More Blasts Jar Sector In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Two more explosions tore through the Chicago darkness early today. The latest blasts came shortly before 3 a.m. in the West Side parking lot of an ice cream firm. Police said no one was injured.

The explosions ripped apart three ice cream trucks used by the firm. Police said the blasts blew out windows in nearby buildings and awoke many families.

ROCK DOWNTOWN

A total of five mysterious explosions have occurred in the Chicago area since early Wednesday. Three of the blasts rocked the downtown section of the city.

Police said that the explosives used in the latest blasts were rigged to the bumpers of the ice cream trucks.

Two men were reportedly seen running from the scene of this morning's explosions and police were searching the West Side area.

THIRD BLAST

The third bomb blast occurred late Sunday night in downtown Chicago. No injuries were reported in that blast.

Police said Sunday night's explosion occurred under a car belonging to an employee of the Chicago Tribune. Three cars were damaged by the explosion and dozens of windows were blown out in the nearby Wrigley Building in the northern downtown section near the Chicago River.

Fire Commissioner Robert J.

Quinn, who lives two blocks away, said he felt the explosion in his apartment.

On the scene Quinn said, "It has all the appearances of a bomb blast."

As in the earlier explosions, authorities were unable to provide a motive.

Here's Latest Progress Report On Mariner 4

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mariner 4 is on the inside and closing fast.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory today issued a progress report on the U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4, expected to take up to 21 pictures Wednesday when it passes Mars at a distance of 6,000 miles.

At 6 a.m. Pacific Daylight Time Mariner 4 was 132,223,060 miles from earth, only 595,357 miles from the red planet and approaching it at a speed of 9,874 miles per hour.

U.S. Combat Infantrymen Land In Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The first large force of U.S. combat infantrymen—3,900 men of the 1st Infantry Division—began landing in Viet Nam today.

The first 1,000 men of "Big Red One," as the division was known in World War II, landed at strategic Cam Ranh Bay, 180 miles northeast of Saigon, and dug in on the sand dunes.

The remainder of the famed division's 2nd Brigade will land elsewhere in Viet Nam Tuesday, a U.S. spokesman said.

TO 71,000

The landings will bring the total of U.S. troops in Viet Nam to 71,000.

The brigade commander, Col. James Simmons, said the first mission of his troops will be to protect the U.S. Army's 35th Engineer group, which is working on harbor improvements at the huge bay.

"Later, when we get our feet on the ground, we'll get out there and find the Viet Cong," he said.

RED BUILDUP

There has been little Viet Cong action in the area of the bay in recent months, but a big Communist buildup has been reported in the hills and mountains inland from it. U.S. sources said Communist strength may be as much as a regiment.

Thirty U.S. Air Force planes made repeated strikes on ordnance depots north of Hanoi today, military spokesmen said.

One mission took four F102s and eight F4s, with three other aircraft in support, over the Yen Bai depot, 77 miles northwest of Hanoi. The pilots reported destroying two buildings and damaging three others, and damaging two railroad cars in a railroad maintenance yard just south of the depot.

Fifteen planes attacked the Yen Se ordnance depot and ammunition dump about 65 miles northwest of Hanoi, the spokesmen said, and pilots reported damaging four buildings.

Eleven Saved, Eight Dead In AF Crash

Presidential Aides

Survivors Put Aboard Vessels

FALMOUTH, Mass. (AP)—The Coast Guard and Air Force said today 11 men were rescued and eight bodies recovered from the 19-man crew of an Air Force plane down in the fog-shrouded North Atlantic.

A spokesman at Otis Air Base said one crewman, missing hours after all others had been accounted for, was alive and aboard a German destroyer.

FROM OTIS

Lt. Cmdr. William T. White, duty officer at Salem Coast Guard rescue station, said all survivors were taken aboard American and German destroyers.

The four-engine, propeller driven radar picket plane took off from Otis last night.

The bodies all were reported aboard the U.S. destroyer Barry out of Newport, R.I. Three survivors also were aboard the Barry.

Helicopters from the U.S. carrier Wasp, on maneuvers in the area along with the German navy vessels, picked up most of the crewmen and deposited them on board one of the German ships.

SMALL BOATS

At least two men were picked up by small boats.

Names of the survivors and other crewmen were not immediately available.

The rescues were undertaken despite a fog which limited visibility to from 50 to 100 yards. The seas were reported as moderate, yet too rough for a sea plane to land.

The German vessels, operating on maneuvers with the USS Wasp, are the former American destroyers USS Anthony, USS Ringgold and the USS Wadsworth.

ABOARD VESSEL

The men were put aboard the vessel formerly known as the Anthony and now carrying the name Blotter.

A search area of 80 square miles have been clocked off, the Coast Guard said.

The Coast Guard said an Air Force plane, just a minute earlier, had received six SOS signals on a radio frequency used by transmitters normally kept on emergency rafts.

Until that time there had been only one possible signal from survivors — and then no further word through the night.

The flares and markers of dye dumped in the ocean waters were spotted with the first rays of morning sunlight.

HUNT IN FOG

Rescue planes and ships had searched in thick fog late Sunday night and early this morning. More planes and ships were rushed to the scene at dawn.

The Coast Guard said debris, papers and an oil slick had also been sighted in the area where the plane went down.

Otis Air Force Base said the four-engine EC121 radar picket plane dropped into the Atlantic Ocean Sunday night northeast of Nantucket Island.

Moments before, one of the three pilots aboard had radioed that one engine was aflame, another was feathered and they were forced to ditch.

A Pan American World Airways jetliner en route to Europe from New York was diverted to the scene and circled overhead, as a full-scale military search and rescue mission was organized.

Limited Call Of Reserves Said Talked

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that many high-ranking military officers and congressmen feel a limited call-up of reserves will soon be necessary to carry on the war in Viet Nam.

A story by the Times' military expert, Hanson W. Baldwin, said a sizeable increase in the 1966 defense budget also will be needed.

EXPAND ROLE

He described the anticipated increase in financial and manpower requirements as part of "preparations for a larger war role" by the United States.

"Increased American casualties are foreseen, and there is an undercurrent of doubt in some quarters whether the United States public has been adequately prepared for such a heightened conflict," he wrote.

The story cited indications by President Johnson that the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam "would have to go well beyond the present publicly announced goal of 75,000 men," and added:

TO 100,000

"In fact, officers say, forces already in Viet Nam, plus those on the way or programmed, would bring the total of United States ground troops in South Viet Nam to somewhere between 100,000 and 150,000."

Listing the various military units already there or due to go there, the report says:

"Conventional battles are anticipated rather than the hit-and-run ambushes and the sometimes aimless 'search and destroy' patrolling of recent days."

"The reasoning behind the United States assumption of combat responsibilities on the ground is based on a combination of factors, including the apparent ineffectuality of the government forces, the growing Viet Cong and the belief that there is no other way to save the country."

J. C. Mott will preside at the election of officers for the association for its 33rd year.

He will also serve as master of ceremonies at the program to follow the barbecue. The welcome address will be by Mrs. F. O. Rhodes. Mrs. M. E. Estes will recognize special guests, and Mrs. Leo Turner will be in charge of the costume contest.

The study is under way less than a month after Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara authorized the formation of the first such division, called "airmobile."

The 1st Cavalry Division (Airmobile) came into being formally on July 1 at Ft. Benning, Ga. No final decision has been made on whether to send it to South Viet Nam later on, sources said.

The airmobile division is made up of about 15,800 men. It has both regular infantry and paratrooper brigades.

RIDE TO BATTLE

After being carried close to the combat zone by Air Force transports, the airborne soldiers would mount up in their 428 helicopters and ride to the battle.

The Army is due to come in with its recommendations involving a possible second airmobile division in time for drafting the next defense budget late this year.

It is not known yet whether another infantry division or one of the two wholly paratrooper divisions would be converted.

The Army now has 16 divisions. In addition to the new 1st Cavalry Division Airmobile and the two airborne outfits, they break down into eight infantry divisions, one mechanized infantry division and four armored divisions.

SPECIAL CAPABILITY

The Defense Department has said the airmobile division was adopted "because of its special capabilities which are not found in the other divisions."

The airmobile unit, the Pentagon said, "will make its greatest contribution to improved combat effectiveness in operations where terrain obstacles and underdeveloped communications networks could give enemy guerrillas or light infantry forces an advantage over our standard formations."

Nearing Mars, Mariner Chilly

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—If days after Mariner 4 was launched Nov. 28, Jet Propulsion Laboratory engineers said a resistor had failed. They rigged a computer to compensate for the failure and for a while made some sense of the data the instrument was radiating to earth.

But the farther the spacecraft went away from the sun in its curving voyage out to Mars, the colder it got. Weakened by the resistor failure, the plasma probe became more temperamental — dependent than other parts of the craft. Eventually, decoding the gibberish took more expensive computer time than was feasible.

SUN HEAT

Mariner 4 was designed to maintain an internal temperature of 55 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit despite the cold of space, absorbing just enough heat from the sun to supplement heat generated by its electrical instruments. But even this narrow range was too much for the sick plasma probe. It chattered from the cold.

The probe is ailing, but not dead yet. There is hope that when the television camera is turned on July 14 the camera may generate enough heat to revive the plasma-measuring device. Or, the shock front of plasma believed concentrated in the neighborhood of Mars may be intense enough to register on the probe's radiation counter.

PROVIDE DATA

The instrument, called a solar plasma probe, is one of several which scientists hope will provide more really new information about Mars than the 21 photographs Mariner 4's television camera can take.

The probe, designed to measure the hot, radioactive gases — called plasma — boiling off from the sun, went haywire 10

Reshuffle On In Algeria

ALGIERS (AP)—Col. Houari Boumedienne has named two moderates to key positions in a new, 20-member cabinet and has downgraded the top economic aide of ousted President Ahmed Ben Bella.

Boumedienne named as minister of state Rabah Bitat, one of the nine so-called historic leaders of the Algerian war for independence.

The colonel, who commands the army, named himself premier and defense minister. He included only nine members of Ben Bella's cabinet.

Bachir Boumazza, architect of Ben Bella's socialist economic policies, was reduced to information minister. A moderate, Abdessalam Belaid, 37, replaced him as minister of industry and energy.

Party Boots Out Ben-Gurion Group

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Former Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and his followers were expelled today from Israel's dominant Mapai Labor party for forming a separate list of candidates for the November election.

The party's central committee, led by Premier Levi Eshkol, voted the expulsion 213-9. Ben-Gurion was not present but most of his supporters on the committee were.

STANTON—Old timers were gathering in Stanton today for the 32nd Annual Stanton Old Settlers Reunion. Registration began at 2 p.m.

Tuesday is the big day, however, according to Mrs. Morgan Hall, secretary of the Stanton Old Settlers Association. A mammoth parade at 4 p.m. will be a featured event. Special attraction will be a "masked mystery rider." This unknown, clad from hat to toe in black and with his face masked, will be in the line of march. Whoever is able to identify the rider will receive a prize.

At 7 p.m. Tuesday, a big barbecue dinner will be served at the park. Normally, the barbecue draws 700 to 800.

Mrs. Hall, who has been secretary of the association since it was first started, said there are only two persons who have never missed a reunion. She herself has missed but one session, she said, although she was secretary at the time.

Her husband, Morgan Hall, and George Shelburn have perfect attendance records.

The reunions, she recalled, began with basket picnic dinners. It built up into its present form over the years.

Mrs. Joe Stewart is in charge of registration which is to be in the Stallings Insurance Agency.

Parade marshal is to be Billy

Polo-Playing Prince Hurt

WINDSOR, England (AP) — Polo-playing Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, was hit on the back of the neck with a ball Sunday.

The prince, 44, slumped forward over his pony's neck. As the 3,000 spectators gasped, other players galloped up and helped massage his bruises.

After two minutes, the prince took his place and steered his Windsor Park team to victory over Chequers Manor by 8½ goals to 3.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

At all drug counters.

Demonstration In Bogalusa Will Resume

BOGALUSA, La. (AP) — Civil rights leaders planned new demonstrations today and said hundreds of volunteers, including clergymen, soon will be on the scene.

James Farmer, director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said CORE was calling on "selected volunteers" and Protestant, Jewish and Roman Catholic religious representatives.

Both sides — civil rights forces and militant segregationists — staged rival protest marches Sunday without serious incident.

POLICE GUARD
Marchers moved along a downtown route guarded by about 350 police packing riot guns, submachine guns and billyclubs, with tear gas masks on their belts. Two state police helicopters hovered overhead.

Police shepherded some 450 whites along the route first. Then 600 Negroes, with a sprinkling of whites, marched after the whites were dispersed.

At one point, a firecracker burst over the Negro procession. Those nearby flinched. Officers brought their guns to the ready.

Police arrested a white spectator spotted holding a piece of iron in his hand. He was identified as Milton E. Parker, 21, of nearby Bush, who complained to police Saturday that he was shot at as he rode a motor scooter through a Negro sector.

State troopers earlier had set up roadblocks to stop incoming traffic. Motorists were questioned and their identification examined.

ROADBLOCKS HIT

The roadblocks were criticized by the Rev. Connie Lynch of San Bernardino, Calif., who wore a Confederate flag vest as he marched at the head of the white column.

"Those turned back know there was some kind of conspiracy to keep them away," said the Rev. Mr. Lynch, who has been conducting National States Rights party meetings here.

Whites marched with rebel yells and cheers. They waved Confederate flags, which the Rev. Mr. Lynch called symbols of "white supremacy." The Negro march was silent.

The state sent 375 state police into this city of 22,000 — the scene of recent racial shootings and other violence — to help the 36-man city police force keep the peace.

The six-month-old civil rights drive by the Bogalusa Civic and Voters' League, backed by CORE, aims for desegregation of public facilities and equal job opportunities.

Slayer Of Georgia Policeman Shot

PITTS, Ga. (AP) — The only policeman in this small south Georgia town was killed by a Negro motorist he had stopped for driving under the influence of alcohol Sunday night. The Negro was shot to death by state troopers about two hours later. Trooper Bobby Christian said the motorist, John Thompson, about 30, "started shooting at us" when Christian and trooper E. W. Forrest approached him in a field near his home.

The trooper said I. W. Bohannon, 32, and the father of 12, had stopped Thompson on a dirt road.

Bohannon was shot as he approached Thompson's car.

Agency Scored In Ship Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — A shipowners spokesman has charged the Maritime Administration with lack of understanding of the issues in the 28-day-old Engineers strike which has idled scores of vessels.

Negotiations broke off Saturday, with no progress reported. Federal mediators resumed the talks today.

"ISSUES SERIOUS"

Ralph Casey, president of the American Merchant Marine Institute, disclosed Sunday he had written to Nicholas Johnson, chief of the Maritime Administration, saying there was "an abysmal lack of understanding—at least in your office if not in Washington as a whole—of what this strike is all about."

Casey also made public a letter sent to all engineer officers employed by the strikebound companies. It criticized the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (MEBA).

Casey contended the issues in the strike are far more serious than a question of an arbitrator or additional compensation for engineers aboard mechanized vessels.

FUTURE AT STAKE

"Not only are these companies struggling for their very existence, but it is safe to say that the future of the American merchant marine is at stake," Casey wrote.

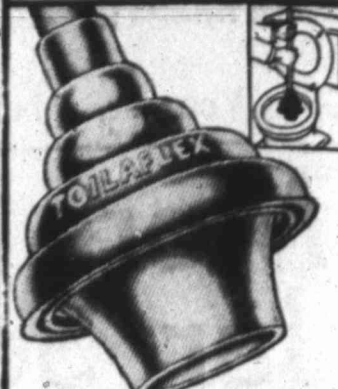

"Whether you know it or not, the subsidized lines in this bargaining group are fighting a battle for the United States government."

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ A 7 ♥ A 9 7 5 4 ♦ A J 8 4 3 ♣ 8

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♦ Pass 2 ♣ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Three spades. With this attractive distribution, you should give partner one more chance. A single raise at this point is a mild effort inasmuch as partner could have passed two diamonds.

Q. 2—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠ K 10 9 4 ♥ Q J 4 ♦ J 9 8 ♣ A 8 3

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
Pass Pass 1 ♥ Pass
1 ♠ Pass 3 ♣ Pass
3 ♥ Pass 4 ♥ Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Five clubs. Your one-over-one response and mere preference for partner's first bid suit have shown nothing above minimum strength. In fact you have an above average hand facing a game forcing jump and there could easily be a slam. You should show the ace of clubs.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:

♠ K Q 8 ♥ 10 8 4 2 ♦ 10 7 5 ♣ K J 7

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
Pass Pass Pass 1 ♦
Pass 1 NT Pass Pass

What do you bid now?

A—Double. You have a good prospect of winning at least three and possibly four tricks so that a penalty of at least 200 is in view, with a chance for more.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠ 6 2 ♥ A 7 ♦ A J 10 8 5 ♣ K Q 3

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
Pass 1 ♦ 1 ♥ Double

What do you bid now?

A—While you have sufficient excess values to justify a free rebid, you should refrain from doing so merely to give your partner the courtesy of the road. He may be able to punish one spade, the rescue bid. If so, you must not get in his way.

Q. 5—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠ A K 9 8 4 ♦ A 8 4 2 ♣ A J 9 5

The bidding has proceeded:

East South West North
1 ♠ Double 2 ♠ 3 ♥
Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Inasmuch as your partner made a free bid of three hearts you should be mildly interested in a slam. This intention should be flashed by means of a cue bid of three spades. Observe that, we would not consider the hand quite strong enough for an immediate cue bid, but now that partner has spoken voluntarily the hand shapes up to be much more impressive.

Q. 6—As South vulnerable, you hold:

♠ A 4 ♥ K Q 8 4 ♦ A K 10 2 ♣ 9 6 3

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—At least five hearts, with six hearts an acceptable second choice. Valued at hearts your hand contains 17 points and partner has promised a holding of 16 in high cards.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable and as South you hold:

♠ A K J 10 ♥ A K ♦ A Q 8 4 2 ♣ J 8

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♦ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass

What do you bid now?

A—This is a close choice and, in the special circumstances, we are inclined to favor a rather unusual bid, namely three hearts. If partner chooses to go on to four that may be the best contract. However, we would accept as correct a direct raise to three no trump.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠ 5 ♥ 6 ♦ Q 10 9 8 7 6 4 2 ♣ K 7 5

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South
1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid?

A—It is difficult to lay down rules for hands containing eight-card suits. It is equally difficult to estimate their trick-taking possibilities. It amounts to sheer guesswork and our guess is in favor of a five diamond bid on the theory that there is more to be gained than lost by taking this action.

PASO Wants Yarborough For Governor

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A Latin American political group has charged Gov. John Connally with "power grabbing" and formally gone on record urging Sen. Ralph Yarborough to seek the Texas governorship in 1966.

Some 150 delegates attending the annual convention of the Political Association of Spanish-Speaking Organizations over the weekend also heard calls for a stronger coalition in Texas between labor, Latin Americans, Negroes and liberal Democrats.

A resolution was passed urging Yarborough, re-elected to a six-year Senate term last year, to enter the 1966 gubernatorial race so that "the government of Texas shall be returned to the people."

Elected new PASO state chairman was Albert Fuentes, a San Antonio real estate dealer who made an unsuccessful bid for lieutenant governor in 1964. He takes over from Albert Pena, who did not seek re-election.

"POWER GRAB"

Another resolution was critical of a proposed change in the state constitution that would extend the governor's term of office from two to four years. It said:

"By a series of power grabbing consessions unprecedented in Texas history since the days of post-civil war carpetbag rule, Gov. Connally has acquired power dangerous to democracy."

The delegates said by resolution that Connally's interest in the governorship was "to represent all those hungry and rapacious special interests who wish only to exploit the people."

Chris Dixie, a liberal Democratic leader from Houston, said a group had been formed in Austin Saturday called the Texas Organization of Liberal Democrats.

Dixie said a constitution would be drawn up Sept. 11 in Houston, and that TOLD would also urge Yarborough to run for governor in 1966.

SINCE 1957

Yarborough has made no public announcements that he would run for governor in 1966. But he made unsuccessful attempts for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1952, 1954 and 1956. He has served in the U.S. Senate since 1957.

Appeals for more powerful coalitions between labor, liberal and minority group forces in Texas were made at the two-day convention by H. S. (Hank) Brown, state president of the AFL-CIO, and by G. J. Sutton, a San Antonio Negro leader.

Other PASO resolutions called for non-violent demonstrations, the repeal of section 14-B of the T.A.F.T.-Hartley Act, and a state minimum wage of $1.25 an hour.

Officers elected besides Fuentes were Miss Ada Moreno of Dallas, vice chairman; Gus Gonzalez of Wharton, recording secretary; and the Rev. James Navarro of Houston, chaplain.

Family Wins Coin Trophies

Local numismatists brought home three trophies from the coin show held at Abilene Sunday.

Guy Nelson Teague won second in the U. S. junior exhibit, which was his fourth trophy; Tina Teague won a second place trophy for her junior foreign money exhibit; and Marvin Britton won a first place trophy for his U. S. coins in the adult competition.

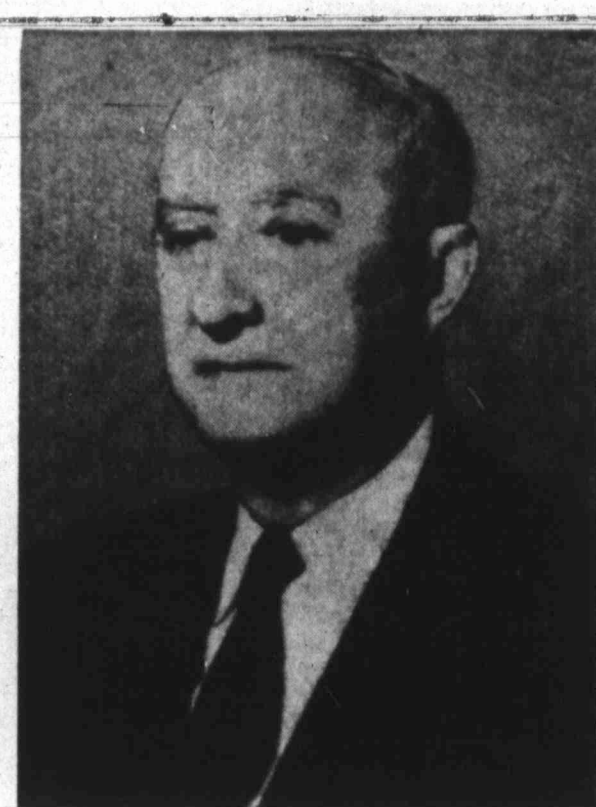

He provided for submission of two plans to state voters. These would give them a choice of apportioning one house of their legislatures on other than a population basis or of adopting plans based on equality of population. The Supreme Court has ruled reapportionment must be on the latter basis.

Dirksen also moved to counter the argument that factors used in a nonpopulation plan might include race, religion, wealth and other discriminatory factors. The GOP leader wrote in a limitation excluding such factors.

SENATE LIBERALS

Mansfield said he doesn't believe these actions will satisfy some Senate liberals who have threatened to filibuster if the proposal is sent to the Senate by the Judiciary Committee.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who may have the deciding vote on whether the committee approves or rejects the proposed amendment, said in a separate interview his decision won't be influenced by Dirksen's revisions. He has said he is still undecided how he will vote.

Easier Anthem

Dr. Henry Cox, 84, retired Pella, Iowa, musician, has edited the national anthem to make it easier to sing and, he says, "to undo some of the wrongs that have been committed" against the song. A resolution to make his version official has been introduced in Congress, but it has been sent to committee with no further action. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Panel Takes Look At Pact-With-Soviet Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee takes its first formal look today at a proposed consular treaty with Russia.

The purpose of the closed door session is to get a State Department briefing and determine whether to schedule hearings at this session of Congress.

The treaty, submitted by President Johnson in June of last year, drew an immediate blast from the Senate-House Republican leadership.

The convention would authorize negotiations for the Soviet Union to open consular offices in major U.S. cities in exchange for similar offices in the Soviet Union.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, senior Republican on the committee said today some features of the treaty "are not standard."

"There was a feeling among a number of senators last year that it might create additional centers of uncontrolled Russian action, if not espionage," Hickenlooper added.

'Sanctuary' Notion Dead' In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk says Red China or any nation which "elects to get into this war" in Viet Nam must realize "the idea of sanctuary is dead."

Appearing on ABC's radio-television program "Issues and Answers" Sunday night, Rusk was asked about the success of bombing raids into North Viet Nam.

Rusk replied: "We had never suspected this in itself would be a decisive element but it is important that they have discovered that they are not going to be permitted to send tens of thousands of people into the south to attack South Viet Nam and live in safety and comfort there in the north."

"DEAD IDEA"

"The idea of sanctuary is dead as far as this situation is concerned, and that is something that all of the others who may be supporting Hanoi must take fully into account."

Asked if that included the Red Chinese, Rusk responded: "Including everybody, including everybody who elects to get into this war."

In military terminology, "to take sanctuary" is to hit an enemy, then run back into an area where you would not suffer a return blow.

On the question of the five missile sites now being built near Hanoi, Rusk said:

"Those missile sites at the present time are not interfering with the things that we feel are required to be done at the present time." He added: "We can't write the future until we know what the other side is going to do about the future."

Police Chase Down Youths

A 1958 model car was abandoned by several boys Sunday at about 8:50 p.m. after it was pursued for several blocks from 307 Bell by a city police officer.

The car was abandoned after the officer had fired two warning shots in the air, Police Chief J. Banks reported.

Officers had been called to the address after a report of several boys bothering some girls. Police impounded the car, but have made no arrests.

Godoy May Take Dominica Reins

SANTO DOMINGO, Domini. can Republic (AP)—Support is building up for Hector Garcia Godoy to become provisional president of the Dominican Republic. But informed sources say an interim government probably will not be installed before the foreign ministers of the Organization of American States meet in Rio de Janeiro Aug. 4.

Garcia Godoy, 44, a businessman and former foreign minister, has conditional approval of the civilian-military junta and full support of the rebels. He is meeting with political figures in an effort to form an acceptable cabinet.

The three-man OAS peace team recommended Garcia Godoy, who had served for four weeks as foreign minister under deposed President Juan D.

Bosch. The Dominican revolt began April 24 in an effort to restore Bosch, living in exile in Puerto Rico.

Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera,

the junta chief, met with Garcia Godoy for an hour Saturday but refused to accept or reject him publicly. Reliable sources said Imbert privately gave Garcia Godoy his endorsement. If he found a way to disarm the rebels and to solve other problems.

Future Pondered Of Revolutionary

HAVANA (AP)—Ernesto (Che) Guevara has not been seen in the flesh in Havana for three months. But suddenly, without explanation, large portraits of him have gone up all over the city.

Government officials are maintaining silence on the whereabouts and future of the Argentine-born revolutionary who bossed the Cuban economy after Fidel Castro came to power.

One of the nice things about owning it is selling it.

A new Volkswagen doesn't depreciate wildly the minute you turn the key.

In a sense, the older it gets the more valuable it gets.

So that in 5 years, the same VW will be worth more than some 5-year-old cars that cost twice as much to begin with.

Old VWs are worth a lot because a lot of people want them.

For one thing, it takes a real car nut to tell a clean used one from a new one. VWs always look like VWs.

Another reason is that they hold up. A VW is put together so well, it's practically airtight. (It helps to open a window to close a door. Even an old one.)

And, new VW or old, there's all that nice money you keep saving on gas, oil, tires, insurance, and repairs.

Which means you can get a nice price for it. (If, for some strange reason, you'd want to sell.)

It's the kind of economy that people are willing to pay on arm and a leg for.

Shriners Ready Large-Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fezzes blossom by the thousands in the nation's capital today as Shriners bounce into town.

From the 50 states, Canada, Mexico, Puerto Rico and the Panama Canal Zone they are assembling for the opening of their five-day annual meeting—the largest convention ever held in Washington.

An estimated total of 150,000 of the nobles and their guests are expected.

For instance: A seven-hour parade that starts at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, right in the middle of Washington's normally chaotic morning rush hour for thousands of government workers.

And clowns by the dozen; motorcycle corps, colorful costumes of Arab fantasies and bands; bands of every description, from flute to oil drum, trash can and bongos, anything that can carry the "hokey kootchy" Oriental beat that is a Shriner trademark.

Toss in scores of mounted patrils and dozens of white convertibles from temples that believe this kind of corps is more eye-catching for the Shriners in their fezzes.

Merchants, who count tourists as the industry second only to government, couldn't be happier. Officials figure the Shriners and their guests will spend between $12 million and $40 million.

What do you bid now?

A—While you have sufficient excess values to justify a free rebid, you should refrain from doing so merely to give your partner the courtesy of the road. He may be able to punish one spade, the rescue bid. If so, you must not get in his way.

The membership voted to give $25 to the Howard County Crippled Children's Center, and welcomed Joseph Falter of Redding, Pa. as a visitor.

Reapportionment Shifts Doubted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today he doubts that recent compromises will soften opposition by some Senate liberals to a proposed constitutional amendment on legislative reapportionment.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen made two key changes in the proposal last week in an effort to meet objections.

He provided for submission of two plans to state voters. These would give them a choice of apportioning one house of their legislatures on other than a population basis or of adopting plans based on equality of population. The Supreme Court has ruled reapportionment must be on the latter basis.

Dirksen also moved to counter the argument that factors used in a nonpopulation plan might include race, religion, wealth and other discriminatory factors. The GOP leader wrote in a limitation excluding such factors.

Behold, this dreamer cometh. Come now therefore and let us stay him. (Genesis 37:19-20)

PRAYER: Father, I know that to be like Jesus is to be different; but I would be true. Today help me to look at what I aspire to be and do. Turn my face and direct my steps and endeavors in that direction. Add to my purpose Thy power that I may help answer the Savior's prayer, "Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done." For His sake. Amen.

Everyone A Capitalist

Something Karl Marx could hardly have foreseen, in predicting the collapse of the capitalist system, was the degree and dispersion of individual public ownership of corporate business and industry.

The distribution of individual capital ownership, as broken down in the New York Stock Exchange's 1966 shareholders census, is remarkable. More than 36 million of the nation's 207 million population now hold stocks. The number has tripled since 1952 and gained 15 per cent since 1962.

Even more noteworthy are the facts that cities with 2,000-5,000 population have the largest percentage owning stocks. Equally surprising, 55 per cent of the individual stock ownership (as differentiated from that of institutions, trust funds, corporations, etc., which hold about 36 per cent of all stocks) is by persons with incomes under $10,000.

Even more remarkable, 4.5 per cent of stocks is held by operations and laborers, 1.5 per cent by persons with three years of high school or less, and 1.5 per cent by boys and 1.5 per cent by girls under 21. The popular image of typical stockholders evidently needs drastic revision.

Widespread public, including employee, stock ownership in business and industry certainly is healthy for a private enterprise economy. It assures more sympathetic popular interest in, and sympathy with, the problems of management, and it indicates why profits have lost much of the political stigma they acquired in the Thirties.

Finally, broad distribution of business and industry capital ownership helps to spread the benefits of economic prosperity. This certainly is good for the general public, in terms of living standards, and it is good for business in terms of stronger consumer demand.

Improper Attitude

The revised code of criminal procedure, devised by the State Bar of Texas and passed by the 59th Legislature, will be debated in all its details for years to come. And much of it, no doubt, will have to be clarified by court decisions.

Meanwhile, however, it is the responsibility of attorneys, judges, police officers and state and local agencies with law-enforcement functions to strive to follow it as closely as possible. This brings us to the unimpeachable reputation taken by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

The members of the state board opposed a change in the code from a third to a fourth of a prisoner's sentence that must be served before he becomes eligible for release on parole. The board had every right to express that opposition, and time may prove its position to be sound. However, now that the code has become law, the board has indicated it will not recommend release of any prisoner who has not served the minimum time under the previous law, that is, a third of the sentence. In effect, the board is saying that it will defy the new law, which it has no right to do.

The Board of Pardons and Paroles has broad discretion in recommending prisoner releases. "That is an outgrowth of about a century and a half of power by an earlier governor. However, the board should not try to substitute its judgment for that of the Legislature. It should follow the new law, and if it doesn't work out, then it should appeal to the Legislature for another statutory change."

Critical Time In U.S. History

WASHINGTON—To understand the Viet Nam problem and the great danger that the world faces if appeasement and surrender should take the place of firmness and courage, it is only necessary to go back 11 years to the historic conference at Geneva in 1954 and examine the mistakes that were made then which have led to the crisis of today.

For the Viet Nam dilemma is not just a local affair in far-off Asia. It is the most vital and fundamental confrontation between Communist imperialism and the free world which has developed since the Korean war of 1950.

THE AMERICAN people have not yet been awakened to the implications of the Viet Nam struggle. There's a tendency to pass it off as something that will be compromised sooner or later or as a conflict from which America should gracefully withdraw.

The same kind of pressures from the appeasers and the defeatists managed to weaken the will of France and Great Britain at the Geneva conference in 1954, so that in the end the United States disassociated itself from the agreement reached because it was clear that no strong foundation for peace in southeast Asia had been laid.

Billy Graham

I have been so depressed and restless of late. Do you think a change of scenery would help me? I have been thinking that if I could just get out of my environment that it would be soothing to my nerves, and help me to snap out of it.

S. D.

A wealthy woman was planning a trip abroad, and she was sharing with her maid the reason for her going. "Don't you think that if I went abroad that I would snap out of this depression and find happiness?" asked the woman.

"No, ma'am," said the wise maid. "I sure don't think you would find happiness wherever you're going because you'd have to take yourself with you wherever you went."

Happiness is not in where we are, what we own, or what we do—it is more in WHAT we are, and as the maid said, we take ourselves with us wherever we go.

Some of the happiest people I know have never even been out of the country where they were born. They have learned with Paul to "be content." After Cain sinned, he became a "wanderer" on the face of the earth. While travel is broadening, it can also be running away from one's self, and from one's responsibility. My advice to you would be to face up to yourself right at home. Check your relationship to God and others. If your inner life is torn up let God enter your life with His peace. Then if and when you travel you can really enjoy it.

Another Step In Revolution FDR Started

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American revolution began 30 years ago will be taking just one more step when Congress soon gives final approval to the Voting Rights bill and medical care for people 65 and over.

President Johnson is extending what his hero, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, started.

Until 1935 there were two prevalent American philosophies: that the federal government had no responsibility for the general welfare; and that safety and survival lay in isolation. Both have been turned completely around.

Although England under Queen Elizabeth in the 16th century showed twinges about people's welfare by passing laws concerning the poor, the idea was slow in growing.

AS LATE as the latter half of the 19th century American presidents were emphatically denying the federal government had general welfare responsibility. This idea slowly melted as industry and the population grew.

But it wasn't abandoned until 1935 when Congress passed the first Social Security Act providing old age pensions and other benefits. Congress took another gigantic step in 1935.

This was in passing the Wagner Act which said employers must bargain with a union of their employees and couldn't fire a man for joining one. Workers never had that protection until then. Unions mushroomed.

In 1937, under Roosevelt's prodding, the revolution caught up with the Supreme Court whose members, clinging to 19th century ideas for business and property interests.

IT APPROVED the Social Security and Wagner acts and went on, although sometimes haltingly, to show more concern for individual rights and liberties.

In 1933 England had imposed its first limits on the hours a man would have to work. It limited miners to 48 hours a week. Congress moved in the same direction 305 years later. In 1935 it approved a 44-hour work week, later reduced to 40 and began the requirement of minimum wages.

The New Deal's social legislation, really ended there as the Roosevelt administration worried about the coming war in Europe, began to build its defenses and slowly emerged from isolation with lead-lead. But it got into war.

MEANWHILE, there came a memorable but often forgotten moment. In 1948, for the first time in history, Congress approved a law saying that the government had a responsibility for the general welfare. It was a foundation for the future.

But the United Nations could not alone preserve peace. The Soviet Union began pressuring Turkey. Communists tried to take over Greece, and this country's wartime allies in Western Europe were too broke and dilapidated to help.

Getting Bigger

CAM RANH BAY, South Viet Nam (AP) — This little far off war is becoming bigger every day.

units of the Vietnamese junk navy.

One sign that the United States is preparing for a long campaign is the chain of bases it is building along South Viet Nam's lengthy east coast.

"Both the Japanese and the French recognized the strategic position of the port," said Capt. Lindbergh Jones, Jr., Louisville, La. "The Japanese built fortifications and ammo dumps during the second World War, and this is one of the last places the French pulled out of after the battle of Dien Bien Phu in 1954."

THE BASES range from Vinh Tan, near Saigon, to Da Nang, 200 miles to the northeast.

"We're building standard port and depot facilities and cantonment areas for logistic troops, and an Army airfield."

Such giant nests of power are not the product of an idle hour, nor are they stopgap improvisations. They take months to plan, months to complete.

A look at the map shows why the base site attracted Army strategists. The peninsula dangles in the sea like a wavy finger 22 miles southeast of Nha Trang, a popular coastal resort.

They take the work of hundreds of machines, thousands of men, and millions of pounds of fuel and supplies.

SURROUNDED on three sides by water, its narrow neck could be easily defended in case of trouble in the midpoint of the country. Equally well, it could serve as a major marshalling point by the U.S. Army, in launching an attack in the central area.

The latest of this chain of bases is at this deep water bay slightly more than a third of the distance from Saigon to Da Nang. It can harbor some of the world's largest ships.

The Army is building a new 4,500-foot airstrip and lengthening a small one left by the French. In addition, if needed, there is plenty of room for another major airfield — if the U.S. Air Force finds it requires one here.

"It could become bigger than Saigon," said Lt. Samuel I. Eskens, 21, Seattle, Wash., platoon leader of an Army landing craft company.

There has been grumbling among grandstand managers and all kinds of slinging by contrary-minded Democrats and teetotalers by pacifist professors, and squawks by campus exhibitionists, and recently a squawk by Negro leaders who would rather have the big sugar spent here than abroad — but there has been nary a trace of any Republican trying to pitch political hay in the fields of the war.

Angina Pectoris Affects Heart Muscles

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is angina pectoris dangerous? What causes it? Is it connected with the heart? Does cold weather bother it?—MRS. O. L.

the heart muscle is required to do.

been married cannot have a Pap smear test for cancer?—MISS C. B.

Angina pectoris means, literally, squeezing pain in the chest, usually with severe shortness of breath.

It is very much related to heart disease, as a rule, and yes, I would have to say that it is dangerous, although this should not be taken to mean that nothing can be done about it. Usually something can, and the more careful you are in taking care of it, the better the results.

Therefore there are two basic ways of combatting angina: First, to get more blood to that muscle; second, to reduce the amount of work it has to do.

Nitroglycerine tablets (or various nitrates) are used with excellent results. When an angina attack starts, the patient puts a tablet under the tongue, and the medication very quickly (but temporarily) dilates the blood vessels carrying blood to the heart muscle. The supply of blood increases, and the pain eases.

NOTE TO MRS. L. W. E.: These brown spots that come with age are merely accumulations of pigment in the skin. They do not indicate illness of any kind, and there's no way to prevent them.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Actually, there can be various causes for these chest pains, but let's discuss the principal one and ignore the rare exceptions.

The heart muscle, like any other in the body, requires a good blood supply if it is to do its work efficiently. If its blood supply is reduced too much, a spasm results—a spasm is essentially the same as a muscle cramp in some other part of the body—and it is painful.

When we say the blood supply is too much reduced, we mean that it is too much reduced FOR THE AMOUNT OF WORK

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it true that a woman who has never been married cannot have a Pap smear test for cancer?—MISS C. B.

No. Any woman can have the test, and it is good insurance to have one every year after the age of 35. (The test sometimes detects cases of early cancer below that age, too.)

Around The Rim

The Little Ones At Home

Now that Vacation Bible school is history and our annual two weeks' holiday is behind us, we sometimes run out of things to do at our winter.

Summer swim programs help but they come only twice a week, and then for less than an hour a day. They make for interesting conversation pieces, around the meal table, however, even though such talk can be primarily repetitious at times — we have to hang our confidence, you know.

at home but they broach the idea, certainly not the adults — the price of eggs and steak being what it is. And the thought of eating in a "pushing place" — a cafeteria — somehow appeals to them much more than preparing their own groceries, even if that kind of restaurant is anchored 80 miles away.

LOTS OF HELP is offered on missions in the roof, when the air conditioner must be repaired or inspected. Of course, the small fry around the house (ages eight and six, respectively) never go near the evaporative air unit. They merely venture up-side to see and be seen and there remains for the sub-bibs a sense of adventure in climbing to such lofty places.

THE FRONT LAWN sprinkler holds a great appeal for the both of them, much more so than the one in the back yard, but somehow it invariably winds up in the concrete driveway rather than in the grass where it is needed.

We've discussed the possibility of helping mother and grandmother with the dishes from time to time but such talk is sub-petted by the housewives, for some reason. After all, what recourse is there in dish-pa hands?

They have asked why the temperature gauge can't be turned upside down so that the weather can get cooler and why the rain gauge can't be filled with water from the hydrant so that our rainfall figures would rank as good as the best.

OLD TOYS THAT go off and get lost must be hunted up and restored to prominent places in the parlor from time to time, and the farther down they might be in the back closet or the store room the more important it becomes that they be found and put to use.

WHEN THINGS get real slow, we have been inspired to hunt up a distant relative's address and surprise him with a "howdy" note. We have yet to start counting the little black bugs that race across the driveway or the leaves that fall from the peach tree, but it may be only a question of time.

OLD TOYS THAT go off and get lost must be hunted up and restored to prominent places in the parlor from time to time, and the farther down they might be in the back closet or the store room the more important it becomes that they be found and put to use.

If the public school teachers get as many questions fired at them as I do, perhaps they deserve nine months' vacation rather than three. I lift my hat to them — may they long endure.

Track Feud Hurting The Nation

WASHINGTON — Where I grew up running for fun was unknown. You ran to get away from a tougher kid or to catch one not so tough, but nobody in his right mind thought about dressing up in skivvies and running around a cinder track at the behest of some fairly suspicious type who called everybody "New fellows."

coming track and field meet at Kiev. It is NOT enough to say at this juncture that international athletic competition butters no parsnips in the cold war. The Russians have long considered international meets an extension of the cold war, and every victory in that arena has been the signal for fresh propaganda blasts. Experts in the field insist that the United States has the muscle to beat the Russians at Kiev this month — if it fields its best team.

THAT KIND of running was for rich kids. Skinny rich kids ran and fat ones threw iron weights, and track coaches served them right. For a long time the fool antics of the track world were a source of pure pleasure. Sometimes it was even worth going to a track meet just to see the self-important officials puff around in their ice cream punts. A guy could get a lot of mileage just stuning there and hoping one of them would get fished with the heart attack, or get cooked by one of the kids he was forever abusing.

But the fluttery male hens of the AAU and the NCAA are doing their hysterical best to prevent the United States from being represented by its best. The AAU refuses to permit the NCAA the right to sanction international meets in which college athletes participate, and the NCAA has been equally obstinate by refusing to allow undergraduate athletes to enter AAU meets.

SAD TO SAY, however, nothing stays that uncomplicated. Laughing at the pompous yahoos who rule the track world would seem an innocent enough pastime, but isn't the utter hopeless damned fools have become a world-wide embarrassment to the United States, and howling with glee at their stately nonsense has become a luxury that sensible men can no longer afford.

A NUMBER OF major track meets have already been blighted by the impasse. College track stars could not compete in AAU meets; noncollegiate athletes and foreigners were barred from NCAA competition. As bad as it is already, the dispute will become a national disgrace if it means that the United States is defeated by an inferior Soviet team at Kiev. But that is precisely what is going to happen unless someone stomps some sense into the two bumbling bureaucracies.

Briefly, the problem is as follows: Control over U. S. amateur athletics is the subject of a chronic feud between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. These two precious empire builders are far more interested in promoting American amateur athletics. Their struggle has reached the point where the United States is threatened with a wholly unnecessary defeat at the hands of the Soviet team at the forthcoming track and field meet at Kiev.

It will take no less than intervention by President Johnson to prevent disaster at this late date. The two organizations in question respond neither to appeals to good sense nor patriotism. President Kennedy obtained an Olympic year truce only by naming Gen. Douglas MacArthur to referee the feud. Nothing short of that sort of action will serve now.

The Non-Partisan War

WASHINGTON — Maybe it says something for the maturity of the American nation that the Viet Nam War has not yet splashed over into partisan politics.

lead to a major land war in Asia. McNamara defended the target selection.

There has been grumbling among grandstand managers and all kinds of slinging by contrary-minded Democrats and teetotalers by pacifist professors, and squawks by campus exhibitionists, and recently a squawk by Negro leaders who would rather have the big sugar spent here than abroad — but there has been nary a trace of any Republican trying to pitch political hay in the fields of the war.

FORD ASKED whether a Navy "quarantine" of those Viet Nam ports receiving Communist supplies is not in order. McNamara discussed the risks and difficulties of trying to seal off the Viet Nam coast from European ships.

THE REPUBLICAN leaders in Congress have scrupulously declined to capitalize in any political sense on the misfortunes of Viet Nam. Senator Dikens, GOP leader in the upper house, says there is "nothing to do" but support the President. Gerald Ford, Republican leader in the House, tells me he has never used the word "criticism" in comments upon the war.

Ford wondered if we couldn't get greater help from anti-Communist Asians. McNamara talked of present and anticipated help from Australia, New Zealand, South Korea and the Philippines.

Ford has made "suggestions" and "recommendations" on the conduct of hostilities, feeling that this much is the "responsibility" of the minority.

THE suggestion, recently made by Communist Walter Lippmann, that a Republican ticket might beat Johnson-Humphrey in 1968 on the war issues seems to have no probability at this point. The war hasn't turned political — not yet, anyhow.

SECRETARY McNAMARA's most recent visit to Ford's office, about three weeks ago, led to an hour's talk in which everything had to do with ways and means of accomplishing the same purpose: A solution in Viet Nam. A recent column by the keen reporting team of Evans - Novak detailed this McNamara - Ford conversation from information out of the Pentagon. My contribution today comes from the other end of the axis, Gerry Ford's office.

THE Republican leader made three points, actually in the form of questions. Are we "doing enough fast enough"? Ford wants greater use of air power and sea power. He fears that procrastination in these areas — especially a delay in attacking "significant" targets in Viet Nam — will lead to a major land war in Asia. McNamara defended the target selection.

Next September, Dr. Huth will turn over his duties as chairman of the sociology department at the University of Dayton to his daughter, Dr. Mary Josephine Huth. Then he'll continue as a teacher in her department.

"We've always gotten along very well," said the 66-year-old Dr. Huth. "I don't anticipate any trouble."

His daughter, an honor student at Dayton in 1950 who took classes under her father, agreed. "I don't think that being head of a department means you have to boss people around," she said.

Mary Jo has been on the Dayton faculty since 1962. Her father has been here since 1939.

The return of the Carol Bridge Trio, for a limited engagement at the Americana, pried a posse of people away from home Friday evening. The group provides an evening of pleasant, danceable music with some good work by young Richard Desrochers, a very versatile musician.

Early birds for the show were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gunning and newcomer, Tom Barry, at the next table were Ollie Grafa and Mrs. Marie Jennings, and nearby were Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Worthan.

Making the scene later were Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens and Mr. and Mrs. Chub Jones with their houseguest, B. C. Moore. The Joneses and their children just returned from a trip to Lake D'Arbonne near Monroe, La., where Jones and Moore have purchased acreage to develop a fishing and hunting resort. Moore, who will manage the operation, planned to return there today to get the building under way.

FROM ALASKA
Jerry Kelly had one of those rare reunions this weekend when Gary Fife, his roommate when both were students at East Texas State, and Fife's cousin, Bob Staton, arrived here from Alaska. The men had equipped their pickup with a camper for their travels through Colorado, Canada and the far north. The loved Alaska but were tempted to continue the journey Beale-style when told the price of haircuts — $2.75. A ham and egg breakfast was a little better — only $2.50.

Meals may have been a little cheaper than that for the W. E. Ramseys if they caught any fish while visiting at the Hank Gwyn cabin near Hunt. While the Ramseys were away for the weekend, their daughter and son-in-law, the Benny McCrarys of Midland, came over to keep the home fires burning. Also making the trip to the cabin were Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards and Mrs. Fred W. Lutting, whose doctor husband couldn't get away just now.

Just now, however, is when Mrs. B. B. Badger is expecting her sister, Miss Margaret Crosby of Austin, and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hooper of Seguin to arrive here. They'll all go somewhere together — maybe Fort David or Alpine.

Another who got together with the family in Nolanville over the weekend was Sam Peters who left his wife here to oversee life at the Howard House. His brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Peters of San Jose, Calif., have been visiting with the Peters.

SEE MELLINGERS
Mrs. Sam Mellinger had an unexpected guest last week — Harold Radloff came down from Wichita Falls. Mrs. Radloff is an old friend of Mrs. Mellinger, and the couple were her sponsors when she first came to this country.

And I had a nice surprise, too, when Mrs. Merle King and Debbie dropped by while traveling home to Slaton. Merle, a former local resident, will be back to stay longer during August. She's working with the gas company in Slaton but would like to get "back home."

Back home, too, are Dewey Byers and Benny Kilgore, who have been relaxing at Dewey's sister's resort at Rockaway Beach, Mo. They'd like to dispel the rumor they had something to do with the rioting there — truth was, they slept through the whole thing — they said.

Champ Phillips' trip sounds exciting. She and a friend from Santa Fe, N. M., have rented a camper and are off for a month in Montana. Due back from Long Beach, Calif., the 18th are Mr. and Mrs. Curley Johnson who are catching up on the news with her great-aunt, Mrs. Ertha Harris. They planned to be in Fall Brook, Riverside and Laguna Beach, too.

TO LONDON
Mrs. W. G. Wilson is packing to go to Dallas where she will see her son Bill, before he departs for London, England, on his new assignment with Texas Instruments and Oil Exploration. Previously, he spent several years in South America. Mrs. Wilson will visit relatives in Dallas and Texarkana before returning home.

Chatted with the Grant Boardmans for a few minutes at Cosden Country Club, and they say there is nothing exciting on tap for them this summer but they are setting their sights on Hawaii next year.

Mrs. C. O. Hitt called to say that my mention of "chinquapins" brought back a flood of memories for her. Originally from East Texas, she remembered that the dwarf chestnuts grew near her home, too.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins have been Mr. and Mrs.

The Eyes Have It—Or Do They?

When it comes to millinery this year women might take on this look with a slight embellishment in the form of a mask for the eyes. From left: a tiger hood, trimmed with black mink; white ermine hat with ermine tails and mask of white velvet on a stick, and a white valour, with white mask. All were shown in New York as part of the American Designer Series. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Altrusans Slated For Biennial Convention

Two local women are slated to be in Dallas next weekend for the Altrusa International Inc. convention. Attending from here will be Mrs. M. S. Knowles and Mrs. Ruby Billings. Others who may make the trip are Mrs. C. R. Rhoads and Mrs. A. C. Bass.

VISITS SNYDERS
Ray Snyder, who drops by the office often, said that they had a good visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Snyder. Jerry is with Radio Station KVIC in Victoria.

One of the things Mrs. N. W. McCleskey brought back, as a souvenir of her month's visit in California, was a king-sized lemon. It was grown at the Woodland Hills, Calif., home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hogan, and their son Pat.

SPEAKERS
Key speakers during Altrusa's convention week will express new thinking on today's world and needed service club action. Robert G. Storey, president, Southwestern Legal Foundation and former Southern Methodist University Law School dean, will speak on "Critical Issues."

"The Role of a Service Club" will be discussed by four international service club leaders: Mrs. Harry W. Brooks, president, Pilot Club International; Manuel DeBusk, past president, Cosmopolitan International; Edward C. Keefe, president-elect, Kiwanis International; Mrs. William Knight, president, Zonta International. "Improving the Club Image in the Community" will be discussed by Idaho State University's Dr. James Backes and Dr. Joseph Hearst.

A seminar to build stronger club committees will be conducted by Mrs. Jess Hupman, training coordinator of the Washington (D.C.) Star. Mrs. Walter Godshall, vice president of Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., will award special certificates to 240 Altrusa Clubs for 100 per cent member contributions to raise $24,000 to build residence halls in Altrusa's name at Freedoms Foundation.

Mrs. Reginald Alexander, Jacksonville, Fla., Altrusa International's president-elect, who takes office on July 22, will speak on "The Magic of Doors" at the final banquet.

Hats Reveal What She Is Thinking

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — You can almost tell what a woman has in her head by what she puts on it. The fall hat preview presented for fashion writers by the Millinery Institute indicated as much.

Apparently today's hat-wearing woman is thinking about youthfulness, the White House Texans, the space race, James Bond, and romance, or anyway her designer is.

These were the messages the models got across Saturday as they bounced in and out of the dressing room wearing toppers by America's topnotch milliners.

Once women over 20 clucked at kids in curlers and head scarves, and the hat-making industry despaired of their mounds of matted hair, a style that ruled out millinery.

Now females on both sides of 20 find it chic to wear head scarves, as well as shower-cap shaped berets and snoods under which any number of curls could hide if curly hair were fashionable — except that it isn't anymore.

With the new crocheted caps borrowed from the Mods in England, the helmets swiped from the astronauts, hoods and turbans, women do not show any hair.

New fall hats — said to be "switched on" or "with it," or "all boss," in terms of the youth worshippers — are fur helmets, exaggerated stocking caps, bonnets, and Argyle caps to match equally gaudy leg coverings.

President Johnson's ten-gallon hats, decorated up a bit with sequins and feathers, or with head scarves underneath, are real fashion vote getters.

Takes First Place In Duplicate

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Steyer took first place during the duplicate bridge games held Saturday at Big Spring Country Club.

Six tables were in play. Other winners were Mrs. Ward Hall and Mrs. Ayra McGann, second; Mrs. Wally Slate and Mrs. J. D. Robertson, third; and Mrs. J. C. Greenhaw and Mrs. Elmo Wasson, fourth.

Players were reminded that Master Point games will be held Wednesday at the club.

Rainbows Have Luau

The members of Big Spring Assembly No. 60, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, were guests Friday evening for a luau given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Jr. Hostesses were members of the advisory board for the assembly.

Hawaiian music set the mood as a swimming party preceded the dinner. The patio was festively draped with decorated fishnet and illuminated with lanterns. Colorful balloons were hung from trees at the poolside. Tropical fruit formed a centerpiece for the table where punch was served.

Guests were presented with a lei and flowers to wear in their hair and the girls and hostesses all wore island costumes. Twenty Rainbow Girls and 10 adults attended.

DEAR ABBY

Being Frank

DEAR ABBY: For his high school graduation gift, my brother sent our son a check for $25 made out to one of our town's leading psychiatrists. I thought it was a joke, so I called my brother and he said it was no joke — he couldn't think of anything the kid could use more.

Please understand, Abby, our son is not crazy. He has had a little trouble finding himself, but that is not uncommon in teenagers today.

The check was addressed to our son, so he opened it. He wasn't hurt or insulted. He just looked puzzled and said he was going to use it. I'm afraid to tell my husband for fear he'll take my brother apart. What do you make of this?

DAZED IN CAMBRIDGE
DEAR DAZED: Your brother may have meant well, but he was grossly presumptuous. Since the boy wants to use it, encourage it. A session with a psychiatrist won't hurt anyone who doesn't need it.

DEAR ABBY: Arthur and I have been married almost a year. We are both in our late 50's. This is his second marriage and my third, and I am determined to make this marriage work. A woman couldn't want a sweeter, more considerate, affectionate husband, but he believes in togetherness until I could scream. We have a brand new five-room bungalow, and if Arthur doesn't see me, he goes looking for me. He even has to be right beside me in the kitchen when I'm cooking. There are times when I do need his help for emptying the trash, etc., but how can I get it across to him that when I need him I will call him? He's very sensitive and I don't want to hurt his feelings. Please answer this through your column as he goes to the mailbox with me when I get the mail. Sign me...

"GOING NUTS"
DEAR "GOING": Arthur sounds like a friendly, warm-hearted man who is mad about you. When you want to be alone, announce it in advance. When you want privacy in the kitchen, tell Arthur you want to "surprise" him, so please to stay out of the kitchen until you call him. There are many ways to skin a cat without killing the kittenish affection within.

DEAR ABBY: I can't forget that letter in your column from the mother who complained because her married children descended on her last Mother's Day with their spouses and their children, and she had to do all the work, serving and cleaning up, while all of her married children (and their husbands and wives) entertained themselves playing cards and gossiping. Just how blind can parents be?

Skies Clear Over Texas

By The Associated Press
No rainfall was in view for any part of Texas Monday, as skies were generally clear and the temperatures hot.

The Weather Bureau said Sunday night there was a possibility of scattered thundershowers in the Panhandle, but the possibility evaporated without any reported rainfall.

Temperature readings of 100 degrees were reported at several points, with Presidio having the highest at 107. Others included Wichita Falls 103, Childress 102, and San Angelo and Mineral Wells 101.

The lowest high reading in the state Sunday was 88 at Galveston.

Traces Of DDT Now Span Globe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation says traces of DDT have been found in seals, penguins and fish in Antarctica, a continent where there is no record of pesticide use.

The foundation said a special report noted that there was no sign of any pesticides other than DDT.

DDT was first released for civilian use in 1945, the foundation said, and has since found its way throughout the world.

Actor Ray Collins Dies After Illness

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Ray Collins died Sunday after a lengthy illness at St. John's Hospital. He was 75. Collins appeared for eight years in the role of Lt. Tragg in the "Perry Mason" television series.

"children" would have developed into much happier, considerate men and women.

I am writing this to point out that this is a classic example of what is happening to our nation. Because the mothers have not taught their children to be responsible, and to work for what they get, we now have a large percentage of adults who expect something for nothing. This is the attitude that promotes the Welfare State, and eventually, Socialism. Why we can't see it is beyond me. I am married to a woman who refuses to teach responsibility to her children. How I wish that I could convince her that she is cheating them instead of helping them. And all in the name of "love."

Respectfully,
"ALARMED"

Texas Violence Takes 17 Lives

By The Associated Press

Seventeen persons died violently over the weekend in Texas, including nine killed in traffic accidents and four who drowned.

The Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The victims included: Robert Wynn, 23, drowned Sunday while swimming across the Trinity River near Liberty during a fishing trip with several other men.

CUERO FATALITY

Twenty-year-old David Phillips of Cuero was killed Sunday when the car his brother was driving ran over him. The boy had been riding on the front fender and was pitched off when a front wheel of the car came off. Injured in accident was Jimmy Broz, 18, of Cuero.

Maydean Petrosky, 14-month-old Richmond, Tex., girl, was killed in Fort Bend County Sunday when she dashed into the path of a car.

Jack David Mason, 36, of El Reno, Okla., and Edna Norquist Sutton, 55, of Ingleside were killed early Sunday in a two-car collision one mile west of Arkansas Pass on state highway 361.

Lucille Alleman Nelson, a 45-year-old Austin bookkeeper, was killed early Sunday in a car-truck collision in the northeast section of Austin.

BURNS TO DEATH

Patrice Grim, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grim, was burned to death when fire swept the family home in south Dallas early Sunday. Four other small children were burned, two of them critically. Charles Brothman Jr., 20, of Round Rock was fatally injured

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Mon., July 12, 1965 7-A

Sunday in a one-car accident northeast of Austin. Eddie Brown, the 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Doc Brown of Bryan, drowned Sunday in the San Jacinto River near Conroe. The boy had been wading in the river and apparently stepped into a deep hole.

David Mitchell, 21, of Uvalde, was killed Friday night when a sports car in which he was riding overturned at a curve 13 miles north of Hondo on farm road 689.

BOY DROWNS

Joe Charles Simms, 12, of Whitewright drowned Saturday afternoon in a stock tank near Ida, about 10 miles southwest of Sherman.

Donald Legato, 25, of Beaumont, a former golden gloves fighter, was fatally injured late Saturday night in a two-car collision at an intersection in south Beaumont.

Rocky Hurt In Fall Off Horse

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller fell from his horse last Thursday and suffered minor bruises, a friend said Sunday. The friend said the accident occurred while the governor was riding at his ranch, Monte Sacro, where he has been vacationing.

Old Tomato Yielding To Little Chico

McALLEN (AP) — The odd looking little tomatoes tumbling along the conveyor belt in the canning plant are revolutionizing a South Texas industry. "Chico" is the name of this bright red revolutionist born on the Texas-Mexico border. The Spanish name means "Little One."

This little tomato has opened the door to mechanical harvesting and is allowing a new degree of mechanization in canning.

Disappearing are the lines of fast working women who once peeled the plump globe tomatoes that are so easily bruised.

Instead, the chicos roll out of crates, plunge into a cold shower, zip through a tub of hot lye water, tumble over a set of abrasive rollers and pop out minus their skins.

The new tomatoes are half the size of their familiar ancestors which came from South America 300 or 400 years ago.

CHICO SEEDS

Seeds for chicos were made available for commercial planting in 1961. More than 4,000 acres of the vegetable have been planted this year in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, and the seeds are being sold around the world.

Moore Canning Co., of McAllen is one of the operators which converted entirely from the older tomatoes to chicos.

Dick Moore said plant production of canned tomatoes is up 20 per cent since the change and will increase.

"The really big improvement is that we have a strain developed especially for canning," Moore said. "Canning used to be just a salvage operation for the big globes—we canned what couldn't be sold on the fresh market."

Moore said the chico has three distinct advantages:

"The color is much better; you can make a good looking product."

"It will yield 10 to 15 tons to the acre where the old globe was doing good to give five tons."

"LOT OF BODY"

"It has a lot of body to it. It'll stand up better; you can hold it waist height and drop it to the floor and you'll still have tomato there instead of juice. They hold up so well we're canning them mechanically."

Mechanization became more important this year because thousands of laborers are leaving the Lower Rio Grande Valley to fill the gap left in other states when the importation of laborers from Mexico was restricted.

Paul Leeper, horticulturist at the State Agriculture Experiment Station in Weslaco, developed the chico.

"We decided along about 1955 that for machine harvest and a tomato that would stand the climate we have here, we needed this type of tomato," Leeper explained.

Leeper took one of his best pairs of tomatoes and began a complicated breeding program. Seven tomato generations later, he decided the chico was his answer.

Pair To Face Kidnap Trial

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Main participants in one of the West's wildest kidnap - chases settled today in familiar surroundings — the Champion family at home and their abductors in jail.

A July 21 date in federal court was the next stop for Wilford Marion Gray, 30, and Carl Cletus Bowles, 24. Cecil Poole, U.S. attorney for Northern California, said Sunday the pair will be tried "swiftly and fairly" on federal charges of kidnapping. State Finance Director Hale Champion, his wife Marie and their 19-month-old daughter Katherine Marie.

Poole's decision put to rest for the time being a jurisdictional quarrel among the federal government, Sacramento County officials and Oregon authorities. All wanted to try the two gunmen on charges ranging from rape, robbery and murder in Oregon to kidnapping with bodily harm in California.

Champion, accidentally shot by a bystander in Tonopah, Nev., was due home from a hospital in midday. Mrs. Champion said the bullet wound in his thigh wasn't serious and that he probably would be back at the job of administering California's $4-billion budget Tuesday morning.

Coleman Backed For Judgeship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach voiced unqualified support today for former Mississippi Gov. James P. Coleman's nomination to a federal judgeship.

In testimony to a Senate judiciary subcommittee, Katzenbach said of Coleman's nomination to the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals:

"It is easy for Northerners to note some of Governor Coleman's statements on segregation and to leap to the conclusion that he should not, therefore, be appointed to a federal judgeship."

"To support segregation in Mississippi during James P. Coleman's political career was merely a commonplace political platitude; to support moderation, to exalt law and order and to counsel obedience to court decisions — these must be regarded as deliberate acts of conscience and devotion to principle."

DREW CRITICISM

Civil rights groups have been critical of President Johnson's nomination of Coleman for the 5th Circuit Court which considers much litigation on civil rights. It is the appeals court for cases from most of Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and the Canal Zone.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who presided, announced at the outset that the American Bar Association had approved Coleman as well qualified for the post.

The attorney general's decision to be a witness was a surprise.

Katzenbach said in his statement today that he was testifying because "some question has arisen concerning the ability of the nominee to administer the law fairly and impartially in accordance with the Constitution...and because of my own strong feelings on civil rights."

Katzenbach said Coleman "has made statements in defense of racial segregation. Of that there can be no doubt." He recalled too that Coleman had joined with other Southern governors in a resolution calling for measures against integration, and played a part in the 1958 arrest of a Negro who attempted to desegregate the University of Mississippi.

IN CONTEXT

But Coleman's statements in support of segregation, Katzenbach said, "must be considered in the context of the society and the times in which they were made."

He then went on to list a number of expressions by Coleman which show, he said, "not the caricature of an unyielding white supremacist but a man who was frequently willing to take great political risks to support moderation and respect for law and order when the opposite course would have been the politically expedient one."

Katzenbach said that while Coleman was a trial judge in Mississippi he once imposed a life sentence on two men who had slain several Negroes — "a sentence at odds with the general pattern then prevailing in Mississippi courts."

He also quoted Coleman as having declared that segregation could not be maintained by defying the courts.

Kennedy's Offer To LBJ Traced

NEW YORK (AP) — The late John F. Kennedy offered the vice presidential spot on his 1960 ticket to Lyndon B. Johnson believing there was "practically no chance Johnson would accept," historian Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. said today.

The account, in Life Magazine, was taken from the historian's forthcoming book, "A Thousand Days: John F. Kennedy in the White House." Schlesinger was Kennedy's special assistant in the White House.

IMPROVE TICKET

Kennedy decided the night of his nomination in 1959 to make the offer to Johnson the next day in the belief news of it "would reunite the Democrats, please the older generation of professionals, improve the ticket's chances in the South and lay the basis of future collaboration with Johnson," Schlesinger wrote.

But Kennedy's own staff was shocked at the possibility of Johnson on the ticket, Schlesinger wrote; the nominee himself was certain he was in trouble with party liberals who opposed Johnson and would make a convention floor fight against him.

Kennedy was, in fact told by the labor-liberal leaders they "doubted whether they could hold their own people in line if Johnson were chosen and predicted convention mutiny," Schlesinger said.

Johnson was advised by his wife and nearly all his friends not to take the vice presidential spot if it were offered, Schlesinger said.

RAYBURN OPPOSED

Among those who advised him was the late Democratic House

speaker, Sam Rayburn of Texas, he added.

But despite all the advice, Johnson had other thoughts.

"Whoever won the election, the post of senate leader would be very different under Kennedy or (Republican nominee Richard M.) Nixon from what it had been under (president Dwight D.) Eisenhower," Schlesinger wrote of Johnson's thinking.

"Johnson could hardly expect to retain the power he had exerted with such relish and skill in the late 1950's. Beyond this, Johnson had long wanted to be a national and not a sectional political figure."

"Now he saw what might be a last chance to break out of the Texas trap and become a national leader. He doubtless saw, too, a chance to save the South from growing bitterness and isolation by leading it back into the Democratic party and the national consensus."

The effect, in the end, Schlesinger said, was Johnson's acceptance; a final wavering on Kennedy's part because of the threatened floor fight, and a reassurance from an aide that the ticket would more than make up for liberal losses with Southern gains.

Kennedy's brother Robert, who engineered John F. Kennedy's campaign for the nomination, made the formal offer to Johnson saying, "he wants you to be vice president if you want to be vice president."

But Robert was obviously unhappy about it, Schlesinger said.

When it was all over, he was heard to comment, "my God, this wouldn't have happened except that we were all too tired last night," the historian said.

Junior College Bids Approved

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education approved today petitions to create junior college districts in Bee and McLennan counties.

The board denied the petitions of the Eagle Pass School District, 11 to 9.

SCURRY REFUSED

Board members also refused to approve Scurry County's request for a junior college and on a voice vote referred the petition to the new Coordinating Board for Education which becomes effective Sept. 1. Jurisdiction of state junior colleges passes then from the Texas school board to the coordinating board.

Also before the board were petitions for junior colleges for the Port Arthur, Port Neches, and Nederland school districts; and another for Van Zandt, Kaufman and Raines counties. Mrs. George Swinney, secretary of the board, said: "We haven't passed any other petitions to the future board and I don't feel we should pass Snyder's." She said the petition should be approved today, rather than postponing the decision.

"HAVE NEED"

Bill Wilson of Snyder said: "I don't question the judgment of the board but we have a need for our children to be educated. I noticed that Waco has two or three schools of higher learning and yet we are in the process of giving them more. Snyder's junior college would be one of the most economical schools in the state."

The McLennan County junior college will be located at James Connally AFB which is being deactivated.

GM President Plugs Training Center Project

DETROIT (AP) — James M. Roche, new president of General Motors Corp., got in a strong plug for his No. 1 project last week in his first major speech in the Detroit area since taking over GM's leadership.

Roche went to bat in a big way for GM's training centers program, whose primary job is turning out better mechanics.

Roche was a founder of the program, which started 10 years ago. Today, there are 68 GM training centers scattered across the United States, Canada and 20 other countries.

It seemed significant in automotive circles that Roche, who could have discussed production, sales or any of a dozen other automotive topics in his first major address as GM president, chose the theme of training centers.

TECHNICIANS SHORT

"There is a severe shortage of and urgent need for skilled service technicians today," he said. "This program is helping to alleviate that situation."

Roche made it plain in his speech and a subsequent interview that he believes GM has an obligation to provide increasingly better service for car purchasers.

"The simple truth is that there are not nearly enough well-trained, skilled technicians in this country to handle the service and repair business which 77 million cars and trucks now on U.S. highways generate," he said.

"While we are worrying about unemployment, there are thousands of car and truck service jobs going begging — useful jobs, well paid jobs, interesting jobs. General Motors and its dealers have worked on this problem with an increasing degree of success for the last 10 years," he said.

"The GM training centers in the U.S. now are turning out about 2,000 new trainees a year and starting next year, the figure will be upped to 4,000," Roche added.

ADDED TRAINING

"These young men are recent graduates of high schools or vocational schools where they already have taken courses in auto mechanics, they are sponsored and employed by GM dealers while they take 240 hours of advanced training," he said.

The centers also donate surplus machinery, plus technical material such as slide films, manuals, special tools and displays to high schools and colleges to help provide a better basis for student training in the automotive field.

Flight Minus Space Suits Under Study

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Space officials are pondering the possibility of sending astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell on their 14-day Gemini flight without space suits.

Borman, 37, an Air Force major and command pilot for Gemini 7, discussed the plan today. The Tucson, Ariz., astronaut said lack of time for a complete study of the plan was the reason that L. Gordon Cooper Jr., an Air Force major, and Navy Lt. Comdr. Charles Conrad had been turned down in their suggestion that they go without suits on the Gemini 5 eight-day mission. Their flight is expected Aug. 19.

He wasn't too optimistic about the officials' approving the no-suit proposal for his flight, either.

"I'm not pushing for it," he said. "I want to do the best job I can. To do that job, the best way I know how, I must be operating at top efficiency. I believe I can do that with the least encumbrance."

LIGHTER SUIT

Borman, a backup crewman for Gemini 4, said if the proposal is turned down, the space suit worn would be much lighter than the 33-pound suit worn by Edward H. White during his 20-minute space walk.

"We don't plan to get out of the spaceship or open the hatch," he said.

The space suit is a backup protection in case pressure or oxygen is lost inside the space capsule. U.S. astronauts have removed their helmets, which depressurizes their suits, while in flight.

Three Soviet cosmonauts reportedly flew in one spaceship Oct. 12, 1964, without spacesuits, wearing street clothes. Borman said that 14 days in a spaceship could be uncomfortable and decrease efficiency.

"But the possibility of going without suits is almost negligible," he said. "And I wouldn't want to go without a suit if studies showed it would be dangerous."

LATE IN YEAR

Borman and his copilot, Navy Cmdr. Lovell, also 37, are expected to be shot into orbit late this year or early 1966.

Borman said there had been a plan to rendezvous with either a spent Agena rocket or the second stage of the Titan booster used to place the two men in orbit.

"We won't dock with it, of course," Borman said. "nor will we try to keep up with it. We plan to take our time, saving fuel. We will have two weeks to do it, and we don't plan to be in any hurry."

Navy Cmdr. Walter M. Schirra Jr., 42, and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, 34, are set to pilot the two-day Gemini 6 mission in October. An Atlas-Agena rocket will hurl the Agena stage into orbit. Gemini 6 will be launched later and will attempt to link up with the Agena.

Horse Bows To Machine

FORT WORTH (AP) — The horse has lost another match to the internal combustion machine, this time in the bustling Fort Worth stockyards.

Four small motorcycles are being used here instead of horses to move cattle from loading chutes to scales and pens.

Veteran cattlemen are admitting the gasoline-driven horsepower is working well.

"Been riding horses since I was about 10," said one. "But in my job, I prefer working cattle on this little baby here." And he patted his bright red cycle.

Others aren't so enthusiastic. "A horse anticipates the moves of a wild cow and keeps you out of trouble," grumbled one cowboy.

"You couldn't get me on one of those for a million bucks," said Harold Harrison, a commission company owner. "A horse will protect you, but those things will get you killed."

Moe Klingenberg, stockyard superintendent, instituted the motorcycle idea in March. He says the cycles are from $7 to $9 a week cheaper to operate than horses and more restful to the cowboys.

Soviets Deplore Scoops By West

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party complains that Western news media are beating Soviet organs to the punch on world developments and scoring propaganda advantages here.

The party's chief theoretical organ Kommunist said it was vital for Soviet propaganda outlets to provide speedy and comprehensive "elucidation" of news events from the Soviet viewpoint.

Willie Mays Doubtful Starter In All-Star

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants, an All-Star fixture for 12 years, remained a questionable starter today as the National League looked forward to completing Operation Overhaul in Tuesday's All-Star Game.

A big bruise on his right hip restricting his mobility, the flashy $105,000 center fielder received a day of rest Sunday when the Giants were rained out at Philadelphia.

Mays said he felt pretty good but was still sore following a collision at home plate Saturday night with Phillies' catcher Pat Corrales.

The 34-year-old slugger, leading the majors with 23 homers, also said he hoped he would be able to play, but it was no certainty that he would be in the starting line-up.

If he isn't, each team will be without one selected starter.

The American League learned Sunday that first baseman Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox will be unable to play because of an injury to his side. Skowron was hurt in a recent collision with Cleveland's Chuck Hinton and hasn't played since last Thursday.

Skowron was replaced numerically by New York's Joe Pepitone, but Manager Al Lopez named Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota to start at first since the Twins' slugger originally was his second choice.

This year's game will be the first played in the Twin Cities, with a capacity crowd of 7,000 expected when the contest gets under way at 1 p.m. EST.

The game will be telecast and broadcast by NBC.

The National League, which has trailed the American since the series inaugural in 1933, pulled even 17-17 by winning last year's struggle 7-4 when Mays triggered a three-run ninth-inning rally capped by Johnny Callison's three-run homer.

Until Mays was injured, the National League had been favored to continue its recent domination behind a talented crew of fireballing pitchers and home run hitters.

In the last eight games the NL has come out in front six times with the American League winning once. The 1962 game ended in a tie.

The starting pitchers weren't to be named until today, but Milt Pappas of Baltimore was expected to go for the American while Cincinnati's Jim Maloney appeared to be the National's choice.

Jim Pritchett Triumphs In Bill Craig Tourney

COLORADO CITY—A former Colorado City who now calls Midland home, James Pritchett, won the Bill Craig 25er Memorial Golf tournament here Sunday afternoon, defeating Bob Craig of Buena Park, Calif., in the 18-hole final, 2 and 1.

The loser is a brother to the late Bill Craig, for whom the tournament is named.

Pritchett built a two-stroke lead through nine holes and Craig was never able to pull even.

In the championship consolation finals, Frank Powell, Big Spring, turned back Red Alston, Sweetwater, 1 up, and earned a golf bag.

Calvert Shortes, Big Spring, won third flight consolation laurels, turning back Jim Maddox, Colorado City, 3 and 2, in the finals. He, too, won a golf bag.

The first flight was claimed by George Powell, Colorado City, whose margin of victory over Howard Tarrt, Lorraine, in the finals was 2 and 1.

In semifinal tests of the championship flight Sunday morning, Craig manhandled R. J. Kidd, Snyder, 2 and 1; while Pritchett measured Tommy Wilson, Lubbock, 1 up 19.

Farris Hammond, Big Spring, lost out in second flight semifinals to K. M. Looney, Colorado City, the eventual flight winner, by a 3 and 2 count.

Local Team KO'd In Legion Play

LUBBOCK — Plainview ousted Big Spring from the American Legion District 19 baseball tournament here Saturday, 5-0, yielding to a no-hitter tossed by Tommy Lloyd.

Plainview thus earned the right to oppose the Lubbock Autos in a semifinal game at 8 o'clock tonight. The winner tangles with the Lubbock Red Cheeks for the championship Tuesday night.

The Red Cheeks handed the Autos their first defeat in the tournament Saturday, 5-0, to qualify for the finals.

Lloyd fanned eight and issued four walks. Another Big Spring player reached base on a bob-

Rebels Nudge Cubs, 15-6

The Sophomore League Rebels chased four Cub pitchers as they ran amuck, 15-6, in a Saturday evening baseball game.

The Rebels collected nine hits from Cub pitching while Duane Sanders held the Cubs batting order to three safeties, going all the way. Sanders also drove in two runs, getting a triple and a single at the plate.

The Cubs were actually ahead, 5-4, after the fifth inning, but the Rebels went wild, scoring 11 runs in the next two innings, on five hits.

Rebels 15, Cubs 6.

Shot Put Star Says He Won't Be In Top Shape

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Randy Matson says he can't reach top condition in the three weeks left before he'll compete against the Russians at Kiev as a member of the U.S. track team.

But he'll be in better shape than he was Saturday, when he qualified for the team in a special AAU-sponsored exhibition. He put the shot 67 feet, 8 1/2 inches on his best toss, and he had two others over 67 feet.

Matson said Sunday that his weight and strength are below par, even though his best heave Saturday was more than three feet farther than any Russian has ever thrown.

"I'm down to 245 and my bench press is 330 or 335," he said.

The Texas A&M giant weighed 258 and could bench press 365 pounds when he set the track world on its ear this spring with a tremendous 70-7 throw.

"I feel like if my conditioning and workouts progress as well as they have lately I'll be in pretty good shape—better than now, anyway," Matson said.

He says his technique also needs work. Aggie coach Charley Thomas says that it wasn't perfect even on the record heave—as proved by movie film of the event, or he would have hit 72 feet.

But if Matson is having trouble with his weight, strength and technique, at least his left knee is all right. Because of a strain he had to wear a huge elastic bandage over the knee when he set the record.

"I got two cortisone-type shots in it three weeks ago," he said, "and it hasn't bothered me since, even when I'm weightlifting."

Matson was not surprised when he was added to the U.S. team after the exhibition. He had been told by AAU officials he would be named to the team if he topped 64 feet, he said.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By TOMMY HART

For sports that are supposed to be dying on the vine, baseball and softball are doing famously here.

Upwards to 1,000 persons have been active in the two endeavors in Big Spring this year, probably the greatest head count in history for this city of 30,000 plus.

Russell Tidwell, commissioner of the American Softball league, figured out the other day that 327 men and women are active in the game. That includes players in the West Texas, Church and Women's leagues, as well as in his own circuit.

Upward to 500 boys have been keeping regular schedules in Little League ball. Count the Teen-Age, American Legion and adult baseball teams on top of that and you get a tidy sum.

The sports may have waned in spectator interest but they've never been more popular for participation.

On the subject of pennant races, wouldn't Milwaukee be one city where they can't say "Wait until next year?"

The SMU coaching has to shoulder part of the blame for Big Spring's Dick Irons failing to stay eligible for football at SMU.

Dick's over-all classroom work was commendable and his grades were, on the whole, good. He failed one subject, however, and was declared ineligible because he wasn't taking enough subjects. His coaches had advised him on his work load.

Dick is attending summer school at HJC to get credit for the subject he failed and will remain in SMU at his own expense in order to get eligible for the 1966 season.

He and Don White, another Big Spring boy signed by the Mustangs, thus will begin their varsity careers together.

Irons is regarded as a tremendous prospect by the SMU staff.

Another Big Spring boy signed by a Southwest Conference school, Coye Conner, is working with a construction crew at Odessa this summer.

Coye will be a sophomore tackle for the Baylor Bears this fall. He'll probably start the season at about 207 pounds.

The golfing bug has bitten Byron Townsend, the former Odessa football great.

He recently played in the sixth flight of a tournament at Andrews.

It's hard to understand why more interest wasn't manifested in the Sectional round of the Public Links tournament here. Promoter John Pipes tried to stage such a meet and didn't get a single entry.

No fewer than ten residents of the islands of Hawaii are entered in this year's tournament, which will be held in Pittsburgh July 12-17.

California has 11 golfers eligible for the tournament while Arizona will supply six entries. Even Anchorage, Alaska, will be represented in this year's tournament.

Texas in the Pittsburgh show include Ray Farrar, Sonny Ewing and Dennis Ewing, all of Dallas; and Reginald Golden, Houston.

Six of the eight teams in the American Football League have already set records for season ticket sales this year, with the conference season still two months removed.

Oilers Trim Lubbock Club

LUBBOCK — The Gage Oilers of Big Spring tomahawked the Lubbock Indians, 7-3, in a sandlot baseball game here Sunday afternoon.

The Oilers, feasted on Indian pitching, collecting 14 hits off two Lubbock hurlers. Danny Valdes, on the rubber for Big Spring, parceled out only six safeties to the Warriors.

Ahead from the second inning on, the Oilers were never in trouble.

Two games were to have been played with the Indians but the Lubbock club showed up two hours late to fulfill the engagement.

Dean Christian had a field day for Big Spring, driving out three hits. Jerry Barron, Tito Aren-

Everest Given Grid Promotion

Former San Angelo High School coach Andrew S. (Andy) Everest is the new assistant athletic director at the University of California at Santa Barbara.

Everest coached in Texas at Monahan, Corpus Christi Miller, and San Angelo before joining the staff in 1953. In 1958 he went to Stanford, then Foothill College, Los Altos, Calif. He won four letters at Texas Western between 1948-1950.

In addition to handling the assistant director's duties, Everest will serve as a grid aide working with guards and centers, while current line coach Pete Riehman will concentrate on the tackles.

Andy's mother formerly resided in Big Spring.

The Cecil had won the opener by the same score on L. W. Utley's three-hit performance. Mike McElrath scored Lubbock's only run in that contest on a home run in the sixth.

Blizard made his catch in left field. Had the blow fallen in, the Cecil would have scored two runs. Harold Berry had doubled earlier in the inning and Rankin had followed with a single.

Hickey's Team Is Triumphant

ODESSA (AP)—Babe Hickey of Pocatello, Idaho, and Marty Fleckman of Port Arthur got the scare of their young lives Sunday but managed to edge through with the championship of the $20,000 Odessa pro-amateur golf tournament.

Hickey, who lives at Galena Park but plays out of Pocatello, and Fleckman, former Texas amateur champion, had a six-under-par 66 in the closing round and that was just enough to put them over against the stretch run of two teams—Bo Winger of Las Vegas, Nev., and Bobby French of Midland, and Ray Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C., and Rik Massengale of Jacksonville.

The Winger-French and Floyd-Massengale combos sized up with 63's but just had too much to make up.

Hickey and Fleckman wound up with 255 for 72 holes. That was one stroke better than Winger-French and Floyd-Massengale, who had 256.

However, if Winger, the veteran touring pro, hadn't missed a 10-foot birdie putt on the final hole there would have been a tie for the title and a playoff.

As things stood Hickey could knock in a three-foot putt for a par and clinch the championship for his team. Hickey got 85,000 for it. Winger and Floyd drew $2,750 each for tying for second.

Don Massengale of Jacksonville and John Farquhar of Amarillo, the defending champions, failed to make a run for it. They had a closing 67 and finished in fifth place with 258.

The Leaders: Babe Hickey, Pocatello, Idaho, and Marty Fleckman, Port Arthur, $5,000, 64-65-66-67-255.

Bo Winger, Las Vegas, Nev., and Rik Massengale, Jacksonville, N.C., 65-66-67-68-256.

Senator Hails Splinter Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Carl T. Curtis thinks the Free Society Association spearheaded by Barry Goldwater is an excellent thing.

The Nebraska Republican thus disagreed with GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss who has said the FSA might hurt party unity and fund raising.

Speaking on Metromedia's Sunday television radio program "Opinion in the Capital," Curtis said: "I hope the time never comes when it's heresy for Republicans to believe in freedom. To oppose this is just about as ridiculous as you can get."

Power Plant Being Erected

KENNEWICK, Wash. (AP) — Rising from the desert is a huge nuclear power plant which this fall will start producing electricity for the Northwest.

Its builders, the Washington Public Power Supply System, call it the world's largest nuclear power plant. The first power is expected this autumn.

By early next year, say the builders, the plant will produce 800,000 kilowatts of electricity.

The electricity will be tied into the Bonneville Power Administration's sub-station at Vantage, Wash., by a 23-mile long, 500,000-volt transmission line. Bonneville power is used throughout the Northwest.

U. S., Japan Open Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan open a Cabinet-level conference today with the emphasis switched from Japan's increasing trade with Communist China to economic development plans for Southeast Asia.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk was to formally open the fourth meeting of the Joint Cabinet Committee on Trade and Economic Affairs.

U.S. officials said that for the first time in years, little was being said to Japan about its increasing trade with Communist China.

$430 MILLION
Japan's trade with Peking this year will rise to $430 million, up about 40 per cent over 1964, according to the Japan-Communist China Export-Import Society.

By comparison, U.S. trade with Japan is expected to exceed $4 billion this year and with trade only slightly in favor of the United States.

In welcoming the seven Japanese Cabinet ministers, their wives and top advisers Sunday night at Andrews Air Force Base, Rusk praised Japan for "rapidly assuming responsibility and leadership to go with its position" as one of the great industrial powers of the world.

This appeared the opening move by the U.S. delegation to win pledges of greater cooperation from Japan in economic projects that would supplement President Johnson's proposed $1-billion Asian development program.

HURT RELATIONSHIP
Much of the Japanese interest in the meeting this year is to make clear its concern that a rising spirit of protectionism by the United States could embitter relations and stunt the growth of trade. Japan is the largest overseas buyer of American products.

The six-point agenda includes discussion of aviation, shipping, travel and fisheries.

The Cabinet ministers will have a luncheon meeting with President Johnson at the end of their discussions, and will leave Thursday for Tokyo.

Halt Of Verbal Attacks Hints Shift Of Strategy
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's two top leaders virtually ignored the war in Viet Nam in major weekend speeches, arousing speculation that the Kremlin may be about to take a new tack toward the Southeast Asian conflict.

The cessation of attacks on American involvement in the war came after months of attacks on U.S. policy.

NO REFERENCE
Communist party First Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, speaking in Leningrad Saturday, made no specific reference to Viet Nam.

His only mention of the United States was as "imperialists and above all the imperialists of the U.S.A." and their "armed provocations" and "acts of aggression."

His most acid remarks were aimed at the Chinese leaders in Peking.

"The Communists, if they really are Communists," he said, "do not have the right to waste time and energy on mutual attacks."

EVEN MILDLY
Premier Alexei N. Kosygin,

Acuff Due To Recover

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music king Roy Acuff is in a great deal of pain but will recover from injuries suffered in a weekend auto accident in plenty of time to make a planned overseas tour in December, Acuff's personal physician said Sunday night.

Dr. Cleo Miller said the 58-year-old Grand Ole Opry star should "mend in about six weeks unless complications develop."

Grand Ole Opry guitarist Harold "Shot" Jackson remained in critical condition today in a Nashville hospital with skull and rib fractures and other internal injuries. Jackson was riding in the front seat of the expensive sedan driven by Acuff.

Acuff suffered a fractured pelvis, a broken collarbone and several shattered ribs in the auto mishap Saturday near Sparta, Tenn. A female vocalist, June Stearns, suffered a broken leg.

Junior College Plan Calls For A Bond Election
KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — A bond election will determine financing of a junior college district approved by voters here Saturday.

A date for the second election has not yet been set.

Voters in the Killeen, Copperas Cove and Nolanville Independent School Districts Saturday voted in favor of establishing Killeen Junior College 2,024-287.

Trustees elected were: Wallace Bay, William S. Biggam and Dr. W. A. Roach, all of Killeen; J. A. Darosett, Marvin Mickan and Mrs. Linus Frederick, all of Copperas Cove, and Birt F. Wilkerson of Nolanville.

Vote For Beer Sales Challenged
TERRELL, Tex. (AP) — The Kaufman County Righteousness Committee has indicated it will challenge Saturday's election in which Terrell residents approved the sale of liquor for off-premises consumption.

Terrell, a town about 40 miles east of Dallas, has been legally dry since 1903.

The "wets" won the election by a vote of 1,369 to 1,212. The committee said it planned to challenge the absentee voting, which was 194 wet, 43 dry.

Pacific Islanders Fly To Gathering

LAE, New Guinea (AP) — The colorful islanders of the South Pacific are speaking out more freely than ever before.

Many have flown thousands of miles, from island homes spread over 12-million square miles of the Pacific, to the South Pacific Commission's 3th triennial conference.

Soft brown-colored Samoans and dark black New Hebrideans have come to discuss their problems and find ways of boosting the economies of the commission's 17 island territories.

Conference advisers include Europeans from island administrations of Australia, New Zealand, Britain, France and the United States.

NIGHT POLITICS
Political topics are never on the agenda. But at night, as delegates sit around and drink local brew, some express hope that some day they can raise any subject they wish, such as the virtues of independence.

One indication: delegates this year appear to be working more independently of their advisers than before.

Mariono Kelesi, of the British Solomon Islands, speaks such phrases as "The sea is a free plantation given to us since the establishment of the world."

Here in the Pacific, the population is growing rapidly — in places, recent increases are said to be the highest in the world but today there are still only 3 1/4 million in the commission's area.

Of these, about 120,000 are European plus some tens of thousands of American and French troops in Guam and French Polynesia.

There is sufficient land in the Pacific for these people and generally enough food, although malnutrition and inadequate housing have been reported in some areas because of a population drift from farms to towns and cities.

The needs for a big industrial drive in addition to tourism was a main topic when the economic committee met. It put through a resolution expressing the need for help from governments that administer the islands in getting such a drive going.

Nuclear Arms Threat Noted
WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg today termed the potential spread of nuclear weapons as "one of the urgent problems facing mankind."

Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, said in a copyrighted interview in "U.S. & World Report" that a large number of countries have the means of developing nuclear weapons over a period of years.

At present, only five nations—the United States, Russia, Britain, France and Communist China—have nuclear weapons.

The bomb in the hands of the Chinese Communists, he said, poses "one of the critical problems—the questions of whether India and others are going to feel that they must take this nuclear path because the Red Chinese have."
