TEXTILE STRIKE DEMONSTRATION IS DROWNED OUT

POLICE, FIREMEN, ATTACK
JEERING CROWD OF
2500 AT MILLS

PASSIAC, N. J., March 2.—After successfully withstanding a tear gas attack, a crowd of 2,500 striking textile workers was driven back by six lines of fire hose late Tuesday from the vicinity of the Beauty worsted mills.

The demonstration of the strikers was marked by no further violence, than the tear gas and the assaults launched by the police and firemen of Passiac respectively.

The mass movement of strikers started from a meeting hall in the afternoon. As the demonstrators reached the mill they were met by 75 policemen, mounted and on foot, who ordered them to break up. The crowd stood still and jeered.

After about five minutes of this exchange of commands and jeers, Chief of Police Richard Zeeher took charge of the situation and ordered his mounted men to ride onto the sidewalk among the strikers. Members of the crowd gave way before the equine advance, but resumed their place when the horses had passed.

The strikers remained on the sidewalk, hurling hoots. Chief Zeeher ordered the firemen to use their hoses. His pockets were bulging with tear gas bombs.

Three times Zeeher jeered at the crowd, and a fourth time he hurled the missile at the feet of strikers on the curb. Then he hurled two more. But there was a strong wind blowing and the strikers managed to dodge the clouds of gas, resuming their places as the gas was lifted.

Neglecting to throw his other bombs, the chief then rang in two alarms from the nearest fire box and five companies of apparatus—all the fire fighting facilities of Passiac—responded.

Six nozzle lines were laid from the pumper and turned on the crowd. Several persons, including two or three children, were knocked from their feet, but no one seemed to have been injured.

The mob was driven back by sheer force of the water as the police broke up efforts of stragglers to congregate in groups. Pushed across the town line into Clifton, the soaked crowd was dispersed by a cord of Clifton police sent there for the purpose.

One Dead, 28 Hurt, in Frisco Bus Spill

SAN FRANCISCO, Mar. 2.—One woman was killed and 28 other passengers injured, when a sight-seeing bus crashed off the road two miles west of here late Tuesday.

Two of the injured are expected to die. The wheels of the bus suddenly locked, swerving to the side of the road where it overturned in a drainage ditch.

"Old Ironsides" to Sail Again

"Old Ironsides," the famous Constitution of the old American navy, is to start on a coast trip into the Gulf and up the Mississippi in the interest of the restoration fund which has been started. Already $150,000 has been received in contributions.

BIMBA GUILTY OF CONSPIRACY NOTE SEDITION, NOT BLASPHEMY SENT TO MEXICO ON LAND LAW

BROCKTON, Mass., March 2.—Unless the higher court acts favorably in his behalf, Anthony Bimba will have to pay something like a cent word for a speech he delivered here last month.

He will not be fined, if he is fined, for blasphemy, however. In district court here Tuesday Judge C. Carroll King found the Brooklyn editor not guilty of having violated Massachusetts 229 year old "Blue law" which makes denial of God a crime.

Bimba was found guilty of sedition, the other charge which stood against him and was assessed $100. He appealed, and his case will come before Plymouth county superior court in June.

The verdict upset, in part, the plans of the defense, who had hoped to carry the test case to supreme court in an effort to prove the ancient "blue statute" in collision with the state constitution.

Each of the six defense witnesses had admitted that Bimba had expressed his disbelief in God, Bible and soul. At the time, all declared the editor had made no seditious utterances.

Late Tuesday Bimba and his wife left here for Brooklyn. Prior to his departure, the defendant told newspapermen he had been greatly surprised by the verdict.

File Cabinet Falls, Injures F. F. Young

F. F. Young, proprietor of Hotel Young, was injured at five o'clock yesterday afternoon while helping to move a steel filing cabinet, which was being hauled on a truck.

In attempting to place the heavy cabinet on the truck, Mr. Young lost his balance and fell backward to the sidewalk, and the cabinet fell upon him.

He was rushed to the Lubbock sanitarium where an X-ray examination showed that serious injury had been done, the spinal column, however it is not thought that the injury will prove fatal as Mr. Young was resting well at a late hour last night.

BIGGEST DAY YET FOR TEXAS TAX RECEIPTS

AUSTIN, March 2.—The state's general revenue fund had a balance of $5,143,478 at the close of business March 1, State Treasurer W. Gregory Hatcher announced today. Tax receipts received at the treasury March 1 amounted to $2,702,982, representing the biggest day's receipts in the history of the treasury.

ANDREWS MAY QUIT AS CZAR OF PRO FORCES

SQUELCHED ONCE TOO OFTEN BY MELLON, IS RUMOR

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The blocking of the important proposals of the program of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews seems to be speeding the resignation of the dry enforcement chief.

Andrews accepted his post with the understanding that he would give prohibition enforcement a sincere try. He asked for a free rein. He asked that appointment be taken out of politics. If the law was possible of enforcement, he would enforce it. The disapproval by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon of his assistant's request for a non-political commission was the climax to numerous vetoes by his superiors.

Andrews permitted it to become known that some months ago that his trial of the dry law would last only during the year. He has accepted his rebuff in good spirit. It is felt, however, that he will get out from under it before the year is up.

N. Y. CURB RIOTS AS STOCKS GO DOWN

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—In a frantic orgy of selling, which in the last hour threw stock exchange and curb market into a veritable panic, Wall Street Tuesday experienced the worst break of the current bear movement.

Prices broke 10 to 10 points in individual issues in as many minutes. In some instances the downward trend was even more marked. United Power and Light dropped 40 1/2 points to 82.

During the last hour the floor was a seething mass of desperate traders seeking to dispose of their utility stocks. The ticker machinery broke down under the strain with the result that the record fell far behind the market with prices steadily dropping.

In the wild attempt to get selling orders in before the exchange closed, clothing was torn and men fell back exhausted from the milling and shouting of the densely packed crowd.

It was not until 3:54 that the tape printed the word "close" establishing a new record for late printing of quotations at the final gong. Before Tuesday the latest that the tape had continued to report prices in a full five hour day was November 12, 1912, when it ran until 3:41 p. m.

From all over the country came frantic instructions to brokers from small investors to sell before the market fell lower.

The frenzy on the floor was duplicated on the street.

Lubbock Prepares To Lead South Plains To New Heights Of Prosperity And Of Progress During Year Which Has Begun

Yesterday was a legal holiday in Lubbock for the men in the three banks of the city, and while they took some time in their offices to check the business of preceding days and to make hasty preparations for business during the remaining days of the week, an Avalanche reporter was accorded a bit of their time and was told in each of these places that the crisis has been passed—that Lubbock is not to look back to the disastrous freeze of last October, that cut the cotton crop short and thereby reduced the earning power of a large majority of the people of the plains, but is to look to the future, to take advantage of the opportunities that are here today and to look about for new fields of endeavor, confident that all will be well.

Never before has Lubbock felt the urge of her leadership in a more marked degree, and if we have been informed correctly that leadership is to be asserted in a greater capacity during 1926 than has ever been the case.

There is much speculation about the future of the automobile industry on the plains.

This is probably just as problematical as ever been the case, but that the city is about to enter into a maelstrom of activity that will tax the energies of the entire populace can be seen from a calendar of events that will occur during the year if all plans materialize, and there is no doubt that they will.

Much to Occur
For an instance, there will be a reorganization and re-election of the South Plains Automobile Association during next month. The association has been active during the past 11 months, and with the closing of its fiscal year on April 1st new officers will be elected, plans for the semi-monthly meetings will be made, and George Benson, the president, believes this will be important to the automobile industry on the plains.

Pres. Horn Greet's Alumni of "Tech's Big Brother at Austin, Texas University"

"The eyes of Texas are upon you" sang 150 former students of the University of Texas, standing bareheaded last night at the annual Texas Independence day banquet on what might have seemed an alien campus, at West Texas Tech, except for the fact that President P. W. Horn of Tech assured them that "We regard the University at Austin as a big brother."

In this spirit the Texas exes cheered and sang and banqueted and talked at the Tech cafeteria. Judge J. E. Vickers presided. The West Texas Tech Treaders played throughout the evening. Among the speakers, in addition to Dr. Horn, were County Attorney Olin McWhorter, V. L. Shurtliff of Breckenridge, Senator

W. H. Bledsoe, Robert Dean, R. B. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control, and W. L. Gaston, chief of estimates and appropriations for that body.

Dr. Horn, who himself was at one time an instructor in the University summer school, called for all the Tech faculty members present, who had at one time been connected with the University faculty to rise, and more than a score responded. Nearly 200 Tech students who were Texas alumni were present. One of these, "Red" Smith, who was a member of the University freshman football squad during his year at Texas led the exes in the time-honored Longhorn yells.

FRANCE RATIFIES I. C. C. DISAPPROVES LOCARNO BY BIG VOTE NICKEL PLATE MERGER

By United News.

PARIS, March 2.—The Chamber of deputies Tuesday ratified the Locarno treaty 413 to 71. Announcement of the vote, which followed Premier Briand's declaration that the pact was the "first real step toward peace since Versailles" was greeted by tremendous applause. Cries of "vive Le Paris" sounded high above the general din.

"I contend that this convention signed by England, France and Italy guaranteeing the Rhine as a military frontier is worth all other post-war pacts," Briand told the chamber. "Belgium is on record to testify to the value of the word and fidelity of England. I contend that any treaty wherein Germany guarantees to submit all future conflict to arbitration is France's best guarantee."

In closing discussion of Locarno, the premier referred to the forthcoming session of the League of Nations council and the impending fight over the enlargement of the council's permanent seats. He protested against reports that France sought by enlargement to gain further protection against Germany. He said that the question of enlarging the council was not discussed at Locarno.

It is possible the Van Sweringen brothers will revise their plan to meet objections raised in a redoubtable commission.

This adverse decision is the first big check that has been registered here against the epidemic of mergers which has swept the whole industrial world in the last few years. It stands as a vigorous protest against the abuse of non-voting stock and other devices by which stockholders are deprived of control in the properties they own.

It reveals a tendency to tighten down on the business world which already has been emphasized in the dispatches. Of late the commission has been skeptical of some financial operations in the railroad field. In one recent deal, New York Railroad bankers were condemned by the commission of charging excessive financing fees.

The Van Sweringen decision shows a still stronger tendency to guard against too heavy financing by insiders.

Demo Senators Hop on Colonel House

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Democrats in the senate took time off from the Muscle Shoals debate Tuesday to heap criticism upon Colonel Edward M. House for statements in his memoirs now being published. Senator Neeley of West Virginia said that House gave the impression that "he was the father of everything good in the Wilson administration and that everything which he was not the father was illegitimate."

Mr. Hedrick, of the Hedrick Oil Co., Tulsa, Oklahoma, is in Lubbock to lease sites for a test well which he said yesterday he would start drilling within the next ninety days. Mr. Hedrick said that he had operated in the Eldorado field, in Oklahoma, and in Kansas, and that he was now drilling a well at Portales, New Mexico. He said his company had four strikes of oil.

Mr. Hedrick, who came after a survey of the Amarillo field, was much encouraged over prospects around Lubbock. He said he had heard a number of geologists comment favorably on it.

BIVENS GIVES KEYS OF

AT GATHERING

By United News.

AMARILLO, March 2.—With delegates here representing stockyards and packing house interests from St. Joseph, Omaha, Kansas City, Wichita, Ft. Worth and virtually every other stock market in Texas, the tenth annual Panhandle Livestock Association opened the first session of the meet here Tuesday.

In his opening address of welcome Lee Bivins, veteran cowman and president of the association told the delegates that the stockmen were slowly but surely coming back into their own and warned them against becoming discouraged.

"My advice to you old timers is to forget your troubles and continue to work as you always have," Bivins said. Bivins who is mayor of Amarillo and is reported to have bought more steers in 1925 and 1926 than any other dealer in the country, gave the keys of the city to the cattle men saying, "don't get in trouble, but if you do, I say after the manner of Mr. Ferguson, we already have your pardons made out."

Jim Swift, a commission man addressed the convention on behalf of the commission houses and packers of Kansas City. He declared that Kansas City had pioneered this field forty or fifty years ago and Omaha was just awakening to the foot of the importance of the cattle industry here.

It is possible the Van Sweringen brothers will revise their plan to meet objections raised in a redoubtable commission.

Mrs. Krueger Honored At Blédsöe Home Tuesday

Mrs. W. H. Blédsöe and Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson very charmingly entertained the members of the Tuesday afternoon bridge club and a few friends with a luncheon Tuesday afternoon honoring Mrs. E. Krueger, of Austin.

The luncheon was given in the delightful home of Mrs. Blédsöe which was effectively decorated with pink and white sweet peas. Three tables were arranged with centerpieces of sweet peas, and the place cards, which were also used as scorecards in the bridge games, were quaintly hand-painted in a design of sweet peas. Fruit cocktail, creamed chicken with mushrooms in patties, potato chips, olives, hot buttered biscuits, perfection salad, coffee with whipped cream, pink angel food square and mince pie were served.

The honoree was given a beautiful card tray of silver and gold and in the games Mrs. Frank Clarke made high score and Miss Frances Whitley low. Both received bridge score pads with hand-painted parchment covers.

The guest list included Mrs. E. Krueger, of Austin; Mrs. J. S. Johnson, Mrs. A. V. Weaver, Mrs. O. J. Slaton, Mrs. W. H. Meador, Mrs. W. S. Posey, Mrs. J. T. Krueger, Mrs. W. O. Stevens, Mrs. Frank Clarke, Mrs. Fred Snyder, Mrs. R. D. Benson, Mrs. S. C. Arnett, Mrs. W. A. Bacon, Mrs. W. L. Hieon, Mrs. E. Y. Freeland, and Miss Frances Whitley.

CAST OF CHARACTERS FOR ONE ACT PLAY ANNOUNCED

Mrs. O. L. Peterman has announced the cast of characters for the one act play, "The Maker of Dreams" which will be given at the Little Theatre soon. The correct cast is as follows: Pierrot, Mrs. Glenn Hunt; Pierrette, Mrs. Elwin Wheeler; The Manufacturer, Mr. Floyd Miller.

MISS JOHNSON COMPLIMENTED AT COUNTRY CLUB TODAY

Miss Mary Alice Johnson is honored at a party at the country club this afternoon at two-thirty. Nine tables will be placed for bridge and a number of tea guests will be present. The hostesses are Misses Lyla Mae Cravens, Kathryn Atkins, and Margaret Smith.

MRS. PAGE'S BIBLE TO MEET TODAY

"The Repealing of the Earth," after the flood, and the origin of the nations, with interesting historical data and the beginning of prehistoric day religions, from the book of Genesis, will be the lesson for discussion by Mrs. A. L. Page before the Wednesday afternoon Bible class, to meet at 2:30 this afternoon, in the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. N. Lemmon, 1809 Avenue O. Extra chairs will be provided to take care of the increasing attendance. Men and women will find the presentation a novel and interesting one, it is reported.

MID-WEEK SERVICE AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"What Does God Say About the Condition of the Churches?" will be the lesson for discussion from the first letter to the Corinthians, at the mid-week meeting to be held in the First Christian Church, Wednesday night, 7:30 o'clock. A. L. Page is the leader, and these exhortative, searching messages are stirring the hearts of the people. New faces are in evidence each week and it is said that much light is being shed upon familiar passages of Scripture. The meeting is open to all.

CARLISLE COUPLE MARRY SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Miss Blanche Brownlee and Mr. Nathan Braver, of the Carlisle community were married at five-thirty Sunday afternoon at the home of Rev. D. C. Ross, who read the ceremony. The young couple will make their home in Mississippi, leaving Lubbock county soon.

"Why Marry" Study of Junior Twentieth Century Club

The Junior Twentieth Century Club enjoyed the study of "Why Marry?" by Jesse Lynch Williams, at the meeting held at the Methodist Church Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Houston Sikes led the lesson creating special interest in the round table discussion and questions on the play.

Mrs. Charles Read compared the play with "Daisy" "Nice People" and other plays which have been studied by the club the past year.

An analysis of the play was given by Mrs. D. D. Roderick who criticized the dialogue, the characterization and the artistic force.

Mrs. O. P. Sontag very effectively read the third act in character.

The calendar committee of which Mrs. W. C. Myrick is chairman submitted courses of study to the members and the course for the year 1926-1927 will be selected soon.

Club House Favored By Delphain Club

The committee of the Delphain Club on investigation of the contemplated club house met at 2:30 and reported that some of the clubs of the city had been interviewed and expressed themselves very favorable toward the movement to establish a women's club house in Lubbock. Mrs. Temple Ellis, chairman of the committee was retained by the club as general chairman and club representative, and each club will be asked to appoint a member to meet in joint committee meeting and report more fully at the next meeting.

After discussion of the club house Mrs. T. B. Zellner led a very interesting lesson on "The Louvre" the subject being a continuation of French art. Mrs. Zellner proved a very capable leader, her summary of the lesson was thorough and led up to the topics.

Mrs. R. H. Martin gave a brief report on classical and romantic art and touched of the old masters in the Louvre.

Mrs. Claude Burrus discussed early French painters, telling their pictures and a brief history of their inspiration.

What was interesting was the story of Watteau's "Embarkment for Cythera" by R. M. Chitwood.

Mrs. W. T. Raybon stressed the individuality of the artist in discussing Chardin's paintings.

Mrs. Louie Moore gave the history of the Classicists and Romanticists, stressing the different phases of each.

Mrs. John Bacon told of the paintings of Corot, the great French landscape painter.

Mrs. Harry Hall gave a very thorough report on Lesser Barbizon painters.

Mrs. V. H. Poyette reported on Millet, speaking of his being the ancestor of all Barbizon painters represented in the Louvre.

Plans are being made for the Texas day program to be given April 20, several clubs will give a joint program on that day.

NEW STYLES

By HEDDA HOYT
Written for the United Press
NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—Sports coats of fur are far more numerous than more costly fur coats this season. Where was one mink, tan, fox or ermine or broadtail we see a hundred leopards, nutrias or raccoons. The sports coat is far more valuable than more expensive coats of fur and women are now wearing them for all occasions.

"Artificial flowers on coat collars are being worn again as Spring advances. Hues, such as chrysanthemum in orange, yellow, orchid or white are among the newest flowers worn. Occasionally one sees some sporty Miss wearing her corsage on her coat cuff.

Winter weather has brought out the muffs. With a seal skin coat one young Miss wore a Beut tam of seal skinned and carried a mellow skinned muff of seal skin. Several small mink muffs were worn this week and invariably the wearer was a well-dressed person.

Since many women are wearing the mannish coats with up-standing collars it is well to know how the collar is worn with such collars. They are placed at the back of the neck instead of in front and one of the prettiest collars seen used this way was two waxed pink tulips. The coat collar was beaver.

A yard and three-quarters of 40-inch material will make the new snug-fitting costume slip which is being featured by several stores in New York. This slip fits plain over the hips, in front and at the rear but still has ample room about the hemline. It is made on the cross-wise of the material. One pins one end of the material under the left arm. Then wrap the material across the back and around the body until it crosses the back again and reaches the right underarm. Two side seams extend from under arms to a low waistline. There is a double thickness of the material at the rear. Cut out the underneath layer of the bodice portion, stitch the two skirt layers together across the rear waistline, keep the sides of the material and you will have a skirt that is slit at the rear but which overlaps so that this does not show.

See the Book of Job at the High School auditorium on Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Admission 25c, 35c and 50c.

Hicks is New Head of O'Donnell C-C

S. O'Neill, president of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce were the principal speakers at a meeting of the O'Donnell Chamber of Commerce Monday night when fifty-six O'Donnell business men gathered and voted to launch an expansion and re-organization campaign for their chamber of commerce.

Davis explained that the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce was glad to send him to assist in the campaign; that Lubbock had already assisted Littlefield to bring their membership to the largest per capita of any city in West Texas and is aiding in a similar campaign.

The meeting elected Reverend W. B. Hicks, president and following as campaign executive committee: J. D. Liles, J. U. Bowlin, W. H. Crunk, C. H. Mansell, J. Wood Parker, M. Gardinier, and H. L. Hohn.

INTEREST IN LUBBOCK SHOWN BY FORMER C-C HEAD, J. D. McMASTER

J. D. McMaster, of Galveston, and Jack Williams, of Plainview, representing the Automobile Finance Company, of Galveston, were here yesterday on business.

Mr. McMaster, who until taking a place with the Finance company was for a number of years connected with the Houston Chamber of Commerce, and while his attention is now given to other interests, he confessed yesterday that he is watching the developments that are being made in Lubbock with a great deal of admiration for the men who are at the head of the various business institutions here.

Mr. McMaster is an expert on matters pertaining to industrial and business growth, and the interest he has shown in Lubbock reflects something of the attractiveness of the city as a whole and especially of its possibilities.

Increasing Favor Is Shown for Printed Crepes and Silks

By JULIA BOTTOMLEY

As to recent their gay patternings by way of contrast, many of the now-stylish silk print frocks are detailed with solid-colored borderings and trimmings. This idea should make definite appeal to the home dressmaker, for it is a simple way of gaining much attractiveness. This popular fabric combination particularly lends itself to the designing of the modish long sleeve.

The model pictured owes its attractiveness to the unique cascade trimming of the silk print bordered with a silk of solid coloring. This silk, which is of American origin, has an interesting bit of history in that the artist who designed it took for his inspiration the tall city sky-scraper, applying the idea in color design.

Just now considerable interest is being manifested in silk prints which have considerable bright red in their makeup. One can readily conceive that such a silk would be enhanced with a border of solid phantom-red silk, for phantom red is one of the most talked-of popular shades for this season.

There is great diversity of opinion in regard to silk prints. Some there are who select the most garish and bizarre patterns possible to obtain, while others declare that smart style calls for quiet modest all-over patternings. It is entirely a matter of choice. The important thing is to not neglect the acquiring of a silk print frock for no spring wardrobe is complete without at least one such.

Quite the newest idea is the dress of silk print with a long coat of lightweight cloth or silk of solid color, the lining of which must be of the gay-patterned print. In fact, ensembles which combine a printed dress with a plain coat number among outstanding spring costumes.

Printed crepe de chine in modest design piped with a coroll plain fabric presents a new theme which will be appreciated by the woman of discriminating taste.

BOYS WHO MURDERED OLD MAN GET LIFE SENTENCES

MANDAN, N. D., Mar. 2.—William Stoller and Aman Horst, 18 year old murderers of Fred Stoller, William's aged grandfather were sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by District Judge Berry here Tuesday when they pleaded guilty to charges of first degree murder.

Stoller was beaten to death and robbed while alone at his farm home near Carson. His clothing was saturated in kerosene and the body fired. More than $3,000 sewed in the lining of his coat was taken. It was later found in Horst's attic. The two boys confessed.

Walthall of The State Board of Control Entertained by Faculty Members of the Texas Tech Faculty

The School of Home Economics entertained R. L. Walthall and party with a luncheon at the cafeteria yesterday. Several members of the faculty of commerce and board of city development were also present. Dr. Horn made the first talk and introduced the guests. A. B. Davis then made the welcome address which was followed by a short talk from Pink L. Parrish, local attorney. Nathan B. Powers of Dallas then told of the growth of the Plains and West Texas in the past few years.

President Horn then outlined the needs for improvements of the College for the next two years. He included the completion of the administration building and several other units of the college plant. The five Deans of the college then outlined their needs and improvements. Each told of the present crowded conditions of his or her school.

Mr. Gaston, chief of the division of estimates and appropriations then spoke and told of the wonderful school which would have a great influence in the education of the West Texans of the future. He stated that the board of control did not expect the Tech to advance in two years like it had already done.

Chairman of the board Walthall then spoke and told of the work of the board of control in issuing the appropriations. He stated that when the recommendations were sent in that the Tech would be given a liberal slice of the state pie.

Dr. Horn then introduced R. L. Walthall, chairman of the state board of control. He voiced his pleasure of visiting the college and said that he felt sure that the Tech would receive a liberal slice of the appropriations. He stated that the board would use all possible influence in aiding the school. Mr. Gaston, chief of the division of estimates and appropriations was then introduced. He stated that he was surprised as he came in the pavilion at the excellent collection of livestock and felt sure that the Tech would get a liberal supply if she grew in the next two years like she has in the past. He was an interesting speaker and kept the students in laughter a greater part of the time. Dr. Horn then stated that he was proud of the selection of the student officers and wanted them to come and meet with him today at 3 o'clock to talk over student problems.

DEAN LEIDIGH EDITS BULLETIN

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school of Agriculture, received copies of a bulletin that he compiled while at A. & M. College. The subject of the material is "Subterranean Clover—A new sandy-land grazing crop for Southeastern Texas." The circular gives a complete description of the crop and its adaptation to the use of grazing.

The circular was compiled by Dean Leidigh while he was at A. & M. College and was sent to the press and dated August. This makes the second publication of bulletins from the members of the school of Agriculture since the opening of the Tech. C. H. Mahoney, professor of Horticulture had a bulletin to come out several weeks ago.

DEATH CLAIMS TWO TECH STUDENTS TUESDAY

The flag at the college was lowered to half-mast yesterday in reverence of the death of two students of the college. Harvey Neely, assistant librarian died Monday night of influenza. He was a student who did not take great part in affairs but his influence was felt in the school. He was an advanced student and had chosen library work as his life work. He had planned to attend some school this summer and study. He is survived by his wife, parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Neely, of Roff, Okla., and sister Miss Bess Neely of Clovis, New Mexico. His parents arrived yesterday from Roff and his body was shipped there for burial leaving here at 1 o'clock this morning. Words of sympathy and condolences were sent to the family by the faculty and students. Resolutions of respect were also sent to the family.

Upton Pierce, an advanced student in the school of Agriculture died at his home in Santa Anna early yesterday morning. He underwent an operation for appendicitis at a local sanitarium about two weeks ago and recovered nicely. He left the hospital Saturday morning in fine condition for his home. It seems that adhesions set in and he passed away quickly. A wire was received yesterday by his roommate telling of his sudden death. Dr. Horn sent wire of condolence to the family in behalf of the faculty and students. Resolutions of respect were also sent to the family by representatives of the student body.

PRESS CLUB MEETS TONIGHT

Regular meeting of the Press Club will be held tonight at 7:30 in the library. The president urged that all members be present as a good program is scheduled. Dr. Reed, head of the chemistry department will be the main speaker of the meeting. He is an old newspaper man and will talk on some feature of newspaper work.

STUDENT OFFICERS ELECTED

At the convocation yesterday morning the officers of the student association of the Tech were elected.

nounced the candidates. A standing vote was taken of the entire student body and the election was absolutely democratic. The following officers were elected: President, John Young; vice president, Orville Burroughs and secretary, Agnes Brown.

The president then appointed a committee on resolutions to send copies to the family of the students who died.

"Y" CABINET MEETING TONIGHT

All cabinet members of the Y. M. C. A. are asked to meet in room 211 of the main building tonight for a regular meeting. President Jordan stated that it would be an important meeting and every member is urged to be present.

MISS WEEKS TO SPEAK TO ACUFF WOMEN TODAY

Miss Margaret Weeks, Dean of the Home Economics will go with Miss Dubois today to Acuff where she will address the Club women in the first of a series of meetings. Miss Weeks will talk on "Nutrition." These lectures will be given at the different schools of the county each week.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

Things in general took on a slightly somber cast at Tech yesterday, following the death of the second of our students to graduate from the highest university known-life.

College traditions, especially those built up by folks who never attended Colleges, are such as would lead folks to believe that College life is one big round of fun, with no thought other than for that. Not so, we believe one would say could he see expressions of deep concern that were manifest on the campus yesterday.

It is fitting and appropriate, also, that college activities be suspended for Neely's funeral.

Convocation was "varied" yesterday, what with the election of officials of the Student organization in order, preceding the visit of Mr. Walthall, Chairman of the State Board of Control, lots of fun was in order, and believe us, it was had.

Incidentally, the first official act of Mr. Young, in his capacity of President, was to name a committee to draft resolutions of sympathy to the family of Harvey Neely. This committee was the president's of the Freshman and of the Soph classes and the Y. W. C. A.

Wasn't it Mr. Walthall who said, upon looking over the assembled students in the "mulebarn," that if that was the kind of stock West Texas raised to be judged in that pavilion, he'd be willing to come to West Texas?

Dr. Pfeiffer gives a lecture this evening concerning the palace of Versailles. History students, take notice.

Some one asked last night if the Sock and Buskin Club had gone in for the movies not. Now, Alemanthis, don't be upset just because they had presented "her picture" last evening. It might have been a snap shot. We understand, however that it was pretty good.

Now that the folks have come and gone, we can almost safely say why it was that everybody had on his best "bib and tucker" for yesterday, instead of having a holiday. We don't know that it's necessary to explain, by now; but anyway it was because said gentlemen who were visiting were determining the amount of money that Tech gets for the next two years. Goodness gracious sakes alive! We might at least have been wise enough to send down to Austin for a picture of them, and hung 'em up in the hall.

Ex-Students of the University of Texas held their annual banquet last evening at the Tech Cafeteria. Ain't we got fun?

FIVE EAGLE SCOUTS OF HEREFORD ATTEND AMARILLO MEETING

HEREFORD, March 2.—The work of the Hereford Delegation that attended the annual Area Meeting of the Boy Scouts of America at Amarillo last week was reviewed at the weekly luncheon of the local Chapter of Commerce Monday at the Hereford Hotel, and it was brought out that this place had five Eagle Scouts to attend the Amarillo meeting, which was by far the best showing made by any other city in this section. G. A. F. Parker was introduced as the new president of the Panhandle Council. He was elected last week in Amarillo and will take up his new duties April 1. Ralph Barnett was elected National Councilman for the Panhandle Area and Rev. Jas. T. Ross was placed on the Board of Directors, according to announcements made at Monday's luncheon. Rev. J. O. Haynes paid tribute to Rev. W. R. Hill for his work on the nominating committee, and praised Hereford for the big delegation that went to Amarillo.

Rev. Jas. T. Ross told of the work that has been done here by the three scout masters, E. W. Harrison, Jim Black and A. G. Bell. He said that the scout movement in Hereford could not be put over without the consistent work of these men.

E. W. Harrison told of the co-operation that Hereford folks had always given in the movement, and said he felt sure that there would be more interest during the coming year than ever before. Mr. Harrison said that the boys would probably be taken on a trip next summer, and suggested that a trip be planned to the Taos Mountains in New Mexico at the same time the Texas-New Mexico Highway Meeting is staged in Taos.

The three local banks have purchased a hundred copies of the Boys Life for six months, and this magazine will be given to the Boy Scouts free during the next six months, according to Rev. W. R. Hill. J. B. Elliott and A. E. Chambers spoke briefly of the oil development in Deaf Smith County, and stated that the blocking of acreage east of Hereford was progressing nicely.

MOTHER-OF TEXAS SENDS INDEPENDENCE MESSAGE

By United News.
AUSTIN, Texas, Mar. 2.—Mrs. Rebecca J. Fisher, 95, of Austin, known to the people of the state as the "mother of Texas" took occasion Tuesday, the 90th anniversary of Texas' independence, to pay the following tribute to the men who made that independence a reality. Her message read:

"The spirit of Stephen F. Austin and the heroes of the Texas republic can never die. Since the day when the declaration of independence from Mexico was signed, 90 years ago, our great state has forged ahead nobly and bravely through the Christian heroism and bravery of her sons, and the future holds the hope of light and prosperity as never before."

Mrs. Fisher is the organizer of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas and has been its president for 30 years. (She has the distinction of being the only woman ever elected to membership in the Texas veterans' association.)

GOES TO SECOND TRIAL ON BANK WRECKING CHARGE

WICHITA, Kan., Mar. 2.—Selection of a jury which is try Phil A. Drumm on a charge of conspiracy in connection with wrecking of the American State Bank of which he was cashier, was begun in Judge Pierpont's court today. It is Drumm's second trial on this charge, the first ending in a disagreement of the jury, 3 to 3 for acquittal.

Drumm was acquitted last fall of a charge of receiving deposits when he knew the bank was insolvent.

New Method Quickly Banishes Heavy Coughs

Why be annoyed and weakened by persistent, strength-sapping coughing spells when you can, through a very simple treatment, quickly stop all irritation and very often banish the trouble entirely in 24 hours?

This treatment is based on the famous prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful at bed-time and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of night coughing. Thus, with the throat soothed and cleared, coughing stops quickly and you sleep all night undisturbed.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic cough, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

RICH BLESSINGS—"Even by the God of thy father, and by the Almighty, who shall bless thee. * * * The blessings of thy father have prevailed. * * * unto the utmost bound of the everlasting hills; they shall be on the head of Joseph." Gen. 49: 25-26

CHARITY OVERHEAD

The poor we have with us always and so long as humane impulses animate mankind we shall seek to relieve the condition of the unfortunate and the destitute. The enormous sums contributed to the relief of distress are often to a large extent dissipated, however, before they reach those for whom they are intended, due to excessive expense in management. Charity organizations are either international, national or local in their scope. Each must have paid workers, often elaborate headquarters, attractive literature and prepared publicity, all of which cost money which must be taken from the contributed funds. While in the case of a few organizations, such as the Red Cross and some community chests, the overhead expense is comparatively small. In most of them it is a big item. In all of them it is more than it ought to be. The trouble is that whenever someone gets the idea of doing charity work, he or she feels it necessary to start a new "movement," instead of co-operating with some agency already in existence. A lot of such new enterprises are launched merely to gratify someone's desire for publicity and are an imposition on the public. We shall never have too much real charity, but we have too many organizers and organizations, hence a large part of the funds contributed go for overhead expenses instead of being devoted to the purposes for which they are donated.

BROADENING OUR VIEW

Although many writers deplore the alleged lower standard of current magazines which are extremely popular with a certain class of people, reports from booksellers and librarians declare that there is a growing demand for the better sort of literature. Works dealing with travel, history and biography are being called for in increasing numbers, especially those pertaining to foreign countries. There is no doubt that the war and the important events which have followed it have given the American people a wider outlook on the world and a desire to know more of the countries and peoples which are playing such important parts in its affairs. Newspapers, generally, both dailies and weeklies, find that their readers are interested in a wider range of topics than formerly; and are giving more space to news and editorials dealing with national and international matters. This all means that the people of America, and particularly the rural population, are outgrowing the narrow provincialism of the past and are eager for contact with the rest of the world, through books, newspapers, moving pictures and the radio. All of which makes for a higher and better civilization.

TO TEACH MARKETING

With a view to the early education of young farmers in the principles of cooperative marketing a text-book designed for use in agricultural high schools and other schools which give particular attention to agriculture is being prepared. The book is being written by a committee of experts, of which Dr. Macy Campbell of Cedar Rapids, Ia., is chairman and is sponsored by the National Educational Association. The idea was suggested by the marked success which has attended a similar movement during a number of years in Denmark, where the cooperative spirit has been fostered through definite instruction in the folk schools. Those behind the plan declare that it is difficult to convince the older farmers of the benefits of cooperative marketing after they become so in their individualistic methods. Hence, it is sought to begin marketing education in the school room. As former Governor Lowden of Illinois, a member of the text-book committee, briefly put it: "Cooperative marketing develops more rapidly and more soundly where young farmers have first been educated to understand it."

MOST USEFUL CITIZEN

It has only been a few years back that the suggestion of a public utility president being chosen as the most popular and useful citizen of a city would have been a real joke. For in the old days a public utility was looked upon by the public as a natural enemy. But Harvey C. Couch, president of the Arkansas Light & Power Company, was selected to receive the 1925 loving cup as the most useful citizen of his home city, Pine Bluff. For his great and untiring efforts for the ansas, particularly with reference to electrical developments. The press dispatch announcing the award also stated that "Mr. Couch is actively identified with all civic movements for the betterment of the city and community and is an untiring worker in the Chamber of Commerce." A similar cup was awarded for similar reasons to H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of the Georgia Railway & Power Company, by the City of Atlanta last month. Real service to the communities in which they operate is more and more becoming the keynote of modern public utility corporation policy. The companies find that it pays, and the people have not been slow to recognize and approve this change of attitude, which has turned former antagonism into friendliness and cooperation.

OPINIONS SHOULD DIFFER

It is characteristic of most persons who have decided opinions on any subject that they should try to bring everyone else to their way of thinking. In cases where the issue is a clearcut one, involving right and wrong, it may be that an uncompromising attitude is justified. But who shall say just what is right and what is wrong? Ideas concerning right and wrong change with the times. Not so many years ago some of the most cultured and enlightened people of this country believed that human slavery was legitimate and proper. George Washington was one of them; at least he was a large slave-owner as long as he lived. We think it wrong today. The puritans thought it wrong for a man to kiss his wife on Sunday, and they passed a law prohibiting him from doing so. We think it all right today. If everyone had agreed with such old ideas and no one had ever mustered up the courage to combat them, we should have made little progress. We would still be burning witches. What is needed in the world is not that we should all think alike, but that we should have a greater feeling of tolerance and respect for the opinions of others, when honestly held, no matter how much they may differ from our own. The average normal person is really seeking for the truth—but the truth is often elusive, and each must find it in his own way.

ONE MURDER IN YEAR

According to a report recently given out, the city of Quebec, with a population of approximately 100,000, was the scene of only one murder during the year 1925.

In the United States as a whole there are on an average approximately 10 murders each year out of each 100,000 of population, while in the cities of Memphis, Jacksonville and Birmingham the annual rate during the past five years has averaged nearly 60 murders per 100,000 or 60 times that of Quebec.

In spite of the earnest efforts of the sociologists and publicists to determine the cause and suggest a remedy for the deplorable crime situation no appreciable headway has been made in that direction.

Attempts to explain crime as an aftermath of the war fall flat when it is considered that the homicide rate in England, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and other English-speaking countries averages only about one-tenth that of the United States, yet all these were in the war from beginning to end and suffered from its effects in every way immeasurably more than we did.

Lits declared by a recent writer that only one murderer out of 160 is executed in New York while 70 out of 100 are hanged in London. This may have something to do with our high murder rate.

HOW IT STARTED

Much discussion regarding the origin of the strenuous dance called the Charleston has been going on, without any authoritative decision on the question.

After reading up on the subject to some extent, we are inclined to accept the following version:

It happened on a South Carolina farm, not far from Charleston. The farmer, armed with a pitchfork and accompanied by a hound dog, caught a young negro in his chicken coop. A job at the dark with the pitchfork made him do the first step. A bite from the hound in the seat of his trousers produced the second step. Continued jabs with the pitchfork, alternated with the hound's bites, perfected the dance, which has taken the country by storm.

The next time you see the Charleston dancer, watch the movements closely and you will probably conclude that it could have been evolved in no other way.

A MODEST VICTOR

Jean Borotra of France defeated William Tilden of the U. S. A., seven years undisputed tennis champion of the world, a few days ago. Jean might have been pardoned for bragging a bit about such an accomplishment, but did he?

He did not. When asked whether he expects to beat Tilden in the Davis cup competition next summer, Borotra said:

"It is foolish to think so. When I defeated Tilden the other day he was off his stroke. You can well imagine that such a thing will not happen again in the matches next week or in the Davis cup play. I think I am due for a licking when I play Tilden again."

Borotra is declared to be the most popular player among lovers of tennis, which is not hard to understand in view of his unusual skill and his still more unusual modesty.

Government geologists and engineers are preparing to search for oil and coal about 7,000 square miles in Alaska in the hope of finding a new petroleum reserve for the navy. If oil should be found, it's an even bet that it will be leased to private interests to develop.

Let us forget—a certain Mr. Fall, a Mr. Doehny and a Mr. Sinclair, who were said to be charged with doing something or other to the naval oil reserves, and were at one time before the courts may be occasionally heard from in the dim and

Worrying the Neighbors

SO THINK WE

We think there might be four or five hundred cats spared from the back yards of the homes in Lubbock without impairing the requirements of the household because of mice. Cats are pretty good conveyors of disease, and we believe should not be allowed to become too numerous.

We think that even the facts are often twisted.

We think if you will plant trees now in a few years you will be very glad that you did. Let's beautify Lubbock.

We think there are still a few people who do not know that they should not drive cars in the dark without lights. It is not only a violation of the traffic laws, but it is very dangerous.

We think a lot of people have more respect for laws than they have for in-laws.

We think that safe robbery is really not very safe after all.

We think the fellows that blew all their earnings in on playing the races do not get much comfort out of the income tax reductions.

We think pedestrians might feel thankful that many of the cars really rattle before they strike.

We think that the fellow that runs the bureau of information does not have a thing on the fellow that has a small boy.

We think the guy who started the old saying "eighty years young" is probably in the dotage age.

We think that after all the inventors haven't a thing on the maker of this old earth, and its operation. Who is there among who can time a machine that will turn around and around, one revolution every twenty-four hours and never stop or get out of repair like the old earth, on which we live.

We think even a bit of white wash would not be out of place on some of the trees in Lubbock, and it even dresses up the back yard fence a bit, and it does not cost much either.

We think that times must have changed in the past twenty-five years. We remember when we had to buy our cheap-john literature when dad was not looking and read it the same way, but now it is considered good literature in the parlor.

We think that a lot of girls fudge on their imagination when they make good fudge and think they are good cooks.

We think the report that the automobile fatalities decreased six last month, surely must have some significance. We can think of nothing else than some body must have had engine trouble somewhere else than on the railroad crossing.

We think Lubbock might just gest development campaign that has ever been seen in the city. We do not believe there is any doubt that the Denver will build here, and oil and gas will be found. These are things that will aid our development. Just watch old Lubbock now!

We think that we might have better luck collecting bills if we would get a new word for pay. A lot of folks seem to have a contempt for the word.

We think that wild flowers have a very poor chance with so many wild persons on the highway.

We think when the government called in all those $10,000,000 green backs the fives, tens and even the ones must have followed.

IT IS REPORTED

That one lady became so displeased with the slow down sign on Thirteenth and Q that she propped the corner of the school ground ceded to rush her car into the post and tore the thing down.

That one fellow said eighteen miles per hour was too slow passing the school grounds, and stepped on it to the tune of forty per, and now the city treasury is considerably more wealthy.

That some one killed a dog on Broadway and left the carcass to decorate the curb. This is not a very good advertisement for the sanitary condition of the city.

That Independence Day got by without much comment in Lubbock except that the banks were closed, and business was somewhat interfered with.

That one of the little boys of this town yesterday asked his dad if buying a hat on credit put a fellow in debt over head and ears. We would think yes.

That it was a last winter hat that "Ma" flung in the political ring, and it really won't make much difference whether it is smashed or not.

That canned pardon tips are the latest canned goods.

That one Lubbock doctor has made a statement that he can eliminate spring fever from spring.

That one Englishman says that the American people are lazy because the government does so much for them that they should do for themselves. Coming from an Englishman we would say this is another sample of dry English wit.

That the force of habit was recently very clearly illustrated. One of the auctioneers of this city went out of the golf grounds with a golf playing friend, and tried to learn the name. The friend had occasion to yell "fore" where-upon the auctioneer promptly yelled out, "Who will

Women and Her Weight

The boyish form so popular with the modern woman is a result of woman's struggle for equality with man, in the opinion of Dr. Thomas D. Wood, college physician and advisor in health education in Teachers College and professor of physical education at Columbia University.

"In their struggle for political and economic equality modern women, and particularly the younger ones, have confused equality with identity, and consequently they have adopted, in so far as is possible, man's form."

We have the boyish hair cut which is harmless, whatever its value as an asset to beauty, and the boyish form which is not so harmless and in most cases is an undeveloped or infantile form carried over into the period."

Dr. Wood has had a broad opportunity, in his official capacity to observe the health records and physical characteristics of large groups of men and women of all ages over a continuous period of years and to study the relation of body weight to health. Accordingly he was one of the twenty-five medical authorities invited to attend the recent Adult Weight Conference held in New York City upon the invitation of officials of the American Medical Association at the request of the Delinquent. More than 20,000 letters from women readers of this magazine appealing for advice on weight problems—the majority of which could not be properly answered because there was no authoritative, complete set of adult weight scales, convinced the editor, Mrs. William Brown Meloney, of the urgent need for research and discussion on this subject. Accordingly the conference was arranged in the hope that it would crystallize into some scale tables of standard weight and measurements applicable to individual cases.

"The college girl," Dr. Wood says, "usually has too much sense to reduce her weight to the point where it endangers her health though even among college women we find women who sacrifice health to what they believe is beauty, as in the case of the young woman of 20, who was 15 per cent underweight, and who told me proudly that it had taken her five years to reduce to that weight. She had done it deliberately, intentionally and voluntarily. And this health. The "hit-or-miss" plan of filling public office is costing the people many millions of dollars. Voting for a man or woman for personal reasons, or because the candidate can make a good stump speech, is poor business. Every office should be filled by a man or woman, as the case may be, who is qualified for the position and who will serve the best interests of the people. If voters generally followed the practice of selecting men and women for office because of their fitness, tax rates could be reduced fully one-third if not by 50 per cent. —Farm & Ranch.

SCISSORED EDITORIAL

OUR NEXT GOVERNOR

Our next governor, whether it be in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana or New Mexico, (Holland's Southwest, should be a man with business training and a capacity to conduct the affairs of the State in an efficient and economical manner. Of course, he must be honest. He also must consider his election as a great honor—the greatest in the gift of the people—and he must have a desire to be of service to the people of his state. If such a man can be found, it should make no difference whether or not he can make a good speech or whether or not he shines in the society of the "400."

Business methods of the highest type should be employed in the management of Government affairs, and it will take a business man to do it. Every state, county or city office requiring business ability should be filled with business men, and good farmers with business ability are in this class. Positions requiring more than an ordinary knowledge of the laws should be filled by lawyers of experience and ability. Positions in the department of education should go to men and women familiar with the needs of our public schools, colleges, and universities.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

MANHOOD

Boy, write it down for your guidance, the whole of your journey through:

Men may be richer and wiser, but none can be cleaner than you.

Some may be stronger in body, the great feats of life they may do, But even the genius can never be fairer and squarer than you.

You may be weak in your labor, for that is a physical test, But in all the strong virtues of manhood you can equal the greatest and best.

If it's said you were cheerful and kindly, if it's said you were honest and true,

No more could be told of a man, arch, for the best has been spoken of you.

For honor and truth have no shadows, no differing parts or degrees, And in virtue the humblest can equal the mightiest man that we see.

You may not be clever or skillful, you may not be strong as the few, But if you've the mind to be honest, there is none can be straighter than you.

T.C.U. First Southwestern Club Carded for the Tech

Tech Matador Eleven to Meet Horned Frogs in Ft. Worth in October 31

A practically full schedule has been arranged by Coach E. Y. "Big Un" Freeland for the 1926 Gridiron Season with many of the states strongest teams on contract to compete with the fighting Matadors. Among these strong clubs are the Texas Christian University "Cowboys", Abilene Christian College "Wild Cats", Howard Payne College "Yellow Jackets", the St. Edwards College "Saints", and the Canyon "Buffaloes". As yet Freeland has two open dates in his schedule on Oct. 2 and on Oct. 22, however, he is corresponding at the present time with several schools and it is likely that he will have his schedule completed within the next week or so.

Horned Frogs First Southwestern Conference Game

In commenting on having contracted a game with the Texas Christian University, Freeland stated, "It is but natural for T. C. U. to recognize us first, as it is in Ft. Worth—just where the West begins"; the frogs will be the first Southwestern Conference team that will play the Tech. However, Freeland stated that Rice Institute offered the Matadors a date on the last year's schedule but the date that was offered to the Bull Fighters was before the schedule of the Matadors had started and was impossible for the game to be arranged; also Frank Bridge's Baylor Bears have offered to meet the Matadors but due to circumstances a game could not be arranged.

Matadors Have Hard Road

The Matador eleven will have a hard schedule throughout the season having arranged games with strong clubs. Especially with the schedule from October 30 through Thanksgiving being a hard one. However, Freeland is expecting a much better club out of the Tech this season than last season—in that he will have a better start in selecting the men that will be chosen to represent the college due to the fact that he already knows the ability of each man and will not have to go through a long series of workouts before he is able to make any selection—then too, the greater majority of the last season's club will be back for another year and are familiar with one another's football tactics thus giving them an advantage that they did not have last fall.

Captain Carpenter expressed himself as being elated over the game with the Horned Frogs and in fact all of the prospective members of the 1926 Gridiron eleven have shown their appreciation for such a game.

Howard Payne, Scheduled Here
The Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne College will return their engagement with the Matadors here on November 18th. The Howard Payne eleven was the only club that defeated the Matadors last season.

Opening Game with McMurry
The opening game of the Matadors will be with the McMurry Indians of Abilene on their home gridiron, September 23rd. The Indians were the first club to play the Matadors which resulted with a scoreless tie.

Matadors to Canyon Turkey Day
The West Texas Teachers College Buffaloes will meet the Matadors on the Buffs' grounds on Turkey Day. This game will be one of the most interesting games of the Matador card in that there are many Teacher College ex-students that make it a point to attend this game.

The Schedule to Date
Sept. 23—Tech vs McMurry at Abilene.
Oct. 2—Open.
Oct. 8—St. Edwards vs Tech at Lubbock.
Oct. 15—Simmons at Abilene.
Oct. 22—Open.
Oct. 30—T. C. U. vs Tech at Fort Worth.
Nov. 5—Daniel Baker vs Tech at Brownwood.
Nov. 11—A. C. C. vs Tech at Lubbock.
Nov. 18—Howard Payne vs Tech at Lubbock.
Nov. 25—W. T. S. T. C. vs Tech at Canyon.

ANZAC FARM HAND MAY RIVAL PAAVO NURMI

By United News.
SYDNEY, Australia, March 2.—A farm-hand from the Antipodes may yet become the world's champion middle distance runner. After Lloyd Hahn of the Boston A. A., who is here on tour, had been beaten three times in a series of one mile races by Randolph Rose, the farm-hand in question, he asserted that Rose had the possibility of becoming a real rival of Paavo Nurmi, the champion from Finland.

Rose is a star middle distance runner and Hahn has given him several lessons in starting and pace judging.

"ROBERT SCOTT" MAY BE SOMEBODY ELSE

CHICAGO, March 2.—A write of babies' corpus calling for the appearance of the man said to be Robert Scott before Judge Walter P. Steffen early Wednesday morning, has been issued here.

Scott, who was found in San Quentin penitentiary under the name of John Redding, will arrive in Chicago Wednesday.

A fight over the identity of the prisoner may develop.

ROOSEVELTS BACK LUBBOCK TO LEAD FROM OVIS POLI SOUTH PLAINS AHEAD

By United News.
NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—The Roosevelt smile the Roosevelt manner and the Roosevelt hunting tradition returned to America Tuesday night on the Berengaria with Colonel Theodore and his older brother, Kermit. They were back from an eleven month's stay in India and the wild parts of central Asia.

The two sons of T. R. led a scientific expedition sent by the Field Museum of Chicago to bring back Marco Polo's famed sheep, the "ovis poli", and anything else they could bag with their rifles.

The museum is richer by more than 1,000 specimens, including eighty large mammals for mounting, of about 20 different species.

There are also from 800 to 1,000 mammals, birds, and reptiles, some which Colonel Roosevelt believes are new to science. The question of politics was immediately raised by reporters but Colonel Roosevelt, the last-republican candidate for governor of New York, begged to be excused.

The Roosevelt party, which included Mrs. Kermit and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, received a rousing welcome when the ship reached quarantine. The two Roosevelts left New York last April, going directly to Northern India and pushing across the first range of the Himalayas into Western Tibet.

Crossing mountain passes from 15,000 to 20,000 feet above sea level, they traversed Turkestan, the Tian Shan mountains and the Chinese and Russian frontiers.

It was in the Amirs that they bagged the ovis poli.

C. C. Lindsey Joins Staff of Avalanche

C. C. Lindsey, manager and director here, has accepted a position of the Palace and Lindsey in the advertising department of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche effective Thursday.

Mr. Lindsey will direct the publicity of the Theatre in connection with his new position and continue in the selection of programs, etc., for the Theatre.

Having been reared in Lubbock and connected in different phases of advertising and publicity work the Avalanche believes he will bring to this department a service which will be greatly appreciated by the patrons of Lubbock.

Mr. G. W. Smith who has been in the advertising department has resigned to accept a very responsible position with the Willy-Overland Company of Dallas and will probably make his future home in that city.

LUBBOCK TO LEAD SOUTH PLAINS AHEAD

where in West Texas, with K. L. Riggs, the president, and a corps of recently elected officers already making plans for the year which include regular monthly meetings to be attended by life writers representing practically all of the old line insurance companies doing business in the territory of which Lubbock is the hub.

That the organization of the life underwriters, which was perfected recently will give Lubbock new fields in which to labor is seen by the fact that already officers of the organization are making plans to have this city represented at the state and national meetings of life underwriters.

Labor Organizations
Few clubs in Texas can boast of an organization of laboring men who are more squarely back of civic development than is the case with Lubbock. F. O. Kelly, secretary of the local union of carpenters and joiners, and who represents all of the labor organizations in things pertaining to the general welfare of laboring people, is a member of the board of directors of the Board of City Development, and as such has had a part in fixing the interests of the laboring men with that of the businessmen, and will represent Lubbock at the Houston Convention of the State Federation of Labor and ask for the 1927 convention of the federation that would bring 1200 delegates to Lubbock.

Kelly will be given the co-operation of labor organizations throughout the plains and from many other sections of West Texas in his efforts to swing the 1927 convention to Lubbock. Businessmen of Lubbock have offered their undivided cooperation in not only securing the convention but in entertaining it in the event Kelly's efforts are successful.

The local labor organizations will stage various meetings during the year that will strengthen the ties that bind them with the businessmen and citizens in general in working for the development of Lubbock as a whole. That there is a great force of progress involved in these organizations is recognized by business men of Lubbock who have always shown an eagerness to give the man with the hammer, saw, and other tools an opportunity to do his bit to make Lubbock the city of the Southwest.

The fusion of all of the interests of Lubbock into a force of progress back of the city's plans for the future is an achievement that has not been wrought during the last few months of year, but has been in steady progress over a succession of years. That the men who have had a part in this achievement have built well is agreed upon.

Farm Organizations
Back of Lubbock's ambitions to become the city of the southwest and the peer of all as an educational, agricultural, and industrial center are the men who do things in these particular lines. No community can emanate from the farms and rural communities than can Lubbock. The Lubbock County Farm Bureau Cotton Association, the offices of the county agent and home demonstration agent, and a small host of community clubs that are given leadership of those skilled in the art of their efforts that the best possible results are being obtained. There are developments being made on the farms of Lubbock county that reflect the progressiveness of a citizenship that is made up almost wholly of the purest strain of Anglo-Saxon blood that can be found in any one section of the United States. Bound in common ambitions, seeking a common salvation and a general prosperity, the men and women of the rural communities of Lubbock are looking beyond the pale of their respective homes for such opportunities to render general service as are offered them in the matchless possibilities of the plains, and just how well they are succeeding is seen in the great forward strides that are being made by this section as a whole.

Fair Is Making Pot
The Panhandle South Plains Fair, the 17th exposition of which will be staged here during the last days of September and the first of October, is the melting pot to which all of the accomplishments of the agriculturalists, live stock owners, home culturists, heads of industries and business are brought for competitive comparison, and just how much has been accomplished by this organization is shown in the fact that from the territory it serves have gone the products that have been recognized as superior at the great expositions of the southwest, such as the Fair Stock Show at Fort Worth, the Texas State Fair at Dallas and expositions of even greater importance that are held in the other centers of the southland.

When the West Texas Chamber of Commerce begins its work of selecting products to take to the sequential exposition at Philadelphia it is already known that its representatives will look with much dependence on the territory that is served by the South Plains Fair.

Already those in charge of the fair here are beginning minute preparations to make it this year larger and better than has ever been the case. In the matter of assembling and exhibiting the products of the south plains the businessmen of Lubbock have shouldered a responsibility that is not to be taken lightly, for when they have "totted evenly" with the farmers of this section they have back a real day's work, and one of which all of this section may look to bring great returns to the plains.

Dairy and Poultry
During 1926 the dairy and poultry products of Lubbock county will represent a larger wealth producing source than has ever been the case, with finer and better cattle and larger, standardized and more numerous poultry flocks to be found in all of the communities of the county. This has been a marked achievement creditable to the work of County Agent David F. Eaton and Miss Lela Duffoe, county home demonstration agent.

The development of these industries has been left wholly to the county agents and the rural people of the Lubbock trade territory, with perhaps an exception in the assistance that has been given them by Lubbock banking institutions, but Lubbock businessmen, in improving marketing facilities have had a responsibility that they shouldered without complaint; and have carried their part of the load in these particular fields of endeavor.

Implement Dealers
Walter Myrick, B. and Paul Sherrod, Oscar and Joe Siskar, George Moore, representing local hardware interests, have made Lubbock the implement distributing center of the plains, and have through this channel thrown their effort toward betterment of farm conditions on the plains. In this work they have been given the able assistance of George Benson and Marry Morris, of Lubbock, who are who are sold on the idea that good farming deserves good tools. A visit through the rural sections will convince one that in the matter of employing the best equipment and power available plains farmers are ahead of their brothers in other sections of the country.

Numerous development forces are at work on the plains—forces that have been accrued through years of sincere effort on the part of Lubbock businessmen and plains farmers, and which have an impelling power before which the momentary illusions of disaster about which others have fear for the plains have been driven like so much mist before a Texas sun, with Lubbock retaining her leadership and with the best brains and untiring energies of Lubbock constantly on the alert to develop new channels through which wealth may be induced to this section.

CHICAGO CLEANS HOUSE WITHOUT FEDERAL AID

CHICAGO, March 2.—Immigration officers and local authorities renewed their drive on alien gunmen here following the refusal of the senate immigration committee to investigate Chicago's underworld.

"We are fully competent to clean our own house," State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, "If we are given the co-operation of our own citizens we will not need federal aid."

John Schoemaker, head of a special contingent of detectives assigned to Chicago, said in a press conference that within another week gangland would be deserted.

GREATEST ACQUARIUM PLANNED IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO, March 2.—(U.P.)—"Johnny" Shedd who lived in the village of Alstead, N. H., used to take great delight in watching the sportive trout and other fish dart about the clear stream at the edge of the village. To Johnny's love of the fish tribe, Chicago today attributes a gift of $2,000,000 for what is planned to be the world's greatest aquarium.

"Johnny" is now John G. Shedd, millionaire chairman of the board of Marshall Field & Company. The aquarium bears his name.

Shedd has made a personal study of aquariums in the great cities of the world, and the Chicago project will be the best of its kind in the world, according to a statement by the Shedd Aquarium Society.

ABDEL KRIM JAZZES UP MOROCCAN WARFARE

By RALPH HEINZEN
United News Staff Correspondent.
PARIS, Mar. 2.—Resuming his Moroccan warfare after a winter of idleness Abdel Krim and his Rifian tribesmen have struck a powerful blow against the French with the view of gaining the upper hand prior to possible re-opening of peace negotiations.

Krim, in an attack Tuesday aimed at control of the valley of the river Sahel, a tributary of the Ourega which is one of the few routes now open to transportation. Advancing into the territory of the Rhoia tribe, the Rifians attempted to prevent any French advance further north.

The French troops, unable thus far to operate in the Mtoua district, owing to the persistence of rains, believe that this section is indispensable to them because of the important posts established there during the winter. This view is also held by the French high command.

Tuesday's attack is a repetition of a surprise advance of the Rifians in 1922 when Krim's warriors were forced to abandon their advanced lines after they had come within 25 miles of Fez.

French reconnoitering parties to the east have been forced to retire by the tribesmen's continued attacks.

TANGIER, Mar. 2.—Franco-Spanish forces everywhere in the Rifian fighting area are speeding preparations to meet Abdel Krim whenever he may launch his next attack.

Krim's brother has arrived at Targuist, near Sheshuan, with a strong force to re-inforce the Rifian posts at Beni-Hoze Mar against the Spanish operations. Spanish soldiers plan an immediate attempt to destroy the Rifian camp on Djebel Ziouan which are menacing Tetuan.

Abdel Krim has sent 1,500 men against the Beni-Hoze tribe which submitted recently to Spain. The Spanish have decided on an expedition against another tribe which turned back to Krim after pledging loyalty to Spain.

SPANIARDS LAUNCH ATTACK ON RIFFIANS

LONDON, Mar. 2.—The Daily Mail's Tangier correspondent says that the Spanish attack against the Rifian mountain batteries menacing Tetuan began late Monday.

More than 12,000 Spanish soldiers are said to have taken part in the attack, the objectives of which are the summits of the precipitous mountains around Tetuan.

Lockney Farmer Wins Fiddle Contest

Special to The Avalanche.
LOCKNEY, March 2.—Herbert McDonald, Lockney farmer and organizer of the Lockney Corn Huskers Orchestra, captured the $50 prize at the old fiddlers contest held here Monday night. Evelyn Cobb, high school girl of Silverton won first place in amateur contest. The corn huskers orchestra is composed of farmers and is the official orchestra of the Lockney chamber of commerce. Preparations are being made to take the orchestra to the West Texas chamber of commerce convention which will be held in Amarillo in June.

Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, after 17 years of absence from the White House, revisited it recently and spent an hour with Mrs. Coolidge noting the changes that had been made in the rooms.

The State of Texas, County of Lubbock: In the County Court, March Term, A. D. 1926.

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS MAY COME—GREETINGS:

Know Ye, That J. L. Brabham, Administrator of the Estate of Isaac Laws, deceased, having on the 15th day of Feb. A. D. 1926, filed in the County Court of Lubbock County, Texas, their application to sell the following described land belonging to said Estate, lying, being and situated in the County of Gonzales and State of Texas, being a part of the E. W. Cullen League, in the town of Leesville, and being Lots Nos. Two (2) Three (3), Four (4) and Six (6) in Block "G", as per the plat of said town of Leesville; also all that certain tract or parcel of land situated in Gonzales County, Texas, in the town of Leesville, and being Lots Nos. one (1) and Five (5) in Block "G" as per plat of said town of Leesville.

Now, therefore, These are to notify all persons interested in said estate to be and personally appear at the next regular term of the Honorable County Court, to be holden at the Court House in the County of Lubbock, on the third Monday in March, A. D. 1926, same being the 15th day of said month, and then and there to show cause why such sale should not be made, should they choose to do so.

Given under my hand and seal of office, this 15th day of Feb. A. D. 1926.

The Inside Story of "The Wanderer"

By JESSE L. LASKY

It was several years ago, in December, 1921, to be exact, that I sat in the second row of the Manhattan Opera House in New York awaiting the rise of the curtain for the evening performance of Maurice V. Samuels' stage spectacle, "THE WANDERER," from the Biblical parable of the prodigal son.

For several weeks, from all sides, I had listened to countless words of praise for the play. Finally, I had determined to see it myself. I had witnessed a dozen plays within the past few weeks. While they were excellent as stage productions, none of them was of particular appeal as motion picture material. It was for this reason, as I sat there, I was not overly enthusiastic.

The overture ended and the curtain rose. During the first five minutes I maintained my indifferent attitude. Then the plot started to unfold. Gradually, as scene after scene transpired before me, everything else faded except what was taking place upon the stage. Gradually too, the words of the characters became dim in my ears. An all visualized the spectacle as a fantastic motion picture.

Enthusiastic I left the theatre enthusiastic, yet bewildered. I had just seen the nucleus of a marvelous photoplay. But one fear gripped me—one question flared before me. Was the art of motion pictures sufficiently developed to guarantee the results the story demanded? Was photography yet at a stage where it could do justice to a production of such magnitude and force? I decided in the negative.

Following a conference the next day with other Paramount officials, it was decided to purchase the motion picture rights to the spectacle and hold the production in reserve, to await the day when the art of motion pictures had advanced to the stage where full justice could be done to the story. It was too beautiful a theme, too sacred a task to risk a failure. In my mind's eye, I had visions of some of the production being done in natural color. It would have been sheer folly then to have attempted it. The story was purchased and put aside for the future.

Big Pictures A year passed—"The Covered Wagon" was filmed. Came 1923. We filmed "The Ten Commandments." The art of photoplay was advancing by strides. Then came "Wanderer of the Wasteland," a production done entirely in natural colors. It proved a tremendous success. Then came "Peter Pan," one of the greatest achievements in the history of creative motion pictures.

Through these years we had "The Wanderer" always in mind, awaiting the day when the art of the motion picture could do justice to the theme and also awaiting the director ideally suited to assume the tremendous responsibility.

From time to time, various directors came to me and begged for the opportunity to handle this gigantic assignment. It was not merely that we wanted a great director to take over the task—at a time when we felt the development of motion pictures made possible a proper filming of this masterpiece—but that we wanted a director who could visualize the picture as we envisioned it, who would put his heart and soul into the making—as a director had never done before, who would direct it from sheer enthusiasm and love more than anything else.

Introducing Raoul Walsh.

One morning, while at the Paramount West Coast studio, my secretary announced that Mr. Raoul Walsh wished to see me. Mr. Walsh had learned that we possessed the motion picture rights to "The Wanderer" and asked that he be given the opportunity to put the spectacle upon the screen. Since the start of motion pictures, Mr. Walsh declared, he had visualized the parable of the prodigal son as a photoplay. In his own words, he outlined his idea of the screen play, the picture as he thought it should be filmed. Our ideas were parallel. At last we had found the man to direct the picture. Aside from the fact that Mr. Walsh was fitted by tradition, experience and love for the parable, he was the director who produced "The Thief of Baghdad," one of the screen's greatest spectacles.

James T. O'Donohue, who had written the scenario for more than a score of successful pictures, and who was Mr. Walsh's right-hand man as well, was assigned to the task of preparing the screen version of "THE WANDERER." Many months were spent in reading and research work even before the first line was written. Hundreds of books were consulted and clergymen of every creed were called upon for advice and information. When the adaptation was completed I found, to my delight, it was exactly as I had pictured the film in my mind's eye.

Selecting Cast Choosing the players for "THE WANDERER" proved a difficult task. William Collier, Jr., who plays the title role, was selected from a group of more than one hundred applicants. Fully thirty screen tests were made and scores after scores of candidates were interviewed before Collier was chosen. Ernest Torrence was selected as "Tom," the evil one, and Wallace Beery was chosen as the drunken sailor, Grete Nissen, because of her ability as pantomimic dancer, and also because Famous Players-Lasky Corporation firmly believes her to be one of the greatest discoveries in the history of the film industry, was picked for the part of "Fina," the siren.

Tyrone Power, who plays Jesus, patriarch of Hebron, had a long, successful stage career behind him and

JURY LIST FOR APRIL TERM WILL BE DELIVERED TO SHERIFF'S OFFICE BY DISTRICT CLERK LOUIE MOORE FRIDAY

An average of two suits each day have been filed in the 72nd Judicial District Court here, since the closing of the term on February 20th, District Clerk Louie F. Moore stated yesterday.

Friday Mr. Moore will deliver to the sheriff's office the envelopes containing the names of the grand and petit jurors who will be summoned for service during the next regular term, which convenes April 5th. It is necessary that this list of jurors be delivered to the sheriff 30 days before the opening of the term, when service will be rendered on each of the jurors whose name appears in the sealed envelopes which were filed with the clerk at the closing of the last term.

With the number of new suits on the dockets increasing daily, and with some older cases already on the dockets, the next term will be a busy one for all officers of the court.

Panhandle to Have Modern Water System

Special to The Avalanche.

HEREFORD, Mar. 2.—The city of Panhandle will soon have an adequate water supply, that will aid in the development of that place. D. L. McDonald of Hereford, considered to be an authority on water in this section, has just signed a contract with the city of Panhandle to drill and install machinery complete for a water well for that place. Mr. McDonald guarantees a well that will afford 800,000 gallons of water per day, and work is to begin immediately, according to the terms of the contract.

Mr. McDonald states that there is more water development in the various cities of the Panhandle right now than ever before in the history of this section. He attributes this to the growth and development of the Panhandle-Plains country.

San Francisco leads the cities of the world in telephones per capita.

blended into the part perfectly. Kathryn Williams was chosen as the mother, Hildah, because of her ability to create sympathetic parts and beauty of character. And Kathryn Hill as Naomi.

It is my firm belief that the cast of "THE WANDERER" is truly outstanding and that the production itself will stand out as a glowing example of beauty and perfect cinema photography for many years to come.

Idalou Making Good Progress Commerically

BY RAY McCORKLE
Staff Correspondent

IDALOU, March 2.—With the completion of a new $35,000 water system and the installation of a modern new fire truck, Idalou people have an idea that they are rapidly advancing their city into the progressive class. Few cities in Texas with a similar population can boast as much, and it is with no little degree of pride these people speak of their modern new equipment.

As a matter of fact Idalou is only about five years old. Town lots were marked off several years ago, but actual construction on buildings began five years ago. Since that time the town has progressed from a pasture into a city of some 2,000 souls, and most of them live in Idalou because they feel that the city has a future and that in time it will be one of the liveliest little cities on all the South Plains.

At this time there are 24 brick business houses in the city as well as scores of modern residences. Mayor E. T. Daniel readily admits that the city is built on a solid foundation, and that the man who selects Idalou as a place for home will not make a mistake.

The city is only 14 miles from Lubbock, but it boasts a big trade territory all its own. This year the community produced approximately 10,000 bales of cotton, and two gins are still running. More than 400 cars of feed were shipped out of the city this year and there is still sufficient feed in the country to care for the demands of farmers during the present year.

Cotton, maize and small grain are the chief products, though farmers in this section are gradually turning their attention to livestock and poultry. You seldom pass a farm house that you do not see a large flock of chickens.

Quite naturally the town can not hope to develop more rapidly than its trade territory, and while Idalou's growth has been next to marvelous it has not advanced more rapidly than the rural districts surrounding it.

At this time there are more than 500 pupils attending the public schools here. Of course some of them come in from nearby communities, though most of them reside in the city.

NEW YORK FINANCE

BY E. WALTER MOCKLER
Written for the United News

NEW YORK, March 2.—Stock prices were slaughtered unmerciful-ly Tuesday, rails and industrials breaking wide open in a drive which soon developed into a rout.

The trading pace has been so hot under sales of more than 3,000,000 shares that the ticker ran for 54 minutes after the close of the market.

The initial break came in the public utilities both on the curb, where many of the leaders are located and on the floor of the stock exchange.

The tremendous advances in many of the public utilities stocks had been one of the wonders of the long 1925 bull market. This particular class of stock had long been the subject of uncertainty because of the natural hedge around potential utility earnings. Apparently the investment public had ignored the class for so long because of this fear of public supervision that many bargains had developed. These all matured at once and resulted in advances on a tremendous scale. Much of the gains recorded were made in tightly held stocks and more than one reliable market observer trembled at the thought of developments in the event that a serious attempt was made to distribute these holdings to the general public at the inflated figure.

Apparently this attempt was started Tuesday by overloaded "longs" who were endeavoring to lighten their load. The market, however, not buying response and wide open breaks in the utility group were in order. This series of breaks in the utilities soon unsettled the general market, already highly nervous because of the sagging tendency which had broken out in open revolt against bulls at several different times during the past few days. Industrials were not on the block and it required but a little urging on the part of profession bears to start the entire list on another heading plunge.

Hudson was pounded down to 103
so rapidly that the quotation was appearing on the tape at about 109
when actually trading on the floor was at 103. General Electric was sold heavily. Cast-iron Pipe, Season Arms, American Can and other recent speculative favorites dropped like plummets.

Had anything unfavorable to the bear movement been lacking in the day's operation it was supplied more than amply by the decision of the interstate commerce commission against the proposed Nickel Plate merger. Although this was not announced until more than half an hour after the official closing of the market in some quarters of the market there was a disposition to link the announcement with the very weak market. This would indicate that an inkling of the decision had filtered down to Wall street in advance of the announcement. After Tuesday's wild break, following so closely on the heels of a former comparatively minor break in the market, the trading position on the average must be considerably impaired. Several large trading accounts, amounting to pool management, have shifted to stronger hands and it is not impossible that other readjustments may be necessary before the market can be considered as sound.

Small investors have taken fairly heavy losses but this has been set off to a large extent by the fact that there has been a fair proportion of the public actually short of the market in anticipation of this movement.
The idea of a public short interest is somewhat new being a post-war development in trading technique on the part of the "amateur traders."

FEBRUARY FAILURES HIT NEW HIGH MARK

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—As the New York stock market took its sensational slump, Breadstreaks announced the highest number of failures for February of any year since 1922.

There were 1,700 commercial failures last month, with total liabilities of $42,026,871, according to Breadstreaks. The number of failures shows an increase of 2.7 per cent and the amount of liabilities a rise of 2.5 per cent over February of last year. This was a decrease of 17.9 per cent in failures from the January totals and a drop of 12.8 per cent in liabilities.

NEW ORLEANS—Cotton had a good rally during the forenoon as a result of profit taking by recent sellers and trade buying. There was also a good deal of buying at the start by traders who believed a rally was due after so extended a decline.
Prices advanced 23 to 25 points as a result of this combined buying but slipped some later on selling or liquidation in expectation of reports of large fertilizer sales. The change in trading sentiment was

"THE WANDERER"

A GORGEOUS Grade AA super-special. Depicting the story of the Prodigal Son, the shepherd boy who followed an alluring siren to wicked Babylon.

And, after tasting the forbidden fruit of that ribald city, was cast out and at last found forgiveness and the fatted calf.

"The Wanderer" is the masterpiece of Raoul Walsh, who made "The Thief of Bagdad." There isn't a person in its all-star cast who doesn't excel anything he or she ever did for the screen before.

Here are the greatest love scenes ever filmed. Terrific spectacle of a city destroyed by the hand of God. Beauty. Sumptuousness. Appeal.
