirable feature is low maintenance. Exterior stain finishes — combining pigment, water repellents and preservatives — have proved extremely durable on rough sawn Southern Pine siding. Such finishes provide any color, are easy and economical to apply. Many years may elapse before refinishing is required, and even then only a simple retouching may be necessary.

OUR USE OF LEISURE

None of us can make our best contribution to life unless we take care of our physical selves. The right kind of recreation renews the body, mind, and spirit.

There should be a proper balance and rhythm between work and rest. Our Lord meant for us to enjoy life and intended no man to punish his body with unrelieved work.

Of course our recreation should be of a kind that would actually re-create our spirits and bodies and make us better able to perform our work.

Part of our leisure time should be spent renewing our spirit by worshipping God in His Church. We invite you to attend services this week.

"But they that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run and not be weary; and they shall walk and not faint." Isaiah 40:31.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

LIBRARY CORNER

Teenagers first this week. The prolific and versatile Isaac Asimov, known to science students and science fiction readers, is writing history books for the younger set. Hot off the press is The Roman Empire, history not only painless but fascinating. A different and interesting book in the junior section is Museum, The Story of America's Treasure Houses. It includes chapters on specific types of museums and even one about museum careers. For teenage girls we have A Time of Growing, a collection of stories by 18 well-known authors. And if there is still a member of the "Mother Goose" set in your home, you will enjoy The Annotated Mother Goose with history and explanations of nursery rhymes. Maybe the kids won't care, but have you ever wondered why Jack jumped over the candlestick?

We have two new books on model making. One is a junior book, A Beginner's Guide to Building and Flying Airplanes. The other, Model Making, a more comprehensive and complicated manual, covers cars, trucks, boats and planes.

Outdoors USA, the Yearbook of Agriculture, 1967, is divided into 4 sections: The Big Woods, Water, Beautification and The Countryside. If you are planning a trip, you will enjoy the information in this book. It is also a good "idea" book for homeowners, garden clubs, farmers and youth workers. Each year the Yearbook on Agriculture specializes and these books are the most complete and best available on their subjects. Among our collection are issues featuring insects, soils, grass, seeds and the consumer. Not new but excellent are the American Guide Series books of

Family FINANCIAL PROTECTION

Policyholder Questions Answered by the Health Insurance Institute, 277 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q. Recently I joined a business firm which provides an excellent health insurance program that includes basic hospital and surgical coverage and major medical protection. I'm phasing out the coverage I bought earlier for my family. I'll realize nice savings, in that my group coverage is paid for in full by my boss. Still, it seems too good to be true. Is there something that I'm forgetting?

A. If you are completely satisfied with your group coverage at work, and apparently you are, there is no reason why you shouldn't let your other coverage lapse. Just be sure that you are indeed adequately protected.

It might not be a bad idea to establish a fund with the money you will save to help pay for everyday health expenses which are not covered by your group insurance, such as non-prescription drugs, certain medical appliances, eye examinations and eyeglasses, to name a few.

If you do not have a disability income policy to provide you with cash during periods of disability, you might check with your agent about a program for you based on your earnings, and on sources of income you can count on when you are unable to work. Perhaps you already have a disability income plan where you work.

Again we say, be sure you are adequately protected before letting any insurance policy lapse.

Q. Is a major medical policy always known as "major medical," or is it given other titles?

A. Virtually all insurance companies which provide this broad protection now use the term "major medical."

But you may run across the phrase "extended care" coverage which is used by some other insuring organizations.

Good-bye To Dishpan Hands

The average household annually washes enough dishes to form a stack over twice as high as the Empire State Building and weighing close to six tons. That means that Mrs. Average Homemaker can look forward to spending as many as five or six years of her married life at the sink washing dishes.

With these staggering facts in mind, it's no wonder that most housewives are now ready to throw in the towel in favor of an automatic dishwasher.

According to Hotpoint, the firm that pioneered the dishwasher, the homemaker can cut meal cleanup time at least in half with a modern electric dishwasher. But getting out of the kitchen fast and having more time for family fun isn't the only consideration.

Today's dishwashers thoroughly wash even the dirtiest dishes quietly and efficiently in water much hotter than hands can stand, effectively killing germs and bacteria to help protect the family's health.

And they have banquet-sized capacity. The undercounter model shown above can wash and dry up to 17 complete table settings at one time.

Other time-saving features are a multi-level washing action which scours dishes clean without pre-rinsing, and a super wetting agent dispenser which prevents water spotting on fine china and glassware and completely eliminates hand drying.

Hotpoint dishwashers are available in White, Copertone, Avocado and Harvest, a rich new golden color tone. Also available is an attractive wood panel trim kit which enables the homemaker to match the dishwasher front with existing cabinets.

ON MAKING QUALITY HAY

The two secrets for making good quality hay are fertilizing for rapid growth and harvesting before the plants reach maturity. Neal Pratt, Extension agronomist says, a soil test should be the starting point. Because of the adequate soil moisture, he says, opportunities for efficiently using fertilizer are very good.

Spring A Beauty Plan

When Spring fever hits it seems as if everything else goes by the boards—school, homework, even how you look. But, actually, Spring is the best time to take stock of your looks—and to plan a practical beauty ritual that will take you through the long, hot summer.

No time to make-up in the morning? That's what you think. Just ten minutes of a little tender care will save face for you all day long. Start with a brisk waker-upper. Wash your face carefully with hot or warm water, then splash with a little cold water. For another tingling start to the day, keep your cologne in the refrigerator and dab on a few drops in the morning. Both are wonderfully refreshing!

Next, apply your foundation and put some on your eyelids to smooth the way for eye-makeup. But go easy on the eyeliner—because the big cosmetic news for Spring is concentration on the mouth, not the eyes.

Definite colors that highlight your lips but don't overpower them are the fashion for Spring. Psychedelics, three tasty lipsticks made by Tussy, have this high frequency color with a low voltage look. New Dimensions Of Design

Lumber lamination and timber engineering have opened new dimensions of design. Lamination has freed designers from restrictions once imposed by the size of trees. One and two inch thick lumber are bonded with powerful adhesives and built up into arches, beams or columns of any desired shape or dimension.

Timber engineering has brought the warmth of wood to large clear span buildings — domes, pyramids, upswep Oriental type structures, churches, schools, commercial and industrial buildings. Clear spans of several hundred feet have been achieved with glued laminated Southern Pine arches.

The Mini-Look In Furniture

Love Seat by Jackson of Danville

While the mini-skirt continues to dominate the fashion scene, the mini-look is creeping into home furnishings. The reason is not so much of keeping up with fads, but adapting to change.

Furniture manufacturers are producing more and more pieces to fit small areas in the home such as the foyer, narrow wall space or hallway area. They're also scaling furniture for apartments and homes with small rooms.

The furniture makers recognize that rooms are getting smaller and that more Americans are on the move and need furniture designed to fit almost any apartment or house.

Elegance is not lost because the furniture is designed for small spaces. The secret is fitting the piece to the space for which it is scaled. The smaller pieces can be used in various arrangements, and they can give the homemaker the pleasure of switching pieces without making her room look cluttered.

The love seat is becoming very popular. A lot of homemakers are finding love seats, or small sofas, ideal for their first living rooms and dens, and for large bedrooms. They're being used in pairs to create practical and attractive arrangements.

Small chests for dining alcoves and foyers, small tables for living rooms and scaled bedroom pieces... all are giving home furnishings a fashionable look these days.

The first mom to serve this unique combination of peanut butter and relishes will be the favorite of the block. To make sure there is always some on hand, prepare a double batch and store what's not needed at the moment in a tight container in the refrigerator.

PETER PAN RELISH

1 can catchup
1/4 cup prepared mustard
1/4 cup Peter Pan Smooth Peanut Butter
1/4 cup well-drained sweet pickle relish
