A view from
The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Poor Pat. Buchanan, that is. We've known Pat Buchanan personally for many years. He is a good and decent man. Not only that, he is (rare in the world of political commentators and activists) a truthful and straightforward man.

One would never know that by reading the rash of Pat-bashing commentaries now pouring out of the national media. He's catching it from all angles. One would expect it from the dominant liberal wing of the media. Nothing upsets them like having one of the clan go off the reservation and make sounds pleasing to conservatives. But Pat's getting a lot of flack from people who claim to be conservatives, or claim to speak for conservatives. The word is obviously out: kill him off now, lest he become more troublesome in the future.

I suppose nearly everyone knows by now that Pat has decided to enter the Presidential Primaries, or at least some of them, as a sort of "America First" Republican. He is, and has been for many years, a "war-horse" for conservative candidates and causes. More often than not, his causes have not prevailed, even when his candidates did.

His principle complaint, it seems, is that Bush has not followed through on the conservative agenda that brought Reagan and Bush to the White House, and thereby permitted Bush to become President. In other words his position seems to be that since Bush benefitted from the conservative movement he should carry on with the conservative fight.

A great many people who call themselves conservatives feel the same way. Many of them feel Bush has let them down, on the "no new taxes" pledge, on the recently signed Civil Rights bill, on a number of other "compromises" with a liberal Democratic Congress. It is this unhappiness in the ranks that poses problems for Bush.

But all that does not explain, completely, the unrelenting drumbeat of editorial comment devoted to trashing Buchanan. The Plainview Herald, for instance, devoted some 20 inches of newspaper space in a single day to columnists based in Atlanta and Chicago for a round of Pat-bashing. Those who keep up with columnists and their position on various issues probably recognized what was behind it all, but I suspect others were merely puzzled.

Buchanan has taken a dim view of the welfare mess in America. Many liberal commentators see his criticism of welfare abuse as subtle racism. He has taken positions opposed to "affirmative action." This too is seen as racism. He has been highly critical of much in the "foreign aid" field, claiming it makes little sense to shovel out billions and billions of dollars while the American treasury is in such deplorable condition and so much needs to be done at home. This is seen by much of the media as an attack on Israel, since the Israelis receive the lion's share of foreign aid. So the connection is as immediate as it is hypocritical. If he is critical of foreign aid, he must be an anti-Semite. Therefore he probably is unsympathetic to the suffering of European Jews 50 years ago. So it goes.

We suspect Pat had an idea what he was getting into. But we doubt he thought the criticism would come from some of the quarters it has. Regardless, we don't think we will hear much in the way of complaints from him. He has taken his lumps, over the years, and has dishd it out as well.

We doubt that Buchanan will unseat a sitting President. Nor are we saying at this point that we hope he does. But we do hope his views and his position on issues will receive a fair hearing in the months ahead. It's a lot to hope for, given the reality of politics and political commentary in this country. Still, it's a hope.

Clar Schacht expresses concern about county officials salaries

By Juanita Stepp

Appearing before the Floyd County Commissioners at the regular monthly session for January, local resident Clar Schacht expressed concern that the county wages continue at such a low rate. He told the commissioners that he felt it would impair the county when anyone left an office and a replacement was needed.

Speaking at the Monday, January 13, session, Schacht stated, "I have this concern and I wanted to meet with you and tell you that I appreciate the job you do and how difficult it is, but I feel that I have sat back and said nothing for too long."

"My concern is county wages, what we pay those people who are elected to work for the county and those who work for the county by appointment. Over the years, county wages have not kept up and we do not pay enough to attract replacements when someone leaves. I know that the situation did not happen overnight and I know that it will not be solved overnight. I do not have any solutions but I hope that you will find one."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I read your letter from our little brave cousin, Dianna Owens. We are so far away - way down here at Aransas Pass, near Corpus Christi, Texas, for the winter. We were both so touched and both in tears. But we, along with everyone else who knows Dianna, are asking the Lord, if it be His will, to heal her. Through the hands of good doctors the Lord can, if it's His will. So I'm going to send her "Get Well cards" and keep hoping that one day the Dr. will say "Dianna, you are in remission!" She is a precious girl, loving, smiling always, so talented and her Tim and her three sweet girls need her and her parents and all family members do too.

Editor, our thanks to you and all Floydada for being a very caring bunch of people.

The little poem her little girl ("Little Red") wrote for her is precious.

And to Dianna and all her loved ones - May you daily know the warm and sheltering peace of God's love.

Love,
Harlie and Verlie Owens

Dear Alice,

Here I am writing to you again, but I wanted to tell you I appreciated what you said in your column about the sports activities during the holidays.

This problem, in my opinion, and in the opinion of others I've talked with is this. If our nation would just open it's eyes it would see that it all began when the schools began to teach evolution. When one is taught that he has evolved rather than being created by God, then there is no room for God in any part of life. After all there is no God so a person does not have to answer for his sins. After all evolution is a theory and is not a fact as it is taught.

Then since there is no God as some say, prayer was taken from the schools

Holy Cow!

I said in last week's column that I hoped there would be more discussion over the sports and holidays subject, and I sure got my wish. Thanks for reading and thanks for all the opinions.

I had to go back and read the column to see exactly what I said to make people mad at me. I was trying to get some of the heat off the coaches and school boards and tell people where to direct their opinions.

I suppose that wouldn't have upset people but I had to go and put my opinion in there. I haven't changed it (my opinion) but I do want to clarify some things.

First of all—I LIKE BASKETBALL. I LIKE SPORTS IN SCHOOL!

I THINK SPORTS ARE VERY IMPORTANT TO KIDS AND THEIR FAMILIES!

I THINK SPORTS CAN BRING FAMILIES TOGETHER AND BRING A LOT OF SELF ESTEEM TO STUDENTS!

I DON'T THINK THE FANS ARE ZOMBIES!!!

I will not discourage my 5 year old about basketball or any other sport. I will support him when he is older and decides to play basketball. I will also support him if he decides not to play basketball.

I did not mean to imply the fans were zombies. I used that word instead of the word "tired". I believe that "some" families get worn out going to so many basketball games. That's all I meant. It was not meant to be a rude remark about the fans in the gymnasium.

I'm sorry.
My husband told me this morning that he wants to go on record as saying, "I told you not to put that in your column!"

I think it's time for me to move from the county, or change my name.

in 1962 by law from the Supreme Court. They said that church and state were to be separate. That is not what the constitution says. It merely says that the state is not to meddle in church affairs. It does not mean that the church has no business getting involved in politics.

Then came secular humanism into the schools. It defies man rather than God.

After that, or at about the same time, Planned Parenthood came upon the scene. It says one thing but means another. They developed the curriculum guide for sex education in many schools. They advocate abortion and promote sex before marriage. They are pushing the idea of condom use, instead of abstinence. (I have a book which lists what Planned Parenthood really stands for, if you would like to read it).

Our schools are not educating our children as well as they did 40 to 50 years ago. This has been proved by the tests children are given to evaluate their level of learning. Other countries are doing better with Japan running circles around us.

I could go on and on, but I'll close by saying our nation is being manipulated by those who wish to destroy the traditional family. Seeing that our children are so involved in school and extracurricular activities, such as sports, there is no time left for the family. Eventually, we'll be having less time with our children when the year-round school is implemented more widely.

THEY say the children need something to keep them busy, and a place to go when both parents, or the one parent in today's society, is working.

Have you ever thought that most of our school holidays are Christian holidays? What better way to get people's minds off the meaning of Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter than to fill it with sports activities.

The condition in our schools and our world will not change until we do what 2 Chronicles 7:14 says, "If my people, which are called by my name, shall humble themselves, and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways; then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sins, and will heal their land.

Sincerely,
Ardis Daniel

Mrs. Gilroy,

This letter is in regard to the editorial that appeared in last weeks paper. This is my opinion on a subject I've heard little discussion on, until last week.

I must not attend the same games or frequent the same cafes you do. I have not heard complaints from parents about the basketball games or tournaments. My husband and I have two daughters that are members of the high school basketball team. The only complaint they have had are the long trips that must be made for the games. Not that they don't like playing these games. We, as their parents, have made the same complaint. The girls and both parents had six days before the Sundown tournament to spend together and with their relatives. The only change in Christmas plans that had to be made was not a direct result of the tournament.

As for as any player not making practice or a game being kicked off the team is just not true! As for as I know only two players, one varsity girl and one varsity boy, are no longer playing. Both being a result of their own choice.

The only night that I can recall being 1:00 a.m. getting home from a game is the Morton game. And, if I'm not mistaken it was 11:50 when we arrived at the gym this past Friday night. Both girls, as well as parents, slept later Saturday morning and by noon we were on our way to another basketball game. Zombies?! We recover much better than you think. I, by the way, have never had to work on getting my enthusiasm back. This is valuable family time. Memories we wouldn't have if our daughters were not playing basketball.

As for stopping basketball games and practice during the holidays you might as well stop basketball from being played all together. If you think two weeks off not practicing or playing doesn't have an effect on the kids you're wrong. Their timing, they've worked on for two months before season starts is off.

One night a week games like football! How absurd! Some people think basketball season is long now - try stretching 29 games out just playing one game a week. See how long we'd be playing then.

The one administrator and/or principal arguing about one night a week games and eliminating some of the tournaments, must not have an athlete playing! Nor does he have one possibly trying for a scholarship. Maybe we should find out who it is. They must be drawing one whale of a salary. Also I wish you would check to see how academics fit into this. You and the administrator complaining must have your heads in the sand. I thought that's why the, 'No Pass, No Play' rule was enforced. I know several students who at the games waiting for their particular game to start, that are in the stands working on their homework. It is those students that are the ones who have nothing to worry about making their grades. Ask the students that are not playing basketball who are running up and down in front of parents who are trying to watch their son or daughter play, if these students are finished with their homework. It is every game night I see athletes at games that their parents aren't ever around to support their children. Could it be these are the parents that are complaining?

Also, if you take the tournaments away from these athletes because of holidays, you could be taking scholarships right out of an athletes hand. Colleges have scouts that go out and watch potential college athletes play then report back to the coach. But, without tournaments during Thanksgiving and Christmas break would these college coaches ever be able to see what kind of athlete they might be recruiting.

Choices and sacrifices. Don't we make these every day of our life. We have not ever told either one of our daughters they had to be in basketball. This is a choice both of them made on their own. Sacrifice. We would as parents make any kind of sacrifice for our kids - and have made them. I thought this was the name of the game.

I truly hope that when your son is old enough to decide whether to play football, basketball, baseball or track you don't discourage him. This too must be his decision. By the way, what about the sacrifices parents and athletes must make in August when football two-a-days start and parents must decide between football and last minute vacations with the family. Do I hear any discussions on that subject? Or how many games during baseball season must be played?

Sincerely,
Debra McCarty

Dear Editor,

When it comes to the subject of athletics the favorite line of "what about academics shouldn't it come first," always comes up. In the column, By The Way, Mrs. Gilroy begins talking about practice and playing during holidays and before you know it she makes the dreaded statement that family and academics are to come first.

Let's discuss the family first aspect of holidays and practice. UIL rules allow students to have five consecutive days off for Christmas vacation. Most families unless they are employed by the school get fewer than five days off for the holidays. Lockney participated in the Sundown tournament and attendance averaged about 10 people. There were only two educators at the first game, one parent and one fan and no zombies. Basketball is not the kind of sport you can take several days off and it all comes back to you. That would be like telling these kids who show animals that during the holidays they can't work with or feed their animals. If a student wants to be good at something or to be a competitor, it takes long hard work and sacrifice. It's a shame that at 5 years of age a parent is already closing doors. Who wants a give me society full of kids not willing to work hard or set goals to achieve. I hope that the day never comes when I tell a child at 4:16 that my day is over and I don't have time to help them or that parent that calls during the holiday (during my school vacation) that I can't help them. We all give and take, some more and some less, than others. I'm just thankful my parents encouraged me and unselfishly gave of their own time for my achievements.

Now the academic side of athletics. Mrs. Gilroy needs to do some checking of the GPA of the Lady Horns BB Team. Athletics and academics, why are they always separated? What better GT or Cooperative learning than playing a game. These games involve problem solving, critical thinking, creativity, decision making, evaluation and cooperation. Isn't it strange that these are all things Educational Consultants encourage us to use in our classrooms.

We each have our own likes and dislikes. We should learn to support our kids, our future, and not criticize a program that encourages them to excel and reach for a vision.

Terri Fortenberry

Dear Editor,

The article last week on your editorial page in reference to basketball can be summed up in one phrase. What a crock!

If this is true for basketball, then it is also true for football, track, band, FFA, cheerleading, etc., etc. Get real! Join the human race!

We've got to give before we can receive. Our boys and girls know this and are giving so they can reap the rewards.

You probably represent the same same people who favor our schools setting vacant three months of the year so the kids can "vacation".

Wake up darlin! the world is passing us by!

Coach Evans
Boys' Basketball
Lockney High School

Dear Mrs. Gilroy,

In reference to your "By The Way" article in the Floyd County Hesperian-Beacon dated January 9, 1992, I think some of your statements are misleading. I can only speak for the athletic programs in the Lockney School District.

Academics are at the top of our list in the education of our young people. Students who participate in extracurricular activities have to maintain a 70 or above grade point average in all classes to remain in the program. The majority of our girls in the athletic program maintain a grade point average of 80 or above. A number of them are in National Honor Society which, as you probably know, requires a 90 average, service for their school and community, leadership and character. Membership is approved by the faculty.

U.I.L. rules state that a student may not practice during 5 consecutive days during the Christmas vacation. Included in those days are December 24, 25, and 26. Our students had December 21 through December 26, off in compliance with this rule.

Many extracurricular activities are an inconvenience for students, parents and school personnel; but many students remain in school strictly because of what sports can provide for them. This includes leadership, sportsmanship, responsibility, cooperation, fellowship and discipline.

In closing, as a coach at Lockney I.S.D., I feel that our fans are a far cry from being "Zombies." They are very loyal and supportive. From a personal point of view, I feel that our fans always contribute to the success of our teams.

Sincerely,
Robin McLaughlin

FISD board hears TAAS results

By Juanita Stepp

Floydada High School Counselor Sheree Cannon presented the Floydada Independent School District Board of Trustees with a report on the latest round of state mandated tests at the regular January session of the board. Cannon told the board that everyone concerned was disappointed in the test results this time around.

According to the local counselor, "The state has raised the pass fail standard and made the test more difficult this year. In addition, no one is certain just how the graders are scoring results."

She told the board that several attempts were underway to try and correct the situation including mandatory remedial classes and special tutorial sessions. The main thrust of the corrective measures is being addressed to the major area of deficiency, the student's ability to write well.

(A more complete article by Sheree Cannon may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Hesperian-Beacon.)

SUPERINTENDENT'S CONTRACT EXTENDED

Board members voted unanimously to extend the contract of school administrator Jerry Cannon for a year, once more bringing the contract to a full three year term. The board specified that Cannon's salary would remain the same and did not award an additional bonus. The action came on a motion by Michael Hinsley, seconded by Steve Lloyd. Action on the matter followed an executive session at the end of the regular session Monday evening.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS RECOGNIZED FOR MONTH

Students receiving board recognition for their efforts this month included Lisa Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Smith, and Clinton Fyffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Fyffe, from A. B. Duncan Elementary. R. C. Andrews Elementary honorees were Mandi Yearly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Yearly, and Marty Herrera, daughter of Margaret Herrera.

Recognized from Floydada Junior High School were Amber Womack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Womack, and Will Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Warren. FHS honorees included Misty Bertrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bertrand, and Andrew McHam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McHam.

TAX REPORT

Administrative assistant Jimmie Collins presented the tax report for the month at the January 13 meeting, saying, "The current tax levy has collected $874,340.00 from the Floyd County Education District and the FISD collections."

According to Collins, the CED has collected and distributed $669,567.00 to the Floydada schools. Local collections total $204,773.00. These figures indicate that CED collections are 76.61 percent complete and that FISD collections are 74.65 percent complete stated Collins.

OTHER MATTERS

Collins was granted permission for the purchase of a new school bus on a motion from board member Michael Hinsley with a second by Don Hardy. The vote was unanimous in favor of the purchase. The new 55 passenger diesel engine bus will be ordered through the state bid process. Delivery is expected sometime in August of 1992 and the approximate cost should be in the neighborhood of $30,000.00.

Board members unanimously approved the hiring of Nikolyn Williams as the fifth grade teacher at R. C. Andrews Elementary. Motion for this action came from John Campbell with a second by Steve Lloyd.

briefly discussed with the board the concept of block scheduling. The innovative concept will be tried at the junior high this spring to allow concentrated instruction in the basic subjects of math, science, history and language arts. According to Bramlet, setting aside two periods per day to devote to one class for a nine week period will provide the equivalent of a full semester of instruction in the subject.

The student would then be part of a second nine week period of intensive instruction in another of the basic subjects. By scheduling one subject in the morning and one in the afternoon, students would complete a full semester in each of the four areas while concentrating on two subjects at a time instead of the usual four. Two hour class periods would allow for more time with the teacher and result in less homework and better grades in theory.

If the concept proves successful at FJHS this spring, it may be utilized at the high school next fall.

Board members also approved the reading of the minutes from previous meetings and authorized the payment of monthly bills during the Monday evening session. Superintendent Jerry Cannon went over upcoming board member training session available for trustees needing additional hours of continuing education prior to moving the board into executive session to discuss his contract.

Attending the session in addition to teachers and family members of the students honored were superintendent Jerry Cannon, administrative assistant Jimmie Collins, and board members Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, John Campbell, Steve Lloyd and Trena Simpson. Board member Billy Villarreal was not present. Also attending were Joe Christian, Bruce Bramlet, Sheree Cannon, Grant Hambricht, Joe Stepp and the Hesperian-Beacon reporter.

City ordinance discussed by Lockney City Council

Lockney city councilmen went through a small agenda, Thursday, January 9, during their regular monthly meeting.

All bills were paid by the aldermen and the financial statements were reviewed and approved.

Councilmen discussed city ordinance, 221, the Model Property Maintenance Ordinance, in reference to a property on Locust Street.

Mayor Wofford told the councilmen that he believed the ordinance could be applied in reference to Maria Morales house on Locust. The ordinance would give the city the authority to go and clean up property covered in tall weeds and/or trash.

The councilmen told Mayor Wofford to notify the city's attorney, Paul Lyles, and have Lyles take the proper steps to notify the owner of the city's intentions to clean up the property.

A few items were amended in the city budget and there were no department reports.

The regular session adjourned at approximately 10:00 a.m. when the councilmen entered executive session to discuss personnel.

Attending the meeting were: Aldermen Jim Doucette, Dee Copeland, Sam Fortenberry, Ronnie Aston; Mayor Kenneth Wofford, Charlotte Hooten and Hesperian-Beacon reporters Alice Gilroy and Tami Nielson.

Hi, on this beautiful, snowy day. You must admit the snow is beautiful. It looks as if the Creator took a paint brush and painted all the trees white with snow.

Monday started the week as usual with Bro. Bill coming for the devotional. He shared from Luke's gospel about the Light of Christ. The star that lead the three wise men to Jesus. He said Epiphany meant "the Light". Irene Wexler played the piano for us, Otis Johnson lead the singing. In the afternoon the residents played Bible Trivia and had snacks of crackers and cheese.

Tuesday, the ladies from the Companions 'n' Caring came and had their monthly meeting. Those present were Shirley Varner, Leona Neff, Dolores Cannon, Sue Walker, Jo Bryant. They do manicures, hair and do 1 to 1 visits.

Wednesday morning was exercise morning with music and rhythm band and songs. Mary Alice Davis assisted with Bingo. Ruth Smitherman had the first Bingo. Snacks were bananas, candy, cheese crackers.

Thursday, Mrs. Smith brought us the Mature Christian Magazine for the month of January. The residents had coffee, juice and cookies.

Friday, Alan Benson came and sang some solo songs. Evelyn Latta played the piano. Faye Benson gave the devotional on Jesus' House, and asked if they could remember the first house they first lived in. Grace Gomez drove the bus to Plainview. McDonald's treated the residents to some ice cream.

Our love and sympathy go out to the family of Jim Clover and LaVerne Norris.

Lady 'Winds upset Slaton 21-20

By Bill Gray

In their final tune-up for district play, Floydada Lady 'Winds pulled the surprise of the year so far by upsetting state-ranked Slaton 21-20 at Graves' Gymnasium on January 10. The Tigerettes, long a perennial power in West Texas girls' basketball, came into Floydada with an impressive 15-3 non-conference record. After a 9-20 ledger a year ago, the Lady 'Winds improved to 11-6 as they prepare to host 13-8 Friona in the District 2-3A opener on Jan. 14.

The game was a defensive gem on the part of both squads. Neither offense could break the full-court pressing defenses, and the first quarter closed with Slaton on top by a paltry 5-2. Floydada managed only two second-quarter points, while the visitors extended their lead to 12-4 at intermission. Floydada's slow-down tactics allowed only four Slaton points in the third period, but the Lady 'Winds' offense had generated only six total points and trailed 16-6 after three quarters of play.

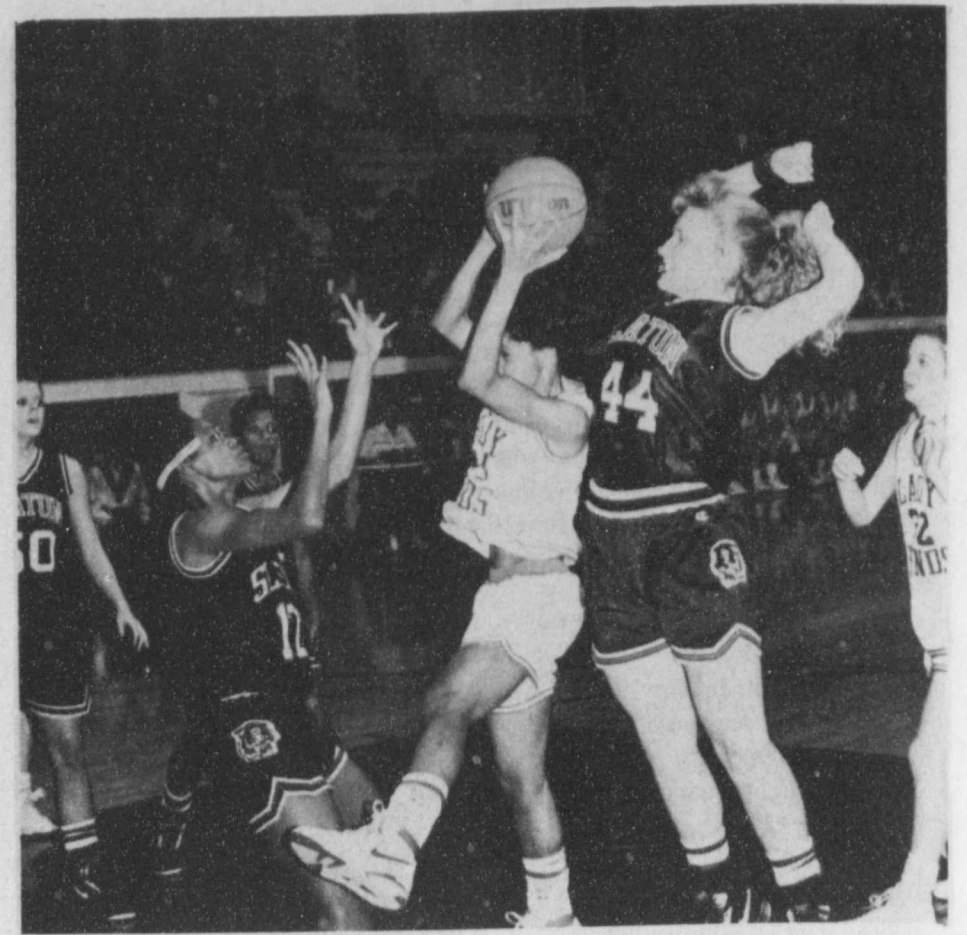

Good defensive plays by Kalli Hicks, Leshia Black and Tian Younger held the Tigerettes to only four final quarter points. Floydada rallied for 15, highlighted by two Elisa Suarez three-pointers, to pull into a 20-20 tie with 1:20 remaining in the contest. Leshia Black hit the front end of a 1 and 1 to give Floydada its first lead of the evening. As the Tigerettes brought the ball down the court for a possible game-winner, Tian Younger stole the ball and the Lady 'Winds had notched their eleventh victory of the 1991-92 season.

The victory was Coach Deanna Logan's first over Slaton since taking over the Floydada helm. The Lady 'Winds lost twice to Slaton by large margins last year. It was also Floydada's first win over the Tigerettes in a number of years.

According to Coach Logan, "We really needed this one to help our program and give us confidence and momentum. Several of our losses this year have been to district contenders and state-ranked teams. A win over a quality team such as Slaton should really give us a boost."

Logan added, "It doesn't get any easier! All six teams in our district are playing .500 ball or better, and we have the defending Class 3A State Champions (Tulia) leading the pack at 16-7 going into the district race."

Slaton rallies to defeat Whirlwinds 74-59

By Bill Gray

Led by Joe Williams' 17 second-half points, the Slaton Tigers cruised by Floydada 74-59 in the final non-conference game for both squads on Jan. 10. Williams' 25 total points led all scorers. Jaime Suarez accounted for 16, Michael Henderson 13, and Jammie Davis knocked in 11 for the Whirlwinds. Quincy Johnson also had 11 points for Floydada in the losing cause.

The Whirlwinds battled the taller and more physical Tigers to a 29-all tie at the half. Slaton's depth and accurate field goal percentage in the final two periods were the determining factors. The Tigers won their ninth of the year against eight defeats. Floydada's overall record dropped to 11-7 in non-conference play.

As Floydada enters conference action against Friona on Jan. 14, the Whirlwind starters for 1992 are seniors Billy Villarreal, Quincy Johnson and Jaime Suarez and juniors Michael Henderson and Jammie Davis. Senior Rance Pernell is a very valuable sixth man off the bench, and newcomer David McCarty (a junior) will be counted on to contribute in a reserve role.

After qualifying for the playoffs two years ago, the Whirlwinds missed post-season play by one game in the 1990-91 campaign. District 2-3A's powerhouse again is Dimmitt, currently ranked third in Texas by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches.

With district play opening, the runners-up spot appears to be up for grabs between Floydada, Muleshoe (12-7), and Tulia (9-8). Littlefield (6-7) and Friona (9-10) are always tough on their home courts. It will be difficult for any team, including the Dimmitt Bobcats, to go undefeated in both halves of the district schedule.

Public Notice

On October 4, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (Southwestern Bell) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) that proposes a new optional service called DigiLine™ Service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10655.

DigiLine Service uses a 144 Kbps facility, typically divided into two 64 Kbps B Channels and one 16 Kbps D Channel to provide access to and from the public switched telephone network for circuit-switched voice communications. DigiLine Service also provides transmission of circuit-switched data and packet-switched data within the customer's service office area only. This service allows the simultaneous transmission of voice and data over a single residence or business telephone line from a serving office equipped for DigiLine Service.

The monthly recurring charges for DigiLine Service consist of three major rate elements: Basic Interface Facility ($19.00); Basic Interface Equipment ($12.00); and, an Integrated Services Network Component for each B Channel (rate varies from $1.90 to $7.25 per B Channel depending on the customer's class of service and location.) Other charges may also be applicable depending on the options requested by the customer.

DigiLine Service operates only with compatibly-equipped FCC Part 68 registered equipment. The service will be offered initially in the following exchanges and within the following serving offices:

Exchange	Serving Offices
Dallas	Fleetwood, Richardson, Riverside
Austin	Fireside
San Antonio	Capitol, Medical Center
Houston	Clay, Medical Center

DigiLine Service may be furnished in other serving offices in any of the above exchanges in combination with foreign serving office charges. In addition, DigiLine Service may be available in other exchanges upon a customer's bona fide request. A bona fide request is a written request for service. Upon receipt of the bona fide request, Southwestern Bell will conduct an economic analysis to determine the financial viability of offering the requested service.

Southwestern Bell expects DigiLine Service to generate first-year revenues of approximately $236,000.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this docketed proceeding should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but not later than by February 10, 1992. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at 512-458-0256. The telecommunications device for the deaf (TDD) number is 512-458-0221.

County Sheriff candidates profiled

gator on a Multi-County Task Force on organized crime.

"The task force was responsible for breaking up a vast burglary and forgery ring operating in several counties in the Permian Basin Area resulting in numerous people being indicted and convicted.

"In 1986 I conducted an investigation on a suspected gun smuggler which resulted in the seizure of one of the largest drug labs ever seized in Texas at that time. Over 50 firearms, several vehicles, 2 motorcycles, over 300 acres of land and a new double wide mobile home were seized. Two people were arrested."

Butler said he would make some changes in the Sheriff's office. "I intend to have at least one Hispanic deputy that can work with the Hispanic community. I want to expand and better utilize the reserve deputy force.

"I will beef up patrol by deputies, making them more visible and active in the county. I would also like to have an ongoing training program for all personnel so that we can better serve the public."

"I also plan to tighten security at the jail and reorganize the trustee program."

Butler stated that he would "make every effort to effect the cooperation that is badly needed between the Sheriff's office and Floydada and Lockney's police departments."

"I have the common sense, education and experience necessary to run the Sheriff's office efficiently and correctly. Besides being charged with the responsibility to protect the lives and property of the people, the sheriff has the added responsibility of properly operating the county jail, which is the county's biggest liability.

"When elected I will be a working Sheriff and will have an open door policy. I will strive to serve all the people of this county."

Butler has been married to his wife Sandra for 32 years. They have four children, Dewayne, Terry, Jerry and Ladonna, a senior at Lockney High School.

ROYCE GILMORE

Royce Gilmore, of Floydada, is one of three candidates seeking the democratic nomination for Floyd County Sheriff.

Gilmore began his law enforcement career in Bridgeport, where he worked for the police department for six years. He graduated the police academy in Arlington and completed 22 hours of study from Cook County Junior College.

Gilmore moved to Floyd County in 1972 and went to work for Sheriff Bud Rainey. He left the Floyd County Sheriff's office in 1976 to work at Wise County Sheriff's Office as a deputy. "I worked through 1977 at Wise County," said Gilmore. "The sheriff was not reelected and I came back to Floydada to work for the city police."

Gilmore advanced to the rank of chief of police while working with the city and then left police work in 1979. He moved to Wichita Falls for a period of time and then returned to the county in 1981 and went to work in security at Texas Instruments. "I worked at TI for nine months until they started laying off people. It was at that time that I went to work for Gary and Hulon Carthel. I have been with them ever since."

Gilmore received his advanced certificate from the state of Texas, while he was a police officer. He attended numerous specialized training schools including various FBI schools and other workshops. "Every time I could go to a school, I went," said Gilmore.

ITEM NOT ON AGENDA ADDRESSED BY COURT

An additional matter, not on the agenda, was discussed at the session. Judge Bill Hardin presented the commissioners with an offer to purchase property under the jurisdiction of the taxing entities. Lockney Independent School District tendered an offer of $12,000.00 for the property belonging to Ted Carthel prior to a sheriff's sale in 1990. The purchase offer was submitted by the LISD attorney Paul Lyles.

Commissioner Taylor questioned the legality of selling the property without putting it up for bids. Hardin pointed out portions of the offer which refer to sale of the property and read, "Floyd County can sell the property to any other taxing entity at a price agreed upon by all the taxing entities."

Hardin also read a statement citing procedure and stating, "The presiding officer of the governing body of a taxing entity can agree to the sale on behalf of the taxing entity."

Commissioner Bearden then made a motion that Hardin be authorized to accept the offer on behalf of Floyd County pending acceptance by all other taxing entities involved in the property. Bishop seconded the motion and it passed by unanimous vote.

Breed Champ and Reserve Breed Champ honors went to Lacey Aston with her Heavy Weight and Medium Weight respectively.

Light Medium Weight - Cooter Durham 1st; Jordan Lambert 2nd; Stacey Bigham 3rd; Justin Graham 4th; Juan Antonio Salazar 5th; Cassidy Mallett 6th.

Medium Weight - Lacey Aston 1st; Michael Durham 2nd; Jimmy Bradley 3rd; Justin Graham 4th; Cynthia Martin

5th; David Turner 6th.

Medium Heavy Weight - Allen Martin 1st; Kaci Mathis 2nd; Cory Harrison 3rd; Melissa Griffith 4th; Jimmy Bradley 5th; Juan Antonio Salazar 6th.

Heavy Weight - Lacey Aston 1st; Kimberly Widener 2nd; Jeffrey Griffith 3rd; Michelle Delgado 4th; Coy Davis 5th; Jeri Lambert 6th.

Born in Clay County, January 31, 1935, Gilmore entered the army in January 1954 and was discharged in 1962.

While in the army, Gilmore spent a tour of duty in Korea and Turkey. He has been married to his wife, Doris, for 12 years.

"The first thing I would want to accomplish as sheriff is to get the county and Lockney and Floydada Police Departments working together," said Gilmore. "I feel it is very important for the agencies to work together. If something happens in the county, the city should know about it. I believe I can work with all the agencies, not just the ones in the county but also outside the county."

"I also plan on having a deputy on duty all night and prisoners will be treated like prisoners.

"I will see to it that the citizens of Floyd County get their money's worth from the Sheriff's office. Your tax dollars won't be wasted.

"I will also cooperate with the newspaper. I think the people in this county need to know what is going on. I'll work with the commissioners court and I want to make use of the reserve deputies that we have in the county. I will also concentrate on the county's drug problem and utilize the Sheriff's departments resources to fight that problem.

"I want all the citizens of the county to know that they will be treated equally. I'll be a Sheriff for all people."

CHARLES OVERSTREET

Charlie Overstreet, a Floyd County Deputy of six years, has announced his intentions to seek the democratic nomination of Floyd County Sheriff.

Overstreet has worked with the Floyd County Sheriff's Office since January 1, 1986. He moved to Floydada from Petersburg, where he had worked as a Petersburg Police Officer since 1983.

Raised in Petersburg, Overstreet worked as a farm and heavy equipment mechanic for International Harvester before joining the Petersburg Police force. In 1983, Overstreet attended Lubbock's SPAG police academy during the day and worked at night as a police officer to receive his police training.

After three years of work in the Floyd County Jail, Overstreet was named as Jail Administrator in 1989, by the current Sheriff, Fred Cardinal. In 1990 Overstreet was promoted to the rank of Chief Deputy. He still assumes the duties of both of those positions.

Overstreet has 48 hours from TSTI, and has attended numerous training schools in specialized areas of law enforcement. He will receive his advanced law enforcement certificate from the state this year.

"Between training schools and in service work, I have between 28,000 - 30,000 hours," said Overstreet.

"I have had to work very closely with county and jail inspectors. The jail was inspected and certified January 2, 1992, and we were commended on our cleanliness and smoothness of operation. It was a 600 point inspection and we were not cited over anything.

"In the last four years I've seen the state paperwork more than triple concerning reports on jail administration. I am experienced in taking care of the reports and working with the state jail officials.

"I have enjoyed working with the people in Floyd County over the past six years. There will not be any major changes in the sheriff's office if I am elected, but there will be changes in patrol and jail procedure. I will also strive to work with all law enforcement officials and keep our open relationship with surrounding counties."

Overstreet also serves on the Board of Directors of the Caprock Peace Officers Association, is a chairperson for Floyd County Emergency Management and also serves on the 911 advisory committee for Floyd and Motley Counties.

Overstreet, 37, is the son of Leslie and Shirley Overstreet, of Petersburg. He has been married to his wife, Teresa for 4 1/2 years. They have a three year old son, Trent, and are members of Bible Baptist Church.

Disaster Assistance Program

Announcement answers questions

The announcement of preliminary information about the disaster assistance program for the 1990 and 1991 crops answers many of the questions producers have asked about the program.

USDA officials announced January 2 that sign-up for the disaster program would begin February 3 and continue through March 13. Sign-up will be conducted by the USDA's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

The disaster program, approved by President Bush, authorizes $995 million for assistance payments to producers with crop losses in either 1990 or 1991. Clarifying an often asked question, the preliminary announcement spells out what losses a producer may file on.

In general, the provisions say that a producer will select one year, either 1990 or 1991, for filing a claim on an individual farm. Producers are prohibited from filing on one crop on a farm for one year and then filing a second claim on a different crop on the same farm for the other year. The provisions do, however, allow a producer to request benefits on one farm for 1990 losses and on another farm for 1991 losses.

It is expected that the $995 million will be inadequate to cover all disaster claims. USDA has stated that after all claims have been filed they will be summarized and a nation-wide factor will be computed, prorating producer payments to match available funds.

The USDA announcement also listed April 16 as a possible date for producer payments to begin.

"We are very happy to see the announcement of these preliminary provisions concerning the disaster program," explains Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President. "The faster producers can find out how the program will be administered the faster they can get their claims filed and USDA can proceed with the necessary calculations to speed up the dispersal of producer payments."

Destroying habitat reduces pests

Certain crop pests overwinter in the soil. This allows producers the opportunity to manipulate the overwintering habitats of these insects, and thus greatly reduce survival and subsequent emergence of these pest populations the following spring.

Southwestern corn borer larvae overwinter in the stalk base or root crown, insulated by a frass plug and by the surrounding soil. Destruction of overwintering habitat of southwestern corn borers is a very important cultural IPM practice for reducing damage from this insect to High Plains corn. This habitat destruction can be accomplished either by disking or by shredding stalks near enough to ground level so as to remove the plugs from the end of the girdled stalks, thus allowing greater exposure of the insects to the winter elements. Shredding of stalks could be used in conjunction with minimum tillage practices so that overwintering corn borer populations might still be reduced without plowing. Populations are most effectively reduced when stalks are plowed before mid-February.

Cotton bollworms overwinter in the soil in the pupal stage. Greater winter survival of bollworms has been noted in conservation tillage and no-till fields than in conventionally tilled fields. It is important to realize that bollworm populations can migrate into our area, thus allowing potential for heavy bollworm pressure regardless of the number of bollworms that successfully overwinter in our area. However, research has indicated that even moderate soil tillage results in a high level of winter mortality for overwintering bollworms. Therefore, overwintering bollworm survival can be effectively reduced, even in conservation tillage systems.

Neighbors harvest cotton

Neighbors helping to harvest Delton Jack's cotton were Ronnie Thornton, David Patterson, Ron Shatley, Harmon Handley, Herman Graham, Keith Stansell, Santos Cruz, Byron Brock, Manuel Solis, Red Daniels, Guerdar Solis, Monty Teeter, Micah Stowe, Eddie Teeter, Carlos Molinar, Henry Segovia, Ronnie Aston, Junior Martinez and Salvador Martinez.

The men also started on Hall Ferguson's cotton.

Speculation continues

Speculation about the size of this year's deficiency payment continues as producers anxiously wait to hear the final payment rate. The announcement of November's average price and marketings of upland cotton allows speculators to narrow the range of their estimates.

According to the preliminary figure for the November, marketings jumped almost 600,000 bales to 2,524,000. Up from October's 1,926,000 bale level, the average monthly price, unfortunately, continued to slip and ended up at 61.2 cents per pound.

This increase in marketings combined with the decrease in the average price received by producers dropped the weighted average price received by producers to 64.6 cents. This November drop lowered the weighted average price a full penny from the 65.6 cent average computed through October.

The end result of the steady drop in the weighted average price over the past several months has been an equally steady increase in the projected size of this year's deficiency payment.

It is now believed that the deficiency payment will top out at about 9.5 cents per pound. A 9.5 cent total deficiency payment rate would mean that producers could expect to receive a final payment of about 5.5 cents per pound after subtracting the 4 cent advance payment.

Many producers are wondering how the recently passed disaster program will affect their deficiency payments. Producers need to be aware that by law they CANNOT receive a deficiency payment and a disaster payment on the same pound or bushel of an eligible crop. Answers and clarifications about how this rule will effect a producer's payments can be received from county ASCS offices.

Revised marketings and the cents per pound farm prices for January through July and preliminary numbers for August through November are included in the table below.
