OKLA. ALLEGED BANDIT CAPTURED

AMENDMENT TO INVESTIGATE GERMANY'S ABILITY TO PAY IS DEFEATED BY HOUSE COMMONS

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Scant hope for British intervention at this time in the dispute between France and Germany is to be gleaned from Premier Bonar Law's speech in the house of commons last evning. The premier concluded the debate on the joint liberal amendment to the address in reply to the speech from the throne calling upon the league of nations, with the help of America, to investigate Germany's ability to pay reparations.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 305 to 196.

The prime minister, answering some of the points of David Lloyd George's appeal to Great Britain and America to save France from what he termed a dangerous position, informed the house that intervention by a league commission as proposed in the amendment, would be considered by France as an act of hostility. He asserted that the government's policy was to keep British troops on the Rhine "as long as possible."

Replying to Mr. Lloyd-George's contention that France had blundered seriously and that America and Great Britain were called upon to act, Mr. Bonar Law said that he too did not approve of the French step, but that opposition apparently could accomplish little or nothing, inasmuch as the pride of France in forcing the Germans to terms had been aroused. He pointed out that France already had refused to look kindly on intervention by the league and suggested that she would hardly be amenable to such a step now.

Mr. Lloyd-George, whose sojourn "in the wilderness" has resulted in no impairment of his parliamentary presence, declared that the French action was both short sighted, unfortunate and unwarranted, and that the way was open to disaster. He asserted that the collection of reparations was evidently not the only object France had in view.

Arguing for the motion the former prime minister said he was asking Mr. Bonar Law to take immediately and with the cooperation of the United States, a step calculated to save the situation. Wealthy America, he declared, still had a share in the responsibility for present conditions because morally it had accepted the entire situation. Mr. Lloyd George expressed the opinion that France, confronted by the United States and Great Britain, could not fail to listen to nations that had put her in the position of a conqueror. He entreated the government to take the initiative, first by approaching the United States and then with that country approaching France.

Although the sentiments embodied in the joint amendment undoubtedly were approved by a majority of the house, its passage would have represented censure of the government and would therefore have meant the government's fall.

GREAT BRITAIN NOT TO INITIATE DISCUSSION

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Prime Minister Bonar Law stated in the house of commons today that it would not be proper for Great Britain to initiate a discussion with the American government as to whether the French action in the Ruhr was in accordance with the treaty of Versailles, since the United States was not a party to the treaty.

The premier's statement was in answer to a question by J. C. Wedgewood, laborite, whether Great Britain would ascertain the views of the United States on the subject for the purpose of adopting a common policy "seeing that the action of France in occupying the Ruhr without the cooperation of the allies is hardly in accordance with their legitimate powers under the Versailles treaty," and in view of the expressed opinions of Senator Borah.

FIRE DESTROYS BUILDING USED BY GENERAL SHERMAN

AUGUSTA, GA., Feb. 20.—Word was received here today of the destruction by fire of the old colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Law, near Birdsville, in Jenkins county, which was used for a time by General Sherman as his headquarters while on his "march to the sea."

Older residents of this section say that the Law home was fired by Sherman when he moved his headquarters, the flames being ordered extinguished when the present Mrs. Law's mother refused to leave the house. The old home was one of the most celebrated landmarks in this section of the state.

BILL PROVIDES BOUNTY FOR DEAD RATTLESNAKES

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—A bounty of 50 cents would be paid by the state and county for the tail of every rattlesnake killed in Texas under a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Smith of Austin. The bill would authorize county commissioners' courts to pay 15 cents from the county fund as a reward to snake killers for each reptile killed, and the state would appropriate $50,000 with which to match the county awards.

Representative Patman and others introduced a bill levying an occupation tax of three per cent on wholesale dealers in coal oil, naptha, benzine and other mineral oils refined from petroleum.

The house continued consideration of the McNatt motor vehicle license bill and it was still before the body when it yielded the floor to Dr. J. J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education.

DALLAS, Feb. 20.—Dr. William F. Mauhart, director of the school of commerce, Southern Methodist University; Prof. Donald Scott of the school of commerce, and Prof. Laurence H. Black, instructor of accounting in the school of commerce, tendered their resignations today as the result, they announced, of dissatisfaction in the ranks of the economics department of the university. The S. M. U. executive committee was called for this afternoon to consider the resignations.

Today's development follows the recent resignations of several members of the board of trustees and administration of the university over an investigation of the conduct of the athletic department of the school.

FOUR TONS LIMIT FOR CAPACITY OF TRUCKS ON ROADS

FRED K. SMITH, ROAD COP, BEGINS DUTIES ON TUESDAY MORNING.

RULES OF HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT INVOKED

All Owners of Trucks Visited By Officer Smith Tuesday to Give Information.

Hereafter a ban will be placed on all commercial trucks with a carrying basis of our four tons. Special Traffic Officer Fred K. Smith, who was appointed Monday by the county commissioners, began his work Tuesday. His first act was to visit all business houses and owners of trucks in order to inform them of the rules which will govern the truck traffic on the county's paved road system.

The rules as laid down by the state highway department will be put in force here. The statute provides that any person who violates any of these laws shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and the punishment is a fine not to exceed $200. The cases are tried before the county judge and there is no appeal from his decision.

Owners of trucks with a carrying capacity of over 8,000 pounds must secure a written permission from the state highway commission before such truck can be used. The application for permission to use trucks over this size must be permitted through the county judge of the county who will forward same to the highway department for action.

Among the various rules to be observed and which Officer Smith will enforce is that every truck must be equipped with a rear view mirror. The statute also makes it unlawful to operate a truck equipped with solid rubber tires when the rubber is less than an inch thick.

The state laws also regulate the speed of loaded trucks as follows:

Pneumatic Tires
Load in lbs.	Speed per hour.
2,001 to 4,000	18
4,001 to 6,000	15
6,001 to 10,000	12
10,001 to 12,000	10
Solid Tires
1,500 to 2,000	16
2,001 to 8,000	12
8,000 to 10,000	10

Judge B. D. Sartin, under whose direction Officer Smith will work, stated that it was not the intention to work any hardship on truck owners in the county but every effort will be made to have truck owners to comply with the law and help keep the county's paved road in good condition for years to come.

Other vehicles not classified with a body more than 90 inches wide must not carry a load heavier than 650 pounds to one inch of tire width.

PEDDY CONTEST TO BE FILED BEFORE END OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Political opponents of Senator-elect Earle B. Mayfield, who defeated Senator Culberson, democrat, Texas, for renomination last year in a campaign in which the Ku Klux Klan was an issue, said today that contest proceedings would be filed soon with the senate in behalf of George Peddy, a candidate against Mr. Mayfield in the November election. Both Mayfield and Peddy are democrats, but Peddy received the republican endorsement also.

Some of Mr. Peddy's counsel now are in Washington and others are said to be en route here. The contest is to be filed before adjournment of congress so that Mr. Mayfield's right to the office can be challenged as soon as the new congress convenes.

MAYFIELD DECLINES TO DISCUSS THE MATTER

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Senator-elect Earle B. Mayfield declined to make a statement today when informed of reports that attorneys for George E. B. Peddy are in Washington to file proceedings to contest Mayfield's election to the senate.

"I do not care to discuss the matter," Mayfield said. "These attorneys have been in Washington for over a week."

The senator-elect would not indicate whether he will have attorneys in Washington to represent him.

DIAMONDS VALUED AT $3,000 STOLEN AT ABILENE HOME

ABILENE, TEXAS, Feb. 20.—Diamonds valued at $3,000 were stolen last night from the home of Mrs. J. Sterling Hiatt. She reported to the police this morning that she placed the gems on a pillow in her bedroom for a few minutes and when she returned they were gone. The loot consists of two diamond rings and a diamond necklace.

POSTOFFICE ROBBED OF PAYROLL CHECKS OF TEXAS COMPANY

Special to The Times.

PANHANDLE, TEXAS, Feb. 20.—Evidence indicating robbery of the postoffice lock box in Panhandle of the production department of the Texas company Monday morning is being investigated. A payroll statement was found in an opened envelope in the lobby of the postoffice, indicating that checks covering the semi-monthly payroll for 18 employes amounting to $1,340 had been removed. No other mail has been missed from the box.

Late Monday morning three checks to the amount of slightly over $100 and thought to be a part of the stolen loot were found on the floor of a local drug store by the proprietor and returned to Superintendent Claude Wintzer of the Texas company here.

The Carson county sheriff has warned surrounding cities of the theft, that unsuspecting merchants may not cash the checks, since payment has been stopped by the Texas company.

COTTON MILLS ARE ACTIVE IN JANUARY NEW RECORD MADE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Records were made by the cotton spinning industry in January, the number of active spindle hours exceeding nine billion and the average number of spindles exceeding 40,000,000 for the first time in the history of the country, the census bureau's monthly report today indicated. Cotton consumption in January was 610,317 bales of lint and 49,804 of linters.

Active spindle hours for January totaled 9,266,299,904, or an average of 249 hours per spindle in place, compared with 8,228,293,384, or an average of 221 for December.

SENATE FACES ALL NIGHT SESSION AS RESULT FILIBUSTER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Nearly a dozen opponents of the administration shipping bill were prepared with speeches, the delivery of which would require upwards of forty hours, when the senate convened today and the filibuster started last night against the ship measure was resumed.

Senator Sheppard, democrat, Texas, who at last night's session spoke more than three hours on the activities of the league of nations, still held the floor when the senate met. He at once began to read from a stack of papers six inches high containing a digest of all actions taken by the league and its various agencies.

Meantime republican leaders canvassed the situation and prepared for the all-night session promised by Senator Jones, republican, Washington, in charge of the shipping bill.

The ship bill opponents ready to follow Senator Sheppard included Senators Stanley of Kentucky, McKellar of Tennessee, Hitchcock of Nebraska, Heflin, Alabama, and Fletcher of Florida, democrats, and LaFollette of Wisconsin, Brookhart of Iowa, and Borah of Idaho, republicans.

"I have a text book on cooperative marketing and if the ship subsidy advocates go ahead with their plans to hold an all night session," said Senator Brookhart, "I am prepared to conduct a night school on cooperative marketing, using my book as a text."

Senator McKellar brought into the chamber copies of the Congressional Record containing the speech made by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, in the filibuster in 1915 against the bill to organize a government corporation to buy and operate ships.

"Senator Smoot spoke for 11 hours then," said Senator McKellar, "and I am ready to read his entire speech and, moreover, make numerous comments of my own."

Talking Too Fast

Senator Sheppard spoke more slowly today than yesterday, having been told by Senator Brookhart and others that he was "talking too fast." After he had spoken two hours he got a brief rest through the arrival of a number of bills from the house and the action of Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, in asking for immediate consideration for one of them.

Republican senators for the most part left the chamber but remained in the cloak rooms and other places near at hand. Opponents of the ship bill to the number of a dozen or so remained ready to take up the burden should Senator Sheppard falter or reach the end of his speech. One of the most faithful of these was Senator Heflin, who said he might contribute to the filibuster by discussing the discovery of the tomb of King Tutenkhamun.

"I have been reading about old Tut and if it is true that he was the Pharaoh of the exodus, the Bible accounts would tend to indicate that he was the originator of the deadly deflation policy put into effect by W. P. G. Harding, as head of the federal reserve board in 1920," said Senator Heflin, who scarcely lets a week pass without attacking former Governor Harding and his administration of the federal reserve system.

FILIBUSTER STARTED AT MONDAY NIGHT SESSION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Possibility of an all night session faced the senate when it convened an hour ahead of its usual schedule today to resume the fight over the administration shipping bill with opponents indicating no intention of abandoning their filibuster against the measure.

It appeared that the bill might be brought to a definite test of strength during the session as a result of the announced purpose of Senator Jones, republican, Washington, in charge of the measure, to hold the senate in session all night if opponents continued their apparent effort to prevent its coming to a vote.

The night session was forced by the bill's proponents by defeating 45 to 33, a motion for adjournment at the usual hour.

There was still pending today the motion made earlier yesterday by Senator Ladd, republican, North Dakota, to lay aside the shipping bill and take up the filled milk bill. A motion to lay the Ladd proposal on the table was defeated 44 to 42, and although among the shipping bill's proponents conceded that the vote was a surprise they pointed out that several republicans considered as favorable to the latter measure were among those who voted against tabling the Ladd motion. Whether the motion would be finally disposed of today was uncertain.

In explaining his vote, with three othed democrats, in favor of tabling the Ladd motion, Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, said that while he was opposed to the shipping bill, he believed it should be permitted to come to a vote and not be defeated by "indirection." Senators Underwood and Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska, both conceded there was a filibuster in operation against the ship bill but Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, later denied "there was any real filibuster."

The latter, however, warned administration leaders that unless the measure was put aside there would be an endless stream of motions to displace it in favor of other legislation.

On the house side also another night session was in prospect to clean up the jam of minor bills before the sine die adjournment, March 4.

RIGHT OF WAY OF KATY AND FRISCO MAY BE INVOLVED

TULSA, OKLA., Feb. 20.—The entire right of way of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad in Oklahoma and the right of way of the St. Louis-San Francisco railroad from the Missouri line to Sapulpa, Okla., will be recovered by the government for Indian claimants under a decision handed down yesterday by the United States supreme court, Tate Brady, chairman of the Cherokee nation executive committee, declared last night.

The ruling was the result of litigation started by the Cherokee convention held in Tulsa in 1916, Brady said.

The supreme court upheld the government's right to recover for Indians land granted railroad companies where it is found that such lands at the time the patents were issued were held by Indians under prior treaties.

DECISION IS BASED ON CASE FROM CALIFORNIA

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—In a case from California the supreme court yesterday decided that land granted by the federal government to a railroad company can be recovered by the government when it is found the land, when the patents were issued, had by treaty been set aside for and was occupied by the ndians. The case was brought by the Central Pacific railroad and others to prevent withdrawal by the government of land in Siskiyou county, California, granted the railroad at a time it was occupied by two Indians.

SAYS DECISION IS NOT APPLICABLE TO INDIANS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The decision of the supreme court yesterday in the case of the Central Pacific Railway company and others against the United States, involving title to land in California which has been claimed by both the Indians and the railway company, is not applicable, in any respect to the Indian lands in Oklahoma in the opinion of D. A. Richardson of that state, here as counsel for the Oklahoma Natural Gas company in another case now before the court.

"All the lands in Oklahoma granted or allotted to Indians was under special legislation which applied only to the tribes in Oklahoma," said Mr. Richardson today, "and the transfers of these lands therefore are not governed by general laws, as were the lands in California."

DEFENSE IS READY WITH TESTIMONY IN STEWART CASE

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20.—The defense in the trial of W. E. Stewart, charged with using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of Hidalgo county, Texas, land, began the introduction of testimony today. A demurrer filed by R. R. Brewster, one of Stewart's attorneys, was overruled by the court.

An argument was started when the defense asked that a map of the Stewart lands, exhibited by the prosecution, should be in view during the defense testimony. The court ruled that the map should be placed in view, but it could not be found. It had been in custody of J. M. Donaldson, postoffice inspector, assisting the government, who was ill today and unable to attend the hearing.

Captain Everett Anglin of San Antonio, Texas, was the first witness called by the defense. He was employed by Stewart in 1920, he said, to have charge of motor car drives for prospective buyers of land.

Excursionists usually spent about two days in the "valley," he said. They were told, he testified, that the Mercedes canal was referred to as belonging to the American Rio Grande Irrigation company. Prosecution witnesses had testified that as land buyers they had been told that the Mercedes irrigation system was to water their land, but after buying they contended that they had been forced to rely on the Edinburg system which they declared inadequate.

GOVERNMENT RESTS CASE LATE MONDAY

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 20.—The defense in the case of W. E. Stewart, charged with using the mails to defraud in the sale of Texas lands, was prepared today to begin its testimony before a jury in federal court here. The government rested its case late yesterday.

Expert testimony will be introduced, according to defense attorneys, to show that the Edinburg irrigation system could be made capable of supplying sufficient water to the Edinburg tract, the sale of lands in which resulted in the indictment against Stewart. Prosecution testimony was introduced which alleged that the irrigation system was not adequate.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—On the Chicago stock exchange today Armour preferred stock opened at a drop of $1 a share and this was followed by a further descent to $2.37½ below yesterday's close. The president expressed the hope that this "warfare" against the boll weevil might soon be placed on a national scale and whatever forces were necessary to insure effective results might be quickly enlisted. He said the boll weevil menace was now recognized as "involving our national prosperity."

POSSE IS AFTER BANDITS WHO ROB BANK IN KANSAS

BARTLESVILLE, OKLA., Feb. 20. A posse began closing in early today on a retreat in the Osage hills northwest of here believed to be the hiding place of two bandits who yesterday held up the State Bank of Chautauqua, Kansas, and escaped across the Oklahoma border with approximately $1,000.

The bandits are believed by officers to be Al Spencer, notorious outlaw in this section, and Dick Gregg, a youth who is charged with having participated in the robbery of a bank at Elgin, Kansas, last July.

U. S. Commissioner Education Criticizes Conditions in Texas

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Dr. J. J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, discussed educational conditions in Texas in an address before the house this morning and he handled the subject without gloves. He laid special emphasis on the fact that Texas ranks first among the states in size and in other respects, but is thirty-ninth in the matter of educational efficiency.

"The shacks that litter up the campus of the University of Texas are hardly fit to house hogs, and are a disgrace to the state," he declared. "Many stock barns in the northern states are better than the buildings in which education is imparted to many Texas children."

Dr. Tigert severely arraigned the Texas educational system which permits the state to give aid to the counties and exacts no aid from the counties in return. This is the one week link in the Texas system, he said, and it weakens the whole chain of state education. He advocated an efficiently administered county system adding that "until this is had there can be no effective scheme of democratic education."

"You also need an adequate system for training your teachers," the speaker continued. "Regardless of the worth of general facilities the teacher is the most important factor in a school room. Texas has six normal schools for the training of teachers. Many other states, much smaller in size and population, have double this number and more.

"Some people may tell you that you cannot afford to improve your educational conditions, that it would mean increased taxation and that this will not meet the approval of your constituents. In answer to this, I will say that last year the United States spent $1,500,000,000 for education and in the same period the people spent 20 times that amount for cigarettes, tobacco, cold drinks and cosmetics. So long as we can afford to spend over $20,000,000,000 for non-essentials we can afford to be taxed to improve our school system.

"No money yields greater returns than that invested in education. The returns are 100 fold. There is no rich state in which education did not have a big part in attaining the wealth."

REMINGTON MAY HAVE BEEN SLAIN WITH OWN GUN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20.—Earle Remington, electrical engineer, may have been slain with his own shotgun, according to declarations by police detectives today.

That announcement came after the discovery that a 16 gauge double barrelled shotgun was the only article stolen and not recovered when his offices were entered presumably by burglars, several weeks ago.

Mrs. Remington has been stricken with bronchial pneumonia, according to her physicians, and police have abandoned temporarily their plans to question her, they said. Her brother, Thomas E. Milster, also is under the care of physicians, the strain of the tragedy having proved too great for him, it was stated.

No plans have been made yet for Remington's funeral.

The police were seeking a friend of the slain man who was believed to have recommended to him a private detective, Charles A. Dana Colin, who said Remington had sought his services as a bodyguard the night he was killed.

The police have asked through the newspapers that the "friend" come forward and tell them why, if he knows, Remington bought a detective's protection for a few hours before he was shot and stabbed to death.

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 20.—The workmen on the Duren-Grevenbroich section of the railway taken over from the British occupation authorities by the French, have gone on strike rather than continue their services under the supervision of the French military.

By Associated Press.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—An official statistical picture of the occupation of the Ruhr was before the French public today in the form of a statement to the foreign relations committee of the chamber of deputies by Premier Poincare.

Expulsion of high German officials from the occupied region total 338, of whom 55 have been Rhineland functionaries.

Seventy trains a day are being operated in the Ruhr whereas before the occupation the total was 1205 divided nearly equally between freight and passengers. The premier asserted that the decrease was due "to disturbed conditions caused by orders from Berlin."

French railway workers in the occupied area number 9,640, while 1,026 cars of coal have been sent to France and Belgium. The yearly production of the occupied district is estimated at ninety million tons.

The allies now occupy 2,800 square kilometers of the Ruhr basin, comprising all but 500 square kilometers of the valley. All but 300 of the 14,500 coke ovens have been taken over.

GERMANS CONTINUE TO VISIT OCCUPIED REGION

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Dispatches from the Ruhr today assert that the German cabinet ministers continue to visit the occupied region in defiance of the recent order prohibiting their presence. It is asserted that Herr Sevring, minister of the interior, and Herr Groener, minister of transportation, were recent visitors.

The Times learns that the Belgians have occupied the railway stations at Holsterhausen and Herbvest, which are situated across the Lippe near Dorsten.

One thousand striking railway employes at Duesseldorf are reported by the Daily Mail's correspondent to have asked for work. The requests of 700 were granted.

GERMANY PROTESTS THE EXPULSION OF OFFICIALS

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—The German government has sent a note to the French, British and Belgian governments and the Rhineland commission at Coblenz vigorously protesting against the expulsions of German officials from the occupied territories. The note also protests against what is described as the brutal manner in which the expulsions have been carried out.

SAYS RESISTANCE IS TO URGE NEGOTIATIONS

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, Feb. 20.—Former Chancellor Wirth told a meeting of center party members at Ulm that the resistance in the Ruhr is aimed at bringing about negotiations, the Vossische Zeitung says. The government, he added, must be watchful so as not to miss the moment when negotiations will be possible.

SAYS PASSENGER RATES TOO HIGH IN THREE STATES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Interstate passenger fares charged on the main lines of railroads to and from points in Arizona, New Mexico and Nevada are too high and should be reduced to the 2.6 cent per mile rate which is effective generally in other parts of the west, an examiner of the I. C. C. reported today in concluding an investigation into a complaint brought by the Arizona public service commission and commissions of other states. If the examiner's conclusions are sustained by the commission in its final consideration of the case the existing schedules must be reduced.

In the three western states named the examiner's report said passenger rates running as high as 7.4 cents per mile are applied, the railroads contending that the mountainous character of the country and the expense of building and operating lines is a justification.

The examiner, however, suggested that the commission allow the higher rates to be maintained for branch line service generally, but require the carriers to give travelers over main lines the benefit of rates similar to those existing elsewhere.

GRAND JURY BACK FROM A MONTH'S LEAVE TUESDAY

The grand jury of the 30th district court which went into recess on January 20, reported back for duty Tuesday morning, and after Judge H. R. Wilson renewed his instructions given at the time the body was impanelled, the jury immediately went to work.

A number of witnesses were on hand Tuesday morning and it was indicated from various sources that the grand jury would remain in session at least this entire week and probably a part of the coming week.

It was stated that a large number of new matters would be brought before this body for their immediate action. A number of matters pending when the jury went into recess will also be disposed of.

DR. VINSON QUITS STATE UNIVERSITY; GOES TO CLEVELAND

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Dr. R. E. Vinson, president of the University of Texas, whose election as president of Western Reserve University at Cleveland was announced in press dispatches last night, today was flooded with messages from all parts of the state asking that he reconsider his action in accepting the new position.

Dr. Vinson declined to make a statement regarding his action. He said he would submit his resignation as president of the university at a special meeting of the board of regents next Monday. The time when the change will be made is left entirely to the board of regents except that the change must be made not later than July 1, 1923.

Surprise was expressed by members of the faculty and others connected with the university on the resignation of President Vinson. No indication of the action had been given to university officials, it was said.

EXPECT SENATE TO PASS BEAUMONT RAILROAD BILL

AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—The Witt bill authorizing the Beaumont and Great Northern railroad to purchase and operate the Trinity Valley and Sabine line was before the senate as a special order today. Indications are that the bill will be engrossed and finally passed today. The Fairchild bill amending Dean prohibition law so as to eliminate the penitentiary sentence as a penalty and assess penalties similar to the federal laws, was the only other measure of importance before the upper house.

In the house debate continued over the McNatt bill prescribing a system of motor vehicle fees graduated according to the weight of the vehicle. The measure was debated most of yesterday but little progress was made. As amended the bill provides for a 15 cent per horsepower fee on passenger vehicles in addition to a weight fee ranging from 25 cents to 52 cents per hundredweight, with $2.70 as a minimum horsepower fee.

The Meison severance tax bill and the Cowen bill placing a one-cent per gallon tax on wholesale sales of gasoline also were on today's house calendar, the former for second and the latter for third reading.

KEMAL PASHA FOR EMANCIPATION OF TURKISH WOMEN

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 20.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha, who was recently married to the daughter of a rich Smyrna notable, has made a noteworthy public pronouncement in favor of the emancipation of Turkish women. Speaking before the Teachers association at Broussa, he declared the work before the nation could only be perfected if Turkish women joined equally with the men in educating themselves and in taking active parts in the nation's affairs.

Kemal ascribed the present seclusion of the sex in Turkey to Persian influence, asserting that it was not in accordance with the precepts of the Moslem religion. He recalled the olden times when Turkish women went to war side by side with their husbands and when women succeeded to the throne of the sultans. The Moslem religion, he said, orders women to educate themselves in the same degree as men.

It was only in the large towns even now, he continued, that women secluded themselves. In the country they worked with the men and participated in all their activities. In the cities the tradition of seclusion had been carried too far.

Kemal Pasha's bride is reported to have brought him a dowry of 1,000,000 Turkish lira or approximately $650,000 at the present rate of exchange. The ceremony was in Turkish style.

To do most good a food must taste good

THE crispness and flavor of Grape-Nuts help to make this delicious cereal food most nourishing.

From the very first taste of Grape-Nuts the digestive processes start converting the rich nutritive and mineral elements of this wheat-and-barley food into body-building material.

Grape-Nuts, with good milk, is a complete food, affording that real enjoyment so necessary to good digestion and perfect assimilation.

Most economical, too, because a moderate quantity of Grape-Nuts provides an unusual amount of nourishment.

HOUSE OF DAVID LEADER SUED FOR $800,000 DAMAGES

PAWPAW, MICH., Feb. 20.—Ben Purnell, head of the House of David, a religious colony of Benton Harbor, Mich., must personally appear in court to answer charges brought by two women in an $800,000 damage suit, unless his attorneys find a legal way of preventing the service of a writ of caplas before April 25. This was decided by Judge L. S. Desvolgnes in circuit court yesterday in denying a petition for an injunction against the arrest of cult leader.

In the suit Mrs. Ruth Remford Reed and Mrs. Gladys Bamford Rubel, who claim to be former members of the cult, seek to recover property alleged to have been turned over to the colony by their wealthy parents when the family joined the colony. Charges of misconduct by Purnell and allegations that Purnell forced them to marry men of his own choice are made by the plaintiffs.

CONSUMPTION OF WOOL AND STOCKS IN HAND IS NEAR PRE-WAR FIGURES

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The consumption of wool and the stocks of wool in hand are near pre-war conditions, the National Association of Wool Manufacturers was told at its annual meeting today in the report of Secretary Walter Humphries.

"While the total of wool consumption is normal, as compared with 1918," he said, "that of domestic wools is distinctly higher. The consumption of carpet grades has had a marked increase which has continued throughout the past year.

"Apart from specific cases of uncertainty, and with the main question of the tariff settled, and because of under-production during the last two and a half years, there is a spirit of hopefulness for a successful year to come.

"Regardless of the tariff, prices of raw wool have risen, in foreign as well as domestic market. Tops and worsted weaving yarns were fairly stable in 1921 but throughout the year 1922 there has been a general advance in their prices. In spite of this increased cost of raw materials, the demand for lower prices for goods has been insistent."

Millions of wishes created this record

EVERY time a phonograph record has been played these past twenty years—ever since the first disc record—some one has wished that surface sound might be abolished.

Millions and millions of times it has been wished—by people with sensitive nerves, who hear the noise of needle friction above everything — by keen-eared music lovers listening for delicate phrasing and expression, which they know to be there, but which are drowned in the blur of surface sounds.

Those millions of wishes have at last come true in the form of Columbia New Process Records. Columbia engineers and chemists solved the problem by the discovery of a new surface substance so fine and smooth that the needle travels over it almost inaudibly.

All of the Columbia Records out to-day are made with this amazingly quiet, new surface.

Tear out this list and take it to a Columbia Dealer. He will play any or all that you request. Note the fullness and sweetness of tone, a finer musical quality than you ever heard before. Note the absence of any annoying surface distraction.

As an example of this wonderful new construction and superior musical charm ask to hear A-3790. It's Ted Lewis and His Band playing "Runnin' Wild"—a fox-trot that will keep you dancing till it's time to bring in the milk. Its teammate on the other side is "St. Louis Blues."

Only in Columbia New Process Records can you obtain this perfection of surface quietness. The process is patented.

NO AGREEMENT ON PLACING OF POLES REACHED MONDAY

MATTER IS ARGUED AT HEARING BEFORE CITY COUNCIL.

FURTHER EXTENSIONS OF MAINS ORDERED

Additional Paving Petitions Receive Attention; One Protest Is Presented.

No agreement was reached between the residents of Southland addition and the Electric company at the public hearing held before the city council Monday afternoon.

P. A. Rogers, representing the Electric company explained to the council that his company was acting on its best judgment with the desire to serve the most customers. He also pointed out that unless the proposed extension on Baylor and Van Buren streets was allowed that it would be impossible for the Electric company to comply with the city's order for street lights.

Judge R. E. Huff, representing the property owners in that section called the attention of the council to ordinance 294, forbidding the placing of wires and poles on certain streets in Southland addition. Dr. M. R. Garrison and Theo Beck, property owners at Van Buren and Huff, supported Judge Huff in the contention that poles and wiring would mar the beauty of the two streets.

After much discussion the council agreed to continue the hearing until the next meeting. It was proposed at the meeting Monday that the lines be run on Denver and Brook.

Ordinance 429 granting a franchise to the Traction company for an extension of Southland lines to the new Junior college, was passed to its third and final reading.

The public hearing called for the proposed paving on Austin street between Eleventh and Twelfth was continued until February 26, following a protest made by C. C. McDonald, representing S. A. Hodges, a property owner in that section.

The paving company was authorized to continue with the paving of two blocks on Burnett between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets. The original contract calling for pavement from Eleventh to Seventeenth, was waived when property owners past Thirteenth objected to the improvement.

Woody and Hines were granted permission to break down the curb at Sixteenth and Lamar and to pave the trangle adjoining the filling station.

William Idou submitted a petition to operate a grocery store and drug store in the rear of 1600 Broad street. The council granted the permit under the usual conditions.

Upon recommendation of Commissioner Stayton the council voted to extend four city water mains to sections of the city where the service is most needed. The extensions call for an addition of 4,697 feet of six-inch main and the installation of four fire plugs; it is estimated that the improvement will cost $6,135.

The following extensions were authorized at the Monday meeting of the council:

On Brook from Fifth to Fourth, 250 feet of 6-inch pipe.

On Fourth from Brook to Broad, 425 feet of 6-inch pipe.

Fire plug at Seventh and Lee streets.

On Tilden from Avenue G to K, 1760 feet of six-inch pipe.

Fire plug at Tilden and Avenue I.

On Avenue K from Tilden to Seymour, 1732 feet of six-inch pipe.

Fire plug at Avenue K and Seymour.

On Holliday from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth, 360 feet four-inch main to be replaced with six-inch main.

Fire plug at Holliday and Speedway.

The improvement on Avenue K will be financed by property owners on that street on condition that they be reimbursed as soon as the line becomes a paying project.

KETCH ALLOWED $143,000 IN FEES IN HAMON ESTATE

EASTLAND, TEXAS, Feb. 20.—Resignation of Frank L. Ketch as administrator of the Jake L. Hamon estate in Texas was accepted here by Judge J. H. Jones in county court at law, and Mrs. Georgie Hamon Rohrer, widow of the late Oklahoma oil man and politician named temporary administratrix. Judge Jones allowed Ketch fees totaling about $78,477 which, with $64,000 previously allowed in Oklahoma courts, made the total allowance granted him approximately $143,000, according to attorneys.

DECLARES CHARGES AGAINST STANDARD FLAGRANTLY UNTRUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Declaring charges made against it by Thomas S. Black of the Western Petroleum company of Chicago, were "flagrantly untrue," the Standard Oil company of Indiana today filed request for a hearing with the senate oil investigating committee.

The Standard company declared in its request, made by Harry A. Daugherty, its general attorney, that it is desired to produce witnesses to refute the testimony given by Black at the final session of the committee's inquiry into conditions and prices in the oil industry. In this testimony Black charged the Standard Oil company of Indiana, by whom he said he was employed for 22 years, with price fixing.

"The charges made by Black," said the Standard company in its request, "are so flagrantly untrue that the Standard Oil company of Indiana cannot permit them to stand on the record unchallenged." Black was never in its employ, the Standard said.

J. W. SAYE TAKES OATH AS DEPUTY U. S. MARSHAL

DEPUTATION RECEIVED LATE MONDAY AFTERNOON FROM FORT WORTH.

RELIEVES W. D. LITTLER ON TUESDAY MORNING

Has Been Assisting Mr. Littler During the Past Thirty Days.

John W. Saye, formerly sheriff of Young county, took the oath of office Tuesday morning as United States deputy marshal of the Wichita Falls division, northwestern district of Texas.

Mr. Saye received his deputation and commission from the Fort Worth office late Monday afternoon. The order carried with it that he should assume the duties of his office at once, relieving W. D. Littler who has been ordered to return to the home office at Fort Worth.

Immediately after United States Commissioner J. A. Lantz administered the oath of office Mr. Saye took charge and Mr. Littler prepared to leave for his new duties. Mr. Littler left for Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Saye has been assisting Mr. Littler and becoming acquainted with the duties of the office during the past 30 days. At that time The Times carried a story to the effect that Mr. Saye would be the next U. S. deputy marshal, but the article stated that he had not as yet been commissioned.

During the 60 days that Mr. Littler served in the capacity of a federal officer here he made a large number of friends and a wide circle of acquaintanceship.

Mr. Saye is well known throughout Wichita county and the Wichita Falls division. He served as sheriff of Young county for a number of years and was a peace officer there through a period of ten years.

Boa Constrictors New Fashionable Pets for Women

LONDON, Feb. 20.—Boa constrictors caught on the shore of the Amazon are the latest fashionable pets for women. A flourishing business has been done by a London naturalist in selling these pets to professional dancing girls in England and on the continent.

The snakes, which are kept in perforated zinc boxes fitted with tanks, include every variety of Brazilian boa constrictors. American bull snakes are also popular.

"I am importing two shipments of snakes," one dealer announced, "to meet the demand. The smaller snakes are the most popular and there is no danger from their bite. They are easily tamed and make good pets."

Transport Logan Will Be Used as School for Boys

BALTIMORE, Feb. 20.—Transformed into a sumptuous see-the-world-as-you-study college for boys the former army transport Logan will set sail September 15 on her initial cruise, if the plans of Asa G. Candler Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., son of the multimillionaire beverage manufacturer, are realised. The ship will have accommodations for 400 pupils, a large faculty, managers and clerks of the various departments.

Mr. Candler said yesterday that the school is not a philanthropic foundation. It is a purely business proposition and only men of means can afford to send their sons through such a course.

"My own son," Mr. Candler said, "and the son of my brother, Howard, will go on the first cruise. This expresses my confidence in the scheme."

"The view I take is this," Mr. Candler continued. "There are many poor boys who attend schools and buckle down to their work in earnest because they have no other interests. But there are many sons of rich men who have their cars and their clubs and find too much to do other than study. If the rich men's sons are sent to my school they will enjoy themselves, but at the same time they will see that they must concentrate on their studies."

Young boys will not be accepted by the school, it was stated. Those who are admitted must have reached the third year of high school or the first or second year of a liberal arts college. Each boy must have a certificate of health and be of good morals.

Learning How to Be Ugly, Actress Hit on Beauty Secret

Marion Kerby as "Nana," the absinthe fiend, in "Seventh Heaven."

By NEA Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Learning how to be ugly, Marion Kerby hit on the secret of beauty.

Miss Kerby is a character actress.

Herself blessed with an abundance of good looks and the ability to wear clothes with distinction, she has specialized in the stage role of an old, deformed woman, an abject hag, so entirely different from what she really is that no friend ever recognises her in her "part" unless he notices her name on the program.

It's All Mental.

"Before I undertake to portray the role of an old hag," she says, "I think of all the horrible, devastating things that can happen to a woman to make her bitter, ugly, disillusioned. I think of the hurts and privations she must bear before pride and hope die. I concentrate on misery and ugliness.

"As soon as I have this mental picture clearly in my mind my face registers what I feel.

"Ugliness is not a matter of makeup any more than beauty is. Unless temporarily, you can feel ugly, drab, dejected and miserable, no amount of grease paint, handmade wrinkles or slovenly clothes will project such an image.

Works Both Ways.

"Well, if you can work yourself into a state of physical repulsiveness by a mental process then why can't you do the reverse—elevate yourself by concentration on beautiful thoughts and, by the elimination of malicious, devastating emotions, to a state where you'll reflect loveliness?

"I know it can be done.

"I have seen girls, taken from ugly environments, surrounded by beauty and transformed facially almost beyond recognition.

"I believe that every woman can attain the picture she holds for herself in her own mind if she will first desire it hard enough.

"Beauty or ugliness! A woman need only take her choice."

PITTSBURGH.—Dr. Stephen Alexander Hunter, 72, for years a leader in the missionary movement of the Presbyterian church in China, died here today.

Marion Kerby as she really is.

Circle Four of Floral Heights M. E. Will "Increase Their Talent"

Members of Circle Four of the Floral Heights Methodist church, South, will have an opportunity to see what they can do with "increasing a talent," following the gift to each member of the circle by Mrs. Jeff Waggoner, a prominent member, of an equal sum of money to be invested and increased for the circle.

PRESIDENT FEDERATED PARENT-TEACHERS MUCH PLEASED, NEGRO SCHOOL

Mrs. ohn Kay, president of the Parent-Teachers Federation, was very much pleased with the Friday Parent-Teachers' meeting at the George Washington negro school, and with the school grounds, auditorium and the classwork of the children.

"The grounds of the Washington school are as beautifully kept, with regard to perfect cleanliness, as any in town," Mrs. Kay stated, "and much better kept than some of our school campuses. The auditorium is about the best one at any of the public schools, with a stage and big audience hall. The girls are studying domestic art and science and the boys manual art, just as they are in the other wards, and are doing splendid classwork.

"Friday's program was especially interesting to Mrs. T. B. Smock and me, when we went over on the invitation of the principal. The children opened the program with a patriotic hymn, the A. M. E. pastor gave the invocation, and Mrs. Smock and I both made short talks. The president of their parent-teachers association, Mrs. J. Bell, made a fine talk on the 'Duty of the Parent-Teachers,' and the A. M. E. pastor made a splendid talk. Eva Anna Williams, a pupil, gave a piano solo and did it beautifully. During the afternoon the 400 children sang 'I Can't Hear Nobody Pray,' and they closed the program with 'The Good Old Washington Blues'."

"We expect to make a good report from them to the Federation at the monthly meeting Tuesday, and we are mighty proud of their work."

Kellogg's Bran is prepared to do one thing—AND DO IT WELL!

Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation, mild or chronic. It is scientifically prepared for that purpose. It is ALL BRAN, therefore it has the necessary bulk to assure results. Foods with a small bran content cannot afford permanent relief.

When your physician or friends advise you to eat Kellogg's Bran, you follow on for the purpose of eliminating a dangerous clogging-up and toxic condition of your system. You can't afford to take half-way measures! Think of the lost time and the dangers of illness you are daily dodging!

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, but it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it—every day—at least two tablespoonfuls; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Try Kellogg's Bran mixed with a hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereals, adding two tablespoonfuls of Bran for each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot or cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake!

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

THE QUEER BAKER-MAN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"I do hope the oven won't get warm today and spoil my bread," he said to the children.

Mix-up land was full of queer things.

When the Twins left King-Even-Steven and started toward the palace of Jack Straw (who had no business to be there), they saw some wonderful sights.

The first was a baker-man who was putting a large baking of bread into a stone oven. To the amazement of the Twins the next things he did was to pile some large chunks of ice under the oven and close the door.

"I do hope the oven won't get warm today and spoil my bread," he said to the children. "Yesterday the sun came out and the ice started to melt and the bread got sour. One can't have good bread unless he has an ice-cold oven."

"How very strange!" said Nancy. "Where we live the oven must be hot to bake the bread."

"Ah, then you don't live in Mix-Up Land," said the baker-man. "Everything is changed around here. No doubt you make doughnuts with holes in the middle, also."

"Of course," it was Nick's turn to say. "How do you make them?"

"Why we make the hole first," answered the baker-man, "and after it gets a nice shape, we put the doughnut in the middle."

"And how do you make pies?" asked Nancy curiously.

"Square," answered the baker-man. "As square as dollars."

"But dollars are round,' said Nick. "Not in Mix-Up Land," said the baker. "They're square. All money is square here except paper money and paper money is made of silver, so there isn't any."

"Oh, my!" sighed Nancy. "Its all so hard to understand."

"Not when you are a Mix-Upper," said the baker-man. "But there! I've talked too much! I forgot to put salt on my sugar-cookies, and the children won't buy them unless they have a thick layer of salt-icing."

"Then we'll go away and not bother you," said Nick. "Goodby!"

"Goodby," said the baker-man.

OLYMPIC PICTURE FULL OF ROMANCE AND GOOD COMEDY

"The Pride of Palomar," Cosmopolitan's film version of Peter B. Kyne's novel, was warmly received on its initial presentation at the Olympic theater last night. The majority of those who attended the opening day's showing were those who had read the story and many compliments were given the producers for so closely following the novel and for making so impressive a picture from it. "The Pride of Palomar" is a thrilling drama laid in southern California telling of the struggle of a World war veteran against crushing interests in his native state, the fight centering around the possession of the family ranch, which he finds on his return from overseas service, has all but fallen into the hands of the enemy. Making the story highly dramatic is the fact that the father of the girl whom the young man loves heads the opposing interests. There is also the great problem for the girl of deciding where she ought to stand in the fight between her father and her sweetheart. She loves both and her novel way of meeting the situation is thrilling.

The romantic Spanish-American spirit that still survives in southern California gives the story an admirable setting. That the scenes of the picture were taken on the exact spots where the story is laid gives an added interest. Part of the action takes place in the gardens and in the historical old San Luis Rey mission. Other notable scenes are shots of the far extending El Palomar rancho, the construction of a gigantic irrigation project and scenes of the big fiesta following the races in which Panchito, the pride of Palomar, wins.

The last two reels is divided between thrills and comedy, making the picture one of the best liked of the year. It will be shown at the Olympic until Thursday.

E. S. WHITELAW TO BE CANDIDATE FOR ALDERMANIC PLACE

Judge E. S. Whitelaw has authorized the announcement of his candidacy for park and sanitary commissioner.

Judge Whitelaw has been a resident of Wichita Falls for many years and has many friends who know that if elected to this position he will give it conscientious attention with the judgment of a knowledge of the city's needs.

Judge Whitelaw served for two years as city judge and made a record for good judgment and conscientiousness in that office that his friends believe will commend him to the voters as a whole.

He asks the consideration of all voters and expects to see as many of them as he can in person before the election in April.

SHRINERS READY FOR WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY DANCE AT CALL FIELD

Maskat Temple will entertain Shriners and their ladies with the annual Washington's birthday dance at Call Field Tuesday evening from 9 until 12 o'clock. A six piece orchestra, one of the best that this section affords, has been imported for the occasion. Walter Caldwell, chairman of the entertainment committee, announces that in addition to the orchestra, several real surprises are in store. Wilkie Talbert will act as floor director. The ball is strictly informal and is one of the leading events in the Shrine social calendar for the year. Mesdames Frank Collier, C. E. Thames, W. W. Gardner, G. T. Bass and C. U. Daniels have been selected as patronesses.

SENIORS VOTE TUESDAY IN COYOTE CONTESTS, RESULT NOT ANNOUNCED

The last of the Coyote contests was held Tuesday morning when the student body of the high school voted the most representative and most popular girls. Only the fair ones of the senior class were eligible to these honors.

Each student was allowed one vote, writing the girl's name for his or her choice on a card. In previous years a rally was held in the auditorium, nomination speeches were made, and the event was one of the greatest of the entire year.

Although members of the Coyote staff were busy counting the votes all during the day Tuesday, the winners of the race have not yet been determined.

8 NEGRO MEN ARRESTED ON VAGRANCY CHARGES AS RESULT OF RAIDS

Ample evidence of the results of the police department drive on the vagrants in the negro section appeared in the city court Tuesday morning. Eight negro men, who were arrested Monday afternoon in a domino parlor in the "flats," appeared for trial on vagrancy charges. Two bonds of $10 were forfeited when the defendants failed to answer to the charges. Fines and forfeitures in the four vagrancy cases that came to trial amounted to $95. Five cases were passed for further investigation.

Drunkenness charges appeared opposite the names of four defendants on docket in the city court. The usual $10 fine was assessed in three cases where pleas of guilty were entered; a bond of $10 was forfeited in the fourth case.

REORGANIZATION OF GILLILAND CO. IS BEING EFFECTED

Reorganization of the Gilliland Oil Company, and termination of its receivership, are provided for by an agreement which creditors and stockholders have approved, and which is now before the court in Oklahoma.

The plan provides for issuance of 10-year-old six per cent bonds to the amount of $4,600,000, underwritten by the Atlantic Refining Company, and issued to creditors on a dollar-for-dollar basis. While it is understood that the Atlantic Company has some options on Gilliland holdings, this is not confirmed.

The stock of the company is to be put in a voting trust, of five members, of which the Atlantic will name three, the preferred stockholders one and the common stockholders one. Receiver Patrick Hurley will be one of the Atlantic's trustees, and Mr. Gilliland will represent the common share owners. The plan provides that Receiver Hurley will become president, and will receive 100,000 common shares for his part in the negotiations. The preferred stockholders accept a reduction in the dividend rate from eight per cent to six per cent, this to be raised seven per cent when the bonds are retired. The Atlantic is given a 10-year option on all gasoline and oil produced by the company, at market prices.

Mr. Gilliland and his family own $250,000 shares of common stock. The difficulties in which the company became involved in 1921 involved nearly all mid-continent fields. Mr. Gilliland had interests in Wichita county.

STORAGE ERECTED FOR PRODUCTION OF PANHANDLE WELL

After several unsuccessful attempts to have pipeline connections made to their well by the larger companies, Silk-Bullington & Clark of this city have made a contract for the erection of a 55,000 barrel steel storage tank to be completed within the next 60 days at their No 1 well on the Burnett ranch in Carson county.

This well is at present producing over 300 barrels daily, and the tankage will be capable of looking after future production from this tract. The storage tank will be located midway between No. 1 and No. 2, the latter should be numbered among the producers by the time this storage is finished.

Drilling operations on the Texas company's No. 2, and the Gulf Production company's No. 3, both on the Burnett land, is going on in a satisfactory manner and it will only be a short while until this section boasts of six producing wells.

TO IMPROVE INTERSECTION OF HIGHWAYS IN NORTH WICHITA

A safer and more attractive intersection of highways in North Wichita is to be constructed through the joint efforts of the city, county and interested property owners, as a result of steps taken by the chamber of commerce.

The intersection, at the point where the Iowa Park, Burkburnett and Friberg roads meet is at present narrow and dangerous, and inadequate for the heavy traffic. Plans under consideration provide for reducing the sharpness of the turn and making it both safer and more attractive.

COMPANY ENLARGES PLANT COMPANY ENARGES PLANT DUE TO ADDED DEMAND

Owing to the growing demand on its resources due to the great number of additional drilling rigs in the Archer fields and especially in the Freeman-Hampton pool, the Beaver Creek Water company which is the main source of supply for this section, has enlarged their pumping station on Beaver creek to double its original capacity. This company laid the first line to the Freeman-Hampton field when it boasted of one drilling well, and has maintained its supply irrespective of the several droughts of the past year or so.

—new ideas and arrivals

THE SUPREME COURT being unable to locate the banks of Red River has decided to appoint a commission to locate the cut banks to determine the Texas-Oklahoma State line.

TERRELL, TEXAS, has an idea that they need a $400,000.00 Cotton Mill and their Chamber of Commerce has entered into negotiations with M. L. Cannon, who has a chain of cotton mills in the South.

Why not bring Mr. Cannon to Wichita Falls?

We can use the Cotton Mills.

COUNCIL APPEALS TO TAXPAYERS NOT TO BE DELINQUENT

Unless there is a marked change in the payment of current and delinquent taxes, the city government will be forced to operate on a credit basis on or before June 1, according to a statement made at the city council meeting Monday afternoon when a statement of the financial condition was submitted by City Clerk W. E. McBroom.

At present the delinquent city taxes amount to approximately $249,000; of this amount $139,000 is due the city operating fund. Failure to collect this amount will force the city to borrow money for operating expense and as a result increase the tax rate for the next year, it was stated Monday.

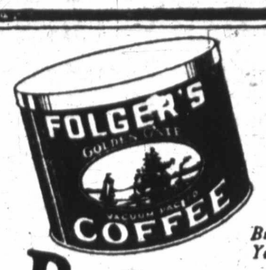

February 28 has been set by both city and school authorities as the final day for the payment of school and city taxes without a penalty. Under the prevailing conditions city officials declare that a further extension is impossible.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever will lose his life for My sake, the same shall save it.—Luke 9:24.

You cannot win without sacrifice.—Charles Buxton.

LOOKING BACKWARD TO TUT ANKH AMEN.

The mummy of Tut Ankh Amen, a mighty ruler of the Egyptian empire, has been dug from beneath the sands of Thebes after a sleep of thirty-three centuries.

What great and mighty men and empires have lived and had their day and passed to dust and nothingness while Tut lay shrouded in his mummy cloths.

Tut's own empire reached the zenith of its power and the flower of its civilization. Solomon ruled in all his glory. Carthage flourished and grew powerful. Troy was sacked and burned. Homer sang of heroic deeds. Greek civilization flourished. Alexander, the Great, conquered a world empire. Rome arose to the heights of her glory. Charlemange formed another world empire. The Northmen swept down upon the coast of Great Britain and the coast of Europe with fire and sword. Spain became the mistress of the Seven Seas and attained an empire comparable with that of Charlemange. Columbus discovered America. Great Britain succeeded Spain as mistress of the seas. A great nation was born in the New World. Germany developed and the ambition of her rulers plunged the world into one of its most destructive wars.

Nearly all of recorded history has been made since the time when Tut's cadaver, embalmed with a process that is unknown today, was sealed within the tomb at Thebes. Yet sealed in the tomb were vases and other works of art that have not been excelled since that date, revealing a workmanship and an artistic conception that is an evidence of a high civilization.

No doubt Tut and his satraps believed there could be nothing greater and better than they had developed there with their slaves in the valley of the Nile. So did many another ruler and many another people on down through the centuries. So think some today, but will they leave as much remains to be judged by thirty-three centuries hence as did Tut Ankh Amen?

And looking back through history we can see how little and inconsequential have been the power and pomp and glory of those who have ruled the world since Tut Ankh Amen's time. A plain and poor Carpenter of Galilee has made a greater impress upon history and upon civilization than all of them together and His influence grows rather than diminishes with the progress of time.

FOR OPEN ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

A woman legislator has introduced a bill in the Ohio legislature to bar from the court rooms in the trial of cases involving a sex angle, all persons except those connected with the case, such as lawyers, witnesses, court officials and newspaper reporters.

The woman who introduced this bill has a good purpose in view, and that is to suppress morbid curiosity and prevent prurient and salacious details in such cases from going to the general public and especially from being heard by young people. But a foundation stone of Anglo-Saxon justice is the public hearing and the moment we start to surround the administration of justice with secrecy at that moment we will start to arouse suspicion and to destroy confidence in our system of justice. Secrecy in justice would be abhorrent to a self-governing people, and while it must be admitted that the public trial of so-called sex cases is a bad thing for a community, yet a secret trial would be worse.

There have been trials in this community which this paper has reported in some detail, not for the purpose of feeding a morbid curiosity, but as a matter of justice to all the parties concerned and so that the public might have before it the evidence in measuring the agencies of justice.

TAKING CARE OF LAME DUCKS.

Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington, has been appointed as ambassador to Peru. Senator Harry New is slated for a cabinet position. President Harding is of the old school of politics who believes in finding places for the "lame ducks." The modern and progressive politician is moved by no such sentiments. Theirs is the policy of ignoring the "duck" for the principle reason that he is "lame." Somehow we are old fashioned enough to hold nothing against the president because he wants to take care of the "lame ducks."

Demand for near-sighted chaperones is only exceeded by the demand for stiff-necked taxi drivers.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE BEST IS YET TO COME

Stevenson says that "an aspiration is a joy forever, a possession as solid as a landed estate, a fortune which we can never exhaust and which gives us year by year a revenue of pleasurable activity. To have many of these is to be spiritually rich."

We are inclined—many of us—to fear the worst, to doubt the ever rising forces that make aspiration a lifting power in our lives.

Imagine, if you can, the almost miraculous result to yourself should you always work for and expect the best!

There are many characters in this world who are dauntless and unafraid under nearly every circumstance, for the simple reason that they are always looking for the best instead of the worst.

Our thoughts shape our actions.

What you do, what you become, must be traceable to what you have learned to think from day to day.

Think this, as a general proposition—the best is yet to come.

When you awake in the morning, as you go into the serious work of the day, as you review what you have done at its close, keep aspiring—keep a greater and more useful success pictured before you.

In competition with yourself, try to excel the best that you have ever done.

The best, then, is sure to come.

MEMORY

These are the things death cannot take away:
The voice of welcome which was ours to know;
Though now those cheeks where roses used to blow
And those pure lips where smiles were wont to play,
Bright realms as lovely as the skies of May,
Lie as a garden blanketed with snow.
Until the day we, too, must turn to go,
Unchanged and constant shall her beauty stay.
Nor age nor tears nor pain nor cruel care
Can harm her now or enter Memory's hall,
She that we loved, so beautiful and fair,
Shall come to us still radiant, when we call.
From all life's dangers now secure is she,
Lovely she was, and lovely she shall be.

CAPITOL JOKES

By MEYER LONDON
U. S. Representative From New York, Twelfth District

I don't know any funny stories, but here's a parable I often tell to the members of my party—I'm a socialist—to show them that things can't be done all at once.

The tale is from Talmud, I think, though I'm not sure.

Anyhow, a man was sent to the well to bring a pail of water. He was gone for an hour or two, and a messenger was dispatched to find out what was causing the delay. He found the man digging around the well.

"Why do you do that instead of bringing the pail of water?" queried the messenger.

"Oh, I didn't want to go trotting back and forth with just one pail at a time," said the man, "so I was getting ready to bring you the well."

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 22.

Since interest may be deducted from gross income, it follows that interest received is subject to the income tax, and should be included in gross income of the recipient. Interest need not be be received in cash, but it is constructively received when it is credited or held subject to call, as in the case of savings deposits and bonds. The interest on certain securities, such as United States bonds issued before September 3, 1917, the obligations of a state, territory, or any political subdivision thereof, or the District of Columbia, and securities issued under the Federal farm loan act, is entirely exempt from the income tax, as is also interest credited to postal savings accounts on moneys deposited in postal savings banks. Interest, which is not taxable, however, must be reported, as indicated by questions on the income tax return.

Bonds of private corporations operating public utilities and the bonds of foreign governments are not exempt.

The interest upon United States bonds of the First Liberty loan and all prior issues, and upon the 3 3-4 per cent Victory notes, is wholly exempt from normal and surtax. All other United States bonds are exempt from the normal tax, but the surtax applies to interest upon any of such bonds held in excess of certain amounts of principal, as provided for by the revenue act.

EATS

Corned-beef-and-cabbage originated accidentally several hundred years ago in Kerquellens Land, small island far southwest of Australia. An explorer, seeking the south pole, found this island covered with wild cabbages. He cooked them with "bully beef" from the galley. Carveth Wells, explorer, tells this in a lecture.

In the line of eating, it's about the best story since chop suey was exposed as having originated in San Francisco instead of China. Benefactors of humanity, these inventors of new food preparations.

HYPNOTISM

Coue has a rival in his home town, Nancy, France. The rival is Dr. Balme. He follows Coue's trial, as a hypnotic healer. There will be other followers—flocks of them. Coue can find comfort in the old saying that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. In one sense, Coue himself is an imitator. He tells his audience that his psychology is old stuff with a new presentation.

Instead of the "better and better" slogan, Doc. Balme has his patients repeat: "Sleep is healthful."

He is right about the sleep, which recharges our batteries and eliminates poisons from the body. Few of us get enough of it.

Balme's admirers think his slogan is as good as Coue's. Probably. What turns the trick is imagination, not the slogan.

One American miner, on the average, brings up three times as much coal as a British miner. So finds W. W. Adams, Uncle Sam's expert in such matters.

To give the British miner a fair deal, we must admit that machine methods and ease with which coal can be extracted from some mines, as compared with others, has a lot to do with it. However, it is a fact that the American miner—typical of all American labor—has a world's record for speed, when he wants to. America is a powerful dynamo, its current surging through us.

The Disciples Called to Service

"And he appointed twelve . . . that he might send them forth." Mark 3:14.

Read Mark 3:13-19.

"The Master called men to him only to send them out."

MEDITATION: Great multitudes followed Jesus. Just twelve were called to the special privilage of his constant companionship, but this was "that he might send them forth" to ministry like his. Christian privileges spell obligation for Christian service.

HYMN:

Help me the slow of heart to move
By some clear, winning word of love,
Teach me the wayward feet to stay,
And guide them in the homeward way.

PRAYER: O God, our Heavenly Father, we thank thee for the gift of thy dear Son. Grant that we who have received him in our hearts may joyfully go forth with him on many errands. Bless those who toil for thee in far off places; comfort them in their loneliness, and unite our work to theirs. Accept our gifts; receive our prayers; and use us for the sake of thy Son Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The girl, clinging to the trunk of the cottonwood tree that stood above Bluewater, while she tried to beat her heart to bravery and hope, essayed three time to answer that call. Then she shook herself together by a supreme effort.

"Yes, Belle dear," she said.

"Eh?" said Belle, "what's the matter, Val?"

And Val answered, as she must, though the words semed to tear out of her stifling heart.

"Signal-fires," she said, "that say —the Rustler's—out!"

"Great goodness!" said Belle. "Thank Heaven—at last! And Boyce Clendenning rides, of course. Oh, how I wish John were here! But Boyce will do the trick if it is possible. Let's hope it is."

The girl by the cottonwood looked at her mother with strained and piteous eyes. Then she dragged her body forward and took the reaching hand.

"I think I'll go to bed," said Belle; "good-night, dear."

Val leaned and kissed her, listened dully to her steps returning into the house.

Then she, too, entered and groped her way, more blindly than Belle had ever done, into the far depths of her own south room.

And far away in the shadowed levels the Black Rustler himself played his last great game. A mad delight was in his heart, the daring and reckless courage that had marked him on the Border rode high in him—like a wind whipping a prairie fire. It whipped him to strong deeds, to the fine point of the long odds, to the joy of beating the ranchers by the width of a hair. He rode a horse upon whose gallantry he could depend—though there was one other he had rather had beneath him—and by his side rode his aid and lieutenant, companions of an hundred night-rides, a huge bulk of a man on a powerful, raw-boned horse.

It was not fat steers they took this night, neither anything that a man might need, but something to cut the loser with a lash of chagrin and rage —namely Black Princess, the fine young mare of whom the Flying Y had boasted much for this year's races. Gentle-hearted, tractable, the Princess ran between their running horses, making for the distant pass into the Blind Trail Hills, and the rising note of their speed proved that there was something in her, that the boasts had had foundation.

From time to time the Black Rustler rose in his stirrups and scanned the world around with its spires of flame upon the darkness, and at each sight he whooped with a mad laughter and struck a fist upon his pommel.

"Their little fires!" he cried, "their horses! Their cocksure faith! While th' Black Rustler rides out of their pet like an eel."

But the little fires covered a further readiness than he could know, their faith was solid as a rock—for many men were far along the sides of the net before the fires were set, and some of them had known for three days that the Black Princess was to go tonight! In fact the pass was guarded by five men in the shadow of the cliff, their six-guns waiting—and some one carried a good rope at his saddlebow.

For old Dame Fate was pleased to make a play in the rangeland—and her bells were set to ring on the Rustler's number.

There were more horses afoot in the plains that night than any rider knew. For instance—a spotted pinto pony, like a ghost in the dark—and a great red horse with a shadow on his shoulders. These two met, by chance, where the Little Antlope cut down to its ford beyond Refugio—and there was a peal of vixen laughter, a taunt and a small fist shaken to the stars. The man on the stallion caught his breath, thought swiftly, and swore a low-toned oath.

For a while he sat where the flying pinto left him, in the lee of the cottonwoods, thinking as swiftly as he had ever thought in all his vivid life. Then he drew a hand across his eyes and rode through the shallow waters to Refugio.

And beyond the pass in the Blind Trail Hills something was happening —something vital, that would have to do with the play that was coming—for that top sapling in the hidden glade, long thinned and bending, gave at last beneath the worrying teeth, bent farther yet to the push of a broad bay breast—and the ends let go from their cut slots in the wall.

With a horse scream the Redstar feeling the barrier give, pushed, felt of the remaining height with his bending neck—and whirled from the gate to tear away up to the level floor.

Far in the center he turned, leaned forward, poised, then stretched away in full flight toward the lowered bars.

It was still a splendid hurdle, enough to tax his full strength and brain, but beyond it lay the sounding canons, the pass, the open plains—and—the sweet green fields of home! Hom—and the calling voice of his beloved—with the sweet scents in her hair—the feel of love in her caressing hands!

Velantrie knelt with his face toward the light.

Like a wind upon a hill—like a kite above a cloud—like a bird that skims a prairie—the Redstar took the gate! Free! Free as the winds that sucked up the gorge, as the untrammeled waters!

He flung up his great head, his soft eyes shining like fox-fire, and with his mouth open and screaming his joy to all the silent walls, the Redstar went down the cut—for home!

And the Black Rustler, his horse's feet soft-padded, rode for the guarded pass hilariously. But he, too, was keen as the seventh sense. He, too felt a mystery in the night that he had neevr felt. Safe enough yet, he stopped his headlong flight, his strong hands on lead-rope and rein, rose in his stirrups and listened.

Bark—bark—bark—like the answering of the pack when the leader signals "found." A ring of speaking shots—sign that, with quarry scented, the net was closing down.

The first cold fear struck into the Rustler's heart. He raised his head yet higher and listened in every quarter. Then he laughed again—but it was different laughter. Brief, hollow, full of mad excitement. He sobered and held out his hand to the man beside him.

"We'ev had many a ride together," he said, "an' it's been a great life—th' best in its line—such a life as no other two men on this border have ever lived. But I think it's done at last. This was to have been th' best, th' most brilliant—th' high watermark of all. Shake, old man. An'—goodby. Turn th' damn mare loose—an' ride—if there's any way to ride that these damn ranchers"—there was savage hatred in his voice—"ain't covernig."

He wrung the hand of the silent man, who could not speak it seemed, and was away.

And at that hour, when the world seemed lightening with the rising moon, while Val prayed in anguish, while the Black Rustler rode away on his last great lap alone—Father Hillaire rode trembling to stand in the gate and grasp Velantrie's hand. "Padre," said the man simply, "I've come back—to the church door—and to you."

"Red?" asked the priest with ineffable sorrow in his voice.

"No, White, I hope. As white as I can ever be. I am in haste father—great haste—and I need you. Always I have needed you, it seems—but more than ever now."

He spoke rapidly and Father Hillaire drew him into the moonlight that he might look into his face with yearning eyes.

It was thinned a bit and paler.

"The wound?"

"Better. Almost well. It was nothing—a scratch. I've had many worse. But—he was the man, padre—you know that."

"How well?" said the other, "and for how long?"

"So?" And you did not tell me?"

They were speaking in the elemental, as if it was the time for all hopes, all dissimulations, to be laid aside.

"No. Why should I?"

"True. You were my friend."

Velantrie laid his arm on the shoulders under the shabby cassock that seemed bowing under an invisible weight.

"Tie my friend now, padre," he said and there was a wistful tone in the rich voice that vibrated like a string, "I am in great haste but I want something."

"Ask," said the priest simply.

"Such comfort as you have for lost soul's, padre—give it me."

Father Hillaire wet his lips.

"Die?" he asked stiffly, "how, my son?"

"The Black Rustler rides tonight—into a trap, set and prepared by that little arch-fiend, Lolo Sánchez—I met her but now by the Little Antelope—who thought it was I who would spring it. For her sake—you know—for her sweet sake—well—it is I who shall spring the trap, padre, if I can beat him in, and no one will be the wiser. You know I have the Rustler's fame about me anyway. * * * Can you give me comfort, father dear?"

The old priest lifted his face and never in his long, hard life had it been so glorified, so furrowed with its tears.

"'Greater love hath no man than this, that he giveth his life for his friend.'" he said tremulously, "come."

And for the first time Velantrie, "sometimes of the Border," stepped to the little side door of the Mission, bowed his bare black head and entered. Father Hillaire lighted a taper on the altar and closed the doors.

Velantrie knelt with his face toward the light.

CHAPTER XXI

The net was drawing in—drawing in. Not a man on that far-flung line knew it so well as the Black Rustler himself who rode with muffled hoofs inside the net, sweeping this way and that, listening, feeling for the unseen foe. His brain, always keen and calculating, counted the ranches and the probable men from each, the distance they would be from the various startling places by now. To the northwest he went—but he knew they were there. To the north he tried to go—but he felt them coming there—from Paradise—the riders on the fleet Red Brood.

SENATOR ROBINSON OUTLINES PLANS OF DEMOCRATIC PARTY

INDICATES POLICY THAT WILL BE PURSUED IN NEW CONGRESS

TO GIVE EXPRESSION TO DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES

Fighting Force Will Be Mobilized Among the Democratic Senators

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20.—The policy which the Democrats of the senate expect to pursue during the sixty-eighth congress was discussed today by Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, who is slated for the minority leadership.

"While it is realized that the Democratic party is temporarily a minority party," said Senator Robinson, "and that this status will continue throughout the next congress, it will be the aim so to give expression of Democratic principles and policies as to render constructive service and not pursue a mere policy of negation, as did the Republicans in 1919 and 1920 when in majority in both houses of congress. A fighting force will be mobilized among the Democratic senators that will be fully informed on every important issue arising, so that the party viewpoint on political matters may be fully and fairly set forth. To obtain the most effective results, those issues will be studied and discussed by senators who has so especially informed themselves of the matter in hand that they may speak authoritatively.

"While it is realized that the utmost freedom of action should be preserved, a constant effort will be made to foster a policy of unity and harmony among Democrats of the senate, and to this end frequent conferences will be held.

"A program of aggressiveness without rashness, constructively helpful and fair; a policy of service to the nation through fidelity to the general public interest; obstructive only when that procedure is necessary to safeguard the nation's welfare and the people's rights.

"Such subjects as the tariff, internal revenue, transportation, the better conservation of natural resources, including land reclamation; a sound and patriotic merchant marine policy and a decisive position upon foreign affairs, based upon the principles of intelligent international co-operation, are among the important subjects which must be dealth with. The definite principles and provisions to be advanced can only be set forth after the same have feen formulated by the cooperation of the senators composing the present Democratic minority.

"It is believed that the Democratic members of the next congress, can be relied upon to aid intelligent legislation contemplating a restoration of our foreign commerce and the rescue of agriculture and other essential industries from the deplorable situation in which they have been placed during the present administration."

FOLIOS OCCASION EMBARRASSMENT IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Washington police are complaining because they can't tell bootleggers from members of congress, government officials and visiting attorneys. All of them carry brief cases, the congressmen and others for their letters and documents, while the bootleggers use brief cases in making liquor deliveries. The brief case affords no distinction in Washington, being as common as a straw hat in Havana, whence the quandary of the "dry" sleuths.

This situation has occasioned several embarrassing incidents recently. Earnest and sober-minded congressmen on their way to talk business at various government departments have been halted, questioned and all but forced to reveal the contents of their brief cases, which they had been holding rather gingerly. Of course apologies, profuse and abject, have followed and these little mistakes have resulted in more caution by the guardians of the eighteenth amendment.

When the police see a suspicious looking brief case now they follow the man carrying it to his destination and try in every way possible to verify their suspicions before subjecting the man to any indignities. The bootleggers, however, aware of the suspicion attaching to brief cases, are rapidly changing tactics and are returning to the use of traveling bags for making deliveries.

Incidentally, the recent flare-up in congress over the boldness of the capitol bootleggers has died down completely and these "constitution nullifiers" are again playing their trade with their old-time sang froid. Liquor, of a kind, is again obtainable in either the senate or house office buildings, the bootleggers making regular rounds to quote prices and make deliveries.

RAILROAD LABOR BOARD MUST RELY ON PUBLIC SENTIMENT TO ENFORCE DECISIONS MADE

WASHINGTNO, Feb. 20. — The railroad labor board can suggest to carriers and their employes to select representatives for conferences as to rules and working conditions and can suggest to carriers to confer with officers and heads of labor unions designed by the board, the supreme court held Monday in a case brought by the Pennsylvania railroad company. The board must depend upon public sentiment to enforce its decisions which are not compulsory upon the railroads.

The Pennsylvania railroad company contested an order of the railroad labor board directing it to appoint representatives to confer with representatives of certain labor unions. The railroad company called upon its employes, both union and non-union, to elect representatives and conferred with such representatives. The railroad company attacked the jurisdiction of the railroad labor board to enforce its order and won in the United States district court at Chicago, but lost when the case was taken to the seventh circuit court of appeals.

The Pennsylvania railroad's direct challenge of the powers of the railroad labor board, involving the vital question of the board's authority in its efforts to prevent strikes and interference with inter-state commerce, has attracted nation-wide attention during the progress of the case to the supreme court.

Refusing to comply with an order issued by the labor board to meet delegates from labor unions as representatives of its employes in the negotiations of rules and working conditions, the railroad company took the controversy into the courts, and a legal struggle developed, which was generally recognized as presenting an issue which in its final determination involved in a large measure the whole existence of the labor board.

While the board was seeking to bring an agreement between the railroads and their employes, with special reference to threatened strike of the shop crafts, B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes department of the American Federation of Labor, filed charges with the board alleging the Pennsylvania Railroad company was calling upon its employes, union and non-union alike, to elect representatives to confer with it, and was not complying with the orders of the board as he interpreted them. He sought a ruling as to whether a majority of the employes of the company of any craft had the right to designate an organization to represent them in negotiating agreements with a carrier covering rules and working conditions, and whether a majority of such craft employes had the right to be represented in such negotiations by delegates who were not employees of the carrier.

Hold Action Illegal

The labor board decided that elections held by employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, in which they had selected from among themselves, without regard to whether they belonged to a union or not, representatives to discuss their complaints and negotiate an agreement with representatives of the company were illegal. The board ordered another election, prescribing the form of ballot to be used and stating the qualifications for voting.

The carrier contended that the board was without power to annul the election, and could not set aside as invalid the agreement it had reached with its employes. It therefore refused to hold another election, and insisted upon respecting the contracts it had made with its employes. This brought a joining of issues. The labor board declared the railroad company had violated its orders, and that there would be an appeal to the public through a published statement from the labor board unless the railroad company receded from its position. At this point the controversy was taken into the federal courts by the railroad company.

The United States district court at Chicago sustained the contention of the carrier that it was free to negotiate agreements with its employes through representatives selected by its own workmen, and could not be compelled by the labor board from assuming to exercise authority in the matter of disputes between employers and employes except when there had been a joint submission of the labor board of a dispute by the carrier and its workmen after they had been unable to reach an agreement. The labor board was also restrained from resorting to publicity to force the railroads to agree to its orders.

District Court Reversed

The government took the case to the seventh circuit court of appeals which held that the district court had exceeded its jurisdiction in attempting to control the administrative discretion and action of the labor board, and had erred in substituting its own judgement for that of the labor board, in a matter resting exclusively within the determination of the labor board. In addition it held that the district court could not control by injunction the exercise by the labor board of any of its administrative functions.

The circuit court opinion set forth that upon the termination of federal control of the railroads all questions relating to railroad wages and changes in rules and working conditions which had been within the jurisdiction of the director of railroads had passed to the labor board. That board having fixed wages, the court held the subject of rules and working conditions could later be disposed of by it, stating that some rules and working conditions materially affected wages. Having been a party to proceedings before the labor board, the railroad company had, the court added, placed the whole controversy before the board for determination.

Jurisdiction Not Conceded

The railroad company insisted, however, that it had not at any time conceded jurisdiction to the board over the subject of rules and working conditions to the board the subject of rules and working conditions upon its lines. The transportation act did not, the railroad asserted, confer upon the board power to nullify contracts covering rules and working conditions which had been entertained into between employer and employee, which were in full force, and which were satisfactory to both.

The government pointed out that the permanent injunction granted by the district court remained in force notwithstanding reversal of lower court's decision by the circuit court of appeals, and that it had the effect of virtually exempting the Pennsylvania Railroad company and all of its employes of every class from the jurisdiction of the labor board. While the railroad company construed the action of the circuit court as meaning that no dispute involving any class of its employes could be brought before the labor board except by a joint submission of the representatives of the employes and the company, the government insisted that the labor board clearly had authority to initiate upon its own motion such proceedings as it had taken, and that the labor board could not be proceeded against in the courts in any action which sought to challenge it in a valid exercise of its administrative authority.

REPUBLICANS MAY POSTPONE CAUCUS TO SELECT LEADER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—It now appears that the efforts to force a caucus at this time of republican members to select the majority leader and other house officers in the next congress will die a-borning and be deferred until that body reassembles either in extra or regular session next fall. There is not much of a fight over the other officers, but a keen contest has developed between friends of Nicholas Longworth of Ohio and William Graham of Illinois, rival aspirants for Frank W. Mondell's shoes as majority leader.

It is the strategy of the Longworth adherents to hold the caucus and settle the question at this time, while those friendly to Graham are playing for delay. Both sides admit the contest is close, but Graham's friends feel he has more to gain by postponement. They insist that Longworth is the "old guard" candidate and that "old guard" adherents will be far less conspicuous in the sixty-eighth congress than they have been in the sixty-seventh. Moreover, it is contended that many of the men who will be members of the next congress could not be here to participate and quite probably would send their proxies to some "lame duck," more or less affiliated with the Longworth wing.

The reputed activities of the anti-saloon league are causing the Longworth forces considerable uneasiness. There have been indications that this organization is in the fight against Longworth because he is an avowed "wet" while Graham is counted as "dry." There have been denials from anti-saloon leaders, but letters from well known prohibitionists protesting against the selection of Longworth, still fill the mails of those congressmen presumed to have an open mind on the leadership question.

Nations in Tilt Over Tut's Tomb; U. S. May Share in Treasure

(By N. E. A. Service.)

LUXOR, EGYPT, Feb. 21.—An international tilt which probably will involve at least three powers is expected to take place before any decision can be reached as to the disposition of the $15,000,000 in ancient treasure just brought to light through the opening of the tomb of King Tutankhamen here.

Before excavation was started several months ago, Lord Carnarvon, an eminent British archeologist, secured a concession from the newly established Egyptian government.

Carnarvon, it seems, agreed that any tomb which contained a royal mummy and which had not previously been entered by robbers should remain the property of the Egyptian government.

Then Carnarvon and Howard Carter, an American, who has spent 33 years in Egyptian research, unearthed the vast treasure, buried more than 3,000 years in the midst of poverty and squalor.

Egypt Claims It.

This treasure, buried in the tomb of Tutankhamen, comes under that classification, and the Egyptian government already has laid claim to it.

But pressure may be brought to bear by the British government to cause Egyptian officials to modify their stand. In that case, some of Tutankhamen's treasures may find their way into American museums.

America's claim is based on the contention that the treasures of ancient Egypt belong to the world and that America, as one of the leading nations of the present world, is entitled to share in them.

What Treasures Are.

Some of the treasures over which the dispute is waged are:

Three gilt life-size images of human beings.

Gilded heads of animals with eyes of jewels.

Carved couches inlaid with ivory and semi-precious stones.

Chests of ebony and ivory with gilt inscriptions, containing Tutankhamen's finery.

Tutankhamen's state throne, encrusted with jewels.

A heavy chair thickly set with turquoise, cornelian lapis and other stones.

Two life-size statues of the king with gold work.

Four chariots encrusted with semi-precious stones.

Exquisite boxes and alabaster vases.

Richly embroidered clothing of the king and queen.

The find could be sold for more than a dozen million on the basis of its actual value alone, but its scientific and archeological worth makes it absolutely priceless.

"OLD KING TUT" MYSTERY MAN.

King Tutankhamen was an Egyptian king of the eighteenth dynasty. He reigned about 1350 B. C., or 3,270 years ago.

His origin is doubtful. He gained the throne by marrying Princess Ankh-Nes-Pa-Aten, most beautiful woman in Egypt and daughter of King Amen-Hotep IV.

The mystery of Tutankhamen's life is this: He destroyed the beautiful city of El Amarna and ordered his subjects to leave it and settle in Thebes.

El Amarna had been constructed as a perfect city of contentment by Akhnaton, an earlier king. Akhnaton barred priests and founded a new religion of his own.

Tutankhamen restored the old faith.

IDENTIFY BODY FOUND IN ILLINOIS AS THAT OF SAMUEL FLOYD HAWKINS

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Identification by three Chicago men of the body of the mysterious murder victim found in a snowy grave near Geneva a week ago as that of Samuel Floyd Hawkins, a Chicago cafe and dance hall habitue, satisfied Sheriff W. E. Orr of Kane county and other investigators that the man's identity had been established.

But the sheriff said today the murder mystery still remained as dark as ever. Various theories of jealousy and rum running were being speculated on by investigators.

Identification was made although the body had been charred black by fire and otherwise mutilated.

TWO WINS OVER HARROLD WOULD PUT COYOTES IN TITLE PLAY

Local Hi Five Plays Three Game Series For Big District Crown

Coach Jones' high school basket ball team will have to eliminate Harrold before it wins the right to play in the state high school tournament at Austin on March 2 and 3 for the state basketball championship. The two fives will meet this week, according to the schedule worked out by Coach Jones and R. S. Covey of Harrold, Monday. The rules of the Texas Interscholastic league call for only one game between the district champions in the elimination contest and provides that this game shall be played on a neutral court. Coach Jones did not favor the plan of playing the game on the Electra court, which is new to his five and old to Harrold, and a three-game series was arranged. The first game of the set will be played here at the American Legion gym on Thursday night. It will start at 8 o'clock sharp.

The second game will be played on the outdoor court at Harrold Friday at 4 p. m. If the two teams split the series and a third game is necessary it will be played at Electra on Saturday.

The local five are slight favorites to take the series from Harrold. Harrold has a five that plays great ball, however, and the Coyotes are expecting the toughest battles of the season. Playing on the outdoor court at Harrold will be a big handicap for Jones' five.

One of the largest crowds to witness a basket ball game this season is expected to be on hand for the first battle of the set Thursday night.

W. B. McClain, former Iowa State star, has been signed as referee for the three battles.

EVERYTHING NOW READY FOR START OF FIELD TRAILS

EN DERBY WILL START ON THURSDAY MORNING AS OPENING EVENT.

PUPPY STAKE WILL BE RUN NEXT MONDAY

Greatest Field Trials Ever Held In Texas, Sportsmen Say.

Everything has been put in readiness at Bowie for the opening of the second annual Oil Belt Field trails Thursday. Many of the sportsmen have arrived with their prize pups and the trails will get underway early Thursday morning with the open derby scheduled for the opener.

A large number of entries totaling over 138 had been received by "Doc" Landon, district secretary, Monday. Sportsmen declare that the trails this year will be the biggest ever pulled off in Texas. The trails will last 10 days opening with the open derby. The puppy stake will be run Monday. The original lineup called for the puppy stake to be run first but through some misunderstanding it was announced that this stake would be run on Monday, February 26.

The entry list for the open derby which will be run Thursday is as follows: Bill Denison, Muscle Shoals, Nip-a-Pareil, Concho Kent, Eugene's Queen Victoria, Graylings Rip, Mcriver, Ghost, Everdings flay Girl, Modfield Lance, Great Island Old Nick, Great Island Ned, Great Island Rap, Ada Bede, Billy Cowan, Tabulation, Dan Turberville, Sir Roderick, Sunkist Lassie, Susie, Pat's Ace, Stylish Bill, Prarie Jack, Polly Flinder, Mehawk's Romance, Ramona Ghost, Peggy O'Neal, Red River Susan, Paddy Mays, and Frank's Carolina Doc.

COYOTES GETTING READY FOR TRACK AND BALL TEAM

The first call for the pitchers and catchers to report at the local high school was issued Monday with a large squad on hand to greet Coach Henderson, who will have charge of the early workouts. The first call for the track men to report will be issued next Monday. Coach Hall will have charge of the early season sprints.

The Coyotes are expecting a banner season in both baseball and track this year, although several of the baseball stars of last season will not be back this year. Possibly the biggest blow will come in the loss of Hood Keizer, star infielder. Gorman Kenley and Polly Clark will be two more stars that will be missed this season. Kenley was a first sacker while Clark is an outfielder.

Coach Jones said Tuesday that the Coyotes would go in for track stronger than ever this year. He said that he would probably turn the baseball men over to Henderson, who is a Texas university product and he would take charge of the track squad.

GOLFERS GATHER AT HOUSTON FOR ANNUAL TOURNEY

HOUSTON, Feb. 20.—Wallie Nelson, professional of New Orleans, and Jack Bredemus of Corpus Christi, teed off at 9:30 a. m., today in the Houston Country club's ninth annual invitation golf tournament. The professional field included Joe Kirkwood, Australian star, paired with Jack Manning of Texarkana; Eill Mehlhorn of Shreveport, with Clarence Mangham, San Antonio; Art Longworth, St. Louis, with Dac Tracey of Danville, Ill.; Willie Maguire, Houston, with O. Chapin of Peoria.

Others entered are Carl Baker of Dallas and Dan Kenny of Tyler; Guy Martin of Chicago and Tom Lally of San Antonio; Jim McKenzie of Dallas, and M. V. Larence of New Orleans; W. Lundberg of Houston, and Fred Bartoch of Peoria.

FIGHTING SPIRIT KEEPING AUSTIN IN BIG LEAGUE

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—Jimmy Austin is to again be a member of the Browns. His signed contract has just been received at the offices of the local American league club.

Past 40 years of age, having outlived his usefulness as a regular, Jimmy Austin is still regarded as a most valuable asset by the owners of the Browns.

How come? Business Manager Bobby Quinn, who directs the affairs of the club, explains everything in a few words:

"The spirit of Austin makes him a valuable man to the Browns. A player like Austin means much to a team. In victory he fights, in defeat he fights even harder.

"The spirit of Austin becomes the spirit of the Browns. Austin is carried because he is an optimist who believes only in victory. His cheery words on the coaching lines are often far more valuable to the morale of a ball club than a cluster of base hits."

There you have the reason for Jimmy Austin's presence in the lineup of the St. Louis Browns, his fighting spirit.

The case of Jimmy Austin should serve as a model for every ambitious youngster breaking into the majors. Never a great ball player, Austin made himself a most valuable man because he was always trying; giving his best.

DRAFT QUESTION COMES UP AT ANNUAL MEET OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—When club owners of the American association met here today to adopt a schedule for the 1923 season, the draft question unexpectedly bobbed up with Roger Bresnahan, president of the Toledo club, and President William Smith of the Indianapolis club, back of the move to have the draft restored.

Bresnahan and Smith sought to win the support of C. T. Burns of the Columbus club, in a conference before the club owners went into session. The association, as a body, voted in opposition to the draft at the annual meeting in Louisville in December. President Hickey said a two-thirds vote will be necessary to restore it, adding that a majority was opposed to the draft.

Two schedules calling for 168 games were submitted to the club owners for consideration. The season will open either April 18 or 19, a week later than usual, and close October 7. The schedule favored by a majority of the club owners will be adopted.

BARNYARD GOFERS GO INTO SECOND DAY OF MEET FOR BIG PRIZE

ST. PETERSBURG, FLA., Feb. 20. The fifth mid-winter national horseshoe pitching tournament entered its second day today with five of the thirty entrants coming through the first day with clean slates.

These are Harold Falor, Akron, Ohio, Frank Luden, New London, Iowa; C. G. Davis, Columbus, Ohio; E. M. Wilkes, Battle Creek, Mich., and Frank Jackson, Kellerton, Iowa.

The world's championship is at stake and $3,000 in prizes offered.

Davis displayed the best form in the meet tossed 178 shoes to make 250 points, totalling 111 ringers, of which 37 were doubles.

Falor easily sprung a lead over Ralph Spencer, Oklahoma state champion, by slapping on five consecutive doubles in the five innings and coming out on top in the banner event of the afternoon yesterday, 50-16.

BOXES AT BASEBALL PARK ARE SELLING FAST

Want to buy a box at the baseball park this season? Then you had better hurry because Business Manager Harvey of the Spudders says that they are going fast.

"The demand for boxes this season has been greater than ever before," Harvey said Monday. There are several good boxes still left and the fans that speak first will get them.

BRADY IS CHAMP HARD LUCK GOLFER, WINS ONE BIG MATCH IN 25 YEARS

By BILLY EVANS

Every sport has the original hard luck individual.

When Larry Lajoie was managing the Cleveland team, year after year his club threatened to win the pennant, only to have fate play falsely at the last moment.

In the roped arena, on the gridiron or tennis courts, some individual is always known as the original hard luck guy—the jinx.

Golf is no exception to the rule. In golfing circles the name of Mike Brady holds all records for getting tough breaks in his efforts to win glory on the links.

In no sport has any individual been so unkindly treated by Dame Fortune as Mike Brady. Ranked for years as one of the greatest professional players in the game, something has invariably turned up to rob him of many of the golfing laurels he seemed on the very brink of winning.

Original Hard Luck Guy

Golfing history contains no parallel to the career of Mike Brady. After trying for 23 years, in 1922, by capturing the western open, won first honors for the first time in a major golf tournament.

Brady, like many of the other great professional players, among them the present national champion, Gene Sarazen, began his career as a caddy.

Back in 1911 Brady made his first real bid for big honors. In the national open, staged at Wheaton, he finished in a triple tie with McDonald Smith and J. J. McDermott.

In the playoff he finished second to McDermott by two strokes. Throughout the match the breaks went against Brady.

Wins First Big Tourney

Two years later, 1913, in the western open, McDermott was again the player to frustrate Mike's championship ambition. He finished second.

It was very good fortune to see Walter Hagen and Brady meet in the playoff for the national open in 1919. I was umpiring in Boston at the time, and as the match was played in the morning it enabled me to get out to Braeburn and see one of the best matches in the history of the sport.

Hagen and Brady had finished in a tie for first place, and in the playoff Brady was again forced to accept defeat with a 78 to Hagen's 77.

In 1921 Mike finished second in the Canadian open after looking like a sure winner in the first three rounds.

Failure, however, failed to kill Brady's enthusiasm—he kept plugging away. Last year his efforts were finally rewarded by winning the western open with 10 strokes to spare.

JONES WILL NOT ACCEPT INVITATION TO CHICAGO MEET

Coach Jones of the champion Coyote basket ball five said Tuesday that he would not accept an invitation to enter the interscholastic meet at Chicago university on April 2, 3 and 4.

The Coyotes were included in a list of 32 schools from all over the country which were invited to enter the meet being held under the auspices of the Chicago university.

Although a complete list of the high schools invited to the meet could not be obtained, it is thought that the Wichita Falls champs is the only Texas five tendered an invitation.

WORLD'S SMALLEST REFEREE LEADS ALL WITH 3,000 FIGHTS

MEMPHIS, TENN., Feb. 20.—Although the smallest referee in the world, Billy Haack, Memphis boxing promoter and referee, probably has officiated in more fights than any other man serving in that capacity.

Haack has worked in 3000 fights in the 12 years that he has been connected with the fight game.

He is about 5 feet 3 inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 130 pounds. However, he is just as much at home with heavyweights as bantams.

ADOPTING SCHEDULE IS ONLY BUSINESS AT AMERICAN LEAGUE MEET

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Most of the American league magnates who came here yesterday to attend the annual spring meeting of the league, planned to leave the city today. Very little business aside from adoption of the playing schedule for the coming season was transacted at the meeting.

The rumored deal between the New York and Chicago clubs involving Eddie Collins did not materialize. Neither did the proposed zoning of home runs or the suggested numbering of players. Serious consideration, the magnates said, has not been given the proposed Continental league, which was referred to by President Ban Johnson as the "joke of the winter." Mr. Johnson said the league was "against the rules of organized baseball" and could never be a reality.

WASHINGTON — Physicians attending J. J. Jusserand, the French ambassador, who has been ill with bronchitis, said today he would be able to resume his duties in four or five days.

IRISH MEUSEL HAS EDGE ON BROTHER BOB

The Meusel brothers, playing with the New York Americans and Nationals, prove beyond doubt the part that initiative and aggressiveness plays in the success of the diamond athlete.

Unquestionably Bob Meusel of the Yankees has more natural ability than Irish Meusel of the Giants, yet Irish is easily the more valuable ball player.

Saying that Bob is a better ball player than Irish, in no way belittles the ability of the latter, who is a wonderful outfielder.

Bob Meusel has every asset, a wonderful arm, great speed, plenty of courage and ability to hit. Yet it is a certainty that he will never reach stardom because of his indifference, his lack of aggressiveness and initiative.

Irish Meusel is the direct opposite of Bob, a real fighter. McGraw might make such a player of Bob.

BAYLOR BEARS TAKE CLOSE GAME FROM AGGIES

WACO, Feb. 19.—The Baylor Bears defeated the Oklahoma Aggies here Monday night 21 to 20. The game was one of the hardest fought contests seen on the local court in many seasons. The same teams will play again tonight.

Boy Scouts Run City Two Hours; Plan of Mayor

CHESTER, PA., Feb. 20.—For two hours today the municipal government will be conducted by boy scouts, under a plan of Mayor Ramsey for a practical experiment in civics for youths. The boys will be in charge of all departments including that of the mayor, city council and the police.

Members of Chester scout troops will assemble at city hall and elect a full list of city officials who will be in complete control of the city's affairs, even patroling the downtown streets.

TWO BASKETBALL GAMES AT LEGION HALL ON TUESDAY

Two basketball games of considerable interest are billed for the city league race, Tuesday night at the Legion hall. The first battle will start at 8 p. m. when the Gaines five ties up with the Texhoma crew. The two teams, although not standing high in the race always put up a well played game. The Gaines team is expected to win the game but the Texhoma five has strengthened since its last battle and a close score is predicted.

The game that will hold the attention of most of the fans is between the Knights of Columbus and the Harper battery five.

These two fives have not been defeated in the second half race and the game tonight will give one of the teams a shot at the title honors.

COYOTES PREPARE FOR BIG SERIES IN GAME AT ELECTRA TUESDAY

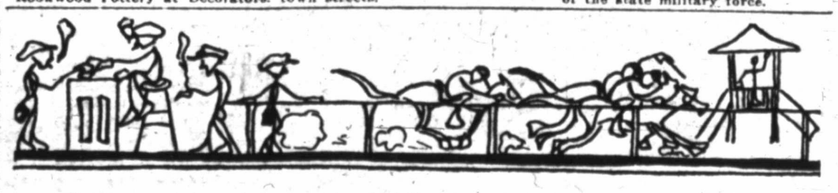

The Coyotes will play their first basket ball game of the week Tuesday night at Electra. Coach Jones is not expecting a hard battle, but has arranged the game to give his men a workout on the Electra court.

Jones' five is not familiar with the Electra court and in view of the fact that one of the bi-district games will probably be played there, he is anxious for his men to learn the floor.

Harrold has practiced on the Electra court all during the season and the floor will not be new to them.

Coch Jones said that he would use his second string five if the game got too rough for the regulars.

JACK DAW IN TOYLAND

By ELTON

Jack walked along behind the queen's carriage as it wended its way around aisleways. Suddenly Flip barked loudly and it startled the horses. In an instant they were galloping through the toy department. "Runaway, runaway!" shouted a policeman doll as the horses dashed by him.

Jack was immediately on the run. He wanted to prevented the doll queen from being injured. As the carriage turned a sharp corner and started to topple over, Jack grabbed it in both hands. The horses stopped and the queen was saved. Then the trip to the baby doll show was continued in safety.

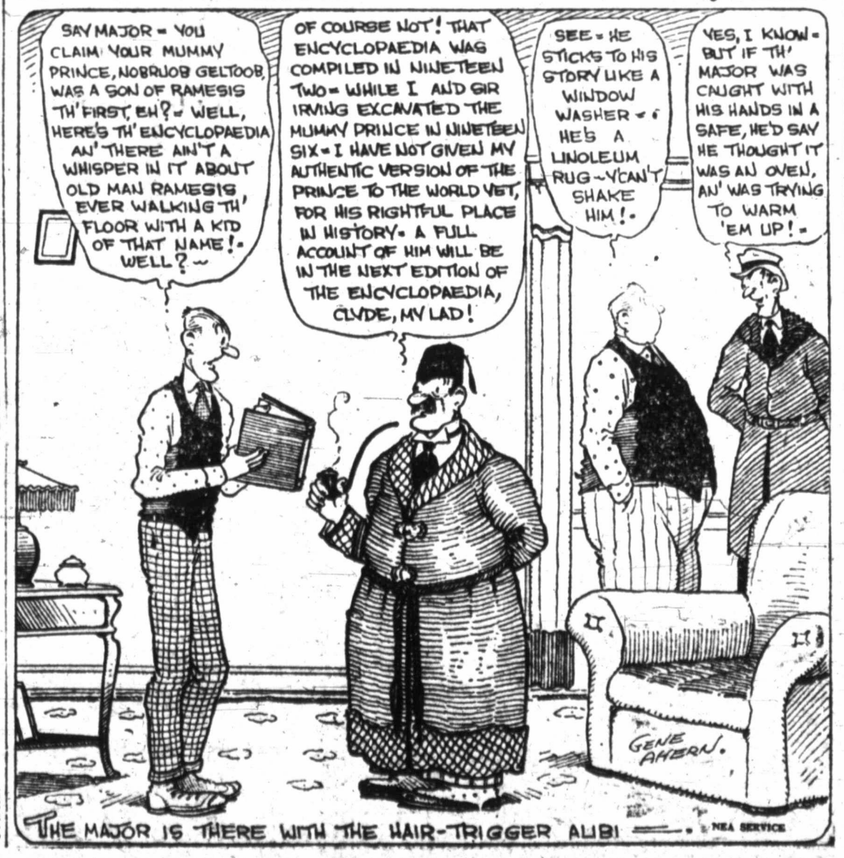

Finally the little black horses stopped and the queen alighted in front of a throne where she was to sit and view the doll-buggy parade. Jack seated himself beside this throne and other dolls gathered around the queen. Then a page walked up and announced: "The parade is coming."

The test of Thomas, Jones and Taylor located on the Wilson ranch three and one-half miles northeast of Archer City has spudded in and will give this part of the county an interesting testing out, being in semi-wildcat territory.

Carter and Massie No. 1 on the Ferguson tract in the Freeman-Hampton pool are boring the sand at 1716 feet showing plenty of oil.

Get 11-Barreler.

Featherstone and others' No. 2 Ferguson encountered the 1700 foot pay late Monday and after drilling in a few feet the well began to flow by heads with an estimated production of 100 barrels. This is an offset to the Texhoma company's No. 1-D lease to the southeast.

The Texhoma Refining company completed No. 1, lease E, on the W. P. Ferguson tract and from reports is good for 175 barrels from the 1700 foot pay.

The watch is identified by numbers secured from the jeweler here from whom Bolton purchased it. This adds to the accumulation of testimony corroborating the statements of Mitchell.

TIMES DAILY MARKETS

COTTON MARKET

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The cotton market showed renewed steadiness at the opening today, prices being 2 to 10 points higher on overnight buying orders and bullish overnight advices from the spot market. Cables from Liverpool were a little below expectations and there was some irregularity after the call as a result of realizing. The comparatively small offerings appeared to be readily absorbed, however, with May selling up to 28.97 during the early trading or about 16 points net higher.

The market showed increased strength during the afternoon on trade buying and covering by near month shorts who bid the price of May contracts up to 29.16, or 35 points above yesterday's closing and a new high record for the season. Other month did not quite reach the high records of last month but the general market was firm around 2 o'clock with prices 10 to 35 points net higher.

The market met increased offerings as prices approached the 29 cent level for May and above 28-60 for March. This caused reactions during the middle of the morning with May selling off to 28.77, or four points net lower but trading became less active on the decline and prices firmed up again late in the morning on continued bullish spot advices and trade buying. Early sellers covered on the mid-day advance with May selling around 28.90 shortly after 12 o'clock, or about 9 points net higher. It is reported that spots sold in the eastern belt today at an advance of 50 points as compared with last week and there have been some bullish spot advices from the southwest.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—Advances of 12 to 19 points were made by cotton today in the first half hour almost wholly on the belief entertained by traders on the long side that any and all March notices issued Friday would be stopped with eagerness by spot interests. March rose to 28.67. The undertone was very firm.

A strong and active market was seen in the afternoon mainly as the result of the circulation of optimistic expressions from France regarding the signing of the Lausanne treaty by Turkey. Prices arose swiftly to new high levels for the season on both March and May, March trading up to 28.86 toward 1.30 o'clock. At this level the active position were 30 to 40 points up. Recessions of about 10 points came about but late in the morning fresh buying was stirred up by reports of a very strong spot situation, both locally and in the spot markets of Texas. Telegrams from Dallas claimed that some shippers were having difficulty in settling together March commitments. At noon the market was back again at about the highest levels with March at 28.65.

Cotton closed steady at net advance of 24 to 32 points.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Wheat averaged a little lower in price today during the early dealings, an unexpected downturn in Liverpool quotations having some bearish effect here. Better weather conditions for the domestic winter crop tended to ease the market. On the other hand the continued upward movement of sterling exchange rates encouraged some buying but was ascribed partly to lack of export business and to that extent was said to be no stimulus for higher prices on grain. The opening, which varied from unchanged to ⅛c lower, May $1.20 to ¼ and July $1.15½, was followed by downturns all around although interrupted by a transient rally.

Further declines resulted from renewed eastern selling and from a bearish statement issued by one of the largest individual traders here that the world's probable carryover July 1 would equal the prewar average. However, there was but little for sale in the last half of the day and the market rallied. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c lower $1.20½ to ¼ and July $1.15½ to ⅝.

Scantiness of offerings made corn and oats relatively firm. After opening ⅛c off to ⅛c up May 75½ to ⅛c corn scored slight general gains.

Later the market was easier with wheat. The close was unsettled at a shade net decline to ⅛@⅛c advances. May 75⅜ to 75⅝@⅞c.

Oats started a shade lower to ⅛c advance. May 46⅛ to ⅛c, and later held near to the initial range.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to the provision market.

STOCKS AND FINANCIAL

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Further irregularity took place at the opening of today's stock market but the main tendency appeared to be upward. The early demand was most effective in the oils, coppers and a select assortment of rails. Butte and Superior led the early advance in metal stocks with a gain of one point and New Haven led the rails with a similar gain. There were a few weak spots, notably du Pont and Royal Dutch, off 1 and 1¼ respectively.

Fresh buying power also made its appearance in the motor, motor accessory, independent steel and tobacco shares. Stromberg advanced 2¾ points and Bosch Magneto 1 each to a new high level. Resumption of heavy buying of American Woolen sent that stock up 1¾ points to a new peak price. Grains off 1 to 2 points also were recorded by Studebaker, New Orleans, Texas Mexico, Gulf States Steel, United Retail Stores, Louisville and Nashville, Mathison Alkali and United Fruit. South Porto Rican Sugar broke four points. Foreign exchanges were strong.

The better known industrial shares participated more generally in the market strength exhibited by many of the less active issues. Baldwin, American Locomotive, Corn Products, Studebaker, and American Can rising vigorously, the last mentioned touching 99¾. Stromberg, Eosch Magneto and United Fruit were pushed up steadily, their gains running from 6¾ to 7¾ points.

The closing was strong. Sales approximately 1,050,000 shares.

LEGAL NOTICES.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas.—To the sheriff or any constable of Wichita county, greetings: You are hereby commanded to summon J. H. De Winter, by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 89th district court of Wichita county, Texas, to be holden at the court room thereof, in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in April, A. D., 1923, the same being the second day of April, A. D., 1923, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 25th day of January, 1923, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 12933-B, wherein Kathryn De Winter is plaintiff, and J. H. De Winter is defendant, and said petition alleging, that plaintiff is and has been a bona fide resident of Wichita county, Texas, for more than a year preceding the filing of this petition; that the residence of defendant is unknown to plaintiff. That on or about October 6, 1916, plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married; that there were no children born to plaintiff and defendant. That about 1911 one of plaintiff's sisters died, leaving two children, who up to about four years ago lived with plaintiffs father in Illinois, and that father of plaintiff died about two years ago, and there was no other place for said children to go except with plaintiff, and that said children were fatherless, motherless, and homeless, and it was necessary and proper plaintiff should take said children, and the main disagreement between them grew out of plaintiff taking said children to rear. That defendant fussed and nagged about said children in the home and insisted plaintiff give them up, but plaintiff insisted they had no place to go, and defendant would reply he did not care just so they got rid of children. That about October, 1921, defendant began drinking intoxicating liquors to excess and continually came home drunk, that is when he did come home, and would stay away for weeks at a time and plaintiff would not know where he was. That defendant on or about April 7th, 1922, left his home with the evident intention of not returning, and for many months plaintiff has not heard from him, and does not know his present whereabouts, although she has made diligent efforts to locate him. That by reason of foregoing, longer living with defendant has become insupportable and plaintiff is entitled to decree of divorce from defendant. Wherefore, plaintiff prays that bonds of matrimony heretofore existing between them be forever dissolved, and for such other relief to which she may be entitled. Herein fail not, but have before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same. Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Wichita Falls, Texas, this the 13th day of February, A. D. 1923. A. F. KERR, clerk, district court, Wichita county; by Winifred Pickens, deputy.

CLOUDED SKIES FOLLOW DAY OF SPRING WEATHER

Monday, a day that brought with it real springtime weather was followed with a south wind toting in a covering of clouds for the sky. The thermometer during the afternoon, Monday reached the 70 degree mark for the maximum height.

During the night the mercury receded to the 42 degree point and similar temperatures were reported by agents in all directions from the city on railroad lines.

The south wind showed more life Tuesday morning than it did Monday but no indications were given by reports of railroad agents that rain was imminent.

On the north end of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern the agents reported a north wind but the mercury did not drop.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS

"California Fig Syrup" is Child's Best Laxative

Hurry Mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will thoroughly clean the little bowels and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Even if cross, feverish, bilious, constipated or full of cold, children love its "fruity" taste, and mothers can rest easy because it never fails to work all the souring food and nasty bile right out of the stomach and bowels without griping or upsetting the child.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.—Adv.

RUSSIA HAS DECLARED WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS

By Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Feb. 20.—The Russian government has declared war on bootleggers and manufacturers of illicit "hootch" and the campaign is duplicating in many of its scenes the situation in New York and other cities.

The sale of wines and beers is legal in Russia, but the soviet regime has continued the war policy, established early in 1915, of banning vodka and other strong intoxicants. These are now being made in huge quantities illicitly and nearly every one of Moscow's newly rich has his private source of supply.

During the last three months of 1922, according to statistics furnished by the Moscow authorities, the police made 5,807 house searches and discovered 2,000 private stills. Evidence obtained even indicated that there were "vodka trusts" or combinations of capital to produce the liquor in large quantities.

Special rewards are made to policemen for discovering stills. Heavy prison sentences or expulsion from Moscow are the penalties applied to violators of the law.

The average yield of corn to the acre varies in the United States from 14.8 bushels in Florida to 47 bushels in Connecticut.

Diamonds exposed to the action of radium become highly radioactive.

The New York national guard has adopted a silver half-moon as its insignia.

"Lining up" for rations in the English army has been abolished.

According to reports, Germany is reorganizing its war college.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step In Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea, nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family-package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—adv.
