Buck Is Convicted For Kidnaping Of Peggy McMath

Long Term In Pen Assessed Late Saturday

Brother Cyril Gets Freedom And Smiles Wanly; Penalty Given Kenneth Is 24 To 25 Years In Prison

Mother Collapses

Attorney Pleads For Leniency And For Consideration Of Man's Family But Maximum Is Given By Court

BY ANDREW J. CLARK
Associated Press Staff Writer

BARNSTABLE, Mass., June 24. — Kenneth Buck was convicted tonight by a jury of kidnaping 10-year-old Margaret "Peggy" McMath and the extortion of $60,000 ransom from her parents, and was sentenced immediately to not less than 24 years or more than 25 years in state prison. His brother Cyril with whom he had been jointly on trial was acquitted of the kidnaping charge.

Kenneth, who shed tears during the trial, stood up and received the sentence without flinching. His aged mother, Mrs. Bertha Buck, collapsed and was taken from the courtroom. Other relatives cried openly, and Mrs. Albert Chase, a sister of Kenneth, left the room near collapse.

Cyril Is Unmoved

Cyril, meanwhile, sat in the defendants dock unmoved by the verdict that acquitted him. His counsel, Willard Carleton, rushed to his side and shook his hand. Cyril smiled wanly.

Immediately the jury's verdict was announced, Cyril's attorney moved that his client be dismissed from custody. This was done.

As soon as Kenneth's sentence was pronounced by Judge Edward F. Hanify, a deputy who sat with the convicted man snapped handcuffs on his wrists.

Pleads For Leniency

Before pronouncement of the sentence, Attorney Burwick pleaded with the court for leniency, declaring his client had never previously been convicted of a serious offense, and asking the court to consider his family. The district attorney, however, asked for a maximum sentence and it was to his plea that the court harkened.

Officials said they did not believe Kenneth would be transferred to the state prison until Monday.

Kenneth is 28 years old.

The crime for which the brothers were tried, was one which attracted national attention. "Peggy" was kidnapped from the Harwich Center school at 2:30 p. m. on May 2 by a man who had telephoned the school saying he was the child's father, Neil C. McMath, a former Detroit engineer who is now employed as a boatbuilder at Harwichport, and

Price Land Is Going On Sale

Wheat King Of Panhandle Will Lose Property; Auction Is Threatened August 1; Many Acres To Be Sold

(By The Associated Press)

TULIA, June 24.—Creditors closing in on the big acreage of Hickman Price, known two years ago as one of the world's largest wheat farmers, will force between 7,000 and 8,000 acres of his land onto the auction block August 1.

Eleven months ago Price called his creditors into a meeting at his headquarters in Kress and advised them that he was ready to surrender his properties. Two years of low prices, coupled with a short crop brought on by a drouth last year had exhausted his fortune of $250,000, he told his creditors.

Pay Back Every Penny

He advised them to appoint a receiver and operate the project as a unit, or lease the land to neighboring farmers, until such time as the properties could be liquidated,

Two Desperadoes Spread Terror In Ozark Region

Annual Trip Up Mountain Begun

(By The Associated Press)

QUARRYVILLE, Pa., June 24. Shrouded in secrecy, a strange procession set out at dawn today for a Perry county mountain top and success of the mission should prevent a lot of conjecture six months hence.

It's the annual pilgrimage of the slumbering groundhog lodge. About midnight tonight the members are to decide, by some mystic process known only to them, whether next winter is to be mild or of the "long, cold" variety.

The rituals and investigations are to be carried out at a spot 906 feet above sea level, but the nature of the ceremonies is a deep, dark secret locked in the breasts of the members — or wherever slumbering groundhogs keep their secrets.

Officer Mowed Down With Machine Gun; Woman Is Beaten

(By The Associated Press)

FORT SMITH, Ark., June 24. — Two desperadoes who mowed down an officer with a sub-machine gun at Alma last night, appeared at a farm house in the Ozark mountains near Winslow today, beat Mrs. John Rogers with a chain when she refused to give the keys to her automobile and fled.

Heavily armed posses of officers and citizens beat through the under brush of the hills tonight in the vicinity of the Rogers home. Guards were posted on all roads and it was believed the gunmen were hemmed in.

Threatened With Death

Mrs. Rogers was alone when the men appeared. They called her to the door and pointed their sub machine gun at her, threatening her with death unless she produced the keys to her car, which stood in the garage.

She refused and one of the men picked up a heavy chain that lay in the yard, approached her and again demanded the keys. As she again refused, and the man struck her until she fell to the floor, badly bruised and cut about the legs and body.

Push Car From Garage

"We'll fix it so nobody can use it," Mrs. Rogers said the gunmen exclaimed. She saw the pair push the car from the garage and head it for a 20-foot cliff.

The courageous farm woman leaped to her feet, ran to the car and turned it into a tree as the men shouted threats of death at her. As the machine, rolling rapidly toward the cliff, hit the tree the

Grain Pits Of Chicago Reach Higher Levels

Board Of Trade Is Deluged By Buying Orders And Prices Soar; Weather News Causes Rally In Wheat

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 24. — Grain pits of the board of trade were deluged with buying orders today and prices of most grains soared to the season's highest levels.

Bullish enthusiasm was evident from the start. Buyers were swayed by reports, both official and private, that heat and drouth had damaged grain crops in the west and northwest even more severely than had been estimated.

Follows Heavy Selling

Wheat continued to rally, attributed generally to weather news, and soared three cents a bushel before the close. The huge waves of buying orders followed heavy selling by profit takers. Only at the last was there any recession, and this was only fractionally below the peak.

All deliveries of wheat soared to well above 80 cents a bushel mark with the December touching 88 5-8 a minute before the finish. The September delivery closed at 85 cents and the December at 88.

Corn Also Is Up

Coln was pushed along by strength in wheat. The December delivery touched 57 7-8 cents and closed 1-4 lower at 57 5-8. The July delivery failed to reach the half dollar mark by only 3-8 cent.

Oats sold at 40 cents for the first time in several years when the December delivery climbed to 40 5-8 as news continued to pour in that the crop has been "burned up" by heat and drouth.

Rye was as bullish as any of the other grains and at times climbed even faster than wheat with all deliveries well above 70 cents. Rye was the first grain to sell at more than twice the quotations current at this time last year. The December reached 78 3-8.

Two Lives Are Lost On Farm

One Man Dies From Wounds Of Bullets While Another Is Victim Of Fire; No Motive For Slaying Known

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Tex., June 24.—L. L. Gregg, 65, and Oscar Wortham, 35, neighboring farmers northeast of Detroit, lost their lives today in what officers believed was a murder and suicide.

Wortham died instantly when Gregg fired a shotgun at him twice. Gregg then went to his nearby home where he lived alone, in some manner set the house afire and died in the flames.

No Motive Known

No motive for Gregg's action could be learned. The men had been close friends and were seen together on a street here only yesterday.

Gregg, at work in a plot 150 yards from his house, fired at Wortham as Wortham left his house across the road to go after a team of horses and after the first volley he blazed away a second time. Mrs. Wortham, hearing shots, ran out of her house, found her husband and saw Gregg's home in flames. His body was almost consumed.

An inquest verdict of murder and suicide was returned.

"It's Impossible," Says David When Cable Tells Of Birth Of Son To Aimee

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—The identity of the sender of a cablegram which announced the birth of a nine-pound son to Aimee Semple McPherson-Hutton, Los Angeles evangesilt visiting in Paris, remained a mystery tonight to her husband, David Hutton, who denounced the message as an "impossibility."

After reading the cable, which was signed, "adoringly, wife," Hutton said:

"It can't be. It's impossible."

Through his business manager, Harry C. Brandon, he added:

"David and I are laughing. Why I've got absolute proof it couldn't happen. I talked to the doctor who examined Mrs. Hutton three days before she sailed for Europe. It couldn't have happened, I say."

Hutton challenged the message as a hoax, saying all of the cablegrams sent by the evangelist were in code and that the one received concerning the baby did not fit her phraseology.

The cable read:

Gather Tuesday

Fate Of Beer And Liquor Will Be Decided In Balloting On August 26; Sides Are To Be Chosen At Austin

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, June 24.—A fifteen-year old scar will be irritated anew in Texas next week, when prohibition is again brought before the electorate.

The "antis" and "pros" will be at it again after a decade and a half armistice. Both factions plan to meet in Austin on Tuesday and choose sides.

Vote August 26

On August 26 Texas will vote to repeal or not to disturb the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution. On the same day the electorate will decide whether the state constitution shall be modified to permit the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer.

The beer proposition will be clear-cut, with the voter marking his ballot to indicate whether he wants it or does not want it.

In the matter of expressing its will with reference to repealing the eighteenth amendment the legislature has set up for Texans an extensive piece of machinery. Those for keeping the amendment intact and the faction for scrapping it have been directed to meet in conventions in Austin on next Tuesday to nominate delegates to a state convention which will, as a matter of routine only, cast Texas' formal vote on the question of repeal submitted to it by the congress.

To Choose Delegates

There will be chosen a delegate and an alternate from each of the 31 senatorial districts of the state, but they will be candidates at large. Voters in each of the 254 counties will pass on all the delegates. The ballots will carry under a suitable label so that there can be no mistake, the nominees of the group "for repeal" and the candidates of the GALVESTON, June 24. (AP) — Senator Nat Patton of Crockett, Judge James D. Pickett of Palestine and Clark W. Thompson of Galveston were leading a field of nine candidates on the face of early returns tonight from the seventh district congressional election to choose a successor to the late Clay Stone Briggs.

Clegg, Trinity, 93; Nall Colson, Conroe, 25; Thos. H. Dent, Galveston (negro) 211; State Senator Julian P. Greer, Palestine, 194; State Senator Nat Patton, Crockett, 752; James D. Pickett, Palestine, 960; Theodore Stubbs, Galveston, 489; Clark W. Thompson, Galveston, 629.

Texas Still Swelters In A Blistering Heat Wave

Two Cities Over State Report A Reading Of 110; Deaths Attributed To Weather

(By The Associated Press)

TEXAS continued to swelter Saturday under the wrost June heat wave in many years, two cities reporting maximum temperatures of 110 and many, more than 100. Two deaths in Dallas were attributed to the heat, which intensified other ailments, and one prostration was reported there. Ray N. Wright, 29, of Hugo, Okla., died in a Paris, Tex., hospital from heat prostration.

Vernon, in North Texas, and Malakoff, in Central Texas, both reported top temperatures of 110 and maximums of 106 were recorded at Tyler, in the East Texas oil field, and at Wichita Falls, in North Texas.

The 103.2 mercury reading at Fort Worth at 5 p. m. set an all-time record there for June 24 and a record for the summer thus far. That city had a reading of 103 Friday.

Dallas saw the mercury bubble progressively from 99 Thursday to 100 Friday and 101, Saturday. Dock Briggs, 72, fell dead in the back yard of his home from a sudden attack of apoplexy, which his physician said was brought on by the heat; and J. H. Wilson, 63, died of heart disease at a machine shop, after collapsing from the heat. E. V. Wallace, relief worker, was prostrated but revived after treatment at a hospital.

International Accord Sought By Hull; Program In Harmony With Recovery Act Advocated

Secretary Again Defends The U. S. Position From Charges And Declare Cooperation Is Aim Of America

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 24.—A drive for an international accord to raise prices in harmony with the American recovery program was underway in the world economic conference tonight as Secretary of State Cordell Hull assailed the sources of suggestions that internal and inter-governmental schemes of action were in conflict.

The parley finished its first fortnight with several leading delegates expressing determination to bring it down to brass tacks in order to discover which way it is going or can go.

Defends Position

As a result of this week's serious rift over monetary stabilization and French charges that the United States is blocking agreement here in order to help its own domestic campaign against the depression Secretary Hull again defended his government's position in a declaration to the press.

There is "no basis and no logic" in the thought that Aremica's domestic plans are incompatible with international efforts to halt the crisis, Secretary Hull declared.

From the American viewpoint, he said, there is only one way the conference can go and that is in the direction of world-wide cooperation to restore price levels.

Would Block Recovery

Early talk of de facto stabilization of the dollar convinced the American delegates that such a

Driving rain, accompanied by lightning, swept across Lubbock from the southwest at 12:27 o'clock this morning, ending a long period of drouth and hot weather. Ten minutes later the shower was diminishing. The precipitation was believed to be local.

Heaviest rain was reported at Brownfield, where between 2 and 3 inches fell, the Southwestern Bell Telephone company operator said. Rain was "pouring" at Slaton.

Other towns—Seagraves, Lamesa, Littlefield, Crosbyton, Olton, Tahoka and Floydada—had no rain.

Precipitation was badly needed in the Brownfield area, as in all other Plains regions.

The mercury climbed to 95 degrees in Lubbock yesterday, and the humidity made the heat oppressive. A drizzle fell here in the early part of the night.

Evening Star Is On Move Friday

"I am 85 years of age and I have never seen anything like it before, in my life," said S. H. Barker, retired, in telling of a phenomenon he witnessed Friday night.

Mr. Barker said he was visiting a nephew, T. W. Barker, on Main street, east of the Santa Fe tracks Friday night. He was talking to Ed Duncan, who resides a block north on Tenth street, and to a Mr. Adams, who lived near Mr. Duncan.

About 9 o'clock they looked west to the evening star, which was seen just above the top of a telephone pole. The star was seen to move downward, then to cross behind the pole and then go down again below an arm and then to cross back to the other side of the pole, where it disappeared behind a cloud.

Mr. Duncan saw it first and called the attention of the other two men to the star's movements. The three men watched the planet move for about half an hour.

Mortgage Concern Moves To Lubbock

State headquarters of the Texas Land and Mortgage company, Ltd., will be moved to Lubbock from Dallas by July 15, it was said here yesterday.

The organization, which has its home office in London, has had its chief Texas office in Dallas 51 years.

Hector Mackay, assistant general manager, will be in charge here, said Ben Brewer, who has been representing the company in this section since February. Offices will be on the sixth floor of the Myrick building. Three suites, to be used, are being remodeled. A vault will be installed in which company records will be stored.

The company, which operates only in Texas, has about four million dollars in loans. Headquarters are being moved here because two-thirds of the loans are in the Panhandle and South Plains regions, Brewer pointed out.

Within the borders of the United States are found three great birds of prey—the bald eagle, the golden eagle and the California condor.

Love's mother, Mrs. C. E. Love, lives at 2317 Thirteenth street.

The former Lubbock young man is one of 86 flying cadets, who with three officers of the regular army and two air corps non-commissioned officers have undergone a year's training in flying. Eight months of the course were at the primary school at Randolph field, also at San Antonio, and four at the advanced school at Kelly field.

Love and other civilians trained as flying cadets will be commissioned in the air reserve as second lieutenants. The office of the assistant chief of staff at eighth corps area headquarters at Fort Sam Houston, however, has reported it is uncertain because of an economy program "whether this crop of new aviators will be assigned to active duty with air corps organizations, as has been the case heretofore with advanced flying school graduates."

Large Land Deal Completed Recently In Muleshoe Area

MULESHOE, June 24. (Special)—One of the largest land deals in this section was completed here a few days ago when a deed for 10,540 acres was filed in the county clerk's office by A. P. Stone, agent. Revenue stamps worth $154 were attached to the deed.

The transfer is for that number of acres from F. P. Warren and Co., inc., to Fred P. Warren. It is land in Bailey, Lamb, Parmer and Castro counties. Warren, well known here, resides at Lakeside, Mich.

Shallowater Boy Named President

Anthony Woodward, Shallowater 4-H club boy, was chosen president of the Lubbock county 4-H club council at the annual election held Saturday afternoon in the district court room. He succeeds Arvle Elliott, Grovesville.

Harold Cromer, Canyon, was chosen vice-president and Miss Myrel Carter, New Hope, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to hold the annual 4-H encampment at the Panhandle-South Plains fair grounds here July 7 and 8, starting in the afternoon.

Laverne Pounds of Acuff was named chairman of the committee on arrangements, with C. T. Potts, Canyon; Christine Barton, Hardy and Ruby Mae Wilke, New Hope, forming the group.

The chamber of commerce gives the encampment for the club boys and girls annually.

Business Now Moving Ahead

Freight Car Loading Showing Substantial Gains; Thirty Tentative Codes Reported To Hugh Johnson

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP)—The nation's business moved ahead of its planned restoratives last week with freight car loadings—one of the most accepted industrial barometers—showing new and substantial gains.

For the seven day period ending June 17, the American Railway association announced today, loadings were 587,931 cars, an increase of 23,385 over the preceding week and 69,533 more than in the corresponding week of last year. All commodities except less than car-lot merchandise increased over 1932.

Muster Strength

Meanwhile the industrial regulation and public works administrations were mustering their strength to put it behind the upward push which business already is making.

Thirty tentative codes providing for increased wages and greater employment were reported today to have been submitted to Hugh S. Johnson, head of the national recovery administration, exclusive of the textile code upon which hearings will be started Tuesday.

However, the ten major industries upon which Johnson counted to lead in the industrial regulations movement were not prominent in the list of those submitting codes.

In Chicago, the coal operators from eleven middle western states were considering what minimum wage and maximum hour terms to present to Johnson and in New York steel operators were conferring upon the question.

Measure Designed To Assure Fair Return For Farmers Of France Approved By Chamber

PARIS, June 24. (AP)—A bill designed to assure a fair return for French farmers was approved by the chamber of deputies today. The vote was 530 to 35.

The measure provides for the creation of a wheat board at the ministry of agriculture, armed with full powers and financial resources to organize and control the market.

Also, in view of "strangling speculation," it fixes temporarily the minimum price for wheat at 115 francs a quintal, about $1.55 a bushel at the current rate of exchange. At present, the farmer gets about $1.25 a bushel.

Farmers would be advanced money from a fund of $8,000,000. A possible prohibition of spring wheat sowing by ministerial decree is envisaged in the bill.

Official Lubbock Bride And Groom Are Back In City

Lubbock's official bride and groom are back from their honeymoon.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Elam Griffith who were married in Lubbock's "official June wedding" at the Lindsey theater last Tuesday evening. Merchants of the city donated gifts to the couple for the wedding staged jointly by them and the theater management.

The honeymooners spent two days in Carlsbad, N. M., where they were the guests of the Crawford hotel. They went through the Caverns as special guests of Superintendent Tom Boles. Thursday night they were guests at a dinner at the hotel given by former Lubbock people.

The trip to Carlsbad was furnished by bus companies operating out of the union bus terminal here.

The couple is to reside at 1108 Avenue M.

Law Class Is Organized At Tech; Doyle Settle Prexy

Sixteen Texas Technological college students have organized the Lubbock Law class for the purpose of studying law. J. Doyle Settle is president and Garland Smith, secretary.

The students will meet each Monday and Thursday night at 8 o'clock in room 210 of the administration building. Cases are assigned by Settle for briefing. Local attorneys will be invited to address class members. All books owned by the students have been placed together, forming the nucleus of a law library.

Besides the class officers, other members are Gordon Treadaway, Gerald Adams, L. C. Riethmayor, G. R. Russ, jr., H. L. Roberson, C. H. Elkins, E. H. Moore, Charles Cobb, Alfred Holman, Hammond Austin, Lloyd Barnett, Hayes Waters, G. Dallas Waters, and F. L. Heidel.

Bonds For Hobgood And Perry Are Reduced To $7,500 Each

Judge Homer L. Pharr of 72nd district court Saturday informed Sheriff Tom Abel bonds of Leslie Hobgood and Columbus Perry, charged with robbery with firearms, had been reduced from $10,000 to $7,500 each.

A jury which deliberated Hobgood's case at the last term of court was unable to agree and was dismissed. Perry's case was passed, possibly for the term. Hobgood and Perry till were in county jail Saturday.

Textile Engineering Work At Texas Tech Is Praised

In a signed article in the Cisco Daily News, W. H. LaRoque, the newspaper's manager, while pointing out how Cisco might become a wool center, praises Texas Technological college for its textile engineering work.

While in Lubbock attending a state Lions club convention, Mr. LaRoque met President Bradford Knapp and Prof. M. E. Heard of Texas Tech.

"This (his proposal for Cisco) may be only a dream, but all great undertakings have been dreams at the first but later became achievements," the article said. "Doctor Knapp has a dream for his school at Lubbock in what it will do for our state and for the vast resources of the plains country surrounding. Those dreams are rapidly becoming real accomplishments and it is safe to predict a wonderful future for his school."

Nearly 150,000 free lunches were given away last winter by Knoxville, Tenn., parent-teachers associations to needy school children.

Barbecue-Picnic Planned At Post

POST, June 24 (Special)—Replacing a semi-annual banquet, a barbecue-picnic will be conducted by the local chamber of commerce at Two Draw lake Tuesday night, E. R. Wright is president of the chamber.

Representatives of all rural communities in Post's trade territory are expected to attend, as well as local men. Reports of the work accomplished the first half of the year are to be made.

New Barbecue And Sandwich Shop Is Opened In Lubbock

Jack Dewald and Jimmie Murphy have opened a new barbecue and sandwich stand, the Spotted Pig, on south Avenue H, at the intersection of the Tahoka and Slaton highways. Members of the staff include E. I. Fairy, Jeanette Smith, Maurine Dow, Willie Jo Watson, Gladys Shields, and Lon McKenzie.

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

A MESSAGE TO ALL FORD WORKERS

You and I together are credited with having created "mass production." We use it to make more things in less time at lower cost. By it the people have more and better goods at cheaper prices. Workmen earn higher wages with less strain—not less work. The level of American family comfort has been visibly elevated.

Industry never harms a country: harm comes from elsewhere. But Industry bears the brunt of it. After the slump came, we increased our $6 minimum wage to $7 a day, which continued for 22 months. Today our wage rate is the highest in our line. But Industry still suffers for something she did not cause. Between making and using things, something outside Industry has stepped in to prevent the maker from making and the user from using.

We pioneered the 8-hour day, the 5-day week, a minimum wage that has always exceeded the market rate. Relations between employees and the Company have always stood on a just and human basis. We are as interested in social progress, and possess as sensitive a social conscience as any reformer whose theories have never met the test of a pay-roll. We pay for doing what we think is right. And we achieved these industrial decencies not by regulation or compulsion, but by being free of financial control and "gentlemen's agreements"—free to do what we saw was right and necessary.

We have no fears of what is ahead. We can make good motor cars under any just system. I think industry will spread out. Big factories, crowded industrial centers, will dissolve. Instead we shall have workshops in village and country. Nearness to the land will prevent the worst shocks of economic change. The benefits of "mass production" can be retained without the evils of massed industrial crowding. That is the next step.

You and I are able to take this next step because of what we learned in taking the present one.

Babson Says Nationalism And Internationalism Chief Economic Issues

Nations Must Change Views, Advisor Says

Present International Economic Chaos Is Result Of Selfish Nationalism, He Declares In Statement

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright for Avalanche-Journal

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 24.—The international conference meets in London at a very critical period in the history of the world. Great results are expected from this impressive gathering. Discussions center about tariff, disarmament, and currency problems. The success of the present Conference depends upon solving these issues which have occupied the attention of other great councils all over the world in the last decade. The fundamental issue is whether economic nationalism or economic internationalism shall prevail. The conferences of the past ten years have sought solutions to these problems without facing the fundamental issue. Now the terrific world wide depression forces this question squarely to the front.

Roger Babson

Nationalism A Discredited Policy

We have had conferences on disarmament, tariffs, and war debts for the past ten years. The situation today is worse than it ever was.

Disarmament: We all think of Europe as having been an armed camp in 1913. The world spends twice as much today on armaments as it did in 1913.

Tariffs: We got away to a head start in the tariff race which began just after the War and we skimmed the cream for seven or eight years. When the rest of the world realized that they could also use tariffs effectively, our foreign trade rapidly declined.

Debts: After the War we lent Europe money with which she built for us a period of industrial prosperity and paid us her war debts in profits on goods. Then our tariffs became so high that foreign countries could no longer pay us with their goods and were forced to pay us in gold. Their gold reserves became too small to support their currencies and inevitably they had to abandon the gold standard. A new race is now on—currency deflation. To protect ourselves we were forced to join it on April 19. The present international economic chaos is the inevitable result of a policy of selfish nationalism under which the world has operated in the last decade.

Exchange Of Surplus

Some people argue that foreign trade is unimportant because it represented less than 10 per cent of our total business volume in the peak year of 1929. But what did that 10 per cent include? In 1929, we exported 45 per cent of our cotton crop; 19 per cent of our wheat crop; and fifty-one per cent of the agricultural implements we manufactured. In 1932 our foreign trade melted away to one-third of the 1929 peak volume. This affected not only cotton and wheat farmers, but steel mill workers, coal miners, railroad engineers, and Main street merchants.

Foreign trade is simply an exchange of the surplus goods or crops of one nation for those of another. When this exchange is practically halted, the results are disastrous. Millions of bags of coffee are burned in Brazil. Greeks use raisins for bread. Peasants drink wine instead of water in Hungary. Farmers burn grain for fuel in this country while millions starve in China. This all comes about because foreign trade can not be carried on with rising tariffs and depreciating currencies. Upon this vital question of currency stabilization, the statesmen at London should agree even if they dare not commit themselves on the underlying issue of economic nationalism vs economic internationalism.

Currency Stabilization Necessary

The adoption of some monetary standard for our domestic use is essential in the long run, I do not care whether it is a gold standard, a silver standard, a tin standard, or a wood standard, so long as there is some definite commodity by which the value of all other commodities can be measured. The human race would not be here today unless nature made us so that we got indigestion when we ate too much or got hungry when we ate too little. In the same way, we must have a standard of gold or some other substance to prevent us from expanding our currency too far by issuing too much paper money, or from contracting our currency too far by hoarding. Germany's experience after the war is still vivid. Thumb back through the pages of our own history. We issued unbacked paper money with unfortunate results during the American revolution. Massachusetts had the same experience in her colonial days. Not only history but commonsense tells us we must have some definite regulator for our circulating media.

Nations Must Agree

Likewise, the only way to resume foreign trade is for the nations to agree to some international monetary standard in which the value of their various currencies can be expressed. There seems to be no reason to change from a gold standard although we hear a lot of talk about remonetization of silver. This can only be done on an international basis. It would be suicidal for the United States alone to attempt to remonetize silver.

An agreement as to stabilization of foreign currencies is a ticklish problem. Men with long years of experience on the intricate subject of foreign exchange will be bargaining with one another. We must remember that France and England were accustomed to dealing in foreign exchange when Indians were still cutting trees on Wall Street. Let us imagine each country's currency as a stick. These sticks when laid together are of different lengths. To secure some definite international standard we must shorten some and lengthen others. The result will be a yardstick in which the relationship of the various national currencies can be expressed.

Must Have A Change Of Heart

In the past century the development of steam navigation, airplanes, and cables have made it increasingly impossible for one nation to remain economically or politically isolated. Upon the resumption of foreign trade depends the prosperity and happiness of the world. England must have our wheat; Brazil must have England's textiles; we must have Brazil's coffee. The stabilization of currencies will solve an initial and vital problem for resumption of foreign trade.

The remaining problems — high tariffs, armaments, and war debts—will not be solved until we answer the fundamental question of whether or not we are to adopt a program of economic internationalism or continue under our present system of economic nationalism. In the end the answer to this question depends on the attitude of the leaders and upon the hearts of the people. The United States has, like most nations, preached peace, disarmament, and cooperation, but has practised a policy of isolation.

Must Decide

The decision on the issue of nationalism or internationalism as a world policy depends largely upon the action of the United States. We are at the parting of the ways. We must decide whether we will adopt the unselfish international policies which we have preached for the last twenty-five years, or whether we will continue on with the same selfish nationalistic program which has dictated our course in the past half century. We can not bluff the world any longer. Essentially, we must "fish, cut bait, or go ashore." The business, employment, and wages of every reader depend upon a concrete and definite policy hereafter—that is: honest internationalism or else frank nationalism. I was taught in Sunday school that one part of the world can not prosper while the other suffers. Adopting a policy of economic internationalism simply means that nations will promote rather than hinder the normal exchange of their surplus goods. It simply means that every nation will not try to be sufficient unto itself. When all is said and done, the Golden Rule is as fundamentally important for nations as for individuals.

Business, as registered by the Babsonchart, now stands at 16 per cent above a year ago.

Marriage By Rhyme Is Available At No Extra Cost At Nelson, Nebraska

NELSON, Neb., June 24. (AP)—Marriage by rhyme is available here at no extra cost for those who shun prosaic ceremonies.

Celebrating the tenth anniversary of his own wedding, County Judge Doan F. Kiechel, 33, has made public a rhymed ritual and warranted it legal. He used it in uniting Charles Crans and Anne Herynk and will read it for any bride and groom.

Charles and Anne said they liked it.

The young barrister took office last January. Previously he had run a newspaper and published two slim volumes of verse. His ritual reads:

"My friends, marriage is a sacred thing, a fair estate society commends,

Created in the sight of God and in the presence of attesting friends.

Will you please join your right hands and reverently and humbly answer true

(And may each answer be a solemn pledge) the questions which I must propound to you?

Now do you, Charles, solemnly declare you take this woman for your wedded wife?

Will you forsake all others and keep to her through out the journey of your life? . . .

And do you Anne, as solemnly accept this man to be your lawful wedded spouse?

Will you with virtue fair and wifely grace bring credit to his name and house? . . .

By the authority this license gives, and by the power the laws and statutes name,

Before these witnesses—in the sight of God—husband and wife this couple I proclaim. . . .

The bride and bridegroom aren't asked to rhyme their answer.

"I do" still fills the bill.

Mercury Is Cause
Judge Says Brawls Due To Weather

GREELEY, Neb., June 24 (AP)—A county judge has figured out the two "fightin'est" periods of the year.

Judge Jesse L. Scott says he has found, in his 18 years on the bench, that early March and early July are well ahead of other seasons in the number of "brawls" brought into his court.

"I believe this is due largely to weather conditions," he says. "Men fight when the mercury climbs. I can offer no other explanation.' "

TEXAS LAWYER DIES

WICHITA FALLS, June 24. (AP)—H. J. Bruce, 48, lawyer and prominent Democrat in Wichita Falls since 1920, died in a hospital today after an illness of several weeks. He was a native of Grayson county. Survivors included his widow and a daughter, Ruth.

Early Philadelphia Directory Has Interesting Information; Originality Is Outstanding

PHILADELPHIA, June 24. (AP)—"Washington, George, 190, High Street" has its alphabetical place in one of Philadelphia's earliest directories, but "Anne, gentlewoman, Ann street" is under "A" because the publisher did not know her surname.

America's first President was honored by having his name printed in capital letters, a distinction not given other notables of his day. The directory was published in 1797.

Philadelphia's first directory, printed in 1785, rarely has been surpassed for originality.

Answers Given

Individuals who refused to give their names to canvassers found their exact remarks preceding their addresses. In the "I" section "I won't tell you" appears three times, together with "I won't have it numbered," "I won't tell it" and "I won't tell."

"What you please" appears twice near the end of the book.

One householder apparently refused to say anything, for under "C" is listed "Cross Woman, 93, South Street."

Captain John McPherson, who made a fortune as a privateer but lost an arm in one of his sea battles, was the editor. Houses not being numbered, he devised his own system to facilitate finding residences, but it is beyond comprehension.

MOVES TO LAMESA

O'DONNELL, (Special)—L. F. McAfee, former superintendent of schools here, has moved to Lamesa where he is engaged in the wholesale oil business. Both Mr. and Mrs. McAfee were members of the faculty. E. E. Gilbreath, the new superintendent, is occupying the former McAfee home.

Kelly Field Fliers Meet Hubbers In Two Games Today; One Tomorrow

Sled Allen's Team Meets Army Aviation Officers At 2:30 In First Game; College Ave. Park

Local Lineup Strengthened As Strong Army Team Arrives; Moore And Ratliff Slated As Lubbock's Battery

Sled Allen presents his revamped Lubbock Hubbers at College Avenue Baseball park in the first two tilts of a scheduled three-game series against the Kelly Field Fliers.

The first game of today's double header starts at 2:30 o'clock, the second to follow immediately upon completion of the first. The third game of the series will be played Monday afternoon, starting at 3 o'clock.

SOUTH PLAINS LEAGUE

In South Plains League games today, Tahoka, winner of the first half, goes to Abernathy, Enochs to Morton and Levelland to Amherst. The scheduled game between Lubbock and Slaton will be played later this week, allowing the Hubbers to meet the Kelly Field Fliers today and tomorrow.

17 In Group

The Fliers, seventeen strong, were due in Lubbock early this morning. Earlier reports from the U. S. army aviation school indicated that the Cadets would come by airplane.

Popular prices will prevail at this afternoon's twin bill. Bleachers have been erected to take care of approximately 500 spectators. Parking spaces, behind wire screens, will be provided for automobiles whose passengers do not occupy the bleachers.

Lineup Strengthened

In making preparations for today's and tomorrow's games, Manager Sled Allen has drilled his Hubbers almost daily for two weeks, or since he took over the Hubber management. In addition to the regular players, several "stars" will be imported for the series to fill possible weak places in the local lineup. Dick Ratliff, for one, is slated to catch the entire series. A heavy hitter and a catcher unequaled on the South Plains, Ratliff promises to be one of the strongest points in favor of the locals.

Although no definite word had been received from his late yesterday, it was expected that Nudie Moore, stellar hurler from Littlefield, would be here to pitch the opening game. If not today, Moore probably will pitch tomorrow afternoon's encounter.

Louie White, famous infielder from Lamesa, is slated for a position on the Hubber lineup, increasing the hitting strength of the team more than a little.

The Old Favorites

Volney "Satch" Hill, former Texas Tech athlete, or "Cowboy" Kyle, professional footballer who learned his stuff at the University of Arkansas, will be on first for the Hubbers. Ed Hambright or Winfield Breedlove will hold the second sack and Chuck Webster is slated for shortstop. Dirty Waller or Louie White will be at third. The outfield will have three heavy hitters in Raymond "Evo" Marshall, Lefty Jones and Harold Crites. Crites and Marshall may switch positions, Marshall going to right field.

That makes a fairly strong and heavy hitting lineup to face Segeant Maxie Newman's Fliers, who are known in South Texas as one of the strongest independent clubs going.

"Boob" Goodwin, a southpaw, is slated to pitch for the Cadets in this afternoon's first game. Twenty-seven years old, 6 feet high and 185 pounds heavy, Goodwin has played baseball most of his life. Three years ago he was with the San Antonio Indians of the Texas League, leaving there to attend the army flying school. He has pitched for the Mexico Nationals of San Antonio and for several strong semi-pro and independent clubs of South Texas.

Here's The Lineup

The Fliers, with the exception of Manager Newman, are young men, none over 27 years of age. The batting order for today's opener consists of "Dizzy" Dozier, short stop; Kip Rheinlander, catcher; "Gotch" Strock, third base; "Hen-Ree" Moore, first base; "Pug" Pozniak, left field; "Crane" Copelin, right field; "Frog" Valliquiette, center field; "Stubby" Parker, second base and Goodwin, pitcher.

SPYING ON SPORTS
BY COLLIER PARRIS

JUST glance over this list of jaw-breakers if you don't believe the Hubbers have plenty of opposition this afternoon and tomorrow in their series with the Kelly Field Fliers. The following names are found on the Cadet roster:

"Dizzy" Dozier, "Kip" Rheinlander, "Gotch" Strock, "Hen-Ree' Moore, "Pug" Poziniak, "Crane' Copelin, "Frog" Valliquitte, "War-Whoop" Johnson, "Boob" Goodwin, "Rusty" Cea, "Hopeless" Jordan, "Hack" Wilson, "Mike Michell" and Stubby" Parker. Dozier, Rheinlander, Strock, Pozniak, and Valliquitte are on the starting lineup. Sounds like a Notre Dame football lineup.

The first game starts at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and the second will follow in short order. Tomorrow's contest is carded for 3 o'clock. The Cadets leave for San Antonio immediately following Monday's game.

The Hubbers have improved greatly since the "old master," Sled Allen, took charge of the club. He has inspired new life, new ambition and confidence in the boys, and if they hang together, keep coming out for practice and take their game and their manager seriously, they'll go somewhere.

OUR critical friend, Larry Evans, whose letter concerning the questionable playing ability of Ed Hambright appeared in this column last Sunday, has received several kicks through this department. Some of the notes, telephone calls and personal visits have been too torrid to print, but there has been sufficient number to prove that Hambright has more friends than enemies, although Mr. Evans does not claim to be an enemy. One letter, however, is "fit to print", and it is meet at this time to submit it to the anxius public. Here 'tis:

Mr. Collier Parris (with silent H)
Lubbock Avalanche,
Dear Mr. Parris:

"BELIEVE IT OR NOT (excuse me Mister Ripley) I read your column every day and I noticed a letter in it the other day that kinda surprised me.

"I have played baseball and followed the game for about 27 or 28 years, and I have always thought baseball players were judged by their season's average instead of just the bad days that they have during the season. Why even BABE RUTH strikes out once or twice a season, maybe that many times a game—and look at the salary he draws.

"WHY NOT GIVE THE DEVIL HIS DUES—there may be one or two players on the Hubber team as good as Eddie Hambright but DIG UP their past season's averages and see how many IF ANY can compare favorably with the said HAMBRIGHT. Mr. Hambright is not only a good baseball player, but also excels in SPORTSMANSHIP, and that goes a long ways with the FANS or the biggest part of them at least. A ball player can be firm in what he thinks without being a rough-neck.

"Now, for the HUBBER-RAMBLER baseball clubs—both are good clubs—I say the Hubbers are the better of the two clubs, but there is a fine way of deciding that before the summer is over. Why not have a five-or a seven-game series between the two clubs at the close of the season to determine the CHAMPIONS OF LUBBOCK?

"Sorry t otake up so much of your space (How's that for optimism?) but just feel that Mr. Hambright and the Hubbers are due this for their efforts to give us a winning baseball club. Also, I think Lubbock and the Hubbers are to be congratulated upon getting SLED ALLEN back with us. HERE'S WISHING THEM SUCCESS.

Sincerely,
Walter F. Smith,
2213 18th St.,
Lubbock, Texas

Now, Mr. Hambright, let's see you do your stuff this afternoon. With such a sendoff, and others we're received but withheld from the public prints, you ought to be well inspired. Thanks for the letter, Mr. Smith; thanks also to you other fellows who called in or came by.

Although the first half pennant has been cinched for Tahoka, two games remain in the first division of the South Plains League for each club. Tahoka goes to Abernathy this afternoon, Enochs at Morton and Levelland at Amherst. Slaton is scheduled to play in Lubbock, but the game has been postponed until later in the week.

League President Dutch Leudenberger indicates he will call a meeting of the league sometime during the Fourth of July week. The meeting should be held on the night of June 3, between the first and second halves of the season, but such a date may be impractical. There has been some agitation, we understand, for a shift or two in the league ranks. Lamesa and Post have indicated a desire to lineup with the loop. Brownfield also has talked of entering. It is barely possible that two of the present league members may withdraw or be "voted" out.

President Leuenberger also says it has come to his attention that one or two clubs are not using the official baseball in championship games. An official ball was selected at the first meeting and the name of it was included in the constitution. A warning is issued by the prexy regarding the use of unofficial baseballs.

Country Club Meets Slaton

Meadowbrook Goes To Plainview And Littlefield Play At Brownfield In S. P. Loop Golf Matches Today

Lubbock Country club will defend its lead in the South Plains Golf league today against the Slaton team, which invades the local links for a series of matches.

Meadowbrook, second place holder in the league, will journey to Plainview this morning and be ready for matches this afternoon. A victory is necessary if the Meadowbrook team hopes to retain its second place standing, as Plainview is on the Meadowbrook heels with only a few percentage points separating the teams.

In the other league match today, Littlefield goes to Brownfield. Littlefield holds last place in the standings, but has a chance to climb today by defeating the strong Brownfield team, provided the Slaton club drops by a comfortable margin to Lubbock.

Hon. Michael Scott Of Scotland Is New British Amateur Golf Champion

55 - Year - Old Golfer Ends Week Of Hot Play With Title

HOYLAKE, Eng., June 24. (AP) — The Honorable Michael Scott, at 55 the oldest player ever to win the British amateur golf championship, maintained the traditional uncertainty of this sporting classic by decisively beating Thomas A. Bourn, a 30-year-old countryman, today, 4 and 3 in the 36-hole final match.

Scott was a champion of Australia when Bourn was a babe in arms. He never advanced beyond the semi-finals before and that happened a dozen years ago. The experts figured he should be beaten by any of the youngsters he trounced this week, certainly by George T. Dunlap, jr., of New York, the brilliant American youth, who fell before the veteran in yesterday's semi-finals.

Plays Carefully, Slowly

But Scott refused to be beaten even though he surprised himself, his friends and his opponents. Scott played carefully and slowly all week. His correct and faultless style was rewarded by a triumph such as no man his age ever achieved before. Away back in 1902, Charles Hutchings, at 53, won the amateur crown.

Scott's principal ally was a hard, fast fairway which gave plenty of roll to his tee shots and enabled him to offset the more slashing game of his rivals and capitalize on his steadiness around the greens. He got better as the week went along.

Among the first to congratulate Scott was John Ball, who won the amateur title eight times and reminded today's winner he still had "plenty of time" to equal that record.

Ahead All The Way

Scott was never headed in today's final, after winning the first hole from Bourn. He was 5 up at the end of the morning round, due to his superior iron play and greater steadiness on the greens. Bourn rallied in the afternoon and it was a see-saw affair most of the time, but he was never better than 3 down and lost his best chances to make the finish closer by mistakes on the 28th and 30th holes. Bourn missed easy shots on these two holes, Scott went 5 up again and lost only one more hole before settling the contest on the 33rd green.

Walter Morris Given Gate By Indianapolis "Panthers"

FORT WORTH, June 24 (AP)—The Fort Worth Star Telegram was advised today by Wade "Red" Killefer, general manager of Norman Perry's baseball interests at Indianapolis and Fort Worth, that so far as Indianapolis is concerned Walter Morris will be through as business manager of the Fort Worth Texas League baseball club July 1, and Roy Meehan and Jake Atz will have full charge of the club. Perry owns 51 per cent of the Fort Worth club's stock.

It had been rumored for a week that Morris was to be removed. Except for denying he had quit or would resign, Morris has refrained from making comment.

Meehan confirmed reports that he had received notice that he and Atz are to take full charge of the club.

Sailor And Circus Freak Mix In World Title Tilt Thursday

By EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 24 (AP) — The most bizarre rivalry in all the fight business—the enmity of a white-eyed sailor and circus freak—comes to its natural conclusion, the battle pit of the Madison Square Garden bowl on Long Island, Thursday night.

It may be the last stand of the sailor, Jack Sharkey, heavyweight champion of the world, or it may be the end of the myth of the giant Primo Carnera, the mountain of a man who looks like some weird mammalian throwback to the misty eras before civilization.

But whatever way the battle tide flows through fifteen rounds of championship war, the faithful expected to storm the bowl to the number of 60,000 to look upon two of the most unusual characters the ring has ever seen, certainly the strangest contrast since spindley Bob Fitzsimmons, with the legs of a middleweight and the shoulders of a heavyweight, tackled the human grizzly, Jim Jefferies, at Coney Island 34 years ago.

The Carnera Legend

Around the 265 pounds of Carnera's bulk, discovered in a circus side show in France where he was bending iron bars across his chest, has grown a legend of invncibility that increased last winter when Ernie Schaaf, blonde stablemate of Sharkey, died here after Primo knocked him out in thirteen rounds.

Around that tragedy weaves one of the most spectacular of all the strange angles to a strange fight.

Sharkey owned half of Schaaf's contract, tutored him, planned some day to retire as champion and pass his crown along to the quiet, blonde youngster who like himself learned his early fighting in the U. S. navy.

The night Schaaf went down under a light left jab, the surface of his brain inflamed by an attack of influenza before he had entered the ring, Sharkey helped carry him to the corner, lugged him in his arms to the dressing room.

No Apology Accepted

And it was Sharkey who met the pale faced Carnera, coming fearfully into the room to see if there wasn't something he could do, met

Crank Letters Sent Champion

Jack Sharkey Leaves Training Camp To Rush Home To See About Family; Work Branded That Of Cranks

BOSTON, June 24 (AP) — Three "crank" letters that threatened bodily harm to Jack Sharkey and demanded $5,000 from Johnny Buckley, his manager, were said to have been the real reason for the heavyweight champion's hasty flight from Orangeburg, N. Y., training camp to his palatial Newton home tonight by Jack Conway, his legal advisor.

When Sharkey sped away from his camp, he told his training staff he had been notified of the serious illness of one of his three children. When he arrived home, he found them playing on their lawn, safe and sound.

Branded Work of Crank

Conway, after Sharkey and his wife had started back over the road to Orangeburg, said that the first of the letters, which were mailed in New Jersey, arrived at the training camp last Monday. The other two were delivered on the following days.

The threats were written in semi-literate fashion and were branded as the work of cranks by New York detectives who visited the camp. Conway, who returned from Orangeburg yesterday, said Buckley was warned by his police friends to be cautious. Acting on this advice, the Sharkey camp was closely guarded and the champion was always accompanied by armed companions when he was doing his road work.

Sharkey Unnerved

The titlist, it was said, did not learn of the threats until this morning and they so unnerved him he insisted on hurrying home to gain first-hand knowledge of his family's safety. Mrs. Sharkey also left the camp on Thursday.

Conway said Sharkey has been receiving more than his usual quota of crank letters since he took up quarters at Gus Wilson's training camp.

Boston and Newton police disclaimed knowledge of the threats against Sharkey and the only official activity was the close guard on the boxer's home.

Conway said that Sharkey's sudden home-coming would not disrupt his training for next week's title bout with Primo Carera in Long Island City.

Title Fight

him with a snarl and an oath that sent the huge Italian stumbling away like a great collie dog that had been whipped by its master.

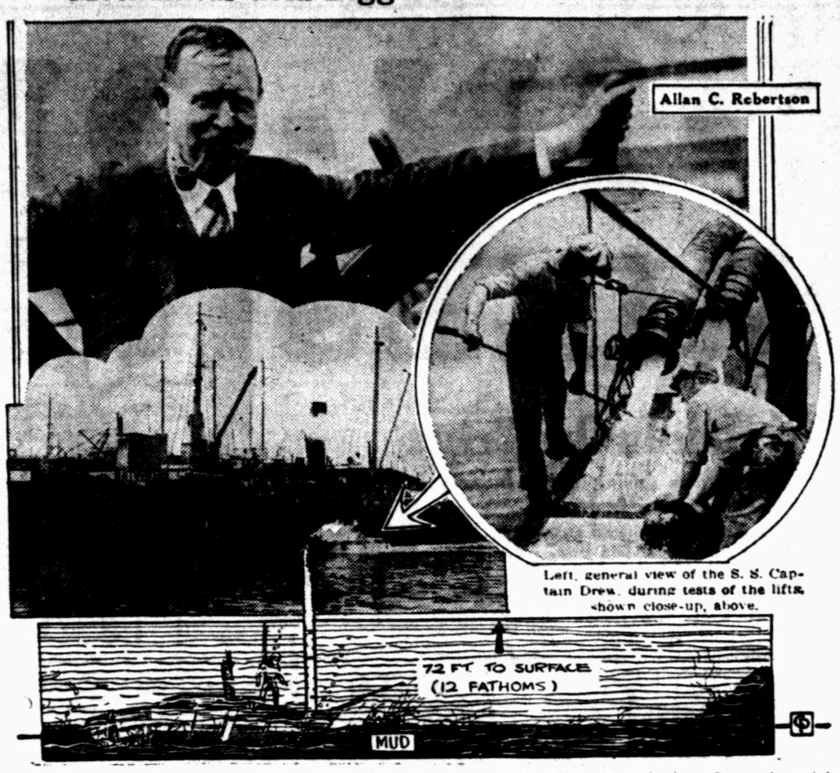

"When the time comes," choked Sharkey that night, blind with rage, "I'll take care of that guy for Ernie."

So the time comes Thursday night, and Carnera will face a champion more venomous than at any time in a career that has run from the ridiculous in fighting to the sublime. A creature of moods and fancies, hysterical sometimes either in victory or defeat, but always possessed of a background of superb skill and punching power, Sharkey at times against Harry Wills, Jimmy Maloney, Jack Dempsey, Max Schmeling, Tommy Loughran, and in the first fight with Carnera when he knocked him down and won easily in fifteen rounds, was as great a heavyweight as the modern ring has seen.

With his ring career ending by his own word this September, with every bit of his training aimed toward a knockout victory, Sharkey may have found in the revenge of Schaaf the stimulus he needs to wage a perfect battle. He is perfectly conditioned, weighing about 205 pounds, while Carnera, who has dropped as low as 260, may have worked too long and too hard for this struggle.

The bettors, looking back to the Schaaf fight, have cut the odds against Carnera to 6 to 5. When Sharkey gave the Italian a beating two years ago, he entered the ring a 5-1 favorite.

Mechanical Gold Diggers Seek Sunken Fortune

Doubloons! 900,000 of the Spanish variety are the treasure which Allan C. Robertson hopes to retrieve from the British ship, De Braak, which sank off Cape Henlopen, near the entrance of Delaware bay, in 1798. The S. S. Captain Drew, which is to be used by the expedition of which Robertson is general manager and director, is equipped with two large air lifts, operated by forcing steam into the lower ends of the airtight pipes, thus creating a terrific suction which pumps practically anything that the lower ends come in contact with under water. At 60 feet the pressure is 35 pounds per square inch, increasing as the lifts sink to greater depths. Above, seamen are shown panning and raking water at it pours from the lifts in a closeup.

BASEBALL'S BIG 6

(By The Associated Press)

Virgil (Spud) Davis' activity with the bat in the Phillies' doubleheader against St. Louis led a day of heavy hitting for the Big Six yesterday and sent him past his teammate, Chuck Klein, into the National League batting lead and second place in the sextet. Davis made six hits in nine times up to raise his average 12 points while Klein lost four with two hits in eight tries. Al Simmons and Joe Cronin each hit three out of four while Heinie Manush's hitting streak finally was broken and he dropped to third in the American League. Jim Collins of St. Louis replaced Randy Moore as the thrid man in the National, hitting three out of seven for .349 mark.

The standing:

Golfers From 11 States To Meet In Trans-Miss Monday

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 24 (AP)—The cream of the golfing crop in eleven states from Kansas to California and Texas to Minnesota will begin the thirty-third annual quest for Trans-Mississippi links glory over the sporty Broadmoore course here Monday.

Vines Denies He Is Turning Pro

LONDON, June 24 (AP)—America's No. 1 tennis ace, Ellsworth Vines, jr., was deprived of competition today against his fellow Californian, Lester Stoefen, as rain cancelled the London championship finals, but he was obliged to combat reports from New York that he was considering an offer of $100,000 to turn professional after this season and tour with big Till Tilden.

Vines told the Associated Press he "might seriously consider" any offer of such magnitude but denied it had been made to him and repeated his intention to remain an amateur, at least so far as his present plans go.

"There has been a lot of talk about my turning professional ever since I won the American championships for the first time in 1931," said Vines, "But I am still playing amateur tennis."

Asked whether he intended to continue as an amateur, Vines replied: "Sure, so far as I know."

Vines, Helen Wills Moody and a strong cast of American tennis stars will start competition Monday in the Wimbledon championships, well rested from a week of keen competition at the Queen's club.

Swimming School Deadline Is Extended Through Today

Deadline for entering the Avalanche-Journal's swimming school at City pool has been extended through today, it was announced last night.

Four Red Cross instructors are teaching the classes, composed of students ranging in age from 7 to 60 years. The instructors are Richard Godeke, Warren Smith, Clarence Mast, and Ralph Brock.

One hundred eighty persons have enrolled. They include 50 women, ten men, 80 boys, and 40 girls.

GETS RODEO CONCESSION

LITTLEFIELD, (Special)—H. F. Moody, local cafe man, was awarded the cafe concession at the Texas Cowboy reunion at Stamford, July 3-5. He will have at least four eating concessions on the grounds, he said.

Specialists have found that 200 to 300 stalks of cotton to each 100 feet of row space give the best field.

Hale County Dads Postpone Action On Election Petition

PLAINVIEW, June 24. (Special)—Action on a petition to order an election to sell the remaining outstanding and unsold highway bonds of Hale county has been postponed by the county commissioners' court, Judge H. M. La Font has announced. Recently a petitin was presented, signed by 81 persons, asking for an election to determine what course to pursue.

Not all of Hale county's million-dollar road bond issue was sold last year when the state took over road work and announced no more bonds would be needed. Legal difficulties prevented the court from cancelling the bonds. The amount was approximately $100,000.

The court decided to wait until its July session before acting on the petition. This will give time to call an election for August 26, when voters pass on constitutional amendments.

Another petition, asking that the bonds not be cancelled but that the money be used for building a lateral road from Plainview to Petersburg and from Petersburg to Highway No. 9 north of Abernathy, was presented.

TO STUDY PROJECTS

MULESHOE, June 24.—(Special)—Three members of the Kiwanis club were named to make a study of local needs for projects to be worked out under the national recovery act. E. R. Hart, R. L. Brown and Jess Mitchell were named.

The club will sponsor a move to secure funds for improving the local water works system. The committee will consult with Harry N. Roberts, an engineer here, on the plans.

MARKET REPORTS

Stocks

WALL STREET REPORT
BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Grains provided the chief action in week-end markets today. Stocks dragged listlessly until the late dealings when another mild buying flurry appeared, but the close was somewhat spotty notwithstanding a small net gain for the 96-share average.

Wheat, corn, and rye surged to new tops for the season and cotton also edged into new high ground, although only small gains were needed to achieve the latter record. Bonds were fairly firm.

Steel stocks hardened during the late upturn. Railway equipments were stronger than the carriers themselves. Sales totaled 1,696,390 shares, one of the smallest Saturday volumes in weeks.

Grains continued to benefit by news of crop damage and failure. The winter wheat yield is small, threshing returns show, apparently under even the recent low estimates, while extreme hot weather is seriously affecting the small grains. Spring wheat planting in the northwestern states and Canada, market circles hear, is disappointing. Thus nature has made a dramatic entry into the farm price situation.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, June 24. (AP)—The cotton market was very active for a short session today and futures made new highs for the year and season as offerings were well-absorbed. The close was about at the top 8 to 12 points net higher.

The opening was slightly irregular with Liverpool cables slightly better than due and sterling a shade firmer.

In the first hour prices eased off 2 to 3 points on week-end liquidation, but in the final hour prices advanced in sympathy with a sharp upturn in wheat and before the demand was satisfied, October advanced to 9.75 and December to 9.90, or 12 to 13 points above the previous close to new high levels for the year and season 10 points above the previous highs of last Thursday. The close was at or near the tpo with both active months showing net gains for the day of 11 points.

Port receipts 8,400 for season 8,548,839, last season 9,942,804. Exports 21,613, for season 7,394,374, last season 8,156,893. Port stock 3,514,369, last year 3,822,621. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 133,133, last year 64,123. Spot sales at southern markets 12,667, last year 1,500.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, June 24. (AP)—Cotton today rose to the highest levels of the bull movement. October contracts climbed to 9.75 or 9 points net higher and 65 points above the low price reached on the recent reactions. Closing quotations were firm and within a point or two of the best at net gains of 7 to 10 points.

Early gains reflected steady Liverpool cables, continuance of dry hot weather over the greater part of the south and firmness in the grain and stock markets. This advance attracted realizing but it was absorbed on reactions of a few points and the market firmed again, reaching the best prices of the day in the late trading when buying was stimulated by the strength of grain. July sold up to 9.47 and December to 9.90, while March sold up to 10.14, or 5 to 10 points above the previous high prices touched at the end of May.

Houses with Liverpool and Japanese connections were early buyers while in addition to trade and commission house purchases there was considerable covering of rebuying by recent sellers. The south was credited with selling a little cotton at the advance, but offerings from that source were not large and except for realizing there appeared to be comparatively little pressure against the market. Liverpool reported buying there on the unfavorable weather reports from the south.

and all share equally in the income. He promised that he would "pay back every penny."

Price at that time owned 14 sections of land in Swisher county and six sections in Deaf Smith. Loans against the land totaled $142,000 and his other obligations amounted to $120,000, some of which was secured by his equipment.

More than 500,000 bushels of wheat was produced by Price in 1931, on 22,000 acres, about half of which was leased. He operated 50 combines day and night to harvest the crop.

He cultivated an irrigated garden tract and canned vegetables and meats to feed his employes. His entire operation was on an industrial scale.

Price told his creditors that he had not lost faith in his plan because he could "buy for less and sell for more, in large quantities, and produce more by scientific cultivation."

FDR Throws His Influence In Drive To Cut Acreage

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP) — President Roosevelt threw his personal influence behind the cotton acreage reduction program today as administrators of the farm act put final touches on plans for beginning Monday an intesive campaign in southern states to cut down this year's output of the crop.

In a preface to an explanation of the plan issued under the president's signature, farmers of the cotton belt were called upon to cooperate in the program under which Secretary Wallace hopes to reduce acreage about ten million acres and cut down this year's potential production from three to four million bales.

Pro Fight

faction "against repeal."

The "color" of a majority of those delegates will indicate the state's sentiment with reference to national prohibition. The state convention, set for November 24, when the state's formal vote will be cast, will be merely a piece of "routine business."

Chairmen Chosen

The law which described the machinery for molding Texas' sentiment directed the governor to name a temporary chairman for each convention. Governor Miriam A. Ferguson promptly named Morris Sheppard of Texarkana, senior United States senator, to preside over the "drys." Sheppard is one of the nation's outstanding prohibitionists. It was he who was one of the writers of the eighteenth amendment. She selected B. V. Cummings of Fort Worth who was a leading "anti" long before the state went dry by a slim 1,000 votes majority in 1919.

If the conventions want to make the governor's selections permanent officers of the convention they shall be at liberty to do so. They may scrap her choices, also. It was taken as a foregone conclusion that the anti-repealists would be pleased with Senator Sheppard as the keynoter. On the repealists' side, however, as of yore, when the anti-prohibitionists fought within their own ranks, there were rumblings of dissatisfaction. It was generally reported around the capitol that some of the "younger anti-prohibitionists" would attempt to take the saddle, wresting control from the governor and her husband, James E. Ferguson, former governor, if they could do so.

Voices Are Stilled

Some heretofore notable figures and eloquent voices active in the hectic days of the old prohibition fight in Texas have been quieted and stilled by death since last that battle was fought.

Cone Johnson of Tyler, always a war horse on the prohibition side, died just a few weeks ago. Former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey always a local optionist, was removed by death a number of months ago. Only a few days ago Barry Miller, of Dallas, three times lieutenant governor of Texas and an active anti-prohibitionist all his life, was another who surrendered to the inevitable.

There will be "new blood" in this campaign. Another Joseph Weldon Bailey—a son of the late former United States senator— is looked to as a worthy successor to his father. He is now a member of congress from the state at large. He is counted on by the anti-prohibitionists to carry a big part of the burden this summer in Texas' prohibition campaign. Other "youngsters," like Steve Pinckney of Houston, State Senator W. K. Hopkins of Gonzales and former State Senator A. J. Wirtz of Seguin likely will take active parts on the side of the wets.

Drys Undetermined

What "new timber" the "drys" hope to put forward is yet to be determined. Foremost, however, it is likely former Governor Dan Moody of Austin will be given a big responsibility in the campaign. Moody was too young fifteen years ago to do other than vote. Also he was unknown. One of his first acts after reaching his majority, doubtless was to vote for prohibition. Since then he has become a political leader. He has spent four years in the governor's office, meanwhile.

Former State Senator Tom Love of Dallas, always a stanch prohibitionist, probably will give his time to crusading against repeal.

The prohibitionists plan to hold their convention in the hall of the house of representatives in the capitol and the repealists had made arrangements to meet in the Gregory memorial gymnasium on the University of Texas campus.

One of the largest crowds that ever has assembled in Austin was expected for the two conventions.

While Temple citizens suffered under a temperature of 103 degrees, a small twister struck south of Heidenheimer, splintering it; and in the Salem community of Milam county, another twister bowled over a barn, injuring Frank Hrozek, farmer. He narrowly escaped death when the barn collapsed. A crop cultivator held falling timbers but Hrozek's leg was broken. Half an inch of rain accompanied the storm there.

Weather Observer T. L. Rodgers at Paris said the 105 temperature was the hottest reading for June since 1925 when the mercury climbed to 108. Crops were scorched by the heat and drought.

Therefore a program to initiate a world-wide campaign for credit expansion and the launching of public works will be pressed by the American group in the hope that stabilization may usefully be set as an objective sometime in the future.

Difficulties in the way of agreement on such problems as trade barriers while the leading world currencies, the American and the British, are off the gold standard, thus leaving international commerce with an uncertain measuring stick, are recognized by Mr. Hull and his colleagues, but the American view is that these problems must be solved simultaneously.

Four Arrested In Robbery Of Pair

A white man, two white women, and a negro porter were arrested by police at 2 a. m. Saturday after two men, a father and his son, reported $50 had been stolen from them in a hotel here. A charge of pandering was filed against the negro, transferred to county jail, in county court.

The white man and two women, one of whom identified herself as his wife, were arrested in a room in a large hotel here. The robbery occurred in a small hotel in the 800-block of Broadway, police were informed. The victims said they lived about 10 miles southwest of Baileyboro.

One of the victims identified the women as having been with him when he was robbed, police said, but said the man was not present then. The negro was released on bond.

gunmen fled with their machine gun into the hills back of the house and Mrs. Rogers ran to a telephone to call police.

Marshal Shot Down

The gunmen's trail of violence began at Fayetteville where they robbed a store. At Alma their speeding car crashed into another machine. H. D. Humphrey, Alma marshal who was driving along the highway to intercept them, was shot down as he and a deputy sheriff stopped at the wreckage. He is near death in a hospital here.

Continuing in the deputy's car, the gunmen fired at other motorists along the road, attempted to kidnap a couple near Van Buren, stole their car and fled to the top of Mt. Vista, from there they were trailed to the Rogers home four miles from Winslow.

was sending a car for his daughter.

The kidnaper was blacked to look like a negro, and after leading the child into the automobile he bound, gagged and blindfolded her and hid her in a cranberry shack until midnight. He then took her to a vacant house almost opposite the home of the Buck brothers and held her there until after midnight the morning of May 5 when she was turned over to her father on board a boat in Wychmere harbor in Harwichport upon payment of $60,000.

Money Is Recovered

The arrests of the Buck brothers came later that day and the money was recovered, police said, in Kenneth's home.

During the trial Cyril testified that he at no time knew where "Peggy" was being hidden and said as far as he knew his brother was the only person implicated in the kidnaping. Kenneth, however, said a mysterious "Bill", a Hyannis bootlegger, concocted the plot and had told him "Peggy's" father was behind it and would "take care" of Kenneth is he was arrested.

The state contended during the trial that Cyril was a party to the plot from the time of its inception and his role "gobetween" for McMath and the kidnapers was an assumed one and he really was representing himself and his brother during the time the ransom negotiations were being carried on.

Court Holds That Private Appeal To Solons Illegal

AUSTIN, June 24 (AP)—The Texas supreme court today held it was a violation of the anti-lobbying statute for a paid employe or representative of a person interested in legislation to privately appeal to members of the legislature. It ruled a contract for services of this nature could not be enforced.

Neophyte was the name given in early ecclesiastical language to persons recently converted to Christianity.

Federal Court Starts Monday

Judge James C. Wilson Will Preside At Session Which Will Last Two Weeks; Forty Criminal Cases Slated

United States court of the Lubbock division of the northern district of Texas will convene here at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning. Judge James C. Wilson of Fort Worth will preside. The court will be in session two weeks.

Thomas E. Ball, assistant United States district attorney, of Fort Worth, Saturday afternoon expressed confidence the criminal docket, an unusually heavy one of more than 40 cases, could be disposed of Monday, which has been set aside for criminal business.

Eleven cases of law, including five war risk insurance cases, and eight of equity are on the civil docket.

Criminal cases to be called, as listed by Mr. Ball, are those of: Alfred Gilliam, alias Tom Gilliam, charged with violating the national motor vehicle theft act; Reagan ("Jake") Morrison and Vester Richie, counterfeit passing; Hubert Pippin, counterfeit passing, and the following charged with prohibition law violation: John R. Sechrist, John W. Adkins; Sam Williams, negro, two cases; Roland Hansford, two; Charles Johnson, two; E. A. McDonough; G. L. Bennett, Plainview; Milton C. Van Cleve, Luke Cornutt, Ike Winfied, T. N. Russell, A. A. ("Buster") Hutton, A Percy Hurley, M. W. Kerr; George Maberry, negro; M. T. Montana, two; Mrs. Ada Montana, two; Kern Aldridge, M. J. Tucker, George Harding, F. M. Roberts; A. L. ("Buddy") Porter; James Wilcox, negro; Jack McCall, Tom Gill, Paul Hunter, Mamie Dell Willis, Opal McIlhaney, Edwin Barker, Alvia Adams; L. O. Booker and B. C. Wimberley, charged jointly; Frank Heldt, Frank Hamlin.

The civil cases, as set by Judge Wilson and announced by George W. Parker, United States district court clerk, of Dallas, through Mrs. Olive Fluke, deputy clerk here, are:

Tuesday—law: O. K. Sykes vs. J. Harvey Hanson et al, Lon V. Smith vs. United States Fidelity and Guaranty company, Hazel Capps vs. New Amsterdam Casualty company, J. O. Stinson vs. General Lincoln National Life Insurance company vs. B. R. Brewer, Iris C. Bergholm vs. Peoria Life Insurance company.

Wednesday—equity: J. D. Mabry vs. Sinda Mabry et al, Interstate Trust and Banking company vs. Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator company, Canal Bank and Trust company vs. Lubbock hotel.

Thursday—equity: Walker Smith company vs. F. A. Blankenbeckler, Peoria Life Insurance company vs. Christine Bergholm, Detroit Fidelity and Surety company vs. Harvest Queen Mill and Elevator company.

Friday—equity: Standard Savings and Loan association vs. D. H. Collier et al, Southwestern Life Insurance company vs. United States of America.

Monday, July 3—war risk insurance docket: Grant vs. U. S. A., Jones vs U. S. A., Bumpass vs. U. S. A.

After names had been drawn for a grand jury, Judge Wilson informed Deputy Clerk Fluke no grand jury would be had at this term of court here, as the prosecution had not enough time in which to present evidence. A venire of 30 persons has been summoned for pettit jury service.

Douglas Campbell, deputy United States marshal, of Fort Worth, who will assist J. P. Edgar, deputy marshal here, during court, was to arrive in Lubbock late Saturday from Fort Worth with Gilliam.

R. E. Buckley, chief deputy United States court clerk; Jim Feagin, court reporter, and Jim Little, court bailiff, all of Fort Worth, are to be here for the court.

Mr. Ball said court would open at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, half an hour earlier than first announced, and work of qualifying jurors would get under way.

Mussolini Recognizes Labor Of Farm As Dignified With Creation Of Order Of Merit

ROME, June 24. (AP)—Premier Mussolini has recognized the dignity of farm labor by the creation of the Order of Rural Merit.

Its decoration is a star with degrees signified by gold, silver and bronze pendants. The badges are restricted to real "dirt farmers."

Archeological Ruin Is Found In Mediterranean; Statue Of Alexander Found Among Ruins

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, June 24. (AP)—The sharp eye of a Royal Air Force pilot was responsible for what is said to be one of the most important archeological discoveries in recent years.

While flying near Nelson Island, Group Capt. John T. Cull saw something shaped like a large horseshoe beneath the clear Mediterranean.

He informed Prince Omar Toussoun, Egyptian archeologist, who sent a diver down. It was ascertained that the horseshoe is made up of columns of marble and red granite and the foundations of ancient buildings.

Among relics brought up is the head of a marble statue of Alexander the Great.

Experts believe the ruins may be those of Canopus, a fashionable seasort during Roman rule in Egypt.

Coat For Comfort, Dress For Chic When Traveling

Consider Appearance And Comfort In Costume

BY JEAN PATOU
Written for NEA Service.

PARIS, June 24.— Traveling clothes cannot be subejct to continual change as are other categories of dress. There is always some fresh element to be found in this department as each season comes around, but it never is sufficiently striking to stamp it as a new fashion feature.

Compare a recent ensemble, for example, with what a few years ago was considered correct wear for traveling, and you will see that my statement is correct.

Many are the factors that have contributed to make these clothes as elegant as they are today. Greater comfort and lack of coal dust have disposed of the stains and smears of travel which were considered as inevitable. Clothes now need not be so eminently practical as they once had to be.

The first garment that occurs to the mind when considering traveling ensembles is naturally the coat. This is the comfortable number of the outfit and is probably the only exception where a slight hint of a masculine note is not remiss and even expected.

Dress More Formal

The dress is a different matter altogether. While the object in view is an outfit that is above all practical, and admitted that the coat ensures sufficient comfort and ease of movement, then the dress can be lighter, more supple, even more formal.

In this way a woman is sufficiently smartly dressed for any contingency that may arise in the course of her travels, such as lunch at a smart hotel, or even dinner, for which she may have neither the time, nor the inclination, to change.

Personally, I think the ideal dress to wear under a traveling coat belongs to the "informal afternoon" category. It can very well be made of crepe or marocain, in either silk or wool. It must of course constitute an ensemble with the coat and here color plays an important part.

The fact of wearing a lightweight dress under a heavier coat enhances the sense of comfort and ease, which after all is the main characteristic of modern traveling clothes.

I do not see the necessity of

Patou suggests a green ensemble for travel wear. The tailored coat is a knobby wool, the dress of a slightly lighter green crepe marocain and the police cap is of felt to match the coat. All accessories are brown. For motoring, Patou uses a fine grained white woolen for a traveling coat, worn with a brown felt hat, brown and white sports shoes and a scarf that can be changed to harmonize with different colored frocks, such as green, beige or red.

Bride Is Complimented At Meeting Of Women In Acuff Club

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE BEAN WILSON
Avalanche Woman's Editor

OF COURSE, those of us who are not planning to attend the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago can console ourselves with the thoughts that our vacations may be spent in cooler places and that some time there will be another world's fair, but it is a little hard to find conversational topics in the midst of all these plans.

You may have thought that hard times had been going on for some time. The number of people who are going to the fair discourages this idea and sounds a prosperous note. One has to dig down in the old sock or some other place in order to finance the expedition—or, perhaps we are staying at home unnecessarily.

A card from the A. W. McKee family at the fair bears the note: "This is more fun, but lots of work."

GOOD LUCK

THIS column has been handed a compliment. Out at Texas Technological college there appears The Tech Co-Eds Angle, written by Margie Collier, who has the designation of woman's editor on the Toreador staff.

This writer and Margie haven't met but here is luck to her and the hope that hot, lazy days don't leave her mind as barren of ideas as they do this one's.

Margie writes of picnic places, friends -in -summer -school, new books, Adolph Hitler and the Tech archeologists—the feminine part of the latter expedition—but has little to say of the campus "eds." And aren't they the chief interest of co-eds while campusology supercedes the inteerst of football season?

Tsk! Tsk! Aren't the campus Romeos inspired by the serenity of these long summer evenings? Isn't there promise of romance in these tranquil mornings when dawn comes slowly and turns the deep blue sky to turquoise?

DANCE TUESDAY

THOSE of you who dance will have another opportunity Tuesday evening when the Business and Professional Women's club sponsors a benefit dance at the Uptown Dance palace. A jazz orchestra is to come down from Plainview to play for the evening, directed by R. M. Harp.

These evenings are fine for tripping the light fantastic. So come out.

Between now and next April you will hear from the business women's club a number of times, no doubt. The district convention is to be entertained in the spring and money is a necessary part of extending courtesies. The club members will not be seeking any donations, but they will seek your attendance at their entertainments and your support of their enterprises.

MORE FLIES

WHILE this section does not have the annoying summer insects that many sections have, we do have an invasion of flies every summer. This season is no exception.

There may be no more flies than usual because we always have plenty of them in the summer time. However, unless we use extra precautions there will be more flies and, probably, more spread of disease this summer because there are so many people within the city limits with cows and other stock.

Even with precautions, flies multiply in the cowlots. Even if every housewife uses every precaution to keep her place clean, there will be flies in the city. There might be only one death caused by the disease the insects spread but that one death will be too many. Each one should make every effort to keep down the number of flies in the city.

Pack Up Food And Get Out For The Summer Picnic

By NEA Service

These are the days to paraphrase the old army song and "Pack up your vittles in the old lunch basket and smile, smile, smile!"

Call them picnic lunches, or old-fashioned basket dinners, or al fresco meals—they all are the answer to summer's urge to get out in the open and enjoy life.

Your basket can contain anything you want. But given a good salad, sandwiches or crackers and cheese, some relish, a hot drink, fruit and some sweets, and you are set to enjoy yourself. However, good planning is the secret of the successful outdoor meal. And good packing.

Envelopes Are Handy

This year there are handsome cellophane envelopes that keep sandwiches, cookies or biscuits fresh as they come from the oven. Bigger envelopes can slip right over your dish of prepared salad and keep it in pristine appealing freshness, too. Moreover, they keep things from spilling, which is an advantage not to be overlooked.

Probably one of the most zestful salads you can concoct is deviled eggs, with tomatoes and lettuce. Fix your eggs on one plate, your tomatoes and lettuce on another, carry your dressing in a sealed bottle and you are all set.

An excellent way to devil your eggs is the way they do them at the Horn o' Plenty, in Greenwich Village.

Horn o' Plenty Deviled Eggs

Boil 10 fresh eggs, for 15 minutes. Place in cold water to chill. Shell carefully, split lengthwise and remove the yolks. Then smash the yokes with a fork with the following ingredients:

1-4 pound grated sharp cheese.
2 sweet pickles, chopped with some of the juice.
1-2 teaspoon dry mustard.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce.

Salt and pepper to taste, add a dash of cayenne, three drops of onion juice and the juice of one lemon.

Mix these ingredients carefully with the egg yolks, which results in a soft paste which is just moist enough to pack well when put back into the eggs.

Pile the filling high into each egg, shaping them up with the back of a fork when filled. Dash paprika over the top of each egg. Place eggs carefully on a platter and garnish with parsley, celery ends or lettuce and radish buds. Cover the dish entirely with cellophane immediately and put into the icebox until ready to pack.

On another dish arrange your lettuce and sliced tomatoes. Use paper plates and pasteboard forks and spoons, pasteboard cups and paper napkins. Your picnic will be twice as easy to take care of.

Vacation Clothes

making special models for traveling but then again, nothing useless should be included in the outfit. We all recollect the ridiculous accoutrement which years ago was considered correct wear for any voyage of importance.

Too great an air of elegance, on the other hand, would be out of place. When I say that a certain note of formality is required, I don't mean to imply that fussiness is acceptable.

Hats Suit Occasion

The only point that might be stretched is in the matter of color. A white coat, for example, can very well be worn for short day trips. But where line, cut and style are concerned I am always very exacting and insist that the traveling ensemble must be simple and sober.

The same rules apply to hats that complete this type of ensemble. Whatever style is chosen, the brim must be small and according to whether the major part of traveling is to be done by rail, air or automobile, the hair and head adequately protected.

Superstitious? So Are Film Stars; Each Has Pet Bad Luck Belief

BY HUBBARD KEAVY
Associated Press Movie Editor

HOLLYWOOD, June 24 (AP)—When Billie Dove was married the other day, the ceremony took place between half-past and the hour—not between the hour and half-past—by her own wish. She implied that a ceremony performed while the minute hand was on the way down, moving from the hour to half-past, might result disastrously.

BILLIE DOVE

This queer notion of Billie's is perhaps the most singular superstition of any in Hollywood. And there are a lot of them in this credulous colony. I've been finding out about the omens, auguries, charms and what-nots that people set great store by.

Believes 'Em All

CLAUDETTE Colbert is superstitious about everything—13, Friday, whistling, rapping on wood, ladders and black cats. She throws salt over her shoulder, too. And never looks at the moon over the wrong shoulder—whichever one that is.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT

Kay Francis thinks diamonds bring bad luck. She wears a sapphire engagement ring.

Mae West was offered the best dressing suite on the lot, but she wouldn't change. Bad luck, she said. Norma Shearer holds the same belief. Marion Davies never buys pocketbooks, fearing bad luck.

Her Lucky Number

DOROTHEA Wieck, latest German importation, thinks 13 her lucky number—was married on the thirteenth, 13 letters in her name and so on.

JOAN CRAWFORD

And there's a certain star who wouldn't change his brand of whisky for anything. Once he bought a new kind and his next picture was terrible. Ramon Novarro has oodles of bathrobes, but he never wears any but the now frayed and patched one he used while making his first picture.

Joan Crawford's charm is a shoe she wore when a year old. Lillian Harvey thinks if one drops a knife, one will have a male caller.

Joe E. Brown's pet superstition is the only one I think sensible. He thinks he'd have terribly bad luck if he let his children go to a circus alone.

Warren William Comedy

INTERESTING is the first out-and-out farce comedy Warren William has been starred in since he left the stage. It is "Goodbye Again," with Joan Blondell, Genevieve Tobin, Hugh Herbert, Helen Chandler and Wallace Ford in the cast.

Although Warren shows a distinct flair for comedy, perhaps the most notable performance is given by this little known Hugh Herbert, who has a majority of the laugh lines.

William is shown as a successful author of lurid stories, and Miss Tobin as his first love and the wife of Herbert.

Comedy Theme Predominates Theater Program Here This Week

Wide Variety Of Movies To Be Presented

"The Barbarian" With Ramon Novarro And "The Nuisance" With Lee Tracy Head List Of Scheduled Attractions

COMEDY will be the predominating theme of this week's theater program in Lubbock.

As a change from the overflow of stories concerned with city life, "The Barbarian," romantic comedy starring Ramon Novarro, starts a three-day run at the Lindsey today. The picture is laid in the colorful background of the Nile river and Egyptian desert.

Myrna Loy Appears

Novarro is seen as a resourceful rogue who acts as a guide for tourists, but is more subtly engaged in impressing wealthy widows with his charms. Into the story enters Myrna Loy as a young English girl who comes to Cairo to marry an engineer. Novarro becomes her guide, falls in love with her, and from then on one exciting happening follows another with lightning-like rapidity. Reginald Denny and Louise Closser Hale head the supporting cast.

"The Warrior's Husband," hailed as one of the most novel and most hilarious comedies of the season, will be screened at the Lindsey Wednesday and Thursday. The story is set in a mythical period of history when women did the providing and fighting and men devoted themselves to the less strenuous elements of life. Women are seen as the political, military and intellectual leaders, and the men are the ones whose chief duty it is to keep the home fires burning. Elissa Landi appears in the principal role. Other important parts are filled by Marjorie Rambeau, David Manners and Helene Madison.

Tracy In "The Nuisance"

"The Nuisance," with Lee Tracy in the leading role, will be the attraction at the Lindsey Friday and Saturday. Madge Evans has the feminine lead, and Charles Butterworth and Frank Morgan head the supporting cast.

Tracy is seen as a high-pressure, ambulance-chasing shyster lawyer whose trumped-up law suits are costing a street car company a fortune. A girl detective is sent to trap him, but instead falls in love with him, and finally marries him so she won't have to testify against him. When she is jailed for perjury, the clever shyster stops traffic by clever legal technicalities until he rescuers her.

Charlie Ruggles, Lionel Atwill, Kathleen (Panther Woman) Burke, Randolph Scott, John Lodge and Gail Patrick head the cast in "Murders in the Zoo," which starts a three-day run at the Palace today. The action centers about a sadistic madman who is insanely jealous of his wife. During a banquet at the zoo one of her admirers suddenly screams and dies. Suspecting that her husband is responsible, the wife starts out to tell officers, but she, too, is brutally murdered. A young scientist ultimately discovers the truth, but the madman turns the wild beasts loose in an attempt to flee, bringing the picture to a thrilling climax.

"Looking Forward"

Lionel Barrymore heads the cast in "Looking Forward," booked at the Palace for Wednesday and Thursday. The picture tells a story of the modern business world and the effects of the depression on a great department store. Barrymore appears as a faithful old bookkeeper who eventually saves the store from being annihilated by a chain-store organization. Other principal roles are filled by Lewis Stone, Benita Hume, Elizabeth Allan, Phillips Holmes and Colin Clive.

"Trailing North," with Bob Steele in the leading role, will be offered at the Palace Friday and Saturday.

Bert Wheeler takes his cracking voice and Robert Woolsey his inevitable cigar deep into the forbidding depths of the African jungle in their latest comedy, "So This Is Africa!", which starts a three-day run at the Lyric today. The real perils of the jungle encountered in this instance are not wild animals, but wild women, a highly amorous tribe of beautiful Amazons led by Raquel Torres. Wheeler and Woolsey fall more or less willing victims.

The animals are too busy laughing to molest the safari, which consists of a beautiful blonde brought along to take motion pictures, a pack horse for Woolsey's special edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, a St. Bernard dog and a repeating rifle that repeats three times and dies.

Lionel Barrymore plays the leading role in "Guilty Hands," booked at the Lyric for Wednesday and Thursday. Kay Francis, Madge Evans, William Bakewell, Polly Moran and C. Aubrey Smith appear in important supporting roles. Barrymore appears as a highly-successful lawyer. When he fails to persuade his daughter not to marry one his wealthy clients, he decides to kill the man. He cautiously plans a "perfect crime," which will appear a suicide and which will not implicate him. The story reaches a thrilling and unexpected climax.

"Whirlwind," a western thriller starring Tim McCoy, will be screened at the Lyric Friday and Saturday.

Shock Proof

Truck Driving Is Good Conditioner

FLORENCE, S. C., June 24 (AP)—It happened in a rural village of Florence county. The amateur electrician wired the traditional loafer's bench in front of the barber shop for shocking purposes.

A button inside the shop, when pressed, would send reclining ones on the bench jumping in all directions, affording amusement for those "in the know."

On a Saturday afternoon the bench was full. The button was touched, and all but one sprang up. The lone sitter inquired, "What's the matter?"

"Aw, don't you feel that juice in them wires you're sitting on?" one asked. The unperturbed one looked at the bench and relaxed.

"Shucks," he said. "I've been driving an old truck on rough roads all this week. I don't feel nothin'."

Thirty-Year-Old Friendship Of Marie Dressler And May Robson Continues In Hollywood; Both Sold On The Films

* * * *

HOLLYWOOD, June 24.—One of Hollywood's oldest mutual admiration societies is composed of Marie Dressler and May Robson.

Marie says nice things about May, and May — "Minnie May" to hundreds of stage folks who have known her during her nearly 50 years of trouping—says it would take days to say all the nice things she thinks about Marie.

Just 30 years they've been close friends. The stage treated May perhaps more kindly than it did Marie. In May's 50 years she has never been idle a season. There were times when Marie thought she was done for — "washed up," as Hollywood puts it.

Buxom Marie's conquest of the talkies has made history, and the vogue she set for screen character actors has made May's path to triumph perhaps a little easier.

'Sold' On Movies

"Isn't it wonderful?" beams Marie, praising the movies, not her part in them. "It used to be a specter and a nightmare to all of us on the stage; what would happen to us when we got 'too old'? Now the movies have answered the question. We just come to Hollywood. We know they can't get along without us," she adds, eyes twinkling slyly.

Marie was in costume, the rough sea-faring outfit of "Tugboat Annie." May, at another studio, was in costume too. By coincidence she's "Apple Annie," star of "Madame La Gimp." Neither May nor Marie has any thought of quitting work.

It was Marie who persuaded May to sign with M-G-M. May was hesitating, but Marie said, "Go ahead, May; don't be a fool!" May tells that. She tells also, when an executive comes up to compliment her on her work, what Marie said to her. Marie said: "May, if you don't make a hit in that part, I'm going to brain you and hang you. That's what I'm going to do!"

"I'll tell Marie what you said," says May happily to the executive.

Marie And The Rules

Of an evening Marie and May often play cards together. Double solitaire, rummy—and Marie's trying to teach May backgammon. May admits she hasn't as good a head for cards as Marie. And—sh-h-h!—she has a grievance against her old friend.

"I'd say it if she were sitting right here," expostulates May, "but I do believe Marie makes her own rules!"

The 30-year friendship of Marie Dressler (left) and May Robson (right), that runs back to their early stage days, is being continued in Hollywood, where they are working for the same studio.

NEW OUTLET FOUND

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer packaging of bulky farm products—potatoes, citrus fruits, onions—is providing an important new outlet for cotton. The department of agriculture estimates that more than 10,000,000 cotton bags were used for consumer packages of potatoes alone last year.

Going To Chicago This Summer?
Be Sure To Visit The Gas Industry Hall

The Century of Progress Exposition is three and one-half miles long, occupies 424 acres of land reclaimed from Lake Michigan, and there are 82 miles of corridors inside of its 32 exhibit pavilions. In Gas Industry and Home Planning Halls there are more than 50,000 feet of exhibit space.

Summer air conditioning, or the cooling of homes in the summer, is the latest sensational development of automatic gas service. Displays featuring this ultra-modern convenience may be seen in Home Planning Hall and some of the model homes at the Century of Progress Exposition.

In providing facilities for feeding an estimated daily attendance of 200,000 persons, gas fuel has been specified for cooking, baking, water heating, space heating and incineration.

High lights in the progress of the gas industry, ranging from giant burners that make the thermometer shoot to 3000 Fahrenheit and more to the tiny flame that freezes water into ice cubes, are strikingly depicted in the Home and Industrial Arts Group of Chicago's great exposition.

A cordial welcome awaits you at Gas Industry and Home Planning Halls at the Century of Progress Exposition.

Hurry The Work

THE world wants action, one way or another, on the great problems before the world economic conference.

It is in a mood somewhat similar to that of Americans at the time President Roosevelt entered office. It wants to see something concrete done in an effort to get things to moving on a world-wide scale. It is little interested in gestures and oratory. If nothing substantial can be achieved then it would like to see the conference adjourn without unnecessary delay, in order that the individual nations might attack their own problems from a new direction.

Chairman Cox of the monetary commission apparently recognizes this and is doing his bit to get the machinery of the conference to moving. His "Gentlemen, let's get down to work," at the opening of the commission's first session, ought to be applied to the entire gathering.

Enough time already has been given to general oratory. It was necessary, in the interest of precedent at least, for a certain amount of speech-making to be had at the outset. Nearly a week was consumed with formalities, none of which will have any direct effect upon the results of the conference.

It is in committees, and in private conversations between and among individual delegates, that most of the real work will be done. The monetary commission is one of the most important groups in the conference. That is buckling dwn to its task and other committees are moving in the same direction which constitute an encouraging feature of the deliberations.

Most international conferences are ponderous, slow-moving bodies, attaching little importance to time but a great deal to oratory. They may devote weeks and months to discussion and then adjourn, with nothing of practical benefit accomplished.

It is to be hoped the London meeting will set a precedent by doing its work in a comparatively short time and quitting. Should important agreements be reached, the value of these will be increased if they be arrived at promptly. Even failure will not seem so disastrous if a lot of time is not wasted before this is admitted.

WATCHFULNESS NEEDED

Washington will be justified in scanning closely any arbitration treaty proposed to the United States by Japan.

Officials in Tokyo have confirmed reports that preparations were being made to seek negotiation of a new pact with the United States similar to the one which lapsed about five years ago. Washington officials denied any knowledge of the proposed course, which would indicate that no conversations, at least, had taken place on the subject.

The policy pursued by Japan in China in recent years, in flagrant violation of treaty obligations, has given Tokyo an unenviable reputation throughout the world. A nation which will not live up to its pledged word when it sees an opportunity to advance its own interests by refusing to hold to its promises can not be regarded as a good "risk" in the treaty world.

The Japanese-American arbitration pact expired in 1928 and little effort has been made to renew it or to negotiate a new one. The negotiation of arbitration treaties long has been a recognized policy of the United States government. Such an agreement with Japan would be in keeping with America's ideals in furthering the cause of peace throughout the world.

Tokyo reports indicate Japan may offer to recognize the Monroe doctrine in return for recognition by the United States of a Japanese Asiatic "Monroe doctrine." Just what might be meant by the latter is a question that would need to be answered definitely before the United States would be justified in recognizing it. As for recognition of America's Monroe doctrine, this country never has sought foreign recognition.

The Tokyo reports probably are intended to be a sounding-out process to determine how American public opinion would view a proposed arbitration treaty and how far Japan might hope to go in making it of especial benefit to Japan.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Paul Mallon

POWER: President Roosevelt called in his industrial coordinate Hugh Johnson a few days back and dusted him off rather roughly. They managed to keep the affair quiet even from Johnson's associates but it has important significance.

It seems the ex-general jumped into the coordinating business as if he was still running the army. He ripped the country into sections with his own pocket knife. He named old army pals as deputy assistant and administrators. Division chiefs were chosen without consulting any politicians.

It was purely a one man show. That is it was until Mr. Roosevelt heard about it.

Now Johnson is an industrial corporal instead of a general.

That is the real inside reason why Mr. Roosevelt suddenly selected a committee from his cabinet to take charge of things. The bosses now are Commerce Secretary Roper and Interior Secretary Ickes. Roper is handling the industrial setup offstage. Ickes controls the public works feature, although no one is supposed to know about it.

Johnson is not permitted to turn around without asking them.

The restraint is naturally irksome to him. He called a cabinet committee meeting recently to get authority to do something of no importance. Afterward he whispered to Roper that the arrangement was silly. He suggested they only call meetings on important matters.

Roper cautioned him about the President's orders. Johnson reluctantly agreed.

The incident illustrates how completely Mr. Roosevelt dominates the Washington picture.

His friends whisper that he appreciates what a dangerous thing it is to exert so much power. He apparently is safeguarding it with as many checks and balances as possible.

If Johnson has any idea of resigning he has suppressed it. As a good soldier he can take orders as well as give them. His personality somewhat resembles that of Dawes. He is an ideal man for his job.

RAILS: What is behind this railroad move to cut salaries is bitter hate for the Dill amendment.

The roads want to nullify that provision which prevents their firing employees they think they can get along without. They know their chances of another wage cut are about as good as your chance of being elected president. With car loadings and earnings increasing they cannot make out a case.

What they appear to want is a compromise. They may drop their wage cut demands if the administration will assure them that the Dill amendment will not be strongly enforced.

Mr. Roosevelt has been very bitter underneath about what the roads have done. They practically thumbed their nose at his wage increase promotion work.

The administration also has its eye on certain other industries. Confidential government reports indicate some concerns have cut wages on the sly in the past few weeks. Their strategy is apparent. They will come out with important announcements soon that they are increasing wages in accordance with the presidential program. They expect good publicity.

It may not turn out so well. The administration may make it clear they are merely restoring recent wage cuts.

COMMODITIES: There was a hot fight backstage on the farm control plan.

Once Agriculture Secretary Wallace banged his fist on the Cabinet table and told everyone, including the President, they could have his job any time they wanted.

The result was Wallace won a complete victory for strong action on wheat and cotton. He was slated for a back seat in the farm setup. Now he is driving.

On the back seat instead is George Peek who thought it might be dangerous to start experiments with the market going up.

The Wallace crowd has very little hope of being able to benefit cotton and wheat prices this year. What they have their eye on is next year's price.

If they plan works we may have $1 wheat and 15 cent cotton next year.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

CONFERENCE: Senator Pittman's proposal to reduce the central bank gold reserves behind paper money to 25% was dripping with invisible strategy.

New Yorkers consulted agreed with the administration that nothing must happen at London which would jeopardize our domestic price rise. So stabilization was out.

At the same time we didn't want Europe to say that we killed the Conference by refusing to cooperate. The problem was to keep the ball rolling without committing ourselves to anything.

The Pittman plan does that neatly. It gives the delegates something to chew on for weeks and weeks. Meanwhile whip and spur will be used on domestic prices. Perhaps by the time the conference reaches an agreement they will be so high we might be willing to talk turkey on currencies.

The plan was strategic in other respects. It was designed to appeal to France's smaller allies. That makes it hard for the French to oppose it too vigorously. Likewise it knocks out France's idea of mobilizing a "gold bloc" to adjourn the Conference and blame us.

Our interference is working like a charm ahead of the backs carrying the price-rise football. It has blocked out both stabilization and the debts as tacklers.

England is still working on our side rather than with France. They realize they cannot get what they want on currency adjustments but figure now they will be stronger with us than against us.

Chalk up an assist for this change in British viewpoint to England's New York banking contacts. They have done a good inside job of selling Mr. Roosevelt. More evidence of New York's new resolve to play the game Washington's way.

SILVER: The silver angle of the Pittman project covers a lot of territory. One-fifth of the reserves of the central banks would amount to $2,400,000,000. At present prices that would mean 6,945,000,000 ounces of silver—which is equal to the total world production of the metal since Bryan's day. The silverites evidently want to make up for lost time.

THE NEW BOOKS

Norman Angell Writes Again On Problems Of The Day In "From Chaos To Control"; Mark L. Requa Turns Author; Different Study Given On Psycology In "The Ape And The Child"

MORE than 20 years ago Norman Angell wrote a book explaining that no nation could possibly gain anything by modern warfare. He was immediately derided as a visionary incompetent by his betters in every land; and his betters then got the world into a new war and proved that everything he had told them was the literal truth.

Now he has written a new book, "From Chaos to Control" (Century Co.); and it is a book which is very much worth reading in these troubled times.

Failure Of Education

In it he suggests that our chief trouble today is the failure of organized education to prepare modern democracies for the kind of complex, specialized world in which we are now living. Our great problem now, he says, is not to find a way out of economic disaster, but to get that way accepted by the ordinary man once it is found.

As an example, he remarks that every reputable economist has long insisted that there can be no recovery until reparations and war debts are forgotten and tariff walls are lowered. The experts agree, in other words, about what our first steps must be—but we won't follow their advice.

Eventually, he says, we must learn to look on political and economic problems as objectively as we now look on medical problems. If a plague threatens our town we do just what our doctors tell us to do, realizing that we cannot save ourselves otherwise. But when economic disaster comes we will not listen to our experts. We prefer to stick to our own prejudices. As a result, our civilization is on the very edge of an abyss.

Readable Yarn

MARK L. REQUA, famous as a mining engineer and a co-worker of Herbert Hoover's, has turned novelist. His first venture is "Grubstake," (Scribner's), a story of mining days in old-time Nevada, and it is a fast-moving, exciting and eminently readable yarn.

Mr. Requa takes us to the boom town of Sulphide in the '70's of the last century. One Shorty, veteran prospector, chases a wandering mule up a barren canyon and stumbles on a fabulously rich gold vein—a bonanza big enough to make him a millionaire many times over.

The Plot Thickens

The fun begins when Shorty gets back to town with his samples for assay. The assayer turns out to be a crook. He reports to Shorty that the ore will run only a few dollars to the ton, hardly enough to make the vein worth working; but to Bill Patrick, hard-eyed saloon keeper, he reveals its true worth, and he and Patrick scheme to get it away from Shorty before he finds out what a prize he has got.

The rest of the story tells how Shorty and the two youngsters who grubstaked him foil this plot, and the book winds up with a gun battle as thrilling as the one which climaxes Wister's "Virginian."

Aside from the melodrama, the book is interesting because of the picture it gives of the old-time mining town and mining folk. The picture is well drawn and authentic. If you like "westerns," you'll enjoy "Grubstake."

Those Psycologists

Quite a different psychological attitude is to be found in another June book, "The Ape and the Child," (Whittlesey Vemse), by W. N. and L. A. Kellogg. Mr. Kellogg is associate professor of psychology at the University of Indiana, and he and his wife decided one day to find out what there was to this monkey business. So they borrowed a young chimpanzee that almost matched their own son Donald in age (the ape was 7 1-2 months old) and reared the two under precisely the same conditions, and together, for almost a year.

They tested and probed and experimented. Gua, the Chimpanzee, and Donald, the child, accepted each other and with apparent willingness went through the regimen prescribed. The results are too numerous to sketch here; suffice it to say that the Kelloggs seem to have come out of the test with their respect for the ape family considerably enhanced.

They don't mention what Donald and Gua thought.

Introducing Mr. Archer

"DEATH WHISPERS" (Viking Press) by Joseph Baker Carr introduces Mr. Osceola Archer, who is a newcomer to the realm of detective fiction.

Mr. Archery is a very fat man. He looks like Falstaff, and on occasion acts like him, too. He is likely to call himself an interior decorator or Sir Smething Leffingwell from Soathey's of London. He changes his voice at odd times, and he eats such quantities of food that one would imagine he must spend all his moments away from table in a semi-comatose condition.

But Mr. Archer does no such thing. He really is quite light on his feet, and his brain is as active as the rest of him.

Called To Solve Murder

So when, one shivery night, he is called in to see what he can do to track down the murderer of Roderick Myncheon, the reader cannot help but feel better about it.

There were so many queer people about such as Miss Ankerett Myncheon, furbished out in ancient clothing, a little cracked and a little drunk and given to playing the clavichord at odd times.

And the gnarled old cook, and the butler who was discovered by Miss Crump, the newly arrived nurse, pointing a rifle at Roderick Myncheon's body. And Patricia, who was doing something suspicious with a hypodermic syringe, and Cunningham, who seemed plausible enough, but—

This "Death Whispers" is a cleverly done mystery, by a writer who never published a book before. Carr is his correct name; he wears no mask, his publisher insists, and he intends to go right on writing about Osceola.

Letters To The Editor

W. P. Florence, Commissioner From Slaton, Proposes Cut In Property Valuations In County

Editor, The Avalanche-Journal: We have equalized the tax roll on the basis of last year's rendition which carried a 10% reduction. I have tried my best to get another 10% reduction because I promised it, and because I am sure as ever that it is right and practical.

I am disappointed at lack of support but pray and hope that my good co-workers may yet be converted to this gospel. I wish the plan I proposed, but without a second, be published that it may be studied, criticized, perhaps improved, and possibly adopted some time soon.

One main argument against reducing valuations is that the general fund is over-strained and has its maximum rate. But since salaries have been reduced this year enough to relieve that strain of nearly $5,000 and the 10 percent cut would afford another $1,000 relief without lessening the fund over $1,500 with the present rate, it appears we could get on as usual with that fund after the cut.

Other arguments against the cut are as easily met. It would save our taxpayers $20,000 per year which would pay for going over the rolls again.

W. P. Florence,
County Commissioner,
Slaton.

Plans Completed For Celebration

LAMESA, June 24. —(Special)— Lamesa and Dawson county's 3rd and 4th of July celebration has about completed its plans in detail, according to officials in charge.

The plans call for rodeo, polo and horse racing. W. G. Weekes has charge of rodeo activity. A. C. Woodward is directing polo sports, while R. D. Kirk has charge of the horse races. Each of these activities are expected to draw large crowds. The Lubbock polo team has been engaged for games both days, according to Woodward. R. D. Kirk reports that entries are being received for all races scheduled, which include 2-year-olds up, 1-4 and 1-2 mile races. An effort is also being made to secure horses for the mile race.

The affair will be held adjacent to the city limits south and the grounds are being whipped into condition rapidly. Liberal prizes are offered in all events. The entertainment is being sponsored by the Lamesa Polo club as their second annual affair.

BEAVER DAM, Wis., June 24. (AP)—A million and a half lady bugs, imported from California, are having a chilly time in cold storage here.

They are just cool enough to remain inactive, and their appetite increases daily.

When the pea crop of this region becomes infested with plant lice, the lady bugs will be liberated to devour them.

If released now, their caretakers say, the bugs will eat something else and fly away.

Kiwanis Night To Be Monday

Lubbock Club Will Join With Other 1,872 Groups In The United States And Canada For Simultaneous Session

Joining with the other 1,872 clubs in the United States and Canada for a simultaneous meeting, the Kiwanis club will observe "All Kiwanis Night" Monday night at Hotel Lubbock beginning at 8 o'clock.

A humorous program, arranged by W. C. Rylander, will follow a fellowship hour. Owen McWhorter is to be toastmaster.

Lubbock Masons are reported planning to attend the third annual open air meeting of the Crane, Texas, Masonic lodge the night of Friday, July 7, the date of the first full moon in July.

Reports here indicate the attendance will be from 400 to 800 Masons from all sections of West and southwest Texas and southeast New Mexico. Last year there was an attendance of 400 and in 1932, the first year the meet was held, 200 attended.

"Traveling Telephone" Latest Aid To Stranded Motorists; Can Be Plugged Into Lines

BELLINGHAM, Wash. June 24.—(AP)—The "Traveling Telephone," a device to relieve motorists going about at night of the trouble of locating pay telephone stations, is the invention of Charles H. Kirby, electrical engineer.

To use his apparatus a motorist would carry the telephone instrument in his car. It has a weatherproof cord and plug attached. Sockets attached at frequent spaces to telephone lines would enable the motorist to plug in, drop in a coin and get a connection without leaving his car.

On behalf of his idea, Kirby declares there are thousands of motorists caught yearly without telephone communication at hours when store pay stations are closed.

Everybody is Talking Pontiac!

"Pontiac makes a hit with me because of its Straight Eight performance. I get away first every time."

"I like it because its weight and strength make me feel safe and it is so comfortable and easy-riding."

"I'm strong for Pontiac because it is so economical—easy to buy and easy to own."

"I like my new Pontiac because I use it in business every day, and I need a car that's got durability enough to 'take it.'"

"I like my comfort when on a trip—and our new Pontiac is so comfortable, thanks to Fisher No Draft Ventilation."

"Pontiac's appearance makes me feel proud of it—it is so smart and trim—very modern."

"BALANCED VALUE"

15 miles or more to the gallon is what owners say the Pontiac Straight Eight gives them. And Pontiac continues to do so, even after thousands of miles of use.

Such operating efficiency can come from only one thing—and that is Balanced Design, which means that each part is scientifically balanced and related to all the others—so that all strains are equalized for uniform life and durability. This in turn means Balanced Value.

Come in for a demonstration. You'll agree then that Pontiac deserves its increasing sales.

Remember it takes all of these qualities: Economy—Durability—Comfort—Safety—Performance—Appearance (not only some of them) to make a modern car.

Last Of Original Bunch Of Cowboys On Matador Ranch Lives In Floydada

FLOYDADA, June 24. (Special)—J. D. Starks, 75, postmaster here for more than a quarter of a century, is the last of the original bunch of cowboys who punched the first herd of cattle for the Matador ranch in Motley county in the spring of 1880, more than half a century ago.

There were ten cowpunchers in the group who went to work for the Matador ranch in 1879, but no work was done until the spring of 1880, he says

Joined Matadors In 1879

Mr. Starks was born in Marsh county, Ky., and was brought to Texas by his parents when a year old. Later they returned and he came to the state again in 1876. His first cowpunching job was in Jack county in 1877. Two years later he joined the Matadors.

After nine years Mr. Starks moved to Floydada when he quit the ranch. He has resided here ever since. Recently he went to the ranch to attend a roundup, his first one in 45 years.

Little More Style Now

"There is a little more style used at the round-up these days than we had," he remarked after returning from the Matador roundup. "They keep the different classes of cattle in separate pastures and it is not as hard work. Back in our day we had all classes together and it was a job to cut them out from the big herd."

"They have a big tarp that covers the end of the wagon and the cook can work in the shade. There is enough room under the tarp for all the men to sit down on the ground and eat. We didn't have any kind of shade when I punched cattle and we ate just anywhere out in the sun."

TARZAN OF THE APES No. 19

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

On the day Tarzan established his right to respect, the tribe was gathered in a small natural amphitheatre. Here, safe from interruptions, they celebrated victories. In the center was one of those strange earthen drums the anthropoids build for their queer rites, which men have sometimes heard but never witnessed.

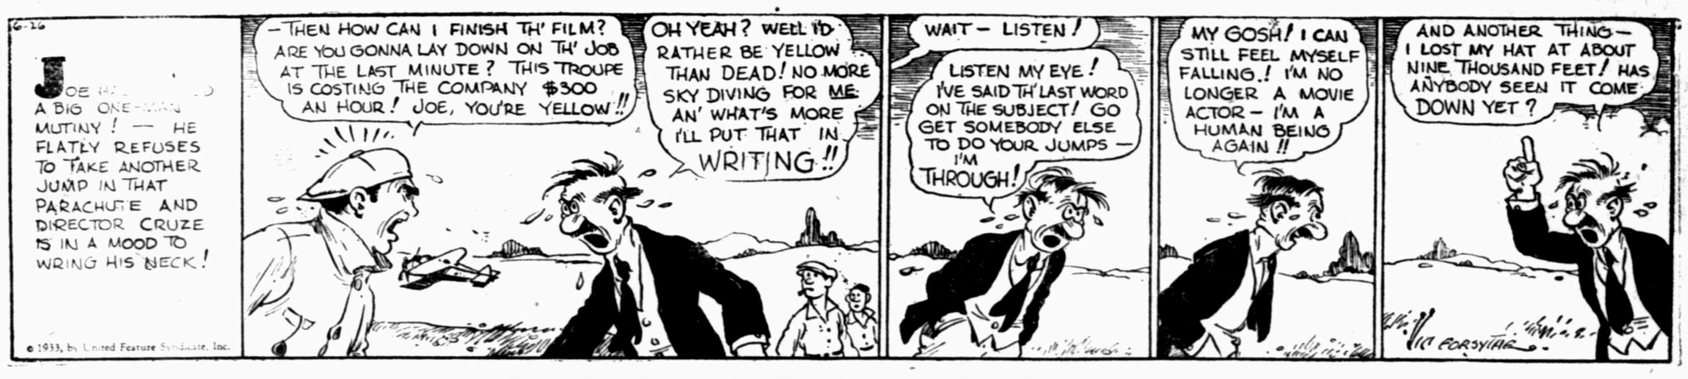

Tarzan, Lord Greystoke, is doubtless the only human being who ever joined in the fierce, mad, intoxicating revel of the Dum-Dum. This day the grisly rites marked the killing of a giant ape—a member of another tribe. Two mighty bulls laid the body before the earthen drum.

They squatted there beside it as guards. The other apes curled themselves up to sleep until the rising moon should give the signal for the commencement of the savage orgy. For hours absolute quiet reigned. At length, as darkness settled upon the jungle, the apes commenced to bestir themselves.

They formed a great circle around three old females, who, armed with knotted branches, began softly tapping upon the resounding surfaces of the drum, as the ascending moon silvered the tree tops. Presently a wild rhythmic din pervaded the jungle for miles around. It rose to almost deafening volume.

Korenak sprang into the open space, threw his head far back and, beating his breast, emitted thrice his fearful roaring shriek. Other males repeated the horrid, blood-thirsty screams. Then began the mad whirl of the death dance. And Tarzan, sweat-streaked, muscular, glistening, was one of the wild leaping horde!

Potentialities Of South Plains Agriculture Cited By Tech Agriculturis

Study Of 13 Counties Made In This Area

Dean A. H. Leidigh Details Interesting Information On Agriculture And Feeding In South Plains Territory

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

INTERESTING figures on agriculture for the South Plains area were prepared by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture at Texas Tech and was used by him as the basis of his talk on "potentialities" for the area at the recent feeders' day program at the school. The figures were largely for data on feeding and livestock and were taken from the 1930 census report and assembled by H. M. Bell of the school's faculty for Dean Leidigh.

Counties studied in the report included: Lubbock, Crosby, Lynn, Terry, Dawson, Gaines, Yoakum, Hockley, Cochran, Bailey, Lamb, Hale and Floyd. The area represents four tiers of counties, east and west across the heart of the Panhandle-Plains area's best producing section.

Average Farm 412.7 acres

These counties represent 5,937,895 acres; 3,094,003 acres being crop land and 2,843,932 acres pasture land. Average size of the farms was 412.7 acres.

Feed crop area was 924,834 acres, producing 647,482 tons of grain, or .7 of a ton per acre. This figure Dean Leidigh says "is very conservative."

Cotton area was 1,219,580 acres, which produced 125,548 tons of cotton seed or 52,709 tons of cottonseed meal.

"The total grass area, allowing a carrying capacity of 30 acres per cow unit, will care for 48,883 head of sheep, or those run wild with no feed other than grass, and 85,081 cow units or the equivalent of 94,830 animal units," Dean Leidigh explained. The following basis was used for animal units: 30 chickens, four hogs or five sheep equal one animal unit.

Census Figures Given

Census figures of 1930, gave the following figures: dairy cattle, 62,792; beef cattle, 178,145; horses and mules, 101,696; hogs, 73,931; sheep, 73,323; poultry, 1,121,203.

Feed consumed, if no pasture was used, would be 1,186,933 tons, or 2.94 tons per animal unit. The pasture affords 94,830 animal units or 278,800 tons of feed saved. Deducting this from the total feed consumed gives 908,133 tons actually consumed.

"The total amount of feed locally available under very conservative conditions was 700,191 tons," the dean expalined. "Subtracting from 908,133 tons consumed, the available, it indicates 207,940 tons short for present use, if all available animal units were retained and fed.

Feed Saved Annually

"But, 18,457 head of cattle were sold before they were two years old, thus they do not consume their portion of the 908,133 tons. The disposal of these steers saves annually that amount of feed normally required to fit them for market, follows: Bundle feed, 16,150 tons; grain, 14,135 tons; cottonseed meal, 3,064 tons, a total of 33,749 tons.

"Likewise, 7,393 hogs sold before being finished, saves: 2,588 tons of grain; 111 tons of cottonseed meal, a total of 2,699 tons. This represents a total saving of 36,488 tons. Thus, there is a net shortage of 171,492 tons.

Shortage Overcome

"A shortage of that number of tons of feed would be readily overcome with only a slight increase in yield, say from .7 of a ton to one ton per acre, which would make the total production, 924,834 tons, or a surplus of 15,894 tons.

"Thus, this surplus of 15,894 tons, plus the 36,448 tons saved by shipping unfinished stock, would care for the 18,457 steers shipped, thus probably 10,000 extra head or a total of approximately 28,000 animal units.

"If the total cotton acreage be reduced one third and planted to feed, we would have 405,854 acres additional in feed, with even a conservative yield of .7 of a ton per acre, there would be an increase in production of 284,098 tons. This figure, plus the 36,448 tons not being used on home grown livestock, would make a surplus of 320,546 tons, or enough to finish 128,218 animal units.

Allows 350 Pound Gain

"This figure is based on the amount of feed needed to finish this number of animal units, and does not include maintenance or growing otherwise. This will allow approximately 350-pound gain per animal unit."

A gross yield of lint and seed on a nine cent per pound basis represents a yield of $12.75 per acre, on lint cotton. Five acres of crop will take care of four steers on feed.

Five acres of cotton would return $63.75, an average of $15.44 per animal. Gain at a cent and a half per pound on a 700 pound steer would, with additional gain at six cents a pound, bring a return of $31.50 for the same land that cotton brought $15.44.

Takes 600 Pounds of Water

It takes 600 pounds of water to produce a pound of crop on land that yields 15 bushels per acre. On land that yields 30 bushels, the water needed is 460 pounds per pound of crop and the 50 bushel yield needs only 350 pounds of water.

The higher fertility of soil, the less water per pound is needed to produce a crop. Cotton drains soil of its fertility. Hence, land that produces a grain crop which is fed on the farm, increases fertility.

"In spite of our present fertility of crop land we know by experience that the land is being drained of its fertility." Dean Leidigh said in closing. "Hence we must add fertilizer to our soil if we would retain its productiveness under dry farming condition. It depends on the use of water."

The dean said his figures were based on experiments conducted for some years past at the Lubbock experiment station.

Vast Power Given Agricultural Department For Curbing Crop Production And Bolstering Prices

Huge annual surpluses, making for low prices, have been a major factor in placing the American farmer in his present situation. One purpose of the new farm law is to grant the department of agriculture power to try to cut these surpluses by various means, one of them by having the farmer reduce his production and compensating him by a tax levied on the processor, the man who converts the raw material into products for consumption. The department is not required to use this power, however. Wheat and cotton carryovers during recent years are charted above, the 1933 wheat figures being an estimate. George N. Peek, shown at his desk, will be chief administrator of the act.

BY FRANK I. WELLER
(Associated Press Farm Editor)

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP) — The American farmer stands on the threshold of "an experiment in social justice" — Secretary Wallace's definition of the inflation-farm relief act designed to combat unwieldy production, low purchasing power and high fixed charges.

"I think we are ready now," the secretary of agriculture says, "to reach out towards a new order. We have determined to become the masters rather than the victims of destiny. We are daring to bring the economic interests of men under conscious human control."

Peek In Charge

The man at the levers will be George N. Peek of Moline, Ill., who as chief administrator of the act may, at the direction of the President and the secretary:

1. Provide for reduction in acreage or production of specified farm products and compensate farmers who cooperate by rental or benefit payments.

2. Enter marketing agreements with producers, marketing agencies and processors of farm products.

3. License processors and distributing agencies engaged in interstate or foreign commerce so as to regulate handling of agricultural produce and eliminate unfair practices and charges.

4. Give the cotton farmer an option at current market prices on government-held cotton in proportion to his 1933 acreage reduction and pay him whatever profits result from a rise in price at the time of sale.

5. Assess a processor's tax on commodities served, the tax not to be greater than necessary to restore the pre-war "fair exchange" value of the crop nor greater than the commodity can bear without excessive lowering of consumption, and distribute the accumulated fund as rental or benefit payments to farmers.

6. Assess a compensating tax on the basic commodity results in perceptible shift of consumer demand.

With the exception of the cotton option plan no unit of the farm aid machine is mandatory. It alone is expected to become effective immediately.

Before definite regulations can be drafted for any of the other plans all parties interested in the production, processing and distribution of the commodity to be served must be represented at a public hearing.

Choice Of Plans

It is the first business of the act to give them a choice of control methods, amount and date of benefit payments to participating farmers and amount and frequency of processing taxes.

It is the huge surplus, particularly in cotton, wheat, hogs and corn, which has stranded the American farmer. Trade channels are carrying two to three times the normal amount of wheat, and the cotton on hand is at least three times normal—a carryover so large the country could skip a crop and still supply the demand.

The act recognizes that the acreage rental plan under which farmers are paid directly for taking land out of production may work best with one commodity; that allotting benefit payments on that portion of the farmer's crop consumed domestically in exchange for as much reduction as is practicable may be more applicable to another and that still another commodity may be served best through marketing agreements designed to raise the regular market price toward parity.

While planned production for the common good of all is the goal of the new legislation, there is nothing to compel the individual farmer to participate in its operation.

Help To Those Who Cooperate

Only the farmer who participates is to benefit. He will be compensated in proportion to his cooperation, his benefit payments making up as nearly as possible the amount that the prevailing market price falls short of predetermined equitable values.

By controlling production and conferring benefits only on those who participate the new farm act seeks to plug up two loopholes in almost all other farm relief plans.

R.F.D. Bluebirds

Postman Lets Nest Stay In Mailbox

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 24 (AP)—There should be happy news in W. L. Harrell's mail—he gets his letters from a bluebird's nest.

A month ago two bluebirds established their home in Harrell's R. F. D. mail box on the Birmingham-Gadsden highway. Now the postman gently pushes letters into the box daily to the accompaniment of a chorus of "cheeps" from four little bluebirds.

More Than Thirteen Thousand Acres Of Land In Cochrane And Bailey Will Be Placed On Market In Near Futur

CHILDRESS, June 24. (Special) —More than 17,000 acres of land in Cochran and Bailey counties belonging to Childress county as school land, is to be thrown on the market in a short time, the commissioner's court has decided.

V. E. Hafner, county agent and Leonard White, who recently visited the land, classified it into three groups. Good improved land and good unimproved land was placed in Class A; medium improved and medium unimproved land in Class B and poorer land in Class C.

Prices for the land will range from $25 an acre on down to $8. The top price is for good improved land; $22.50 for good unimproved and for medium improved land and $20 for medium unimproved land. Poorer lands will range down to the lowest price.

There are 42 farms in Class A, 30 in class B and 10 in Class C. Each tract comprises 177 acres. There are due $7,200 in back taxes for 1931 and 1932 on these tracts. The court will take care of the taxes.

The court hopes to lease the land. It believes that enough income from rentals can be had to insure $2 to $4 scholastic per capita tax.

War On 'Hoppers Expected To Aid Minnesotans This Season

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 24. (AP) — Minnesota spent a quarter million dollars satisfying the grasshopper's sweet tooth last year, and as a consequence the state expects a comparatively mild onslaught of the pest this season.

In eating the flavored mash the gullible hoppers consumed enough poison to exterminiate about 90 per cent of the breed in Minnesota. A. G. Ruggles, state entomologist, says the remaining 10 per cent can be controlled with ordinary precautions.

Fifty-five Minnesota counties joined in the 'hopper war last summer, spreading poisoned mash purchased with state funds totaling $250,000. Ruggles figures that even with the low prices of farm crops the state saved $9,000,000 in crops last summer through scattering the 35,000,000 tons of bait.

Bacteria Plentiful

Pound Of Soil May Hold 40 Billion

WASHINGTON, June 24. (AP) — The earthworms the fisherman picks out of the spadeful of soil down by the fencerow may be plentiful, but they're only a small part of the life there.

A single pound of top soil may contain as many as 40,000,000,000 bacteria, say agricultural authorities

These bacteria are the lowest form of plant life and consist of single cells, only 1-25,000 of an inch in diameter. Most of these bacteria are not harmful, but aid growth of crops by changing fertilizing material into plant food.
