Two Battles May Decide China's Fate

Crack Jap Army Said Surrounded

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHINA'S military strength for the final drive against Japan may hang in the balance of two complex battles being fought 1,000 miles apart in north Burma and northern China.

Communiques yesterday disclosed Allied armies have encircled and are tightening a cordon around the crack 18th Japanese Army in north Burma, major stumbling block in Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's campaign to reopen a land route to rush badly needed supplies to China's poorly-equipped army.

New Drive On Loyang

In China's Honan province the Japanese launched a new drive against strategic Loyang, now threatened from three sides. For three weeks the invading armies have been steadily driving the Chinese from the province's wheatlands, often described by Chungking as the probable starting point of a major offensive against Japan. The offensive has waited on the receipt of modern war equipment.

Airborne Chindits have blocked Japanese rail, river and road supply lines the full southern length of the Myitkyina-Mogaung sector. Chinese and American troops advanced from the northwest. Allied native troops, pushing down on the area from the north and northeast, inflicted heavy casualties on counterattacking Japanese.

Jungles, hills and mud slow up the tightening of the Allied noose.

Surge Across River

No such obstacles confront the mechanized Japanese armies in the flat areas of Honan. The newest force thrown into the battle there surged across the Yellow river northwest of Loyang. Other invading spearheads have been stalemated east of Loyang and about seven miles to the south. Two other Nipponese columns were clearing Chinese infantrymen out of the area for 75 miles southeast of Loyang. And further to the southeast two more Japanese forces narrowed the uncaptured gap of the Peiping-Hankow railway to about ten miles.

Elsewhere in the war against Nippon, Central Pacific American bombers made their customary strikes against by-passed Marshall islands and Ponape in the eastern Carolines. British troops repulsed Japanese counterattacks and made slight gains in eastern India.

Man Indicted In 'Trunk' Slaying

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—A true bill charging a Latin-American citizen of the United States with the slaying of Mrs. Louise Villegos, was reported voted by the Cook county grand jury today. Her body was found last Friday in Los Angeles, in a trunk that had been shipped from Chicago.

Assistant States Attorney James V. Cunningham said he was preparing papers for the extradition of the man from Crystal City, Tex., where police arrested him on the advice of Chicago police.

Coroner A. L. Brodie announced that Dr. A. Levinson, director of pathology for the coroner's office, would leave at noon Thursday for Los Angeles to take charge of returning Mrs. Villegos' body here, and to begin post mortem tests to determine officially the cause of her death.

Signs Confession

In Crystal City, Deputy Sheriff Garrett Barnes said the man signed a confession that he had killed his wife by hitting her in the back of the head during an argument that followed a trip to a Chicago tavern.

Barnes quoted him as saying he did not know the woman was dead until he atempted to revive her, and that he had put the body in a trunk the next day and shipped it to Los Angeles.

Barnes said he related he called a "man friend," who, with a cab driver, helped him move the trunk to the station. He said he did not tell the man what was in the trunk.

Today Edward Spiro, assistant state's attorney, Police Lt. Philip Breitzke, Arthur McCord, the cab driver who transported the trunk to the railroad and Frank Macias, a 16-year-old eighth grader who told police he helped the man move the trunk, testified before the jury.

Brietzke said the boy had been taken to the juvenile home after he told officers he had helped the man.

Gantz Honored By Churchmen

Local Man Named President Of Body

WACO, May 10 (AP)—Rev. H. G. Gantz, pastor of the First Christian church of Lubbock tonight was elected president of the Texas Christian churches meeting in 58th annual convention.

Other officers named were:

Mrs. Rex Hopper, Austin, vice president; L. S. Dickenson, Tyler, vice-president; the Rev. Joe Babb, pastor, Central Christian church of Galveston, secretary; the Rev. Joe Frederick, Grand Prairie, assistant secretary, and the Rev. Patrick Henry of Fort Worth, treasurer.

Erisman To Speak

Fred Erisman, Gregg county district attorney, is scheduled to address final sessions of the meeting tomorrow. His subject will be: "How the church and prosecuting officers can work together in juvenile delinquency."

Floyd A. Bush of San Antonio is to preside at the morning session.

SEVERAL FROM HERE ATTEND CONVENTION

In addition to Rev. Gantz, First Christian pastor here who was honored by his co-workers, those attending the Waco convention from here included:

Miss Ruth Towne, educational director of the local church; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Jones, Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Childress, Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Kuykendall, Mrs. Mary Hinton, Mrs. N. H. McFarland and Mrs. J. H. Hackfield.

Instructions Given On Salvage Pickup

Here are the final instructions for cooperation in the waste paper and rag pickup in Lubbock today:

In the negro and Mexican sections, materials should be taken to the schools.

In white residential areas south of Fourth street and west of Avenue E, bundles should be taken to the nearest street corner before noon, when Army trucks will start the pickup. Put rags in a sack. Bundle newspapers, magazines and other types of paper separately. Tie all bundles securely to prevent blowing.

Venereal Diseases Quarantine Upheld

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—The court of criminal appeals today reiterated an opinion that a section of state law permitting quarantine against venereal diseases is constitutional.

The decision was given in a case from Jefferson county.

Said the court:

"This right (quarantine) has been upheld and the legislation constructed to meet emergencies of the disease named in the legislation.

"The right of the government to quarantine against contagious and communicable diseases is as vital to human existence as is the law of self-defense."

State law permits local health officers to quarantine persons who have or are "reasonably suspected of having" venereal diseases if in the opinion of the local officer or the state board of health or its executive officer the quarantine is necessary for the protection of public health.

Negroes In Carolina Demand Demo Seats

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 10. (AP)—John H. McCray, chairman of the Progressive (negro) Democratic party allowed the progressive eight delegates to the national Democratic convention at Chicago, South Carolina's convention seats would be challenged.

McCray asked in a leter to Winchester Smith, chairman of the executive committee of the Democratic party, that the state Democratic convention here next week allot eight of the 18 national delegates to the Progressive party.

DEATHS RULED ACCIDENTAL

AUSTIN, May 10 (AP)—Justice Mace Thurman today returned an inquest verdict of accidental death caused by suffocation in the deaths of Dennie Edwards, 7, and his step-brother, Dan Harvison, 9, whose bodies were found in a refrigerator stored in their home garage yesterday.

Soviets Pick Off Several Escape Ships

Nazis Claim Stiff Fighting Going On

By TOM YARBROUGH
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, May 11. — In one of the final chapters of the fall of Sevastopol planes of the Black sea fleet sank two 4,000-ton German transports, a patrol launch and several high-speed landing craft and damaged several other vesses aboard which the Germans and Romanians were trying to flee, the Russians announced last night.

On the land fronts there were no important changes, said the Soviet midnight communique, broadcast from Moscow.

The Germans contended there still was stiff fighting on the Sevastopol beaches on the extreme western tip of the Crimean peninsula. That area is small and flat, in contract with the hills around Sevastopol itself, so that if the German and Romanian remnants have indeed made a stand there it was likely to be of short duration.

Port Being Repaired

The Russians already had begun the gigantic task of repairing the port of Sevastopol even while the smoke of the furious final assault curled over the ruins. Experienced British naval and military men predicted the Russians would have the port in working condition, "in some degree" within a very short time, and that its possession would give the Soviet airmen dominance over the whole Black sea area immediately and soon would make possible increased trade with Turkey and opportunity to supply the Crimea and western Ukraine with lend-lease supplies by water instead of the previous long rail routes.

Capture of the city after a 21-day siege, clearing the Crimea in a 33-day campaign, was described by a Red Star correspondent as a tremendous operation.

Where the Russians would move next was a question, but Lwow, old Polish gateway to eastern Europe, and Galati, which guards the oil fields of Romania, loomed as the next logical major objectives.

600 Germans Killed

A supplement to the Soviet communique said 600 Germans had been killed and 100 captured in the daily "enemy attack" and Soviet "counter-blow" southeast of Stanislawow, in the southeast corner of old Poland.

In the Lwow region, Soviet guerrillas at night wiped out a German village garrison and in the past ten days have derailed six Nazi troop trains and an armored train, killing 200 persons, the communique added.

Avery Declares Issue Undecided

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP)—Board Chairman Sewell Avery came back to his Montgomery Ward and company headquarters today and declared the basic issues in the controversy that led to government seizure of the firm's Chicago properties "still must be determined in the courts."

Twenty hours after federal authorities had relinquished control of the plants and 13 days after he was carried out by soldiers, Avery returned to his office and issued a statement.

He asserted the War Labor board has "thus far been successful in depriving Ward's "of a judicial determination of the legality of board's orders affecting the concern, and because of the government's action in turning back the facilities to the management, "Ward's has once again been denied the right to a decision by the courts." Avery added:

Not Submitted To Courts

"When Ward's refused to surrender its plant and business on April 26, 1944, because it believed the demand to be illegal, the attorney general of the United States did not submit the matter

Texas Students Open Series Of Prayers

WACO, May 10. (AP)—Prayers, originating in a continuous week-long series of services by 25,000 Baptist students on 80 Texas campuses, are being said for men and women from Texas schools now in the armed services, according to an announcement by Robert S. Denny, director of religious activities at Baylor university.

In a chain of four-hour services, which began last night in three Baylor dormitories, prayers will be sent every minute of every day during the remainder of the week, covering such themes as that service men and women be protected from physical injury and that those who wait at home may be faithful to the service men and women and to the causes for which they sacrifice, Denny said.

Prisoners Freed On Guinea Tell Of Atrocities By Japs

By MURLIN SPENCER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Thursday, May 11.—Japanese atrocities, including nailing Chinese to palm trees by driving iron spikes through their foreheads, were made public today simultaneously with the release of a headquarters report that American invaders of Hollandia and Aitape freed 707 prisoners held by the Japs.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique said that 462 of the 707 were Sikhs who are natives of India.

At the same time, the Australian department of information announced that the liberated Sikhs strongly indicated Japanese treatment of them.

Some of the Sikhs were quoted by the department as saying:

"On an 18 days march from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur (in Malaya) we were herded along a road like cattle. At one place we saw a number of Chinese who had been nailed to palm trees with iron spikes driven through their foreheads.

"Fifteen Sikhs who had become ill were put to death at Rabaul (New Britain).

"On a ship which took us to the Admiralty islands, we were herded below decks like cattle—2,000 of us."

"The men were frequently beaten with sticks and rifle butts.

"At Manus (in the Admiralty islands, since captured by MacArthur), we had to dig slit trenches for the Japanese but were left entirely unprotected ourselves."

Witnesses Liberation

I witnessed the liberation of a number of Sikhs at Hollandia as the 24th division moved across the mountains to drive on the Hollandia airfield.

The Sikhs I saw appeared to be in fair physical condition, better than the condition of the American, Australian, German and Dutch missionaries who were liberated later.

(Although Spencer mentioned German missionaries, MacArthur's communique did not specify them.)

A Sikh by the name of Jemadar Shingara Singh told of seeing the Chinese nailed to the palm trees.

"We were told by our guards," he said, "that they had been suspected of helping guerrillas, mostly Australians, who still were fighting determinedly in inland areas (of Malaya).

Meat Always Unclean

"The Japanese tried to make us shave off our beards, and when we did get meat it always was unclean. On the way to Manus island, 35 Sikhs died and were thrown overboard. We were kept under the hatches and were allowed two cups of water a day

Lashing Downpour Floods Many Parts Of City, Some Damage To Crops Reported

Most city streets were turned into little rivers late Wednesday afternoon as Lubbock was doused with more than an inch of rain within approximately an hour.

One and five-sixteenths of an inch was registered on the fire department gauge at No. 1 station, 1.03 at the farm experiment station east of the city and 2.40 on the gauge kept by R. E. Karper, seed breeder who lives two and a half miles north of Lubbock on the Plainview highway.

Many Cars Drowned Out

After a few drizzling preliminaries rain began to fall here in earnest around 5 o'clock, catching many downtown workers on their way home and drowning out their cars at scores of points.

Traffic through both the Avenue H and Broadway underpasses was halted, two to three feet of water roaring through the depressions. Travel through the Avenue H underpass, on the Plainview highway, was resumed at 7:45 o'clock.

Rain was heavier immediately north of Lubbock but grew lighter beginning with the Monroe community, about 12 miles north of the city, where an inch was estimated to have fallen. South and southeast of Lubbock precipitation was light, the heavy rain extending just beyond the Cotton club, five or six miles from downtown Lubbock southeast toward Slaton. That neighboring town reported only a drizzle.

Many Must Replant

County Agent Jason O. Gordon estimated that most farmers where rain was heaviest would have to replant. He stated that planting has just got into full swing, and ventured that in many field newly-turned beds had been washed down. Several farmers, he said, had planned to finish their planting of sorghum grains and cottbn yesterday or today.

Few crops are up, the agent declared, although considerable sudan has peeked through the ground.

"We needed rain but we would have liked for it to have fallen more slowly," Gordon said. "It has its bright side—it was just the thing to help us do a better job of planting. With warmer weather that's likely to come, the crop outlook could be considered bright."

Karper, former superintendent of the experiment station, said he observed fields from Lubbock to his farm and opined that there wasn't "to much washing." Some cotton in the lighter-type soils may have to be replanted, he believed, "I think it was just what we needed," he said.

Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at Texas Technological college, pointed out that where only surface moisture was present, now moisture extends deep into the soil. Pastures, he said, should now be in ideal shape.

U. S. Destroyer Sunk By Nazis

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—The U. S. destroyer Lansdale was sunk by a torpedo in the Mediterranean last month and Lt. Robert M. Morgenthau, 24-year-old son of the secretary of the treasury, was one of the last persons to leave the broken vessel, the Navy disclosed today.

Morgenthau jumped over the side and landed on the tin-hatted head of a fellow officer who, however, was not hurt. Both men survived the ordeal including a lengthy swim in the Mediterranean.

Lands On Helmet

"When most of the boys were off," said this officer, Lt. (jg) James E. Beaver, 23, of Bellingham, Wash., "Lt. Morgenthau yelled down that he was coming down. He jumped over the side right on top of my helmet. Somebody else jumped and landed on my helmet. I took it off then and started to swim away from the ship."

The weather was fair and the sea was calm when the Lansdale was attacked by the enemy torpedo planes, according to accounts of ship's officers released by the Navy simultaneously with a communique.

These accounts spoke of two German torpedo planes participating in the assault and reported that both were shot down by anti-aircraft crews which manned their guns until the decks were awash.

Fourth Term Backers Win In Ohio And West Virginia

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Candidates leaning toward a fourth term for President Roosevelt won handily the Democratic governorship nominations in West Virginia and Ohio in Tuesday's primaries.

The winners were Circuit Judge Clarence W. Meadows of Beckley in the mountain state and Mayor Frank J. Lausche of Cleveland in Ohio. In November they will oppose Mayor D. Boone Dawson of Charleston and Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, respectively.

As the returns were tabulated, Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, drew cheers in Cleveland when he told the steelworkers convention that President Roosevelt must be renominated and reelected. He added the rank and file of the American Federation of Labor and independent railroad brotherhoods are cooperating with his committee.

Hillman said an early victory, a lasting peace and post-war home security depend on the President's reelection. He spoke critically of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

In the West Virginia voting, Judge Meadows, a New Deal supporter, beat 38-year-old Rush D. Holt, former "baby senator" who bitterly opposed Roosevelt policies while in Washington.

Mayor Lausche of Cleveland, while not openly advocating a fourth term, said in his campaign that with the war still on in No-

Man And Bride Found With Throats Slashed

PASADENA, Calif., May 10. (AP)—A 24-year-old Filipino sailor and his 17-year-old bride were found in their home here early today with their throats slashed. The girl died shortly afterward in a hospital and the sailor was believed near death.

They are Elario Balcita, a seaman second class stationed at Treasure Island, in San Francisco bay, and his wife, Imogene. The latter's sister, Mrs. Rosita Flores, told police she entered their room and found Balcita lying on the bed and his wife in an adjoining bath room.

Her husband, Fred Flores, said Balcita pointed wordlessly to an opened window screen. Detectives reported finding a bloody razor under Mrs. Balcita's bed.

Mrs. Flores told the officers the two couples had played cards until a late hour. She said the Balcitas were married three months ago in Lordsburg, N. M.

Great Fleets Of Warplanes Continue Merciless Blows Against 'Fortress Europa'

Allied Heavies From Italy Spearhead Methodical Destruction Of Nazis Areas

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, May 11.—Great fleets of Allied warplanes, totalling more than 3,500 bombers and fighters from bases in both Britain and Italy, plastered Hitler's Europe with some 4,500 tons of bombs yesterday in the 26th consecutive day of the historic aerial offensive, and there were indications that RAF night raiders were following up the daylight attacks.

Shortly before midnight radio stations in the Reich and occupied territory gave warnings of approaching planes and several of the stations left the air afterward.

(A "nuisance" raid on Budapest was announced by the radio in the Hungarian capital in a brief broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications commission.)

Spearheaded From Italy

The daylight assault was spearheaded by American heavy bombers based in Italy with attacks on Wiener Neustadt in old Austria and Knin in Yugoslavia.

American and British medium, light and fighter-bombers from Britain spent the day in methodical blows at rail centers and an air field in France and Belgium.

The continuing onslaught quickly followed overnight and predawn attacks by 750 RAF planes on 10 high-priority targets that included the channel coast and the Paris and Berlin areas. German installations along the French coast received probably their heaviest attack of the war.

The American Liberators and Fortresses based in Britain stayed at home today, the first time in 17 days that a full day has passed without at least one mission for the big "dump trucks."

Hit For Sixth Time

The Italy-based Liberators and Fortresses hit the Messerschmitt factory and nearby airfield at Wiener Neustadt, 27 miles south of Vienna, for the sixth time, returning to pound the buildings that survived the previous raids. They encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire and numerous enemy fighters, several of which were shot down, but no figures were available for losses of either side.

At the same time, a Liberator formation dealt a new blow to Knin, Yugoslav rail junction 40 miles north of Split and 30 miles northeast of Sibenik in an apparent "assist" to the hard-fighting Yugoslav Partisans.

The British air ministry broke a precedent today by announcing officially that 4,000 British and American bombers and fighters of all types made Tuesday's attacks. This was the first time that the total number of planes engaged in

Sellers Upheld On Bond Issue

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—The Supreme court today speedily disposed of a case testing refunding of county bonds under one special and three general laws, upholding the position of Attorney General Grover Sellers that the bonds could not be reissued at lowered interest rates.

Directly involved in the mandamus proceedings were four bond re-issues from Jefferson county, but millions of dollars in county bonds—many held by insurance companies and such public institutions as the schools—were indirectly affected. The test case had attracted wide attention because of its effect on the bond market.

Differs From Cochran Case

The written opinion by Chief Justice James P. Alexander was handed down exactly a week after the case was argued orally before the court. It held that none of the bonds in the four cases were issued under the same chapter of bond law applying in the famous Cochran county case, which therefore did not apply.

"None of the bonds are now due, nor are they by their terms redeemable at this time," the opinion said. "Neither is there any provision in the acts or chapters under which they were issued which, standing alone, makes the bonds redeemable at this time."

Directly involved in the case were two classes of unlimited tax road bonds, Neches river bridge bonds, and country refunding bonds which Jefferson county sought to re-issue at lower interest rates. The attorney general held that these particular bonds, not being due now, are not redeemable at this time. The county sought to compel him by mandamus to approve the bonds, and the Supreme court refused to grant the mandaums.

Two More Die Of Accident Injuries

MARSHALL, Tex., May 10 (AP) Two brothers, William Audrey Allen, and Weldon Allen, died last night and today to bring the toll of three killed in the motor car accident between Bivins and Atlanta, Cass county, Tuesday.

Archie Woodley, 30, of Elysian Fields, was killed instantly when a test bar fell from the car, throwing it off the railroad tracks.

Forrestal Named Navy Secretary

Former Knox Aide Succeeds To Job

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Undersecretary of Navy James V. Forrestal, a Democrat and big Navy advocate, was nominated today by President Roosevelt for the Navy's No. 1 job as secretary to succeed the late Frank Knox.

Forrestal, one-time New York investment banker and neighbor of the President in Dutchess county, N. Y., has been undersecretary for four years and since Knox's death on April 28 has been acting secretary.

His appointment, urged by many Democratic and Republican congressmen, climaxes the Washington career he started in 1940 when he gave up the presidency of a Wall street investment firm to start as a presidential assistant.

One Of Youngest

As the Navy's No. 2 man, he was Knox's right hand man in building the world's biggest Navy, going frequently to capitol hill to testify before committees considering Navy appropriations.

At 52, 18 years Knox' junior, he will be one of the youngest men in the President's cabinet.

Congressmen on both sides applauded the Forrestal appointment and Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate Naval committee predicted speedy confirmation.

The appointment of a Democrat to succeed Knox, the Republican vice-presidential nominee in 1936, breaks the pattern which Roosevelt established in 1940 when he appointed two members of the opposition party to be civilian heads of the armed services. At that time, his appointments of Secretary Knox and War Secretary Stimson was generally interpreted as a move for unity in the war.

Germans Withdraw Farther Into Italy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 10. (AP)—The Germans have retreated across the little Aventino river in a second day of withdrawal on the British Eighth Army front and Allied forces moving up behind them have occupied three villages and are continuing to press the pursuit, Allied headquarters announced today.

The German retreat has ranged from seven to 11 1-2 miles from their line as last announced several weeks ago, although some Allied forces have been fell beyond it more recently.

In their advance behind the withdrawing foe the Eighth Army occupied Palena, Fallascoso and San Angelo and at last report was moving directly toward the important German base on Sumona, which is 11 miles beyond Palena and about 33 miles from the Adriatic coast. Allied troops also seized high ground near the hamlet of Gamberale, two miles northwest of San Angelo on the road to Palena.

Close Fight Indicated As Texas Dems Gird For Battle

(By The Associated Press)

The sounds of battle that rang through county convention halls were being echoed on street corners and in office buildings yesterday as Democratic-ribbed Texas set her sails for a thunderous state party convention in Austin on May 23.

The skirmish was over—and it was a close fight—but some of the speeches for and against President Roosevelt's administration lingered in the minds of those with opposite viewpoints.

Division In Key Counties

From 73 key counties, with a possible majority vote in the state Democratic party convention, came word that 38 had voted to send uninstructed delegations to the Austin parley, 31 instructed delegates to go down the line for renomination of President Roosevelt and only 4, Bowie, Midland, Nacodoches and Limestone counties—passed resolutions definitely against the fourth term.

One county, Colorado, favored a resolution against Texas' participation in the national convention.

Scathing words seethed as the anti-Roosevelt organization moved to get uninstructed delegations in various communities. Dictatorship was charged in some instances and in other counties junior Senator W. Lee O'Daniel was condemned. O'Daniel and Rep. Martin Dies were called "demagogues" in Dies' home district, Jefferson county, where an oil refinery employee from Port Arthur was elected convention chairman.

Butler Defends Action

But yesterday state convention chairman George A. Butler, Houston, defended his action in sending resolutions to county conventions. More than a majority of the 64-member committee were contacted and approved the resolutions, Butler said after Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum of Austin, state committeewoman from the 10th Texas district, had said that they were not submitted to her.

Mrs. McCallum is a fourth term supporter and said she does not favor attempts of the executive committee to operate party conventions in a "dictatorial manner."

Speaker Sam Rayburn was mentioned as a possible candidate for the vice presidency in several resolutions and a speaker at the McLennan county convention called Senator O'Daniel "a political microbe from Kansas."

News Briefs

According to a message received here by friends, funeral services will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock for J. A. Raley, sr., of Bryson, Jack county, at the Bryson Church of Christ. Raley, 88, is the father of J. A. Raley, jr., senior evaluator in charge of Lubbock area office of the Federal Housing administration. Mr. and Mrs. Raley, who reside at 2219 Fourteenth street, left for Bryson early this week after receiving the death message.

Wallace Bogart was fined $1 and court costs Wednesday on a plea of guilty of malicious mischief. He was charged in county court with having broken window, windshield and rear glass in an automobile belonging to A. L. Stovall. Bogart turned about and swore out a complaint in the justice court of Walter Davies charging Stovall with disturbance by entering a private residence at 2611 Twenty-second street and using loud and vociferous language. Stovall had not been arraigned, court records intimated.

County Judge G. V. Pardue Wednesday signed judgments assessing fines of $100 and court costs against each of Louis Woods and Clyde Taylor, who had pleaded guilty of liquor law violation.

Capt. C. L. Edell of Passaic county, N. J., district attorney's department, and J. T. Shackleton of the Clifton, N. J., police department, left here Wednesday by bus in custody of Walter John Wall, who they said was under grand larceny indictment in that county. They told police who had arrested Wall after the suspect had telephoned them several nights ago and allegedly explained he was "wanted." The man was accused of having taken approximately $1,245.

Bomber Pilot Heir To $10,000,000 Estate

NORRISTOWN, Pa., May 10 (U.P.) An estate inventory revealed today that 2nd Lt. William Wikoff Smith, Bryn Mawr, Pa., an Army bomber pilot, was left an estate of almost $10,000,000 by his mother, Mrs. Helen Lanier Smith who died in Florida last Feb. 8.

At the time of Mrs. Smith's death, the value of the estate was given as $250,000 in her will filed for probate.

Beaumont Judge Files As Opponent To Dies

BEAUMONT, May 10. (AP) — Judge J. M. Combs, 54, who recently resigned as justice of the ninth court of civil appeals, today announced his candidacy for Congress opposing Rep. Martin Dies.

In making his announcement, Judge Combs did not refer to his opponent but spoke of charges that certain interests are raising large funds to control the election in this district.

"If there is such a thing," he declared, "I know nothing of it, but if it does exist, there isn't a decent man or woman in this district who wouldn't resent it. In East Texas we've always done our own voting."

(Dies, chairman of the Committee Investigating Un-American Activities, has charged that the CIO political action group is raising a huge fund to defeat him.)

O'DANIEL AND DIES TERMED "DANGEROUS"

BEAUMONT, May 10. (AP)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel and Representative Martin Dies, Texans in Congress, were termed "dangerous" in resolution yesterday by the Jefferson County Democratic convention.

The meeting, in which a Port Arthur labor group seized control, elected W. S. Taylor, member of the CIO-affiliated Oil Workers Union, as chairman.

Jefferson is the home county of Dies, chairman of the House Committee Investigating Un-American activities.

The convention instructed its delegates to the state meeting to support President Roosevelt for a fourth term and criticized the state executive committee for what it termed "dictatorial" methods.

Floor Fight Seen On "G.I. Bill Of Rights"

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP)—The House rules committee paved the way today for a floor fight on the "G. I. Bill of Rights" for war veterans by approving procedure under which amendments may be offered freely when the legislation comes before the chamber, probably on Thursday.

The committee specified that an education bill approved by the House education committee may be offered as an amendment. The veterans' and education committees are at odds on schooling provisions of the measure, already passed by the Senate.

The rules committee also approved for floor consideration probably next week legislation granting monthly payments to needy widows and children of deceased World war 1 veterans.

7-Months-Old Son Of Local Couple Dies

Ralph M. Johnson, 7-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Johnson, 224 Avenue H, died Wednesday morning at the Lubbock General hospital. Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of the father who is in Port Arthur.

Others survivors are four sisters, Leona, Lois, Patsy and Bertha Johnson. Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home is the director in charge.

Allen Gray Found Dead At Goldsmith

ODESSA, May 10. (Special) — A Masonic service will be read Thursday morning in Odessa for Allen Gray, 37-year-old employe more than a decade of a major oil company with interests in the Goldsmith, Ector county, area.

His body was found lying across a bed in his Goldsmith residence Tuesday afternoon. His death was unexpected, although he had taken a brief leave of absence from work recently in efforts to relieve a nervous condition that caused a breakdown. That condition probably caused his heart to quit functioning.

He was the last surviving son of Dep. Sheriff and Mrs. Edgar E. Gray of 1711 Avenue J in Lubbock. Two other sons are buried at Plainview. Allen Gray visited in Lubbock recently with his parents.

He also is survived by a 6-year-old son and two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Johnson of Daisetta, Texas, and Mrs. Ollie E. Lanham of Huntington Park, Calif. Those relatives expect to attend funeral and burial services Saturday morning in Corsicana.

Twenty-three California counties are included in the list of the 100 best agricultural counties in the United States as prepared by the Census Bureau.

Tire Rules Relaxed For Office Seekers

AUSTIN, May 10 (U.P.)—Sec. Chas. E. Simons of the Texas Democratic executive committee said today that under an OPA ruling tires will be available to political candidates to a limited extent.

Explaining the provisions, Simons said: "If a candidate has only an 'A' gasoline book in addition to special campaign rations, the automobile would be eligible for grade three tires.

"If a 'B' or 'C' ration has been properly issued for the candidate's automobile, he may qualify for a grade one or grade three tire at his option."

Have a Coca-Cola=Pukka Gen
(SWELL INFO.)

...or how friends are made in the R. A. F.

Have a "Coke" is a friendly greeting among R. A. F. flyers back at early dawn from a night mission. It's like a salute among comrades in arms that seals the bonds of friendship in Plymouth, England, as in Plymouth, Mass. It's an offer as welcome on an English airfield as it is in your own living room. Around the globe, Coca-Cola is spreading the custom of the pause that refreshes,—has become a happy symbol of good-hearted friendliness in many lands.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

Secret British Emergency Units All Set For D-Day

By WILLIAM SMITH WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 10.—Emergency units are poised and ready to go into action on D-day to evacuate and care for non-combatants on British coastal towns, it was disclosed today as the girding of Allied might made the fourth anniversary of Hitler's victorious lunge against the low countries one of somber fear for Germans.

Details about the units were kept secret, but all have been assigned to their posts at coastal invasion base. Some coastal regions have already been closed to civilians moved out to make room for troops practising for the invasion.

Bombs And Nazi Talk

The airways over Nazi Europe reverberated to Allied bombs and Nazi propaganda broadcasts.

Germans throughout Europe speculated as to the hour and place of the mighty attack, while messages of hope and caution were going out from the exiled governments of the little nations which since dawn four years ago have borne the heavy weight of Nazi occupation.

While the Nazi propagandists talked of "new units" and new weapons and anti-invasion defenses prepared by the German military machine, their principal propaganda medium, DNB, declared "the decisive hour will come and it looks to us as if it will come soon."

The agency also quoted Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, as saying "we indulge in no illusions over the bitterness of the battle we will have to face."

Nazis Stress Defenses

The German broadcasts emphasized the theme that Allied armies would run into defenses such as have never before been seen, and one broadcast told of entire villages in Holland having been flooded, adding: "The flooded areas are strongly fortified with barbed wire defenses and some houses which still show above the water have been turned into nests of resistance."

In London, Netherlands Premier Pieter S. Gerbrandy declared in an address that Hitler was approaching his own doom through an instrument he, himself, prepared. Queen Wilhelmina, in a broadcast, told her people she would institute a "temporary governing body representing the people" just as soon as the country is liberated, to serve until new elections can be held.

Recognition Day Held At School

Seniors and participants in interscholastic league work of Lubbock Senior High school were recognized Wednesday morning in an annual service at the school auditorium from 9 to 10 o'clock.

Floyd Honey, assistant principal, was in charge of the program, an annual event when department co-ordinators recognized their outstanding students.

The best girl and boy citizen of the senior class elected by the class, Jackie Lewis and Jack Grady, were presented with a Lubbock American Legion award. Presentation was made by Dr. Lewis B. Cooper. It was announced that Billy Masters won first place in an essay contest sponsored by the auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and second place went to Martha Jane Thurman.

Jackie Lewis, editor of the school annual, The Westerner, formally dedicated the book to R. T. (Pop) Groves, mathematics instructor.

First Lady Defends Her Caribbean Trip

PITTSBURGH, May 10. (U.P.) — Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, beginning a day-long jaunt through the Pittsburgh district, today defended her recent visits to military bases in the Caribbean area.

At the same time, Mrs. Roosevelt said she had no plans for future overseas trips, but indicated a desire to visit Russia, "if such a trip would be useful." She did not elaborate.

Asked to comment on challenges as to the propriety of the visits, Mrs. Roosevelt said in an interview:

"I think the War department answered the question. The plane that I rode on would have eventually gone to those places. Mail, packages and other articles were also carried in the plane.

"It's just that I was along and they did make a particular route, but the plane would have reached all those places anyway."

Mrs. Roosevelt said "We were treated as any entertainment group," then added, with a laugh, "although I am not entertainment."

Mrs. Roosevelt declined to enter the world-wide guessing game as to when the invasion of Europe will begin, and smilingly said "no comment" regarding another important question — whether the President will be nominated for a fourth term.

Insane Person Must Have Guardian If He Is To Get Pension

AUSTIN, May 10 (U.P.)—If an insane person is otherwise eligible to receive an old age pension, a guardian must be appointed to receive the check, and attorney general's opinion today advised Director John Winters of the public welfare department.

In some instances pensioners have been adjudged insane by courts and their checks have been made to the spouse of the demented person, Winters said.

The state labor commissioner is not empowered to determine if an applicant for a state labor union charter intends to operate a bona fide organization, except upon request of the secretary of state, another opinion said.

Bomber Crashes After Flying For Four Hours With No One Aboard

DENISON, Iowa, May 10. (AP)—A four-engine bomber from the Sioux City, Iowa, Army Air base flew over sections of two states for four hours with no one aboard before crashing on the side of a ravine two miles northwest of here about 2 a. m. today.

The plane crashed more than 100 miles from where the 10 crew members and a bombardier instructor bailed out about 10 o'clock last night when fire broke out on the ship. The fire evidently burned itself out during the trip.

None of the fliers was injured seriously.

I'm bugs on cars.

I'd hardly think I'm a real American if I didn't always hanker after the latest thing in automobiles. Most everyone feels the same—wanting a new car. So even with Peace, is some new car with my number on it coming right off the assembly line? Who knows? I'm well off, though—still riding handsome—because I kept thinking of all the different oils to help a car. And I noticed ad after ad agreeing that your engine always forms acids inside . . . Risky . . . Bad danger of corrosion. But a station man showed me a can of Conoco N*th* motor oil, and it said that a modern synthetic in Conoco N*th* furnishes the working parts with OIL-PLATING—like a special surfacing to resist the acids; not letting them easily eat metal away. So you needn't fret too much for a new car, when a switch to Conoco N*th* oil will safely OIL-PLATE your engine right now. Let the future car improvements try beating that!

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

We like that Texas born captain of an infantry unit, who addressing his soldiers said: "Our job here, among other things, is to humor the natives. If they say Africa is bigger than Texas, agree with them."

AN EXPLANATION

"Upon what meat doth this our mighty Caesar feed?"

And isn't the pen of James Caesar Petrillo mightier than the sword?

For instance:

In yesterday's column the Woman's Angle wondered why Lubbock's music club are overlooking an observance of National Music week, something to which they have looked forward in past years. Today we know.

Plans had been made weeks ago for Lubbock programs that would feature musicians at South Plains and Lubbock Army Air fields. One concert was booked for Senior High school, with Lt. Richard Chamberlain, baritone; Sgt. Atilio Poto, clarinetist and Sgt. William Harrod, violinist, guest artists of the Lubbock Music club; another concert, with members supplementing selections to be given by musicians from SPAAF, was scheduled by Allegro Music club at First Christian church. Both were to have been free and open to the public.

Each concert was cancelled when club members were informed only a few days ago that according to a regulation from the war department, members of Army bands are prohibited from appearing in public as units or as individual performers, except in the churches of their choice or at military functions.

Although the directive is not a new one, it has not been enforced out here where soldier musicians have played in civilian orchestras and generously given of their time and talents at social and civic affairs, filling a void occasioned when many of Lubbock's talented citizens entered the armed services. In no case do we recall that a soldier musician replaced a civilian who was to have appeared on a program.

This is mentioned to show that the case in this section, where there are only a half dozen or so persons who will play instrumental solos or sing in public, is not comparable to other places where professional musicians might be replaced by men or women in the service who would perform free.

That's what lies behind the directive and behind it sits James Caesar Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who has pledged his union members they shall have all the opportunities open to performances before civilian audiences or else—!

This is the reason most of Lubbock's future musical programs will be of civilians, by civilians, for civilians.

COVER GIRL

TO The Ladies! (we wonder?)

She's an angel in truth, a demon in fiction . . .

A woman's the greatest of all contradiction;

She's afraid of a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse;

But she'll tackle a husband as big as a house.

She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse,

She'll split his head open and then be his nurse.

And when he is well and can get out of bed

She'll pick up a teapot and throw at his head.

She's faithful, deceitful, keen sighted and blind;

She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's kind.

She'll lift a man up, she'll cast a man down,

She'll make him her hero, her ruler, her clown.

You fancy she's this but find that she's that;

For she'll play like a kitten and fight like a cat.

In the morning she will, in the evening she won't

And you're always expecting she will but she won't . . .

The world's greatest dramatist—whose inconoclastic plays have raised whirlwinds of debate—George Bernard Shaw says the above description is appropriate for a "Cover Girl."

Hub Cine club members, charged with the responsibility of finding Lubbock's "Cover Girl," disagree with the senile Britisher and offer their own description for "Cover Girl," measurements, we mean facia figures. As pointed out, facial perfection is easy to judge by checking the following measurements: 1) The distance between the eyes should be the width of one eye. 2) The width across the face should be twice the length of the nose. 3) Upper and lower lips should be of equal size and thickness. Finally, the distance from top to bottom of forehead length of nose and nose-tip to chin should match exactly.

Entries for Lubbock's "Cover Girl" contest are being received at Reeves, 1719 Broadway, today and Friday between 1 and 6 p. m.

Girls between 18 and 24 are invited to enter the conest, bringing a picture or entering a friend's picture for registration. Entries also are being received by mail.

FREE! MACARONI
with the purchase of a jar of WILSON'S B-V

A FULL SIZE PACKAGE (Not Over 8 oz.) WITH THE PURCHASE OF EACH JAR OF WILSON'S B-V

This Offer good from May 11 to May 27, 1944, inclusive

YOU PAY NOTHING FOR THE MACARONI. Just buy a jar of Wilson's B-V. Keep the Rector recipes that come with B-V.

Slip the cardboard carton off the jar of B-V—hand it to your dealer—he will give you free, with the compliments of Wilson & Co., one package (not to exceed 8 oz.) of your favorite macaroni from his stock.

Wilson & Co. makes this unprecedented offer so that you will be sure to try George Rector's delicious new economical No-point, nutritious creation.

George Rector, world famous food expert, has created this new delicious, nutritious one-dish meal especially for the women of America. It is his contribution to the Government's No-Point, Low-Point Food Program. It is a filling, delicious combination of macaroni and Wilson's B-V into a substantial, appetizing meal for six.

George Rector
Food and Nutrition Consultant to Wilson & Co.

WHAT IS WILSON'S B-V?
Wilson's B-V is a delicious mingling of rich meat juices blended with selected vegetable flavors.
Puts good meat flavoring into gravies.
A rich base for sauces.
Perfect for glazing steaks, chops, and roasts.
Imparts delightful meaty flavor to casseroles.
Makes hearty soups.
A "pepper-upper" for tomato juice and other vegetable cocktails.
A delicious sustaining drink—hot or cold.
Adds zest to stuffings and so nutritiously rich in Niacin, Riboflavin (B2) and Iron.
Wilson's B-V is the meat food product with a hundred uses.
NO POINTS NEEDED

Here is what Mr. Rector himself says: "Macaroni is such a healthful, energy-giving food and Wilson's B-V has so much of the flavor that internationally known cooks and chefs have used in their famous dishes that I could not resist putting these two splendid products together. The result—one of the most appetizing, economical creations I have ever concocted. I hope you will try it and like it as much as I think you will."

WILSON'S B-V and MACARONI, RECTOR STYLE
Dry macaroni (6 to 8 oz.)
6 cups boiling water
1 tbsp. salt
½ lb. hamburger (or ground leftover meat)
½ tsp. salt
3 tbsp. minced onion
2 tbsp. fat or drippings
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk, scalded
3 tsp. Wilson's B-V
4 tbsp. buttered crumbs
Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water 15 min. or until tender, rinse and drain well. Brown the meat (which has been salted) and onions in the hot fat. Mix macaroni, meat, bread crumbs and beaten eggs. Add hot milk in which Wilson's B-V has been dissolved. Mix well, transfer to well-oiled casserole and bake in a moderate oven, 350° F., for 50 min. or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Serves 6.
CLIP RECIPE ON DOTTED LINES

HOW THE RETAILER IS PAID—1. The retailer must save the entire cardboard carton in which each jar of Wilson's B-V is packed.
2. By June 10, 1944, the retailer must send all of the Wilson's B-V cartons that he has collected in accordance with the terms of this special offer, to Wilson & Co., Chicago, Illinois (or to any Wilson & Co. Plant or Branch), and list the retail ceiling prices of the macaroni given away with Wilson's B-V.
3. Wilson & Co. will pay the retailer in cash the retail ceiling price for macaroni represented by the number of entire Wilson's B-V cartons returned.

Butler Answers Criticism On State Demo Resolutions

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP)—More than a majority of the 64-member Democratic state executive committee approved in advance submission to precinct and county conventions of resolutions favoring an uninstructed Texas delegation to the national convention, State Executive Committee Chairman George A. Butler asserted today.

Butler, in Houston, spoke in answer to a statement from Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum of Austin, state committeewoman from the 10th congressional district, that the proposed resolution had not been submitted to her.

"Dictator" Methods

Mrs. McCallum, a Roosevelt fourth-term supporter, asserted she did not favor attempts of the executive committee to operate party conventions in a "dictatorial manner."

She added she objected to the resolution because it was sent to county chairmen on executive committee stationery as representing an official suggestion from the state committee when the matter had not been approved by the executive committee.

Besides proposing that the party send uninstructed delegates to Chicago, the resolution proposed that Governor Coke R. Stevenson be invited to head the Texas delegation, that the two-thirds rule be restored for nomination of presidential and vice-presidential candidates and that the state convention meeting here May 23 favor plans and proposals recommended by the state committee concerning the right of the party to select its own members.

Butler's Statement

Said Butler:

"Not all, but far more than a majority of the committee members were contacted in advance and approved the resolution. . . .

"I remember personally trying to contact Mrs. McCallum on the matter when I was in Austin recently but she was out of town at the time."

The resolution apparently was adopted in a majority of county conventions which have reported.

At his press conference today Governor Stevenson said the results had not changed his position, announced a month ago, that he did not know whether he could accept an invitation to head the state delegation.

Special School Board Meet Called Tonight

Members of the Board of Trustees of Lubbock Independent School district will have a special meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock, in the district's business office, 1007 Texas avenue, Dr. J. T. Hutchinson, board chairman, said last night.

The meeting was called at request of Dr. W. B. Irvin, on leave as superintendent of local schools as a captain in the Army. In his request for a special meeting Doctor Irvin said he would be passing through Lubbock today, but gave no reason for asking a board session.

Sgt. Ralph Spicer Reported Wounded

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Spicer, 2415 Twenty-first street, received official notification Wednesday morning that their son, S/Sgt. Ralph Spicer, 21, waist gunner aboard a Flying Fortress, was wounded in New Guinea last April 28.

The message supplied no further details nor did it refer to the seriousness of the wounds. Sgt. Spicer enlisted about 18 months ago and has been in New Guinea since Feb. 1. He was reared in Tulia and enlisted soon after his graduation from high school there.

AAA Payments Outlined Here

South Plains farmers are eligible for payments, based on 1943 acreage, at the rate of 75 cents per acre of cropland in the farm, plus $1.50 per acre of commercial orchard, plus $1 per acre of commercial vegetables in 1943 plus 6 cents per acre of pasture land, according to W. Y. Wells, secretary of the Lubbock County Agricultural Conservation association.

This payment can be earned by contour listing cropland at 30 cents per acre, by contour farming row crops at 50 cents per acre, by strip cropping not on contour at 75 cents per acre, by leaving stubble of sorghum at least eight inches high at 35 cents per acre, by turning under green manure crops at $1.50 per acre, or by harvesting sudan grass seed or legume seed at $3.50 per acre.

Production For War

The most important job ever assigned to the Agricultural Adjustment administration is that of production for the war effort, Wells said. The planning phase of the job is about to merge into the "doing" phase. Some of the farm plans made are excellent and, if carried out, will make full use of every available facility for the production of agricultural commodities. It is the desire of every committeeman and of the office personnel to help produce all the food, feed and fiber possible for the war effort.

The AAA program is designed to assist producers in carrying out practices that will help maintain or increase soil fertility. Payments can be earned for carrying out practices that will help maintain or increase soil fertility. It is hoped that each producer will carry out practices that will get the highest possible production and will not seriously deplete the soil, Wells added.

Marine Fighter Group Downs 49 Jap Planes

BOUGAINVILLE—The Flying Deuces, a Marine fighter squadron, recently completed its third tour of duty in the combat zone and headed for home after shooting down 49 Jap planes in 18 weeks of combat in the Solomon islands.

Under the command of Maj. Alfred N. Gordon, Desoto, Kan., the Flying Deuces accounted for 20 Jap planes in their last six-week tour.

Members of the squadron with Japanese planes to their credit include: 1st Lt. Paul L. Pankhurst, Dallas, one; and Capt. Richard L. Bobbs, Rice, Tex., one.

Top Ranking Fighter Pilot In The European Theater Wants To Visit His Home For While

By COLLIE SMALL
United Press War Writer

U. S. FIGHTER BASE, England, May 10—Capt. Robert S. Johnson, 24, top rankinng American fighter pilot in the European theater, wants to go home to Lawton, Okla., for a while.

Johnson finished the second extension of his riginal tour of duty yesterday by shooting down enemy planes No. 26 and No. 27 over Brunswick to pass the World war I record of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker and tie Maj. Richard I. Bong, Poplar, Wis., who has bagged 27 planes in combat in the Southwest Pacific, as America's ace.

Uses Up 5 Fighters

Johnson has used up five Thunderbolt fighters in his career.

Flying a silver Thunderbolt "Sam and Penrod," he passed Rickenbacker's record of 26 by blasting a Messerschmitt 109 near Brunswick. Five minutes later he shot down a Focke-Wulf 190 coming out of a cloud, to tie Bong.

"We were flying northeast of Brunswick looking for enemy fighters," Johnson told me. "I hadn't seen a thing and we had started in for a bomber formation when I turned around for one last look.

His Wing Fell Off

"I saw a bomber going down. I immediately wheeled around and started climbing into the sun to get me a spot. I looked out again and saw a funny colored plane dive under me with two Thunderbolts on his tail. They hadn't caught him yet so I rolled over and went down too. I fired once and missed. Then he started to turn and I turned with him. I fired again but don't know whether I hit him.

"Then he rolled over on his back and I rolled over on mine. We just kept pin-wheeling and I hit him about every half turn. Finally his wing fell off and I figured he had it.

"We were down fairly low by that time and when I looked up I saw about 30 enemy fighters starting down through the bombers.

Four On Wingman's Tail

"My wingman called and said there were two more at about 3,000 feet. I told him to go after them and I would cover him but he went under a cloud chasing them both out and I had to go around the other side. When he came out there were four of them on his tail.

"I radioed him to climb and turn while I chased them away. Three of them left but the fourth was still on the wingman's tail. Then we settled into each other. The wingman broke away and I hit the German with a snap shot head-on.

"I was pretty lucky because I was only trying to chase him away. When I got home another pilot told me he saw the German plane burst into flame when he went through the cloud again and that he burned when he hit the ground.

"My neck has grown two sizes from looking around me but I wouldn't trade what I have seen and done for anything in the world."

"ACE OF ACES"—Capt. Robert Johnson, Lawton, Okla., (above) Thunderbolt pilot tied the American fighter ace record by shooting down his 26th and 27th German planes. Johnson is the European theater's leading fighter pilot who has made all his kills in the air. (NEA TELEPHOTO).

U-BOAT SINKINGS

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP) — Sinkings of German U-boats continued at a "highly satisfactory" rate during April, again outnumbering the losses of Allied merchant ships for the month, a joint Anglo-American communique said today.

Senators Check Browns In Night Tilt Before 19,756

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The American League seemed to have found a way to check the high stepping St. Louis Browns, and put them under the lights at Griffith Stadium where Johnny Niggeling knuckleballed the league leaders into submission, 5 to 1.

The league's first night baseball game for the season drew a crowd of 19,756 to see Niggeling limit the Browns to five-hits and coast in with the victory after gaining the lead in a big sixth inning when the Senators jumped on Potter for four runs and enough lead for the victory.

Stephens and Moore of the Browns divided four of the five hits off the Washington chunker, each getting two.

Texas Favored Squad For Tennis Tourney

AUSTIN, May 10. (AP) — The University of Texas, owner of the Southwest Conference golf title for this year, bids fair to win the tennis championship also.

Court play for the conference championship begins here tomorrow and the small field of entries indicates the singles and doubles titles may be determined by Friday noon.

John Hickman of San Antonio, defending singles champion, generally is favored to repeat for Texas. Felix Kelley of Robstown, rated No. 2 on the Texas squad, may be runnerup to Hickman who will team with Kelley for doubles play as the favored combination.

To date Texas, Rice, Texas A. & M. and Baylor are the only entries with four men each.

Texas has defeated both Rice and A. & M. in pre-tournament competition.

Besides Hickman and Kelley, Jim McCain, Howard Statzman, Walter Hamilton and Joe Gerhardt may draw assignments on Texas' four-man team.

Other entries include:

Baylor—M. D. Oates, Edward Ishii, Ralph Langley and Dewey Railsback.

Mort Cooper Gains Year's Initial Win

ST. LOUIS, May 10. (AP)—Mort Cooper, ace Cardinal pitcher who won over 20 games for the past two years, registered his first victory of the current campaign as St. Louis defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-2, today.

A home run by Danny Litwhiler with George Kurowski on base in the fourth inning spelled defeat for Whitlow Wyatt, making his second start of the season. It was Litwhiler's third homer of the season.

Cooper yielded ten hits, but kept them well scattered except in the sixth inning when the Dodgers bunched three of them for two runs.

The Cardinals made six of their seven hits and scored all their runs off Wyatt in the six innings that he worked. A single by Emil Verban and a double by Stan Musial scored the first St. Louis run in the opening inning. Their last run came in the fifth on Debs Garms' double, Musial's infield out and catcher Ken O'Dea's sacrifice fly.

Pensive To Get Test By Platter

BALTIMORE, May 10. (AP) — Most of the three-year-old stakes are still to be run, but the championship of the division is likely to be decided over Pimlico's ancient racing strip Saturday when Pensive, the Kentucky Derby winner, tangles with Platter in the richest of the 54 runnings of the Preakness.

Five others, four of whom trailed the bearer of Warrent Wright's devils red and blue silks home in the derby, also are expected to accept the issue for the mile and three-sixteenths horse race. But the presence of George D. Widener's Platter gives the turf classic its championship angle.

While Pensive was cake-walking home in the derby last Saturday, Platter was establishing himself as a title contender by running second to the speedy Rodney Stone in a six-furlong dash at New York. It was the 1944 debut for the son of Pilate and he gave away ten pounds to the winner but at the end of the three quarters he was a running horse.

Pensive and Platter finished all square in two clashes as two year olds. The Widener colt was third and Pensive fourth behind Occupy in the Belmont Futurity, while in the champagne, won by by Pukka Gin, the Derby winner wound up third and Platter could do no better than fifth.

That was before Platter established himself as a distance running horse by taking the Pimlico Futurity and the Walden, both mile and one-sixteenth affairs run over the same track where they will battle on Saturday. Those two triumphs, his only ones of the year, boosted Platter's earnings as a juvenile to $50,930. Pensive, with two wins in five starts, won only $5,490 but he was out of the money only once and has not finished below third in eight trips to the post this season.

Northwestern Honors Alumni Flying Ace

EVANSTON, Ill., May 10. (AP)—Lt. Ike Kepford, former Northwestern University football star and Navy ace, tonight will be presented the Award of Merit by the school's alumni association, given for outstanding alumni achievement.

Kepford, who shot down 16 enemy planes and who, last week received the Distinguished Flying Cross, will tell of his experiences in the Southwest Pacific.

Golfers Move Into Odessa For Opening Of Tournament

ODESSA, May 10. (AP) — Seventy-two entries had been listed tonight for the annual Texas PGA Open golf tournament scheduled to get under day tomorrow with the pro-amateur event.

In spite of stiff winds today both pros and amateurs shot good golf with some of the best practice rounds coming from Jimmy Gauntt, champion for the past two years; Irving King of Shreveport, Lefty Stackhouse of Seguin and Raymond Gafford of Fort Worth among the professionals, and with Harry Todd of Dallas and Sgt. J. T. Hammett of Eastland showing up best among the amateurs.

LUBBOCK ENTRIES

A check among golfers of Lubbock Wednesday evening indicated that service men would carry the brunt of the attack from this city in the Texas PGA Open at Odessa today. Four soldier golfers from the two local bases were planning Wednesday night on attending the meet, three of them from Lubbock Army Air Field and one from South Plains Army Air Field. All are amateurs. From LAAF will be Sgt. Robert Stewart of Henderson, Texas, Cpl. T. N. Russell of Lubbock and Pvt. Marvin D. Robinson of Fort Worth. The lone SPAAF golfer is Lt. G. E. Johnson of Chicago.

Early Rounders

Norris Russell, Denton amateur, took a first nine one under part but fell away to three over on the second. Sgt. Lloyd Watkins of Midland was the top shooter of the service men who will have their own open tournament at the same time as the PGA.

For the first time in the 13-year history of the Texas Cup matches, there will be seven places open on the amateur team until after qualifying rounds of the PGA.

Five amateurs have been invited to play and the seven low amateurs in Friday and Saturday rounds will make up the remainder of the team. Inroads of the war into the ranks of golfdom was given as the reason for this situation by L. G. Wilson, official scorer of the association.

Good Field Expected

"In spite of the thinning of amateur and professional ranks by the war," Wilson said today, "we are sure of a good field and of some very close matches this week-end."

Already invited to play are Harry Todd, Dallas, captain; David Goldman, Dallas, National Amateur finalist in 1936; Dick Martin, Dallas, winner of the Odessa Invitation in 1943; Sgt. T. J. Hammett of Eastland, runner-up in the Odessa tournament in 1941 and who has just returned from ten months in the air over Africa and Italy, and Pfc. Jack Munger of Dallas, now at Sheppard Field.

Also invited to play on the team, but unable to be here because of military duties, were Cpl. Earl Stewart and Lt. Jack Tennant.

A field of 150 is expected to tee off Friday in the opening rounds of the PGA open. Thirty-six holes will be played that day and 36 Saturday, with the cup matches, sending the amateurs against the low scoring pros, scheduled for Sunday.

Charlie Parker Due To Enter Texas U.

AUSTIN, May 10. (U.P.)—University of Texas Track Coach Clyde Littlefield today said Charlie Parker, San Antonio dash record holder, has told him he planned to enter the university in July.

Parker, president of his class at Thomas Jefferson High school, will be graduated in a few weeks. He will be 18 years of age in July, and Littlefield said Parker told him he would enter the university and remain there until called into some branch of the armed services.

One of the most sought-after high school track stars in the state, Parker holds records for the 100 and 220-yard dashes. His century mark of 9.5 seconds is within one-tenth of a second of the world's record.

Parker already has conferred with the university registrar, and will return next week for further information about enrolling, Littlefield said. Parker is an "A" student, Littlefield said, and intends to study pre-law.

Dallas Schoolboys Tournament Boosted

DALLAS, May 10. (AP) — Five teams have expressed a desire to enter the sixth annual Texas High School baseball tournament tentatively set for May 25, 26 and 27, P. C. Cobb, director, announced today.

St. Thomas of Houston, Sulphur Springs, Nocona, Hondo and New Braunfels have indicated they will enter and Beaumont is expected to send a team here.

Dallas city and county teams will make up the remainder of the field and the size of the tournament will be governed by the number of outside entries.

Border Schools Meet In El Paso

Morley Jennings, director of athletics at Texas Tech, and W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Tech athletic council, will leave here Friday morning for El Paso where they will attend the meeting Friday night and Saturday of the Border Conference.

Intent upon keeping the Border Conference alive during the war, representatives of the nine member schools have called the conference to devote the discussion to problems of present-day collective athletics.

It was expected that the possibility of resumption of football by some of the member schools would be one of the topics of discussion. Only two, Texas Tech and New Mexico University, fielded teams last year, but West Texas State Teachers have announced intention of returning to football this season.

The members of the conference are Texas School of Mines, Arizona State, Tempe; Arizona State, Flagstaff; Hardin-Simmons, Arizona, New Mexico U., New Mexico A. and M., West Texas State Teachers, and Texas Tech.

Yale Announces Grid Schedule For Season

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 9. (U.P.) — Yale University, the only school in the Big Three which definitely plans to field a football team this fall, has listed a seven game schedule and two open dates for 1944.

Harvard has given up intercollegiate football for the duration and it was understood that Princeton also would abandon the grid sport.

The schedule, announced yesterday by Athletic Director Ogden Miller, calls for all games to be played in Yale Bowl.

The schedule: Sept. 30, Coast Guard Academy; Oct. 7, Cornell; 14, Columbia; 21, University of Rochester; 28, open; Nov. 4, Dartmouth; 11, Brown; 18, Virginia; 25, open.

Phils Give League Lessons In Fielding

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. (AP)—When the Phillies played errorless ball against the Chicago Cubs today, it was the 13th time they had done so in 16 games so far this year, including a tie with the Boston Braves that does not show in the won and lost records.

The Phillies also ran off their 19th double play of the season.

Punkin Ball Hurler Pitches No-Hitter

Continued ball-o'-fire hurling by Lt. Donald K. Rains of South Plains Army Air Field gave the Administrative Officer pitcher his second successive no hit, no run softball game in a win over Section F, (former 356th), 8 to 1, in the post softball league.

Lieutenant Rains pitched a perfect ball game against Section A (former 1099th) in a 12-0 win with the league less than a week old.

The lone score tallied by the Section F softballers in Lieutenant Rains' latest triumph came as the result of an error.

The loss to the Administrative Officer team set Section F down with their first loss against two previous wins. Two other teams are undefeated, the Section B (former 64th) team and the Section A (former 370th) team, each with one win and no losses.

Cotton Price Said Illegal; Clothing Rationing Feared

WASHINGTON, May 10. (U.P.)—Robert C. Jackson of the National Cotton council asserted today that the Office of Price administration is holding down cotton prices illegally and predicted that, unless the situation is remedied, clothing rationing may be forced on the country.

Testifying before the House Banking committee on legislation to renew the price control act, Jackson said there was no incentive for cotton farmers to produce as long as parity prices are not guaranteed to growers.

Well Under Parity

He said farm prices for cotton as of March 15 were 1.2 cents a pound below parity. OPA refuses to let the price go to parity, he added, on the grounds that it "would result in an increase in textile prices of from $30,000,000 to $60,000,000 on an annual basis," and would tend to be inflationary.

"If giving the farmer parity price for his cotton is inflationary, we plead guilty to OPA's charge."

Another witness, Joe G. Montague of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers association, told the committee yesterday that the administration had substituted fascism for democracy in price control. He deplored the "policy whereby the executive department has developed agencies with more power than those created by Congress."

Authority Transferred

He referred to the authority given by Congress to the secretary of agriculture to stabilize prices, "but transferred to the war food administrator by executive order."

"That's pure fascism," he said. "That is substituting the will of one man for acts of Congress."

Rep. Wright Patman (D-Texas) said Congress gave President Roosevelt power to stabilize prices and wages "through any such (government) agency, department or officer as he shall direct."

K Of P Confers Rank Of Esquire On Ten

The rank of esquire was conferred upon seven candidates from Tahoka and three from Lubbock by Lubbock lodge 486, Knights of Pythias, Tuesday night, it was reported by Chancellor Commander E. H. Bergman.

The lodge is at 1107½ Avenue K.

Visitors and candidates from Tahoka were listed as Jiggs Swann, Jasper Campbell, J. N. Covey, Alfred Krause, W. F. Klos, C. C. Coleman, Hub Young, G. C. Coleman, Hugo Walker and L. A. Coleman.

H. T. Wiley, A. P. Spence and T. E. Francis were the candidates from Lubbock.

Bergman said a bingo party and "hot dog" supper would be given next Wednesday night at the lodge hall for members, their families and friends.

Highway Delegation Leaves Here Today

A delegation headed by Charles R. Bacon was to leave this morning at 10 o'clock for Big Spring where they will represent Lubbock at the Texas section meeting of the U. S. Highway 87 associational meeting at the Settles hotel.

Bacon is general vice president o. the association and immediate past president of the chamber of commerce.

Announced purposes of the meeting are to name two state directors of the association and to plan a Texas delegation to the general convention in the Brown Palace hotel, Denver, May 30 and 3.. The association was organized last September to promote the advantages of highway 87, which extends from Great Falls, Mont., at the Canadian border to Laredo, as the U. S. connecting link in the Pan-American highway.

Ruling Is Given On Resident Of Jersey Treetop Dweller

MONTCLAIR, N. J., May 10. (AP)—Coffing M. Arslanian's voting address will not be his treetop bungalow deep in the woods of West Orange, nor his rug shop in Montclair, but will officially be the Montclair YMCA where Essex County Elections Superintendent Anthony P. Miele has ruled the well-to-do rug dealer is a life member, receives his mail and takes his daily bath.

Miele ruled yesterday that Arslanian, who has lived in comfortable quarters 50 feet up a tree for several years, will be registered from the YMCA in time to vote at the November general election.

Because of a question of his legal "domicile," the rug dealer did not vote in yesterday's town commission election in Montclair and apparently will be unable to vote in next Tuesday's state primary.

Services at 3 o'clock this afternoon for Mrs. May A. Williams, 79, who died early Wednesday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. L. Cheek, route 5, Levelland, will be held in the chapel of Bryan McDonald Funeral home.

She is survived by her husband, S. W. Williams, Kermit; four sons, John Baker Williams, Dallas, Samuel W. Williams, jr., Stuttgart, Ark., Perry W. Williams, Kermit, Arthur M. Williams, San Angelo; three daughters, besides Mrs. Cheek, Mrs. Robert Caulkin, La Jolla, Calif., Mrs. J. H. Davis, Ft. Smith, Ark, Mrs. S. Rush, Borger; 18 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted by Rev. J. T. Howell, Lubbock Methodist minister, who will be assisted by Dr. Norvel Young, Broadway Church of Christ minister.

Burial will be in the Lubbock cemetery.

Blakeslee Speaks At Luncheon Of Rotary

Rev. William Blakesley, pastor of St. Elizabeth's church, was the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Lubbock Rotary club Wednesday noon in the Hilton hotel, speaking on "Mothers Day."

"Now, more than ever before, the minds of men everywhere are on mother," he said. "We owe a great deal to mother for the sacrifices she has made to bring us into the world and for the protection she has given us down the trail of life."

In speaking of a mother's love, Rev. Blakeslee said no love on the face of the earth today is comparable to the love of a God-fearing mother for her child. "We would be a lot happier if we would bring her a little more of heaven."

The speaker was introduced by Ray Farmer, program chairman.

Club president, W. W. Rix, who has been ill for the past several weeks, presided at the luncheon.

New Appellation For Anti-Fourth Termers Given: "Bullfrogs"

WACO, May 10. (U.P.)—The McClennan county delegation to the state Democratic convention will carry with it a new appellation for anti-fourth-termers among the party.

The expression was coined by E. C. Street at yesterday's convention when he said that those Democrats opposed to the President running again were "Bullfrogs."

Said Street in explanation:

"Those anti-Roosevelt fellows are like bullfrogs because they make so much noise but they are so few in number."

The county delegation with 28 votes was instructed for Roosevelt.

To Our Friends and Customers

An adequate supply of reliable electric power is necessary to the growth and prosperity of every city and community. One of the first questions asked by industrial managers, seeking new locations, relates to the power supply. In the post-war period, the type of electric service available will become increasingly important, since the location of processing plants will depend largely upon the availability of adequate and reliable electric power.

Our facilities in Lubbock are connected to and are a part of an electric system consisting of generating plants furnishing power to a network of transmission lines. These facilities are operated as a unit and constitute a pool from which power from the combined resources of the system is available to every city and community in the territory served by this Company.

This arrangement makes ample quantities of electric power available to each city and community and, because of economies in operating costs, makes possible industrial electric rates which will attract additional businesses.

The Southwestern Public Service Company operates an integrated power system. Its power resources are available to the people of Lubbock and to all industrial users, large or small, now located here or which may be attracted here in the future through the efforts of all of us who are interested in the progress and development of Lubbock.

In 1942, the Company emerged from the administration of the Public Utility Holding Company Act with flying colors. It now does not have any holding company over it whatsoever. Its securities are widely held by thousands of people without dominating investment control centered anywhere. Its management is in position to cooperate in all matters for the betterment and development of Lubbock and the surrounding territory. Our program is to be helpful and aggressively active in the development of Lubbock in future years.

WE pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands: One Nation, indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all.

A Letter And Its Answer

AS regular readers of Lubbock Morning Avalanche well know, we have a special department in which we normally present letters written to the Editor by readers.

But every once-in-awhile, we receive from a reader a letter which is worthy of a different treatment. Such a letter recently was received from Cotton James, a railroad man, who resides in Clovis.

Clearly, simply, but challengingly, Mr. James wrote as follows:

Editor, The Avalanche: For many years now (at least 10) I have been reading the Lubbock Morning Avalanche. Truthfully, it is a very complete paper: in fact, I think that it is much more so than the paper known as the "Pride Of Amarillo".

I am a trainman for the Santa Fe, and the copy that reaches me each day stays with the train, and all the boys like it. Especially the editorial page.

Now, that I have given you the roses: here comes the thorns. From reading your paper, we have noticed that you are just a little against labor. Of course, you have not said so, but we just read between the lines. We have read many things against labor, but very few things for labor. I am speaking of organized labor. Is it possible that you do not know any part of organized labor that is good, or do you know and just won't tell?

I'm not after a plug, but as a reader, I would just like to know.

A Satisfied Reader,
Cotton James, 320 West 9th St.,
Clovis, N. Mex.

Mr. James' letter certainly calls for an answer—for an answer as clear, as simple and fully as honest as his own letter is. Therefore, we publicly reply, as follows:

DEAR Mr. James: Thank you very much for your letter. We thank you not only for your kind words, but also for suggesting that we should once again make a definite statement regarding a very important public question, which touches the lives of us all. Thoughtful, sincere letters such as yours are always welcomed by us. We wish we could have more of them, because we believe they would help us do a better job.

Believe me, Mr. James, we are not—as you feel you have reason to think—"against organized labor." We believe, fully, that the "laborer is worthy of his hire," whether he be an unskilled workman, a skilled artisan, an employe of a retail store, a professional man, a scientist, a technician, a teacher, or even a preacher of the Gospel.

We believe collective bargaining, as a part and parcel of American life, is here to stay. We believe it should be here to stay. We believe the citizen who does not realize the facts in these regards—or who realizes them, but will not admit them—is short-sighted.

We believe in the American right of free enterprise and we believe in it wholly. We cannot believe in it wholly if we believe that only the employer has the right to exercise it. The employe, too, must have the same privilege.

We believe in the encouragement of the highest standards of living for all Americans, whether they be a part of organized labor, unorganized labor, or of the employer, or executive, bracket in our national life. We always have contended—we always shall contend—for opportunity for all men to improve their station in life, whatever it may be. Organization, whether it be of lawyers, or trainmen, often furthers such a goal.

We believe, inherently, in the fairness and the decency of the rank and file of our fellow citizens, whether or not they be employers, or organized craftsmen, or unorganized workers. We likewise realize that in all groups can always be found the selfish, the greedy, the indecent few who, sad to say, frequently jockey themselves into position as spokesmen for all in their various groups.

MR. JAMES, we would be blind were we unable to see that in the "Roaring 1920's" the pendulum swung too far on the side of the few and to the detriment of the many. We would be dishonest, too, if we did not admit that truth.

But we also should be blind if we were unable to see that in recent years the pendulum has swung too far on the side of organized labor and to the detriment of business and the general public. We should be without the nation's good at heart if we did not say so.

We believe in the right of labor—organized, or unorganized—to seek improvement in pay, in working schedules and in working conditions. But we do not believe in the right of labor—or any other segment of our national population, including employers—to attempt to improve its position at the expense of the majority of the people. In other words, we do not believe a member of organized labor has any more coming to him, simply because he belongs to an organization, than does the average, unorganized citizen of our land.

We believe, too, that a man's right to a job should be based solely and entirely upon his ability and the results of his efforts, not upon whether or not he belongs to a union. While it is true that union artisans, as a whole, are more experienced in their work than the average unorganized artisan, it also is true that a union card, or the lack of it, has in itself nothing to do with a workman's degree of proficiency, or the product of his labors. Thus, as we believe in the individual's right to belong to a union if he so chooses, we also believe in the individual's right to decline to belong and not be barred from his right to earn a living simply because he exercises an American right of free choice.

IN summary, Mr. James, we do not believe in wartime strikes, especially since government machinery has been set up, at the behest of organized labor, to care for employer-employe disputes in an orderly fashion; and we think the war worker who strikes should be as summarily punished as the soldier who deserts his post. We do not believe in featherbedding at any time, and especially not when a manpower shortage plagues war production. We believe labor organizations should be policed by the government exactly as business is policed; that those labor groups which are under the domination of small coteries of czars should be taken from under that domination, so that the will of the majority may be exercised freely and without risk of strong-arm punishment. Certainly, we believe all organizations—whether composed of labor, or other minorities—should be prevented from becoming machinery for the furtherance in this country of the nasty "isms" of Europe.

I believe, Mr. James, that these beliefs thus set out for you are not mine, alone. I believe they are shared, by and large, by the majority of our fellow-Americans. I believe, too, Mr. James, that if the majority in labor do not force a cleaning of their own house that a reactionary post-war government will clean it for them—and that is something no thinking man, whether in or out of labor, wants, because that would be the opening wedge for fascist dictatorship over us all.

Very cordially yours,
The Editor.

Take Away The Lady

THURS MAY 11—TAKE AWAY

THE STORY: Captain Azaraski, commandant of Niji prison in Yokohama: Captain Baldwin of the RAF, presumably interned but actually a Japanese agent; and Tilda Courtright, American missionary, are planning a coup of some sort. Their plot involves Lt. Link Belt and Norma Greer, interned Americans. Link is suspicious when he is take on an automobile ride with Azaraski and Courtright.

SURPRISE

XIII

LINK grinned. He left better.

"How is Miss Greer this morning?" he asked, and didn't care if he did sound as if he was asking about all the gold in Fort Knox.

"Norma?" said Courtright. "Didn't you know Norma is not in the same prison with me?"

"I didn't know that!" Link exclaimed.

He thought about it for a minute, and then he became quite disturbed about it.

They got moving. Azaraski drove. He dismissed the army driver who was already there, and got behind the wheel himself. Last night they'd had a chauffeur.

The convoy, the Jap non-com and four soldiers in the army car, followed.

"We've got to do something," Link growled. "We can't have Norma in a different jail."

"Oh, she's all right," Courtright said.

"I want her moved!" Link yelled. "You'd like to have her with you, wouldn't you, Courtright?"

Courtright looked at him delightedly. "Link, are you in love?"

"Oh, Lord!" Link said.

"Link, you're yelling like a man in love."

"Nonsense. I improve my voice that way," Link said.

But he was really angry and worried about Norma.

Courtright squeezed his hand. "Rage gives most men an unlovely animal look. Link, did you know you're a pleasant guy when you're angry?"

Link subsided. Something in her tone had suddenly surprised him. Courtright, it occurred to him, might not want to talk about Norma being in a different jail, because it distressed her.

"I like you, Courtright," Link said.

"Stop worrying about her, Link."

"Do you suppose I can?"

* * *

COURTRIGHT smiled. "Let me give you a conducted tour of Yokohama. That is Yamashita-Cho, the business district of Yokohama. This particular street is the Honcho-Dori, one of the two main shopping streets. It runs into, of all things, a street named Main Street. Care for more of this?"

"Sure," said Link. "I'd like it."

"The movie theaters are all on the Isezaki-Cho. I don't believe we are going that direction. Northwest is the Nogeyama quarter, the favorite residential district of rich Japanese. We were out there last night, at Azaraski's house. Southeast is the hilly foreign residence district, the Yamate-Cho, or the Bluff, as it is called."

"The thing that gets me," Link said, indicating their surroundings, "is how much like Joplin or St. Joseph, Mo., these buildings look."

"You should have seen it before the 1923 earthquake," Courtright said. "When they rebuilt after the quake, they used modern materials and methods."

"And Yankee dough," Link said sourly.

"Well, Yankee architects, anyway."

"Were you here that far back, before the quake?" Link asked curiously.

"I came near being here before Admiral Perry came,' said Courtright.

"You've been in Japan a long time, then?"

"Yes."

"It hasn't rubbed off on you much," Link said.

* * *

FOR some reason, this touched her, he realized. Touched her intensely. She stared for a while at a distant nothing; then she turned and gave his hand a squeeze.

"Link, shut up, darn you," she said.

"Sorry. Did the wrong thing come out of my big mouth?"

Tilda Courtright shook her head. But her eyes were damp.

"Link, you're just talking to an old schoolmam from Iowa, who has been in Japan a long time. A very, very, very long time, Link. A lot of years, and all of them devoted to civilizing and educating these damned Japanese. It's had its effect on me, Link, so that sometimes I don't know my own mind. I'm like an old lady who has had a child by each of two husbands, and now she has to love one child only. She knows which child, of course. America. But she's sorry for the other one. Do you know what I mean, Link?"

"I think I know," Link said.

"I guess you do too," Courtright said quietly. "But it was sweet of you to say it hadn't rubbed off on me. I love you for that. If you said it again, I would probably cry. And when a battle-ax like me bawls, it's hell. So shut up, will you?"

Link was silent. He knew now why he had moved her so much with what he had said. And he was quiet. He knew that she wanted him to be silent.

And then, unexpectedly, Azaraski brought the car to a halt at the curb. They were in front of a large gloomy building. The convoy car pulled up behind them.

Captain Azaraski turned around, grinned at Link.

"Surprise, surprise!" he said.

Link had about six quick thoughts, all wrong. Then he got the right one. He wondered what kept him from tearing the door off the car getting out.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

JOE E. LEWIS, who for my money is one of the country's best comedians, has a routine in which he analyses a once very popular song in which there is a line: "A kiss is just a kiss."

"What else could a kiss be but a kiss?" he asks.

I am surprised at you, Joe Lewis.

A kiss is so many more things than just a kiss.

Of course, if you go by Mr. Webster's dictionary, a kiss is simply "to touch or press with the lips."

But even he, that prosaic old master of naked facts, has another definition for it:

"A sweetmeat made of beaten egg whites and sugar, baked lightly."

But that isn't a kiss, Mr. Lewis.

A kiss is bliss, it can be seventh heaven.

A kiss, particularly with your eyes closed, can make your dreams come true, can take you into Shangri-La on wings of romance, can make you forget all your earthly cares.

Did you read that story which came in from overseas a few days ago?

When Mustang fighter pilots took off to escort bombers to southern Germany, Ada Wattenmaker, a pretty Red Cross Clubmobile girl from Charleroi, Pa., was on the field to wave good-bye to the boys.

"A kiss for every pilot who shoots down a German today," she shouted.

When the Mustangs returned, 23 pilots lined up at Ada's clubmobile claiming their reward.

Only one asked for coffee and doughnuts.

To that one a kiss was just a kiss.

But to the others that kiss was an incentive to Victory.

AS they were high up in the air gunning for Nazis, they thought of Ada, they thought of youth and love and home.

That promised kiss helped them to forget the dangers of the mission, that kiss was something to fight for, to risk their lives.

A kiss is just a kiss? I wouldn't want to live in a kissless world.

Just this morning, when I left my home, my wife was fast asleep.

I gently kissed her on the mouth. She moved but slightly without awakening.

Yet, I think that in her sleep that kiss may have been the beginning of a lovely dream, perhaps not of me, but why should I begrudge her her dreams.

And for me it started the day right—there lies my own, I said to myself; that's what I am working for! You see, Mr. Lewis?

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

A PRACTICAL experiment in setting up World War II veterans in the retail business will soon be inaugurated in Richmond, Virginia, under the auspices of the Committee on Economic Development, headed by Paul Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation. The results may have a deep effect on all plans for rehabilitating returning troops now and later.

The scheme will be based on several of the most important but least publicized sections of "GI" Bill 1767, which has passed the Senate and should be okayed by the House this week. These provide that an ex-fighter may borrow $1,000 from the government (1) to build or improve a home (2) to purchase a small business (3) to buy a farm.

If he wishes to go into farming, he must first satisfy Department of Agriculture experts that he has the qualifications for such a venture, and that he has shown reasonable care in selecting a site and the kind of products he will raise.

If he wants to open a grocery, a notions, or hardware store or similar establishment, he must first obtain the approval and assistance of the Department of Commerce. He pays no interest for the first year and only 3 per cent thereafter.

Another provision of this act permits the ex-serviceman to spend a year at some school that will train him for his proposed undertaking. At government expense he may enter a financial, scientific, administrative or agricultural institution.

Federal educators urged these ideas in the belief that thousands will want to become their own bosses in the peacetime era. After doing squads right at another's command for so long, they may crave economic independence. In other words, "How yah gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen Paree?"

VETERANS: The chief obstacle to finding retail openings for the newcomers is that this field is becoming increasingly crowded and restricted through changes wrought by war conditions. The mortality among small businesses has been heavy, and is expected to grow even more serious.

Chain stores are consolidating to save money and reduce their need for labor. Self-service places have become popular. Mail-order houses have drawn blueprints for construction of park-and-shop centers at which they will sell everything from tractors to toothpaste. That will mean further encroachment on the little fellows.

The Richmond experiment is designed to solve this problem.

Prominent businessmen in the Old Dominion capital have agreed to form a resettlement committee. They will study market conditions in an attempt to ascertain whether a certain area can sustain another grocery, hardware, paint-and-varnish or notions shop, or even a small manufacturing plant. Their decision will determine Washington's action on applications from veterans.

SCHEME: The prospect, as its sponsors concede, has possibilities for good and evil.

There may be many communities where another independent merchant can make a living and also give real service. But it is an axiom that no distributor ever admits that he could not handle more trade. So the established dealers may regard the vets as "interlopers" and resent their intrusion.

Uncle Sam may also face heavy losses from this well-intentioned scheme, as he has on numerous projects of the same nature. But the general desire to extend a hand to demobilized soldiers and sailors has brought a favorable response from those who know of the undertaking.

ANGERS: High Army officers are disturbed over Attorney General Biddle's insistence on the use of troops in the seizure of Montgomery Ward's establishment. But the answer to the puzzling question of their willingness to send out the soldiers is that the order for forcible action came from a far higher official than the Philadelphia lawyer.

Chief of Staff George Marshall cussed mildly when the military was commandeered to supervise operation of the railroads last winter. He has an abiding prejudice against utilization of his men for that kind of work.

He believes that it lowers the appeal and value of the uniform in the eyes of the public. But the transportation lines were so essential to prosecution of the war that he muffled his complaints, never expecting that the fighters would be called out to take over a mail-order house.

Secretary Henry Stimson cannot comment, but he made his opinion known in a recent address. He expressed great fear that the folks at home might come to regard the Army and Navy as a "separate task force distinct from the body politic." What he meant was that we are assuming the attitude of "Let Washington win the war, while we 'eat, drink and be merry'!"

The Montgomery Ward affair tends obviously, to create ill feeling between the military and the civilian elements. More specifically, it has aggravated the feud between Stimson's organization and members of Congress. Their mailbags bulge with condemnation of the episode, and they may vent their anger on the innocent Secretary of War.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

THOSE who have seen in current newsreels captured Nazi films portraying the unsuccessful Dieppe raid may ask with misgiving, "How can Eisenhower hope to do better against such strong defenses?"

Military experts, as an assurance to parents that the invasion is no mad gamble, paint this picture:

For more than two years the best staff brains in America and Britain have been perfecting their plans. We now have overwhelming armor and manpower and a preponderence in reserves. We have more experience and better tools than we had in the days of the Commando forays or when we landed in Italy.

SURPRISES: So long as the range of single-seater fighters was limited, the Nazi generals knew that if we wanted air cover we would have to stab along an arc not more than 80 miles from the south of England. They arranged their fortifications accordingly.

But, to their astonishment, the Anglo-Americans have sent these planes into the distance heart of the Reich.

We have stretched the "invasion coast" a censored number of miles beyond its early boundaries. And we can mobilize sufficient aircraft carriers to stage amphibious surprises almost anywhere from Norway to Spain and from southern France to Turkey.

SWIM: It has been a maxim of war that no seaborne inroad can succeed unless ports are in the possession of the attackers. Banking on this principle, the Axis barricaded the harbors to the nth degree, believing that so long as we were stopped at the wharves we could not debark anything stronger than a raiding party.

It is still true that no full-scale invasion can be maintained over a long period unless there are opportunities for big freighters to deposit their cargoes on docks from which railroad cars and trucks distribute supplies to the Army. But Allied inventive skill has cut this problem in half.

A division of 12,000 men requires 2,000 vehicles to move its equipment which, because of the tide, must be put ashore in around three hours. But we have constructed shallow-draft barges that carry fully loaded trucks. The moment the prows strike sand the heavy cars move toward the units at the front to which their supplies are consigned.

Our amphibious tanks — "ducks"—are even greater timesavers. After they have discharged their men, they sail out into the bay to anchored Liberty ships. There they operate as lighters, taking on freight. Then they head for shore, crawl up the beach and proceed to the battle lines without interruption, shooting as they go. Later they swim out to the freighters again.

"Crackdown" Is Urged For Diseased Meat Purveyors

By GORDON K. SHEARER
United Press Correspondent

AUSTIN, May 10.—When the legislature goes into session next January, members will receive a recommendation that a law be enacted making it a felony to sell meat from diseased animals for human consumption.

At its most recent investigation in Houston, members of a House of Representatives committee secured some testimony which members say will be embodied in their report to the next legislature. Pictures of diseased cattle received in Houston from Fort Worth will be included in the report, according to the same sources.

Presently under the law, penalty for selling diseased meat is a $25 to $200 fine. The heavy wartime demand for meat, together with the high price of cattle, makes it profitable for a dealer in diseased meats to pay the fine and continue selling.

Much Filth Found

The statute should be replaced by one making such sales a felony with a fine of about $1,000 or a penitentiary sentence, or both, some legislators believe. The fine must be sufficiently high to force sale of diseased animals solely for tankage purposes.

Legislators also think that the law should have strict provisions as to sanitation in slaughter houses and in meat packing and preparation plants. Conditions found in some of the larger cities have caused committeemen to recoil from the plants because of the filth.

Rep. Ben Sharpe of Paris said the major plants exercise every sanitation measure possible, but some of the small plants—by no means all of them—are indescribably filthy. Some of the places have mushroomed since the war's beginning.

FEDERAL inspectors are on hand at many of the meat plants and cities also have their checkers, but it is impossible to tell whether an animal was diseased after the meat had been quartered and cut. Too, there are so many plants that constant checking of them is difficult.

Most meat from cancerized and lumpy-jawed cattle that is offered for public use is disguised in prepared meats such as for sandwiches and hamburgers. Of course, all prepared meats are not from diseased stock, but it offers a fertile field for disguise and to hoodwink the public, Sharpe explaine.

During the Houston session, a shipment of 60 cattle arrived for butchering. Inspectors determined that but 10 of the 60 were fit for meat for human consumption, Sharpe said.

"Crackdown" Is Suggested

The attorney general's department has ruled that injunctions may be obtained against sellers of meat from diseased animals. Sharpe said this was impractical because of the large number of people involved and the procedure necessary for enforcement of injunctions.

He thought that the committee had collected a representative amount of evidence sufficient to justify and cause the legislature to pass a law with "some teeth in it."

"Some of the fellows who are selling meat from diseased cattle don't mind a little $25 fine," Sharpe said. "But if you were to slap them in the face with a $1,000 fine or a prison sentence, then the practice would stop. It won't take but one or two of such instances to make the whole bunch throughout the state take to cover."

FORMER Rep. Mat Davis of Gilmer, who is a candidate for lieutenant governor, had a unique distinction when he was graduated from high school.

As a youth he had worked his way through a 10-grade rural school. During years as a tenant farmer, Davis spent his spare time studying law, later serving two terms as justice of the peace.

About that time, requirements for eligibility to take the state bar examinations were changed, making an affiliated high school diploma a prerequisite.

So though he was a grown man and father of three children, Davis returned to high school. He received his diploma at Gilmer in 1936. He then secured his law license in 1940.

One "On The Governor"

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson to his pretty four-year-old granddaughter Linda Fay, is "Papa."

Recently while in Austin from Junction she and her sister, Scottie Gayle, 10, paid the governor a visit in his capitol office. Coming out into the reception room, the girls, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Coke Stevenson, jr., noticed Judge J. B. Randolph, a ranch neighbor.

They came over and shook hands with him. As he hugged Linda Fay to his chair, she told him she had been to her "Papa."

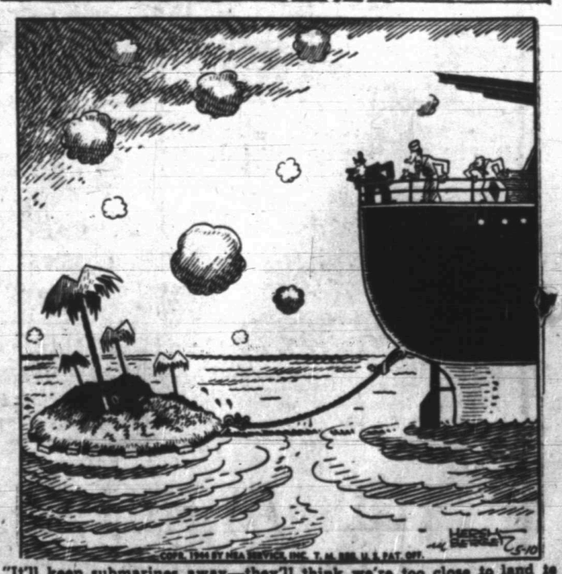

"He sure is a busy man, isn't he?" Judge Randolph asked.

"Why, no, he never is busy," Linda Fay replied, not understanding why those watching her laughed because they knew the governor's affection always caused him to stop whatever he was doing to talk to her.

Living at the Mansion now is Governor Stevenson's mother. For a long time she remained at Junction "keeping house" for the governor's unmarried brother, but recently she has been staying at the governor's mansion. She has been there for two months—the longest stay since her son became governor.

The Army quartermaster corps operates 219 laundries in all parts of the world, including 57 with dry cleaning plants.

Don't delay your chick buying any longer. When you purchase HICK'S DEPENDABLE CHICKS you get chicks that are hatched right, packed right—DEPENDABLE CHICKS. Even thought you should have to pay a little more in additional cost to get my dependable chicks they will return to you many times over in extra eggs, extra profits. The small additional first cost and long run show you a greater profit, where the inferior low grade chicks lose money for you.

STANDARD FACTS

SEA POWER...

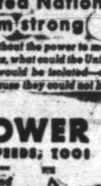

Unites the United Nations: makes them strong

Look at your world map. Without the power to move freely over the face of the seas, what could the United Nations accomplish? They would be isolated—and destroyed one by one—because they could not help one another.

SEA POWER

STRENGTHENS FEEDS; TOO!

Consider feeds for poultry and livestock. Grains alone, without the help of quality vitamins, minerals and food minerals, are not "strong," meaning simply that rations of grain alone will not produce the maximum amounts of meat, milk and eggs per pound of feed. You waste time and money when you feed "weak" feeds. The sea is our richest potential source of the very proteins, vitamins and food minerals needed to balance up the grain and mill feeds produced on land, to help them give best feeding results.

STANTON'S FEEDS CONTAIN MANAMAR

The ManAmar contained in Stanton's Feeds is produced by Philip R. Park, Inc., San Pedro, Calif. This research organization specializes in "sea farming" . . . gathering, concentrating and blending always-healthy ocean fish (and their by-products) and "Sea Alfalfa" or Kelp. The fish are rich in proteins and also in health- and- growth-promoting vitamins. Kelp supplies food minerals which may be lacking in land feeds.

Try Stanton's feeds, enriched with ManAmar, and increase your production schedule and profit. Get all the facts, today.

To All Cattlemen Who Wish To Improve Their Cow Herds

Old Prince Domino number 499611 bred by Gudgell and Simpson of Independence, Mo., according to all records and according to the Hereford register of merit of the History and Handbook of Hereford cattle and Hereford Bull index was in his lifetime and is up to this good hour the most outstanding Bull that ever lived in the United States. According to History he has nearly twice as many merits as any bull of the Hereford breed. The next outstanding merited Bull is his son.

Old Prince Domino died in 1930. You can't buy anymore of his sons and very few of his grandsons, but I have 3 of his grandsons now heading my cow herd. I have always bred as close up to Old Prince Domino as I could, since he became famous I have a cow herd as strong in Prince Domino breeding as could be found and because of the present high prices of feed and the scarcity of experienced help I have decided to sell fifty one-year-old and 25 two-year-old Registered Hereford Bulls not fat, but in good Range and breeding condition, and take off on the price to the buyer the expense of making these Bulls hog fat or putting them in show shape. These bulls are good enough to head any registered Hereford herd and will build up most any registered herd, but I will sell them at range bull prices. I have been in the registered Hereford business for over 30 years. I started with as good cattle as could be bought and have made them better ever since.

I live in Post and my ranch is 10 miles West of Post. These bulls are in my feed lot on the ranch and I will be glad to show you these good bulls any time you call me.

Yours very truly,

BRYAN WILLIAMS

Solon Serves Notice He May Bolt Party

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — In a bristling attack on "pressure groups," Senator Bailey (D-NC) served notice in the Senate today he will bolt the Democratic party if it adopts an anti-poll tax plank in its 1944 platform.

Joining Senator Connally (D-Tex) in opposition to a House-approved bill outlawing the tax as a qualification for voting for federal officers, Bailey declared:

"I hear that this whole program is to be followed by an effort at the Republican convention in June and the Democratic convention in July to have each political party join in this assault on the constitution.

"I make no threats, but I will simply say that when Sidney Hillman and the Communist crew, in the name of the CIO, come in the doors or the windows of the party in which my father and I lived and served, I will go out."

GRAND PAPPY AGAIN

DALLAS, May 10 (AP) — A son was born to Mrs. Jack D. Wrather, jr., daughter of U. S. Senator and Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel Tuesday, the junior senator from Texas announced. The 10 pound 6 ounce boy has been named Jack Devereaux Wrather, III. The boy is the Wrathers' second child, Molly, jr., being 2 years old.

Smashing Aerial Blows Continue

a single day's activities has been announced.

A great night and morning load of 2,500 tons of bombs was deposted on Europe by RAF planes from Britain alone. The attack on German installations directly across the channel in France caused explosions both before and after midnight so heavy that they broke windows in Britain.

Seven separate aerial task forces hit the French coast, apparently concentrating on the six-inch to 15-inch guns the Germans have set up there, in such fury that even the blast-hardened residents of Dover were impressed.

Others raided the aircraft foundry and stamping plant at Gennevilliers, a Paris suburb, and the ball-bearing factory at Annecy, France, while mosquitos attacked Berlin. From all those operations, seven aircraft failed to return.

Start At Dawn

As dawn broke across the channel, American Marauders, lightweight Havocs, Thunderbolt fighter-bombers and British Mitchells, Bostons and Spitfires roared out in disciplined waves, dropping more than 450 tons of bombs on the railway yards at Criel, 25 miles northeast of Paris, the Tournai yards in Belgium, 15 miles east of Lille, the Mons yard 30 miles southwest of Brussels, the Poix airfield near Amiens, France, a railway bridge at Mantes-Gassicourt and a railway yard and power plant at Valenciennes.

In continuing attacks during the afternoon, Marauders bombed a railway bridge near Rouen, railway yards at Doual and Yourcoing, and unidentified military objectives in the Pas de Calais area, while Mustang fighter-bombers attacked another bridge and yards in northern France, and Thunderbolt fighter-bombers with Thunderbolt and Mustang fighter escorts aimed at other airfields and rail facilities in France and Belgium.

Invasion Coast Pounded

Fighter and dive-bombers of the British Second Tactical Air force flew many sorties against invasion-coast batteries, railroads, bridges and ammunition dumps and bagged three German fighters.

Two bombers failed to return from these operations. Good hits were reported on every target.

The German radio spent the day broadcasting air alarms, some of them false. The Ankara radio said Bucharest, Romania, was bombed this morning, but other sources gave no confirmation.

The scope and destructive effect of the continuous air offensive was passing almost beyond conception as one day's attack succeeded another.

16,000 Sorties

Some measure of its size might be seen, however, in the fact that approximately 16,000 individual sorties have been flown from all Allied bases since Sunday and more than 23,500 tons of bombs have been dropped. Communiques show that this period of operations cost 146 planes, most of them heavy bombers, while the Germans lost at least 158 aircraft.

For the second straight day the Ninth U. S. Air force sent a fleet of 800 Mustangs, Thunderbolts and Lightnings against the continent. They crossed the channel in 18 separate waves and dive-bombed railyards in France and Belgium and airfields in northern France. After dropping their bombs they strafed targets in both countries. Two of the planes did not return.

The afternoon mission by Marauders was their eighth in four days and was executed without loss.

Hike In Public Debt Approved By House

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—Legislation boosting the public debt ceiling from $210,000,000,000 to $240,000,000,000 was passed by the House today without a dissenting voice. It would clear the way for the $16,000,000,000 Fifth War Loan drive in June.

The legislation now goes to the Senate.

to the courts. Ward's was deprived of its property by force and bayonets.

"When public opinion forced the attorney general to turn to the courts he sought and obtained an extraordinary order in the night without notice to Ward's and in a hearing from which the public was barred."

Decision Delayed

Avery said the attorney general delayed a decision on the firm's motion to dissolve a temporary court order, restraining company executives from interfering with federal operation, until the plants were returned. He continued:

"After the surrender, nothing remained for the court to decide and the case was dismissed. By imposing the order of the WLB upon Ward's by force, while depriving Ward's of an opportunity for a decision by the courts, the agent of the government had demonstrated a lack of respect for our constitution and the fundamental rights which the constitution guarantees.

"The fundamental issues must still be determined in the courts."

There was no immediate comment on Avery's new statement from government officials.

Heavy Downpour Floods Streets

field to Lubbock, it was reported. One and one-half feet of water poured across the Plainview highway in three places within four miles north of Lubbock.

Water spouts on the USO building, at 1211 Thirteenth street, were unable to deliver the sudden load of water from the roof and much of it poured through the ceiling on furnishings. Firemen helped relieve the situation by artificial drainage methods.

Police officers were busy scattering wading youngsters from deep water at Twenty-second street and Avenue X and Twenty-fourth street and Avenue Q, where they were in danger of being sucked into open sewer intakes.

Motorists said water came up through the floorboards of their cars at Ellwood street and College avenue. Nineteenth street was reported filled "curb to curb" along most of its length. Avenue Q carried a heavy load, especially in the 1700-block. Two long lines of cars were stalled in the Avenue S and Broadway vicinity, where in places water crawled up to car doors. Cars sputtered and died at Main street and Texas avenue.

Many Streets Under Water

Tenth street east of Avenue Q was full and motorists by-passed that street for about 30 minutes. Fourth and Sixth streets were water-logged and water was running-board deep at Ninth street and Avenue Q.

Water poured over the curb in 1000-block Avenue G, threatening business houses. Storm sewers in the Lubbock hotel vicinity were taxed to handle the water which accumulated along Broadway.

Fall Varies Over Area

Rain was scattered over the South Plains, with probably the heaviest downpours at Levelland and Whiteface, where approximately an inch fell at each place.

The Whiteface rain was described as "almost a cloudburst," rendering highways impassable at times.

Towns reporting little or no rain were Post, Dickens, Spur, Lamesa and Tahoka.

Where rains were heaviest replanting may be necessary, it was believed. Farmers over South Plains had just begun putting in their sorghum grains and cotton. Most areas reported needing moisture.

Here are rain estimates:

Post—light mist, Muleshoe—¼ inch, Levelland—one inch, Whiteface—one inch, Dickens—slight mist, Morton—¼ inch, Brownfield—¾ inch, Hale Center—½ inch, Littlefield—.14 inch, Floydada—.02 inch, Lamesa—light shower, Tahoka—sprinkle, Petersburg—¾ inch, Lockney—¾ inch.

German Ore Cargo From Sweden Sunk

STOCKHOLM, May 10. (AP)—The 10,000-ton German ship Odin, carrying a full cargo of Swedish iron ore to Germany, was sunk outside Narvik harbor in Norway tonight, a report from Kiruna, Sweden, said.

The freighter, relatively new, apparently struck a mine and sank within a few minutes, according to the report.

Sixty or seventy Germans and the Norwegian pilot were said to have been lost.

Lubbock Women In WAC Now Total 81

Lubbock women serving in the Women's Army Corps total 81, according to Lt. Helen Wade, officer in charge of the Army recruiting station in the postoffice building here. These women are filling some of the 239 different jobs in the Army of the United States.

Lt. Wade made this statement while discussing plans for the celebration of WAC Week, which begins Thursday. Celebration of the second anniversary of the WAC will be quiet here. A special film will be shown at the Lindsey theater Sunday through Wednesday and the first woman to join the WAC during the campaign, and her family, will be honored by the theater. Mayor O. W. Ribble has issued a proclamation, proclaiming WAC Week in Lubbock.

Scattered Throughout World

The 81 Lubbock WACs, all well known before they entered service are scattered throughout the world, many serving overseas. Others are actually serving right here in Lubbock. This plan for recruits to join the WAC and yet be stationed near and in their home cities is proving very popular with local women enlisting now, Lt. Wade said.

Those from Lubbock who are now serving with the Women's Army Corps are:

Estelle P. Turnipseed, Atha J. McKinney, Maudie Pollard, Betty J. Simon, Aldine Swepston, Clarice L. Lackey, Sarah E. Rutherford, Aileen F. Hill, Jim Ada E. Shepard, Rowena E. Madden, Laurina H. News Briefs

An article by Dr. Archie J. Bahm, associate professor of philosophy and sociology at Texas Texas Technological college, entitled "Teleological Arguments" has been published in the May issue of Scientific Monthly. The article surveys arguments for the view that the world has a purpose.

Firemen put out a fire at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night in 800-block Main street.

Police said Larry Templeton, 8, suffered cuts over and under one eye in a traffic accident at 3:10 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Twenty-third street and Avenue T. They said drivers were Esther E. Carithers, 26, of 1634-A Tenth street, and Mrs. H. S. Templeton, 40, of 2405 Avenue T. The cars were lightly damaged, police stated. A City bus, driven by H. G. Akard, and a car driven by Clyde Ragland, of 1111 Fifteenth street, were involved in another Wednesday mishap at Fifteenth street and Avenue J. Police said the right side and a fender of the car was damaged and a headlight on the bus was knocked off.

Theft of a government allotment check to the wife of a soldier stationed here was reported to police Wednesday. Police said the check was made out to the wife of Sgt. Clifford A. Peery, of 2314 Main street. The check was believed taken from a mail box.

English Profess They Saw Vision Of Jesus Christ

IPSWICH, England, May 10 (UP) — More than 500 witnesses who professed to have seen a vision of Christ on the Cross in the skies over Ipswich during a recent air raid alert crowded the church of St. Nicholas last night to hear their vicar, Rev. Harold Green, express complete confidence in the authenticity of the vision.

"I have satisfied myself beyond every doubt of the authenticity of the vision of Jesus Christ on the Cross which was seen in the sky by hundreds of people," Green told the congregation. "I regard the sign as a definite good omen, and if only a dozen people had seen it instead of hundreds I should still say it was God's call to this our nation."

The vision was said to have lasted 15 minutes during an alert on April 27, and Green, who acknowledged he had not seen it himself, said he had examined the testimony of a great number of witnesses before accepting the vision.

The other prisoners freed were Americans, Australians, Dutch, Chinese, Filipinos, Poles and Czechs.

The liberated prisoners represented by far the largest number recaptured from Japan in any phase of the Pacific island war. The only other sizeable group thus freed was a detachment of Sikhs in the Admiralty islands.

The Sikhs freed at Hollandia and Aitape were Indian soldiers captured in the early stages of the Pacific war. The Javanese were labor troops. The rest of the prisoners were mostly missionaries and other types of civilians.

15 Comrades Slain

Lance Naik Gurnan Singh, one of the Sikhs, related incidents concerning the putting to death of 15 of his comrades at Rabaul.

"A close friend of mine reported to me the death of Havildar Bahadur Khan. He had become ill and apparently the Japanese decided against wasting time and medical supplies on him.

"Bahadur Khan was given an injection and he died almost immediately. The same thing was done to at least 14 others that I know of in the same camp."

The freed Sikhs smiled particularly upon seeing American soldiers bring in Japanese prisoners. The Sikhs spent much of each day eating American rations and washing. Most of them wore uniforms with the regimental insignia they had when the Japanese captured them.

Recently favored targets were hit anew by Allied airforces. Headquarters reported Fifth Air force raids on the Schouten islands to the northwest of Hollandia and on Wewak to the southeast. The Thirteenth Air force in the Solomons kept pounding away at Rabaul, New Britain, and bases on New Ireland.

Jap Toll Mounts

In the Hollandia perimeter, American patrols killed 62 more of the enemy near Lake Sentani and on the slopes of the Cyclops mountains. Thirty-two others were captured. These brought the totals to 977 Japanese killed and 259 captured since the sector was invaded April 22.

In the invaded Aitape sector, 150 miles southeast of Hollandia, enemy losses today were reported as 525 killed and 32 captured.

That made a total for the two simultaneous invasions of 1,502 Japanese killed and 291 captured as against announced American killed of 28 with 95 others wounded. The 291 Japanese constituted an unusually large bag of prisoners.

An income tax was imposed in Great Britain in 1799 to finance the war against Napoleon.

Liberalized Draft Policy Anticipated

WASHINGTON, May 10 (AP) — Indefinite draft deferment of all men over 29 in essential occupations, regardless of whether they are "necessary men" by present standards, was understood today to be one of the provisions of a new Selective Service policy to be made public tomorrow night.

While officials refused to confirm this report, indications that the pool of men under 30 is sufficient to meet calls for several months gave weight to prospects of wide liberalization regarding older men.

Congratulations To:

Only Few Servicemen Plan Absentee Votes

WITH U. S. FORCES IN THE SOLOMONS, May 10. (UP) — A United Press poll of a cross section of 500 servicemen—both enlisted men and officers in all service branches—showed today that less than one in 10 of them planned to vote by means of absentee ballots in the November elections.

Most of the 45 men who said they were attempting to vote, were officers. A majority of those questioned said they were uncertain of the voting requirements of their states.

Many of the men who said they would not vote because casting a ballot involved "too much red tape". Others said it would be "foolish" to vote when they knew nothing about candidates except on national tickets. Most of the men have been away from home more than two years.

Time Said Ruling Factor In Storming Of Sevastopol

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Russian recapture of Sevastopol in the Crimea and a limited Nazi withdrawal in Italy do not directly alter the war pattern in Europe although both operations have a definite bearing on expected events of far greater consequence on other battle sectors.

SIMPSON

The essential fact about the final smash at Sevastopol was the weight of men and guns thrown into the action by the Russians to achieve in hours what it took German troops more than 200 days to accomplish in 1941. Sevastopol was doomed in any case. Time was the vital factor in shaping the Russian decision to take it by storm rather than sit out a siege.

Releases Two Armies

The victory has released most of the two powerful Russian armies in the Crimea to join in the impending attack on the Galati gap gateway to the Bucharest plain in Romania.

That Russian-Allied coordination alone warrants the conclusion that the first heavy Russian blow of the opening spring-summer campaign will fall on the Galati gap, closely timed to coincide with the Anglo-American invasion in the west.

Russian pressure at the gap at the moment the Allies strike from Britain probably could help the Allies more than if the Russians struck farther north, although it is almost certainly across the plains of Poland that the Soviets expect to make their final assault.

Nazi Withdrawal

The Nazi 10-mile withdrawal from the Sangro bulge in Italy may have more than local significance. It not only shortened the Nazis' front but gave them a far more powerful and easily defended position on the slopes of the Maiella mountains to bolster their Adriatic flank just as the mountains back of Cassino fortifies their grip on the route from Naples to Rome.

That makes the Nazi retirement appear to be little more than a local re-adjustment of the line. It would not of itself release any substantial number of men for use elsewhere. But, it would obviously furnish a more effective covering position behind which a general enemy withdrawal on the Adriatic flank could be carried out if necessary.

Three Cities Given Award For Safety

It was announced by the Associated Press from Dallas Wednesday morning that Lubbock, Fort Worth and Waco, in respective population brackets, received the National Safety council's award at a combined meeting in Dallas of the Texas Safety association, the Texas Traffic Courts conference and Texas police association.

Chief of Police Don Reeder; Capt. Lewis Kittrell, who heads the police traffic department here; Solon Lea, city recorder, and Levi Duncan, Texas ranger, attended the sessions from Lubbock.

Greater Crop Of Wheat Forecast

WASHINGTON, May 10. (U.P.) — The Agriculture department estimated today that winter wheat production this year will total 662,275,000 bushels, compared with 529,606,000 bushels in 1943, and the 1933-42 average of 570,675,000 bushels.

The estimate, based on the May 1 condition of the crop, showed a big improvement over the production of 601,759,000 bushels that was indicated on April 1.

Average Of 16.2 Bushels Seen

The department's crop reporting board predicted an average yield of winter wheat of 16.2 bushels per acre. This compares with the indicated yield of 12.8 bushels on April 1 and 15.6 bushels last year.

Rye production as of May 1 was indicated at 29,711,000 bushels.

By states, winter wheat production was estimated at:

Texas, 52,949,000 bushels.

The condition of the tame hay crop on May 1 was placed at 83 per cent of normal. Last year on May 1 it was 81 per cent. The May 1 condition of pastures was 79 per cent of normal compared with 78 per cent in 1943.

On May 1, farm stocks of hay totaled 10,284,000 tons, or 10.3 per cent remaining from last year's crop.
