ENTIRE JAP ARMY MOVING TOWARD WIJU

All the Troops Now Landed are Working in Concert.

Number of Men on the March is 45,000

APPROACHING CITY BY THREE ROUTES

General Froloff Praises the Precision of the Handling of Russian Army.

SEOUL (Friday) via Shanghai, April 5.—The Japanese first army consisting of 4,000 men, including the imperial guard and the second and twelfth divisions which was to be concentrated at Anju, is moving on WiJU by three routes. Its advance guard is composed of 450 infantry and the cavalry which repulsed the 60 Russians and occupied Chong Ju, sixty miles southeast of WiJU March 28. Lieutenant Kato and four Japanese were killed on that occasion and Captain Kuro-waka and eleven men wounded. The Russians had ten men killed.

FROLOFF SEEMS SATISFIED

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—Lieutenant General Froloff, who has been acting chief general staff since General Sakharoff's appointment as war minister, has been granted the rights and privileges of assistant secretary of state by the emperor. This may forestall his permanent appointment as chief of general staff.

General Sakharoff announces Orendburg Cossacks be allowed $25 each for their horses. This measure indicates the mobilization of the Cossacks in Orendburg province. "In this war," the general adds, "we equipped the Germans in precision and promptitude. There is no confusion or bustle. As soon as a regiment arrives it is comfortably quartered in warm, roomy barracks, the men well fed and rested and then sent off to allotted stations. There is no serious illness among the arrivals and no epidemics."

COMMANDER MAKES STATEMENT

ST. PETERSBURG, April 5.—A statement by Captain Stepanoff of the Variaz, at Odessa, April 2, regarding the action of the commander of the United States gunboat Vicksburg at Chemulpo was reprinted here today. It is believed the statement will put an end to the discussion of the incident, which has been the cause of so much irritation in Russia. The Zeitung says: "Captain Stepanoff has done well to explain the truth. It never has been Russia's interest to make enemies, although foolish chauvinism has often done so. Russia has every reason to express her sincere thanks and recognition for the humane and noble bearing of every power represented at Chemulpo."

CARNEGIE IS READY TO HELP ROOSEVELT

SAYS HE WILL SEE THAT THE LACK OF MONEY DOES NOT BEAT "TEDDY"—STANDS READY TO GIVE AS MUCH AS A MILLION FOR THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Andrew Carnegie has sent word to President Roosevelt that he need not worry over rumors that the moneyed interests of Wall street are not disposed to contribute to the republican campaign fund. The founder of libraries says he stands ready to contribute any reasonable sum, up to a half million dollars, if necessary, to offset any defections among the rich Wall street men. Mr. Carnegie was recently discussing the attitude of certain Wall street interests toward Mr. Roosevelt. He said he failed to see any sense or justice in their course. Then he was told that these men were threatening to shut off the flow of money for the forthcoming campaign. Mr. Carnegie lifted his eyebrows and remarked that if there happened to be any need for funds the committee could call on him.

FARMERS WILL TRY COTTON IN WESTERN TEXAS

Tests Have Shown That the Fleecy Staple Can Be Raised and an Effort Will Be Made to Thow It.

EL PASO, Texas, April 5.—The cotton fever has struck West Texas and for the first time in history an attempt will be made to raise a large acreage this season this side of Fort Worth. The interest has been stimulated by trials made last year, which proved a success. The high price which the staple brought this season, together with the prospects of immunity from boll weevil, which has not as yet been found west of Fort Worth and the absolute knowledge that the staple can be grown in the west, has led landholders to think seriously of the matter and it is said that a large acreage of the fleecy staple will be grown and marketed this year.

This is a new and radical departure for the west and is as yet practically an experiment, but the success attained last year by a few who planted a crop and "made good" with it, has led others to decide to follow the example of their neighbors, and if prospects look for anything, West Texas may yet become the cotton center of the state.

For numerous reasons this staple has never been grown in the west during the past, one of the reasons being that the land has generally been given over to cattle raising, another being that the land owners did not believe the staple would thrive in this section and still another, and perhaps the most important, being the large amount of cotton raised in other sections of Texas, which generally kept down the price.

With the boll weevil ravishing the crop in Central and Southern Texas, however, and the staple being in demand at good prices, the farmers in the west see an opportunity that is not to be passed by without a test and they are accordingly preparing to become cotton planters. As a result, hundreds of acres heretofore allowed to go to waste or which were planted in hay or grain, will be this year devoted to raising the southern product.

Up to last year it was not thought that cotton could be successfully grown in the Panhandle or West Texas, but the tests already made have conclusively demonstrated that just as good cotton can be raised on the plains country nearly 400 miles northwest from Fort Worth as in the cotton sections of Central Texas, and as a consequence farmers propose to give the growing of the white staple a thorough test this season.

WAGE WAR ON TRUST

Farmers' Co-Operative Company to Make Their Machines SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, April 5.—The Farmers' Co-operative Harvesting Machines and Implement Company, of North America, will be incorporated this week at Columbus with a capital stock of $5,000,000. The headquarters of the company are in this city. Great shops are to be built, equal to any now here, and employment is to be given to 2,000 or 3,000 men.

The company has the backing of the National Grange. This organization has pledged itself to take stock in the company in the amount of $1,500,000. The announcement was made Saturday by William N. Whiteley, the former reaper manufacturer of this city. Mr. Whiteley is in a measure at the head of the project of the farmers of the United States to combat the combinations selling agricultural implements.

WILL KILL STATEHOOD IN SENATE

Little Hope That the Measure Will Be Passed by That Body During the Present Session.

PROBABLY WILL PASS HOUSE AFTER FIGHT

Long Delay Now Expected Because Republicans See no Advantage from New States.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 5.—Statehood legislation at the present session of congress may well be numbered among the things left over until the short session. That the omnibus bill prepared by the republican majority of the subcommittee may pass the house after a fight by the democratic minority is among the probabilities. That it will be possible to pass the measure in the senate, however, with a prospect of early adjournment, is not entertained by any one. The indications are that the statehood bill will, as usual, be passed up to the senate, where it will die a natural death, so far as the present session is concerned. It may be taken up next December and considered and passed before the next congress comes in on March 4, 1905.

Friends of statehood in the house are making a canvass of the membership with a view to discovering whether or not there is sufficient strength to pass a bill. Many republicans who have no interest in the legislation other than the general interest in all legislation affecting the state of the union, have been asked to whether or not they will join in asking in a formal petition that the republican leaders call a caucus to decide upon party action in relation to statehood. It is barely possible that if the statehood bills show sufficient strength on a canvass the program in this connection will be changed and the bill permitted to pass the house at this long session of the congress. It can not pass the senate.

NO CHANCE TO PASS SENATE

Senator Beveridge is chairman of the senate committee on territories. As such he has charge of all such legislation. As such he led the fight against the veteran Quay at the last session, when Quay was pushing his omnibus statehood bill. Beveridge was asked as to the possibility of statehood legislation, and said, without hesitation: "Absolutely no prospect whatever. Why, I said to you weeks ago that there would be no legislation of the sort at this session."

It was suggested that the situation might have changed in that time, and Senator Beveridge answered the suggestion: "No change in the situation whatever. There is not one chance in a hundred for statehood legislation at this session. We are making good progress on the appropriation measures and you will see the session close about April 20. With conference reports to come in and the balance of the supply measures to be agreed upon, and the democratic campaign speeches to be made, there will be quite enough to occupy the senate until the closing day of the session."

SHOW HANDSOME GIRLS

Mrs. Prentiss Would Make a Display of Kansas Beauties at Fair TOPEKA, Kan., April 5.—Mrs. Noble L. Prentiss, who is to be hostess of the Kansas building at the World's Fair, Kansas building at the World's Fair, has gone to said last night. She has a large number of a display of live stock, agriculture and other products at the World's Fair, but nothing has been done to show off our handsome girls.

Mr. Carnegie has a high regard for the president, not only as a man, but as a president. His course in the Northern Securities merger case was especially pleasing to Mr. Carnegie, who holds that Roosevelt's firm stand, just at that time, saved the entire country from a tremendous speculative crisis.

DIE RESISTING ARREST

Two Shot by a Posse While They Were Attacking the Marshal ATHENS, Texas, April 5.—Last night Marshal Wofford was notified of a row down in the home of the Herrings in this place and he summoned such assistance as he deemed necessary and went down to quell the trouble. On arriving at the house he demanded the surrender of the Herrings, whereupon one of them attempted to use his revolver, which was taken away from him at once. One of the Herrings knocked the marshal down and then they (the Herrings) grabbed a shotgun and Winchester and began shooting and instantly those accompanying the marshal returned the fire which resulted in the death of Walter and Jim Herring. This occurred almost in the twinkling of an eye and before the marshal had fully regained his footing. The marshal sustained a considerable bruise on the face under the left eye, but was not otherwise hurt.

CAR LINES THE ISSUE IN CHICAGO

That City Likely to Vote to Own and Operate Her Street Car Lines in the Future.

QUESTION SUBMITTED UNDER MUELLER LAW

Most Exciting Election in Years as Aldermen Have Rich Picking in Sight.

CHICAGO, April 5.—The municipal election in Chicago is the most interesting in many years, involving not only the selection of thirty-five aldermen, one-half of the city council, but the question of municipal ownership of street railways. There were a multitude of candidates in the thirty-five wards and contests have been lively for weeks, as the aldermen elected with hold-overs will have to act on the necessary ordinances in case the city acquires the street car lines. The advocates of municipal ownership made a hard preliminary fight and interest was aroused and there were brought to the polls an unusual number of voters for the city election.

What is known as the Mueller law was passed by the state legislature, and it was submitted to the voters. This enactment authorizes cities in Illinois to construct, own, operate and lease street railways and to provide means therefor.

JEFFRIES SWEARS OFF

To Indulge in Cigarettes Will Cost the Champion $100

NEW YORK, April 5.—Jim Jeffries, who starts for Harbin Springs, Cal., next week to prepare for his coming championship battle with Jack Monroe, will not have to indulge in much training to get in condition, as he already is in better shape than he has been for many a day.

His present good condition is the result of three weeks' light training which he has been going through while on the road.

Since he has been away from New York the big champion has taken runs on the road, skipped the rope twice each day for at least 500 times at a clip, worked in a gymnasium, and re-trained early.

As a consequence of the course of training he has lost twelve pounds. Jeffries has not smoked a cigar or a cigarette since the first of the year. If he smokes a cigarette it will cost him $100, as he has a bet of that amount that he will not smoke one before the fight.

HOTEL DINING ROOM GIRL BECOMES A WELL PAID ACTRESS IN ONE NIGHT

Miss Lynia Allen, of Barberton, Joiner the "Hoosier Girl" Company—Made First Appearance at Wadsworth

BARBERTON, Ohio, April 5.—From a dining room girl in a hotel to a well-paid actress in twenty-four hours' time is the experience of Miss Lynia Allen of this place. Miss Allen was employed at the inn. Among the guests at the inn Tuesday was the manager of the "Hoosier Girl," an attraction that was at the Barberton theatre Tuesday night. It was Miss Allen's lot to serve the theatrical manager with his supper. The manager wanted an actress and he wanted one right away to fill a vacancy in the company.

"Do you happen to know of a good-looking and bright girl who wants to be an actress?" asked the manager of the waitress.

"I do," was Miss Allen's quick reply.

"Where can she be found?"

"I guess I am the girl you want," said Miss Allen.

"Do you mean it?" asked the manager.

"No question about it," came the reply.

"When will you be ready to learn a part and appear before the footlights?"

"I will be ready with my part tomorrow night," said the dining room girl. Miss Allen sat up all night and when morning came around she had her part learned by memory. She resigned her position in the hotel and made her first appearance last night at the Wadsworth opera house.

He expressed dissatisfaction that his advice was not taken.

VAN SANT A CANDIDATE

He Thinks He Would Look Well on Tail End of Republican Ticket

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 5.—While he has yet made no public announcement, Governor S. R. Van Sant today stated to several intimate friends his intention of appearing before the republican national convention as a vice-presidential candidate. He has just completed a lengthy tour, during which he visited nine states and received in each substantial promises of support. Mails during the last three days have brought in numerous letters, a large stack of which lie on his desk at the state capitol, urging him to announce his intention of seeking the vice presidency and offering support. These outline his fight against the railway merger, his campaign for enforcement of law and his record as an active party worker for many years past as grounds on which he might reasonably hope for success.

Governor Van Sant is one of the four delegates-at-large from Minnesota to the Chicago convention.

A big catfish traveled five miles through the water main at Middletown, N. Y., and wedged itself into the outlet of a fire hydrant. When the firemen attempted to use the hydrant they found that no water would come. The fish was nearly a foot in length.

A DANDY FOR BURNS

Dr. Bergin, Pana, Ill., writes: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment; always recommended it to my friends, as I am confident there is no better made. 'It is a dandy for burns.' Those who live on farms are especially liable to minor accidental cuts, burns, bruises, etc. It heals rapidly when Ballard's Snow Liniment is applied. It should always be kept in the house for cases of emergency." 25c, 50c, $1.00 bottle. Sold by H. T. Pangburn & Co.

TEXAS SOCIETY IN WASHINGTON

Mrs. Moore Murdock Assists in Organization of the Dames of 1846

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Mrs. S. H. McDuffy and her accomplished young daughter are two very attractive Texans who have been making their home in Washington since January. Originally from Waxahachie, these ladies have been more recently identified with New York, where Mrs. McDuffy has been devoting herself to her favorite profession of vocal studio for voice culture at her home at the Cairo, where she gives an occasional recital for the benefit of the music lovers among her friends. One of these delightful little affairs occurred a few evenings ago before forty or fifty people, a number of them being from the hostess' home state. Mrs. McDuffy has a thrilling soprano voice of wide range. She sang elaborate selections in five different languages, as well as coquettish little ballads for encores. She is a woman of magnetic personality, with beautiful big dark eyes. Scarcely less decided than Mrs. McDuffy's musical ability is her genius with brush and pencil. Both mother and daughter are artists of capable achievement. Their rooms are furnished with richly decorated bits of furniture—tables, clocks, plaques, etc.—embellished by their own hands.

Attractive among the guests of Mrs. McDuffy's recent musical soiree were Mrs. Robert Lee Henry of Waco and Mrs. Jack McManchie, the latter a permanent friend of the hostess. Mrs. Beall, a tall, commanding looking woman, was very handsome in a costume of claret colored crepe with ecru lace. Master Jack Beall Jr., aged 4, was the bright young escort of his mother. Representative and Mrs. Beall are both natives of Kentucky.

Mrs. Moore Murdock of Fort Worth, who continues her successful social and business career in Washington, with the assistance of about twenty-five Washington ladies, members of families that were represented in the Mexican war by commissioned officers, has organized a permanent camp here of the Dames of 1846. The camp has been only provisional up to this time. The ladies have christened their new organization "Camp Contreras," in commemoration of the battle of Contreras, fought in Mexico on August 20, 1847. The District commandant is Mrs. Louise Kennedy Hare, the new wife of Judge Silas Hare, formerly of Sherman, Texas. Miss Nannie Heth, daughter of General Harry Heth, the gallant cavalry leader of the Confederacy, is secretary. Miss Elizabeth Bryant Johnston, the southern writer, originally from Kentucky, is historian. Distinguished among the charter members here is the venerable though still brilliant, Letitia Tyler Semple, mistress of the White House during the administration of her father, President Tyler.

Mrs. Murdock says that the order of Dames of 1846, though founded only three years ago, now numbers a membership of 2,500. Among the honorary commandants are Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Mrs. Albert S. Johnston, and Mrs. James Longstreet.

George Bailey and his handsome wife, distinguished members of the Texas colony in Washington, where Mr. Bailey has represented a number of newspapers for several years, are much missed since their return to Texas. Mr. Bailey is succeeded in the congressional press galleries by the notable Colonel Bill Sterrett, who won laurels for himself some time ago on the Galveston News.

FEW COUNTRIES OFFER A HAVEN

Embezzlers Now Have a Poor Chance to Find Places of Safety.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—"Whither could a man fly and be secure against extradition for embezzlement or larceny?"

The Telegram correspondent put this question to Judge VanDyne, solicitor of the state department, who has such matters at his finger ends.

"We have thirty or forty extradition treaties," said VanDyne. "Even in Spanish Honduras the legislature, if we had no treaty, could hand the fugitive over to our officers, as an act of comity."

"Then, again, we have a theft treaty with almost every country. It is called embezzlement in one, larceny in the other. All that would have to be done would be to indict the fugitive under the term in the treaty in question; then you could extradite him for the one and try him for the other."

"The question you asked has been asked of us with great frequency, even by prospective embezzlers. They would write to find out whether a certain offense is extraditable in a certain country. In one case we wrote an equivocal reply. Sure enough, the crime was subsequently committed, and we informed the authorities as to the correspondent we had had on the subject. The fugitive had gone to the country about which he had consulted. He thought he could not be extradited. He was mistaken. They brought him back and he was convicted."

CLEVER SCHEME FAILS

Hearst's Men Tried to Corner All the Hotel Space at St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, April 5.—Through the refusal of St. Louis hotel keepers to lease their taverns to William R. Hearst during convention week delegates and others who are not for Hearst will be able to find lodgings.

Members of the executive committee today discovered that Hearst had endeavored to monopolize the hotels near the convention hall. As it is, Hearst will have three entire floors at the Planter's, ninety-two rooms at the New Jefferson, headquarters of the national committee, and acres of space have been reserved at the Southern. Hearst's hotel expenses alone for convention week will be more than $20,000. It is understood his shouters will be to no expense whatever beyond the loss of time.

Good Stories of The Day

CONTENTMENT IN DELAY

Senator Hoar lately told an incident of his legal practice in connection with his remarks about the dangerous condition of the old government printing office. "I am reminded," said he, "of something that happened in the supreme court of our state some years ago. They held court at Northampton, and went over to Mr. Holyoke, where there is an elevator which takes travelers up the side of a steep rock a hundred or 200 feet to avoid the difficulty of climbing. The judges, as judges are apt to be, were, nearly all of them, rather corpulent men. Six or seven got into the elevator at once. They saw that the rope that held the car in which they went was very much frayed, and they asked the manager if he did not think it was a little unsafe. 'Yes,' the manager said, 'it is wholly unsafe, and likely to break every minute, but we are going to have a new one next Monday.'"

SOME TARIFF DEFINITIONS

Secretary Snaw's decision that frogs are poultry, and subject to duty, recalls the story of the passenger and a guard on an English railway car who were having a heated discussion over whether the traveler should pay fare on a dog that accompanied him, the guard insisting that the animal have a ticket. Another passenger produced a turtle from his pocket and sarcastically asked the guard if he would not require a fare to be paid for that animal as well. The guard answered that he would inquire and report later. Soon after he came back to the carriage and delivered himself of the following: "That's dogs, and rabbits is dogs, but 'tortoses' is frogs, and frogs is insects, and they rides free."

THE STAND-PAT DANGER

"These people who get one idea or one tenet and never change," said Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, leader of the minority in the house, "pays every day to my mind an episode at a dinner I attended once where a scholarly and eloquent pioneer was telling of the dangers that beset him in his early days in the west.

"I remember once," he said, "when I was traveling from one town to another, a tremendous thunderstorm came up. The scene was frightful, awe-inspiring. I expected every moment that the lightning would strike the tree under which I had sought shelter."

KEEPING UP WITH PROGRESS

Justice Brandeis of the United States supreme court drew this illustration in his Chicago lecture:

"The marvelous inventions have revolutionized all our ways. King James' version is superseded by the Webster's dictionary, and the Bible is translated into English. Strangely enough, in the days of trusts we cannot trust ourselves to hold our own railroad stock, and so organize a Northern Securities Company to hold them for us. Everything must be up to date. The minister finding in the hymn book the rhyme:

"Oh, may my heart in tune be found" and believing the harp an out-of-date instrument, changed the lines to the following:

"Oh, may my heart be tuned within

"Like David's sacred violin."

"The chorister, not to be outdone, re-wrote them thus:

"Oh, may my heart go diddle-diddle

"Like unto David's sacred fiddle."

"I do not know who the chorister was—perhaps his name was Trigg."

PROTECTION FOR MR. DALZELL

A bright-faced party 10 years old was talking with Representative Ruppert of New York.

"Who had you appointed?" Mr. Ruppert asked.

"Mr. Dalzell of Pennsylvania," the youngster answered.

"I suppose when you grow up you are coming to congress to succeed Mr. Dalzell?"

"Well, I'd hate to crowd Mr. Dalzell out," answered the page, hesitatingly.

THE DRAMATIC INSTINCT

Mrs. Blaine Thinks It Should Be Developed in Children at School

CHICAGO, April 5.—Dramatic acting in the school room as a means of educating the children in history, literature and ethical truths is the novel pedagogical method recommended by Mrs. Emma Blaine in an article on "The Dramatic Education," which appears in the April number of "The Elementary School Teacher."

The magazine is published by the University Press, and is edited by the faculty of the school of education, which Mrs. Blaine has endowed to the extent of nearly a million dollars. The plan she suggests is being tried in the classes there. Mrs. Blaine holds that the dramatic instinct is strong in children and that by careful training it may be made "a power to construct in them a stronger and better man and woman with clearer images and finer thoughts." This dramatic instinct, however, Mrs. Blaine would have worked out by the children themselves in school room plays. She says that there are few things on the stage at the present time that children should see or hear and suggests that the theaters set aside Saturday afternoons for plays to be given for the school children.

DIDN'T PAY FOR EGGS

Man Works a Swindle on Indian Territory Shippers

CLAREMORE, I. T., April 5.—One of the smoothest of the many swindles perpetrated in the Indian Territory was worked here by one J. R. Bowman. He recently opened a wholesale produce house in this city, and at once plunged into the egg business on an extended scale, placing agents in all the towns on the Mountain and Southern railroad from here to Fort Smith. As he offered a little more than the market price for eggs he had no trouble in building up a large business in a short time. His story was that the firm placed them in cold storage and the price of a cent or two per dozen extra cut very little figure, as they could hold them with little expense until a rise in the market. His business certainly boomed and shipments were pouring in from all over the territory. A few days ago Mr. Bowman appeared at the Bank of Claremore and drew a sight draft on a St. Louis firm for $300 on a shipment of 120 cases of eggs he had shipped the day previous. The draft was returned to the bank unpaid. G. D. Davis, the cashier, upon investigation found that Mr. Bowman had left on a Frisco train the same afternoon after securing the money on the draft. Mr. Davis, on learning this, proceeded to attach any unpaid balance in the hands of the St. Louis commission company to whom Bowman had been shipping the eggs, and he learned from them there was only $54 on a shipment of forty cases the day he left, he having taken $100 on the same, showing that he went from here direct to St. Louis.

Among the biggest losers are A. J. Nobles & Co., who have stores at Salina and Maple. It is reported Bowman has owing them $800. They have 50 cases of eggs on hand ready to be shipped when they learned of Bowman's flight. J. M. Brown of Bragg, I. T., and Keener & Wilson of Fort Gibson, I. T., were victims to considerable extent. A representative of the Hays Mercantile Company of Webb Falls, I. T., came in today to see the large cold storage plant Mr. Bowman represented to have in operation here.

SUES A MURDERER

Woman Wants Damages for the Shock of Seeing Victim Dead

SIoux CITY, Ia., April 5.—Alice Slaughter, a trained nurse, who formerly conducted a rest cure sanitarium in Los Angeles, Cal., has sued the estate of Albert J. Rocks for $5,000 damages for disturbance to her peace of mind and the mental agony, the result of seeing two horribly mutilated dead bodies.

Rocks, his wife and their five children spent the winter in California. Jan. 12, at 1 o'clock in the morning, Rocks, in insane frenzy, crushed his wife's skull with a water pitcher while she was sleeping and cut her head off with a pocketknife. He cut his own throat and horribly mutilated himself, finally dying.

The children, who slept in an adjoining room, screamed for help. Mrs. Slaughter came and was so overcome by the bloody sight that she suffered a nervous collapse and since has been unable to do any work.

She also claims that no one will come to her sanitarium since the evening of the tragedy.

EVICTIONS ARE PENDING

Eight Hundred Families Will Be Turned Out of New York Tenements

NEW YORK, April 5.—Nearly 800 evictions are impending on account of the increase of east side tenement rentals. Arrangements have been made for a mass meeting of tenants for the purpose of devising means to fight the increase. It is claimed that the lease holders brought that they have added an average of 5 per cent to their rent rolls, largely for the purpose of increasing the valuation of property. Some talk of a general exodus of tenement dwellers to the Bronx and Williamsburg has been heard, but it is not likely to materialize.

The hog market today, with 1,550 hogs offered, lost yesterday's 5c advance, the bulk of the trading being done on a steady basis with last week's close.

M. V. Baugh of Rogers was represented on the market today with one load of good Texas raised hogs, which sold to Armour & Co. at $5.02 1/2.

THE CARE OF SWINE Well Known Iowa Authority Writes on Matters of Interest to Men Who Are Trying the Experiment of Hog Raising for Profit

We have never in all our experience as an agricultural editor received so many inquiries with reference to the best method of feeding brood sows and young pigs. Our talk for the last eight or ten years about giving the brood sow, or, in other words, the pig factory, the right kind of raw material and a half a day as the feed of support, seems all at once (and, we might add, unexpectedly) to have taken hold.

An Iowa correspondent writes us asking whether it is profitable for fattening hogs or brood sows. We do not know that we would especially recommend it for fattening hogs if either oats or barley were available. For hogs in the last stages of fattening it is not enough to get them in good shape for market, and let them go.—Wallace Farmer.

It is entirely different with brood sows. The brood sow is a pig factory, the product of which is largely albumin, and can use to advantage much more protein such as that furnished by tankage, oil meal, or shorts, than the corn furnishes. There-fore we consider tankage an excellent feed, but as so often stated, we would give the brood sow some protein in the shape of forage in order to give bulk to the ration. The best forage, of course, is alfalfa; the next best clover hay; but where neither of these can be obtained, give the brood sow all the corn fodder that she wants, and as corn fodder is deficient in flesh formers, add tankage or shorts. Tankage we think is the cheapest at the price named.

An Iowa correspondent asks if we think cooked feed has any advantage over uncooked when fed to hogs. That depends entirely on the kind of feed you intend to cook. It will pay you to cook potatoes. It will not pay you to cook corn. The brood sow is a pig factory, the product of which is largely albumin, and can use to advantage much more protein such as that furnished by tankage, oil meal, or shorts, than the corn furnishes. There-fore we consider tankage an excellent feed, but as so often stated, we would give the brood sow some protein in the shape of forage in order to give bulk to the ration. ARMED CONVICTS ATTEMPT ESCAPE

Four Desperate Men Nearly Succeeded in Getting Away From Penitentiary.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 5.—A desperate attempt to escape from the Missouri penitentiary was made today by four convicts heavily armed and carrying sticks of dynamite. They succeeded in cutting their way out of their cells. When Guard John Williams was making his rounds he came upon them in the corridor and they called upon him to halt.

Williams fled and gave the alarm and a corps of guards responded and soon overpowered the convicts and placed them in other cells. The convicts were James Thornton, P. T. Ellis, James McDonald and J. O. Millard. They assert that they secured the revolvers and dynamite by express, but the prison authorities believe the weapons and explosives were smuggled to them by friends. An investigation will be immediately begun.

Thornton, Ellis and McDonald came to the penitentiary three years ago on ten-year sentences each, for safe blowing. Millard was sentenced for grand larceny.

GOOD WORDS FOR PRINTERS

In these days when there is a discussion from time to time of the "labor movement," and when Mr. Parry is directing his language against those who organize it might not be amiss to call attention to the manner in which the Typographical Union has been discussed recently. The Baltimore News has this reference to the printers of that city:

The cordial words of the printers are thoroughly appreciated, and it is a pleasure to be able to say with equal sincerity that the workmanlike excellence, the conscientious care, and the thoroughgoing loyalty of the printers is a constant source of satisfaction and pride to the News' management. Had it not been for the sterling quality of the men in the printing and mechanical departments of the paper, the results that were accomplished in the trying fortnight after the fire would have been impossible of attainment. What is manifested in normal times in the shape of intelligence, alertness, good humor and good will, showed up splendidly at the time of trial in the shape of unremitting labor, determined vigilance and the willingness and ability to meet every emergency as it arose. This characterized every department of the great fire of February 7. When the Friedenwald Company, a non-union establishment, was burned out, the Baltimore Typographical Union promptly addressed a letter to the company offering to waive the union rules during the emergency, and to do everything in its power to facilitate the carrying on of the company's business. This showed a breadth of mind, and a humaneness of view, on the part of the Typographical Union, that other trade union bodies might emulate with profit. The News commented on the act at the time, and the matter attracted attention in other parts of the country. Such acts as this, and as the pleasing expression of sentiment just made by the Baltimore News chapel, are among the things that make for right feeling and right relations between man and man in this bustling modern world.

The Typographical Union is one of the oldest organizations in the country, and its aims and policies are cast upon conservative lines. It believes that by the maintenance of its rules and regulations the efficiency of the trade is bettered and that it brings about a higher standard of skilled labor in that particular line. It gives protection to the employer because it guarantees to him that all work done under its jurisdiction will be honestly and faithfully performed, and under its rules of compensation every man is paid for the particular amount of work which he accomplishes. The compliment by the Baltimore News is one which the printer man can well appreciate, and it is just what many other newspapers will say if called on for an expression.

THE AUDITORIUM MOVEMENT

There is to be a meeting of the Board of Trade tonight, at which time the committee of bankers appointed to suggest a plan which will result in the building of an auditorium, will report. This is a matter which is of vital importance to the people of Fort Worth, and every citizen having the interest of the people at heart should be present.

The proper building in which meetings can be held should be provided at once. A well regulated town like Fort Worth should not be without such a meeting place. A small convention like the state meeting of the republicans was held recently in Dallas, and the editor of the Mineral Wells Index, who attended, says the capacity of the hall provided was totally inadequate to the needs of the convention. There should be a representative gathering of the business men of the city, to the end that some work can be done at once. The city election will be over at 6 o'clock this evening, and it is not incumbent upon every one to stay away because of the contest at the polls. Captain Paddock has arranged for bulletins from each ward, and there will be a good chance to hear the results. Let every citizen come out tonight.

DILAPIDATED MAIL CARS The railway mail clerks are taking the bit in their teeth in the matter of legislation and, notwithstanding the executive order which forbids them to take any action individually or otherwise which might influence members of congress, they are coming to the front in an effort to secure protection to life and limb. They are protesting against the use of old cars by railroads in the transportation of mail matter and make the suggestion that life is endangered every time a clerk goes into one of these well worn coaches, as they go to pieces whenever there is trouble on the line.

With the rent the government is paying for mail cars, it looks like the roads ought to be able to furnish good accommodations, and accommodations which are safe. The whole system of renting postal cars as at present observed is an outrage on the tax payers—one of many outrages perpetrated in the management of the postoffice department. In the first place the rental of cars at this price is an outrage. Without taking into account this item, the department pays the railroads exorbitant rates for transportation—higher, indeed, than is paid by all the rest of the world combined. And then, after paying these rates, it pays in addition a rental for the postal cars in which the mail is carried, which is as absurd as if a passenger having paid full fare or a shipper having paid full freight, should have to pay rent for the car in which he travels or ships his goods.

Not only does the postal department pay a rent on postal cars, but it pays an excessive rent. The rate paid is $25 to $50 a year per car (according to the size of the car) for each mile traveled every day. Thus during the year 1902 this rent paid for postal cars, in addition to nearly $40,000,000 paid the same roads for transportation of the mails, amounted to $4,600,000, which would more than buy outright every postal car in the country. According to the superintendent of the Pullman Company, postal cars cost about $5,000, but the department pays $5,000 a year for each car, or more than enough to buy it outright. The Tawney amendment provides that these cars may be used for fifteen years. The rent of a $5,000 car for fifteen years, at the rate paid by the department, amounts to more than $75,000, which is pretty steep under any circumstances, and especially when it is borne in mind that every dollar of this rent is a clear bonus in addition to the high rates paid for mail transportation.

The postal clerk, however, does not protest against the renting of the cars, as now followed, but he does want the government to force the railroads to give safe cars for the use of the men who work in them.

"Why is it," asks the New York Sun "that in such perilous times as these so many good republicans, men of fine character, men of parts and men who have the respect and confidence of their fellow citizens, are as completely lost to view as if they were bottled up with the newspaper correspondents in a club in Tokio?" It is because these men of fine parts do not know exactly how to defend the men of small parts and large hands who are of the same party, but have been exposed in grafting, and they prefer to remain in the back ground while the tricksters hold the fort.

Mr. Bryan says: "I am against Judge Parker. Why not nominate an interrogation point?" The trouble is that the democratic party made a mistake once nominating a talking machine, and it could not have done worse. Bryan's tongue was hung in the middle and it worked at both ends.

Again the court has ruled against Mr. Bryan in the matter of the Bennett will. After this third failure he ought to stop. He tried to get the presidency twice and was turned down by the people and he has tried to get Mrs. Bennett's money and it is turned down.

Did any one really think when Mr. Roosevelt was nominated for vice president that he would some day succeed to the presidency? If they did, why did he not speak out and suggest some other man.

If you haven't voted by the time you read this paragraph you would do well to look up your poll tax and rush around to the polls.

Hanna's Pledge

Joe Mitchell Chapel, editor of the National Magazine, was one of the intimates of the late Senator Hanna, and tells some stories of the senator's life hitherto unpublished. The following is worth every inch of space it occupies. "It was on his last Sunday that Senator Hanna related on of the most touching and tender incidents of his earlier years. He prefaced it by stating that he was past 25 years of age before he ever tasted intoxicating liquor of any kind. During those early days, when he was associated in Cleveland with such youths as John D. Rockefeller and others, his father's heart was apprehensive, as the heart of almost every father is apt to be for boys of that age. The elder Hanna was rigid and uncompromising in his total abstinence principles, and often said he would rather see his boys brought home in a coffin than staggering home drunk. For this reason Marcus never had a latchkey, but every time he came home late his father would get up and let him in, and surely no father ever watched over a son with more solicitude; but the younger Hanna rebelled and even appealed to his mother for a latchkey. "Mother," said he, "you can trust me. Whenever I touch a drop of liquor, I will give you back this key." It is needless to add, says Chapel, that the key was never called for. He who runs may read the lesson: Teach the boy and then trust him fully. In the last analysis that is all you can do. The mother's instinct in this case was better than the father's discipline.

The White Company by A. Conan Doyle

SYNOPSIS. Alleyne Edricson, who has spent his life in a monastery, leaves at the age of 20 to see the world. His brother, the Socman of Minstead, an arrogant, cruel man, refuses to allow him to enter the house. He saves Lady Maude, daughter of Sir Nigel Loring, a famous warrior, from his brother, and is made a squire to Sir Nigel, who is about to go to France to take command of the White Company, a company of English archers the invitation having been carried to him by Sam Aylward, Hordle John, a former brother at the monastery, joins the company. Alleyne falls in love with Maude, and she returns his love.

lord is upon him. Look to it, Alleyne! See to the whirl and glitter of it!" "By heaven, Sir Nigel is down!" cried the squire. "Up!" roared John. "It was but a feat. He bears him back. He drives him to the side. Ah, by Our Lady his sword is through him! They cry for mercy. Down goes the red cross and up springs Sam with the scarlet roses!" The death of the Genoese leader did indeed bring the resistance to an end. Amid the thunder of cheering from the cog and from galleys the forked pennin fluttered from the forecastle, and the galley, sweeping round, came slowly back, as the slaves who rowed it learned the wishes of their new masters. The two knights had come aboard the cog and the grapplings having been thrown off, the three vessels now moved abreast. Through all the storm and rush of the fight Alleyne had been aware of the voice of Goodwin Hawtayne, the master-shipman with his constant "Hale the bowline! Veer the sheet!" and strange it was to him to see how swiftly the bloodstained sailors turned from the strife to the ropes and back. Now the cog's head was turned Francewards and the shipman walked the deck, a peaceful master-shipman once more.

There is sad scath done to the cog, Sir Nigel," said he. "Here is a horn in the side two cils across, the sail split through the center and the wood as bare as a friar's poll. In sad scath, I know not what I shall say to Master Witherton when I see the lither once more." "By St. Paul! it would be a very sorry thing if we suffered you to be the worse of this day's work," said Sir Nigel. "You shall take these galleys back with you and Master Witherton may sell them. Then from the moneys he shall take as much as may make good the damage, and the rest he shall keep until our home-coming. When every man shall have his share. But how fares it with you, Edricson?" "It is nothing, my fair lord," said Alleyne. Even as he spoke, however, his head swirled around and he fell to the deck with the blood gushing from his nose and mouth. "He will come to anon," said the knight. "I have lost one very valiant and gentle squire this day. I can ill afford to lose another. How many men have fallen?" "I have pricked off the tally," said Aylward. "There are seven of the Winchester men, 11 seamen, your squire, young Master Terlake, and nine archers." "And of the others?" "They are all dead—save only this man whom we have held for you. What would you that we should do with him?" "He must hang on his own yard," said Sir Nigel. "It was my vow and must be done." The pirate leader had stood by the bulwarks, a cord round his arms and two stout archers on either side. At Sir Nigel's words he started violently and his swarthy features blanched to a livid gray. "How, Sir Knight!" he cried in broken English. "To hang! To hang!" "It is my vow," said Sir Nigel shortly. "From what I hear you thought little enough of hanging others." "Peasants, base retourniers," cried the other. "It is their fitting death." Sir Nigel turned upon his heel, while two seamen cast a noose over the pirate's neck. At the touch of the cord he snapped the bonds which bound him, dashed one of the archers to the deck, and seizing the Norman knight who stands behind firmly round the waist he sprang with him into the sea. "By my hilt, he is gone!" cried Aylward, rushing to the side. "They have sunk together like a stone."

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle. A MISERY TO HIMSELF.

Rome, Ga., Aug. 31, 1902. Thacher Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. Gentlemen—"For some time I have suffered from torpid liver. I became so tired and weak that I felt hardly able to walk about and drag one foot after the other. My head bothered me terribly with a dull aching and frequently would result in spells of dizziness. My whole body would get so tired that I was a misery to myself. "I took two bottles of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and now feel like a new man, fresh and O. K. for business. My wife and I think there is no medicine like it." Yours truly, WM. P. HUNT.

SUFFERED FOUR YEARS, CURED IN SIX WEEKS.

New Castle, Ala., April 15, 1901. Thacher Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. Gentlemen—"My family and I have been taking Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup for six weeks according to directions, and declare it to be the best liver medicine in the world. I have been suffering four years with indigestion, dyspepsia and piles, but now I am cured, and I feel better than I have done in ten years. I would not be without it in my house for anything, and hope it will find the way into the homes of all suffering humanity." Yours truly, W. O. NALL.

TRIED ALL—NONE LIKE THACHER'S.

Banning, Ga., Jan. 20, 1902. Thacher Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn. Gentlemen—"I wish to say that four years ago I had yellow jaundice, and have been bothered ever since with an inactive liver. I have tried all sorts of medicines for it, and have never had anything to relieve me as Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup does. Dr. W. F. Friddell recommends it for liver trouble, and I bought the first bottle I ever used from him. Dr. Friddell is our family physician and very popular in and around Whitesburg, Ga. I think Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is the grandest medicine known to me for liver trouble." Yours very truly, J. M. MORROW, Agt. of Central of Ga. R. R.

the eighth and twentieth day of November, that the cog and her two prisoners, after a weary and perilous trip, dropped anchor at last in front of the noble city of Bordeaux. With wonder and admiration, Alleyne gazed at the forest of masts, the swarms of boats and the gray crescent-shaped city which stretched with many a tower and minaret along the western shore. Never had he in his quiet life seen so great a town, nor was there in the whole of England, save London alone, one which might match it in size or in wealth.

"Hola, mon petit!" said Aylward, coming up to where he stood. "Thou art a squire now and like enough to win the golden spurs, while I am still the master-bowman, and master-bowman I shall bid. I dare scarce wag my tongue so freely with you as when we tramped together past Willverley Chase, else I might be forthright now, for indeed I know every house in Bordeaux." "Nay, Aylward," said Alleyne. "You cannot think me so thrall as to throw aside an old friend because I have had some small share of good fortune. I take it unkind that you should have thought such evil of me."

"Nay, mon gar, 'Twas but a flight shot to see if the wind blew steady, though I were a rogue to doubt it." "I trust, Aylward," said Sir Nigel, coming upon deck, "that the men are ready for the land. Go tell them that the boats will be for them within the hour."

The archer raised his hand in salute and hastened forward. In the meantime Sir Oliver had followed his brother knight and the two paced the poop together. "Once more, Sir Oliver," said Sir Nigel, looking shorewards, "do we find ourselves at the gate of honor, the door which hath so often led us to all that is knightly and worthy. There flies the prince's banner, and it would be well that we haste ashore and pay our obeisance to him. The boats already swarm from the bank." The horses both of knights and squires were speedily lowered into a broad lighter and reached the shore almost as soon as their masters. Sir Nigel bent his knee devoutly as he put foot on land, and taking a small black patch from his bosom he bound it tightly over his left eye. "May the blessed George and the memory of my sweet lady love raise high my heart," quoth he. "And as a token I vow that I will not take this patch from my eye until I have seen something of this country of Spain, and done such a small deed as it lies in me to do. And this I swear upon the cross of my sword and upon the glove of my lady."

"In truth, you take me back 20 years, Sir Nigel," quoth Sir Oliver, as they mounted and rode slowly through the water-gate. "After Caisand I deem that the French thought that we were an army of the blind, for there was scarce a man who had not closed an eye for the greater love and honor of his lady. Yet it goes hard

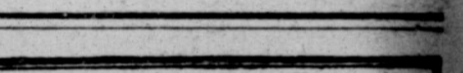

AT THE TOP.

It is a laudable ambition to reach the top of the ladder of success. But many a man who reaches the topmost rung finds his position a torment instead of a triumph. He has sacrificed his health to success. A man can succeed and be strong if he heeds Nature's warnings. When there is indigestion, loss of appetite, ringing in the ears, dizziness, spots before the eyes or palpitation of the heart; any or all of these symptoms point to weakness and loss of nutrition. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. By perfect and abundant nourishment distributed to each vital organ it enables the co-operation of all the organs to preserve their perfect health of the body.

"For about two years I suffered from a very obstinate case of dyspepsia," writes R. E. Brown, Esq., of 13 Eastern Ave., Toronto, Ontario. "I had lost all my appetite, and my stomach felt as if it were a stone. I finally lost faith in them all. I was far gone that I could not bear any solid food in my stomach for a long time; felt melancholy and depressed. Could not sleep nor follow my occupation. Some four months ago a friend recommended your 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After a week's treatment I had derived so much benefit that I continued the medicine. I have taken three bottles and am convinced it has in my case accomplished a permanent cure. I can conscientiously recommend it to the thousands of dyspeptics throughout the land." with you that you should darken one side, when with both eyes you can scarce tell a horse from a mule. In truth, friend, I think that you step over the line of reason in this matter." "Sir Oliver Buttsthorst," said the little knight shortly, "I would have you to understand that, blind as I am, I can yet see the path of honor very clearly, and that that is the road upon which I do not crave another man's guidance."

"By my soul," said Sir Oliver, "you are as tart as verjuice this morning. If you are bent upon a quarrel with me I must leave you to your humor and drop into the 'Tete d'Or' here, for I marked a varlet passed the door who bore a smoking dish, which had methought, a most excellent smell." Gentlemen—"My wife has suffered with liver troubles, loss of appetite, wakefulness and general female disorders for the past season. Three physicians did her very little good, if any. We tried all kinds of medicines in vain, until we got your Liver and Blood Syrup. After using two bottles she began to improve, and is to-day in better health than ever since we were married. In all she has taken five bottles, and her rapid improvement is miraculous. I would not keep house one week without it." S. H. CLARKSTON.

All we can do is give advice. Of course that's easy. But our advice is really worth a little more to you than most people's, for we offer to give you the first bottle of our medicine free, if it fails to help you. All we ask of you is to try Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for your complaint. Visitors Get the Winning Run in the Ninth Inning With Two Men Out.

The grand stand was threatened with an acute attack of heart trouble yesterday afternoon at the beginning of the ninth inning. 'Twas three and—But here's the way it happened: McMurray opened a furrow to first, Reitz got four of a kind, Dunn coquetted unwisely with third, Poindexter got two pairs, and Willis was given a short lesson in counting threes.

Cleveland put up first O'Hara, who did ask leave of Boles to send a two-bagger into the field. Hess was in a little game just long enough to give a little work for Boles and Willis. Rossman, the mighty batter from the Nutmeg state, hit safely and stole second, while O'Hara scored. Bemis' fly to first was a bird which Willis brought down, and Rhoades went out on a play from center to first.

Sullivan sent up Fort Worth stock in the next inning. A safe hit and a trip to second, taken under the eye of the enemy, was extended into a run by a hit by Patterson, and Boles' success in reaching first. McMurray corresponded with Patcher Curtis who forwarded the date to first, ended the inning, Tuller having been retired by a fly to short and Patterson put out on a forced run.

Boles' throw to first was the undoing of Pastor. Tuller found nothing dazing in Schwartz's fly, fess got to first via Trinity navigation, and Boles intercepted a grounder from Bemis.

The third inning furnished the lightning play of the game. O'Hara got to first on an error of Tuller. Hess got a base on balls and Rossman singled. Rhoades in Schwartz's fly, fess got to first via Trinity navigation, and Boles intercepted a grounder from Bemis.

an unwritten book to thousands of people. The entertainment proper, however, faithfully reproduces life on the frontier, showing Indian sports and warfare, the skill of the cowboy with rifle, lasso and pony, the discipline and training of the western girl, the clever work of the bolos throwers of the South American plains, the Arabs in their wonderful riding and shooting, the Japanese as marksmen and horsemen, the Cossacks of the Russian steppes, and the innumerable other features of this unsurpassed entertainment.

The military tournament is something never equaled either in magnitude, picturesque or enthusiastic popularity. Engaged in it are United States cavalry, English, German, French and Mexican soldiers, Indians, cowboys, and many other interesting people, who will be strangers to many thousands who see them here Thursday, April 7.

They will have five bands of music, the most famous of which is the cowboy band. The military band and the female band from Wyoming together make the greatest musical aggregation in existence. The grand street cavalcade will be witnessed at 10 a. m. the day of arrival. Thousands of people will be in every part of the surrounding country, and Fort Worth will have on her gala dress. Tonight—The Pringle Company in "The Sultan's Daughter."

The Della Pringle Company opened an engagement at Greenwall's last night in "The Sultan's Daughter." It is a drama which shows much of the real life of the present, and the devotion of man and woman who love, and has the element of villainy which makes complete the modern drama. Miss Della Pringle has the leading part. She is a tall and stately blond. The men in the company are very good looking and have a fine stage appearance.

One thing about this company is the scenery and wardrobe effect. There appears to be more money invested in dress and scenic effect than is general with popular priced attractions, and this adds much to the pleasure of watching the performance. All members of the company are well attired and Miss Pringle's costumes are very handsome.

There are numerous specialties which are very entertaining. The company carried a fine machine for showing illustrated songs. They have two performing bull dogs which do a turn after the first act, which includes bag punching, leaping, etc.

The attraction is a very good one. Tonight "The Sultan's Daughter" will be the bill, change each performance; Thursday night will be amateur night and the best talent of Fort Worth will hold the stage right after the performance. Friday night $15 in gold given away.

SEVERAL YEARS AGO, BEFORE EZRA KENDALL WAS THE EZRA KENDALL HE IS TODAY, HE PLAYED A VERY SMALL TOWN IN IOWA. HE EXPECTED A VERY IMPORTANT LETTER FROM HOME AT THIS PARTICULAR TOWN AND IMMEDIATELY UPON HIS ARRIVAL HE WENT TO THE POSTOFFICE TO INQUIRE FOR IT. "LETTERS HERE FOR YOU," SAID THE POSTMASTER WHO WAS ALSO JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. "THEY OUGHT TO HAVE BEEN HERE YESTERDAY," SAID MR. KENDALL. "COULDN'T HAVE GOT HERE YESTERDAY, AS OLD BROWN, WHO CARRIES THE MAIL, WAS DRUNK AND DIDN'T GO OVER TO LOSCO AFTER IT." "AND HOW ABOUT TODAY?" "WELL, HE'S SOBER ENOUGH TODAY, BUT HIS OLD WOMAN CUT HER FOOT." "BUT THERE WILL BE MAIL TOMORROW?" QUERIED MR. KENDALL. "SKISSY, SIR, WE DON'T HAVE NO MAIL ON THURSDAY'S." "THEN HOW ABOUT NEXT DAY?" "FRIDAYS IS SORT OF OFF DAYS WITH THE LOSCO POSTMASTER, AND HE GENERALLY GOES FISHING. IF HE DON'T SEND THE BOY OVER, I NEVER COUNT ON IT, HOWEVER." "YOU SEEM TO HAVE A VERY SLIPSHOD WAY OF RUNNING POSTAL AFFAIRS OUT IN THIS COUNTRY," SAID MR. KENDALL, AS HE TURNED AWAY. "WAL, I DUNNO BUT WE HAVE," HE ADMITTED, AS HE LOOKED THE COMEDIAN OVER, "BUT AS LONG AS NOBODY BUT UNCLE BILL SIMPSON EVER GETS ANY MAIL, AND THAT'S ONLY A CIRCULAR ABOUT HOW TO KILL COCKROACHES, I DON'T CARE HOW THEY RUN AND LET THE UNITED STATES RUN ALONG WITHOUT BUSTIN' HER BILLY."

"You seem to have a very slipshod way of running postal affairs out in this country," said Mr. Kendall, as he turned away. "You seem to have a very slipshod way of running postal affairs out in this country," said Mr. Kendall, as he turned away. "Wal, I dunno but we have," he admitted, as he looked the comedian over, "but as long as nobody but Uncle Bill Simpson ever gets any mail, and that's only a circular about how to kill cockroaches, I don't care how they run and let the United States run along without bustin' her billy."

Several years ago, before Ezra Kendall was the Ezra Kendall he is today, he played a very small town in Iowa. He expected a very important letter from home at this particular town and immediately upon his arrival he went to the postoffice to inquire for it. "Letters here for you," said the postmaster who was also justice of the peace. "They ought to have been here yesterday," said Mr. Kendall. "Couldn't have got here yesterday, as old Brown, who carries the mail, was drunk and didn't go over to Losco after it." "And how about today?" "Well, he's sober enough today, but his old woman cut her foot." "But there will be mail tomorrow?" queried Mr. Kendall. "Skissy, sir, we don't have no mail on Thursday's." "Then how about next day?" "Fridays is sort of off days with the Losco postmaster, and he generally goes fishing. If he don't send the boy over, I never count on it, however." "You seem to have a very slipshod way of running postal affairs out in this country," said Mr. Kendall, as he turned away. "Wal, I dunno but we have," he admitted, as he looked the comedian over, "but as long as nobody but Uncle Bill Simpson ever gets any mail, and that's only a circular about how to kill cockroaches, I don't care how they run and let the United States run along without bustin' her billy."

CRUSHED LIFE OUT LAST OF CAMPAIGN

A String of Cars Backs Over Car Repairer John Rush While He Works.

John Rush, an employe of the Frisco, who works in the capacity of a car repairer, was almost instantly killed last evening about 6 o'clock in the yards while on the discharge of his duties. He was making repairs on a box car when a switch engine backed a string of cars over him, breaking his neck and otherwise injuring him.

A danger signal had been set, but it is presumed the switch crew failed to see it in time to prevent the accident.

Justice of the Peace Rowland held an inquest over the remains of the dead man which were turned over to Undertaker Robertson.

Rush was a comparatively young man and came to Fort Worth from St. Louis about two years ago and went to work for the Frisco railroad company. It is said the deceased has relatives in St. Louis. Some time ago Rush took out a $1,500 accident policy in favor of a nephew who also lives in St. Louis.

Relatives of the dead man in St. Louis have been notified of his death and asked what disposition is to be made of the remains.

FRISCO STOCKHOLDERS MEET
There will be a meeting of the stockholders of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad Company held in Sherman, Mo., at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, April 5, at which will be discussed the matter of increasing the capital of the company from $200,000 to $300,000, and also to consider the proposition to purchase the Paris and Great Northern, the Red River and Texas Southern, the Blackwell, Enid and Texas and the Oklahoma and Texas lines in compliance of an act passed by the Texas legislature which permits the merger of the different lines now under control of the Frisco company.

THE DENVER OFFICES
Work is progressing on the deep well being sunk by the Fort Worth and Denver City Railroad Company at Childress. It is now down 600 feet and will be put down to a depth of 3,000 feet when completed. It is necessary to go that deep in order to reach artesian water. Water has already been reached, but it is what is known as "jyp" water and not good for engine purposes.

From parties who arrived here last night from Childress it is learned that the Panhandle generally is pretty dry and that cattle are looking very bad as a result of the drought which has continued many months. However, a very good rain fell over portions of the Panhandle yesterday and the day before.

The following invitation has been issued by the Board of Trade, signed by President Washer, who is ex-officio chairman of all committees, and Jacob Washer, secretary of the committee of bankers, which was appointed to devise a plan of work:

"Dear Sir—A citizens' meeting will be held at the rooms of the Fort Worth Board of Trade tomorrow Tuesday, April 5, at 8 o'clock to receive and consider the report of the committee appointed to devise and report a plan to secure the construction of an auditorium for this city.

An auditorium is of prime necessity to the city, and can be secured by the active operation of the people.

Will you kindly arrange to devote an hour or two to this important matter?"

JACOB WASHER, Chairman.
W. R. EDRINGTON, Secretary.

TWO MODEL HUSBANDS
Two colored women sitting on their front steps were overheard boasting of the many favorable traits and manly virtues of their husbands.

"Gawge sutainly is a good man to me," said Mrs. Jackson with feeling in her voice. "Ah have been married to him for seven years and he has never been drunk, and he has never been in the washin' Ah can do."

"Well, Ah has this to say foah Ezra," declared Mrs. Johnson, with satisfaction. "When Ezra gets drunk he gets drunk like a perfect genelman."—Lippincott's Magazine.

LAST OF CAMPAIGN

Candidates for Alderman in the Seventh Ward Made Speeches at the School House.

There was an exciting time at the socialist meeting last night, held at the Seventh ward school house. Both the socialist, democratic and republican candidates for alderman of that ward made speeches and the main speaker of the crowd of listeners seemed to sway with each speaker.

William Wehr who is a candidate on the socialist ticket was the first to speak, being followed by C. C. Ross, who is a national organizer of the socialist party. Mr. Ross censured both democratic and republican in the severest terms and criticized the past administration of the city government pleading with the voters of the ward to elect a man from their ranks and a man, as he expressed it, who would work for the betterment of the laboring classes.

After a short talk by Mrs. Spurgeon the socialists put up another man, but the cries for Henderson forced him from the platform. He gave way to Mr. Henderson who is a candidate on the democratic ticket for alderman of that ward. Mr. Henderson made a good talk in which he ably defended himself against the criticism which both the socialist and republican candidates had cast upon his past administration as alderman. He answered the sewerage question as brought up by Dr. Brewer and stated that as soon as the city's finances would allow the improvements needed in the Seventh ward would be made.

At this point Mr. Wehr stated that the meeting was adjourned, but the crowd remained to hear Dr. Brewer and also the answer of Mr. Henderson in his reply to some of the charges made by the republican candidate. It was plain to see that the majority of the crowd was for Henderson and the democrats went away satisfied that Mr. Henderson would have no trouble in carrying the ward at the polls today.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
The people of the First Congregational church had a very enjoyable Easter service. In the morning Rev. Mr. Ray preached an excellent sermon from the text, "He is Not Here; He is Risen." The music was furnished by a large choir of boys and girls, who were under the direction of Miss Opal Ray as director and Mrs. Belle Campbell as organist. The music of these young voices was very sweet and was greatly enjoyed by the congregation. Miss Grace Ray sang the solo, "Go Home with Me," and the choir joined in the chorus. A novel feature in the music was a quartet sung by four little boys. At the close of the sermon Mr. Ray administered baptism to six candidates and received fifteen members into church fellowship. In the evening Mr. Ray used the stereopticon, throwing about fifty pictures on the screen in connection with the death and resurrection of Christ. A beautiful trio, "The Watered Garden," was sung by Mrs. Belle Campbell and Misses Opal and Grace Ray.

The members of this church have recently purchased the corner of College and Pennsylvania avenues, previously owned by W. R. Scott of the Denver, as a permanent location for their church, the chapel of which will be built in the near future, as the place they now occupy has become too small for their congregation and Sunday school.

PHIL MAY TOLD THIS WITH GUSTO
The late Phil May of whom Mr. Whistler said: "Black-and-white work is summed up in two words—'Phil May'" was talking once in London about the carrying on of their daily work.

"For a time," he said, "I boarded. I boarded with an honest family in a house with an actor of the name of Gaye. Rates were low enough in our boarding house, but Gaye, nevertheless, fled one night with a month's board. There was a hubbub when his flight was discovered. The landlady, a pretty woman, sent the maid around to the theater to say that if he didn't settle up before nightfall she would come herself to collect his account."

"When the maid returned she was emptyhanded.

"Well," said our landlady, "what did Mr. Gaye say to you, Jane?"

"Misses," Jane answered, "that he wouldn't pay, and if you dared to come to the theater yourself he'd kiss you."

"The impudent wretch!" exclaimed the landlady. "I'll show him! Kiss me, will he? Well, I'll go to him now and let him try to kiss me, if he dares!"

"She took up her hat and coat, but her husband detained her.

"Don't go," he said gently. "Gaye said he'd kiss you, and perhaps he will, for there's no telling what a man will do when he's in a passion."—Boston Post.

MR. STONE'S ADDRESS
The next on the program was W. S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Conductors, who made a typical union speech, which met the approval of the entire audience, because of its character. His address was along different lines from labor speeches. It was patriotic and American throughout.

Mr. Stone, in part, said:

"I stand before you as a firm believer in union labor and the right of the laboring man to organize, but I do not believe in all the things done in the name of the labor union. I recognize the fact that capital has rights as well as labor, and that too often peace between the two is purchased at the expense of the unorganized public, and the more equally capitalized some particular unions are matched the higher the freight bill the public has to pay.

"Any economist will tell you that capital is the accumulation of past labor. This being true, there is no class of men so deserving of a fair remuneration as the men who produce the wealth. Labor unions are for the benefit of the particular class of labor they represent and are against no one. They did not form from these same mistakes and failures, but from the conditions as they found them, and have tried to secure for that particular class better conditions in which to work and to educate their members intellectually and morally and make them more efficient workers.

"I do not claim that organized labor has always been right, and do not try to conceal the fact that mistakes have been made, and that at times labor leaders have erred, but back of all these mistakes the underlying principle has been good and from these same mistakes and failures we have learned to build more wisely.

"There is no question of more importance than this question between these two great powers, neither is there anything in which the public should be more interested, for it concerns the rights of the people of our country 72 per cent of the people work for their daily bread either by brain or muscle, or both. I am not a politician, neither is the organization I have the honor to represent a political organization in any sense of the term, as we belong to no political sect or body, and ignore all questions of sect or nationality. But back of all this is the underlying fact, that it is the duty of every American citizen to do two things; one is to take an interest in the welfare of his country, to have an opinion of his own and not to follow blindly the lead of some political party, but to think for himself; the other is to teach his children that any honest toil is honorable that the smoke and grime of honest toil never yet left any stain on man's soul.

"It is hard for me to tell all that the organization has done for the railroad men, as that is the other side of the coin in this great movement when I became identified with it some twenty years ago, but I do know that organization has bettered the conditions of the laborer, has made him more efficient as an employe, has reduced his hours of service and raised his compensation, but more than all this, it has tended to make him a better man, a better citizen, and when he leaves this scene of action the question of most vital importance is not what we did, but what we made of ourselves, what we gained in the uplift of true manhood, and organization has made us feel what we give an honest day's work for a day's wage, we are the owners of our own souls, and a source of strength to our nation."

"I do not wish to tire you with dry details, but will just say that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was organized forty years ago by twenty engineers in Detroit, Mich. From this small beginning we have steadily grown until today we have 648 subdivisions and 45,000 members, more than 90 per cent of the locomotive engineers in the United States, Mexico and Canada.

MR. SHEPPARD'S SPEECH
Grand Vice President L. E. Sheppard of the Brotherhood of Conductors, said the order he had the pleasure of representing was doing what it could to elevate the business. He said it was the mission of the railway orders to teach prudence, to give the rights of capital; that it was the duty of each railroad man to do what he could to elevate the morals of his fellowmen; that the different orders were now dealing with nearly every railroad system in this country. Strife, he said, was rapidly disappearing and harmony and unity exists among all railroad employes. The speaker laid especial stress upon the fairness of the methods of the railway unions in dealing with the railroad companies.

He said the membership of the order he represented was now 34,000 strong and has paid out in benefits $6,500,000 from its insurance department.

Mr. Sheppard thought it was proper for railroad employes to take a personal interest in political affairs. He said he had little respect for a man who failed to pay his poll tax.

At this juncture the monotony of speech making was broken by a couple of solos rendered by Miss Dessie Craig. She has a beautiful voice and her singing received the undivided attention of the entire audience.

OTHER SPEAKERS
C. W. Wagner of Temple said he was offered as a substitute for the regular speaker in the interest of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. His address was brief, but he mentioned many important features of the order. There are, he said, more than 70,000 members of the order and that nearly $8,000,000 have been paid out to relieve the sufferings of families of deceased members, while there were now in the reserve fund of the order about $300,000.

Mr. Wagner then told of the formation of the order which took place in a caboose of a freight train many years ago in a small town in New York. He said the founders of the order were twelve brakemen, who saw the necessity of such an order, and the last speaker, but not the least interesting and was listened to with rapt attention. He paid exas a high compliment and said it was the grandest

Secretary Hay Takes Action to Keep Newspaper Men Out of Jail

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Secretary Hay instructed by cable Ambassador McCormick at St. Petersburg and the United States ministers at Pekin to take immediate steps to secure the release of the two American newspaper correspondents now held by Russians at Newchwang. Secretary Hay acted upon advice from two sources, Consul General Fowler at Chefoo and the proprietors of the Chicago Daily News. The latter reported that Correspondents Washburn and Little were arrested at the entrance of Newchwang harbor on their dispatch boat Fuhwan, a British craft, that their two Japanese servants were thrown into jail and that the correspondents were only saved from the same fate by the energetic action of Mr. Miller, United States consul there.

MEET AFTER TEN YEARS' PARTING

Two Brothers Find Each Other in Austin After a Long Separation

AUSTIN, Texas, April 4.—There was a meeting of two brothers in Austin yesterday which occasioned much gladness, and was well tinged with the pathos of real life.

Ten years ago P. D. and A. G. Barnhill, sons of Captain Pears Barnhill, a large Warrenton county planter, left the grand old family home near Brenham to begin the struggle of life on their own account.

Both were young physicians, one having graduated at the Medical university of Louisiana, the other at the medical branch of the state university at Galveston.

Dr. P. D. Barnhill settled in his native county near old Washington, where he practiced successfully for several years, when he moved to Brenham and was appointed health physician of Washington county, which position he now fills.

Dr. A. G. Barnhill located in Goliad county and did a good practice for some time, when he moved to Cotulla and was appointed health physician of La Salle county.

When they received the benedictions of mother and father and separated at the old home, their paths leading in different directions, they were mere boys and filled "with radiant hope, ambition, kindling power, and rosy views and thoughts of life, in youth's untroubled hour."

Having exchanged letters, they were not unmindful of each other's whereabouts, though they had not met until yesterday since they parted ten years ago. The bloom and joyancy of youth had given away to mature manhood and when they came together face to face a feeling of surprise crept over them, and a well settled doubt in the mind of each as to the identity of the other.

"Is that you Pears?" the youngest of the brothers asked with hesitating words. "Yes, and you are brother Gamble."

With all doubt removed, they shook hands cordially, locked arms, walked to the capital campus, seated themselves on one of the rustic benches, where they sat for an hour recounting the scenes of their boyhood in the good old county of Washington, and relating their professional experience.

THE FRISCO REGIME
The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says of the Frisco changes:

President Davidson of the Frisco was the recipient yesterday of numerous telegrams congratulating him from the south and west and from all parts of the country upon his promotion. The action of the executives in New York in regard to the selection of Mr. Winchell for the Rock Island and Mr. Davidson for the Frisco has given general satisfaction, and it is felt that both officials will receive hearty support in their administration, and that all employees will co-operate to achieve the best results. President Davidson will leave here this morning for New York for a further conference with the executives, and he will submit to the board his plan of organization for the Frisco, which has already been outlined in the Globe-Democrat. Mr. Mather, who was elected first vice president in place of Mr. Winchell, has the direction of the legal department. A second vice president will be appointed by the president, to be approved by the board, who will have charge of operation, and he in turn will appoint a general manager, to be approved by the president. A third vice president will be appointed by the president, who will have charge of traffic, both freight and passenger. The fourth vice president will have charge of accounts. MUSKOGEE WOULD BE THE CAPITAL

Secret Movement to Secure its Location When State is Admitted.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., April 5.—A movement is said to be on foot among the influential men here to use what means they can to secure the capital for Muskogee, when Indian Territory and Oklahoma are admitted as a state in 1906.

That such a proposition was on foot has been known for some time, but those who are working to this end are very secretive, and are anxious that their plans should not become known.

It is said to be the intention of these men first to sound some of the larger towns in Oklahoma. The jealousy which is known to exist against allowing Guthrie to retain the capital will be the chief strain upon which they will play. It is believed that many of these towns want the capital, and all are more or less jealous of the others, that they will be willing to accord Muskogee the second place. A block or so of ground within the townsite was withheld from sale when the town was laid off for the purpose of donating it to the state for the capital grounds, should Muskogee secure it. This property is on high ground and perhaps is the most desirable portion of the town. It is flanked on one side by a city park, and broad avenues skirt it on the other three sides.

Other towns in the Creek nation have their caps set for the capital, and chief among these is Okmulgee. This town of more than 3,000 population, is the capital of the Creek nation, and is the chief convention town in the Creek nation, and to a considerable extent, would be so for the new state.

The news that congress had decided not to fix the capital of the new state, as contained in the rough draft of the bill meets with general satisfaction here, and it is felt that in this way the selection would be fair.

CONSTRUCTION IS BEING PUSHED
The construction of the Nacozari railroad is being pushed. The rails have already been laid south of Cos, in Sonora, and it is expected that by the middle of the present month trains will be running between Douglas and Nacozari. The work between Nacozari and Cos was constructed at a great expense because rails had to be laid on the naked rock and enormous quantities of dynamite, cement and steel had to be used. The road traverses some of the richest mining sections of Sonora.

To southeastern resorts, going and returning via same route, one and one-third fare for the gateway plus fare tendered by connections; limit October 31. AID FOR THE INJURED
The management of the Pennsylvania road has decided to instruct all the employees of the operating department in rendering first aid to the injured. The plan will be put into effect immediately on lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie, and soon thereafter on lines west, thereby covering the entire system.

The plan is a comprehensive one, and includes equipping all baggage, mail, express, working and wrecking cars, terminals, yards, offices, shops and important stations with stretchers. The so-called first aid boxes will also be provided in all locomotives, terminals, yard offices, layman and tender him fit for intelligent handling of the injured. The Pennsylvania is also having plans perfected for the construction of several hospital cars adapted for emergency cases.

ACQUIRED BY THE FRISCO
The Frisco has acquired control by purchase of the Louisiana and Arkansas railroads. The announcement of the purchase explains the immediate and possibly the ultimate route which the Frisco will take upon running into New Orleans. The Louisiana and Arkansas connects with the Frisco at Hope, Ark., and runs about 150 miles to Wena, La., within 160 miles of New Orleans and within a few miles of the Gulf lines. It is the purpose of the Frisco to either build by way of Harrisonburg, connecting with the New Orleans and Northwestern line, or to connect with the Texas and Pacific from some other point on its Louisiana and Arkansas line.

The Frisco and Iron Mountain attempted to secure control of the Natchez, Red River and Texas, but they would not pay the price asked and it was sold last week to private individuals.

Watch for the monster street pavement Thursday, April 7. There are five bands, hundreds of horses and scores of picturesque cowboys, U. S. cavalry, Indians, Mexicans, English and German soldiers, female rough riders and other interesting characters too numerous to mention.

Among the ancient treasures of Japan, which the Mikado has poured into the military chest, are gold coins issued three centuries ago. They are of large size and of almost pure metal, and worth much more than their intrinsic value of course.

Young women may avoid much sickness and pain, says Miss Alma Pratt, if they will only have faith in the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Judging from the letters she is receiving from so many young girls, Mrs. Pinkham believes that our girls are often pushed altogether too near the limit of their endurance nowadays in our public schools and seminars.

Nothing is allowed to interfere with studies, the girl must be pushed to the front and graduated with honor; often physical collapse follows, and it takes years to recover the lost vitality, often it is never recovered. Miss Pratt says,

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to tell all young women how much Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was completely run-down, unable to attend school, and did not care for any kind of society, but now I feel like a new person, and have gained seven pounds of flesh in three months."

"I recommend it to all young women who suffer from female weakness."—MISS ALMA PRATT, Holly, Mich.—$20000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

SEOLU, April 5.—The Japanese are fortifying Fusan, in Southern Korea, and Kialu Island, off the southern coast, to defend Masampo. The Russians over-estimated the strength of the Japanese force at Anju and consequently retreated without making use of the natural advantages of the country to oppose the Japanese advance. There are persistent rumors here of the landing of Japanese troops on the Liao Tung peninsula and in the vicinity of Newchwang.

THE FLURRY IS OVER

Interest in Politics Wanes With Departure of Hearst's Agents
AUSTIN, Texas, April 5.—With the going of Messrs. Himes and Walsh, the Hearst agents, politics have quieted down at the state capital, and it is more than an effort to raise interest in that subject just now.

The failure of Railroad Commissioner Cullitt to announce for governor at Dallas on last Saturday, as he was expected to do by some people, has had a quieting effect on that particular affair, and as there was no interest in the other races, the Hearstites caused the breeze.
As a result of the visit of Messrs. Himes and Walsh, the forecast is made that the contest in Texas as to the instruction of its delegates in the presidential convention. It is not believed that there will be much of a contest unless Hearst is able to develop more strength than he has yet shown. It is not to be doubted that with certain leaders working in his behalf in Texas, Hearst would command strength—in fact, might things considerably, but it all depends on what he is able to do outside of this state. It is the general opinion of the conservative politicians.

MAKING READY THEIR DEMANDS

Executive Sessions of Railway Legislative Committees Being Held Today.

The meetings today of the four different railway brotherhoods—the engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen—are all secret sessions, and nothing as to what is being done is given to the public. However, it is learned that legislative matters that will affect the best interests of the railroad unions in Texas have been given consideration.
The legislative committees of the four orders met in separate quarters in Labor Temple this morning at 9 o'clock and were in session until after the noon hour when adjournment occurred. The members of the committees were given a short time in which to get their lunches.
At 1 o'clock this afternoon each union went into session at different parts of the city and as The Telegram goes to press are being addressed by the grand officers of the respective unions. Matters that interest each order will come up and be discussed.
Tomorrow morning the four legislative committees will assemble again in Labor Temple for further discussion of the business before them and final action will be taken before final adjournment.
While little can be learned of the action taken today by the legislative committees, the statement is made that what the unions will ask of the coming state legislature will be "plenty." There is every reason to believe that when it does become publicly known there will be a sensation. One man said that some of the demands will be radical, but consistent; whether this comparison can be harmonized, remains to be seen.

AN OFFER OF SCHOLARSHIPS
A number of scholarships carrying with them the privilege of free tuition, except the matriculation fee and special fees for laboratory and similar courses, has been established in the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University.
Applicants must be able to comply with the conditions of admission to the college. They must also have maintained in their preparatory course a good standing in their classes and a good reputation in their schools, academies and other preparatory schools are respectfully invited to nominate candidates for these scholarships from among their own graduates.
The university desires the well considered opinion of the faculty as to the person in the school who, on the whole, is best worthy of such an honor. In coming to a conclusion on this subject, each member of the faculty is requested to keep in mind the fact that mere class standing is not to be decisive in this matter.
The scholarships are not to be regarded as rewards for past excellence in study or conduct, but rather as aids to facilitating better training for future service in the world. Emphasis, therefore, is to be laid upon promise of future usefulness and superior achievements. Special regard will be paid to the possession of those mental and intellectual qualities which seem to indicate likelihood of success in after life. In a word, character—moral, intellectual and physical—is to be considered the determining factor.
The names of all persons so recommended from this list to the university authorities will choose the scholars.
In making such nominations, the faculty of the school should observe the due formalities so that the proper nomination filled out and form may be correctly filled out and signed. Nominations should be signed by the registrar.
The scholarships are assigned for one year only, but may be renewed at the discretion of the university. All nominations should be mailed by May 15, addressed to The Registrar, University Hall, Evanston, Ill.

GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK

Former Secretary of War Calls on President and Discusses State Politics
WASHINGTON, April 5.—Elihu Root, former secretary of war, was in Washington today, ostensibly to consult with his superior regarding the location of army camp sites. It is believed that the capital his visit at this time has more or less to do with the possibility of his nomination for governor by the republican convention in New York, which meets a week from next Tuesday.
Friends of Mr. Root say he is in a receptive frame of mind, not because he personally is desirous of becoming governor of New York, but because it has been represented to him his nomination would cement the New York republicans and make victory in that state something more than a mere possibility. President Roosevelt has a deep interest in the course in the contest in New York state and it is only natural he should be on the lookout for a candidate for governor who will be a source of additional strength to the ticket.
Mr. Root called on the president today. Since his residence in New York the former secretary has been a quiet adviser to the president. He spent some time in the president's private office discussing the New York political situation and his assurances to the president are known to have been satisfactory to the executive. The Odell-Patt armistice is working well, and the president was glad to learn the situation from the former secretary. Mr. Root remained to lunch with the president. He also spent several hours with Mr. Taft, secretary of war, and General Chaffee, discussing the location of army maneuvering camps.

LOOKED SUSPICIOUS
(From the Thomaston (Ga.) Times-Enterprise, Dec. 1.)
A stranger walked into the lobby of the Marmory hotel yesterday afternoon and began to decant on the wonders of psychology. He said he was a specialist in that branch of science, and talked some time about the effect a man's opinions have upon his personal appearance. "An accident," "You," he said to another, "prefer Parker?" He was right again, and "Wonderful!" said the crowd. Turning to a third, he said: "And you are for Hearst?"
"You are a man," was the unexpected response. "I have been sick; that is the reason I look this way."

KILLED WHILE AT PLAY

He was buried today in the Fort Houston cemetery.

FLOOD SITUATION LITTLE IMPROVED

Waters Still High and Danger Threatens the Weakened Levees

VINCENNES, Ind., April 5.—The flood stands still but the situation here is not improved. High winds have been blowing for twenty-four hours and have still further weakened the levees. More men are working on them today than before. A steamer left today for Russellville, Belgrade and other towns with provisions.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

Husband Arrested, Charged With Crime and Taken to Jail
CLARKSVILLE, Texas, April 5.—Last Thursday morning Mrs. John Reeves was missed from her home. From the best information it is stated a search was made through the neighborhood, but no trace of her could be found. In the freshly plowed garden some clay was found which appeared to be from a greater depth than the plow had gone and parties began probing the ground with an iron rod. They found a place where the rod penetrated several inches and begun digging and found the body of the woman wrapped in a quilt. Her tongue protruded from her mouth and finger marks on her throat indicated she had been choked to death. John Reeves, husband of the dead woman, was arrested.
Last night the officers received a message that the people were aroused, and fearing mob violence, they took Reeves to Paris for safe keeping.

BARBARIY PRACTICED ON NATIVES

Horrible Cruelties Suffered by Black People in the Congo Free State Told of by Missionary.
DONE FOR BENEFIT OF KING LEOPOLD
Army of Cannibal Natives, Offered by White Men, Exact Tribute From the People.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 5.—Dr. W. M. Morrison, Southern Presbyterian missionary to the Congo Free State, in speaking of the barbarities practiced upon the natives in the Congo state by those holding power, and the obstacles thrown in the way of correction by the authorities, said:
"I deal with these people for seven years. I know what I am talking about," said Dr. Morrison. "Leopold has there a cannibal army of 20,000 men, officered by white Belgians and armed with repeating rifles. These men, representing the worst and most savage type of natives, were first caught, then carried far away from their homes and forced into this military service. In turn this cannibal soldiery is used to compel natives to bring an enormous tribute of ivory and rubber. It is well known that the king of Belgium today is reputed to be the largest dealer in ivory and rubber in the world."
"As a result of this forced labor and military service, great and unnumberable cruelties are practiced on the native people. I have seen a number of times at least 50,000 natives fleeing into the forests to escape the cannibal soldiers of King Leopold. I have seen these soldiers scouring through the forests and after catching a number of men whom the government wanted as laborers, going with the captives tied together by ropes around their necks. Raids upon villages are being constantly made, some people being killed and others carried away into captivity and sold, and others forced into labor and military service."
"I can buy all the slaves you want at Lebu at from $10 to $15 apiece. When these raids are made the awful cruelties are practiced. Innocent women and children are killed or captured, their hands cut off to be taken back to the white Belgian officers to show that the work had been well done, and great sections are being depopulated."
"One of these raids was made near one of our mission stations. One of our missionaries went to the scene and counted eighty-one hands cut off and drying over the fire to be taken back to the Belgian officers. Forty-five dead bodies were counted lying near by."
"The Belgian government makes the usual stereotyped denial to all of these charges. Consul Roger Casement, who is the English and acting American representative in the Congo State, has just made a tour of investigation and the report is now in the hands of our government at Washington, and it presents the most deplorable situation affairs. As a government we do owe something to 20,000,000 black people in the Congo Free State. What are we going to do?"

Judge Truitt Sustains Decree, Making Legal Marriage to Charles W. Morse
HOUSTON, Texas, April 5.—A telegram received in this city from the New York World states that Justice Truitt yesterday sustained the validity of the original decree of divorce between Mrs. Chas. F. Dodge and her husband revoked the vacation order.
This makes the marriage ceremony legal between Mrs. Dodge and Charles W. Morse, the millionaire, the ice king of New York.
Charles F. Dodge, now in this city and out on $10,000 bond, charged with perjury in this divorce proceedings, was perjury in the report of William G. Davis, the referee, reads:
"The evidence shows very clearly that the defendant, Charles F. Dodge, authorized Mortimer A. Rogers to appear for him as his attorney in this action. The motion to set aside the order validating and setting aside the judgment is granted."
In establishing the validity of the divorce the decision places the sanction of the law on the marriage by which the plaintiff afterward became the wife of Charles W. Morse. But it does not restate her as Mrs. Morse for the reason that after the divorce had been set aside, she and Mr. Morse obtained an interlocutory decree annulling the marriage.

DOES NOT BECOME MRS. MORSE

NEW YORK, April 5.—That Charles F. Dodge knew he was being sued for divorce by his wife, and that he authorized Mortimer A. Rogers to appear in the proceedings on his behalf, is the decision of Judge Truitt of the supreme court, as handed down yesterday. At the same time the motion to set aside the decree which invalidated the divorce was granted. Judge Truitt's decision in the matter of the report of William G. Davis, the referee, reads:
"The evidence shows very clearly that the defendant, Charles F. Dodge, authorized Mortimer A. Rogers to appear for him as his attorney in this action. The motion to set aside the order validating and setting aside the judgment is granted."

LESS CRIME AT HILLSBORO

HILLSBORO, Texas, April 5.—The grand jury just adjourned seventy odd of the county saloon men or employes for cash on delivery sales of whisky in the county and recommended that the legislature so amend the local option law relative to cash on delivery sales as to stop that kind of traffic entirely in local option districts. The grand jury returned twenty-one bills for felonies and 129 for misdemeanors, the seventy above named being included in the 129. The grand jury reports a decrease of crime in the county in both felonies and misdemeanors.

REV. R. H. COTTON TALKS ABOUT THE FUTURE OF BODY

At Trinity church, Hemphill street and Pennsylvania avenue, the rector, Rev. Robert Hammond Cotton, preached last Sunday as previously announced on the "Resurrection of the Body." He took for his text 1 Cor. 15th chapter, 15 to 35th verses.

"But some men will say, how are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come. Thou fool, that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or some other grain. But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased Him, and to every seed His own body."

The rector said that what is commonly called the fallacy of abstraction is the master fallacy of all thinking, ancient and modern, and has led more than any other, to false conclusions and mistakes. He said: "In this fallacy a conception or a notion of the mind is treated as if it were a real thing, possessing actual and objective existence. For instance, we speak of matter, and we speak of mind; sometimes we say that there is no such thing as matter, forgetting that the same reasoning that leads us to this conclusion would lead us to say that there is no such thing as mind. This platform I know, and this desk I know, but what is matter? The thinking person named John Smith or George Jones I know, but what is mind? It is because this forgotten, that we read in works that profess to be very profound such chaotic nonsense as the following taken from a very popular and fashionable book which is received as a sort of authority in certain religious circles in the United States. I quote from Eddy's Science and Health, page 270 of the 1902 edition. One only of the following statements can be true: (1) 'That everything is matter. (2) That everything is mind.' Which is it? 'Matter and mind are antagonistic, and both have not place and power. Few deny that intelligence apart from man, and which neither man nor matter has created, forms and governs the universe, and it is generally admitted that this intelligence is the eternal mind, or divine principle. Let us look into this a minute; the simplest child present can understand what I mean when I say that a matter is not a thing and also that mind is not a thing. I suppose the proper answer to the first question is that everything is both mind and matter, or transcending both abstract language into concrete language that in everything there is one aspect that is related to the world of sense and another to a world of thought. I have not time to dwell further on this point. What nonsense it is that intelligence, apart from man, can make man. You might as well talk about whiteness apart from snow creating snow, and blackness apart from coal creating coal. And I do not know that it improves the matter to prefix the adjectives infinite and eternal, and to say that infinite whiteness creates snow, or that eternal blackness makes coal. This kind of talk is usually called metaphysics, and it is enough here to say that metaphysics and what is called speculative thought does not and cannot deal with actually existing things, but only with thoughts about things. Enough of this for the present. One very good rule for helping ourselves to defy what is meant when abstract language is used and what inferences are to be drawn from statements made in abstract language is always to translate it into concrete language, or language that speaks of actually existing things.

LIFE OR SOUL IS ABSTRACT

"When we do this we see that there is no such thing existing separate and independently as life or soul. What really does exist is a living being, or a living person, or a multitude of living beings or living persons. There is no such actual existence as a spirit, apart from a body and conversely, of course, there is no such thing existing as a body apart from spirit or soul. Let us remember another thing that there can be no such thing as a man without a body. You might as well talk of the novelist's celebrated headless horseman; to talk of spirit or soul or mind, or intelligence, or feeling, or thought is to talk of abstractions. So universally true is this, that the source of all things and first principle of the universe, that we call God, cannot be conceived of by us as abstract spirit, or intelligence.

IMMORTALITY OF THE SOUL

"I have asked you to remember that as there is no such thing as matter, so there is no such thing as mind, as there is no such thing as abstract body, so there is no such thing as abstract spirit. What there really is, is the concrete being or the concrete person, it will be even wrong to say personality, for that would be abstract. The difficulty for thinking men, it seems to me, ought not to be that of believing in the resurrection, or restoration of the body, but in a continued existence or a life beyond all. If a man can believe in any sort of immortal life or existence after death for a man, it must be the immortal life or existence after death of a bodily being. That is to say, a being possessing a physical organization or physical relations, forming an essential and ineradicable part of what metaphysicians call the 'Ego,' the 'I,' or the 'Person.' To say that my body is not to rise from the dead is practically the same as saying that I am not to rise from the dead. To talk of my even possibly becoming a disembodied spirit, is to talk of my becoming a nothing. If I live again, I must live again as a man, that is, as a physically organized person. True, my body must be changed, in fact, it is always being changed. True, I cannot describe the nature of the change that will take place, but if I am a man of God I know that it will be a change for the better. That I shall be glorified, that is to say, that the physical relation in which I now exist, and which form a part of me, are to be transformed into physical relations to a glorified universe, that is to say, to a physical environment that is being changed for the better as I myself have been. As to what really takes place nothing more can be said to help us understand the mystery than that which is said in the text. We put into the ground the seed, or what the apostle calls the bare grain. That seed in the ground comes completely disintegrated. Not a single particle of it remains in it, but the life of the plant is continuous. The corn springs up and God gives to every seed his own body, the seed of wheat brings forth wheat, does not bring forth barley. The body is the same, and in the growing plant we have what answers to the glorified condition of the buried man who has risen from the dead."

afternoon was a decided success. At this service of the children the class banners were used. On one side of these banners was the name of the class, while on the reverse side was an inscription or verse which had a direct connection with the name of the class.

A beautiful wreath ladder was placed upon the rostrum and as each child, the leader of some class responded to the class name, the name was placed in the rungs of the ladder. Each child also responded to the name of the class represented with a verse of scripture, following which the ladder was beautifully and artistically decorated and arranged with flowers.

Following the service the prizes offered by the teachers were presented to the children by their teachers. The rector, the Rev. B. B. Ramage, said that he hoped to make the special service next Easter even more of a success and that the little ones would be systematically drilled in preparation of the service.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH

At St. Paul's Methodist church the Easter morning service was conducted by Dr. MacAdam, president of the Fort Worth university. Communion service having been held last Thursday night, the regular order of worship was followed in the morning, special music and anthems having been prepared for the service by Prof. Pease. Dr. MacAdam's topic for the morning sermon was "Now come the First Fruits of Them That Sleep." A special children's service took the place of the evening service at the church, the program for which was as follows: Chorus, "Jesus Lives"; recitation, Mary Booth; solo, Margaret Haney; chorus, "Hosanna"; recitation, Margaret Jackson; recitation, Margaret Booth; solo, Hiram Walker; recitation, Miss Kuhn; solo, Ada MacAdam; recitation, Irene Walker; recitation, Ruby Hammond; graduating class exercises; address, Dr. MacAdam; male chorus, by members of St. Paul's Epworth League.

MEETING OF THE MEMBERS OF THE LIBRARY TO BE

Board of Directors of the Carnegie Institution Will Be Selected at An Election Tonight.

On account of the rain, the meeting of the committee on installation of loans which was to have been held at the library at 10 o'clock this morning was postponed until tomorrow at the same time.

The committee is as follows: Messdames F. B. Barnett, M. M. Barnes, Lillie P. Jones, Ida Turner, W. P. Humble, Ben O. Smith and F. L. Jaccard, and Misses Christine McLean, Ethel Chamberlain and Mattie Melton.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES

This afternoon at 4 o'clock there will be a meeting of the trustees of the Carnegie library in the library building.

At 8 o'clock tonight there will be a meeting of the members to elect trustees and to receive the reports of the librarian, secretary and treasurer.

This is the annual meeting and all members are urged to be present.

as well as the largest state in the union; that there was enough land in this state to give every living mortal fifty square feet of ground. He said time was when the center of population was east of the Mississippi river, but now it is St. Louis.

The speaker then told why the order he represented was organized; that the principal object was to secure better wages. He opposed child labor and hoped that every state would pass a law that no child should be employed in factory, shop and mine, who was not fifteen years of age. He believed in the eight-hour law. Said every laboring man should work eight hours, study eight hours and have eight hours of rest and recreation. The brotherhood, he said, teaches economy. Every laboring man, he added, should save his earnings, and opposed government by injunction; that it was might against right and was injustice to all honest labor. He advocated honesty among railroad employes, and said wealth never bought character. The speaker then complimented the work being done by the ladies' auxiliaries. He said there were 653 lodges of locomotive firemen with half a million reserve fund. He concluded his remarks that all the firemen want is honest pay for an honest day's work.

The people of Fort Worth, Rev. Myers and the local committee having charge of the entertainment of the visiting railroad men, were thanked for the interest taken in making the stay in Fort Worth of the delegates and visitors as pleasant and profitable as possible.

ELECTION DAY OPENS GLOOMY

Weather Militates Against the Success of the Democratic Ticket.

Election day opened gloomy and peculiar. At first it appeared that it would be dry and cloudy, and early risers looked about them wondering just what the state of weather would be. The overhanging clouds spread here a curtain of night. About 8:30 o'clock it began raining and for nearly two hours there was a steady down-pour. This did not mean good for the democratic ticket, as it would prevent the heavy vote which was needed from being brought out. There was an absence of carriages with banners flying, which are usual in elections to convey voters to the polls, as the new law prevents any such influence being followed.

The voting in all wards was slow. There was no excitement about any of the polls, as the distance markers kept the loitering crowds back so far they could not find out what was going on, and they did not stay long. One feature which was new was the appearance of the presiding judge at the polling place each hour. Holding his hand aloft he would cry:

"Oh yes, oh yes, thirty-four votes have been cast."

The number called would change with each appearance of the presiding judge.

There was some confusion in the Sixth ward because of the location of the polling place. It was announced to be far out on the South Side, but it developed later that it was located nearer town at the corner of Broadway and Jennings avenue. Many could not find the place, and those who have not voted in that ward before this announcement is made are advised to go at once to the polls and cast the vote.

JUDGE ASKS FOR A WRIT

Habeas Corpus Proceedings in Behalf of Himself and Marie Carru.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—Judge J. W. Robertson of Washington applied to United States Circuit Judge Morrow today to hear the argument on his application to the United States circuit court of appeals for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of himself and Marie Carru. Judge Morrow continued the case to May 9. Judge Hanford of Seattle found Robertson and Miss Carru guilty of contempt for violating his order prohibiting them from setting up any claim under nuncupative will of John Sullivan, deceased, in any court except an appellate court of the United States. Sullivan left a will bequeathing the bulk of his estate, valued at $500,000, to Miss Carru, who had been his teacher in the French language. Relatives of Sullivan are contesting the will.

HORSE RUNS AND LADY AND BOY ARE INJURED

Mrs. Mary Hudlow, Who is Employed by G. Y. Smith, is Thrown From a Buggy This Morning.

Mrs. Mary Hudlow, an employe of the G. Y. Smith establishment, was severely injured this morning in a run-away accident which occurred on Summit avenue at 7:50 o'clock.

Mrs. Hudlow was driving to the city from her residence, which is just back of Hill street on the Stove Foundry road. She was accompanied by her little boy, aged 6 years. Because of insecure fastening, the shafts slipped loose from the buggy and caused the horse to run. Mrs. Hudlow lifted her child out of the buggy and about twenty feet further she was thrown out, striking on her head. She was badly bruised and rendered unconscious by the fall. The condition of the lady and the boy at noon was serious.

MRS. SAUNDERS RETURNS FROM WORLD'S FAIR

Fort Worth Member of the Board of Lady Managers of the Texas Exhibit Makes a Trip to St. Louis.

The Texas members of the board of lady members for the St. Louis exposition made a flying trip to the exposition city last week. Fort Worth being represented by Mrs. Bacon Saunders.

The object of the trip was to inspect the Texas building and to consult with the supervisors as to the finishing decorations. The building itself has been given the choicest situation of any state building and though the buildings of Missouri, New York and Pennsylvania are much larger, the architectural design of the Lone Star building is so well adapted to the idea and location that the effect is emphatically beautiful.

Below the stairs of the building is statuary hall, wherein will be placed plaster casts of marbles by Texas artists. Several from the chisel of Miss Elizabeth Ney will be there, including the recumbent statue of Albert Sidney Johnston recently completed. The original will be in the fine arts building.

The auditorium will have a seating capacity of 600, with open chairs of approved pattern. A grand piano will also be furnished.

The dome of the Texas building can be seen for miles and in approaching and entering it Texas is never lost sight of. The windows of the dome has the word Texas spelled in the stained glass and the same letters appear in gold and yellow glass of the rotunda. The building is surmounted by a female figure holding aloft a five pointed star which will be brilliantly illuminated at night.

The entire arrangement of the Texas building is artistic and a credit to the state. The efforts of Texas women to see that it is paid for will receive added impetus after it has been viewed by a visitor to the fair will take a pride in it, especially if that visitor has contributed in even so small a measure to its erection.

SPORTING NOTES

GAME AT DALLAS

DALLAS, Texas, April 5.—In a rather dull and uninteresting exhibition of baseball the Cleveland Vets defeated the home team yesterday by a score of 9 to 6.

Donohue, who pitched the first five innings for Cleveland, was easy meat for Dallas, but when Bernhart went in to back for the visitors the local team failed to find the ball. Railing for the home team was weakened by the poor support he received.

The day was raw and unpleasant and neither team showed up to advantage. For Dallas the hitting of Russell was the only feature.

Score by innings:

Dallas 1 0 5 0 0 0 0 0—6
Cleveland 2 0 1 1 0 6 3 1—9

Summary—Stolen bases: Austin, Bradley 2. Two-base hits: Southey, Pitts, Ray, Lajoie, Turner. Three-base hits: Russell, Lush. Double plays: Donohue to Hickman to Lajoie. The object of his visit is to negotiate with the Mexican government for a tract of land on which to establish an Indian colony. Many Indians of the territory are making this move, especially Creeks, Seminoles and some of the tribes in Oklahoma. While there are many full bloods of the Night Hawk variety who contemplate this migration, the colony Mr. Dick represents is composed exclusively of mixed blood Cherokees.
