The Woman's Day By Allene Sumner

The faults and frailties of woman have been rather well covered it seems to me, what with one "advisor" and then another telling women just why their husbands don't love them or why they leave them.

Not Interested

"The whole trouble with her is that she's not interested in the result of anything she does. She wants to get it over with. If she has gone through the motions, that finishes it for her and her conscience is at rest."

She's Done It Once

"Can you imagine any other woman sending her child to a party with a muddy dress? But she had made the motions of washing the dress, and she's not the kind who makes the motions twice, whatever the result."

Eat 'Em So

If a batch of cookies burned or a cake fell, it was no wasted and more goodies baked. No, sir, the process had been done once, and that job was finished.

Mrs. Oliver Harriman Finds That Women Succeed Most In Womanly Occupations—Particularly Home Industry

Mrs. Oliver Harriman, recognized leader of New York's established "400," who, as an interested feminist has filled herself with many woman's organizations.

By NEA Service NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Women, apparently, just can't get away from the home—even when they are out of it, thinking good things in the business world.

For, according to Mrs. Oliver Harriman, chairman of the Annual Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries, women are more apt to think a success of business when they go into lines of activity in which they can use their home-making talents, such as in rooming houses, interior decorating, office supplies and teaching home economics.

Inversely, they are more apt to fail when they branch out into lines utterly foreign to woman's interests through the ages—such things as stock exchange, automobile, deep sea diving, lumber business and so on.

Twenty Per Cent Fall "Twenty per cent of the women in the business world fail or change each year," Mrs. Harriman says, basing her figures on the Exposition survey which she considered a fair indication of the situation.

Another Feature "Another feature is revealed by a survey of successes and failures. That is that many women do not follow the little-to-own their own business that men do often they are in several ways."

Three Needle Societies of City Meet in First Gatherings of Fall This Week To Sew and Chat Together

Three needle clubs in the city held their initial meetings for this season Wednesday afternoon and the members enjoyed sewing together and chatting for the first time in several weeks.

The Wednesday Needle club met in the home of Mrs. F. E. Bacon, 1820 Broadway, with Mrs. W. R. Atkins as joint hostess with Mrs. Bacon. The hostesses served a salad course to Mesdames C. J. Wagner, Frank M. Maddox, James H. Goodwin, E. L. Robertson, E. L. Kell, J. C. Ellis, A. W. McKee, M. E. Hubbard, John L. Balfour, H. A. Davidson, R. E. Karper of College Station, Carrie Thomas of Amarillo.

Mrs. Tabbs Hostess Meeting in the home of Mrs. R. Tabbs, 2410 29th Street, members of the 1914 Needle club enjoyed a pleasant hour together. Mrs. R. S. Rodgers was hostess voluntarily give up their own work and go into a firm as a salaried employee.

"Some people may criticize women for a lack of tenacity in such circumstances or they may call it laziness for lack of responsibility. I think it a sign of courage for it takes genuine character to give up the joy of a personal enterprise to go into someone else's organization. I think women are braver than men about facing the real facts about success and failure."

"Another way in which women differ from men is that they often at the height of success, decide that they really do not enjoy their work and start in at something else at the ground floor. Few men, once they attain success, ever change to an entirely new field. They just go on, whether they enjoy it or not. Women really bring with them a certain freedom of choice that many business successes have never dreamed of."

Optimistic About Women Mrs. Harriman is very optimistic about women in industry and the home. She doesn't feel that their failures are due, in any way, to any business lack women might have. Rather, she feels that women need time and eventually can succeed at whatever men have done.

How Times Have Changed "When I was a child women couldn't even go to the office alone. Now they conduct world tours. I don't think such things as home sewing, book making, and so on, but now just look at them. Women have penetrated all but 37 of the hundreds of occupations open to men. Government statistics show us that it will take generations before there will be any equality of women electrical engineers, women financial advisors or women contractors.

"In the meantime, women seem to be finding out for themselves that their career success lies in some work that will let them use their womanly talents and are quickly

FORMER LUBBOCK BOY HELPS DOWN YANKEES

LANGFORD, ONCE YANKS' CAST OFF, STAR

(Special To The Avantache)
 NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Sam Langford, Cleveland's rookie pitcher, started his baseball career with Sled Allen's Hubbers at Lubbock, Texas, in 1923, about a home run in the sixth inning of today's game with the Yankees, scoring L. Sewell head and giving the Tribe a 2-1 decision over the American League champions.

The Indians, by winning today's game, prevented the Yankees from taking their 100th contest of the season.

Cleveland's pitcher allowed but six hits.

Langford went from Lubbock to the Atlanta team of the Southern League. The Yankees secured him from Atlanta, but when he failed to satisfy managers, he was traded to the Western League. The Boston Red Sox next secured him but after another fling in the big show, he was again released to the minors, this time to Fort Worth. From Fort Worth he went back to the Western, and thence to Cleveland.

Aiding Giants

Heinie Mueller is Getting Hits When They're Needed Badly.

Should the New York Giants sneak in and grab the National League pennant, and they're well within balling distance of the top now, much of the credit will go to Heinie Mueller, reserve outfielder and pinch batter. Mueller has not appeared in many games, but his hitting as a pinch batter has won quite a few of 'em for the Giants this year. He was formerly with the Cards.

Tunney Gets Busy As Fight Nears

LAKE VILLA, Ill., Sept. 15. (AP)—With but a week to go before facing Jack Dempsey in defense of the heavyweight championship, Jess Tunney today put in the busiest night hours since arriving here more than two weeks ago.

Opening the day with a reception of about fifty newspapermen, Tunney later was examined by Dr. Joseph L. Russell, representing the Illinois State boxing commission before working out ten rounds before 900 spectators. Gene boxed three sparring partners two rounds apiece and pushed both the light and heavy bags another round.

Sled Allen Makes Hubbers' Chances Look Much Better

With the return of Sled Allen to the Hubber aggregation for the series with the Fort Worth Panthers and with the Ex-Cats of the Texas League to be played in Lubbock Sept. 17, 18, 19, and 20, the hopes of the Hubbers are brighter. Close followers of the team realize the benefit of the battle-scarred veteran in the series with the Cats and Ex-Cats and feel that his presence with the Lubbock baseball club will put more fire and eagerness into the Hubber outfit.

Smith is Manager.

The Panthers will be here on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 17 and 18, with the regular line-up that battled with the other seven clubs of the Texas league this season. Jake Atz, manager of the Cats, will not be with the Cats in their barnstorming tour but "Doc" Smith, stellar receiver of the Panther star will be in Jake's shoes during the journey over West Texas as manager. On Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 18 and 19, following the two games with the Cats, Ed Konechey, former initial batsman of the Cats, will lead his group of Ex-Cats in a two game series with the Hubbers.

The Smartest Of Smart Fall Garments Are Here For Your Selection

While we are showing, as usual, wonderful assortments of moderately priced garments, still our display of ultra-fine garments is most unusual, this season. Never before have we assembled so much really fine ready-to-wear. If you have not seen them you truly will be surprised at our selection. These fine garments are being chosen daily. Why not choose some of them too?

Nemser, Edward Meyer, Claire, Del Monte Hickey, Hart Schaffner & Marx, Shagmore, Palmer Printless and Bobby are among the finer labels.

DRESSES

Nemser and Edward Meyer—features lines in the finest city shops—Claire and Miss Teens—all are garments that need no introduction to the really posted style enthusiast. The garments offered here were chosen from the same assortments shown the larger city stores and in all cases the most varied array is at your disposal. In most all cases prices will be found much more reasonable than you would expect. We will take pleasure in showing them regardless of your intention to purchase just now.

COATS

Never such an array of fine Coats—De Monte Hickey—the finest American Sport Coat house—every model a top of an import—every fabric exclusive. Shagmore—another Fifth Avenue favorite for smartness. Hart Schaffner & Marx tailored coats—Palmer and Printless general utility coats. Where would you find a more elaborate array of known quality? There are piles of fine fur—designs that are new—materials and colorings unusual. See these new Coats if from no other reason than that of posting yourself on the latest style developments.

FIRST DAY KIMES TRIAL IS ENDED

STATE CALLS ON FOUR MAIN WITNESSES IN FIGHT FOR DEATH PENALTY

(Special To The Journal) OKMULGEE, Okla., Sept. 15.—With the first day of taking of testimony completed today, the state had used four important witnesses in its fight to obtain a conviction carrying the death penalty for Matthew Kimes, during young Oklahoma bandit.

Following the testimony of Roy "Bicycle" Wilson, who asserted that Kimes was one of the seven men who held up and robbed two banks in Beggs May 18, when Police Chief McAnally of that city was killed, the state produced Dave Hatfield, at whose farm five miles southwest of Beggs, the bandits hid for several days following the holdup and killing.

Hatfield during his examination by the state declared that his son-in-law Brandon, accompanied by Kimes, Clyde Brandon and Jack Whitehead had come to his place the Sunday before the holdup and told him they wanted to stay at his place to rest up for several days. Kimes was the driver of the car in which the men came to his place. Hatfield testified, saying that he did not know who Kimes actually was until after the holdup.

Hatfield's son, Corbin, also testified in much the same manner as his father had done, and identified Kimes in the court room. Both men reiterated their statements during the rigorous cross examination conducted by counsel for the defense.

The fourth witness of the day, Charles Wolf, who lived two miles from Hatfield's place, also testified that he pulled a car out of a pasture near the Hatfield home several days after the bank robbery, and said Kimes was the driver of the car. Both the examination and cross-examination of Wolf were brief.

One of the high lights of the trial was a map drawn in chalk on the floor in front of the jury box, showing the town of Beggs and the relative position of the two banks held up there. Judge Hays came down from his bench during the testimony around this map.

The state offered as evidence a shot gun identified by Wilson as belonging to Kimes, and which was used during the hold up. 2,800 rounds taken by the bandits and hidden at the Hatfield place. The license tags which Wilson said had been used on the two cars driven by the bandits, and two empty bottles of supplies purchased by members of the gang following their flight from Beggs to their rendezvous at the Hatfield place.

LIVESTOCK SHOW WILL SET RECORD

THIS IS THE PREDICTION OF STOCK EXHIBIT HEAD SOUTH PLAINES FAIR

"Prospects are brighter for the livestock division at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair this year than ever before." These were the words of W. L. Stangel, superintendent of the beef cattle division, as he tabulated entries from a number of leading breeders of the state who will show portions of their herd here.

John M. Gist, of Odessa and Midland, one of the foremost Hereford breeders in the South, will show a herd here for the show. Mr. Stangel said, George G. Keith, of Wichita Falls, who had a winning herd at the Amarillo Tri-State Fair, will also have some Herefords here. C. M. Largent and son, of Merkel, who have been winning here for the past several years will also have an exhibit.

In the Jersey division, the Taft ranch at Taft, Texas, will show their famous herd. The Ferguson Farms, of Amarillo, will also have an exhibit here, and were winners at Amarillo this week.

For the hogs, the Lillard Farms, of Arlington, who have a strong exhibit at Amarillo, will be here. Other entries in the swine division are expected in a few days as well as the other livestock divisions. Besides these entries of the leading breeders and those of several more leaders to come, a large number of local and South Plains men will have exhibits.

LUBBOCK TO HAVE SALE BRED SOWS

EVENT WILL BE HELD AT TECH STOCK JUDGING STAND IN FEBRUARY

Lubbock is to have a bred sow sale in February of next year, W. L. Stangel, head of the Tech animal husbandry department, announced yesterday upon his return from Amarillo, where a meeting of the Panhandle Swine Breeders association made plans for the sale. The date of the sale was not set but will be announced later, he said.

This sale, besides being a means of distributing good stock throughout this section, will be of considerable value to the breeders of the South Plains as well as to the students in the Tech animal husbandry department, he said.

The sale will be held in the Tech stock judging pavilion and swine breeders from all over this section are expected to enter stock, he said. The sale comes as an outgrowth of a movement for better housing of the Panhandle by the association and the breeders were almost unanimously in favor of Lubbock as the sales place for the coming year.

DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE

SEYMOUR LOWMAN

those who observed him.

Just the day before, Under-Secretary Ogden Mills, Lowman's old political buddy from New York, had said the riot act to Lowman after the latter's speech attacking Smith for the witness of New York Mills in one of Smith's most virulent enemies and the speech was quite all right with him, but the howl of protest from New York was at the remarkable spectacle of a federal official invading the state to attack an important governor forced him to tell Lowman to pipe down.

It would be interesting to know whether Lowman's startling statement the next day was an overt admission of Mills. It will be even more interesting to see whether the talking to which Mills is said to have administered to Lowman was to quiet the new "dry ear." If Lowman decides to keep right on shouting what he believes to be the truth, the country is going to witness a gossamer and intensely humorous spectacle.

MAGNOLIA PLANE LINE, COMMANCHE TO MIDLAND

HOUSTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Magnolia Petroleum company is making a survey for the construction of an eight-inch welded line from Middle Station in Commanche county to its tank farm at Midland in Midland county. It is expected to have the line in operation in December 1.

described by Lowman that Lowman's discharge might cause a serious upheaval.

The whole trouble is that both political parties are doing all they can to soft-pedal the prohibition issue on the eve of a presidential year. Lowman himself, took the opportunity to deny vehemently that his superiors had told him to "go light" on enforcement. As a matter of fact, the superiors felt that Lowman would only tumble around as a "missionary" and that any enforcement would be done by DeWitt.

efforts had been hindered by those in Washington and that the government didn't want prohibition enforced. Then Lowman tipped over the apple-cart.

Room For Criticism

There may be room for criticism of his remarks that a sober and temperate America would require 50 years' work—meaning that few of us will live to see the day of the "upper crust" and the down-and-outs are being killed off by alcohol—and that Lowman can fire his enforcers if he doesn't like the color of the hair of their necktie.

When Lowman told of the rotten situation within the enforcement ranks he only told what everyone knew. It was no shame on Lowman but the charge had a distant kink-back in the direction of Mellon and President Coolidge, who have been responsible for this enforcement machine so many years. Apparently Lowman was just too foolish to realize this. Furthermore, it could not help but embarrass the Republican party.

Lowman Fooled Them. Andrews once mentioned to a church audience that he had many "chicks" and "rather unburdened himself. The administrator came down on him like a ton of brick. "Dear Coolidge told Secretary Mellon that Andrews shouldn't do with the obstacles which he faced for his honesty and the dry, and Mellon howled out Andrews' name. Since then the administration has been "prohibited" by the report of his former distillery on the present state of respected charges of retiring and the present state of respected charges of retiring and the present state of respected charges of retiring.
