Plan now to attend the PANHANDLE CENTENNIAL celebration at Pampa June 2, 3, 4, and 5, with which is combined a Pioneer's Roundup and Oil Men's Reunion. It is a GREATER celebration for the whole Panhandle.

Twinkles

Germs, we read, often change their characteristics. The things act almost human sometimes, in their cussedness in picking the time and severity of attack.

★ ★ ★

A simple substitute for AAA would would be for the government to insure the farms against drought, and to pay off only when it doesn't rain. It might rain some year.

★ ★ ★

Texas independence was won in 18 minutes. Today we waste more time than that waiting for every meeting to start.

★ ★ ★

We haven't lost a dollar bill from a pocket since 1929. And the depression won't really be over until we find one, while just walking along and not looking for one.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Rocsevelt is good at laying corner stones, but when it comes to throwing them, he merely picks up a stone wall and hurls it over the ether waves.

★ ★ ★

Musing of the moment: Some folks seem to be born to knock Life around as a small boy treats a rag doll. Others are chilled by it, accepting whatever niche into which they stumble. And some are buffeted about, to their hurt, until they learn that living is a rough-and-tumble game, in which bumps are inevitable and comebacks readily possible. . . Most folks save nothing, hence are never able to seize or make opportunities. . . Some of those are happiest who live humbly and without responsibilities, coveting little, enjoying abundant even if rather empty leisure.

Brevitorials

WISHING TO make one's country better is no crime in the United States, as it is in many countries. But they are short-sighted, indeed who preface their reform ideas with bitter tirades against the institutions and the factors which make America—today—great. . . Much is wrong with Americans as humans. Our democracy, especially in its economic aspects, is not perfect.

★ ★ ★

But much is right in America. Half of our unemployed men and women have never been on the relief rolls. Millions of farmers own their land and are not subject to foreclosure. Indeed, farmers as a class have a financial standing far above that generally believed. Their debts, while large, are not as great as that of the average line of business.

★ ★ ★

TAXES ARE high, because we have taken time by the forelock and proceeded to advance our progress beyond our current ability to pay. But it was our decision, we rejoice in its fruits, and we can blame only ourselves—and not our form of government—if we have voted bonds to excess.

★ ★ ★

We are secure in our homes. Kidnaping has been hit by an efficient arm of a resourceful government. Public enemies are few. Outbreaks here and there merely emphasize the fact that, as a people, we are remarkably safe on our streets and in our homes. Our businesses are looted sometimes, it is true, but we can have the kind of law enforcement we demand.

★ ★ ★

WE CAN WORSHIP as and when we please. No troops invade our churches, no dictator limits our pastorates, no government confiscates church property. . . We can break up, lamentably, into myriad faiths and reduce religion to a systemless maze. But the important thing is that we are unfettered in our worship.

★ ★ ★

Our press is free. Sporadic attacks upon its freedom are repulsed. News sources are, compared with the old world conditions, remarkably pure. Our news policies are as good as the citizens who guide the papers. No dictators propagandize our people, demand fawning tributes, crush opposition, deceive the public as to the facts.

★ ★ ★

OUR SCHOOLS are our own. Our trustees and faculties determine their policies. An enlightened state administration guides curriculum making, yet leaves a broad freedom of choice to the schools and to the students. Every man and women who has the energy can have a formal education and access to the world's store of information.

★ ★ ★

We still have rewards for genius, for hard work. Opportunities to work are more abundant, for those with enterprise and resourcefulness, than generally imagined. The problem of unemployment will be solved. For we make our own

400 Delegates And Visitors Register For District P-TA Meeting

CONGRESSMAN JAILED AFTER SCUFFLE

LOCAL RECORD BOOKS PLACE IN TOP CLASS

TWO BOOKS WILL BE SENT TO STATE CONFERENCE

More than 400 delegates and visitors to the conference of eighth district Parent-Teacher associations had registered by noon today. Attendance was expected to reach a peak at today's sessions. A complimentary luncheon and a tea for delegates, and a morning, afternoon, and evening program are scheduled. The annual election will close this afternoon's meeting. Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar has been nominated as president.

Four state officers, 19 district officers, and 43 presidents of local, city, and county associations were among those registered. The state officers are Mrs. A. Y. Troutman of San Antonio, seventh vice-president and representative of the president; Mrs. H. F. Godeke of Lubbock, parliamentarian; Mrs. J. M. Crain of Amarillo and Mrs. W. B. LaMaster of Perryton, chairmen of state committees.

Ranking of publicity record books was announced by Mrs. J. M. Crain Pampa's city council placed first in class A, with a grade of A double-plus on its book. Horace Mann of Pampa was second, and both these books will be sent to state and national conferences for display.

A score of the record books were displayed during the public welfare conference which was a feature of the morning program. Mrs. J. M. Crain was director, conducting the conference in the form of a grand jury investigation.

Supt. H. P. Clemens of Dimmitt took the part of the district attorney, Mrs. A. H. Montgomery of Darouzzett of the court stenographer, Miss Elizabeth Kennedy of McLean as the clerk, Mrs. R. L. McReynolds of Dumas of the bailiff.

Witnesses were Supt. J. B. Speer of Morse for library service, Mrs. P. L. Reppert of Amarillo for motion pictures, Mrs. W. B. Irwin of Perryton for recreation, Supt. Irby Carruth of Canyon for safety, Mrs J. E. Griggs of Amarillo for radio.

Mrs. Hugh Cypher of Borger, a native of Australia who has recently visited relatives there, was an

Earl Johnson To Seek Office As Commissioner

Earl Johnson authorized The NEWS yesterday to announce his candidacy for the office of commissioner of precinct 3, subject to the action of the Democratic primary July 25.

He has been a resident and taxpayer of Gray county for the last fifteen years and has had four years of road building experience. This road work was with the same company during the entire four years. He feels that this knowledge is valuable due to the fact that a large per cent of the money of the county is spent for road building and maintenance.

40 and 8 Will Rehearse 'Wreck' At Hut Tonight

The 40 and 8 will rehearse the "wreck" for the Legion convention to be held here May 2, at the regular meeting of the order tonight at 8 o'clock at the Legion hut. All members are urged to attend.

Kerley-Crossman post members at their regular meeting last night discussed plans for the convention. It was decided to extend the time when members will be sentenced to the menial tasck of sweeping the city streets, that is of course, if they do not bring in the required numbers, to May 6.

It was announced that the post now lacks only ten members of doubling the membership this year.

OUT-OF TOWN CHAIRMEN OF FETE NAMED

Wynne And Party Visit In 8 Counties; Old Ranch In Hansford Is Seen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wynne, Mrs Archie Cole and J. A. Meek visited in eight north Panhandle counties yesterday afternoon contacting persons who will secure relics for the Panhandle Centennial celebration to be staged in Pampa on June 2, 3, 4 and 5. The party drove 298 miles and visited 16 towns and cities.

The chairmen will head committees who will gather old relics such as guns, knives, clothing, pictures, tools, furniture and other items of historical importance. Prizes will be awarded the best display or item.

The trip was especially interesting to Mr. Wynne who met many old friends whom he had not seen in many years. The trippers visited the old Bob and Jim Cator ranch in Hansford, one of the oldest in the Panhandle. The Cators came to the Panhandle in 1873 to be the first settlers.

Chairman appointed by the trippers were:

R. L. Grimes, Borger, banker; Mr. W. L. Helley, Stinnett, court clerk; Mrs. Henry Reed, Morse, cashier at bank; Mr. A. R. Bort, Gruver, cashier at Bank; Burl B. Brockus, Spearman, cafe owner; State representative Rogers, Farnsworth; Miss Moina Caldwell, Perryton, cashier of bank; Miss Allie Gorton, Booker, cashier; Mr. Melvin L. Beck, cashier; Mrs. Dell Teter, Follett, cashier; Mr. Pearl O. Boyd, Lipscomb county clerk; Mr. and Charlie Hyde, Higgins, president of bank; Mr. C. L. Tackett, Glazier, grocer; Mrs. J. F. Catterton, Canadian, cafe owner; Mr. Jack Montgomery, Miami Chevrolet agent; Oliver Elliott, Mobeetie, rancher.

3 Small Houses Are Destroyed by Flames in LeFors

Three small houses were destroyed by fire last night in LeFors. The Pampa fire department was called but before it arrived the houses were in ashes. Pampa firemen, however extinguished a burning telephone pole with water from the booster tank.

Cause of the fire has not been determined. The three houses, two rooms each, were close together and volunteer firemen were unable to save any of them. The Texan hotel, across the street, was undamaged.

The houses were owned by "Grandpa and Grandma" Doan.

MEN NEAR STARVATION WHEN TAKEN ALIVE FROM HOLE

(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., April 23 (AP)—Dr. D. E. Robertson and Charles Alfred Scadding were removed from 10 days' living death in an underground tomb early today while toil hardened miners chanted the doxology.

When the two emaciated men sick and weak from their long imprisonment in the Moose River gold mine, were brought to the surface, the hundreds of weary men who had fought against death under ground sang:

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow—praise him all creatures here below—"

And the two men who had been below smiled and waved weakly from their stretchers.

Behind them, up the 141 feet leading from the prison chamber was carried the body of Herman Magill who, unable to endure the underground privations any longer had died early Monday, after seven days imprisonment.

Dr. Robertson, noted Toronto surgeon and 62 years old, had withstood the experience the best. He was able to crawl part of the way up the shaft before being placed on the stretcher.

Scadding, 44 years old, and mine time-keeper, had to be carried all the way, for his feet were badly swollen and sore. Both men were suffering from cold.

Magill, a Toronto attorney, was only 30 years old.

The two living men were placed at

Pie Supper To Be Held Friday Night at Hoover

Baseball teams of the Hoover community east of Pampa will benefit from a pie supper to be given at the school house tomorrow evening.

The senior team and the Boy Scout nine will share the proceeds. Boy Scouts will supervise the supper.

The public is invited to attend the event, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

Fire Protection Afforded Three Parts Of Pampa

Grandstand at Race Track May Be Up For Centennial

Better fire protection will be afforded in three parts of Pampa as a result of letting of a contract last night for 2,500 feet of 6-inch pipe.

The city commission awarded the contract to the National Cast Iron company of Dallas, at a price of 80 cents a foot. Lead was bought at 6¼ cents a pound.

Additional fire plugs will be provided on East Francis avenue, in the Priest addition, and in southwest Pampa where the Pampa Milling company is re-building its plant, destroyed by fire several months ago.

The commission deferred purchase of materials for a grandstand at the new municipal race tarck. It is seeking more bids. A. A. Meredith, district WPA administrator, told the commission yesterday that he might be able to transfer some lumber for the project in time for building the grandstand for the Centennial celebration here June 2, 3, 4, and 5.

Chutes and pens will be erected and a fence placed around the new track. No horse racing is planned, but it is possible that automobile racing may be attempted during the celebration. The first race meet is expected to be held next fall.

Mayor W. A. Bratton and Commissioner Marvin Lewis reported on a trip to the Federal Bureau of Public Roads at Fort Worth, where they were told that an underpass at the Cuyler street crossing here would create more traffic hazards than it would remove.

Dynamite Cap Explodes, Burns Arm of Child

Evelyn White, 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. White, South Ballard street, didn't know she was playing with dynamite late yesterday when she ignited a string attached to a small cylinder with which she had been playing.

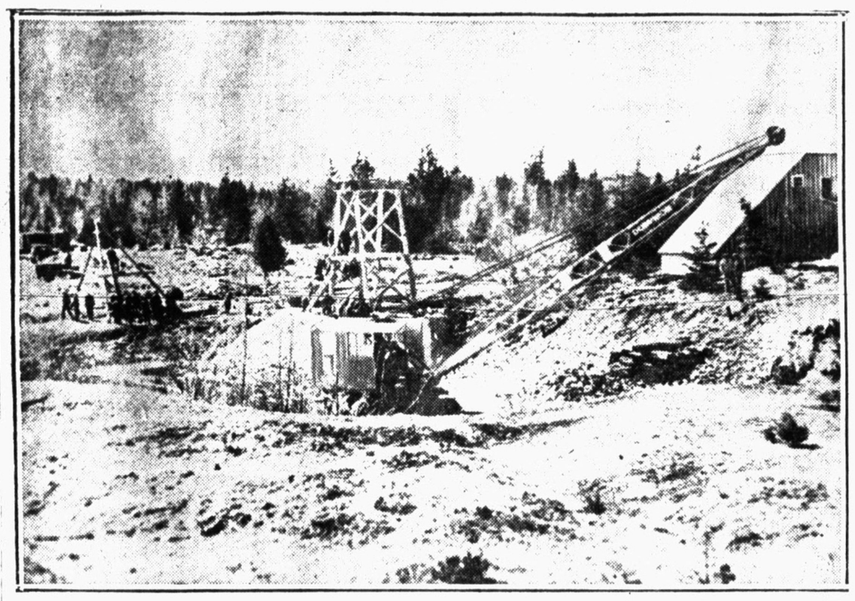

There was an explosion and Evelyn received severe burns on an arm and one side. She was rushed to Worley hospital in an ambulance for treatment. This morning she was able to be taken home.

The little girl, and a small boy companion, were playing in an empty house near her parents' home when she found what turned out to be a dynamite cap. A contractor had used the building as a storehouse and it is believed the dynamite cap had been accidently dropped when the building was emptied.

BRINKLEY SUED

DEL RIO, April 23. (AP)—A suit in which Mrs. L. A. Wynn of Henrietta, Texas, asked $4,600 damages from John R. Brinkley, former Kansas "goat gland specialist," in connection with the death of her husband was called for trial today in district court here. Mrs. Wynn's petition said her husband died at Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 6, 1934, after asserted treatments at the Brinkley hospital here. Attorneys agreed to a jury trial.

MILLION HAVE TAKEN TO OPEN ROAD SINCE '29

Economic Status Is Not Improved by Migrating

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Because hills look greener far away, nearly 1,000,000 persons have taken to the open road since 1929. This was reported today by Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, and he indicated that most of the wanderers have learned that their vision of a better life in distant parts is only a mirage. A majority of them did not improve their economic status by migrating, he said.

Hopkins published a study of destitute wanderers aided under the FERA and WPA, with the comment that "only as this transient population, which arose out of the depression, is given work can it be reabsorbed into the more stable population of the country."

The daily average number of persons housed and fed at transient camps and overnight shelters between May, 1934, and April, 1935, was 350,000, including 50,000 family groups averaging three persons each.

"Futility marked the wanderings of a majority insofar as improving their economic condition was concerned," Hopkins said, explaining that although some did find work it usually did not last long.

"Until private industry can reabsorb them," he added, "the works program has undertaken to provide as many jobs for employable transients as well as for the resident employable workers as possible."

FERA overnight-shelters have been closed and transients unable to work have been sent to their homes, but most of the able-bodied have been given WPA jobs, Hopkins said.

Wooden Nickels Will Be Issued for Souvenirs

The inevitable clash between the budget committee of the Panhandle Centennial celebration and the various committee chairmen who are planning the local event of June 2, 3, 4, and 5 is under way.

Good-naturedly, but in all earnestness, the groups last night talked of rodeos, parades, oil men's stag dinner, dances, pageant, relic displays, advertising trips, welcomes to governors, baseball, and other phases of the mammoth celebration. More than once those in charge of finances groaned audibly and prayed for good weather.

Financing such a celebration is difficult. While most events are in theory self-sustaining, a few days of rain could leave the general committee deeply in debt. And such things as advertising, parades, and dinners do not pay their way. How to obtain money for the long celebration was the problem.

Somebody thought of coining money. And the committee decided to do just that. As in all counterfeiting, a cheap material for making the coins was needed. But what is cheaper than wood?

So the Centennial committee is going to print several thousand wooden nickels.

They will be souvenirs of the celebration, made in the shape of paper money, and printed on real wood—thin sheets which are surprisingly flexible. The nickels will be redeemable at full value up to a stated date, but here's the point: The committee hopes that most of ADDIS ABABA, April 23.—Ethiopian troops blasted whole sections of the Dessye-Addis Ababa road today in a supreme effort to stem the Italian advance as Ras Nasibu reported victory after a fierce three-day battle in the south.

Reports received at government headquarters said troops under the personal direction of Emperor Haile Selassie were continuing a major offensive south of Dessye.

As an emergency measure in defense of the capital, the sections of the highway were being hurled over almos perpendicular cliffs.

From the Ethiopian chieftain's headquarters at Daggah Bur, Ras Nasibu reported the fascist army's drive in Ogaden province was brought to a standstill.

The Southern Ethiopian commander said the blackshirts were driven "several tens of kilometers" south of Badudanan.

The Italian leader, Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, rushed reinforcements up and compelled the Ethiopians to retire to Badudanan, Ras Nasibu declared.

Gas Hearing Will Be Held May 11

AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—The Railroad commission and the attorney general's department went ahead today with plans for conserving gas in the great Panhandle reservoir.

Despite a recent decision by a federal court knocking out the order enforcing ratable taking, the commission called a hearing in Amarillo May 11 to consider gas-oil ratios water exemptions and other matters affecting gas production, preparing for an exhaustive study based on new tests.

Attorney General William McCraw, likewise championing conservation, moved to defend another federal court decision upholding Texas' right to prohibit use of sweet gas for the manufacture of carbon black.

Informed that the Henderson company, recently refused an injuction against the sweet gas-carbon black law, would appeal to the United States Supreme Court, McCraw expressed confidence in the outcome.

The company claims the law unconstitutional in that it interferes with its contracts to deliver gas to carbon black manufacturers and takes property without due process of law.

There was a possibility that the ratable taking and carbon black cases would be heard at the same time by the Supreme Court. The former were rought by the Texhoma and Consolidated Gas companies, which sell gas in Chicago and other out-of-state cities.

BATTLE WITH POLICE LOST BY ZIONCHECK

SPEEDING AT 70 MILES AN HOUR CHARGED BY POLICEMAN

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Chairman O'Connor (D-N Y) of the house rules committee, appeared at traffic court today and paid $45 in fines to obtain the release of Rep. Zioncheck of Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Rep. Zioncheck of Washington was sentenced in traffic court today to $20 fine, or 48 hours in jail for contempt of court in addition to $25 assessed for speeding.

Judge Walter J. Casey at first had made the contempt sentence $20 or 20 days, but after returning to his chambers had discovered he could not sentence to jail for more than 48 hours on this charge.

Zioncheck immediately was returned to the detention cell and the judge left the bench.

The representative's secretary was permitted to confer with him in the cell. As Zioncheck was taken out he was overheard to say to her:

"Get in touch with Speaker Byrns immediately."

Court officials a few minutes later said the representative had refused to pay the $20 contempt fine and that papers were being prepared to commit him to the District of Columbia jail.

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—Rep. Zioncheck of Washington was forcibly removed from traffic court today for creating a disturbance in objecting to a court recess of 45 minutes during a hearing on a speeding charge against him.

He was locked up in a cell near the courtroom.

The courtroom was in wild disorder during the scuffle.

He was acting as his own attorney in arguing the case when Judge Walter Casey announced that the court would recess and started to retire from the bench.

"Just a minute," Zioncheck shouted, "what about my case?"

BRITAIN VIEWS MURDER

It wasn't especially pleasant to read about the hanging of that English woman who poisoned an aged cripple to win an inheritance. But the story had overtones, just the same, on which we in America could dwell with some profit.

For if there ever was a case designed to show how British justice manages to get along without all the lather of sentimentality and soft-headedness which afflict the American variety, this was it.

Consider the facts briefly. Mrs. Dorothea Waddingham, trained nurse and mother of five children, fed poison to a patient who had made a will bequeathing to Mrs. Waddingham a considerable sum of money.

There evidently was no doubt as to her guilt; however, there was a man in the case—the father of two of Mrs. Waddingham's children—who was tried with her and found not guilty.

Because Mrs. Waddingham had five children, because it may have seemed that she was not solely responsible for the crime, and because the execution of a woman is never a matter which ordinary folk can contemplate calmly, the jury that convicted her added a strong recommendation for mercy.

The trial judge indorsed it. The public signed numerous petitions to the same effect.

But all this made no difference. These appeals went to the convicted British criminal's last resort, the home secretary—in this case, Sir John Simon—and he refused to intervene. Despite her five children, despite public sympathy, despite the attitude of judge and jury, Mrs. Waddingham was duly hanged in the manner prescribed by law.

The British, you see, have an old-fashioned notion that murder is a serious crime. They feel especially bitter about poisoners. Poison is so easy to administer, so hard to detect; the British seem to feel that, unless poisoners are given the heaviest penalties the law allows, without exception, their tribe will increase beyond all endurance.

So Mrs. Waddingham was hanged, in spite of everything. And the next time some English nurse feels moved to slip a little rat-killer into a wealthy patient's soup, it is quite likely that Mrs. Waddingham's experience will rise before her mind's eye and cause her to pause.

All this is worth going into at this length because, in America, we never seem able to adopt that eminently sensible viewpoint. Our sentiment always goes out to the killer, not to his victim.

If we had had Mrs. Waddingham over here, we would have had innumerable appeals, stays, reprieves, and pleas for clemency. In the end, the lady might have spent as many as five years behind the bars; and her case would have been no deterrent at all to other potential poisoners.

The contrast is too striking to overlook. British law may at times be heartless and cold, but it is strictly logical. And—which is very much to the point—it does put the fear of God into murderers.—B. C.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

—BY RODNEY DUTCHER—
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—The fuss over big AAA benefit payments has served to bring out angles of the farm program which, although they won't be made into campaign issues, seem to reflect more seriously on the record than the mere fact that big payments were made to big producers in accordance with law.

Displacement of sharecroppers and tenant farmers, notably in the south, is ground for one of the chief complaints.

The news that Thomas D. Campbell had received about $50,000 for not raising wheat was not considered as significant, except by politicians, as that Campbell as a "sharecropper" could pocket 85 per cent of the benefit payments while Indian owners of land which he rented pocketed 15 per cent at a time when cotton sharecroppers theoretically were averaging about 15 per cent of benefit payments and cotton land owners about 85 per cent.

The R. E. Lee Wilson plantation in Arkansas received the largest cotton payments—$199,700 in 1933 and 1934. Interest in that sum is accentuated by charges of the Southern Tenant Farmers' Union that the firm changed from a share-cropping system in order not to have to share benefits, threw hundreds on relief, and re-hired workers at 75 cents for a 12 to 14-hour day.

This practice has been widespread, it is said, necessitating large relief and Resettlement expenditures in addition to AAA benefit money.

Many croppers and tenants are alleged to have been phenagled out of all share in benefits and the AAA here has been powerless to correct that, because its local representatives usually are plantation owners.

Under the new AAA soil program, owners are supposed to give sharecroppers about 25 per cent of federal payments and no one here is prepared to say how many evictions or evasions may be expected.

There has been constant conflict within AAA ranks as to what should be done to protect croppers and tenants, the plantation owners' side being upheld by Cully Cobb, chief of the AAA cotton section. Croppers actually have been receiving 11 to 12 per cent of the benefit payments, officials say.

Meanwhile, the threat of the Rust brothers' cotton picker hangs heavy over the whole situation.

Also into the picture comes Mr. Oscar G. Johnston, manager of the federal cotton pool and manager of the British-controlled Delta and Pine Land Co., which received the third largest cotton payment.

Johnston has in time past been virtual boss of the cotton program. It was he who jammed through the government's cotton loan policy and especially the 12-cent loan rate over the original objection of Secretary Wallace and many others.

The loan policy loaded the government with 5,000,000 bales of cotton and, according to experts, caused a large decrease in cotton consumption—especially in foreign markets, since cotton owners who could get 12 cents a pound from the government naturally didn't care to export at lower prices.

A Brookings Institution report on AAA cotton control asserts that by the fall of 1935 the AAA was financing the holding of nearly twice as much cotton as the much-abused old Federal Farm Board, in spite of marked reductions in the amount of cotton produced.

A contributor to a Nebraska paper tells of lighting a match to see if he had any gas in his tank. There are, however, better ways to become a ghost writer.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, April 23. (AP) — Recent court decisions have strengthened the railroad commission in regulating domestic gas rates. Public utilities, notably the Lone Star Gas Co., however, have indicated intention to fight the decisions to the United States supreme court if necessary.

The initial decision was by the third court of civil appeals in a suit involving the city gate rate on the Lone Star system. The commission, after a long hearing, ordered the gate rate reduced from 40 to 32 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The utility won in the trial court, obtaining a jury verdict, but the decision was overturned in a sweeping opinion by the appeals tribunal.

The second judgment was rendered against the company by District Judge Ralph Yarborough, former assistant attorney general, who was appointed by Gov. Allred.

Judge Yarborough, although it was his first major case, showed no hesitancy in construing what gas company lawyers considered a jury decision in their favor as a verdict for the state in the Community Natural Gas Co. case involving burner tip rates at Wichita Falls. The appeals court decision in the gate rate case was a guiding factor in the Wichita Falls controversy.

The railroad commission's decree reducing the domestic rate in Wichita Falls from 67½ cents to 61 cents per 1,000 cubic feet was based largely on the reduction the distributing company received through the lower gate rate although the Community Natural Gas Co. is a subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas Co. from which it purchased the gas.

"With a 32-cent gate rate and a 61-cent domestic rate the gas company at Wichita Falls will enjoy a spread of 29 cents, an increase of 1½ cents over the 40-67½ cent spread it has heretofore enjoyed," Judge Yarborough summed up the case in an oral opinion.

"Evidence shows that the Lone Star Gas Corp., a holding company, owns all of the Community Natural Gas Co. stock and most of the Lone Star Gas Co. stock. Hence, the Lone Star Gas Co. has made a contract with itself. The company has the legal duty to pay 32 cents and allow an eight-cent reduction to the consumers at Wichita Falls. That duty is higher than that of upholding the contract it has made with itself."

He also ruled the domestic consumers were entitled to a refund from Dec. 1, 1933, on the difference in rates.

On the heels of this decision the commission slashed rates in Sherman from 67½ to 57 cents per 1,000. Sherman also is served by the Community Natural Gas Co. The distributor was ordered to refund the difference in the rates from Dec. 1, 1933.

Ellis Bever, head of the Kansas state income tax department, estimates collections this year may exceed last year's $1,400,000 by 30 per cent.

Ledford And Dilbeck Yearn To Pitch Huber Tilt Sunday

Road Runner Park Is Getting Complete Overhauling

There is a battle being waged every afternoon down at Road Runner park. Manager Sam Hale is not interfering In fact, he is encouraging the fight.

Two lefthanders are in the midst of the fracas which is all over who will take the mound Sunday afternoon in Borger when the Pampa Road Runners meet the Huber Blackfaces at 3 o'clock.

Big Gene Ledford, who was credited with the loss against Huber last Sunday, wants to take the mound in Borger. Slim Dilbeck, another portsider, is just as anxious to get a crack at the Blackfaces. The two have been really working and are still running neck and neck for the starting assignment.

"It looks like a toss-up," reported Manager Hale this morning. "If the rest of the players will hustle and battle like those two left-handers, we should win many games. The boys are working hard and showing much improvement. With another addition or two we will be ready for all comers."

The Road Runners will return home on May 3 to a different looking park. The entrance will be changed, box seats will be enlarged, the roof will be repaired and much work will be done on the field. A remote control hookup with radio station KPDN will be installed next week and some of the forthcoming games will be broadcast.

Lights will be installed next week and will be ready for the arrival of the House of David team, which is scheduled to be here on May 8. The reflectors are being washed and the interiors re-painted with special Giant Lighting company material. The outsides will be painted aluminum. Flood lights will be installed at each end of the grandstand, pointing at home plate.

The Aztecas, great Mexican ball team, and the Monarch Giants, negro nine, will also appear in Pampa next month.

BARGAIN.

CHICAGO—Terms of Mrs. Elizabeth Jarchow's divorce from Wilhelm Jarchow, as approved by Judge Rudolph F. DeSort: (1) Mrs. Jarchow to pay her husband $500; (2) Jarchow to go back to Germany "He's a gigolo," Mrs. Jarchow testified. The charge was cruelty.

STANOLIND JOINS SKELLY TO FORM STRONG BASEBALL TEAM—TO MEET TONIGHT

Stanolind and Skelly baseball teams will be merged this year to form a more formidable unit, it was announced today.

The consolidated team will use the Skelly diamond.

The merger was effected Monday night. Tonight at the Acme Lumber company in Skellytown, both teams will meet to complete plans. Everyone interested is urged to attend this session.

U. S. TO SEND 350 ATHLETES TO ENTER IN BERLIN GAMES

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 22. (AP)—All "bear" stories to the contrary notwithstanding, your Uncle Samuel is going to muster a full quota of athletic boys and girls for the eleventh Olympiad in Berlin this summer.

The fund-raising has met with difficulties in certain localities but the powers-that-be in the American Olympic committee now have sufficient assurances, plus prospects, to guarantee that at least 350 athletes will wear the traditional shield in competition abroad.

The maximum, figured on originally is 411, but this is subject to some "pruning" in events where the United States does not have a chance of scoring. It may yet be possible, however, to "go the limit."

Financing plans now call for each sport to handle the cost of sending its own representation to Berlin. Thus, while the basketball tryouts fell far short of expectations and failed to contribute much, if anything, to the general Olympic funds, enough was obtained to pay the expenses of the basketball squad to Berlin and back. It is hoped the general fund will fare a bit better from the gate receipts of the final boxing tryouts, to be held in Chicago.

The "per capita" cost of sending the American team to Germany has been sharply reduced, according to the latest information. Originally it was figured at least $750 would be required to pay all expenses, per athlete. Now it is estimated $500 will cover each individual's board, lodging and transportation, without any comforts of home being missed or meals skipped.

Thus, while the Olympic committee still is aiming at $300,000, to cover all expenses, including some bills left over for the winter sports, it can fall short of that goal without the necessity of trimming the team personnel.

HORSE RACES WILL BE HELD IN AMARILLO 8 DAYS IN MAY

AMARILLO, April 23 (AP)—Horse racing in the Panhandle is expected to reach a new high in all respects here May 8-16.

Every since the Tri-State fair commenced staking of horse racing in Amarillo each succeeding meeting has surpassed the previous ones both in the matter of attendance and the quality of thoroughbreds entered.

That this spring's meeting next month will surpass even last fall's sensationally successful one is seen in the early swamping of the stable office for stall space and the fact that for three days during the races the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will convene in its annual meeting.

Mason King, the Tri-State's director of racing, announced last Saturday that over 300 stalls already had been reserved by horse owners. Ninety per cent of these reservations are for thoroughbred, registered running horses.

This number of entries completely over-flows the available stall space in the regular barns. However, King said that he would continue to accept reservations because during the spring meeting he has access to the stock barns at the fair grounds.

Delegates of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will find their convention schedule so arranged it will permit them to attend the races in the afternoons. Post time each day will be at 2 o'clock p. m. The program will be speeded up so the final race will end promptly at 6 o'clock.

The Tri-State park has a reputation that extends over the entire country. Horse owners have come to know that the track is the best 5-8 mile course in the entire Southwest, and that every purse is as advertised in the condition books. Turf fans know that the races are conducted on a high plane, and the Texas Racing commission has complimented Tri-State officials for the manner in which they strive to uphold every detail of the state law.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Bill Terry and Hank Leiber, Giants: Terry hit two singles to drive in three runs; Leiber got homer with two on against Phillies.

George Earnshaw, Dodgers: Held Boston Bees to five hits for first victory of season.

Calvin Chapman and Lew Riggs, Reds: Hit home runs in eighth against Cards, Chapman driving in two runs with his pinch blow.

Harland Clift, Browns: Led 18-hit attack on Tiger pitchers by driving in four runs with double and two singles.

Fred Ostermueller, Red Sox: Scattered Senators' 12 hits and drove in two runs with double in 4-3 victory.

PEEWEES ARE VICTORS OVER CANADIAN 16-3

ROAD RUNNER-PHILLIPS GAME SUNDAY TO BE PLAYED AT 2:30

The Panhandle Junior baseball league will open in Pampa Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Road Runner park where the Little Road Runners and Phillips 66 teams will clash in what should be an interesting set-to.

Yesterday afternoon, the Canadian boys played a 7-inning practice game with Roy Marshall's and Howard Buckingham's Magnolia Peewees at Magnolia park here. The redoubtable Peewees won the game 16 to 3. Canadian was handicapped by the illness of their pitcher and of two other regular players.

It was clear that Canadian has not had the benefit of intensive practice; they made errors frequently; they caught outfield flies and dropped them, they overthrew bases, and they even missed infield flies. It was a wonder the score was not larger. The Canadian boys likely will be hopping mad the next time the two teams meet, and the Peewees may not fare so well.

Coach George Carver plans to work some of the rough spots off his team in the next week or so. Canadian, playing errorless ball, would be a tough foe to handle, since their lineup includes some good hitters. Canadian will be host to the Hoover junior team Sunday. In their first practice game of the season, the Peewees nosed out Hoover 9 to 6

A sizeable crowd is expected for the Phillips 66-Little Road Runner battle. It will be the opening game for both teams.

Ben Romine is manager of the Phillips crew and Joe Parkinson of the Road Runner bunch; both teams have been practicing assiduously this week.

GIANTS DOING WELL DESPITE MANY ERRORS

BROWNS AND REDS TOP WEDNESDAY'S PERFORMANCES

BY SCOTTY RESTON,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Scrambling from one shaky victory to another, the New York Giants are doing their level worst in the National league these days, but for all their staggering they can't fall off the top of the pile.

In fact they keep climbing. They have been charged with 15 errors in eight games, their pitchers have squandered long leads; their team is riddled by injuries, but in meeting every emergency Manager Bill Terry has been so superbly right that the substitute in almost every case has done better than the original.

First, he picked Rookie Harry Gumbert to pitch the second game of the season. Gumbert pitched a 4-hit game and won. Then Dick Bartell fell ill. Terry put in Joe Martin. This rookie has batted .667 so far. Next Sam Leslie reported with a fever and Terry put in Terry. His first day out, Substitute Terry got three hits in three times out; yesterday against the Phils he got three more.

In spite of these forced shifts the Giants did as well as the Browns and the Reds, who topped the day's slugging performances, or the Dodgers, who saw Big George Earnshaw stage a sudden return to his preseason pitching form to whitewash Boston. The Terrymen won their second straight from Jimmy Wilson's Phillies, 7-2. It also was Carl Hubbell's second victory of the season and just to add to the general inconsistency of the New York scene, Carl hit three singles in four times up.

There were two home runs in the game, Leiber smashing one in the first with two on, and Jimmy Wilson hitting one in the seevnth.

The only other home runs in the majors yesterday were hit in the eighth inning of the Reds-Cards game at Cincinnati by Utility Outfielder Calvin Chapman and Lew Riggs, both of the Reds. These hits, scoring three runs, enabled the Reds to defeat the Cards, 7-6.

Earnshaw turned in the best pitching job of the season for the Dodgers, a 5-hitter which shut out the Bees, 5-0.

In the American league, the Red Sox, outhit 12-6, beat the Senators 4-3, and edged closer to the league lead.

Hitting safely 18 times, the Browns won their second straight game from the world champion Tigers, 12-4, in the only othe rgame played in the majors.

The Pirates-Cubs, Yankees-Athletes, and White Sox-Indians games were postponed because of cold weather.

Surface Pushes Out Allison in Tennis Tourney

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 23. (AP)—The California contingent on the Davis cup team had to decide today which of the two Angeles boys will enter the finals of the Mason-Dixon tennis tourney.

Don Budge, the red-haired singles ace who already has put out Johnny Van Ryn of the Davis cup doubles combination, found himself matched against his home towner, Gene Mako.

Bryan (Bitsy) Grant, of Atlanta, the other Davis cup survivor, had to take on dangerous Hal Surface of Kansas City.

It was Surface who pushed Wilmer Allison ,the Davis cup captain, out of the picture, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, yesterday.

Grant defeated Wilmer Hines of Los Angeles in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, and Mako had little trouble with Gilbert Hall of New York.

The semi-finals of the women's singles matched Eunice Dean of San Antonio against Helen Fulton of Winnetka, Ill., and Norma Taubele of New York against Mrs. Virginia Rice Johnson of Boston.

Pampans Attend Borger Banquet

BORGER, April 23.—Borger baseball faithfuls proved to members of the Huber team last night that they were behind them when they banqueted members of the Blackface squad, officials of Pampa and Amarillo teams, and newspapermen from the three cities.

Players and guests were roasted and toasted in a hilarious program, directed by Emmitt Ellis. Judge E. J. Pickens, presiding judge of the 84th district court, was the principal speaker. He gave a humorous talk in which he discussed baseball from the Biblical days to the present parlor baseball. John McCarty of the Amarillo News-Globe was the other speaker.

The meal was served in the Presbyterian church dining room. It was sponsored by Borger civic clubs.

Attending from Pampa were F. E. Shryock, Dan Williams, Sam Hale and Harold Miller of the Pampa-Danciger Road Runners, and Harry E. Hoare from the Pampa Daily NEWS. The party attended the baseball game between Amarillo and the Japanese All Stars in Amarillo yesterday afternoon.

There are more Davises in the Livingston, Tex., telephone directory than all the Smiths, Joneses, Browns and Johnsons.

Dennard To Take Six Track Men To Regional Saturday

Lamesa Expected to Give Stiffest Competition

Coach Dick Dennard and six members of his district championship track and field team will go to Canyon Saturday morning to compete in the regional meet, to be staged at Buffalo field. Preliminaries in the 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard low hurdles, 220-yard dash, 100-yard dash, and the 440-yard dash will begin at 10 o'clock. Finals in all events will be at 2:30 p. m.

Representing Pampa high school will be Albert Ayer, Junior Strickland, W. J. Brown, Sherman Morgan, Ivan Noblitt, and Moose Hartman. Ayer will enter the high hurdles, 880-yard run, javelin, and relay. Strickland will participate in the broad jump, high hurdles, high jump and relay. Brown will be entered in the low hurdles and relay. Morgan will be in the 440-yard dash and relay. Noblitt will run the low hurdles. Hartman will take part in the shot put, javelin and discus.

Stiffest competition in the regional meet is expected to come from Lamesa in District 3. Several new records were set in the district meet and that section of the region is looking for its first title in several years.

Pampa will also have a golf team and one tennis player in the regional event. "Let-ty" Hamilton will play in the boys' singles. The golf team will be composed of Johnnie Austin, Kenneth Brown, Elmer Watkins and Melvin Watkins. Tennis and golf will begin at 9 a. m.

Texans Favored To Take Share Of Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA, April 23. (AP)—Athletes from the west and southwest, particularly the Longhorns from Texas and the Buckeyes from Ohio State, loomed today as the boys to beat in many headline events of the 42nd renewal of the Penn relays this week-end.

As athletes from 500 colleges and schools began arriving today for final workouts on Franklin field before the start on the two-day carnival tomorrow, it appeared the east's representatives would have to do some mighty running and heaving to bring the honors to their own back yard.

The Texans, first on the scene—they got in yesterday—were the odds on choice to gallop off with both the short distance relays—the 440 and 880. Not only did the Longhorns recently set a world's mark for the 880, but last week, at the Kansas relays, they won both events in faster times than the existing Penn relays records.

Anchored by Chink Wallender the Lone Star squad appears considerably stronger than the other prominent contenders—Ohio State and Cornell in the 440, and the Buckeyes and Penn in the half-mile.

Steers Favored To Beat Baylor

(By The Associated Press)

Two games Friday start the Southwest conference baseballers on a busy week-end that is not likely however, to threaten the University of Texas' game and a half lead over the field.

The Texas Aggies lost ground with an 11-11 tie against Baylor at College Station Monday but have a chance to pull up in the standings in two games against the weak Southern Methodist nine at Dallas.

While the Farmers are playing the Mustangs, Rice and Texas Christian, two second division clubs will play at Fort Worth Friday in the first of a two-game series.

The Texas Steers are favored to win their lone game of the week against Baylor at Austin Saturday despite a loss of the Bruins early in the season. Norman Branch, the Steers' dependable right hander, will twirl against the Bruins with "Jelly" Sorelle, Baylor mainstay, ready for duty.

Oklahoma City Blanks Dallas Steers 10 to 0

(By The Associated Press)

TODAY'S GAMES.

Dallas at Oklahoma City (night).
Fort Worth at Tulsa.
San Antonio at Houston (night).
Beaumont at Galveston (night).

The Oklahoma City Indians, 1935 Texas league champions, played a title-winning brand of ball last night in blanking the Dallas Steers, 10 to 0, at Oklahoma City. The loop's other Oklahoma team, the Tulsa Oilers, downed the Fort Worth Cats, 8-4, at Tulsa. Cold weather kept Beaumont and Galveston and San Antonio and Houston idle.

Oklahoma City's victory was the fourth in a row. Sensational fielding supported Schesler's 8-hit pitching. Meanwhile, the Indians collected 11 blows off Baker.

Tulsa knocked Hal Wiltse out of the box with a 6-run rally in the fourth and then counted twice in the sixth to set too fast a pace for the Panthers. The loss was the seventh in a row for the Cats. Newkirk went the route for the winners, holding the Cats to 10 hits. The Oilers made 14 off Wiltse, Jonnard, and Shoffner. Because of cold weather, officials decided to play the next two games in the afternoon.

GRAND TEXAS SPORTS WOMAN WILL TRY FOR GOLF TITLE

By FELIX R. M'KNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some ten years after her last major triumph, Mrs. Jack Lapham popular San Antonio sportswoman is coming back for a try at the title she has held five times—the Texas Women's Golf association championship.

Mrs. Lapham, golfer, horsewoman and licensed airplane pilot, will tee up with Texas' younger women stars in the annual state tournament at the San Antonio Country club next Monday.

Mother of four children, two girls and two boys, all of whom are proficient at all sports and with their parents hold pilots' licenses, Mrs. Lapham is one of the grandest of all women sport figures.

The veteran tournament player proved she is ready for her comeback by shooting a fine 80, only eight over men's par, in a recent round over the tricky San Antonio club course.

She will be favored, along with Mrs. Peggy Chandler of Dallas, also a former champion, and Miss Betty Jameson, red-headed San Antonio school girl and former southern champion.

Mrs. Chandler, who learned all her golf at the San Antonio course, rates the top pre-tournament position. It's no trick for her to break 80 every time she walks on the course. She lost to Mildred Babe Didrikson, American's wonder girl athlete, in the finals of the event last year at the River Oaks Country club in Houston.

Miss Jameson, who, despite her youth, is one of the ranking players of the southland, is conceded an excellent shot at the title. Two days ago she toured the tree-lined Brackenridge Park course at San Antonio in 77, six over men's par and two strokes better than any previous score tallied by a woman.

MORRISON GETS JOB

ABILENE, April 23, (AP)—Dale N. Morrison, brother of Ray Morrison, the Vanderbilt football mentor, has accepted the job of assistant athletic coach and head of the history department at McMurry college here.

MRS. HUNKAPILLAR IS NOMINATED FOR DISTRICT P-TA HEAD

VOTE WILL BE TAKEN TODAY ON OFFICERS

STATE OFFICER AND BOARD REPORTS HEARD

Report of the nominating committee, an extension conference directed by Mrs. A. Y. Troutman of San Antonio, and annual reports of district officers featured the opening session of the eighth district Parent-Teacher association conference here yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar of Pampa was chosen by the nominating committee as candidate for president. Delegates will vote at the close of this afternoon's session on the ticket of officers.

Other nominees are Mrs. R. J McKenzie of Dumas, first vice-president; Mrs. F. A. Render of Panhandle, second vice-president; Mrs. Tom Johnston of Tulia, third vice-president; Mrs. W. W. McCloy of Pringle, fourth vice-president; Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard of Memphis, fifth vice-president; Mrs Sid Clark, Spearman, sixth vice-president; Mrs. H. P. Clemons of Dimmitt, seventh vice-president; Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, recording secretary; Mrs. C. P. Buckler of Pampa, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Troutman, who is representing the state president at this conference, spoke informally, stressing the local unit as the hub in the "Parent-Teacher wheel."

She gave suggestions for planning local programs, saying that they should be adapted to meet local needs. She named sources of program material also. Membership efforts in this district were praised by the speaker, who urged personal contact to enlarge membership rather than contests or pressure on pupils.

Mrs. Troutman explained a number of the state congress' policies, and gave interpretations made by the national president on disputed policies.

Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, ending a four-year term as president gave her report as a climax to those of other district officers. She stressed growth in membership, a gain of 19 units during her tenure, and of 1,275 members in the past year. A voluminous correspondence and miles of travel in the course of her duties were reported by Mrs. Griggs.

Inauguration of a series of weekly broadcasts from associations of the district was mentioned as a new development the past year. Mrs Griggs expressed appreciation to district board members, unit presidents, and publicity mediums for assistance with her tasks.

Vice-presidents reported, each on work done in a definite area assigned to her. Mrs. Claude Lard of Pampa, second vice-president, reported organization of four new units in her area, all in Wheeler county.

Other vice-presidents are Mrs. W. B. LaMaster, Perryton; Mrs. R. J. McReynolds, Dumas; Mrs. Cleo Templeton, Wellington; Mrs. J. T. Shelton, Vega; Mrs. T. H. McKenzie, Panhandle; Mrs. J. A. Blackwell, Friona. Mrs. Tom Johnson and Mrs. Ray Calliham of Panhandle made secretaries' reports.

Two songs, Neapolitan Nights, and Indian Love Call, were sung by the Girls Glee club of Pampa high school directed by Miss Helen Martin.

At the close of the session, Junior chamber of commerce members were waiting with cars to take the visitors on a trip over Pampa and through the oil fields.

On the nominating committee were Mrs. J. M. Crain of Amarillo, Mrs. Irby Carruth of Canyon, Mrs. Hubert Durham of Morse, Mrs. Cleo Templeton of Wellington, Mrs. J. A. Blackwell of Friona.

Has Bone to Pick With Tenor

The season's last performance of "Carmen" by the Metropolitan Opera company was almost too realistic for Rosa Ponselle, famous soprano, pictured playing with her dogs while recuperating from injuries suffered during the turbulent third act presented at Baltimore. Husky Rene Maison (inset), Belgian tenor who played Don Jose to her Carmen, threw her to the floor so violently that the small bone in her left forearm was broken.

WE HAVE poverty. We have illiteracy. But we have the world's highest standard of living. Millions have cars, radios, automatic refrigerators. Our people travel widely. We spend more on luxuries and entertainment than many a country spends on all of life's necessities.

★ ★ ★

We have room for vast improvement, it is true. There is much that is wrong. But let us not sell America short. Preponderantly, things are RIGHT in America. Let us be proud of our nation and confident in our ability to meet the economic problems which confront us. We cannot afford to consider, even for a minute, the surrendering of our political, religious, and intellectual liberties in a mad quest for an economic Utopia.

3 Miners Meet Horrible Death

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., April 23. (AP)—The secret of what caused three miners to meet a horrible death deep in the earth near here rested with two others who recovering from injuries suffered when the cage jammed in the main shaft of the American Eagles gold diggings.

Only one of the three bodies had been recovered, and Coroner A. C. Denman said it was so badly mangled he would have to delay its identification until the other two could be found and brought to the surface.

Those killed were Joseph A. Hedman, Adrian Marshall and Newton Taylor, all about 50 and residents of this section.

Francis Fisher, about 24, and "Slim" Hartwell, 30, were not seriously injured, but hospital attendants said they were "unstrung" by the gruesome tragedy and would not be questioned until their nerves quieted.

The accident occurred as the men started up from the 1900-foot level yesterday to be replaced by the night crew.

Students Give Demonstrations For World Peace

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Thousands of colleges and high school students turned back to the routine of classwork today after expressing their organized sentiment for peace in the American Students' union's third annual demonstration against war.

Proportionate participation ranged from 400 students out of an enrollment of 700 at Lawrence college, Appleton, Wis., to 50 out of 1,400 at Depauw, Greencastle, Ind. Joseph Lash, national secretary of the union estimated total participation yesterday at not less than half a million.

Most demonstrations were orderly but the atmosphere of peace was disrupted by a fist fight at Tulane university in New Orleans and a clash between police and parading students of Lawrence college.

A free for all fight developed among 300 students at the University of Kansas.

Demonstrators at the University of Hawaii in Honolulu and at Dakota Wesleyan university in Mitchell, S. D., ran a gauntlet of odorous eggs and overripe tomatoes.

Several thousand homing pigeons were dispatched from Washington to their native cities with messages in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, helping launch a two-year "emergency peace campaign," called for individual responsibility in the maintenance of peace.

PROGRESS OF P-TA WITH STATE IS REVIEWED AT CENTENNIAL BANQUET OF EIGHTH DISTRICT

GRADUATES OF STUDY COURSES RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Contributions of the Parent-Teacher association to Texas progress were reviewed with contributions of Texas to the nation, at the Centennial dinner which was last evening's program of the eighth district Parent-Teacher conference.

The banquet was served at the Schneider hotel, at tables centered with white flowers in red and blue vases. Places were marked with small replicas of the Alamo, Texas flags, and cards decorated with Texas maps. About 175 persons filled the dining room to capacity.

Wayne Eubank, head of the public speaking department of Amarillo Junior college, was the main speaker, substituting for Hermon Pipkin, Amarilo attorney who was called away and could not fill the engagement.

The pioneer spirit, best exemplified in the settling of Texas and still existent in the face of drouth and hardship, is the state's chief contribution to American progress, Mr. Eubank said in his address on Texas' Contributions to National Life.

"The Panhadnle itself is a monument to the pioneer and his spirit of dissatisfaction with things as they are, his urge for something better," he said.

Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, long prominent in work of the Parent-Teacher association, in her talk mentioned some contributions of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers to the national congress and to the state as a whole, during its 27 years of existence.

"In this Centennial year when the state reviews its glorious history, it is fitting that its organizations check their records to see if they have made any contributions to its progress," she added.

Mrs. Lou Stogner of Amarillo spoke of Texas' wealth of legends and folklore, and told some interesting legends, including several versions of the story of Texas bluebonnets.

Certificates were presented to 33 graduates of study courses, 19 of them from Pampa groups. Mrs. A. Y. Troutman of San Antonio, seventh vice-president of the Texas congress and the state president's representative to this conference made the presentation.

Mrs. J. E. Griggs of Amarillo, district president, was toastmaster. Mrs. J. M. Turner brought greetings to the visitors from Pampa Council of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. Troutman from the Texas congress. Supt. W. B. Irwin of Perryton responded.

A vocal solo, "Have You Ever Been to Texas in the Spring?" by Mrs. J. M. Dodson was accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Powell.

Hostesses were Mrs. Dodson and the presidents of Pampa associations: Mmes. Roy Holt, F. M. Culberson, F. W. Shotwell, A. L. Burge, Earl Eaton, R. W. Lane, and Turner.

New 'Bluebonnet'

Frances Nalle, 21-year-old Dallas red-head, won the post of "Bluebonnet Girl," official Texas Centennial exposition hostess, in a contest entered by 300 girls. She succeeds Irene Caldwell, the original "Buebonnet Girl," who kissed Al Smith for the newsreels, then married a Texas rancher.

ATTACKS INVESTIGATED

HOUSTON, April 23. (AP)—Special officers patrolled the waterfront here today as the district attorney's office investigated a series of attacks upon seamen. Earl Hinds, investigator for the district attorney, said at least 200 unexplained attacks on seamen had been reported and that the victims, apparently fearing retaliation if they talked, had shed little light on the mysterious attacks.

DISTRICTS TO SEND 1000 TO CANYON MEET

TRACK AND LITERARY EVENTS TO BE IN WEEK-END

CANYON, April 23—More than 1,000 young people representing the best of the public schools over four districts of Northwest Texas will be guests on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college when they gather here for the Regional Interscholastic League meet next Saturday, April 25.

Forty-eight counties of the Panhandle and whole northwest region will go to make up the four districts which are competing here for the right to go to Austin for the state meet May 5.

A new feature of the regional meet this year will be a golf tournament for boys which is being sponsored by the Canyon Country club. Two boys from each of the districts will compete.

Professors of the Canyon college will serve as directors for most of the events. Miss Isabel Robinson will have charge of the art events; Miss Mary Morgan Brown and Leon Lassers, one-act play contest; Miss Mary E. Hudspeth, Spanish contest; R. L. Vaughan, boys' debate; Miss Jennie C. Ritchie, essay writing; Mrs. Tommie Montfort extemporaneous speech. Athletic events will be directed by Coach Al Bagget and Miss Ruth Cross of the Physical Education department of the college with advanced students assisting.

Supt. R. E. Vaughan of Panhandle will be in charge of girls' debates and Mrs. Gervis Taylor of Amarillo will have charge of the typewriting ocntest.

The one-act play contest which always excites great interest and enthusiasm will be held in the Canyon public school auditorium and local judges will serve during the preliminaries. Out of town judges will be employed for the finals in this contest.

Events begin at 9:00 a. m. Saturday and continue through the day, the finals in the one-act play contest beginning at 8:00 p. m.

Admission charges to the events are as follows:

Season ticket, all events 25c
Finals—Declamation and Extemporaneous Speech 10c
Finals—girls' and boys' debates 10c
Finals, one-act play 25c
Track and field meet (Buffalo Park) 25c

All money received will be rebated to contestants on a mileage basis, after actual expenses of the meet have been paid.

Residents of Seven Dallases Are Invited To Centennial Fete

DALLAS, April 23 (AP)—The citizens of Dallas, Georgia, have been invited by the citizens of Dallas, Texas, to join in a celebration of Dallas day at the Texas Centennial exposition, which opens here June 6.

Dallases in seven other states—Iowa, North Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, West Virginia, and Wisconsin—also have been invited to be guests on Dallas day. The date will be set when officials have been advised which day will be best suited to a majority of the Dallases.

"It is a historic coincidence," said Exposition Manager W. A. Webb in extending an invitation to the citizens of Dallas, Georgia, "that Dallas, Georgia, perhaps was named for a distinguished member of the distinguished Dallas family which came to this country from Scotland in the 17th century.

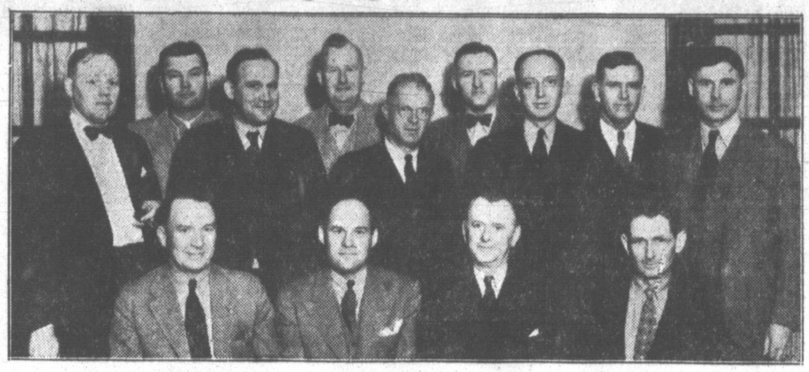

"Dallas, Texas, named for George Mifflin Dallas, vice president in the administration of President James K. Polk.

WHILE HOME BURNED

AFTON, Iowa—Mrs. Arthur Hammans was busy cooking supper. When she smelled smoke she assumed her husband was burning leaves in the yard. Then she heard falling wood, but guessed he was throwing kindling into the basement. She went on cooking.

Then in dashed Hammans, grabbed her by the hand and dragged her outdoors. "The house," he gasped, "was burning down over your head." The house was destroyed—also the supper.

They Prepare for Big Regional Convention in Amarillo

"Ted" Taylor, dances; Bill Gilstrap, registration; Norris Ewing, breakfasts and luncheons; Bill Beechler, bands; Jim Mark Williams, public relations; Fred Post, director of publicity; Jed Rix, convention manager; Horace Russell, decorations.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—On the desk of Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Railroad commission, is a framed legend which reads:

"I am somewhat of a liar myself—but go on, I am listening."

It is in plain view of the colonel's many visitors who usually want to talk about matters involving oil proration.

The new vault of the treasury, in which some one remarked facetiously the state's deficit will be kept, is nearing completion.

A steel door weighing 74,700 pounds has been hung, earth is being laid over the 100 by 30 foot structure and soon all external evidences of the depository for approximately $60,000,000 of cash and securities will have disappeared.

The vault has been built just south of and against the Capitol and will connect with the treasury through the basement. Cost was about $40,000.

"Jim Boy," Gov. Allred's small son, pulled a fast one—or at least he thought it was—on his father April 1.

Having heard his elders talk a great deal about April Fool's day he was all set when the governor came home from work. Home is the beautiful colonial-style mansion.

"Oh, Daddy," he cried, "come quick. Brother's face is all broken out."

Allred hurried in to see his two-year-old baby and found him playing, hale and hearty.

Signs of political interest picking up are noted about the Capitol. More politicians are seen. Candidates are dodging in and out, F. W. Fischer of Tyler, candidate for governor, being one.

A few days ago Senator Roy Sanderford of Belton, also a gubernatorial candidate, in a statement denied he would withdraw from the race in favor of former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, or her husband, Gov. James E. Ferguson. He also denounced the "Allred-Fischer combine."

Allred declined to comment on the reference to an alliance with Fischer, who has been criticizing him roundly.

Bits continue to appear in the papers about a unicameral legislature. G. E. Johnson, candidate for the House from Jones and Shackelford counties, is the latest to advocate it.

He favors one chamber of 150 members, each of whom would be paid $1,000 annually, and says that if elected he will offer a constitutional amendment making such a change possible.

The chief argument made for a unicameral legislature is that it would be more efficient and cheaper. Main objection is that it would remove the check against hasty legislation.

A. E. Harding of Fort Worth, another candidate for governor, has a plan for national recovery based on retiring workers over 58 years old. Except that it would not include a sales tax, he did not go into the financing.

Bids For Building Fort Parker Will Be Received Soon

AUSTIN, April 23. (AP)—Bids for reconstruction of old Fort Parker in Limestone county between Mexia and Groesbeck will be received by the board of control through its Centennial division May 4.

An allocation of $10,000 was provided for the work. John V. Singleton, chief of the board's Centennial division, said the work would reproduce "old Fort Parker absolutely as it was."

Plans for the split-log recreation were prepared by the national and state park services.

The story of how Indians captured Cynthia Ann Parker from the old fort, established privately about the time Texas won its independence, has been widely told. The site is in a state park.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN—In the early days of Texas trade, no protective tariffs were required on goods of foreign manufacture coming into the Republic, a fact that made Texas an attractive market not only for goods designed for Texan consumption but also for commodities intended for the wealthy northern states of Mexico, it was pointed out by Authur Ikin, consul from England to the Republic, in his "Guide to Emigrants," published in 1841. Ikin was interested in bringing English colonists to the new country and he filled his little book, a copy of which is in Texas Collection of the university of Texas library, with data calculated to allure British settlers and British trade.

"The commercial prospects of Texas may be summed up very briefly," he stated. "The already enumerated advantages which her planters enjoy, must inevitably cause the remunerating price of their produce to be less than that of the United States' planters, and consequently enable them to undersell the latter in supplying us with that raw material on which nearly two millions of our people may be said to depend for their daily bread.

"For this produce they will require, in return, British manufactures, with the distinguishing difference, as regards the United States, of admitting them without the impost of any protective duty. Nor will their importation of European goods be limited to their own consumption. The wealthy population of the northern states of Mexico, who can not obtain their supplies through the legitimate channels without submitting to the payment of a duty so exorbitant as to amount well nigh to prohibition, have already opened a trade with the contiguous and comparatively free ports of Texas, that will soon absorb a vast amount of manufactures.

"These facts, which appear to involve an alteration in the whole commercial system of America, also suggest some political considerations of no little importance—considerations which, however invidious it might be to investigate them too deeply, abundantly justify the policy of England in her recognition of Texas, and in the trade she is raipdly opening there

"Suffice to say, that, considering the difficult and delicate questions still pending between Great Britain and the United States, the threatening aspect their relations from time to time assume, the obvious interest of the manufacturing states to precipitate a war, and the primary dependence of our own manufactures on the southern states, for the staple on which our national prosperity indirectly depends; it is manifestly our interest to foster an influence on the American continent which shall ultimately render us independent of the Great Confederation.

"Such is Texas. The question of her annexation with that confederation is for ever gone by. Her people now value too highly their military and political achievements, and foresee to clearly the evils resulting from a union of anomalous and conflicting interests, ever to wish to link with it their own buoyant destiny. Besides, the jealousies which prevented the admission of Texas into the Union when she was an applicant, still operate as strongly as ever. That application did, in truth, place the northern politicians in a serious dilemma. If united, Texas must inevitably have given the preponderance to southern interest; whilst remaining sovereign and independent, they as clearly foresaw that she would become a formidable rival—inviting their capital, enticing their population, underselling them in the main staples of their foreign commerce, and, above all, opposing to their protective tariff system, those principles of free trade which will soon make her a great depot for the manufactures of Europe, and will eventually place the whole commercial system of America at her mercy.

"In the event of a war between Great Britain and the United States, a castatrophe, to the possibility of which, recent circumstances have rendered us only too much alive, a vast trade might be carried on thru the medium of Texas, whose flag could with impunity transport all the cotton of the southwestern states, and whose ports might primarily import the manufactures destined for the most distant parts of the Union.

"The example which such a state of things would have on the southern states, who at this moment are not blind to the extent to which their interests are sacrificed to those of the north, need not be hinted at. Viewing these conflicting interests as they exist between the different states which compose both the North American and the Mexican Union, and then viewing the intervening position, and the different governing principles of Texas, it is scarcely too much to assert, that, in that young country seems to lie the keystone of the destinies of the whole continent of America.

"With Mexico, more especially whether in time of peace or war," the effect is very obvious. Through Texian, ports, and thence, across various points of the Rio Grande British goods are already finding their way in considerable quantities; and the inhabitants of the northern and western Mexican states are consequently obtaining their supplies at 50 to 100 per cent less cost than if they were procured through Tampico or Vera Cruz.

"In this way, that is, through Texas, England might increase her trade with Mexico threefold. A similar traffic is that which certain American merchants carry on with Santa Fe. In this city, rendezvous the dealers from all the northern parts of Mexico. The Americans meet them with goods, chiefly British, which, after paying the heavy import duty, they have transported via St. Lous, and through the heart of the American wilderness, a distance of 4,000 miles.

"Santa Fe is within the Texian boundary, and only 600 miles from the Texian ports on the Gulf. Endeavors are therefore being made to divert this trade; with regard to the practicability of which, the only question (as cogently suggested in 'Bonnell's Topography') is, if goods which pay 20 to 40 per cent duty, will, after subsequent carriage of 4,000 miles, a great part of which is through a wilderness beset with hostile Indian tribes, yield a profit worthy of so hazardous and costly an enterprise, will not goods brought to the same point, after paying a much less duty, and after only 600 miles of inland carriage, pay a far greater profit?

"The present Santa Fe trade in the hands of the Americans is supposed to amount to full 3,000,000 of dollars per annum. A Texian expedition has already left Austin for Santa Fe, in order to open political and commercial relations with that remote part of the republic. The Mexicans, as traders, are a fair dealing people. They exchange for manufactured goods, gold and silver, rich peltries, mules, and cattle.

"The French made powerful efforts during the last winter to obtain the command of this trade, and a general foothold on the American continent, through the medium of a charter from the Texian Congress. The project of their charter was to enable them to introduce any number of emigrants, not less than 8,000 (who were to become Texian citizens); to erect a chain of not less than 20 forts between the present settlements and the upper country, and extending from the United States to the Rio Grande; to secure the exclusive privilege of working the mines in the upper country for a period of 50 years; to obtain for themselves and their emigrants a donation of 3,000,000 of acres of the public territory in fee which was to be divided into 16 selected tracts, and to be exempted from taxes for seven years; to stipulate that to no other incorporated company should be granted any of the public domain in the upper country for the period of 20 years; and that every description of goods and merchandise introduced by the company into the ports of the republic, for the purpose, as stated on oath, of carrying on a trade with Mexico, should be exempt from duty.

"This bill was opposed as alike unconstitutional and impolitic, and did not pass. (Note: It was observed by a Texian senator, that one-third of the blood and treasure which

ITALIAN ARMY PLOUGHS THRU MUD TO CITY

MOVES TO CRUSH LAST RESISTANCE OF ETHIOPIANS

BY GEORGE C. JORDAN,
(Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press)

ROME, April 23.—Grim Italian columns plowed through muddy, swollen Ethiopian streams today in a swift drive upon Addis Ababa to crush the last resistance of defending Ethiopians.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio's victorious northern army was launched from its headquarters at Dessye on what appeared to be the last leg of its long drive from the Eritrean border to the heart of Ethiopia.

Reliable reports were that Marshal Badoglio's troops were less than 70 miles from Addis Ababa, already on the high Shoan mountains plateau where the Ethiopians were said to be planning a desperate last stand.

To the south and east Gen. Rodolfo Graziani, piloted personally by Gen. Ferruccio Ranza, chief of the Italian Somaliland air forces was flown over Danane, Gorahai and Gabradarre, overseeing the ground work looking to the capture of Harar.

Equatorial rains have failed to halt his "hell on wheels" column despite months of optimistic Ethiopian predictions to the contrary.

In the northwest, Gen. Starace's column of blackshirts held Lake Tana, the source of the Blue Nile, in the heart of a vast cultivatable territory.

He issued orders that Ethiopian warriors who returned to their work immediately would be pardoned, and assured the civilian population peace would be perfected.

At home the Italians believed the war to be about over.

Informed observers directed attention to the presence in Africa of Alessandro Lessona, not as a military man but as undersecretary for colonies and Premier Mussolini's righthand man in matters of civil administration for "overseas Italy."

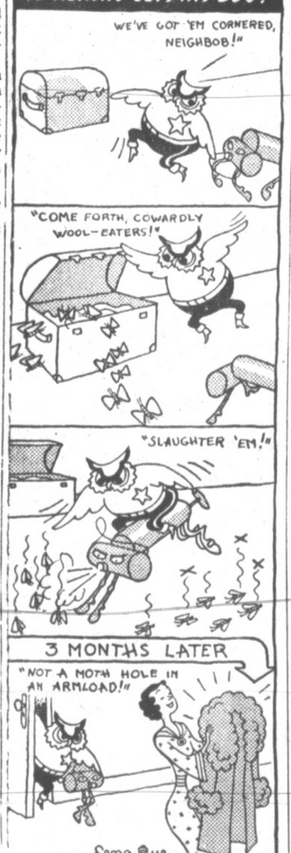

As such, Lessona would be able to represent the civil government in any direct peace talks with the Ethiopians.

Sidney Clare, lyric writer, was born in a house afire. Among the films he has tuned is the fiery "Dante's Inferno."

Fugitives Held On Charges of Stealing Bonds

HOUSTON, April 23. (AP)—Irvin Kott of New York and Joseph O'Neal, of Port Arthur, described by federal agents as fugitives from mail theft complaints in New Orleans, were held here today on charges of conspiracy to transport stolen bonds from New York to Houston.

Temporary bond of $50,000 was set for each. A preliminary trial was set for May 10, the late date being decided upon so that the government may bring witnesses from New York and Chicago.

A. D. O'Neal of New Orleans, brother of Joseph O'Neal and attorney for the pair, entered pleas of innocence for the defendants before Commissioner W. F. Carothers.

The government charged that the men transported $5,000 in stolen Eastern Shore Public Service corporation bonds and that the bonds were sold to a Houston concern.

Ickes Concerned By 'Dust Bowl'

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—AAA kept a close watch on the great western "dust bowl" today after Secretary Wallace said another dry month would bring critical conditions there.

Weather reports showed that drought conditions were severe in Oklahoma, that Western Kansas was very dry, and little or no rain has fallen recently in Arkansas.

Wet weather of the last winter skipped the "dust bowl," which includes parts of North Texas, Western Kansas, Western Oklahoma and Eastern Colorado.

Wallace discussed at length conditions in that area, at his press conference yesterday, and said close watch was being kept every day for rainfall. Lack of moisture in the lower Great Plains, he said, is significant in regard to winter wheat production and possibly to the cotton crop in Texas.

Under normal conditions, he said, the southwestern area gets its rainfall in May and June and he predicted that conditions would become critical without rain by the end of May.

BROKEN SKULL DEATH BECOMES A MURDER CASE

Conspiracy Alleged Between Mother And Friend

ALTOONA, Pa., April 23 (AP)—The death of 3-year-old Matthew "Sonny" Karmendi from a broken skull suddenly became a murder case today and police pointed to an alleged conspiracy between Sonny's mother and the man who lately had been her companion at movie theaters.

Assistant District Attorney Robert J. Puderbaugh announced shortly after midnight that Mrs. Margaret Karmendi, 24, and Roy Lockard, 24, both had signed sworn statements—each accusing the other of striking little Sonny with a heavy bolt or railroad spike.

The boy died Tuesday night. Lockard took him to a hospital and told police that while he was carrying Sonny home an automobile sped past and a door handle apparently pierced the baby's head.

The assistant prosecutor said statements were made after hours of questioning and both were similar except concerning the actual striking of the fatal blow.

Puderbaugh said Lockard and Mrs. Karmendi met while the woman's husband, Matthew Sr., was at work in a silk mill. He said the couple walked to a deserted section of the city and waited until a car passed.

Puderbaugh said the blow was then struck and, the mother ran across the road and screamed.

Puderbaugh said Lockard met Mrs Karmendi March 13 and they had frequently gone to motion pictures together in the evenings, usually taking Sonny with them. He quoted from Lockard's statement:

"Margaret frequently told of how she wished the child was out of the way so she could go to shows with me."

"Sonny always told his father and grandmother, 'me and mama went to a show'."

Puderbaugh said Lockard's statement recited that Mrs. Karmendi during the last walk opened her coat to show the heavy bolt and that when the opportunity came she used it, throwing it into a field.

He said the mother's statement declared:

"Roy got a pin (meaning the bolt) out of his pocket while going over the 17th street bridge. He told, 'something is going to happen.' I asked him what and he said, 'wait and see'."

The statement added that about a mile farther on "Roy turned and hit the baby. I heard him groan and I screamed."

Freddie's Mama Keeps Fighting

LOS ANGELES, April 23 (AP)—Rebuffed in her contest to get back Freddie Bartholomew, child screen actor, his mother carried on a new line of attack today.

The superior court denied Mrs. Lillian Bartholomew's motion to set aside the custody award given to Freddie's aunt, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, six months ago. But in another suit on file today the mother seeks to compel Miss Bartholomew to account for "more than $5,000' she estimates Freddie has earned during the past two years in his film work.

A co-defendant in the accounting was Cecil Bartholomew, Freddie's father.

Counsel for Mrs. Bartholomew Leonard J. Meyberg, intimated naming of Bartholomew as a co-defendant resulted from his abrupt withdrawal yesterday as his wife's ally in her attempts to regain custody of Freddie.

FISHERMAN DROWNS

DALLAS, April 23. (AP)—Firemen dragged White Rock lake, near here, today, for the body of L. C. Bass, 22, whose overturned fishing boat was found in shallow water anchored. Bass had been missing since yesterday afternoon when he rented the boat from Schooner Cornwell, saying he wanted to find a good place for a fishing party.

OIL NEWS AND NOTES

■ Panhandle and Other Fields ■

DEEPEST WELL

ELDORADO, Ark., April 23. (AP)—Completed as South Arkansas's deepest oil well, the Phillips Petroleum company J. D. Reynolds No. 1 indicated today an estimated production of 50 to 60 million cubic feet of gas and several hundred barrels of distillate daily.

Officials of the company declined an estimate on production pending an official gauge, possibly today, but operators estimated gas production ranging to 75 million cubic feet per day and distillate from 300 to 1,000 barrels.

Located in section 27-15-15 of the Smackover field's Snow Hill section, the well is the deepest in South Arkansas to produce gas and the first to produce distillate. Production is coming from a lime formation encountered at 4,904 feet.

PRODUCTION INCREASES

TULSA, April 23 (AP)—Another increase in the daily average production of crude oil 43,838 barrels, was reported today by the Oil and Gas Journal.

Oklahoma showed the greatest increase of the major producing areas, 19,985 barrels, or 569,700 barrels this week, compared to 549,715 the previous week.

East Texas increased 1,231 barrels to a total of $451,278. In the total State of Texas production stepped up 15,340 barrels daily for a total of 1,155,017 barrels.

Kansas showed a decrease of 800 barrels to a total of 147,750 while California increased 200 barrels daily for a weekly average of 574,000 barrels daily.

Louisiana showed an increase of 8,685 barrels daily to 210,900. Eastern fields including Michigan had a daily average of 142,401 barrels, 1,343 more than last week.

In the Rocky Mountain area production increased 1,070 barrels for a daily average of 116,240 barrels.

Plans Meeting

RAY NICHOLS.

AMARILLO, April 23.—Delegates and visitors to the West Texas chamber of commerce convention here, May 11-13, will find plenty of diversion.

"Problems confronting West Texas are given serious consideration and the convention is conducted on a business like basis," observed Ray Nichols, Vernon publisher, who is president of the large regional organization.

"But at the Amarillo convention there will be many features, both educational and entertaining," he added, predicting the largest convention in the history of the organization. "There is no reason why it shouldn't be the largest," he observed.

In addition to the usual convention features—the dances, contests and special entertainment, including "West Texas Cavalcade," a pageant, the Tri-State fair's spring race meet will be in full swing during the eighteenth annual meeting. Thousands of turf fans are attracted from over the southwest to the spring races.

This year for the first time the West Texas chamber of commerce will select a queen by popular vote at the pageant. Sponsors from towns affiliated with the organization will be presented at the pageant and will be candidates for the coronation.

Scores of early entries have been made in the convention contests, especially the "Home Town" speaking contest.

Committees with a personnel of more than 200 have been appointed here to prepare for the convention. Meanwhile, preparations are being made over the West Texas chamber of commerce jurisdiction to send large delegations to the convention.

Jed Rix, convention manager, said today notices received from various towns indicate there will be more special trains, more bands and more delegations than ever at the Amarillo meeting.

ALLRED TO SPEAK

FORT WORTH, April 23. (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred will deliver the commencement address for the class of 1936 at Texas Christian university, June 1, President E. M. Waits announces. If weather permits the exercises will be held on the campus. The baccalaureate sermon will be preached May 31 by Rev. F. M. Warren, pastor of the First Christian church of Abilene. There are 75 candidates for degrees, an unofficial count by S. W. Hutton, registrar, shows. Johnny Knowles of Houston is president of the graduating class.

Insurance For Jobless Urged In Allred Talk

WACO, April 23 (AP)—Governor Allred told legislative representatives of the Railway Brotherhoods here today he would propose Texas unemployment insurance legislation at the next session of the legislature.

While federal approval of the Texas old age assistance act "is most gratifying," the governor said, "we must take another important step toward providing social security for our citizens.

"Texas should be prepared to establish a system of unemployment insurance in accordance with the national security act."

The governor reviewed federal legislation which would make it possible for the state to receive through federal social security grants 90 per cent of federal pay roll taxes paid by Texas employers.

"Although the tax to support unemployment insurance will not be collected until 1937," he explained, "it has already been levied by the federal government and will be collected whether the state joins in the plan or not. Texas taxes might, therefore, be used in other states without us receiving any benefit therefrom."

He said that soon after enactment of the federal social security act he commissioned two attorneys to study unemployment insurance systems in other states and countries to determine a method most suitable to Texas.

Brief Illness Fatal to Youth

Death, following a brief illness, claimed Homer Clay Sanders, 24 years 8 months, last night in a local hospital. He had been a resident of Pampa for six years and was a teamster for G. H. Kyle, teaming contractor.

Survivors are his father, W. L. Sanders, Lindale; a brother, John Sanders, Mayesville, Ark.; four sisters, Mrs. E. J. Farmer, LeFors; Mrs. Alice York, Sayre, Okla.; Mrs. Robert Irwin and Mrs. Harley Newton of Leedy, Okla.

The body lies at rest at the G. C. Malone Funeral home. Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of relatives.

41 WITNESSES ABSENT

GREENVILLE, April 23. (AP)—The defense claimed 41 witnesses were absent and announced it was not ready for trial today when the case of Mrs. Velma Patterson, accused of poisoning of her two little daughters, was called in Judges Charles Berry's court here today. Judge Berry allowed defense attorneys until 2 p. m. today to prepare a motion for a continuance.

SCADDING TO HALIFAX

HALIFAX, April 23. (AP)—A Royal Canadian airforce seaplane brought Charles Alfred Scadding, one of the survivors of the Moose River gold mine entombment, to Halifax today for hospital treatment. He was taken from the seaplane to the hospital in an ambulance.

THIMBLE THEATRE Starring POPEYE — "Amen!" — By E. C. SEEGAR

ALLRED WILL ATTEND WTCC ANNUAL MEET

CONGRESSMAN MARVIN JONES WILL ALSO BE SPEAKER

AMARILLO, April 23 (AP)—Gov. James V. Allred plans still another jaunt.

This one will be to Amarillo for the West Texas chamber of commerce convention, May 11-13.

And "Januty Jimmy," as the state's chief executive has been called by Tom Hunter, will take an airplane, if necessary to get here on schedule.

Lawrence Hagy, a colonel on the governor's staff and Amarillo's general chairman of the large regional convention, today announced Allred's definite acceptance of the invitation.

Acceptance of the invitation to deliver the address of welcome has been made by Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the Texas Railroad commission.

Other prominent speakers will be on the program, said Jed Rix, convention manager.

Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, who has accepted an invitation to conduct the convention's Centennial conference, has informed Rix "it will be a pleasure to even introduce a gentleman from Dallas."

Many prominent West Texans already have made reservations for the convention.

Roger Miller of Dallas, southwestern division manager for the United States chamber of commerce, and Helen Topping Miller, magazine writer, plan to attend.

In charge of Fort Worth's special train to the convention will be W. L. Pier, vice president of the Fort Worth National bank.

New York Most Interested in The Centennial

AUSTIN, April 23 (AP)—National advertising of the Texas Centennial, if an initial tabulation of reptiles was a criterion, attracted most interest in New York state.

Advertising directors of the Centennial commission forwarded the board of control its first list, showing names of about 4,600 persons in 46 states, the District of Columbia, Canada, and other foreign countries, who asked information concerning Texas birthday party.

Ten pages were required to give the names of persons in New York who responded to the advertisments. Texas replies were not listed. Illinois ranked next with more than seven pages and Pennsylvania next with six.

Other replies came from Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Dakota, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Virginia, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

John V. Singleton, chief of the board's Centennial division, said the list was compiled soon after the national campaign was started and the number of replies had been multiplied subsequently many times over.

DIES OF INJURIES

SAN ANGELO, April 23. (AP)—W. F. Jenkins, 74, Rocksprings ranchman, died at a local hospital this morning of an internal malady and injuries sustained when his horse fell with him a week ago. The body was taken to Eden for burial.

Auditor Assails Antiquated Laws At Rotary Meet

The antiquated laws under which county governments are operated were explained in a talk before the Rotary club yesterday by R. Wilson, county auditor. He told of the difficulties under which county and precinct officers worked and suggested that a study be made of the act of the 43rd legislature providing for home rule of counties.

He told of the increasing costs of county government and showed where the money collected by the county and its subdivisions was spent. He pointed out that the county was not allowed to accumulate surplus funds but must issue bonds for such improvements as were necessary, the interest equaling and sometimes exceeding the principal.

E. R. Reeves extended an invitation to the club to visit Grandview Thursday for a barbecue luncheon and a program closing the school year. Philip Pond urged a good attendance at the Fort Worth conference of this Rotary district May 3, 4 and 5. Farris Oden and C. P. Buckler were elected delegates to the conference. Farris Oden asked that members attend the meeting of the Canadian Rotary club next Tuesday when the local Centennial committee will provide the program and advertise the Pampa Centennial celebration.

Visitors were Dick Hughes, Mr. Reeves, B. J. Hermesmeyer, Joe Luper, John Roby and Rotarians A. A. Meredith of Amarillo and C. A. Everett of Ardmore, Okla.

ABOUT NEW YORK

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the rackets employed by some portrait studios to gain business is this:

Mr. Doax of Pittsburgh comes to New York, checks into his hotel, and is happily shaving when the telephone rings. In no time at all a charming voice persuades him to step down to the mezzanine.

"We are anxious to have your photograph for our files, Mr. Doax—no obligation to you at all."

His objections overruled, Mr. Doax is photographed and sent on his way, secretly pleased to have been so promptly singled out.

And that's all—until Professor Doax returns to Pittsburgh. There, awaiting him, is a nice large photograph of himself, and with it a printed folder on which the price is very prettily listed. If he wants the picture he sends in his check. Otherwise the photograph is returned postage guaranteed.

It is estimated that 85 per cent of people thus photographed are bowled over by personal vanity. The diminutive redhead (she does the telephoning in that oh, so winning voice), of one studio tells me that men between 40 and 50 invariably capitulate. Paradoxically, women seldom do, despite their traditional susceptibility.

Meet Frank Black, general musical director for one of the great broadcasting companies—

Frank had more aliases in his younger days than are to be found in a police morning line-up. But it was all on the level.

Remember the old player pianos with their rolls of recorded tunes—the perforated ones that made the ivory keys jump up and down? Well, Frank was the man behind that mushroom craze. It became a national disease, like bridge or the music going 'round and around.

Frank's idea was to give his publis a wide range in artistic talent, so every week he secured a new artist to record the rolls. That is—a new name appeared on the box, but that was just Frank's idea of salesmanship. He merely coined a new name for himself and went right on doing the recording.

What makes his story, at least to me, so interesting is that he is one of few men to build up a money-making enterprise and then get out before it reached the end of its usefulness. That shows nice timing.

At the psychological moment he cashed in his holdings and moved on to other fields. Shortly thereafter the player piano craze moved into limbo!

The manager of an ultra-ultra bar tells me that gin has leaped into an almost unprecedented demand—for this time of year. Usually it is most favored in hotter months when tall frosted drinks are the order, but for some unknown reason the beverage crowd has jumped the gun on the really torrid season. The March consumption this year practically trebles that of 1935.

It is almost painfully obvious that New York likes to stop whatever it is doing and watch someone else do anything. It was early in the evening and a fat gentleman in a derby hat, having lost a bout with a bottle, went to sleep on the fender of a motor car parked near Times Square. Finally he fell off and the cops came to his rescue. A crowd accompanied the police officers and in thirty seconds pedestrian traffic was hopelessly tangled. Everyone offered advice.

Two civilian and about 50 convict cooks, waiters and dishwashers prepare about 1,500,000 meals a year in th state prison at Huntsville, Texas.

Pickets and Workers Clash in Tennessee Strike

A woman striker and a worker are shown being separated by deputies, after one of the several fist fights which marked reopening of the Rockwood Hosiery Mill, in Rockwood, Tenn. Barrages of rocks and tear gas were hurled in the fray. Two hundred workers were brought in to supplant the 300 who walked out recently, after the mill had announced an increase in working hours from 8 to 10 daily, with no change in wages. As crowds of pickets menaced workers, national guardsmen in Knoxville, Nashville, and Athens were held in readiness, in event they were needed at the strike scene.

Roman Eagles Wheel Aloft to Fete Anniversary

Legions of fighting planes wheeling in impressive formation over tramping legions of fighting men — this stirring sight thrilled thousands of patriotic Italians, gathered to witness ceremonies commemorating the 13th anniversary of the founding of the Italian air force. The colorful celebration was held at Lictorio Airport, in Rome.

CHAPTER XXIV

Harriet said, "Another fresh guy" when Toby told her about the man who had followed her on the street.

Toby thought that Harriet was right. Now that she was at home, in the pleasant apartment, it seemed silly to have let herself become frightened.

She had hurried into the nearest store and wandered about the aisles for several minutes. When she had emerged, the man in the shabby clothes and dark hat was not in sight and she did not see him again.

Yes, of course Harriet was right. He was just another fresh guy and she had been mistaken in thinking there was something queer in the way he looked at her. Something about his eyes. Toby told herself she had imagined that.

So she said, "I guess you're right, Harriet. My imagination was probably working overtime."

Toby went to dinner that night with Bill. They went to the cafeteria where they had eaten together so often. Bill suggested another place, but Toby said she really wanted to go to the cafeteria. They ordered corned beef and cabbage, the day's "special", and it was delicious.

They were even lucky enough to get their favorite table. Toby said, across the red-and-white checked table cloth, "It's a long time since we've been here, Bill."

"That hasn't been my fault."

"No—"

"Getting a date with you is like making one with Garbo," he told her, grinning.

"You know I didn't mean it to be that way," Toby said seriously. "I've missed you, Bill." She realized suddenly how much she had missed him. "It's just that there are so many things to do. Hours are irregular, modeling, and lots of times we work at night."

That was true. Only she had managed to find time for Tim Jamieson.

She told Bill about the test photographs Duryea had made that afternoon, and he listened without volunteering any information. She didn't know who the pictures were being made for.

"It's a big job," she said, "if I get it—only I won't. There was another girl making tests, too. Carol Marsh. She's a society girl, and has a lot of money. She's the one they'll take, because she's really beautiful. She's snobbish and they say she does all sorts of little mean tricks. But you should have seen her in that gorgeous dress—"

"What does she look like?" Bill asked.

"She's tall and thin and her hair is so dark it looks black. She wears it with a lot of curls on one side. It would look terrible on anyone else, but it doesn't on her. And she uses an awfully red lipstick. You can tell just by looking at her that Park Avenue is where she belongs."

Bill said, "One of those snooty dames, huh? She doesn't sound like any prize package to me."

Toby smiled. It was true that Bill wouldn't think Carol Marsh "a prize package." He wouldn't like anything about her. But Carol would get the job, just the same.

Toby asked, more as a polite inquiry than anything else, what Bill had been doing lately.

"I've got a new job," he told her.

"Bill! You haven't left Amberson and Blane's?"

"No. Only, instead of writing ads, I'm trying to sell them."

"Do you like it?"

"Well, I've only been at it a few days. I'm pretty green, but I think I'm going to like it. Besides, if I'm ever to have an agency of my own, I've got to know something about the selling end of the business."

"I suppose that's true."

She thought of the evenings when they had sat at this very table and planned the future. Bill had told her about the advertising agency he was going to have some day, and she had never doubted that his plans would come true. She had had her own dreams—of becoming a buyer at Bergman's. Would Bill's plans fail as completely as hers had done?

Toby hoped they wouldn't. Bill deserved to succeed.

Afterward they boarded a bus and climbed up to the top deck. They rode far up the shore of the Hudson. The wind was cool, but there was the scent of spring in the air — intangible, exhilerating. A moon that was not quite full shone down on them. Lights gleamed alluringly from the New Jersey shore, and shadows, in intricate, mysterious patterns, fell on the streets they passed.

In front, a sailor and his sweetheart sat, her head on his shoulder. Other couples, equally indifferent to the surroundings, rode with arms about each other. But Bill's arm remained at his sides and Toby's two hands were clasped together.

That was another reason Toby was glad to be with Bill. She could sit beside him drinking in the spell of the night knowing that Bill would not suddenly turn romantic.

Romance, Toby was sure, for her was over. Romance had vanished with Tim Jamieson. It had been 10 days now since she had heard from Tim. She did not know whether he was in New York or not, but she did know that, wherever he was, he could have sent her some message.

In the last 10 days Toby had had time to think—and she had faced things to which before she had closed her eyes. Tim had been lavish in his compliments. He had addressed her with endearments. But he had never said, "Toby, I love you and want to marry you." He had never even said, "Toby, I love you."

She had told herself it was because their love was still so new. Later Tim would say those things, would take her to his home and introduce her to his parents and his friends.

All this, she realized now, had been in her imagination. For a little while Tim had seemed devoted to her and then he had disappeared. Some day, perhaps, he would come back. Toby hoped so, devoutly. She had loved him; she still loved him. She would never love anyone else.

Thinking of Tim, Toby had forgotten Bill completely. Perhaps his thoughts, too, were far away, for they finished the ride almost in silence.

From the Avenue they walked to Toby's apartment. Bill said, "Well, some time if you'd like to go slumming again—"

"It wasn't slumming," Toby interrupted. "It was a grand evening."

"Then we'll do it again some time. And I hope those pictures that Duryea made will win the job for you."

"I hope so," Toby said, though she didn't really. She'd made up her mind to forget about that job.

Consequently she was amazed when Ben Blake called her two days later. He said, "Toby, I've good news for you. The Hillyer Soap company want you to pose for the photographs in the big advertising campaign they're putting on. Those test shots Duryea made were great. The Hillyer company is offering you a year's contract with $1,000 bonus and you'll be paid double the usual rate for the posing you do. It's a real chance for you—"

Toby said, not daring to believe her ears, "What did you say?"

He had to repeat it all over again. She was to go to the Hillyer office that afternoon to sign the contract. The contract, Blake said, was all right, because he had gone over it carefully. The $1000 would be paid in quarterly installments of $250.

The office of the Hillyer company was impressive, as was the building in which it was located. Toby arrived there promptly, and was shown into the office of the advertising manager, Mr. Russell.

Mr. Russell produced the contract. He said, smiling, as Toby signed it, that he hoped it would be profitable to them both. He was a tall, slim, rather reserved man with a habit of frowning slightly when he spoke.

"Duryea's making the photographs, as you know, of course," he said. "You'll hear from him through the Model's League."

Toby rose to go. "Thank you, Mr. Russell," she said. "I can't tell you how happy I am about this. I'm going to work awfully hard—"

The door of the office opened. The man in the doorway was distinguished - looking rather than handsome. He was well-built, a little above average height and his hair and eyes were dark. He halted suddenly and said, "Oh, excuse me—"

The advertising manager was on his feet. "Come in, Mr. Hillyer," he said. "This is Miss Ryan. She's going to be the Hillyer Soap girl. Miss Ryan, this is Mr. Hillyer, the president of the company."

Hillyer came forward and shook hands, smiling. "Of course," he said. "I recognize Miss Ryan now from her photographs. They were excellent, but they don't do you justice."

"I was telling Mr. Russell," Toby said, "how excited I am about the chance to pose for these pictures."

"We're pleased, too. Think it's going to be a fine advertising campaign—" He chatted a few more minutes. Then Toby said she must go.

"Which direction are you going?" Hillyer asked.

She told him the street on which she lived.

"It happens I'm going that way," Hillyer said, "and I'm just ready to leave. My car's downstairs. Won't you come along?"

"Why, yes," Toby said. "Thank you very much."

Ten minutes later she was riding down Park Avenue in Jay Hillyer's town car.

Laundress for R. E. Lee Dies

RIO GRANDE CITY, April 23. (AP)—"Little old Juana" Lara, who claimed to have been laundress for Col. Robert E. Lee, destined to be chief of the Confederate armies, when he was stationed with Federal troops at Fort Ringgold in 1858, is dead. Her age was estimated at 136 years, although she had said she did not know the date of her birth.

She had estimated she was 58 when she "washed and ironed for Col. Lee," recalled it was the year she became a grandmother.

As long as citizens can remember, or as long as their parents and grandparents could recall, "Little old Juana" had been a washerwoman. A short time before her death she had hung out her last line of clothes.

She lived her lifetime near this town—when it was a rugged border settlement freshly severed from Mexican domination and a part of early Texas.

The fragile old woman was buried near her long-time home. She had often remarked to neighbors she would be glad when her "vacation arrived."

BACKFIRE

CLEARWATER, Fla.—James Manuel started out as the defendant accused of stealing an auto license from Bood James and his sister Lucille James, but the case wound up with the prosecutors fined instead. James was fined $30 for the theft and $10 for operating an automobile with an improper license, and Lucille was assessed $15 for perjury. Witnesses testified the Jameses put a stolen tag on Manuel's truck after borrowing it.

A huge concrete gate being completed by the Mexican government southeast of McAllen, Tex., is designed to shunt water from the Rio Grande to a lake two miles away, which will serve as an irrigation reservoir for 100,000 hectares of land.

MORGENTHAU TO FIGHT FOR REVENUE ACT

PUBLIC HEARINGS WILL BEGIN IN SENATE NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The administration decided today to send Secretary Morgenthau to the firing line in behalf of its tax program, as the battle over the revenue bill reached the floor of the house and the senate finance committee.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) said the treasury secretary would be the opening witness at public hearings before the finance committee next week. Morgenthau did not testify before the house ways and means committee when it recently held hearings on the bill. Republican members, in their minority report, said his failure to appear was "strange."

While debate was opening in the house today on the revenue bill, with sweeping changes in corporation taxes, consideration of the measure was beginning also in the senate committee, where all tax legislation meets a crucial test.

The committee was called into executive session to hear the measure explained by congressional and treasury experts, and to decide upon the scope of hearings to begin next week.

Four days of general debate will be allowed in the house, beginning with a detailed explanation of the measure today by Rep. Samuel B Hill (D-Wash), chairman of the subcommittee which drafted it. Voting on amendments will not begin until next Wednesday, with leaders confident the bill will pass by the end of the week.

The bill is designed to raise $620,000,000 annually through subjecting dividends from corporations to normal as well as surtax income levies and by taxing corporations on sliding scales based upon the percentage of income kept in surplus.

After the first year all other corporate taxes would be repealed, but in the interim $83,000,000 would be sought by a modified capital stock tax and $100,000,000 by means of a "windfall" levy on refunded processing taxes.

ASKING MORE RELIEF

Senator Tom Connally has written County Judge C. E. Cary that legislation carrying appropriations for additional relief would reach the Senate soon, and would receive the senator's favor, subject to possible amendment. Judge Cary had telegraphed Senator Connally concerning the suffering which would result from reducing WPA employment on the plains.

Car Driven by Governor Kills Aged Idaho Man

BOISE, Idaho, April 23. (AP)—Norman Young, 65-year-old lumber company bookkeeper, was fatally injured last night by an autcmobile drive by Governor C. Ben Ross.

The governor, who assisted in taking Young to a hospital, was visibly shaken and made no comment.

City Patrolman Earl Conn, an eye-witness, said Ross was traveling at a moderate speed and that the aged man had walked into the car.

DIET

DULUTH, Minn.—A four-foot Central American boa, found in a bunch of bananas was turned over to the Duluth Junior college. Students put it in a cage and gave it a mouse to eat. Instead, the mouse gobbled other tidbits placed in the cage and went to sleep cuddled in the snake's coils. "The boa," said Teacher Marguerite Kittridge, "must have eaten recently. Wait until he gets hungry again."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys
Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.
The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking acids and wastes out of the blood. A healthy person should pass about 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter.
If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, waste stays in the body and may become poisonous. It may start nagging backaches, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't let it lay you up.
Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills.

Grandview Feast Enjoyed by Many

Those who attend one Grandview school and community picnic never wish to miss another one.

Today several hundred persons, of whom about half were Pampans, enjoyed the 11th annual occasion. Delicious barbecue and all the trimmings and scores of cakes and pies withstood the attacks of the hungry throng.

Chairman of this year's event was Joe Looper, who was assisted on the committee by Guy Andis, R. G. Lehnick, B. J. Hermesmeyer, Luther Byers, S. C. Jones, and John Ely.

This afternoon, a baseball program was to be started with the farmers of the community meeting the candidates. And of candidates there were a great number. Dutch Mantell was referee of the soft ball games. He was accompanied by Old Tack and John McCarty of the Amarillo News. Other newspaper men present included Gilmore N. Nunn and Olin E. Hinkle of Pampa and Max Wade of Groom. "Bob Mack," manager of KPDN, also was present.

ZIONCHECK

"The court is recessing," Judge Casey told him.

"I'm taking a recess too," Zioncheck replied in a loud voice.

The representative picked up his hat and coat and started to walk out. Several policemen and court bailiffs grabbed him. There was a short scuffle. He was then led to the rear of the courtroom, taken outside, and put in the cell.

No formal charge was lodged however, for creating the disturbance in the court.

The recess had been ordered by Casey so he might examine the notification given Zioncheck to appear in court. The representative had objected to the form of the notification. The case was scheduled to resume at 12:45 p. m. (CST) today.

Acting as his own attorney, Zioncheck closely questioned the policeman about the circumstances surrounding his arrest early Saturday morning.

"Did I deny I was going 70?" he asked, "or that I was going more than 22 miles an hour?"

"Did I deny I was going 90 miles an hour?"

"No."

At this point Zioncheck told Judge Casey he desired the record to show that he objected to the procedure being followed and that he had refused to appear in court "until it was definitely undestood tha I came down here merely to accommodate the officer."

Zioncheck asserted he also wanted to make it plain he had refused to appear "on that thing called an attachment."

The recess was taken at this point.

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—After a scuffle with police, Rep. Zioncheck of Washington was brought into traffic court today to to answer a charge of speeding at 70 miles an hour.

Earlier, the youthful representative was taken to the guard room of the new house office building today after a scuffle with a Washington policeman who was attempting to serve him with an attachment to compel his appearance in police court.

No detailed account of what had happened was available immediately because Zioncheck and the officer, Serg. Georoge Heullmuth, were closeted in the guard room with Kenneth Romney, house sergeant-at-arms. The authorities tried to figure out the next move in the representative's refusal to appear in traffic court and face a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour.

When the Washington member failed to appear in court this morning police were ordered to "bring him in bodily."

Arrested early Saturday morning, Zioncheck had promised to appear after an attachment had been issued for him.

At his office on Capitol Hill, he told reporters he had no intention of going to court.

"I am not going to come to court," he said. "I owe Judge Casey no debt of gratitude and I'm not going to come down there and give him a chance to get the cheap publicity he's seeking."

Informed of the congressman's statement, Judge Walter J. Casey, presiding in traffic court, told reporters he had instructed police to bring the representative into court.

Informing newsmen they could tell Judge Casey to "go to hell" for him, Zioncheck said he intended to forfeit his bail, explaining he was not acting as a congressman but as a non-resident citizen.

WAR

"several thousand Italians were killed and several enemy planes were brought down.

The communique asserted the Italian position on the front south of Dessye was "precarious, harassed by troops under Ras Kabada and Azebo and Galla tribes."

(Italian communiques previously reported the fascist invaders were being assisted by the tribesmen.)

All foreign missionaries returned safely to the capital from Dessye where bandits have become more active since the retreat of the emperor's armies.

KILLED ACCIDENTALLY

BEAUMONT, April 23. (AP) — A hunting accident had ended in death today for Karen Le Dubose, 18-year old Nederland high school football player. The youth was shot with a small caliber rifle as he picked berries near his home yesterday. Investigators said the shot was fired by Everett Collins of Port Arthur who was shooting birds in the vicinity.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—In one of the worst breaks in about a year stocks crashed through an airhole in today's market for losses of 1 to 5 points generally and 8 or so in a few instances.

The ticker tape fell 6 minutes behind flood transactions at the peak of the slump. A little aid arrived for scattered issues in the final half hour and the selling rush slower, but the close was weak. Transfers were over the 2,000,000 share total.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP)—Weakness developed anew in wheat values late today as a result of enlarged selling pressure, with slackening of demand for at least the time being.

July and September wheat especially were dominated by suggestions of likelihood of drought relief for domestic crops southwest and west.

Wheat closed nervous, ¾-1⅜ under yesterday's finish, May 1.00⅜-½ July 91⅛-¼, corn unchanged to ⅛ down, May 61½-⅝, oats ½-⅜ off, and provisions unchanged to 15 cents decline.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—The market later wiped out its losses and showed small gains as both speculative and trade interests returned to the buying side.

May gained 2 points to 11.46 during the morning trading, July was a point higher at 11.16, and Oct. worked up from its early low of 10.33 to 10.37.

KILLED IN WRECK

LAWTON, Okla., April 23. (AP)—Bernice Bruce, 20, of Lawton, was killed instantly and four other persons were injured, one critically, in a collision of a taxicab and an automobile two miles east of here today. Gladys Maples of Lawton was near death in a Lawton hospital, the extent of her injuries not immediately determined.

J. T. Green, employe of the Skelly Oil company, received emergency treatment at Worley hospital last night.

Proposed Statue to Popeye

A statue of "Popeye," E. C. Segar's famous comic strip character appearing daily in The NEWS will be erected in the Winter Garden Spinach Section of Crystal City, Texas, if the idea proposed by O. P. Schnabel of San Antonio is carried out.

The base of the proposed statue (as shown in the accompanying drawing), will be erected in the form of a large can of spinach. The statue is in recognition of "Popeye's" splendid influence over the health diet of millions of youngsters.

Another Soldier-King Emerges

CELEBRATION

the nickels will be kept as souvenirs, leaving a nice profit. No large profit is expected, but as merchants issue the wooden money in change the Centennial will be advertised and an attractive souvenir will be provided. Printing of the money will be started almost immediately.

Fred Cullum and Walter Biery reported that oil men would be well entertained on June 3, designated as oil men's day. It will be a holiday in the field. A dinner open to all—free—will likely be followed by an imported musical show to which tickets will be in great demand. The oil men are increasingly enthusiastic about their plans.

Allen Hodges said the parades would be educational and highly interesting. Boy Scouts will stage a parade the first day, and will have a full program as they camp here during the celebration. Widows of pioneers will have special floats in the parades.

Charlie Maisel has the cooperation of merchants in providing display window space for old relics. Trips are being made to many Panhandle towns advertising a contest for display of old relics. Cash prizes will be offered for the best displays.

The rodeo appears to be one of the major events this year. It will be held at the new fairground park where construction of chutes and pens will be expedited and at least part of the proposed grandstand erected.

DAUGHTER PLEASED

WAUKESHA, Wis., April 23 (AP)—Delivery of her father from a rock bound prison in a Moose River, N. S. mine brought complete happiness to 15-year-old Ethel Scadding today. "I'm so happy—so glad he is still alive and safe."

RESCUE

once in an emergency hospital to remain until they have recuperated sufficiently to undertake the 75-mile ambulance journey to Halifax.

At the hospital, attendants said that the two sufferers were not to be disturbed. They were to rest and regain their strength.

It was the lure of gold which brought the three men into the pit of death. They were caught underground Easter Sunday night while inspecting the long-abandoned mine owned by Robertson and Magill. A rock slide trapped them in a narrow chamber.

Trembling with excitement, Dr. Robertson and Scadding thanked the men, asked and answered a few commonplace questions.

"Do you fellows want to walk up?" one of the rescuers asked, jokingly.

"Now, boys, take it easy," Scadding replied.

"I think I can undertake it myself," Dr. Robertson said with a smile.

The rescuers did not wait to explore the men's underground prison after they broke through.

They went directly to the two living men, lying prostrate about 20 feet away from the body of Magill—the spot where the body had been since Magill died, and from which Dr. Robertson and Scadding kept their faces turned.

Simpson said the survivors were on the north side of the 141-foot level beside the skip, or trolley which operated from the depths to the surface of the mine.

This was apparently the same spot to which all three men had jumped to safety when the old mine collapsed Easter Sunday night while Robertson and Magill, the new owners of the property, and Scadding the timekeeper, were making an inspection tour.

Describing the scene of the entombment, Simpson said:

"It was about seven feet wide and 12 feet high, but I don't know how long. It was very wet and damp."

Immediately after the draegermen broke through, Dr. F. R. Davis Novia Scotia minister of health followed and examined the two survivors.

They had been without food, light and water—even without knowledge that rescue was on the way—from Easter Sunday until early last Sunday morning when a diamond drill bored a hole from the surface to their prison.

After receiving food and supplies Sunday, they had been prevented by rising water from approaching the tube again to gain nourishment, although they were still able to conduct one-way conversations to the surface, until they were rescued.

Magill, already ill with a cold when he entered the mine, succumbed apparently to under-nourishment and exposure.

Scadding was suffering "trench feet," contracted through constant exposure to the moist, underground earth, and was unable to walk. He also had a severe cold, as did Dr Robertson.

The faces of both survivors were drawn, lined and covered with heavy growths of beard. Starved, they were pounds lighter than when their ordeal started.

After the health minister attended to their immediate needs, the two men started the long, difficult ascent to the surface, freedom and life.

One of the rescue workers, Morrell, took off his own shirt and placed it about Scadding's shoulders.

interesting speaker on the morning program. Her talk on Homes of Australia was in keeping with the conference theme, Home: The Index to National Life. Mrs. Cypher spoke informally, showing a number of souvenirs of her visit.

The only report of the morning was by Mrs. R. M. Rose of Amarillo, on life membership. The session opened with an invocation by John S. Mullen, First Christian minister. Mrs. McReynolds, third vice-president, presided.

The luncheon was given by the Board of City Development and the Gray County Home Demonstration council in the dining room of First Baptist church. Miss Ruby Adams, home demonstration agent, was toastmaster and George Briggs, B. C. D. secrtary, was the speaker on the conference theme. A high school orchestra furnished music.

Local hostesses were Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, Miss Adams, Mrs. Gilmore Nunn, and presidents of the home demonstration clubs, Mmes. O. G. Smith, C. P. Couts, J. H. Wade, Clyde King, Lawton Hoffer, E. E. Clark, Chester Nicholson, Fred C. Fischer, and Joe Lewis.

Local unit reports were made this morning by divisions, and a summary was to be presented at the afternoon session. A radio broadcast from the studios of KPDN was to start at 1:45 this afternoon.
