More Gains In Northern Drive Are Announced

Govorov's Army Pounds Westward On 50-Mile Front

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 2—A Moscow broadcast announced tonight that Russian troops who captured Kingisepp yesterday had continued to thrust westward making further "important gains," and since Kingisepp is only eight miles from the border this suggested Soviet spearheads already were inside Estonia.

At the same time, Reuters quoted the German overseas news agency as reporting "Soviet troops are trying to get across the river Narova," indicating Rer army units already had pushed six miles into Estonia.

The Russians under Gen. Leonid A. Govorov previously had captured Meikino, seven miles northeast of Narva.

Govorov's army was pounding westward on a 50-mile-wide front from the Gulf of Finland south to Lake Samro, where Red army troops yesterday occupied the town of Valova, less than 28 miles from Estonia.

In all, the Leningrad veterans captured 50 towns and villages in yesterday's advance, killed more than 2,000 Germans and salvaged enormous quantities of war booty abandoned by the fleeing enemy, a Russian communique reported.

Reds Reach Border

In Moscow, Dr. Johannes Vares, president of the Estonian republic, announced to a cheering Supreme Soviet that Govorov's vanguards had reached the borders of his country, incorporated into the Soviet Union on Aug. 6, 1940, and engulfed by the German invasion of Russia in September, 1941.

Recapture of Kingisepp, taken by the Germans on Aug. 26, 1941, was announced by Premier Stalin last night in an order of the day and was saluted by 12 salvos from 124 Moscow guns. Other important strongpoints which fell to Govorov's westward drive were Kurovitsky, two miles from the border, Mannovka, south of Keikimo and six miles northeast of Narva, and Koskolovo, 22 miles

Three Escape Prison Farm

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP) — State police were notified today that three prisoners including Ernest Herring, one of the most slippery convicts in the prison system, escaped this morning from the Retrieve farm.

Herring has a record of four breaks in less than two years. He is under sentences aggregating 101 years for murder, felony theft, urglary and fence cutting.

Accompanying him were Robert McEachern, a two-time escapee under a life sentence for murder, and F. G. Reese, under a 10-year burglary sentence.

Herring was sentenced from Bell, Bosque, Lampasas and Madison counties. McEachern's sentence was passed in Ft. Bend county.

Herring first escaped from the state prison system in Dec., 1942. On that occasion, he was caught and returned in Feb., 1943. In June of 1943, Herring again escaped with McEachern. McEachern was captured near Alvarado after the pair wrecked an automobile.

Herring was arrested at Parsons, Kas., and en route back to the prison he escaped again, this time from the prison transfer truck, and subsequently was caught in Oklahoma.

Invasion Coast Pounded Again

Berlin Blasted By Mosquitos

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Feb. 2 — Britain's swift Mosquito bombers lashed again last night at Berlin, still smoking from Sunday's heavy hammering, and today large formations of Allied planes renewed their attack on the "invasion coast" of France.

U. S. heavy bombers with fighter escort struck at military objectives in northern France, it was announced, and Marauders, without loss, bombed an airfield in Normandy.

The daylight raiders roared across the channel early in the morning and came streaming back 45 minutes later. The operation against the Pas-de-Calais area reopened attacks which were interrupted yesterday for the first time in nine days.

Fourth Raid In Six Nights

The Mosquitos' stab set air raid sirens howling in the devastated German capital for the fourth time in six nights.

The fleet plywood British raiders, the announcement said, also attacked other targets in western Germany, the identity of which was not disclosed. One plane was lost in the night's operations.

The air ministry disclosed that the RAF had loosed 16,500 tons of explosives on Germany during January to break all monthly records for bombing attacks on the reich as additional details filtered through concerning the damage inflicted on Berlin.

Berlin Said "Dead City"

Dispatches from Stockholm quoted travellers arriving from Berlin as saying that the German capital was a 'dead city" and that 10 more attacks on the scale of the most recent RAF raids would finish it completely.

One traveller estimated that five or six more raids would do the job.

The air ministry review said the weight of bombs dropped on Berlin alone in six heavy raids during January totalled more than 9,300 tons. The aggregate tonnage unloaded on Germany exceeded by 500 tons the figure for the previous record month—August, 1943.

In addition to the 16,500 tons dropped on Germany, approximately 1,500 tons of explosives were showered down on other Eu-

Solon Suggests That Government Figure Out Taxes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Rep. Robertson (D-Va) today proposed that the government itself be required to figure how much income tax is owed by persons earning less than $3,000 a year.

Robertson's proposal, which would cover approximately 30,000,000 persons, was submitted to the House ways and means committee as that body began a search for some method of simplifying the income tax structure.

It could not become effective before next year.

The Virginian would provide that those taxpayers with annual income below $3,000, who elect to file the optional form 1040-A return, may report only gross income, credit for dependents, family status and victory tax exemption. The collector of internal revenue then would compute the tax and notify the taxpayer how much was owing. This could be paid within 10 days.

Great Possibilities In Russian Shakeup Seen

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Feb. 2.—Foreign diplomats examining the Soviet union's reconstruction of the relationships of its 16 republics with the outside world today saw in the move possibilities for one of the broadest, most elastic foreign policies of any government in the world—and the opportunity to swing great weight in Allied councils.

Increasing interest was shown in the trends the new program might take, especially whether the Soviet Union will seek to set up separate representations in the various countries with which it now has diplomatic relationships.

Autonomy on the republics in foreign affairs would give the Soviets the legal right to ask for multiple representation in such councils as the League of Nations like that enjoyed by the British commonwealth of nations.

Brilliant Peice Of Work

Theer are diplomatic authorities here who feel the Russians have pulled off a brilliant piece of work in international diplomacy, no matter what are the immediate developments.

The history-making plan adopted unanimously by the Supreme Soviet (Russian parliament) last night gave the 16 republics the power to deal directly with other countries and raise their own army units.

Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov submitted the proposition, explaining to the delegates "this new step forward in the nationality question," concerning the various nationalities in the union, resulted "through the success of the Soviet Union as a whole in the war against the invader."

Great Bargaining Power

Autonomy of the 16 republics—including Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania—would give the Soviets great bargaining power in foreign relations. It is believed that Russia will seek to realize as much as legally possible from the reconstruction.

Denied membership in the League of Nations for a long period,

New Questions Facing Allies

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—Reorganization of the Soviet Union into a virtual commonwealth of nations confronts the United States and other Allied powers with a flock of new and intriguing questions which went begging for answers today in diplomatic circles.

Foremost is the question of how Moscow's revolutionary move may work to Soviet advantage in winning recognition of her asserted right to political control of the Baltic states — Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia—and other border areas.

Of even greater long-range importance is this poser: Will Russia now be able to bid for 16 places at the peace table and in the eventual, hoped-for world league?

Meanwhile, will she continue to claim but one voice in such temporary international agencies as the European advisory commission set up in London late last year with British, American and Soviet membership?

One point on which there seemed to be general agreement, for the time being at least, is that while each of the 16 republics may handle its foreign affairs independently there will be no request from any of them to maintain an ambassador or minister in Washington, with reciprocal American representation in the Russian states. There was a disposition in official quarters here to question the legality on the Russian move, since the understanding of the Russian constitution, adopted in 1936, is that it gave the republics then existing a degree of autonomy somewhat similar to that exercised by the states of this country.

States' Rights Expanded

The change approved last night by the Supreme Soviet, the Russian parliament, adds to this the right for each state to conduct its

Judge Orders Parents Of Boys To Remarry

ORANGE, Feb. 2 (U.P.) — In a move he said was striking at the roots of child delinquency, District Judge F. P. Adams has ordered the shipyard-working parents of two boys, age 7 and 11, to remarry and set up a home for the children or quit living together.

Investigation of the cases of the two boys, hailed into court for truancy, bicycle theft and movie "crashing," revealed their parents had been divorced but now were living together in a trailer home in which the boys slept in wooden boxes pushed beneath the parents' bed.

Judge Adams ordered the mother to exchange her work coveralls for dresses and "be a mother," while ordering the father to support them.

Some Demos Believe Opposition To FDR's Nomination Is Futile

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Some Democrats who have been active in party councils in the past will absent themselves from this year's national convention because they believe President Roosevelt will be nominated on the first ballot and concede that opposition is futile.

They have a feeling, in fact, that opposition to any move to renominate Mr. Roosevelt may be considerably less than it was in 1940.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) who opposed a fourth term as strongly as he did a third, said today he had no intention of seeking a place as a convention delegate.

"So far as I am concerned" Wheeler told a reporter, "I don't intend to go as a delegate to the Chicago convention. I feel that there are a lot of Democrats in Montana who are anxious to go and I prefer to step aside in their favor.

"It looks now as if the President will be a candidate and if he is, he will be renominated."

Similarly, Senator Overton (D-La), who has been critical of administration policies in recent months, said he does not plan to attend the convention.

"Apparently," he said, "President Roosevelt will be the nominee without serious opposition."

Test Vote Is Held In Senate

Green-Lucas Bill Wins First Round

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — The administration's federal ballot bill for the armed services won its first Senate test today with defeat of a "states' rights" amendment aimed at restoring local registration and poll tax payments as voting qualifications for those in uniform.

The roll call vote was 68 to 23 against the amendment, first of a host of changes projected at the administration-backed Green-Lucas bill which would send a uniform federal ballot to military voters.

The amendment, offered by Senator Overton (D-La), would have given state election laws complete control over the validity of the federal ballots.

House Refuses Vote

The Senate test victory for the administration bill came less than 24 hours after the federal ballot plan took a rebuff in the House where members turned down a roll call vote on the issue of federal vs. state balloting.

A few minutes later the Senate defeated on a voice vote a second Overton amendment which would have had the same effect—restoring state voting qualifications.

Several Republican foes of the Green-Lucas bill in its present form nevertheless voted against the Overton amendment, indicating that the real test for the administration bill is yet to come.

Third Amendment Rejected

After his first two proposals were beaten, Overton demanded a roll call on a third "states' rights" amendment—calling for outright repeal of provisions in a federal election law enacted in 1942 which specifically waived poll tax payments and local registration as voting requirements.

The real battle on the Green-Lucas bill will come on a "compromise" plan, which would retain the federal ballot plan for military voters from those states which fail to waive local registration and which fail to provide a light weight state ballot.

Backers of the Green-Lucas bill, fighting all attempts to change the measure, contended a federal ballot is the only practical voting plan for the armed services.

Backers of the administration-sponsored plan, introduced by Senators Green (D-RI) and Lucas (D-Ill), predicted that President Roosevelt would not sign any "leave-it-to-the-states" proposal which Congress might pass.

Said House Democratic Leader McCormack, of Massachusetts:

"I have no prior information of what the President might do, but I do not see how he could sign a bill that he has called a fraud, and rightly so."

Yesterday the state ballot advo-

Sgt. S. W. Hawthorne Is Killed In Crash

Sgt. Samuel W. Hawthorne, jr., 21, formerly of Post, Morton and Lubbock, was killed in an airplane crash near Riverside, Calif., Tuesday, according to a message received here by his mother, Mrs. S. W. Hawthorne, sr., 2427 Twenty-second street.

Sgt. Hawthorne, a gunner, was one of the four members of the crew killed when a four-engine heavy bomber from March field, Calif., crashed while attempting a forced landing, press dispatches received today reported. Six others of the crew were injured.

Another of the dead was 2nd Lt. Wesley Eugene Sory, 26, son of Mrs. Claude Cory, route 1, Livingston, Texas.

The body is to be forwarded to Post for services and burial. Davis-Mason Funeral home there is in charge of arrangements.

Survivors, additional to the mother, include three sisters, Mrs. K. Crouch, also of 2427 Twenty-second, and Mrs. C. T. Seaman and Miss Irene Hawthorne, both of Los Angeles; and a brother, J. D. Hawthorne of Morton.

Born and reared near Post, Sgt. Hawthorne attended the Close City grammar school and the high schools in Post and Morton. He was a member of the football team at Morton.

He enlisted before his graduation from high school about two years ago and was stationed at Lubbock Army Air field about eight months. He received additional training at fields in Harlingen, Texas, and Pendleton, Ore. He reported for duty at Riverside last Jan. 10.

One-Third Of E Bond Quota Here Is Sold

Women To Finish House-To-House Canvass Today

Almost half a million dollars worth of Series E bonds have been sold in Lubbock since the Fourth War Loan drive started.

The exact figure is $446,762.50 and includes the sales in three Lubbock banks, First Federal Savings and Loan association and the postoffice to the close of business Tuesday afternoon.

The total represents substantially more than one-third of the Lubbock county quota of $1,195,0000 for Series E bonds, which are the type that about 90 per cent of the investors buy. It is the type of bond that is being stressed particularly here, and throughout the nation, during the Fourth Loan campaign.

Short On Last Quota

Incidentally, Lubbock county fell short of its Series E quota in the Third drive. Sales were $1,041,000 against a quota of $1,200,000 in that campaign. It is the only quota of any kind that Lubbock county has failed to exceed in any of the war loan drives.

The $1,195,000 set for Series E bonds is included, of course, in the county's over-all quota of $3,597,000 in the Fourth Loan campaign. However, there is no uneasiness among the campaign workers bet that Lubbock will pass the over-all quota, even though a great deal of work still remains to be done. But they aren't so sure whether the Series E goal will be reached.

The series E total was the only one available for the present drive in Lubbock county this morning.

Other Securities Available

County Chairman Neil H. Wright said that a great many securities of the other types available in the drive have been sold. He reminded, incidentally, that several types of bonds, notes and warrants are being offered in the Fourth Loan drive. There is a type which should appeal to every investor, large or small, for long or short term. Several sales of large amounts of other types of issues—mostly 7-8 per cent treasury notes—have been reported unofficially.

But first attention is being paid to the tabulations of Series E bonds, the chairman explained. Every effort will be made to process them first so as to get them in the hands of purchasers.

The processing of the many thousands of these bonds is proving a tremendous job. Banks and First Federal Savings and Loan association are attending to these first. But, even with the night shifts working, it is going to take them several days to type names and other information on the

Formation Of War Crimes Group Hinted

CHUNGKING, Feb. 2 (AP)—The impending formation of a war crimes commission in China was announced today by Vice Minister of Foreign Affairs K. C. Wu, who hinted that the body might include various Allied commanders-in-chief.

Minister of Information Liang Han-Chao said the Chinese received the disclosures in Washington and London of Japanese atrocities "with deepest sympathy for our Allies and with intensified hatred for our common enemy."

Liang said large numbers of prisoners of war and civilians had been tortured and murdered by the Japanese in China and added, "the Japanese not long ago were savage islanders . . . Most of their military men are narrow-minded, selfish and cruel."

(A Tokyo broadcast quoted a Japanese spokesman as saying, "Japan is giving enemy prisoners of war and civilian internees fair and considerate treatment in accordance with international law" and also that "we have never used gas and we are not going to use gas in the future unless our enemies use it first."

(The Melbourne, Australia, radio said Tokyo had broadcast an assertion that there would be no change in Japanese treatment of prisoners of war.)

Mighty Assault Striking Enemy In Marshalls

Invasion Forces Battling For Control Of Kwajalein Atoll; Outer Front Line Of Japanese Empire; Resistance Strong

BY MORRIE LANDSBERG
Associated Press War Editor

American invasion forces fought today on damp, low-lying islets for control of Kwajalein atoll in the heavily-fortified Marshalls in a mighty coordinated assault on the outer front line of the Japanese empire.

Troops who landed Monday after a terrific three-day bombardment of enemy positions, quickly threw up beachheads on at least 10 of the 30-odd islets forming the central, and largest, of the chain of mid-Pacific bases.

The Japanese showed little resistance at some invasion points. Admiral Nimitz, in announcing the start of the expected offensive against the mandated islands, told of strong opposition, apparently at the major islets of long, narrow Kwajalein.

The Fourth Marine division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Harry Schmidt, landed at Roi, the northernmost tip of the atoll. Soldiers of the Army's Seventh infantry, which captured Attu in the far north, swarmed ashore at Kwajalein, at the southern end.

Warships Loose Explosives

Warships poured thousands of tons of explosives into enemy installations in clearing the way for the troop landings, and even before the actual invasion carrier planes destroyed or damaged 113 Japanese planes, mostly at Roi.

American commanders expressed confidence in final victory — a confidence founded on the knowledge that they had the support of the greatest sea armada ever assembled. But they cautioned against expecting a quick campaign like the three-day conquest of the Gilberts, 300 miles to the south.

Capture of Kwajalein, with an excellent harbor and seaplane and submarine bases, would expose Wotje and Maloelap, two other major atolls in the Marshalls lying almost directly east. It would develop new threats to the enemy, for Truk, the Japanese naval bastion, is 1200 miles southwest, and Tokyo is 2700 miles northwest.

Chinese newspapers hailed the Marshalls landings as a crack in Japan's "Siegfried line" in the Pacific. "The Allies are carrying the war into Japan's inner defense ring," said the newspaper Takung Pao.

Japan, on the other hand, displayed signs of uneasiness, and the newspapers prepared the homeland for setbacks in the island group which the Nipponese have held since the end of the last war.

Allied forces kept up attacks on the enemy in the southwestern sector of the sweeping Pacific battle arc.

British troops are fighting hard near Campoleone only 16 miles below Rome, and American units are at grips with the enemy near Cisterna 14 miles northeast of Anzio.

Counterattack Expected

A headquarters officer declared the Germans still are building up a large force near the beachhead, and a heavy counterattack may be expected soon.

Allied reinforcements are pouring into the beachhead, now 14 miles long and eight miles deep on the average, with some prongs running considerably farther inland.

On the main Fifth Army front, American and French troops are fighting side by side as the spearheads of their attack join in the area above the bastion of Cassino.

They advanced a mile, seizing more heights, and U. S. units now are within a mile of Terelle, some five miles northwest of Cassino. French forces took 100 prisoners yesterday, and Americans captured 50 more. A battle now is raging on Mt. Manna, southeast of Terelle, and German pockets in nearby areas are being mopped up.

Patrols were active along the entire Eighth Army front across the peninsula.

Catholic Says Russia After Separate Peace

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — A Russian writer's charge that the Vatican had pursued a pro-Fascist policy today prompted a counter-accusation by a Catholic leader that Russia is laying the groundwork "for alienating itself from the Allies and making a separate peace with Germany."

"Soviet condemnation of the Vatican is merely an item in a pattern which Russia is skillfully working out," said Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, associate professor of philosophy at Catholic university and widely known as a writer and conducter of the radio Catholic hour.

His comment, in the form of a prepared statement, followed publication by Izvestia, official Soviet newspaper, or an article by Dmitri Petrovgn which said that 'the Vatican has assumed the position of direct accomplice of fascism.". Petrov asserted that Pope Pius XII had "maintained diplomatic relations with Hitler" and "helped Hitler strangle the Italian people, including Catholic groups opposed to fascism in Germany as well as in Italy."

OFF ROI ISLAND, Kwajalein, Marshall Islands, Feb. 1 (Delayed) —This morning we can hear the continuous rumble of bombs and shells on Roi and Namur island, which are hidden from our view by the heavy smoke cloud raised by the bombardment of the past 28 hours.

The bombardment by battleships, cruisers and destroyers began yesterday at dawn and with bombing and strafing by carrier planes continued throughout the day. Last night great fires flickered on Roi, principal airbase at the northern end of Kwajalein atoll in the Japanese mandated Marshalls.

Tremendous Smoke Clouds

Tremendous smoke clouds from burning oil and other stores swirled somberly in the soft light of a quarter moon.

Yesterday's landings were preliminary to the main assault. Before that is accomplished, Roi and Namur will have received the most concentrated pounding in history, taking 5000 tons of naval shells at a minimum estimate, plus continuous bombing.

Momentous Events Are Taking Place

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Two events of vast importance are demanding space in our crowded column today—the American invasion of the Marshall islands, and the remoulding of the Soviet union into what amounts to a commonwealth of nations.

The Russian move, which appears to confer a large degree of sovereignty on the sixteen members comprising the union, bids fair to have far reaching effects. For one thing it might give the Soviet sixteen votes in any post-war "League of Nations" which may be created to maintain peace, whereas a government like that of the United States would have only one. There is, however, another point which presents momentous possibilities, and it is this:

Flexible Organization

This new commonwealth of nations seems to contemplate a wholly flexible organization — a sort of big club—which could enlarge its membership freely without any troublesome annexations or apparent infringment of the sovereignty of the new member.

Thus, for example, if countries like Yugoslavia, Bulgaria or Greece—all of which have developed strong Communistic parties—want to become members of the Soviet commonwealth, despite their geographical separation from Russia, they could do so without surrendering their independence. If this is so it would permit of a wide-spread enlargement of the Soviet union:

Now take a look at the Pacific where American forces, supported by the greatest naval strength ever assembled in one place, have invaded the heart of Japan's Marshall islands stronghold. We are hitting at the powerful bases of Roi and Kwajalein islands, having by-passed numerous other isles with the idea that if we take the two key positions, the other bases will more or less fall of their own weight.

Losses Said Moderate

Marines and Army units are ashore on the Kwajalein atoll. There is fierce fighting, but early reports were that our losses had been moderate. Indications are that our gallant invasion forces have a lot of dirty work ahead of them, for these Japanese defenses are among their strongest. The Marshalls are, of course, one of the main shields for Japan proper.

The greatest event which could grow out of this invasion — and one for which our forces in the Pacific undoubtedly are praying —would be for the Japs to rush to the rescue with the big naval fleet which they have been sheltering within the harbor of their powerful naval station of Truk, 1,200 miles west.

That would precipitate a titanic battle which would either make or break the mikado. Should the Nipponese fleet be destroyed —and from all accounts our Pacific men-of-war are ready for a showdown—it would open the way for a direct assault on the Japanese mainland. The defense of the Japanese island kingdom then would rest mainly in her warplanes and in her naval home fleet.

Would Prolong War

Of course, if the Japs should win such a naval engagement, their lines would indeed be cast in pleasant places. It would reinforce their strategy of prolonging the war with the idea of tiring out the Allies and forcing us to compromise.

However, it may well be that the barbarians of the Rising Sun won't risk their Truk fleet in such a great gamble. After all, Truk and the surrounding Caroline islands present a formidable barrier—so long as they are strongly held—between the Allies and both Japan and the Philippines even if we capture the Marshalls. American naval experts say the Japs can't hold the Marshalls without a daring fleet action.

Politics Of Italy Studied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — The whole question of Italian internal politics has come up for review in London and Washington and there would be no surprise here if King Vittorio Emanuele were on the way out.

Thus far there has been no official announcement to that effect. When President Roosevelt was asked for comment on reports the administration was "about to give up" on the king, he replied that the administration is as firmly determined as ever that the Italians shall decide for themselves whether they want Vittorio Emanuele or anybody else as their ruler.

Hull Silent On Matter

Secretary of State Hull also was asked whether he could make any statement on the situation, but replied there was nothing he could say which would be helpful at this time.

In general, however, the American government is believed to have come around to a position where it will not stand in the way when and if the time comes for the king to step down.

Opponents of Allied Italian policy have charged the State department with helping maintain the king in power, but to whatever extent this may have been true in the past, it is understood not to be true any longer.

Impending Change

The matter was brought to a head by an impending change in government for southern Italy, now in Allied hands.

At present the government of Premier Pietro Badoglio, under the king, rules a minor portion of liberated Italy — four provinces in the heel of the boot, plus the island of Sardinia — subject to policy limitations imposed by the Allied control commission under Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, Allied commander-in-chief.

Allied Military government controls the rest of liberated Italy.

GOP To Start Firing At Lincoln Dinners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — With at least three potential presidential candidates in action, Republicans will start beating the 1944 political kettledrums next week at an estimated 2,000 Lincoln day dinners and meetings in all sections of the country.

Chairman Harrison E. Spangler said reports reaching national committee headquarters indicated more meetings would be held this year than at any time in the last decade. Spangler will speak at a gathering in Fairmont, W. Va.

Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 nominee who has not yet announced his candidacy, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio who has, are booked for major speeches in which they are expected to outline their positions on national issues. Another avowed presidential candidate, Rep. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, will speak at a rally at Ogden, Utah, Feb. 16.

Have a Coca-Cola = Skal
(HERE'S TO YOU)

...or a way to be warm-hearted in Iceland

Skal, says the Icelander when he wants to wish you well. Have a "Coke", says the Yank in the same spirit. In every clime Have a "Coke" is a phrase that breaks the ice between strangers. That's why Coca-Cola always belongs in your icebox at home. Yes, from the equator to the poles, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the global symbol of those who wish well to their fellow men.

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

States Are Working On Soldier Voting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Thirty-eight out of 40 governors who replied to telegrams assured members of the Senate today that their states either have made or will make special provision for absentee balloting by their citizens in the armed forces.

The question of whether states can provide the necessary machinery to record the votes of service personnel has figured in the Senate debate on a proposed federal war ballot bill. Senator Byrd (D-Va) placed the governors' telegrams in the record in support of his contention that the states are acting.

Gov. Forrest C. Donnell of Missouri said that while his state's laws provide for absentee balloting by members of the armed forces, they do not make those ballots available for forwarding outside the United States 45 days before the election. The secretaries of War and Navy have said 45 days would be needed to handle the ballots. Donnell said no decision had been reached on calling a special session of the legislature to change this.

Accommodates Those In U. S.

Gov. Chauncey Sparks said Alabama's absentee voting law would accommodate members of the armed forces in the United States. He added there were no immediate plans for changes.

The other governors all said their laws had been altered or would be after Congress acts, several of them stressing that it would be necessary for the federal government to distribute and collect the ballots.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said the New York state legislature would consider any necessary changes in the existing war ballot law "as soon as we know what federal requirements must be met."

Incomplete Ballot Cited

"Any ballot authorized by Congress which would not list state, county and other local office would be incomplete and not in accordance with the provisions of the constitutilon of the state of New York," he added. "Therefore, it would be incumbent upon the New York legislature to make available to every citizen in the armed forces from the state of New York a full and complete state ballot."

States not reporting in the survey were Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Utah, Wyoming and Louisiana.

Bond Drive Pushed To One-Third Mark

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — The first report of "big money" subscriptions drove the $14,000,000,000 Fourth War Loan campaign to the one-third mark today.

Of $4,628,000,000 now subscribed, the Treasury said $2,886,000,000 represented purchases by corporations and other large investors, with the balance—$1,742,000,000—accounted for in individual sales.

A $156,000,000 gain in individual sales in the last 24 hours was the largest since the drive began and reflected, the Treasury reported, a mounting indignation over the Japanese atrocity reports.

INDIVIDUAL BOND SALES SAID SLOW IN TEXAS

DALLAS, Feb. 2 (AP) — Texas has attained only 28 per cent of its goal in extra bonds bought by individuals with two weeks of the four-weeks war bond drive already past, Nathan Adams, state chairman of the volunteer sales group, said today.

He reported that at the close of business yesterday, efforts of hundreds of thousands of volunteer salesmen had brought subscriptions of less than $60,000,000 of a quota of $210,000,000 for the state.

Time Extension Seen On Income Estimates

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Internal revenue officials said today they expected Congress to authorize a 30-to-45 day extension of the deadline for filing 1944 income estimates.

These officials said they already had been informed there would be a delay in preparation of forms for the 1944 declarations because pending legislation probably would affect 1944 income rates.

For this reason, they added, simultaneous filing of 1944 estimates and 1943 tax returns was being discouraged.

The officials conceded they could not prevent a taxpayer from filing his 1944 estimate with his 1943 return if he insisted, but they said the new forms might necessitate a revision of the estimate.

Stassen Urged As Candidate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Senator Ball (R-Minn) called on Republicans today to draft Haroid E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, as the kind of presidential candidate the party needs and the country ought to elect.

In a broadcast generally regarded as opening a national campaign, Ball pictured Stassen — now a lieutenant commander on duty with the Navy in the Southwest Pacific—as a candidate with a clear, affirmative program for attacking basic domestic and foreign problems.

Asserting that the next president "will face the toughest job in our history," Ball told his listeners in the course of a prepared address:

"There is no place in that process for bitterness and name calling, or for movements based wholly on an 'anti' or 'stop' philosophy."

Entered In Nebraska

The Minnesota senator said Stassen, whose name has been entered in the Nebraska preferential primary, stands for international cooperation to prevent future wars and his developed a broad program for reconversion to peace-time pursuits at home.

He praised Stassen's record as an efficient administrator who would do something about "the mushrooming jungle of federal bureaus and agencies in Washington."

Ball said that nearly a year ago Stassen advanced a program for formation of an international organization to preserve peace. The former governor believes, he said, in providing clear and speedy procedure for settling labor disputes and has advocated shifting taxes from productive to consumptive sources.

Marshall College Will Be Expanded

MARSHALL, Feb. 2 (AP) — Trustees of the College of Marshall, a two-year junior college here, announced today the college's name has been changed to East Texas Baptist college and initiated plans calling for a four-year curriculum.

Launching the college into an expansion program, the trustees, headed by Curtis W. Meadows, of Longview, voted unanimously on both the name change and the change to a four-year course of study.

Dr. H. D. Bruce, college president, said plans were approved to add a third year of college work starting with the 1944 fall session and sufficient faculty to handle additional courses and an enlarged student body.

Congress' Action On Soldier Voting May Not Be Effective

By JAMES MARLOW and GEORGE ZIELKE
Associated Press Staff Writers

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — Here are the principal arguments — with the $64 question at the end — in the congressional uproar over soldier voting.

The 48 states have different requirements, and one congressional group—headed by Senators Lucas (D-Ill) and Green (R-RI)—says in the case of servicemen, the states should have to waive their pre-voting requirements in such things as registration, poll taxes and absentee ballot bans.

The group would also set up a federal ballot commission of two Democrats and two Republicans to supply blank ballots to all the servicemen.

States Would Supply Names

The 48 states would supply the ballot commission with the names of their candidates for federal office: president, vice president and congressmen. These, of course, would be the candidates in the run-off elections. The servicemen not vote in primaries nor for state or local officials.

The commission would give the candidates' names to the Army and Navy for transmission to their men everywhere.

President Roosevelt, in a message to Congress, supported the Lucas-Green group.

The other group says Congress has no right to dictate to the states on how to handle their elections since those are states' rights; every state should make up its own ballots with candidates listed, including state candidates; tthe armed services should distribute these ballots; or these ballots should be sent only to servicemen writing in a request for them; once the ballots have been marked, they should be returned by the armed services to the individual states directly and not through a ballot commission.

To this the Army says:

"The Army and Navy have repeatedly made plain that they can not undertake to distribute to servicemen of a given state the particular application form or the particular ballot of that state. Such an undertaking is an administrative impossibility."

So here's the question:

When the oratory subsides, will Congress have fashioned the machinery for assuring a vote by all servicemen?

Or will the various conflicting motives mean a compromise measure that may express good intentions but cripple the soldier-vote machinery?

The chocolate candy bar was first produced in the United States in 1831, and the first milk chocolate in 1870.

Sales Of State Tax Stamps Are Compared

AUSTIN, Feb. 2 (AP) — January sales of state tax stamps totaled $1,888,610 compared with $1,462,680 in the same month of 1943 and $2,241,468 in December 1943.

Liquor stamp sales for last month, reported the Treasury department, increased $166,056 over those of January 1943 but were $197,508 less than those for December 1943.

Soldier's First Mail Is Citation For Bail

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 2 (AP) — Lt. W. H. Butler's first letter from home was an old citation demanding $3 bail on an illegal parking charge.

From an Africa hospital where he is recovering from malaria he wrote in reply to Judge Louis W. Kaufman:

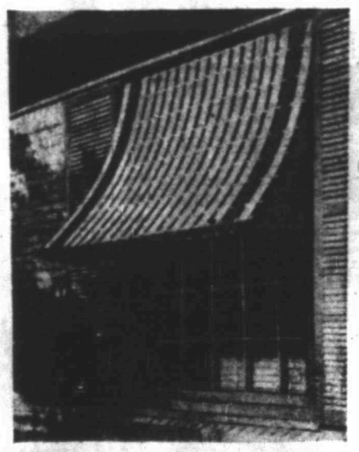

"I would be glad to send you the $3 if I had it. Even so, I'm glad to hear from you—it's the first letter I've received from anyone in Los Angeles."

A P. S. asked if the judge knew the addresses of any blondes.

The jurist suspended the fine, then gave Butler's letter to several girls in the police fines bureau—including two blondes—who immediately wrote to Butler.

U. S. Is Balancing Account With Japs

BY BOYD LEWIS
United Press Staff Writer

The United States has made substantial entries in her balance sheet of vengeance against Japan.

From the Pacific war theaters and from the archives of the War and Navy departments in Washington, United Press correspondents noted the United States entries thus far. Taken together they form a picture of massing and inexorable power—a "victory march" toward Tokyo which will, when eventually completed, erase forever the stigma of the "march of death" which the Japanese forced upon the heroes of Bataan and Corregidor.

A few of the entries:

More than 146,000 Japanese killed and wounded—mostly killed.

1,025 Japanese ships sunk, 75 probably sunk and 991 damaged.

Japanese aircraft destroyed at the rate of 5 for 1.

On the territorial side, although the Japanese still hold the bulk of the lands seized during the first months of easy conquest over an unprepared foe, the U. S. has started to reclaim her own and today — for the first time in 26 months of war—was wresting control of land which was Japanese before Pearl Harbor.

Military authorities saw the current action in the Marshalls as a profection of the previous assault on the Gilberts and a forecast of new action in the Carolines and Marianas to the west and northwest. This ladder of islands will lead to Honshu, where the final payment will be exacted for the death and destruction endured during the past 26 months.

Atrocities Partly Avenged

Here are the reports from United Press correspondents:

Southwest Pacific—the Marines who killed at least 3,000 Japs on Cape Gloucester were directly avenging the Philippines atrocities, Don Caswell reported. Cape Gloucester's defenders included a regiment cited by Emperor Hirohito for its service on Bataan and it was almost certain that some of its members participated in the acts which horrified the nation.

Caswell believes that the actual "body count" of 3,000 represents only a fraction of the Japanese who met retribution in this action because many were blasted to bits by the terrific bombing which preceded the invasion. Many were buried alive by explosions. One Japanese prisoner said he was the only survivor of 15 interred by a bomb blast.

Caswell reported there was a feeling at Southwest Pacific headquarters that now the home folks will understand that if Gen. Douglas MacArthur has seemed unduly preoccupied with getting supplies for his Pacific fighters it was not because of political ambitions or short-sighted local interest but because the full story that we have begun to learn has been searing his soul.

MacArthur's men do not need reminders, Caswell said, that the Japanese is a vicious war-maker. They know that their enemy fights with equal ferocity whether he be a green Hokkaido farm boy or a blood-stained veteran of China and the Philippines.

Central Pacific — William F. Tyree, who saw the Japanese bombers swoop over Honolulu and sink the dreadnaughts Arizona, Oklahoma, Nevada, California and West Virginia, has seen a refurbished Navy sail over the horizon to challenge the Japanese fleet in his home waters.

The fleet that sails from Pearl Harbor now, he reported, is the strongest striking force of aircraft carriers, battleships, cruisers and destroyers ever assembled in the Pacific ocean—and it includes many units that the Japanese left sunk in Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

That fleet now is battling the enemy almost the same distance from Tokyo as the Japanese were from Los Angeles when they attacked Hawaii.

Northern Pacific—the Japanese, who once held Attu and Kiska as a potent menace to the Pacific coast, have been expelled and driven back 60 miles to Parimushiro in their northern islands.

And from Washington, Fred Scherff, who went to the Army and Navy departments for the perspective picture reported:

"The forces of doom are gathered on all the roads leading to Tokyo.

"Lt. Gen. Alexander A. Vandegrift, Marine corps commander, said the other day 'We've broken through the outer perimeter of Jap defenses. We are moving into position to converge on Japan from all directions.'

"Since Dec. 7, 1941, Allied warships, submarines and planes have sent to the bottom 1,025 Japanese ships, including 247 war vessels and 778 merchant craft. In addition they have probably sunk 75 other ships and damaged 991. "These enemy losses are believed to be at a rate considerably in excess of Japan's capacity to build replacements.

"Japan's navy remains virtually intact, insofar as her battle line is concerned.

"U. S. combat planes and fliers have been proved superior to Japan's.

"The Army box score for the first half of 1943 showed 773 enemy planes destroyed, 275 probably destroyed and 160 damaged. Admiral William F. Halsey, jr., estimated on Jan. 31 that in the second half of 1943, U. S. airmen of all services destroyed an additional 1,500 Japanese planes.

"Army and Navy men say unofficially that Japanese casualties are probably 'well above' the total of 146,186 American casualties announced by the OWI Feb. 1 in all theaters. They point out that while only 33,153 of the total American casualties are listed dead, the great majority of Japanese casualties are in the 'killed' column.

"Japanese casalties in the battle for Gadalcanal were estimated at 40,500, in the Gilberts 6,000, at Attu 2,900, so far at Cape Gloucester 3,100, in the battle of Midway 2,000 and in the battle of the Bismark sea 15,000."

These reports add up to this: "The Japanese tide has been stopped. The Japanese have but one way to go. That way is back."

Early Spring Due; Groundhog Fails To See His Shadow Here

Today the groundhog doffed his night shirt, or whatever he wears in his underground abode, and made his yearly personal appearance for a peek at the sky. According to tradition if he sees his shadow he will rush back to his hole in the ground, there to remain for another six weeks, thereby forecasting more wintry weather for that period. However, if he doesn't see his shadow an early spring is predicted.

The chubby little fellow did not see his shadow in Lubbock early this morning as the sky was heavily overcast.

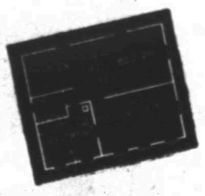

There are many stories as to the origin of groundhog day, but the one commonly believed to be correct is that many years ago in England a rumor started that the groundhog would come out of its hiding place on Feb. 2 and take one hasty peek at the sky and predict the weather for the next six weeks.

This day has had more significance in England for many years. It is Candlemas day. The feast celebrated on this day commemorates the purification of the Virgin Mary and the presentation of Christ in the Temple. It is so called because candles for the altar or other sacred uses are blest on this day.

Now back to the groundhog, which is not a hog. He is really the wood-chuck. He has a more princely name, Marmota monax. It is said he hibernates from September until his personal appearance on Feb. 2.

Westerners, Idalou Clash Here Tonight

Wildcats Third In State Last Year

Coach Dixie White will send his Lubbock Westerners on the floor tonight at the high school gym against the powerful Idalou Wildcats, one of the best cage teams in West Texas. There will be both an A and B team game between the two schools, with the B teams starting the show at 8 o'clock.

Five lettermen from the Idalou team that roared to third place honors in Texas last season are back with the Wildcats this year and the team has started another "championship season." Idalou has won 17 out of 19 games played this season and have not been often pressed by the opposition.

The Idalou club is expected to trot out it's five lettermen as the starting lineup, and will find Dib Truett and Moody Hurley at forwards, Tilley Sneed at center, Bill Kelley and Troy Snodgrass at guards.

Coach White said Tuesday night that his Westerners were in top form for the game and that his regular starters of Bill Cope, Jerry Crawford, Marion Manderson, George Brewer and Burl Gene Moore would open the game for the Westerners.

The two B teams of the schools will clash in the curtain raiser. Nothing is known here of the Idalou B team personnel, but Coach White said he planned to start Roland Laxon, T. J. Price, Charles Pressley, Ted Forsyth and Bueron Lindsey.

Draft Has Taken 60 Major Leaguers

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (U.P.) — A United Press survey revealed today that 60 major leaguers have been drafted since the 1943 campaign ended, leading to belief that the meeting of baseball's post-war planning committee this weekend will develop into a "carry on" session concerned with 1944.

Major league moguls convene Saturday in a forum originally intended to iron out post-armistice ailments. But while indications were that baseball would be able to continue, manpower inroads concentrated attention on a battle for survival.

Sixty men from last year's major league rosters already have been taken into the armed forces since the World Series, while 120 men have been rejected for service. Heaviest losers in the National league were the championship St. Louis Cardinals and second place Cincinnati, each of which lost seven men, followed by New York and Brooklyn, both of whom lost five; Pittsburgh, Chicago and Philadelphia, each two, and Boston, 1.

The world champion New York Yankees and third place Cleveland have been hit hardest in the American league, each with five top men taken, followed by Philadelphia, Washington and Detroit, each four; St. Louis and Chicago, each three, and Boston, 1.

Over 1,000 Leather Pushers Of Allies In African Tourney

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Algiers, Feb. 2 (AP) — The greatest mass exhibition of cauliflower ears, skinned knuckles and bloodied noses ever witnessed in Africa will take place during the six days from Feb. 14 to Feb. 19, inclusive.

During that time the finalists from more than 1,000 Allied leather pushers, including 700 Americans, climb through the ropes to determine the amateur and professional boxing championships of the North Africa theater of operations.

With the Americans will be 250 British and about 50 French title aspirants, including a dozen Greek and Arab boxers who are camouflaged under French colors.

Sharkey To Referee

Jack Sharkey, the Boston squire who once held the heavyweight championship, and Fidel la Barba, former flyweight king, but now a corporal in the U. S. Army, will referee the finals.

Thousands of jeering and cheering GI's are expected to monopolize every square inch of seating space in an Algiers stadium where the bouts will be held under National Intercollegiate boxing rules and under the sponsorship of the special service section of the North African theater of operations.

Preliminaries have been going on for two months as enlisted men in qualifying bouts have been whaling the other in rings from Italy to Casablanca. The competition has spread even to the front lines and winners of preliminaries in those sectors are being withdrawn so that they may battle for the greater glory of the mob on Algiers "Cauliflower Row."

District 5-A Cage Playoff Is Slated

TAHOKA, Feb. 2 — Schedule for the basketball playoff in the south half of District 5A was announced here last night, meeting at Tahoka Feb. 11 and 12 for a round robin playoff between the five schools to select the two top teams to enter the district playoff Feb. 18 and 1 with the two leaders from the north half.

Play here was scheduled for this weekend, but was postponed in order not to conflict with the District Golden Gloves tournament in Lubbock Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The schedule opens at 2 o'clock, Feb. 11, with Seagraves playing Denver City, followed by Tahoka and O'Donnell. The night session opens at 7:30 that night with Tahoka meeting Seminole, and an hour later Seagraves meets O'Donnell.

Saturday morning, Feb. 12, O'Donnell and Denver City meet at 10:30, followed by Seagraves and Seminole. The afternoon session at 2:30 brings together Seagraves and Tahoka, followed by Denver City and Seminole. The night session opens at 7:30 with O'Donnell and Seminole playing the curtain raiser and Tahoka and Denver City meeting in the finale.

Curtis Barrett, Lubbock coach, and Johnny Simms, former Texas Tech star and now of Tahoka, will be the officials of the meet.

There are 2295 schools on the island of Puerto Rico.

SPAAF Cagers Down Midland Bombardiers; Commandos To Tangle With LAAF Tonight

South Plains Army Air Field's high scoring basketball club added another victim to its list and hung up it's eighth straight win last night at the SPAAF gym along with a new season's high score, beating Midland Army Air Field 64 to 49.

Scoring practically at will, the Commandos used almost three teams in toying around with the MAAF visitors who came up with a record of 11 consecutive victories and the boast that they would defeat the SPAAF squad.

MEDICS UPSET

The high scoring and previously undefeated Medics of the South Plains Army Air Field squadron basketball league were upset by another up and coming squadron five last night, 33 to 27, in a preliminary tussle preceding the SPAAF-Midland Army Air Field game between the two post teams.

The 64th Headquarters team, with Sweeney cramming in 15 points for the winners, were the winners over the Medics and thus blasted the jinx of the hospital boys. Dick Hargreaves was high point man for the losers with nine points. Halftime score stood at 18 to 5 for the Medics. The loss still leaves the Medics in top spot by a narrow margin in league play.

Tonight, the Commandos meet another team which has vowed to even things up, Lubbock Army Air field's Fliers playing host in a Lubbock Basketball league game. In the last encounter between the two clubs, SPAAF walked away with a 59 to 35 decision and currently are pacing the league with three straight wins.

Time for tonight's fray in the LAAF post recreation hall is 8 o'clock.

With the opening whistle last night at SPAAF's, the Midland team got away to a fast start in an attempt to make good their boast. In quick order, the visitors sunk two field goals with Dubow showing the way. After that surprise, the Commandos settled down and ran up 20 points with almost ridiculous ease, that being the count at the end of the first quarter when the first batch of SPAAF's subs came into the fray.

In the first flurry, Leason "Stormy" McCloud, the former All American from Colorado, and Ed Kalfain, the former University of San Francisco star, came through with superb performances that coupled with later appearances in the game gave them starring roles. McCloud, again scoring with his uncanny one-handed shots, amassed 23 points for the night while playing only about three-fourths of the game. Kalfain accounted for eight himself. Second in scoring, however, was MAAF's center, Wiedmayer with 20 points for the night. SPAAF's Bob Edwards, former Monahans ace, came through with 11 points for third spot in the scoring parade.

Saturday night, the Midland crew—which to its credit never gave up even when hopelessly behind—will have another chance at the Commandos when SPAAF returns the favor in Midland.

The box score:

Hogan Sees $50,000 Tournaments After War For Golfers

FORT WORTH, Feb. 2 (AP) — Ben Hogan, the mighty atom of golfdom, sees $50,000 tournaments after the war — but with less of the carnival atmosphere.

"Golf is going to be great — more players and tremendous purses," said the man who topped the game's money winners before entering the armed service. Hogan now is a lieutenant in the athletic office of Fort Worth Army Air field.

And where, he was asked, would those $50,000 purses come from?

"From the businesses that go in big for national advertising," said little Ben. "Why, $50,000 or even $100,000 is no more than a drop in the advertising bucket to them. I hear a half dozen are ready as soon as the war is over to see what can be done along that line."

But he thinks the trend will be from carnivalized golf tournaments.

Nelson And McSpaden To Renew Rivalry

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 2 (AP) — The professional rivalry of Byron Nelson, Toledo's superb golf star, and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, the ace from Philadelphia, reaches its third 1944 round this weekend when they vie for war bonds in the $5,000 Phoenix open.

They — and probably 25 other pros and 80 amateurs — will match strokes over the tree-bordered fairways and well-trapped greens of the Phoenix country club, site of two western opens in pre-war days.

Nelson comes here at the peak of his game after copping the San Francisco open January 17 with a spectacular 72-hole total of 275 —13 strokes under par.

Cowboys, Ropes Five To Clash Thursday

Coach Curtis Barrett will get his first chance to see what his Lubbock Cowboys can do Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock when his team meets the Ropes Juniors for the first test under fire for the club. The game will be played at the Junior High School gym.

It was learned in Lubbock yesterday that the Lubbock Cowhands and Westerner B team would play Friday night in the Wolfforth tournament, but all efforts of school officials to learn who the opponents would be have failed. One team will play at 7:30 Friday night and the other at 9 o'clock.

BOND SALES BOOSTED

GALVESTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — A wrestling-jitterbug-swing show last night poured $3,500,000 into this city's Fourth War Loan drive. Admitted by war bond purchase only, 4000 persons attended and heard the Galveston Army Air field orchestra furnish music for the wrestlers and negro jitterbug teams competing for a war bond prize.

Golden Gloves Drawing Near

Three Big Nights Of Action Due

The final touch to training programs were being applied by 59 leather slingers from the Lubbock area and the boys will be ready for the start of three days of battling Thursday night at the Texas Tech gym in what will lead down to District Golden Gloves titles and the chance to enter the state tournament in Fort Worth Feb. 16-21.

The tournament has listed enough entries to assure three big nights of action, and interest in advance sales of tickets has indicated three banner turnouts at the Tech gym to see the boys battle for places on the Lubbock team in the Fort Worth meet.

The tickets are on sale at the Texas Tech athletic office with the price scaling from 50 cents for soldiers general admission to $1.10 for ringside seats, including tax. Soldiers and their "dates" will be admitted for the price of $1. Civilian general admission tickets are 75 cents. The cost on ringside seats is the same to all fans.

The two entries to be added to the Tahoka team was received yesterday and the Tahoka Golden Gloves list was boosted to 18 boys. Leo Jackson said his boys were working out daily and would be in top shape for the battles.

"We may not win, but it will take them three nights to get us out of there," Jackson writes in a letter to the Avalanche-Journal. Tahoka fighters and fans will be in Lubbock ready to put on a big show when the gong sounds for the first fight.

The two names of La Vaughn Caraway and Jerry Edwards rounded out the Tahoka entry, and gives that city the largest group entry in the tournament.

Bo Sexton, veteran Golden Gloves referee, will officiate at the matches here.

Fighters are urged to be on hand Thursday at 6 o'clock for the final official weighing ceremony, and physical examination, Morley Jennings, tournament director, again reminded.

Sid Luckman Is Voted National Grid League's Most Valuable

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (U.P.)—Ensign Sid Luckman — football's "Tree-Grew-in-Brooklyn" — today was named as 1943's "most valuable player in the National football league.

SID LUCKMAN
Columbia

Luckman, the Gowanus kid who passed his way from Brooklyn's Erasmus High school through Columbia university to become professional football's foremost exponent of the "T" formation, defeated Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers by three points in the league's annual voting to win the most coveted professional football honor.

The choosing of Luckman by a board of 13 sports writers from the league's member cities blocked Hutson's chance to win the "most valuable player" award for the third straight year. Six players figured in the voting, which was based upon five points for a first-place ballot and two points for second place.

The Ballot:	1st	2nd	Pts
Sid Luckman, Chicago Bears	6	3	36
Don Hutson, Green Bay Packers	5	4	33
Sammy Baugh, Washington Redskins	1	4	13
Ward Cuff, New York Giants	1	0	5
Charlie Brock, Green Bay Packers	0	1	2
Bill Paschal, New York Giants	0	1	2

The poll was based on season performance only, and did not draw consideration for Luckman on basis of his brilliant performance in the Dec. 26 playoff game when he threw five touchdown passes against Washington.

Rice, Texas Cagers To Battle Tonight

HOUSTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Rice and Texas battle here tonight in the start of the stretch drive in Southwest conference basketball.

Rice at present tops the race but only because the Owls have played one more game than Texas and Arkansas.

Arkansas moves into Texas Friday for two games with the Baylor Bears.

It's a crucial week in the cage campaign—a week that could virtually sew up the crown for one of the three teams or throw the race into a bigger jumble than ever.

While Rice, Texas and Arkansas are leveling their sights on top place, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian and Baylor will be battling for the fourth spot. SMU plays Texas Christian at Fort Worth tonight and goes to Austin Saturday night to tackle Texas.

Texas A. and M. has no conference games this week. The Aggies played three practice affairs against San Antonio service teams.

PETE ODOMS SWORN IN

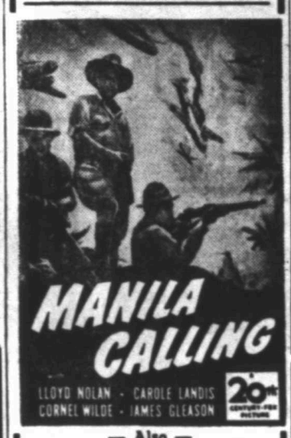

MISSION, Feb. 2 (AP) — Pete Odoms, all-state football player from McAllen High school, has been sworn in at Moore Field as an aviation cadet. Odoms, who landed at guard on the Associated Press" all-state last season, will finish high school and graduate before being called to active duty in the Air Corps.

RAMBLERS TROUNCE AGGIES

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 2 (AP) — The Randolph Field Ramblers trounced the Texas A. and M. Southwest conference cagers last night 62-30. Randolph center Bob Ferris led by looping 26 points.

WHEN Col. Homer Garrison, head of the Texas Highway patrol and Texas Rangers, was here the other day he told The Plainsman about a brand new racket a smart guy worked in Dallas recently. We pass the story along, not only because it is interesting, but also, because some smarty-pants might try the same thing in Lubbock.

Anyhow, a well dressed man went into a ritzy Dallas store—the rootsiest tootsiest of all the Dallas stores—and asked to see the most expensive mink coat in the place. He was shown one costing in the neighborhood of $10,000, but didn't seem exactly pleased.

"Are you sure," he asked the clerk, "that this is the most expensive mink coat in Dallas?"

Fearing that she'd miss the sale, the clerk wig-wagged to one of the store's brass-hats, who ankled suavely up and took over the transaction. He assured the guy that the coat was the costliest available anywhere outside of New York.

"All right," said the customer. "I'll take it—and also six pairs of Size 9 nylon hose."

"I'm sorry," said the store man, "but we have no nylon hose. They're simply not available."

"O. K.," said the customer, "then I don't want the coat. My wife's having a birthday and I promised her the most expensive mink coat in Dallas AND a half-dozen pairs of nylon hose. The coat's no good to me without the stockings."

Naturally, the store man didn't want to see such a sale go out the window so he did some quick telephoning and located the hose. The purchaser, introducing himself as a rich oil man from a nearby Texas town, went to the store's office to close the deal.

NOW let's see," said the customer, pulling out his check-book. "How much do I owe you?"

The store man quoted the price of the coat.

"How about the stockings?" asked the customer.

"Oh," said the store man, "on a purchase such as this, we'll make you a present of the stockings."

The customer wrote his check for the coat; asked the store to deliver it by insured mail after his check had cleared, but picked up the stockings to carry them home himself.

Well, as you've probably anticipated, the check bounced. When the store sought to file charges and reclaim its stockings, nothing legally could be done.

The store still had the coat for which the check was written, hence could show no loss because the stockings were a gift!

Not a bad racket to pull once!

As we understand it, German morale has not collapsed, but it sure could use something to lean on!

THIS may not be a matter of general interest, but, anyhow, it sure is an indication that the South Plains public can "take it," and that The Plainsman can "dish it out!"

Today starts this column off on its 18th year, and thereby hang some staggering statistics.

This column is the 4,267th to be laid down before Lubbock and South Plains readers of Avalanche-Journal newspapers.

Each stint has averaged about 30 inches of type, which means that the total column inches run somewhere in the neighborhood of 128,010.

Each column inch contains an average of 48 words, which means that in the past 17 years The Plainsman has knocked off in this department about 6,144,480 words.

If all the columns written were pasted together and strung out in a line, they'd total around 10,660 feet, or approximately two miles. They'd reach from the Tech administration building to the courthouse.

This column has been written from many places; from New York to San Francisco, from the wilds of the Yaqui Indian country deep in Sonora, to Detroit; from Atlanta to Los Angeles and from New Orleans to Reno. It has been written many times in every hour around the clock, including the wee sma' ones, and has been based upon everything from a national political convention and a presidential press conference to the sensation of riding in an Army glider and how artichokes are raised and harvested near Watsonville, Cal. It has espoused collections for gold footballs for the Westerner winners over Amarillo, for wheelchairs for invalids—and for practically every cause you can name, including special cushions for tree-sitters!

Well, in this brief summary, we've left the gate wide open for wisecrackers—the first several hundred of whom will probably say: "Gosh, what a waste of newsprint and ink!"

But, anyhow, we expect to be writing it for another 17 years and might as well say so. After all, this is no time for excessive optimism!

We live and learn. It took a world war to impress upon us that every Russian village, no matter how small, is "an important rail junction."

That Man on Avenue Q says if a woman can fathom so many things by intuition, why the heck does she have to ask so many questions?

Note to Mrs. R. W. Brownlee: Your suggestion that KFYO carry at least one of the Rev. Gipsy Smith's sermons for the benefit of shutins was a good one. However, KFYO Manager DeWitt Landis reports that he earlier attempted to arrange such a program—with the radio station furnishing the time "for free"—and Mr. Smith preferred not to accept the offer. Mr. Smith's decision apparently was based upon the fact that it is difficult to time a sermon for the radio and at the same time, tailor it to fit the audience in the flesh.

OVER in Littlefield there is a 12-year-old schoolboy who is likely to be heard of in the future as one of the better American cartoonists, or artists.

The youngster is Donald Tiery, son of Mr and Mrs. W. L. Tiery, who reside on a farm 15 miles southwest of the Lamb county metropolis.

Mrs. Addie L. Spikes, who teaches young Donald, showed some of the lad's work to The Plainsman the other day. While the youngster naturally needs a lot of expert instruction, there is no doubt about his natural talent.

As the boys say, "he's got it."

Something to think over:

"The more we study the engineering details of German equipment, the clearer it is that this war was planned for many years before Hitler."—Maj. G. M. Barnes, of the U. S. Army Ordnance division.

Maybe we can work out a peace after the Nazi unconditional surrender this time that can be made to stick!

SOME of the nation's smartest advertising and promotion men have had a part in arranging the "sales appeal" of the current Fourth War Loan campaign and they've really done a remarkable job. They have done their bit without remuneration, of course, for to hire all the promotion and advertising brains which have been used to date would require an outlay equal to a prince's ransom.

A lot of fine, convincing and arresting punch-lines and tag-lines have been devised, but the best we've seen or heard is this:

"You can afford to buy an extra War Bond because you CAN'T afford not to!"

Isn't that a dandy—and isn't it true as Gospel?

Blood Runs Cold

YESTERDAY: Sergeant Long of the Homicide Squad tells Christine Howarth that she's the one he's interested in. Queer Mrs. Evans insists that Mr. Kimball killed his niece.

Chapter Six

Accused

"How do you know?" the Sergeant demanded.

"Don't mumble your words," she snapped. "I can't hear you."

"I said, how do you know he's the one?"

"I never did like the looks of the man. He has all the earmarks of a murderer."

The Sergeant groaned. "So you think that proves he killed his niece."

Mrs. Evans settled herself in the chair, adjusting a cushion carefully at her back. "Oh, I have proof enough," she said in a complacent voice. "My husband warned me."

Sarah, her face pale, uttered a faint moan. "He did tell her. I know, because she told me all about it."

"Where is your husband?" the Sergeant asked Mrs. Evans.

She didn't seem to hear and Sarah, nervously twisting her blue gingham apron, stared at her.

After a moment's silence the older woman said, "He is not dead, he is just away."

The Sergeant dropped his cigar on my best hooked rug. "What in hell are you talking about?"

"She means he has passed away," Sarah said with a whimper.

The Sergeant looked close to murder. He was speechless and Sarah was staring first at the Sergeant, then at Mrs. Evans, her mouth agape.

"Go on," the Sergeant said to Sarah after he had recovered.

The maid swallowed and with an apologetic glance at Mrs. Evans said, "Well, Patrick's the janitor, but he doesn't live here, just comes in to fix the furnace. Then there's that Jap, whatever his name is. He lives in back of the store and works for Mr. Kimball, does cooking and everything." She sniffed with disapproval. "But come to think of it, he wasn't here yesterday, hasn't been here for a week."

"Where is he?"

She shrugged her shoulders and half closed her eyes mysteriously. "I don't know. You never can tell about them Japs. Me, I don't trust 'em."

The Sergeant was irritated. "Never mind about that. Who else?"

Sarah's earlier pleasure in the questioning had vanished and she answered ungraciously, "On the second floor over the shop is Miss Wells and Miss Rogers. They have an apartment together. That's the front one on this floor. Miss Wells, she's on the stage, but she doesn't work steady. And the red-haired one—Mary Ann Rogers, her name is—works in a swell dress shop uptown somewhere, not all day, though, only part time. Miss Kent lives . . . lived," she corrected herself hastily, "in the middle apartment, and the back one's been empty." Then she added with a sharp look in my direction, "That is, it was empty until she came, and goodness knows when that was. She wasn't here last night when I left and Mr. Kimball wasn't expecting her neither."

The Sergeant swung around towards me this time. "Well?"

"There was some misunderstanding about the date," I said. Mr. Kimball apparently expected me on the 16th and I'd told him that I would come in on the 15th."

The skeptical faces of my audience surprised me. Were they actually connecting me with the murder of the girl?

"I'll see what Mr. Kimball has to say about this," the Sergeant said. After a long look at me he turned back to Sarah, "Now for the third floor."

Sarah moistened her lips. "In the front is a Mr. Charles Whitefield and in the back is Mr. MacDonald. There's only two apartments to that floor. Mr. McDonald does something down on Wall Street. And Mrs. Evans lives in the attic apartment. That's the fourth floor."

'An Artist'

The Sergeant was scrawling away in his notebook. "What does Whitefield do?"

"I think he's an artist."

"Tell me about this morning," he said after a moment. "You were going about your work as usual and went to Miss Kent's apartment. Did you knock?"

"Yes, sir," Sarah said. "I knocked like I always do, because she keeps her apartment locked at night."

"Did you try the door when she didn't answer, or did you just use your key to open it as usual?"

Sarah was floundering in the sea of questions. "No, sir, the door wasn't locked. I just opened it without the key." She gulped. "Then I saw the window was still up and then I saw Miss Joan." She shuddered dramatically.

After the first shock of seeing the girl's body had worn off Sarah was enjoying herself thoroughly. Te be in the limelight was a novelty and she was going to make the most of it.

"Now think carefully before you answer me," the Sergeant told her sternly. "Have you any idea at all who might have done this or how it happened?"

The maid apparently needed no pause for thought. She leaned forward and whispered, "Well, I don't know about her." She pointed at me again. "Maybe she helped him."

"Helped who?" the Sergeant shouted, annoyed at the air of secrecy.

"Mr. MacDonald. He lives on the third floor like I told you." She motioned to the room directly over mine.

"Why do you suspect him?"

"When I was in his room this morning to clean up, his bed hadn't been slept in. Besides, they was always together, him and her."

Mrs. Evans interrupted with a sniff. "If you went by that, she could have been murdered by any one of a half a dozen young men. They was always tagging after her."

Sergeant Long looked at Mrs. Evans. "What do you know about this?"

"How?" she leaned forward to hear better.

The Sergeant raised his voice five degrees. "What do you know about this?"

"Plenty!"

"Tell me, and stick to facts this time."

And then to my amazement the woman glanced at me significantly. For a moment the room was quiet. Then the Sergeant cleared his throat and said impatiently, "Well?"

And never taking her eyes from me, Mrs. Evans said, "Perhaps I'd better speak to you in private, Sergeant."

I stared at her. The Sergeant stared at me. And Sarah stared at all of us.

Had she lost her wits? How in the world, I wondered, could this woman whom I'd never seen before until this morning, drag me into the murder? Certainly whatever she had to say she could say in front of everyone.

"Please don't spare my feelings," I said icily.

Dumfounded

Then I saw Mr. Kimball coming in the doorway and I was relieved. At least he would take an intelligent view on whatever this woman had on her mind.

The Sergeant motioned him to a chair and told Mrs. Evans to go on. She leaned forward and in her heavy voice said:

"I was coming up the stairway last night. It was about midnight. And I saw a man go into her room. It was a man who left here a week or two ago very mysteriously. A

SOMETHING FOR TEXANS TO PONDER

Not many people will be inclined to dispute the charge by Sheriff T. W. Lane, of Wharton county, as made in recent letters to members of the Texas Senate, that too many Texas convicts escape.

The sheriff reported that 151 such convicts escaped last year and that 34 are still at large. Few people are in position to vouch for the correctness of his figures. But it is an unquestioned fact that most Texans are in agreement that the frequency of breaks from the prisons of this state borders upon the scandalous.

To the credit of the Wharton sheriff, he did more than cite the problem. He also suggested a solution. He said that the type of men who should be guarding dangerous convicts cannot be obtained for the salaries now provided. His idea is that more competent guards, who would have to be paid more money, would go far toward solving the very serious prison break problem in Texas.

It certainly could be that Sheriff Lane is correct and that he has placed his finger on the solution of the problem. Certainly, if somewhat more generous salaries would mean a considerable reduction in the number of breaks, it would be sound economy. At the very least, the sheriff must be credited with having given members of the Senate something to ponder seriously.

Air Force Mechanics In Italy Want To "Do A Tougher Job"

Birdmen Praise Infantrymen's Part In War

By ERNIE PYLE
Journal War Correspondent

IN ITALY, Feb. 2. (By Wireless)—One evening Sgt. James E. Knight, a flight chief from McAlester, Okla., took me in tow and we spent the evening gabbing with about 50 of the mechanics at this divebomber airdrome.

The men at this base live in the same big apartment building as the officers. Their quarters are exactly the same, except that the men have their places fixed up more comfortably and keep them neater than the officers.

ERNIE PYLE

You'll find that true in almost any Air Force group in the combat area, because the men, being craftsmen, can make things the average officer doesn't know how to make. They fix up stoves and lights and shelves, and make little gadgets that give a homey touch to their quarters.

Sgt. Charlie Bennett, a youngster on the maintenance crew from York, S. C., has made a beautiful ashtray from the base of a German 88-millimeter shell, with American machine-gun bullets sticking out of it. It's too heavy to lug around for a year or more of war, so Charlie thinks he'll send it home.

Uncle, Nephew Together

One of Charlie's roommates is Sgt. Mintford Blair of Spokane, Wash., a crew chief in the dive-bomber squadron. In the same group is Blair's uncle, Sgt. Ted Chapman, an electrical specialist. Uncle and nephew are about the same age. They enlisted together two years ago, and have been lucky enough to stay together ever since.

Sergeant Knight, being a flight chief, has charge of about six planes. Another flight chief is Sgt. Orville Reeves of Fittstown, Okla. Sergeant Reeves is one of the few people I've run into in the Air Forces who have superstitions. Superstitiousness is rare even among the pilots. The last war's phobia against three-on-a-match is almost unheard of now.

SERGEANT REEVES normally has six planes in his charge, but sometimes he will have more. His idiosyncrasy is that he won't accept seven. He doesn't mind the work, and he'll accept two extra planes, but not one.

The reason is that three different times since they've come overseas he has had an extra plane shoved onto him—making a total of seven—and every time his flight has lost a plane the following day. So he'll have none of it any more, and you can't blame him.

Sergeant Knight carries a whole walletful of pictures of his wife and year-old baby.

He saw his son only once, when he was a week old. Knight says he's now "sweating out" a picture of his youngster in the Italian colonel's suit he sent him for Christmas. Most of the boys have sent home shawls or cameos or lace or something.

Boys Want To Do More

Sergeant Knight is one of the many mechanics who feel they are not personally doing enough to help win the war. For instance, Knight says all the men under him are now so well trained that he has almost nothing to do, and that he could go back and take flight training and would hardly be missed around here.

You'd think that after seeing what the combat pilots go through the mechanics would be content to stay on the ground. Yet when applications for flight training were reopened 10 percent of the squadron applied.

Always in the combat area you'll hear soldiers on ground jobs talking earnestly along this line: why couldn't well-trained 4-F's do their jobs and release them for combat?

They know that a guy doesn't have to be a Samson to stand ordinary Army life, and they point out cases such as that of the soldier who was discharged from the Army on physical grounds yet was capable of playing swell football when he got back in civil life.

CONSTANTLY, also, the Air Force boys pay tribute to the Infantry. In two weeks around the airfield I think I heard the subject brought up 200 times. Pilots and mechanics both feel the same way—their hats are off to the Infantry.

One pilot said to me: "What must you think of us, anyhow, knowing as you do what the Infantry goes through and then finding that all we talk about is when we can get our missions in and go home?"

I told him I thought they were acting like very normal human beings, and that, furthermore, bad as infantry life is, I believed the average infantryman looked on the combat pilot's job as too dangerous to be envied.

No fish or animal is more famous for his strength, stamina, and power than the shark. He draws his tremendous store of vitality and power from the sea in which he lives. Today, this same food-rich sea provides the animal proteins, minerals and vitamins which your poultry and livestock must have to be healthy, fast-growing and productive.

STANTON'S 18% LAYING MASH brings these vital elements from the sea and puts them to work in your poultry yard. This fine feed, milled right here in Lubbock, contains ManAmar and B-G Plus, Blended with local-grown grains into a feed especially adapted to the needs of West Texas feeders.

B-G PLUS
is a patented vacuum concentrated extract from fish. This new and potent product, resulting from ten years of ceaseless research and experiment, supplies extra minerals and vitamins in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash.

MANAMAR
in Stanton's 18% Laying Mash supplies the hard-to-get feeding essentials — fish proteins, food minerals and vitamins, including the important Vitamin B "Complex."

ManAmar and B-G PLUS have been developed and are produced in the laboratories of Philip R. Park, famed livestock nutrition authority. These laboratories have also approved the formula for Stanton's 18% Laying Mash. Let the records of users tell the rest of the story. Get all the facts today.

Three Stolen Autos Recovered In Area

At least three automobiles—one of which had been stolen by two boys, 12 and 13—were recovered Tuesday on the South Plains, but at least two others taken in the last four days had not been located.

Sheriff Roy Hillin of Crosby county said two Fort Worth lads were passing through Crosbyton two nights ago and saw a motorists park a light coupe and leave his ignition keys in it.

They drove the car to four miles west of Guthrie, ran out of gasoline and "gave themselves away" when they flagged down a truck driver and attempted to beg fuel from him. He "turned them in."

A light coach that had been stolen four nights ago at Plainview was recovered, and Sheriff Joe Price of Terry county and Patrolman T. C. Laws of the Lubbock district office of the state highway patrol recovered a car that had been stolen from a government trapper at Lovington. The machine, with no gasoline or oil left in it, was discovered near Wellman.

Cars still sought are a 1941 Fleetline Chevrolet, blue, license K70-599, taken three nights ago at Lubbock Army Air field, and a 1936 Ford coach, black, license 837-401, taken four nights ago at Littlefield.

Soviet Onslaught

northeast of Narva, on Luga bay.

Capture of Osmino, 33 miles northwest of Luga, by other Govorov forces striking off to the south narrowed the gap between these troops and those of Gen. K. A. Meretskov driving up toward Luga from the southeast. The latter's advance guards had captured more than 40 towns in a drive to the town of Toroshino, three miles northeast of the junction town of Batetskaya on the Leningrad-Vitebsk railway, already cut by Meretskov's forces 55 miles to the south.

Difficult Terrain Cleaned Up

Meretskov's troops, cleaning up extremely difficult terrain between the Leningrad-Vitebsk and Leningrad-Warsaw railways, wiped out pockets of isolated Germans, the Russians said and captured quantities of war material the Nazis were forced to leave behind. Capture of Bolsoi Konezerye placed Meretskov's left wing within 13 miles of the Leningrad-Warsaw line and four miles from the Luga-Pskov highway, both important avenues of retreat for the enemy. The advance also menaced Luga itself already partially outflanked by the occupation of Yugostitsi, 14 miles to the southeast.

Gen. M. M. Popov's second Baltic army was striking west from Novosokolniki, the Moscow war bulletin reported, but it remained silent on German reports of new fighting in the Ukraine. Berlin admitted that the German lines were being shortened by wholesale withdrawals all along the front from the Gulf of Finland to Lake Ilmen in the north; northwest of Vitebsk in White Russia; northwest of Kirovograd, near Belaya Tserkov, southwest of Dnepropetrovsk and near Nikopol, all in the Ukraine.

TRENDS CONTINUE CLOUDY

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP) — Last-hour activity in the rail section of the stock market today failed to stir the balance of the list into movement and trends continued cloudy.

The carriers moved ahead fractions to more than two points as new earnings reports lent support to hopes for dividend prospects. Many other prominent issues remained in arrears.

Volume, picking up with turnover in the transports, totaled about 900,000 shares for the session.

The fighting in the Marshall islands, still developing, kept some investment interests withdrawn pending an indication of the outcome.

On the upside were Santa Fe, New York Central, Morris & Essex, Atlantic Coast Line, Nickel Plate Preferred, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Chesapeake & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Rustless Iron & Steel, Wilson & Co., and General Motors.

American Distilling and Park & Tilford stumbled, along with Youngstown, Standard Oil (N.J.), Texas Co., General Electric, Consolidated Edison and Union Carbide.

Berlin Raided Again

ropean objectives by the RAF last month.

Other Cities Are Targets

Besides the six massive assaults on Berlin, the RAF also struck heavy blows at Stettin, Brunswick and Magdeburg as well as attacking Germany on a smaller scale on 19 other nights.

Altogether the British lost 385 planes over Europe during January, and destroyed 120 enemy aircraft—93 during offensive operations over the continent and 27 over Britain.

Yesterday was marked by a comparative lull in the Allied aerial offensive, operations being limited to attacks on enemy shipping off the coast of Norway during which British airmen sank an armed minesweeper, damaged an escort vessel and set afire a medium-sized merchantman.

Gustav Line Broken

night bombers struck at an oil refinery at the north Italian port of Trieste Monday night. Medium bombers attacked a road junction at Albano yesterday as bad weather generally curtailed air operations.

Light bombers blasted the rail station at San Valentino while fighter bombers hit at shipping off the Dalmatian coast.

Five German planes were destroyed for a loss of no Allied aircraft.

Landings Described

smoke, we can see through our glasses that Roi and Namur, which stood green and proud yesterday, is now broken and burning.

Each of these islands, which consists of a narrow sandbar and man-made causeway, is less than a mile in area.

No Opposition

Our first landing on the island near Roi was made at 9:51 a. m. yesterday. There was little firing. Marines using grenades wiped out Japanese nests. Immediately supplies began to be landed on the narrow beach. There was no opposition.

Thus two years to the day since Admiral William F. Halsey's carrier force first attacked the Marshalls, our Marines seized land here which represented the first invasion of Japan's pre-war empire. The commander of this northern force, Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly commanded Halsey's destroyers and for two years has been awaiting this day.

At 10:10, the first wave of the Fourth Marines hit the beach of another small island flanking Roi, apparently without resistance. Twenty minutes later, this island was reported secured. Meanwhile, snipers harrassed Marines on the first island invaded but at 12:09 it was plain that opposition would be ineffective. Our casualties were light and shore commanders reported to the flagship that Japanese prisoners were taken.

Land On Other Islands

Landings were made on three other islands during the afternoon. The last landing yesterday was made at 6:24 p. m.., the Marines going toward the beach walking upright. This island was reported secured at 8:12 p. m.

Incessant pounding of Roi and Namur continued with great explosions marking hits on oil and gasoline.

Except for a few futile shells hurled at our cruisers yesterday morning and quickly silenced antiaircraft which was ineffective, we have met no opposition at Roi and Namur. This vast task force, largest in history, made the passage to the Marshalls without interception.

Soviet Republics

refused diplomatic recognition by many nations, young Soviet Russia now is coming up fast diplomatically.

The reconstruction, involving revision of the 1936 constitution gives each republic its own commissariat of national defense and foreign affairs.

Broad Effects Seen

Some idea of the effect of the changes was provided by Dr. Johannes Vares, president of the Estonian republic, who asserted, in approving the plan, that "the diplomats of the national republics will be guided in their work by the general principles of Soviet diplomacy."

N. M. Ponomerenko, secretary of the Communist party in White Russia; Alexander Bogomlets, president of the academy of sciences of the Ukraine; Latvian representative Wilhelm Lazis, and Eustace Paleckis, president of the Lithuanian Soviet republic, also endorsed the plan.

Lazis, the Latvian representative, asserted that the United States still recognized the "old Fascist regime" of Latvia and said Latvia's position was not understood abroad despite the 1940 plebiscite by which it was joined to the Soviet Union.

Nikolai Gretchuka, president of the Ukrainian republic, declared that "certain western neighbors of the Ukraine" had "unjustified claims" to part of its territory and asked the Soviet government to bear in mind the desires of the people in handling this question.

In a 40-minute speech outlining the plan, Molotov said it demonstrated the strength of the Soviet Union, adding that "not every state would make such a venture." He declared that national units of the Red army previously had lacked full opportunity for national development and said that "now they can be put on a firm footing."

Tech Engineers Buy $1,000 In War Bonds

Pay day in the army meant a pay load of war bonds at the 3888th Army Specialized Training unit at Texas Tech recently, Major Frank E. Hangs, commanding officer, announced today.

In cooperation with the Lubbock National bank, 1st. Lt. Joseph F. Hink, war bond officer of the unit, had arranged for the bonds to be issued for cash at the pay tables. The "Army engineers" as this unit is most familiarly known, stepped right up and bought $1000 worth, with a maturity value of $1325.

Since the drive started $1550 in cash purchases and $400 new and increased allotments have tripled the figures of the previous drives with more sales expected daily.

Police Hold Man For Theft Investigation

Police held a man who gave the name of Earl Malone, 24, of New Mexico, in connection with investigation into burglary Tuesday night of Avenue H Dry Goods store, at 1812 Avenue H, and theft of approximaetly $17 from Furr Food store No. 5, at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue, it was announced this afternoon.

The man, officials said, was discovered in the Furr store at 4:40 o'clock this morning, asleep. They said he admitted having taken $17.01 from a cash register there, but claimed he did not burglarize the store—that a door was open.

A nightwatchman discovered him in the store.

The man, whom officials claimed had admitted having served a five-year penitentiary sentence in New Mexico, disclaimed connection with the dry good store burglary, which was effected by someone who crawled through a back window and took 36 pennies. Police, however, said they had found footprints that "exactly match the suspect's shoes," in positions that make it appear the man held will be charged in connection with the breakin.

Of other interest to investigators was the man's explaining his draft status as "I-P." He had no registration card—and officials had no remembrance of any such classification.

Ballot Controversy

cates scored their initial triumph in blocking an attempt to amend House rules so that a roll call vote could be had on the federal ballot issue. President Roosevelt expressed the opinion recently that a record vote should be taken and, upon being informed of yesterday's House action, chided Congress with the obesrvation that he thought a record vote was a part of representative government.

Despite Green's prediction of a veto, the odds favored House passage today of a "leave-it-to-the-states" bill—and without a record vote.

In the Senate, Lucas said he believed he had sufficient votes to turn back an amendment offered by Senator Overton (D-La) to restore state registration and poll tax requirements which were waived in some states for those in uniform. The Senate votes today on this point.

"Compromise" Offered

Backers of the Green-Lucas bill conceded that a "compromise" amendment, whipped up by a coalition of southern Democrats, offers a more formidable obstacle.

This would retain the federal ballot commission idea, but would provide federal ballots only for those soldiers from states which fail to (A) waive registration requirements, (B) provide ballots weighing no more than one and two-tenths ounces or (C) make ballots available for mailing 45 days in advance of the general elections neyt fall.

Most Texas congressmen yesterday favored a roll-call vote on the Worley federal ballot bill for members of the armed services.

The House refused to authorize the roll call vote.

Democrats for the rules committee's recommendation against a roll call vote, (52), included: Dies, Fisher, Kilday, Kleberg, Lanham, Sumners and West.

Democrats against (146), included:

Beckworth, Gossett, Luther A. Johnson, Lyndon B. Johnson, Mahon, Mansfield, Patman, Patton, Thomas, Thomason, and Worley.

CAIRO, Feb. 2 (AP) — Reports that the United States government would spend several hundred million dollars in mid-East oil development has caused a jump in Anglo-Egyptian oilfield stocks from around $18 to more than $21.

Argentina In On Food Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 (AP) — Argentina today signified its willingness to cooperate with the United Nations in providing food for relief of war stricken areas freed from the Axis.

The South American country agreed to a resolution adopted by the international wheat council, of which it is a member, recognizing the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration as the proper agency to distribute wheat to be supplied by council members.

The council, composed of representatives from Australia, Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States as well as Argentina, closed a two-day bi-annual meeting today.

The Argentine delegation informed the council that its government was prepared to supply about 7,500,000 bushels of wheat in "partial fulfillment" of its commitments under an agreement made in July, 1942.

Under that agreement, the United States agreed to contribute 50,000,000 bushels, Canada 25,000,000 and the United Kingdom 25,000,000 toward an initial 100,000,000-bushel relief pool. Argentina agreed to contribute, but in no specific amount.

Council officials said today's action brought Argentina more closely in line with the United Nations than at any time since the war started.

Questions On Soviet

own foreign relations and to have its own army. Presumably the general line of foreign policy is still to be determined by the union government in Moscow, however.

The degree to which the grant of autonomy was brought about by internal necessity arising from the numerous nationalities which people the U. S. S. R. and the latest to which it resulted from external needs of Moscow foreign policy was uncertain here. But Russian experts inclined to the view that demands of the various nationalities for independence had considerable influence on the final decision.

Thus in some quarters Russia's action is regarded as her answer to the Atlantic Charter with its emphasis on the freedom and independence of peoples. Viewed in this light it is regarded as giving Russia a forceful argument for incorporating present or pre-war border states within the framework of the Soviet Union, provided the populations agree.

Blood Runs Cold

few minutes after I'd gone up to my apartment I heard them quarreling. Loud, it was, too."

While she was talking she pointed a finger at me until it was all I could do to keep from screaming.

Before I could say a word Sergeant Long swung around. "Out with it," he barked. "I knew there was something funny about you."

"Listen to me, Sergeant," Mr. Kimball interrupted. "Miss Howarth—"

The Sergeant silenced him. "I'll talk to you later Kimball," he said. "We'll see first what this young lady has to say."

I was dumbfounded. It was bad enough to have moved in on sudden death without being accused of the murder itself.

"When did you come here to this house?" the Sergeant asked.

With all the dignity I could muster I said, "Last evening at quarter to six'. At half-past six I moved in. And except for Mr. Kimball I've never laid eyes on any of these people before."

I took a cigarette out of my case and lighted it. I was so angry my fingers shook.

"How about the man in your apartment?"

I took a long puff on the cigarette and said as calmly as I could, "Last night I couldn't get the door to lock and a little while after I went to bed a man ran into my room. When I asked who it was he said 'My God!' closed the door and rushed down the hall. I have no idea who he was."

"H'm," the Sergeant said. "Try the key in the door now."

I got up and tried the key in the door. It locked easily and I never felt so ridiculous in my life. Behind me I could hear Mrs. Evans and Sarah giving suspicious but gratified sniffs.

"You hadn't been drinking, had you?" the Sergeant said in a silky voice.

That was the last straw. I turned on him furiously. But before I could tear him limb from limb Mr. Kimball spoke up.

"Sergeant," he said, "we have trouble with the locks continually. This house is very old and none of the keys fit well. I'm certain that Miss Howarth had nothing to do with this."

"Listen to me," the Sergeant said, glaring. "I'm the man who's supposed to find out who did this. You can keep your opinions to yourself until you're asked."

Then the doorbell rang, and, with a glance of sympathy for me, Mr. Kimball left the room.

"I'll see you later downstairs, Kimball," the Sergeant called after him.

New Army Order For Juarez Is Discussed

EL PASO, Feb. 2 (AP)—Army officials at Fort Bliss and Biggs field here were invited by U. S. Consul General W. P. Blocker of Juarez to meet with officials of that Mexican city today to discuss the new Army order limiting the issue of Juarez passes to American soldiers to one per cent of the strength of the posts here.

The order was issued following a meeting Sunday of Army officials when methods of improving the discipline of soldiers in Juarez were discussed and remedies sought after uniformed U. S. military police were banned from the popular city across the Rio Grande.

Julio Ramirez, Juarez immigration director, said the military police were banned on orders from Mexico City. He said last night he was attempting to contact President Manuel Avala Camacho and Minister of the Interior Miguel Aleman, who were in Cuernavaca, Mexico.

The order left Juarez almost deserted Monday, a soldier payday, when ordinarily thousands of American Army men visit there. It was reported causing consternation among Juarez shop keepers, bar proprietors and taxi men, who will suffer considerable financial loss if the order is maintained.

Mrs. Stone Is Found Guilty Of Forgery

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 2 (AP) — A new trial will be sought for Mrs. Mary A. Stone, defense counsel announced after a district court jury convicted the former superintendent of the state training school for girls here of passing a forged document and recommended a two-year penitentiary sentence.

In the trial which ended yesterday with the guilty verdict, the state alleged that Mrs. Stone forged an endorsement of a number of state warrants made payable to Fay Poclik.

Mrs. Stone claimed Fay Poclik was a cook at her home, but state witnesses, including some employes of the school, testified they had never seen or known anyone by that name.

The case was first heard last May, but in that instance ended in a mistrial.

Local Bond Drive

bonds that have been bought.

Patience Is Asked

So, if your bonds are not available at once, don't be impatient. Wait a few days and, at your convenience, call for them at the place where you asked that they be left.

Bonds won't be mailed to purchasers except when specifically requested—and drive officials are hopeful that requests will be few. The mailing of bonds would make a tough job tougher—and, besides, it would cost quite a bit to mail out several thousand bonds. The one who does the mailing has to pay that cost because no provision is made for any sort of expense in conducting the drive.

All of the divisions in the drive are working, full force, today. These include the women's division headed by Mrs. M. B. Hilburn; the big subscription's division headed by C. E. Maedgen, and the general solicitations division, headed by M. B. Hilburn.

After having been rained out Tuesday, the more than 200 women in Mrs. Hilburn's division are conducting their house-to-house door knocker's campaign today. Most of their work will be finished this afternoon.

Members of the Maedgen and Hilburn divisions will work both today and tomorrow, making reports each afternoon at campaign headquarters in the chamber of commerce.

In the rural areas, Chairman Roy Boyd announced that the next event will be a rally in Frenship school Thursday night, weather permitting. A male quartet from Foursquare church will sing. Durwood Bradley will speak.

The Idalou clubhouse rally, scheduled last night, was postponed because of the rain and is to be held Friday night.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

Yanks Battling For Marshalls

the presence of Allied troops on the south side of New Guinea in reporting Japanese losses in an attack at the mouth of the Eilanden river, nearly 600 miles northwest of Port Moresby.

The battle for Madang, major enemy base in northern New Guinea, neared a climax as Australian troops in the Ramu valley reached a point 18 miles from Bogadjim, outer defense position for Madang 20 miles away. American forces on the coast are about 40 miles from Madang.

The Japanese lost 28 planes in another of the unrelenting attacks on Rabaul by Allied fighters and bombers which also sank a medium cargo ship in the harbor of the northeastern New Britain base.

Tanks made their first appearance in the Burma front in the battle to capture the Japanese-held port of Akyab. Allied bombers supported Indian troops in blasting their way through outer Japanese defenses east of Waungdaw. Other planes hit Japanese barracks in the northern Chin hills and enemy installations in the Mayu peninsula.

Partial evacuation of certain areas in the Japanese cities of Kyoto and Yokosuka as an air raid precaution measure was reported by the Japanese radio at Batavia.

Convict Rides Bus From Prison Farm

HOUSTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—A 19-year-old convict who told officers he rode a bus from Sugarland to Houston Monday was recaptured last night by Harris county police officers.

The youth, Nelson Ray Kirby, escaped from the Harlem prison farm at Sugarland because he "was just tired staying there," the officers quoted him.

Nazis Leave Greece To Battle Slavs

LONDON, Feb. 2 (AP)—German reinforcements rushed from Greece, have been thrown into bloody fighting against Yugoslav partisans in the province of Dalmatia while in Macedonia the Nazi invaders two weeks' old offensive has entirely fizzled, headquarters of Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) announced today.

The sudden, savage partisan threat centered in the Cetina valley between the towns of Knin and Benkovac, west of the Adriatic ports of Split and Zara, declared Tito's communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio. Here the fighting was particularly violent, the bulletin added.

Tito's forces, greatly strengthened by the increased supply of Allied war materials reaching them, apparently have stymied Germany's winter campaign to crush the partisans.
