Skies clear after light snow here

By The Associated Press

Light snow fell across western portions of the South Plains early today, but forecasts promised improving weather conditions across the state for the weekend.

Clearing skies are expected tonight and Saturday in West Texas and South Texas while skies will remain cloudy across most of North Texas tonight with clearing expected to begin from the west during the early morning hours of Saturday.

Lows tonight will be in the 20s and 30s in West Texas and in the 30s and 40s elsewhere except along the immediate coast where readings will be in the 50s.

Highs Saturday will be in the 50s and 60s statewide.

Light rain and drizzle dampened eastern and south central portions of North Texas early today and all of South Texas had some precipitation except in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Fog was reported in extreme South Texas, inland along the middle coast and in Southeast Texas.

Early morning temperatures were in the 30s and 40s except in South Texas where readings were in the 50s. Extremes ranged from a chilly 20 at Dalhart to 61 at Brownsville.

Somalia gunmen ambush convoy

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP) - Somali gunmen ambushed a relief convoy just west of Mogadishu, U.N. officials said today, detailing an attack that came less than a week after U.S. troops launched a major operation in the region.

Also today, the United Nations Development Program announced plans for an interim police force in Mogadishu and some rural areas. Training was to begin Monday.

United Nations troops could begin replacing U.S. forces in Somalia in just weeks, U.N. Secretary-General Boutros Boutros-Ghali said Thursday in his first indication of when the transfer might begin.

The United States, which first sent troops to Somalia on Dec. 9 to help protect deliveries of relief food to starving people, has pushed for a quick withdrawal.

Jury slaps GM with $105 million verdict

ATLANTA (AP) - A jury awarded the parents of a teen-age crash victim $105.2 million in a verdict consumer advocates and others say increases the pressure for a recall of millions of older General Motors Corp. pickup trucks.

The state jury found the world's biggest automaker negligent Thursday in the fuel-tank design of a pickup. It ordered GM to pay $101 million in punitive damages and $4.2 million in compensatory damages to the parents of Shannon Moseley, a 17-year-old killed when his 1985 truck burst into flames in a crash in 1989.

"This award was so large, they'll have to recall the vehicle," said Clarence Ditlow, executive director of the Center for Auto Safety, a Washington consumer advocacy group. "If GM fights this, it will be a greater disaster than the Exxon Valdez. It shows such callous disregard for human life."

Jurors said they felt GM had ignored evidence its pre-1988 trucks, with twin gas tanks mounted "sidesaddle" outside the truck frame, were unsafe.

"There were memos kept secret from the public, and GM employees who testified that they were unaware of safety tests on the product," juror Otis L. Rowan said. "They made no honest effort to notify the public of the danger."

He and fellow juror John Dale said the jury hoped the verdict would persuade GM to order a recall, or the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration to force a recall, of

A touch of Jack Frost's hand

Old Man Winter zapped Hereford with a quick reminder Thursday night that he - not a groundhog - is in charge of when winter ends. These trees along North Lee Avenue serve as reminder that spring is not yet sprung. Hereford was hit with a light dusting of snow from the storm. Temperatures are expected to warm up today, melting snow and frost alike.

Task force cracks multi-million dollar unemployment claims scam

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A task force of about 90 federal agents raided eight locations in South Texas and arrested 12 people on mail fraud charges in connection with a multi-million-dollar unemployment claims scam, authorities say.

Federal authorities said the scam mostly benefited people who were spending the winter in Mexico.

"We think this is quite significant. Here we have a number of locations in Roma and McAllen," said Julian De La Rosa, inspector general of the Labor Department in Washington. "This is millions of dollars that could go to other claimants.

"Based on the information I'm getting up here, the amount of evidence seized far exceeded our expectations. They had to go out and rent a truck to transport the evidence to a secure location," he told the San Antonio Express-News in a telephone interview.

The South Texas case comes less than two years after the Department of Labor broke up a similar fraud operation run by the Ibarra family in Eagle Pass. Several family members pleaded guilty in that case.

Authorities say that in both cases, thousands of unemployment claims were fraudulently submitted, complete with forged job searches, to other states.

Unemployment checks were received at addresses around the area and were allegedly cashed by the defendants, who then sent the proceeds to the claimants in Mexico after withholding about 15 percent as a service fee, authorities said.

"In order to get an unemployment benefit check, the claimant must certify that he or she is available for work and is making efforts to get work," Charles Dause, an assistant U.S. Attorney in McAllen said. "The certification requires that they list three places they have applied for a job for each check that is issued."

The 12 people arrested, Dause said, were forging the claims on behalf of Mexican workers, most of whom were not in the United States, much less looking for work.

All of the 12 people have been released after posting bond, authorities said.

a.m. Sunday. Highlight of the event will be the presentation of the first Distinguished Graduate Award by St. Anthony's School. A covered dish dinner will follow at Hereford Community Center and an open house will be held at the Catholic school from 2 to 4 p.m.

The 75th anniversary events this week were observed in conjunction with Catholic School Week.

This 1989 Dodge Dynasty was one of two vehicles involved in a traffic accident Thursday afternoon here. The accident occurred at 12:05 p.m. in the 500 block of North 25 Mile Avenue. She was not injured.

Economic growth seen in report

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's unemployment rate fell to 7.1 percent in January, the lowest level in a year, as signs of growing economic strength in the past three months finally translated into an improved jobs picture, the government said today.

The Labor Department said that the 0.2 percentage point improvement in the unemployment rate, which had stood at 7.3 percent since November, stemmed from healthy employment gains in manufacturing and retail trade.

In all, payroll employment rose by 106,000 last month, the biggest increase in six months, and more than double the paltry 50,000-per-month average for all of last year.

Still, the increase was far below the 200,000 to 300,000 new jobs normally produced monthly in the early stages of an economic recovery.

This was the last major economic report scheduled to be released before President Clinton makes final decisions on the make-up of his economic stimulus package.

Analysts said that the January jobs gain was not likely to dissuade the administration from putting forward the modest stimulus package it has been discussing of $16 billion in increased public works spending and $15 billion in new tax breaks for businesses. Clinton will unveil his economic program in an address to Congress on Feb. 17.

Today's jobs report followed a string of surprisingly good news on the economy in recent days that helped to lift the stock market to a record high on Thursday.

Investors were buoyed by news of foreign interest rate cuts, the best gains in U.S. productivity in two decades and robust retail sales in January.

Clinton cautioned Thursday that the economy still was not producing jobs at rates of past recoveries and he noted that some of America's biggest corporations were still being wracked by massive layoffs.

Clinton inks first major social bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Clinton, in office for just 16 days, won a bill from Congress granting workers unpaid leave for family emergencies, the first major social legislation of the new Democratic era.

The Senate, after finally pushing aside a GOP attempt to attach a gays-in-the-military amendment, overwhelmingly passed the bill Thursday evening, 71-27.

The House, which passed its own version earlier in the week, accepted minor Senate changes in the bill shortly before midnight and sent the measure on its way to Clinton. That vote was 247-152.

The White House scheduled a mid-morning ceremony today for the president to make good on a campaign promise and sign the bill into law.

Before leaving for a week-long recess:

-The House passed a bill to ease voter registration. Senate action on the measure, another Democratic priority that former President Bush had vetoed but Clinton will sign, was expected later this month.

-The Senate approved a resolution authorizing the use of military force in Somalia nearly two months after Bush sent thousands of U.S. troops into the African nation.

-The Senate approved Clinton's nomination of Laura D'Andrea Tyson to head the White House Council of Economic Advisers.

Under the family leave bill, workers would be allowed to take up to 12 weeks of unpaid leave for a family sickness, childbirth or adoption. Companies with fewer than 50 workers would be exempt. Workers would be guaranteed to get their same job back or an equivalent post.

The bill takes effect six months after Clinton signs it.

'Suicide Doctor' assists two deaths

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) - In a sunlit room as music played, two elderly cancer patients committed suicide. They were strangers until Dr. Jack Kevorkian brought them together.

Stanley Ball, 82, and Mary Biernat, 73, killed themselves by breathing carbon monoxide through masks Thursday in Ball's bungalow in Leland, a picturesque community of about 1,600 on Lake Michigan.

They were the 10th and 11th patients the self-styled suicide doctor has helped die.

"She was in a makeshift daybed in a nice, sunlit room, and he was lying on a nearby couch," Leelanau County Prosecutor G. Thomas Aylsworth said. "They were within 15 feet of each other. It appears she was listening to music."

Each donned a mask attached to a tank of carbon monoxide, then pulled a string to release the gas as Kevorkian watched. Biernat's two sons were also present, as were Ball's son and the son's fiancée, said Geoffrey Fieger, Kevorkian's lawyer.

Fieger said a flurry of people have been seeking Kevorkian's help in dying before a Michigan ban on assisted suicide takes effect March 30. The law makes assisted suicide a crime punishable by up to four years in prison.

The ban, approved in December hours after Kevorkian helped two women kill themselves, will remain in place for 15 months while the issue is studied.

Kevorkian, who promotes doctor-assisted suicide for some terminally ill people, has said he intends to ignore the ban because he believes it is immoral.

He was charged with murder in the first three deaths, but prosecutors were unable to make the charges stick because the state had no law against assisted suicide. He has not been charged in any of the other suicides.

Ball, who was blind, suffered from pancreatic cancer and had jaundice as a result. Biernat, who lived in Crown Point, Ind., had breast cancer that had spread into her chest.

"Both of the patients were in extreme pain and needless to say were near death," Fieger said.

With seven experienced players back, the Hereford High School girls' golf team goes into the 1993 season with high hopes of a third straight trip to the state tournament in Austin.

In 1991, Hereford finished eighth at the state tourney. In 1992, Hereford finished fourth. In 1993, who knows? The team starts today in a tournament in San Angelo.

Hereford returns seven girls who last year finished in the top 17 places in District 1-4A. The best player, 1992 district champion Paula Britten, is gone, but Dusty Saul, Jennifer Prater, Stephanie Walls, Kelly Kelso, Cecelia Albracht, Brook Weatherly and JoJo Lytal remain. All seven have varsity experience, and all are seniors except Kelso, a junior. Saul, Prater and Albracht have played in two state tournaments.

Before they can plan a third trip to Austin, they've got to earn it.

"We don't even look that far ahead," coach Stacey Bixler said. "We take the tournaments one at a time."

In District 1-4A, that's the only way to handle it. Last year, Hereford finished second in the district behind Borger and only one stroke ahead of third-place Pampa. Think about that: they finished fourth in all of Class 4A, but they were one really bad slice away from not even going to regionals.

"Year-in, year-out (District 1-4A) is strong enough that if you get out of district, you have a good chance at regionals and at state," Bixler said. "I'd say our district and that one down there with Andrews, Big Spring and Sweetwater are two of the better ones in the state."

District 3-4A includes--among others--defending state champion Andrews. Hereford was second to Andrews at the last two regional tournaments.

Bixler expects Pampa and Borger to compete with Hereford again this year for the two regional spots. He hopes Hereford's returning girls will each improve enough to compensate for the graduation of Britten.

"Hopefully, the others will improve from where they were last year," he said. "Sometimes you can make up for losing one good one by making the other scores a little closer."

"If they were shooting in the high 80s and low 90s, then they (improve to) shoot in the low 80s and high 80s--with girls, if you shoot in the 80s that's going to compete. They've all done that in tournaments before. The key is to get them to do that consistently."

The San Angelo tournament--with Pampa, Caprock, Amarillo High and other quality teams in Hereford's division--is a good start to the season, Bixler said.

"These invitational tournaments are good for us because there's as many 5A teams as 4A teams--maybe more 5A teams," he said. "Plus, they're good golf courses. That helps in district when you come back to this part of the country."

While the girls went to Austin last year, the Hereford boys finished third in district last year. They should compete for a regional berth this year.

Like the girls' competition, the boys, district championship should be decided between Borger, Pampa and Hereford. Pampa won district last year and advanced to state, finishing eighth, but was hit heavily by graduation.

"I think it's going to be close again," Bixler said. "Borger didn't lose anyone, and they've got a couple of move-ins who are pretty good, so they would be the favorite."

Hereford has three senior boys back with varsity experience: Cory Newton, Jayson Mines and Clay Cantrell. Last year, Newton finished fifth in district, while Mines was one stroke behind him in sixth. Cantrell finished 14th.

Bixler said that trio would likely be joined by senior Tim Burkhalter when the basketball season is finished. In addition, two freshmen--Sabino Grijalva and Justin Griffith--are likely to contribute, Bixler said.

The boys have two more weeks to get ready for their first tournament. They debut Feb. 19-20 in Big Spring.

Herd cagers at Dumas

Hereford's basketball teams travel to Dumas tonight for a varsity doubleheader with the Demons, with the girls tipping off at 6 p.m. and the boys starting at 7:30.

The Lady Whitefaces (3-20) are still looking for their first District 1-4A win, and they've got only two more chances. This chance will be their best: Dumas is 2-6 and 7-16. The Lady Whitefaces close the season against Pampa Tuesday in Hereford.

The Hereford boys' lone district win came against Dumas Jan. 19, by a score of 44-42. The Herd is now 1-5 and 7-17; Dumas is now 9-14 and 0-6. The boys have three games left after tonight.

Also in Dumas, the boys' sophomore team will play at 4:30; the boys' junior varsity will play at 6; and the girls' JV will play at 7:30.

Aikman soaks up sun, fame

HONOLULU (AP) - Troy Aikman now understands the difference between being a mere sports celebrity and being a Super Bowl hero.

"It's amazing what one football game can do," said the Cowboys quarterback, the MVP of Dallas' 52-17 victory over Buffalo last Sunday.

"Everybody talks about it, but I still didn't expect it to be like it is. I'm a little surprised by all of it. But overall, it was a lot of fun."

Aikman, super cooperative with the media, didn't get any rest the day after the Cowboys won the NFL

Miracle shot sinks Iowa

By The Associated Press
They've dominated college basketball news for the past couple of weeks because of a tragedy and the inspired victories that followed.
On Thursday, the ninth-ranked Iowa Hawkeyes were once again the focus, this time because of a wild game with Illinois (13-6, 6-2 Big Ten) that was won on the last play, a desperation 3-pointer by Andy Kauffmann that caught all net and gave the Illini a 78-77 victory.

In other Top 25 games, No. 8 Arizona crushed Stanford 96-61, Pacific upset No. 10 UNLV 62-56, No. 13 Wake Forest topped North Carolina State 65-54, No. 18 Tulane downed Virginia Tech 72-59, No. 21 Utah defeated Wyoming 88-64, Clemson surprised No. 22 Georgia Tech 83-80 and No. 24 Virginia beat Maryland 70-68.

Iowa's loss was its first since the death of starting forward Chris Street, who was killed in a car crash Jan. 19. The Hawkeyes (14-4, 3-3) had won twice since then, coming back from a 10-point deficit in the final two minutes to defeat Michigan State in their first game after Street's death, and beating No. 7 Michigan last Sunday with Street's parents at the game.
Kaufmann's game-winning Thursday came after the Iowa players had already celebrated what they thought was a win. Iowa went ahead 77-75 when a rebound deflected into the basket off the hand of an Illini player.
The clock ran down to .5 seconds, but the officials ruled that Illinois had called timeout a second earlier, and the game clock was reset to 1.5 seconds.
After a timeout, T.J. Wheeler launched a long inbound pass that Kauffmann snared in the front court. He dribbled, spun and launched a three-pointer from about 22 feet.
Bullseye.
"This is perfect," said Kauffmann, a senior. "I literally dream about stuff like this, and for the team it was a great win."

Spurs continue to win

By The Associated Press

No one can beat the San Antonio Spurs these days. In fact, some teams can't even come close.

Routs have become almost routine for the Spurs, who again won easily Thursday night with a 133-115 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

Sean Elliott scored 22 points and David Robinson had 20 as the Spurs won for the 13th time in 14 games. They've also won 10 straight at the HemisFair Arena and will be home for their next four games against Minnesota, the Los Angeles Clippers, Washington and Boston.

San Antonio set a season-high for points and led by 33 late in the game. Even though coach John Lucas rested his starting five for the entire fourth quarter, the Spurs sent Indiana to its most lopsided loss of the season.

"We just jumped on them and played steady," Elliott said. "We had a zillion points. We've just been playing like this."

Dale Ellis scored nine of his 18 points late in the second quarter as the Spurs took a 62-46 halftime lead. A 10-1 spree made it 76-53 in the third period.

The Spurs shot 57 percent for the game. They are 18-3 under Lucas.

Vern Fleming led the Pacers with 24 points and George McCloud had 15.

Bulls 107, Clippers 105

Michael Jordan scored 16 of his 33 points in the fourth quarter and overtime as Chicago won in Los Angeles.

B.J. Armstrong had seven of his 15 points in overtime for the Bulls. Armstrong was scoreless and Jordan had only seven points in the first half, during which they combined to make just 2 of 18 shots.

Armstrong's two baskets and foul shot rallied Chicago from a three-point deficit to a 105-103 lead with 2.3 seconds left.

Danny Manning scored 25 points and Stanley Roberts had a season-high 22 points and 15 rebounds for Los Angeles.

Lakers 114, Jazz 110

A.C. Green scored a season-high 23 points and had 11 rebounds as Los Angeles won at home.

Utah trailed 52-33 in the second quarter before rallying to a 76-all tie late in the third period. The Lakers led by four going into the fourth quarter and held the edge.

Karl Malone scored 15 of his 32 points in the third period for the Jazz.

Nets 113, SuperSonics 103

Drazen Petrovic scored 35 points and Derrick Coleman had 20 points and 22 rebounds as New Jersey won in overtime at home.

The Nets led by 19 points early in the second quarter, then had to overcome a five-point deficit in the fourth period. Nate McMillan stole an inbound pass and scored with 37.9 seconds left in the regulation, tying it for the Sonics.

Knicks 105, Warriors 101

Playing without Patrick Ewing, New York improved to 19-4 at Madison Square Garden.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Southwest Outdoors

with Mel Phillips

A good way to keep track of how your life is going is to recall some of the interesting characters and acquaintances that have crossed your path. One of the real pleasures of writing an outdoor column is the opportunity to introduce my readers to some of the colorful and exciting people who have translated their love for the great outdoors to a full-time business. Most could probably make more money by working for some huge company, but they have exchanged security and a fluorescent tan for the simple pleasures that can only be found in nature.

Permit me to introduce just some of the characters who will be attending Outdoor World '93 Feb. 12-14 at the Amarillo Civic Center.

Have you ever dreamed of catching a huge fish that would lead to fame and fortune? When you visit this huge sportsman's show, be sure to attend one of the great fishing seminars by big bass expert and professional guide Mark Stevenson. In November of 1986, Mark caught the Texas state record 17.67-pound largemouth bass on Lake Fork and ushered in a wave of enthusiasm that has resulted in the best fishing in the history of the sport. Mark is married to Barbara Cook Stevenson, a national champion on the Bass N'Gal circuit. Both outstanding anglers will be giving daily seminars on the secrets of catching big bass and will offer tips on how to have a successful trip to the world's best bass lake, Lake Fork.

If going to the mountains is one of your passions, don't miss the wilderness survival seminars hosted by "Papa Bear" Whitmore from Wheat Ridge, Colorado. Papa Bear is one of a kind, and I guarantee that you will learn some great survival techniques while sitting back and listening to one of the great story-tellers of our time.

If you just want to learn how to catch more crappie, the seminars by professional crappie angler Walley Marshall will unlock the seasonal patterns of this delicious and plentiful fish. Mr. Marshall spends more than 200 days each year either catching crappie or giving seminars about his favorite fish. His recipes for cooking fish are worth the price of admission to Outdoor World.

For only $2.50 the kids will love catching tasty rainbow trout from the indoor trout pond.

Mel Gillis, of Alaska Trophy Hunting and Fishing headquartered in Anchorage, will have you booking the next flight for "the best hunting and fishing in the world." He loves the north country and should be right at home in this part of Texas during the Valentine weekend. Snow, ice or a sunny day, our new Alaskan friend will see the largest selection of RV's, boats, campers and vacation destinations that has ever been assembled in West Texas.

Mel Phillips is an award-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association. He is an avid hunter, tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC TalkRadio 71.

championship - he was the most popular interview in the nation.

"I was very busy. Everybody found out I was staying over in my room (in Los Angeles), so I was getting phone calls all day Monday," he said. "I did about 40 interviews over the phone."

He capped the day with an appearance on "The Tonight Show."

After throwing for 273 yards and four touchdowns, going 22 of 30 in the Super Bowl, Aikman got almost no sleep until he boarded a flight for Hawaii and the Pro Bowl. He said he slept a total of about an hour and a half Sunday night.

"I finally was able to sleep some on the flight," he said.

Another Dallas all-star, Emmitt Smith, was still enjoying the Super Bowl victory, but also looking ahead.

"We proved we're the best in the league, and that's special," he said. Smith, who led the NFL in rushing the past two seasons, also felt he proved himself once again as he became the first rushing leader to play in the Super Bowl. He ran for 108 yards on 22 carries, including a 10-yard touchdown when he bulled his way through a string of would-be tacklers.

Saying he believes he's the "best running back in football now, Smith said, "I showed it again in the Super Bowl."

Another of the Cowboys' six-player contingent for Sunday's Pro Bowl, offensive guard Nate Newton, celebrated - by donning a grass skirt - his first time as an NFL all-star after seven years in the league.

Newton, who stands 6-foot-3 and weighs 330 pounds and looked highly unusual in his aloha attire, said it was appropriate that he was wearing a grass skirt.

"I picked myself up off the turf a lot of times to get here," he said.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married for 40 years. "Barney" has prostate cancer. He has been in remission for nearly five years, and he feels fine.

In those last five years, our sex life, which was always excellent, has been limited to oral sex because of the kind of surgery Barney had. He was totally faithful until three years ago when he felt the need for the company of other women.

I discovered that Barney had made 19 phone calls to a former secretary. When I questioned him, he admitted he had taken her to lunch, sent her flowers and taken her for a ride in our private plane. He insists they are just "pals." This woman is 40 and divorced.

I learned last week that there are now two other women in the picture. When I confronted Barney, he became angry and said that I was overreacting and should know there can't be anything sexual going on because of his surgery.

I realize what an ego buster this surgery can be for a man, but Barney's behavior is humiliating, and I am getting physically sick from the aggravation. What can I do?--Idaho

DEAR IDA: You can tell Barney that you will not tolerate him using his surgery as an excuse to fool around and that he can go with you for counseling and get his act together or start packing. I hope he opts to shape up. Forty years is a long time to dump in the ashcan.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is 69, and I am 73. I have made many attempts to supplement my pension with a part-time job but have had no luck.

A few weeks ago, I read an ad in a local paper that said I could earn up to $1,000 a week processing mail at home. The ad clearly stated "free supplies."

I sent the company a self-addressed, stamped envelope and a few days later received a letter asking me to a money order for $19.95. The company said it would then send me all the necessary supplies to start my home business stuffing envelopes with advertising flyers.

Even though the ad clearly stated the supplies were free, I sent the money order anyway. A few days later, I received a booklet which instructed me to put an ad in a newspaper and call a local radio station to buy time saying I am looking for work at home.

The booklet said these ads would cost about $60.

I was then instructed to contact a broker and ask for names and addresses of possible clients, which would cost an additional $50. After this, I was told I should have a rubber stamp made and open a separate checking account.

I am disgusted with this phony company. I reported it to the police and they said the company is a fraud. I wrote to the company and said if it didn't send my money back, I would press charges. So far, I've heard nothing.

Although this ad appeared in a newspaper targeted for German-Canadians, companies like this exist all over Canada and the United States. Please warn your readers not to fall for this rip-off.--Tricked in Quebec, Canada

DEAR TRICKED: Ads similar to the one you described appear in a great many respectable newspapers on the North American continent. In my opinion, they are clearly misleading if not downright fraudulent. I cannot figure out why the Better Business Bureaus in these cities don't crack down on these operators.

If any spokesperson for a BBB would like to explain, I'd be happy to share the explanation with my readers. How about it?

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am an overnight package delivery man. I often have problems delivering packages because people don't have their homes and mailboxes marked. Instead of names and numbers which are essential for delivery people, they have fancy designs or decals of fruit or animals, or there are vines growing all over the box, which may look charming but are a nuisance to us.

When there is no name or number, we have to take the package back to the terminal, make a phone call, get directions and try again.

There's a more important reason people should have their names and addresses clearly visible on homes and mailboxes. Listen to this: A while back, I noticed that on a 1-mile stretch of road, every house had a name and number on it. When I commented about this rarity to a homeowner, she informed me that two years before, an elderly couple had lived on that street. When the man had a heart attack, his wife called 911. Paramedics responded immediately but couldn't locate the house. Finally, they found it when his wife went outside, panic-stricken, to flag them down. Her husband died on the way to the hospital. No one will ever know if those precious wasted minutes would have saved the man's life.

The Hereford Brand--Friday, February 5, 1993--Page 7

When word of that tragic incident got around the community, everyone went out and put numbers on their houses and mailboxes. Please tell your readers to go out and get large, easy-to-read numbers for their homes and mailboxes NOW before tragedy strikes.--D.K. in Cary, N.C.

DEAR D.K.: You told them, and I hope they listen. That small investment could save a life.

DEAR GRADUATE: The Bible tells us that a "thankless child" is "sharper than a serpent's tooth." By the same token, a grateful child is beautiful to behold and "a joy forever." How nice for your parents that you are the latter.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When the coffee is hot and the talk is good, and the feeling is easy and the laughter is light, and the memories are many but the time is too short, you know you are with a friend.--89-year-old Fan in Phoenix

DEAR PHOENIX: How true--every word of it. Thank you for the reminder.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teenager," is frank and to the point. Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

A CITY OF REFUGE

ONE OF THE GREAT PHILISTINE CITIES WAS GATH. IT WAS NOTED AS THE RESIDENCE OF A REMNANT OF GIANTS, NAMELY THE ANAKIM. (1 SAM. 7:14) A MEMBER OF THIS RACE WAS GOLIATH WHOM DAVID DEFEATED. GATH WAS ALSO THE REFUGE, ON TWO OCCASIONS, OF DAVID, WHEN HE HAD TO FLEE KING SAUL'S MURDEROUS INTENT. HOW MANY OTHER REFUGEES FROM SAUL'S ANGER WE ARE NOT TOLD, BUT IF IT SERVED AS A REFUGE FOR DAVID AND HIS FOLLOWERS, IT MUST HAVE BEEN LOOKED UPON AS A HAVEN FOR MANY WHO FELL OUT OF FAVOR IN SAUL'S KINGDOM.
