ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1.—

Alas, the brashness of youth, alas, alas, and alas.

You can also put in a few alacks if you wish. Take young Paul Derringer now, Young Paul Derringer, of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pride of the Mississippi valley. The very personification of youth, and the brashness thereof, is Paul Derringer, but he should never have pitched that ball where he did when Jeems Foxx (with two x's) was representing the aged Cornelius McGil-cuddy at the plate in the third inning of the first game of the world's series of 1931 today.

No, never in a thousand years.

For the place where young Paul Derringer pitched the ball was exactly the place where James Foxx (with the two x's) loves to see a ball, and James reached out with his hickory stick, and tapped that ball to such effect that two runners scored on the tap, giving Cornelius McGillicuddy's Philadelphia Athletics all the margin that they needed to win the ball game.

Final Score 6 to 2

It made the score 4 to 2, which was later elaborated by the Athletics to 6 to 2, per a home run by the battle nicked veteran, Al Simmons, with a runner aboard at the moment. When the inning ended, young Paul Derringer was on the threshold of middle age. He had shed much of his youth, and the brashness thereof.

Speaking of Al Simmons, some claim that all would have been well to this hour with young Paul Derringer if Al hadn't taken to casting a sinister scowl at him in that dire moment of the third, up to which moment you would have wagered all the avocados in California that

Cattle Buyer Dies From Shot in Auto

ASPERMONT, Oct. 1. (AP)—W. N. Cates, 37, cattle buyer of Leedey, Okla., shot himself to death as he sat in his automobile on a highway south of here sometime last night.

Thomas Hannis, farmer, discovered the body slumped in the car this morning and notified officers. A verdict of suicide was returned by a justice of the peace.

Cates came here a week ago to buy cattle and those with whom he had business said he apparently was worried over his affairs.

His body will be returned to Leedey for burial. He is survived by his wife, three children, his father and a brother.

A Wichita Falls Woman Feeds 5,500 Children Daily

—Photos by S. & S. Commercial Studio.

Some results of system are shown above. The upper picture shows part of a section of Wichita Falls High school and Junior college students filing past the food counters in the school cafeteria Thursday noon. For the selection and consumption of their lunches they have 20 minutes, and four minutes more to report to their rooms. In eight minutes, approximately 300 pupils were served—and before the next section arrived, these first ones were ready again for their classes.

Below is shown Mrs. Frank Holmes, general director of the cafeteria system in the local public schools. The tray contains a typical luncheon in which nutritive elements are properly balanced according to Mrs. Holmes' selection. This luncheon passed a moment later to a representative of The Record News, for whom it was chosen. It was an easy sale at 25 cents.

Mrs. Holmes has the supervision of feeding approximately 5,500 children daily in 15 cafeterias maintained by the local schools.

W. T. C. C. SEEKS LOWER TAXES

Reduction of Governmental Costs Urged Here

Reduction of governmental expenditures, with a consequent reduction in taxes, and a more equal distribution of the state's tax burdens as they effect West Texas were set as goals of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at a conference here Thursday of leaders of district 3 of the chamber.

Martial Law Needed

Practically the entire morning session and the luncheon period, when delegates were guests of the Rotary club, were devoted to a discussion of tax matters. In the afternoon session only three short addresses were heard. W. B. Hamilton told the delegates that a continuation of martial law in the East Texas oil field is necessary to secure an orderly development of the area. Without proration, he said, there will be little opportunity for stabilization of the oil industry.

Orville Bullington, chairman of the national affairs committee of the West Texas chamber, and Joe Wheat of Seymour discussed various policies of the national government. The afternoon session adjourned after this brief meeting.

Principal speakers at the morning session were Wilbur C. Hawk, Amarillo publisher and first vice president of the chamber; D. A.

Former Graham Man Fatally Burned in Shop

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Trapped in flames which gutted his small shop in a suburban center this morning, Frank Atcheson Sr., 51-year-old carpenter and cabinet maker, died in a local sanitarium this afternoon.

Practically every part of his body was badly burned after fire followed an explosion in the small frame structure where he was at work.

The family moved here six years ago, coming from Graham. He is survived by his widow and six children, including Barton and James, elder sons, employes of a San Antonio architect.

Sir Thomas Lipton Is Reported Improving

LONDON, Oct. 1. (US)—Sir Thomas Lipton, reported today to be "sinking fast" as a result of a chill contracted 10 days ago, shortly before midnight was reported improved and resting in a natural sleep.

Sir John Walker, the Irish yachtsman's chief physician, and his associates, Sir James Stewart, Dr. Cecil Roundtree and Dr. A. G. Shepherd, believe that Sir Thomas has weathered a crisis, and that the danger of acute pneumonia has been averted.

Value of Greer County Farms Shows Increase

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Oct. 1.—Greer county farms have taken a decided rise in size and value, according to the census release from Washington.

The present value of land and buildings is placed at $17,303,607, compared with $13,525,623 in 1925 and $11,062,159 in 1920.

Wichita Pupils Secure Bigger And Better Lunches Under New System

Cafeteria Director Tells of Planning Menus for 5,000; Spinach and Carrots Most Popular Dishes

Lunches which meet the demand of nutritive science, which delight the Epicure, and which lay a minimum burden of expense on the family pocketbook—that is the product of the cafeteria system now in vogue in the Wichita Falls Public schools under the general supervision of Mrs. Frank Holmes, dietitian and buyer.

Cafeteria facilities for the accommodation of public school pupils in this city are not an innovation. Many of the elementary schools, as well as those for the upper grades, have had such equipment and service for several years. But now, with a modern cafeteria in each of the 15 schools in the city, a more closely organized and more thoroughly supervised system is being perfected than has heretofore been accomplished in Wichita Falls.

Supervising meals for 5,000

Many are the housewives who had rather prepare meals for the family for an entire month than be responsible for planning the family menu even for one week. BEER FLOWED AT DETROIT

But the Boys Stayed Sober, Friberg Tells Legion

"We didn't have much trouble getting beer in Detroit," J. F. Friberg, service officer of Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion, told 225 members at the meeting of the organization Thursday night at the Memorial auditorium.

Gives Views

"Personally, I do not see any harm in drinking beer, although I am supposed to be one of those good Methodists," the speaker added.

In opening his talk, Mr. Friberg explained that he was speaking on the "beer and bonus subject assigned him by the newspapers." Mr. Friberg attended the national convention in Detroit, and was asked to report on the various actions of the national convention, which included a resolution asking modification of the Volstead act. The Texas delegation at Detroit opposed this resolution.

Although the national convention voted against a demand for the payment of the remaining bonus due war veterans, Mr. Friberg reported the payment was favored by the Texas delegation. "As for the beer, if the members here want it, let them vote for it and get it," Mr. Friberg said. The speaker said that while there was "considerable drinking" during the period of the convention, he did not see one intoxicated delegate and the business of the convention was transacted by "serious-minded, sober and moral men."

Armistice Day

A resolution endorsing the payment of the remaining bonus due ex-service men was adopted by the local post following Mr. Friberg's talk. The post declined to vote on the prohibition issue on grounds that it would involve the organization in politics.

J. H. Simmons reported on the activities of the drum and bugle corps, and Milton Gaines on plans for an Armistice day program here. Schools will be closed during the day, and efforts will be made to have business houses close, said Mr. Gaines. Musical entertainment at the meeting was furnished by the Hickville band of Burkburnett.

Allred Skeptical On Tax Penalty Release Law

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Doubt as to the constitutionality of the bill passed by the legislature and signed by the governor yesterday releasing all penalties and interest on delinquent taxes if the taxes were paid before Jan. 31, 1932, was expressed by James V. Allred, attorney general.

Attorney General Allred said he would advise the comptroller to warn tax collectors to proceed cautiously and accept only payments in full for the back taxes. He held the penalties and interest were a part of the taxes and said he doubted if the legislature could release them.

Should the supreme court hold the law unconstitutional and tax collectors have accepted the back taxes without payment of penalties and interest the collectors might be held responsible on their bond, Attorney General Allred said.

ALSUP'S AIDES TESTIFY TO SLAYING PLOT

Driver of Bandit Car Says Officer Hired Him To Aid Robbery

ATTORNEY FINED $10

Rogers Finds Courts Here Different From Those In Fort Worth

Two alleged accomplices and numerous other witnesses were presented by the state here Thursday in the 89th district court in an effort to show that John Alsup, former Fort Worth policeman, "framed" a bank robbery in April, 1930, in order to qualify for a large reward for killing one or more bank bandits.

Guy Boyt, driver of the automobile in which Isaac Tate and another negro rode to the scene of their death on April 10 of last year, and Earl Wilson, associate of Alsup during the week of the killing, were on the stand during a good part of the day. The testimony of other witnesses was designed to show that a conspiracy existed, and to show that Alsup was instrumental in persuading Tate to attempt the robbery.

Attorney Fined

As a climax to many heated exchanges between opposing attorneys during the day, Otis Rogers, defense lawyer, was fined $10 for contempt of court late in the afternoon. Rogers had objected to Jesse Martin, Tarrant county district attorney, "smirking and smiling at the jury," and referred to the chief prosecutor as "Death-Penalty Jesse." Reprimanded by the court, Rogers explained that "such remarks are customary at Fort Worth." The fine immediately was imposed.

Boyt, a barber at the time of the robbery of the First State bank of Polytechnic, told of having been engaged by Alsup to drive the two negroes to the bank. Going to the home of Tate, as directed, on Tuesday of that week, he said he was referred by Tate to two other negroes who were going to do the job. They accompanied him, Boyt

Verdict Awaited In Arner's Trial

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 1.—The jury hearing the case of John Arner, on trial for murder in connection with the fatal shooting of J. P. Browning, Ryan city marshal, had not reached a verdict at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The case was placed in the hands of the jury late today after attorneys for both sides had spent the day in pleadings. Testimony was completed late Wednesday.

Arner's plea is self-defense. Browning was shot to death on July 20 last.

East Texas Oil Flow Nears 400,000 Barrels

KILGORE, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Production in the East Texas oil field crept to within 4,000 barrels of the 400,000-barrel mark yesterday.

Reports gathered from operators by Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the East Texas military area, revealed 2,138 wells in the field produced 396,000 barrels.

General Wolters previously predicted the 400,000-barrel mark would be reached by Oct. 5.

He said there were 2,171 wells in the field at 7 a. m. yesterday.

EDISON LOSING

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 1. (US)—The condition of Thomas A. Edison, whose life is reported ebbing at his home was today announced by his physician as "unchanged." Dr. Hubert S. Howe said the distinguished inventor, now 84, had spent a "restless night."

T. F. Hunter To Make Political Decision Soon

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, Oct. 1.—Tom F. Hunter, Wichita Falls attorney and oil man, confirmed reports here that he is contemplating an announcement for governor for next year's campaign. He said he plans to make a definite statement soon in response to encouragement of friends in many sections for his entry into the race.

Effect of the Wichita Falls man's entry into the campaign upon the prospective race of Attorney General James V. Allred, also of Wichita Falls, and of Senator Clint C. Small, Wellington, was the subject of speculative discussion here.

QUINN CASE TO JURY TODAY

Defense Closes Without Use Of Defendant or Wife

NEWKIRK, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—Without introducing the testimony of either Earl Quinn or his blond wife, Jean, the defense rested its case late today in the murder trial of the dapper bootlegger and ex-convict.

Court was adjourned for the day by Judge John S. Burger after he had delivered his instructions. The case will go to the jury late tomorrow after presentation of closing arguments.

The defense case, as presented by Attorney John Mathers, consisted of witnesses attempting to provide an alibi for Quinn, showing he could not have murdered Jessie and Zexia Griffith as the sister school teachers were driving back to their school posts at Norman and Warner after spending the Christmas vacation with their parents.

The killings, most brutal in Oklahoma's criminal history, were committed on a lonely country road near Tonkawa early the morning of Dec. 28, last year.

Testimony in the trial ended at 2:30 p. m.

The defense case, which implicated Amos Griffith, shellshocked brother of the murdered sisters, and James R. Coleman, was void of sensational developments.

Mrs. Pearl Gibson, Coleman's former wife, testified that Coleman and Griffith had been seen together about the time of the double killing. Mrs. Gibson lives in Oklahoma City.

"Coleman went to Tonkawa on Dec. 26, swearing that he intended to kill two Blackwell girls.

"He returned later. His face was scratched."

Mrs. Gibson's testimony substantiated Mathers' theory that the Griffith girls were killed by mistake.

Coleman, Mrs. Gibson said, had sworn to kill the daughters of Milt Harris, wealthy Blackwell oil man, because they figured in an automobile accident last year in which the suspect's stepson was fatally injured. Coleman is believed to be in Hutchinson, Kan.

Mathers presented four alibi witnesses for Quinn, self-admitted rum runner who has served a prison sentence in the Missouri penitentiary. The witnesses were from Kansas towns, Wichita and Wellington. They testified the suspect talked with them early the morning of the killing. So early, the defense contends, that he could not have been in Tonkawa when the school teachers were killed.

At the request of defense counsel, Sheriff Joe Cooper searched the girls' father, Capt. J. F. Griffith of the Blackwell police force, and his son, M. R. Griffith, for weapons. None was found.

Texas Legion Chief Denies Vote for Beer

SWEETWATER, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—V. Earl Earp, state commander of the American Legion, returned from the Detroit convention today to announce that legionnaires did not vote for beer, but merely asked congress for submission of the prohibition question to popular vote.

He said legionnaires voted in favor of a referendum to determine whether a majority of the people desire a change in the present liquor laws. Earp led the Texas delegation in voting against the proposal.

RULES JUGGLED MANY WAYS TO RUSH ACTION

Bill Calls for Board To Direct Development Of Sabine River

IN CONFERENCE TODAY

Both Houses Must Hurry To Enact Plan Before Adjournment

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—The house of the Texas legislature pushed to final passage, after staying in session several hours overtime, a bill to authorize a state board for mineral development to lease or drill the rich bed of the Sabine river in the giant East Texas oil field.

The bill was smothered with amendments and even it sponsors were undecided as to some of its provisions.

The vote was 86 to 22.

All kinds of parliamentary procedure were used to get the bill passed in the house tonight so it could be sent to free conference committee and the differences between the two houses ironed out before the session adjourns sine die at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Senate Passed Bill

Subitted by Gov. Ross S. Sterling in a special message the bill was stifled once when it came under the 24-hour rule while under consideration in the senate Monday night, the legislature having adopted resolutions to adjourn at 6 p. m. Tuesday. It was revived through extension of the session after Governor Sterling threatened to call another special session immediately unless action was taken at this session on the bill. The senate passed it Tuesday.

The bill was introduced in the senate by Senator Geo. C. Purl of Dallas and amended there by Senator Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth. Senator Purl proposed development under the usual one-eighth royalty plan, while Senator Rawlings provided the state could do its own drilling and retain all of the oil if it chose.

Seek 100 Votes

The bill did not receive enough votes in the house to become effective immediately. Sponsors planned a campaign to muster the 100 votes

Haskell Farmer Held in Stabbing

HASKELL, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Jack Walton, 40, of Mexia, was given an even chance to recover from serious knife wounds received in an altercation on the streets here late today. Leonard Banks, Haskell county farmer, is held without bond on a charge of assault to murder in connection with the affray.

Cause of the trouble between the two men was not revealed, officers said.

Walton, a dirt contractor, has been employed in building highways in this section for several months. He was taken to a hospital in Stamford.

Labor Head Promises Fight for Modification

SEATTLE, Oct. 1. (AP)—Definite steps to obtain modification by congress of the prohibition law will be taken, President William H. Green of the American Federation of Labor, said here today, at the 51st annual national convention of the federation in Vancouver, B. C., next week.

Green, on his way to Vancouver said the federation will "emphatically reaffirm" its stand for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol.

Sale of Grapes For Wine-Making Flayed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (US)—President Hoover and his administration were roundly flayed today by Senator Copeland, Democrat of New York, for permitting the federal farm board to finance the sale of California grapes for home wine-making. Copeland said the administration was conniving at an evasion of the dry law which makes a mockery of prohibtion.

Record News Cotton Table

For Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma

Memphis, capital of the great cotton country of Hall county, pushed its daily ginnings above the 400 mark Thursday to displace Frederick, Okla., from third place in the table of total ginnings. Memphis gins turned out 406 bales, but Haskell continued to lead the procession with a total of 4,012 to the 3,402 turned out this season at Memphis. Grandfield and Frederick posted the top prices on cottonseed. The price of cotton continued to show weakness over the section.

SLAYING PLOT RETOLD HERE

Alsup's Alleged Aides On Witness Stand

said, talked with Alsup downtown, and then were taken to within one block of the bank.

On Wednesday, the witness said, Alsup sent him to Tate's house again, where he picked up one negro, Tate telling him the other had backed out. This negro was taken to a point near the bank, after which Boyt said he drove around a while, finally parking near the bank. There, he said, Alsup and Wilson came to his car and told them they had seen nothing of the negro.

"Too Many People Knew"

On Thursday morning, Boyt said, he and Wilson proposed to Alsup that the robbery be abandoned "because too many people knew about it." Wilson was told by Alsup to mind his own business, and Boyt was commanded to go to Tate's house, according to the witness. Boyt said he then delivered the negroes to a point near the bank, and started back to town. About six days later, he said, Alsup told him by telephone that if questioned, he was to disclaim any knowledge of Alsup or Wilson. He said he was arrested later and made a full statement.

Wilson told of living with Alsup just prior to the robbery. Alsup told him on the day of the robbery, he said, that "the next day would be a good day for Wilson to leave, so that if any one wanted to question, he wouldn't be there."

Clarence Watkins, named by Boyt as having made the latter acquainted with Alsup shortly before the shooting, testified that after the bank robbery, Boyt told him "he thought they had killed the niggers, all right."

Hannie Nix, negro merchant close to Tate's home, testified that Alsup paid an evening call upon Tate a few nights before the killing occurred.

W. L. Zint, chief of police at San Angelo in April, 1930, told of being at Alsup's home when Will Vincent, negro, brought the defendant a "tip" on the bank robbery. Alsup declined to report the matter at once to the Fort Worth chief of police, the witness said, explaining that there was slight friction between himself (Alsup) and his superior. Zint said he reported the tip to the police head the next morning, and that officers were detailed at once to guard the Polytechnic bank throughout the day (Tuesday). The witness said that he took Alsup to the bank shortly after noon that day, but after staying about an hour, drove away.

J. W. Swinney, Fort Worth city detective, said he was assigned to watch the bank at the time of the expected robbery, and that while there he met Alsup. Learning that there were three officers on guard there, the witness said, Alsup declared "there won't be anything left for any of us."

Attorneys Squabble

H. H. Wilkinson, president of the Continental National bank of Fort Worth, and of the First State bank of Polytechnic, was examined by the defense. He declared that the officers of the smaller bank had been told by him to join the state bank association. He said he did not know whether or not that bank was a contributor and member of the fund from which rewards are paid for dead bank bandits.

The first serious tilt between Attorneys Rogers and Martin occurred shortly before noon when Rogers referred to Martin as having been formerly an attorney for Alsup. Martin explained to the court that while engaged in private practice he had helped Rogers obtain certain information used by the latter in the former trials of the present defendant. He also declared that Rogers had told him that if he prosecuted Alsup in this case, he (Rogers) would ruin him publicly. Judge Martin forbade any further reference to the matter before the jury.

Examination of witnesses will be resumed Friday morning, it was indicated. Alsup, being tried here by change of venue from Tarrant county, admittedly killed two negroes after an attempt had been made to rob the Polytechnic bank. The state contends that he formed a conspiracy to bring about the robbery. He was acquitted on a charge of murder in the case of the first negro. One trial in the second case resulted in a hung jury. A second trial produced a conviction and 25-year sentence, but the verdict was reversed and remanded last summer.

Rogers is assisted by Leo Brewster and Garland Flowers of Fort Worth. Mr. Martin has the aid of W. L. Parker, assistant district attorney in Tarrant county, and District Attorney Sam B. Spence of Wichita county.

Mrs. Collings Leaves for Florida To View Two Yacht Murder Suspects

By DOROTHY ROE
Universal Service Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Mrs. Benjamin P. Collings left tonight for Daytona, Fla., to face Dr. Leslie D. Ritchie, eccentric Norwalk veterinary, and his son, William, 24, who are being held there for investigation, to determine whether they are the two men who bound and hurled her husband into the sound from his yacht the night of Sept. 9 and then kidnaped her in a canoe, subjecting her to strange indignities.

Accompanied by Assistant District Attorney Munder of Suffolk county, Mrs. Collings came to New York from her home in Stamford tonight to study additional pictures of the doctor and his son. Earlier in the day she failed to identify two photographs of the pair but said she would like to see more photos of them.

Views Photos

A score or more photographs were laid before her tonight in the Hotel Biltmore and she studied them. The decision was suddenly made to proceed at once to Daytona. Assistant District Attorney Munder and Attorney William Kelley accompanied her.

Just before leaving for Florida at 10:15 tonight Mrs. Collings said:

"After carefully studying the photographs of the Ritchies shown to me for hours I cannot say positively that they are or that they are not the men I saw on that dreadful night. In order to avoid any mistake and to avert any criticism I decided to make the trip to Daytona beach and confront the Ritchies face to face.

"I am inclined to believe, however, that they are not the men. I shall know when I see them."

Trip Suggested

As Mrs. Collings went over the photographs, a score of which were laid before her, investigators expressed the possibility that the party might proceed at once to Daytona where she could face the two men.

"I would like to see more pictures of these men," Mrs. Collings had said earlier. "I cannot say that this picture (Dr. Ritchie) is the man I saw on the night of Sept. 9, and I cannot say that it is not.

"The younger man's picture resembles the type represented by the younger of the two who kidnaped me that night, but I saw the older man better."

Pair in Denial

In the meantime, the veterinarian and his son were indignantly denying all knowledge of the Collings murder, under grilling by Florida officials.

Both, however, admitted knowing William Smith, a garage worker of South Norwalk, Conn., whose body was washed up on the beach last Tuesday. He is thought to be the "wounded man" who was in the canoe with the two murderers of Benjamin Collings, and for whom they are alleged to have asked aid when they boarded the Penguin.

The Ritchies denied any knowledge of how Smith met his death. Both also professed to have alibis for the night that Collings was slain.

In sudden contradiction of the alibi of Dr. Ritchie, appeared Arnold Tetro, confessed sweetheart of the veterinarian's wife, who said he was at the Ritchie home on the night of Sept. 9, keeping a rendezvous with Mrs. Ritchie, and that her husband was not there, as he had said.

It was the admitted connection between the Ritchies and William Smith that galvanized authorities into action.

Drouth Workers To Hold Picnic at Roaring Springs

LUBBOCK, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Nurses and sanitarians of West Texas, who are employed by the state department of health in cooperation with the federal government in drouth relief work, are planning a picnic at Roaring Springs in Motley county between Dickens and Matador, Oct. 10.

The health workers will have a combination picnic and conference. Dr. H. N. Barnett, in charge of the work, will be the principal speaker. Others will include Dr. D. C. Peterson, physician with the state mobile unit; E. D. Hopkins, sanitarian with the unit, and Miss Olga Buesch, head of the nurses.

Miss Dorothy Wantland, Floydada, head of the nursing work in that district, and B. C. Ruthven, sanitarian, are in charge of two committees, Miss Wantland in charge of entertainment and Ruthven in charge of the food.

The party will spend the night at the camp. About 30 health department workers are expected.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (US)—The federal farm board will grind some of its surplus wheat into flour for the benefit of the unemployed if congress will authorize it, James C. Stone, chairman of the board said today.

HOUSE PASSES DRILLING BILL

Free Conference to Revise Oil Measure

to make it effective immediately when the free conference report was brought up for adoption.

Amendments were proposed with abandon approximately 100 efforts being made to change the bill's provisions. Only a few were successful.

The bill would permit a board composed of the governor, chairman of the railroad commission and land commissioner to lease or drill the beds of all state-owned rivers for oil and gas development. It also would permit the board to enter into an agreement with adjoining property owners whereby the state would receive a royalty and bonus on production on adjacent leases without drilling or leasing the river bed.

The only river that would be affected by the bill at present is the Sabine. It was estimated the state could reclaim 20,000,000 barrels of oil under the river bed.

Start "New Day"

Failing to get enough votes to suspend the constitutional rule to permit the bill to be engrossed, the house adjourned at 6:03 p. m. until 6:04 to start a new legislative day. The body, operating under call a major portion of the afternoon, again was ordered locked in until the bill was passed.

As soon as the house adjourned, members made a rush for the door. Attempts of doorkeepers to stop them were futile and several got away before a call could be placed on the second legislative day. Sergeants at arms spent several minutes searching hotels and boarding houses for absentees.

Several amendments aimed at safeguarding the river from pollution were adopted and the board was specifically instructed not to lease where there was any danger of pollution.

The bill was vigorously opposed by members of the East Texas delegation on contention it would pollute the water supply of Longview and other cities.

The bill probably will be entirely re-written in free conference.

An amendment was added to the bill making all state highway rights of way owned in fee by the state and the beds of all railroads, the mineral rights of which were reserved to the state, subject to its provisions.

Under the bill only river beds in proven territory would be subject to development. This provision was inserted to prevent wildcatting.

Fifty thousand dollars was appropriated out of the general revenue fund to defray expenses of drilling in event the state was unable to lease advantageously or to make a profitable royalty and bonus agreement with adjoining owners.

Several attempts were made to amend the bill to make the state liable for personal and property damage and giving persons or companies damaged the right to sue the state without further legislative sanction. They were defeated as was an amendment requiring leases of the river bed to post bond to protect against damage.

MISSISSIPPI VOTES ON COTTON PLAN

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 1. (AP)—The Mississippi senate early tonight adopted the Texas cotton acreage limitation plan as embodied in the Roberts-Sillers bill by a vote of 39 to 7.

The measure was immediately sent to the house for consideration.

Under the bill cotton acreage in Mississippi during 1932 and 1933 will be restricted to 30 per cent of land in cultivation in 1931.

When the measure reaches the house it will find opposition from supporters of an alternative plan introduced by Representative Lawrence Kennedy, and similar in practically all respects to the Long cotton prohibition plan of Louisiana.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action. Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.—Adv.

SKYSCRAPER OF '84 PASSES

First 'Cloud Scratcher' in World Torn Down

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (UP)—The world's first skyscraper has started to crumble under wreckers' pick-axes.

It was erected, this father of all the towering office buildings, on the corner of Monroe and La Salle streets in 1884, a few years after Empress Eugenie invented her celebrated hat.

William le Baron Jenny, famous architect long dead, designed the skeleton framework of the building, which took the weight of the walls and made it possible for later architects to send buildings soaring safely to almost unlimited heights.

Bigger Building Planned

For 47 years Jenney's skyscraper served as the Home Insurance building, while battles both hilarious and caustic raged over it, until finally the wreckers invaded its brown stone walls to make way for the 42-story field building, which will be Chicago's largest office structure.

"No matter what Easterners may say, the Home Insurance building was the first real skyscraper ever built," said W. B. Mundie, last surviving member of Jenney's architectural firm.

Gray was Mundie's hair and stooped his shoulders, but his eyes were bright and his ire was great over what he said was New York's attempt to steal credit for the skyscraper.

"These New Yorkers came out to see Jenney's skyscraper," explained Mundie. "Then hurried home and built some skyscrapers of their own. The first thing you know New York was taking credit for the skyscraper. It was a great fight while it lasted, but it is definitely settled now that Chicago is the home of the skyscraper."

An Earlier Fight

Another fight almost made skyscrapers against the law.

When the good burghers of Chicago saw Jenney's building starting to tower to the dizzy height of 10 stories, they became alarmed, decided that it probably would tumble of its own weight, cause a catastrophe, kill every one silly enough to enter it.

They obtained a court order, prohibiting Jenney from endangering the lives of the citizenry with his new-fangled cloud-scratcher. He had to prove to the satisfaction of the court that his building was strong enough to withstand Lake Michigan's winds and not topple over on the one horse shays which used to clatter down La Salle street, the Bourse of the Middle West.

The court rescinded the order and Jenney went on with his skyscraper although the more cautious inhabitants of the town walked on the other side of the street from it for safety's sake.

When the building reached its sixth floor, Jenney learned that the Carnegie-Phipps Steel company of Pittsburgh had started to roll history's first Bessemer steel beams. He ordered them included from the sixth to the top floor. His skyscraper thus became the first structure to incorporate Bessemer steel, another exceedingly important contribution to the building industry.

Bright Spots Of Depression

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—Net profits of Continental Can company in the first eight months of 1931 was equivalent to the full year's dividend requirements, O. C. Ruffman, president, said.

DETROIT.—Buck Motor company division of General Motors will resume operations Oct. 5 on a 5-day week basis after shutdown for the month of September.

NEW YORK.—Theater grosses in 28 leading cities for week-end of Sept. 24-25 totaled $2,392,313, an increase of $73,788 over the preceding week-end and the largest gain since last spring, according to motion picture daily.

CHICAGO.—Institute of American Meat Packers reported better demand for pork and beef products during September.

WASHINGTON.—Oil in storage declined 15,987,000 barrels in August, against 3,415,000-barrel drop in July, according to U. S. bureau of mines.

DETROIT.—Chrysler corporation retail sales during August were 75 per cent ahead of August, 1930, Walter P. Chrysler, president, said.

DETROIT.—Net profit of Kelvinator corporation for the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1931, will be larger than that of either 1930 or 1929, officials said.

DALLAS.—Quarterly dividends of seven banks today placed $467,500 in circulation here. The republic paid at the rate of 15 per cent annually and two others paid at the rate of 12 per cent.

FORT WORTH.—Though September had fewer banking days than August, clearings here were $1,948,574 more than during the previous month.

Forty-two Indicted in Pennsylvania Riots

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1. (UP)—Forty-two persons, including two women, were indicted today on riot charges in connection with the first fatal disorder in the Western Pennsylvania bituminous strike, in Wildwood, Pa., last June 22.

Those indicted included Thomas Meyerscough, organizer of the National Miners union, alleged to have led the strikers. No action has been taken against Meyerscough and Deputy Sheriff Herbert Reel, who were held for manslaughter by a coroners jury in connection with the disorder.

Writers Program Given By Guests From Other Towns

In the opening autumn meeting of the writers department of the Woman's Forum held Thursday noon at the clubhouse, the program arranged by Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta, chairman of out-of-town writers, was one of the most entertaining ever given in the department. Winners of district and state prizes and the winner of the annual Poetry Society of Texas book contest were among contributors to the program.

Rev. Pat Moreland gave the invocation and Mrs. M. T. Clements, chairman of the department opened the meeting with announcement of the one-act- play contest, manuscripts for which must be turned in by Nov. 15 with names enclosed in sealed envelopes. Following the announcement, she made a graceful little talk presenting the out of town chairman, Mrs. St. Andrew Myers, of Henrietta.

Mrs. Myers introduced her chairmen including Mrs. F. O. Moore of Henrietta, Mrs. Paul Donald of Bowie, Mrs. J. D. Bright of Electra, and Miss Nancy McChesney of Olney. In turn each chairman introduced the ladies to give numbers from her city. Mesdames Thomas Green and Philo Boddy of Henrietta, Mrs. E. M. Stallings of Bowie, Mrs. Jodie Smith of Electra and Miss Nancy McChesney and Mrs. O. H. Anderson of Olney presented a group of clever and interesting poems.

Prize Winners

Rev. Patrick Moreland of Archer City, winner of the Poetry Society contest, whose book will be published this autumn, was next presented and read four charming poems expressing beautiful and a humorous sentiment. F. C. McClung who was his guest, read for him "Samson," a very dramatic composition, magnificently given.

Mrs. R. R. Darrah of Arlington was presented by Mrs. Myers and introduced Mesdames E. E. Davis and W. Chamberlin. Mrs. Chamberlin read a group of her pretty verses including the one which was winner in the first district last year and Mrs. Davis gave two state prize winning numbers, one a poem and the other a short story. Real talent was marked in both guests from Arlington.

Pretty Setting

The dining room, with Mrs. J. Truman Stvens in charge of the decorations was very beautiful. Tall baskets and bowls of flowers were on the mantel, piano and round the room; the table had beautful bowls of lovely flowers spaced with exquisite taste. Pink and red radiance roses, purple ageratum, crepe myrtle, goldenrod and other wild flowers were used.

A delicious luncheon was served and the hostess Miss Ruth Kirksey announced that the McCarty Coffee company had sent the coffee in compliment to the guests.

Covers were alid for Mesdames Paul Donald and E. M. Stallings, Bowie; Misses Minnie L. Hudspeth and Nancy McChesney and Mrs. O. T. Anderson of Olney; Mesdames F. P. Hodge, J. D. Bright and Jodie Smith, Electra; Mesdames R. R. Darrah, E. E. Davis and W. Chamberlin of Arlington; Mesdames St. Andrew Myers, F. O. Moore, L. E. Dickerson, P. H. Boddy, Lewis Ikard, W. J. Glasgow, Billy Myers, Tom J. Green, Lillie S. Graves and George Cunningham, Henrietta; Rev. Pat D. Moreland, Archer City; F. C. McClung and Mesdames P. L. Myers, M. Shain, J. D. Parnell, James P. Bowen, Houston Rogers, George Fox. J. L. Elkins, O. P. Marcle, Marvin Smith, J. E. H. Railey, P. P. Langford, Ben G. Oneal, M. T. Clements, Faye Yauger, Dick Davis, Sam Kruger, John L. Gibbs, Dr. Maude Lindsay, Mrs. W. D. Maddrey and her guest, Mrs. W. B. Pickens of Eastland, G. D. Anderson, W. M. Cason, Otis Nelson, Newton Maer, Thomas H. Peery and Miss Marguerite Peery.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Having in the past few days heard a number of women's voices, I have come to the conclusion that every person, male and female, should have voice training—at some time in his or her life.

And it might be a good thing if women would learn the use of periods and commas. There are voices that remind one of Tennyson's brook that "goes on and on forever," without even halting at a little hill of a comma or acknowledging the period of the river into which it flows.

Then syllables are nice things to recognize. Americans are not English and its either ignorance or affectation that practices dropping syllables.

It may be because I have a voice that cannot make itself heard above others that I so dislike loud and blatant voices. A sweet toned, clear and resonant voice is almost as beautiful to me as charming singing voices. Almost, I said—not quite. I do not believe that Heaven is a place of eternal harp playing and hymn singing or I would not want to go there. But melody in songs makes my spinal column chill, which is my only way of recognizing things that are really beautiful.

I can remember voices that would be terrible drawbacks to Heaven if one should meet them there. An old man who sang through his nose; a girl who sang at the top of her voice; singers whose brows rise with their voices. For myself, I do not believe there should be things in heaven that would make others nervous, and it may be that the desire to make noises they call song, will be gently taken from such people by death.

There'll be roses without thorns in Heaven and goldenrod without hay fever. I am not endeavoring to start any new creed or doctrine; merely speaking for one lone woman.

Tastes are not akin on earth between all the really good people; but perhaps tastes will be tuned up and down until there will be no clash in that other land.

People will not snore nor will they click chewing gum; if they chew tobacco, they will go far into some secluded meadow to do so. Women will not grow fat so they will not be obliged to reduce; men will sit and angle whenever they wish at some of Heaven's silver streams and the fish will come out all ready for a frying pan. Umph, it makes me hungry; fresh fried perch and hot corn muffins and hot black coffee.

I mean no sacrilege; I only sit and think of those things which I do not find on earth, and picture them in another, more pleasant land.

MAKE THIS MODEL AT HOME
For Sizes 38 to 48
Pattern 2161

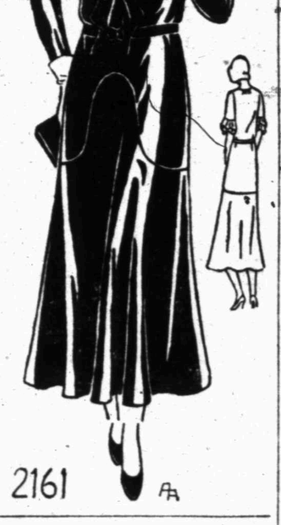

By ANNE ADAMS

This smart daytime dress is destined to slenderize, and give soft, youthful lines to your figure. The draped bodice with chic tie ends and the high narrow curve of the skirt seam, do wonders with the woman who is not so slim. There are two sleeve flares which may be used with short sleeves as in the back view, or may be added to the long ones. Satin or canton crepe are suitable fabrics.

Pattern 2161 may be ordered only in sizes 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 38 requires 4½ yards of 39-inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

The new fall catalog is now ready. It features the newest in afternoon, sports and house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes. Also delightful gift suggestions in accessory and transfer patterns. Price of catalog, fifteen cents. Catalog with pattern, twenty-five cents. Address all mail and orders to The Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

Still Life Pictures May Be Made By Flower Selections

By BERTHA M'KEE DOBIE

With the development of home-landscaping in America, we have come to feel that having flowers, even bringing them to perfection, is not enough. If they are to result in that ordered structure called a garden, they must be so arranged that totally, as well as individually, they delight the eye. This principle involves both the laying out of beds and borders and the arrangement of plants within them. Four considerations are essential to choosing and arranging plants so that during their season of bloom they will present a picture comparable in the pleasure they give to a still life painting, which pleases through its composition and its coloring. These considerations are color harmony, time of blooming, relative heights and similarity in character of flower and foliage. This last point is difficult to express definitely, but it has to do with the refinement of flowers. The beauty of some flowers inheres in graceful carriage, in the half-transparency of petals, in smoothness of foliage, in delicacy. Other flowers, though coarse and rampant vagabonds, may give us pleasure for the abundance of color they afford; they, too, have their place, but it is not the company of the aristocrats among flowers. Gaillardias and iris do not belong together.

How far we are to go in making patterns with flowers for material is a matter of personal taste. However, while there is undoubtedly room on large grounds for the garden that by its geometric designs and exact arrangements appeals to the intellect as well as to the sense, for the average garden the best arrangements are those that, like the best housekeeping, are neither wanting nor obtrusive.

A good deal has been said in favor of the garden that is "a riot of color." But the human spirit does not find its rest in riots. The yard that I most often drove by to see last spring showed red poppies in little clumps above green grass and against green foliage. Beyond was a white house.

Shaded Flower Gardens

One way of avoiding color clashes is to build up an entire garden

Recent Bride Is Honored At Surprise Party

Mrs. Nelson McCord entertained at her home on the Iowa Park road Wednesday evening with a surprise miscellaneous shower for Mrs. Virgil Lillard, who before her marriage was Miss Vaudia Hughes.

A color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the beautiful pink flowers that decorated the home. The same motif was observed in the game accessories. In the games, prizes were awarded to Mesdames M. Holt and R. E. Fouts who in turn presented them to the honor guest.

A dainty refreshment plate was served to the honoree, Mrs. Lillard and to Mesdames D. O. Horn, Perry McDonnell, M. H. Moberry, R. E. Fouts, W. M. Crossland, G. H. Lillard, W. R. Moore, E. M. McCord, Hattie Hickey, Clarence Moore, W. W. McReynolds, Jessie Hughes, M. Holt; Misses Ala Johnson, Warren Hughes, Aline Holt, Lorene Moore, Etoy Hughes, Wanda Hughes, Athena Hughes and the hostess, Mrs. McCord.

City View Club Will Install Officers

Members of the City View Demonstration club will meet with Mrs. Carl Riley Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, it has been announced.

Officers will be installed for the new year and plans for the exhibit at the Iowa Park fair will be discussed. Members are urged to be present.

Waurika Courthouse Construction Begins

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Okla., Oct. 1.—Work on the new Jefferson county courthouse has started. The stakes for the foundation are in place and materials and machinery are being unloaded on the grounds.

The building is to be of buff brick and concrete. It will be four stories high and will provide ample office space for all county officers as well as a jail and a district court room.

The building, which is to cost approximately $43,000, is located at the north end of Main street. The money for the building has been accumulating for several years and the county commissioners decided that with materials and labor as cheap as they are now, that the money on hand would be sufficient to provide a courthouse sufficient for the needs of Jefferson county.

Water Closed Off in Irrigation Ditches

All ditches comprising the Lake Kemp irrigation system will be dry within a short time following the shutting off of water Thursday morning in compliance with an order issued several days ago by G. A. Remington, general manager.

The growing season is over throughout the irrigated district, Mr. Remington said, with the exception of some gardens near this city. The canal from Lake Wichita still will be supplied with water, he said, so that users in this immediate vicinity may obtain garden water.

Mrs. Ruehl New President Woman's Golf Association.

Mrs. C. D. Whitley was winner in finishing the nine-hole handicap tournament for the Bailey-Moline trophy at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Thursday morning and Mrs. Harold Ruehl was runner-up. Mrs. W. P. Bolding won the consolation and Mrs. E. Garonzink was runner-up. Mrs. H. P. Ledford won the low score ball.

Members of the Woman's Golf association qualified Thursday afternoon for the 18-hole handicap tournament for Mrs. John L. Waggoner's trophy.

Mrs. Paul Oles was assistant hostess at luncheon and the table was beautiful with a great bowl of ageratum and pink roses, which were presented to Mrs. W. S. Abbott, outgoing president, at the close of the luncheon.

Mrs. Harold Ruehl was elected president for the next year; Mrs. R. L. Hargrave, vice president; Mrs. H. P. Ledford, treasurer; Mrs. B. K. Booth, secretary; Mrs. R. R. Fisk was named chairman of the tournament committee and Mesdames Earl Stilley, Paul Oles and Bailey Collins the entertainment committee with Mrs. Stilley chairman. Mrs. Jess C. Ward was named assistant hostess for the next luncheon.

Covers were laid for Mesdames W. S. Abbott, B. K. Booth, Oral Jones, Luke McCrory, J. E. McKanna, John L. Waggoner, Fred Couper, Paul Oles, Bailey Collins, Geo. D. Keith Jr., C. D. Whitley, J. R. After 40, Bowel Trouble is Most Dangerous

CONSTIPATION may easily become chronic after forty. Continued constipation at that time of life is productive of piles—and a host of other disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. When they need help, a doctor knows what is best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin," is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other mild, harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Next time, take a spoonful of this family doctor's laxative. See how good it tastes; how gently and thoroughly it acts. All drugstores.

Protect your husband's digestion

Don't load pie-crust with indigestible fat

Perhaps your husband just loves pie—but he may think that pie crust doesn't agree with him. Then examine your shortening to see if it's to blame.

Smell your shortening. Taste it. Is it strong-smelling or stale-tasting? Then it may be starting to turn rancid. Many pail fats start to turn rancid the minute they're exposed to air. Ask yourself, "Do I want to risk my family's digestion with foods made with such a fat?"

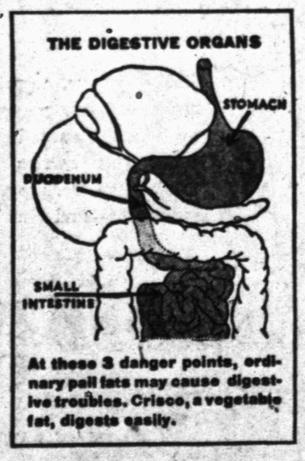

Then open a sanitary can of Crisco. Smell Crisco—taste it—you'll find that Crisco is as sweet and fresh as new-churned butter.

Crisco's own secret process keeps every spoonful in the can fresh and sweet!

Isn't it reasonable to believe that a sweet, fresh-tasting shortening will digest easily? Crisco does digest easily. It is a vegetable shortening.

Try delicious Banana Fluff Pie on your husband tonight. A Crisco pie-crust tastes so flaky and sweet that he'll probably ask for a second piece—and eat it safely!

At these 3 danger points, ordinary pail fats may cause digestive troubles. Crisco, a vegetable fat, digests easily.

BANANA FLUFF PIE

CRISCO PIE-CRUST
1⅓ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons cold water
⅓ CUP CRISCO

Sift flour and salt together. Now cut in your Crisco. For a really digestible pie-crust, avoid a strong-tasting, tallowy fat. Crisco, you'll find, is sweet, wholesome and digestible because it's a vegetable fat. Cut in the Crisco with two knives until the size of small peas. Add only enough water to hold mixture together. Roll ½ inch thick on floured board, cover inverted pie plate evenly. Leave enough dough to fold under to make a firm edge. Prick well with fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 minutes.

BANANA FILLING:
2 ripe bananas
1 cup granulated sugar
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon almond extract
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream

Mash bananas through a ricer, if you have one—or through a sieve if you haven't. Add the sugar, salt and unbeaten egg whites. Beat the whole mixture together until it is stiff and frothy. Add flavorings and fill baked Crisco pie-shell. Bake at 370° F. for 20 minutes. When the pie is done, chill it and spread the top with whipped cream. The colder this pie is, the more luscious it tastes.

Why does CRISCO digest easily? It is a Pure Vegetable Fat

Foliage as Well As Flower Must Feature Gardens

in shades of a single color. The flowers may range from flesh pink to rose, with white for relief; from lavender and orchid to deepest violet. Articles have been written on the blue garden, which, however, is monotonous without a dash of gold. The most successful of these single color ranges comprises cream, yellow, gold and orange; and even it profits by an excursion into scarlet. While the use of one color is safest, as in decorating a room so that it is always referred to as "the blue room" or "the rose room," the use of several harmonizing coolrs satisfies longer. For all but the smallest yard, a series of vignettes, rather than a single picture, is the aim. The combinations that follow are a small number of the combinations practicable in Texas, and are intended to be merely suggestive. Times of blooming are taken from a record kept for two years at Austin. For northern and southern portions of the state a little shifting is necessary.

Lavender and yellow combine excellently, as any one who has noticed the yellow buds and lavender blooms of stock on a single stem will agree. For March the lavender Giant Imperial, or improved Brompton stock may be edged with the pale yellow alyssum sold under the name Silver Queen, and accompanied with daffodils. For the northern part of the state, lilacs with late daffodils or ranunculus—the true buttercup—at their base make a pleasing spring picture. Lavender perennial creeping phlox backed by Iceland poppies in yellow and gold, their wiry stems rising eighteen inches above the basal leaves, are beautiful together in April. The Iceland poppy, though a perennial, has died out for me in summer heat. However, it blooms the first year from seed planted in the fall. A rather elaborate but easily achieved midsummer border might have lavender dahlias for background, with pale yellow zinnias of the flat sort and lavender perennial phlox for mid-space and yellow and cream portulaca for edging.

Suggested Colors

More commonly yellow is used with blue. Some simple suggestions are huisache trees and blue-eyed grass of an intense shade carpeting the ground underneath them; ranunculus and grape hyacinth in March; in April, Spanish iris grouped informally with Iceland poppies to the foreground, mostly yellow but now and then an orange one for accent; blue annual larkspur with calendulas; California poppies and dark blue larkspur; blue sage and coreopsis from June on; day lilies and blue gentians in midsummer; blue sage edged irregularly with yellow portulaca having a touch of scarlet at the base of the petals. A varied blue and yellow border for April might use Harrison's yellow rose for background, and yellow columbine, blue columbine, and Belladonna delphinium stepping down to yellow Iceland poppies and a border of Chinese forget-me-not. There is no end to the delightful combinations that present themselves.

Excellent effects are achieved very simply by the combination of pink and white. The orchid-pink variety of the perennial phlox Miss Lingard, known as The Queen, is suggested by an eastern firm for planting with pink and white foxglove. Foxglove is a biennial and must live through a summer before it blooms. Some plants in my garden have survived this summer and may be confidently expected to bloom next year. Rosy Morn petunias combined with white sweet alyssum make a pretty bed for summer. A combination for October that I hae never seen but can imagine with pleasure would consist of pink and white Japanese anemones and Lilium speciosum, with the rosy native Ionoxalis for border. Shrubs and annuals are often combined for effect. Philadelphus virginal can be very lovely in April with pink and rose snapdragons close by.

One of the most beautiful gardens I have seen had for its late April bloom roses and iris. Tall hybrid-perpetual pink roses of free-branching habit and pale or mid-blue iris are very fine together. Perennial pink phlox, pentstemon of the cultivated varieties, and the Texas bluebell, backed by pink dahlias and faced by Chabaud's carnations in white, pink and pale yellow are a good combination for summer bloom.

Renewed Spring

There is no fresher way to experience spring than by looking upon dainty pink almond blooms arising from pink, blue and white hyacinths. Perennial candytuft is a good edging for hydrangeas planted against the house. Pink and white Japanese anemones and large blue hardy asters, or Michaelmas daisies, repeat these colorings in October. Pink flowered perennial pentstemon placed below a vine of Clematis paniculata and faced down with Chabaud's carnations, make an August picture. Queen's crown, not allowed to grow thickly and intermingled with silver lace vine, Polygonum aubertii, blooms becomingly above plumbago. A late spring border may include pink hollyhocks, pink and blue Canterbury bells, pink and white and blue and white columbine—the stamens of which introduce just enough yellow—and pink candytuft of the umbellata type for an edging.

Yellow and pink mingle well only if the shades are not intense. Pink, rose, yellow and white snapdragon are most pleasing in combination. Daffodils and a few spikes of pink stock set off a white flowering peach in March, and in the same month the early Lady Banksia roses may well bloom above pink—not the red or flame—Japanese quince.

Pink, orchid, mauve and lavender blend so graciously that one shade seems to flow into the other. Lavender iris, pink columbine, pink Canterbury bells, late lavender stock—Beauty of Nice is later than Giant Imperial—and light pink verbena are suggestions for an April-May arrangement. For a corner that will bloom with little care pink and lavender sumer cosmos, with Achilleum millefolium roseum in front, is good. Ahoilea is a perennial and cosmos reseeds itself profusely.

The most vivid of the spectrum's hues is the most difficult to combine with other colors. For this reason red is left altogether out of many gardens. Yet it is a pity to miss so much cheerful gaiety. Red standing cypress blooming behind daisies gives me pleasure every June. White lilacs with red tulips are a striking combination for the northern part of the state. Red blossoms are beautiful against gray foliage; salvia against artemisia, geraniums against dusty miller. Red poppies are often combined pleasingly with blue spring flowers, such as bluebonnets, larkspur and cornflowers. Two or three scarlet poppies enliven a mass of pale blue campanula. When a pale and an intense color are used together, the intense color should be used sparingly. When all is said, the fact remains that red is not gregarious.

Second Agua Caliente Planned at Monterrey

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—Plans for building a casino and tourist resort at Monterrey, modeled after the resort at Agua Caliente, were being prepared today by James M. Crofton, president of the Agua Caliente Jockey club.

Work on a 200-room hotel, casino and golf course will be started within 10 days at Topo Chico, just outside Monterrey, it was announced. The hotel will be one of a string Mr. Crofton plans to build in Mexico at an expenditures of several million dollars.

Three New Members In Electra Pep Club

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—Mirian Ancell, Mary Edna Tinnin and Merle Richardson were the new members admitted into the "Red Peppers," the Electra High school pep club, Wednesday. Rosemary Magee is president and yell leader; Carrie Mae Dees is secretary, and Katherine Sheridan and Catherine McClure are assistant yell leaders.

The high school has one of the peppiest pep squads in this part of the state. Miss Ethel Varnell, head of the girls physical education department, is sponsor of the club.

Ira Adler Voted Penalty of Death

WATONGA, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—Ira J. Adler, sentenced to die in the electric chair at the McAlester state penitentiary on a murder conviction, today awaited formal announcement of his death sentence.

Adler was found guilty of murder by a Blaine county district court jury late yesterday.

He was convicted in the slaying of his brother-in-law Tom McDonald, and his brother-in-law's wife, Mrs. Nora McDonald.

The verdict came one year to the day after the crime.

Adler was tried by two juries. The first judged him sane after his attorney, State Senator W. P. Morrison of El Reno had entered a plea of insanity. The second found Adler guilty of the crime. Blaine County Attorney Ted Fisher was assisted in the prosecution by Assistant State Attorney General Sam Lattimore.

Oklahoma's Foremost 4-H Member Selected

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (UP)—Aaron Murray of Kildare, was selected today as Oklahoma's most outstanding member of 4-H clubs.

He will be presented a $200 scholarship to Oklahoma A. & M. college and a $50 trophy tonight at the annual state fair here. The distinction of representing the state in the International Livestock exhibition at Chicago also goes with the award.

Glory of Autumn

IT IS a little bit odd that spring is generally supposed to be more of a hopeful, restless and unsettling sort of season than autumn.

Nobody expects much of fall. It is a collection of melancholy days, it abounds with chilly rains and raw winds, and it has a funereal overtone that sets poets and other sensitive people beating their breasts. Spring, on the other hand—then the young men see visions and the old men dream dreams, and each man wants to leave the place where he is and go places where he has not been.

That, at any rate, is the tradition. But it doesn't jibe with the facts. Autumn has been frightfully maligned. It is time justice was done. In most parts of the country, autumn provides the nicest weather of the whole year. Furthermore—since our moods depend so greatly on what the sun and wind and sky do to us—it is a time for visions and dreams, for the birth of new hopes and the revival of old ones; a season, in fact, which does most of the things spring is supposed to do much better than spring actually does them.

To be sure, autumn brings death and decay. But it works with greater artistry than spring, for it clothes all in the beauty of flaming woodland and misty field that is breath-taking; it reconciles us to them, it bemuses us and persuades us—as supremely great artists do—that death and decay are only preliminaries to a rebirth.

Its hazy air, too, carries a breath of vagabondage. A morning in May can incite one to truancy; but an October afternoon, when the corn-shocks stand in uneven rows like the tepees of an Indian encampment on a rolling field, is the time when the Red gods are really astir. For then one perceives that the road to the end of the earth starts wherever one's feet happen to be, and there is apt to be just enough of a nip in the wind to delude a man into thinking he can walk as far as the spirit moves him.

And suppose that we are too mundane to be stirred by such fanciful things? Well, in the mere matter of material comfort fall offers more than spring. Spring gets you ready for warm weather and then sprinkles snow on you. The "spring cold" is proverbial, and the bright days have an icy sting underneath the sunshine. Autumn is more honest. You expect the worst—and, very often, you get the best.

The old tradition needs revising. Autumn, once you get to understand it, is the best time of all the year.

Wells and Mencken

H. G. WELLS, the British author, tells a United Press correspondent, that if he were a world dictator he would abolish war, establish an international peace council and an economic council, to formulate a 20-year plan for the organization of the world's production and distribution. He would not immediately squash down all the tariff walls but at the end of 20 years he would not have a customs house left in the world.

Man has long dreamed of an Utopia of universal peace and contentment. But few have been bold enough to suggest a plan and fewer still of these have been in any position to put into effect any of the plans they believed would bring about such a state. Individuals and states are influenced by practical considerations which seem to preclude bold action to accomplish an ideal. Too much opposition would be encountered from those who would have to give up something to attain such an end and government and politics being what they are such an Utopia must be approached by halting steps, if approached at all.

Wells assumes the role of a world dictator. In such an imaginary situation he is safe to dream and plan.

H. L. Mencken, American iconoclast, says that if he were world dictator his first and only act would be to bring back five-cent beer—a big glass—at least a quart.

As dictator he wouldn't want to get ahead of the people.

Protecting Our Criminals

THE New York detective who told the legislative investigating committee the other day that the police have been "protecting" a known murderer for five years may have provided a sensational item for the reading public, but his assertion was neither shocking nor incredible to any student of metropolitan affairs.

In all of the great cities of the land the tie-up between the underworld and politics is close. Influence of one kind and another keeps out of jail enough thugs to stock a good-sized penitentiary. The most notorious crook in town may be the man who enjoys the most influence with the law-enforcing machinery.

The dismaying thing, of course, is not this particular story about the protected murderer in New York; it is the fact that the story could not come as a surprise to any one familiar with American city life.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE EXPRESSION QUIZ IS THE RESULT OF A WAGER—"Quiz" and all its derivatives originated in a joke. Richard Daly, a famous Irish character of Dublin, Ireland, and an inveterate bettor, wagered that he would within 24 hours introduce a meaningless new word into the English language. The four letters quiz were then chalked and posted on every wall in Dublin and Daly won his bet. He was, at the time, the manager of the Theater Royal in Dublin, 1789.

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Nollie Day, young and pretty, goes to New York for a career. After searching in vain for a position, she faints on the street. She regains consciousness in a suspicious looking house owned by a woman called "Daffy." Nollie flees in terror when one of Daffy's "friends" make advances. Later, she obtains a position as public stenographer in a high class hotel where she meets Mrs Virginia Judson, a wealthy widow. Nollie substitutes for Mrs. Judson at a theater party. Mr. Hiram, with whom Mrs. Judson had the appointment, sends young and handsome Tony O'Brien in his stead. Nollie tries to explain she is not Mrs. Judson but Tony does not hear her. After a happy evening together, Tony tells Nollie he will telephone her next day.

It dawns upon Nollie that Tony will call Mrs. Judson. Later in the evening, she had not revealed her identity as she feared it would break the spell if he knew she were not the fashionable widow. Next day, the telephone operator has a difficult time convincing Tony Mrs. Judson has sailed for Europe.

Nollie sees Tony in the hotel, but before she can reach him, he disappears. Nollie thinks Tony did not recognize her because he believes her an imposter. She takes a new position as secretary to Jack Brilling of Galbraith & Co.

Nollie's thoughts are all of Tony. One night, after working late, Brilling invites her to dinner.

Next day, Miss Galbraith enters the office, glares at Nollie, and tells her she is engaged to Brilling.

Jealous, she warns Nollie against overstepping. Later, Nollie, working late, is surprised when Brilling returns to the office.

CHAPTER XVIII

Nollie was embarrassed at this sudden appearance of her chief, Mr. Brilling.

The conversation with his fiancee the other day had annoyed and upset her. It was foolish to be disturbed, of course. Yet wasn't Miss Galbraith the daughter of the head of the firm?

She had some power, then, in the place. And were she to become more jealous and suspicious still, Nollie would doubtless lose her position.

This had been already hinted by the woman.

"What beasts some women are!" thought Nollie. She had felt sorry for Mr. Brilling.

She had thought that he was already a member of the firm, and he had told her that he would be, very soon . . . but added a rider about 'not caring for the condition' . . .

Was he thinking of his marriage to the head's daughter, Miss Galbraith? Was his promotion dependent on that union?

It was shortly after half past seven as he stood there in the outer office, sheepishly saying he had returned to sign some letters.

His eyes looked odd. His rather good-looking face was flushed.

Had he been drinking, then? He had seemed worried during the day. He had been nervous and distrait.

He had left the office at a quarter to four, and hadn't been back since.

Nollie was on her feet as he came in, preparatory to leaving.

She drew forward a basket with a pile of letters in it. She said quietly: "They're all done."

"Don't go." He took the basket, went into the inner office and sat down at his desk.

Through the open door, as he sat reading them, Nollie noticed that the hand that held the letters shook.

She turned away, going up to a mirror on her office wall, combing her hair, adjusting her hat.

"Miss Day, come in for a minute."

"Yes, Mr. Brilling. I did the letters carefully. Is everything all right?"

"No. Everything's rotten as it can be. I'm in the deuce of a fix."

Nollie said, slowly and deliberately, though her heart was beating with apprehension: "I'm sorry to hear that."

Had Miss Galbraith been making further trouble? Had she been pressing on him an immediate marriage?

Well, what had that to do with her? She was but a machine, an automaton, in Mr. Brilling's life. Why upset herself with his troubles?

All that he could demand of her was efficient service in the office.

"Sit down and have a cigaret with me, Miss Day. I've got to spill the beans to someone or other."

He ran his hand through his blond hair till the front look stood on end. He looked like a naughty, harassed little schoolboy. Worried as she was by his unrest, she couldn't help a faint smile—he looked so comical.

"I don't smoke, thanks. But if I can help you in any way that's useful, I'll be glad to." And Nollie sat down on a chair at the other side of the table.

He scribbled his signature on the letters, thrust them across to her. Then he lit a cigaret.

He smoked half of it before he spoke again. He said brusquely, "Miss Day . . . do you believe in love?"

Believe in love? Could she ever get out of her mind for one hour the image of Tony O'Brien?

Believe in love, indeed! Why, willy-nilly, love just forced itself on one!

"Why, Mr. Brilling, isn't that rather a difficult question?"

He barked at her: "Why should it be? I suppose—a girl like you—pretty and young and all that sort of thing—have half a dozen chaps crazy about her?"

"Indeed I have not. How did you ever come to think of such a thing?" Nollie's breath caught in amazement.

"Because you're a fascinating girl, and men aren't blind, and in a way, you're responsible for the helluva mess I'm into—"

"I? Responsible? In what way?" Again apprehension took her.

He pressed the stub of his cigaret into an ashtray. He avoided her eyes, stared gloomily, nervously out of the window.

"Oh, I was drifting along in my own old way until you walked into this office." Suddenly he looked at her directly, accusingly. "D'you know, I noticed you the very first day you arrived with that blessed letter from Jinny Judson? I thought—darn it all—you were the sweetest-looking thing I'd ever seen—and now you've upset everything."

"Mr. Brilling—" Nollie rose to her feet, two spots of astonishment on either cheek—"you have no right to say such things to me. I've done nothing—knowingly—that would cause you embarrassment."

"I know, I know," he said testily, "but don't you see—just by being around the place and my getting accustomed to you and everything—you've made the other thing so difficult."

"What other thing? What have I to do with you?" She was indignant.

"Darn it all, girl, don't you know I'm fond of you? And, that being so, and comparing some one else to you, to their disadvantage—"

She understood then, right enough. It was Miss Galbraith, of course! But she wasn't going to let him finish.

"It isn't fair to talk this way. It isn't loyal to—to the person you're engaged to—"

"But I can't go on with it, seeing the contrast between you two. It seemed all right—promotion in the firm, and all—sort of a regulation 'marriage of convenience.' Then you came. For 14 days, having you with me nearly all the time, has given me a new viewpoint . . ."

Nollie's breath caught.

He went on dully: "There's a proverb—something about 'Youth to youth'—"

And Miss Galbraith was many years older than Mr. Brilling. But she was the boss' daughter. Influential. Rich.

Nollie felt a distaste for this weak, vacillating man. She felt she disliked them both.

"You can leave me out of the question, Mr. Brilling. And please don't think me rude when I say you must settle your private affairs yourself."

She rose. He got up, too. As she made for the door, he barred her way, putting a swift arm about her.

"Miss Day, don't go. You've got to listen. Darn it all, don't you know I'm in love with you?"

French Author Finds Young America Much Given to Serious Studying

By ROBERT WELLS RITCHIE

LONDON, Oct. 1. (US)—"I think we shall have difficulty in saving our western civilization in the next few decades; but one of its sanctuaries, along with Paris, London, and some of the great European universities, will be the rocky islet of New York."

So says Andre Maurois, famous French scholar and author, who has just returned from an exchange professorship at Princeton university. He said:

"It is true that in certain of her colleges America caricatures true culture. But in spite of this false culture, the Americans are given to much serious study. The younger generation is quite remarkable in that respect. I should like to meet in Europe women as truly cultivated as those whom I have seen in the great colleges of the eastern states—at Bryn Mawr, Vassar, and at Smith."

American civilization, according to the French savant's observation, is not an inferior one though it might be counted "primitive." He means by that, he explained:

"It is not a phenomenon of senility but one of adolescence.

"The Chicago racketeer and the powerful New York banker are feudal lords who do not wish to obey any law but their own wills. Soon, inevitably, the American state will impose its will upon the banker and the racketeer; but at the present time it is in the United States the period of Caesar Borgia, of Henry VIII and Machiavelli all over again."

M. Maurois wishes the Englishman to disabuse his mind of the impression that life in America is free and easy. He said:

"Nothing could be more untrue. No other country is more bound by convention than America. The code of manners there is a hundred times more exacting than in England.

"From his university days, the American is a member of clubs, secret societies and fraternities, which impose upon him oaths and customs. Social life is of a strictness difficult to conceive. Snobbery is on a grand scale and expresses itself in strange ways. Even to have a small telephone number or motor car license is a sign of aristocracy."

S. P. Files Exceptions to Cotton Belt Decision

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (INS)—The Southern Pacific railroad today filed exceptions to the recommendations of Examiner T. F. Sullivan that the Interstate Commerce commission deny its application for authority to acquire stock control of the Cotton Belt railroad.

It contended that Sullivan's report should have contained a finding that the principal purpose of the application is the future preservation of the maintenance of existing routes and channels of trade participated in by the Texas & New Orleans-Cotton Belt route, involving the continuance of past relations, interchange, practices and coordinated service given the public via such routes, all being in the public interest.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

This is a special department devoted to the handling of inquiries. You have at your disposal an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. Write your question, your name, and your address clearly, and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—How many times has Rollin Kirby, the political cartoonist, won the Pulitzer prize?—L. H.

A.—Three times. In 1921 for the cartoon "On the Road to Moscow," in 1924 for "News From the Outside World," and in 1928 for the cartoon, "Tammany."

Q.—Do many large firms use correspondence schools in training employes?—W. C.

A.—More than 5,000 companies are paying correspondence schools for training their employes.

Q.—What is the name of the march composed by Sousa for the Paris Colonial exhibition?—R. J.

A.—March des Legionnaires was played for the first time at the three concerts given at Mount Vernon building during American week at the exhibition.

Q.—Of what sort of material are the Bermudas formed?—L. M. S.

A.—The Bermudas are principally composed of aeolian limestones consisting mainly of blown shell-dust very irregularly stratified. The reefs are ridges of limestone plastered over with thin layers of coral and other calcareous organisms. The atolls are encrusted with convoluted tubes of serpulae and Vermetus together with barnacles, mussels, corallines, and some true encrusting corals. They probably rest upon foundations of aeolian rock.

Q.—What is meant by the viscosity of a liquid?—M. H. O.

A.—It is the measure of its resistance to flow.

Q.—What is the greatest number—passengers and crew—ever transported across the Atlantic in a ship?—G. K.

A.—The average passenger capacity of great ocean liners is 2,200. When the Leviathan carried her record-breaking contingent of soldiers, she also carried the officers and crew to the number of 2,078, making a grand total of 13,558 souls on board, the greatest number carried across any ocean by any ship on any trip.

Q.—In what country is there the most illegitimacy?—I. B. M.

A.—The highest figures available show an illegitimacy rate of 700 per 1,000 births in Jamaica.

Q.—Why are the faces of dice so numbered?—J. S.

A.—It is not known how and in what manner dice actually originated. Wherever dice have been found in the tombs of ancient Egypt, in Greece, or in the Far East, they differ in no material respect from those in use today. They were probably evolved from knuckle-bones. It is certain that dice games were played in times prior to those of which we have any written record. The fact that dice have been used throughout the Orient from time immemorial seems to indicate an Asiatic origin.

Q.—Did the Indians in Iowa have totem poles?—W. J. W.

A.—They had no totem poles, these objects being erected solely by the Indians of the North Pacific coast.

Q.—What should the minutes of an organization include?—A. W.

A.—The essentials of the minutes are name of organization; time and place of meeting; kind of meeting, whether regular, special, adjourned, etc.; the fact of the presence or absence of the regular chairman and secretary, and the names of their substitutes, if they are absent; whether the minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved; all main motions made at the meeting, except those that were withdrawn, and points of order and appeals, whether sustained or lost, and all other motions not lost or withdrawn; usually the names of members introducing main motions are recorded, but not the names of seconders.

A.—The southern states issued millions of dollars in paper money, beginning in July, 1861. The last issue appeared on Feb. 17, 1864.

Q.—What churches are united in the Church of Christ in China?—N. A. L.

A.—It is a union of 14 different denominational groups, representing the fruit of missionary effort. It was organized in October, 1927, and unites in a single body Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Evangelicals, Reformed, United Brethren, English Baptists, and several other groups. Dr. C. Y. Cheng is moderator of the church.

Q.—Has Ireland ever persecuted the Jews?—W. H.

A.—It is one of the few countries which has never persecuted Jews.

The Record News Offers Favorite Poems of the American People

This collection of the favorite poems of America was made by no authors or experts, but by the American people themselves. A nation-wide vote was taken to determine which are the favorite poems of the largest number of people. This booklet is the result.

The old-time poems predominate, favorites from Longfellow, Tennyson, Bryant and other leading songsters of all time. There are some of the newer poems, including Kilmer, Kipling, McRae and others of our time.

TRAINED DRYS HARASS CAPONE

College Boy Sleuths Costly To Gang Czar

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (US)—College-trained, hand-picked dry sleuths led by Special Prohibition Agent Elliot Ness have cost "Scarface Al" Capone something like $500,000 in the last six months, and deprived the swarthy gang leader and his crew of an estimated $2,000,000 in annual income.

The figures, made public here today, also revealed that the special sleuths have frequently been made the targets of gangdom's bribery efforts, but to no avail.

The "untouchables" have closed breweries systematically; have destroyed liquor depots; have hampered rum running operations so consistently as to force Capone men to admit the loss of considerable profits.

Since last March, brewery equipment worth $144,000 has been seized as well as trucks and automobiles valued at $17,000. Raids on Capone haunts have netted 7,292 barrels of beer with a wholesale price of $50 a barrel, one carload of liquor worth $25,000 and 150 cases of rum valued at $11,250 have been seized. The total loss incurred by the Capone syndicate comes to $598,310.

All this does not include the drain on the Capone treasury caused by legal defense in behalf of 31 ringleaders seized in these raids. There has also been the special expense involved in defending "Scarface Al" and his brother Ralph and 61 others from government prosecution on charges of income tax evasion and illicit rum running. Legal fees alone are in the neighborhood of $100,000, while fully $100,000 more is tied up in federal criminal bonds.

With revenues being drained, Ralph Capone has brought on a new game from New York calculated to swell the depreciating gang funds. It's a game of bank numbers.

You buy a ticket, or many tickets, for five cents each, and wait each night for the publishing of the day's bank clearings in Chicago. Should the three numbers on the ticket tally with the first three numbers of the total bank clearings, you win. The chances are only 600 to 1 against you.

Prominent Burkburnett Couple Are Married

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 1.—Marriage of Sunny Knauth, daughter of Mrs. F. R. Knauth, to Carlos E. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Baker took place at the First Methodist church of Burkburnett at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The marriage united two of Burkburnett's most prominent families. Following the ceremony which was performed by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Dennis, a reception was held at the home of the bride, after which the couple left for Henderson, Texas, where they will make their home.

The bride was graduated from Burkburnett High school in 1930, attended Texas Women's college at Fort Worth and was popular in Burkburnett society. Mr. Baker also was graduated from Burkburnett High school and attended Wesley college, Greenville, Texas. He is employed by Tidal Refining company, at Henderson.

Friberg News

FRIBERG, Texas, Oct. 1.—One of the most successful affairs of the late summer season was the ice cream supper given by the members of the Friendship club at the home of Misses Millie, Ollie and Hazel Roediger Friday evening. A color scheme favoring the club colors of green and white was noted in the table appointments and decorations. The tables, arranged, cafeteria style about the rooms, were covered with white cloths and graced with centerpieces of green foliage and flowers in green glass holders. Hand decorated menus in green and white, bearing the club symbol and a limerick verse were on each table. Green and white napkins and green glassware in which was served the delicious homemade ice cream and cake further emphasized the color scheme. The rooms were also decorated with vases filled with purple heather. Miss Glada Fugate, local artist entertained the guests during the evening with vocal and piano selections. A large crowd attended and a substantial financial return was realized.

Assembly Program

An assembly program of unusual interest was given recently at the local school by the pupils in Miss Josephine Russell's room. Following a singsong by the school led by Miss Russel the program was in charge of a pupil, Emma Jean Eubank, and was as follows: Scripture reading, Reba Ireland, the story of the "Stolen Blessing" told by Mary Jane Eubanks. The story of Moses in the Bulrushes; Mabelle Leissler. A recitation "The Captain's Daughter" Charles Greer. The story of the "Creation of Heaven and Earth." Dixie Faye Dillard. The program ended with a clever song by a quartet, composed of Emma Jean and Mary Jane Eubanks, Mabelle Leissler and Dixie Faye Dillard.

F.-T. A. Meeting

The parent-teacher association and the board of trustees have been cooperating in the handling of the water supply at the local school. The cistern, recently repaired, has had no supply from natural sources since that time. The trustees have hauled water and put it into the cistern. The P.-T. A. did their part by repainting and rewaxing the water fountains and stands. It also obtained the use of a refrigerator and through the freewill offerings of the members, ice is being supplied for the fountains. The installation of the refrigerator also has caused many of the pupils to bring milk to school in their lunches, knowing that it will remain cold and sweet until the lunch hour.

Personals

The members of the Methodist Ladies' Aid society will hold an all-day quilting at the William Jenne home on Thursday, Oct. 1. The quilt executed in the new Dresden plate pattern will be sold later for the benefit of the society.

Miss Hazel Oglesby, a member of the faculty at Cashion High school and Miss Rebecca Jenne of Wichita Falls, were guests of Miss Carrie Jenne Sunday.

Entirely New Race Evolved in U.S. From Mingling of Three Bloods

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (UP)—How the indiscriminate mingling of white, negro and Indian blood is evolving an entirely new race of people in the United States is described by Edwin R. Embree, famous sociologist and president of the Julius Rosenwald fund, in a book called "Brown America" published today.

The new "brown-skinned Americans" are like no other race in the world, says Embree, who has had numerous opportunities to study changing race conditions through helping found 5,000 schools for southern negro children under the terms of the Rosenwald fund for advancement of the negro.

The book mentions presidents of the United States who have contributed to the new race which the author says is now 12,000,000 strong.

"No special odium," his book said, "was attached to the begetting of mulatto children in slave days. It was regarded almost as a matter of course. Thomas Jefferson was reported, when president, to have regretted that certain of his own children were stopped from voting because of the conditions imposed by their maternity.

"When a yellow girl, reputed to be the daughter of President Tyler and living in his entourage in the White House, eloped with a white man, and in punishment was 'sold down the river,' the matter was so ordinary as to cause only a piquant wave of gossip in Washington society.

"These blood mixtures of slave days were often what scientists today would call eugenic. Often the best white blood, represented by the planters and their sons, joined with that of negro girls chosen for their intelligence and attractiveness. Patrick Henry was so impressed by the superiority of the mixed breeds that, while speaker of the Virginia assembly, he introduced a bill offering a state bonus to children of mixed parentage."

Mixture of white and black blood has gone so far, Embree said, that even if there were no more marriages between whites and negroes, a few more generations will see some white blood in almost every negro in the country.

Eldorado Pupils Prove Good Cotton Pickers

Special to The Record News.

ELDORADO, Okla., Oct. 1.—A total of 46 bales of cotton was picked by students of Eldorado public schools during the week ending Saturday, Sept. 26, according to reports announced by Superintendent H. P. Kuser Tuesday.

A careful check on the amount of cotton being gathered by pupils is being kept by teachers in the various grades to determine the actual benefits to the school district of the early schedule for opening school during the cotton picking season which was adopted two weeks ago by the school board.

Under the new schedule school is opened at 7:30 every morning and dismissed at 12:45, making it possible for the pupils to devote half of each day in the cotton fields after getting in their regular work in school.

Soviet Unions to Build Membership

MOSCOW, Oct. 1. (UP)—More than one-quarter of all workers in Soviety industry do not belong to the trade unions, according to a statement by the National Trade Union council in launching an intensive campaign to enroll millions in its ranks.

In the past trade union membership was almost obligatory, unemployment being widespread and preference being given to members. With the growth of industry and the increasing shortage of working hands, however, trade union membership lost some of its attraction.

Millions of new workers, drawn from the farms and from private handicraft undertakings, were eagerly accepted on construction jobs and in newly opened plants without the formality of joining the trade union. In consequence, while the ranks of workers grew by 5,138,000 in the two and a half years between October, 1929, and April of this year, the trade union membership grew only by 1,900,000.

DENVER PUSHES WORK ON LINE

Collingsworth Extension Well Under Way

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Oct. 1.—Work upon the Denver's extension through Collingsworth county is going forward steadily at this time, with much activity taking place in the northern part of the county in the Plymouth community. Work is also under way south of Wellington. A number of teams, trucks, steam shovels, etc., are being used in the construction program already under way, as well as a large number of men. The rail project, which extends from Childress through Wellington and Shamrock to Pampa, will entirely intersect Collingsworth county north and south.

It is pointed out by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce that local men are being given preference in the rail construction, and that more than a sufficient supply of such labor is available already.

Coffee Tasters Get Big Assignment

Aroma Experts Must Test Brazil Cargo

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Hectic days these for the coffee tasters. The farm board recently swapped 25,000,000 bushels of American wheat for 1,050,000 bags of Brazilian coffee. The first 120,000 bags have arrived, and the tasters are busy tasting. It is the regular method of grading the beverage bean.

Coffee tasting is a case of coffee, coffee everywhere and not a drop to drink; for the tasters never swallow it.

Experts of the coffee exchange sit around a table which may be revolved as required. Before them are the samples to be graded. The ground coffee is put into cups, different samples in each, and boiling water is added.

Each taster sniffs expertly at the cup before him. He lifts a spoonful to his mouth. Then he spits it out. The table is revolved, and the tasters try another sample.

After each has sniffed and tasted opinions are exchanged. As these men taste, so the coffee is graded. Twelve men are the coffee tasting jury and the youngest among them has been in the business 20 years.

Twenty cups is a day's work. After that the tasters' palates are tired out.

In private life, the tasters drink coffee twice daily—and as long as there is plenty of sugar and cream, they don't much care what kind of coffee it is.

TODAY, please take a moment to find out why you are sluggish or low in spirits.

It is not easy to be "up and doing" when that body of yours seems to rebel against work or play.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living * * * pressure of work and worry.

Those important precious red-blood-cells that mean so much to vitality become lowered in count * * * the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."

If this is your trouble why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

It is a great protection to health and physical well-being to keep the red-blood-cell count up to normal. These cells build and sustain—they also remove impurities.

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, pimples and boils.

RECIPES

Corn Flake Omelet With Bacon and Tart Jelly

Beat four eggs, whites and yolks separately. To the yolks add one-half teaspoonful salt and a dash of pepper and three tablespoonfuls of water. Beat well. Fold yolks into whites and add about four cups corn flakes, folding them into egg mixture. Cook until a golden brown. Fold and serve hot with broiled bacon and tart jelly.

Ham Roast

Two pounds ham.
One-half cupful brown sugar.
One-half pint grape juice.
Cloves.

Score the top part of ham in squares, rub the sugar all over it. Stick a clove in each square. Put into a roaster and pour the grape juice over the ham. Roast in a slow oven until tender. If the ham is not very fat use a little bacon fat with the grape juice. Serve either hot or cold with gravy.

Potato Souffle

Three cups hot mashed potatoes.
Three tablespoonfuls butter.
One teaspoonful salt.
Few grains cayenne.
One teaspoonful chopped parsley.
One teaspoonful onion juice.
Three egg yolks.
Three egg whites.

Mix potatoes, butter, salt, cayenne, parsley and onion juice together. Add beaten egg yolk and mix well. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Put in greased baking dish, set in a pan of water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 50 to 60 minutes. Serve immediately.

Date Salad

This is a very quickly made salad. The dates are steamed, if desired, pitted and stuffed with any kind of cream cheese or package cheese, ahead of time. Pitted dates may be bought. The lettuce is crisped in the refrigerator and patted dry. Upon a lettuce leaf, place one pitted date, then one section of grapefruit, and one slice of banana, then another date, grapefruit and banana. Continue until a sufficient amount is arranged. The grapefruit should be prepared by paring, like an apple, removing a thick paring, as to take away every bit of white, inner skin. Then, with a knife, separate each section from the inner skin. This is very quickly done. The juice squeezed from the extra-thick peelings may be put over the bananas to keep them from turning dark. Pecans may be placed on each stuffed date or scattered over the salad. Salad dressings should be passed. Oranges and canned pears combine nicely with dates and may be used instead of grapefruit and bananas if desired. Fruit, Mayonnaise whitened with whipped cream or a fruit French dressing may be passed with this salad.

Chocolate Parfait

Boil one cupful sugar and one cupful water to 238 degrees Fahrenheit. Pour on three egg whites beaten frothy and beat until cold. Beat two cups cream, add one tablespoonful vanilla and two squares melted and cooled chocolate. Combine the two mixtures and pour into a mold or mechanical refrigerator pan and freeze. If ice and salt are used use two parts ice to one part salt and freeze for four hours. Serves eight.

Scalloped Chicken

One and one-fourth inch thick slice mild cheese.
One large green bell pepper.
Sprig of parsley.
Two cupfuls diced chicken.
One dozen soda crackers rolled.
Salt and pepper to taste.
Two cups sweetmilk.
Two tablespoonfuls butter.

Butter casserole and cover with a thin layer of cracked crumbs, sprinkle over with minced pepper and parsley, salt, pepper and diced chicken. Add another layer of cracker crumbs and the cheese cut into bits. Dot over with bits of butter. Add another layer of crumbs and chicken as before. Top with the remaining crumbs and a sprinkling of salt and pepper. Add the milk. Bake in a moderate oven for one-half hour, browning it a little and serve with tomato catsup.

Potato Surprise

Two cups seasoned mashed potatoes.
One cupful cooked peas.
One-half cupful thick white sauce.
One egg.
Two tablespoonfuls water.
One cup fine dry bread crumbs.

Form potato into cups, molding them in the palm of the hand and patting the potato to, an even thickness. Add the peas to the white sauce and place a spoonful of the mixture in the center of each one and close the hand around it, putting a little mashed potato on top to entirely cover the peas. Roll balls in crumbs, then in beaten egg diluted with water and again in crumbs. Fry in deep hot fat until brown.

Thick White Sauce

Two tablespoonfuls butter.
Three tablespoonfuls flour.
Three-fourths teaspoonful salt.
One-sixteenth teaspoonful pepper.

Melt butter, add flour, salt and pepper and mix well. Add milk slowly and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly to avoid lumping. Place over hot water until ready to use. Only make one-half of the quantity for the above recipe.

Mock Nesselrode Pudding

Two and one-half tablespoons gelatin
One cupful cold milk
Four egg yolks
Three-fourths cupfuls sugar
Three cupfuls scalded milk
Four egg whites
Three-fourths cupfuls chopped raisins
Ten macaroons, rolled
One teaspoonful vanilla
One-half teaspoonful almond extract
Two tablespoonfuls sherry flavoring.

Soak gelatin in cold milk for five minutes. Beat egg yolks and sugar together and pour the scalded milk on them. Put in a double boiler, or over hot water and cook, stirring constantly until custard coats the spoon. Add gelatin and milk and stir until dissolved. Take from the fire and add raisins, macaroon crumbs, vanilla, almond extract and sherry flavoring. Mix well. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Set in a pan of ice water and beat until thick. Pour into a mold which has been dipped in cold water and chill thoroughly. Turn out of mold onto a plate and decorate with whipped cream and maraschino cherries.

Tricks With Tomatoes

It is hard to believe that a century ago the tomato, or love apple, as it was then called, was raised because of its beauty rather than for use. In fact, it was considered poisonous.

It is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe during the 16th century.

The tomato, oddly enough, leads a dual life and serves a three-fold purpose on our table. This is true because the tomato is really a fruit and is considered a vegetable or as one authority tells us, it is the fruit of a garden vegetable. It is unique in being relished at any one of the three daily meals. It may be served as an appetizer, plain sliced or broiled at either of the three meals and may appear as an hors d'oeuvre, soup, vegetable or salad at lunch or dinner. Indeed, we are only beginning to discover the tomatoes many possibilities.

Probably there is no other canned fruit or vegetable so generally used today than the tomato. Its color and flavor have added charm to many useful but monotonous foods during the last half century.

Perhaps there is something to that old association of tomatoes with love or loveliness, for it possesses powers little short of magic. It is rich in vegetable mineral salts, boasts the merits of both fruit and vegetable, contains three vitamines —A, B and C—in better proportion than supplied by any other food, and in such a state that their value is unchanged when cooked; also it ranks as a substitute for orange juice, that producer of clear skins.

Thanks to hot houses and modern shipping, tomatoes are available the greater part of the year. The best tomatoes are smooth skinned, plump and unblemished. However, when their price is as high as 35 and 40 cents a pound, it is more economical to buy canned tomatoes and to use oranges freely.

Fortunately tomatoes are easy to preserve because of their acid content. A point worth remembering about the tomatoes on your grocer's shelves is that the law demands that the liquid therein be pure tomato juice, not water.

Tomato juice is delicious served as a cocktail if it is seasoned with a little salt and a tablespoonful of lemon juice and thoroughly chilled with crushed ice. The crushed ice thins the tomato juice sufficiently. This healthful cocktail is a quickly prepared substitute for orange juice and may be used at either of the three meals. A more highly seasoned cocktail may be made by combining one No. 3 can tomato juice, one small onion, thinly sliced, one teaspoonful granulated sugar, one-half teaspoonful salt, one teaspoonful minced parsley, one bay leaf, one stick of bruised celery, one tablespoonful lemon juice, one tablespoonful Worcestershire sauce and one teaspoonful chili sauce. Chill the above mixture thoroughly and strain and serve very cold. Serves six or eight. To bruise the celery, twist it with the fingers so as to break some of the fibers.

Sauerkraut juice is a wonderful appetizer, mildly laxative, but, unfortunately, it is not appealing in flavor to all. The flavor may be improved greatly by mixing equal parts of sauerkraut and tomato juice, or one part sauerkraut to two of tomato; or it may be improved by adding a few drops of tabasco sauce, or horse radish sauce. This may be tried different ways, measuring carefully, until the exact proportions are discovered which pleases the family. In any case, it tastes much better when chilled thoroughly. It will remain cold if placed in cracked ice. The clear, red juice in a clear glass, set into ice in a green glass, is cool looking. A bit of parsley may be placed in the ice. Mixed tomato and sauerkraut juice is excellent for baby, being mildly laxative, and antiscorbutic. The other seasonings should not be used for children.

At dinner a tomato hors d'oeuvre may be used as the first course. A simple way is to cut firm, ripe tomatoes in slices, spread with a mixture of mayonnaise and cream cheese and sprinkle chopped onion and parsley over the top. Yellow tomato hors d'oeuvres are attractive and delicious. They are made by scalding, chilling and peeling small pear-shaped yellow tomatoes, then scooping out some of the center and filling generously with chopped pickle. These should be marinated in French dressing and served on an attractive lettuce leaf or garnished with watercress.

The tomato is a desirable food to combine with heavy meats, since it is fully nine-tenths water. A thick meaty slice, a half or a whole tomato, ice cold, to be eaten with salt and pepper, is acceptable with almost any combination.

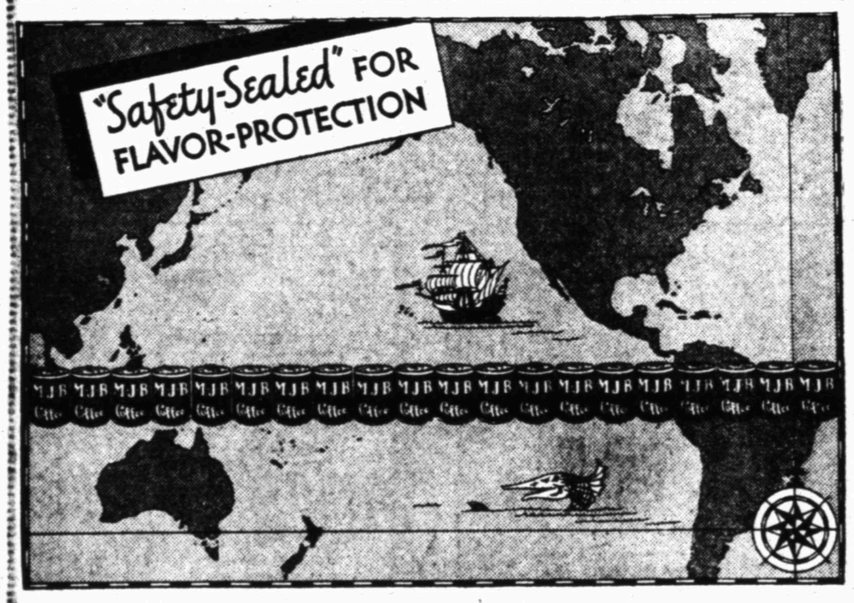

To make a substantial dish from it to serve without meat, however, fats and grains and starches must be added to supply the calories. Dressing in which oil, cheese or eggs predominate afford the same type of food as meats.

For breakfast it may be used in such combination as tomato omelet, eggs baked in tomatoes, scrambled or poached eggs with Spanish sauce or half tomatoes pan-broiled or saute'ed in bacon or sausage fat.

Luncheon has many choices—for soups, cream of tomato, or clear, or with stock, a chowder of tomatoes, onions and beans, a souffle' of cheese with tomato sauce and fish and meat molded in tomato jelly.

For dinner, thin tomato soup is best to precede heavy meats, or scalloped individual stuffed toma-

M·J·B Coffee sent for 120 days to 61 different parts of the world. "Fresh and full-flavored as when packed," say experts after critical taste test—thanks to M·J·B's exclusive "Safety-Seal."

Paris was one of eight European cities included in this unusual and remarkable test.

From Paris to Manila, from Alaska to Panama, the "Safety-Seal" vacuum process of packing M·J·B coffee has been tested.

Sixty tins of M·J·B were sent to sixty different parts of the globe, and subjected to as many different climatic conditions. Other tins were sent by steamer 'round the world.

Four months later impartial experts compared this coffee with freshly roasted coffee.

Unanimously they declared: "After critical taste-tests we were unable to distinguish any difference. The 'four month-old' coffee was as fresh and richly flavored as coffee just packed!"

The richer flavor of M·J·B stays rich. This is because M·J·B, which is the only coffee with its own can factory and its own vacuum process—uses the patented "Safety-Seal," that automatically prevents closing unless all the air is removed. Ask for M·J·B Coffee. Look on the bottom of the tin. See the difference in packing methods. Taste the difference in freshness and flavor.

Impartial experts comparing taste of freshly roasted coffee with coffee returned from world-wide test. Left to right: Prof. W. W. Ogier, Jr., California Institute of Technology; Genevieve Callahan, Editor, Sunset Magazine; and Chef La Faille, St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco.

Because of exclusive "Safety-Seal" Death Valley's scorching sun could not harm it.

The Dollar Liner "President Fillmore" carried "Safety-Sealed" coffee 'round the world.

Each of the 48 states stored M.J.B. Coffee away for a period of three months.

Manila—where even the tropics failed to rob M.J.B. of its richer flavor.

Tomatoes Appetizing For All Three Meals

toes may be served with the meat course. Tomato sauce is usually acceptable with fish or lamb. A corn and tomato scallop or tomato with rice or macaroni may take the place of potato.

A relish of fish or fowl is ample with a tomato salad and rolls for luncheon or supper. Tiny plum tomatoes, red or yellow are attractive arranged in nests of green for salads. The details of tomato salads may be left to any ingenious woman, so many variations are possible.

The thick red outside of large tomatoes may be cut in petals with some resemblance to a dahlia or poinsettia.

Firm single slices, arranged on shredded lettuce, will hold a fair portion of chicken or other mixed salads.

A raw tomato is an attractive salad container and is far more desirable than those of apples or pepper because the tomato from which the skin has been removed is easily divided and eaten. To remove skin place a few ripe tomatoes in a wire basket and plunge them into boiling water for about a minute. Then plunge them in cold water and put away to peal later in the day or even the following day. By chilling in the refrigerator after scalding, the ripe flesh becomes firm and the skin slips off as readily as when first scalded. A very ripe tomato may be skinned by rubbing with a knife to loosen the pulp next to the skin, but that is a slow process, all right for one, but not for family quantities.

A delicious frozen salad dressing is a variation of tomato juice. This may be prepared as an ice or as a creamy salad dressing. For the ice, use one quart seasoned tomato juice, one lemon, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and one teaspoonful of salt. Freeze until mushy. Stir in one cupful of finely chopped celery. This is delicious served on a cabbage and cucumber slaw with game or fowl.

Frozen tomato cream salad dressing is very easy to make. Combine one cup tomato puree with a half pint of whipped cream. Add two tablespoonfuls vinegar and one pimiento chopped fine. Freeze until set. Serve on head lettuce hearts as you would Thousand Island dressing.

Grilled tomatoes may be served as an entree or as the main dish. These may be prepared ahead, but should be slipped into the broiling oven only 20 minutes before serving time, as the tomatoes lose their shape if cooked too long.

Scoop the centers from small tomatoes. Fill with a well-seasoned mixture of equal amounts of bread crumbs and broken cooked sweetbreads, or crumbs and mushrooms, or rice and finely chopped chicken giblets. Put a piece of butter on the top of each and bake them on a heat-proof glass platter from which they may be served, or bake them in a cake pan and remove them to a vegetable dish and garnish with parsley.

Fried green tomatoes on toast are delicious on cool days. Slice the green tomatoes half an inch thick, season with salt and pepper, roll in corn meal, and saute' to a golden brown, turning only once. Arrange on rounds of buttered toast and serve piping hot with or without a rich cream sauce. The slices must be carefully handled. They are attractive when served in a circle around roasts or chops.

Tomato paste with Italian labels may be found in the best grocery stores on this side of the water. The strained tomato pulp is reduced to much less than its original bulk to the consistency of thick marmalade and this may be used for flavoring soups and sauces.

The combination of tomatoes, green peppers and onions was perhaps devised by the Spanish explorers of Mexico and South America or learned by them from the natives. The name Spanish or Creole is applied to many dishes to which such a sauce gives charm. Bread, beans, macaroni and rice may provide the substantial carbohydrates and a little meat, fish, egg or cheese, the protein. Any one having slight knowledge of cookery without a formal recipe may thus make savory dishes from fresh or canned tomatoes and sundry left-overs.

Last but not least, do not forget that chili sauce can be made of canned tomatoes, midwinter or any other time it is wanted, thus reducing the work to minimum.

For the chili sauce buy No. 3 cans of tomatoes. Each can contains about two pounds of tomatoes and juice. A peck of tomatoes weighs at least 12 pounds. If the recipe calls for a peck of tomatoes, you will want seven No. 3 cans of tomatoes. Bring the tomato juice to boiling point. Run the solid part of the tomatoes through the grinder. Grind also five green peppers and two large onions. Add the vegetables to the boiling juice and let simmer. Season with two cups sugar, one-fourth cup salt, two teaspoonfuls each dry mustard and cloves, and one tablespoonful cinnamon. Add four cupfuls vinegar, and cook slowly for several hours until thick.

'Future Farmers' of Wellington Win $50 First Prize at Tri-State Fair

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Oct. 1.—Exhibits by members of the Wellington chapter of Future Farmers of America won first prize of $50 in the vocational agriculture department of the Tri-State fair in Amarillo last week, it has been announced by H. C. White, instructor of vocational agriculture in Wellington High school. Wellington's boy farmers featured the value of clean feed and clean water in the production of poultry, with latest and best methods of feeding poultry shown in their exhibit.

In addition to this instructive booth, the Wellington chapter showed the best of their products which included cotton, alfalfa, peanuts, peas, forage crops, clover and grain sorghums. The Wellington exhibit scored 936 points out of a possible 1,000. Other towns who were entered in competition with Wellington in this department were Silverton, Dimmitt, Claude, Hereford, Texico, N. M., Tulia, Pampa, McLean, White Deer and Miami.

Members of the future farmers organization in Wellington who assisted White in this exhibit were Roy Pepper, John H. Williams, John Jackson, Lloyd Wooldridge, Curtis Clement, Cecil Masten, Troy Gardner, George Bird, J. N. Moore Arthur Capps, Bert Gladney, Harris Howell, Leldon Hudson, E. C. Puryear, Kenneth Stinson, Sammie Jackson, Barney Glenn and Shirley Kelley.

Illinois Orders Lower Gas Rates

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Illinois Commerce commission today ordered the People's Gas, Light and Coke company and the Public Service company of Northern Illinois to make further reductions in gas rates before starting distribution of mixed natural gas made available by pipe lines from Texas.

Conditional approval of the mixed gas was given, but the natural gas must not flow into Northern Illinois distributing lines until the companies file lower experimental rate schedules.

These lower rates must be on file within 10 days.

The Peoples Gas company was directed to offer a new schedule providing a 6½ per cent reduction on domestic gas and 31 per cent reduction on industrial gas. The company had originally offered reductions of 3½ and 22 per cent.

The present rate is 90 cents a thousand cubic feet.

Quanah Man Given Long Term in Jail

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 1.—Jack Richie, convicted of child desertion in the county court recently, received the longest jail sentence for the offense ever meted out in this county. He was fined $25 and costs and one year in jail. The costs in the case amounted to $118.40, which forces Richie to remain in jail 483 days. He was returned from Paris, Texas early in September.

BURK PLANS TRADES DAY

Scores Expected at Rodeo And 'Swapping' Bee

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 1.—Hundreds of visitors from the surrounding country are expected in Burkburnett on Saturday, Oct. 3, to attend the second Burkburnett rodeo and farmer's trades day. The event will furnish an unusual opportunity for the farmers and traders from a large area.

The rodeo grounds have been fenced, corrals, band stand and bleachers built, and many other improvements made for the comfort and safety of the large numbers of visitors in Burkburnett on this date. An auctioneer is to be furnished free to auction off livestock, farm implements and farm produce brought in by farmers of this territory.

The wildest animals to be found, from mules to wild steers, will be ridden or "ridden at" at the rodeo, and a roping contest is to be held in the morning. At the auction, different kinds of farm produce will be sold and "swapped." Farmers with more of one kind of article than they need may trade a part or all of it for some produce that they lack. A musical concert by two bands will be given Saturday night.

The rodeo and farmers trades day is being sponsored by the business men of Burkburnett and is under the management of Wid Phillips and Guy Willis. A rodeo and farmer's trades day is to be held in Burkburnett on the first Saturday of each month in the future.

The program Saturday will begin at 10 a. m. and is as follows:

10:00 to 11:00—Calf roping and bronco busting.

11:00 to 12:00—Arena thrown open for riding by children.

12:00 to 3:00—Trading "swapping" and selling.

3:00 to 3:30—Auction sale of livestock and other farm produce by Col. O. E. Penwell of Randlett, Okla.

3:30 to 5:30—Steer riding, bronco busting and mule riding.

7:00 to 8:00—Concert by Hickville string band and Burkburnett Cowboy band, under direction of E. L. Nichols.

Tulsa Minister to Talk At Electra Revival

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—Rev. Finis Lewis of Tulsa, Okla., will begin a revival at the Assembly of God church Sunday, Oct. 4. Special music will be arranged by his sister, Miss Georgia Lewis, who will accompany him to Electra. Mr. Lewis was a student at the Southwest Bible school in Enid, Okla., last year, and has conducted a number of revivals during the summer months.

Funeral Service Held For John Henry Case

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Oct. 1.—Funeral services for John Henry Case, 67, who died at his home near Iowa Park Monday, Sept. 28, were held at the Church of Christ in Iowa Park Tuesday afternoon, with the pastor, the Rev. Clarence B. Williams, officiating.

Mr. Case, who had been ill for some time, was a native of Texas and a pioneer of Wichita and other Northwest Texas counties. At the time of his death he resided on the Will Burnett ranch four miles northwest of Iowa Park. He is survived by three sons, Charlie, Louis and William of Iowa Park; and two daughters, Mrs. G. T. Kerr of Ardmore, Okla., and Mrs. Daisy Holmes, Hood county.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

(Copyright, 1931, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Suggested Menus

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, Oct. 4, 1931:

Sunday

Breakfast—Coddled eggs; Melba toast; stewed prunes.

Lunch—Fresh fruit as desired; glass of milk.

Dinner—Roast chicken or pork; stewed tomatoes; spinach; salad of head lettuce; ice cream (small portions).

Monday

Breakfast—Real wholewheat bread and peanut butter; stewed figs.

Lunch—Avocado salad; cooked beet tops.

Dinner—Broiled steak with mushrooms; baked ground beets; salad of sliced cucumbers; apple whip.

Tuesday

Breakfast—Baked eggs; Melba toast; stewed raisins.

Lunch—Orange souffle; glass of milk.

Dinner—Baked mutton; buttered vegetables consisting of beets, carrots, turnips and peas, cooked separately and served diced together seasoned with butter; salad of raw spinach; baked pear.

Wednesday

Breakfast—Cottage cheese; pineapple (fresh or canned).

Lunch—Carrot loaf (grated carrots mixed with chopped celery and baker); oyster plant; milk.

Dinner—Vegetable soup; Salisbury steak; cooked lettuce; cooked celery; cauliflower salad; Jell-o.

Thursday

Breakfast—Poached egg on Melba toast; crisp bacon.

Lunch—Potato soup; cooked string beans; celery and ripe olives.

Dinner—Roast beef; cooked spinach; baked eggplant; head lettuce; sliced tomatoes; baked apple.

Friday

Breakfast—French omelet; Melba toast; apple sauce.

Lunch—Ten or 12 dates; pint of buttermilk.

Dinner—*Minced fish in cucumber jelly; cooked lettuce; squash; salad of lettuce; tomatoes; cucumbers; stewed apricots.

Saturday

Breakfast—Oatmeal with milk or cream.

Lunch—Baked sweet potatoes; cooke celery; lettuce salad.

Dinner—Stuffed and rolled round steak (use diced carrots, celery, parsley and Melba toast crumbs as stuffing, and bake one hour); salad of raw chopped cabbage and parsley; prune whip.

*Minced Fish in Cucumber Jelly—Cook two cupfuls of sliced cucumbers in sufficient water until tender, then stir in one package of gelatin which has been soaked in a little cold water. Remove from fire and run through a colander or coarse sieve. If quantity does not equal three cupfuls, add hot water. Next, stir in two cupfuls of cooked minced white fish, a half cup of chopped parsley, and a medium size tomato cut into small pieces. Pour into one large mold and place on ice. Serve in slices garnished with parsley. Sufficient for six portions.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

After Rickets

Question—Mrs. G. F. P. writes: "My baby took ultra-violet ray treatments all last winter for rickets and seems to be cured, but her abdomen extends out and she is sort of 'pot bellied.' Should a support be worn to correct this, and if so what kind? She also has flat feet. How can that be cured? She is 18 months old.

Answer—Your child should have a diet of pure Holstein milk, each feeding to be preceded by a plentiful amount or orange juice. In six months or so some non-starchy vegetables, such as spinach and carrots should be added to the diet. Keep up the ultra-violet treatments occasionally but you must depend upon correct dieting for a permanent cure. An abdominal support will not help any, but the abdominal distention can be corrected when your child is old enough to take the proper exercises. This is also true about the flat feet. Send your full name and address on a large stamped envelope, and I will send you special articles on developing a flat abdomen, and also for curing fallen arches.

Erysipelas

Question—J. L. asks: "Is erysipelas a blood or a skin disease? What is the cause and cure?"

Answer—I consider the true cause of erysipelas to be an acidosis produced through the use of wrong food. It is true there is a particular bacterium associated with this disease, but this microorganism cannot live in a body free from acidosis.

Ice Cream and Fruits

Question—Health seeker asks: "May ice cream or fruit be eaten between meals without interfering with digestion?"

Answer—Fruit and ice cream must both be considered real foods and should therefore be used in place of a meal, or may be used in smaller quantities in addition to a meal if combined with those foods with which they are harmonious.

Newspapers Use Superior English, Professor Says

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 1. (AP)—A college professor had some good words to say today about the "all but impeccable" English appearing nowadays in American newspapers.

"The English used at the present time in the best newspapers," said Dr. Allen Sinclair Will, head of the department of journalism at Rutgers university, "is not inferior to that which may be seen in current literature finding acceptance from a large body of readers. The English used in the good newspapers of the leading cities is all but impeccable according to current standards of literary expression in the United States.

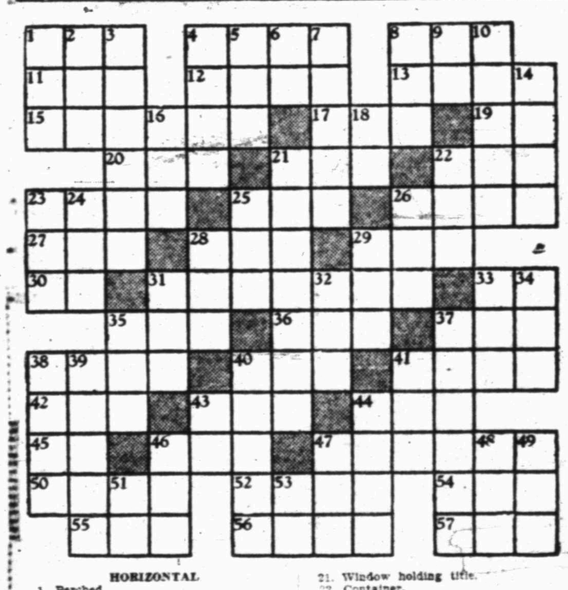

"Newspapers do not use or wish to use victorian English. Their preference is for the vigorous American speech current among cultivated people."

Dctor Will's views are expressed in "education for a newspaper life," a review of journalism instruction at Rutgers.

FARMER SHOT

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (UP)—Samuel Tibbetts, 51-year-old farmer living northeast of here, accidentally shot himself to death today while killing crows that had raided his crops. The coroner returned a verdict of death by accidental shooting.

BIG THIRD INNING GIVES ATHLETICS VICTORY IN OPENER, 6-2

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

They tell me that this Olustee bunch that Quanah whipped 60 some odd to nothing two weeks ago was nothing extraordinary in the way of a football team, and that in fact the whole Olustee squad does not number over 15 or 16 players. No wonder Quanah made such an impressive showing on the offense; it was against a team that had practicaly no reserves at all.

All of which may be true, but we look forward to seeing a mighty strong team when the Quanah Indians take the field against the Wichita Falls Coyotes here Oct. 24.

The relative strength of football teams as judged in pre-season games is a favorite topic of conversation among football fans.

For instance, Carter McGregor, probably the most enthusiastic football rooter in this neck of the woods with the possible exception of Bill Huff, the Spudder president, has it all figured out that if the Coyotes go in there with a will to win today they can whip the socks off the Ardmore eleven.

Ardmore, you remember, was thoroughly trounced in its last game by Oklahoma City High school eleven. The score was something like 60 to 0.

"You can't tell me that any team that is beat that bad is good enough to whip the Coyotes," asserts McGregor. "Why if our line shows any kind of fight, and if our backs show any kind of hustle, we ought to defeat Ardmore in a walk."

Mr. McGregor's enthusiasm and optimism are not, alas, shared by Head Coach Barry Holton.

Coach Holton believes that the Coyotes are going to have their hands mighty full today. Coach Holton saw that Oklahoma City game in which the Ardmore team was beaten. Coach Holton saw everything the Ardmore eleven has, and Coach Holton ought to know what he's talking about. Not that Mr. McGregor doesn't know what he's talking about. Indeed, Mr. McGregor may be entirely in the right and we hope he is.

But Coach Holton is of the opinion that Ardmore is a mighty strong football team, no matter how bad they were licked in Oklahoma City. That Oklahoma City game, in his belief, was simply a case of a fine football team getting beat by a much finer one. In the Ardmore lineup are several men of experience, and the fullback is a 200-pound demon who demolishes almost every line he runs into, except maybe the lines up Oklahoma City way.

We cannot share Mr. McGregor's unrestrained enthusiasm. On the contrary, our enthusiasm is rather polluted with Coach Holton's anticipation of a hard fight. Nevertheless, we believe the Coyotes will win. Most of the boys, we understand, say it will be by three touchdowns. We say by one. A score of 12 to 6 would please us fine.

Here are some other guesses on the outcome of today's games:

Chillicothe 32, Munday 0.
Olney 50, Bowie 0.
Crowell 48, Seymour 0.
Archer City 26, Megargel 6.
Henrietta 6, Iowa Park 0.

Electra 18, Nocona 12.
Quanah 50, Gould, Okla. 6.
Vernon 32, Granfield, Okla., 12.
Childress 12, Hollis, Okla., 6.

Bailey-Moline Meets Hulen at Walters Sunday

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Oct. 1.—The Bailey-Moline baseball team, sandlot champions of Wichita Falls, will meet the Hulen team on the Walters diamond Sunday in the third game of a three-game series between these clubs. The Wichita Falls team succeeded in winning the first game of the series by a 9-7 score but dropped the second game last Sunday 12-1. Heavy hitting by the Hulen Cyclones, coupled with numerous errors by the visitors, made the box score look like it was a poor game. Except for three innings, when the Cyclones broke loose to score runs, the game was an exceptionally well matched affair. McGuire and Nichols, pitching for the Wichita Falls club, held the Cyclones well in hand most of the time. Cannon and Hogg, of the Hulen pitching staff, were especially effective in the pinches, and with almost perfect support, they were able to let the visitors down with a single run.

The game next Sunday will probably be the best of the series as both teams are materially strengthening their lineups for the contest.

Breckenridge C-C Favors Brooks Bill

Special to The Record News.

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, Oct. 1.—A movement to invite county judges and commissioners of 18 West Texas counties to meet in Breckenridge in regard to the Brooks bill, which now awaits the signature of Gov. Ross Sterling, was started Wednesday at the regular meeting of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce.

County Judge Jesse R. Smith was asked by the members of the commercial organization to communicate with West Texas solons in regard to meeting here to take some action.

The chamber went on record Wednesday as favoring the Brooks bill, and voted to send telegrams to Gov. Ross Sterling asking his signature and enactment of the measure.

Second Game of Series To Be Played Today

Paul Derringer had the A's all wrapped up and ready for delivery.

True, the third inning isn't very far along in a ball game, but the spirit, the elan, the effervescence with which Paul Derringer was working on the A's was impressive. He was slinging the ball at them so fast they could scarcely see it. He was mowing them down like asparagus. He had a smile on his youthful pan, as if saying to himself, "so these are the great Athletics, are they?"

He had a two run lead over the mighty Robert Moses Grove, called "Lefty" going into the third, and 38,529 citizens of St. Louis and environs (I love to have my figures exact) were jittering with joy.

Then a couple of hits, then a long hit, and the A's had a tally.

Along Comes Al

But what of that? Two hands were down and young Paul Derringer passed Mickey Cochrane, the greatest catcher in captivity, filling the bases? 'Twas an unintentional pass, to be sure, but no matter. Two were still out.

But now came Al Simmons, with a plug of chawin terbaccker in his left cheek, and a sinister scowl on his brow. He stood there pounding the saucer, dish, or plate with his shillalah, and muttering under his breath with such ferocity that even Willum Klem, the old gesticulator back of the plate looked alarmed.

"Oh, you would, would you," muttred Al Simmons, heaving his scowl full at young Paul Derringer, "come on, then, ha, come on, now hah."

Under the circumstances, you can scarcely blame young Paul Derringer for a slight nervousness. Anybody would be nervous if Al Simmons scowled at them. He walked Al Simmons, too, and that forced in a run, tying the score, and all these things combined to jostle young Paul Derringer's morale.

Live and Learn

Still he should never have pitched that ball where he did to James Foxx, who immediately followed Al Simmons. Ah, well, we live and learn.

The mighty Robert Moses Grove, called "Lefty," had a tough time with those Cardinals right from law. In fact the Cards got more hits off Grove than the A's got off young Paul Derringer and his successor, Sylvester Johnson, who pitched a great game in the bull pen before he got into the regular pastime.

But somehow the Cardinals' hits wouldn't go safe at the right time, although you could scarcely credit that to the pitching acumen of Robert Moses Grove.

Doleful Finish

It was a grand beginning, and doleful finish for the 38,529 baseball buffs who saw it, or at least for most of them. They thought young Paul Derringer was just the same as wheat in the old bin today, especially after he started knocking the A's over like duckpins.

It was the first time a young pitcher in his first year in the large league ever started the first game of a world's series, and it would have been a nice thing for the Derringer family if young Paul could have put this one over.

But look for young Paul when he goes again. He'll be old Paul then. There isn't a whole lot to say about the technical phases of this ball game. Indeed, if it hadn't been a world's series game, it would have been just a baseball game, touched with excitement only in spots, with Al Simmons standing out with his homer, and a remarkable one handed catch of a fly ball, as well as for his scowling of young Paul Derringer into complete submission.

Mangum Installs Lights For Night Grid Games

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Oct. 1.—Fruits, vegetables and meats to the amount of 15,000 quarts have been canned the past month by farm wives who have borrowed the seven pressure cookers loaned by the Mangum Chamber of Commerce. The total probably will reach 100,000 quarts before the close of the canning season, according to B. E. Davis, secretary.

Mangum Installs Arcs For Night Grid Game

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Oct. 1.—Mangum football fans are to enjoy night games for the remainder of the season.

The equipment was purchased by the chamber of commerce from the General Electric company, Chicago. The projectors are hung from 20 poles, each 60 feet in height.

The first night game will be played here Friday with Olustee.

Electra All-Stars Play Loveland Nine Sunday

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—The Electra All-stars will meet the Loveland, Okla., nine on the local baseball park Sunday afternoon. The Oklahoma team has met defeat only three times during the summer and a good game is expected. The All-stars defeated the Grandfield team last Sunday, 4-2.

Cubs Square City Series With Chisox

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Cuyler's double followed by Barton's single in the ninth inning gave the Cubs a thrilling 1 to 0 victory over the White Sox today to even the battle for the city series championship at one game each.

Coyote-Ardmore Game Holds Gridiron Spotlight Today

The Game Play by Play

First Inning

Athletics—Bishop fanned, swinging, and the crowd roared. Haas struck out, swinging at a low curve. Cochrane grounded out to Gelbert. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals—High struck out, taking a third called strike. Roettger singled cleanly into center field. Frisch singled to right and Roettger dashed to third. Bottomley hit over second and Roettger scored, Frisch stopping at second. Hafey struck out, swinging. Martin hit against the rightfield screen, scoring Frisch and sending Bottomley to third. It was a two-base hit. Wilson grounded out to Williams. Two runs, four hits, no errors.

Second Inning

Athletics—Simmons bounded out, Gelbert to Bottomley. Foxx struck out on a called third strike. Miller struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Gelbert filed to Miller. Derringer bounded to Williams and was thrown out. High singled to right. Roettger filed to Haas, the center fielder racing over to the right field wall to make the catch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning

Athletics — Dykes singled off High's glove. Williams singled sharply past first and Dykes raced to third. Grove fanned with the bat on his shoulder. Bishop hit to Bottomley and Dykes was run down between home and third base, Wilson making the putout. Williams scored on Haas' two-base drive into left field, Bishop stopping at third. Cochrane walked and the bases were filled. Simmons also walked, forcing in Bishop. Haas and Cochrane scored on Foxx's line single through the infield to center, Simmons stopping at second. Miller hit in front of the plate and was out, Wilson to Bottomley. Four runs, four hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Johnson was warming up for the Cardinals as the inning ended. Frisch and Bottomley filed to Miller. Hafey struck out, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fourth Inning

Athletics—Dykes singles over Gelbert's head for his second hit. Williams fanned, breezing at the third one. Grove struck out swinging. He was Derringer's seventh strikeout victim. Bishop singled into right and Dykes stopped at second. Haas was out, Frisch to Bottomley. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Martin singled to left for his second hit. Wilson hit into a double play, Bishop to Williams to Foxx. Gelbert singled over second. Derringer struck out swinging. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning

Athletics—Cochrane drove a single to right center. Simmons fanned, taking a third called strike. Foxx grounded out to Gelbert, forcing Cochrane. Gelbert to Frisch. Miller forced Foxx, Gelbert to Frisch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals—High filed to Simmons. Roettger struck out, swinging. Frisch bounced to Bishop. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Inning

Athletics—Dykes walked. Williams bunted and was safe when Derringer fell fielding the ball. It was a single and Dykes was perched on second. Grove struck out on a called third strike. Bishop lined to Bottomley who stepped on first to retire Williams on a double play unassisted. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals—Bottomley bounced to William and was out at first on a brilliant play. Hafey singled to center. Martin singled for his third successive hit, Hafey stopping at second. Wilson filed to Simmons. Hafey stole third, sliding under Dykes as the latter leaped for Cochrane's high throw. In the argument Martin caught the Athletics napping and took second. Gelbert grounded out, Williams to Foxx. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning

Athletics—Haas hoisted to Frisch. Cochrane singled into right field. Simmons drove a long drive into the left field bleachers for a home run, scoring Cochrane ahead of him. Foxx drove a sharp single through the box. Miller forced Foxx at second, Gelbert to Frisch. Dykes filed to Martin. Two runs, three hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Flowers batted for Derringer and grounded out Dykes to Foxx. High fould out to Dykes. Roettger smacked a line single to center field. Frisch popped a Texas leaguer into short right for a single, Roettger racing to third. Bottomley grounded out, Bishop to Foxx. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Eighth Inning

Athletics—Johnson went into the box for the Cardinals. Williams fanned, swinging viciously. Grove filed to Roettger. Bishop popped to Frisch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Hafey hoisted to Williams. Martin fanned on a called third strike. Wilson hit a long drive that Simmons speared on the dead run with his gloved hand up against the left field fence. It was the most sensational play of the game and received a big hand. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning

Athletics—Haas lifted a high fly to Martin. Cochrane popped down the third base line and Gelbert made a nice running catch for the putout. Simmons fanned, swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cardinals — Gelbert doubled to left, Blades batted for Johnson and fanned. Mancuso hit for High and fouled to Foxx. Roettger flied to Haas. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sullivans to Play Rhineland Here Sunday

The Sullivans Grocery baseball club of the City league will be the host Sunday to the Rhineland baseball club, winners of second place in the Brazos Valley league, in a return game at Katy park. The Sullivan club journeyed to Rhineland last Sunday and lost a 4 to 1 decision to Rhineland. Steve "Iron Man" Franklin will be on the hill for Sullivans with Loran, Rhineland ace, on the hill for the visitors. An admission charge of 10 cents will be made at the gate. After the game there will be a track and field meet between the two teams with a special race between Lois "Speedy" Anderson and a reputed speed merchant from Rhineland.

SOONER GAME OFFERS TEST

Grid Schedules of Other Teams Filled

Coaches Barry Holton and Charles Lindsey drove their Coyotes through the final workout Thursday in preparation for the Wichita Falls-Ardmore game on the latter's field Friday, a game that promises to hold the spotlight among gridiron fans in Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma this week-end.

In addition to the Coyotes, every other member of the interscholastic league's class A district No. 2 swings into action in practice games; and six teams in the class B district No. 3 carry on conference warfare, but the ballyhoo that has followed the Coyotes, who apparently have a pretty good team this year, centers interest on their showing against the Ardmore eleven, a team reputedly strong despite their 60 to 0 defeat in Oklahoma City last week.

Test for Coyotes

The Wichita Falls-Ardmore game will be the first real test for the Coyotes this season. In keeping their goal line uncrossed through four practice games, the Coyotes rose considerably in the public esteem, but that public was aware all along that the Coyotes' opposition was not so hot. Holding Olney to a scoreless tie in the first game of the season was regarded as quite a feat, but it was overlooked that at that time the Olney team was hardly formed, and was far from working as a unit. Archer City also was held to a scoreless tie. The succeeding victories over Temple and Bowie, however, gave the Coyotes quite a boost.

The Coyotes will depart at 7 a. m. today in buses for Ardmore. A number of fans had planned to accompany the team.

Tigers at Nocona

The Electra Tigers today will journey to Nocona in an effort to jump into the win column. Quanah, powerhouse of the district, will entertain the Gould, Okla., team at Quanah. The Grandfield, Okla., eleven will invade Vernon. The Childress Bobcats will journey to Hollis, Okla. First it was intended to play the game at Childress, but a last minute decision to have it on the Oklahoma grid was made.

In the class B district Megargel's game at Archer City promises to be the closest and hardest fought. Crowell, playing at Seymour, should encounter no trouble; and Chillicothe, another favorite, should find Munday easy pickings. The latter game will be played at Chillicothe.

The Olney Cubs were originally scheduled to play Henrietta, but the Henrietta team forfeited. The Cubs hastily scheduled a game with Bowie, which will be played on the Olney grid. Henrietta meanwhile booked a practice game with the Iowa Park Hawks, which will be played at Iowa Park.

Burk Plays Fairview

Burkburnett, the other team in the district, will play Fairview. Fairview recently withdrew from the district, so the game will be merely a practice affair. The game will be played at Burkburnett.

Among other games scheduled today are the following:

Wilson, Okla., at Waurika, Okla.
Lubbock at Lamesa.
Mineral Wells at Breckenridge.
Decatur at Alvord.
Olustee, Okla., at Mangum, Okla., night game.
Frederick, Okla., at Altus, Okla.
Norman, Okla., at Lawton, Okla.
Saint Jo at Bellevue.
Hobart, Okla., at Sayre, Okla.
Estelline at Wellington.
Amarillo Yannigans at Memphis.
Quitaque at Clarendon.
Paducah at Childress (B team).
Walters, Okla., at Comanche, Okla.

"Small" Watermelon Of 151 Pounds Received By Mangum Man

Special to The Record News.

MANGUM, Okla., Oct. 1.—A watermelon weighing 151 pounds was received this week by Dr. G. F. Border as a gift from Dr. W. N. John of Hugo, Okla. Dr. John informed Dr. Border that this was one of the smaller melons in the patch—the larger ones had already been eaten.

The giant measured 70 inches in circumference and 18 inches in diameter.

Texas Christians Off To Battle Tulane Team

FORT WORTH, Oct. 1. (AP)—Coach Francis Schmidt and 26 of his Texas Christian university Horned Frogs entrained tonight for Tulsa, Okla., where Saturday they will battle Tulsa university's Golden Hurricane.

For three seasons the Tulsa eleven has been powerful afield. This season it was heralded as almost devastating.

Dexter Shelley Released By Pro Football Team

PORTSMOUTH, Oct. 1. (AP)—Dexter Shelly, former university of Texas halfback, was released by the Portsmouth Spartans, professional football team, today, to cut the team to the 22 player limit required by the National Football league.

The Reagan Junior High school Redbirds make their initial appearance of the season on the home field this afternoon in a game with the Burkburnett Junior High school team. A. D. Beck, Reagan coach, announced Thursday night his men were in the best of condition, and ready to go at the first warble of the whistle.

The game to be played on Culbertson field, Eleventh and Harrison streets, will start at 3:45 o'clock. As it will be the only football game in the city today, the Coyotes being scheduled to play at Ardmore, Okla., a good turnout of fans was expected. Reagan Junior high, under the guidance of Coach Beck, has always put a scrapping team in the field, and has produced outstanding stars who later made good on the Coyote team.

An admission charge of 10 cents for students and 25 cents for adults will be made, it was announced.

Little was known here of the strength of the Burkburnett team, but a fighting crew was expected, as the two schools reached an agreement that all Burkburnett ineligibles would be permitted to go into the Burkburnett lineup. A host of ineligibilities, coupled with a lack of sufficient material in the first place, forced Burkburnett to withdraw from the recently organized Junior High school conference hence today's game will be a practice battle.

C. W. Hawley, former Kansas Aggie player, has taken charge of football at Kemper Military academy, Boonville, Mo.

Miss Lulu Bell Gorman won the Texas women's fancy diving championship in a contest at Austin.

MRS. FISK IN THIRD PLACE

Wichita Star Overtakes Leader to Win

DALLAS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Mrs. F. C. Rochon of Wichita Falls, current Texas woman's municipal golf association state champion, added another title to her collection here today. Concluding 54 holes of medal play with a total score of 258, Mrs. Rochon won the second annual Dallas Woman's Golf association invitation tournament.

Starting the final 18 holes three strokes back of Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Mrs. Rochon played consistent golf, while Mrs. Chandler's game fell to pieces.

Mrs. R. R. Fisk of Wichita Falls, 1931 Texas Woman's Golf association state champion, finished in third place.

Rochester Squares Little World Series

ST. PAUL, Oct. 1. (AP)—Behind splendid pitching of Herman Bell, Rochester played brilliantly today, to defeat St. Paul, 5 to 2, and pull even in the little world's series. St. Paul won yesterday 4 to 0.

Blasting John Murphy, the Saints star young right-hander from the box in the sixth inning, the International league champions scored four runs on four hits and two bases on balls. They added another run off Harris in the ninth on a walk, single and Pepper's long fly.

A fund begun 20 years ago at Kansas State College now has grown sufficiently to purchase the desired pipe organ.

5,500 SERVED DAILY IN SCHOOL CAFETERIAS

EXPERT DRAWS WEEK'S MENUS

Unified Direction of Cafeterias Proves Worth

year takes on the dimension of a gigantic assignment. Yet that is exactly the job which was given to Mrs. Holmes in assuming her position here last month.

The first step toward bringing this city-wide plan of dietetics within the grasp of one individual was the establishment of a central purchasing office, which is located in the Austin school building. From her desk there, Mrs. Holmes provides for the daily distribution of food in enormous quantities to the different school cafeterias. But first there has been the matter of inspecting and selecting the fruits and vegetables and other produce which shall be chosen. Not only are the cafeterias given the benefit of quantity buying, but also of meticulous selection of all foods from the standpoint of quality.

Heretofore each school cafeteria has maintained its own management in the matter of purchasing supplies, as well as in the preparation and sale of the prepared lunches. The consolidation of their various needs results in a daily order of considerable volume. These purchases are to be distributed throughout the year, it was said, among those Wichita Falls firms prepared to provide the best grades of food products and at prices which the volume-orders command.

Proper Foods

Purposes long cherished by heads of the public schools are being better served by the system now being perfected, according to their testimony. Proper foods, and their unhurried consumption under comfortable environment, are highly conducive to good scholarship. For that reason, provision of proper nourishment at noon within a limited period of time has been the chiefest objective of the schools in establishing the cafeterias.

Maintenance of a proper balance of nutritive elements in the midday meal is a primary goal toward which the efforts of Mrs. Holmes and all public school principals and teachers are now being directed. Accomplishment of that purpose requires attention which varies in the different schools. In the lower grades, pupils have shown themselves easily amenable to direction from their teachers. The youngster who reaches the cashier's post with too heavy a portion of sweets upon his tray has been willing, upon suggestion, to exchange a sweet pudding for a vegetable dish or a fruit salad. It was easy to induce him to combine something other than ice cream with his glass of milk.

In the higher grades, including the high school and junior college, a much wider variety of foods is offered than in the elementary schools. In such groups, Mrs. Holmes pointed out, there will be less actual direction in the cafeteria, but will be more instruction in class rooms. The plan recently announced by the Red Cross here, she said, to give teachers regular instruction in dietetics will serve materially to increase the dietary guidance given public school pupils.

All menus are prepared one week in advance by Mrs. Holmes. According to these outlines the manager of each cafeteria in the city schools supplies the purchasing office daily with a requisition for supplies to be delivered the following day. Selection of the required food and arrangements for its delivery, are completed on the day before it is to be used. One menu is supplied for the elementary schools, and another for the junior and senior high schools.

Many Use Cafeteria

The percentage of pupils who utilize the cafeteria varies with the different schools, according to those in charge. The regular monthly report for September has not yet been filed, but it was indicated that the percentage ranges from 80 per cent of the student body down to 40 per cent. The Alamo school was said to have the patronage of a larger percentage of its pupils than any other elementary school in the city. At the board of education offices, it was said that many children are bringing various small articles of food from home as the noonday lunch.

At the high school and junior college cafeteria, it was said, there has been an increased patronage because of the rule invoked this year forbidding students to obtain lunch elsewhere unless they are excused to go home for that meal. Protests which greeted that announcement when it first was made are said now to have been silenced because of avowed satisfaction of students with the cafeteria accommodations.

Price schedules effective in the various schools are the same as during the past year, according to Mrs. Holmes. It was pointed out, however, that a reduction in food costs generally, and the further saving effected by quantity buying, have made possible the provision of considerably more food at the same price. Students declared that as much food can be secured now for 15 cents as was formerly obtainable for 20 cents.

In many of the elementary school cafeterias, a five-cent plate lunch has been provided, and is being used by hundreds of children. The plate contains a generous portion of two different vegetables, together with bread of some kind. For five cents, the pupil may purchase a one-third bottle of milk. As an accompaniment to an apple, banana or sandwich which may have been brought from home, the pupil may obtain a half-pint of sweet milk and one Graham cracker for four cents. This item also has many users.

Throughout the system of schools, there has been a marked increase in the consumption of certain articles. Spinach and carrots, (belive it or go and see) have approximately doubled in consumption by Wichita Falls' scholastics. Carrots are a favorite not only as a cooked dish, creamed or buttered; but also as the ingredient of a raw vegetable salad. Of all the bean family, pinto beans are far and away the favorite, particularly in the lower grades.

Meats, are now available at all of the school cafeterias. According to Mrs. Holmes, managers of the various establishments said that in past years many parents criticized the standard menu because it usually lacked meat. Various kinds of cold and cooked meats are now part of the regular diet at each school.

Inspection of the cafeteria at the high school Thursday provided a representative of the Record News with a demonstration not only of the variety and quality of food offered at surpisingly low prices, but of the ease with which vast numbers of pupils are served within a few minutes time.

In this, the senior educational unit of the city's system, the high school and junior college pupils have from 12 to 1:20 o'clock for luncheon. The student body is divided, into four sections. One section is admitted at 12 o'clock, on a bell signal. At 12:20 p. m. they must have quitted the cafeteria, and have four minutes more in which to report to their respective rooms. Yet, at the 12 o'clock bell, there was no stampede such as one might expect from some 200 hungry, healthy young males despite the presence of 200 also hungry but winsome young ladies. The movement to food counters was swift, but orderly. In approximately eight minutes, all had obtained their chosen food, and were seated.' For those last to be served, there remained at least 12 minutes for eating—which allows ample time for orthodox mastication of food, since there is "no place to go" before class.

Those who have observed high school and junior college students during the noon intermission in past years will be loudest in their approval of the present system there, school officials believe. Stampedes to nearby eaitng places, sandwich stands, candy wagons, etc., afforded perhaps a moment of healthful outdoor exercise, but sacrificed much from the standpoint of the food obtained. Hurriedly fried stuffs; heavy pies, cakes, candies represented a large part of the food thus obtained. Often there was but a minute or two for its consumption, en route.

Typical of the nutritious foods being offered to pupils in all the local schools, the menu offered by Mrs. Kathryn R. Keith and her staff of assistants at the high school Thursday was a convincing argument for the excellence of the entire system. The Record News representative was privileged to be the beneficiary of a sample selection of a well-balanced and appetizing luncheon. He was not given meat, but a generous portion of green beans which melted in his mouth. Not potatoes, but a deliciously seasoned helping of macaroni with cheese.

A liberal combination of pineapple and lettuce, with a sharp dressing, as a salad. Luscius lemon pie, with genuine egg-mirangue, for dessert. Browned cornbread, and a one-third quart of sweet milk. The listed price was 25 cents. That is why the student body is now so eminently pleased with cafeteria luncheon accommodations.

Typical of the diet which is being offered is that which has been used this week. There are, on some days, slight variations from the announced menu, for the reason that of some foods portions will be carried over from one day to the next. Each cafeteria has adequate refrigerator facilities to preserve such vegetables, fruits, and meats as may remain at the end of any given day. The menus used during the past four days were as follows:

Typical Menus

Mrs. Holmes came to Wichita Falls from Corsicana, where she had charge of all cefeterias in the public schools during the past year under the administration of H. D. Fillers, now superintendent of public schools here. Seven years of experience as dietitian preceded Mrs. Holmes' work with the Corsicana schools.

Kreisler Here for Nation-Wide Tour

"Come, Fritz, hurry! We must have the pictures taken" . . . And with these words from Mrs. Kreisler, the world famous violinist posed with his wife, as shown here, upon their arrival in New York from Europe. Note the wire-haired fox terrier which now shares, with Kreisler's treasured Stradivarius, the noted musician's affections. Kreisler will appear in cities throughout the United States on a concert tour this fall.

GAS RATES CUT AT COLEMAN

Hearing on McLean Ordinance Set Tuesday

COLEMAN, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Gas rates were reduced from 60 to 35 cents a thousand cubic feet here today. The 50-cent service charge was abolished.

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Pat M. Neff, member of the railroad commission and Laten Stanberry, chief of the utilities division of the commission, will hold a hearing Tuesday in McLean, Gray county, on the McLean Gas company's appeal from a city ordinance lowering the gas rate.

Pending outcome of the hearing, the city ordinance was suspended by the railroad commission, the gas company posting a bond of $6,000 to assure consumers of a refund in event the commission finds a rate lower than the existing one is reasonable.

The situation lowering the gas rate from 67½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet to 50 cents, was suspended by the commission pending a hearing, the utility company posting bond to insure consumers a refund should one be ordered.

Soldiers Sent To Oil Field Again

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 1. (AP)—The military lid on Oklahoma's flush oil wells was pounded down vigorously today and national guardsmen again were ordered into the cluster of great gushers on the doorstep of Oklahoma City to keep it there.

New orders of Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, generalissimo of the martial law shutdown effected nearly two months ago by his cousin, Gov. William H. Murray, particularly hushed what operations remained in the Oklahoma City field, following charges of royalty owners of illegal production and oil runs under the cover of night.

Late in the day Adj. Gen. Charles F. Barrett assigned seven national guard officers to night motor patrol in the field. For weeks the shutdown has been enforced by state and oil company civilian officers, without the actual presence of the military.

The new order came soon after Governor Murray, visited by a group of oil operators, had promised to devote himself next week to problems arising from the shutdown.

POLICE QUELL GLASGOW RIOT

Jobless Demonstrations Are Put Down

LONDON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Mounted police armed with batons today broke up serious riots in Glasgow and Salford, Lancashire, and in Bristol and London there were imposing unemployed demonstrations which, however, went off without police being required to interfere.

A crowd of 50,000 jobless was charged by mounted police on Glasgow green tonight. Several persons were injured in the riot, climax of a day of unemployment demonstrations in Scotland's principal industrial city.

Among those injured in the riot were several policemen. Two sergeants and one constable required hospital treatment.

As the crowd was driven from the green members attacked shops, smashing window panes and helping themselves to whatever they could lay their hands on.

In Salford, in the heart of the hard-hit textile area, police battled a mob half an hour before restoring order and many persons were arrested.

The Salford rioting centered at the city hall where the municipal government was debating a cut of nearly $300,000 in the relief fund. A crowd numbering thousands and carrying red banners stormed the building.

Armed with stocks and shouting "Remember 1914!" they attempted to rush the entrance but were held back by police. Women members of the mob bit and scratched the guards.

In Bristol demonstrators marched with banners reading "Not a Penny Off the Dole," "Down With the National Government" and "We Support Our Naval Comrades"—the last being a reference to the strike by members of the Atlantic fleet in protest against the naval pay cuts in the government's economy program.

West Texas C-C Seeks Tax Cut

Bandeen of Stamford, manager; Maury Hopkins of Plainview, assistant manager; and F. W. Kennerly of Quanah, district director who presided at the sessions. Others to attend included Emery Manefee and Courtney Hunt, Haskell; W. N. Hart and J. A. Wheat, Seymour; Farland Eubanks, Throckmorton; Ed C. Burrus, Graham; J. W. Ryan and R. D. Rawls, Munday; L. A. Wilson, J. L. Showers, and Ray Nichols, Vernon; George A. Soyar and Albert Chaney; J. W. Debenson and E. B. Addington, Childress; J. T. Gilmer, Graham; and numerous city and county officials and Wichita Falls business men.

Name Committees

Delegates attending the meeting agreed that the best way to reduce taxes is to reduce governmental expenditures, and decided that chamber of commerce tax committees should be named in each of the 10 towns affiliated with this district of the West Texas chamber.

That West Texas is paying more than its just portion of state taxes was the charge of Mr. Bandeen, manager of the organization.

West Texas Burdened

The 130 counties in the West Texas chamber area are paying well over half the state's governmental costs and are receiving far less than that proportion in return, he said.

This territory comprises more than two-thirds the area of the state, yet of the 23,000 miles of state designated highway, only 8,000 are in West Texas," he said. "Of the common school fund, we receive only 30 per cent. I don't want to appear sectional, but there are counties in East Texas which receive more from the common school fund alone than they pay toward the state government."

Taxation often has been referred to," he said, "as America's fastest growing industry."

As a preliminary, he asserted that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce feels particularly at home in Wichita Falls because "your city produced both the father and godfather of our organization."

"It was the idea of your late Mr. Kemp which resulted in the formation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce," the speaker continued. "Then W. B. Hamilton became our second daddy when, during his tenure as president, the chamber was reorganized."

Nine Conferences

The conference is one of a series of nine divisional meetings held within the area served by the West Texas chamber in line with the purpose of urging that the 101 affiliated chambers name local committees to study tax problems.

Another purpose of various of the meetings, it was explained, was to urge that a beautification committee be named in each community.

"The response already received to the suggestion that community tax committees be named to work with the general tax committee of the West Texas chamber has shown beyond question that West Texas is more keenly alive to the importance of the problem than probably ever before," Mr. Bandeen asserted.

"The local committees are urged to make close studies of public expenditures, in the belief that the reduction of such expenses must inevitably be followed by a reduction in the tax burden."

Mr. Bandeen also explained the desirability of appointing local beautification committees, a subject in which Houston Harte of San Angelo, president of the chamber, has taken particular interest. Mr. Harte was called out of the state a few days ago and was unable to be present.

Mr. Bandeen recalled that Mr. Harte had pointed out that the apparent barrenness of West Texas had been one of its liabilities in the past. Systematic and thoroughly logical beautification programs, he contended, would result in material benefit to property values.

Radio Network in Africa

British interests are considering the construction of radio stations through the length of Africa for general communication purposes and to facilitate the Cape-to-Cairo air line.

SPEEDING UP

Railroads Move to Compete With Motor Transportation

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1. (AP)—With the announcement today of establishment of an over-night fast freight train, the "Merchandise Special," the Missouri Pacific railroad joined with the St. Louis Southwestern railroad in meeting the competition of trucks with a passenger train schedule for less than carload shipments. The St. Louis Southwestern announced its new fast freight train, the "Blue Streak," Wednesday.

Both trains will leave St. Louis after the close of the business day and will arrive in Shreveport, La., before noon the following day, with second morning deliveries to points in North Texas.

All St. Louis railroads serving the Southwest today inaugurated the free pick-up and delivery service of less than carload shipments.

HUFF DENIES SPUDDER YARN

Browns Haven't Decided To Move Franchise

DALLAS, Oct. 1. (AP)—The Dallas News says the St. Louis American league club may transfer its Wichita Falls, Texas league franchise to El Paso next year.

"From the most authoritative source it is learned that it not only is being considered most seriously, but already is almost a certainty," The News says.

The News explained the problem of much additional mileage apparently was offset by the more promising outlook for attendance in El Paso. An official of the Texas league today explained El Paso drew 75,000 customers in class D baseball last season.

The News also said the Chicago National league club might purchase the Shreveport Texas league club. The News stated Tyler was making a bid for a Texas league franchise and was willing to put up a $50,000 plant.

In connection with the Dallas News' assertion that it "already is almost a certainty" that the Wichita Falls Texas league franchise will be moved to El Paso next year, William E. Huff, Spudder president, said tonight:

"I have every reason to believe that the St. Louis American league club has not yet reached a definite decision to move the Wichita Falls franchise, and that it will not reach a decision one way or the other until a thorough investigation has been made.

"Furthermore, when a decision is reached, an announcement to that effect will come either from the local office, or from the St. Louis office."

BROWNS "PLANS" NEWS TO EL PASO

EL PASO, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Secretary Lee Saunders of the El Paso baseball club has heard nothing regarding a reported plan of the St. Louis American league club to move its Wichita Falls franchise to El Paso.

"It is news to me," Mr. Saunders said tonight. "Also I don't know just now whether we would be interested in such a proposition. We would have to hear what the Browns have to say about it. The El Paso club is owned by the citizens of El Paso and they might want to keep it that way."

As to El Paso's making a bid to secure a Texas league franchise, Mr. Saunders said that in answering a business letter from Ted Robinson of the Fort Worth club he had asked Robinson's opinion of El Paso's entering the Texas league. Mr. Robinson replied that President Gardner of the Texas circuit would write him about it in a few days.

Since the close of the season there has been some talk in local baseball circles about El Paso going after a Texas league franchise, but outside of Mr. Saunders' letter to the Fort Worth president there has been no definite move in that direction.

El Paso has attracted much interest in baseball circles by its success in the Arizona-Texas league, a class D. organization. In 1930 it drew nearly 60,000 fans, and this year approximately 70,000. The El Paso club also contributed $775 monthly to the support of other clubs in the circuit during the past season. The club won the pennant, defeating Bisbee, Ariz. in the playoff. Royce "Mule" Washburn is manager of the team.

HE OUGHT TO KNOW

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1. (AP)—P. de C. Ball, president of the St. Louis Browns, said tonight there was "absolutely nothing" to a report the Browns would transfer the Wichita Falls franchise of the Texas league to El Paso next year.

"That's the first I've heard of it," Mr. Ball said. "There is absolutely nothing to it."

Wichita Falls is controlled by the Browns.

Borger Bank Loot Still Unrecovered

STINNETT, Texas, Oct. 1. (AP)—Hutchinson county authorities tonight had not recovered funds taken from the Borger State bank although Roland Rugeley, bank teller, and Lewis Clark, rooming house proprietor, charged in connection with the robbery, were grilled repeatedly.

District Attorney McConnell and A. B. Cooper of detective agency were at the county jail here tonight presumably seeking information from Rugeley and Crim that might lead to discovery of the missing money.

The bank was robbed Sunday night. Rugeley gave a signed statement in which he said about $3,200 of the $8,100 missing from the bank was accounted for in the shortage of his books.

SECOND BANK IN SIZE FORMED

Bank of America and National City to Combine

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—A plan of consolidation of the Bank of America with the National City bank—creating an institution closely approaching the Chase National bank, largest in the world, in total resources—was announced by heads of the two institutions today.

It was explained the plan was in conformity with a program announced last week by the Transamerica corporation, which holds a 63 per cent interest in Bank of America, under which Transamerica proposed to divest itself of controlling interests in banks.

The Bank of America, which June 30, reported resources of $338,300,313, has been the second most important unit in the Transamerica corporation's group of companies. Transamerica has operated since formation as a holding company for properties assembled by A. P. Giannini of California, and its chief property is the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Bank of California, a $1,000,000,000 institution. Elisha Walker, chairman, said there was no plan under consideration at this time for disposition of control of that institution.

The Bank of America is only about one-sixth size of the National City bank, which June 30, reported resources of $1,973,140,595 but it has 35 branches, in New York City, which substantially will augment National City's system now comprising 54 branches.

The plan contemplates exchange of National City stock for Bank of America stock, on the basis of one share of the former for 1 2-3 of the latter, so Transamerica corporation will become an important minority stockholder in National City.

Eastern Rail Merger Agreed

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Executives of leading eastern railroads today announced their agreement on details of a plan for merging lines in this territory into four major systems.

The proposal will be submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission whose approval is necessary before it can become effective.

Ending eight years of negotiation, the presidents of Pennsylvania New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate group smoothed out troublesome points which had been standing in the way of a final decision on the plan announced at the White House last December.

What disposition was made of these questions was not revealed in the short formal statement issued after the close of the meeting at Pennsylvania terminal.

The general consolidation plan provided for the following groupings:

To the New York Central: Lackawanna, and direct connection with the Virginian at Tidewater.

To the Pennsylvania: Wabash, the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, and Norfolk & Western.

To the Baltimore & Ohio: Ann Arbor, Reading, Central of New Jersey; Western Maryland, the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh, Buffalo & Susquehanna, Lehigh and Hudson River and Chicago & Alton.

To the Chesapeake & Ohio-Nickel Plate: Erie, Bessemer & Lake Erie, Pere Marquette, Wheeling & Lake Erie, Chicago & Eastern Illinois and Lehigh Valley, giving the Pennsylvania certain trackage rights over the Lehigh.

The four principal roads have already acquired control, either directly or indirectly, or most of the properties necessary to complete the proposed redistribution.

By uniting into four strong systems the eastern railroads have long contended substantial operating economies could be effected and rail transportation service could be improved.

Governor Clears His Desk of Bills

AUSTIN, Oct. 1. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today had cleared his desk of all bills save one sent him by the second extra ordinary session of the 42nd legislature.

The one remaining piece of legislation undisposed of is the bill by Representative Ben F. Brooks of Bagwell, proposing to allocate one cent of the four-cent gasoline tax to counties for retirement of highway bonds, proceeds of which were spent for construction on the state system. Heretofore three cents have gone to the highway department and one cent to the schools. The schools as provided in the constitution would continue to receive their allotment.

Opponents of the bill claimed to take one cent from the highway revenue would hamper highway building in the state. Governor Sterling was chairman of the highway commission for four years and his experience there will move him to protect it from impairment of revenue by vetoing the proposal, opponents of the bill stated.

The governor signed the bill repealing a tax levied on peddlers by the regular session. Proponents of the repeal claimed the tax operated against many persons who were not engaged as peddlers.

Longshore Strike Quiet First Day at Galveston

GALVESTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—The first day of the longshore strike passed uneventfully today with all vessels affected by the action making no attempt to load ships.

Steamship operators announced they will begin loading vessels in port tomorrow with non-union labor. No serious trouble was anticipated immediately and the wharf police had not been augmented. No early settlement of the strike, affecting 3,000 longshoremen in Galveston, Houston, Texas City and Corpus Christi was in prospect tonight.

Nathan Bedford Forrest, Confederate cavalry leader, had 29 horses shot from under him in battle, but was never seriously wounded.

GAS SUIT GOES TO WAURIKA

Federal Court Refuses to Hear Case

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 1. (UP)—Gov. William H. Murray's suit to have a permanent receiver named for the Lone Star Gas company and to confiscate its properties will be heard in the Jefferson county district court.

Judge John Pollock rejected the petition of the company's attorneys to have the suit remanded to the federal court, late yesterday.

Governor Murray, through his attorney, Leon Hirsh, filed the suit against the company as a part of his fight against public utilities in the state, to get lower gas rates.

The suit charged the company had made false reports to the state and had charged exhorbitant rates for its service in Oklahoma cities.

In addition to asking for a permanent receiver, the suit asked $365,000 penalties and fees, allegedly due the state for back taxes over a period of 11 years and revocation of the company's charter.

Subsidiaries of the Lone Star company were also named in the suit.

Judge Pollock is judge of the Kansas City district. He was asked to rule in the case when Judge R. L. Williams of the Muskogee district, disqualified himself.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (AP)—Increased southern hedging together with some liquidation and local selling appeared responsible for further declines in cotton today.

All months made new low ground for the movement, with December declining to 5.86, or 16 points net lower. Closing quotations were at the lowest on most positions, with the market barely steady at net declines of 15 to 16 points.

The opening was steady 2 to 4 points lower under a renewal of the recent selling movement which seemed to be promoted by reports of continued good weather for picking in the South and expectations of the usual week-end increase in hedge selling. Southern selling increased somewhat in the later trading sending the price of October contracts off to 5.67 and March to 6.14, with the market closing at these figures.

Liverpool cables reported hedging, continental selling and liquidation in that market due partly to the advance in sterling, and said the home trade in cotton goods was quieter. Exports today 95,915 making 830,394 so far this season. Port receipts 43,742. U. S. port stocks 3,162,632.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today, but prices following a steady opening sagged off rather steadily to new low levels for the season closing 13 to 16 points down for the day. The main cause of the further decline was weakness in the stock market and hedge selling.

Liverpool cables came in 4 to 5 penny points worse than due and private cables stated that there was hedge selling and the continent sold, while local traders liquidated owing to higher sterling. Manchester cabled that the home trade in cloth was quieter. First trades here were unchanged to 1 point up. Prices started downward slowly right after the start under pressure of hedge selling.

Port receipts 43,692; for week 277,820; for season 1,313,655; last season 2,428,030. Exports 89,123; for week 242,448; for season 811,314; last season 1,229,439. Port stock 3,164,609; last year 2,854,929. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 55,383; last year 80,-*21. Spot sales at southern markets 53,942. Last year 58,867.

Each Shift in Trend of Prices Raises Hopes but Slump Goes On

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 1. (US)—Another feverish session was experienced on the stock exchange today. There were several shifts in the trend during the day and on each occasion there was rejoicing that perhaps it marked the end of the current wave of hysterical liquidation. Yet, prices slumped to new lows, even including the railroad section of the market, and final prices were again below the preceding day's closing levels.

Sentiment was hardly improved, though there was a ray of light thrown onto the situation by the announcement that, after many years of dickering, the eastern railroad managers have come to some sort of agreement with respect to the merger scheme first inaugurated by the Interstate Commerce commission. The news, which had been fully forecast in preliminary rumors, was accepted by the market with a brief rally.

There continued in evidence, however, the same feeling of insecurity which has characterized and dominated all recent market sessions. There was insistent report during the market that some announcement of prime importance was impending, though the general sentiment was to accept any definite news currently as favorable; either in the light of bad news out of the way or good news actually developing.

Liquidation continued in undiminished volume, mounting up to a new peak for the current phase of the selling wave at 3,600,000 shares. "Foreign selling" was again advanced as the main source of the offerings, with Canadian liquidation figuring largely in the total.

There is no question but that a great deal of the current liquidation is the result of unreasoned fright, with many important people joining the rank and file in the liquidating movement. In too many instances the selling is a desire for complete liquidity, but the desire seemingly comes too late, following as it does a great downward plunge of values over a two-year period.

While this great liquidating movement continues, there is growing evidence almost daily of an enormous buying demand underneath the surface. This buying has been attracted only recently, and mainly by recognition of the fact that in the great rush to sell good and bad securities are being dumped over together. No discrimination apparently is being exercised by the sellers in the mad rush to liquidate. Very careful, discriminating buying is taking place.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 1. (AP)—Regardless of an unstable stock market, grains kept relatively strong today. Commission house buying of wheat developed volume enough to resist adverse financial factors, purchases being based largely on belief expressed by trade authorities that grain price deflation had been completed, as shown by slenderness of declines in the last month. A steadying influence on grain was the fact that United States 1931 spring wheat yield, unofficially reported as 6.1 bushels an acre, was declared the smallest on record.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ⅛c lower, corn ¼@⅜c off, oats a shade to ⅛c up, and provisions at 2c to 7c advance.

Support for wheat accompanied opinions voiced that hereafter there was likely to be a distinct trend toward buying of commodities, wheat in particular. Country mills were reported as outbidding terminal markets, and primary receipts of wheat today were less than was the case either a week or a year ago.

GRANGE RAPS BEER PROPOSAL

Farm Group Opposes Alcoholic Beverage

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1. (AP)—Legalization of beer as a healthful brew for ailing agriculture is seen by the national grange as a "tragic" prescription which it will oppose.

Instead of producing a tonic for the farmer, the grange predicts resumption of brewing would be detrimental to agriculture through harm done the dairy, poultry, soft drinks and confectionery industries.

A statement by Louis J. Taber, national master, gave the position of the grange which counts upwards of 800,000 members from every state.

In the meantime, the agriculture department, dedicated to helping the farmer, dug into the economics of legalized beer.

The investigation, which Secretary Hyde said had no connection with the White House, was actively begun by Nils A. Olsen, chief of the department's economics bureau, and a corps of assistants.

What the farmer has done since prohibition will be sought by Olsen Some assistance will be asked from the prohibtion bureau.

Aligning with Senator Capper, Republican the grange took the position 4 per cent beer would reduce consumption of dairy products, non-alcoholic beverages and candy. It described as tragic the finding of "so-called national leaders pressing for beer to combat the depression."

Agriculture, the grange held, "would sustain a tremendous loss and one which it could ill afford to bear" if consumption of dairy and poultry products should fall to saloon-day levels because of resumption of brewing.

School And College News

Ford Massey was elected president, Byrant Creighton, vice president, and Louise van Emdem, secretary-treasurer of the Junior College Tennis club Thursday morning when the members met for the first time this year.

Oracy Hankerson was chosen to be publicity agent, Tom McCarty will instruct the members, and A. F. Edwards is sponsoring the group.

The tournament matches are being arranged, and the members will soon go into action.

Girl Reserves

Miss Juanita Kinsey, sponsor of the Girl Reserves of the high school and junior college, addressed the members with a devotional emphasizing the beauty in the code of the organization when the girls met Thursday morning.

The musical entertainment on the program included several vocal selections by James Williams. Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughn gave a reading, "Ma'mselle."

Hiking Club

Dorothy Lindsey was elected secretary of the Junior College Girls' Hiking club Wednesday night, when the members met at her home on Tenth street for a regular "grub."

Miss Lindsey was hostess to about 55 girls who met to finish organization for this year.

Miss Earline Longan, manager of points, instructed the girls as to how they can gain points. She read the bylaws of the organization, indicating specific rules regarding the acquiring of points and the awards at the end of the terms.

Oracy Hankerson, treasurer of the club, urged that the members pay their dues as soon as possible.

According to the custom of the club, the members decided to have two grubs alternating with the two hikes every month. Wednesday afternoon the first hike of the season will be had in the form of a treasure hunt. Each girl will bring her own lunch.

Fair Delegates To Tour County Today

A motorcade will leave Wichita Falls Friday afternoon for a tour of communities in the county to announce the Wichita County fair at Iowa Park Oct. 8-10.

Citizens of Wichita Falls will join a large delegation from Iowa Park here immediately following the Junior chamber of commerce membership luncheon at the Wichita club Friday noon. The caravan will first go to Burkburnett and from there to Clara, Electra and Iowa Park. Stops will be made along the route at rural schools.

The Iowa Park band will accompany the trippers and will give a concert at points where stops will be made. Speakers will briefly announce the fair and the attractions to be seen there. Literature and other forms of publicity will be distributed.

Approximately 40 citizens of Iowa Park will be a part of the caravan. A like number is expected to join the tour here.

All Wichitans who can possibly make the trip are urged to do so, it was announced Thursday by J. H. Durnal, chairman of the good will tours committee of the junior chamber. Those desiring to accompany the delegation are requested to assemble at the Durnal-Jones Rubber company, Eighth and Austin streets, at 1:15 p. m. Transportation will be provided those desiring it.

The luncheon preceding the tour will have as its principal speaker H. D. Fillers, superintendent of schools. The program will be in charge of Gerald Coffey, chairman of the athletics committee.

Hospital's Rays Too Hot, Says Suit

Throckmorton Man Asks $11,000 Damages

Suit for $11,000 was brought in district court Thursday morning by J. V. Faulk against the Magnolia Petroleum company, et al., for damages alleged to have resulted from electric ray treatment given the plaintiff for an injury received in line of duty.

According to the petition, the plaintiff was sent by the defendant company from the point of his employment in Throckmorton county to a Dallas hospital for treatment. The patient was assigned to an interne, said to have been a medical college undergraduate, the petition recites.

When the "expected warmth" of the light treatment amounted to an extremely painful burning, the plaintiff charges, he urgently requested the attendant interne to remove the electrical devices through which the current was being applied. The petition recites that the interne assured the plaintiff that everything was all right, nonchalantly took a chair, and resumed his smoking. When the patient began to cry aloud from the the pain, according to the petition, the interne removed the appliances, and large portions of the flesh on the arm and shoulder were deeply burned.

The plaintiff charges further that he was compelled to go to a physician at Burkburnett for three months to recover from the burns received in the Dallas hospital. He further states that since light treatments could not be taken during that period, the original injuries to the arm and shoulder have become permanent, and that he is permanently disabled from work. He asks $10,000 damages and $1,000 for expenses thus far incurred.

Mrs. Smith Assumes Family Relief Duties

Mrs. T. B. Smith, appointed caseworker for the Family Relief association about three weeks ago, began her new duties Thursday morning, according to Mrs. R. P. Willis, acting executive secretary.

Mrs. Smith was connected with the American Red Cross organization in this city for many years prior to 1930. She was named on the Family Relief association staff shortly after Mrs. Effie McHam, executive secretary during the past five years, resigned to accept a similar position at Bartlesville, Okla. Mrs. Willis served as caseworker with Mrs. McHam, and was placed in charge of the relief organization shortly after the latter's resignation.

Both Mrs. Willis and Mrs. Smith will devote the mornings to office work, it was indicated, but outside it. estigations will occupy Mrs. Smith's afternoons. Mrs. Willis will assist with case-work, she said, which consists of compiling authentic information relative to families and individuals seeking aid from the association.

Man Arrested In Theft of Silk Dresses

Silk dresses in black and white patterns proved too much for a husband who was shopping, presumably, with his wife in a local store Thursday, but who later in the day repented in the Wichita county jail.

The dresses inspected by the woman didn't suit. The couple left. The clerk's eye missed familiar designs which a moment before had shone forth upon the display rack. The man and woman were stopped just outside the door, and beneath his jacket were neatly tucked in the two black and white dresses.

He was charged with theft under $50, and will face Judge Irvin J. Vogel Friday morning, according to County Attorney L. V. Abenathy.

ORCHESTRA ELECTS

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 1.—The Electra High school orchestra has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Corrine Reed; vice president, Frank Brouthertin, and secretary, Thomas Williams. Miss Ruth Smith is faculty sponsor. The orchestra had a very successful year last year, and appeared numerous times before social, civic and church organizations.

GOLD SWAMPS FRANCE BANK

Record Reserve Reported In Statement

PARIS, Oct. 1. (UP)—The weekly statement of the Bank of France today showed an all-time record total of gold reserves and emphasized the sharp increase in living costs in France.

The statement showed gold reserves of 59,346,170,306 francs (about $2,370,000,000), the highest in the history of France. It was an increase of 771,000,000 francs (about $30,840,000) over last week, and represents 52.02 per cent of outstanding paper.

The enormous total did not include the record airplane shipments of gold from Holland.

The rise in costs of living has been concurrent with the nation's acquisition of its huge gold reserve, the Bank of France statement pointed out. Using living costs of 1914 as a base, the government statistics showed an increase of six times the costs on 13 necessary products in every day use. Textiles, minerals, and imported raw stuffs, all showed values below those of 1914, but domestic manufactured goods, meat and domestic foodstuffs all cost more now than in 1914.

Big Spring service clubs conduct inspection tours through the industrial plants of the city, and among other things members learn how oil is refined, electricity is made, locomotives are repaired, and ice manufactured.

Committee at Work On Fire Prevention Plans

Arrangements for fire prevention week were studied at a meeting of the Junior chamber of commerce fire prevention committee Thursday afternoon. The committee is headed by Roy Carter.

The committee met jointly with the fire chief's cabinet, headed by Lester Jones and the Insurance Exchange fire prevention committee, head by Julian Ivy. V. R. Smitham city manager, was also present.
