Odd Bits Salvaged At Random

(By Aaron Edgar)

There's the fire alarm. Let's go see where the fire's at!"

• • • •

That's what happens 99 per cent of the time when a fire alarm sounds in a little town, especially if the little town is Munday.

• • • •

And with the above remark we rush pell-mell for some place where we can see which way the fire truck heads out, then we take out after it just like our lives depended on being there when the first water squirts through the hose.

• • • •

And it's the cause of some worry upon the part of our firemen. Such acts have hindered the efficient operations of our fire department in the past, not considering a certain amount of danger involved.

• • • •

Yep, we pass ordinances that say we should pull to the curb and wait until all fire fighting equipment has passed; ordinances that say we must not drive over fire hose when strung out at the scene of the conflagration: ordinances that say this, or that, but the majority of us go ahead and do just about as we please.

• • • •

Reports have been made to the effect that firemen have had to wait, on occasions, for cars to be moved away from fire plugs before connections could be made. And the matter of a few short minutes mean a lot, when it comes to keeping fire damages to a minimum.

• • • •

Since the purchase of our new Mack fire truck, we have two trucks that go out every time a fire alarm is sounded. The second one gets there in time to help, provided the sightseers don't block its progress.

• • • •

Mack generally heads for the fire as soon as he gets a driver and one extra man. Mack goes first, because with his big booster tank he can handle lots of fires without the necessity of making connections with fire plugs.

• • • •

Yes, Mack, heads directly for the fire. Then the American-LaFrance brings up the rear. It usually circles the square, one direction or the other depending on where the fire is, and stops to pick up firemen on the way.

• • • •

So, when we tear out lickety-split after Mack, we're ahead of and in the way of the other fire truck, and that's bad!

• • • •

Hose are so racked on the trucks that they (the trucks) must go directly to the scene of the fire; then as they are driven to the nearest fire plug for connections, the hose is being strung, too, so as soon as connections are made the water's ready to squirt.

• • • •

And there's where us sightseers and curiosity seekers make ourselves general nuisances. We've followed too closely, and we've stopped our cars between the truck and the nearest fire plug; then we've gotten out to investigate, and left our car without a driver.

• • • •

And our idea of getting there in such a blamed hurry wasn't to help at all, but to see it all well done, and from the best vantage point.

• • • •

Then following within a few yards of the fire truck has its danger points, too. If a fireman should fall, or be thrown from the truck, he'd be run smack-dab over before anything could be done about it.

• • • •

This practice is also done at times by firemen who have arrived too late to catch the truck and follow it in their own cars. But you and I, the ordinary citizens, are the ones who present the real problem.

• • • •

We've got sense enough to know to pull to the curb and stop when we're in the city and an alarm sounds. We've got enough concern about our own safety to do that, as well as enough respect for the uniformed policemen.

• • • •

But here at home we're privileged characters. We know our local officer—probably known him since he was a kid—so why should he tell us to stay back?

Chamberlain To Seek Re-election As County Clerk

M. T. Chamberlain, county clerk of Knox County, last Tuesday authorized The Times to announce his candidacy for re-election to this office, subject to the action of voters in the Democratic primary.

In making his announcement, Mr. Chamberlain made the following statement:

"If returned to this office by the voters, it shall be my policy to render the same courteous service that I have in the past, always looking after the duties of the office to the best of my ability.

"Upon this basis, I solicit your vote and influence, and I assure you that these will be appreciated in the coming election."

Traffic Check Made; Stop Light Is Possibility

The Texas Highway Department ordered a "traffic check" at the Munday schools to determine if the amount of traffic justifies installation of a stop light or signal light at the school.

This check was made Tuesday by local employees of the highway department, and the figures were astounding to most everyone concerned.

During the 8-hour period, 8 a. m. to 4:15 p. m., a total of 1,474 pedestrians crossed the highway, either going to the schools, lunch room, or enroute home. During the same period a total of 1,267 vehicles passed the school grounds.

All those concerned believe the above figures justify a traffic light as a safety measure, and they believe such measure will be taken by proper authorities.

NOTICE

Rev. C. B. Stovall, former pastor of the Gillispie Baptist Church will preach there Sunday, March 7. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the services. Rev. Stovall is now pastor near Lamesa.

MUNDAY'S NEEDS FOR 1948

1. A modern and up-to-date high school building, to care for the present and future educational needs of our children.

2. A waterworks system that meets all requirements of health, sanitation and supply.

3. A street sweeper that will keep our pavement clean enough to be recognized as pavement.

4. A clean-up campaign of lasting effect; yea, one that extends even across the tracks.

5. Completion of our drainage and paving program, which will probably be accomplished this year.

6. More activity among our civic organizations, looking forward to, and planning for, a better Munday in the future.

HOW TO FIGHT INFLATION

At its recent 37th annual convention, the National Retail Dry Goods Association unanimously adopted a series of resolutions designed to help fight inflation. These include resistance to price increases, selling to the consumer at the lowest possible price, cooperation with manufacturers who wish to lower prices, holding inventories to reasonable levels and other steps which will in one way or another directly attack the price problem.

The association then recommended that the U. S. Government adopt policies which will restrain inflationary factors at their source. This involves drastic reduction in Federal spending, the deferment of all public works save those of an emergency nature, curbing of further monetary expansion, and the abandonment of all subsidies except those vital to the national defense.

It is clear no group can fight inflation successfully alone. The whole country must cooperate itself is undermining the anti-inflation campaign by its fiscal recklessness. It is one thing to spend if the job is to be accomplished. And government enormous sums for the military forces and other essential purposes. It is a very different thing to spend enormous sums on activities which are either unnecessary, which can be deferred, or which would otherwise be taken care of by private business.

The retailers know what they are talking about. Chains and independents alike are doing what they can to protect our dollars. Let government, the greatest spender of all, do its part.

DON'T TRY IT AGAIN

A letter recently appeared in the Omaha World Herald which has received national acclaim. It later developed that it had been written by Chester E. Beltz, a fireman who works for the Union Pacific Railroad. Mr. Beltz had long been interested in the cause of safety, partly as a result of the safety training which he received from the railroad. Here, in part, is his letter, addressed to the unknown driver of a car which was almost struck by a train:

"I don't know who you are, but I do know you were scared to death when you drove your car across directly in front of a speeding passenger train. It was so close that I, in the cab could see the young girl (your sweetheart, I presume) throw her hands up in front of her face and cringe up against you in stark horror.

"If I were that young girl I'd pull away from you, fast. You don't have good sense, son. You probably say you love her. I wonder. Those we love we try to protect. But not you.

"Wouldn't that have been a nice present to hand your mother—a broken and battered body. And how do you think that we in the cab of that engine would feel. We are human beings too . . .

"You and your girl were one second from Eternity, son.

"I hope you read this and know it means you, and that girl will, too. Next time you go driving around, stop and look. We don't want to hit you, but we are helpless, as we cannot swerve away from our given rail.

"If I were you. I'd thank God for that split second He granted you.

"I said a prayer for all when I realize you were going across. Perhaps that's what saved us all.

"Now think it over, both of you. And I'll bet you are both still shaking in your shoes. And please, for God's sake, don't try it again."

According to a Wall Street Journal article, cities, big and small, are competing agressively for conventions. The reason, according to the head of one convention bureau, is that "businessmen as a group are increasingly uneasy over the future. They see real or fancied recession shadows on the wall and they want the certainty of the added spending conventions will bring to their cities."

Two old maids were discussing men. Asked one: "Which would you desire most in a husband—brains, wealth or appearance?"

"Appearance," replied the other, "and the sooner, the better."

How to Put Up with Women's Styles
When Will Dudley's missus finally gave in to the new-style longer skirts, Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion . . . ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.
Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.
And Will admitted she was right.
Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.
But from where I sit, those little differences aren't important—unless we go out of our way to make them so, by being hypercritical. As Will says now: "Well, anyway, those long skirts hide a multitude of shins" . . . and lets it go at that!

"It ain't fair!"

"There oughta be a law! Everything in our house runs by electricity—but this!"
Poor Butch has to do things the old mechanical, hard way. Mother has low-cost, dependable electric service to help her cook and clean, wash and iron and sew. Dad runs his razor, and his workshop, too, by electricity. In fact, the whole family enjoys light, comfort, and entertainment when Reddy Kilowatt, your electric servant, jumps to their service at the flip of a switch.
Never before has electric service done so much to make life comfortable for so little! Yes, in spite of high production costs, The West Texas Utilities Company furnishes residential consumers electric service at rates 17% less than ten years ago.
The skill and experience—the "know-how" and the efforts of your friends and neighbors in this company have combined to keep the price of electric service low—and its usefulness greater than ever before.

Knox Prairie Philosopher Claims He And Congress Running Their Own Affairs In Pretty Much The Same Way

Editor's note: The Knox Prairie Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has finally concluded the country is normal, despite the market fluctuations, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

Mail Carrier W. O. Lewis left a sample copy of a newspaper in my box yesterday mornin and since my wife wasn't at home at the time I went in and sat by the kitchen window and read it thoroughly, and have about made up my mind there ain't much difference between the way I run my farm out here on Miller Creek and the way Congress runs the country up in Washington, and if what Congressmen report is true, we both go in the hole doin it.

J. A.

Take the matter of inflation. I don't want to brag, but Congress is usin the same method to attack inflation as I use I see to attack Johnson grass, which is to look the situation over regretfully, denounce it, talk it over with other folks, blame it on a handful of causes, go into town and deplore it with other farmers, but don't do nothin about it and wait for things to get better. And if they don't get better, at least they change with voters jumpin on Congress about something else and my wife harpin on somethin besides Johnson grass. The country and me neither may not be no better off but it breaks the monotony.

Waitin it out is the method I been usin and while you might say it don't get me nowhere, my experience has been that after you get somewhere it ain't much different from where you was before you left.

Take my back pasture fence. It's been needin fixing ever since I can remember, but as long as my Jersey steers stay home 80 percent of the time, I figure I'm average. It's the same with Congress. A Congressman may know somethin ought to be done about high prices, but he sort of gives it my back-pasture-fence treatment, waits it out, and one mornin he picks up his newspaper and finds out prices has begun to fall a little, and he gives a sigh of relief like I do when spring finally gets here and my cows are still alive and I know they got another year made, and comes out with a statement that the country is fundamentally sound and he knew it all the time.

In fact, it's surprising what me and Congress and nature can do by waitin things out, and I knew a doctor once who said doctorin was made easier by the fact 80 percent of his patients was gonna get well anyway, and I got a idea if you raise as much as 80 percent of your children to turn out all right you won't be below average.

I imagine most Congressmen is as much in the dark about what caused prices to go up or down as they are about how they got to be Congressmen themselves, and so are you and me. The country is still normal.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Local Girl Writes Of Interesting Trip To Join Her Husband In Korea

Following is a letter written by Mrs. Polly Maddox to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Chamberlain.

Thursday, Jan. 29

Dear Mom and all,

So far everything is fine. We came on board the ship just before noon Saturday and left the pier at 12 o'clock. Just before the ship went under the Golden Gate bridge, they dropped anchor and had a fire and boat drill (to familiarize all passengers and crew with procedure used to abondon ship). Terry and Martha are provided life preservers too. We have had a fire and boat drill every day except today. The new happening today was a man overboard drill. An object (which stayed afloat) was thrown from the ship and the alarm was sounded. It so happened we were on the boat deck at the time and watched all the guards get on their life preservers and lower the life boat into the water and proceed to the object, pick it up, and come back to the ship. The boat was then hoisted back up on the ship and we continued our course. During the time the boat was being lowered into the water, the ship made a complete circle.

So far we've had pretty nice weather. The first night out was really rough (so some of the experienced sailors say). The ocean has been pretty calm except for a couple of times late in the afternoon. I had always wondered how dishes, foods, etc. were kept on the table. Now I know, sometimes it isn't. One night it was so rough that dishes, food, and all were dumped right off the tables on the floor. Before that one time the waiters had been sprinkling the table cloths with water, but that night they had to be soaked with water before anything would stay on the table.

(Feb.2) There is a registered nurse who makes the rounds twice a day to make sure everyone is o. k. She is the one who prepares Jimmy's formula every morning, and all I have to do is go to the frigidaire in the formula room and get his milk and warm it. There are 2 stewardesses who come by several times a day to see if everything is O. K. They bring pablum and canned baby food for Jimmy and anything else I want—like crackers or fruit for Terry and Martha. There is a children's nursery where small children go to play anytime during the day. There is all kinds of toys, games, books, etc. and from 2 to 4 everyday, the stewardesses are there so the mothers may leave their children. Sometimes movies are shown and other times the children just play.

It is very nice; all the little chairs are chromium with blue leatherette cushions. The floor is completely covered with inlaid linoleum, and there are chests for the toys. Terry and Martha look forward to going everyday. Also there is a play area on the boat deck which is fenced with mesh wire where small children can go outside to play in the fresh air. There are toys and a sand box there. Terry and Martha play outside on days that are nice. Only two days have been so bad we didn't get to go out at all— and we've been on the water 8 days. We got ahead of you one day when we crossed the international date line. We had no Saturday, Jan. 31. It was Friday, Jan. 30, then the next day was Sunday, Feb. 1; which suited me fine because we are still due in Korea around the 12th. We have to go by Okinawa to take some of the girls whose husbands are stationed there. Also there are troops and officers on board who are debarking at Okinawa.

There is a laundry room on the ship which is equipped with Bendix home laundrier, and we take our clothes to the colored boy who is in charge and he washes them for us. Of course they are partially dried; so all we do is hang them up in the room to finish drying. Also there are ironing boards so we can do any ironing we need to do. And there are 2 big sinks to do hand laundry.

(Feb. 7) We are due in Okinawa tomorrow.

(Sun., Feb. 8) around 3 p. m. We may be there a couple of days and I understand we will be taken on a supervised tour of the island and be allowed off the ship for the biggest part of the day (Monday). It takes 2 or 3 days to go to Korea from Okinawa. I am going to mail this letter at Okinawa so you'll get it sooner.

You can let all the rest read this and if you have time, and can, please let Big Mother know you heard from us. I won't write any more until we get to Korea.

Terry and Martha have talked about you a lot. Almost every day they wonder what Gradma is doing.

Thanks again for all the nice things you did for us and take good care of yourselves.

Love to all,
Polly and Kiddies

Friday, Feb. 20

Here we are in Cheju. Sorry I didn't get the letter mailed earlier; but couldn't get any envelope to put the letter in until I got here. I will write you a long letter about our house, the island, people, etc. you may publish this letter in the paper—any part that the editor thinks would be of interest to the people.

Love to all,
Polly and all,

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at nights, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Combat Prices By Making Clothes

When skirts started down and prices up, Joyce Gilstrap, Amarillo, and Joan Phillips, Marshall, Texas State College for Women freshmen, picked up their needle and thread. Three-fourths of TSCW's 2300 students did likewise and learned they could save almost $100 a year by making part of their own clothes. The average student spends $363 on clothes, saves $99 by sewing. Freshmen who make few of their clothes average $775, and buy more classroom clothes, while upperclassmen spend more on dress and evening wear. Miss Gilstrap and Miss Phillips designed and made the dresses modeled.

HEFNER NEWS

The Fifth Sunday meeting was successfully held at the Friendship Baptist church beginning on Friday night and running through Sunday afternoon. Lunches were served at the noon hours at the church.

Quite a few visiting ministers attended the meeting from the Colorado association. Bro. Shasty, a missionary, was present.

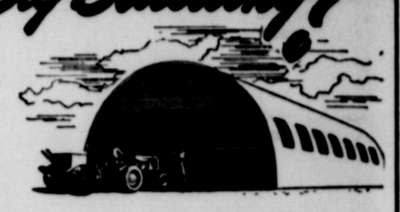

On last week the news of a cyclone that struck Woodson came to relatives here of Mrs. Roy Jones, the former Edith Trimble who lives there, that her little son was injured in the storm. Others were also in the hospital. Several from here went to Woodson to see the family and the destruction. Edith is the oldest daughter of Elmer E. Trimble, and their little son is doing fine.

John F. Myatt was buried at Slaton last week, where his wife and son, Collin Myatt, were also buried. The Myatt family were former residents of Knox county, having been among the early settlers of Hefner.

The New Champion Out-Cleans, Out Pulls And Out-Lasts any other tire.... And It's Easy To See WHY!

Cleans up to 100 percent More Effectively

Corn picking . . . plowing . . . disking . . . and many other kinds of farm work call for tractor tires that clean themselves and give dependable traction even under the most unfavorable conditions. It is under these conditions that the more effective cleaning of the new Firestone Champion Ground Grip is most noticeable. Mud drops easily and quickly from the curved, connected bars because they flare outward from the center and provide a wider opening at the shoulder

Pulls up to 62 percent More at the Drawbar

The most accurate way to measure the pulling power of one tractor tire as against another, is with a dynamometer. In test after test, the new Champion has outpulled ordinary tires by as much as 62%. This is easy to understand. The curved bars are deeper. They are shaped like a pyramid and drive into the ground with a wedge-like, cleaving action. In addition, the bar connections in the heart of the traction zone give the tires a powerful "Center Bite."

If you need tractor tires, be sure to check our deal. We will mount you a set of tires that we guarantee will do what we say, at no extra cost!

Lasts up to 91 percent Longer

This has been proven by numerous tests. The big traction bars are extra deep. They're buttressed at the base and Triple-Braced in the center for greater strength and stability. The bars don't bend, break or push through the cord body to make the tire unfit for recapping as is so often true with open center tires. The continuous bars make the new Champion roll smoothly on the highway. This lessens tire wear . . . lengthens tire life . . . saves money for you.

We have a great many used 10, 11 and 12-38 tractor tires. If you want a good used tire at a bargain price, be sure to see our stock.

We can also give you a good price on 600x16 new take-offs for your car, or a good deal on a new set of Firestone Deluxe Champions—and you can pay us by the week or month!

GIVE CHILDREN COLORFUL TOYS

A "Must" for the tiny tots' entertainment is an attractively designed brightly colored rubber ball, says child psychologists. The ball should have colors that catch the eye and color-patterns that will hold, rather than distract, the attention of the child.

Following the recommendations of experts in child care, the Pennsylvania Rubber Company has introduced a new line of rubber playballs that safeguard the child and at the same time provide the features that will keep baby occupied. The only danger, say the producers, is from baby making a bull's-eye on the new table lamp and this will never be avoided. If he doesn't get it with a rubber ball he can always tip the table or pull it down by the cord.

Little Eddie Flanagan, two-year-old son of the W. J. Flanagans, in typical baby fashion, tries to put the ball in his mouth and illustrates another point for consideration in buying toys for little tots, the toy must be large enough that baby cannot put it in his mouth. It must be light enough to handle easily and soft enough that baby will not be injured should he fall on it. Colors should be fast so the child cannot chew the coloring material off the object. Mothers agree that the child psychologists know what they are talking about.

To do this Reeves Motor Co. uses a special process developed by Chrysler Corporation engineers for Dodge and Plymouth cars and some Dodge trucks. That's why you can wear MoPar Cyclebond linings practically down to the shoe, get up to 75 percent longer life than ordinary linings.

That saves you money on fewer relining jobs. What's more, it reduces the possibility of brake drum scoring. It will pay to have Reeves Motor Co. inspect your brakes. If only adjustment is necessary, they will be adjusted the right way. If new linings are needed, they'll be expertly relined with MoPar Cyclebond brake lining, and you'll be money ahead! Drive in today.

Reeves Motor Co. has exchange shoes to take care of late model Dodge, Plymouth, Ford and Chevrolet cars, and they can reline any other car by this new process by using your old shoes. This is a service that has never been offered in this section before.—Adv.

LAST-MINUTE JOBS FOR LANDSCAPERS

"If you've not made all the changes which you plan in your landscape, there's still time to get it done before the growing season starts," Sadie Hatfield, extention landscape gardening specialist of Texas A. and M. College, points out.

If shrubs around the house are crowded, some of them can be moved to a border or used for screening out-buildings, she says. Or go to the nurseries and select the plants which will fit into the home landscape as they can be successfully transplanted now.

Other jobs which can be done to the home landscape now are listed by Miss Hatfield. Flower beds for late spring or summer plantings can be prepared, as barnyard fertilizer will have about six weeks to decay before planting seeds. Order rose bushes from reliable sources and set them out in soil where only grass has grown for the past five years. That will insure healthy plants and many blooms.

Evergreens which have grown too large and are crowding other plants can be pruned. Do not prune early blooming shrubs, such as spirea, flowering peach and forsythia until they finish blooming, she warns. Shrubs which have not begun to bud can be sprayed with oil emulsion to control scale. If the spray emulsion has been frozen or if the oil has seperated, it's a good idea to get fresh material and follow directions exactly so the plants won't be injured.

As a final job, Miss Hatfield says, remove and burn all diseased plants, diseased and dead limbs and take out unhealthy plants. The general appearance of the landscape will be improved.

Fixing Up the Farm
by BURTON WILLIAMS

Simple Range Shelter

MORE and more poultrymen are discovering the importance of range shelters in rearing strong, healthy pullets. Such shelters enable flocks to range on clean ground, and protect them from the crowding and overheating to which they often are subjected if kept in colony houses throughout the summer. As a result flocks develop more evenly, with fewer culls.

There are other advantages, too. Many farmers find range shelters useful for housing an early brood of pullets while a second brood occupies the colony house. In some areas shelters are even utilized for late season brooding. This saves the cost of conventional brooder houses.

At little expense you can build a serviceable shelter that will last many years. The type illustrated above, on a scale of 10 x 10 ft., will house about 125 pullets. Structurally, it consists merely of simple framing and a pitch roof. Practically the only other requirements are roosts and some welded mesh wiring for the floor.

The wood framing should be painted, but the roof can be made of asbestos cement board, which requires no preservative treatment. Five sheets of 4 x 8 asbestos board will suffice, with one piece cut in half to form the middle section of each side. If a solid floor is desired, it also may be built of asbestos board.

URGES "NEW LOOK" IN MANAGEMENT

CHICAGO — "Top management must make a decision to get its house in order quickly," Robert W. Jackson, president of Aldens, Inc., third largest mail order company in the U.S., said before a joint meeting here of the Office Management Association of Chicago and Northwestern university.

"It is the responsibility of every business executive to face squarely the task of preparing his company, division, department or unit for the readjustments that are necessary to take advantage of current and future opportunities."

Basic principles of management —policies, plan of organization and personnel—were forgotten in the last couple easy profit years, he declared in pointing out that management must crystallize its own thinking as to policy, must install a plan of organization that will work, and replace some key executives to restore personnel leadership.

Wage-Hour Fixing

By GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College
Searcy, Arkansas

Looking Ahead

THURMAN SENSING, who directs research for the Southern States Industrial Council, Nashville, Tenn., is a man who speaks with wisdom. Sometime ago Mr. Sensing released comments on our wage and hour law, in which he predicted there would be continued agitation to fix minimum wages at higher figures. I think it is true, as Mr. Sensing suggests, that few people understand the implications of wage and hour fixing by the government.

Says Mr Sensing: "The whole system of democracy is directly opposed to any sort of planned economy. Deny it though we may, the fixing of wages by legislative action can be regarded as nothing else than part and parcel of planned economy. If the government is allowed to assume the power to fix minimum wages and maximum hours, there is nothing to keep the government from reversing this process and fixing maximum wages and minimum hours."

Only Real Guarantee WITH THAT, democracy flies completely out the window, Mr Sensing declares. Everybody, he says, should have a living wage — or more — if he earns it. "But no one who believes in democracy will argue that a person should have a certain wage whether he earns it or not. Productivity comes first, not wages. The only real guarantee behind a wage in a democracy is the productivity of the person who receives the wage."

These words are so logical and the reasoning so plain that I would like to continue with Mr. Sensing's comments. Suppose an employer couldn't pay the minimum wages set up, and had to close down. There are two choices for the government: "either the business must be taken over ... and workers paid without any reference to the earnings of the business, or the workers go on relief and are issued a dole at the expense of the general public."

Whence Prosperity? THE FIRST would be state socialism, which the people of America would never endorse willingly or knowingly. "Socialism never has and never will bring the people a strong government and a high standard of living." Mr. Sensing cites socialism in England. "Promising them greater production, it has brought decreased production, promising them a higher standard of living, it has brought them a lower standard of living; promising them happiness, it has brought them misery."

The other alternative, says Mr. Sensing, would bring a great body of unemployed. "They are unemployed simply because the laws of the land have made it unprofitable for them to be employed. ... They are living off the enterprise and productivity of the rest of the people. Their incentive is dulled, their energy is stifled, their initiative is warped.

"If minimum wages fixed by the law are to make us prosperous, we might as well set the figure at one dollar per hour or two dollars per hour or five dollars per hour. ... In a democracy the requirement must always be that the individual shall earn his wage, whether it be ten cents per hour or ten dollars per hour; moreover, that it shall be fixed by free enterprise in a competitive economy. Our whole history has shown this to be the road to prosperity."

Storing Soil Moisture Aids Cotton Crops

Cotton farmers had a good year in the Panhandle and South Plains. Yields were higher than many of the early crop estimates, even though he summer was dry. This, according to Fred C. Elliott, cotton work specialist of Texas A. and M. College, pointed out again the value of storing soil mosture during the winter.

Conditions on the Plains are looking up and the supply of moisture in the soil before planting time is encouraging. As usual, land on the contour caught and held more water.

County agents have pointed out to Elliott that recent snows and freezes have left the finer soil particles on top of the ground where they are likely to start blowing.

Many Plains cotton farmers are standing by with chisel plows, and others will use them for the first time if blowing starts. Still others will stop blowing with lister equipment. "No matter how they do it— just so they do it,'" Elliott says.

"Right now prospects are good for another big cotton crop on the plains—if blowing is kept down."

Conservation To Be Practiced By County Farmers

It's about time to be thinking of plans for the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, Emmett Partridge, Chairman of the Knox County Agricultural Conservation Committee, advises farmers this week. He said that within the next few weeks the county committee will be asked for recommendations for the 1949 program. These recommendations, he explains, are sent in to the State PMA Office where the State PMA committee and the State technical committee go over them before transmittal to the naional PMA office in Washington, D. C. From these recommendations and within funds authorized by Congress, the 1949 program will be made up.

Of course, the county chairman said, the recommendations must conform to the law under which the program operates—basically to conserve soil or water. The primary purpose of the program is to check the waste of land and water and to make farmland, pastures and rangeland more productive.

The chairman explains that there is only so much money to be used to assit farmers in carrying out conservation practices. The national, State, County, and community people who administer the program have an obligation to use these funds to get the most conservation possible for each dollar spent. Some practices, which are good conservation practices, are no longer on the list because they are not as urgent as other practices or have not been adopted generally by farmers.

Every farmer has a right and an obligation to help make the best program possible, Mr. Partridge says. He urges all farmers to give thought to what they want in the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, and to talk over their ideas with their community or county agricultural conservation committeemen.

The REA has approved $295,000 for 164 miles of electric line to serve 447 rural consumers and for system improvements in Kaufman county, and $126,000 for 93 miles of line to serve 167 rural homes in Clay county.

BOYCE HOUSE "Gives You Texas"

While driving out through the Fort Stockton country, I got drowsy.

I had been counting the sheep.

A spring at Fort Stockton, known as the Comanche Chief, pours out 35,000,000 gallons a day, Clyde Smith, insurance man said. A smaller spring was the water supply of the old fort. The one-time amunition building still stands; in fact, it is in use by the Boy Scouts. It is a rock structure. A building which was used as quarters by the officers is now a residence and I was told that the interior had been modernized until it is the most beautiful of any home in the city.

Another very attractive home was built from rocks that were gathered from the grounds of the abandoned fort.

It's time that some fairness was introduced into Congressional hearings.

This business of browbeating sovereign American citizens by some men who is a member of Congress and therefore is supposed to be our servant ought to be changed at least to the extent that the citizen shall have the right to hit back.

A Congressman can bulldoze a business man, for example, and then refuse him the right to introduce witnesses to support his position and to uphold his good name. He isn't even allowed to cross-examine some irresponsible individual who may have it in for him and gets the committee and makes untrue, unsupported accusations.

The idea that Howard Hughes had to write out the questions he wanted to ask and submit those questions to the committee chairman for his approval or rejection is repugant to the American spirit of fair play.

That's one reason why this country rocked with applause for the tall Texan who refused to be browbeaten but stood his ground and ,slugged in true Texan style until that durnyankee Senator tucked his tail and ran.

Weekly Health LETTER

Issued by Dr. Geo. W. Cox M. D., State Health Officer of Texas

Austin—"Carelessness and ignorance represent two of the most powerful factors in spreading communicable disease from man to man. No more emphatic example of this fact exists than the continued ravages of tuberculosis. In spite of the knowledge of its causes and spread, and of curative methods, tuberculosis is still a very serious problem not only in Texas but throughout the United States," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"It is true that tuberculosis no longer is first on the list of killing diseases as it was formerly, Dr. Cox said, "but despite having been reduced to fifth place in Texas, it still is responsible for more deaths between the ages of fifteen and forty-five than any other disease. And this fact exists even through the majority of tuberculosis patients could have their condition arrested if it were recognized early and proper treatment applied."

"Treatment of the early recognized case is essential. It is of equal importance, from a public health viewpoint, that the spread of this devastating infection be prevented. A more intelligent appreciation of this fact would result in the saving of thousands of lives.

"When a diagnosis of active tuberculosis has been made, examination of all of the other members of the immediate family should follow as a matter of course. Tuerculosis runs in families, not because of any especial susceptibility to the disease, but because it is communicable, being usually transmitted through close and prolonged contact with the active case."

To reduce the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis, Dr. Cox suggests periodic examination of all adults, a check-up by physicians of the known active cases and contacts, regular examinations of high school children isolation or hospitalization of the active tuberculosis case, and am ore intelligent application of hygienic living principals.

Veterans' News

Veterans and dependents of deceased veterans of the Indian Wars will receive a 20 percent increase in their service pensions effective with payments due for the month of March, the Veterans Administration has announced.

The increases are provided in Public Law 398 of the 80th Congress approved January 19. They affect about 750 living veterans, 2,100 widows and some 50 helpless children of deceased Indian War veterans.

Under the increased rates, which followed the granting of similar increases for pensioners of other wars, the veterans will receive from $24 to $120 a month, depending upon extent of disability, age and qualifying statute. Widow's rates will range from $36 to $60 monthly, with additional allowances for children.

VA said the average age today of Indian War veterans is 85 years, and that dependents average 80 years of age.

More than half-million World War II veterans in 1947 bought homes of their own with the aid of Government-guaranteed loans under the GI Bill, VA reports.

VA said 540,000 GI home loans were made to veterans during the years compared with 410,000 in 1946. This brings to 1,056,771 the total number of GI home loans approved since the program started late in 1944.

VA found that the average home bought by veterans in 1947 carried a price tag of $7,300. About 290,000 loans were for existing homes and 160,000 for newly-constructed houses.

An estimated 14,000,000 veterans still have nearly 10 years in which to exercise their loan guarantee of 50 percent of the amount of the loan, up to a maximum guarantee of $4,000.

Questions and Answers

Q. I am a World War II veteran and would like to know if I have the right to choose the hospital I perfer in case of service-connected ailment?

A. The VA probably will offer such treatment in the Veterans Administration hospital nearest your home, or in the nearest VA hospital equipped and staffed to take care of your particular case.

Q. I am now drawing 10 percent compensation for a service-connected knee condition. Will Veterans Administration pay for a knee-brace which my doctor advises me to wear?

A. Veterans Administration will pay for the knee brace if VA doctors approve the recommendation of your physcian.

Q. May my private physician be called in as a consultant while I am hospitalized in a Veterans Administration hospital?

A. No, except in the event your physician happens to be a regular consultant on the hospital staff and the staff agrees to call him in to study your case.

Q. Can veterans of the Spanish-American War get Government Insurance because of his service in the armed forces?

A. No. Government Insurance was first made available to veterans of World War I.

Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Loving and son of Seymour were visitors here last Saturday.

What's The Secret?

Looking Ahead

By GEORGE S. BENSON

President of Harding College

Searcy, Arkansas

WHAT MAKES American living the best living known? What makes the American standard of living so much higher than that of any other nation? Our country is in no favored position as to raw materials, geography, population, climate, or the other factors usually thought of as making up a nation's economy. In fact, we have less of the world's territory, fewer people, and not as many natural resources as some other nations.

All these things you will find in the almanacs. Looking further and with a little more discrimination, you will find that America does much, much, more with what it does have. What I mean is that America produces. The figures will tell you that our "industrial and agricultural output" is great. This does not mean that Americans work any harder than anybody else. Actually, they do not have to work as hard as workers in other countries.

A Method That Works

THEN, where's the difference? What's the secret? It is the system that makes the difference. Our high standard of living, our good living is the pay-off of this system. This is where we reap the benefits of the right system, a system that really works. Once in a while, maybe, we have a shortage or an inequity. Maybe we lack production here, or there. But right away, enterprise goes to work to meet that demand.

With no interference from a dictator - state, the system takes care of little dislocations and progress keeps going. Our standard of good living continues to rise. Only in this way may all the people reap the rewards of their inventiveness and their enterprise. You see, the fellow who invents a light bulb or a self-starter is not the only one to profit. The fellow who uses them profits most.

Hold Fast!

THIS SYSTEM would bog down under heavy-handed stateism. Let the government step in to manage, and you have a dozen ways the system can go haywire. Demand no longer becomes the basis for production. Profit is penalized, and nobody gets the benefits of enterprise. People lose initiative and inventiveness, and everybody suffers. This has been America's experience, wherever she has tried "stateism."

Notwithstanding large funds spent by the Russian state on putting electric vacuum cleaners and refrigerators into production, it is reported from Russia that these things are not being produced anywhere. One factory made 300 manually-operated washing machines. They sold quickly, but no more were made despite heavy demand. The report said a good potato-peeling machine exists and demand is heavy, but it is not in production.

These are nothing more than the fruits of mismanagement that takes place when government starts tinkering with a nation's economies. The British press reports that one of its state-owned airlines will lose seven million pounds in its first year of government operation; another has already reported a loss of thirty pounds for every passenger it carried. These are some of the fruits of socialism. If we want to keep our high living standards, we must hold fast to the American way.

History of Church

The Methodist Church at Vera, Texas was organized in a school house in 1890. The first church building was erected in 1904 and served the congergation for 42 years. In 1946, under the leadership of Rev. Woodrow Adcock as pastor and the building committee composed of A. K. McGaughey, Wesley Trainham, Hoyle Sollins and Melvin Bratcher, the building of a new church was begun.

In November of 1946, the Rev. Cloy Lyles was assigned to Vera as pastor and the construction of the new church continued to completion under his leadership. The building, with some 4,000 square feet of floor space, consists of a beautiful sanctuary furnished with new pews and pulpit furniture, eight classrooms, a recreation and fellowship hall, pastor's study, church school office, rest rooms and kitchen. The grounds have been beautifully landscaped. The $18,000.00 necessary to making this new church possible has been paid in full.

Bischop Charles C. Slecman will dedicate this lovely church at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 14. The day has been designated as Homecoming Day and dinner will be served at noon. Former pastors and district superintendents will take part in services scheduled during the day. All friends, former members, pastors and district superintendents are invited to be present.

Look for the word "enriched" on the label when buying corn meal or grits.

Knox Calf—

composed of calves fed by Max Bradley, Fred Lewis Crenshaw, H. C. Chafin and Buddy Crenshaw, placed second in the show.

No calves from Knox county were sifted during the sifting period Wednesday.

For winning Grand Championship honors, Fred Lewis Crenshaw was given the Presidential Suite in the Kemp Hotel following the judging, where he, his brother and the county agent spent the night Thursday.

The city sponsored one of the best shows in the history of Knox county's participation. Many of the observers remarked.

Thursday noon the Rotary club was hosts to the 4-H boys and Friday noon the Times Publishing Company gave the boys another luncheon. Each time Fred Lewis sat at the guest of honor table.

All of the boys participating remarked about the extra nice facilities for a 4-H show. A large barn held all of the entries and was still large enough for the calves to be exhibited. A new auction arena afforded the buyers plenty of room to sit and study the calves as they came into the ring. A special barn was provided for washing and nurse cows. Those attending said it was the best show they had witnessed.

Kraker Krumbs—

• • • •

We've got a perfect right to stick our nose into a burning building to see how things are going; yes, and we can get huffy if firemen squirt a little water on us, too—we didn't get in their way—much.

• • • •

And if it's a business house that's burning, it's plumb all right to help ourselves to some of the merchandise—it's been damaged anyway. Besides, the insurance adjuster is not going to count all the cigars and stuff.

• • • •

If some of the merchandise has been carried out in the alley to keep it from burning, then we can just "snitch" some of that. It's not really stealing. People expect that when they have a fire.

• • • •

Small town fires always present their problems, but we can help solve them by using a little common horse sense.
