MARION, Ills., Jan. 11.—Definite notice that all raids in the future to be conducted in Williamson county will be made exclusively by regular federal agents was brought by a squad of federal enforcement officials who arrived here today. According to General Prohibition Agent J. R. Loeffler, the order directing citizens of Marion to cease their activities in liquor raids was issued by Division Chief W. H. Anderson. The force that accompanied Loeffler included Deputy United States Marshals Guy M. Wallace and John W. Smith, Prohibition Agent Victor L. Armitage, United States Commissioner William Hart of Benton, and Sheriff Henry Dorris of Franklin county, and three of his deputies.

This order deposes S. Glenn Young, dry worker in the three raids, and deputized federal official of his authority, according to Loeffler. The official delegation demanded all the liquor taken in the raids as evidence to be turned over for analysis. Search for Young and the "evidence" was without success. It was said he had left for Chicago, but nothing definite is known as to his whereabouts here.

When informed of the announcement by federal officers taking from the local citizens their authority to conduct raids Sheriff George Galligan said:

"It seems Young (S. Glenn Young)

3 Destroyers To Be Delivered To Obregon Forces

By The Associated Press

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 11.—Three destroyers which have been purchased by the Obregon government will be delivered within the near future if an inspection by Mexican officers is satisfactory, Manuel Escudero, Mexican navy engineer, announced here after his arrival today. Mr. Escudero admitted that his mission in the United States was to inspect and receive the vessels, but said he was not in a position to make any other statement, except that he was acting under orders of the minister of war and marine of Mexico.

The Mexican official said he was ignorant of where the vessels would be offered for inspection and said he had come to San Antonio to await further orders.

Under the five powers disarmament agreement the Mexican government could not buy a naval vessel from the United States government, and it believed the craft have been purchased from some party to that agreement.

The destroyers will be manned by their present crews until they arrive at a Mexican port, he said, where the crew will be replaced by Mexican soldiers and officers.

The destroyers would be used to blockade the port of Vera Cruz, which is now held by the rebels. The rebels are said to possess only one antiquated gunboat with which to defend the port from the sea.

BELIEVE BODY THAT OF SPERRY

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—The body found lying on the shore today, near Rye, Sussex, is that of Lawrence B. Sperry, the American aviator, who has been missing since December 13, it was stated tonight by P. R. Jackson, London manager for the Sperry company, upon his return from Rye.

Mr. Jackson said that although the face was practically unrecognizable, he was certain the body found was that of Sperry.

The body was removed to a neighboring farm, where an inquest will be held Monday. Mr. Jackson will be present. He is awaiting instructions from Sperry's relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y., regarding the disposition of the body.

Divers Fail To Locate Sunken Undersea Boat

By The Associated Press.

PORTLAND, England, Jan. 11.—Divers made a number of unsuccessful efforts off Portland this afternoon to learn whether an object located in thirty fathoms of water is the British submarine L-4 which sank yesterday after a collision with the dreadnaught Resolution.

Tonight there was nothing to give hope that there would be any survivors among the members of the crew.

The divers were greatly handicapped by huge seas. They will continue the search tomorrow.

The end of the crew is believed to have been mercifully swift, as the sea pouring in on the batteries would have created fumes, asphyxiating the men almost immediately. This is regarded as the likely happening, since the sensitive hydrophones have heard no sound.

CATHOLIC HEADS ISSUE MANIFESTO

By The Associated Press.

SPEYER, Germany, Jan. 11.—The sanguinary events here, including the assassination of Herr Heintz, president of the autonomous government, and other separatists leaders were followed today by the issuance of a manifesto by the high Roman Catholic ecclesiastics in the Palatinate declaring the separation of the Palatinate from the reich and Bavaria would involve danger of a national conflict and war-like developments.

Their sentiments of loyalty, they set forth, compelled them to regard the so-called autonomous Palatinate as non-existent, and they urged that measures be taken which would facilitate the functioning of the regular government as speedily as possible.

WHO SAID WOMEN TALKED SO MUCH?

Because she refused to answer a question propounded to her by the grand jury Friday morning, Mrs. Nona Richardson was fined $100 by Judge H. R. Wilson of the 30th district court and sentenced to the county jail to remain until she answered the question.

The grand jury appeared before Judge Wilson in open court and brought the witness along with it. The question that had been asked the woman was submitted to Judge Wilson. Judge Wilson then asked the question to the witness. She still refused to answer and the fine and jail sentence followed.

The woman was still in jail after court had closed late Friday afternoon.

TAX REDUCTION BILL DISCUSSED

Garner Sees Fear in Hearts of Republicans; May Compromise.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Realizing that modification probably must be made in the Mellon tax bill if it is to command a majority in the house, republican members of the ways and means committee discussed the question today with Representative Longworth, the party leader.

The conference lasted several hours, but those who participated declined to disclose what had transpired other than to say "discussion had been general and related solely to procedure." Proposed changes in tax rates, it was said, were not considered and no decisions were reached.

Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, who has a substitute for the Mellon plan, declared he was convinced that the republicans were alarmed and were seeking to determine "whether they will take a licking in the committee or on the floor."

Mr. Garner said he had reliable information that between 65 and 67 republicans members of the house were ready to swing away from the administration plan to the support of the democratic proposal which, he pointed out, provides a greater cut in the normal tax rates and a smaller reduction in surtaxes than had been proposed by the treasury secretary and calls for increased tax exemption.

The ways and means committee decided today to hold public hearings on taxation, beginning Monday.

Conferences "for the purpose of being helpful" are to be held by President Coolidge with senate and house republican leaders during congressional consideration of the tax legislation.

The executive held one of these conferences today with Chairman Smoot, of the senate finance committee, who reported on senate sentiment for the Mellon tax reduction plan and against soldiers bonus legislation. The nature of Senator Smoot's report was not disclosed, but is was indicated that Mr. Coolidge regarded it as encouraging. The president made it clear to visitors today that he would make no announcement anticipating any action by him on bonus legislation, but would stand on his declaration against the bonus in his congressional and budget messages. His discussion of the matter, although brief left no doubt in the minds of his visitors, however, as to his determination to veto any bonus bill that may be passed by congress.

Refusal of any considerable number of republicans in the house to support the administration tax program, party leaders admitted today, might insure the success of the plan sponsored by Mr. Garner and his democratic colleagues on ways and means committee. If concessions were made before the bill reaches the floor, it was contended, the republicans would be more likely to present a front solid enough to defeat amendments offered by the democrats.

OIL SETTLEMENT STILL UNMADE

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The progress of negotiations under way for a settlement of the Southern States Oil company stock between C. N. Haskell, former governor of Oklahoma, and the brokers who were members of the "Haskell pool" was further complicated by the announcement of counsel for the brokers today denying that any "basis of settlement had been agreed upon."

WICHITA FALLS MAY BUY BACK PART OF BONDS

Will Consider Offer of Houston Company at 10 This Morning.

WILL SAVE MONEY

Move Would Save City $92,500 in 37 Years, It Is Reported.

A proposition made yesterday by the H. C. Burt and company of Houston, bond buyers, to sell to the city of Wichita Falls, a part of the $800,000 water bond issue of 1920 voted here, for a rate of 99 cents, will probably be considered this morning at 10 at a special meeting of the city council.

The fact that the city would gain by buying again its own bonds sold in 1920 is pointed out by city officials. When the $800,000 water bonds were sold the city received property, par and five per cent interest. The bonds were for 40 years.

The council is considering the purchase of $50,000 of the original issue. The saving to the city at the rate of interest which the bonds bring, five per cent, would mean $2,500 a year. Since there are 37 years left before the bonds are to be met this would mean $92,500 to the city, profit. The city can call in the bonds in 1930 if it chooses but must do so at par.

If the bond market continues unsteady because of the present tax reduction program, the buying of the bonds would be a good investment officials said yesterday. The matter is in the hands of R. E. Shepherd, city finance officer.

KLAN BANISHES TWO OFFICIALS, ACTION FLAYED

Colonel Simmons, Founder, and Edward Young Clarke Are Ousted.

CLARKE RETORTS

Says Evans Faction Has No Right to Banish Him; To Fight It.

By The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 11.—William Joseph Simmons, founder and emperor of the ku klux klan, and Edward Young Clarke, at one time head of the propagation department, have been banished from the klan for their active opposition to the regime headed by Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard, it was announced here in klan circles.

A statement issued here late today by Mr. Clarke, commenting on the development, declared that "the attempt was made because Evans and his associates are desperate and realize it is only for a short time they will be able to hold the reins of the organization and trample in the dust all the foundation principles and ideals of the knights of the ku klux klan."

He declared that neither Dr. Evans nor the imperial kloncilium nor the body of dragons, has the legal right to banish either himself or Emperor Simmons, and asserted that the "real reason for the attempted banishment was an effort to stop the gathering of klansmen at the national congress which he has called to meet in Atlanta February 20."

The klan official said he would make "a regular formal appeal against

France Replies To German Note On Discussion

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Jan. 11.—Count de Peretti de la Rocca, director of political affairs at the foreign office, today handed to Herr von Hoesch, the German charge d'affaires, France's reply to Germany's latest note requesting discussion of points growing out of the Ruhr and Rhineland occupation.

The German charge at the same time was informed that while the answers, point by point, to Germany's questions, were negative in form, in some cases this did not signify the end of the conversations. Count Peretti assured Herr von Hoesch that the French government would be glad to discuss any question which the German government saw fit to bring up.

There appears to be no doubt that the reply is negative on some points and non-commital on others; that it is intended on the whole to keep the subject open without compromising allied interests. The tone of the comment in official circles indicates that Paris wants to come to an understanding if she finds it possible without affecting the position she took when she went into the Ruhr.

By The Associated Press

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 11.—Sixty-six mutineering convicts were corralled at Montevallo tonight following a pitched battle in the depths of Aldrich mine in which the convicts who refused to work this morning, using dynamite as their only weapon of offense, waged a losing fight with fifteen prison officers, the state board of administration was notified here at 11:50 o'clock tonight.

By The Associated Press.

ALDRICH, Ala., Jan. 11.—Mutiny of sixty-six convicts at the Thomas-Weller coal mine, which began Friday morning after three of their number had been punished by Warden J. M. Jernigan, came to an end late tonight when the convicts surrendered to guards and came out of the pits where they had been firmly entrenched and had set off dynamite to fight off authorities according to an Age-Herald staff correspondent's dispatch.

Shortly after 11 o'clock the convicts allowed a group of guards to go below. They announced they were ready to "give up" and forthwith were escorted out of the mine.

By The Associated Press.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. Jan. 11.—State convicts who mutinied at the Thomas-Weller coal mines at Aldrich in Shelby county are using dynamite in their possession to blow up the machinery and have defied guards to enter, according to reports received here this afternoon. L. A. Boyd, head of the convict squad, said that the convicts were firmly entrenched.

No Damage

By The Associated Press.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. Jan. 11.—L. A. Boyd, head of the state board of administration, said that an official report received today stated that 66 men are in mutiny at Aldrich. He denied that any damage had been done to property.

Sixty-six miners, according to official reports are in the mines refusing to work. Nineteen others, part of the day shift, left the mines but are not working elsewhere.

No Warning.

Eighty-five miner-convicts went into the mines early this morning and immediately told guards, it is said, that there would be "no coal mined today." No reason for the outbreak was given, according to state officials. Of the 66 men who remained inside, 16 are white and 54 negroes, latest information shows. Darius Thomas, president of the company said that no warning of the mutiny was given by the convicts.

Two of the white men who participated in the Banner mine uprising on September 10, are said to be in the Aldrich mutiny.

As a result of the trouble at Banner an investigation was conducted by the Jefferson county grand jury and Warden J. D. Evans was indicted on a charge of whipping a state prisoner. His case was postponed each time it came up for trial in district court.

By The Associated Press

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 11.—E. B. McLean, Washington, D. C. newspaper publisher, loaned former Secretary of the Interior Albert Fall, $100,000 but the checks for this amount were subsequently returned uncashed with the statement that the former interior secretary had arranged to obtain the funds elsewhere, Mr. McLean told Senator Walsh of the senate Tea Pot Dome investigation committee today, according to a letter addressed to Mr. Fall by Mr. Walsh and made public by the latter.

Mr. Walsh came here to question Mr. McLean concerning the transaction. He held a private conference with the publisher this afternoon, at the close of which he made public a letter addressed to Mr. Fall, who is also in Palm Beach.

Senator Walsh told Mr. Fall in his letter to him that he would be glad to take "for the information of the committee" any further statement that Mr. Fall cared to make.

"You can see for yourself how it fits in with Mr. Fall's testimony," stated Senator Walsh, commenting on his letter. "Mr. Fall bought a ranch in New Mexico for $91,000 about the time negotiations for a loan were being made with Sinclair for the Tea Pot Dome," he added.

The senator declared he did not know what the next step of the committee would be. He said he would remain here until Saturday morning pending any response Mr. Fall may make to his letter.

Directors Elected By Fair's Stockholders

Big Gains Are Shown By Report of Verschoyle for 1923; Earned Surplus Is $13,150.37.

At the annual meeting of the stock holders and directors of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association held at the chamber of commerce last night, the following men were elected as directors for the coming three years: George D. Keith, George C. Wood, W. W. Anderson, Wm. Moore, W. C. Norton, C. H. Verschoyle. Directors elected for two years are W. C. Young, Jack McMahon, R. E. Shepherd, T. B. Noble, Carl Williamson, and R. M. Waggoner.

The following were elected to serve as directors for one year: R. H. Henry, T. L. Burnett, A. H. Murchison, P. A. Rogers, Ed W. Schlafke J. L. Staley and F. Boyd. The directors will meet within the next five days, according to the constitution which was unanimously adopted at the meeting to elect officers.

The nominating committee appointed by the president of the association, George D. Keith, was composed of Joseph Huckins, III, W. C. Young and J. M. McFall.

C. H. Verschoyle, secretary of the fair association read the financial report for 1923. "The fair gained $52,432.80 over 1922 in property and equipment, and had earned a surplus to December 31, 1923 of $13,150.37," stated the secretary. "The actual book value of all property amounts to $177,894.45. The actual stock paid for is approximately $90,000, while the authorized capital is $150,000."

$30,000 Unsold

Of the stock of the fair association, Mr. Verschoyle said, "There is the amount of $30,000 treasure or unsold stock to be sold. If that were sold, the fair would owe only the balance purchase money on the original site of $20,000, which could easily be paid out of the profits before the notes become due, and the fair would have property worth, conservatively speaking, $300,000."

Ira H. Brown, reported on the poultry show held at the Texas-Oklahoma fair and exposition in October 1923. The number of birds entered in the show was 11,094, an increase of 777 over 1922. Mr. Brown suggested that advertising for the show of 1924 begin now in order to have poultry fanciers and poultry raisers ready with their exhibits this year. He also suggested that the premiums on the birds be raised and that silver cups be presented.

W. C. Young made a brief report on the exhibit of livestock held at the fair, mentioning the fact that some of the exhibits at Wichita Falls were winners of blue and purple ribbons at Chicago.

Suggesting that Wichita county have more exhibits in the fair of 1924 was stressed in the talk made by C. E. Bird of Iowa Park. He suggested that if more prize money for the exhibits could be offered, a greater number of exhibits would be entered.

Mr. Verschoyle, who recently returned from Chicago where he attended the International Association of Fair Secretaries,' made a report of his visit. Discussions as to plans for betterment of the Texas-Oklahoma fair were taken up by the members.

MORE MONEY THAN NEEDED

Wall Street Found Few Borrowers

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Wall street today had more money than it could use.

So great was the accumulation of surplus money that the rate on call loans in the stock market fell below four per cent for the first time since last September and bankers were forced to take back more than $20,000,000 for which they could find no borrowers at the close. The rate on prime bankers' acceptances, which has been holding steady at 4 1-4 bid, and 4 1-8 asked, since last April, broke to 4 1-8 and 4. In addition, millions of dollars wree diverted to the purchase of short term treasury notes and United States government bonds, sales of the latter on the New York stock exchange totalling $900,000, an increase of more than 50 per cent over the day before.

Piling up of funds following the turn of the year accounts for the plethora of funds. While the call money rate ordinarily fluctuates according to the law of supply and demand, brokers reported today that the big bankers were disinclined to lower the rate below 3 3-4 on the ground that a further reduction would result in the withdrawal of funds from New York by interior institutions and would make it harder to fill commercial requirements when the demand from that quarter increases.

Predictions of a reduction of the rates in the federal re-discount rate as a result of this unusual money situation, were heard in the financial district today, but the local federal reserve officials declined to comment.

IOWA PARK BANK HAD GOOD YEAR

First State Bank Shows Prosperity at Annual; Officials Re-Elected.

IOWA PARK, Jan. 12.—At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the First State Bank of Iowa Park on Tuesday, January 8th, the annual report made by the management of the bank to the stockholders was very gratifying. During the past year the First State Bank has enjoyed the greatest patronage in its history and the report indicates that few banks in this section of the state have such a splendid record. Although comparatively a new institution being organized in 1919, the bank's statements shows it to be in excellent condition and on recent showings made by the bank, the new year promises to be of the greatest in the history of the institution.

The directorate and stockholders of the First State Bank are composed of pioneer citizens of Iowa Park and Wichita county, and are among the most influential citizens of the county. No changes were made in the directorate and the following were elected: L. N. Lochridge, E. A. McCleskey, Harry Zink, J. L. Lochridge, L. C. Denny, S. M. Griswold and A. C. Golden. The officers are: L. N. Lochridge, president; L. C. Denny, vice-president; E. A. McCleskey, vice-president; A. C. Golden, active vice-president; Warren Clark, cashier. The only changes made in the officers was the promoting of A. C. Golden to active vice-president and the election of Warren Clark as cashier. Mr. Clark, while with the bank only a short while has been connected with banking institutions in the city for the past several years, and this promotion comes as a just reward for his business ability.

The bank starts the new year in the best of shape, and conditions in the Iowa Park community point to a greater year for this financial institution.

SEPARATIST WAR STILL SMOULDERS

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, Jan. 11. — The news reaching Berlin from Speyer is still restricted owing to the censorship of dispatches destined for unoccupied Germany, but it is known that all efforts to trace the murderers of Herr Heinz, the separatist leader, have proved fruitless.

Meanwhile, according to newspaper reports from the palatinate, the activities of the separatists are increasing at several points. Additional hostages have been taken, including one of the directors of the Analine soda works at Ludwigshafen and other prominent persons. The bridge between Ludwigshafen and Mannheim has been closed since this morning, completely stopping communication.

Bands of separatists are being concentrated at Worms and towns of the middle Rhine are taking measures to safeguard themselves against possible separatists surprises.

AMMUNITION CARS PASSING THROUGH

By The Associated Press.

PALESTINE, Texas, Jan. 11.—A car load of ammunition which was attached to the Sunshine Special on the International Great Northern railroad when it passed through here today, was the sixth car to pass through Palestine in the last few days, carrying arms and ammunition consigned to the Mexican government, employes on the local express office said. The last two cars were billed from East Alton, Illinois, they said, adding that there had been nothing secret about the movements of the munition. Each car, they said, was consigned to the Mexican government.

Railroad officials here disclaimed knowledge of movements of arms and ammunition to Mexico, saying that they would not be advised officially of express movements.

Must Take Turn.

By The Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Jan. 11.—Warrants out of the $2,000,000 supplemental school aid appropriation can not be set ahead of other general revenue payments, but must be registered and take their turn as money is received in the treasury to meet the deficiency, the attorney general department held in a ruling to Treasurer C. V. Terrell, Friday.

Superintendent of Education S. M. N. Marrs asked that $300,000 be transferred each month until the appropriation is covered. The comptroller may legally make these transfers on his books, but in absence of funds warrants for the supplemental school money must await their turn for payment, it was held. The opinion was written by First Assistant Attorney General John C. Wall.

OFFER BY FORD DECLARED BEST

Farm Federation Says His Offer Is Best By $42,000,000

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals, the American Farm Bureau Federation declared today, would net the government $42,000,000 more than the new offer recently tendered by the nine principal associated power companies of the southern states.

The statement declared that examination of the two offers disclosed that Ford would pay a total of $130,526,800 over a 50 year period, whereas the power companies, the federation contends, would pay $87,800,000.

"This so-called offer of $100,000,000 becomes upon investigation neither a bona-fide offer, nor is it a payment of $100,000,000," said Gray Silver, Washington representative of the federation. "It is merely a suggestion that these allied power companies may subscribe enough to pay four per cent interest on the cost of the Wilson dam.

"The offer made by these water power interests adroitly leaves the manufacture of fertilizer out of the question and it does not indicate how much power they would be willing to sell to any one who is willing to invest his millions in the re-building of nitrate plants for the manufacture of fertilizer and who is willing to experiment and advance the air nitrate manufacture business both for the farmers who use fertilizer and for the nation at large which must have unlimited and cheap nitrate in time of war."

CLAUSE OMITTED IN SMITH MESSAGE

By The Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 11.—In consequence of the accidental omission of a clause in that portion of Governor Smith's message to the New York legislature on January 2, which referred to the proposed memorial to congress for modification of the Volstead act, the governor's views on the subject have been misunderstood.

Governor Smith stated in the message that the repeal of the Mullen-Gage state prohibition enforcement law of a year ago "left enforcement of the Volstead act with both the state and federal government and left the prosecution of violation of the Volstead act entirely with the federal government."

KLAN BANISHES

the banishment through the regular courts of the order and then to civil courts of the state if it becomes necessary."

Emperor Simmons was expected to issue a statement which is believed will be along the same lines as that given out by his fellow official.

Officials at the imperial palace declined to comment on the reported expulsion, but confirmation of the report here came from persons closely associated with Dr. Evans. It was stated that the banishment was made after grand dragons representing every state in the union had met in Washington two days ago and signed charges against the two officials.

The banishment, it was stated, was a counter movement on the part of Dr. Evans and his administration to the fight waged against him by the Simmons faction, which reached a climax recently when Mr. Clarke directed a letter to President Coolidge, asking that steps be taken to reform a "certain element" in the order or else that it be disbanded.

It is understood it was charged that Mr. Clarke's letter to the president "constitutes treason" in that it was "an attempt to disband and break up the order, and bring it into disrepute."

Members of the Simmons faction stated today that the imperial headquarters of the klan had been moved from here to Washington. This was denied by imperial officials here and those representing the order in the nation's capital.

LOOK FOR SHARP

the floor, while the insurgents bloc will hold a conference tomorrow to map out its program.

The main point at issue today was the question of discharging committees from consideration of legislation. Mr. Nelson proposed that 100 names on a petition should be sufficient to set the machinery in motion, while Representative Johnson, republican, South Dakota, suggested 150 names.

The vote was taken on the Johnson proposal, seven republicans supporting it, while Mr. Nelson and the three democrats present voted in the negative. No ballot was taken on the Nelson resolution.

Without opposition from any quarter the committee voted to recommend the creation of a new veterans' committee, to be composed of 17 members with jurisdiction over legislation affecting world war veterans except bonus proposals and pensions.

ECHO OF CARPET-BAGGER DAYS

Wants Sum Dating Back 50 Years

By The Associated Press.

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 11.—An echo of the days when carpet-baggers promised newly liberated negroes in the south "forty acres and a mule" has been heard here in the appeal of Alex Potter, aged negro, to federal officials to aid him to recover money deposited with the Freeman's Bank and Trust company of Shreveport, which he says was operated in reconstruction days as a savings bank for negroes. Potter's pass book shows that he deposited various sums between 1873 and 1878 and had a balance of $40.80 on the latter date, while his wife was due $40.

Potter said the best he remembers is that bank officials informed him there would be delay "in paying off" as the money had been loaned to a railroad to extend its line into Shreveport. He now figures, he said, that nearly fifty years having elapsed it was about time the currency was forthcoming. Federal officials said they never heard of the bank.

Mrs. J. W. Colquitt Succumbs At 71

Mrs. J. W. Colquitt, aged 71, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. L. Fulton, 1400 Polk street, at 12:30 o'clock Friday morning. Mrs. Colquitt has been in failing health for several years, and recently submitted to an operation, and her condition gradually became worse until the end.

Mrs. Colquitt was well known in Wichita Falls, having lived here for a number of years. She has written educational articles and has been interested in literary activities and attainments. She was the wife of Col. J. W. Colquitt of Arkansas, a well known historical character in the south, who died several years ago in Little Rock while serving a term as land commissioner of that state. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Colquitt came to Wichita Falls to live many friends here, being active in church work, living a beautiful Christian life.

Surviving Mrs. Colquitt are her two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Fulton and Miss Mary Colquitt, both of this city.

Funeral services will be held at 1:15 o'clock today from the residence, 1400 Polk street, with the Rev. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. N. F. Grafton, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiating. The active pall bearers are: P. B. Cox, Raymond Meyers, Oral Jones, Frank Boyd, N. M. Clifford and T. R. Roone. The honorary pall bearers are: W. L. Robertson, Bernard Martin, A. H. Britain, W. A. Freer, R. B. Mack, Judge A. H. Carrigan, Dr. Mike Miller and Wayne Somerville.

The body will be forwarded by the Merkle Undertaking company to Ozark, Arkansas, where burial will take place by the side of the mother of Mrs. Colquitt.

ANYHOW SHE SAW PLENTY OF ACTION

Fire!

Where was the fire?

It was within 20 feet of the several mammoth trucks and engines at the Ninth street, city hall fire station Friday morning.

The grass plot by the station was being burned by one of the firemen.

A young lady over at the postoffice saw the smoke and a chance for a practical joke.

She turned in the alarm.

Firemen jumped on the apparatus and kept saying "where's the fire?" Then it was learned the alarm had been turned in for 604 Ninth street. "Where is 604 Ninth street?" one of the firemen at the wheel of a large truck yelled anxiously.

"Its the station itself," one of the men discovered and said to the others.

A sheepish bunch of firemen were found immediately afterward by the young lady who saw the grass burning first.

CONFESSES TO MANY CRIMES

By The Associated Press.

CHARLESTON, W. V., Jan. 11.—The killing of two police officers and the wounding of another at Sulphur, Oklahoma, participation in the Denver mail robbery last September and a general admission of numerous other crimes, were the high spots in an alleged confession, said to have been made because of a smitten conscience, by William Hayes, alias Charles Rollins, 27, to Lieutenant Albert Tulley, of the Charleston police force, in the Kanawha county jail late today.

Elected.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 11. — Walker L. Wellford of this city was elected president of the Southern Hardwood Traffic association at the closing session of its eleventh annual meeting here late today.

Hope Chapter, Order of De Molay held an installation of officers, followed by a dance at Maskat Temple, Call Field, Friday evening.

The Rev. Nat F. Grafton who acted as installing officer, was introduced by "Dad" J. D. Bright, who filled the office of senior counsellor during the installation.

The officers were robed in the official garb of their respective positions and the following were installed in office: Master counsellor, Joyce Williams; senior counsellor, Philip Pink; junior counsellor, Harold Naylor; treasurer, Elmo Mount; scribe, Leo Baldwin; senior deacon, Harry Cohen; junior deacon, Raymond Taylor; senior steward, Jerry Vincent; junior steward, James Calvert; chaplain, Lee Irwin; sentinel, Frank Curtis; standard bearer, Willie Sanders; almoner, Harold Carter; marshal, Geo. Bolin; preceptors, Lester Prothro, Ferd Smith, Ted Brown, Ewrrt Morgan and Carlton Bowman.

Following the installation, the Rev. Nat F. Grafton presented Edgar Smith, the retiring master councellor with a jewel on behalf of the chapter. Mr. Smith responded with a splendid talk concerning his work with the chapter and his plans for future work. George Rose, another past master counsellor, at the request of "Dad" Bright also made a short talk to the chapter.

A dance for the De Molays and their ladies, attended by 50 couples furnished diversion for the remainder of the evening.

has double crossed his boss."

This statement the sheriff explained by saying that with the disappearance of Young, Victor L. Armitage, prohibition agent, who swore him in, is placed in an embarrassing position.

Victor Armitage had returned to Benton and could not be reached tonight.

Won't Disarm.

MARION, Ills., Jan. 11.—Disarmament of all private gun toters in Williamson county was in prospect this afternoon, when Sam Stearns, exalted cyclops of the ku kluz klan, and Chief Deputy Sheriff John Layman agreed to go to Herrin and investigate the report that 200 alleged klansmen had taken out permits to carry arms.

All such permits would be revoked, Mr. Layman said as he emerged from the third "peace conference." Mr. Layman said Sheriff Galligan agreed at the conference that S. Glenn Young, leader in recent dry raids, might remain in the county to complete his work, but that no new raids will be tolerated by him."

Stearns, however, was blocked in his intial effort when Justice of Peace F. Kenster, the first man he approached, refused to withdraw the permits.

"I'm the only person who can recall them, am I not?" the justice emphasized. "And I won't."

"Those fellow's lives are in danger. There's a gun on 50 hips in Herrin just waiting for a good chance to pop at 'em."

Mr. Stearns said: "I have done all I could and have failed."

This means that troops will remain indefinitely, Chief Deputy Sheriff John Layman asserted, explaining that Sheriff Galligan had insisted that the "other side disarm" before asking the recall of the militiamen.

He said Mr. Stearns did all he could and he declared the burden of restoring harmony now is shifted to the shoulder of the ku klux klan as a result of this development.

HERRIN, Ills., Jan. 11.—Troops remained in Williamson county tonight because an alleged member of the ku klux klan refused to respect the request of Sam Stearns, exalted cyclops, that all klansmen in Herrin disarm. Sheriff George Galligan had agreed to request the recall of the troops if the citizen raiders would give up their arms, and Cyclops Stearns immediately got busy in an effort to have revoked the arms permits of 200 alleged klansmen.

WHEN HIRAM JOHNSON OPENED HIS CAMPAIGN: BUSHNELL'S IMPRESSIONS OF HIM AT CLEVELAND

The Lone Star State and Coming Election

(Below is the third of a series of letters on the political situation as it applies to Texas, by Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, former editor of The Record News, and well known throughout the state of Texas for his knowledge of Texas politics.

HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD.

In the second of the series of political reviews by the writer attention was called to the fact that in the Alamo City, cradle of Texas liberty, dwelled Marshall Hicks and Frank C. Davis, with a reminder to the reader that the office of democratic national committeeman is a coveted prize and that Cato Sells attempted to pass it on to Thomas B. Love in 1916 but failed and that Love won the coveted position by almost unanimous vote of the convention in 1920, when the friends of Woodrow Wilson overwhelmed the followers of Joseph Bailey in a contest for the control of the delegation to the San Francisco convention.

Now Love, after a survey of the political heavens, has announced his willingness to pass it on to a McAdoo man, should the McAdoo man capture the Waco convention the coming May. Marshall Hicks is recognized as an able lawyer and one of the cleverest practical politicians in Texas. He was a state senator for one or two terms, he was mayor of the Alamo City, he was the close friend and advisor of the late Thomas M. Campbell and this made him close to Thomas B. Love.

He has been in politics for many years. He was a delegate to the convention that nominated Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore. He was a delegate to the San Francisco convention where he went down fighting for McAdoo. He is president of the McAdoo-for-President state organization. He was close to Governor Neff and one of Neff's advisors, if Neff can be said to have an advisor.

Neff made him regent of the State university. Hicks men were appointed to office on his recommendation. Then the demand came for Neff to lead the fight for an uninstructed delegation to the national convention this year. Then came the ringing endorsement of Neff as a presidential candidate by the state committee. This must have aroused the ire of the Chesterfieldan Hicks. He gave to the press a lurid interview in which he declared that Neff was playing into the hands of the enemies of true democracy, meaning no doubt, those who did not care to follow the flag of National Committeeman Love or William G. McAdoo.

After the newspaper interview had soaked into the public mind, Hicks resigned as a regent of the University of Texas. His resignation was promptly accepted. Hicks works like a mole and he has been working silently but actively to build up the McAdoo organization in Texas. There are democrats who say that Hicks is on the McAdoo slate to be the successor of Love on the national committee. There are others who say that State Chairman Frank C. Davis has been slated. Democrats who are for Love or McAdoo insist that in the event of the election of McAdoo Hicks is to be given an important federal position and that Love is certain to be appointed secretary of the treasury.

Hicks voted against the Bryan minority report at San Francisco. Frank C. Davis, when the delegation was polled, cast his vote for the minority report. He was a Bryan man through and through. He has been a Neff man through and through. As state chairman he has never announced a preference for presidential standard bearer. Thomas B. Love claims him as a McAdoo man. Underwood leaders claim him as an Underwood man. There are others who say that he will run true to form and stand with Bryan and Neff should Neff make the fight for the selection of an uninstructed delegation that his friends promise that he is going to make.

Politics is an interesting game. In the distribution of patronage, should the democrats regain control of the federal government, the national committeeman has a loud voice and with the backing of the state chairman and his committee, is almost dictator of the distribution of fruit when the president shakes the plum tree. This is one of the thousand reasons why the democrats of Texas, men and women alike should know just who are going to be the bosses of the machinery of the party.

Will Hicks be the successor of Love or will he be honored with a much more important position that will take him out of Texas in the event of democratic success next November? Or will State Chairman Frank C. Davis desert the cause of Neff, align himself with the McAdoo organization, take pot luck and if victory comes to Love and Hicks be made the successor of Love as national committeeman. Chairman Davis never hunts ducks with a brass band. He never goes off at a tangent, his friends say.

He was a delegate at large to the San Francisco convention. He returned to Texas from California and backed Neff for governor against Bailey. Neff won. Davis was a delegate to the state convention in the city of Fort Worth in September of that year. Neff made Davis state chairman. Davis' name was not presented to Neff by Thomas B. Love or Marshall Hicks. There was a bitter squabble on for the state chairmanship. M. H. Wolff could have been selected but refused to stand for the place. Neff said to two of his friends, "Go and pick a man in every way worthy of the place, a man who has been loyal to the cause of prohibition, equal suffrage, the league of nations and other policies of the Wilson administration, but do not pick a Baptist. I have grown weary of this talk of a Baptist machine in Texas. I have been elected governor of Texas and I am going to be the chief executive of all the people regardless of creed or color or political affiliation."

These friends of the governor surveyed the field, Davis was the most available man on the stage of action, they reported the same to the governor-elect and word went down the line that the democrat from the Alamo City was the choice of the winner in the great fight that had been staged between himself and the former United States senator. Davis was reelected state chairman at the San Antonio convention in September, 1922.

Now just where is the Hon. Frank C. Davis going to land when he gets ready to light? This is the question the politicians are asking when they assemble in their haunts the state over. Hicks landed when he became the president of the McAdoo-for-President state organization. And where is he going should the democrats win in 1924. This is another puzzle in the political picture.

LONDON WARS ON NARCOTICS

STUDY MUMMIES BY X-RAY PHOTOS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—Pictures of mummies taken with the X-ray disclose conditions existing in the bodies of ancient Peruvians and Egyptians which otherwise would escape our knowledge; unwrapping the mummy means its destruction for purposes of accurate study. Such pictures have been taken by D. C. Davies, director of the Field Museum of Natural history, co-operating with the Victor X-ray corporation.

"These pictures revealed also what had been buried with the body. For instance, various Peruvian mummy packs where found to contain ears of corn, pottery, vessels of clay containing shells, bits of metal, gourd vessels, beads, clay figures and cut bone objects.

"In addition to the range of objects found in the bundles, we learn from the X-ray pictures, something definite concerning the age, sex, and condition of the bony structure of the individual buried therein," said Mr. Davies. "We are able to discover the nature of injuries received during his life, as well as determine whether the deceased was an sufferer from chronic rheumatism, tuberculosis of the bones, caries, arthritis of various kinds, and other conditions of disease.

"In the Egyptian collections the mummy of a man of the 20th dynasty was photographed in four sections, beginning at the head, and furnishes a wonderfully clear picture of the entire skeleton. Here we may expect to find fractures, pathological conditions such as bony tumors rickets, hydrocephalus, prorrhea, and caries of the teeth, all of which have been shown in the examination of unwrapped skeletal material to have been common conditions of disease among the Egyptians of the most ancient times. The great advantage of the X-raying process in this regard is that it is possible to discern accurately these facts without injuring in any way the exhibition value of the specimens.

"Mummified cats, hawks, jackals, crocodiles and gazelles also have been pictured with very satisfactory results. In the case of the hawk, even the tail feathers are very definitely shown. The picture of the mummy of the gazelle brings out the skeleton with marvelous distinction. That of the crocodile also shows the bones still to be in the proper relative position to one another."

Further investigations are to be made upon the Egyptian material as well as upon vessels made of marble, alabaster and metal. The work will be extended to several departments, and plans also are now under way to take X-day pictures of rock formations which are more than 3,000 years old. Moving pictures of the process are contemplated.

Turtles of Australia Headed for Soup Kettle

By The Associated Press.

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—A dark day has dawned for the thousands of turtles that waddle about the beaches of the northwest coast of Australia. At Rockingham a factory has been built to convert them into soup and sundry other table delicacies.

The supply of turtles is said to be inexhaustible. Brought alive to the factory, they are beguiled into a false sense of security by finding themselves again in their native element, the sea. The factory has a seat frontage, and there a large pool has been enclosed. In this they swim idly, in ignorance of the steaming pots awaiting them a couple of hundred yards away.

The factory has been established by a Glasgow firm under the name of Chelonia, Ltd. Chelonia is the Latin name for turtle.

The firm has promised to make democratic the lordly turtle. No longer, it is declared, will turtle soup grace only the banquets of the wealthy. Today a plate of this delicacy in London costs about two guineas. Chelonia agrees to make it a reasonable commodity.

JUSTICE FOR THE WOMAN.

Mabel Normand is a moving picture actress. When William Desmond Taylor was slain her name was dragged into the case. District Attorney Lee Woolwine of Los Angeles after an investigation that was searching as well as scorching, gave Miss Normand a clean bill of health. He declared that she had no connection with the tragic affair and that there was not a scintilla of evidence which would connect her remotely with the case.

Now Mabel Normand is on trial again before the bar of what is called public opinion. A Colorado millionaire was shot by a motor car driver in the service of Miss Normand in the presence of three women who were in the apartment of the millionaire as invited guests.

Now the unco guid who cling to the earth at certain spots in America demand that Miss Normand shall be effaced from movie life and that her pictures shall not be shown on the screens.

Isn't it cowardly to convict and condemn a woman before trial? Isn't it cowardly to destroy a woman without giving her a hearing in open court or open forum?

Isn't it cowardly to convict without direct evidence of wrong doing or of having violated the laws of the land?

Wouldn't it be more Christlike, more human, more in accordance with the spirit of fair play and exact justice to withhold censure and condemnation until the true facts are bared in a court of record?

In the days of the Christ, ages and ages ago, this question was asked by the Son of the Master: "Why stone the woman and let the man go free?"

This question should be asked today. "Why damn the life and the career of a woman without a hearing and without evidence?"

PETROLEUM COMING BACK.

All previous records were broken last year in domestic production and consumption of crude oil and refined gasoline. Gross crude oil production totaled 745,000,000 barrels. Consumption, including exports, amounted to 760,000,000 barrels. This was an increase of 187,000,000 barrels of crude over 1922 and an increase of 154,000,000 barrels in consumption over 1922.

Now all the big companies have announced an increase of from twenty cents to fifty cents in the price of Kansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas crude oil. In midsummer of 1923 when the California and Powell fields startled the world with their flush production and the slump in prices came, this paper predicted that petroleum would come back in the near future and petroleum is back.

This is not all. High priced gasoline is back. For months and months the motor vehicle owner had his picnic. He saw as low as nine-cent gasoline perhaps for the last time. Now he is paying all the way from sixteen to twenty-one cents for gas under Texas skies.

This is a hint that the oil boom is on again; this is a hint that the wildcatter is on the trail again, and by wildcatter the writer does not mean that the crooked promoter is doing business at the old stand.

Wildcatters are the men who bring in new fields and take a chance. They may be rich today, broke on the morrow but they never desert the game while life lasts.

THEY'RE AFTER HENRY.

Ten light and power companies east of the Mississippi river are not only after Henry Ford but they are after Muscle Shoals. Their bid offers to lease the Shoals for fifty years at a figure estimated to give the government a hundred million dollars. All the big fertilizer companies east of the Mississippi river are fighting Henry Ford and his Muscle Shoals proposal.

Business is business. Henry Ford promises to manufacture the cheapest of fertilizers. There is said to be a fertilizer trust in the grand old south where the leaders of the people claim to be followers of Jefferson and the custodians of the sword of Andrew Jackson. These companies do not care to see a manufacturer of cheap fertilizer in the saddle.

It would reduce their profits alarmingly, it would deprive them of their richest pickings and good business men do not like to sanction any scheme that calls for a melting away of profits or the manufacture and sale of a fertilizer just above the cost of production.

Henry is having his own troubles. There are multi-millionaires in the southern states east of the river who are on his trail and Secretary of War John W. Weeks is not hostile when in their presence.

RUNG HO!

CHAPTER XXI.

Then Art the Condition!

"Where have you come from, Miss McClean?" asked Cunningham. And she told him. She was not quite so stiff-chained as she had been.

"What were you doing there?"

She told him that, too.

"Where is your father?"

He brought her before her father.

"I understood you to say that you promised to help Prince Jaimihr to escape from his cell tonight?" he said.

"Yes," answered Rosemary. "I had to."

Her father gasped. But Cunningham appeared to follow an unbroken chain of thought and she listened.

"Well. You will both realize readily that we, as British subjects, are ranged all together on one side, opposed to treachery, as represented by the large majority of the natives. That means that our first consideration must be to keep our given word—what we boast—must tally with what we undertake, and at the least try, to do. You must keep your word to Jaimihr, Miss McClean!"

She stared through wide unfrightened eyes. Her father seemed utterly bewildered.

"On the other hand, we cannot be guilty of a breach of faith to our friend Alwa here. I must have a little talk with him before I issue any orders. Please wait here and—ah—do nothing while I talk to Alwa. Did you—ah—did you agree to marry Jaimihr, should he make you Maharanee?"

"No! I told him I would rather die!"

"Thank you. That makes matters easier."

Cunningham then sought Alwa.

"Now, Alwa-sahib," he said in a level voice. "My party can start off, and our answer, if you answer is to my proposal no."

"You would none of you ride half a mile alive!" laughed Alwa. "Jaimihr's men are there!"

"I none the less require an answer, Alwa-sahib."

Alwa loved a man who held to his point in the teeth of odds.

"Thus was thy father!" he said slowly.

"You are pledged to uphold Howrah on his throne?"

"Yes, sahib."

"Then I guarantee you shall! You shall not go to our aid until you have satisfactory guarantees that your homes and friends will not be assailed behind your back."

"The answer is yes!"

Cunningham saluted.

"Thank you," he said. "And now, Alwa-sahib, for my plan. Jaimihr must escape tonight!"

"Sahib, did I understand right?"

Alwa's jaw had actually dropped.

"Am I dreaming, or art thou, sahib?"

"We are neither of us dreaming, Alwa-sahib. Jaimihr is the dreamer. Let him dream in Howrah City for a day or two, while we get ready. Let him lead his men away and leave the road clear for us to pass in and out."

"I was mad. But it seems that I have passed my word!" said Alwa.

"Good. You shall have a road clear by tonight."

Cunningham then summoned Rosemary.

"You see," he said, "the situation's desperate. We've got to act. Alwa here stands pledged to protect Howrah, and you have promised to aid Jaimihr. Somebody's word has got to break, and you may take it from me that it will be the word of the weakest man! I think that that man is Jaimihr, but I can't be sure in advance, and we've got to accept his promise to begin with. Go to him, Miss McClean, and make a very careful bargain with him. Alwa-sahib, I want you and Mahommed Gunga near Jaimihr's cell so that you can hear what he says. There won't be any doubt then about who has broken promises. Are you ready, Miss McClean?"

And this is what Mahommed Gunga and Alwa heard:

"Jaimihr-sahib," Rosemary said, "if I help you to escape, will you promise me my safety under all conditions?"

"Surely, sahiba!"

"Do you swear to protect every living person on this hill, including the Alwa-sahib and Cunningham,sahib?"

"I swear it on my honor."

"I want your aid for my countrymen."

"Sahiba, there is only one condition that would make me ride to the British aid with all my men."

"Name it!"

"Thou are the condition!"

"I don't understand, you, Jaimihr-sahib," she whispered, understanding all too well.

"Follow me. Come to me in Howrah. Then, whatever these fool Rangers choose to do, I swear by Siva and the Rites of Siva that I will hurry to the company's aid!"

Rosemary McClean shuddered. She was thinking against time. Through that one small, overburdened head there was flashing the ghastly thought of what was happening to her countrymen and women—of what would happen unless she hurried to do something for their aid. And Jaimihr seemed to be the only help in sight.

"How many men could you summon to the company's aid?" she asked him.

"Five thousand!" he boasted.

"And you wish to marry me?"

"Sahiba—I—I have no other wish!"

"I agree to marry you provided you will lead five thousand men to the company's aid, but not until you have done so."

"You will come to Howrah?"

She could feel his excitement. The cell walls seemed to throb.

"If I am the price of our allegiance," said Rosemary, "then I will pay the price. Five thousand men for the British cause are dearer to me than my own happiness. I promise, Jaimihr-sahib, that I will come to you in Howrah."

He made a quick movement to embrace her but she slipped out and escaped him.

That night aided by a rope supplied by Rosemary, Jaimihr fled, unmolested.

And Alwa sent out his troopers in different directions with orders to rally every Ranger they could find, and at a certain point he named. Then he and Mahommed Gunga said good-bye to Cunningham and took a trail that led in the direction where most of the doubtfuls lived—the men who might need personal convincing.

"You think I ought to stay behind?" asked Cunningham, who had already made his mind up but chose to consult Alwa.

"Surely, sahib. If for no other reason, then to make sure that the priest of thine and his daughter make tracks for Howrah City! See that he starts, sahib!"

"Have no fear, now, bahadur—no anxiety," said Mahommed Gunga. "Three days hence there will be a finer regiment to lead than ever conquered in the father's wake—a regiment of men, sahib, not a mule to lead and love!—a regiment that will trust thee, sahib! See thou to the guarantees! Rung ho, bahadur!"

"Rung Ho! See you again, Mahommed Gunga!"

CHAPTER XXII.

Joanna Brings News.

Four days later, after the McClean's had been received as guests—with restricted liberty—at Howrath's palace, Alwa returned with 1,500 men and with them Cunningham thundered, as the jackals run, for Howrah City. Alwa, cantering at Cunningham's side, gave him all the new intelligence.

"Last evening I sent word of our coming to the Maharajah and to Jaimihr, warning each that we were to keep our plighted word. At the worst we shall find both parties ready for us! We shall know before we reach the city who is our friend! News reached me, too, sahib, that the Maharajah and his brother have united against us—that Howrah will ask high promises and play me false. God send he does! I would like to have my hands in that Hindoo's treasure chests! We none of us know yet, bahadur, what is the plan of thine—"

"You've been guessing awfully close to it, I think," laughed Cunningham. "Send for Mahommed Gunga."

Mahommed Gunga soon was beside Alwa.

"I am all ears, sahib!" he asserted.

"The key to the situation is that treasure," asserted Cunningham. "Howrah wants it. I know that much, for certain from the McCleans. All right. We're a new factor in the problem, and they all mistrust us nearly as much, if not more, than they mistrust one another. Good. They'll be all of them watching that treasure. It'll be near where they are, and I'm going to snaffle it or break my neck—and all your necks—in the deuced desperate attempt. Is that clear?"

They legged in closer to him, hanging on his words and too busy listening to speak.

"If Howrah thinks we're after the treasure, and so decides to fight without previous argument, that absolves you from your promise, doesn't it, Alwa-sahib?"

"Surely, sahib, provided our intention is not to evade the promise."

"Our intention is to prevent Howrah and his brother from fighting to insure peace and protection on this whole countryside, and, if possible, to ride away with Jaimihr's army to the company's aid."

As they thundered into view of Howrah City it was evident that an army was formed to meet them. Beyond all doubt it was Jaimihr's army, for his elephants were out so gaudily harnessed as Howrah's, and his men were not so gaudily harnessed as Howrah's and his men were figure leaped up from behind a sand-ridge, and raced toward Cunningham. It was Joanna, Rosemary's old servant.

"Jaimihr is looting the treasure now sahib," she cried. "He has tricked his brother. They were to join, and both fight against you, but Jaimihr tried to get the treasure out before either you or his brother came. He is trying now, sahib!"

"Miss McClean! Ask her where Miss McClean is! Ask for Miss Maklin, sahib!"

So Goes It

By BURNS HEGLER

There is a new invention in the process of being invented which is expected to make it possible to hear the conversation of insects. That isn't a joke—it really is a fact.

It would be interesting to listen in on such a conversation. We fancy the worm saying to his mate: "Look out there, Maggie! Get off the walk. Here comes that Mr. Getrichquik. He carries his head so high in the air that you might get stepped on. And he's the sort that likes to step on worms anyhow."

Fancy hearing a hive of bees discussing their workday problems and the present demands of men workers. The ant too, might be caught complaining of the load he had to carry.

But what we would like most of all to hear is some dog and horse talk. Dogs know more about men than the men do themselves. We wonder if they say what they really know, in confidence, to each other.

It is barely possible however, that dogs, being entirely respectable and trustworthy, whether everyone considers them so or not, do not gossip or make useless conversation. Those are human faults.

Speaking of dogs, the man in the United States who has the greatest reverence for dogs within our ken, is O. O. McIntyre, small town newspaper man who moved to New York and makes his living writing of the sights he sees in the metropolis of the world. Recently he wrote an article for the American magazine about what he learned from a devoted dog. It was worth reading.

And McIntyre, whose writings indicate that he is a he-man, admits quite frankly that when this dog died, he bowed his head and wept. Such was his devotion for his dog, and anyone who read the story will admit the dog deserved it.

And while we are into this insect and animal thing, we'd like to send a monkey to congress to report the present session.

MOTHERS AND THEIR CHILDREN

The Express to Slumberland.

One Mother Says:

When your little child won't go to sleep, but keeps fretting after being put to bed, soothe him into the slumber state by attracting his attention with some simple little story about tired and sleepy animals or people, ending by having them all asleep. The best thing I've found is a little exercise for the child's fingers. I name the fingers for members of the family, or for some animal family. I tell what each of them has been doing all day to make him tired, and tuck each one in bed by turning under the fingers in their order. Then when I caution the child not to waken his sleeping finger family he will usually keep quiet until the "sandman" finds him.

WHAT TODAY MEANS

BY MARY BLAKE

CAPRICORN

A favorable combination of aspects prevails especially between 10:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. when the important matters of the day should be handled. The balance of the day and evening is fair and unusually good for courtships and social affairs.

A child born today will be sensitive imaginative and indolent generous and sympathetic but ambitious.

If today is your birthday you are probably undecided to be undecided and irresolute. This does not necessarily mean that you are negative or weak in character, but rather that you have a touch of genius in you—a flashing approximation to greatness which will either make you a great success or a miserable failure.

You are undecided because your mind is so quick and acute that it comprehends all sides of a problem at once. You are irresolute because you face all problems fearlessly and realistically and you will take no action unless it is really worthwhile.

This is the graver peril of your character. You are not led by ideals or visions and you must guard against reasoning your aims out of existence. Learn to do things for the love of action and the sport of doing. Your reward is neither in heaven nor in hell, but in the joy of creation in the moment of creation.

You are neither generous nor affectionate but hold yourself aloof, although you have always a gracious and indulgent manner. You are tactful and diplomatic because it is no particular effort—nothing means as much to you as your own isolation—and politeness gives you the greatest freedom.

Yours is a complex and difficult nature—one that must be understood to be appreciated, but one that has untold possibilities for development and success.

More Truth Than Poetry

A MENTAL SEDATIVE.

There is this to be said for Mah Jong,
There is no one to load you with blame
If you chance to do anything wrong,
For it isn't a partnership game.
In bridge, it is not your opponent you fear—
You know he's no mercy to lend you—
It's the glowering look or the pitying sneer
Of the fellow who ought to befriend you!

When a man with a scowl on his face
Says in accents unpleasantly tense:
"Did you know you were trumping my ace,
Or haven't you very good sense?"
Your temper is hard to keep under control,
For he seems to you cold and unfeeling
And his words make a wound in your innermost soul
Which will always remain beyond healing.

When a lady with whom you have played
A soul-racking rubber or two,
Observes: "Oh! my nerves are so frayed!
I can't go on playing with you!"
Which most of them will, if your luck has been bad—
You (in spite of your hollow-toned laughter),
Whenever you thing of that dame will get mad
And stay mad a fortnight thereafter.

I know in Mah Jong that I pung
When the thing I should do is to chow,
But having no partner to cry out my shame
To the joy of the other folks present,
I have come to regard quite a commonplace game
As exceedingly soothing and pleasant.

TIMELY VIEWS on WORLD TOPICS

"Jews Must Build From Within to Prevent Corruption of Their Faith."

Jews of America need not fear attacks from without. But they have every reason to fear the harm that may come from within, consequences of neglect of religious and cultural institutions.

These were points in the message Lewis Marshall of New York, recognized as one of the leading Jews of the world, delivered in a recent address.

Looking forward he saw future corruption of the race if American Jews of the present generation continue to be indifferent toward promulgating Hebrew learning, history and the training of rabbis, communal and educational instructors.

"We must educate a body of rabbis and teachers spiritually endowed and mentally equipped for the great work that needs to be done," he said.

"Our young born and educated in this country insist on English speaking rabbis. Members of the rabbinates coming here from abroad cannot reach our youth, because they do not understand their psychology.

"Unless we are willing to alienate our young people, unless we are willing to make them agnostic or atheists, then the time has come for the Jews of America to preserve the institution which is best calculated to foster Judaism."

SOILS AND SOIL PHYSICS.

Capillary Action Caused By Plants.

In the growth and development of a plant a great deal of water is used. To illustrate—it has been determined by experiment that for a crop of corn over two thousand pounds of water is used for each pound of dry matter produced.

This means that considering the roots, leaves, stalks, grain and cobs all as thoroughly dried and taking one pound of the mixture there was a ton of water was used in growing this one pound. The roots pick up the water and the leaves evaporate it. A ton of water is about two hundred and fifty gallons.

As the roots take in the water for the plant from the soil immediately surrounding them, capillary action moves other water from other parts of the soil to supply the deficiency thus created.

When one part of the soil becomes dryer than another capillary action immediately comes into play.

The surface of the soil becomes dry from the wind and the sun, capillary action pulls water from the depths to take the place of that which has been evaporated. The same action takes place when plant roots remove water.

Water in the soil is generally heavily ladened with plant foods and essential elements that the plants need in their growth.

Many minerals that exist in the soil go into solution in whole or in part upon coming in contact with water. If these elements are alkaline in character they will form a deposit of alkali on the surface of the soil as the capillary water is evaporated. It is in this way that alkali crusts are formed which are so injurious to plant life.

Horse Extinct in Century, He Says

By The Associated Press.

BERKELEY, Cal.—Statistics recently circulated stated that horses, in large measure freed, because of motor power, from the labors that made them beasts of burden, were increasing rather than diminishing in number. But now comes Professor E. L. Furlong, curator of the vertebrate collection at the University of California, with the prediction that the horse will be virtually extinct on the American continent in another century.

Professor Furlong is so confident of his supposition that he has started for posterity a collection of all modern specimens of the equine family. His collection will rest in the museum of paleontology, along with the bones of the three-toed horse and other prehistoric kin.

Recalling the dominating position of motor conveyances in the cities, Professor Furlong adds: "Daily the tractor and automobiles are taking the place of the horse in rural life. As the usefulness of the horse passes, so will the necessity for his existence. Before many years the use of a horse for the purposes with which he has been identified since time immemorial will be a curiosity. In another hundred years you may find horses in zoos. I am sure you will not find them anywhere else."

COLOR CUT-OUTS

A Treat For a Reward

"Let's see if we can skate all the way across the pond!" suggested Billy Cut-Out one day.

"Al right," Betty agreed, for she had improved lately.

"If you can make it over to that little shack you see opposite us, I'll give you a treat, challenged Billy. Betty couldn't imagine what Billy meant, but she tried her best as they started out for their goal. It really wasn't a bit hard, and soon she was half-way there and then she was right up to the steps of a little house with smoke coming out of the chimney. "Good for both of us" yelled Billy, "Now we'll eat." They went into the little building which proved to be a shop where were sold hamburgers in buns and hot soup for hungry skaters. Billy and Betty ate until their money was gone and they couldn't hold any more.

Coor Betty's mittens and hose blue, her skirt gray. Next week will be a week of fun for Billy Cut-Out.

Service-ability Takes On a New Meaning

Service stripes generally denote a veteran, and this maiden with her be-chevroned dress of Fawnkrepe is no exception, for, though young in years, she is a veteran campaigner in the strategy and tactics of the love game, with the scalps of countless gentle youths to her credit. We don't like to insinuate that she adds a stripe for every conquest, but—And mademoiselle's assured air is certainly one which comes from the feeling of power to fascinate any mere male who may come within her radius. This afternoon frock is an interesting example of simplicity in line, whose undeniably smart appearance is achieved by the application of trimming in a new and interesting manner. The godets, almost a hallmark of the Paris silhouette, are of black satin panne, as are the chevron applications. The cavalier cuffs are an achievement in themselves, and moreover in harmony with the flared skirt. And, if you would be very subtle, line those cuffs with a vivid color whose rare flashes will appeal to the imagination. In this case the lining is lipstick red, to match the red buckle which gives the necessary note of color to the costume. The neck line for afternoon frocks is always very simple, we are told by Henri Creange, the fashion authority. It is with rare exceptions the "decollete bateau," whose universal becomingness has made it a classic.

DOROTHY DIX'S LETTER BOX

The Young Wife Whose Husband Objects to Amusement — The Youth Who Doesn't Like to Talk—The Troubled Wife Who Is Suspicious of Her Husband Without Reason.

Dear Miss Dix—I am married to a man who thinks it is wicked to dance, play cards, go to the theatre or movies, and who is content never to go anywhere but to his mother's and to church, and who doesn't care to have any company.

Don't you think this is rather hard on a young wife who has always been accustomed to gayety and to going to places of amusement?

I love my husband and he loves me, but I have had to do all the adapting and give up all my friends and pleasures because he objects to them. It makes me feel a thousand years old instead of twenty-three, and I am beginning to wonder if the game is worth the candle.

DEJECTED.

Answer:

You must be having a sad and boring time with your prig of a husband, who evidently thinks that being married to him is amusement enough for any woman. But remember that you brought your fate upon yourself.

Surely, in the long days of courtship, you must have found out what this man, with whom you were proposing to spend your life, thought about different subjects. Surely you must have had wit enough to find out whether he was pleasure-loving or austere, genial or grouchy; whether he was friendly and sociable or morose and solitary in his disposition.

If you married him, knowing that he thought it wrong to dance and play cards, and go to the theatre, you have no right to complain, because he denies you these pleasures, and you should be good sport enough to take your punishment without kicking.

The trouble with both men and women is that they are attracted to their opposites and marry them. Then they expect the opposites to fleeabout and be different, which never happens. Hence the large number of people who are in the same boat with you, poor little Dejected, who has got a husband who won't play with her.

The only really happy marriages are between people who have the same tastes and habits, and who enjoy doing the same things together. Congeniality is the only tie that binds. The people we really love are not those with whom we either fight or argue, and with whom we are in perpetual discord. It is those whose step matches ours in the dance, who thrill to the same plays, read the same books, vote the same ticket and canter along on the same bobbies that we do of whom we never tire and of whose society we never get enough.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I recently became acquainted with a girl whom I liked very much and desire as a friend, as she seems to like me. Now what I want to know is this: Is it necessary while we are together—which I hope will be quite often, as we see each other riding home on the car from work every evening and later at home in the evening—to keep up a steady conversation? I am no great talker, and find it difficult always to think of something to say. Besides, there is nothing that I like better than a person who can be silent with me and enjoy me just the same. But this girl seems to get embarrassed when I don't talk, and imagines that she is boring me. What is your opinion? E. R.

Answer:

I think people who talk all of the time are the greatest bores on earth, and that there is nothing so wearing as having to make conversation. Really congenial people—the people we enjoy most—are those with whom we can commune in silence. Why don't you tell your friend your views on this subject? If she is your real soul mate, she will understand it. If she doesn't understand it, there would never be any real bond between you, and the sooner you find it out the better. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband is honest, kind and considerate. He works steadily and divides his wages with me. But I am suspicious of him, and keep him from going out to places of amusement without me, and I watch him constantly.

A friend tells me that I am a mean, ungrateful woman, not worthy of a good husband, and that people like I am should not be permitted to marry. Please tell me what to do.

TROUBLED WIFE.

Answer:

I certainly agree with your friend that your husband must rue his wedding day and feel that in marriage he acquired not a wife, but a jailer.

The thing for you to do is to sit down and have a heart-to-heart session with yourself. Face the mean, ignoble thing in yourself that makes you attribute to your husband qualities that he does not possess. You say he is good, and kind, and honest; yet in your thoughts you suspect him of being mean, and disloyal, and traitorous.

Do you think it makes a man love you for the poor opinoin you have of him? Don't you know that in his soul he resents your unjust accusations? And what sort of esteem do you think he holds you in—you who have not love enough to understand, nor faith enough to trust, nor generosity enough to be just?

You say you watch him. Do you think that does any good? Don't you know that every system of espionage breaks down somewhere and that the man who wants to decive his wife can do it? She cannot possibly have her eye upon him every minute of the day and night. Every man who is faithful to his wife is faithful because he wants to be, not because she keeps him true by watching him. And don't you know that even the dumbiest-souled person on earth resents nothing else so much as being spied upon?

You say you never let your husband go out anywhere without you. In other words, you take away every vestige of personal liberty from him That is the quickest way in the world to kill a husband's love and drive him away from home.

If you want to retain your husband's affections, Troubled Wife, you will have to change your tactics. No man loves a jailer even if she is his wife. Any man will try to climb through the transom if you lock the door on him, and the surest way to make a husband justify your suspicions is to have them. If a man is going to get the blame, he feels that e had as well have the fun of the game.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Cremulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chonic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. NEWS AND PERSONALS

Helped.

The people in a general way gave Mrs. Hale and Miss Smith a good pounding Monday night. These good old people have labored for many years doing good to others and they had this returned to them by the people here. Mrs. Hale, is the wife of the late Rev. Hale, for a number of years a county missionary for the Baptist church and the Miss Smith is a sister to Mrs. Hale. Everything good to eat was carried to their home and money to the amount of $101 was given. They were so happy over the event that they could not talk. It was a complete surprise to them. The Rev. Mr. Hale was a member of the local Masonic lodge and was chaplain at the time of his death last spring.

Stout Motor.

Stout Motor gave each one of its men twenty dollars as a bonus for Christmas and New Year presents. The men say that it was a happy day for all. This speaks mighty well for the men and it certainly shows that the manager, F. D. Stout, is a man of wisdom and that his firm will prosper for being so kind to his workmen. The car salesmen were included in the list.

Covered Wagon.

A good number of our people have been to Wichita Falls this week seeing "The Covered Wagon." They all come back with a word for the play. This is an example of what advertisements will do, as one man here sees it. The Record News is read here before breakfast by its readers and they have the same advantage as the people do that live in Wichita Falls. Every person going to Wichita Falls to do shopping can see the Record News before he leaves so he can know what is being offered that day by the different merchants.

George Ritchie, manager of the Ritchie Drug store has returned from Bowie. He was called there to be at the bedside of his daughter who had to have an operation. He reports that his daughter is getting along fine.

Murray Sale.

W. C. Murray, merchant, land owner on the plains is selling or having a sale this week and it is drawing a great crowd from Oklahoma points. He has been each winter shipping poultry for the farmers.

J. F. Thorton, ex-county commissioner, has accepted a place with the Ligon Lumber company. Mr. Thorton has many friends here and they are glad to see him located with this firm.

Gus Shields Dinner.

Mrs. T. F. Warren, gave her father, Gus Shields, a birthday dinner Wednesday. In the evening he was asked to come to her home and to his great surprise a big spread was for him. Those that were present are as follows: Rev. Hundley and wife, Rev. Burton and wife, Mrs. J. B. Dunn, E. T. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Allard., Jesse, Dora, Martha and Louise Shields. CARROLL AND DENTON HEAD BOXING BILL TONIGHT AT PALACE; IS RETURN BOUT

The headliner at the American Legion boxing program at the opera house tonight will be Jimmie Carroll of Fort Worth and Joe Denton of Amarillo in a ten-round fistic elimination contest.

These two boxers crave action and are known for their ability to mix it as Denton got a light decision over Carroll last New Year's night.

The clever, side stepping, smashing lad from Amarillo, Wildcat monte will give his usual good exhibition tonight. His opponent will be Rufus Sparkman of Fort Worth, who is heralded as a poisonous leather shover from the Panther City.

A good heavyweight sport appetizer is offered in the bout between Anderson Martin and Homer Nolen.

Homer Nolen's brother will uphold the family reputation for boxing ability when he meets the well known Kid Snyder of Burkburnett.

A large Saturday night crowd is being arranged for tonight by legion officials.

Sport Snap Shots

Speaking of sport here are some games not in the regular curriculum. These have been thought up by busy high school students for initiating freshmen. They are designed to produce a thrill and still get by the faculty. Here they are:

Walk the victim in glue or molasses blindfolded. Then step 'em in weathers.

Rap on head with egg; pour warm water on quickly and give them a big sniff of hydrogen sulphide.

Place him on plank with hands on shoulders of two people. Raise plank as the two holding it kneel. Then tell him to jump.

Have them put out fire by carrying water in their mouths from a faucet

Put them to polishing street car rails with toothbrush.

Have long student and short one change suits and send them to visit their girls.

Give them a sticky time with court plaster or flypaper.

Wire a row of chairs and attach a coil. When freshies are seated turn on the juice.

You make your own rules.

The passing of Elmer Smith from the big leagues is sudden and surprising to the general run of fans. The Yankees have sent the slugging outfielder to Louisville as part payment for Earl Combs, star gardener of the Colonels. Smith is only part payment, the rest being in cash.

Smith goes down in history as the only man to hit a home run with the bases full in a world's series. He did it while with the Indians against the Dodgers in 1920. He presents a study to baseball psychologists. With Cleveland he was a star, mechanically. With other clubs—Washington, Boston and New York, he failed to get going regularly.

Perhaps the thing that handicapped him was his own disposition. Even this could be forgotten, however, when he was hitting his best stride.

Boxing and higher education don't mix, according to officials of the Lanier high school at Macon, Ga. They have terminated the career there of Young Stribling, heavyweight sensation, on the ground that he was absent too frequently from class.

Art Nehf, Giant pitcher, may sing his baseball swan song the coming summer, it is said. Nehf owns part of a jewelry store in Washington, Ind., and now is torn between baseball and the gem business. He is getting old, too, and says he finds it hard to train.

Jack Reddy, St. Paul manager and promoter, says he has discovered the reason for Fred Fulton's failure to shine. Reddy says that Fulton has handicapped himself by training for his bouts with sparring mates whom he could slam around all over the ring with little danger of being socked. Now Reddy's going to get some real hard guys to help Freddy train. May be the right hunch but it comes too late, Fulton's done. He's too old and the old habit of resigning when swatted hard is too strong in him.

When Arthur Havers and Ralph Ockenden, European golf stars, decided to come to this country for a winter of golf, golf experts across the pond expressed the fear that the two golfers would meet conditions which would handicap them and thereby hurt their prestige. This fear has proved groundless, however. Those who have followed the visitors in their southern engagements todate have found them playing remarkably good golf—even at Pinehurst, Fla., where the foreign notables encountered sand greens, a novelty to them. They are also winning many friends by their quite, unassuming, gentlemanly manner. This manner, by the way, is typical of the British professional.

Another old star hits the long, long trail. Charlie Schmidt, once star catcher with the Detroit Tigers and of late seasons coach for the young pitchers of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has drawn his unconditional release.

Dyed in the wool baseball fans can see why the Giants hung tenaciously to the lead in the National league in the 1923 race. While the Giants' pitchers fell by the wayside on many occasions the fielders were backing them up in superb style. The team led the league in fielding. In addition to this sterling defensive work five of the batters slugged away at the ball at better than a .300 gait.

Speaking of Olympic prospects. America's chances in the distance running events, since the departure of Willie Rittolo, seem to rest with Verne Booth, John Hopkins university student. The only distance man Booth has bowed to was Rittolo. The finish star defeated the John Hopkins runner in a five mile event in Chicago.

Booth has a victory over Joie Ray to his credit in a short event. He holds the intercollegiate cross country title and lesser honors in that event. It is said of him that he can run capably in any race from the half-mile to the regulation marathon distance.

It is rumored in the east that Buck Herzog will not manage the Newark International league club after all. Seems Herzog was in a receptive mood until the contract was drawn up. Then, it is said, Herzog found that he was to agree to a clause permitting the club to can him in a thirty-day notice. Furthermore, says the report, this form of contract is not new in the International league. Disregarding Herzog's case any such kind of a contract in a league the size of the International cannot work for the mutual good of the game. Why should the league want to sign men upon whom they cannot place enough trust to offer them a year's contract? And how many good men can the league get to swallow such a clause in a contract?

A new crop of amateur boxers will carry America's colors in the Olympic games. Sammy Mosberg, middleweight, Frankie Genaro, Pete and Jack Zivic, Archie Walker and several others who represented Uncle Sam four years ago turned professional after their return and therefore, are disqualified. Genaro has fared the best in the professional ranks, by the way.

Two of the heavyweights who rendered good accounts of themselves in 1920 are still available, however. They are Eddie Eagan and Bill Spengler. Eagan is a former Yale student and still is attending college in New England. Spengler is on the New York police force.

Connie Mack has signed his son Earl to be coach of the Mackmen, succeeding Harry Davis. The ex-first baseman will devote his time to scouting. Connie denies he is grooming his son to succeed him but Philadelphia fans will watch the younger Mack's work with interest and if he shows the stuff his dad possesses a second member of the Mack family will be perfectly welcome. Earl has had considerable minor league managerial experience.

LITTLE LESSONS IN BIG SPORTS

BASKET BALL

Which is the most important single element to consider in playing basket ball?

Answered by
DR. JAMES NAISMITH
The inventor of the game, who has done more to further it than any other one man alive. University of Kansas.

To have every man on the team accurate in making goals from any point and under all conditions is the most important element in basket ball.

It is impossible for any defense to keep their opponents from trying to goal; therefore, the team that is comparatively good at throwing goals has a great advantage.

A team that depends on one or two men to do its goal throwing can be beaten by a stiff defense aimed at those players.

Good teamwork can be accomplished only by consistent practice of the whole team, but each man may perfect himself in goal throwing without assistants or opponents. Some very successful teams have had little opportunity for team practice, but the individuals perfected goal throwing so that less time was needed for the whole team to be together.

In a game, the average trained team averages one goal out of five trials. Practice in goal throwing would better this ratio, give the players the satisfaction of being efficient, and increase the chances of winning games. (Copyright 1924, Associated Editors)

STARS BOUGHT BY N. Y. CLUBS NEAR-FIZZLES IN 1923

By NORMAN E. BROWN

"Near fizzles" at the start of the 1923 season.

The most talked of minor league stars of the day as the 1924 campaign nears.

That is the unusual status of Wayland Dean and Earle Combs, Louisville stars, recently purchased by the New York big league clubs.

The Giants gave $50,000 in cash and players for Dean, right hand pitcher. The Yankees saved themselves from total oblivion in the news column temporarily by countering with the purchase of Combs, slugging outfielder for a similar sum.

Two years ago, Dean was a sandlotter, playing with an independent team. The Louisville club took him south in the spring of 1922 and decided to farm him out. He was placed but failed to impress his new bosses and was returned to the Colonels. Despite his failure to get going the Louisville owners retained confidence in him and before the last campaign was well advanced saw their faith rewarded. He wound up the season as the second best pitcher in the league. He won 21 and lost eight games and allowed but 3.27 earned runs a game. He worked 259 innings, fanned 107 batters and walked the same number.

Combs made an impressive debut with the Louisville outfit. In his first game he faced Al Maumaux and drove out a crashing home run. He was given every opportunity to play regularly at the start of the season but his atrocious fielding caused Capt. Neale, active head of the club and the other bosses to despair of his shining. He could hit, though. Everytime he broke into a game he shone at bat. He won several games with timely wallops. Finally his hitting forced the club to keep him in the game regularly.

He gradually improved his fielding and continued his spectacular hitting. He wound up the season in second place in the batting list and was among the leaders in swipping bases.

Combs has had an interesting career. He was playing independent ball in the Kentucky mountains when "discovered." The "ball yards" in which he got his start were on the stump-dotted hillsides. The outfielders looked down on the batters from towering ridges. Outfielders had to be Alpoine climbers and base runners acquired the agility of mountain goats in leaping from crag to crag between bases.

Incidentally the departure of Elmer Smith from the Yankee roster and American league as part payment for Combs has stirred anew the discussion as to why big league clubs can get away with such moves. Smith may be lacking in the ideal temperament for a ball player but he is a good fielder, with a good throwing arm and, boy, how he can hit. Those who saw him clean the bases with one wallop in the world's series between the Indians and Brooklyn Dodgers will attest to that. So will Bob Shawkey. I recall seeing Smith break up two ball games that Mr. Shawkey had on ice in New York one season. Sent in as a pinch hitter Elmer placed the ball neatly in the 30th or 40th row of the grand stand both times.

Sports of 1924

By FEG MURRAY

Sport Alphabet—"M" Is For—

Bob Meusel, who was one of the heroes of the last world's series. He fired the shot heard 'round the world in the sixth game between the Yanks and Giants when he came to bat in the eighth inning, just after Ruth had struck out with the bases full, and scored Haines and Johnson with a screeching single to center. Bobbie was born in 1898 at San Jose, California, the home of "Strangler" Lewis, and played 3 years with the Vernon club of the Coast league before coming to the Yankees.

Max Marston, of Philadelphia, who brought home the third National championship to be won by the Quaker City in 1923, when he beat Jesse Sweetser on the 38th hole at Flossmoor for the Amateur Golf championship. Max hail always had bad luck in national tournaments and his success is due to his determination and grit for a period of 11 years in quest of the title. He is a former all 'round athlete, and was Interscholastic Golf champion in 1910-1911. He was a member of the U. S. Walker Cup Team in 1923.

Jimmy Murphy, who is one of the most famous of all racing drivers. This popular son of Erin won the 1922 National championships and was just nosed out last year by Eddie Hearne, due probably to Murphy's going abroad to compete in the Italian Grand Prix. Among Jimmy's greatest victories are the 1922 Indianapolis Speedway race, as well as the Los Angeles Thanksgiving day race and the 1923 Los Angeles Washington's Birthday classic in which he set seven new world's speed records.

SNORED WAY TO PRESIDENCY

At Least That Is What's Reported

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, China.—With the accession of Tsao Kun to the presidency of China, the usual crop of fantastic stories purporting to account for the rise of any notable figure has appeared, not the most fantastic being one obtained from native sources in Tsao's own province of Chili.

According to this account, Tsao's enlistment and subsequent rapid advancement as a soldier in the armies of the old Manchu dynasty would have been impossible but for his sonorous snores.

Tsao, originally, was a cloth merchant's apprentice, having been put in that service by a father noted for his stern disposition, the story goes. Becoming proficient, he was provided with a barrow and stock of goods wherewith to make the rounds among prospective buyers and chaffered keenly with the housewives of neighboring villages. He was discontented with this prosaic occupation, however, and sought solace for the pangs it caused his adventurous spirit by engaging in escapades which failed to find his father's approval.

The parent cast young Tsao adrift and the lad, bethinking himself of a career which would supply his demand for activity and color, sought to enlist at a military camp not many miles from his home. He was rejected because of inability to provide a proper guarantor. Although despondent, he was determined not to return to his family and sheltered himself in a haystack, where he presently fell asleep.

An officer from the camp, strolling through the vicinity, heard the lusty evidences of Tsao's slumber and roused him unceremoniously. In response to the officer's inquiry as to why such a robust young man should be sleeping the day away, Tsao told his story of eviction from home and rejection by the recruiting officials.

The officer became interested, used influence to obtain a waiving of the necessary guarantor in Tsao's place, and the youth enlisted. His rapid grasp of military matters impressed his superiors and a sensational military career, culminating in Tsao's advancement to the highest ranks and elevation to the presidency followed.

NEW IMMIGRATION BILL IS VOTED

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11—Restriction of immigration to this country on a basis of two per cent of the foreign citizens of each country here in 1890 with an annual minimum quota of 200 for each nation was voted today by the house immigration committee in drafting a new bill.

The provision in the Johnson bill providing for admission also of two per cent of the blood relatives of citizens now here was stricken out. A provision was agreed upon, however, allowing unrestricted entry of the wives or husbands of citizens, their children under 18 years of age and their mothers and fathers over 55 years of age.

The present law, which expires next June 30, restricts immigration to three per cent of the foreign born of each nation here in 1910.

WHITECAP CASE APPEAL FILED

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 11.—Appeal of T. W. Stanford, Potter county, convicted of "whitecapping" in connection with attack on E. T. McDonald, Amarillo railroad worker, last July, and given a two year sentence, was filed in the court of criminal appeals Friday. Stanford was indicted on two counts, one of making threats and signs to do personal violence to E. T. McDonald with the intention of causing McDonald to abandon Potter county, on July 9, and another, alleging the same offense on August 15.

The third count charged his "posting threats and signs, by posting what is commonly known as the regalia and robes of the ku klux klan, consisting of a white robe and hood, to do personal violence to McDonald, with the intention of causing McDonald to abandon Potter county."

Numerous exceptions were included in the record, asserting that criminal offense are not alleged in proper language in the indictment, and protesting introduction of testimony.

NEW NEWS WIRE CIRCLES STORMS

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 11. — To dodge western storms so that world news might be furnished to the Pacific coast The Associated Press today routed one of its trunk wires from Chicago over 4025 miles of western and southwestern United States where normally a trunk circuit 2660 miles long carries news to the territory now storm bound.

News that in its regular course goes directly from Chicago to the Pacific coast today is from Chicago through Omaha and Des Moines and from there to Kansas City. Here a wire circuit zig zags down to Joplin, Mo., to Fort Worth, Texas, to El Paso, up to Los Vegas, N. M., continuing to Denver, then to Rawling, Wyo., down to Salt Lake City, Utah, up to Boise, Idaho, over to Walla Walla, Washington, then to Portland and down the coast to San Francisco.

The telegraph operator sending at Kansas City has 3770 miles of wire on the circuit he handles without a break to the coast.

WATSON REFUSES ELECTION RACE

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Further impetus to the Coolidge for president movement was given today in an announcement by Senator James E. Watson of Indiana that he would not become a candidate for the republican presidential nomination.

Senator Watson's decision, which had been forecast for some time, was made known after he had conferred with William M. Butler, campaign manager for the president.

President Coolidge will be entered in the Indiana presidential preference primary, according to state leaders who have been conferring here for several days in connection with the plans of Senator Watson and the appointment of a Coolidge manager for Indiana. With Senator Watson out of the race the Indiana republican primary contest, it is expected, will be between the president and Senator Johnson. The latter has said he would enter every possible republican primary and is known to be preparing for a fight for the Indiana delegation.

NO CHANGE IN COTTON REPORT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—"There is no foundation for the report that the department of agriculture will issue a revised estimate on the cotton crop," Senator Dial, democrat, South Carolina, declared in a statement issued today. "Upon receiving advices from J. S. Wanamaker of St. Matthews, S. C., president of the American Cotton association, that such a rumor was being circulated with disasterous affects upon prices," Senator Dial said. "I got in touch at once with Henry C. Taylor, head of the bureau of agriculture economics of the department of agriculture, and he assured me that the report has no foundation whatever, and that the department did not intend to issue an estimate, and had not thought of such a thing."

Frisch was reported to have signed for this year at a salary of close to $18,000.

Tulsa Looks Forward To Plenty of Water

By The Associated Press

TULSA, Okla.—A construction project is designed to carry mountain water to Tulsa from a source 60 miles away in the Spavinwa hills is today nearing completion.

A pipe line five feet in diameter will carry the fluid to a community of more than 100,000 people at the rate of 25,000,000 gallons a day. The building program, under way since January, 1923, constitutes one of the largest engineering projects in the United States. The new system, including a city storage reservoir for emergency supplies, will cost approximately $7,000,000, and is expected to be completed in the spring of 1924. It will give Tulsa its first hydrant drinking water.

The water will be brought to a low spot within five miles of the city by gravity, and from there pumped to a second reservoir on the highest of the hills surrounding Tulsa. The system will be one of the longest gravity pipe lines in the world.

Armed Guards Protect Trillions in Paper Money

By The Associated Press

BERLIN.—Banks in Berlin are having as much difficulty these days as are bakers in keeping their hungry customers satisfied. All day long their telephones bring the insistent demands for paper money. "Hamburg must have twenty thousand trillions tomorrow," is a typical message.

The money is all distributed from the Reichsbank, irrespective of where it may be printed. Small wagons constructed like iron cages, travel on rails through the building and carry the money, the actual distribution of which is directed from one room. It is packed in large bags, carefully sealed. Two thousand consignments leave the Reichsbank daily.

While in the bank building the paper is stored in a heavily armored cellar which is practically an underground town, with scores of avenues and passages. This cellar is cluttered up with money of such small denominations that it was never issued because of its slight value. Thousands gave way to millions rapidly, and the millions gave way to billions. Consequently the race between the Reichsbank presses and the falling exchange rates has frequently resulted in defeat for the money-printers.

FROCK—FRIVOLOUS; COAT—DIGNIFIED; TAM—"SPIFFY"

There is no reason at all why the garments pictured here could not be worn together making an unusually attractive costume. The frock is just a wee bit frivolous with its wide sleeves or capes, whichever they are. The coat, on the other hand, is very dignified, a coat of distinction. The hat is a "betwixt-and-between," so to speak. It is a girlish looking chapeau but has its own dignity and would be as appropriate worn with the coat as the one the model is wearing.

The reason the frock is frivolous, for one thing, is its color—which is red canton crepe. Then its butterfly effect in the sleeve is gay. The outwork embroidery is unusually and very handsome, covering the front of the long bodice and topping the front of the skirt. The graceful drapes at the side front fastened at the girdle with a flower in the embroidery are also very attractive. The frock has a fairly wide, shirred girdle. It is called a dinner frock, but there are many occasions when such a frock could be worn with propriety.

This taupe caracul coat is one of the full length models and would impart an air of the most frivolous frock. It is colared, cuffed and banded with a particularly lustrous Kollnsky fur, a new "bag" cuff being the distinctive feature.

A black velvet tam—modified for the growup girl—is trimmed simply with a rhinestone buckle.

Auxiliary Meeting.

The Ladies' auxiliary of the Presbyterian church report a splendid meeting Monday afternoon in the Men's Bible class room presided over by Mrs. H. A. Brooks, the president.

Following the devotional opening, a business session was called and the first action was the election of Mrs. F. H. Ford as secretary, filling the vacancy of that office by the resignation of Mrs. C. O. Irby.

Among other matters of splendid interest was the reception of three new members, Mrs. E. W. Basbem, Mrs. C. O. Mays and Mrs. Fred H. Ford, the latter being the wife of the new minister of the church, making a total membership of 24 ladies in the auxiliary organization.

Following reports from the treasurer, and payment of dues and pledges for January, the ladies voted to organize a children's missionary band; and Mrs. Albert Brannon, assisted by Mrs. Exley and Miss Beryl Ford will serve as lady managers and directors of this juvenile band of the church known as the "Light Bearers."

The next meeting of the auxiliary will be given over to a Bible study, to be selected and lead by Mrs. W. A. Browning.

The meeting on Monday, January 21 will be a program on China, led by Mrs. F. H. Ford. The fourth Monday of the month will be a social gathering. It was also decided that the leaders of the various studies would be assigned alphabetically, beginning with the February work.

The following were in attendance at the Monday session: Mesdames J. W. Berry, Albert Brannon, F. W. Basbem, H. A. Brooks, W. A. Browning, F. H. Ford, J. M. F. Gill, N. G. Goodlett, George F. Hoffman, George W. Hood, C. O. Mays, Exa McCollough and H. H. Spencer.

Wesley Bible.

The Wesley Bible class of the Methodist church met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. A. Kyle, with Mrs. C. R. Sabitone joint hostess.

The house was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. D. Grant, who gave an appreciated review of the work of the organization during the recent holiday season along the lines of local charities.

Under the suggestion of the leader, Mrs. J. A. McKinley, the large class was divided into four circles. The progressive change was due, Mrs. McKinley stated, to the splendid management and achievements of the retiring president, Mrs. E. O. Melton, and her corps of officers, during their administration in enlarging the numbers of members and activities of the Wesley class.

A pleasant social hour followed the close of the business session when the social committee introduced a series of old fashioned games and amusements. The afternoon was closed with a service of a splendid refreshment course by the hostesses, Mesdames Kyle and Sabatone, to the following ladies assembled: Mesdames E. W. Windham, E. C. Prewitt, O. T. Kimbrough, W. T. Spicer, Andrew Willis, O. E. Melton, F. L. Smith, J. H. Wolf, J. W. Pyland, S. G. Cruse, C. A. Vasser, J. A. McKinley, W. D. Gant, P. A. Weldon, W. B. Smith, S. F. Booker, C. P. Nichols, M. L. Ward, John A. Harris, and the hostesses. Also three special guests, Mrs. Arch Fry, Mrs. G. N. Lewis and her house guest, Mrs. E. A. Lewis from Fort Worth.

Young Matrons.

The Young Matrons' class of the Central Christian church held their first meeting of the year in the home of Mrs. H. C. (Andy) Anderson on the Gulf lease, where a forecast of the work for 1924 was most favorable.

The business session was devoted to the election of officers for the new year, as follows: Mrs. C. A. Cox, of the Gulf Lease, teacher; Mrs. C. P. Price, president; Mrs. John Q. Humphreys, vice-president; Mrs. H. C. Anderson, secretary and treasurer.

The remainder of the afternoon was more or less a social exchange over busy needle work.

Fifteen ladies enjoyed Mrs. Anderson's hospitality which was concluded with an elegant service of orange pudding and whipped cream, caramel cake and coffee. The ladies were Mesdames E. E. Mallory, R. L. Hargrove, Earl McHenry, W. L. Sadler, a guest; C. A. Cox, N. C. Sheffer, J. W. Hodges, Carl T. Steen, L. R. Dick, R. L. Sparkman, C. P. Price, R. C. Tevis, F. T. Burgess, John Q. Humphrey, and M. J. Davis.

Junior Odd Fellows.

The Junior Odd Fellows, formerly known as the Royal Sons of Oddfellowship, held their first meeting of the new year Tuesday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The session was marked by the installation of the new officers as follows: Fraternal Watchman, Ed Stephens; royal watchman, Lenard Beard; loyal watchman, Hubert Stephens; devotional watchman, Joe McCormick. Robert Halaburton was appointed present captain of guards, succeeding Lenard Beard, past captain of guards.

The junior lodge is in fine condition, owing to the past splendid administration under the supervision of the retiring fraternal watchman, William McKinnel, and his supporting staff, who were the following: Royal Watchman, Ed Stephens; loyal watchman, Cleo Petty; devotional watchman, Hubert Stephens.

Among others present Tuesday evening were three elder brothers of the senior lodge, namely: J. B. Stephens, J. M. McCormick and William H. Patton, special deputy of supreme fireside.

As a training for mature membership in the I. O. O. F., the Junior Odd Fellows is a splendid organization and should include every eligible son among the youths of the city of Burkburnett.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Hodges have as their guest this week, Albert Hodges, a kinsman from Bonne Terre, Mo.

Pythian Sisters.

At a meeting of the Pythian Sisters Monday night, detail arrangements were made for the serving of the banquet given by the Knights of Pythias at the high school auditorium cafeteria, in which Mrs. John D. White was made general chairman of the service, assisted by Mesdames J. N. Allen, Jessie Bent, May Gill as presiding officer of the temple, as a general committee with a large number of other members co-operating on sub committees, which included all the members of Burkburnett Temple, No. 23, Pythian Sisters.

Among the several changes in the garage enterprises of the city, J. F. (Tim) Clifton, who has been with the Keim Motor company of Wichita Falls, for the past 15 months, has been transferred to Burkburnett, and will take charge of the Studebaker sales in this locality. Mr. Clifton will also be assisted by Mr. Clayton, formerly of Tulsa, Okla., and these gentlemen will make their headquarters at the Motor Inn.

Owing to the limited attendance of the members Tuesday afternoon at the league rest room, no official session of the Burkburnett Civic league was reported. However, Mrs. W. R. Hill reported $16.00 collected during the week from the local merchants and business companies on their monthly pledge of one dollar per month on the expense of the rest room. Several ladies paid their annual dues to the league and an informal discussion of conditions relatives to the interest of the league and rest room was held by the members present: Mesdames W. R. Hill, Rex Smith, J. M. F. Gill, J. M. Pogue and H. A. Brooks.

OLYMPIC — Allan Dwan's "Big Brother" with Tom Moore and Mickey Bennett.

GEM—Hoot Gibson in "The Thrill Chaser."

Enjoy Your Thrill Alone.

"It's all right to see rattle snakes—but not to talk about them," Erich von Stroheim told the 40 members of his expedition into Death Valley, where final scenes of "Greed" were filmed.

His order was 'Suffer in silence!"

It resulted from the fright which grew out of the experiences of one member of the caravan who was bitten by a scorpion.

Because the party frequently had to sleep on the ground, and in lands infested with rattlesnakes, tarantulas and other poison insects and reptiles, Von Stroheim ordered silence on fear-inspiring subjects.

If one member of the company woke up to find a rattler rattling on his pillow, he was at liberty to enjoy the thrill but not to talk about it.

Censors in Sweden

Sweden censors, movies too, says Victor Sestrom, who directed "Name the Man," adapted from Hall Caine's "The Master of Man." Sestrom laughingly relates that his first picture, made in 1912, was deleted in its entirety.

"While the censors will cut out any scene of cruelty—the fight scenes in almost all American pictures are largely deleted—the censors also exercise artistic judgment," said Sestrom. "It is only those scenes that could have no effect but to harm the natures of a simple public that are censored."

1924 With Fox

With the year's production completed and the last series of specials ready for immediate release, William Fox has launched his 1924-25 program of production.

The list includes "The Fool," by Channing Pollock; "Loyalties," by John Galsworthy; "The Man Who Came Back," which was dramatized by Jules Eckert, from a story by John Fleming Wilson; "The Warrens of Virginia," David Belasco's play; "It Is the Law," by Elmer Rice; "Strathmore," by Ouida; "The Haunted Woman," by James Oliver Kirkwood; "Hearts of Oak," by James A. Hearn, and a score of other books and plays which cost $2,000,000.

The Fox Film corporation will spend $20,000,000 on production alone during the approaching year, it was announced. In addition $5,000,000 will be invested in new studios at Beverly Hills, Los Angeles.

Page Lady Macbeth

Marian Nixon pulled a "Lady Macbeth" on the "Just Off Broadway" set at the Fox Hollywood lot, where she is playing opposite John Gilbert, in his new starring vehicle. Marian was asked to autograph a photo of herself. She did. Part of the ink stayed on her finger. She tried to scrub it off, hurriedly. The ink stayed. "Out, vile spot," dramatized Marian, as she heard herself being called on the set. After a few minutes of intensive scrubbing the spot came off. And now Marian understands exactly what Lady Macbeth was up against!

FILM BREVITIES.

The Goldwyn wise-cracker is in again. "It took three months to film Elinor Glyn's 'Six Days,' how long will it take to make 'Three Weeks'?" he asks. And when that is correctly figured out, he wants to know, according to that ratio, how long it should have taken to film Mme. Glyn's "The Great Moment."

From the start of the picture to the finish, there is not a studio setting in Erich von Stroheim's "Greed" which has been made entirely in the locations described in Frank Norris' story, "McTeague."

Conrad Nagel always wears pink collars—that is on the screen. Pink photographs a soft white.

Miss Maude Adams has become a member of Guild-Made Pictures, Inc., according to a recently announcement. The first picture to be made under her supervision will probably be "Alladin" in color. Miss Adams collaborated on the scenario of this picture. This association will not interfere with her production of "Kim" screen rights to which she recently purchased from Rudyard Kipling. She has been conducting a series of experiments in lighting and color at the General Electric Co., in Schenectady, N. Y., and at the Eastman Kodak Co., in Rochester.

Joan Standin, who has a comedy role in "Cape Cod Folks" is a member of one of the most famous theatrical families in history. She is a daughter of the late Herbert Standing, a noted stage figure for many years and has six brothers on the stage.

Mary Pickford's "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" and Douglas Fairbanks' "The Thief of Bagdad" were finished at almost the same time. The month of March will probably be the time for the premiere showings in New York, but Mary's and Doug's many admirers throughout the country will have to wait until later just how much later we have no means of knowing at present.

Here's good news for the children. "Strongheart," the wonder dog of the screen has taken unto himself a wife and family. In his new picture, "The Love Master," which was made in Banff, Alberta, Canada, strongheart's wife, Lady Julie, a thoroughbred German police dog like himself, will be seen and also half a dozen funny little baby Strongharts.

Mary Pickford remembered Tom Geraghty's Christmas with a platinum watch that would take your breath away. Tom denies that he is the author of the telegram that sped westward saying, "Where is the chain?"

Tom Mix has a "flapper harem" of 12 ladies, ranging in age from 20 to 65, in his new Fox production, "Ladies to Board," now being made under the direction of Jack Blystone.

Eleanor Boardman, Goldwyn leading woman, has decided that her favorite screen role would be a feminine

While the electric Doug. gives us only one picture in a long time we most eagerly look forward to that one and all flock to see it sure that it is worth seeing. And in the meantime we cast longing eyes toward Hollywood and eagerly drink in all the news of his next and feel impatient that it takes so long to make a really good picture.

His "Robin Hood" was first in the favor of the picture fans in the United States, France and Mexico, according to returns from contests conducted by the leading film magazines. In the United States it won by more than 300,000 votes in the contest conducted by the "Photoplay magazine." Doug will be presented with a gold medal suitably inscribed which is the prize annually offered by this magazine.

We hear the most interesting things about "The Thief of Bagdad" and hope it will soon be ready for release. His irresistible smile will not be be lacking in this new picture, we see.

version of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Kathleen Kay has the most beautiful hair of any brunette screen star, according to Clarence Sinclair Bull, who has been photographing screen celebrities for years.

Claire Windsor was elated when assigned the title role in "Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model." "It's my first chance to get all mussed-up," she enthused.

CO-OPERATING IN MARKET GROWING

DALLAS—Growth of the co-operative marketing movement in Texas in the last few years has reached the point where it touches no less than a dozen of the state most important productions, according to J. T. Orr, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association, which is said to have inspired similar movements in other lines of agricultural products. From 10 to 15 associations are now actively engaged in co-operating marketing in the state.

"Cooperative marketing has long since past the experiment stage, Mr. Orr said, "and the tremendous growth of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton association is reflected in the growth of similar cooperative marketing projects such as the Texas Bureau Poultry association, Texas Farm Bureau Melon Growers exchange, Texas Farm Bureau Sweet Potato Growers exchange, Southwestern Wool and Mohair association, Texas Wheat Growers association; Elephant Butte Alfalfa association, Texas Farm Bureau Ribbon Cane Growers association, Texas-New Mexico Alfalfa Growers exchange, Texas Farm Bureau Onion Growers exchange, Cattle Raisers and Producers Committion association; and the North Texas Dairymen's association all of which operate on the cooperative marketing basis."

In addition to the profit brought to the membership through orderly marketing, and sales according to the law of supply and demand, Mr. Orr stated that among other elements entering into the profit afforded the members was through ability to borrow millions of dollars at a low rate of interest; extremely low insurance rate because of quantity handed; lack of country damage; elimination of the so-called 'city crop,' or the excessive sampling of cotton which heretofore has been a loss to the grower: proper grading and stapling of cotton by expert graders and classers, who are employed by the membership through their directors, concentration of cotton in the largest and most modern warehouse in the state; concentration at port where gain in weight is experienced through moisture; profit through weight of patches on freight shipments; ability to supply the trade with the exact quantity and quality of cotton when desired, which has in many cases brought a premium, sufficient consuming markets of the world for direct sales to the consumer, and the elimination of numerous middlemen.

Recently, according to Mr. Orr, the cotton association shipped 20,000 bales of cotton direct to Liverpool for consumption which was valued at approximately $3,000,000. According to General Sales Manager Edwards this was the largest single shipment of cotton ever leaving Texas for foreign markets made by any one shipper, and the members would substantially profit for this cotton was sold during the last 10 days of November when the peak of prices was reached. The association has representatives in practically all of the consuming markets of the world, and is affiliated with the American Cotton Growers exchange, a federation of the 12 southern state cotton co-operative marketing associations.

The private detective entered with an air of gusty mystery.

"I have learned," he said, "where you son went after taking the contents of your money drawer."

"That is important," said the father "He took $1,000 and he's sure to return after he squanders it."

"He took the train for New York," the detective confided.

"Then he'll be home in a week."

Material Advancement Seen In the Near Future.

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Tex., Jan. 11.—The increase of 25 cents a barrel in the price for mid-continent crude has tended to further encourage all local oil operators. The local machine shops which handle oil field equipment report more better business now than for several months.

It is rigging up with standard rig on its W. P. Waggoner test No. 6, and is now building rig on its W. P. Waggoner B No. 2. GEORGE T. ALLMAN

George T. Allman, formerly general ticket agent at the union station here, and one of the best known young men in the city, died Friday morning at 1:30 o'clock in Vernon at the Moore sanitarium where he has been quite ill for the past two weeks. A brave struggle for life on the part of Mr. Allman was of no avail against the anemia with which he was suddenly stricken six months ago. No hope was held out for his recovery for the last ten days before his death, so that the news of his passing which reached Wichita Falls early Friday morning was not unexpected to his many friends in the city.

Two months ago, Mr. Allman was released from the hospital where he had been confined in Fort Worth and it was thought his condition was much improved. With his apparent gain in strength, Mr. Allman travelled over the state and returned to Wichita Falls where he remained in good health until two weeks ago when he was again stricken and rushed to the sanitarium at Vernon. Friends in the city have kept in close touch with his condition during his last illness and the news of his death was received with a great deal of sadness on the part of the business associates and acquaintances here, who treasured his friendship highly.

Mr. Allman who was born at Cornerville, Tennessee, July 24, came to Texas in his early boyhood. He lived at Vernon, Texas until four years ago when he came to Wichita Falls where his splendid personality has won for him a wide circle of close friends in the city who held him high in their esteem.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. W. C. Pitts and four nephews living at Vernon. Robert Basham and Mrs. Tom McDaniel, formerly Miss Thelma Basham were a nephew and niece, children of a deceased sister, and reside in the city.

Funeral services will be under the direction of Maskat Shrine Temple here and Imperial Potentate L. G. Hawkins will be in charge and the Rev. S. A. Barnes will deliver the funeral address. The service will be held in the Vernon Methodist church.

Knights Templar commandery 59 will participate in the funeral under Commander James R. Buchman. Al Ellis and R. E. Shepherd will represent Maskat Temple officially. The Shrine chanters, Messrs. Bullington, Von Allman, Bullington and Ray will also take part. A delegation from the local Kiwanis club will attend the funeral also.

All local Masons and Shriners who will attend the funeral are asked to be at Maskat Temple this morning at 7 and the delegation will leave overland for Vernon. A previous report that the Masons would leave at 7:30 was errorneous it was announced tonight and all are asked to be on hand at 7 this morning.

WILL OBSERVE LEE'S BIRTHDAY

All Confederate veterans, sons and daughters and widows of Confederate soldiers of Wichita County and others are earnestly invited to attend the services to be held at the First Christian church of Electra on Saturday, January 19, 1924, at 7:30 p. m. An interesting program will be rendered, during the evening Col. Ed C. Wilson will give the life of Robert E. Lee from his birth to his death and burial.

World war veterans are invited. Electra veterans are requested to come in uniform.

Connie Mack, waxing enthusiastic, says the Yankees will finish first next September and the Athletics will be second. It seems a shame to play out the whole season just to decide who'll finish third.

RIGGING UP

By SUMMERS

Archer county is keeping up the production of the Wichita Falls district. As the other fields decline Archer county production increases. There is no limit to the amount of undeveloped territory which remains open for exploration. The year 1924 will probably be the banner year in Archer county production, according to many operators who have had years of practical experience in the business.

Pool after pool has been discovered and each day other wells are being started in search of others. Wildcat blocks in Archer county are rapidly being placed under lease.

A few years ago Archer county was one vast prairie of mesquite, and was the domain of the cattle barons. The petroleum industry is rapidly forcing the cattle men out of the northwestern part of the county. Royalty from an oil well is much easier money than breeding and raising cattle.

The taxes assessed on oil valuations, that is, producing properties, means much to the citizens of the county. Good schools, good roads, good county buildings, will be of much value to Archer county. The younger generation of Archer county will have many conveniences their parents did not have when they were young.

All oil activities are not confined to Archer county, however, there is much work going on in the south Electra field and in other fields in Wichita county.

Another advance in the price of crude and Wichita Falls and vicinity will have even more prosperity than at the present time. Because of the high gravity and the shallow depth petroleum is found in this district operators of other states are coming here to start operations.

MARLAND STOCK PLAN REPORTED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—On the eve of the meeting of directors of the Marland Oil company tomorrow reports were current in the financial district that a plan would be discussed to offer a block of several hundred shares of the company's stock to the shareholders.

While no confirmation of the report could be obtained, some credence was given to it because of the announced abandonment of the original plan, temporarily at least, to dispose of 200,000 shares of unissued stock to a local banking group.

OIL COMPANIES FILE PROTEST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—A number of protests by American oil companies and commercial interests owning properties in Mexico against tax levies sought by the De la Huerta revolutionists have been filed with the state department, it was learned today. The attitude of the department in this matter was authoritatively described as being one of refusal on its part to admit the right of the De la Huerta faction to impose the taxes or to enforce tax collections.

Woman Fails To Get Damages In Suit on Sheriff

A suit for $15,000 damages against Sheriff W. W. Murphy and Deputy Sheriffs Jack Miller and Chas. Bebaut brought by Mrs. Lillian Kohrman and which began Thursday before Judge E. W. Napier of the 78th district court went to the jury Friday on special issues and resulted in a verdict not allowing the plaintiff any of the damages asked for.

The plaintiff alleged on Feb. 8, 1923, Miller and Bebaut came to her store she was keeping on the Iowa Park road and arrested her on a whiskey charge. She maintained in the petition she was brought back to Wichita Falls, placed in the county jail and not allowed to see an attorney or make bond. She asked for damage on grounds that her reputation had been hurt because of the arrest.

In the special issues submitted to the jury by Judge Napier the following questions were asked and answered:

Question: "Was plaintiff at time of her arrest in possesion of intoxicating liquor for purpose of sale?"

Answer: "No."

Question: "Was plaintiff given an opportunity to make bond for purpose of securing her release within a reasonable time of her arrest?"

Answer: "Yes."

Question: "Did plaintiff suffer any humiliation, mental anguish or injury to her reputation by reason treatment accorded her by the defendants?"

Answer: "No."

COTTON MARKET FURTHER OFF

Bulls Fail to Stimulate Any Further Heavy Buying.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Cotto futures closed easy.

	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close
Jan.	34.15	33.55	33.55-60	34.05
March	34.55	33.84	33.88-90	34.38
May	34.67	33.97	34.00-05	34.52
July	33.58	32.85	32.95-98	33.42
Oct.	28.35	27.85	27.88-92	28.17

Opening: January 33.80; March 34.55; May 34.53; July 33.[illegible]; October 28.15.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Further reductions in cotton today were due to the failure of bullish features to stimulate any general or aggressive buying and the re-appearance of liquidating sales on moderate advances. After selling off to 34.15 during the early trading March rallied to 34.55 during the early afternoon, but later broke to 33.84 and closed at 33.88. The general market closed easy at net declines of 12 to 52 points, with the more active present crop positions showing net losses of 47 to 52 points.

The market opened barely steady at a decline of one to nine points. There was enough covering or trade buying to prevent a full response to relatively easy Liverpool cables at the start, but the market soon weakened owing to continued complaints of a poor trade in cotton goods. Offerings appeared to have been pretty well absorbed after declines of about 20 to 7 points from yesterday's closing figures and the market "iffened up during the middle of the day on bullish spot advices from the south and rather a bullish view of the weekend figures.

A denial that the department of agriculture would issue a revised estimate of the crop may have contributed to the rally which carried prices 10 to 17 points above yesterday's closing quotations with January selling at 34.15 and May at 34.67. Demand tapered off at these figures, as it has been doing on nearly all recent advances and there was a renewal of liquidation, local and southern selling which sent the active months 32 to 37 points net lower in the late trading. Closing prices were within a few points of the lowest. Private cables said the decline in Liverpool was due to a poor trade demand, but that Manchester reported an improved inquiry for goods.

Exports today were 24,508, making 3,511,436 bales so far this season. Port receipts 16,686; U. S. port stocks 1,005,606.

New Orleans Cotton.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—Price changes in cotton today were divided into three distinct movements, the break in the early session, the strong rally that came in the middle part of the day, and the wide slump of the middle afternoon, the latter being the most pronounced fluctuation of the session. It carried price 37 to 68 points under yesterday's close of 33.75 for March and to 27.40 for October. The close was 37 to 62 points net lower on the day, the last sale of March being at 33.85 and of October 27.40.

In the early session, there was selling that was based on the disappointing returns from the cloth markets but after declines of 25 to 34 points, a much better feeling gained ground and the market exhibited pronounced strength when the weekly statistics commenced to be posted.

Mill takings were much larger than expected, the world taking 541,000 bales of American cotton against 262,000 this week last year. These, to all appearances, caught the ring short and purchases to cover short contracts caused a rise to 34.60 for March and 27.80 for October.

In the afternoon, the heaviest kind of selling was suddenly felt, and it caused a sharp breaking while this selling at the start was credited to one of the largest operators in the country, offerings shortly became general and especially so after the rumor of several days ago was revived that a private bureau was out with figures of only 382,000 bales as the December consumption of cotton in this country. Under this influence the market fell to its lowest.

Fort Worth Livestock.

By The Associated Press.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 11.—Steady prices were paid for all classes of cattle today and the market displayed activity. Receipts amounted to 2,200 head of cattle and 700 calves. Calves moved slowly, prices being weak to 25 cent lower, the top being 7.00. Steers sold at a general range of 6.00 to 6.80, the supply being of fairly good quality. One car of cows brought 5.50; another load went at 5.00 and one car sold at 4.25. Canners brought 1.75 to 2.15. The top on heifers was 7.50. Most of the bulls sold at 2.50 to 3.75.

Buyers made their hog selections at a very seasonable hour, the market showing a steady to strong trend. One car went to packers at 7.35. Bulk sales made a range of 7.25 to 7.40. Receipts amounted to 1,800 head. Pigs were weak to 25 cents lower, a few head at 5.75, while most of the run sold at 4.50 to 5.50.

Sheep house receipts were too small to make a market quotable. Only 250 head were received and some of those were stockers. Trade conditions were nominally unchanged however.

Dun's Report.

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

With January about half over, no unusual or unexpected trend has appeared in business. Rival from the year-end let-down has come in most industries, though in varying measures and the principal steel producer is operating at better than an eighty per cent rate. Yet cotton goods manufacturers manufacture is still restricted, there being a lack of demand at prices that mills can profitably accept, and curtailment also continues at some textile plants. Moderate easing of prices has occurred in certain markets where buying has not developed fully, and the movement of wholesale quotations, if chiefly in an upward direction, does not show the largest excess of advances that was seen a year ago. The situation, in not a few instances, disclosed active forward purchasing, whereas, the policy now is mainly one of limiting committments to immediate requirements.

MONEY At Work

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments.

In many homes the cost of clothing for women is the item responsible for a deficit in the family's budget.

Styles change more frequently and more radically for women than for men. If a man buys a suit of good material, he can wear it till the cloth begins to show actual wear; a woman rarely wears her clothing out—she discards it because it is "out of style."

So the merchant who sells clothing to men knows that his stock will be salable for a relatively long time, but the merchant who sells to women knows that every month, or oftener, new styles will be taking the place of the perfectly good things he now sells. He must make a large margin of profit on today's sale lest he have to stand a big loss tomorrow. This is true for the maker of fabrics and clothing as well as for the retail merchant, so this margin is multiplied several times. Higher relative prices for women's clothing is the result.

The woman who buys conservative styles just after the height of the season can be well dressed on less than half the money needed by the woman who buys extreme modes the moment they appear.

STOCK MARKET WAS STRONGER

Twenty railroads averaged 85.40; net loss .22.

High 1924, 90.52; low 79.52.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Encouraged by the decision of the house republicans to take early action on the tax reduction bill, professional operators resumed their campaign for higher prices in today's stock market, the fifth consecutive million share session. Industrials regained leadership of the upward movement. Heavy profit-taking took place in the railroad shares, particularly the low priced issues, on the circulation of reports that Senator Smith, newly elected chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, favored prompt action to lower freight rates, particularly on agriculture.

An abundance of cheap money, which resulted in call funds falling below four per cent for the first time since last September, also aided operations for the rise. Time money and commercial paper were quoted at 4 3-4 and 5 per cent.

Food, chemical, merchandising, oil, motor and motor accessories shares gave the best demonstration of group strength. Some of the outstanding strong spots were Atlantic refining, Tidewater oil, Marland, Stewart-Warner Speedometer, Stromberg Carburetor, American Can, Willys-Overland, Otis Elevator and Sears-Roebuck, the net gains ranging from 2 1-4 to 5 points.

Steel shares moved within narrow and irregular limits. U. S. Steel common again crossed par but fell back later to 99 3-4, where it was up 1-8 on the day.

A temporary burst of strength in the equipment group sent Baldwin up to 127 5-8 but it slipped back later to 126 3-4 for a small fractional gain on the day. General Electric duplicated its record price of 200½, closing slightly below that figure for a net gain of 2 3-8.

Oil shares continued to reflect the improvement in that industry as indicated by a steady reduction in crude output and higher commodity prices.

Establishment of another new low record for French francs at 4.77 cents, was the feature of the foreign exchange market. Demand sterling eased about ½ to $4.27½.

ASKS AID FOR ALASKAN FARMERS

By The Associated Press

ANCHORAGE, Alaska.—Territorial Senator M. D. Snodgrass has promised to try to calk a supposed leak of $500,000 annually in Alaska's treasure chest. The item is said to be represented in foodstuffs, hay, grain and mill feed now shipped into the Alaska railroad belt from the United States.

Senator Snodgrass said recently that he would press on congress the necessity for aid that would enable Alaskan farmers to get on their feet and begin taking from the ground some of the substances imported.

He added: "When the late President Harding advised the development of local industries in Alaska, he doubtless had in view the question of agriculture. There was enough money expended in foodstuffs during the construction of the Alaskan railroad to have put a thousand farmers on the way to independence. It is too late to consider this past expenditure, but if the agricultural resources of the territory can be developed, Alaska need fear nothing for the future."

Senator Snodgrass said that beef, pork, mutton and poultry all were produced, but on a small scale because of the scarcity of stock animals. He reported that Secretary Work of the interior department had endorsed a plan for doling out herds to farmers on long-time payments. He also expressed confidence that Secretary of Agriculture Wallace would offer congress a plan covering the entire agricultural question in Alaska.

WILL REPLACE JAP MUSEUM

By The Associated Press.

TOKIO.—Baron Okura has announced that he intends to endeavor to replace the great museum which he presented to the nation some years ago, and which was destroyed in the fire following the earthquake.

The collection was one of the chief attractions to foreign visitors in Tokio and was of enormous value. Many of the relics cannot now be duplicated. A few were saved, having been removed to a fireproof warehouse as the fire approached. The collection cost Baron Okura about $2,500,000.

WHEAT MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Strength in Opening Weakness After Much Selling.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Strength in foreign markets gave wheat a substantial impetus upward here at the outset today, but selling on the advance took the edge off the demand. Closing prices were steady at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-8 cent higher, May at 1.08 7-8@1.09 and July 1.07 3-8. Corn closed unchanged to 1-4 cent lower, oats varying from a shade decline to 1-4 cent advance, and provisions at 12 to 15 cents off @ 5 cents gain.

Corn averaged lower in price after a firm start. Better weather conditions led to some speculative selling, and tended to slow down demand as compared with preceding days. Oats were upheld by improved shipping demand. Notwithstanding higher prices on hogs, provisions were easier in sympathy with corn.

certain to be found in largee quantities, accoding to Dr. Udden, are: Potter, Oldham, Midland, Howard, Borden, Dawson, Ward, Loving, Reagan, Dickens and Glasscock. It is also fairly certain to be found in Lynn, Terry and Yoakum.

The first importance of potash is in its use as fertilizer. Most of this mineral has come from Germany in former years. It also is employed in soap, glass, explosives, bleaching, dyes and many chemical. During the world war the government manufactured potash from alkili lakes in western Nebraska.

WORKER COUNCIL MEETING FRIDAY

Plans For Coming Year In Various Sunday School Branches Made.

The regular monthly workers council of the Sunday school of the First Baptist church was held in the church basement Friday evening.

Supper was served by the members of the Alatheen class of the young peoples department, after which a social hour was enjoyed.

A business meeting followed in which the plans for the coming year in various branches of the Sunday school were thoroughly discussed. Among these were mentioned the taking of a religious census over the entire city in February to obtain material and information on which to base future work in the Sunday school.

On April 8, 9 and 10, the First Baptist church will entertain the Texas Baptist Organized Class convention with about 1,500 out of town delegates. Plans are under formulation now for details of the big convention.

The subject of the normal training course being conducted by the First Baptist church was discussed. Thirteen books in the course will be taught at least twice each, during the coming year. The course which opens Monday evening will teach four of these books, and classes will continue throughout the winter teaching at least two books and at times four to six. Students completing eight books will receive an award as graduate of the normal course it was announced, and students completing the entire thirteen will receive special award.

Le Roy Moore, who is educational director, expects to award at least 600 diplomas at a formal commencement held next fall which will resemble the graduating exercises of a college senior class. The class will be made up of all who have passed examinations in the study courses at any time during the year.

The workers expect to bring each department of the Sunday school up to the standard set by the Baptist Sunday school board by the month of May, 1924, and by the first of the year 1925, they hope to reach the status of "advanced standard" which signifies a school perfect in all lines as to qualifications.

NEW SEMESTER BRINGS ACTIVITIES

The new semester which always brings about promotions, new surroundings new teachers and new classmates, bring also new activities to Junior high students.

The Spanish club, Latin club, Girls club and Manual Training clubs which have been active factors in Junior High life will readjust themselves to new membership and re-election of a new set of officers for the spring term sometime next week, according to H. L. Glass, principal of the Junior High school.

A new feature to be introduced during the coming semester, one that is looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation on the part of the students, is the installation of a complete department of music under the direction of Mrs. Hermoine Vaughn, and the organization of Girl's and Boy's Glee clubs and a chorus formed by combining the two, according to announcement by Mr. Glass.

Year by year the Junior High school has more nearly resembled high school proper in the school activities it fosters, and the wide range of curriculum, it offers, with domestic art, manual training and a choice of languages. During the next semester, steps will be taken and plans laid for the addition of further courses for the students perhaps along lines of sciences and more vocational subjects, according to Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools.

The only class to adopt class organization and activities is the graduating class which conducts its affairs through the year much in the same manner of the Senior High school class. The undergraduates will organize very soon and will prepare to work as hard and play as hard during their "senior year" as their older brothers in Senior High school.

The development of this spirit in Junior High school will be accentuated the more when the Junior college and high school students occupy the new Junior college building as "collegiates" and the Junior High pupils occupy the old high school building all by themselves.

MATHIS IS CHOSEN TEMPORARY JUDGE

In the absence of Judge Guy Rogers of the county court at law who left Friday with the Shrine delegation to attend the state Shrine council which meets at Austin today, Ralph Mathis was chosen temporary judge.

Several civil suits were heard during the afternoon.

RUPTURE

EXPERT COMING TO

Wichita Falls

At Monday and Tuesday, January 14-15, at Kemp Hotel, From 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Two Days Only.

On above date C. F. Redlich, the noted rupture appliance expert, will give a free personal demonstration on his latest appliance to relieve ruptures at once and permanently.

Persons with ruptures should not delay, but promptly avail themselves of this chance, because postponement, neglect or an ill-fitting, old style truss always turns a mild and easily reduced case into a troublesome, even dangerous one, necessitating surgical operation.

Large and difficult cases are especially invited and should come at once and be convinced of the immediate relief obtained by the use of these different and superior appliances.

If you have been suffering personal discomfort and are unable to work, do not fail to call. Remember that demonstration will be free on above date only, and that his appliances are different and superior to others.

Old Home Town Stuff

THINGS YOU SAY, DO AND SEE AND SOME YOU DON'T

SAW an ad the OTHER day where a FARMER WANTED to hire a hand.

THE farmer offered to PAY $15 a month for a good Worker.

* * *

HE did not say anything ABOUT board, but it's supposed THE hand would get at least ONE meal a day.

* * *

WAS glad to see things getting BACK to normalcy and high PRICES going down.

* * *

THOUGHT it would be nice (NOT for the Farmer) IF a good, honest consciention JELLYBEAN could get that job.

* * *

THE J. B. would enjoy going to WORK about 4 in the a. m. instead OF to bed at that time.

* * *

ALSO the thrill of overalls WOULD be a novelty to one WHO apes Valentino all time.

OVERALLS are bell bottomed AND wouldn't be much out of STYLE.

OF course J. B. would miss COTROLENE for his hair.

* * *

THE farmer might however sell HIM axle grease or hog lard at COST and J. B. could make out alright.

* * *

THE jellybean after plowing all DAY would feel just as tired as HE does after dancing all NIGHT.

HE could even get blisters on HIS heels by smashing clods INSTEAD of patent leather pumps.

* * *

HE would have to do without HIS lipstick though.

* * *

A cob pipe would be stronger than SCENTED cigarettes and "Brown Mule" THAN "Beechnut" but he might get used TO it.

* * *

THEN at the end of the month HE would have $15 he had earned AND not mooched.

* * *

OF course J. B. will never GET in the big money class LIKE bricklayers and bankers BUT this job would mean much to HIM, despite mental and PHYSICAL unfitness.

Reports from the railroad commission show that for January 9 and 10, ten applications for drilling in the oil fields were filed.

L. G. Hawkins of Vernon, potentate of Maskat Temple, W. D. Cline, past potentate, and Judge Guy Rogers left yesterday for Austin where they will attend the Imperial Shrine council.

Warren Simpson, little son of Rev. and Mrs. C. M. Simpson, who is quite ill with diphtheria was reported doing nicely last night.

Willis Clark, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Clark is improving slowly after a siege of pneumonia. His condition is better the past few days and is reported to have rested well last night.

Rev. S. A. Barnes, pastor of Floral Heights M. E. church has gone to Vernon, where he will preach the funeral sermon of George Allman, a well known Wichita boy, who died in Vernon Thursday evening at the home of his sister. Several townspeople and a party of Shriners have made the trip to attend the services. Rev. Barnes was Mr. Allman's pastor in Vernon for a number of years as well as in this city.

We wonder why some of these "enterprising merchants" don't take down their Christmas decorations. Maybe they only get the old place dressed up once during the year and like to look at it.

The latest creation from the hand of J. J. Hunt, hatter for De Luxe dry cleaners is a tiny blue tailored hat with a black velvet brim bound in grosgrain with a snappy little grosgrain band. The new little lady is the bride of the little brown felt hat that Mr. Hunt made sometime in the fall. Both hats are perfect miniatures in every respect. Many offers have been made for their purchase, but Mr. Hunt refuses to sell them.

C. J. Lamphin of Temple, Okla. is in the city on business.

Robert McAbee left Friday for San Francisco where he has accepted a position with the Martha Washington grocery incorporation.

A. J. Davis, well known for years as a pence officer in this section, returned this week from a visit and business trip to Denison, Sherman and other places in Grayson county coming back by Tulsa, Okla.

Mrs. W. F. Stuckey and son, Paul Lester, have returned from a six weeks' visit to California spent with Mrs. Stuckey's mother.

No Decision Yet Is Reported In Statutory Case

The jury in the case of John White, of Burkburnett, who has been on trial in the 30th district court the last two days on a statutory charge, had made no report at a late hour last night, the case going before it for final consideration about 4 yesterday afternoon.

Wayne Somerville, assistant county attorney and who took the evidence in the case and worked it up for trial, made his argument for the state at 1:30 in the afternoon. Somerville led in the selection of the jury and in the prosecution of the case assisted by James V. Allred, district attorney. The defense was represented by Carrigan, Montgomery, Kilgore and McBride attorneys.

A decision is expected this morning.

MANY CITIZENS JOIN GOLF CLUB

There will be many people playing golf in Wichita Falls pretty soon according to officials of the Municipal Golf club who report the new membership drive has added many new names to the roll.

In a short time work will begin on the golf links to put in nine new holes, making it an 18 hole course. Many golfers are impatiently awaiting the opportunity to play on the larger links and start in on the new, to most people, pastime.

SCHOOL EXECUTIVES IN JOINT MEET

A joint meeting of public school executives from surrounding counties to consider plans for the next joint teachers' institute to be held here next fall will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the office of Burl Bryant, county school superintendent.

The executives will select a faculty for the institute and will discuss programs and special teachers to be secured. School officials from Vernon, Seymour, Archer City, Chillicothe, Henrietta, Iowa Park, Burkburnett, Electra and Wichita Falls are expected.

J. B. WILLIAMS

J. B. Williams, 41, died Friday morning at 6 o'clock at his home, following a long period of illness. Mr. Williams was an old citizen of Wichita Falls, having lived here many years. His father was one of the first commissioners of this city.

Surviving him are his two brothers, B. C. Williams of this city, Tom Williams of Minnesota; and three sisters, Mrs. Nellie Wyatt and Mrs. Susie McQuerry, who live here, and Mrs. Maggie Randolph of Tulsa, Oklahoma. ANKLES SKINNY? PERUSE THIS

No Need to Envy Fuller Ones Now

Cheer up, you damsels with the slim ankles, London has introduced the very latest sniff in sport stockings—"bracelet stockings" they are called and they are clever creations featuring circular bands of color, such as black, red and orange on a gray ground, or blue, yellow and black or a biege ground. The color bracelets serve to abolish the thin effect and display a splender ankle to the best advantage.

London says no black hose in the daytime, and English maids wear only light shades in biege and gray with black and colored shoes.

Tan hose are displayed in many hues, checks, both square and diamond shaped are in some cases two inches across. One striking stocking is entirely covered with narrow circular panels of small black and white checks.

Speckled effects are carried out in wool and silk in a variety of shades. Shadow striped luster lisles are worn by women who do not care for silk or wool hose.

Designs in evening hose are rare, some silk models are embroidered in delicate shades of silk while some feature brilliantly colored flowers. Quite the loveliest of the evening hose are worked with "snakes" of sequins and tiny beads.

The London styles are fast being introduced into the best circles of American society, and Miss America is reveling in the new hosiery fantasies, quite as her English sister.
