Justice Dept. Asks Fine For Barnett

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department asked today that Mississippi Gov. Ross R. Barnett be fined $100,000 for failing to purge himself of contempt of court.

The department official said the move, made in a brief filed with the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, La., also included a request that Barnett be fined an additional $10,000 a day until he complies with court orders.

The court was told Barnett had partly purged himself by personally arranging for James H. Meredith and federal officers to enter the University of Mississippi without interference from state officials.

Storm-Wrecked Cofferdam

High water on the Feather River, caused by unseasonal heavy rains, swept away all but a small portion of a cofferdam south of Oroville, Calif., which was used in a construction of a concrete dam, a portion of which is seen in left background. Some heavy equipment is isolated amid steel pilings at right. Part of a new fish hatchery below the dam site also was washed away.

Court Upholds Conviction Of Druggist Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court affirmed today the conviction of the Utah Pharmaceutical Association on a charge of violating the Sherman Anti-trust law by agreeing to maintain uniform retail prices for prescription drugs.

At the same time the high tribunal refused to review conviction of the Northern California Pharmaceutical Association on a similar charge. This lets the conviction stand unchanged.

The court's action in both cases was unanimous. The tribunal acted without giving any citation, disposing of the cases by brief orders.

The Utah association was convicted in federal court in Salt Lake City and an injunction was issued to bar it from continuing practices about which the Justice Department complained.

The Northern California Association was fined $40,000 in U.S. District Court in San Francisco. In addition, Donald K. Hedgpeth, a San Francisco pharmacist who served as chairman of the association's "suggested prescription pricing schedule committee," was fined $1,000.

The Utah association filed an appeal with the Supreme Court while the North California Association petitioned for review of its conviction. Both associations said their activities were local in character and contended they were not covered by the antitrust law. Hedgpeth joined in the California group's petition.

Adlai Sees Peace Hope For Congo

President Gets Report On U.N.

NEW YORK (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, has told President Kennedy that developments of the past few days "give us some hope of a solution of the problems in the Congo."

Stevenson said Sunday night, after an hour-long conference with the President in the latter's hotel suite here, that he also spoke with Kennedy about the Cuban problem.

Asked if his report on the Communist-dominated Fidel Castro government was as optimistic as the one he made on the Congo, the ambassador replied:

"On the whole, yes. I think we have a high degree of solidarity in the Western Hemisphere on the Cuban problem."

But he said he had not talked with Kennedy about attempts to negotiate the release of Cuban invasion captives because he, Stevenson, knew nothing about it.

Regarding the Congo, Stevenson indicated he expects acting U.N. Secretary-General U Thant to announce soon what has been done to bring secessionist Katanga Province back into line with the central Leopoldville government.

Earlier, Stevenson told reporters at Idlewild Airport, where he met the incoming President, that he was "more hopeful than I have been in the past that we may come to some settlement in the Congo."

The situation remains unsettled and no one can determine what Katanga President Moise Tshombe may do, he said.

But Stevenson added: "I am hopeful that something constructive is coming out of present negotiations."

He said that as far as he is concerned there is no emergency regarding the Congo.

Stevenson said he had had rather lengthy conversations with Algeria's Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, but declined to say what the talks were about.

Ben Bella was scheduled to meet with Kennedy today in Washington.

Mixed Marriage Vows May Be Council Topic

ROME (AP) — Roman Catholic and Protestant clergymen here express belief the current Second Vatican Council will discuss the question of mixed marriages and the vows the Catholic Church demands of non-Catholics who marry Catholics.

Some Protestant churchmen have expressed hope that the Catholic Church in the current council might soften its insistence on such vows, but Catholic sources available today expressed doubt any such change will be made.

Sources close to the conference said there is talk of the church also giving status and recognition for the first time to other denominations and ending the traditionally aloof attitude of the Church of Rome.

Protestant groups have been working quietly for a revision of the Catholic attitude on both these points, regarded as wounding by other Christian churches.

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey, last week referred to the conditions imposed for mixed marriages as "very painful" to practicing Anglicans.

The archbishop said he was thinking of the Catholic invitation to the non-Catholic husband or wife to abandon his faith and the insistence that children of mixed marriages must be brought up as Catholics.

Informed sources said the council also will review the system of allowing only a shortened service for mixed marriages. These sources said use of the full Roman Catholic liturgy may be authorized.

To many observers here, the most fascinating aspect of the council is the change it represents in the Catholic attitude to the other Christian churches. Exchanges between Pope John XXIII and other Christian leaders have rarely been more cordial.

The Russian Orthodox Church has two observers here for the first formal contacts between the churches for nearly 10 centuries.

Another 16 churches or religious bodies are represented in talks with the Vatican Secretariat for Church Unity, official contact on a scale that has never been attempted previously.

Cotton Acreage Reduction Seen

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman is expected to announce today a considerable reduction in 1963 cotton planting allotments.

Declining markets and rising surpluses appeared to dictate a cutback from this year's 18.1 million acres if the Kennedy administration wishes to maintain cotton price supports close to present levels.

The announcement also will set the date for a grower referendum on marketing quotas to accompany the acreage allotments. The quotas require approval by at least two-thirds of the growers voting. They never have been voted down.

In past years, land taken out of cotton has gone principally into the production of feed grains, soy beans and other noncontrolled crops. But an increase in cotton-area plantings of feed grains would come at a time when the administration is seeking to reduce grain production and surpluses.

A smaller cotton acreage also could influence livestock and dairy production. These types of agriculture have been growing in the South in recent years, competing with meat animal and milk production in other parts of the country.

Donovan's Code Stresses Moral Credo Of The West

NEW YORK (AP)—Late in the evening last Feb. 11, a fatigued Wall Street lawyer, James B. Donovan, lounged in an easy chair and talked with the 50 reporters and photographers crowded into his Brooklyn apartment.

The tiredness did not show in his pale blue eyes as Donovan discussed the conclusion of a case he had undertaken five years earlier with the remark:

"If the free world is not faithful to its own moral code, there remains no society for which others may hunger."

This was the credo with which Donovan, whose practice normally involves the legal tangles of big insurance companies, accepted the task handed to him by the Brooklyn Bar Association: Defending Col. Rudolf I. Abel, Soviet master spy.

The jury found his client guilty of espionage. But Donovan argued successfully against execution, telling the court that if Abel's life were spared, he might some day be traded for an American trapped in a similar task.

The presence of the crowd in Donovan's apartment that February night testified to his foresight. For the silver-haired, athletic lawyer had just returned from a secret mission behind the Iron Curtain. He had traded Abel for the freedom of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers and Frederic Pryor, an American student aicused of spying in East Germany.

Just six months later, Donovan was again traveling into the Communist sphere in influence. It was Cuba. Once again, his goal was to open prison doors.

This time, however, he had no prisoner to swap for the anti-Castro Cubans captured at the Bay of Pigs invasion attempt and, he carefully emphasized, "The U.S. government has absolutely no part in these negotiations."

Donovan made the latter point carefully because some questions had risen about his role in relation to the Logan Act. This federal statute prohibits a U.S. citizen from negotiating privately with a foreign power about any disputes that government has with the United States.

No such question was asked about the Abel-Powers swap, but by this time—largely as a result of the public stature he had gained from the swap—Donovan was a Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate in New York.

Government lawyers have taken the position that his action was legal since the United States is not in dispute with Cuba over the prisoners.

When he accepted nomination to oppose Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Donovan pledged to keep his campaign separate from his work as general counsel for the Cuban Families Committee for the Liberation of the Prisoners of War.

Yet, as Donovan missed political engagement after political engagement in New York while negotiating in Cuba, the mission inevitably began to play a role in the campaign.

The 46-year-old Donovan made headlines as he flew between Havana and Miami, pursuing an objective Javits could not criticize.

Donovan, a native of the Bronx, had dealt with international negotiations and foreign intrigue before the Abel-Powers matter. A graduate of Fordham and Harvard law school, he served in World War II as a naval officer and general counsel to the Office of Strategic Services.

In 1945, he went to London with Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson to assist in discussions for the treaty with Britain, France and Russia for the trial of top war criminals. Donovan subsequently was in charge of visual evidence for the war trials at Nuremburg.

Hungarian Red Gets Axe

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Hungarian Communist party has stripped Vice President Gyoergy Marosan of his powers in an apparent continuation of a high-level purge.

Marosan, 54, was reported jailed under the Stalinists in 1950, but bounced back into the government of the late Imre Nagy in 1956. He claimed responsibility for calling in Soviet troops to crush the 1956 revolution.

Stock Market Has Upside Edge

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market kept a slight upside edge in slow trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2.3 million shares compared with 2.02 million Friday.

Among key stocks, gains and losses were mainly fractional, although there were a few movements of a point or so.

Local Man Dies As Car Overturns

Billie Raymond Lawson, 29, Big Spring electrician, was dead on arrival at a San Angelo hospital Sunday morning following a one-car accident on US 277 south of San Angelo.

Two other men were hospitalized, and reported in fair condition at the hospital Monday morning. They were J. F. Barnes, 22, and Jessie Lee Williamson, 20, both of Big Spring.

Highway Patrolman James Nixon of San Angelo, who investigated the accident, said the driver of the car may have gone to sleep and missed a curve. Lawson was believed to have been the driver. Nixon said the accident apparently happened about 3:40 a.m. Sunday but that the injured men and the car were not found until after 6 a.m. The car went into a field and was not spotted from the highway until daylight.

Barnes had no visible injuries. Williamson had abrasions, the patrolman said, but both were believed to have suffered concussions, and were semi-conscious at the hospital.

All three men were reported to have been thrown from the car which rolled over three times, striking Lawson on one of the rolls.

All three men were employes of Caldwell Electric Co., Big Spring.

Lawson was born Nov. 15, 1932 in Big Spring. He was a veteran of the Korean war. He was not married.

Funeral services have been set for 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home chapel, with the Rev. Howard Statham, pastor of the Fourth and Galveston Street Church of God, officiating. Burial will be in the City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors are his mother, Mrs. Nannie Lawson, Big Spring; four brothers, Lewis C. Lawson, Snyder; Edward Lawson, Big Spring; Elbert Lawson and Linwood Lawson, Oakland, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Mary Franco, Big Spring.

No Berlin-Cuba Trade In Works

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department denied today that the Soviet Union had offered to ease its stand on Cuba in return for Western concessions on Berlin.

No such offer was received, State Department press officer Lincoln White told a news conference.

He was asked to comment on a news story from the United Nations which reported Soviet diplomats were spreading the word that such an offer has been made.

He said that the general U.S. position was best summed up by Secretary of State Dean Rusk Sept. 30 when he said in a television-radio interview that "you cannot support freedom in one place by surrendering freedom in another."

Snow In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — Moscow had its first snowstorm of the season today. The temperature hovered around freezing but most of the snow melted quickly.

War Criminals Are Put On Trial

COBLENZ, Germany (AP) — Trial began here today of 12 former Nazi police officials charged with murdering in the Soviet Union about 70,000 Jews, Gypsies and Russians during World War II.

Varying Reports In Yemen Battle

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Rival factions fighting for control of Yemen gave a conflicting picture today of military operations in the northern part of the little Red Sea country.

The republican regime said its troops had crushed the royalists in Sada, strategic town commanding all land routes in northern Yemen. The regime also claimed a victory in fighting for the ancient fortress of Marib, 120 miles east of Sana, the capital.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party paper Pravda claimed again today that Britain and the United States are bolstering troops fighting against the revolutionary government of Yemen.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red China and India are reported moving reinforcements to the disputed border area on India's northeast frontier where sharp fighting erupted last Wednesday.

Nuclear Blast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission has announced explosion of a low-yield nuclear device in the Semipalatinsk area of central Siberia by the Soviet Union.

Reports Buoy UF Campaign Hopes

Reports were falling into the hopper at United Fund headquarters Monday, further buoying hopes for a successful campaign.

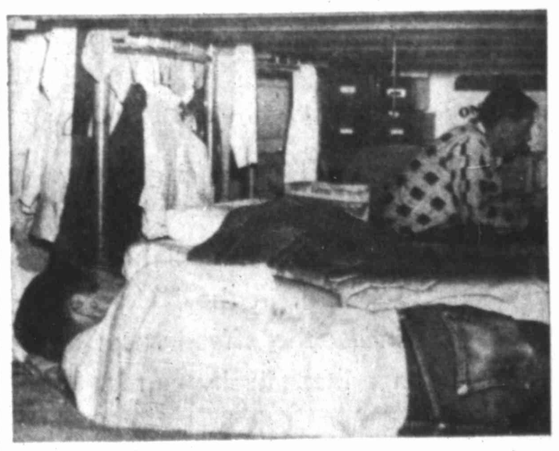

Meanwhile, other divisions were swinging into action and by midweek it looks like full steam ahead.

At Webb AFB, another division went over the top. The Weather detachment (No. 16) reported in with 110 per cent on its quota. Wing headquarters was knocking at the door and leaders expect that it will hit the 100 per cent mark soon.

Today at 7:30 p.m. workers in the Latin American section will gather at the Sacred Heart Church to get their supplies and begin canvassing. Workers among the Negro divisions are taking to the field.

Tuesday, the service station branch and the general classification in the Metropolitan Division, will kick off their contacts.

No new tabulation had been made Monday morning, but UF Office Manager Angy Glenn was hopeful that the Tuesday report would show some subtantial gains. Already the campaign has crossed the 40 per cent mark.

A Bed For The Weary

Travelers who do not have the money to pay for a place to rest find welcome relief at the clean facilities provided by the Salvation Army. With a meal and a night's rest, they can continue on their way refreshed. Services for transients make up a large part of the annual workload at the local post.

Salvation Army Has Aided Many, Numbers Mount

The Salvation Army Corps has served Big Spring since 1929 except for a three-year period when it closed in 1933. Uncounted thousands of persons, both local families and transients, have benefited from the Corps. Each year sees the number mount.

In the year ended June 30, 2,236 persons were given clothing, shoes or meals. There were 38,242 articles of clothing and 2,307 pairs of shoes distributed to local persons. Meals served transients and needy local families totaled 14,544. This kind of service, all within a budget of $29,387, could be given only with the assistance of the United Fund.

For the current year the Salvation army received $20,000 from the Fund.

SOMEBODY LOVES US; NO WONDER WHO

Puerto Rico Wants Hemisphere To Know Uncle Sam's Good Guy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Bothered, badgered and battered by his Latin cousins, Uncle Sam has one big consolation: Somebody in Spanish-speaking America loves him.

Puerto Rico, tied to the mainland since 1898, wants to demonstrate to the world, and especially to Latin America, that its association with the United States is of its own free will, that there is no longer any tinge of colonialism involved.

This little island of 2.4 million people has left its brethren in Latin America far behind in standard of living, distribution of wealth and social and economic development. It no longer considers itself underdeveloped and indeed has its own program of technical aid for its Caribbean neighbors.

Puerto Ricans expect to vote next March on whether they want statehood, commonwealth status or complete independence. They can have their choice.

Almost nobody wants independence. Two years ago the Independentistas ran into disaster in an election getting about 3 per cent of the total votes. One guess is that if they get that much in March they can consider themselves lucky.

Puerto Rico has come a tremendous distance since World War II. Its development spurted ahead when it was given the right to elect its own governor in 1948, and another push when the United States granted the island special commonwealth status in 1952. Its "Operation Bootstrap," a sort of do-it-yourself development with friendly mainland help, is regarded, in fact, as something of an economic miracle.

Since Puerto Rico already is a commonwealth, why a plebiscite?

Puerto Ricans want to nail down their relationship with the United States, to demonstrate it is their choice. The only real argument is about how close the ties shall be: The issue of statehood or commonwealth.

Commonwealth probably will win by a wide margin under the leadership of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin.

Gov. Munoz, architect of the economic development, says commonwealth status makes the island an "associated free state," subject voluntarily to U.S. federal laws, but with autonomous institutions with which the U.S. Congress cannot interfere.

Sentiment for statehood has grown over the years, however. Estadistas (Republicans) won only 83,000 votes in 1952, rose to 174,000 in 1956 and 252,000 in 1960.

Gov. Munoz contends statehood would bring economic disaster. From the standpoint of per-capita income and distribution, Puerto Rico now is better off than any Latin American nation, but the energetic 64-year-old governor says he wants the forward surge to continue.

Because of its poverty, Puerto Rico in 1900 was made an "unincorporated territory" not subject to federal income taxes and permitted to collect its own customs. These factors had much to do with attracting industry and spurring growth, although that did not get under way until after World War II. In addition, it has tariff-free access to the world's greatest market, the United States.

Gov. Munoz argues that under statehood, the tax and other advantages would vanish, new industry would be discouraged and economic development would be braked. Munoz, heading the Popular Democratic Party, says he is not against statehood, but that the island will be unready for such responsibilities and cannot afford the luxury until its standard of living reaches the level of that of the lowest in any mainland state. That could take as much as 20 years.

The Statehood Republican Party under Dr. Luis Ferre says commonwealth status leaves a stigma of colonial status. The Estadistas call Gov. Munoz names at times, but none questions his honesty. They accuse him of not giving statehood a fair chance, of failing to explain what he means by "perfecting" the commonwealth status. They contend that idea was invented to offset criticism, especially from emerging nations and from Latin America.

The Republicans say they want association with the United States to be permanent and irrevocable, that commonwealth status conceivably could be revoked.

Adjournment Begins Political Tug Of War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 87th Congress sputtered to adjournment over the weekend, signaling the beginning of a political tug of war over its record that will continue through the Nov. 6 general election.

During its longest session since 1951, Congress gave President Kennedy part of what he asked, considerably altered some of his requests, and completely blanked the administration on three major programs.

Congress supported the president on his foreign policy requests.

In addition it gave him substantially what he asked for in the Reciprocal Trade Expansion Act, aid for depressed areas, manpower retraining program, postal rate and federal employe pay increases and increased minimum wages.

OKAYED IN PART

His incentive tax exemption and strict farm production control programs were approved in part.

But Congress turned a deaf ear to administration requests for federal aid to schools and colleges, health insurance for the aged financed through higher social security taxes and establishment of a department of urban affairs.

The final week saw congress trying desperately to pass a comparatively few appropriation and authorization measures in the face of a revived prestige battle between the House and Senate.

Sunday, less than 24 hours after both houses adjourned, the Republican leaders issued a statement blasting the 87th as a congress which accomplished little and mismanaged much.

In the statement Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and his House counterpart, Charles Halleck of Indiana, placed much of the blame on Kennedy.

They said Kennedy saddled Congress with too many requests, most of which were aimed at "spending more money or concentrating more power in the federal government."

BIG SPENDER

Whatever else may be said of the 87th, it was the third largest spender in congressional history with a total of $101.3 billion appropriated for current and future fiscal years. This was exceeded only by the wartime $147 billion of 1942 and $115 billion of 1943.

Still, this year's total was about $3.8 billion less than Kennedy had asked.

Kennedy's budget message last January forecast actual expenditures this fiscal year of $92.5 billion with a surplus of $500 million. Since then the Treasury has said a deficit is probable, possibly ranging between $4 to $6 billion.

The question of House-Senate prestige was very much in evidence in the closing days.

Does the House have the exclusive right to initiate appropriations measures? The House said yes, the Senate said no.

The hassle reached a climax Friday when Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., veteran House Appropriations Committee chairman, demanded a roll call in an attempt to defeat a $205,000 survey item which the Senate had tacked onto the $5-billion public works appropriation measure.

LOST VOTE

Cannon lost the vote, but it disclosed what house leaders had tried to avert all week—lack of a quorum due to the exodus home of members anxious to get started on their election campaigns.

Leaders of both houses hammered out a compromise late Friday night. With enough members called back to Washington to enable the House to do business Saturday, it unfolded this way:

The House passed the $5-billion public works appropriation measure, but sidetracked a $550-million supplemental appropriation, which included funds for increased pensions for retired federal employes. Cannon had vowed to block the latter measure by a parliamentary maneuver.

Cannon took the floor in the closing minutes to lash Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass. Cannon called McCormack's leadership "biased and inept."

The prestige question remained unsettled. The Senate bowed to most House demands in the drive for adjournment, but served notice that it will renew its quest when the 88th Congress opens its doors next Jan. 9.

Two Nabbed As Suspects In Robbery

BELTON (AP) — Two men believed to be the same who tied up a bank president and robbed his bank were apprehended Sunday at a roadblock.

Flavis Gilbert, 47, and James E. Foster Jr., 24, both of Austin, were charged with a $200 robbery of the Coupland State Bank Saturday.

Texas Ranger Trenton Horton and Highway Patrolman H. W. Elliot of Belton arrested the pair as they forced Gregg Nolan of Taylor to drive them in his car.

Officers said the men earlier pistol whipped a Manor Negro and took his car, then robbed and beat Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Taylor outside Elgin. After they abandoned the first car, they forced Nolan at gunpoint to drive them.

Bank president C. W. Pflueger said two men entered the bank just before it closed at noon Saturday. He recognized one as an Austin advertising firm employe. The pair talked to him concerning advertising, then pulled out a gun and demanded the president open the vault.

Upon finding a cashier had locked the vault minutes earlier, the men tied up the president and ransacked the building of about $200.

Kennedy Ends Tour, Planning Another

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy catches his campaign breath for the next two days, then dashes off through eight states in another fire-building mission for 1962.

Several minutes before Kennedy's plane touched down at Washington National Airport, five fire trucks wheeled out alongside the runway.

The plane was low on hydraulic fluid used for braking, an Air Force officer said, and the pilot the airport. The fire trucks were sent out "as a super-precautionary measure," the Air Force spokesman said.

Kennedy, unruffled as he stepped off the plane, quickly entered a limousine which took him to the White House.

Kennedy landed in Washington early this morning from New York where he had summoned U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson to an hour's huddle on international objectives, after barnstorming five states on political objectives in November congressional and state elections.

Sprinting through New York, northern New Jersey, western Pennsylvania, Indianapolis, Louisville and Buffalo in the last three days, Kennedy demonstrated:

He is primarily interested in turning out a big vote on Nov. 6. He said in a television interview (ABC) that competition on the stump from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower—while Eisenhower's speeches "may not be so helpful," as he put it — will help arouse the electorate. Democrats outnumber Republicans in registration, he said, but Democrats "don't do so well" in pouring out on election day.

He is working for New Frontiersmen. He reckons on a 25 per cent defection of Democrats on crucial domestic votes. In Pittsburgh, he lumped conservative members of his party with Republicans as obstacles on key issues.

He's willing to endorse a Republican, as he did in Louisville, John Sherman Cooper, one of Kentucky's two GOP senators, rated a "distinguished" credit from Kennedy in the course of an attack on Sen. Thruston B. Morton, former Republican national chairman, and support for Wilson W. Wyatt, the Democrat challenging Morton's bid for reelection. Morton is up for reelection this year; Cooper's term runs through 1966.

Kennedy and his campaign camp were exuberant after leaving Buffalo, N.Y., Sunday. Estimates of the turnout for his appearance at the Pulaski Day celebration of Buffalo's populous Polish-American community ran over 100,000.

Kennedy told the crowd his administration holds to the goal of an independent Poland.

The West, he said, "must never . . . recognize Soviet domination of eastern Europe as permanent."

Kennedy campaigns in Connecticut on Wednesday, the western reaches over the weekend. No itinerary has been announced for Connecticut, but the remainder of the schedule goes like this:

Friday — Cleveland, Springfield Ill., Chicago.

Saturday—Milwaukee, St. Louis, Albuquerque, N.M., Las Vegas, Nev., and Seattle.

Sunday—A farewell visit to the World Fair then back to Washington.

Soviets Extend Siberian Maneuvers

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union has announced it is extending for another month military maneuvers in Siberia that have coincided with nuclear testing in the same region.

Foreign ships and planes were warned to stear clear of the Barents and Kara Seas with the warning: The area "will remain dangerous...until Nov. 10."

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia and the official army organ Krasnaya Svesda (Red Star) jointly printed the announcement but made no direct mention that further nuclear explosions were planned.

The announcement spoke only of a "joint exercise of the Soviet northern fleet, rocket troops and the air force."

Friends Went Back To Save East Berliners

BERLIN (AP) — Eight East German refugees savored their first full day of freedom in West Berlin today because two friends returned for them after making their own escape three weeks ago.

One of the four women in the group collapsed with emotion when she reached the West Sunday and was reunited with her parents. The woman had spent six months in jail for an earlier unsuccessful attempt to flee.

Names of the refugees were withheld to prevent reprisals against relatives and friends in East Germany.

The refugees told this story:

Two men, who escaped three weeks ago, decided after long discussions in a refugee center that they would try to return for their friends.

They swam a stretch of water on the border Saturday, cut through barbed wire on the east bank and went to the home of a friend. There they met three men friends, two girls and two married couples. All said they were willing to make the escape attempt.

One of the two leaders warned: "Whoever loses his nerve, screams or anything, we'll knock him unconscious and drag him with us. There's only one thing for us—to get through."

Under cover of darkness, the party made its way to the border, intending to take the route to the hole in the wire previously cut by the two men.

One of the leaders went ahead to spy out the terrain.

He found East German guards searching the area. They had discovered the hole in the wire and repaired it.

The second guide, alarmed by the delay, moved forward and hearing voices, thought his friend had been captured.

He crawled back to the others and told what happened. One of the single men in the party became alarmed and withdrew from the escape attempt.

But the first guide had not been caught. After the guard patrol moved away, he found another escape route, located the others in the party, and led them to the spot.

The group managed to escape being seen in the "death strip," a 30-yard-wide cleared area along the border where guards shoot at anything moving. Then they cut their way through three rows of barbed wire and swam to safety.

DEAR ABBY

Too Much Blubber

DEAR ABBY: Every summer my mother-in-law comes to visit us for two weeks. She is not hard to get along with but here is my complaint: She takes over my kitchen and makes "all the things Sammy likes." All year I am careful not to give Sam rich or fattening foods because he has a tendency to put on weight. (He weighs 170 now and should weigh 155.) His mother cooks with schmaltz and makes noodle dishes until I think I will scream. Sam put on 15 pounds in the two weeks she was here. He says he'll take it off, but I know he won't. I can't tell his mother to stay out of my kitchen, and Sam loves to eat that stuff. What should I do?

SAM'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: At the rate Sam is going, if he puts on 15 pounds every year, by 1970 he'll weigh 290! Tell Sam's mother if she doesn't quit killing Sam with kindness, you'll be Sam's widow.

DEAR BOY: Until 9:00 p.m. But if YOU got an A in spelling, I think your teacher is staying up too late.

DEAR ABBY: I am 10 years old and want a new bike. My father says I can have it if I save up the money for it. It costs a fortune. I get my money from my father. So why should I take the money from my father and give it to the Cycle Shop man? Why doesn't my father just give the money to the Cycle Shop man and leave me out of it?

JEFFERY M.

DEAR JEFFERY: Bceause your father wants to teach you to SAVE money. And when you've saved enough to buy the new bike, you'll really appreciate it. However, if you explain it to your Dad the way you've explained it to me, you'll probably get the bike tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: My mother is a business woman so you know she is not stupid. She is an attractive, 48-year-old divorcee. She has permitted a young man (ten years her junior) to live in her home since March. My sixteen-year-old brother lives there, too. The whole thing is probably innocent but I don't think it looks right. She is not the type you can talk to. Should I do anything?

MARRIED DAUGHTER

DEAR DAUGHTER: Yes. Talk to her. Maybe you have her "typed" wrong.

MEN PAST 40

Troubled with GETTING UP NIGHTS Pains in BACK, HIPS, LEGS Tiredness, LOSS OF VIGOR

If you are a victim of these symptoms then your troubles may be traced to Glandular Inflammation. Glandular Inflammation is a constitutional disease and medicines that merely give temporary relief cannot be expected to remove the causes of your troubles.

Neglect of Glandular Inflammation often leads to premature senility and to incurable conditions.

The past year men from 1,000 communities have been successfully treated here at Excelsior Springs. They have found soothing relief and improved health.

The Excelsior Medical Clinic, devoted to the treatment of diseases peculiar to older men, has a New FREE BOOK that tells how these troubles may be corrected by proven NON-SURGICAL TREATMENTS. This book may prove of utmost importance in your life. No obligation.

REDUCIBLE HERNIA is also amenable to a mild Non-Surgical treatment available here.

RECTAL-COLON DISORDERS Are often associated with Glandular Inflammation. Either of these disorders may be treated at the same time you are receiving treatments for Glandular Inflammation.

DEFINES A DENOMINATION

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, 2800 West Highway 80
P.O. Box 1383

The letter I am in the process of publishing makes only one statement in upholding denominations: "A denomination is an organization made up of local congregations all over the world to better carry out the Great Commission."

But, by what authority do men form such an organization? Since we do not read of any organization larger than the congregation in the Bible description of Christianity, we know that denominations are not divine in origin. They are man-made.

The Great Commission (Matt. 28:19, 20; Mark 16:15, 16) was carried out in the days of the apostles without benefit of denominations. It had been no more than one generation from the start of Christianity when Paul wrote the Colossian letter and said that the gospel had been preached to "every creature which is under heaven" (Col. 1: 23).

The Lord's organization is sufficient; and Jesus said, "Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up" (Matt. 15:13).

Visit our services; question what you see and hear; determine for yourself whether we exist as an undenominational church, doing things according to the Bible pattern. —Adv.

HELP TEENAGERS BECOME MORE GROWN-UP

A phone "for their very own," in their own room, gives them a sense of privacy and responsibility. Allows more freedom to express themselves and their ideas. Helps them with school, church and club activities. But mostly, it gives them the fun of talking with their special friends. Costs so little most youngsters could pay for it with their own money!

Who needs extension phone service most?

Families that make or receive five or more calls a day.

Families with one or more members active in school, church, civic or club work.

Families with active, popular teenagers or young adults.

If any of these conditions fit your family, the chances are you need extension phone service.

To order your personal extension phones—Princess, wall or table models, in a wide range of colors—call the telephone business office, or ask any telephone service man.

Bunn-Montilla Vows Solemnized In Rites

Miss Josephine Montilla and Glen D. Bunn exchanged nuptial vows in a double ring service performed Saturday evening at the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church. The rector, Father Francis Beazley, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Ruby Bunn Miller of Fort Worth and the late B. O. Bunn; Big Spring, and Mr. and Mrs. Jose Montilla of Manila, Philippines.

White gladioli and carnations were used with emerald fern for altar arrangements. Mrs. John Birdwell, organist, and Mr. and Mrs. Del Hartin of Garland provided a program of wedding music which included "Blessed Be This Day" by Allan Caron, "Thanks Be to God" by O'Reilly and Dickson, the processional, "Marche Nuptial" part 1, and the recessional "Marche Nuptial" part 2 by Allan Caron.

Frank Montilla, Seattle, Wash., gave his niece in marriage. She wore an original gown by Yapjece. It was fashioned of oak white Spanish lace and crystalette, formal length with a cathedral train, and fitted bodice with rolled collar and bracelet length sleeves. Her veil was secured by a headpiece of pearls, and she carried white orchids with feathered carnations and ribbons.

MRS. GLEN D. BUNN

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Billy A. Bunn, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids and matrons were Mrs. Milton L. Nanny, Monahans, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Charles White and Miss Nancy Bunn, cousins of the bridegroom, Fort Worth; Miss Sally Baber, Big Spring; Miss Nancy Williams, Stanton; Mrs. Lloyd Duncan, San Angelo; Mrs. Verdell Melton, Big Spring; and Mrs. O. L. Snodgrass, Stanton.

Their gowns were of champagne beige, and were styled with slightly flared, full length skirts, scooped necklines and cap sleeves. They wore long white gloves and carried bouquets of bronze flowers with cocoa brown streamers.

Warren Lee Cooper was honorary best man with Charles White, Fort Worth, serving as best man to the bridegroom. Ushers were Kenneth Cummings, Los Angeles, Calif.; Robert Greenwell, Monmouth, Ill.; Dr. Peter L. Hernal, and Floyd Riebold of Big Spring; Delmar Hartin, Garland; Lewis Warden, Odessa.; Michael Lowke, Texas A&M; and Bill Bunn, brother of the bridegroom.

Miss Linda Bunn and Miss Sally Bunn of Big Spring, and Miss Tanya Nanny, Monahans, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girls; Allen Bunn, a nephew, was ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Guests were received afterward at the Big Spring Country Club, by the bride's uncle, the bridegroom's mother, Billy A. Bunn, the honored couple and the bride's attendants.

Wyndell R. Bunn was in charge of the register. Others in the house party were Mrs. Peter Hernal, Mrs. Harry Davis, Mrs. Hila Weathers, Mrs. Fred Lowke, Mrs. Oletta Weaver, Mrs. Mary Strech, Mrs. Bill Adams, Mrs. Otillie Jelley, Mrs. Clifford Byrd, Mrs. Cecil Earp, Mrs. Illa Dunning, Mrs. Frank Morales, Mrs. Catherine Thompson, all of Big Spring, Mrs. Leland Nelson, Mrs. O. L. Snodgrass, Mrs. Wallace Kelly and Mrs. Margaret Teague, of Stanton.

Spread with a white satin floor length cloth, the refreshment table was appointed with silver and centered with white gladioli and carnations. The three tiered, white frosted wedding cake was topped with miniature bride and groom figurines.

WEDDING TRIP

The couple left afterward for an undisclosed destination. For travel the bride chose a parrot green, wool suit with beige accessories. She wore the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

They will return to make their home in Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Sante Tomas, Manila, Philippines and Santa Isabel College of Manila.

Bunn, a graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Christian University, served four years in the U. S. Navy and is now administrator of the Physicians Hospital and Clinic, Stanton. He was formerly personnel director for the Big Spring State Hospital. He is a member of the Big Spring Personnel and Management Association, and is youth counselor for the First Christian Church.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

Prior to the wedding, parties included a shower for the bride-elect, given in the home of Mrs. Clifford Byrd, Mrs. Elva Biffar, Mrs. Delmar Hartin and Mrs. Verdell Melton were hostesses for a personal shower, honoring the bride-elect, Friday at the home of Mrs. Biffar.

Mrs. Ruby Bunn Miller of Fort Worth entertained members of the wedding party with a rehearsal dinner and garden party at the home of Mrs. A. L. Cooper on Friday evening.

AMONG THE GUESTS

Out of town guests attending were from Fort Worth, Mt. Enterprise, Waco, Los Angeles, Calif., San Angelo, Monmouth, Ill., Garland, College Station, Abilene, Seattle, Wash., Borger, Monahans, St. Louis, Mo., Azle, Odessa and Stanton.

Regional Convention Of National Honor Society At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — School teachers belonging to Delta Kappa Gamma, a national honor society, met at Colorado City Saturday in a regional convention dedicated to the theme of "New Times Demand New Measures."

The meeting opened with a breakfast conference of chapter presidents at the Baker Hotel, followed by an initiation rehearsal at the high school. Registration, with a coffee, was held in the high school homemaking department from 9 until 9:30 a.m.

In the morning business session, seven new members were initiated. They were Mrs. Austin McCloud of Colorado City; Mrs. Willadean Wilson of Sweetwater, Mrs. Dwayne Callan of Rotan; Mrs. W. S. Bigham of Snyder; Mrs. Frank M. Miller of Snyder; Mrs. Dorothy Miller of Snyder; and Mrs. Thomas E. Critchard of Old Glory.

The initiation was conducted by Miss Eula Lee Carter of Fort Worth, assisted by Miss Phyllis Ellis, Fort Worth, Mrs. Ioma Jones, Kerrville; and Mrs. Lida Rhoades of Snyder.

Those answering the roll call of chapters included Mrs. Kitty Fitzhugh of Abilene, Miss Ora Newman of San Angelo, Mrs. Lynn Halbert of Colorado City, Mrs. V. R. Leverett of Haskell, Mrs. Ruth Knapp of Sweetwater, Miss Virginia Grove of Snyder, Miss Mima Williams, Miss Ila Griggs and Dr. Zelma Odle of Abilene.

The group also set the meeting place for next year, voting to meet at Snyder, November 11, 1963.

The afternoon session was held at a Civic House luncheon with tables decorated with ivy and queen's wreath. The head table held a container of red roses, official flower of the organization. The piano, used in sing songs, was topped with the official key and gold urn, emblem of the honor society.

Miss Ellis was the luncheon speaker.

The Abilene chapter won the attendance award and the group adjourned about 2 p.m.

Duplicate Club At Cosden Has Winners Report

The regular Sunday afternoon session of duplicate was held at the Cosden Country Club, with nine tables in play.

Those placing for north-south were Mrs. Rogers Hefley and Mrs. Riley Foster, first; Mrs. E. L. Powell and Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. Fred Kasch and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, tied for second and third; and Mrs. B. B. Badger and Mrs. Anne Hardy, fourth.

Named in east-west places were Mrs. J. D. Robertson and Mrs. J. H. Holloway, first; Mrs. Lloyd Nalls and Mrs. Fern Durham, second; Mrs. Champ Rainwater and Mrs. J. Y. Robb, third; and Mrs. John Stone and Mrs. Ben McCullough, fourth.

Cheese Suggestions

Does your family enjoy cheese? Treat them occasionally to a kind they haven't yet tasted. Here are a few suggestions: Gjetost, of Norwegian origin, has a sweet caramel-like flavor; Mozzarella, of Italian origin, is wonderfully mild and delicate in flavor; Roquefort, from France, owes its distinctive flavor to sheep's milk.

Carving Made Easy

A rump roast is easiest to carve if it is boned and rolled. Remember this if Dad is new to the carving game and apt to grumble or feel self-conscious when he is slicing and serving a roast.

Dr. Porter Returns From Phoenix, Ariz.

Dr. M. A. Porter returned Sunday from Phoenix, Ari., where he attended the Southwest Obstetrical and Gynecological Society meeting, held at the Camelback Inn.

He was accompanied there by his wife and son, Hugh, who flew on to visit in Ontario and Laguna Beach, Calif., returning to Phoenix in time to come home with Dr. Porter.

Gay Hill Food Group Reports

The Gay Hill 4-H Food Club, in session on Saturday morning, made plans for the next meeting when members will bring Christmas gift cookies they have baked for display.

Held at the home of Deanna McWhirt, the meeting included a demonstration on making apple crisp dessert, which was later served with ice cream to the five members.

Ocoee Puckett will be hostess for the next meeting Oct. 20.

Visitors Here For Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cummings, Los Angeles; Mrs. Chris Sullivan, St. Louis; and Robert Greenwell, Monmouth, Ill., were among those in Big Spring for the wedding of Josephine Montilla and Glen D. Bunn. They were among those entertained by Dr. and Mrs. Peter L. Hernal at the Officers Club, Webb AFB, honoring the couple.

Over Three Hundred Guests At Webb Event

Concluding the Open House Day, Saturday, at Webb AFB Thrift Shop, some 300 persons were reported registered for the event which was sponsored by the NCO Wives and the Officers Wives Club.

The occasion marked the first anniversary year since the shop was founded. Mrs. August Taute of Del Rio, officially opened the day by cutting the birthday cake. She and Col. Taute, commander of Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, were special guests for the day.

Among those who served as hostesses were OWC workers: Mrs. Veryl Hewitt, chairman; Mrs. Robert Daley, bookkeeper; Mrs. Thayne Thomas, Mrs. B. R. Underwood, Mrs. E. H. Wasserott, Mrs. G. R. King, Mrs. Dennis Ohlemier and Mrs. W. Huss.

Those of the NCOWC who served were Mrs. Ralph Bearup, co-chairman; Mrs. Donald Nevils, Mrs. Gene Sieja, Mrs. Arving Phillips, Mrs. R. Barker, Mrs. Nelson Robison, Mrs. William Roberts, Mrs. Eugene Yates, Mrs. Thomas Curran, Mrs. Ralph Harmon, Mrs. John Botka, Mrs. Richard Casimiro, Mrs. John Clements, Mrs. William Peterson and Mrs. Harold Dietrich.

A Devotional For The Day

I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also. (John 14:2-3.)

PRAYER: O God, give us to know that those who walk Thy way shall never be forsaken. May we be assured that in time and in eternity Thou dost go before us. So may we have thankful hearts and the grace to go forward in Thy name and for the sake of Him who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

(From The 'Upper Room')

A Singular Contribution

Effective today, the Associated Press has a new general manager to direct its affairs.

Frank Starzel has stepped out and has been replaced by Wes Gallagher, a seasoned newsman and a journalist steeped in the traditions of the Associated Press.

Accepting the great responsibility of the great news-gathering agency, Gallagher observed that "on the one hand, man is reaching for the stars and on the other he is devising methods to blow himself to bits. There is little security but there are no dull moments. I can think of no era in history which offers greater challenge, more demands and greater excitement to the newsman . . . We will discharge this responsibility of recording history in the greatest tradition of the world's greatest cooperative news service. By so doing, the men and women of the staff and the members of The Associated Press can make a real contribution to an understanding of our times."

This is the sort of thing that Frank Starzel has been doing so splendidly for the past 14 years. A crisp, penetrating and efficient executive, Starzel has been first of all a newsman.

Putting the right man at the right spot at the right time in a world-wide organization calls for all the skill of a master organist in the news symphony. Pile on top of this the necessity of producing the best possible domestic report, one as objective and as accurate as human hands and minds can forge and the achievement is all the more amazing. Put on top of that the unbelievable technological changes of recent years and with them the attendant pressures of cost, then the contribution of Frank Starzel in shaping a news service equal to the times is such that it commands profound admiration and thanks.

Might Help Some Others

A 17-year-old New Jersey youth who was caught showing how fast the family car would go will have a lot of second thoughts before he tries anything like that again. His zest for speeding is almost certain to be dampened by visions of what happens to drivers and passengers when two cars smash together at high speed.

Such visions were more or less assured when the magistrate who heard the case offered the youth a choice of 30 days in jail or a couple of nights observing admissions to the emergency ward of a hospital. It may be argued that this is unfair shock treatment.

Indeed, the jolt of seeing bloody accident victims would be a good thing for a lot of drivers. And not all of them teenagers, either.

Sticky Problem With No Easy Solution

WASHINGTON — The stinging nettle that is Cuba, only 90 miles off America's shores, has stirred up in this campaign year an emotional charge greater than any other issue. That Moscow has been able to establish a Communist-style dictatorship, complete with Soviet weapons and military technicians, right on our doorstep is for most Americans both infuriating and frustrating.

But what to do about it is another matter with the prescriptions running from "let them collapse of their own inefficiency and discord" to naval blockade and armed attack. And with just about every mistake having been made, beginning with long before the Batista dictatorship fell to Fidel Castro and his bearded mountaineers, most of the prescriptions seem to compound the mess.

FOR SEVERAL reasons the Kennedy Administration has thus far said no to the demand for military intervention. One obvious reason is that such action would be sternly rejected in most of Latin America. Any chance that the Alliance for Progress might succeed would almost certainly be foreclosed.

Another reason is the conviction that Premier Khrushchev would use the uproar over a Cuban invasion as a distraction covering a new move on Berlin. This is a conviction widely shared by America's European allies who are fearful of some rash action that could set off a new Suez-Hungary-type crisis.

STILL A THIRD reason, which may be compelling, is what military intervention would involve, first, for the United States and, second for the Cuban people. No one today harbors any illusions that the job could be done with a division or so of Marines. The White House estimate is that it would take seven divisions at least.

But that would be only the beginning. Whatever the degree of loyalty among the 200,000 Cuban militia and the civilian population—some on-the-spot observers have put it at 25 per cent—continued guerrilla resistance to a regime imposed by American arms would be certain. American forces subject to unrelenting underground resistance would have to occupy the country for several years. Even with a prolonged occupation the odds would be against a stable government with popular acceptance.

IT IS HERE, where the future of the long-suffering Cuban people is the primary consideration, that every step taken seems to create new divisions and new torments. Presumably by the time these words are in print the ransom of the 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners will have been completed. By sanctioning this operation the President will have paid a debt of conscience to the survivors of that tragic miscalculation and their families.

ALREADY, HOWEVER, a reaction of shock and dismay has been reported from Cuba and from the mass of refugees in Florida. What about the 50,000 or more political prisoners held in jails and concentration camps and suffering the same hardships as the Bay of Pigs prisoners? How can you discriminate in favor of a few and leave the great bulk to endure indefinitely a cruel fate? The Administration answer, of course, is that freeing the military prisoners was a manageable operation while similar action on a large scale could not be undertaken for the large number of political prisoners.

Another question arises out of the ransom operation. Cubans are asking whether it does not further confirm the claim of Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council in April of 1961, to be the chosen instrument of the Kennedy Administration in restoring free government to Cuba. He will certainly claim credit for it. But he is accused by other exile groups of having lost touch with the realities of Castro's Cuba.

MOST AMERICANS want to know what this country can do about a Communist dictatorship directed by Russians and Chinese in Cuba. The Administration is clamping stringent rules on the ships of Western nations to try to stop the flow of goods to Cuba and further reduce the country to hardship and economic chaos. These measures, unpopular with certain of America's allies, are of limited effectiveness.

Recently a high-ranking officer of Castro's militia left the country secretly and came to Washington to ask for weapons and other assistance for a planned uprising within the militia. Through contacts here the request was put up to a high level in the Administration. The answer that came back was a firm no.

DOES THIS MEAN, Cubans are asking, that Washington no longer believes Cubans themselves have any chance of overthrowing their dictator? Or does it mean that certain types in the Pentagon are convinced that direct American intervention is inevitable and therefore they prefer to wait for that moment to come? In any event, the militia officers returned to Cuba by an underground route bitterly disillusioned.

High officials in this government believe hard-core Communists directing the Cuban regime might like to see an American invasion which would muddy the world situation. They could bring it about by staging an attack on the American base at Guantanamo Bay. That is only party of the peril casting such a lurid light over the Cuba-American relationship.

Puerto Rico: Example For Alliance Program

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Less than a generation ago in Washington, Puerto Rico's situation was considered hopeless, next to impossible.

Today Latin Americans sit up and take notice of the little fellow of the Caribbean. He has left them far behind in terms of wealth distribution and per capita income.

The onetime "poorhouse of America" is booming. And its ascent, lifting it out of the ranks of undeveloped areas, was a matter of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

"Operation Bootstrap," Gov. Luis Munoz Marin told me, "was a means of life, of attacking poverty. Operation Commonwealth was a means of insuring liberty. Operation Serenidad (serenity) was the pursuit of happiness, of finding ways of catching up with it."

Operation Bootstrap did the job. Operation Commonwealth, marking a status granted Puerto Rico 10 years ago by the United States, gave the island a boost out of the category of colonial status. Operation Serenidad is the search for means of enjoying the achievements.

During World War II a liquor shortage on the mainland put Puerto Rican rum in major demand and brought a $160-million windfall to the island. "That was our Alliance for Progress," the governor says.

The money was invested in development. Then, after the war, Puerto Rico was granted the right to elect its own governor. In 1952, it got commonwealth status.

"That was the beginning of our revolution without bullets," said Munoz.

After a trial-and-error period in which the government invested in industry, plants were sold to private investors. What once was a hand-to-mouth agrarian economy, in an island almost barren of natural resources, became gradually diversified.

A big help was Puerto Rico's exemption from U. S. federal income taxes. Any industry which came to the island got freedom from taxation for 10 years. If it located in a particularly undeveloped area of the island, it got a 13-year break.

In addition, the Korean War with its accompanying stateside labor shortage gave added incentive to industries to locate in Puerto Rico.

Tourism was encouraged. In the 1940s, a hotel built by the government on a gamble by Teodoro Moscoso—now U.S. Alliance for Progress chief—was called "Moscoso's Folly." It paid off. Last year tourism brought $66 million.

The administration stressed honesty and political stability, encouraged training of industrial personnel, raised local aspirations, instilled a feeling of local self respect and a stake in the economy and government.

Once Puerto Rico had a problem common to much of Latin America: Lack of skilled people because of an aversion of educated men to working with their hands. Puerto Ricans changed that by providing adequate rewards.

Lights And Roses

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Nero, the Roman emperor, spent up to $150,000 for roses alone at one of his famous feasts. But a guy like that probably goes around the palace after the banquet turning off lights to save money.

Toothsome rumor: It is said that a new pill to be on the market shortly will make brushing your teeth unnecessary. (You never really know freedom in life until you reach the age where you can mail your teeth to the dentist for his pain-free, semi-annual checkup.)

Speaking of dentists, the best known one in history was probably Zane Grey, who helped make the West meet the East. But when he was an unknown author first trying to peddle his cowboy stories, a publisher told him he had absolutely no talent for writing popular fiction.

Our girls go places. The U.S. department that knows about such things says that 55 per cent of the passports it issues go to the ladies, and 28 per cent are housewives. A woman's place is in the home—when she isn't going other places.

Our quotable notables: "A few people who achieve fame grow—most of them swell."—Woodrow Wilson.

Personal philanthropy: If you don't give at least 50 presents a year to other people, you're stingier than your average neighbor.

What has more keys than a bank? A piano. It looks smooth and simple, but it has 7,500 parts—more than an automobile.

Odd legislation: I hear that tying a giraffe to a street light is illegal in Atlanta, Ga. (Our liberties are gnawed away one by one.)

Forgotten heroes: Victor Orville, credited with inventing the crossword puzzle, did so to help pass the time while he was a penitentiary inmate. Beneath his name on his tombstone the diagram of a crossword is carved — to be filled out later.

Dieters beware: Don't take a bath just before a meal. It stimulates your appetite.

The fastidious East: Did you know that Hindu cooks are required to put on a fresh set of clothing whenever they enter their kitchens?

Things we hope we never have to climb to fix a burned-out light bulb: "The world's longest staircase is in the Aura power plant in Norway...Built of wood, it rises 2,450 feet and has 3,715 steps.

Tidbits: Female ankles are getting bigger...Some kangaroos live in trees...Some fish build nests... Only one in eight Americans snores—The other seven stay awake and listen.

It was Henry David Thoreau who observed, "The boy gathers materials for a temple, and then when he is 30 concludes to build a woodshed."

Fallout-Mania Can Be Overemphasized

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Frankly, I was somewhat hesitant about printing today's letter, for fear of alarming nervous people. Then on second thought, I decided to go ahead on grounds that the whole truth doesn't hurt, and anyway there's no point in coddling ourselves and pushing unpleasant topics into the background.

The letter, from a woman who was graduated from an excellent medical school a decade ago, but now is a housewife and mother, writes:

"We are electing to remove the one constant source of radio-active strontium, etc., from our children's diet with the knowledge that it may be so negligible as to mean nothing, but it may lessen their statistical chances of having blood or bone malignancy 40 or 50 years from now.

"We no longer serve them milk to drink. The occasional cheese, ice cream, and the universal use of milk additives we are ignoring. The children otherwise have a well-balanced diet.—S. M. A."

I'm disturbed to have such a highly - trained persons take this attitude. What's been said about radioactive fallout has been overdone—or let's say that it has been over-interpreted.

Members of my staff tell me that if there was a 1,000-fold increase in radioactive fallout, and we lived in it for, oh, maybe 100 years, we might have some ill effects.

Therefore, while it's well for us to know about fallout, I see no logical reason for being so terrified by such a tiny amount.

In any case, why attack milk? There is radioactivity from fallout in meat, in vegetables, in fruit. The reason for the emphasis may be that we HAVE figures on the radioactivity in milk from week to week. It is a handy food to study. It is not as feasible to kill cattle once a week to test the radioactivity, although this has been done on occasion.

We do, of course, keep a continuing check on the radioactivity of major rivers, but for some reason we never hear anybody talking about not drinking water. See what I'm getting at?

I have however, been told that I should watch the type of fertilizer I use in my own backyard vegetable garden, which is certainly about the height of the ridiculous.

Naturally I am horrified to speculate on the consequences of nuclear war but that is quite a different thing from such fallout as we have or ever will encounter in peacetime.

I can't find any reason to worry about the amount of radioactivity in our food. I am particularly upset when this fallout-mania singles out such a valuable food as milk and deprives children of it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I get migraine headaches and have been using an ergot compound with good results, but can't help worrying about after-effects.—E. C.

Continued, frequent use of ergot can predispose to ergotism, or ergot poisoning, but the doses must be large as well as continuous.

With migraines, only a moderate dose is required, and it is intermittent, so you are worrying needlessly. I do not know of any instance of ergot poisoning from use of the various compounds for migraines.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is 'thyroid heart' and should a person with it be allowed to smoke? —M. C. D.

"Thyroid heart" is a heart disease caused by an overactive thyroid gland. It causes extreme nervousness, rapid heart beat, shortness of breath. The condition is corrected by treating the thyroid disorder. Smoking should not be allowed. Excessive coffee or other stimulants should be avoided, too.

Around The Rim

A Korean Girl Looks At The U.S.

A young Korean adult visiting in this country says Americans wear their shoes too much.

She should see our adults of all ages kick off their shoes after reaching home following work in the summer time. We probably go barefooted more around the scatter than do the Japanese, who at least don't doff their sox when they reach their own doors.

THE KOREAN lass also was impressed by the lack of people on the streets even in our metropolitan areas—nothing can be hotter than the floors of the canyons in some great city at high noon.

Americans are already being taught that the people of the world may run out of living space but the young woman from the Far East, Chung Ii Sook, said she was truly amazed by the tremendous amount of elbow room in this country—did she ever try getting camping space in one of our National parks during the vacation months?

MISS CHUNG pointed out that her native country is about the size of the state of Kansas, but has a population of about 32,000,000.

The untidiness of American cities and thoroughfares also proved a disappointment to Ii Sook. She professed not to understand the average traveler's lack of pride in the highway scenery when he drives along—he often desecrates the countryside by lowering his window and tossing out scraps of waste which he expects other people to pick up.

THE KOREANS, she said, differ from the Americans in their extreme interest in their own family. The average Yank, she found, couldn't be too concerned.

Ii Sook said that in Korea it was a practice to respect one's parents. The eldest son in her native land finds it very natural to care for his parents, implying that that isn't always the case in this country.

THE CO-EDUCATION colleges and public schools to be found in the U. S. were a never-ending source of amazement to the Korean girl. In her land, the schools cease to educate the children together after they attain the equivalent of junior high school.

Pull A Machiavelli Out Of The Hat

The international situation is fraught, all right, which no one will deny. And while this pillar offers no final solutions, it would like to offer a thought for the day.

It is just possible that the Cuban situation, which troubles Americans so deeply, is on the point of solution if the U. S. Government and lofty-minded civilians can be restrained from doleful clucking and head-shaking for an interim.

It all boils down to the fact that the leaders of the International Longshoremen's Association, bypassing the State Department, have declared war on Cuba. While Uncle Sam continues to try to formulate a program that will prevent the ships of so-called friendly nations from carrying Communist war material to Cuba, the longshoremen have already taken effective action.

AS A STARTER, longshoremen in Jersey City, a muscular neighborhood to reckon with, refused to load the Greek-flag freighter President Hoffman (a former American Liberty ship) when she steamed into port after delivering a cargo of Communist supplies to Cuba. Consequently, the ship sailed without a load of scrap iron she was supposed to carry to Italy.

It is the plan of the officers of the ILA, whose membership is regarded as overwhelmingly anti-Communist, to ask its rank and file, none of whom have ever been even momentarily confused with cookie pushers, to endorse and continue the forthright policy of the Jersey bouncers.

SUCH ACTION WOULD, of course, implement the shipping policy the government is trying to devise and would relieve it of the "embarrassment" of even putting into effect a program of its own. Washington would thus avoid treading on the toes of our allies. It could let George, i.e., the ILA, a proven toe-treader of awesome talents, do the job.

Granted that this is an unorthodox solution, nonetheless all the orthodoxy the government has brought so far to bear on the Cuban situation has solved nothing. Why not try a new wrinkle? We have nothing to lose.

THE NEW YORK TIMES has already decried the action of the ILA as a usurpation of power in the field of foreign policy. But since unions have proved that they have the power to affect large segments of domestic policy, why not let them have a fling at foreign affairs? Why, at this stage in the Cuban situation, be choosey about Machiavellis?

Furthermore, I would like to suggest that James Hoffa be drafted and put in charge of the whole ILA program vis-a-vis Cuba. I realize that Hoffa is not associated with the Longshoremen and that its leadership might resent the interference of the Teamster boss. Hoffa, as this country and the Justice Department knows, is a six-minute egg. He is a constant irritant to the U. S. body politic. The blood pressure of most of his fellow citizens does an imitation of Old Faithful at the mere mention of his name.

HOFFA, WITH THE TOUGH thugs and ex-cons he apparently favors as cohorts, is the ideal choice to lead a crusade against Castro's Cuba. There is no sweeter thought than that of Hoffa and Castro locked in negotiations. How richly they deserve each other! And in any betting on the outcome, my money is on Hoffa.

Such an imaginative approach might lead to Hoffa-Khrushchev negotiations and BAM! There would go the Communist ball game! There is only one drawback. That would leave the U. S. Government face to face with Hoffa—

Management Can Win

WASHINGTON, D. C. —The United States is at war against itself—in Mississippi, of course, but also on the Labor-Management front where not a day passes without the clash of Americans vs. Americans in strikes.

For reasons not necessary to examine here, the Administration in power is generally against the community, as was true at Little Rock and at Oxford under Presidents of different parties, and the reigning Administration usually is against Management in Labor strikes. Communities do not have the heart to put up organized resistance against Federal troops, for that would be insurrection, but Management of late has realized that it can and must fight back even when the unions have the tacit or neutralistic support of Washington.

There were 3,367 strikes in President Kennedy's first year of office, much less than the 5,117 in President Truman's last year, but nobody doubts that industrial warfare will rage throughout the Sixties, and that Management in most cases will have to practice self-defense.

The Yale & Towne Company in Philadelphia dug in and outlasted a five-month strike, winning last January a new three-year contract which corrected a feather-bedding system that otherwise would have ruined the company.

MOST FIRMS WILL not tell what goes on in their war councils. Yale & Twone, courageously in my opinion, has made a policy decision to lift the executive curtain and to tell a trusted reporter, A. N. Wecksler, Washington editor of Mill & Factory magazine, how the company whipped the union. This is how:

THE FIRST requirement is the will-to-win. Most companies naturally believe that right is on their side, but it must be backed by a resolve to fight within the rules of a decent regard for public opinion and to take punishment, if necessary, both financial and physical.

Paul A. Hartwig, general manager of the Yale & Towne's Philadelphia division, determined to keep the plant open during the strike and to protect the salaried (non-union) employes whom he asked to continue at work. Hartwig was roughed up on the first day, but he continued daily thereafter to buck his way through the picket line, and the morale of his co-workers responded accordingly. The company spared no expense or trouble in backing up its loyalists among the 800 salary-earners. When a caterer refused to cross the picket line to supply a Christmas dinner, food was smuggled in, and top management served it. The firm developed a magnetic broom to pick up nails strewn by the strikers; it ran a roving tire truck to fix flats on the spot; it promptly paid all damages and hospital charges caused by strike conditions; it let women workers off before darkness in the winter months; it substituted its own guards for the missing police protection; it rented a helicopter to overfly blocked areas.

A STRIKE IS A WAR of nerves. A communications system of walkie - talkies, and the use of code words, enabled the company to move its patrols (armed only with heavy gloves and flashlights) to trouble spots. The gimlet eye of conscience was fixed upon the strikers by means of still cameras and motion picture cameras which recorded acts of violence. These pictures and other documentary materials were fed both to the courts, and to civic leaders of all description, in a constant drumfire of truthful propaganda. The company scorned appeasement by refusing to debate with union spokesmen, letting the actions speak for themselves.

Victory was the outcome of this company's determined battle which, at one time, saw a demonstration of 200,000 workers as other unions threatened a city-wide strike. Peace, when it came, was based upon a correction of the wrongs which had caused the company to resist. By a close vote of 431 to 423 the striking workers agreed they were beaten. The new pact was ratified by a wide 2 to 1 margin, and the battle ended.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Proposed new regulations governing clinical testing of drugs include one provision that should be stricken before the revision goes into effect on Oct. 18. This is a provision that "neither the sponsor nor any person acting for or on behalf of the sponsor shall disseminate any labeling, advertising, public relations statements, or news releases, representing the drug to be safe or useful for the purposes for which it is offered for investigation."

On its face, the new section would appear to preclude discussion of new drugs at scientific meetings and the reporting of these discussions and papers in professional or general media. The anxieties aroused by the premature release of some drugs recently are understandable. The desirability of more careful checking before clearance is self-evident. Neither of these ends seem to require the censorship of scientific conferences, the control of medical opinion or the suppression of reporting on new discoveries. Society has been menaced by lax administration and poor laws in the past; it can also be menaced by a bureaucracy possessing the power not only to defer the introduction of new drugs, but the power to keep the public from even knowing of their existence. —WASHINGTON POST

TV Teaching In India

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's only television station recently stepped up its power to 5,000 watts and is now serving 50,000 high school students in the capital area.

Under a grant from the Ford Foundation, All India Radio is telecasting chemistry, physics, English and Hindi lectures to students in the ninth and 10th grades in Delhi. The lectures and demonstrations are taped by Indian teachers in advance.

The program began in October 1961 with 144 schools taking part. As of September 1962, 379 sets were functioning in 189 schools. Extension of the program to Bombay and other cities is envisioned.

There are no plans in India at present for any other TV stations except educational ones.

DAG HAMMARSKJOLD, late secretary-general of the United Nations, receives philatelic tribute from the United States on a new 4-cent stamp to be issued on Oct. 23. The stamp will go on sale in New York City with first day ceremonies to be conducted by the United Nations, U. S. Department of State and the Post Office Department. Featured on the stamp is a portrait of Hammarskjold with the United Nations building in the back-ground. Hammarskjold was secretary-general of the United Nations from March 31, 1953, until his death on Sept. 18, 1961, in an airplane crash in Northern Rhodesia while on a mission to effect a cease fire between U. N. and Katangan forces in the Congo.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations of the Hammarskjold stamp may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance covering the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, New York, N. Y. The outside envelope to the Postmaster should be clearly marked "First Day Covers Hammarskjold Stamp."

Collectors are reminded that cover requests must be postmarked not later than October 23.

Plane Crash Takes 4 Lives

AMARILLO (AP)—The crash of a rented plane early Sunday took the lives of four Amarillo Air Force Base personnel.

The Department of Public Safety identified the pilot as Marvin T. Bell, 27, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin G. Bell of Roanoke, Va.

Passengers were Jack D. Eldridge, 19; James B. Sullivan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sullivan of Juliet, Tenn.; and Perry L. Cook, 33, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linford H. Cook of Truth or Consequences, N.M.

The Amarillo Municipal Airport last heard from the white and gold Mooney Mark 21 when it took off about 11 p.m. Saturday.

The wreckage was sighted Sunday in a plowed field about two miles south of here. Maj. Cecil Ingram of Amarillo in a Civil Air Patrol plane made the discovery.

Cutting torches had to be used to remove the bodies from the plane's smashed cabin.

Woman Leaves To Visit Son In Soviet Union

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A 74-year-old Little Rock woman left by plane for Russia Sunday to visit a son she hasn't seen in more than 50 years.

Mrs. Frank Lukly said she came to the United States in 1912 to marry Frank Lukly and left her 10-year-old son by a former marriage with her father.

Mrs. Lukly lost contact with her family in the Russian revolution and World War I.

She said she learned more than a year ago through a friend's relatives that her son, Brosi Belman, was a civil engineer at Odessa on the Black Sea.

Cuba Blockade Coming, Says Congressman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara stressed the seriousness of the Berlin situation at a recent secret House committee meeting but did not say war is imminent, a Defense Department spokesman said today.

Rep. James Van Zandt, R-Pa., at a news conference at Hazleton, Pa., Sunday night, quoted McNamara as having said that war over Berlin is imminent.

The Pentagon spokesman said the defense secretary discussed the Berlin situation in a closed-door session with the House Armed Services Committee, of which Van Zandt is a member.

While declining to say specifically what McNamara told the committee, the spokesman said McNamara stressed the seriousness of the situation.

The spokesman indicated that McNamara did not go beyond what he has said in public recently—"that the crisis we face today in connection with Berlin, I believe to be the most serious that we have faced since the end of the Korean War."

The Defense Department had no comment on Van Zandt's remarks about Cuba. The congressman expressed belief that President Kennedy is about to impose a blockade on that country.

"Our naval forces will intercept ships carrying supplies to Cuba," Van Zandt said.

Coin Show Ends Successfully With Auction Sale

The Big Spring Coin Club's first coin show, which ended Sunday afternoon with a successful auction sale, was termed a complete success by the club members.

Plans are to stage the second show next year and Bill Kenney, general show chairman, said the dealers who were here all told him they would be back in 1963 if the club sponsored a second show.

The club members said the exhibits were better than anticipated and that the public had been generous in its support.

The show ran Friday through Sunday. It was presented in the ball room and on the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel.

Five Prisoners To Huntsville

Sheriff Miller Harris and Deputy Wes Patton are en route to Huntsville today with five prisoners ordered committeed to the state penitentiary.

Three of the convicts are from this county and two from Martin County.

Harris is taking Matilde Valles, under eight year sentence for indecent exposure, and Jimmy D. Hancock, two years for forgery, to the prison as a courtesy to Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders.

The three Howard County men are Ernest Henry Jr., 18 months, James Lee Stepehens, 4 years, and David Mendoza Campos, 5 years. These were ordered removed to prison when their probated sentences were ordered set aside last week.

Y Committee To Consider Festival

The Southwest Area Sports Festival conducted by YMCA's will be the topic of discussion at a monthly meeting of the physical committee at noon Tuesday at the Y.

The Big Spring Y is trying to get the festival here this year. It would attract about 1,200 persons, Joe Leach, physical director of the Y, said. The affair is held during the first part of April. Frosty Robinson will preside at the meeting.

Eire's Elderly Chief Still Has Goal To Gain

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—President Eamon de Valera—American-born father of a country—was 80 Sunday with his work not done.

Typical of this tall, gaunt, almost blind Irish patriot, he spent the day quietly and without official ceremony.

At 80, Dev can look back on a life in which there's been no deviation or compromise. And the British still hold the north; the English language still encroaches on the Gaelic.

Despite his bad eyesight and age, he's remarkably vigorous and in excellent health.

He has nearly four more years of his seven-year term of office to complete.

Over the years he's changed very little.

His hair is still plentiful... He still wears those long black coats ...The eyes that are almost sightless still look tense and brooding ...And those clumsy blue serge suits, draped on his muscular frame of six foot three inches, give the impression of a man walking stiffly and aloofly on stilts.

Since he gave up an active life in the hurly-burly of Irish party politics, he has confined his public appearances mainly to social and religious functions.

Dev arrived in Ireland from New York at age two. His mother was Irish, his father Spanish.

His grandmother died when he was 13.

"When she died," said Dev, "I had to take myself in hand. I think I have directed myself ever since."

But, as no one will deny, he's also directed Ireland, carrying on the old fight to unite the 6 counties of Northern Ireland that are British-ruled with the 26 in the south that are as Irish as Dev. Very, very Irish.

Judge Must Rule On Wheat Protest

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court directed U.S. Dist. Judge Whitfield Davidson of Dallas today to rule on an Oklahoma farmer's protest against a civil penalty for asserted overplanting of wheat.

Evetts Haley Jr., of Sequoyah County, Okla., was assessed a $506 penalty for planting 43 acres of wheat when his quota under the Agricultural Adjustment Act was zero.

The case has been the subject of a three-year legal debate. In 1959 the Supreme Court told Davidson he was wrong in ruling against the penalty. Davidson said he thought the Supreme Court had been misled in the litigation and he again ruled in favor of Haley.

The Justice Department took the case to the Supreme Court again, contending that Judge Davidson had declared the marketing act unconstitutional as applied to Haley. Haley's wheat was fed to his livestock.

In reply to the Justice Department, Judge Davidson said his opinion had not held the act unconstitutional. The opinion referred to Haley's contention that the act was illegally administered in his case.

The Supreme Court, in an unsigned opinion, tried today to clear the whole thing up by asserting that the 1959 ruling held the act constitutional as applied to the complaint against Haley.

The high court said that Davidson's action "evidently rested on a misconception of the scope and effect" of the 1959 decree. It then directed that Judge Davidson's "error should be rectified without delay."

It told him to decide on Haley's defense alleging illegal administration of the act. It said that if his defense is found insufficient a final judgment in favor of the United States should be entered at once.

If Haley's defense is found good, the Supreme Court said, judgment should be entered at once for him.

Justice Goldberg took no part in today's ruling.

While the Justice Department appeal was pending, former President Eisenhower defended farmers who grow crops for use on their own farms. In a statement, issued in connection with a matter other than the court case, Eisenhower said:

"In my opinion, even if it would not be an invasion of constitutional rights to prevent a man by law from growing for his own exclusive use on his land whatever and how much he wishes, it would at least be deplorable public policy."

Jingle Bell Time For C-C Tuesday

Preparations for the Christmas Season get into full swing at the Chamber of Commerce during a meeting of the retail committee Tuesday at 10 a.m.

Included are the annual visit by Santa, Christmas decorations for the city and preparations for shopping and sales. A. J. Prager, board coordinator, will head the meeting.

Policeman Has Light Heart Attack

Police Patrolman Travis Steele was taken to Cowper Clinic and Hospital at 9:30 p.m. Sunday after he suffered an apparent heart attack. Steele was on the radio dispatcher's desk at the police station when the attack occurred.

He was reported to have suffered only a light attack and was doing well Monday morning.

Choir To Meet

The Community Choral Group meets today at 7:30 p.m. instead of Tuesday, according to Guy Chapman, because of a conflict with the civic concert. The meeting place is the High School choral room.

City Council To Convene In Tuesday Called Meet

City commissioners will meet in called session at 7 a.m. Tuesday to consider requests for zoning deviations and for sewer plant modifications. They also will bring up three ordinances for final reading.

One request will be from Malone and Hogan Clinic-Hospital Foundation for permission to construct a tunnel, seven feet wide and eight feet high, under Ninth street to connect their proposed new clinic building and the present hospital building. The purpose, as proposed, would be to facilitate transportation of patients from the clinic to the hospital without crossing the street, and without exposing them to the elements. No utility lines are under the area.

An appeal has been made by Morris Clanton, from rulings by the Planning and Zoning Commission after three separate hearings, to have six blocks in the Rice Addition changed from 1F-2 to general residence zoning to permit trailer parking. The Planning and Zoning Commission, following three public hearings on the same request, denied the change on the basis of resident-citizen objection and on the fact that the change would not up-grade the area.

The third and final reading will be considered on three ordinances changing zones. These are: Marshal Fields, southwest corner of Birdwell Lane and Marcy, from 1F-2 residential to retail; the west one-half of the Brennand residence block, between Lancaster and Bell and between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, from 1F-2 residential to multifamily, and three lots at the northwest corner of Fifth and Austin from 1F-2 to commercial.

One request for modification of sludge collection equipment at the old sewer plant, and another for authorization for a contract change order, will be considered. The requests are from Forrest and Cotton, consulting engineers.

Damage Suit May Be Tried

A damage suit, growing out of an accident in which two Big Spring women died two years ago was slated to begin in 118th District Court today. A jury panel was to report to the court this afternoon.

The case is presently styled J. K. Mathews versus Herbert L. Stewart et al.

Originally both Mathews and Stewart filed actions for damages. Last week, the two cases were consolidated under the designation listed above. However, it was said that it is possible the matter will be changed again before it goes to the jury for a verdict.

The case is an aftermath to a collision occurring Dec. 4, 1960, on the Snyder highway. The two women who died were Mrs. Mildred Forgus and Mrs. Herbert Lee Stewart. They were in one vehicle and Mathews, identified at the time as a salesman working out of Enid, Okla., was in the second.

Three other cases were announced ready Monday morning when Judge Caton sounded his docket.

Second to go to trial, set tentatively for Thursday, is a suit brought by Cosden Petroleum Corp. against M. O. Hamby. This is a damage suit in which the corporation seeks to recover damages from Hamby for gasoline allegedly taken without Cosden consent.

Third case is styled Frank Escabado and is a suit for compensation.

Last case slated this week is William H. Bethell vs Dudley Allen Gullett, a suit for damages.

Multiple Deaths Hike Weekend Toll

By The Associated Press

A four-death plane crash and a multiple drowning helped boost the weekend violent death toll to 29 in Texas. Traffic crashes claimed 14 lives.

The Associated Press began its tabulation of weekend violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday and ended it at midnight Sunday.

Danny Trinkle, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Trinkle of Wichita Falls, drowned in Lake Wichita Sunday. His body was found floating in about three feet of water.

Test Delayed

HONOLULU (AP) — Unfavorable weather at Johnston Island forced a 24-hour postponement of the United States' high-altitude nuclear test Sunday night.

No Incidents As Meredith Resumes Study

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Negro James H. Meredith started his third week of classes at the University of Mississippi today without incident.

The 29-year-old Meredith, a slightly-bulit Air Force veteran, returned to the campus Sunday night after a weekend away. He went immediately to his two-room apartment in Baxter Hall, accompanied by 10 federal marshals and two Justice Department attorneys.

Some 3,000 soldiers remain on the Oxford campus and in the vicinity. They are the last of 23,600 troops sent here to quell bloody rioting that erupted the night of Sept. 30 when Meredith arrived at Ole Miss. Two people died in the riots.

Meanwhile, in New Orleans the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals is expected to decide sometime this week whether to fine or imprison Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett for his actions in the Ole Miss desegregation case. The court said it wanted to decide the state of Mississippi's challenge to jurisdiction in the contempt proceedings and asked that briefs be submitted by today.

The tribunal already has found Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson Jr. guilty of civil contempt for their role in blocking Meredith's entrance to Ole Miss three times. The court delayed imposing sentence to give the two a chance to purge themselves.

Barnett faces possible imprisonment plus a $10,000 a day fine. Johnson could draw a $5,000 daily fine.

In Baltimore, Medgar Evers of Jackson, Miss., a field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "things are beginning to soften" for Meredith.

Evers told an NAACP rally that more white students at Ole Miss are sitting and talking with Meredith.

"This, in Mississippi, takes real courage," said Evers.

Gamma Peril Bigger Than Anticipated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The intensity of potentially dangerous gamma rays in interplanetary space probably is as much as 10 times higher than had been anticipated, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

The agency based its new estimate on analysis of data from instruments aboard the Ranger III lunar spacecraft launched last Jan. 26.

NASA said the gamma ray measurements were scientifically important but of no significance for current manned spacecraft, and there is no indication of a need for greater radiation protection aboard U.S. spacecraft.

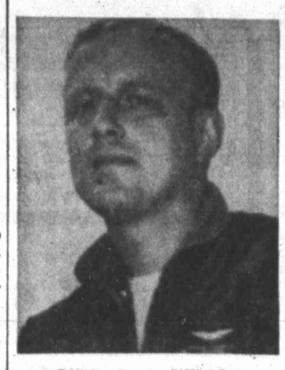

Later this week, possibly Tuesday, Ranger V will be launched in an attempt to take television pictures of the moon and land an instrument package on the moon's surface.

Ranger IV, launched April 23, hit the moon after a 64-hour flight. Ranger III, designed to land an instrument capsule on the moon and to take television pictures of the approach to the moon missed its lunar target and went into orbit around the sun instead.

Gamma rays, a form of electromagnetic radiation, are similar to X-rays but of shorter wave length. They are emitted by certain radioactive elements. They also are produced artificially in nuclear reactors and atomic explosions.

Water Projects

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Small irrigation projects valued at $4,240,000 are to be completed during 1962 and 1963 in several places.

CAPT. T. A. NELSON

Nelson Pilot Of The Month

Capt. Thomas A. Nelson was selected as Pilot of the Month for the 331st for the month of September. Capt. Nelson was selected for his score of 48 out of a possible 46 points under the squadron's incentive program. Under the incentive program, bonus points can be awarded, which accounts for Capt. Nelson having exceeded the top standard in points.

Capt. Nelson has a total of 2,217 flying hours of which 1,851 are in the F102-A. He is currently an instructor pilot in the F-TF-102A and is a qualified expert interceptor pilot. Capt. Nelson has flown the F-86D and is currently flying the T-33 and F-102A aircraft.

Capt. Nelson lives with his wife, Sally, and three - year - old son, Bradley, at 112 Gunter St., Webb Air Force Base.

Eleanor Reported Feeling Better

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was reported feeling distinctly better today at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center where she has been confined since Sept. 26 with a lung infection.

Her temperature, which had been running a little high over the weekend, has dropped, a hospital bulletin said.

Shirer To Speak At Texas Tech

LUBBOCK — William L. Shirer, noted author of "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," will be presented in a lecture Thursday at Texas Tech.

Sponsored by the Tech Student Union, the lecture will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Topic of his speech will be "Secrets of the Third Reich."

Welfare Check

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., says that the Welfare Department plans a nationwide check on possible cheaters in the program of aid to dependent children.

Police Have Crazy Mixed-Up Weekend

Big Spring police had their hands full investigating vandalism, thefts, disturbances and a variety of other complaints during the weekend.

Police arrested two men at the Black Cat Lounge after Ernesto Longorial reported a man had a gun. One man was charged with carrying a prohibited weapon, the other with drunkenness. A girl was arrested at the L&M Cafe, 410 N. Bell, and charged as a minor being in possession of alcoholic beverage. Police Chief Jay Banks and Liquor Control Board Agent Bill Flynn picked up a man for disturbance at a Cafe, 809 W. Third. One other disturbance came when a man, who had sought to get into the VA Hospital, told officers he had been beaned with a blackjack. Police learned two things—he was tipsy and he had been thrown out of a cafe.

The First Presbyterian Church experienced two incidents of vandalism. Someone rifled desk drawers and broke eggs on the floor. They, or someone else, broke into the safe and did about $100 damage to the carpet in the office. Houses at 209 and 211 Utah Road were smeared with paint and damaged by water turned on in the interior.

A house belonging to Dr. Earl Burnett at 1606 Lexington was stripped of drapes and rugs valued at $200. Thieves prized off a drink machine at the Humble Station at 1301 Gregg.

Three boys were reported running cars off the road, and speeders were reported making a raceway of Lynn Street. Officers checked into a report that small boys pushed a girl into a pond. J. A. McGee, 707 Douglas, complained a car door had been slammed on his hand, breaking bones, and he desired to file a complaint.

The worst mix-up of a confused weekend concerned a man and woman, obviously too far in their cups. They first got into a fight with another woman. Later they were reputed to have used blistering language on a waitress, who told police the woman had a pistol in her purse. The last report police had, they had just left another cafe and bar at 1:19 a.m. Today officers were tracking them down.

Grace Officials Due Here Today

Officials of the W. R. Grace & Co. nitrogen products division are due here Monday afternoon in preparation for formal dedication of the company's ammonia facility here Wednesday.

Big Spring groups will hold an informal reception Tuesday evening in honor of the visiting officials, and Wednesday morning's dedication will be followed by a tour of the plant and luncheon at Cosden Country Club.

The ammonia plant utilizes air and natural gas in a process involving some novel refinements. It is designed to turn out 70,000 tons of high-nitrogen fertilizer per year.

Trial Postponed For McClelland

HOUSTON (AP)—Trial of former Probate Judge Clem McClelland and insuranceman Jerry O'Brien on three charges of conversion of estate funds was postponed today.

Judge Edmund Duggan granted a continuance after Bernard Golding, O'Brien's lawyer, said his client was too ill to stand trial.

McClelland and O'Brien were indicted jointly, so McClelland's case automatically was continued in each instance.

McClelland has been named in 11 indictments, the last returned last week. He faces trial in Belton Nov. 12.

Mother Dies With Children

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — A mother who swam beneath an overturned boat to comfort her trapped children perished with them Sunday.

The children were caught under the boat as it overturned in choppy Corpus Christi Bay. Eight adults, including Mrs. Bob Garden, 22, were thrown clear.

Witnesses said Mrs. Garden swam under the boat to see if Tamara Kay, 3, and Salena Marie, 2, were safe and to help them. They said she stayed there, knocking on the hull periodically to let the others know they were still alive.

A passing boat rescued the seven adults. Fowler said the boat tried to tow the 15-foot capsized boat to shore but its motor was not powerful enough. It sped to shore and Coast Guard and Naval Air Station personnel brought the boat to shore and the bodies were found inside.

Also surviving are two other children, one year and three weeks old, who were at home.

Rocket-Firing Helicopters Used Against Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Rocket-firing U.S. Army helicopters were used for the first time as an offensive weapon against Communist guerrillas during the weekend, an informed source said today.

Three of the turbine - powered machines were seen carrying out a blistering strike Sunday against a Viet Cong stronghold 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

The 'copter carries 16 rockets and several machineguns — more firepower than any World War II fighter plane.

The role of the new craft is primarily to escort the lightly armed troop-carrying helicopters and to soften up objective areas with heavy firepower.

A high - level policy decision made them the first American aircraft to be authorized to attack the Viet Cong directly.

In the past, U. S. personnel have been under orders not to fire on the Viet Cong except in self-defense. The 'copters carry no national insignia or other marking. All are flown and maintained by U.S. Army men.

Targets are designated by Vietnamese officers.

OIL NEWS

Spraberry Extension Seen In S'west Dawson Strike

Standard No. 1 N. T. O'Brien, Spraberry wildcat, indicates more extensive Spraberry production in the southwest portion of Dawson County. It gauged 72 barrels of new oil from that formation over the weekend, with 40 barrels registered in the past 24 hours.

The venture is about three-fourths mile northwest of a lone Spraberry discovery, but there are several Spraberry producers in the general area.

In Garza County, Ralph Fair No. 1 Justice Estate noted a strong blow, but no oil shows, on tests of an unreported formation between 7,500-541 feet. Operator is now drilling ahead.

Dawson

Roden Oil and Maguire No. 1 Adcock is drilling below 4,072 feet in anhydrite. It spots 2,173 feet from the south and 1,650 feet from the west lines of section 31-35-6n, T&P survey.

Standard No. 1 O'Brien recovered 72 barrels of new oil over the weekend from Spraberry perforations between 8,391-417 feet. On the latest 24-hour gauge return was 40 barrels of new oil and 12 barrels of water. The site is C NE NE, section 13-266, Kent CSL survey.

Garza

Fair No. 1 Justice Estate, C SE SW SW, section 18-6, H&GN survey, is digging through lime and chert below 7,800 feet after making drillstem No. five on an unreported section between 7,500-541 feet. Tool was open two hours and 20 minutes with a strong blow decreasing to slight at the end of the test. Recovery was 5,600 feet of salt water. Initial shutin pressure was 3,200 pounds and final shutin pressure was 2,875 pounds. Flow pressures were 60 pounds and 2,750 pounds.

Glasscock

Eisner No. 1 Clark Estate, C NW NW, section 42-35-4s, T&P survey, is making hole below 7,050 feet in lime.

Howard

Texaco No. 1 Guitar Estate, C SW SW, section 12-A, Bauer and Cockrell survey, is bottomed at 9,280 feet and is shut in preparing to move in swabbing unit.

Martin

Mobil No. 1 Donham, C NW NW, section 33-35-3n, T&P survey, recovered six barrels of new oil and 38 barrels of salt water in 24 hours from the Spraberry, between 7,562-8,010 feet. The explorer is in the northeast part of the county.

Pan American No. 1 Humble-Wolcott is making below 11,756 feet. Location is 1,851 feet from the west and 606 feet from the north lines of league 250, Hartley CSL survey.

Sterling

Chase No. 1 Morgan, Wichita-Albany explorer about two miles southwest of Sterling City, has been plugged and abandoned at 4,305 feet. The operator tested the formation from 2,960-92 feet and recovered 120 feet of water-cut mud, 1,080 feet of salty sulphur water and 1,300 feet of gas-cut salty sulphur water. The zone was topped at 2,966 feet from an elevation of 2,384 feet. The hole is C SW SW SW, section 1-T, T&P survey.

Sixth Tilt Of World Series Slated Today

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The oft-delayed sixth game of the World Series between New York and San Francisco "positively" was to be played at noon today with the Yankees' Whitey Ford facing the Giants' Billy Pierce.

The weatherman promised good weather.

The veteran left-hander had been primed since last Friday but the worst October storm to lash the Bay area in 58 years forced Commissioner Ford Frick to postpone the game Sunday for the third straight day. The sky was sunny, but the playing field still was soggy.

A sellout crowd of some 44,000 was expected to attend what may be the World Series finale. The Yankees, leading in games, three to two needed one more triumph to post their 20th championship since they won their first in 1923.

Both pitchers were well rested, Pierce, who has never lost in Candlestick Park, winning all 12 decisions, had not pitched since he was beaten in the third series game, at Yankee Stadium, last Sunday.

FORD TO GO

Ford, winner of five straight series games, including a 6-2 triumph here in the opener, last appeared on the mound a week ago when the Giants evened the series at two-all with a 7-3 victory. Ford left after six innings with the score tied at 2-2 and was not charged with the loss.

Manager Ralph Houk of the Yankees went with the same lineup he employed in all but the second game, when first baseman Bill Skowron and catcher Ellie Howard were sidelined because of injuries. Manager Alvin Dark made one change, switching from Tom Haller to Ed Bailey behind the plate. Each is a left-handed batter.

Dark reiterated that Jack Sanford, his right-handed ace,would pitch the seventh game, if one was needed. Houk said he was still undecided between Ralph Terry and Bill Stafford. Terry outpitched Sanford in the fifth game, and Stafford beat Pierce in the third. Sanford won the second from Terry.

The two teams, bored and physically stiff from four days of inactivity, journeyed by bus Sunday to Modesto, 90 miles away, and worked out for two hours at Del Webb Stadium.

Modesto, a rich dairy and farm community (pop. 36,000), somehow managed to escape most of the heavy rainfalls that drenched northern California. Some 5,000 spectators overflowed the stadium named after the Yankee co-owner, who was reared in Modesto, and applauded enthusiastically.

Big One Comes Up Saturday And Title May Ride On It

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference's big game of the year—Texas vs. Arkansas — comes up for the fourth straight time Saturday night at Austin.

For three campaigns now this battle has been the most decisive of the season. It led to a triple tie for the championship in 1959, and it led to a tie between Texas and Arkansas for the title last year.

Now Texas and Arkansas come up to the big one with unbeaten, untied records through four games and each rated among the top 10 of the nation. No wonder then that the game has been sold out for weeks and extra seats are being put in to handle a throng of 65,000.

Arkansas will be trying for the championship or a share of it for the fourth season in a row. Texas will be after the same thing, only covering three of the four seasons.

Arkansas took over the conference lead last Saturday when it beat off surging Baylor for a 28-21 triumph. Texas won its third intersectional test with a 9-6 victory over Oklahoma, having to rely on defense and kicking to do it.

Arkansas has a 2-0 conference record while Texas and Texas A&M are 1-0 and tied for second. Rice and Southern Methodist haven't yet played a conference game but they'll do so when they meet each other at Dallas Saturday.

Texas Christian, which walloped Texas Tech 35-13 last week, is 1-1 while Baylor is 0-1 and Texas Tech is 0-3.

It's all-out conference play this week with Texas A&M and Texas Christian tangling at College Station and Baylor and Texas Tech jousting at Waco.

The conference's intersectional record went heavily into the red with games last week. While Texas managed to beat Oklahoma, Texas A&M took a 42-6 drubbing from Florida and Rice was battered 31-12 by Oregon.

Royal Sure Of Only One Thing: Hold That Ticket

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Darrell Royal of Texas isn't sure his team can beat Arkansas Saturday night in the Southwest Conference's big game but he's positive about one thing.

"Anybody who has a ticket for this one better hold onto it," he declared. "This is going to be a great game. It's going to have everything you might want in football. I may not enjoy it but I certainly wouldn't miss it for the world."

Royal realized that this game could decide the championship although there still will be plenty of crucial contests to play.

Texas and Arkansas, who tied for the title last season, reach their battle this year with undefeated, untied records and both rated among the top teams of the country.

Royal was frank in saying he didn't think his team was as good as last season when it lost only to Texas Christian in an upset and went on to beat Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl.

But he did think that Arkansas was. "This Arkansas team reminds me of Texas of 1961," he said "We miss Saxton."

Royal also thought his team lacked speed, something he said Arkansas had plenty of.

"Arkansas is a great looking outfit, much better than last year," said Royal. "I don't think we'll score much because we don't throw the ball. Arkansas though has a fantastic passing attack."

Cincinnati Faces N. Texas For Lead

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati takes on a big North Texas State team at Denton Saturday in a game the Bearcats must win to stay on top with Tulsa in Missouri Valley Conference football and set up a title game with the Hurricane Nov. 3 in Cincinnati.

Glenn Dobbs watched his prototype passing game reach its peak in Tulsa's 34-0 romp past North Texas in the Valley opener for both clubs. Cincy had an open date last week.

North Texas has a 232-pound line and had permitted only four touchdowns in its first three games before the Tulsa debacle. Odus Mitchell will have the Eagles on the rebound Saturday, after a frustrating game in which four lost fumbles played a part in their troubles.

Louisville plays at Tulsa and Wichita at Drake in the other Games involving valley teams.

Week's Schedule

Only Goliad Ninth grade is idle this week on the grid front. Other games scheduled include:

THURSDAY — Runnels Eighth versus Big Spring Lakeview 6 p.m.; Goliad Eighth Versus Snyder Travis here at 7:30 p.m.; Runnels Ninth versus Snyder Travis there 7:30 p.m.;

FRIDAY—Big Spring High versus Odessa High, here 8 p.m.

SATURDAY—Big Spring B versus Midland High B at 2 p.m. here.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

Punting a football is an art hard to come by.

Big Spring High School has had many fine punters but relatively few outstanding ones down through the years.

A good punter is as invaluable to a football team as a good blocker. Maybe two. A boy who can put an expert toe into the ball, kick it high, far down field and away from safety men can win his share of games for a team.

Three of the top kickers in Big Spring football history were Granville (Red) Coots, active here in the late '20's; Itasca (Tack) Dennis of the 1931 team, imported from Oklahoma to play the one season; and Harold (Lefty) Bethell, who played here shortly before World War II and who still resides here.

Coots kicked the ball high enough that his ends had time to get downfield and draw straws to see who was going to make the tackle. The opposition knew better than to ever play him shallow.

Dennis was a fine all-around player but his forte was putting his foot into the football. He could, and sometimes did, punt with either foot. One of his kicks against Sweetwater, which sailed 70 yards into the wind over safetyman Mike Hicks' head, is still talked about around here.

Bethell perhaps never got the distance out of his portside boots that Coots and Dennis did but he probably was the most accurate of the three. His specialty was slicing the ball out of bounds inside the five-yard line. Few enemy safety men got to run the ball back on him.

Jack Graves, the U. S. marshal who was present when Gen. Edwin Walker was arrested in the recent unrest in Oxford, Miss., was quite a football player here in the late '40's.

He played end on some of the elevens coached by Pat Murphy, now the assistant superintendent of schools here.

Jack is a brother to Good Graves, the former star guard of the Steers, later a coach and now a school principal at Hart, up near Plainview.

Eddie Kriby, who played halfback for Snyder against Big Spring earlier this season, has been advised by his doctor to give up football for the rest of the year.

He suffered torn ligaments in his knee in the Levelland game the week prior to the Tigers' outing with Big Spring. He aggravated the limb in a recent game against Kermit to the extent that he had to use crutches.

Kirby carried the ball four times against Big Spring and gained five yards.

The playoff for the National (baseball) league flag between the Los Angeles Dodgers and the San Francisco Giants attracted 99,000 customers, at an average of $3 a ticket. Each club collected around $145,000.

Los Angeles actually profited more from the playoff than he would have from the World Series, Horace Stoneham, the Giant boss of course, profited from both.

Incidentally, Maury Wills, the base thief of the Dodgers, recently cut a record called "Bye, Bye, Blues."

U. S. To Bid For Games

CHICAGO (AP) — Delegates from five cities will present cases today before the U.S. Olympic Committee's board of directors in a bid for the 1968 Olympic summer games.

Representatives from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit, Philadelphia and Portland will have separate sessions of not more than 45 minutes before the board in behalf of their cities.

Lake Placid, N.Y., and Salt Lake City will submit bids for the 1968 Winter Games.

A final decision will then be made in October 1963 with other bids expected from Vienna, Mexico City, Lausanne and Buenos Aires.

The last time the summer games were held in the U.S. was in 1932 when Los Angeles was the host.

Tech Jinxed With Its Quarterbacks

LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Tech is sure having tough luck with its quarterbacks.

The second to be lost for the season came Saturday night when Johnny Lovelace suffered a broken foot in the game with Texas Christian.

Previously sophomore Jim Ellis was sidelined for the year with an injury.

Juniors Richard Mahan and Doug Cannon remain to carry on.

PAT PIGOT DIES

Triumph And Tragedy Rule Sports Cars Grand Prix

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—Triumph and tragedy, frequent companions in auto racing, were united again Sunday in the 200 mile Grand Prix for sports cars.

The triumph belonged to Roger Penske, a slightly built sales engineer from Philadelphia, who won the 77-lap event before a crowd of 76,400 at Riverside Raceway.

The tragedy struck Paul J. (Pat) Pigott Jr., son of a millionaire and stepson of Director John A. McCone of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency. Pigott's Lotus 23 spun out on the 68th lap and slammed into a metal retaining wall. He died three hours later.

Pigott, 37, was the first driver to lose his life in the five-year history of this race.

The 25-year-old Penske, who finished fourth here last year, drove a specially built Zerez-Duralite with a Coventry Climax motor. He led in 56 of the 77 laps. The victory brought him $9,250, plus a new car.

He said he never did open up his motor all the way.

Neverhteless, he averaged 95.6 miles per hour, fastest in the history of the race.

Pigott had to be cut from the wreckage of his car. He was taken to nearby March Air Force Base hospital. Death apparently resulted from internal injuries.

Only a small part of the crowd saw the fatal crash. Pigott's wife, Virginia, was in the pits. She was hospitalized later in a state of shock.

The couple had three children.

Packers Show They Can Go Minus Paul Hornung

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers ably demonstrated they can get the job done even without the services of Paul Hornung, but it's doubtful the Washington Redskins would still be riding high were it not for their clutch combo of Norm Snead and Bobby Mitchell.

Hornung, the National Football League's scoring leader and an all-around star for the defending champion Packers, was forced to sit out the second half of the Packers' 48-21 victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday, but Snead and Mitchell were all present and accounted for in St. Louis.

The two live-wires of the still-unbeaten 'Skins provided the clutch plays that helped Washington gain a 17-17 tie with the St. Louis Cardinals and keep first place in the Eastern Conference. Snead's 36-yard pass to Mitchell set up Bobby Khayat's 29-yard field goal with only 13 seconds to play.

The tie enabled the amazing 'Skins to run their record to three victories and two ties. The Pittsburgh Steelers upset New York 20-17 and tied the Giants for second place, each with a 3-2 record.

With its easy victory over the winless Vikings, Green Bay stayed ahead of the Detroit Lions, who took a 13-10 decision over Los Angeles. Green Bay is 5-0, Detroit 4-1.

In other Sunday action, Baltimore surprised the Cleveland Browns 36-14 as Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown passes; the San Francisco 49ers won their third straight, beating Chicago 34-27; and the Dallas Cowboys showed some of their new offensive power in beating Philadelphia 41-19.

Hornung suffered a twisted right knee after scoring Green Bay's first TD against the Vikings Sunday. But he was hardly missed as quarterback Bart Starr took over the controls and tossed touchdown passes of 15 and 55 yards to Max McGee and another of 18 yards to Boyd Dowler.

SKIN OF TEETH

Is Bama Next To Be Knocked Off?

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is Alabama, the proud defending national college football champion, headed for a downfall?

For two weeks in a row the Crimson Tide, now boasting a record of 15 consecutive victories, has had to struggle to overcome its opposition. Last Saturday, Alabama staggered past Houston, 14-3. The week before, Bear Bryant's outfit scored an unimpressive 17-7 decision over Vanderbilt —a team that has managed to score just 13 points in losing all four of its games.

Worse yet, by comparison, Mississippi, Alabama's No. 1 rival for the tough Southeastern Conference title, clobbered Houston, 40-7, just nine days ago. Alabama and Mississippi don't meet during the regular season.

TIDE VS. TENNESSEE

Alabama, No. 1 in the current Associated Press weekly poll, meets Tennessee this week. The Vols have lost all three games and on the record should present no problem.

Mississippi, No. 5 in the country, had an open date last Saturday and this week meets Tulane. Louisiana State, No. 6, and another threat for the SEC crown, knocked Miami from the unbeaten ranks 17-3, and next plays Kentucky. It's just possible that the LSU-Ole Miss game on Nov. 3 could settle the league race.

Meanwhile, the run for the Eastern championship has been thrown into a state of merry confusion with Army's 9-6 victory over Penn State, ranked No. 3 in the nation.

Before the game, the Nittany Lions had a big jump in the run for the Eastern title on the strength of their impressive victories over Navy, Air Force Academy and Rice.

Army plays Virginia Tech this week in a breather, while Penn State runs up against tough Syracuse in an attempt to regain some of its lost prestige.

But perhaps the most surprising team in the country is Miami of Ohio, which does most of its business in the Mid-American Conference. The Redskins defeated ninth-ranked Purdue, one of the toughies from the Big Ten, 10-7, last Saturday.

Next Miami goes back into its own backyard and plays Ohio U., while shocked Purdue takes on Michigan.

Second-ranked Texas, the favorite for the Southwest Conference championship, also could be in for trouble. The Longhorns did nothing to up their prestige in a narrow 9-6 victory over Oklahoma that ran their record to 4-0. Now they run into a hornet's nest in Arkansas this week. The free-wheeling Razorbacks also are 4-0, and have scored 146 points along the way. They are ranked No. 8 and polished off Baylor 28-21 Saturday.

Ohio State, which toppled all the way from first to tenth in the poll last week after being beaten by UCLA, took its wrath out on Illinois with a 51-15 pasting. The Buckeyes play Northwestern, which could be a problem this week. Northwestern's high scoring Wildcats won their third straight, toppling Minnesota 34-22.

On the West Coast, Southern California, favorite for the Big Six title, took the day off. The Trojans are No. 4. Seventh-ranked Washington barely edged Oregon State, 14-13.

West Virginia became another giant-killer by downing Pitt, 15-8. Georgia Tech, driving to regain a national ranking, shut out Tennessee, 17-0; Duke throttled California, 21-7; and Texas Christian remained in the Southwest Conference race with a 35-13 triumph over Texas Tech.

Casper Grabs First Money

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—One of golf's friendliest competitors, Billy Casper Jr., planned today to deposit $9,400 in the bank and perhaps later indulge in one of his favorite pastimes, fishing.

The 31-year-old Casper grabbed the top money in the $40,000 Bakersfield Open Sunday with a 5-under-par final round.

He followed a spectacular third-round 65 Saturday with a 67 Sunday for a 72-hole total of 272. That was 16 shots under par and four strokes in front of his nearest challenger.

Casper and personable Tony Lema started out all even Sunday morning. The Californian from Apple Valley pretty well settled the issue when he birdied two of the first three holes, the first coming on a 5-foot putt on the second and a 20-footer on the third.

He was never seriously threatened after that.

Lema, who had won the Sahara Invitational at Las Vegas two weeks before, shot a 71 for 276, and Jacky Cupit's 70 gave him 277.

Mason Rudolph, and Dave Hill each with 72's, tied at 279, one stroke in front of Bob McCallister and Dave Marr.

The scene, with many of the pros heading elsewhere, shifts this week to the $25,000 Ontario Open in Southern California.

KEEPING TAB ON THE STEERS

Dickie Spier has taken the lead among the major Steer ball carriers with a 5.7 yard average per carry. Two others have higher averages but they have carried relatively few times.

Ricky Wisener has boosted his passing yardage and now has three TD heaves. Among receivers, Eddy Nelson leads with three TD catches. Eric Nichols has a 3.29 average in punting.

NO ONE MAN SHOW

Pete Pedro On Bench, But Jerry Logan Propels Buffs

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — When West Texas State beat a team like Arizona State University with the fellow who's called the finest runner in Texas football history sitting on the bench, it convinced the fans and even the coaches that the school has a top football team.

Pete Pedro, the star from Lynn, Mass., who leads the nation's colleges in rushing, wasn't used a down Saturday night as West Texas won its fifth straight with a 15-14 decision over hitherto unbeaten Arizona State.

Pedro suffered a strained leg muscle the previous week and coach Joe Kerbel wasn't going to take a chance on him.

But West Texas won and showed it is not a one-man team, but that it is an outstanding team that's likely to go through the season undefeated.

Jerry Logan is gaining about as much fame as Pedro, since he leads the nation in scoring with 81 points and has booted 25 extra points out of 27, 20 of them in a row. And there are others almost like him on a well-balanced team.

Not that Pedro doesn't make it stronger, since he can break open any game at most any time.

Blair Cherry, former coach of University of Texas, watched the Texas-Oklahoma game at Dallas Saturday and observed:

"There's not a man on the field today who can carry Pete's shirt."

Hustle appears to be the secret of the team's success, along with some top-notch football players that make the hustle pay off. It has averaged 40.8 points per game in beating the Trinity (Tex.), Texas Tech, Texas Western, Arlington State and Arizona State.

Ahead are New Mexico State, which West Texas plays here next Saturday, Arizona, Bowling Green, North Texas State and Hardin-Simmons.

Pedro is due to be back in shape for the game with New Mexico State, when he will duel Preacher Pilot, another noted runner. West Texas probably could do pretty well without him, although it certainly doesn't want to.

Blanda Back In Form As Oilers Clobber Titans

By The Associated Press

The Houston Oilers are back in their accustomed spot, first place in the American Football League's eastern division, and George Blanda is back—period.

Blanda, the seemingly ageless Oilers' quarterback who has led them to two straight AFL championships threw six touchdown passes Sunday as Houston routed the sagging New York Titans 56-17.

It was old hat for Blanda though for he's been a spark ever since taking over the helm for Houston in 1960. But more important the feat sent Houston in front in the eastern division getting the edge on Boston, a 27-7 loser Friday night to the Dallas Texans.

In the only other AFL game Sunday, Denver kept its western division-leading pace, riding Gene Mingo's 17-points to a 23-6 victory over Oakland.

Blanda, who has now thrown 14 TD passes for the Oilers this year, hit Bill Groman for 12 and 54 yards, Bob McLeod with two others of 25 and 10 yards, one of 13 yards to Dave Smith and another to Charlie Hennigan for 20 yards.

Dick Christy's 58-yard punt return, Ed Cooke's recovery of a fumbled punt in the end zone and Bill Shockley's 40-yard field goal got the Titans' points. New York is now 2-4.

Lamar Tech Is Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

It's all-out championship play this week in the hectic Lone Star Conference football race with the unbeaten leaders—Lamar Tech and Southwest Texas—facing each other at Beaumont.

Southwest Texas slammed Stephen F. Austin 40-7 last week while Lamar Tech was walloping Sul Ross 28-14 and each ran its record to 2-0 in the conference campaign.

Lamar Tech is the only undefeated, untied team in season play while Southwest Texas has lost one—to independent McMurry.

In other conference games Saturday night Sam Houston State plays Texas A&I at Kingsville and Howard Payne and East Texas State get together at Commerce.

A&I, which beat Corpus Christi 27-6 last week, and Sam Houston, which edged East Texas 15-14, are undefeated in the conference but have a tie on their records.

Howard Payne downed Texas Lutheran 14-7 last week for the Yellow Jackets' first victory of the season.

Jones, Marcums Couples Winners

Sixteen couples took part in the husband and wife tournament held Sunday afternoon at the Big Spring Country Club.

Gil and Betty Jones captured honors with 162 low gross, while Carl and Mickey Marcum had the low net for the day with 142.

Other low gross winners were Jasper and Madeline Atkins with 168, W. E. and Edith Ramsey 171, and Howard and Mog Schwarzenbach 173.

The other low net winners were Bill and Gloria Edwards (they tied with the Atkins in score but lost on the toss), Sam and Curt Thurman 145, Jim and Harriett Zike 145.

Odessa Has Heavy Team

Fresh from their first conference victory, the Big Spring Steers face a still sharper test here Friday when Odessa High comes to town.

Odessa sticks to bread-and-butter football, depending on its brawn and strength to muscle down the field. With Howell, a 195-fullback carrying the brunt, and bulky line anchored by 220 and 246-pound tackles, the Broncs pulverized Abilene Cooper last Friday.

Coach Don Robbins and staff were pleased with the fire and quickness of their team against Midland Lee, particularly in the first half. Midland adjusted to the Big Spring defense with telling results for a brief time, but the Steers fought them off.

The backs, headed by Rickey Wisener, played their best game of the season against Lee. The line, sharp at times, did not measure up to the game they played at Wichita Falls. Robbins is hopeful that both will play at top form Friday.

Sunday coaches projected film on the Friday night game and pointed out mistakes. Since Odessa uses somewhat the same defense as Big Spring, much of this week's work (achievement and aptitude tests at high school may reduce some practice time) will deal with ways to get around Odessa's heft.

Brown Doubts Nixon Claim Against Presidential Aims

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown refused to accept Richard M. Nixon's statement that he would not be a candidate for President in 1964.

"I just don't believe Mr. Nixon when he says that," Brown told a nationwide radio-television audience Sunday on "Meet the Press."

Nixon declared on the same program a week before that he would not be a favorite son candidate in California's 1964 presidential primary and would not, under any circumstances, accept a draft.

Brown said Nixon has issued challenges for a face-to-face television debate in the last three weeks when, Brown added, Nixon "knows he is behind." Brown said his Republican gubernatorial opponent wanted to arrange the appearances "on his own terms" so that "he could indulge in personalities that he can do so well."

In reply to questions, Brown said he is not making an issue out of the 1956 loan of $205,000 by Hughes Tool Co. to Nixon's brother Donald while Nixon was vice president.

Nixon has accused Brown and "his hatchetmen" of a smear in raising questions about the transaction. The Republican candidate has said he had nothing to do with the loan.

"I'm not Mr. Nixon's conscience," Brown said.

"I think this is a matter between Mr. Nixon and the people of this state, represented through the press, and I don't intend to get into it."

On further prodding by the television panelists, Brown said "I won't say that it's not an issue in the campaign, but I'll say it's an issue that I don't intend to make."

The governor said Nixon is "trying . . . to put me in a position where I will attack him, and I have no intention of doing that."

Oracle Foresees A Hard Winter

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — The famed, and, yes, sometimes fickle oracle of the Pennsylvania Dutch country has spoken again, predicting a long, bitter winter.

Just off the press and ready for distribution today, the 138th edition of the John Baer's Agricultural Almanac gives cold comfort to most of the country from November to April. Its predictions are for a seldom-broken season of cold waves, storms and snowballs.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

THE WORLD WE LIVE IN

BY THE EDITORS OF LIFE

Books that Spur Imagination, Broaden Knowledge

Through special arrangement with the Editors of LIFE, Safeway offers you and your family an unprecedented bargain in great reading. LIFE has adapted its huge, best-selling book THE WORLD WE LIVE IN into a Special Family Edition consisting of three library volumes! These books are the outgrowth of the most acclaimed and widely-read series of articles ever to appear in LIFE.

Here is the exciting story of Earth's natural history. Here you will see and have clearly explained how mountains, valleys, oceans and continents came to be . . . you will take in all the incredible diversity of plants and animals from two billion years ago to today and come to understand how and why they evolved as they did . . . you will marvel at the look of forests, seas, deserts, skies, frozen wastelands, and the starry universe and gain a perception of the part they play in Nature's plan.

THE WORLD WE LIVE IN series represents over a million dollars of investment in time, talent and production. Each new volume is large (8½" x 11") and is printed on fine quality book paper. Each volume is 100 or more pages long, with beautiful, informative illustrations on nearly every page (most in full color) and over 30,000 words. For this series the Editors of LIFE sent photographer-writer-artist expeditions into every conceivable area of the world. Top scientific authorities were called into repeated consultation on every phase—planning and advance research alone required two years. Artists and illustrators reproduced scenes never before looked upon by man. Lincoln Barnett, one of the most lucid of contemporary science writers, turned this wealth of scientific material into an absorbing and beautifully told story.

Will be Read and Re-Read by the Entire Family

For yourself and for your children—especially those whose minds are just beginning to awaken to the excitement of learning—the Special Family Edition of THE WORLD WE LIVE IN will be a tremendous addition to your home bookshelves. These are books that answer endless questions—those that young children love to ask—those that come up in school—those that adults ponder over when they discuss the physical nature of the world. They are books whose pictures make clear and understandable phenomena you've always wondered about. They are books you will be proud to own—books you and your family will turn to again and again and again . . . for entertainment and for reference.

Ordinarily, you would expect to pay a great deal more for books of the scope and beauty and value of THE WORLD WE LIVE IN! But with the material already available and the economy of large scale distribution through Safeway's hundreds of stores, we are able to offer these volumes at great savings to our customers so you and your family are the beneficiaries.

Wind Topples College Steeple

The steeple of Cambell Hall at Oregon College of Education, Monmouth, Ore., falls in the high wind that swept the West Coast, breaking down buildings, towers, trees and signs, and disrupting communications. Photographer Wes Luchau made this picture as the steeple toppled before 90-mile-an-hour gusts. There was no one in the classroom building. A plate on the building indicates it was built in 1882.

West Germany Assured U. S. To Stand In Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has assured West Germany that it is determined to maintain the right of civilian as well as military access to West Berlin against any new Soviet attempt to isolate the city.

U.S. policy on this point is understood to have been stated emphatically to West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder, who began strategy talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk here Sunday.

Schroeder will be followed to Washington Nov. 7 by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer who wants to discuss the Berlin situation with President Kennedy in advance of a possible Kennedy meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev concerning Berlin.

NEW ACTION

Kennedy, Rusk and other Western leaders believe that Khrushchev is planning some new action which may precipitate a fresh Berlin crisis before the end of the year. American officials see a 50-50 chance that before taking any decisive step, however, the Soviet leader may come to the U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York and also confer with Kennedy in the hope of winning Western concessions on Berlin.

If the Russians do launch an intensified campaign against the Western position in Berlin, the point of attack may well be the surface and air lifeline across East Germany linking the city with West Germany. The U.S. policy decision on civilian right of access, therefore, is considered of vital importance, for it implies that this country and its allies have decided they will not tolerate Communist blockade measures.

Western diplomats say it is expected that the East Germans will shortly institute some regulation requiring regular diplomatic visas for civilians crossing East German territory to the Western sector of Berlin. This could be construed as a bid for a greater degree of Western recognition of East German authority over the supply line.

OCCUPATION RIGHT

The United States, Britain and France maintain their position in Berlin and their access to the city as a right of occupation resulting from World War II.

In the past the right of access has sometimes been narrowly interpreted as meaning only the right to supply the military forces but not to secure and safeguard civilian traffic. Kennedy administration officials say that, whatever views may have been held in former years, such a narrow interpretation no longer makes sense and the occupation powers have the duty not only to protect West Berlin but to provide for the economic health of its 2¼-million people.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt reiterated Sunday Western determination to protect his city against Soviet pressures. "If the Soviets want their crisis they can have it," he said in a stern radio address.

Meanwhile, in a television interview in the United States (ABC-Issues and Answers), McGeorge Bundy, a presidential assistant who specializes in national security affairs, endorsed a proposal for a permanent deputy foreign ministers conference on Berlin and German issues.

REFERENDUM

At the same time, Bundy approved a proposal by Brandt for a referendum to put West Berliners on record in favor of keeping Allied troops in the city, calling it "a very constructive step."

On the eastern side of the Iron Curtain the Soviet Communist Party asked the people of the world to insist that West Berlin be turned into a demilitarized free city and that a German peace treaty be signed. The suggestion was contained in the traditional list of slogans published in Moscow in connection with the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution Nov. 7.

In East Berlin, the official Communist daily Neues Deutschland published another section of a speech three weeks ago by East German Communist leader Walter Ulbricht. East Germany's task, he said is "achievement of a German peace treaty and on this basis the removal of NATO bases in West Berlin and the transformation of West Berlin into a free city."

Progress Forum Results Presented

LAMESA (SC) — Results of a series of progress forums were presented to the Chamber of Commerce here by Ralph Duncan, West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The results indicated 438 persons attended the nine separate forums. A total of 1,477 suggestions were received on how to improve the city of Lamesa.

Receiving 50 or more recommendations were beautification, street improvements, a youth center, other recreational facilities, industrial development, and a new junior high school building.

The suggestions will be reviewed by the Chamber's program of work committee and the most important or those of an urgent nature will be incorporated into the program of work.

Nazis Compared To Communists

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Rep. James E. Van Zandt compares the so-called American Nazi Party to the Communist movement.

Van Zandt, the Republican nominee for U.S. Senator, said in a weekend statement:

"The cause which this swastika-bearing gang advocates is the total destruction of individual freedom and corresponds in its aims with the totalitarianism of the Communist scheme."

He said members of the party should either "renounce their U.S. citizenship or submit to psychiatric examination."

Raiders Quizzed By Coast Guard

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Six men described by the Coast Guard as raiders who sank a Cuban patrol boat and rescued two wounded Cuban militiamen east of Havana are being questioned by immigration authorities.

The unidentified men were taken to Key West by a Coast Guard boat from the British island of Cay Sal Sunday night. They had sought refuge at Cay Sal after the raid. Newsmen were not allowed to talk to them.

The two militiamen were flown from the tiny island off the southeast Florida coast to Miami by Coast Guard helicopter. They were listed in fair condition at a hospital after surgery for bullet wounds.

District Immigration Director Edward Ahrens said one of the two, Sgt. Filiberto Suarez Lima, 40, asked for asylum in the United States. The other man was identified as Cpl. Miguel Cao Mendina, about 30.

Ahrens said the two told immigration officers they and two other military men were on patrol duty in an 18-foot boat Friday night, off Varadero Beach, east of Havana.

Cao and Suarez said a larger boat opened fire on them, sinking their vessel and wounding Cao in the groin and Suarez in the leg. The patrol boat sank, and men on the larger boat lifted the two militiamen from the water. The other two men were swimming to shore when last seen, Suarez said.

The six walked off the Coast Guard boat at Key West, climbed into waiting automobiles, and were whisked off to immigration offices for preliminary questioning before being sent to Miami."

One had a bandage on his hand, but none of the disheveled group appeared to be seriously hurt.

Suarez' account of the incident conflicted with a Cuban government announcement that a pirate vessel had attacked a pleasure yacht, apparently killing two persons.

A Cuban exile, Antonio Bustillo, said the raid had been planned by 50 Cubans in Miami. Bustillo identified the raiders as Manolo Quiza, Manolo Casanova, Eddie Moore, Juan Espinola, Jorge Rodrigues and Roberto Parson.

Lyndon Says U.S. Will Halt Cuban Force

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson has asserted that the United States "will not permit the Castro regime to export its aggressor purposes by force or threat of force."

Speaking at a dinner attended by ambassadors of a dozen Latin American nations, he added:

"We will prevent by whatever means are necessary their taking any action against any part of the Western Hemisphere."

The diplomats were his guests earlier at his ranch near Johnson City.

Johnson departed from prepared remarks about the Alliance for Progress program to discuss U.S. policy toward Cuba, which Johnson said "needs to be and can be clearly and fully expressed."

The aim of this country, he said, "is to get rid of the Castro regime and the Soviet-Communist influence in Cuba."

Stating that he spoke so that "no one abroad or at home misunderstood or underestimated the resolve of the American people," the vice president said:

"We will cooperate with our allies, talk with our foes and respect the views of the neutral nations who show respect for ours. . .

"Where the people will stand up for their own freedom, the United States will stand up beside them. Our policy of containment of the aggressor is a policy which has succeeded."

The United States stands for "peace with pride, strength with patience and determination with cooperation," Johnson said.

If at any time a Cuban weapons buildup menaces U.S. security, he continued, "We will do what must be done to protect that security and the security of our allies."

African Runs Into Race Bar

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Omer Ahmed, 28, a student from Somali, Africa, has left the University of New Mexico because he couldn't find a place to stay near the campus.

He told school officials he applied at more than 50 apartments and that reasons for not renting to him ranged from thinly veiled excuses to "we don't rent to Negroes."

Four persons in the university area called Dr. Sherman Smith, director of student affairs, Sunday offering to rent an apartment to Ahmed.

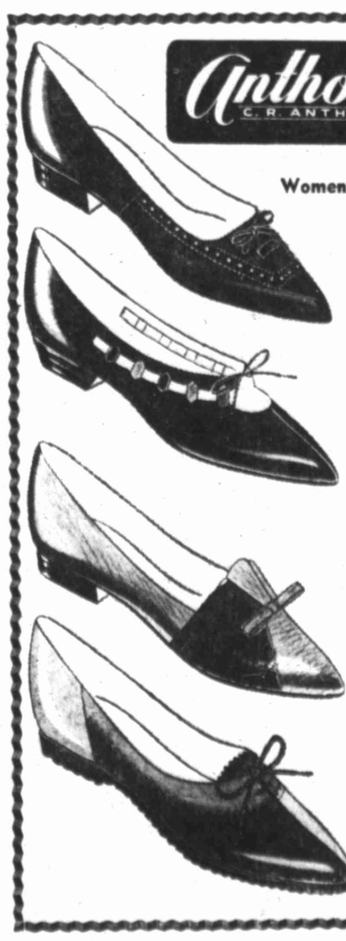

Smith said finding accommodations for Negroes was not hard but that Ahmed had wanted to find something for himself.

The African student attended New Mexico last year and had lived off campus. He gave up his place to go to New York for the summer.

West Coast Mopping Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The West Coast from San Francisco to British Columbia mopped up today after hurricane winds and torrential downpours left at least 47 dead and scores homeless in one of the vast area's worst storm of the century.

Damage amounted to uncounted millions in northern California and western Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. Not even a rough estimate of the total loss could be tabulated.

Parts of major cities and many small towns in the 75,000-square-mile storm area still were without telephone service. Emergency phone crews were flown into the area in chartered planes to patch the lines today.

The storm, whiplash tail of two dying Pacific typhoons, struck the coast Thursday night, battering Oregon the hardest. It lost its punch Sunday as it moved inland and ran up against the Rocky Mountains.

The job ahead: Caring for the homeless, more than 150 families in Oregon alone. Restoring broken gas lines, power lines and telephone service. Clearing sewers, streets and hghways of storm debris — tons of mud, windblown trees, shattered billboards and signposts. Shoring up sliding houses, shoveling silt out of others.

Oregon's Gov. Mark Hatfield estimated storm losses in his state at more than $150 million.

Property damage estimates for British Columbia ran as high as $1 million.

No tally had been made of the loss in Washington or California but it was expected to reach into the millions.

Classes today were called off at all public schools in Portland and the Oregon capital of Salem. Students at Pacific University in Forest Grove were given the day off to help disaster-ridden families.

Oakland, Calif., was cut off for hours Saturday by flood waters choking streets and highways into the city. Emergency crews had opened all thoroughfares today except a main access tunnel to the east. A mud slide had knocked out the tunnel's ventilating and signal systems and it may be closed until Wednesday.

Rivers running into the Pacific from all three states were near flood level today. It could be days before they return to normal as rains continued to feed them at their sources.

Sailors from the Alameda Naval Air Station near Oakland were credited with saving at least 15 homes in one city block by sandbagging operations which diverted earthslides and water.

Pilots To Control Gemini Spaceships

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Manual control will be used more extensively in the Gemini space flight series because Project Mercury has shown pilots can function in space.

The Manned Spacecraft Center here disclosed in a fact sheet that the two Gemini crewmen will be in almost full control from takeoff to landing, with only slight assistance from earth or automatic devices.

The Gemini mission is expected to close the gap between the present Project Mercury project and the Apollo program, which is designed to put two men on the moon.

"Very few of the Gemini systems will be entirely automatic," the report said. "There will be more dependence upon man than in the Mercury flights."

The Mercury system depends heavily on ground computers.

"We have been trying to get back to pilot control, but didn't know how much a man could do in space. Mercury has answered their questions," a spokesman for the center said.

In the Mercury shots, the pilots took control of the ship for short periods. But, with the exception of a few minutes during the six-orbit mission of Walter M. Schirra Jr., on Oct. 3, the ground stations have retained the ability to intercede.

The Gemini crew also will be able to change orbits slightly. This is another first.

The pilot and co-pilot will be helped by a 65-pound electronic computer in planning the orbit changes and reentry paths. The fact sheet said the computer will be aided by radar in making the rendezvous in space with an Agena-D vehicle, giving the crewmen practice in space rendezvous techniques.

A rendezvous will be part of the Apollo project, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials have said. The Gemini mission will allow the study of techniques to be used.

The sheet says Gemini crewmen, wearing pressure suits, are expected to leave the spacecraft in orbit and perform tasks outside the cabin.

In the Mercury series, the ground control center has had the capability of aborting or ending the mission during and just after launch if necessary. This function will now be turned over to the crew.

The fact sheet said either of the two men will be able to fire ejection seats, similar to those now used in airplanes. A parachute would then lower the men to the ground. The same technique will also be usable for landing on the ground. Mercury landings all have been in the ocean.

The men will use a paraglider wing to ease the descent and slow the craft to about 45 miles per hour to land on three skids.

Manned Gemini flights are expected in late 1963 or early 1964.

Cool Weather Is On Its Way

By The Associated Press

Cooler weather is on the way to Texas—finally.

After more than two weeks of unseasonably warm temperatures, the long-range forecasts issued Monday called for true fall temperatures to envelop most of Texas by mid-week.

The Panhandle is to experience 40-degree temperatures Monday night, with the cool air expected to move across the state Tuesday and Wednesday.

South Texas will not feel the effects of the cool air until Wednesday or Thursday. Temperatures there, however, will remain above normal, while readings in the remainder of the state will be 2 to 8 degrees below normal.

Forecasts Monday called for clear to partly cloudy skies in West Texas and partly cloudy in East Texas through Tuesday. Scattered thundershowers were expected in East Texas and along the coast.

Few Receive Oral Vaccine

HOUSTON (AP)—Only 43,751 persons received Type III Sabin oral vaccine as Houston and Harris County finished the innoculation for the second type of polio in mass clinics Sunday.

The Harris County Medical Society blamed the low turnout on the delay caused by U.S. Surgeon General Luther Terry's recommendation that the use of Type III vaccine be limited to pre-school and school age children.

Rites Held For Mrs. Hoover

Services were held Sunday afternoon for Mrs. Eva Mae Hoover, 54, long-time resident of Coahoma. She died Friday morning at Midland Memorial Hospital following an illness of about one and one-half years.

Services were conducted at the Coahoma First Methodist Church with the Rev. Harold Perdue, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hoover moved to Howard County in 1920 from Mason County, where she was born July 26, 1908. She had lived there since except for a short time when the family lived in Phoenix, Ariz.

She had been collection manager at Malone and Hogan Hospital before she became ill and prior to that she had worked with the Retail Merchants Association for several years. Her husband operates the Hoover Garage.

Pallbearers were Nathan Dietz, Raymond Anderson, Smith Cochran, Tom Birkhead, Frank Loveless, Burrel Cramer, Ralph White, and Dewitt Shive.

Survivors include her husband, Bennett Hoover; one son, Gerry Hoover, Big Spring; one sister, Mrs. Billy Childers, Coahoma; her mother, Mrs. Mary Massey, Coahoma; one brother, Ray Massey, San Diego, Calif; and three grandchildren.

Five Accidents Are Investigated

Big Spring police were called to investigate five accidents during the week end, beginning around 10 p.m. Saturday. Two accidents each involved one car and a fence.

Locations of accidents, and drivers of vehicles involved were: Third and Runnels, Clyde Amos Thompson, 218 Johnson, and Donald Wayne Norrington, Webb AFB; 2100 Block US 80 west, Mike Ernest Kopf, Studio City, Calif., and Lt. Kieter Haeuslshmied, Webb AFB; Eighteenth and Virginia, Frank Louis Neill Jr., 624 State, and fence owned by Charles E. Buckner, 1413 E. 18th, and TESCO pole; 1102 NW 7th, where another fence and car were involved, driver unidentified; Fifth and Main, Ismael Lujan Rodriquez, city, and Earl Lee Waldrep, Lubbock.

Miss America Will Headline Lamesa Beauty Pageant In '63

LAMESA (SC) — Jacquelyn Jeanne Mayer, Miss America of 1963, will headline the Miss Lamesa Pageant of 1963, it was announced here by Dave Knapp, chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored event.

The Sandusky, Ohio, beauty's appearance here was confirmed by B. H. Frapart, Atlantic City, N. J., Miss America's business manager.

The 20-year-old sophomore at Northwestern University was crowned last month in Atlantic City and will be more than halfway through her reign when she appears here.

Major changes have been planned in the Miss Lamesa pageant next year. The entry list will not be open to the public, but nominations will be solicited and screened by a special committee.

The newly-organized Jaycee-Ettes will also assist in staging the mammoth project—the first of its kind for the Lamesa Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Committees are now being selected for various phases of the show and Jim Kinney has been named by Knapp as director. Paul Koistra is assistant chairman.

In winning the title, Miss America presented a Broadway vignette in talent competition. She is experienced in tap dancing, ballet, and in ballroom dancing. She also has four years clarinet and three years each piano and bassoon instruction.

She is 5'5" and weighs 115 pounds with brunette hair (52 inches long), hazel eyes and fair complexion. Miss America will use her $10,000 scholarship to complete studies at Northwestern. She hopes to have a career in the theater upon graduation.

Screwworm Control Meeting Called For Here Next Monday

Ranch operators and others interested in the current campaign to eliminate the screw worm from Texas are asked to attend a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 22 in the district court room.

E. P. Driver, general chairman of the Howard County committee on eliminating screw worms, said that latest reports on the drive will be made by C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma.

Also, it was said, a new effort will be undertaken to raise the unpledged balance of the funds from this county promised for the campaign.

Driver said that the efforts to date have been highly effective in reducing the degree of screw worm infestations in this and other Texas areas.

It is believed that if the campaign can be pushed to its completion, the screw worm problem in the state can be solved. Driver asked that all ranchers make a effort to attend the meeting.

School Personnel Journey To Workshop In Lubbock

Four administrators and 112 teachers from Big Spring public schools journeyed to Lubbock Saturday to attend a workshop sponsored jointly by the Texas Education Agency and the Classroom Teachers Association.

There were about 1,200 school representatives from the West Texas area, according to Sebron B. Williams, assistant superintendent. Other administrators present from Big Spring were John Hardy, W. C. Blankenship and Ross Turner, all principals.

The all-day meeting was held on the campus of Texas Tech. In all, 14 sectional meetings were conducted on subjects ranging from science to social studies. Many were on both elementary and secondary school levels.

At the general session, the teachers were given a look at the teaching profession as it is today and an insight into what it might be in 1970. The glance ahead included two versions—one on how it might be if no progress is made and another showing what the profession may be like if it continues upgrading standards.

Most of the teachers chose to bear the expense of the trip and travel by car. Thirty-one rode in a school bus.

Jimmy F. Clay Funeral Today

Funeral rites for Jimmy F. Clay, 74, Anson, formerly a long-time resident of Howard County, will be at 3 p.m. today in River Funeral Home chapel. The Rev. Richard Payne, Anson, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. William McReynolds of Spur. Burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Park with Masonic graveside rites. Mr. Clay was a member of Staked Plains Lodge No. 598 AF&AM.

Mr. Clay died in a Slaton hospital Sunday after a three-month illness.

He was born July 26, 1888, in Cherokee County and spent his boyhood in Henderson County. He moved to Scurry County in 1919 to become a stockraiser and five years later established his home in the Knott and Vealmoor communities. He lived in this county until 1959 when he moved to Anson.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church of Anson, the Masonic Lodge here and the IOOF Lodge at Knott.

Survivors include four brothers, Cleveland Clay, Azle, Emmett Clay, Long Beach, Calif., I. S. Clay, Sweetwater, and Dick Clay of Knott. He has one sister, Mrs. P. P. Coker of Anson, and numerous nephews and nieces.

Wild Horse Sale Ends

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP)—The first New Mexico wild horse sale ended Sunday with every horse sold to rodeo suppliers and a few ranchers who want to try their hand at taming.

Five horses injured badly in fence collisions had to be shot and three of almost 100 cowboys were sent to the hospital with minor injuries.

Two professional rodeo cowboys, John Farris of Addington, Okla., and Sidney Johnson of Snyder, Tex., were the top money and trophy winners.

Farris took home saddle bronc honors and $506 and Johnson was the best of the bareback riders. He won $438.

The 285 wild horses were brought to Clovis after being rounded up by airplane in Wyoming.

Tom Steiner, rodeo producer from Austin, Tex., and Billy Bob Watts, general manager for the Fort Worth Livestock Show and Rodeo, took the top 32 horses. The top price paid was $952.

The rest were bought by other amateur and professional rodeo producers and ranchers.

Ex-Resident, Wm. T. Tate, Dies In Dallas

Funeral services were held in Dallas Monday morning for William T. (Bill) Tate, for many years a prominent business and civic leader in Big Spring, and more lately an insurance man in Dallas.

Mr. Tate, 57, died at his home at 4025 Lovers Lane in Dallas early Saturday morning, apparently victim of a heart attack. He had accompanied his children to a football game Friday night, then complained of chest pains after he had returned home. He succumbed before a doctor arrived.

A native of Ardmore, Okla. and a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, Mr. Tate came to Howard County in 1929, and worked for a few years as a bookkeeper for the Merrick & Bristow Oil Company. He and Obie Bristow established the Tate & Bristow Oil Company. He and Obie Bristow established the Tate & Bristow insurance agency here in the early Thirties, and Mr. Tate was its active manager, operating the office until he moved to Dallas in 1943. He had retained an interest in the firm, now Tate, Bristow & Parks.

Mr. Tate was active as a sportsman and in various civic activities here. He frequently returned to Big Spring as a visitor.

In Dallas, he established the Tate & Lawther Agency. He became a leader in Optimist Club work, and was serving his second term as president of the Optimist Club of Dallas. He had been a district governor and an international vice president of the organization. The family suggested that memorials might be made to the Optimist Club of Dallas Boys Work Fund.

Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park in Dallas following services conducted at Sparkman's Funeral Chapel, with the Rev. Roy Quill officiating.

Survivors include the widow, Mrs. Mozelle Tate; five sons, Tommy Tate, Ralph Tate, Mark Tate, and Kirk Tate, all of Dallas, and George Denton, in the U. S. Army; a daughter, Mrs. Richard Kilday, Houston; and a granddaughter. State Hospital's Volunteer Panel To Name Officers

New officers for the Volunteer Services Council of the Big Spring State Hospital will be selected at the last meeting of this year Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the hospital.

They will take over in January, 1963 and will serve two years, according to D. M. McKinney, chairman. R. W. Whipkey is chairman of the nominating committee.

The committee is composed of representatives from all service clubs and civic organizations in the area. McKinney urged all members to be present at this important meeting.

"The organizations need to have someone present to present their Christmas programs," he said.

Other business for the meeting will be awarding of service pins and bars to volunteers. The awards will be for service from 100 hours to as much as 5,000 hours.

We Need To Realize Huge Impact Of Common Market On America

By HOUSTON HARTE

FLORENCE — Led by the fantastic force of the Common Market a rapidly changing postwar world has brought about economic and political changes which must be faced by Americans as well as Europeans.

The Europeans are happy about it. They look forward to its further development with expectation and unconcealed satisfaction.

I believe we need to realize what these changes could mean to us.

The drive for European unification, which began 10 years ago with the Schuman Plan, has far exceeded the wildest dreams of its authors. Those who opposed it now admit it has been the most important factor in Western Europe's postwar development. Those who were lukewarm on the plan are as strong advocates now as those who presented it.

IN OR BE OUT

Great Britain sees it must join or see a continental force created across the 20 miles of English Channel which could dominate all of Western Europe. England included. Khrushchev has intensified his attack upon it because he sees what the European Economic Community is doing to thwart his plans for winning the war without firing a single ton of atomic bombs.

It has created in Brussels a group of enthusiasts for political as well as economic union. They seem to outstrip Clarence Streit and his "Union Now" advocates. This group is known as the Europeanatics. They see in the development of the "Community," as they refer to it, the one thing which will create a foundation for peace among nations where nationalism has created war.

Their controlling theme is based on a steadily rising standard of living for every nation in Europe. This is being accomplished now.

The divided nations of Europe are no longer great powers. Their political and economic weaknesses in contrast to the giant to the east is evident to all political parties. Nationalism is sheer nonsense. Colonialism is dead. New ideas and new methods were essential. Schuman and Adenauer came into this breach with their conciliatory views and statements of policy for France and Germany.

THE INCENTIVE

Into this atmosphere and at just the right time came the Marshall Plan. This was the incentive which encouraged Western Europe to try something new. Khrushchev realized its significance quicker than most Americans. He ordered his satellites out before they got a taste of the benefits of a wide trading market.

Today the European Economic Community is the second largest trading area in the world. It contains 170 million people with a gross national production of 220 billion dollars. When and if Great Britain comes in it will have 220 million people and more than 300 billion GNP. Greece has been admitted as an "associate," whatever that means. Most people here believe the outer seven will be in on a similar basis within a year or so. Within 10 years these enthusiasts think most of Western Europe will be in on the EEC on some kind of a basis.

SUPER-SUPER MARKET

With the new power Congress has given the President, our own tariffs will be lowered so that the force of our market of 560 billion GNP and 180 million people will be coupled with the European Common Market. This will provide a trading area of over 1,000 billion GNP among 500 to 600 million people. The Western Powers with the United States have the resources, the imagination, the manpower, and let us hope the determination to make Mr. Khrushchev's bombastic threat of "plowing us under" look like the vulgar braggart we all hope he is.

The Soviets can taint the life of the average American as they like and few Russians will know better. But they cannot hide like conditions in their neighbors' lands which border them. Neither can they prevent the spread of the progress of their neighbors to the West. Russia cannot hide the economic well being of its democratic neighbors. To this extent the success of the Common Market has helped us.

Italy's vast economic improvement is so evident that even the habitual shopper can see it. The Lambretto and the Vespa are giving way to the Fiat, the Opel and the Consul. New apartments have been built and are being built in every Italian city. Wages have been increased—in some cases almost doubled. There is little unemployment.

IT'S DIFFERENT

Consumption is up in the home market. I would not say Florence looked like an oil boom town, but I see something more than a 33 per cent increase in hotel rates and food prices. This is our fourth visit to Florence. It never looked like this before. Here at the first of October this city is packed.

No wonder the Italian Communists at the Communists' homecoming at Moscow this summer rejected Khrushchev's bitter attack on the "Common Market" as an aggressive alliance for war. There is a general election coming in Italy next spring. The European Economic Community is the most popular program Italy ever has enjoyed. Any party running against the EEC would be defeated before it started.

It is not by accident that the United States and the Soviet Union have become the great powers of this age. These two continental powers have demonstrated modern technology demands an increasingly large scale of production. Only a large economic area, offering a vast unrestricted market is able to provide this scale production. Research, so essential to today's production, can only be financed in such a market.

MUST DO BUSINESS

The U. S. A. consulate here is working with 21 American firms seeking sites, transportation facilities, electric power, water and labor for new plants. I could not get the size of the investments contemplated, but I can say that if these 21 plants could be located in Texas between now and Jan. 1 our state would make a great step forward in its program of industrial development.

Like Great Britain we must protect ourselves. We must not be deprived of a chance to do business in this market, with American goods designed and produced by American labor and made from American produced resources.

THE COMMON MARKET

- "The drive for European unification . . . has far exceeded the wildest dreams of its authors."
- "Khrushchev realized its significance quicker than most Americans. He ordered his satellites out before they got a taste of its benefits."
- "Our market of 560 billion Gross National Product and 180 million people will be coupled with the European Common Market to provide a trading area of over 1,000 billion GNP and 500-600 million people."
- "The Soviets cannot prevent the spread of knowledge of the progress (or) the economic well being of its Democratic neighbors."
- "We must not be deprived of a chance to do business in this (Common) Market."

Rail Crossing Crash Kills 4

McKINNEY (AP) — A Southern Pacific freight train hit a pickup truck at the edge of McKinney today, killing four men and critically injuring another.

All were in the pickup truck. Killed were J. T. Lewis, of Route 2, McKinney, and three Negro men who worked for him.

U.S. Cuban Aim To Drive Out Reds

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson told a Democratic fund-raising dinner Sunday night that the aim of this country is to "see Cuba rid of Castro and Soviet influence."

Johnson told about 600 supporters of former U.S. Sen. Claude Pepper, Democratic nominee for Congress, that "your government will do whatever needs to be done to protect our security and the security of our allies."

Rocky Endorsed

GARDEN CITY, N. J. (AP)—Newsday endorsed Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for re-election today on the basis of what the Long Island newspaper called his "substantial record of accomplishment" during his first term.

FLEMINGS, WALLOONS

Belgians Caught Up In Race Riots

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Police held 40 persons today after thousands of Flemish-speaking Belgians swarmed into Brussels and clashed with French-speaking Walloons they accused of "subjugating" them.

Members of both groups were taken into custody as a result of Sunday's outbreaks that injured about 20 persons. Counterdemonstrations by Walloons continued far into the night.

The race-and-language rivalry goes back 132 years to Belgian independence. Although the Flemings now have a majority in parliament, they claim discrimination continues, especially in Brussels.

Officials estimated 25,000 to 50,000 Flemings from northern Belgium invaded the capital to stage a protest march. Their sweep across the city had scarcely begun before they crashed into Walloon counterdemonstrators.

The crowds pelted each other with rotten eggs, tomatoes, insults and jeers. The injured were hurt by sticks, staves and thunderflashes, a kind of firecracker that can burn severely. Only two of the injured required hospitalization, however.

In the litter after the battle were the furry remains of baby chicks. Flemings had trampled the chicks as an insult to the Walloons, whose symbol is the rooster.

A thousand gendarmes were reinforced by riot squads armed with tear gas and water trucks, but had difficulty restoring order.

Most of the Flemish marchers were young boys and girls, many from farms. They carried yellow flags stamped with the black Flanders lion.

The Walloons countered by wearing yellow buttonhole emblems imprinted with red roosters. They carried posters in Flemish which said "Hands off Brussels. Return to your village."

E. Anter, president of the Flemish Action Committee for Brussels, said there are 500,000 Flemings who at present have no representation in parliament.

"We want Flemish schools for all Flemings," he said, "we also want absolute equal language facilities in Brussels—even in private shops," he added.

Leon Defosset, chairman of the Walloon Popular Movement, said the demonstration was "proof that Flemish extremists have aggressive imperialist plans against Brussels and the . . . Walloons cannot remain indifferent."

At the outset of Belgian independence, French was the official language, even for judges, army officers, officials and universities in Flemish-speaking areas. But about 30 years ago, the Flemings, who make up about 60 per cent of the population, won almost complete equality. They still complain, however, that top jobs in the armed forces and diplomatic service go to the French-speaking Walloons and that French still dominates many areas of Belgian life.

Rain No Barrier For Fair Visitors

DALLAS (AP)—Light showers failed to halt the flow of fairgoers as 267,732 visited the State Fair Sunday.

The attendance this year is 1,707,311, slightly under the 1,721,449 last year.

A mild case of food poisoning spoiled the day for 10 persons. Six people stricken at a fairgrounds restaurant were treated at a hospital.

ON THE SHELF

STRICTLY FROM HUNGARY. By Ladislas Farago Walker. $3.95.

A very pleasant diversion into the realm of anecdotes and tall tales. Farago's book is dedicated to the thesis that all Hungarians are addicted to living by their wits.

Farago is a wit in another sense. But even though he is a Hungarian he doesn't try to con the reader. He gives him a full measure of highly entertaining spoofs and amiable nonsense.

In the department of tall tales, there is evidence that the Hungarians could give lessons to the Texans. It seems, for example, that Christopher Columbus and George Washington were Hungarians.

Or in the department of wit-living, here is one sample: A certain money lender bought a famous race horse from a count for 10,000 pengoes, only to discover that the horse had broken a leg that very morning, and had been destroyed. So he hastily sold 20,000 pengoes worth of lottery tickets on the critter, neglecting to mention its demise. But of course, when the holder of the winning 100-pengo ticket complained, the price of the ticket was refunded.

Farago lists the accomplishments of famous Hungarians, from playwright Ferenc Molnar and composer Bela Bartok to physicist Edward Teller. But the chief savor of this book comes from its innumerable anecdotes about people who are naturalborn charlatans. It's quite amusing.
