Senate Bars Taxes In Pension Plans

Decision On Federal Corn Crop Loan For 1935 Expected

AAA Speeding Work On Huge Contract Plan

Authoritative Sources Claim That Figure Probably Will Be 40 Or 45 Cents; Amount In 1934 Was 55 Cents

Want More Hogs

Practical Application Of The Farm Control Plan Advanced By President Roosevelt May Result From Studies

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—A decision on the amount of the government loan on the 1935 corn crop within 48 hours was projected today as AAA officials studied the question behind closed doors.

Authoritative sources said the loan probably would be 40 or 45 cents a bushel. The 1934 loan was 55 cents a bushel. Formal announcement, it was indicated, may not be made before Wednesday or Thursday.

Majority For Program

Official returns from Saturday's national corn-hog referendum piling up at the agriculture department indicated heavy majorities favoring a new adjustment program.

Unofficial returns showed the vote at 4:00 p. m. to be:

For a new program....402,363.
Against a program..... 68,195.

No preliminary announcement of official returns will be made, AAA officials said. County and state corn-hog committees have been instructed to have summaries of their tabulations in Washington not later than tomorrow night.

Surprise Is Shown

Openly elated over the size of the vote and its tenor, officials maintained surprise at the ratio of favorable votes cast. Several million of the nation's 4,500,000 growers, however, cast no votes.

In addition to the loan conferences, other meetings were in progress as the AAA speeded work on the new adjustment contracts.

Emphasis will be given, an official said, to insure that more hogs are raised next year. There was a possibility that the minimum contract requirements would be raised. This year, a contract signer had to produce not less than 25 per cent of his base production to quality for benefit payments.

One possibility was mentioned that payments might be made to growers producing more than their Jason O. Gordon, assistant county agent, is in charge of distribution.

Orders Are Given On Work Projects

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Orders were issued today by the state headquarters office here of the Works Progress administration to begin work on 56 additional projects in various Texas districts. Two thousand and twenty four men will be given jobs on projects ordered to begin in the last five days. The total employables changed from the relief rolls to wage earners now is 26,937.

Allocations covering the new work aggregate $453,342 WPA funds, plus $166,565 put up by local sponsors. Improvements to farm-to-market roads comprise a majority of the authorizations released lately.

Probe Of Transactions By Oil Promoters Is Launched

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—The government plunged into a minute investigation today of transactions by a group of oil promoters alleged to have mulcted the public of more than $500,000 in the last three years.

Following up investigations by postal inspectors, federal prosecutors summoned 25 witnesses from Oklahoma, Texas, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New York and New Hampshire to tell the District of Columbia grand jury they were sold royalties or deeds to oil lands in Pottawatomie county, Okla., and Bee county, Texas.

Italian Holdings In Africa Spread

Il Duce Tightens Nation's Belt Against Sanctions As Armies Push Steadily On

(By The Associated Press)

BENITO MUSSOLINI, celebrating the thirteenth birthday of his conquering march on Rome, drew a thin line of fighting blackshirts across 400 miles of southern Ethiopia Monday; saw his armies in a firmer mountain foothold in the north and tightened his nation's belt for sanctions—something he calls an "absurd crime."

Great Britain looked on coldly. She viewed the apparent collapse of a week of cautious peace moves—apparently because Il Duce wants too much.

Her foreign minister, Sir Samuel Hoare, will go to Geneva this week—apparently to throw the full weight of his majesty's government behind early and effective sanctions against Italy.

Destroyers On Way

Out on the high seas, said reliable reports, three more British destroyers steamed toward the warship dotted Mediterranean, bound, perhaps, for stations in the Red sea.

That, it seemed, might be Britain's answer to Italy's suggestions for reduction of the naval armada about the Suez canal, now that Mussolini has called home some of the troops he sent to African Libya.

Not To Take Lead

But Sanley Baldwin, the British prime minister, promised in a campaign speech his country would not seek to take the lead in a new world arms race. The nation's defenses, he insisted, will be bolstered only to the point of necessity.

Upstage in the theater of African war the invading fascist armies halted a new advance in the mountains protecting Makale, strategic northern outpost on the trail to Addis Ababa. News from the northern front was mild as far as fighting goes.

Italy's high command believed the new line, as advanced from the original Aduwa-Adigrat front, to be an effective safeguard against the chance of a wedge-like attack by strong Ethiopian forces.

Front Widespread

Far to the south, said tardy reports, the armies of Gen. Rudolfo Graziani were flung across a 400-mile front, reaching from British Somaliland to the junction of Kenya and Juba-land.

Led by tanks and bombing planes, one column was said to have pushed almost half way into the waterless desert that lies between Italian Somaliland and the hills of Ogaden province, to the north.

Between the northern and southern armies the powerful forces of Ras Nasibu, Ethiopian governor-war lord, prepared for fierce battle. They were concentrated near Jijiga, south

Higher Budget For Next Year Now Forecast

Slight Increases Possible In Departments; Size Of Relief Expenditures Proves To Be Big Question Mark

BY RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Out of a presidential conference on next year's budget today emerged a prediction that regular departmental expenditures would continue at unchanged levels, but with "slight increases" possible.

The big question mark—the size of relief expenditures—remained undissolved.

Reductions Are Sought

President Roosevelt, with Secretary Morgenthau and Daniel W. Bell, acting director of the budget, began during the day the anticipated quest for reductions in emergency spending which would fulfill the chief executive's forecast of a "sharply decreasing spread between income and outgo."

"The regular budget," Bell said in response to questions, "will probably be substantially the same as this year, although there may be some slight increases due to new duties imposed upon some units by new legislation."

Some Are Excluded

From his forecast he excluded, he said, the debt service—payments of interest on the national debt and the retirement of maturing government securities, and item of $1,269,000,000 in this year's budget.

He made it plain that the nub of the problem was wrapped up in the emergency recovery situation and amounts which will have to be expended through the work relief program.

The budget bureau is hard at work on emergency estimates for next year, he said, and has been for several weeks, adding it had been handicapped by lack of personnel. A final decision would be impossible,

Butler Quits Race For City Place Monday

Local Architect Wires City Manager Rodgers And Says Personal Business To Require His Attention

Two Men Remain

Commissioner A. J. Richardson Declares That Butler Withdrew From Race To Support B. E. Needles' Candidacy

BALLOT in the City election Thursday, Nov. 7, was shortened by one name Monday afternoon as M. C. Butler, local architect, withdrew his candidacy.

In a telegram sent to City Manager W. H. Rodgers from Oklahoma City about 3:45 p. m., Butler said, "Because of attention I must give at present to my personal business I am asking you to withdraw my name as a candidate for the City commission."

In Favor Of Needles

His withdrawal from the race was in favor of B. E. Needles, it was reported by A. J. Richardson, commissioner, who had talked by telephone with Butler from Oklahoma City.

"In his conversation with me Butler said he was withdrawing to support Needles," Richardson stated.

Raleigh Martin, first to enter the field as candidate for City commission, had withdrawn upon the announcement of Butler, whose withdrawal Monday left only B. E. Needles and Alex McDonald in the race for the seat vacated Oct. 4 by George E. Benson.

Senator Undertakes Task Of Tracing Losses Sustained By Government By Marketing Operations Of Co-Ops

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 28.—In a hearing marked by verbal clashes with witnesses, Senator McKellar (D-Tenn) today undertook the task of tracing losses sustained by the government through marketing operations of the cotton co-operatives.

In one of the frequent flare-ups, L. N. Rutherford, Batesville, Ark., a farmer and a member of the co-ops, became angry at what he said was Senator McKellar's "open hostility" to the American Cotton Co-Operative association. Standing before the senator's rostrum, he shouted:

Ordered To Sit Down

"You're taking so much interest in this hearing, how much stock have you got in the Memphis cotton firms?"

"You sit down," Senator McKellar said. "I can't allow any man to make a reflection on this committee."

Previous to the incident, Senator McKellar had declared he didn't see how it was possible for a private cotton shipper to compete with the co-operatives when the government was loaning money to them to operate at low interest and then subordinating its loan to that of private banking capital.

"Did you ever hear, in all the history of time—and I know something about history—of such gen-

Something New In Radically Designed Cars; They Cost Five Grand Per Copy!

Something new and radically different in the way of motor cars is the Scarab, above, of which 100 cars will be constructed in 1936, selling at an even $5,000 per car. Its builder, William Stout, of Detroit, says the trend in automobiles is this way and the entire industry will embrace similar ideas in the next five years.

Side view, at top, shows it has no running boards and not even door handles to break the smooth lines of the exterior. Electric, key-controlled switch buttons open the door. The engine, in rear, is separated from the body by a double sound-proof bulkhead, the entire mechanism one compact unit. Seats, as shown at lower left, can be moved about and a table set in back. McKINNEY, Oct. 28. (AP)—J. H. Eubanks, about 65, was injured painfully today when a gasoline tank, believed empty for three years, exploded. His right leg was mangled badly.

Eubanks, who operates a filling station at Wylie, obtained the 300-gallon tank, and asked a welder to weld it for him. Eubanks son, Nolen, struck a match to see if any gas was left in the tank.

Broodings Of A Twisted Mind Blamed In Deaths

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Brooding of a twisted mind over a fancied unmerited jail sentence erupted into a fusillade of bullets today that killed former Judge William R. Fetzer, wounded two other men, and ended the life of Raymond Lanning, 32, their assailant.

Lanning died about five hours after he had slain the judge in Fetzer's office. Lanning's death came from a bullet wound in the head he himself inflicted.

House Favors Tax On Gross Oil Receipts

Lower Branch Making But Slow Progress On Lengthy Omnibus Bill; Levy On Receipts Of Railways Removed

Wage Plan Argued

Senator Predicts That Solons Are Being Driven To Sales Measure And Will Take It Sooner Or Later

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 28.—The senate today instructed conferees on old age pension legislation against inclusion of taxes in the administrative bill while the house voted to include a one per cent tax on gross receipts of oil and gas pipe lines in an omnibus bill to pay old age relief.

Sponsors estimated the pipeline tax would yield about $1,000,000 annually. They originally proposed a two and one-half per cent levy.

Slow Progress Made

The house made slow progress on the lengthy omnibus tax bill. Amendments were adopted removing a tax on gross receipts of railroads contributing to employe's pensions under the national security act and reducing the levy on gross receipts from hotels from two to one per cent.

With the sales tax fight over senators renewed debate on a bill to set salaries for officers removed from a fee basis.

The senate's instructions to pension conferees, approved 16 to 11, prohibited levy of a sales tax or a tax on gross receipts from sales of merchandise, and any tax. An anti-sales tax bloc, led by Senators W. R. Poage of Waco and Ben G. O'Neal of Wichita Falls, initiated the movement to instruct conferees with the first part, while the latter was added, 18 to 8, on motion of Senator John W. Hornsby of Austin.

Hinges On Amendment

The fight hinged on an amendment by Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth to instruct against only a sales tax on necessities, leaving open a route for a selective or luxuries sales tax.

Senators deadlocked 12-all with three pairs on motions to table it and to adopt it. On the first, Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul broke the tie in favor of Rawlings but on the second in favor of the anti-sales bloc.

Opponents of the instruction predicted that pension payments would not be possible without a sales tax while Poage asserted the only issue was determination "if you want a sales tax in the conference report."

Quick Action Abandoned In Higher Court

Administration Hopes For A Final Decision On Validity Of Processing Taxes Before Christmas Dwindle

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Administration hopes for a final decision before Christmas on the constitutionality of AAA processing taxes dwindled today when the supreme court ordered the Hoosac mills case argued December 9.

Overriding a government request that the case be set for November 20, the justices complied with the wishes of Hoosac mills attorneys who contended the question was "too important to be crowded."

Action Said Unlikely

While it would be entirely possible for the court to hand down its opinion by Christmas even after hearing arguments in December, attaches said that would be highly unlikely.

Usually it requires a few weeks after arguments for the justices to discuss an important case, and carefully prepare the opinion. Then the opinion must be printed. Since the court is expected to take at least a three weeks recess beginning December 23, some observers predicted an announcement was unlikely before January 13.

Another Case Added

In a brief session today before recessing for two weeks, the court added another New Deal case to the three it had previously docketed. The latest involves the right of the government to condemn land for its slum clearance and low cost housing construction program.

The case originated in efforts of the Public Works administration to condemn land in Louisville. Lower courts ruled the government could not use the power of eminent do-

Tulsa Police Department Is Thrown Into Frenzy Monday

TULSA, Oct. 28. (AP)—A Greek shoe shop owner, Louis G. Police enthusiasm died when questioning revealed the brother was kidnaped 27 years ago in Turkey.

Berelos, reading an out-of-town paper, had seen an advertisement about an "armless-wonder" circus performer. He decided it was his brother, who he said was kidnaped when a child in Turkey.

Increase In Farm Income Is Bared

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Reporting a sharp increase in farmers' cash income in September, compared with August, the bureau of agricultural economics predicted today that the total cash farm income for 1935 would be about $6,800,000,000 against $6,387,000,000 in 1934.

Income from the sale of farm products in September was $636,000,000 compared with $547,000,000 in August and $623,000,000 in September, 1934. In addition, farmers received AAA benefits in September totalling $56,000,000 compared with $45,000,000 in August and $76,000,000 in September last year.

The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

PERHAPS no folk holiday has digressed more from the original meaning than Hallowe'en, which was a hallowed occasion at one time. No one expects the celebration to be a game of ping-pong and the grouchy citizen may as well go out to his farm and see grandma on this night, but the mildest burgher has a right to protest when things go too far.

The ancient druids had a great autumn festival which commenced at midnight, October 31, and lasted throughout the next day. Among other things they believed that on this night the great lord of death, Satan, called together all the wicked souls that had been condemned, within the past 12 months, to inhabit the bodies of animals. Because of the wicked spirits that prowled about on this night, they lighted huge bonfires and kept a sharp lookout. The Romans also had a festival about the first of November and roasted apples and nuts as tokens of the winter store of fruits. It appears that the two ceremonies were grafted one upon the other to become our Hallowe'en.

THE ORIGINS

THE black cat, being traditional companion of witches, is ever present at Hallowe'en and the pumpkin is simply a symbol of harvest. Stealing gates, buggies and chairs is a relic of the time when gates and gate-posts disappeared and were said to be stolen by the evil spirits.

It is customary for young people throughout England to dive or "duck" for apples. There are many superstitions connected with this custom. For instance, the maiden who is fortunate enough to win an apple is advised to sleep with it under her pillow and she will surely dream of her lover.

SANE ENTERTAINMENT

THE all-school party that is planned for Lubbock Senior High school Thursday evening will be a time of merrymaking and so much more fun than the traditional destructive outdoor pranks. It is easy enough to divert the young children on this momentous occasion without spoiling their fun. They can dress up in their sheets or with weird masks for a little early evening fun and later have a taffy pull or pop corn party in someone's kitchen. A mother can use her own ingenuity to vary the entertainment. It's not hard to entertain children so long as you let them laugh and cut up a bit.

But it is dangerous and unscrupulous to let the streets take care of your children and allow them to do as they please in tearing up things that would horrify us if they were committed on any night but this.

IT ISN'T FUNNY

STEALING radiator caps, deflating tires, hiding porch and yard furniture, leaving gates to farms open after a late watermelon field has been rifled and tick-tacking are not at all funny to the people against whom they are perpetrated or if a father is called out of bed to come down and identify his son as he stands before the night desk sergeant.

These are comparatively simple things, of course, but actually such damage amounts to a greater toll than burned gates and ruined cars. It comes under the heading of so-called "innocent" fun. We know people who dread Hallowe'en as they would a disease, because every vicious grudge of the hoodlum is saved up for that evening.

Yes, we've come a long way on our method of celebrating the holiday, which was originally intended to be somewhat of a thanksgiving observance.

Mrs. Kate James Lee returned Sunday from California, where she spent the last month. She visited with relatives in Los Angeles and attended the Pacific exposition at San Diego.

DOCTORS KNOW

Mothers read this:

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Why do people come home from a hospital with bowels working like a well-regulated watch?

The answer is simple, and it's the answer to all your bowel worries if you will only realize it: many doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives.

If you knew what a doctor knows, you would use only the liquid form. A liquid can always be taken in gradually reduced doses. Reduced dosage is the secret of any real relief from constipation.

Ask a doctor about this. Ask your druggist how very popular liquid laxatives have become. They give the right kind of help, and right amount of help. The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that can form no habit, even in children. So, try Syrup Pepsin. You just take regulated doses till Nature restores regularity

Utility Cases Drawing Fire

Government And Utility Firm Lawyers Are Seeking Best Case To Test Validity Of Works Loans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Government and utility company lawyers seek the best case, from their respective viewpoints with which to test the constitutionality of Public Works loans and grants for municipal light and water projects.

Secretly jockeying for position, counsel for both the utilities companies and the government await disposition of a key case in the District of Columbia court of appeals before charting their future course to the supreme court. The suit involves a proposed light plant at Hominy, Okla.

Fifteen Suits Filed

Fifteen suits already have been filed in the district courts, to restrain Secretary Ickes, PWA administrator, from making loans and grants averaging about $100,000. An attorney for one utility company said others are coming in.

As their attack takes shape, the utility companies plan to select the most desirable case from their standpoint for submission to the nation's highest tribunal. Government attorneys have indicated they might institute proceedings in a case more to their liking.

No Two Cases Alike

Although no two cases are alike, counsel for both sides contend major issues are identical.

The plaintiffs insist in each case that the investment they have made in recent years to provide municipalities with existing service would be jeopardized by new plants. They declare further, Secretary Ickes and the government plan to destroy them or at least force a ruinous reduction in rates.

The national recovery act, under which the PWA was created, is unconstitutional, they contend, because it involves federal taxation for a program which does not promote the general welfare and therefore is illegal. They claim the PWA scheme involves an unlawful delegation of power since the question of financing these plants through loans and grants is not specifically mentioned in the NRA act.

No Definite Contract

The government held, in the Hominy case, that the Oklahoma Utilities company, which filed the suit, did not now have a definite contract with the city and therefore had no grounds for a complaint.

The PWA contended it offered to municipalities only an opportunity for lower rates and that the communities accepted voluntarily, thus making the communities, rather than the government, defendants in these suits.

Besides the Hominy case, proposed loans and grants in these cities have been attacked: Brandon, Vt., Burlington, Kas., Plainview, Post Littlefield, Huntsville, Yorktown, Texas, Guntersville, Hartselle, Russellville, Decatur, Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia, Ala.

Reporter Almost Plunges Into Eternity On Trip Atop Bridge

Grins Spread Over Faces Of Bridge Workers As They See Quaking Scribe In Midst; What A Job!

BY LOUIS ASHLOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28.—A reporter, unaccustomed to high places, went way up in the air today to learn what San Francisco's gigantic bridges looked like—from their dizzy, loftiest tops.

Forty-five stories into the sky then 228 more stories towards the clouds climbed the reporter on the San Francisco-Oakland bridge and the mighty Golden Gate span.

Grins Are Seen

Grins spread among the helmeted, daring bridge workers at the sight of the scribe in their midst.

To them it merely was a day's work to climb around on slender "catwalks" amid the moist fog and inquisitive, beady-eyed seagulls. But to the reporter—what a day's work!

Cables from the bay bridge curved in a glorious sweep from the anchorages to the towers on each side, 1,100 feet away.

Gingerly, the reporter grasped the waist-high cable at the catwalk's sides and took slow steps on his rubber-soled shoes.

Only One Slip Allowed

From that height—500 feet—there could be only one slip.

"Don't look down at the water—gaze at the beautiful scenery, the distant skyline, but don't look down,' the lowly reporter muttered.

And then it happened! His foot bumped into a rope as the catwalk mesh sagged and he fell. Landing on his back, he skidded fearfully for 20 feet before his hands caught the mesh with a death-like clutch.

Workmen rushed forward and the reporter laughed sheepishly but fright stilled his tongue from any remark.

The guide, helmeted to keep stray bolts and hammers from denting his head, explained the workings of a compacting machine which "squeezes" the 17,464 wires making up each cable to a diameter of 28 and 3-4 inches.

Warning Is Given

"Be careful," said the guide, but just then the mesh slipped and the reporter began dropping—down and down. Actually, he saw he had "fallen" only six inches.

Reaching the second tower on tired, shaking legs, the reporter climbed 474 feet and then—very slowly—came down to earth with a quaking stomach.

But he still faced the Golden Gate tower—its spire rising 746 feet. An elevator whisked him almost to the top.

He climbed the last 30 feet on a steel ladder with a sheer drop into eternity on all sides.

Begins To Feel Sick

A feeling like seasickness engulfed the newsman. The wind tried to tear off his suit.

The guide talked on—spinning of cables between the two towers, 4,200 feet apart, will start soon. The catwalk swayed dangerously.

"This really isn't bad," the guide remarked. "When we first got it up the wind sometimes would raise it 10 to 12 feet."

The reporter still was dizzy as he turned out his story. He suddenly discovered his chair was too high, and promptly lowered it an inch.

have never before taken any medicine to act so promptly or thoroughly upon the system. Read what Mr. F. W. Montfort, 1916 4th street, Lubbock, respected local gentleman, said recently to the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting crowds of local people at Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway:

"Gly-Cas is the one REAL medicine of them all," said Mr. Montfort, "for the past two years anything I ate caused gas and bloating and was often so choked I could not walk but a short distance without becoming short of breath. I became terribly nervous, couldn't sleep and was tired, worn-out all the time, I lost my pep and energy and just dragged myself around at times. My kidneys disturbed what little sleep I was able to get, up three and four times and was also badly constipated. I tried all kinds of medicines—doing my best to get relief—but met with failure on every occasion—until I began Gly-Cas—it was wonderful."

"For the first time in years I can eat my meals without any distress afterwards," he continued. "Gas and bloating no longer trouble me, I can walk all I please and never become short of breath too. Even my nerves have been quieted, sleep better and that tired-out, run-down feeling has left me. My former pep and energy has been restored, bowels regulated, and I am a new person in many ways. Gly-Cas gives the results that are claimed for it and every sufferer should profit from its use."

Tech Prepares For Aggie Invasion; Jubilant Westerners Back At Practice

"Better Team Won," Cawthon Says Of Lions

Tech Coaches Offer No Alibis For Defeat On Coast; Start Preparing Team For Sooner Aggies Invasion Saturday

As Charley Grimm said of his Cubs after the World Series, so feels Coach Pete Cawthon about his Texas Tech Matadors after their losing game with Loyola at Los Angeles last Friday night:

"They're still big gentlemuns!"

The Tech mentor didn't say those words yesterday as he joined the Red Raiders in their first workout on the home field since a week ago today, but he felt it, you could see, and he didn't throw a tantrum because his boys got beat.

"The thing now is our game with the Oklahoma Aggies Saturday night," Cawthon said, "and we're forgetting what's gone before, except to correct mistakes. We'll do our best to show the folks we still have a good ball club, not major league, maybe, but still a good team."

Tickets On Sale

Tech meets the Sooner Aggies Saturday night, starting at 8 o'clock, on their own field, first of two home games on successive playing dates before they go to San Antonio to meet St. Mary's, and back home to play Detroit. Tickets for the game go on sale today at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers.

The Matadors came home yesterday from the Pacific seaboard, leaving their mascot, Sonny Jarret, in Hollywood for a screen test, and immediately went to work in preparation for the Aggie invasion.

"It was a fine workout," said Line Coach Dutchy Smith last night after the lights went off and the Matadors went to bed. "The boys are in good shape physically, a little bruised but none of them seriously hurt, and they worked hard. They'll all be in shape for Saturday night's game."

Coming home on the special train from Los Angeles with the football squad were about a hundred rooters, disappointed over results of the game, happy over other experiences of the trip, but still holding faith in the Matadors. Each was convinced the team did a great job of holding Loyola to no more than 16 points, and nobody was sore at anybody. A welcome reception in Los Angeles, fine hospitality while there, and the knowledge they'd seen a good ball game pacified the fans who accompanied the team.

Cawthon Makes Statement

Coach Cawthon, who deserted the team after Friday night's game in order to hurry to Tucson and scout the University of Arizona Wildcats in their game with New Mexico A. & M., came home ahead of the team, met it at the train yesterday afternoon, and was most gracious.

In a formal, prepared statement, Cawthon said:

"The Tech coaches have no alibis. The best team won. I expected them to beat us by two touchdowns. Loyola has too many veterans (nine seniors) for Tech's young team. Our loss of 15 veterans is too much of a handicap to beat a team such as Loyola.

"Our boys were mentally right, and they were ready, but not good enough as performers to win . . . but they DID THEIR BEST. Loyola is as good as any team on the coast, and is the best team we've met since S.M.U. of 1933."

Tech's performance at Loyola was in sharp contrast to the Red Raiders' work against De Paul at Chicago two weeks earlier. The Matadors put out their best football at Los Angeles, but their best wasn't good enough for Loyola's crack team.

Sam Jones Back In

At times, Tech played brilliant football, good defensive football all the way, and among those standing out were Tox Wiginton, center; Gaines Davis and Captain Nichols, guards; Red Ramsey, left end; Charley Duval, quarterback, and Fred Byrd, halfback on the starting team.

The Tech coaches alternated their usual custom by starting the first string line and the shock troops backfield. Soon, however, the regular backs came floating in.

Sam Jones, regular right end who has been incapacitated with a broken foot since the Hardin-Simmons game, season opener, entered the Loyola game and for almost half of it gave a fine account of himself. The injured foot gave him a bit of trouble, but it might have proved the best treatment toward recovery. It was not re-hurt, and the big Abilene lineman, barring practice injuries, should be fit for the balance of the season.

LESTER ON INJURED LIST

FORT WORTH, Oct. 28. (AP)—Co-Capt. Darrell Lester may not play against the Baylor Bears Saturday, Coach Dutch Meyer said today after an x-ray revealed that the All-American center suffered two broken ribs in the game at Centenary Saturday.

Lester was injured in the second quarter of the game, but returned to play after a short rest.

Fred Marberry Will Try Pitching Comeback Next Season In Major League

FRED MARBERRY

Visiting Here, Firpo Reveals Plans For "More Activity"

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Avalanche Sports Editor

Umpiring's okay, but . . . .

Fred "Firpo" Marberry, one of the greatest relief pitchers of modern major baseball history, thinks he has a few more victories in his good right arm for somebody's club in the big show, preferably in the American League.

So he will attempt a pitching comeback next season, after "resting" as a big league umpire during the latter part of 1935. He did not umpire long enough for his thumb, at least, to grow stiff and stationary as a hitchhiker's.

The former Washington and Detroit hurler told this reporter yesterday in his first "official" statement regarding the situation that he did not plan to report to Mr. William Harridge's presidential offices as one of the boys in blue next spring. Instead, he expects a definite answer from at least one of three American League clubs with whom he is dickering regarding his request for another pitching job.

Saw Tech-Loyola Game

Marberry returned to Lubbock yesterday after coming here last week to join the special football train party in the trek to Los Angeles for the Texas Tech-Loyola game. At the moment, and for another day or two, he and Mrs. Marberry are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel West, he of the St. Louis Browns' outfield. He said he had not told any one, with the exception of President Harridge of the American League and owners of three clubs, of his plans for 1936.

"My arm is in great shape," he said, "the best in three years, and I'm sure I can play some more baseball. I think I can pitch two or three years yet, and I'm after the opportunity.

Doesn't he like umpiring?

"Yes, umpiring's all right, and after I'm through playing I'll probably go back to it. But I still feel pretty young, my health's good, and I can't get away from the game. I like to play it, and I like to be around the boys, to talk with them, jostle with them, eat and travel with them. An umpire can't do that. He lives an isolated life. I can take the isolation and the razzberries and the verbal abuse that an umpire has to take, but I'd just as soon not take it for a couple of years or longer."

Three World Series

Marberry is 36, looks 31, sometimes act 25 and bigger than Max Baer. He carries little extra tonnage, eats lots of breakfast and likes to toss hot coins at negro night club entertainers. As baseball pitchers go, he's an out and out veteran, having seen thirteen consecutive years of action in the big leagues after "breaking in" at Mexia, Texas, in 1922 and joining the Washington Senators the following year.

He played ten seasons at Washington, cutting in on World Series cash twice there and once since then at Detroit. His last pitching was with the Tigers, after they'd played in the 1934 series, until he took the blue-coat job last season.

A family man these last three years, Marberry and the Mrs., the former Mattie Louise Wamack, of Streetman, Texas, are anxious to get back home to Corsicana, now that they've seen Southern California for the first time, and to Baby Peggy.

October Games Rough For New Coaching Crew

Bell At SMU And Allison At California Survive Early Storms; Others Stricken By Defeat At New Places

BY DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—October's gridiron explosions have shattered the hopes of almost all of the "debutante" coaches of major college football teams, but Madison Bell's Southern Methodist and Stub Allison's California clubs still move serenely on.

More than a dozen football mentors took over new assignments at large institutions this fall but as the gridiron steeplechase turns into November only Bell and Allison can boast spotless records.

Both have won six in a row, topping the country's teams in games won. The major Southern Methodist conquest was a 10 to 0 decision over powerful Rice institute. Allison's Bears have walloped St Mary's, Oregon, Santa Clara and Southern California with only one for crossing their goal.

Paul Hinkle, one year out of the "deb" ranks at Butler, . with five victories, and Wayne Munn at Albright, with three, are among the smaller school chiefs whose elevens are unbeaten.

Don Faurot, who replaced Frank Carideo at Missouri, has won three and tied one for the best start that team has made in some time.

Major Ralph Sasse and Bernie Moore are another pair with more black than red ink on their ledger Sasse's Mississippi State outfit, after losing its opener to Vanderbilt, has won four straight, bumping off the Rose Bowl champions from Alabama. Moore's Louisiana Tigers also lost their inaugural to Rice but won four in a row, including Manhatta- - Vanderbilt.

Morristown Loses Three

For - others the picture isn't so bright. Ray Morrison, at Vanderbilt, is batting .500 but has been beaten by Fordham, Temple and Louisiana Dick Harlow at Harvard has lost three straight to Holy Cross, Army and Dartmouth. Biff Jones, moving from Louisiana to Oklahoma has lost to Texas and Nebraska and has three triumphs.

Wes Fry at Kansas State won two, lost to Marquette and Kansas and surprised with a tie with Nebraska. Don McAllister of South Carolina probably has had the toughest sledding. The Gamecocks have lost four of six.

Walker Sets Pace In Pinch Hitting

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP) — Although not rated a regular due to his erratic base running, Gerald Walker swung a potent bat in the pinches for the world champion Detroit Tigers to show the way to the pinch hitters in the American League during the past season.

Walker made 13 trips to the plate as a pinch hitter, according to the official averages released today, and on six occasions he came through with a safe blow for a pinch hit average of .462.

Although the Detroit outfielder chalked up the highest average he was forced to yield to Ralph Winegarner, Cleveland hurler, and Edmund (Bing) Miller, Boston veteran, who started the season as a coach, when it came to the most telling blows.

Winegarner hit only .320 as a pinch hitter but won six games by belting out six singles, a double and a home run. Miller won five games for the Red Sox while answering 45 calls. He drove in nine runs with 13 hits.

Following Walker in the averages came Charley Ruffing of the Yankees with .412; Dee Miles, Washington, .364; Vernon Washington, Chicago, .345; Jo-Jo White, Detroit, .333; and Winegarner, .320. As a team, however, the Tigers easily carried off the honors with an average of .343.

Auburn Plainsmen On Top In South; Experts Puzzled

AUBURN, Ala., Oct. 28. (AP)—The Plainsmen of Alabama Poly who for two straight weeks have set the "experts" on their ears today had bounded to the top of football ratings in the South.

Behind the upward drive of the Plainsmen with their startling upsets is a combination of sophomore daring and veteran strategy and alertness in following the ball.

Coach Jack Meagher described his team's impressive showing as one due to "every man doing everything 100 per cent. They stick to fundamentals, hard tackling and good blocking."

"There isn't any secret to it," he said, "The boys are just going and going out to win every day."

Most of the experts in early season rated the Plainsmen along about midway the southeastern group, and even the decisive win over Tulane didn't change the rating—particularly after Tennessee whipped them.

But today it is a different story. The Plainsmen showed impressively against Kentucky to win 23 to 0, and then last week humbled one of Duke's finest teams by alert ball following and sturdy defense.

Buckeye-Irish Game Features National Card

Crowd Of 90,000 Expected To See Ohio State And Notre Dame Play; Doping Game Is Out Of Question

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—It appears as difficult to "dope" the winner of the Ohio- State-Notre Dame football argument this Saturday as it is to get a ticket on the 50-yard line at Columbus for the "game of the year."

Thatâs why close to 90,000 or more will jam the Ohio State double-decked stadium to see two of America's outstanding unbeaten teams battle for sectional supremacy, if not a large slice of national championship honors and an invitation to the Rose Bowl.

Biggest Test Of Season

The game occupies much the same spot that the Minnesota-Pittsburgh battle did a year ago. It's the No. 1 test of the season for each team. It's also a fair forecast that the winner will go on to finish an unblemished campaign of triumph. Notre Dame has at least one more big obstacle, West Point, in the path of an all-conquering drive, but there's nothing in sight capable of stopping the Buckeyes, unless the Irish do it this Saturday.

Strictly on a basis of comparative figures, Ohio State looks like the winner. "The scarlet scourge" has piled up tremendous yardage in four games, on the ground as well as through the air. Taking the averages per game, Ohio State has gained three yards for every two by Notre Dame, at rushing, and three yards for every one by the Irish at forward passing.

You Figure Them

For what they are worth, here are the comparative figures, showing the average based on four games for Ohio State and five for Notre Dame:

	Ohio S.	Notre D.
Average score per game	40	18 2-5
Average opp. score	6 1-2	3 1-5
Average no. first downs	23	12
Average yards, rushing	272	183
Average no. passes tried	17 1-4	8 3-5
Avg. no. passes completed	8 3-4	3 1-5
Avg. yds. gained, passing	146 1-4	52 2-5

But gridiron statistics are notoriously unreliable. Ohio State's high averages, for example, are due mainly to the huge gains made in swamping Drake 85 to 7. The Bucks piled up 424 from scrimmage and gained 236 additional yards by passing against Drake.

Rice Owls To Invade East For George Washington Tilt

HOUSTON, Oct. 28. (AP)—Confident that they will go through the remainder of the season without defeat, the Rice Owls began preparations today for their first invasion of the east. The Owls, flying high, will meet George Washington at Washington, D. C.

Indications were that Ralph "Primo" Miller, all-conference tackle last year, would be the only Rice regular unable to play against the Colonials. Miller suffered a sprained ankle at the start of the rough Texas contest.

The Owls hope to score a decisive victory over George Washington and thereby enhance their national prestige.

Sound Advice Takes Opener

Inaugural Handicap As 21-Day Meet Opens At Arlington Is Won By Mrs. Creech's Horse With Epernay Second

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Oct. 28. (AP)—The three million dollar Arlington Downs plant inaugurated its 21 day fall meeting today with Mrs. A. M. Creech's Sound Advice winning the $2,500 inaugural handicap by going the Waggoner course in 1:12-2-5. The Waggoner course is 150 feet less than six furlongs.

Twelve thoroughbreds went to the post in the feature race and the winner rewarded Mrs. Creech with $2,520. The winner carried 112 pounds.

The Dark Third

Sound Advice was a factor from the start and after a brisk shaking up when approaching the stretch, went inside and gradually wore down the pace-setting Epernay and came on to win without the need of pressure. Epernay, who finished second, rushed in command but weakened on the heavy track and could not outlast the winner. The Darb finished third.

An estimated crowd of eight thousand people saw Jockey C. Parvin ride the long-shot winner home to pay mutuels of $33.00, $11.60 and $6.20. Epernay paid $4.20 and $3.60, and The Darb paid $6.30 to show.

The daily double winners of Ladino in the second and Indian-town in the third paid the small price of $11.90.

Today's inaugural program consisted of eight races.

Monday No Day Of Rest For Mustangs; Longhorns Next

DALLAS, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Southern Methodist Mustangs toiled long and hard today on a set of new plays given them for their clash Saturday with the University of Texas Longhorns. Monday is usually a day of rest, but it was not today.

None of the players was injured, as the Mustangs took things rather easy in winning 18 to 6 over the Hardin - Simmons Cowboys Saturday night. While the regulars worked on the new plays, the reserves were put through heavy scrimmage against the freshmen. Gates of Ownby oval were barred.

"Texas will be plenty tough," head Coach Matty Bell said. "Texas lost to Rice, a team that we beat, but that means nothing. Any team that can fumble away a touchdown in the early moments of a tough game and then come back as strong as Texas did against Rice, is dangerous."

Jimmie Stewart, athletic director, said he had rented a field cover, which will be placed over the gridiron as soon as it drys.

REFLECT RECOVERY

BERLIN. (AP)—General economic betterment is the official explanation of increased use of Berlin's subways, surface lines, elevated trains and buses. In 1934 826,600,000 tickets were sold compared to 755,500,000 in 1933 and a similar increase is predicted for 1935.

Sailor-Wailor Back To Town

Wednesday Night Mat Program Full Of Potential Thunder; Sailor Watkins And Walter Stratton In Semi-Final

That rough old, tough old Sailor Watkins, who isn't so old at that, comes back to his native South Plains this week, visits the home folks in home town Post and on over to Lubbock Wednesday night to show his snarling face and wrestling wares on Sled Allen's mat bill at the Auditorium.

Opposing Sailor-Wailor, one of the "meanest" grapplers any ring ever held, is Walter "Strong Man" Stratton, the Des Moines grappler who combines his unnatural physical prowess with a keen wrestling wit to win most of his matches. They're on the special event, the 30-minute time limit bout which passes for the semi-final, and it is to see Walter (they hope) work Mr. Watkins over that will cause fans to buy tickets in advance.

Kopecky And Detton

The main event brings another old favorite (?) back to the Auditorium ring, Panther Joe Kopecky, veteran rambler of East Texas, opposes Dory Detton, the Utah Mormon, in the two-out-of-three-fall go to top the evening's entertainment.

Fans probably will remember the last Detton-Kopecky match here. The underdog from the start, Detton rushed old Joe with a couple of resounding flying body blocks and piled on top of him for the first fall in something like ten seconds, which still is the shortest fall on record here. Joe came back to win the next two, but it took a lot of rough grappling.

Jack Van Bebber meets a newcomer, one Nick Bosinis of New York, in the curtain raiser. Bosinis is billed as a rough and tough customer, which means two strikes on Van Bebber already.

Razorbacks Move To Little Rock For Game With Aggies

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 28. (AP)—Coach Fred Thomsen of the Arkansas Razorbacks began drilling sophomores today for key positions in the Porkers' game at Little Rock Saturday with the Texas Aggies.

Thomsen said the sophomores outshone the veterans in last week's game with the College of the Ozarks.

"At one time I used 10 sophomores on the field against the Ozarks team," Thomsen said. "Their running was impressive."

The Porkers ran through pass offensive plays today.

Texas Aggies Stress Pass Defense; Play Porkers Next

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Texas Aggies, aware that most of the touchdowns made against them this year were scored through the air, started to work today to patch up their pass defensive.

The Aggies also started re-adjusting their offensive tactics, the changes being based on scout reports on the type of play used by Arkansas, the Aggies' opponent Saturday at Little Rock.

Physicians reported that Nick Willis, senior guard, received a split bone and pulled muscle in the right forearm in the Baylor game Saturday. It was thought he would be out of the line-up several weeks.

Clovis Eleven Promises Good Battle Friday

Tickets For Game On Sale At Hub Today; Only 700 Seats In Reserve Section To Be Sold; Westerners O. K.

The front page Westerners of Lubbock High school and District 1, as frisky as young colts and noisy as a menagerie, were hard to calm down yesterday after their glorious 6 to 0 victory Saturday over Pampa, but today they'll be back on the practice field again, prepared to look seriously toward next Friday's game with tough rivals from New Mexico, the Clovis High eleven.

His natural grin w-ened by a couple of inches, Coach Chapman was hearing congratulations from all sides yesterday, his back taking the heartiest of slaps. They were for him personally as well as for his assistants, Goober Keyes and Bennie McWilliams, and for them to pass on to the most spirited bunch of high school football players this town has seen in many moons.

Tickets Are Ready

But Clovis is next, and then comes Amarillo, and tickets for the Amarillo-Lubbock game for November 11 at Butler Field already are in great demand. A sell-out long before game time is expected. Tickets sent to Lubbock may be withheld until next Monday, since one set of Westerner tickets already are on sale.

Seven hundred choice seats await the pleasure of fans who will purchase them in advance at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers, official downtown ticket agency for all football tickets in Lubbock. Only seven hundred seats will be reserved for the Clovis game, Pinkey Lowrey, athletic business manager, said yesterday. Others will be sold as general admission ducats, at the same bargain price asked for reserved seat tickets, and it will be a matter of first come, first served after the seven hundred are gone.

Although regular admission price for high school games is 75 cents per ticket, so jubilant are Lubbock High officials, Lowrey said, after the victory over Pampa, that the price for the Clovis game has been trimmed to fifty cents, reserved or general.

High School Teams Invited

In another generous gesture, Lubbock High officials extend invitation to all high school teams anywhere, Class A, B or C, to attend the Lubbock-Clovis game as free guests of the school. Visiting squads are to be accompanied by their coaches, but the invitation is open to any and all high school football departments.

All other topics of conversation and passing events have been in the discard here since Saturday afternoon's game. There is no place where two or more persons meet that the Pampa-Lubbock game is not played all over again. Not in a long time has the town been so football conscious, so Westerner crazy. That valiant little band of Chapman-coached athletes, struggling against great odds, playing a great game of football to bring about one of the greatest upsets of seasons, has done the business.

The name of Othie Upton, co-captain and backfield ace whose running and passing helped make possible the victory; the names of Joe Jones, another back, of Herschel Maxey, Murray Venable, Joe McClinton and Harold Ingley, the other backs who performed nobly; the names of Babe Ritchie, Marshall Hendrys, Primo McCurry, Co-Captain Dixie White, C. L. Storrs, Rafe Nabors, Wilburn Piercey and "Red" Saunders—these names are on the lips of Lubbock fandom this week.

Final Home Game

On Friday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock, the Westerners make their final home stand of the scheduled season. Barring another upset at Amarillo on November 11 or the possibility of a three-way tie in District 1, the Clovis game will show Coach Chapman's lads for the last time here in 1935. The Westerners play Borger and Plainview away from home.

Even after the Amarillo game, regardless of the way it goes, there will be the fear of Borger and Plainview, for upsets are as frequent as straight dope in modern football. But Lubbock fans see the faint, dim glow of a district title, a vision not intended to make the Westerners feel what they may not be. Victory at Amarillo would make the vision plainer, but a defeat at Butler field, where Lubbock has never won a game, and a Pampa victory over Amarillo, which would be according to dope, would not be so hard to take, a three-way tie being the probable result.

A Job For The Brain Trust

DISORDERS and even fatal shootings growing out of labor troubles between longshoremen and their employers in Texas gulf cities bring to the fore all over again that it's "not in the cards" for a strike to be peaceful.

Now and then the country is treated to the unusual sight of a strike without fighting, shooting and other forms of bloodshed, but such is rare indeed. At the very best the average labor deadlock results in broken heads, black eyes and skinned knuckles.

Some day—perhaps it will be the millenium, but anyhow, some day—it is to be hoped that a method of handling capital-labor difficulties without violence will be evolved. Then, and not until then, will the nation approach the ultimate in civilization.

It is all well and good to say, regarding strikes, that any individual, or group of individuals, has the right to quit work at any time; and that any employer, or group of employers, has the right to hire and fire as he, or it, sees fit.

But whenever you have one group walk out and another group take its place, then there is trouble, no matter what the rights of either side of the question may be.

If Mr. Roosevelt has any professors with nothing to do in Washington, he might put them to work on a plan of amicably settling employer-employe difficulties, so that inherent rights of each may be fully protected.

If and when the professors get that solved, they can hop right on solution of the question of what happens when an irresistable force strikes an immovable object.

WITH OUR CONTEMPORARIES

"The music of a band and calliope, the mammoth menagerie of wild jungle animals, troupes of acrobats, herds of trained elephants, horses and other animals, acres of tents and hundreds of people, as advertised by Schell Brothers, turned to bitter disappointment and a joke that will stand as the season's best, when the great circus arrived here," E. A. Warren notes in the Post Dispatch.

"Uncle Ananias says that one definition of thrift is to watch your pennies so carefully that you have a little money to spare for such luxuries as taxes, charities, miscellaneous contributions and investments that do not turn out so well," Ye Wyze Guye Sez in the Slatonite.

"Let the people in the community where the offense was committed decide at any general election whether or not they want him paroled, is a suggested way to handle paroles," W. M. Curry says in the Crosbyton Review.

"Lamesa school not to go into Class A soon," Joe Alexander headlines an article in the Dawson County Courier explaining why the Golden Sandstorm of Lamesa will continue in Class B competition.

"When the legislature completes its labors and adopts some form of old age pension law, it will very likely be one that will require the recipients of government help to take the pauper's oath," Homer Steen notes in the Floyd County Hesperian.

"Believe it or not, our statesmen at Austin have taken note of the newspapers' criticism of their dilly-dallying down there and now they jumped on our busy governor and said he is running around over the country playing politics and by golly we believe they are all right," says J. W. Smith, sr., in the Lamesa Reporter.

"Our opinion is that politics is largely a matter of getting the other fellow to do something for you that he ought not to do," W. D. Starcher notes in the Dickens County Times.

"It is easy to take great achievements for granted, and not to give those who made them possible the credit they have earned," H. H. Weimhold observes in the Sudan News.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

Judah is a lion's whelp: from the prey, my son, thou are gone up: he stooped down, he crouched as a lion, and as an old lion; who shall rouse him up?

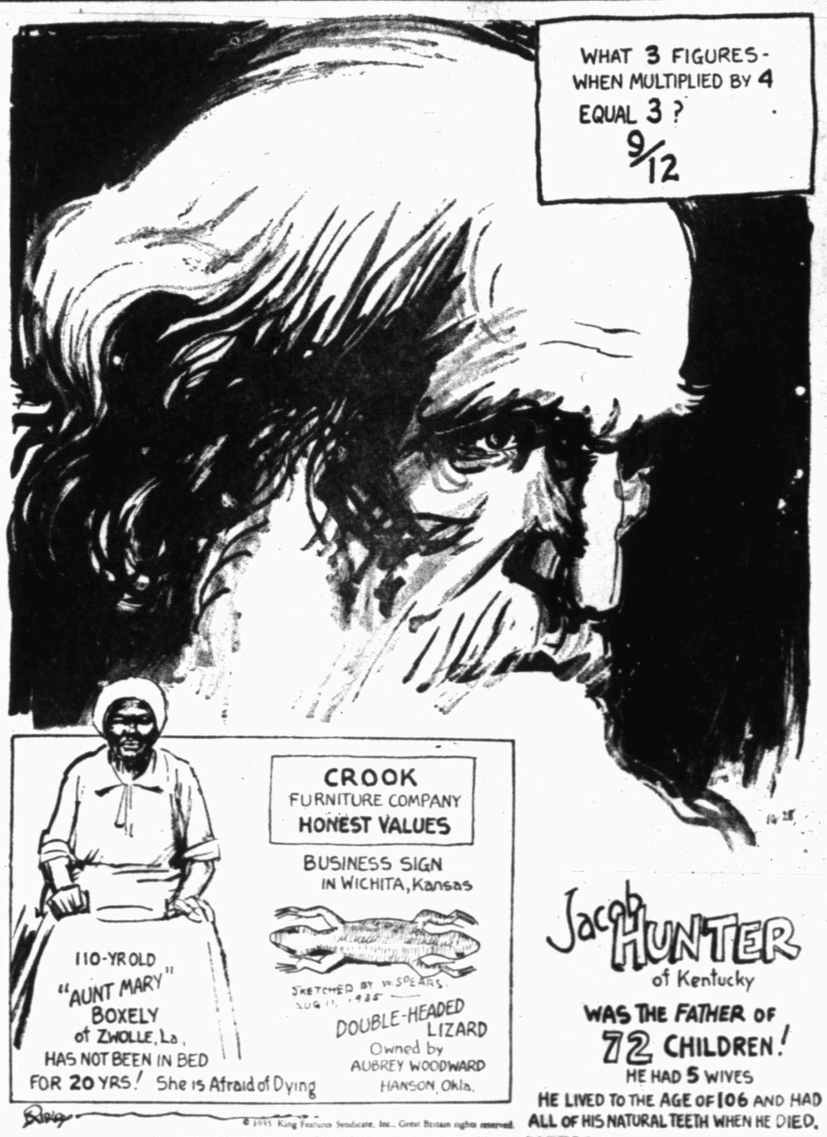

The sceptre shall not depart from Judah, nor a lawgiver from between his feet, until Shiloh come; and unto him shall the gathering of the people be.

Binding his foal unto the vine, and his ass's colt unto the choice vine; he washed his garments in wine, and his clothes in the blood of grapes:

His eyes shall be rid with wine, and his teeth white with milk.—Genesis, XLIX: 9-13.

EXPLANATION OF LAST SATURDAY'S CARTOON

THE DUNBAR CURFEW

The day of the curfew passed into oblivion long years ago, but there is in Bristol, Conn., atop the Dunbar Brothers factory, an old bell that rings 99 times every night of the year promptly at 9 o'clock. It is said that Col. Edward L. Dunbar wanted the bell to ring 100 times each night, but this was impossible because with the first pull of the bell there was one stroke and then two strokes with each additional pull. For 65 years it has been pealing out its 99 strokes, and the founder's will says it shall continue to ring just so.

Even 'Man On Flying Trapeze' Gets A Break On New Deal's WPA Circus Lot

Tanbark Ring On The Dole, Too; Clowns Given Help

BY WALTER C. PARKES
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—"The Greatest New Deal Show on Earth."

That's the WPA Circus, unique in the colorful history of the Big Top, which opened under the high, arched roof of a local National Guard Armory the other day and which if well-received here, probably will be on view in other cities.

About 50 erstwhile jobless men and women of the circus ring and the vaudeville stage, ranging from the Iron Jaw Girl to a troupe of Arabian Tumblers, were hitting the tanbark trail toward personal recovery under the wing of one of the most novel of the administration's relief projects.

It is a full-fledged circus, minus only a menagerie. Mr. Charles Mosconi had the idea. Oldsters will recall he was one of the famous team of dancers, the Mosconi Brothers, who regularly wowed them at the Palace when that Broadway Theater was the goal of every vaudevillian in the country. He is now Project Supervisor for the Works Progress Administration which is presenting the show as part of the Drama Unit's program for unemployed actors. Col Earle Boothe Manager of the Drama Unit, himself a noted producer and stage director, saw in it a helpful extension of his success in giving nearly 500 actors and actresses 65 weeks of steady booking over the "CCC circuit." The plan was quickly endorsed by the American Federation of Actors and won the support of Mayor La Guardia.

Stages Too Small For Aerialists

SOMETHING had to be done for circus folk when their canvas-walled world collapsed about them in the economic storm. Many found unexpected anchors to windward with travelling carnivals. But there were still enough others to present a real problem. They could not be salted in among the troupes that played in the CCC camps because the camp theaters had very small stages. Seven and a half feet of headroom tends to cramp the style of an aerial artist.

The performers hope the circus will enable them to settle the doubt that has been gnawing at their egoes during months of inaction. "Is the old skill still there?" They know that a performer whose success, oft-times his life, depends on perfect co-ordination of mind and muscular body cannot afford long layoffs. And though they bravely told their friends that they have been "resting" these long months, in their hearts they feared they were rusting.

But the aerial artists are in their element now—as are the wire acts, the clowns, the jugglers and all the rest of the "stupendous aggregation of death-defying and giggle-getting grimacers" of the WPA circus.

"We think the circus will afford a double benefit," Col. Boothe pointed out. "It gives these performers much needed work at more nearly a living wage than they received from the Home Relief and also provides free entertainment for that portion of the public unable to afford theaters and movies."

Could Make Up Five Units

MR. MOSCONI declared that his lists hold enough names to build five circus units, each complete with uniformed bands.

The show opens with the traditional "grand entry," a ten-piece WPA band blaring in the lead. The acts follow in regular order, from trained dogs, and veteran "Joeys," to bounding Bedouins. They get their cues from the crackling whip of Andre Dumont, ring-master extraordinary, resplendent in pink coat and shiny boots. Some of these performers are named in the program. Others are not. For you must know that sometimes even empty stomachs cannot stifle professional pride and certain "names" that once were boldly blazoned on 24-sheets now find refuge from embarrassment in anonymity.

Mosconi, who personally whipped the circus into shape, has all the pride of a Barnum in some of his "feature" acts. There is Madame Sandwina, for instance. Way back in—well, anyway—a long time ago, Barnum and Bailey's circus made its annual visit to old Madison Square Garden. With them was a tall, magnificently proportioned girl who performed amazing feats of strength. A group of prominent physicians who examined her declared that she was a perfect physical specimen of womanhood. Since then she has toured the world with all the great circuses.

Age Fails To Sap Strength

TODAY, old enough to be the mother of Ted Sandwina, who fought Phil Scott for the heavyweight championship of Europe, she thinks nothing of picking up a long iron strap an inch thick and bending it into a pretzel. Her stunt in the WPA circus includes such a gentle act as lying on a bed of spikes while a husky attendant pounds with a sledgehammer on an iron anvil poised daintily on her chest. Her colleagues give fervent thanks for her amiable disposition

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ira Bennett
(Pinch-hitting for Ray Tucker)

FDR knew what he was doing when he picked hard-boiled Harold Ickes to crack the toughest nuts of the New Deal. Ickes is now tackling the toughest shagbarks of his career. If FDR will only stand hitched Ickes will win out. It's in the matter of local taxation of Ickes' splendid real estate operations called "slum clearance."

After the Atlanta project had gone pretty far Atlanta served notice that it couldn't afford to give police, fire and school facilities free to the Ickes community; that the land formerly yielded taxes; that these services, if furnished free to the Ickes community, would be unjust to taxpayers. Ickes allowed this was reasonable and agreed to pay $9,192 a year to the city. Comptroller General McCarl holds up this item, saying tersely: "The federal government and its activities cannot be taxed."

So what? Why, nothing easier. Just put a "must" bill through Congress, providing that Uncle Sam shall not only finance and manage real estate ventures, but pay taxes on them so that his tenants shall enjoy low rentals.

PLEASURE: The heartbreaks in slum clearance are such that anybody but Ickes would have thrown up the sponge long ago. High cost of urban sites, lack of power to exercise eminent domain, obstructions from real estate interests, and a thousand other obstacles have delayed construction.

Only a few hovel-district projects are actually under way. The blueprints are fine but the results are scanty.

If some other public works scheme should develop, showing greater obstacles and harder nuts to crack, Ickes may drop the slum clearance idea altogether. But at present he insists that slum clearance must win. He revels in the difficulties of the job.

READY: A move to create a government monopoly for manufacture of munitions will be made at the next session of Congress. Members of the Senate munitions committee are encouraged by the public clamor against trafficking with belligerents.

The bill to take the profits out of war will come up again with increased support. Women's organizations throughout the country have helped to hold up the hands of the proponents.

If war should be going on when Congress meets it's a certainty that radical legislation will be enacted.

CONTINUOUS: As money is poured into work relief, cash for relief will be dried up. In some states it is impossible to abolish direct relief but the allowances of federal money will be cut down.

Over 85,000 "projects" for work relief have passed through the hopper. The word "project" is misleading. A "project" may be no more than widening a town street or putting in a sewer.

State directors are urged to push out the cash in hiring idle men. Aubrey Williams, Hopkins' "stooge," now predicts that work relief will be numming "next summer."

CHAINS: News behind the news of forthcoming hearings by the House committee investigating chain store operations is that grief awaits concerns guilty of secret rebates. Chairman Patman and members are on the warpath.

Patman offered a bill penalizing rebates, but crush of other business caused postponement. This bill stands a chance of passage next winter.

Buttressing his bill, Patman has gathered a mass of information and is about to corkscrew more out of unwilling witnesses. He is calling for persons and papers—and the House stands behind him in insisting that chain store managements "come through clean."

BAGATELLE: Senator Bankhead, brother of Tallulah's dad, is using the Congressional vacation to advantage in boosting his farm-tenant relief bill. If the Bankhead cotton-control bill should be knocked out, the Bankheads will be fortified in demanding the farm-tenant bill.

This bill calls for only $2,000,000,000 as a starter—a mere bagatelle, considering the plight of tenants and share-croppers in the cotton belt. Their powers as consumers cannot be developed very far on that sum.

The $19 a month paid to colored rural workers in the deep South keeps them from starving, but it doesn't settle their case. They will be up against it when Hopkins' big fund runs dry. Bankhead proposes to see that they shall have land, a mule and a cow, bestowed by a commission possessing a huge revolving fund—all repayable in the dim, sweet bye-and-bye.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE RICH aren't selling stocks. That's a far more important factor in the stock market's climb than the public realizes—and it may be just as important in reverse if and when a major reaction sets in.

New Deal tax legislation has made a big difference in the way the wealthy handle their investments. In the old days the average man of means might be in and out of the market a dozen times a month. He would snap up quick profits and come back for more. Present day taxes make it inadvisable to cash in on market gains at short intervals. In fact it's worthwhile to wait for years if feasible. So when the rich buy now they buy to hold—especially as they can no longer use the formerly valuable device of personal holding companies to conceal personal profits.

Results—a large volume of stock is out of circulation which would formerly have been available to meet rising demand. This overbalance of demand against supply in a bull market naturally accelerates the speed of the upward movement. Conversely, if a crash comes, wealthy stock owners will probably all get the urge to unload at about the same time—and there will be no commensurate demand to act as a parachute. In that case stocks might break all records for speed of descent. Officials who want to keep the market under control would do well to bear this in mind.

SPRINT: Brokers are, naturally glad to see big trading days again that help buy shoes for baby. But there's much head-shaking in inner circles about the sudden spread of public participation. Those who might be called "small amateurs" paid comparatively little attention to stock market gains until a week or so ago, but now there's ample evidence that the butcher and baker and candlestick maker have climbed aboard for another joy ride. Uniformed optimism is terrifically contagious—and there's no telling where it will lead. It's far more rhyme than reason.

The Securities Exchange commission margin rules will help somewhat to keep out the shoestringers—and they have always been a particular menace to market stability in the past. But Mr Eccles better get busy with his comparable rules for banks or speculative credit will get out of hand again. One reason no such regulations have been promulgated for banks before now is that they would have forced a wave of liquidation of undermargined loans—thus knocking the incipient boom on the head. But any stock loan still undermargined after recent gains ought to be chucked in the nearest ash can.

Recent public interest seems to focus chiefly on steel, oil and utility issues. Motors have also attracted a large following with the auto show in the offing—but in this case the buying is partially conteracted by professional short selling. The pros know from experience that motor shares usually slip down after first enthusiasm over new models has subsided. The big question for the market as a whole is whether the pace isn't getting too fast for comfort. You can't make a sprint last Marathon distance and if the runner collapses it will be just too bad.

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS, No. 32

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

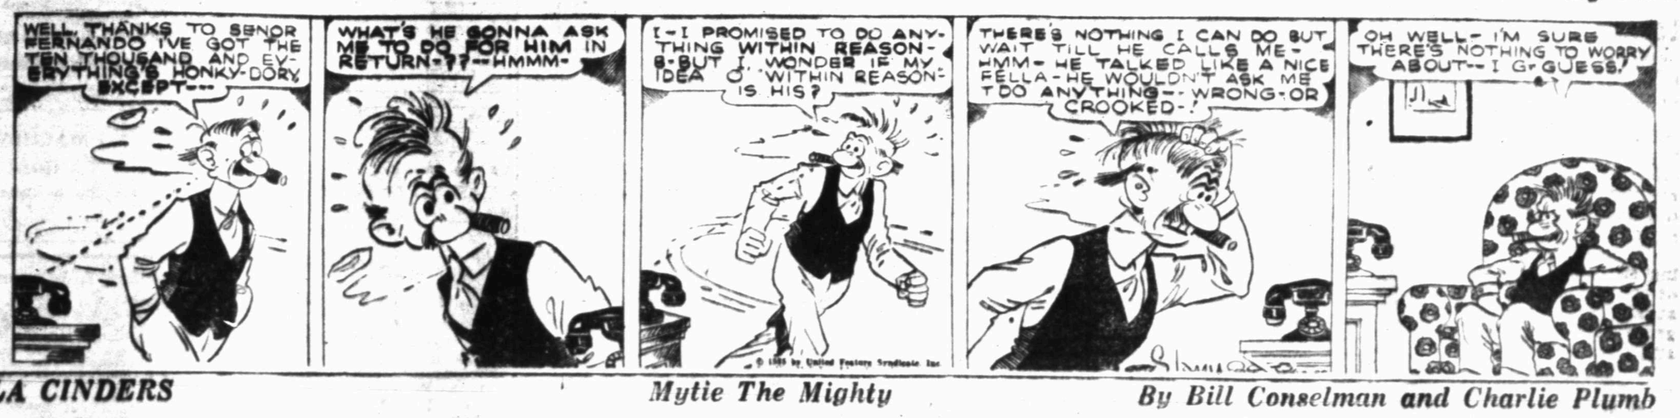

Ignoring Tobanga's implied command, Jerry Jones followed the headman and the four askaris. He saw Tommy Welsh standing near the sentry. "Hi, Doc," Tommy grinned. "What's the idea? This is a fine way to treat a visitor. Call off your boy scouts and ask me to lunch!"

Before the geologist could reply, Tobanga addressed Tommy in brazen tones: "This is a private safari. We want no visitors. Go!" Then he barked a command. The askaris raised their rifles and aimed them at the still-grinning Tommy Welsh. "Go!" Tobanga repeated.

Dr. Jeremiah Jones was a peaceful, even-tempered man; but he was both angered and frightened by this threat against his new friend. Quick as a flash he drew his small .32 revolver and thrust it into Tobanga's ribs. "Make them put down their rifles," he cried.

The startled Tobanga obeyed. "As bwana wishes," he replied obsequiously. He knew he must precipitate no crisis which might interfere with his task of bringing Dr. Jones safely to Boris Garetto. As for the newcomer—well, there would be ways of dealing with him later!

Ladies Night Program Will Be Staged By Lions Tonight

Ladies night will be observed tonight by the Lions club, with no noon luncheon at the Hilton hotel today, Hal Grady, program chairman tonight, said. Program begins at 7:30 o'clock with a dinner in the hotel ballroom.

Rev. Winston F. Borum, pastor of the First Baptist church at Midland and Mrs. Borum, will stage some of their own skits and interpretations. "I consider Reverend Borum to be one of the best entertainers I have ever seen in all my experience," Mr. Grady added. "He has that something that many professionl entertainers do not have. He will give the Lions club an entirely new program, his own 'stuff' and not a lot of stale jokes hashed and rehashed for the occasion."

R. C. Matheney, tap dancer, is also on the program.

Second part of the program will not be disclosed until it is time to be called, Mr. Grady added. The program will be concluded at 9:30 o'clock.

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—The sellers had a shade the better of it today in the daily market encounter with their bullish fellow traders.

The bulk of the stock list gave a little ground in relatively quiet dealings, but the bulls had their innings with a few specialties, some of the rails, which were mostly steady, and at times firm, and a few of the non-ferrous metal shares.

At the same time a number of the recently bought favorites, including the bulk of the motors and accessories, American Can, Monsanto, Union Pacific, Schenley and others gave up fractions to a point or more.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks the net decline for the day was .3 of a point at 52.7. Turnover in the stock exchange was 2,114,710 shares, a considerably quieter hourly rate than during most of last week while the market was making new highs.

The more disturbing tone of advices in the European crisis, while apparently not a strong stock market factor, were reflected in bond dealings, where Italian government and municipal obligations were off as much as 4 points in many cases. Most domestic corporate liens worked a little lower along with shares, and U. S. government loans were moderately lower, with a few exceptions.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 28. (AP)—Hedge selling against cotton purchased over the week-end was sufficient today to bring minor recessions in futures prices on the market here today. Dec. ended 7 points lower to 1087, May was off 7 points at 10.88 bid while July lost 8 points to close at 10.90.

News of market importance was conspicuous by its absence and there was little to stimulate buying interest. The majority of professional traders were unable to make anything out of the Geneva developments or other phases of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

The question of constitutionality of the AAA appeared to have lost its potency as a market factor for some time when it was learned today that the hearing of arguments on one case has been advanced to December 9. This should bring the actual decision in the early part of next year, according to traders' briefs.

The market was quiet today and despite the frequent sales for hedge purposes, maintained a steady undertone.

Port receipts 31,842; week 142,394; season 3,066,600; last season 2,162,913. Exports 43,982; week 76,263; season 1,361,416; last season 1,310,027. Port stocks 2,691,926. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 197,383; last season 92,843. Spot sales at southern markets were 43,939; last year 15,527.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 28. (AP)—Cotton was comparatively quiet today with prices working off a few points under southern hedging and scattering liquidation. The close was barely steady at a net advance of 3 points on next October, but generally 6 to 9 points net lower.

The market was rather irregular at the start with trade buying in the near months and hedging in the later deliveries. Houses with Liverpool connections were among the early buyers of near positions.

Selling was not active but demand was chiefly on a scale down, and weakness in wheat had a sentimental influence.

Exports today 41,645, making 1,290,609 so far this season.

Port receipts 30,742. U. S. port stocks 2,692,580.

TICKER NEWS

Courtesy Norman Mayer & Co.

New York—Clevenberg: volume of business in Worth street last week called unsatisfactory. Prices on finished goods are too low and this has slowed gray goods sales. Manchester cable optimistic. Cloth sales heavier than in years, demand coming from India, Singapore, near East, Egypt and South America. Hedge selling is coming into March and later months. This pressure should let up within a week or ten days. Trade demand remains excellent.

Memphis—A broad senatorial inquiry into government expenditures for the Cotton Cooperatives and the losses allegedly sustained by them at the expense of Federal Agricultural agencies will be opened here today. The investigators headed by Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, will call E. F. Creekmore, $35,000 a year, vice president and general manager of the American Cotton Cooperative Association to the stand as the first witness in the inquiry which may last a week and which undoubtedly will bring out the bitter rivalry between the cotton trade and the Cooperatives. The private cotton traders, headed by Caffey Robertson, president of the Memphis Cotton Exchange, have been engaged for weeks assembling evidence for introduction at the hearing.

Unbeaten Bears Prepare For Invasion By Unbeaten Frogs

WACO, Oct. 28. (AP)—The Baylor Bears, seemingly inspired by their 14 to 6 victory over the Texas Aggies last week, started work today for the invasion of the Texas Christian Horned Frogs Saturday.

It will be the third conference game for the undefeated Bruins, and a record homecoming crowd is expected.

The Bears came out of the Aggie clash in good shape, and full strength will be available against the bruising Frogs, who also are undefeated in conference competition.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 28. (AP)—(USDA)—Some improvement in eastern consuming centers and lighter receipts of livestock around mid-western market centers brought about generally steady levels on most trades of fed steers and yearlings, better kinds at some points stronger. In Chicago, best fed steers cashed at 13.15, several loads 12.00 to 12.60, and heifer yearlings at 11.25. Bulk of short fed steers around the circuit brought values ranging from 7.50 to 9.50. Bulk of replacement steers realized 6.00 to 8.00, some choice steer calves 9.25 and yearling stockers at 8.40.

of the vital Ethiopian railway in hostile, rugged country.

Evacuation Started

There were reports that Harar, near Jijiga, was virtually evacuated by Ethiopian troops and that the population of Makale, in the path of the northern fascist forces, had been ordered to quit the city.

At Geneva Russia joined formally in the economic drive to isolate Italy and League circles were regarding Austria as possibly the only serious dissenter.

As elsewhere, there was little hope or early peace in the seat of the League of nations.

Ethiopia prepared to celebrate a red-letter day of her own Sunday—the 39th anniversary of the slaughter of an Italian army at Aduwa. Anti-aircraft guns were mounted in an Addis Ababa square for fear Italian planes might add unwanted fireworks to the occasion.

Aduwa, however, now is in the hands of the Italian troops.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 28. (AP)—Persistent tumbling of Winnipeg wheat quotations to new levels under the Canadian government's guarantee to farmers pitched Chicago wheat prices down nearly 2 cents today.

Indications were that Canada's official wheat board was at least temporarily in the predicament of being compelled by existing law to buy wheat at a fixed price at home and either pile up a further big surplus or sell at a loss abroad.

Wheat here closed nervous, 1 1-8 to 1 5-8 under Saturday's finish, Dec. 97 1-4 to 1-2, corn 1-2 to 7-8 down, Dec. 60 to 60 1-8, oats unchanged to 1-4 off, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents decline.

With Winnipeg wheat quotations collapsing early to below Saturday's bottom figures, the Chicago wheat market soon followed suit.

Crosby Farmers Meet Last Night

LORENZO, Oct. 28. (Special)—Thirty-seven Crosby county farmers met at Lorenzo High school tonight to discuss wheat contracts, signing of which will begin Tuesday.

Ralph Howe, county agent, reported a production estimate of 30,000 bales of cotton for Crosby county, and said 25,784 tax free bales had been allotted. Total of 3,795 certificates was carried over from last year, making a total of 29,575 tags. This indicates enough certificates to sell the entire cotton crop, he pointed out.

It was reported that the corn-hog vote in Saturday's referendum carried 174 to 34 to continue the program another year.

G. S. Dowell, vocational agriculture teacher, spoke on necessity for support of the Texas Agricultural association and of sending delegates to a Dallas convention. O. J. Eideler of Crosbyton and Mr. Wheeler of Lorenzo were elected delegates, and another will be named from Ralls.

It was voted for the county agricultural association to raise $580 for the Texas association to further the AAA program.

Dionne Quins Add Meat To Diet; Are 17 Months Old

CALLANDER, Ont. Oct. 28. (AP)—The Dionne quintuplets, 17 months old today, added meat to their diet for the first time.

It's only a small quantity of carefully selected and prepared veal liver served once a week but it marked the youngsters' first move toward a grown-up diet.

The liver and Marie's development were highlights of the famous babies' 17th month. Marie has progressed remarkably mentally and physically in the past four weeks, Dr. Allen Roy Dafoe, their physician, said.

Within a few months Marie, who was the smallest of the five when they were born May 28, 1934, and has lagged since, will equal her sisters in every way, the physician believes.

Britain Still On The Alert

Easing Of Tension Has Not Caused Military Forces To Relax Vigilance; Egyptian Harbor Bristles

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 28.—The easing of tension between Great Britain and Italy has not caused the British land and sea forces to relax their vigilance in Egypt.

Alexandria's harbor bristles today with British fighting craft and hospital ships. Ashore there is unceasing military activity.

Port Is Closed

Within the last few days, British forces have closed the Mersa Matruh airport, 80 miles up the coast toward Libya, to civilian planes. This previously was one of the Royal Dutch airline's stops in the route between Athens and Africa.

Here in Alexandria, the military has taken over the Casino Stefano, the big resort hotel a few miles up the shore from the heart of the city.

Officially, the hotel will be occupied by the headquarters staff, but an unofficial source stated that the hotel was, in reality, being equipped with hospital facilities.

Searchlights On Guard

From dusk until dawn, 10 powerful searchlights from the shore and ships throw their beams restlessly through the sky.

The flying boat in which this correspondent approached Alexandria from Athens was picked up by a beam at least five miles out and was held steadily in that beam until it was close enough to be identified.

Sightseers still are permitted to take excursions through the harbor and see the warships close by, but cameras have been barred for the last two weeks, ever since the Italian S. S. Ausonia burned in the harbor.

space than the women's residence hall at the college was not available thus limiting the number which can attend. Thirty-five toward the goal is already reached since there will be at least that many special guests who will include speakers and the board of directors and their wives, Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Knapp, Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bledsoe and others.

Invitations Are Mailed

Mailing of 2,500 invitations to the celebration began Monday. Included were programs, which will not be changed unless a last minute complication arises, said Pederson.

Bill Collins, W. E. Street, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson and Pederson met in the alumni office at the college Sunday afternoon to check on finances and other business matters.

Subject of an address by Gov. James V. Allred Nov. 10 at a convocation in the gymnasium at 3 p. m. will be "The College and Citizenship," the governor has notified the college. Added to the list of speakers is Coke Stevenson, speaker of the Texas house of representatives, who will be among those giving greetings and felicitations at a convocation at 8:30 a. m. Nov. 11. With all salient points of the program planned, dozens of details are being worked out by committees.

Want Flowers

Miss Geraldine Clewell will head a committee to obtain flowers for the luncheon. Pederson asked that persons with flowers to loan or give notify Miss Clewell.

Deans and others of each division at the college are sending out invitations and clubs and others are co-operating in inviting persons to the celebration.

Programs for the two convocations follow:

Sunday, Nov. 10, 3 p. m., gymnasium—"My Soul, Now Bless Thy Maker," melody by Kugelman, arranged by Bach, sung by the college chorus directed by Julien Paul Blitz; address by Governor Allred; college hymn.

Monday, Nov. 11, 8:30 a. m., gymnasium—address by H. Y. Benedict, president of the University of Texas; "Texas Tech: The History of Its Origin", Lewis T. Carpenter; address, L. A. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction; greetings and felicitations from the Association of Texas Colleges, J. K. McLemore, vice president; state board of education, Ghent Sanderford, president-elect; Texas State Teachers association, C. N. Shaver, president; G. H. Nelson, senator from 30th senatorial district; Texas house of representatives, Stevenson; "Texas Tech and Its Future," Dr. Knapp.

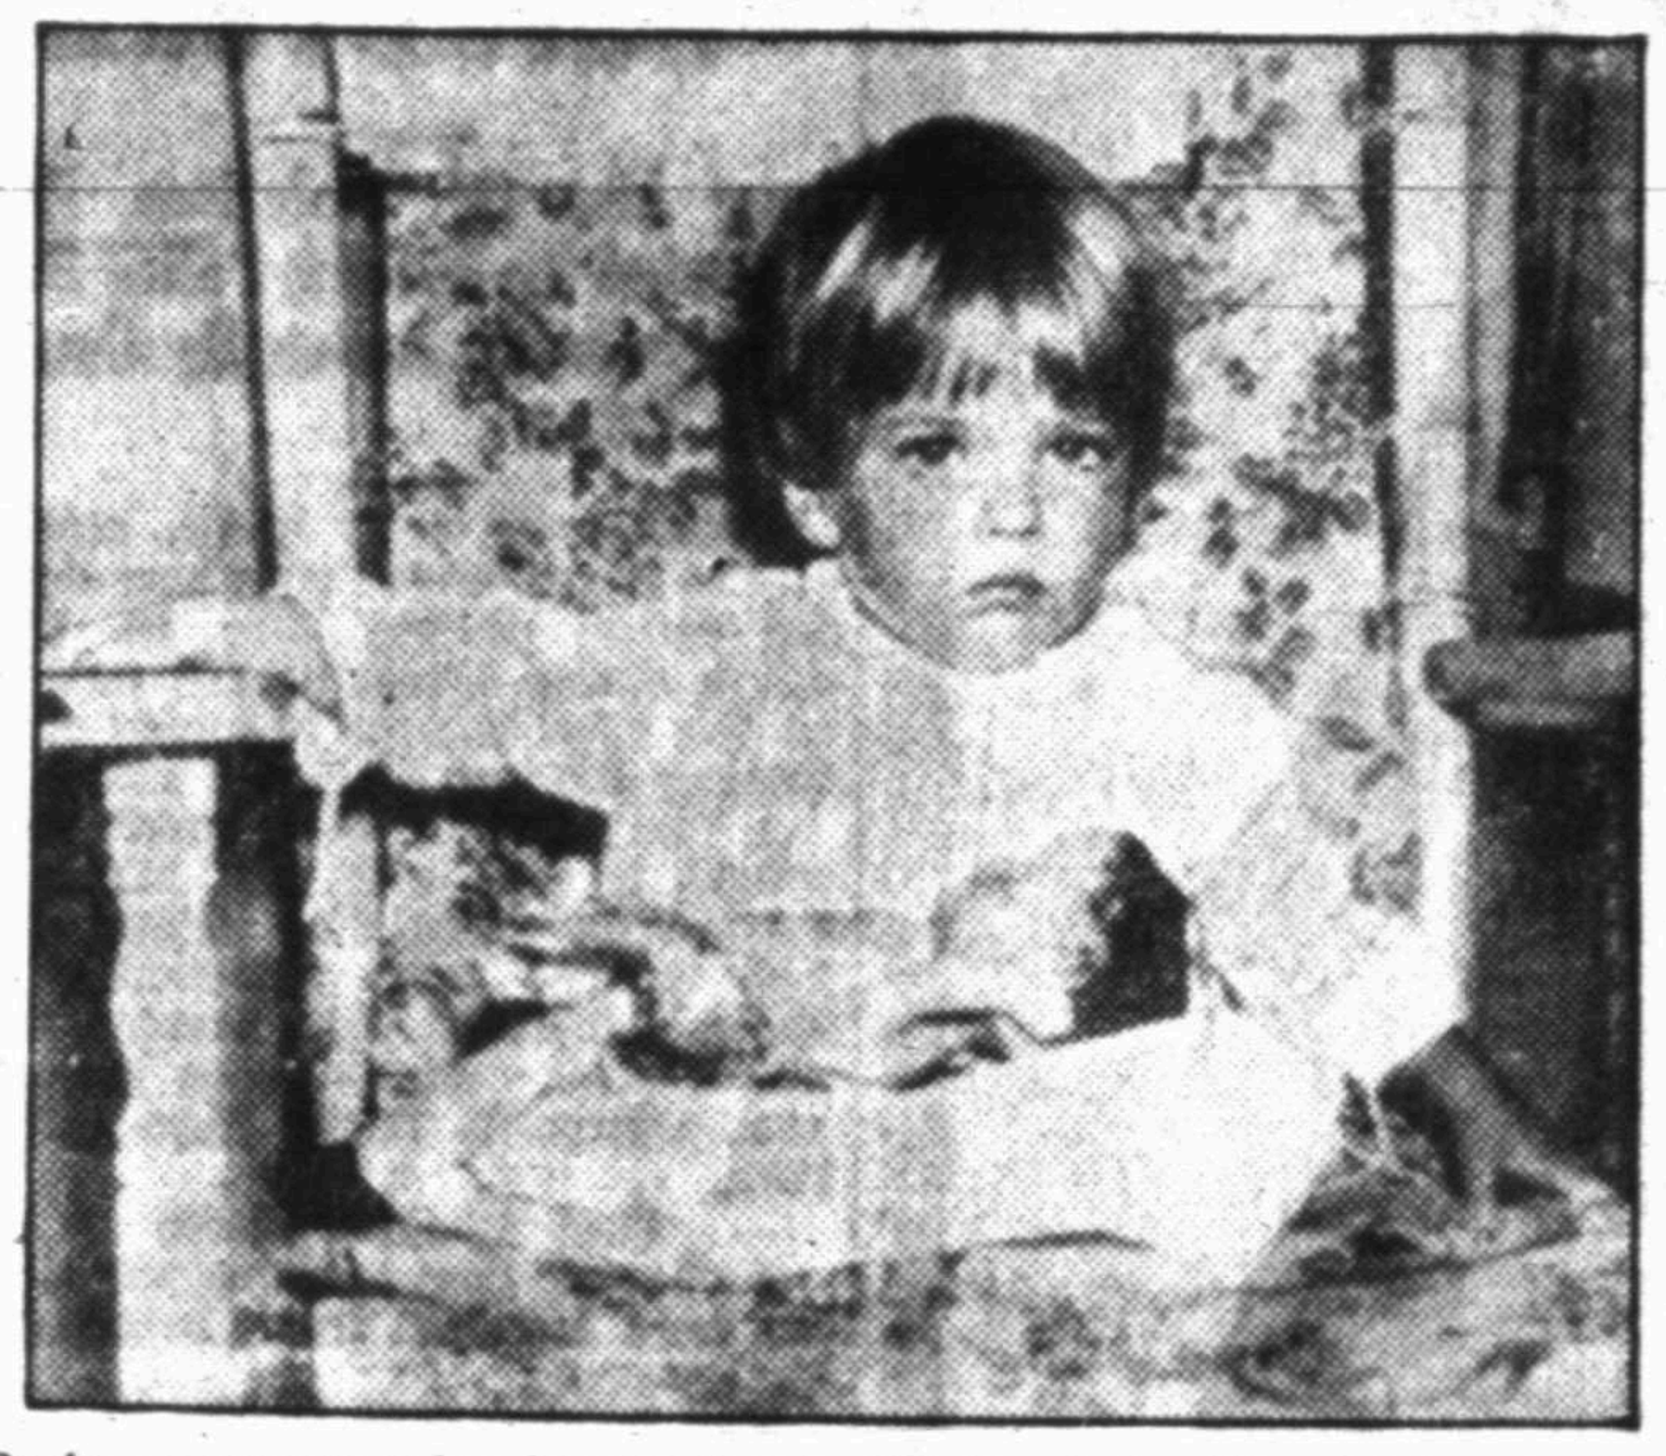

Mexicans Stage Program At Legion Meeting On Monday

Orchestra program by Senor Espinoza and his Mexican "family" orchestra enlivened a program otherwise contributed to by readings and songs by Mexican children under direction of Mrs. J. Duval and Miss Corene Ratliff, teachers in the Mexican school, when the American Legion met Monday night.

Mrs. Fred Higbee, president of the Legion auxiliary, said Armistice breakfast will be held at the legion home at 7 a. m. and that wives of all ex-service men will be invited.

Announcement was made that the Legion will enter a team in the Salvation Army drive for funds; that the legion and its auxiliary will give a box supper Wednesday night, to which ex-service men and their wives are invited, (all being asked to bring a box) and that plans for a Christmas tree deal handled by the organization are progressing. The box supper will be a charity benefit.

as he was listed in court records, also shot William L. Hawthorne, a court reporter, and Nathan Weintroob, 28, a clerk in Fetzer's office, and attempted to shoot two stenographers before he turned the gun on himself. He died at Birdwell hospital.

Fetzer, who imposed a year's jail sentence on the slayer in 1929, for assault with a dangerous weapon was Lanning's first target. The 62-year-old lawyer, who had long been active in Republican politics here, was shot through the heart and wounded on the chin, when the crazed man burst into his private sanctum.

A manuscript which Lanning carried and a note found in his pockets at the hospital both indicated he had long dramatized his own conviction and planned revenge.

The manuscript told the story of a jail bird who killed five persons, including a mayor, before he was slain by officers.

base allotments up to a stipulated per cent.

In the new corn-hog contracts, and in the new four-year cotton agreements now being drafted, it was reported that the AAA may seek practical application of the plan for farm control outlined in a statement by President Roosevelt last week. Great emphasis, it was said, will be given to specific requirements for soil conservation and the contracts will be as similar in form as possible, paving the way for a "one contract" system of crop control.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Oct. 28. (AP)—The will of the late Henry Huddleston Rogers, jr., Standard Oil magnate, was admitted to probate today after counsel for Henry Huddleston Rogers, 3rd, said he would not file objections.

The will disposing of an estate estimated at $26,000,000 cut young Rogers off with the income from a $500,000 trust fund which reverts to the estate after his death.

Young Rogers' stepmother, Mrs. Pauline P. Rogers, his sister, Mrs. Millicent Rogers Ramos, and the late capitalist's grandson, Peter Salm, receive large slices of the estate.

erosity that the government has visited upon this agency?" Senator McKellar asked.

"Of course, that is true to a certain extent," replied E. F. Creekmore, general manager of the ACCA, "but we have put in several millions of our own earnings, and speaking of generosity, may I suggest that you look into the operations of the RFC if you have never heard of such munificence?"

Money Making Unit

Senator McKellar said the RFC was a money making corporation, and Creekmore declared the government would lose nothing on the co-ops, as they would pay back their $5,000,000 capital in five years that the government had advanced.

McKellar delved into the intricate structure of the ACCA with Creekmore, its $35,000-a-year operations head, as the first witness.

He brought out from Creekmore that out of the $5,000,000 paid in capitalization of the ACCA, but $76,000 had actually been paid by its affiliated associations, the rest being government money.

Author Of Resolution

The Tennessee senator was author of the resolution under which he and Senators Bankhead (D-Ala) and Townsend (R-Del) were authorized to investigate government expenditures for the co-opers. Senator Bankhead will join Senator McKellar. Senator Townsend may arrive later.

It was afternoon before Creekmore was allowed to read a lengthy statement in which he accused cotton shippers of circulating propaganda filled with "misstatements, half truths and unfounded rumors."

He denied that the ACCA is just another large cotton firm, and declared that cotton firms do not operate on the basis "of reducing the spread between the price received by the producer and the price paid the mill."

"Cotton firms have not returned profits to producers, interested themselves in a general reduction of transportation charges, compression, warehouse rates, or in legislation benefitting the producer," he declared.

Senate Blocks Pension Taxes

Lower Branch Making But Slow Progress On Lengthy Omnibus Bill; Levy On Receipts Of Railways Removed

interpreted the house contingent as favorable to the levy and urged the instruction against possibility the senate contingent likewise would favor it.

Holbrook predicted that although the senate previously had defeated a sales tax, legislators "are being driven to it and will take it sooner or later" to pay pension costs. Without some form of a sales tax, he said, "we can not have pension payments."

O'Neal countered with a prediction "the house will not go home without passing some kind of tax" to pay pensions, while Senator Claud Westerfeld of Dallas charged "every big lobbyist has called for a sales tax" to escape special levies.

Some Said Afraid

Rawlings charged some were "afraid to vote for a sales tax and afraid to vote against pensions," and "not knowing the change of sentiment by the people for a sales tax, they resolve the doubt against it."

Precedents which established the right of a conference committee to inject new matter in adjusting differences between the houses on a bill were criticized by O'Neal, who predicted a continuation of the system might lead to a unicameral legislature.

The senate confirmed Governor Allred's appointments to complete membership on the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district board and of directors for the Leon river conservation district.

Estimates Are Cut

As a result the estimated deficit was decreased from $4,528,000,000 to $3,281,000,000, as compared with the actual deficit of $3,575,000,000 in the last fiscal year.

Petty Crime Wave Breaks

Long List Of Violations Reported To Sheriff, Police Departments; Action By Court Is Taken

Outbreak of petty crime, annually to be contended with here during cotton picking time on the South Plains, began finding its way to the legal records Saturday and Sunday and was continued Monday.

A "tall, slender, dark man" was sought in this area late Monday, Brownfield authorities saying he had escaped after abandoning a stolen automobile there Sunday. He was wearing overalls and a jumper and, assertedly, might have come here.

Gum Machine Stolen

A chewing gum machine was stolen here Monday from Broadway Barber shop.

Two negroes were sought by police as suspects in theft of a dark brown leather jacket from Popular Price store at noon Monday.

Francisco Basco, Mexican, was sentenced to 30 days in jail upon a plea of guilty before County Judge E. L. Pitts Monday afternoon. He confessed Monday to theft last week of wearing apparel and accessories from an automobile at Slaton. He was apprehended through work of R. L. Wicker, investigating for the police department there, Saturday. Loot was hidden in two cane patches and he was trying to dispose of a woman's coat when arrested. Property belonged to Mrs. Lee Farris.

Mexican Sentenced

Faustino Guerra, Mexican, was sentenced by Judge Pitts to fine of $1 and jail sentence of 15 days, upon a plea of guilty of theft Saturday of two cases of eggs, valued at $15. Originally, he had said San Antonio Mexicans took the eggs. Swift & Co. was complainant.

Seven complaints of swindling by worthless check were prepared in the office of Jess C. Levens, county attorney, totaling $49.63.

Complaints were filed in the county attorney's office against two Slaton men, charged with selling inferior gasoline. They will be arraigned before Horace Smith, Slaton justice of the peace. Madison Rayburn, assistant county attorney, prepared the complaints.

Burglary Reported

Burglary of a residence was reported late Saturday night at Levelland.

Police jailed 12 persons here over the week-end for drunkenness, gaming and theft. Including three transferred there by police, the sheriff's department jailed 21 persons Saturday and Sunday. Eight were charged with drunkenness, six with gaming, three for destroying railroad property, and one for theft. One was held for investigation. Two men, one arrested for perjury and one for liquor law violation, were transferred to Garza county.

Music Being Offered To More Local School Children This Year Than In Other Times; Activities Are Pushed

Music is being offered to more Lubbock school children and under better conditions this year than ever before. Under the direction of Mrs. E. E. Key, head of the public school music department, and ten music teachers, a total of 650 students now receive regular classroom instruction and chorus activity as part of their allied-curricular work. This number does not include primary teachers who are in charge of their music lessons just as they are other subjects, nor does it include the students who are receiving instrumental instruction in band and orchestra work.

During the depression public school music suffered a serious setback in many school systems. Due to the interest of State Superintendent L. A. Woods, music is now on the road to rapid revival in Texas schools.

Program Is Varied

The year's program of the public school music department includes special programs at school assemblies, programs for various organizations of the city; a public school massed chorus program in the spring; a spring music festival; and entering students in the massed chorus which sings in Dallas in June. This chorus of 50,000 Texas school children is being planned in connection with the Centennial celebration.

At Sanders school Miss Lois E Mangum has three choruses of twenty students each. Miss Dimple Watson at K. Carter school has one chorus of thirty-five students. Three choruses in Central Ward school are under the direction of Mrs. Willie C. Smith. They have thirty students each. Forty-five children from the first through the third grades are in the chorus at George M. Hunt directed by Mrs. J. T. Shaver. Mrs Mary Walton at Dupre school directs one chorus of thirty students.

In Senior High school Mrs. Ann Alden Trotter directs two boys glee clubs and one girls glee club. Four teachers at Junior High care for the over 1300 students enrolled there. They are Mrs. Elliott, fifth grade; Miss Ruth Mildred Rylander, fifth and sixth; Mrs. M. E. Ware, sixth and seventh; Mrs. E. E. Key, seventh and eighth.

Three Minute Relief From Periodical Pains

Now it is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit-forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold. (adv.)

NR—the safe, dependable, all-vegetable laxative and corrective — works gently, thoroughly, naturally. Its mild, comforting laxative tract to complete, regular functioning. Non-habit-forming.
