Public Utilities To Have Federal Aid

State Officials In Row Over Powers

(By The Associated Press)

OLYMPIA, Wash., April 20—Attorney General G. W. Hamilton held today that Lt. Gov. Victor A. Meyers, as acting governor, had "no authority under the constitution" to call the Washington state legislature into extraordinary session, but he suggested the matter should be determined by the state supreme court.

Meyers called a special session of the legislature to meet next Monday, taking advantage of the absence of Gov. Clarence D. Martin in Washington, D. C. He issued his proclamation after a dash from California.

Governor Martin, his business concluded in the national capital, chartered a special plane from Chicago for the last stage of his trip home. He reached the Washington state line about the time Meyers was attempting to file his proclamation with the secretary of state, thus throwing the situation into a legal muddle.

Governor Martin, opposing the legislative session, suggested Meyers was "just playing up to those red devils"—presumably referring to certain advocates of special housing and social security legislation proposed in Meyers' call.

Both Leave State

Meyers left the state several days ago for a fishing trip in southern California. About the same time Martin went to Washington, D. C., to discuss state matters.

Both automatically relinquished their executive powers upon leaving the state, and Secretary of State Belle Reeves became acting governor.

Proponents of the special legislation began a feverish hunt for Meyers in California. He entered the state late yesterday.

Races To Capital

The lieutenant governor, thus becoming acting governor, prepared his proclamation and raced to the state capital but arrived 11 minutes too late to file it in the secretary of state's office, a necessary formality.

Meyers repeated at the secretary of state's office at 8:01 a. m. today

Girl Sought As A Witness In Murder Case Gives Up At Littlefield Yesterday

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, April 20.—Peggy Marie Harmon, 18, sought by county officers since Monday on a writ of attachment as a material witness in a murder trial, reported to Police Chief A. A. Anderson this afternoon in Littlefield.

She was to return to Fort Worth with a deputy sheriff tomorrow.

Miss Harmon said in a long distance telephone interview that she and a girl friend arrived in Littlefield Tuesday and learned from a story in a newspaper that she was wanted.

The writ for the arrest of the witness was issued by Criminal District Judge Willis McGregor Monday when Miss Harmon failed to appear for the trial of James Perry Alford, charged with killing Jack Emerson Fox in a beer tavern here last month.

At a hearing Monday Mrs. Ollie Mae Fletcher, sister of Miss Harmon, testified that her sister had been threatened with bodily injury if she testified in the trial. Alford immediately thereafter was rearrested and charged with carrying a pistol and threat to take life.

Hot Suspect In Frome Murder Case Nabbed

Prisoner Driving Car Similar To That Of Killers; Other Clues Found On Person

(By The Associated Press)

ROTAN, April 20.—Scores of unverified reports sprang promiscuously from many sources tonight linking a man held prisoner at Roby with the fiendish Frome torture murders, while whereabouts of Fisher county officers probing the evidence was unknown.

Arrest of a Royston man early Wednesday for the alleged robbery of Tom Henry, also of Royston, of $500, immediately led to sensational developments as officers pieced together angles involved in the cases.

Autos Are Similar

At the time of the alleged robbery, in the before-dawn hours Wednesday, the prisoner was driving a black 1937 Plymouth coach with white markings on the side, and bearing California license plates. A similar automobile was described by eyewitnesses who saw the suspected Frome murderers driving in the Van Horn vicinity March 30.

Investigation definitely established, said a reliable source, that the suspect was registered in an El Paso hotel at the same time the wealthy Berkeley, Calif., women were there, and that he returned to his home at Royston two days after the murders were committed. The women were brutally beaten and slain March 30 near Van Horn, and their bodies found four days later, April 3.

Pistol Is Found

Officers found on the suspect's person a .32 calibre pistol. It was learned that the gun was sent to Austin for study by ballistic experts who examined bullets found in the heads of the slain women.

An unofficial report said the man carried a check folder bearing notations in a woman's handwriting of two $20 traveler's checks having been cashed in an Arizona city on March 7, and of two $10 checks having been cashed in El Paso March 20. There were no stubs in the folder, it was said.

Objects To Fingerprinting

It was reported the suspect hotly objected to being fingerprinted, but finally was printed by Homer Bradford of the Sweetwater city police force. What the prints revealed, or where they were sent could not be learned.

Meanwhile, the movements of Sheriff Frank Terry of Roby and his deputies, and their efforts to contact El Paso officers conducting the investigation into the desert murders, were shrouded in secrecy. Roby and Rotan residents said the officers "were out of pocket."

Dare-devil acrobats? No, just a pair of swing music addicts who thought a regulation dance floor was much too tame and decided to strut their stuff on a narrow plank 19 stories above a Chicago business street. Construction In Order To Give Jobs Planned

Slum Clearance Projects Are Approved; Endorsement For Plans Urged By Hopkins

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 20. — The Roosevelt administration included loans to public utilities in the new spend-and-lend recovery program today.

It was not known immediately just which companies would receive loans. However, the disclosure that loans were in the offing created unusual interest because of the long and bitter controversy between the Roosevelt administration and a number of concerns in the utility field.

A White House conference discussed a plan for advances to the power companies by the Reconstruction Finance corporation to enable them to catch up on many millions of dollars worth of job-spreading construction work left undone during the depression years.

Projects Are Approved

President Roosevelt, endeavoring to get the recovery program started quickly, approved five slum clearance projects involving federal expenditure of $40,728,825.

The senate committee on the cause and extent of unemployment reported the state and federal governments had spent $19,300,000,000 for recovery and relief since 1933, $14,200,000,000 of that sum coming from the federal government. It said fully 12,000,000 were out of work and asserted conditions were too uncertain for planning a long-relief program at this time.

Hopkins Urges Action

Harry Hopkins, administrator of work relief, urging the house appropriations committee to endorse those portions of the president's $4,500,000,000 spending and lending program which have yet to be enacted, said the $1,250,000,000 relief item would enable WPA to keep 2,800,000 persons on the rolls until Feb. 1. This would be 200,000 more than at present.

Officials of the treasury and federal reserve board met and discussed the question of how rapidly $1,400,000,000 of potential bank credit resulting from last week's desterilization of gold should be made available for lending to the banks.

Robert Fechner, director of the Civilian Conservation corps, said an additional $50,000,000 appropriation, voted yesterday by congress, would enable the CCC to maintain 301 camps, previously ordered abandoned, throughout the next year.

Ford To Visit FDR

Henry Ford was expected in Washington Wednesday to discuss business conditions with the president, apparently in a continuation of the latter's business talks with various industrial leaders.

This multiplicity of developments served as a sharp reminder that the administration's long period of inactivity in connection with the troubled business situation was ended. The White House conference was but one of many which Mr. Roosevelt, by his own announcement, will hold in the coming fortnight.

Those who discussed the utility situation with the president were Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the R. F. C., Chairman William O. Douglas of the securities commission and John W. Hanes, a member of the latter body.

Methods of helping the [illegible] finance their lagging construction programs—estimated in some quarters to run into several billions of dollars—had been under discussion for a long time. After today's session, Jones told reporters the project was to have the R. F. C. buy the bonds of the utilities, thus providing them with capital for construction purposes. The only apparent condition was that the bond issues first have the approval of the S. E. C. Jones emphasized that the purchase of utilities stocks was not involved.

He referred to the method of financing loans to utilities. The funds, he said, were to come from a $1,500,000,000 authorization recently

Goodwill Boosters Visit In Lubbock

Gifts Showered On Hitler For 49th Birthday

(By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, April 20 — Germans of all walks of life showered Adolf Hitler with gifts today as the reichsfuehrer celebrated his 49th birthday.

A lion's cub, phonograph records of all official speeches made in connection with the union with Austria, a complete set of all editions in all languages of his book, "Mein Kampf," were among the presents.

The populations of Germany and Austria, in a state of exaltation since the Austrian crisis began six weeks ago, avidly embraced the occasion to work off their emotions again.

Berlin, Vienna and Munich witnessed enthusiastic celebrations.

Orators paid tribute to the fuehrer, hailing him as the greatest architect of all times, the master military genius of the age, friend of the poor and oppressed, champion of world peace with honor, comrade of the young people, liberator of Austria, first worker of his people, guardian of German culture.

Armed Forces Reviewed

At midday Hitler stood in front of Berlin university to review a parade of the best divisions of his armed forces.

United States Ambassador Hugh Wilson was in the group of diplomats and foreign officers opposite the fuehrer's stand.

In the afternoon he had Max Schmeling, Germany's heavyweight champion, explain to him with the aid of motion pictures how he knocked out Steve Dudas at Hamburg last Saturday.

Among less perishable gifts was the 500 thousandth automobile turned out by the Daimler-Benz works.

Hitler's known devotion to art brought many valuable paintings to be added to his private collection, which already has become one of the finest of its kind in Germany.

PREPARATIONS were announced as complete last night for the reception of members of a Fort Worth goodwill delegation who are scheduled to arrive aboard a special train at 6 o'clock this morning for a four-hour visit in Lubbock.

Aboard the special, according to information to the chamber of commerce last night, are more than 100 high executives of Fort Worth business firms.

Breakfast Is Arranged

The only entertainment arranged for the visitors will be a breakfast at Hilton hotel at 7:30 o'clock this morning. No elaborate plans were made because of advices that members of the party desire to spend as much time as possible "just visiting" with the business men of Lubbock.

Chas. A. Whitacre, chafrman of the good neighbor committee of the chamber of commerce, requested however, that those planning to attend the breakfast assemble at the Santa Fe depot at 6:45 p. m. to greet the good willers and escort them to the hotel.

Visitors To Give Program

R. C. Hopping, president of the chamber of commerce, will call the breakfast to order. The visitors will present the program, with D. L. Tandy scheduled to preside.

The special is scheduled to leave Lubbock for Amarillo at 10 a. m. Stops are scheduled at Hale Center at 10:45, at Plainview at 11:35 for lunch and at Tulia at 2:30 p. m.

30,000 Farmers To Insure Big Crops

BY PAUL D. SHOEMAKER
Associated Press Farm Editor

OMAHA, Neb., April 20.—Roy M. Green, manager of the Federal Crop Insurance corporation, said today he expects upward of 30,000 farmers to participate this year in the federal wheat insurance program, inaugurating the government's venture into insuring farmers against wheat crop losses from unavoidable causes in 1939.

If the 1938 crop should be a bumper one, Green believes more farmers would take policies, paying the premiums in wheat and insuring against failure of the 1939 croup up to 50 to 75 per cent of the 10 year average annual production of their farm and the county it is located in. Premium rates would vary, depending on the production averages.

On One-Year Basis

During the first three years of operation of the program, Green told a conference of farmers, extension officials, state and county committeemen, policies will be written on a one-year basis, but it is planned to provide policies covering three or five year periods.

Green said farmers would be certain not to reap advantages of the program if they come in one year and drop out the next.

Interest Being Shown

Farmers in the spring wheat territory, he said, have evinced greater interest than those in other parts of the country. Starting late in May or early in June applications for policies will be accepted with mid-September tentatively set as the latest time for obtaining insurance on the 1939 crop.

One feature of the program is that the premium will be in bushels of wheat, indemnities for losses will be paid in bushels of wheat and the corporation will hold its reserves in wheat to be stored in available facilities at government expense, which also provides for all administrative expenses.

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP) — Hopes of administration leaders for quick senate action on the $1,156,546,000 naval expansion bill faded tonight because of attacks by critics, but the leaders said there was "not the slightest doubt" of ultimate passage by an overwhelming margin.

Beginning a fight against the measure today, Senator Nye (R-ND) contended it was unnecessary because there was no "group of foes" that could "even threaten an encroachment on our territory."

Death Chair To Take 3 Lives

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 20.—Preparations went forward in the state penitentiary death house at Huntsville tonight for the fifth triple electrocution in Texas history.

The state pardon board unanimously decided today against clemency for Johnnie Banks, Brazoria county negro and one of three convicted murderers scheduled to die in the electric chair early Friday.

Other Pleas Denied

The board previously had unanimously denied pleas for the lives of John W. Vaughn, convicted of slaying A. A. Edwards, San Antonio motorcycle officer, January 16, 1937, and Selanes Canedo, found guilty of murder of Joseph W. Daly of San Antonio November 26, 1936.

Banks was sentenced to death for murder of Jewel Smith, 13-year-old negro girl, in Brazoria county August 16, 1936.

Texas substituted electrocution for hanging early in 1924. Five persons paid the extreme penalty the first night the chair was used. On four occasions since, there have been triple electrocutions.

New Medicine To Prevent Flu Is Reported Near Perfection; It Works Now On Mice

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 20. — A new medicine that prevents flu in mice was reported to the American Chemical society here today.

It has not been tested on humans, but the prospect is favorable, since it is made from sulfanilamide, the sensational new drug made from a red dye which has cured blood poisoning and helped many different infections in man.

The flu medicine is a new form of sulfanilamide. To spell the name of the new drug, takes 35 letters, two numerals, one comma and one semicolon. It was reported by M. L. Crossley, research director, E. H. Northey and M. E. Hultquist of the Calco Chemical company, Bound Brook, N. J.

Discovery of sulfanilamide, they said, has opened a new chapter in chemical treatment of disease. The new form which protected mice against flu also prevented their catching any form of streptococcus infection.

SAN JACINTO day; what does it mean to you? Perhaps you recall your sixth grade history well enough to remember the story of the fall of the Alamo and subsequent battle at San Jacinto in which Santa Anna was defeated and the onslaught at the Alamo—that cradle of Texas liberty—forever vindicated. How should we celebrate this day?

To native Texans we believe it should be a time of reconsecration and rededication to ideals. This should be a sacred day, a time for pausing to consider how we may have sidetracked from the principles held dear by those who 102 years ago today were willing to sacrifice all that they held dear in remembering the Alamo.

ARE YOU PUNCTUAL?

WITHOUT setting ourself up as either a Carnegie or a Margery Wilson we'd like to venture a timid assertion that the manner in which a person keeps or breaks an appointment is a big index to his character. Not long ago we were with a group waiting for one girl who showed up exactly 17 minutes later than the time agreed on as the time we would leave for an outing. Her friends excused her impoliteness with "Oh she'll eventually be here, she's always late."

We know a girl who is the cause of a bridge club waiting from ten minutes to half an hour before beginning the first hand because she simply can't be on time. You recall, no doubt, of many instances when you waited for a friend who was perhaps an hour late or maybe who never came at all. That's called getting stood up if you're dating; it's usually that something more interesting came along if a girl fails another girl.

We believe deliberate failure to keep appointments comes under the heading of inexcusable rudeness. One should either indicate that he may show up and he may not or should make an honest effort to keep his word.

Government Steps In To Halt Sale Of Planes To Spain

LOS ANGELES, April 20. (AP) — The federal government stepped in today to end the purchase of American airplanes for shipment to Spanish loyalist forces by way of Mexico.

Charging violation of United States neutrality laws, a federal grand jury indicted Fritz Bieler, German-born citizen of Mexico.

Although Bieler is said to be in Mexico and cannot be extradited under existing treaties, U. S. Attorney Ben Harrison termed his case a general warning against the sale of planes without full knowledge of the use to which they are put.

Paul Mantz, stunt flier and technical advisor to Amelia Earhart, assisted the investigation with his testimony, Harrison said.

It is not enough to have the crankcase drained occasionally, because small particles of dirt lodge there. The crankcase should be thoroughly flushed at intervals.

Chinese Defenders Stand Fast Under Heavy Pounding Of Japanese Artillery

Fierce Battles Being Staged

BY ELMER PETERSON

SHANGHAI, April 21. (Thursday) —(AP)—China's defenders of Shantung province stood fast under heavy pounding of Japanese heavy guns today, hoping to force their outnumbered attackers into hand-to-hand combat.

Japan's second central China offensive against the Chinese legions that thwarted the first opened with bombardment of the Lini sector which continued without pause.

Situation Is Critical

Chinese admitted their situation there was critical but denied Japanese assertion Lini itself had fallen.

Japanese attacking Lini were striving to relieve pressure on the Japanese garrison besieged at Yihsien, 40 miles to the southwest. Their offensive also was pointed at Suchow, 90 miles to the southwest, main eastern junction city on the Lunghai railroad which runs through the unconquered heart of central China.

Japanese were attempting to wipe out the stain of their defeat at Taierchwang, where the earlier Shantung offensive was stalled.

Leave For Front

Neutral observers sent word Chinese troop trains were leaving for the front from Chengchow, 300 miles west on the Lunghai, in a continuous stream, their movement screened from Japanese bombers by dense sandstorms.

Chinese admitted their troops had withdrawn from Hanchwang, grand canal city at the southwest tip of the triangular Shantung province front. Otherwise, lines in the battle area were virtually the same as yesterday.

Spanish Drive Being Slowed

HENDAYE, France (At The Spanish Frontier), April 20. (AP)—Unyielding government resistance from the foothills of the Pyrenees to the Mediterranean seat at Tortosa today forced Insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco to send new drives against two main objectives.

Targets of the insurgent offensive were Puigcerda, on the French border in Catalonia, northeastern corner of Spain now severed from government Spain proper, and Castellon, Mediterranean seaport south of Catalonia.

Threats Are Made

In the south, advancing insurgents threatened Albocacer, 26 miles north of Castellon and for the last two weeks field headquarters for government Spain proper.

Columns composed of mixed units of Italian and Spanish troops blasted their way toward Castellon, their immediate objective to cut the main road between Albocacer and Valencia. Their eventual goal was to take Castellon.

Against this southern insurgent army, General Jose Miaja, now military dictator of the major part of government Spain, rushed the finest units of his command, drawing them from Madrid, Toledo and southern fronts.

In the far north insurgent troops under General Solchaga, fresh from their easy conquest of the Aran valley, found that their next objective would be the hardest of the Aragon and Catalonian drives.

Government sources estimated 25,000 government militiamen assembled near Seo De Urgel to bar Solchaga's way to the vital mountain gate of Puigcerda 26 miles to the east and north.

Five Members Of Arab Band Are Killed By Soldiers

JERUSALEM, April 20. (AP)—British troops and airplanes today killed five members of a large Arab band which authorities held responsible for an attack on a police post last night in which an Arab constable was killed.

Because police dogs followed the trail of the raiders into Beisan a collective fine of $2,500 was imposed on the town.

Road Officials Hold Session

SAN ANTONIO, April 20. (AP) —Welcomed by Mayor C. K. Quin of San Antonio, representatives of 50 cities along the Old Spanish Trail from St. Augustine, Fla., to San Diego, Calif., opened the four-day annual convention of the Old Spanish Trail association here today. Col. Julius Depont of New Orleans is president of the organization.

Round table discussions on highway and bridge problems occupied the morning session. The afternoon meeting was to be devoted to history and travel lectures on attractions of states along the route of the trail as it stretches from Florida to California.

Efforts of the association to secure designation of the historic route as a super military and industrial highway will occupy a portion of the business session.

Speakers this afternoon included Frank Forward of San Diego, Calif.; Gus Michaels of Bisbee, Ariz., and P. W. Kaltenbach of Lordsburg, N. M., who reviewed the history of the trail and reported on travel conditions in their respective states.

Mother Of Baseball Players Taken By Death In Houston

HOUSTON, April 20. (AP) — Mrs. Leonora Walker, 49, mother of three baseball players—Gerald H. Walker of the Chicago American league club, Harvey W. Walker of the Nashville Southern league team, and Hilman Walker, a member of the Evansville, Ind., team of the Three I league, died today in a Houston hospital.

The body was sent to Hattiesburg, Miss., following services here.

Other survivors are her husband, Richard H. Walker, sr., of Hattiesburg, Miss., and two other sons, Leo M. Walker of Houston and Dr. Richard H. Walker, jr., of Johnson City, Tenn.

New Step In Making Of Diamonds Told

DALLAS, April 20. (AP)— A new step toward making artificial diamonds was reported to the American Chemical society today by Lewellyn D. Lloyd of McPherson college, Kansas.

This is a method of quickly searching the material in which the diamonds are made to see if any are there. Heretofore it has taken weeks of patient work to do this.

Mr. Lloyd described nine years of progress made by Dr. Williard J. Hershey of McPherson college, toward making diamonds. In that time Dr. Hershey has made 50. They were real. Year by year they grew a little larger. The largest is now one thirtieth of a carat.

Carbon of various forms has been melted in iron and other hard substances, while molten. Cooled quickly in brine, the mass sometimes contains diamonds. Sugar proved to be a good source for diamond carbon. Gum arabic is the best stuff yet tried for making diamonds. It too is carbon.

ENLARGE C. O. MILL

LAMESA.—An addition to the storage building of the Dawson County Cotton Oil mill is about finished, Fred Smith, manager, said. It will provide storage for approximately 10,000 sacks of cottonseed cake.

Traffic Halted By High Water

BEAUMONT, April 20. (AP)—Swirling waters undermined the dump on the Texas side of the Sabine river bridge at Bon Wier, Tex., and Merryville, La., and halted interstate traffic today.

C. A. Bracher of Beaumont, divisional highway engineer, permitted only pedestrians to cross. He said about 40 or 50 feet of the dump had been sucked away, undermining the piling of the comparatively new concrete structure.

Routes Threatened

Bracher said smaller streams threatened routes between Deweyville and Newton and Betwaaninome on the Spanish trail and Sour Lake, 30 miles from Beaumont.

Traffic to Galveston was routed through Port Arthur because of the condition of the Winnie-Stowell road. The ferry at Town Bluff on the Neches river was closed because of high water.

Says Her Life Is Worth Living Since She Began Gly-Cas

Given Results She Had Been Wanting For Years; Gly-Cas First To Reach Her Stubborn Case; "None Other Like It"

"Gly-Cas gave me more than just temporary relief," said Mrs. M. Pacheco, 1511 South Walter St., Albuquerque, New Mexico. "For four years a kidney disorder had caused me no end of discomfort with too frequent action and dreadful back pains. A good night's sleep was impossible because of night risings, and I got little rest during the day for the severe pains I endured in my back. My stomach became disordered and gas, bloating and indigestion were with me almost constantly. I grew terribly discouraged as medicine after medicine repeatedly failed in my case. Then Gly-Cas was brought to my attention and I decided to give it a trial. Gly-Cas went right to the source of my health troubles and I began to show improvement almost at once."

"Gly-Cas has been a blessing to me and has made my life worth living," continued Mrs. Pacheco. "My kidneys have been so regulated that I am no longer bothered with those former back aches and night risings. My stomach is functioning normally and gas, bloating and indigestion are all in the past. I enjoy my meals and full night's of restful sleep. Never before have I seen a medicine with the ability to accomplish so much in so little time as has this new Gly-Cas."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading druggists in surrounding towns. Adv.

Final Meetings Held In City

Two final meetings of Lubbock groups studying proposed industrial training of high school students were held Wednesday in offices of the chamber of commerce. Twelve meetings have been held since Monday.

Paschal Buckner of Big Spring, district supervisor in the trade and industrial division of the state department of education, has explained the plan to the groups, all of which endorsed it heartily.

These Meeting Wednesday

Committees meeting Wednesday were the dairy, livestock and poultry and manufacturers and manufacturer distributors.

The program outlined by Buckner would allow high school students to acquire special training in their chosen trade at about a quarter of the average pay for the trade. Half a day would be spent in school, the other half working at the desired profession.

Curriculum under the plan would be worked out by the student, his parents, the school superintendent, and a teacher-trainer. The teacher-trainer, experienced in that kind of work, would be sent here.

Classes Are Limited

Special classes in the schools would deal with the phases of work chosen by the students. Classes would be limited to 30 members, though students would be given full lee-way in selecting what training they would pursue, after consultation with parents, school officials and the special teacher.

The program as proposed would be instituted next fall, and surveys to locate firms desiring boys to work under the plan would not be started until then, chamber of commerce officials said.

Discussion relative to night schools for adults was also held in meetings of committees. Buckner explained that the department of education would furnish 75 per cent of money necessary for teacher expenses. The remaining expense could be subscribed by small matriculation fees.

voted by congress for loans to business enterprises. The bill was a product of last winter's stormy session of "little business men," who complained "little business" was finding it impossible to get capital for expansion.

The R. F. C. chairman said his agency had received two, or three, small applications for loans from utility companies. Douglas said that some large issues of utility bonds were under discussion but had not yet reached the application stage.

through the streets. At one place he had broken plate glass windows with a large stick; a few blocks further the searchers surrounded him still asleep.

Stansberry offered no resistance and immediately admitted he was the missing convict. He was returned to the penitentiary today by Sheriff Claude Mitchell of Huntsville. Sheriff Mitchell said a charge of auto theft will be filed against Stansberry.

Stansberry was sent up from San Antonio May 11, 1937 on a five year sentence for robbery by assault.

The contract was awarded at a meeting of the gift committee Tuesday night.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—A boom in aircraft shares in the stock market today helped check a flight of other groups to lower levels.

Spotlighted by reports a British commission was en route to the United States to inspect airplane manufacturing facilities, perhaps with an eye to placing orders for England's rearmament needs, the aviation group had the speculative stage pretty much to itself.

Wright Aeronautical, mostly held by Curtiss Wright and usually an inactive issue, soared nearly 7 points. Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, Curtiss Wright, Consolidated Aircraft and Boeing rose fractions to more than 3 points.

Despite a late rally, moderate losses predominated in the main list.

American Telephone emerged with a net gain of more than a point at 125¾. Aiding it was the statement of President Gifford to shareholders that the company this month continued to gain telephone stations, although toll business had dropped.

Preliminary carloading reports indicated a gain in traffic last week.

Santa Fe moved up more than a point, but most carriers stayed close to their tracks of the preceding session.

Down fractionally to more than a point were General Electric 33⅞, American Smelting 37½, Anaconda Copper 28⅝, International Nickel 46⅞, International Harvester 49¼, Sears Roebuck 57⅝, Texas Corp. 38½, and United States Steel 46.

Utility shares seemed apathetic.

Transaction increased to 777,540 shares from 571,680 yesterday. The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks dipped .4 to 39, the third consecutive decline.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 20. (AP)—Cotton attempted a mild rally in the last hour of trading today but encountered renewed liquidation and some selling induced by declining stocks. The close was barely steady at net losses 1 to 3 points.

Previously prices had fluctuated within an extremely narrow range. Trading, however, was slow and operators were reluctant to transact new business pending Washington developments.

A flurry of buying in the final hour carried prices up to new highs for the day and to levels 4 to 9 points over the previous close. Subsequent selling, however, erased the gain and the close was near the bottom.

May finished at 8.98, July at 8.99-9.00, Oct. at 9.09, Dec. at 9.10, Jan. at 9.12 and Mch. at 9.18.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—Cotton moved irregularly today. July, which had sold up to 8.95, eased to close at 8.88, with final prices 1 to 4 points net lower.

The market opened with effects of steadier Liverpool cables offset by liquidation and hedge selling. When the weekly weather report revealed considerable cold wave damage to cotton in southern Texas and Louisiana, only a light demand appeared. However, selling was small and cotton responded to a moderate demand from locals and New Orleans sources.

New Medicine

stated, "to say that this result will be duplicated in human influenza. Should this compound prove effective for human use against influenza, it would mean that mankind at last has a weapon against a scourge such as the worldwide epidemic of influenza which occurred in 1918."

A new test for toe ringworm (athlete's foot) which shows what kind of medicine will cure this common trouble was reported by George R. Reddish, of the Lambert Pharmaceutical company of St. Louis.

This itch is caused by a fungus. But there are four species, and the germicide which cures one type may fail to cure one or all of the others. The new test, Mr. Reddish said, enables a physician to determine which one of the available medicines is suited to cure a case of this foot trouble.

The body of Miss Kathryn Kuykendall, who died early Wednesday of injuries suffered when she fell down a flight of stairs late Tuesday night at her 1106 1-2 Avenue L apartment, was sent to the home of her parents at San Saba for funeral services which probably will be conducted today. Other funeral arrangements were not known here.

Miss Kuykendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kuykendall of near San Saba, died on her 24th birthday. Her body was sent to San Saba by Rix Funeral home and was expected to arrive there at 1 o'clock this morning.

Lived Here Eight Years

She had been a secretary to McWhorter and Howard, attorneys, six years and had been a resident of Lubbock eight years.

Mrs. Jewel Ainsworth, Miss Kuykendall's roommate, said the girl had fallen about 10:35 o'clock Tuesday night. She said Miss Kuykendall had been sitting down at the head of the stairs and that on rising she apparently caught the heel of her shoe in the hem of a wool skirt she was wearing and tripped, falling the entire length of the flight of 25 steps.

None saw her fall but both Mrs. Ainsworth and a friend, Mrs. Lou Martin, heard the fall, then discovered her lying unconscious at the foot of the stairs. The heel of one of Miss Kuykendall's shoes was on the top step and the hem of her dress was torn.

Carried To Her Room

The girl was carried to her room by the two women, who had been making plans for a birthday party for Miss Kuykendall, and a physician was called. After a preliminary examination by the doctor, the girl was taken to a hospital in a Rix Funeral home ambulance. She never regained consciousness.

Mrs. Ainsworth said another person probably accompanied her home, but had left. She said she saw the girl sitting alone near the head of the stairs before the fall.

The attending physician said her death was caused from skull fracture and concussion. Otherwise, her body had no other serious bruises and no lacerations.

Other than parents, she is survived by three brothers, Randal of Valley Springs, and A. R. and Kenneth of Cherokee; a sister, Mrs. Roy Allason of Llano, wife of a deputy sheriff there.

Three uncles live in Lubbock: Martin Kuykendall of 2322 Twentieth street; Ulyss Kuykendall of 2013 Seventh street; and L. L. Kuykendall of 2315 Seventh street. Mrs. Rem A. Thomson of 1112-A Eighteenth street is a cousin.

Ross And Armstrong To Meet In Garden Bowl May 26

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—Promoter Mike Jacobs today decided to stage the world welterweight championship fight between Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong in Madison Square Garden's bowl in Long Island City on May 26.

The decision leaves the way open for Jacobs to put on the heavyweight title fight between Joe Louis and Max Schmeling in the Yankee Stadium in June, and the scheduled bout between the Ross-Armstrong winner and Lou Ambers in the Polo Grounds in July.

If Ross should defeat Armstrong in May, he will defend his welterweight crown against Ambers in July.

If Armstrong takes Ross, and wins the welterweight title he will meet Ambers, with the lightweight title on the line.

The giant torpedo in the picture above gives some idea of the magnitude of modern instruments of war. It is being slung under a British bombing plane during maneuvers to test Britain's convoy system for merchant ships—the system which was so successful in the World War in bringing cargoes of food and raw materials to England. Protecting the convoy was the home fleet; attacking, a fore including 130 planes like this one. Note that the torpedo is almost as large as the fuselage of a small passenger plane.

Mary Hardin-Baylor Girls Tell Of Unique Experiences While They Were Children

BELTON, April 20. (Special) — While there may not be any particular distinction these days in being a college coed, seven Mary Hardin-Baylor students boast particular types of distinctiveness—or maybe "oddities." If being born in an insane asylum, or having your nap in a bureau drawer, or cutting your baby teeth in five different parts of the world are out of the ordinary then these seven girls have just claims.

Jane Tanner, a senior from Brownsville, was born in the Georgia state institution for the insane, but only because her father happened to be on the staff there at the time of her birth. Ruth Comerford, a sophomore from Ben Wheeler, achieved dental fame by cutting a new baby teeth in England, Wales, the Atlantic ocean, the United States, and the Pacific ocean. She missed Japan by a day because her sixth tooth came through a day before her family arrived in that country.

First Bed Was Drawer

Then Nadine Snelson, a senior from Diball, claims the title of the original Kayo. She was born during an influenza epidemic and became of limited beds her first bed was one of the bureau drawers. Sally St. John of McAllen is a "woman without a state," having been born on the border between Arkansas and Louisiana. Then there is Annabelle Haaker, Weslaco freshman, who had seen the Chalk Cliffs of Ireland, German's romantic Black Forest, and the Alps of Switzerland before she was six years old, and it was on a trip to Europe in 1925, that she was in the famous Chicago train wreck. She and her family appeared in numerous newsreels following the accident because her mother was the heroine of the occasion, being the only nurse on the train.

Mary Farmer, of Junction, a sophomore, claims distinction by being one of the few remaining "honest-to-goodness" cowgirls who can appear in dramatic productions at college during the winter and go home to help round-up cattle, brand sheep, and ride in rodeos during the summer. A different type of distinction is claimed by Rosemary Woodard, a freshman from New Orleans, La., who collects all types of animal figures, having a collection of over 2000 pieces representing articles from 40 states and a number of foreign countries.

Two Burned In Laundry Blaze

(By The Associated Press)

NACOGDOCHES, April 20—Two men were burned, one critically, and six automobiles were damaged when a 25-barrel fuel tank at the rear of a steam laundry here burst into flames today, throwing burning oil down the gutters of a street in the business section.

Pat W. Jackson, 47, owner of an auto store adjoining the laundry, who was repairing an automobile near the tank when it caught fire, was taken to a hospital with severe back and arm burns, and a singed face.

Second Man Injured

Virgil Prince, 25, co-owner of the laundry, who also was nearby when the fire started, suffered second and third degree burns on his arms, hands and face. He was treated at a doctor's office.

The fire, apparently started when oil spilled out of the tank on a hot boiler to which it supplied fuel, did small damage to the main laundry, but destroyed a vulcanizing shop at the rear of Jackson's store.

Cars Badly Burned

Two automobiles near the tank and one across the street were badly burned. Three other machines had the paint burned off the bodies.

John Prince, brother of Virgil and co-owner of the laundry, estimated damage to his plant at $300.

Mrs. Farmer Takes Honors In Country Club Flag Tourney

Mrs. J. R. Farmer won first prize in yesterday's "flag" tournament, feature of ladies day at Lubbock Country club. Eleven women competed in the tournament.

Based on a par plus handicap arrangement, entries in the flag tournament were allowed so many strokes for the round. The player carrying her flag the farthest was declared winner.

Members attending the luncheon, most of whom played golf, were:

Mrs. Wm. H. Evans, Mrs. Charles Akey, Mrs. Cliff Dean, Mrs. Kirk Dean, Mrs. M. M. Brown, Mrs. Fenner Tubbs, Mrs. Glen Smith, Mrs. Bob Crawford, Mrs. Jack Humphreys, Mrs. Arthur A. Moore, Mrs. Loftin Burnett, Mrs. Bill Helwig, and Mrs. Farmer.

SEAGRAVES.—Patrons of the Andy Williams school district, south of town, will continue to send their children to the Seagraves school, but as a part of the district and not on contract. This was done by the county board of trustees.

Fruit In Texas Said Healthful

DALLAS, April 20. (AP) — Texas peaches are full of vitamin C. More, that is, more than anyone suspected, the American Chemical Society was informed today.

So too is there excess of this vitamin over expectations in Texas canteloupe, muskmelons, mustard and persimmons. This report was made by W. W. Floyd of the Sam Houston State Teachers college and G. S. Fraps of the Texas Agricultural experiment station.

Painful Disease

C is the anti-scurvy vitamin. Scurvy is a painful disease of the tropics. But it has recently been reported to be widespread in a mild "sub-clinical" form in the United States. Two weeks ago, in New York, the American College of Physicians was informed that there were even cases of this kind of scurvy among New York doctors and nurses.

In the analysis of Texas vitamin C sources, peppers rated the highest. These peppers have from 158 to 281 milligrams of vitamin C in 100 grams of peppers.

Second highest comes Texas mustard—up to 171—third is Texas cabbage with a uniform 130 milligrams. Turnip greens, of Texas, are a single point behind cabbage. Peaches are under 10, cantaloupe from 7 to 37, and persimmons 43 on the vitamin C scale.

Doing Good Turn

Doing a good turn in vitamins for the chickens, cows and range animals was reported from the Texas agricultural experiment station by G. S. Fraps, chief of its division of chemistry.

These animals suffer from lack of vitamin A, especially in winter or when pastures are dried too long. The stockmen give them feed supposed to contain the vitamin. But the amount of the vitamin varies tremendously and can be found only by tests.

Heretofore it has been necessary to feed some of the cattle or chicken feed to a rat. If he got sick, there wasn't enough vitamin A. If he stayed well, the expense was wasted. It was both expensive and tedious to make tests in this way.

Devise New Method

The Texas Aggie chemists have devised a method of pressing the juice out of the feed, washing it in three chemical baths, and obtaining a liquid that has all, or most of the vitamin. This vitamin is yellow. By the color the new test says whether the vitamin is sufficient.

Sometimes animals, and also humans, get sick from lack of vitamin A even when they seem to be eating plenty of it. Investigations on this problem were reported by S. W. Clausen and A. B. McCord of the University of Rochester school of medicine.

They found that the liver gets balky and refuses to release its vitamin A to starving tissues. They said they are now looking into the problem of how the liver gives up this vitamin which is the protection against infectious disease.

Brief Last Rites Are Read In City For Odessa Man

Brief last rites were read Wednesday afternoon by Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of the First Christian church, for J. W. Evans, about 70, of Odessa at Lubbock cemetery, where burial was held.

Burial was directed by Rix Funeral home, assisted by Hendricks Funeral home of Odessa. The body was brought here Wednesday morning by the Odessa funeral home.

Evans, former resident of Lubbock, died at the home of a son at Odessa Monday night and services were conducted there Tuesday afternoon.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. H. F. Ward of Colorado; and three sons, Herman, Roy, and Jim Evans, all of Odessa.

Pipe Lines Made Of Sulphur Instead Of Steel Explained; New Business Looms

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

DALLAS, April 20. — Pipe lines made of sulphur instead of steel were described to the American Chemical society today as a new step in the "brimstone" business, one of the major industries of the southwest.

This "casting of sulphur pipe," one of the recent discoveries through which American chemistry hopes to give a big push to prosperity in the United States, was reported by Isaac Bencowitz, of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., inc., at New York City.

Stands High Pressure

For making pipe, sulphur is mixed with coarse sand or with coke. Adding some shredded asbestos helps. The "brimstone" pipe, Bencowitz said, stands a pressure of 75 pounds to the square inch.

A unique quality of sulphur makes the pipe possible. Sulphur is the exception among substances that melt, because it does not become more liquid as the temperature rises. Instead, after softening under low heat, the "brimstone" gets harder with rising temperature.

Sulphur pipelines, Bencowitz said, will be specially good for carrying certain corrosive liquids that eat metals. They do not affect sulphur.

Make Steel Rust-Proof

The new sulphur mixtures can be used to line the inside of steel pipes. They make the steel rust-proof as well as safe from numerous other forms of corrosion.

The romance of the brimstone business in the United States was told in a sulphur symposium at the closing sessions of the Dallas meeting. The peculiar melting trick of sulphur causes most of the trouble in getting it out of the ground. Hot water is pumped into sulphur deposits that lie 900 to 1500 feet underground. The sulphur comes up from these "wells" in liquid form.

But to keep it liquid the temperature has to be held within a zone of about five degrees. The water temperature that will bring up sulphur from one depcsit may not work in another.

Sometimes the first wells in a deposit fails to bring up sulphur because it won't melt properly. But a few years later, due to underground changes, this same sulphur will melt and flow out.

For reasons like this said Donald B. Mason of the Freeport Sulphur company, it is not possible to predict whether a sulphur deposit can be mined with profit, or even be mined at all.

Contracts On Power Lines In Three Counties Are Let

CENTER, Tex., April 20. (AP) — The East Texas Electrification association awarded a contract today to Dick McKinney of Nacogdoches for construction of 124 miles of power line in Shelby, San Augustine and Sabine counties. Bids were opened at San Augustine by the board of directors.

Contracts for meters was awarded the General Electric Supply Co. of Dallas.

Intensive Safety Campaign Will Be Started In Texas

FORT WORTH, April 20. (AP)—The statewide conference on traffic safety in Fort Worth June 18 will fire the gun for the start of one of the most intensive campaigns ever waged for highway and road safety in Texas, Governor James V. Allred declared here today.

The governor praised the work already accomplished by the safety committee and said he particularly is pleased with the way "the people in general have taken up the work."

"Bluebeard's Fourth Wife" had taking ways, but when he caught her going through his pockets, that was more than he could take.

Hubbers Meet Wink Here Today At 3:30; Defeat Sweetwater Wednesday, 5-2

League Outfits In Exhibition At Local Park

Joseph C. "Jodie" Tate, the Texas League's little man with the big stick back in the last decade, brings his Wink baseball club to Lubbock today for an exhibition scrap with Buck Miller's Lubbock Hubbers.

Time is 3:30 o'clock.

Lefty Jerry Blanchard and J. C. Vincent divided time on the mound and the Hubbers turned back the Sweetwater semi-pro team there yesterday, 5 to 2. Blanchard, starting the game, pitched five and two-thirds innings of hitless ball, and struck out ten batters. The Hubbers collected a total of ten hits to win rather handily.

League Champs Here

Tate piloted the Wink club to the West Texas-New Mexico league championship last year and has his eyes on a second straight pennant. The defending champions lost some valuable players, but Tate and his bosses have gathered another great gang of youngsters. The club operates independently, having no farm connections.

Fans of this section, therefore, may see the champions in action, and may compare the Hubbers with the Winks to get a line on what may happen when the league season opens next week.

Wink's first league visit will be May 8 when the club plays the Hubbers a double header here.

It's baseball every day for the Hubbers now, what with Wink today, Littlefield tomorrow, Amherst Saturday, Borger Sunday and Monday. There'll be a one-day rest Tuesday before the Hubbers invade Clovis for the season opener.

Littlefield is expected to give trouble here Friday as an old rivalry pops out again. Followed by hundreds of fans, if fair weather prevails, the Littlefield club may repeat Amherst's dangerous attitude of last Sunday.

New Seats Ready

Carpenters at the local park made much headway yesterday, and promised to have the new grandstand section ready for occupancy this afternoon. About 500 new seats have been added. The roof will be finished in time to cover the new stand for Friday's game, it is believed, and box seats may be ready for Sunday's game with the slugging Hubers of Borger.

Fans may look over another pitcher for the Hubbers today when big Casamir Kaliski, Michigan product, toes the rubber against Wink. Kaliski, pitching a six-inning scrimmage game Monday, blanked the Rookies. It was he who, loaned to Clovis, pitched winning ball for Clovis against Lubbock at Sweetwater recently. He is a right hander with a nice curve and a streaking fast ball. Miller will catch, and the rest of the lineup will be approximately the same as that against Amherst Sunday.

Baylor Attempts To Bump Texas Steers

(By The Associated Press)

Second place Baylor, boasting a couple of fine twirlers tries to knock the leading University of Texas from its undefeated perch in the standout week-end games of the Southwest conference diamond race.

Friday and Saturday at Austin Baylor will toss its Mike Duecy and Tommy Fine at a Texas team that has relied mainly on Garnett, who has won three games.

Starting Thursday at Dallas against Southern Methodist, the Texas Aggies, defending champions, have a busy week-end. They play another game against the Methodists Friday and Saturday move back to Fort Worth against a Texas Christian nine that is tied for the lead with Rice institute.

The cellarites will fight it out among themselves Friday, with Rice visiting at Fort Worth. Rice moves on to Dallas Saturday for a whirl at the Methodists.

Cooper, Aggie second baseman, moved up to the top of the batting procession with a .583 mark with Baylor's Rightower behind at an even .500.

Dizzy Dean Makes Big Start As Cub; Coasts To 10-4 Win Over Redlegs

(By The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, April 20—Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean's debut as a Chicago Cub was just a six-inning arm-loosening chore for the former St. Louis Cardinal loud-speaker today, the "great one" coasting to a 10-4 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on the impetus of a nine-run splurge in the second frame.

It was the second straight win for Chicago over the Redlegs.

A crowd of 6,582 turned out, most of them to watch Dean's performance, but the second-inning barrage of the Bruin batsmen stole the show. In that game-clinching stanza two errors, a walk and 10 base hits, put the game on ice for the windy city crew.

Dean, after pounding out a single to score Lazzeri in the big second, and then scoring from Jurges' double against the right field wall, was taken out at the end of the sixth. Manager Charley Grimm said he did it to give "Old Diz" a much needed rest.

During his six inning sojourn on the hill, Dean did not issue a walk, struck out three, and allowed eight hits.

Coaker Triplett, Chicago's left fielder just up from Memphis where he led the Southern Association in hitting last year, and ancient Tony Lazzeri, former Yankee and now part of Chicago's "board of strategy," topped the batters with four hits in five attempts. Lazzeri batted in three runs for the honors in that department.

Lee Grissom, left-hander counted on to handle a heavy portion of the Cincinnati mound work this year, lasted but an inning, the Cubs pounding him for six straight hits in the second frame with none out. Barrett took up the chores and allowed four more bingles before the Cubs were snuffed out.

BEES STOP GIANTS

NEW YORK, April 20. (AP)—The Boston Bees came up with a slugging "stinger" today and trounced the National League champions 6 to 4 on Gene Moore's homer with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

Jim Turner, last year's old-man rookie sensation, stymied the champions with six hits to even the series.

Hal Schumacher held the Bees in check until the eighth, although he was tagged for a homer by Rookie Max West in the second. After stopping the Bees with three hits through the first seven frames, he was suddenly tagged for singles by Turner and Rabbit Warstler at the start of the eighth, and was succeeded by Walt Brown, who committed an error to load the bases and set the stage for Moore's payoff wallop.

ST. LOUIS, April 20. (AP)—Paced by Arky Vaughan and Al Todd, each with three hits in five times at bat, the Pittsburgh Pirates smothered the St. Louis Cardinals today, 9 to 4.

FAT FREDDY WEAKENS

PHILADELPHIA, April 20. (AP)—Fat Freddy Fitzsimmons fell apart in the ninth inning today after pitching near-perfect ball for four frames, and the Phillies put on a four-run spree to beat out the Brooklyn Dodgers 6 to 5.

The Phils hadn't had a hit off Fitz from the fifth to the ninth, and had tagged him for only five altogether, but in the last frame,

Sports 'Nearly Win' A Game

SHREVEPORT, La., April 20. (AP)—For six innings the Shreveport Sports had a vision of their first victory of the season when they paced the San Antonio Missions by a 1 to 0 score, behind brilliant pitching by Junie Barnes, but in the seventh Berardino tied the count with a home run and in the eighth San Antonio pushed over another tally to win by the margin of 2 to 1.

It was the eighth defeat for the local team and closed out a three-game home stand.

Andy Tremaine and George Hartay tugged and pulled and maneuvered for more than an hour before the former was able to crawl on the latter's prone body for the third and deciding fall Wednesday night at the Auditorium.

Both wrestlers shuffled around in their respective strategy bags with varied success throughout the match. Hartay captured the first setto after a series of slams. It required him 40 minutes.

Tremaine Wins Second

The Arizonan came back in 20 minutes to pin Jawge in the throes of a cradle hold in the second. Neither was able to do much damage to the other, every hold in the books being doomed during the affray.

It remained for Tremaine to kick himself out of a crab and the Hungarian out of the ring, come seven minutes of the third fall. A slam turned the trick.

Dutch Mantell, as third man in the ring for the night's card, kept Gorilla Pogi pretty well in hand, and Dick Sampson stayed the thirty-minute time-limit of the semi-final.

A surfboard hold provided Bairam Bey's undoing in his opener with Bob Cummings after 12 minutes.

New Mexico Tennis Team Here Friday

Road weary after the long tour over Texas during the past ten days, the Texas Tech tennis team was home yesterday, facing little rest before engaging the University of New Mexico netters here Friday morning.

Coach James Allen said last night that the experience gained by the Red Raider netters should prove well worth while, and that his team, consisting of Harry Jordan, Aubrey McCarty, Sidney Moore and Wilson Chapman is stringer. The Techs ended their tour by losing to Abilene Christian college at Abilene Tuesday. Previously they had played Hardin-Simmons university, Baylor, University of Texas, Southern Methodist, North Texas Teachers, the Texas Aggies, and competed in the Southwestern tournament at Austin.

with the Dodgers leading 5-2. Herschel Martin, Chuck Klein and Earl Browne singled in succession, and when Max Butcher relieved him, Morrie Arnovich drew a walk. Pinky Whitney tied it up with a two-run single, and Arnovich brought home the winning run on a wild pitch.

Feller Gives Up One Hit, Gets Browns, 9-0

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, April 20.—Robert W. "Bob" Feller, back in the form that made him the American League's strikeout champion, shut out the St. Louis Browns with a single hit today while Cleveland's artillery swung into action to win 9-0.

The six-foot, 19-year-old pride of Van Meter, Ia., struck out six Browns, walked an equal number, made two of the Indians' 11 hits and drove in two runs.

The only hit off Feller came in the sixth, when Catcher Billy Sullivan beat out a tap to the box on a close decision. The Indians meanwhile clubbed big Jim Weaver and his successor, Russ Van Atta, and received ten walks, nine of them from Weaver.

The Browns always have been momentous in the speedball king's life. The first time Feller started a professional game, he struck out 15 of them and later raised his mark to 17 against another club. Last year in his first time out he injured his "million dollar" right arm as the Browns beat him 4-3, and Feller was out of action for two months.

SENS BLANK ATHLETICS

WASHINGTON, April 20. (AP)—The Senators blanked Philadelphia, 3 to 0, today, as Dutch Leonard fluttered his knuckle ball past the Athletic batters.

The game was a scoreless pitching match between Leonard and Bucky Ross until the seventh inning, when a sacrifice fly and Mel Almada's triple were enough to push the three Senator runs across.

Making his first start in the American League, Leonard held the A's to seven hits. He came to the Senators from Atlanta.

DiMaggio Capitulates To Yankee Salary Figure

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 20. — Back to the New York Yankees when they need him most comes jolting Joe DiMaggio, the San Francisco outfielder who accepted today the club's salary offer of $25,000 after a holdout siege that would have lasted three months tomorrow.

DiMaggio ended his holdout with a terse telegram to Business Manager Edward G. Barrow and tonight was speeding to join the club he sparked to American League pennants and world championships in 1936 and 1937. The staggering Yankees need him. They have won only one of three games and their hitting has been puny.

DiMaggio capitulated at the terms offered by the Yankees with no promises of a bonus for a good season.

"His salary is $25,000, no more, no less," said Jacob Ruppert, owner of the club, who added he was "very glad the young man has signed."

DiMaggio, traveling by train, will arrive in New York Saturday morning and will be in uniform for the Yankees' game with the Washington Senators. The club will dock him $162 a day until he is in shape to play.

According to reports from the coast, DiMaggio has worked out sporadically with the San Francisco Seals. He told reporters before leaving his home he was "rarin' to go" and excited about "getting back there and rapping that ball again."

The move which ended the holdout was entirely DiMaggio's.

The club's offer was $25,000. DiMaggio asked $35,000 and later upped his price to $40,000. Colonel Ruppert was firm and both sides settled down for a "freezeout" campaign. The club made no second offer.

DiMaggio predicted the Yankees would win their third American League pennant in three years this season.

Yankee officials emphasized he would have to get into condition at his own expense and would not be put on salary until Manager Joe McCarthy decides he is ready to play. This means that DiMaggio will lose $162 a day until he is ready to play, unless the Yankees relent and date his salary from the start of the season.

Since breaking into the league with the New Yorkers in 1936, DiMaggio has been a "front page" ball player. Last season he hit .346 in 151 games after missing the first six games because of a tonsilectomy. The year before he was missing from the opening day lineup because of a burned foot.

DiMaggio's greatest feat last year was a home run total of 46 which led both major leagues. His batting average was excelled in the American League only by Charley Gehringer of Detroit and teammate Lou Gehrig.

World Boxing Champs To Be Named By World Committee

ROME, April 20. (AP)—World boxing champions henceforth will receive formal, world-wide recognition of their titles as a result of action taken by the World Boxing conference, which closed today.

The conference established a world championship committee, representing virtually all the professional boxing governing bodies, to designate champions and challengers. Chief purpose of the committee is to end the present recognition of one set of champions in the United States and designation of another set in Europe by the International Boxing union.

Tech Cindermen Off Today For Kansas Relays

Coach George Berl Huffman and five of his Texas Tech track and field athletes leave today for Lawrence, Kansas, to compete Saturday in the annual Kansas Relays, one of the nation's most important and spectacular outdoor track and field carnivals.

Marsh Farmer, popular hurdler; Elmer Tarbox, hurdler and sprinter; Bobby Holmes, javelin expert and sprinter; James Foster, member of the relay team, and John Case, distance man, make up the Tech party, which will be competing against the country's fastest and most powerful athletes.

Enter Two Relay Races

The Raiders plan to enter the sprint medley relay, with Foster doing the 440, Tarbox and Holmes 220 each and Case the 880, and the 880-yard relay with Foster, Farmer, Holmes and Tarbox doing 220 each. Case will compete in the special 3,000-meter steeplechase as well as anchor the medley relay team. Holmes is entered in the javelin, 100-yard dash and on the relay team, with Tarbox running the high hurdles, century and relays.

Despite the fact that competition will be unusually strong, Huffman believes two or more of his men will place in the meet. Bobby Holmes, recently recovered from a pulled muscle, appears to be in good shape, and may shine in the sprints.

Rice Owls To Compete In Kansas Meet With Tech

HOUSTON, April 20. (AP)—A six man team of Rice institute track and field competitors, starring speedy Fred Wolcott and Captain Jack Patterson, pulls out of Houston tomorrow morning for a swing to the Kansas Relays and the Drake Relays.

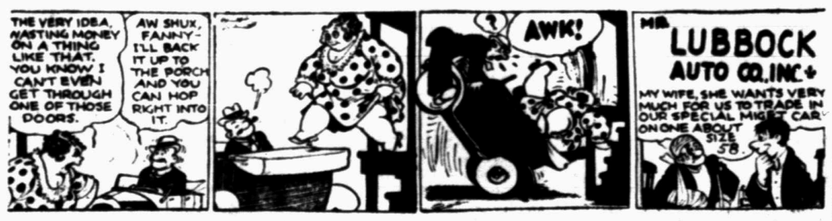

Wolcott, who has been timed in 13.9 for the high hurdle, and 9.5 for the 100 yard dash, will run these two races in both meets. Patterson, also an accomplished high hurdler, and National AAU champ, in the 400 meter barriers, will run the highs at Kansas and the 440 hurdles at Drake.

Calvin Bell, Rice middle distance ace, will race Chuck Fenske, former Wisconsin star; Mahannah, formerly of Drake; Francis of Notre Dame and Morse, Duke's Southern conference star, in a special 1,000 yard race.

Remarkable Duel For Power Is Now Being Staged In Rumanian Government

King Carol Has Strong Enemy

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

NEW YORK, April 20 — Wholesale arrests in Rumania of pro-nazi iron guardsmen, charged with plotting against the government, represent just another phase of the remarkable duel for power between the country's two most colorful personalities—King Carol himself, and the fiery chief of the outlawed iron guard Corneliu Codreanu.

The youthful commoner—always daring and often rash—has challenged his monarch's dictatorship.

Curiously enough, it was Codreanu—the "Hitler of Rumania"—who was mainly responsible for Carol's assumption of absolute power at the end of December.

Is Leader Of Campaign

But the story really starts with Codreanu and not with his majesty. The 38-year-old guardsman has been leading an anti-semitic and anti-communistic campaign since his school-days.

Always an exponent of direct action, he has kept himself constantly in the public eye. There is not a fireside in the land that doesn't know his name. Some conjure with it; others speak it with a curse.

Codreanu is the picture-book type of adventurous leader. He is well built and handsome. His wavy rumpled hair is tossed straight back from a high forehead.

Jutting Jaw of Fighter

Expressive wide-spaced eyes look out from under heavy brows that all but meet. His mouth is generous but firm. And of course, there must be the square, jutting jaw of the fighter.

Codreanu has a wide-spread reputation of being a very earnest person, irrespective of whether his policies and methods may be wrong. Obviously it is hard to defend plotting against the government if there has been such subversive action. His following is considerable, though nobody knows the total.

He has made himself felt as a personality and leader since his youth, many of his disciples having been university students. His activities at the outset were largely anti-semitic.

Killed Police Prefect

One of his earliest sensations was in 1924 when he was only 24 years old. He shot and killed the police prefect of Jassy for using great severity in suppressing anti-Jewish student riots. The young chieftain was acquitted, and this increased his following.

In 1934 Codreanu stood trial a second time in connection with assasination—that of Premier Ion Duca. He and 45 of his followers were acquitted, although three youths who were convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment were said to belong to the iron guard.

Codreanu's pro-German all-for-fatherland party (successor to the outlawed iron guard) won third place in the chamber of deputies with 62 seats. Apparently even the nazi leader himself wasn't prepared for such strong support. He couldn't take advantage of it.

King Carol, however, was quick to interpret the writing on the wall. He realized that the country was heading towards dictatorship — and he took over the job himself, being tired of the failures of past governments.

Carol has staked his dynasty on this dictatorship.

He not only has the reputation of being a serious, hard-working ruler, but he has demonstrated many times that he is a fighter.

Codreanu is tackling a heavy job when he challenges the position of his sovereign.

Smoke Hangs Over The Miami Area; Fire Out Of Control

MIAMI, Fla., April 20. (AP)—Smoke hung over the entire Miami area today from an everglades fire that burned out of control along a 20-mile front in adjoining Broward county.

The odor of the smoldering muck lands, like burning rubber, permeated the air and the pall was so widespread it made the skies grey to the horizon and obscured the sun.

State Fire Warden G. J. Stocks said the only hope of extinguishing the fire was in rain but none was in sight.

Young Scientist Tells Problem

DALLAS, April 20. (AP) — The youngest chemist at the American Chemical society convention, Edgar Z. Friedenberg, 17-year-old Shreveport boy, delivered a scientific paper today in which he put his finger on one of the major weaknesses of science.

This was the lack of ability of scientists, particularly chemists to write so as to make their discoveries clear to the public, or even sometimes to their own colleagues.

Born In New York

Friedenberg graduates from Centenary college this year. He was born in New York City, but one branch of his family has lived in Shreveport for five generations.

Dark, short, plump, alert and smiling, he attracted favorable comment. He has the up-to-date interest of youth in current events, but also carries already one trait ascribed to scientists—ability to lose little things.

He kept his manuscript in his room until the hour of delivery today in order to be sure not to lose it. Then he misplaced the key to his room when he went for the paper.

Will Become Familiar

"A scientist with a good literary style need never fear anonymity," his paper stated. "His conclusions will rapidly become familiar to all the members of his field. With the present status of scientific literature as a background, a well-written article would stand out in any standard periodical like the single light on a one-eyed car.

"Good writing can never take the place of good research, but the scholar who has something to say and says it well will command attention far more sucessfully than one whose discoveries are couched in clumsy terms."

Boy Convicted In Manslaughter In Death Of Father's Partner

CHICAGO, April 20. (AP)—Charles J. Schmidt, jr., 19, eldest of a family of 11, was convicted of manslaughter today for the death of his father's business associate, Edward C. Richard, on Feb. 24.

The verdict carried a recommendation of leniency.

Schmidt pleaded self defense. The state contended he struck Richard, vice president of the printing firm Schmidt's father headed, while motivated by a dispute between the two men.

Investigation disclosed the lad was wearing two left shoes.

"Bluebeard's Sixth Wife" was tops at back-seat driving, but when she ran him into a pole, he asked her to ditch him.

Mr. Hunter And His Chances

FORMAL announcement of Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls as a candidate for governor brings into the race a man who, in all probability, will run third.

To suggest that his candidacy might have any other effect upon the democrat primary would be to ignore pre-election indications which are as positive, perhaps, as in the entire history of Texas. Those indications are almost as positive that Hunter will be in third place.

Every passing day of the campaign has done no more than confirm the indications of several months ago that the race is a two-man affair from which either Col. Ernest O. Thompson or Attorney-General William C. McCraw will emerge the winner. Little short of the death of one or the other is likely to change the outlook. So apparent is the nature of the contest that they will draw heavily from the vote which normally would go to minority candidates. It will be human nature for those citizens who might prefer someone else to vote either for Thompson or McCraw out of the desire to have a chance of being on the winning side.

Of the inevitable minority vote, however, it is probable that most will go to Hunter. His name is known to the people of Texas because of the three previous unsuccessful campaigns in which he has engaged. A few may vote for him out of habit. Likewise his promise to those he terms the "plain people"—whomever they may be—to give them the world with a fence around it will exert a certain appeal. But nearly the whole of his total will come from those who would not want to vote for Thompson or McCraw in the first place.

In some respects, the perennial candidacy of Mr. Hunter is pathetic. It is so obvious that he wants to become governor. Perhaps it is an ambition he has cherished since boyhood. But for some reason he hasn't got what it takes to get over. There is no reason to believe he has acquired that "something" since his last campaign.

On the contrary, every indication is he will poll a smaller total than his 220,000 in the first primary of 1932, his 240,000 in 1934 which put him into the runoff or his 235,000 in 1936 when Governor Allred polled a majority over the field.

This Day In Texas History

OF all the magnificent heritages of Texans, none can take rank ahead of that created for them on the field of San Jacinto 102 years ago today.

On that occasion, a small army of liberty-loving men gave an exhibition of heroism unsurpassed. Seven or eight hundred such men, ragged and poorly equipped, deliberately cut off their only hope of retreat and then assailed a vastly superior force of Mexicans with an annihilating fury which avenged the Alamo and Goliad, and which guaranteed to them and posterity a Texas for Texans. History does not record a more decisive victory.

Just what the effects of a different outcome at San Jacinto might have been is beyond the power of imagination to grasp. Without doubt the course of history would have been changed. It, of course, would not have quenched the flame of liberty. Texans would have risen again and again until they brought an end to Mexican oppression. But no one can say what might have happened in the intervening time. One possibility is that Texas might have accepted the aid of England or France, either of which would have been available, and that today we would be part of some other country.

But the Texans were not there that day to lose. They were there to carve a monument for the ages; to put posterity in a debt to them which can be paid only by striving constantly and forever to make Texas the state they would desire it.

With Our Contemporaries

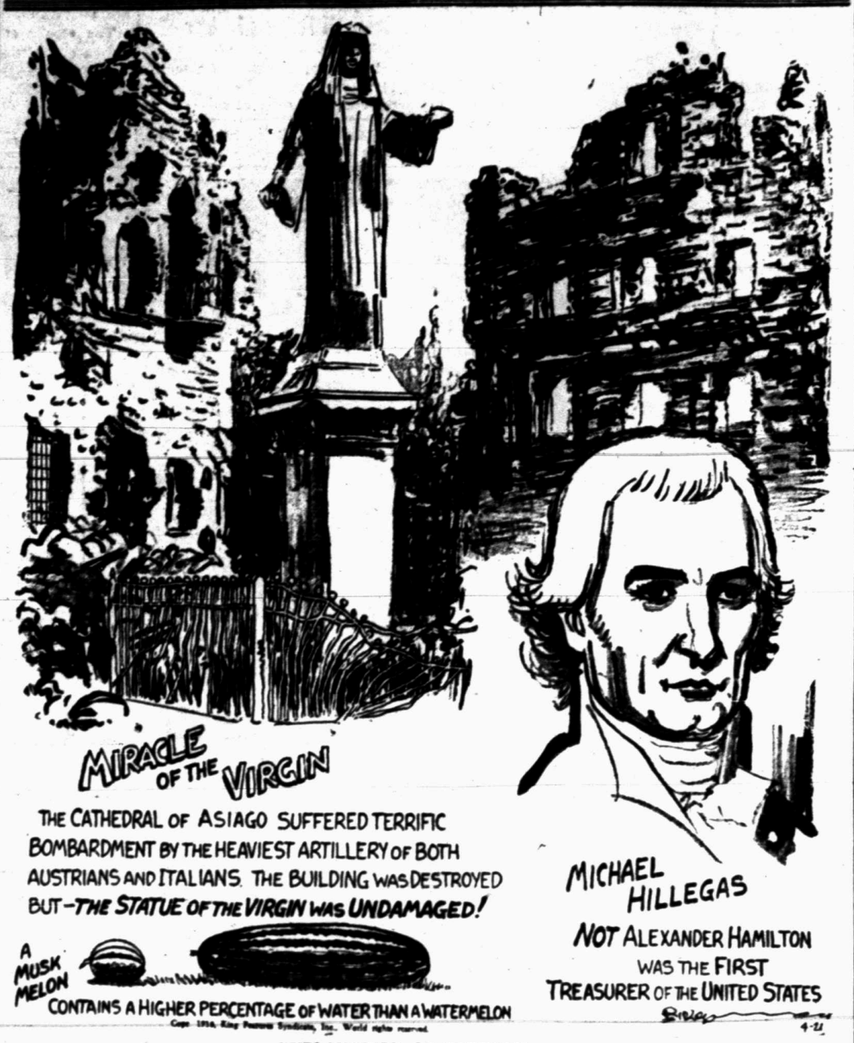

"And now comes the proposal from an automobile manufacturer for the government to spend $100,000,000 buying up and scrapping 1,000,000 old automobiles, on the theory that the automobile industry employes one out of every seven persons, directly or indirectly," Eddie Warren, who probably owns a new car, reports in the Post Dispatch. "The idea is no different than paying farmers for not raising crops, plowing under cotton, destroying young pigs, farm crops, etc."

The One-Minute Sermon

But as for you, ye thought evil against me: but God meant it unto good, to bring to pass, as it is this day, to save much people alive.

Now therefore fear ye not: I will nourish you, and your little ones. And he comforted them, and spake kindly unto them. —Genesis 50; 20 and 21.

President Roosevelt's Story Of The New Deal

Article No. 22: How The Administration Has Dealt With The Indians

Editor's Introductory Note

(Least publicity of all New Deal activities has been its program of rehabilitation for the Indians. Their condition had been made a progressive state of decline for many years, and the depression made matters worse. Meanwhile, successive steps looking toward the betterment of rural America had passed the Red Man by.

(It is particularly appropriate that this seldom-told story of Indian sufferings and White maltreatment should be told in President Roosevelt's own words. The following is from the note he appends in his 1935 volume of "Public Papers and Addresses" to his message urging passage of the Wheeler-Howard Bill.)

IN ITS early history, the United States recognized various Indian tribes as quasi-sovereign nations in making land treaties with them. As our frontier moved westward, treaties were continuously made with the respective tribes for the cession of their lands to the United States.

The first treaty with Indians was with the Delawares, September 2, 1778. The practice soon developed that when a cession of claimed territory was made to the United States, a certain area in exchange would be set aside and reserved exclusively for Indian use. This was the beginning of the reservation system.

By 1840, the Indians had surrendered practically all the territory east of the Mississippi. Historically the procedure of Indian land liquidation was practically always the same: a cession would be made and a reservation set aside; almost immediately thereafter the reservations would begin to be progressively diminished and many of them completely extinguished. The tribes were reduced to a condition where they were constantly on the move from one home to another, and always in a westward direction.

Indians Are Handicapped

The armed conflicts between Indians and white men after the Civil war show the precarious economic position into which the Indians had finally been forced. When the last great herds of buffalo were wiped out altogether, the chief means of livelihood for the Plains tribes was gone, and the government was driven to the necessity of actually rationing the Indians, a practice which of course had a permanently deteriorating effect upon the Indian character.

By 1871 the Congress felt that the Indians were so impotent that it enacted a statute providing that no further treaties would be negotiated with any tribe as an independent nation; and thereafter the Indians were dealt with simply by administrative action or by act of the Congress.

However, the federal government has not undertaken actually to support able-bodied members of the Indian racial group or their dependents. The general impression to the contrary is wholly erroneous.

Reservations Increase

After the Congress had determined that no further treaties would be negotiated, the number of reservations naturally increased. Until March 4, 1923, the foundation of Indian law and policy had been the General Allotment act of 1887. This statute provided in effect that every Indian would be given a piece of his reservation for himself individually in fee simple, with all the property rights and responsibilities of a white man with respect to that parcel.

In order not to make the transition to private ownership and responsibility too abrupt, it was provided that for 25 years the Indian would own his land only in trust, with the government as guardian.

During this period he did not have to pay taxes; but he could not sell his land without the government's consent. After the expiration of the 225 years, he received a fee patent and his ownership became as complete and unlimited as any white man's.

Loss Of Land

BETWEEN the date of the General Allotment act and the date of the beginning of my administration, the amount of land owned by Indians had shrunk from 136,000,000 to less than 50,000,000 acres.

The phinicpal methods by which the Indians were thus separated from approximately 86,000,000 acres of land in 47 years were as follows:

1. After each individual of the tribe obtained his allotment the remaining land would be ceded away at so much per acre. At least 38,000,000 acres of land were disposed of in this way.

2. The practice had grown up to throw open the surplus land to settlement by white people. At least 22,000,000 acres of land were thus lost.

3. Removal of sale restrictions at the end of the 25-year trust period encouraged Indians improvidently to dispose of their land. Another 23,000,000 acres of land were thus lost.

4. The Act of March 7, 1902, permitted the Secretary of the Interior to authorize heirs to sell their lands instead of partitioning them physically; and another Act of March 1, 1907, permitted the Secretary to authorize the original allottees to dispose of their lands. Under these two statutes a total of 3,370,000 acres of the best Indian land was alienated.

Whites Get More Land

Furthermore, the development of a system whereby Indians would lease their allotted lands to white people for farming or grazing diverted huge acreages to white use rather than Indian use. Inadequate capital and lack of agricultural education of the Indians totally handicapped them from using effectively the lands which they owned, and encouraged them to lease the lands away.

Of these 50,000,000 acres of land which were left to the Indians, 20,000,000 were sterile desert or semi-desert lands, and 7,000,000 were tied up in heirship status so complicated that little direct use could be made of the land by heirs. Approximately 100,000 Indians were completely landless.

In addition to lack of material security, the tribal life of the Indian was rapidly disintegrating. Native religions, native languages, native ways of life were being discouraged. Education was pointed chiefly toward technological employment and white-collar jobs—chiefly in the city.

The Indian Service itself, as the results of government policy and of civil service limitations, was run almost entirely by whites rather than by Indians.

Salvage Program Begun

TO DEAL with the many problems which the Indian presented in addition to the general depression problems, my administration began very early the construction of a program seeking to salvage both Indian property and Indian morale.

Our program was begun in conference with the Indians themselves. This was the first time in the history of the government treatment of Indians since the discontinuance of treaties that the Indians themselves were ever really consulted about Indian policy.

A series of nine regional conferences were held throughout the various states where the Indian population was greatest. From this expression of Indian opinion was evolved the program which was originally written into the Wheeler-Howard Bill.

Reorganization Act Passed

Although many amendments were inserted in it, the bill was eventually enacted into law and approved June 18, 1934, as the Indian Reorganization act.

The statute seeks to protect the remaining lands of the Indians, both individually and tribally. It prohibits the further allotment of any land of any reservation. Instead, title is to remain in the United States in trust for the tribe, which itself is to assign the land for the use and occupancy of its members who are without land.

Existing trust periods upon any Indian lands are automatically extended until otherwise directed by the Congress; this provision remains the necessity for tribes to pay lawyers of lobbying delegations to obtain extensions of trust periods.

(Editor's Note — Other provisions made it impossible to sell the land or shares in the tribal corporation to persons outside the tribe, and authorized appropriation of $2,000,000 annually to purchase additional land for Indians. A revolving fund of $10,000,000 was also set up for lending money to Indians as capital for farming or industrial enterprises.)

Self-Government

SPECIFIC authority is given in the statute to Indian tribes to organize for the promotion of the common welfare of their members and to exercise existing and new powers of self-government.

The Indian Reorganization act was made applicable to all Indian tribes unless a tribe specifically voted to exclude itself from the act. Elections were held for this purpose and 181 reservations with a total of 133,000 Indians voted to adopt the provisions of the act. By later additions through later Congressional action the total was raised to 242,211 Indians.

Between 1933 and 1937, Indian holdings have increased by about 2,774,000 acres. Efforts have been exercised by the Extension division to build up the Indians' livestock industry and Indians are being encouraged and induced to return to farming and sheep breeding.

The new activities of the Irrigation division have been directed into small subsistence projects of from two to 10 acres each for community operation. As a result, the Indians' use of their own land is rapidly increasing.

Civilian Conservation corps work was particularly helpful on Indian reservations in providing wage work where relief was desperately needed; but it was also important in making possible systematic conservation and building up of reservation resources.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON

ADMINISTRATION aides lighted a backfire against another Congressional revolt even before the President had itemized his anti-depression program of inflationary spending.

P.W.A.-er Ickes' smart assistants distributed to newspapermen the list of 3,000 projects that will be pushed if the money is forthcoming—fully approved and ready to be rushed into construction. So did the heads of other affected agencies. In every city and state where they want new schools, roads, C.C.C. camps, farm loans and flood control dams, the home folks are insisting that their representatives grab off their share. Community boosters, including chambers of commerce, contractors' associations, labor unions, have been enrolled in the "gimme" brigade. Local laddies are doing the lobbying.

"The boys will discover," said a Roosevelt man, "that fighting a bill which means money in the pockets of their constituents is something else again from beating an abstract proposition like government reorganization."

SCOTCHED?: In his "fireside chat" Mr. Roosevelt revealed that the "dictator" charge wounds him deeply, and probably arouses the most serious political opposition inside and outside Congress. Twenty per cent of the speech was devoted to answering this indictment.

Though even his enemies plead guilty to raising this issue for purely political reasons, the President has discovered that it is making trouble for the occupant of "a house owned by all the American people". It licked both his Supreme court and reorganization moves, as Whirligig has noted. Official mailbags at both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue reflect the people's concern over the unpleasant prospect. It has supplanted "communism" as the politicos' emotional selling talk and the stuff of their speeches.

For months Mr. Roosevelt's advisers warned him that the "dictatorship" attack was gaining ground, but always he laughed them off. His Warm Springs letter denying such desires provoked an unfavorable reaction because he seemed to "protect too much." So he repeated his disclaimer in his radio talk, but much more simply, humbly, effectively. "After that homey touch," commented a member of the official family, "I'd like to see our friends (the Republicans) get anywhere with that issue next fall." Nevertheless, they'll make the attempt.

PRINCIPLES: Vice-President Garner doesn't run to reporters with criticism of major administration policies, as he so eloquently informed F.D.R., but his friends do. And here is as accurate a reading of the vice-presidential mind as can be obtained at the moment.

The V. P. regards Mr. Roosevelt with deep affection, looking upon him as a son. Whenever he talks about the man he calls "Old Top" to his face, even when criticising, Mr. Garner does it good-naturedly, smilingly—and he never jests about people he doesn't like. Their personal relations could not be better. Nor will the V. P. head an open movement to combat or repudiate the President between now and 1940—he is too loyal, too strong a party man, for such tactics. But he will disagree with F.D.R. openly, and tell him so, as he did with respect to sit-down strikes and a relief program which, in his opinion, "breeds the desire to work out of a people".

Mr. Garner would probably break openly with the President if the latter were to seek a third term—but nobody is crossing that bridge yet. In 1940 the V. P. would prefer to negotiate a ticket and platform that will keep the Democrats in power for four more years. Meanwhile, he can't help it if his known dislike for certain Rooseveltian policies encourages and strengthens Capitol Hill insurgents.

ERROR: The supposedly non-political Harold L. Ickes had a secret laugh over the Illinois primary result at the expense of the nation's No. 1 politician—James A. Farley.

For five years "Jim" has espoused the Chicago Nash-Kelly machine at the White House as the Democratic faction which deserved presidential recognition. Mr. Roosevelt saw that the Windy City boys got generous sums for relief, slum clearance, bridges, etc., but he never placed all his eggs in their basket. He shied off from committing himself because Mr. Ickes begged him to break with the Nash-Kelly outfit, and align himself with Governor Henry Horner, a high-minded reformer in comparison with the Chicago gang. F.D.R., as in the New York mayoralty contest, remained neutral so that he could cheer whichever Democrat won.

The smashing defeat which Mr. Horner handed Mr. Farley's friends bore out Harold's predictions, probably the latter's surprise. And it was the first wrong political forecast "Jim" has made since he entered national politics. But when he took this time to guess badly, he was very, very bad. He can't make many mistakes like that if he is to control the 1940 convention.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

OBJECTIONS of thoughtful and level-headed New Yorkers to the huge new federal spending program cut much deeper than the obvious budgetary angle and the question of how far the government's credit can be stretched without snapping.

Their primary point is that a cancer can't be cured with a cocktail. They can understand why political medicine men find the lavish distribution of cash a much pleasanter prescription than painful correction of fundamental economic maladjustments, but contend that this is a short-sighted policy. "When the effects of the stimulant wear off, as they inevitably will, the patient is likely to suffer a worse relapse than before."

It isn't easy to face the prospect of deflating wages, prices, corporate earnings, standards of living. But realistic students of world competitive conditions insist that political leadership must develop the courage to face it before economic stability is possible.

WEAKENS: New York political sharps question the accuracy of the widespread assumption that the Illinois primaries were a severe blow to F.D.R.

It is true that Congressman Scott Lucas, who won the Democratic senatorial nomination, has opposed the administration on Supreme court reform and several other key measures. It is also true that Governor Henry Horner, his chief sponsor, is currently on none too cordial terms with the White House. But Horner has been in and out of Mr. Roosevelt's good graces several times and Lucas has generally strung along with the New Deal. If elected, he will be an on-the-fence Democrat rather than an overt anti-New Dealer.

The most significant feature of the election was the smashing setback suffered by the Kelly-Nash machine of Chicago. This outfit was supposed to rate with Frank Hague's in Jersey City and Tom Pendergast's in Kansas City for cold-blooded efficiency in "practical" politics. It was more loyal to the national administration than Horner because its loyalty was cemented by liberal patronage rewards. To that extent, its defeat weakens Mr. Roosevelt's grip on Illinois.

ADVANTAGE: The next important primary contest will be held in Florida on May 3. It looks as if the President will score a useful moral victory there.

There are three candidates for the Democratic senatorial nomination (equivalent to election): the incumbent Claude Pepper—an ardent New Dealer, Congressman James M. Wilcox—definitely conservative, and ex-governor Dave Sholtz—who is sort of betwixt-and-between. Present indications are that Wilcox will run third, but will pile up enough votes to prevent either of his opponents from getting a clear majority.

That would mean a run-off election between Pepper and Sholtz. Northern and western Florida are reported likely to be for Pepper about 3 to 2 in such a battle. The southern section of the state appears evenly divided. Federal relief and construction money will give Pepper a powerful advantage on which he is likely to ride to reelection.

HERE'S another dose of "brain twisters" for the benefit of those readers who like to try 'em—and judging from recent demands for "more brain twisters", there must be a lot of those readers.

Today's list has to do with grammer.

Which word in each of the following statements will make the statement correct?

1. Jones is a (very) (particularly) (most) (really) unique person.
2. She is the woman (who) (which) (whom) I mentioned.
3. This is the (most) (least) (most nearly) perfect vase we have.

A GREAT deal of hullaballoo was made in the press last week concerning a recent "farewell" banquet tendered Karl Crowley who was leaving the capital and a political job to come to Texas and run for governor.

Because Postmaster-General Farley was at the banquet, some went so far as to guess that his presense meant he was behind the Crowley candidacy.

Well, here's the dope on the Crowley banquet, sent in by Washington Correspondent Ray Tucker:

"Democratic candidates' scramble for a nod or a wink or some sign of favor from the White House indidcates that the President's vote-getting power still commands the politicos' respect.

"Karl Crowley, for instance, recently resigned as solicitor-general of the Postoffice department to run for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Vice-President Garner's state. Mr. Crowley's friends arranged a farewell dinner for him, then looked around for an imposing array of guests. The two Texas senators, unfortunately, 'had other engagements.' Jim Farley attended, but as postmaster-general honoring a faithful servant rather than as National Democratic chairman pinning his colors on Crowley. Cordell Hull was there, and so explained in a delightful speech, because his father knew Mr. Crowley's father.

"Even his enemies hand it to Mr. Crowley's friends for their resourcefulness. For chairman of their dinner committee they named a personable and popular feminine stenographer at the White House."

Correspondent Tucker, who penned the above, writes for newspapers in every state of the Union and is not interested, one way or another, in Texas politics.

SINCE the West Texas Chamber of Commerce—for reasons best known to the tight little coterie which runs and owns it lock, stock and barrel — is bringing Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia, of New York, to its Wichita Falls convention late this month, a closer look at that individual is in order.

Here's the latest regarding Mayor LaGuardia's political activities, hot off the New York griddle and sent The Avalanche-Journal by one of its correspondents in Gotham:

"Immediately after Fiorello LaGuardia's radio plea on April 11th for subsidized exports to South America, he caught a plane for Washington and went directly to Senator Bob LaFollette's home. Accompanying the New York mayor were Rexford Guy Tugwell, early Roosevelt brainstruster and new chairman of the New York City Planning commission, and Paul Kern, New York City Service commissioner.

"Young Bob happened to be entertaining Assistant Secretary of State Adolph Berle, original New Deal braintruster and former member of LaGuardia's official family, Senator George Norris, of Nebraska, Representative Maury Maverick, of San Antonio, and sundry liberals. All congratulated the New York mayor on his talk and then got down to business, the business being a new party by 1940.

"The talk veered around to the threatened split in the Democratic party. Senator Norris, bitten often with the new party bug and stung more than once, cautioned his more enthusiastic colleagues that splits in either major party are usually short-lived. He warned them that Jim Farley knew the game a little better than they and to go easy before they take any definite steps—but, in any case, it as worth discussing. The aging Nebraska liberal left early.

"The younger men talked until almost dawn. One definite understanding came out of the meeting. They'll work for New Deal legislators in every state this fall and if a New Deal majority is returned they'll drop their idea of a third party. John L. Lewis' Labor's Non-Partisan league is to be used as the spearhead of their attack this fall and in primary elections. Each man agreed to take the stump for recognized New Dealers in his own state, regardless of party affiliation.

"IF New Dealers carry the fall elections the liberals agreed to work to capture the 1940 Democratic convention and present Mayor LaGuardia's name. They believe they can engineer it, because the New York mayor is an enrolled member of the New York State American Labor party and the Labor party has close ties with Jim Farley's New York state organization. Farley's prospective 300 delegates "in his pocket" were given dus consideration.

"In case of an anti-New Deal landslide this fall, the liberals probably will discuss their third party early in 1939.

"Incidentally, Mayor LaGuardia's radio speech was written by Tugwell and edited by Berle. Both are enrolled members of the American Labor party."

Ever since it was announced that Mayor LaGuardia would be the "feature" of the 1938 convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, The Plainsman has been wondering why the New York left winger was so chosen.

He asked Jed Rix, WTCC assistant manager, about it when the former Lubbock man recently visited here, but Jed didn't seem to know why, except that "LaGuardia will help draw a crowd."

So we're still wondering. And we're further wondering if someone has either pulled a "fast one" on the WTCC, or has "pulled a boner."

Most of the main squeezes of the West Texas Chamber are ultra-conservative, if not downright reactionary, in business and politics. And a lot of the boys are going to have nervous indigestion over the organization's booming of Mayor LaGuardia, who is politically as wild as a South Texas buck!

HERE are the answers to the "brain twisters" presented in the first part of today's column:

1. "Jones is a really unique person," is correct. "Unique" does not admit of comparison.

2. "She is the woman whom I mention," is correct. "Whom" is the object of the verb, "mention."

3. "This is the most nearly perfect vase we have," is correct. "Perfect" does not admit of comparison.

4. "I would rather go with you than him," is correct. Unsaid but implied is "than go with him."

5. "The water is dropping from its former level," is correct. "Diminish" means to decrease in size.

Plains Bankers Are To Gather

(Special To The Avalanche)

PLAINVIEW, April 20.—Marking the 102nd anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto, 200 or more are expected by local bankers to attend the annual convention for South Plains bankers at the Hilton hotel here today. All Texas banks are to be closed on account of the celebration of San Jacinto day.

J. K. Crews, president of the Hale County State bank and head of the association, will call the meeting together at 10 o'clock in the ballroom of the hotel. Rev. Fred Rogers, Presbyterian church pastor, will give the invocation and Rev. Walter P. Jennings, Christian church pastor and formerly of Lubbock, will welcome the visitors. O. M. Watson, vice president of the First National bank, Floydada, will respond.

State President To Speak

J. E. Woods, Temple banker and president of the state association will bring greetings from that group.

W. L. Pier, vice president of the Fort Worth National bank, will be the principal speaker. R. E. Shepherd, Dallas, assistant state director of Federal Housing administration, will speak on his administration's program.

Lunch will be served at noon in the Hilton. During the afternoon visitors are to attend the Panhandle Plains dairy show, in progress here.

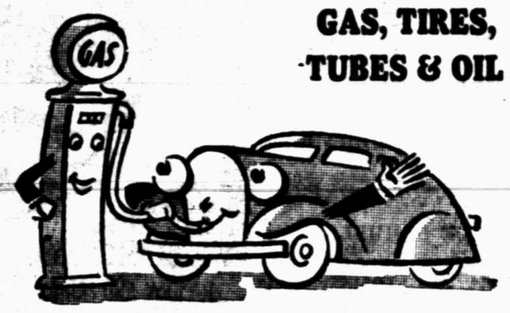

M. C. Ulmer, Midland banker, is vice president and Paul P. Hardwick, Lubbock is secretary-treasurer.

REORGANIZE GOLF CLUB

DIMMITT.—Golf fans here met recently and reorganized the Dimmitt Golf club. The course is to be worked. Swain Brukett was named president; Ray Cowsert vice president and T. A. Singer secretary-treasurer. Sidney Reeves was named chairman of the greens and rules committee; Cowsert of the membership; Art Webb of the finances; Ozor Stephens of the rules and Singer of the tournament committees.

TARZAN THE MAGNIFICENT No. 82 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

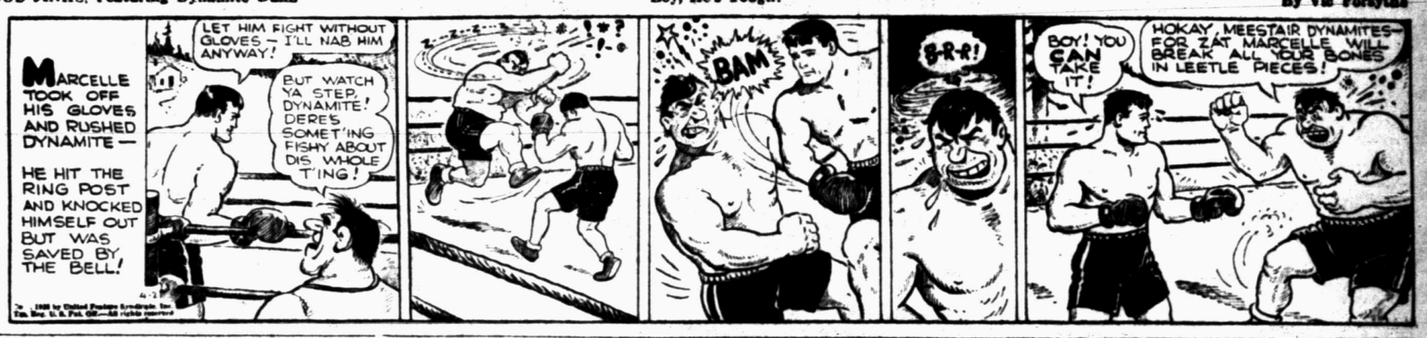

As the savage Amazons pressed on to kill Tarzan and his friends, the ape-man placed a band on the mystic diamond and shouted: "Stop! Through possession of the diamond, the powers that were Mafka's have fallen to me. I command you halt and kneel to your Queen."

Instantly the warriors obeyed, because all their lives their minds had been impressed with the infallible powers of the mammoth gem. It had never occurred to them to question the force of the magic. Whatever was commanded in the name of the great jewel, they did.

But there was one among the warrior band who refused to remain under Tarzan's sway. Perhaps it was some attachment for Mafka, perhaps it was some unaccountable fanaticism, but, no matter what the cause this one was impelled to hurl mad defiance at Tarzan.

"Usurper!" she cried; "kill him! We must regain the diamond for Mafka." Then she dashed toward Tarzan. He saw the danger. If he could not restrain her, the whole pack would know that he had no power over them, and in their frenzy would rip him to pieces!

District Parley Set For Today

TAHOKA, April 20. (Special) — Tahoka First Methodist church and its pastor Rev. Ben Hardy Thursday will be hosts of from 250 to 300 delegates to a one-day district conference, it was expected tonight.

Mr. Hardy, formerly pastor of the Lubbock First Methodist church, said approximately 30 persons are expected to attend from Lubbock.

Reports on the work in the 33 charges and the 74 churches will be made and twelve delegates and 12 alternates to the anpual Northwest Texas conference in Memphis will be named during the day.

Rev. Dr. O. P. Clark, Lubbock, presiding elder, will be in charge. Conference opens with prayer at 9 o'clock, followed by a sermon by Rev. W. W. Cook, Lorenzo pastor.

Dr. C. C. Selecman, Dallas, president of Southern Methodist university, will be the principal speaker from out of the conference. He preaches at 11 o'clock. Rev. Tom W. Brabham, Abilene, president of McMurry college, the conference school, is to speak and report on the work of that school.

Women of the church will serve at noon.

The afternoon session will begin about 1:30 o'clock and will close late in the afternoon. Joseph R. Griggs, Lubbock, district lay leader, will report on the laymen's work; Rev. W. E. Hamilton, Lubbock, conference secretary of Christian education, will discuss his work and particularly the Aldersgate observance. Mrs. J. D. Peters, Lubbock, will report on the women's missionary work.

During the day reports of pastors will be given. These reports, Dr. Clark said, will include: additions to the churches on profession of faith and by certificates; amounts raised on the benevolence budget, the pastor's salary, McMurry college and other funds and a general statement on the state of the church.

Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Lubbock First church, district leader on the Aldersgate work, will make a report on progress so far.

Present indications are that there will be about 1,000 members added as a result of the revivals in celebration of the Aldersgate observance. Many of the churches have held their revivals, and all will have done so by May 24, the anniversary date.

Absence Of Petticoats Shows That Yaqui Women Are Following The Modern Styles

Petticoats—or more correctly the absence of them—are a measure of the march of modern civilization into the wild Yaqui Indian country of old Mexico.

This was disclosed Wednesday by members of the Dr. William Curry Holden expedition following their return from the Yaqui village of Torin in the mountains 300 miles south of the United States border and 30 miles inland from the Gulf of Lower California.

Third Into Section

The expedition was the third to be led by Dr. Holden to the village. The others were in the spring and the autumn of 1934.

Members of the first expedition learned, they reported, that Yaqui women wore numerous petticoats, some of them as many as eight. None, however, wore shoes or stockings.

On the trip from which they have just returned, they said, appearances were that petticoated women were in the minority. Several of the women wore cotton stockings and slippers of latest style. Nearly all of them wore native sandals.

Eight In Party

Members of the expedition, additional to Dr. Holden, were Dr. C. J. Wagner, who continued study of tribal medical practices; Dr. G. C. Turner, who made extensive studies of the teeth of Yaqui children; Dr. J. C. Anderson, who made studies of eyes; Winston Reeves, photographer; Reeves Henly, historian for the trip; Winford Baze and Louis Jones.

Dr. Holden is dean of archaeological, historical and anthropological research at Texas Technological college. Henly, Baze and Jones are students there.

Only Two Of Evidences

The petticoats and footwear were only two of the many evidences of civilization into the village since the expedition of March and April, 1934. Members of that party found the tribesmen living in conditions almost as primitive as their ancestors of hundreds of years ago.

Then the Yaquis and troops of the Mexican government were in a state of armed neutrality which constantly threatened to break into open warfare. There were no schools, no agriculture, no cattle.

School Being Erected

All that has changed. Dr. Holden related in a preliminary report this morning. A school is being erected. A new land policy has been adopted. Canals are being constructed. Five hundred head of blooded Hereford cattle are to be purchased. Army officers in sympathy with the Yaqui people have been placed in command of military garrisons.

A spirit of friendship toward the Mexican government also prevails, said Dr. Holden, as reflected in the fact that the tribesmen have discarded the guns and knives which were once a part of their costume. However, he added, the weapons still are kept fairly close at hand.

Report Of 1934 Cited

Just what part Holden expeditions have played in bringing about the changes is uncertain. It was disclosed, however, that following his second expedition in the autumn of 1934, Dr. Holden made a detailed report of conditions he observed to a member of the Mexican cabinet who is a close personal friend. His letter recommended each of the civilizing influences the new expedition found going into effect.

Primary purpose of the expedition was to observe the Fiesta de Gloria, the most elaborate of all pre-Easter observances among the tribesmen. By specific consent of tribal chiefs, several hundred pictures were made, including movies. Members of the party discovered, Dr. Holden said, that there has been virtually no change in the fiesta routine from what they saw four years before.

The village of Torin is in the Mexican state of Sonora approximately 300 miles south of the United States boundary and about 30 miles east of the Gulf of Lower California.

Aubrie Fawver, member of the police department, swore to the complaint which had been prepared by Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, and filed with Walter Davies, justice of peace.

Lucille Marshall, negro woman, was charged with theft of $33 from the person of George Johnson. The woman, held in the county jail Wednesday night had not posted bond. The asserted theft was in the Flats, Lubbock negro quarters, Tuesday.

To Speak In Waco

Frank Bane, executive director of the Social Security board, will visit Waco this week where he is scheduled to make one of the principal addresses at the annual convention of the Texas conference of social welfare, Thursday night.

Returns On Questionnaire To School Patrons Are Asked

With the questionnaire and letter to all parents of Lubbock public school children complete the committee on home reports which has been working for the past two months with Dr. Agnes True is now making preparations for getting the material to parents and returned to them, for final tabulation.

It is the desire of school officials and Parent-Teacher associations of the town that both parents and teachers work together in deciding what type of report shall be sent into the homes of Lubbock next year. Plans from school systems all over the nation have been received and studied in an effort to find the type which will best suit the educational system in Lubbock.

On May 2 the letters and questionnaires are to be sent home with the children, with one letter going to each home represented, regardless of the number of children in that home. The questionnaire is to be answered after the letter has been read carefully and returned to the schools within two days.

Each Parent-Teacher organization in the city is to appoint a committee to assist with the tallying for its school, and the orginial committee will compile the data as it is returned. When the results are complete they will be embodied in a letter of recommendation to be placed in the hands of a faculty committee who will determine the final details of the report to be used.

Plans For Cleanup Campaign In Brownfield Are Drafted

According to information given at scout headquarters Wednesday, at a meeting in Brownfield courthouse Tuesday afternoon plans for the annual Brownfield cleanup campaign May 15-21 were outlined to the executive committee of southwest district of South Plains Boy Scout council. Scouts will cooperate in the campaign.

The district committee also authorized the purchase of 100 tickets additional to the quota to the Boy Scout circus in Texas Technological college stadium the night of May 6.

Detailed plans for the circus program are to be discussed at a meeting of event directors at a dinner meeting at Hilton hotel tonight, according to John Shewmake, staging director.

The Story Of The New Deal By The Man Who Originated It

preparatory to commencing a program of rehabilitation, showed the desperate straits into which they had fallen. Many of them were without land or other means of support and their housing conditions did not meet any reasonable standards of space or sanitation.

The problem of rehabilitation for these people was complicated by the fact that their only hope for survival was in developing an agricultural economy. The rehabilitation program has been of the utmost importance in restoring lost initiative and morale and in improving conditions of family and community living. The policy of education of children has changed. The educational program has been broadened and liberalized, and general vocational education is being emphasized.

Encouragement has been given to the development of Indian arts and crafts by establishment of the Indians Arts and Crafts board charged with seeking markets for products of Indian handiwork.

Indian lands now include approximately 82,700 square miles, or more than the combined areas of Kentucky and Tennessee. The Indian population is approximately equal to that of the state of Vermont and is three times the population of Nevada.

IN NATION-WIDE TRUCK POLL
OWNERS OF LOW PRICE TRUCKS
GUESS DODGE PRICE
UP TO $135 MORE.. Yet Dodge Is Priced with the Lowest!

So Much Extra Value in Dodge Trucks . . . That Buyers from Coast to Coast Over-estimate Price

A RECENT national poll of truck buyers reveals astonishing price news. Questioned from coast to coast, hundreds guessed wrong on the price position of America's low-priced trucks. Many answered that they believed Dodge trucks "cost up to $135 more than the others." Yet Dodge is now priced with the lowest!

Best Proof of Extra Value!

Maybe we have told America too convincingly about the sensational extra-value features built into the new 1938 Dodge trucks. Perhaps people simply can't believe that Dodge can give so much extra for your money. Perhaps it is hard to believe Dodge trucks can include dozens of money-saving features and still be priced with the lowest. Yet it's the truth!

Dodge has genuine hydraulic brakes and any truck driver will tell you they are the best. Dodge has four piston rings instead of the usual three. Dodge has roller bearing universals, exhaust valve seat inserts, Amola steel springs and axle shafts. Anywhere you look . . . in the cab, under the hood, from front bumper to rear axle . . . you will see feature after feature, each one of which obviously indicates "extra-quality" construction.

Test a Dodge . . . Be the Judge!

Possibly you, too, have thought of Dodge trucks as being "worth more" . . . "higher priced." Today, in most cases, there is only a few dollars difference in the prices of the low-priced trucks. And Dodge is priced with the lowest!

Remember, Dodge makes a truck to fit your needs in its complete line ranging from ½-ton commercial cars to heavy duty trucks. So, before you buy any truck, ask your Dodge dealer to send a 1938 Dodge for you to try. Phone him today.

Tune in on the Major Bowes Original Amateur Hour, Columbia Network, every Thursday, 9 to 10 P.M., E. S. T.

Hundreds of truck buyers from New York to California were asked in personal interviews to estimate truck prices in the low price field. A surprising percentage over-estimated the Dodge truck prices.

Many buyers over-estimated Dodge truck prices $100 and more. When told the Dodge price, some phoned Dodge dealers. They learned that "Dodge is now priced with the lowest!"
