$1329.65 Was Paid to CWA Workers Here Thursday With Large Increase This Week

Nine Projects Have Been Approved to Date In Several Parts of The County Including Highway, Bridge And Fence Jobs

The CWA work in Donley county has increased to the extent that it is now necessary to have an office force of five to keep up with the work. They are G. L. Boykin, Tom F. Connally, A. H. Baker, Rhodin Chase while Miss Bettie Walker is employed to do the typewriting of tabulated work, filling in records, etc.

Thursday is the end of the work week. This enables the office force to have two days in which to make up the records and have the checks ready by Saturday, which is pay day.

Nine projects have been approved and work has begun on most of them. On this work 253 men have been designated as the maximum number to work at one time. At this time, Tuesday, 170 men are at work.

A bridge is being constructed on Turkey creek east of the Goldston store where most of the folks 'hung up' during wet weather.

The railroad bridge across Bell creek is under construction at this time. The railroad company traded acreage for rightofway and made other concessions in exchange for this bridge which was necessary before the Highway department would approve highway work at that point due to the present defective drainage. CWA workers will be employed aside from skilled labor which will be supplied by the railroad company.

The stock pens at Ashtola are being moved to the Holly land purchased by the county. A spur will be built out to the pens from the main line.

Fencing along the rightofway is being moved off the land that was contributed to the county in Precincts 1, 2, and 3.

Telegraph poles are being moved where the railway company contributed land for the rightofway.

Improvement at the McKnight school suggested, has been approved by the state committee and work is to begin at once.

Lateral roads in each of the precincts are to be improved under the CWA, $800.00 having been allotted each precinct for that purpose.

Work graveling Highway 66 continues. Gravel is to be placed on the roadbed across the county on 66.

An effort is being made to secure a four room teacherage for the Midway school. Other schools of the county are to make added improvements just as soon as the projects are approved.

A continuous stream of men are filing applications for jobs under the CWA here each day. The headquarters office is at the City Hall. It is believed that several hundred men will be at work in this county by the first of the new year.

Denver Offers a Passenger Rate Reduction

Effective December 1st, the Denver Road announces a one-third reduction on sleeping and parlor car changes through the elimination of the surcharge.

On one-way tickets, good in coaches only, the new rate will be 2 cents a mile, or a reduction of 14 2-5 per cent.

One-way tickets good in all classes of equipment will be sold at 3 cents per mile, or a reduction of 16 2-3 per cent.

Round-trip tickets with a ten-day limit, good in all classes of equipment, will be sold at 2 cents per mile each way, or a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent; and round-trip tickets with six-months limit, good in all classes of equipment, will be sold at 2½ cents per mile or a reduction of 30½ per cent.

Train travel will undoubtedly be greatly stimulated by these important reductions.

Bronchos to Scramble With Hereford Team Thursday

It looks like a pretty good game ahead for Thursday. The Hereford Whitefaces will be here to meet the famous Broncho team.

The Hereford team was defeated by Shamrock 7-0. Shamrock bested the Bronchos by one point.

The Hereford team happens to be sectional champions. They are a husky lot of youngsters from off the 'ballies' where they have plenty of fresh air, and get plenty of sand in their craws. They aught to have the stuff in them to fight. It will take that kind of a bunch to make it worth while to the Bronchos who whipped out Tulia with a third string.

The game will be called at College Park at 2:30. The price of admission will be 25 and 50 cents. This is probably the last game of the season, and being on Thanksgiving Day, there will be plenty of fans out to see the job well done.

Night Marshal Suggests One Protection Measure

Night marshal J. A. Kutch is suggesting to merchants of the town that at least one light be left burning in the store through the night. Mr. Kutch states that the smallest globe obtainable would suffice since he could see the outlines of an intruder.

Dith dark streets, and dark stores, it is impossible to detect intruders or thieves in the act of breaking in at the back of the store, or to see them after they once gain entrance, Mr. Kutch very truthfully tells the public.

During the three years that he has been serving Clarendon as night marshal, Mr. Kutch says that not a single burglary has been committed where a light was to be seen inside the building.

Wheat Growers Will Reduce Acreage Next Year

Forty-four wheat growers signed up for the reduced acreage agreement with their government last week.

Acerage to be planted in this county next year is 10,448 acres. Growers have by this plan sold the government 71,123 bushels of grain. The first payment of 20 cents a bushel is expected in December. The second payment will be 7½ cents per bushel.

A statement showing the acreage, reduction for this year and the amount to be paid appeared in the Leader last week. E. Lack is chairman of the wheat committee. John Hermesmeyer and Oma Scoggins are the other members.

Scotty Reneau Sells Filling Station Interests

Clarendon loses one of her best citizens this week when Scotty L. Reneau removes his place of residence because of having disposed of his filling station on East First street to Claude Wallace, late of Louisiana.

Scotty is yet a young man. He grew to manhood here, went to our local schools. He made a success in life so far through his own efforts, and with the help of firm friends of which he has many.

No many of any age in Clarendon is regarded in higher esteem by the general public than Scotty Reneau. He is honest and capable. He lived that way every day. He is a "square shooter" asking no special favors. He fought for the business, got it and got it fairly. We all hate to see him leave here, and we wish him unbounded success in any undertaking in Oklahoma, to which place he went Tuesday.

STATE PARK PALO DURO CANYON IS OPENED SUNDAY

More Than Five Hundred Cars From Over Panhandle Visit Scenic Wonder

Believing that information relative to the progress being made in the development of the state park in Palo Duro canyon will be of general interest, the Leader is passing on to its readers an article clipped from the Amarillo News of Tuesday. This article graphically describes the wonders of the canyon, and it is believed that many more will be glad to visit the park after reading the article below.

"The Panhandle's great canyon playground, the Palo Duro Park, was thrown open to the public for the first time yesterday when the mile scenic driveway from the rim to the canyon floor was opened for travel.

Views of the canyon seen heretofore to only a few fortunate individuals were revealed to the public for the first time. More than 500 cars from over the entire Panhandle and neighboring states as well traveled the new road during the day.

The road into the Palo Duro leaves the plains near where Panhandle folks have viewed the canyon from a looking-off place for many years. The road in itself is an engineering feat, dropping 630 feet in a mile with the grade in no place more than 10 per cent.

The colors of the Painted Desert of Arizona, and the sense of greatness of the Grand Canyon are combined in the scenes. Hundreds of persons who had never been into any major part of the Palo Duro, witnessed these on the fine scenic drive yesterday.

Dropping gently away from the rim just east of the C. C. C. Camps the wide road is in a continuous descent for a mile before it levels out at the canyon bottom.

Visitors to the site were amazed to find the cliff-like canyon walls conquered by the engineering achievement.

With the road open to the bottom of the canyon, the park work can go forward much more rapidly, Mr. Miller reported. Two miles of road will be built along the canyon floor and more than a mile on the canyon rim to the site of the tavern and stables. These two projects will keep the veteran workers from the four C. C. C. camps at work for nearly two months, according to the superintendent.

When the last barrier in the road was removed at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning, the first car to travel the route carried five outstanding park boosters, including Congressman Marvin Jones. The others were Mr. Miller, Wilbur C. Hawk, T. E. oJhnson, and Mason King.

Floyd V. Studer, early student of Panhandle history, and also the archaeology and geology of the canyon said, "The history of the Panhandle is written in rock indelibly, and permanently, within the walls of this canyon.

Evidence of past civilizations, of animal life including tigers, mastodons, and even kinds of elephants can be found here.

"Opening of this vast canyon to the public can be termed part of the Panhandle educational system"

Randall County Judge S. B. Orton, Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, Claude and Fred Wortham, were others who saw their most far-fetched plans realized when the road into the canyon was opened.

Animal Refuge

More than a playground, the state park including at present 15,000 acres of land, is one of the very few rugged places in the Panhandle Plains country. It is a refuge for wild life. Scores of birds and wild animals thrive there that can exist at no other place in the Panhandle.

Literally scores of species of cacti, bushes, and trees grow in the park not found on the plains.

Before the C. C. C. workers have completed their work in the park, underbrush will have been cleared away, dead wood will be cut to convenient lengths for use of picnic and camping parties and fireplaces, tables, and benches will have been constructed from the natural rock—all for the pleasure of Panhandle nature-lovers."

BRONCHOS TRIM TULIA TEAM 19-12 FRIDAY EVENING

Many Second String Men Used Throughout Game As Small Crowd Cheers

Playing before a small crowd here last Friday afternoon, the Clarendon Bronchos trounced their ancient rivals from Tulia, 19-12. The Tulia boys started off with a bang by pushing over a touchdown within a few minutes of play. The try for point was no good. The local team tightened after the score and the remainder of the quarter was fought practically on even terms.

The second quarter, however, took on a different attitude on the part of the Bronchos. This quarter saw the Bronchos rise up strong and push over two touchdowns. The first counter was made by Whitlock and the try for point was no good. A few minutes later O. C. Watson repeated with a tricky play when he dashed around left end and over the goal line before the Tulia boys scarcely knew what was happening. Again the point after touchdown was no good.

The third quarter found the Clarendon second string playing a fast game but lacking in experience. Sensing the weakness of the forward line of the second string, Tulia immediately started a victorious march that culminated in a second counter for Tulia. The try for point was no good. The score now stood 12-12, and the third quarter ended with both teams tied.

The first team of the Bronchos were back in action when the fourth quarter began and soon put over their third counter of the game. Evans was the boy who added the last talley. E. Watson kicked goal for the extra point.

During the game "Pup Evans" proved to the team that a little man has lots of power and grit, when he repeatedly made gain after gain on line plunges and end runs. E. Watson proved himself a star when it came to running interference. As a matter of fact the whole squad did themselves proud at different periods of the game.

Relief Committee Makes Few Changes This Week

In order to comply with the law governing such matters, Odos Caraway this week resigned from the CWA committee since he could not serve on that board and act as County Administrator at the same time.

G. L. Boykin, also a member of the Relief Committee, resigned from the Board to take the position of paymaster.

The Relief Committee is two members short, and it is reported that the county commissioners authorized Judge Lowe to appoint two new members, who would have their approval since such appointment might have to be made between sessions of the Commissioners' Court.

C. J. Douglas was made chairman of the Relief Committee. With him are serving Louie Thompson of Hedley and Homer Mulkey of Clarendon.

The office personnel at present: Odos Caraway, county administrator; C. J. Douglas, chairman Relief Committee; G. L. Boykin, paymaster; A. H. Baker, timekeeper; Tom F. Connally, bookkeeper; Rhodin Chase, clerk; Miss Bettie Walker, stenographer.

Turkeys Are Doomed Sunday At Golf Shooting

Quite a crowd of golf enthusiasts gathered at the course Sunday to witness the turkey shooting. Seven head were disposed of in this manner.

Those winning turkeys on the strength of their skill to knock a golf ball nearest a flag were Wesley Knorpp, P. B. Gentry, Ira Merchant, C. J. Douglas, Hank Bagby, A. N. Wood and H. B. Kerbow.

THRONGS FILL STREETS SATURDAY IN BUYING MOOD

Biggest Crowd Here Since Fall of 1929 Celebrates Better Times

Visitors to Clarendon Saturday outnumbered in volume any day since the beginning of the panic. Buying was more liberal in a general way than for the same period. Money seemed to be far more plentiful with higher cotton prices, and the spirit to supply needs enforced by conditions of the past few years were in evidence.

Buying was not by any means restricted to one line. Family requirements from furniture to groceries were purchased. Merchants who made a bid for business were pleased with the results.

Another item that should not be overlooked is the fact that buyers were pleased with prices. The phantom raise had failed to develop. Merchants who had stocked heavily were content to share the event with customers, and prices were made accordingly.

Clarendon merchants stand in good tead to win back lost trade territory by assuming a more aggressive attitude. Buyers have money and want the best at a fair price. The day of cheap, shoddy goods has again passed into an eclipse if one may judge from the expressions of buying here Saturday.

The community sale event Saturday afternoon drew the biggest crowd in years. More than $1400 worth of live stock changed hands for cash. Work stock almost given away a year ago again brought fabulous prices in Saturday's bids.

According to the advertisement of the community sale sponsors in this issue, a more liberal supply of live stock will be offered next Saturday. Mules, horses, cows, implements and other worth while considerations have already been listed for sale.

Many believe this event will become the "clearing house" of the trade territory for not only stock and implements, but many other commodities as well. It affords the people an opportunity to gather at a central point and make personal selections, it is claimed.

"Those who have anything for sale are invited to bring it in Saturday," according to C. R. Gamblin and Nat Woods, chief promotters of the community sale. Both men confidently expect a larger crowd next Saturday, as do a number of others who have been selling and buying at the Nat Woods yard recently. They claim this is due to two facts. First, that many have been 'making out' with any kind of stock until they could do better. Second, that they now have the money, and wish to invest in necessary work stock for the coming year.

Kinch Leathers Leads Deer Hunt to Mountains

Returning here Saturday, Kinch Leathers displayed a large black tail buck as one of four deer killed by a hunting party in the Davis mountains in which he had a prominent part.

Other members of the hunting party were Aubrey Brock, Reagan Looney and Perry Looney, all of Bovina. The "buck" killed by Perry Looney proved to be a doe with eight points in the velvet, something seldom seen. Each member of the party got a deer and feel well repaid for the mountain climb southwest of Toyah.

ACTIVITIES OF SCOUTS SHOWS UP MORE INTEREST

Drills, Tests And Games Interest Youngsters At Meeting

Thursday night the Scout meeting opened with the roll call to which nineteen scouts answered. There was some business to be taken care of, then the tables were moved back and a good game of "yank", better known as tug of war, was begun. After the first game session there was the reporting of the good turns. Patrol Number One reported one hundred and twenty five good turns for the first place. Patrol Number Two had only thirty-six good turns, and the third patrol managed only thirty-four.

After this business the boys were divided and more group games were played. One of the instructive games that was played was one that used the fireman's drag. This fireman's drag is used in places where there are fumes and smoke. The value being that as most gases are lighter than air they rise leaving a clear space along the floor for a scout to bring out a victim who has been ovecome by the gas. This form of rescuing is further helped by tying a wet handkerchief over the face.

When everyone was thoroughly dirty the leaders decided to inspect us. More plans were discussed for the Scout library that the troop wishes to start.

There was no meeting last Thursday because most of the members wanted to attend the "Father and Son Banquet." Those who went say that the only place where they ever ate more was at camp.

Johnny Holden Bounces Into Plank Obstruction

Driving his motorcycle at a speed estimated at 60 miles an hour, Johnny Holden of Memphis crashed through a solid plank wall on the street west of the old Grammar school building here Saturday afternoon without injury either to himself or his machine.

This was the main event for attracting buyers on trades day, and appeared to have brought in whole families. Those who expected to see a general smash-up were disappointed. It was new and they knew not what to expect. Many believed that it could not be done, while others thought Johnny would back down at the last minute. The thrills appealed to the crowd that cheered lustily when they found that the young man had escaped injury through putting on the big event, the first of its kind ever shown here.

Pastime Drug Burglarized Late Friday Night

Upon opening up Saturday morning, a burglary of the Pastime Drug operated by L. H. Skelton was discovered. Thieves had gained entrance to the building by cutting a screen at the rear door over the ditch, and unlocking the door.

Once inside, they located the keys to slot machines which they robbed as well as the cash register. A haul of around $70 is reported. Only cash was taken. The Sheriff's office obtained a number of finger prints of the intruders, but no arrests have been made at this time.

S. G. Adamson of Hedley was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

Whereas the earliest harvest Thanksgiving in America was kept by the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth in 1621, and it is very important that we should observe and keep the same spirit in our minds. Thanksgiving day has been observed from President Washington down to President Roosevelt.

Therefore, I, as Mayor of the City of Clarendon, respectfully request our citizens to observe Thursday, November 30th, 1933 as a holiday, and ask our business men to close their shops and houses for an old fashioned Holiday, and give God the glory for blessings bestowed upon us.

W. P. CAGLE, Mayor.

RATHJEN SPEAKS ON THANKSGIVING AT LIONS CLUB

County Administrator Shows Members Progress Being Made on Relief Work

The principal speaker at the Lions Club at their Tuesday luncheon was Fred W. Rathjen, who chose as his theme a very appropriate subject at this time of the season—Thanksgiving.

Few men if any in this section are better versed in history, Biblical or profane, than is Mr. Rathjen. He traced the Thanksgiving spirit from ancient times giving scriptural references as a basis of his assertions. Coming down to more modern times, he explained how the first "Thanksgiving Day" was established, and how it has been made a day of national observance. In poem and story he found the "spirit of thankfulness" ever standing out as man's most fervid expression of gratitude. This talk was pronounced one of the best ever presented the Club.

Mesdames H. L. Brady and Sam Braswell, and Messrs. Sam Braswell and G. L. Boykin sang a quartet Thanksgiving number.

County administrator Odos Caraway reported in detail the accomplishments and future plans of CWA in Donley county. His assurance that all unemployed would find a remunerative place in the work projects, was an announcement most gratifying.

Ralph Andis, Walter Clifford and Eddie Teer were appointed on the property committee to make arrangements for the Lion minstrel December 8th.

Rev. W. E. Ferrell, pastor of the First Christian church was introduced as a new member.

THANKSGIVING TO BE OBSERVED IN CLARENDON

Union Church Services Will Be Held at Christian Church 10 a. m.

Thanksgiving Day will be fittingly observed here tomorrow in several ways that will impress upon the minds of the people the significance of the occasion. First, in the morning a union church service will be conducted at the Christian church.

Presiding Elder M. M. Beavers of the Methodist church has been selected by the ministerial association to deliver the sermon. A special choir will sing and special music has been arranged for the observance of the day in which we express our gratitude to Him for the blessings of the season.

In the afternoon at 2:30 the Bronchos play the Hereford Whitefaces at the College Park. The Hereford team players are sectional champions of their district. This game is predicted as the last one of the season, and one of the very best.

Practically all of the business places will be closed except filling stations after 10 a. m. This will enable those working in doors an opportunity to take a hunting trip long planned. Many will visit in other places and several families will stick to the custom of hieing away to a canyon retreat for the picnic lunch and stroll among Panhandle's rugged beauty spots. Several have planned a trip to Palo Duro State Park near Canyon.

Al G. Smith's condemnation of Roosevelt money policies follows closely after the visit of Smith to the White House last week. Along with Al went John J. Raskob, former republican bell-weather and more recently financial agent of the democrats some four years ago. Perhaps John's application to become secretary of the treasury did not appeal so strongly to Roosevelt, who remembers Mellen's hellish tactics. Mellen and Raskob are only two of the very few men who today control the finances of the nation.

Reading from the Falmouth (Ky) Outlook this week, it is noted that the tobacco market in Lexington is to be opened December 4th. They "hope" that the tobacco market will open at "2 cents" and we naturally conclude that it has been even lower than that recently.

Out here, we get the tobacco after it has been pressed into cakes or plugs, and pay around 60 to 80 cents per pound for it. Somebody is being highjacked on the tobacco racket, and it is more than likely the grower who sells it at 2 cents.

Senator Wm. E. Borah, he who made his political fortune more than thirty years ago when he refused to become a tool of the trust and send union men to death for the alleged murder of Gov. Schullenberger of Idaho, while Borah was district attorney, this week comes to the defense of President Roosevelt's money ideas.

Senator Borah, long the chairman of the powerful Foreign Relations Committee of the U. S. Senate, has private ideas that easily become public property because of his characteristic honesty.

Senator Borah tells Wall street bankers and their henchmen that it is not worth while to condemn Roosevelt's financial policy and ask a return to the gold standard from which we still continue to suffer. "The gold dollar is the most dishonest dollar ever created", says the Idaho senator, a lifelong republican progressive.

That "40 acres and a mule" idea that originated back in the Ozarks a good many years ago, is again taking root. Only this time they have it dressed up. It will now be known as "subsistence farm homesteads." The idea is that the government make it possible by long term loans and low interest-principal payments, for people to own a small acreage and produce most of their living at home. The small homesteads are designed chiefly for factory workers.

One such project is to be located near Dallas. Col. Bill Easterwood is chief ramrod of the deal they propose to put over with a black mud foundation. Dr. (of some kind but don't know what) C. C. Taylor, a government official, has been down and looked the country over and suggests a location between Ft. Worth and Dallas somewhere near Arlington. The gas bills will be less, unless they want to "do" both towns the same day. With a small acreage, an inexperienced man can get by on a farm if he has a job at which he can earn a living in a factory. He must have that job before he will be permitted to take on any of this farm worry, according to the government bulletin telling us about the homestead projects.

The roadside billboard is on trial in Massachusetts. This whole great question of whether financial investments shall be permitted to mar the beauty of scenic landscapes and jeopardize the lives of autoists, will be decided by the Supreme Judicial Court at Boston this week.

We have plans in Texas to beautify the highways. Nothing would ad more to the beauty of the highways right now than the removal of billboards from near the highways. Some are located at turns where the obstruction endangers the lives of those traveling by auto when they suddenly face an oncoming car.

The one big question before Texas today is, is the commercial propaganda above the rights and liberties of the people? If the motoring public reads the billboards as intended, another liability is incurred in that the act itself has a tendency to render travel more hazardous by attracting the attention of the driver. This phase is more noticeable when the signs are placed in the vicinity of curves, intersections, underpasses, bridges and railway crossings. The motorist is supposed to read the signs when he slows up, but in doing so, he is often handed a harp by the angel Gabriel.

An idea is being advanced relative to the building of an auditorium in Clarendon at this time. The rural schools of the county are said to be agitating the question. They see in the movement an opportunity to have a basketball court where all the rural school contests may be held at a more central point.

An auditorium should by all means have a ball court that will accommodate all the schools of the county as occasion demands. There should be other provisions made for a gymnasium, an assembly hall, public library and other requirements that will come with the years, and not many years either.

We heartily endorse any movement that will bring closer together all the county schools. Any project that has a tendency to strengthen the bonds of friendship between the different peoples of the county is bound to be a good idea.

If such a building should be constructed, it would bring two or three big crowds to Clarendon every week during the school term. It would cultivate a trade territory that has been neglected. Citizens of Donley county would become more intimately acquainted and brought to realize that what is good for one section, is good for another. Best of all, it would bring about a more thorough spirit of cooperation, and that would mean a lot to all of those living in the county who have an interest in the welfare of her most progressive citizens.

With all her changing conditions and customs, our nation is not making any changes more radical than India. Not many years ago fanatical mothers pitched their babes to the crocodiles in the Ganges river, believing that the reptiles were sacred abodes of gods. Today the babes are not being used for reptile food, but modern invention demands that the crocodiles be snaked from the waters, their hides made into shoe leather, suitcases, handbags and other commodities finding a ready sale. Modern ideas have always been rather vexing to heathen gods who have occupied peculiar abodes.

Defying superstition, thieves last week robbed the "goddess of destruction," an idol in the temple of Dakahi Neswar near Calcutta, India last week of jewels valued at $40,000. This goddess known as "Kali," is supposed to visit destruction upon any one who sought to touch, much less take the jewels with which it was bedecked. Ten years hence, it will cost millions to guard idols after thieves learn that vengeance is not poured upon the heads of those who have departed from the faith.

Not far from the river are sacred temples which, up to a few years ago, were not desecrated by the entrance of foreigners under penalty of death to temple keepers. Today, the hated foreigner is a welcome visitor, provided he has the price. The priest of the temple pockets the money and guides and shows the visitors through temples that were held sacred for centuries. Commercialism has entered India's most sacred precincts.

Physician Advises How Colds May be Avoided

Austin, Texas, Nov. 28.—"Beware of the common cold," Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer, in a statement issued here today, cautioned the people of the State of Texas. "This is the season of the year when colds are most prevalent, and their consequences more far reaching. The organism causing the disease is not known, but every individual is acquainted with its effects."

Not a little of the susceptibility of catching colds can be overcome by a gradual acclimating to lowering temperatures and inclement outdoor weather. This hardening should begin now, and consist of regular exercise—walking is good—to be continued throughout the winter, in weather of every kind. Some things to avoid are wet stockings, drying on one's feet; over-heavy clothing; over-heated rooms.

There are two broad principles to observe in the treatment and prevention of colds. The first says: "Let the patient keep to himself, and keep his oral and nasal discharges to himself." This includes indiscriminate spitting, kissing, and other forms of contact.

The second principle requires doing away with coddling and over-protection of the body against the elements.

"The cold is a common disease," Dr. Brown said. "But every cold is important enough to justify careful attention and treatment for its immediate cure. Death-dealing pneumonia and tuberculosis may begin with colds that did not receive care and attention.

"Over-indulgence of devitalizing stimulants, such as alcohol, tobacco, tea, and coffee do much to lower the resistance to colds."

They Make Your Home Feeds Better!

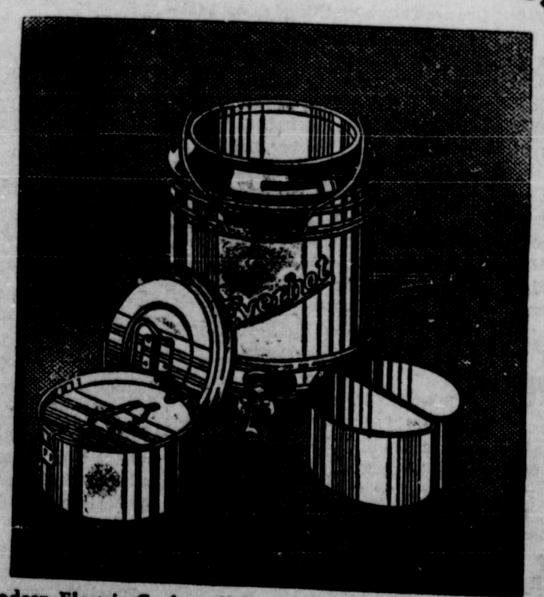

If you have lots of grain, of course you will want to feed it to your cows. But home grain does not make a complete dairy feed. It needs more protein and a better balanced protein to put the milk into it, and that's what Purina Cow Chow supplies. 34% Cow Chow is very rich protein feed for use when you have a surplus of home grains. 24% Cow Chow, the standard milk making ration, is medium rich in protein to go with a medium grain crop. TEMPLE OF TRUTH
By the Apostle

More people of all ages called at the Leader office Saturday than in any other one day since it was established. Most of them came in to pay their subscriptions. It is a mighty good time to pay up now while money is more plentiful. Besides, after the Leader has visited you every week when you were hemmed up by low prices, and needed every dime you could scrape together, any fair-minded man or woman would naturally feel like coming in and paying up at this time when times are a bit better.

Among the best looking and politest folks to call Saturday was a handsome young lady by the name of Billie Rhea Chenault. Polite, jenteel, appreciative and all that. When she left the office, she had an armload of pretty blotters and other things dear to the heart of a good girl of four years. We just naturally like little folks, and we have more calls from them than most any one else.

And there is Tommy Goodner. He comes down every week with his mother who brings in the articles written by her pupils. Tommy will be writing articles for the paper in a few years, too. "He's keen as a briar," as they used to say.

The idea of blindfolding the show windows while the clerk is arranging a display originated many years ago. He simply doesn't want the public watching him "loll" out his tongue while reaching over and under, etc. Gangs of people used to watch a clerk in a show window as if it was a circus—and it was.

"A centennial for Texas in 1936," has been changed to another form of slogan which runs like this: "every Texas citizen on a relief committee by January 1st."

Since they grow tame persimmons in all directions from here, there is no reason we should not grow them here. The Apostle of this column expects to bring in a shipment and sell them out at a cut rate to get them started. Those wanting the large tame fruit that insects do not destroy, or frost in the spring damage the crop, come in and get your name and the amount of trees wanted on the list. That bushel sent us by nurseryman J. E. Fitzgerald of Stephenville whose ad runs in the Leader every week, is about gone. We've got to raise some here folks, and we can grow them bigger and better than they can down in old Erath county. Let's show them how. It will take two years, but we can do it.

Thirty years ago women strangled their ankles with drygoods, but wore a peek-a-boo waist. Remember what a stir was created when that waist got loose on the public? It created a panic like the bloomer baseball team that made the country from out of boston, and known as the "Boston Bloomers."

When we took on bobbed heads and cigarettes, it looked like we were doomed for a while, but we recovered—all except a few fossils. Now the girls are smoking pipes in the east, and some will wonder what next. Well, old women were smoking clay pipes before the "civil" (?) war, and we lived over it—or our ancestors did.

It looks like we are going to have to take customs as they come just as we do the weather changes.

A drug store cowboy is a fellow whose skin is so tender that he gets sunburned when he hears a bright remark.

Down in the Jack end of Briscoe county, a man dreamed that he walked home from Silverton when his car broke down. When he woke up, he was so tired that he took a vacation and left his wife and the kids to gather the crop.

The College Hill widow says that the laziest man she ever knew took 18 baths in succession because no one would lift him out of the tub.

"Spank 'em, love 'em and pray for 'em" was the method employed in raising children forty years ago, and they were no better than those of today.

Mick Clark brought us a fine mess of carrots for which we thank him. This vegetable grows fine here if planted right. Mick says the seed should be planted a half inch deep and then tromp 'em in order to get a good stand. Of course you have to water them if the ground is dry.

Jimmie Chilton is manufacturing some sure enough good sausage. Not the slick, slimy, greasy kind that is generally found at a butcher shop, but the firm kind with just the right flavor. That good sausage combined with eggs at the present price, makes an ideal breakfast. You folks in town who do not have a "hog killing time," aught to try them. If we encourage honest products more, we will get more. You will find him at the City Grocery & Market just north of the postoffice. If you can't find him, ask Ed I. Fox, he can tell you where he is.

Some fellows expect to buy a heavenly harp on the 'extortion' plan of a penny in the plate every Sunday.

How a young man will "turn out," depends on when he "turns in."

Much as we dislike to increase the unhappiness in the world too intimately acquainted with giving, we are bound to have a "library drive" sooner or later right here in Clarendon. This is necessary if the school is to maintain its credit affiliations with the state. Junior colleges must expend a certain amount on its library every year. School tax payments are too slow to depend upon that alone. Dean Clark is getting worried about this feature, and we feel sure that the parent-teachers or some one else will start the movement and let us contribute books to make up the deficit. That is the better plan right now. Don't be surprised to hear this library question pop up right in front of you any day now. It's bound to come and the sooner we get it over with, the better we will feel about the matter.

As cheap as turkeys are right now, every one aught to serve eggs for their Thanksgiving dinner this Thursday. The packing house trust has done a plenty to the turkey growers, and it is to be hoped that they may be choked loose by Christmas and be made to pay what they are worth.

Eggs are high and getting higher. The higher they get the better they taste. Eggs are good served in any form except pipped.

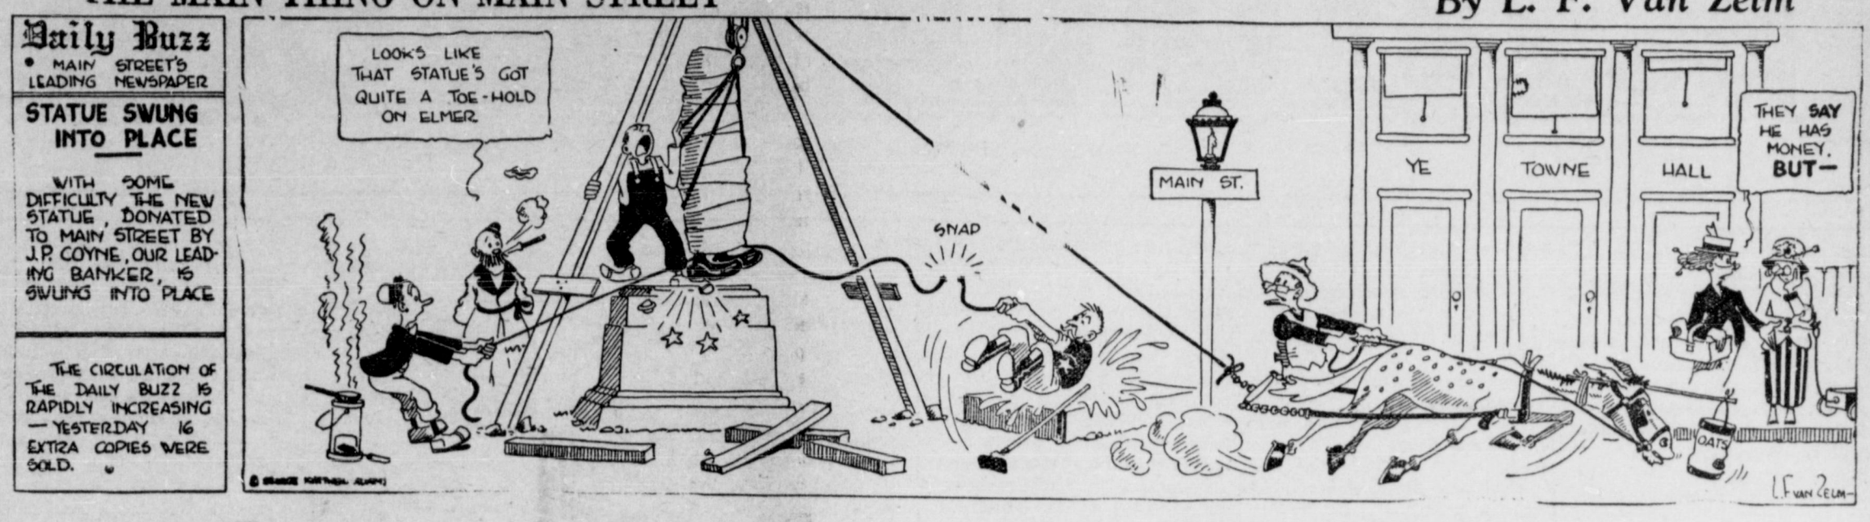

Speaking of bargains, here's what you can get at a modern hospital: free ambulance service to the hospital if you don't live too far. Swell room with bed linen to match the ceiling. Two towels with one cake of soap to match. Ice colored to match ice bag. Lovely nurse with complexion to suit the most fastidious, in a wide range of colors. (Hair will be dyed according to taste of patient). Appendix operation with the latest "over-lapping" stitches, an idea originating in Berlin or some place else. All your clothing returned when ready to leave, including watch, cigarette case and money, if any left, all for the mere price of $75.

The Chinese proverb says: "Love makes fools of women, but marriage makes them wise."

Here's hoping that all the Leader family has the best Thanksgiving dinner ever, and that all the papas and mammas will be made gladder by all the children coming home for the one big feed of the year.

THE GOLD RUSH OF 1848

(By Edith Vinson)

On the twenty-fourth day of January, 1848, gold was discovered in California. Just as soon as it was known, people began to flock there from all parts of the United States. They were called the "Forty-Niners." As their motto they used the expression, "California or bust." The first to go were probably the men without families, because the men with families would have to pack things before they could start out. There was quite a bit of disorder in that part of the country. Horse stealing and nugget stealing were counted as bad as killing. The ones who were caught at it were severely punished.

These Californians had to have some kind of communication. Boats could carry some of the exports, but the overland routes were the most interesting. The Merchant's Express and Pony Express carried mail from Missouri to San Francisco in ten days. During that period people thought they were going fast at that rate.

There were also stage lines which crossed twice a week from St. Louis, Missouri to San Francisco, California, in three weeks. In the year 1869 the Union Pacific Railroad was completed, and the dangerous days of stage travel were over.

Refreshments were served to Mmes C. R. Skinner, G. J. Teal, C. E. Lindsey, M. E. Thornton, J. H. Harris, J. L. Allison, J. A. Meades, Eva Womic, Miss Katie Meadors.

The club will meet December 12, in all day meeting at the home of Mrs. A. T. Miller.

Young Men Offer Motoring Public Peppy Service

That snap and appreciation that goes along with it when a fellow is trying to succeed, are characteristics of the two young men operating the Sinclair filling station on East First street.

Earl Ellis, aged 18, has grown up here. In growing up, that young fellow almost grew up under an auto for that is how he spent his spare time when not in school.

The other partner is J. Wilson Butler, late of Claude and another 18-year-old boy who has started out to side young Earl Ellis in wringing from the hard facts of the business world a share of the spoils of toil and hard thinking.

One cannot help but admire the earnest manner with which these two young fellows cater to the best interests of their customers, and incidently build more trade or patronage. They sell oil, gas and grease. Wash cars, fix flats and work on autos in general, both being experienced mechanics by both talent and training.

Gamblins Attend Funeral In Oklahoma Sunday

Mr. Weaver was an uncle of C. R. Gamblin, who with his family attended the funeral services Sunday returning here that night.

Editorial

Did you ever hear of the man who kept bumping himself on the head just for fun? You say no? Neither did we, but we have heard of students who kept on flunking and raising taxes. Papa pays taxes to send you to school, and every-time you fail, you cost the state more cash. Every time your card shows an average below 75, your dad's purse is flattened just so much, and you are out just so much 'whoopee!'. You may think that when you make a low grade, "oh well, that doesn't matter just so I get out of high school by the time I am twenty. It won't hurt anybody for me to stay in high school several more years than necessary and get to play ball. I will finally skimp by some way and get through high school by the time I am ready." You have no idea how wrong you are in thinking this. You do not learn as much that way as you do when you make good grades and pass every year. You should make good grades, get out of high school, go on to college and then you might amount to something. I can assure you that you will not if you fail every year or so. If you are interested in athletics, go on to college, they have athletic training there as well as in high school.

You not only hurt yourself, but you hurt your father and mother and other people around you because the longer you stay in high school, the more taxes they have to pay for you. Let's all make it our motto to make good grades.

"The Juniors"

One day last week the Juniors with their sponsor, Miss Hill, met to select our class colors and plan a banquet. Pink and white were chosen as our class colors. We have planned a banquet for November 28, hoping the weather is pretty. The banquet will be given at one of our junior's home, Moody Aten. We certainly appreciate her letting us have it at her home. All of us are planning on a big time and don't you kid yourself about our eats. We are going to have enough to make a king happy. We will try to eat enough for all our friends. One of the Juniors said, "Hot dog we will get to fill up again." We hope to make this the best Junior social this year.

We will tell you how good a time we have in our next paper. So look for it.

The Juniors as a class are improving in their studies and some are improving in their looks. But please don't tell them I said so.

Oh, yes, the Juniors are studying Chaucer in our English. If you don't know anything about his writings you will not know what we are suffering. It is awful. It is written in something like old English and we have to use notes to tell what it means. If you want to get by you sure have to study and then not know much more than you did before you read it. Some one take pity on us for we need it while we study his works.

The girls look forward for a good basketball season this year, although they have not had such a good start.

Thursday night the school girls played the town girls. After a hard fight at the end of the first quarter the score was school girls 10 and town girls6. Margaret Gerner came out on top for score, she made 6 out of the 10 points. The second quarter the town girls made up for lost time and put the score 11 to 19. During the half the town girls framed up something. They came back fighting and had the school girls worried. The first part of the third quarter the town showed what they could do. In the first place they kept the school girls from making but one point, while they made 4 points. The last quarter the school girls got down to business and made 7 points to the town 6. The school girls came out on top with the score of 27-21. Margaret Gerner shot the talley of 19 points to her credit.

Last Saturday night November 25, the Lelia boys and girls went to Goodnight. With nine cars and about 50 people went up beside the boys team. Although Goodnight won by a good measure, Miss Hill, the coach of the girls, thought as well as everyone else that they put up a good hard fight. Ruby Jones started out as jumping center. Ruby played a very good game. In the third quarter Bernice Self took her place. LaNelle Lewis played a very good game also as run center With out her help, Margaret would not have had half the chance that she did have. But in the third quarter a very sad thing happened for the Lelia girls. LaNelle was tripped and hurt her arm. Miss Hill was forced to take her out at once.

Although we did have a few mishaps, we are still planning on beating Goodnight, when they visit us.

First team players:

LaNelle Lewis, Margaret Gerner Ruth Davis, Margaret Cruse, Inez Wood.

Substitutes:

Geneva Robertson, Bernice Self, Maxine Tomlinson, Lorene Brown.

Can You eBat Them

We had a very interesting chapel program Friday afternoon when the tiny tots of Miss LaFon's room entertained us. The first number was a group of songs by the class. Next came the stories of little Miss Muffet, Lost, Little Shoes, and Little Black Sambo. Each story was acted out. The most interesting number was yet to come for Miss Joyce Tomlinson entertained by singing "Shuffle off to Buffalo" with Miss Lucile Hamm at the piano. So well was it enjoyed that she was encored and sang "Painting the Clouds with Sunshine." The chapel program was enjoyed by all who saw it. We hope that our next program will be as good.

Boys Basketball

The boys, the last two weeks that are to compose the team this year have not all been together for regular practice. Although we have five boys that are full of pep and have not failed their regular come back this year. We have ten boys this year that are interested in making the Zebras what they should be. The boys met Ashtola Thursday evening for only a practice game, which was very successful work out. We are expecting them down here soon.

Saturday night was the thrill for us. We were planning of course to win over the Goodnight Buffaloes. We met them at eight o'clock. At that time most of the boys were dead on their feet hollowing for the girls. The Buffs begin to show that they were going to win the game. The willingness of the Zebras had not been lost, for they stayed in there and fought until the final whistle blew. The score was 12-22 in favor of the Buffaloes

The starting team was James Reynolds, Tommie Allen, Pat Stebbin, Morris Finch, Billie Howard. The substitutes were E. J. Myers, J. T. Floyd, D. W. Tomlinson, Elbert Bain, Laird Reeves.

OVERNIGHT CAMP

I had forgotten for the moment how
Blue bonfire smoke blows bitter in the eyes,
How resin crackles in the hemlock bough,
And cedar snaps, and pithy poplar sighs.
I had forgotten—how the stars hang thick
In all the branches of the steepled trees,
How darkness falls, so chilly-clad and quick,
And night wind patters on the aspen leaves.
But as I stood and watched the sparks prick holes
In the deep depth of night, it all came back—
That feel of woods, the ruddy glow of coals,
The throb of other nights so still and black:

And half-forgotten memories, by the quire,
Lit up again, and danced before the fire.

Principals Are Interested In Their Graduates

The real efficiency and success of a school system and its principal heads is reflected through the future activity of its graduates.

The soundness of high school training is not proven until one has faced the world's problems and tested the foundation of his education.

It is only natural, therefore, that high school superintendents and principals have a keen interest in the future plans of each of their graduates, since their success to a large degree is governed by the success of their former students.

If high school principals should keep a record of the lives of their graduates for a period of twenty years, it would be interesting. A few would probably reach an outstanding place in life, some would be complete failures, but the majority would be average citizens in a position merely to dispose of the ordinary duties of life. Only individuals who are a little better prepared than this great mass are in demand.

Entirely too many young people, in making their plans after graduating from high school, fail to realize the difference in schools, as well as the courses they have to offer. Every student could not attend the university and be a successful doctor, lawyer, engineer, or teacher; neither could they attend a business or vocational school and all be successful. There is a specific place in life for everyone. Much thought should be given to the selection of specialized training. Consult your high school principal or superintendent. He will welcome an opportunity to help you. He is interested in you.

Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration will also assist you in selecting the proper type of specialized training. Ask for their valuable book, "Achieving Success in Business." Use the coupon below.

HOW WOMEN CAN WIN MEN AND MEN WIN

The Favor of Other Men

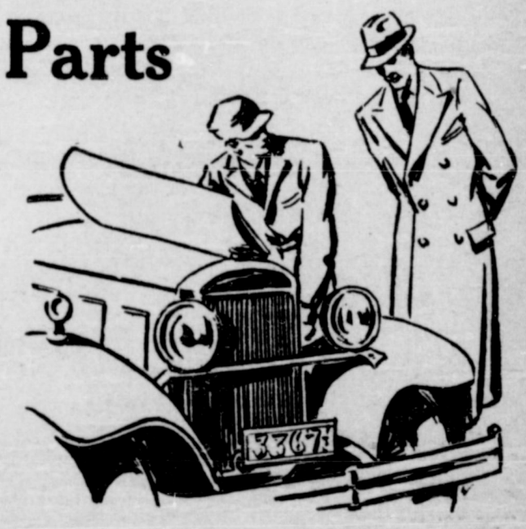

Unless two pints of bile juice flow daily from your liver into your bowels, your food decays in your bowels. This poisons your whole body. Movements get hard and constipated. You get yellow tongue, yellow skin, pimples, dull eyes, bad breath, bad taste, gas, dizziness, headache. You have become an ugly-looking, foul-smelling, sour-thinking person. You have lost your personal charm. Everybody wants to run from you.

But don't take salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills, laxative candies or chewing gums and expect them to get rid of this poison that destroys your personal charm. They can't do it, for they only move out the tail end of your bowels and that doesn't take away enough of the decayed poison. Cosmetics won't help at all.

Only a free flow of your bile juice will stop this decay poison in your bowels. The one mild vegetable medicine which starts a free flow of your bile juice is Carter's Little Liver Pills. No calomel (mercury) in Carter's. Only fine, mild vegetable extracts. If you would bring back your personal charm to win men, start taking Carter's Little Liver Pills according to directions today. 25¢ at drug stores.

Refuse "something just as good", for it may gripe, loosen teeth or scald rectum. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for. ©1933, C.M.Co.

Car Parts

When your motor begins to give you trouble, we can fix it. If the parts are worn, we have used parts to replace those that are worn.

Our car parts are taken from wrecked cars and are practically good as new at about half the cost.

If you want only new parts used, we will follow your instructions in this regard, too.

ELLIS Wrecking Company

Auto Top & Body Shop

In addition to the unsightly breaks in your fenders that are constantly getting worse, perhaps you have breaks in the body or frame. We have one of the latest improved methods for welding these breaks by the acetylene torch method.

Breaks properly welded, show little after the job is completed with a painted surface, when ready to leave the shop.

The expense of welding is so small that you can't afford to endure the noise that a break naturally makes when the auto is in motion. Remember, that a break never heals. It must be welded.

Taking the dents out of fenders is a part of our business.

Our Weekly CHURCH CHAT

W. E. FERRELL
Minister First Christian Church

"Lesson of the Harvest."

And the Lord spake unto Moses saying, "Speak unto the children of Israel, and say unto them, when ye come into the land which I give unto you, and shall reap the harvest thereof, then ye shall bring a sheaf of the first fruits of your harvest unto the priests; and ye shall wave the sheaf before the Lord, to be accepted for you: on the morrow after the sabbath the priest shall wave it." Lev. 23:9-11.

It is easy to see the significance of this rite to the Israelites. God wanted to be associated with everything in their lives, and these offerings were to be brought, first, in recognition of His goodness, second, as a reminder of their dependence upon Him. We have outgrown much that was taught to us by the Jews, but we have not outgrown the necessity of associating God with out daily life and acknowledging His as Giver of life and all it holds for us.

Let then, this harvest festival or Thanksgiving season remind us: Of the bountiful kindness of God in supplying His creatures' needs. Year by year earth's inhabitants are fed, clothed, warmed. Generations come and go, nations rise and fall, yet God forgets not to send seed-time and harvest, day and night.

II. This season and festival reminds us, too, of the necessary connection between the Divine benevolence and human efforts. Our yearly harvests are the results of God and man working together. It is man with God and God with man, that effects the provisions for human wants.

III. This season and festival reminds us also of the relation between seed time and harvest. God has determined that life shall be lived on this principle: "Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." From wheat we get wheat, from tares we get tares, from nothing we get nothing. Put off no longer your sowing time. Set to work diligently. Plow, sow, tend. In due time you shall reap.

Sunday is being observed as Bible day all over the world. Our morning subject will be, "The Bible." Sunday is also Missionary day, and our evening subject will be "Missions."

Examinations For Conservationists (Forestry) Various Grades

The United States Civil Service Commission will accept applications until December 12 for positions of conservationists (forestry) of various grades, to fill vacancies under the Forest Service, Department of Agriculture. These new positions have been created by the emergency work approved by the Public Works Board as a part of the National Recovery Act program, and appointments may be only for the duration of such work.

A separate list of eligibles in each grade will be established for each of the following optionals: Erosion control, silviculture, range management, forest or range ecology, forest economics, forest administration, forest survey, forest recreation, and forest land acquisition.

The salaries range from $2,600 to $6,400 a year, less a deduction of not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3½ per cent.

Full information may be obtained from Miss Norma Rhode, Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in this city.

GEOGRAPHY AND THE HOMICIDE RATE

Your life is in less danger of homicidal attack if you live in Maine or Vermont than it is elsewhere in the United States. The danger of homicide is greatest in Nevada. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company, whose statisticians have been making a survey of the relation of geography to homicide find that Nevada has more than five times as many homicides, in proportion to population, as the two New England states mentioned.

The insurance company's figures differentiate between white and negro homicides. In the country as a whole, the homicide rate among white persons is about 5 per 100,000 of population, while for negroes it is 38.4 per 100,000 or more than seven times as great.

The figures as a whole do not indicate that the homicidal tendency pays much attention to regional or state boundaries. The rate is very low in the New England states and quite high in the South, particularly in the eastern part of the South. In the Middle West and in the Far West, the rate is low, but one finds Missouri and Illinois in the Middle West, and Montana and Wyoming in the Far West, with homicide rates well above the average for the country as a whole

No figures for Texas or South Dakota are included in the reckoning, vital statistics from these states being unavailable.

One factor in connection with the homicide rate among negroes is that it trends sharply upward in cities whose negroes live mostly in the rural districts have relatively low negro homicide rates. Thus Mississippi has a negro homicide rate of 35.6, which is appreciably below the rate for negroes the country over. In Indiana, Michigan Tennessee, Illinois and Missouri, states in which much of the negro population is urban, the rate ascends sharply. These figures indicate that city life, with its congestion, temptations and unwholesome living conditions, is highly conducive to homicide among negroes.

That the same general rule does not hold good for the white population is shown by the fact that in New England, where there are many sizable cities, the homicide rate among whites is the lowest of any part of the United States. In the middle Atlantic states, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, the rate is below the country's average.

There does not, in fact, appear to be any special condition that affects the homicide rate for whites. Some states whose population is largely rural have more than the average number of homicides, and some other states with large urban population, like Illinois and Missouri, likewise have high homicide rates. The cause apparently is not a geographical one, or does the proportion of non-urban inhabitants have any particular effect upon it.

The large negro population in the southern states is undoubtedly a major factor in the high homicide rates of those states. Nevada's unenviable ranking cannot, of course, be attributed to its negro population, for its proportion of negro inhabitants is quite small. In Nevada, as in some others of the western states whose rate is high, the ceapness of human life may be attributed to the frontier influence. That influence undoubtedly manifests itself in Texas, where most of the laws governing trials of homicide cases are relics of the frontier days when he lived longest who shot quickest and straightest.

If there is any one factor that makes for unduly high homicide rates among white people in this country, it is this attitude toward gun-play that is a heritage of frontier times. Human life is too cheap in such states because the public has not yet cast off its frontier state of mind and brought about the changes in the laws that would make conviction more prompt and more certain. The state other than southern states in which the homicide rate is highest—Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Montana and Wyoming, are those in which there are no larger cities and in which the frontier influence is still very strong.

The seriousness of the homicide problem in this country is revealed by the fact that, entirely excluding the figures for negroes, this country has three times as many homicides, population considered, as Canada has, and about 11 times as many as Great Britain has. Much of Canada is still frontier country, but Canadians have discarded frontier modes of thought in dealing with murder.

Several of the folks from here attended the all day singing at Martin Sunday. The report is that they had a wonderful time and the lunch was very appropriate for the occasion.

Mr. W. H. Lemons and family spent Sunday at Goldston with Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Rhodes.

Sunday school was not so good Sunday as it could have been. We need our Sunday school to go on in spite of other things, but if everybody does not take an interest it cannot be done. I am sure that if everybody attended the Sunday service as they should that any of us could not go wrong unless we just wanted to. God should come first in all things, but I am afraid that not very many of us put him first.

There was a party given for the young folks in Mr. Howel's home Saturday night.

Teachers attending the Texas State Teachers Association Convention in Austin during the Thanksgiving Holidays will hear two programs given by the pupils of the Texas School for the Blind. The first program will be given Friday morning, December 1st, in the Hogg Memorial Auditorium on the University of Texas campus. The second will be given Saturday afternoon, December 2nd, in the large Gregory Gymnasium, also on the University campus.

Teachers from every part of the state are expected to attend the meeting.

"Tell me what you read," some wise man said, "and I'll tell you what you are." If this statement be true, a portion of the state and elsewhere aspires to be six-gun cow punchers astride galloping paint ponies. This conclusion is based on the fact that Zane Grey and other popular authors of western stories are read more by the people everywhere.

S. S. Van Dine, the creator of the Philo Vance detective stories, ranks next to the western writers as most popular author. Emerson Hough's, author of the "Covered Wagon," and Mary R. Roberts Rhinehart, author of the "Circular Staircase," are the titles most in demand by a great many people. The Louisa M. Alcott and the Jean Straton-Porter books are very good for people at all ages to read, and more especially, the Alcot books are good for the smaller children. The more serious minded folks prefer "Emerson's Essays" or W. Durant's "Story of Philosophy" and similar non-fiction boks. Sinclair Lewis, author of "Babbit" interests some people, however, in spite of the fast that he won Noble prize in literature mainly on the merits of this book.
