Truck Plunges From Red River Bridge Saturday

In case of emergency, keep cool and use your head. That's what an Indianapolis truck driver did early Saturday morning when his moving van plunged through the guard rail on the Red River Bridge, and into the 24-degree water below. Phillip H. Collier, 27, was pinned in the truck, with most of his body under water, and able to move only his head.

G.E.D. Classes To Be Held Here At Community Service Center

Mrs. Carol Blankenship, Director of the Burkburnett Community Service Center announced today that night classes will be held at the Center for all adults in this area who do not have a high school diploma. Classes will start December 6, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Classes will be taught by certified teachers and will be held until all students have passed the GED test which will be administered by Midwestern University. Text books necessary for the course will be available at the center at cost. No other charge will be made by the Center. A five dollar fee is charged for administering and grading the test.

This approved program is acceptable proof by leading businesses and colleges. Mrs. Blankenship stated that this is one of the better training programs offered by the center and that successful completion will aid those seeking better opportunities and better paying jobs.

Interested applicants should call the center for complete details, 569-1831.

So he used his head — to break the windshield. He then managed to free his arms, and crawled through the broken windshield.

Collier waited about 10 minutes after extricating himself, when a car bearing three persons stopped, and summoned aid. Meanwhile, one of the motorists swam to the truck, another tossed Collier a jacket, and another summoned help.

The passersbys did not identify themselves, but it is believed they are stationed at Sheppard AFB.

Collier and his rescuer reached safety by means of a ladder lowered to them. The driver was treated at Wichita General Hospital and released.

Damage to the cargo was not estimated, but damage to the truck and trailer was estimated at $15,000.

The load was transferred to another van, and removed to storage.

The accident occurred at 1 a.m., as Collier was enroute to Lawton to pick up another shipment of household goods for the east coast. His van held five shipments at the time of the accident.

More than 200 feet of guard rail was knocked into the river bed, and damage was estimated to $20,000.

Traffic on the northbound lane was re-opened late Saturday, after cranes and equipment from John B. Barbour Trucking Company lifted the wrecked vehicle to the roadway.

As an aftermath of the incident, a highway department employee suffered a broken shoulder when he fell from the bridge.

Gerald Farmer, 41, suffered the injury when he fell while erecting a substitute guard rail. Farmer was treated at Wichita General Hospital.

Traffic was controlled and the incident probed by the Burkburnett Police Department, the Burk Burnett Police Department, the Texas Highway patrol and the Oklahoma Highway Patrol.

Collier said he lost control when a deer or some small animal appeared in his path, and he swerved to miss it.

"RECOVERABLE"

Nature's secrets often defy experts — particularly when those secrets are buried in the ground. In 1919, a geologist placed the nation's natural gas resources at 15 trillion cubic feet; 50 years later, estimated proved recoverable reserves were 293 trillion cubic feet.

One of the big differences between now and 50 years ago, aside from the quantities of natural gas now believed to be under the earth's surface, is the one word "recoverable." Within the space of a comparatively few years, the investor-owned gas utility industry has converted natural gas in the ground to energy in our homes and businesses. According to late figures, natural gas now heats 32 million American households. U.S. gas utility companies are adding new house heating customers at the rate of nearly one million per year. More than 136 million gas appliances now are in service throughout the United States. Local gas distribution companies are expected to spend nearly $1 billion in 1968 to extend their systems and replace older facilities. Thus, natural gas, which no one suspected existed in any great amount a half century ago, has become a major energy source.

The billions of dollars that have gone into development of the natural gas industry are the result of the voluntary investment of savings in the industry by thousands of private citizens. These investors, together with the managements, scientists and technicians are responsible for the addition of the word "recoverable" to that all-important source of energy—natural gas.

Repairing The Damage: According to press reports, Secretary of Agriculture Freeman is going to be an efficiency expert for a consulting firm come January. He'll counsel on moving food from farm to market. The record is that it took him only 8 years to increase Agriculture Department employees by 20 per cent, and reduce the number of farmers in the country by almost 30 percent. Is he now to get a salary for repairing the damage?

WONDERFUL CHEESE

Today I've been perusing a publication of the National Dairy Council called "Newer Knowledge of Cheese". It offers interesting information:

Cheese has been a popular food for thousands of years — going far back into history even before the time of Homer. It was served at Caesar's banquet tables and served to his armies as part of their rations just as cheese serves armies around the world at the present time.

Legend has it that cheese was "discovered" several thousand years before Christ by an Arabian traveler who, starting on a journey, placed milk in a pouch made of a sheep's stomach. During the day's journey, the combined action of the sun's heat and enzymes in the lining of the pouch changed the milk into cheese curds and whey. Whey is the thin liquid that drains off when the rest of the milk turns to cheese.

Varieties Of Cheese

And so since that time many varieties of cheese have been produced, ranging in texture from soft to hard and in flavor from mild to pungent and sharp. Today processing is done in clean modern plants with equipment that controls every step. Still, whatever the cheese, the basic process — the coagulation of milk to produce curd by the separate or combined action of the enzyme rennin and lactic acid — remains the same.

Cheese has, of course, played a role in the economy of peoples and nations. Early nomadic tribes considered cheese vital and it became a prized medium of exchange because it provided milk in a solid and less perishable form.

It is said that the Crusaders brought back secrets of cheesemaking that promoted the art rapidly in Europe. After the fall of the Roman Empire, during the Dark Ages, these secrets were guarded in the monasteries. Trappist Monks developed varieties of cheese that still are made. As cheeses developed in various world localities they usually became known by the name of that area, as for example, Cheddar, Stilton, and Roquefort.

The Cheese Industry

Cheesemaking remained a farm and home operation until the middle of the nineteenth century. Its development into a great industry as we know it today began in 1851 when the first cheese factory was started in Rome, N.Y. Today, cheesemakers in the United States have successfully manufactured virtually all foreign types of cheese such as Swiss, Camembert, Limburger, Blue and Parmesan. Original American varieties include Brick, Colby, Monterey or Jack cheese, and others.

Cheese is a very versatile food. Its use extends from hors d'oeuvres to dessert, alone and in combination with other foods. People of all ages like it. It is said there is a cheese for every taste and every pocketbook. Three ounces of cheddar cheese has the same amount of protein as three ounces of boneless meat, fish, or poultry, or three eggs. It is a rich source of all the nutrients of milk.

Girl Scouts Tour Home Of Artist

25 Girl Scouts of Junior Troop 45 under the leadership of Mrs. Vera Oelschlaeger and Mrs. Madge O'Leary took a trip to Mr. Ken Cunningham's home on Bishop Road. Mr. Cunningham, a prominent artist in Burk and winner of several area art awards, was kind enough to give a private showing of his works for the girls. They were delighted to hear how Mr. Cunningham accomplished the beautiful detail of his different types of drawings and paintings; and the retail value of each. The visit was a requirement on the "Drawing and Painting Badge." Mrs. Rita Murphy, Mrs. Dorothy Nolden, Mr. Charles Hamilton, and the two leaders provided transportation for the girls.

LAND OF PLENTY

★ THANKSGIVING FOR...

- PROSPEROUS NATION
- FOOD
- A STRONG NATION
- FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

Pages could be filled with ways that God has blessed us, and we should be continually thankful for God's goodness. At this time, however, we should pause from our daily workday habits and in unison, give special thanks to God, that we still have freedom of worship.

Attend church this Thanksgiving weekend

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS LIGHT-UP CAMPAIGN TO BEGIN DEC. 1st

Burkburnett's annual city-wide Christmas light-up campaign will begin December 1, according to Mrs. M. D. Cheney campaign chairman.

The campaign, in which 14 prizes await successful entries, will again be co-sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Service Council of which Mrs. Cheney is beautification chairman.

The city has been divided into ten areas and the best decorated or lighted home in each area will receive a cash award of five dollars. Business firms will compete in the commercial division for the first, second and third place.

In the sweepstakes awards, a Reddy-lite, donated by Texas Electric Service Company will be awarded the best lighted residence; a $25 saving bond, donated by the Burk Bank, for the best over-all decorations and a $50 savings bonds donated by the First National Bank, will be awarded for the best religious theme.

No formal entry is required in any of the contests since any residence which is decorated or lighted between the hours of 6:30 and 10:30 p.m., during the contest period, will automatically be considered by the judges.

Judging will be in progress beginning December 11 with final decisions to be made on December 18. Winners will be announced on December 22. Winners of first place awards in the 1967 contest will not be eligible for first place awards this year, but may compete in a different category. Mrs. Cheney said.

Street decorations will go up immediately after Thanksgiving with Christmas street lighting to begin December 1, according to Chamber officials.

He Sells Coffee To The Eskimos

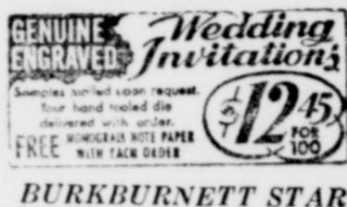

They say Calo de Alcantara Machado will go anywhere to sell coffee. Machado, head of the Brazilian Coffee Institute, is a go-go salesman in the truest U.S. tradition as Mayor Dan Lisbourne (he's the one on the front of the sled) will testify. Machado has just landed his own plane, The Coffee Peddler, at Point Hope, Alaska (that's Mr. Machado seated behind the mayor), and already he is talking coffee. The 42-year old head of the Brazilian coffee industry insists that the way to lick the world coffee surplus is to thump on every door. His trip to Eskimo land far above the arctic circle is but one stop on a 32,000 mile Yankee pot-and-pan peddler type trip . . . next stop Africa. U.S. legislators concerned with the problems of the developing countries like the Machado approach with its do-it-yourself theme.

Florence Pinkston Studies The Book Of Romans

The Florence Pinkston Group of the W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Howard L. McCrary to study the Book of Romans. Mrs. James Taylor gave the devotional from 2nd. Peter and offered prayer for our missionaries.

Mrs. McCrary, group leader, conducted a short business meeting before presenting Mrs. Willmon as teacher. Mrs. Willmon taught the book of Romans using an outline to show God's purpose in history and the gospel of every day living. Mrs. Willmon's teaching showed ready knowledge of the book and she very skillfully led all members into sharing her knowledge.

Those present and enjoying the Bible lesson & refreshments were Mesdames I. C. Evans, Ola Quattlebaum, H. S. Butts, R. P. Thaxton, Raymond Smart, Clifford Willmon, Buren King, Jack Robinson, James Taylor, and the hostess, Mrs. McCrary.

Phone Consultant Teaches Teachers

She's not a teacher, she's not a student, but she's back in the classroom.

With her will go a couple of thousand dollars worth of equipment, several films, booklets, posters and charts, and a wide assortment of reading material.

She's Mrs. Anna Long, school consultant for Southwestern Bell. Although Mrs. Long headquarters in Fort Worth, she makes frequent trips to this area to visit with local teachers. Her job is to provide teaching aids for Burkburnett elementary and secondary schools and to show teachers how to use them.

The telephone has a real place in the classroom—even for some of the older students," Mrs. Long explained, "and we have programs for all ages."

For the younger students, telephone company programs deal with the basic use of the telephone. "Telezonia," for example, teaches students how to dial calls, how to practice courtesy and how to use the telephone to get help in an emergency.

Still another program, "Tele-training," is aimed at junior and senior high school classes. The program is designed to help students learn to communicate better and shows them practical applications of the telephone on the job.

In junior high school, the program is used primarily to help students improve diction, speech and use of the English language. In high school, it is used in business classes such as distributive education. Here, students get experience in using the telephone in realistic job situations—situations like handling irate or unpleasant customers.

"There are other practical applications for the telephone in the classroom," Mrs. Long explained. "For example, students can learn to make more efficient use of the telephone in their social and school life."

In addition to the pamphlets, charts and films available to Burkburnett teachers, Mrs. Long also offers the use of a Teletrainer, an electrically-powered device containing two working telephones and a control set which produces all the sounds—dial tone, busy signal and calling ring—of the real telephone. "With the Teletrainer, teachers have all the practical applications of daily telephone use at their disposal—yet under their complete control," Mrs. Long noted.

Still another program under Mrs. Long's supervision, is the Aids to High School Science Program which is directed to secondary physics, chemistry and biology classes. Science teachers are offered practical teaching aids developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories research and development unit of the Bell System. "Understanding Computers" is the subject of the current program.

"One reason I enjoy my work is because I'm always learning something new," said Mrs. Long. "That's why I'm glad when school starts again—I get a chance to pass on all my new information."

Modern Study Club Meets For Program On "Americanism"

The Modern Study Club met for a program on "Americanism" in the home of Mrs. Lewis A. Gray.

Mrs. Albert Dillard, president, read the club's invitation to attend the area meeting at Grand Prairie in preparation for the 1969 Miss Burkburnett Pageant.

The Thanksgiving bake sale held Saturday was a sell-out. Another bake sale is scheduled for Saturday, December 21st. Special orders will be taken before the sale.

Mrs. Gary Owen introduced Miss Fusae Wagasawa, a senior at Burkburnett High School. Fusae came from Kawago, Japan, to spend the school year with the Jack W. Brumfield field family at Sheppard AFB.

Fusae graciously answered questions and displayed books and photographs of Japan. She explained that Japanese and American teenagers are very much alike except Japanese students usually aren't permitted to date until they graduate from high school. Students in Japan must pass an exam to enter high school. Because of the large number of applications, a student must score very high or an entrance exam to be accepted by a university. Fusae hopes to enter a university in Japan next fall and eventually become a secretary.

Painting No. 5 was titled "Profile of an American," Mrs. Weldon Gorham told about "America Through the Eyes of the World." A poem entitled "I Am a Tired American" was given to members.

The hostess, Mrs. Lewis A. Gray and Mrs. Phillip Cozby, served refreshments to Miss Fusae Wagasawa and Mesdames: Sammy Cash, Micky Cornelius, Albert Dillard, Lonnie Dolan, Eddie Eastman, Weldon Gorham, Charles Griffith, John Griffith, Ted B. Harris, Dale Lewis, Jimmy Lindsey, Gary Moore, Darrrell Nichols, Richard Nunn, Gary Owen and Phillip Tow.

LOSER OF THE WEEK—Seated on her luggage in front of the University of Michigan bell tower, 16-year old Deborah Kuhn of Ann Arbor, Mich., concludes that some days you just can't win. Deborah entered the local Teenage Safe Driving Road-E-O contest in hopes of winning an all-expense paid trip to the national competition, August 3-7. She did—only to discover that the finals will be held on the University of Michigan campus, only four blocks from her home. If she wins the national competition, however, she will have plenty of chances to use her luggage traveling throughout the country as a Youth Safety Spokesman for Lincoln-Mercury Division, sponsor of the National Teenage Road-E-O. P.S. Don't bet against her. She defeated all of the other Michigan hometown champions with only six months experience under her seat belt, and she's practicing every day.

Local P-TA Members Attend State Meeting

HOUSTON—(Spl.) — Mrs. C. J. Allmon and Mrs. D. K. Shuman of Burkburnett, Tex., were two of almost 3,000 delegates attending the annual Texas PTA state convention in Houston, November 20-22 at the Rice Hotel and the new Convention and Exhibit Center.

"Understanding Your Changing Families" was the theme for the three days of business meetings and group conferences highlighted by addresses of nationally recognized speakers, the election of new officers and voting on a proposed legislation program.

"How to Drive Your Children Safe" was the topic of a Wednesday evening address by Dr. Haim Ginott, adjunct associate professor, graduate department of Psychology, New York University. Dr. Ginott is author of the best selling book, Between Parent and Child.

Thursday evening's featured speaker was Dr. Mary S. Calderone, Executive Director, Sex Information and Education Council of the U. S., New York City. "Sex Attitudes and Sex Education" was the subject of her address.

"Education for the New Generation of Parents" was the title of a third major speech, presented by the National PTA representative to the convention, Mrs. H. D. Worthy, Chairman, Parent and Family Life Educa-

SPANGLED COTTON—For after five frivolity, the gaucho costume comes into favor. Designed by Strega in plushy black cotton velvet, the short coin-spangled jacket meets wide-legged trousers slit up the side. A white pleated cotton shirt completes the ensemble.

In addition to the speakers, another important area of convention business was adoption of the proposed legislation program for 1968-69 which contains recommendations for legislation in the areas of child education and welfare, and defines policies and areas of legislation and study that are within the scope of PTA concerns.

Activities for Thursday afternoon included a selection of workshops and group conferences, as well as a discussion of the film, "The Challenge and the Chance" of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, and a conference on sex education.

Social affairs included a Wednesday luncheon for local PTA presidents and their guests who heard an address by Dr. Porter Crow, Dean of McMurry College, Abilene. Two other luncheons were held Wednesday: one for council presidents and past district presidents; and another honoring PTA life members was held Thursday.

The final session Friday morning featured presentation of awards and the installation of newly elected officers.

Mrs. A. R. Kee holds the office of President in the Parent Teacher Association at Hardin Grade School.
