MILLIONAIRE SHERIFF AND 7 OTHERS INDICTED

State Witnesses Unfold Story Of Alleged Liquor Bribery In Trial Of Deputies

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Folks who struggle with high taxes, high rents, high living costs, the hazards of business and the uncertainty of employment in the cities often wonder why so many people are leaving the farms to move to town, but their wonderment seems to have little effect upon the rural population who are still turned townward.

But there has been some slight falling off during the past year in the number who are trekking cityward, according to estimates of the bureau of agricultural economics, United States department of agriculture.

The bureau's figures indicate that 1,876,000 persons moved from farms to cities last year as compared with 1,923,000 in 1928, 1,978,000 in 1927, and a peak of 2,185,000 in 1926. The city to farm movement was also smaller, being placed at 1,257,000 last year as compared with 1,347,000 in 1928 and 1,374,000 in 1927.

Births on farms last year are estimated at 631,000 and deaths at 281,000. Taking these figures into account along with the present movement to and from farms, the bureau places the total farm population on Jan. 1, 1930, at 27,222,000 compared with 27,491,000 on Jan. 1, 1929, or a decrease of 269,000. In the Southwest 331,000 moved from the farms and 204,000 moved to the farms. Births on farms were 23 to the 1,000 and deaths 10 to the 1,000.

Periods of industrial depression have usually seen an increase in the movement from the cities back to the farm. Agriculture has heretofore been able to absorb all who desired to move to the farms. But since any movement of this kind has taken place there has been a great development in the use of machinery on the farms and there is less demand for farm labor than before. It appears that it might be harder to get back on the farm than formerly. This, of course, is a matter of speculation.

Talker has had something to say about color—color in our clothing, the paint on our houses, our automobiles and even in our sidewalks and streets. He believes in more color. And now he reads of a color machine that will influence your emotions. It is called the colorama and has been invented by an engineer of the General Electric company. It is a machine of wires and levers. The inventor claims that by means of a colorama a tired business man by just pressing a button can be infused with pep. If you have a fierce temper press another button and you become meek as a lamb, according to this inventor. The machine is to be given a test soon to prove its worth. It sounds like it ought to be useful to columnists.

For instance, when a columnist sits at his mill and his vacant stare reflects the vacancy of his mind, what would be more simple than to press the proper button of the colorama, be filled with pep and a flow of ideas. Or when the situation called for humorous observation to press the funny button and become a Mark Twain or a Will Rogers. And, if the desired comment called for indignation, to push the mad button and start a flow of biting words. Just think of all the possibilities in such a machine.

Talker's feelings are hurt again. After a thorough canvass of his acquaintances he finds that he is the only man in town whose name has not been suggested as a mayoralty candidate.

Somebody has suggested a mass meeting of Democrats. Talker would like to know the rules of warfare before offering any suggestions.

The Literary Digest is sending out 20,000,000 ballots in a nation-wide poll upon the subject of prohibition. Three questions are asked in the ballot as follows:

Do you favor the continuance and strict enforcement of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law?

Do you favor a modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beer?

Do you favor a repeal of the prohibition amendment?

A poll on somewhat similar questions was taken by a number of newspapers over the country several years ago. The poll resulted in an overwhelming vote for the repeal of the prohibition amendment. Locally the vote favored prohibition but the majority was small.

In many places prohibitionists were urged not to participate in the poll, it being claimed that such a poll was a move against prohibition. No such claim has yet been advanced against the Literary Digest poll. Talker believes that the Literary Digest poll will fairly reflect the sentiment of the people on prohibition. He believes that prohibitionists will be doing their cause an injury if they refuse to participate. An announcement from the Literary Digest says that it is expected to publish the first returns about the middle of March. Wichita Falls' allotment of ballots have already been dispatched, it is announced.

OFFICERS TO DENY CHARGE IN TESTIMONY

24 Gallons of Whisky Bought in Holliday, Crow Tells Jury

CONSPIRACY CLAIMED

State Witnesses Grilled by Defense as Bribery Trial Opens

Evidence purporting to corroborate J. J. Crow's story of giving the officers $95 to escape prosecution on whisky charges was offered by the state in the testimony of five witnesses called Thursday afternoon in the trial of C. P. (Blackie) Wilson and Dan Ellis, deputy constables, charged with accepting a bribe.

Sam B. Spence, district attorney said Thursday evening that he would call at least half a dozen witnesses Friday morning before the case for the state would be closed. Both the defendants will take the stand in their own behalf Friday afternoon to enter full denials of the charges, R. E. Taylor, defense counsel, announced.

Crow Testifies

J. J. Crow, who claims to have "paid off" when the officers learned of a 24-gallon load of liquor, spent almost four hours on the stand under direct and cross-examination Thursday. In his cross-examining attack upon the witness, Mr. Taylor indicated that the defense will attempt to show a conspiracy between Crow and A. H. Beasley, described as Crow's "partner" to ruin the two officers. His questions also pointed to a defense plea that the officers visited the garage where the liquor was stored and Crow was first encountered on unofficial business in connection with repairs on Ellis' car.

In his direct testimony, Crow said he bought the 24 gallons of liquor in Holliday, expecting to take it on to Lubbock after a stop in Wichita Falls where he stored his car, with the whisky locked in the turtle back, in the March storage garage.

It was the following day, Feb. 20, he continued when he was accosted in the garage by Wilson and Ellis, asserting that Wilson had pulled a gun and told him to "stick 'em up." A conference followed, the witness asserted, and after a while the three left together to have lunch at the Senate cafe. In the cafe a man strange to him had entered, Crow declared, and the officers had described him as a "good bootlegger who does business with us."

Conferred With Others

Later the trio returned to the garage, where they separated for a while, Crow and Wilson going together to the Marchman hotel to see a waitress there who was described as a friend of Crow. When the three met again at the garage, Wilson drove Crow's car, while the

Brandon-Gillespie Jury Deadlocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (US)—Mrs. Frances F. Brandon's $574,165 breach of promise suit against George J. Gillespie, president of the board of water supply, ended in a jury disagreement today.

After the jurors had failed to agree in two hours and a half, Supreme Court Justice Valente ordered their discharge, warning them not to discuss the case. In his charge the judge had been brief and to the point.

There was, he said, one issue in the case. That was whether Gillespie proposed marriage to Mrs. Brandon on Nov. 15, 1924.

Last Hope For Snook Abandoned

Governor Refuses Mercy To Slayer of Ohio Girl Student

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Feb. 27. (AP)—The last hope of Dr. James Howard Snook, former Ohio university professor, to escape death Friday in the electric chair for the murder last June 13, of Miss Theora Hix, a student, was lost late today when Governor Cooper denied both an application for stay of execution and for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

The execution will take place between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Friday night.

Dr. Melvin Hix of Bradenton, Fla., father of the slain girl went up to the governor as soon as his decision was announced, shook hands with him and said: "I thank you from the bottom of my heart."

More than 500 requests for admittance to the scene of the execution were received by Warden P. E. Thomas of the state penitentiary, but only 65 persons could be accommodated. Several requests were from women.

MOSER URGES CUT IN COTTON

Business Leader Stresses Need of Reduction

Farmers of the South were challenged with the absolute necessity of curtailing cotton acreage in 1930 as the only means of preventing a recurrence of that industry's collapse in 1926, and of forming themselves permanently into cooperative marketing associations as the only guarantee against profitless price scales in an address delivered by C. O. Moser of Dallas before approximately 300 men at the courthouse Thursday night.

Mr. Moser, vice president and secretary of the American Cotton Cooperative association, was brought to the city of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce as the government's virtual appointee to stabilize the cotton industry in this country.

Cooperation Stressed

Speaking of and for the federal farm board created by congress to handle the $500,000,000 appropriated for agricultural aid, Mr. Moser declared:

"What the farm board will be able to do for us this year, and in the future, will depend directly upon the degree to which we cooperate in the program which they are formulating for our benefit."

"One of the chief and first things we must do," continued the speaker, "is to impress upon our cotton farmers, and cotton-growing land owners, as well as the citizenry of the South generally, the real seriousness of this situation. It is a matter whose consequences do not stop with depriving the farmer in your community of the good things of life which he desires for his family. It goes to the bottom, and

TOM CONNALLY COMES OUT FOR DUTY ON OIL

Texas Senator Takes Stand Import Levy Will Cut Into Monopoly

CITES NEW MERGER

Protection Necessary for Saving Independents, Solon Says

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Senator Tom Connally of Texas, as had been predicted, finally has decided to line up with other senators now favoring the proposed tariff on oil.

He holds this is a step necessary to save the independent operators of the country and that if they are crushed the oil consumers will suffer at the hands of the trust. Moreover, the fact that Texas is a great oil producing state was one of the factors influencing his decision.

Connally's Statement

The statement issued by Senator Connally late today was as follows:

"After thorough and careful examination of all the information available to me, I have concluded to support the tariff on crude oil. The apparent effort of the great oil companies to crush the independent oil producers by radically reducing the price of crude oil without reducing the price for gasoline to consumers threatens destruction of independent oil producers without lessening the burden on the public.

"A familiar method of monopoly is to crush competition by ruinous prices and then take advantage of the situation so created to seize and dominate the market for the ex-

TO QUIZ FRANKLIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Wirt Franklin, president of the Independent Petroleum Producers association, tonight was subpoenaed by the senate lobby investigation committee to appear before it tomorrow for examination in connection with the contest for an oil tariff. The proposal for the oil levy comes up in the senate tomorrow.

Amid charges of "log-rolling" and "trading" of votes on lumber, oil and sugar, the senate defeated a proposed tariff on lumber. Charges of a "deal" on the three commodities was denied by Senator Dill of Washington.

'Poker Alice,' Old West Figure, Dies

RAPID CITY, S. D., Feb. 27. (AP)—"Poker Alice" Tubbs, 77, one of the last characters of the old West, died here today. Her reputation was made as a faro dealer in the wide open mining towns of the last century. Associated with all the romantic happenings of the gold rush days in the Blackhills, "Poker Alice's" activities were similar to those of "Wild Bill" Hikok, "Calamity Jane" and "Deadwood Dick."

Eight Hours Time Enough To Get Drunk, He Holds

LONDON, Feb. 27. (US)—"If a man can't get drunk in eight hours, all I have to say is that he isn't trying."

That was the answer of A. Briceson, a member of the royal commission on licensing, to the plea of Harry Weber Brown, chairman of the Licensed Victualler's Central Protection society, that longer hours be permitted for the sale of beer, ales and liquors.

The royal commission has been sitting for several weeks to investigate alleged infringements of liquor laws tending toward the American bugaboo of bootlegging.

Screen Star Pays Fine For Liquor Violation

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27. (UP)—Lionel Belmore, English character actor known on the screen for 15 years, unexpectedly changed his not guilty plea to guilty today and was sentenced to serve 20 days in jail or pay a $100 fine for violation of the liquor laws. He paid the fine.

B. G. Hayworth, of the district attorney's dry squad, told of finding a gallon of rum and 10 empty gin bottles in the house.

S. M. U. Boasts Stock Of Rare Old Liquors

DALLAS, Feb. 27. (UP)—Southern Methodist university, a denominational school here, possesses a complete stock of rare old liquors and wines bequeathed to it by a man who died a number of years ago.

The stock is kept in the vault of a downtown bank. No plans for its disposal have been made.

Dies Here

D. L. Hill, secretary and treasurer of the Northern Texas Utilities company and a Wichita Falls business man since 1927, died in a local hospital early Thursday.

RITES TODAY FOR D. L. HILL

Gas Company Executive Dies Here at Age of 39

The body of D. L. Hill, 39, 2023 Berkeley drive, secretary and treasurer of the Northern Texas Utilities company, who died in a local hospital about 5 a. m. Thursday, will be taken to Mineral Wells Friday morning by the Hines mortuary. Funeral services will be held in that city at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon from the First Baptist church there with Dr. Harlan J. Matthews, pastor, officiating. Interment will be in the Mineral Wells cemetery.

Utility Official

Mr. Hill was a member of the First Baptist church of this city and was a member of the Rotary club here. He was a member of the Masonic lodge and of the W. O. W. at Mineral Wells. He came to this city in 1927 from Mineral Wells. In addition to his connections with the utilities company, Mr. Hill was also secretary and treasurer of the Brazos River Gas company and the Upham Gas company.

Mr. Hill's death came following an extended illness. He was taken to the hospital 16 days ago when his condition became serious, but efforts to strengthen him were futile and his condition slowly became more critical until his death.

Survivors include the widow, two daughters, Mary Frances and Marjorie Ann Hill; one son, James Allen Hill; one brother, James T. Hill of Hollywood, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. R. L. Pate of Fourke, Ark.; and three half-sisters, Misses Arabelle, Wilma and Della May Hill, all of Delhi, Okla.

Besides the immediate relatives, the following were also at the bedside at the time of death: Horace Hamilton, a brother of Mrs. Hill; Mrs. John S. Rust and her children and an uncle, W. R. Hill of Erick.

CURD, CORLETT AND AMMANN SEEK OFFICES

Utilities, Franchises and Chains Mentioned by New Candidates

EDDLEMAN ENTERS

Rumors of Anti-Manager Ticket Denied in Statements

City gas rates, utility franchises and chain store operations were made issues in the city election of April 1 by the entry of three new candidates into the lists late Thursday afternoon. P. B. Curd, former commissioner, announced his candidacy for mayor, and J. O. Ammann and W. B. Corlett announced for places four and five respectively on the board of aldermen.

Six Seek Posts

The entry of the three candidates Thursday afternoon makes a total of six for the three vacancies to be filled in the April election. Walter Nelson Jr., had previously announced for mayor and J. N. Prothro for place five on the board of aldermen. E. H. Eddleman Thursday morning announced for place four on the board when it became known that J. W. Hunt had withdrawn his candidacy.

While the three new candidates Thursday night denied that they are entered in the election as a "ticket," their platforms as given to The Record News reflected a harmony on the three principal issues of lower gas rates, utility franchises and chain store operations. All three made emphatic denials that they are seeking office on an "anti-city manager" ticket, although they said they would be willing to submit the question to a vote of the city if it was desired by a sufficiently large number of residents.

Mr. Eddleman, whose announcement for alderman was made public Thursday morning, has been actively engaged in the oil business here for several years. He is at present manager of the oil and refining divisions of the American Refining properties.

Mr. Curd, who announced his

Blast of Torpedo Rocks Street Car

A detonation caused when a street car ran over some sort of explosive placed on the tracks at Ninth and Polk streets about 11 o'clock Thursday night aroused persons sleeping in the vicinity and shook windows for several blocks around, according to the report of persons near the spot at the time of the explosion.

Rocks and dirt were thrown into the air by the force of the blast, which rocked the car and caused a hasty exit of both motorman and passengers. Nothing could be found near the tracks to indicate the type of explosive placed there, it was said. The car was not derailed or damaged by the blast.

Police were notified and an investigation was started.

Efforts to Lease Muscle Shoals Bared

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (US)—The American Cyanamid company has expended $168,706 since 1926 in its efforts to lease the government's power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, the senate lobby committee revealed today.

The figures were submitted by W. B. Bell, president of the company, who testified that $10,600 went C. W. Ashcraft since August, 1928.

Tardieu Needs Time To Form Government

PARIS, Feb. 27. (UP)—It is likely to be eight days more before the French delegation can resume full participation in the London naval conference, Andre Tardieu, striving to form a new cabinet, said today he did not expect to do so before Saturday. He will post the names in the official journal Sunday or Monday.

CARLSBAD, N. M., Feb. 27.—We entered the cavern today, descending some 750 feet from the entrance to our radio station, installed in the auditorium room. Both the short-wave receiver and transmitter are working. We communicated with The New York Times and so far as is known it is the first time such an experiment has been successfully conducted.

From such a depth underground a final check of the supplies was made, and we started following the down trail, leading by icebergs and frozen waterfalls, and crossed over Devil's Den and into the Queen's Chamber. The ceiling is some 250 feet from the floor, and suspended from the wall is a huge stalactite 70 feet long, in the form of an elephant's head and ears.

Scaling the wall, we reached a hole above the formation. We were

TAFT HAS BUT FEW DAYS LEFT

Former President's Doctors Abandon Hope

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Death drew closer to William Howard Taft tonight. The capital wherein his accomplishments as president and chief justice had won him the world's respect sadly awaited the inevitable.

Time and again the physicians who have attended him since his collapse were by his bedside. Relapses had been followed by partial rallies. But Dr. Francis R. Hagner said, "There is no hope for his recovery; any improvement will only be temporary."

At 7 o'clock the physician gave this bulletin:

"The condition of the former chief justice has changed but little since this morning. He has taken a small amount of nourishment. His temperature is 99.2, pulse 74, respiration 34 but irregular in character."

At the best, the former president has been given but a short time to live. His breathing constantly is more difficult. His blood circulation is at low ebb. His heart may give way at any time and he can take very little nourishment.

Mrs. Taft and their daughter, Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, are near

Wheat From Panhandle Brings $1.21 at Gulf

AMARILLO, Texas, Feb. 27. (UP)—Wheat from Panhandle farmers is being purchased for $1.01 a bushel on the basis of $1.21 at Galveston by the Texas Wheat Growers' association, Rex Cooke, manager, announced today.

"We bought wheat from outside the pool for three or four days but are not buying now," Cooke said. "We are paying $1.01 on the jack. The largest mill here is reported buying at 90 cents."

Two Brothers Held In Beaumont Slaying

BEAUMONT, Texas, Feb. 27. (UP)—Two brothers, Kirby and Rance Russell, were held in the Sabine county jail at Hemphill tonight, charged with killing Pole Halbert, 40, in a gun battle today that was the result of a long feud between the two farmer families.

Halbert was slain on the courthouse square, less than 10 feet from where his son is alleged to have shot Roy Russell, four months ago. A bystander was wounded.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (UP)—Back pay for Chicago's 40,000 employes, many of whom have lived principally on promises since the city government was declared bankrupt last Christmas, will be distributed tomorrow or Saturday, it was indicated tonight.

FEDERAL JURY ENDS HIDALGO FRAUD PROBE

Officials Accused of Conspiracy Depriving Rights From Citizens

BALLOTS MISSING

Indictment Specifies Destruction of 1,000 Votes At Weslaco

HOUSTON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Sheriff A. Y. Baker of Hidalgo county wealthy lower Rio Grande valley Democratic political leader of years standing, and seven other men were indicted tonight by a federal grand jury here for conspiracy to injure persons in the exercise of civil rights.

For four days the grand jury had investigated the charges of Republican independents that the Weslaco Hidalgo county box was thrown out in the last general election to perpetuate the administration of Baker.

Clerk Indicted

Baker's close friend, Cam E. Hill, county clerk, of Edinburg was one of those named in the indictments. The others were A. W. Cameron of Edinburg, county judge; William D. Chaddick of Mercedes, county commissioner; Marvin Evans of Pharr, Former county commissioner; Sam M. Hargrove of Mercedes, county commissioner; Tom J. Buckow of Weslaco, election judge, and Edwin B. Williams, Harlingen newspaper man election clerk.

Baker, a portly man who rode as a Texas ranger for many years, known as the "millionaire sheriff" declined to make a statement at present.

Williams Confident

"Just a bunch of politics," Williams declared. "We've beat 'em before and we'll beat 'em again. We are anxious to go to trial."

Special U. S. Assistant Attorney General Sam Horowitz made this comment:

"This is just the beginning."

Baker did not come to the federal building but stayed in his hotel room. Williams was one of those there.

The statute the eight are charged with violating is title 18, section 51 of the U. S. civil code.

$1,000 Bonds Set

They will make bond, which was set at $1,000 each, tomorrow. Under the rules their trials probably would be held in Brownsville.

A grand jury at Brownsville had investigated the "Independents" charges, but returned no indictments.

The election itself was guarded by Texas rangers, one of whom, Captain W. W. Sterling, testified in the present hearing. Before the election got under way a number of telegrams, purported to have been around 2,000, were sent to the then President Calvin Coolidge petitioning a "fair one."

Protest Made

Shortly after the count, the anti-Baker faction, which had formed the "Good Government" league, protested, claiming that the officials had no legal reason for discarding the Weslaco box. These latter insisted that they had no other choice, claiming the returns were not sealed in obedience to the law.

Gordon Griffin, Independent candidate who failed, under the count, to defeat J. E. Leslie for re-election to the district judgeship, went to the courts with a contest. The Travis county district court at Austin gave him the judgment and the third civil appeals court affirmed. The case now is before the state supreme court.

Baker, though not a publicly avowed candidate, had been mentioned frequently as a possible gubernatorial contender.

Oklahoman Near Death Here After Being Hit by Car on Highway

F. W. Bowers, about 40, of Carnegie, Okla., was probably fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile driven by J. H. Brumley of Burkburnett about four miles from Wichita Falls on the Burkburnett highway shortly after 8 o'clock Thursday night.

The injured man was rushed to the Wichita General hospital in an ambulance from the Alberts Funeral home. An examination revealed his head was badly crushed in two places, with severe fractures on the top portion of the skull, physicians said. An emergency operation was immediately performed in an effort to save his life, but physicians stated they held little hope for his recovery. Bowers had not regained consciousness at a late hour Thursday night.

Mr. Brumley, driver of the car which struck Mr. Bowers, immediately stopped and rendered aid to the injured man. Motorcycle Officers Homer Bentley and Earl Brooks, who were called to investi-

Jury Finds Against Claimant In Suit Involving 600-Acre 'Strip'

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Title to approximately 600 acres of land in Pecos county, some of it producing oil, was involved in a verdict on special issues returned by a jury in the case of the State vs. the California Oil company and 32 other defendants today.

Attorneys on both sides were drawing judgments to be submitted to Judge George Calhoun for entry and it was likely the probably disposition of the litigation would be the center of contention before the final order is entered.

The jury found that judgment should enter definitely against John H. Tyler, one of the claimants to the land in dispute.

Value of the land involved was estimated at from $1,000 up to as high as $50,000,000.

The area in litigation was said to be excess survey lands belonging to the school funds.

The case was on trial for more than 12 weeks.

LIQUOR BRIBE STORY RETOLD

Witnesses Unfold State's Case Thursday

other two followed in a machine belonging to Ellis, Crow said. They went to the courthouse. It was there the question of the bribery developed, the witness declared, the officers demanding $200 and leaving him free for a while to try to raise the money. When he returned, he said, the whisky had been taken from his car. They drove then in the two machines to a place on Front street where he gave the officers $85 and promised to produce the remainder of the $200 on the following day, the witness concluded.

On cross-examination he said that he had conferred with Beasley and with a man named Ables during the time he was free to raise the money. He said he wanted some way to "come back at them," adding that he had listed the numbers of the bills and had marked them for identification. He had previously testified that the money had been paid in three $20 bills and tens and fives.

The witness said that he knew nothing of a telephone conversation in which Beasley told a man named Jones that he'd "caught two of them and would probably catch two more." He denied also any knowledge of a transaction between Wilson and a man at the door of the cafe in which Wilson claims to have received a $20 bill redeeming a hot check paid O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, in settlement of a fine.

Denies Frame-Up

Under the defense cross-examining bombardment, Crow admitted that Beasley had "suggested" some of the moves, but denied any "frame-up" repeating that he was simply looking for a "come-back."

The witness told Mr. Taylor, on cross-examination, that he did not himself expect to be prosecuted for the possession of whisky or for turning state's evidence. He said he understood the state couldn't make out a case without the whisky as evidence.

During the testimony that followed Crow became identified in the minds of the witnesses as the man with the "little red moustache" the descriptive phrase repeated in the questioning. The words brought a titter from the crowd that filled the court room, but Judge P. A. Martin immediately commanded order.

Mrs. Lee Terry, the second witness called, said she lived near the place where the alleged transfer took place and that she saw two cars, following the description of the machines, stopped in front of her house on the afternoon of Feb. 20.

Lee Vaughn, manager of a part of the storage garage, said he had suspected Crow had whisky in the car when he drove it in at a fast rate of speed on the afternoon of Feb. 19. He denied any sure knowledge of the liquor, however, and said he had never been told by either Crow or Beasley that the car contained whisky. Crow had previously testified that Beasley had on one occasion acted as his advance agent and had told Vaughn their business.

Garage Employes Called

The witness said he saw the three men in and around Crow's car, and that the three had come down the elevator of the garage in the car together. He said that he had overheard Beasley talking on the telephone to someone named Jones, repeating the conversation as outlined in the defense question to Crow.

Marvin Jackson, negro employe at the garage, remembered the man with the little red moustache, said he knew the officers, and declared that he had let the three down in the elevator in Crow's car on the afternoon of Feb. 20.

Both he and Vaughn testified that Ellis had brought his own car into the garage to be greased on the same day.

E. A. Eads, waiter at the Senate cafe, said he had seen the officers and a third man eating lunch together on the day of the arrest. He would not swear that Crow was the third man, but said he had had a little mustache. He knew nothing about the business between Wilson and a man at the door in connection with the $20 bill, he asserted, but remembered that they had asked for change of a $20 bill when they paid the checks.

T. M. West, who lives at the edge of town near the Front street address where the money is alleged to have been exchanged, said he saw the two cars and the three men together on Front street that afternoon. They were "figuring on paper," he testified.

On cross-examination West denied that he felt any enmity toward Ellis in connection with an arrest several years ago on charges which were later dropped.

Mr. Spence announced late Thursday that the other witnesses would be offered in further corroboration of the details of the story told by Crow.

Taft Waging Losing Battle

the afflicted man. Robert A. and Charles P. Taft, in Cincinnati, have been told of the critical condition of their father.

Grief spread through Washington with word that the country's 27th president and 10th chief justice was about to die. The president and Mrs. Hoover called off their reception to members of the house of representatives, scheduled for tonight. The doctor's bulletin despairing that Mr. Taft could survive was read to the house.

Aged 72, Mr. Taft suffered his serious breakdown late in January and resigned from the chief justiceship as a result on Feb. 3. That same day he was brought back to Washington from Asheville, N. C., where he had been seeking to recuperate.

He was pronounced "a very ill man" then. For a week or so an improvement in his condition was reported every day. Then the physicians for some time said he was "unchanged." Finally, relapses began to recur and those close to him have feared again and again that the end was imminent. He has been holding on to life by a slender thread, however, and there was no saying tonight just how long he would be able to endure the strain.

TEACHERS TO MEET IN APRIL

1,000 Expected to Answer Association Call

A meeting of the prospective membership of the newly organized Northwest Texas Teachers' association, to be held in Wichita Falls on April 25-26, was called Thursday evening in a meeting of the executive committee of the association.

15 Counties Included

More than 1,000 teachers from the 15 counties included in the organization have already given assurance of their attendance, H. A. Glass, chairman of the executive committee, announced. He has been in communication with at least 100 schools in the section, he said.

The meeting here is called for the purpose of perfecting the organization in addition to participation in an extensive program, leaders announced. Preparations for the meeting made Thursday evening included the appointment of the following committees:

Program committee: C. E. Davis, Quanah, chairman; J. W. Cantwell and W. A. Franklin, Wichita Falls; W. T. Lofland, Vernon; Miss Ethel Morgan, Wilbarger county.

Constitution and by-laws: B. M. Dinsmore, Electra, chairman; B. H. Burney, Iowa Park; Butler Westerfield, Burkburnett; C. R. Owen, Henrietta; Miss Mrytle Porterfield, Quanah.

Nominating committee: C. C. Bock, Petrolia, chairman; Dan Martin, Bowie; J. E. Park, Wichita Falls; Knox Kinard, Oklaunion; C. R. Woffard, Valley View.

Committees Announced

Committee on arrangements: S. H. Rider, Wichita Falls, chairman; I. T. Gilmer, Graham; True Lovelace, Olney.

Publicity committee: Burl Bryant Wichita Falls, chairman; J. J. Harolson, Montague; O. R. Childers, Archer City; J. T. Kemp, Seymour; S. D. Handley, Bellevue.

Committee on resolutions: C. R. Roberts, Thrift, chairman; Miss Juanita Kinsey, Wichita Falls; Miss Edna Wood, Olney; W. C. Parrish, Henrietta; and C. J. Duncan, Burkburnett.

Finance committee: C. B. Breedlove, Haskell, chairman; O. B. Powell, Jackboro; O. R. Childers, Archer City; J. B. Hill, Newcastle; H. V. Williams, Clara.

Section chairmen: A. R. Bateman, Quanah, chairman for the high school principals; J. E. Park, Wichita Falls, chairman for the elementary principals.

Mr. Glass announced that the primary and intermediate sections will be organized at the coming meeting. The association, which is affiliated with the State Teachers association, will serve approximately 3,000 teachers, the chairman announced.

Members of the executive committee who called the meeting in April include Mr. Glass, Burl Bryant, county superintendent; G. C. Boswell of Byers; B. C. Schulkey, Olney; and Ercell W. Brooks of Wilbarger county.

NICHOLSON IN CAVE DEPTHS

attempting to follow an air current detected in the Queen's Chamber, hoping to find an unknown entrance to the cavern. Passing through the hole, we found a huge unexplored chamber which, as nearly as we could estimate, was 1,200 feet long and 400 feet wide. The ceiling was so high that our powerful flashlights barely revealed it's dim loftiness, which appears to be covered with a greater number of stalactites than any room I have yet seen.

The floor has the contour of a small mountain; in reality it is a mountain within a cavern. The ground is covered with a deep layer of loose formations, looking identical with coral. For this reason I refer to it as the Coral Gardens.

Stalagmites, grotesque and eerie in the dim distance, became glittering columns of onyx and marble as we brought our lights nearer. Here and there we found pools of blue, still water, the sides of the pools lined with sparkling marble-like formations. Skeletons of bats could be seen on the bottom.

Crossing the apex of the contour, the temperature rose, and the air seemed less fresh. This part strikes me as being perhaps the oldest part of the caverns. Giant stalagmites are crumbling and deteriorating due to the countless ages they have been submitted to an air-made acid by the presence of bats. Many larger formations have tilted and fallen, lying about in wild disorder.

Here progress was difficult, impassable, it seemed, as compared with the smooth, well-lighted trails which Superintendent Boles has constructed in the explored area.

Toward the end of the Coral Gardens we discovered a pit some 20 feet in diameter. We could not see the bottom, but soundings led us to believe it's depth was about 100 feet. I was lowered, and descended the vertical sides hand-over-hand. At about 25 feet the hole became crooked, the rope swayed and the flashlight broke. I continued the descent in darkness until finally my feet touched a rock some 75 feet down.

I replaced the flashlight globe and the light revealed a further descent that led into a previously unknown room, bewildering in its fantastically decorated walls covered with curtains of snow-white stone formations. In the center of the floor is a blue lake of pure water, besides which stands a stalagmitic formation resembling nothing so much as a replica of a castle. Word was shouted back, and two members of the party followed down with cameras. The temperature was the highest we have found. The altimeter showed us 950 feet below the surface.

With me was Col. Thomas Boles of the department of the interior, Geron Mendenhall, Douglas Oliver, and Chief Ranger Freeland and Ranger Miller.

TOM CONNALLY BACKS TARIFF

Texas Senator Takes Side Of Independents

ploitation of the public. A few days ago the attorney general of the United States filed suits in the federal courts in California charging conspiracy on the part of large oil companies to put independents out of business. Yesterday press dispatches reported the indictment of oil companies in New England, based upon charges of conspiracy to ruin independent competitors.

Standard Plan

"The plan of the Standard Oil company of New York to consolidate with the Vacuum Oil company is generally construted as an effort to regroup the Standard Oil subsidiary companies, which the courts required should be separated from the parent company. Anyone who has read Miss Tarbell's story of the Standard Oil company in its early days, can never forget the heartless and ruthless methods pursued in crushing and destroying competitors. It would be a public calamity were independent producers to be crushed by ruinous competition and their properties and plants purchased by the oil monopoly, from which the public would suffer.

"The great oil companies owning government concessions in Venezuela and other countries are importing large quantities of cheap oil, produced with cheap labor, and are unduly depressing the market for American oil produced by American labor and enterprises.

Resources Cited

"My decision has not been arrived at without deliberation and study. On account of the tremendous oil resources of Texas, the leading oil state of the union, and the importance of the oil industry to our state and its development, I feel that this great industry and these splendid resources should not be permitted to fall into the hands of monopoly. Believing that in the emergency now confronting the independent oil producers and the public, a tariff will at least be helpful, I shall vote for the levy of a duty on crude oil and its products."

WIRE CONNALLY

Endorsement of a tariff on incoming oil, except that shipped under bond for refining, and a request that efforts be made to obtain such legislation, were sent from the Junior chamber of commerce by wire Thursday to Senator Tom Connally at Washington, according to Guy P'Pool, secretary.

Texas Oil Men Induce Moody

Governor Favorable to Proposed Laws

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Governor Moody todal told a delegation of independent oil operators he did not object to submitting bills to the legislature they requested as claimed necessary to their protection, provided they were drawn in accordance with the laws and approved by the attorney general.

Members of the Independent Petroleum association, recently formed at Fort Worth, came to Austin in a special train to submit their proposed legislature to the governor.

The main law they would have enacted would require pipe lines to accept oil proportionately from all producers under the common purchase plan.

Tom E. Cranfill, president of the independent association, appointed a committee to draft the pipe line regulation bills, as follows:

Charles L. Morgan, Ernest May, Cal Estill, Dave Ballew, and T. P. Perkins, of Fort Worth; T. R. Yowell, of San Angelo; Tom Gresham of Abilene; Charles I. Francis, E. H. Edleman, and John Kilgore of Wichita Falls and M. E. Church of Dallas.

Addressing the oil men, Governor Moody said he believed Texas now "too much in the grip of the special interests."

"Our natural resources threaten to be wasted away without the state's sharing in their benefits," he said. He said the "a voice of special interests" was to blame.

Attorney General R. L. Bobbitt and former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson of Houston addressed the meeting also.

Both Governor Moody and Attorney General Bobbitt declared in favor of strengthening the anti-trust laws.

City Council to Hold Special Meeting Today

A special meeting of the city council, adjourned from the regular session last Monday night, will be held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in the council room in the Memorial auditorium.

The regular meeting last Monday night was unexpectedly adjourned upon the motion of Alderman J. W. Hunt immediately after Mayor J. W. Akin had brought up the question of extending time for payment of city taxes. No indication was given as to the purpose for the special meeting.

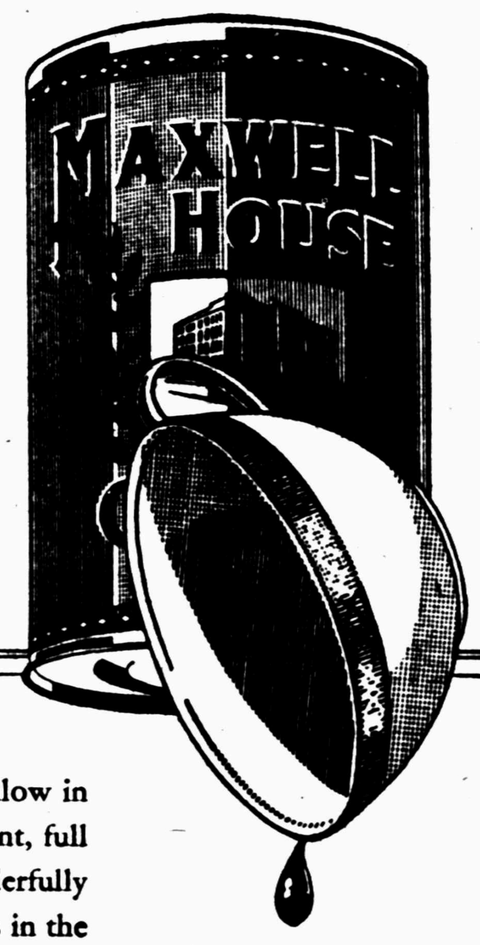

The board of education Thursday announced a 10-day extension in the payment of school taxes, setting the deadline for payment as March 10, after which time a 10 per cent penalty will be assessed for delinquency.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

'LOVE MURDER' CHARGE FILED

Widow and Paramour Are Accused

ANAMOSA, Iowa, Feb. 27. (INS)—First degree murder charges were lodged here today against Mrs. Edwin Miner, attractive young matron charged with Albert Hartwig, her alleged lover, with poisoning her husband, Edward Miner, 63, Olin farmer.

Miner died within an hour after eating sauerkraut in which police said they found strychnine.

Hartwig, according to County Prosecutor Clifford Paul, has signed a confession in which he admitted he purchased the poison for Mrs. Miner but said he thought the woman wished to kill rats with it. Confronted with a letter which Paul said Mrs. Miner wrote to him, Hartwig then admitted he knew she contemplated killing her husband because of her love for him, police said.

The letter revealed by Paul, stated:

"My dear, sweet lover:

"I am going to ask you once more and then if you won't help me, I can't help it honey. If you know what I had to live with you surely would bring me that stuff down to the church and give it to Charles (her 9-year-old step-son). I can't stand this much longer.

"Now, honey, if you love me still, you will bring that stuff today so I can get rid of this fool or I will have to do something."

(No name signed).

Prosecutor Paul said Mrs. Miner admitted writing the letter. Both Hartwig and Mrs. Miner rushed hurriedly from Olin where the alleged murder was committed, to this city for fear of mob action. Authorities at Olin said Hartwig had been paying attentions to Mrs. Miner for the past seven months.

Hartwig is a widower and is said to be one of the wealthiest bachelors in the county. Paul said he would not admit paying attentions to Mrs. Miner.

Judge Shows Doubt as Woman Unfolds Story of Scotch 'Thrift'

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (AP)—The credulity of Judge Harry A. Lewis was taxed by the case of Johnson vs. Johnson, divorce.

Mrs. Helen Grace Johnson testified her husband, Arthur, was a Scotchman; that he refused her permission to use a vacuum cleaner because it was too severe on the rugs; that he bought all the food—very carefully; and that he forced her to wear magnifying glasses at the table so the food would look like more.

"Surely," interposed the court at this point, "there is a limit, you know, to credulity."

"I am under oath," said Mrs. Johnson, "and I swear it."

She said there was one alarm clock for the whole family. When it rang in the morning, she had to rewind and reset it for other members of the family.

It is superfluous to state no alimony was asked or offered.

Accused Official Demands Counsel

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 27. (INS)—Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber today wired Gov. Walter J. Kohler at Useppa island, Florida, asking for appointment of counsel to prosecute election law charges against him.

Governor Kohler has been asked to appoint counsel to prosecute ouster proceedings against the lieutenant governor and two other state officers of the La Follette faction.

"I believe in the corrupt practices act and welcome an opportunity to prove to my fellow citizens that I have violated neither the letter nor the spirit of the law," Lieutenant Governor Huber declared. "Delay on your part to comply with this petition would do me a grave injustice and deny me a speedy trial in a court of justice. Will you kindly wire the name of counsel whom you desire appointment at once."

New Yorker to Head International Bank

WASHINFGTON, Feb. 27. (INS)—Gates W. McGarrah, chairman of the Federal Reserve bank of New York, will resign his position to become head of the International Settlements bank, set up under the Young plan, it was confirmed today at the treasury.

McGarrah's resignation is expected in a few days. He has notified treasury officials that it is coming.

A successor to McGarrah as federal reserve agent in the New York area will be appointed by the federal reserve board.

Private Services for Mabel Normand Today

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27. (INS)—Private funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Mabel Normand, film star who died Sunday of tuberculosis after an illness of more than a year. Only a small group of her nearest friends have been invited to the services, it was stated by Lew Cody, her husband.

Miss Normand's mother and sister are expected to arrive here from the East today.

JOHN D. KEEPS OUT OF FRAY

Aged Magnate's Son Denies Recent Report

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (INS)—Denial that John D. Rockefeller Sr. has "again taken the initiative in dictating oil policies" was made in a statement by John D. Rockefeller Jr. today.

"My attention has been called to recent statements concerning my father which are not warranted by the facts. Many of them do not justify specific mention but I must emphatically deny that my father has again taken the initiative in dictating oil policies and that it was he who directed Standard interests to order a cut in the price of Texas and Mid-Continent crude oil," the statement read.

"Naturally my father continues to be interested in anything pertaining to the oil industry to the development of which he gave so many years of his early life. However, since his retirement from business more than a quarter of a century ago he has had nothing to do with the operation or management of any oil company or other business, much less the determination of oil policies, whether in relation to prices or anything else.

"Neither my father nor I knew anything about the recent cut in crude oil prices until we read of it in the public press. The oil companies in which we are interested are managed and their burliness policies determined by their officers and directors and not by their stockholders."

Rites Held for Woman Official

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Last rites were held today for Kate Barnard, one of the first state office holders in the nation, while hundreds of state officials gathered at St. John's cathedral to do her homage.

Miss Barnard, Oklahoma's first commissioner of charities and corrections, was buried in Fairlawn cemetery after the Rev. Father R. Deprietere said solemn requiem mass. She died of heart trouble Sunday, leaving unfinished an autobiography of her colorful life.

Former Governors J. B. A. Robertson and Lee Cruce and Ben Franklin, former supreme court clerk, were honorary pallbearers.

She leaves as a memorial provisions for establishing a home for frindless and orphan children and a library for the poor.

Methodist Bishop Typhoid Sufferer

COLON, P. C. Z., Feb. 27 (INS)—The illness of Bishop E. L. Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal church, whose headquarters are in Kansas City, was diagnosed today as typhoid fever.

The bishop is confined to the Colon hospital. He was stricken with the illness while en route here from South America, where he had been engaged in conferences with church leaders.

The bishop's wife is prostrated with grief over her husband's grave illness. She is remaining in her hotel room, and is making no plans for the present.

All conferences with Bishop Waldorf have been called off.

DeMolay Endowment Campaign Is Planned

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27. (INS)—An international campaign for an endowment fund of $10,000,000 for the order of De Molay was announced here today by Frank S. Land, founder and directing head of the organization.

The campaign will extend over a period of 10 years, according to Mr. Land, and only the income from the fund will be used. Persons of all faiths will be asked to contribute, Mr. Land said.

PERSECUTIONS REPORT DENIED

Russian Jewry Spikes Story Of Executions

MOSCOW, Feb. 27. (US)—There is no religious persecution in Soviet Russia. On the contrary, the Soviet government is the first government in Russia to fight such persecution.

These assertions are contained in a statement to the Jewry of the world bearing the signatures of Chief Rabbi Gluskin of Minsk, and five of his colleagues, and published by the Soviet press, today.

The statement explains that all rabbis arrested by the G. P. U., whose detention has aroused world attention, were held not because of their religious beliefs but because they had violated Soviet laws.

No rabbi, the statement says, has been executed in Russia so far. Nor does any rabbi face execution at the present time.

The statement reads:

"We are shocked that Jews abroad should join in prayers and advocate a crusade against the Soviets together with the metropolitan eulogius and others who in the days of the czar incited bloody programs against the Jews.

"We are against the atheism of the Communist party, but we are compelled to say that the Communist party also fights anti-semitism.

"The Soviets are the only government in Russia's history that has ever combated anti-semitism."

Wife of Roy D'Arcy Files Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27. (AP)—A suit for divorce was filed by Mrs. Laura Rhinock Guisti against Roy Guisti, known in motion pictures as Roy d'Arcy, in superior court here Tuesday, it became known today. The actor's legal name was not recognized immediately. The suit charged cruelty.

Hollywood Talks Of New Encounter

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Feb. 27. (INS)—A flare-up between Marshall Neilan, director, and Arthur Caesar, playwright, in a cafe was being discussed today.

Harsh words were reported to have been exchanged, but there were no fisticuffs as in the recent Jim Tully-John Gilbert disagreement which has been patched up.

"I started to sock him," Caesar said.

Neilan's comment was, "nothing to it—must have been a couple of other guys."

BIG DRYGOODS CHAIN FORMING

Nationwide Organization Is Planned

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (UP)—A nation-wide chain of 15 leading department stores, with James A. Hearn & Son of New York as the center of the consolidation, was reported today to be in the process of formation.

Among the stores mentioned in the proposed chain are L. Fiebleman & Co., of New Orleans and Shreveport, La., and the Golden Eagle Dry Goods company of Denver. Financing for the deal will be undertaken by the Chase Securities corporation, according to the reports.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27. (UP)—An allegedly illicit romance between Mrs. George P. Shirley, 35, and Clyde Streby, 38, was ended today when police found the body of Mrs. Shirley, killed by a revolver bullet, in Streby's room. Streby had called police, advising them the woman committed suicide. Streby was held for questioning.

BANDITS LOOT KANSAS BANK

Three Officials Locked in Vault

HARPER, Kan., Feb. 27. (UP)—The First National bank at Harper was held up and robbed by three bandits of an undetermined amount of money today.

The bandits forced President Marcel Dutherne, Assistant Cashier Howard Westfall and Miss Lola Noel, clerk, into the vault, locking them in.

The robbery was discovered when the cashier returned from lunch.

The trio were locked in the vault nearly one-half hour awaiting the cashier's return.

The three bandits escaped in a Ford coupe and it is believed they may be the same men who the first of the week held up the bank at Beaver, Kan., and terrorized a number of citizens in a garage.

Dean of American Publishers Is Dead

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (INS)—George Haven Putnam, dean of American publishers died at his home today. A major in the civil war, the venerable campaigner for Anglo-Saxon solidarity would have been 86 years old had he lived until April 2.

Major Putnam had been in a coma for the past two days. Following an operation last fall he recovered sufficiently to resume his duties at the publishing offices of G. P. Putnam's sons. He was born in London and was educated at the Columbia grammar school here and at the Sorbonne and the University of Gottimgen.

Garden Club Breakfast Draws Flower Lovers

Members of Iowa Park's Garden club and members from Henrietta were present Thursday morning at an enthusiastic meeting of the Garden club held in the auditorium of the Woman's Forum. Great jars of plum, pear and peach blossoms and masses of flowering pussy willow made the tables gragrant with the odors of spring.

After the invocation had been given by Mrs. Carey Hunter, Mrs. C. E. Bailey, chairman of a nominating committee composed of Mesdames O. E. Maer, J. E. Childers and herself, read the slate of officers submitted for the Garden club next year, who were unanimously elected. Mrs. Bert Bean is the new chairman; Mrs. Frank Timberlake, vice chairman; Mrs. Orville Bullington, recording secretary; Mrs. Landon H. Cullum, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. E. P. Bass, treasurer.

Continuing the business meeting, minutes of both the Garden club and Civic club were read by Mrs. Rhea Howard and a vote was taken unanimously declaring for consolidation of the civic and health, and home departments for the next year's work.

Mrs. G. C. Richards of Iowa Park told of the organization of the Garden club there on Jan. 3 and of the intention of the women of the city to beautify the town, announcing the lantana as Iowa Park's favorite flower. Mrs. P. P. Langford told of the prices announced on redbuds and crepe myrtle that will be planted in and about Wichita Falls by the members of the Garden club.

A motion to federate with the state garden clubs was unanimously carried and it was announced that the Garden club of Wichita Falls has 101 members.

Mrs. Landom Cullom read an interesting paper on the rooting of the pussy willow, written by Mrs. O. B. Gorsline, giving information on the cultivation of the shrub and preservation of the branches. Mrs. Ben G. Oneal and Mrs. J. C. Mytinger told of ways to make rock gardens and of the mosses and mountain vines and plants that make them beautiful.

Half a minute was allotted to each of the 64 ladies present in which they might tell of the particular garden work done this spring and the usual enthusiasm roused by the gardening theme made a happy round table discussion of the program.

Mrs. Cullum is in charge of a flower exchange for the club and each woman present wrote of the flowers or shrubs she had to give to others. The list read would have made a stranger feel that Wichita Falls was a city of flowers, and confirmed the general belief that the cultivation of the land is a theme on which all the world meets. One recipe was given for a white wash that would remain on shrubs and trees, for which publicity was requested. One pound of sulphur and one gallon of skim milk are mixed with enough lime to make the consistency of paint.

Members who came to breakfast and took part in the animated discussion were Mesdames Carey Hunter, R. D. Kennedy, J. B. Maddrey, Joe Farabee, J. C. Mytinger, C. Joline, J. H. Cable, A. N. Lummus, George Fox, E. P. Bass, Peyton Gwynn, Homer Lee, S. S. McKenney, Marvin Smith, Elbert Childers, W. M. Cason, Bert Bean, Frank Timberlake, William Myers of Henrietta, Ikard of Henrietta, C. V. Chenault, L. C. Lucey, Pearl Bandy, O. E. Maer, E. H. Eddleman, E. B. Lehrack, A. Kahn, C. E. Basham, J. W. Culbertson, E. B. Nicholson, Oral Jones, Walter Campbell, Ella M. Campbell, Miss Hazel R. Campbell, Mesdames Curtis Atkinson, J. T. Montgomery, Ivan Murchison, Charles Tucker, L. L. Boardman, C. E. Bailey, R. G. Scheurer, Louise Miller, Don Bowie, Elbert Childers, J. F. Bailey, Arbuckle of Haskell, Miss Ethel Chamberlin, Mesdames P. P. Langford, W. S. Langford, W. H. Caldwell, N. H. Downing, A. G. Holmes, C. P. Burton, Rhea Howard, Ben G. Oneal, Barnard, Landon Cullum, Clifford Mooers and Mesdames R. J. Wiley, S. T. Buzzard, John Bradley, Ralph Sisk and G. C. Richards of Iowa Park.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Mussolini, it is said, wishes to restore Rome to all the beauty of the time of the Caesars. When he demanded that the barges of Nero and other emperors be removed from Lake Nemi, and was told by engineers that it could not be done because the barges were at the bottom of the lake, he ordered, "Remove the lake."

The fascist government has achieved results. The semi-circular market of Trajan has been completely excavated and stands, it is said, almost as it stood centuries ago.

The columns of the forum where Caesar was killed are coming into the light of another civilization.

Stately homes and private gardens are being brought from their long darkness into existence in the very center of the modern city.

A wide road from the Trajan forum to the coliseum will soon be opened, making students of history dream of days long past.

On the historic Appian way a mile and half from the old Roman city, the fourth century church of St. Sebastian is being dug from the ruins. This they tell us, may throw a new light eventually on the theory that the bones of St. Peter and St. Paul were secreted on the site of the church during the persecutions of Valerian, 258 A. D.

And we wonder what difference that will make. And we wonder also, if they find bones, how they will be able to tell if they are those of the apostles.

But we would love to walk the ancient ways brought into the light of a new age. The glory that was Greece and the glory that was Rome have always thrilled us.

It has seemed to us that Rome's glory faded with the agrarian failure. Rome developed a spirit of militarism that went out to win the world. Rome's farms and lands became crowded with slaves.

We remember Cornelia, the mother of the Gracchi. Her "jewels" were lost to her because against the will of the populace, they pushed the agrarian movement. One was beheaded before her very eyes and the bleeding head held up for her to see.

The body of one was flung into the Tiber.

Rome could not feed herself. Her rulers grew more athirst for power and glory; they crowded into the streets of the grand old city, and slowly and surely demoralization spread until the whole social system was decayed.

No country can live without its agrarian population. The farms and farmers are the backbone of every land.

Miss Austin Honoree At Pretty Luncheon

Complimenting Miss Lucile Austin of Belton, who is the house guest of her sisters, Mesdames O. H. Kellog and Homer Sanderford, Mrs. A. W. Karrenbrock entertained with a lovely luncheon in the Spanish tea room at the Woman's Forum clubhouse at 1 o'clock Thursday.

The table in the brilliant Spanish tea room was centered with a black bowl filled with calendula combined with bright colored sweet peas, baby's breath and fern.

Seated with the hostess and her honoree were Mesdames O. H. Kellog, Homer Sanderford, W. H. Allen, G. H. Watson, Neil Hilliard and Miss Judith Mann.

Husband Had to Do Her Work

"When my baby was a month old, I took a heavy cold and after that I felt miserable. Could not lift anything. My husband had to help me with the housework. I was so weak I could not do a washing. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the Kitsaing paper and I gave it a good trial. Before I had taken half a bottle, I found the difference. I do all my own work now and I have told others how much this medicine helped me."—Mrs. Alice Bassett, Cadogan, Pennsylvania.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Prize Winner

"Mary Jo was troubled with constipation," says Mrs. T. D. McGinnis, 1028 Drexel Ave., San Antonio. "She was sallow and bilious; didn't have any appetite; couldn't digest her food.

California Fig Syrup has changed all that. It regulated her bowels quickly; improved her appetite and digestion. She has improved right along until friends say she's a regular prize-winner for health."

Mothers by thousands praise California Fig Syrup. Physicians endorse it. Its rich, fruity flavor appeals to children; its pure vegetable goodness is safe for any child. The prompt relief it brings bilious, headachy, constipated children lasts; because it helps tone and strengthen bowels and stomach. Next time bad breath, coated tongue or feverishness warn of constipation, try it with your child and see how it helps!

When buying, look for the name California! That marks the genuine, famous for 80 years.—Adv.

Highland Heights Christian Groups Enjoy Luncheons

Mrs. Paul Barnett was hostess to members of division one of the Woman's council of the Highland Heights Christian church at her home Thursday at 1 o'clock when she entertained with a pretty luncheon.

Following the luncheon the meeting opened with a song after which Mrs. T. E. Durrett gave the devotional. The subject for study was "Witnessing to Christ's Healing," in which Mrs. Phil Hessler led the lesson.

During the business session the report showed that 119 sick calls had been made, 34 social calls, and that the group had 34 reading points. Mrs. Hessler gave a paper on "The Physical, Industrial and Geographical Relation of the Philippine Islands and the United States." Miss Phyllis Creighton gave an interesting talk on "The Philippine Islands."

Those present were Mesdames T. E. Durrett, A. H. Howard, Phil Hessler, Paul Putty, R. L. Daugherty, J. N. Sherrill, E. E. Stewart, D. C. Walker, Harley Snyder, Latham, J. D. Shearer and Miss Phyllis Creighton, and Mrs. Hattie Childs of Waco.

Divisions Three and Four

Members of division four, entertained division three with a luncheon at the church at 12 o'clock.

Preceding the luncheon a business meeting was held. Mrs. Patrick Henry gave the devotional and Mrs. P. B. Curd read, "What Means the Stones." Mrs. Buchanan gave a paper on "The First Impression of the Philippine Islands" and Mrs. Arch Tucker discussed Dr. Rzada's life. About 24 members were present.

MAKE THIS ADORABLE KIDDIE FROCK
Pattern 1846
By ANNE ADAMS

Youngsters have adopted the grown-up bolero style for their very own and could anything be more delightful? The collar and bolero fronts are scalloped and bound in contrasting color—a finish repeated at the armholes and waistline. The full skirt is perfectly charming for small tots.

Pattern 1846 is lovely made of printed silk or cotton, the most suitable being gingham, percale, broadcloth, wash silk and pique. The colorful binding may be purchased very inexpensively, ready to use.

May be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Sizes 4 requires 1⅞ yards of 36-inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of fifteen cents (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our new spring book of pattern styles is now ready. Price 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

Alathean Sunday Class Has Old Fashioned Party

Members of the Alathean class of the First Baptist Sunday school enjoyed their monthly social in the form of an old fashioned party Thursday at the home of Mrs. L. V. Abernathy on Tenth street. The home was beautiful with spring flowers.

Hostesses with Mrs. Abernathy were Mesdames Borden Morriss, Eugene Clark, Paschall Tibbetts, R. E. Browning, Lora Stampfli, B. W. Lovelace, H. E. Nettles, H. C. Copeland and R. C. Stanford. Hostesses and guests were in old-fashioned costumes.

After a short meeting in which the president, Mrs. Howard Weaver presided, the afternoon was spent in a social program of genuine old-fashioned games. Pictures of the quaintly gowned class were made.

In keeping with the general theme, a refreshment plate of hot-dogs, devildogs, pop and gum was served to Mesdames D. F. Mallonee, W. C. Reeves, J. E. Roberts, F. H. Elam, C. W. Stoval, R. E. Floral Heights Will Entertain District League

Preparations for the entertainment of the third quarterly conference of the Wichita Falls district Epworth league for the current year were completed at a meeting of the various committees representing the Epworth leagues of the Floral Heights Methodist church, where the conference will meet on Saturday night and Sunday of this week. The territory in this district extends from the Red river to Megargel and Dundee and from Bellevue to Electra. Chairmen of the committees follow: Decorations, Miss Mary Lou Johnson; entertainment, Glenn Haynes; and registration, Thomas Beaty.

The features of the conference will be an address by J. Marvin Bush of Greenville, executive field secretary of the North Texas conference Epworth league, on Sunday afternoon on "The Worldwide Program of the Epworth league."

The opening session on Saturday night at 7:30 will consist of a recreational period, with music, games and sleight-of-hand stunts under the direction of Glenn Haynes, assisted by Frank Creighton and E. F. Bohmfalk, in the auditorium and basement of the Floral Heights church. At this time registration of delegates will take place and assignment of out-of-town delegates to homes. Decorations and games will feature St. Patrick's day colors.

The conference sermon on Sunday morning will be delivered by Rev. Claude M. Simpson, pastor of the Floral Heights church, at the usual hour.

The program for Sunday afternoon at 2:30 follows:

Song Service. Led by E. F. Bohmfalk, religious educational director of the First Methodist church.
Devotional ..... F. M. Baker, Electra
"District Efficiency" Rev. Paul M. Martin, pastor of the Iowa Park Methodist church.
"The World-Wide Program of the Epworth League".....J. Marvin Bush, of Greenville.
Business session.

The principal items of business will be reports from the leagues of the district; an advance announcement of the annual assembly of the North Texas Conference Epworth league at Sherman on June 2-7 by Rev. Paul M. Martin of Iowa Park, dean of the assembly. Pledges will be taken to complete this district's quota on the Epworth league building on the Western Methodist Training grounds at Mount Sequoyah at Fayetteville, Ark.

Jack Ralston of Iowa Park, president of the district, and Miss Ruby Calloway of Wichita Falls, secretary and treasurer, will preside at the business session. The active program will be under the supervision of Mrs. R. W. H. McCulloch of Wichita Falls, district secretary.

Large delegations to the sessions of the conference are expected from the Epworth leagues of the district.

Mr. Bush will arrive in Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon in time for a conference with Mrs. W. A. Miller, Epworth Junior superintendent of the North Texas Conference Epworth league and Mrs. C. W. Thomas of Grant Street Methodist church on problems connected with the junior work of the conference.

School And College Notes

By MARGARET FLEMING
The Record News Staff

High school and Junior college students were entertained with a musical "radio program" at the regular assembly Thursday morning at the activity period. The high school girls trio, composed of Evelyn Franklin, Alta Rose Franklin, and Stella Evans, sang two numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn, director of music in the school. Durward Park played a violin solo, accompanied by Mildred Anderson, and John Flynn sang several solos. The Junior college boys quartet sang seevral selections, accompanied by Mrs. Vaughn.

Coach Barry Holton announced the beginning of spring training for football and urged the new students from the junior highs to come out.

Prince Linked In Moormeister Case

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Feb. 27. (AP)—The circle of admirers of Mrs. Dorothy Moormeister, slain wife of Dr. Frank Moormeister, was widened in testimony at an inquest into her death here today to include Charles Peter, Salt Lake mining man, as well as Prince Farid of Persia whom she met in Paris.

Miss Amelia Hugentobler, the dead woman's sister, testified that Peter had been paying frequent attentions to Mrs. Moormeister and had been out with her and another couple a week before the killing.

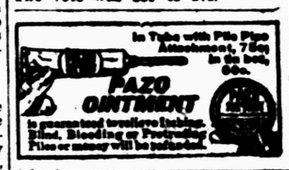

Doctor Moormeister was recalled to the stand today and questioned about an affair his wife was alleged to have had with Prince Farid while in Paris last summer. The physician declared he had regarded the Persion prince as a friend until he discovered a letter after his wife's death revealing her intimate relations with the prince.

Mrs. Moormeister's mutilated body was found on a lonely road near here last Saturday. The wheels of her automobile had been driven over it repeatedly.

Opposition to British Coal Bill Defeated

LONDON, Feb. 27. (AP)—Opposition to the government's coal bill in the house of commons, which at first was feared might adversely affect the naval conference if Prime Minister MacDonald were defeated, failed to materialize sufficient votes tonight and MacDonald emerged the victor by nine votes.

The house division came on a liberal amendment and it was considered most significant that eight liberals abstained from voting and four voted with the government. The vote was 280 to 271.

Electra Hostess Gives Lovely Party At Forum

That spring, the blossoming season, has no boundaries, was shown in the dining room at the woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday when Mrs. Robert Hall of Electra was hostess to 72 of Electra's society maids and matrons in one of the most beautifully appointed bridge luncheons of the pre-Lenten season. The pastel shades of early spring made an exquisite setting for the party.

Each of the small tables, used first for luncheon and then for bridge, was covered with rose, veiled in scalloped blue tarlatan. Each was centered with pink rosebuds in crystal bud vases and miniature corsage boxes, sprinkled with pink rosebuds and tied with pink ribbons held spring flower corsages as individual favors. The piano and mantel were massed with pink roses.

After the delicious luncheon, bridge was played and in the games a number of handsome prizes were awarded.

The guest list included Mesdames A. T. McDannald, J. T. McDannald, George McGann, Bob McGann, J. O. O'Pry, Parmley, J. P. Parr, Ed Schlaffke, Leo Slaughter, C. C. Slaughter, R. Y. KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Feb. 27. (INS)—Roy T. Myers, convicted treasurer of the defunct Citizens Trust company, Gorin, Mo., today was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary after a jury found him guilty of accepting deposits when he knew the bank was a failing condition.

ART OF SEASONING FOODS TAKES NEW TURN

The Idea Appeals to Cooks With Imagination

The trend in present-day cooking is to emphasize the distinctive flavor of the food rather than change it. Sugar plays an important role in this new departure in cookery.

The value of sugar in heightening flavor is most apparent in cooking familiar vegetables such as string beans, carrots, peas, beets, cabbage and spinach. In addition to improving the flavor, the sugar maintains the garden-fresh color of the vegetable.

A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a general rule to follow. Some cooks keep a mixture of sugar and salt on hand — equal parts of each, or two parts sugar to one part salt depending upon the taste preferences of the family. For a pleasant surprise try this combination in making French dressing.

Doctors and dietitians are in favor of flavoring vegetables and fruit with sugar because it makes these essential foods with their vitamins, mineral salts and roughage more palatable and enjoyable — especially to children. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

... How You Can
Remove Old Color
—Even a Black

FADED, spotted, stained or streaked dresses, stockings, curtains, table and bed linens . . . even rugs . . . can be made good as new by taking out color and blemishes with WHITE RIT—marvelous color remover.

WHITE RIT removes color from every fiber of all materials—even a black—harmless as boiling water—simple as boiling clothes—materials come out just as they came originally from the weaving looms. Then you can tint or re-dye them perfectly . . . beautifully, with INSTANT RIT.

WHITE RIT also removes spots and stains from white goods, even ink, fruit, perspiration, rust, etc., or the "yellowed" or "grayed" appearance due to age or poor laundering. Nothing else acts exactly like WHITE RIT.

Keep WHITE RIT always in the house for its many uses. Your druggist or department store has it at 15c per package.

New INSTANT RIT Colors
Always use New INSTANT RIT to tint or re-dye fabrics after removing colors with WHITE RIT. These two products are blended to formulas that, therefore, we absolutely guarantee results when INSTANT RIT is used after removing old colors.

For Colds and Aches
Take Capudine

In cases of fresh colds Capudine should be the first remedy administered for the reason that it not only relieves the headache, neuralgia and aching limbs but also reduces the tendency to congestion, thereby promoting quicker recovery. Two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water quickly brings a feeling of comfort to the patient.

Being liquid, Capudine acts almost instantly — much quicker than tablets and powders. For over thirty years it has been a joy and comfort to millions who suffer from bad colds and from pain.—Sold by druggists in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

DELAY LIKELY ON BOUNDARY

Clerk of Supreme Court Asks Information

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (AP)—Hope for further postponement of approval by the United States supreme court of the report of surveyors on the western Oklahoma boundary, until some definite action can be taken by the legislatures of Oklahoma and Texas, grew brighter today with receipt of a telegram by J. Berry King, attorney general, from the clerk of the court, asking the status of the boundary litigation.

The report of the location of the one hundredth meridian boundary line by engineers who made a resurvey has been placed before the supreme court for approval. If adopted by the court, 28,500 acres now in Oklahoma will go to Texas, and title to property in the district will become questionable.

In October, 1929, the supreme court agreed to postpone final approval of the report until Feb. 24, so that the legislatures of the two states might make a settlement. Oklahoma's offer of $150,000 was rejected by the Texans, and the Texas legislature recently voted to allow the supreme court to conclude the case.

King, on Feb. 24 expected immediate approval on transfer of the territory to Texas, but he was advised yesterday that the only action taken by the court was to allow the expenses of the surveyors.

King telegraphed W. W. Hastings, Oklahoma congressman, asking him "to prevail upon the court to defer final action until the Texas legislature can consider and act squarely upon Oklahoma's proposal which we hold to be fair."

In a telegram to Gov. W. J. Holloway, who arrived in Washington today to urge an oil tariff, the attorney general suggested that Hastings and the governor go to the clerk, advising him the Texas legislature now is in special session and has not yet passed finally upon Oklahoma's proposal for a reimbursement.

Swiftest, Easiest Way To End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious.

It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascara, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.—Adv.

DRUGS EXCITE THE KIDNEYS, DRINK WATER

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good soft water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Models to Walk Down Runway To Audience to Show New Spring Styles

Setting for Fashion Festival at Memorial Auditorium March 7 Explained by Leaders

What milady will wear this spring will be revealed in a particularly interesting fashion when the merchants of the city and members of the Woman's Forum cooperate in the spring festival and fashion show at the Memorial auditorium on the afternoon and evening of March 7.

Miss Marguerite Fisher and Mrs. A. G. Holmes are in charge of the program and show and a continuity of program has been arranged with a host and hostess appearing in each act of a day of entertainment.

The first scene will show early morning in a home where lounging robes, morning frocks and street dresses will be shown. The host and hostess will have as their guests models who will show the frocks.

Scene two will be mid-morning on the grounds of a country club where the same host and hostess will show sport frocks, tennis and golf clothes. Both men and women will model in this act. The next scene will be an afternoon bridge on the country club lawn, affording opportunity for afternoon gowns to be shown. The evening scene will be a dress occasion where both men and women will wear evening gowns and dress suits.

In each scene, a model chosen from each of the 11 stores will walk down a runway built out into the audience to show chosen gowns. Between the acts, specialty numbers and vaudeville acts will be given by the best artists of the city.

Perkins-Timberlake, P. B. M., the Parisian, Elywn, Inc., McClurkan's, Miller-Ferguson, Penney, the Orchid Shop, Georgianna Shop, Moptgomery Shop, Wichita Floral company and Freear's Furniture company have already shown an enthusiastic cooperation.

Tickets will be on sale at Perkins-Timberlake, Saul's, P. B. M. and McClurkan's with ladies of the forum in charge of the booths. There will be no reserved seats, the tickets for adults for afternoon and evening being 50 cents and for children under 12, 25 cents.

Electra Society

ELECTRA, Texas, Feb 28.—Mrs. E. V. Haltom entertained the members of the Friendship class of the First Methodist church at her home on East Gilleson avenue at the regular monthly social. She was assisted by a group composed of Mrs. L. G. McLaughlin leader, Mesdames C. A. Moore, S. P. Clark, J. W. Malone, G. L. Henson and W. M. McLaughlin, assisting hostesses.

Mrs. H. E. King opened the meeting with prayer after which Mrs. W. E. Vaught, the president presided over the business session. The general discussion was on the building of a classroom but no definite plans were made. After the social service reports were given it was learned that 150 visits had been made and nine trays and several bouquets had also been given. The treasurer's report showed that there was a nice sum of money in the class treasury. Mrs. H. A. Decker closed the meeting with prayer.

During the social hour Mrs. J. G. B. Totten gave several vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Brush at the piano and Mrs. Haltom led in a number of songs with Mrs. R. R. Ramey at the piano. Readings were given by Mesdames A. C. Hill, J. L. Clayton, Russell Austin and Leverpe Phillips. Mrs. R. R. Ramey closed the program by singing old favorite songs. She played her own accompaniment. Mrs. C. C. Wynn proved winner in the Washington contest.

A delicious two-course plate luncheon was served to the following members and guests: Mesdames Frank Fisher, Roy Mankins, Mauza Burbee, J. A. Myers, W. C. Martin, S. C. Massengill, George Lindop, T. E. Bryant, F. L. Hudspeth, W. C. Trainer, G. D. Williams, C. C. Adams, E. A. McKelvy, J. A. Coker, C. C. Wynn, A. Fisher, M. L. Wilson, E. L. Blain, Corrine Vaught, J. P. Hamilton, L. S. Tinnin, J. D. Graham, C. E. Houser, H. A. Decker, T. H. Moore, F. W. Weaver, J. N. Brown, G. R. Wadsworth, J. J. Hagan, R. R. Ramey, W. M. Austin, A. L. Jones, G. C. Hollis, H. E. King, W. A. Sandefer, W. E. Vaught, R. G. Candler, Theo Youree, A. W. Phillips, R. L. Hancock, A. C. Hill and Miss Nell Jackson, members; Mesdames J. G. B. Totten, Paul Brush, J. L. Clayton, J. A. Looney, W. P. Lewis, J. W. Harrison, H. R. Mitchell and S. H. Richardson, guests.

Miss Helen Slaughter entertained Saturday evening at her home on North Wichita honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Slaughter of Chicago who is visiting here, with an informal bridge party. Two tables of bridge were arranged and Miss Norma Andrews won high score and was presented a prize as was the honoree.

A delicious tea course was served to Misses Lucia Magee, Neva Herd, Virginia McDannald, Bina Magee, Norma Andrews, Zola Slaughter, the honoree and the hostess.

The Electra Chamber of Commerce was in charge of the program at the formal opening of the new County Line school building Thursday evening. There were 250 people present, and the building was completely filled. Robert P. Hall, manager of the chamber of commerce, presided over the program which included reading, Russell Austin; solo, Mrs. C. W. Coffey, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Howard Doores; talk, W. M. Austin; reading, Marjorie Beasley; ballet dance, Lorene Ferguson; piano solo, Eric Moore; black face comedy skit, Jett Hughes and Homer Hill.

At the conclusion of the program the new rooms were inspected and the crowd was entertained with carnival like features including fortune telling, games and contests. About 20 Electrans attended the meeting.

Mrs. J. A. Myers was hostess to the members of the Lampas society of the First Christian church Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. M. Knight gave the opening prayer, and Mrs. C. F. Suggs led the devotional. Mrs. F. M. Lisle, president, presided over a brief business session and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in sewing.

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames C. F. Suggs, C. A. Coynes, J. M. Knight, W. E. Nelson, C. C. Hair, F. M. Lisle, members, and two guests, Mesdames J. W. Malone and C. R. Ogletree.

Mrs. M. H. Miller entertained at her home on West Washington avenue Tuesday afternoon honoring Mrs. J. C. Carroll with a miscellaneous shower. The honoree was the recipient of a lovely array of gifts.

A social hour was enjoyed at the close of which delightful refreshments were served to Mesdames J. L. Pitts, M. F. Strickin, P. E. Griffin, E. V. Grady, E. E. Adkins, H. P. Hill, Ray Strawn, J. S. Borders, C. E. Pye, J. C. Blankenship, Emmett Edwards, George B. Ancell Jr., C. N. Maldin, J. C. Henderson, Floy Eager, the honoree, and the hostess.

New officers were installed at a meeting of the Federated Missionary society at the Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon when the Presbyterian ladies were hostesses to the society. The new officers include president, Mrs. Grace Jennings; vice president, Mrs. Ben W. Tipton; second vice president, Mrs. O. A. Beaham; third vice president, Mrs. A. Fisher; fourth vice president, Mrs. M. O. Turner; treasurer, Mrs. Robert P. Hall; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. R. Davidson; recording secretary, Mrs. J. A. Stewart; press reporter, Mrs. J. L. Clayton.

Mrs. J. R. Brewer, retiring president, was in charge of the business meeting. Mrs. A. Fisher gave the membership report and Mrs. O. M. Waters gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. J. V. Harrison was in charge of the program which included a vocal solo by Mrs. L. J. Gerber, accompanied by Mrs. Stella Moad at the piano; reading, Mrs. J. L. Clayton, and a violin solo by Mrs. Beulah Ross. There were 60 ladies present.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Imogene King, daughter of Mrs. Mike Hardy, to B. Roy Humphries of Shamrock, Texas, Sunday at Frederick, Okla., with the justice of the peace of that city reading the ceremony. The young couple were accompanied by the bride's sister, Mrs. W. R. McDaniel who afterwards served a wedding supper honoring the bride and groom at her home on Roosevelt avenue in Electra.

The bride is well known in Electra, having attended local schools for a number of years where she was very popular among the younger set. The groom is also well known here, having visited in Electra a number of times. They will make their home in Shamrock where the groom is employed.

HOME STORES PLAN SURVEY

Temporary Headquarters Open in Staley Building

Plans for the opening of a temporary headquarters and the appointment of an advisory committee to aid in the direction of the work were completed Thursday afternoon in a meeting of the directors of the Home Owned Industries association held in the office of Fred Weeks, local attorney.

The organization will open an office immediately in room 1100 at the Staley building, with Mrs. Alice Sayre in temporary charge, it was announced. The temporary secretary will supply membership cards and will be glad to answer all questions, leaders announced.

The directors decided to include in the by-laws provision for an advisory committee, chosen from representative Wichitans who are not retail merchants, to assist in the investigative and educational aspect of the work. The committee will conduct inquiries to determine just what establishments are entitled to be styled home owned. A list of merchants and other business men who are found to be members of chain establishments or to engage in "chain store practices, such as sending their money out of Wichita Falls," will be made public by the committee, Mr. Weeks said.

"The committee will claim the privilege of publicly answering any advertisement or claim which is found to be inaccurate or misleading," the attorney explained. "The group will work to assist and guide the organization and to help let the people know just where their money is going."

The directors Thursday afternoon also decided upon a further membership campaign before making application for a charter. They announced that $1,400 had been pledged at the mass meeting Tuesday night and that around 2,000 men and women are now enrolled as members. They expect to add another 1,000 before the application for the charter is submitted. A permanent headquarters and secretary will be determined upon after the incorporation.

Industrial Group To Meet at C.-C. Friday

Members of the industrial committee of the chamber of commerce held a brief meeting Thursday afternoon only to adjourn to 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, it was announced.

Insufficient time for transaction of the business before the committee Thursday afternoon was given as the reason for its adjournment to Friday morning.

Business in Southwest Reported on Upturn

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 27. (UP)—Business generally in the tenth federal reserve district has been on the upturn since the first of the year, a report by the federal reserve bank of Kansas City tonight said.

Wholesale trade during January, manufacturing, petroleum and coal production and bank debits were higher than December, the report said.

Extremely cold weather during the month, however, checked retail trade and hindered lead and zinc shipments. Building operations and employment of labor dropped from December levels. All lines showed declines over January, 1929.

Fire in 'Silent' Show Disturbs Patrons' Sleep

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (UP)—Fire in the Empire theater here today almost ruined the sleep of the audience.

Five hundred masculine patrons were enjoying the "comfortable 10-cent seats and silent films" advertised by the Empire, when smoke belched from the operating room where a film started to blaze. The smoke caused the sleepy audience to rub its collective eyes, but an attendant assured the silent film fans there was no danger. The patrons remained in their seats while the fire department put out the flames and then went back to sleep when the show started again.

Fire Destroys Grocery With Loss of $800

Loss estimated at $800 was caused by fire which practically destroyed the R. H. Wagoner grocery at 1003 Sixteenth street about 4:25 o'clock Thursday morning, according to reports at central fire station. The blaze was discovered by passersby and the alarm turned in before Mr. Wagoner knew the place was on fire. He was not awakened until the fire trucks had arrived.

The only article removed from the blazing structure was a small metal box containing important papers. All stock and furnishings were either destroyed or badly damaged. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Snowstorm Predicted In Kansas City Area

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb 27. (UP)—Kansas Citylans who have basked and perspired under a beating sun that sent temperatures here the past days to the 80s, were warned tonight to get out overshoes, overcoats and snow shovels.

A storm with snow and resulting low temperatures will visit this area within 24 hours, P. Connor, government weather forecaster said.

TOWN AROUSED BY SHOOTING

Feeling Runs High at Ripley, Okla.

RIPLEY, Okla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Feeling against Constable Kit Adkins, who late yesterday shot George Bennett, was intense today as county authorities continued investigation into the slaying.

Bennett, an oil field worker, was wounded fatally when Adkins attempted to arrest him after an alleged fist fight at Cushing earlier in the day. Adkins was held in the Payne county jail at Cushing, but charges had not been filed.

Four eyewitnesses of the shooting told similar stories of how Bennett was shot when he ran around the car. The four witnesses to the shooting were Mrs. O. G. Lyons, Hugh Moore, Miss J. Dejarnett and Nolly Barker.

Sheriff James Brady said examination of Bennett's stomach revealed he had been drinking and he said he found a half-gallon of liquor in a suit case in Bennett's car.

Two Cushing youths, Harold Butcher and Tom Burris, told officers of an altercation they had with Bennett after his car had struck their motorcycle between here and Cushing.

Bert Wilson, Ripley officer, resigned his commission at Stillwater when he accompanied Adkins to the jail. He would not comment on his action.

Four Arrested For Smuggling Aliens

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27. (AP)—Four seamen were arrested by immigration officers here today on arrival of the steamship Coppername and charged with conspiracy to smuggle aliens into the United States.

The men were arrested as suspects in an alien smuggling ring on information given by Jacoba Minorz, an alien from Tela, Spanish Honduras.

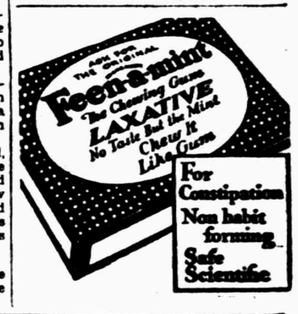

Minorz was arrested at Slidell, La., Jan. 26. He told officers he had been solicited for passage and promised transportation to New Orleans for $150. He paid this and was told that $150 more would pass him to New York. His sponsors failed to appear, Minorz said.

The upsets of Children

All children are subject to little upsets. They come at unexpected times. They seem twice as serious in the dead of night. But there's one form of comfort on which a mother can always rely; good old Castoria. This pure vegetable preparation can't harm the tiniest infant. Yet mild as it is, it soothes a restless, fretful baby like nothing else. Its quick relief soon sees the youngster comfortable once more, back to sleep. Even an attack of colic, or diarrhea, yields to the soothing influence of Castoria.

Keep Castoria in mind, and keep a bottle in the house—always. Give a few drops to any child whose tongue is coated, or whose breath is bad. Continue with Castoria until the child is grown! Every drugstore has Castoria; the genuine has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

"Smooth Skin is any girl's Greatest Loveliness,"

9 out of 10 Screen Stars use Lux Toilet Soap

"FEW PEOPLE can resist the spell of smooth lovely skin," says James Cruze, prominent Hollywood director—and sums up the experience of 45 leading directors.

"The close-up is the final test of a star's popularity," he goes on to say, "since practically no make-up is possible.

"Only a perfect skin, exquisitely smooth and fine, can stand the blazing lights."

Never was this more true than since the talkies, with their hundreds of close-ups, "arrived." Unless a girl has the smoothest, the most exquisite skin, she can scarcely hope to go far.

LILYAN TASHMAN uses this method

It is because lovely smooth skin is so vital to the screen stars that 511 of the 521 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, use Lux Toilet Soap. It was at their request that all the great film studios have made it the official soap for their dressing rooms.

The stage stars, famous in Broadway successes, have also been using Lux Toilet Soap for a long time—and never were they so grateful to its gentle care of their skin as since so many of them have been playing in the talking and singing pictures. In the European capitals, too, the screen stars have adopted this soap—so velvet-smooth does it keep the skin!

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, fervishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE. Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.—Adv.

A CHAMPION SPENDTHRIFT

Daily Editorial

YOUR UNCLE SAMUEL is in a fair way of becoming history's champion spendthrift.

When one considers his adolescent poverty and reflects that he began without a penny to his name, it seems as though the memory of those early pinches—not to omit some comparatively recent experiences with financial stringency—should warn him to abate extravagance and save more of his income for inevitable rainy days.

Last year, we contributed from our collective earnings, four billion dollars to defray the expense of federal government—a government which, as late as Cleveland's administration, found itself at wit's end where to lay hands on fifty million dollars to meet treasury obligations.

Since then, of course, the country has prospered prodigiously. Infant industries have grown to world-conquering giants. Lumber, steel, mining, transportation, power, manufacturing, the textile and packing trades and agriculture, produce more revenue per present week than they then created per month.

In Cleveland's time, the telephone, the electric motor, the harvester and the incandescent light were toddling in diapers. Not an imagination on earth was potent enough to envision a future which would daily mine millions out of the air, and sow the continent with radio and flying machine factories, before we were half through gasping at the overnight affluence of that other infant prodigy, the motion picture.

No facts at Mr. Cleveland's command justified expectation of our approaching chemical and petroleum riches.

Consequently, contemporary congresses were prone to reflect twice before appropriating once. And executive caution exercised a corresponging restraint on the size of pork barrels.

Since 1918, however, congress has splurged like a cross between Coal-Oil Johnny and a Roman profligate.

Log-rolling politicians, for a dozen years, have emptied the treasury into vote-bait cans as fast as Washington could collect its dues.

But the capitol, as Mr. Hoover has just warned party leaders, has so overdrawn the year's estimated receipts in pending bills, that Mr. Mellon, instead of crediting another tidy surplus to reserve, may face a one billion, seven hundred and fifty million dollar shortage.

TO PREVENT that embarrassing situation, taxes would have to be increased by forty per cent, and every penny of it would come—directly or indirectly—from both capital's profits and labor's wages.

The Voice of a Crowd

HE WAS a stocky, pugnacious looking chap, with sharp eyes and a bitter turn to his mouth; and he struck his left palm with his right fist, forcefully, as he stood on his soapbox and harangued the noonday crowd.

The city skyscrapers hemmed in the little square in which he stood. The roar of traffic now and again drowned out his voice. Hurrying throngs, heading for lunchrooms, passed by without giving him a second glance. The 200-odd men who were looking up at him and listening were obvious misfits. The surrounding towers, traffic and crowds were uncommunicative mockeries, solid and prosperous emblems of the capitalism the stump speaker was denouncing.

But the man stuck by his guns. He spoke of Marx, of Communism, of the red revolution that was somewhere over the horizon. It may be that his eyes beheld a vision, for he was confident, challenging, defiant.

"The capitalists are uneasy," he shouted. "I tell you, one of these days they won't be able to sleep for fear of the red flag."

He drew neither laughter nor applause. The city's roar did not let up to give him a hearing. The noonday chimes of a nearby church cut in solemnly, booming out "Adeste Fidelis" over his hoarse oratory.

There's nothing especially unusual about that episode. It happened in a big middle western city. You could duplicate it almost anywhere. A frenzied stump speaker, an apathetic, out-at-the-elbows crowd of listeners, a contemptuous city—very common, slightly ludicrous, quite unworthy of a second thought.

Yet there is a sort of education to be had of dropping in on a gathering like that. You may not get much from the speech itself. Those things are all cut to a pattern. But the silent crowd speaks in a voice of its own. Its drooping shoulders, its tired faces, its down-on-its-luck air of discouragement are eloquent.

They testify, rather loudly, that something has gone askew somewhere. Just what it is that may be wrong is another matter. But that crowd would not be gathered together if everything were for the best in the best of all possible worlds.

For the one stand-out fact is that the men in this crowd are missing something. Somehow, through their own fault or someone else's, they have come up emptyhanded. Life very probably can taste just as sweet to a Polish immigrant as to a descendant of the Foundation Fathers; but here it has turned sour, and the men would like to know why, if they can find anybody to tell them.

And the tragedy of it is that the only thing they can do about it is to gather in an open square and listen to an underfed agitator spout communism.

There is no reason for any American to be worried by these communistic meetings. They are no cause for alarm.

But they do call for pity. The silent crowds speak so much more loudly than the energetic men on the soap boxes; and the things they have to say are so inexpressibly tragic.

City Council Vacancies

THE DIFFICULTY in securing candidates for city positions in the election April 1 calls attention to one great difference between the operation of the city manager government here and in other principal cities. In most towns, the city manager form of government was instituted with considerable difficulty, which usually has resulted in the formation of clubs or societies to actively support a business government and to see that a number of suitable candidates are offered for the public's consideration. Where no such clubs or societies function, the interests of the government and of the voters is provided for, at least in securing candidates, by informal conferences of leading citizens. In other words, there is usually one or more tickets in the field actively pledged to carrying out the best traditions and theories of the government in one form or another.

The situation in Wichita Falls is somewhat different. The change from the commission form of government was made with little fight, and with no group actively identified with the campaign. Now that a new system has been provided, we apparently are becoming more and more indifferent to one of the most important phases of city manager government—the selection of a city council of representative business and professional men. The ticket boasted two candidates for each office late Thursday, but they have been secured in a last minute scramble after no little agitation of the public mind as to whether or not there would be sufficient candidates to fill the vacancies.

Such a state of affairs, this newspaper believes, creates a poor impression of the importance of municipal government and reflects upon the responsibility of the work by members of the commission already prevailed upon to serve. Such a condition ought to be remedied. We cannot expect men or women—and there is no reason why a woman should not be a member of the city council—to volunteer for these offices in any number. They must be prevailed upon to accept a position on the ticket as a matter of civic duty and because they may be able to serve the city. We can no more neglect to provide candidates for municipal offices than we can to provide candidates for the board of directors of the chamber of commerce or school district. At least one complete and harmonious ticket, and if possible two such tickets, should be presented to the citizenship each year at least two weeks before the last date for filing petitions for places on the city ballot. Apparently what we need in Wichita Falls is a municipal nominating committee which would select candidates for city offices and prevail upon them to accept the positions.

Criminal Trials on the Air

THE RUSSIANS may be a misguided people, but they do have ideas. The other day the Soviet government decided to root out the ancient Russian practice of wife-beating. So they arrested a wife-beater, took him into court and tried him; and—here is where the big idea comes in—they broadcast the proceedings by radio, so that any radio fan in all the Russias could tune in if he wanted to.

There is a notion this country might copy. Our big criminal trials sometimes seem to be conducted more for their entertainment value than in the interests of even-handed justice; so why not put 'em on the air and be done with it? It might not help convict the guilty and protect the innocent, but at least it would give a jaded American public a new thrill.

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Man About Town

What with the monotony of Harlem and the listlessness of Broadway, the lorgnette set has pounced upon a new gay asylum christened "Hot Feet's," located on West Houston street. The tony crowd that you observe at the Mayfair, in the Ritz or at the Colony or the Embassy, Rolls-Royce or Hispano their way down to the new late sin-den after the uptown dives have drawn their blinds, and they hurl their coin at the panting brownskins.

It is a replica of the old "Black Bottom" or "Furnace" rendezvous when those popular places were in the Fooey Fifties, and the same sepia showfolk officiate. The talent never let their hips get stiff, and there is an incessant parade of waiters cake-walking or strutting across the postage-stamp size dancing floor as they deliver their trayloads. But it is most hilarious when you summon a torrid torso-tosser over to your table.

Then if you fold a dollar bill lengthwise and place it on the edge of the table it serves as a signal for the entire cast to collect about the star thigh-grinder and wahoo hysterically—until the gal carries off the dollar.

Wonder why Mr. Ziegfeld's "Simple Simon" show decided at the final moment to eliminate Fred Keating's famously known birdcage stunt? It is well that the showman cut it from the proceedings, for the show doesn't need it and Mr. Keating, who won the favor of New Yorkers with the swelegant bit of magic when he first appeared in "Almanacs," considers it his ace. Keating appealed to all the critics via personal letter, and it is probable that if the show employed it Ziegfeld would have been wrist-spanked for hitting a fellow who isn't his size.

An obscure and desperate-for-recognition master of ceremonies thefted the stunt at the Capitol theater last week, incidentally. But he'll probably never try it again, considering the humiliation he brought upon himself. He first told how simple it was to do. "All I do is count three," he announced, "and presto, the cage and the bird disappear!"

But it didn't, and got caught in his cuff!

The new beer gardens in the Yorkville sector opened auspiciously the other eve'g and the local intelligentlemen and their ladies came. It is the tastiest brew in the town and will most likely prove the death knell for the Hoboken saloons. Three seidels of it and you tell your real salary. . . . Among other delightful diversions is sitting between John Held Jr. and Peter Arno in the Algonquin dining room when they are in the mood to scribble libelous caricatures of Welling. Knowns on the back of menus. . . . It is then that these expert pen and pencil men reveal their true opinions of you, you, you and probably you! . . . The news photographers at the Ziegfeld premiere snapped anyone in a tall hat and when one of us pointed to Ring Lardner (in a felt hat) and suggested that he would make a good subject, the hocus-pocus lad growled: "We were told to take pictures of celebrities."

Leave it to the peasants of the Broadwhalen Belt to belittle the success of one who has clicked. . . . His critics now argue that Harry Rosenthal of "June Moon" isn't so clever as All That! . . . The role is actor-proof, according to the idlers, and Mr. Rosenthal's interpretation of the piano-player assignment contributes nothing to the show. . . . All because one Murray Smith (in the same part) who, like Rosenthal, never appeared on a stage before, has been listed by the Chicago critics as the outstanding member of the Chicago cast. . . . David Belasco, the most priestly of the theatrical impresarios, is now wearing his collar front ways and with a cravat. The Haberdashers' Association will be overjoyed to learn. . . . Burton Crawford, of the Social Register, who apparently dislikes being conspicuous, goes to the Central Park Casino and other tony places in a blue dress suit with brass buttons.

The subject matter for sophisticates has petered out, according to the illiterotics. . . . There is nothing to talk about. . . . Divorce, which was once scandalous, is now commonplace. . . . Sane people talk sanely about companionate alliances. . . . Cigarettes, once the symbol of looseness, now represent a personal, sensory, sexless pastime. . . . Rouge, once the sign of the scarlet woman, now is essential to dignified dress. . . . A shiny nose is vulgar, and sallow faces are an intrusion. . . . indicating indigestion. . . . Risque stories of the past are openly retailed in any fashionable revusical. . . . Profanity, that old-fashioned sign of smartness, has been killed off by the stage.

Harems have fallen into desuetude. . . . Gambling has become a respectable home amusement. . . . Legs are no longer a treat. . . . References to ladies' mentionables don't offend because, presumably, the subject has faded on account of over-exposure. . . . The glamour of the stage has been dulled by the already dull cinemas, and birth control, once the thrill of Shaw's "Man and Superman," is now intelligently advocated by notoriously clean-minded citizens. . . . In fewer words, this wholesale freedom of speech is taking all the fun out of conversation, because there aren't any forbidden subjects any more. Chattering with nothing daring to chatter about is just as uninteresting as drinking would be if we didn't have a Prohibition law.

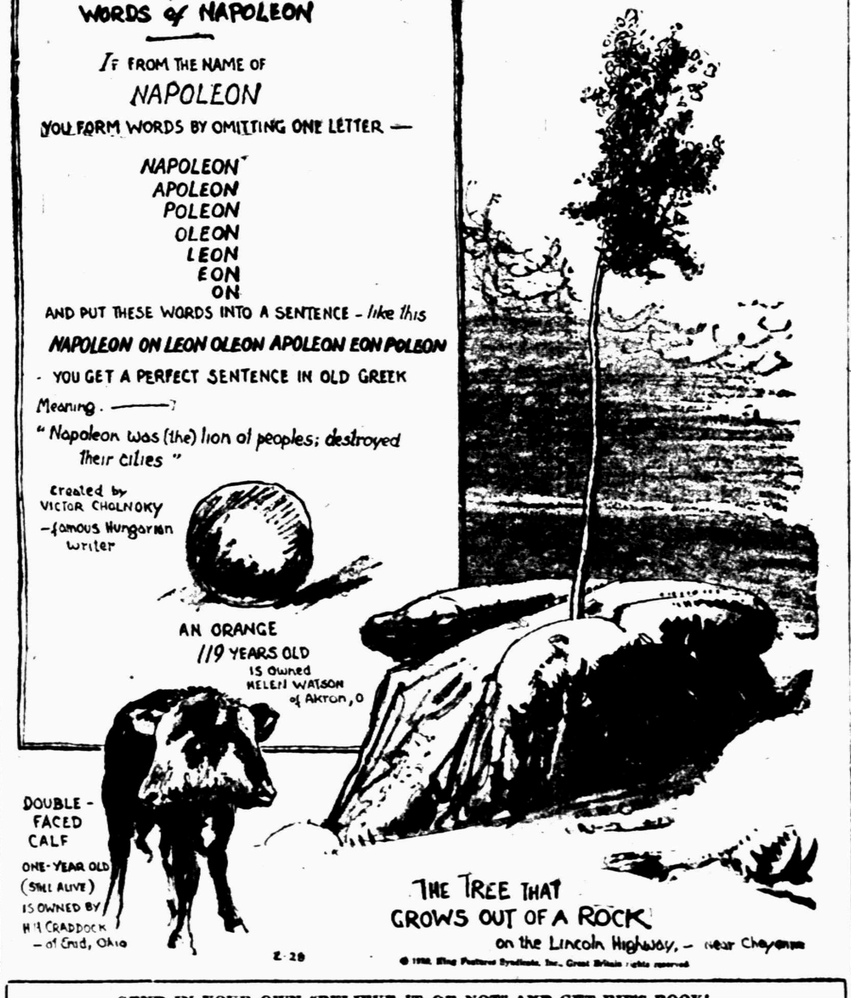

Something to Think About as you read the amusement advertising columns: Helen Morgan, who was starred in her first Paramount Publicker "Applause," is now buried under the billing of Charles Ruggles and Clayton, Jackson & Durante in the same firm's newest release "Roadhouse Nights" . . . Judge argues that the only thing worse than Broadway night life are the novels written about it. Haw!

Not since the first year of the new Madison Square Garden when McTigue was awarded the decision over Tiger Flowers has the record for booing been shattered. That is, not until the judges of the Golden Gloves bouts robbed a Porto Rican named Alvarez of his just reward the other night. The judges, it appears, were deciding a kid's merit on his third (and last round) activity. If you knocked your man down twice or whipped him in the first two rounds, it didn't matter. The Big Idea, according to the judges, was to do something spectacular in the final round, and if you did you copped all honors.

After a series of questionable decisions, the Alvarez burglary happened and the 22,800 fans turned on the "Bronx Cheer" which lasted 17 minutes, the most deafening and devastating raspberrying ever heard.

It reminded us of the time we played at the Bijou in New Haven.

"LOVEJOY" : — : By : Beatrice Burton

CHAPTER XLVIII

Before Tom had time to say a word Aunt Em came walking heavily into the room with a big round tea tray in her hands.

She was shaking her head mournfully. And she went on shaking it as she poured out three cups of tea.

"In my day a baby with a fever like that would have been plumped into a good, big tub of hot water!" she said. "But they've just been doping Tommy up with medicine. Norrie's in with the baby—and the doctor is lyin' down on the couch in my room. I just looked in there."

Her eyes went from one to the other of them gravely. "I guess he's pretty scared about Tommy or he wouldn't stay right here," she went on. "He'd go home and come back when he was needed. . . . I don't believe he thinks the baby is going to live—"

"Oh, Aunt Em!" Lovejoy's hands flew to her throat, clutching it. "You don't think the baby is really going to die—"

She turned blindly to Tom. "Tom—our baby—"

She stretched out her hands toward him and he took them in his. He drew her down against his shoulder, smoothing back her hair from her forehead where cold perspiration had broken out like dew. He laid his cheek against her head.

"Now, just a minute, Lovejoy! Hold on a minute!" he said, as if he were afraid she was going to faint. "If the baby were dying they'd tell us so, wouldn't they? And the doctor wouldn't go calmly into Aunt Em's room and take a nap, would he?"

He shoved her gently back against the gauzy silk and velvet pillows of Aunt Em's couch and stood up.

"I'll go and ask Norrie how he is," he said.

Lovejoy jumped up. "Don't leave me, Tom. Let me go with you," she said with a little cry of terror.

She caught him by the hand and they went through the dark, silent rooms that way.

Norrie had come out of the baby's room. She was sitting on the window seat in the hall, staring out into the blackness behind the pane. And she was wiping her eyes with her handkerchief as if she had been crying.

But when she spoke her voice was steady enough.

"I was just coming to tell you," she said, "that the baby is better. The fever's breaking."

Lovejoy's hold on Tom's hand tightened. "But that terrible way he was breathing, Norrie—what was that?" she asked

"Fever always makes babies breathe noisily," said Norrie, her eyes shining with the calm light that was always in them. "But the chances are that the baby will be breathing without a sound in a little while. Children get over things in no time at all. . . . I think I ought to wake up Dr. Arnott and tell him to go home."

"No," said Tom, "let him sleep. Doctors don't get much rest, do they?"

Norrie did not answer. She pulled her kimono around her, got up and closed the hall door.

"I want to say something to you, Lovejoy, and I don't want Aunt Em to hear it," she said softly. "She's the best woman in the world. But she has her own ideas about babies and she's been feeding Tommy between meals ever since you left. She gives him lumps of sugar 'to cut his teeth on,' as she says. And she doesn't believe that spinach juice and orange juice are good for him. . . . When you go away again—if you do—you'd better take the baby with you."

"Thanks." Lovejoy's voice was like ice. "I can plan my life without your help, Norrie!" She still hated her.

Norrie shrugged her shoulders.

She turned and went into the sick room for a moment. When she came out there was a look of relief on her face.

"The baby's sleeping like a lamb," she said, looking past Lovejoy and speaking to Tom. "Good night."

She went out through the door that Tom held open for her. He closed it behind here.

"Every word that she said was the truth," said Lovejoy, after a minute or two of silence. "I was almost three years old when I came to Aunt Em. She doesn't know much about little babies. I must have had the stomach of a young ostrich—for I can still remember the pancakes and the fried eggs that she used to feed me for Sunday morning breakfast. I always had what she and Uncle James had. . . . And think of her giving Tommy sugar and pink frosting from a birthday cake!"

Tom was shaking his head.

"You're not quite fair to Aunt Em," he said. "She did feed him junk—but the doctor said that the hot weather was partly to blame for his sickness. This room has been awfully hot and sometimes I'd keep the light burning half the night—and he'd wake up and cry. . . . Lovejoy, a kid needs its own home and its own father and mother. There's no getting around that!"

He sat down on the window seat and put his head down into his hands. Lovejoy noticed how much thinner they were than they had been a few weeks before.

"Listen to me," he said, "you can't go away from him and from me again, Lovejoy. He can't get along without you and—God! I can't live without you, Lovejoy! I can't live without you. It's taken me only two weeks to find it out. But I sure do know it!"

Lovejoy looked down at her left hand. Her eyes were on Steve Oglebay's ring, and her thoughts flew back to him.

He's waiting for me—she thought.

"I don't know what to do," she said slowly. "Tom, we tried living together and we made a terrible mess of it, didn't we? Tom, what happened to us? What spoiled everything for us?"

He looked up at her then.

"I'll tell you what wrecked us," he replied. "Money. Money that came too fast and too easily. We started to go around with a lot of bums. We learned to drink and to gamble and play around like the rest of the gang we ran with—spending money that we didn't have toward the last. We did all the fool things that keep the divorce courts buzzing these days."

Lovejoy nodded her head.

"And when I got tired of it and wanted to stay at home or take the baby for a ride you thought I'd fallen for Norrie Shane—and you started to fool around with Oglebay just to get even. Didn't you?"

Once more Lovejoy shook her head.

"I started it long before Norrie came to our house. You know that," she answered truthfully. "I started it when you began to play poker at night with Al Alderson and his crew. You probably think Steve ran after me. He didn't—not at first. I ran after him."

"But you don't care for him," Tom said bluntly. "You could have had him two years ago, but you took me. You could have him now—but you're going to stay here with me, Lovejoy, when two people have loved each other the way you and I have they don't get over it. They may think that they do—for a little while—"

He stood up and came across the narrow hall to her. She saw the old look of determination and fire come into his face. The stubborn line of his jaw hardened.

He put his arms around her and bent her head back so that her face was lifted to his. His hands shook, holding her, and she could feel their power and their passion.

This wasn't the Tom she had known for months—Tom, the worried husband and father.

This was the impetuous, passionate boy who had urged her into marriage two years ago because he couldn't live without her a day longer. . . . This was the bridegroom of the Hewlett street days. This was her own Tom, and there was nobody like him on earth, after all. . . .

"I'm never going to let you get away from me again!" he was saying, his mouth moving against her hair. "And if you want a divorce you'll have to fight for it in every court in these United States!"

"But, Tom, I've gone so far with it now," she said weakly. "Just two or three days ago I promised Steve Oglebay that I'd come back to him. I've talked to his lawyer—and he gave me this ring—"

"We'll send it back to him!—It'll serve him right for giving an engagement ring to a married woman," said Tom, and he laughed. "Next time he has a love affair he'll pick somebody without a husband, I'll bet a hat!"

Then his face became grave once more. "You know, life's going to be terrible for us for a while, Lovejoy," he said grimly. "All I have is this job, and it's going to take months before I'll be making real money. We owe so much—and we're going to have to live like a couple of Chinese coolies."

"We've lived like that before, and I imagine we can do it again," his wife answered, slipping a ring that had cost $10,000 from her shapely finger. "And this time it will be easier perhaps, Tom, because we've found out that money isn't everything. We had it for a while—and it wasn't so wonderful. But what would we have done if we'd lost the baby—"

Her throat swelled and tightened so that she couldn't go on.

From the room where the baby lay came a little wail. A wail so weak and pitiful that it was like the first cry of a new-born baby.

"He's awake!" Lovejoy whispered. "He's come out of that terrible sleep. . . . Tom, do you suppose he'll know us?" And hand in hand they went into the darkened room to look at him.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Lament of the Florida Tourist

I met a man in Florida
A guest of sev'ral weeks;
He sat upon a hotel porch
And tears rolled down his cheeks.

The tears they ran in rivulets
Till none remained to shed;
"Oh, why so sad?" I asked the man
And this is what he said:

"I am a fairly well known man
And great is my distress;
I'm yet to land a fish to suit
The photographic press.

"I've fished and fished and fished and fished
For what has seemed an age
But I am yet to see myself

"The biggest fish I've caught has weighed
But 30 pounds or so,
A little minnow, as it were,
Not big enough to show.

"Today I got a tuna fish
But, oh, alas, alack!
The photo demons said 'To small,
You'd better throw it back!'

"It only measured four feet-eight
And so the picture men
Refused to take our photograph—
Their limit's five feet-ten.

"The folks back home must be upset;
It was their hope and wish
That I would get my photo in
The papers with a fish.

"Complete, indeed, is my disgrace,
I feel misfortune's touch,
For men unphotographed down here
Just don't amount to much.

"Bill Jenks, the banker, made page one,
My butcher made page three;
My druggist made the Sunday Times—
But no such luck for me.

"All doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs
In Florida today
Have had their pictures taken in
The good old-fashioned way.

"But my vacation's over now—
My shame I'll never hide:
The only visitor unsnapped
With fresh fish by his side!"

MOSER EXPLAINS POLICIES OF FARM BOARD IN TALK HERE

EXPERT PLEADS UNIFIED WORK

to the furthest ends, of our commercial and economic structure, for of every dollar that is spent in this country, 50 cents of it was produced on the farm.

Situation Explained

"We face the pitiable situation of having to beg the farm board to aid us in obtaining even a fair price for the greatest asset this nation has. Cotton is even more indispensable than wheat; its uses to humanity are more manifold and important; yet we, almost alone of all industries, have gone idly along, competing each with the other, and breaking ourselves year after year. To make clear to you just how urgent it is that we begin today to limit 1930 cotton acreage, let me recall to your minds that in 1926 we produced 18 million bales of cotton, for which we received about $1,000,000,000 while back in 1923 we produced 10 million bales, and received for that cotton $1,600,000,000—three-fifths of a billion more dollars for 55 per cent as much cotton—because we did not raise too much."

Recommendations

Procedure recommended by the farm board for the coming season calls for the farmer to raise enough or more than enough food for his family, and for all livestock, poultry, etc.; to plant cotton on no land that has not shown a cotton profit during the past five years, (an era of maximum cotton earnings); and to plant cotton only on the best land he has.

"Apply to your own community this test: the farmer who has plenty of feed, and plenty of livestock, invariably is the best fixed financially. Conversely, the farmer who risks all on the price of cotton—even to raising more because he knows the price is going to be low—is the one who must cry for help. You will find it true in any community.

"If we show a disposition to cooperate with the farm board," continued Mr. Moser, "I think they will go the whole way with us toward revitalizing the cotton industry. If necessary, the American Cotton Cooperative association could borrow as much as $100,000,000—but it doesn't have a dollar to give away."

15 Per Cent Cut

A reduction of 15 per cent in acreage is being urged by the association, Mr. Moser said. It was stated that the country's total acreage in cotton should be kept down to 40,000,000 acres. Production of 13,000,000 bales in 1930 will assure a profitable market, the speaker said; 14,000,000 bales would mean a price lower than cost of producing; and a crop of 16,000,000 bales would mean another catastrophe like that of 1926.

"We must adjust ourselves to new standards of quality, as well as to the corporation-idea of marketing our product," Mr. Moser continued. "The quality of cotton raised in the United States in the past five years has decreased steadily, and alarmingly. In 1930, 24 per cent of this nation's crop was cotton having a staple of only seven-eighths of an inch. You know how inferior such staple is for manufacturing purposes, and how comparatively low its value is. Let me remind you that by raising such cotton, you are putting yourselves into competition with the lowest class of labor known to the world. In India, the Chinese coolies raise cotton for 15 cents daily wage—this kind of cotton. Either you must reduce yourselves to their standard of living, or they will elevate themselves to yours, for you can not get more money from that kind of cotton. Furthermore, during the past five years, while our staple has decreased, theirs has improved.

Board Praised

Referring again to the farm board, and funds appropriated for its uses, the speaker said: "This farm board has the greatest power ever given by our government to any committee or commission in peace times. It is made up of the most highly trained, the most intelligent men that could be found. They are our friends. This board intends to do what it can to help the farmers help themselves, and to that end, considers its chief objective the prevention of a surplus of cotton.

"None of this $500,000,000 is available to a farmer unless he is affiliated with the cooperative association in his community. Getting together is the only way to control production. By controlling production, and by that means only, will you be able to keep supply within the demand, and consequently, able to command a price for it in which there is some profit. The tighter you are organized, the better you can trade. The more loosely organized, the less are you able to make a good trade. You can not change economic laws; you may violate them, and you break yourself in doing so; but you do not change the law.

"The individual farmer can prosper only through volume of production, low cost of production, and equitable selling price of his produce. But he must remember this: the larger volume of the product under the control of a given agency, the greater the price which will be received for that commodity. In determining the price he will get for what he raised, he is helpless as a baby—unless he joins hands with his fellows in the same industry.

"Some may not like the idea of combination; but trusts are no longer unpopular. Those broken by Roosevelt in 1907 were pygmies compared to those which the public of 1930 embraces. Big corporations are the order of the day. They are here to stay. More than 20,000,000 persons in this country are stockholders in big corporations. These concerns maintain prosperity for themselves because they keep the supply equal to or just under the demand. We have little hope of seeing reduced prices on their commodities. Farmers either will follow the same plan they follow, and profit by it, or continue to plant cotton at random, unorganized, produce a big surplus, and pay the penalty."

Many persons seem to think, the speaker said, that the price of cotton is determined by speculators in the futures market and grain exchanges. Futures are necessary to the marketing of cotton, he said, because they offer a measure of insurance against decline to the ultimate purchaser of a crop. Speculators can have no influence on prices, however, Mr. Moser said, except as growers give him a cue as to future supplies by curtailing or increasing acreage on a given crop.

"We have a governmental policy on tariff; we have governmental policy on finance, on immigration, but heretofore none on agriculture. Now we have it, definitely stated. The government is going into partnership with the farmer to try to help him work out some of his difficulties. Our answer should be to get in step, and march."

Following Mr. Moser's address, he answered questions put by several members of the audience. He was introduced by Robert P. Hall, secretary of the chamber of commerce and agriculture at Electra. J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, presided, and opened the meeting with a brief outline of the program which the committee will follow during the year.

Mr. Moser returned to Dallas early Friday morning.

THREE ENTER CITY CONTEST

Candidates File at Last Minute

candidacy for mayor Thursday, has been a resident of Wichita Falls for the past 10 years. From 1924 until 1928, he was public utilities commissioner of the city, but has held no other public office. He is a member of the firm of Curd & Marcile, in the loan and insurance business, and has been active in the business world here since first establishing his residence.

He issued the following statement Thursday:

Curd Gives Platform

"In announcing my candidacy for mayor, I pledge my whole-hearted support to the continued growth and prosperity of Wichita Falls and to the development of still further advancement in all fields of endeavor in our city.

"I feel that there are a number of pertinent questions facing the city government at this time and that they will be brought before the council in the near future. Among these, it is my opinion that public utility rates here should be subjected to a thorough investigation by the council, especially the gas company franchise.

"On the matter of chain stores, a question which has been brought to the fore recently, I believe the council should give cognizance above all to the well-being of our local institutions and citizens and to the maintenance, first, of the city.

"I believe, owing to the fact that so much discussion both pro and con has appeared recently concerning the city manager plan, it probably would be to the best interests of all to submit the matter to a referendum of the people. This is a question with which the next city council will have to deal.

"I do not wish my candidacy, in view of recent rumors, to be announced as being on an anti-city manager ticket."

W. B. Corlett, announced for the place of alderman left open by J. H. Patton, has been a resident of Wichita Falls for the past 17 years, having come to Texas in 1893. He was for several years a ranchman in Clay county and served as a commissioner for that county from 1904 until 1908. He came into that office at a time when the county was badly in debt, but at the end of his tenure of office, the debts had been erased and several thousand dollars was in the treasury. His work at that time was mainly on road and bridge construction and improvement projects. Mr. Corlett is at present an oil operator here. He has held no public office other than that in Clay county.

Gas Service Charge Rapped

His statement issued Thursday was as follows:

"I feel in announcing my candidacy for alderman that the people of Wichita Falls as a whole should come first, above individuals and groups in all things. I believe the business men and citizens should be taken more into the confidence of the council than has been done in the past, not with the view of favoritism to any clique or individual but with that of approachability to all persons.

"I advocate greater publicity to all the affairs of the council than has been shown at times and feel that the citizenship should be given free access to all business of the body. I am opposed to any type of closed session.

"If the people are not satisfied with the city manager form of government, I feel the council should take steps to discover the true attitude of the city. I am not qualified to say the city manager plan is either good or bad, but I do not announce my candidacy on an anti-city manager ticket.

"I am opposed to the service charge of 50 cents a month made by the gas company here. If this practice is unfair and the rates are too high, an investigation should reveal the facts and give way to their correction.

"In reference to the street car franchise recently submitted to the traction company, I advocate greater control of the service by the city for the interests of the public. As far as I am familiar with the details of the franchise, I favor supervision by the city.

"I believe the chain stores should share their just burden of taxation in Wichita Falls and give their efforts to supporting the city."

Ammann Gives Views

Mr. Ammann is a member of the firm of Ammann & Jordan, public accountants and insurance men. He has lived in this city for the past 10 years, coming here from San Antonio. He has never held a public office but was a member of the treasury department of the United States in several different divisions, last with the income tax division, for several years prior to 1920. He has been actively engaged in business here since that time.

His statement Thursday in announcing his candidacy was as follows:

"Recently many of my friends have urged me to become a candidate for place four on the city council. I am glad to consent to become a candidate with a pledge, if elected, to do everything in my power to have a fair and impartial city government.

"I understand many important matters will be coming up for consideration with the new city council, all of which should have the most careful consideration. I believe public utilities should be carefully investigated with the object in view that our citizens should get the lowest rates possible.

"With reference to the city manager form of government, if the people want this question re-submitted, after the trial it has now had, I would be in favor of giving this question careful consideration.

"I belive the question of investigating city taxes more carefully with the hope of getting them on a more equal and economical basis should be carefully gone into.

"I furthermore believe that the people of Wichita Falls should be entitled to have a plain statement published in the newspapers of receipts and disbursements of their money with the invitation of constructive criticism of same.

"With reference to chain stores, I think this question should carefully be considered by the council so far as it affects the business of the city.

"My interests here in Wichita Falls are such that it would be only natural for me to want to do everything possible to see that this city goes forward."

Entire Family Of 8 in Custody of State's Officers

The last three members of a family of eight were taken into custody Thursday afternoon when James A. McDonald, county juvenile officer, placed three little children, from 2 to 8 years old, in a local boarding home for children.

The father of six children went to the state penitentiary for seven years early this week on a plea of guilty to an assault upon his 10-year-old daughter. On the day of his sentence, his wife was arrested on liquor charges by the constable's department at Electra, and is still held in jail there. Two older boys, 15 and 13 years of age, are being held on general delinquency charges in the juvenile ward of the county jail.

The 10-year-old daughter is under treatment at a local hospital.

BANDITS ROB COUPLE HERE

Man and Companion Lose $9.50 to Highwaymen

Two unmasked bandits held up Roy Childress, 1202 Lamar avenue, and his companion, Miss Birdie Moon, 2142 Avenue F, shortly before midnight Wednesday and took about $9.50, escaping on foot, according to police reports. The bandits approached the car in which the man and his companion had just driven up to Miss Moon's home and forced them to hand over their money.

About 20 cents of the amount taken was removed from Miss Moon's purse. Police had made no arrests on the case Thursday.

Three guns and a quantity of clothing and other property were stolen from the home of George D. Fox sometime Wednesday night. Mr. Fox told officers he believed the thieves were frightened away by the return of the family, since other objects of greater value were not taken. City and county officers were working on the case Thursday.

Search for Missing Aviators Goes On

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27. (UP)—The search for a Western Air Express plane missing since Sunday with a crew of three was concentrated on the south side of the San Bernardino mountains today, where smoke from a fire was reported to have been seen about the time the ship was due in that vicinity.

The three men who left Kingman, Ariz., to "ferry" the empty plane back to Los Angeles were James E. Doles, pilot; A. W. Bieber, co-pilot, and John Slaton, steward.

Bill Cude, also of Carnegie, Okla., who was walking with Mr. Bowers at the time of the accident, was not struck.

Mrs. Bowers, wife of the injured man, and their two small children were in an automobile a short distance down the road at the time, Mr. Bowers and Mr. Cude having started toward a filling station to obtain gasoline for the machine when the accident occurred.

11 Defendants Deny Galveston Rum Charges

GALVESTON, Texas, Feb. 27. (AP)—Eleven defendants in the George Musey liquor conspiracy trial denied in federal court today implication in rum running activities as alleged in testimony of Chris Paul, confessed liquor runner, on whose statements the government is basing its case.

Testimony of the defendants and of character witnesses consumed today's session and the defense still has other witnesses to present. The government will offer rebuttal and the case probably will take at least one more day.

Dominican Factions Effect Armistice

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. (UP)—An armistice has been signed by rebels and government authorities to prevent violence in Santo Domingo, capital of the Dominican republic, Minister Charles B. Curtis informed the state department today.

Curtis said a basis for settlement apparently had been reached.

Although there had been some alarming developments in the rebellion, Curtis said the capital was quiet and there were only a few incidents of violence in other towns.

Happy Woman Tells How She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 10 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for it—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Allison's Drug Store or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back. —Adv.

What Price LAZY APPETITE

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S.S.S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

S.S.S.

Builds Sturdy Health

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth. And being a powerful deodorant, it destroys all odors, leaving the breath fresh, sweet, and clean. It puts you on the safe and polite side.

Moreover, in using Listerine to combat halitosis, you are quite sure to avoid sore throat and those more serious illnesses that start with throat infections. Because such infections are caused by germs—and Listerine kills germs. Even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 yield to it in 15 seconds.

Technique of Massage

Local massage of the skin causes it to be nourished by that most marvelous of all skin foods, the blood, since during manipulation the blood is caused to flow more freely to the skin's surface, bringing with it the nutritive material which the skin needs. Massage also aids the lymphatic circulation through the body and in this way helps to eliminate the wastes.

Through massage the nutrition of the muscles is increased, the nerves nourished or stimulated, internal congestion can be relieved, adhesions removed. Swellings and thickened tissues may often be restored to normal. Massage also assists in removing fatigue poisons and usually leaves the patient feeling rested and refreshed. A heavy massage stirs up the stagnant material just as one may stir up dirt in a stream, causing it to be lifted by the water and washed on.

After massage, the number of red corpuscles is increased in the blood. The actual number may not have been increased, but those corpuscles which were lying down on the job in some out of the way place are thrown back in the circulatory stream.

Massage has been termed passive exercise, as it helps to nourish and tone up the tissues manipulated. Massage may help digestion and can be used to assist in removing the deposits that have accumulated around the joints. It may be used as a sedative for the nerves and should be used in cases of obstinate and long standing constipation. It is singularly useful for its toning action on sluggish abdominal organs.

Because massage may sometimes stir up too many of the toxic substances, it is not advisable in acute inflammation, in tuberculosis, or in skin diseases such as acne and eczema.

The different movements of massages, which may seem simply rubbing, to the layman, are really quite compliated, consisting of friction rubbing, kneading, wringing, slapping, stroking, rolling and pressing. The principal movements practised by masseurs are as follows: No. 1—Effleurage, meaning to skim over, which is the light stroking affecting the skin and blood vessels just underneath it. No. 2—Petrissage, meaning to knead or pinch. No. 3—Rolling. No. 4.—Tapotment meaning to tap. This is done by the tips of the fingers, the clenched fists, or the sides of the palms, according to the part of the body treated. No. 5—Deep friction, which extends to the muscles just underneath the skin. No. 6—Vibrating and shaking. No. 7—Squeezing along the blood and lymph toward the direction of the heart. No. 8—Stroking to quiet the nerves with gentle stroking of the skin after each treatment.

Massage may also include pressure of the nerves to cause them to become deadened or inhibited, or pounding of the nerve centers to cause them to become stimulated. It also includes manipulation of the joints.

Much of our knowledge of massage has come to us from Dr. Mezger, of Armsterdam, from Ling of Sweden, who established probably the first college for massage and exercise, and Dr. Weir Mitchell who introduced massage to America.

Every doctor of whatever school should have a thorough knowledge of massage in addition to his other training. Scientifically applied it is not merely a matter of rubbing, but a very valuable adjunct which can be scientifically applied, and which when properly used may be valuable in restoring health and preventing the need for the use of more radical methods of treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Crossed Eyes

Question—O. E. asks: "Have you any articles on tumors on the brain? I have a little boy who has one eye out of focus and it may be that he has a tumor."

Answer—I have written many articles of brain tumors, but would not attempt to advise you through this column about your boy's treatment, as such cases are too serious for anything but personal consultation and treatment. It is more than likely that your boy's trouble is simply caused from the muscles of one eye being stronger than the other. You should surely take your boy to an optometrist and have a careful eye examination made; he hould be able to tell you exactly what is causing the trouble.

Toast

Question—P. H. asks: "Is bread after it is toasted or baked very hard as fattening as it is when fresh?"

Answer—The caloric value of bread after it is toasted is not very much changed. However, the starch is changed to dextrin, in which case it does not ferment as readily, partially because the yeast cells in the bread have been killed. If you are on a strict diet to reduce it would be better to leave out the bread or toast entirely and if you feel the need of anything in its place take a small dish of some non-starchy vegetable, even in place of the usual breakfast toast.

ELKS ORDER $30,000 HOME

Carr and Blakemore Win Contract for Lodge

The contract for construction of the new Elks lodge building at Ninth and Travis streets was awarded to Carr & Blakemore of Wichita Falls at an approximate cost of $30,000 following an extended session of the building committee of the lodge Thursday, according to E. F. Fruechte, chairman.

Construction will begin next Monday and the building will be completed and ready for occupancy within about 75 working days, it was said. The committee began receiving bids at noon Thursday and continued in session until 9:30 o'clock Thursday night, when the award was finally announced. The cost of $30,000 is for the structure only, the interior equipment and furnishings to be estimated later.

The building will be of brick construction, two stories in height and will measure 50 by 100 feet in size. It will be on the rear portion of the lot at the southwest corner of Ninth and Travis streets.

$25,000 Damage Suit On Trial in 78th Court

Trial of a $25,000 damage suit brought by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas against the Postal Telegraph company and the Wichita Falls Southern Railway company, in connection with the death of their 16-year-old son last year, began before Judge W. W. Cook in the 78th district court Thursday morning.

The plaintiffs allege that the boy's employers failed to give him medical and hospital care to which he was entitled when he became ill here in January, 1929. The railway company was made a defendant in the suit because of the joint operation of telegraph lines with the Postal company. E. W. Napier, attorney for the plaintiffs, explained.

STATE PATROL TO TAKE ROAD

50 Members of New Police Force Ready

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Fifty members of the recently created state highway patrol, riding shining new motorcycles, will take to the roads tomorrow, if weather permits.

The men will work in pairs out of the following points: Paris, Van Horn, Odessa, Del Rio, Lubbock, Amarillo, San Angelo, Abilene, Brady, Wichita Falls, San Antonio, Austin, Fort Worth, Waco, Yoakum, Falfurrias, Corpus Christi, Dallas, Greenville, Brenham, Tyler, Texarkana, Lufkin, Houston and Beaumont.

THREE WICHITANS IN HIGHWAY PATROL

A telegram received Thursday night by the family of John Lowry, formerly a member of the police department here and selected for a position on the new highway patrol, stated he would arrive in Wichita Falls probably Friday but did not say whether he would be stationed in this city for his new highway work.

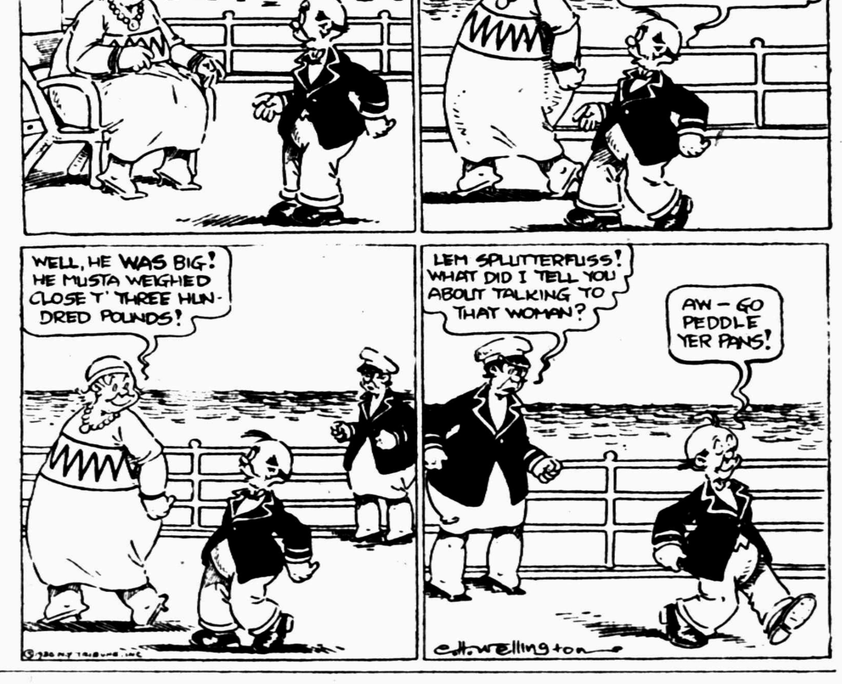

The other two members of the Wichita Falls police department selected for service in the new patrol were Clyde Bentley and R. R. Rohatsch. No word from either of these men was received Thursday and it was not announced in what city they would be stationed.

Court Upholds Deal in Which Oil Lease Bought for $25 Sells for $10,000

In refusing to cancel the contract or make an $18,000 award sought by the plaintiff, Judge Allan D. Montgomery in the 30th district court Thursday afternoon held that J. H. Howell was of sound mind when he accepted $25 for an Archer county oil lease assignment made to O. R. Tautenhahn.

In the suit, on trial before Judge Montgomery in Archer City all week, Mr. Howell sought to regain the lease and $18,000, claiming that he was of unsound mind at the time the transaction was consummated.

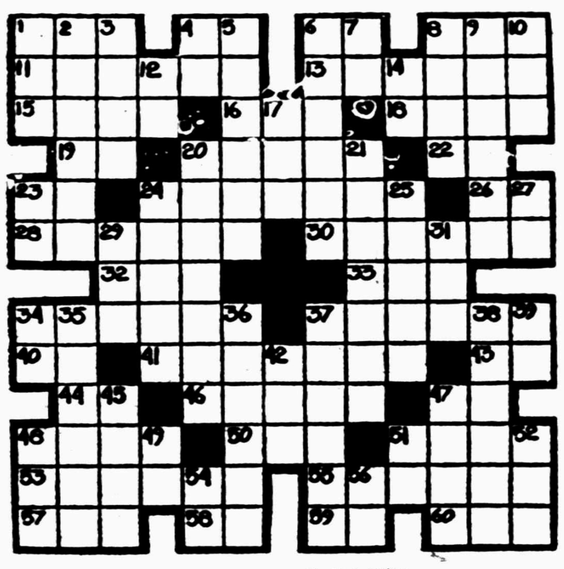

The assignment was made upon the payment of $25 after a test had failed to show oil, testimony in the case revealed. Later an offset well became a producer and Mr. Tautenhahn sold a part of the lease for $10,000. Mr. Howell claimed the sum and an additional $8,000 as revenue from the land.

The case was transferred to Wichita Falls for arguments Wednesday morning.

RING SIDE, MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—Amid scenes of the wildest and most extraordinary confusion, Jack Sharkey was declared the winner over Phil Scott tonight on a technical knockout after two minutes and 34 seconds of the third round. Scott, claiming a foul, resumed fighting after a minute's rest but was unable to continue after a smashing left hook to the body. Referee Lou Magnolia then stepped in and lifted Sharkey's hand in token of victory.

The third round opened with Scott boxing cautiously, at times, effectively to ward off Sharkey's vicious rushes along the ropes. Scott took a glancing blow to the head as he was partly off balance and went down for a count of three. Sharkey was warned by the referee for hitting low with his left. Scott grimaced but continued.

Again at close range in a fast mix up, Sharkey's left hit near the belt line but seemed more on the side than in the stomach. This time Scott went down gripping his side in an indication of foul. As Manager Jimmy Johnston jumped into the ring, Scott rolled over and manifested acute agony. Referee

"WICKED DECISION"

RINGSIDE, MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—"It was a rotten, wicked decision," was Phil Scott's dressing room deseription of the technical knockout awarded Jack Sharkey by Referee Lou Magnolia tonight after Scott had claimed a foul. "I know that I was fouled at least a half dosen times, I counted them.

"Not one blow was foul," Sharkey shouted, after the bout.

Magnolia refused to allow the claim and temporarily halted the fight as Scott was dragged to his corner for an examination.

Sharkey meanwhile raced about the ring, shouting and gesticulating he had not fouled his man. Magnolia consulted Scott and his handlers, flatly refusing to allow a claim of foul and gave Scott the alternative of losing the decision or continuing. After a minute's rest the Briton elected to fight again.

He limped out, pain and agony written all over his face, and backed from Sharkey's rush. After a few seconds of mixing, Sharkey smashed a left hook to the stomach, as Scott staggered along the ropes. Phil dropped his hands and registered helplessness. Magnolia asked him whether he wanted to continue as he stepped in between the fighters. Scott shook his head slowly, and Magnolia then went over to lift Sharkey's hand in token of victory on a technical knockout.

Sharkey's victory followed an unpopular decision of a draw in the 10-round semi-final between Johnny Risko and Victorio Campolo after Risko appeared to have won on points.

The show was declared a financial flop, although no official figures were available. It was estimated not more than 25,000 persons paid nearly $200,000 with indication on this basis of a $50,000 loss to the Madison Square corporation.

Tommy Loughran was declared the victor over Pierre Charles, of Belgium in a 10-round match put on after the main event. Referee Johnny Brassil of Boston lifted the Philadelphian's hand in token of a clean cut triumph on points.

The first bout ended in the first round with a clean knockout for Paul Bianchi, well built Argentine, over Bill Daring, former navy heavyweight champion, from the society stable maintained by E. F. Hutton, New York broker, at Palm Beach. After a brisk slugging bee, Bianchi put Daring down for the full count with a left hook, followed by a terrific right to the chin. Daring was counted out, flat on his back, after two minutes and 25 seconds of the round had elapsed.

Bianchi, a good-looking prospect, weighed 206½, and Daring 190.

Bianchi, in the first minute of fighting, nearly fell through the ropes after being clipped on the chin in a free-swinging slugfest. The South American went to his knees but was up without a count and tore into his man. The bout was scheduled for six rounds.

Maloney Whips Frenchy

Jimmy Maloney, the pudgy Boston heavyweight, battered out a decisive victory over game Moie Bouqillon, of France, in a ten-round preliminary. The Irishman's hand was lifted in victory by Referee Frank McCracken of Philadelphia after a slugfest in which the Frenchman took a severe beating, especially in the last two rounds. Maloney weighed 198 and Bouqillon 185.

The semi-final fight between Johnny Risko of Cleveland and Victorio Campolo, of the Argentine was declared a draw by Referee Kid McPartland, New York, after 10 furious rounds in which Risko, to a majority of ringside critics, as well as the crowd, appeared to hold a distinct edge.

Campolo made a strong finish in the 10th round staggering his rival with vicious rights, but to that time Risko, who had been barred from fighting the Argentine in New York because of his size, seemed to have piled up a substantial margin on points. There were no knockdowns.

The fight in detail:

Round One

Scott with the British flag sewed on the side of his trunks, took some time to adjust his gloves and go out for the first time. Sharkey were the fancy ambiets. Sharkey opened with a rush but failed to connect. Scott clinched as the American rushed again. They sparred and exchanged rights to the body. Scott adopted a half crouch and backed away from Sharkey's wild swings. The Briton stopped a right to the side of the head and clinched. Sharkey smashed a left hook to the ribs but was tied up as he came to close quarters. Phil shook a right hand out of the air and fought coolly. Sharkey was short with both hands and clinched again. Scott showed no disposition to mix at close quarters, but fired a long right to the ear at the bell. The Englishman was boxing nicely.

Round Two

Sharkey bored and shifted, stopping a right to the head as they clinched. Scott went in a corner as they fought at close range, but got up at the count of six. It was a left to the head. It was the force of Sharkey's rush that put Phil down. Sharkey missed with his left, but punished the Briton as they came to a clinch. Blood trickled from Phil's right nostril. They exchanged lefts to the body but Scott showed agility in tying up the American at close range. Sharkey dug a stiff left to the stomach. But missed an overhand by a half foot. They clinched just before the bell.

Round Three

They walked slowly from their corners and sparred. Sharkey missed a right and was almost wrestled off his feet. Phil adopted purely defensive tactics, but cuffed Sharkey lightly around the head as he rushed in. The American landed a long left to the jaw but was stopped by a left hook. Scott stung Sharkey with a hard right to the jaw and the American rushed his opponent across the ring. Scott went down for a count of three from a hook to the head. As he stumbled off the ropes Sharkey was warned for hitting low and Scott went down after a left to the body taking a count of six. Another left to the side sent Scott down and the Briton claimed a foul. Referee Magnolia withheld his decision after helping Scott to his corner for an examination. Scott's manager climbed into the ring and the crowd was in an uproar as the fight was halted. The Briton manifested agony but finally decided to resume fighting. The crowd roared as Phil came out to meet Sharkey's wild rush. They mixed furiously and Scott appeared in agony.

Scott appeared unable to continue fighting and Referee Magnolia stepped in to stop further boxing. He then lifted Sharkey's hand in token of victory.

The round-by-round description of the Risko-Campolo fight follows:

Round One

Campolo circled slowly and they clinched as Risko landed lightly to the body. Campolo swung viciously to the head with overhand rights at close quarters. Johnny missed a wild swing and charged and pushed the big Argentine into a corner. Campolo was boxing cautiously, wary of his tough rival's rushing tactics. Risko took a vicious pounding on the head as he neared in but refused to give ground. Johnny hooked his left to the jaw but took a severe beating around the head. Campolo hammered Risko's ribs at close quarters. He half stipped and got up without a count as the gong sounded.

Round Two

Campolo had a cut in the center of his forehead, a result of a training accident. Risko leaped in with a long left. Campolo blocked the next rush and then clinched. The South American was fast on his feet and boxed craftily. Johnny played for the body but took a sharp rap on the nose. Risko smiled as Campolo jabbed with his left and connected with a right to the head. Risko connected again with a right to the ear and they wrestled each other around the ring. Campolo missed a right swing by a foot and Johnny charged in with both fists going to the body. They were in a clinch at the bell and Campolo clapped his glove on Johnny's head with a comrade's gesture of approval.

Round Three

Risko, nearly a foot shorter than his rival, crouched and dug a right to the body. Campolo backed off the ropes and they exchanged light lefts. Johnny was beating Campolo to the punch with left leads. They exchanged hard rights to the chin. Risko forced the fighting and shook Campolo with a left to the ear. Johnny backed the Argentine into a corner and had him befuddled. Campolo smashed hammer-like blows to the top of Risko's head but Johnny backed off and grinned as the bell rang.

Round Four

Risko grunted as he charged in and they clinched along the ropes. Johnny swung both hands like a long shoreman and grinned as he picked off Campolo's left leads. They did a lot of long-range sparring. Risko landed a right and Campolo countered with a crack to the chin as he stalked Risko across the ring. Risko snapped his rival's head back with a left hook and pounded away with his right as they fought along the ropes. Campolo was repeatedly thrown off balance by Johnny's wild rushes. The referee broke them from a clinch at the bell.

Round Five

They sparred cautiously until Risko charged into a clinch. Campolo dug his right into Johnny's ribs. The Argentine kept boxing for an opening for his terrific right but found Risko an elusive target. The Clevelander hooked a long left to the head and blocked Campolo's right. Victorio seemed bewildered by his rival's rushing and shifting tactics. Risko almost lost his balance after missing an overhand right. The Argentine hit solidly to the head as they went into a clinch. They were sparring at the bell.

Round Six

Campolo stuck out his left and Risko curled a counter slow to the neck. The crowd yelled for some action but all they got was a few clinches. Johnny was wild with a left and Campolo missed a right. Risko kept swinging with both hands at close quarters, but inflicted no damage. Johnny leaped in and wrapped his arm around the big fellow's neck.

They slugged at a fast clip along the ropes and Johnny seemed to be enjoying himself immensely.

Risko hooked a left to the ear and hard right to the eye. The crowd roared as Risko rushed his opponent all over the ring. They broke from a clinch as the gong sounded.

Round Seven

Risko was battered by a two-fisted attack as they came from the corners. The Argentine landed solidly with both hands and finally seemed to have the range with his powerful right. Johnny backed off but only for a moment. He covered his head with his gloves then leaped in with a hard left to the jaw. Campolo slugged his body with hard rights but Johnny bounded off and smiled. The baker boy rushed his foe to the ropes and worked both hands to the body. They sparred for a moment then Risko shook Campolo with a smashing right to the head. The crowd yelled approval at the bell.

Round Eight

There was a big swelling under Campolo's left eye. The Argentine backed off and boxed cautiously, looking for a chance to smash in his right. Risko backed the Argentine to the ropes with both fists flying to the ribs. Campolo took three left jabs to the chin making a turn. Risko staggered Campolo with a looping right to the jaw and the crowd was in an uproar. Johnny was as aggressive as ever and tying up his rival completely in the clinches. Campolo went back on his heels in a corner to duck a wild charge and they mauled each other along the ropes. Campolo seemed baffled by his rival's attack and walked wearily to his corner at the bell.

Round Nine

Campolo handlers worked furiously over him before he came out. Risko swung a right to the head and bounded out of reach. He forced the Argentine to a corner and kept both fists working continually. Risko landed heavily to the head after taking several choppy rights. Johnny looked as fresh as a daisy and showed no hesitation to charge in.

Campolo took his rights at close quarters. Risko took a right uppercut on the chin and clinched. Johnny worked repeatedly for the body. They were in a furious mixup at the bell.

Round Ten

They shook hands and Campolo sought desperately for an opening. He landed his right but took two vicious swings in return. They slugged in the center of the ring and Campolo rocked Risko with hard rights. Johnny was battered savagely as he came out of a clinch and seemed groggy. Both were punching without let up. Risko plunged in after taking a smashing right. Campolo pounded Johnny's head and ribs with right handers, but the baker boy refused to give ground. They sparred and Risko landed lightly with his left. Johnny kept both hands flying and Campolo seemed tired by his early pace. Victorio smashed a straight right to Risko's jaw, just before the final bell.

ROBINS PLAY PRACTICE TILT

Randy Moore Joins Braves As Rookie

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Hank Deberry's Lemons today defeated Val Picinich's Grapefruits, 5 to 0, in the Brooklyn Robins first practice game. Cy Moore and Clarence Blethen divided the six innings of pitching for the winners while Bill Clark and Kent Greenfield toiled for the losers.

Vincent Liddy, who is being given a trial at his own expense, caught for the Lemons. He worked well back of the bat and in the final inning drove in two runs with a long double and later scored with the final run of the game.

Dazzy Vance, Jake Flowers and Jim Richardson were in uniform for the first time. Pitchers Luque, Thurston, Moss and Faulkner still are missing.

Braves Need Batters

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Manager Bill McKechnie today gave Outfielders Walter Berger and Earl Clark an opportunity to work out in the Braves' infield. Scarcity of right handed batters and good infield replacements will make the converted gardners favorites for jobs if they show ability.

Second Baseman Freddie Maguire is suffering from a back ailment and in infection of the optic nerve, which may put him out of the fight for a place. Red Rollins, coast rookie, also may lose out if Berger and Clark fill infield gaps.

Randy Moore, Texas outfielder, and southpaw Tracy Hart joined the rookie squad today.

Pirates Bat

PASO ROBLES, Calif., Feb. 27. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates took their first batting practice of the spring season here today. When the weather continued warm a lengthy morning practice instead of two sessions was held. The second squad of players is due here from Pittsburgh Sunday.

Rain Hinders Cubs

AVALON, CATALINA ISLAND, Calif., Feb. 27. (UP)—The Chicago Cubs did their practicing today between showers. A heavy rain at breakfast time kept them off the field until 11 o'clock and before they could get in an hour's work another rain snaked over the mountains and drove them to cover.

John Schulte, cut over the eye when he collided with Ed Lautenbacher, was at the field today and will resume practice Saturday. The outfielders and infielders will arrive Friday on the noon boat.

Holshauser Arrives

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—Batterymen who were supposed to report to Manager Bill Killefer, of the St. Louis Browns here Tuesday, continued to struggle today. The latest arrival was Herman Holshauser, big right-hander obtained from Baltimore. Killefer is still waiting to hear from Gray, Stewart, Collins, and Blaeholder. The latter is reported to be a holdout. Manush, slugging Brownie outfielder, also is understood to have some financial differences with the club.

Ruel Gets Benth

BILOXI, Miss., Feb. 27. (UP)—President Clark Griffith indicated today that Harold (Muddy) Ruel would be the first string catcher for the Washington Senators during the coming year. Ruel, who was the iron man catcher for the pennant winning Nats of 1924 and 1925 lost his place to the catchers Roy Spencer and Banny Tate last year.

Spencer and Tate are holdouts, and failed to report for initial practice today.

Nearly All There

ST. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Three veteran southpaws and one rookie were the only absentees from the Yankee practice today.

Waite Hoyt arrived four days ahead of schedule giving Manager Shawkey a complete quota of right-handed pitching talent, with the exception of Craig, a rookie, who was detained at his Nebraska home. Pennock, Zachary and Wells are the only important absentees.

Batting practice and fungo chasing exercises comprised the chief itms on the Yankee roster today.

Nurses Hurlers

PENSACOLA, Fla., Feb. 27. (UP)—Careful nursing of 22 pitchers, only five of whom are considered sure of regular jobs, is the principal task for Manager Heinie Wagner of the Boston Red Sox.

Weather conditions are so fine that the hurlers are anxious to cut loose, but Wagner has confined the drills to tossing the ball, chasing bunts and pepper games.

A recent investigation among monks in England indicates that vegetarians are not immune to cancer.

Florists Defeat Oil Magnates

The Morgan Floral company bowlers Thursday night defeated the Oil Magnates two out of three games at the Spudder Bowling alley. The Cinderella Boot shop team took a like number from the Ludlam & Riggs team. All are in the City league.

Parfet & Martlew's team of the B. & A. league won two out of three from Handy's. Staley's took the same number of games from the First National bank. Score:

Redskins Lose Afternoon Game to Texarkana

PARIS, Texas, Feb. 27. (AP)—Texarkana, Paris, Gainesville and John Tarleton won the initial games of the Texas Junior College Athletic association state basket ball tournament here. Tonight's scores were: Tarleton 46, Wichita Falls 22; Paris 39, Hillsboro 25.

Texarkana Junior college and Gainesville took the first rounds of the tournament this afternoon, Texarkana defeating Wichita Falls 45 to 33 and Gainesville trouncing Hillsboro, 33 to 13.

Redskins Swamped

The Wichita Falls Indians stood little chance tonight against the powerful farmers from John Tarleton. Rogers, Tarleton center, swooped down upon the Redskins for a total of 16 points, setting the pace for his side's scorers. Blacklock was Wichita Falls high point man with four field goals and one free toss.

Age on Mound and Youth in Field Will Be Sports' 1930 Concoction

(Editor's Note—This is the seventh and last of a series of articles on 1930 prospects of Texas league clubs.)

By JOE CARTER
Shreveport Times Sports Editor
(Written for The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 27.—Age in the pitcher's box and youth in the field!

That's the combination Shreveport plans to offer in the 1930 Texas league flag race.

It's the same concoction they served in 1929 and it landed them in second place—their highest berth in 10 years—after they played the most consistent ball of any outfit in the loop.

One Infield Vet Back

Only one player who was a member of the Sports' infield in 1929 remains. He is Gus Whelan, first sacker. All others have been promoted. Cecil Stewart is with the Cleveland Indians, Bernie Devivero is with Oakland of the Pacific Coast league, and third baseman Ernie Holman is a member of the Boston Red Sox. The report is that Stewart, still a rookie in the Texas league, will be back.

For the vacancies in the infield, players who rate as "class men" in the league will be used. Joseph Huarte, from the Lynn club of the New England league, is being handed the shortstop berth, and Holman's job is being presented to Ulmont Baker, a very young man from the Piedmont league. Both were good hitters and good fielders and very fast on the bases. If they fail to make the grade the jobs probably will fall to several other recruits who will be here. The others, though, are not being considered at present and are being consigned to berths on the Alexandria team, a farm for the Sports, in the Cotton States league.

Good Outfielders

In the outfield, the Sports have four men who come under the class rule. They are Roy Hutson, Pete McClanahan, Walter Park and Parker Perry. Hutson and McClanahan were holding down regular berths with the local team 1929 when forced out for the season with injuries. Hutson's arm was broken and McClanahan went out with a broken leg. Both were well up with the leaders, hitting .340 when forced to retire after the first three weeks. Parks played 85 games in left field and batted .337. The other outfield holdover is Oy Cashion, a very good hitter and fielder. Cashion has his job clinched. Perry comes to the Sports from the Southeastern league where he batted .359. He led the league in driving in runs.

Behind the bat, Frank Tobin and Bernie Starr, holdovers, will compete for jobs with Dutch Krause and J. Luckey, Cotton States league recruits. One of the vets is almost sure to depart to make room for Krause, a husky, who is a good hitter, clever receiver and fast.

Backers of the Sports believe their club will be better than the one that started the 1929 race because of the improved hurling staff. They start the training camp with proved material in Wilbur Cooper, Tiny Owens, V. Morrell and Albert Williamson, holdovers. Hap Collard, who won 10 games and lost two after joining the team late last year, was lost in the draft. Oscar Estrada has been released.

Youngsters on Mound

To compete with the veteran hurlers will be a flock of youngsters. They are A. Miller, Andy Brice, George Wood and Lefty Ward. All have been knocking at the Texas league door for several seasons now. Jim Grant, veteran southpaw, who was turned out last year when he failed to get in proper condition, is coming back.

The real new hurlers are Joe Spear, who won 17 games and lost 7 in the New England league. Herb Kelly from Alexandria of the Cotton States league, Pat Moulton from the Southeastern league and V. Underhill from the Three-Eye league. Every hurler averaged better than .500 per cent in games won in 1929.

One of the big assets of the Sports will be speed. Every man on the squad, excepting the pitchers and Catcher Tobin, is fast. Skipper Art Phelan expects plenty of base stealing from his aggregation. Ollie Biedenharn, owner of the Sports, is not claiming the pennant, but predicting his team will be as hard to beat as in 1929, when it surprised the league.

In addition to the four outfielders rated the best chances to make the team, the Sports have Siki Sikes and Sam Scaling from the West Texas league. Each had a batting average of .346.

Other infielders who will be given plenty of consideration are E. Mueller, shortstop, from the West Texas league, and William Andrus, third baseman from the Three-Eye league.

Manager Phelan believes his greatest task will be in replacing Third Baseman Holman who hit 25 home runs, stole 15 bases, drove in 96 runs and batted .307, in addition to being next to Jodie Tate and Eddie Hock for fielding honors. In Baker, who hit 26 home runs, he has a likely looking substitute.

After being burned at the stake in 1431 Joan of Arc's ashes were thrown into the Seine river from the bridge at Rouen.

CHICK SEASON STARTS SOON

Johnson to Ship 50,000 Each Week

Full capacity operation in the production of baby chicks will be under way at the M. Johnson Poultry ranch within the next 12 days, according to information given by Mr. Johnson Thursday.

Full capacity will mean the constant incubation of 280,000 eggs contained in 11 incubators. Compartments are refilled instantly after each hatch of chicks has been removed. Between 50,000 and 60,000 chicks will be shipped weekly beginning about March 10, it was said, shipments going to all parts of this continent.

Eggs for the Johnson incubators are being produced from the local ranch and that at Bowie. Approximately 20,000 hens are included in the two flocks, which are supplying about 12,000 eggs daily for incubation.

Deliveries of eggs in the local market Thursday were unusually heavy, it was reported. No changes in price were announced during the day but slight declines before the end of the present week were predicted. Another solid carload of eggs left the Armour creameries plant Thursday.

Federation of Labor Asked Revoke Charter

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 27. (INS)—Revocation of the charter of the Illinois Federation of Labor was conditionally demanded here today by the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America, in a resolution sent to the American Federation of Labor.

This step was asked unless the federation's executive council is able to halt the activities of John H. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, in sponsoring the outlaw union miners' national convention, called for Springfield, Ill., on March 10.

WOUNDED BY OFFICERS

BEDFORD, Ind., Feb. 27. (UP)—Mrs. George Wilder was recovering today from a superficial bullet wound received late yesterday when the automobile in which she and her husband were riding was fired upon by M. A. Raibolt, Bedford chief of police, after Wilder had failed to comply with Raibolt's request to stop his car for a liquor search.

Marriages are officially stated to have taken place in India between girl babies aged one and boys aged three.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under a renewal of near month liquidation was followed by rallies during today's trading. Offerings were comparatively light after the early selling had run its course and prices advanced on trade buying or covering promoted by the firmer ruling of wheat. May after selling off to 15.22 rallied to 15.59 and closed at 15.52 with the general market closing barely steady at net gains of 14 to 21 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 3 to 10 points with active months showing net losses of 5 to 11 points right after the call under liquidation, particularly in the near months which were evidently influenced by the circulation of March notices estimated at about 15,000 bales. March sold off to 14.90 while July worked down to 15.15 and old October to 15.69. Buying became a little more active, the advance extending to 15.24 for March, 15.85 for July and 16.01 for old October or about 19 to 29 points net higher. Closing quotations were several points off from the best under realizing.

Early Liverpool cables made a fairly steady showing, with Bombay selling there absorbed by covering and trade calling. These advices said business in cotton cloths and yarns was slow in developing, owing to distrust in prices.

Exports today, 9,242, making 5,390,182 so far this season. Port receipts, 9,717. U. S. port stocks, 2,159,408.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27. (AP)—A late bulge carried cotton prices about $2 a bale over an opening decline today, under a demand prompted by the Mississippi legislature's action advocating a reduction in acreage to 60 per cent of last year's acreage and the reported forming of a big cotton pool on the Pacific coast.

May which traded at 15.07, shortly after the opening, advanced to 15.44 on the late bulge and closed at 15.33 or 25 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net gains of 22 to 25 points.

The market opened easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables than due. First trades showed losses of 5 to 8 points and May lost a point additional after the start, selling to 15.07 and July to 15.29, or 6 to 8 points under the previous close.

July traded up to 16.69. The close was 6 to 7 points under the best with July at 15.62, or 25 points net up.

Late Profit Taking Wipes Out Some of Stock Market's Early Gain

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (US)—Afternoon profit-taking wiped out part of gains scored in further advance in the stock market this morning. Continued strength in the grain market and easing in money conditions were the influences to continued demand in the early hours. As Steel and other standard Industrials failed to follow through, however, heavier offerings were influenced and the entire list slipped off in the final hour.

Steel finished with net gain of 1¼, selling exdividend. American Telephone advanced 3 points, Westinghouse 1½, Bendix 2¼, American International 2⅛, Public Service 1½, Eastman Kodak 3⅛, Lambert 1, Brunswick Balke 5⅞, Lambert 1¼, and Macy 3⅛. Coppers and Oils remained quiet and irregular. Rails were fairly firm in light turnover. The call rate dropped from renewal of 4½ to 4 per cent. Turnover increased to near the 3,500,000 share level.

"Oh! for another Winthrop burr" is the cry of brokers as they tell their sad tale of what is going on in this highly professional market in which nearly all stocks but the highest grade industrials and Rails are being manipulated as never before. In crying their woes, however, the brokers pay little attention to how the ballyhoo of pool managers is being conducted or how prices are being "made." It is such activity that Mr. Burr, who was one of the best and most active officials the exchange ever had on its business conduct committee, would be working against. The cry of the brokers today is almost entirely about the double-crossing. Hardly a day passes in which another tale is not told of some operator selling out or double-crossing in one or the other pool pets. With little if any public interest the professionals have to trade with one another. Therefore many who get options from liquidating pools quickly sell, for, as the brokers complain, there don't seem to be any such thing as a "gentleman's agreement" in a professional market.

Announcement of formation of the Westinghouse-Bendix company helped the pool in its work in Bendix. Several leading wire houses tipped the latter stock following announcement of the new company. Moon Motors was even more widely tipped but with such leading motor stocks as Chrysler, Hudson, and others of companies doing good business holding back the pool in Moon finds difficulty in getting a following. As Radio soared word reached the street from Florida that "buy radio" is the slogan "all over the beach." Market followers in the south, however, still have a big short position in Gillette, Simmons and many others.

Further good buying of Brooklyn Union is reported. Latest rumor as to the "Mellon Price" for control is $200 a share. Consolidated Gas insiders hold to their opinion that there is no chance for merger under present conditions. American International report of record earnings of $8.86 a share brought in fairly large amount of outside buying. Insiders do not seem to be doing anything in the stock, however. Reduction in assets and surplus against present holdings influenced some profit-taking. Group activity in Parmelee was helped by special advice of one of the largest stock exchange firms telling of prospect of further gain in earnings. Lambert was the subject of special analysis that emphasized its 7½ per cent yield and comparatively low ratio of selling price to earnings.

As expected the brokers' loans showed little change for the week, the $5,000,000 decline being unimportant in view of the highly professional character of the present market. Further strengthening of the reserve's position was indicated in the jump of 3.1 per cent in ratio of reserves of the local bank and gain of ¼ or 1 per cent in that of the system. According to current reports the bank of England is working "through financial diplomatic circles" for another reduction in its rate. Unless the local rate is cut the Bank of England cannot do so without unduly disturbing international financial plans. Local financial powers are not ready to cut the rate here again for the moment. The most important reserve development today—to those who regard international rather than domestic influences as the dominant security market and business factor—was resignation of Gates McGarragh from the local bank to take the presidency of the International bank.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Feb. 27. (AP)—Offerings of wheat on the cash grain market today were light with bulk of the sales to grain stabilization agency at $1.21, basis No. 1 hard delivered gulf ports. No quotations possible on wheat not applicable on grain corporation sales but values considerably below government price. Sorghums in fair demand but corn, oats and barley slow.

Bids and offers, basis carloads delivered, freight paid to Texas common points:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 91@92c; No. 2 white or yellow 93½@94½c.

Oats—No. 2 red oats 55@56c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group one points 54½@55c.

Barley—No. 2 barley, nominal, at 68@69c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per hundred pounds $1.55@1.59; No. 2 kaffir $1.40@1.41.

Cane Seed—Bulk country run red top, per hundred pounds $3.05@3.20.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Rapid upturns in wheat prices today resulted from immense new buying of Chicago future delivery contracts. Much of this buying was ascribed to government-sponsored sources, and was concentrated on the May delivery, which at times went to a premium over July. May 1929 wheat has been at a discount compared with July contracts which stand for wheat yet to be grown.

Closing quotations on wheat futures were strong, 2@2⅜c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1@1½c up. Oats ⅝@1c advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Entrance of the farm board's allies organizations into the wheat futures market was generally regarded as tending at least temporarily to restore confidence in higher prices.

One result of the new moves to the federal farm board and its allied organizations was to arouse more interest in the corn market than has been generally shown of late.

The corn market moved up readily with commission houses generally on the buying side and many of them taking the ground that the corn market was on a less artificial basis than wheat. Country offerings of corn to arrive were small, and eastern shipping demand good.

Provisions went higher responsive to upturns both in hog values and in grain.

Closing bids and offers: Wheat, March $1.05⅛@1.13½, May 1.09⅝@109⅝; $1.16⅝@1.16¼; July $1.10⅝@1.10½, $1.16⅝@1.16¼; September $1.13⅛, $1.19⅛@1.20. Corn, March (bids) 81½c; May 85⅜@86; 88½; July 88¼@88⅝; 90⅝@91; September 88⅞; 90⅝.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27. (AP)(U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit today was featured by another sharp break in the fat lamb prices. Losses of 25c to 50c were reported at most centers with choice lightweight lambs in Chicago going at $10.50. Mature sheep weak to lower. The supply approximated 50,000 an increase of 5,000 over a week ago but 9,000 short of the corresponding day last year.

Moderate activity developed on hogs at strong to 25c higher rates. Light weights showed the most upturn. The top of $11.50 was paid both at Chicago and St. Louis. Offerings 87,700, against 91,083 last Thursday and 90,487 a year ago.

Choice long fed 1663-pounds beeves in Chicago made $14.75. Kansas City secured $12.20 for good medium weight Colorado steers and $10.50 for South Texas Brahma grassers of light weight. Stockers and feeder trade slow and weak. Receipts 21,850, about the same as a week ago and 3,000 short of a year ago.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 27. (AP)—(USDA)—Hogs—Receipts 7,500; 10@25c higher; top $11.00 on choice 196 to 240 pounds; packing sows $8.25@9.60; stock pigs $7.75@9.50.

Cattle—Receipts 2,000; calves 500; short fed steers lower; other killing classes steady; stockers and feeders weak; slaughter steers, good and choice 1100 to 1500 pounds $11.50@14.75; 960 to 1100 pounds $11.75@15.25; fed yearlings $12.25@15.20; heifers $10.75@14.00; cows $7.50@9.75; vealers $7.50@13.50; stocker and feeder steers $10.50@13.25.

Sheep—Receipts 11,000; extremely dull; lambs $8.75@9.85; ewes $3.75@5.35.

Court Suspends Two Oklahoma Attorneys

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Notice that Hugh A. Ledbetter, Ardmore, and Albert T. Patrick, Tulsa, have been suspended from practicing before the U. S. supreme court was received today by Mrs. Jesse E. Moore, clerk of state supreme court. The notice said that unless Ledbetter and Patrick show cause to the contrary, they will be disbarred within 40 days.

Ledbetter was disbarred by the Oklahoma supreme court two years ago. Patrick was disbarred by the New York state supreme court about 15 years ago after his conviction of the murder of William Marsh Wright, Texas millionaire.

TOLL BRIDGE PURCHASE

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Action on the proposed purchase of the Bridgeport toll bridge will be taken by the state highway commission when a federal engineer, who appraised the bridge, makes his final report, highway commission members announced today. George D. Key is principal owner of the bridge.

CROP STATISTICIAN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Kenneth D. Blood, new federal crop statistician for Oklahoma, will arrive either Friday or Saturday to assume his duties in the Oklahoma office. Blood succeeds Carl H. Robinson, who has served in the office seven years. Robinson was transferred to Austin, Texas. Blood comes here from the Austin office.

Take Fingerprints In Bethany Bank Robbery

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 27. (UP)—Clues to the identity of two bandits who robbed the Farmers State bank, Bethany, Tuesday, of $5,000 were expected by police today in the identification of three fingerprints.

The prints of the right hand of one of the robbers were found on the door of the bank vault. The same prints were found on the automobile the robbers are believed to have used in escaping.

Two suspects arrested by deputy sheriffs still were held today but they had not been identified by Bethany witnesses to the robbery.

SCHOOL PLANS DRAWN HERE

Architects Work on $100,000 Improvements

Architects are now working on plans for $100,000 worth of additions and equipment which was provided for in the recent school bond election and which will be added to several of the local buildings, according to the announcement made Thursday by W. W. Brown secretary to the board of education.

Decisions have not been made yet as to the definite locations of the additions and actual construction will not begin until the termination of the local session of school which will be the latter part of May, Mr. Brown said. The equipment will include seats for several of the classrooms, which at the present time are inconvenient due to congestion.

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of public schools, who is away attending an educational meeting is expected to return Monday, at which time the architect's report will be given and more definite plans will be made.

Never Expected Well Day Again

Well-Known Retired Amarillo Citizen Says He Is Full of New Life and Energy Since Taking Orgatone

"A year ago I didn't think I would ever be a well man again, but Orgatone has put new life in me and I feel so good I'd like to run a footrace with some of the boys," was the characteristic statement of W. H. Cherryhomes, a well-known and highly respected retired citizen of Amarillo who resides at 508 Madison street, that city.

"I suffered for 20 years," he went on, "from rheumatic pains and sciatica that would run up and down my limbs like a fire spreading out and burning. I also had kidney trouble that bothered me constantly, gas would form in my stomach that made me uneasy, for I couldn't tell what it was. My nerves were in a pretty bad state and worried me all the time. Sometimes my condition would get so bad that I was really afraid to stir about any."

"I began to take Orgatone a little while ago and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. My nerves are now perfectly steady like when I was a young man, and I am feeling more like my old self again. I feel lively and more energetic and want to be stirring about and doing things. Orgatone has done me more good than anything I ever saw or ever took in the past 20 years, and I gladly recommend it every chance I get."

MAJESTIC: "This Thing Called Love," demonstrated by Edmund Lowe and Constance Bennett. Sportlight novelty. Sound shorts.

STRAND: "Sunny Side Up," with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell. More interesting than some others of the same ilk. Talking shorts. Sound news.

STATE: Ernest Torrence, Dorothy Sebastian and Roland Young in "Unholy Night." Which one? Talking shorts. Sound news.

GEM: Bob Custer in "Parting of the Plains." Chapter 13 of "Tarzan the Tiger." Comedy, "Household Blues."

Ruminating among the world's drama, literature and historical chapters of all time will reveal the fact that hardly any character could have been found for George Arliss comparable in charm and interest with that of Benjamin Disraeli, later Lord Beaconsfield, prime minister of England. That country has known no periods of greater expansion and stabilization than those in which her two great queens, Elizabeth and Victoria, not only occupied the throne, but were her rulers.

Stories for the use of drama ever have created a hero with great potentialities, have thrown into his path tremendous obstacles, and have carried him after much tribulation into his hour of triumph—at which point love is found, realized, understood or rewarded, according to the pattern. The current epidemic of talking-picture bromides in which Broadway's musical comedy stage becomes the world's greatest field of battle builds upon the same ancient layout, magnifying fictitious bleaters and tapdancers for the creation of heroes and heroines.

Since the theater audience, present and past, registers its pleasure in following the courageous heart over a stony road to success, "Disraeli's" acclaim as one of the greatest plays of today was to be expected. Benjamin Disraeli's Jewish blood imposed a heavy handicap at the scratch—being in England. Victoria's subjects first turned attention to him because of his appearance. A comrade of Alfred D'Orsay (who succeeded Beau Brummel as the Englishman's master of social polish) Disraeli strutted confidently with tasseled ivory cane, inlaid with gold, flower-embroidered waistchains unnumbered, and priceless ruffles. Then he shocked his friends and public alike by writing a highly successful novel, "Vivian Grey." He was made. Young, handsome, a fop in a generation which idolized foppery, and with an ambition which equaled his intellectual genius, Disraeli proceeded to conquer England despite envy, ridicule, and unceasing journalistic satire. His career teems with every element which could be called romantic, and pictures vividly the march of a shrewd, far-seeing, but sentimental statesman to the highest political station offered by the age in which he lived.

LEE REVIEWS DRUG MENACE

Use of Narcotics Increasing, Rotarians Told

"Use of narcotics is on the increase in the United States, and constitutes a grave national danger," said Dr. Q. B. Lee in a talk before the weekly meeting of the Rotary club at the Kemp hotel Thursday.

During the course of his address, Dr. Lee emphasized the following statements:

A relatively small percentage of the numbers addicted to the habitual use of drugs in this country developed the habit as a result of being given drugs while ill.

Most of the addicts start as young fellows through membership in a gang containing a user.

Higher types of men degenerate rapidly under the influence of narcotics, losing self-respect and respect for life.

Narcotic-users impose a heavy expense upon the taxpayers of the country.

Suppression of smuggling of drugs, segregation of addicts permanently in an institution, and further education of the public offer the best means of combatting the menace.

Thursday's program included two vocal solos by Mrs. Nelle Lowrey, who was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Cole.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germladen phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.
