Thigpen To File Motion Requesting Review Of Appeal

District Attorney Joseph Thigpen announced this week that he intends to file a motion requesting that all nine members of the Court of Criminal Appeals review the appeal of Alberto Alvarez.

A three member panel overturned the conviction of Alvarez, who was convicted of rape by a 1978 39th District Jury.

The judges, John F. Onion Jr., Marvin O. Teague, and W. C. Davis, of the Court of Criminal Appeals overturned the conviction by a two to one vote. Judge Davis issued the dissenting vote.

Alvarez was charged with the rape of a 19 year old victim on July 5, 1977 and was convicted October 5, 1978 by a ten woman-two man jury in District Court. He was sentenced to three years, but remained free during the appeal.

The nude body of the victim was found July 4 by youths playing in the Haskell City Park.

According to Judge Teague, who wrote the opinion, "Some of the questions which should have been asked the pathologist, but were not asked by the prosecuting attorney are..."

District Attorney Joseph Thigpen, who prosecuted, told the Free Press, "The opinion states that four questions should have been asked and all four of the questions were addressed during the trial".

The five page opinion deals extensively with the sexual background of the victim, identified in the opinion only as Linda, and her physical condition at the time of the alleged crime.

The opinion states, "The State chose to prosecute pursuant to the provision of the rape statute, which provides that a person commits the offense of rape if he has sexual intercourse with a female not his wife without the female's consent and the intercourse occurs when the female was physically unable to resist".

The opinion states that the case rested on circumstantial evidence which was not fully developed.

Judge Teague also stated in the opinion, "Our task in reviewing the conviction of the appellant (Alvarez) has not been an easy one, especially in light of the shocking facts presented as to the conduct of appellant (Alvarez) and others in this cause in leaving Linda in a City Park, while nude and apparently torpid from the acute sugar diabetes from which she suffered".

According to the opinion, the verdict was overturned because the evidence in the case was circumstantial and a conviction resting on circumstantial will not be sustained on appeal, if the evidence does not sufficiently establish, either by direct or circumstantial evidence, all the material elements of the offense charged.

GTE To Begin Charge For Directory Assistance

Beginning August 1, General Telephone customers in Texas will be charged for calls to directory assistance that exceed a 10-call per month limit.

"The increasing volume of calls to directory assistance is one factor that has made local basic monthly rates paid by all customers go up in the past," Willis C. Wells, general manager—Mid-Texas Division Operations for General Telephone, said. "With the directory assistance charging plan, the local rate increases recently placed in effect were less than what they would have been without directory assistance charging."

Wells pointed out that charging for calls to directory assistance exceeding a 10-call per month limit will have little effect on the majority of the company's customers, except to help keep basic rates lower than they would be without the charge.

"Our studies have shown that approximately 9 percent of the total directory assistance users make nearly half of all calls to directory assistance," Wells said.

"Under the previous method, the cost of providing directory assistance was spread among all customers, regardless of whether they use the service or not," the telephone company manager said.

"Customers formerly could make an unlimited number of calls to directory assistance without paying a separate charge.

"As a result, customers who never use the service or who used it very little were paying just as much through their local rates as the heavy users for this service.

"Charging for excessive use will transfer the costs to those who use the service extensively, resulting in keeping basic local rates lower than they would be otherwise."

Each General customer will have a 10-call per month per line allowance without charge. The caller can also obtain a maximum of two telephone numbers during each call under the plan approved July 14 by the Public Utility Commission.

"We feel this will take care of new listings and number changes most customers will need during the course of a month," the manager said.

"After the 10-call limit, a 25-cent charge per request will be assessed."

Calls for which no charge would be assessed will be those made from coin telephones, from hospitals, by certified handicapped persons who cannot use a telephone directory, and calls for long-distance directory assistance which are offset by a long-distance call.

Steve Horton Receives Memorial Scholarship

Steve Horton of Haskell was one of two Boy Scouts from the 9½ county Chisholm Trail Council to be awarded a "Stephen Sapaugh Memorial Scholarship".

The college scholarship of $1,000 is payable over a four year period. Scout Executive Don Knecht presented a check for the first year at a meeting of the Haskell Kiwanis Club Tuesday morning. Steve is working at Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico this summer, so the presentation was made to Hugh Horton, Steve's father.

The scholarships were established by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sapaugh of Clyde as a living memorial to their son, Stephen, who was killed on a church mission trip in 1979. The other scholarship recipient, announced earlier, was Randy Lantrip of Abilene. Next year, two more high school seniors will be selected. Scouting background, community service, and church & community involvement—are all a part of the criteria for selection.

Another lesson in the ridiculous legal process was learned Wednesday when two judges on the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin overturned the decision of twelve Haskell County jurors.

We find fault, not with their decision to overturn the conviction, but with the system. The system that required twelve people to sit in judgement of another. The system that required those same twelve people to spend a week of their time in a courtroom listening to attorneys argue legal questions. The system that required those twelve people to study, in detail, the events surrounding the death of another individual.

All this, in the name of justice. And yet, almost four years later, the same system allows two men in a town 300 miles away, decide that those twelve individuals were incompetent and that the decision they made was irresponsible.

The two judges who overturned the conviction criticized the District Attorney for not asking the proper questions and included in their opinion what questions should have been asked. Looking through the same material that the judges based their opinion on, all four of the questions were addressed and three of them were discussed at length during the trial.

The judges also elaborated at great length concerning what was required for a conviction based on circumstantial evidence and quoted as a reference Swink vs. State, a case which was prosecuted by the same attorney.

At the same time, Judge Marvin Teague, who wrote the opinion quoted as a reference his book on criminal prosecution.

At that time, who could help but wonder how interested the judge was in justice, when he cites a case saying the prosecutor should study a case which the prosecutor had prosecuted and at the same time recommend the prosecuting attorney to purchase a book on criminal prosecution, which the judge had written.

The irony in the entire episode results from the opinion saying that sufficient evidence was not presented to find the defendant guilty in a circumstantial evidence case. Yet, the jury had been instructed at least three times concerning the legal requirements of returning a guilty verdict in a circumstantial evidence case.

The opinion appears to be a slap in the face to the twelve people who served on the jury and also makes us wonder why we even need juries if Austin judges are so much better qualified to determine the quality and quantity of evidence and the credibility of witnesses.

Sons Of Hermann Campaign Underway

A "Campaign to Make Hermann Sons Lodges Grow" will be conducted from Aug. 1 to Nov. 10 in all 160 lodges of the 79,000-member Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president has announced.

The lodges are located in 140 cities and towns across the state.

On July 11 more than 800 lodge leaders from around Texas met in San Antonio, home office site of the Fraternal society, in a rally for the campaign. This rally followed a seminar attended by some 150 local lodge membership representatives.

Hermann Sons in Texas dates back to 1860 when Harmonia Lodge No. 1 was being organized in San Antonio. The lodge was officially chartered July 6, 1861. Originally part of a national society founded in New York in 1840, Hermann Sons in Texas became autonomous in 1921. Headquarters are located in San Antonio where the Grand Lodge was established in 1890.

The order in Texas operates a youth summer camp and a retirement home for aged members near Comfort and sponsors 22 dancing schools for junior members. Local lodges sponsor both social and benevolent activities. As required by law, the fraternal benefit society also provides life insurance for the benefit of adult and junior members.

Lodge membership representatives in the Haskell area are: Harry Koehler and Alton Middleton, Haskell Lodge No. 241.

550 New RNs Needed For Air Force Program

The Air Force is seeking more than 550 new registered nurses from baccalaureate nursing programs to become commissioned officers during the next 12 months to provide vital health care in clinical nursing. Nurses with experience in mental health, anesthesia, pediatrics, environmental health, operating room and other clinical environments are also eligible to apply for a commission.

Air Force nurses are commissioned either as second or first lieutenants, based on their education. They initially agree to a three-year obligation and know which base they will be assigned before taking the oath of office. After commissioning, they attend a two-week Medical Service officer orientation course at Sheppard Air Force Base, near Wichita Falls.

Many newly graduated nurses with Bachelor's Degree in Nursing (BSN) attend a five-month internship at an Air Force hospital which may also be the site of their final assignment. The internship provides a smooth transition of the initial active duty nurse from beginning practitioner to that of a professional Air Force Nurse Corps officer. It focuses on the application of nursing knowledge the new graduate acquired in college. Much of the program is skill-oriented. Nurse interns develop skills under the supervision and guidance of a nurse preceptor and rotate through the various clinical specialty areas.

After the internship, Air Force nurses serve with fellow health care professionals in modern, well-equipped hospitals. From the beginning of their Air Force nursing careers, nurses take an active part in planning their future. Varied assignments, continuing education and advanced education in civilian institutions all help a nurse to pursue a career plan that is virtually unlimited.

Commissioned officers enjoy an attractive package of entitlements: comprehensive medical and dental care, 30 days of vacation with pay each year along with the normal pay increases for promotions, longevity, and cost of living. Second Lieutenants may earn up to $16,389.48 per year in pay and allowances, while First Lieutenants may earn up to $19,039.08. All Air Force members have the use of base facilities and recreational activities.

A specialized team is located in Arlington to take applications. For more information, call Captain Linda McFarland, (817) 461-1946 (collect).

Men In Service

Second Lieutenant Garry Baccus, son of Mr. & Mrs. Clinton Baccus of Mansfield has graduated with academic honors from U. S. Air Force pilot training at Reese Air Force Base in Lubbock.

Pilot training extends for approximately one year and includes flying the T-37 and T-38 aircraft.

Following training on the C-130 aircraft at Little Rock Air Force Base, Arkansas, Lieutenant Baccus will fly the C-130 at Pope Air Force Base, North Carolina.

Garry is a 1980 graduate of Abilene Christian University and is married to the former Kim Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hale of Haskell. He is the grandson of Mrs. Retta Baccus and Mrs. Hope Josselet of Haskell.

Magazine Featured Judge Roy Bean

Judge Roy Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos," once fined an unidentified corpse $40 for carrying a concealed weapon.

The wily old judge had a reason -- he knew he'd have to hire someone to bury the body. As one longtime Langtry resident put it, "Roy Bean may have been a murderer and a robber but he was a good man in his way."

Texas Highways Magazine in its August issue celebrates the 100th anniversary of Roy Bean's appointment as Justice of the Peace of Precinct 6 of Pecos County with a feature on the white-bearded old gentleman who became a legend in his own time.

A companion piece, "Pecos Country," provides this month's scenic delight, with photographs showing the grandeur of the canyons along the Rio Grande and the Pecos River in Judge Roy Bean country. In one scene that readers will want to cut out and frame, an elusive mountain lion slips out of sunlight river cane to drink in the Rio Grande.

The "Judge Roy Bean" issue of Texas Highways marks the magazine's debut on newsstands in major Texas cities and selected areas outside the state. The magazine already goes into the mailboxes of more than 225,000 subscribers, but it plans to make a few more friends every month at selected bookstores, newsstands, retail stores, and airports.

Some 37,000 copies of this monthly publication, produced by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, will be distributed by 30 wholesalers in Texas cities plus Chicago, New York, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, and Carlsbad, New Mexico. The newsstand price is $1.50.

Under a big red "Texas," the August cover shows a horse and rider who have stopped to admire a West Texas scene of the Rio Grande near Langtry. As promised on the cover, the issue also includes a feature on the peaceful Central Texas town of Salado. It is shown through the eyes of a native, Liz Carpenter, the former press secretary to Lady Bird Johnson and Assistant Secretary of the Department of Education.

Billy Bob's, the world's largest honky-tonk, comes in for close attention in a six-page feature that pictures the entertainers, the lavish gift shops, and the bull riding that have made this Fort Worth entertainment spot world famous. Readers also get to visit in Dallas the finest collection of Spanish art outside Madrid and sample a few peaches and watermelons at the annual summer festival in De Leon.

If Texas Highways is not available at a particular news outlet, customers may request it from the manager, or simply order a year's subscription direct by sending a check for $10 ($15 to foreign addresses) to Texas Highways Magazine, Box 5016, Austin, Texas 78763.

Summer Means Lawn Problems

Summer means hot weather in Texas along with outdoor sports and long lazy days. It also means lawn problems -- drought, weeds, insects and disease.

Lawn problems can cause headaches for homeowners unless the problems are accurately diagnosed and properly treated before they become severe, points out Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Dry spots, thin turf and weeds can result from improper watering, fertilizing and mowing practices, notes Duble. Before applying a chemical to correct lawn problems, be sure to follow recommended cultural practices.

Drought stress most often occurs in mid-summer and shows up as wilted, discolored turf. Adjust watering schedules to wet the soil to a depth of four to six inches, and water only when grass shows symptoms of moisture stress. Also, raise mowing heights one-half inch to improve drought tolerance in mid-summer.

Lack of nitrogen or iron often creates a lawn problem. Grass with a nitrogen deficiency may have a pale color and be heavily infested with weeds, explains Duble. Abundant seedheads are another symptom of nitrogen deficiency. A light application of a nitrogen fertilizer will improve the lawn's appearance.

Grass leaves that have yellow stripes parallel to the leaf margins may be deficient in iron. An application of iron sulfate or iron chelate at six ounces per 1,000 square feet will usually solve this problem, says the specialist.

If a St. Augustine lawn has symptoms similar to nitrogen or iron deficiency but does not respond to applications of either material, suspect St. Augustine Decline (S.A.D.) Close examination of turf infested with S.A.D. shows green and yellow blotches on the leaves. Continue good maintenance practices where S.A.D. is a problem. Also, Raleigh, a new St. Augustine grass variety or Floratam, which are resistant to S.A.D., may be sprigged into the infested area.

Leaf spot diseases are generally a problem when lawns are under stress and increase with high temperatures, drought, heavy shade and close mowing, points out Duble. Proper mowing and watering will reduce these problems, but fungicides may be required to prevent serious damage.

Chinch bugs and white grubs feed heavily on lawns during mid-summer, and their damage resembles drought injury, notes the specialist. If turf does not respond to applications of water, suspect these insects. Both pests damage St. Augustine grass, but only the white grub damages bermuda grass lawns.

Chinch bugs and white grubs can be effectively controlled with insecticides. Water the lawn thoroughly prior to applying an insecticide for chinch bug control. A light watering after applying the insecticide also increases its effectiveness. Duble advises drenching the lawn after an insecticide is applied for grub control since grubs feed in the soil.

The best way to keep a healthy, attractive lawn is through proper mowing, watering and fertilization, says the specialist. These regular maintenance practices allow you to keep a check on lawn conditions so that you'll be able to detect a problem early should one develop.

Disability Cases Reviewed

Beginning in 1981, individuals receiving Social Security disability checks began having their file reviewed. Generally, every three years, unless a shorter or longer period is justified because of the nature of the impairments, all individuals getting a disability check will have their file reviewed.

This new law passed by Congress in 1980, recognized the many new advances in medical science. Also, rehabilitation techniques have improved since the first disability checks were issued.

Social Security disability benefits can be paid only as long as you are unable to do any gainful work because of your impairment. Congress felt that the Social Security Administration should review the files of individuals getting checks more often than they had been doing in the past. So the review was started in March 1981.

When a case is reviewed, you and your doctor will be asked for current information and evidence on how your impairment affects your ability to work. If additional evidence is needed, the State Agency which does the review for Social Security can send you for a special examination, at Government expense. It is important that you keep this appointment.

After the file is reviewed, you will be notified in writing of the decision on your file. If the disability requirements are still met, your checks will continue.

If the final decision is that you are no longer disabled, the checks will continue for the month of the decision and two additional months, then your checks will stop.

If you have any additional questions about the review of your disability claim, please get in touch with the nearest Social Security Office. The Abilene office is located at 142 S. Pioneer. The phone number is 698-1360.

Traffic Reflectors Aid In Safe Night Driving

Have you given much thought to traffic delineators? Probably not, because you may not be sure you know what a traffic delineator is.

If we had said road reflectors, you would have immediately visualized the objects beside the road on metal posts that reflect light back to you from your car headlights when you drive at night. These reflectors send you messages to make you night driving easier and safer.

There are five basic traffic delineators. Each one signals its message to make you aware of potential driving hazards.

A series of single white delineators beside the road shows an upcoming curve and the extent of its curvature, as well as the width of the safety parking strip should you need to pull off the road.

A series of delineators with two amber reflectors one above the other sends a message to make you aware of an upcoming entrance or exit point. These delineators extend the length of the entrance and exit ramps.

For your convenience and safety when approaching the double amber delineators, proceed with caution because vehicles may be exiting or entering the thoroughfare. If the entrance or exit is channelized, the first delineator will have three horizontal amber reflectors.

The same arrangement also warns of potentially dangerous objects in the middle of the road such as the beginning of a median strip or center island. You are to pass on the right of these.

They also are used to show the division point of a branching highway, channelized exit or entrance ramp, which you will pass to the right or left.

A delineator with three amber reflectors mounted one above the other appearing in isolated places marks roadside hazards such as interruption of shoulder pavement, bridge structure, light-pole traffic sign, tree, boulder, etc.

The fifth type of traffic delineator is a diamond shaped series of three parallel sets of triple reflectors arranged in echelon. This delineator advises of a dangerous situation in the form of an immovable object such as a massive bridge pier, dead end, or a 90-degree turn of the road.

The traffic delineators placed on the roads and highways by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation send distinct messages to aid you in your night driving, making it safer for you and your fellow motorists.

Area Residents Take 15 Day Tour To New England States

The Nocona Fun Tours of Nocona sponsored a tour with Weldon Cowan, Chamber of Commerce Manager as Tour Guide.

There were forty-five people making the 15 day tour. Those from Haskell were Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Yeary, Mr. and Mrs. J.L. Toliver and Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Wall. The people that went from Knox City were Ruby Magee and Gladys Reed.

The tour started in Nocona at 6 a.m. July 6, 1982 aboard a Continental Trailways bus. We stopped in Nashville and went to the Country Music Hall of Fame, viewed the Parthenon, and took a drive down Millionaire Row.

The World's Fair was our destination in Knoxville, Tenn. We saw exhibits from several countries, and many interesting things. Everyone was glad they had the opportunity to attend such a momentous occasion.

On Friday we left for Washington D.C. where we toured for 3 days. We visited The White House, Jefferson Memorial, Lincoln Memorial, Arlington Cemetery, the Changing of the guard, John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, Library of Congress, Smithsonian Institution, Capital Building, the F.B.I. Building, Bureau of Printing and Engraving, Ford's Theater where Lincoln was shot, George Washington's Home at Mt. Vernon, The Washington Monument, and also had a visit with our Congressman, Charles Stenholm, and ate in the Congressional Office Building cafeteria.

Washington is really a beautiful city with clean, well-kept grounds. On Sunday on the bus, we had a prayer by Weldon Cowan, and a devotional by J.C. Yeary.

We left on Tuesday early, and stopped in Baltimore, Maryland. Later we drove through a tunnel that took us under Chesapeake Bay. We stopped in Trenton, New Jersey, and ate lunch in Connecticut. Our route traveled along the Atlantic Ocean for most of the day, and it was a beautiful sight. We made a stop over the Rhode Island line into Massachusetts, where we spent the night.

The next day we stopped in Augusta, Maine, and ate lunch in Bangor, Maine, and arrived in Canada about 4 p.m. at St. John, New Brunswick. On Thursday, we embarked on the steamer "Princess of Acadia" to cross the Bay of Fundy from New Brunswick to Nova Scotia. It took 2½ hours to cross the ocean and land in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

On Friday we headed toward the United States and arriving in Maine our bus took us up Cadillac Mt. It was beautiful. We visited Acadia National Park area Rockefeller built it for the rich during W.P.A. days. We traveled through the mountains of New Hampshire and Vermont.

Saturday we took off early and stopped in Wilton, New York, and arrived in Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada about 6 p.m. and it was raining. We then went out to the Falls, and it was beautiful. Some took the boat ride, some went up in the scenic tower, and some just looked around. Everyone was utterly fascinated.

We took a drive around the falls on Sunday and Lake Erie, and back into the U.S.A. There are acres and acres of grapes in Pennsylvania. We had a prayer and devotional during our travel by Foye Wood. Then we sang several songs. On Monday we stopped at the Indianapolis 500 Speedway, and visited an interesting museum, gift shop, and tour of the speedway.

On Tuesday we took off from Lebanon, Missouri early and made a stop in Joplin, Missouri, and lunch in Muskogee, Oklahoma. We let people off at Gainesville and Saint Jo and arrived back in Nocona at 5 p.m. We traveled over 5500 miles, been in 20 states, 3 Canadian Provinces, and Washington D.C. Everyone had a good time.

James E. Cloud of Rule, a junior agronomy major, has been named to the "Dean's Honor Roll" at Texas A&M University.

Recipients of the "Dean's Honor Roll" must earn at least a 3.75 grade point ratio, out of a possible 4.0, during the most recent grading period.

The reed pen was the pen of antiquity. Probably the greatest exponent of this tool was Rembrandt, who in later years favored its use over other drawing media. Others who drew with the reed pen were Van Gogh and Matisse. For drawings that are intended to be broad and simple in statement, giving the appearance of a woodcut, the reed pen is an ideal tool. Dipped in India ink, its fat, velvety line mocks the curvacious spirit of its successor, the quill pen, or the effete thin line of the steel pen. The reeds from which the pens are made are easy to find and shape to one's need. The hollowed, barreled grass grows along many lakes and streams. They will differ in color but they are basically the same.

Pluck a handful of reed this midsummer, dry them and cut into convenient sizes. Prepare them for use after they are dried by removing the pith and simply cut the point to the shape you prefer. You may find it desirable to drill a small hole, say about half an inch from the point of the pen, as a reservoir for the ink, and then slit the pen from this hole to the end of the nib.

Using good bond paper, smooth enough for the reed pen to move across the surface without dragging, experiment with the strokes. Experimenting with the reed pen will help you express your own individuality, which is always a part of the excitement of using a new technique. The common cane (or bamboo), some green, some green and white, will make good reed pens - try it for fun!

Q. What are some of the basics in drawing with a pen?

A. You must understand that pen and ink drawing is done with a precise and pointed instrument. A range of values can only be obtained by detached lines and not by the shading in one stroke. Have a clear idea of what you want the drawing to look like before you begin. You need to have it clear in your mind where the dark and light areas are. Pen and ink drawing requires a more logical approach than most media, because the actual making of the tones takes longer than it would with a brush - so think first and get it right. A pencil mark is easily erased, wherein a pen mark is quite definite.

Q. What ink is best for pen and ink drawing?

A. Buy a free flowing and waterproof ink. Higgins American India ink, Pelikan and Grumbacher are the most commonly used. Any good art supplier will have drawing inks in India and colors.

Conservation Viewpoints
USDA Soil Conservation Service
Assisting
Haskell Soil and Water Conservation District

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block announced the final conservation program this week as a result of the Soil and Water Conservation Resources Act (RCA) of 1977.

Jim Hudson, district conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service at Haskell, said the Secretary told 13 Midwestern governors that "state and local governments must take greater initiatives in soil and water conservation especially as we struggle in Washington to hold down the growth of Federal spending."

Other features of the Secretary's blueprint for action include:

* A national conservation strategy that focuses on solving two priority needs. First priority is to combat soil erosion in high-production farm areas. Second priority is water problems, with water conservation the goal in the arid West and prevention of damage from upstream flooding in other areas.

* Targeting of an increasing share of USDA conservation funds and personnel to areas where "the need for conservation is critical in national terms."

* Continuation of a "base program" that will keep in place the technical and financial help that USDA has been providing for local conservation programs. The base program will receive 75 percent of all USDA technical and financial assistance funds; targeted areas will use no more than 25 percent of total funds by 1987.

* Matching grants to conservation districts, through state conservation agencies. Grants are authorized by the Agriculture and Food Act of 1981 and Block said they will encourage "more state and local initiative in conservation."

* Redoubling of efforts among farmers to promote conservation tillage, which saves fuel, labor and soil.

* Finally, a survey of all USDA farm programs to find any that, unintentionally, may be working against good soil and water conservation. The new plan will require borrowers in two Farmers Home Administration loan programs—farm ownership and soil and water loans—to have conservation plans.

The meeting will be held on the 10th day of August, 1982 at 7:30 p.m. at the Haskell Independent School Board Room in Haskell, Texas.

Any taxpayer of the District may be present and participate in the hearing. 30c
