Two Youths Are Robbed Last Night

Stripped Of Clothes And Left Nude On Lorenzo Highway

ROBBED of their automobile and all their clothing, two Lubbock young men were left nude on a side-road about two miles west of Lorenzo last night. They said they were accosted on the courthouse square here by an armed man.

G. S. Dowell, superintendent of Lorenzo schools, and Rev. Bill Draper, Baptist minister, picked up the boys about 11:30 p. m. as the men were returning to Lorenzo from Lubbock. Mr. Dowell said one of the boys said his name was Madden; the other was not identified.

NAMES ARE KNOWN

Sheriff Abel at 1:30 o'clock this morning was informed the boys were J. D. Falls, 501 Avenue H, and Howard Madden, also of Lubbock. Falls said his father, J. L. Falls, owned the car.

Driving Through Square

The young men told Mr. Dowell that the boy, whose name was not learned, was driving north through the courthouse square early last night. He stopped for Madden as they planned to go to a circus.

An armed man, with his cap pulled low over his face, held them up there, and told them to drive east toward Lorenzo. About two miles west of Lorenzo, they were forced to drive a mile north of the highway. The bandit commanded them to take off all their clothing. They complied, losing even their shoes and socks. The gunman put the clothes in the car, a 1929 Ford tudor sedan, and drove back toward the highway.

Officers Notified

The boys, after going to Lorenzo, officers notified, returned to the hijacking scene with Nightwatchman Cook. Mr. Dowell called Sheriff Tom Abel here, and Deputy Sheriffs Cap Moore, Baxter Honey and Bedford

Small Challenges Sanderford To Bring Jim Ferguson To Stand To Disprove Testimony Given By Others

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. — Deposits in currency in an Austin bank to the credit of accounts controlled by James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor of Texas, were described today to the Texas senate by W. R. Long, jr., a bookkeeper in the bank.

Long was produced by the steering committee conducting an investigation into affairs of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission to corroborate testimony given Tuesday by Frank W. Chudej, former business associate of Ferguson, who said he had banked for Ferguson approximately $22,000 in currency, handed to him at intervals by Ferguson over a period from Jan. 4, 1933 until he quit Ferguson's employ Aug. 19.

R'ght Is Challenged

Long's testimony came after Roy Sanderford and Will M. Martin, senators and political friends of Ferguson, challenged the right of its place in the record.

"You have the team and the umpire but with all that you can not win," Sanderford shouted, referring to what he termed as "anti-Ferguson" senators in dominance on the committee and to George C. Purl, Dallas senator.

"Oh yeah?" remarked Senator Small of Amarillo.

"I believe in upholding Texas sportsmanship; I do not believe in stepping into the ring and hitting below the belt; I always will boo any man who does that. I now boo

One Dead, 12 Injured In Two Texas Auto Mishaps

Victims Were School Students Returning To Their Homes After Grid Games

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 30. (AP) — Leroy Hay, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hay and a member of the Jefferson senior school football team, was instantly killed and Riley Williams, also a Jefferson student, injured in an automobile collision just north of Floresville on the Corpus Christi highway late today.

Williams was taken to a hospital in Floresville where it was said he was not believed to be seriously injured.

Two other boys and a girl, who were in the car with Hay and Williams, escaped with slight injuries.

The accident occured when three automobiles met at a cross road and a heavy sedan in avoiding a collision with a car coming from the cross road crashed into the car occupied by Hay and the other San Antonians.

Six Kidnapers Are Convicted In Luer Trial

All Escape Electric Chair As Demanded By The State But Get Terms Ranging From Five Years To Life

Victim Is Silent

Charges Of Extortion Through Threat Will Be Dropped By State; Luer Is Glad That Trial Is Closed

(By The Associated Press)

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Sept. 30.— Six members of the gang which kidnaped August Luer last July 10 today escaped the electric chair demanded by the state, but were convicted and sentenced to prison terms ranging from life to five years duration.

A circuit court jury found that Mrs. Lillian Chessen, Randol Eugene Norvell, and Percy Michael Fitzgerald should spend the remainder of their lives in an Illinois prison.

Get Lighter Terms

Lesser members of the gang, including Charles Chessen, husband of the convicted woman, received lighter terms. Chessen and Christ Nicola Gitcho, were sentenced to five years and Mike Musiala received a 20-year penalty.

The 77-year-old Alton, Ill., banker, whose five-day captivity and release without payment of a demanded $100,000 ransom brought about the convictions, declined to comment on the justice of the punishment, but admitted he was glad "there wasn't a hung jury so that we don't have to go through the ordeal of having the case tried again."

Halt Other Charges

State's Attorney L. M. Geers said that charges of "extortion by threat" also pending against the sextet, would be stricken from the docket, but with leave to reinstate.

The United States district attorney's office said similar action would be taken with regard to charges of using the mails to extort money.

Former Chief Of Wisconsin Fears Threat

Phillip LaFollette Believes That Life Or Kidnaping Was Threatened; Two Men Sought By Detectives

(By The Associated Press)

MADISON, Wis. Sept. 30. —Phillip F. LaFollette, 35 year old former governor of Wisconsin and his associates were striving tonight to clear up what LaFollette believed was an attempt to kidnap him or kill him at a secluded cottage on Lake Geneva.

Two unidentified men, who called at the cottage about 10:30 p. m. Friday night, about four hours before LaFollette arrived there to spend the night, were the object of a hunt by private detectives and county officials.

Addressed Meeting

The cottage is owned by former Congressman Thomas R. Amlie, of Elkhorn, closely allied with LaFollette in the Wisconsin Progressive Republican party. Both had gone to Kenosha where LaFollette addressed a meeting Friday night. When they returned to the cottage at 2:30 a. m., they found Mrs. Amlie in a state of fright.

About the hour they had intended to return from Kenosha, LaFollette said, the two strangers awakened Mrs. Amlie at the cottage and assumed a menacing attitude when she informed them her husband and the former governor were not there. Tho hours later they called again and went away only after Mrs. Amlie told them she did not expect her husband that night.

Men Wore Masks

As they prowled about outside the house Mrs. Amlie thought she observed that the men wore masks. They made no attempt to break in.

"They may have been men who disliked my political philosophy and wanted to get rid of me," LaFollette said.

The former governor, defeated for renomination at the 1932 primary election, has recently been attacking the NRA program in speeches.

BODIES SOUGHT

LAREDO, Sept. 30. (AP) — Search was being made in the Rio Grande north of Laredo today for bodies of a woman, 65, her son, 22, and three other persons who were believed drowned early yesterday.

Three men and the son were pushing the woman across from the Mexican side on a raft when the raft struck a whirlpool and went to pieces. All disappeared.

Winter Relief Is Promised By FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 30. (AP) President Roosevelt arranged today for food, clothing and fuel for the unemployed through the winter as he completed his round of recess talks with government heads looking to the next stage of the recovery effort.

"The president is determined to take care of all dire necessity."

He said that this means the obtaining of coal as well as the surplus food-stuffs and staples which Mr. Roosevelt already has ordered purchased for delivery to the needy.

The gigantic federal relief undertaking will be commenced within a week and Hopkins expects to announce shortly the method of action. He has $330,000,000 of the original $500,000,000 appropriated by congress and he announced: "We will need all of this."

Kelly Will Be Moved Sunday

Dawn Flight To Oklahoma City Is Being Planned; Several Planes Likely To Accompany Bandit As Escort

(By The Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 30 — George "Machine Gun" Kelly and his wife will be moved by plane to Oklahoma City about dawn tomorrow morning, the Associated Press was informed from a reliable source tonight.

Unless some change in plans is made, the Kellys will be taken from the Shelby county jail under the machine gun guard of a small army of federal agents and Memphis police.

Want Early Start

It was understood that shortly before dawn was selected as the time of departure so that the department of justice agents could get an early start with the prisoners and pass over Little Rock about daylight. The airway from Memphis to Little Rock is lighted but there are no lights from the Arkansas city on into Oklahoma.

Everything is ready for the seventh semi-annual West Texas-New Mexico Wholesale Clothing market to be held here October 9-11, A. B. Davis, manager of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the event, has announced.

Several hundred West Texas and New Mexico retail merchants are expected to come, and a large assortment of ready-to-wear, millinery, shoe and general line, work clothes and other merchandise will be displayed by wholesalers and jobbers from Dallas, Kansas City, Los Angeles, St. Louis and other markets.

The feature of the market will be a fall style show Tuesday evening, October 10.

Total Paid Cotton Farmers In Campaign Is $50,198,279

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP) — The farm administration announced today payments to cotton growers who plowed up their crops in the emergency reduction campaign had reached $50,198,279.

The number of checks sent out is 443,622.

The farm administration said approximately $4,000,000 was being distributed daily and this rate was expected to be maintained or increased until the farmers had been paid approximately $111,000,000.

State Of Texas Prepares For Show Down With Oil Concerns On Anti-Trust Law Violation

Allred Sues 15 Companies For Penalties Of $17,000,000 And Forfeiture Of Rights To Operate In Texas

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 30.—The State of Texas and a group of oil companies charged with violating the states anti-trust laws were preparing today for a court show down.

A suit filed by James V. Allred, attorney general, charging 15 oil companies and two petroleum associations with conspiracy to effect a monoply in marketing refined petroleum products will be called for trial Tuesday by Judge J. D. Moore in Travis county district court.

Penalties Are Asked

Allred sued for maximum penalties aggregating $17,000,000 and for forfeiture of rights of the companies to operate in Texas. He alleged a code of ethics, promulgated by the American Petroleum Institute, approved by the federal trade commission and subscribed to by the defendants, was designed to "freeze out" independent filling station operations and lessen competition.

The recent issuance by the federal government of a code for the oil industry already had complicated the trial. Defense pleas have been filed asking that the suit be dismissed on the ground the acts complained of by Allred have been approved by the president in the oil code.

Dispose Of Pleas

It will be necessary to dispose of these pleas and the state's exceptions before trial can be started.

The pleas in abatement alleged the issue had been foreclosed by the

Green Urges Labor Leaders Arbitrate Before Striking

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—In an appeal to restless members of the American Federation of Labor for patience until the recovery program develops fully, President William Green of the federation asked today that dissatisfied workers try to arbitrate before striking.

His statement was taken by some officials of the organization as a keynote for the convention that opens next week. In the declaration issued while thousands of workers, through the country were on strike, Green held that the "right to strike is fundamental."

Indiana Convict Is Shot To Death; Storekeeper Wounded

NASHVILLE, Ind, Sept. 30. (AP)— Joseph Jenkins, one of ten convicts who escaped from Indiana state prison last Tuesday, was shot to death in a gun battle at Beanblossom, near here, tonight.

Herbert McDonald, a storekeeper, was shot in the arm by the man, before William Alltop and Benjamin Kantor, residents of the town, fired their shotguns into his body.

The man died en route to Nashville, the county seat.

WOUNDS FATAL

DENISON, Sept. 30. (AP) — Lloyd Tracy, 28, died at a hospital here today from pistol wounds suffered last night after an altercation with another man. He was survived by his widow and other relatives.

A 26-year-old man was under arrest.

No Provision Intended By Solons For A Tax On Wine

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 30. (AP) — The fact that no provision was placed in the state beer law requiring sellers of 3.2 per cent wine to pay a state or county license fee was intentional, Representative P. L. Anderson of San Antonio said today.

Representative Anderson said the legislature never intended to place a tax upon wine sellers, in commenting upon announcement from other legislators that the beer law would be amended so as to make wine sellers pay a tax.

Convicts Demand Luxury In Cells

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 3. (AP)— Demanding as their price for order radios and daily newspapers in every cell and no one in solitary confinement, ringleaders in the outbreaks at Pennsylvania's Eastern penitentiary have their answer — machine guns commanding every corridor.

"We'll run this prison, not you," Henry N. Woolman, president of the board of trustees, retorted to "The Comet", who as chairman of a convict committee of nine presented the ultimatum. The delegation informed the board the inmates would riot in retaliation but today's disorders were sporadic.

An occasional yowl, smoke now and then from a burning mattress and the refusal of some convicts to eat were the day's developments.

Police Chief Loses Job As He Testifies For Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 30. (AP) — Service as a defense witness in the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping trial without permission of Mayor A. G. Bainbridge cost Chief of Police Joseph his job today.

The mayor qualified the announcement of Lehmeyer's dismissal with the statement that he previously had been considering the charge. Bainbridge said he believed the chief's action deprived him of "the public confidence a police chief must have."

Three West Texans To Face Charges In Shooting And Attempted Robbery

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 30—Philip Anderson, 27, Carl Stewart, 21, and Meri Price, 19, all of the Brownwood vicinity are to face examining trials at Robert Lee probably Monday on charges of assault with intent to murder. Anderson and Price made statements here today in which they admitted a burglary attempt at Bronte Thursday night which resulted in the shooting of T. Fewell Sims, city marshal and nightwatchman.

Anderson said that he carried a 20 gauge shotgun and Price a 30-30 rifle when the two left Stewart's car, which was nearly out of gasoline, and went to the Gulf storage tanks where Sims threw his flashlight on them. Both men fired at Sims when he failed to turn the light away, they stated.

Emergency Funds Are Being Sought

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—John Wood, chairman of the Texas highway commission, said negotiations were under way with federal agencies whereby an appropriation of $8,900,000 would be made available soon for emergency highway construction in drouth and hurricane stricken areas of Texas.

The plan contemplated the use of the state highway department, federal bureau of public roads, the public works administration and the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission in carrying out the projects.

Projects to which funds may be applied would be selected by the state highway department and approved by the bureau of public roads.

The state emergency relief commission would be responsible for selection of common labor and fixing wage rates and for assignment of common labor to projects.

ONLY FOUR NOT RECOVERED

MIDLAND, Sept. 30 (Special)—Of all the scores of automobiles stolen in Midland during the past 12 years, only four have not been recovered, authorities state.

Recently a car was stolen from Billy Bryant, the first since July 1932, or 14 months before. A. C. Francis has been sheriff of Midland county during that time. The car stolen in July, 1932, from J. M. Caldwell, has never been recovered.

Vote Measure Is Passed By Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—The senate yesterday passed a bill to require persons entitled to vote without paying their poll taxes to obtain their exemption certificates before February 1 of the year in which they vote.

The bill also would make the residents of all counties obtain exemption certificates. Under the present law, residents of the smaller counties can vote through making an affidavit that they were exempt from the payment of poll taxes.

The bill was introduced by Senator Archie Parr of Benavides, who said it was designed to minimize illegal voting.

The senate passed a bill by Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler to permit the Smith county commissioners court to purchase trucks for the transportation of road laborers.

A bill to remit to Willacy county the state taxes from Kenedy county was introduced by Parr. The money would be used by Willacy county for drainage purposes.

FIRST BULA BALES

BULA, Sept. 30. (Special)—L. E. Hodge, who resides four miles east of here, brought the first bale to be ginned at the Bula Gin Co., plant this year, on September 19. It weighed 475 pounds. The day before T. J. Manley, who lives four and a half miles northeast, brought the first bale to the new Gage gin. It weighed 445 pounds.

Rain water is not chemically pure.

Groundwork F 1934 Political Campaign Taking Form; Demos Lay Plans

Preparations For Elections Already Begun

Two Distinct School Of Thought Represented In Plans; Coalition Group Is Being Discussed By Democratic Leaders

BY BYRON PRICE.
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. — Groundwork for the 1934 political campaign is being laid very quietly in confidential powwows in Washington and elsewhere.

The preparations bear vividly the mark of the disjointed times. They give expression to the two distinct schools of thought dividing public men today.

Administration leaders go on the theory that past political lines have been wiped out, that a new era has arrived, that the Roosevelt policies will succeed sufficiently to consolidate liberal support behind the president for years to come.

The opposition bases its plans on a belief that the present phase is temporary, that a reaction will set in shortly, that current political dislocation will vanish like a bad dream and the old days of straightout Republican-Democratic warfare will return.

There is wide agreement on both sides that whichever side turns out to have guessed wrong about this basic consideration will lose the election of 1934 and the election of 1936 as well.

Banking On Coalition

EVEN many politicians do not yet realize the extent to which administration men are banking on a continuance of the Democratic-Insurgent coalition founded in 1932.

There is talk already of making an Insurgent Republican Mr. Roosevelt's running mate in 1936. Secretary Ickes is much mentioned.

Friends of Vice-President Garner are convinced he will do his part to clear the way by announcing in due course that he will not be a candidate for renomination.

Of course that is a long way off, but a current insight into Mr. Roosevelt's independent state of mind is afforded by his attitude toward the round robin drawn up by old-line Democratic senators, protesting that too much patronage has gone to Insurgent Republicans.

When he heard about it, the president called one of the senators on the telephone and said in effect:

"I am perfectly willing to receive a round-robin—provided the senators signing it will march down Pennsylvania avenue behind a brass band, and present their petition with due ceremony on the White House lawn."

The strains of the band have not yet been heard.

Watson G. O. P. Chairman

THE confidence of old-line Republicans in a return of political normalcy is evidenced by the fact that many are talking of former senator "Jim" Watson of Indiana for national chairman.

Watson is of the old school, always an intense party man, experienced in rallying temporarily disgruntled elements to stand by the G. O. P.

Watson opposed the first Hoover nomination to the last ditch, and although he went along afterward there was much under-the-surface friction. If he should be chosen national chairman it would mean that the Hooverites had given up hoping for continuing control of the party.

Eye Humphrey Case

BIG Republicans are much interested in the refusal of William E. Humphrey to resign from the trade commission. Back in the Cannon days, Humphrey was a Republican power in the house. Reports are that Mr. Roosevelt wants to replace him with insurgent Philip La-Follette.

The case, still simmering, intrigues politicians because it involves so directly the Roosevelt patronage policy, as that policy bears on a Democratic-Insurgent coalition.

Texas Needy Will Receive Salt Pork

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—The federal emergency relief administration has allotted 3,810,000 pounds of dry salt pork to Texas for distribution to the destitute unemployed by the State Rehabilitation and Relief commission and county agencies, Lawrence Westbrook, director of Texas relief, announced.

Westbrook said the initial shipment of approximately 1,000,000 pounds will be received and distributed about October 7.

Points to which the pork will be shipped in carload lots for distribution to every county in Texas are Beaumont, San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Del Rio, Harlingen, Brownsville, Midland, El Paso, San Angelo, Eastland, Wichita Falls, Paris, Memphis, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Tyler, Lufkin, Longview, Linden, Texarkana, Sweetwater and Amarillo.

RATE SCHEDULE SUSPENDED

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission has suspended pending a yearing, a schedule of gas rates for users in Longview fixed by the city council. Rates charged by the United Gas Public Service company, were reduced by ordinance, from 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, with a fifty cent service charge, to sixty cents without a service charge. The company filed an appeal and bond with the commission and the city's artifrary rates were suspended pending a hearing.

Candidates For Office

Candidates for the office of national president of the American Legion Auxiliary are Mrs. J. J. Doyle (left), of Toledo, and Mrs. William H. Biester, Jr., (right) of Philadelphia. Both women have been active in the Auxiliary. Mrs. Biester is chairman of the National Rehabilitation Committee, and Mrs. Doyle is completing her second term as National Chaplain of the organization. The election will be on October 5, during the national convention at Chicago.

Sampler Made By Girl Of 13 Is On Display At Fair Here

Girls a century ago were able to sew a fine seam or make a fine sampler. As an example there is a sampler on display at the Panhandle-South Plains fair that was made by a 13-year-old girl, Martha Holton, in Northfield, Mass., one hundred and five years ago. She not only made the sampler but spun and wove the cloth on which it was embroidered.

Emergency Funds Are Being Sought

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—John Wood, chairman of the Texas highway commission, said negotiations were under way with federal agencies whereby an appropriation of $8,900,000 would be made available soon for emergency highway construction in drouth and hurricane stricken areas of Texas.

The plan contemplated the use of the state highway department, federal bureau of public roads, the public works administration and the Texas Rehabilitation and Relief commission in carrying out the projects.

Projects to which funds may be applied would be selected by the state highway department and approved by the bureau of public roads.

The state emergency relief commission would be responsible for selection of common labor and fixing wage rates and for assignment of common labor to projects.

Mrs. King Sides of Andrews, who has been a patient at the Lubbock sanitarium, has been taken to the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley, 1724 Broadway.

P. W. Harvey of McCamey spent Friday night as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hicks and attended the Tech-S. M. U. game.

ONLY FOUR NOT RECOVERED

MIDLAND, Sept. 30 (Special)—Of all the scores of automobiles stolen in Midland during the past 12 years, only four have not been recovered, authorities state.

Recently a car was stolen from Billy Bryant, the first since July 1932, or 14 months before. A. C. Francis has been sheriff of Midland county during that time. The car stolen in July, 1932, from J. M. Caldwell, has never been recovered.

Vote Measure Is Passed By Senate

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—The senate yesterday passed a bill to require persons entitled to vote without paying their poll taxes to obtain their exemption certificates before February 1 of the year in which they vote.

The bill also would make the residents of all counties obtain exemption certificates. Under the present law, residents of the smaller counties can vote through making an affidavit that they were exempt from the payment of poll taxes.

The bill was introduced by Senator Archie Parr of Benavides, who said it was designed to minimize illegal voting.

The senate passed a bill by Senator Will D. Pace of Tyler to permit the Smith county commissioners court to purchase trucks for the transportation of road laborers.

A bill to remit to Willacy county the state taxes from Kenedy county was introduced by Parr. The money would be used by Willacy county for drainage purposes.

FIRST BULA BALES

BULA, Sept. 30. (Special)—L. E. Hodge, who resides four miles east of here, brought the first bale to be ginned at the Bula Gin Co., plant this year, on September 19. It weighed 475 pounds. The day before T. J. Manley, who lives four and a half miles northeast, brought the first bale to the new Gage gin. It weighed 445 pounds.

Rain water is not chemically pure.

Groundwork For 1934 Political Campaign Taking Form; Demos Lay Plans

Preparations For Elections Already Begun

Two Distinct School Of Thought Represented In Plans; Coalition Group Is Being Discussed By Democratic Leaders

(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. — Groundwork for the 1934 political campaign is being laid very quietly in confidential powwows in Washington and elsewhere.

The preparations bear vividly the mark of the disjointed times. They give expression to the two distinct schools of thought dividing public men today.

Administration leaders go on the theory that past political lines have been wiped out, that a new era has arrived, that the Roosevelt policies will succeed sufficiently to consolidate liberal support behind the president for years to come.

The opposition bases its plans on a belief that the present phase is temporary, that a reaction will set in shortly, that current political dislocation will vanish like a bad dream and the old days of straightout Republican-Democratic warfare will return.

There is wide agreement on both sides that whichever side turns out to have guessed wrong about this basic consideration will lose the election of 1934 and the election of 1936 as well.

Banking On Coalition

EVEN many politicians do not yet realize the extent to which administration men are banking on a continuance of the Democratic-Insurgent coalition founded in 1932.

There is talk already of making an Insurgent Republican Mr. Roosevelt's running mate in 1936. Secretary Ickes is much mentioned.

Friends of Vice-President Garner are convinced he will do his part to clear the way by announcing in due course that he will not be a candidate for renomination.

Of course that is a long way off, but a current insight into Mr. Roosevelt's independent state of mind is afforded by his attitude toward the round robin drawn up by old-line Democratic senators, protesting that too much patronage has gone to Insurgent Republicans.

When he heard about it, the president called one of the senators on the telephone and said in effect:

"I am perfectly willing to receive a round-robin—provided the senators signing it will march down Pennsylvania avenue behind a brass band, and present their petition with due ceremony on the White House lawn."

The strains of the band have not yet been heard.

THE confidence of old-line Republicans in a return of political normalcy is evidenced by the fact that many are talking of former senator "Jim" Watson of Indiana for national chairman.

Watson is of the old school, always an intense party man, experienced in rallying temporarily disgruntled elements to stand by the G. O. P.

Watson opposed the first Hoover nomination to the last ditch, and although he went along afterward there was much under-the-surface friction. If he should be chosen national chairman it would mean that the Hooverites had given up hoping for continuing control of the party.

Eye Humphrey Case

BIG Republicans are much interested in the refusal of William E. Humphrey to resign from the trade commission. Back in the Cannon days, Humphrey was a Republican power in the house. Reports are that Mr. Roosevelt wants to replace him with insurgent Philip La-Follette.

The case, still simmering, intrigues politicians because it involves so directly the Roosevelt patronage policy, as that policy bears on a Democratic-Insurgent coalition.

Texas Needy Will Receive Salt Pork

AUSTIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—The federal emergency relief administration has allotted 3,810,000 pounds of dry salt pork to Texas for distribution to the destitute unemployed by the State Rehabilitation and Relief commission and county agencies, Lawrence Westbrook, director of Texas relief, announced.

Westbrook said the initial shipment of approximately 1,000,000 pounds will be received and distributed about October 7.

Points to which the pork will be shipped in carload lots for distribution to every county in Texas are Beaumont, San Antonio, Austin, Houston, Del Rio, Harlingen, Brownsville, Midland, El Paso, San Angelo, Eastland, Wichita Falls, Paris, Memphis, Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Tyler, Lufkin, Longview, Linden, Texarkana, Sweetwater and Amarillo.

RATE SCHEDULE SUSPENDED

AUSTIN, Sept. 29. (AP)—The Texas railroad commission has suspended pending a yearing, a schedule of gas rates for users in Longview fixed by the city council. Rates charged by the United Gas Public Service company, were reduced by ordinance, from 75 cents per 1,000 cubic feet, with a fifty cent service charge, to sixty cents without a service charge. The company filed an appeal and bond with the commission and the city's artitrary rates were suspended pending a hearing.

Receipts On Cotton Checks For Lubbock County Tol Near $400,000

Other Cities Getting Cash

Seventy-Three Checks Arrive Here Saturday; Total For Entire Plains Area Set At About $2,161,505

With receipt Saturday morning of 73 additional cotton checks, by County Agent O. G. Tumlinson, Lubbock county's total receipts had been boosted to slightly under $400,000 in the government's payoff for plowing under cotton. Checks totaled over $26,000.

Approximately 39 per cent of the money Uncle Sam has said he would pay the 2,497 farmers who signed reduction of cotton acreage contracts, has been received. Slightly over $610,000 is still due to 1,415 farmers.

The 1,082 checks received so far amount to $395,525.

Check Is Made

Check made Saturday of the area indicates a total of 6,628 checks, amounting to $2,161,505, have been received in 19 out of the 21 counties in this trade territory. Only Garmer and Yoakum counties have not reported receiving checks.

By counties, the number of checks reported, and amounts, are:

| County | Checks | Cash |
|---|---|---|
| Bailey | 319 | $132,000 |
| Briscoe | 57 | 13,792 |
| Cochran | 44 | 9,760 |

This week's checks numbered 69 and amounted to $42,110.

MORTON, Sept. 30. (Special)—Cochran county farmers, to the number of 44, received cotton plowup checks amounting to $9,760. The checks came in Monday through W. T. Magee, county agent at Levelland, who is handling them for Cochran county.

MULESHOE, Sept. 30. (Special)—Bailey county farmers have received 319 cotton plowup checks, amounting to in excess of $132,000 County Agent Waide announces. Last, Saturday $29,000 in checks were received, followed by $55,000 Sunday.

AMHERST, Sep. 30. (Special)—Nearly 700 Lamb county farmers have received cotton checks amounting to $366,726, according to D. A. Adam, county agent.

This week's checks received were: Monday, 60 checks for $28,826; Tuesday, 119 checks for $53,174.

Checks received amount to slightly less than one third in number and to about one-fourth in amount.

COLORADO, Sept. 30. (Special)—So far, 455 Mitchel county farmers have received cotton checks amounting to $131,952, County Agent Baskin states. Monday 107 checks for $25,577 were received.

CROSBYTON, Sept. 30. (Special)—Crosby county farmers are receiving their cotton checks via Guthrie, as County Agent C. E. Morris has had several packages of checks intended for this county, from King county. Total checks up to Thursday amounted to $179,723.

Following the first lot of 63 checks reaching rere Sunday night, 364 more were brought Monday from Guthrie by John Haney, deputy county collector, amounting to $130,808 in all.

Thursday afternoon an additional 165 checks came in, also from Guthrie, for $48,915, making the total in excess of $179,000.

Mr. Morris has advised Washington of the mixup and hopes he has it corrected.

Constitutionality Of NRA Is Challenged In Federal Suit

KNOXILLE, Tenn., Sept. 30 (AP)—The constitutionality of the National Recovery act was challenged in federal court here today in a suit filed by Ralph Starring, an employe of the Southern Silk mills in Rhea county.

Starring claimed he is scheduled to lose his job when the mills go on NRA code Tuesday.

Four Men Are Burned To Death In Wichita Falls Blast

The above picture shows the fire-wrecked plant of the Taxman refinery which burned Thursday at Wichita Falls, with $250,000 loss. Four men on the bubble tower of a cracker, had no chance to escape when a blast started the fire and were burned to death. They were Ralph Spettel, Clyde Holland, Robert Finley and Fred Arbuckle.

New Class To Learn Flying

List To Include Eighty-Four Newly Commissioned Second Lieutenants And Fourteen Enlisted Men In Air Corps

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Eighty-four newly commissioned second lieutenants will be among the new class of 159 to start training at the air corps primary flying school at Randolph field, San Antonio, on Oct. 12. The 75 others who will receive training under the status of flying cadets will include 14 enlisted men from the air corps regular army.

Students who complete the course will be commissioned second lieutenants in the air reserve. Heretofore, such officers were assigned to extended active duty, but due to curtailment in war department appropriations it is not certain whether they will get active duty, a department announcement said.

Texas, with 15 students, will have the largest representation in the October class.

The personnel from that state will include: William O. Senter of Abilene; Harry S. Bishop of Austin; Marchall Bonner of Houston; Cordes F. Tiemann of Brenham; Cam Longley, jr., of Ozona; Travis M. Hetherington of Reagan and Gabriel P. Disoway of Wichita Falls.

Head Of Trust Co. Is Shot To Death

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30. (AP)—A pistol fired into his mouth ended the life of Frank H. Schrenk, 44-year-old president of the North City Trust company and chairman of the National Depositors' committee, which has been seeking ways of reopening closed banks.

His body was found today on the floor of his office in a mid-city building. A pistol lay nearby and police said he had committed suicide.

He was last seen alive by a night watchman in the building about four hours before his body was found. Investigators were at a loss to account for his act, but intimated financial worries probably actuated him.

NEW BULA COTTON YARD

BULA, Sept. 30. (Special)—C. E. Moyers, formerly of Eldorado, Okla., has moved here and is opening a cotton yard. He has been named public weigher here.

Grain Grading Changes Urged

Revision Of Federal Grain Standards Is Proposed By Experts For The Bureau Of Agricultural Economics

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Revision of federal grain standards is proposed by the bureau of agricultural economics whose experts have made an intensive study of administration of the standards act.

The proposals relate to wheat, rye, corn, oats, feed oats, mixed feed oats, barley and grain sorghums. They also suggest establishment of new standards for malting barley and mixed grain.

The grades form the basis for trade in grains and those now in effect have been subject to alternate criticism and approval for some years past. Most of the changes, the bureau believes, would have the effect of increasing advantages to farmers in marketing.

Simplifycation Asked

In the case of corn, the bureau proposed to reduce the number of grades from seven to six; to have musty and sour grains of all kinds placed in the so-called "sample grade;" to simplify the classification of grain sorghums; to eliminate general appearance as a numerical grade determining factor in oats, barley and grain sorghums, and to substitute for it special grades.

Restrictions would be placed on the mixing into wheat of such grains as red durum, corn and grain sorghums, while test weight as a numerical grade-determining factor would be eliminated in west coast barley and exact test weight would be substituted as a part of the complete grade designation.

Moisture as a numerical grade-determining factor in all kinds of grain except corn and grain sorghums would be eliminated and special grades for tough grain substituted.

Notation on grain inspection certificates of moisture content of all lots of wheat and corn would be required. The bureau said it had adapted a basis of revision that retains largely the structure of the present official standards with which the grain industry is familar. It suggested a four months' study of its proposals by the trade before final action.

Gaines County Youth Injured When Car Strikes Him While He Is Asleep On Highway 137

SEAGRAVES, Sept. 30 (Special—Burnette Avery, of near Seagraves, is recovering from serious injuries received when he fell asleep on highway 137 and was run over by a coupe driven by Mack Hill, seven miles south of town, recently.

Avery, weary from walking here from Seminole, sat down on the side of the road to rest. Mr. Hill, returning early in the morning from Hobbs, N. M., turned aside to pass two cars enroute to Seminole. Ed Eden, one of the men in one of the other cars, saw Avery just before the Hill car struck him.

Sheriff Kuykendall and Deputy Walter Perry, were taking two prisoners to the county jail. The cars stopped and picked up the injured man and returned him here for medical treatment. Avery's left foot was caught in the front wheel of the Hill car and his leg twisted and almost broken off at the knee. After treatment here Avery was taken to Brownfield.

GIN AT ABERNATHY

ABERNATHY, Sept. 30 (Special)—More than 250 bales of cotton had been ginned by the local gins up to Wednesday night, it was estimated. The local market climbed to nine cents a pound.

Population Drive Started By Nazis Stresses Heredity

BERLIN, Sept. 30 (AP)—Employing the slogan, "Victory or Death", the ministry of propaganda has launched a campaign to familiarize the nation with population problems.

Germans citizens, says an appeal sent to all German newspapers, must be taught to think in terms of "erbbiologie," or heredity.

Societies Enlisted

"Fundamentals must be hammered into the consciousness of the nation," says the appeal.

Germany's vast number of "vereine," or civilian societies, have been drafted for the campaign.

They have been asked to cut fees for members with large families and to distribute propaganda literature so "every German in the remotest village will be reached and permeated through and through by this enlightenment."

Pamphlet material can be ordered from the nazi party offices. All profits derived from the sale there will be turned over to needy large families.

Purity Men Ridiculed

Pointing out that penetration in all phases of the nation's life by the hereditary idea, has always been a nazi aim, it is stated:

"That a puny, microsopic and insignificant individual should put his own welfare before that of the nation, is petty and despicable."

"Heredity-thinking," it explains, "extends beyond the narrow sphere of the individual, into the vast reaches of generations, centuries and millenniums."

MINISTER LICENSED

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 30, (Special—At a meeting of pastors of the Plainview district of the Methodist Episcopal church, Newt Daniel and A. G. Owens were licensed. Daniel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Daniel of Plainview and Owens is from Earth. Rev. W. A. Tittle, presiding elder, was chairman of the committee. Others were: Rev. E. L. Hill, Rev. R. Watkins, Rev. F. R. Pickens and Rev. W. G. # Washington Writer Says Nation Is Due For Shock In Next Sixty Days

NRA Is Said To Be Bogging Down In Task

Administration Leaders' Attempt To Bring Nation Out Of Depression Blocked By Monumentous Problem

BY BURTON KLINE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. —Within the next sixty days the country must brace itself for a shock.

You may ask how on earth a nation that has taken the raps of the past four years can be shocked again. The answer is simple. In the past four years the people of America have been handed a shining hope of rising beyond reach of the raps. The shock will come of a probable chill to that hope, and the chief salvation left them will be that they shall not abandon hope entirely.

In sixty days more NRA will stand, not as a failure, but as bogged down under the mountainous task it tackled.

From the president down every force behind NRA has striven with might and main to perform a miracle that had to be done overnight. No leadership on earth could have mastered what it set out to accomplish—remodeling in 90 days the enormously complicated mechanism of the greatest of industrial nations. This alone was enough, and NRA attempted more — overnight — snatching American industry from under a mountain of the accumulated economic blunders of 150 years.

Observers Have Seen

Observers who know American business down to the ground and have had inside looks at the struggles of NRA have seen for weeks what is coming. Have watched it with growing apprehension, with sincere grief.

The pity of it is that no human thing is to blame—no blunderer who might be removed and replaced. Events, circumstances, things imponderable but of gigantic scope, threaten to overwhelm the recovery drive.

This, for example. Hardly had Mr. Roosevelt warmed the Presidential chair than he proposed as a way out of the depression putting of millions of idle Americans back to work and so to buying again. Government and business, as partners, should boss the speedings. The nation hurrahed business itself, sick devil that was, turned monk. In fact Mr. Roosevelt uncovered an unexpected third partner — the only one so effectual—some 120 millions of Americans fired to religious fervor by this blinding new hope during out of their miseries.

Set Up Without Delay

Without a second's delay the paraphernalia to perform the miracle was set up. The partial wand was waved and the country waited with faith and bated breath. But behind this miracle endless practical miracles had to be wrought. Run the hundreds of thousands of men and factories of our 126 millions turned out to be something more than a revival meeting. It proved a technical and administrative task of staggering size and complexity.

Rushing into it, NRA entered instanter all the tough problems concealed within it—and its gaps and holes were likewise covered—some of them of importance. This, for one.

When the great partnership was set up, NRA drove into hundreds of trade associations—as when Mr. Hoover was secretary of commerce. He or his aides made a proud list of them. Every line of trade and manufacture asked to have one or more of their associations. At least, it was boasted, American business was organized for partnerships of its own.

Here Was A Hazard

On this roster ready to hand NRA leaned heavily. Here was the cradle by which business could be rocked and hauled as a whole into new and greater Partnership. But this simple means a vast wide-flung retail could be handled by ready-made skill and experience.

The accuracy of this was attacked by Mr. Hoover was not to be granted. In feverish haste the new going NRA seized upon every device value—and found it a mirage. These trade associations truly enough existed—in good times. Hard times had killed them skeletons. The life was a skeleton. Some of the bodies had weathered the famine. Many were vestigial that. In eight weeks, NRA had either to reconstruct over's eight years of labor, or tug on without it.

No one will ever accuse the NRA administration of stinting a second of its time or an ounce of its energy. No one can belittle the wonders it has accomplished, or the courage it showed when that was our direct need.

It swelled its personnel from the estimated 160 to well over 1,000 workers. It scorned its own codes in the matter of hours. But not even General Johnson is an army, and time cannot be stretched. The days are but 24 hours long, and not the most brilliant and dogged leadership could pack into them more than so much.

Codes Are Dragging

So it is not alone the magnitude of the job but time that is laming the recovery drive. For all the glare of publicity thrown on the codes, only 1,000 have been submitted, only 30 approved—with more than 3,000 others yet to come.

Winter also is coming, with millions still out of work, still in distress—a distress perhaps to be made desperate by dashed hopes and a dangerous disappointment.

Some of these millions are fractious now. Time, circumstances, impersonal things, are not the only mountain that NRA must burrow from under in the next few weeks. Forces personal enough oppose it. The farmers, for one.

Farmer Wants Inflation

Nothing so far thought of has wiped out the tragic disparity between what the farmer takes for what he sells and pays for what he buys. NRA is not enough for him. Quite apart from the written recovery program he wants inflation and will goad congress to get it—when inflation will but bloat all prices and leave the farmer where he is, at the little end of the horn.

Congress on its own accord will soon be on NRA like a ton of bricks. Snipers are at it from the back offices of shop and factory. The codes, by lifting costs and prices, have frightened buyers and wilted retail sales. The business wolves of an older day, whose philosophy of pelf-and-profit NRA was primarily set up to abolish, are herding to have it out of their way.

NRA has enemies still more deadly—fanatic optimists who batten fast to any good thing and make it look silly.

People Need To Brace Themselves

All in all, in not many weeks NRA will have gone through a terrible test of fire. And the country itself will go through a worse one. Its people need to brace themselves for it and the sensible thing is throw out the warning. Unless they are willing to take NRA, not as present accomplishment but as still the only promising plan, the coming winter may bring on a dangerous psychological sag.

The story of the recovery drive so far is magnificent. But it is not yet Recovery. Two and a quarter million of the idle back to work is tremendous, inspiring. But it only chips at the problem of reemployment. For all these commissions many are to be praised, for all the omissions no person is to blame. One thing alone has been lacking, which the country itself can and must supply. That is time.

At that the time required may be shorter than the maze of present difficulties appear to call for. Two years, or three, with enlightened youth coming on, may be enough.

But if that is not cheerfully forthcoming a suffering country may suffer still more. It is not hyperbole to predict that its destiny for the next ten years may hinge this winter on two forces and the faith they retain in each other—the people and the president of the United States.

Monster Crowd Jams Circus Tent In City; Kiddies Especially Enjoy It

Forced to present three performances instead of the advertised two, Sam B. Dill's circus played to at least 10,000 persons here yesterday on the East Broadway lots opposite the property of the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

The first circus to show in Lubbock since the Al G. Barnes entourage in 1931, the Dill shows, although not large and traveling in trucks, brought all the atmosphere of the tanbark to Lubbock. More than 3,000 kiddies took advantage of a special offer made by Avalanche-Journal newspapers and saw the varied acts at the cost of a dime.

Two Acts Capture Crowd

Miss Ethel Harris, on the high trapeze, reminded spectators of late, great Lillian Leitzel with her 100 spin stunt and Walter Jannier, with Buddy, his trained seal, stopped the show. Concensus of opinion on the part of those viewing the circus was that, as Harley Sadler, widely known West Texas showman remarked here last week, "it's a crack up good performance."

Popcorn, pink lemonade; one elephant, four lions, horses, dogs, monkeys; flying aerialists, tight-rope walkers, clowns, and a blaring caliope—these were the things that put the big crowd in holiday spirit.

A parade, four blocks long, moved through the downtown district yesterday morning. Many of the spectators lining the sidewalks changed positions so that they could see the parade twice.

The crowd came early yesterday afternoon, swept through the small menagerie into the big tent. Dust rose under hundreds of feet.

Two large audiences attended last night's performance. In addition to the three-ring circus performance, there were side-shows. The circus is traveling in trucks.

That 98 per cent of the people in Australia buy tickets in the national lottery, was estimated recently.

C. J. Van Zandt Is Elected Vocational Teacher Leader

C. J. Van Zandt, vocational agriculture teacher at Post, was elected president of the South Plains Vocational Agriculture Teachers association at a meeting yesterday afternoon at Texas Tech. He succeeds J. H. Taylor, formerly teacher at Ralls, who resigned during September following his election at Post in August, after he left Ralls for Dublin.

About 10 teachers were present. They met with C. Luker, new field supervisor for this district, for the first time. Plans for the year's work were discussed. It was decided to meet at Tech in November.

IDALOU, Sept. 30 (Special)—Earl Hunter of Wellington, cashier of the First National bank there for 18 years, has moved here and is now active vice president of the Security State bank. He succeeds W. L. Bradley who resigned several months ago. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter were reared in Wellington and have been active in community circles there.

J. M. Crews, Childress banker, is the principal stockholder.

Longhorns Nip Miners; Bears Defeat St. Ed

Mucker Back Travels 85 Yards For Only Score; Baylor Has Easy Time With Saints; Arkansas Beats O. B. U.

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Sept. 30. — The University of Texas turned back the Texas College of Mines of El Paso 22 to 6 here today in a ragged exhibition of football that rose above the mediocre only on a few occasions.

Texas again demonstrated that it has a backfield with great possibilities, but failure of the line to function smoothly and keep opposition linesmen from sifting through cost the Longhorns much yardage.

The Miners proved no set up and gave Texas a hard tussle from start to finish. Woodrow Wilson, Mucker halfback, provided the big sensation of the game by grabbing a kick-off on his 15-yard line and ambling 85 yards for a touchdown. Wilson eluded about five Texas tacklers in his long jaunt.

The running of Bohn Hilliard, Texas' scintillating halfback, and the passing of Ronald Fagan, Steer quarter, were the high spots of the Texas offense.

The first period ended scoreless. On the first play of the second period, Fagan shot a flat pass out to Hilliard, who squirmed 33 yards through a maze of tacklers for a touchdown. He place-kicked goal.

Texas' second score came near the middle of the third when Fagan passed 20 yards to Arnold who was standing across the goal line. Hilliard again placekicked goal. The Steers tallied again a few minutes later when Hilliard shot through right tackle for a touchdown. His placekick was wide.

On the next kick off Wilson got into action, caught the ball about midfield, made a quick dash to the left, then bounded out of a pile up to scamper for the right sideline and a touchdown. He was untouched.

The scoring ended near the middle of the final quarter when Niebuhr, Texas tackle, blocked Vaughn's punt and the ball rolled through the end zone for a safety.

Hernandez played a stylish game for the Miners and was given an ovation when he left the field.

Saints Lose 20-6 To Baylor's Bruins

WACO, Sept. 30. (AP)—The Baylor Bears had it easy in their season opener here today against the St. Edwards Tigers, winning 20 to 6.

The only time during the game Baylor was in trouble was in the first part of the last period.

Garrett, fleet St. Edwards back, carried the ball to the Baylor one-yard line, where he was stopped by Parks. Kazem hit center for two feet and on the next play carried the ball over for St. Edwards' only touchdown.

Baylor scored just before the close of the first period and Coach Jennings sent in an entirely new team. Before the half ended the Baylor seconds marked up another touchdown. The second string remained in the game during the third period.

Jennings returned his regulars to the game in the fourth period and Baylor was able to go for another seven points.

| Baylor | Pos. | St. Edwards |
|---|---|---|
| Petty | L E | Durkin |
| Greathouse | L T | Duderstadt |
| Simpson | L G | Kucholts |
| Peay | C | Shaw |
| Saunderson | R G | Luck |

Texas Aggies Beat Tulane Wave, 13-6

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Texas A. & M. defeated Tulane 13 to 6 today in a game that was a thriller all the way.

The Aggies won and deserved to win but hard luck certainly hovered all over the Green Wave.

The Greenies were trailing and apparently were hoplessly beaten when in the third quarter they unloosed a vicious passing attack and carried the ball within 4 yards of a touchdown but lost it because they failed to make first down by 12 inches.

Then in the last quarter with five minutes left to play, Tulane shot the ball over the goal line but the touchdown did not count because the Greenies were off-side. The ball was put in play on the six yard line and there the Aggies held against three line onslaughts but finally had to yield a touchdown.

A native Louisianan, Clifford Domingue, now of Port Arthur, Texas, one of the Aggies' mainsprings, led the attack for the first touchdown. At the opening of the second quarter, Dominque then kicked goal.

In the third quarter, Bil Couser went in at quarter for Domingue and caught Monk Simon's kick-off and ran it back 50 yards along the side lines and was away for a touchdown until Simons stopped him on the 22 yard line. A pass, Fowler to Stringfellow, scored the second touchdown. Stringfellow missed the point after touchdown.

Razorbacks Score In Every Quarter To Win

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 30. (AP)—Scoring in every period, the Arkansas Razorbacks turned in a one-sided victory over the Oklahoma Baptist University Bisons here today, 42 to 7. The powerful Arkansas offense rushed over two touchdowns early in the first period, scored once each in the second and third periods and twice more in the final.

The first touchdown came after Ralph Laforge, speedy Razorback ball carrier, ripped off 35 yards to place the ball on the Baptists' 15-yard line. From there Murphy, veteran quarterback, passed over the goal line to Rucker, rangy end.

Rees, halfback, scored Arkansas' second touchdown and Biddle, fullback, drove through for the third score.

Laforge tucked a Baptist kickoff under his arm and raced 90 yards up the side line for Arkansas' fourth touchdown. Biddle and C. Jordan scored the other two times.

Stark, outstanding Bison backfielder, led his team's offense all afternoon and scored its lone touchdown with a 35-yard end run in the third period.

Lubbock Gridiron Teams Take To Road For Next Two Weeks; Tech To Dallas

Westerners To Meet Sweetwater High Next Saturday

There'll be a bit of an intermission now, while Lubbock's favorite football teams take a couple of trips apiece and otherwise get their wind before settling down for sessions of conference and home games.

Texas Tech's Matadors, who ran into unexpected trouble and suffered a 14 to 0 reversal at the hands of that well-oiled, smooth-functioning pass-tossing Southern Methodist university team Friday night, will be absent for the next two weekends.

Westerners Away 3 Weeks

Lubbock's High school Westerners, who won fame and favoritism Friday afternoon by staging a wonderful comeback to smear the big Ranger Bulldogs, 26 to 20, also will be away from home for a spell. They won't play before the homefolks until October 28 when they meet the Austin High school team of El Paso here.

Coaches Weldon Chapman and Burl Huffman allowed their Westerners a well-deserved rest yesterday, calling off the Saturday afternoon practice. The mentors hied themselves to Amarillo to watch a couple of District 1 teams fly at each other. Plainview's Bulldogs and the Amarillo Sandies tangle in their first conference game.

Beginning tomorrow, the Westerners will go to work in preparation for another tough tussle. They meet the Sweetwater High school Mustangs at Sweetwater next Saturday afternoon. Sweetwater downed Abilene High school, 19 to 0, Friday, thereby establishing itself as somewhat of a contender for Oil Belt honors. Lubbock plays at Abilene next week, and continues the October program by opening its conference or district schedule in Borger on October 21.

Matadors To Dallas

Cawthon's Matadors will leave about Thursday morning for Dallas, where on Friday night they tangle with Coach Nick Dobbs' Dixie university Rebels. Plenty of fur is due to fly in this game, although the Matadors will be considered favorites up to game time. In spite of their loss to S.M.U., the Matadors are by no means a washed-up ball club. The loss may have served to whip them into better form.

Back for practice after the Dixie game, the Bullfighters will leave next week for far-away Tucson, Arizona, to play a return engagement with the University of Arizona Wildcats. This game composes Tech's Border conference schedule this season.

Play Here Oct. 20

Next home appearance of the Tech gridmen is slated for the night of October 20 when Louisiana Tech comes here. This game looms as a more or less set-up, unless more enthusiastic reports come from the Louisiana school. At a glance, it might be considered the easiest game on the card of nine tough games.

Yesterday brought no holiday to the Matadors who went through a siege of tackling in the regular practice hour. They were weak in this department Friday night against S.M.U., but due to show much improvement ere another game time comes around.

MICHIGAN STATE WINS

EAST LANSING, Mich., Sept. 30. —Pushing over two touchdowns in the second period, Michigan State college in its first appearance under its new coach, Charles E. Bachman, downed Grinnell college of Iowa 14 to 0 today in the opening football game of the season.

In the last four years Purdue football teams have registered 30 victories, three defeats and one tie.

But This Is No "Glad Hand"

That straight-arm looks bad enough, but it feels a lot worse when it comes into contact with the nose of a would-be tackler. The hand belongs to Cal Clemens, one of the backs Howard Jones is counting on to pull his Trojans through a tough season this year.

Indoor Baseball To Be Served Up In Double Doses This Week

Sled Allen Takes Over Management Local Fight Hall

Lubbock's sport and amusement-loving public is invited to seek at least part of its fun at the "Auditorium."

Formerly known as the Uptown Dance palace, the indoor pavillion and amusement center located on North Texas Avenue has undergone a change in management and name, being this first day of October.

The new manager: Sled Allen. The name: Auditorium.

Co-manager, or assistant manager with Allen, popular baseball magnate, player and manager for the last score of years, is Marty Fiedler, former sports promoter at Albuquerque.

The new managers plan to inaugurate a winter sports program that will include indoor baseball, boxing, wrestling, basketball and volley-ball. In addition, regular Saturday night and holiday dances, featured by the best orchestras available, will be staged.

Holds Wrestling License

Allen recently was issued a professional wrestling promoter's license by the state department of labor, and plans to open the wrestling season within three weeks. Dee Puckett, local boxing promoter, also holds a wrestling promoter's license, but it is understood Allen and Puckett will cooperate, stage their shows at different times and in the same building. Puckett already has staged his first professional boxing show and is planning for the second.

Later on, Allen plans to organize a men's athletic class, affording exercise and recreation for local business men. A basketball tournament and professional basketball games will be promoted later in the season.

"A place of good, clean entertainment," Allen said, "where anybody can feel at home and enjoy the program is what we hope to make of the Auditorium."

First of a series of indoor baseball games will be held at the Auditorium Wednesday night. Two games are scheduled Wednesday night and two Thursday night.

Eight Teams To See Action On Indoor Diamond Wednesday And Thursday; Double Bills Offered Each Night

Indoor baseball, succeeding a long season of outdoor "softball" in which player and fan interest never subsided, will be introduced here Wednesday night when four strong teams play a double?header at the Auditorium.

Originally scheduled for Tuesday night, the opening of the indoor season was postponed due to Lubbock Day at the Panhandle-South Plains fair that day.

The eight teams comprising the Indoor Baseball league, of which J. A. "Judge" Raley is president, will play their first games this week. A second double-header is scheduled for Thursday night.

The Huie-Ribble team, champion of the American softball league, will play the J. C. Penney team, a new club, in the curtain-raiser Tuesday night. The game is scheduled for 7:30. At 9 o'clock, the J. And J. Sporting Goods company team, National softball league champs and conquerers of Huie-Ribble in the "little world series" for the association title, will clash with Mitchell's Cafe, which was represented in the American softball league.

Two Games Thursday

The Avalanche-Journal team meets Peoples Ice company Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, and the Lydick Roofing company, invading the field for the first time, will clash with the Federal Employes at 9 o'clock.

Ned Bradley's Varsity Rythm band will entertain between games with popular orchestral selections.

The umpires appointed by President Raley for the season are Charles A. Guy, Sled Allen and Marty Fiedler.

The "Schaughnessy play-off" system has been adopted for the indoor league. The plan, similar to that used by the Texas league this year, will be used instead of the split season plan. At the end of the season, the team finishing first will play a series with the fourth place finishers, while the second and third place teams will battle. Winners will meet in a third series for the league title. Club and individual awards will be made to the winners.

Tech Frosh Lose To N.M.M.I. 13-6

ROSWELL, N. M., Sept. 30. (AP) — The New Mexico Military institute Broncos turned back a Texas Tech frosh invasion here today, 13 to 6.

Both Bronco scores were spectacular, the first coming early in the second quarter when Vaugh, Bronco guard, blocked a Tech punt in the shadow of the goal posts, and Pinsetl, Bronco end, fell on the ball over the goal line for a touchdown. The Cadets converted.

Early in the last quarter, Littlejohn, stocky built Bronco tackle, ran a Tech punt 50 yards for a touchdown. They failed to convert.

Taking the ball after an exchange of punts Tech tallied after Neill advanced the ball 18 yards from the center of the field, and a pass Neill to Duvall, put the ball on the Cadet's four yard line. Neill flashed around end for the touchdown. A bad pass from center prevented the tallying of the extra point.

Deer hunting in Oregon state and national forest was made contingent this year upon elimination of fire hazard by the first general rain.

Sens Sweep To 7-2 Win Over N'Yawk Yanks

Cronin's Men Outdo Selves In Combining Brilliant Defense With Hits To Beat Yankees; A's Lose Two To Red Sox

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Washington's Senators outdid their previous displays before New York fans as they combined a brilliant defense with their usual attack to defeat the Yankees 7 to 2 in the final game of the series.

The Senators executed six double plays to equal the major league record held jointly by the Giants, the Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds. They got great pitching from Monte Weaver in the six innings he worked on the hill, and they smacked George Uhle and Danny MacFayden for nine hits, most of which figured in the scoring.

Babe Ruth's 33rd home run of the season, which he made on Jack Russell's first pitch in the seventh inning, was the big blow for the Yankees.

RED SOX 2-12; A'S 1-1

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30. (AP) — The Athletics closed the home season today by losing a double header to the Boston Red Sox by the score of 2 to 1 and 12 to 1. The double triumph gave the Sox the season's series with the Mackmen, 14 games to 8.

Bob Weiland held the A's to two hits in the first game, one of them being McNair's seventh home run of the season.

INDIANS 0; TIGERS 3

DETROIT, Sept. 30. (AP)—A pair of rookies treated a crowd of 300 fans to some high grade pitching here today as the Detroit Tigers staged an eighth inning rally to defeat the Cleveland Indians 3 to 0.

Eldon Auker, who came up to Detroit late this season from Beaumont, Tex., made his fourth start for the Tigers, and pitched four hit ball to register his second victory of the season.

Gordon Lee held the Tigers hitless for seven innings, and then had a bad interim in which he was found for four singles in a row.

Don't Cry, Matadors

There'll be nights like that. That was one night when S. M. U. would have been a good wager against any football club you want to mention. It was no disgrace to lose to a club like that, and now that it's all over we'll let you in on a little secret. According to no less authority than Ray Morrison, coach of the Southern Methodist university Mustangs, the Texas Tech Matadors stood on the threshold of fame aplenty Friday night. But they couldn't step over.

IT'S like this. A few hours before the game, Coach Morrison undoubtedly one of the foremost football authorities in the country, was musing over the prospect in an informal caucus with a couple of close friends. "Don't let this get out before the game," he said, "but if Tech beats us tonight, Pete Cawthon's boys are the best football team in this end of the country."

In other words, Morrison's men were ready, and he knew it. The Mustang coach knew that his team was in shape, hot and anxious. He was confident of victory. The Ponies trained and practiced for the game against Tech with more determination than they will train and practice for any southwest conference foe. That, also, comes from the Mustang mentor. The best team won that ball game Friday night, and there's no getting around it. It's not for Tech to cover itself in sackcloth and ashes. S. M. U. was big league stuff, and had plenty on the ball. It had something else that Tech's lad's weren't exactly primed for, and that was power in the powerhouse. . . something the Matadors haven't shown so far this season.

BUT at that, the Matadors might have held 'em to a deadlock had the Mustangs not blocked that punt in the third period. That was a tough break, yet you can't charge it all to the "breaks." It would have been wonderful football had the Matadors blocked a kick under similar circumstances, an equine of a different hue, indeed.

What To Do About It?

Never again will you catch this department making excuses or playing down a Chapman-coached football team. We should have learned better a couple of years ago when a mediocre team ran rampant through a tough schedule for district and bi-district titles. Came along a new team last year, a club that, at the start of the season, looked pitiful indeed. It didn't win the district flag, but it went a long ways, losing but one conference game.

NOW comes 1933, and the oddest, most feeble-looking assortment of gangly youngsters you ever saw in football suits report to Coaches Chapman and Huffman in August. Not over four or five of 'em ever played any football to speak of. Only one of 'em was a regular. They looked lousy, undeniably lousy. No hope at all was extended. High school fans went around with long faces, sorrowing because the Westerners would have to take it—and like it—from every club they went up against. To make matters worse, Chapman had to go and schedule a flock of Class A games, all of 'em, in fact, were Class A games, and with what seemed to be the toughest teams of their districts.

You know the answer, or the results. Westerner stock went on a boom when the lads licked Big Spring. It hit the ceiling when Ranger's fine Bulldogs bit the dust last Friday. Boy, what a game! Now the Lubbock High school boys are in a mess. They find themselves potential champions overnight, heralded as a sure thing for the District 1 gonfalon. That's mighty fine, little boys, and you played a fine game. We know as well as you that Ryan didn't do all of it. But forget it, and get set for what is to follow. There's a rocky road ahead.

The 48-Second Man

It's a pleasure to watch Sandy Ryan, or Captain Rufus, do his stuff on the cinder path. Once he tore around the quarter-mile track in 48 seconds while playing the anchor man's role in the mile relay. But it's a sporting thrill indeed to see the same Sandy Ryan break into open territory and lead a quartet of pursuers toward the enemy goal line in a football game. There are some pretty fast men on the Ranger team but they inhaled plenty of dust from Ryan's flying heels Friday afternoon. He's not a powerhouse by any means, but give him an opening and how he can go! Naturally, we thought of Prexy Anderson and his jibes when Ryan showed footprints to the Ranger team. It is hoped that Prexy will be able to gain first hand information regarding Ryan's running ability when the Westerners go to Abilene next week.

Public Support Begins Rally Around Giants As Odds Start Shortening On World Series

Baseball's Big Show Only Two Days Away, And Critics See Bright Hope For Champions Of National League

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The odds began to shorten today on the Washington Senators, World Series favorites, with the start of baseball's biggest show less than three days off, public support rallying for the Giants along Broadway and the barriers being let down to give old John J. Fan a better "break" at the box-offices.

Joe Cronin's definite statement today that his pitcher for the opening game has now narrowed down to three possibilities, Wally Stewart, Al Crowder and Earl Whitehill, failed to strike any further fears into the camp of the New Yorkers, who have watched all three belted somewhat briskly at the Yankee Stadium within the past two days.

Sen Hurlers Tired?

The suspicion that the Washington huring staff is either tired or for other reasons not exactly "on edge" has further strengthened the prospects for a close, hard-fought series. This development, plus the extraordinary faith placed in the ability of Carl Hubbell to southpaw the Senators into submission in the opening game or at any other time he pitches, has boosted the home team's spirits.

The Senators, 8 to 5 choices for the past week, probably will be no better than 6 to 5 when the series starts. Hubbel is a 5 to 4 favorite to pitch the Giants to victory in the opener at the Polo Grounds Tuesday afternoon, regardless of Washington's first pitching selection.

It was still a wide open guess as to whether Cronin and his boss, Clark Griffith, will start Crowder Tuesday or rely on one of the two Senator lefties, Stewart or Whitehill.

"You May Guess"

"Your guess might be just as good as mine," said Cronin, after admitting that Monte Weaver, the young right-hander, had been eliminated from first-game consideration.

If the Senator stars work in the order they were used against the Yankees, it will be Stewart, Crowder and Whitehill. But the lobbyists were strongly inclined to pick Whitehill, former Detroit ace who has the best winning record of any member of the Washington staff.

Giants Demonstrate Championship Form

BROOKLYN, Sept. 30.—The New York Giants gave a demonstration of the kind of baseball that won them the National League championship today as they defeated the Dodgers, 4 to 2.

They got only eight hits off Van Lingle Mungo while Brooklyn nicked Fred Fitzsimmons for nine. But the Giants coupled their blows effectively with Mungo's bursts of wildness while big Fitz was untouchable in the pinches.

Dean and Guy Bush pitched on even terms until the sixth, when the Cubs got to the modest one for four runs, two of them accounted for by a home run by Babe

Centenary Gents Win Second Of Season; Defeat Henderson

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 30. (AP) —Scoring in the second and fourth quarters, on running and aerial plays, the Centenary college Gentlemen today hung up their second victory of the season, defeating the Henderson State Teachers Reddies, 27 to 0. Only once did the visitors get inside the Centenary 20 yard line, in the third quarter on a series of forward passes, but they were checked on the 12-yard mark.

Sooners Deadlock Vanderbilt, 0 To 0

NORMAN, Okla., Sept. 30. (AP) — Oklahoma's Sooners crashed into intersectional gridiron reckoning today in a stirring scoreless tie with the heavier, top-ranking Vanderbilt Commodores.

The product of Coach Lewie Hardage out-measured the team of his teacher, the veteran Dan McGugin, in almost everything but hanging a winning score on the board before 18,000 fans that may have been doubting Thomases when they climbed into the stadium, but became Sooner enthusiasts before they left.

Jack Buckler Hero As Cadets Beat Mercer, 19-6; Hawkeyes Provide Stir In 7-0 Victory

Furious Assault By Waco Lad Deadens Mercer Attack As Uncle Sam's Lads Trounce Tough Enemy

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 30. (AP) A furious first assault in which "Texas Jack" Bucker, a 160-pound stick of dynamite from Waco, demoralized his opponents with a series of dazzling runs enabled the Army gridders to unveil their 1933 campaign with a 19 to 6 victory over a scrapping team from Mercer university today.

Except for Buckler's individual feats of brilliance, it would have been nip and tuck for Uncle Sam's Cadets. The Waco wonder scored their first touchdown after a 37-yard dash through the entire Mercer team in the opening minutes of play and made the second possible shortly thereafter with a succession of off-tackle smashes that carried the ball to the apron of the invaders' goal line.

From there on, for three full quarters, the boys from Macon, Ga., gave Lieut. Garrison Davidson's charges all the battle they could handle, and in the closing period practically fought the soldiers off their feet, falling short of touchdowns only after two spectacular drives deep into Army territory.

Underdogs Of Big Ten Rise To Heights

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Iowa's Hawkeyes, beaten underdogs of Big Ten fame for four long years, snapped the championship hopes of a highly touted Northwestern team with an astounding 7 to 0 victory today.

Blanked since 1929 in conference competition and rated as just another underdog this season, the Hawks battered the Wildcats into almost feeble submission, outplayed them easily, and then clinched a long sought victory in the final period as Joe Laws raced down the sidelines for 32 yards and the only touchdown of the battle at Soldier Field.

Zuppke's Illini Win Over Drake, 13-6

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Sept. 30. (AP)—Coach Bob Zuppke's 21st edition Illini football team was unimpressive in the opening game today as it defeated Drake, coached by Vee Green, former Illini player ,13 to 6. Les Lindberg, sophomore halfback who regained eligibility only yesterday scored both of Illinois' touchdowns.

Capitol Hill Of Oklahoma Beats Harvesters, 7 To 6

PAMPA, Sept. 30. (AP)—The Oklahoma City Capitol Hill High school grid team yesterday eked out a 7 to 6 victory over the Pampa Harvesters by scoring and kicking goal in the fourth quarter to overcome a 6-0 deficit.

Marbrough's 30-yard pass to Owens, end, accounted for the Pampa score, while Crusty Barton plunged for the Indian counter from the two-yard line.

The game was featured by the stubborn defense of the Harvesters, the visitors outgaining and otherwise playing superior ball, except in the tight spots when the local defense rallied time after time to stave off touchdowns.

STANFORD BEATS U. C. L. A.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif., Sept. 30. (AP)—A place kick in the first period by Bill Corbus, guard, enabled Stanford university to score a 3 to 0 victory over the University of California at Los Angeles football team here today. Stanford had six scoring opportunities but lacked the goal line punch. A crowd of 30,000 persons saw the game.

Fastest Nags Of Section To Race At Fair

Horses Of Amarillo And Panhandle Stable Brought To Fair For Races Every Day Throughout The Week

The fastest "bangtails" of this section will ruh daily at the 20th annual Panhandle-South Plains fair this week.

Many of the best horses racing at the Tri-State fair in Amarillo last week will be seen on the quarter-mile track at the fair grounds here. There will be no additional charge for the races.

The general arrangement committee, composed of S. E. Cone, Homer D. Grant and W. F. Hudman, yesterday announced judges for the races. They are Sam C. Arnett, C. E. Maedgen and O. L. Slaton. S. L. Knight, who directed races at the Amarillo exposition, will arrive today. He will bring his own starting gate.

Begin At 3:30

Races will begin daily at 3:30 p. m. The schedule for Monday, Wednesday and Friday will be: Shetland ponies no taller than 42 inches, $10 purse; children's ponies, no taller than 13 hands, $10 purse; ladies' free-for-all, $15 purse; quarter-mile free-for-all, $30 purse; quarter-mile free-for-all, $50 purse.

The schedule for Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday:

Ladies' free-for-all, $15 purse; roping horses, $25 purse; quarter-mile free-for-all, $30 purse; quarter-mile for two-year-olds, $50. A quarter-mile race for non-winners, with a $50 purse, will be run Saturday only.

Horses must be entered in a race by 6 p. m. on the day preceding the race scheduled. Mr. Knight will accept entries today if they are telephoned to him at 2063. The fee, 10 per cent of the purse, must be paid at the time of entry.

Not more than eight horses will be allowed to start in any race, and all entry fees after the first five will be added to the published purse. The winner will take 65 per cent of the purse, second place winner 25 per cent, and third place 10 per cent. There must be five paid entry fees in each race and four horses must start.

In the Series

This is the eighth of a series of sketches on individual stars of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, prospective world series rivals.

FRED SCHULTE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP) — When Clark Griffith announced last winter that he had traded Sam West, his star center fielder, to the St. Louis Browns for Fred Schulte, a mighty howl went up from Washington baseball fans.

They had come to regard West as the last thing in outfielders. The experts, too, shook their heads and expressed the opinion the—"Old Fox" had made a mistake.

Well, West has made a great record with the Browns this year, but "Gussie" Schulte has had an equally successful year with the Nationals. His fielding has been a revelation to the Nat bosses and his hitting in the first part of the season virtually "carried" the club.

Griffith says that while he regretted having to part with West, he still believes he got the better of the bargain. West has the better batting average, but Schulte has driven in more runs. Both have been star performers in the field.

Fred got his early experience with semi-pro teams near Belviders, Ill., where he was born 29 years ago. After a sensational season with Waterloo, Ia., he went to Milwaukee and was sold at a reported price of $75,000 to the Browns at the close of the 1926 campaign.

He remained with the Browns until he was traded last winter, though he was handicapped for three years at St. Louis on account of injuries.

Many football experts are forecasting that Ralph Kercheval, of the University of Kentucky, will be the outstanding player in the south this year.

BOSTON, Sept. 30. (AP) — Virgil Davis, clouting catcher, connected for two homers today to give the Philadelphia Nationals a 2 to 1 victory over the Braves in a 10-inning tilt.

Ben Cantwell, Boston ace, was the victim of both blows, and with them probably went his chance of gaining 21 victories for the season. He limited the Phillies to eight hits, one less than Holley, who was credited with the victory.

The Braves need a victory tomorrow against a defeat for St. Louis to gain the first division and a share of the World Series money.

Class B Football Notes

COWHANDS WIN ONE

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 30 (Special)—Scoring three times on running plays, the Lubbock High school Cowhands defeated the Littlefield Wildcats, 18-6, at Littlefield Friday afternoon. Toward the colse of the game, Dowell of Littlefield took the kickoff and dashed 70 yards for the home team's lone tally.

After a long drive down the field, Othie Upton, Cowhand back, went over for the first touchdown. With Erv Gear and "Duny" Athison doing the ball-toting, the Lubbock team made another drive, and Maurice went over tackle for twenty-five yards and another counter. The Cowhands immediately began another drive and White scored on a three yard push over the line.

Outstanding for Lubbock were McGraw, Jackson, and Wright on the line, and Athison, Gear and Upton in the backfield.

O'DONNELL BEATS CROSBYTON

CROSBYTON, Sept. 30. (Special)—Coach Floyd Honey's Crosbyton Chiefs lost a hard-fought game to the O'Donnel high school team, 7-0, here Friday afternoon.

SPUR BULLDOGS WIN

SPUR, Sept. 30. (Special)—Defeating the Knox high school football team, 13-6, the Spur Bulldogs opened their home season Friday afternoon. Morgan, Captain of the Spur eleven, made both of the counters for his team. Bell, of Spur, was outstanding on the line.

TORNADOES TURN LOOSE

LAMESA, Sept. 30. (Special)—Scoring almost at will the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes defeated Hamlin high's Pied Pipers, 56-0, in a game here this afternoon.

BROWNFIELD CUBS WIN

BROWNFIELD, Sept. 30. (Special)—With a hard-driving ground game the Brownfield Cubs defeated the Levelland high Bearcats, 21-9, at the local field yesterday evening.

Bandy, Cub backfield man, accounted for two counters. McCann, end gave the best exhibition for the visitors.

SLATON LOSES TO SNYDER

SLATON, Sept. 30. (Special)—The Snyder high school Tigers defeated Slaton's Tigers in a close contest here Friday evening. Heustis, of Snyder, returned a punt for the lone touchdown of the game.

Fesmire joined Huestis in starring for the Snyder team, while Armes and Mahley stood out for Slaton.

Kelly, the machine gunner accused with Bates of having actually abducted the Oklahoma City oil millionaire the night of July 22, has indicated he may plead guilty.

Cases Are Set

Kathryn may not demand trial as she has sought to shift blame for the crime onto her husband. Judge Vaught has set their case for trial beginning October 9.

Indictments charging Cass Coleman and Will Casey, Coleman county, Texas, farmers, with harboring the Kellys while they were fugitives in the Urschel case, will be sought at Dallas next week.

Federal agents found $73,250 of the $200,000 Urschel ransom buried under a mesquite bush in the middle of a 250-acre cotton field on Coleman's farm before dawn Wednesday morning. Its discovery brought almost to $80,000 the ransom currency accounted for.

It was at the farm home of the Shannons in Wise county, Texas, near the little town of Paradise, that Urschel was held prisoner. Mrs. Shannon is a sister of Cass Coleman and is Kathryn Kelly's mother.

The Shannons' chief defense was that Kelly and Bates had threatened them and forced them to guard Urschel while in fear of their lives.

"Fear of future injury is no excuse," was Judge Vaught's terse comment on this defense as he charged the jury.

Bates offered no defense. He was the target of a series of accusing fingers throughout the trial.

Bailey's defense was that only through pure coincidence had he been captured at the Shahnon home, with Urschel money and a machine gun in his possession.

Situation Is Different

The situation of the defendants from Minnesota was different. Two of the original seven indicted, Charles Wolk and Pete Valder, were ordered freed by the judge before the trial ended.

The case of the other five were permitted to go to the jury, Judge Vaught said, "only on the slender theory that you jurors may have heard some testimony that the court overlooked."

The twin cities men were accused of being "the money changers," the "fringe of the underworld," using shady channels to dispose of part of the ransom.

Kozberg and Kronick were so little involved that Hyde in his final argument suggested that the court might order a verdict in their favor.

In Liquor Business

The other three, Isadore Blumenfeld, Barney Berman and Clifford Skelly, were admittedly in the liquor business, but the jury was instructed to disregard this. Blumenfeld was immediately freed, but the jury held that Berman and Skelly had guilty knowledge of the origin of $5,500 they obtained from "Mr. Collins from the south" (presumed by the government to be Bates), and convicted them.

After the verdict had been returned Kronick, Kozberg and Blumenfeld enthusiastically pumped hands of acquaintances made during the trial and set off for home.

"Now I can look my wife and friends in the face again," said Kronick, a plodding Russian Jew who speaks badly broken English.

On Verge of Tears

Mrs. Shannon received the verdict, like her husband and step-son, in stolid silence, but later in the county jail she was on the verge of tears as she declared again the family was "forced into this thing with machine guns, the same as Mr. Urschel."

Bailey was his usual taciturn self, but Bates, who recovered his jauntiness after being returned with Bailey to their eighth floor "bull pen" home in the federal tower, wanted to talk.

"I was all set to plead guilty until the law slapped this hardware on me," Bates said, exhibiting his manacled hands and ankles. He and Bailey were chained to radiators.

Had Packed Grips

Berman and Skelly had been so sure of acquittal that they had packed their grips at their hotel. They went disconsolately back to await passage of sentence.

Keenan planned to leave on a night train for Kansas City and go on tomorrow to Detroit, to attend hearings of the United States senate committee studying crime conditions. The committee begins its sessions Monday.

The Urschels, after expressing briefly their thanks to the jury, departed for a week-end of relaxation.

"I am sorry punishment was necessary, but I believe the jury did its duty as it saw it," said Urschel. "I have the highest admiration for the federal agents and the prosecuting attorneys who handled the government's case. It was masterfully done."

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT

By JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Stocks bade bood-bye to September and the third quarter with a smart closing rally today, although prior to the late trading prices had declined.

Short selling earlier this week, however, appeared to have given the market a backlog of potential support and presumably it was covering by recent sellers that in large measure accounted for the final upswing. Grains ended their day virtually unchanged, while cotton here was a shade higher.

Several leading shares bogged down noticeably as the market rounded out its first hour.

Metal shares received a high polish from speculative buying.

Rails as a group were dull and steady. Sales totaled 1,008,380 shares.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 30. (AP)—Trading in cotton was only moderate in today's session. Week-end covering and evening up influenced the course of prices and an early dip was followed by a brisk advance. The close was at the top 3 to 7 points net higher.

The opening was steady with Liverpool cables coming in about as due and steadying a shade higher.

The market firmed up in final trading in sympathy with a sharp advance in the stock market which sent cotton shorts to cover. December advanced 9.91 and March to 10.16, new highs for the day and 15 to 17 points above the earlier lows. The close was at the top with both December and March showing net gains for the day of 8 points.

Port receipts 78,508, for season 1,860,655, last season 1,296,489. Exports 28,842, for season 1,319,135. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 135,430, last year 122,615, pot sales at southern markets 60,126, last year 50,103.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 30. (AP)—After selling off to 9.80 for December contracts or 7 points net lower, cotton steadied during today's later trading on trade buying and covering prompted by even a turn in the stock market. December rallied to 9.95 and closed at 9.92, the general market finishing at net advances of 4 to 7 points.

The opening was at a decline of 3 points to an advance of 4 points. There was some buying on the steadier showing of Liverpool, but this was supplied by southern selling and after slight bulges the market weakened under continued hedging combined with scattering liquidation.

A late rally carried October up to 9.59 and May to 10.33 or 4 to 8 points net higher. Last prices were at or within a point or two of the best for the day.

Overnight press advices from Washington regarding the possibility of further developments in the recovery or monetary programs, and the easier ruling of the dollar, were mentioned in connection with some of the early buying, the market later appeared to be chiefly influenced by the continued hedging from the south followed by evidences of an improved technical position toward the close, when the southern selling was absorbed by an increased demand. The amount of cotton on shipboard awaiting clearance at the end of the week is estimated at 132,000 bales against 138,000 at the same time last year.

Miss Fannie Spenser of St. Joseph, Mo., died soon after she was brought to a hospital. Louise Latney, 4, of Denver, died a few hours later of injuries.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30. (AP) — Cattle trade during the week under review at midwestern markets was marked by a material increase in the movement of grass cattle and at some centers native grain-feds were marketed freely.

Prime yearling steers in Kansas City topped at 7.15, while at Chicago medium weight fed steers sold up to 7.00. Western grass steers sold largely from 2.75@4.50 on killer account while feeder buyers paid up to 5.00 and above for better quality.

Better grades of stocker and feeder steers sold largely from 4.00@5.00. Aggregate receipts at nine markets totaled around 213,700 as compared with 200,286 last week and 213,414 the corresponding period a year ago.

St. Louis reported a late hog top of 5.10. The week's receipts were 28,000 heavier than last week and 34,000 more than a year ago.

Choice fat lambs in Chicago held about steady but most markets reported declines of 25@50. Total supplies approximated 412,000 against 381,910 last week and 449,423 a year ago.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (AP)—Hogs 250 including 154 directs; top 5.00; mixed grades 4.85; practically no packing sows offered.

Cattle 300 including 150 through; calves 50; week's tops: slaughter steers 4.65; fed yearlings 6.00; fat cows 3.00; fat calves 4.25. Bulk prices: slaughter steers 3.00@4.00; slaghter yearlings 4.00@5.25; fat cows 2.25@2.75; stockers and feeders 3.00@4.00; slaughter calves 3.00@3.75.

Sheep 500; today's trad nominal. Foa week: common to medium 2.50@5.25; shorn 2 year old wethers 3.25; shorn aged fat wethers 2.24@50; feeder lambs 4.00 down; good feeder lambs up to 4.75.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Sept. 30. (AP)—Fair demand continued to the week-end for the light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market.

Prices ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid to destination:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard 96 1-2@97 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 63@65; No. 3 nominally 62@63. Grain sorghums No. 2 milo per 1.00 pounds nominally 1.25@1.30; No. 3 milo nominally 1.22@1.27. No. 2 kaffir per 100 pounds, nominally 1.05@1.10; No. 3 kaffir nominally 1.02@1.07.

Delivered Texas common points or group three corn No. 2 mixed 62@62 1-2; No. 2 white 64 1-2@65; No. 2 yellow 62 1-2@63.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats No. 2 red 46 1-2@47 1-2; No. 3 red 45 1-2@46 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Despite a brisk late rally following material setbacks earlier, the outcome of grain trading today proved to be virtually a draw.

Varying action of securities had much to do with the course of cereals, but the main factor was uncertainty as to what unforseen developments might take place regarding national monetary plans. Under such circumstances, few grain speculators were willing to leave any important risks upone until Monday.

Wheat closed nervous, 1-8 lower to 3-8 higher compared with yesterday's finish, corn and oats both unchanged to 3-8 lower, and provisions unchanged to 25 cents down.

Auto Mishaps

flat-bottomed truck in which they were riding late today, six miles west of Mineola.

The students were en route to Mineola to attend a football game between North Dallas high school and Mineloa high school. There were about 20 boys riding on the flat-bottomed truck, most of them members of the high school band.

The injured were brought to Dallas hospitals in ambulances. The most seriously hurt were:

Jack Lanning, 13, internal injuries; Max Morrison, 19, fractured leg; Harold Allen Holbrook, 22, internal injuries.

Others injured were: Joe De Haro, 19, leg injury; Roland Cobb, 19, head and back lacerated; George Cullum, 19, leg and side injured; J. H. Lambert, shoulder injured; Charles Parmalee, knee injured.

W. P. Mann was driving the oil truck, which was owned by a Fort Worth company. The driver said he was trailing the flat-bottomed truck as it approached a bridge in the Sabine river bottoms. The flat-bottomed truck suddenly swerved and stopped, according to Mann. Unable to stop, Mann's truck struck it in the rear, knocking it into a ditch, Mann said.

George Cullum, Sr., Dallas contractor, was driving the flat-bottomed truck. He said he stopped it suddenly to avoid hitting a car approaching from the other direction.

national oil code.

In original answers to the suit, defendants pleaded the code complained of by Allred had been approved by the federal trade commission. Allred countered with the allegation the federal trade commission had no authority to approve a code that was in violation of Texas law.

Oil Code Is Cited

Another of the allegations in the pleas in abatement was that the national oil code recognized the oil industry as an interstate group and not subject to the state laws. Allred said he would contend that distribution of refined products was solely intrastate commerce.

The pending suit was prominent in deliberations before the current special session of the Texas legislature on bills to modify or suspend the states strict anti-trust laws to permit Texas industries to cooperate unhampered in the national recovery program.

The Texas house passed a bill, yet to be acted on in the senate, which provided that adherence to approved codes would be a defense to anti-trust prosecution, but refused to suspend or modify the laws in any manner. It was specifically provided that Allred's suit should not be affected by the bill.

you in the presence of this body," Sanderford continued.

And, Who Cares?

Small replied that "no one cares" about Sanderford's boos.

"Everyone expects him to boo," said Small.

He challenged Sanderford to "bring Jim Ferguson to the witness chair."

"I challenge them to come in here and disprove what Chudej has testified to," Small shouted. "If you want to countenance and protect a man who carries money around in his pocket out of the governor's office, all right. I shall not countenance that kind of thing."

Small referred to testimony given by Lewrence Westbrook, director of the relief commission, that Ferguson had presided at meetings of the commission. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson is ex-officio chairman of the commission.

Does Not Approve

Returning to incidents of Ferguson giving Chudej currency for deposit, Small said he could not "approve of that kind of conduct."

"If it is not true, you ought to be able to show it up and account for every dollar that has come to Jim Ferguson's hands," he said.

Ferguson was governor from 1914 to 1917. He was impeached and removed from office in his second term by a verdict of the senate, sitting as a court to hear charges that had been preferred by the house of representatives. Among the charges he was convicted of was unsatisfactory explanation of a loan of $156,000 from Texas brewers. That amount of money was delivered to him in currency, testimony adduced before the senate showed.

Long testified that ledger sheets of his bank revealed that deposits aggregating about $66,500 had been made to the credit of accounts of the Bosque creamery and the Ferguson Forum, concerns controlled by him, during a period extending from a few days before Mrs. Ferguson was inaugurated governor in January this year until Sept. 1 last.

The senate listened to Long's testimony after a call of the senate was ordered when it developed a quorum was not present. The 17 senators who answered to their names on roll call were locked in, while the sergeant at arms gathered in four more to make a quorum. The senators were locked in while Long gave his testimony.

Long testified that deposits, over the period described by him, credited to the account of the Ferguson Forum aggregated $22,774.14 and those to the creamery $43,896.58. He told of several deposits of as much as $1,000 in currency to the creamery account and two $1,000 checks from J. G. Pundt. Other deposits described were $1,018 in currency on June 12; $1,017 on June 19; $600 on June 26; $1,100 on June 27; $1,047 on July 6, and $1,022 on July 7.

Long testified there were "numerous other deposits," but he was not questioned about them. All of them, however, were included in the totals which he gave.

Martin said that "insinuations and innuendoes with reference to the private transactions of Jim Ferguson," had no place in the investigation before the senate. He recalled that Ferguson, in a statement, had challenged any one who wanted to bring charges against him to "stick his name to an affidavit."

"Let them do it under oath," said Martin. Come out in the open and put it down. They say, "why doesn't Jim Ferguson come to the witness chair?" Did you ever hear of one who is innocent, and not even charged, of volunteering to come into court. Before any man is called into court there should be specific allegations drawn."

Former District Attorney And W. D. Wilson Partners

W. D. Wilson, former Spur attorney but who moved here several months ago and Durwood H. Bradley, former district attorney have formed a law partnership with offices in the Conley building. Mr. Bradley has been located there since leaving the district attorney's office early this year.

Mr. Wilson graduated from the University of Texas in 1901 and began the practice of law. Twenty years ago he moved to Spur and has resided there since.

Coming to Lubbock in 1925, Mr. Bradley was later elected district attorney and served three terms, completing his third term the first of the year. The last two terms he was nominated without opposition.

More Expected In City Today

Panhandle-South Plains Fair Grounds Scene Of Activity; Work Of Judging Is Almost Complete In Some Parts

Exhibits were arriving Saturday for nearly all departments of the 20th annual Panhandle - South Plains fair and the grounds on East Broadway were the scene of considerable activity as booths were being built and displays prepared.

In the women's building the work of judging was virtually complete and the exhibits were being placed, ready for showing.

Sunday Busy Day

Sunday is expected to be a busy day, with a number of merchants finishing their booths in the industrial building and much livestock being received.

Livestock and poultry exhibits were already in place. There were three herds of Shorthorn and Milking cattle in place and one herd of Herefords. Two of the Shorthorn exhibits came Thursday from Tulsa. John M. Gist is here from Odessa with some of his Herefords.

In the agricultural building H. A. Cooper, superintendent of exhibits of individuals reported a number on hand, with more expected late in the day and Sunday. "All of my space will be taken, I believe," he added. "The quality is excellent."

To Be Here Today

While no county exhibits had been set up late Saturday, it was understood Hockley, Terry, Roosevelt county, N. M., and possibly Hale, would be here Sunday. Several other counties were also expected to be represented. There will be some club displays and the T. C. C. A. has a booth in this building.

No hogs had been received in the livestock barn up to mid-afternoon.

Every booth in the industrial building is taken and more could have been sold had there been space it was said.

Exhibitors Listed

Exhibitors in this building are: Sherrod Brothers, Hodges Department store, Hemphill-Wells, Economy Mills, Conoco Oil, Lindsey theatres, Levines, Joe Stanton Fur Co., Red and White stores, Magnolia Petroleum company, Sinclair Refining Co., C. M. Hawes Mattress Co., Stinson, cleaner, Daniel's Studio, Hubb Clothing Co., Caprock Dry Goods Co., Meinecke Brothers Hardware Co., Household Supply Co., Waples Platter Co., Ball Bros. Glass Co., Avalanche - Journal, Piggly-Wiggly, Carnett Electric Co., B. E. Needles, Spikes Brothers Furniture Co. and West Texas Gas company.

Displays were not quite as large in some of the divisions in the women's building as in previous years, but there was a decided improvement in quality, is was said.

Rug Display Good

The rug exhibit was especially good, with 28 entries. First place goes to a Lynn county exhibitor; second place to a Lubbock county exhibitor and third place to a Lamb county exhibitor. There are 28 entries from these three and Castro and Hockley counties.

Canned goods in the women's club exhibits also are especially fine. All containers are standardized and an effort has been made to harmonize colors.

In the general exhibits there is a wide variety of canned foods. Miss Delia Wilkinson is urging her exhibitors there to attempt standardization of containers and labels.

Judging was being completed in the arts division late yesterday. The girl scouts and campfire girls both have splendid exhibits.

Of especial interest is the curios and relics.

Poultry arrived early, some exhibits coming in Friday. More is expected today.

Yesterday word came from Amarillo that 239 head of livestock would come in Sunday from the Tri-State fair. Five exhibitors with 150 hogs; three Jersey exhibitors with 56 animals and two Holstein exhibitors with 33 animals, promised to be here. Several other large exhibitors of other years have sent word they will be here with livestock. Some also are coming from the Oklahoma State fair, probably today.

accompany the ship carrying the prisoners was not determined but at least once before when the removal of the two had been planned, a guard of other ships, carrying department of justice agents with machine guns, was provided for.

The department of justice men here are under the direction of John M. Keith, of Chicago, who has flatly refused to disclose any of the plans for whisking the Kellys away.

Secrecy has been preserved presumably because of fear that publication of the plans might cause a repetition of the Kansas City union station slaying of four officers who were returning Frank Nash, an escaped convict, to Leavenworth penitentiary.

Eighteen U. S. Army Fliers Pay Visit To Local Field

Eighteen United States army fliers stopped briefly at Lubbock Municipal airport yesterday morning on a training flight from Fort Sill, Okla., to El Paso. Each was flying solo.

The first ship landed at 8:50 o'clock and the last took off at 11:15. Fifteen of the ships were T1 pursuit planes, two were 019 observation planes, and the other was AP12 pursuit plans.

A second training flight will visit the local field Wednesday, arriving between 8:30 and 9 a. m.

Personnel of the flight yesterday was: Lts. C. I. Ferris, R. Keilor, R. L. Carver, C. H. Anderson, O. E. Campbell, T. R. Dahl, T. C. Darcy, B. J. Webster, E. G. Wold, K. B. Hobson, J. W. Kelly, and D. C. Gaffney; and Cadets J. S. Irvine, B. S. Harrell, C. J. Gasper, H. L. Hoxie, H. E. Hurst and E. F. Tindall.

Additional Cases Of Strange Malady Are Being Reported In Plains Areas

Additional cases of encephalomyelitis among horses are being reported daily. The disease, affecting the brain covering and the spinal cord, is similar to encephalitis, or so-called sleeping sickness among human beings.

President Bradford Knapp of Texas Technological college last night said that Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, instructor of animal husbandry, was watching several cases and that he was helping those who came to him.

Doctor Knapp pointed out that all except one seemed to be recovering. In other instances, he said, the serum does not seem to aid the animals. The disease has been reported in Petersburg, Silverton, Abernathy, Lorenzo and Floydada. Nearest case to Lubbock is seven miles north.

Gates Of Fair Will Swing Wide Here Monday; Full Program Being Offered

Deadline on most exhibits is 9 a. m.

John T. Wortham shows arrived last night and will be set up today. Their rides, fun houses and side shows will be on the midway.

First horse races here since "the sport of kings" became legal in Texas will be run beginning at 3:30 p. m. There will be five events, two quarter-mile free-for-all races, two for children and one for women. Purses will range from $10 to $50.

Band Concert Daily

The fireworks display, arranged by Thearle-Duffield, who directed the display of fireworks at A Century of Progress in Chicago, and a vaudeville program are scheduled for 8:30 p. m.

Lubbock High school Westerner band will play daily, Monday afternoon's concert will be at 2 o'clock.

Special days have been arranged. Local stores will close at 1 p. m. Tuesday for Lubbock day. Only drugstores will re-open, at 5 o'clock. Lubbock public schools will give a half-holiday Tuesday afternoon.

School Children Free

All public school children will be admitted free on School day Wednesday. Local schools will be closed that afternoon, also. Hundreds of students from other cities are expected here.

Monte Bowron, Slaton band director, will lead a Slaton delegation here for Slaton day Thursday. Friday, College day, will find all college students being admitted free.

Fair officials are anticipating an attendance which will break the mark of 120,000 which now stands, provided weather conditions are favorable.

Dick Smith President

R. C. Dick) Smith is president of this year's exposition. The other officers are Vice presidents, G. A. Simmons and S. E. Cone; treasurer, W. T. Gaston; manager, A. B. Davis; secretary, J. M. Hall; publicity manager, Garnet O. Reeves. Directors are Alex McDonald, Don L. Jones, Parker Prouty, E. L. Klett and Dr. I. E. Barr.

One of the first buildings the throngs will visit is the new agricultural building on the east edge of the grounds and almost opposite the gates. County Agent O. G. Tumlinson is general superintendent and Harold A. Cooper of Liberty is superintendent of individual awards. Nearby is the poultry building, with George Samson of Post as superintendent of the division. The show of the South Plains Rabbit Breeders association also will be found in this building. M. E. Lawrence is superintendent.

All Booths Taken

The industrial building this year was "sold out;" early by merchants who wished to show their wares to fair crowds. All 40 booths were taken, but some business men contracted for more than one.

The Boy Scout tent, just east of the women's building, will house the exhibits of troops of the South Plains Area council. D. T. Jennings, scout executive, is in charge. Assisting Miss Wilkinson in the women's division will be Mrs. Milton Jones, Mrs. Jerome Smith, Mrs. J. H. Hankins, Mrs. Thomas West, Mrs. A. T. Biggers, Miss Hazel Bradley, Mrs. W. O. Stevens, Mrs. Chester Hubbard and Mrs. D. K. Bondurant.

Hospital On Grounds

An emergency hospital will be housed in a small building near the center of the grounds. Nurses from West Texas hospital and Lubbock sanitarium will be on duty there, and an ambulance will remain nearby during the entire fair.

Livestock will be housed in three buildings. Dr. I. E. Barr is superintendent. W. L. Stangel is superintendent of the beef cattle division and Joe W. Bowman of the horse and mule department. Mr. Bowman will be in charge of the horse shows which nightly, beginning Tuesday, will draw the best animals of the section. Dairy superintendents will be Roy B. Davis, W. T. Magee and L. A. Howard. W. W. Evans is in charge of the boys' and girls' agricultural clubs division. Douglass Pounds is directing the swine show.

Bugs Are Back Making Work At Night Difficult

Cicadellidae, trillions of them, swarmed over Lubbock last night.

The tiny locust-like bugs became so thick that some night-workers quit their jobs and others worked with difficulty.

Two employes of Dan Aldrich shop at 812 Thirteenth street stopped work. They burned gasoline on the sidewalk, killing thousands of the insects. After the fire, they swept up more htan three gallons of bugs. Many others had been destroyed completely in the flames.

The insects, a member of the cicadellidae family, reach the peak of their propagation at this season of the year. They are attracted into the city by the bright lights. The brighter the light the more bugs around it. Hence, they committed suicide in the fire.

Every street light last night had vast swarms of the insects darting about it. The bugs seem to be quick on the wings, for collisions were few.

Four Charged In Beer Case

One Civil And Four Criminal Cases Follow Raid Friday On Rooming House And Restaurant In Slaton

One civil and four criminal cases yesterday followed a raid Friday on a rooming house and a restaurant in Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Grisham and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pirtle were named defendants in complaints charging possession of intoxicating liquor for the purpose of sale. Justice of the Peace E. H. Ward, in whose court the complaints were filed, set bond of each at $1,000. All were held here late yesterday. Mrs. Grisham already faces two charges in connection with alleged sales.

In the civil action, filed in 99th district court by County Attorney Vaughn E. Wilson, the buildings in the possession of the Grishams were alleged to be a "nuisance." An injunction was sought to restrain the defendants "from further maintaining said nuisance, and be required to give bond . . . not to further maintain said nuisances."

The petition charged that an eight-foot board fence had been built around the property "for the purpose of a "beer garden' or speakeasy' and that defendants contemplate and have threatened to openly and notoriously that said enclosure was and is intended and constructed for the immediate use as a place where spiritous, vinous and malt liquors are to be sold."

Slaton and Lubbock county officers, in their raid, found 327 bottles of home brew, one case of three-point-two beer, six and a half gallons of wine and three quarts of whisky.

The enclosure, according to the injunction petition, is about 175 feet from the Slaton First Methodist church.

Criminal Cases To Open Monday

Trial of criminal cases will begin before Judge Clark M. Mullican in 99th district court Monday.

Cases, as announced by District Attorney Daniel A. Blair, are as follows:

Rabbit Williams, Demp Cannon, Nealon Young, Homer Reed, Burton Huston, M. W. Kerr, Tim Castle, Nyal Trotter, J. M. Moffett, Leon Stanley, Jack Frost, Abel Seguera and John Griego, all charged with burglary.

H. J. (Happy) Weeks, alias Jack Woodson; Fouzie W. Gressett, and Jack Kinsley, two cases each of robbery with firearms; Leslie Hobgood, Columbus Perry, Gressett, Weeks, Kinsley, and Lloyd Dimock, assault to murder; Arcadio Satelo, robbery.

J. K. Wood, Charley Roberts, and Monroe Calley, forgery; J. W. Davis, and Waller Ward, two cases of forgery; F. W. Lewis, poisoning drink to kill; Grady Lambright, theft of chickens; Thelma Hendricks, prohibition law violation.

Youths Robbed

F. Carpenter went to Lorenzo early this morning.

The sedan lost a casing on the left front wheel, the boys said. A man tried to buy a casing for the wheel in Lorenzo shortly before midnight. He told the attendant his mother was ill in Paducah and he was in a hurry. The station had no tires, and the car was driven toward Ralls.

The gunman was wearing overalls, a gray shirt and a light cap.

Rides In Back Seat

The boys told Mr. Dowell the gunman rode in the back seat of the car.

Mr. Dowell said he passed the boys on the highway before he realized they were nude. He turned his car around and drove back to them. He said they began running away from the highway. They told him later the gunman had threatened to kill them if he saw them again or if they reported the theft.

The school superintendent said he gave them some old clothing.

DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS, AT LUBBOCK
THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

To the Marshal of the Northern District of Texas, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in Lubbock County, Texas, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, Tony Lindhorst, to be and appear before the Honorable District Court of the United States at the next regular term thereof, to be holden for the 5th Judicial Circuit and Northern District of Texas, at the court room thereof, in the City of Lubbock, Texas, on the 2nd Monday in December, it being the 11th day of December next, to answer the Plaintiff's Original Petition filed in said Court on the 17th day of August, A. D., 1933, wherein L. B. Withers, Receiver of the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, is Plaintiff and Tony Lindhorst is Defendant.

And the nature of Plaintiff's demands as shown in his original petition filed in said cause No. 175 at law, as follows, to-wit:

That on or about June 17th, 1916, the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, issued to the defendant, Tony Lindhorst, Stock Certificate No. 55 for ten shares of the capital stock of the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas; said stock being of the par value of One Hundred and No-100 ($100.00) Dollars per share; Which defendant Lindhorst duly receipted for.

That on or about the 26th day of January, 1920, the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, issued to said defendant, Stock Certificate No. 72 for five shares of the capital stock of the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, said stock being of the par value of One Hundred and No-100 ($100.00) Dollars per share, making a total value of Fifteen Hundred and No-100 ($1500.00) Dollars; that said certificates are now in the possession of defendant, Tony Lindhorst, and he is hereby notified to produce the same upon a trial hereof or secondary evidence will be offered as to their contents.

That the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, is an insolvent national banking association; that plaintiff was appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States of America, receiver thereof on the 8th day of June, 1932, and that the defendant was, at the time of the appointment of plaintiff as receiver thereof, the owner and holder of said fifteen shares of stock of the par value of Fifteen Hundred and No-100 ($1500.00) Dollars.

That on or about July 5th, 1932, by order issued on said date, J. W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency of the United States of America, as prescribed as the Federal Reserve Act, and as prescribed by the Statutes and Laws of the United States of America, made an assessment and requisition upon the share-holders of the First National Bank of Jayton, Jayton, Texas, for Forty Thousand and No-100 ($40,000.00) Dollars to be paid by them at the office of the receiver at Jayton in Kent County, Texas, on or before the 12th day of August, 1932, and on said date the said J. W. Pole, made demand upon each and every one of said shareholders for the par value of each and every share of the capital stock of said association held and owned by them respectively, at the time of its failure and in said order directed the plaintiff, L. B. Withers, the receiver, to enforce to that extent, the individual liability of said shareholders; that said assessment and requisition of $40,000.00 constituted an assessment and requisition of 100 per cent of the par value of each and every share of stock of said association.

That said Tony Lindhorst, was notified of such assessment and requisition and he was also notified that he was required to pay the assessment on the fifteen shares of said stock of said bank standing in his name. That said Tony Lindhorst is hereby notified to hold and rely upon the trial of this cause or secondary evidence will be offered as to its contents.

That by reason of the ownership of said stock and under and by virtue of the assessment and requisition upon the shareholders as hereinabove set out, the defendant, Tony Lindhorst, became liable, bound and obligated to pay to the plaintiff herein, in his capacity as receiver of said bank, the sum of $1500.00, together with interest thereon from the 12th day of August, 1932, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum.

That the defendant, Tony Lindhorst, though often requested, has failed and refused and still fails and refuses to pay said assessment or any part thereof to plaintiff's damage in the sum of $1500.00 with interest thereon from the 12th day of August, 1932,

OUR SUPPORT TO N.R.A.

COMPLETELY...
FULLY...
WHOLEHEARTEDLY...

To the Full Letter and Spirit Of the Plan

FORWARD NOW TO BETTER TIMES

LET'S ALL PULL TOGETHER FOR PROSPERITY...

OUR PLEDGE

Franklin D. Roosevelt, President: We believe the recovery program is based on sound principles and certain of success when backed by wholehearted support of American business . . . standing on this principle we pledge our support and our determination to do our part to the full intent and spirit of the agreement and to support the NRA in every manner open to us.

To Our Employees:

September 30, 1933.

We have signed the NRA agreement and are putting it into effect in our businesses. This agreement means shorter hours and better wages for you at once. So far as you are concerned the President's recovery plan is already a success. Support NRA merchants and business men with purchases. Look for the blue eagle and ask for it when you don't see it. Look for it not only where you buy, but as a label on the goods you buy. This will help others to get higher wages all along the line. Those others can then enjoy better living conditions, and part of their better pay will eventually reach you in your own pay envelope. United we stand, divided we fall. We urge you to stand together with us and all other loyal citizens for full support of NRA.

It Is Time to Realize

—the National Recovery Movement is a serious matter. Far sighted leadership at Washington has planned the way out of an impossible situation—by giving us all—employers, employees, the public—a chance to work, together for the welfare of all. This thing can not be put into words entirely. We must all grasp the idea, get the Spirit of NRA and ACT NOW!

For Three Years of Depression

—the laundries of Lubbock have striven to maintain their forces of employees on the payroll by breaking hours and shifts to distribute wages to as many families as possible, and to keep wages to the highest level that conditions would allow.

Now We Enter the New Day

—and under the NRA and the special agreement approved for the Laundry Industry, we adjust wages upward and hours downward, making working conditions easier and returns for labor higher for every one of the laundry employees of Lubbock.

Not Only the Letter . . . But the Spirit

——of NRA is observed by the Laundries of Lubbock. We have not only met the code requirements for minimum wages, but we have equitably re-adjusted wages for all employees, whether necessary to do so to meet code conditions or not.

We Pledge Our Support

—to the President's request to employers "Not to use any subterfuge to frustrate the spirit and intent of this agreement." We pledge our support to the other NRA firms here in Lubbock and to manufacturers from whom we buy supplies. We pledge our efforts to secure full support of NRA on the part of our employees.

We Ask Your Support!

—in the same spirit that we pledge ours. The success of this plan depends upon increased wages being turned back into circulation by increased purchases. Nothing can add more to your standard of living than good laundry service, and nothing you buy can re-distribute more of your money back into Lubbock. With the exception of purchases of soap, starch, blueing, paper, etc., which are manufactured elsewhere, every penny of your dollar paid to the Laundries listed on this page is paid out again in Lubbock in wages, taxes, supplies and plant upkeep . . . 90 per cent of your laundry dollar stays to circulate in Lubbock.

CROSSED EYES
Made Straight And Useful Without Surgery

THELMA CROCKETT
Age 4

Condition of eyes December 27th, 1927, when brought to me. Left eye deviated in and vision in this eye was extremely low. Was not able to use this eye in conjunction with other eye. Was not a case of muscle trouble and no muscular exercises were required nor applied. Was informed that a noted oculist had previously been in charge of case supplying glasses.

DR. A. F. WOODS

THELMA CROCKETT
Age 4

Above photograph represents condition of eyes soon after I took the case showing how quickly I put eyes under control, causing her to begin using both eyes, giving her binocular vision. My system of treatment for straightening crossed-eyes is successful without drugs, operations, or mechanical devices. This little lady has normal vision in both eyes now, with my correction.
This is only one of many past and present patients.

ABOUT
Luster-Sheen Dri-Sheen
ETC.

We installed the "filter-pressure" system several months ago, in fact, we pioneered this system on the South Plains, being the first to install it.

We know that you have appreciated the wonderful quality of work that we have given you since the installation of this system, sometimes called "Luster-Sheen" or "Dri-Sheen".

Please don't be misled, we think the "filter-pressure" system is a great step in the dry cleaning industry, we are glad that we have the system, and we positively guarantee to give you advantage of every really worth-while equipment that it is possible to get.

Calles Re-enters Political Picture

MEXICO, D. F., Sept. 30. (AP)—Former President Plutarco Elias Calles has re-entered active political life for the second time since he left the presidency in 1928, accepting appointment as minister of finance.

He succeeds Alberto J. Pani, who resigned Friday night. Marte R. Gomez, minister of agriculture in 1929 and 1930 and a member of the Mexican delegation to the world economic conference, was named Calles' assistant.

President Abelardo Rodriguez offered Calles the post and a government communique said he had accepted.

OPEN GROCERY STORE

FLOYDADA, Sept. 30. (Special)—J. B. Claiborne and Ashley Lawson have opened a Piggly-Wiggly store here on the south side of the court house square. They leased the Montgomery building, 50 feet wide. Homer Eubanks, former resident here but recently of Lubbock, will assist in the store operation.

Studied Casualness In Dress Characterizes Style

Evening Clothes Are Elegant; Contrast Is Presented

BY ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Service Writer

BIARRITZ, Sept. 30 — Although Biarritz may assume a somewhat "negligé" appearance, it still remains the rendezvous of elegance and fashion. The really smart people here affect the greatest casualness and informality in dress the greater part of the day, and those who do not merely look overdressed.

On the other hand, when women do wear evening clothes, only the latest and smartest gowns can pass muster. This, after all, is quite logical. After spending most of the day in flannel trousers or shorts, it is natural that a woman should feel the desire of resuming a little mystery and femininity at night.

Formal or even informal afternoon dresses are rarely worn at Biarritz, except by the older women. The Prince of Wales is apparently responsible for this note of casualness in dress for he seldom appears in anything but long and very baggy plus-fours in either grey flannel or white linen, a navy silk polo shirt, pale blue stockings and white or tan shoes. He even strolls into the Casino at night to play baccarat thus informally dressed, so it is not surprising that men and women have followed suit. And the management can do nothing about it.

Few Formal Functions

Gala nights at the Casino, first nights and cabaret openings are the only occasions on which people don evening dress in public—without counting the dinner parties which are given in the handsome villas owned by well known people here. So even the best-dressed women bring with them only the most practical sports clothes, some very simple dresses of the informal afternoon variety and all the evening gowns they possess.

At the Chambre d'Amour, the select enclosed bathing pool of Biarritz, flannel or jersey trousers—usually grey or navy—are worn by the best people. These are slipped over the swimming suit or worn with a polo shirt. A sunback knitted sweater seems the alternate choice. The smartest shirts are yellow or green, very effective with grey and good with navy, and the sweaters are usually striped yellow and white, green and white, red, white and blue or all white.

Shorts are favored by the slim and long-legged younger set. For the beach, Lily Damita wears an all-white shorts ensemble which she discards for a white robe de plage complemented by a vividly-colored handkerchief or scarf. Mrs. David Barron, who entertains the Prince quite extensively, favors navy pajamas with a striped blue-and-white backless sweater. Miss Beth Leary wears a Patou pajama ensemble, also navy and white, with very wide pajama

Pioneer Needle Club Meeting Is Postponed Until November

There will be no meeting of the Pioneer Needle club this week because of the Panhandle-South Plains fair, it was announced by Mrs. Ed Vaughn. The next meeting of the club will be on the second Tuesday afternoon in November and it will be with Mrs. Sue McMurry.

Gospel Of Flowers Is Preached By Pioneer Woman

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Woman's Editor

The gospel of flowers has been preached for the last 42 years in this prairie country by one who today has acres of blossoms for you to enjoy from the roadside or to see closer, if you care to stop. This one is Mrs. Jerry C. Burns, who lives across Yellowhouse canyon from the city.

She has preached the gospel of flowers and has supported her sermon with gifts. Pioneer women remember Mrs. Burns always had bouquets to give away, sprouts to distribute among her friends or cuttings for other yards. Now, with trees and plants and flowers everywhere, Mrs. Burns is still growing flowers and still distributing her flowers among strangers as well as friends.

Gives To The Sick

"There is a large bouquet for you and, if you have a sick friend, here is a bouquet for her, also," Mrs. Burns will explain, loading one's arms with flowers. Then some days she sends baskets of flowers to the sanitarium or hospital to be given to those who have no flowers in their rooms.

Now, Mrs. Burns' specialty is dahlias. She has rows and rows of the plants, more than 400 in all, in full bloom. There are yellow, red, white, orchid and variegated blossoms—a rainbow of color in a patch that is separated from the road by but a wire fence.

Alternating with the rows of dahlias are rows of red, yellow and pink cannas, some as much as eight feet in height. These help protect the dahlias from the wind.

Brought Flowers Here

Mrs. Burns is a native of Alabama, "where "things grew if you stuck them in the grounds." She married in Grayson county, Texas, and came out here 42 years ago. As she came she brought some flowers along in the wagon because she loved so well to have something growing.

During the next few years she added to her collection and, in a time when most people had little to show, she had a riot of color in her yard. She wrote a friend in Denison asking her to send some plants out to her here. That was the beginning of bouncing betty for this section, as Mrs. Burns distributed the plants among her friends.

These plants and many others were mailed out. It took five days for the mail to come through.

In those same days she ordered many other shrubs and plants from nurseries in the north. Each year, although she had a large family and was as busy as other pioneer women, she had her flower garden.

Grows Many Roses

For many years Mrs. Burns grew roses and made a specialty of them. When others complained of hot winds and other troubles, she always had rosebuds by the armful. She still

Perishables May Be Entered In This Division Monday At Fair Grounds; Judging Done

Textile And Antique Divisions Are Crowded; Rugs In The Women's Clubs Departments Are Feature; Loan Show Of Pictures Is Unique In Department Of Art

WHEN gates at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds swing open Monday morning, the women's building will be ready for the reception of visitors.

Quilts and other handiwork will be displayed to advantage. Canned goods, pictures, curios and antiques, rugs and other articles will be hung on walls and placed in cases and on shelves for visitors to see.

With the exception of perishables, all articles were received at the fair grounds by Friday afternoon and judging of articles was in progress. During Saturday, this judging continued and articles were placed in the display spaces.

With the opening of the fair Monday, breads, cakes, cut flowers, all of which perish within a short time, may be received. These divisions will be closed to entries after one o'clock in the afternoon.

Gain In Quantity

Some departments in the women's building have gained in quantity this season. Some have lost in numbers but as a whole, the quality of exhibits exceeds that of other years, Miss Delia Wilkinson, general director, has stated. Miss Myrtle Murray of College Station, who has judged in this department for a number of years, praised quality of entries as she was judging during Friday and Saturday.

Textile division and the curio and antique section are crowded. Because of the general drouth and other extreme weather conditions, the exhibit of canned products is short this fall. However, things that are on display are excellent, the superintendent, Mrs. A. T. Biggers, and Miss Murray explained.

Cakes, breads and other such articles are expected to swell this display tomorrow morning.

There is a progressive interest in curios, relics and antiques, the growth of this department indicates. Mr. D. K. Bondurant is superintendent this fall.

As articles were received during the week, superintendents of other departments as well as others who were in the building looked them over with interest. Old quilts and coverlets, old coins, ancient books, musical instruments, stamps, clothing of past decades, samplers, dishes, daguerreotypes and other articles are in this part of the building.

Show Many Quilts

Hand-made quilts are again a large part of the textile exhibit. Many of these are in patterns that were popular a year ago. Others are in patterns that have been introduced during the last few months. Cut-work embroidery, dainty handkerchiefs, baby clothes, bedroom sets, lunch cloths and napkins, knitted articles, afghans and other dainty and colorful needlework

Annual Church Gathering Set

Baptist Missionary Society At Central Church Will Be Host Organization; Officers To Be Selected

Reports of the work of the year in Baptist missionary societies of the Plains Women's Missionary union will be made at an annual meeting at Central Baptist church Tuesday.

A song service at 10 a. m. will open the meeting. A representative from Morton will lead a round table discussion. The welcome address is to be made by Mrs. E. B. Holland. Talks will be made by women from Lamesa, West Camp and Levelland.

An annual election of officers is the outstanding feature of the afternoon meeting.

Muleshoe Couple Weds; Live On Farm Near Bride's Home

MULESHOE, Sept. 30 (Special)—Charlie Watson of Longview and Miss Lutishia Bass of Baileyboro were married in Portales, N. M., on September 12, according to word received here. Mr. Watson, a musician and farmer, is the son of Mrs. Russell Watson. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Bass of Crosbyton.

Tea Set 175 Years Old May Be Seen In Women's Building

An interesting exhibit in the curio and antique division of the Panhandle-South Plains fair is a tea set 175 years old that belongs to Solon Johnson. This set is on display with other old china in a case in the women's building.

GO TO ROSWELL

Misses Frances Burns, Billie Bob Jones and Mary Geniece Hardberger attended the Tech Freshmen-N. M. M. I. football game in Roswell, N. M. Saturday afternoon. They were guests for the dance in the evening. Mrs. D. Burns accompanied the girls.

Social Groups Delay Regular Meetings Here

Many Organizations Are To Have Routine Gatherings During Week; Church, Club Meetings Scheduled

BY MARGARET TURNER
Of The Woman's Staff

BECAUSE the Panhandle-South Plains fair will be in progress this week several clubs have postponed their meetings until next week. Others have scheduled routine meetings. A summary of meetings that have been arranged follows:

MONDAY

Members of The American Legion auxiliary and their husbands and members of the Legion and their wives are to attend a program meeting at the Legion hall at 8 p. m. Mary P. Abernathy, a colored Gold Star mother, will tell about her trip to Europe.

The College Avenue Baptist Women's Missionary society is to meet in units as follows: Circle 1, Mrs. Boyd P. Milburn, 2324 Seventh street; Circle 2, Mrs. A. J. Richardson, 2108 Twenty-Second street.

The First Baptist Women's Missionary society is to attend a monthly business meeting at the church at 3 o'clock.

The First Methodist Women's Missionary society is meeting at the church at 3 o'clock to continue a study of "Eastern Women Today and Tomorrow". Mrs. William Dingus is to be the leader.

Members of the First Methodist Mary Helm auxiliary are to continue a study of "The Never Failing Light" when they meet at the church at 2:30 o'clock.

The Central Baptist Women's Missionary society is to meet at the church at 2 o'clock.

Saint Anne's Altar society of Saint Joseph's Catholic church is meeting with Mrs. C. J. Quinlan at 3 o'clock.

Members of the Broadway Church of Christ Bible class are to meet at the church at 3 o'clock.

The First Christian Women's Missionary society is meeting with Mrs. E. L. Pitts, 2911 Twentieth street, at 3 o'clock.

Members of the Jane Bickley and of the Belle Bennett circles of the Asbury Methodist Women's Missionary society are to attend meetings at the church at 3 o'clock.

The Wee Wadita Camp Fire group is to meet at the club house at 4:15 o'clock.

TUESDAY

The Tuesday Bible class is meet-

The Woman's Angle

Avalanche Woman's Editor

GIRL SCOUTS are to have a nursery for children at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds this year. The other afternoon there was a general meeting at which plans were discussed and the girls' received assignments of duties. There was some discussion of toys for the nursery when one little girl spoke up:

"Miss Girand," she inquired, "what are the toys for?"

"For the children to play with," her director explained. But the child was still puzzled.

"What children?" she wanted to know.

"Say, what do you think we are going to have in this nursery?" the director countered.

"Trees," the little girl replied.

At the same meeting another little girl was troubled. "My mother says," she explained, "that if I am able to look after children at the fair, I should be able to care for my little sister at home."

SHE HAS HER PAST

PASTS are often manufactured for cinema stars, actors and others who are enough in the public eye to prompt curiosity. Sometimes, fate manages the past so that eventually almost all of us can look back and relate "I knew her when."

Mary McComic, singer, who has an article in last week's Liberty is one of those of whom West Texas may speak. L. D. Lattimore, of the mechanical department of the Avalanche-Journal, remembers when he lived but a few blocks from Miss McComic's father, a Mr. Harris, in Amarillo.

"She wouldn't know me now if we met," Mr. Lattimore remarks, "but I remember many a day when she peddled prunes to our house."

Fate helped out with the fairy-tale past for this singer who married a prince.

COMPUTE THE COST

WHEN you are looking over the rugs in the home demonstration and 4-H club divisions of the fair this week, compute their value.

Commercially, one-half of those rugs are worth $1.50 per square foot. The other half are worth $1 per square foot. That's the commercial price. You can compute the value to you if you had made them. A rug of medium size consumes about 15 hours in the making.

While you are looking at those rugs you may wonder why some have ribbons and why some others have not. The weight of the rugs, the artistic value of the designs, the blending of colors and other factors entered in to the judging and, at that, the judges had a hard time of it.

You may like something else best. Personally, those rugs take my eye in the women's building but I don't believe I would ever be able to walk on them. I'm afraid I would beat a path around.

LONG SERVICE

THERE'S another woman out at the fair who has been there since the first ones were held. That is Mrs. J. S. Johnson, long superintendent of the culinary department. She has had a part in nineteen of the twenty fairs held here.

THEY DO THE WORK

YOU may not like some of the things in the fair. You may not like some of the women who help to make it a success every year, but don't complain. They may get some honor for their part out there but they also do the work.

Whether it is hot or cold, these women spend days at the fair grounds every fall receiving articles for exhibit, answering questions, helping judges, staying in the building during the fair and finally turning the exhibits back to owners. They have responsibility and work. If you feel like complaining put yourself in their places for a week. Your criticism will be less severe under these circumstances.

Loyalty Club Members Are Guests Of Mrs. T. T. Fisher

Loyalty club members attended a business and social meeting with Mrs. T. T. Fisher, 2118 Eighth street, Friday afternoon. During the business hour plans were made for the next quarter. The president, Mrs. John Hayworth, presided.

Handkerchief showers were presented to Mrs. Ed Lowery and Mrs. A. W. Wright and a miscellaneous shower was given to Mrs. Earl Wilson. Others attending were Mesdames J. W. Bonds, Ed Greer, E. E. Sartor, Jack Slover, L. J. Akers, D. N. Lacewell, Roche Newton and J. A. Hood.

Sunrise Breakfast Served For Baptist Group At Park

Forty-four young people of the College Avenue church attended a sunrise breakfast at Shannon park Saturday. This was the climax to a series of meetings that the group had attended at the church last week. The meal was served after a series of games had been played. The young people of the church will conduct the evening service tonight.

Meeting Of Ladies' Aid Is To Be At Church On Monday

There is to be a meeting of the Cumberland Presbyterian Ladies Aid at the church Monday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock.

Marian Martin Pattern

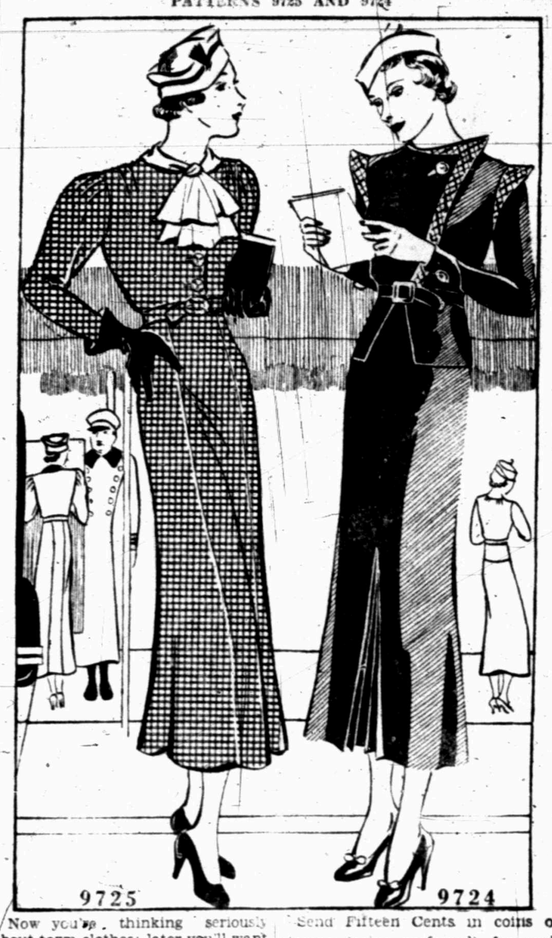
STUNNING MODELS FOR WINTER SEASON
PATTERNS 9725 AND 9724



Now you're thinking seriously about town clothes; later you'll want something smart to wear under your cloth or fur coat. So be practical, above all things, and select one of the stunning models sketched today; they're suitable for both purposes. Black is not the only smart color for winter—you'll find a becoming shade among the wide range of dark, rich greens, bright reds, coppery browns and blues that tinge towards plum. A gay checked or ribbed fabric is the ideal choice for Pattern 9725, with the flowing jabot scarf of contrasting pique or bengaline. If you've a whim for sharp, angular lines, you'll dote on model 9724 in ottoman, bengaline or satin. A smart note is sounded in the trimming of contrast and the clever low-placed skirt animation. As for being easy to make—just gaze at the Sew Chart included with each pattern and all doubts will vanish.

Pattern 9725 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 2 1-2 yards 54 inch fabric and 1-2 yard 39 inch contrasting.

Pattern 9724 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 2 7-8 yards 54 inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrasting.

Send Fifteen Cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marian Martin Pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Name, Address, the Style Number and Size of each pattern ordered.

Study the new mode at its best with the Marian Martin Pattern Book for Fall and Winter. All the new style highlights — shoulders, collars, sleeves, skirts — are cleverly worked out in their easiest-to-make form. Clothes for juniors and kiddies, reflecting new trends, and Marian Martin's famous slenderizing models are shown. Lingerie and gift patterns, too. This book will guide you to a distinctive wardrobe at little effort and small cost. Send for it today. Price of pattern book fifteen cents. Book and pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Address all orders to Lubbock Morning Avalanche Pattern Department, 232 West 18th Street, New York, N. Y.

CIRCLE TO MEET

Members of the Jennie K. Circle of the First Methodist Mary Helm auxiliary are to meet in the choir room Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will begin a new study.

Junior High Parent-Teacher Society To Start Year With Evening Program

Year's Topics Given In Outline; Group Meets Monthly

Beginning their 1933-34 season, members of the Junior High school Parent-Teacher association are to meet for a program hour Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the west study hall of the school building. Other programs will be on the first Thursday evening of each month throughout the school year.

Carroll Thompson, principal, is to extend greetings to patrons at the Thursday program and M. H. Duncan, superintendent of city schools, talk on "Why the Home and School Should Cooperate in Character Training." Mrs. Carl Scoggin is to sing.

During a social hour a birthday cake will be cut in celebration of the twenty-fourth birthday of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Others To Speak

Other speakers and their subjects for following months are: "What are the Financial Obligations of Lubbock Citizens to the Lubbock Public Schools?", Chas. A. Guy; "The Responsibility of Home and School in Promoting Law Observance," Dr. W. A. Jackson; "Development of Good Citizenship Through an Organized Program of Recreation," Judge Clark M. Mullican; "Significance of Parental Attitudes," Mrs. A. C. Surman of Post, chairman of mental attitudes committee of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers; "Spiritual Essentials in Home and School," Mrs. C. J. Wagner; "Helping Boys and Girls to Stand on Their Own Feet," Dr. F. B. Malone; "Vacations That Count", Miss Margaret Weeks.

Mrs. George Herd is president of this association with Mrs. Jerome H. Smith as vice-president. Mrs. R. J. Allen is secretary and Mrs. John Halsey is treasurer.

has roses but many of her bushes, which were as large as large shrubs last year, froze to the ground in the winter and have not produced so many flowers this summer.

It is amusing to her to hear people talk of discovering that roses will grow in this section. She knew that and proved it years before most people came to West Texas, for she has been preaching and practicing the gospel of flowers since soon after the first people established homes upon this prairie plateau.

TO ENTERTAIN

Mrs. Gordon Webb, 1306 Twenty-Third street, is to entertain for the S. S. S. club Thursday afternoon in her home.

Miss Cowan And Joe Lane Marry

Miss Eva Cowan and Joe Lane were married Friday evening in the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Bickley, 1724 Broadway, with Dr. Bickley, presiding elder of the Lubbock Methodist district, officiating.

The bride's mother, Mrs. T. B. Cowan, and the groom's father, C. C. Lane, accompanied the couple.

The couple will be at home near Lubbock where Mr. Lane is associated with his father in dairy farming.

Nursery Is To Be Maintained By Girl Scouts

Registered Nurse Is To Be On Duty During Fair; Any Child Passing Examination Will Be Received

The Girl Scout Little House at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds is a nursery that has been equipped to care for babies and small children while their parents attend the exhibit showings.

Girl Scouts will be on duty under the supervision of a registered nurse and Miss Alma Girand, local director. No baby with a communicable disease will be accepted at the nursery, Miss Girand said. Cots will be provided for the babies and nursery chairs and tables will be there for older children.

Simple handcraft will be taught, games will be supervised and stories will be told by the girls in charge of the nursery.

Members from Troops 1, 2 and 4 are to be on duty. They are Betty Blankenbekler, Gertrude Claiborne, Janelle Halsey, Mary Ruth Hufstedler, Peggy Hess, Betty Lee Lindsey, Bess Lomax, Elinor Crenshaw, Grace Anna Fletcher, Ida Rule Duff, Cathryn Dykes, Loyette Lindsey, Dorothy Duncan, Norma Glassman, Dorris Hopping, Sara Jones, Ruth Duncan, Winifred Woods, Marjory Johnston, Bertha Proctor, Angeline West, Dorothy Smith, Billie Ruth McClung, Norma Bradshaw, Johnnie Mae Thompson, Mary Jane Payne, Myrtle Bumpass, Margaret Coffman, Betty Cross, Geraldine Skipper, Willie Vee Bertram, Edabel McCauley, Lois Jane McDonald, Ina Bacon, Iris Abshier, Ruth Davis and Johnnie Dell Borders.

Professor Plans Course For 'Cleveland City 'Brain Trust'

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 30 (AP)—Prof. William H. McPherson, acting head of the department of economics of Cleveland college, adult education center, believes Cleveland should develop its own "brain trust."

To that end he has announced a course this fall that will be devoted to "plans, programs and policies" of the Roosevelt administration, with the NRA treated with special emphasis.

"Economic planning becomes more necessary as the country becomes more mature industrially," he says, "so we hope to develop material for a Cleveland 'brain trust.'"

VEAL INEXPENSIVE

The breast or shoulder of veal is an inexpensive cut but one which is very nutritious. It makes delicious stews, meat loaves or fricasseed dishes.

Post Visits Prove Success

Series Of Eleven Visits To Various Communities In Garza County Are Staged; Many Attend Sessions

(By Staff Correspondent)

POST, Sept. 30—One of the most successful series of community visits in the history of the Post Chamber of Commerce, has just been completed with the final trip in a series of 11 to nearby communities.

E. R. Wright, president of the organization, in a summary of work, gave the following information: 2,253 local people attended the 11 meetings; 500 Post people were present, with 66 taking part in the program.

A feature of each meeting was a "country store" conducted by "Abie the Jew", in the person of Jay Slaughter. From 50 to 66 gifts of merchandise, all provided by Post merchants, were distributed by Mr. Slaughter at each program. Check on the attendance was had by means of tickets passed out each night.

Mr. Wright gave a short talk at each meeting on the NRA and its operations. There were musical and other entertainment numbers. The Boy Scout quartet, from troop 16, attended and presented several selections on each program.

Other musicians included: J. W. Lowe, Mrs. Jay Slaughter, Mrs. Bob Davis and V. A. Hartman, jr. The Post band and the Methodist church orchestra also played.

Communities visited included: Garlynn, Barnum Springs, Justiceburg, Verbena, Cross Roads, Pleasant Valley, Grassburr, Close City, Hackberry, Graham Chapel and Gordon.

Evening Dress

trousers. Lady Furness also spends most of her time in pajamas, but hers are a beautiful shade of red, with a matching red ribbon round her head. Few gingham shorts are seen, and the fancy pajama suit is definitely out.

The all-brown or all-white bathing suit is the smartest, but it has to be hand-knitted and in a heavy ribbed pattern. A few vivid blues, some very effective cedar greens and dark reds are to be seen, but the brown and the white are undoubtedly the most effective. All suits are cut to mold the figure and are very brief. Some women affect the brassiere top attached by a single button to the shorts. Belts are seldom seen.

At the Chantuco Golf Club, hand-knit cotton or wool suits and dresses vie for favor with equally simple sports dresses of cotton crepe, sinelic and pique. The former are either white, mustard yellow, green, or pale blue, with original belts and buttons in a dark shade of leather. The latter are white or striped, with a few pastel colors, but the contrasting color note in the form of either belt or scarf is de rigueur. Bright wool cardigan jackets or cotton-velvet coats are thrown negligently over the shoulders. Sports coats are all white flannel or wool fabric, belted or slightly flared, but very simply cut.

Evening dresses are colorful. Purple chiffon, petunia, tulle, crepes in brilliant greens and reds and even electric blue, with black and dull white, are some of the colors worn by the smartest women. Browns and brown touches on a white gown are also seen, indicating that this will be one of the popular color combinations for the coming winter. Tulle, usually black but sometimes in brown, very much befrilled and ruffled, is a favorite. Prints are almost never seen.

At a recent opening night, Lady Furness wore an orchid chiffon ensemble. Mrs. David Barron was in black tulle and Princess Mdivani wore one of her Chanel trousseau frocks in embroidered organdie, A black crepe gown with folds of white organdie outlining the square decollete in front, which extended in a waist-length point at the back and formed double cap sleeves was worn by a pretty blonde English society girl. Still another deb wore one of the new faille frocks in a dark brown, with the equally new flounced skirt.

Evening wraps, when worn, are either diminutive vivid velvet boleros or else capes or boas in ostrich or coque feathers.

Sandals in every conceivable pattern, in leather or linen, white or gaily colored, are worn all day, except of course for golfing, when all white antelope seems to be the latest thing. These are exchanged in the evening for more formal and intricate models usually in gold or silver-edged brocade or satin.

Daytime hats are either of the hand-knitted madcap type or large, floppy linen or straw shapes. The Basque beret is still good, worn well over one eye in a peak. Restaurant hats are not seen because nobody wears restaurant gowns.

Hair is worn semi-long, off the ears, a clump of curls at the nape of the neck, or else cut short and loosely waved. Younger girls favor the ribbon tied round the head in Alice-in-Wonderland fashion.

Carter Ward Teachers Enjoy Dinner On Thursday Evening

Miss Mary Meador entertained with a dinner in her home, 1631 Main street, Thursday evening for the faculty of the K. Carter school. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. H. Meador.

Mrs. Mamie I. Neal and Mrs. L. C. Ellis were special guests. Teachers attending were Misses Stella Thurman, Mildred Boone, Vadt Walden, Evelyn Jones, Dorothy Rushing, Dimple Watson, Katie Bell Crump, Mesdames D. J. Wilhelm, O. N. Baucom, C. O. Bergholm, Josephine Ballenger, J. K. Wester and Pearl Watson.

Glazing Of Pitcher Is Said To Be Lost Art; On Display

Morrison To Stage Rodeo

Extra, Added, Special Attraction! On Program For Big Jim Farley And Democratic Chiefs On Texas Ranch

BY BESS FURMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—The October 20 rodeo on Anacacho ranch south of San Antonio has been promised an added attraction—the roundup of some well-known wearers of the "New Deal" brand.

Anacacho is the home of R. W. Morrison, one of the American delegates to the world economic conference in London, and there is a move underway down there to corral distinguished democrats who winter-range in Washington. Morrison has his lariat coiled particularly for Vice President Garner and Postmaster General Farley.

The general and his merry men will be joined at Ft. Worth by Mr. Garner and continue across the Lone Star state by airplane, stopping occasionally to dedicate post-offices and click through the turnstiles at the first legal horse racing in Texas in 25 years. Very specially, they will see the rodeo at Morrison's ranch and eat Anacacho barbecue.

Meeting Of The Extremes

It will be a get-together of the citified, up-north brand of democrat with the sombreroed down-south breed.

"To "Big Jim," who hadn't missed a big New York boxing bout in 12 years before he became postmaster general, the manly sport of the land of his close friend, "Cactus Jack", will be a new experience.

"I've never seen a real rodeo," said Farley. "All I've ever had is a small sample of one. And I'm certainly looking forward to that show down in Texas! You can't put it too strong, if you're telling the folks down there!"

Down near the Rio Grande, close to the Mexican border, Anacacho ranch will be the terminus of their flight. Tufted palm trees border the walled court of the luxurious Spanish-style ranch house. A bell, centuries old, tolls in a mission-like setting.

Native Talent

Texas State parties to which even the society-shunning Garner goes, have been famed for their native talent—and much of it will be at the Morrison ranch. Senator Tom Connally will be there, and Rep. Fritz Lanham, a magician of extraordinary talent, and Sam Rayburn, who can tell many a Texas tale.

Farley will take with him three of his four assistant postmasters general, Joseph C. O'Mahoney, first; William Washington Howes, second; and Silliman Evans, fourth; also Harley Branch, his secretary, and Frank C. Walker, treasurer of the democratic national committee.

Clock Of Unknown Age Is On Display At Fair This Year

A clock of unknown age is on display in the women's building at the Panhandle-South Plains fair. Works in the clock are made of wood. This article was bought at auction 130 years ago and has been in the same family ever since. Its history before that date is unknown.

Anacacho Ranch To Be Scene Of Big Political Gathering

There's to be a big party on October 20 at Anacacho ranch, south of San Antonio, Texas, with R. W. Morrison, one of the American delegates to the world economic conferene, as host. Morrison has his lariat all set to draw Vice President Garner and Postmaster General Farley to the affair, of which a rodeo will be one of the features. Other political leaders also are scheduled to join in the fun at Morrison's home, pictured here.

pieces fill the cases, shelves and rods in this part of the building. Mrs. Thomas West is the superintendent.

The outstanding exhibit in the club women's and girl's division is a display of hand-made rugs.

With many women in this and adjoining counties rug making has become a finished art. Most of the rugs are made of woolen mill-ends or of old blankets, old sweaters, coats or other discarded woolens, which have been cleaned and dyed. Some of the women have made their own designs and others have adapted commercial designs to lend individuality to the products.

The distribution of colors and "light and dark" in many of the rugs shows artistic sense and ability, according to Miss Murray, who was a judge in this department.

Miss Hazel Bradley, county home demonstration agent, is the superintendent of this division. There are entries from Lubbock and surrounding counties.

A feature of the art department is a loan collection of pictures. Mrs. Chester Hubbard is superintendent of this division.

In addition to Miss Wilkinson, directors in the women's building include Mesdames Milton Jones, Jerome Smith, J. S. Johnson and J. H. Hankins. Mrs. W. O. Stevens is head of the floral division. Most exhibits in this section are to be received on Monday morning.

Officers Are Elected When Wolfforth P-TA Has Meeting

WOLFFORTH, Sept. 30, (Special)—Officers were elected at the first autumn meeting of the Wolfforth Parent-Teacher association Thursday evening at the school building. They are the following: President, Mrs. E. P. Earhart; first vice-president, Mrs. M. T. Daniell second vice-president, Mrs. J. A. McWhorter; secretary, Mrs. Alton Swain; treasurer, Mrs. Fred DeLashaw. The year's program is to be planned at the next meeting on October 12 at the school.

Changes In U. S. Banking Regulations Seen By Babson; Bank Stocks Due To Stage Come-Back

Financial Observer Discusses Bank Situation

BY ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright for Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 30.—One of the most difficult things today is to analyze correctly the future of bank stocks. If nature had been allowed to "take its course," without governmental interference, bank stocks would already have shown a handsome come back. They may still do so; in fact, they certainly should recover to some extent, but at the present time they lack popular support.

Roger Babson

To show how drastic has been the deflation in bank stock prices since boom days we only have to compare their decline with the drop in industrials. From September 30, 1929, to March, 1933 industrial stocks fell 87 per cent, while bank stocks dropped 89 per cent. This is very surprising for you must remember that bank stocks are normally supposed to be very stable and conservative investments. Since March, bank stocks have advanced only 30 per cent while industrials have jumped 95 per cent. Much of the improvement in industrials has been due to anticipated higher profits under inflation, while recent developments in the banking field have been a major factor in holding back bank stocks.

During the past five years approximately 9,000 of our 25,941 banks closed their doors. As a result, banks have felt the heavy hand of the government. There have been congressional investigations. The paralysis of our entire system in March resulted in the enactment of certain reforms. This new legislation divorced the profitable securities business from the banks. Moreover, under the Glass-Steagall Bill banking profits will be partially limited. Banks both in the United States and Canada are in a very liquid condition. This means they are not making money. New York City's new taxes, abnormally low interest rates, and an uncertain political future are all factors in the unpopularity of bank shares.

Effects of New Legislation

Under a good banking system depositors should be able to place their money in banks with the knowledge that it is safe and that they can get it when they need it. Our banking system has shown inherent weaknesses which do not permit liquidation in times of stress. As one of the "New Deal" measures, the Glass-Steagall act was passed in June. Whether or not deposit insurance is good for American banking in the long run, bank accounts are surely safer today than they have been for twenty years. On the other hand, this new law is hard on bank officials and stockholders. Furthermore, the Act is now retarding the expansion of credit which is vitally necessary to back new enterprises, revive building, and start up closed factories.

Moreover, if the proposed plan to allow depositors in the U. S. postal savings banks to write checks against their accounts is successful, this may result in a reduction of deposits in banks. You know that member banks of the Federal Reserve system can no longer pay interest on your checking account. Added to the above, is the recent announcement by Chairman Jesse Jones of the RFC of his intention to encourage the organization of competitive mutual loan companies in communities where the local banks are weak or timid. These measures plus inflation possibilities all tend to keep bank stocks down at the moment.

Banks And Inflation

Opinions differ as to the effect on bank profits of the adoption of some inflationary measure. If banks were allowed to invest in good stocks, then they could take advantage of inflation like any investment trust, fire insurance company, or other security organization. Very high-class bonds in bank portfolios will be unfavorably affected by inflation. There is the possibility, however, that banks may be able to realize on certain other investments such as frozen real estate loans, and speculative bonds. In a period of inflation "cheap" bonds tend to act like common stocks. Moreover, if inflation is of any permanent help to industry it will mean increased loans, higher interest rates, and bigger bank profits.

What about bank deposits under inflation? So far as deposit liabilities go, inflation makes no difference to banks. If banks receive only 50-cent-money they need pay out only 50-cent-money. The depositor, however, who originally put $1—money into the bank may draw out only 50-cent-money. On the other hand, it now seems foolish for stockholders unnecessarily to put more money into bank capital. This capital would only be loaned out in good dollars and be paid back in depreciated dollars. Consequently, instead of expanding or establishing new institutions, banks should now consolidate.

Banks In Sound Condition

I feel that the banks, like the railroads, need new blood. Considering the fact that the majority of individual depositors are women, every board of bank directors should consist of at least one-third women. This is especially true since 80 per cent of the retail shopping is done by women. The latter have a fairer sense of the trend of purchases both of merchandise and real estate than have the men. Neither these women directors nor their husbands should borrow from the bank. In fact, I believe no bank director should be permitted to borrow from his own institution.

Our banks are in the best condition today that they have been in for years. Their officials and directors are now very conservative and careful. In fact, many believe that they are too cautious. Accordingly, I wonder if our banks are not getting into the class of libraries, hospitals and cooperative banks. Some even believe that in the future they will act only as public servants rather than operate for profit. If this were the case, then banks could urge people when to borrow, not to speculate, and still do a good business. So long as banks remain profit-making institutions we will have booms and depressions. My own idea is that banks should be prohibited from making new loans during the height of a boom and be forced to make loans during a period of declining business.

Business, as registered by the Bapsonchart, now stands at 22 per cent above a year ago, and only 22 per cent below normal.

California Youth Is Envy Of All His Schoolmasters; He Is Going With Byrd To South Pole; Has Never Seen Snow

By NEA Service

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30—Charles Wilson, jr., is the envy of all the youngsters of the west coast. For when the steamer "Pacific Fir" sailed from Boston this month, Charles was aboard, bound for a two-year adventure into South Polar regions with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd.

It isn't every 16-year-old American youth who can get a taste of adventure like this.

Not A Boy Scout

Unlike the to young boys who accompanied Admiral Byrd on his first expedition to the South Pole, young Wilson is not a Boy Scout, and has had no special experience in camping out or outdoor life. As a matter of fact he has never even seen snow. But even at that the thought of braving sub-zero weather and unknown hardships for two years don't worry him in the least. "It's going to be great fun," he says.

Charles plans to keep a dairy of his adventures at the bottom of the world, and may write a book later on. Just what his duties will be with the expedition, he doesn't know. "I'll probably be cabin boy," he speculates. The trip will cut short his high school career, but he plans to return to that when he bets back in 1935.

Young Wilson, who was born in Salt Lake City, got the chance to go with Byrd through his father's friend, Guy O. Shirley, personnel and medical officer with the expedition.

Charles Wilson, Jr., above, Los Angeles 16-year-old high school youth, studies a globe to see just where he is going when he joins the next Admiral Byrd expedition to the South Polar regions.

Tahoka Student Is Back From Six-Weeks Course In Chicago

TAHOKA, Sept. 30—(Special)—Clifton Janak, youthful music student here, has returned home from Chicago where he attended for six-weeks a music course at the Sherwood School of Music. He won a scholarship in a contest at San Antonio last spring, conducted by the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

While in Chicago he attended the Century of Progress. He has returned to Amarillo to enroll in the Amarillo School of Music, which he has attended for two years. During the late spring and summer he gave several concerts, both here and in Amarillo.

John Jacob Astor was probably the richest man in the United States in his day, 1763-1848.

Much Produce Is Shipped Out Of Seagraves In Past 8 Months

SEAGRAVES, Sept. 30 (Special)—During the past eight months over $8,000 in produce was bought by one concern here, the Seagraves Produce Co., branch of a Lubbock house.

Cream purchases came to $5,631.38 and poultry and eggs, $2,438.21.

Including purchases by local growers, it is estimated that produce sold to stations here and to grocers exceeded $15,000 for the first eight months. The year's total will be between $20,000 and $25,000, probably the higher figure including the turkeys during the holiday seasons.

The most talkative character in all of Shakespeare's works is Hamlet, who has 1659 lines to speak.

Operettas On Fair Program

Shuberts To Stage Three Big Shows At State Fair In Dallas; Musical Stars To Be In Casts

DALLAS, Sept. 30 (Special)—In addition to bringing the largest casts ever brought to the State Fair auditorium for presentation, the J. J. Shuberts will bring the most prominent casts ever seen here for the three operettas which will feature the 47th annual exposition, which opens Saturday, Oct. 7, it has been announced here by Otto Herold, president of the exposition.

The three operettas are "Bitter Sweet," which will run Oct. 7 to 12th; "Nina Rosa," Sigmund Rombergs masterpiece which will run Oct. 13 to 17th, and "Florodora," the greatest of all American musical productions, which will close the season, Oct. 18 to 22.

Headed by Allan Jones, the tenor sensation of America today; Berna Leane, concert and musical star; Leonard Ceeley, late of Broadway, and Harry Morton, the most popular comedian ever to appear in the State Fair Auditorium (he was Zingo, in "Countess Maritza," the cast includes such other famous stars as Larry Rich, Elizabeth Crandall, Margaret Carlisle, Joseph McCauley, Zella Russell, Betti Davis, Marie Stahner, Harry Rabke, and many others equally as famous.

The cast of "Bitter Sweet," the opening operetta will number more than 125, and contains more than 40 speaking parts. This is the largest number of speaking parts ever heard in one production. "Nina Rosa," has a large cast also, as does "Florodora," and an orchestra of twenty-six pieces will provide music for all three productions.

Tularemia Blamed

Science Says Hare Had Illness

CASH, Ark., Sept. 30 (AP)—Now comes science to defend the poor hare who lost that famous race to the slow-moving tortoise back in the dim and distant past.

Dr. J. H. McCurry suggests a possible scientific explanation of why the tortoise won.

Maybe the rabbit didn't go to sleep, he says, but had tularemia, or rabbit fever, and couldn't run.

He says, too, the only way to be certain that rabbit drumsticks are wholesome food is to eat only bunnies killed on the run.

Little-Known Fact About Widely-Known Persons In Picture World

BY DAN THOMAS
NRA Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30—Little known facts about well-known people:

When Janet Gaynor was trying to break into pictures, she spent her last $25 for an advertisement in a film magazine—and got a job.

JANET GAYNOR

Will Rogers' daughter insists upon working under the name of Mary Howard.

Percy Westmore, noted film make-up man was married for ten years before he discovered that his wife could play the piano.

William Powell always rehearses in his shirtsleeves—he dislikes coats that much.

During the two years that she has worked on the Warner-First National lot, Ruth Chatterton never has been in the studio cafe.

Paul Muni's wife always sits backstage when Paul is playing and always is on the set when he is working in a picture.

Athletic Family

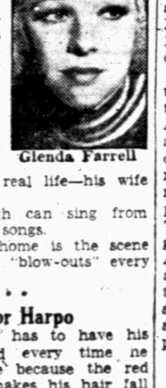
JEAN Muir's mother was a tennis champion and her father was a golf champion, so Jean—swims.

Elizabeth Young is called "Libby" by her friends.

"Ping" Bodie, big league home-run champion when he played for the New York Yankees some years ago, is now a Hollywood studio electrician.



Glenda Farrell

Glenda Farrell never fails to make whoopee on Saturday night. Ever since her school days that has been her night.

Frank McHugh can sing from memory 400 old songs.

Bette Davis' home is the scene of Boston Bean "blow-outs" every Saturday night.

Close Shave For Harpo

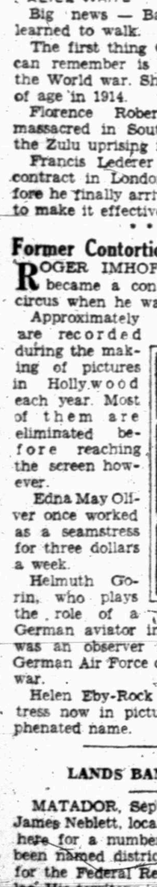
HARPO Marx has to have his head shaved every time he starts a picture because the red wig he wears makes his hair fall out.



ALICE WHITE

Tom Fortune, property man at Paramount, has been in the picture business longer than any other person in Hollywood — 35 years.

Big news — Baby LeRoy has learned to walk.

The first thing Claudette Colbert can remember is the outbreak of the World war. She was four years of age in 1914.

Florence Roberts was nearly massacred in South Africa during the Zulu uprising in 1915.

"Lady For A Day" Headlines Movie Program Here This Week

Long List Of Favorites In Current Film

"Morning Glory," "I Cover The Waterfront" And "Her Bodyguard" Among Others To Be Screened In City

"LADY For a Day," Columbia picture adapted from Damon Runyan's "Madame La Gimp," opens a three-day run at the Lindsey today. Warren William heads the cast, which includes May Robson, grand old lady of the American stage, who plays the role of Apple Annie. Other principal parts are played by Glenda Farrell, Guy Kibbee, Ned Sparks and Jean Parker.

The story deals with an "old apple-woman" who is supporting a daughter in Spain. The daughter thinks her mother is wealthy and socially prominent. When the girl starts for America with a noble fiance, friends of Apple Annie rally to the cause, beautify her, install her in a luxurious apartment, and even supply her with a temporary husband. The masquerade works perfectly. Liberty gave the picture four stars.

Thriller Scheduled

"The World's greatest Thrills," a Universal special featuring Graham McNamee, noted radio announcer, will be an added attraction at the Lindsey today, Monday and Tuesday. The picture is a rapid succession of scenes from all parts of the world, including spectacular crashes, feats, accidents and other gripping events.

Katherine Hepburn, she of the husky voice, is teamed with Douglas Fairbanks, jr., in RKO-Radio Pictures' "Morning Glory," which will be screened at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday. Adolphe Menjou and Mary Duncan head the supporting cast.

Miss Hepburn is seen as a girl who fights and wins a gallant struggle for stage recognition, and Fairbanks appears as a playwright. Menjou portrays a Broadway producer.

Max Millers popular book "I Cover the Waterfront," was adapted for the screen by Reliance for United Artists and will be presented Friday and Saturday. Ben Lyon, playing opposite Claudette Colbert, has the role of a reporter who aids federal men in running down a gang of pseudo-fishermen, headed by Ernest Torrence, whose real racket is smuggling Chinese into the United States. After landing hordes of undesirable aliens under the very noses of authorities, the mystery finally is solved. The Chinese are inside sharks delivered to a fertilizer company.

"Her Bodyguard"

"Her Bodyguard," Paramounts romantic comedy featuring Edmund Lowe and Wynne Gibson, opens a three-day run at the Palace today. It is the story of a romance between a beautiful stage star and a private detective assigned by a jealous "sugar daddy" to guard her.

"Disgraced!" story of a woman's fight for love and honor, will be screened at the Palace Wednesday and Thursday. Helen Twelvetrees heads a cast which includes Bruce Cabot, Adriene Ames and Ken Murray. Darlingly modern, the story concerns an attractive model who is won by a wealthy man-about-town who is engaged to another woman. When she learns of his deceit, the model threatens him with a gun. He calls the police and the girl's father is assigned to the case.

Tim McCoy appears in the leading role in "Police Car 17," scheduled at the Palace Friday and Saturday. Evelyn Knapp, as a young school teacher who becomes a pawn in the criminal affairs of a gang of jewel thieves, plays opposite McCoy.

"Bring 'Em Back Alive"

"Bring 'Em Back Alive," visualizing the adventures of Frank Buck fetching the largest and most ferocious wild beasts from jungles to zoos, will be presented at the Texan today, Monday and Tuesday. The picture is filled with the thrills, the highspots being actual combats between jungle animals.

At the THEATERS

Ruth Chatterson has the title role in "Frisco Jenny," which will be screened at the Texan Wednesday and Thursday. It is the story of a woman who ruled the vice element of a city. The theme is one of mother love and self sacrifice, with the inevitable clash between mother and son—the latter utterly unconscious of the identity of the woman.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "Pack Up Your Troubles" will be the attraction at the Texan Friday and Saturday. As a couple of vagrants, they are kidded into joining the army, after which they find themselves involved in numerous predicaments.

"Handle With Care"

James Dunn and Boots Mallory are teamed in "Handle With Care," which opens a three-day run at the Lyric today. The story concerns a rich young man who wants to marry an attractive working girl, but objects to her keeping two little boys she has been rearing. She refuses to marry him unless he agrees to take the children too. The problem is settled peacefully at the end. El Brendel and his amateur band furnish the comedy.

Edmund Lowe is starred in "Attorney for the Defense," which will be screened at the Lyric Wednesday and Thursday. He appears as a daring, debonaire and politically ambitious district attorney who is eyeing the governor's seat. When he learns he has sent an innocent man to the chair he turns to defending criminals instead of prosecuting them. The climax finds him on trial, accused of murder, and brilliantly conducting his own defense. Evelyn Brent and Constance Cummings head the supporting cast.

Taken from a Donald W. Lee story, "Unknown Valley" will be offered at the Lyric Friday and Saturday. Buck Jones has the starring role and is shown in conflict with an overly religious band of settlers who ride their crimes behind their religion. The story is laid in the days of the gold rush. Indans and the U. S. cavalry play an important part. Cecilia Parker is the girl.

Results Of Cotton And Sorghum Tests At Experiment Station Shown

ones Gives Data On Large Variety List

t Year Or Two Has Been Spent In Developing Cotton For Mechanical Picking; Other Tests Staged

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

ESULTS of cotton and grain sorghum experiments at the te experiment sub-station in bbock have been given by Don L. nes, superintendent, in a prelim- ry bulletin recently issued. With harvest season for both crops w starting, farmers are much in- ested in the crop records.

The cotton variety experiments ve been conducted over a period years to get information on yield, gth of lint and time to maturity the various varieties grown in section. There are 27 varities der test and yields for the years 29-32 inclusive show the follow- :

Earliness Important

"Earliness is very important in is region" Mr. Jones commented, nd therefore particular attention ould be paid to this as bollie cot- n sells at a very much lower price an cotton with a higher grade."

To determine whether it is better rm practice to allow each third w of cotton to go unplanted, a st was conducted in 1929-32. In e normal row plan, average yield lint per acre was 287 pounds and paired rows, 208 pounds, a dif- rence of 49 pounds of lint. "Plant- every row tends to hasten ma- ity by five per cent for the first ting and 14 per cent for the sec- as compared to planting with third row skipped," Mr. Jones ded.

Suitable For Machinery

"Our efforts at the present time e concerned mostly with develop- a cotton suitable for mechanical rvesting," Mr. Jones explains. his year we have three strains at give promise. Approximately o acres each are planted in rows, 000 feet long, which will be har- sted later in the fall with a com- ercial harvester or stripper."

An interesting grain sorghum ex- eriment is under way, in grain rghum breeding, to devlop an arly maturing breed. "One of the romising strains is an early Yel- w milo, Mr. Jones stated. "In 932 in the variety test this milo veraged 41 bushels per acre, as ompared to 33 bushels for Dwarf ellow milo and 32 bushels for Su- e milo. Planted in May, it was pe in 89 days, while Sugar milo ok 93 days and Dwarf Yellow ilo 98 days.

"In 1931 a planting was made on ugust 1 and matured grain. In 932 a planting was made on August it just barely mateured by Octo- er 26. This season an acre has een devoted to this crop. Plantings ere made May 31, June 15, July 1, nd August 2."

Crop Rotation Shown

Crop rotations, over a period of 8 years, to determine by best rota- ion practices the best crop rotation as shown: Grain sorghum contin- ous, 23.5 bushel yield; grain sor- hum with barn yard manure, 27.6 bushels and grain sorghum after green manure after cotton, 29.9 bushels. Twenty-one different ro- tations were practiced. Manure was spread, when used, at the rate of 5,000 pounds or two and one half tons per acre.

A commercial fertilizer test on cotton during the past nine years has failed to show an increased yield.

In the past six years best plant- ing dates for cotton were found to be from May 20 to June 20, for grain sorghum. Milo and kafir should be spaced farther apart than kafir.

In a grain sorghum test for pair- ed rows compared to planting each row, tests from 1927-1930 show an average of 28.75 bushels per acre for each row plan to 26.18 for paired rows, an increase of 2.57 bushels or 143 pounds per acre for milo and 38.1 and 35.7 bushels respectively for hegari in 1931 and 1932. Yield of hegari in dry forage was 3.13 tons to 2.86 tons, for each row planting.

Tests show for the six years, 1926 to 1931 inclusive, dwarf Yellow milo has averaged 28.4 bushels; Texas blackhull kafir, 29.5 bushels and hegari 22.8 bushels per acre.

No Money From Farm Crops? Try Harvesting Few Weeds

Roots And Herbs Are Still In Demand On American Market; "Medicine Show" Far From Dead

Don't speak too hastily about weeds, for many of them, used in medicinal preparations, bring fairly good prices—as a number of farmers have learned. St. Louis merchants who handle the herbs say "medicine men" and "yarb loctors" are among their customers. Dandelion roots (left) bring 8 cents a pound, and ginseng roots (right) about $7.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30. (AP)—If the cultivated crops on a farm—the corn, oats and wheat—won't pay the farmer a living, maybe the uncultivated "weeds" will.

During the past few years of extremely low farm prices, numerous Missouri farmers have helped support themselves by harvesting leaves and roses of plants growing wild in their fields and selling them in St. Louis, chief American market for such products.

Buys 100 Varieties

One root and herb broker, operating a business founded by his father nearly a century ago, issues a price list of almost 100 herbs, roots and barks that he will buy.

The tender tops and leaves of skull-cap, a herb that grows wild all over Missouri, bring 6 cents a pound. The leaves of jimson weed, regarded as a pest, are worth 5 cents a pound. Dydratis, or golden seal root, another common plant, has rootlets worth on the present market about 65 cents a pound.

Roots of mandrake, better known as mayapple, bring about 6 cents a pound.

Sippery elm brings 6 cents a pound in four-foot slabs free from bark. Burdock is worth 4 cents a pound, and even the roots of the despised dandelion bring 8 cents.

Dandelion Roots Bring Cash

Most vauable of tree roots ordinarily handled is the wild genseng, highly regarded in China as the ingredient of a tea supposed to possess health-giving qualities and the ability to prolong life. Ginseng roots are worth about $7 a pound.

A St. Louis commission merchant says the old time "medicine show" has far from disappeared, even though it may now travel in a motor car.

With Feeders And Breeders

E. G. Rall, Fort Worth and Lubbock, is planning the feeding of several hundred head of cattle on his farms in the Sudan territory he said here this week. The number will depend upon the cattle market and the amount of available feed. Whether he will do any feeding with Fred Snyder, Lubbock rancher, will depend upon the latter's final decision. Mr. Snyder's plans await improved markets.

W. L. Bailey, Lubbock man who owns a ranch in New Mexico near Fort Sumner, reports the gramma grass there as very good following late August and early September rains. He spent a week there recently and said cattle were looking fine. Mr. Bailey finished branding his spring calves and shipped some cattle.

H. Van Howling, Hale county feeder living six or eight miles south of Plainview, recently shipped a load of fat cattle to the Los Angeles market. There were 33 head in the shipment. Van Howling is one of the well known feeders who feet out the year round.

A representative of the Hearst interests recently visited Brownfield, where extensive feeding operations were conducted the past year and inspected the plant with the idea of doing more work this season. He indicated to Brownfield men that around 10,000 head would be fed out this season, if conditions warrant it. A tentative order for 10,000 tons of feed was understood to have been given. The Hearst operations, under the management of the Babicora Development Co., were the largest of their kind in the state.

Dick Arnett, Kansas City cattle buyer, is now making Pecos his headquarters while looking after cattle for the Kaw river market.

R. G. "Bob" Armour and Walter and Raymond Pfluger of Eden recently bought 4,000 acres of the 12,000 acres in the Kennedy place known as the Gentry ranch, near Menard, for a reported consideration of $10 an acre. The ranch is south of Menard, and near the Ed L. Mears ranch. Possession will go within six months to the new owners.

O. K. Allison, Post shipper, sold seven steers at Fort Worth the past week. Three 673-pound animals brought $1.75 per hundred pounds; two 667-pound steers brought $2.25; one 635-pound steer brought $2 and one 530-pound steer brought $2.75.

Cattle men were heartened Thursday by the report from Kansas City that a top for the year of $7.15 per hundred was paid the day before. Previous top was $7.10 paid in July. Local shippers are frequent patrons of the Kaw river market, although not many cattle from the plains have been sold this late summer.

Reports are coming in that coast commission men are anxious to buy cattle from the South Plains again this year. It is also said several new firms may be represented. One or two packing houses already have had men in the territory looking over the situation and making connections.

Mrs. Charles Kourt of Dalhart, Tex., says she has a fowl with a head like a rooster and a body like a hen, which crows and lays eggs.

Lynn County Women Receive Order For 100 Hooked Rugs To Go To Large Dallas Firm

TAHOKA, Sept. 30 (Special)—Lynn county home demonstration women have been given an order for 100 hooked rugs, from a Dallas dry good house, Titche-Goettinger, Miss El Fleda Harrison, home demonstration agent, states.

Mrs. A. N. Daniels agreed to make four of the rugs and Miss Christine Owens two. Other women are planning to make several each.

In addition, Mrs. Daniels has an order for three from a Beaumont department store and two from a Houston store. She has sold eight rugs to individuals.

Large Acreage Of Wheat Is Planted

LAMESA, Sept. 30 (Special)—Large acreages of wheat, the largest total in the history of Dawson county, are being sown by farmers here this fall. Many farmers are planting small acreages for pasture for their work stock and cattle.

From reports nearly every farmer with dairy cattle will have from five to 25 or more acres, while those with larger herds will have more.

Hardy Morgan, living south of town, has begun seeding of 1,000 acres. W. T. Carroll, living to the north and R. M. Echols, living to the east, plan 100 acres or more. Both men have previously planted wheat.

Rabid coyotes in four West Texas counties have led to co-operation of Federal trappers with ranchers seeking to exterminate the animals.

Valley Settlement Is One Of Busiest In Lamb Territory

LITTLEFIELD, Sept. 30—(Special)—One of the busiest new settlements near here is the Valley settlement, where R. E. "Bob" Mccaskill, former Littlefield business man, is the "ramrod." McCaskill owns the gin and also operates a store and an auto service station.

G. M. Hines brought the first bale of cotton to the gin September 22. It was picked Qualla cotton and the bale weighed over 500 pounds.

Much of the cotton in the vicinity of the settlement will average half a bale per acre or better. Some yields of as high as a bale are reported. Grain sorghum crops also are looking good.

Hale County's Relief Board Has 7,500 Cans Of Vegetables

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 30 (Special)—The Hale County Relief commission has on hand around 7,500 cans of vegetables, canned in its kitchens, Mrs. L. G. Harlan, in charge of the work, reports.

In addition, between 40 and 50 families have been given assistance by the workers securing cotton picking jobs for them.

RECEIVE COTTON CHECKS

MATADOR, Sept. 30 (Special)—Seventy-two checks, amounting to $21,460, were received here this week for distribution among cotton farmers.

Total checks received by Motley county farmers number 161. They amount to $59,341.

Tree Nesting Hen
Fowl Builds Own Air Hatchery

McDONOUGH, Ga. (AP)—Clarence Hubbard's hen is the talk of the town.

Hubbard and his neighbors have wondered if this particular fowl presents a study in the theory of hen ancestral type or what have you.

It's a fact, at any rate that the hen has built a nest in a tree and is setting on the regulation number of eggs.

Hubbard says she flies down to eat, drink and scratch around to relieve her muscles at regular intervals and then flies back to the nest, sticking to it day and night.

ABERNATHY GETS CASH

ABERNATHY, Sept. 30 (Special)—More than 85 cotton checks have been deposited in the First State bank here by its customers, Reid, cashier, reports. These checks came from bank customers in both Lubbock and Hale counties.

Four-H club boys won grand championship steer awards in all regional livestock shows in Texas during the exhibition season.

Agricultural News Notes

SUDAN SEED MOVING

Some new sudan seed is moving although the movement has not been very large so far. The crop looks good and tests show it to be fair. Plains growers this year, according to grain men, will harvest around 10,000,000 pounds. Prices have ranged from $2.25 to $3.25 and up per hundred pounds.

PLAN EXHIBIT

Certified grain sorghum breeders this season plan an exhibit at the Dallas State fair. Decision was made at a recent meeting here of breeders. Most of the breeders of seed wheat live in the South Plains territory.

ACREAGE INCREASE SEEN

Reports from over the territory indicate a larger acreage in wheat this year than ever before. In Terry, Gaines, Hockley, Dawson, Yoakum, Andrews and other counties, the government is sending cars of seed wheat. Reports from Cochran county state several thousand acres are being planted, one man planting 400 acres. Dawson reports similar large acreages. Many farmers will use wheat for winter pasture.

BINDERS SELLING

Implement dealers are selling more row binders this fall for harvesting of grain crops than for several years. One dealer is reported as having sold 15 in a little over a week. Another man sold three in one day. Some tractors and other implements are also being sold.

NEW CHAMPION

Andy Adam, county agent at Amherst, has a new club boy champion in the person of Ancil Miller, who won a title as one of the 25 best 4-H club boys in Texas. Ancil last year won a trip to Chicago to the International Livestock show. Each year Texas A. and M. picks out 25 outstanding club boys. The South Plains has had its share and more of boys winning this honor.

EXHIBITED HERE

C. H. Day, better known as "Cliff" Day, Plainview farmer who won the Amarillo Globe-News' master balanced farmer contest the past week, was an exhibitor at the Lubbock Quality Meat show last March. Cliff and Henry Sammonns paired off and entered some of their fine hams and bacons from Hale county. Cliff has a lot of regular patrons in Plainview who buy his hams, bacons, shoulders and other meats and who pay a little more than they would others because they know what they are getting. First prize was $150 cash. R. L. May, Amherst, who also shows here, placed second and won $125. R. L.'s hams have graced the presidential table.

OPENING CREAMERY

Littlefield is having a creamery starting soon. Jack Wayne of Cuero, whose father is an extensive creamery operator, is to supervise the plant. It joins the creamery plants at Plainview, Floydada, Spur, Hereford, Tulia, Pampa, Panhandle, Amarillo, Clovis and Portales.

Iowa State college has found that dairy utensils may be sterlized by placing them for 10 minutes in a cabinet or oven kept at 200 degrees or more.

The Shifting Scene

ONE of the exciting things about the current activity at Washington is that if you take your eyes off the screen for as much as five minutes you find the picture changed almost beyond recognition by the time you look up again.

It is doubtful if any world capital has ever before displayed the spectacle of so many men working under such high pressure on jobs of such tremendous importance.

When Gen. Hugh S. Johnson last spring remarked jovially that he and his aides had to "re-orient a couple of thousand universes" and had only a little time to do it in, it sounded like a good joke. Today it begins to sound like a rather conservative description of what is actually being done.

Not until we get a breathing spell and are able to sit down and add the figures up column by column will we be able to estimate just how far the tide has carried us in the last six months.

LOOK, for example, at some of the implications back of the most recent trends of the recovery program.

Uncle Sam seems about to plunge headfirst into the banking business with somewhere between two and four billion dollars in his fist. Just where, in the course of a year or so, will that leave our old banking system? And just where will it leave our old philosophy that the government ought to stay out of business?

Then there is the new organization setup that seems to be in prospect for industry.

People at Washington talk of grouping all industries into some six or ten grand divisions, with Uncle Sam keeping a finger constantly on the master switch of each outfit. Coupled with it there is the grand shaking-up of organized labor, with strings running from each union to Washington; there is the vast network of price-fixing, profit-stabilizing, and consumer-protecting devices which seems destined to become a part of our government; there is the ever-increasing extension of direct federal financial aid to local governmental subdivisions that can no longer raise the money they need.

WHAT are we going to look like when all of these things are in operation?

No man alive can say right now. We are going somewhere at a terrific pace, but it may be a year or more before we get a chance to look at our tickets and see what station we're bound for.

YOUTH A LIABILITY

Some interesting findings in connection with the depression and unemployment have been made by the New York Association for Improvng the Condition of the Poor.

Contrary to the popular belief that youth always is an asset in job-seeking, the opposite has been true during the present disturbed industrial situation, it found. Youth became a liability. A survey of employment conditions in New York city in 1930 and 1932 revealed the persons less than 20 years of age made up the greatest number of unemployed workers.

"The percentage of idleness is greatest for both sexes," it said, "among persons under 20 years of age classified as gainful workers. Young persons with working papers who had never been able to find a job constituted 7 per cent of the total idle in 1930 and 9 per cent in 1932. In addition, many boys and girls who in better times would have gone to work were no longer looking for work."

No attempt was made by the association to explain this condition. A similar survey of the country as a whole might reveal that the condition was peculiar to New York, although this doesn't seem likely. The more reasonable explanation seems to be that new jobs were lacking and old employees were retained as long as possible, with the result that younger applicants found few openings.

OLD THINGS

"And there is nothing new under the sun."—Ecclesiastes 1:9.

---

We need this reminder in these days of new eras. Our generation is forever boasting of the new things it produces. Some even think the young people are "going to the dogs" in a new way. They should read the oldest manuscript in the world in a museum in Constantinople which says "Alas, things are not what they used to be! Children no longer obey their parents and everyone wants to write a book."

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT needs "just a leetle bit more" authority to keep his recovery program highballing but he has decided against taking any chances on congress.

Until he has to.

Two star-chamber sessions at the White House that were obscured so completely they didn't even twinkle decided this.

The Brain Trust—or the portion still left—assembled late one evening shortly before the President left for Hyde Park again.

The big topic was whether to call a special session of congress about December 1 or to let it go.

RUBBER STAMPS: Plenty of good reasons were advanced for getting the congressional boys back to do the rubber stamp act.

In the first place the blanket code agreements (known as PRA's) expire December 31. NRA officials are authority for the statement that 91 per cent of all industry is operating under this agreement while waiting a turn at a specific code. (Thirty signed out of a thousand filed is a fair average this far.)

The President wanted a few more teeth in NIRA to compel renewals. Faint warnings have come around the corner, despite big-scale national support, that the Blue Eagle isn't flying quite so fast now as when he left scratch.

On top of this, the Reconstruction Finance corporation dies a natural death on January 22 unless Congress applies a financial pulmotor.

And just as a faint suggestion there are rumors enough states might vote wet by Nov. 7 to kill off the 18th Amendment. Whiskey revenues and federal regulation will be a hot subject by Christmas-time.

BLOATING: It seems there's a bogey man in the closet.

His name is Old Uncle Inflation. And inflation sends even the strongest of the New Dealers to a dark corner.

Almost all of the business men here to contact with NRA swear that inflation is the last rabbit President Roosevelt has in his high hat.

ACTION: It was decided that inflation—such as is wanted by the farmers and the well-heeled Committee of the Nation (the latter from Wall Street)—might well be Mr. Roosevelt's last relief trick.

Furthermore the Rooseveltian board of strategy cooked up a lot of intermediate stop-gaps. Expenditure of $75,000,000 on this winter's destitute paved the way. RFC action to soften up the many millions of frozen bank deposits was another. It is just a little too early to tell what the color is of the next-to-last-bat in the bag but you might well expect action.

You're likely to have plenty of it before Happy New Year.

When Mr. Roosevelt put a definite thumb down last Sunday night on the idea of another extra session he had in mind the double-barreled threat of enforced inflation. Much as he wanted other pieces of legislation he agreed that the farm belt representatives and others might force his hand before he was ready.

It has taken a lot of finesse to avoid meeting the farmer bloc who are certain the prices of their tillings still fall far short of the retail prices of boots and shoes.

NOTES: The very quiet young lady secretary of Ed McGrady, Assistant Secretary of Labor and high nabob in NRA, has a new scheme to get him to appointments... She knows that every time he goes into the corridor he gets held up by potential coders. ... Also she knows that McGrady has a rather penetrating voice, so she listens from behind her closed office door—then leaps out and steers the boss on to his appointment... What has become of Henry Ford? ...That is the big question Washington newspaper reporters are asking at NRA... They got no answer.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE Stock Exchange got one of the biggest thrills in its history when Samuel Untermyer went on a diet of crow.

Samuel and the Big Board boys have never been exactly bosom pals. The lawyer hasn't missed many chances to make Wall Street squirm. As recently as last spring he stirred a bad case of local jitters when he worked on a bill to regulate the stock exchange. So the hilarity was heartfelt when the tables were turned.

ABOUT FACE: Untermeyer's sudden about face on his plan to plaster fresh taxes on the exchange had two inside causes. One was the banks. The other was the State of New York.

The tax scheme was supposed to make the banks more willing to lend money to the city by promising additional revenues. It worked in reverse. The banks pointed out that if the Exchange moved to New Jersey real estate values would flop and the city would lose tax money instead of gaining. Therefore nothing doing at all on loans until that situation was straightened out.

On top of that the state—in the person of Governor Lehman—also got agitated. If the Stock exchange had moved it would have cost the state more than thirty million in transfer taxes and additional millions in income taxes. This would have knocked the state budget for a row of custard pies.

So the state in effect told the city it had to quit kickin' the state's dog around. The city was in no position to argue.

Normally state taxes collected from New York City are about $70,000,000 or 13 per cent in arrears at this time of year. This year the figure is $149,000,000 or 27 per cent. In addition the state's share of city relief has risen from ten million to thirty million. Altogether the city is costing the state about $100,000,000 more than usual. You can see why the Governor might feel annoyed when the city threatened the State's income still more.

MOVING: The Exchange's courtship of New Jersey was a sweet piece of ballyhoo. They were set to go through with it all right but it wouldn't have meant as much as the terrific noises indicated.

The New Jersey Exchange would have dealt only in a small number of active stocks. Two by four hangouts in New Jersey would have been rechristened main offices. But the New York Exchange would have stayed open and brokers' New York offices would have functioned as before except for transfers. Pictures of Wall Street as a deserted village showed a vivid imagination. But the main point is that the artists convinced their audience.

Probably the Exchange will establish a small time foothold in New Jersey for use as a threat in future emergencies. But with the city taxes off they won't act to evade State requirements. It wouldn't be healthy to offend the Governor once the prime cause of complaint is removed. After all Mr. Lehman has friends in Washington and Federal regulation might be very painful.

"Open Sesame!"

THE NEW BOOKS

H. G. Wells Looks Into The Future Again, This Time 200 Years Ahead; "The Shape Of Things To Come" May Be Telling Us What Is Going To Happen; $20,000 Prize Novel Is Published

"THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME," by H. G. Wells; (The MacMillan Co., N. Y.).

MR. H. G. WELLS has been worrying about the future again; and, as is usually the case with him, he has written a book about it, and a very ingenious and entertaining book it is, too.

The name of it is The Shape of Things to Come." It purports to be a history of the world written some 200 years in the future, and in it Mr. Wells, peering through a glass darkly, tells what he thinks is going to happen to us.

Eventually, he believes, things are going to be a lot better; but first they are going to get a great deal worse, and if Mr. Wells' predictions are right there is not a great deal of hope for any of us now alive.

Analyzes Troubles

Our present troubles, he believes, are the first symptoms of a general collapse of capitalistic, individualistic civilization. Trade, credit and industry are sliding down to a bottomless abyss, governments are beginning to suffer from dry rot, there is shortly to be a period of wild lawlessness in which gangsters will rule like medieval robber barons.

Then will come new wars. None will be as bloody or as frightful as the last one. Mr. Wells doesn't think that the horrific prognostications of the experts will quite pan out. But they will serve to finish the collapse—and, says Mr. Wells, to teach people that international cooperation is inescapable.

Eventually, of course, Mr. Wells swims to the surface with that old favorite, the World State, in his teeth. But even that won't be permanent. There will finally be a pleasant and peaceful world society which will have little or no government because it won't need any. It will all be very nice—but none of us will live to see it.

This One Is Different

"NO SECOND SPRING," by Janet Beith; (Frederick A. Stokes, N. Y.).

"NO Second Spring," by Janet Beith, is the novel which won the recent $20,000 international prize contest — but don't let that scare you off.

Somehow prize novels usually seem to be written by bright young things who have a vast talent for leaving the reader with a bad taste in his mouth. This one is different. It is quiet, compact and charming, and it brims over with sincere and valid emotion.

The scene is the Scotch highlands of a century ago. An ardent, devout and somewhat dour young minister comes up from Edinburgh to fill a pastorate in a lonely seaside village. With him he brings his wife—youthful, loyal, innocent and endowed with an unsuspected capacity for deep and fervent living.

Artist Causes It

She assumes, as a matter of course, that she loves her husband. He is good, learned, powerful; besides, all wives are supposed to love their husbands, so why shouldn't she? It is not until the town is visited by a roving artist, a limping veteran of Waterloo who brings with him a philosophy which is the direct antithesis of the minister's Scotch Presbyterianism, that she learns how mistaken she has been.

Yes, she and the artist fall in love; but they don't, after the manner of people in modern novels, conclude that it is their sacred duty to run away together in spite of everything. Instead they say goodbye to one another and part. And the author presents for you that beautiful, cruel and insoluble mystery—the way life can offer a divinely ecstatic richness of experience which can only be completely understood by those who see it and then lose it.

Good Detective Yarn

THE best detective story of the fall season, so far, seems to be "The Case of the Sulky Girl," by Erle Stanley Gardner (Morrow)

Here we have Perry Mason, the completely hard-boiled lawyer, who dives head-first into a sea of trouble by taking a retainer from a pretty young heiress just as her guardian gets bumped off. Because the girl won't tell him the truth about things, our lawyer almost is accused of the murder himself; and when he escapes that fate his client is arrested.

So Perry Mason has to get her out of it; and he does it in a manner that makes a swell story. Mr. Gardner is that rarity, a detective-story novelist who writes as if he had actually seen cops and lawyers and so on in action. He avoids the mumbo-jumbo stuff and presents real people behaving as real people do behave. His awyer-detective is tough, cynical and completely convincing.

Another First Novel

"LAMB IN HIS BOSOM," by Caroline Miller; (Harper & Bros., N. Y.).

IT is difficult to believe "Lamb in His Bosom" is a first novel. Caroline Miller writes too simply, too smoothly and too surely for a beginner. Perhaps she has written many novels, and stored them unpublished, in the attic.

"Lamb in His Bosom" is a story of pioneer life in South Georgia, in the days when South Georgia was a sandy plain brushed with pines and palmettos, with alligators in the mosquito-laden swamps, a land where there were only trails for roads, and trails that periodically showed the fearsome track of the rattlesnake in their lazy dust.

Edged With Tragedy

Chiefly it is the story of the day-by-day life of Ceán and Lonzo, and of the love that ran richly through their life. As contrasting material there is the triangle of Lias and Jasper and Margot, love of a more tempestuous sort, edged, as it were, with tragedy.

In the background Mrs. Miller has placed the life of Ceán's family, the curious pioneer routine that expressed itself so often in the tyranny of the head of the clan—not particularly a harsh tyranny in this case, but tyranny nevertheless. And the annealing agent is the struggle for existence, sewing and dyeing and plowing and reaping.

"Color" Predominant

This last is astonishingly well done most of the time, and represents, one imagines, a great deal of research. Mrs. Miller is a south Georgian herself, however, and some of the "color," particularly the more intimate detail of the household, may very well have been absorbed by her from the neighborhood patriarchs. The dialect itself (and it is never annoying) is too deftly handled to have been come by any other way.

The reader who must have snarling gangsters handling hot machine guns in his fiction will not care much for "Lamb in His Bosom." It is written for those with normal pulses. Wherefore, it will appeal to the many who have made Gladys Hasty Carroll's 'As The Earth Turns" a best seller.

Jaunts Into The Skies

* * * * * * * * * * *

If you're interested in stars, other than the Hollywood variety, read the article below. It is written especially for the Sunday Avalanche-Journal by an expert in astronomy, Dr. R. S. Underwood, of the faculty of Texas Technological college and is one of a series. Other articles will follow successive Sundays.

INTRODUCTION

BELIEVING that the subject of astronomy has a natural appeal to the popular imagination, the writer proposes, in each of a series of informal articles, to point out and discuss briefly some object of interest to be seen in the present evening sky. There will be no attempt to build up logically a complete picture of any section of the universe; we shall skip around from sun to satellite as carelessly as you might shift your attention from an elephant to a flea on its trunk—both interesting natural objects.

Perhaps in following us the reader who is unacquainted with the subject may piece together a faint idea of the whole astronomical picture, or may be led to seek a fuller description. Anyone who is sufficiently versed in the science to be insulted by our assumption of his hundred percent ignorance will doubtless be in a position to get revenge by pointing out grave omissions and some errors, so that everybody should be satisfied.

1. ARCTURUS

OUR first sky-jaunt stops at the star made famous by Chicago, which used the 40-year-old light from Arcturus to open its Century of Progress fair.

If Arcturus were a hollow shell of its present size, twenty thousand massive suns as large as our own could roll around like ball-bearings inside it, and the earth-moon system in its present dimensions could gyrate uncramped in the crevices. In other words, that reddish-tinged bright star, which you can see some thirty degrees above the due west point at seven-thirty this evening (barring clouds), is really bigger than Chicago after all, so no wonder it could start something! At that it is outshone by Venus, the brilliant white evening star in the southwest; but of course we must remember that Venus is less than a hundred million miles away, which is practically on top of us, speaking astronomically.

Arcturus Is "Lazy"

Arcturus is lazing along rather slowly compared with some sky speedsters, and has been clocked at a mere 77 miles per second. In 800 years it covers a distance against the background of stars equal to the apparent diameter of the moon, so that its position in the constellation Bootes has changed appreciably since it was mentioned in the Bible (See Job, 3:35, authorized version). The light that starts from it reaches us, as most recent newspaper readers know, about 40 years later. Change that to seconds and multiply by 186,000 and you'll get the distance from here to Arcturus in miles, if you like to write ciphers. The figure means little to the imagination, but in probable accuracy it is far better than the "wild guess" which untrained critics may be inclined to charge. Some of the methods used in arriving at and checking such results are simple enough to be explained clearly to a schoolboy.

We now leave Arcturus, unscorched and not too visibly impressed, but with decreased respect for the elephant and the whale. Our next stop will be Venus, next Sunday.

Sees Hope

Frederick E. Murphy, chief U. S. delegate to the London conference which arrived at a wheat export agreement among the great producing countries, is hopeful of beneficial results from it. "It clears the way for economic recovery," Murphy said as he prepared to return to his home in Minneapolis.

Levelland Man Owns Letter Telling Of His Birth; Other Data Is Given

LEVELLAND, Sept. 30 (Special)—Charles W. Fowler, 75, is the proud possessor of a letter, written by his father two weeks after he was born, telling of the birth of the Levelland resident.

The letter was written by John J. Fowler, then living in Cook county, November 28, 1858, to his mother and other relatives, still living in Alabama. "We have another fine son; he is two weeks old today. His name is Charles Woodruff. He weighed nine and one half pounds when he was born," the letter read.

A grand nephew of the writer, J. W. Ward, Waye, Okla., came into possession of the letter. Several weeks ago he had it published in a Dallas farm paper and friends of Mr. Fowler read it and told him about it. He wrote to his grand nephew and in return received the original.

"Times are dull here, money is scarce and property high," the pioneer wrote. "I have sold 50 acres of my land for $3 an acre without out any improvements and have been offered $10 per acre for the 30 acres where my house stands. We have a stage line from Memphis to California."

Wheat was worth $1 a bushel, corn 75 cents, flour $2.25 to $3 a hundred and pork six and seven cents a pound. Fowler sold his land and bought a mare and then offered to take $25 less, but found no takers.

'Jilted'

His heart was injured to the extent of $100,000 when Mrs. Christie Rose Williams, rich widow, proposed marriage and then jilted him. That's the complaint of George Kristich, above, a dancing instructor, in a breach of promise suit against Mrs. Williams in Los Angeles.

First Cavalry's Old Home Is Likely To Be "Dude" Ranch

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 30. (AP)—A once proud army post, Fort D. A. Russell at Marfa, Tex., may be turned into a "dude" ranch, tourist camp or health resort.

The government has advertised for bids on leasing the reservation where the First Cavalry, now mechanized and removed to Kentucky, was wont to gallop over a 434-acre tract. The post comprised 134 buildings, 79 of concrete, and is reported to have cost about $1,000,000.

Water, sewage, electric and telephone systems on the reservation are complete in every detail, and there are extensive living quarters with hospital buildings in connection.

THE RETURN OF TARZAN, NO. 43— By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The sun was just rising as Tarzan, with infinite labor and at considerable peril, descended the great cliffs. Far beneath him he saw smoke arising above the tree-tops. "Man!" thought Tarzan, "perhaps the fifty who went forth to track me down." He set off at a rapid trot across the valley. Cautiously he approached the tiny campfires.

Squatting about were his black Waziri warriors. He called to them in their own language: "Arise, my children, and greet thy king!" With exclamations of surprise and fear the warriors leaped to their feet. Tarzan dropped lightly from an overhanging branch into their midst and they almost went mad with joy to see him still alive.

Tarzan related his adventures and told them of the yellow metal he had found. Also of his plan to return and bring away some of the vast treasure. So, when dusk fell on the desolate valley, they marched back to Opar. By midnight they had returned, each carrying a load of two gold ingots. At the end of thirty days they entered their own country.

Here Tarzan bade them break camp, leave the stacked gold, and return to their native village, their wives, and children. "And you, Waziri?" they asked. "I shall remain here a few days, my children," he replied. When they had gone, Tarzan gathered up two of the gold ingots, sprang into a tree and ran lightly to a clearing, deep within the jungle.

France Backs Danubian Plan

Fear Of German Expansion Is Driving France And Italy Toward Common Program Of Economic Relief

PARIS, Sept. 30. (AP) — Fear of German expansion, diplomatic circles believe, is driving France and Italy toward a common program of economic relief for Central Europe.

These two nations, after being unable for years to agree on any plan for setting the Danubian countries back on their feet, are reported as talking seriously, under pressure of a threatening nazi Germany, of a five-power Danubian customs union.

Economic strengthening of Austria is sought so that she can ward off nazi picas for federation with Germany and maintain the independence decreed her by the Versailles treaty.

New Markets Wanted

Almost the entire continent is opposed to Austro-German union and efforts are being redoubled to wean away German sympathizers in Austria by opening up new markets for Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia, where she already sells about 30 per cent of her exports. Germany, however is Austria's largest single client.

Austria, Hungary and Yugoslavia on their own initiative recently made agreements among themselves for freer exchange of wood and wheat. Wood is one of Austra's principal exports and the French are preparing lenient customs duties on Austrian timber.

Mussolini, on his part, is reported to have offered Chancellor Dollfuss, who is fighting to keep Austria free from political entanglements, use of the Italian port of Trieste, which belonged to the pre-war Hapsburg empire.

Politics Stand In Way

Barricades in the way of a five-power tariff convention are chiefly political. Mussolini, who sees the power of France behind the Little Entente, does not want the countries composing the entente—Czechoslovakia, Rumanian and Yugoslavia — to dominate such a union.

Also, fears are expressed by Italian, French and British exporters that Czechoslovakian manufacturers would, at their expense, be the great beneficiaries of a customs union.

Still another obstacle has been Hungarian demands for territorial revision. Rumania and Czechoslovakia, both of which obtained Hungarian territory as a result of the war, hesitate to give Budapest an opening to discuss treaty changes.

AMHERST BURGLARY

AMHERST, (Special) — Burglars Tuesday night pried open a back window in the Grimes Dry Goods store here and made away with $200 in merchandise, a check of the stock the following morning showed. Shoes, shirts and other items were taken. It was the third burglary of the store in two years.

The whole thing was settled long ago

A CHEVROLET SIX costs less to run

CHEVROLET'S reputation as the most economical car in the world began a long time ago, when motorists discovered how to save with a Chevrolet. The Chevrolet valve-in-head 6-cylinder engine gets extra miles out of a gallon of gas, but this is only part of the savings. Chevrolet owners don't have to pay the penalty for needless extra cylinders, extra rings and pistons, or extra valves. Thousands of Chevrolet owners have never spent a cent on their cars, except for gasoline, oil and tires. The records of companies that operate big fleets of cars back up this fact. They say that Chevrolets cost less to run than any other cars they know. The good word spread fast, and so the whole economy question was settled long ago. No car except the most economical car could earn such overwhelming leadership in sales as Chevrolet has earned —leader in four out of the past six years, far ahead again this year. But Chevrolet dealers don't expect you to accept the opinions of others. Drive the new Chevrolet. Find out for yourself why Chevrolet—the most economical car—has become America's most popular car.
