FIREMEN GIVE MUSICAL PLAY

PRESENT "CRASHING THRU" ON FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS, FEBRUARY 2 AND 3

"Crashing Thru", the three act musical comedy, sponsored by the Perryton Fire department, will be presented Friday and Saturday nights, February 2-3, at the school auditorium.

The cast and choruses, composed entirely of local people, have been hard at work in an endeavor to give the people of Perryton an outstanding production.

The play hinges around the love story of the three generations of the Thomas Jackson family, as related by the grandfather and grandmother, portrayed by J. M. Bull and Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, to their grandson, played by Billy Herndon.

The first scene is laid in 1898, at the beginning of the Spanish American war, the second act offers modern comedy of 1928, and the third scene carries us into 1958, offering unusual entertainment, a novel courtship in some unique costumes.

Characters in the 1898 scene include the following: Thomas Jackson, Addison Cutter; Helen Jackson, Mrs. Carol Dodd; Priscilla Collins, Mrs. Ray Christopher; and Newt Burchum, Orville Newman.

The radio broadcasting studio is the scene of the 1928 scene with the following characters represented: Thomas Jackson Jr., Lee Tucker; Betty, Juanita Morgan; Forgan, Russel Coffee; Marybelle, Virginia Carrell; Roy Atwill, Rufus Bolerjack; Gracie Allen, Mrs. W. B. Irvine; Mae West, Mrs. Henry Richardson; Baron Munchousen, Bill Shamp; Jimmie Durante, Cecil Dodd.

In the third scene, looking into the future, Thomas Jackson III is played by C. W. Claybaugh; Nancy, Mrs. W. I. Byron; Edgar Broker, Judge Oscar Flowers; Minister, Walter Allen. A group of ten inspectors, composed of local business men, supply the comedy for the scene which is climaxed with a grand finale of all of the seventy characters that compose the play casts and choruses. Miss Helen Brannen is the accompanist for the musical numbers.

Proceeds from the play go to the firemen's fund for the purchase of emergency equipment, not regularly included in the equipment furnished by the city. The play is under the direction of Miss Margaret Horan of Kansas City.

CHICKENS RUNNING AT LARGE DAMAGE YARDS

Perryton has an ordinance against chickens running at large within the city limits, yet within the past few days, several people have called the Herald office to register a complaint that chickens are destroying their shrubs and eating off the tops of perennials and flowers that are now starting to grow. If people who insist on combining the so called comforts of town life with the privileges of the farm, and just must have a flock of chickens in town, then they should be compelled to keep them confined on their own property and not allowed to roam at large destroying shrubs, flowers, lawns and gardens, on which their neighbors have expended much labor and money to produce. The anti-chicken ordinance is a good law and should be enforced. If all people were fair minded, unselfish and had the proper respect for the rights and property of others, there would be no need for an ordinance.

West Has Close Call

Earl West, Perryton Rodeo Performer, Saved by Heroic Action of Clown

Denver, Colo., Jan. 25. — Homer Holcomb, a clown at the National Western stock show here, was Tuesday's hero at the show.

While about 500 spectators looked on in horror, a wild Brahma steer attempted to trample and gore Earl West, Perryton, Texas cowboy, during the rodeo performance at the annual show, and would have succeeded if it hadn't been for Holcomb.

The fun maker, at the risk of his own life, ran out and seized the enraged animal by the tail and distracted its attention from West, who was lying in the arena in the path of the onrushing steer.

West scampered to safety and Holcomb out-ran the charging beast.

A CORRECTION

In last weeks Herald, a mistake was made in an item concerning the meeting of the County Council of Parent Teachers Associations at Waka. In this article, we stated that Mrs. W. B. LaMaster was president of the County Council. We were in error. Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, a former president of the local association and zealous worker in local, district and state P. T. A. circles, is president of the united county associations.

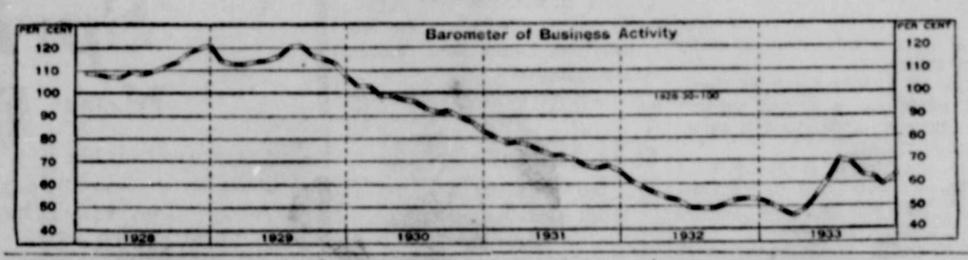

Mrs. P. H. Sebastian entertained friends with a delicious turkey dinner Sunday. The guests were Mrs. Jack Sims, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wade and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cheatham and daughter, Barbara Ann, of Higgins and Mrs. Cheatham's mother, Mrs. Mattie Branham, were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Talley.

MID-AIR MUSICAL SAVES A FIANCEE

If the girl you loved stood to go broke because your musical show was enjoined from opening her new hotel, what would you do?

That was the problem faced by handsome Gene Raymond in "Flying down to Rio," Showing at the Ellis Sunday and Monday, and he solved it in a way that makes the production the first of its kind in motion picture history, the first aerial musical.

With 5,000 guests assembled at the hotel, Raymond foils the villians by taking his 200 girls aloft in giant planes and staging his spectacles on the wings in full view of gaping multitudes.

Girls dance and sing, adagio dancers hurl damsels from one plane to another, sensuous music fills the air, and ballet dancers trip the light fantastic on nothing at all, as they flutter downward in parachutes!

Dolores del Rio is the girl, Raul Roulien the rival, while others in the all-star cast include Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

A little daughter, who has been named Melva Lee, was born Thursday morning, February 1, to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fleck, Richards, Colo. Mrs. Fleck is staying in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryan.

POLL TAX PAYMENTS IN BIG INCREASE OVER '33

Sheriff Talley's office reports a total of approximately 1300 poll taxes paid before the dead line last night. This is an increase of almost fifty percent over 1933, when 928 were paid. It is still below the high peak reached in 1932 when 1400 poll taxes were paid.

There still remain over one hundred checks to be paid on contracts which are pending in Washington.

The nature of this service is not to be revealed until President Roosevelt broadcasts his request.

All Boy Scouts, former Scouts, Scout executives and committeemen, Scoutmasters, city and county officials, and representatives from civic, service and welfare organizations will be mobilized in each community for this broadcast.

Arrangements have been made to use the school auditorium as a mobilization place for the reception of the President's message in Perryton. The President will speak from the White House at 12 o'clock noon Eastern Standard Time on Saturday, February 10. This means 11:00 a. m. in Perryton.

ALFALFA PLAY PRESENTED TO CAPACITY HOUSE

The play presented by the Literary Society of the Alfalfa community on last Friday night was a big success in every way. The schoolhouse was crowded to capacity with a number unable to get in the building.

This play was written and directed by home people. Roy Linn was the playwright, with Fred Branham and Pood Herndon assisting with the dialogue. It was produced under the direction of Fred Branham.

TABLETS, NOT GRAINS OF "DOPE", NARCOTIC THEFT

Our attention has been called to an error which appeared in a story in last weeks Herald concerning the theft of a quantity of narcotic tablets from the offices of Drs. Brewer & Kengle. We are glad to make a correction. We stated that about 800 grains were found on the person arrested for the theft. It should have been tablets. A few of the tablets contained a grain of codein, but most of them contained one-sixth and one-quarter of morphine, the total being about 327 grains of narcotics.

Mrs. Geo. Lilly returned Monday evening from Tonkawa, Okla., where she visited over the week-end.

To date only thirty-five out of an expected two hundred have filled out the contracts. The committee wants to complete this work by Saturday night. They are asking that farmers come in in the mornings as well as afternoons.

The members of the committee have little or no work to do in the forenoon, but each afternoon, they are swamped. Farmers should cooperate with them, thus expediting the operation of the program which will bring ready cash to the hog producers of this county.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

A Christian young lady once visited an aged friend of her father, both of whom were very ill. Her father was a pious Christian, while his aged friend had been one of those who run after the world. The father was quite poor while his friend was very rich. When the friend inquired after condition of her father, she told him of her father's patience in suffering and the cheerfulness with which he awaited death. To which the aged, worldly-minded friend answered with a sigh: "Yes, yes, what a difference between us! He is going to his treasure, while I—I am leaving mine."

Divine services, Sunday-school and Bible Class next Sunday beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Choir rehearsal Sunday afternoon at 3. The Sunday-school teachers meet at the parsonage Thursday night. Confirmation instruction Saturday at 2 P. M.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 4.

The Golden Text is: Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 1:21).

Among our citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4: 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love . . . The Christian Science God is universal, eternal, divine Love, which changeth not and causeth no evil, desease, nor death" (page 140).

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richardson, Miss Mary Alyce Nies, Miss Virginia Correll, Miss Margaret Prewitt, and Mrs. M. R. Coffee were in Canadian Saturday attending the basketball tournament and visiting with friends.

LOSE TOURNEY SEMI-FINALS

ALLISON BOYS AND CANADIAN GIRLS WIN INVITATION CAGE MEET AT CANADIAN

Peryton High School's Rangers and Rangerettes went to the semi-finals last Saturday at the Canadian Tournament, losing to teams that later claimed winning places.

The famed Canadian Krazy Kats tall defenders of the district championship defeated the Rangerettes by 25-16 after the local sextette had beaten Stratford and Higgins. The Rangers lost a lop-sided battle to the Stratford Elks 40-6 in the semi-finals after two strenuous wins over White Deer and Mobeetie.

The absence of Copeland and Delano in the Ranger line up was noticeable, and the remainder of the squad, with only one game's experience together before entering the stiffest tournament competition of this part of the Panhandle did well to enter the semi-finals.

The large body of Perryton fans in attendance saw the Rangerettes make a fine showing against the six-footers of Canadian.

Thirty-one of the Panhandle's best teams made competition keen as the Allison boys and Canadian girls copped first place with Stratford boys and Allison girls taking second.

The Rangers and Rangerettes meet Morse on the local floor Wednesday. Morse is trailing in this section, but for that reason is expected to give battle to the harrassed Red and White clad teams.

Next Tuesday will see the locals go against Gruver here after a rest over the week end.

Gruver girls are the only team in this section that has beaten the Rangerettes.

Into the second year the Rangers go with a record of no defeats in the school gym, here. Watch them keep that record—Robert Hardgrove.

FOR DRAMATIC CLUBBER'S ONLY

After the regular routine of business, reading of the minutes, paying France's war debt, and discussing Will Rogers, the Dramatic's Club decided not to have it's party on the first Friday of February. A play, "Crushing Through", is to be staged that night and the officers of the club confidentially said that they would hate to ruin the firemen's picnic. The date of the party-to-be has not yet been set.

Climaxing the delightful period of entertainment, to which spice was added by the witty philosopher and honorable president of the Dramtic Club, E. M. Raney, was a social made more sociable by the most excellent sandwiches of the girls. The boys brought fruit but a-a-h—those delicious sandwiches. Everyones hunger was appeased with the exception of Willard Witt. (He wasn't there.)

Fidac League Contest

The Fidac League contest, sponsored locally by the American Legion Auxiliary is creating a great deal of interest in the local school. This contest deals with the best theme written on the subject "Peace with Security."

The theme must express the desire that we adequate national defense as peace insurance. The sponsors of the contest desire to promote International friendship as the aim of the contest. ## Defeat Morse Cagers

Nameless Independent Team Win Games Series With Morse Town Team

Not finding enough basketball on the big end of a 21-20 score Perryton's independent "Nameless Wonders" made it two against the Morse Town Team at Morse Monday, winning the second tilt by an 83-15 score.

This team which includes Perryton's three coaches, Keith, Kelly, and Byron along with two star Rangers recently ruled out of high school competition because of ineligibility, Copeland and Delano, promises to make the local independent cage fight at least interesting as they get going. It should be a good team with three college players and Perryton's two outstanding high school men.

Clifford Keith, Ranger mentor led in scoring with "about fifty points."

Morse returns here Thursday night to give battle to this classy club.

Essay Writing Contest

Interscholastic League Contest Is Changed In Essay Writing Division

The essay writing contest in the University Interscholastic League has been changed this year to allow essay contestants to qualify for next higher meets on up to and including the final state meet, according to Mrs. Eula M. Wood, who has been chosen Director of Essay Writing in the Interscholastic League of this county.

"Subjects for the contest will be furnished as here-to-fore by the State Office. The Topics, according to the Constitution and Rules, are all to be within the range of the study, observation and experience of the average pupil. The contest is in writing, that is, ocmposition, and does not involve any special research into public questions, as is the case in the debate and extemporaneous speech contests.

"In previous years the rules have provided that winning essay in the caunty meet be forwarded to the district meet for judging, and that the winning essay from the district meet be forwarded to the state meet for competition with the winning essays from other districts. This method has been changed, and instead of the essays being forwarded, the winning contestant in the county meet goes in person to the distion meet to complete in this contest with other county winners. The district winners then to the regional meets, and the winners in the regional meets qualify for the state meet, and participate in rebate privileges on the same basis as contestants in other contests scheduled by the League.

"It is believed that this change which gives successful contestants an opportunity to advance from one meet to another will greatly increase interest in essay writing.

New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passengers Ride Like a Glide

In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort, all annoying sensations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilators and the new streamlined bodies. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" wheels enjoy the advantage of being completely enclosed in a weathertight housing; the coil springs and shock absorbers ride in a bath of oil. William E. Holler, Chevrolet's general sales manager, is shown at the left holding a chart which shows the internal construction of the system. The radiator of the new car has added beauty through its graceful and sharply pointed design. Smartness has been the theme in every line of this year's Chevrolet.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term.

So much has been written about independent springing that the public has doubtless concluded that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weathertight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil.

An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or tension. Actually this has been impossible to carry out in the past because the front springs had to be over twice as "stiff" as the rear springs in order to hold the front axle, wheels and brakes in place. In independent springing, the wheels and spring mechanism are rigidly attached directly to the frame and there is no front axle. By relieving the front springs of the task of carrying wheels and axle, therefore, it became possible to make the front springs as "soft" as the rear springs. When the new Chevrolet strikes an irregularity in the road, both front and rear move up and down with the same frequency—there is no inclination on the part of the rear end of the car to leap into the air and throw the passengers forward and upward.

Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" has additional advantages all contributing to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. There is a decided improvement in handling, steering, safety at high speeds and tire economy.

In design, the front spring is a neat, compact and efficient unit, as Mr. Holler points out in the above picture. The entire spring mechanism is attached rigidly to the frame. From this enclosed unit the wheels spring vertically at the ends of strong, steel horizontal arms.

Swine Specialist Explains Corn-Hog Farm Program

Increased interest in the 1934 corn-hog contract offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is reported throughout Texas by county agents, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, Extension swine specialist at Texas A and M College.

"The plan is rather complicated", says Mr. Regenbrecht, "but its provisions are very liberal and offer so many benefits to those who raise either corn or hogs or both that farmers are asking county agents for more details.

"The plan in the case of the well-known John Doe who grew an average of 30 acres of corn and sold an average of 60 hogs per year from six sows during the period December 1st, 1931, to November 30th, 1933, will work out about like this," explains Mr. Regenbrecht. "Mr. Doe will work up his corn and hog production records on forms supplied by the county agent, supporting his claims, especially for hog sales, by sales' receipts and buyers' affidavits wherever possible.

"Suppose Mr. Doe averaged 20 bushels of corn per acre on his 30 acres for two years. He contracts to reduce this acreage in 1934 by 20 per cent, thereby taking out of production 6 acres. The average production of this six acres would be 120 bushels on which he would be paid this winter and next fall a total of 30 cents per bushel, or $36. He might put the six acres into permanent pasture or into soil improvement or erosion prevention crops but he will not be allowed to raise crops there for sale, directly or indirectly.

"Mr. Doe would also contract to reduce his litters farrowed 25 per cent, from 12 litters per year to 9, and restrict his sales of market hogs from these litters to 45 for 1934. On these 45 market hogs he will be paid $5 per head, $2 this winter, $1 next November, and the remaining $2 in February 1935, the expense of administration to come out of the last payment. He would get on his hog contract a total of $225.

"He would also have to agree not to increase his total cultivated acres, nor to increase his pasturing in 1934 of any of the basic commodities (wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco), nor the number of his dairy cattle. He would also agree not to increase the acreage of other feed crops on his farm above that of 1932 or 1933, whichever is larger.

"In signing a contract Mr. Doe would join his county corn-hog production control association to be organized soon with the help of the county agent, and thereby take part with other farmers in administering the plan.

"If Mr. Doe happened not to be a corn grower, yet farrowed four or more litters of hogs for 1932-33 he might sign a hog contract and get its benefits by agreeing not to plant corn in 1934. If he happened to be a corn grower who raised no hogs he might sign the corn reduction contract and receive the corn benefits if he agreed to raise no market hogs in 1934."

Children's Diseases

Never Treat Lightly Common Diseases of Childhood; After Effects are Dangerous

Austin, Texas Jan. 1—"It is a great mistake to treat even light cases of measles, chickenpox, mumps, scarlet fever, or any other of the communicable diseases of childhood as though they did not amount to much," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health officer. "Treatment of that sort makes it possible for these diseases to spread and cause serious outbreaks among children whose impaired resistance makes them easy victims to any form of infection.

"Some of the most serious outbreaks we have had of scarlet fever, as well as of other diseases in different parts of the State, have been traced to mild cases—that is, to cases too light for the doctor to be called. In some instances the children have continued to go to school and to associate and play with other children. In others after they have been kept at home for a few days suffering from what was believed to be just an ordinary cold, they have returned to school and have scattered these germs around among their schoolmates. Eventually a group of cases—sometimes very serious ones—have developed from the carelessly-handled mild case. The result was another epidemic that could have been prevented.

"There are several things worth remembering in connection with childrens' diseases. Nearly all of these diseases begin with a digestive upset or with symptoms closely resembling those of the common cold. Accordingly it is a wise thing for mothers to regard every digestive upset and every common cold with suspicion until you are sure it is not the beginning of something more serious."

Your doctor is the best judge of the seriousness of such symptoms and you will save suffering and anxiety if you put the child to bed, send for your doctor and follow his advice.

MOUNT PLEASANT—Because of a good all the year round garden Mrs. R. E. Huckeba of the Oak Grove Home Demonstration Club in Titus County does not have to can as much as most of her fellow members. At the club meeting on November 21 she reported 11 different vegetables being used from her garden. They were mustard, turnip green, collards, New Zealand spinach lettuce, tomatoes, eggplants, butter beans, carrots and potatoes.

Old timers say that Goliad looks as it did in the "good old days" when shipping day for the local co-operative cattle shipping association comes around. During the heavy movement in October, shipments averagtd 3 to 4 cars every Friday.

UNUSUAL FACTS REVEALED—by "Movie Spotlight"

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

A lesson in heredity was pointed out the other day by George Kemp, Ballinger dairyman in conversation with the county agent. He exhibited two half sister heifers. One wtih her second calf sired by the herd bull was giving 40 pounds of milk daily; the other, by the same mother but sired by a scrub that broke in was giving barely enough milk for her calf.

The best turkey Miss Lila Young has been able to get in New York City this season was Texas canned turkey sent her by her mother, Jackson county. It was put up on shares with Mrs. A. E. Wilson of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club.

Reports received by the county agent in Kaufman county from 71 of the 116 boys enrolled in 4-H club work last year show that a total of $332.10 was made by these boys in return on labor and investment in a variety of better farming demonstrations.

From a garden 100x50 feet, Nellie Maude Bennett, garden demonstrator in the Sandia Girls' 4-H Club in Jim Wells County, produced 2263 pounds of vegetables valued at $54.35. The garden cost $8.50 in cash.

A total of 2433 Dallas county farm women, not members of home demonstration clubs, were given help last year in living at home, making clothing and beautifying their homes through the efforts of the Dallas County Home Demonstration Council.

The thrifty Mal- Island matron tries to stretch coconut money, instead of hing her pennies, as we do in land of the unedible dollar.

ut aside from passing as money, e are scores of other "believe- nots" about coconuts which them as intriguing and ro- tic as a hunt for pirate treas-outh Sea Island natives take it —and let the coconut tree do worrying for them about the ntials of life. It is literally that if these islanders had ing but the coconut tree to sup- their wants, they could pass r days in contentment.

Most Useful Tree

equiring little cultivation, the nut palm would be worth its if it supplied food alone. But e are 83 other different needs ch this tree fulfills. Besides ng delicious and nutritious food drink, the nuts, shells, leaves, , and wood furnish the mean- atisfying almost every imagin- primitive want. The coconut supplies the native with fire-wood and building material, cooking and eating utensils; provides his fishing net, woven from coconut fiber; and his canoe; gives him oil for his coconut shell lamp, and jaggery, or coconut sugar, to sweeten his food. Even in America, in addition to the scores of coconut desserts which are familiar standbys, the versatile tree supplies us with coconut fiber doormats bidding us "Welcome", palm leaf fans, salt water soap, stock food, charcoal, and a host of other products.

So important is the coconut in the South Seas, that when missionaries went to Christianize the natives, they found it necessary to change "our daily bread" in the Lord's Prayer to, "our daily coconut", in order to make it understandable to their converts.

Easy Life

Harvest time means nothing to coconut trees—or to the fortunate folks who depend upon them for food, clothing, and shelter. The tree bears ripe coconuts continuously, and has fruit in all stages of development, from blossoms to ripened nuts, simultaneously. Ask any farmer who has hustled 16 hours a day to get his crops harvested in time whether this means anything!

Many of the lazier natives don't even go to the trouble of picking the nuts: They just wait for them to fall to the ground when they ripen; others train monkeys to climb the trees, and bring them breakfast, lunch and supper.

Willowy, graceful, fern-like and romantic, coconut palms are nevertheless huge trees. They grow 70 to 85 feet high, and their roots sometimes attain a depth of 50 feet. A coconut tree begins to bear when it is 5, 6, or 7 years old, and continues for about 70 years. The average production is 40 coconuts a year, although some trees yield as many as 200. Forty coconuts will make about 13 pounds of the coconut we know—the curling, shredded kind that tempts youngsters' fingers when mother is baking.

Bottle Makers

In Malabar a father plants five coconut palms when a son is born—enough to keep the boy in "spending money" until he has to begin planting trees for his own sons! In Ceylon, the natives calculate their wealth in coconut trees. Twenty trees in full bearing are considered ample to support a family man in comfort, providing his wife doesn't try to keep up with the Joneses. They provide a dower for his daughter, a pension for his own old age, and a ready made form of life insurance for his widow.

Ingenious natives have devised a method of emptying the meat from the coconut without breaking the shell. They punch out the "eyes"—the two small soft spots on the end of the nut—and place the coconut in shallow water where a species of tiny shrimp abounds. Hungry shrimps swim through the holes, eat the meat, swim away, and leave a perfect bottle for the local John Barleycorns.

Even more inventive is the robber crab of the Polynesian Islands. He climbs the towering trunk of the palm tree, picks a coconut, hammers the "eye" with his heavy claws until he makes a large enough opening to insert his smaller claw, and extracts the pulp.

Coconuts are one of the oldest foods known to man. They are mentioned in the medical literature of India, in 1400 B.C., and there are references to them in Sanskrit writings laboriously carved in stone 3000 years ago. In those days coconuts were not only prized as a great delicacy, but the oil was used as medicine. And in many parts of the world the coconut still has varied religious significances.

Not only is the coconut an easy crop to harvest, but it is in many cases self-planting. That is why nobody knows certainly where the coconut originated. Growing at the ocean's edge, the trees often drop ripened nuts into the water. The heavy husk is waterproof and very buoyant, so the nuts may float for months, drifting with the wind and currents until they are washed ashore. Action of the waves soon causes the triangular shaped nuts to burrow into the sand. Nothing could be finer for a coconut tree which thrives on sand and salt water, and before you could say "Walter Winchell"—there is another blessed event!

Support Millions

Coconuts were known in America in colonial times; in fact, purchases of them are recorded in the account books of George Washington. But until 1896 they were enjoyed largely by people in seaport communities. Then a Philadelphia flour miller, Franklin Baker, was forced to accept a boat-load of coconuts from Cuba in payment for a shipment of flour. He developed new methods of opening, processing, and packing the nuts so that coconut could be distributed anywhere. Today coconut cake is the second most popular cake in the country, and only apple pie exceeds coconut custard pie in popularity.

Although nobody knows exactly where the coconut originated, it is now scattered throughout the tropics, and today is the world's most important food fruit, supporting millions of natives. More than ten billion coconuts are produced every year—or more than three hundred per second. If they were laid end to end, (which would look very silly) they would encircle the Equator 90 times, or they would make enough coconut pies to keep all the husbands in the world happy until their golden wedding day (which most men would say wasn't silly at all).

"Grinning Face"

The coconut did not get its name in the East, where the fruit was first mentioned in literature. From the 6th to the 16th century it was known as the India nut. Then the face-like appearance of the eyes on the nuts led the Portuguese and Spanish, who encountered them in the East, to use the term "coco" nuts, after their word "coco"—meaning grin, or grinning face.

To the average American, the feathery fronds of a palm tree swaying in the tropical breeze bring thoughts only of movie sets, coconut frostings, or travel catalogues. But for millions and millions of people in far away lands coconuts are a matter of life or death . . . the central feature of their existence, giving point even today to the ancient proverb: "He who plants a coconut tree, plants vessels and clothing, food and drink, a habitation for himself, and a heritage for his children."

DON'T USE LETTER BOXES FOR UNSTAMPED MATTER

Washington, Jan. 6 -Postmaster-General Farley has ruled against the use of letter boxes, or even letters lots in doors of homes, as recepticles for such unstamped, mailable matter as statements of accounts, sales bills, advertising circulars, and the like.

Complaints against having letter boxes stuffed with bills and circulars was given as the reason by the postmaster-general. When the three-cent postage rate went into effect many large utility companies and stores utilized their own messengers in delivering bills and statements. The three-cent postage rate recently was reduced to two cents on local letters.

Carriers were instructed by Farley to remove from letter boxes and other receptacles mailable matter on which no postage has been paid and to carry it to the postoffice to be held for postage.

Postal patrons throughout the country, Farley said, have complained to the department that their private letter boxes have been cluttered with all kinds of unmailed matter.

In many instances, he said, letter carriers have found it difficult to deposit mail in the overcrowded letter boxes, resulting in loss of time and considerable hardship.

"The accusation that The American Legion is opposing the President of the United States 'in their own selfish interest' is an unjustified attack upon an organization which asks only that you acquaint yourself with the truth before you allow anyone to condemn it.

"Believing that our patriotism cannot be questioned, we Legionnaires submit that our program keeps in mind the best intest of our Government at the same time discharge our Government's obligation to the admittedly service disabled World War victims."

Old timers say that Goliad looks as it did in the "good old days" when shipping day for the local cooperative cattle shipping association comes around. During the heavy movement in October, shipments averagtd 3 to 4 cars every Friday.

When Mrs. Ed Ray of Culberson county says "conservation", she means it. She killed and canned 12 chickens by home demonstration methods, saved the feathers for pillows, used the intestines for wolf bait, and gave the bones back to the flock.

Several Delta county farmers recently testified at a terracing demonstration held by the county agent that terraces had increased production on their lands from one-fourth to one-third.

By canning fruit cake at a cost of 20 cents for a No. 2 can and selling it for 60 cents per can, Mrs. Frank Holland of South Plains Home Demonstration Club in Roberts county has been able to make some extra dollars. The retail price is considered very reasonable.

Members of the Hutchinson 4-H Club in Llano county averaged 39 bushels of corn per acre last year and one-half bale of cotton per acre to make returns on labor and investment of about $28 per acre for corn, and about $13 per acre for cotton.

Supplying herself and neighbors with fresh vegetables all year, Mrs. E. C. Hindman of Howland Home Demonstration Club in Lamar county was serving her family 26 different varities of vegetables in November. She made and filled a canning budget of 712 quarts for other people. She also organized a negro club whose members she taught to can, putting up 2764 quarts.

FARM WARDROBE DEMONSTRATORS SAVE MONEY

Compiled reports of 479 farm-wife wardrobe demonstrators who kept individual clothing records show that their average expenditure for clothing in 1933 was $25.36, according to a statement made here by Mrs. Dora Barnes, Extension clothing specialist. Data from 138 Class II Wardrobe demonstrators, who kept the records for clothing expenditures for their entire families indicate that the size of the families ranged from 2 to 7 and the 138 families consisted of 507 persons. The average number of persons per family was 3 1-2. The ages were stated for 77 girls and the average age was 14 years. The ages for 65 boys were stated and their average age 13. Only 12 babies under two years of age were listed in these 138 families. The average expenditure per family was $76.17 and the average expenditure per person was $21.73.

As an example of the value of this wardrobe work Mrs. Barnes cited the case of Mrs. Shamberlin of El Paso county who says that her foundation pattern has given her confidence and ability to design and make her own clothes at a 50 per cent saving. Her total expenditure for clothes amounted to $14, but she said, "I had more to wear and better clothes than I could have otherwise afforded." She attributes this to definite planning, keeping records, knowing what she is spending for clothing, and the use of her foundation pattern.

KINGSVILLE WOMEN SELL HOOKED RUGS TO STORES

In Kleberg county home industries demonstrators who make hooked rugs are not without honor in their own country, reports Miss Effie E. McClane, home demonstration agent. Mrs. T. M. Sharp, rug demonstrator of the Ricardo Home Demonstration Club, armed with a Collection of rug patterns and a box of sample colors, called on a Kingsville homemaker and secured an order for a rug for an exact location in that home in colors to carry out the color scheme.

Mrs. M. H. Aiken, rug demonstrator of the Riviera Home Demonstration Club visited another Kingsville woman, saw her home and the special places where a rug and two mats were to be used and secured an order for the articles, part of the materials being furnished.

A local furniture store has placed half a dozen rugs made by these women in stock and has offered to trade merchandise for them at retail prices as well as to sell them for the women, reports Miss McClane.

BONHAM—How A and M methods were used to save cured pork from spoiling is told by W. E. Herriage of Harrison community in Fannin county. "I did not use the A and M method of curing my meat but when warm weather came on I went to the county agent for help. The meat was beginning to sour a little so I removed the bone and smoked it with green hickory, so as to make a live smoke for about 36 hours until it turned a brown color. The smoke dried the meat out and gave it a better flavor. The meat I didn't smoke had to be thrown away. The same was true of my brother's meat which was not smoked," he states.

Robert Lawrence went to Shattuck, Okla., Friday and returned Saturday with Mrs. Lawrence and daughter, Carol, who has been a patient in the hospital there for the past seven weeks. She took a turn for the better on Monday of last week and is still rapidly improving.

Mrs. Clyde Lathem from the Coots ranch in Hansford county, and her mother, Mrs. Ed Knoph, Dalhart, were Perryton shoppers Monday and visited with Mrs. W. H. Lance.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lamb and children came up Saturday evening from Canadian and visited over Sunday in the J. N. Conley home. Peggy Jane Lamb, who has been visiting with her grandparents for several weeks, returned with them.

Mrs. E. R. Jarvis went to Canyon Saturday returning Monday with her daughter, Miss Rosamond, who has a few days at home between terms. She is a student at W. T. S. T. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Calhoun and children were Sunday dinner guests in the H. H. Balzer home.

FARM HOME SURVEY UNDER WAY

HEMPHILL HOME AGENT SUPERVISING WORK IN THAT AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

CANADIAN, TEXAS, January 30—Reports from hte eleven women making the Farm Housing Survey are being received daily at the local office. To date 645 reports or surveys have been made over the field and edited in the office.

The government stipulates that these must be an accurate picture of the farm home. It is pointed out that these surveys will give the farm owners themselves, and the Department of Agriculture at Washington an indication of the most immediate needs in farm homes. Needed improvements would, if financed satisfactorily to the farmer, produce activity in the building and equipment trades, thus benefiting trade and agriculture alike.

In the 300 counties of the U. S. being surveyed, the Plains country is fortunate in being represented. Hemphill was the county selected by the Extension Service. Since 200 farm houses must be surveyed in each county or section, other counties than Hemphill had to be designated. All of this could have been done in Wheeler and Hemphill but the citizens of Canadian desiring to share the benefits which this survey promises with as many Plains counties as possible asked for the work to be done in Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts, Wheeler and Hemphill Counties. This neighborly act is appreciated by most people being surveyed as their ready response to survey questions show. They seem to feel that this is just another step made by the government to hasten farm relief and better farm conditions. This is true. The government wants to determine from this survey the improvements needed and wanted, and to estimate cost in providing these and to develope plans for their provision.

It is a distinct benefit to be one of the 25 counties in the state of Texas and one of the 300 in the United States to be honored by this piece of work and Hemphill gladly shares this with neighbor counties.

Fidac Essay Contest

English Pupils in Perryton High Schools Compete In National Contest by Auxiliary Unit

Acording to Mrs. M. Wood, instructor in English in the Perryton high school, English students will compete in the National Fidac essay contest, conducted by the American Legion Auxiliary. Hundreds of high school students from every state will participate in this contest, and the state winners will be entered in the final judging. The three national winners will each receive a set of "Source Records of the World War", bound in leather.

Winners in the Perryton schools will receive cash awards from the local Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, and their essays will be sent to Austin for judging, relative to national entry. Essays are not to exceed one thousand words, and the subject is "Peace with Security", and is to be used in expression of our desire that we have adequate national defense as peace insurance. Information on this subject can best be obtained from current magazines, and widely circulated magazines have carried articles on the subject during the past year.

"The purpose of Fidac," stated Mrs. O. E. Blank, Fidac chairman of the Perryton American Legion Auxiliary, "Is to maintain and foster that spirit of comradeship which manifested itself on the battlefields of the World War, and to tuse that comradeship to promote peace. Fidac desires that everyone have a thorough knowledge of the life, customs, principals and aspirations of other countries. It is the only way to remove international misunderstandings, because we absolutely know that scraps of paper have not been satisfactory."

Farm Housing Surveys

Surveys Being Conducted in 25 Texas Counties By Civil Works Administration

COLLEGE STATION—The farm survey, which is being conducted in 25 Texas counties as a civil works project of the Federal Government for the purpose of furnishing work for the unemployed and gathering information looking toward better rural homes, is well under way, states Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Extension home improvement specialist at Texas A and M College, and chairman of the state committee.

This survey is being supervised by the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics in cooperation with the agriculture Extension Services of the various states in 10 per cent of the counties in each state. More than 500 unemployed women are working on the project, 404 of them in Texas.

The 25 Texas counties selected are: Hemphill, Randall, Wilbarger, Hale, Stephens, Nolan, Tom Green, Dallas, Cooke, Hill, Bowie, Harrison, Hunt, Anderson, Brazos, Polk, Washington, Galveston, Bee, Hidalgo, Bexar, Frio, Kerr, Travis and Orange.

Miss Opal Robersan, former home demonstration agent in Harris county, is state supervisor and in each of the 25 counties being surved there is a county supervisor who is trained in home economics. Working under her supervision is a staff of 11 unemployed women field workers who will visit every farm home in the county. Each field worker has been provided with a schedule containing about 300 questions which are designated to get a true picture of housing conditions.

An engineer or architect is also employed in each county to personally inspect and make estimates for improvement of 10 per cent of the houses. Those who are ready or able to go ahead with improvements have their schedules marked "A", and it is to these homes the engineer or architect gives special attention. These estimates will probably be compiled into totals to show the potential demand for building materials and labor should a comprehensive plan for financing improvements be developed later.

Up to the present time the field workers have visited about 23,000 homes in the 25 counties. They have almost always been well received in the homes. They have found desires ranging from a patched roof to a whole new house. They have also found that as a whole the housing conditions on our farms are not as good as our people deserve, and as we hope they soon will be, states Miss Roberson.

The survey is a part of President Roosevelt's long time planning program. It is hoped that through the information obtained in this survey it will be possible to develop a public works program where by farm folks may be enabled to make such needed and long neglected improvements on their homes, and at the same time a large number of farm and city people may be employed to make these improvements.

CHICKENS RUNNING AT LARGE DAMAGE YARDS

Perryton has an ordinance against chickens running at large within the city limits, yet within the past few days, several people have called the Herald office to register a complaint that chickens are destroying their shrubs and eating off the tops of perennials and flowers that are now starting to grow. If people who insist on combining the so called comforts of town life with the privileges of the farm, and just must have a flock of chickens in town, then they should be compelled to keep them confined on their own property and not allowed to roam at large destroying shrubs, flowers, lawns and gardens, on which their neighbors have expended much labor and money to produce. The anti-chicken ordinance is a good law and should be enforced. If all people were fair minded, unselfish and had the proper respect for the rights and property of others, there would be no need for an ordinance.

West Has Close Call

Earl West, Perryton Rodeo Performer, Saved by Heroic Action of Clown

Denver, Colo., Jan. 25. — Homer Holcomb, a clown at the National Western stock show here, was Tuesday's hero at the show.

While about 500 spectators looked on in horror, a wild Brahma steer attempted to trample and gore Earl West, Perryton, Texas cowboy, during the rodeo performance at the annual show, and would have succeeded if it hadn't been for Holcomb.

The fun maker, at the risk of his own life, ran out and seized the enraged animal by the tail and distracted its attention from West, who was lying in the arena in the path of the onrushing steer.

West scampered to safety and Holcomb out-ran the charging beast.

A CORRECTION

In last weeks Herald, a mistake was made in an item concerning the meeting of the County Council of Parent Teachers Associations at Waka. In this article, we stated that Mrs. W. B. LaMaster was president of the County Council. We were in error. Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, a former president of the local association and zealous worker in local, district and state P. T. A. circles, is president of the united county associations.

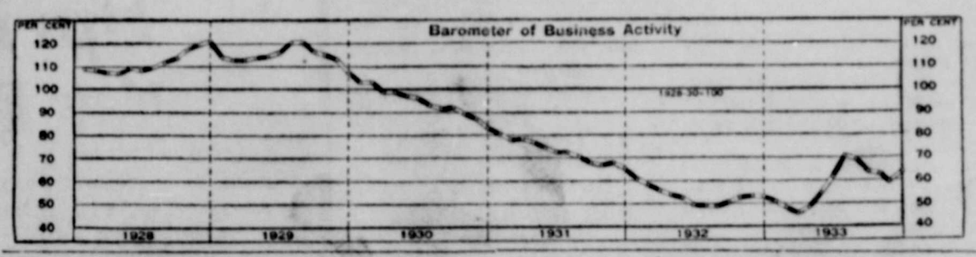

Mrs. P. H. Sebastian entertained friends with a delicious turkey dinner Sunday. The guests were Mrs. Jack Sims, Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Wade and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cheatham and daughter, Barbara Ann, of Higgins and Mrs. Cheatham's mother, Mrs. Mattie Branham, were Sunday guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Talley.

MID-AIR MUSICAL SAVES A FIANCEE

If the girl you loved stood to go broke because your musical show was enjoined from opening her new hotel, what would you do?

That was the problem faced by handsome Gene Raymond in "Flying down to Rio." Showing at the Ellis Sunday and Monday, and he solved it in a way that makes the production the first of its kind in motion picture history, the first aerial musical.

With 5,000 guests assembled at the hotel, Raymond foils the villians by taking his 200 girls aloft in giant planes and staging his spectacles on the wings in full view of gaping multitudes.

Girls dance and sing, adagio dancers hurl damsels from one plane to another, sensuous music fills the air, and ballet dancers trip the light fantastic on nothing at all, as they flutter downward in parachutes!

Dolores del Rio is the girl, Raul Roulien the rival, while others in the all-star cast include Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers.

A little daughter, who has been named Melva Lee, was born Thursday morning, February 1, to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Fleck, Richards, Colo. Mrs. Fleck is staying in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryan.

ALFALFA PLAY PRESENTED TO CAPACITY HOUSE

The play presented by the Literary Society of the Alfalfa community on last Friday night was a big success in every way. The schoolhouse was crowded to capacity with a number unable to get in the building.

This play was written and directed by home people. Roy Linn was the playwright, with Fred Branham and Pood Herndon assisting with the dialogue. It was produced under the direction of Fred Branham.

TABLETS, NOT GRAINS OF "DOPE", NARCOTIC THEFT

Our attention has been called to an error which appeared in a story in last weeks Herald concerning the theft of a quantity of narcotic tablets from the offices of Drs. Brewer & Kengle. We are glad to make a correction. We stated that about 800 grains were found on the person arrested for the theft. It should have been tablets. A few of the tablets contained a grain of codein, but most of them contained one-sixth and one-quarter of morphine, the total being about 327 grains of narcotics.

The members of the committee have little or no work to do in the forenoon, but each afternoon, they are swamped. Farmers should cooperate with them, thus expediting the operation of the program which will bring ready cash to the hog producers of this county.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

A Christian young lady once visited an aged friend of her father, both of whom were very ill. Her father was a pious Christian, while his aged friend had been one of those who run after the world. The father was quite poor while his friend was very rich. When the friend inquired after condition of her father, she told him of her father's patience in suffering and the cheerfulness with which he awaited death. To which the aged, worldly-minded friend answered with a sigh: "Yes, yes, what a difference between us! He is going to his treasure, while I—I am leaving mine."

Divine services, Sunday-school and Bible Class next Sunday beginning at 10:30 o'clock. Choir rehearsal Sunday afternoon at 3. The Sunday-school teachers meet at the parsonage Thursday night. Confirmation instruction Saturday at 2 P. M.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, February 4.

The Golden Text is: Keep yourselves in the love of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ unto eternal life" (Jude 1:21).

Among our citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him" (I John 4: 16).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Not materially but spiritually we know Him as divine Mind, as Life, Truth, and Love . . . The Christian Science God is universal, eternal, divine Love, which changeth not and causeth no evil, desease, nor death" (page 140).

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richardson, Miss Mary Alyce Nies, Miss Virginia Correll, Miss Margaret Prewitt, and Mrs. M. R. Coffee were in Canadian Saturday attending the basketball tournament and visiting with friends.

ON TEXAS FARMS
By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

"I would have had no cash income this winter if I had not followed Extension Service methods in growing my early spring pullets" declares Mrs. J. H. Calhoun of Oakland section, Colorado county. Her 180 pullets were laying at 50 percent rate in November.

With the aid of foundation patterns which are a short cut to good fit and economical dressmaking, Mrs. J. O. Jackson, home demonstration club woman of Swan, Smith county, last year made 17 dresses and undergarments for herself and 12 dresses for other women. She also helped 29 other women make foundation patterns.

One sanitary pit toilet is to be constructed this winter as a demonstration in each 21 Denton county communities having home demonstration clubs.

The cost of insuring a steady milk flow from his dairy cows was $1.02 per ton for 80 tons of seeded ribbon cane buried in a trench silo, Dr. J. G. Daniels, dairy demonstrator at Gilmer, has reported to the county. "My two trench silos are worth more than any other improvement on my farm," he says.

The dabs of rent feed brought in to Webb Farms in Pecos county have been put into trench silos this year and fed to cattle. Formerly these small amount of feed were seldom used.

A profit of $218 from sale of standarized canned products is reported by Mrs. W. E. Miller of Floydada, who is a member of Lake Side Home Demonstration Club in Hale County.

For dressing well a whole year on $17.35, Mrs. O. L. Howard, wardrobe demonstrator of Oak Home Demonstration Club in Ellis county, gives credit to careful planning and the use of a foundation pattern.

Sheep have paid for a nine-room two-story brick house on the farm of O. A. Peterson in Denton county, without interfering, he says, with his other farm activities. Sheep have kept down the weeds on the 528-acre farm, and greatly improved the pastures.

To improve the quality of sheep goats and poultry, and to wage active warfare against predatory animals and thieves which prey upon this class of stock, 47 Brown county farmers and ranchers have organized a sheep, goat and poultry improvement association. A governmental trapper has been hired and rewards will be offered for arrest and conviction of thieves, the county agent reports.

After raising a garden and canning 247 quarts of vegetables, besides helping three neighbors with their canning, Pearl Lee, Hall county 4-H club girl, finds that she has produced $69 worth of food. "But it would have cost lots more than that if we had bought it," she adds.

Mrs. Aldon Bell and son, Dunn, Enid, Okla., are visiting this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Val McLanahan, and with other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Ralph Shearer and daughter, Paula, and Mrs. Carroll Dodd visited Saturday with Miss Hester Buckland in Liberal, Kans.

Warren Good, who is attending college at Canyon, came in Monday to visit a few days between terms at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Good.

LOSE TOURNEY SEMI-FINALS

ALLISON BOYS AND CANADIAN GIRLS WIN INVITATION CAGE MEET AT CANADIAN

Perryton High School's Rangers and Rangerettes went to the semi-finals last Saturday at the Canadian Tournament, losing to teams that later claimed winning places.

The famed Canadian Krazy Kats tall defenders of the district championship defeated the Rangerettes by 25-16 after the local sextette had beaten Stratford and Higgins. The Rangers lost a lop-sided battle to the Stratford Elks 40-6 in the semi-finals after two strenuous wins over White Deer and Mobeetie.

The absence of Copeland and Delano in the Ranger line up was noticeable, and the remainder of the squad, with only one game's experience together before entering the stiffest tournament competition of this part of the Panhandle did well to enter the semi-finals.

The large body of Perryton fans in attendance saw the Rangerettes make a fine showing against the six-footers of Canadian.

Thirty-one of the Panhandle's best teams made competition keen as the Allison boys and Canadian girls copped first place with Stratford boys and Allison girls taking second.

The Rangers and Rangerettes meet Morse on the local floor Wednesday. Morse is trailing in this section, but for that reason is expected to give battle to the harrassed Red and White clad teams.

Next Tuesday will see the locals go against Gruver here after a rest over the week end.

Gruver girls are the only team in this section that has beaten the Rangerettes.

FOR DRAMATIC CLUBBER'S ONLY

After the regular routine of business, reading of the minutes, paying France's war debt, and discussing Will Rogers, the Dramatic's Club decided not to have it's party on the first Friday of February. A play, "Crushing Through", is to be staged that night and the officers of the club confidentially said that they would hate to ruin the firemen's picnic. The date of the party-to-be has not yet been set.

Climaxing the delightful period of entertainment, to which spice was added by the witty philosopher and honorable president of the Dramtic Club, E. M. Raney, was a social made more sociable by the most excellent sandwiches of the girls. The boys brought fruit but a-a-h—those delicious sandwiches. Everyones hunger was appeased with the exception of Willard Witt. (He wasn't there.)

Fidac League Contest

The Fidac League contest, sponsored locally by the American Legion Auxiliary is creating a great deal of interest in the local school. This contest deals with the best theme written on the subject "Peace with Security."

Defeat Morse Cagers

Nameless Independent Team Win Games Series With Morse Town Team

Not finding enough basketball on the big end of a 21-20 score Perryton's independent "Nameless Wonders" made it two against the Morse Town Team at Morse Monday, winning the second tilt by an 83-15 score.

This team which includes Perryton's three coaches, Keith, Kelly, and Byron along with ,two star Rangers recently ruled out of high school competition because of ineligibility, Copeland and Delano, promises to make the local independent cage fight at least interesting as they get going. It should be a good team with three college players and Perryton's two outstanding high school men.

Clifford Keith, Ranger mentor led in scoring with "about fifty points."

Morse returns here Thursday night to give battle to this classy club.

Essay Writing Contest

Interscholastic League Contest Is Changed In Essay Writing Division

The essay writing contest in the University Interscholastic League has been changed this year to allow essay contestants to qualify for next higher meets on up to and including the final state meet, according to Mrs. Eula M. Wood, who has been chosen Director of Essay Writing in the Interscholastic League of this county.

"Subjects for the contest will be furnished as here-to-fore by the State Office. The Topics, according to the Constitution and Rules, are all to be within the range of the study, observation and experience of the average pupil. The contest is in writing, that is, ocmposition, and does not involve any special research into public questions, as is the case in the debate and extemporaneous speech contests.

"In previous years the rules have provided that winning essay in the caunty meet be forwarded to the district meet for judging, and that the winning essay from the district meet be forwarded to the state meet for competition with the winning essays from other districts. This method has been changed, and instead of the essays being forwarded, the winning contestant in the county meet goes in person to the distion meet to complete in this contest with other county winners. The district winners then to the regional meets, and the winners in the regional meets qualify for the state meet, and participate in rebate privileges on the same basis as contestants in other contests scheduled by the League.

"It is believed that this change which gives successful contestants an opportunity to advance from one meet to another will greatly increase interest in essay writing.

New "Knee-Action" Chevrolet Gives Passengers Ride Like a Glide

In the design and development of the new 1934 Chevrolet, particular attention has been given to driver and passenger comfort, all annoying sensations of disagreeable sound and feeling having been eliminated. The upper photo shows the new Chevrolet coach with its long, sleek lines. Wind rush has been eliminated by the Fisher No Draft Ventilators and the new streamlined bodies. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" wheels enjoy the advantage of being completely enclosed in a weathertight housing; the coil springs and shock absorbers ride in a bath of oil. William F. Holler, Chevrolet's general sales manager, is shown at the left holding a chart which shows the internal construction of the system. The radiator of the new car has added beauty through its graceful and sharply pointed design. Smartness has been the theme in every line of this year's Chevrolet.

The driver and passengers in the new 1934 Chevrolet get a ride like the glide of an airplane. One of the main factors in improving the riding qualities of the new car to such a great extent is the "Knee-Action"—or independently sprung front wheels, to use the technical term.

So much has been written about independent springing that the public has doubtless concluded that it is something too technical to understand. As a matter of fact, there is nothing complicated about either the principle involved or the construction of the system. Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" enjoys the advantage of being enclosed in a welded weathertight housing in which the entire spring mechanism and shock absorbers ride up and down in a bath of oil.

An automobile gives a perfect ride when both the front and rear springs have the same "frequency," or tension. Actually this has been impossible to carry out in the past because the front springs had to be over twice as "stiff" as the rear springs in order to hold the front axle, wheels and brakes in place. In independent springing, the wheels and spring mechanism are rigidly attached directly to the frame and there is no front axle. By relieving the front springs of the task of carrying wheels and axle, therefore, it became possible to make the front springs as "soft" as the rear springs. When the new Chevrolet strikes an irregularity in the road, both front and rear move up and down with the same frequency—there is no inclination on the part of the rear end of the car to leap into the air and throw the passengers forward and upward.

Chevrolet's "Knee-Action" has additional advantages all contributing to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. There is a decided improvement in handling, steering, safety at high speeds and tire economy.

In design, the front spring is a neat, compact and efficient unit, as Mr. Holler points out in the above picture. The entire spring mechanism is attached rigidly to the frame. From this enclosed unit the wheels spring vertically at the ends of strong, steel horizontal arms.

Swine Specialist Explains Corn-Hog Farm Program

Increased interest in the 1934 corn-hog contract offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration is reported throughout Texas by county agents, according to E. M. Regenbrecht, Extension swine specialist at Texas A and M College.

"The plan is rather complicated", says Mr. Regenbrecht, "but its provisions are very liberal and offer so many benefits to those who raise either corn or hogs or both that farmers are asking county agents for more details.

"The plan in the case of the well-known John Doe who grew an average of 30 acres of corn and sold an average of 60 hogs per year from six sows during the period December 1st, 1931, to November 30th, 1933, will work out about like this," explains Mr. Regenbrecht. "Mr. Doe will work up his corn and hog production records on forms supplied by the county agent, supporting his claims, especially for hog sales, by sales' receipts and buyers' affidavits wherever possible.

"Suppose Mr. Doe averaged 20 bushels of corn per acre on his 30 acres for two years. He contracts to reduce this acreage in 1934 by 20 per cent, thereby taking out of production 6 acres. The average production of this six acres would be 120 bushels on which he would be paid this winter and next fall a total of 30 cents per bushel, or $36. He might put the six acres into permanent pasture or into soil improvement or erosion prevention crops but he will not be allowed to raise crops there for sale, directly or indirectly.

"Mr. Doe would also contract to reduce his litters farrowed 25 per cent, from 12 litters per year to 9, and restrict his sales of market hogs from these litters to 45 for 1934. On these 45 market hogs he will be paid $5 per head, $2 this winter, $1 next November, and the remaining $2 in February 1935, the expense of administration to come out of the last payment. He would get on his hog contract a total of $225.

"He would also have to agree not to increase his total cultivated acres, nor to increase his pasture in 1934 of any of the basic commodities (wheat, cotton, rice, tobacco), nor the number of his dairy cattle. He would also agree not to increase the acreage of other soil crops on his farm above that of 1932 or 1933, whichever is larger.

"In signing a contract Mr. Doe would join his county corn-hog production control association to be organized soon with the help of the county agent, and thereby take part with other farmers in administering the plan.

"If Mr. Doe happened not to be a corn grower, yet farrowed five or more litters of hogs for 1932-33 he might sign a hog contract and get its benefits by agreeing not to plant corn in 1934. If he happened to be a corn grower who raised no hogs he might sign the corn reduction contract and receive the corn benefits if he agreed to raise no market hogs in 1934."

Children's Diseases

Never Treat Lightly Common Diseases of Childhood; After Effects are Dangerous

Austin, Texas Jan. 1—"It is a great mistake to treat even light cases of measles, chickenpox, mumps, scarlet fever, or any other of the communicable diseases of childhood as though they did not amount to much," said Dr. John W. Brown, State Health officer. "Treatment of that sort makes it possible for these diseases to spread and cause serious outbreaks among children whose impaired resistance makes them easy victims to any form of infection.

"Some of the most serious outbreaks we have had of scarlet fever, as well as of other diseases in different parts of the State, have been traced to mild cases—that is, to cases too light for the doctor to be called. In some instances the children have continued to go to school and to associate and play with other children. In others after they have been kept at home for a few days suffering from what was believed to be just an ordinary cold, they have returned to school and have scattered these germs around among their schoolmates. Eventually a group of cases—sometimes very serious ones—have developed from the carelessly-handled mild case. The result was another epidemic that could have been prevented.

"There are several things worth remembering in connection with childrens' diseases. Nearly all of these diseases begin with a digestive upset or with symptoms closely resembling those of the common cold. Accordingly it is a wise thing for mothers to regard every digestive upset and every common cold with suspicion until you are sure it is not the beginning of something more serious."

Your doctor is the best judge of the seriousness of such symptoms and you will save suffering and anxiety if you put the child to bed, send for your doctor and follow his advice.

MOUNT PLEASANT—Because of a good all the year round garden Mrs. R. E. Huckeba of the Oak Grove Home Demonstration Club in Titus County does not have to can as much as most of her fellow members. At the club meeting on November 21 she reported 11 different vegetables being used from her garden. They were mustard, turnip green, collards, New Zealand spinach lettuce, tomatoes, eggplants, butter beans, carrots and potatoes.

Old timers say that Goliad looks as it did in the "good old days" when shipping day for the local co-operative cattle shipping association comes around. During the heavy movement in October, shipments averagtd 3 to 4 cars every Friday.

UNUSUAL FACTS REVEALED—by "Movie Spotlight"

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

A lesson in heredity was pointed out the other day by George Kemp, Ballinger dairyman in conversation with the county agent. He exhibited two half sister heifers. One wtih her second calf sired by the herd bull was giving 40 pounds of milk daily; the other, by the same mother but sired by a scrub that broke in was giving barely enough milk for her calf.

The best turkey Miss Lila Young has been able to get in New York City this season was Texas canned turkey sent her by her mother, Jackson county. It was put up on shares with Mrs. A. E. Wilson of the Friendship Home Demonstration Club.

Reports received by the county agent in Kaufman county from 71 of the 116 boys enrolled in 4-H club work last year show that a total of $332.10 was made by these boys in return on labor and investment in a variety of better farming demonstrations.

From a garden 100x50 feet, Nellie Maude Bennett, garden demonstrator in the Sandia Girls' 4-H Club in Jim Wells County, produced 2263 pounds of vegetables valued at $54.35. The garden cost $8.50 in cash.

A total of 2433 Dallas county farm women, not members of home demonstration clubs, were given help last year in living at home, making clothing and beautifying their homes through the efforts of the Dallas County Home Demonstration Council.

Money Grows On Trees in These Romantic Lands!

Original "Commodity Dollar" Still Keeps Wolf from South Seas Doors

Photos, Ewing Galloway

Glamorous Tropic Isles carefree natives let the rest of the world roll by while the bountiful coconut palm supplies them with all essentials of their existence.

By Scott Irwin

D' YOU think money grows on trees?" This favorite retort of American husbands will never be effective with wives in the Malay Islands. For them "Yes"! is the obvious comeback.

Known in this little-known South Seas haven for the weary, money does grow on trees. They haven't dollar bills for leaves, but they have something just as good—coconuts. And coconuts are money in the Maldive Isles. Laborers are paid with them and debts are contracted and fulfilled with them. Coconuts are the original "commodity dollar." The thrifty Malay Island matron tries to stretch her coconut money, instead of exchanging for pennies, as we do in spite of the unedible dollar.

Aside from passing as money, coconuts are scores of other "believe-it-or-nots" about coconuts which make them as intriguing and romantic as a hunt for pirate treasure.

South Sea Island natives take it easy—and let the coconut tree do the worrying for them about the essentials of life. It is literally true that if these islanders had nothing but the coconut tree to supply their wants, they could pass their days in contentment.

Most Useful Tree

Requiring little cultivation, the coconut palm would be worth its while if it supplied food alone. But there are 33 other different needs which this tree fulfills. Besides being delicious and nutritious food and drink, the nuts, shells, leaves, trunk, and wood furnish the means of satisfying almost every imaginable primitive want. The coconut palm supplies the native with firewood and building material, cooking and eating utensils; provides his fishing net, woven from coconut fiber; and his canoe; gives him oil for his coconut shell lamp, and jaggery, or coconut sugar, to sweeten his food. Even in America, in addition to the scores of coconut desserts which are familiar standbys, the versatile tree supplies us with coconut fiber doormats bidding us "Welcome", palm leaf fans, salt water soap, stock food, charcoal, and a host of other products.

So important is the coconut in the South Seas, that when missionaries went to Christianize the natives, they found it necessary to change "our daily bread" in the Lord's Prayer to, "our daily coconut", in order to make it understandable to their converts.

Easy Life

Harvest time means nothing to coconut trees—or to the fortunate folks who depend upon them for food, clothing, and shelter. The tree bears ripe coconuts continuously, and has fruit in all stages of development, from blossoms to ripened nuts, simultaneously. Ask any farmer who has hustled 16 hours a day to get his crops harvested in time whether this means anything!

Many of the lazier natives don't even go to the trouble of picking the nuts: They just wait for them to fall to the ground when they ripen; others train monkeys to climb the trees, and bring them breakfast, lunch and supper.

Willowy, graceful, fern-like and romantic, coconut palms are nevertheless huge trees. They grow 70 to 85 feet high, and their roots sometimes attain a depth of 50 feet. A coconut tree begins to bear when it is 5, 6, or 7 years old, and continues for about 70 years. The average production is 40 coconuts a year, although some trees yield as many as 200. Forty coconuts will make about 13 pounds of the coconut we know—the curling, shredded kind that tempts youngsters' fingers when mother is baking.

Bottle Makers

In Malabar a father plants five coconut palms when a son is born—enough to keep the boy in "spending money" until he has to begin planting trees for his own sons! In Ceylon, the natives calculate their wealth in coconut trees. Twenty trees in full bearing are considered ample to support a family man in comfort, providing his wife doesn't try to keep up with the Joneses. They provide a dower for his daughter, a pension for his own old age, and a ready made form of life insurance for his widow.

Ingenious natives have devised a method of emptying the meat from the coconut without breaking the shell. They punch out the "eyes"—the two small soft spots on the end of the nut—and place the coconut in shallow water where a species of tiny shrimp abounds. Hungry shrimps swim through the holes, eat the meat, swim away, and leave a perfect bottle for the local John Barleycorns.

Even more inventive is the robber crab of the Polynesian Islands. He climbs the towering trunk of the palm tree, picks a coconut, hammers the "eye" with his heavy claws until he makes a large enough opening to insert his smaller claw, and extracts the pulp.

Coconuts are one of the oldest foods known to man. They are mentioned in the medical literature of India, in 1400 B.C., and there are references to them in Sanskrit writings laboriously carved in stone 3000 years ago. In those days coconuts were not only prized as a great delicacy, but the oil was used as medicine. And in many parts of the world the coconut still has varied religious significances.

Not only is the coconut an easy crop to harvest, but it is in many cases self-planting. That is why nobody knows certainly where the coconut originated. Growing at the ocean's edge, the trees often drop ripened nuts into the water. The heavy husk is waterproof and very buoyant, so the nuts may float for months, drifting with the wind and currents until they are washed ashore. Action of the waves soon causes the triangular shaped nuts to burrow into the sand. Nothing could be finer for a coconut tree which thrives on sand and salt water, and before you could say "Walter Winchell"—there is another blessed event!

Support Millions

Coconuts were known in America in colonial times; in fact, purchases of them are recorded in the account books of George Washington. But until 1896 they were enjoyed largely by people in seaport communities. Then a Philadelphia flour miller, Franklin Baker, was forced to accept a boat-load of coconuts from Cuba in payment for a shipment of flour. He developed new methods of opening, processing, and packing the nuts so that coconut could be distributed anywhere. Today coconut cake is the second most popular cake in the country, and only apple pie exceeds coconut custard pie in popularity.

Although nobody knows exactly where the coconut originated, it is now scattered throughout the tropics, and today is the world's most important food fruit, supporting millions of natives. More than ten billion coconuts are produced every year—or more than three hundred per second. If they were laid end to end, (which would look very silly) they would encircle the Equator 90 times, or they would make enough coconut pies to keep all the husbands in the world happy until their golden wedding day (which most men would say wasn't silly at all).

"Grinning Face"

The coconut did not get its name in the East, where the fruit was first mentioned in literature. From the 6th to the 16th century it was known as the India nut. Then the face-like appearance of the eyes on the nuts led the Portuguese and Spanish, who encountered them in the East, to use the term "coco" nuts, after their word "coco"—meaning grin, or grinning face.

To the average American, the feathery fronds of a palm tree swaying in the tropical breeze bring thoughts only of movie sets, coconut frostings, or travel catalogues. But for millions and millions of people in far away lands coconuts are a matter of life or death . . . the central feature of their existence, giving point even today to the ancient proverb: "He who plants a coconut tree, plants vessels and clothing, food and drink, a habitation for himself, and a heritage for his children."

igh Points Of Corn-Hog Reduction Contract Outlined By A & M College

major points of the corn and hog adjustment contracts, which is being studied by farmers of Texas who may prepare to take part in the national program of production control to bring farm prices back to an exchange value, have been announced by the Extension service of the A & M. College.

Consideration of the most important phases of the corn-hog contract makes it possible for farmers to gain an understanding of the plan in the least possible time, it is pointed by the Extension Service. The essential features are as follows: The contract signer agrees to reduce the acreage on the farm he operates in 1934 to at least 20 percent less than the average acreage farmed during 1932 and 1933. In case he operate a new farm in 1934 the base of corn crop on previous operated farm is not to be considered. Corn acreage base stays with the land.

2. Acreage can be reduced more than 20 percent, but benefit payments will not be made on an area in excess of 30 percent.

3. Farmer must not increase corn acreage on other land he owns, controls or operates above the average acreage on that land in 1932-1933.

4. Contracting producer shall reduce the number of litters of pigs farrowed on his farm or farms or farrowed by sows owned by him in 1934 to at least 75 percent of the average number of all litters owned by him when farrowed in 1932 and 1933.

5. He agrees not to increase above his 1932-1933 average the number of feeder pigs he buys in 1934.

6. The farmer agrees to reduce the total number of hogs he markets in 1934 to at least 75 percent of the average number marketed from litters owned by him farrowed in 1932 and 1933.

7. Unless given special permission to the contrary, the farmer shall use retired corn land only in one or more of five ways: To plant more permanent pasture; to plant crops such as clover or lespedeza to improve the soil or to prevent soil washing, but not to be harvested; let the land stand fallow; carry on a campaign to eradicate weeds; or plant a farm woodlot.

8. The farmer agrees not to increase his total acreage of feed crops, other than hay, or any crops planted for harvest stipulated as basic crops, or livestock above the productions in either 1932 or 1933, whichever ones are higher. Basic commodities named in the act are cotton, wheat, field corn, tobacco, hogs, raw milk and its products.

9. A producer may hasten the delivery of his payments by signing a "rider" in which he gives advance permission to the county allotment committee to adjust or correct the figures in his contract without recourse by him.

As compensation for the adjustments listed, cooperating farmers shall receive as benefit payments $5 a head on 75 percent of the adjusted annual average number of hogs produced for market from 1932 to 1933 litters, and 30 cents a bushed on the estimated yield of corn that might have been produced on the land retired from production.

DON'T USE LETTER BOXES FOR UNSTAMPED MATTER

Washington, Jan. 6—Postmaster-General Farley has ruled against the use of letter boxes, or even letters lots in doors of homes, as recepticles for such unstamped, mailable matter as statements of accounts, sales bills, advertising circulars, and the like.

Complaints against having letter boxes stuffed with bills and circulars was given as the reason by the postmaster-general. When the three-cent postage rate went into effect many large utility companies and stores utilized their own messengers in delivering bills and statements. The three-cent postage rate recently was reduced to two cents on local letters.

Carriers were instructed by Farley to remove from letter boxes and other receptacles mailable matter on which no postage has been paid and to carry it to the postoffice to be held for postage.

Postal patrons throughout the country, Farley said, have complained to the department that their private letter boxes have been cluttered with all kinds of unmailed matter.

In many instances, he said, letter carriers have found it difficult to deposit mail in the overcrowded letter boxes, resulting in loss of time and considerable hardship.

Miss Besse Crum and Mr. W. J. Miller, a prominent couple of Perryton vicinity, were united in marraige at the Christian parsonage, Saturday evening at 9:30 o'clock. Rev. C. M. Jackson pastor, preformed the ceremony. Miss Beula Crum, sister of the bride was the only attendant.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Crum, has grown to womanhood in our midst and has made a host of friends with her pleasing personality and winning smile. She is a graduate of the Perryton high school, where she was prominent in social and literary entertainments. In 1930 she was chosen as "Miss Perryton" to attend the Beauty Pagent at The Amarillo Tri-State Fair.

The groom came to Perryton about four years ago as bookkeeper for the Panhandle Lumber company and later accepted a position with the Texhoma Natural Gas Co. He received his schooling at Canyon high school and West Texas State Teachers college. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Miller, make their home at Happy, Texas.

At present, Mr. Miller is located at the Booster station, northwest of town, and they will be at home to their many friends there.

"Would it not be well that you consider whether the Director's letter might mislead you as to President Roosevelt's views? He states that the President 'refuses money for sickness or death not due to the war.' Surely the Director is aware that the Presidential Regulations signed March 31, 1933, provide money payments for veterans whose disabilities are not shown to be connected with their service, and also provides pensions for widows whose husbands did not die of service connected disability.

"The accusation that The American Legion is opposing the President of the United States 'in their own selfish interest' is an unjustified attack upon an organization which asks only that you acquaint yourself with the truth before you allow anyone to condemn it.

"Believing that our patriotism cannot be questioned, we Legionnaires submit that our program keeps in mind the best intest of our Government at the same time discharge our Government's obligation to the admittedly service disabled World War victims."

ON TEXAS FARMS
By W. H. Darrow, Extension Service Editor

* * * * * * * * * * * * *

Old timers say that Goliad looks as it did in the "good old days" when shipping day for the local cooperative cattle shipping association comes around. During the heavy movement in October, shipments averagtd 3 to 4 cars every Friday.

When Mrs. Ed Ray of Culberson county says "conservation", she means it. She killed and canned 12 chickens by home demonstration methods, saved the feathers for pillows, used the intestines for wolf bait, and gave the bones back to the flock.

Several Delta county farmers recently testified at a terracing demonstration held by the county agent that terraces had increased production on their lands from one-fourth to one-third.

By canning fruit cake at a cost of 20 cents for a No. 2 can and selling it for 60 cents per can, Mrs. Frank Holland of South Plains Home Demonstration Club in Roberts county has been able to make some extra dollars. The retail price is considered very reasonable.

Members of the Hutchinson 4-H Club in Llano county averaged 39 bushels of corn per acre last year and one-half bale of cotton per acre to make returns on labor and investment of about $28 per acre for corn, and about $13 per acre for cotton.

Supplying herself and neighbors with fresh vegetables all year, Mrs. E. C. Hindman of Howland Home Demonstration Club in Lamar county was serving her family 26 different varities of vegetables in November. She made and filled a canning budget of 712 quarts for other people. She also organized a negro club whose members she taught to can, putting up 2764 quarts.

FARM WARDROBE DEMONSTRATORS SAVE MONEY

Compiled reports of 479 farm-wife wardrobe demonstrators who kept individual clothing records show that their average expenditure for clothing in 1933 was $25.36, according to a statement made here by Mrs. Dora Barnes, Extension clothing specialist. Data from 138 Class II Wardrobe demonstrators, who kept the records for clothing expenditures for their entire families indicate that the size of the families ranged from 2 to 7 and the 138 families consisted of 507 persons. The average number of persons per family was 3 1-2. The ages were stated for 77 girls and the average age was 14 years. The ages for 65 boys were stated and their average age 13. Only 12 babies under two years of age were listed in these 138 families. The average expenditure per family was $76.17 and the average expenditure per person was $21.73.

As an example of the value of this wardrobe work Mrs. Barnes cited the case of Mrs. Shamberlin of El Paso county who says that her foundation pattern has given her confidence and ability to design and make her own clothes at a 50 per cent saving. Her total expenditure for clothes amounted to $14, but she said, "I had more to wear and better clothes than I could have otherwise afforded." She attributes this to definite planning, keeping records, knowing what she is spending for clothing, and the use of her foundation pattern.

KINGSVILLE WOMEN SELL HOOKED RUGS TO STORES

In Kleberg county home industries demonstrators who make hooked rugs are not without honor in their own country, reports Miss Effie E. McClane, home demonstration agent. Mrs. T. M. Sharp, rug demonstrator of the Ricardo Home Demonstration Club, armed with a Collection of rug patterns and a box of sample colors, called on a Kingsville homemaker and secured an order for a rug for an exact location in that home in colors to carry out the color scheme.

Mrs. M. H. Aiken, rug demonstrator of the Riviera Home Demonstration Club visited another Kingsville woman, saw her home and the special places where a rug and two mats were to be used and secured an order for the articles, part of the materials being furnished.

A local furniture store has placed half a dozen rugs made by these women in stock and has offered to trade merchandise for them at retail prices as well as to sell them for the women, reports Miss McClane.

BONHAM—How A and M methods were used to save cured pork from spoiling is told by W. E. Herriage of Harrison community in Fannin county. "I did not use the A and M method of curing my meat but when warm weather came on I went to the county agent for help. The meat was beginning to sour a little so I removed the bone and smoked it with green hickory, so as to make a live smoke for about 36 hours until it turned a brown color. The smoke dried the meat out and gave it a better flavor. The meat I didn't smoke had to be thrown away. The same was true of my brother's meat which was not smoked," he states.

Robert Lawrence went to Shattuck, Okla., Friday and returned Saturday with Mrs. Lawrence and daughter, Carol, who has been a patient in the hospital there for the past seven weeks. She took a turn for the better on Monday of last week and is still rapidly improving.

Mrs. Clyde Lathem from the Coots ranch in Hansford county, and her mother, Mrs. Ed Knoph, Dalhart, were Perryton shoppers Monday and visited with Mrs. W. H. Lance.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Lamb and children came up Saturday evening from Canadian and visited over Sunday in the J. N. Conley home. Peggy Jane Lamb, who has been visiting with her grandparents for several weeks, returned with them.

Mrs. E. R. Jarvis went to Canyon Saturday returning Monday with her daughter, Miss Rosamond, who has a few days at home between terms. She is a student at W. T. S. T. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Calhoun and children were Sunday dinner guests in the H. H. Balzer home.

FARM HOME SURVEY UNDER WAY

HEMPHILL HOME AGENT SUPERVISING WORK IN THAT AND ADJOINING COUNTIES

CANADIAN, TEXAS, January 30—Reports from hte eleven women making the Farm Housing Survey are being received daily at the local office. To date 645 reports or surveys have been made over the field and edited in the office.

The government stipulates that these must be an accurate picture of the farm home. It is pointed out that these surveys will give the farm owners themselves, and the Department of Agriculture at Washington an indication of the most immediate needs in farm homes. Needed improvements would, if financed satisfactorily to the farmer, produce activity in the building and equipment trades; thus benefiting trade and agriculture alike.

In the 300 counties of the U. S. being surveyed, the Plains country is fortunate in being represented. Hemphill was the county selected by the Extension Service. Since 200 farm houses must be surveyed in each county or section, other counties than Hemphill had to be designated. All of this could have been done in Wheeler and Hemphill but the citizens of Canadian desiring to share the benefits which this survey promises with as many Plains counties as possible asked for the work to be done in Lipscomb, Ochiltree, Roberts, Wheeler and Hemphill Counties. This neighborly act is appreciated by most people being surveyed as their ready response to survey questions show. They seem to feel that this is just another step made by the government to hasten farm relief and better farm conditions. This is true. The government wants to determine from this survey the improvements needed and wanted, and to estimate cost in providing these and to develope plans for their provision.

It is a distinct benefit to be one of the 25 counties in the state of Texas and one of the 300 in the United States to be honored by this piece of work and Hemphill gladly shares this with neighbor counties.

Hundreds of high school students from every state will participate in this contest, and the state winners will be entered in the final judging. The three national winners will each receive a set of "Source Records of the World War", bound in leather.

Winners in the Perryton schools will receive cash awards from the local Unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, and their essays will be sent to Austin for judging, relative to national entry. Information on this subject can best be obtained from current magazines, and widely circulated magazines have carried articles on the subject during the past year.

"The purpose of Fidac," stated Mrs. O. E. Blank, Fidac chairman of the Perryton American Legion Auxiliary, "Is to maintain and foster that spirit of comradeship which manifested itself on the battlefields of the World War, and to tuse that comradeship to promote peace. ## Farm Housing Surveys

COLLEGE STATION—The farm survey, which is being conducted in 25 Texas counties as a civil works project of the Federal Government for the purpose of furnishing work for the unemployed and gathering information looking toward better rural homes, is well under way, states Mrs. Bernice Clayton, Extension home improvement specialist at Texas A and M College, and chairman of the state committee.

This survey is being supervised by the U. S. Bureau of Home Economics in cooperation with the agriculture Extension Services of the various states in 10 per cent of the counties in each state. More than 500 unemployed women are working on the project, 404 of them in Texas.

The 25 Texas counties selected are: Hemphill, Randall, Wilbarger, Hale, Stephens, Nolan, Tom Green, Dallas, Cooke, Hill, Bowie, Harrison, Hunt, Anderson, Brazos, Polk, Washington, Galveston, Bee, Hidalgo, Bexar, Frio, Kerr, Travis and Orange.

Miss Opal Robersan, former home demonstration agent in Harris county, is state supervisor and in each of the 25 counties being surved there is a county supervisor who is trained in home economics. Working under her supervision is a staff of 11 unemployed women field workers who will visit every farm home in the county. Each field worker has been provided with a schedule containing about 300 questions which are designated to get a true picture of housing conditions.

An engineer or architect is also employed in each county to personally inspect and make estimates for improvement of 10 per cent of the houses. Those who are ready or able to go ahead with improvements have their schedules marked "A", and it is to these homes the engineer or architect gives special attention. These estimates will probably be compiled into totals to show the potential demand for building materials and labor should a comprehensive plan for financing improvements be developed later.

Up to the present time the field workers have visited about 23,000 homes in the 25 counties. They have almost always been well received in the homes. They have found desires ranging from a patched roof to a whole new house. They have also found that as a whole the housing conditions on our farms are not as good as our people deserve, and as we hope they soon will be, states Miss Roberson.

The survey is a part of President Roosevelt's long time planning program. It is hoped that through the information obtained in this survey it will be possible to develop a public works program where by farm folks may be enabled to make such needed and long neglected improvements on their homes, and at the same time a large number of farm and city people may be employed to make these improvements.
