Public's Idea Of Mass Killing Debunked

FINAL EDITION

Military Will Expose False War Notions

Atomic Bombs And Germs Are Claimed Limited In Effect

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—The military is alarmed at the public's idea of the mass-killing capabilities of germ warfare, atomic bombs, guided missiles and other new weapons.

Over the weekend, it sought to explain the limitations and capabilities of the first of these. The national military establishment issued a formel statement, followed by a news conference, on biological warfare—a top military secret for the past three years. These views were expressed:

An Important Weapon

1. Biological warfare—the stealthy implanting of germs in people, animals or crops—is practicable, can be conducted on limited scale now, is a "most potentially important weapon."

2. Because this is true, the United States must be on guard against the use of germs in a war or "biological sabotage methods before a declaration of war has been made."

3. In the research field of bacterial war, the United States is even with or perhaps ahead of any other nation. Secret studies have been directed by committee "X" of the research and development board.

4. But—"there is no factual basis for extravagant claims of the existence of a biological superweapon" which can kill hundreds of millions of people.

Death Toll In State Hits 13

(By The Associated Press)

Violent deaths in Texas over the weekend totaled 13.

Two men died in a cutting scrape in Dallas Saturday night. They were Manuel Villareal, 24, and Miguel Sanchez, 25, both of Dallas. Pedro Sanchez, brother of Miguel, was wounded.

At Orange, Ray Simmons died in a hunting accident. His gun fell out of his hand and discharged. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

Ten other persons died various violent deaths.

Three persons were drowned, two died from gunshot wounds, two were burned to death, one died from a fall, one died in a fall from a moving car and a baseball umpire was killed when hit by a pitched ball.

Three of the deaths resulted from injuries suffered earlier in the week.

Jesse Clifford Aldridge, 38, Winnsboro, Tex., drygoods merchant, drowned Sunday afternoon in Lake Franklin near Winnsboro.

Mrs. Virginia Rose Jordan, 20, of the Goshen community near Eustace in Henderson county, was killed Sunday when she fell from the fender of a moving car.

Umpire Is Killed

Alvin Brandt, 35, of Helotes, Sunday was dead on arrival at a San Antonio hospital after being struck in the head by a pitched ball as he umpired a baseball game at Helotes.

New Troubles Piling Up For Truman's Rent Control Plan

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Merch 14—New trouble piled up in Congress today in front of President Truman's request to strengthen rent controls and other parts of his 1949 program.

With present rent controls due to expire March 31—just 17 days away—and the Senate still troubled with a filibuster, Senator Tobey (R-NH) raised a threat.

Tobey, former banking committee chairman and past supporter of rent controls, told a reporter he favors an extension for only six months to enable individual states to take over this job if they desire.

That would be in contrast with Mr. Truman's plan for a two-year extension, or the 15-month continuation tentatively voted by the House.

Tobey and a number of other senators and representatives believe the time has come for cutting off the frequent extensions of wartime rent controls.

"Some 40 state legislatures will be meeting in the next six months," he said. "This would put them on notice to take action if they wish."

Tobey's proposal came as a Senate banking subcommittee met behind closed doors today to begin drafting a rent bill under the chairmanship of Senator Sparkman (D-Ala).

Both Sparkman and Chairman Maybank (D-SC) of the full banking committee are among southerners battling the proposed tightening of Senate rules. They say they cannot push the rent measure as long as the filibuster-civil rights issue is before the Senate.

Also stacked up in the Senate are these administration bills:

1. A House-passed three-year extension of the tariff-cutting reciprocal trade powers asked by Mr. Truman.

Program Of Housing

2. A long-range housing program including slum clearance, subsidized low-rent public housing and other features urged by the President.

3. The 15-month extension of the foreign aid program (due to expire in three weeks) with a $5,580,000,000 authorization asked by the President.

4. Repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act and substitution of an administration measure.

Meanwhile House Democratic leaders rallied their members for final action Tuesday on the 15-month rent control extension containing part of the administration's requests.

GOP Narrowly Defeated

They have already narrowly defeated a Republican attempt to limit rent controls to another 90 days only. A second test on that is expected.

Meanwhile nearly a dozen other Senate committees and subcommittees called forenoon sessions today.

House committees were busy with the foreign aid bill before the foreign affairs group, and repeal of the Taft-Hartley act before the labor committee.

Hit-And-Run Victim Gets A Card From Driver Of Car That Struck Him Down

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 14 (AP)—"God help me for hitting you," the post card read, "but I haven't the strength to give myself up."

The unsigned card was among some 1,000 greeting cards Eddie Devlin got yesterday on his seventh birthday. Eddie was released from Atlantic City hospital last night after being struck down by a hit-and-run driver.

Mrs. Frank Devlin, the boy's mother, turned the card over to police. She said she was just sorry for the person who sent it.

"He must be going through terrible torture," she said.

LEADERS IN COMPROMISE TALKS

Meet Rouses Hope For Filibuster End

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Administration leaders expressed hope a new filibuster peace conference called today will bring settlement of a fight that has tied up the Senate for 13 days.

Majority Leader Lucas (D-Ill), heading administration forces seeking a change in Senate debating rules, said the second round of compromise talks will be held during the afternoon.

Republican leaders, along with representatives of Southern lawmakers opposing the rules change, will meet with the administration forces.

Closed Meets Held

The decision for the conference was made after the three groups—administration Democrats, GOP policy leaders and Southern Democrats—each had held closed morning meetings.

The GOP leaders decided informally to throw their weight behind the peace efforts. The Southerners said they would end their filibuster. They declined to disclose the terms.

Senator More (R-Ore), meanwhile, served notice that he will object to any compromise making it more difficult to get civil rights legislation before the senate.

Would Block Effort

His objection would block any effort to get through a compromise by unanimous of senators.

The filibuster has been going on since Feb. 28 with Dixie lawmakers fighting to prevent the Senate from taking up a resolution which would permit two-thirds of those

Tomorrow Midnight Income Tax Deadline

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—Tomorrow midnight is the deadline to file 1948 income tax returns and penalties await those who delay beyond that time.

Every citizen or resident with income of over $600 in 1948 must file a return on time or face penalties ranging up to 25 percent of the tax for delay.

Some of them also must file estimates on their 1949 income tax and begin paying it in quarterly installments.

County Group Approves Road

Lubbock county commissioners, meeting this morning in regular semi-monthly session, approved a petition presented by a group of landowners of Shallowater and Monroe communities calling for designation and hot topping of a farm to market road adjoining the two communities.

Approval by the county commissioners is subject to further approval and acceptance by the State Highway department.

Among those appearing before the commissioners on behalf of the petition were W. O. Fortenberry of Monroe, Guy L. McAfee of Lubbock, and C. U. James of Shallowater.

Weigher Bonds Approved

At this morning's session, routine business was discussed. All bills and accounts were approved and ordered paid.

Newsreel Films Of President Confiscated By White House

(By The Associated Press)

KEY WEST, Fla., March 14.—The White House today confiscated films of newsreel cameramen. Still photographers destroyed their film rather than permit confiscation after a picture-taking flight over Key West.

Representatives of Paramount News, NBC television, the Associated Press, International News photos and Acme news pictures made the flight in a Navy air ship.

They made pictures of President Truman in swimming at the enlisted men's beach, of the President and his party waving from the beach, general views of Key West and of the commandant's quarters which Mr. Truman uses as the "temporary White House" while on vacation here.

Charles G. Ross, press secretary to Mr. Truman, and Rear Admiral Robert L. Dennison, presidential naval aide, were waiting when the reporters landed after a flight that was to have taken about 45 minutes had been extended 30 minutes to permit Ross to

B-36 Able To Strike Areas, Return Home

Soviet Would Be Unable To Defend Self, Tests Show

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14—About 70 strategic targets in Russia have been earmarked by military planners as possible objectives for attack in the event of a war, it was learned today.

The Air Force has given the joint chiefs of staff documented assurances that the B-36 superbomber could strike every one of these, flying out of bases on this continent and returning without refueling.

The targets have been marked off on top-secret maps at the national defense establishment. Reliable military authorities said they include major Soviet industrial centers. All would be within a 4,000-mile radius of air bases in Alaska and Labrador.

Evidence marshalled by bombardment experts indicates that Russia, as of today, would be unable to defend herself by intercepting B-36's carrying atomic or other "special" bombs on missions of 4,000 miles radius.

This evidence, based on tests under combat conditions, shows that present jet planes become inadequate interceptors at 40,000 feet. The cold, thin air does not supply enough oxygen for their engines or support for their small wings during maneuvers.

Findings Are Reported

The Air Force's findings, as detailed to the joint chiefs and outlined in interviews, include the following:

1. The B-36 has performed efficiently above 40,000 fet on two missions of more than 12 hours each. No other bomber can do this, the Air Force believes.

2. The superbomber, still a new military airplane, already has demonstrated that it can fly 9,600 miles.

3. It is the only airplane in the world which can carry atomic bombs without any modifications. It also can carry two 42,000-pound bombs without modification, but over shorter ranges.

A Tough Problem

4. Radar warning stations around the perimeter of Russia would be an almost prohibitive proposition. Even if such a system existed, relaying information of oncoming raiders over Russia's vast, undeveloped reaches in time for interception would be a tough problem.

5. Tests at Elgin Air Force base, Fla., show that today's jet fighters lose efficiency so radically at 40,000 feet that they have only an 80 to 100-mile-an-hour speed advantage over the B36. They are reduced to attacking it from the tail, if at all. There they must pit their immovable 50-caliber guns with a 600-yard effective range against the B-36's automatically

Science Bill's Foes Gaining

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—House foes of the basic science bill gained strength on the first test vote on final passage today after renewing their bitter attack on the measure.

A motion to postpone further consideration until March 22 was defeated 78 to 59. Last week the vote approving the measure on second reading was 90 to 41.

Several members who had been voting for the measure told the House they would now oppose it until some objectionable features were removed.

Poll Tax Discussed

The Senate quit until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow with a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the poll tax requirement for voting under discussion.

Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg, author of the proposal, argued that the measure would change nothing about the poll tax except its requirement for voting. Without the requirement he said the tax could still be made collectible.

In the House, basic science bill arguments were stormy.

"Somebody's just hell-bent on ramming it through," cried Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas. "You couldn't give artificial respiration to a drowning man without violating this law.

Contradiction Charged

The bill would require al lthose who practice the healing arts to pass an examination on such basic sciences as biology and chemistry before they are permitted to practice.

Museum Burglary Is Reported At College

Burglary of West Texas museum, on the campus of Texas Tech, and theft of several old weapons from a display case was reported to the police after two police patrolmen had recovered some of the property.

Taken were three pistols, a shotgun, a rifle, a sword and a saber, all of a vintage to make them museum pieces.

All property was marked with small identifying white numbers, police said they had been told by Dr. W. C. Holden, curator of the museum.

Entrance was through the roof and into the elevator shaft. The property taken was exhibited 20 feet below the place of breaking and entering.

One cap and ball pistol and a cavalry saber were recovered at Broadway and Ave. Q when Patrolmen Pete Hubbard and George Hall accosted two boys, about 12 and 8, who abandoned the weapons and fled.

Paper Reports Plan To Arm Argentina

WASHINGTON, March 14. (AP)—The Times Herald said today in a copyrighted story that The U. S. is planning to turn over an aircraft carrier, two cruisers and two or three destroyers to Argentina for the defense of the Western Hemisphere.

Transfer legislation is being prepared by State and Navy department officials, the Times Herald said, but added "high" state and Navy officials deny this.

The ships were not identified, but the story said "preasumably would be first-line combat ships" from either the active or reserve fleets.

425,000 Idle Due To Lewis Holiday Edict

Other Thousands On Railways Are Put On Furlough

PITTSBURGH, March 14—Coal production virtually ceased in the United States today.

Some 425,000 miners east of the Mississippi simply stayed home. To a man, they were obeying orders of John L. Lewis, the aging leader of the United Mine workers who ordered the pits closed until March 28.

Lewis called the work stoppage last Friday. He said it would be a memorial to the miners killed or injured last year. And, he continued, it would be the miners' protest against President Truman's nomination of Dr. James Boyd as director of the U. S. bureau of mines. Dr. Boyd's appointment awaits Senate ratification.

The first effects of the work stoppage came in the railroad industry. Eleven railroads furloughed 57,425 workers. They're employed by railroads who get a big chunk of their freight revenue from hauling coal.

President Lewas has emphasized the fortnight holiday isn't a strike. He says, too, it won't cause physical distress. Lewis points out he's allowing miners east of the Mississippi to work "to avoid public hardship in areas where climatic canditions have recently been unfavorable."

While there's plenty of coal in the East to fend out any wintry blasts which remain, the work stoppage will be hard on the pocketbooks of the miners. The UMW has a standing policy of not paying strike benefits.

With this in mind, some UMW leaders say they're going after

Alliance Is Called Barrier To Russia

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Paul G. Hoffman told 12 Swedish labor leaders today that Russia will not start a war as long as "the free peoples of the world stand together."

The Economic Cooperation administrator made the statement in welcoming the Swedes here for a two-week tour of key industrial areas along the Eastern seaboard.

No Mention Of Pact

Hoffman made no mention of the North Atlantic alliance, but his remarks took on significance from the present stage of work on the pact. Sweden is the only Scandinavian nation to hold completely aloof from the negotiations and indicate a determination to stay that way.

Norway has come in. Denmark and Iceland are talking about it.

Iceland's foreign minister has an engagement to talk with State department officials during the afternoon.

The foreign minister, Bjarni Benediktsson, arrived here last night. He told reporters in New York that his government had not yet decided to join the alliance and that it definitely would refuse to grant peacetime bases to any power.

No Discussion Seen

"I think there can be no discussion of bases," he said.

The United States and the western European nations lining up under the treaty are highly interested in providing permanent protection for North Atlantic sea and air lines. Nevertheless, it appeared that Iceland's views on the base question would be fully respected and that no pressure would be brought by the United States on this point.

Benediktsson said Icelandic Communists—he put their strength at 20 per cent of the vote—are opposing the pact in every way they can. He told a questioner that his country had received no counter proposals from Moscow.

The pattern for handling the issue of bases apparently was laid down Saturday in a conference between State department officials and Danish Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen. They discussed what Rasmussne described

Five Charged With Burglary

Five persons were arrested and charged with burglary over the weekend, and statements taken from some of those under arrest may clear one case of car theft, perhaps two, it was announced by the sheriff's department today.

County and city officers here, the Abernathy city marshal and the sheriff's department at Brownfield cooperated to make the arrests, it was announced.

Marshal Rutledge of Abernathy started the investigation when he took to the sheriff's office here a radio taken in a March 10 burglary of the E. R. Haskins store at Wolfforth.

Charges Are Filed

Before the investigation was completed, the following had been arrested and charged here with burglary: Chester Wayne Morgan, 18, of 1614 Main; Ferion Dwain McCreary, 20, of Slaton highway; Robert Lee Davis, 20, of 2411 North Third.

And Dep. Sheriff Buel Powell of Brownfield had arrested J. B. Jackson, about 19, of Lubbock, who also was under burglary charge here.

Statements were given by those arrested in Lubbock. Davis also testified that he and another person—not one of those charged in the Haskins store burglary—had stolen a car in Amarillo March 5. The car had been recovered here, the sheriff's department said today.

Still another car is figuring in the investigation, the sheriff's department here said. It was said

Space Will Be Conquered In Stages

Inter-Planetary Flights Are Predicted By German Expert

(By The Associated Press)

DOWNEY, Calif., March 14 Flights to and from planets will come "as sure as the 'amen' in church," says the man who perfected the Nazi's dreaded V-2 buzz bomb.

Dr. Walther Riedel, chief designer and director at Germany's fabulous Peenemuende rocket plant in Pomerania, is now in this country helping the U. S. Air Force build even deadlier missiles at North American Aviation Co.

He said yesterday, in an inteview, "space will be conquered in definite stages. First, in five to ten years, there will be created a satellite that will whirl endlessly around the earth.

"In a quarter century, the satellite will become a space station where man can properly study the myriad problems of space travel.

"Finally will come interplanetary flight—as sure as the 'amen' in church."

He said some 2,000 of the V-2 missiles were launchen against England.

Thief Grabs About $250 At Citizens Bank And Escapes

Police were searching for an unidentified man in the downtown area of Lubbock early this afternoon after he had reached under the bars of a teller's cage at the Citizens National bank and escaped with approximately $250.

The man, described as between 35 and 40 years old, wearing a battered hat and a sleeveless OD shirt, ran south through an alley after emerging from the bank's north door shortly before 3 o'clock.

J. C. Bair, 1718 Ave. M, was standing immediately behind the man as he presented a check for $1,000. As Eunice George, the teller, turned to the bookkeeping department to make a check on the signature and account, the man grabbed the money. Blair grabbed him by the belt of a sport coat he was wearing but he evaded him and made for the bank's front door.

Another bank customer tripped him and he sprawled in the floor, but he was up again and out of the door before anyone could stop him.

Dorsel Young, a bank employe, gave chase but the man outdistanced him and was reported in the vicinity of Dickinson Motor company when last seen.

Terms Of North Atlantic Pact Will Be Announced This Week

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14.—We'll learn the details of the Atlantic pact soon, maybe Friday, from the State department.

The pact is a military alliance worked out by the United States and other nations which border on or near the North Atlantic.

It has a double purpose:

To make the allies so militarily strong that they not only can withstand an attack from Russia but even discourage one from starting.

(Communists claim its real purpose is to get ready for an attack on Russia).

Senate Approval Necessary

The pact will not become a fact at all unless the U. S. Senate approves by a two-thirds vote. That may take months.

Details on the pact have been kept pretty secret. When they are released this week, they'll open a floodgate for:

News on the pact, interpretations, hair-splitting on the meaning of words in the pact, Senate debate, editorials, radio discussions.

Talks on the pact began last summer between the U. S., Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg. Norway and Denmark joined the conversations later. Iceland, Portugal and Italy may come in.

The pact is a treaty. Since the Senate must approve any treaties in which we take part, that's why the pact is not a fact unless, and until, the Senate okays.

Argument Is Expected

It's expected to in this case, but not before plenty of argument because all those signing the treaty agree to help each other out in case of attack.

The $64 question, for the Senate, is how to help out.

If Russia attacks any of the allies, do we throw our armed forces into battle at once?

Or do we help out in some other way? But what other way is worth a dime if an ally is attacked?

And there's the question of arms? Do we start pouring arms into allies as soon as the pact is approved, so they can be prepared for any attack?

Move Toward Cooperation

Unless the allies are strongly armed, would a piece of paper called a "pact" have any meaning for Russia. Her armies could overrun the unarmed pact-signeds in no time.

Some friends of the pact argue this:

Our joining—which means Russia would know she'd have to face us if she attacked our allies—would deter her from attacking.

They consider that the central, and most important, part of the pact.

All this is a long step from our old-time neutrality which kept us out of World Wars I and II so long.

But we've been moving steadily in this direction since the end of World War II.

We've joined the United Nations, set up the Marshall plan to help western Europe, thrown help and money into Greece and Turkey under the Truman plan to stop Russia, and have occupation troops in Germany, Austria, Trieste, Japan and Korea.

"Healing Lake" Is Found In Russia

MOSCOW, March 14. (AP)—The mud of Lake Moltasvsk, in the Ural mountains, was acclaimed today by the Soviet magazine Ogonek as possessing miraculous healing qualities.

Ogonek said local peasants first discovered the healing qualities of the mud, said to be permeated by the decayed organic deposits of centuries. Goonex called the place the "lake of life."

Recent medical investigation, the journal said, showed that 200 of 284 patients recovered completely or showed marked improvement after treatment for diseases of the joints, muscles, nervous system, blood vessels and alimentary tract.

The lake's fame spread to Moscow and now, it was reported, the Soviet government will build a state sanitarium there.

High Death Rate In Reds' Zone Revealed

BERLIN, March 14 (AP)—Inferior living conditions in the Soviet zone of Germany have caused the death rate there to far outstrip the birth rate, the American military government newspaper Neue Zietung said today.

The newspaper claimed that it had obtained official figures which "reveal the most anxiously guarded secret of the Soviet zone" to be the fact that in 1948 the death rate was 15.1 against a birth rate of 12.7 per 1,000 persons.

"Such a feat of the dwindling of the population has, except for times of war, rarely been seen in the history of mankind," Neue Zeitung said.

The newspaper said that in Bizonia, the combined British-American zone of Germany, the figures for 1948 were 16.2 for births and 9.9 for deaths.

North Texas State Professor Claimed

DENTON, March 14 (AP) — Dr. Joseph Lyman Kingsbury, a teacher at North Texas State college since 1925, died yesterday.

Dr. Kingsbury was professor of history and curator of the state historical collection at North Texas State college. His death followed a heart ailment of several weeks.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Freddrick L. Kingsbury, Galveston; and two daughters, Mrs. Harold Meyer and Mrs. Wesley Hart, both of Pecos.

South Korean Army Battles Guerrillas

SEOUL, March 14 (AP)—Reports from the Korean Army and police today said at least 77 Communist-led guerrillas were gilled during the past week in the mountains of South Korea.

Police and the Army, who are intensifying a drive on the guerrillas in the mountain fastness, said they had fought several engagements with the rebels. Fifty-three were reported killed in one fight.

Chough Pyung Ok, official Korean representative to the United Nations, left for Washington today reportedly to ask American military chiefs for additional arms for the republic's Army.

Sources close to the government said President Syngman Rhee wants enough arms to boost the Army's strength from 50,000 to 100,000 men.

Only 2,330 new automobiles mark in six months.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.

Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Lost 56 pounds

Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:

"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.

"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.

"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 165 or 170 pounds."

ARE YOU SEEKING

PEACE OF MIND?

A leading editorial in an issue of Life Magazine pointed out the large number of people who today are seeking happiness through Peace of Mind.

This secular magazine stated that many palliatives are offered for personal unhappiness, but there is only one cure. The cure, the article continues, is Religion—Peace of mind is of the spirit, not matter.

In his troubles and anxieties man can have recourse to a Power outside himself. In learning about God and to rely upon God many men have been able to find answers to their problems.

How can a person learn about God, Religion, the Destiny of Man which "makes the troubles of this time not worthy to be compared with the glory to come"? He can learn by the study of Religion. Study is the primary step.

Religion is not a sensual but a rational process. If God had wished to reach man through his senses He could have done so but instead appeals to his reasoning powers. Religion therefore has to be known to be appreciated and enjoyed.

A person can learn about Religion, its teachings, its duties, and its joys by enrolling in the Free Correspondence Course in the Catholic Religion.

One half hour a day spent in the study of this Course has the power to relieve the pent up tensions of restless, high strung, perplexed and uneasy souls. Long before the days of Life Magazine St. Augustine expressed this great truth in a single sentence, "our hearts are made for Thee oh God and they are restless until they abide in Thee." Human nature hasn't changed.

Why spend money on pills and medicines when the trouble goes deeper. Medicines cannot reach the spirit but Religion can. Send for this Free Course which if faithfully studied brings peace and happiness to life because it gives the only reasonable meaning of life and fits each man's life into the pattern and plan of God.

They saved for this SUNNY day!

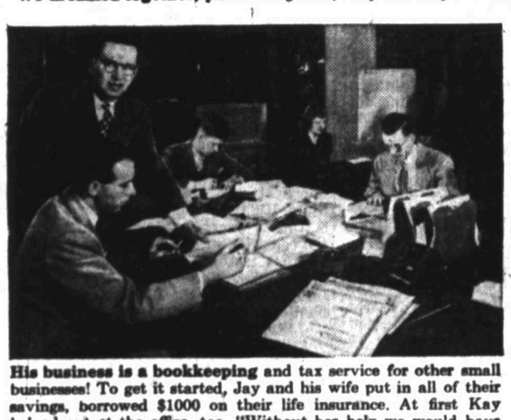

How Jay Tompkins of Milwaukee, Wisconsin gave up a snug job to be on his own

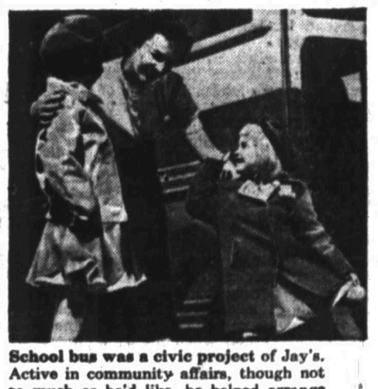

"We dreamed together, planned together," Jay and Kay recall, "for the day Jay could go to work for himself."

A business of his own! This was the ambition Jay and Kay Tompkins shared from the time their campus romance began. But when they were married in 1938 they lacked the money to start one—and later they found themselves in another dilemma! For after nine years of building up a backlog to start his own firm, Jay saw that the new venture would earn far less than his well-paying salesman's job.

With a growing family and an uncertain world, could Jay and Kay risk a new business? Could they live on income cut by half? They'd planned and saved so long! What if they managed their money carefully, went without "extras" for a while . . . and took the big step?

His business is a bookkeeping and tax service for other small businesses! To get it started, Jay and his wife put in all of their savings, borrowed $1000 on their life insurance. At first Kay helped out at the office, too. "Without her help we would have been lost," Jay says. He employs only veterans.

School bus was a civic project of Jay's. Active in community affairs, though not so much as he'd like, he helped arrange service. Now daughters Ann, 7, and Sally, 4, are able to ride to school in safety!

For golf and other recreation Jay and Kay spend only $15 a month, even now that the business is on its feet. The Tompkinses keep a "family ledger," know where their money goes. Home costs $61.57 a month; life insurance comes to $78.44; food, $94.

Today, Jay and Kay are finding their sacrifices well worth while. By such things as holding neighborhood "swap parties" for children's outgrown clothes, Kay is saving money for a much-wanted freezer, and a clothes-dryer.

To keep the independence they've won, Jay and his life insurance agent figured out what it would cost the family to live if Jay died, and arranged life insurance program accordingly. "I'm proud of Jay," his wife says, "he expects to get no more from the world than he puts in."

Daughters of a Senator? Could be, if Jay's dream of doing more in public service comes true! It's part of his family's tradition. His great-great-grandfather was U. S. vice-president under Monroe.

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

The Tompkinses, like other American families, prove to all of us that the only way we really solve our problems is by our own efforts!

These stories of real families much like yours also show how much more success, how much more happiness is possible when you have peace of mind . . . the sort of peace of mind that comes from wise management of money now, and from knowing that future security has been adequately provided for.

The Life Insurance Companies and their Agents bring you these American family close-ups because what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Famous French Flier On Trial As Spy For Nazis During War

PARIS, Mrch 14. (AP)—Pioneer ocean flier Dieudonne Coste went on trial today as a spy. He was charged with having been one of the "best paid" agents of German counter-intelligence, working in the United States during World War II.

Coste, who with Maurice Bellonte made the first east-west flight over the Atlantic in 1930, denied he returned to the U. S. 13 years later to spy for Germany.

"I never had any intention of betraying my country," he told the military court. The short, stocky, white-haired defendant termed the charges against him "entirely false."

Nazi Double Cross Claimed

Coste, named the World's No. 1 airman in 1931 by the International League of Aviation, claims he double-crossed the Nazis by serving as an American agent while supposedly working for the German Abwehr (German counter-intelligence units).

The Paris-to-New York flight in a small single-engine monoplane made a sensation second only to Charles Lindbergh's epic crossing in 1927.

Coste, 57, and a reserve lieutenant colonel in the French air force, could be sentenced to death if found guilty but observers consider this unlikely.

He is charged with serving the Abwehr under the code-name of "Denys." The prosecution contends Coste went to the U. S. via Spain in 1943.

The flier is said to have replied in pre-trial questioning:

"As soon as I arrived in Madrid I contacted the American military attache and told him what I was doing. I told him what codes I would use. While I was in New York I brought about the arrest of Paul Cavallez whose job was to send information to the Germans by radio. From the time of my arrival I worked with the FBI."

2nd Lt. Paul Cavaillez is facing the same court. He has already served part of a five-year term for espionage in the U. S. He is now accused of failing to disclose his knowledge of Coste's activities. He also denied the charges.

The prosecution charges Coste with having Cavaillez sent to help him in America. Coste says he sent for Vavaillez only to expose him.

Coste is charged with having contacted the Germans soon after the fall of France in June 1940 while he was winding up war contracts at the Hispano-Suiza plant, where he was employed.

The airman, known as "Coste" in the U. S. is called "Costes" in France. This has caused considerable confusion in the past.

Council To Expand Medical Aid Sought

DALLAS, March 14 (AP)—Doctors are proposing a statewide health council to "improve and expand medical care in Texas."

Dr. George A. Schenewerk of Dallas is the man who will prepare first plans for the council. He is chairman of the state committee on public relations of the State Medical association.

Preliminary planning began here yesterday. Formation of the council was proposed by the board of trustees and approved by the executive council of the state association.

MEET THE MANAGER—Sam Jondahl, manager and partner of Watson Furniture company, was born at Stroud, Lincoln county, Okla., Dec. 22, 1900. He went to school there and later to college at Oklahoma City. He worked for six years in a bank at Bristow, Okla., and later went into the furniture business. He joined the Watson organization in 1926 at McAlester, Okla. He moved to Lubbock when Watson's opened the store here in 1934 and became manager. The store was at 1112 Broadway. In 1942 the store was moved to the present location at 1109 Thirteenth. Jondahl is a member of First Christian church, Lions club, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Lubbock Country club. He fishes when he has a chance, but in the past few years has given up golf, formerly one of his favorite games. Mr. and Mrs. Jondahl and a daughter, Sheila, 17, a Texas Technological college student, live at 2511 Nineteenth. (Staff Photo).

New Stan Laurel-Oliver Hardy Split Claimed Only Temporary

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, March 14—There stood Oliver Hardy, chins and all, but something was missing. No Stan Laurel.

For the second time in 23 years, the famed comedy team of Laurel and Hardy has split up. I found Hardy in a buckskin outfit on the set of John Wayne's "A Strange Caravan." He admitted that a couple of cows gave their lives to supply the costume.

I asked if his present role meant a permanent split with the wistful Laurel.

"No, no," he assured. 'This is just temporary until we get active again. In fact, my salary goes to our joint corporation."

The two comics started performing together in 1926. Until now they had only one professional division. That was in 1935 when they were working under separate contracts to Hal Roach. Stan had a dispute with the producer and left the lot.

Hardy had to finish out his contract and Roach put him into a thing called "Zenobia," co-starring Billie Burke, Alice Brady and an elephant. The picture fell flat on its trunk, and Hardy rejoined his teammate.

Play Over Europe

Their last Hollywood contract was with 20th-Fox. They quit because of non-support. "We can't carry a picture for all five or six reels," Babe said. "We needed talented people for dramatic support, but they were giving us unknowns."

In 1947, the pair played successfully all over Europe. Hardy shed 75 pounds and wasn't happy with the experience. "I tasted my first whale meat and my first horse meat," he said sourly. He is now back up to his standard 295 pounds.

After World War I the Italian sculptor Alceo Dossena reproduced numerous pieces of Renaissance sculpture and, he said, disposed of them as copies at a slight profit. They were so good, however, that the art dealer sold the copies as originals for fabulous sums.

On a new air route between Australia and South Africa, which was recently surveyed, one "leg" will be from Cocos Island to Mauritius, a distance of 2,670 miles, the longest in civil flying.

Union Men Beaten At Workers Meet

POTTSTOWN, Pa., March 14. (AP)—L. S. Buckmaster, international president of the CIO-united rubbed, cork, linoleum and plastic workers, and three other men were beaten during a meeting of the union's local 336 last night, police reported.

Police said Buckmaster was not injured, but Fred L. Howard, of Norristown, Pa., an international union representative, was treated at Memorial hospital for cuts and bruises.

The others beaten, police said, were O. H. Bosley, Newark, N. J., district representative, and Fleet Perrine, Akron, O., general ogranization director. Buckmaster is a resident of Akron.

Robert E. Garber, president of the local, told police the four men were attacked after a vote of the membership rejected their request to speak.

Buckmaster said he had called the meeting to discuss the conduct of the local's administration.

Scottish farmers rebelled when the Ministry of Agriculture asked them to take time from working night and day to save crops from floods, to answer 199 questions, about such things as how many taps and bedside lamps they had in their homes.

"PALE AS A GHOST"

*That's one of the signs of a Borderline Anemia

Nearly everyone looks pale at times. Some people naturally have less color in their cheeks than others.

But if your complexion is too often pale and sallow—if your manner is jaded, your energy under par—faded red blood cells may be the reason. You may have a Borderline Anemia, due to a ferro-nutritional blood deficiency. Medical studies indicate that up to 68% of women—many men and children—have this blood condition.

Weariness and pallor have many causes—always consult your doctor regularly. But if you have this Borderline Anemia, remember: Ironized Yeast Tablets can help you reclaim your vitality and healthy good looks. They are specially formulated to help build up faded, shrunken and fagged-out blood cells. To feel better—to look better—to act more alert and alive—try IRONIZED YEAST TABLETS!

Girl Turns To Unwed Mother In Confusion When Playmates Ask About Parentage

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am an unmarried mother, 26 years old. I have a daughter eight years old. We live with my parents, brothers and sisters. I am the eldest of the children and have a good job. My mother takes the best of care of my little girl and she receives an abundance of love, affection and material things. She has been taught that my parents are her grandparents and that I am her mother.

Her father is unmarried and lives with his mother. He contributes regularly to her support, but his visits are rare, although he knows that h may see Linnie at any time. He tapered off his visits when he realized that it was his daughter, not I, that I wanted him to visit.

I tried to tell Linnie once that Kirk (I'll call him) is her father; but as she hadn't seen him often she refused to believe me. Now, due to the fact that her playmates are beginning to ask questions, she has come to me with her thoughts rather confused.

I would appreciate your advice on how to explain the situation to her, so that she will realize that in reality she is no different from any other little girl, even though society so often and so unjustly tries to stigmatize a child in her position. Signed: S. C.

MOTHER'S ATTITUDE IS NOT REALISTIC

DEAR S. C.: It seems to me you are asking the impossible, in asking me to furnish plausible arguments whereby you might "double-talk" Linnie into "believing" acceptance of her status, as being no different from any other little girl's.

You make the assertion that "in reality she is no different from any other little girl, even though society so often and so unjustly tries to stigmatize the child in her position."

Linnie exists, to be sure; and in the fact of being alive, in being a member of the human family, she is no different from any other child, of course. But to try to balloon that central fact into presumably conclusive "social argument" that she is exactly like all other children—for better or for worse—would be absurd.

In receiving the best of care from her grandmother, and an abundance of love, affection and material things from your family, Linnie is more fortunately situated than countless thousands of unwanted, unloved, poverty-stricken or orphaned children throughout the world.

WORDS WON'T WORK AS ANTIDOTE HERE

BUT ALSO, by being born without the orthodox credential of legitimate paternity, in a country where the traditional emphasis of civil law and religious code tends to prohibit unlicensed mating, and to classify it as criminal and shameful, Linnie is disadvantageously different, socially, from children whose parents are married and begot them in wedlock.

The difference is disadvantageous in the sense that some people, young and old, will hold it against her, punitively, as her parents' status becomes known to them. And while good minds may recognize the injustice to the child of villifying her for something she didn't do and couldn't prevent, nevertheless it's a fact of life that a portion of society does "outlaw" the child in such case.

Essentially you are asking how to justify the situation to Linnie, so that she might rest in poise, inwardly, when critics attack. Facing that question, you feel stymied; and vulnerable to hurt if she is hurt. You don't know much about child nature, or about the character of our society, if you think a valid answer, safely protective, can be coined in words—for her age. The only real antidote to her precarious status is a legitimate father, to help you make a home for her in another environment where her illegitimate origin isn't known.—M.H.

GOP Claims Hearings On Labor Bill Useless; Group "Stacked"

WASHINGTON, March 14 (AP)—Two Republicans complained today that House hearings on repealing the Taft-Hartley law are a waste of time because, they said, Democrats "stacked" the subcommittee holding them.

Reps. McConnell (R-Pa) and Nixon (R-Calif) each told a reporter that Democrats on the subcommittee made up their minds in advance that they are going to vote to get rid of the controversial labor act.

Rep. Lesinski (D-Mich), chairman of the full committee, smiled. He appointed the subcommittee, including McConnell and Nixon.

"The Republicans," he said, "are just sore because they know we've got the votes to lick them."

Unions To Testify

The hearings ran into their second week today. Most of this week has been allotted to union spokesmen, who are united and insist that Taft-Hartley be wiped out.

Four of them set up a solid front for repeal in a Saturday night broadcast. On the program with them was Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) of the Senate labor committee. Thomas' committee already has okayed an administration bill to repeal Taft-Hartley and restore the old Wagner labor law with some additions.

In the House subcommittee, the line-up is eight Democrats and five Republicans. McConnell and Nixon said it already is dead certain that that is the way the subcommittee vote will go, eight to five, on the administration labor program.

"So the hearings are a waste of time," McConnell said.

Committee Vote Debated

Business leaders spent last week testifying before the subcommittee. They held out for keeping the T-H law. Some even said it should be broadened.

But there were no signs they changed the views of any congressman.

McConnell and Nixon said it may be a different story when it comes to shoving the administration bill through the full labor committee.

But Lesinski and his subcommittee chairman, Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), say the bill will come out of the full committee by a 13 to 12 vote—just as did a bill to boost the national minimum wage.

Views Stated

In the Saturday night radio show over the ABC network, Thomas said the administration measure is neither pro-labor or pro-management.

"It is a pro-public bill," he said, "designed to restore genuine collective bargaining and to lessen labor disputes."

And this is what four top labor leaders had to say:

William Green, president of the AFL: Taft-Hartley seeks to undermine the security of unions. Its major purpose was "to make strong unions weak and weak unions weaker."

James B. Carey, secretary-treasurer of the CIO: Taft-Hartley is "a loaded law" which gives all the benefits to management, all the penalties to labor. It has been "a legal subsidy to industry." The administration bill is necessary, just as "we need laws to protect the rabbit from the hunter."

Head-Hunters Look Down On Cannibals

SAN FRANCISCO, March 14. (AP)—The quickest way to make a New Guinea headhunter mad at you is to call him a cannibal. He doesn't eat you. He merely cuts off your head.

"The cannibals are sort of looked down upon by head hunters." English missionary Cecil Abel explained today.

He ought to know. His nondenominational Kwato mission near Milne Bay, New Guinea, caters to the needs of 1,500,000 natives, many of them former head-hunters and cannibals.

"I suppose you could say some of my dearest friends are cannibals," said Abel, here on his way back after a leave in England.

"A cannibal who doesn't eat you is inexpressively dear."

Wm. H. Paulger Dies In Home Of Grandson

William H. Paulger, 92, resident of Lubbock since 1945, died about 12:45 p. m. Sunday in the home of a grandson, W. J. Whittaker, on Lubbock route 2. He had been in ill health for the past several months.

The body was to be taken overland today to Holden, Mo., for services and burial, Bryan McDonald and Son Funeral home reported this morning. Relatives here indicated that services probably would be conducted in Holden sometime Tuesday, although definite arrangements have not been made.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Ida Whittaker of 2119 Twenty-sixth; a son, C. A. Paulger of Oklahoma City; three grandsons, W. J. Whittaker, E. C. Whittaker, and Leroy Paulger, all of Lubbock; three granddaughters, Misses Jennye Mae Whittaker and Martha Louise Whittaker and Miss Louie Paulger, also of Lubbock; a number of great grandchildren and one great great grandchild.

A WHITTLER AND HER PRODUCT—Mrs. J. B. Stevens of Riverside, Ill., who took up whittling when an accident confined her to bed for six months, carves a "forty-niner's" donkey at the World Hobby Exposition in Chicago. She has carved 5,000 pieces in eight years.

Rites Set Tuesday For Crash Victims

Funeral services for James E. Bledsoe, sr., 49, and his son, James E. Bledsoe, jr., 24, both of 1801 Thirteenth, who were killed when their plane crashed and burned about 7:45 a. m. Saturday near Goodwell, Okla., are to be conducted at 3 p. m. Tuesday in First Baptist church here.

Dr. J. Ralph Grant, pastor, is to officiate. Sanders Funeral home is to direct burial, although it was not known this morning in which local cemetery interment is to be.

Both Bledsoe and his son were widely known ranchers and lifelong residents of the Lubbock area. They, with Jack Dennis of Fort Stockton, who also was killed in the plane crash, had been on a trip to Guymon, Okla., to talk over a sheep purchase and had spent the night there. They crashed shortly after taking off about 7:30 a. m. Saturday.

Eliminations Slated In Talent Contest

Preliminary eliminations are scheduled tonight for the Jaycee-sponsored "Youth Talent Contest," with more than 40 entrants expected to compete for places in the contest finals Wednesday night.

Because of an unexpectedly heavy entry list, tonight's preliminary eliminations were arranged in order to trim the field of finalists to about 24. These entrants will vie Wednesday night, starting at 8 o'clock, in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium, for the right to advance to the regional contest April 1 at Lamesa.

Lubbock's two top performers will be eligible to enter the Lamesa contest, whose winner later is to receive an audition for the nationally-broadcast Horace Heidt "Youth Opportunity Program."

In all, 46 entries were submitted for Lubbock's contest. This field will be cut approximately in half at tonight's eliminations, which begin at 7 p. m. in the studios of radio station KCBD.

Wednesday night's finals will be open to the public, with tickets priced at 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students.

Sydney Key is Jaycee contest committee chairman in charge of all arrangements for the program, for which Jim Black will be master of ceremonies.

Two Killed in Crash Of Air Force Plane

MANILA, March 14. (AP)—A small Air Force plane searching northern Luzon for a missing B-29 tanker crashed and exploded today. The L-5 liaison plane had two occupants.

It was the second Philippines based American plane to be lost in the search for the tanker plane which failed to return from a mission to refuel the globe circling B-50 Lucky Lady II. Nine men were aboard the missing tanker.

The pilot of the other plane parachuted to safety.

Hockley County Bond Issue Turned Down

LEVELLAND, March 14. (Special)—Hockley county voters Saturday turned down a proposed $325,000 bonds issue which would have provided funds for parks in four cities, but approved by a narrow margin a tax reallocation plan.

Complete unofficial vote tabulations released today by County Clerk H. E. Clingan showed the bonds issue was defeated, 545 to 444, while the tax reallocation measure passed by 492 to 490.

The reallocation plan provides for transfer of funds not needed in the county's jury fund to the general fund.

State Weather Hits Extremes

(By The Associated Press)

Texas had the extremes in weather today.

In the Panhandle it was below freezing. In the lower Rio Grande valley it was balmy.

Lubbock with 29 degrees was the coldest spot. Amarillo reported 30 degrees, Clarendon 31 and Childress 32.

Brownsville had a minimum low of 71.

Rain fell at numerous places. The fall was heaviest at Beaumont, 4.68 inches for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a. m. Rain continued in that section during the morning.

Other points receiving moisture included Houston, Brownsville, Lufkin, Waco, San Antonio, Galveston, Corpus Christi, Mineral Wells and Tyler.

Winds Due On Coast

Strong winds were in store for the coast. The weather bureau hoisted small craft warning from Brownsville to Pensacola. It advised that they prepare for a northwest blow of from 20 to 30 miles an hour.

Cloudy and cold was the general forecast for tonight and Tuesday. Temperatures of 22 to 32 degrees were predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains. In northwest and North Texas minimum readings of 26 to 32 degrees were forecast.

At San Antonio hailstones measuring up to a half inch in diameter fell at the municipal airport over a 20-minute period. The hail was accompanied by winds of 40 miles an hour with gusts up to 50 miles and a heavy downpour of rain measuring 1.17 inches.

Hail was also reported in the vicinity of Boerne.

Oil Barges Smash Unloaded Ferryboat

NEW ORLEANS, March 14 (AP)—Two oil barges ran wild in the swift current of the Mississippi river today and rammed a ferryboat just two minutes after the last of its passengers had debarked.

The ferry—the A. Baldwin—a landing ramp and the ferry slip were badly damaged and two men were injured.

Authorities said the loaded barges were being pushed by the tugboat Dauntless, out of Houston, Tex. They left Harvey, La., across the river from New Orleans, a few minutes before the accident.

Capt. P. W. Green of the Baldwin said the barge hit the ferry with "a crash that sounded like a cannon." A hole was knocked in the side of the ferry and one compartment was flooded.

The Baldwin had just discharged a full load of passengers and automobiles at the Louisiana Avenue landing in New Orleans.

The injured men were identified as Francis Schult, who was cut and bruised on his legs, and Frank Wiggington, who suffered possible internal injuries.

Ex-Policeman Pleads Innocent In Slaying

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—R. L. Jones, 52, one-time Dallas police chief, pleaded innocent here today to a charge of murder in the pistol slaying of his son-in-law.

Defense attorneys made it clear they would base the case on a plea of self-defense. Jones' son-in-law, George A. Vadere, 30, an ex-private detective, was shot to death in a Dallas jewelry store Jan. 7, 1948. Jones surrendered to police.

Irving Kassed, a clerk in the jewelry store, was the first witness.

In statements made to police after the shooting, Jones claimed that Vadere married his daughter without obtaining a divorce from a previous wife.

Members of the Dundee, South Africa, fire department, who collect fees from house owners whose homes they save, refused to collect after a recent fire, when they found the householder was a poor man.

Transfer Of Selective Service, Seven Other Agencies To Labor Department Recommended

By JAMES C. AUSTIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14—The Hoover commission urged today that Selective service and seven other agencies or functions be transferred to the "denuded" Department of Labor.

"The department has lost much of its significance," the commission told Congress. "It should be given more essential work to do if it is to maintain a significance comparable to the other great executive departments."

No Recommendation Made

But the commission made no recommendation as to whether such agencies as the federal mediation and conciliation service, the national mediation board, or the national labor relations board should be put within the Labor department. The administration's labor bill which would repeal the Taft-Hartley act would put the federal mediation service back in the Labor department, but makes no provision for the others.

The Hoover commission said that since Congress was considering the question, it would make no recommendation.

Emphasizing that labor "has been steadily denuded of functions at one time established within it," the commission recommended that these agencies be turned over to the department in a move to strengthen it:

The Selective service system, including the appeals board (independent).

Employe's compensation appeals board, bureau of employment security, and bureau of employe's compensation, all presently in the federal security agency.

Placement service and unemployment compensation, including the veterans employment service.

Determination of minimum wages for seamen (from the U. S. Maritime commission.)

Enforcement of labor standards in government contracts (from contracting departments and agencies.)

Division of industrial hygiene (certain components only, from the bureau of state services in the federal security agency.)

Most controversial of the proposals in this 13th of 18 contemplated reports by the commission on ways to streamline the executive branch of government was that affecting Selective service.

The draft agency is independent and reports directly to the President. Selective service was revived in 1948 to begin drafting single, non-veterans 19 through 25 years of age to swell the ranks of the peacetime Army.

The Army has suspended its draft calls however, because it is getting enough men through voluntary enlistments. Selective service maintains 3,022 local draft boards, 54 state and territorial boards, has 4,844 full-time paid employes, and 35,700 volunteer workers.

Members In Dissent

"This system," the Hoover commission said, "functions essentially for the purpose of mobilizing the manpower of the country for military service."

Since its personnel is civilian, the commission said that to place it under the secretary of defense would raise "the most serious objections."

"On the other hand," the report said, "the effect of conscription on the labor force must receive the continual examination which can be provided by the Labor department."

This majority recommendation brought vigorous dissents from three commissioners—Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who is vice chairman; Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, and Carter Manasco, former Democratic congressman from Alabama.

In plumping for establishment of the eight agencies or functions in the Labor department, the commission said:

"There are cogent reasons why these agencies should be transferred to the department. . . These functions are more nearly related to the problems of labor than those with which they are now associated, and their transfer accords with the commission's first report as to the need for grouping of agencies according to their major purpose."

Concluding, the commission pointed out:

"In general, it can be said that the Department of Labor has lost much of its significance and should have restored to it the many agencies we have here recommended. This would make for great efficiency in the government."

Scientist Einstein To Observe 70th Birthday Quietly At Home

PRINCETON, N. J., March 14. (AP)—Albert Einstein is 70 years old today. The world-famous scientist, as is his custom, insisted on a day of no interviews, no statements, no celebrations.

EINSTEIN

Members of his household said he would forego his usual three - quarter mile walk to the Institute of Advanced Study today and remain at home "to sit and think."

The gentle, bushy - haired Einstein has said before that birthday celebrations are only for children. Nonetheless the occasion brought tribute from leading scientists of many nations.

Yesterday at his modest frame home at 112 Mercer St. a delegation of children called on Einstein. They presented him with a bouquet of flowers.

Praised By Scientists

Einstein, wearing a tan sports shirt, blue sweater and a pair of slacks, chatted with the children. He let them take turns sitting on his lap and introduced them to his pet terrier, "Chico."

The brilliant physicist and mathmatician, who won international acclaim for his theories of relativity and gravitation, was praised in statements by:

Dr. Arthur Compton of St. Louis, Nobel prize winner and leading atomic energy authority; Prof. Jacques Hadamard of France, noted mathematician; and Prof Niels Bohr, outstanding physicist and Nobel prize winner.

Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, director of Princeton University's Institute for Advanced study, announced the establishment of a special $15,000 Einstein award.

Oppenheimer said the award had been set up by the Lewis and Rosa Strauss memorial fund. It would award the $15,000 prize every three years to a scientist "who has made an outstanding contribution to knowledge in the mathematical and physical sciphysical sciences."

Third Austin Affray Victim Claimed Today

AUSTIN, March 14. (AP)—Victims of a shooting-stabbing affray on the grounds of the Austin State hospital rose to three today with the death of Mrs. Emma Cottle McKenzie.

Mrs. McKenzie, 51, died yesterday at a local hospital.

She was fatally injured Friday by the same gunfire that killed Gladys Johnson, a negro patient. A few minutes after the shooting, Arthur McKenzie, 54-year-old carpenter and husband of Mrs. McKenzie, was found dead of stab wounds.

Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee returned a verdict of death from self-inflicted wounds in connection with McKenzie's death.

News Briefs

Dr. and Mrs. Tom M. Prideaux and daughter, Judith Lynn, of Temple, were to arrive in Lubbock over the weekend for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux of 3123 Nineteenth. Dr. Prideaux is a resident physician at Scott and White hospital in Temple.

In observance of the 30th birthday of the Allen Bros. American Legion post of Lubbock, a covered dish supper is to be given at 7:30 tonight in the Legion hall. Members and their wives are urged to attend. The Legion Auxiliary, which is assisting in arrangements for the party, has asked that each wife bring a covered dish.

Neal McCaskill of Caracas, Venezuela, son of Mrs. F. A. McCaskill of 1708 Sixteenth, and C. A. Renfro of the geology department at Texas Tech, are attending the annual convention of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists which opened Sunday in St. Louis, Mo. The convention will continue through Thursday. McCaskill has been visiting his mother and sister, Miss Freda McCaskill, here.

Mrs. J. J. Chambless of 1721 Twenty-seventh, has received word of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Walter Scott of Graham. Services were read at 3 p. m. Sunday in First Presbyterian church of Graham. Interment followed in a Graham cemetery. Mrs. Scott was a sister of the late Mr. Chambless.

Jack Tippit, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Tippit of 1705 Ave. T, a senior student at Syracuse university, Syracuse, N. Y., has been named to the Dean's list of the college of Fine Arts of the university. The honor was for work completed during the Fall, 1948, term, when he maintained an average of "B" or better. Tippit is enrolled in the school of art and is majoring in advertising design.

The Wilson Baptist church will formally open its new church building for worship next Sunday. An all-day meeting will be conducted with a basket lunch to be served at noon. Former pastors of the church will speak in the afternoon. Members of the church have extended a special invitation to former members to attend the services.

Myriam Kelso, sophomore student at McMurry college, Abilene, was one of the contributors to a Lenten devotional booklet, "In These Days," which was recently published by the college Christian Foundation. Miss Kelso's subject was "The Power of Character."

Only routine business is on the agenda of a recessed meeting of the city commission at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, City Manager Steve Matthews said today. Bids on two pumpers for the fire department, opened at the semi-monthly meeting last Thursday, will be considered.

Wildcat Southwest Of Brownfield To Explore Into Ellenburger Scheduled For Near Future

Hiawatha Oil & Gas company will start operations in the near future on a wildcat to explore into the Ellenburger in southwest Terry county, approximately 15 miles southwest of Brownfield.

The prospector will be Hiawatha No. 1 J. W. Robbins, et al.The drillsite is to be in the southeast quarter of section 56, block D-14, C&MRR survey.

It is expected that the venture will have to dig to at least 11,000 feet, and possibly, may have to go to 12,000 feet to find and test the Ellenburger.

Hiawatha has a block of more than 6,000 acres of leases surrounding the location. This acreage, was originally blocked by Seaboard Oil company of Delaware. It was checked by seismograph, and that survey showed possibilities of a deep structure on the block.

Seabord turned the acreage to Hiawatha fo drill and retained an over-ride on it.

Drilling with rotary is to start at the deep wildcat in the near future. Exact location will be announced in a few days.

Oil, Gas Lease Taken

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware and Republic Natural Gas company have taken an oil and gas lease on the George Beggs of Fort Worth ranch of approximately 38,000 acres in East Garza county and in west Kent county

Consideration for the lease is reported to be the payment of $1.00 per acre to the landowner each year for ten years. No initial bonus payment is called for by the transaction, and no annual rental is called for.

The contract does not include any drilling obligation.

It is understood that the two companies are equal partners in the deal.

Swabbing Underway

The Texas company was swabbing the west-central Andrews county Devonian with its No. 1-W State, wildcat one and one-half miles north o fthe West Parker-Devonian field.

Bottomed on 8,450 feet, the venture perforated tlte section of pipe at 8,310-58 feet. Those perforations were washed with 500 gallons of mud acid. Operator was swabbing water and acid residue on last report.

This prospect is 665 feet from east and 662.8 feet from south lines of the north half of section 35, block 12, University survey.

Possibilities Abandoned

Possibilities of a Devonian discovery in the shallow Wasson field of southwest Yoakum county have been abandoned by Fikes & Murchison as they plugged back their No. 17-C Elliott to investigate the San Andres-Permian, regular pay in the field.

Total depth is 11,205 feet in granite. The venture has been making extended tests of the Devonian on 9,776 feet. Operator has now reduced hole to 5,240 feet with 41 sacks of cement. The test was waiting for the cement job to cure before undertaking further testing.

Location is 1,312 feet from south and 1,070 feet from east lines of section 832, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Commercial Completed

A commercial oil well has been completed in the Lee Harrison field, formerly called the Lubbock field, of central Lubbock county.

It is Tobe Foster, et al, No. 2-B Nairn, 30 feet from west and south lines of the lease in section 25, block A, Gibson survey.

On a 24-hour potential test, the well pumped 24 hours to make 117.05 barels of oil, with gas-oil ratio of 400-1. Gravity of the petroleum was 25 degrees. The total fluid recovered was cut three per cent water.

The pay section at 4,872-5,021 feet was previously treated with 14,000 gallons of acid.

Production Tests Started

Production tests have started in the Wolfcamp-Permian of north-central Andrews county at M. J Delaney No. 1-A University, northwest extension to the Shafter Lake field.

After indicating production on drillstem test, the project began to swab the Wolfcamp open hole zone at 8,623-8,650 feet. Last gauge reported showed it swabbing six barrels of fluid per hour. Shakeout was 50 per cent water

Location is 1,984.7 feet from north and west lines of section 12 block 13, University survey.

Second Test Run

A second drillstem test of the Wolfcamp-Permian was run at M. J. Delaney No. 1-B University, possible northwest extension to the Shafter Lake-Wolfcamp pool of north-central Andrews county

The tool was open fo ran unreported period of time at 8,605-22 feet. Recovery was 120 feet of oil and gas emulsion plus two feet of salt water.

A previous test in the Wolfcamp at 8,568-8,607 feet had gas in 13 minutes and recovered 2,350 feet of clean oil and 400 feet of oil cut, watery mud.

This prospector, 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 1, block 13, University survey, was making more hole. It is expected to test again shortly.

Swabbing To Test

Lone Star Producing Company No. 1 Maule, one location north of a producer from the lower Canyon on the northwest side of the North Snyder field, in North-Central Scurry County, is swabbing to test on perforated section at 5,572-5,610 feet.

The horizon at 5,620-34 feet had swabbed a salt water with a rainbow of oil, and it has been squeezed off with cement. This development drilled to a total depth of 7,190 feet in Pennsylvanian lime.

There were some slight shows of oil in the bottom section, but they were not sufficient for commercial production. None of the intervals between the total depth and the present level of operations have yielded any possibilities of production.

Dean Of Women At WTSTC Resigns Job

CANYON, March 14. (Special)—Miss Eleanor C. Boyd, dean of women at West Texas State Teachers college since 1947, has resigned her position effective Aug. 31, announced Dr. James P. Cornette, president. She will be succeeded by Miss Ruth Cross, present head of the department of Women's Physical Education.

Miss Cross came to West Texas State in 1927 and has served as associate professor of physical education and head of the women's department. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree in Biology and Physical Education from the University of Wichita in Wichita, Kans. She took her M. A. degree from Columbia university, New York. Miss Cross also took special courses in administration and personnel problems in recreation from the University of Washington (Seattle) and the University of Michigan (Ann Arbor).

Texan Among Group Honored By College

BOSTON, March 14. (AP)—Five women and three men were awarded honorary degrees today at Boston university's 18th annual founders' day exercises.

The observance honored the centennial of the birth of the late Dr. Dudley Allen Sargent, who founded the university's Sargent college 70 years ago. The college is the oldest physical education training school for women in the country.

Among those awarded honorary degrees by President L. Marsh were:

Anna Hiss of Austin, Texas, director of physical training for women and intramural activities at the University of Texas, doctor of science in physical traininf.

Miss Hiss is a graduate of Sargent college.

Crime Fighter Tells Of Offer

NEW YORK, March 14 (U.P.) — Clendenin Ryan, multimillianaire civic reformer, charged today that he had been offered the post of ambassador to France to call off his campaign against what he calls the gangster-dominated regime of Mayor William F. O'Dwyer.

The burly foe of Tammany hall said the offer had been relayed to him by a prominent public relations expert who said he had been instructed to make it by "an important ambassador." Ryan said he had demanded that the offer be "put in writing."

Underworld Chief Accused

Tilting his homburg to a jaunty angle, Ryan left his big town house on East 70th street for city hall to pose another question to the mayor about underworld chief Frank Costello. Ryan charges that Costello is the real power behind the city's Democratic machine.

After he gets through at city hall Ryan said he would be pleased to appear before the grand jury investigating an alleged plot to tap the wires of city officials here and in Detroit and Chicago. Mayor O'Dwyer announced discovery of the plot early Saturday morning and said a "prominent New Yorker" had financed it for $100,000.

Ryan accepted a subpoena last night.

Meanwhile, police of 13 states searched for former city detective Kenneth Ryan, 45, no relation to the millionaire, who escaped from a city hall washroom window Saturday morning after confessing his part in the wire-tapping plot.

Ryan told O'Dwyer that "a prominent New Yorker" had given the private detective agency for which he worked $100,000 to tap the telephones of some 75 city officials in New York, Chicago and Detroit.

Hubber, Greenville And Corpus Christi Managers Open Baseball Tryout Camp

GREENVILLE, March 14. (Special)—Manager Jackie Sullivan of the Lubbock Hubbers yesterday joined forces with two other managers to open a baseball tryout camp here.

Red Davis of the Greenville Majors and Bill Gann of Corpus Christi, along with Sullivan, are in charge of a camp that will last here until Saturday. During that time they will look over 37 players and tabulate them as to promise in the diamond sport.

To Receive Chance

From the list of Hubbers already under contract will come Bill DePetris, an infielder, and Tommy Taylor, jr., and Nick Pappas, pitchers. They will be given a chance to indicate their ability.

Working with them will be Sol Gliato and Mike Dooley, the latter the only catcher under Hubber contract at the present time. Gliato will handle the pitchers and Dooley will work with the catchers.

Regular Camp Slated

The regular spring training camp for Greenville, of the Class B Big State League, Lubbock of the West Texas-New Mexico League and Corpus Christi of the Class D Rio Grande Valley League, will open March 20. The three clubs will train together for the first week, then split into their own groups for the remainder of the spring session.

The Hubbers, who will play several exhibition games, will break camp for home April 10.

Legal Fireworks In Baseball Suits Open

NEW YORK, March 14 (AP) — Legal fireworks start popping today in moves to break down organized baseball's reserve clause.

Frederic A. Johnson, attorney for Danny Gardella, said he would seek a federal court writ today restoring the former Giants' outfielder to active play until his $300,000 suit against the game is settled.

Tomorrow two other major league players suspended for jumping to the Mexican league—Max Lanier and Fred Martin, both former St. Louis Cardinal pitchers—will seek reinstatement pending settlement of their damage suits amounting to $2,500,000.

Middlecoff, Ferrier Win Miami Golf Play

MIAMI, Fla., March 14 (AP) — Cary Middlecoff and Jim Farrier shattered virtually every record established in the 24-year history of the event yesterday when they defeated Skip Alexander and Pete Cooper 9 and 8 in the finals of Miami's $10,000 International four ball golf tournament.

Dr. Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., and Farrier, veteran San Francisco professional, shot 16 under par for the 28 holes it took to beat Alexander, Southern Pines, N. C., and Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla.

PITCHER DEAL HINTED

Triner Takes Illinois Post

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Joseph Triner, aggressive 54-year-old Chicago businessman, takes over again tomorrow as chairman of the newly appointed Illinois State Athletic commission.

Triner knows the inside, and the ups and downs of professional boxing and wrestling. As a youngster he fought and wrestled professionally and was chairman of the commission from 1933 to 1941.

In Both Wars

He served in both world wars, is a former president of the National Boxing association, and of the United States Soccer Football association. He is chairman of the Illinois Soccer commission and a members of the United States Olympic committee.

Triner says boxing is at its lowest depths and that it will require hard work to re-establish it.

"Present day boxers are not like the old timers," Triner observed.

"The fighters of other days fought because they were hungry. . . . They trained. . . They were always in condition. . . And their parents offered no objection to the sport because it meant a living."

To Engage Trainer

He proposes to engage an experienced trainer to serve as his gymnasium inspector. This post he regards as important, since the inspector must watch and report on all training activities and be a qualified judge of condition.

Triner's associates on the commission will be Ralph Metcalfe, 37, famous former negro sprinter, and Louis R. Radzienda, co-director of athletics for the Chicago Catholic youth organization.

Browns, Cubs Shoot For Winning Column

LOS ANGELES, March 14. (U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Browns, each smarting under two straight defeats, today attempted to crash the win column at the expense of each other.

Chicago suffered its second successive beating at the hands of Pittsburgh, 3 to 1, yesterday, gathering only three hits off Elmer Riddle, Vic Lombardi and Kirby Higbe. The Browns lost their second straight to the White Sox, 8 to 5. Eight walks by St. Louis pitchers Bob Malloy and Bob Raney helped the White Sox to victory.

Ball Control Wins Tourney For Pipers

KANSAS CITY, March 14 (AP)—Hamline's Pied Pipers won their second national intercollegiate (NAIB) basketball championship mainly because they played a near-perfect game of controlling the ball.

The Pipers, led by Hal Haskins and Vern Mikkelsen, bowled over Regis college of Denver, 57-46, Saturday night for their fifth victory in six days and the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball's tournament crown.

In the preliminary consolation game, Beloit (Wis) college defeated Indiana state of Terre Haute, 67-59.

AAU Girls Cage Play Underway At Dallas

DALLAS, March 14. (AP)—Twenty-four high school teams opened play today in the Southwestern AAU girls basketball tournament here.

Frisco high school is the defending champion.

In games yesterday the Nicholson-Jones team of Dallas beat Dan Heath independents of Fort Worth, 49 to 1; Clifton Wilhote's Bell Cleaning Queens of Dallas dumped Consolidated Aircraft of Dallas, 59 to 26; the Dallas Dannies held the Fort Worth Jackets to four free throws for a 33 to 4 victory; and Dallas Hornets won 39 to 17 over a Decatus sextet.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 14.—Just a couple of hours before he officially became head football coach at Penn state, Joe Bedenk, in the role of baseball tutor, was politely needling football coaches. . . . Joe pointed out that the last confab with the professional baseball moguls again had produced complaints that college ball players had to go out for spring football instead of playing ball. . . . "I think there's less of that than there used to be," said Joe. "We have just about done away with it here, but you know how football coaches are. . . . Why, Hig (he glanced across at his pal Bob Higgins) didn't like it when Chuck Drazenovich went out for boxing." . . . Another Bedenk angle is that it's unfair to boys who are majoring in physical education not to let them go out for all sports. . . "It gets so a football man is only a football man and then high school principals start hiring men from the smaller teachers colleges, where they can compete in everything, as their physical education teachers. . . And most of our boys are physical education majors." . . . It sounds sensible, but we wonder how Bedenk is going to work it now that he has spring football and baseball practice running at the same time—and he's head coach of both. You know how football coaches are.

Notable Friendliness

The confab which Bedenk mentioned took place in New York's Stork club, scene of occasional impromptu fisticuffing, but it was notable for its friendliness. . . . "I thing Tug Wilson impressed them, and the figures we presented meant a lot," Bedenk explained. . . . The figures showed that 205 colleges which answered a questionnaire sent out by the baseball coaches association have some 10,000 boys competing in baseball and pay 365 coaches. . . Just how much they spend to teach those kids the game is uncertain—And they stress the fact that they really have to teach in college baseball. . . . But Penn state's 1949 budget, probably a typic ' one, calls for $11,700 for baseball.

Seeking Twin Bills

Southern California and UCLA, hooking up for basketball doubleheaders in Los Angeles, are trying to lure Illinois and Michigan to the West coast for round-robin twin bills. . . Statisticians for the Augusta masters' golf tournament found only three players who have played in all 12 tourneys. And for the 48 rounds, Ed Dudley was 64 strokes over par and Jug McSpaden and Horton Smith both 94 over. . . Al Tefft, who is expected to do some good pitching for the Newark Bears in the Yankee chain this year, started out as a third baseman in the Cardinals' organization. The Yanks picked him up when he was released by Tallahassee, Ala., last year and Al Eon 22 straight games pitching for their Blackstone, Va., farm. . . Ralph Branca's two brothers, Paul and Al, have gone south for tryouts at the Pittsburgh Pirates farm "school." . . . They're both pitchers—maybe like Ralph—but can they croon?

Ken Loeffler, coach of the Providence Streamrollers of the Basketball Association of America, scouts for the New York Yankees during the baseball season.

Texas Girls Cage Champs Will Battle Iowa Title Winners

SEAGOVILLE, March 14 (AP)—Thirteen Seagoville high school students aim to meet a better fate at Waterloo than their history books record for Napoleon.

They won the Texas girls' high school basketball title Saturday night in Hillsboro and April 2 they've a date in Waterloo—Iowa.

To Play Wellsburg

The Seagoville Dragonettes take on Wellsburg, the Iowa state champion, in a two-game series. The first tilt is at Des Moines, April 1. The second is April 2, at Waterloo. Thirteen players will make the trip.

A field goal by Patsy Anderson in a "sudden death" overtime period gave Seagoville a 26-24 victory over East Chambers and the championship.

"The girls were mighty happy," said Coach Jimmy Phillips.

Seagoville's victory was one of the closest in the ten-year history of the girls' state tournament.

More On All-State

Even though they lost the title by two points, East Chambers placed more girls than any other on the all-state team. Ozell Collins was selected as a forward and Wanda Gene McAdams as a guard.

Seagoville's Patsy Pharr was named one of the guards.

The other forwards were Bertha Jones of Roosevelt and Joyce Davis of Dalhart.

Lillian Upchurch of Forreston was the third guard.

Yankees Slated To Play Boston Red Sox

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 14 (U.P.)—The New York Yankees, nursing a two-game winning streak, were scheduled to tangle with the Boston Red Sox today, who were seeking their second straight triumph.

Johnny Lindell's two-run homer was the major blow yesterday as the Yankees tripped the St. Louis Cardinals, 3 to 1, behind the four-hit pitching of Don Johnson and Tommy Byrne.

Ted Williams, with a home run, and Rookie Walt Dropo, with three singles, led the Red Sox to a 7 to 2 victory over Cincinnati yesterday. The Reds averted a whitewashing when Catcher Ray Mueller hit a home run off Rookie John (Windy) McCall in the fifth inning.

Extra Practice Due For Detroit Tigers

LAKELAND, Fla., March 14 (U.P.)—Extra batting practice was the order of the day for the Detroit Tigers.

The Bengals managed a meager three hits yesterday as they dropped their second successive exhibition game to the Philadelphia Phillies, 3 to 0. Hank Borowy, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons held the Tigers at bay. Detroit's Virgil Trucks and Hal White held the Phils hitless for the first six innings but the winners touched Rookie Marlin Stuart for five hits and all their runs.

Repetition Of Gripping Aggie, Longhorn Track Duel Expected

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAREDO, March 14. (AP)—Southwestern track fans can expect a repetition of last year's gripping Texas-Texas A. & M. duel.

These two teams are going to be as close as could possibly be with either likely to win the conference championship.

Saturday night they started off the year by putting on a thrilling and bitter battle for the title of the Border Olympics. Texas won out by three points—58 to 55.

Next week-end they move into Fort Worth to continue the scrap in the Southwestern exposition track and field carnival.

Superiority Turns Tide

Texas' superiority in the field events turned the tide here in the Border Olympics. The Longhorns have it over the Aggies in four of the five field events. Texas also boasts a two-to-one margin in the dash field, being out front in the 100 and 200 while the Aggies are off to themselves in the 440. The Aggies are far in front in the mile relay and should give Texas competition aplenty in the sprint relay.

In the distance events A. & M. appears destined to mop up with its brilliant J. D. Hampton, who set records in both the mile and two-mile in the border Olympics.

Hampton has improved miraculously over last year. His 4:18.7 in the mile run was the best in track history in Texas for so early in the season. His 9:36.0 in the two-mile was excellent also.

Robertson Main Spring

John Robertson is the mainspring of the Texas track team. He is one of the world's top broad-jumpers and he's very, very good in the sprints. He appears the chief competitor for Texas' Charley Parker in those events.

John Rowland of Southern Methodist has blossomed into a truly great hurdler. His 14.3 in the highs was even more impressive than his Border Olympic record-smashing 220-yard lows of 23.6.

That high hurdles mark tied the record of the greatest hurdler of all time—Freddie Wolcott, who in the early forties set world's records almost every time he tried. Wolcott's 14.3 has been the Border Olympics record for 10 years.

To Be Top Quarter-Miler

Ray Holbrook of A. & M. did the 440-yard dash in 48 seconds flat, indicating that the sturdy Aggie is going to be the nation's top quarter-miler of 1949.

North Texas took the college division title in the Border Olympics and Corpus Christi the high school crown but the former got strong competition from Howard Payne and Corpus Christi found Kerrville a worthy foe.

Big City All-Tourney Cage Team Selected

HOUSTON, March 14 (AP)—Champion Paschal of Fort Worth placed three men on the big city conference all-tournament basketball team.

Players from Milby and San Jacinto of Houston also were named by sports writers and broadcasters reporting the schoolboy tournament here Friday and Saturday.

The all-tournament team:

Forwards—Cecil Morgan, Paschal, and Richard Wheeler, Milby.

Center—Bob McDonald, Paschal.

Guards—George Scaling, Paschal, and Oree (Buzzy) Bryan, San Jacinto.

All five figured among the tournament's individual high scorers.

Bryan was the top scorer with 46 points for the three games, including 24 points made while leading San Jacinto to a 51 to 37 victory over Brackenridge of San Antonio for the third place team trophy.

Wheeler was second with 40 points, while McDonald had 33 to tie for fourth, 16 of his points coming in the championship tilt in which Paschal defeated Milby, 41 to 40.

YANKS MEET BRAVES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The St. Louis Cardinals, luckless in two starts against the New York Yankees, journey to Bradenton, Fla., today in an effort to crash the Grapefruit circuit victory column. They meet the Boston Braves. Howie Pollet, Cloyd Boyer and Clarence Beers are expected to see mound duty.

Kentucky Plays Loyola Today In National Invitation Meet

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 14—Today is "D" day for Kentucky.

The mighty Wildcats from the blue grass counrty begin their quest for the national invitation basketball title this afternoon against Loyola of Chicago. If their ambitious plan of attack succeeds, they'll be kings of both the NIT and the NCAA within 12 days.

Winners of 29 of 30 games during the regular season, the Wildcats are an even money favorite to win the invitation. Never before has the affair had such a short-priced choice.

Work Indicated

There is every indication, however, that Kentucky will have to work for its honors.

Take today's game. Loyola, paced by six and a half feet of Jack Kerris, has won 23 of 28 games, including an under-wraps 62-47 decision over City College of New York in the first round of the tournament Saturday night.

Two of Loyola's victories were over Bowling Green. And Kentucky voted Bowling Green, which it beat by two points, the best team it played all year.

Matinee Card Windup

The Kentucky-Loyola battle is scheduled for 5:15 p. m. (EST). It's the windup of the matinee card which presents another Kentucky outfit—the powerful Western Hilltoppers—against Bradley university in the first game at 3:30.

The night program matches Utah and San Francisco at 8 p. m. and Bowling Green against defending champion St. Louis at about 9:45.

The tournament had a one-day run Saturday as a 12-team affair to take care of four New York entries. They were well taken care of. St. John's of Brooklyn, lost by 13 points to Bowling Green, 77-64. City's 15-point defeat by Loyola was followed by Bradley's 89-67 whipping of New York university and San Francisco's 68-43 trouncing of Manhattan.

Ten Win Berths On TAF All-State Team

SAN ANGELO, March 14 (AP)—Ten men won berths on the Texas Athletic federation all-state basketball team.

Vandergriff Motors of Dallas placed three men on the squad.

The 10-man all-state team:

Homer Fuller, Ted Nicksick, and J. D. Lane of Vandergriff; Dan Davenport of San Antonio Alamo Jewelers; Garland Head of Spearman; Bayne Cook and Jesse Richardson of Tyler Bruce Motors; Phillip Brady of Goodfellow air base; Herman Hoplins of Ellis parts and Norman Cox of Ellis parts and Imperial.

Vandergriff won the final game of the state tournament here Saturday night by defeating Ellis parts of San Antonio, 54-51.

Between The Lines. . .

By Joe Kelly

Bobby Layne was at the Exchange club luncheon the other day when the members honored the Westerner basketball squad. He also was the butt of a joke that didn't bring much of a smile to his face. Afterwards, we asked him if it had offended and he laughed, saying that it had been worked to death on him. You may remember that after the Lubbock-Highland Park game, Referee Abb Curtis slugged a boy from Highland Park.

The other day Dr. Jim Reynolds chided Bobby, telling the club members that after extensive investigation, he was able to announce that they had found out whom Curtis had slugged. It had been Bobby, of course, a former Highland Park star. There was general laughter, in which Bobby didn't join heartily. He told us why at Tech practice that afternoon. Seems several of his friends in Austin had gotten the same bright idea and had written him. Some other people locally had called him and one enterprising admirer had tried to wire him. It does get old after a while.

Sid Reeves and Lockney High school did themselves proud with that fine dinner in honor of the All-District football teams from District 3-A Friday night. The food was good, the entertainment was fine and, thank Heaven, the night's affair wasn't messed up by a lot of long, windy talking. It gave the college coaches a chance to see the prospective college player and to talk with them. It also worked the other way around. But more than anything else, it paid tribute to an outstanding group of high school footbal players. A lot of boys play football Not all of them can reach stardam, but all have a place. And the few who do reach the heights usually do it by hard work, along with natural ability.

Players at the dinner Friday night were all cleancut American boys who earned selection on their ability. Any time the coaches pick the all-stars, they are doing it from their knowledge of the game and from their observation of the way the boys play. Sometimes you have unanimous selection of players, but that happens only when one or more have such outstanding ability that they overshadow everyone else. These football players Friday night were those in District 3-A who had earned their place at the peak of high school success. It was a grand group to be with and we hope to be able to follow their college careers.

We have a special affinity for this group, not only because we had the privilege of reporting their doings last fall, but also because they presented us with a handsome cigarette lighter, That token means much to us and it came as such a great surprise that we were slightly dumbfounded and unable to utter adequate words of appreciation. There isn't much more we can say about it, fellas, except that we'll always treasure it and the thought that lies behind the gift. To each and every one of you, thinks.

We talked with some of the Texas Tech basketball players Saturday afternoon, trying to find out what happened in Kansas City. One of them explained it succintly. He said that Hamline outclassed them as much as they had outclassed Abilene Christian. Tech, as you all know, was down 47-22 at the half. They came back to carry the fight to Hamline in the final stanza, outscoring them 34 points to 33. But the damage had been done. Nothing, in the first canto, worked. The Raiders couldn't get the ball in to work crip short and few of the long shots worked. Practically none of the floor plays worked and they were cold.

In the second half, Tech decided to fool around. They were so far behind that it would have been a superhuman feat to win. So they started to mess around with some stuff that they had seen and to throw sound tactics to the wind. So what happened? They suddenly began to score, their impromptu and planned plays began to work and they began to roll—too late. They don't think, though, that they would have won. They have plenty of respect for Hamline, especially their kingpin, Hal Haskins. Vern Mikkelsen is good, they agree, but they thought Haskins was much better. As for the Pied Pipers, they thought they'd give Oklahoma A. and M. a good battle, but wouldn't win.

Phillies' Shortstop Doing Good Batting

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Granville Hamner, who is rapidly taking charge of shortstop matters for the Philadelphia Phillies, looks like a man to be feared at the plate.

In two exhibition games against the Detroit Tigers, Hamner has pounded out five hits in nine times at bat. Yesterday, Granny had two singles as the Phils turned back the Tigers, 3-0.

In 1916, Leo Schlick, playing football for St. Viator against Lane, rolled up 100 points, scoring 12 touchdowns and 28 points after touchdown.

Pre-Season Favored Dodger Nine Trains With Optimistic Air

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 14 (U.P.)—Here in unique Dodgertown, where the pre-season favorites for the National league pennant are training, Manager Burt Shotton had an air of optimism today which left no doubt but what he feels they are going to live up to their billing.

That feeling runs from Shotton right on down the line.

"Of course, I'm optimistic," Shotton said. "I'm always that way. It doesn't cost a bit more, I found that out 50 years ago. I never saw anyone ever win who didn't think they could win."

Has Big Problems

Shotton has three big problems, but "none of them are beyond solution."

"For instance, I have five good looking third basemen that most other clubs would be happy to have. My job is to pick out the best one. The same goes for the outfield where I have nine men fighting for the jobs. I'm going to have to look at them a lot longer before I will be able to make up my mind."

His other problem is to find the power hitter which the Dodgers lacked last season, but he hopes that either Duke Snider or Gil Hodges will fill that spot. Both have the power, but have been spotty hitters.

Might Win Job

The Brooklyn pilot, beginning his 40th year in baseball, said Billy Cox, a disappointment last year, has "looked great so far and might win the third base job."

"But it's too early to tell," he added. "There are 268 players in this camp and all of them have a chance to make the club.

"That's why I'm so happy to be here. Who wouldn't be happy to manage the Dodgers?"

West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf Group Meets Here Tomorrow

Professional and amateur golfers of West Texas will gather at the Lubbock Country club tomorrow morning at 10 for the spring meeting of the West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association.

Herbert Schroeder, Lubbock Country club pro, said that at least 14 professionals were expected here for the meeting, along with an imposing list of amateurs from Lubbock and West Texas.

The morning will be devoted to a business meeting, at which the golf association will discuss and set dates for summer tournaments by the association. Other business matters also will be transacted.

Luncheon Scheduled

Luncheon will be served at the club, after which the players will take to the links for 18 holes of competitive play.

Pros expected here for the meeting and golf include Shorty Hornbuckle, Odessa; Shanty Hogan, Lamesa; Warren Cantrell and Charles Akey, Midland; Ray Garrett, Wichita Falls; Gene Mitchell, Plainview; Joe Houck and Lavern Farguar, Borger; Red Bost, San Angelo; Sherley Robbins, Big Spring; John Austin, Pampa; E. B. Lovvorn, Sweetwater; Chuck Klein, Amarillo; and Morgan Hampton, Abilene.

Giants, Indians To Play Third In Series

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 14 (U.P.)—The Champion Cleveland Indians and the New York Giants, each boasting a victory over one another, moved to Tucson today for their third tilt in a series of spring exhibitions.

The Giants evened the series yesterday when they staged a four-run third inning rally against Bob Feller to beat the Indians, 7 to 4, before 9,025 fans, a record baseball tournout for Arizona. Dale Mitchell hit the game's only home run off Sheldon Jones, who yielded five hits and two runs in three innings.

Big Guns To Start In AAU Cage Meet

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 14 (A.P.)—A.A.U. basketball's big guns start their heavy firing today in the 42nd annual tournament after Sunday opening battles which sliced 10 teams from the original field of 44.

Six of eight seeded teams, including the defending champion Phillips Oilers of Bartlesville, Okla., and the Oakland Bittners, determined tourney threats, are scheduled for action.

The Oilers, seven-timer winner of the big event and champs for the last six years, go against the Amarillo, Tex., plows in the first game of a night session. The Bittners will meet the Lackland War Hawks from San Antonio immediately afterward.

Other seeded outfits slated for their first tourney action are the Seattle, Wash., Alpines, Denver Chevrolets, Los Angeles Police and Peoria Caterpillars.

The Alpines face the Greenville, Tex., Jaycees, Denver tackles Nebraska Wesleyan college, the Police five meets the Sioux City, Ia., Jamcos, and the Caterpillars take on the Warrenburg, Mo., Riggies.

Due to byes in the preliminary round, all but two of today's games are second round affairs.

Yesterday's elimination process saw no highly-regarded tournament contenders in action.

Defeated Athletics At Routine Chores

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Mar. 14. (U.P.)—The Philadelphia Athletics returned to routine training chores today following their 6 to 2 setback at the hands of the Washington Senators yesterday.

Pitcher Jim Wilson, who followed Dick Fowler and Alex Kellner to the mound for the A's yesterday, was the chief victim of the Nats' attack, being touched for six of Washington's 10 hits in the seventh and eighth innings.

The Senators who returned to their Orlando base after the contest, play host there to the Philadelphia Phillies today.

Selection Of Jury Starts

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 14 (U.P.)—Attorneys today began the tedious job of selecting a jury—qualified for the death penalty—to try Roy Frank Godbey for the murder of attorney Earl Pruet.

Before a standing-room-only crowd, the 52-year-old greying former convict went on trial for his life before District Judge Clarence Mills, two months after Pruet was shot in the back in his law office here.

Defense attorneys said today they will ask no special sanity hearing, although they made it clear their chief defense will be that Godbey was demented by a 17-year grudge against Pruet.

"Frame-Up" Is Charged

Godbey has maintained since his capture in El Paso, Tex., a few days after Pruet's death, that he was tormented throughout his imprisonment at McAlester penitentiary. He was sent to McAlester in 1932 after being prosecuted by Pruet in Jefferson county, Okla., on armed robbery charges. He accused Pruet of engineering his conviction on forged fingerprints.

Godbey, who was released from McAlester last Nov. 12, today was a picture of dejection. He sat in the crowded courtroom, leaning on one elbow, eyes on the floor. He was dressed in the county jail's blue overalls and had a patch of cotton in his right ear.

It was his chronic ear trouble which gave officers one of their first major clues to his identity.

Psychiatrists To Testify

W. N. Munger, chief defense attorney, said psychiatrists would be asked to testify concerning Godbey's mental condition. Also, Mounger said, records showing that the ex-convict was twice committed to state central hospital at Norman as a madman will be submitted.

A key witness will be Federal Judge Eugene Rice, of Muskogee, Okla., who was a district judge in Cotton county when Pruet was convicted in 1932. Rice was placed under armed guard shortly after Pruet's murder when authorities recalled that Godbey had once threatened to kill everyone connected with his armed robbery conviction.

Records at the state pardon and parole office show that Rice became convinced that Godbey deserved clemency several years after the trial. Rice once wrote the convict that he would only get into deeper trouble, however, if he left McAlester with a grudge against those who put him there.

recovered in Brownfield.

Tires Are Recovered

Clyde Wayne Diebel, 19, of 3005 Thirty-second, had been charged with burglary late Saturday in connection with the removal of property from an irrigation well house of A. R. Ryals of seven miles west of Slide. Four tires belonging to C. C. Knott of Lubbock route 5 also had been recovered after Diebel had given officials a statement, it was announced.

All Sunday charges were filed by E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, in the court of C. E. Lynn, justiceof peace.

Bonds of $1,500 had been set for Morgan, McCreary and Davis—$1 for Diebel.

The charges naming Morgan, Dwain, Davis and Jackson resulted from some of the suspects' having gone to Abernathy in search of liquor one of them admitted he had left with a negro to sell for him.

In connection with the search one of the suspected pulled a pistol.

Car Stolen, Wrecked

A 1949 Ford coupe owned by H. A. Padgett of 2808 Twenty-fifth was stolen, then wrecked when the police engaged it in a chase that reached speeds of 80 miles an hour, it was announced.

Two men leaped from the car about 4:56 a. m. Sunday at Twenty-third and Ave. Q and evaded Sgt. L. D. Bakney in the darkness.

Blakney said he first observed the car being driven at a high rate of speed, which immediately was increased when he pursued it over a railroad embankment near Thirtieth and Ave. M, across a school ground and over curbs of the south and southwestern section of town.

Levelland officials reported theft there of a dark green 1939 Plymouth sedan, Oklahoma license 35-4738.

Fine Is Assessed

Fred Shockley, jr., 23, was fined $100 on a negligent collision ticket after his car, allegedly being driven on the wrong side of the street, struck one car and drove it into another.

W. H. Shilling of Wilson route 1 informed the sheriff's department that a battery had been stolen from him, and that two neighbors, Tom Moore and Bill Close, also had reported similar thefts.

Fender skirts valued at $18 were reported stolen from the car of Dick Anderson of Men's dormitory 3 at Texas Tech.

Poice patrolmen found a broken window pane at 1715 Nineteenth and blood on the ground and trailing to where a car had been parked nearby. There was evidence of an attempted burglary, officials said.

Wayne Ashley informed police that an $80 radio had been removed from the quarters of Carl Hite of 2324 Ave. H.

E. E. Taylor of Waco said a tire and wheel valued at $24.85 had been stolen from him here.

Daily Markets

Stock Market

STOCKS WAVER NARROWLY

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Stocks were mixed today in a market that moved within a range of fractions to around 2 points in either direction.

Most of the issues stayed within a short distance of their previous close, however, and wavered narrowly.

The volume of trading was fair to the rate of 800,000 shares for the entire day. On Friday the volume was 1,070,000.

Oils stood above the rest of the market with gains that went over 2 points at times before falling back under profit taking.

Skelly Oil was the leader in that group under the influence of new 1948 highs in profits and operating results. Skelly earned $36.01 in 1948 against $21.49 the year before.

Rails moved up slightly from mid-day lows but remained narrowly mixed. Steels, motors, metals and chemicals were irregularly mixed.

Steels appear uninfluenced by another new high operating rate this week estimated by the American Iron and Steel institute to produce 1,880,600 tons of ingots and castings.

The institute sadi member companies gave no indication yet of being hampered by the two-week coal shutdown, although a Bethlehem Steel spokesman said future production might be affected.

Trending higher were Standard Oil (NJ), Skelly Oil, Standard Oil of California, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, and Du Pont.

On the downside were Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Mission Corp., Electric Power & Light, American Can, Owens Illinois, Douglas, Boeing, Goodrich, Anaconda Copper, General Electric, International Paper, Southern Railway and Nickel Plate.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 14. (AP)—Cotton futures moved lower today under pressure of commission house and New Orleans selling. The market was influenced by the slow demand for the cotton goods and lack of new export business. There was a good deal of evening up in nearby March and switching into later months, anticipating the expiration of trading in the March contracts Thursday this week.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale lower to 40 cents higher than the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, March 14. (AP)—Grains sank at the start and then spent the rest of the day inching upward on the board of trade today. The slow upward climb brought some deliveries, particularly in oats, above last Saturday's close.

Selling at the start was based on heavy receipts of cash grain at leading markets. This was particularly true of wheat, where eight southwestern markets had 1,549 cars compared with 368 cars a year ago. Wheat later rallied on reports of improved domestic flour business.

Wheat closed ¼-½ lower, May $2.14¾-½; corn was lower to higher, May $1.29-1.29⅝; oats were ⅝-¾ higher, May 64½; rye was ¾ to 1 cent lower, May $1.25; soybeans were ¼-¾ lower, March $2.39¾-2.39, and lard was 15 to 22 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.27.

Filibuster

senators voting to end debate at any time.

Lucas said the administration forces had turned thumbs down on a compromise proposal under which three-fourths of the senators voting could gag a debate.

He said they are divided, however, over another compromise plan by which a "constitutional" two-thirds of the Senate—64 of its 96 members—could close debate if they wanted to do so.

Southerners Set

The Southerners, meanwhile, were all set to continue their talk-talk-talk when the Senate met at noon. Senator Ellender (D-La) had a long speech ready.

Chairman Taft (Ohio) said the GOP policy committee took no formal vote but decided to support the peace talks.

The committee acted informally after hearing a report from minority floor leader Wherry (Neb). Wherry attended a week-end meeting of southern Democrats and administration leaders in an effort to reach agreement on a proposed change in Senate debating rules.

Come To Agreement

Southerners, opposing the rules change, also held a closed meeting. Senator Russell (D-Ga) said the Dixie lawmakers came to an agreement on what they are willing to do to end their talkfest. He declined to say what the agreement provides.

Administration leaders, meanwhile, engaged in further talks on the stalemate that has tied up the Senate. The tie-up is in its 13th day today.

Ahead lies the picture of prospective "round-the -clock" sessions, and deep Democratic party cleavage, if no compromise is reached. In the background tremendous pressure is building up from the log jam of administration legislation that now has no place to go.

Proposed Change Disputed

The immediate issue in dispute is a proposed change in the rules to cripple the same kind of filibuster that the Senate now is enmeshed in.

The proposal has been overshadowed by the relationship to civil rights legislation which Southerners have defeated in the past with un-checked debate.

The decision to hold more conferences was reached yesterday at an unusual Sunday meeting in the office of Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill). It brought together key administration Democrats — with the blessings of President Truman —Southern leaders and Republican spokesmen.

They met for nearly two hours. After it was over Lucas told reporters "no understanding" was reached, but "we are making progress." The Southerners' Senator Byrd (D-Va) and Republican Senator Wherry (Neb) both said they are "hopeful" a settlement can be reached.

Lucas added that another meeting of the working group probably will be held this afternoon. This may hinge on the results of three earlier meetings—administration Democrats, Southern Democrats and GOP policy makers. All will get a report on a formula reported under discussion as a basis for compromise.

Meantime, Lucas said that the Senate will "move right along" the same as it has been for the past two weeks with speech-making. Whether it would be kept in night session, or round-the-clock, Lucas would not say flatly.

Atlantic Pact

as the problem of Greenland.

Solution Said Possible

Denmark owns Greenland and the United States has two airfields there. They were built as a result of arrangements made during the war, but not permanently for peacetime.

State department officials told Rasmussen, it was learned, that the North Atlantic treaty provides the framework in which future solution of the base problem may be worked out. The strategic importance of Greenland in the North Atlantic defense system evidently was discussed in a general way but details were not gone into.

With the arrival of the Icelandic delegation, the lineup of eligible countries which have either declared their intention to join, or shown an active interest in entering the pact, was almost complete, heard from. The republic to be heard from .The republic of Ireland several weeks ago declared that it would not enter the alliance because of its long standing quarrel with Britain.

Eight Sentenced For Spying In Germany

MUNICH, March 14. (U.P.)—Three women and five men today were sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to 18 years for spying on American forces in Germany for Communist Czechoslovakia.

A U. S. military commission sentenced blonde, dimpled Gertie Doerre, 26-year-old "Mata Hari" of the case, to 12 years in prison.

The heaviest term—18 years—went to Robert Kruse, 44-year-old German who gave the Czechs information on ship movements and on the unloading of tanks at the American-occupied port of Bremen. A former Czech intelligence officer called Kruse "one of our best agents."

Residential Drive Of Red Cross Set

Pans for opening of the Red Cross residential drive next Monday were discussed at a meeting of zone chairmen this morning at Red Cross headquarters.

The kick-off for the residential drive is scheduled for 9 a. m. Monday at Hilton hotel, when zone chairmen, captains and other workers will be present.

Mrs. W. B. Agee, chairman of the residential drive, and Homer Hensley, general chairman of the fund drive, spoke at this morning's meeting.

Goal in the residential drive will be $3,500 and efforts will be made to exceed that amount. Of the total, 67.2 per cent will be kept in the county and the remainder will go to national headquarters.

Farmer Is Fined For Income Tax Evasion

FORT WORTH, March 14. (AP)—Albert Graf of Vernon, Wilbarger county alfalfa farmer, was fined $7,000 by federal Judge Davidson in U. S. district court here today on a nolle contendere plea to the government's charge of wilful income tax evasion.

U. S. Attorney Potter charged that Graf from 1942 to 1946 failed to report the increase in his income and transacted alfalfa sales by cash. The indictment contained 10 counts.

In addition to the fine, which Graf paid promptly, the farmer will be required to pay a $3,000 fraud penalty to the office of the collector of internal revenue.

Californians Jittery After Second Quake

SANTA CLARA, Cal., March 14 (U.P.)—The second "strong" earthquake in a week left residents of northern California coast cities jittery today.

The quake starled residents of San Francisco, San Leandro, Carmel, Hollister and Monterey at 10:10 p. m. (C.S.T.) last night. Police immediately were swamped with hundreds of telephone calls.

University of Santa Clara seismologists said the temblor lasted about five minutes. It apparently was centered near Hollister on the San Andreas fault, 80-miles southeast of San Francisco. No damage was reported.

Pioneer West Texan Claimed At Amarillo

AMARILLO, March 14. (U.P.)—Lawrence North, extensive land developer in Donley and Gray counties, died today in an Amarillo hospital.

North, 87, moved to Groom in 1909 and started his vast farming activities. He moved to Amarillo in 1919 where he continued his Panhandle operations.

His wife, six sons and three daughters survive him.

SEVEN ARE MISSING

BUENOS AIRES, March 14 (U.P.)—An express launch carrying 60 passengeers crashed at full speed into a sunken obstruction in the Sarmiento river on the outskirts of Buenos Aires last midnight and sank. Seven men were missing and believed drowned. The other passengers and crew were rescued.

and other weapons agreed that two basic national psychological situations prompted the decision to "educate" the public:

(A) To try to undo some of the American public's over-confidence in certain victory through reliance on only such weapons as the atomic bomb, germ warfare and guided missiles.

(B) To allay hysteria and panic among American populations should this country be attacked with any of those weapons. The effort now is to explain that these are not "absolute" weapons, but have definite limitations in the number they can kill or the damage they can produce. There are means of minimizing their effect.

Psychological warfare can be a two-edged sword. Privately, some military leaders wonder whether talk about atomic warfare doesn't frighten more Americans than Russians.

Book Is Prepared

A government book about atomic bombs—what they can and can't do—will follow the bacterial warfare statement by a few months. The Atomic Energy Commission is preparing it now. It is described as the first authoritative and detained discussion of the blast, heat and radiation effects of atomic bombs. It will include several chapters on the design of buildings to withstand atomic attack.

The campaign to bring back to earth some fanciful flights of thoughts about the present status of guided missiles has been under way fo rseveral years. Rocket experts keep declaring that "push button warfare" so far has only little more than the button. The trouble, they say, has been that the public has confused blueprints and laboratory studies with the actual, present-day capabilities of guided missiles. Up to now, they can't cross oceans or hit any pinpoint targets, officials keep telling the public.

The House deferred final action on a bill to license billiard recreation halls, at the request of Rep. Miller Walker, of Baumont, the author.

He told reporters he would be willing to accept an amendment taking out a provision put in by committee under which beer could be sold in recreation parlors. This provision brought sharp criticism from the state Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

The group adjourned for lunch at noon and was to go back into session this afternoon.

Attending the meeting were Commissioners R. O. Short, Perry Corley, Ottis Isom, and George G. Green; County Judge Walter Davies; County Clerk Louie Moore; and Assistant County Attorney Dudley Brummett.

Rail Workers Get Pay Hike

CHICAGO, March 14. (U.P.)—Mediators in the long wage-hour controversy between the nation's railroads and 16 non-operating unions awarded the workers generally a 40-hour, five-day work week with two consecutive days off, it was disclosed today.

They also awarded a seven-cent hourly wage increase, retroactive to last Oct. 1, in their decision on matters submitted to them last week by both rail and union negotiators after nearly six months of bargaining. Although no contract has been signed, both labor and management have agreed to accept the mediators' decision on points given them for decision.

Effective On Sept. 1.

As approved by the mediators, the 40-hour week—for 48 hours pay—will become effective Sept. 1 for those non-operating employes who do not now have it.

The seven-cent hourly increase is exclusiveof the automatic hourly rate increase which will become effective when the 40-hour week goes into effect, the mediators announcement said.

Details Are Disclosed

Details of the mediators' awards were disclosed as the two groups of negotiators began separate meetings today to consider their stand on matters not yet settled. The mediators, William M. Leiserson, David L. Cole and George A. Cook, followed the lines of the decision they announced in December when they were acting as members of a presidential fact-finding board.

A spokesman for the unions said that the two basic issues still remaining are:

1. Monthly pay schedules for those workers employed on a seven-day schedule.

2. A 40-hour week for the yardmasters.

aimed 20-mm guns of 800 yards range.

If the jets attempt tight turns, they are likely to "mush" or "spin", and thus they must make shallow turns of several miles radius while the bomber goes on to its target.

"Our real problem," says Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, "is—how would we defend ourselves against an attack by an aircraft comparable to the B-36?"

By the time other countries get the answer to that one, "the Air Force will have in being a bomber of even greater performance and capability," Vandenberg says.

The Air Force, in brief, has found that there is an altitude barrier of comparable importance to the so-called sonic speed barrier. While it could use high-speed jet bombers which might outrun jet fighters, these lack range. The alternative means of avoiding interception on atomic bombing missions is the high-altitude B-36 which has no range problem, Air Force officers say.

Jaycees Name Wylie "Man Of The Month"

Bob Wylie today was named "Man of the Month for February" by the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel.

Wylie was given the award for his outstanding work as co-chairman of the club's fight committee, which has made arrangements for a number of Jaycee-sponsored boxing matches staged here this winter.

The award was made by Dr. Brandon Hull, who was introduced by Rolan Simpson, winner of the honor a month ago.

After a lengthy discussion ,club members voted almost unanimously to assess a weekly charge of $1.25, instead of the former charge of $1, to each member attending the luncheon. The surplus funds thus raised will go to meet club operating expenses.

"The Plainsmen," a local quartet, appeared briefly on behalf of the second annual "Parade of Quartets" to be staged Saturday night in Lubbock Senior High school auditorium.

W. K. Hodge, a new member, was introduced.

President Horace Gearhart presided, with invocation by Rufus Rush.

The fire department said it had answered two weekend alarms, both of them resulting from car fires. There were no other runs, it was said.

Members of the Broadway Church of Christ and others interested here have been invited to hear a lecture by Dr. G. C. Brewer, now of Memphis, Tenn., on "Communism and its Influence in America," in Abilene Christian college Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. He formerly was pastor of the Broadway church.

Mrs. Winnie Kimbrell today was reported to be in a serious condition in West Texas hospital, where she is being treated for a broken hip suffered Wednesday in a fall.

Coal Miners

unemployment compensation benefits from states. It's a big question whether the states will pay off. Traditionally, they haven't.

John P. Busarello, president of UMW district No. 5 at Pittsburgh, said if Pennsylvania officials "don't come through we'll fight it to the state Supreme court." In Pennsylvania, unemployed persons are entitled to $20 a week for 24 consecutive weeks, payments beginning the second week of idleness.

A. J. Caruse, executive director of the Pennsylvania state bureau of employment and compensation, expressed doubt the Miners' claims would be approved. So, that apparently left it up to the courts.

Hugh White, president of UMW district 12, which has jurisdiction of all 24,000 miners in Illinois, says his miners will be instructed to seek unemployment compensation from the state. He indicated a court fight, if necessary, too.

At Terre Haute, Ind., Louis Austin, president of UMW district 11, said the nearly 10,000 Indiana soft coal miners will be instructed to ask for unemployment compensation benefits.

Illinois took on the appearance of an "island" in the work stoppage. It is in Illinois where 17,000 miners belong to the Independent Progressive Mine Workers of America. President John Marchiando has made it clear the progressives will go right on digging coal.

King Resting Better After Major Surgery

LONDON, March 14 (AP)—King George is more comfortable and his general condition "remains satisfactory," his doctors reported today.

The British monarch underwent a delicate nerve operation Saturday. A nerve center near his spine was cut in an effort to increase the blood circulation in his right leg. The 53-year-old king has been suffering from faulty blood circulation in the legs since last November.

A bulletin issued from Buckingham palace this morning said:

"The king slept for the greater part of the night. His post operative discomfort is lessening and his general conditions remains satisfactory."

The bulletin was signed by Prof. J. R. Learmonth, who performed the operation, and five of his associates.

Ship's Return Is Finally Set

LEWES, Del., March 14. (AP)—The on-again, off-again return of the lend-lease cruiser Milwaukee to the United States by the Russians is definitely on for tomorrow, the Navy says.

The Milwaukee, with 800 Russian crewmen aboard, dropped anchor off Lewes in the Delaware breakwater March 7. The Soviets were to give back the Milwaukee the following day.

A series of delays has put it off time after time.

But everything is in readiness now.

The freighter Molotov, which is to take the officers and crew of the Milwaukee—renamed Murmansk by the Russians—back to the Soviet Union, set sail from Camden, N. J., for Lewes today to begin transferring gear and personnel for the return trip.

Official return of the vessel, first of 586 loaned to Russia during the war, is fixed for 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow.

The press will be invited aboard the Milwaukee then. The cruiser appears from a distance to be rust yand worn.

The Russian officers gave a party for U. S. Navy officials. The dinner was returned, but no reporters were invited to either affair.

Mine Detector Fails To Find Loot Buried By Jesse James

ZANESVILLE, O., March 14 (AP)—Four men hunting for treasure they believe Jesse James buried near here had doubts today about finding it with a mine detector. A two-day search has yielded only an empty metal chest.

The machine broke down yesterday. One of the treasure hunters, John Trammel, who says he is 102 and an old crony of the train robber, had this explanation:

"James told his boys that some day they'll have a gadget to find buried treasure. He told them that he'd bury the treasure so no gadget would ever find it."

In Austin, Texas, 101-year-old Frank Dalton, who claims he is the real Jesse James, pooh-poohed the Ohio search.

"Let them hunt their heads off if they want to," he said. "They're just wasting their time. They won't find anything—certainly not a million dollars."

Dalton claims that a man killed as Jesse James in Missouri in the 1880s was not James. He announced himself as James several years ago.

Military Court Cuts Sentence

WIESBADEN, Germany, March 14, (AP)—A U..S. military government appeals court today reduced from 20 to five years the prison sentence imposed on Mrs. Wilma Ybarbo for killing her soldier husband.

The five-judge court confirmed the right of U. S. military government courts to try U. S. civilians in occupied Germany. The decision also upheld the right of such courts to try American civilians under German law.

The court, found, however, that under Grman law the sentence could be for no more than five years.

Woman Found Guilty

Mrs. Ybarbo, 23-year old mother from Malden, Mass., was sentenced to 20 years in prison last Dec. 28 by a district military government court at Marburg.

She was found guilty under both German and U. S. military government law of shooting her husband, Sgt. John Ybarbo, of Goliad, Tex., during an argument in their home last fall.

Her appeal challenged the findings of the Marburg court and also its right to try an American civilian under either law. Her attorney, Stanly H. Gaines, of Brookline, Mass., contended before the appeals court that Mrs. Ybarbo should have been tried by an army court martial.

He also maintained German law did not apply to persons subject to U. S. military law.

Argument Is Rejected

The appeals court rejected Mrs Ybarbo's contention she had acted in self defense.

It said, however, her act was the result of a "long and intolerable course of cruelty and ill-treatment of her by her soldier husband."

The court found that German law limits sentence for homicide to five years in cases where ill treatment is proved.

Mrs. Ybarbo's seven-day trial was a sensational one, spiced with witnesses' stories of illicit love, soldier-fraulein parties and husband-wife brawls.

The pretty 23-year old defendant, mother of a six-year old son, testified her husband told her two German girls were pregnant by him when she poined him in Germany in late 1945.

Ybarbo, a 200-pound half-Indian, half-Spanish soldier, won medals for wartime bravery.

Jimmy Ybarbo, the couple's son, was flown to New Bedford, Mass., after the trial to live with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. grandmother, Mrs. Charles W. Baily, sr.

Defending Eric Dixson, who was fined $100 and lost his driver's license for 12 months for drunk driving in Aylesbury, England, his attorney, R. D. R. Sale, said: "He thought he had a good capacity for drink as he has survived Russian dinners which, I understand, are as big a test of a man's capacity as anything on earth."

Bill To Repeal Poll Tax Is Ready For Action In Senate

AUSTIN, March 14 (AP)—Half the time was gone but nothing like half the work done as the legislature plunged into the tenth week of the 51st regular session today.

Near the top of the House calendar for final approval were bills to license pool halls and to give the state game, fish and oyster commission broader regulatory powers than it now has.

A constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax as a voting requirement was ready for action in the Senate.

Committees Still Loaded

Committees were still loaded with work as the session started the pull toward final adjournment. Friday was the 60th day—halfway point if the sessions lasts 120 days as the constitution suggests.

There has not been a recent general meeting of the legislature that brief, and there were still plenty of lawmarkers who thought this one would run through June and later.

Twenty-seven important bills were scheduled for hearing this afternoon and tonight in House and Senate committee, along with others regarded as non-controversial or local and on which no formal public hearing had been set.

Hearings Are Slated

It is the same story each afternoon and night this week, with emphasis on House bills. The House is running two to three weeks behind the Senate in bill-processing, because it organized later.

The House appropriations committee at 7:30 p. m. today will take up Rep. J. A. Luedemann's 10 million dollar appropriation for soil conservation equipment and supplies.

Commenting on it yesterday, R. M. Boswell of Kenedy said the money is needed now. He is director of the association of Texas soil conservation supervisors.

"If the program is delayed 10 years," Boswell said, "it will cost Texas 100 million dollars."

Bill Is Considered

A companion bill by Senator W. A. Shofner of Temple will be considered by the Senate finance committee Wednesday.

The fate of these and other appropriations bills were left up in the air following the comptroller's new estimate if income last week, trimming th estate's potential tax take during the next two years by 22 million dollars.

Leaders in both House and Senate appropriations committees promised they would do all they could to trim down requests for funds in view of the new estimate and the wide gap between requests and available funds.

Hearings before two House committees take the spotlight tonight.

There may be echoes of the fuss over the Gilmer-Aikin school bills in the appropriations committee when a 74 million dollar rural aid school bill—urged as a replacement for the Gilmer-Aikin measures—is heard. In the House state affairs committee, Rep. M. O. Bell's anti-Communist bill will be aired at 7:30 p. m.

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

What is one of the practices which may be followed in the home to promote good nutrition? (That question was answered of six seniors in the home economics division at Texas Technological college who are majoring in foods and nutrition.)

THE ANSWERS

JEAN POTEET, Women's Dormitory No. 4: "One sound practice of cooking which helps to promote good nutrition is to start all vegetables except dried ones in a small amount of boiling water and cook them very quickly to avoid excessive loss of water soluble and volatile nutriments."

SUE BUCKELEW, Drane hall: "A housewife may obtain dietary check sheets from the home demonstration agent or high school homemaking teacher, by which to check her menus in order to see if her family is receiving an adequate diet. These check lists may also be used for the preparation to the weekly market order."

JESSE PEARCE Woman's Dormitory No. 4: "A dietary practice to follow in the home to promote good nutrition is the conservation of the liquid from canned fruits and vegetables. The use of these liquids in soups, gravies, salads, desserts and beverages conserves the water soluble minerals and vitamins found in them. Also, the luquid from the vegetable may be drained into a saucepan and boiled down to the desired quantity, then the vegetable added and heated just before serving."

FAYE WALKER, Drane hall: "By careful planning of meals, selection of food, we can have more nutritious and palatable food with less effort and waste."

ROSIE PASCHALL, Lubbock route 4: "The homemaker often has the responsibility of the care of the members of her family who are ill. She can shorten their period of illness by good nutritional practices, by including the foods to meet their body requirements, by preparing the foods so that they can be easily digested, and by encouraging the patient to eat by serving them attractively."

EXA FAY HOOTEN, Women's Dormitory No. 4: "The family of today with many varied activities finds it difficult to be calm and relaxed at meal time, in order to make the meal time occasion one of leisure and enjoyment. Prevention of quarrels about money matters, duties and other possible unpleasantness immediately before or during meals should be stressed, since emotional disturbances hinder the digestion and utilization of nutrients."

Realizing they are in the Pacific earthquake belt, city planners of Wellington, N. Z., have incorporated 'quake proof' features in almost all its buildings.

Big Manhunt Underway For Slayer Of Two

PHILADELPHIA, March 14. (AP) Philadelphia police squared away today for an all-out battle against crime while a manhunt scoured the city for the slayer of two liquor store employes.

Director of Public Safety Samuel H. Rosenberg met with high police officials and announced "I fully realize the serious situation in Philadelphia."

The newly appointed director said he had discussed with Police Superintendent Howard P. Sutton details of "a well considered program for the police department."

Man Serves Warning

"I wish to serve warning on all concerned that I am going through with this program . . . and that nobody is going to stop me," Rosenberg warned.

The battle against crime already is in full swing.

More than 900 policemen pressed a door-to-door search in a densely populated two square mile area for a short, squat man who shot to death two state liquor store employes and critically wounded a third Saturday.

Assistant Superintendent of Police George F. Richardson said the posse rounded up "hundreds of men generally meeting the description of the slayer." All were questioned extensively, but no arrests were made.

Negro Goes Berserk

Police said the negro went berserk when he was foiled in a robbery atempt. Firing bullet after bullet in the crowded store, he killed the store manager, Herman Weintraub, 30, and a clerk, Howard Robinson, 57. A second clerk, Fielder Jackson, 28, is in Pennsylvania hospital with a bullet wound in the chest.

The bureau of police reported simultaneously that four persons were killed in 190 robberies involving violence or threat of violence since Jan. 1.

While details of Rosenberg's police plan were not disclosed, he previously said he needs at least 500 additional policemen, and that the bureau needs "new blood" to replace many veterans who are ready for the pensions.

Searchers Are Warned

Warning the searchers to "take no chances," Richardson said the man will kill if cornered." He added he is reasonably sure the slayer is "holed in" not too far from the scene of the shooting.

Railroad police and police in eight nearby states joined in the manhunt.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation indirectly is aiding Richardson and his men by checking fingerprints. Richardson said yesterday's roundup turned up men from Illinois, Kentucky, Texas, Michigan, Ohio, New York, New Jersey and Delaware.

Terry County Show Planned

BROWNFIELD, March 14. (Special)—Plans are being completed for the eighth annual Terry County Club Boys' stock show which is to be held here April 9, it was announced by Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsoring organization.

There will be two classes in this year's show, one for fat steers; the other for fat barrows. An adult breeders' swine show, which has in past years been held in connection with the show, will not be held this year.

Boys' calves will be adjudged choice, good, and common, with respective prizes of $5, $3, and $1.

No Grand Champions

There will be no grand champions in the show, since it is the claim and keynote of the show "Every Exhibitor is a Winner, and Every Winner a Future Commercial Breeder."

There are to be two classes in the fat barrow division: animals over 140 pounds, and animals under that weight. Prizes ranging from first to seventh will be $5, $4, $3, $2.50, $2, $1.50 and $1.

Judging will be done by Ray C. Mowery of the agriculture faculty at Texas Tech. A sale of calves and pigs will follow the judging, with Kenneth Bozeman of Lubbock as auctioneer.

Entries will be limited to 4-H club and Future Farmers of America boys in Terry country. Expected to participate are 4-H clubs at Union, Wellman, Brownfield, and Meadow, and FFA chapters at Brownfield, Meadow, and Wellman. Approximately 50 boys are expected to participate.

Post Woman In Race For Texas "Mother"

FORT WORTH, March 14. (AP)—Thousands of women have been nominated as the Texas state mother for 1949.

The mother will be named March 20.

The American Mother's committee met here yesterday and discussed nominations. Mrs. Dollilee-Davis Smith of Cleburne, is state chairman.

Among leading nominees are Mrs. J. H. Moore, Deport; Mrs. Randolph Lee Clark, Cisco; Mrs. O. R. Cook, Post; Mrs. Nannie Partlow Daniel, Liberty; Mrs. August Krueger, Meridian; and Mrs. E. A. Gillis, Fort Worth.

Girlstown Is Started In West Texas

Home To Give Helping Hand To Girls Opens Near Abilene

BUFFALO GAP, March 14. (AP) A residence devoted to lending a helping hand to girls, opened here yesterday.

Just as Boys' Town, Nebraska, provides a refuge for a boy who needs help, Girlstown will provide a home for girls to grow up in.

"This is not an institution," said Miss Amelia Anthony, its founder. "This is a home where girls will get the supervision they would get in any normal home."

Official Opening Held

The official opening for Girlstown was held yesterday afternoon. Women came from West Texas towns within a 50-mile radius to see what they could do to help.

The home plans no public donation campaign. However, individuals may make gifts.

There is room for 50 or 60 girls in the house, a reconverted army barracks. Already applications have been pouring in.

The house is on a four-acre tract in the heart of Buffalo Gap about 15 miles south of Abilene. It has 32 bedrooms, consultation and study rooms, and huge living room and a dining room.

None For Adoption

Miss Anthony said girls would be accepted from homes where problems arise which would leave the girl homeless, from homes where the mother alone may be unable to provide for the girl and from homes where parents believe their daughters may need help in working out their individual problems.

The girls will be required to attend public school and every effort will be made to see that they get a college education or finish a business course. None will be offered for adoption.

Texas has one other home similar to Girlstown. It is Girls Haven at Orange, supported by the city. In addition, the Catholic church maintains homes in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio for dependent girls.

Apology Given After Sailors Mar Statue

HAVANA, Cuba, March 14 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Robert Butler has apologized to Cuba for the drunken acts of three U. S. sailors who desecrated the statute of Jose Marti, Cuba's national hero.

The weekend incident caused great indignation in Havana. Cuban students planned a "national day of mourning" over the affront but called it off after Butler apologized and placed a wreath at the statue.

A crowd threatened to lynch the three sailors. Police, arresting them, had to fire into the air to disperse the would-be lynchers.

The trio of Tars, along with bystander shipmates, were released to the Navy on condition they be disciplined. Their ship, the minesweeper Rodman, along with other visiting units, left Havana Saturday after the incident.

CONFESS STRANGLING OF WOMAN

Negroes To Face Slaying Charges

LAWTON, Okla., March 14. (AP)—Sheriff E. R. Hale said today three negroes have confessed strangling an 80-year-old white woman.

County Attorney Cithen Rhoabs said murder charges will be filed against the three.

They were identified as B. J. Jackson, 49; his daughter, Ernestine Jackson, 19; and Leola Marie Thomason, 29.

Mrs. Ellen Ryan, a widow, was found in her bed Thursday—a gag in her mouth, an devidence a towel had been wrapped around her neck.

Hale said the three told him this story:

They returned a borrowed garden spade Tuesday night, then came back shortly before midnight because they "were hungry."

The three entered the house by forcing a door, killed the woman, then left with an undetermined amount of cash and food.

The man telephoned the sheriff's office late last night and told jailer M. T. McCracken he understood the sheriff was "looking for me."

Hale arrested the three at their home today.

Low Countries To Eliminate Bars To Trade

THE HAGUE, March 14. (U.P.—Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg—the Benelux countries—agreed today to scrap all trade barriers among them by July 1, 1950.

Economic walls among the three countries will start falling this July 1 under the direction of a coordinating committee and will be wiped out entirely in not more than one year.

Western diplomats hoped it would be the first step toward the wrecking of trade restrictions all across Europe.

Sixty-three officials and experts of the three countries worked out the program during a four-day conference here. Their work was described as a dramatic result of the Marshall plan's drive to free the flow of goods and thus help European recovery.

Curriencies Convertible

The plan calls for:

1. All oconimic barriers, such as government control of exports, to be abolished among the countries.
2. Currencies of the Benelux countries to be freely convertible.
3. Belgium and Luxembourg to grant loans to Holland which will, in turn, de-ration all commodities except coal, thus tending to open up new markets for goods from Belgium and Luxembourg.

Another feature of the plan is the Benelux will negotiate as a single nation in reaching trade agreements with the rest of the world, provided the three countries can reach a balance of trade with the non-dollar area by July 1 of next year.

Man Who Aided Oil Development Dies

FORT WORTH, March 14 (AP)—William Knox Gordon, 87, whose vision inspired development of the Ranger oil field, died yesterday.

Gordon was chairman of the board of Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company and also became a director of Southwestern Life Insurance company at Dallas.

Funeral services were to be held today. Burial will be in Dallas.

Gordon came to Texas in 1889 as an engineering graduate of the Virginia Military institute. He was to survey a new railroad route, but quit to accept a job as mining engineer for Texas Pacific.

He convinced himself oil underlaid the Thurber area although geologists scoffed.

He promised a group of Ranger citizens the T-P would drill four wells and wage $200,000 oil would be found, if the company were given a block of 30,000 acres.

In March of 1917 the leases were delivered and oil was discovered Oct. 22.

"PEOPLE ARE funny," and "there's no accounting for the workings of the human mind."

These two statements, often made and rarely denied, are about the only reasons we can think of for the fact that 40,000 English-made automobiles were sold in the U. S. during 1948 and that British manufacturers are shooting at 100,000 American sales during the current year.

Even with the onetime shortage of cars in the U. S.—a shortage which is rapidly disappearing—and even taking into consideration the "public be damned" attitude of some American automobile dealers, we can't understand why any American would buy a British car. Or, for that matter, any other foreign-make car.

Perhaps it's because we are incurably provincial, but whatever the reason, we've never yet seen a foreign car that looked as good to us as one of our own domestic makes. We include in this statement the $19,000 Rolls-Royce which, while a great automobile, certainly isn't as good as four Cadillacs, four Buick Roadmasters, four Lincoln Cosmopolitans, or four Chrysler New Yorkers which the Rolls' $19,000 will buy.

All the foreign make cars we've seen—including those put together in Britain—look to us like something we've had here all the way from 1916 to 1940.

Maybe we haven't been seeing the right foreign cars, but the closest thing we've seen to the American models are those made in England. They look like they were either copied after our products of 10 years ago, or the old Stutz Bearcat of 1915.

ONE THING most of the foreign cars have on their American counterparts is mileage per gallon in gasoline consumed.

This is due to several reasons.

In the first place, gasoline is not so readily available in any part of Europe—even in normal times—as it is here. The price is higher.

In the second place, the general run of foreign motors are not of the same high speed of our own, nor are they so powerful. Long-distance motoring Europe just "ain't," because there are no long distances to motor over.

In the third place, most of the European cars are smaller and lighter than ours and, while easier to handle and park in heavy traffic, don't require the fuel ours do for general motoring in the U.S.A.

But, by and large, the mileage angle is the only place where most foreign-make cars have us beaten.

Of course, the great luxury cars of Europe have finer and more delicate inner appointments than our own.

Europe produces many fine craftsmen who do by hand much of the inner, decorative work. An assembly line is unknown in factories where luxury models are turned out.

But when it comes to buying an automobile for American use, on American roads, over American distances and to be serviced by American mechanics, it seems to us that the European car has little to offer the American buyer.

WHEN WE were in Washington six weeks ago, an old friend drove us from the Army & Navy club, after lunch, to our hotel.

A general in the Army overseas, he had been transferred to the Pentagon and brought home with him a French Citroen, which he bought in Paris for $1,300, American money. He brought the French car home because he'd heard of the difficulties attendant upon purchasing an American car at the time of his return six months ago and since coming home has used the Citroen to run around Washington, leaving his new American car, an Olds, with his wife.

He said the Citroen gives him 28 to 30 miles per gallon and is fine for Washington traffic, especially parking, because it is so small. But otherwise, the darn thing looked to us like an old Model A Ford with a different shaped hood.

Our friend paid $1,500 for his Citroen which is tinny on the outside and absolutely without any sort of appointments inside.

Anticipating trouble in getting repair parts here, if needed, he brought over from France every type of part he thought he might need—which ran his investment even higher than the $1,500.

He could have bought here a utility model of any of the three "popular" priced cars at about the same money he spent on his Citroen—and any of the latter would have had a far greater trade-in value.

So all he gained was the saving on gasoline, which couldn't be great because he does all his long driving in his American car and uses the French job only to chug around town in.

RECENT PRICE slashes in the automobile field indicate that American cars are coming down, after being almost priced out of the market.

At least two big motor car companies have extreme "utility models" on the drawing boards—cards which have no do-dads, gadgets, or sparkling appointments, but which will provide good transportation at a cost of something over $1,000.

These two facts, together, indicate that if British manufacturers do sell 100,000 units this year there are going to be about 99,999 very sorry people before very much more water flows over the dam.

BY DREW PEARSON: SHOWDOWN DUE BETWEEN HST AND LEWIS ON BOYD APPOINTMENT

Loafing Demos Contributed To Sol Bloom's Death

WASHINGTON.—John L. Lewis recently won some votes in favor of keeping one of the Taft-Hartley provisions which labor dislikes most—the right of injunction to halt strikes against the public interests.

PEARSON

The National Association of Manufacturers backed by George Sokolsky and a battery of propagandists could not have been half as effective as John L. Lewis. For Lewis's lieutenant, John Owens, hinted before a Senate committee that the miners would strike if the Senate confirmed Dr. James Boyd as director of the bureau of mines.

Several senators who have been on the fence regarding injunctions now believe that injunctions may be the only way to deal with a labor leader who threatens a strike if Congress exercises its constitutional right to confirm a presidential appointment.

Inside fact is that previously John L. Lewis used to dominate the bureau of mines. He had a brother-in-law working there and also helped pick the bureau's director, Dr. R. R. Sayers. Eventually it developed that Lewis knew as much about what goes on inside the bureau as its top boss, Secretary of the Interior Krug. Shortly after Krug discovered this, Sayers stepped out to take a job with the United Mine Workers while Krug appointed Dr. Boyd, then dean of the Colorado School of Mines, to take his place. Lewis has held up Boyd's appointment ever since, chiefly through G.O.P. Senator Eugene Millikin of Colorado.

Now Truman has called for a showdown between himself and Lewis as to which controls Senate confirmations.

Loafing Dems Overworked Bloom

One thing that contributed to the death of the much-loved Congressman Sol Bloom was overwork. And his work load was increased by the fact that many Democratic members of the House foreign affairs committee brazenly loafed on the job, leaving most of the work to Sol and the Republicans.

While the 11 Republican members of the committee usually are present, sometimes as few as three Democrats have turned up. This once caused conscientious Congressman John Kee of West Virginia to remark, "maybe what we need is a police force to get our colleagues to attend meetings."

So far statesmanlike Congressman Charles Eaton of New Jersey, leader of the Republicans, hasn't taken advantage of this. But he could easily turn the tables on the Democrats and put the Republicans in the position of running American foreign policy.

As a result the first act of new Democratic Chairman John Kee, when he took over following Sol Bloom's death, was to warn Democratic congressmen it was time for them to quit playing hookey.

NOTE—Sometimes it has been necessary to telegraph Democrat Joseph L. Pfeifer of Brooklyn at his home to insure his attendance for committee votes.

WHEN Forrest Warren, now on the San Diego Journal, was a reporter on the Atchison (Kas.) Globe, he lost his wife under the wheels of a train. Perhaps that tragedy had something to do with causing Warren to spend much of his time since then listening to the sorrows of others and doing something about them.

At any rate, Warren has become a tireless worker for his fellow men. He has organized a revolving wheel-chair service in which there are more than 600 wheel chairs and many walkers for polio victims. He originated the San Diego shoe fund, collecting $40,000 and more than 100,000 pairs of shoes that were repaired and given to needy children.

At Christmas time Warren conducts a Santa-helper program by which 4,000 men, women and children are cheered with holiday presents. He has collected money to buy books projected on the ceiling via films so that flat-on-the-back patients may read pages on the ceiling above their beds.

Warren, now 71 years old, does all this in addition to his regular work on the San Diego Journal. He is a real servant of brotherhood.

McCormick Plumps for Peron

No newspaper in the U.S.A. has fought Harry Truman more vitriolically, vehemently and vigorously than the Chicago Tribune. These attacks have also been centered on Truman's military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan. Nevertheless, Tribune publisher Colonel McCormick has now found something in common with Harry Truman and Harry Vaughan. He is an admirer of Dictator Peron of Argentina.

Col. McCormick has been traveling through Latin America spending an average of 30 hours in each of four capitals—but spent more time in Buenos Aires where President Peron pinned a medal on his breast—the same kind of medal given to Gen. Vaughan.

After lunching with Peron, McCormick informed the press that he and the dictator were in complete accord on Western Hemisphere affairs.

Other things about the colonel's trip were interesting. One was the way American ambassadors kowtowed to McCormick, giving the impression that the publisher's views were sympathetically received in Washington. Wherever he stopped McCormick was wined and dined by the U. S. envoy, with top government officials of each country invited.

Another interesting fact was McCormick's rabid attitude toward Europe which became so violently manifest that even his own interpreter toned down his remarks. In Quito, Ecuador, for instance, McCormick told local newsmen if the Red army invades Western Europe, the only thing it can accomplish is to destroy Western Europe. And he made a gesture indicating his indifference to such an outcome. But Jack DuBois, the Tribune's roving correspondent in Latin America, in interpreting, gave no indication of how little his publisher thought of Western Europe. So in translating he changed the sentence to "destroy Eastern Europe."

War Between Presidents And Journalists Is Never Ending

PRESIDENTS vs. Press — One war that has never known a truce is the constant strife between journalists and Chief Execs. Some battles are more hectic than others, but no President has ever escaped unscathed . . .

WINCHELL

When Teddy Roosevelt was Chief Exec he sued the N. Y. World for libel. The President of the United States lost the case. After a Boston gazette attacked T. Roosevelt, he ordered the Weather Bureau to stop furnishing that paper with its forecasts.

The paper threatened a civil suit—and the order was cancelled. Reporters resent vicious criticism as much as the targets for such attacks. When one Washington reporter circulated a sordid lie about FDR—the other correspondents voted to expel him from the National Press Club. Andy Jackson also had his difficulties with newspaper critics. But he noted: "If newspapers are deprived of their right to criticize a President—the people will lose their right to vote for one."

Relations between Herbert Hoover and the Washington press corps were usually tense. He considered it a personal attack and ordered an investigation of the "leak" after one newsman had reported that some curtains in the White House had been mended. President John Adams attempted to clamp a leash on critics by pressuring Congress into passing a press gag law. Many reporters were jailed or fined. But it failed to put a damper on criticism. On the contrary, Adams' strong-arm tactics intensified the attacks. Voters were aroused by the threats to freedom of the press. The result was that Adams and his party were severely trounced in the next election . . . Jefferson succeeded Adams and released the newspapermen who had been put behind bars. Jefferson's aid to the press didn't give him any journalistic immunity. Historians reveal Jefferson was the victim of more bitter press attacks than Adams. But Jefferson never made any attempt at suppression. Remember he said: "If a people had to be without newspapers or without government, they would do better without government."

GRANT'S tippling weakness provided a field day for journalistic barb-pitching. One gazette sarcasm'd: "Periodical neuralgia is what they call it in Washington now. Grant has it, and he has not been able to see visitors for several days. Parson Newman prayer for him yesterday, and the parson's intimate relations with Divine Providence, backed by continued liberal doses of hydrate of chloral, justify the hope that the patient will get his nerves steadied in a day or two."

As we have pointed out before — politicos squawking about a bad press today should be grateful they weren't around when Dana was slugging: Dana accused President Hayes of stealing the election—and he never allowed him to forget it . . . When Hayes visited New York, Dana's gazette published a photo of the Chief Exec with the word F-R-A-U-D printed across his forehead.

Dana published that photo as long as Hayes was in the city.

FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT expressed his feelings about criticism by spinning the one about the man who was warned by his medico: "If you continue drinking, you'll lose your hearing."

The man retorted: "Doc, I like what I've been drinking so much more than what I've been hearing that I think I'll just go on getting deaf."

Woodrow Wilson sternly objected to publication of personal news about himself and criticism of his Cabinet members. He invented the "White House spokesman" technique—so the Chief Exec would not be quoted directly . . . Wilson stopped all press conferences for several years. However, he later relented, admitted that his attitude toward the press was wrong—and again established friendly relations with the press corps.

There were tears in the eyes of reporters who heard the ailing Wilson make his final address.

PRESIDENTS are frequently irked with reporters who deal in personalities. But Taft's honeymoon with the press corps terminated as a result of a personal peeve . . . During Taft's feud with Teddy Roosevelt, most reporters took TR's side. Taft never forgave the newsmen for what he considered unfair treatment. President Cleveland said it: "Newspapers may err. But the gravest error is to deprive newspapers of their critical rights." A reporter named Matthew L. Davis once boasted to Jefferson that his newspaper's support was solely responsible for electing him.

Jefferson pointed to a fly buzzing past and intoned: "Observe what a large head it has in proportion to the rest of its body."

Among favorite yarns with Washington newsmen is the one about a President's press secretary who once requested reporters to deny a rumor that the President was trying to censor reporters. When the denial was published the press sec'y called in correspondents, repeated his denial of the censorship—then asked that they refrain from publishing his original request or his denial.

Bodyguard To The Rescue

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

HOW easy are you to live with? You can judge somewhat by the way you answer these questions?

If you want to discuss a subject on which you and your husband don't see eye to eye, do you choose your time carefully, waiting until you are both in an agreeable, happy frame of mind?

MILLETT

Can you take criticism from your husband without immediately concluding that he is being unfair or that he doesn't love you any more?

Once you've made up a quarrel do you put it out of your mind and refuse to brood over what has been said in anger?

Can you laugh at yourself as readily as you can at others?

Do you take small problems lightly, refusing to worry over things that aren't vitally important?

Do you laugh out loud often?

SELF-RELIANT?

CAN you make decisions quickly without consulting your friends to find out what they think you ought to do?

Are you actually fond of your friends, wanting to see them prosper and rejoicing at any good luck that comes their way?

Are you glad that you're a woman and content with your life as it is?

Can you keep your marriage troubles to yourself, instead of discussing them with your friends?

The more "Yes" answers you can honestly give to those questions the easier you are for a man to live with.

"—And that goes for your old man too!"

By Bennett Cerf

"Try And Stop Me"

QUEEN WILHELMINA, who laid aside her crown in the Netherlands after fifty years of rule, ascended the throne at the age of ten. Observing the throng who turned out to watch her coronation in 1889, the youthful Wilhelmina asked her mother, the Regent, "Mama, do all these thousands of people belong to me?" "No, my daughter," replied her mother, "It is you who belong to all these thousands of people."

Queen Wilhelmina never forgot this episode. That is one reason why she was the best-loved monarch of her time.

JESTER NEEDS A LESSON

When individuals, or private business, face reductions of income, as many do this year, they usually look for ways to cut expenses.

When the State of Texas confronts a similar prospect, Governor Jester promptly starts yelling, "Raise taxes."

This was his antidote when he learned that estimated revenues this year fall $49,000,000 short of expenditures he has recommended. He didn't go back over his list to revise it to fit the State's purse. His idea of the solution is to take more from taxpayers who, because of their own reduced incomes, won't be as able to pay them.

Actually, the State's financial outlook probably isn't as unfavorable as Jester has implied. He under-estimated income by millions of dollars last year and many well informed officials in Austin think figures on anticipated revenue are too low this year. Sen. James Taylor, of Kerens, for example, is of the opinion that enough money is in sight for State needs without increased taxes.

But, whether that be so or not, Jester should learn there is a word, "economy," in the dictionary. If he could be persuaded to look it up, it might occur to him that reduced expenses, rather than higher taxes, would be the most satisfactory answer to problems arising from reduced income.

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

"Leave Us Alone Week" Plan Seems Magnificently Healthy

WASHINGTON, March 14 — Man down in Georgia has come up with what seems a magnificently healthy idea. He calls it, simply "Leave Us Alone Week." In this entire seven days of blissful immunity from exhortation, a man is free to go his way without anybody demanding that he do anything, no matter how worthy the cause.

RUARK

It's a thing I'd like to see spread around the nation a little bit. The country could use some time-out from good works and peremptory command to go forth and be noble. Also a slight vacation from the hucksters of consumer goods, sweet charity, global nobility, social consciousness, planned economy, psychiatry, local and national government—plus all the bulletins and admonitions that go along with all of them.

Call me a heretic, but I think it slightly therapeutic if we occasionally shut down all the movies, newspapers, radio stations and television shops to give the people a breather from the responsibility of being alive. Call it "Let's Live In A Vacuum Week," or "Let's Turn Off The Telephone Week"—or even "Just Let's Set and Simmer Week." It is amazing how many modern communications, including books, a man can do without for short spaces of time.

Emulates Nervousness

The modern American roughly emulates the nervousness of a young dog being trained by six people, all with strongly rooted and widely diverging convictions on how to train a dog. He is hammered at from chill dawn to midnight. He is pushed, shoved, commanded, lectured, reprimanded, nagged, inspired, nagged, inspired, reproved, spanked, pleaded with, and talked down to.

He hauls his weary carcass out of the sack, on any given day, and before he drops it in the feathers again, he has been admonished until he is black and blue. The hucksters command him to buy this soap, that breakfast food, this girdle, that car, these pills, those clothes, this hat, those shoes, this ball team, that ice cream, this chewing gum, that house, that radio, that underwear, those suspenders, that nail polish, that toothbrush, those dog biscuits.

THE PUNDITS of press and radio instruct him on his politics, his habits, the state of the nation and the state of the world. He is given a brisk blueprint for fatherhood, matrimony, health, wealth, and relaxation. They expert him blind—they tell him about sex, child-rearing, investment, and pink toothbrush of the soul.

The religiosos toss him a steady ultimatum on heaven and hell. The prohibitionists command him not to drink, while the booze manufacturers extoll the blood-building virtues of their particular brands.

This poor, quivering fellow is adjured to cure cancer, blot out heart disease, buy bread, send a flower to mother, eat candy, love dogs, avoid being run over in traffic, buy life insurance, pay taxes, feel sorry for strangers, arm the Greeks, lend to the English, wear cornplasters, save money, give to the community chest, observe father's day, vote for the right party, buy bonds, save fats, get married, love his neighbor and hate his enemy—all in the same breath, every day, every week.

Driven To Perfection

At the end of any given year the target of this evangelism is duty bound to be a mass of ingrown complexes, hopes, fears, doubts and desperation, for he has been driven to perfection — in a hurry. Do it now. Rush down to the drug store for Mrs. Moscowitz's nerve tonic. Read "Shriek, the magazine of the moment." Send no money. Do it now. Vote for Jones. Ladies, your life is a vacuum without our vacuum. Sit up. Sleep on our mattresses—the only ones with the built-in television set and the special, hand-plucked down from the bird of paradise. Give. Save. Drop dead. Fight. Weep. Make. Do. Go. Stay. Buy. Observe. Worry. Think. Here is the latest in . . .

As I was saying, I love the idea of "Leave Us Alone Week" Not everybody can afford a slow boat to China, but the man down in Georgia has a workable, inexpensive approximation of it. Peace, once defined by somebody who might have been me, is roughly no more than quiet, surrounded by a high fence.

Today's Thought

And thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.—Deuteronomy 6:7.

Government Spending Expected To Offset Purchasing Decline

By EARL RICHERT
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Main reason for the Truman administration's continued optimism over the general economic outlook this year is the knowledge that federal, state and local governments are going to pour record peacetime mountains of cash into the spending stream.

The President's council of economic advisers estimates that all branches of government will spend $9 billion more this year than last, increasing total government spending from $52 to $61 billion.

If the national income remains at $224.5 billion—what it was in 1948—total government spending of $61 billion will mean that 27 cents out of every $1 of income will go for government. Last year government cost 23 cents of every $1 of income.

May Offset Decline

The extra $9 billion, it is thought, will offset the decline in purchases by consumers who already have their postwar needs fairly well filled or are so much in debt they can't buy new high-priced goods.

Government-financed construction of roads and schools, for example, is expected to increase more than enough to offset the drop in construction of private homes whose would-be buyers are priced out of the market. Also, the administration's low-rent public housing program will, if approved by Congress, give private builders millions of dollars worth of business. A bill approved by the Senate banking committee calls for construction of 135,000 low-rent public housing units a year for the next six years.

Only a part of this increased spending will be paid for by more taxes taken out of the pockets of consumers. Much will be spent, particularly in respect to public schools, by borrowing via bond issues. This will be paid out of later taxes, of course.

Road Program Financed

Wartime accumulated surpluses also will provide the money for needed projects. Tennessee, for example is financing a two-year $22 million road-building program from its $33 million general fund surplus. Ohio has a $70 million surplus which is earmarked for capital improvements and Colorado's $10 million surplus is expected to be more than sufficient for a building program and rehabilitation of state institutions.

Texas has a $600 million accumulated surplus and already enough spending bills have been introduced in the Texas legislature to eat this us. More than $4 million is needed to reconstruct Texas prisons; some $50 million is needed for state mental hospitals and millions are being sought in salary increases for teachers and state employes.

Fund Distribution Set

California has about $500 million set aside in reserves for capitol improvements and much of this undoubtedly will be spent this year. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is in trouble with his New York legislature because he asked for increased taxes to pay for more schools, mental hospitals, roads, etc.

Biggest single shot in the arm for business will come probably late this year when the federal government distributes about $2 billion in accumulated life insurance dividends to World War II veterans.

An increase of about $2 billion is expected this year over last in direct payments by the federal government to business. Most of this will be due to expanded payments in support of national security, especially for the aircraft procurement and the stockpiling programs.

Most of the increased spending will be by the federal government. But even without the $4 billion in new taxes asked by President Truman, the federal budget would be nearly in balance if tax collections stay up to expectations.

Federal cash receipts for 1949 are estimated at $43.7 billion, based upon present tax laws. Federal spending is estimated at $43.7 billion, based upon present tax laws. Federal spending is estimated at $44.3—for a prospective deficit of $600 million.

AMERICAN, NOW — Uncle Sam's newest adopted nephew is Michael Lowenthal, 12, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lowenthal of Chicago. The boy, who lost both his parents during the Nazi reign, was himself rescued, barely alive, from the notorious Belsen Garten, Germany, concentration camp. He's just been naturalized as a U. S. citizen.

Father, Daughter Finally Reunited

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Mar. 14. (AP)—Charles Lewis celebrated his 61st birthday today with a reunion with a daughter he had not seen for 37 years.

The daughter, Mrs. Virginia Joseph of Akron, O., arrived here today for the reunion after her father finally had located her three weeks ago.

Lewis, a retired laborer, was separated from his daughter and a son, John, in 1911 after the death of his wife. The family was living in Louisville, Ky., at the time.

He left the children with his step-father and came to Indiana. ... ment. The children later were placed in an orphan's home and adopted.

Mrs. Joseph, who was accompanied here by her husband, Thomas, says she believes her brother still is living at Louisville.

Trio Who Abandoned Boat Presumed Dead

NEW IBERIA, March 14 (AP)—Three men missing after abandoning a burning cruiser on Weeks Bay, about 20 miles south of here, today were presumed to be dead.

An all-day search yesterday failed to uncover any trace of the men—C. A. Bruce and S. D. Smith, Shell Oil company engineers, both of New Iberia, and S. P. Magee of Jeanerette, an employe of a drilling company.

Services For Dean At TCU Held Today

FORT WORTH, March 14 (AP)—Services were to be held at 10:30 a. m. today for Dr. John W. Lord, slain dean of the Texas Christian university graduate school.

Meanwhile, two Texas officers were enroute to Los Angeles where Lord's young protege, Arthur C. Hester, is in a jail cell, awaiting return to face a murder charge.

Hester, 19, has been charged with fatally bludgeoning Lord, his legal guardian, at their secluded farm home, some 200 miles south of here in Johnson county, last Tuesday.

Lord's body was found Thursday. Hester was arrested by Los Angeles officers Saturday as he arrived at the home of a half-sister.

He admitted to Los Angeles police that he had fought with Lord, but said he didn't know that Lord was dead.

"I saw he was unconscious, though, and I thought I'd better get out of there," they quoted the youth.

IS MY DOCTOR GIVING ME THE TRUE FACTS?

Misrepresentations by Political Powers of Organized Allopathy (M.D.'s)

THEY SAY: Dr. Miller, President of Texas Medical Association: "Under the Laws of Texas today you have no legal guarantee that this man treating you is qualified to do so."

ANSWER: Why should the proponents of the present Basic Science Law make a ridiculous, unfair statement of this kind. Have they never read the Medical Practice Act operating since 1907?

IN THEIR PROPOSED Minimum Standards Bill they state that it is not too much to ask anyone practicing the healing art to be examined in the Basic Sciences.

Dr. Miller says technically the Basic Science subjects are these: "Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Bacteriology, Pathology, Hygiene and Public Health."

ANSWER: Are they so misinformed that they do not know the present State Medical Board exaxmines in these subjects: Anatomy, Physiology, Chemistry, Bacteriology, Pathology, Hygiene, AND ALSO Histology, Diagnosis, Surgery, Obstetrics, Gynecology and Medical Jurisprudence?

Will the Medical Doctors Please explain how the patient's health will be better protected by requiring a young qualified doctor to take the same examinations twice by two boards? Who is going to pay this unnecessary expense for him?

The Sponsors of the so called "Basic Science" or Minimum Standards Act say they want the Public to be sure that all Practitioners of the Healing Arts have at least a minimum education.

ANSWER: Are they so misinformed that they do not know that the present law requires two years of College work plus four years of eight months each in a Reputable Medical School?

The Sponsors of Basic Science or Minimum Standards have advertised in the Public Press that this will be a fair bill because no Chiropractor, Naturopath or Osteopath will be a member of this board.

ANSWER: Why didn't they also exclude Allopaths (M.D.'s)? For the perfectly clear reason that they will have two M.D.'s from the faculty of a medical school on this Board although they are not in active practice.

The Allopaths (M.D.'s) state that the Minimum Standards Law (Basic Science) will control the practice of unlicensed Doctors in Texas.

ANSWER: It is absurd to contend that a new law with less police power could be enforced as well as the present medical laws, which have protected the public health of Texas for more than 40 years.

Dr. Tate Miller, President of the Texas Medical Association, stated in a recent Broadcast that all he could say of other types of doctors or branches of the Healing Arts studying the Basic Science was that their catalogues Say they do.

Here is a comparison of the Education Background of Osteopathic and Medical Physicians. Schools approved by American Osteopathic Association must require: Minimum of 2 years premedical college work (as must all approved M. D. Schools). We list a comparison of Osteopathic education as required by the Six approved Osteopathic Colleges and Harvard Medical College (M.D.'s) in their required subjects:

	Standards of Osteopathic College Requirements Are:	Harvard Medical School (M.D.'s) Requirements Are:
1. Anatomy, including Embryology and Histology	814 hours	440 hours
2. Physiology	264 hours	232 hours
3. Biochemistry	198 hours	232 hours
4. Pathology, Bacteriology and Immunology	572 hours	479 hours
5. Pharmacology	220 hours	129 hours
6. Hygiene and Sanitation	176 hours	124 hours
7. General Medicine	1,166 hours	1,219 hours
8. General Surgery	770 hours	705 hours
9. Obstetrics and Gynecology	220 hours	317 hours
	4,400 hours	3,877 hours

TOTAL HOURS required by Osteopathic Schools, 4,400.
Total Hours required by Harvard Medical School (M.D.'s) 3,877.

The Osteopathic Schools Are Inspected Yearly by the Bureau of Colleges-

Do the M. D. Schools have similar requirements for inspecting colleges? NO.

Every Osteopathic Physician and Surgeon in Texas has a license to practice Medicine and Surgery which is identical to the license under which the M.D.'s practice.

How long will the people, whose generous subscriptions and gifts have built the big hospitals of our state, allow the M. D.'s to dominate these institutions and bar qualified Osteopathic Physicians and their patients from these tax-free instituions? M.D.'s, do you want Educational Standards or Monopoly?

Can an M.D. get a license in the state of Texas without being examined by an Osteopathic Physician and Surgeon? NO—Every applicant to practice Medicine and Surgery in Texas must be examined by a board composed of six Allopaths, two Eclectics, one Homeopath (all M.D.'s—a total of nine M.D.'s)—and three Osteopaths.

Can a Chiropractor, Naturopath or graduate of any other School of Medicine obtain a license to practice in Texas?

YES—If he has two years pre-college work, four years of eight months each in his School and passes the present Medical examination.

Can the Legislature create special privilege for any School of Practice?

The answer is NO. The Texas Constitution says: "The Legislature may pass Laws prescribing the qualifications of practitioners of Medicine in this state, and to punish persons for Mal-Practice, But No Preference Shall Ever Be Given by Law to Any Schools of Medicine."

THE MINIMUM STANDARDS OR BASIC SCIENCE BILL SHOULD BE OPPOSED FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

The Composition of the board would be monopolistic in favor of the M.D.'s No other school represented on proposed board.

It would restrict the licensing of qualified physicians between States by reciprocity. The Medical Board during the last two years has licensed over seven hundred Doctors who had qualified themselves in other States. Under the proposed Basic Science Law none of these men could be licensed in Texas.

Arkansas and New Mexico have Basic Science Boards. They are short of qualified Doctors because of this act. Do you think the health of the people in Arkansas and New Mexico is any better than the people of Texas have enjoyed?

It would place qualified Doctors in double jeopardy—they would have to take the same subjects by two Boards.

Medical publications have repeatedly plugged for this bill as a screen to keep out Osteopathic Physicians.

It is the first step on the part of the M. D.'s to change the present Medical Practice Act to one that they can control for selfish reasons.

Only a very limited number of qualified physicians (M. D.'s) of Texas realize what the Medical Practice Act is, nor do they realize what the Minimum Standards Act will do to the Health of the Public in the Future. As a matter of fact, the chances are that not 5% of the M. D.'s in Texas have even read the new proposed Basic Science Law. As a clarification, ask your own Doctor if he has read the proposed Basic Science Law.

IF YOU ARE AGAINST THIS MONOPOLISTIC LEGISLATION — WRITE YOUR SENATOR AND REPRESENTATIVE:

The following are from your district: State Senator Kilmer Corbin, Lamesa; Pat Bullock, Colorado City; Grady Hazelwood, Amarillo; State Representatives, Preston Smith, Lubbock; A. J. Rogers, Childress; William B. Teague, Anson; Clyde Whiteside, Seymour; William J. Craig, Miami; J. Blake Timmons, Amarillo; I. B. Holt, Olton; Sterling W. Williams, Snyder; R. E.
