Gunshot victim dies; murder charges filed

Murder charges were filed against a 31-year-old Snyder man this morning, following the death of another local man he allegedly shot 11 days ago.

"A complaint has been filed with the district attorney's office charging Rosario Antonio Carreon with murder," Police Sgt. Kevin Fritz said this morning. "Carreon was taken before Justice of the Peace Wanda Rushing where bond was set at $100,000."

The victim, Delbert Dean Ostrander of 1917 Coleman No. 4, was pronounced dead at 5:25 p.m. Thursday at University Medical Center in Lubbock. An autopsy had been ordered.

Ostrander had been in critical condition for the past 11 days after suffering a gunshot wound to the abdomen at his apartment here.

According to police reports, Carreon came to Ostrander's apartment on Saturday evening, Oct. 10. The two had a verbal exchange, and Ostrander was shot with a .380 caliber semi-automatic handgun.

Police and Snyder EMS were dispatched at 8:52 p.m. by a 911 call from Mrs. Ostrander.

Police said Carreon left the residence before their arrival but turned himself in to Sheriff's Deputy Kerry Fritz about 10:25 p.m.

Ostrander was transported to Cogdell Memorial Hospital where he was stabilized and airlifted to University Medical Center by Lubbock Aerocare.

Sgt. Fritz said the case will be presented to the next county grand jury.

Appreciation Day set Saturday in coliseum

The public is invited to share in the fourth annual Texas Department of Criminal Justice Appreciation Day, scheduled Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum.

More than 650 people are expected for the event, which will be held from noon to 3 p.m. It is sponsored jointly by the chamber of commerce and the Board of County Development.

Tickets to the barbecue, to be catered by The Shack, are $5 each, and are available to the public at the chamber office.

The event is held each year to allow the community to express its appreciation to the employees of the Price Daniel Unit and their families, said Jack Smartt BCD chairman.

The state prison has more than 300 employees with an annual payroll of $7 million. The location of the unit here that opened in 1989 marked more than two years of work by local civic leaders.

A drawing for door prizes will highlight the event. Also featured will be musicial entertainment and a puppet show involving the audience, with Max von Roeder as emcee.

Members of the chamber, Gold Coaters and economic development committee members will be on hand to greet TDCJ employees and their families.

Spending must be controlled, says visiting economic advisor

The "ill effects of building debt" and views on the national deficit were presented to Scurry County citizens Thursday as the vice president and senior economic advisor of the Federal Reserve Bank in Dallas spoke to a capacity crowd in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College.

Dr. W. Michael Cox endorsed term limitations by saying the nation needs to get back to a system of rotating people through congress who know about business and who are successful in business rather than career politicians.

Cox said it is more important to get congress and government spending and growth under control than who is elected president. In fact, Cox said whomever is the next president will get credit for an improved economy about midway through his first term.

"Theoretically, people have the power to use money and we send representatives to congress," said the economist. "The blame (for the economy) lies with us for being educated enough to know. If we are not educated enough, we will be taken advantage of."

In a quote from Thomas Jefferson, Cox said "if we can prevent the government from wasting the labor of our people on the pretense of caring for them, they will be happy."

Dr. Cox received his B.A. degree in business and economics from Hendrix College in 1972 and his Ph.D. in economics from Tulane University in 1976.

His responsibilities at the Dallas Fed include being an advisor on monetary policy to the president. His expertise centers on domestic monetary policy, government debt and deficits, and international finance. He is also an economics professor at Southern Methodist University.

Thursday's economic forum was sponsored by WTC and Snyder Rotary Club.

According to Cox, building debt always has ill effects. "People want more consumer goods than they have income," said Cox. "They borrow on the future with credit to live high on the hog now."

Cox compared the national budget to a family budget where debt against future income finally gets so high that it takes all the current earnings just to pay the interest, leaving nothing to live on.

Cox said that the nation is on the wrong path. "We are not to the edge, but we are heading for a cliff," said the economist in reference to a growing national debt and increased interest associated with it. "We need to back up and see where we are going."

According to Cox, we all have to live on a budget, and we all have to make choices, and the federal government should also.

According to Cox, it would be easy to reduce the national debt by printing more money, but this would cause an intolerable rise in inflation. "The power to print money is the power to tax."

"The power to print money and the power to spend money must be separate powers within the government," he said.

Cox pointed out that from 1948 to 1970, the average annual budget deficit was less than $1 billion. The deficit averaged $60 billion throughout the 1970's and currently stands between $350 to $400 billion.

Cox said that with a non-inflationary policy, it would take 80 years to eliminate the current deficit.

According to Cox, the treasury

Bush succeeds in college poll

George Bush will be re-elected if a poll of faculty, staff and students conducted by the recreation committee of the Western Texas College Student Senate is any indication.

The poll was conducted last week in the Student Center. Those voting were able to pick up a mock ballot, select their choices for president, and turn them back in.

Forty-two percent of the 198 people who participated in the poll said that Bush will return to the White House for another term. Democratic challenger Gov. Bill Clinton received 32 percent of the vote while billionaire Ross Perot managed 26 percent.

Those figures changed only slightly when broken down by students, faculty and staff. The group giving Bush the largest margin were 15 faculty members, seven of whom said the Republican will retain control of the oval office. The seven represent 47 percent of the faculty vote. Thirty-three percent, or 5 faculty members, chose Clinton, while Perot got 3 votes.

Of the 163 students taking part, 67, or 41 percent, chose Bush. Clinton drew 51 votes and Perot had 45.

Twenty staff members also took part. Nine of them, or 45 percent, chose Bush, while seven picked Clinton and 4 chose Perot.

The Student Senate poll showed little difference between the choices of males and females as to the choice of president. Women picked Bush by a 42 percent vote, while the men had the Republican winning by 41 percent.

An interesting twist in the poll came in the votes for runner-up, however. Women gave Clinton 35 percent of the vote and Perot 23 percent. Perot was the second-favorite candidate among the men, though, edging Clinton 30 percent to 29 percent.

Yogurt slayings suspects arrested

AUSTIN (AP) — Families of four teen-age girls who were killed in a yogurt store last year say they feel no relief knowing that authorities have arrested and implicated two men in the crime.

"I don't feel justice. I'm not happy, I'm not thrilled. I'm not anything. All I know is that now someone has confessed to something that is so horrible," Barbara Suraci, mother of two of the girls, said Thursday.

Porfirio Villa Saavedra, 23, and Alberto Cortez, 22, were arrested in the Dec. 6, 1991, slayings at the I Can't Believe It's Yogurt! Officials said the two have confessed

Local schools join in 'War on Drugs'

Snyder public schools will participate in the Texas' War on Drugs 1992 Red Ribbon Campaign next week.

"Students, faculty and staff will wear red ribbons furnished by Snyder Lions Club to present a unified and visible commitment to promote a drug-free community and life style," a school administrator said.

Snyder Council on Alcohol and Drug Abuse will be furnishing posters and instructional material.

The theme for this year's Texas campaign goes beyond the symbolism of the red ribbon, and asks families, friends and neighbors to pledge to be drug-free. The long-term goal and challenge shared by Texas' War on Drugs and the Red Ribbon Campaign is to develop a healthy, drug-free lifestyle as a community standard in neighborhoods, state and across the nation.

More than 12 million Texans were involved in the campaign last year, according to an informal survey released by the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth.

Founded in 1980, Texans' War on Drugs has been dedicated to eliminating the unlawful use of alcohol and other drugs. It is a non-profit statewide organization funded primarily by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse and the governor's office, criminal justice division.

Prison drug treatment program touted

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Gov. Ann Richards, promoting prison-based drug and alcohol treatment, says she "ain't too proud to beg" the federal government for money to help run the Texas program.

"It's clear that unless we break this horrific cycle of drugs and crime and misery, we're going to be hard pressed to regain control of our streets," Richards said, speaking Thursday to federal, state and local treatment workers.

People addicted to drugs and alcohol must be reached before they become emergency room or prison statistics, she said.

The governor said the state's new prison-based drug and alcohol treatment program is working and could become a model for the nation.

As part of a prison construction measure, the Texas Legislature in 1991 included several thousand prison beds for drug and alcohol treatment. Richards said ultimately 14,000 prison beds will be designated for the program.

The state's main challenge, she said, is to maintain the quality of the program. That, she said, could be helped with federal dollars, although she did not specify an amount.

"We want every single federal cent that we can get for these very successful programs," Richards said. "We're asking politely, and as the old song says, we ain't too proud to beg."

Richards spoke to a meeting hosted by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services aimed at forming partnerships among federal, state and local treatment and education programs.

"Substance abuse is a personal and profoundly important concern to me. I am an alcoholic," Richards said. "I celebrated my 12th birthday (of sobriety) this year."

With a laugh, she added: "I'm not the first nor will I be the last governor who would benefit from a 12-step program."

Richards said the prison treatment program is getting results. For example, three women in a prison treatment plan who were granted parole last month turned it down so they could finish the program.

Male inmates at another prison unit turned in a guard who was bringing drugs into the facility, Richards said.

"I believe in the human need and the human capacity to change," she said. "These people are saying to us, 'We want a change, and we are willing to act to make it happen.' "

In a question-and-answer session, Richards was asked whether the emphasis on prison rehabilitation might take assistance away from people seeking help outside of prison.

Richards said she used her speech to promote the prison treatment program because of the federal officials who were present.

"It was an audience that was too great to miss," she said, adding that if more federal money is available for drug treatment it could help free up state money for the field.

Two indicted in two slayings

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A former restaurant cashier and a former state school employee have been indicted in the robbery slayings of the owner and an employee of a Corpus Christi restaurant.

The indictments returned Thursday named Martin Edward Gurule, 22, a former employee of the Corpus Christi State School, and his girlfriend, Malisa Smith, 22, a former cashier at the restaurant.

They are accused of capital murder in the death of Minas Piperis, 46, owner of the U&I Restaurant, and of murder in the death of Anthony Staton, 31, a prep cook and custodian for the business. They were found shot to death on Oct. 12 in what police described as a robbery.

Both Gurule and Ms. Smith were being held Thursday in the Nueces County Jail in lieu of $500,000 bond each.

Ross Perot outspends other two

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ross Perot may still be third in the polls but he's quickly surged to the front of the presidential spending race, bankrolling $2 million a day since re-entering the fray this month.

In fact, the Texas billionaire's spending in the first 14 days of October — $26 million — outdid President Bush and Democrat Bill Clinton combined, reports filed with the government showed Thursday.

Should he maintain the pace — and his plans for heavy advertising through the final days suggest he will — Perot will likely exceed the $65.5 million to which Clinton and Bush are limited by law.

Perot has no limit because he's using his own money. Bush and Clinton are bound by spending limits because they accepted full taxpayer financing.

"Perot is in their league and certainly spending at an incredible rate given it's all coming out of his pocket," said Christopher Arterton, dean of the Graduate School for Political Management.

"The question now is whether he'll begin spending in such a way that goes after winning the election, particularly by attacking Clinton," Arterton said.

If Perot charges hard in the final days and has success in some states, he could affect the way Bush and Clinton had planned to spend their campaign funds, he said.

"But so far his strategy has almost in a way been directed at not winning the election but having an effect on the nation as a whole," Arterton said.

Perot's poll numbers have doubled in less than a week after widely applauded performances in the debates and a wave of network television advertising.

He has begun spot advertising in select states and his aides are urging him to hit the campaign trail, something he has avoided entirely since re-joining the race Oct. 1.

The presidential candidates filed their final spending reports Thursday with the Federal Election Commission before Election Day.

Perot reported spending $26 million in the first 14 days of October, compared with Bush's $12.3 million and Clinton's $11.9 million over the same period.

Perot has spent a total of $48 million on his election bid, all but $1.3 million of it his own money. During Monday's last debate, he predicted his tab would run at least $60 million.

The majority of his expenditures in October — $23.62 million — went to his advertising team, which staged a $17 million network television ad blitz immediately after Perot's re-entry and has another big push that began Thursday and continues into the weekend.

The rest was split among promotional materials, expenses of his volunteer organization and travel.

The Democrats have already spent most of their money; Republicans had the entire amount still available at the start of October.

On the issues

The issue: income tax rates

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Associated Press asks the Bush and Clinton campaigns for their stands on an issue each weekday and assembles their responses. Ross Perot's views are adapted from his public statements and campaign book, "United We Stand."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The views of the presidential candidates on the question: Should individual income tax rates be adjusted? Should the personal income tax exemption be adjusted? If so, how?

Bush: My "Agenda for American Renewal" calls for across-the-board tax cuts offset by specific reductions in government spending. It also proposes raising the personal income tax exemption by $500 per child for families. These policies will allow people to keep more of what they earn, increase their savings and share the American dream with their children."

Clinton: "I support increasing taxes for those earning more than $200,000 per year. These individuals saw their taxes go down during the '80s, and we should ask them to pay their fair share — though they would still be paying less than they were in the '70s. On the other hand, low- and middle-income families, who saw their taxes increased during the '80s, deserve a tax break."

Perot: "We should raise the marginal tax rate on the wealthy from 31 to 33 percent. In 1993, this change would affect individuals who make over $55,000 and joint filers who make over a total of $89,250. Therefore, less than 4 percent of the taxpayers in America will be affected, but we will raise $33 billion in five years."

Dear Abby

Outlook Is Cloudy for Woman Embarrassed by Her Height

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1992 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My problem is I am too tall. I'm 26 years old, weigh 134 pounds and stand 6 feet tall. I am a woman.

Most people tell me it's an advantage for a woman to be tall. They don't know how many problems tall women have. It's almost impossible to find clothes that fit, and I would love to wear heels, but if I did, I'd be 6 foot 2 inches at least, so I settle for flats, which do not flatter my legs.

When I stand next to someone in a mirror or photograph, I look like a giant!

My boyfriend is two inches shorter than me, and even though it doesn't seem to bother him, it bothers me. Whenever we walk together, or have a picture taken together, I slouch so as not to dwarf him.

Are most men intimidated by tall women? It must be hard for them to feel masculine with women who are bigger than they are. Please answer these questions, Abby.

TALL IN BERGENFIELD, N.J.

DEAR TALL: Tall women will always attract attention, which can be a plus. With the proper wardrobe, makeup, hairdo and attitude, you can look like a fashion model. Throw your shoulders back, keep your chin up and let the expression on your face show that you are proud of your height. If you slouch or stand stoop-shouldered, you will not look shorter, but you will look self-conscious and insecure.

Men who are self-confident cannot be "intimidated" by a woman of any size. Masculinity (and femininity, for that matter) has nothing to do with the size of the package.

If you don't already know about it, you might be interested in joining Tall Clubs International. The toll-free number is (800) 521-2512. It offers a wide range of social opportunities to tall people, with 4,000 members in 73 chapters in the United States and Canada.

DEAR ABBY: When our son was born, he weighed 6 pounds, 13 ounces. He was 17 1/2 inches long. Now, 11 months later, he weighs 10 pounds and is 20 inches long. The problem is that almost everyone who sees him asks me why he is so "small."

Abby, I stand 5 feet tall and my husband is 5 foot 7, so I realize I can't expect our children to be any taller than either one of us. But the insensitive comments hurt just the same. Is there a polite response to all unwanted comments?

NOT TOO TALL IN TACOMA

DEAR NOT TOO TALL: The only response to rude comments is a long silence accompanied by the look on your face that says, "I can't believe you asked such a (a) rude, (b) personal, (c) presumptuous, (d) inappropriate, (e) embarrassing, (f) ignorant question."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: About eight years ago, "Ted" (my fiance at the time) was a career officer stationed in Germany with the U.S. Army. I went to Germany to be with him for a year.

Ted's mother and I had a good relationship; she treated me like one of the family — in fact, she even kept my 100-pound dog during the year I was overseas.

Things didn't work out as Ted and I had planned, and we didn't marry. It was awkward for me to see his mother when I returned to the states, so we fell out of touch.

For the last few years, I have been feeling very guilty. I never once offered to reimburse her for my dog's food and vet bills, even though I knew that she was in financial straits. Abby, she was so very kind and generous to me.

Can I make it up to her at this late date? Or would it be inappropriate to send her some money now?

BIRDBRAIN IN GEORGIA

DEAR BIRDBRAIN: Inappropriate? Certainly not! Reward her generously for the past favors immediately. It will ease your conscience and she will welcome the windfall. Trust me.

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Astrograph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

Oct. 24, 1992

You might undertake a very demanding and serious endeavor in the year ahead. Your route may not be an easy one, but your rewards could be outstanding.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You might have to deal with someone today whom you feel has previously wronged you. If you resurrect the issue, it could turn into something unpleasant. Scorpio, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for Scorpio's Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're in need of financial advice today, be very selective about whom you turn to for counsel. Unknowledgeable, well-intentioned friends could hurt you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You know how it makes you feel to think someone has treated you in a deceitful manner. Be careful you're not accused of doing the same thing to another today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're likely to be an imaginative visionary today, but, unfortunately, you might view life's developments more negatively than positively. Focus on the win column.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you find yourself feeling envious of a close friend today, examine your motives honestly. Try to be a booster, even if it's a bit painful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you fail to take a firm stand on important issues today, associates could become frustrated with you. To be respected, you must be decisive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Usually, you're the type of person who allows for small frailties in others. Today, however, you might be hypercritical and apt to find fault. Loosen up.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might be a bit too gullible for your own good today and, on impulse, involve yourself in something that is predicated purely upon wishful thinking.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) One of the reasons you and your mate could be in opposition today is because neither of you will be able to effectively articulate true feelings.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to concentrate and not to let your attention wander today when working with unfamiliar materials. Daydreaming could produce undesirable results.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) From time to time, you're not beyond taking a calculated risk, especially in your commercial dealings. However, the gambles you take today might not be thought out well.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Individuals you'll be involved with today are apt to emulate the example you set, especially family members. If you're abrasive and difficult to get along with, they may be as well.

Weighing the effects of radiation

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm concerned about radiation. Since March 1981 I have had two biopsies of my right breast and 19 mammograms. So far no cancer, yet my hair is thinning and I have a hormone imbalance. I was told by an X-ray technician that the body retains radiation from mammograms and other X-rays, so I'm alarmed.

DEAR READER: The amount of radiation absorbed by the body is, indeed, cumulative. However, the amount of X-ray during a mammogram is very small, probably on the order of the amount of radiation you'd normally receive flying round-trip coast to coast.

Nonetheless, I'm concerned about your 19 mammograms in 11 years. This seems like a whale of a lot of diagnostic testing. I wonder if all of it was necessary. Pin your doctor down on this one and find out why you've required so many breast X-rays.

In any case, I doubt your "hormone imbalance" and thin hair are consequences of your mammograms. Perhaps you're experiencing symptoms of menopause. Your doctor should be able to clarify this issue.

Although, in my opinion, you needn't be alarmed about the radiation from your mammograms, moderation would certainly be appropriate in the future.

DEAR DR. GOTT: You occasionally address questions about schizophrenia and manic depression, but I have never seen where you refer them to the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill. This is a grass-roots family support organization that is trying to put mental illness on the nation's agenda.

Elizabeth Barrett Browning wrote in one of her sonnets, "Guess now who holds thee?" She was discussing Love and Death, but how often have you asked yourself that question about a key card, usually a queen, for which you have a two-way finesse? It is much easier on the nerves if you can find a play that eliminates the apparent guess.

North opted to raise to four hearts because he knew of a 10-card fit. Also, his bid had the advantage of making life tougher for the opponents.

West led the club five. East won with the king, cashed the ace and played a third round. Confident that the opening bidder had the heart king, declarer ruffed low. However, West overruffed and exited with the diamond 10 to dummy's ace.

Now declarer had to find the spade queen for his contract. The opening bid pointed to East's having this key card. Alternatively, East was known to have started with a total of six cards in hearts and clubs, whereas West was known to have begun with only three. That left more "empty spaces" for West to hold the critical queen.

Yet South had a guaranteed play available. He should have ruffed the third round of clubs with the heart ace. Next, he plays a diamond to dummy's ace and ruffs dummy's last diamond in his hand. Finally he exits with a trump.

Whoever wins the trick is endplayed. He must either lead a spade or concede a ruff-and-discard. Either way, declarer loses no spade trick.

Voices Unmasked present program at Ira

Voices Unmasked, a group of McMurry University drama students, was in Ira Thursday afternoon to present a special program in conjunction with Red Ribbon Week.

The presentation for students in grades 6-12 was designed to help students develop positive, decision-making skills. More than just a "Say No" program, Voices Unmasked addresses all at-risk issues, not just drugs and alcohol abuse.

Prevention is the group's ultimate goal.

McMurry students who took part in the program were Yvette Vasquez, Craig Gilbert, Eric Prahl, Mark Schmidt, Jennifer Simmons and Kari Loy.

This program was sponsored by the Region 14 Education Service Center in Abilene. Victoria Spangler, instructional specialist, accompanied the students.

Ira has devoted this week to promoting awareness of drugs and alcohol through prevention education activities and programs.

FHA students, under the direction of Louann Slover, FHA sponsor, organized the week-long event in Ira. The Red Ribbon pogram was created by the National Federation of Parents for Drug Free Youth.

Activities included making and displaying banners, distributing special book marks and wearing white arm bands by the junior high and high school students "killed" by drunk driver activity.

Students also released balloons containing drug-free messages Thursday afternoon. Friday was to be recognition day. Oranges were to be handed out for "'orange' you glad you don't use drugs."

Jail inmates discover chess as a learning tool for them

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — Chess has become the primary pastime among some inmates in the Hays County Jail.

Jail administrator, Capt. Larry Haynes, said about 10 percent of the prisoners are taking to the game.

"There are those that like that kind of challenge. Anything like that can be therapeutic," Haynes said.

In fact, some of the people most closely following the Bobby Fischer-Boris Spassky chess rematch in Yugoslavia will be found in the jail.

Chess-playing inmates have been taking the moves printed in newspapers and replaying the games.

"We like to use the games in the paper as a foundation for our games," said Charley Stewart, 42. "Most of the guys are doing it just to pass the time. Some of us are pretty diehard."

Stewart, who used to pass time between San Antonio College classes at the chessboard, said he and a group of about six in his unit spend as many as four to eight hours a day playing the game or studying chess strategy.

A mechanic sentenced for auto theft, Stewart said there is more to the game than just passing time in jail.

"It's taught me a lot of discipline," he said. "Crime on the side was just something that happened. Chess taught me to think before you do something."

Jason Montgomery, an inmate who learned to play the game in the Williamson County Jail, said chess also serves to ease stress and pressures in a tense prison atmosphere.

"Guys here have a lot on their minds. It's important to have something they can sit down and mentally exhaust those energies. Chess takes away a lot of stress," he said.

Because of that, the Hays County Jail makes boards and pieces available to inmates. In the Texas Department of Corrections, chess tournaments are staged periodically at different institutions, said Coleman Porter, the department's recreation supervisor.

Ira FFA'er to attend FFA confab

A local FFA member will help to decide the future of the National FFA Organization when the world's largest annual youth convention is held this November.

Misty Michele Mathis, 17, Area II vice president of the Texas FFA association, will represent the state as an official delegate to the 65th National FFA Convention Nov. 12-14 in Kansas City, Mo.

Mathis will join 475 state FFA officers who will conduct the business of the National FFA Organization during special sessions of the convention.

She is the daughter of Nathan and Cindy Mathis of Snyder and ia a member of the Ira FFA chapter.

More than 24,000 FFA members and guests are expected to attend this year's event.

"FFA — the Spirit of Leadership" is the theme for the 1992 convention. FFA is a national organization of 401,087 members in 7,431 local chapters throughout the U.S., Puerto Rico, Guam and the Virgin Islands.

Johnny Carson honored

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Johnny Carson was honored by the Nebraska Hospital Association for his generosity to the state.

The association gave the former "Tonight Show" host its Past Presidents' Award on Wednesday at its convention banquet. He did not attend the ceremony.

Carson grew up in Norfolk in northeast Nebraska and has given money to a variety of medical, cultural and scientific institutions in the state.

Cardinals visit Ira in annual renewal of county rivalry

Ira hopes to get back on the trail of a second straight District 6 six-man football championship this week in this season's renewal of its Scurry County rivalry with Hermleigh at Bulldog Stadium.

The Bulldogs, who were topped last week, 71-44, in a showdown with Borden County for the loop lead, carry a 4-3 overall record and a 1-1 slate in district play into tonight's fray.

Hermleigh, 2-5 and 0-2, is trying to post its first loop win this season after falling to Borden County and Loraine.

Other battles within the district tonight include Borden County, tied for the loop lead at 2-0, traveling to Trent, and Loraine hosting Highland.

District 6-A(6)

Team	Season		District
Borden Co.	6	1	2	0
Loraine	5	2	2	0
Ira	4	3	1	1
Hermleigh	2	5	0	2
Trent	1	6	1	1
Highland	0	7	0	2

Friday, Oct. 16
Borden County 71, Ira 44
Loraine 43, Hermleigh 18
Trent 42, Highland 20
Friday, Oct. 23
Borden County at Trent
Highland at Loraine
Hermleigh at Ira

Hermleigh (2-5, 0-2) at Ira (4-3, 1-1)

The Cardinals will keep a close eye on all-state candidate Mike Hughes and running back Cole Sterling of Ira.

Hughes found Sterling for TD passes of 32, 12 and 10 yards in last week's loss to Borden County, and Sterling scored twice more on runs.

Hermleigh's defense has been under attack since district play started, giving up 56 points to Borden County in Week 1 and falling, 43-18 to Loraine last week.

The Cardinals' offense has been good, though, led by Chris Velasco's 129 rushing yards, 30 yards receiving and 45 yards passing against Loraine.

Borden County (6-1, 2-0) at Trent (1-6, 1-1)

The Coyotes' main problem this week will be fighting the letdown that follows a big win. Their victory over Ira gave them the loop lead with games left against Trent, Loraine and Highland, a combined 6-15 overall.

Deep back Clint Wills ran and tackled his way to an all-star effort last week.

The BCHS senior accumulated 341 yards on 24 carries and scored seven TDs a week past. He also led the Coyotes' defensive effort, notching 18 tackles.

Trent was winless before last week, when they dumped another oh-fer, Highland, 42-20. The Gorillas' defense gave up 20 points to the Hornets, who had only scored three touchdowns to that point.

Highland (0-7, 0-2) at Loraine (5-2, 2-0)

Loraine has been the surprise of the season in District 6. The Bulldogs were picked to finish in the cellar in preseason polls, but have come on to win five of their first seven, including their first two loop meetings.

Loraine counts heavily on quarterback David Mitchell, who threw for two touchdowns against Hermleigh last week, and Arthur Garcia, who victimized the Cardinal defense for scores covering 16 and 11 yards.

Highland doubled their season's offensive output against Trent last week. Highland has scored 38 points in seven games, while giving up 287.

Crucial 2-4A grid matchup...

Tigers take on unbeaten PHS

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Snyder head football coach David Baugh makes no bones about the importance of this week's matchup with the undefeated Plainview Bulldogs.

"It's the biggest game we've played this year," he said. "We're still up against that wall. We've got to play well, and if we do, and if we can win this one, we'll have a great chance to win district, I think.

"That's the importance of it. But I could still see a team having two losses and still making the playoffs."

Baugh's SHS Tigers head into tonight's battle with a 5-2 overall record and a 1-1 slate in loop encounters. Plainview is unbeaten in seven starts in '92, including district wins over Frenship and Levelland.

Calling the Plainview offense "ground-oriented" would be an understatement.

"They only pass about four times a game," Baugh reported. "But they have had some big plays from their passing game. They have an adequate quarterback and some good receivers."

Junior quarterback Scott Parr pulls the trigger on the Bulldog offense. He has passed for only 215 yards, about 30 yards a game, for the season.

The reasons he only gets to throw a few times an outing both share the backfield with him.

Tailback Damien Nails and fullback Kevin Polk have combined for almost 2,000 of the 'Dogs' 2,400 rushing yards. Nails, a junior, leads the district with 1088 yards and a 9.5-yard average.

Senior Polk has 848 yards and is picking up almost six yards a rush.

"They're two great running backs," said Baugh. "Nails is really fast. If he gets loose on us, we don't have anybody to catch him. We also have to contain Polk. He's fast enough to break it, too."

As do all successful runners, Nails and Polk depend on their offensive line.

"They look like they were all cloned," Baugh joked about the PHS offensive front. "They're all between 195 and 215 pounds and they're all quick-moving linemen."

Plainview's defense, overshadowed this season because of the success of its offense, will attack from what coach Baugh terms a "split-six" formation.

"They run an eight-man front," he said. "They're the only split-six team we face all year."

The Bulldogs' setup features linebackers on the line of scrimmage, outside the defensive ends, and a pair of halfbacks and a safety in coverage.

The defense is led by safety Steven Riddley.

"He is a killer," said Baugh of the 6-3, 200-pound junior. "He's a big hitter and he'll knock your head off. He plays out there in centerfield, but he'll come up and jack your jaw."

Riddley also handles the punting and kick return duties for Plainview.

"I think the key to the game will be how our interior people play against their defensive line," Baugh figured. "We have to be able to block those guys and the linebackers. All that goes to our guards, tackles and center.

"What we have to do is control the ball, control the clock and keep the ball away from them. If we can do that, we've got a good chance to win.

"If we can't move the ball and make first downs — shorten the game — then we're not going to stand too good a chance.

"We have to do just like we did against Estacado and Sweetwater and Big Spring, the games we've won. We have to keep them off the field."

Snyder senior Barretta Collins, who plays split end on offense and is a cornerback for the Tiger defensive unit, could be slowed some against the Bulldogs with a pinched nerve.

Collins is the Tigers' leading pass thief, taking three interceptions on the season. He also has three pass receptions on the year for 99 yards and two TDs.

Series heads back to Atlanta

TORONTO (AP) — Lonnie Smith swung back. With one hard hit, he took his Braves home with hope. With many harsh words, he took on his critics.

He was the hero of Atlanta's season-saving 7-2 win Thursday night over Toronto. Then he griped about the goat that won't stop chasing him — his baserunning, confusion in last year's World Series.

"I've been criticized my whole career," he said.

He's not even sure his grand slam against Jack Morris that gave the Braves the victory that cut the Blue Jays' lead to 3-2 in the Series will get rid of the rap.

Toronto manager Cito Gaston surely can't shake his rap of failing in the big games, not after his team just lost what would have been the biggest in its history.

But Morris is doing a pretty consistent job of losing his reputation as a big-game pitcher after his fourth straight rough postseason outing.

The fans who cheered him during his 21-6 regular season booed him when he left the game.

"I think it was just the fans letting out their frustrations," he said. "I don't take it too much to heart. If I accepted every boo as 'It's time to leave, Jack,' I would have left 16 or 17 years ago."

He gave up the first run on first-inning doubles by Otis Nixon and Pendleton.

"If we got that in Minnesota, we win the World Series," Atlanta manager Bobby Cox said.

Toronto tied the game in the second off winner Smoltz on a single by John Olerud, a walk to Candy Maldonado and a double by Pat Borders.

David Justice's leadoff homer in the fourth gave Atlanta the lead again, but Toronto tied the game 2-2 in the fourth when Olerud singled, Maldonado walked and Borders, who has hit in 13 straight postseason games and is 7 for 16 in this Series, singled.

Then came the fifth.

Morris got the first two batters. Then Nixon walked, stole second and scored on Deion Sanders' single. Pendleton's ground-rule double sent Sanders to third and Justice was walked intentionally to get to Smith.

Lady Tigers host EHS in key match

Snyder's Lady Tigers are on track for a third straight berth in the Class 4A volleyball playoffs.

The SHS spike crew carries a 3-1 loop slate into Saturday's home finale against Estacado, including a 15-5, 15-13 win over Levelland Tuesday.

Coach Patty Grimmett, though, is not ready to talk about the playoffs.

"We have two more matches to play before we start worrying about that," she said. "We have to get by Estacado and then we have to play Lamesa one more time."

Snyder is currently in second place by two games over Levelland's 1-3 loop mark. Estacado, 2-14 overall, brings an 0-4 district record into Saturday's battle.

Lamesa, unbeaten in four loop matches, will host Levelland in Saturday's other district encounter.

A Saturday win by the Lady Tigers would clinch a playoff spot.

The Lady Tigers, hampered by serving problems in the early season, missed only three serves in Tuesday's match, while pounding out eight aces.

Melanie Duncan was the top server for SHS, getting nine points from the line, including one ace. Joellen King had seven service points and a pair of aces and Lynette Sears scored three aces and five total points.

The Lady Tigers needed three games to defeat Estacado in their first district meeting this season, 15-9, 11-15, 18-16, in Lubbock.

Matches begin at 2 p.m. Saturday at SHS with the JV contest.

Golfers try to regroup in non-district contest

Snyder's high school boys' golf team hopes to regroup against Frenship Saturday after a somewhat disappointing showing a week ago against Sweetwater.

"If Chad (Jacobi, SHS senior) doesn't shoot an outstanding 4-under 68," said SHS coach Bob O'Day, "we lose the match.

"Play was inconsistent. It was the next-to-worse performance for us since we opened the fall season.

"But we plan to regroup against Frenship."

The Tigers tied Sweetwater in that head-to-head match last week, each team scoring a 327.

This week's meeting, a non-district contest, is a rematch of an early season battle here, where the Tigers posted a 62-stroke victory.

O'Day's crew is 3-1-1 on the fall campaign.

Boys Club slates all-star matchups

Snyder Boys Club Pee Wee Football All-Stars will play Saturday, Oct. 24, beginning at 3 p.m. at Tiger Stadium.

Tickets to the all-star matchups are $2 for adults and $1 for children, and are available from any Pee Wee Football player or at the Boys Club.

The Midget League game, pitting the Gold All Stars, standouts from the Packers and the Colts, against the Blue team, the best players from the Cowboys and the Broncos, kicks off at 3 p.m.

At 4:30, the Junior League contest begins with the White squad, made up of players from the Packers and the Colts, playing the Red all-stars from the Cowboys and the Broncos.

The Senior League tilt, which starts at 6 p.m., will feature the best from the Tigers and the Bengals, the White crew, against the Green all-stars from the Lions and the Bengals.

Blocked kicks lead 8th graders to wins

Snyder eighth graders used three blocked punts to set up scores and avenge early season grid losses to Big Spring Thursday.

Michael Rangel and Tommy Morris each blocked a kick in the A team's 30-14 blistering of Big Spring and the SJHS B team defensive line got to the Steers' punter for a block in the B team's 20-6 victory.

Rangel's first-quarter block led to L.S. McClain's 4-yard TD run, which opened the scoring. Tywayne Rivers added the 2-point run and Snyder led 8-0.

Quarterback Russell Riggins found Rivers on a 25-yard bootleg completion in the second quarter for a TD. Rivers' second 2-pointer gave the Tigers a 16-6 halftime pad.

Morris followed his block with the recovery in the end zone for a third-period score and then the 2-pointer.

McClain and Rivers were offensive MVP's, selected, according to coach Roger Goodwin, for their efforts both running the ball and blocking.

Defensive standouts included Rangel, Morris, Rivers, McClain, Chris Post, Heath Porter and Matthew Fambro.

Snyder's A team offensive linemen were recognized by Goodwin as "heroes".

"They were the ones that made everything happen," the coach commented. "The best thing about this win, was that the boys made up their minds what they wanted to do, and they went out and did it."

Snyder's B team scored 14 second-half points Thursday to break a 6-all halftime tie.

Alfonso Delao scooted 45 yards to knot the score following a game opening drive by Big Spring that resulted in six.

The blocked punt set up a third-quarter touchdown when QB Patrick Jordan went five yards on a keeper, and Jesse Guzman wrapped up the scoring, going 45 yards on an interception return in the fourth.

The B team's Big Hit Award went to Adrian Rodriguez.

Snyder A, 5-2, and B, 4-2, will host Lamesa Thursday.

WTC golfers register 609

DENTON — Western Texas College shot a combined 609 Thursday to tie for sixth place after 36 holes of the Herb Farrell Invitational Golf Tournament at the University of North Texas.

The tourney field trails defending national juco champion Midland College, which led after two rounds with a team-total 586.

The final 18 holes of the event will be played Friday.

Sweetwater's Mike Torres led WTC's charge Thursday, shooting a 151 on rounds of 75 and 76. Freshman Chris Rogers, also from Sweetwater, carded a 75-78--153 to tie teammate Cory Adams from San Angelo, who had scores of 74 and 79.

Neal Ray Davis of Wheeler registered an 80-75--155 for WTC and Brent Tignor of Carrollton turned in a 77-81--158.

Trailing Midland in the team standings are the University of Texas, which fired a 589, North Texas State University's 597, and a 600 from McLennan Community College.

Lon Morris notched a 36-hole 607, followed by Weatherford J.C. and WTC with 609s.

Herb Farrell Invitational at Denton

Team standings: 1. Midland College 297-289--586; 2. University of Texas 295-294--589; 3. NTSU 299-298--597; 4. McLennan CC; 5. Lon Morris 309-298--607; 6. (tie) WTC 301-308--609; Weatherford JC 306-303--609.

WTC scores: Mike Torres 75-76--151; Chris Rogers 75-78--153; Cory Adams 74-79--153; Neal Ray Davis 80-75--155; Brent Tignor 77-81--158.

Snyder rips Plainview JV

Snyder's junior varsity Tigers exploded for 46 points Thursday night as they handed Plainview a 46-26 grid loss at Tiger Stadium.

Eddie Martinez scored three times for the Tigers. Timmy Humphrey, Lee Idom, Gabriel Castellon and Jason Miller each added a TD run, Miller scooted into the end zone for a 2-point conversion, and Chris Mitchell had a pair of PAT kicks.

In other action Thursday, Snyder's freshmen were beaten by San Angelo Glenn, 21-0.

Both teams will continue their 1992 campaigns Thursday in Lamesa. The JV tilt starts at 4 p.m. followed at 7 p.m. by the frosh battle.

AIDS scandal breaks in France

PARIS (AP) — The former director of France's blood transfusion network was sentenced to four years in prison today for his part in allowing AIDS-tainted blood to be given to hundreds of hemophiliacs.

More than 250 of the hemophiliacs have died.

Dr. Michel Garretta also was fined $100,000. His lawyers are expected to file an appeal.

The sentence was greeted in the courtroom by angry outburts from families of the victims, some shouting that the government was to blame.

Garretta was visiting the United States when the sentence was announced. Asked if and when his client would return, Garretta's laywer, Xavier Charvet, would say only: "You'll see."

Garretta was the key defendant among four former health officials tried last summer in a criminal case that scandalized France. The three others received lighter sentences today.

The trial was a sordid saga of doctors-turned-bureaucrats who put their annual budgets above patient care, shaking faith in France's cradle-to-grave health system.

The case also further undermined confidence in President Francois Mitterrand's scandal-plagued government. There were bitter complaints that politicians were not tried.

The case against Garretta was brought on behalf of 1,200 hemophiliacs given blood transfusions by the National Center for Blood Transfusions in 1985 from stocks that officials knew were contaminated with the HIV virus, which causes AIDS.

More than of the 250 hemophiliacs have since died. Others testified in dramatic courtroom appearances during the six-week trial, describing how they and their families were coping with imminent death.

Pentagon awards V-22 contracts

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $550 million contract for further development of the V-22 Osprey tilt-rotor aircraft is a vote-grabbing ploy by the Bush administration, which had reversed opposition to the project, Democrats say.

Vice President Dan Quayle planned to travel to the Boeing Helicopters plant outside Philadelphia today to bring attention to the contract announcement, White House aides said.

President Bush and Defense Secretary Dick Cheney had opposed the aircraft for years. But the administration did a turnabout in July and said it would agree to allow about $1.5 billion to be spent on its development.

Since last month, Bush has also approved Taiwan's purchase of F-16 jet fighters manufactured by General Dynamics Corp. in Fort Worth and sale of McDonnell Douglas F-15 fighters to Saudi Arabia.

"Bush has reversed himself on all three of these programs," Dee Dee Myers, a spokeswoman for the Clinton campaign, said. "Bush is changing his position to try to win votes."

However, Bush administration officials said the V-22 award by the Pentagon to Bell Helicopter-Textron Inc. and Boeing, announced Thursday, merely follows the Bush administration's July decision.

Officials said the contract will pay for design and manufacture of four new Ospreys and modification of two existing aircraft.

"I'm just tickled to death we've got the first dollar for the next contract going," said Jim Schwalbe, the Bell senior vice president in charge of the V-22 project.

Congress had approved the funds. But Cheney had refused to spend the money, contending the aircraft was too expensive amid steep declines in the Pentagon budget.

Murder suspects arrested to the crime, and will be tried in Mexico, where they were captured.

Earlier in the day, Mexican officials said the men had been charged in the slayings, but officials said late Thursday night the men had not been charged, according to the Houston Chronicle.

At an evening news conference, Mexican authorities said murder charges had not been filed. Two Austin police sergeants present said they had been instructed by their superiors to withhold comment on the case, the Houston newspaper reported.

If found guilty, the men could be sentenced to a maximum of 30 years in prison. There is no death penalty in Mexico.

They will also be tried on rape charges, based on a Travis County indictment for a sexual assault that took place three weeks before the yogurt store killings, officials said.

The two have been charged with drug trafficking and smuggling arms into Mexico.

"They will not be extradited because Mexican law forbids the extradition of Mexican nationals" to foreign countries, deputy attorney general Jose Luis Romero Apis said during a news conference.

Mexicans can be tried in Mexico for crimes committed abroad, Romero Apis said. There has been no extradition request from U.S. law enforcement officials, he said.

Austin police had no comment on the arrests, said police spokeswoman Gail Phillips.

The bodies of Jennifer Harbison, 17; her sister, Sarah Harbison, 15; Eliza Thomas, 17 and Amy Ayers, 13, were found early the morning of Dec. 7 by firefighters at the store.

The girls were tied together and each shot in the back of the head, Austin police have said. The store was then set on fire in an attempt to hide the crime.

Ms. Suraci, the mother of Jennifer and Sarah Harbison, told Austin television station KTBC that the arrests will not change anything for her.

"Even if they put them in jail and they serve their time and they all die in prison, it's never going to be over for us," she said.

Pam Ayers, the mother of Amy Ayers, said of the suspects, "It would be nice if it would be them so we could bring this to some type of an ending as far as the drudgery of every day waking up and wondering if today will be the day we find out who killed our girls."

Saavedra, known as "the Terminator," had been called a former employee of the store by Mexican officials. But Bill Brice, chief executive officer of the I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!, said that neither of the two men arrested were ever employees of the company.

"We heard it reported that he said he was a delivery person that means he may have worked for a supplier. That may be were the confusion occurred," Brice said.

Saavedra will be charged with murder, Romero Apis said. "Cortez was his accomplice," he said.

Cortez was arrested Wednesday in Ciudad Nezahuacoyotl, a sprawling slum area east of Mexico City.

WTC students are indicted

COLORADO CITY — A Mitchell County grand jury indicted two Western Texas College students Thursday.

Sonora residents Daniel Mata, 18, and Papo Sanchez, also 18, were indicted for the Sept. 28 theft of road signs along Highway 208. They have been charged for theft over $750.

Inflation

benefits from inflation because inflation erodes the value of outstanding government debt and because the interest goes to the treasury. "Every dollar of interest earned by the fed has been returned to the treasury," he said.

Cox discussed a balanced budget amendment, which he said would help contain growth in government, provide fiscal discipline, keep inflation down and lower interest rates.

He stressed that this is not a "fix-all," and added that a balanced budget amendment would not necessarily limit the size of the government or ensure more public-sector investments.

Although the Arkansas native avoided questions concerning his preference in the presidential race, he did contend that whoever is elected president will get the credit for an upturn in the economy, which he predicts will go through a "slow growth" period in the next two years, followed by a period of "tremendous growth" in the second half of the 90s.

"I'm not a Democrat or a Republican. I'm a victim," said Cox, drawing approval from the crowd. "Pieces of all of the candidate's policies are good, but they all have bad points."

Cox arrived in Snyder on Wednesday and toured the Miller Ranch as well as oilfield operations. He had a breakfast Thursday morning with representatives of Snyder's financial institutions.

Perot will expand from TV only coverage; rallies slated

DALLAS (AP) — Ross Perot will appear at East Coast rallies on Sunday, aides said today, breaking out of his TV-only campaign with just over a week to go until the election.

Perot will speak at rallies in Flemington, N.J., and in Pittsburgh, the aides said.

He also will accelerate his television campaign, buying an hour commercial on ABC Monday night preceding the highly rated "Monday Night Football."

Tonight, Perot goes on TV to tackle anew what he sees as a main problem in his independent campaign for the presidency — an assumption by many Americans that they would be wasting their vote supporting a man who cannot win.

"You are throwing your vote away unless you vote your conscience," Perot says in a half-hour commercial to be broadcast tonight on NBC. "Don't waste your vote on traditional politicians who promise you everything to get elected but never deliver."

He made a similar statement at Monday's final presidential debate and aides have since picked up the theme, one of three developed by Perot for the campaign's final days.

Perot is also focusing on his methods for stimulating new jobs and he's trying to define himself to voters, much the way his running mate, retired Vice Adm. James Stockdale, did at the first debate: "Who am I? Why am I here?"

He has begun to introduce his family to voters, a step that required him to put aside his oft-stated desire to protect their privacy. His wife Margot appeared on CNN's "Larry King Live" on Thursday night and his children are featured in tonight's ad.

But Perot hasn't decided whether to carry his message to voters personally or just keep repeating it on television. Top aides say they're working on a personal appearance schedule, but loyalists are divided over whether Perot should hit the campaign trail.

"I think if there's any distinction between Ross Perot and the other two guys it's that distinction," said Charlie Hellebusch, who leads Perot volunteers in Kentucky. "To go out and do exactly what they're doing, he begins to look exactly like them and there's no difference."

Joyce Whitaker, a Dublin, Ohio, businesswoman who volunteered for Perot before he withdrew from the race in July, said he needs to press the flesh.

"He talks about the people but he's never out there with them," said Whitaker, now undecided in her support. "He's always removed from them. To me, actions speak louder than words."

Television ad costs account for more than half the $30 million Perot has spent on the campaign in the last six weeks. Since spring, Perot's campaign has spent $48 million.

With an 'arrivederci,' Columbia releases Lageos satellite today

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Columbia's astronauts today sent a laser-reflecting satellite spinning into space in the main event of their 11/2-week shuttle flight.

The crew of five Americans and one Canadian settled in orbit after the Thursday afternoon launch. This morning, they deployed the Laser Geodynamics Satellite, or Lageos, and an attached rocket boosted the spacecraft from an altitude of 184 miles into the intended 3,666-mile-high orbit.

The satellite is studded with 426 prisms, giving it the appearance of a golf ball. The aluminum and brass ball is just 2 feet in diameter but weighs 900 pounds.

Astronaut Tamara Jernigan gave a command to open the clam-like sun shields surrounding the satellite in Columbia's cargo bay. Then, she set the satellite and its attached rocket and motor whirling at more than 60 revolutions per minute.

Finally, springs tripped that propelled the Italian-made spacecraft away from the orbiter as it soared over the Pacific Ocean, several hundred miles off the Mexican coast.

"Arrivederci, Lageos II," said shuttle Commander James Wetherbee.

"Way to go," Mission Control's Bill McArthur said.

Geologists hope to track the slow drifting of continents by firing laser beams at the satellite and measuring the time it takes for the pulses to be reflected back to Earth.

Vietnam reportedly will release papers on Americans POWs

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush said today the Vietnamese government has agreed for the first time to make available "all information" on American war prisoners, including photographs, artifacts and military documents.

Bush's envoy to Hanoi — retired Gen. John Vessey — said that the more than 4,000 photos and other material already in U.S. possession represents a small sample of what will be made available.

"The important thing is not the material we brought back. The important thing is the material we expect to get," Vessey said.

The president called the development a "significant, a real breakthrough." Bush announced he was taking modest first steps — including humanitarian aid for flood victims in Vietnam — toward establishing normal relations with Hanoi.

"Today, finally, I am convinced that we can begin writing the last chapter of the Vietnam War," Bush said in an early-morning Rose Garden announcement.

Vessey said the Vietnamese have promised to transfer the material from their military archives to museums and allow American representatives access to them.

Police note single arrest

Snyder police arrested an 18-year-old man in the 1700 block of 28th Street at 12:06 a.m. today on outstanding Lubbock DPS warrants for no driver's license and failure to appear.

It was the only arrest during an otherwise quiet 24-hour period for police.

At 3:48 p.m. Thursday, a man in the 200 block of 34th Street complained to officers that an unknown juvenile had been shooting at his front door with a BB gun. A report for Class C criminal mischief was filed.

Officers also assisted several stranded motorists and handled routine domestic and juvenile complaints, all without incident.

Deputies take theft report

County deputies Thursday took a report of theft of farm tools from a residence north of the city.

The sheriff's department received a call from Tommy Davis at 8:25 a.m., who said that a lift and blade for a Massey-Ferguson tractor had been stolen from his father's house north of Snyder.

According to Davis, his father had been out of town for a couple of days, and the tools were taken sometime during that period.

An offense report for theft was taken on the tools, which were valued at $250.

FR. PATRICK MAHER

New pastor appointed at Guadalupe

Father Patrick Maher, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church, assumed his new duties on Oct. 3. He succeeded Fr. Joe Augustin who has been named pastor at Immaculate Conception Parish in Muleshoe and the Saint Mary Magdalen mission community in Earth.

Maher's and Augustin's pastoral assignments were made by Bishop Michael J. Sheehan of the Diocese of Lubbock.

Since his ordination as a Roman Catholic priest in June, 1971, Fr. Maher has served the church in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

His assignments have included ministry at St. Laurence Cathedral Parish in Amarillo; at Saint Margaret Mary and Our Lady of Guadalupe Churches in Lamesa; at St. Francis of Assisi Parish in Wolfforth; and as pastor of the Muleshoe Immaculate Conception Parish since 1979.

Fr. Maher presently serves as a member of the presbyteral council. He is originally from Ireland.

Vincent Baptist plans Cowboy service Sunday

Vincent Baptist Church will have a "Cowboy Service" Sunday, beginning with a chuck wagon breakfast at 8 a.m. Cowboy poets and singers will perform at 9 a.m. with Sunday School and preaching to follow from 10 a.m. to noon. A dinner on the grounds begins at noon. More poets and Gospel singing will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Poets will include Eddie Hooker, Stan Paregien, Jackie Greene, Chuck Haney, Raymond Stallcup and Judge Sam Massey.

Singers will include Jody Nix and Benny Green.

There is no charge.

Ira seniors are sponsoring turkey shoot

The Ira senior class will sponsor a turkey shoot Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the baseball field located southwest of the school on Farm Road 1606.

Entry fees are $3 per game and $2 for buy backs.

For more information call Richard Long at 573-2628 or 573-4383.

Judges taking gun classes

DALLAS (AP) — Judges at a courthouse sprayed with gunfire during an attack that killed two attorneys have set their sights on becoming more familiar with weapons.

Eleven Tarrant County judges are signed up for a two-day seminar on guns and target practice next week. State law permits judges to possess or use guns while on the bench.

"I don't intend to become a great marksman, but I want to be familiar with guns," said State District Judge Don Leonard in Fort Worth. "It's mostly for familiarization."

The sheriff's department is sponsoring the seminar Wednesday and Thursday in response to the July 1 courthouse attack. The seminar is open to all state and county judges in the Fort Worth area.

Less than four months ago, a gunman opened fire inside the old county courthouse, killing Chris Marshall, a Tarrant County Assistant District Attorney, and Dallas lawyer John Edwards.

Two judges and a prosecutor were wounded in the shooting spree.

Fifth CROP walk set here Sunday

The fifth annual CROP walk is slated for Sunday at the courthouse. Sponsored by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance, the annual walk raises funds for the Christian Rural Overseas Program, the hunger and relief agency of the National Council of Churches, more commonly known as "Church World Service."

Participants are asked to gather by 1:30 p.m. at the courthouse. The walk begins at 2 p.m. The five kilometer walk begins at the courthouse, proceeds down College Ave. to the Dairy Queen, goes through Towle Park and around the softball complex to Tiger Stadium.

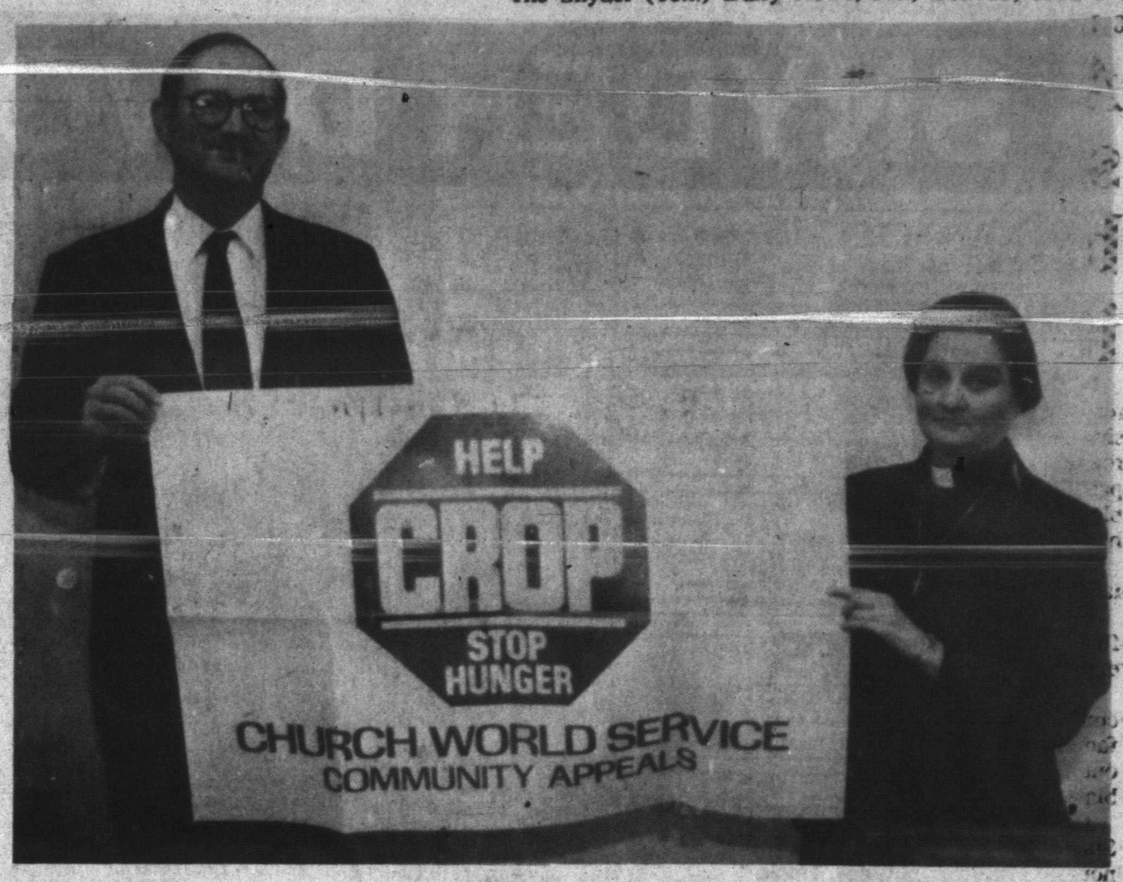
Twenty-five percent of all monies collected in the county is donated to Gentle Dove Ministries' Food Bank which is the only food bank serving Scurry County. Figures vary from month to month, but Sharon Applin, director, said the local food bank feeds alot of needy people.

In addition, denominational groups may also specify that funds they collect be given to their own denominational hunger programs.

The annual CROP walk usually raises from $2,000-$3,000 for hunger programs and disaster relief related causes.

All county churches are invited to participate in the 1992 CROP walk. To register, contact Dr. Tim Griffin, pastor of First Christian Church.

Churches already registered include First Christian, First Presybterian, Christian Fellowship, Gentle Dove, Colonial Hills Baptist, St. John's Episcopal, St. Elizabeth Catholic, and Grace Lutheran.



CROP WALK — Scurry County's fifth annual CROP walk will be held Saturday. All walkers are to gather at the courthouse by 1:30 p.m. The walk begins at 2 p.m. The event is again being sponsored by the Scurry County Ministerial Alliance. Pictured holding a CROP walk poster are Dr. Tim Griffin, CROP Walk chairman, and Arlynne Turnquist, president of the alliance. Griffin also pastors the First Christian Church and Turnquist serves as pastor for Grace Lutheran and St. John's Episcopal Church. (SDN Staff Photo)

Rice University president to quit position next year

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University president George Rupp says he is ready to move on after heading the Houston school for eight years, even if it's just to a teaching position here.

"It is not an abrupt decision," Rupp, 50, said Thursday. "It has been one I have thought of for a while. I think institutions have rhythm and benefit from infusion of new leadership."

Rupp, the school's fifth president, said he would resign June 30, 1993. He came to Rice on July 1, 1985, from Harvard where he was dean of the divinity school.

"I think the time frame for that periodic rejuvenation is about 10 years, give or take two," Rupp said. "Because I am now in my eighth year here at Rice, I have on the basis of my long-held views felt obliged to consider both my own future and the interests of this university."

Rupp said he was uncertain what he would do, although he said it was possible he would remain at the school and teach.

He has a doctorate in religion from Harvard and also studied Buddhist thought and practice at the University of Sri Lanka.

Rupp pointed to tripling of applications, doubling of research support and Rice's higher national visibility as highlights of his tenure.

"Rice has a sense of forward momentum and energy that I'm very proud of and I think distinguishes it from a great many other universities in this country at this time where there are major traumas of various sorts which are not affecting this institution."

Rice is a private school with about 4,200 students, including 2,700 undergraduates. Its endowment of more than $1 billion, however, ranks it the 10th largest university endowment in the nation. The school was the site in 1990 for the annual Economic Summit of Industrialized Nations, hosted by President Bush.

Rupp and Charles Duncan, chairman of the school's Board of Regents, denied suggestions that Rupp's departure was the result of friction between the president and the board.

"I think there is not a philosophic difference," Rupp said.

"There's never a meeting of the board where we don't talk about some aspect of resource needs," Duncan said. "There are differences of opinion, of course."

He insisted, however, that Rupp's resignation was under amicable terms. Duncan said he was surprised a few days ago when he learned of the president's plan to quit, although he noted that when Rupp was hired, Rupp had warned the board he felt a tenure of about 10 years was what they could expect from him.

Duncan said a search committee headed by board member Kent Anderson would begin a hunt for Rupp's successor.

Economic stimulus package would be first on agenda

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bill Clinton's first move to help the economy, if he wins next month, would be a stimulus package that includes investment tax breaks and accelerated spending on public works projects, his advisers say. The middle-class tax cut may have to wait.

But advisers to the Democratic nominee say bolder steps than he's already outlined to hasten an economic recovery are rendered nearly impossible by the staggering federal deficit and public unease about whether the red ink can ever be brought under control.

About all he can do, they say, is accelerate the steps.

The middle-class tax cut Clinton has promised is also an option, but may have to wait for a later, more comprehensive and long term economic recovery bill, aides said.

"If Clinton wins, he inherits a $300 billion budget deficit, an economy that hasn't budged in two years, the highest unemployment in eight years, a record or near-record trade deficit with Japan, and a great fear that the economy is not going anywhere and the government doesn't have any power to turn it around," said Bruce Reed, a Clinton domestic policy adviser.

That said, the Clinton campaign hopes a series of relatively modest steps, already outlined in the governor's campaign papers, can offer at least a symbolic shot in the arm for the economy and help restore public confidence and private investment.

Bruce Lindsey, Clinton's campaign director, said the continued weakness of the economy spurred Clinton to have his advisers take another look at his program to see which parts could be moved quickly, either through legislation or executive action.

Given those constraints, aides say the initial Clinton economic package will include:

—$5 billion in targeted tax breaks for business investment in new plants and equipment.

—A break from the capital gains tax for starting new businesses, if the investment is for more than five years.

—Acceleration of Clinton's $20 billion "Rebuild America" program for transportation and other public works projects, to speed up the awarding of contracts and creation of jobs.

He wants to find ways "without increasing the deficit, that we could get the money out a little quicker ... front-load that construction work," Lindsey said.

Gene Sperling, a key aid in the creation of many of Clinton's position papers, said he would also try to ease what many people believe is a tight credit market to "take away bottlenecks that keep people from getting loans."

In 1789, John Adams was sworn in as the first vice president of the United States.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

WHY HE BETRAYED JESUS HAS ALWAYS BEEN A CONJECTURE OPEN TO LENGTHY DISCUSSION. SOME HAVE SAID IT WAS PURELY HIS GREED FOR THE THIRTY PIECES OF SILVER, OTHERS MAINTAIN IT WAS OUT OF ANGER AT THE REBUKE HE RECEIVED FROM JESUS... (JOHN 12:1-8), ANOTHER THEORY IS THAT JUDAS, ALWAYS ANXIOUS AS TREASURER TO GET MORE MONEY, SAW AN EASY CHANCE TO ENLARGE THE TREASURY WITH NO REAL DANGER TO JESUS—FOR, HE REASONED THAT THE SON OF GOD COULD COMMAND LEGIONS OF ANGELS TO RESCUE HIM WHENEVER HE WISHED! BE THAT AS IT MAY, ONCE THE DEED WAS DONE AND THE COLD LIGHT OF REASON REVEALED TO JUDAS THE ENORMITY OF HIS CRIME, HE REPENTED IN A FRENZY OF DISPAIR, HURLED THE BLOOD MONEY BACK AT THE PRIESTS AND RUSHED OUT AND HANGED HIMSELF!

JUDAS ISCARIOT, THE BETRAYER OF JESUS, WAS THE ONLY MAN AMONG THE ORIGINAL TWELVE DISCIPLES WHO DID NOT HAIL FROM GALILEE. THAT HE WAS STRONGLY DISLIKED FROM THE OUTSET BY THE OTHERS IS APPARENT FROM THE VERY WORDS OF JOHN (JOHN 12:6). JUDAS WAS THE TREASURER OF THE GROUP—"HOLDING THE BAG" WAS THE EXPRESSION THEY USED—DENOTING THAT HE RECEIVED ALL GIFTS AND MONEY CONTRIBUTIONS FROM THE PUBLIC, PAID FOR ANYTHING THE GROUP MIGHT NEED (FOOD, CLOTHES, ETC.), AND DISPENSED MONEY TO THE POOR, ALL IN JESUS' NAME. BUT JOHN SPOKE FOR ALL OF THEM WHEN HE SAID JUDAS WAS A THIEF WHO DIDN'T CARE FOR THE POOR AT ALL, BUT CARRIED THE BAG OUT OF HIS LOVE FOR THE MONEY THAT WAS IN IT AND THE SENSE OF POWER AND IMPORTANCE IT GAVE HIM!

LEGEND SAYS THAT THE TREE ON WHICH JUDAS HANGED HIMSELF (SINCE CALLED THE JUDAS TREE) WAS THE LOVELY REDBUD TREE, A FLOWERING ORNAMENTAL SHRUB WHICH CAN ATTAIN HEIGHTS OF FORTY FEET!

NEXT WEEK: A SOUTHERN QUEEN—WHO WAS WISE!
