Collingsworth Bank Deposits at High Point For Opening of Year

Although Collingsworth county's three major crops, cotton, wheat and alfalfa, were far below average this year, the four banks had more money on deposit than at the close of any year in the county's banking history, more than seven and one-half million dollars, along with combined assets of more than eight million dollars.

The deposit figure for December 31, 1950, when the regular reports were filed by banks with the Federal Reserve Bank, State Banking Commissioner, and Comtroller of Currency, was $7,525,236.96, approximately $290,000 above the figure of $7,234,969 when the reports were made December 31, 1949. However, by January 10, 1950, deposits had risen $600,000 to the all time reported high of $7,849,679.

Combined assets for the first time are past the eight million dollar mark as a year opens, with the four banks reporting a total of $8,091,249.53. This is around a quarter of a million dollars over the figure a year ago of $7,756,691. It is more than a million dollars above the combined assets at the beginning of 1949, and around half a million more than the January 1, 1948 figure of $7,457,718, a figure which was the highest in banking history to that date, but which now drops to third place.

Deposits are not only $290,000 above the figure a year ago, but they are around $1,100,000 above the deposits two years ago, and approximately $550,000 more than the figure at the beginning of 1948.

Loans and discounts are up a little more than a million dollars from a year ago, now standing at $2,434,484.53, compared to $1,324,435. They are a little above the loan figure of $2,287,769 two years ago.

Undivided profits are $104,398.21, compared to $87,594 a year ago and $86,863 two years ago.

As a matter of comparison, the asset, deposit and loan figures for the four county banks for years extending consecutively through 1940, and spotted back to 1922, (Continued on Page Eight)

Rasco Speech Opened to Public Following C-C Annual Banquet

A first-hand account of war in Korea will be given Wellington people when David Rasco, staff member of the Amarillo Globe News, speaks at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday night, January 11.

More than 325 banquet tickets have been sold, making this by one third the largest Chamber of Commerce banquet ever held here. Ticket sales have closed for the banquet, but because of the interest of people throughout the county in hearing Mr. Rasco, the balcony of the community auditorium is being opened to the public, Jack Gibson, president of the Chamber of Commerce said Wednesday morning.

"People from all parts of the county have been asking for tickets since our banquet capacity was reached, and we feel that we should make this talk available to all who want to hear it," he said.

Those who attend and sit in the balcony are urged to come between 8:00 and 8:15 p.m., for there will be no admissions at the door after Mr. Rasco's talk begins.

"We are extending an invitation to the people of the surrounding towns to attend this section of the program, because we believe the interest throughout the lower Panhandle is great," Mr. Gibson said.

There will be no charge for sitting in the balcony.

The banquet will be held at the community building, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Entertainment for the banquet will be provided by the Squeaky Door Four, of Pampa, a quartet composed of Dude Balthorp, bass; E. O. Wedgeworth, baritone; Bunty Schultz, lead; and Mack Hiatt, tenor. This group is considered one of the most popular barber shop quartets in the high plains area.

Incoming president Jack Gibson will speak briefly on "Collingsworth County, a Community United," and Duard Scott, retiring president, will speak briefly.

The toastmaster will be Henry Sullivan, while the Rev. Howard Jones will give the invocation.

Mr. Rasco will describe his own experiences in Korea, describe the nature of the land and its people, and give considerable information that will help people of this area assess the Korean war.

There will be a question and answer period at the end of his talk, and those attending are included in the balcony.

Meeting Friday Night to Air Problems

Seek to interest Business Men in Farm Conditions in Deep Sand Area

A farmers community meeting will be held at the Salt Fork Church Friday, January 12, at 7:00 p.m., when business men and others interested in agriculture are invited to meet with the farmers of the Salt Fork, Lillie and Cross Roads communities to discuss farming conditions in that area. J. W. Thomas, county agent, has announced.

Woodrow Wilson is president of the farm community group and Mrs. Ben Ratliff is secretary.

In addition to the study and discussion of farming conditions, Mr. Thomas will show colored slides of various crop enterprises taken in that area.

Plans will also be made for the grass tour at the experiment station at Raydon, Oklahoma, where soil similar to that in the Salt Fork-Lillie-Cross Roads area, has been successfully planted to grasses.

"We want to take an inventory of our area, and see what the possibilities are of making it better," Mr. Thomas said.

This is one of a series of farm meetings for the people of the area. They will be continued as long as there is interest in them, Mr. Thomas reported.

BURGLARIZED DODSON BANK

Mr. Teutsch is standing by the 20 deposit boxes rented to customers, which were opened and the contents scattered over the vault floor. Just below the boxes is the time vault, which the burglars tried but failed to break open.

Only Money From Cash Drawers Taken

Burglars Force Way Into Three Business Houses Monday Night

Burglars entered three Wellington business houses Monday night, January 8, and in each place took only money in the cash registers. Firms entered were Steve Owens Station, L. E. Ward Motor Company, and Jay's Drive-In.

Sheriff Hubert Mauldin said that apparently nothing except money was taken in each case. The three losses were discovered shortly before 6:00 a.m. Tuesday.

Approximately $20 in silver was taken from Steve Owens station.

Entry was gained in knocking the lock off the front door, and the burglars did not, so far as could be determined, enter any other part of the large building which houses the Owens and Scott Grocery, Steve Owens wholesale and retail oil and gas business, and Steve Owens Creamery.

The burglary was discovered by Mr. Owens, when he opened the business.

An estimated $19.50 was taken from the L. E. Ward Motor Company, Mr. Mauldin said. The front door was forced open, and here again, only the cash register was tampered with. Mrs. Dick Cheatham, bookkeeper, was the first to come to work Tuesday morning and discovered the burglary.

The back door of Jay's Drive-In was forced open, and approximately $30 was taken from the cash register in the front section of the building. Most of this was in silver, but a few $1.00 bills were also taken, Mr. Mauldin said. Leonard Hoyt, one of the owners of the business, opened up and notified Sheriff Mauldin of the loss shortly before 6:00 a.m.

"We are confident the same person did all three jobs," Sheriff Mauldin said. "The doors were forced with an iron bar, and there are similar markings on each door."

Mrs. M. Moody Dies Thursday at Age of Eighty-Eight

Mrs. Martania Moody, 88, one of the county's oldest citizens, and a resident here 40 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Forbis, Thursday evening, January 4. Her health had been failing for about a year, however her death was unexpected at this time.

Mrs. Moody was before her marriage Martania Crabtree, the daughter of Isaac and Sarah Crabtree. She was born at Jamestown, Tennessee, the state where both her parents were born, on August 7, 1862. She grew up there, and was married to J. B. Moody about 70 years ago. Mr. Moody preceded her in death March 6, 1922.

The couple moved to Texas in 1884, settling near Bowie. Later they went to still a newer settled country, the Indian Territory, and

Keller Picked From Gridiron

FORMER SKYROCKET STAR WINS ALABAMA POLY SCHOLARSHIP

Billy Joe Keller, former Skyrocket and Cameron College grid star, has been given a full athletic scholarship by Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Alabama, and will leave this week end to enroll, his mother, Mrs. George Keller said Tuesday.

Keller has played for the past two seasons with the Cameron College football team, was offered the Alabama Tech scholarship after members of the athletic department of that school had seen him play.

The Alabama school has an enrollment of approximately 8,800, and is one of the leading colleges of the south, both from a scholastic and athletic standpoint.

Keller graduated from Wellington High School, after having been a first string player on the Wellington Skyrockets. He attended Southwestern State College at Weatherford, Oklahoma, one semester, then transferred to Cameron College, Lawton, where he has attended a year and a half.

He is flying from Lawton to Auburn to enroll.

A-Bomb No Excuse for Not Doing Our Best

One of heartening pieces of thinking of the new year came in a paid advertisement from Dallas merchant Stanley Marcue, when he decided that very human tendency to want to do nothing in the face of great troubles. He wrote:

A few days ago, I overheard a teenager remark, "Well, what's the use—we're all going to be blown up by the atom bomb." This pessimistic comment was in answer to a query as to why she wasn't making a greater effort in her school work. In the annals of the world's history similar remarks must have been made many times. Of course, the atom bomb is an invention of our day, and time, but relatively speaking, other ages have faced threats which must have seemed just as horrible to them as the bomb does to us.

The prospect of an invasion by Alexander and his army, or by the legions of Caesar, or by the Huns of Attila, undoubtedly struck terror into the hearts of the children and adults of those times. When gunpowder was invented there must have been prophecies that the world was going to be blown to smithereens in short order. There have been moments in our own lifetime when things looked pretty dark. It was nineteen years ago, 1932, when the banks closed and it seemed that we were headed for economic chaos and, not so long ago, we received the greatest jolt we had ever experienced when the Japs struck us at Pearl Harbor.

Now, I don't mean to suggest that any and all of these events weren't bad enough. They were. But, bad as they were, the world managed to survive. You may be thinking to yourself, "But the atom bomb is more destructive than any of these other things." That's right. It is capable of doing more damage than any device we yet have been able to think up. On the other hand, atomic energy can bring more blessings to the world than any other invention if the human race is just smart enough to use it constructively.

I can't blame my teenager friend for taking the threat seriously, but I think she is on the wrong track when she takes the attitude of "Well, what's the use." If the farmers were of that frame of mind, they would stop farming, and we would starve to death. If the manufacturers stopped distributing because they thought, "What's the use," we'd have an economic collapse which is just what the enemy would like. We must work together for an expanded economy, which means we must produce sufficiently to provide for our armament program, to provide for our international commitments of arms and goods, to provide for our own domestic civilian requirements.

We must each continue to do what we are doing better than we have ever done it before.

We must not use the A-bomb as an excuse for not doing our best. Our teenager must understand that a good education is more important today than at any time in world's history. We must all continue to build a better and greater and stronger United States of America in the firm belief that doom is not predestined. We must switch the phrase, "While there's life there's hope," to "While there's hope there's life."

Bible Comment FOR JANUARY 15

In Ephesus, Paul Made Friends And Foes

Last week we discussed Paul's visit in Corinth, where he stayed for a year and a half.

Paul's next journey was to Ephesus and there he spent two years and three months. As in Corinth, he ran into strong opposition when he spoke in the synagogue and after three months the friction was such that he withdrew with the Christian disciples.

Determined to continue his discussions of Christianity, he "disputed daily" in the school of one Tyrannus, where he met both Jews and Greeks and made many converts. Miracles of healing also spread Paul's fame: "So mightily grew the word of the Lord and prevailed."

Trouble arose, however, when local silversmiths, who had a profitable trade making silver shrines for the worship of the Goddess Diana, found their business falling off. They traced the reason to Paul and stirred up a mob of people against him. As a result Paul found it advisable to go to Macedonia.

It was this incident alone that made it necessary for Paul to journey on for he had found little need to defend himself against the sort of rebuke that confronted him in Corinth.

For an adequate impression of the church at Corinth we must turn to the Epistle to the Ephesians.

The epistle dovetails into the Epistle to the Corinthians because both flow from the inner experience of a man deeply moved by his own personal circumstances and the power of the Christ who inspired him.

Ted Isbell hurried to Mangum and returned Mr. and Mrs. Wright to their home in the Salt Fork community.

The Earnest Maxwell family have all been sick with the flu.

Little Cecil Hallmark is improving from his sick spell. The Sunday School gave Cecil a picture. They also gave Ira B. Morrow a lovely picture too. Mr. Morrow is able to be up part of the time. The Salt Fork Sunday School gives Bible pictures to sick folks of the community instead of flowers.

An observance of the holiday season was the Christmas program of the Wellington Order of the Eastern Star.

One of the features of the program at this time was the imitation of new members.

Refreshments of coffee and fruit cake were served to approximately 40 members.

Former Norwood Man in Korea

Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Fritts Sr. of Amarillo, formerly of Samnorwood, have received word from their son, Marvin Vernon Fritts Jr., BM 2/c stationed aboard the Destroyer USS Mason in Korean waters saying that he is well, and he asked his parents to not worry about him.

He wrote that he had two fingers hurt but that he will soon be OK.

His clothes, he said, included fur-lined pants, coat and over-shoes.

Fritts states he has been busy helping carry the bombs to aircraft carriers. His ship was to leave for the United States December 20, but at the time he wrote, December 24, she was still off the coast of Korea.

Fritts attended school at Samnorwood. He left August 25 for service.

His parents and wife, Jean, received word December 23, that he had also received his Christmas packages and was getting more mail.

TIED TO BE FIT—The Korean peninsula, a war theater that has seen the UN Army, with victory almost within its grasp, forced to fall back by the entry of Chinese Communists into the struggle, is merely a place of business for the Korean blacksmith above. While the world worries about what the Korean action may lead to, the unperturbed smithy carries on business as usual, shoeing a bullock, one of the main beasts of burden in the Orient.

Escapes Threat of Death

McLEAN — The world's gay colors have vanished from the ken of little Janie Cummings—but so also has the threat of a lingering, painful death.

Janie, who will be 3 years old April 1, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Cummings of McLean. Surgeons at St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo Monday removed her remaining eye in an effort to halt the progress of a retinal cancer. Hospital attendants said Janie is making a very good recovery from the operation.

The battle to arrest the disease and save Janie's sight began when she was about six months old. Noticing that her eyes did not react properly to light, Mr. and Mrs. Cummings took Janie to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. Physicians there advised the removal of both eyes.

Janie's parents then conferred with their family doctor at Wellington and took the girl to the John Hopkins Foundation at Baltimore, Md. By this time vision had faded from Janie's right eye. Experts referred the family to the Presbyterian Clinic at Columbia University, New York, where surgeons removed the eye and began to treat the other eye with radium and X-rays.

Janie remained at the clinic about three months. Her remaining eye reacted favorably to treatment and vision became almost normal. She was dismissed and returned here. At intervals of three months Mrs. Cummings made the long trip to New York with the little girl for periodic examinations.

Last June, physicians reported the disease had resumed its onset, and by Christmas Janie was ill but blind.

The parents agreed to the operation when specialists indicated that progress of the disease into the optic nerve would be fatal.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings believe that onset of blindness so early in Janie's life may permit her to overcome most of the handicaps and become a useful and happy adult. They say the little girl already has developed a keen sense of touch.

Janie's father is superintendent of McLean schools and her mother teaches in the high school here.

Janie is the granddaughter of Bill Cummings of Wellington. Her parents, who were reared here, formerly were with the Wellington school. Mr. Cummings' sister, Mrs. W. W. Neely of Wellington, was with them during the operation.

Dairymen Learn The Value of Artificial Breeding

COLLEGE STATION — Dairymen are reminded that artificial breeding offers them a wonderful opportunity to improve the quality of their cattle. Improvement in dairy quality is an important factor in increasing milk production, says R. E. Burleson, associate dairy husbandman for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service.

Among the 48 states, Texas ranks high in numbers of dairy cows — but very low on the basis of number of pounds of milk produced per cow. Burleson says that artificial breeding can be an invaluable tool for remedying this situation.

He lists several advantages of artificial breeding. First, service can be obtained from outstanding dairy sires at a relatively low cost. The fee per service from Texas artificial breeding associations is about $6, with two return services at no extra cost.

Artificial breeding allows widespread use of the outstanding dairy sires which are available. Dairymen are often unable to buy good dairy sires at any price, simply because they cannot find them. According to Burleson, as many as one hundred cows may be artificially bred from a single collection of semen.

Dairymen may avoid bringing diseases into their herds, which often occurs when they buy replacements. Artificial breeding also enables effective control of certain diseases transmitted by infected bulls.

Another important advantage which Burleson mentions is that artificial breeding eliminates the necessity of keeping a bull. It is expensive, risky, and time-consuming for a dairyman to keep a bull.

Other advantages of the practice which he lists are: it furnishes a complete record for artificial breeding association members; bulls can be proved at a younger age; and it permits the safe breeding of large bulls to young heifers.

However, Burleson points out that artificial breeding has its limitations. It is not a cure-all for breeding troubles. Bulls must be selected with caution, because great harm can result from the use of the wrong kind of bulls. A well trained breeding technician is essential to the success of an artificial breeding program.

Dairymen can get complete information on setting up and operating an artificial breeding association by contacting their local county agents. Recently revised Extension Leaflet No. 58 explains the advantages, limitations and operation of such a program.

Minor, who was a member of the reserve, was called to active duty in September and in approximately six weeks was shipped to Korea. He is now at Pusan.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

In the year ahead each person can best serve his country by doing the work that lies immediately ahead of him as efficiently as he possibly can.

Are you startled at the amount of your grocery bill each month? Well, so are a lot of other people. In the last issue of This Weeks Magazine Arthur Bartlett gives some hints on how to cut down on your bill and still eat just as well. It concerns the seasonal price of foods.

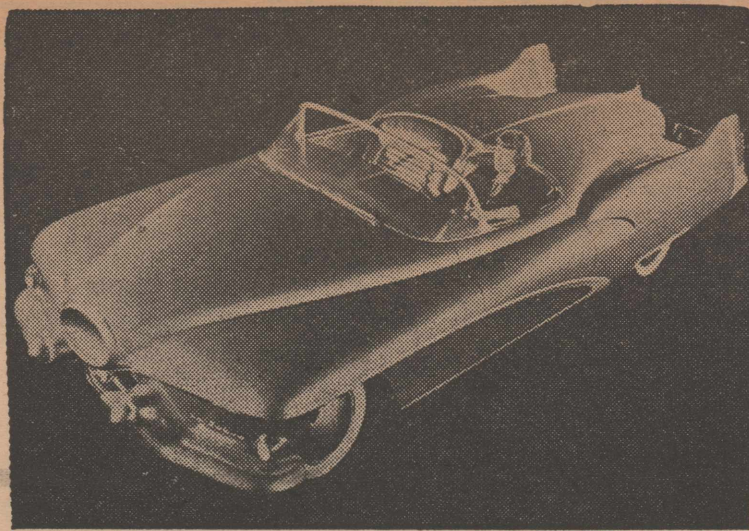

For instance this is the time to eat good beef. It will continue until about March 15. After that beef begins to be proportionally higher as related to other meats until October.

Here is his schedule on the best time to buy certain products:

January: Pork, pork products, Irish potatoes, winter peas, dry beans, syrup, molasses and citrus foods. February: Beef (fattened), oranges, grapefruit, dry beans, peas, celery. March: Eggs, dried fruits, oranges, grapefruits, beets. April: Pork, eggs, spinach, carrots, lettuce. May: Pork, milk, cheese, early onions, early cabbage and strawberries.

He is off on June as far as it applies here; but here is what he says for June: Fish, milk, dairy products, strawberries, asparagus, berries. For this we could use common sense and substitute for June: Chickens, dairy products, peaches, plums, green beans, etc. No two sections of the country could use the same plan exactly; but housewives could make important savings by watching these seasonal trends.

Deep freeze units or locker boxes could be used to great advantage in buying both meat and vegetables when they are at the lowest price. Every locker box and every deep freeze unit in a home may prove to be an important asset in the months and years ahead. This is not an advertisement for anybody in particular; but it may turn out to be one for a number of dealers.

JET JALOPY—Parts of this experimental "Le Sabre" car, developed by General Motors in Detroit, will belong to the car of the future. Powered by a 500-pound V-8 engine, the Le Sabre's twin tail fins inject methyl alcohol and gasoline into the engine for extra power boosts. The body is constructed of aluminum, magnesium and other expensive alloys and stands less than 37 inches high but has a six-inch ground clearance.

Texas farmers are being asked to produce 7,000,000 bales of the needed 16,000,000 bales in 1951. How close Collingsworth farmers come to producing their part of the quota will depend on rainfall and insects. Naturally they will try. The more thoughtful, however, will try to do it by better farming, more fertilizer, more and timely use of insecticides and not so much on the use of more acres. They need these for balanced farming, soil conservation and the need of the livestock and poultry industry in this county. However, given favorable weather it would not be surprising to see a 50 to 60 thousand bale crop in this county in 1951.

The interest in David Rasco's speech which will be given at 7:30 Thursday night at the community building is tremendous. Tickets for the C of C banquet have been sold out for several days; but there will be room in the balcony for those who want to listen to the speech. It is suggested that you come about 8 o'clock if you do not have tickets.

Because of coyotes and coons, he says that he does not turn his chickens out until 11 o'clock in the morning. Deer are not the only animals that are increasing in numbers in this county.

Teachers to Area School Meet

The Association of Public School Systems will hold its area meeting in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, Friday and Saturday, January 12 and 13, Superintendent Charles Roberts announced this week.

Wellington was extended an invitation, and representing the school will be Superintendent Roberts, Principal Howard Oliphint, Teacher Stanley Brooks, and Board Member Bill Hughes.

This is a meeting for superintendents, principals, teachers, board members, trustees, and P. T. A. members, and is for the purpose of bettering the schools of today.

This school, with classes all day Friday and Saturday morning, will be divided into three divisions: lay participation in school planning, citizenship educational project, and collecting, distributing, and implementing educational practices or pooling and sharing ideas.

Only 150 schools in the United States are members of the A. P. S. S., with three in Oklahoma, three in Texas, and three in Arizona. These nine schools compose the area of which will meet Friday and Saturday.

quail will get a little rest until the opening of the next dove season. However, some hunters feel that the excessive dry weather, pasture fires and natural enemies will take a higher toll than usual after the hunting season opens.

Panel Recommends More Practical Work STUDENTS, TEACHERS, BUSINESS MEN LOOK AT AMERICAN HISTORY

A panel of business and professional men, teachers and students sat down at Wellington high school recently to attempt an answer to "What should students be expected to know about American history when they finish high school?"

Unanimously, they agreed that high school history courses should be more practical; that civics should be brought back into the curriculum, but taught in conjunction with American history; and that instruction become more functional, Supt. C. T. Roberts reported.

The group recommended that the students study such practical things as voting, visiting the courts, and closer association with public officials. They should know where the state and national shrines are located, and should recognize examples of good American citizenship, according to the report.

Civics study along with American history should include the place of politics in history, a study of the bad as well as the good history, the good and bad of our democratic government and all others, try to answer the question of "why" to all history, and teachers should try to make history meaningful and functional.

Adults in the panel meeting recommended that the grading system be discarded "so that students will work for knowledge rather than grades" and that some other measuring device be found.

An interesting sidelight appeared when the students of the Wellington panel objected quickly to a change in the "A-B-C" method of grading.

Business men participating were the Rev. Howard Jones, Dudley McMillin, Jimmy Cochran, Dr. E. W. Jones and R. F. Curry. Students were Jerry Reeves, senior;

Norma Howard and Ronald Coleman, juniors; Gary Phillips and John Thomas, eighth grade; Ada Carroll Thomas and John Eikenburg, sixth grade. Teachers were Lee Plante, Howard Oliphint, Stanley Brooks, Miss Hattie D. Wells, Mrs. Ralph W. Word, and Mr. Roberts.

This is one of a series of meetings to deal with various phases of school work.

A New Year . . . with new problems . . . A New Year . . . with new hope . . . and with new strength born of a challenge and a vision of the future . . . A New Year . . . with renewed determination growing out of our faith in the boundless resourcefulness and ingenuity of America . . . A New Year . . . into which we march with employment soaring to new peaks . . . with individual earnings mounting to new heights . . . spreading prosperity to all levels . . . with mounting production topping all records . . . A New Year . . . during which problems precipitated by those who envy and would destroy the example of freedom of our Nation sets, are the only clouds on the horizon . . . A New Year therefore . . . with a challenge for us to multiply our ability to defend freedom wherever it may be threatened the while we continue to work for the expansion of the benefits of our own way of life.

Never have we as a nation failed to meet such a challenge . . . and never will we fail to do so, so long as our unity of purpose remains firm . . . True, it will require more effort . . . But it is worth it . . . for then . . . even as now . . . there will be enough to give us all everything we require to maintain our superior standard of living . . . to help others . . . and also to insure the security of democracy in this world. Buy whatever you really need . . . but be thrifty . . . Work a little harder at every task to produce more . . . and this can indeed be a memorable year . . .

Mail Box Damage Brings Charges

A trail of wrecked and damaged mail boxes from the Oklahoma State line, west of Hollis, to the George Stephens farm west of Quail, led Dink Chumley of Hollis into justice court here, Constable Bruce Hite and Chief of Police J. F. Holley reported.

Chief Holley said that Chumley admitted taking a new GMC house moving truck belonging to the Barnes Housemoving Co. of Hollis, by whom he is employed, without the owner's permission. The truck finally overturned west of Quail when the driver attempted to hit the George Stephens mail box and missed. It was damaged a short time earlier on the old Quail highway when it was driven into Melvin Seale's mail box, set in a 30 inch square of concrete. A housemoving jack was also lost off the truck.

Judge Raymond Horton, justice of the peace, assessed a fine and costs of $41 on a charge of unlawful and reckless driving after the Hollis man agreed to repair and replace damaged mail boxes.

Officers reported Chumley was unable to give them the name of the man who accompanied him on the drive.

Mr. Barnes, owner of the truck, estimated to local officers that damage to the vehicle would amount to around $800.

J. V. Brookshear of Burkburnett was a business visitor here Thursday. Mr. Brookshear formerly was cashier of the City State Bank here, and now is president of one of the Burkburnett banks.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ward of Hollis, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Van of Shamrock visited in the Charlie Graham home Sunday.

Norwood, Dodson, Quail ParticipateSTUDENTS DUE PHYSICAL CHECKUP UNDER SCHOOL HEALTH PROGRAM

Plans for a Health Program in the Schools of Collingsworth County are moving forward, according to Mrs. Bernice Welch, Health coordinator for the Collingsworth County Schools. It is hoped that these plans will be in full operation by the end of February.

Letters have been sent to the parents in the Quail, Samnorwood and Dodson Schools informing the parents of the proposed program and including a form to be filled out and returned by the parents if they wish their child to take part in this program. If any child has not had one of these slips filled out on them, he should contact Mrs. Welch or his home room teacher and he will be supplied with the needed form. "It is necessary that we have that signed permission before any child will be allowed to participate," Mrs. Welch said.

"It is hoped and urged that every child in the three schools take part in this program as it is a wonderful opportunity. If there is sufficient interest, the program will become a permanent part of our school curriculum and may be the means of saving many children from permanent health defects.

"Last year, the program was revived after a number of years and several hundred children were given free inoculations for typhoid fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, small pox, and tests were made for T. B. Through this service, a number of cases of rheumatic fever were discovered in the early stages and as a result, the children were probably saved from permanent disability.

"This year, in addition to the inoculation of children who were missed last year, there will be a physical check and perhaps a dental check. I am sure that our local doctors felt repaid for this service which they are rendering but it seems that we might all show our appreciation of their time and services by giving them our whole hearted cooperation," she concluded.

The square dance will be held at the community building, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Concert Number January 19

Teresita and Emilio Osta, unique brother and sister artists who will appear here on Friday, January 19, under the Sponsorship of the Wellington Concert Association, bring to the concert stage the glamor and essence of true Hispanic and Latin-American art. With Teresita dancing and Emilio at the piano, their repertoire is authentic in every way, the result of painstaking research and wide travel. They present dances and music from the provinces of Spain, the mountains of Chili, the Argentine, pampas, and the ancient Inca and Aztec forms.

They were among the first in the entertainment field to realize the role that music and dancing play in furthering Inter-American understanding. Their program numbers, authentic in every way, reflect the traditions and customs of the Latin-American countries where they originated, and give North Americans a true picture of the cultures to the South, Dr. C. B. Jones, president of the Concert Association points out.

Place of the concert will be announced next week.

Rocket Boxers To Golden Gloves Tourney - Shamrock

Skyrocket boxers will fight in the Golden Gloves tournament in Shamrock Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 11, 12 and 13, Coach John Lee said this week.

Approximately 30 boys in weights from 70 to 165 pounds will represent Wellington high school.

Trophies will be awarded winners in the 70 to 100 pound weight and jackets will go to winners in the weights from 105 pounds up, Coach Lee. This is an invitation tournament and boxers from a number of schools in the lower Panhandle area will participate.

There will be no entries in the open divisions from here. Coach Lee plans to take two boys in each of the schoolboy divisions.

All Golden Glove fights will be at night, beginning at 8:00 p.m. and will be held at the Legion Hall, just south of Shamrock. This building has a seating capacity of approximately 3,000. Coach Lee said, and there will be plenty of seats for local fans wishing to attend.

The next matched fights for the Rockets will be Friday, January 19, when an Abilene Boxing Club comes here. Coached by Bill Boles, these Abilene boys fought the Rockets three years in a row, failed to win a single match, then skipped

It's Time to Personalize Your Home

MANY people today have more skill as house-furnishers than as home-makers. Intent upon the efficiency and space-saving necessary to modern living, they forget to add the final small touches that give a house personality.

Perhaps grandmother overdid things—but when you walked into her house you could tell whether she was handy with her crochet needles, or whether her talents ran to china-painting and indoor cultivation of geraniums.

No matter how handsome a decorator's sketch may appear, it's a mistake for you to copy it in every detail. Your home should reflect you—and your own individual likings.

In today's hustle and bustle, take time for little extras. Cover your stools with needlepoint, if that's your taste, or your walls with impressionistic paintings if your leanings are more modern.

Take your favorite pitcher out of your china cupboard; fill it with flowers and place it on the hall table for everyday enjoyment.

Hang that handsome plate you received for a wedding present upon the wall, instead of hoarding it for semi-annual dinners.

It's a good idea to strive toward graciousness as well as personality in your house. To make your guests like you, as well as your home, remember small courtesies like fresh fingertip towels in the bathroom, books on the bedside table, or a special set of cosmetics in the drawer of the guest-room vanity.

Miss Kutch Becomes Bride Of Truitt Holland Dec. 30

A wedding of interest this week is that of Miss Mary Alice Kutch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kutch of Dodson, and Truitt Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holland also of Dodson, which was performed at the San Jacinto Baptist Church in Amarillo, December 30 at 12 noon.

Dr. Bron Clifford, pastor of the church, read the single ring ceremony in the presence of a few friends of the couple.

For her wedding, Mrs. Holland chose a street length, spice lace dress, made with princess lines. The edges of the dress were finished and applied to net of the same color. Her tiny bonnet effect hat was of matching lace, from which fell a short veil. She wore dark brown suede opera pumps. Her bouquet was a large white orchid surrounded by gardenias.

She carried out the tradition of something old, new, borrowed, and blue. For something old, she wore a small strand of flowers on her hat, the flowers that had been worn on her mother's hat at her wedding.

Attending Mrs. Holland as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Louise Kutch of Amarillo. She wore a beige suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was a green orchid.

Dennis Holland of Dodson, brother of the groom, served as best man.

Mrs. Holland is a graduate of Wellington High School with the Class of 1947. She graduated from Texas State College for Women at Denton with the August class of 1950.

Mr. Holland graduated from Dodson High School and also graduated from Wayland College at Plainview. He served with the U. S. Air Force five years, being stationed at Tampa, Florida, Canada, and Alaska. At the present, he is engaged in stock farming near Dodson.

For their wedding trip, the couple went to Dallas, where they attended the Cotton Bowl game. From there, they went to El Paso. For traveling, Mrs. Holland wore a navy suit with navy and pink accessories. She wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet as a corsage.

The young couple are at home at 1203 Dalhart Street in Wellington.

"Peggy" Brings Colorful Rose Tourney to Screen

Combining the colorful pageantry of Pasadena's world-famous New Year's Day Rose Parade with a barrel of howlous belly-laughs, Technicolor "Peggy," which opens at the Ritz Theatre Sunday, January 14, emerges as one of the brightest comedies of the year.

With the present trend in Hollywood pointing toward semi-documentary film fare, it is puzzling why the moviefakers haven't pointed their cameras at the Pasadena Tournament of Roses before this. The great flower-covered floats, bands and horsemen, plus the climactic Rose Bowl football game, which are fitted into the story of "Peggy," become topnotch entertainers under the skilled hand of Director Frederick deCordova.

Luscious Diana Lynn, in the title role, gives a piquant performance as the contestant for Rose Queen honors who doesn't want to win. Monocled Charles Coburn again proves why he is one of Hollywood's greatest assets in the comedy role of the frustrated father. Charlotte Greenwood scores again and again with her role as the domineering next-door neighbor who won't take "No" for an answer. Barbara Lawrence, who portrays Diana Lynn's sister, exudes vivacity as the girl who eventually becomes Rose Queen. And in the male romantic division, "Peggy" fires a double-barreled direct hit with Rock Hudson, as the Ohio State football star, and Charles Drake, cast as a Pasadena junior executive, winning their share of laurels from the all-star accompanying cast.

On-the-spot filming of "Peggy" pays off remarkably well as the Technicolor cameras are directed at such famous Southern California landmarks as the Pasadena railway station, Mt. Wilson observatory, Pasadena City College campus, the University of Southern California and — of course — the route of the New Year's Day Rose Parade and the jam-packed Rose Bowl.

"Peggy," based on an original screenplay by George W. George and George F. Slavin, was produced by Ralph Dietrich.

The first shot in the Civil War was fired at Fort Sumter.

PAMPERED PANDAS—Idaho State College sophomore Dorothy Lehman (above) and 75 (or 42.6 per cent) of her dormitory chums sleep with pandas, teddy bears or something similarly cuddly, a survey recently revealed. This represents a big jump over the statistics compiled at Ohio State where it was found that only 16 per cent of the coeds were nightly snugglers. More than 80 per cent of the coeds at both schools, however, sleep in pajamas.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek seems to be conscience-stricken this week, if we understand his letter, which sometimes we don't.

Dear editor:

I was out here walkin around in my pasture the other afternoon to get my mind off the fact I ought to have been workin on my income tax, it ain't that I owe anything but gettin hold of enough figures to prove it is my problem, what's yours, when I saw a newspaper blowin along the ground and I was in need of something to read so had I speeded up enough to intercept it just as it blew across the path in front of me, I've missed a few by not quite gettin there in time but never by goin past one too fast, and picked it up and got to the nearest tree and sat down and after restin, a man's mind ought to be fresh when he reads, opened it up and read where a man named Valentine, who is in charge of controlling prices for the country, says for the time being his policy will be a voluntary one. "Let your conscience be your guide in fixing prices," he advised.

What I would like to say is ain't there some other way to arrive at a fair price?

Why put the burden on your conscience? That is, why ruin what little conscience we got left?

It's one thing for the price czar to say you can't get but 22 cents a pound for a Jersey steer, but it's another to persuade your conscience to charge the same thing when some bird is willin to pay 25 cents. The way I see it, the new policy not only ain't gonna control many prices but is gonna wreck a lot of consciences to boot.

Take any item, cotton, corn, shoes, bread, milk, eggs, etc. All our life we've been trained to get all we can for it, and to turn around now and ask our conscience to do an about-face and see how little we can get for it is askin too much of a conscience, at least too much of mine, and I got a

Three Kinds of Heart Diseases

AUSTIN — What do you know about your heart? Do you know that the three major kinds of heart disease are: Rheumatic heart disease, high blood pressure, and coronary heart disease?

One of childhood's most dangerous foes is rheumatic fever, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. A child is most likely to develop rheumatic fever when he is less than 10 years of age. However, the disease is not confined to children. "In World War II, about 40,000 men in the American forces developed attacks of rheumatic fever." This disease may damage the heart valves and muscle. Any child who has rheumatic fever should have the best of medical care, plenty of rest, a special diet, and be free from anxiety or worry. Just because a person has rheumatic heart trouble, he will have rheumatic heart trouble. But it's important to keep in close check with the family physician.

Coronary heart disease strikes those from middle age groups and up, more than other forms of heart trouble. And, it strikes men more often than women. Moderation in daily living is very important, for if a person worries too much, works too hard, exercises too frequently and hard, and eats too much his heart is overworked. Yes, one of the best checks against overburdening the heart — is moderation in all things — and plenty of rest.

High blood pressure is another important cause of death. Naturally, the heart has to work harder to pump the blood, when blood pressure is high. An overworked heart needs the care of a physician.

Sometimes symptoms of trouble aren't so noticeable; that is why a regular physical examination is so important.

Heart disease caused by syphilis, congenital heart disease, and heart trouble resulting from an overactive thyroid gland, are a few other forms of heart disease.

Stop and think about it for a moment. Do you give your heart enough rest?

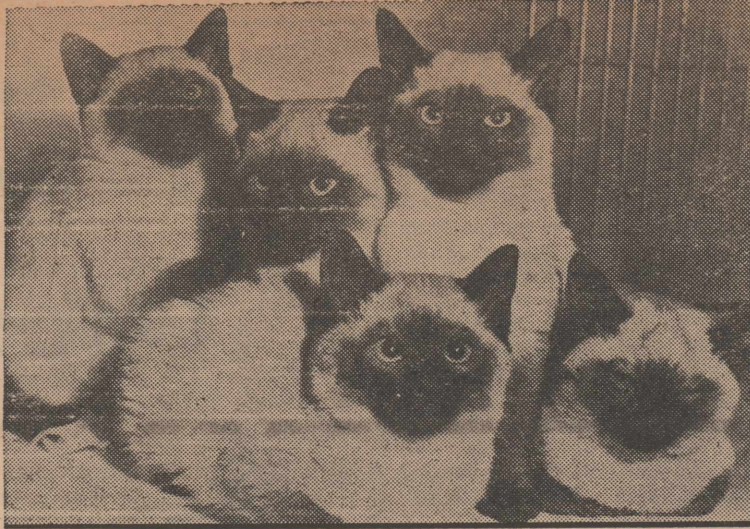

Mrs. Eva Fulcher, who has been staying with her son and family at Wichita Falls, has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Fulcher and children came with her to spend the week end with relatives and friends.

Guests in the Ed Smith home this week are his sister and niece, Mrs. A. S. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Looney, of New Port Beach, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Shadid and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Shadid and family and Mr. and Mrs. Coy Shadid all of Altus, Okla., were guests of Mrs. N. Shadid and family New Year's Day.

More Texas poultrymen are hatching fall chicks. Dr. Quisenberry says that this practice is helping to level out spring and fall production. He reports that figures released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that the October rate of lay per bird was the highest on record, but he adds, cold weather will drop this rate unless the flock receives good care and feeding.

He emphasizes the value of producing more eggs during the fall and winter. Egg price figures compiled by extension poultrymen of Texas A. and M. College show that the average egg price received by poultrymen is about seven to ten cents higher per dozen during the second six months of the year than for the first six months.

Big Return on Little Investment

WHEN PROPERLY USED, FERTILIZER ON COTTON DOESN'T COST; IT PAYS

COLLEGE STATION — When properly used, fertilizer under cotton doesn't cost; it pays. This fact is shown by the results of 1950 cotton fertilizer demonstrations.

To emphasize the point, M. K. Thornton, agricultural chemist for the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, cites as an example demonstrations conducted last year in Guadalupe county under the supervision of county agent B. N. Rector. Rector reports that Munroe Schubert of Kingsbury made over one and one-half bales of cotton per acre on part of his fertilizer demonstration.

On a plot that was not fertilized, Schubert obtained a yield of 610 pounds of lint cotton per acre. He obtained a yield of 785 pounds from a plot which was fertilized with 200 pounds of 16-0-0 at planting time and side dressed with 100 pounds of the same fertilizer when the cotton was about knee high. Other plots in the demonstration which received different amounts of fertilizer gave yields that ranged between the high above and the low received when no fertilizer was applied. Figuring that 16-20-0 fertilizer costs not more than $4 per hundred, the cost of the three sacks of fertilizer applied was $12. The increase of 175 pounds of lint obtained by fertilizing was worth about $70, figuring the price of cotton at 40 cents a pound. Therefore, Schubert's increased income over the cost of fertilizer was about $58.

The lowest increase obtained was 30 pounds of lint from applying 100 pounds of 5-10-5 at planting time. Thornton points out, however, that this gave a return of about $21 on an investment of $2.50 for fertilizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Dale Hunt of Dallas spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Cain and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hunt of Dodson.

Rules for Fall Egg Production

COLLEGE STATION — The laying flock will produce more eggs during the winter months if the flock owner carefully follows a good poultry management program, says Dr. John Quisenberry, head of the Poultry Department at Texas A. & M. College.

He reminds poultrymen that laying hens need about 13 to 14 hours of light a day to produce at a maximum rate. This can be provided by using artificial lights during the short winter days. Dr. Quisenberry points out that an inexpensive clock and switch can be used to turn the lights on and off automatically. Such a switch is recommended when lights are used because regularity is a very important item in the management program.

The best birds in the world, the best housing and equipment, and the best management will not give high egg production unless the birds are getting a good, well balanced and palatable ration. Dr. Quisenberry says that, in feeding for egg production, the poultryman should first, feed a good ration. And second, he should get his birds to eat as much as possible.

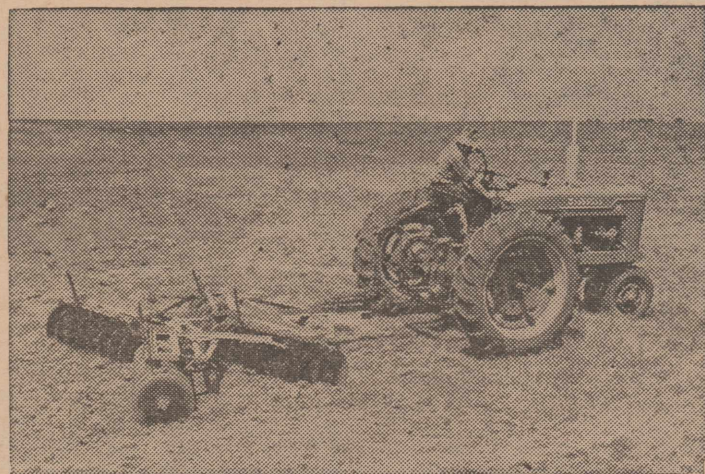

Dr. Quisenberry recommends keeping mash before the birds at all times, and giving them a small feeding of pellets at noon and a liberal feeding of grain in the late afternoon. Satisfactory production can be obtained, however, by feeding all-mash with no grain or other supplement. He points out that this method requires less labor.

More Texas poultrymen are hatching fall chicks. Dr. Quisenberry says that this practice is helping to level out spring and fall production. He reports that figures released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture show that the October rate of lay per bird was the highest on record, but he adds, cold weather will drop this rate unless the flock receives good care and feeding.

He emphasizes the value of producing more eggs during the fall and winter. Egg price figures compiled by extension poultrymen of Texas A. and M. College show that the average egg price received by poultrymen is about seven to ten cents higher per dozen during the second six months of the year than for the first six months.

don't guess... know your tractor is ready

New Farmall tractors are coming slowly. There has been no cut-back in production of Farmalls yet, and their relative scarcity is just a sign that more people prefer Farmall to any other tractor. Which is a mighty good way to pick out the new tractor YOU want—the one that most farmers have found to be the best buy—FARMALL.

Farmers who are LEADERS instead of followers, will investigate the Farmall C before they buy a 2-row tractor of any kind. All the features you can get on any other tractor, and then some that no other tractor has. This is the COMING tractor in this field. Buy a Farmall C or wish you had.

J. B. Killian has a new Whirlwind terracer he bought from us last week. Jack Gibson has a new 11 foot 1951 model International Home Freezer. Don Jones a new Model H Farmall. Wade Bennett a new Farmall M.

First shipment of new International Harvester 1951 model refrigerators should be in by some time next week. Have two 1950 models left—at a good discount, considering the likelihood of refrigerators becoming scarce. If your old refrigerator is more than eight or ten years old, come in and see the International Harvester 1951 models—and our word is they will still be up-to-date years from now.

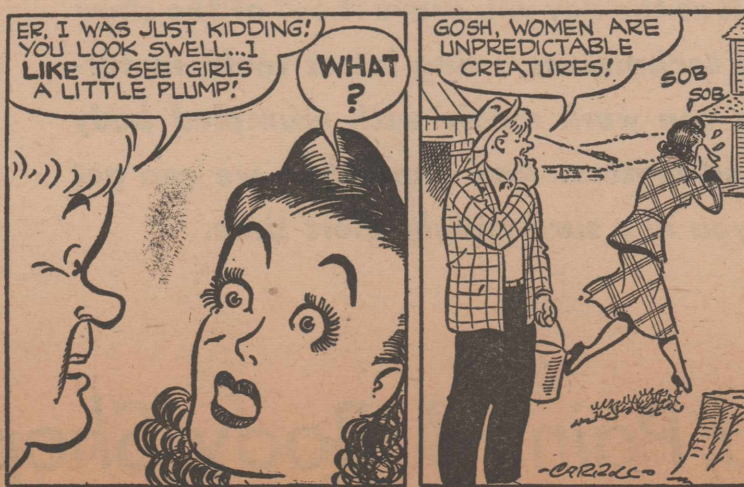

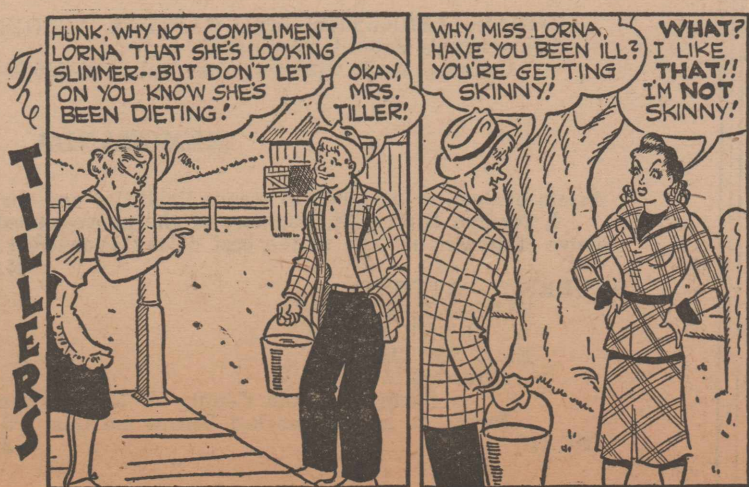

We don't guess... we KNOW that your Farmall is READY when it leaves our shop. And so do YOU, because you can tell by the way it works for you in the field... and keeps on working.

No rough - and - tumble, "that'll do" methods are used in our shop. We know how—from experience and training and factory information—and we do it that way. We've got the right men, the right tools and the right parts to make your Farmall good as new.

Farmall owners are looking ahead this year. And bringing their tractors in for overhaul now while we have plenty of time and plenty of GENUINE PARTS. They remember another time when good parts were hard to get—and don't aim to be caught short again.

We have a big bargain for somebody here. It's a 1948 model VAC Case tractor with equipment, and a complete motor overhaul, in sure good condition. $650 gets it; and that's a lot less than it is worth.

And about a 1938 model Plymouth car. It will run. For $125.

Three Wellington Dealers Display 1951 Plymouth Models Saturday, January 12

DETROIT, Mich. — Spectacular new qualities which produce driving and riding ease heretofore unknown in automobiles of any price feature the new line of Plymouth cars. Combining smart new body lines with unprecedented interior luxury, the new Plymouth will go on display in dealer showrooms throughout the United States Saturday, January 13.

Designers have given the Plymouth a striking new silhouette, and refinements in the interior are innovations in the lowest price field. The styling-improvements retain the traditional roominess of the cars.

Easier to drive and more comfortable, the new cars have greater beauty, more safety features and broader ranges of vision than ever before.

Engineers say the new "Safety-Flow ride" takes the bounce and wallop out of bumps. A new application of hydraulic flow control in the shock absorbers provides a more gradual change of resistance during spring deflections and thus a softer ride when driving on average roads. It also exerts extra resistance on rough roads to a degree where driver and passengers are almost completely freed of the discomfort of being jolted around.

The "Safety-Flow ride" is one of the greatest contributions to driving comfort and safety in recent years, according to D. S. Eddins, president of Plymouth Motor Corp.

"The new Plymouth gives you roadability never before offered in any car," he said. "There is no necessity for steering-wheel fatigue to control the car on difficult roads. The driver is no longer required to focus full attention on the condition of the road. He may be more watchful of oncoming traffic, pedestrians, curves, cross-roads and other potential hazards."

Eddins called the new development a major step toward restful motoring. More confidence is gained by driving or riding in a new Plymouth with the "Safety-Flow ride," and as a result there is less driver and passenger fatigue, he said.

The lines of the new Plymouth have been beautified. An appearance of massiveness combined with smart streamlining is induced by a new grille, beautifully redesigned front fenders and hood, a wider windshield and a larger rear window. Narrower windshield pillars together with the wider windshield provide additional lateral vision. To utilize fully the greater vision through the new rear window, the rear view mirror is two inches wider. The chair-height front seat and the new design of hood and front fenders permit the driver to see the road nearer the car.

There are numerous mechanical improvements. Windshield wipers are electrically operated, and are of the single-speed, self-parking type.

A unique pressure-vent radiator cap, which has been added as standard equipment, permits the cooling system to be operated at atmospheric pressure during normal driving conditions. Under high load, high temperature driving conditions, the new radiator cap provides a pressurized cooling system to allow high coolant temperature without boiling or loss of anti-freeze.

All Plymouth engines now have a built-in by-pass cooling system permitting water circulation and resulting in more uniform temperature throughout the engine during the warm-up period. The new system consists of a pump providing direct access to the water pump, and a choke-type thermostat to regulate coolant flow to the radiator.

The generator output has been raised to 45 amperes, an increase of five amperes, providing greater electrical capacity for the operation of car accessories. The new hand brake "T" control handle is more accessible, and, as on former models, it operates independently of the foot brake as an added safety measure.

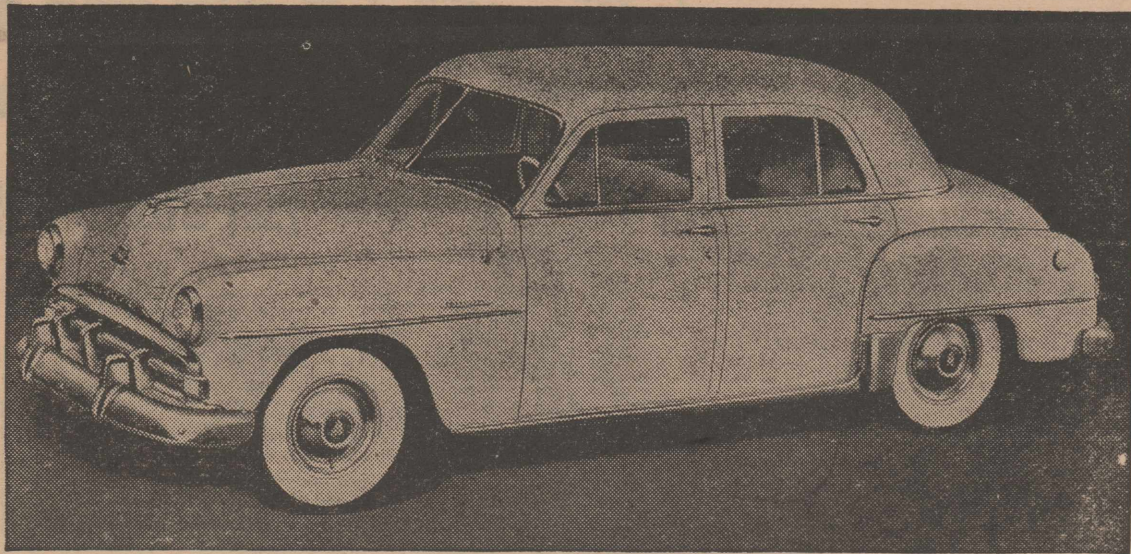

In the convertible club coupe, the spare tire is mounted vertically as in other coupe and sedan models, rather than on the trunk floor.

The new Plymouth interiors offer the finest selection of upholstery and trim and the most harmonious color schemes in the company's history. The colors which have been chosen provide throughout the interior a pleasing combination of shades in harmony with the car's exterior color. Designers say the interior is an unparalleled achievement in combining practicality with luxury. Always noted for spaciousness, Plymouth now has even more head room and more room to stretch out in comfort in the rear seat.

The New Plymouth Cranbrook Four-Door Sedan

Featuring improvements which produce unprecedented roadability and riding qualities, the beautifully redesigned 1951 line of Plymouth cars have numerous mechanical improvements and have retained their traditional roominess. Shown above is Plymouth's Four-door Cranbrook sedan.

the upholstery, there is a handsome new instrument panel which features a more convenient grouping of controls, newly shaped instruments and improved coloring and lettering for easier checking while driving.

The wide, deep chair-height seats, the ease of entrance and exit, and all the other traditional Plymouth features for driver and passenger comfort have been retained.

There are nine body-types in the new Plymouth line, the Concord series includes a two-door sedan and a three-passenger coupe as well as the two all-metal utility models, the Suburban and the Savoy; the Cambridge series has a four-door sedan and a club coupe; and the Cranbrook series includes a four-door sedan, a club coupe, and a convertible club coupe.

The Suburban and the Savoy, with their smart, distinctive lines are all-purpose vehicles. They have the beauty and comfort of a sedan, and by simply lowering the rear seat flush with the floor they become sturdy cargo carriers for farmers, salesmen, sportsmen, tourists and others who require large cargo capacity. The Savoy, called the "country-club companion" of the Suburban, provides a greater variety of luxurious interior appointments and more exterior refinements to enhance the car's striking appearance.

Among the "high-priced car" features which are retained are six-cylinder, 97-horsepower engine with a 7 to 1 compression ratio, the combination ignition and starter switch, automatic electric choke, super-cushion tires, safeguard hydraulic brakes, and safety-rim wheels.

TEACHERS HEAR PLANNED GILMER AIKIN CHANGES BY LEGISLATURE

The teachers of Collingsworth County gathered at the community building Monday night, January 8, for their annual banquet. Howard Oliphint, master of ceremonies, introduced the guest speaker for the evening, G. H. Kirby, assistant superintendent of Wichita Falls schools. Mr. Kirby is president of District 7, the Oil Belt District of Texas State Teachers Association.

Mr. Kirby chose as his subject "The Gilmer-Aikin Proposals, and What They Mean For the Teaching Profession." He spoke of a bill to be introduced before the state legislature this session which would put a ceiling on the wages a teacher may earn. This is an amendment of which the Texas State Teachers Association is much against, because it feels that it would be unfair to the teacher to limit the wages they might earn, since the teaching profession is one of the least paid of today, according to Mr. Kirby.

The matter of the tenure of a teacher's contract was also discussed by Mr. Kirby. Another proposal which has been brought up once and is slated for discussion again, is that of making a one year contract for the first three years a teacher is with one school, renewing the contract each year.

At the end of these three one-year contracts, a three year contract would be made, and each contract thereafter the expiration of that one, will be one for three years.

The procedure for dismissing a teacher is also discussed in this proposal.

Taxes which are not paid by that time will become delinquent on February 1, 1951, and will take a penalty, with interest to be added until paid.

No discount allowed for payments during the month of January.

All property owners in the city are urged to pay their taxes before the end of the payment time.

We have heard, of course, that the way to fight with a woman is with your hat — grab it and run. The fellow who coined that slogan will be interested to know that associated country women of the world and other international groups of ladies have been having conferences on peace.

We don't think this means the Teachers Association in 1951 is to register 50,000 state teachers on our roll. We feel that if we have the opinions of 50,000 teachers behind our organization, we may take our views of the Gilmer-Aikin bill or any other bill that may come before Congress that will change the standing of teachers, and make our voice heard. Let's all work together to make "50,000 in '51" a result rather than a goal for Texas teachers," Mr. Kirby said in conclusion.

Following the address by Mr. Kirby, the agriculture band under the direction of Bennett Goodloe played several musical selections.

Herman Mosley of Quail introduced the guests for the evening, the county school board and their wives.

B. W. Beard, county superintendent, conducted a short business session in which delegates from the county were chosen to attend the state teachers meeting to be held in Amarillo on March 9. Chosen to go were Mr. Mosley of Quail, T. E. Lennon of Dodson, Winston Conners of Samnorwood, and Howard Oliphint of Wellington.

The dinner was prepared and served by the home economics class of the Wellington high school under the direction of Miss Nell Davis.

Arrangements of various colored gladioli centered the linen covered serving tables. Miniature teacher dolls wearing dunce caps were used as favors.

One hundred and forty-five teachers and their wives and husbands and their guests were present for the banquet.

kind of peace that lots of husbands would like to have around the house, but it shows that the ladies, bless 'em, are thinking in terms of vital issues.

It was the Chinese, it seems, who said if there be harmony in the home there will be peace in the world.

That would have to apply to just about all the homes in the world, though.

It is ironic that just after announcing the glad news that there had been no outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Mexico for 12 months, a few cases were discovered in the state of Vera Cruz.

This happened the same week that the U. S. had lifted the ban on importation of canned Mexican meat.

We have had no news of any rescinding of this action. Meanwhile, the border is still closed to fresh meat and livestock from Mexico.

In normal times, about half a million head of cattle were brought into southwestern grazing lands each year from across the border.

Fruit growers in the fantastic land of southern California have over three million smudge pots, which cost about three dollars per hour each to operate, we read.

This makes weather forecasting especially important out there. A government meteorologist named Floyd Young has been hitting his frost forecasts on the nail over 90 percent of the time for 26 years, broadcasting over a clear channel station that reaches the growers.

Here in Texas we are pretty proud of our weather forecasters, too, and you hear them on the air right along.

The weather men in Fort Worth give the outlook for weather within a 500 mile radius, and it is the official weather used by the commercial air lines, as well as by farmers and ranchers.

Many a million pounds of meat on the hoof has been saved in Texas because ranchmen were warned of approaching blizzards or hurricanes in time to hustle their livestock to shelter.

Erle Hardy and A. J. Knapp of the weather bureau here and their staff have built up a following of radio listeners that will compare with any other. We have received letters to prove that.

Choose The Right Shrubs

COLLEGE STATION — Now is the time of year to order the shrubs needed to complete the landscape plans for your home. There are many things to remember when choosing shrubs, and Sadie Hatfield, specialist in home-plant improvement with the A. & M. College Extension Service, suggests a few.

For instance a shrub should be hardy enough to withstand the cold and drought and it should remain attractive the year round. The rate of growth should be considered — whether it is fast growing or so slow that a long period of time has to elapse before it is large enough to add to the landscape. The type of soil, too, has to be considered because on alkaline soils some shrubs never grow well and some turn up with yellow leaves.

Now, in placing the shrubs, at least five feet from the walk or doorstep and five feet from the house should be allowed. Sometimes when shrubs are placed too near the house or doorway they have to be cut back so severely that they are no longer attractive. Miss Hatfield suggests the lodense privet for entrances because it is hardy, an evergreen, low growing, and it is easy to prune. In South Texas the manzanita or dwarf crepe myrtle makes a good accent plant.

In choosing a corner planting, the specialist says that it should be taller than the doorstep planting. Wax ligustrum can be used as a corner planting. In Central and Southwest Texas the Burford holly is an excellent corner planting. In Central and East Texas Miss Hatfield suggests the yaupon. Arborvitae is a good screen planting.

When placing plants beneath windows, Miss Hatfield reminds that the shrubs should be low growing — unless a shade is needed in the summer months to shut out the sun. In this case, she suggests planting redbud or vitex — a shrub which sheds its leaves in the winter months, but has a thick growth of leaves in the hot season.

As for the depth of planting, the specialist says shrubs should be planted the same depth as they grew originally. The hole should be large enough for the roots to spread out and it should be filled with moderately rich topsoil. The plant should be watered immediately after planting. Small shrubs should not be planted closer than three feet to the house, the specialist emphasizes. Large shrubs such as ligustrums should be four, five, six — sometimes ten feet from the house, she adds.

SURVIVAL AT STAKE
If Communist Russia should unleash its full-tide of war against the Western non-Communist nations in 1951, as some military observers expect it to do, the world would see for the first time the full devastating effect of a perfectly trained and strategically deployed Fifth Column in warfare. A strong sabotage or guerilla apparatus, well-organized and skillfully commanded, exists in every non-Communist country and with only a few possible exceptions they would be able to work with terrible effectiveness as tactical arms of the Red Army.

The Communist Fifth Column in America wasn't quite ready 10 years ago when the free world was struggling to arm itself against a Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis that had suddenly gained Soviet Russia as an ally. But even then it was strong enough to have seriously hampered our armament production, had not Hitler's sudden attack on Russia switched the American Communists from saboteurs to frenzied war workers overnight. Today Moscow's world-wide Fifth Column is fully ready to strike at the heart of every nation outside the Iron Curtain on a given signal.

"SABOTAGE" STRIKE
During the Hitler - Stalin partnership of 1941 Communist officials of Local 248 UAW-CIO struck the sprawling Allis-Chalmers plant in Milwaukee, and in spite of the fact that the local's members were predominantly loyal Americans, production of vitally important machines for our Army was shut down for 76 days. FBI men called the strike "sabotage" by a Fifth Column and pointed to Harold Christoffel, the local's president, as instigator and leader. Christoffel was a Communist, taking orders from Moscow, and nine years later the government got around to sending him to Federal prison for perjury.

Since 1941 the American Communists have enjoyed a heyday. And their progress here has even been exceeded in 15 or 20 other nations. In France and Italy, toward which one prong of the Red Army would presumably strike its first blow, the Communists are probably strong enough in number and strategic deployment to be an immediate decisive factor. Their control reaches into top army posts, the government, labor unions, PRICES GOING UP—The gradual rise in costs of various items making up the cost of living in 1950 is traced on the Newschart above. Based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board, the chart also shows comparative index prices for 1949 and for the base year of 1939, which is figured as 100.

production and possibly paralyze the nation. They are well embedded in every phase of our national life. The FBI says there are 55,000 known Communists and 550,000 fellow travelers who will carry out Moscow orders. Yet another authority says seven out of eight Communists work undercover, their identity carefully guarded.

A STARTER LAW
Congress last fall moved to cope with the Fifth Column by enacting the McCarran law but the Communists have defied it. With ions, various institutions, and vital communications and transportation facilities.

"CIVIL RIGHTS!"
In Socialist France, England and Italy very little has been done to "neutralize" the dormant menace of the Communist Fifth Column. In Australia, where Socialists were voted out, the new government is tackling the problem but it is being hamstrung every step of the way by those labor unions which are controlled by Communists, and an assorted array of sympathizers and dupes who cry "civil rights!"

In the U. S. eight unions which the CIO has branded Communist controlled and has kicked out of its organization, hold power in vital industries — electrical equipment, shipping, metals, etc. In event of full-scale war their leadership could conceivably use them to seriously cripple our armament their puppets and dupes they've kept up a constant barrage against it, charging it infringes on the Communists' "civil rights!" The law is neither perfect nor adequate but its intent is sound and it gives the Justice Department for the first time something with teeth in it with which to protect our nation from a deadly internal force.

LIVING COSTS RISE—Inflation continued to soak the family pocketbook during 1950, as the Bureau of Labor Statistics' cost-of-living index passed an all-time peak in October and kept rising. The Newschart above traces the rise in living costs for the past six years in comparison to 1939 figure of 100.

The DAILY WORKER, official Communist publication, published in its Christmas issue a petition to President Truman signed by 63 clergymen in 25 states denouncing the government's intention to deport alien Communists, as permitted in the McCarran law. If these clergymen are sincere people, they are dangerously ignorant of the real character of Communism. J.

WELLINGTON CONCERT ASSN. ARTIST PLAYS FOR PRESIDENT

Lilian Kallir, beautiful piano virtuoso who will appear in concert here on February 14, 1951, under the sponsorship of the Wellington Concert Association, was honored by the most thrilling invitation of the year to play at the annual White House Correspondents dinner in Washington, D. C., on December 13th. President Truman and Margaret, Treasury Secretary Snyder and daughter Druce, and other Washington notables were honor guests at this important event featured as Father-and-Daughter night at the National Press Club.

This exciting appearance marks the second Washington triumph for Lilian Kallir. Last year, her debut at the National Gallery of Art brought forth a fanfare of praise from the critics who were captivated by the "pianistic wise Cleopatra" who "played with such abundance of taste, feeling, dynamic range, tonal power and dazzling technique." And earlier, Miss Kallir was acclaimed by New York critics for her "rare musicianship" and "exceptional artistry" displayed in her New York debut in Town Hall. Lilian Kallir appeared as soloist at the opening night of the Carnegie Pops last May and is now beginning her nation-wide tour which includes, among others, an appearance with the Oklahoma City Symphony in a world-wide broadcast.

"Through blizzard after blizzard my car performed better!"

"I was one of those selected to test new Conoco Super Motor Oil in my own car before it was put on the market. Through blizzard after blizzard, I travelled in Northern Colorado and Wyoming."

says D.G. HUBBARD
1645 Jasmine St. Denver 7, Colorado

"BUT THOSE WERE THE TWO BEST WINTERS I EVER HAD ON THE ROAD! New Conoco Super improved the operation of my car. And at the end of the test, with proper drains and regular care, gasoline mileage was virtually as good as at the beginning."

After a total of 386,422 miles, logged by Mr. Hubbard and other winter test drivers, Conoco engineers found no wear of any consequence! Analysis of crankcase drains showed that this great new oil actually stopped the dangerous accumulation of free water and acids, chief causes of winter wear. This test proved that new Conoco Super Motor Oil, with OIL-PLATING, fights off rust, corrosion and sludge. So, change to winter-grade Conoco Super Motor Oil.

Time To Look Ahead

This is the time of year when you look back over the past year and take inventory. It is also the time to look ahead and make plans for 1951.

Here are a few points to check:

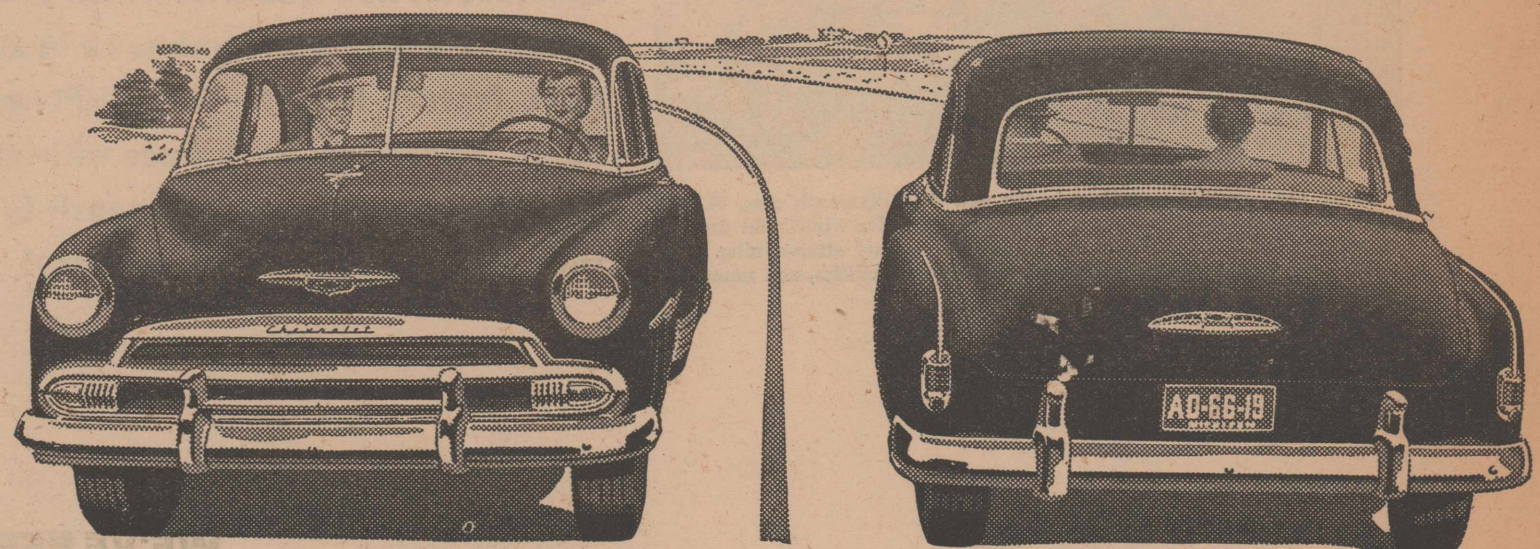

1. Are you using a checking account to help you keep a record of your income and expenses, to afford you a legal receipt, to save you time and steps?
2. Do you save regularly, putting aside some amount at definitely planned intervals?
3. Do you have your plans for 1951? Do you want to expand farming or business operations? Have you looked into the possibilities of a loan from City State, which made on a sound basis, can start you on the road to realizing your ambitions?

The City State Bank for 41 years has worked in the interest of Collingsworth County and its men and women.
