Tornado Damage Quarter Million Approve Flood Control Program

FRIDAY'S STORM ACCOMPANIED BY HEAVY DOWNPOUR OF RAIN

DUST STORM TURNS DAY INTO NIGHT AS 70 MILE PER HOUR WIND SWEEPS OVER CITY AND COMMUNITY; NO INJURIES ARE REPORTED

Sweeping down behind a cloud of dust that turned mid-afternoon into the blackest night, a tornado swept over Perryton and this community Friday at 3:30 o'clock, accompanied by a downpour of rain, leaving a trail of wreckage behind when the storm abated, thirty minutes later. Miraculously, no one was injured during the storm, at least not severely, which did property damage estimated at a quarter of a million dollars in Perryton and vicinity.

The storm which appeared out of the northwest had many but looking at it before it struck. It seemed to be belching out high columns of dust and was literally boiling. Apparently dividing and sweeping in around from the north and northeast the full fury was felt a few minutes later when it swept over the city, completely blotting out all traces of light and giving the streets the appearance of midnight. In the short calm that preceded the gale everyone sought shelter which probably accounts for the fact that no one was seriously injured.

Once the storm broke, the wind increased in intensity bearing before it a torrent of rain so laden with dust that it was more mud than water, the wind velocity being estimated to have exceeded seventy miles per hour. Shifting from the northwest the wind swung to the north and then to the northwest in rapid succession in which direction it was blowing at its peak, unroofing buildings, crumbling walls and wrecking havoc in the business and residential sections of the city as well as the rural communities. The storm lasted approximately thirty minutes before it abated permitting people to get out on the streets and view the damage of the gale.

All telephone and telegraph communication lines were torn down, power lines were a tangled mass and electric service was discontinued during the storm, with the information spread that it would not be resumed until the following day. As darkness fell upon the city workers were still busy barricading plate glass fronts that had been broken.

A call was made Saturday for all relief employees to assist in clearing up the debris that was scattered over the city and employment was found for several hundred men. Little or no pilfering was reported and the work of repairing and rebuilding is going ahead steadily.

Insurance companies immediately dispatched adjusters into the area to take care of all losses which were covered by insurance and according to the local agencies several hundred unfortunately many of the damaged buildings were not protected against wind storm losses. Estimates on the property damage vary but it is thought to be in the neighborhood of $250,000.00 for this community.

Among the more seriously damaged buildings in the city are the McLain Service Station and the North Side Garage, frame structures which were leveled; the coping on the front of the courthouse; the Wheat Pool Elevator, one of the large storage tanks being blown down, the other caved in and the top taken off the main structure; the Ellis Grain company elevator which was leaning at a precarious angle; the Shearer ice plant, wall caved in; O. C. Shearer Produce house, unroofed; Panhandle, Burrow and White House Lumber companies, lumber sheds blown down; front blown out of building formerly occupied by Joe's Battery Shop; warehouses of Stump Supply and Johnson Motor company flattened; front blown off of Allen Tire Shop; Plainview Hardware & Furniture company warehouse on south main, front and side out; Perryton Laundry building, part of roof and wall caved in; Coca-Cola Bottling company, sheds and fence blown down; P. P. Rogers granary, unroofed; Balco Machine Shop, front blown in. A Santa Fe wrecking crew was called in to replace box cars on the track that were blown off during the storm.

Reports from rural homes indicate that a great deal of the property loss will be felt in this section. Scores of windmills were blown down or damaged, the Powers dairy barn was totally blown away, the B. L. Holland barn was wrecked, the S. R. George home badly damaged, the house on the J. C. Beaver place totally wrecked and hardly a farm home in the wake of the storm but what suffered a severe loss.

Considerable benefit was derived from the rain which fell during the storm, the government gauge recording the fall in Perryton at 1.64 inches. The rain was fairly general over this section.

Relief agencies are preparing to assist in every way possible. Miss J. Clark, Red Cross representative from St. Louis, Mo., arrived in the city Tuesday to prepare a program of storm relief for this area. Other relief agencies are taking steps to aid in rebuilding.

JONES SPEAKS PAMPA AFFAIR

DESCRIBES ROOSEVELT AT SAYING FAITH BY EMERGENCY LEGISLATION OF LAST SESSION

Congressman Marvin Jones wearing a smile which has tired a bit since November in the monumental work of drafting and guiding farm legislation, came home to his 18th congressional district Tuesday night to give enthusiastic endorsement of his chief, the President of the United States, and proclaim the dawn of a new day for harassed farmers and business men.

The occasion was the All-Panhandle reception banquet sponsored by the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce at the Schneider hotel. Miles Edwards, Jack Allen and C. W. Claybaugh were in attendance at the affair.

The congressman described the "new deal" legislation as more or less temporary in character, but referred to his farm credit act as the beginning of the farmers' independence of the international bankers, whom he flayed repeatedly in his address. He said the plan set farm financing apart from commercial banking and provided a lower interest rate. He was frequently applauded by the intently listening audience.

"People of America since March 4 have thrilled with the confidence of a new hope," the congressman said in detailing the dynamic leadership of President Roosevelt in saving the banks, quieting the farmers, and bringing about a quick upturn in business.

"Who would have believed a few months ago," the speaker asked, "that we would by this time have 10-cent cotton and $1 wheat?" Mr. Jones did not describe farm legislation, much of which he wrote, in detail, saying he would be glad to do that later to farm groups if desired. He is in the Panhandle for two weeks only, since there remains work to be done in perfecting agricultural relief. He will return, however, to spend the fall months in this section.

The speaker was very frank in saying that much of the "new deal" legislation was not as he personally would have preferred it, but he emphasized that the various relief bills constituted a chain-program which should not be broken. With 435 minds in the house and others in the senate, and with the president and his cabinet strongly asserting their ideas, no bill was passed as written.

Referring to controlled expansion of the currency, Mr. Jones said the vast presidential powers were temporary and would be used cautiously.

"The real vice will be reached when issuance of money is taken from the hands of international bankers," the congressman declared, and a moment later advocated government ownership of federal reserve banks or other banks of issue, which would lend money at a low per cent and thereby avoid the domination of international bankers. He linked Bankers Morgan and Kahn with Al Capone as income tax dodgers.

Mr. Jones said that his philosophy did not approve of a government giving anything to anybody, except in the name of mercy as a temporary measure, but a government should, he declared, afford all people an even break in labor and business.

With the cotton plan well under way, Mr. Jones said that attention now was directed to the domestic allotment plan for wheat, involving an international acreage curtailment agreement as a background and including cash payments to farmers of two-thirds of their allotment by September 15 and the other third after the planting season is passed.

"I believe this plan will bring much more money into the Panhandle this fall," he said. Highlights in the address of Congressman Marvin Jones include the following statements:

ANOTHER PANHANDLE PAPER TO GRAVEYARD

Last week "finis" was added to the files of the Hansford County News, when the publication was laid to rest in the newspaper graveyard and Gruver is now without a home newspaper.

The circulation, good and bad, of the publication was purchased from Fred R. Kreiger, former publisher, by the Nunn-Warren Publishing company and added to the list of the Spearman Reporter.

Lack of support by the Gruver merchants is accountable for the loss of their splendid four year old newspaper which has probably contributed more to the growth of Gruver and the west end of Hansford county than any one other agency.

The Sunday night meeting will start at 8:15 o'clock and will be conducted jointly by the local pastors.

FIND DYNAMITE AT DUMP YARD

LARGE QUANTITY OF DYNAMITE DISCOVERED BY RELIEF WORKERS BURIED IN TRASH

A large quantity of dynamite was uncovered at the city dump ground, Friday afternoon by relief workers who were cleaning up and burning trash. The sheriff's department was notified of the discovery and upon investigation it was found to belong to a highway construction contractor.

Fifteen or twenty men were working at the municipal dumping grounds and uncovered a large wooden box with a metal cover. Some of the workers thought it was best to investigate before throwing it on the fire that was blazing nearby and discovered it to contain a hundred sticks of dynamite with a sufficient number of caps.

Badly shaken by their narrow escape, the workers promptly reported the find to the sheriff's office and an investigation was immediately started. It was found that the dynamite had been cached there by a highway construction gang.

THE PROJECT SEEN AS BEST WAY TO RELIEF

Called By Gov. Murray Agrees Hundred Million Dollar Relief Plan

For Federal Funds

Year Old Reservoir Building Program To Be Revived If Plans Are Approved

Relief representatives of southwestern states meeting at Okla., Monday afternoon to co-operate in an effort to put into immediate operation the seven-year-old flood and reservoir building program on the plains and to provide employment for the needy.

The meeting here, it was attended by Gov. Ed Johnson of Okla., Charles B. Braun, representative of Governor Ferguson of Texas and G. Stutz, head of federal work in Kansas.

Representatives at the meeting were W. B. LaMaster, J. S. Talley, Shanks and Herbert officials, in executive session closed doors, voted to ask the government to ask in exchange $100,000,000 on the lakes and project in the four states, $25,000,000 to be for Oklahoma, the request $25,000,000 for Colorado, $25,000,000 for New Mexico and $25,000,000 for Arkansas. The amount was not agreed upon because Braun was not authorized by Governor Ferguson.

The plan, known as the Blake plan, worked out by Blake from 1927. The four-state organization was formed, more than 100 reservoir projects surveyed, cost estimates made, and the project was approved by congress, but the bill to appropriate the money lacked four of the necessary votes.

The plan talked at the conference and applauded at a public hearing earlier in the day, work began within 30 days on the new lake project at Gate in county and on a 7,000-acre project in Texas county near Guy.

Blake of Oklahoma City, who chairman of the flood control drainage commission for several years made the survey for the four states, was present to explain the project in detail. About 10,000 men could be put to work in a few weeks if the project is approved by Washington.

The section a letter to the interior department was drafted, and Governor Johnson of Colorado left late afternoon for Washington to present the plea in person.

A meeting was held in the city and was attended by 500 persons, most of whom were from the prolonged drought western area. Representatives from five states attended and in their approval of the project, or any move that would be to this stricken country, the meeting was in session Monday, the forty-second year of the storm of the year was that windows in the overhead to be closed.

TIMELY REMARKS BY AN HONEST MAN

As the government stands on the threshold of one of the most ambitious projects in government operation in its history, remarks of the chairman of the United States shipping board, Rear Admiral Cose, at a hearing on the independent offices bill are extraordinarily timely. The admiral had testified that the sale of 52 ships to a shipping concern with a $2,500,000 mail contract was better than operating the ships directly, because they had been operated by the government at a loss of $3,000,000. Representative Woodrum of Virginia wanted to know why the government could not operate the ship as economically as a private owner. The candid navy officer replied:

"For the simple reason that if I am operating a government ship, and I go to hire a manager or other personnel pressure would be put on me by everybody in sight. If I wanted to hire some person or fire a worthless employee it would take months. There would be interference from public officials. I want to tell this—that if I am dealing with a man, or making a contract with him, that man, if he is a average citizen, will think that it is fun to 'do' the government; but if I were operating a private line he would not think it was fun to 'do' me."

Business of astonishment and indignation in the committee. Mr. Arnold of Illinois wanted to know why the admiral could not be independent. As a congressman spends a good deal of his time putting pressure on officials for jobs and favors, the admiral need not have spent his breath in pretending to enlighten his questioner, but he did.

I do not believe there is a single public official that can be entirely independent," he replied. "There would be public men coming to me demanding this or demanding that. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, and there has never been any government operation that I have seen, and I have been 43 years in the government service, that has been as efficient as a private operation would be."

A dose of candor and homely truth which will do the inquirers no good, but ought to be pondered by the American people at this time, for hundreds of millions of dollars are going to be taken from them in the form of taxes to be given to government for the operation of enterprises and the construction of works which can be done more economically and competently by private enterprise.—Chicago Tribune.

Rules Affect Dairy

Committee Makes Recommendations For Control Of Dairy Industry Under New Act

At the national dairy conference held in Washington during the closing week of June, preliminary to putting into effect the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act, so far as it relates to the dairy industry, the following recommendations were made to the Department of Agriculture by the Committee on Control of Dairy Production:

1. We insist that whenever land is leased by the Department to take wheat, cotton or corn lands out of production there must be definite contract requirements, that none of this land can be used for any purpose whatsoever that will bring additional food or farm crops upon the market. The use of leased land should be limited to protecting it against erosion or general deterioration.
2. We recommend that the full power of the act be used to check the importation of vegetable and marine oils and fats. Last year approximately 1,800,000,000 pounds of such products were imported to this country, displacing dairy and animal fats and vegetable oils.
3. We recommend that substitutes and limitations of dairy products be contracted or restricted to the full extent permissible under the act.
4. The American market must be preserved for the American dairy producer. It is grossly unfair and American acreage and production, and at the same time permit the importation of dairy products or substitutes for such products.
5. The matter of general acreage control is under careful consideration by the entire committee and a later report may be submitted on the subject.

The committee, which was headed by Louis J. Taber of Columbus, Ohio, master of the National Grange, observed that the United States now produces more than 90 per cent of dairy products consumed in this country. It was emphasized, therefore, that any changes in the production or consumption of dairy products might easily throw the whole industry out of balance. It has only been through keeping production within the bounds of domestic consumption that the dairy farmer has been enabled to secure benefit from the tariff. Should production exceed consumption, this advantage would immediately be lost while the prices for dairy products would immediately fall to the level.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Perry, daughters, Betty Jo and Jean, in the home of his brother, Mr. James and family.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Gray, daughters, Nelle and Margaret, Mrs. Henry Richardson, left day morning for Raton, N. M., vacation trip. Mr. Coffey Monday.

GREAT BENEFIT TO BANKS AND FARMERS

A. S. Goss, who during the past 11 years served as the master of the Washington State Grange, retired from that position during the past month to assume his new duties as Commissioner of the Federal Land Bank under the Farm Credit Administration at Washington. Mr. Goss succeeds Paul Bestor of Missouri, who is to have charge of the farm mortgage department of the Prudential Life Insurance company. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., governor of the Farm Credit Administration, has announced that plans have been worked out under which the government will take over the farm mortgages of about 540 Wisconsin banks which have been closed. These mortgages will first be scaled down 30 per cent, which will benefit both the banks and the farmers. The banks, having liquidated these frozen assets, will be enabled to reopen on a sound basis, while the farmers will have their debt reduced to the extent of 30 per cent. The interest rate will also be reduced to 4 1-2 per cent, in accordance with recent legislation.

If this plan works out satisfactorily, as is confidently expected, it will in the near future be extended to other states.

Fairbanks-Morse New Steel Eclipse Windmill

For more than seventy-five years the name Eclipse has been the best in windmill construction. It has long life and is in construction. This is made possible by the dependable lubrication system. Once a year you fill the oil reservoir you are assured of abundant lubrication. The internal gear train are so constructed that the wind pressure is not on the necessity of a replaceable crank pin, which was the cause of many windmill troubles, has been eliminated.

The complete inclosure of the pivot housing prevents rain and dirt from entering the housing and mixing with the oil. Both the outer and inner wheel shaft bearing can be replaced while the mill is in place on the tower.

An inspection of the new Eclipse will convince you of its dependability. Come in and look this mill over.

TRICKS OF FAKERS EXPOSED IN NEW FILM

Victor and Edward Halperin, who made "White Zombie" and other weird pictures of the past year, have produced "Supernatural," the drama of a beautiful young girl whose body is possessed by the spirit of an avenging murderer. The screen play comes to the Ellis Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday with Charole Lombard, Randolph Scott, Vivienne Osborne, Allan Dinehart, H. B. Warner and William Farnum in the principal roles.
Miss Lombard is the central figure in the story. As a beautiful heiress grieving over the death of her beloved twin brother, she is easy prey for Dinehart, a "phony" spiritualist, who has more interest in her money than in her dead brother.

At that very moment Miss Osborne is executed in the electric chair for a murder she had committed. Dinehart had betrayed her to the police.

Warner, a psychologist actively interested in psychic phenomena, believes her spirit will survive her body and wreak further ruin. He attempts to prevent the occurrence, but his experiment goes amiss, and the spirit enters into the body of Miss Lombard.
Immediately she is another person. Outwardly she is tender and warm toward Dinehart; inwardly, motivated by the spirit of Miss Osborne, she is awaiting an opportunity for revenge. As Scott, her fiancé, and Warner, the psychologist, realize what has happened to her, she leaves in company with Dinehart. The picture reaches its

BYRD'S SOUTH POLE SHIP THRILLS WORLD'S FAIR VISITORS WITH TALE OF ADVENTURE IN ANTARCTIC

CHICAGO, July 20.—Thrilling because of the testimony it bears to the adventures of seventy-two brave men and the hardships they endured in the name of science, the ship which carried Richard E. Byrd to the South Pole, now on display at the World's Fair.

Extreme pressure of ice forced it higher out of the water, rather than buckling it tightly underneath, as it would a steel ship. Lecture-tours of the ship are conducted continuously throughout the day. The visitor is shown first a relief map of the Antarctic region. The Bay of Wales, where the ship landed on Christmas day, 1928, the camp erected eight miles were delivered some time in 1880 in cases are some of the inhabitants of the South Pole country. There are mounted seals weighing 600 to 800 pounds—the weddell seal, a complacent mammal used as food for dogs and men, and the crabeater seal, a vicious fellow who will attack even a killer whale. Never failing to interest even the most sophisticated visitors are the curious penguins. There are four mounted in the Byrd exhibit, two of the "emperor" species, and two "adelle" penguins. ### RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Buller, Mrs. J. M. Bull, Mrs. L. J. Rice and daughter and the writer left Perryton on May 29th for Durant, Okla. My wife stayed there to await the arrival of an eight and one-half pound grandson, while I went on to Brownwood to undergo a rather serious and very painful operation for stricture and P. T. glands, that threatened several times to take me across the big divide.

I returned to Durant on the eighteenth and was nursed in the home of my friends, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rice for a week. On the twenty-fifth, my wife drove the car to my sons home in Clinton, while I lay in the back part bathing my head, trying to keep down a splitting headache. The following morning I decided to consult a doctor, as I was getting pretty weak from the loss of blood.

I was taken to my son's family physician, Dr. Lamb, who gave me a shot that checked the flow gradually during the day. We left Clinton at 10:00 in the morning and arrived in Perryton about six that evening. As the day before, my wife drove the car while I nursed that severe headache. I was confined to the house and bed for two weeks. During this time I lost twenty-five pounds but am beginning to run around in high again and believe I am on the way to my second manhood and hope to live a useful life until I am one hundred. I challenge the men of my age and affliction of get lined up and compete with me.

The latter will include essays and debate features on national uniform topics, with such local booster features added as are deemed most timely by those who make up the programs. September 30 closes the Grange fiscal year and the Booster Night in every Grange is designed as a great arouser of enthusiasm for the start on the new Grange year.
On a smaller scale the same plan was carried out one year ago and ### met with such favor that a determined effort will now be exerted to have it reach every subordinate unit of the organization the coming September. One feature of these local meetings will be a message to each directly from the Master of the National Grange, setting forth some of the undertakings which the organization will tackle in the year ahead. Much public interest will await the carrying out of this unique Grange plan.

LARGER LOANS

banks as part of his mortgage loan to subscribe for stock.

The interest rate where the farmer is a member of an association is 4 1-2 per cent for five years and 5 per cent after that, if the loan is made in the next two years.

The interest rate on a direct loan from a bank is one-half of one per cent higher for both periods.

For the first five years, regarded as an "emergency" period, no installments need be paid on the mortgage loans which can run up to 40 years.

Mortgage-holders can sell their mortgages under the act, taking bonds issued by the land banks in return. The banks can issue up to $2,000,000,000 in these tax exempt bonds with interest guaranteed by the government, at 4 per cent.

To get these bonds the mortgage-holder also must apply to the land banks.

They will allow him no more than 50 per cent of the value of the land and 20 per cent of the improvements for his lien.

If his mortgage is for more than that he will have to take a loss; if for less, he will have to take that.

The purpose of the provision is that the holder of the paper can liquidate his claim, and the farmer then owe the land banks and will get the benefit of lower interest rates. Most mortgages held privately call for 6 to 7 per cent interest.

So far no bonds have been issued to the public, but some have been pledged to the Reconstruction Corporation for cash which is being used to buy up mortgages held by closed and restricted banks.

The 12 federal land banks are at Springfield, Mass.; Baltimore, Columbia, S. C.; Louisville, New Orleans, St. Louis, St. Paul, Omaha, Wichita, Houston, Berkeley, Calif., and Spokane.

JONES SPEAKS

"There is no such thing as a fixed form of government. . . . Government grows like a tree to fit the people."

"President Roosevelt has given a re-birth to American courage. . . . Hoover is the forgotten man. . . . Amid wreckage and despair, the previous administration could not think of anything to do."

"I will follow any man with the flag in his hand, intelligence in his methods, who is going somewhere."

"To assume that in our land of vast resources and intelligence nothing can be done when 10 per cent of our population is in idleness is an impeachment of our leadership."

"Flax was the fabric of royalty, but cotton the cloth of the masses. The south has been a slave to the men who control cotton."

"There has never been a time when agriculture had an even break with industry. . . . Over production is a myth; for every pound of cotton grown there is, somewhere, a body to be clothed and for every bushel of wheat a hungry person to be fed."

"We are removing the high interest rates which have bent farmers in unending, often futile toil without ownership of their land. . . . There can be no 'free people' chained by debt."

"The farmer should eat bread of his own land, meat of his own pastures, be disturbed by no creditor, and grow crops to sell at his own time and inclination—then we will have a new day not only in agriculture but in business generally."

"Mr. Roosevelt, a man beyond the need for hard work, is giving us a new conception of public service and an ideal of the responsibility that ability and means bestow."

"The people must cooperate or drop back into the bog of despair and ruin."

"Many measures I would not have approved in normal times. We are making mistakes, but I think we may safely follow a man who, in falling now and then, is likely to fall unhurt."

"When bankers like Morgan and Kahn join the ranks of Al Capone it is time some one else took charge of handling the money. . . . The real vice of the currency situation is that the international bankers have a strangle-hold on the nation's

Recommends Planting Of Fall Gardens Here

The following article, prepared by County Agent G. R. Sheets, deals with the possibility of planting fall gardens. According to Mr. Sheets, such planting is highly recommended and will be found profitable to those undertaking such projects. By looking over the chart included in the article one can determine what to plant, when to plant it and the possibility of getting caught by frost.

Especially since the rain, the prospects of a good fall garden are very encouraging, and in preparing for one County Agent Sheets furnishes the following information.

"Fall gardens are extremely important in reducing the grocery bill. . . . Dates for planting vegetables depend upon the vegetable itself and the local climatic conditions. Usually germination of seed, at this time, is poor therefore an extra quantity of seed should be planted to secure a good stand."

Care should be exercised, in every way, to conserve moisture supply in order to get the vegetables up. The ground should be free of weeds and other plants. Plowing under this material, at this time, is bad practice because it will prevent moisture rising to the upper surface of the soil, and the seed will not germinate. Then too, the unrotted plant material will seriously interfere with cultivation and the heat resulting from the turned under vegetation dries out the soil.

Vegetables recommended for fall planting:

Vegetable	Frost Resistance	Time of Planting
1. Cucumber	None	July 15 to August 15
2. Pinto bean	"	"
3. Squash	"	"
4. English peas	Light Frost	"
5. Radish	"	August 1 to Sept. 30
6. Mustard	"	"
7. Carrots	"	August 1 to August 15
8. Beets	"	"
9. Lettuce	"	"
10. Rape	Heavy Frost	"
11. Shallots	"	"
12. Bush beans	None	"
13. Swiss Chard	Light Frost	August 1 to August 30
14. Turnips	"	"
15. Kale	Heavy Frost	"
16. Spinach	"	"

"The above vegetables are worthy of a trial at about the dates indicated. Results will depend largely upon moisture, soil preparation, cultivation and length of season."

Guy R. Sheets, County Agent, Perryton, Texas.

wealth and no laws will suffice until we take the money out of the hands of the international bankers and restore it to the American government.

"The United States should own and operate the reserve banks and break the hold of financiers who have nearly ruined America."

"I heard the president say he did not want any soldier with a service-connected injury to be without compensation."

"Cotton is the oldest fabric known to man. It was in use 5,000 years ago."

"I am profoundly touched by the personal appeal of the president—he is the only president we have been able to really know intimately. . . . Above all, I appreciate friendships."

BORGER BOOKS PASSION PLAY

SPECTACULAR RELIGIOUS PLAY TO BE PRESENTED JULY 30 ON OUTDOOR STAGE

"The Passion Play," the world's greatest religious drama, will be presented by the members of the Frieberg cast on Sunday evening, July 30, in Borger, according to Rev. L. O. Byerly who was a Perryton visitor, Wednesday afternoon.

An open air theatre is being built especially for the presentation of the play in the third block on South Main street, at Borger. A great chorus of the best voices in the Panhandle being organized under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Webb assist the players in the presentation of this great religious drama.

The Passion Play dated back hundreds and hundreds of years and in the beginning was in pantomime played by those who sought to fight the devil in this way. In the presentation of this play they attempted to build up the spiritual forces of the church. The play finally took form and after many years became a regular event in the little town in which it started in Germany. Finally the world began to find out about this great play, and men went from their homes from every known part of the world to the little town in Germany, that they might see the presentation of this play. Members of the cast made this play their particular business handing it down from father to son for many succeeding generations.

Finally it was decided to take these players all over the world that everyone might be able to see this play. For many months these players have toured America. Everywhere immense crowds have greeted them and preparations are being made in Borger, with the intention of seating a crowd of at least five thousand people. This may be the only opportunity for many years, of having the Passion Play so close and possibly never in this section of the country will it be shown at such low admission prices which will be: children under twelve, twenty-five cents; students thirty-five cents; adults, fifty, seventy-five, and one dollar. Perryton people are requested to phone 292, Borger or write to Rev. L. O. Byerly, Box 1026 for seat reservation. "The time is short and we cannot make any promises," Rev. Byerly stated, but we will do the best we can to see that every guest is well cared for. Parking space with police protection will be offered free."

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Grabel are happy over the arrival of a daughter on Sunday, July 16. The name Nancy Lovina, has been selected for the young lady and she and her mother are doing nicely at the Perryton hospital.

Miss Kit Carson of Frederick, Okla., was a week-end guest with Miss Beula Crum.

Mrs. E. R. Thurman, Mrs. Alfred Pittman and baby, Maresa, and Mrs. R. T. Correll spent Friday night with E. L. Whippo.

When the motor is running the bar becomes magnetized and will lift nails and metal objects from beneath several inches of dust to the bar. At regular intervals the bar is cleaned and the truck resumes its trip.
