Noted Artists Enter Centennial Festival

Among more than 100 artists registered for the Rockport Art Association's first annual art festival, June 19-21, is Bob Dale of the San Antonio Express who is famous for his pencil, pen and ink and pastels of Texas longhorn cattle.

Also registered for the Centennial festival are Dick and Dot Turner, widely known Corpus Christi artists and teachers. Ruth Barre of Yoakum, who has won many exhibit awards, will be here. Jan Edmonson, a recent addition to the local artists' colony, will display her water colors.

A total of 92 out-of-town artists have registered, as well as more than 20 from this area. The artists will set up their easels and exhibits in the park area adjacent to Rockport harbor.

Rockport's Past Subject of Talk

Several significant incidents in the history of Rockport's development were described by the Rev. Lester Hill, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Wednesday at Corky's restaurant.

Hill uncovered the incidents during research for the Centennial souvenir booklet, "A Glimpse at our Past," which he compiled.

Contrary to popular opinion, the 1919 hurricane did not cause a major setback in the city's growth and its opportunity to obtain a deep water harbor.

According to Hill, residents of this area raised $700,000 to promote a deep water port for Rockport. However he said the money was not expended wisely and Corpus Christi managed to get the port instead of Rockport. He said the 1919 storm merely was a climax to a series of unfortunate events which dashed Rockport's hopes for a boom in population and industrial growth.

Hill pointed out that Rockport's population growth has been steady but never spectacular through the years, increasing about 20 per cent each census.

9 Wondrous Days of Centennial in Progress

The people of this area and visitors from many cities are enjoying the present this week while reliving the past during the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial Celebration which continues through Sunday, June 21.

Everywhere—in the stores, strolling in the business district, stopping at the Post Office for mail, eating in restaurants—men, women and children are dressed in the kind of clothes worn by ancestors of the folks who live here now.

This applies not just to customers but also to the people who are working—waitresses, clerks, service station attendants, bank cashiers. Most of the men have whiskers, and the ladies are dressed in southern belle gowns, old-fashioned bathing suits, sa-loon girl outfits and what-have you. And the children look wonderful—like they stepped out of an 1890 picture book, the little girls in wagon train dresses and bonnets, and the boys sporting fancy vests and derbies.

The city is appropriately decorated with bunting and flags, historical displays and all the trappings to evoke memories of the years gone by. It's like living in a city in 1870 with modern conveniences.

The Centennial officially opened at 10 a.m. Saturday with Youth Rodeo Day and colorful, exciting parade including not only floats and marching units but many fine looking horses. Other events on the opening day were the Youth Rodeo Preliminary con-

Treasure Hunt For $1,000 Set

In keeping with the historical background of this area, a pirate-buried treasure hunt, complete with maps and clues, is one of the more intriguing events of the nine-day Aransas County-Rockport Centennial celebration.

Up to 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, only five of the 126 buried treasure certificates had been discovered and turned in.

So get digging! Buried treasure, in the form of certificates redeemable for cash, will total $1,000. The smallest treasure will be $5. A total of 126 treasures will be buried in five designated areas in Aransas County and Rockport.

Maps which will provide clues will be printed on parchment-type paper, and sold for $1 each. They are expected to become valued souvenirs of the Centennial. Each map will contain clues for only one area. Although the five general areas will be identified with signs, only the maps will provide sufficient clues to direct a hunter to the immediate vicinity of the treasures. Treasure certificates will be buried in plastic containers.

Digging will continue during daylight hours of the nine days of the Centennial and will be confined to hunters owning maps. Only one treasure per digger will be allowed.

For youngsters there was a junior edition of the treasure hunt from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., Monday, June 15, in a roped-off area on Rockport beach. There are 60 treasures and an entry fee of 25 cents will be charged. The age limit is 12.

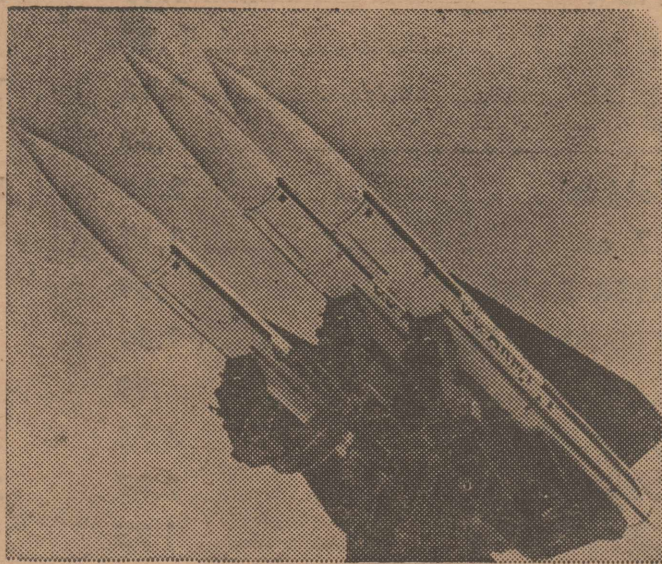

"What could be more appropriate than a pirate treasure hunt in this area?" asked Mayor Delmar Hiller, who is president of the non-profit corporation sponsoring the Centennial. "After all, the notorious pirate Jean LaFitte spent some time here and is reported to have buried some of his ill-gotten loot in these parts. Perhaps one of the diggers may unearth a part of his treasure during our Centennial treasure hunt."

News Deadline Now 5 p.m. Tuesday

In order to facilitate the setting of type for news stories, the Rockport Pilot re-emphasizes that the deadline for accepting news stories is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Part of the typesetting problems would be solved if people would bring in stories about meetings the day after the meeting is held. For example if a meeting is held on Thursday night, it would be helpful to the Pilot if someone would turn in an article on Friday instead of waiting until the following week.

The Pilot will continue to do its best to publish all the local news, but your assistance in getting stories in EARLY would help us considerably.

Catholics Celebrate Centennial Event

On Monday, priests who had formerly served at Sacred Heart Catholic Church gathered to help celebrate the Centennial with the Catholics of the Rockport area. A concelebrated Mass (that is, a Mass offered together by several priests at the same time) was said by the gathered friends and Bishop Drury in thanksgiving for the blessings which God has showered on the Rockport community.

In addition to the bishop the other priests were Fr. Robert Ullrich, present pastor; Msgr. William Hennel, now stationed in Refugio who gave the sermon; Msgr. Herbert Buckholt from Harlingen of the Brownsville diocese; Msgr. Gerald O'Doherty, pastor in Alice; Fr. Thomas Meany from neighboring Aransas Pass; Fr. Eugene Erdelt, soon to pastor of a new parish in Alice; and Fr. Greg Kania, present assistant pastor in Rockport who is to be transferred.

Representatives of the various committees of the newly-formed parish council were on hand for this celebration. Many of them and some of the other parishioners present wore their centennial outfits which gave an "oldtime" flavor to the atmosphere.

In the sermon Msgr. Hennel showed the important link between being a good Christian and a good citizen. He also urged parishioners to attend the ecumenical religious service to be held on Sunday, (Continued on Page 8)

County Auditor Submits Report

Robert D. Mosier, Jr., Aransas County auditor, has made an examination of the books and records of all county officers for the year 1969 and has submitted to Commissioners Court a report in the form of statements and schedules.

In addition to fund balances totaling $425,762.70 on Dec. 31, 1969, the County owned securities totaling $53,000 Mosier's report showed.

The County's outstanding debt at Dec. 31, 1969 amounted to $33,000, consisting of $5,000 road and bridge time warrants and $28,000 permanent improvement time warrants.

Permanent improvement time warrants in the amount of $28,000 were issued during 1969 for purchase of the county barn.

Maturities paid during 1969 were $46,000 for principal and $2,519.31 for interest. Requirements for 1970 are $33,000 for principal and $1,575 for interest, a total of $34,575, Mosier reported.

The Albatross of Corpus Christi provided music for the Tuesday night street dance. The Domingo Pena band played Wednesday evening following the Mexican Fiesta supper.

President Nixon Sends Greetings For Centennial

President Richard Nixon sent greetings to the citizens of this area in connection with the Aransas County-Rockport Celebration which comes to its conclusion Sunday, June 21. The President wrote:

"To the citizens of Rockport and Aransas County, it is a pleasure for me to send warmest greetings and best wishes to you for a most memorable and happy observance of your community's one hundredth anniversary.

"In the years ahead, I know that Rockport and Aransas County will record the same kind of determination that has characterized its past history.

"The role of local government is greater than ever. And never before have the contributions of your community been so vital to the progress and welfare of your country.

"Encouraged by justifiable pride in our past achievements, may you extend your success into the 70s and may you help make this the decade of exceptional local participation in natural life."

One More Promenade Planned for Friday

In response to popular demand, one more public promenade in Centennial costumes will be staged Friday, starting at 6 p.m., from Centennial headquarters, it was announced Wednesday by Bob Stroot, general chairman.

"Last Friday's promenade attracted a record turn-out so it was decided to provide one more opportunity for local residents to parade through the business district in costume," he said, adding that many additional costumes have been sold at headquarters or made at home during the past week.

Of course, all who have Centennial costumes are expected to wear them every day of the celebration. However, the final promenade will put dramatic emphasis on the spirit of civic cooperation which is helping to make the Centennial a success. It is hoped that everyone with a costume will turn out for the last promenade Friday.

Blue Angels to Salute Centennial

The Navy's Blue Angels, precision flying team, definitely will participate in the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial celebration, June 13-21, according to Lt. Commander James D. Davis who flies No. 7 plane and narrates air shows staged by the team.

The Blue Angels are scheduled to fly over Rockport with six planes in delta formation during the main parade of the celebration. The parade will start at 2 p.m. Thursday, June 18, and proceed through downtown streets, according to Bob Stroot, general chairman of the Centennial.

Commander Davis has written Stroot that the Blue Angels plan to make a second flyover during the parade if the fuel situation makes it possible. The Blue Angels will be on their way from their home base at Pensacola, Fla., to take part in the annual Navy Relief festival at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station starting June 19.

The Blue Angels have for years thrilled millions of spectators in this country and abroad with spectacular demonstrations of precision aerobatic and formation flying. Few realize, according to Commander Davis, that the maneuvers they use are the same as those taught every naval aviator during flight training. The difference is that the Blue Angels have perfected and refined these maneuvers and execute them with split second timing, he added. Many of the maneuvers are executed with the planes a scarce yard apart while flying at near supersonic speed.

Thirty-seven local girls have been competing for the Queen and Princess titles as well as a list of prizes, including a vacation trip for two to Acapulco.

The total amount of the crusade raised so far is $3,640.25. The additional amount needed to meet the Aransas County goal is $359.75.

THANK YOU, REV. HILL

Roy Rogero and Roy Woods, co-owners of The Rockport Pilot, received the following letter from the Rev. Lester G. Hill of The Historical Booklet Committee of Aransas County-Rockport Centennial, Inc.:

"Thank you very much for loaning your pictures to the Centennial to be used in the Historical Booklet. When you see the book, I am sure you will be pleased to know that you made a contribution to this fine effort. Personally, I know that without your help we would have failed.

"Thank you again for the pictures, which in themselves are a poignant presentation of our past."

The Pilot always is pleased to lend photographs and informative material to individuals and organizations to assist in the preparation of articles or booklets.

Also, we appreciate being thanked. Thank you, Lester.

Aransas County-Rockport Centennial, Inc., will proudly present the "Bustles to Bikinis," a Rogers Company spectacle staged and directed by Len Eyman, Thursday night, June 18, at the Rockport-Fulton High School football stadium.

Featuring more than 300 local men, women and children, the pageant will be staged Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The performers, dressed in authentic costumes, will depict the history of this area through dramatic portrayals, dances and music.

Each night, a pre-show presentation will begin at 7:30 p.m., and the pageant will follow. On Thursday night the Centennial Queen and her Princesses will be introduced, as well as Miss Texas and leaders from surrounding communities.

On Friday night, the pre-show will feature Pioneer Awards; on Saturday night, Centennial Belles will be honored; and on Sunday night, the Centennial organizers will be recognized.

As one who has a very small part in "Bustles to Bikinis," it is sincerely recommended that you plan to see the show on one of the four nights. Eyman has done a truly professional job in molding the performers into talented entertainers who will delight you.

The narrators do an outstanding job and the lighting is the type you'd expect to see at a Hollywood premier.

Come and see a topflight show.

The Carrousel Expands

A studio of decorative arts has been opened at The Carrousel.

Kitty Theodore said she refers to the addition as the Green Lantern Studio, because many years ago, there was a Green Lantern Tea Room in Rockport, and many of the items for sale in the studio will be decorated relics of the past, as well as other accent furnishings for the home.

Some of the larger items were formerly on display at The Market Place for Artists in Corpus Christi.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

REASON TO COMPLAIN

Today's senior citizens have a legitimate complaint. They grew up in an era when the device of the elderly was solicited and their wisdom valued.

Now that they've reached the age when they could expect someone to be interested in their views, everyone's listening to the younger generation. — Norfolk (Nb.) Daily News.

LOST: HAND MOWERS

Nowhere has mechanization been more complete than on the lawn. Just try to find one of those old-fashioned, hand-pushed, reel type law mowers every man used to push. They have been supplemented by power mowers, and it has happened in only a matter of years. Only a few hardy die-hards can be found who cling to their old mowers. Apparently they love the gentle whirr of the reel as they walk along.

On all sides they can hear progress as their neighbors' motors roar. With little fan fare, but with considerable advertising, power mowers become the thing to buy. They sound so efficient. But not only they are noisier, they are heavier. Some so heavy they have to be propelled by the motor.

A few of the more advanced householders have gone all out and bought riding mowers, some with attachments that will do almost everything. They are the ultimate. Unless someone invents a power mower especially designed for women. You can bet that would become the labor saving device most popular with the man of the house.—Topeka State-Journal.

Never before have American police departments been under such immense pressure to adjust to social change. Rulings of the U. S. Supreme Court have brought about changes in the way suspected criminals are handled, and the tense realities of ghetto existence have produced new departures in the way police approach their law enforcement task.—Garden City (N.Y.) Centennial Souvenir Items Available

Among the Centennial souvenir items still available for purchase are bronze commemorative coins, historical booklets, commemorative dinner plates and Pirate Treasure Hunt maps, according to Bob Mosier, Centennial treasurer. All may be bought at Centennial headquarters, 105 S. Austin.

Bronze coins which carry a reproduction of the Centennial official seal and an outline map of Texas sell for $1.50 each. Eleven matched and numbered sets of silver and bronze coins will be sold at auction prior to the "Bustles to Bikinis" performance in the high school football stadium Saturday night. These sets were reserved for this purpose when the original order of coins was received. The matched sets originally sold for $15 each.

A printing of 2,000 souvenir historical booklets is selling rapidly, but some are still available for $1.50 each.

The first order of 48 dozen commemorative dinner plates was sold out a few days after the shipment arrived. A second order of 15 dozen is expected to arrive in the next day or two. Many already have been reserved but about 60 are available for purchase or reservation. The price is $2.50 each.

Treasure hunt maps of this area printed on parchment-like paper and decorated appropriately offer attractive possibilities for framing. In addition, the maps, which include location clues, are being used in the $1,000 Pirate Treasure Hunt which continues through the Centennial celebration. The maps are $1 each. Mosier added that envelopes in which personal, business or other items of historical interest may be enclosed for deposit in the Centennial Time Capsules are being sold for $1 each by members of the Aransas 4-H club or at Centennial headquarters.

Letter to the Editor

"Flag Day"

Letter to the Editor
The Rockport Pilot

Dear Sir:

Tomorrow I am off to England on a business trip. I would hate to have to admit to our former rulers that Americans have lost respect for private property to the extent of stealing flags from their poles.

Mrs. Warren reports to me from the coast that one evening this week the American flag and Texas flag that we so proudly were flying in front of our cottage at the corner of the Beach Road and San Antonio Avenue in Fulton were hauled down and removed by persons unknown.

I can't believe that these flags were taken for their monetary value and I can't believe that the guilty persons could take much pride in flying stolen flags. So it must be pranksters—and I'll bet that if this message should reach them—that they know how proud we are to be able to fly our nation's and our state's colors, they would just as stealthily return those flags some dark evening.

Perhaps Mr. Kinsey would like to discuss this tender subject in his column. I will be interested—as I'm sure you would be, in the reaction.

Sincerely,
Ned Warren

Benny Bloomer and Elva Mullinax are members of the radio committee of the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department who have been authorized to purchase a new antenna for the base station. In last week's paper, it was inadvertently stated that Bloomer had donated an antenna.

Rebecca Baldwin's name was inadvertently omitted from the honor roll in last week's paper. She is a junior.

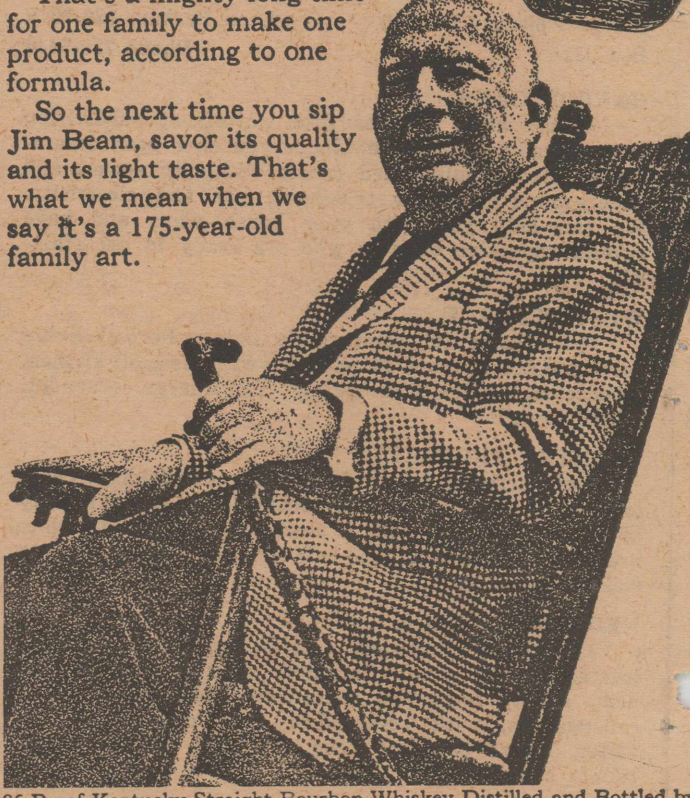

T. Jeremiah Beam.

Part of the Beam family art for 175 years.

Son of the famous Col. Jim Beam, T. Jeremiah is the fifth generation of the only Kentucky family that's made the same Bourbon since 1795. As a matter of fact, 1970 marks the 175th anniversary of the year that Jacob Beam, founder of the Beam clan, sold his first barrel of Kentucky Straight Bourbon Whiskey.

That's a mighty long time for one family to make one product, according to one formula.

So the next time you sip Jim Beam, savor its quality and its light taste. That's what we mean when we say it's a 175-year-old family art.

The Chamber acknowledges with sincere appreciation some very fine volunteer help with the float and the redecorating of the Chamber Building.

Miss Donna Washko lettered "Rockport Chamber of Commerce" on the back of the float, painted and lettered the sail (which was made by Mrs. Kay Ragot), and originated a new Toast of the Coast fish to replace the old one that had completely deteriorated. She drew the pattern and after the figure was cut out of plywood by Steve Clark, Donna painted the fish in colors established for this emblem. Our float is now well identified and decorated so it can be entered in events away from Rockport to give us proper representation. Thank you, Donna, for a job well done in completing the float.

Donna, home from college (Ohio University) for the summer, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Washko, who moved to Rockport from Cleveland, Ohio last November.

Mrs. Ella Anderson, a Rockport resident for about one and one-half years, gave the planter box at the entrance to the Chamber building a completely new look with marble stones and driftwood. Inside, Ella helped to cover the valances, and then "put the topping on the cake" with decorative touches: a beautiful flower arrangement which she made, and a tasteful rearrangement of the furniture. Thank you, Ella, for your fine help with this as well as previous projects.

Thanks also to Mrs. Ruth Gwynn of the Sea Shell Shoppe for the loan of numerous beautiful big shells and ivory pieces to dress up the planter box along with the marble stones and driftwood.

Marineland Boat Center furnished refreshments this week for the C of C hospitality program. Thank you Gordon.

The monastery was a popular tourist attraction with thousands of visitors a year coming to see the extensive vineyards. Always with an eye out for making money, the brothers opened a small fish and chip shop for the tourists. One day a tourist came into the shop and said to the brother behind the counter, Excuse me, but are you the fish frier?"

"No," said the brother on duty, "I'm the chip monk."—Regina (Sask.) Commonwealth.

tests and the official opening of the Youth Rodeo. From 8 to 11 p.m., the Paws and Taws regional square dance was held. Also, this was the opening day of the adult fishing contest.

In keeping with the plan to have fun and entertainment for people of all ages, the Centennial Celebration proceeded on schedule for the second day of events on Sunday.

Even in the churches, the ministers reminded their congregations of the many interested activities planned for the Centennial. One point stressed by the ministers was that preparations for the Centennial already had done a tremendous amount of good for the community.

The pastors explained that hundreds of local men and women had pitched in and worked together in carrying out the voluminous activities connected with the nine-day 100th birthday party for the area.

The important thing the ministers pointed out, was that this major event had provided the means of bringing together numerous local persons enabling them to get acquainted, become friends and co-workers in a common cause—the betterment of the community.

It was stressed that regardless of the financial outcome of the Centennial, regardless of how many out-of-town people attend, the event already has been extremely worthwhile for building goodwill and togetherness.

On Sunday, one of the major events was a fish fry sponsored by the Fulton Lions Club and the Paws and Taws at the Navigation District Park. Hundreds of people enjoyed the delicious food, the square dance music and the "calling" by Blackie Hardy.

Other events on Sunday (Shrimping Industries Day) which were of interest to local people and visitors were guided tours of Rockport Yacht and Supply Company, Casterline Fish Company and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Marine Labs and research vessel; also, youth rodeo finals and a free street dance.

Monday was "Young Americans Day," with events including kids bicycle parade, kids fishing contest and kids pet show, plus another free street dance.

The kids parade, stressing the patriotic theme, was a delight. Boys and girls rode bikes and tricycles, some pulled wagons and others marched. Many wore Uncle Sam hats, and American flags were displayed everywhere. Many signs were carried, such as one stating "I'm proud to be an American." Mothers walked along near the edge of the street, ready to help if their youngsters started to topple off their bikes. None did. It was a great parade. The highlight was the final little boy on a tricycle struggling to keep up and pulling a wagon bearing a sign with "Rockport, 1879-1970" on it.

Tuesday was "Merchants Day" with old-fashioned bargain days sales being offered by local merchants. Also providing fun was another free street dance.

Wednesday was "Mexican Fiesta Day," sponsored by American G.I. Forum, with a Mexican Fiesta supper served at the Turning Basin Park from 4 to 8 p.m. and with such guest stars present as Cantinflas. The street dance that night featured music by Monteguos and Conjunto Del Mar. Joe "Pepe" Zambrano was master of ceremonies.

Today (Thursday), is "Good Neighbor Day." The principal events scheduled are the gigantic Centennial parade, Miss Texas, the Blue Angels and many floats, bands and marching units; the Masonic 100th anniversary banquet; premier performance of "Bustles to Bikinis," historical pageant featuring 300 local performers and depicting the history of the area; and the Centennial Queen coronation. Also, there will be another free street dance.

Friday, June 19 will be "Aransas County Homecoming and Pioneer Day," opening of three-day Art Festival; Homecoming Open House at Woman's Club Building; Homecoming Luncheon at Key Allegro Hotel; tours of area homes; second night's performance of "Bustles to Bikinis"; and another free street dance.

Saturday, June 20, will be "Aqua - Sportsarama Day." Events include boat and sports show, amateur show; barbecue at Rockport Lions Club pit in Navigation District Park; boat parade around Ski Basin; Sea - Arama professional ski shows; sailing regatta; third performance of "Bustles to Bikinis"; and another free street dance.

Sunday, June 21 will be "Faith of Our Fathers Day." After church services, events will include antique auto parade; drag races; sailing regatta finishes; All Faiths Vespers Service at the high school football field; final performance of "Bustles to Bikinis."

Shrimp Migration Now Underway

Austin—One of the heaviest migrations of brown shrimp in three years has been counted at a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department study area in Cedar Bayou near Rockport. The count was made at the Department's shrimp trap on the night of June 4.

Terry Leary, coastal fisheries coordinator, said the juvenile and adult brown shrimp are in the midst of their annual migration out of the bay nursery areas into the open gulf. Large movements are reported from all Texas bay systems.

The shrimp are protected by State law in the gulf from June 1 to July 15, to allow the juveniles to attain adult size.

Leary said the mass exodus from the San Antonio Bay area may have been spurred by high waters on the San Antonio and Guadalupe Rivers, which flow into the bay.

Tree, Gifts Await Visit of Family

It was Christmas in June recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Sievers.

The festivities were complete with a Christmas tree bought in December and cared for until the visit of their daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren.

Visiting the Sieverses after a three-year tour in Japan are SM. Sgt. and Mrs. C. W. Redpenning and their four children, Kathi, 17; Charles, 14; Roxanne, 8, and Scott, 5.

"The tree wasn't fresh, but the decorations and presents were still just as pretty," Mrs. Sievers said.

Sievers has been keeping the tree in a bucket of gravel and water. "It has turned a little brown but the needles were still on," he said.

Redpenning has been reassigned to Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland.

Water Ski Show Set For June 20

One of the most spectacular events planned for the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial Celebration will be a water ski show in Little Bay Ski Basin on Saturday, June 20.

The widely known Doc Rail, who staged the highly successful performances at the 1969 Sea-Arama Water Ski Show at Galveston, will bring a number of skilled and fearless skiers here for what promises to be the most exciting water ski acts ever seen in the Rockport area.

The show will be presented in the form of a water comedy, with 13 acts to be staged in 26 minutes. The skiers will be given "stage" names and will perform the roles of various characters. The beach will be the stage, with the skiers swishing from the water to their places on the stage.

An interesting aspect of the show is that most of the performers will be college and high school girls and boys who must have maintained A or B averages.

Also, the show will feature a clown skier and his famous unsinkable boat, a performance which is sure to give the audience a lot of laughs and thrills.

Following the water comedy, skiers will demonstrate deep water barefoot starts, kite flying and other daring maneuvers.

Shows will be presented at 1:30, 3:30 and 5:30 p.m.

Centennial Edition of 'Finger of Earth' Is Published

A second edition of FINGER OF EARTH, a book of verse by Violet West Sone, former resident of Rockport, is now off the press. Written originally as a master's thesis at the University of Texas and subsequently published, the book has been out of print for several years. The new edition was published primarily to make copies available for the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial, June 13-20, which the author expects to attend.

Live Oak Peninsula, the "finger of earth" designated by the title, is described in a series of poems which narrate events in the peninsula's past and present and relate life in the coastal region to live universal. The rhythmic pattern used suggests waves lapping the shore.

Illustrated with actual photographs of the Rockport region, the book is available in both clothbound and paperback volumes. Other publications by the author include a travel book, 13 INNOCENTS ABROAD, a humorous account of a 42-day European tour taken by twelve women and one man. Since 1961 Mrs. Sone has written a monthly column in PEN Magazine, entitled "Memo to Teachers."

FINGER OF EARTH was written while Mrs. Sone lived in Rockport and taught in the public schools from 1936 until 1942. Her husband, Robert A. Sone, was a practicing attorney with offices in Corpus Christi. Their two children, Robert, Jr., and Rosemary, attended school in Rockport until the family moved to Corpus Christi.

During the sixties the Sones moved to their Hill Country ranch near Barksdale. For the past four years Mrs. Sone has been an English instructor at Southwest Texas Junior College in Uvalde and is now serving also as chairman of the Humanities Division at the college.

The Federation is beginning its second 50 years by setting goals and making plans to reach them. A total of 193 clubs were represented at the convention.

The Rockport B&PW Club was organized in 1953 and now has 33 members.

Keep the Whooping Cranes Coming

In 1948 Pete and Josephine made a vow to each other until "death do us part." But alas, their happiness was short-lived, for in July of 1949 Pete passed away.

Josephine, after a respectable time, took up with Chip in 1950. Again tragedy struck, when their first born died after only four days. The couple moved to another area, hoping to start a new life, and finally after a number of years, married by a series of tragic events too awful to mention here, Josephine gave birth to George, Georgeette, Pewee and Pepper.

Josephine passed away in September of 1965, and Chip met Rosie the next year . . .

No, this is not the continuing story of "Peyton Place," but rather the story of a few magnificent white birds, the whooping cranes.

The United States Department of the Interior Fish and Wildlife Service has printed a leaflet showing the history of the whooping crane flock and pointing out this rare bird's fight for survival.

Scarcely fifty of the birds exist today. Each spring these native North American birds, some standing five feet tall or more, make a hazardous flight of 2,600 miles from the Aransas National Refuge to the region of Great Slave Lake in northern Canada. Each autumn they return.

We in the Coastal Bend are fortunate to live near the Refuge with the added opportunity to see birds whose future is not at all assured. Let us hope those who love and care about the creations of nature will continue to support the Refuge and to protect the lives of the Chips, the Josephines, and the Rosies who make their winter home on the Texas coast.

Tourist Brochure Being Prepared

The Rockport-Fulton area will be receiving another publicity boost from the recently formed Rockport-Fulton Beach Tourist Association.

The organization, comprised of many of the area motels and cottages, has approved the creation of a Tourist Accommodation Brochure. The cost of the new booklet will be assumed by members of the Tourist Association. The brochure will be mailed to persons requesting information about our area.

Paul Montague, manager of Dobkin's Cottages, was appointed to supervise the production of the brochure and former advertising director of KTRK-TV in Houston.

The Rockport-Fulton Beach Tourist Association is endeavoring to establish uniform standards among motel operators in this area and to create additional publicity and good will for recreational facilities.

Mrs. Marie Hempel and Mrs. Frank Harris of West Columbia spent Sunday afternoon visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bracht.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Young of Channelview visited this week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Red Harist and daughter.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Adopting an Adult

In the mind's eye, the word "adoption" conjures up a vision of doting parents taking possession of a gurgling infant—their last to raise as their very own child.

That is, indeed, a typical scene in an adoption court. But there is another, quite different kind of adoption. In most states it is just as lawful to adopt an adult as to adopt a child. Furthermore, in terms of legal formalities, it is even easier.

For example, it is usually not necessary to get the consent of the adults natural parents, as it is with a child, or go through a waiting period before the adoption becomes final.

Why would anybody want to adopt an adult? Obviously, it is not to "raise" him. In most cases, the purpose is simply to make him the heir of the adopting parent or parents.

In fact, the procedure has been attacked for just that reason. In one case a childless old man adopted three of his relatives, each one middle-aged. After the man died, several other relatives went to court to challenge the adoption.

"There is nothing humanitarian about the whole thing," they argued. "It is merely a device to cut us out of the estate leaving these three as the only heirs."

But the court ruled that even if this was true, it did not invalidate the adoption. "This motive," said the court, "is a perfectly proper one."

Nevertheless, critics fear

DEAD BUT ALIVE with sight-seers is this region where a desert cave sheltered the famed Dead Sea scrolls for nearly 2,000 years. Caves and the remains of the settlement of the Dead Sea sect are popular spots with travelers touring Israel.

that the mere possibility of an adult adoption may lend encouragement to fortune hunters. In another case, a widower adopted his youthful housekeeper just before he died. This meant she could share in the man's estate along with his natural children.

But in a court hearing, the children pointed out that the young woman had also been their father's mistress, that he had become mentally infirm, and that she had wielded excessive power over him.

The court thereupon decided the adoption was null and void. The judge said an adult adoption, used as a substitute for a will, should—like a will—be free of undue influence.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—Can I get an agricultural deferment?

A—If you are just now making your request, no. Any request received or postmarked on April 23, 1970, or later, cannot be granted.

Q—If I made a written request for an agricultural deferment March 1, 1970, can it be granted?

A—You are entitled to it if you qualify, as your request was in prior to April 23, 1970.

Q—What has April 23, 1970, got to do with it?

A—On that date, the President of the United States issued an executive order withdrawing the authority of local boards to grant agricultural deferments if requests are received or postmarked April 23, 1970, or later.

Q—You said I could get the agricultural deferment if I "qualify," since I made my request March 1st. What do you mean by "qualify"?

A—Your board has to find you engaged in farming, that you cannot be replaced, and that your removal cause a material loss of effectiveness. Additionally, it has to find you are producing for market, not your own use, a substantial quantity of agricultural commodities measured in terms of the average annual production per farm worker which is marketed from an average farm of your locality. This local average farm must be of the same type as your farm.

The Kinsey Report

Justice of Peace Lawrence Miller was sitting behind the desk in his office waiting for business.

A man carrying a small paper sack entered. "Good morning," Lawrence said, "What have you got there?"

"Oh, I thought you might enjoy some coffee," the man said, seating himself.

"Well thank you," Lawrence said, that was mighty neighborly. What's on your mind?"

The man reached in his pocket and pulled out a piece of paper. "The State Highway Patrolmen stopped me last night and said I was going too fast," the visitor explained.

Lawrence busted out laughing. "What were you trying to do? Bribe me with a cup of coffee?" he chuckled.

"Never entered my mind," the man said.

"Were you exceeding the night speed limit of 65 miles per hour on Highway 35 between Aransas Pass and Rockport on the night of June 14?" Miller asked.

"Fraid so," the man replied. "Why were you in such a hurry?" Miller asked.

"Got no good excuse," the man said. "I've got a mighty nice little sports type car that holds the road beautifully and just seems to want to get going. Also, I was anxious to get home to be with my wife and my 90-year-old Dad who is visiting from California."

"That's very interesting," Miller said, sipping his coffee. "That little spurt will cost you

CAT SUITS reflect a carnival frame of mind on the part of designer Courreges. They have bright plastic spots, a revealing cutaway section and are worn with colored wigs and crazy opaque sunglasses.

$15," he said.

I gave him $15.

I wish to state that Miller did what was right and so did the two State Highway Patrolmen: Officers Willie D. Hill and his new partner, Morgan. They were efficient and polite.

So, my little spurt cost me $15 for the fine, 16 cents for the coffee (including 1 cent for take-out container and sack), and the experience undoubtedly will slow me down and may save my life.

Seems like I've been going faster on foot and by car ever since I grew a mustache and goatee for the Centennial.

Slow down, your old goat!

RICHARD ANDERSON TO ATTEND AIR FORCE PREPARATORY SCHOOL

Richard J. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Anderson, has received notice that he has been selected to attend the Air Force Academy Preparatory School located at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Outstanding students are selected each year to attend the Air Force Preparatory School prior to winning an appointment to the Air Force Academy. Students selected are required to meet all the physical and scholastic standards of appointees to the Air Force Academy.

Anderson, a 1970 honor graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School, was active in school club work and other activities. An outstanding athlete, he was selected as All-District offensive guard for the 1968 football season and was selected as All-Star offensive guard for the 1969 football season.

MANY COUNTY RESIDENTS PARTICIPATE IN SOCIAL SECURITY

Social security benefits paid to residents of Aransas County totaled $121,000 a month at the end of 1969, H. M. Cleveland, social security district manager, in Corpus Christi, reports.

Since President Nixon approved a law passed by Congress, the amount now being paid is 15 per cent more for the 1,475 social security beneficiaries in this county.

These figures include retired workers and their dependents, survivors of workers who have died, and disabled workers and their families.

In Texas, 321,147 people under age 60 are now receiving social security payments each month. Some of them are under 18; they receive payments because either their father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits, Cleveland said.

In this state, there are 30,272 students who are 18 through 21 years of age, whose benefits are continued after age 18 and up to 22 if he or she is unmarried and attending school full time.

A small but significant number of beneficiaries are the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to work, Cleveland explained. The benefits to these people, who are severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue for life unless they become able to work.
