Politics is a strange science, if you could call it that. This came to mind as I was reflecting on the recent election. I didn't know anyone in this county would cast a ballot for Governor White, yet he carried the county along with the rest of the state. If the rest of the state had voted with Crockett County, Gov. White would be in a June 7, run-off with Andy Briscoe, so we don't always just go along.

We didn't have a Republican Primary, so the many folks who expressed a desire to vote for Tom Loeffler, did not have the opportunity. Tom will be sorely missed as our representative in D.C. but I believe, if past performance is an indicator, Pete Snelson will serve us well in that office. Of course, he has to win in November. He will be running against either Lamar Smith or Van Archer, neither of which could be called "West Texan," but I am favorably impressed with Smith.

Late returns showed Larry Fuller down by 498 votes in the 8th District election for Court of Appeals Justice, to Jerry Woodard. Larry carried Crockett County, but late returns from Presidio put Woodard over the top.

Lester Dahlberg, a LaRoche candidate, will be the Democratic nominee for State Representative. Having no opposition in the primary, he will face Republican incumbent Gerald Geistweidt in November.

The State's teachers were determined to defeat Governor White, but this effort failed in the primary. They may have better luck in November. Gov. White is an astute politician and employs a terrific ad agency. I've seen his television commercial on what he is going to do for West Texas oil. If I didn't know the oil price drop was international in nature, I'd be inclined to vote for him myself. I remember the last time when he was commiserating with voters about their high utility bills. No doubt, he got a lot of votes but the bills went up instead of down. Some voters will remember that, and some will not.

The next few months should be interesting to say the least.

Things are getting hectic as usual about this time of year. The end of school always brings a heavy schedule of news and pictures. We need to know about all the happenings and if someone doesn't tell us, we're not likely to know. We would appreciate your help with your news and pictures. If you can't come by the office, please call. Please remember the deadline for news is before noon on Tuesday. Our graduation edition is coming up May 21. We have a new book of art work and some outstanding graduation greetings. We are in the process of trying to contact everyone, but in case you've been missed come by and pick out your greeting.

Richard and Cynthia Berry came to Ozona to stay and they refuse to let the oil price drop put a damper on their enthusiasm. Richard came here to manage Buttery Motor Co. several months ago, and he has been on the go since, making deals and selling cars and trucks.

When they are not busy buying and selling, they are remodeling the old General Motors cars building. This week Berry moved his new and used trucks to the old Foxworth lot, and more work is planned on that location.

At the same time both Richard and Cynthia were busy with the old Magieland building which they acquired last week. Mrs. Berry is going to open an antique shop in the front part of the building, while Richard is going to use the back for his collection of antique cars.

Cynthia's new business will be "Antiques, Etc." and will feature early American antique furniture for the most part along with a few other antiques such as cut glass, silver, etc. Her parents have operated in antiques for the past fifteen years and will be assisting in the venture. She plans to open by the middle of next month.

Kids enjoy Story Hour

at the Crockett County Library. Nineteen children were on hand Saturday morning for the story hour, sponsored by the Ozona Womans League, Shawn Mitchell, center is in charge of the summer program. Other adult helpers are Louise LeDoux, L., and Elizabeth Clark.

June run-off election to name winners of two local races

Crockett County voters went along with the rest of the state and district as far as voting went in the Democratic Primary held here Saturday. There was no Republican Primary in this county.

In two local races, run-offs will be held June 7. For County Commissioner, Precinct 2, incumbent commissioner B. W. Stuart will face challenger Jerry Hill. Stuart led the ticket with 105 votes to Hill's 97, but Billy Carson's 48 votes held the key to the run-off.

Stuart, a retired motor company owner, has held the post for several terms. Hill runs the Tex-Pack agency and owns and operates the Western Auto Store here in Ozona.

A run-off for Justice of the Peace will be held county-wide. Raymond Davee, the incumbent polled a total of 582 votes to head up the ticket. A close race for the run-off spot saw Jerry Lay polling the most votes. He had 366 to former County Clerk David Weant's 350, forcing Davee into the run-off by 134 votes.

Davee is a former game warden with 30 years of law enforcement to his credit. Lay is the former owner of L-B Motor Co., now Buttery Motor Co.

In the only other contested local race, incumbent Chuy Castro polled 207 votes to win re-election outright. His opponents, Jody Conaway and Carlos Lopez, polled 81, and 105 votes respectively.

Local contestants will be on the ballot June 7, along with several other candidates for statewide offices.

Pete Snelson, won the nomination for U. S. Representative, 81st District, Tom Loeffler's old post. Snelson, State Senator for 20 years in this district, will face Republican opposition in November. Former Bexar County Commissioner Lamar Smith and former city councilman from San Antonio Van Archer will be in a run-off for the Republican nomination.

In giving Snelson the nod, Crockett County voters cast 609 ballots for him. David Hunsicker was a distant second with 264 votes. Joe Sullivan polled 123, and Terry Lowry, 71.

Crockett County voters gave incumbent Governor Mark White the edge with 349 ballots. However, if the statewide election had gone the Crockett County way, Governor White would be in the June 7 run-off with Andrew Briscoe. Briscoe polled 296 votes and Don Crowder 253. The other three unknowns just did poll over 100 votes all together. Gov. White will face Gov. Bill Clements in the general election in November. Clements got the Republican nomination over Tom Loeffler and Kent Hance.

Incumbent Lt. Governor Bill Hobby

won easily over the opposition candidate David Young. The vote here was 653 for Hobby to 366 for Young. Hobby also carried the state. He will face opposition in the general election, the Republican run-off June 7 will name his opposition.

Incumbents Attorney General Jim Mattox, Comptroller Bob Bullock, State Treasurer Ann Richards and Land Commissioner Garry Mauro had no opposition in the primary, but all will face opponents in November.

Mrs. Morris

dies at center

Pearl Williams Morris was born in Temple, Texas, Sept. 23, 1902. She married Jack Morris of Temple and he preceded her in death. She worked as a printer in Temple for a local print shop until she moved to Ozona in 1973 to live with her cousin Edna (Happy) Davidson. She continued to reside here following Mrs. Davidson's death.

Mrs. Morris's father was the original owner and editor of the Temple Dailey News. She is survived by her cousins Charlie Davidson of Ozona and Muggs Stephenson of Fritch, Texas. Memorials are to be sent to the Crockett County Care Center Auxiliary.

Mrs. Morris died Tuesday evening in Crockett County Care Center.

DANNY SANCHEZ-All other Ozona High School regional qualifiers failed to make it to state. Danny Sanchez, OHS trackster, will represent Ozona at the state meet in Austin, in the 3200-meter run.

New board members given oath of office

The Crockett County School Board met Monday evening in the board room in a special called session to open bids on the lighting project for the schools. The one bid received was rejected due to budget restrictions. The project was tabled for further study.

Crockett County Judge A.O. Fields administered the oath of office to the two new school board members, Sandra Childress and Dan Pullen. The board was reorganized for the coming year as follows: Jeffrey Sutton, president; Gary Mitchell, vice president; Van Miller, secretary.

The board heard a presentation from a contract food service which is used by several schools around the nation. No action was taken, but if further study reveals money can be saved without cutting down on quality, the board plans to consider it.

Use of the cafeteria was granted to Ozona National Bank for a two-day seminar which will be held in June.

Superintendent of Schools Garland Davis was named to represent the district on a joint committee for educational service center.

Some discussion was held on the transfer of Bob Wallace, Intermediate School Principal to the Heritage School to head up the Art Department. A new principal for the school must be named. This will be on the agenda for the next regular meeting.

Work has not begun on the school budget for next year, however, the board is concerned about the drop in gas and oil values which has eroded the tax base. On state funding, the school system is as far as it will go. Local taxes is the main concern at the present.

Firemen on scene of blast and near crash

The Ozona Volunteer Fire Department had a fairly busy week last week with three calls.

Friday the department was called out to Pool Co. north of Ozona when a truck bed exploded while being welded. Raymond Umfried was making repairs to the tank when it exploded and caught fire. Although it was used for water it contained some crude oil which ignited. Umfried received minor burns to his hand.

Monday around 7 p.m. a PBY Catalina World War II vintage plane landed at the Ozona airport after one engine stopped. The Captain of the plane requested the fire department send a truck to the airport before they landed. The plane was in route from California to Pensacola, Florida. The 7 men crew was taking the PBY to a Pensacola museum. They were to spend Monday night in San Antonio. They were flying at 8500 ft. when they lost the engine forcing the landing.

After word went out, the volunteer fire department rushed to the scene along with several law enforcement vehicles, and most everyone else in town. The plane was an interesting sight, but those looking for excitement found no plane crash nor cache of narcotics.

4-H Fashion Show next week at center

The Annual Crockett County 4-H Fashion Show will be Tuesday, May 13, 7:30 p.m., at the Civic Center. Contestants will be modeling non-tailored, active sportswear, and evening and specialty garments. Age categories include: 8-11, 12-13, and 14 and older.

Prior to the fashion show, 4-Hers are judged on overall appearance of garments, 55 points, garment construction, 35 points, and project record form, 10 points. Project records are judged prior to the fashion show date. High point individuals in each age division will be eligible for district competition, June 24, in Midland.

Raymond Umfried narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday afternoon at the Pool Company yard north of Ozona, when he was welding on this tank and it exploded. It was used to haul water, but apparently a combustible fluid had been hauled in it at one time. The tank had a hole this large in it on the other side. Ozona firemen investigate.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The State's economy was called into question last week after Wall Street bond experts lowered the rating of state guaranteed bonds.

After Standard & Poor's Corporation announced it had lowered the rating of $200 million of capital improvement bonds for several state universities, Governor Mark White said the action will have little effect on state government.

State Treasurer Ann Richards also said the lowered bond rating was of "minimal consequence." But in an interesting development, John Fainter, a bond attorney who runs White's reelection campaign, said the state had received a very loud and clear message that Texas needed to diversify its revenue base.

In fact, a Standard & Poor's official recently suggested that Texas adopt a temporary surcharge on the sales tax.

Stewardship week set for soil and water

The Crockett Soil and Water Conservation District has announced they will join in the national observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week to take place on May 4-11, according to an announcement by W. R. Baggett chairman of the district.

The theme of this year's observance is "Conservation's New Frontiers". This focus is especially appropriate as our survival depends on each other, other living things and the basic necessities of soil and water. Together we must work for the good of all to utilize, conserve and properly manage those resources in our care.

The Crockett SWCD was organized in 1950 for the purpose of offering ranchers, farmers and the local community a voluntary conservation technical assistance program through which individuals could seek and request conservation assistance to meet their individual land's capabilities and needs.

The National Association of Conservation Districts has sponsored Soil and Water Stewardship Week in the United States since 1955, in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts, as one way to emphasize the importance of good stewardship of our basic soil and water resources. Materials for the 1986 observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week have been distributed to local churches.

Fainter explained that White would not call a special session to do that because it would be disruptive in an election year.

The rating agency also lowered bond ratings for veterans land and housing, water projects, student loans, agriculture, and park developments.

The recent oil price slump has hit the Texas economy hard, but particularly so in the Midland-Odessa area. Last week a moving company executive estimated that as many as 20,000 people will leave that area by the end of the year.

Oil industry layoffs there have already caused hundreds of people to pack up and leave for other states.

Short Takes

• Texas Education Agency officials say teachers who took the competency test at three Arlington locations where tests were collected before everyone finished, may retake the tests next month.

Worker To Lose Jobs

The head of the largest state employees group last week predicted that up to 2,000 workers in the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will lose their jobs before September. Gary Hughes, head of the Texas Public Employees Union, said patients are being moved to community centers, and that the agency will eliminate up to that many jobs.

A legislative panel is examining whether the moves are being made too quickly at a cost to the state of millions of dollars in federal funds.

Austin State Rep. Bob Richardson estimated that the loss of federal dollars could be as high as $27 million for next year.

He also questioned whether the rate of patient relocation was beneficial to patients.

Air-Monitoring Started

The State Health Department, in response to the Soviet nuclear power plant accident, started up an Austin air-monitoring station to detect possible radioactive drifts into Texas.

Two other stations in Midland and Tyler are on standby in case northern states begin reporting higher radioactivity.

Texas frontier creates most fabled law enforcement agency in history

Frontier Texas has created one of the most fabled law enforcement agencies in history: the Texas Rangers. As a group, their actions are legendary; individually, they seem centaur-like, half man and half beast, capable of solving any problem with the logic of a Colt six-shooter. Above all, they possess boundless pride in an allegiance to Texas and its laws.

Now, in the late 1870s, the group seems to be at its peak. Through the towns and the cattle country of Texas, the Texas Rangers mean law and order.

The term "rangers" refers to groups of men selected by colonists who roam the frontier to defend the settlers against Indian attacks. These "ranging companies" were first formed in Stephen F. Austin's colony in 1823 and again in 1826. In 1835 an elite company known as the Texas Rangers was formed and started battling lawbreaking Mexicans, Indians and white men.

People call the Texas Rangers everything from state troops to a police force or a constabulary. But they're none of that. One author probably sums it up best. He says, "The Rangers are one of the most colorful, efficient and deadly band of irregular partisans on the side of law and order the world has ever seen. They've been created by the needs of a war frontier, by a society that couldn't afford a regular army."

They must seem like an army to their enemies. Armed with twin Colt revolvers, they fearlessly attack the Apaches and Comanches, in camp and on the open plains. Knowing the value of surprise and direct action, they lead U.S. Army battalions against unprepared Mexican forces that outnumber them two to one. And rowdy cowboys fresh off the range find that riding into a saloon and shooting up the place often ends with a Ranger blasting the merry-maker out of his saddle.

Odds mean little to the Rangers; they are almost always outnumbered two or three to one--and still win. They believe the best defense is to attack, dominate and subdue. An eye for an eye is their unwritten motto. While stationed in Mexico, a Ranger detected a pickpocket stealing his handkerchief. The Ranger quickly shot him, recovered his handkerchief and rode on. Another Mexican was shot and killed for throwing a stone at the passing Texans. No wonder they're known as "Diablos Tejanos" and "Los Tejanos Sangrientos"--the Texas devils and the bloody Texans. Women cross themselves at the mention of the name.

Typically the Rangers are young, adventurous and very brave men. "The Ranger image is that of a tall, quiet-spoken Westerner, who prefers his horse to remale society, who wears a well-oiled pistol (and knows how to use it) and who, when called upon, will destroy the forces of evil by killing them," one fellow says.

Although they're tattered, sweat-stained and bearded from riding the range, the Rangers aren't necessarily ignorant gunslingers. Capt. McCullough commands lawyers, doctors and poets. Capt. Giddings uses frequent quotation from Greek and Latin around Ranger campfires. The Rangers both embody some of the most civilized thinking and the most violent actions known on the frontier.

If they sometimes seem ruthless, the Ranger's actions are effective. They've virtually closed the wild frontier, changing the atmosphere from anarchy to controlled violence where the laws of organized society can rule. In doing so, they've made themselves into enduring legends and earned great respect. Chief Flacco, Indian scout for the Rangers, has said of Texas Ranger Capt. Jack Hays, "Me and Red Wing not afraid to go to hell together. Captain Jack heap brave; not afraid to go to hell by himself."

"Journey Through Texas" is a Sesquicentennial Project of the University of Houston-University Park Office of Media Relations. This piece is based on material housed in the Special Collections Department of the University's M.D. Anderson Library.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club

by Mrs. Bailey Post

May weather means summer for most of us and is one of the most important months to get gardens and landscape in good condition and growing well before severe heat starts.

One of the most rewarding May bloomers is the Confederate Jasmine, which is versatile as well as attractive. It grows fast but is easier to control than most cultivated vines because it twines and does not attach itself to the structure. It combines the evergreen qualities of honeysuckle, the fragrance of Wisteria and the usefulness of English ivy. This jasmine can be used for screening, as an arbor, trellis, for cascading over a wall or a bank. Also, it can be grown on trees without the risk of killing the tree. It prefers partial to deep shade and will grow in almost any type of soil, but prefers a moist and drained area. New plants require support in order to climb and is not bothered with insects.

If young leaves of ornamentals are yellow with green veins, iron deficiency may be the cause. This problem occurs mainly in alkaline soil which causes iron to be locked up in compounds with other elements, which makes it unavailable to plants. Spraying with iron chelate or iron sulfate is the most rapid and effective way to correct this problem. Apply at the ratio recommended on the label. This may be applied to the soil but results are much slower.

Also, this is mum planting season. Set out new plants or root cuttings of new growth from your old plants. If last years plants showed no sign of disease, dig the old clumps, divide and reset in new-prepared soil. As plants become established, begin pinching out terminal buds every 10 days to promote branching and increase flower production.

Late spring is a good time to divide and reset crowded clumps of cannas. This will help avoid poor flower production and the foliage wilting rapidly in the summer heat. Reset plants at least 12 inches apart in reworked soil, and spread a mulch around the base of the plants. Water thoroughly.

Call Her Blessed

Oliver Wendell Holmes possessed amazing skills, but none greater than his insight into the minds of mothers:

Youth fades; love droops, the leaves of friendship fall:

A mother's secret hope outlives them all.

Blessed is the child whose "mother's secret hope" is embodied in "sighs too deep for words," constantly hoping with unspoken encouragement.

A "mother's secret hope" finds expression in soft eyes that reflect love and in firm eyes that discipline, urging adherence to rightness without ever speaking a word.

She is a person who sees no inconsistency in being herself and at the same time sharing herself with her child, calling forth the best in both.

She recognizes that her child is a first-time visitor to this planet, and everything is new. Mother becomes tour director, touching the early dogwoods of the forest, blessing her child by introducing everything that grows.

And "mother's secret hope" outlives all failures because she never sees her child's successes in terms of what he or she does, but what he or she is. And when failures happen, it is failure in DOING not BEING.

Whether you are 5 or 50, she never stops being mother. At 5 you are unaware of her secret hope; at 50 she no longer has a secret. You see it in her wrinkled face, roadmapped by your own pilgrimage up several "Fools Hills" and other related mountains.

A "mother's secret hope outlives... all," because "Her children rise up and call her blessed; her husband also, and he praises her." (Proverbs 31:28)

Royals split double header with San Angelo Angels

The Ozona Royals traveled to San Angelo Sunday and split a double-header with the high flying Angels losing 13 to 3 and winning 6 to 5.

In game one, the Royals started off quickly when Steve Sanchez scored a run off, a double steal play by the Royals. The Angels then retaliated by scoring two runs on a walk and a homerun in the bottom of the first off Royal pitcher Abel Lara. The Royals scored two more runs in the second when Pandi Garza and Willie Fierro crossed the plate. The Royals held the lead thru two innings but ran into the Angels strong bats in the bottom of the third as the Angels scored five runs on three hits, a walk and an error. The Angels scored four more runs in the fourth off started Abel Lara before Pandi Garza came on in relief in the fourth. The Angels held the Royals scoreless in the fifth and scored three more runs in the bottom of the fifth to end the game on the ten run rule 13 to 3.

The Royals bounced back from a tough loss in game one to win the second game by the score of 6 to 5.

The Angels drew first blood in the first inning by scoring two runs on two hits and an error of Royals pitcher Steve Sanchez. The Royals were kept on check for five innings and trailed the Angels 2 to 0 after five complete innings. With one out in the top of the sixth, Steve Sanchez scored on a single by Ruben Mendez to bring the score to 2 to 1. With Mendez on first, Hector DeHoyos attempted to bunt but flied out and Mendez was doubled up to bring an apparent end to the Royals inning but DeHoyos was interfered with when he tried to but so he got a free base while Mendez advanced to second. With one out in the inning, the Royals bats came alive as they scored five more runs on singles by Willie Fierro and Pandi Garza, a double by Arnold Vargas, and a triple by Butch Gonzales. The Angels came back in the bottom of the seventh but came out one run short as they scored three runs off S. Sanchez who allowed five runs on five hits, six strikeouts, three errors and one walk.

The Royals will be in town this Sunday to play the Ballinger Bearcats who are in first place with a two game lead over the Angels in the Eastern Division. Game time is 1:30 p.m.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Mrs. Montgomery: May 6, 1986

I have kept putting off writing this letter because I was once a teenager and I remember doing things that are being done nowadays, but not with the irresponsibility I see everyday.

I am very mad and very sick and tired of beer bottles being thrown out of passing cars in front of our house. We live on Avenue J and sometimes at night it turns into the Indianapolis Speedway. (With drunk driving!)

So far it has cost me three flat tires. I have literally gone out and swept the street with my broom to prevent other people from getting flats. This is getting ridiculous and is very inconsiderate to begin with. There is no need for this when people can carry a paper bag or something in their cars in which to dispose of their beer bottles. Why litter the town? It is a beautiful town and why people do this is beyond me.

My husband and I both work and we are up at five a.m. every morning if not earlier. It is very distressing to be woke up several times EVERY night because of screeching tires, breaking beer bottles and hot-rodding cars. As if that weren't enough, everyone must be deaf who drive those cars because we are also forced to endure loud music. We are music lovers ourselves but not at 1, 2 or 3 in the morning and certainly not that LOUD!!

I live in terror 24 hours a day. I live with the fear that some night a car will come crashing through our trailer house in the middle of the night. In the daytime it's fear of the children getting run over. There are two signs plainly stating "SLOW-children playing 30 mph."

A couple of months ago our neighbors cat got run over. The tears on her childrens faces and their heartbroken expressions were enough to break my heart; it was their pet; yet everyone kept right on running over it. I (again) had to get out on the street and scrape what was left of the poor animal off the road. It was not a very pleasant sight

Blood drive set here for May 14

Another blood drive will be held in Ozona May 14 at the Chamber of Commerce. The last blood drive held in February showed a poor response so the Lions Club will be challenging the Knights of Columbus to see who can get the most people to donate blood.

The loser will donate $1.00 per pint, and the money will go to a charity or organization. Any organization willing to be in the challenge may do so.

EXTENSION OFFICE NEWS

By Rachel Hall

The comprehensive 12-week Fit for Life Series concluded May 1. A variety of topics concentrating on improving fitness and maintaining healthy body weight included eating cues, calorie control, snacking, stress, fad diets, recipe modification, self concept, eating out, flexibility exercises, and building aerobic activity into daily routine.

Participants participated in various parameter tests during the first, sixth and twelfth weeks-blood pressure, cardiovascular endurance, body composition, flexibility and muscular strength and endurance. Last week active participants found that they had decreased blood pressure, increased cardiovascular endurance, decreased inches and pounds, increased flexibility and muscular strength. These characteristics are common to individuals who increase aerobic (walking, swimming, jogging, aerobic dance, and cycling) activities.

Participants who completed the series last Thursday included Martha Beasley, Dana Cowen, Zoe Green, Donna Herring, Reba Houston, Mary Huckabee, Polly Mayes, Peggy McWilliams, Tina Moran, Willa Perry, Dena Porter, Michelle Wharton, and Glenda Winkley. Other class participants included Betty Bullard, Becky Childress, Lisa Garza, Kim Hager, Barbara Malone, Nancy Moore, Jan North, Jodi Sessom, Jeanie Thompson, and Susan Womack.

4-H clothing members viewed the "Amanda Goes West" slide set series on April 30. The Amanda series describes a young girl's journey from Tennessee to Texas in 1838. The series provides a colorful fashion review from 1838-1890. Following the presentation, members viewed historical fashions (1890-1940) and sewing equipment in the Crockett County Museum.

The public is invited to attend the 4-H Fashion Show, May 13, 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. 4-Hers will be modeling garments which they constructed this spring, as well as displaying textile (personal and home accessory) entries.

Locals win Texas Tech tournament

Orlando DeHoyos and Pete Gomez won the Texas Tech University Law School Doubles Raquetball Tournament on April 14. The Law School Raquetball Tournament was sponsored by the legal fraternity Phi Alpha Delta.

Orlando DeHoyos also won the Men's "A" Singles Division. Pete Gomez, Jr. is the son of Pete and Irene Gomez of Sonora and is a first year law student. Orlando DeHoyos is originally from Ozona and is the son of Oleo and Alicia DeHoyos. He is a second year law student.

Health Fair draws large attendance

The April 29 Health Fair was a success with 356 attending and 15 health related organizations participating. Karen Huffman and Texas Department of Health nurses screened individuals for anemia and health risks (heart disease, cancer, diabetes and accident risks). Bill Richards and Shannon Memorial Hospital representatives administered the following screening tests: diabetes, electrocardiogram and lung capacity.

Leo Lewis, Beltone representative, administered numerous hearing tests and adjusted hearing aids. Dr. Paul Matthews, Optometrist, screened individuals for glaucoma and eye abnormalities. Home Health Care representatives checked blood pressures.

Emergency medical technicians, Dub O'Bryant, Carol Hunnicutt and Doug Meador, demonstrated emergency medical care. Local firemen, Doris Haire, Bob Falkner, John L. Henderson and Larry McMann, explained the usage of their emergency and fire equipment. Becky Childress was available to answer any cancer related questions.

Other educational exhibits included: Dental, Social Security, Planned Parenthood, Family Shelter, Department of Human Services and Associated Milk Producers.

All organizations and individuals assisting during the health fair deserve appreciation for contributing a day to improve the health of Ozona Citizens. Other individuals assisting with the fair included: Jonsey Williams, Georgia Haire, Roberta Schoenhals, Elma Buckner, Cindy Nicks, Nancy Davee, Mary Lou Knox, Mary Louise Hayes, Polly Mayes, Alma Wilson and Joyce Young.

The annual health fair was coordinated by the Extension Home Economics Committee and the Texas Department of Health.

The following leaders have actively worked with 4-Hers in completing a clothing project: Dana McAllister, Sandy Montgomery, Jean Connors, Betty Martin, Cynthia Flores, Debbie Phillips, Joann Williamson, Jackie Shacklette, Nancy Davee, Betty King, Nancy Harris, Susie Childress, Donna Snyder, Helen Kenison, Cathy Henry, Carmen Sutton, Cindy White, Cynthia Berry and Bobby Fatout.

A big "Happy Birthday" wish is extended to Matt Moore. He will be three Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moran were in San Antonio last week with their son, Justin, where he got a good medical report.

Crockett County Library Notes

By Louise Ledoux

A great big Thank You goes out to B. W. Stuart for his donation of a screen that we could show our films on. It sure came in handy Saturday on the first Story Hour for the Children. And thanks also to Elliott Barrera and his crew for the great bulletin board for the Children's Room. It looks marvelous! And it makes displays so easy!

Story Hour was a great success. We had 19 children in attendance and according to a poll afterwards, they all had a lot of fun and would be back next Saturday.

We have had several requests for ideas for memorials and donations, other than books, that are needed at the Library. We have several items on our Wish List that would be very appreciated, such as a Drive-In Book Drop, an Hours of Operation sign, Trees for our Landscaping Project, a Tape Recorder and Player, Book Ends, and etc. These items run from $1000.00 to $1.00 and all in between.

We are very proud to have a collection of Scotty Moore's oils, sketches and water colors on display during the month of May. We appreciate the opportunity to show off some of our talented local artists.

Come Check It Out!

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED-Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cervantez announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ninfa, to Greg Fierro, son of Mrs. Anita Fierro. Both graduates of Ozona High School, the prospective bridegroom is employed with a well-servicing company. The bride attended Central Texas Commercial College at Brownwood and is employed with the Crockett County Library. The couple will be married May 24, at the Ozona Civic Center. They will make their home in Ozona.

All night long grad party

The all night graduation party to honor the Srs. of '86 is finalizing plans for the event. The large auditorium of the Civic Center will be the main center of the celebration. The Teen Council has chosen a Tropical Paradise theme for the room in which the dance, dance contest, surprise contests, and live broadcast by KRCT will be held. Decorations are being planned to make the area a real tropical celebration.

The Youth Center will be the game contest center. There will be several contests and games held throughout the night such as tournaments in pool, snooker, darts, foosball, ping-pong and others. Drawings for free door-prizes will be also held in this room throughout the night. Remember you must be present when your name is drawn in order to receive your prize. Trophies will be awarded to the tournament winners.

The small back room of the center will be the "All Night Long" movie theater. Movies will continue throughout the night with prizes being drawn during intermissions.

Food will be plentiful throughout the celebration with a large food table in the ballroom, cokes and popcorn served in the movie area, and a breakfast of sausage and egg burritos and juice served to everyone at 6:00 a.m.

We have a fun filled night planned with lots of surprises so please plan to attend. Donations for the celebration are continuing to come in, but we are still short of our last year's contributions.

Please call Garland Young at 2-3266, Patti Jones at 2-3601, or Alice Lopez at 2-5227, if you feel you can
