Blizzard Hits Great Plains Area

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The weather - sick Rocky Mountains and northern Great Plains coped with a new blizzard today.

Sub-zero temperatures were charted and wind gusts up to 60 m.p.h. were clocked in parts of the Dakotas, Montana and Kansas. Blowing snow reduced visibility to near zero in some localities.

Low temperatures included 32 below zero at Butte and -29 at Helena, both in southwestern Montana; -23 Lewiston, Mont., and -14 at Sheridan in northern Wyoming.

Cold wave warnings were posted for most of the Rockies and the Midwest, with sharp drops in temperature and snow in store for more than dozen states.

The cold weather was expected to invade most areas from eastern Wyoming and Colorado, northwest New Mexico, northwest Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Missouri and northwest Illinois.

Below zero readings were predicted for northern states, along with strong northerly winds and snow.

At Scottsbluff, Neb., the temperature dropped from a Sunday afternoon high of 64 to zero by midnight. The temperature in Denver fell 29 degrees in one hour Sunday night.

Helena, Montana capital that took the brunt of a record storm last midweek, reported a 20-inch snow depth with about six inches of new snow.

The new storm dropped two to six inches of new snow over Montana, but all main highways remained open. Air travel was halted, but trains and buses managed to keep near schedule.

In western Montana, authorities were looking for two missing hunters, Fred Miller and Joe Kent of Hamilton, Mont. Officers said they apparently became lost Sunday while hunting with three other men. Snow in the area is 14-16 inches deep.

The snow broke an Idaho Power Co. transmission line between Bannock and Salmon in central Idaho near the Montana - Idaho border. Bannock was without power for more than 10 hours.

Zero Reading In Panhandle

By The Associated Press

The Weather Bureau predicted the coldest weather of the season will strike Texas by Tuesday.

The front of the cold wave dropped temperatures spectacularly in the upper Panhandle as it moved through Monday morning.

By Tuesday, the Weather Bureau said, temperatures will drop as low as zero in the upper panhandle and 10 to 20 degrees elsewhere in North West Texas.

Lows of 15 degrees for the northern portion of North Central Texas were predicted, 20 in northeast Texas, 26 in South Central Texas, 15 in the upper Pecos Valley and 28 elsewhere in Southwest Texas.

Only showers forecast were for East Texas.

The punch of the cold front was illustrated at Pampa in the upper Panhandle, where the temperature was 39 degrees at 5 a.m. and 16 by 7:30 a.m.

It was comparatively warm in front of the cold mass and skies were generally cloudy.

Temperatures in the Panhandle are expected to drop to zero to 10 above and from 10 to 20 degrees in other sections of Northwest Texas by Tuesday. Snow flurries are expected in the Panhandle Monday.

In Southwest Texas the low is expected to be 20 to 30 in the upper Pecos valley and readings of about 25 are expected in East and South Central Texas.

A warmup Sunday wiped out the ice and bitter cold of a northier that blew into Texas last week.

Dalhart, which shivered under 6 degree reading during last week's cold wave, thawed under a balmy 70 degree temperature Sunday. The lowest maximum Sunday was 38 at Sherman.

A number of cities had light rainfall Sunday. Presidio had .20 inches, Alpine .16, Austin .14, San Antonio .11, Dallas .08, Mineral Wells .07, Fort Worth and Cotulla .05, San Angelo and Waco .03, Tyler, Longview, Lufkin and Beaumont .02, Houston .01, and traces fell at Del Rio, Beeville, Sherman, Abilene, Palacios and Victoria.

Wreckage Of Airliner Carrying 42 Is Found

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A National Airlines search pilot spotted the wreckage of a four-engine passenger plane in the Gulf of Mexico today, leaving little hopes for the 36 passengers and a crew of six.

The Miami-to-New Orleans airliner lost contact with radio points shortly after midnight.

The crash was the second involving a National Airlines plane in six years. Another plane crashed in the gulf in 1953 taking 46 lives.

Capt. Charles H. Ruby, chief pilot for National, spotted the plane's wreckage about 108 miles east-southeast of New Orleans. His radio report said there was no sign of survivors.

The Coast Guard's earlier report said its planes had spotted an oil slick and life raft, but no survivors.

The plane, National Flight 967, vanished in a fog that enveloped the area so quickly that Moisant International Airport at New Orleans had to amend its midnight forecast. The plane was already overdue at fog-shrouded Moisant when the amended forecast came out.

The plane was about a half-hour out of Moisant when it dropped off the radar screen that had been tracking it. The aircraft was flying at 14,000 feet over the 450-mile overwater route from Miami.

A radar station at Dauphin Island, just south of Mobile, Ala., said it was watching the plane on its screen "when it just dropped off."

The plane carried standard escape equipment for over-water flight, including inflatable life jackets for each crewman and passenger.

The plane stopped at Tampa, Fla., after leaving Miami and picked up 10 more passengers.

The crash today and the one in 1953 had some striking parallels. The planes were on the same run, the weather conditions were about the same and both carried approximately the same passenger load.

The 1953 crash resulted in a rash of law suits, one of which was settled only last week by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court denied a National Airlines petition for a review of an order awarding $250,000 to Mrs. Beryle Whiteman Stiles, widow of one of the victims.

The Coast Guard ordered an all-out search, including a specially equipped 95-foot search and rescue vessel. Teams of doctors and full medical equipment were readied and private vessels joined the hunt.

Rep. Burleson Due Here For Address

Congressman Omar Burleson will speak tonight at 7:30 at the High School cafeteria. His appearance will be sponsored by the Downtown Lions Club and the Evening Lions Club. Guests for the evening will be the Snyder Jaycees the Kiwanis Club, the Optimist Club, and the American Business Club.

Burleson represented Scurry County for the first time this past session of Congress, when the redistricting measure adopted in the Texas legislature in 1957 went into effect on January 1, 1959, placing Scurry County in Burleson's 17th Congressional District.

Burleson, a native of Anson, has been in Congress since 1947. He is a graduate of Anson High School and attended Abilene Christian College and Hardin-Simmons University before taking his law degree at Cumberland University Law School in Lebanon, Tenn. Later he did graduate work at the University of Texas.

Burleson served four years as County Attorney of Jones County. He served as County Judge for six years. In 1940 he became a special agent for the FBI but resigned in 1941 to become General Counsel of the Housing Authority of the District of Columbia. He resigned that position to enter the U.S. Navy in World War II, where he served for three and one-half years and was discharged with the rank of Lieutenant Commander.

Burleson has served as chairman of the Committee on House Administration, a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, chairman of the National Security Subconimittee, chairman of the Joint Committee on the Library of Congress, and vice chairman of the Senate-House Joint Committee on Printing.

Mayor Harold Bennett will introduce Burleson. Master of ceremonies will be Bryan Shelburne, president of the Downtown Lions Club. High School music director Bob Clinton, is in charge of music for the event.

County Buys Property

Commissioners Court this morning bought a lease with buildings located about five miles south of Snyder from Service Pipeline Co. for $15,000.00 to be used for a maintenance lot for Precinct 4. They then accepted a bid from Jay Coleman for the buildings on the property to be removed. The bid of $5,000 was to be paid in cash. Coleman plans to use the buildings for office space.

The court also received bids for a new car for precinct No. 4 commissioners, Bill Herring. Wilson Motor Company bid of $2,646.63 with trade in of $450 for a new Galaxie was accepted.

Prominent Farm Family In Kansas Found Slain At Home

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP)—In a farm home far off the beaten path of this vast wheat area four members of a respected, well-to-do family were murdered over the weekend.

Herbert Clutter, 48, his wife, Bonnie, 45, their daughter, Nancy Mae, 16, and son Kenyon, 15, were bound hand and foot and gagged. All were shot in the head. Clutter's throat was slashed.

The victims were slain by a shotgun. Neither the gun nor the weapon with which Clutter's throat was cut have been found.

Nothing in the house was in disarray. No valuables appeared to be missing. Money which Nancy had placed in an envelope for church lay on her bedroom dresser beside a diamond ring.

The coroner, Dr. Robert Fenton, said Mrs. Clutter, and Nancy apparently were not molested sexually. He placed the time of death between 11 p. m. Saturday and 2 a. m. Sunday.

The Clutters gave a ride each Sunday to two of Nancy's school mates. The girls, Mary Ewalt and Susan Kidwell, stumbled on the killings when they were driven to the Clutter home.

Clutter was a founder of the Kansas Assn. of Wheat Growers. He was a past president of the National Wheat Growers Assn., president of the Garden City Equity Exchange, a director of the Consumer's Cooperative. President Eisenhower appointed him in 1954 to the Federal Farm Credit Board. Clutter declined reappointment two years later.

Nancy and Kenyon attended high school in Holcomb, a village of 270 population a mile from their home. Both were honor students. Nancy last week won the school's good citizenship award.

The family apparently had been ready to retire when they were attacked. All except Kenyon were in pajamas. The boy wore blue jeans and a white T-shirt.

The bodies of Mrs. Clutter and Nancy were in separate bedrooms. Clutter and Kenyon were found in the basement.

The home, seven miles west of Garden City, is nearly a mile away from any through road. The only persons living close by are the family of Alfred Stoecklein, who has worked 11 years as a farm hand for the Clutters.

Stoecklein said he saw the Clutters early Saturday evening, before he and his wife and three children went out. They returned about 9:30 p. m. They heard no disturbance.

A classmate of Nancy's, Bob Rupp, said he left the Clutter home at 10:30.

The Clutters had two other daughters—Mrs. Donald Jarchow, 23, of Mount Carroll, Ill., and Beverly Clutter, 20, a student nurse at the University of Kansas Medical Center in Kansas City, Kan.

Cranberry Stew Still Bubbling

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national cranberry stew bubbled again today with a new protest from growers.

Chicago health officials were holding a shipment of Wisconsin cranberries which they said were contaminated with the same kind of weed killer found earlier on some West Coast berries.

C. P. Olsson, president of Ocean Spray Cranberries, Inc., a national cranberry cooperative, asked President Eisenhower to declare as disaster areas the cranberry-growing states of Washington, Oregon, Wisconsin, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

In a telegram sent from Plymouth, Mass., to the vacation White House at Augusta, Ga., Olsson asked Eisenhower to "provide immediate relief to thousands of small farmers for losses caused by the unnecessary, untimely and imprudent action" of Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming.

At a news conference last Monday, Flemming said traces of a weed killer had been found in some of the cranberries grown in the Pacific Northwest. He said the weed killer, Aminotriazole, had caused cancer in rats when it was included in their diet.

The secretary advised against eating the berries until tests could be made to be sure they contained no traces of Aminotriazole.

The cranberry growers immediately protested that Flemming had pulled the rug from under them just before the holidays.

Two shipments of cranberries grown in Oregon were seized last week by health authorities. On Saturday, the Chicago Board of Health seized 20 tons of cranberries grown in Wisconsin and impounded them. The board said its tests showed four of six samples of the shipment were contaminated with the weed killer.

Hot Lava Belched By Angry Volcano

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH

HONOLULU (AP) — Angry Kilauea volcano belched streams of searing hot lava and sent a gray pall of thick smoke high into the sky today as the eruption roared into its third day.

The 4,090-foot volcano's Kilauea Iki crater showed little sign of abating its fiery temper. Two waterfalls of liquid rock — bright red-orange in daylight — gushed from a 300-yard rift in the crater's inner south wall into its pit some 300 to 500 feet below.

Kilauea Iki—or "Little Kilauea—on the southeast side of Hawaii Island some 200 miles southeast of Honolulu, began erupting Saturday night. White-hot rocks were blasted up to 100 feet in the air before they tumbled into the mile-long, mile-wide crater.

Honolulu Star-Bulletin reporter Mark Waters, in a telephone call from the volcano site, said Sunday night, "One huge fountain of erupting lava is pouring tremendous streams of molten rock into the floor of the crater."

He said, "Channels of glowing lava, which at night look like streams of 24-carat liquid gold, drop 300 feet down the inner wall of the crater. The bed of the pit is a shimmering mass of golden fire."

Waters said he saw brilliant white light sparkle in the pit when stunted scrub trees burst into sudden flame.

"The noise from the erupting fountains is akin to the roar of the ocean pounding against a rocky cliff," he said.

Six volcanologists, led by Dr. Jerry Eaton, of the volcano observatory on Hawaii Island, climbed into the fiery pit Sunday. Wearing thick asbestos gloves and protective hoods, the group walked between streams of molten lava. They stuck thermometers into liquid rock and took samples of lava for testing.

Thousands of spectators clogged roads leading to the volcano, tieing up traffic for miles, when it became apparent that the eruptions were no threat to surrounding farm areas.

Minor quakes continued to rumble through the volcano zone.

Kilauea Iki, one of seven craters that make up Kilauea volcano last erupted in 1868. Hawaii's last major eruption occurred in the Kilauea volcano area in 1955.

41 Die Violently In State; Traffic Mishaps Claim 28

By The Associated Press

Car accidents killed 28 persons in Texas during the weekend pushing the violent death toll during the period to at least 41.

Two car-train collisions accounted for 12 lives and two other car accidents killed seven persons.

Although Texas had its worst weather of the year during the 6 p.m. Friday to Sunday midnight period, few of the accidents could be directly attributed to the weather.

Eight persons died north of Houston Saturday when their pickup truck hit a Rock Island passenger train. Killed were Doyle Patton, 31, his wife, Juanita, 29, and their four children, Don Laverne, 10, Lanice Diane, 12, Sandra Sue, 6, and Randy Dale, 5. Also killed were Mrs. Patton's nieces, Rena Bryant, 2, and Lynn Bryant, 18 months. All lived in Houston.

Four farm workers from the Amherst area died Saturday when their car hit a Santa Fe freight between Lubbock and the New Mexico border. Killed were Jesus Olmos, 17, Modesto Olmos, 20, Guadalupe Cantu, 18, and Florentino Castro, 18.

Four persons died Saturday in a two-car accident on highway 81 south of San Antonio. They were Fred Casa Arcos, 45, Joe D. Martinez, 26, Refugio Macias, 36, and Esmerelda Gonzales, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Primitivo Gonzales. All were from San Antonio.

Killed in a two-car accident near San Angelo Sunday were Ronald Burke, 18, San Angelo; Lee Valenzuela, 22, and Ilaro Valenzuela, 25, both of Robert Lee, Tex.

Other Sunday fatalities included:

Arnie Durish, 14, of Amarillo, was electrocuted Sunday when he touched a 13,000-volt line while playing on a power pole.

Floid Harding Richards, 39, of Rusk was killed in a car-truck collision Sunday near Burnett, northwest of Austin.

Juan De La Rosa, 33, was killed Sunday when his auto and a dump truck collided in San Antonio.

In Rio Grande City two men were killed when a gravel pit caved in on a barbecue party Sunday. Killed were Hedinfonza Garza, 27, and Joel Perez, 23.

Two children burned to death Sunday at Seguin when the bottom fell out of a gallon jug of gasoline one of the children brought into their residence. Kerosene heaters set it afire. The victims were Tonnie Toms, 8, and Stafferd Toms, 1. The father Fred Toms, and five other children escaped. The mother was not at home.

Charles Newman, 17, was fatally shot Sunday when the 22 rifle with which he was hunting accidentally discharged and shot him through the head. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Newman of Texarkana.

Two Americans Among Eight New Cardinals Named Today

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today named eight new cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church. They included two Americans, Archbishops Albert Gregory Meyer of Chicago and Aloysius J. Muench of Fargo, N.D.

The Pope's action increased the College of Cardinals to 79 members, its largest size in the history of the church.

The elevation of Archbishop Meyer, 56, had been expected since he succeeded the late Samuel Cardinal Stritch as archbishop of Chicago just a year ago today. His archdioce is the largest in the United States having nearly two million members.

Both the new American cardinals are natives of Milwaukee, and Archbishop Meyer headed the archdiocese there for five years before going to Chicago.

Archbishop Muench, 70, has been representing the Vatican as papal nuncio to Germany since World War II but has retained his post as head of the North Dakota archdiocese.

The eight new princes of the church will be elevated to their high office on Dec. 14 in a consistory in the Vatican's Consistorial Hall.

Those named with the two Americans were William Heard, British dean of the Holy Roman Rota Tribunal; Agostino Bea, German Jesuit who was confessor of the late Pope Pius XII; Arcadio Larraona, Spanish head of the Vatican's Congregation of the Religious, and three Italians: Archbishop Gustava Testa, 73, apostolic nuncio to Switzerland; Archbishop Paolo Marella, 64, apostolic nuncio to France, and Francesco Morano, 87, secretary of the Ecclesiastical Tribunal.

The naming of Archbishops Meyer and Muench brings the total number of American Cardinals to six, highest in the church's history. The others are Francis Spellman of New York, James F. McIntyre of Los Angeles, Richard J. Cushing of Boston and John F. O'Hara of Philadelphia.

Cardinals Cushing and O'Hara were both elevated by Pope John last December in the first consistory of his reign, when he increased the College of Cardinals to 74 members. Previously it had been limited to 70 members for nearly 400 years. Since the December consistory three cardinals have died.

Rockefeller Says Economy Must Expand

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller turned today to one of organized labor's main concerns — automation — and said the key to solving this problem was to expand the economy.

A healthier economy, Rockefeller said, could provide the jobs for workers displaced by automation.

Automation refers to the technological developments in industry that result in more production from fewer workers. It is at the root of many of today's labor-management disputes.

Rockefeller dealth with the subject in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual convention of the New York State AFL-CIO.

Over the weekend, he completed a four-day tour through California, Oregon, and to Seattle and Boise, Idaho, where he was reported to have impressed Republicans with his appeal as a possible Republican nominee for president.

California and Oregon are regarded as strongholds of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Rockefeller's chief rival for the GOP nomination.

Observers felt that, although the New York governor did not create a surge to his banner in these states, he perhaps succeeded in undermining some of Nixon's strength.

"I'm for Nixon, but—" said a Pasadena, Calif., party leader after getting a look at the smiling and bouncy Rockefeller.

During his travels, Rockefeller also narrowed the date when he will announce whether he will run for the nomination.

"I would think there will be an announcement somewhere between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15," he told newsmen.

Previously he had said only it would be after he had presented his program to the 1960 state Legislature, which convenes in January.

To the labor leaders assembled here, Rockefeller said there was no question but that new machines and new methods created more jobs, higher earnings and a better standard of living for all.

"The real problem is one of transition, a transition which seeks to avoid human hardship," he said.

Rockefeller noted that recently he had proposed creation of a national study group—a favorite Rockefeller technique—to study [illegible] and develop an agreed framework of objectives, and the relationships needed to deal with them."

Rockefeller also told the labor leaders there was real doubt that the country could afford to continue to increase wages and cut working hours at past rates.

He said it was doubtful because of the prospective demands for government spending on such things as military security, education, welfare and public works.

"We may have to make a choice," he said, "as to how our productivity increases should be divided as between increased earnings and increased leisure."

The governor also said labor and management must use more common sense and flexibility to prevent crippling strikes.

He said collective bargaining to remain free, must be responsive to the needs of the public.

Government, he said, must provide leadership in the collective bargaining process.

In Boise, Idaho, Sunday, Rockefeller told newsmen he would make a detailed statement soon on agriculture, another of the nation's problems, when he makes a tour through the Midwest before [illegible] the Year.

As for public versus private power, he said the government should step into the field only if private enterprise could not do the job.

Boise was Rockefeller's last stop before flying to Buffalo. He shook the hands of about 1,000 person at a hotel reception in Boise and dined with Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie.

Earlier Sunday he visited Seattle. Addressing an enthusiastic, overflow crowd at a breakfast there, Rockefeller said the GOP "has the minds and the brains" to solve grave problems the nation faces.

Rockefeller said he had found people on his Western trip "warm and friendly."

STUDENTS LEARN ABOUT INSURANCE—John Boren is shown addressing Distributive Education classes at the Snyder High School, explaining the basic principles and the different kinds of insurance. He also explained the new merit rating plan which the state will put into effect in the near future, and the liability responsibility law which went into effect in 1953. Boren is manager of the Boren and West Insurance Agency in Snyder.

Unions Look For Automation Woes

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A severe industrial revolution will leave millions of workers looking for new jobs for which they are totally untrained in the next 20 years, the president of the Texas State AFL-CIO predicted today at the annual convention of the council.

Jerry Holleman warned that the increasing use of automatic machines, electronic factories and atomic power will result in one mane supervising a machine, turning out what it takes 100 men to produce today.

Holleman told the 1,000 delegates, representing 400,000 state union members:

"We will invest billions in machines to replace men, but very little attention is being given to the millions of people who will be uprooted—who must somehow find the courage, the resources, the encouragement to begin again. Millions of workers who have devoted a lifetime to a trade or a skill must find a way to start all over again in a new and strange job, in a new and strange section of the country."

Adequate federal unemployment compensation, with an assist from industry and loans where necessary, must be assured during the period of transition, Holleman said, or the industrial revolution will collapse.

On the state front, Holleman urged serious consideration of a personal income tax in preference to a general sales tax.

"A sales tax is a tax that makes no allowance for the personal problems of the individual," he heavily on poverty than upon wealth."

Steel Strike Cuts Output

WASHINGTON (AP) — Effects of the steel strike have cut deeper into the nation's industrial output than had been expected, the government reports.

Commerce Department figures released Sunday showed the Gross National Product—the value of all goods and services produced—was held to an annual rate of slightly more than 478½ billion dollars in the July-September quarter.

That was a drop of nearly six billion from the record annual rate of 484½ billion dollars for the April-June period.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers had estimated last month that the GNP dropped to 481 billion dollars in the July-September period.

Demos Say Ike Rigged TV Spots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Digest says spot commercials used by President Eisenhower during the 1952 campaign were a form of rigged TV program. A Republican spokesman disagrees.

The exchange developed Sunday when the Democratic Digest, official Democratic National Committee magazine, accused the Republicans of rigging the 'Eisenhower answers America" spot commercials during the 1952 campaign.

Recalling that the President recently described television quiz rigging as "a terrible thing to do to the American public," the Digest said his own appearances during 1952 had been carefully prepared to appear spontaneous.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee immediately commented:

"The Democratic Digest has been asking its own questions and supplying its own answers for six years now without any noticeable contribution to the truth," he said.

"In 'rigging' this story, they haven't made it any more believable than the others."

The Digest, in its November issue, gave this account of the alleged rigging in 1952:

Johnson Not Closing Door

DALLAS (AP)—"I am not a candidate for president. I don't expect the nomination to be given me," Sen. Lyndon Johnson said Sunday.

But the Senate majority leader, in a talk taped for Texas radio stations, added, "I am not going to say today that if my country said to me that it wanted me to do a particular type of service that I would close the door and say that I would refuse to do that service."

More than 50 Johnson-for-president clubs have been formed in Texas since Speaker Sam Rayburn said he was going to campaign actively to get the Democratic presidential nomination for Johnson.

"I have never known a man to be nominated who did not seek it and I don't think it's likely to happen now," he said. "If I am asked if I am a candidate, I say no. I think that is a direct answer. If I were seeking the nomination, I would say yes."

In a speech in Houston Johnson said the United States must step up its friendships and trade with small nations or forever lose them to Communism.

Every Girl Should Sew Says Teen Prizewinner

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfreatures

Every Young Girl should be a winner in the art of homemaking—sewing, cooking, housekeeping—says Olag Papuha, 17, of New York, who has just taken first prize in the teen-age division of a national sewing contest.

"These are things girls should know whether they plan marriage or career," she points out, "and they should be good at it."

Sometimes mother is too busy to teach her girls the fine points of homemaking, and that's why it is good to learn at school, Olga says.

"I learned to cook at school, even though dad is a chef, and my mother has been very patient with me. It is good to learn at school because you see others make mistakes and do no feel bad. Mothers are likely to criticize you when you do wrong at the stove."

Olga's mother taught her to sew by hand, first on little doll's dresses and other small things. She did not do much machine sewing until she took a course at a Singer shop and whipped up her white faille brocade afternoon dress to enter in the contest. The dress cost her less than $20. The slender sheath dress is sleeveless and is topped by a short fitted jacket with wide collar and front tie.

She and her family came to America nine years ago from Germany where they had lived for five years as refugees from the Ukraine. Five foot Olga is brought up in European fashion with parents making the decisions on all important matters. She is in favor of it.

"All parents want their children to be happy. That's why it is good to take their advice. They are older and wiser, and we should listen to them," she advises.

Olga lives on New York's lower east side and attends St. Michael's High School but there are no gangs in the neighborhood, she says, because the church and parents keep young people interested.

The rate of admissions to general hospitals in the United States has risen by almost 80 per cent in the last 20 years, the Health Information Foundation reports.

Knit A Cap For Christmas

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

The most popular Mrs. Santa is the one who give personal Christmas presents to the important people on her list gifts made especially for someone dear or selected with individual attention. High on the list are hand-knit garments, planned with the needs and tastes of the recipient in mind.

There are many small accessories, quick and easy to knit, which will delight everyone on the gift list. These include knit ties or socks for men, new bulky sweaters or scarfs for teenagers, hoods and mittens for children.

A bright idea for the knitting fan is a mother-daughter set of snug helmets with tie scarfs for blustery winter winds. Done in bulky yarn with big needles in simple ribbed stitch, with seed stitch border, they can be made in a few hours. An added advantage is the new wash-and-wear yarn which needs no blocking.

Instructions for making these helmets, send stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Ann Bucilla, 230 Fifth Ave., New York 1, N.Y.

NAM Kits Available, Women Clubs

Women's interest in our nation's public affairs is increasing at a rapid pace, according to the women's division of the National Association of Manufacturers. Proof of this is seen in the increasing demand for the political education program kit entitled "Politics Is For People," which the NAM is currently distributing to women's clubs.

In introducing the program kit to women, the NAM Director of Women's Communications, Mary B. Brown, said, "It seems obvious that the influence of women voters in this country promises to be more powerful than ever before in the coming elections. First of all there are three million more women voters than men. Also, for the last few years American women have been steadily improving their record for interest and cooperation in getting out the vote on election day. More importantly, women today are becoming vitally aware of the need for their active participation in politics."

Thousands of women's organizations already have scheduled political education programs based on the NAM kit, and many of the clubs receiving it say that they have never before placed as much emphasis on public affairs.

Clubs which receive the "Politics Is For People" kit may either follow the program as written, or may develop their own variations. In either case, the completion of the program will give the members a clear general picture of the workings of the two-party system in local, state and national affairs.

Mrs. Foster Hostess To Palette Club

The Snyder Palette Club met Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Martha Ann Woman's Club with Mrs. Doris Algood, hostess.

Mrs. Ralph Foster gave the program which consisted of films of several of the greatest artists of all times. The first film briefly covered the first and greatest art of Greece. "This ancient art is still studied by artist of today. The Parthenon at Athens, now largely in ruins, contains valuable examples of early Greek art."

The second film showed some of the works of the outstanding Italian painter and sculptor Michelangelo Buonarroti, (1475-1564). "He is well known for his paintings on the Sistine Chapel in Rome. Her, he spent most of his waking time for four years on the high scaffold near the vaulted ceiling. Never was time better spent, for the artist gave the world one of the noblest paintings and surely the greatest mural to come from the hand of man."

The third film was on some of of the works of Leonardo de Vince. Mrs. Foster went on to say, "He was a marvelous painter and, sculptor, an outstanding engineer and architect, a brilliant student of the natural sciences, an authority in anatomy. Among his most famous paintings are 'The Last Supper' and 'Mona Lisa'."

The fourth and last film was on some of the works of the French painter Paul Cizanne (1839-1906). "He is called the father of modern painting and acclaimed one of the greatest artists of the 19th century. His fame came after his death and he of course knew nothing of it. He sold few pictures in his lifetime and won no prizes. His father and close friends supported him during his trying years, and in the face of all this hardship he remained very cheerful until his death."

The next club meeting will be a Christmas luncheon in the Woman's Clubhouse with an exchange of pictures among members.

Yen For Buck Stands In Way Of Labor-Management Parley

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The yen for a buck and some other human considerations stand in the way of success from any labor-management conference.

President Woodrow Wilson called such a conference in 1919, after World War I. It collapsed. President Harry S. Truman called another in 1945, after World War II. The results were pathetic.

Now AFL-CIO President George Meany suggests that President Eisenhower call a labor-management meeting. Eisenhower may do so.

Meany gave these reasons for proposing it: (1) to avoid a recurrence of long, costly strikes, as in steel, (2) To improve labor-management relations, especially to cope with rising Soviet economic power, and (3) to avoid tougher laws by Congress.

Meany's most compelling reason is probably fear of action by Congress when it returns in January to protect the country from the damage of big strikes.

That action could range all the way from some harmless, ducking the issue window-dressing to a ban on big strikes and compulsory arbitration. No matter what, it would mean government interference.

If Eisenhower calls a labor-management conference any time soon, it will take the edge off demands for congressional action until the results are seen, provided there are no more big strikes in the meantime.

The alternative to restraints imposed by the government is for labor and management to agree on restraints for themselves for the good of the rest of the country. That's a big gimmick.

The task of getting two powerful groups to yield any of their freedoms without compulsion is still one of the problems of political philosophy.

With labor unions free to strike to back up their demands and management free to refuse the demands, a big strike becomes a test of strength at public expense.

It would be one of the 20th century's miracles if either side now, simply because of meeting in a big room, would yield freedoms voluntarily.

Basically, these are the same opposing forces which could not agree, and still have not, on how to settle the steel strike.

Behind all this, of course, are the human and free enterprise desires of workers for higher pay and management for higher profit and the compulsion on labor leaders to do more for their men and of management to do more for the stockholders.

Since higher profits or higher prices can cancel out higher wages, the two sides in a labor-management conference would tangle on a problem they have never solved yet and never really faced up to.

That is how to keep wages and prices within limits considered reasonable by them and the public and how to settle their disputes by a voluntary system of restraints which would make government interference unnecessary.

In Truman's 1945 conference both sides talked of voluntarily calling in a nongovernmental arbitration board to settle their disputes.

This idea went out the window fast. The best the conference could propose was that the government should strengthen its conciliation service which, without any power, is supposed to get two disagreeing sides to agree.

The conference was followed by a flood of strikes which started even while the conference was in session.

Wilson's 1919 conference—made up of representatives from labor, management and the public—was a worse mess.

That broke up when the public and management members joined in denying labor's demands for the right to organize without discrimination, a right later guaranteed under the Wagner Labor Act of 1935.

No Retirement Set By Doctor Of 99

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP) —Dr. Lindsey S. McNeely, at 99 possibly the nation's oldest practicing physician, gives no thought to retiring.

"Who would take care of my patients?" he asks. He has been practicing almost 70 years.

Dr. McNeely observed office hours as usual on his 99th birthday Saturday. He declined a proposed community celebration in favor of "just another day" at his office-home in nearby Kirby.

Two Youths Rob Drive In Movie

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police reported two youths robbed a drive-in movie ticket office of an undetermined sum of money Sunday night and fled in a hotrod.

Officers said the word "Wanted" was painted in red letters on the rear of the get-away car.

Columnist's Weekly Take From Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It isn't male alone who is heartlessly condemned by civilization. A study of autopsies at the Philadelphia Zoological Garden over a 40-year period showed a 30-fold increase in arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries among both birds and animals.

Now suppose in the 13th century some Russian tribesmen were shod with iron soles. They were so durable they were handed down from generation to generation.

Odd legislation: In New Hampshire there once was a law compelling every churchgoer to carry a gun.

The host in familiar Emperor Charlemagne ordered his soldiers to wear their hearts outside their armor so friends could better recognize each other from foes.

The world influenza epidemic of 1918-19 was one of the greatest plagues in history. It took 21 million lives. But in less than half a century after 1332, the black death killed an estimated 75 million persons in Europe and Asia.

The life expectancy of the average U. S. dollar bill is now about nine months. Oy.

Our quotable notables: "Show me a thoroughly satisfied man," said Thomas A. Edison, "and I will show you a failure."

The price of nonvegetarianism: Some 130 million food animals are slaughtered annually in the United States, but only 20 per cent are killed by methods approved by the American Humane Association.

Americans may be deeply disturbed about their own educational institutions, but they are admired by many abroad. This year more than 47,000 foreign students from 131 countries are attending U. S. colleges.

A California jeweler sends out this diplomatic note with statements on overdue bills: "A man who squeezes a dollar never squeezes his wife. In looking over your account, we get the idea your wife is not getting the attention she deserves."

Japan is one place where men still prefer to be followed rather than led by the fair sex. The scenic beauty of golf links in that country is enhanced by more than 37,000 pretty girl caddies.

This is the time of year when the common cold is really common. From now until next April an average of 30 million Americans every day will suffer from sore throats.

Two Playmates Are Buried By Cave-In

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP) — Two young playmates perished Sunday when they were accidentally buried in a gravel pit opposite Wellesley College.

The victims were Mark Ketchum, 12, one of three children in his family, and Harold Adams Jr., also 12, an only child.

Police Chief Robert P. MacBey, summoned by a playmate of the two victims, said that when he arrived at the scene three weeping boys were trying to reach the pair by digging frantically with their hands.

The bodies of the two boys were found upright side by side under three feet of sand.

A contractor estimated 30 tons of sand had shifted while the boys were digging a tunnel.

Consideration Due New Parks Bills

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is getting ready to consider 31 proposed new national parks, monuments, shrines, memorials and historical sites.

The United States now has 29 national parks. The most recent one was dedicated in the Virgin Islands Dec. 1, 1956.

Bills pending in Congress would establish seven new parks — Arkansas Post in Arkansas, one on Cape Cod, the Great Basin in Nevada, Ice Age Park in Wisconsin, the Cliff Walk in Newport, Rily Wilson's Creek battlefield in Missouri, and Padre Island in Texas.

Falling into other categories would be the Indiana dunes, the Oregon dunes and the geographical center of the country, which has shifted with the admission of Alaska and Hawaii as states.

In addition there's a bill to change Dinosaur National Monument in Colorado and Utah to Dinosaur National Park.

The Park Service says national parks are planned to conserve superlative scenery and must be authorized by acts of Congress. Monuments include land of great significance and distinction and can be established by an act of Congress or by presidential proclamation.

Local citizenry, Congress and the various agencies of the federal government don't always agree on what's superlative, distinctive or historical.

A House Interior Committee group has just returned from a hearing in Oregon on making the dunes out there a national seashore. The Agriculture Department opposes it because it involves national forest land which can be used for diversified purposes. The Interior Department hasn't announced its decision.

There is no dispute on the spot for the new geographical center of the United States. The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey has calculated it carefully. After Alaska and Hawaii joined the union, the center moved from Kansas to the badlands of South Dakota near Belle Fourche.

But the Interior Department disputes that it is historic, scenic or scientific enough to warrant being a national monument as Rep. E. Y. Berry (R-SD) proposes.

Between You And Me

By JERRY JACKSON

The Southwest Conference got back to normal Saturday, abnormalcy being the norm, of course.

It was a gray day in Texas' Memorial Stadium..bleak, cold and miserable. The type of day it was may have very well constituted some sort of omen as to what was to transpire that afternoon. For it was an afternoon which was to see the Longhorn 'Legend' shattered and gone to pot. A commonplace occurrence in a wacky, unpredictable conference.

What brought it on? Inevitability more than anything else, coupled with an inspired, hungry Texas Christian. An old Indonesian philosopher named Confusion stated it forcefully but simply when he proclaimed that, "He who plays with firesticks must sooner or later contract scorched fingertips." He made that memorable statement in a fitful moment of depression after an especially rough day out in the rice paddy...but it nevertheless holds true to this very day. The "firesticks" in this instance have been (1) Oklahoma, (2) Arkansas, and (3) Baylor. The latter two fell by identical 12-13 scores, while the Sooners were victimized by 12-19. The law of averages once again takes its toll.

Frogs Ruled The Pond

NOTHING CAN BE taken from TCU. The Frogs, down by 0-9 at the half, fought the favored Steers to a standstill, scoring two big touchdowns in the second half while throttling Texas to a sole first down during those two quarters.

So where do we stand? Well, Texas still has an inside track as far as a Cotton Bowl appearance is concerned. A victory over weak sister A&M come Thanksgiving is all that is needed to turn the trick. Quiet, unassuming, and practically forgotten Arkansas assured itself of at least a share of the conference cake with its 17-14 win over disappointing SMU this past Saturday. The Hogs thus finished their "money" slate at an early date with a 5-1 record, their only loss being that 12-13 squeaker to the Steers. TCU and Texas could both conceivably equal that record. All that is needed for the tri-championship is for Texas to take the measure of the Aggies and the Frogs to down Rice and SMU.

In that Texas has beaten the Porkers and has been away from the Cotton Bowl longer than TCU, which appeared there this past January, a Thanksgiving triumph would automatically place the Steers in the host position for that New Year Classic. Granted, they would be slipping in "crawdad fashion", but that's how the ruling reads.

Wooing Of Co-Champs Expected

ASSUMING THAT TEXAS does back into the Cotton Bowl, it will be interesting to see what caliber of bowl bids Arkansas and/or TCU receive, going on the premise that both win the remainder of their games. The only team standing in the way of a 8-2 season record for the Razorbacks is alternately hot, cold, and lukewarm Texas Tech. Although the Raiders looked good in whipping Houston Saturday, they won't be given much chance of upsetting the Arkies in the Ozarks.

No less than four major bowls may be bidding for Frog-Hog appearances should things go according to Hoyle. It will be of interest to note just what transpires when these bowls—specifically the Sugar, Orange, Gator and recently-conceived Blue Bonnet—send out their "feelers".

Spikes Pads Ball Carrying Bulge

By The Associated Press

Jack Spikes of Texas Christian apparently sewed up the ball-carrying championship and Don Meredith of Southern Methodist lengthened his passing lead out of sight in Southwest Conference football last week.

Spikes ran for 71 yards against Texas while Jim Mooty of Arkansas, his closest pursuer, was sitting on the bench with an injury. It brought Spikes' total to 557 yards on 114 carries and he has two games to play. Mooty has 453 on 86 runs with one game to go.

Meredith completed five passes for 58 yards against Arkansas and made his season record 82 out of 138 for 1,022 yards. He was almost 500 yards ahead of the second place man, Ronnie Stanly of Baylor, who has connected on 63 throws for 552 yards.

Meredith also moved farther ahead in total offense. He now has made 1,090 yards on 216 Texas A&M is second with 654 on 192 plays.

Jack Collins of Texas held onto his lead in punting with an average of 42.1 yards on 27 kicks but Gordon Speer of Rice moved into first place in punt returns with an average of 14.4 yards on 11 runs.

Glynn Gregory of SMU caught only one pass against Arkansas but stayed out front in receiving with 22 snares for 252 yards.

Texas barely held onto the lead in team offense with 278.2 yards per game. SMU is second with 278.0. The defense leader still is TCU, which cut its average from 207.0 per game to 196.5.

Longhorns Stunned By Frog Onslaught

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Texas licks its wounds and wonders why the Southwest Conference can't be like other people. Arkansas seeks its eighth victory and a good bowl-wise record and Texas Christian drives toward a championship tie this week.

This may be confusing but no more than Southwest Conference football that saw Texas knocked from the undefeated, untied ranks Saturday by TCU, 14-9, to throw the race into a jam around the top.

Texas, rated No. 2 in the nation and winner of nine straight, was shocked out of its Cotton Bowl dreams. Now it has to win its final game—against Texas A&M—on Thanksgiving Day to get in the Dallas football classic against Syracuse.

And it can gain no more than a tie for the conference championship. It might even be a 3-way affair because TCU can wind up deadlocked for the lead with Arkansas and Texas if it wins its two remaining games—Rice at Fort Worth Saturday and Southern Methodist at the same place next week.

Arkansas clinched a tie for the championship when it walloped SMU 17-14 Saturday. Now it wants to close out with a victory against Texas Tech at Little Rock Saturday, so it'll have a good record to take into some bowl game.

Arkansas could gain the Cotton Bowl should Texas lose to A&M. TCU can't get into the Cotton Bowl under any circumstances, however, since it lost to Arkansas in regular season play and if there's a 3-way tie for the title the team in the Cotton Bowl the farthest away—which would be Texas—gets the bid.

Arkansas reportedly is being courted in the Sugar Bowl in the event they don't qualify to gather the cash in the Cotton Bowl.

Rice pulled into a tie for fourth place in the conference race with SMU when it won its first game of the season—a 7-2 triumph over Texas A&M. That also may have assured Baylor of not having to finish in the cellar for the third year in a row. The winless Aggies occupy that place and will stay there unless they can rise up to super efforts and beat Texas.

Baylor was playing Southern California, one of the nation's last major unbeaten, untied teams, and made a good showing. Southern Cal found the Golden Bears tough to handle in winning 17-8.

Texas Tech, conference member that isn't competing for the championship, bashed Houston 27-0 to make its season record 4-5. The Red Raiders would dearly love to beat Arkansas in the season finale and wind up splitting even.

SMU and Baylor play at Waco Saturday in a game meaning little except personal pride.

In beating Kansas, 35-21, the Syracuse football team gained 493 yards rushing and passing and marked up 32 first downs.

Top Elevens Near Titles

By The Associated Press

Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi Ray, Breckenridge and Nederland are expected to win district titles this week and project themselves in the finals — Wichita Falls vs. Ray in Class AAAA and Breckenridge vs. Nederland in Class AA—of Texas schoolboy football.

Which is getting far ahead of the field but nothing has happened during the regular season to indicate those four favorites aren't still just that.

Only 10 district crowns have been sacked up in the two top divisions but the other 22 must be decided this week because the state playoffs begin Nov. 27.

Abilene, Fort Worth Carter-Riverside, Texas City and San Antonio Burbank are district titlists of Class AAAA awaiting their opponents in the bi-district round to be determined.

Andrews, Carrollton, Mt. Pleasant, Kilgore, Athens and San Marcos are district champions in Class AAA.

Classes AA and A begin bi-district games this week. Stamford, defending champion of AA, is undefeated, untied and favored to repeat. White Deer, 1958 champion of Class A, didn't make it and Stinnett, the pre - season favorite in A, finished lamely and barely managed to get into the playoffs.

Canyon, Denver City, Stamford, Cisco, Olney, Kaufman, Daingerfield, West, Brady, Taylor, Bellville, Port Acres, Palacios, Hallettsville, Freer and Ed Couch-Elsa will be favored for bi-district titles in Class AA.

In Class A it's Stinnett, Idalou, Sundown, Menard, Mason, Crowell, Liberty-Eylau, Forney, Gaston, Madisonville, Itasca, Anahuac, Katy, Boerne, Kenedy and Bishop.

Only 21 teams are undefeated and untied in the state as the playoffs begin.

Abilene, Corpus Christi Ray, Nederland and San Marcos hold that distinction in the upper classes. Class AA has Floydada, Denver City, Stamford, Cisco, Olney, Azle, Belton, Freer, Palacios and Ed Couch-Elsa. In Class A they are Mason, Crowell, Liberty-Eylau, Gaston, Anahuac, Katy and Bishop.

ETS, A&I In Tie For Lone Star Lead

By The Associated Press

The Lone Star Conference decides its champion this week and it looks like there'll be two Texas A&I and East Texas State.

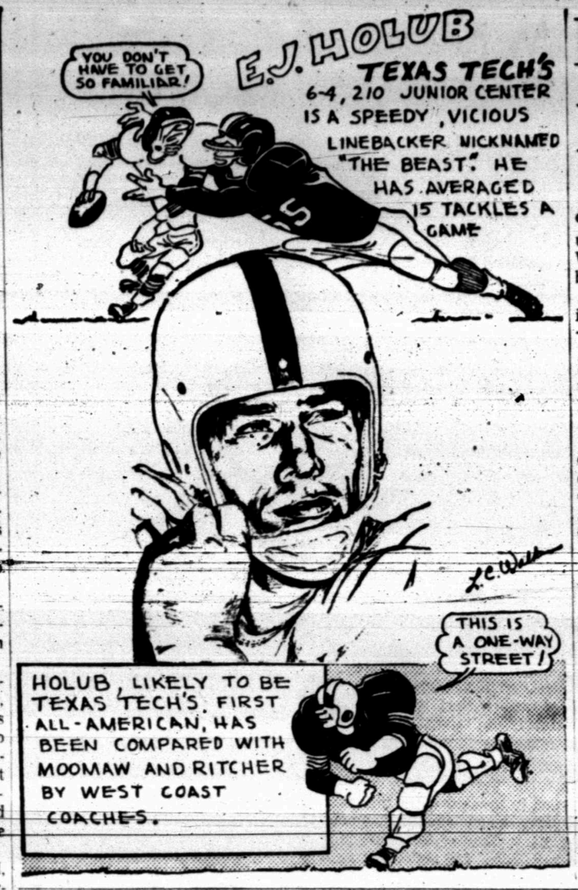
A&I and East Texas are tied for the lead with one game to play. A&I closes out with Southwest Texas State at Kingsville and East Texas State ends the season against Stephen F. Austin at Commerce Saturday night.

If both should lose there would be a 3-way tie for the title with Stephen F. Austin, which occupies third place with a 4-2 record, becoming the third member.

Stephen F. Austin was knocked out of a tie for the lead last week when the Lumberjacks took a 6-0 licking from Sam Houston State. East Texas rolled on with a 14-3 triumph over Lamar Tech and A&I beat Sul Ross 14-8.

In the other conference game Howard Payne downed Southwest Texas 6-0.

Sul Ross plays Howard Payne and Lamar Tech engages Sam Houston in other close-out games Saturday night.



Unsung Mitchell Leads Cleveland To NFL Tie

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Fleet Bobby Mitchell, an undersized Jimmy Brown has emerged from the shadow of his more illustrious Cleveland teammate while pulling the Browns into a tie for first place in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

With the 225-pound Brown stymied, the 180-pound Mitchell took over Sunday and scored three touchdowns as Cleveland overwhelmed the Washington Redskins 31-17 for a 6-2 record.

Mitchell, 23, who is in his second year as a pro, scored Cleveland's first TD by scampering 90 yards to pay dirt, then tacked on runs of 5 and 24 yards for additional tallies as he amassed 232 on the ground.

Mitchell, using rapier - like thrusts to open the defenses where Brown's bulling rushes failed, averaged 16.6 yards a try to come within five yards of Brown's single-game NFL record for total yardage rushing.

Cleveland next meets the Pittsburgh Steelers who dumped New York into a tie for the top spot by beating the Giants 14-9 on Bobby Layne's touchdown pass with 1:29 left to play.

In the Western Division, the San Francisco 49ers had their lead cut to one game when the Chicago Bears threw up a brilliant defense for a 14-3 victory. The second-place Baltimore Colts edged Green Bay 28-24 on Johnny Unitas' three touchdown tosses.

The 49ers (6-2) and Colts (5-3), defending NFL champions, clash at Baltimore next Sunday in a showdown contest.

In other games Philadelphia knocked off the Chicago Cardinals 27-17 and Detroit upended Los Angeles 23-17.

Despite Mitchell's fancy footwork, it took a 35-yard field goal by Lou Groza at the start of the second half to put the Browns in front to stay. Dick James and Johnny Olszewski, who set a club record with 190 yards gained rushing, gave Washington (3-5) a 14-14 halftime deadlock with scoring dashes of 4 and 19 yards, respectively.

Layne's second touchdown throw, 45 yards to Tom Tracy, ended New York's victory string at five games. The Giant offense, led by third-string quarterback Don Heinrich due to injuries to Charlie Conerly and George Shaw, couldn't get going against a tough Steeler (3-4-1) defense. For the second week in succession, Pat Summerall accounted for all the Giant scoring with 21, 27 and 29-yard field goals.

The Bears (4-4) scored in the first period when Rick Casares capped a 48-yard drive with a yard plunge and that was all they needed against the 49ers. Intercepting five passes, the Chicagoans held San Francisco touchdown-less for the first time this season as neither Y. A. Tittle nor John Brodie had any success in the air. A 51-yard pass from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris closed out the scoring.

Unitas' 24-yard heave to Jim Mitscheller in the final period was the clincher for the Colts, who handed the Packers (3-5) their fifth consecutive defeat. Connecting for a touchdown pass in his 33rd straight game, Unitas hit Ray Berry twice on 7 and 10-yard pitches. He has thrown 22 TD strikes this season. Jim Taylor scored three times for Green Bay to make it close.

Norm Van Brocklin kept the Eagles (5-3) Eastern title hopes alive by passing for two TDs and setting up the clincher, scored by Clarence Peaks on a yard plunge with five minutes remaining. Van Brocklin arched passes of 40 and 47 yards to Pete Retzlaff and Billy Barnes for scores. The loss dropped the Cardinals deeper into the cellar with a 2-6 mark.

John Henry Johnson came out of the Detroit doghouse to pace the Lions (2-5-1) triumph over the Rams (2-6). After sitting out a one-game suspension for an indifferent attitude and failure to catch a plane, Johnson picked up 56 yards in 19 carries and scored once on an 11-yard pass from Earl Morrall. Jim Martin's 25-yard field goal just before the half ended put the Lions in front for good.

Middlecoff, Snead Mapping Strategy

MELBOURNE, (AP) — Sam Snead and Cary Middlecoff got their first look at the Royal Melbourne Golf Course today and decided they will have their work cut out for them in Canada Cup matches this weekend.

"We find ourselves playing a different game than we used to," said Snead. "This is a course which requires placement and management golf. We won't be able to rear back and hit away.

"Back home we can slam one down the fairways, shoot for the green and go for our putt. Here it is different. Unless you are in the right spot you have to hit a dinky shot, move it around this way and that way."

The annual Canada Cup and International Trophy Matches start Wednesday.

European Bouts Draw Attention

By The Associated Press

Since Ingemar Johansson upended Floyd Patterson, American boxing fans have been paying more attention to bouts in Europe and Britain. That is why there is interest on this side of the pond in Tuesday's British Empire and British heavyweight title match between champion Henry Cooper and ex-champ Joe Erskine.

If Cooper hadn't asked so much money ($140,000) he might have had the shot at Patterson that went to Brian London last May. Who knows what might have happened?

Cooper remained at home with the title he won by outpointing London last Jan. 12. He defended it in August against Gawie Deklerk. Tuesday he wll give Erskine another chance. It was Erskine who was beaten by London in 1958 when Brian won the championship. Incidentally, both Cooper (1957) and Erskine (1958) were stopped by Johansson.

Quick now, who is the Canadian heavyweight champion?

The name is George Chuvalo, a 22-year-old slugger from Toronto who was beaten by Pat McMurtry in his lone New York showing. Chuvalo won the Canadian crown last year by stopping James J. Parker in one round.

Yvon Durelle, the fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., is going after the title Tuesday night at Toronto.

The match is scheduled for 12 rounds at Maple Leaf Gardens. Says Durelle, "It won't go the limit. One of us will be on the floor and I'm pretty sure it won't be me."

For television viewers, heavyweights also will be the feature dish on the Wednesday series. Zora Folley, the ranking contender from Chandler, Ariz. will box young Alonzo Johnson of Pittsburgh at Phoenix, Ariz.

This is going to be one of those black tie, evening gown and dancing under the stars affairs at a motel in Phoenix. Prices for the charity affair are $25 for boxing, dinner, cocktails and dancing.

The nation gets in free on ABC-TV.

Willie Toweel, latest of the fighting family from South Africa, makes his United States debut Friday at Madison Square Garden against Len Matthews of Philadelphia.

Willie is a former British Empire lightweight champ. His brother Vic, once held the world bantam crown. Willie, 25, has won 42 of 47. The fight will be carried by NBC radio and television.

Boys Club Downed By Wichita Falls

In the annual all-star game reeled off here in Tiger Stadium Saturday night, the Scurry County Pee Wee Boys Clubbers were edged by Wichita Falls, 6-0.

In a game played in near-freezing temperatures, a third quarter touchdown jaunt spelled the difference, as Wichita Falls field general Jerry Steed lugged over for the tally. Although the local team held the edge in both total yards rushing and total offense, they were never able to throw together a scoring punch in the defensive-type contest.

Chief cog in the locals' ground-gaining machine was 76-pound scatback Marvin Mayfield, who was responsible for rolling up 62 yards. Other leaders were halfback Paul Kimsey, who racked up 41 yards, fullback Kenneth Deike with 30, and halfback Murray Bowden with 21. Bowden was also on the receiving end of his team's only pass completion, an eight-yarder from quarterback Powers Booth.

Defensive standouts for the locals were Bowden, fullback Eddie Greenfield, center Donnie Newman, and guard Jerry Smedley. Showing up well for Wichita Falls were guard Ronnie Graham and end Mark Longbotham.

Syracuse And USC Last Of Mohicans

By The Associated Press

Bowl-bound Syracuse and Southern California stood out as the only major college football teams with perfect records after Texas and North Texas State suffered their first defeats last Saturday.

The spoilers were Texas Christian, 14-9 winner over the Texas Longhorns, and Tulsa, which beat North Texas 14-6. Syracuse made it eight straight victories with a 71-0 romp against Colgate and USC trimmed Baylor 17-8 for its eighth win.

Also eliminated from the unbeaten-untied list were such mighty small college teams as Delaware, loser to Bowling Green in a clash of unbeatens, and Juniata, which had gone through 27 games without a loss. Of the 15 teams still unbeaten and untied, six have completed their seasons.

Attlee Says Quote Wrong

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee says he was quoted out of context in a report that he called President Eisenhower "somewhat second-rate." But he wouldn't elaborate.

Attlee also made it clear at a news conference Sunday that he wouldn't be drawn into a verbal battle with two Republican congressmen who criticized him.

Attlee had been quoted at Denver as saying Eisenhower was somewhat second-rate as a soldier and no better as a statesman. He told newsmen here he was quoted out of context and this didn't sum up his views on the President.

Asked if he would elaborate and put the comment back in context, Attlee snapped, "Find out what I've written."

The 76-year-old head of Britain's Labor government in 1946-51 parried questions gruffly.

One Republican congressman said that Attlee, himself, was a second-rate figure. Attlee replied "That's all right."

Another termed his comments "sour grapes." Attlee's only reply was, "I see."

Attlee called for recognition of the Chinese Communist government as the only realistic view. Recognition doesn't mean approval, he said.

Cotton Bowl Shapes Up As Topper

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Lowe, president of the Cotton Bowl, took the view today that the Dallas football show Jan. 1 would be the No. 1 bowl game in the country.

He had plenty of reasons to back his opinion but the main one was that it would be the only major bowl game in the country with an undefeated, untied team (naturally, he expects Syracuse, the visiting team, to win its two remaining games, against Boston University and UCLA.

Syracuse, the nation's No. 1 team right now, accepted the invitation Saturday to visit the Cotton Bowl again. It had just crushed Colgate 71-0 to win its eighth straight.

Syracuse will play the Southwest Conference representative in the Cotton Bowl. It will be either Texas or Arkansas. That, however, won't be decided until Thanksgiving Day when Texas plays Texas A&M.

Lowe pointed out that there were only two major undefeated, untied college teams left in the nation—Syracuse and Southern California, which is ineligible for a bowl game.

Williams Deplores 'Aimless Policy'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan says "the people are tired of an aimless policy" in government.

He warned Houston Democrats Sunday that "if we don't come up with something they (the people) want they could vote Republican."

Williams, speaking at a reception in his honor, said his visits around the country are designed to help the party formulate a sound platform for the 1960 presidential campaign.

Martin Jewelry Is Set For Christmas Shopping Season

The Christmas shopping season is rounding the corner and it's not to early to begin. In fact, there are many advantages to shopping well ahead of the latter days of the Yuletide season, Barber Martin, owner of Martin Jewelry on the south side of the square, has reminded.

There is more time now to look over selections, which enables a patron to use more care in choosing gifts, the variety of merchandise is greater than it will be later in the season, and sales personnel have more time to devote to individual customers.

Another advantage is that merchandise may be put aside now on a lay-away plan to be picked up just before Christmas.

At Martin's jewelry, the man who is buying a gift for his wife, daughter or mother, and the single man buying for his girl friend is assured that he can purchase gifts without worrying about sizes. The same is true, of course, for women buying gifts for men.

Martin Jewelry now has new low prices on Bulova and Elgin watches for both men and women. These fine watches will make excellent Christmas gifts, Martin reminded.

Some of them are priced as low as $19.95 and $24.95.

Then there are such items as ear pieces, bracelets, necklaces, pins, diamonds, silverware, alarm clocks, and decorative clocks which are ideal for gifts.

For those who need watch or clock repair service, Martin can offer 16 years of experience and modern equipment as advantages for having the work done there.

GIFT SELECTION—Callie Floyd and Barber Martin look over a collection of watches, diamonds and silverware that compose a part of the large stock of Christmas merchandise now on display at Martin Jewelry on the south side of the square.

CHRISTMAS SPECIAL—The Edgewood tailor-made suits shown here with Carl Foree, manager of Zenith Cleaners, are on a "Christmas Special" now being offered by Zenith. Delivery on orders for the Edgewood suits may be expected in two weeks, and there is a large variety of patterns and wide ranges of prices.

Exacting Care Goes Into Work At Zenith Cleaners

The most exacting care goes into the processing of cleaning at Zenith Cleaners, located at 603 East Highway.

"A continuous cycle filter cleans the solvent every minute for better cleaning," said Carl Foree, manager of the firm.

But the care is not limited to the cleaning process alone at Zenith.

When a customer's clothing is brought in, either by himself or by the delivery truck, Zenith employes check them in, placing on the identification marks if the clothing is not already marked. Articles left in pockets are carefully identified and saved for the customer, and all buttons are checked. Buttons which might not stand the cleaning process are removed and replaced later.

Zenith employes then check the fabric for badly soiled spots and those are pre-spotted before the regular cleaning process to assure a first-class cleaning job.

Also, any torn or ripped places found in clothing are mended by Zenith's alteration department, which also is well-known for its work.

The clothing then goes through the regular Zenith cleaning process. Zenith is a Sanitone Cleaner, using cleaning solvents that are nationally-advertised by Sanitone.

After this process, the clothing is rechecked carefully for any spots, and if any are found they are removed.

Afterward, the clothing goes to the pressing department, and then is checked again for missing buttons, etc.

Zenith places all of its finished goes to the rack for pickup or delivery.

At present the firm is featuring Edgewood tailor-made suits with a Chrsitmas special scheduled to continue until Dec. 14. Delivery is made within two weeks after the order is received, and extra pants may be obtained for each suit purchased for $5.95.

There are many patterns to choose from, and prices are available to fit every budget, Foree said. The Christmas special results in savings up to $19.

Burned Ship Is Moved Down Channel

HOUSTON (AP) — With Coast Guard patrol boats acting as escorts, the burned and battered SS Amoco Virginia began a journey down the Houston ship channel early today under tow by four tugs.

The moving of the fire-scorched hulk cleared the way for opening of the ship channel to other vessels.

Ships that have been tied up above the Amoco Virginia's berth at Hess terminal—where she exploded and burned with the loss of eight lives eight days ago—will follow her down stream.

Comdr. R.J. Evans, port captain, said the first ship will be allowed to proceed down the channel three hours after the Amoco Virginia is clear of Hess terminal.

Other ships will follow at two-mile intervals. Inbound vessels will be delayed until outbound traffic is cleared, said the Coast Guard.

The 20,000-ton tanker is bound for a protected anchorage in Volivar Roads.

From there, she will be taken to a drydock for inspection that will determine whether she can be repaired and returned to service.

"We still don't know whether it is feasible to rebuild her," said Eugene Spitz, attorney for Amoco.

The channel above and below the damaged vessel has been blocked since the fire that ripped the huge tanker and claimed the lives of her master, six crewmen and a Houston fireman.

Sees Waning U. S. Prestige

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) says America's global prestige has been on the wane in recent years, threatening the survival of freedom.

"Since 1952, the power, prestige and standing of the United States in relation to the Communist world has declined," Kennedy told a conference of Maine Democrats Sunday night.

"Every time we fail and demonstrate that we are not No. 1, we not only let down our country, but we let down the cause of freedom around the world," he said.

Kennedy said the very existence of world freedom may depend on the election of Democratic president and Congress in 1960.

Kennedy, an unannounced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was introduced to 500 cheering partisans by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine). Muskie described his colleague as a man qualified "for any office to which he may aspire."

Battle Set By NAACP

BEAUMONT (AP) — Thurgood Marshall said Sunday he will not wait for Mississippi Sen. James Eastland to give him his rights.

Marshall, National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People lawyer, spoke to 800 Texas Negroes and about a dozen white persons in the city auditorium. His speech ended a three day convention of the state NAACP.

Marshall, speaking about Mississippi, said "They say we should wait until the community is ready to give us more rights. Should I wait for Joe Eastland to give me my rights? There was only one Methuselah. I don't want to be another.

"We have integration suits in all the states of the union except Mississippi, and Mississippi is going to join the Union, too. We'll help them join."

In a reference to Little Rock, Marshall said "I don't blame Gov. Orval Faubus and the White Citizens Council for acting as they did. But I do blame the right thinking white people for letting it go on."

Marshall urged Texas Negroes to press "a righteous fight toward first class citizenship" in his hour long talk.

Man Sentenced On Guilty Plea

James Cornice Rae was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $100 plus $23.50 court costs after pleading guilty in county court to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

His driver's license was submitted to the Department of Public Safety for six months suspension. Rae was arrested by city police.

MAJ. ALBERT L. MORTON
. . .gets new duties in AF

Former Snyderite Gets New Duties At Dayton AF Base

A former Snyder resident, Major Albert L. Morton, has been assigned to the Plans and Analysis Office of Dayton Air Force Depot's Procurement and Production Directorate, Brig. Gen. C. E. Jung, Commander, announced today.

Additional duties assigned to the DAFD, Prime USAF Depot for airborne electronic and test equipment, have made that office the watchdog over $250 million. From its original assignments, that of doing the long range planning for the Directorate and analyzing methods and precedures in the Directorate, the Office has blossomed in importance. Its duties now include staff surveillance over procurement and production policies and responsibility for establishing and operating the work measurement system and a mechanized system for control of workload in the Directorate.

Staffed by highly competent, professional procurement people, the Office interprets procurement laws and standardizes procurement procedures. They often write their own laws, within the scope of existing Federal procurement laws.

Major Morton likened his staff's work to that of a "Court of Appeals on certain laws."

Plans and Analysis Office has grown in size from three to 14 in two years. Manpower needs for 10 more people have been recognized.

Major Morton has been at DAFD since April 19, 1957.

Born in Snyder April 8, 1924, Major Morton was graduated from Snyder high school in 1941. He received a BA degree in education from the University of Arizona in 1953, and a BS degree in Business from the University of Omaha in 1955. He is a 1957 graduate of the Air Force Institute of Technology, with a master of science degree in Industrial Administration.

He entered service as a Private, Dec. 15, 1942. He was commissioned June 27, 1944.

A Command Pilot, Major Morton piloted a B-17 on 25 missions in the European theater of Operations from December, 1944, to June, 1945. He has been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Major and Mrs. Morton live with their children, Linda, 9, and Joan Ellen, 7, at 3317 Delaney St. Dayton.

Hayden Ready To Appear In Court

SAUSALITO, Calif. (AP) — Bronzed Sterling Hayden is back from the South Seas, tired and broke but ready to face a contempt of court action for taking his four children out of the country against the order of a Los Angeles judge.

The Hollywood actor sailed his schooner Wanderer into San Francisco Bay Sunday after 10 months on the high seas and in Tahiti.

He told newsmen he went "in search of truth" and came back to "clear up the legal situation" in Los Angeles.

Hayden won custody of the children in a divorce action but his former wife, Betty Ann de Noon Hayden, was allowed visitation rights. When he sailed from here last January Mrs. Hayden got a court order for his arrest alleging the children were in danger. The contempt action followed. Several additional charges filed in Marin County are in abeyance.

Leaning on the rail of the 66-year-old schooner, the 43-year-old actor told newsmen he had just had "the best year of my life."

But he said he wasn't relaxed. "All the normal hazards worried me because of the trouble about the children."

He started a movie in Tahiti, he said, but the money ran out. It was to be "one honest picture," about sea life. He started a book, too, about "the whole struggle between the life we're told we want to live and the life I wanted to live but was told was wrong."

Will he go back to acting?

"That would be the easy way out, but I don't want to. I want to do things I believe in."

"Live in the bay area. Go about my legal business."

He doesn't want to go back to Los Angeles.

"Los Angeles epitomizes all that's wrong. You sell out there. And it's hard to sell out. I was never really an actor. I was essentially more of a personality."

While he talked, the Hayden children listened with respect. Then they took their turn with the newsmen.

In Tahiti, volunteered Gretchen, 9, "We swam and looked for sea shells."

"We got dozens," boasted Thor, 10. "You should see them."

Matthew, 7, dangled his bare feet over the rail and said shyly, "We had fun."

Christian, 11, grinned and said nothing.

Nixon Campaign Plan Drawn Up Carefully

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential politics is a chancy business, where many plan and scheme and covet but only one is chosen.

And nowhere are plans more carefully thought out and drawn than in the young, bustling political camp of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Right now the plans call for Nixon to lie low. He has only one speaking engagement the rest of this year, at a sports award dinner in New York. The big drive comes in January and February.

Ideally, a politician never sees an acquaintance without being able to recall his name immediately, never is asked a question without having a ready answer, complete with statistics, never faces an explosive situation without having previously checked on the location of the fire escapes.

No politician succeeds completely, of course. But Nixon keeps the ideal in mind always. He is a firm believer in political homework.

"There is no such thing as a good, off-the-cuff speech," he will tell you.

Coming from him, this seems surprising. Unless it's an official document from which he wants to quote, he never carries so much as a note with him when he's making a speech. Yet Nixon prepares his thoughts, if not his precise words, carefully. A manuscript, he believes, gets between him and the audience.

He is convinced that politicians who use mechanical prompters on television are wrong. "Your eyes get that glassy stare," he says, and adds with a grin: "People tend to think you're cockeyed anyway without your actually looking that way."

This reporter has just returned from three days of campaigning with Nixon through snow in Wisconsin, rain in Indiana, fog in the East.

Technically, this was no campaign at all. Nixon hasn't announced whether he will be a presidential candidate, and some humorist on his staff even called this a nonpolitical tour.

But since he was shaking hands and talking with state politicians constantly—one day lasted a full 21 hours—this scarcely could be looked upon as a lark.

Nixon was preceded by Bob Haldeman, a young New York advertising man who is a volunteer for Nixon.

Haldeman takes a last look at details, and comforts the local arrangements people, who tend to be fidgety.

When Nixon's plane was delayed by weather on a flight into Wisconsin Rapids, Haldeman suggested small cuts here and there that would still allow all the main events on the program.

Time was left so that Nixon not only could visit and talk with Wisconsin county Republican chairmen, but also could pose for pictures with each of the 160 persons who were there.

Yet the unexpected does occur. A surprisingly large crowds was at the Wisconsin Rapids airport. Many of them were school children who had waited for two hours in 20-degree weather.

Nixon peered out the plane window. "You just don't walk away from a crowd like this," he said.

As soon as he was on the ground he was boosted to the hood of the car in which he would ride. He made a few remarks, checked up to see how many were 11 and 13-year-olds like his own daughters, and said he wished he could hang around for autographs.

"My own daughters are more interested in the autograph of Frankie Avalon, he said, fetching appreciative squeals from the girls.

The only sour note came from the driver who studied the footprint scratches left on the 1960 car.

Nixon takes along a couple of Secret Service men, plus secretaries who handle his correspondence, his press relations, his appointments and his researching. All are young and possessed of relentless energy.

Nixon is at his best in question-and-answer sessions, and don't be surprised if he uses more and more of them as the campaign picks up momentum.

Here homework pays off.

Nixon arrived at the Wisconsin cranberry center during an anxious period. Some cranberries have been found contaminated. The whole industry may suffer a knockout blow.

Well, you would have thought Nixon had spent his life in a cranberry bog. He praised them, ate them, and made little jokes about them.

A sample from his remarks at Lawrence College in Appleton, Wis.:

"Khrushchev will offer you a cup of coffee, or maybe something else." (pause for laughs). "Maybe cranberry juice." (more laughter). "It just occurs to me, how would vodka go with that?" (much laughter).

"Naturally there's more to this than homework. Otherwise our presidents would merely be memory experts.

Nixon seems to avoid details on many issues.

He thinks peace will be much talked about in 1960, and that President Eisenhower's visits abroad will give the Republicans a big advantage.

(This thought has also occurred to Democrats, and in their nightmares they see a Republican elephant flying with the wings of a dove.)

On such subjects as the farm problem, where Democrats are already firing their biggest guns, Nixon says forcibly that something must be done, and then quickly says he's not prepared at this time to say what that something is.

Probably Nixon has planned it this way. Issues can be kicked in a lot of directions before the national Republican convention in Chicago next summer.

On this trip Nixon was in country committed to him. In the two states he visited Sen. Homer F. Capehart of Indiana is the only top-flight Republican who is supporting Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

Plenty Gar Bile Going To Harvard

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Maybe Harvard University should know that some people are considering shipping them "enough gar bile to float a laboratory."

Details haven't been worked out, but when Horseshoe Lake in nearby Arkansas is sprayed Sunday there'll be a lot of dead fish, gar among them. The project is to get rid of unwanted fish.

Dr. Frederic C. Chang, medical director of the University of Tennessee Cancer Research Laboratory in Memphis asked if he could have a little bile. He said he wanted it for a friend at Harvard, a researcher.

R. B. Snowden, one of the men involved in the fish-kill promised to cooperate, knowing that there are some pretty bilious gars in those waters.
