Spring Uptrend In Country's Economy Is Claimed Overdue

Fresh Declines In Several Quarters Reported; Late Easter Is One Cause

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 21—The spring season's expected boost for the nation's economy is overdue.

That became clear today from a new batch of government reports.

They showed fresh declines in non-farm employment, in factory workers' earnings and working hours, in business loans and in estimated farm receipts.

One government official, Commissioner Ewan Clague of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said ordinarily these figures should have showed an uptrend this time of the year. He said maybe it's just delayed action, due in part to a late Easter.

However, another top official, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, sounded an optimistic note to a New York audience last night. He said latest employment figures actually are higher than a year ago and purchasing power still is high.

"Right now," said Snyder, "in the pocket of the American people, we have $200,000,000,000 of liquid assets."

Snyder said the present economic picture lacks the elements that "brought on depression and depression crises in the past."

On the other hand, a third government expert, Louis H. Bean, said businessmen can cause a depression by curtailing investment for industrial expansion. He said recent surveys indicate they plan to reduce it in the next five years to 40 per cent of the 1948 level.

Bean, economic advised to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, also spoke in New York.

Clague told a news conference the new lag in worker earnings and working hours means a cut in public purchasing power. He gave these figures for March:

Non-farm employment — Down 150,000 from February to 43,848,-

Air Force Mapping Targets For Future War

More Money Is Asked For G-2 Workers

Staffs Preparing Varied Plans For National Defense

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Air Force intelligence experts are preparing a "bombing encyclopedia" to show what enemy targets should be hit in any future war.

The volume of their work has doubled since last summer and the Air Force is now asking Congress to provide funds for more intelligence workers.

Information available to the lawmakers and others showed this today:

Part Of Defense

The list is part of the overall national defense program which calls for the preparation and continuing revision of precautionary and alternate sets of plans for fighting an aggressor nation or various combinations of nations. Whether it includes the recently rumored list of 70 targets in Russia is not known.

The folders are the product of analyses of scraps of information, statistics available from trade journals, reports by commercial attaches abroad, newspaper clippings and, in a minor percentage, presumably material provided by undercover workers.

Into the folders go an appraisal of the relative importance of a target to the economy of a nation as a whole; the importance of a particular installation within a target city; details of construction and operation of that particular industry; secondary aiming points for bombers in addition to the primary targets. Along with the written material go maps of the target.

Attack Methods Added

When the "strategic vulnerability" men have finished providing all they can learn or deduce about a target, staff planners go to work.

To the target information, then, are added methods for reaching the target and estimates of weapons required for the attack. These "weapons recommendation sheets" include items on what is referred to in cryptic manner as "special weapons."

The military includes atomic bombs in the category of special weapons.

However, no strategist contends that the atomic bomb is a general purpose weapon, to be used in all bombing. It is a mass destruction

Senate Debate On Science Bill Is Continuing

Brief Respite For Solons Provided During Morning

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 21—The Senate refused to take a noon recess today and the filibuster which had been interrupted for three hours began again at 12:10 p. m.

The vote against the recess was 9-18. That was practically the same vote by which the Senate has refused to adjourn or recess since 2:30 p. m. yesterday while foes of the basic science bill held the floor.

The filibuster began yesterday at 7:47 p. m. when Senator Fred Harris of Dallas took the floor against the bill. Senator Hill D. Hudson of Pecos took over at 3:50 a. m.

93 Bills Are Passed

At 9 a. m. today the filibuster was stopped and 93 bills were passed on a local and uncontested calendar. Hudson then took up where he had left off.

Senator Walter Tynan of San Antonio, Senate leader of the bill's proponents, said his forces—which had held closely together during the entire night—said they would press for passage.

By clear margins they had kept the Senate from adjourning on repeated calls for quitting throughout the night and morning.

Senator Fred Harris of Dallas, opposition leader, told the Associated Press that the "extended debate" would resume whenever the bill came back up.

Harris had left the floor at 3:50 a. m. after 11 hours 3 minutes of argument through the night and early morning.

Just Short Of Record

It was one of the longest one-man stands in recent legislative history. It was 2 hours 22 minutes short of the record set in 1945 by then-Senator Jesse Martin of Fort Worth.

Senator Hill Hudson of Pecos took up the filibuster where Harris left off. Others were set to follow.

Through most of the night Harris had paced the floor, hammered hard at medical profession sponsoring the bill, quipped and joked through the entire proceeding. Senators snoozed, visited, wandered about, listened occasionally.

Bloodshot eyes were about Harris' only visible sign of fatique when he closed.

House Pushes Education Bill

AUSTIN, April 21. (U.P.)—Supporters of Gilmer-Aikin legislation held firm their sway over the House today, in the face of delaying moves from minority opposition leaders.

Victorious in passage of a plan to abolish the post of state Superintendent L. A. Woods yesterday, proponents succeed in beating down virtually all proposed changes considered "crippling" to the bill.

Amendment Rejected

The House recessed until 2:30 p. m., when debate was scheduled to continue.

A major victory was scored when members rejected, 72-57, an amendment requiring that state aid to public schools be paid on the basis of the total number of students in the district.

The amendment was proposed to measure by Sen. Ottis E. Lock of Lufkin, which would set up a minimum foundation education program, and create a formula for payment of the system on local levels, by means of an "economic index."

The bill was the second of three Senate-cleared Gilmer-Aikin proposals.

Change Supported

Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake, speaking for the amendment, urged Protestant members of the House to join members representing districts in which there was a large number of parochial school students.

"If you have a Catholic school across the street from a public

Area Bankers Gather In City

Zorns Chosen As President

By BILL CLARK
Journal Staff Writer

Bankers 425 strong early this afternoon began the social and entertainment portions of a day-long session here after listening to outstanding speakers at a session this morning.

Far exceeding the anticipated attendance was this morning's registration. A program which began at 10 a. m. in Hilton hotel ballroom attracted a capacity audience. Registration preceded the opening of the program.

The convention named Bruce Zorns, vice president of Brownfield State Bank and Trust company, president of the association to succeed the outgoing president, Herman A. Dobbs of Odessa.

Next Session Here

Lubbock was voted as the 1950 meeting place of the association again.

Other officers elected this morning were B. T. Cardwell, vice president of First State bank of Odessa, vice president of the association; and C. A. Hollingsworth, vice president of the Lamesa National bank, secretary of the association.

Joe A. Clark, vice president of the Fort Worth National bank, admonished the bankers against becoming "machine-minded" in personal dealings with customers. He emphasized the importance of the "personal touch" in banking activities.

Tom Collins, publicity director of the City National Bank and Trust company of Kansas City, Mo., followed Clark's theme in a humorous talk. Interspersing his remarks with frequent anecdotes, Collins commented that he is satisfied with the machines of today, with the airplanes and automobiles and typewriters. The improvement he wanted to see was in human relations and he commented that the progress of banks will depend on people, not banks.

MOTHER OF VICTIM TELLS STORY

State Nears Close In Trial Of McGee

BY EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The state called eight more witnesses this morning to testify against Richard W. McGee, 24, charged by indictment with the murder of R. L. Allston on the afternoon of July 7, 1948.

The first to be called was the widow, Mrs. Ethel Allston. Her testimony was substantially the same as that of her daughter which was given yesterday. The victim's mother, 70-year-old Mrs. W. M. Allston, was next on the stand. She told the jury and the court of hearing the conversation between McGee and her son which preceded the slaying.

Standing At Kitchen Door

The two men were standing at the kitchen door of the Allston home, she said. McGee stated that he wanted to see Betty Jane, with whom he had been keeping company.

"I don't want you to see Betty Jane anymore." Mr. Allston said.

"Does that mean that I am through?" Richard asked.

"Yes, Richard it does," Allston replied. It was then that the shot was fired and the wounded man staggered into his living room and slumped into a chair.

Both women stated that the victim was bleeding profusely at the time and that they were hysterical. In addition to the victim, the mother and the widow, Sue Allston, 14, the younger daughter, was also present at the dining table.

Revolver Is Identified

B. H. Beaird, owner and manager of Beaird's Loan Shop on Broadway, and Blanche Kligman, 19, 3215 Twenty-seventh, who was employed by Beaird about the time of the shooting, both identified the revolver which the state introduced as the murder weapon.

Miss Kligman identified Richard McGee as the man who had come into the loan shop on July 6, 1948 to look over some guns. Beaird identified him as the man who came in on the following day and made the purchase. The record of the sale was introduced as evidence.

The gun, an Ivor-Johnson .38 calibre revolver, number 87666, was entered as a state exhibit over the objections of the defense attorneys who stated that they were not going to deny that it was the weapon or that McGee was the man who fired the shot that killed Allston.

Two More To Be Called

District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and special assistant George Dupree indicated they would call only two more witnesses for the

Tito Was Shot, Priest Claims

WICHITA, Kans., April 21 (U.P.)—A Roman Catholic priest, exiled by Communists from his native Yugoslavia, claimed today that Marshal Tito was killed by German invaders in 1942 and that a Russian commissar has masqueraded as the Yugoslav dictator for nearly seven years.

The priest, who asked that his name not be published for fear of reprisals against his family in Yugoslavia, said the Russian was merely a figurehead. He said the real heads of the Yugoslav government were Mosa Tijade, a Serb, and Kardelj Edvars, a Slovene

Tijade and Edvars, the cleric said, were "Trotsky socialists" who had brought about friction with Stalin's Russia because they followed the concept of the late Leon Trotsky.

Finger Missing

"Nearly all Yugoslavs know that Tito is dead," the priest said, "but there is nothing they can do about it.

"Tito was shot by the Germans in a forest between Serbia and Croatia in September or October, 1942. I am not sure of the month, but it was in the autumn. He was buried by the Communists and the Russian commissar then assumed his name and position.

The clergyman said Tito spoke only Croatian or Serbian, and that the third finger of his left hand was missing; the impostor speaks only Russian and has all his fingers.

Fog And Rain Blanket State

(By The Associated Press)

Fog, light rain and drizzle hampered the observance of the 113th anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto in many parts of Texas today.

It was the fourth consecutive day of widespread rains, although encouraged by the timely precipitation, state farmers generally were wanting return of sunny skies.

Warmer Weather Seen

The United States Weather bureau said their wishes probably would be granted by the weekend. Temperatures also were due to start rising.

At mid-morning, rain was reported at Beaumont, Lufkin, Alice and Abilene. Drizzle was falling at Houston, Galveston, Laredo, San Antonio and Austin.

Skies were cloudy everywhere in the state except from the Guadalupe mountains westward.

Fog Is Reported

A number of points had fog—including Amarillo in the Panhandle, Dallas in north-central Texas, Waco in Central Texas and most coastal points. The Weather bureau said ceilings were as low as 200 feet along the coast, and flying of private planes was being hampered.

Heaviest rains for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. today were Beaumont, 1.41 inches ;Corpus Christi, 1.14 inches; Galveston

42 Seamen Die In Red Attacks

(By The United Press)

SHANGHAI, April 21. (AP)—The known dead from Chinese Communist attacks on four British warships reached 42 tonight.

British naval authorities said the cruiser London had 15 dead and 20-wounded and the sloop Black Swan had five wounded.

These two latest vessels to be hit by Communist artillery on the Yangtze river near Nanking arrived back in Shanghai late tonight.

Behind them they left the crippled sloop Amethyst, first British ship shelled by the Reds about 60 miles east of Nanking Wednesday morning.

Neither the London nor the Black Swan was able to reach the Amethyst, which was driven aground on an island but later was refloated.

The known dead included 17 of the Amethyst crew, 10 from the destroyer Consort, which was shelled when it vainly sought to aid the Amethyst, and 15 aboard the London.

The exact number of wounded could not be determined, but added up to about 100 in reports from the four ships, with possibly some duplications.

In U. S. Hospital

The London and Black Swan wounded were placed in the U. S. naval hospital in Shanghai.

An official British statement said a Royal Air Force flying boat managed to make contact with the Amethyst during Thursday and put aboard one medical officer with supplies. The plane then returned to Shanghai.

A British spokesman said the Amethyst still was being fired on occasionally.

Man Arrested In Death Of Boy, 6

DETROIT, April 21. (AP)—State police reported today they had arrested 19-year-old Theodore Hillies, of Detroit, in the Brutal slaying of a six-year-old boy.

Commissioner Donald S. Leonard said patrol car officers radioed that Hilles had admitted the crime.

The charred nude body of little George "Peanuts" Counter was found early today on an ash heap in a hotel garage.

The child's body was found after a six-hour search.

A statewide search for Hilles, with whom George was last seen, began after discovery of the body. Hilles, a roomer at the hotel, reportedly left the hotel at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

The child's body, bruised and slashed, was discovered behind a furnace in the hotel garage. Police said he was apparently the victim of a sex fiend.

Missing Child Is Found Safe

CLAIRFIELD, Tenn., April 21 (U.P.)—A speechless seven-year-old girl, lost in mountain country since Tuesday night, was found alive and "in good condition" today by a search party of coal miners.

Blue-eyed Wanda Moore was discovered by Hubert Parrott and Kennedy Huddleston, two coal miners employed by the company where the child's father worked.

Had Ceased Operations

The mining company had ceased all operations to permit workers to join in the search. A posse of over 1,000 miners and mountaineers had scoured the mountain country, using bloodhounds, since the little girl was first reported missing on Tuesday afternoon.

Wanda, rendered speechless by a sickness in babyhood, was examined by Dr. F. H. Rogers, physician for the Virginia-Jellico Coal Mining company, who said she was in good condition except that she suffered from lack of food.

Clothing In Shreds

Wanda's shabby clothing was in shreds and she was barefooted.

Her body was covered with scratches.

The child apparently was the victim of a fear complex which rescue authorities surmised may have been responsible for her wan-

Beaumont Cooley of West Hall, Texas Tech, reported theft of two hub caps.

A rear door of State theater, at 1316 Texas Ave., was pried open sometime in the night, police were informed. George Hall and Pete Hubbard, patrolmen, investigated. Nothing apparently had been taken from the theater, they said.

The Fullerton fliers plan to land just before noon, (PST) Tuesday after remaining in the air 1,008 hours, six full weeks.

Plans are being completed for a parade here to celebrate the landing. Mayor Irvin Chapman will greet the flyers. After they kiss their wive. and shake hands with the assembled officials, they'll be whisked off to a hotel for physical examinations, massages and barbering.

Cashier Found Tied, Stabbed To Death; $11,658 Is Missing

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 21.—Rolfe O. Dreng, 35, who disappeared last Friday from his job as currency exchange cashier along with $11,658 he was accused of stealing, was found stabbed to death Wednesday.

Dreng's body was found in a ditch near suburban Wheaton by a highway worker. His mouth was taped and his hands bound behind his back. Coroner Samuel K. Lewis of Du Page county said Dreng had been killed with a large knife or bayonet-like weapon.

Lewis estimated Dreng had been dead between 12 and 24 hours when his body was found. He said the slaying apparently was committed elsewhere and the body dumped at the roadside.

Dreng's disappearance was first reported last Friday by Abraham Greenfield, president of the Regal Currency Exchange, where he had been employed as a cashier for three years.

Greenfield said he had gone to the exchange at 5 p. m., an hour before closing time, and found it locked. He said

Texans Observing Memorable Date: Battle Of San Jacinto

(By The United Press)

Today is a hallowed and memorable date in Texas history.

And throughout the state, loyal residents were observing the 113th anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto with reverence and humility.

An address by Hugh Roy Cullen, Houston philanthropist, will feature a formal observance of the day on the battle ground just below Houston. This is the same land where, in 1836, the Republic of Texas won its freedom from Mexico

Cullen will be introduced by ex-Gov. W. P. Hobby.

Most Houston business houses will also close for the day, and banks in all communities will be closed. Some state and local government offices and schools also will observe the date by closing their doors.

However, at Austin, where the legislature is engaged in a race with the calendar, the lawmakers probably will stay at their desks.

New Drug Aids Electric Shock Treatment Of Mental Patients

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DETROIT, April 21. — Electric shock treatments for mental ailments are made safer with a drug that relaxes muscles.

The drug is myanesin, a newcomer with spreading uses. Its value in treating mental illnesses was announced today to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology by Drs. Klaus Onna and A. Kaplan of the University of Illinois.

Electric shocks help many people with some kinds of mental illness, often restoring them to normalcy. But the shocks can throw them into violent movements of convulsions, with danger that they will break bones or otherwise injure themselves.

Minimizes Convulsions

Myanesin prevents or minimizes the convulsions from the shocks and other nerve stimulants, the two pharmacologists said. It also prevents the stoppage of breathing that often occurs during electroshocks. It was tested on patients at Mantenno State hospital in Illinois.

Myanesin is being used in anesthesia to relax patients, and is helping some persons with twisted muscles or with diseases marked uncontrolled body movements.

It acts on the brain stem and spinal cord. It can relax muscles so that doctors can learn more about the causes of troubles. It appears to block the abnormal volleys of nerve impulses producing perking movements or muscle rigidity, bringing temporary relief. It does not appear to be harmful to human beings and can be given by mouth.

New Pain Relievers

New pain relievers for stomach ulcers were reported by Dr. George P. Child of the Albany Medical college, Albany, N. Y., and Dr. Robert A. Woodbury, University of Tennessee Medical college. Memphis. These pains come from stomach contractions.

The drugs are ones long used to produce local anesthesia. Chemically they are like the Belladonna drugs now used to relieve ulcer pains. They compare favorably with the Belladonna drugs and avoid some of the bad effects of them, the researchers said. In large doses, the Belladonna drugs can be harmful.

Nuperciane, one of the local anesthetics, appears especially good in relieving contraction pains in Peptic ulcers without having harmful effects, they added. They said research so far is very promising, but further tests must be made.

Boy Baker Divulges Secret Of His Prize-Winning Technique

The chefs, their high white caps starched for the occasion, waited in hushed silence.

"Well," said Dale, as the cooks prepared to take notes, "my secret is that I always follow recipes."

Won 17 Times

To date, that simple but effective routine has enabled Dale to win 17 blue ribbons at various state and county fairs. He climaxed his meteoric rise in bakingdom by finishing first in a field of 100 at the Mesa Fair.

The champ is no sissy. He's president of the freshman class at Mesa, Ariz., high school, an accomplished football player and otherwise a perfectly normal teenage boy.

But three years ago his mother, Mrs. L. M. Coons, walked away with a handful of pretty blue ribbons at the fair, and it looked easy to Dale. The next year he entered his specialty, date bread, and his career was set.

He's so entranced by life on the range that he wants to be a hotel chef. But cooking will just be a vocation. When he comes home, after a hard day over a hot souffle, he'll have no part of the kitchen.

"My wife will have to be a good cook," he insists.

Mass Vacation Plan Seen For Bahamas

HAMILTON, Bermuda, April 21. (U.P.)—An Englishman is working on plans to give Americans a mass-production vacation that will include free dancing lessons and diaper service.

The project in the Grand Bahamas off the coast of Florida will be patterned after the holiday camps in England which have made a fortune for Billy Butlin, hotel man. Butlin is building his vacation project in the Grand Bahamas now and expects to have it open by Jan. 1, 1950. His "holiday village" will have accommodations for 2,000 persons.

Butlin expects to fly his American vacationers to the island in chartered planes for an all-inclusive vacation at a rate of $100 a week. For the flat rate, the vacationist will get his room, meals, golf, swimming, roller skating, and, among other things, a baby sitting service.

Butlin disclosed his Grand Bahamas building plan at the reopening of his Princess Hotel in Bermuda. The hotel, which was closed for 10 years because of the war, reopened when the Furness Line resumed service to the island with its luxury ship, Queen of Bermuda.

Priceless Silver Cleaned With "GLASS WAX"

Only Cleaner Trusted For Historic Pieces

The nation's finest privately owned collection of rare drinking vessels is cleaned exclusively with "GLASS WAX". According to its owner, Francis W. Fowler, Jr., the amazing Gold Seal pink chemical provides the quickest and easiest method of maintaining the 500-odd items in the gleaming condition necessary for their display. The crystal-clear film that "GLASS WAX" leaves to protect lustre aids greatly by prolonging the period between cleanings.

Absolute Safety A Must

Most important, of course, is the fact that "GLASS WAX" is safe—entirely free of any harsh abrasive that might even minutely scratch these precious surfaces. Dangerous brushing, too, is eliminated in the chemical cleaning action afforded by "GLASS WAX". Mr. Fowler's choice of cleaner for his remarkable collection is supported by many leading silversmiths who recommend "GLASS WAX" for all plate and sterling.

This unusual hobby has been exhibited across the country and has been the subject of many newspaper and magazine articles as well.

Mrs. Ruby M. Frain

Mrs. R. O. Hebert
Norwell, Massachusetts

Mrs. Virgil Oliver

Imagine my surprise when I found that so little 'GLASS WAX' was needed to do a superlative job. Besides, using a small amount never leaves any dust to be cleaned up later."

Mrs. H. F. McGinnis

"Glass Wax" Sold Coast to Coast

So great has been the enthusiasm for "GLASS WAX" that this Gold Seal miracle has obtained nationwide acceptance in just a few short months. Grocery, drug, variety, hardware, and department stores in this city now sell the pink liquid cleaner.

Holland Tunnel Cleaned With "GLASS WAX"

"From wedding rings to the Holland Tunnel" is a broad claim for any cleaner. Yet, that statement is actually true of the capabilities of "GLASS WAX".

To keep the mile-long tile-walled tube clean, a specially constructed truck shoots water at high pressure on the walls. However, while rinsing off loose dirt, this method fails to remove stubborn stain that mars the tile.

27% Brighter

After experimentation, engineers found that "GLASS WAX" offered the quickest and easiest way to keep the tile walls glistening. Moreover, they discovered that the hundreds of lights and lenses that illuminate the tunnel give off 27% more light after "GLASS WAX" cleaning.

Now the Holland Tunnel sparkles like your kitchen, protected by the famous "GLASS WAX" film that keeps surfaces clean longer.

Ends Scrubbing, Scouring To Brighten Homes

Millions of housewives have found the answer to lightening spring house-cleaning. It's "GLASS WAX", the sensational new multi-purpose household cleaner developed by the Gold Seal Co.

Most remarkable about "GLASS WAX" is that these brilliant results are obtained with a minimum of time and effort. All that's required is to wipe "GLASS WAX" on, wipe it off.

Invisible Film Guards Lustre

Important to all fastidious homemakers is the crystal-clear protective film left by this wonderful chemical on every surface as it cleans. This means household beauty that lasts, free of fingerprints, smudges, and stain. Easier future cleaning, too, results from this modern way of housecleaning.

Letting chemicals do the work, rather than muscles, "GLASS WAX" eliminates back-breaking scrubbing and scouring. Moreover, "GLASS WAX" is safely gentle, contains no harsh abrasives to scratch the smoothest surface.

This sensational Gold Seal Co. product is available everywhere, in the familiar pink can that assures the buyer of the genuine and original. With the busy cleaning season at hand, the time to buy "GLASS WAX" is now.

Economy, Variety of Uses Make Quart Size Popular

Thrifty Shoppers Save Money

With new uses for "GLASS WAX" discovered almost daily more and more women are buying this incredible cleaner in the quart size. Homemakers find that the big quart can gives them added convenience, plus extra savings. Buying "GLASS WAX" by the quart assures a more adequate supply on hand for the hundreds of housecleanings jobs that "GLASS WAX" simplifies, and lessens the bother of frequent shopping.

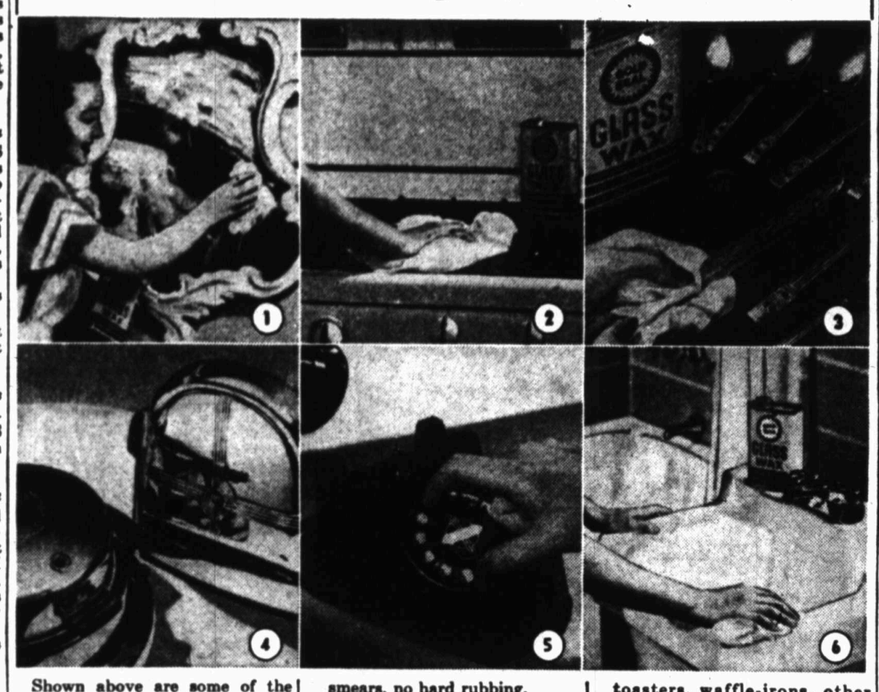

Experienced "GLASS WAX" users are elated to discover that so little of this cleaning marvel does so much. Not only does sparing use mean increased economy, but after-dust . . . the result of using too much "GLASS WAX" . . . is also eliminated.

Another important advantage is that "GLASS WAX" goes right on working for weeks after cleaning, by leaving its crystal-clear protective film to guard the glistening, immaculate finish from future soil and smudge.

"GLASS WAX" Saves Steps

By cleaning such a variety of surfaces—glass, metals, porcelain, plastic, and others—"GLASS WAX" saves hundreds of tiresome steps about the house. For "GLASS WAX" replaces the variety of cleansers formerly needed for household care, and lets the user carry only the one pink can, two cloths, from room to room. In addition, since "GLASS WAX" requires no water, furnishings may be cleaned where they are used, rather than lugged to and from the kitchen for washing.

Sensational Pink Liquid Cleans Throughout House

Shown above are some of the hundreds of uses for "GLASS WAX" that have made the quart size standard in so many homes.

This amazing pink chemical cleans all these surfaces—and many more—with unbelievable speed, ease, and truly satisfying results.

1. Cleans mirrors as quickly, easily, and brightly as windows. No water to spill, no streaks or smears, no hard rubbing.
2. Removes stains and smudges from porcelain ranges, refrigerators, and tabletops without scouring or scratching.
3. Wipes off tarnish, however stubborn, from the finest plate or sterling silver. No messy paste, no harsh abrasives.
4. Strips stain and scorch from toasters, waffle-irons, other chrome appliances. Keeps them clean longer.
5. Restores brilliance to plastic radios, telephones, purses, any plastic surface—makes them like new. Resists fingerprints.
6. Brightens tile and enamel bathroom fixtures as it cleans. Brings dazzling beauty without scrubbing, or scarring.

Chemists Find 30 Kinds of Dirt on Glass

While developing "GLASS WAX," Gold Seal chemists collected and studied sample window panes from homes in many states. Analysis revealed 30 different kinds of dirt and discoloration.

- Greasy soot streaks and salt water minerals dirtied glass in eastern mill towns.
- Sticky pollens, lime dust and tars dulled midwestern windows.
- Stubborn silica deposits stole the gleam from southern and western panes.

Guarantee Backs "GLASS WAX"

Laboratory proof of "GLASS WAX" superior quality and results enables the Gold Seal Company to guarantee satisfaction to the user. If you are dissatisfied for any reason, your dealer will gladly refund the full purchase price upon receipt of the unused portion of "GLASS WAX."

Writer Reflects On Trip

People Are Stirring To Rebuild Stubble Of War

(Editor's Note: Margaret Turner who has been in Europe approximately three weeks is writing a series of articles on conditions and sights in the places she visits. Her story today was written in Linz, Austria.)

LINZ, Austria.—We have just returned from a four days' visit in Vienna and we have a confused but stimulating stack of memories of a city which was once the capital of culture of Europe and and whose gallant people appear to be stirring to build it back from the stubble of war ruin.

Vienna in April is awakening from the curse and cold of winter when unheated rooms and too few rations brought misery to thousands. We'd venture one sees fewer cars on its streets than in any city of over 2,000,000 population and the streets are swarmed with people, young, middle-aged and old, hurrying along, each carrying a brief case, which appears to be a mark of respectability, or a sachel; some as well dressed as crowds you'd see in Chicago or New York; others wearing rags.

As you know, Austria is divided into four zones with Vienna as the quadripartite capital and the American, English, French and Russian forces take month about in policing and running the international zone. It's Russia's turn in April.

In order to go through the Russian zone, our hostess, Mrs. Robert Smiley, obtained occupational force travel permits or "gray passes" and armed with these and our passports we started early Tuesday morning by car to Vienna. The check point is at Enns, slightly over six miles from Linz. We had a tinge of uneasiness when we saw a gigantic sign over the highway, "You are now leaving the American zone; all Army and allied personnel report to the American guard." That examination required only a minute, while the soldier checked our passports and travel permits and made a note of Mrs. Smiley's name and the number of her travel permit. Our uneasiness increased when we drove across the bridge and awaited the approach of the Russian guard.

The young Russian soldier had a slender face, steel gray eyes and wore an earth colored uniform, a fur cap, simflar to those worn by northern hunters, and had a rifle strapped across his back. It may have been a sub-machine gun. As a matter of fact, when we handed him our passport we remembered our occupation was listed as "editor" and we wondered if he would make anything of it.

He glanced at the passports and permits, frowned slightly and waved us on.

FROM that point, to the entrance to Vienna where an American soldier of Latin descent checked us again, we were in Russian territory. The countryside was so beautiful and the day was so bright, we did not give much thought to that, but we were glad to see the soldier. By the same token, the flag of the United States, waving gaily in a strong wind on our return, was the prettiest sight imaginable.

As a matter of fact, Lt Smiley says he has not heard of Americans being molested when they travel by daylight along the highway through the Russian zone. But just the same, we certainly hoped there would be no car trouble and those driving took extra caution.

The fields are awakening to spring. We thought of those plots as similar to the Mormons' farms in Utah and others thought the rolling hills and well laid out fields looked like Vermont.

We noted only one tractor. The other workers were planting by hand; the women working right along with the men.

In the far distance we could see numbers of small villages; each marked by churches bearing onion shaped domes.

ON the highway we met bicyclists, motorcyclists, peasants in wagons drawn by oxen; Russian soldiers in jeeps; small French cars and people walking, walking, walking.

At Prenzerdorf, where we stopped for a train a small Russian boy came out to the car and begged for "chockaw" and we gave him two pieces of chocolate candy.

WE arrived at the Bristol hotel, one of the hotels requisitioned by the American forces, without incident. We had engaged rooms at the Gruben hotel, which had resumed postwar operation only two weeks ago, but considered the Bristol our headquarters and enjoyed splendid American meals there from time to time, when we tired of the Viennese cuisine. The Gruben was clean, the rooms were large and what American conveniences were lacking were made up for by the care to which employes went to make us comfortable.

Mary Haworth's Mail . . .

Matron Asks How To Cope Tactfully With Young Boy Who Pokes In Drawers, Closets

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My problem is how to cope tactfully with a boy, 14, the son of friends, who comes into our home and seems to think nothing of opening the desk, or closet doors or any drawers, and handling the contents that interest him.

I am very fond of his parents and don't want to hurt their feelings; and his aunts (his father's sisters) have discussed the subject with me, but none of us want to risk losing his mother's friendship. She is college-bred and the boy seems quite intelligent, which makes this nuisance-habit the more surprising.

In our family, respect for privacy is standard practise. I have a son, 20, and to this day neither he nor his father has ever rummaged through the other's bureau drawers or private papers. And when I want anything from my purse, my son will bring the purse to me rather than open it.

Perhaps you may think that for the sake of friendship I ought to try to overlook the problem; but his persistence makes it very annoying. In any case I want your advice; and possibly Bob's parents might read it with profit, too.

Signed: C. S.

WOMAN'S DELICACY IS INAPPROPRIATE

DEAR C. S.: It seems to me you you have been making a mountain out of a molehill, by taking an unduly delicate attitude toward Bob's childish rummaging for hidden treasure to inspect.

Since he is only 14, and, I gather, drops in casually—without his parents—to do his poking about, he is really your "charge" at such times, and it is your "surrogate" right to call him to order, firmly and kindly.

Or even if his parents are present when he is brashly invading closets and drawers, again you have full courteous right to restrain him with a word and gesture to the wise.

For example, if you see him in the act of opening the desk or trifling with its contents, you should drift over quietly, close it gently, and say with a poised half-smile, "In our house big boys don't play with daddy's desk, and little boys would be spanked for it. That's what we taught Roddy; —but wouldn't you like some apple pie? I think there is some in the kitchen. Let's go see."

LEAD HIM BY EAR OUT OF MISCHIEF

THAT WERE figuratively leading him by the ear out of trouble, while maintaining a hospitable manner. The same technique, with suitable variations, should also be used if you find him pawing through a closet or bureau drawer—which definitely is a gross violation of householder rights to privacy.

If he is a repeater in that respect and you want it stopped, better say briskly next time he offends, "Bob, what on earth are you after? Come out of there, please!"—and if he doesn't respond at once, with abashed apology, you should busy yourself tidying-up mauled personal possessions, while explaining tersely, "I'm always glad to have you drop in; but we can't have this sort of thing, you know."

And you might add, "I wouldn't dream of going through your mother's closets and bureau drawers; and I'm sure she wouldn't want you going through ours!" That's giving her as much leniency of judgment as she's entitled to, even supposing she is listening from the next room. M.H.

PEACE GROUP HEARS SINGER

Negro Refusal To Battle Reds Seen

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, April 21.—Konni Zilliacus, leftwink British legislator, told the Communist-sponsored "world peace congress" today the "workers of Britain will not fight or be dragged into fighting against the Soviet Union."

Paul Robeson, American negro singer, told the delegates yesterday that negroes in the United States would never fight the Soviet Union and his statement brought a quick retort from a negro leader in New York.

Proposals Are Sought

Zilliacus, a member of the British labor party, called upon the delegates to produce a reasonably detailed set of proposals "for settling issues between the east and west."

The audience followed the speaker only listlessly during his attack on the North Atlantic defense alliance and American foreign policy attacks which echoed yesterday's opening barrages.

Robeson's statement brought a quick retort from the head of the National Association for the advancement of Colored People in New York City.

Statement Is Refuted

"In the event of any conflict that out nation has with any other nation, we will regard ourselves as Americans and meet the responsibilities imposed on Americans," said Walter White, secretary and leader of the NCAACP.

"We do not feel that Mr. Robeson voiced the opinion of the overwhelming majority of the 14,000,000 negro Americans," White added.

Robeson had said "it is unthinkable" that American negroes "would go to war on behalf of those who have oppressed us for generations" to fight the Russians.

Approximately 2,000 delegates from many nations are attending the congress.

Several Theft Reports Made

Theft of two electric drills, total value $57.87, from the truck of R. C. Hay of 1807 Sixth was reported this morning to police.

Ten dollars worth of assorted cookies was stolen from the truck of John Siebole of 2003 Tenth Wednesday night when the truck was parked at the baseball park, officials were informed.

A bike valued at $20 was reported stolen from Billy Simpson of 1403 Ave. E.

Police said Homer Harrison and Doyle Clark, patrolmen, arrested a 22-year-old business student upon request of Chief of Police Jack Peabody of Memphis, who telephoned Lubbock police that his department would accept custody today. The charge, Chief Peabody said, is theft of a bicycle.

A suitcase and its contents, valued collectively at about $170, were stolen Wednesday from the car of D. E. Glenn of Amarillo, while the vehicle was parked on a lot at Seventeenth and Texas Ave., police were told.

Included in the contents of the suitcase were several shirts, socks, ties, underclothing, a shaving kit and two photographs of members of Glenn's family, police records showed.

A 19-year-old Lubbock youth, arrested last night by police, admitted to detectives that he had stolen fender skirts from the car of Bill Williams of 2123 Eighteenth. The stolen skirts were on the suspect's car when the arrest was made, police said. The youth will be charged today in county court with misdemeanor theft.

A new battery and battery cable were reported stolen from the irrigation well of John Reagan of two miles south and a half mile west of Monroe, the sheriff's office announced.

Youth Pleads Guilty On Charge Of Theft

Richard Irwin Baccus, 19, of Lubbock, pleaded guilty of the theft March 25 of two fender skirts valued at less than $50, and County Judge Walter Davies fined him $1 and assessed him one day in county jail.

It is mandatory under the law that some jail time be given in such a case, but Judge Davies added a notation that credit should be given for time "already served."

The fender skirts were on the defendant's car, police detectives said.

Judge Davies had announced no decision in the case of Marvin Arnold, 32, of Ralls, who waived a jury this morning and was tried before the court on a charge of drunk driving.

Neither had he announced any decision on a new trial motion of Robert White, a Slaton negro who seeks to set aside a conviction for liquor law violation. White charges, among other things, that he was deprived of a fair and impartial trial by not having been advised of his legal rights to counsel and bond. A hearing was held on the motion Wednesday afternoon.

U. S. Senate Still Greatest Show On Earth To Outsiders

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21. — "This is the greatest show on earth," the man said. He was sitting in the senate gallery, watching for the first time the senate at work.

After looking at it for years, I agree with him. Nothing in Washington compares with those 96 men shaping our age as they talk and act their way through the days, weeks and years.

No matter what they argue about, the stake is always human lives. For whatever they talk about it, it's going to affect people somewhere in some way, here or abroad, and maybe the future of the world.

It's the way it's done that holds the eye: dramatics, calm reasoning, shouting that blurs the ears, sarcasm, fast-thinking, courtesy, old-fashioned oratory, stuffy oratory.

Missouri Ramrod

Senator Kem, for instance, the Missouri Republican, sits up ramrod straight, conspicuous by his snow-white hair, his eyes following everything, his head almost not moving. He talks without flourishes.

It's different with Senator Tom Connally, the Texas Democrat who has an actor's hair curling over his collar. He gets enthusiastic when he talks, parades up and down the aisles, wags his fingers and prances around in mimicry of what someone has just said on the floor. He's the senate's mimic. His oratory: sometimes straightaway, sometimes old-fashioned.

The real power is turned on by Senator Langer, North Dakota Republican. When he gets going his arms wave. He pounds the desks, bends almost double and shouts loud and fast.

Wherry For President?

Rumors says Senator Wherry, Nebraskan and leader of the Republicans, wants to be president. He boils with energy, bounces up and down out of his seat in debate, thrusts his chin to emphasize what's on his mind.

Senator Douglas, Illinois Democrat, almost forces his opponents to be calm and courteous and reasonable by the calmness, courtesy and reasonableness he turns against them.

The others pay close attention when Senator Vendenberg's Michigan Republican, takes the floor. He has a high, wide forehead, great earnestness in debate and loud voice. He doesn't talk often but when he does get up, he's generally armed with a beautifully organized speech, all written down on paper before him.

Worry seems to run across the face of the Democratic leader, Senator Lucas of Illinois. Maybe that's because of the deep lines extending down around his mouth from his nose, or maybe it's because his Democrats aren't showing the speed he'd like in pushing President Truman's program through.

Pepper Knows Emerson

One of the best and sharpest talkers of them all is Senator Pepper, Florida Democrat. From the front, when he gets up to face someone, he looks calm and relaxed.

But the galleryites behind can see he's tense because he always holds one hand behind him, out of sight of his opponent, and the fingers rub furiously against one another.

Recently an Indianan Republican, Senator Jenner, tried to needle Pepper by pointing out that Pepper has changed some of his thinking in the last decade. "O, consistency, thou art a jewel", Jenner said, reproachfully.

Pepper shot back:

"The 'consistency, thou art a jewel' quotation must be put alongside the question of, I believe, Emerson, who said:

"'A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by little statesmen and philosophers, and divines."

Jenner retired to the sidelines for a while.

CAT IN A JAM: LEASHED AND CANNED—This stray cat, above, has only a snarl for the empty salmon can it got its head caught in early one morning in St. Louis, Mo. It took two policemen and a Humane Society officer to free it, after neighbors complained about the howling racket. Conforming with a new Illinois law, 5-year-old Sharon Walker, of Chicago, has "Puss" on a leash. Looking on is Dr. W. A. Young, Anti-Cruelty Society head, who says the measure is unworkable. Owners now put up $1 to bail out cats caught running loose.

Miners Start Third Day Below Ground In Pay-Sitdown Strike

LANSFORD, Pa., April 21. (AP) Ten hard coal miners remained on sitdown strike 500 feet underground today as 6,000 fellow diggers were asked to remain away from work to lend them support.

Two thousand miners walked off their jobs in support of the sitdown Wednesday.

Wednesday night the United Mine Workers Panther valley committee announced 4,000 other diggers in the Coaldale and Tamaqua district pits of the Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. were asked to stay home today.

The sitdown was started Tuesday by 13 miners but three tired members of the group returned to the surface Wednesday.

Third Sitdown Strike

The strike is the third sitdown stemming from a long-standing dispute over the amount of pay given miners who leave the pits before the scheduled end of the work day. Under the UMW-anthracite operators agreement, an early quitting time is permitted when working conditions in the mines are considered "bad."

The sitdowners spent their second straight night underground Wednesday night in the coal company's number six mine here. They had fresh air piped in by mine fans, electric lights and cooked food sent down from the surface.

The "stay-home" request was sent to the company's miners in pits at Tamaqua, Lansford, Coaldale, Summit Hill and Hesquehoning.

Three Musicians Hurt In Accident

HOBBS, N. M., April 21. (AP)—An overturning auto put three young musicians in the hospital here and destroyed a 200-year-old violin.

The injured are:

Miss Beverly Reynolds, 20, Geneva, N. Y.

Miss Marguerite Gillette, 22, Miami, Fla.

Miss Mary Nell Snow, 24, Rockwall, Texas, cuts and sprains.

The accident happened 12 miles south of here Tuesday. The musical trio was en route to Jal, N. M., after giving a concert at nearby Monument, N. M. They are on tour as employes of Southern School Assemblies, Dallas, Texas.

The destroyed violin, a 200-year-old Galliano, belonged to Miss Gillette. No estimate of its value was given.

Firestone Daughter Starts Movie Career

HOLLYWOOD, April 21 (AP) — The 25-year-old daughter of Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., rubber company board chairman, has started a movie career as a composer.

Elizabeth Firestone arrived by plane Wednesday from Akron, Ohio, to write the score for "Come Be My Love," which Robert Montgomery's independent company, Neptune Films, is making for Universal-International. Montgomery will star in the picture.

Miss Firestone, an accomplished pianist, has written 40 compositions, including the popular songs "Love's In The Air" and "Why Try?"

San Salvador's building boom saw 200 new buildings go up in the first half of 1948, at total cost of $4,400,000.

Mayors Plan Bicycle-Mule Race For Cancer Society Fund Drive

HAGERSTOWN, Md., April 21. (AP)—The Republican mayor of Hagerstown and the Democrat mayor of Baltimore will stage a race down Main street within the next week or two.

Mayor Herman O. Mills of Hagerstown said he will ride a mule that Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro of Baltimore has promised him.

And D'Alesandro will ride the bicycle that Mills presented him a few weeks ago.

The race, Mills said, will be staged for the benefit of the American Cancer society.

The whole thing started when Mills, in the interests of economy, sold the city limousine assigned for his use shortly after he took office recently.

D'Alesandro quipped that Mills should buy a bicycle.

Mills sent the Baltimorean one, instead.

Then D'Alesandro said he would return the compliment—in the form of a mule. His comptroller is now looking for a donkey "suitable for a Republican mayor."

Mills said he's a good jockey and is raring to go. D'Alesandro, he added, has agreed to the contest.

Victim-To-Dispatcher-To-Cop Conversation Catches Robber

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 21 (AP)—Quick-thinking by the victim, a third story window, and a three-way radio-telephone conversation led to the capture of an alleged purse snatcher today.

Police dispatcher Sam Dews tells it this way:

Mrs. Jane Ladd stepped into her third floor office to find her purse gone. She saw a man disappearing around the corridor corner.

Moving to her window she saw him come out of the building and leisurely cross the street.

She called police and dispatcher Dews hooked in a radio car.

"He's walking down Church street . . . now he's gone up Capitol boulevard and is turning down an alley," reported Mrs. Ladd.

That was as far as she could see the retreating figure. But that's also as far as he went.

As the man emerged from the other side of the alley, the radio car was waiting. Patrolmen found the purse and $54.55 in cash. They charged James Ferrell, 24, with petit larceny—just seven minutes after Mrs. Ladd missed her purse.

Woman To Seek Share In Beery Estate In Behalf Alleged Son

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (AP)—Mrs. Gloria Schumm, 32-year-old movie bit player, will fight for a share of Wallace Beery's $2,000,000 estate for her 14-month-old son, who she claims the late actor fathered.

In his will, filed yesterday for probate, the veteran actor declared:

"Johan Richard Wallace Schumm is not my issue, and I declare that under no circumstances is he to inherit any portion of my estate or to receive any gift."

Beery died last Friday at the age of 64. When he signed his will last March 22, his attorneys were negotiating for a $20,000 compromise settlement with Mrs. Schumm which would include a court decree declaring he was not the father of her child.

Declares No Children

Within half an hour after Beery's will was filed for probate, Mrs. Schumm's attorney obtained her court appointment as her son's guardian for the purpose of suing for a a share of the actor's estate.

His petitian named Beery as the child's father. But the actor declared in his will: "I have no children, the issue of any marriage or otherwise."

After a $10,000 bequest to Matt Gillman, brother of a former wife and manager of his ranch at Jackson Hole, Wyo., Beery directed that the rest of his estate be divided into three parts. One goes to his nephew, Noah Beery, jr., one to his brother William in trust and the third to his adopted daughter, Carol Ann, 18.

Gloria Swanson Ignored

William Beery is to receive a life income with his two children, William Burton Beery and Mrs. Charlotte Beery Sullivan, getting the principal on his death. Carol Ann Beery receives th income from her share until she is 25. At that age she will have a fourth of the principal, a third of the remainder at 30, a half at 35 and the rest at 40.

Beery made no reference in his will to actress Gloria Swanson, who divorved him 30 years ago. He mentioned his second wife, Mary Areta Foyt, and said she received no bequest because she had remarried since their divorce in 1939, when ample provision was made for her.

Mrs. Schumm charged in her paternity suit, filed soon after her son's birth, that she was intimate with Beery in his Beverly Hills home after she divorced Hans Schumm, 52-year-old actor. She later remarried Schumm.

She signed the $20,000 settlement agreement but later repudiated it before it received court approval.

French Battle For Shipping Supremacy With A Dark Horse

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—The French Line has unveiled its entry in the race for trans-Atlantic passenger ship supremacy now shaping up with American plans for a $70,000,000 superliner.

It is Gaston Magrin.

No, Gaston Magrin is not a four-funneled craft complete with sundeck and accommodations for 2,000. Nor is Gaston Magrin a diesel-powered luxury liner intended to capture from Britain the blue pennant of Atlantic speed.

Gaston Magrin is a chef.

Stomach Is Object

"But what a chef," chortled a French Line official who bears the incongruous name of Charles Hogan. "Let the others concentrate on size and swiftness. M'sieur Magrin with his magic brews and potions, his sauces, remoulades, aiguilletes, veloutes and supremes will lure the passengers just the same."

Hogan said his line did not plan to duplicate the great Normandie, $80,000,000 queen of the seas, which burned at its pier here during the war. Instead it will concentrate on its newly renovated Ile de France and on converting the big German pre-war passenger flagship, Europa, into a modern liner.

"There are bigger ships on the ocean," Hogan said, "and it is possible that new liners will be faster. We of the French line merely say that our passengers will eat the best.

Gaston Resting

"Gaston Magrin will see to that."

Asked for the whereabouts of the fabulous M. Chagrin, Hogan said he was now resting in preparation for assuming his duties on the luxuriously rebuilt Ile de France, which arrives in New York on its maiden voyage in mid-July.

"He has been delighting the palates aboard the liner De Grasse," Hogan continued. "Wait till you taste his preparation of 'la poularde au riz a la 'lyonnaise' or his 'aiguillettes de boeuf en gelee a la mode' or 'pigonneaux rotis sur canapes, not to mention 'ossobucco a la nicoise.'

"Speed?" said M. Hogan, "Bah! Size? Pouf!"

Dallas Eagles Beat Fort Worth, 5 to 0

(By The Associated Press)

That old saying that "money talks" is being proved by the Dallas Eagles in the Texas league.

Dick Burnett's high-priced ball club won its seventh straight victory of the young season last night, blanking the Fort Worth Cats, 5-0.

While the Eagles retained a perfect record, San Antonio replaced the Cats in second place, dumping Shreveport, 5-3. And Oklahoma City lost its eighth straight game, to Tulsa, 1-3. Houston and Beaumont were idle again, wet grounds the reason.

Greenville Majors Top Big State Loop

(By The Associated Press)

The Greenville Majors, idle last night because of wet grounds, today lead the Big State baseball league with a perfect record of one game won and none lost.

The defending champion Sherman-Denison Twins won a 12-frame thriller from the Texarkana Bears last night, 4-2. The Gainesville Owls defeated Wichita Falls 13-12. The Austin-Temple game was postponed because of wet grounds.

Newly found mineral deposits are being exploited in Oganda and Kenya.

Hubs Win First Tilt From Pioneers, 10-9

Clubs Slated To Tangle Here Tonight; Russell Will Pitch

Manager Paul Dean's Clovis Pioneers will attempt to succeed where last night they failed, meeting the Lubbock Hubbers at 8 again tonight at Rosenthal Field, after dropping the season's opener here 10-9.

Manager Jackie Sullivan has nominated Cotton Russell, second-year man, for tonight's pitching chore, again weather permitting. The young righthander will be making his first start of the season, after compiling a 12 and 7 record last year.

Hubbers Drop Two Veterans

On the verge of the West Texes-New Mexico League opener here last night between Clovis and Lubbock, the Hubbers announced that two veteran players had been assigned elsewhere.

Pitcher Oscar Kuver, a right-hander, and Lloyd Pearson, an outfielder, will work in other leagues this year. Kuver was claimed by Paul's Valley of the Class D Sooner League, from whom the Hubbers obtained him on draft, Pearson was optioned to Corpus Christi of the Class D Rio Grande Valley League.

Kuver Showed Promise

The players reported to the Hubbers in spring training at Greenville and came to Lubbock with the baseball club. Kuver, although inclined to wildness, showed promise as a hurler, while there was little question that Pearson was good enough to stick.

Pearson was a heavy-hitting outfielder good enough to play for Greenville last year. But Manager Jackie Sullivan, after long deliberation, decided to keep Chick Fowler. Pearson can be recalled at any moment and might be, before the season is over.

Still Two Over Limit

That leaves the Hubbers with two veterans still over the veteran limit, Frank McAlexander and Jackie Wilcox. Both players were taken off the active playing list Tuesday night so that the Hubbers would open the season with only six class men.

George Schepps, general manager of the Hubbers, did not know last night what disposition would be made of the two players. There still is a possibility that the league's class rule will be raised and that they will be retained here.

Kuver returns to the team for which he toiled last year. Lubbock drafted him during the winter, but under the terms of the National Association, Paul's Valley was entitled to place a claim for him. Thus, if Lubbock decided to cut him off, option him or sell him, Paul's Valley would be given first chance at his services. And the Oklahoma club claimed him immediately.

COURT CASE CONTINUES

EDINBURG, Tex., April 21 (AP)—The two-way squeeze on the McAllen baseball club, for operating funds and court permission to use a new ball park, continued here today.

Last night's opener, played to a crowd of approximately 1,500 persons, well-chilled, incidentally, was a typical West Texas-New Mexico League encounter. Hits, errors, walks and runs predominated, with the Hubbers getting the best of the exchange, despite their four miscues.

Error Loses Game

It was a mental error that let the locals win the game. Shortstop Buster Harliss, a rookie from Springfield, Mo., handed the Hubbers the winning run in the ninth, when he became too curious in what was going on around the mound.

Buddy McCallum, new Hubber shortstop from Odessa, drew a walk to lead off. Bubba Kaine, one of the Hubber rookies, laid down a bunt that trickled toward the mound. I. B. Palmer at third and Chuck Novotney at first converged on the ball, along with George Matthews, the old lefthander.

McCallum streaked for second and made it easily. And when he saw Harliss go over to investigate proceedings on the mound, McCallum whizzed down to third. From there he scored easily on Sullivan's fly that backed Wilcy Moore up to the fence in centerfield.

Clovis threatened in the ninth when Harliss walked and scored on a pinch hit double by Buster Rogerson. Royce Mills, who had come on in the fifth to relieve Don Hensiek, walked Jess Jacintom. Then came the most brilliant play of the game.

Davis Gets Homer

Jim Sinovick drove a long, low fly toward Chick Fowler in centerfielder. Fowler tore in and made a diving catch, coming up with the ball. He rolled over, got up and threw to Sullivan at second to double up the astounded Rogerson. That was the ball game.

Most impressive debut of the night was made by Nelson Davis, the new third baseman. Davis committed one bobble in the third, but gained friends and influenced people the same frame when he drove a two-one pitch over the leftfield wall scoring two runners ahead of him.

Chuck Novotney hit a lead-off homer in the sixth to put Clovis two runs ahead, but the Hubbers tied it up in their half of the same frame.

It wasn't a good example of baseball last night, but the score was right and that counted most. The rain Tuesday left the diamond soggy and slow, so much so that when Chick Fowler attempted to steal second—and had the throw beaten—he couldn't slide.

Mayor Starting "Pitcher"

Hensiek might have gotten off without much damage except for three errors behind him and some play that was questionable. But his slants were being hit pretty hard, the Pioneers getting three hits in the first, third and fourth innings.

In fact, the first three men to face Hensiek singled. But he escaped without damage when Jim Prince started a fast double play and McCallum tossed out the fifth batter of the inning to retire the side.

Mayor W. H. Rogers went to the mound and thew out not only the first pitch, but five additional ones, while City Manager Steve Matthews caught and John King tried to blast one out of the park.

Mayor Rogers first put the ball in his left hand and began to wind up, but King pulled a revolver from his pocket and brandished it in the direction of the mound. Hastily changing his mind, Mayor Rogers shifted the ball to his right hand. But the act so unnerved him that he couldn't get one over the plate—except on the first bounce—an 'ol John, terror of the leagues in his playing day, never got a chance to hit.

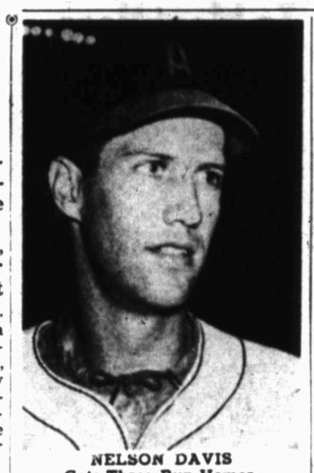

PAMPA DRUBS BORGER

(By The Associated Press)

The West Texas-New Mexico league opened the 1949 baseball season yesterday with a bang: 59 runs, 74 hits and 19 errors in three games.

Lubbock edged Clovis, 10-9; Lamesa downed Albuquerque, 8-5; Pampa beat Borger, 17-10, and Amarillo and Abilene were idle because of wet grounds.

Pampa got 19 hits, including two home runs by Mike Feduniak, and Borger got 11 safeties.

NELSON DAVIS
Gets Three-Run Homer

Davis Is Top Hub Prospect

(This is the ninth in a series of articles describing the 1949 Lubbock Hubbers. Information for this article was gained after the player arrived in Lubbock).

By JOE KELLY
Journal Sports Editor

They nearly booed Nelson Davis in the first inning last night when he ingloriously fanned with a man on second, but they cheered him in the third when he hit a three-run homer.

It cheered Davis, too, for he wants to make good in Lubbock. This is his big chance and he's eager to make the most of it. Heretofore he has played only in Austin, his home town, and he felt that he was constantly on the spot. Now he has a chance to demonstrate that he's good without knowing that the crowd is watching him with critical eyes.

Baseball always has been his ambition, ever since he was a kid. In fact, he has never known the time he didn't have all the material he needed right at hand. His father, Lonnie Davis, bought him a complete uniform when he was nine years old, uniform, socks, shoes, glove, bat — everything. That did it.

Born In Austin

He was born in Austin and attended the public schools, gradually reaching Austin High school. There he played both baseball and basketball, making a fine record for himself.

Davis was a forward on the court team, playing two years and going to the regional tournament with the team one year.

He only played baseball at Austin High school one year, but he was good enough to be named to the all-state high school nine that year, 1941. He played second, third and short, but was named to the all-star team at second.

In the American Legion it was a different story for Davis. He played four years of Legion ball, holding down the keystone sack. The Austin nine always won the city championship while he was playing—1939 through 1942—and also won the state championship those years. But they never got past the regionals.

Served In Europe

In 1942, Uncle sent him greetings and he spent four years in the Air Forces, two 12-month periods of it in the European Theater of Operations. He didn't have a chance to play any service ball, but he was on the Red Cross team that won the basketball championship of England. Davis, incidentally, was a P-38 pilot.

He was discharged in 1946 and returned to Austin, attending Texas university for the fall term and dropping out when baseball season rolled around. He reported to the Austin Pioneers of the Big tSate League, spent spring training and the first 30 days of the season with them, then was op-

JOHNNY GROTH PACES DETROIT

Tigers Pound Out 5-2 Win Over Sox

NEW YORK, April 21 (U.P.)—The Detroit Tigers are trying to treat Johnny Groth as just another human being but the kid is making it impossible.

He simply insists on being a phenomenon.

The rookie snatched up from Chicago's sandlots was labeled as a "can't miss" star, perhaps another Joe DiMaggio or a Tris Speaker more than two years ago. But Tiger General Manager Billy Evans and Wish Egan, the veteran scout who discovered him, polished him slowly and painstakingly on minor league diamonds.

Today, it seems, he definitely has arrived. In just two games the likeable 23-year-old has hit three homers including a bases-loaded smash yesterday which gave the Tigers a 5 to 2 victory over the White Sox at Detroit. He accounted for all of Detroit's runs also getting a double and single as Virgil Trucks turned in a four-hit pitching job.

Henrich Blasts Homer

An older pro who isn't disturbed by headlines even though he rates plenty of them is Tommy Henrich of the Yankees, who also used home runs for the second day in a row as a springboard to victory. Henrich's homer yesterday started Vic Raschi off to a three-hit, 3 to 0 victory over the Senators at New York.

His homer the day before in the ninth broke up the ball game. The Yankees worked a triple steal with Bobby Brown scoring later in the game as ex-Mexican leaguer Paul Calverts held them to five hits.

The Indians defeated the Browns, 7 to 3 at St. Louis although Bob Lemon was tagged for homers by Dick Kokos and Jack Graham. Thurman Tucker led the Indians with three hits including a ninth inning double.

A's Beat Red Sox

The Athletics made it two in a row over the Red Sox when Sam Chapman singled home the winning run in the ninth in a 3 to 2 decision. Errors by Johnny Pesky and Ellis Kinder set up the rally as Joe Coleman got by with a victory on a 10-hit performance.

Doubles by Tommy Holmes and Phil Masi in the eighth gave the Braves the two runs they needed to beat the Phils, 6 to 5 at Boston and take the series three games to one. The Phils got most of the hits, Willie Jones rapping out four doubles to tie a major league record while Bill Nicholson hit a homer. Duke Torgeson homered for Boston.

The Dodgers got four unearned runs as the Giants made four errors in a 6 to 2 Brooklyn decision on four hits at Ebbets field. Ralph Branca also gave up only four hits for Brooklyn but was given better support than luckless Sheldon Jones of the Giants. Sid Gordon hit a homer for the Giants.

Young Bob Rush gave up only three singles at Chicago in shutting out the Pirates, 4 to 0. He also struek out seven batters. The Cubs made all their runs when Murry Dickson weakened in the fifth, Bob Scheffing driving in two with a double and Andy Pafko and Hal Jeffcoat singling in the others.

Cincinnati and St Louis had an open date in the National.

Plainview Slated To Test Lubbock Today

Plainview and Lubbock High school are scheduled to play a south District 1-AA baseball tilt today at Chapman field diamond beginning at 4 p.m. This will be the district opener for the Westerners.

Rain postponed the first scheduled game with Brownfield Tuesday, and it was reset and washed out Wednesday, but this time Coach Fred Taylor hopes to be able to play.

Brownfield will come here Friday afternoon for a doubleheader, beginning at 3:15. Both games will be seven inning contests.

Against the Plainview nine Jimmy Hamilton is expected to start, and a tough battle is expected since Plainview leads the south half of the district by virtue of a victory over Brownfield.

Wednesday afternoon at practice the Westerners went through a light pepper and throwing practice to keep their arms in shape. The condition of the field curtailed an extensive practice.

Probable starting lineup today will be Hamilton, pitcher; Morris Turner, catcher; Jessie Fullerton, first base; Charles Galey, second base; Powell Hinson, third base; Bob Brown, shortstop; and Jimmy Richards, Garnet Reeves and Jimmy Sexton, outfielders.

Gonzales Will Battle Curtis

HOUSTON, April 21 (U.P.) — Richard (Pancho) Gonzales will face Denver's Bobby Curtis in the feature match of the men's quarter-finals of the River Oaks tennis tournament today.

Other men's quarterfinal matches will put Ted Schroeder, seeded second to Gonzales, against Felix Kelly of the University of Texas; third-seeded Billy Talbert against Clarence Mabry of Alice, Tex.; fourth-seeded Bob Falkenburg against Chick Harris of Rice Institute; Earl Cochell, No. 5, against Bob Kamrath of Houston, and Nick Carter, No. 8, against Irving Dorfman, No. 9.

Rain Delays Play

Rain interrupted yesterday's play after the four-top-seeded women's singles entrants advanced to their semi-finals.

Mrs. Virginia Kovacs of San Francisco, seeded No. 1, had little difficulty defeating Ethel Norton of San Antonio, former Texas champion, 6-0, 6-3. Mrs. Kovacs will opposed fourth-seeded Barbara Schofield of San Francisco in semi-final play today.

Miss Schofield beat Peggy Eby of Houston, 6-3, 6-3, yesterday.

Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif., and third-seeded Nancy Chaffee also moved into the semi-finals, Miss Head defeating Ruth Pate of Fort Worth and Miss Chaffee turning back Lucille Scoggins of Galveston.

Grant Wins Match

In two matches completed following Tuesday's postponement, Bryan (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta finished the job of beating Henry Holden of San Antonio, 6-4, 6-2, and Bob Goldfarb, University of Texas, completed his triumph over Ebbie Holden, Houston, 6-1, 6-4.

In men's doubles competition, Jake Broyles and Glenn Ivy of Texas Tech will meet the seeded team of Nick Carter, San Francisco, and Bobby Curtis, Denver, at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Steve Nenoff Beats Weaver In Mat Bout

Buck Weaver lost his first fight in the local wrestling arena last night to Steve Nenoff in a very rough and tumble match full of excitement. The wily Nenoff won the first and third falls to take the match.

In the main event Rod Fenton took two straight falls and the match from Pierre LaBell. After 20 minutes Fenton caught LaBell with a half nelson and arm stomp to win, and a full crab after six minutes of the second go decided the match. Both boys were trying hard, but Fenton had too much on the ball for LaBell.

The Nenoff-Weaver bout was packed with action and excitement. The baldheaded Bulgarian used an Irish whip and arm stomp to take the first fall after 11 minutes. Weaver came back to stop Nenoff with his famous Texas bulldogger in eight minutes of the second canto.

But in the third setto, Weaver's bulldogger slipped off Nenoff's bald head and he was downed with an arm stretch and stomp before he could recover.

In the preliminary event Hy Sharman won the match after 15 minutes with a reverse crab. McEuin could not match the skill of Sharman.

The third man in the ring for all bouts was Billy Sandow, and he kept the action from getting too rough.

JOLT FOR THE YANKEES—Bob Porterfield, New York Yankee hurler who performed brilliantly in spring training, is shown in the photo above visiting the dressing room in Yankee stadium after learning he will have his pitching arm in a sling for at least two weeks because of a pulled tendon in his forearm. More Than 150 Boys Slated To Compete

Three TIL Divisions Will Be Represented At Track Meet

Region One Texas Interscholastic league track and field meet Saturday at Texas Tech is the last barrier for West Texas, South Plains and Panhandle athletes to the state meet in Austin. Approximately 80 thinclads will be certified for the big track show at Memorial stadium in the Capital City.

Three separate divisions—Class AA, A, and B — will be represented, and each of the classes will hold its own show at the Tech track. Eighteen districts of the Texas Interscholastic league will try to qualify boys for the big show in Austin May 6-7, and approximately 700 athletes will participate in the meet.

Well over 150 athletes are expected to jam the track here Saturday. Preliminaries begin at 9 a.m., and the finals start at 1 p.m. From Class AA, Districts 1, 2, and 3 will be represented. Class A has Districts 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5. The largest number of districts will come from Class B with Districts 1-10 scheduled to compete.

Last year for the first time the TIL took charge of the regional meets and set forth the requirements. Under the rules the first two men finishing in each event of every class are eligible for the state meet. Two days are set aside in Austin to limit the number of finalists from the large number of entrants.

The meet here Saturday will be similar to the one in Austin inasmuch as the three divisions will run their finals one after the other. In the 100-yard dash, for instance, the AA race will be held, then the A, and finally the B before another event begins. Starters will be working overtime to get each event started on time.

Lubbock has been the winner of the regional meet the past five years, but this has been a lean year for the Westerner trackmen.

Injuries, sickness, weather, and lack of strength in every event have rendered the team potentless. Several of the boys have shown up well, however.

Donald Decker has been the most consistent all season in the 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, and the 200-yard low hurdles. In the field events Alfred Adair and W. J. Blake have been doing a fine job in the pole vault, and Adair has usually placed in the high jump.

The AA bracket of the meet will probably go to Amarillo, a team that has depth in every event, strong relay teams, and exceptional weight men in the field events. The Sandy crew set four new records in the South Plains Relays last week.

Preliminary and final events will be run at Texas Tech. No charge will be made for admission to the morning trials, but for the finals in the afternoon an admission price of 60 cents for adults and 30 cents for children will be charged.

Backswing Often Neglected By Golfers, Hogan Asserts

By BEN HOGAN
CHAPTER IV

THE FULL SWING

THERE are two crises which the average golfer reaches during the course of the natural golf swing which might be called The Crossroads of Golf. Should you make a wrong turn at either of these crossroads there is nothing but disaster ahead.

The first of these comes at that moment when the clubhead moves away from the ball at the start of the backswing. The second occurs at the top of the backswing when it is time to start the downswing.

Discussing these crises in order, however, let us consider the first, which takes place at the exact moment when you move the clubhead away from the ball. The second of these crises will be discussed in the section of this chapter on the downswing because that is where it really belongs.

Naturally, to give you a better understanding of the full golf swing, I'll confine my remarks in this chapter to the full golf swing. I'm referring now to the type of golf swing used to play tee shots, fairway wood shots and long iron shots.

How Backswing Starts

One of the questions I am most often asked is how the club is started back on the backswing. But most of the golfers who ask me that question don't even wait for my answer. Instead, they quickly, offer the suggestion that maybe it is started back by the left hand, right hand, left arm or right arm. Usually they have one opinion or another, as outlined above, and want me to confirm their opinions. That is something I can't do.

Actually, the club is not started back in any of the ways they suggest. It starts back on the recoil from the forward press.

This forward press is nothing more than the movement forward of the hands, arms and body just before the backswing. What it amounts to is that you address the ball with some movement, or waggle as the tournament professionals call it, and then go smoothly from the waggle into the backswing via the recoil from the forward press.

The clubhead, the hands and the shoulders must all start back together in one motion. If you start them all back in one motion you are sure of a swing which will be well-timed throughout and with the major movements synchronized.

The club will be kept low going back, provided the player doesn't purposely pick it up with his hands. If allowed to pursue a normal course going back the club will describe an arc. Remember, however, that the club is definitely swung back just as it is swung down.

It is my firm belief that any golfer can achieve a certain amount of success by concentrating on the backswing. If it is not properly performed you can't expect much from the downswing which follows. Starting the backswing there is a definite turning motion of the hips.

A GREAT deal has been said about how the club is started away from the ball, whether the clubface is square, opened or closed, but actually it neither opens nor closes during the backswing. It remains square throughout.

Going back on the backswing the shoulders and arms take a turning motion around the hub and this appears to open the face of the club, but actually it doesn't. The hands and wrists haven't rolled either over or under and for that reason the club face remained square going back.

You can check this by taking up the position of address. Without moving your arms or body pick the club up by just breaking your wrists straight up. That's the only way that the wrists break at all during the swing. In that position the face of the club is still square to the line.

Now with your wrists broken move your hands back to the top of your swing and you will find that you are at the position you should be at the top of the swing. The clubface is still square.

The grip is firm throughout. However, there is more pressure on the last three fingers of the left hand than at any other place in your grip.

Cocking Is Gradual

A quarter of the way back the wrists haven't cocked yet. In fact, there is no conscious cocking of the wrists at any time during the swing. The cocking of the wrists is gradual as you proceed with the backswing.

As the club goes back the left knee bends in toward the right knee. The left ankle is rolled in toward the right foot with the left heel coming off the ground only slightly. The weight is shifted back to the right leg with a very slight lateral movement of your hips.

The body only coils. Your head doesn't move. Visualize your neck as the hub of a wheel with your arms and shoulders rotating around this hub. This will insure a perfect arc of the club on both the backswing and the downswing.

The right leg does not straighten on the backswing. It should remain broken about the same amount as it was at the address.

The left arm is straight and the point of the left shoulder is underneath the chin and pointed down at the ball when the full backswing is completed.

At the top of your backswing the club should be held just as firmly in both hands as it was at the adress. Any looseness in the grip can always cause you trouble, but particularly at this point because you are about to embark on the downswing.

Remember, however, a good downswing is dependent on your executing a good backswing. The backswing should be taken as one continuous rhythmic action. All movements are smooth and properly synchronized.

B—The Downswing

The downswing is said to start at the top of the swing, but that is not correct as there is no final top of the swing position. But the time the club reaches what is often referred to as the top of the swing, the downswing has really started. Exactly at that moment, however, you reach the second of the golfing crises, or crossroads, I outlined in my introductory paragraphs in this chapter.

The first movement in the downswing is the turning of the left hip to the left. Forget about your arms, hands, shoulders and club at that moment and start the hips turning, led by the left hip.

When the hips are turned to the left there will be enough lateral movement to put your weight on your left foot, unless, of course, there is a conscious effort to hold back weight on the right foot, which is wrong.

When you turn the left hip to start the downswing it gives the hands and arms a running start. In this way you create all the speed possible with your body before applying the arms and hands.

Into Hitting Position

The turning of your hips brings your hands and club down toward the ball approximately three or four feet. You will then be in hitting position and ready for the hands, arms and club to come into play.

It is at this point in the swing, of course, where the hands, arms and club start to make a definite attempt to hit the ball, but not until then. In starting the club down with the turning of the hips you will be able to hit from the inside out. If the shoulders or hands initiated the movement from the top of the backswing you would be forced to hit from the outside in, which means trouble.

Right at this point is the second of the golfing crossroads, or crises, I have mentioned before. I believe that it is important to master the idea of starting the downswing with the turning of the hips because it is the difference between seventy and ninety plus golf.

While the hips are unwinding the weight is transferred to the left foot. Your shoulders should follow your hips around. If the hips follow the shoulders around you will find the club will travel from the outside in, which is wrong.

Body Should Be Set

Just before the hands and arms come into play the body should be set for the hit. By that I mean that 90% of the weight should be on the left foot and the right arm should be very clsoe to the body.

All tension should be released from the right leg and hip. The right knee should break in toward the left knee. The wrists uncock, the right arm straightens and then turns over in going forward over the left shoulder. This all takes place in the sequence and you will find that it will bring you to the complete finish.

If you have started the downswing correctly you have to hit from the inside out because the clubhead will always be approaching the ball from the inside.

The inside out phase of the swing is important at all times during the swing, but particularly when you are playing irons.

The next time you get a chance to see a good player in action take note of how his body appears to drive forward before he hits the ball. This causes the club to travel inside of the arc it described going back on the backswing.

THE most common faults of the inexperienced player during the downswing are hurrying into the downswing before the backswing is completed, rushing the right shoulder around before the clubhead reaches the hitting area and turning the upper part of the body into the shot too quickly. These errors throw your timing off and without proper timing you can't hope to attain the maximum distance.

The application of speed and power to the golf swing is not a hurry-up process. Speed and power are gradually applied during the golf swing and increased until they reach their climax right on the ball. The distance the ball travels when hit is determined by the speed of the clubhead at impact.

Tests have revealed that the top golfers attain their maximum hand action speed at the moment of impact, whereas the duffer is losing it as his club approaches the ball. Usually this is the result of trying to hurry either the backswing, the downswing or both, by hitting from the top.

By means of magnificent control the top golfers cut loose with their maximum hand action speed just before the moment of impact. During the downswing the arms are kept in close to the body and the right shoulder goes underneath. The wrists are uncocked and straightened out at the last possible moment before impact, generating tremendous power.

The transfer of the weight back to the left leg is almost an automatic reaction, provided the hip action is correct. The head and shoulders stay behind the swing. The head remains in its original position through the swing, the head and neck serving as the hub of the swing.

Common Error Named

Of course the hands are moving at top speed, but right here one of the most common errors is a forward bend of the wrists which will result in the clubhead being ahead of the hands. Instead the wrists are straightened out as I have described above and the player should really be turning loose everything he has.

The finish of the swing should cause you no great concern. It merely serves to indicate how well you have carried out the fundamentals of the swing.

When all motion of the full swing has ceased your head should be turned to face the line of flight. Your eyes should be on the flight of the ball. The body has also turned toward the line of flight and most of the weight has shifted over onto the left leg.

After a lot of practice, all of the movements I have described should become muscle-memory and will require no great amount of thought on your part to executes them perfectly. You can then concentrate on hitting the ball and the golfing problem confronting you and really capitalize on the power such a swing generates.

Tomorrow: Chapter 5—Turning On The Power.

Mrs. Olan Key Cops Low Net Golf Honor

In the weekly meeting of the Ladies Golf association at Lubbock Country club yesterday Mrs. Olan Key won the low net on the 18-hole course, and Mrs. O. D. McCoy had low in putting on the greens.

In the nine hole flight low net went to Mrs. Tom Duggan, and putting honors were taken by Mrs. W. F. Eisenberg.

Although the New York Giants hit 57 less homers in 1948 than they did the previous year, their 1948 total of 164 still led the National League by 56.

Lamesa Drops Dukes, 8 To 5

LAMESA, April 21. (Special)—Righthander Stanley Grzywacz limited Albuquerque to six hits yesterday as he pitched the Lamesa Loboes to an 8-5 West Texas-New Mexico league opener before 1,800 fans.

A chilling east wind and a 50 degree temperature did not daunt the spirits of the crowd who turned out for the first game under a thick overcast.

The Loboes upset the Dukes for the third time opening day in a row, pounding three hurlers for 13 safeties. The new Lamesa player-manager, Jay Haney, made an inspiring debut with three singles in as many trips, three runs, two stolen bases, and two runs batted-in. Third baseman Eddie Mellilo got two hits for the Loboes and drove in four markers.

Loboes Score In Fourth

Lamesa went in front with two runs in the fourth, and added a brace of tallies in the sixth and eighth frames.

Grzywacz shutout the Dukes except in the fourth, when Duke Catcher Les Mulcahy hammered a homer over the right field wall with two mates aboard, and in the ninth when Len Attyd singled home two runs.

Righthander Nino Banise was the losing hurler, allowing six runs and 12 hits in six innings. Mulcahy got three hits for the Dukes, half the number given up by Grzywacz who fanned two and walked six.

Both teams made two errors but turned in top performances considering the weather.

Pre-game ceremonies included introduction of both teams by J. R. (Dutch) Leuenberger. Mayor Sam Richardson threw out the first ball which was caught by City Manager J. D. Wilson.

The opening series will be concluded at 3 p. m. today. Lefthander Tom Breisinger will pitch for the Dukes, and Southpaw Leon Hayes will start for Lamesa.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

At long last it's here again, baseball, that is, but darned if it doesn't look about the same as it did last September, when the Hubbers were eliminated from the playoffs. The same old sky scraper scores, the same astronomical hit figures, the usual amount of boots, the accustomed wildness of the pitchers—the usual number of fine fielding plays. Yep, the West Texas-New Mexico League got off to its same zany pace last night and among those having a large share in starting it off in regular pattern were the Hubbers and the Pioneers.

If you were able to stop shivering long enough to watch the game, you saw a lot of 1, hits; 2, bases on balls; 3, runs; 4, strikeouts; 5, errors; and 6, one brilliant catch. It really wasn't cold at Rosenthal Field last night. That was only imagination. We know. We took a thermos jug of coffee (that's right) to the game. The first cup was delicious. By the fifth inning, the java still was delicious, but it was only warmish. By the sixth inning, we poured it back in the jug. We're wondering now why we gave away three perfectly good sets of Army longhandles before we moved to Texas. Why don't people tell us those things.

That was a patched-up lineup the Hubbers used last night, but it had enough to win the game. Al Duarte broke an ankle last year at Greenville and, without the spring training that the other players had, it hasn't healed well enough. He merely put too much strain on the leg without enough practice and will have to be out of the lineup a few days. As soon as Al came in from the bases in the first inning, he told Manager Jackie Sullivan, who wisely yanked him. Chick Fowler didn't do a bad job as an understudy, only saved the game, that's all.

Joe Wisniewski, who has been playing rightfield, came down with a severe case of the flu before spring training opened. George Schepps told him to stay home until he was over it completely. But you know these ball players. They want to be in on everything, so he left home too soon. As a result, he's now having a relapse and is in the hospital. It's the best place for a single man under those conditions and they say he'll be up and out soon. In the meantime, Jackie has to use a couple of understudies in the outfield and it doesn't give the Hubbers their full strength. If the hospital list grows any longer, they'll move the West Texas hospital to Rosenthal Field.

You may have been curious about the three umpires who worked last night's game. Behind the plate was the league's umpire-in-chief, William H. "Bill" Frank. You may call him Bill, although it may be a lot of other things before the season's over. Frank is 28 years old and a resident of Potosi, Mo. He doesn't have a wife on whom to unload his troubles, so the players had better be careful. He played semi-pro ball for a year, served in the Army and attended George Barr's umpire school in 1948. Last year he called 'em in the Longhorn League and served as an instructor during the spring at Lefty Craig's umpire school.

Stephen F. "Steve" Sadowski of St. Louis, Mo., was on first base. He's a double veteran: he's married and he served in the Army. Sadowski was with the Browns and Cardinals chain for five years and played baseball on four Army teams. He attended George Barr's umpire school in 1948 and has umpired three years in semi-pro, two years in the Army. He was an instructor in Lefty Craig's school in 1949 after service in the Longhorn League last year, where he was highly popular.

Gilbert "Gil" Bliondi of Madrid, Iowa, was at third last night. He is single also, has no athletic background, but has umpired semi-pro and amateur ball for two years. He attended Lefty Craig's school and this is his first year in organized ball.

It takes many a ball game to make a pennant winner, but at least the Hubbers got off to a good start last night, despite a shaky start. Don Hensiek wasn't hurling bad ball, although those were three solid hits to start the game. He was in trouble in two innings and was headed for it again, when dependable Rooster Mills came in with the bases loaded to retire the side. Nelson Davis looks like the power hitter the Hubbers need and Mike Dooley was the victim of a foul on the hardest-hit ball last night. That apple may still be rolling. It sure was smacked. It's going to be an interesting season, but there's one thing we like already: the Hubbers never give up and they looked alert last night.

Boxers Speed Final Drills

Fighters preparing for the Jaycee fight card will get down to serious business the next few days in order to be in top shape for the April 26 boxing program at Chapman fieldhouse.

Bill Henderson has been sparring with Chino Alonzo, and he will mix it with Alonzo and Sammy Galvan for the next few days before he meets Jean Mougin in the 10 round main event. Both fighters are lightweights.

Mougin, his trainer, and Dickie Griffin, matchmaker, were supposed to arrive from El Paso Wednesday night and set up training camp here. Mougin handed Henderson his first professional defeat in El Paso last month, but the Texas Tech student thinks he will take this fight.

Henderson sparred with Chino Alonzo yesterday at O. C. Foster's gym, and today he is scheduled to go against Alonzo and Sammy Galvan in another workout. Galvan and Alonzo are scheduled to meet in the semi-final event of the five-bout fight card. Two four round bouts and two six-rounders will set the stage for the 10 round main event.

James Meets Brown

Gene James, Lubbock heavyweight, will meet Dickie Brown of Amarillo in the second of the four-round matches, and the fight should be a good one.

Only a limited number of tickets will be sold for the Jaycee sponsored fight card, and persons wanting to see the bouts are urged to buy their tickets early to avoid the rush that is sure to develop at the gate. Tickets are on sale at a box in the lobby of the Hilton hotel and may be reserved by phoning 6861.

The first bout is scheduled for 8 p. m.

The more than 100 rookies reporting to American League baseball teams hail from 30 states and three foreign countries.

Nelson Davis

tioned to Henderson, then Bryan.

Davis played in 101 games that year, batted 405 times and scored 65 runs. He had 113 hits good for 169 total bases, including 26 doubles, six triples and six home runs. He drove in 52 runs and wound up with a .279 batting average. He had a .945 fielding average.

He was recalled and spent the last 30 days of the season with the Pioneers. He was playing shortstop with Austin, but second with Henderson and Bryan. He spent the entire year of 1948 with Austin, seeing limited service at second and shortstop. He also caught six games, but admits that he didn't like it.

Good Lubbock Prospect

His first contract was as a Legion player, when Jack Conway "signed" him. The signing didn't mean anything, but it made a big impression on him and he treasures the memory. Conway had a large influence on his life as a result, along with his father, Bibb Falk of Texas and many other baseball-minded men.

Davis and the former Miss Emma Jewell Loesch of Waco were married June 24, 1948, and are looking for a place to live here. She'll join him about the first of May.

It's a far cry from the days when he was playing sandlot softball, but Davis asked for the job and he wants it. He packs a lot of power into his six foot, 175-pound frame. And at 23, he's a good prospect to help the Hubbers.

Oil Belt Meeting Is Slated Tonight

Umpires are needed for Oil Belt league games, and a meeting will be held at 7:30 tonight at the Sports Center for those who want to officiate league games.

Persons with experience who would like to attend the meeting are urged to do so by President Joe Holmes to go over the rules. Games are played on Thursday night and Sunday afternoon.

Tahoka will open at Post this week, rather than at Tahoka as previously announced. Other opening day games are Slaton at Seagraves; Sundown at Denver City; and Levelland at Brownfield.

Strong teams are expected this year, and in pre-season games several of the teams have shown up well. Slaton, Post, Levelland, and Sundown are expected to have lights before the night games begin May 19.

Survivor Of Malmedy Murders To Tell About Mass Killings

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—One of the few GI's who lived through the Malmedy massacre will tell his story of the mass murder to a Senate committee Friday.

Sergeant Kenneth F. Ahrens of Erie, Pa., was called to give senators an eye-witness account of how German SS troopers shot down their American captives in the battle of the bulge.

Ahrens will come before a Senate armed services subcommittee which is investigating the Army's prosecution of 73 Germans convicted of the World War II crimes.

80 Troops Shot

He is one of about 43 American soldiers who survived the German slaughter of GI's near the little town of Malmedy, Belgium, in December, 1944.

Near one crossroads, 80 American troops were lined up in the snow and machinegunned to death. Scores of others, the Army says, were killed in the same manner in the Malmedy area. No one knows precisely how many.

The Army questioned hundreds of suspects and Aherns was one of the Americans used to help identify German SS troops accused of the massacre.

Charges have been made that American prosecutors used brutal and illegal methods to get confessions from the Germans. Out of the 73 convicted, six remain under death sentence.

Mock Trials Admitted

Lt. Col. Burton F. Ellis who headed the prosecution acknlwledged using "mock trials" in getting confessions from the Germans. He denied there was any brutality.

But James J. Bailey of Pittsburgh, Pa., has informed the committee the methods used to get the confessions were such that he "could stomach it no longer." Bailey said he was a member of an Army "team" which collected evidence and confessions from the accused Germans.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) told reporters Wednesday he was fearful the Senate subcommittee — headed by Senator Baldwin (R-Conn)—is trying to "whitewash the Army." Baldwin commented: "This is not a whitewash and will not be."

Filibuster

"Fine, I feel fine," said the navy-veteran hero of the ill-fated carrier Franklin when he left the floor.

Proponents of the House-passed measure fought back stubbornly throughout the night.

They repeatedly refused to adjourn.

They served a barbecue supper, kept refilling a jug of hot coffee as rapidly as it was emptied, brought on a hot breakfast at 5 a. m.—all in an adjoining committee room to which senators filtered back and forth.

The bill by Rep. Edward P. Hughes of Newton and others would require all who would practice any phase of the healing arts first to take state-supervised examinations in the six basic sciences: Public health and hygiene, chemistry, physiology, anatomy, pathology and bacteriology. Chiropractors have batterly fought the measure through several legislatures.

Branded As Vicious

Harris said there isn't a school in Texas that offers all of the courses.

"It's a vicious piece of legislation," he repeated time and again. He said the American Medical association had "high pressured" it through the legislature.

"It was designed, created and directed at three classes of people — chiropractors, naturopaths and osteopaths," he said.

He quipped between attacks.

"My days of getting medical attention have just ended," he joked.

At 4:30 a. m. he was back on the floor briefly helping Hudson.

Hudson said he knew the bill was going to pass.

"The best we can do is stall off the evil hour as long as we can," he said.

Economy

000. This is 750,000 below a year ago, when March showed a 300,000 increase over February. Nonfarm employment represents about three-fourths of the nation's workers.

Factory earnings and working hours — Weekly earnings down about $1 to $53.37 from February and down $1.66 from December's $55.03 peak. Working hours reduced from 39.4 in February to 38.9 in March.

A 13th consecutive weekly decline in business loans was reported by the Federal Reserve board. It said they fell off $84,000,000 in the week ended April 13.

And the Agriculture department estimated that farmers' cash receipts may be 10 per cent less this year than the 1948 record total. Their net income may decline even more, the department said.

In over-all employment the Census Bureau has reported a slight increase for March from February. Clague said this was due to a "substantial rise" in farm employment which more than offset the non-farm decline.

Former Plant Head Dies At Residence

Corsicana, April 21. (AP)—W. C. Ralston, 79, former superintendent of the Magnolia Petroleum Co. refinery here, died at his home last night.

Ralston worked on the construction of the refinery about the turn of the century and was superintendent a number of years before his retirement.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

SELLING DEPRESSES STOCKS

NEW YORK, April 21.—(AP)—The stock market closed at the lowest level in a month today after a stiff pre-noon dose of selling.

Losses ranged from fractions to around 3 points. Few key issues escaped the pressure.

The volume of business expanded rapidly as prices curved downward. Turnover was at the rate of about 1,200,000 shares for the full session.

Selling orders poured into the exchange shortly before noon when the widest declines were scored.

Brokers could discover no immediate news to account for the sudden drop.

American Telephone was one of the comparatively few steady spots, with the price barely stirring from Wednesday's close. The stock dropped 1⅛ points yesterday in the wake of stockholder approval of a huge financing plan which will eventually involve issuance of additional AT and T stock. American Woolen took one of the worst spills, losing around 3 points.

Others lower included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, International Telephone, American Smelting, General Electric, Dow Chemical, Radio Corp., International Paper, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ), Gulf Oil and United Air Lines.

Bonds tended lower with stocks. U. S. governments moved narrowly in over-the-counter dealings.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Cotton futures moved in a narrow range today, with evening-up operations in nearby May prior to first notice day. A leading spot firm offered nearby May persistently and sold about 3,000 contracts against purchases of the old crop July delivery.

Cotton futures inched upward into new high ground for the day toward the close, influenced by more active short covering in nearby May.

Futures closed 5 to 60 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Area Bankers Meet In City

in determining the success of banks or anything else.

Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland college of Plainview, spoke immediately after his arrival from Honolulu, where he had filled a speaking engagement.

Dr. Marshall praised American bankers for their integrity and Christian principles, comparing the solidity of economics in this country with that in the Orient.

He reported briefly on economic conditions in China, which he had heard about during his stay in Hawaii.

The meeting adjourned shortly before noon and was followed by a luncheon at Lubbock Country club.

Covers Wide Area

The association's district encompasses an area from Plainview on the north to the Texas and Pacific railroad on the south, and from Spur on the east to the New Mexico boundary on the west.

Registration began at 8 o'clock this morning in Hilton hotel although early delegates had arrived late Wednesday. Practically all of the early arrivals were from "big city" banks or from banks on the outskirts of the district.

Bruce Zorns, vice president of the Brownfield Bank and Trust company and vice president of the association, presided in the absence of the president, Herman A. Dobbs, vice president of the First National bank of Odessa, who was unable to attend.

Program Is Opened

The program opened in the Hilton at 10 o'clock this morning with Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor of the First Methodist church, giving the invocation. Walter S. Posey, president of First National bank here, extended a welcome, to which C. A. Hollingsworth, vice president of the Lamesa National bank, responded.

Officers To Be Chosen

The reports of committees, election of officers and selection of the 1950 meeting place closed the day's meeting, after which social activities began.

Visitors and their wives were guests of Charles E. Maedgen, Posey and George E. Benson, president of Citizens National bank, at a social hour and buffet luncheon at Lubbock Country club which began at 12:30 p. m.

A matinee dance for the visitors was held from 3 tc 5 p. m.

The golf course was the scene of the annual golf tournament for those who did not attend the matinee dance.

Arrangements were made by a committee composed of J. B. Castles and W. R. McDuffie of the First National bank; Wm. R. Sewell and W. E. Hines of the Citizens National bank and Chas. E. Maedgen, jr., Lorenz Ellis and Berry Vaughn of the Lubbock National bank. Effie Puryear of the First National bank had charge of registration.

Communist capture of Kiangpu left them no more obstacles to reaching the north bank opposite the capital. Nanking residents expected to find the Communist forces massed on the opposite river bank by tomorrow morning at the latest.

Fully armed Nationalist troops marched through the streets of the capital, taking up their positions to meet the expected direct onslaught. However, the capital remained calm.

West Texas Movie Exhibitors Attend MGM Studios Program

Movie exhibitors from throughout West Texas today attended an all-day entertainment program presented here by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, on the occasion of the company's silver anniversary.

The program featured advance "trade showings" of two new M-G-M pictures, "The Stratton Story" and "The Secret Garden," and a luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

At the luncheon, more than 50 guests heard LeRoy Bickel, branch manager of M-G-M's Dallas office, state that a recent trip to company studios in California had convinced him that "we're in for at least two more years of good movies." He said that he felt future productions would measure up to a high standard established by past pictures of the studio.

Opinions Sought

Bickel heartily welcomed exhibitors and their wives who attended the local program.

"We're always anxious to get the first-hand reaction of the public to our pictures," he said, as he explained that at the afternoon showing of "The Secret Garden" all persons attending would be given "comment cards" on which to state their opinion of the film.

Also at today's luncheon was V. L. Smith, West Texas representative of M-G-M with offices in Dallas.

The luncheon guests earlier had attended a showing of "The Stratton Story," a baseball story based on the life of Monty Stratton, former Lubbock Hubber manager. Showing of "The Secret Garden" was scheduled this afternoon. Both movies were shown in the Plaza theater.

He said Dreng's sister, Mrs. Margrethe Carter, who identified the body, told him her brother was married to Marian Teslow of Decorah before entering the Navy and was divorced in 1945. She said she had talked to her brother the day before he disappeared.

State Nearing Close In Trial

state. Burton S. Burks and Col. E. A. Simpson, defense attorneys, have sworn a long list of witnesses which they plan to call in an effort to prove the insanity of McGee.

As yesterday the courtroom was crowded by spectators who brought along babies, popcorn and magazines. Several times Judge Dan Blair threatened to clear the 72nd District court room if the audience did not refrain from laughter or comment on the testimony.

Two Texas Tech students, O. B. Freeman, jr., Sweetwater, and Max Sturdivant, Abilene, told the jury that McGee had approached them on the day of shooting at a time which was just after the act was alleged to have been committed and requested transportation to Levelland. They told him they had to go to class and could not leave town. Neither had seen McGee before or since that time.

Student Tells Story

Bill Garrett, 24 year-old Texas Tech student who is also employed at the Hilton hotel, next told the court how he had been forced at gun-point to drive McGee to Brownfield. He described McGee's dress at the time which conformed to the testimony given by all other witnesses.

Garrett said that McGee told him all about his affairs with Betty Jane Allston and how the parents had disapproved of the marriage plans of the two. Garrett said McGee had no hesitancy of giving names and places and even described how he had shot Allston.

When it was necessary to get gasoline for the car, McGee ordered Garrett to pull into a filling station and remain in the car.

Gun Trained On Him

"Don't try to be a movie hero," McGee is alleged to have said. "If you do I'll plug you." Garrett said he kept the gun trained on him at all times even though he spoke friendly enough. Garrett admitted he feared for his life during most of the ride and when McGee left him in Brownfield he said he was so nervous he couldn't call the police.

The final witness in the morning session was Roy Cates, Austin police officer, who was one of three who apprehended McGee on a city bus and arrested him. At the time he was carrying a loaded revolver in a holster under his left arm and next to his skin.

Real drama stirred the court room Wednesday when Betty Jane Allston took the witness stand to tell her story.

"Don't worry, honey, your daddy will take care of you." These were the last words spoken by Allston to his daughter. They were uttered just a few minutes before he was shot and killed on the afternoon of July 7, 1948.

Miss Allston broke down as she tearfully related her father's last words to her. The court ordered a short recess to allow the young woman to regain her composure so the examination of the witness could continue.

Defendant Shows No Emotion

While Miss Allston was giving her testimony the defendant sat glumly at the counsel table, his chin resting on his chest. Behind him, his mother, Mrs. H. H. Stull, sobbed and patted him occasionally. McGee showed no emotion but nervously toyed with pieces of paper and a knotted string. He showed no special attention to the proceedings but frequently asked Chief Deputy Sheriff George Eubank to get a glass of water for him. He was dressed in the same gray suit he has worn throughout the trial but was neatly groomed.

Doctor Takes Stand

Miss Allston was the second witness called yesterday afternoon when Judge Dan Blair reconvened the 72nd District court. Earlier, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin and special assistant George Dupree, brought Dr. Lee E. Hale to the stand. Dr. Hale testified to the condition of the slain man on the afternoon of the shooting when he was brought to West Texas hospital. Dr. Hale stated that the bullet that struck Allston had passed through his neck and had caused him to lose excessive blood. Death, he stated, came as a result of the man literally drowning in his own blood. Death came about three hours after the shooting which occurred at the Colonial Apartments, 2020 Fifth.

Although Miss Allston and the accused man, Richard McGee had been keeping company from the time they met at Denton on March 9, 1948 until two days before the shooting, they had not had serious altercations which had involved the family. This was brought out as the state and the two defense attorneys questioned the girl on the stand.

Argument Took Place

On the evening of July 5, 1948 while McGee was a guest in her parent's home, they discussed possible plans for their marriage. The girl's father objected to his daughter marrying young McGee on the grounds that he would not be able to support her and that the income he did have came from the government in the form of a disability pension, it was brought out in questioning Miss Allston. The defense attorneys pointed out that this pension was for 100 per cent disability.

On the evening the father stated his objections to the boy, Betty Jane testified, Richard McGee become very angry, jumped up from his chair and shook his finger in Allston's face.

Says She Was Struck

"That just shows you how much you know about it," he is alleged to have said. "You can't keep us from getting married because we are in love with each other."

Betty Jane stated that she went outside with McGee in an effort to calm him down. While trying to reason with him, she said, he struck her several times. At the same time he cursed her family profusely and threatened their lives, she testified. Miss Allston said McGee threatened:

"If you don't marry me I'll kill you and your whole damn family."

16 Accused In Plot Released On Bail

Five other persons accused of being ringleaders, including labor leader Cipriano Reyes, were refused bail.

Release of the 16 was made possible when federal Judge Palma Beltran revised the indictment against them from a charge of plotting against the security of the state to plotting for rebellion.

The revision makes it possible for the 16 to draw suspended sentences.

Under the previous charge, they faced obligatory prison terms of from six months to five years and were not eligible for release on bail.

Peace Feelers Warning Given

WASHINGTON, April 21. (U.P.)—U. S. diplomats warned today that current Soviet "peace feelers" may be aimed at sabotaging U. S. plans to arm western Europe against Communism.

The government took cognizance of the "peace" reports yesterday in an authorized but cautious statement that said Russian diplomatic maneuvers may be directed at lifting the Berlin blockade and bringing about a resumption of big four talks on Germany.

Diplomats involved in guiding American relations with Russia said it is too early to tell whether the Soviet moves are genuine, and if so, at what they are aimed.

Little To Be Gained

They pointed out that while the end of the Berlin blockade and the western counter-blockade would be beneficial to both east and west. Russia could hope to gain little in resuming big four talks on Germany.

The Soviet aim has always been the communization of Germany. But these diplomats said recent big three decisions on western Germany gave the German people certain rights which Russia could never accept for eastern Germany, because they make Communist control a virtual impossibility.

Therefore, they said, the aim of Soviet diplomacy apparently is something more than resumption of German talks.

One possible motive behind the Russia - wants - peace propaganda, according to these informants, could be to lessen support for the administration's proposal to arm western Europe.

weapon, to be used for the destruction of a large target area and the people in it.

The weapons recommendation sheets therefore must be presumed also to be concerned with conventional high explosive and incendiary bombing.

Services Cooperate

These would be needed for attack on a particular plant or area within a city or in the progressive destruction of a target when, for political reasons, it is desired to avoid death or injury to the population.

The finished assessments of target information and recommendations made by Air Force intelligence go to the joint chiefs of staff to become a factor in their conclusions on overall strategy for all of the armed forces—the Army, Navy and Air Force.

In addition to the general coordination of intelligence material by the Central Intelligence agency, the Air Force cooperates with the Navy. Some targets of prospective interest to the Air Force also are potential targets for carrier-borne aviation.

Officers and civilians from the office of naval intelligence are on duty in the air intelligence division of the Air Force. There is an exchange of information and the two services frequently work on the same project.

Senators Will Get Arms Plan

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson provided for senators today a look at thus-far secret American plans for re-arming the North Atlantic nations.

Chairman Connally (-Tex) asked the Senate foreign relations committee to meet to receive the secretary's report.

Acheson was reported ready to disclose the proposed draft of the Arms - for - Europe program along with an estimate of how much it would cost.

Cost Estimated

Unofficial reports are the cost would run about $1,250,000,000 in the first year. But this estimate has not been confirmed by the State department.

The Senate committee may decide shortly when to make public the details of the arms plan. Strong pressure has built up in the Senate to do away with all secrecy as quickly as possible.

Senator George (D-Ga), a committee member, told reporters he would like to see the arms plan made public immediately.

"It should be released at once," George said. He added that the North Atlantic treaty is not linked directly with the arms program "but they are vitally integrated in any legislation."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said yesterday Republicans have been assured by Senator Vandenburg (R-Mich) the arms program will be made public "almost at once."

It appears certain all secrecy will be lifted by the time the foreign relations committee starts public hearings on the Atlantic treaty. The hearings are expected to start early next month.

This treaty, signed here April 4, will become effective for the U. S. When ratified by two-thirds of the Senate. It will bind the United States, Canada and 10 other nations into a defensive alliance to resist any aggression.

The arms program is designed to bolster the military defenses of the pact members.

Forgery Suspect Is Arrested In Dallas

DALLAS, April 21 (AP)—Police today arrested a 27-year-old man here in connection with what was described as the "biggest forgery case in Dallas in 15 years."

Police said the case involved approximately $25,000 in forged checks.

Detective H. P. Lemonds estimated the mild-mannered, slightly built timekeeper had obtained $25,000 during the past three years from scores of Dallas business houses and banks.

Lemonds said the man used two methods of operation.

Using real names, Lemonds related, the man would reverse the initials to confuse cashiers. By the time they had discovered the error, the man would be gone.

His second method, Lemonds said, was rubber stamping a check with the name of a fictitious firm.

He said "all signs of peaceful intent have been disregarded and heavy fire opened from batteries near Bates Point and on the southern end of Beaver island (both in the vicinity of the Amethyst). This fire was effectively replied to but under such conditions (it is) clearly impossible to bring the Amethyst downriver."

Survivors Arriving

Early in the evening 59 survivors of the Amethyst arrived here by train from the north. Among them were five wounded.

Survivors said 89 officers and crewmen were still aboard the sloop.

More British ships, the Belfast and Constance, are en route to the Yangtze, a London admiralty statement said.

In London the admiralty issued a statement saying:

"The H.M.S. Amethyst reports she is anchored in a satisfactory position and believes herself capable of 17 knots. It clearly would be undesirable for her to attempt to run the gauntlet of concentrated fire at the present moment."

Construction Of Space Ship Possible Now, Experts Say

By CHARLES CORDRY
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 21.—A space ship can be built. A sort of Model-T version can be built with technical data available today. But the consensus is that a great deal is going to happen and many years pass before anybody tries it.

By a space ship is meant a projectile or vehicle that would operate outside the earth's atmosphere and at least partly free of the earth's gravitational pull.

The main problem disturbing the national military establishment today is not whether a space ship is possible but what purpose it would serve and whether it would be worth the tremendous cost.

Public Is Startled

Former Defense Secretary Forrestal electrified the public when he disclosed last Dec. 28 that his department was studying "earth satellite vehicles"—actually the lowest form of space ships. Long since, the Air Force's interest in space ships had been revealed by Gen. H. H. Arnold in his final report as chief of staff and by then Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay when chief of research and development.

What Forrestal did was to tell the Army, Navy and Air Force to limit current efforts "to studies and component designs."

When will man travel in space? Walther Riedel, the German rocket wizard, says there will be a man-made moon, or space station, in 25 years. Few scientists or engineers are more specific.

Space travel enthusiasts dream in terms of four types of vehicles:

1. Earth satellites. An unmanned rocket fired into the air with enough power to attain 18,000 miles an hour would come to a "stop" several hundred miles out and then whirl about the earth in an elliptical pattern. Perhaps it could serve as a television relay station, or atmosphere research gadget. This could be achieved in the same manner that a combination rocket was launched to 250 miles recently. But four times the speed would be required.

High Speeds Needed

2. Space station. A greater speed might be needed to get this object into outer space where it would revolve about the earth like the moon. Here could be an observatory for the astronomers, or a rocket launching platform from which to "dominate the earth."

3. A ship that could escape the pull of gravity. This is the legendary "voyage to the moon" rocket. This ship would have to reach a speed of 25,000 miles an hour or 33,700 feet per second to thwart all earthly gravitational pull.

4. A ship that could escape the solar system. Not much is known about this one. But it would have to travel 28,000 miles an hour, the theoreticians say.

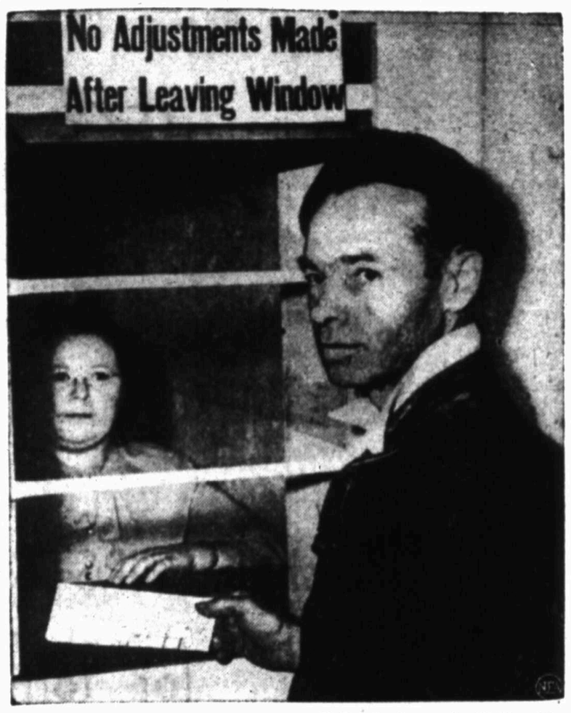

The problems involved in building any of these space ships fill volumes and are treated with monthly solemnity in such journals as that of the British Interplanetary society. But the fuel question alone shows what the engineers face.

Problems Are Cited

The jet velocity—speed of exhaust gases—in rocket motors used today is about 7,000 feet per second. But escape-gravity velocity is close to 34-700 feet per second. So, according to G. Edward Pendray in "The Coming Age of Rocket Power," a six-stage rocket would be required for a moon-trip. If the final stage—that which reaches the moon—carries even 100 pounds of payload, the launching weight of the six-stage rocket would have to be 26,566 tons.

If jet velocities of 12,000 feet per second can be achieved with chemical fuels, Pendray reasons that a four-stage rocket carrying five tons of scientists and equipment would weigh 37,805 tons at launching. This would equal the weight of three and a half liberty ship ocean freighters.

Scientists of course are at work with chemical fuels which will reduce greatly the ratio of fuel weight to payload weight in a space ship. But many are convinced that atomic power, with all its own problems, will have to be the answer.

Wichita Grand Jury Raps State Hospital

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., April 21 (AP)—The Wichita county grand jury reported to District Judge Frank Ikard that there was inadequate medical attention at the Wichita Falls State hospital because of a lack of doctors and a competent nursing staff.

The grand jury report, returned Wednesday, charged that abuse and mistreatment of patients at the hospital "either was or should have been known by the hospital authorities." The jurors urged the state legislature to appropriate funds immediately to correct the conditions.

Two attendants at the hospital, T. C. Caucier and David Beck, are facing indictments in connection with the death of a hospital patient, Thomas Houston Gibbons of Sulphur Springs.

Jimmy Durante May Team With Skelton In 'Yellow Cab Man'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, April 21—Here's a sure-fire laugh team—Red Skelton and Jimmy Durante.

Schnozzola is being considered as Skelton's partner in "Yellow Cab Man." It would be the first film work in over a year for Durante, whose great talents haven't been fully exploited in recent films.

The picture is one of the three follow-ups to Skelton's hit of last year, "Fuller Brush Man." Also nearing production are "Good Humor Man" with Jack Carson and "Fuller Brush Girl" with Lucille Ball.

Edgar Bergen gets his second dramatic try in "Captain China." The ventriloquist, who scored a success in "I Remember Mama," will play a Dutchman in the new film. He'll get a chance to do some comedy, but Charlie McCarthy will stay home.

DeMille Not Interested

Cecil B. DeMille has been much mentioned lately to take over the filming of "The Robe" or to buy "The Big Fisherman." But the veteran film maker has actually shown little interest in doing the Lloyd Douglas books. His view: "I've already done them." It's now reported that DeMille is thinking about a film history of the auto industry.

Capsule Review: "Home of The Brave" (UA) is strong drama on a theme new to the movies — the negro problem. Its punch derives from several factors: differentness of its subject, unaffected acting by an almost unknown cast, sharp writing and direction. The story of an Army scout party in an island jungle lacks greatness, but the film is a rare emotional experience.

Boy Run Down By Automobile

SAN ANTONIO, April 21 (U.P.)—A seven-year-old boy was killed and seven persons were injured last night when an automobile plowed into a group of 11 who were walking home from a movie.

Killed instantly was Robert Lee Miller. Another seven-year-old boy, Edward F. Howard, was critically injured and not expected to live.

Four other children, ranging in age from 11 to 16, were injured, less seriously, and two mothers were hurt. One of the mothers carried a four-month-old baby in her arms.

Vision Obscured

Police identified the driver of the automobile as Thomas Watts, 2 , a Von Ormy farmer. The driver told officers he failed to see the group because of a dirty windshield and misty rain.

The group was walking away from the car when the accident occurred on the new Laredo highday just inside the city limits of San Antonio.

Some training films and two short lectures will be on the program. Capt. Jennings also said a schedule for night flying that is required of all active reservists would be worked out.

The ladies auxiliary will hold its regular meeting at the same time in the squadron club house at the field.

Capt. Jennings said the unit would hold a dance in the officers club at the base Saturday night at 9 p.m. All members, their wives and dates are invited.

U. S. Appreciates Opera Most, Romanian-Born Soprano Claims

By LEO TURNER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 21 — Red-haired Stella Roman, the Romanian-born soprano, says that Americans understand less of what is going on during an opera but appreciate the show more than any other audience in the world.

"And why?" asked Miss Roman. "America is only theater in world that has opera in original language. Every place else is the translation."

Catch The Spirit

"But it is wonderful to sing for Americans," she said. "They catch the spirit. When language of opera is changed, it loses its spirit. It comes hacked. It comes out different."

So, though the average American operagoer doesn't understand the words, he gets the idea, and the performers get the applause, Miss Roman said.

The birds that flutter about Miss Roman's apartment and the bottles of water in racks on the wall represent her two hobbies. She suddenly switched her conversation from music to hobbies.

"I collect water," she said.

"I have a small bottle of water from a lake or river or sea in every country that I have visited.

"I only need three more bottles to finish my collection, then I will have water from every country."

To Europe In Spring

Those three are Australia, China and India.

"I have water from the Black Sea which touches my own country and Russia, too. So that takes care of Russia. I have never been there," she said.

She looked at her bottles and birds.

"Life is made up of little things," she said. "Big things seldom bring happiness."

Miss Roman is going to Europe this spring, when she plans to move to the west coast to join her husband, Frank Vitale, a Los Angeles business man.

"He can't stand New York apartments," she said.

Lorenzo Lions Club Plans Donation For Lubbock Blood Bank

Residents of Lorenzo, although living outside Lubbock county, are anxious to donate blood to the Lubbock county blood bank.

The Lubbock county Red Cross chapter, which sponsors the blood bank, reported Wednesday that upon request from Lorenzo Lions club members of blood bank personnel will go to Lorenzo tonight to type blood at Lorenzo Methodist church.

Meal To Be Served

Methodist women will serve a meal at 7:30 o'clock at the church to those wishing to donate blood. Approximately 100 persons are expected to be present, the Red Cross chapter was notified.

Mrs. W. B. Agee of Lubbock, co-chairman of the blood bank committee, will speak. A group of technicians headed by Bob Edwards, Tech student and blood bank technician, will be present to type blood. The blood will not be drawn tonight.

Druggist Makes Arrangements

Leon Pierot, druggist and member of the Lions club, is making arrangements for the gathering.

The chapter here was notified residents wished to donate blood in appreciation for immediate availability of blood to Lorenzo residents who have needed it.

In addition to serving Lubbock county residents, the blood bank provides blood for transfusions for persons from a wide area who receive treatment here. In such cases, friends or relatives of those receiving blood are encouraged to offer replacement. Several Lorenzo residents already have donated blood to the blood bank.

Airline Heads To Visit City

Gen. Robert J. Smith, president of Pioneer Air Lines, and Harding L. Lawrence, company vice-president, will arrive in Lubbock tonight, Jack Boydston, company city manager, has announced.

The airline officials are making an annual trip in which cities served by Pioneer Air Lines are visited.

Five-Day Tour Planned

The five-day tour will cover San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Big Spring and Lubbock, with the officials arriving here at 9:37 p.m. today.

Gen. Smith is also the commanding general of the 309th Bomb Division Reserve, and has been in civil and military aviation since 1917. He was formerly connected with American Airways, Braniff Airways, and was head of the aviation department of Dallas Chamber of Commerce, of which he is now a director.

During the war Gen. Smith was deputy commander of the North African Division of the ATC with headquarters in Cairo, Egypt.

Chile's Earthquake Casualties Reach 57

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 21. (AP) —The earthquake which rocked south central Chile Tuesday night killed 57 persons and injured 150.

The Ministry of the Interior said 45 of those killed were prisoners in the jails at Traiguen and Angol. Those two towns, about 350 miles south of Santiago, were the centers of the quake.

Property damage was estimated to run into the thousands of dollars. This earthquake was the most severe in Chile since the great disaster of 1939 when 2,500 persons died at Chillan.

Cleanup Drive Plans Mapped

Campaign Will Open April 30

Plans for trash-hauling on the largest scale in Lubbock history were completed at a meeting of representatives of local service clubs in the chamber of commerce Wednesday.

The undertaking will be another of the events of the citywide cleanup, paintup, fixup campaign scheduled here April 30 through May 14, according to E. F. St. Clair, jr., cleanup chairman.

In this phase of the campaign, St. Clair said, each of eight service clubs has accepted responsibility for the hauling of all trash from a district assigned to it on one day during the drive.

Sound Trucks To Be Used

The Rotary club, for example, has been assigned to a district in Southwest Lubbock and will attend to trash hauling from that area on May 4.

On May 3, sound trucks will be sent into the area to remind residents there to pile up their trash, except wet garbage, between their sidewalk and curb.

All available city trucks will be concentrated in that area the following day. In addition, the Rotarians are to provide any other trucks that may be required to move the trash.

This same routine will be repeated from day to day through May 12 until the entire city has been covered.

Collection Days Set

The service clubs participating and their trash collection dates are: Exchange, May 5; Kiwanis, May 6; Junior Chamber of Commerce, May 7;; ABC, May 9; Optimist, May 10; Lions, May 11; and 20-30, May 12.

As was the case last year, residents of the negro districts will conduct their own campaign under the direction of a committee made up of church and service club representatives. Dr. J. A. Chatman is general chairman. The negroes were credited with having done the best cleanup job in the city in last year's campaign and Dr. Chatman said they will strive to maintain that record this year.

Procedure Is Outlined

In each area the same procedure will be followed: The sound trucks will visit the district the day before trash is hauled; on the "hauling day," all available city trucks will be concentrated in the district, plus as many additional privately-owned trucks as are needed.

Each service club will rely chiefly on its members to supply privately-owned trucks without charge. Labor and gasoline will be furnished.

However, anyone not a member of one of the clubs and with a truck which can be used to haul trash on any days during the campaign is requested to get in

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

What are the advantages or disadvantages of living in suburban areas not so thickly populated as areas within the city limits?

THE ANSWERS

WINSTON REEVES, Lubbock route 5, owner of Reeves Photography and Reeves Photo Engraving: "I don't know of anything I don't like about it. I wouldn't live in town for anything in the world. There's more privacy and more room to get out and do what you want to do. After a long, hard day in town, after you get back out there it's just like being in another world."

MRS. BOB GARNER, Tahoka highway, co-owner of Garner's Employment Service: "We really like it. We have more space and more privacy. We like to be out where we can have a garden and orchard. We have our own well and can water, all we want to. You're just freer out there."

WALTER H. BLACK, Meadowbrook addition, aircraft mechanic: "I like it because it's quieter for one thing and in the summer time when it gets warm you have a nicer breeze. It's cooler. I guess those are about the biggest reasons."

HOUSTON SWEATT, Clayton-Carter addition, landscaper: "I have some disadvantages and I have some advantages. I was raised on a farm and I feel more at leisure and feel a little better where I'm not so crowded. I have lived in town and it seems like it's closing in on me. You feel a little more conspicuous in town. A fellow who lived in town would feel different. He might feel funny in the country. As for disadvantages, we have no city facilities except electricity."

J. B. COWDREY, Meadowbrook addition: "I used to live on a farm and I wouldn't want to be crowded in now. I like the open spaces. I had to stop farming because of ill health."

JOHN F. BEAVERS, 2917 N. owner of Day and Night Plumbing Co.: "I live in Maddox addition, which was recently taken into the city limits. I can tell some disadvantages. I think the city ordnance ought to be stronger out there. There are lots of dogs and some chickens. Too many people own cesspools who don't have septic tanks. I do think the city is going to do more. It looks as if we are going to have more water and some sewage, which will make it a much more pleasant place to live."

Rail Officials Will Be Here

L. R. Capron of Chicago, vice-president in charge of traffic of the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy railroad, will arrive in Lubbock this afternoon for an inspection tour of the local properties of the Burlington Lines of Texas, it was announced Wednesday.

Accompanying the Chicago official to Lubbock will be R. Wright Armstrong of Fort Worth, vice-president of Burlington Lines of Texas; C. S. Edmonds of Fort Worth, freight traffic manager of Burlington Lines; and W. M. Gray of Amarillo, Burlington general agent.

Freight Study Planned

The Texas officials will meet Capron in Amarillo upon his arrival there from Chicago. The group will be met at Dimmitt by Guy Victory, local general agent of the Fort Worth and Denver railroad.

In addition to inspection of the local facilities and properties of the Burlington lines here, Capron will study the increased freight and traffic demands on the local line, a reflection of growth and expansion in Lubbock and the surrounding area.

The visiting officials will attend a dinner in Hotel Lubbock at 6 p.m. today, at which between 40 and 50 Lubbock business and civic leaders will be guests. The gathering will be informal, and Capron is expected to speak briefly.

The officials will return to Amarillo tonight.

Air Accidents Kill Two In Army Games

NUERNBERG, Germany, April 21 (AP) — Two American F-47 Thunderbolt fighter planes crashed today near Bamberg. The pilot of one plane was killed. It was the first fatal accident during the U. S. Army maneuvers near the Czechoslovakian border.

Airforce officials said one of the planes lost its propellor during a low altitude strafing mission but crash-landed without injury to the pilot.

A second fighter, escorting the disabled craft downward, collided with a high tension wire and the pilot was killed. The accident came after American planes had flown almost 300 sorties, mostly in the role of "aggressor" aircraft.

TASTES BETTER THIS WAY—Nurse Pauline Tate feeds birthday cake to one-year-old Margaret Louise Spinks of Rockport, Ind., after an operation opened the child's esophagus. TECHNICAL EXHIBITS PREPARED

Texas Tech Engineering Show Is Scheduled To Open Friday

Final arrangements and preparations for the 17th annual Texas Tech Engineering show have been completed and the show will open Friday at 2 p.m. according to Francis Miller, general chairman of the show.

An even larger crowd than the 4,000 persons which attended last year's show is anticipated. The Engineering show is held at the college each year in conjunction with the Home Economics Open House, the Regional Interscholastic league meet and the Vocational Agriculture judging contests in order that as many high school students and teachers as possible may attend.

Various Exhibits Prepared

Tech's engineering division has opened its doors to visitors in order that the public might see just what an engineer does to obtain his degree. Eight departments in the engineering division as well as the departments of geology, physics and military science have combined to produce this year's show.

Demonstrations and exhibits have been planned to give interesting and educational facts to the public. They will range from those of a strict technical nature to those which are purely for amusement.

The mechanical engineering department will present such exhibits as a mechanical hula-hula girl, a cut-away section of a six cylinger Ford engine and an air-powered starter. Class rooms and equipment used for teaching purposes will be open in this as well as in all of the departments.

Radio Contest Scheduled

Plans have been made for a "ham" radio connection with students at Texas A&M. If the contact can be made, a chess game by radio will be carried on by students from each school. This will be one of the highlights of the electrical engineering department. The department will also feature an electric train which can be controlled by voice.

The newly-reorganized petroleum engineering department will move into its new building and will have all of the most modern oil producing equipment on display. A model rig showing drilling operations will be featured by that department.

Some of the interesting oddities that have arisen from the science of chemistry will be featured in a magic show to be presented by the chemical engineers. The magic show has been designed to show the serious side of chemistry and some of the important advances which have been made in that field.

Oil Discovery Developed In North-Central Scurry Area

A new Canyon-Pennsylvania discovery has been developed in North-Central Scurry county. About six miles north of the town of Snyder, oil flowed on two drillstem tests at Ryan, Hays & Burke No. 1 R. B. Brown, wildcat.

The venture topped the Canyon reef at 6,530 feet, drilled ahead to 6,594 feet and drillstem tested for 15 minutes with packer at 6,540 feet.

Gas reached the surface in three minutes, drilling mud in eight minutes and oil flowed at the top in 10 minutes. The well flowed to pits and there was no official estimate or gauge on recovery. However, observers say it flowed at the rate of approximately 25 barrels of oil per hour.

Second Test Taken

A second test of the reef was taken at 6,593-6,644 feet, with the tool open two hours and 25 minutes. In two and one-half minutes after the tool was opened, gas reached the surface. It was followed by drilling mud in 47 minutes and oil in 53 minutes.

The well flowed to tanks for one hour, producing 16 barrels of oil. Gravity of the petroleum was 42 degrees. Gas-oil ratio was 570-1. There was no water.

Operation of this development has been taken over by Sunray Oil Corporation. A string of 5½-inch casing has been set at 6,535 feet, leaving open hole to 6,644 feet, total depth. The new operator is to make production tests and complete the project.

It is 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 8, section 20, J. P. Smith survey.

Exploration Is Needed

Nearest production to this strike is about three miles to the north, where pay is from the Canyon in the North Snyder field. Whether the development is a new discovery or a long south extension to the pool can be determined only by further exploration.

C. L. Norsworthy, jr., of Dallas is starting operations by April 25 on a 7,300-foot, rotary tool wildcat in West-Central Scurry county as his No. 1 E. H. Williamson.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of the E. H. Williamson tract in section 256, block 97, H&TC survey, which puts it eight miles west of Snyder and in the general area of the Diamond M field.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware drillstem tested a deep lime and shale formation in East-Central Gaines county with its No. 1 Doss, wildcat 10 miles southwest of the Cedar Lake field.

The tool was open 30 minutes at 12,281-12,337 feet, using a 2,000-foot water blanket. A slight blow of air held at the top for 15 minutes.

Recovery was the water blanket and 40 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water. More hole was being made below 12,346 feet in lime, shale and chert.

Two Wells Completed

Standard Oil Company of Texas has completed two more commercial oil wells from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian in the North Snyder field of North-Central Scurry county.

The concern's No. 3-2 Brown, 1,960 feet from north and 680 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey, flowed 555 barrels of oil per day through a 10/64-inch choke on a 24-hour potential.

Gas-oil ratio was 830-1. There was no water. Production was natural from the open hole at 6,557-6,877 feet.

The other new Canyon producer is Stanotex No. 3-3 Brown, 1,960 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 449, block 97, H&TC survey.

Flowing natural from the open hole pay zone at 6,536-6,846 feet, it was finished for 498 barrels of oil daily, with no water and a gas-oil ratio of 893-1. The flow was through a 15/64-inch choke.

The company's No. 1, Lindly, extreme South-Central Lynn county venture, one mile north of O'Donnell and 660 feet from south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 47, block 8, GL&RR survey, was below 7,630 feet in lime.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 45, block 32, T-6-N, TP survey.

Fish has been recovered at Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 15 American Warehouse, deep wildcat in the Cedar Lake area of Northeast Gaines county.

Bottomed on 12,678 feet in lime and shale, the venture has been fishing for a ball peen hammer lost in the hole. The project has been reported as recovering the hammer handle and considerable iron.

Location is 1,650 feet from south and east lines of section 5, block H, D&W survey.

Paint "Blitz" Planned

Campaign officials emphasized, however, that they do not expect to rent trucks. They expect enough will be supplied without cost by civic-minded residents to take care of needs.

St. Clair also announced Wednesday that plans for a parade to open the cleanup campaign have been abandoned.

The kickoff feature, at 10 a.m. on Saturday morning, April 30, will be a paint "blitz" of the Milam orphanage on the Tahoka highway. About 100 painters, all members of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers local 342 plan to do the complete job in about 30 minutes. Participating in the sponsorship of the event will be the Lubbock chapter of the Painting and Decorating Contractors of America and associated dealers, who will supply the materials.

St. Clair said the Toastmasters club, headed by Dr. O. W. English, has volunteered to supply speakers to help publicize the campaign.

Engineers

models used by the Army Corps of Engineers will highlight the military science part of the show. The Signal corps unit of the R.O.T.C. will show the various means of radio and visual communication. The department will stress the close relation of some phases of the military to the engineering profession.

Exhibits and displays from the departments of architecture and allied arts, civil engineering, industrial engineering and textile engineering will also be open for inspection.

The doors will remain open from 2 p.m. until 10 p.m. both days. Some of the exhibits will be outside if the weather permits.

New U. S. Ambassador To Russia Will Receive Careful Briefing

WASHINGTON, April 21. (AP)—Admiral Alan G. Kirk, President Truman's choice as new ambassador to Russia, faces careful State department grooming before leaving for Moscow.

Officials said today he will be recalled shortly from Brussels for detailed "consultations" before taking up his frontline position in the cold war.

Kirk is a relative newcomer to diplomacy. He took his present post as ambassador to Belgium and Luxembourg following a 35-year hitch in the Navy, climaxed by command of American naval forces in the invasion of Normandy.

Faces Lonely Vigil

His nomination to the Moscow post as successor to Gen. Walter Bedell Smith was sent to the Senate yesterday. Prompt approval is expected.

Although Kirk has only three years' experience as a diplomat, he has been described as an impassive, quick-moving, capable ambassador—which is just what Secretary of State Acheson and his advisors wanted at this stage of relations with Russia.

While Kirk will have the tough job of dealing with Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky and other Soviet officials, his orders will come from Washington. Vital American decisions relating to Russia are expected to come from the White House and the State department, although the Moscow embassy will be asked for advice.

Diplomats who have seen service in the Soviet capital say Kirk faces a lonely vigil, unless relations between the Soviet bloc and the west should take a decided turn for the better.

Liked By Belgians

Ambassador Smith sometimes went for weeks without any face to face dealings with the Soviet foreign office or direct contacts with individual Russians.

At the same time, the new ambassador must be qualified to conduct vital personal negotiations, possibly with Prime Minister Joseph Stalin himself, in the event of a break in the cold war.

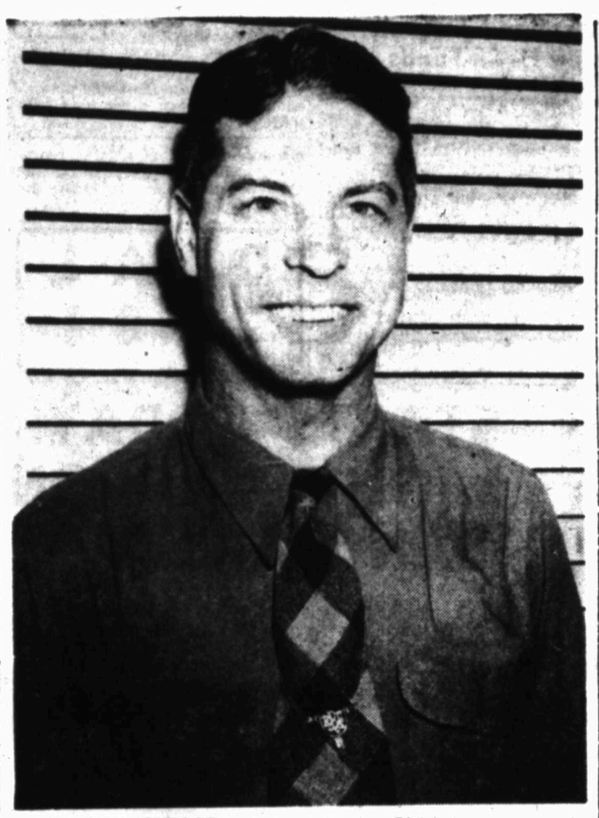

Associates described Kirk as qualified for the job in all respects. He is 60, short in stature, energetic and friendly in manner. He was reported well-liked by the Belgians.

Officials said Kirk never to their knowledge has visited Russia, although he may have stopped there briefly during the naval cruise.

Mrs. Kirk presumably will go with him to Moscow. She is a sister of Selden Chapin, until recently American minister to Hungary. Kirk's two daughters are married and a son is a student at Princeton.

Moscow apparently likes the idea of a military man as American envoy. Kirk's name was approved promptly by the Kremlin before being submitted to the Senate. Besides Gen. Smith, the United States had another admiral as ambassador in pre-war days—William H. Standley.

Since Smith returned home at the end of last year, the embassy has been under the charge of Foy Kohler, minister-counselor. Before leaving for Moscow, Kirk is expected to talk with Smith, now commander of the first army in New York.

Plane Lands Safely After Engine Trouble

FAIRFIELD, Cal., April 21 (U.P.) A military air transport with 23 persons aboard landed here safely last night after one engine failed and another threatened failure nearly 900 miles at sea.

The plane, en route to Hawaii, was forced to turn back to the mainland when its number three engine went dead. A few minutes later, the number four engine began to sputter.

Air Force and Coast Guard rescue planes intercepted the distressed C-54 about 250 miles off the coast and escorted it safely home after the pilot, Lt. Cmdr. E. P. Drake of New Orleans, La., had radioed for assistance. The landing was made without incident, Air Force officers said.

Work On USO, YMCA Buildings Resumed

WICHITA FALLS, April 21 (AP) Work on a new USO building and on a new YMCA structure has resumed here. Pickets were withdrawn yesterday.

The pickets were of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Glass Workers of America, local 393. Other craft unions observed the picket line.

The USO building was picketed Monday. The YWCA project was picketed yesterday morning.

C. E. Nelson, business representative of the union, said his union acted because of failure of "the contractors to comply with the union's wage scale in paying painters on the job."

The union put up the picket lines although the painters working on the job were non-union men.

"Having brought public attention to bear on failure of contractors on these jobs to comply with our painters' union wage scale, we now withdraw the pickets in the interest of public good," Nelson said.

India and Belgium will sign a "cultural treaty" to promote friendly relations.

Communist Propaganda Denied By U. S. Visits Of Europeans

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 21.—A Danish worker, brought over here to learn how Americans work, asked particularly if he might visit Ford's River Rouge plant. It was not on his planned schedule, because the Danes had come to study steel production, meat-packing, ship-building and machinery-making—not automobile manufacture.

"Why do you want to go there?" asked the Economic Cooperation Administration officials who had the Dane in charge.

"I'll tell you after I've been there," he promised. So the Rouge plant was added to his itinerary.

When he got back he said: "Now I'll tell you why I was so anxious to go there.

"Back home we have been told day after day, in Communist lectures, that a man with a blacksnake whip stands behind every 20 workers in the Rouge plant, to make them work faster. I promised my friends that I would go and see.

"Now I can tell them there wasn't even one man with a blacksnake whip in the plant. I even asked the workers there, to make sure."

The ECA is just getting into swing with a broad program to bring representatives to western European industry, from all countries entitled to Marshall Plan help, over here so they can get ideas for speeding up European recovery.

The men brought over range from plant managers down through engineers to production workers at the bench level. Farmers are being brought, too, to study our agricultural methods.

The first groups were four five-man Danish teams, to study different industries, and a 16-man team of Britishers who have just begun a seven-week tour of steel plants. The British team includes four managers, six technicians, six labor representatives picked by their union.

"One of the first new impressions the British workers got," says William A. Kimbel, field director of the Technical Assistance Arrangements Branch just opened here, "was that their people and ours work just about equally hard.

"They had come over here with an idea American workers were driven just about to the point of desperation to get faster production. After a few days in our plants, they concluded that isn't so.

"They have decided that we get higher production, in steel foundrie sat least, because we have so many portable machines. One expressed amazement to discover that an American, sitting in front of a machine pushing buttons, accomplished as much as the Englishman did swinging a heavy sledge all day."

The technical assistance program is designed to give Marshall Plan countries ideas for getting the most out of their facilities. Within the next 18 months the ECA hopes to bring as many as 1500 men, in about 90 groups, to this country.

Executives and technical men are selected by their managements, but workers are chosen by their unions. The employers pay their salaries or wages while they are over here; their governments use ECA "counterpart funds" to organize the groups and provide passage to this country; the ECA supplies $12 a day to each man to cover room, meals and incidental expenses.

There is nothing of the junket about these visits. The men study plants in their own lines, preferably of about their own size, rather than making a grand tour of our mass production show factories. They don working clothes, and often try out our machines under tutelage of American workers.

This is important because of a great difference in operating scale. For instance, the Danish machine makers work in their country's biggest mill of that type. There a force of about 1000 make about a dozen major items—motors, generators, elevators, etc. But at Westinghouse 60,000 men work on one kind of motor.

The next group due here is of 33 farmers from the Netherlands, who will arrive about April 7. They are to go into the homes of farm families in 14 states from Maine to Wisconsin, where they will work with American farmers getting new ideas about animal husbandry, farm mechanization, stock and crop disease control, pest and weed control, general farm practices and 4-H Club work.

And it has appeared already that European workmen, thoroughly trained and often the products of generations working at the same trade, have been able to give Americans some ideas.

BLOSSOM QUEEN—Margaret Thors, daughter of Iceland's minister to the U. S., Thor Thors, was picked to reign as queen of the 22nd annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Va., April 28 and 29. Her home is Reykjavik, Iceland.

Research Projects In South Develop Into Big Business

ATLANTA, April 21. (AP)—Investment in scientific research in the south today is estimated at hundreds of millions of dollars—plus "X."

To the scientists, "X" stands for atomic research at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

More than 200 major industrial, state or federal research establishments have mushroomed throughout the south to investigate such varied matteres as crop production and supersonic flight.

While their activity has sprung to big business proportions since World War II, with costs totaling millions of dollars each year, the federal atomic research center at Oak Ridge is still head and shoulders above them all.

Influence Felt

Originally part of the government's $2,000,000,000 outlay to make the atomic bomb, its cost today is not publicly known. But to scientists Oak Ridge is more than a military project or an "X" in the financial column.

It's influence is being felt in many fields into which atomic research has branched. Radioactive isotopes from Oak Ridge now are being used for southern cancer research and soil productivity experiments.

The Journal of Southeastern Research reports that the south now has 11 other federal research projects. Basic designs for the first man-carrying supersonic plane were developed at Langley Field, Va., in the laboratory of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

This laboratory costs $38,000,000. Its current operating budget is $16,000,000.

Other Large Projects

Cost of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's southern regional laboratory at New Orleans was listed at $1,650,000; its 1949 budget, $1,496,000. There new uses are tested for cotton, peanuts and other southern farm products.

At Vicksburg, Miss., the U. S. Engineer Corps is exploring flood control and other hydraulic problems in a waterways experiment station which cost $6,883,000 to build and costs $4,000,000 a year to run.

Other large federal projects in the south range in their interests from hurricanes to underwater sound. These projects are supplemented, the journal said, by 32 state or university experiment stations and 227 industrial laboratories in 12 southern states.

Levelland To Seek New Hotel Funds

LEVELLAND, April 21 (Special)—Intensive efforts toward financing a new hotel here will begin Monday, Harry H. Mann and John Potts, leaders of the New Hotel campaign, announced.

A "Kick-Off" dinner at the Methodist church will mark the opening drive, and will be followed each day, until May 3, by a luncheon meeting at which progress will be reported.

New hotel campaign headquarters announced that a large scoreboard would be erected on the Courthouse square to post the public on progress of the drive.

YOUTH IS DROWNED

Church Trials Vote Expected

LAKE SUCCESS, April 21 (AP)—The United Nations may reach a decision late today on the question of Communist government prosecutions of church leaders in Hungary and Bulgaria.

The assembly's 58-nation special committee is expected to adopt a Bolivian resolution urging that disputes over the trials of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and Protestant clergymen in Bulgaria be settled through the peace treaties with those countries.

Soviet May Filibuster

This proposal would keep the cases before the U.N. until the next regular assembly meeting in September. It would leave a way open for U.N. action then if nothing comes of an attempted settlement through the treaty machinery.

Brig. Gen. Carlos Po Romulo of the Philippines, chairman of the special committee, said he expected a vote this afternoon. Some delegates felt, however, that the Soviet bloc might delay a vote with filibuster tactics.

Australia, co-mover with Bolivia in having the church trials put on the assembly agenda, has demanded that the U.N. send a special investigating committee to Europe to study the question. Cuba proposed a similar resolution, which the United States has opposed. Britain, Canada and Belgium, among others, also favor the Bolivian plan.

Red Stand Slated

Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain assailed the Communist trials yesterday as a new phase of Marxist opposition to freedom of religion and thought.

The Russian bloc insists Cardinal Mindszenty was not tried for his religious activities and that his case and those of the Protestant pastors in Bulgaria are internal matters outside the U.N.'s jurisdiction.

The assembly's political committee resumed debate on how to dispose of Italy's pre-war African colonies.

As the political committee neared the opening of debate on the question of Franco Spain, it was learned the United States would not support or oppose any move to lift the U.N. ban on having top-rank diplomats in Madrid.

Pennsylvania Hamlet Building Complete Recreation Setup Without Federal Aid

CHESTER, Pa., April 21. (U.P.)—A hamlet in southeastern Pennsylvania is setting an example for self-help at a time when most communities are looking to state and federal governments for aid.

West Grove, Pa., has a total population of about 1,500. But the skills of every member of the community are being combined to build a recreation project which many towns 20 times the village's size would refuse to tackle.

The men, women and children of West Grove are giving prodigally of their most valuable asset, their time, to convert a swampy area into a sparkling recreation park right in the middle of the village.

Well Equipped

When it is complete the park will hold separate baseball and softball diamonds, a football and soccer field, playground for small children, a large pond for sledding and skating and areas for horseshoe pitching, quoits, badminton, croquet and tennis.

Dr. Agnew R. Ewing, a young physician who was born and grew up in West Grove, conceived the idea while he was in the Army. Five years later Agnew is watching it take the almost identical shape he outlined.

There was no drive for funds, no contracts. Each person gave what he could best afford of his services or those he could command.

Land Donated

The land on which the park is springing up was donated by its owners, Horace Beitler and Domenico Torello. The steam shovel doing the clearing and grading and the trucks carting off the rock and refuse are supplied by community business men. The labor comes from the other people of the town, a community building itself into something better on a shoestring.

Amateur statisticians estimate the removal of 35,000 cubic yards of earth would have cost about $21,000 at prevailing rates. Trucks would rent at $3 an hour and the labor would be about $1.50 an hour. The whole project would cost about $100,000.

When it is ready, West Grove will have a park really to be proud of. And best of all, there'll be no debt for the town to pay off.

Maynard Hog-Ties Big Suit For $200

LOS ANGELES, April 21 (AP)—Cowboy actor Ken Maynard hog-tied a $75,000 battery suit for $200.

Rodeo At Floydada Set For Two Days

Man At Texas Air Base To Be Charged In Bachelor Slayings

DOVER, Del., April 21. (AP)—State police today made plans to bring a third son of Mrs. Inez Brennan back from his Texas Air Force base for arraignment in Delaware's "lonely hearts" slayings.

State Police Col. Herbert E. Barnes said George Brennan, 19, arrested yesterday at the Lackland Air Force base near San Antonio, would be charged with being an accessory after hte fact in the slaying of one of two elderly men.

Mrs. Brennan, 44 - year - old twice-married brunette, and another son, Robert, 15, have been charged with murder in the slaying of Wade N. Woolridge, 70, Bedford, Va. Another son, Raymond, 23, has been charged with being an accessory.

Shot On Mother's Order

Barnes said New Hampshire police will file charges in the slaying of the second victim, Hugo Schultz, 66, Epson, N. H. The state police official previously announced Mrs. Brennan, Robert and Raymond signed statements telling how Robert shot Woolridge at his mother's order and Mrs. Brennan shot Schultz.

She had met both men, Barnes said, through "lonely hearts correspondence" and plotted their deaths with robbery as the motive.

At San Antonio, Assistant District Attorney C. M. Biery said George Brennan told him in an oral statement that he joined the Air Force "to get away from all the tension around the house."

Biery quoted young Brennan as saying he was away from the family farm until 9 p. m. the day Woolridge was shot and that when he returned home his mother told him he would have to get up early the next morning to help bury Woolridge's body.

Ranger Awaits Warrant

In connection with Schultz's death, George said his mother wrote him to come to New Hampshire and "we took the body back to Dover with us and buried it in the yard near the other one," Biery said.

Texas Ranger Zeno Smith said last night he was awaiting the arrival of a warrant for George Brennan. Young Brennan, the ranger said has agreed to waive extradition. He has been serving at Lackland Air Force base since Feb. 11 as a basic recruit.

Meanwhile, Delaware authorities continued their search of the Brennan farm near Dover. In their statements, Mrs. Brennan, Robert and Raymond were quoted by Barnes as saying the bodies of Wooldridge and Schultz were buried in a pigpen, lated dug up, burned and the remains scattered on a city dump.

State police found "a bushel basket of lonely hearts letters" on the Brennan farm and have been attempting to trace the men who wrote these to Mrs. Brennan.

Alabama Plans Negro Education Expansion

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 21 (AP)—Alabama put forward a multi-million dollar program today to meet the urgent demand to give negro students the same college opportunities as those provided for white persons.

The program, devised by a special committee on negro education, calls for a separate negro state university and a law school. The committee also asks for an immediate yearly increase of $835,000 in appropriations to negro colleges and another $4,500,000 for building purposes.

The committee was appointed three months ago by Gov. James E. Folsom. Committee members said the program is designed to meet both the moral and the legal obligations of the state.

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that states must give equal educational facilities to white and negro students.

Alabama previously had depended on the regional education program of the Southern Governors conference. Under this program, southern states jointly contribute to schools where negroes can take courses not offered them in those states.

Committee members said they intend for Alabama to continue to use the regional program, especially for medicine and dentistry. No action was taken to provide these courses within the state.

Blood Plasma Sent To Aid Odessa Girl

In response to an appeal for blood plasma for a daughter of a veteran at Odessa, 12 units of Red Cross blood plasma which had been given to Lubbock hospitals at close of the war were sent by bus to Odessa Wednesday.

Blood plasma distributed at close of the war will expire in July of this year. Some hospitals already have used the supply issued to them. A physician recommended that 8-year-old Jackie Mae Gross of Odessa receive blood plasma within six days and when plasma could not be located in that area an appeal was sent to Lubbock. The girl, ill with a kidney ailment, is the daughter of Garland Gross.

The plasma was issued through state health officers to members of the American Hospital association. The plasma sent to Odessa has a commercial value of $420.

Maryland Observes 300th Year Of Famed 'Act Of Toleration'

ST. MARY'S CITY, Md., April 21 (AP)—A world beset by warring beliefs was reminded today by the free state of Maryland that religious toleration was written into law here 300 years ago.

Representatives of various faiths, civic and political leaders gathered in this old community to commerate the Act of Toleration, passed April 21, 1649.

Schools and churches all across the state joined in remembering the work of a group of lawmakers who were among the world's leaders in lending force to the view that different religious convictions may exist amicably side by side.

The speakers, headed by Governor William Preston Lane, Jr., and former U. S. Senator George L. Radcliffe, hailed the act as a triumph in the long battle for freedom of conscience.

Battle Not Over

Some were quick to point out that the battle is not everywhere won. This was underscored by the presence of State department representatives, with its Voice of America planning to beam abroad an account of the ceremonies.

The main observance this morning was before the yellowed parchment original of the act in St. Mary's seminary, a stone's throw from the ancient state house grounds.

St. Mary's, Maryland's first capital, was the spot from which Leonard Calvert—first governor of the province—wrote to his brother, Lord Baltimore, in 1634:

"We have seated ourselves, within half a mile of the (Potomac) river, within a palisade 120 yards square. We have mounted one piece of ordnance and placed six murderers (small cannon), in parts most convenient, a fortification sufficient to defeat any such weak enemies as we have reason to expect."

New Fortification

Fifteen years later, the settlers were to build a different kind of fortification, one destined to endure long after the palisades with its six "murderers" had crumbled.

On April 2, 1649, the freemen of the province began their session. They considered legislation dealing with land purchases from Indians and to provide that "whosoever shall steale any marked swyne, shall pay double the value to the true owner thereof."

But they also passed a lengthy "act concerning religion" which led off with harsh penalties for blasphemy and then decreed:

"No person or persons whatsoever in this province . . . shall from henceforth be in any way troubled, molested, or discountenanced for his religion, nor in the free exercise thereof."

The toleration put into law wasn't universal; for one thing, it mentions only Christians. But historians recognize it as a significant start which, many years later, found fuller expression in the religious freedom amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Princess Elizabeth Observes Birthday

LONDON, April 21. (AP)—Princess Elizabeth is 23 today.

The heiress presumptive to the British throne celebrates by lunching at Buckingham palace with the prime ministers of the British dominion she may one day rule. They are in London for a commonwealth conference.

The princess is spending the afternoon with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, answering letters of congratulation. Tonight there is a royal birthday party.

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP)—Alton C. Kennedy of Beaumont, Texas, is a free man today after serving three years in a Soviet prison for "hooliganism."

Kennedy was arrested while his vessel, on which he was a second engineer, was docked in Odessa. He was released yesterday.

Indian Portrayals In Films Protested

HOLLYWOOD, April 21. (AP)—The villainous movie redskin may follow his cigar store counterpart out of the American scene.

Three Oklahoma legislators who are Indians charged that the red men too often are portrayed in movies as "low, mean and treacherous."

But Hollywood came back yesterday with these replies: John Ford's "Fort Apache" told the Indian's side sympathetically. The film "Tulsa," premiered under the noses of the complaining lawmakers, portrays an Indian as a rancher wearing business clothes and speaking excellent English.

Joseph Kane, producer of many horse operas, said:

"Undoubtedly Indians have been represented in many pictures as foolish or villainous. But the trend now seems to be toward showing them realistically. They were often rough characters in the old days. So were the settlers. They shouldn't be treated as heavies without showing why."

Reds Claim Another Scientific "First"

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP)—Russian inventors today claimed credit for another in a long series of scientific "firsts."

The paper claimed:

Prof. P. Taber set up a sound movie system in Moscow in 1926 when there were none none any place else in the world.

A. Stolitov invented the first photographic element "which is presently the basis of sound movies."

"To Russian scientists,' said the paper, "from the very beginning belongs the leading role in the invention of the photographic method of recording and giving off sound."

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wildwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Barcentrate. I had dieted for weeks without your product and needed so badly to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Barcentrate and my worry was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 135 pounds.

"I eat most anything I want and hold my same weight."

OUR bustling New Mexico neighbor, Hobbs, now has its best foot forward from the standpoint of air travelers.

Where one of the nation's most inadequate and unloveliest airport shacks used to be, Hobbs now has a jimdandy passenger station and administration building in full keeping with its air traffic.

Happily, Lubbock will soon be in the position Hobbs is in today. By year's end, our new airport building should be completed and in full operation. By the time all its furnishings are in, the new airport administration building here will cost between $400,000 and $450,000, but it will be worth it.

Meanwhile, occasional sweeping out of what we've got would make staying around the Lubbock airport less of a tribulation.

A local Sunday school teacher, seeking to arouse interest in church services among the little girls of her class, addressed them thusly:

"Now girls, I want each of you to take pencil and paper and write down for me the name of your favorite hymn."

All the little girls except one quickly jotted something on their papers and handed them to the teacher.

Turning to the one little girl, the teacher said: "Come, Mary, and let me have your choice, too. I know you must have one favorite hymn."

Little Mary painfully wrote something on her paper and, cheeks flaming, handed it to the teacher, who read these words:

"Jimmie Smith."

CROSBY county, Lubbock's immediate neighbor to the East, will vote on light wines and beer again come May 7.

Lubbockites hoping that they'll only have to drive a little over 30 miles for legal beer this Summer, instead of 100 miles, needn't count their chickens, though, before the votes are counted. Our information from Crosby county is that beer will not be legalized there on May 7.

However, two well posted Crosby county men over here last week say they expect the vote to be close. They are Walker Watkins, and Ernest Joiner, both of Ralls.

Both Messrs. Watkins and Joiner say that if they were betting, they'd bet beer would fail by a slight margin. But both also say that they might be wrong; that the county might vote wet.

It's always a good bet that any county in this area will vote "dry," no matter how "wet" most of its people are, or no matter how fed up they may be with bootlegging and the other evils attendant upon dry laws.

The reason is that most people are reluctant to make their county — and the towns in them — the Mecca for all their neighbors seeking legal beer to drink.

The history of the relatively few wet spots there have been in this area since 1933 is that hordes from the legally dry counties descend upon them to such an extent as to be extremely objectionable. Honky-tonks have become such problems that wets join with drys in voting them out at the first opportunity.

THE "open meeting" on the new courthouse question, held Tuesday night, was a very healthy thing, indeed.

The exact location of the courthouse; the possibility of helping traffic conditions by closing up the driveways to the East and West of the present courthouse, and other related problems were thoroughly discussed and everybody had his say if he wanted to.

About 60 people filled up the courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse and, as all will recall, the night was rainy. Probably 100 or more persons would have been there if weather conditions had been right.

A thousand should have been there to hear for themselves the discussions of the problems by county officials and others.

Members of the County Commissioners court showed their good faith by being on hand 100 per cent.

Speaking for all members of the commission, County Judge Walter Davies repeatedly urged those in the meeting to get up and speak their piece. They did.

The get-together was very much in the form of the old New England town meeting upon which the nation's democracy was builded.

That sort of thing is good for any community and the Commissioners court deserves full credit for giving the people a chance to speak.

JUST WHAT the upshot of the whole business will be, no one yet knows. But the chances are the results will be shown by the saving of a sizeable strip of the Courthouse Square park which, without the meeting, likely would have been sacrificed to convenient automobile parking space for people who work in the courthouse.

Feeling at the meeting doubtless mirrored overwhelming opinion in that regard.

Those at the meeting were well nigh unanimous in feeling that people who work in the courthouse have no more right to free, private and convenient parking space than people who work elsewhere downtown; that space in the Courthouse Square park area is much more to be desired than private auto parking for a few people working for the county.

Agreement was fairly general that there should be auto parking space for the sheriff's department and, perhaps, a few other officials whose work causes them to come and go quickly, and/or frequently; that parking space should be made available for jurors.

But suggestions that district judges and all other county officials—as well as the people who work in departments — have plushy parking arrangements left everybody cold. The idea was particularly unpopular because such space would be subtracted from the open area otherwise used for trees and shrubs.

If we were an elected official hoping for re-election, we'd do everything we could to avoid the maledictions which are bound to follow any fancy parking arrangement that common, ordinary citizens don't have.

People are touchy about parking. They might up and vote against a guy for no other reason than he used his official position to fix himself a parking space — and they might be right in so voting.

BUT, ANYWAY, the meeting was worthwhile. There should be others like it whenever any major problem besets either city, county, or school district.

A great many of our people are interested in public affairs, the hopes and the tribulations of their officials and often someone outside an official board or commission might have a good idea which otherwise would be overlooked.

Congratulations to the County Commissioners court for giving rebirth to the town meeting vehicle.

Following it when necessary will bind our citizenship together, make us stronger, give us a better place in which to live.

BY DREW PEARSON: STATE DEPARTMENT TRYING TO STOP FRENCH INDO-CHINA WAR

Texas Solon Battles American Legion Lobbyist

WASHINGTON.—It won't be announced officially, but the State department has taken a secret and highly significant step to try to stop the three-year-old civil war in French Indo-China.

Indo-China is a long way from the U. S. A., but in these days of global cold war, what happens there can influence the spread of Communism in the Philippines, the Malays and India.

PEARSON

Therefore, Ambassador Caffery, acting on careful instruction from Secretary of State Acheson, has told the French foreign office that the United States considers it absolutely necessary to stop this fighting in order to keep it from playing into the hands of the Communists.

Caffery said he was authorized to pledge the full support of the United States to French plans for creating an anti-Communist government in Indo-China headed by Bao Dai, the former emperor. The United States might even be willing to consider economic help to such a government if it kept out all Communists.

Note—Aonther reason why we are anxious to end this revolution is because we want the French to bring their army back from Indo-China to France to guard against a surprise attack from Russia. The French have between 100,000 and 200,000 troops in Indo-China and have sometimes been suffering 1,000 casualties a week.

No Pyramids For Bradley

Contrary to press reports, General Omar Bradley, chief of staff, has never been a member of a pyramid club. And for a very good reason.

"At West Point," says Bradley, "I taught mathematical probabilities. And even if I'd ever been invited to join a pyramid club, I wouldn't have done so, because the chances of a pay-off are too slim."

YOUNG Representative Olin Teague of Texas, decorated 11 times for bravery in the last war, took on a fresh battle recently with the No. 1 American Legion lobbyist.

Teague made the Legion's tough and skillful John Thomas Taylor eat his own words during his testimony in favor of the Rankin pension bill.

Taylor based his plea largely on "precendents" for pensions voted by earlier congresses.

"Just a minute," broke in Teague. "While we're on the subject of precedents, let me read from the witness's testimony on this same question when the House ways and means committee was holding hearings in 1930 on amendments to the veterans' adjusted compensation act of 1924."

Teague proceeded to quote a colloquy between Jack Garner of Texas, later vice president, and Taylor, then as now the Legion's legislative vice president, and Taylor, then as now the Legion's legislative representative. Taylor admitted at that time that the 1924 bonus bill as amended would be a quitclaim against future pensions for World War I vets.

When Teague finished reading from the record, Legion lobbyist Taylor looked like a Washington monument had fallen on him.

"I just wanted to get that in the record for the benefit of colleagues who have asked me about it," commented Texas' Teague. "It doesn't mean I'm against caring for war vets who are in need."

Capital News Capsules

To stop deflation—a group of western senators headed by Jim Murray of Montana are working up a big anti-deflation program, including provisions for a large federal lending drive to get new capital at work on the expansion of industrial capacity. . . . One of the most important points of the new Murray legislation will be authority for industry to write off all big new capital expenditures in five years or less. In other words—accelerated depreciation.

Lobbyist dinner—the foundry industry threw a party for members of Congress the other night and sent out invitations in the name of Senator Capehart of Indiana, the juke-box king. But, of the many invited, only a handful showed up. . . A reporter telephoned the private dining room, but was told curtly they didn't want any publicity. He went up to the room anyway and spotted Senator Myers of Pennsylvania, Democrat; Congressman Engel of Michigan, Republican; and Congressman Patterson of Connecticut, Republican. Less than 20 people were in the room, and 15 of these were supposed to be foundry company executives. Later Senator Capehart admitted sending out the invitations—at the request, he said, of Richard Wagner of Indianapolis, president of the Electric Casting company.

Congress may growl—Secretary of State Acheson is in for new trouble with Congress, especially with the appropriations committees, on the Atlantic pact. . . The State department has decided not to give Congress too much detailed information on Europe's military needs for fear of a leak to the Soviet Union. Despite statements to the contrary, Acheson already has all the military information from European powers, but wants a blank check from Congress—for security reasons.

Exit from Austria — The western allies will steal a march on the Russians by proposing the withdrawal of virtually all occupation forces from Austria. British, French and American diplomats in London have agreed to suggest that their troops — and the Russians—be evacuated from Austria except for a token army in Vienna. The plan was decided upon because the Austrian government convinced the allies there is no chance of a Communist coup overturning the present pro-western regime. The plan will be made publicly to the Russians as soon as the present conference on an Austrian treaty ends in failure — as seems certain shortly.

Nazi Parade Report Claimed Evidence Of Clay's Failure

NOTES of a New Yorker—The Broadway Lights: "The Big Knife" (with only one good notice) played to over $20,000 a week for 6 straight weeks. . . . Something you haven't seen in a long time: "The Biggest Thief in Town" was slaughtered by the critics. It used a queue from the Phila. Inquirer in the New York papers. . . Jane Pickens is slated for the lead in the musicalized "Little Foxes" . . . Oops! So soddy: Thomas Mitchell isn't the only Academy Award winner playing on Broadway. . Natalie Tock, one of the aerialists in The Big Show, is a graduate of Auschwitz Concentration Camp. . "S. Pacific" has 17 girls just opening mail requesting tickets. . . Elia Kazan, the hottest director in town, was rated "least likely to succeed" when he was with the original Group Theatre 15 years ago.

Between the Acts: The drama critic for a Philadelphia papyrus dropped in at Ezra Stone's Buck's County farm, while the actor-director was digging a drainage ditch. . . . After exchanging greetings the critic watched Stone work. . . Then he observed: "That ditch is going to be crooked!" . . . "Listen," said Stone, "you can pan my plays but lay off my ditches!"

THE FIRST Nights: The season's bib and tucker event was the opening of "South Pacific." As expected, the critical fife-and-drum corps paraded across the drama pages tootling salutes. All concerned were serenaded, but the most thunderous reception was saved for the superb score by Rodgers and Hammerstein plus Mary Martin. Premiere people predicted "Pacific" "will run forever — plus two weeks." . . . Another premiere was not so merry. A drama based on Dickens' life, "The Ivy Green," was curtly dismissed by aislemen who agreed it needed Dickens' pen to inject life into it. However, Brooks Atkinson credited it with "some excellent characterizations" . . . The circus came to town, went to town—and once again became the toast of the town.

The Press Box: Ann O'Hare McCormick in her essay for the Times reported that W. Churchill originated the phrase, "Iron Curtain," in his Fulton, Mo., speech 3 years ago. We always thought Dr. Goebbels originated it (in a 1935 speech) when he shook his voice at the "Eiserner Vorhang" (Iron Curtain). . . Mr. C's son, Randolph, got a letter of protest printed in that newspaper. It had reported his arrest for "doing 90 miles per hour." Randolph said it was "only 70"—getting the fact into print a second time in case you missed it—so you could cuss him for endangering your children's life and limb. . . The local papyrus welcomed back Gromyko affably enough, forgetting so soon that when he left the last time he said: "I am glad to go!" Gladder, we suspect, to be back, eh, Andrei? . . . We hear when Ernest Bevin read about banker Crowe throwing all those bonds into the ocean Bevin started looking for a diving suit.

THE INTELLIGENTSIA: Albert Einstein told an interviewer: "I can make more money writing books that people will not read than by writing ones they will read." . . . Ed Wheelen has 21 of his clown paintings hanging in the Press Box Cafe on E. 45th. . . Betty Smith's frank interview with Robert Van Gelder (in the April Vogue) is guaranteed to set the litree tongues wagging. . . Life mag, we hear, is readying a spread and blast at female impersonators in a Summer edition. . . . Gene Fowler's "Beau James" (about Jimmy Walker) may become a musical show, with Alan Jay Lerner scoring. . . Florence Osborne's book, "How's Your Bridge Game?" is in its 2nd printing, already. It'll be published in England by Faber & Faber. . . From "Days with Bernard Shaw:" "Did you know that Wells was once a drama critic? He was appointed because he had never been in a theatre."

The International Front: Several dailies were caught picking their own pockets. They editorialed angrily against the Atlantic Pact being too harsh on Russia—and then pointed a wicked finger at the Gov't for coddling Reds at home. Are there special days when we're supposed to be anti-Communist? . . . The hypocrisy of diplomacy was strikingly depicted by the photo of Acheson shaking hands and swapping smiles with Gromyko. . . A boxer's handshake, no doubt. . . The N.Y. Times report about Nazis openly parading in Germany's streets is the most shocking evidence of Gen. Clay's failure. Gen. Clay has lost almost everything Gen. Eisenhower won.

QUOTATION Marksmanship: Vincent Lopez: I hear things are so tough out there they're calling it Loss Angeles. . . Henny Youngman: An actor on a hasbinge. . . Victor Hugo: Popularity? It is glory's small change. . . Lynn Gilmore: A mother's mind, equipped with hundreds of little erasers, for her son's faults. . . . John S. Brockmeier: The type of woman who walks into a room voice first. . . L. Reed: A child is a sign that God is not discouraged with mankind.

It Ain't The Cost, It's The Upkeep

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"KEEPING UP with the Joneses" is a rat race many couples slide into without quite knowing what they are doing.

Sometimes they don't even know they're in the never-ending race. All they know is that they always want more than they have, and nothing they get satisfies them for long.

But any couple can stay out of the race if they want to, by sticking by a few simple but sound rules.

MILLETT

One. Don't choose your friends from a group that is financially above you. Trying to "keep up" with people in a higher income bracket is an unnecessary strain no married couple has to suffer.

Two. Don't let others set your pace for you or decide what things you must have in order to be happy. A great many women make themselves miserable and keep their husbands' noses to the grindstone for years simply because they have to have what somebody else wants.

Three. Enjoy life as it is and the things you have, instead of thinking constantly of what you want to have and what you want to do.

Four. Build for permanence as you go along. "This will do until we can get something better" is a philosophy that doesn't make for contentment.

BE YOURSELF, FOREMOST

Five. Don't be afraid to be yourself, to like what you like and to put first the things that are really important to you. Some women can't make a move without finding out if all their friends approve of the step they are about to take.

Six. Don't envy other people because of what they have and what they are able to do. Instead put your mind to figuring out what you can have and what you can do, and enjoy the things that are possible to you.

Seven. If you aren't happy, don't kid yourself that it is because you don't have this or don't have that. Some women are always one item behind what it would take to make them happy.

Eight. Realize that a man has enough competition in his life just in making his way in the business world. Don't make him compete, socially, too.

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

FRANK McKENZIE, now a successful attorney in Missouri, commanded a regiment in World War II that was moved up to a position not three hundred yards from the Nazi lines. "We are in a very exposed spot here," McKenzie warned his men. "The pass-word for tonight is "Bill Dickey." If anybody comes near a sentry and can't give that pass-word instantly, shoot to kill."

That evening McKenzie went prowling to see if his sentries were on the job. One of his bravest, but not brighest, sentries heard him coming, and aimed a gun at his head. "Halt, you blank blank blank," whispered the sentry hoarsely, "and say 'Bill Dickey'."

A GENTLEMAN from Norfolk journeyed up to Amherst to pay a surprise visit to his son. Poking his head cautiously into his son's fraternity house, he asked, "Does John Calhoun live here?" "Yes," said a resigned voice from within. "Just lay him on the couch."

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Guided Missiles, New Ships May Change Warfare Tactics

NEW YORK, April 21.—I don't want to make any expert noises, but I occasionally talk to military people, and some of the big ones don't think you can deliver a four-week victory with atom bomb and big bomber alone. Somewhere in the next mess you are apt to see a cursing doughfoot with a rifle and a Navy with some obsolete old boats.

RUARK

The Air Force, aided by Rep. Clarence Cannon, chairman of the House Appropriations committee, seems to feel that most of the money should be sunk in a big bomber program and that dough for the Army and Navy are secondary. They figure that Russia can be ground to powder with the atom in a trice, and you won't need anything else.

Quite apart from whether we can deliver the big blossom to our potential enemies without vast fighter support, there is the question of just how far you can go with the employment of the bomb itself. There is not much aboard to keep the Russians from overunning Europe at will.

Target Difficulty Seen

The opponents of wholehearted dependence on the bomb wonder, idly, if we will bomb a Russian-occupied Paris, a Russian-occupied London, A Russian-occupied Rome? The occupation of Europe's chief cities being a normal tactic, can our consciences be adjusted to atom-blast our friends indiscriminately in order to get at our enemies?

There is a vast expanse of rock in the Ural mountains, to which a great deal of Russian industry has allegedly been moved. Atompower or no, can you topple an entire mountain range on the off-chance of smacking a war plant buried in its base? Can you transport that many bombs, that often?

Saying that the general devastation of Russia and portions of the occupied continent is feasible, what happens afterward? Prior warfare has shown that to the victor belongs the headaches, such as the maintenance of the conquered enemy. Saddling any nation with the rehabilitation of an atom-ravished hemisphere would wreck the winner economically—yet total ravishment is the aim if the one-weapon boys get their way.

THESE are all arguments, you understand, presented by the opponents of the one-weapon school. It is natural that they are prejudiced, but in their prejudism is considerably more sound knowledge of military techniques than can be exhibited by most congressmen.

There has, for instance, been little talk of the guided missile in all the projectile is still over the horizon — but near. When it achieves perfection, it will render the airplane as obsolete as the sailing frigate.

In the whole squabble about airpower versus the other arms, the point is seldom made that the aircraft is nothing but an errand boy, a vehicle. The airplane roughly approximates the spear. The spear became important when the first savage tied a knife to a stick and found out he could kill an enemy at a greater distance than with the knife in his hand. The stick became the vehicle—as the bow became the vehicle for the arrow.

New Weapon Seen

Perfection of the guided missile removes the necessity of airplanes as carriers of the weapon, which is the bomb. We then return to simple artillery—which is taking the gun-mount as close as possible to the enemy, and cutting loose.

I know one brilliant airman who thinks the battleship—submersible battleship with guided missile launching mounts — is the vehicles of future warfare. On close inspection this not ridiculous, because closeness to target increases effectiveness. There again, you would be right back in a fresh concept of war.

The only point I want to make is that I hate to see any one faction being so stuffily positive that any one service arm is the total answer to total war. It ain't. The techniques change too fast.

Journal Jabs

"WHEN you get up, open the window wide, throw out your chest and take 20 deep breaths," advises a health cultist. No, thanks; our chest bruises easily.

Maybe you'd like to worry about this a spell: The Chinese invented gunpowder, and they have been shot in the pants more than any other people. And you know who invented the atomic bomb.

"To win friends, be a patient listener," advises Dale Carnegie. That may be a good way to win friends, but it's a darned poor way to learn anything.

We have always wanted to vote for the man of our choice, but we have almost given up hope that he'll ever become a candidate.

Today's Journal Editorial

PREPARING FOR THE CLEANUP

Lubbock peculiarly is in position to appreciate that the success of any cleanup, paintup, fixup campaign, depends in large degree upon the thoroughness of the advance preparations.

In years gone by, Lubbock won 11 straight annual trophies marking it as the cleanest city in Texas. It learned a great deal about cleanup campaigns during the process of winning those trophies. Those closely identified with the activities were pretty well in agreement that the advance preparations were 90 per cent of the battle.

It is encouraging, therefore, that organization for the 1949 campaign, scheduled for April 30 through May 14, was started more than a month ago. It sets an example for every organization of every kind interested in making this a cleaner—and healthier—city.

Those not already enrolled for an active part in the campaign should attend to the matter at once by calling the Chamber of Commerce, telephone 4666. They can be sure their help will be welcomed, that they are needed and that there is a place for them in making the drive one of the most successful ever conducted in this city.

Congressman-War Hero Dies In Albuquerque Jet Plane Crash

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 21 (AP) — A crashing jet fighter plane carried Rep. Robert Lewis Coffey, jr., (D-Pa) to death here late yesterday.

Coffey, a 30-year-old wartime hero and first termer in Congress, had landed at Kirtland Air Force base to refuel. His ship rose only 25 feet, wavered and plunged into an arroyo as he took off on the final leg of a flight to March Field, Calif.

The Johnstown, Pa., flier was on a cross-country training flight, undertaken while the House is in recess. He held the rank of colonel in the Air Force reserve.

Friend Is Witness

A helpless witness to the crash was Lt. Col. William Ritchie, friend and companion of Coffey in European air combat during World War II.

Ritchie, taking off behind Coffey in another P-80, was compelled to circle overhead for an hour. This was to use up fuel in the wing tanks, necessary before he could land.

"The plane (Coffey's) just settled at the south end of the runway," Ritchie said in describing the crash. "I could see it strike a stream of sparks, like those from a grinding wheel. Then it bounced over into the ravine."

Col. Harold O. Gunn, Kirtland commandant, said the ship turned a series of cartwheels before it snapped a powerline pole. The engine was catapulted 100 yards beyond the main portion of the shattered fuselage.

Flier Wedged In Plane

The plane did not explode or burn. A crash crew found the body of the flier wedged inside. He was killed instantly. The accident happened about 4:40 p. m. (MST).

The congressman made a normal takeoff and his landing gear was already retracted, Gunn said.

Reconstructing the crash from eyewitness accounts, Gunn said the craft apparently lost part of its power—possibly the result of a mechanical failure.

Another wartime comrade of Coffey was a near witness to the crackup. He was Lt. Col. John Meyer, liaison officer between the Air Force and the House of Representatives.

The two had planned to depart together early yesterday from Andrews Field, outside Washington, D. C., but Meyer was delayed. He followed in a P-51 fighter. By coincidence, Meyer had just been cleared for a landing here when Coffey's ship crashed.

Coffey meanwhile had proceeded by way of Selfridge base, at Detroit and Salina, Kans., where Ritchie joined him. Ritchie, assigned to the 56th fighter group at Selfridge, is from Pine Bluff, Ark.

Contract To Light Field Is Awarded

MONROE, April 21 (Special)—The board of education of the New Deal Independent school district meeting here Wednesday night awarded a project for lighting the school's athletic field to T and J Electric Co., of Abernathy, with a low bid of $3,096.

Four other electric companies submitted bids ranging from $3,250 to $4,325. Time of completion of the lighting project is 45 days.

The funds for lighting the combination football-softball field on the school grounds were raised through donation. Donations also are being received for a water well to be drilled on the school property.

Two recently-elected board members were installed at the meeting. They were Bruce E. Gentry, sr., who was elected to the board for the first time; and M. J. Looney, who was re-elected.

Other board members are T. E. Snider, Flimm V. Dunn, B. B. Christie, F. H. Beaver and O. L. Brownlow. A. L. Faubion is superintendent of the school system.

Seven States Enter Friday Rabbit Show

"Bugs" Bunny won't be there, or Peter Rabbit, or that long-legged Texas rouge known as Jack, but the elite of rabbitdom will have things hopping Friday at the Fairgrounds.

Rabbits from seven states have already been entered in the rabbit show, jointly sponsored by West Texas-New Mexico Show circuit and the South Plains Rabbit and Cavy Breeders Assn., being held Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Over three hundred rabbits had been entered by Wednesday night, Guy Trow, president of the show, said. Entries are coming from Kansas, New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and from all parts of Texas.

The show is expected to draw large crowds of visitors in addition to those interested in the technical aspects of rabbit growing.

"There's a lot more to it," said V. N. Burleson, show superintendent, "than laying in a supply of carrots."

R. E. Callender, wild life specialist of Texas Extension service, will give two talks on rabbits, and there will be many exhibits concerned with the raising of rabbits and cavies.

Cavies, commonly called "guinea pigs," will have a part in the show.

Maggie The Pooch Likes To Dunk 'Em

SARITA, Texas, April 21. (U.P.) Maggie, part Chow dog and part questionable, owned by Francis French, dunks her own dog biscuits before gulping down a meal.

"Just discovered it by accident," French said, "when one day I told her to eat the biscuits dry, since I was out of milk.

"I watched her take her muzzle, dip it into her water pan and throw the water over the dog biscuit."

Britons Will Ask Why Their Ships In China War Area At This Time, Newspaper Claims

LONDON, April 21. (AP)—The liberal London newspaper News Chronicle said today Britons will ask why the British ships shelled by Communists on the Yangtze river yesterday were traveling on the river at this time.

An editorial in the newspaper in effect asked: "was this trip necessary?"

The paper said Britons "will want to know just how our ships came to get mixed up in a Communist offensive across the river —which is apparently what happended.

"Was it absolutely necessary for the Amethyst to make her voyage to Nanking at just this time?"

Glad Fire Returned

The conservative Daily Graphic said the vessels were in the Yangtze by right to protect British lives. It said it was glad British sailors returned the shore fire.

"The Asiatics should not get the idea that the British flag and all that it stands for can be safely insulted at will," the Graphic said. ". . . The guns of British ships have delivered a warning to Asia through its length and breadth."

The Communist Daily Worker asked why British forces were in China at all. It answered its own question—"to bring pressure on the corrupt servile Chinese government and to protect big business investments."

The Worker demanded that all "British military forces and naval craft be withdrawn from China now."

BULLDOG SETS MARK

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va., (U.P.) — An English bulldog gave birth to eight pups here, and they all lived, Lt. Col. Helmuth Ritter, owner of the dogs said the size of the litter was not unusual, but the fact they all lived was a rarity. The build of the breed, he explained, usually results in a high birth mortality rate.

Diabetics
CAN LEAD A NORMAL, HAPPY LIFE!

Today, the average diabetic can look forward to a normal, happy life. New insulins help control diabetes more accurately.

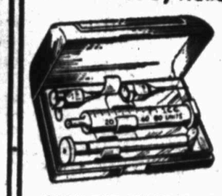

Early discovery is important. If you are over 40 and overweight or the disease runs in your family . . . have your doctor make an examination.

When your doctor prescribes, remember your Walgreen Pharmacist always has a complete stock of insulin, syringes and other diabetic needs on hand.

Next Week is NATIONAL PHARMACY WEEK dedicated to the Fight Against Cancer
