Ike Urges American Unity In State Of Union Message

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower called today for a new measure of American unity and effort to continue prosperity at home and meet the continuing threat of "a strongly armed imperialistic dictatorship" abroad.

In his annual State of the Union message, Mr. Eisenhower asked not only for the cooperation of Congress but "a personal efort of dedication," by every American to help establish "a secure world order." He said that in such a world the United States can continue to prosper and resources now dissipated on the armaments of war" can be released by all nations to help raise the world standard of living.

Mr. Eisenhower delivered his 3,500-word message in person before a joint session of the House and Senate.

On the domestic front, Mr. Eisenhower found America enjoying an "unprecedented peak" of prosperity. But he said there is a continuing threat of inflation which can materially damage the current economy.

He called on business to avoid "unnecessary price increases" at a time when demand in many areas "presses hard on short supplies."

He also said that wage increases and other labor benefits should be "reasonably related" to productivity. He said that pay boosts that outrun prices and productivity contribute to inflation.

To maintain stable economic growth, Mr. Eisenhower recommended that Congress undertake "a broad national inquiry" into the entire American financial system.

Repeats "Open Skies" Plan

In the troubled international field, the President said the existence of "a strongly armed imperialistic dictatorship" — obviously Russia and her satellites — threatened the peace of the world and consequently, the security of the United States.

He repeated his recommendation for an "open skies" agreement among nations for mutual inspection of armaments by "unarmed aerial sentinels." And he again recommended that the Unit-

Cold Front Lowers Texas Temperature

By UNITED PRESS

A frigid Canadian cold front raced through Texas today on winds up to 70 miles per hour, dropping temperatures by more than 50 degrees.

Strong north winds kicked up dust as the front sped through the state and reached the Gulf of Mexico within less than 24 hours.

The mercury fell to 12 degrees in Amarillo early today, compared to a 67-degree reading at noon Wednesday. The temperature dropped from 67 to freezing in Amarillo Wednesday within an hour.

Borger, with a low of 67 this morning, reported a temperature drop from 66 to 34 between noon Wednesday and 1:30 p.m. Even colder readings were forecast for tonight.

Light snow fell over parts of West Texas, but forecasters said the front moved too fast to kick off scattered rain that had been expected earlier.

Blew Man's Teeth Out

The wind was so strong, in fact, that it blew an airman's false teeth out at Amarillo Wednesday. Airman Paul G. Deering of Niagara, N.Y., an instructor at Amarillo Air Force Base, was outdoors with a class when a student asked a question.

When Deering opened his mouth to answer, a gust of wind blew a partial plate out of his mouth. Winds blew up to 70 miles per hour in Amarillo when the front passed through.

Trees were blown down and utility lines were snapped in Dallas. Dallas Power and Light Co. said it had 64 trucks working through the night repairing damaged lines.

An 80-foot high pecan tree was blown over on the house where Eddie Carter, 26, and Rosie Bell, 46, live in Dallas. A 12-foot section of the roof was knocked in and falling debris hit Carter, a Negro, on the head and injured him slightly.

Going to Get Colder

Light rain and blowing dust was reported along the front early today in South Texas. The front was expected to pass Brownsville before noon.

Even colder weather was forecast over the state for tonight. The weather bureau said freezing temperatures would cover all of the state except the extreme south portion.

Light rainfall was reported at Palacios, Corpus Christi, Port Arthur and Galveston.

Some other low temperatures included Wichita Falls 20, Lubbock and Fort Worth 25, Dallas, 26, Abilene 27, Marf a 31, Waco, 33, Austin 40, San Antonio 44, El Paso 47, Houston 50, Laredo 57 and Brownsville 64.

Officials To Tighten Entry Of Hungarians

CAMP KILMER, N.J. (UP)—The government plans to tighten security and other restrictions on Hungarian refugees coming to the United States.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa), chairman of the House investigation subcommittee, announced the security crackdown Wednesday and said "many more people" are to be returned in the future.

Walter came to this refugee reception center after it was announced that eight Hungarians were returned to Austria for giving false information. Another Hungarian returned at his own request.

He said many of the first refugees to flee Hungary were "hard-boiled Communists" trying to escape the ire of revolutionists, but that he was not sure how many Communists reached the United States.

However, of those who have filtered through, Walter said he was "quite certain our authorities will round them up and deport them." Many of those to be turned back will be deported for violation of parole, Walter said.

The Pennsylvania Democrat, co-author of the McCarran-Walter immigration law, said he thought some Hungarian Communists had received permanent American visas while true rebels against Communism were forced to enter the country on parole.

Toothache Causes Arrest

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Richard Nathan Longfellow, 42, blamed a toothache for his conviction on a drunk driving charge.

Police said they arrested Longfellow Dec. 30 after watching his car weave down the street.

Longfellow told Traffic Judge James Demopolos he washed his mouth out four times with swigs of whiskey to ease "a bad toothache."

"I guess I did accidentally swallow some," he said.

The Judge fined him $60.

Demos Reject Substitute For Doctrine

By NEIL MACNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democratic members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee today, in effect, rejected a proposed substitute for the "Eisenhower Doctrine" advanced by a "very prominent" member of their own party.

They did so after Secretary of State John Foster Dulles denounced the substitute.

President Eisenhower was expected to make a new plea for speedy approval of his original plan in delivering his State of the Union Message to a joint session of Congress today.

Democrats on the foreign relations committee who were questioned about the substitute showed little sentiment for it. Several flatly rejected it.

The substitute would state only that the United States regards the independence of Middle East nations as vital and would fight, if necessary, to protect them.

Mr. Eisenhower's proposal specified that the United States would go to the Middle East's defense only in event of Communist aggression. It also would give the President authority to commit American troops without advance congressional approval and would authorize a $400 million program of economic and military aid to strengthen Middle East nations.

The House committee planned to hear testimony today from Acheson on the "Eisenhower Doctrine."

Former Chancellor Given Job To Restore Prestige

LONDON (UP) — Harold MacMillan was named prime minister to succeed Sir Anthony Eden today.

MacMillan, 62-year-old former Chancellor of the Exchequer and favorite of right wing Conservatives, was asked to form a new government by Queen Elizabeth II during a visit to Buckingham Palace this afternoon.

Thus, just about 18 hours after Eden stepped down for reasons of health, the dapper son of an American mother was given the job of restoring Britain's prestige and economic stability after the Suez debacle. His rise to political prominence came only after World War II.

Picked Over Butler

The jaunty MacMillan was picked over the other favorite contender for the job, R. A. (Rab) Butler, 53, Lord Privy Seal and majority leader of the House of Commons. Right wing Conservatives had opposed Butler on grounds he was "soft" in dealing with Egypt over the Suez crisis.

MacMillan rode to Buckingham Palace at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. est) to receive the mandate from the queen. During the trip he showed his usual lack of formality — he sat up front with his chauffeur.

The audience lasted 20 minutes, and a few moments before 2:30 p.m. (8:30 a.m. est), the palace announced briefly:

"The queen received the right honorable Harold MacMillan, M. P., in audience this afternoon and offered him the post of prime minister and first lord of the treasury.

"Mr. MacMillan accepted her majesty's offer and kissed her hands upon his appointment."

Decision Belongs to Queen

The decision to name a prime minister belongs to the queen alone. But usually she picks a man who can muster a majority of the House of Commons.

In this case, with the Conservatives holding a 58-seat edge in the House, she chose MacMillan because he seemed able to rally fellow party members behind his policies.

MacMillan's appointment was a victory for the right-wing Conservatives, who rejected Butler be-

Resignation Of Eden Gets US Welcome

WASHINGTON (UP) — United States oficials today privately welcomed Sir Anthony Eden's decision to quit as Britain's prime minister as a step toward restoring U.S.-British relations to their pre-Suez level.

Publicly, there were warm expressions from the White House and the State Department for Eden and concern over his health. But by his resignation, officials said privately, Eden had cleared the way for a strengthening of the Western alliance and a revival of American-British cooperation.

President Eisenhower, in a White House statement, did not express the usual "regret" over Eden's resignation. But the President referred to Eden as "an old and good friend of mine." He said he had developed a "great respect and admiration" for Eden as a "dedicated leader in the cause of freedom." The President also said he is sending Eden a personal message.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who had not always seen eye-to-eye with Eden, said "It is a matter of deep regret that Sir Anthony Eden has felt compelled to lay down the arduous duties of his office because of health." The secretary spoke of Eden's "ability and effective dedication to the cause of freedom in the world and unity between the free nations, particularly between the United Kingdom and the United States."

Ogden Wires Ike An Oil Export Program Warning

A telegram warning that the present oil export program to Europe may plunge the nation's service stations into disastrous gasoline price wars by Spring because of the excessive surplus being created was wired to President Eisenhower and all members of the Texas delegation in Congress this week.

The warning note, sounded by Ben Ogden of Pampa, president of Texas Service Stations, Associated, Texas' largest trade association, also included a request that gasoline be shipped overseas along with crude oil and distillates to alleviate shortages resulting in gasoline rationing in Europe.

Released through the association's State Headquarters in Austin by Joseph J. Malec, executive secretary of TSSA, the telegram read as follows:

"Present oil export program to Europe resulting in accumulation of surplus gasoline at greatest rate in history. Surplus jumped over five and one quarter million barrels in one week. Now over one hundred eighty-five million barrels. Continuation of trend could set off disastrous nation wide gasoline price wars by Spring. Respectfully request that immediate steps be taken to protect economic future of service station business and alleviate shortages in Europe by shipping gasoline overseas along with crude and distillates. Believe present gasoline stocks can be safely reduced by fifty million barrels."

"It is not our desire to interrupt the present export program, because Europe needs our petroleum products" Ogden said. "The present method of administering this program, however, must be altered or it will imperl the economc stability of the service station busness of the entire nation."

This condition, coupled with the gasoline price increase effected generally over the state since last Thursday, has placed Texas sermost impossible squeeze, according vice station operators in an almost impossible squeeze, according to the Association's Executive Secretary.

"Because his profit per gallon has been cut to the minimum that he can accept and continue to exist," Malec noted, "it is absolutely necessary that the servce station operator pass along to the customer the price increases handed down to him from the higher echelons of the oil industry.

"At the same time" Malec continued, "operators who sell major company products are under pressure to meet the competition of lower priced independent stations, and the resulting squeeze has created a virtually impossible situation."

Retail Gasoline Price Increases In Pampa

The retail price of gasoline in Pampa has been increased by one and a half cents a gallon.

Tom Kitchens, president of the Pampa Service Station Operators Association, told The News yesterday afternoon that the increase in gasoline prices would be charged by all major company stations in Pampa.

A majority of the members of the association, after discussing recent one-cent-per-gallon price increase by gasoline suppliers, decided yesterday at their noon meeting to up the prices in order not to lose profit percentage as a result of the wholesale increase.

Major companies throughout the state have already announced an increase in the price of crude, and the wholesale price increase followed as a result.

Kitchens said that, in addition to the cut in profit percentage the station operators would have received after the wholesale increase it was felt that the local retailers should increase their prices in order to offset the rise in operating costs, increase in taxes and salary increases.

Ben Ogden of Pampa, president of the Texas Service Station Operators' Association, said, "About 40 per cent of the people in our business go broke. This is due to many causes. For one thing, anytime you buy a gallon of gasoline today, the tax on that fuel has already been paid for in advance. If you charge it and then don't pay for it, no one loses but the service station operator.

"The same holds true for leakage in gasoline storage tanks or if we buy the fuel when the weather is hot and it gets cold before we sell it. The volume goes down and we lose money. The gasoline itself has been paid for and so have the taxes.

"Another thing, service station operators now get about 10 per cent profit on each gallon of gasoline sold whereas along about 1953 they were getting approximately 30 per cent profit. The reason for this is, a few years ago we paid about 15 cents per gallon for gasoline and tried to make about six cents on each gallon. Well, as wholesale prices increased, and taxes were added on, we stil ljust got our approximate six cents profit. Therefore, our percentage of profit dropped and it began to get where we were not operating on a very profitable percentage of return for the money invested."

The "going" price for gasoline at most major company stations in Pampa today was 32 cents for regular and 34.5 cents for higher grades.

City Engineers Plan '57 Paving Program

James Cowan, city engineer, this morning told The News that his department is currently in the process of working up the 1957 paving program.

Cowan said that no date for public hearings or the receiving of bids had been set yet but that those matters were "not too far in the future."

The engineer's department is currently sending out petitions to be signed by property owners who desire paving work. The department already has petitions for the paving of the 1200 block of E. Kingsmill, the 600, 700 and 800 blocks of E. Albert, 1200 block of W. Buckler, 700 block of N. Lefors, the west half of the 400 block of W. Buckler, the east half of the 500 block of W. Buckler, the east half of the 500 block of W. Texas and the 600 block of W. Worrell.

Cowan said there are a number of other petitions out which have not been completed. Also, he urged property owners who wanted paving and would like to get the work started on it this spring to get their petitions out and completed as he would like to get all the potential paving "lined up" for an early start this spring. He said that any requests for petitions would be appreciated and when asked for, the processing work will get underway immediately. Actual construction work should begin "in March or April," the engineer said.

The city uses a contractor plan for paving in which the maximum payment plan is a five-payment, four-year set-up. The first payment comes due under this plan 10 days after the paving is completed and each of the four others are due one year apart.

Deadline Near For Poll Tax

Jack Back, County tax collector-assessor has reminded the public that Jan. 31, is the deadline for the paying of poll taxes. Anyone not paying their tax before this time will not be eligible to vote on any issues other than special bond issues arising during the year.

To date, Back said, there have been a total of 478 paid taxes with 289 exemptions. These exemptions are for persons who will be 21 sometime during the year or who are over 60.

Meeting Set To Advertise Bids

The County Commissioners will meet Monday to advertise for Bank Depository bids.

This is in keeping with the practice of the county in allowing bids from the local banks on a basis of highest interest allowed on its deposits. The bids are taken every two years.

George Cree Jr. Heads Hotel Firm

George Cree Jr. was elected president of the Community Hotel Company of Pampa at a meeting of the board of directors today.

Others elected were E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary; W. J. Smith and Mrs. Opal Marshall, assistant secretaries; Floyd E. Imel and A. A. Schuneman, treasurers. Each of five committee chairmen will serve as vice presidents.

The committees are: Architecture and Building, with M. K. Brown, C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Dona Cornutt, P. G. Hughes, Fred Neslage and E. Roy Smith as members; Collections, with George Cree Jr., H. O. Darby and R. L. Pugh as members; Finance, with Mrs. Inez Carter, Ivey Duncan, E. L. Green Jr., Floyd Imel and A. A. Schuneman as members; Operating, with Frank Culberson, Paul Crouch, George Scott and Joe Tooley as members; and Site, with Crawford Atkinson, Lynn Boyd, Hugh Burdette, Ed Myatt, and Dr. M. C. Overton as members.

William J. Smith is legal counsel; E. O. Wedgeworth is head of the company's public relations, and Mrs. Opal Marshall is office secretary.

Each of the committees is selecting its own chairman, who will serve as a vice president. The only chairmen selected so far are C. P. Buckler, chairman of the Architecture and Building committee, and George Scott, chairman of the Operating committee. Also, E. Roy Smith was elected vice president of the Architecture and building committee and Mrs. Dona Cornutt, secretary.

The committees are to act in an advisory group to the board. The committees will be more or less fact-finding groups and will report their observations to the board for action. It was reported at the meeting that 98.3 per cent of the votes cast were for the suggested board. Approximately 81 per cent of the stock voted.

A report from W. J. Smith, legal cousel, on by-laws of the organization was given at the meeting.

Mrs. Marshall gave a report on billings and collections to date.

ed Nations persist toward the goal of reduced armaments, pledging this country's continued efforts in this direction.

Asks Civil Rights Program

The Chief Executive delayed until his Jan. 16 budget message the bulk of his detailed legislative recommendations. Today, however, he did include these specific requests:

1. A school construction bill which should be given "high priority."

2. A four-point civil rights program which he recommended last year, but which did not pass Congress.

3. Prompt action on legislation to "regualize" the status of Hungarian refugees admitted to this country as parolees. He also said he shortly would send Congress a special message asking for changes in the immigration laws.

Stronger Voice

4. An appreciable increase in appropriations for the U.S. Information Agency to strengthen the voice of freedom against Communist propaganda.

Mr. Eisenhower said that, through future messages from him or department heads, the administration will submit special recommendations for legislation involving a broad range of subjects. These will include federal financial affairs, defense, the administration of justice, agriculture, "urgently needed" increases in postal rates, domestic and foreign commerce, natural resources, labor, health, atomic energy, public works and labor-management relations.

Funeral services are pending at Richerson Funeral Home.

OGDEN

The average service station operator attempts to house, feed, clothe and educate his family on a profit of two cents per gallon or less, the TSSA Executive Secretary explained.

"That's why officials of this association, speaking for the 22,000 service station operators of Texas, are alarmed over the vast gasoline stocks being accumulated," he added. "Surplus gasoline is usually the spark that ignites a price war, which is the plague of the service station business.

"A gasoline price war may temporarily boost the gallonage of a single station or a specific brand of stations," Malec continued "but in the long run no one really profits from a price war. Other operators in the area are generally forced to meet such cut-throat competition in an effort to hold their customers. Since price allowances are frequently slow in coming from the supplying company, the operator often must sacrifice his small margin of profit and even operate at a loss for several weeks before help comes in the form of a lower "tank wagon price," or the end of the price war.

"This business, unlike other types of merchandising business, might be compared to a balloon full of water. Persons who follo wprice cuts squeeze the volume sales in the direction they turn, but total sales volume within the industry remains unaffected just like the water in a squeezed balloon. This is due to the fact that customers following the price cut simply fill their gasoline tanks as usual, but do not take home extra gallons as they would a sale item in a grocery store.

"The large number of vacant service stations across Texas, as well as the whole nation, stand as mute evidence of the help which arrived too late, or didn't come at all," Malec concluded.

EDEN'S

cause of his opposition to the Suez invasion.

The right wingers considered MacMillan a compromise candidate who could muster moderate support as well.

In the same upstairs room of the palace where Eden laid down his office Wednesday night, MacMillan carried out the ancient ceremony of kissing the queen's hands in homage this afternoon.

Short Term

Just 21 months ago, in that same second floor drawing room, Sir Winston Churchill himself had taken leave of office.

Eden was Churchill's protege, but his term as prime minister was a short one. In fact, only Bonar Law, who served for nine months after World War I, served a shorter period as prime minister in this century.

MacMillan has a lot in common with Churchill.

Like Churchill, his mother is American — the former Helen Belles of Spencer, Ind.

Like Churchill, he took office after a chapter of failure and defeat — Churchill succeeding the appeasement of Neville Chamberlin and MacMillan succeeding the failure of Suez.

Like Churchill, MacMillan is an individualist. Churchill's weakness was cigars. MacMillan's is dandy dress. He wears turn-of-the-century waistcoats and a walrus mustache, and he combs his thick, graying hair over his ears.

Rides Beside Chauffeur

Churchill was the last elder statesman consulted by the queen this morning before she sent the royal summons to MacMillan.

When the chancellor was spotted riding into Buckingham Palace at 2 p.m., no one in the waiting crowd knew whether he would come out as prime minister.

But at No. 11 Downing Street, the chancellor's residence next door to the prime minister's residence at No. 10, it was apparent that MacMillan's wife and daughter already knew. Through a window they watched his departure, smiling and proud.

When he left Buckingham Palace after a 20-minute audience with his chauffeur and was back in Downing street within five minutes.

There reporters asked him if he would call a general election.

"No," he said with typical bluntness, "and when there is one we will win it."

dite final construction of the hotel was made.

Duties of working committees are: Architecture and building: duties of this committee shall be to investigate and confer with various architects and to make recommendations to the board of directors for the final selection of an architect to work with the board and this committee in the early stages of building planning. As soon as the architect has been selected, the duties of this committee will be to work with him in studying types of buildings which would be best suited to our needs, taking into consideration the site which has been chosen.

Collections committee: The duties of this committee will be to work closely with the bookkeeper in keeping delinquent accounts to a minimum and take whatever means necessary to see that all collections are made on time and with the least amount of embarassment to the small percentage of accounts where persuasion might be necessary.

Fiancial committee: the duties of this committee shall be to provide the necessary financing to supplement money already secured in order to give us the type of hotel we need. This committee will probably have one of the biggest jobs to do, and negotiations should start early.

Operations committee: The duties of [illegible] to study of various plans of operation and to come up with a recommendation to the board of directors for their final consideration. This committee will find there are plenty hotel companies anxious to discuss plans of operation for our hotel.

Site committee: The duties of this committee shall be to investigate and determine several different sites where the hotel could be built. It is suggested they find several different sites, listing cost, advantages, and disadvantages, and come up with recommendation for the board to consider in determining where the hotel will be built.

The collections committee was authorized to pay for all operating costs by the board. Present plans call for some trips by board members to other new hotels being constructed. In connection with this, Cree and Cabot have offered their planes to fly the board members to observe the operations of other hotels being built.

A total of $44,000 in subscriptions has been purchased since the close of the campaign last month with a total of 1,800 new subscribers.

The next meeting of the board will be on Feb. 15. The meeting will be held in the chamber of commerce offices.

First Month Of The New Year Will Find Markets Piled High With Eggs, Corn

By GAYNOR MADDO X
NEA Food and Markets Editor

January will be piled high with eggs. Also with cans of corn. Those two basic foods are leaders on the United States Department of Agriculture's list of plentiful foods for January. Here's the complete national list:

Eggs, canned sweet corn, beef, pork, turkeys, broilers and fryers, milk and dairy products, potatoes, onions, dried prunes, canned purple plums, dates, ocean perch fillets.

To get the most for your egg dollar, the department gives the following advice:

Medium eggs may be the best value in September and October, but in December and January the larger eggs become more plentiful and hence relatively less expensive.

The cycle starts in late summer when poultrymen cull the older and less productive hens from laying flocks, and introduce the young pullets to their nests. First efforts of the new generation are the very small "qpullet eggs."

As the new birds grow, their eggs grow, too. By early fall, the new flocks are laying medium sizes. Usually in December, the pullets have become vigorous, full-grown hens producing the large, high-quality eggs in great numbers.

But the demand for eggs by sizes doesn't change in the same way, so the price relationships — the "spread" — between sizes of the same grade is determined by the supply. Thus, even though a dozen of large eggs always cost more than a dozen mediums, it's how much more that counts.

The food shopper who remembers that large eggs weigh a mininun of 24 ounces per dozen, medium 21 ounces and small eggs 18 ounces, can quickly figure which size will give her more food — by weight — for her money.

If there's less than an 8- or 9-cent spread between large and medium eggs, the large are an equal or better buy. Conversely, if the than the large — better buy mediums.

Refreshing Change In Fruit Salad Dressing

Salads containing avocado and grapefruit slices or other seasonable fruits taste refreshing and are a change from tossed salads. For the dressing, squeeze the juice of a lime or a lemon into a bowl adding a teaspoon of salt and half-teaspoons of black pepper and powdered mustard. Stir, then add quarter-cup of fine Spanish olive oil, and a dash of tabasco, if you wish, and pour this over the fruit slices arranged on a bed of lettuce. This recipe is adapted from "The Main Line Cook Book" by Stokes and Huber.

Chicken Combined With Squash Makes A Fine Winter Dish For Entire Family

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

While chicken and squash are so abundant, try this agreeable combination of them both.

CHICKEN IN ACORN SQUASH-SHELLS (8 servings)

Four acorn squash, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup chopped onion ½ cup canned sliced mushrooms, ¼ cup flour, 2 tablespoons (6 teaspoons) golden brown prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, shake cayenne pepper, 1 cup chicken broth, 1 cup light cream, 2 cups cooked diced chicken, grated cheese (sharp cheddar).

To prepare squash: Cut squash in half crosswise; remove seeds and sprinkle with salt. Turn upside down in a shallow pan. Add water to a depth of ¼-inch. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes or until tender.

To prepare filling: Melt butter; add onion and mushrooms and saute until onions are yellow. Sprinkle flour over mixture and blend well.

Add prepared mustard, salt and pepper and cayenne and blend well. Gradually add chicken broth and cream and cook over medium heat until thick, stirring constantly.

Add diced chicken. Fill squash with chicken mixture; top with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 25 minutes or until piping hot.

If you are looking for a brightly colored fruit pie, here's another combination answer:

CHERRY PEACH PIE

Three - quarters cup sugar, ¼ cup flour, 1 package pastry mix, 1 No. 303 can sour pitted red cherries, drained (reserve cup liquid), ½ teaspoon red vegetable food coloring for deeper, richer color.

One cup sliced canned peaches, drained, ¼ teaspoon almond extract, ¼ cup juice from canned cherries, 3 tablespoons butter.

Mix sugar and flour; sprinkle 1-3 of mixture in 8-inch pastry lined pie pan. Mix vegetable food coloring to drained cherries, and place them and the peaches in pan.

Add almond extract to cherry juice, and sugar if desired. Pour over fruits. Sprinkle with remaining flour - sugar mixture and dot with butter. Make lattice top crust and flute edge.

Bake in hot oven (450 degrees F.) 10 minutes, then in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

TOMORROW'S DINNER Menu: Creamed chicken in acorn squash shell, parsley potatoes, canned or frozen peas, enriched bread, butter or margarine, green salad, cherry peach pie, coffee, tea, milk.

Stick-To-The-Ribs Beef And Lamb Stews Make Tasty, One-Dish Meals

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Here are good stick-to-the-ribs stews that are a meal in a dish. They are rich in flavor, high in food value and rather easy to prepare. You'll enjoy them.

CHINESE BEEF STEW
(4 servings)

One cup sliced celery, ½ medium green pepper, sliced, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed onion soup, 1 cup cubed cooked beef, 1 cup drained bean sprouts, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon soy sauce, 2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca.

Cook celery and green pepper in butter about 2 minutes; do not brown. Add onion soup, beef, bean sprouts, Worcestershire sauce and soy sauce; heat to boiling. Stir in tapioca; simmer about 10 minutes. Serve with hot buttered rice or chow mein noodles.

LAMB STEW WINTER STYLE
(6 servings)

One-third cup flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon black pepper, 2 pounds lamb, cubed, 2 large cloves garlic, minced, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1½ cups water, 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon ground marjoram, 6 small onions, 6 small carrots, 2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes (1 envelope instant mashed potatoes).

Combine flour, salt and pepper; roll lamb in this mixture. Brown lamb and garlic in shortening in a skillet which can be used in the oven. Add water, soup, parsley and marjoram; cover and simmer 1½ hours, stirring occasionally.

Add onions and carrots; cover and cook until vegetables are tender — about ½ hour. Follow directions on package for mashing potatoes. Pile mashed potatoes in a ring on top of stew; place under broiler just to brown potatoes lightly.

Spanish Pot Roast Rich In Meat Flavors

The next time you make a pot roast, use one of the dry Spanish sherries, either a fino or nutty amontillado type, as the liquid in order to blend and bring out all the favors of the roast. Brown the pot roast in the usual way, using three tablespoons of Spanish olive oil and adding a sliced small onion and a tablespoon of shery. Simmer tightly closed for three hours then add a cup of sherry and the vegetables — half - cups each of sliced carrots, celery, some whole baby onions and small potatoes — and don't forget to toss in at the last minute a few stuffed green olives. Serve with a green salad and a light dessert. Glasses of chilled dry fino or amontillado go well with this juicy pot roast.

Make Friends With Neighbors Easily, Invite Them To Hello Neighbor Party

If you live in a typical neighborhood, there are probably about 20 women. And, if you are living in a newly developed area, chances are that you know few of your neighbors.

An easy way to make friends with ladies on the block is to invite them over for a "Hello-Neighbor" Party. It may be as simple or as elaborate as you want. But the important part is that you renew the old custom of getting together.

Issue an invitation for an afternoon dessert party. Plan a few games to help your neighbors get acquainted. Bake an easy Banana-Nut Cake (the recipe is below) and brew plenty of coffee. Then you will be ready for an afternoon that is completely informal.

One topic that is usually of mutual interest when homemakers get together is food. Along with the invitation, suggest that each guest select her favorite recipe and bring enough copies of the recipe for the number of ladies invited to the party. During the party, an exchange of recipes among the guests will provide a good subject for conversation.

For entertainment, here are a few games that are fun with a minimum of preparation. If you want to award prizes, small kitchen or household items would be suitable.

Give each person paper and pencil. Have each guest list all of the expressions which contain food. For example, "brown as a berry, salt of the earth, or cake walk". Place a limit of five minutes on the game. Have the longest list read and give the winner a small prize of food, such as a can of black walnuts or a jar of hard candy.

"In a minute" is a phrase women use quite frequently. This is a game to find out just how long a minute is. With all of your guests seated, explain that they will be told when a minute starts. When they think a minute has passed, they are to stand. Of course all watches are to be removed from sight. You will need a timekeeper and an assistant who can determine which woman stood closest to the minute limit. A prize goes to the best guesser.

To bake a guest - worthy cake, Imperial Sugar Company, Sugar Land, Texas, follow the recipe for this easy Banana-Nut Cake. A free copy of "A Bag Full of Recipes" may be obtained by sending the red block marked "Pure Cane" from any Imperial Sugar bag or carton to

GOOD NEIGHBOR BANANA-NUT CAKE

½ cup shortening
1½ cups Imperial Granulated Sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon soda
¼ cup sour milk
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
2¼ cups sifted flour
1 cup mashed bananas
½ cup nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix shortening with Imperial Granulated Sugar; add unbeaten egg. Add soda to sour milk; combine with first mixture. Sift salt and baking powder with flour. Add dry ingredients alternately with mashed bananas to batter. Stir in nuts and vanilla. Pour into two greased and floured 9" layer pans. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes. Frost as desired.

Tomatoes Gloria Easy Yet Wonderful Snack

Great cooks love to devise simple things, and one of the greatest of modern Spanish cooks is Gloria, who runs a restaurant near Jerez, where all true sherry comes from. For something wonderful before a meal, Gloria simply chops up an onion, mixes with it a finely diced clove of garlic, places a spoonful of the mixture on a slice of raw tomato, and tops it with a spoonful of mayonnaise made with fine Spanish olive oil. After grating fresh pepper on top, you eat the tomato slices with your fingers, sipping with them a glass of chilled dry sherry, either a fino or amontillado type. The combination of flavors is perfect.

Perfectly Perfect Banana Velvet Pie

Combine the delicate flavor of tropically grown bananas with the vvelvety texture of quick - cooking rice cereal and the airy lightness of beaten egg white. Serve a piece of it at your next bridge luncheon or company dinner and we'll guarantee that you'll have a conversation. the recipe. It's exotic and delicious.

BANANA VELVET PIE

1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
9-inch unbaked pastry shell
2 tablespoons soft butter
2 eggs, separated
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg, optional
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup well-mashed ripe bananas, about 2

Heat milk and salt in top of double boiler over boiling water. Sprinkle in Cream of Rice and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover, lower heat, and continue cooking for about 10 minutes. Remove from heat and set aside to cool. Meanwhile prepare pastry shell. Blend together soft butter, egg yolks, ¼ cup sugar. Fold beaten egg whites into the rice mixture. Pour into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degree F. until lightly browned, about 45 minutes. Cool to room temperature before serving. Makes 1 nine-inch pie.

Note: If you have an electric blender, place water, lemon juice and bananas in container and blend smooth, about 1 minute, and stir into the rice mixture.

Gelatines Satisfying After Hearty Meals

Gelatines and custards are satisfying light desserts after hearty meals, and their flavors are always improved if you add one or two tablespoons of Spanish sherry — a nutty amontillado type or a rich oloroso — while the gelatin is cooking. The sherry blends and brings out the flavors of whatever fruits you add to the gelatin.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

In the approximately 400,000 divorces which will be granted this year in this country, custody of children will be given to mothers in virtually every case.

Is this custom of automatically handing children over to mothers just another indication of the low esteem in which we hold fathers?

Reporter Howard Whitman thinks so. In a study titled "Father — The Forgotten Man" which he prepared for the Kirkbride Fund for Research in Psychiatry, he writes: "The beating down of father has penetrated our courts in a vital sector. In the frightful business of divorce, the tendency to underate father, to treat him as though the child had hardly any need of him has become dangerously commonplace."

This is ture. But our new contemptuousness for fathers goes back beyond divorced parents' arrangements for care of children. It reaches back to their disappointment in marriage; and back of that to what they thought marriage was.

When we get there, we find that they thought it was a private contact to provide each other with sexual satisfaction and the thrills of romantic love. It is in this widespread refusal to recognize marriage as a primarily social contract that lies the real cause of fathers' new unimportance.

Fathers make society. They are the parents who have traditionally explained it to children. They teach them how to get along in it and help them locate their own places in it.

When marriage is viewed as a purely private arrangement instead of a serious social one that affects many people, fathers' prestige as social teachers at once begins to shrink. In a home founded on the instabilities of mere personal feelings, fathers' masculine sense of law and order simply can't function. Their usefulness to children dies with begetting them just like that of drones in the sticky-sweet matriarchate of the beehive.

So what I find of top interest in Howard Whitman's interesting study is this statement: "A man and a woman entering marriage make a moral compact with life and with God to care for the fruit of their union."

When we can recover from our spoiled view of marriage as a private affair and know it again as a public one, fathers will at once recover their great dignity as leaders of families. They are public people and the managers of public affairs.

SALADS ARE NOW HE-MAN FARE

Weight-conscious men are more and more turning to salad meals for good eating as well as their low calorie value. For your next mixed bridge party why not plan a salad supper.

Take advantage of this cool meal and at the same time use paper service to cut down on your work even more. A salad which can be prepared in the morning and dishes which don't have to be washed add up to a "found" afternoon and evening. With a Salad Meal serve a hot bread and a hot beverage, and if you like, a cup of hot consomme to start.

Fresh or canned fruit for dessert will help keep the meal in the low calorie class.

HEARTY SALAD BOWL

2 cups shredded lettuce
1 cut garlic clove
1 small bunch curly endive
½ cucumber, unpeeled and sliced
1 cup thin strips Swiss Cheese
1 cup thin strips boiled ham
½ bunch watercress
½ cup sliced radishes
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges
Salt
Pepper,
½ cup French dressing

Place the lettuce in salad bowl which has been rubbed with cut garlic. Arrange endive around the outer rim, then cucumber slices. Put ham and cheese strips on lettuce and garnish salad with tomato wedges, watercress and radishes. Season with salt and pepper and just before serving, toss with French dressing. Makes 4 servings.

TV NOTES

The first of CBS' ambitious new "Odyssey" series — 4 to 5 p.m. Sundays — on Jan. 6 will originate live from Virginia City, Nev., and will deal with the past and present of such a western frontier town.

"Stanley" is slated to bow out of its weekly Monday night slot on NBC, with a new filmed adventure series, "Wells Fargo," to replace it.

NEW YORK — (UP) — "Medical Horizons" on ABC Jan. 6 examines a model community program to rehabilitate alcoholics. It comes live from St. Vincent's Hospital, Worcester, Mass.

This new year could bring Kate Smith back to TV with her own show. ABC is reported to be working out a program.

Jack Benny to the contrary, the comedian will be 63 on Feb. 14.

This may be the last season for Giselle MacKenzie with "Your Hit Parade." The talented miss has been the target of many people with program ideas for her for the past two years.

In case you missed the name in the credits, that very handsome little boy who played Tiny Tim in "The Stingiest Man in Town" on NBC is Dennis Kohler.

Reginald Rose is writing a two-hour play to be presented on CBS in two one-hour installments on successive weeks by "Studio One."

NEW YORK — (UP) — Galen Drake, busy in radio for 20 years, undertakes a new weekly TV show for ABC Jan. 12. It will be seen Saturdays from 7 to 7:30 p.m. and will have a variety format.

Martha Rountree's "Press Conference" on ABC is now to be seen Sundays beginning at 5:30 p.m. instead of the former 8:30 p.m.

Jan. 23 is the date ABC has set Walt Disney's filmed production, "Our Friend the Atom," which will occupy the "Disneyland" program that night.

NBC carries the third welterweight title fight between champion Carmen Basilio and former champion Johnny Saxton from the Cleveland Arena Jan. 18. The Cleveland area will be blacked out.

"Beat the Clock" on CBS will move early in February from its Saturday night spot to 7:30 p.m. Fridays.

The new format on NBC's "Tonight," with six columnists across the country replacing the present comedy star pattern, occurs Jan. 28.

The next Judy Garland spectacular for CBS is scheduled for either Feb. 25 or March 4 at 9:30 p.m.

CURVY KIM — Kim Novak, who plays the name role in "The Jeanne Eagels Story," can't disguise her modern curves even when she dons a 1920 bathing suit. A similar suit, worn by the real Miss Eagels, is said to have caught the eye of a Kansas City carnival owner and launched her on her show business career.

'Nightbeat' Is Stealing The Thunder From Big TV Shows

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — A short time ago, a woman wrote a letter to a TV show that went:

"My husband and I hadn't spoken to each other for 30 years until your program went on. Now," she added happily, "we argue every night."

The source of the lady's enchantment was "Nightbeat," a 60-minute local entry over the DuMont channel here that has become the hottest TV conversation piece in this town.

Slotted close to the witching hour — it runs from 11 to 12 in the evening — it has been keeping more people awake than coffee. It is the TV program most talked about among people in the trade. And it has transformed its emcee, Mike Wallace, from a moderately successful performer into the object of frantic woo-pitches from both NBC and ABC.

Doesn't Mince Words

The staple of the show is the personality interview. But with a difference. Wallace refuses to pussyfoot. He has poked into Elsa Maxwell's sex life, questioned milliner Mr. John about homosexuality in the designing business and probed into Sloan Simpson's reasons for leaving her husband, William O'Dwyer, when his career was at a low ebb.

Negro singer Harry Belafonte has opened up on race relations, Abe Burrows has talked about his psychoanalysis, Faye Emerson, a liberal, and William Buckley Jr., a conservative, have both aired their views.

"What we're trying to do," explains Wallace who also emcees "the big surprise" on NBC-TV, "is unlock these people, to probe into the motives for their behavior, to get at their aspirations, their real feelings.

Has to Move Slowly

"With most of them, for the first five or eight minutes, I have to move in slowly. They've got that glaze on them — you know, their public personality. But after a while that glaze begins to dissolve, you can actually see it dissolve. And that's when the show starts to fulfill its functions."

"Nightbeat," launched on Oct. 9, runs four nights a week, but strangely enough, Wallace has run into no difficulty in lining up specimens for the show.

"Oh, there have been a few who refused to appear," says Wallace, "Eartha Kitt, Maurice Evans and I'm told, Milton Berle.

"But most personalities like to appear on the show for two good reasons. One, it gives them a chance to talk about their convictions and attitudes, something they rarely have a chance to do in public.

"And two, they like the challenge. Most of these people feel they can handle themselves against tough questions."

Quotes In The News

By UNITED PRESS

HOLLYWOOD: Actress Marie McDonald denying her kidnap ordeal was a "hoax:"

"I've taken my usual buffeting from the press. They don't believe me, they don't know what I went through. I'm so thankful to be alive and back with my children."

Feather Hairdo Is Pretty, Practical

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

The feather bob, which was all the rage in 1939-41, is making a comeback. But it's a brand new version of the feather cut.

The old cut was distinguished by a smooth crown and a halo of curls about the head. On this basic cut, three recent successes were developed — the poodle cut, the Italian cut and the Ulysses cut. Each was a variation of the feather bob.

Probably the reason for the return of the new feather cut is that it's both practical and pretty. Long hair is not practical for the average American woman and neither is an elaborate hairdo.

Today's feather cut is shorter than the original and its curls are less bukly. The heavy look is gone and the general effect is lighter, smarter and smoother. The new cut takes just a few strokes of comb and crush to fall into place and look well. And that's the kind of hairdo American women favor.

Ruth Millett

"He never talks to me any more."

If that is your complaint against your husband it could be that you aren't as good a listener as you once were.

During courtship many a girl turns a usually quiet young man into a talker just by the quality of her listening.

By looking into his face as he talks, hanging on his every word, laughing appreciatively at his little jokes, asking just enough questions to give him a chance to show off his knowledge, a girl can make a man WANT to talk.

But after a few years of marriage a wife often quits making an effort to be a good listner.

She doesn't bother to give her husband her complete attention when he talks. She has to be doing something besides listening—emptying ash trays, straightening up the room, flipping through a magazine.

She may get into the habit of looking for flaws in his schemes and plans and pointing them out. This is a sure way of making a husband reticent.

She may think she wants to hear about his business, but actually pays so little attention to what he tells her that she keeps asking dumb questions and never seems to get the point of what is going on.

She may have turned into an interrupter who is always going off on a "that reminds me. ." tangent. In this case, he rhusband silently thinks, "What's the use? She's not really interested."

She may listen with a far-away look in her eye — a dead give-away that she is thinking about something else, planning a meal or wondering if the curtains can go another week without laundering.

If your husband isn't the talker he used to be, may beit is because you aren't the listener you once were.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Graves, Lefors, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Carole Nan, to Joe D. Watson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Watson, Lefors. The wedding is planned for Jan. 26, 1957. (Photo by Smith's Studio)

Baptist Girls' Units Plan Mission Study

OLETTA SNELL

The Oletta Snell Organization, First Baptist Church, met Jan. 7 at 4 p.m. in the church with the president, Miss Nancy Jones in charge of the meeting. Prayer was led by Miss Nita Cartwright. Discussion was held on studying the mission book about immigrants.

Miss Jon Naylor, chairman, presented a program entitled, "Inventory Time". A prayer by Miss Lynn Stroble concluded the meeting.

VADA WALDRON

The Vada Waldron Junior Girls' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church met in regular session Tuesday afternoon at 4:00. The president, Miss Jean Franklin, was in charge of the meeting with members answering roll call with a verse of scripture.

Miss De Ann Tarr presented the program entitled, "Choice Silver". Plans for the study of the mission book, "It's Your Fun" were discussed.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served at the conclusion of the meeting by the counselor, Miss Delma Franklin, and the co-counselor, Mrs. Paul Barrett. Miss Anna Kinard was accepted as a new member.

The dacron uniform for waitresses, beauticians and nurses cuts down on work and makes life generally easier. It needs little ironing, is wrinkle-resistant and can be washed by hand or in a machine.

Worthwhile HD Unit With Mrs. Robinson

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. Ethel Robinson, 324 N. Sumner, Jan. 4 at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Roy Tinsley, president, presided at the business session.

Miss Helen Dunlap, Home Demonstration agent, gave the topic lesson, "Dinner For The Family." Miss Dunlap said that in buying fruits and vegetables see that they are sound and fresh. Oranges and lemons that are the heaviest are the juiciest. Vegetables should be handled with care in order to avoid bruising and thus destroying the vitamins.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served. Attending were Mmes. O. A. Wagner, P. G. Turner, O. G. Smith, Chester Williams, Ethel Robinson, N. B. Cude, R. F. McCalip, Roy Tinsley, W. G. Kinzer, and Marion Roberts.

Sagging Stomach Muscles Unnecessary Simple Exercises Will Gain Flat Tummy

Sagging stomach muscles not only spoil your figure, the're unnecessary. Don't rely on a girdle to do what you yourself can accomplish by simple exercise. If you want firm, young stomach muscles and therefore a smooth, flat tummy, make a habit of touching your toes 20 times each morning. That's all there is to it. At first, your leg muscles will hurt and you'll ache generally but that's good. It means you're getting results. Keep your legs straight and don't cheat by bending your knees slightly. If you can't even reach your toes at first, keep trying. Eventually you'll make the grade. And later, when the going is easy and you're bored with the whole idea, don't stop. Unless, of course, you want an "outstanding" tummy.

If you want a smooth, young-looking neck into the middle years, don't go around looking for wrinkles. One sure way to find them is to dig your neck down into your collar when you're reading. Hold your book (in a good light) where you can see it easily without slumping. Hold it well up so your head is up, too. When you walk, look about you. Look at scenery and faces, not at the cracks in the sidewalk. You'll have a far more interesting walk and you'll also be rewarded by a smooth neck. In addition, use a special throat cream at night, one which is richer than the usual face cream.

A shelf in the kitchen is a handy place to keep a few beuty aids.

A shelf in the kitchen is a handy place to keep a few beauty aids for a quick touch-up. You should have hand lotion and you should use it after each dishwashing session. You should keep a mirror on or above the shelf so that when the doorbell rings, you can check on your appearance. Keep a brush and comb there, too, for a quick hairsmoothing. Add a lipstick, powder and puff and you'll never be caught at your own door looking like something out of a comedy. Whatever else you may want to add to the shelf is a matter of personal choice but the things just named are basic needs for neat appearance.

Your clip-on earrings will frequently double as clips and thus give you twice as much pleasure and wear. Try them out on necklines, pockets and cuffs.

Ike Sings New Tune Explaining Doctrine

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's explanation of his new Middle East doctrine reads like a statement of failing confidence in the United Nations as a protector of world peace. That's a new tune.

The President's message to Congress outlining the doctrine was heavy with pledges to act within the framework of the United Nations. Reliance upon the United Nations appeared, however, to be more lip service than real.

Mr. Eisenhower reviewed recent U.N. efforts to deal with the Soviet Union's invasion of Hungary and felt compelled to report to Congress that in light of events in Hungary the United Nations is not a dependable protector of world peace—not, that is, when Communism is the aggressor.

Kremlin Enjoys Veto

Moscow enjoys a built-in veto to prevent U.N. Security Council action against any commotion in which the Kremlin's men may choose to engage. The Security Councils quick action against Communist aggression in Korea in June of 1950 was a lucky fluke. The Russian council member had abandoned the council and had no opportunity to veto organization of a U.N. military command for Korea.

The Soviet Union was present and voting, however, when the Security Council sought to require withdrawal of Russian armed forces from Hungary. Having cited that frustrating fact in his doctrine message Mr. Eisenhower put it this way:

"And it (the Soviet Union) has shown callous indifference to the recommendations, even the censure, of the General Assembly. The United Nations can always be helpful, but it cannot be a wholly dependable protector of freedom when the ambitions of the Soviet Union are involved.

"Under all the circumstances I have laid before you, a greater responsibility now devolves upon the United States."

Veto Power Crippling

There it is in some 60-odd words: The Soviet Union veto power has made the United Nations undependable as the protector of world peace. Therefore, the United States must assume greater responsibilities.

The responsibilities in tis instance involve the possibility of a hot war in which the United States, with such allies as might pitch in on their own, would oppose the armed mght of the Soviet Union in the Middle East.

Mr. Eisenhower's Saturday message to Congress was a request for blank check authority to make hot war in that area and upon that potential enemy without further reference to Congress.

Money Cost High

There is no knowing whether the United States ever will have to make good on the hot war phase of the Eisenhower doctrine.

The money phase of the doctrine, however, already is in the planning stage. The one certain factor in the new doctrine is that it will cost a lot of money. The down payment will be $400 million, plus whatever may be spent from available funds during the remainder of the current fiscal year.

That means that taxes will remain where they are for a long time to come, probably as long as two or three years.

Named Virgin Island

Christopher Columbus named the largest of the Virgin Islands Holy Cross Santa Cruz, in Spanish) and the others Santa Vrsula y les Once Mil Virgines, in honor of St. Ursula and the 11,000 Virgins.

Coal's Age

Oldest coals are about 300,000,000 years in age; that is from the time that the plants from which they were formed were living on the earth.

The finest mahogany produced comes from West Virginia. William Jennings Bryan ran for the presidency three times, all unsuccessfully.

alenkov Makes olitical Comeback

oreign News Commentary)
y CHARLES M. MCCANN
ed Press Staff Correspondent

ssia's Georgi M. Malenkov ns to have made a big politicomeback.

ver since he resigned as premi- on Feb. 8, 1955, Malenkov had in partial eclipse.

ut his attendance at the imant meeting of Communist rs in Budapest last week inted pretty clearly that he has restored to first rank in Soleadership.

e reason apparently is that lenkov kept his head during the argument among Soviet leadover Nikita S. Khruschev's se in repudiating Josef Sta's methods of dictatorship.

nother is that Malenkov probly is the smartest of the 11 men the inner leadership of the emlin.

When Malenkov resigned so dramatically as Stalin's heir in the prime ministry, he said he was inadequate for the job.

Reduced In Rank

Malenkov was reduced to the rank of an ordinary deputy premier—behind several first deputies—and made minister for electric power stations.

He remained a member of the inner collective leadership. But men like Khrushchev, the first secretary of the Communist Party, and Nikolai A. Bulganin, who succeeded him as premier, did the talking and represented the Kremlin on visits abroad.

Malenkov did make a visit to Great Britain. But he did so in his capacity of minister for the power stations, to visit British atomic and other installations.

Last week's Budapest meeting marked the launching of a new Soviet policy line toward the East European satellite countries.

The choice of Malenkov to accompany Khrushchev to that meeting, which brought together the Communist leaders of Russia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Bulgaria certainly is significant.

He would hardly have been chosen unless he had made a full comeback.

This does not necessarily mean that there is to be any formal change in the present Kremlin line-up.

Khrushchev's Job Safe

Khrushchev seems to be safe in his job as Communist Party first secretary despit ethe East European revolts which resulted from his down - grading of Stalin. There has been no sign that Bulganin, who supported Khrushchev in the down - grading policy, is likely to lose the prime ministry.

But it is entirely likely that some day Malenkov may get back that job or may replace Khrushchev as first secretary. For a short time after Stalin's death Malenkov was first secretary as well as premier.

The big thing in Malenkov's favor is that he is both smart and an able administrative executive, and that he does not indulge in loose talk. His visit to Great Britain was a resounding success. Khruschev and Bulganin, who followed him there, bounced from one blunder to another.

At 55 — January 8 was his birthday — Malenkov was Stalin's right-hand man for years. He is called pudgy and roly poly. Though he is but 5 feet 7 inches tall, he weighs about 250 pounds. The keen little eyes that look out from his fat face miss nothing.

If he really has made a comeback, he is likely to be a balancing influence in the Soviet leadership.

HOW TO BE A BETTER COOK and save money too!
BY Mary Blake
Home Service Director Carnation Company

Cheeseburger Loaf

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

½ cup undiluted Carnation Evaporated Milk
1 egg
1 cup cracker crumbs
1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon catsup
1 cup grated cheese

Blend all ingredients except cheese until thoroughly mixed. Line loaf pan with heavy waxed paper. Place ½ cup cheese in bottom of pan. Cover with half of meat mixture. Repeat with remaining cheese and meat layers. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 1 hour. Let stand about 10 minutes before turning out on platter. Remove paper. Slice for serving.

Phillips Increases Crude Oil Prices

TULSA, Okla. (UP) — Phillips Petroleum Co., one of the nation's largest oil firms, has increased crude oil prices generally by 35 cents a barrel.

Phillips, with headquarters at Bartlesville, Okla., was the fourth major oil company to announce a price increase in the past four days.

Continental Oil Co. and Humble Oil and Refining raised their posted prices over the weekend, and D-X-Sunray at Tulsa announced its increase Monday.

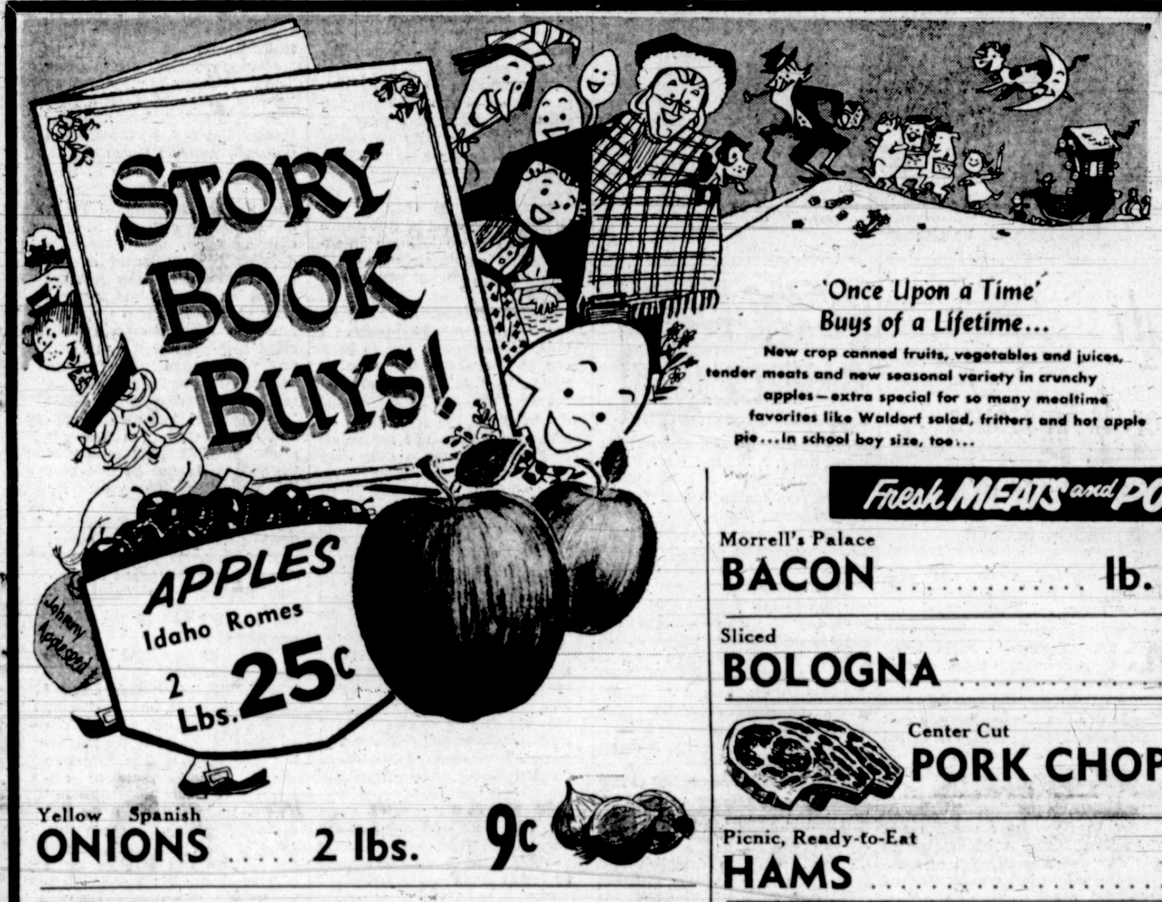

Both the Phillips and D-X-Sunray increases took effect at 7 a.m. Monday.

Generally, all of the increases were about 35 cents.

The Phillips announcement said the hike is effective in all areas where Phillips produces crude except Pondura field in Montana, where the price is set on Wyoming sour crude prices, certain portions of the Panhandle of Texas where the increase is 29 cents because these prices have been set on the West Texas price for sour crude, and in Western Kansas where the increase is 25 cents a barrel.

R. W. McDowell, D-X Sun-Ray president, said the company had been unable at existing prices to obtain sufficient supplies of crude to meet the needs of its refineries and customers.

Freedom Banned

What happens when a man's religion interferes with compulsory requirements that he belong to a union? Well, Theodore Otten of Staten Island, N.Y. found out. He must either abandon his religion or his job.

Freedom of religion was one of the guarantees in the Constitution's Bill of Rights. Under the First Amendment, every American is assured of the right to worship as he sees fit.

But the First Amendment must seem hollow to Otten and possibly others in the country who are forced to choose between religious beliefs and continuing their means of earning a livelihood.

Otten for 26 years had worked for the Staten Island Transit Co. In September, 1951, the railroad and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers entered an agreement providing for a union shop. The railroad and the union agreed that from that day on every member of the bargaining unit was required to maintain membership in the union.

For many years Otten had been a member of the union and of several other organizations of various kinds. But in June, 1948, he had joined a religious group known as the Plymouth Brethren. In accord with the principles of that faith, he resigned from all other organizations — including the union.

After the union-shop agreement was negotiated, there were a number of discussions between the management of the railroad and union officials about Otten's lack of union membership. Several hearings and appeals were held.

In September, 1953, the railroad was required to discharge Otten. Since then he has carried his fight thru the courts, including the U.S. Supreme Court, but so far he has been unable to obtain reinstatement.

His situation is serious. He has spent most of his working life with railroads. Because of his specialized skill, it is difficult for him to obtain work in another industry. Since the railroads are now almost completely unionized — on a compulsory basis — he cannot hope to find work in the industry — unless he is willing to give up his religion.

If it can happen to Otten, it can happen to any other American citizen, despite his constitution "protections."

The Government Lobby

At long last there is interest on the part of Congress in an investigation of the lobbying activities by government agencies.

Just why there should be rigid regulations to control the lobbying by everyone else, but none on the government itself has been hard to see.

All over the country, there is a growing tendency by government agencies to put pressure on the lawmakers for legislation to give the government more control or for more appropriations. It seems when the government does it, it's "information," but when a railroad or a chamber of commerce or a farmers' organization does the same thing, it's lobbying.

Congressional Quarterly, a Washington news-gathering agency, reports the White House has a special staff set up to "expedite" the Administration's legislative program.

The Departments of Defense and State each has an assistant secretary for congressional relations at $20,000 a year. The Army, Navy, Air Force, Civil Service Commission and Veterans' Administration all maintain congressional liaison offices.

In 1950 a House committee charged Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan and Federal Security Administrator Oscar W. Ewing with lobbying for their legislative requests unlawfully. The Government Accounting Office, however, ruled there had been no violations.

The federal lobbying act defines a lobbyist as "any person who shall engage himself for pay or for any consideration for the purpose of attempting to influence the passage or defeat of any legislation." The law exempts from regulation "any public official acting in his official capacity."

The question has been raised as to when a government official is acting in official capacity and when he is lobbying.

Another section of the federal law prohibits use of money appropriated by Congress to influence congressional legislation.

There has been an increasing demand for an investigation of lobbying by the governmental agencies, and Congressional Quarterly reports there is a good chance that a Senate special committee may include government lobbying in an investigation it now is conducting.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a member of the committee, recently was quoted as saying "extreme pressures" are put on members of Congress by the executive branch of the federal government.

There is no reason federal agencies should be permitted to push for special legislation, including appropriations, without regulation, while the people who foot the bills are restricted severely.

Actually, there should not be any lobbying activity by the government and its agencies.

BETTER JOBS

14,000 Farmers
Fined $8,500,000

II.

In the last issue I was quoting an article from the Don Smoot Report written by J. Evetts Haley Jr. showing what the agricultural act is doing to the farmers; how 14,000 farmers had been fined $8,500,000 last year; that the fines were not made by a jury but by a judge under the pretence of contempt of court.

Then Mr. Haley explains how this farm program is put over on all the farmers by a small fraction of the farmers having the right to vote. He puts it this way:

"One infuriating thing about such farm programs as the wheat-acreage control act is that the general public is led to believe that the farmers vote these controls upon themselves.

"The Department of Agriculture conducts a Russian-type election in which farmers are permitted to vote yes or no on the question of whether they want the federal government to impose acreage controls on them.

"There are approximately 20 million people living on farms in the United States. According to the government's regulations and definitions, however, only 250,000 farmers are eligible to vote in the yes or no elections. Fewer than 200,000 farmers actually bother to vote.

"What the majority of these 200,000 farmers decide is binding on the total farm population of twenty million-and is, moreover, an arbitrary assessment on the income of every taxpayer in the United States.

"The Congress of the United States created the bureaucratic frankenstein that is now ruining American agriculture. Hence, the independent farm organizations have turned to Congress for help. . . ."

Who is Haley? "The Dan Smoot Report" introduces him in this manner:

"J. Evetts Haley Jr., author of the article immediately above, is-or rather, was-a rancher.

"Four years ago, just after his twentieth birthday, Evetts (disgusted with what he was being taught in the University of Texas) left college to enter the proud and independent occupation that was traditional in his family—cattle ranching.

"He and his dad picked out a fine looking place on the Arkansas River in Eastern Oklahoma and bought it.

"The boy was going to run the ranch by himself and pay out his interest in it.

"He made a good start.

"In the fall, he would pick out some bottom land and sow it in wheat for winter pasturage. In the spring, he would take the cattle off the wheat and let it make a crop. When harvested, the wheat made good dry feed for his stock. If he raised more wheat then he actually needed for feed, he could haul off a load now and then and sell it for ready cash.

"This was good traditional ranching practice; and it worked fine, until the spring of 1956. Evetts had acquired a wife and was about to become a father. The ranching country was in the grip of the most severe drouth on record. The cattle weren't doing well, and the little family needed cash.

"There was still some surplus wheat in the granary; but when Evetts took a load of it into Muskogee, he found he couldn't sell it. The Department of Agriculture people wouldn't give him a 'marketing quota card.'

"A woman clerk in the agency office told Haley that a survey of his place (designated in the government's files as 'farm serially numbered H-319') had revealed a planting of wheat in excess of the allotted quota. The agency had arbitrarily assessed a fine of $506.00 against Haley for this over planting.

"He could not get a 'marketing quota card' until he paid the fine. And without the card, he could not sell his wheat.

"Inasmuch as Haley had never tried to sell wheat to the government; had never asked for a government loan or any other kind of help; had never signed up with the government for any kind of quota or acreage allotment; and merely wanted to sell his wheat on the open market for whatever it would bring—he felt that he should not be bound by the government regulations.

"But he was.

"So, he took his wheat back to the ranch, to feed it to his cattle, resigned to making out as best he could without selling it.

"But that wasn't the way the government figured it. Haley had to pay the $506.00 fine for growing the wheat, whether he sold it or not.

"The boy didn't have enough money to meet his family needs, much less pay the fine.

"He finally sold the cattle he had left, locked the wheat up in his granary, and left his ranch-accepting my invitation to come to Dallas and go to work for "The Dan Smoot Report."

"But that didn't end the matter either.

"The day he completed the above article about the woes of farmers and ranchers elsewhere, he received a peremptory notice from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee of Stillwater, Okla. If he does not pay the $506.00 fine within two weeks, his case will be turned over to proper authorities for legal action.

"Young Evetts has now decided that he will not pay it. The Department of Agriculture will no doubt get a court order directing him to pay. When he ignores that, a United States Marshall will probably come to the office of "The Dan Smoot Report" and arrest him. He will probably wind up in jail, without a jury trial, for contempt of court.

"But, with the limited resources he has, he is determined to fight this thing as far as he can. He has decided to stand with the other independent farmers and ranchers of America and see just how far our nation has been taken toward the total slavery of total socialism."

We need more men like Haley and Smoot.

No Danger Of Amateurs Since Design Is For Pros

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK — Father Robert E. Crewen, SJ, the president of Le Moyne College at Syracuse, has advocated frank professionalism in college football provided the purposes are to make money for the school, to create prestige through the prowess of the teams and to provide great spectacles for students and alumni.

The alternative is to provide physical education for "as many students as possible."

I cannot understand how the first three objectives would necessarily preclude the alternative because, to the contrary, the colleges which for more than a half-century have disgraced themselves and degraded the ethical standards of the entire nation by covert professionalism have almost uniformly insisted that they sinned in the good cause of providing equipment and other expensive necessities of mass participation in physical recreation.

However, Father Crewen's proposal has the novel merit of honesty even though his ideas seem to contain the germs of their own frustration.

I suggest this because when a college goes honestly pro it will be competing with the truly professional pros of organized Sunday football who are so much better that the public will patronize the clumsy antics of the amateur pros too little to produce big profits. The college pros will necessarily still be kids unless we are to assume Father Crewen would also abolish the academic status of the players and hire mature men for football only, just as George Halas hires talent for his Bears in Chicago.

Possibly the Catholic Press account of his remarks, delivered at the Syracuse Press Club, was incomplete, but if Father Crewen did go that far the account chopped him off untimely. And if he did, he would put colleges into competition with private industry which is what organized Sunday pro football is, in which case not only the owners of the Sunday clubs and the owners of parks but the professional pro players as well would have well - established grounds for complaint.

Colleges, including their stadia, are either supported by public taxes, including taxes paid by these interests or are excused from taxation on the ground that, as educational institutions, they are performing a useful public service. Some schools qualify as both educational and religious institutions—Notre Dame, De Pauw and Brandeis, for examples.

Jimmy Petrillo's confirmed precedents could be invoked, tho probably with only spotty success, by a players' union and even though the collegian pros bought B-class union memberships, the Sunday pros still might show that, like the Saturday night union dance orchestra, these causals were killing their jobs.

To be realistic, the amateur pros would present a very inferior performance and that brings us to the fact that this enterprise could not possibly confer prestige on any respectable college. How could it? A third-rate or worse article does no honor to its vendor and I doubt that Tim Mara, a bookmaker in his day and a gentleman of some respectability among men, was not ennobled by his venture as sponsor and backer of the New York Giants or ever thought he was. For that matter, let it be recalled that when professional football finally got its roots down into the public affection after hundreds of futile beginnings, it was still regarded by many honest idealists as a profination of something sacred.

The Coaches' Assocation, a trade union of college coaches, and professionals themselves, condemned the professional game and forbade its members to have any truck with the pagans. Little Bo McMillin, the immortal hero of Center College, a poor young man of spotless decency, coached pro football one year because his family needed the money. The next year he went before the college coaches as a penitent at their conclave in the Astor and was on the verge of tears and moved others almost if not quite to tears as he stated his case, expressed contrition and begged them to forgive him.

This leaves us with the spectacle conjured in Father Crewen's imagination.

I am sorry to demolish him here, too, and perhaps he will take consolation from the fact that his order taught me too well, but I will be as gentle as I can under temptation to throw that big one.

Spectacle, hey? What spectacle? Does this learned priest not realize that a cheap professional show in the holy atmosphere of college would be a spectacle, to be sure, but of a kind to repel rather than attract alumni and students? Yale's amateurs of today, if amateurs they be, were still the blue, the bull dog and the 'varisty, but a gang of pros playing no better would be frankly despised for their contrast with the Giants. The Athletic Association might even withhold their big white "Y"s.

I know the only answer but nobody will like it or adopt it. The only way to cure this nasty little blotch on the honor of education and purify the ethics which it imports to its subjects is to adopt absolute amateurism. But there is no danger of that because all the savants start with definitions devised to cheat.

The Cracker Barrel

The Polish love of freedom is no recent thing. A Polish officer, Thaddeus Kosciusko, served under George Washington in our War for Independence. He is known as the "Father of American Artillery." He engineered the defenses of West Point. Congress awarded him $12,000 and 500 acres of land for his services to this country. He never used any of it. His will, naming Thomas Jefferson as executor, stipulated that it should be used to BUY LIBERTY FOR NEGRO SLAVES. There was a "Liberal" in the old-fashioned grand sense. When you really believe in liberty, you believe in it for the Hungarians and the Poles.

THE NATION'S PRESS

PEACE, GOOD WILL
(U. S. A. An American Magazine Of Fact and Opinion)

What is the meaning of peace and of good will?

The dictionary definitions are: Peace, n.; Public quiet, order and security; Harmony between persons or nations.

Good Will n.; Benevolence; cheerful consent, heartiness.

How have men distorted the meaning of peace and good will?

Tactius (A. D. 54-119) said: "They make desolation, which they call peace."

Oliver Goldsmith (1728 - 1774) said: "He calls his extravagance, generosity; and his trusting everybody, universal benevolence."

As the year 1956 ends, we Americans — bearing much of the weight of the world on our shoulders—must keep clear heads and cling fast to the real meaning of peace and good will. We must not join hands with wanderers from the narrow path of righteousness who make desolation which they call peace. We must not sap our material strength through extravagance. We must not put our trust in the untrustworthy and stumble along the dark path of deceit.

On November 29, Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, explained clearly and wisely what should be our national attitude toward peace, an attitude which he describes as "facing ourselves." The Admiral said:

. . . our greatest security lies, as it always has, in the hearts and minds of the American people. It lies in their patriotism and determination to preserve the principles of freedom and our American way of life. . .

But, as said so often by our President, we want a true peace —a secure peace — in an atmosphere that is completely consistent with the integrity of our human liberties. . .

In talking about the interrelationships of war and peace, I think we sometimes like to paint one all black and the other all white. But history has shown that not all wars have been bad, and not all peace has been good. . .

The suppression and suffocation of Freedom among a once free people, however peacefully accomplished, is far-reaching in its implications. Out of "freedom sustained" willing hands can rebuild a better life. But out of "freedom lost" can stem only generations of hate and brutal oppression, as we have recently re-learned through the bitter struggle of the Hungarian people.

Surely this means something. To me, it means that there are greater considerations in this world than the presence or absence of war. By greater considerations I mean the hopes and aspirations of people. I mean the ideals of individual liberty and spiritual values of individual liberty and spiritual values under God. I mean the very soul and spirit which have caused great men of history to value Freedom more than peace or wealth or even life itself.

Without these values, existence is inhuman. With these values, we are a happy and fortunate people. They are values worth fighting for. They are the genius and the animating spirit of our nation. . .

Yes, we Americans are a happy and fortunate people full of good will. To remain so and help others to become so, we must look with wide-eyes on the world, seeing the difference between friend and foe.

Should our good will be extended to Gomulka of Poland? Should his regime receive U. S. economic aid?

On November 29 — the very day that Admiral Radford reminded us of the animating spirit of our nation— Gomulka announced his ideas on what should be the animating spirit of the Polish nation. From Warsaw the New York Times reported:

Anyone who opposes the Communist program of socialism, M. Gomulka declared, is on "the other side of the barricades." He made clear that the willingness of the Communists to cooperate with "non-Marxist" parties did not imply that they are willing to yield their power. M. Gomulka said the Communist program could not include freedom for all parties "because that would include bourgeois parties." A "free independent sovereign Poland can only be a Socialist Poland," he declared.

What freedom can exist in a Socialist Poland? Simply stated, an answer can be found in a cabled report to the New York Herald Tribune, November 26, by Barett McGurn, after he had interviewed a group of young Hungarian soldiers who had crossed the Austrian border to warm themselves at the fireside in friendly patrol stations before going back into battle on a bitter cold day.

"Each of the group said he was a member of the Young Communist League, but all said they were non-Communists," reported McGurn and explained that the young Hungarians considered "Russian and Communist and even Socialist as synonymous."

Communism and socialism are synonymous. This fact was faced by young men facing death in Hungary. How many more young men in other lands must face death before the fact that communism and socialism are synonymous is faced by all freedom-loving peoples? Surely they should be aware by now that Socialists make desolation which they call peace.

In every country where Communists gained seats of power, who opened the door for them to come in?

The Socialists.

In Hungary after World War I, who opened the door for Bela Kun? The "soft" Socialist Count Karolyi.

In Russia in 1917, who opened the door for the Bolsheviks to come in? The "soft" weak Mensheviks headed by Alexander Kerensky.

In Czechoslovakia, who permitted a "coalition" with Communists after World War II? The "soft" Socialists Benes and Masaryk.

In the United Nations today, who leads the effort to open the door for the Red Chinese to come in? The "soft" Socialist Nehru.

In the United States in June 1956, who took part in an effort to create "a new Socialist united front" and sat on the stage at Carnegie Hall with "American" Commmunist Eugene Dennis, who was fresh out of jail for having tried to overthrow our government? The "soft" Socialist Norman Thomas.

In Yugoslavia — the so - called heartland of "Titoism" — who calls for support of the Kadar regime in Hungary in order to "save socialism" there and everywhere? Tito himself!

In all the years of the cold war, who opposed dynamic policies of liberation and supported the "containment" of Poles, Hungarians, Baltic peoples, Yugoslavs, Rumanians, Tibetans, Indo - Chinese, Chinese and North Koreans within the Communist orbit, and who worked to bolster the sagging Soviet economy by promoting "greatly increased East - West trade"? "Soft" Socialists Gunnar Myrdal, David A. K. Owen, Hugh Gaitskell, Aneuran Bevan and U. S. policy planner George F. Kennan.

In the beautiful city of Paris, during sessions of the U. N. General Assembly, who listened to diatribes of hate hurled against happy, fortunate Americans by Andrei Vishinsky, Bolshevik prosecutor of innocents, then wrote for American newspapers a column about how pleasant it was to sit with "our Russian friends" at the luncheon table and see Vishinsky's smiling face? The so - called "first lady of the world", soft-hearted Eleanor Roosevelt staunch and militant supporter of the Socialist League for Industrial Democracy and Americans for Democratic Action.

Above all in our own happy, fortunate nation, who waged relentless psychological warfare against sincerely patriotic anti-Communists fighting against un-American activities and for the American way of life?

"Soft" Socialists hand - in-glove with Communists!

Are "soft" Socialists really devoted to peace and good will?

An answer to this question can be found on page 6 of the December 1956 issue of The American Socialist magazine, whose editors are evidently "in the know" because they anticipated in 1953 the orders of the Twentieth Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union to work for a new international "Socialist United Front." These American Socialist editors state:

. . .on balance the Hungarian revolution will prove far from an unrelieved tragedy. . .

The crisis in world Communism has also been taken out of the realm of vagaries and slick formulas by the Hungarian and Polish revolutions. Historically speaking, the death knell of Western Communism has been sounded, regardless of the duration of organizational inertia in this or that country. Communism will not long survive in its old forms. Its moral collapse opens the possibility of new Left socialist formations, far superior to the old, by a process of regroupments, reorientations, fusions, and the like.

In other words, the long-run result of the Hungarian - Polish revolutions and the events which will come in their train can very well be a reawakening of the spirit of peoples elsewhere and a resurgence of the international socialist movement on the path of both militancy and democracy.

This is the Red line as time marches on toward 1957: "Communism in its old forms is dead. Long live international Socialist militancy!"

Properly to protect that freedom which alone fosters peace and good will, we Americans must ask ourselves: "What doth it profit the world to defeat Communism and save Socialism?"

Like the young Hungarian soldiers who paused to warm themselves at freedom's fires on the way to a death - struggle, let us avow that communism and socialism are synonymous, that Socialists miscall their extravagance "generosity", that Socialists promote "the class struggle" bringing disharmony among persons and nations, and making social and economic desolation which they call peace.

As we happy and fortunate Americans count our blessings at the year's end, let us follow unafraid after the things which make for real peace and cherish the truth that makes us free.

What's It Like To Be Married To Comedian?

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) What's it like to be married to a comedian?

Well, according to Marian Paar, wife of Jack Paar, it's just like any other connubial assignment—except that your husband is apt to wake you up at two in the morning to test out a joke.

"We're a pretty closely knit family — Jack, myself and our seven-year-old daughter, Randy," said Mrs. Paar today. "We don't live the sort of life people think celebrities lead.

"Jack is a great one for staying close to our Westchester home. He doesn't stay up late, he intensely dislikes cocktail parties and he hates coming into New York City."

Off-Beat Moments

Still, Mrs. Paar confessed, their domestic life does have its offbeat moments.

"I'm his sounding board," she said. "Whenever he has a new joke or a new bit, he tries it out on me first. Sometimes, he'll think of something while he's dreaming and he'll wake me up to ask me if its funny.

"It's gotten to the point where I have to keep a pencil and paper by the bedside to write his jokes down. However, when we wake up in the morning, they usually don't sound as funny as they did the night before."

Right now, Jack pilots a 15-minute chatter show on ABC radio, a program in which Mrs. Paar and Randy also participate. It's beamed from the Paars' 10-room home in the suburbs.

"So far, Jack hasn't really used me too much," confessed Mrs. Paar. "But, he has used lots of Randy. Occasionally, he'll tape record a bit with Randy during the day to insert on the show — you know, she's been on stage with Jack since her diapers.

"Jack has recording equipment all over the house — headphones and millions of wires all over the place. Every time I look up he seems to be drilling another hole in the wall. It makes me wince."

Pampa News Sports Editor

THE HARVESTERS LOST A TOUGH ONE Tuesday night against Borger but it just goes to show how close the District 3-AAAA basketball race is going to be this year.

Before the season started, Coach Clifton McNeely told another sports writer that the winner of the district would lose at least two conference games and his prediction may come true. I stated that every member of the district would lose one game, including the champion.

[illegible] 63-62 loss to Borger doesn't eliminate them by far. The H[illegible] in Borger next time on Feb. 1 and McNeely, one of the best coaches in high school basketball, says his Harvesters will beat them next time.

Borger now leads the conference race with a 2-0 mark while Pampa and Amarillo's Sandies are tied for second with 2-1 records. Plainview has won one of two, Lubbock holds a 1-2 district record, Monterey has lost its only game and Palo Duro has yet to win in the district games.

Borger plays at Lubbock Friday night and I look for the Westerners to win that one. Also think the Sandies will beat them at Amarillo when they meet. If the Harvesters can go into the Borger game next month with only that one game marring their record, they should come out of this campaign okay.

Every team in the district has shown plenty of power this year. Palo Duro, though losing two in a row, almost beat the Harvesters. Amarillo came within three points of stopping Pampa and then the Sandies toppled Lubbock, 71 - 65, Tuesday night. Plainview could win a few more if Bill Taegle keeps up his high - scoring pace.

It would have been nice for Pampa to go through the season undefeated and start another string of victories just as it did two years ago. But that's the way the ball bounces. One loss doesn't mean much in this district. Pampa lost to Borger last year and then beat them in the northern division playoffs.

WOULD LIKE TO CORRECT an error made the other day when I said that the Pampa and Borger district Golden Gloves tournaments would conflict on one day. I got my information on the Borger dates from an incorrect source and instead of the Jan. 14-15-16 dates it will be Jan. 24-25-26.

Pampa's tournament is Jan. 16-18-19 and will be held at the junior high gym. Both teams must depend upon each other for entries in order to make for more interesting tournament. Wellington also has a district tournament slated but definite dates have not been set.

Sorry to hear about Duke Nally's illness. Nally is the regional Golden Gloves director and a key figure in amateur boxing in the Panhandle. The big, jovial director underwent surgery following an appendicitis attack early this week and will be unable to attend the district tournaments. He should be in shape for his first love — the regional meet in Amarillo on Jan. 29-30, Feb. 1-2.

NOTES FROM THE CORNER FILE: Don't forget the Harvester-Bulldog "Points For Polio" basketball game to be played in Borger on Feb. 1. Local citizens from each city will subscribe money for each point made and will race to determine the winner. No matter who loses, the big winner will be the Infantile Paralysis Fund. . . . Amarillo's new baseball park, Potter County Stadium, will have the world's largest scoreboard. The board will be 80 feet wide, five feet wider than any in the majors. Game Here Friday Night

Pampa To Rebound Against Monterey

The tough job of getting back into the thick of the District 3-AAAA basketball race faces the Pampa Shockers here Friday night against Monterey's Plainsmen.

The Harvesters were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten Tuesday night by Borger, 63-62. The loss was the first this season and it now gives them a 2-1 district record. Pampa has won 15 of 16 of this season.

The Plainsmen are looking tougher as the season progresses. Although they lost to Plainview in the first district game, Coach Dave Cook's Lubbock team bounced back to stop the tough Odessa Bronchos Tuesday night by 11 points in a non-conference contest.

The Harvesters are now tied with Amarillo's Sandies for second place. Borger has a 2-0 district mark. The Plainsmen are sixth in district standings.

The two teams will be meeting for the first time in district competition. Monterey moved up to Class AAAA this year along with another district member, Palo Duro.

The Shockers will also see action Friday night when they take on the Monterey B squad in Harvester - Plainsmen game begins at vester - Plainsmengame begins at 8 p.m.

The Shockers also own a 15-1 record this season. Their only loss was to Gruver last week. They beat the Amarillo Yannigans 84-58 here Monday night. The Pampa B squad has another game Saturday night, facing the Palo Duro Bees here at 7:30.

Jerry Pope moved up into second place in district scoring with his 26 points against Borger. He now has 58 in three games. Max Hood of Lubbock leads with 74 in three games. Bill Taegle of Plainview has 59 followed by Bobby Hutnow has 58 in three games. Max Sam Condo with 39, Bill Brown with 38 and Dickie Mauldin with 34.

In other district games, Plainview is at Palo Duro and Borger plays at Lubbock. Amarillo is idle.

Jackie Rejects Top Offer Of His Career

NEW YORK (UP) — Jackie Robinson rejected the highest offer of his career today and prepared to write his formal farewell to baseball.

The 38-year-old Negro star, ending his career amid the same swirl of controversy with which it began, revealed that he is turning down more than $50,000 and "other considerations" to play this year with the New York Giants. He said his formal request for voluntary retirement would be sent to National League President Warren Giles "no later than next Tuesday."

"I only regret this offer wasn't made to me a couple of years ago," said Robinson by way of thanking the Giants for their generous offer. "I would have loved to play for people like Horace Stoneham and Chub Feeney."

It was Feeney, the Giants' vice president, who made the final bid to lure Jackie back "for one more year." The offer, a contract for more than $50,000 in 1957 and a subsequent job in the Giants' organization, was made Wednesday night. News of the offer leaked out and Robinson discussed it with reporters before appearing on a television program.

Robinson, whose top salary with the Brooklyn Dodgers was $42,500, said he thought "I convinced Feeney that I won't be playing," and added, "I don't believe I could do the Giants any good."

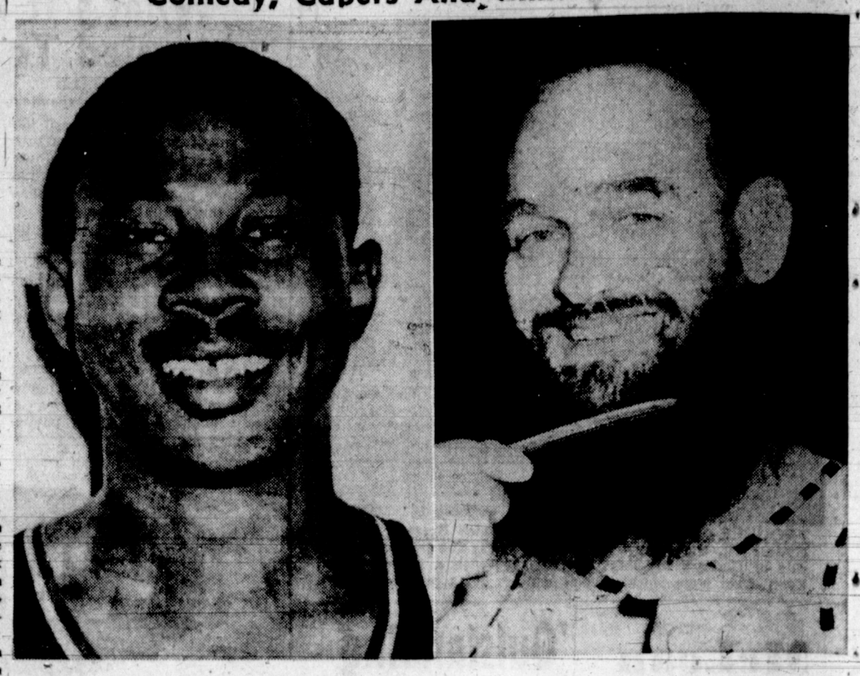

"He told me to think it over and give him the benefit of the doubt if there was the slightest chance I'd play," Robinson said. "I told him there was very, very little chance. I didn't give him a definite answer, but in my own mind I know how I feel."

The Giants cancelled a press conference they intended to call for this morning in the hope of announcing Robinson's return to the game but Feeney did hold out a faint hope that Jackie would change his mind.

In addition to Robinson's drawing power the Giants needed him desperately as a first base replacement for the drafted Willie White and also believed he would prove a spark for Willie Mays, their brilliant young center fielder whose play falle doff considerably in 1956.

Game Tonight In Harvester Fieldhouse

Basketball's Harlem Globetrotters, the winningest and most traveled team of any sport in the world, exhibit their copyrighted cage wizardry against the equally famed and bearded House of David quintet from Benton Harbor, Mich., tonight in Harvester Fieldhouse.

The gala show, which also features an array of the added entertainers performing before game and between halves and an exciting part and parcel of every Trotter appearance, will get under way at 8 p.m.

It's the thirtieth anniversary season for the celebraied nomads of the court, whose endless wanderings have taken them to all six continents, and, needless to say, Owner-Coach-Founder Abe Saperstein is observing the anniversary in fitting style.

The show is jampacked with interesting features from start to finish. The acts are great, the Trotters have their finest lineup in years and the Davids were chosen as the opponents because they are an old - established organization best equipped to give the Saperstein men their closest competition.

This is a typical Globetrotter team — as equally outstanding as showmen and comedians as they are in topdrawer playing ability. The razzle dazzle has an added dash of rock 'n' roll this season.

Assistant coach to Saperstein, and in charge of the squad when Saperstein is away on his numerous jaunts around the globe, is Louis ("Babe") Pressley, in his playing days one of the greatest all-time Trotters. Players on the unit are Stan (Chico) Burrell, 6-4, a clever comedian; Henry Kean, 6-3, Tennessee State University cage star; Willie Cerf, 6-6, recent Drake University wonder; Andy Shepard, 6-4, another highly-talented newcomer from Michigan State Normal.

Bob Williams, 6-7, formerly of Florida A&M, voted the most valuable player in the Air Force, and an option from the Minneapolis Lakers, and such veterans as Oris Hill, 6-7, from Texas College; Norman Lee, 6-4, all-state Ohio prep from Dayton, and Chuck Holton, 6-3, of St. Norbert College (Wis.).

The Davids will counter with such men as the veteran George (Andy) Anderson, coach and long-established star; Don Tamulis, 6-3, Milton College, Wis.; Al Ingber, 5-10, Military College; Jerry Schumacher, 6-5, Carthage College; Bob Moroski, 6-7, Pennsylvania; Ed Greicius, 6-3, De Paul University of Chicago; Jim Keller, 6-5, University of Miami, Tom Gatzek, 5-11, Texas Christian; Travis Barker, 6-5, Community College, Benton Harbor, and Mel Sheary, 6-1, Nebraska Wesleyan.

John Fox of New York City will referee the tilt. The added entertainers include the spectacular table tennis duo of Ted Bourne and Bob Anderson, unicycle marvel Don Philips, juggler Mike Pickering and America's greatest rope trick artists, Bud Carlell and Rose.

Tickets are on sale by members of the sponsoring Kiwanis Club and at the doors. Admission is $1.50 and 90 cents.

BRASHER TO QUIT

LONDON (UP) — Chris Brasher of Britain, winner of the steeplechase in the Melbourne Olympics after protesting a disqualification ruling, said on his return here Wednesday night that he is quitting international competition but may do a little running to keep from "getting too fat."

Warhorse Slaughter Set For 17th Season

By UNITED PRESS

Enos (Country) Slaughter, baseball's old warhorse who insists on kicking up his heels like a young colt for the world champion New York Yankees, is all set to play his 17th season in the big leagues at the age of 41.

The Yankees announced today that the hustling outfielder has agreed to his 1957 contract estimated to call for a $20,000 salary.

Slaughter, who will reach his 41st birthday on April 27, just after the season opens, sparkled for the Yankees in the 1956 season. His two-run homer proved the winning blow in the third game of the World Series, turning the tide in favor of the Yankees for the first time when Brooklyn seemed on the way to the title.

Other signings were announced today by Milwaukee, Detroit, and the Chicago Cubs.

The Braves signed rookie catcher Carl Sawatski, who hit .280 for Toronto in the International League, but have a long way to go with only two players under contract.

Detroit boosted its total to 18 signed with pacts from center fielder Bill Tuttle, who hit .253 last year, and first baseman Earl Torgeson, who batted .264.

The cubs made it 12 in line with contracts from catcher Ray Katt, .247 hitter who was obtained from St. Louis last month in the big seven-man trader and shortstop K.C. Wise, rookie up from Los Angeles where he batted .287 and was on the Pacific Coast League All-Star team.

Freeman Drops Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio, (UP)—Robin Freeman, devoting most of his time to his law studies at Ohio State, has decided to abandon plans to play basketabll. The former All-America who lost one finger in a woodchopping accident last year, was slated to play for a local team in the Columbus League.

Golden Glove Tickets To Go On Sale

Tickets for the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament will go on sale Friday morning at Richard Drug. The meet starts Wednesday and continues through Saturday night with a layover on Thursday.

The annual meet will be held in the Pampa Junior High School gym with bouts beginning at 8 p.m. each night.

Admission prices will be $1.75 for ringside seats, $1.50 for ringside bleacher seats, $1.00 for adult general admission and 50 cents for children. Tickets also will be sold by the sponsoring Optimist Club.

Dr. R. H. Rutledge, director of the Pampa meet, also announced that weigh-ins for the fighters will be held from 2-5 p.m. Wednesday in the junior high gym. Pairings will be made after the registration and weigh-ins. Rutledge, Oren James and Johnny Campbell are in charge of registration and pairings.

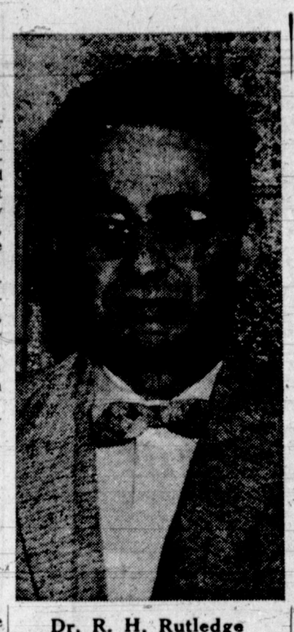

Teams from Borger, Perryton, Wellington, Guymon, Okla., and Dodge City, Kans., are expected to compete with Pampa Optimist fighters for the district titles. Winners in both high school and open divisions will represent Pampa in the regional Golden Gloves meet to be held in Amarillo on Jan. 29 and 30 and Feb. 1 and 2.

Open champions at the Amarillo tournament will represent this region in the state meet to be held in Fort Worth. They will receive expense-paid trips to compete.

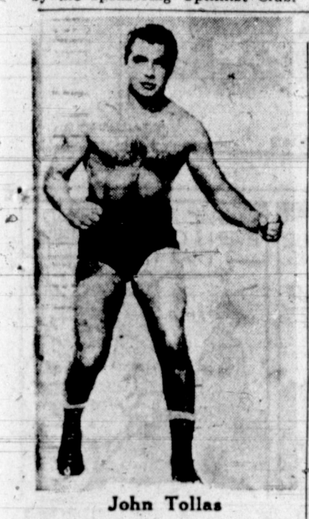

The Plainview district event is being held how and Borger and Wellington meets will be conducted week after next. The Borger tournament is slated for Jan. 24-25-26 and definite dates have not been set for the Wellington tournament.

Pampa boxers have had six matches with other teams this year in order to prepare for the district and regional meets. Local boxers will fight against Borger and Cameron Junior College boxers at Borger Saturday night and they will go against the strong Clovis, N.M., Sertoma Club squad there Jan. 21.

Only the open division contenders are expected to enter at Borger. They include Gary Wilhelm, Gary Wills, Charles Snider, Kenneth Woods and Tommy Lamar. Wayne Tedder and Clark (Scooter) Darden are on the strong Cameron team from Lawton, Okla.

Dory Funk, Newman In Return Bout

A real treat is in store for Pampa wrestling fans Monday night at the Top o' Texas Sportsmans Club with the appearance once more of Dory Funk and Leo (The Lion) Newman.

Funk and Rip Rogers have teamed up in a tag match opposite Newman and Tokyo Joe for the mat card's main event. The bout is slated for a one-hour time limit and the best two of three falls.

A newcomer, Don Curtis, goes against John Tollas in the semifinal match. The match is set for two of three falls with a 45 - minute time limit. Curtis has never wrestled here before and Tollas has not appeared here in over a month.

Rip Rogers takes on Tokyo Joe in the one-fall, 20-minute opener. Matches start at 8:15 p.m.

Basilio To Request Fight Postponement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP) — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio was scheduled to face the doctor today on his request to have his Jan. 18 title defense against Johnny Saxton postponed because of a hand injury suffered in training.

Dr. J.W. Lambright Jr., who pronounced Basilio "fit" after a surprise examination last Sunday, was to take a closer look at the right hand of the champion from Chittenango, N.Y.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said Folley would be offered a bout with the winner of Friday night's bout in New York between Baker and Carter.

Front-Running Mustangs Express Arkansas Fear

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (UP) — Coach Doc Hayes of the front-running, two-times Southwest Conference champion Southern Methodist Mustangs fears every opponent his potent Ponies meet, but he's developed a deep-seated apprehension about the young, aggressive Arkansas Razorbacks.

On paper, there's not much basis for such fear when it is noted that Coach Glen Rose lost four starters and two other lettermen, or about 71 per cent of the 1956 club's scoring punch. And, his tallest man is only 6-6.

But, declares Hayes, "Rose's team has more depth than any other team in the circuit and with Glen's coaching talents he'll take the inexperienced ones and have them playing real varsity ball by the time we catch 'em."

Surprise At Houston

That will be Feb. 2 here in Dallas and March 2 in Fayetteville.

Rose's team took its knocking about in early games and lost three of its first five games, but Rose kept rotating men into the game off his bench and by the time he hit the pre-season tournament at Houston he had the surprise entry in tow.

That's where Hayes and his SMU club got its first taste of the Razorbacks and SMU was fortunate to come off with a 64-60 finals victory after Arkansas had upset both Texas and Rice — pre-season favorites to push SMU for the title — enroute to the championship game.

Since then, Arkansas has won one and lost one on the road in league play, but has shown every indication that the Razorbacks are going to be near unbeatable on their home floor, where usually it's worth 10 to 15 points in their favor.

Hogs Good On Defense

Terry Day, one of the two seniors and two-year lettermen still around, has been the key player in the club's successes to date with a 15-point scoring output that jumps to 23 points in loop play alone.

Senior Joe Dickson, juniors Freddy Grim and Wayne Dunn and transfer Larry Grisham have formed his first line with Dunn's 6-5 height being this group's peak. Sophomores Jay Carpenter and Larry Stolzer have developed into front-line reserves and Rose can go to the bench for others without impairing his defense too much although it would cut into his offensive output.

Defense probably will continue to be the key maneuver for the Razorbacks, who will give away height to every opponent.

Despite this disadvantage, Rose has his charges hustling to the point that they have outrebounded the opposition by 10 per game.

Hornung Signs With Green Bay

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—Paul Hornung, twice an All-America quarterback at Notre Dame, was "tickled pink" today about his three - year contract with the Green Bay Packers, even though he turned down a "real fabulous offer" from Canada.

Hornung signed the Packer agreement, for an estimated $15,000 per year, in a conference with club President R. W. Bogda. The pact provides for him to play three seasons with the Packers, even though the continuity might be interrupted by military service.

Hornung, who was 21 last month, is not in any reserve training program and hence will be eligible for a draft call any time after his graduated from Notre Dame in June. Normally, how a student can remain out of service for about one year.

The National Federation of High School Athletic Associations made two football rule changes for next season. Grabbing a player's face mask draws a 15-yard penalty and in the other rule, one player from each competing team may confer with the coach on the sidelines during time outs. Zora Folley Wins 2nd Bethea Bout

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UP)—Promising young heavyweight Zora Folley, who got up off the canvas to win his second split decision over Wayne Bethea Wednesday night, today was promised a match with the winner of the bout between ranking heavyweights Bob Baker and Harold Carter.

The 25-year-old Folley, of Chandler, Ariz., apparently was startled into a strong finish after Bethea dropped him for a nine count in the seventh round of their televised 10-round match at War Memorial Auditorium.

Bethea, 24, of New York, carried the entire fight to the slick-punching Folley, but Folley piled up the victory margin in the first four and 10th rounds.

Folley weighed 192 pounds and Bethea 201¼.

Referee Lou Scozza and Judge Dick Albino gave Folley five rounds with one even while Judge Richie Fazio awarded five to Bethea with one even. The United Press card was 6-4 favoring Bethea.

Pacific Coast Schools May Ask NCAA Convention For Leniency

By CHARLES NETHAWAY
United Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (UP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association faced almost no battles today as it approached its annual floor session which will end all but minor business of the 51st convention.

There was an outside chance three Pacific Coast schools — Washington, Southern California, and UCLA—may appeal to the convention for leniency in their probation cases. They have been denied it by the NCAA executive council, but that group could be overruled by th eopen convention Friday.

Coaches Discuss Ethics

Ethics among coaches were discussed by the American Football Coaches Association. The group said a coach facing a major schedule and forced to break "unrealistic rules" set up by his school and conference should have the support of the membership, since the rules often make his position "untenable."

In another direction, however, the coaches revealed they have installed a system of disciplinary action, ranging from probation to reprimand, against individual members of the AFCA.

Missouri Athletic Director Don Faurot stole Wednesday's play by naming and parading his successor as Tiger coach, young Frank Broyles, backfield coach at Georgia Tech. Broyles won a three-year contract. His salary was not announced.

Rule For Gophers

The executive council for 1956 ended its affairs with the Pacific Coast Conference action and one favoring the University of Minnesota. In the latter case, the council ruled Minnesota was innocent last June in using Bill Horning, a professional baseball player, in winning the "College World Series." It took no action against the Gophers. Horning signed with Cedar Rapids, Iowa, in 1950 but played no pro ball and drew no compensation.

Texans Among Players On All-Star Team

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Quarterback George Johnson of Sonora, Tex., and halfback Ron Hartline of Lawton, Okla., were among the players named to the 10th annual national high school all-America football team sponsored by the Wigwam Wisemen of America.

Guard Clarence (Bo) Strange of Baton Rouge, La., also made the first team.

Seven other Texas players were scattered through the first seven teams picked by the Wisemen and 48 others were placed on the honorable mention list.

Seventeen Oklahomans made the honorable mention list, but none placed on any of the seven teams named.

All are eligible to play in the 10th annual Prep all-America football classic at Memphis, Tenn., next August.

The other Texans listed among the first seven teams include guard Charles Boatman of Alice, third team; center Bill Laughlin of Baytown and halfback Glynn Gregory of Abilene, fourth; guard Lanny Dowell of Dallas and halfback Harry Moreland of Fort Worth, fifth; center Max Charistian of Corpus Christi, sixth, and guard Charles Weiss, Austin, seventh.

Georgia Tech's Broyles To Succeed Faurot At Missouri

ST. LOUIS (UP)— The names are changed but the system will be much the same at the University of Missouri this fall, where young Frank Broyles of Georgia Tech will succeed Don Faurot as head coach.

Faurot, who will continue as Tiger athletic director, said he hoped some of Broyles' success at Georgia Tech with the split-T which Faurot invented, would rub off at Missouri.

Broyles was signed to a three-year contract Wednesday. His salary was not announced. He has been Coach Bobby Dodd's backfield coach for the Engineers.

"I asked Frank if he wanted to continue Missouri's tough schedule and he said 'yes,'" Faurot said. "Of course, he's got no choice for awhile, since we're set for four years."

Broyles, who is 32, coached three years at Baylor, a year at Florida and six years at Georgia Tech. He is a native of Atlanta.

"I plan to move to Columbia just as soon as I can go home and change shirts," he said. "This is what I've wanted and when I told Bobby it was, he helped me get the job."

Broyles said he wanted to work with a school favoring the same policies as his alma mater, Georgia Tech, mainly using home area boys. He said he also was interested in working with Faurot, who "can teach a young coach like me an awful lot."

"Frank showed enthusiasm for the 'Missouri plan,'" Faurot said, "and that's what sold us on him. He is willing to work with boys close to Columbia and abide by the rules of the Big Seven Conference, the NCAA, and the Missouri University code."

Oil's Formation

Oil is formed from marine sediments, laid down on the beds of oceans that existed in past ages, which may have been far away from any present-day oceans.

MITEY MOUSE — Meet the strange pet of Mrs. Carolyn Little, of Minneapolis. It's a week-old mouse, just an inch long, plus another inch for its tail. The tiniest eye-dropper is too big for its mouth, so it gets its one-course dinner of milk from an ordinary teaspoon, while sitting in the palm of its mistress' hand.
