HURSCHEL TYLER RECEIVES PATENT

A patent has been granted to Hurshel Tyler, top, for his WeatherScan, manufactured in Wellington and distributed throughout the continental United States. Tyler owns the R. H. Tyler Co. The complete time-weather service channel is used with cable television systems. One of the latest units to shown below.

R. H. Tyler Receives Patent on WeatherScan

Hurshel Tyler, who owns and operates the R. H. Tyler Co., has received a patent on WeatherScan, the machine which gives cable television users their local weather channel. WeatherScan has been manufactured in Wellington less than five years, yet it is in use in all 48 continental states.

Tyler received notice from the United States Patent Office shortly after the first of the year that the patent had been granted.

Under the terms of the patent, Tyler is given the right to exclude others from making, using or selling the invention through the United States for a period of 17 years, he said.

The patent covers both models manufactured by R. H. Tyler, the straight back and the curved model. Both have been used in the Wellington Vumore System on its Channel 6.

Tyler began the manufacture of WeatherScan in 1960, with the intention to use it for local subscribers in keeping them posted on the weather. He began to sell units to other cable television systems in the Southwest, and then went into full-scale manufacture.

There is more to WeatherScan than meets the television viewer's eye, more than the scanning device which records this weather information. Installed at the community television tower are those components which measure the weather—temperature, the amount of rainfall, wind velocity and direction, barometric pressure, and the time.

All of this Hurshel Tyler developed here in Wellington. During 1965 Tyler left Vumore Company, which he had represented here since cable television came to Wellington. He then sold Tyler Electric to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gosnell. Going into a handsome new

Baptists Open Lay Revival

A layman-led revival opened Wednesday evening, Jan. 19 at First Baptist Church and will continue through Sunday, Jan. 23, the Rev. A. B. Earnest, pastor, has announced. Sherman Driggers of Trent, a layman in his church, will preach. Dale Coody will be in charge of the singing. Services will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m., Rev. Earnest said.

Veteran Educator

J. D. Wilson Elected To Head Quail School

J. D. Wilson, supervisor of Collingsworth County schools 11½ years, was elected superintendent of the Quail School to succeed Herman Moseley, who resigned to become superintendent at Quitaque.

Mr. Wilson received a contract to finish the remainder of the present term plus a contract for the next two years.

Mrs. Garth Priddy, whose husband is vocational agriculture teacher at Quail, was elected to succeed Mrs. Moseley as teacher of the fourth and fifth grades.

A veteran in Collingsworth schools, Mr. Wilson came here in 1922 to teach his first school, principal at Dozier. Two years later he became superintendent of the Dodson School and later served several terms as county superintendent.

He left in 1935 to accept a teaching fellowship at Baylor University, working toward his bachelor of law degree, but he returned to teaching before completing that course.

He served as deputy state superintendent for the Panhandle area, and superintendent at Paducah, Ballinger and Hillsboro before returning here in 1954. Mr. Wilson holds the BA degree from Baylor, the MA degree from Texas Tech and has completed 30 hours of work on the doctor's degree.

Active in professional organizations, he has been a member of the state executive committee of the Texas State Teachers Association, and a delegate to the National Education Association and National Administrators Conference. He has been president of the county unit of TSTA and is active in the Methodist Church and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

He and Mrs. Wilson, a former Collingsworth County home demonstration agent, have two children, both born here: Dr. Margaret Ann Sifton, who teaches in the school of home economics at Tech, and Dr. Jean Donald Wilson, who teaches internal medicine and does research in Southwestern Medical College at Dallas.

Mrs. Priddy has done a considerable amount of substitute teaching in the Quail school this year.

She attended Texas Technological College, where her major is in elementary education. She is also an experienced musician.

First Snow Stacks Up to Four Inches

Winter came into the area Tuesday night, Jan. 18 and by Wednesday morning, four inches of snow blanketed the county, the first of the season.

There was little wind, and the snow, a wet one, lay where it fell.

The snow continued to fall intermittently through Wednesday morning, with the temperature standing in the mid-20s.

All highways were open in the county but they were slick, according to T. R. Russell, foreman for the State Highway Department.

Salting operations were under way on hills and bridges, he said.

A check in all parts of the county early Wednesday showed the fall was uniform.

All schools were holding classes as usual when The Leader went to press.

Under Federal Education Program

Four County Schools Receive $61,000 for Remedial Work

A special program in remedial reading for all children of Collingsworth County who need its help opened Monday, Jan. 17, and classroom instruction will start a week later, Jan. 24.

This is part of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and is financed by all-federal funds, which total approximately $61,000 in the four schools. Yet the program as it is administered in the Panhandle is unique—the only one of its kind set up under the education act. It is administered through West Texas State University and is called PESO.

It is known generally by those who work with it as Title I and provides for assistance for the educationally deprived children.

"This has nothing to do with financial status," Supt. J. L. Harper of Wellington pointed out. "It is for those children who for one reason or another have reading problems."

Five teachers have been hired to teach in this field. Three will be in Wellington, Mrs. Weldon Cleveland, Jr., who will teach in the Elementary School, Mrs. Bryan Denley in junior high, and Miss Jolene Groves in high school.

Mrs. Clyde Brown will teach the classes at Samnorwood and Quail, and Mrs. Harvell Levell will be the instructor at Dodson.

These teachers are attending workshops this week. As part of their contracts, they will attend at least six weeks this summer for special courses in instruction in remedial classes. The co-ordinator of the program over an 11-school area is Mack Bush of Wellington, former junior high principal here and later superintendent at Hedley.

How many children will be in these remedial reading classes?

"We have at least 200 who need it, but the classes will be limited to about 10 each and all of those may not get in," Mr. Harper said. This figure is on the basis of standard tests given the children in the past and further testing was indicated.

The other three schools will have from 20 to 30 children each, their superintendents said. Most of these are enrolled below the sixth grade.

The teachers are paid the standard state salary schedule, which is on the basis of $2,907 for non-degree teachers and $4,104 for degree teachers. In one case, the pay is higher.

Mr. Harper explained that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, which administers the Act, has a contract with the Texas Education Agency, which sets the standards.

West Texas State University administers the program in the Panhandle, through the Panhandle Educational Services Organization, popularly called PESO.

Dr. Emmitt D. Smith is the director and he is assisted by Dr. Kenneth M. Laycock, a native of Collingsworth County and graduate of Samnorwood high school.

In Carcass Class

Five Youths Exhibit Calves at Stock Show

Five Collingsworth 4-H boys will have entries in the carcass class of the junior division of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, County Agent Sam Helmers said.

Their animals are a cross section of the breeds grown here.

Gary Killian will show an Angus steer weighing approximately 950 pounds and his younger brother, Mark will have another Angus weighing around 830.

Teddy Martin will have a Charolais-Angus cross bred calf which should weigh in at 835, Keith Davis Bradford, a Brahma-Hereford cross, weighing 800.

Stevie Marsh will have the only Hereford in the group, a 920 pound steer.

The calves will be taken to Fort Worth Tuesday, Jan. 25; Wednesday they will be sifted, toothed and their pictures taken. Friday at 7:30 a.m. they will be judged on foot, then taken to be slaughtered.

They will be judged on the rail as to carcass quality Monday.

Two Hospitalized

Traffic Accidents in City Average 1 a Day

An average of one traffic accident a day—that is Wellington's record for 1966, Police Chief Donald Nunneley has revealed.

Two were serious enough to hospitalize two persons and send others to their doctors. Most of the other accidents were of the fender-bender variety.

Hullabaloo Goes on Stage Here Monday Night

Hullabaloo, the big entertainment featuring youthful talent, will be staged by the Wellington junior class Monday, Jan. 24 at 7:30 p.m.

It will be given in the high school auditorium.

"There'll be lots of entertainment, and lots of fun," declared Becky Brewer, who is handling publicity.

Leading the cast will be The Entertainers, Collingsworth's own teen-age five who have gained national recognition.

There will be additional musical numbers, tap dancing and singing, as well as other types of talent.

Neal Roberts, class president is heading the arrangements, but all members of the class are participating.

much of the low mike tests can be accounted for in the large top crop the county had this year and the fact that these bolls did not fully mature. Tests run at the classing centers showed that the bottom cotton produced lint with good micronaire, while cotton from the top of the same stalks might be low enough to classify the cotton as Watsy.

On the whole, however, this crop has been larger and of higher quality than mid-summer predictions and even expectations when the harvest began.

City State Bank Announces 3 New Directors

Three new directors were elected in a recent meeting of stockholders of the City State Bank, Jeff Wilson reported this week.

Ronald Duncan, who has had nearly 40 years banking experience and now lives in Lubbock, was one of the three. The others were Wayne Cudd and Earl Lynn Bartlett of Wellington.

Mr. Duncan was a banker in Winters 24 years. This is a farming town supported by an agriculture similar to that of the Wellington area and gives him an exceptional background in the type of banking required to serve this section, Wilson said.

Cudd is a partner in Cudd Brothers Trucking which operates here, at Memphis and in Corpus Christi, and is one of the major haulers of livestock in the area. He is a past president of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, the state-wide organization for transport truck operators.

Bartlett, born and reared here, is one of the progressive young farmers of the area.

Quail Baptist Church Calls New Pastor

The Rev. Trice Epps of Shamrock has accepted the pastorate of the Quail Baptist Church, Johnny Parker, a member of the pulpit committee, has announced.

He succeeds Rev. Vic Johnson who moved to Bridgeport. Rev. Epps is principal of the Shamrock elementary school. He holds the bachelor of arts degree from Wayland College, Plainview, and the master's degree from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, Okla.

He entered the ministry in April 1947.

The Rev. and Mrs. Epps will continue to make their home in Shamrock. They have two grown children, a son and a daughter.

Miss Kees Goes to Conference

Miss Loleta Kees, home demonstration agent, will attend a new agents' training conference in College Station for one week beginning Saturday, Jan. 29.

This is the second part of the orientation program given young women entering extension service work. This session is for those who have been with the service six months or longer.

Miss Kees attended an Extension Service workshop on helping low income families, held in Lubbock Jan. 12 and 13.

Tickets on Sale

Manufacturers Exhibit Set for C-C Banquet

Tickets are now on sale for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, to be held on Thursday, Feb. 3 at 7:15 p.m. in the Bura Handley Community Center.

Tickets which sell for $3.00 each, may be bought at the Chamber of Commerce office, or at City State Bank, Parsons Drug, Wells & Wells, West Texas Utilities, C&H Pharmacy, Wellington State Bank, Pruden Drug, Eddie Slay Cloth-ers, and Hale's Jewelers. Harry W. Clark, executive secretary of the Texas Industrial Commission, will be the speaker.

N. M. Higdon, C-C manager, said that for the first time this year, items which are manufactured in Collingsworth County will be displayed—or material illustrating those too large to bring in the building. These range from doll dresses to cotton trailers and community antenna equipment. Eighteen firms are making items which qualify them as manufacturers and are now on the C-C list, and an attempt will be made to have every such firm represented, Sandy Parsons, president, said recently.

"Among the firms represented will be some who have operated here for many years and whom we may not think of as manufacturers. Others will be brand new," said Zook Thomas, incoming president of the C-C.

Deadline Near on Medicare

People 65 and over need to be reminded they do not have much longer to enroll in the Medicare program under social security, according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo social security office.

The enrollment period began Sept. 1, 1965 and will end Mar. 31, 1966. Persons who were 65 or older in 1965, must sign up during this enrollment period if they want the supplemental medical insurance.

People who are receiving social security or railroad retirement benefits have received their enrollment card by mail. Persons receiving old-age assistance benefits from the Texas Department of Public Welfare will be contacted by their welfare office. Others who have not signed up for either of these benefits should contact their Amarillo social security office for assistance in enrolling.

This includes all persons 65 or older who may still be working and earning too much for them to receive monthly payments as well as those who are 65 or older and who have not worked under social security enough to qualify for monthly payments.

"Remember," Geldon said, "the enrollment period is limited. Get in touch with your Amarillo social security office for more detail about this new Health Insurance Program. Do it today!"

118 Marriage Licenses Sold

June, the traditional month of marriages, tied with two other months with only seven licenses sold, records in the office of Lorene Jenkins, county-district clerk, show.

Altogether, 118 couples bought marriage licenses during 1965, with a substantial number of these coming from Oklahoma.

May was the most popular month for marriages, with 20 licenses sold. March and October each showed 13, there were 12 for August and 11 for November.

As for the other months, January showed 5 marriage licenses sold; February, the low month, 4; April 7; July 10; September 7, and December 9.

Kin of City Families Die

A Wellington family attended the funerals of two relatives earlier this month, one living in Austin and the other in New Mexico.

Sam Akin, the brother of Mrs. J. C. Ford, died Jan. 8 at Austin. She returned home Tuesday, Jan. 11. Others going to the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fulcher and James Roy, and Mrs. Ford's sister, Mrs. R. C. Werner of Amarillo.

Upon returning home, the Fulchers received word of the death of Warren Fuller of Roswell, N.M. He was an uncle of Fulcher and a half-brother of Jack Cristy.

Attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Cristy, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Clement and Cynthia and Mr. and Mrs. Fulcher and James Roy.

County Has Two Killed in '65 Hiway Accidents

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated three accidents on rural highways in Collingsworth County during the month of December, according to Sgt. J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

In the rural traffic accident summary for this county for the calendar year of 1965, it was reported that a total of 39 crashes occurred, resulting in 2 persons killed, 43 injured and an estimated property damage of $31,615.

Six of the 31 counties in the THP's Amarillo district had no traffic fatalities in 1965. These were Briscoe, Donley, Foard, Hansford, Lipscomb and Sherman—but 90 persons were injured and property damage reached $156,448 in automobile accidents in those six counties during the year.

These reports were in other counties of the area for December:

Childress: 7 accidents, 4 injured, $9,100 property damage. Cottle: 6 accidents, 10 injured, $7,825 property damage.

Donley: 3 accidents, none killed or injured, $650 property damage.

Gray: 21 accidents, 1 death as the result of a November accident, 19 injuries, $10,730 in property damage.

Hall: 8 accidents, 5 injuries, $4,125 property damage.

Wheeler: 17 accidents, 1 killed, 13 injuries, $13,025 property damage.

1965 Report

Childress County: 62 accidents, 6 deaths, 51 injuries, $100,915 property damage.

Cottle: 38 accidents, 3 deaths, 48 injuries, $32,935 property damage.

Donley: 60 accidents, no deaths, 13 injuries, $35,518 property damage.

Gray: 203 accidents, 7 deaths, 158 injuries, $136,002 property damage.

Hall: 53 accidents, 4 deaths, 43 injuries, $42,750 property damage.

Wheeler: 111 accidents, 1 death, 74 injuries, $75,005 property damage.

16 Amendments to Face Voters Next November

It's nearly 11 months away, but on Nov. 8, Texans will vote on 16 amendments to the Texas Constitution. These will be voted on in a special election, but at the same time and place as the general election.

Here are the proposed amendments:

SJR 1: Amending Article IX, Constitution, authorizing Legislature to provide by law for the establishment of Airport Authorities.

SJR 4: Amending the constitution to provide a state-wide System of Retirement, Disability and Death Compensation benefits for officers and employees of the counties and other political subdivisions.

SJR 19: Amending Sec. 49-d, Art. III, Constitution, declaring state policy regarding optimum development of water reservoirs, and further investment of the Texas Water Development Fund.

SJR 26: Amending Secs. 4 and 5, of Article V, Constitution, to provide for a Court of Criminal Appeals of 5 members.

SJR 33: Amending Sec. 6, Art. XVI, Constitution, authorizing public grants to private groups for assistance to the blind, crippled or otherwise physically and mentally handicapped.

SJR 39: Amending Sec. 18, Art. VII, Constitution, to withdraw Arlington State College from participation in the Permanent University Fund.

HJR 1: Amending the Constitution to establish the date on which newly-elected members of the Legislature shall qualify and take office.

HJR 13: Amending Secs. 2 and 4, Art. VI, Constitution, to repeal poll tax requirement for voting.

HJR 21: Amending Art. XVI, Constitution, relating to terms of office of directors of conservation and reclamation districts.

HJR 24: Amending Art. VI, Constitution, to provide for voting on electors for president and vice president and on all state-wide offices.

HJR 37: Amending Art. III by adding Sec. 51-d, Constitution, to provide for assistance by the state to surviving spouse and minor children of law enforcement officers who suffer violent death in the performance of their duties.

HJR 38: Amending Sec. 2, Art. VI, Constitution, to omit the requirement that members of the armed services vote only in the county in which they resided at the time of entering the service.

HJR 48: Amending Art. IX, Constitution, providing the method for dissolution of hospital districts created under Art. IX.

HJR 65: Amending Sec. 3-B, Art. VII, Constitution, providing that school taxes theretofore voted shall not be invalidated by a change in district boundaries.

HJR 69: Amending Art. VIII, Constitution, to provide that all land designated for agricultural use be assessed only as such.

Cooke Exhibits at Stock Show

FORT WORTH.—Nearly 300 head of top-quality commercial Hereford females have been entered in a special show and sale, held in conjunction with the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show.

For the first time there will be a show featuring commercial, bred and open yearling heifers, two-year-olds and cows with calves. All cattle in the three classifications will sell in groups of 10 and 20 head on Feb. 1 at 12 noon.

Herefords from the following herds have been consigned thus far: League Ranch, Benjamin; 3 Cookes Cattle Co., Quail; R. A. Brown Est., Throckmorton; J. T. A. Matthews, Albany; Tic Tac Toe, Frost; Nathan & Jacques Allen, Graham; Paul Roney, Archer City; Cobb Britten, Groom; and Wayne Rowe, Lawton, Okla.

Anna Kay Kelso In ACC Drama

ABILENE.—Anna Kay Kelso, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelso of Wellington has won the role of Lorraine Sheldon in Abilene Christian College's production of "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

The Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman drama will be staged Feb. 11 and 12.

Miss Kelso, a 1965 graduate of Wellington high school, is a freshman elementary education major.

West Texas Farmers to Tour Valley

ABILENE.—A 150 or more West Texas farmers, ranchers, and businessmen will visit South Texas, the Gulf Coast, and Lower Rio Grande Valley area Feb. 20-25 as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce holds a special agricultural development tour into those areas.

The tour is being set up to give West Texans a good look at both the industrial and agricultural picture from Houston into the Valley, with a special look at ranching operations on the King Ranch and the Armstrong Ranch between Kingsville and Brownsville.

Travel will be by rail, with Santa Fe Railway making arrangements for the West Texas Chamber, Lance said. Pullmans will originate at Amarillo, Lubbock and Fort Worth.

Some of the highlights of the tour will be a visit to the Houston industrial complex along the ship channel and the shipping facilities where West Texas-grown agricultural products are exported—cotton, grain sorghum, wheat, and other crops.

The West Texas group will see the new livestock facilities of the Houston Fat Stock Show, located near the famous Astrodome. They will visit agriculture operations of the Department of Corrections at Sugarland and learn the techniques being used there on the prison farms.

Tentative plans call for a visit to the famous King Ranch to observe ranch management techniques, plus a visit to the nearby Armstrong Ranch to observe a sale of Santa Gertrudis cattle—the first time any of the Armstrong stock will have been offered to the public.

The touring group will then move into the Lower Rio Grande Valley to see vegetable production, cotton, grain sorghum, and other crops adaptable to West Texas.

Arrangements in this area are being handled by the Lower Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Brownsville Chamber.

48 Babies Born

Deaths Have Slight Edge Over Births in '65

Deaths outnumbered births only slightly in Collingsworth County in 1965, records in the office of County-District Clerk Lorene Jenkins show.

During the 12-months period, 48 births were recorded for the county and 55 deaths.

December was the most popular month for births, with 8 children born. But none of these chose Christmas Day as a birthday.

The record for the remainder of the year showed January with 3 births; February 5, March 4, April 3, May 3, June 3, July 5, August 4, September 3, October 2 and November 5.

Heart disease was the big killer in Collingsworth during the year just ended.

Just a few under half of the deaths recorded, 24, showed some form of heart disease as the principal cause of death.

Cerebral hemorrhage, better known as stroke, killed the second highest number of Collingsworth people, 15. A number of contributing causes were listed, ranging from falls to hardening of the arteries.

Surprisingly, cancer was a low third on the list, for death certificates filed listed only 6 deaths from this cause.

Other causes of death were accident 2, gunshot wound 1, pneumonia 2. Twins were still-born and one baby born prematurely later died.

That Collingsworth people live into hearty old age was borne out statistically, for more than half the deaths, 32, were of men and women over 70.

Seventeen persons were between 71 and 80 years of age, and 15 were between 81 and 90. Two persons were over 90.

There were no deaths recorded of young people from 10 to 20 years of age or mature adults 31 to 40.

Four deaths were of children under 10 years of age; aged 21 to 30, 2; 41 to 50, 3; 51 to 60, 6; and 61 to 70, 6.

Voters Reminded of January 31 Pole Tax Date

Mrs. Rita Owens, county tax assessor-collector, this week urged all Collingsworth people who will be eligible to vote in this year's elections to obtain their poll tax receipts before the Jan. 31 deadline.

At noon Monday, only a few more than 600 poll taxes had been paid here. This light payment of poll taxes is statewide. Some attribute it to the fact that there is some confusion on the part of many Texans as to whether a poll tax must be paid this year because of the recent lawsuit attacking this requirement.

Mrs. Owens has called attention to the fact that the judges of the Federal District Court hearing the case involving the validity of the Texas poll tax law, have recommended that Texas voters comply with the present law, because the lawsuit is not likely to be definitely decided before the Jan. 31 date which is the deadline for poll tax payment.

The tax assessor-collector listed these four rules for obtaining poll tax receipts and exemption certificates to qualify for voting in elections held between Feb. 1, 1966 and Jan. 31, 1967:

1. In order to vote in any primary, general or special election for the nomination or election of any State or local office, or to vote in any election on a question or proposition, persons not exempt from payment of the poll tax must do so by Jan. 31, 1966.

2. Persons over 60 years of age Jan. 1, 1965 are exempt from paying the poll tax. However, an exemption certificate must be obtained by Jan. 31, 1966.

3. Persons who were under 21 on Jan. 1, 1965 but who will be 21 years of age by the election date, or who were not residents of Texas on Jan. 1, 1965 but will be so by election date are not subject to the payment of the poll tax. However, they must obtain an exemption certificate. This certificate can be obtained at any time throughout the year. But in order for the holder to vote, it must have been issued at least 30 days prior to any election.

4. Persons eligible to register and who have not paid for a poll tax receipt or obtained an exemption certificate to vote in any primary, general or special election for nomination or election of members of the United States Congress, may do so by obtaining a special poll tax receipt (issued without payment of the tax) by Jan. 31, 1966. This is a registration certificate and qualifies anyone to vote for Federal offices. The County Tax Collector marks the receipt with the notation "Poll Tax Not Paid."

Tournament Play

WHS Freshmen Place First at Childress

The WHS Freshman basketball team won first place in the Childress Freshman tournament on Saturday, Jan. 15 by defeating Locket.

The Rockets began play on Jan. 14, winning over AAA Vernon 53 to 40. Wellington boys kept a 5-point lead until the last three minutes. Then Vernon began to pass and the Rockets had increased their lead by eight more points at the end of the game.

Ronald Barr scored high for Wellington with 20 points, while Herman Moore made 13. Brock, Brewer, Wilbur, and Hurst also scored.

"All the boys played good basketball, but I was especially proud to see them play such good defense without much fouling," Coach Denzil Lacy said of this game.

In the finals the Rockets met and defeated Locket by a 57 to 30 score.

In the first quarter the Rockets trailed 9 to 3 but by half-time they led, 28 to 12 and they never gave up that lead.

"The boys wanted to win real bad, as it meant a first place and to be undefeated," Lacy said.

Barr made 16 points for the Rockets, Moore 15, Brock 9, Hurst 8, Brewer 6 and Wilbur 3.

"Teddy Martin and Jimmy Bohannon played good ball but did not score," Lacy stated.

Fat Lambs in Amarillo Show

Six fat lambs from Collingsworth will be entered in the Amarillo Fat Stock Show, according to Sam Helmers, county agent. The exhibitors will be Gary Scott, Bill Chappell, Dee Chappell and Jim Chappell.

The sheep will be in place Sunday morning, then sifted and weighed. The show will be Monday and the prize winning lambs will be sold Tuesday.

SCD Supervisors Hold Meeting

The board of supervisors of the Salt Fork Soils Conservation District held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, Jan. 11.

New and revised conservation plans were approved, and plans were made for the district's participation in the Fort Worth Press Save the Soil and Save Texas contests.

Present were John R. Hendard, Otis Emmert, Pat Bradley, Ted Wheeler, Orville Vaughan, also Billy Moseley, secretary, and Doug Lowe, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service.

Giant Strides Made on State Highways in '65

AUSTIN.—What kind of a year was it? For the people who build and maintain Texas' 66,751-mile highway network, 1965 was busy, productive and challenging.

Giant strides were taken in many fields affecting development of the state's highway grid and the state itself, since Texas depends heavily on motor vehicle mobility.

Some highlights:

During the year, Texas rounded the corner in construction of its portion of the Interstate Highway System. More than half of the projected 3,027 miles of the superhighway network to be built in Texas by 1972 is under rubber now.

Texas drove more miles—50 billion—in more vehicles—6.2 million—and over more miles of highway than ever before. Yet, by 1965's third quarter, the new Interstate and primary highways were proving themselves safer in lowered accident rates. The ratio of traffic deaths per 100 million miles driven dropped from 5.1 in 1964 to 4.7 in 1965.

The Texas Highway Commission, making New Year's resolutions three years ahead in some cases, put an even greater accent on safety. More than half of the $350 million 1967-68 Consolidated Highway Program will go for specific safety enhancement projects. And indeed, every project in the program can be considered an investment in safety in the light of the abundant statistics proving construction of new highways and improvement of old ones saves lives.

Roadside beauty, a field in which Texas highway builders have three decades of experience, got added impetus and emphasis in 1965 as the Highway Department pledged enthusiastic support to a vast national highway beautification effort.

TSTA Passes 100,000 Mark

AUSTIN.—The Texas State Teachers Association — the State's largest professional organization—surpassed the 100,000 membership mark Monday, Dec. 20, Charles H. Tennyson, executive secretary, announced.

The TSTA, organized in Mexico in 1880, has now doubled its membership since 1950 and has grown by 33 percent since 1960 when its ranks numbered 75,000.

Membership includes persons in all spectrums of education—classroom teachers, school superintendents, university professors and college presidents.

Sayre College to Offer Electronics

The first night class to be held in the New Electronics Building at Sayre Junior College will begin with enrollment and the first class Jan. 19 at 7 p.m.

The course will be "Test Equipment and Applications" and will carry three hours of college credit.

No prerequisites are required for enrollment. Anyone using test equipment or desiring to improve their knowledge may enroll.

More Foreign Students at UT

The University of Texas with a record total enrollment of 26,220 saw an increased registration of students from abroad during the fall semester.

The International Office announced that 636 students and 104 visiting scholars have come to the UT campus this year. They represent 71 countries outside the United States.

The largest single representation was from Free China, which sent 86 students and five scholars. Mexico was second with 53 students and three scholars.

Nevada is the driest and the least populated state in the U.S.

Timing Important in Irrigating Winter Wheat

HALFWAY.—"Timing of the irrigation of wheat is of maximum importance in influencing the amount of takehome money from wheat," says James Valliant, water engineer at the High Plains Research Foundation. "Irrigation properly applied and in balance with fertilizer is the key to profitable wheat production in the Texas high plains. This would mean increased dollars returned per dollar invested balanced with highest net returns or practical efficiency."

Tascoma wheat was planted Oct. 28, 1964, on land from which grain sorghum had just been harvested. The wheat was irrigated to a stand after being planted dry. The most profitable yield was secured when irrigated at jointing, boot, head and dough stages in 1965.

This irrigation test produced 67.7 bushels per acre. The last, or dough stage, irrigation was added in 1965 due to the lack of rainfall from May 10 to June 1 at Halfway. This dough stage irrigation had not been necessary in previous years when adequate May rainfall had been received. The gross return from the four irrigations was $91.40 per acre. The pumping cost at 75¢ per acre-foot only was deducted, giving the net return of $73.02 per acre. Irrigation at the jointing, boot, and head stages produced 58.9 bushels per acre in 1965.

Wheat will normally use approximately 8½ inches of moisture from Nov. 1 to March 21. Planting on moisture from fall rains plus an irrigation after a stand is established or dry planting and irrigating to a stand appeared to provide adequate winter moisture for the wheat. An extra February irrigation in 1965 was unprofitable as it reduced the yield to 48 bushels per acre.

Dean Howard, assistant agronomist, worked with Valliant in this wheat irrigation study. Dr. Earl H. Collister, director of the Foundation, said "this research program on wheat irrigation was designed to find ways and means of more efficient farming for the high plains of Texas."

Details of this experiment are found in Report No. 161 of the High Plains Research Foundation for 1965.

Pastor Attends Evangelism Meet

The Rev. Ronald Crosley, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, returned Friday, Jan. 14 from a three-day denomination-wide conference on evangelism in Kansas City. The conference was held to survey the needs of evangelism in the church. Dr. Edward Lawlor, executive secretary of that department, was in charge.

Your Poll Tax Shows You Want To Be a Good Citizen

The deadline for paying your poll tax is closing in. January 31 is the last day payment can be made on your ticket to vote, your declaration of intent to be a good citizen in 1966.

This of all years will be important to voters in Collingsworth County.

At the week end, payments were lagging with only a few more than 600 poll taxes paid. Continuing at this rate, the total will be well below the usual election year figure. And this in spite of the campaign the Builders Club is pushing to have every qualified person a poll tax holder.

The important election in Collingsworth this year as far as it can be seen now will be an election on financing a dam on Salt Fork River. Big strides were taken on the water program in 1965, although much of this has been preparation of the ground work, engineering and legal work which is time consuming and necessary and isn't seen on the surface. The local board has gone as far as it can go now until the federal agencies through which financing will be sought can announce their own programs.

Politically speaking, there will be state and local elections. There will be the school board and city council elections, voting on the constitutional amendments, and the year will not end here until January 1967 when the final election covered by this year's poll tax will be the water board election.

One reason for the low payment of poll taxes, which is state-wide as well as local, is due to confusion over the federal suit to ban the poll tax.

Attorney General Waggoner Carr and the State Democratic Executive Committee Chairman Will D. Davis have reminded that federal judges who will rule on it have advised Texans to pay their poll taxes, since they will reach no decision before January 31.

It is true that free poll tax receipts are available through January 31 to qualify voters to cast ballots for federal officers, but this year that will be only the U. S. Senator and Congressman, and exclude the holder from voting on any local issue.

Lots of issues will be decided in 1966, and the voter without his poll tax will be on the outside looking in.

Babson Letter

OUR CANADIAN NEIGHBORS

Babson Park, Mass.—At the moment, relations between the United States and Canada are fairly cordial . . . diplomatically as well as economically. Yet there are stubborn problems facing our two nations whose common unfortified border extends for nearly 4,000 miles.

Improving Trade Relations

Both Canada and the United States have lately been making fairly substantial progress in lowering troublesome tariffs. Thus they have opened the way to a freer flow of trade between the two countries. However, the situation is still far from ideal; common sense dictates that we continue to explore ways and means of securing closer economic co-operation.

In an age which, for all its promises, is still fraught with dangers and uncertainties, Canada and the United States must—for their mutual benefit and protection—strengthen by every possible means the historic, cultural, and economic ties that have always joined them.

Canada's Vulnerable Position

At times the U.S. shows signs of irritation because, in some instances, Canada seems to be holding back in the matter of liberalizing tariff policies.

There is a feeling among some Americans that Canada is dragging her heels, either because of excess nationalism or out of "Sheer cussedness." A greater awareness of Canada's position in world trade would convince these pessimists that Canada is proceeding slowly toward freer trade with the U.S. . . . simply because she must.

If we took the trouble to learn more about Canada and what makes her tick economically, we would discover that she has an enormous stake in foreign trade. Her position, in fact, is vulnerable because she is more dependent on exports and imports than any other nation in a comparable world position. But the importance of foreign trade to the individual Canadian is not even appreciated, much less understood, here in the United States.

Though the U.S. has ten times the population of Canada and we carry on a vastly greater internal and external business, imports and exports are of far less consequence to the individual American than to the individual Canadian. The large stake of the Canadian in his foreign trade limits his ability to take risks in trade negotiations.

Chances of Economic Union

From time to time in this century there have been—both in Canada and in the United States—strong advocates of economic union. Such a union would provide complete elimination of tariff barriers between the two nations. It would also provide for a common currency and a common treasury. One of the best arguments in favor of economic union is that it would relieve Canadians of the necessity of ranging far afield to find markets for their products. It would also greatly stimulate the flow of U.S. capital into Canada.

But there will be no economic union between Canada and the U.S. any time soon. It would not be a practical move now, simply because neither Canadians nor Americans are psychologically ready for it. One day there will be such an economic union; but before that time comes, a better foundation must be laid.

North American Common Market

While strong tides of nationalism—on both sides—will delay economic union between the U.S. and Canada, the idea of closer business co-operation will not be permitted to die. Competent officials and business leaders of the two nations are constantly studying this whole relationship. The first big step toward such union could well be taken before very long.

Look for the formation of a North American Common Market by 1970 . . . sooner if Britain joins the European Common Market before then, thus leaving Canada out in the cold. Such an economic alliance between Canada and the U.S. will help mightily in the development of Canadian resources . . . and will also work to the benefit of the U.S.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where some New York editorialists, who wrote praisefully of civil disobedience heretofore, changed their tune when Mike Quill contemplated the law and called the transit strike.

My civil obeyer neighbor says, well, the good in any great social reform idea is lots easier to see when people away off in Alabama or some other place else have got to put up with the side effects.

Says these great editorial minds likely had to walk to work a few times, and it's very hard to see good in anything when your feet hurt.

My statistcrafty neighbor notes the news that the big showcase camp of the Job Corps spent upwards of $6,000,000 training on 1,000 dropouts last year, and 3 of the 1,000 learned enough to graduate. Says he calculated on this a spell, and the only answer he could get is that it cost $2,000,000 each to switch these three boys from liabilities to assets. And he says we had ought to be thankful it don't cost that much per head to turn all of our kids into something useful.

Part of the good news these days is that it is now very in for folks to have a high octane social conscience.

But my poverty refugee neighbor says his personal social conscience is real puny, especially when it comes to doing without something he wants, in order to help some loafer keep on loafing.

Says, anyhow, he notes the strongest social consciences belong to the people who can make somebody else furnish all of the alms money they give to the poor, while they get the applause and a fat salary for doing such good works.

Heartening news is that scientists have found a chemical that can be given to rats and it makes them five times as smart as before.

But my wet blanket neighbor says he read further down in this news story and it said if the dose of this drug was too big, it made the rats dumber instead of smarter.

He says this is similar to another artificial product that is somewhat widely used on people, called Education, which is wonderful stuff in doses the patient can stand, but an overdose of it has been known to over-activate the self-amazement gland.

Exciting news from FRIGIDAIRE ELECTRI-CLEAN OVEN!

From dirty . . . to clean
AUTOMATICALLY

- Q. What happens to the dirt?
A. The Electric-clean oven heats up to about 900°. At this temperature oven soil is turned into a loose ash and vapor. The vapor is vented thru a special air purifier.
- Q. How can it clean the racks & drip bowls?
A. Frigidaire uses a special heat-resistant porcelain enamel for both the oven liner and cooking unit drip bowls. The racks get cleaned right along with the rest of the oven.
- Q. Is there any hand cleaning left to do?
A. Possibly there will be a small amount of loose ash that may remain after cleaning. This can be whisked out easily.

- Q. What about safety features?
A. As soon as the temperature rises above broiling heat, oven double-locks itself. It can not be re-opened until the temperature returns to conventional oven heat. Frigidaire uses extra insulation and its electrical system and high heat process are UL approved.
- Q. How expensive is it to operate?
A. This full-size oven cleans itself for about the price of a cup of coffee—much less than the cleaning cost of special chemical oven cleaners.

This unique Frigidaire Range may seem too good to be true. But, true it is and you may see it at your nearest WTU showroom.

On the unburned part, she said: "I don't want to miss a copy for I want to know what is happening, in and around Wellington and to my relatives that live there. I visited in Wellington twice last year and stayed at the Cherokee Inn and it is real nice and everyone was real nice to myself and daughter, Mrs. Juanita Ashmore."

Rogers Opposes More Trade With Communist Bloc

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Congressman Walter Rogers said Saturday he is "vigorously opposed" to granting authority to the Administration to remove tariff restrictions opening the way to broader trade agreements between the United States and Communist nations. "On the contrary, I advocate even tighter restrictions than now exist," Congressman Rogers said. "Increased trade with Communist countries would serve merely to alleviate the distressed economies of nations whose leaders are pledged to the destruction of our freedoms," Congressman Rogers said. "There is no better argument for the Free World's position in the Cold War than the continuing economic distress behind the Iron Curtain." The Congressman said, "The Communists can't brag to the world about their economic success. Their failures are too obvious—and the world can easily contrast the economic booms in the United States, West Germany, Japan and other free nations with the stagnant, faltering economies of the Soviet Union, Red China, East Germany and other satellites. "We have the showplaces—they have the failures that state so eloquently the fundamental failure of Marxism," he said. Congressman Rogers added, "We do not need Communist trade goods—but they'd like to have ours. The advantage is one way, and I'm opposed to anything that gives the Communists even the slightest advantage in the 'hot' and 'cold' conflicts in which we're engaged."

The Congressman said he was "very pleased" to learn that the U.S. balance of payments deficit had been slashed

Tri-County Farm Tests Reported on '65 Program

SHAMROCK. — Reports on tests involving beef cattle, narrow-row cropping systems, and nematode control in cotton highlighted the recent annual meeting here of the three-county Northwest Texas Research Demonstration Program.

More than 50 on-the-farm tests were conducted in Hall, Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties through the demonstration program this past season.

The program is designed to demonstrate the value of Experiment Station findings under growing conditions of the local area.

The following are some of the highlights of the report for 1965:

Collingsworth County Agent Sammy Helmers said that a 2½ acre plot of cotton planted in 10-inch rows yielded 914 pounds of lint per acre compared to 765 pounds per acre

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, January 20, 1966

from conventional 40-inch rows grown under similar conditions.

Helmers said lack of suitable harvesting equipment is the biggest drawback to narrow-row cotton. A test involving narrow-row grain sorghum also produced encouraging yields, he said.

In Hall County, a cotton plot treated for nematode control produced double the yield of an untreated check plot, according to County Agent W. B. Hooser. Lint yields were 611 pounds per acre where treated; 361 pounds where untreated.

Hooser also reported on a beef-cattle forage demonstration which returned more than $40 per acre above production expenses. Irrigation, fertilizer and good management were used on Midland bermuda grass pasture to give the high return from rough land, Hooser said.

Wheeler County Agent Chas. Jackson said that hybrid sudan sorghum pastures appear to offer opportunities for area cattlemen. Fifteen acres of a sudan sorghum produced 4,037 pounds of gain on stocker cattle in a Wheeler County trial. After paying production expenses, the pasture returned $51.88 per acre, Jackson said.

Demonstration Assistant Duane Scott joined the agents in presenting the report.

In the unique demonstration program, Scott works with the agents, Extension specialists and Experiment Station personnel designing and establishing the demonstrations.

Thirty area agricultural leaders were on hand for the Jan. 11 report meeting.

Cotton Harvest in Scrapping Stage in Area

As cotton harvesting entered the scrapping stage, the downward trend in the quality of Eastern Panhandle cotton continued, according to the USDA Consumer and Marketing Service in Memphis. The brightest spot in this report is the continued high Pressley test of the cotton classed from this territory.

K. E. Voelkel, in charge of the Memphis classing office, said that the eight classers assigned to the office classed 27,000 samples during the week ending Friday, Jan. 14. This brings the total for the season to 177,000. As of the same date a year ago 162,000 samples had been classed, and the total for the 1964-65 season amounted to 167,000. It is estimated that 85 to 90 percent of the expected production has been classed so far.

Based on 27,000 samples classed this week, White grades decreased to 19 percent from 27 percent the week earlier; Light Spotted grades amounted to 66 percent compared with 61 percent; Spotted grades represented 15 percent compared with 12 percent last week. The predominant grades were Middling Light Spotted and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, with 26 percent and 35 percent respectively.

Five percent of the cotton classed was reduced in grade because of Bark. This indicated that the method of harvesting played a large part in the lower quality of the cotton classed.

The staple length of cotton classed during the week ranged from 13/16 inch to 1 inch. The predominant length continued to be 15/16 inch with 74 percent. Other lengths were: 7/8 inch and shorter — 2 percent; 29/32 inch — 21 percent; and 31/32 inch — 3 percent.

Wasty staple showed an increase from 5 percent last week to 9 percent this week. This was the largest amount of CANYON.—Dennis Cudd of Wellington, along with other cadets in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at West Texas State University, was honored at a special review and awards ceremony Friday.

Mr. Cudd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Cudd of Wellington has completed the advanced ROTC course. He is majoring in mathematics.

Commissioning exercises will be conducted Jan. 21 in the Student Union Building at WTSU.

Wasty cotton classed this season.

Mike readings, which reflect fineness and maturity of the cotton fiber, showed 34 percent of the cotton classed in the range of 3.6 - 4.8. This is considered desirable or premium range as cotton having this reading will sell for a 14-point or 70 cents a bale premium. Other readings were: 2.6 and below — 9 percent; 2.7 - 2.9 — 21 percent; 3.0 - 3.2 — 21 percent; and 3.3 - 3.5 — 15 percent.

Pressley tests (fiber strength) continued to show strong fiber with 92 percent of the cotton tested showing 80,000 lbs. per square inch and above. 3 percent was 70,000 to 74,000, and 5 percent tested 75,000 to 79,000. These results reflect a stronger fiber than any active harvesting section of the state.

The average prices paid for qualities mostly selling and having a mike reading of 3.6 to 4.8 were: Middling, 15/16—27.50; Strict Low Middling, 15/16—26.10; Low Middling, 15/16—24.65; Middling Light Spotted, 15/16—26.20; Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16—25.15; and Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16—24.15.

These prices were based on uncompressed, mixed lots in warehouses.

Cottonseed price was $47.00 per ton to farmers at gin points.

Allen Bell Dies in California

Allen Bell, 59, brother of Everett Bell died suddenly at his home in Salinas, Calif., Monday, Jan. 17. Mr. Bell lived here many years ago, moving to Oklahoma from here about 20 years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell had visited the Everett Bells in August 1965. The two women are also sisters.

He was a member of the Church of Christ in Salinas. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning. Everett Bell, who is ill with flu, could not attend.

Survivors are his wife and one son, Jack Bell of Salinas. Other survivors are a sister and seven brothers.

Friends Harvest Wilson Cotton

Friends gathered recently at the farm of Mrs. James Wilson to harvest her cotton and deliver it to the gin.

Initially plans were made by a group of men from the Baptist Church, in which she is active, but others heard about it and joined in.

Those who sent strippers or trailers, or whom came and worked were Wayne Martin, Truman Estes, Bill Estes, L. A. Davis, Danny Davis, Lucian Pope, Edd White, A. C. Shipley, William O'Rear, Ozro Bartlett.

Are you narrow-minded about wanting more of the things your money pays for?

Some people are. That's why they buy the goods and services they need—as much as they can—in their own business neighborhood.

They know that an average one-third of the price they pay for any item goes toward upkeep of the community where the deal is made.

And they know that they don't get anything at all for this part of their money when they spend it in somebody else's community.

Lone Star Gas Names Grantzner District Manager

Appointment of Joel E. Gruetzner as district manager of Lone Star Gas Company's Childress District of Distribution has been announced by L. B. Hulcy, vice president of the company's General Division of Distribution.

Mr. Gruetzner replaces H. E. Lawson, transferred to Frederick, Okla., as district manager. The changes became effective Jan. 1.

Mr. Gruetzner will supervise natural gas distribution to some 6,000 residential, commercial and industrial customers in the Childress district, composed of Childress, Wellington, Memphis, Lakeview, Dodson and Kirkland.

The new Childress manager joined Lone Star as utility man at Waco in 1947. He became local manager at Mart in 1963 and local manager at Colorado City in 1964.

A native of Bruceville, Mr. Gruetzner attended Bruceville-

Eddy high school and "Four-C" Business College in Waco. He has been active in both civic and community affairs in Colorado City, including the Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club and United Fund.

Mr. Gruetzner is a member of the First Baptist Church. He is married to the former Odesa Mosley of Elkhart.

Lynda Orr Davis To Get Degree

A Wellington girl is among the 93 University of Texas seniors who are candidates for bachelor's degrees from the College of Education Jan. 29 at the close of the present semester.

She is Lynda Dyane Orr Davis who will receive her bachelor's degree in elementary education.

She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Orr and the wife of Joe Davis, a student in Texas A&M. The couple will live in College Station.

Fires are unknown in the forests of the Amazon region because the wood does not burn easily.

Charles Turner, Vinson Pioneer, Dies Sunday

Charles W. Turner, 81, who came to the Vinson area more than 75 years ago, died Sunday, Jan. 16 in a Hollis nursing home. He was the father of Mrs. L. O. Tyson and Bill Turner of Wellington.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday, Jan. 19 at 2:30 p.m. at the Vinson Church of Christ, with Min. Vernon Turner of the Hollis Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in the Cave Creek Cemetery at Vinson under the direction of Coley Funeral Home.

Mr. Turner was born in Missouri and was still a child when the family came to Western Oklahoma in 1889.

Surviving Mr. Turner are his wife, Lula Turner of Wellington, three daughters and five sons: Mrs. Tyson and Bill Turner of Wellington; Mrs. G. E. Wolf of Amarillo; Mrs. Crae Devore of Walla Walla, Wash.; Othel Turner of El Paso; Raybern Turner of Fillmore, Calif.; Jack Turner of Durant, Okla.; and Parker Turner of Hayward, Calif.

Other survivors are three sisters, Mrs. Ella Ragsdale and Mrs. Marguerite Copley of Midland and Mrs. Mabel Littlejohn of California. There are 21 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren.

Baptist Men's Service Set

Baptist Men's Day will be observed by First Baptist Church Sunday, Jan. 23, at the evening service, beginning at 7 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Jim Turner, shop foreman for the Highway Department at Childress and an active layman in his church.

All men of the Wellington church are urged to attend, said the Rev. A. B. Earnest, Jr., pastor.
