MEXICANS WILL DEPORT CATHOLIC LEADER

PAPAL SECRETARY ARRESTED BY CALLES AS WAR GETS HOT

TITO CRASPE, AMERICAN OF ITALIAN BIRTH, TO BE SENT HOME.

BOYCOTT TODAY

CATHOLICS PLAN ECONOMIC RETALIATION TO START JULY 31

By A. W. FOLGER
United News Staff Correspondent
MEXICO CITY, July 30.—As the Catholic churches of Mexico prepared to close their doors for the first time in hundreds of years, the government hurried a direct challenge to Rome today by arresting and preparing to deport Tito Craspe, secretary of the papal delegation in Mexico City since 1921.

Craspe, an American citizen of Italian birth, was taken into custody by the department of the interior, while scores of thousands were coming to the cathedral here during the final hours of services by priests.

Father Garcia Plaza who announced Craspe's arrest, said that the government planned to deport him way of Laredo, Texas. Servants at the papal delegation building late today confirmed news of the arrest.

Charges against Craspe are not yet known. The day which marked the beginning of what is expected to be the greatest religious battle the new world has ever known, brought thousands from many sections of Mexico into the capital.

"July 31—boycott," this brief announcement posted on trees and public buildings in the capital reminded the faithful that their battle against the state was just beginning. Merchants claimed today that no appreciable slump in trade had been noticed as a result of the economic boycott by Catholics, but they admit anticipation of a steady decline from now on.

Attorney General Ortega, who Thursday stated that all Catholics possessing arms without license would be deprived of their weapons immediately, continued plans for meeting any opposition by churchmen to the religious orders of the state.

U. S. ASKED TO INTERVENE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The state department on the basis of United News reports, is asking Ambassador Sheffield at Mexico City to inform it regarding the arrest and expected deportation of Tito Craspe, naturalized American, secretary of the papal delegation there.

Continue Mexican Embargo On Arms

WASHINGTON, July 30.—This government will maintain its embargo against exportation of arms and ammunition to Mexico until the religious crisis has passed.

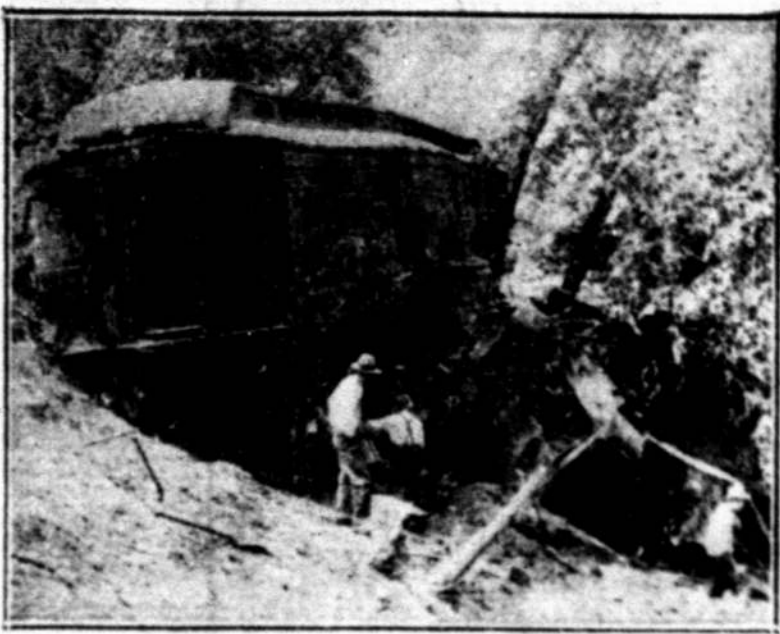

Attacks Sale of Kansas City Star

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 30.—Alleging that his bid of $8,001,000 in cash, $100,000 rental per year, and a $2,000,000 purchase option, was the best made for the Kansas City Star, Walter S. Diekey, publisher and owner of the Kansas City Journal Post, today filed in circuit court a petition asking that the sale of the Star properties to the Kansas City Star company by the University trustees of the William Rockhill Nelson trust for $11,000,000 be declared null and that either he be declared the successful bidder or that the court order that a new bid be held.

HIGHWAY ASSN. DISCUSSES BONDS

APPROVE METHOD BY WHICH LEGISLATURE CAN MAKE THEM VALID

DALLAS, July 30.—The Texas Highway association which met here Friday to discuss methods of validating Texas road bonds when the special session of the legislature meets September 13, approved a plan which calls for the passing of 600 local bills. By this action the cloud on Texas securities totalling more than $5,000,000 worth will be removed.

An important factor in this action consists of posting public notices of the bills in each county affected sixty days in advance. The Texas Highway association has evolved a plan whereby this important legal step will be taken.

SOUTH PLAINS GET GOOD RAIN

BARN BLOWN DOWN, BUT DAMAGE GENERALLY IS SLIGHT

Light rains fell yesterday over many portions of the South Plains following comparatively heavy downpours late Thursday night. Bell Telephone Company reports last night were that Crosbyton had a heavy rain about midnight Thursday, but no hail; that a heavy rain fell at Slaton, with a high wind and much electrical display; that Lamesa and Tahoka had good rains. Littlefield said no rain fell there, and Floydada reported the same. While winds were down to the South, and Tahoka reported that a number of lines were out of order, other damage from the wind was not great. Mr. Gregg of Post said a barn was blown down in that community Thursday night. Brownfield citizens said they had a good rain late Thursday.

Reformed Crook Slain In Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga., July 30.—A victim of the underworld who once knew him as a leader, Bert Donaldson, reformed crook and noted criminal investigator for the solicitor general's office here, was found mysteriously slain in a room of the Georgian Terrace, fashionable uptown hotel, late today.

Held For Murder California Girl

STOCKTON, Calif., July 30.—George Pound, 22, a plumber, Friday was charged with the murder of Nina Jackson, 16 year-old school girl. The youth was arrested shortly after the girl's body was found this morning in the flower garden of a residence on North Union street.

ON TRADE COMMISSION

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., July 30.—President Coolidge has named Abraham F. Meyers of Iowa, to the federal trade commission, succeeding Commissioner Van Fleet, who resigned.

MONDAY IS TRADES DAY

The First Monday Trades Day in Lubbock will be held August 2nd. Already merchants are planning for this "Bargain Day" by arranging special offerings. These will be advertised in Sunday's Morning Avalanche. From many standpoints Sunday's paper will be interesting: The Trades Day specials will be advertised there; dozens of news stories from South Plains points by special writers; in fact there will be a section of Sunday's Avalanche devoted to the South Plains towns immediately surrounding Lubbock and of interest to every Lubbock citizen. So, don't miss your Sunday copy of this newspaper.

Expect Anti-Ferguson Fireworks To Break Loose As Democrats of Lubbock County Meet Here Today

The county democratic convention will meet in the county court room at 10 a. m. today. County Chairman W. W. Campbell says that he and the executive committee will immediately begin canvassing the returns of the primary election, to report the result to the convention.

In the meantime, fireworks are scheduled to break loose in the convention proper, where Lee O. Allen has already announced that he will present a resolution requesting Governor Miriam A. Ferguson to resign her office at once, in accordance with her election bet with Attorney General Dan Moody. Mr. Allen avers that Mrs. Ferguson's bet specified that she would resign immediately if the attorney general led her in the campaign for the democratic nomination for governor and not as she has now promised to quite her office after the special session of the legislature called for September 13 has attended to whatever business she sees fit to put before it.

Whether any opposition will develop to this move on the part of Mr. Allen has not yet been discovered.

CHARGE PRO LAWYER WITH FORGERY AND BRIBES

TOPEKA, Kan., July 30.—Serious charges relating to illegal and unethical practices against Fred L. Crabbe, Topeka attorney, while he was superintendent of the anti-Saloon league were filed today with the clerk of the state supreme court by the state board of examiners. They charge forgery and bribery, and recommend that Crabbe be disbarred.

Mrs. Hall Released On $15,000 Bond

SOMERVILLE, N. J., July 30.—A smile of triumph flickering on her pallid lips, contending with the drab visages of the still affects, Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, accused of murdering her husband, and his sweetheart, four years ago, has left the jail to which she was taken Wednesday night free on $15,000 bail.

POSTOFFICE GETS ADDITIONAL ROOM

900 SQUARE FEET ADDED BY LEASE OF P. O. DRUG STORE

Announcement was made yesterday by Postmaster J. L. Vaughn that Lubbock's postoffice will be enlarged and more space will be devoted to the needs of the office. An addition of 900 square feet will be made to the present office space making adequate room for the full business which is heavier than in any other time of the year.

The place now occupied by the Postoffice Drug Store will be used as the office of the postmaster, while general delivery windows will be moved up to where the office now is. The present entrance to the lobby will be used as the lobby giving more room in the rear of the building for mail room space.

The owners of the building will start work on the change in the near future according to word given out yesterday afternoon. This change will greatly increase the efficiency of the postoffice force as they have been handicapped for several months for lack of space.

Six Imprisoned by Colorado Cave-in DENVER, Colo., July 30.—Six men are imprisoned and one man was seriously injured by a cave-in that occurred at the west portal of the Moffat tunnel at 11 o'clock Friday morning, according to a report given out here this afternoon by W. P. Robinson, president of the commission.

Sprinter Speedy in Love

Charles Paddock, world famous sprinter, and Bobo Daniels, film actress, will be married within a year it has been announced. Paddock, who has been co-starring with Miss Daniels in a recent production, had known her for only five weeks when he proposed. Miss Daniels also is noted for her speed, having been arrested for driving her car at 50 miles an hour recently.

MOODY REGAINS HIS MAJORITY

FRIDAY TABULATION SHOWS HIM 39 VOTES AHEAD OF ALL OTHERS

DALLAS, July 30.—Attorney General Dan Moody had regained majority of 39 votes over all his opponents, in the final totals tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau Friday night. There remained one county from which no votes had been accounted and forty-three counties that had reported only partial returns.

Several corrections and revisions made by the election bureau Friday brought the total vote below the 500,000 mark as recorded Thursday. In the final report issued by the bureau Friday 197,745 ballots had been accounted for with the following standing in the gubernatorial race: Moody 398,892; Ferguson 274,247; Davidson 119,667.

Canning Fruit For South Plains Fair

Club women and club girls have been busy the past several weeks canning Lubbock county's fruit crop and quite a bit more canning is scheduled for later when other fruit is ripe, according to Miss Hammer, Home Demonstration Agent for Lubbock county.

A good per cent of the best of this fruit will be exhibited at the Panhandle South Plains Fair, according to Miss Hammer.

BROOKLYN, July 30.—Mrs. Tessie Neel has been arrested for carrying a concealed weapon without a permit. Detectives found a loaded revolver in a perambulator which the woman was wheeling.

Child Cheats Divorce Mill

"And a little child shall lead them." So it was in Lubbock Friday. A little child, a tiny babe, reunited a separated father and mother.

Thursday, twelve hours before, the mother had been torn from her breast. Her heart was filled with sorrow, her eyes with tears. Her very soul was torn, for that which she loved was missing. She wanted her baby more than anything else on earth.

The father, too, realized the seriousness of the break, knew that of necessity his child must be an orphan. Both of them considered these things, and their love for the child conquered over all. Today they are together—the father, mother and babe. The divorce mill has been cheated out of another victim, but three hearts have been made glad.

PORTO RICO ALONE REPORTS HUNDRED DEAD, MANY HURT

BAHAMA LOSS IN LIFE SAID TO BE MORE THAN 150

RUM FLEET SINKS

COAST GUARD CUTTERS AID IN RESCUE WORK

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, July 30.—Towns and villages of Porto Rico are still cut off from communication with the capital but according to Secretary of Agriculture Chardon more than 100 persons were killed and about 400 injured in the recent hurricane. Thousands are homeless and total damage is estimated at $8,000,000.

MIAMI, Fla., July 30.—Reports of death and destruction on the Bahama islands, where at least 150 lives are believed to have been lost and millions of dollars damage caused in property and shipping by the hurricane, which struck there Sunday, continue to reach Miami as communication is restored and survivors of storm arrive here.

The number of dead is still unknown, as fifty or more boats of a sponge fleet and other vessels anchored near the islands when the storm struck, are still missing.

The death list may exceed 150, according to reports. United-States coast guard cutters are aiding in rescue work and in the search for missing ships. A huge rum fleet was smashed. The ships and their cargoes either sank or were battered by the wind which struck with a velocity of 120 miles an hour, according to survivors, who arrived today. Buildings were destroyed all over the island.

FIFTY DEAD AT NASSAU

NASSAU, Bahama Islands, July 30.—Crews of men have cleared the streets of Nassau of much of the wreckage left in the wake of the terrific hurricane which swept this place early in the week.

Complete details of the disaster show that while no lives were lost ashore, approximately fifty perished in small boats which sank during the height of the storm. Estimates place the financial loss in the storm between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Pays Two Year Old Debt Unsolicited

Lubbock has at least one honest man, and had Diogenes lived on the South Plains of Texas in A. D. 1926, instead of Athens, S. B. C. he would have had no need for his lantern—he could have found an honest man. It takes nerve to pay a bill that is two years old, and it takes honesty, too. Yet one Lubbock man, at least, is honest enough to do just this thing. He entered the office of the Lubbock Avalanche Friday and paid $12 on his subscription. He didn't do any more than his duty, but is more than lots of people are willing to do.

The afternoon was very interesting and the girls enjoyed it very much. Those present were Mary Hopper, Mary Ruth Wilson, Clara Paul Chauncey, Charlotte Aucutt, Etta Belle Hargis, Kathryn Leidigh, Maurine Morris.

MEETING AT WOODROW

Rev. C. A. Norcross, pastor of Lubbock circuit, announced a meeting which began at Woodrow Friday night, July 30. Rev. Hicks of O'Donnell will do the preaching. Everybody welcome.

First Presbyterian Church

Corner 14th St. and Ave. N.
Rev. Jack M. Lewis, Pastor.
Sunda y belongs to the Lord in a peculiar sense. It should be spent in a way well pleasing to Him. How best could you spend God's day than by entering the house of God for the purpose of worshipping Him. This and the other churches of this city open wide their doors offering to you the privilege of properly observing the Lord's day.

Our Sunday school under the superintendency of Dean J. M. Gordon begins at 9:45. The attendance is now increasing in spite of the warm weather. Sunday should be the best day of the summer. New song books have been purchased for the Sunday school and we will sing a fine new song during this service.

Our morning service begins at 11 promptly. Special music of an inspiring nature will be rendered during this service and the pastor will bring a message of the important subject of "Intercession." We cordially invite you to attend this service.

At 8:30 Sunday evening this congregation will join in a union service at the Methodist church. Dr. Dean C. Dutton of the extension department of the University of Oklahoma will be the speaker of the evening. His subject will be "The Men of Tomorrow." You can not afford to miss this service.

Church of Nazarene

The revival meeting at the church of the Nazarene is progressing nicely under the leadership of Rev. W. E. Ellis and wife. They are doing some great preaching and our congregations keep growing, and there have been a number prayed through at the altar of prayer, and we are still expecting greater things ahead.

Church of Nazarene

Services will continue on over Sunday and will be at the usual hours. Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. Then we expect to have special services Sunday afternoon and preaching at night.

You are not only invited to come to these services but we urge you to come, we feel fortunate to have Rev. Ellis and wife both to visit us at this time. He is a noted evangelist, having been engaged in this work for years, and preached almost all over the United States.

Mrs. Lulu Ellis is a returned missionary, having served twelve years in Japan. She has crossed the waters four times, and has a great experience. She carries a burdened heart for a lost world, and has a great message for the people, you will never know what you have missed if you fail to hear these evangelists while in your city.

Thursday night Rev. Ellis held a large audience almost spellbound for an hour while it was lightening and thundering on the outside, while he preached on the Majesty of the Deity, or the four steps down to his first incarnation. We urge you to come hear them the rest of this week.

S. S. WOOD, Pastor.

DUNCAN AND PRINCIPALS OF LUBBOCK PUBLIC SCHOOLS WORK OUT SYSTEM ADMINISTRATION AND SUPERVISION

More than seven-five per cent of the teachers employed in the Lubbock public schools for next year are attending school this summer to prepare themselves better for their work. Fifty-one were enrolled in the Tech summer school and a very large number are attending other schools.

The principals of the several schools, at the request of Superintendent Duncan, are making a special study this summer of school administration and supervision in order to be able to bring into their schools next year the more recent investigations in these fields. Superintendent Duncan has been teaching in the Tech summer school this summer. He and Dr. Evans are working out a plan whereby the Tech students of education may do the necessary observation and practice teaching in the Lubbock schools. Through the department of education at the Tech next year a good deal of research work will be done in the schools, which, it is thought, will be worth much to the schools. According to Mr. Duncan, the management of the schools is anxious to find out how they stand in comparison to the better grade and high schools of the country, and to do this, scientific investigation must be made of every phase of their work. Pupil-costs must be found out, the cost of several departments must be known, the cost of supplies, equipment, building, and the kind of work the pupils are doing in comparison to the better schools of the country. Mr. Duncan says, "Education is costing too much today and is too important a business to be undertaken blindly. The time has come when we must know."

The following is a statement made to the Morning Avalanche by Mr. Duncan:

"It is the purpose of the schools this year to concentrate on improving the instruction in the several subjects and to bring the work done in the class room up to the standards of the better schools of the country. Methods are to be tested, the course of study is to be revised and made to fit better the needs of the children, and every effort will be made to help each child to do the best work he is capable of doing."

"The school visitor who will act as truant officer as well as visitor will seek to bring about a closer relationship with the homes of the community, to interest the patrons in the work of their children, and to give those children who have heretofore been neglected the same educational advantages that are given to children more favorably situated. No child is so insignificant as not to merit the best attention of the schools, and the management of the schools will not be satisfied until every child makes the greatest progress possible for him."

"Work on two new library buildings at the high school is progressing nicely and soon the shelves will be ready for more than 2000 books that have been recently purchased for these libraries. The high school can then boast of as well-equipped library as can be found in the best of the schools."

"New equipment is being purchased also for several science laboratories which will give them all the equipment necessary to doing the highest grade of work. Two new rooms are being added to the home economics laboratory new equipment is being installed, lockers provided, and everything is being done to provide the very best of facilities for doing a high grade of work in this department. The two new teachers added to the department have had long experience and thorough training, and will bring to the school the very latest and best ideas along their line."

"In fact, all the departments of the schools are being strengthened and effort is being made to bring them in direct touch with life. Mature, experienced, well-trained teachers have been employed, new equipment has been added, a new program of work is being outlined and everything possible is being done to give the children of Lubbock the best school advantages."

"The work of the schools next year will be more practicable than heretofore. All students in the high school will be required to take work in advanced arithmetic and English grammar, spelling will be emphasized and all the work will be made to meet the needs of everyday life insofar as this is possible. We are of the opinion that more time in our schools should be devoted to the study of the things right around us and are vital to our well being, and less time to those things on the other side of the world that little concern us."

GRAND OLD MARE WINS AT SARATOGA
SARATOGA SPRINGS, July 30.—The Audley farm's "Grand Old Mare" Princess Doreen, won the Saratoga handicap, feature of the opening of the 26th day racing meet here Friday afternoon.

H. P. Whitney's Blondin was second and King Solomon's Zeal third. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Sarazen was in one of his sulky moods and failed to get in the money.

SIXTY-ONE STUDENTS TO RECEIVE DEGREES

DENTON, Tex., July 29.—Sixty-one students, the largest group of candidates for degrees at the College of Industrial Arts during the summer session, have paid fees for diplomas to be received at graduation exercises on August 25, according to advices from the office of the registrar.

ONE CALL FOR HELP SAVES TWO SUICIDES

BUDAPEST, July 29.—One call for help prevented two suicides here. A man, the name of whom the police have not divulged, became desperate because of failure to obtain employment and decided to drown himself in the Danube.

Eluding the special anti-suicide patrols which the police keep on the river day and night, he jumped from one of the bridges which connect the twin cities of Buda and Pest.

Just as he struck the water he heard a cry for help and noticed another man struggling in the water. Being a good swimmer he hastened to rescue his unfortunate fellow-being.

On reaching shore he became so engrossed in assisting the police to resuscitate the man whom he had saved that he forgot his own suicidal intentions. The man who had been rescued announced on recovery that he also had jumped into the river in order to drown himself but had later changed his mind.

LUXURY WORKERS' STRIKE ATTAINS QUICK SUCCESS

TANGIER, July 29.—Tobacco workers, hairdressers and cafe waiters here, went on strike recently in a demand for higher wages. Public demonstrations and a two-hour mass meeting were held in the center of the city. With the "essential luxuries" tied up, the strike was successful and the increase was granted.

COACHING SCHOOL AT ST. EDWARDS OPENS AUGUST 2

AUSTIN, Texas, July 30.—Coach Jack Meagher is busily putting the finishing touches to his plans for the football coaching school that he will open at St. Edward's University on August 2, at which he will give instruction in the Notre Dame style of play.

Meagher is giving his course this summer to take the place of Knute Rockne's reputation course. Last year Rockne, the celebrated Notre Dame mentor, and Dr. W. L. Meanwell, Wisconsin basketball coach, held a joint coaching school at St. Edward's that was attended by 175 coaches from all parts of the South.

NEGRO EQUAL TO WHITE SAYS AFRICAN SAVANT

CAPETOWN, July 29.—The Afrikaner of Commerce was a Lubbock member of the European races, according to Professor Broekman, of Bloemfontein. "There is no scientific authority for the statement that the negro—or erroneously termed 'colored'—can race is equal in every such statements are the result of prejudices," he said.

Beer is fast displacing sake, which has to be heated to be palatable and which cannot be, as a consequence, served quickly from bars or on cafe tables.

THE WORLD'S DECLINING BIRTH RATE

A writer in "American Medicine" steps forward to calm the fears of those who are alarmed at reports that the birth rate is tending to decrease virtually all over the world. As a matter of fact, the world birth rate has been decreasing steadily for a number of years, but each new announcement of the fact brings fresh panic in the ranks of those who believe large families are the safeguard of civilization.

This belief, according to "American Medicine," is unwarranted. "Civilization has never yet been saved and no one knows just what can save it. Perhaps the destiny of every civilization is inevitably nothing more than its end. It is just barely possible that our civilization may prove the one and only exception and that it will be saved, but it will not be saved by large families—for the very reason that there can be no large families beyond a certain cultural point. In every nation and in every era, the large family began to dwindle with the advance of culture. There is an inevitable law which controls this inverse proportion."

The writer might have added, however, that with the decline in birthrate which inevitably follows an advance in culture, there is an accompanying decline in the death rate, especially among infants. With increasing comforts, more effective control over nature, and an advancing knowledge of sanitation, medicine, and hygiene, there are fewer epidemics, and the fewer children born emerge into a more congenial world with a much better chance of attaining a ripe old age.

It is a wise provision of nature perhaps that tends to increase the birth rate in times that from the point of view of human comfort are most unpropitious. Thus, it is in the homes of the poor that the highest birth rate prevails even in our times, and it has been noted that in famine stricken countries, there is an increase in birth rate, albeit a corresponding increase in death rate.

"HEATHENISH" CHOIRS

The Chautauqua institution director of music is said to be distressed about church music at the present time. It is his view that church music is more often a Godless quartet singing heathenish music in an unknown tongue than a God-fearing choir. "We are spending $16,000,000 on church music every year and we get less than 5 per cent of worship and genuine helpfulness out of it. It is just another form of entertainment, of matinee singing." Many persons will not agree with him, because they find the dignity and beauty and solemnity of the well-qualified quartet more suited to church worship than the old volunteer choir which often had more zeal than talent. Yet it is easy to understand what he means. The volunteer choir was made up of church members who were interested in the church and its services. The modern paid choir is often made up of good singers who are merely earning their living and whose sentiments may be far from the ones expressed in the sacred songs they sing. Still, isn't the director going a little too far when he recalls the old volunteer choir as wholly good and describes the modern choir as "heathenish"? Weren't there occasional scandals and a good deal of jealous rivalry and not a little unpleasant gossip in the old choir which must have detracted somewhat from their worship percentage?

THE MUNITION HORROR

Though attention of the public is focussed upon the problem of the location of munition arsenals only after such catastrophes as the recent holocaust at Lake Denmark, N. J., Army and Navy experts long have been alive to the seriousness of this question, which increases with the general growth of population in the United States.

If Uncle Sam is to have an Army and Navy, these experts point out, it is obvious that there must be depots for explosives, and it is important, too, that these depots be reasonably accessible.

The War Department has a depot in Utah, said to be situated far from any center of population, and another in Illinois which is believed to be sufficiently remote from towns to reduce danger to a minimum. The objection to utilization of these depots for all purposes is obvious, however, since munitions are used by the Army and Navy far from these two possible sources of supply, and transportation by rail involves dangers constituting a potential menace to every town through which shipments may pass. In the case of Naval depots, it is obviously desirable to have them located as near as possible to some accessible point on the seacoast.

Despite these difficulties, it would seem that some of the horrors of the New Jersey explosion might have been averted if the Army depot and the Naval Depot had not been located so close together, for the blast from the Lake Denmark explosion was communicated to the Army depot at Picatinny.

LEISURE

Thyrsa Amos, dean of the women at the University of Pittsburgh, speaking at the convention of the National Federation of Business and professional women at Des Moines, draws our attention to a very pertinent fact. "Man misuses his leisure," says Miss Amos, "work gives in itself great training of character, but its greatest gift is leisure, wherein one may renew strength and deepen spiritual resources." Leisure has become to most people an almost unknown quantity. There is much discussion of ambition, work, and achievement, but little of leisure. In fact, as a nation, we have become so strenuous that we hardly know what to do with leisure when by chance we have any. But leisure is equally important as work, for it is then, as Miss Amos says, that one may renew strength and deepen spiritual resources. Only through renewal of strength and spiritual resources can man be prepared to give his best to the world, and only his best is sufficient. A proper regard for and the proper use of leisure may well be urged upon all of us.

DO WE NEED ANOTHER SHENANDOAH?

Officials of the Navy and the President are now giving consideration to the expenditure of a huge sum of money for a dirigible three times the size of the ill-fated Shenandoah and it is only fair to the taxpayer to point out that the construction of such an enormous ship goes far beyond the present knowledge concerning airships and will be a gigantic and expensive experiment. Perhaps it would be worth its full cost. Perhaps the knowledge gained through its construction and operation would open a new era in air navigation. What the people want, however, is that the men in high places give as much regard to their finances as they do to the conquest of the air and temper their experimental zeal with a dash of practical finance. Do we need a vessel three times the size of the Shenandoah?

IN THE SWIM AT 87

An 87-year-old French woman recently won an endurance contest in swimming. It was during an unduly hot spell when a group of women decided to go in bathing to cool off and incidentally organized some water contests. The aged swimmer who won the endurance test by swimming for an hour, finished her swim without any sign of fatigue. She told interested spectators later that she had begun swimming at the age of four and was at one time a champion swimmer. At about 67 years she had given up the pastime but is now tempted to resume it, at least during warm spells. How many other octogenarians who gave up swimming 20 or more years ago could plunge into the water and duplicate this swimmer's record? Perhaps not a great many, yet at the rate grandparents are retaining their youth and youthful interests, it is likely to become more rather than less common.

ANOTHER HOUSE OF CONGRESS

A new branch of Congress is discovered by Glenn Frank, president of the University of Wisconsin. He had always thought of Congress as consisting merely of the "upper" and "lower" houses, the Senate and House of Representatives. But going around Washington with a well informed newspaper man, he ran across dozens of headquarters representing great, organized groups of Americans. There were the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the American Federation of Labor, the Federal Farm Bureau and nearly half a hundred others, speaking for business, labor, agriculture, education, transportation, taxation, religion and a wide range of other interests. All this elaborate system of representation, seeking to express its will in government, has grown up within a generation. It was a revelation to the visitor. And it suggested to him that this actually made a "third house of Congress," and in time might be officially recognized as such—a house composed of representatives elected because of their wide knowledge of these special fields of interest, instead of being mere political representatives of geographical areas. Another student of American affairs has gone further than this. He suggests that eventually we may have, as a substitute for political government, an economic government, with the various industries and professions treated as we now treat states and districts, and given representation accordingly. It seems absurd at first thought; yet there is a plain tendency in that direction.

FARM PROSPECTS

The purchasing power of the American farmer was greater last year than at any time since the deflation period began in 1920—and 1926 has an even chance to bring a continuance of this comparative prosperity. There is a big winter wheat crop and although the spring planting has suffered by reason of drought in some sections, there should still be an exportable surplus of 150 million bushels of the preferred cereal. Corn has not promised so well, but recent rains have greatly improved the situation. The fall farrowing of hogs will be unusually large and a good market for corn, which must be considered in its relation to live stock, is thus assured. The tobacco crop compares well with last year's and the cotton crop looks like a big one. There will be less hay, oats and barley but more white potatoes. The peach crop threatens to be the largest in our history while poultry and dairying, which every year become more important factors in farm income, promise increased return. There have been bigger crop years, and years of better prices, but the fruits of the farmer's labor will at least sustain his purchasing power at the levels of the past 12 months. And that means that every business in the country—industrial or commercial—can face the future confidently.

"SOMEWHAT PATCHED"

So Think We

We think the Fergusons are bum guessers, and make some wonderfully strange statements. During the campaign they vowed they had killed the ku klux klan and buried the animal so deep that he, she or it, would never bother Texas any more, but when the vote said get thee behind me Jim, they made another statement that the ku klux klan was the cause of their defeat. Which is right? We demand a "recheck."

We think public officers should be the straightest kind of fellows in the country. They should be examples to others, and influential in raising the moral standing of the community rather than to drink and carouse around and debauch the office and the community. The latter characters should never be allowed to remain in office.

We think a newspaper is very much like a human being, because it is published by humans and it is therefore subject to many mistakes. Newspapers are just as accurate in their news as the people who give out the dope, and taking the rank and file of human beings, many mistakes are apt to occur.

We think that if some people were to practice what they preach, they would no doubt land in jail. And on the other hand if some were to preach what they practice they would be run out of the community.

We think possibly the reason that some of the candidates did not get any more votes than they did is because most of their backing did not pay poll tax.

We think resignations are now in order. Many who have been holding office the past eighteen months have been given an urgent invitation to take this course.

We think most of people are rich in experience, but it does not stack up as very acceptable in the bank when you want to negotiate a loan.

We think it a real work of providence that there will be no run-off in the race for governor. It will stop a lot of useless mudslinging among the candidates and discord among neighbors.

We think many of us disagree on politics, but we are all of one accord for Lubbock if we are real citizens.

We think somebody must have forgotten to cut the weeds off their property in Lubbock. City officials do your duty.

We think that we can possibly after this week forget the election so far as the governor's race is concerned and get down to building Lubbock, and the South Plains Fair.

We think Lubbock can show more real good dwelling houses under construction than any city of its size, and some people claim it is dull.

THE VINDICATION OF TEXAS

There was once a proxy governor by the name of "Farmer Jim" who tried to make the entire state bow down and worship him.

It seems that when he was impeached and driven from the throne he thought he had been badly used, and spent two years at home.

He used for his private office the highest in the state. And sued for vindication at a most alarming rate.

He tried to run the government And private interests too. From newsway to the railroad, The senate and the school.

He opened wide the prison door, About two thousand times, And liberated brutal men, Sent up for various crimes.

But there appeared upon the scene A "little boy" called Dan, Who called the bluff at every turn And fought him like a man.

He stepped right out and boldly said Now that we have a chance, Let's send this convict pardon board To their old Bell County ranch.

And left again this grand old state The fairest in the land, And cry aloud to all the world, Democracy shall stand.

Experiments in substituting for native cotton plants those with fibre more suitable for industrial needs, again are being made in Africa, after being abandoned four years ago, and now success is expected soon.

India's Silk Cocoon Exhibition was held at Gurdaspur recently and the 1,200 pounds of cocoons on exhibition were viewed by nearly 1,000 Punjab cocoon raisers, the prize winning silk makers being purchased by the government.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

AT THE END OF THE WORLD

When this old world shall reach the end

What groanings there will be,

What shriekings dire, as angry fire Consumes the land and sea,

I fancy I can hear them cry Above the crash of doom:

"Shall never more the sky be soar Or roses come to bloom?"

"Is life on earth forever done? Must all that's lovely fade?"

Must birds and bees, and whispering trees, Now in the dust be laid?

Must stars and moon and lovely June Forever pass away?

Must darkness fall and children small No longer romp in play?

"Shall no one see the rising sun Or tread the lanes we've trod? Shall never more men journey over The path which we have trod?"

Is all we've done and now begun So senseless and in vain

That now you haste to lay it waste No more to rise again?"

And then I fancy I can hear Above the tumult strong,

A voice declare: "What? Would you spare A world where all is wrong?"

I've heard you grumble and complain, I've heard you curse your birth,

Yet at the brink of doom you think It such a lovely earth!

"And would you brave its pain once more To hear the skylark sing?

And would you weep, that you might keep The roses blooming?"

How could I know you loved it so? So often you complained,

Or dream you'd brave its care to save A world which you'd disdained!"

CAPROCKERS DEFEATED HERE FRIDAY BY SCORE OF 4 TO 1

PLAY HERE TODAY AND SATURDAY
MERRILL PARK: SUNDAY GAME DOLLAR
DAY TO MEET HUBBER PAY ROLL

The Hubbers and Caprockers were forced to play the game that was scheduled between them at Crosbyton here yesterday afternoon due to a heavy rain which fell at Crosbyton leaving wet grounds. They played here yesterday afternoon and the Hubbers defeated the Caprockers by a score of 4 to 1. The games will be played out as per schedule, according to Skipper Allen; so this afternoon the Caprockers will meet with the Hubbers here again, and then the "Dollar Day" game Sunday with the Caprockers.

Rufus Hale, the fast ball hurler of Sled's gang of twirlers, held "Emmer's" nine to five well scattered bingles yesterday and allowed a lone score in the sixth inning when Ratliff singled and was followed by a long double to center field by H. Mueller.

The Hubbers romped on Turk Morgan early in the game and scored two runs in the initial session.

Many extra base hits were registered yesterday by the Hubbers and were greatly responsible for the runs scored by the locals.

Crosbyton—E. Mueller grounded out Hale to Quatt; Ratliff grounded out Sloan to Quatt; H. Mueller singled through the box; Brown grounded out Hale to Quatt. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Lubbock—Jackson singled to right field; Anderson grounded out D. Ratliff to Reed; advancing Jackson to second base; Sloan drew a walk; Connolly forced Jackson at third on a fielder's choice; Morgan to Guber; Hudspeth tripled to center field scoring Sloan and Connolly; Hamilton grounded out Morgan to Reed. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning
Crosbyton—Guber singled to right field; Hardwick drew a walk; Reed struck out; D. Ratliff hit into a double play; Jackson to Hamilton to Quatt. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Lubbock—Quatt grounded out Ratliff to Reed; Allen grounded out Ratliff to Reed; Hale flew out to Brown. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Inning

Lubbock—Connolly grounded out Guber to Reed; Hudspeth grounded out E. Mueller to Reed; Hamilton lined out to Ratliff. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning
Crosbyton—Ratliff grounded out Lubbock

Bankers Beat Laundrymen 4 to 3

The Bankers downed the Laundrymen yesterday afternoon at Merrill park 4 to 3. It was one of the best games of the season. Miller for the Bankers saved the day with his timely hitting; Manley and Evans pitched good ball for the washmen while Hardwick for the money counters was hard to hit.

Batteries: Bankers: Hardwick and Smith; Laundrymen: Sanders, Manley and Evans.

Barbers Lose To Wholesalers

The Wholesalers yesterday wrapped up the Tonsorial Artists and consigned them to Salt River, for the day at least, when they smothered the Barbers under a seven to nothing count in a city league ball game.

BREAKS ANOTHER SWIMMING RECORD

SESQUI-CENTENNIAL LAKE, PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Arne Borg, sensational swimmer of the Illinois A. C. hung up another world's record at the national amateur athletic union meet here by taking the mile free style swim today in 21:46.25.

As on Thursday, Borg broke one of his own marks, his previous mile record having been made at Sydney, Australia, in January, 1924.

LOUGHRAN WHIPS RISK

BOSTON, July 30.—Tanay Loughran of Philadelphia was given the decision over Johnny Risko of Cleveland after 10 rounds of slow fighting here Friday night. Loughran encountered little difficulty in handling Risko despite the latter's nine pound advantage in weight.

BAYLOR GRID STAR TO BE PIGGY WIGGLY MANAGER

WACO, Texas, July 30.—Bill Coffey, Baylor University All-time All-southwestern candidate for the greatest quarterback, has been appointed manager of a Piggy Wiggle store at Elceira, Texas, according to word received by his friends at Baylor.

Hamilton to Quatt; H. Mueller struck out; Brown flew out to Anderson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Doing The Sporting Thing

By JOE ARCHIBALD

Dame Fashion, that fickle lady, who changes styles as often as Mother Nature changes the seasons, shows in her diary of the past decade an almost ludicrous contrast in sport wear of two generations. On the tennis courts, during the flowing locks era, the ladies favored the long, flowing, and voluminous skirt that is scarcely adaptable to a sport where unusual agility and speed are required. What chance would she have had in such a costume against the modern girl with her short sleeveless dress, allowing complete freedom of muscular action?

If such a match could be arranged between May Sutton Bundy, who won a National title in the old costume and Susanne Lengien, the French marvel of today, the victory could scarcely be conceded to the player hampered by the long flowing garments. Regardless of opinion, it is an interesting study.

Three Horse Race At Washington Park

HOMERWOOD, Ill., July 30.—On the eve of the $100,000 derby, which is being revived at the Washington park track here tomorrow, track followers after looking over the list of eleven three year olds, have concluded the event will be a three horse race.

Four of the entries seem certain to be scratched before post time and of the seven remaining the only three conceded a chance in the money are Boot to Boot of the Idle Hour farm string; Display, winner of the $50,000 Freakness at Pimlico, and Black Maria, W. R. Coe's flashy filly.

In its campaign against the mosquito, the United States marine corps is scattering sawdust soaked in a weak solution of arsenic on breeding places from airplanes.

Babe Ruth Poles Another Homer

ST. LOUIS, July 30.—Babe Ruth poled out a long homer off Ballou in the second inning of the Yankees-Browns encounter today, his 32nd of the year. The wallow scored runner ahead of him.

The Babe is still five behind his 1921 record, when he made 59 homers. On the same date in that year, he had made his 37th.

Giant Pitcher Is Held For Contempt

NEW YORK, July 30.—Hugh McQuillan, pitcher for the Giants, was adjudged in contempt of court for failing to pay $705 alimony to his wife, Mrs. Nellie T. McQuillan of Worcester, Mass.

A separation action brought by Mrs. McQuillan is now pending. She charges abandonment and claims he was attentive to a beauty contest winner.

It is believed that McQuillan will pay the alimony and thus probably escape imprisonment.

INDIANS PURSUE NEW YORK YANKS

By United News

The Yankees and the Cleveland Indians maintained their winning pace today, as the Hugmen, aided by Babe Ruth's 32th homer, won an eleven inning see-saw battle from the Browns, 18 to 8, while the Indians scored a 4 to 1 win over the Athletics. The Yankees are still nine games in front.

A ninth-inning rally, which netted two runs was responsible for the White Sox victory over the Senators 5 to 4. GoGoose Gossin's homer failed to bring victory to the Senators.

The Red Sox trimmed the Tigers, 4 to 3 although Whitehill allowed only nine hits.

The Cardinals beat the Giants, 5 to 2, touching Fitzsimmons and Scott for 12 hits. Flowers and Bell of the Cardinals hit homers.

With Grimes pitching almost flawless ball, the Robins won from the Cubs 4 to 1. The champion Pirates on the other hand, were beaten by the lowly Phillies 6 to 1, Kromer being knocked out of the box in the seventh inning.

The Reds-Braves game was called off on account of rain.

TWO SEIZED AS GEM BANDITS

Two heirs of the Whittmore gang, one of them an admitted Chicago gunman, are charged with three jewel robberies in New York amounting to $100,000. Among them was the Malibu Lane $75,000 diamond robbery. The prisoners are George Cohen, posing as a $20,000 bail jumper from Chicago and boasting inside information on the Michigan murder, and Solomon Brofman, a New York capitalist. Brofman admitted the robberies, police say, but Cohen insists he is innocent.

"Sylvia"

By NINON ROMAINE

CHAPTER VIII

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.—Sylvia Wood, young, bride and art student, suffering a mental injury in a motor accident, is ordered to write the narrative of her married life for her physician, a famous psycho-analyst. She tells of meeting Robert Wood, of their courtship and the scholarship which takes her to a great New York art school. In New York she shares the studio apartment of Nell Hutchins. During her first day there, Villagers drop in and Sylvia decides to go to the gay Sept Arts Ball that night.

To Sylvia Reed who had lived all her twenty-one years in Philadelphia, the Sept Arts Ball, visited on her first night in Greenwich Village, seemed like some wonderfully gorgeous pageant out of a strange new colorful country.

Questioning back in her memory she wrote about it in the psycho-analytical journal of her own life. It was her physician had demanded.

"The ball room seemed like a setting for a pageant," she wrote. "It was like a night of revelry from another world, pagan and joyous. The futuristic trimmings of the hall, in black and orange and green, the gay and original costumes of the dancers, the flash of flesh beneath the scanty raiment of some of the models, the music, revelry, sparkling eyes, gay quip and gesture freedom, rather more freedom than I had seen before among girls and men."

"I could feel my heart pounding with the excitement of it. Lenny Watkins was dressed as a pirate, a handsome handkerchief tied about his head, and his nose painted to represent a lot of cheer taken aboard. Nell went as a Turkish lady in veil and filmy trousers; there were about a dozen Pierrots and clowns, but the figure that interested me most was that of a tall, dark youth in the costume of an Indian Rajah."

"That's Carlos Garcia, a young Argentine architect. Rather more poised than most of the spigotties," Nell said. "The nanthe girl he's dancing with is Blinney Pekoe, not the tea, who sells antique jewelry over in Fourth street. Want to meet them?"

"I said I didn't. Not then. A lot of us weren't in costume. It came more to get in if we didn't dress up. I was dancing with Lenny Watkins when I suddenly felt Carlos Garcia behind me, steering his partner so he could watch me. I didn't see him at first; I felt him. But I knew he was there just as plainly as if I had looked. It made me frightfully uneasy for some foolish reason. I led Lenny to a chair beside Nell Hutchins, but we had been there only a minute when Carlos came over."

"Good evening, Nell," he said. "It's a large party isn't it? Hear you have a room mate, Sarah told me. She does no violence to the masculine eye either, the postures person allowed. Who is she?"

"Nell hit her lip with vexation. 'Permit me to present Sylvia Reed,' she said. 'Miss Reed, Carlos Garcia. Miss Reed's father and mine are very old friends. Ivan Reed, the painter, you know.'"

"Carlos clicked his heels together and bowed."

"Ah, I beg your pardon. I didn't know," he said in his quiet voice. "I am very happy to see you."

"Nell doesn't like Carlos, that's plain, and she was vexed when she had to introduce us. I wondered why then, but I found out later. Carlos was utterly the handsomest man in his Rajah's turban and robe of silk I ever saw, before or since. He asked me to dance."

"We danced four times together, and all the time there was a little voice in the back of my head saying,

"Would Bob like it, your dancing with this Argentine?"

"But Bob was nearly a thousand miles away and Carlos Garcia danced beautifully."

"There we supper at midnight and then we danced until after two. The ball was still going strong though when Nell and I started to leave. We found Carlos waiting for us outside the cloak room."

"I'm going too," he said. "May I walk along with you?"

"Except my father I have yet to see a man who doesn't get partly injured in talking about himself. Carlos Garcia was no exception. He told Nell and me all about his hachenda in Argentine, of his studies in Europe, of his intention, backed by his father, to become an architect and to build in South American cities the skyscraper buildings of New York; of how he had learned the tango in the servants' quarters of his parents' ranch, and of a lot of other things."

"Then he asked Nell if he could come to tea tomorrow. Nell replied shortly that there wouldn't be any tea tomorrow as she had too much work to do to be bothered. Then he asked me if I would care to visit the art galleries of the Hispanola Society, and I told him I would be ready at three. Carlos said 'Good night, Senoritas, and I hope you both rest well,' and was gone."

"Upstairs in the studio Nell Hutchins turned to me."

"Know anybody in New York besides me, Sylvia?" she asked.

"No," I answered. "Why?"

"I don't want to be offensively sisterly, my dear," she said, "but I think you better stay with me for a time. I'd love to have you."

And Sylvia, she went on after a moment "Carlos is a bit predatory. Forgive me, but don't flirt, my dear."

"I won't," I promised in perfect good faith, because after the ball I began to feel so lonesome all over for Bob. I could have howled. So Nell went to bed and I wrote seven pages to Bob back home."

"And all the time I was writing it (because I have to be completely frank and honest in this journal) the flashing smile and artist's eyes of Carlos kept looking at me. I had known him only three hours but he had taken hold of my imagination. I said then and I say now that he could never have anything of me or mine that was Bob's. But I was anxious just the same for three o'clock the next afternoon to come when we were going to the Spanish gallery and for tea afterwards at the Plaza."

"It was getting daylight when I finished my letter to Bob. Slipping on my coat I walked down the stairs and over to Washington Square to a letter box to post it. As I dropped the letter into the box I saw Carlos coming towards me across the Park. (To be continued)

Farm Prices Down 18 Points From 1925

WASHINGTON, July 29.—The general level of farm prices has dropped sharply within the last year and substantially the last month. A drop from 139 to 125 per cent of the pre-war level occurred from June 15 to July 15, while the price level is now 18 points below that of July last year, according to the monthly reports of the department of agriculture.

CHINESE POPULATION
PEKING—Estimates compiled by the Chinese Postal Administration, practically the only organization in China which has facilities for any form of Chinese census, give any present total population of the "Flower Republic" as 436,094,935, exclusive of Mongolia, Tsinghai and Tibet.

DON'T BE DECEIVED, FRIENDS

—by the wild price reductions you see advertised. Jusk ask yourself the question:

WERE THEY MARKED RIGHT AT FIRST?

To mark an article up to twice its value—then make drastic reductions — is only a simple operation of the pencil and we think a VERY UNSOUND BUSINESS POLICY.

Another thing, Friends, DON'T BE DECEIVED WITH THE EARLY FALL STYLES that are going to be offered in August.

It is reasonable to offer a STYLISH Fall garment NOW, when the average life of a style is less than 60 days?

When Fall Styles are SETTLED, WE WILL HAVE THEM, and you can depend on us being R-I-G-H-T, both as to PRICE and STYLE.

SAVES FOR THE NATION

MANCHESTER WORKERS LEAVE FOR 'WAKES' FAMOUS HOLIDAYS TAKE YEAR'S SAVINGS

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 30.—Cotton-mill sirens in fourteen Lancashire towns shrieked this afternoon to indicate that the famous Lancashire "wakes"—the ten days migratory holiday of the Northern mill-hands was formally begun.

Not a mill will start up until a week from Tuesday when their employees will have returned having spent to the last farthing—all except fifty cents left prudently under the clock at home—every penny which they have saved for the annual "wakes."

The total sum thus saved and disbursed is enormous. Figures published early in July for fourteen Lancashire towns showed that the workers, in spite of the strike and of short hours in the American cotton-spinning section, had saved nearly $5,000,000 for their holidays. Similar figures from milltowns in Yorkshire, Cheshire and other industrial districts bring the totals up to many millions.

This money is collected by weekly subscriptions at every mill throughout the year and is a big item in Lancashire and Yorkshire banking. It amounts to about $15 a head or around $50 a family. It is saved separately, and has nothing to do with the family's ordinary savings account. The banks' passbooks plainly label it "wakes money." It was drawn out yesterday on such a huge scale that the banks, as usual, were forced to draw heavily on the London money market in order to finance the "wakes" with clean new banknotes, clean new bills and clean new silver.

Tomorrow every milltown will hum with the exodus. Trains will be packed to suffocation; charabancs will crowd the town squares, load up and whirl their happy occupants to Blackpool, New Brighton, Southport and other holiday places.

Yorkshire sends thousands flooding eastwards to Scarborough and Bridlington and Whitby. Other charabancs invade the South, down as far as the Isle of Wight. Other parties, pooling their resources, make a bee-line for the Continent. Couples go off happily on their own, much to the interest of English playwrights who have more than once found the Lancashire "wakes" a fruitful theme for drama. A motor-bicycle with side-car or even a "peach-perch" behind, complete with "peach," is a favorite vehicle for the grand exodus.

Authorities agree that very little money is spent for drink during the "wakes" though the crowds are rather noisy in trains and charabancs and might give the stranger a contrary impression. The money has to be spent with some care lest

Whicker No. 1 Offices Moved To Bledsoe

BLED SOE, Tex., July 29.—The headquarters of the Whicker Land Company have been moved to this place, according to J. C. Whicker, head of the concern formerly of Littlefield and Lubbock. This is one of the biggest concerns of the kind in West Texas, and the home office here will be under the personal direction of Whicker, who will move into quarters now being made ready for his coming.

UNDERGROUND WIRING TO BE INSTALLED ON C. I. A. CAMPUS

DENTON, Tex., July 29.—Bids have been asked for the installation of an underground electrical distribution system at the College of Industrial Arts on all of the campus south of the drive and in front of the demonstration cottage. Poles and overhead wires on the campus will be removed and light standards placed along the campus driveways.

It give out, and the holidaymakers forced to return home prematurely. The great aim of those who participate in the "wakes" is to come home on the very last day—without a penny.

Air Service Secretary Takes His First Flight

F. Trabee Davison, in flying suit, inspects his feet of Army aircraft at Bolling Field, Washington, from the air. The Assistant Secretary of War in charge of the Army Air Service, recently received his appointment, and this is his first trip in the air since being sworn in.

London will have a radio theatre.

Churchmen Will Camp At Thorp Spgs.

THORP SPRINGS, July 30.—The statewide encampment of the Churches of Christ will convene at Thorp Springs, Sunday, August 1, and continue through August 8. W. D. Campbell, formerly of Detroit, Mich., but now of the central Church of Christ at Fort Worth, will do the evangelistic preaching. Dr. George A. Klingman of the Bible department of Thorp Spring Christian College will conduct some special classes during the week.

Large crowds are expected to be in attendance from the very first. Much interest is being manifested over the state in this meeting. This meeting is considered as one of the largest meetings of its kind among the Churches of Christ in Texas.

WOMEN OUTRANKED MEN UNDER OLD INDIAN LAW

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Mothers were the only voters and descent was in the female line in the Indian League of the Six Nations, according to the election laws of the League, just translated by Dr. J. N. B. Hewitt, of the Bureau of American Ethnology.

The laws included the referendum and recall. The property settlement for murder of a man was 10 strings of wampum, but for a woman 20 strings.

OIL MEN FLOCK TO THREE RIVERS

LOOKS LIKE BIG PLAY FOR LULING FIELD IS DUE

THREE RIVERS, Texas, July 30.—With the Magnolia company building its $3,000,000 pipe line from Mirando City through Three Rivers to Luling and with half a dozen tests going on in this district, oil scouts are flocking here to watch the next play, well known oil men say this section of Texas is due its biggest play this year.

The line from Luling to Mirando City has been established through this district and with the Callahan pool just west of this town sending thousands of barrels of oil to the consumers each month, there is but little doubt, oil men say, but that a big field is going to be found somewhere in this immediate district. As yet the territory has hardly been scratched but the district is sending millions of cubic feet of natural gas and thousands of barrels of oil to the outside world.

Among the most important tests being made is that of the Mid-Kansas just eight miles North and West of Three Rivers. This company is fishing at about 1,400 feet and expects to resume drilling as soon as the piece of broken bailer is out of the hole. Simmons Oil Company's Simmons No. 3 is setting casing South and West Three Rivers at about 1,200 feet. This is the same sand where their number two went wild a few weeks ago and was lost.

Will Replace Old Jackson House

Lubbock is to have another modern hotel building according to an announcement given out by J. J. Chauncey yesterday. The old Jackson hotel, 817 Main, which was practically destroyed by fire a few weeks ago will be razed and a new three story structure put in its place. The building will be modern and will contain the lobby and several business places on the first floor. The other two stories will consist of the guest rooms of the hotel. The new structure will cost approximately $30,000.

IMPROVEMENTS HAVE BEEN MADE ON C. I. A. LODGE

DENTON, Tex., July 29.—Summer improvements on the Virginia Carroll Lodge, student club house at the College of Industrial Arts, includes a sun-parlor, a large porch, and a new coat of paint. They are expected to be finished this week. Tennis courts have been built. In back of the home and workmen have been busy several days leveling the yard.

OH JOY! SWEET JOY!

I'm having a Spasm of Joy

Joy with every breath. It fills my shoes and spills from my pockets. Sweet angels! Oh, how happy I feel. Am I caressed by the arms of love? Do glorified thoughts tingle through my brain? Great pleasures crowd about me. I'm suffocatingly pleased. No one has had greater joy than I. Wherefore do I give praise and thanksgiving for all of it.

Speaks out my monitor: "Stop the rant, foolish man. Some may not understand you. Others too have had vain imaginings.

Then to, this page of bargains I quickly turn and get down to real business. Now comes real joy. Plentiful joy—such satisfying joy—for this joy is not mixed with love and other things fanciful.

Special railway cars needed —to help keep them crisp

To give you the tender crispness you like in pickles, many country stations are maintained by Libby's and a fleet of special wooden tank cars. All this, so that the cucumbers can be rushed into brine on the very day of picking, and later transported without fear of bruising them. That is why Libby's Pickles are so wonderfully crisp—so tempting.

OPENING GUNS OF SECOND PRIMARY ARE FIRED; A DOZEN CANDIDATES WILL GO INTO RUN-OFF CAMPAIGN

At least a dozen Lubbock county candidates will take part in the second primary, it has been disclosed since the ballots were counted. Four of the men are running for the office of county commissioner, two for sheriff two for public weigher and two or district attorney.

In commissioner's precinct No. 1, Payne and Young will enter the final contest; in precinct No. 2, Pinkston was given the nomination of July 24, but in precinct No. 3, Denton and Cooper will have to go to the voters again, as will Kincaide and Vance for weigher at Shallowater.

The Avalanche has made an effort to get a statement from each of the candidates, but has been unable to do so. Three of the candidates have given written statements, however, and they appear, in part, below:

Durwood H. Bradley, candidate for district attorney, says:

"I am highly pleased with the vote I received at the first primary. I believe our laws should be honestly and rigidly enforced, and I am sure this is the desire and will of a majority of the voters in the 72nd Judicial District. The strongest protection we can offer the American home is to teach respect for our laws, and the best way we can do this is to enforce our laws to the letter.

"It is my intention to work in harmony and cooperate with the sheriff county attorneys and grand juries and also individual citizens who stand for law enforcement. The second primary will be held the 4th Saturday in August, and I believe I will be overwhelmingly nominated as the standard bearer of the Democratic party for the office of district attorney."

Mr. Witcher is also just as sure he will receive the nomination, for he says:

"I became a candidate for election to succeed myself in the office of district attorney solely in defense on the principles of right and justice and I am in that fight until the last vote is counted. I deeply appreciate the fact that 280 men and women in this district believe in the principles advocated by me. I shall ever be grateful to them for such loyalty.

"I have the kindest feelings toward those who oppose me. They were misinformed, of course, and will some day find truth will prevail. I believe in humanitarianism, and I will fight anything that conflicts with my ideals of the administration of justice.

"I shall pursue the even tenor of my way, and the final counting of ballots will in no way affect my fight."

HOMESICK? SO IS THE TOREADOR

SCHOOL PAPER WILL TELL ABSENTEES OF TECH AND PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

"Homesick Edition" of the Toreador, official weekly publication of the Tech will come out today. The paper will contain a brief review of the activities of the summer together with plans for school next year. Harry Montgomery, who edited the paper last year, is editor and John Young, former student president, is business manager.

The paper will be sent out to all the old students and to a number of prospective students. The college will send out over five hundred copies to students who are planning to come here next year.

President Horn has a very interesting message for the students and the student leaders have a number of plans for the coming year.

Included in the plans for the summer will be a Tech Day in Texas. August 20 has been designated as the official day. The various student centers of the state will be the meeting places for old and prospective students. Some sort of entertainment will be given and the students will celebrate the location of the Tech.

for what I know to be truth."

Bud Johnson doesn't claim to be much of a politician, but as sheriff he claims to have made an effort to enforce the law. Mr. Johnson who will be in the run-off with Chas. Holcomb says:

"I desire to express my thanks to the citizenship of Lubbock county for the splendid vote given me in the election last Saturday. I will appreciate your continued support in the second primary, August 28.

"I stand on my platform of law enforcement as I have done since being sheriff of Lubbock county. I pledge the citizenship of this county my best efforts in making Lubbock county a better and cleaner place in which to live if they see fit to elect me on August 28."

The Avalanche writer has been unable to see Mr. Holcomb though his friends declare his campaign in the future will be conducted as in the past. He is well and favorably known in Lubbock and Lubbock county and will wage an active campaign until August 28.

Dr. Horn And Party Return To Lubbock

Dr. Paul W. Horn, Mrs. Horn, and Miss Ruth Horn and Orval Burroughs returned yesterday from a two weeks trip through the central part of Texas. Dr. Horn spent several days in Temple in the sanitarium there undergoing a minor operation. From there they visited Ft. Worth, Dallas, Waco, Houston and Galveston.

Dr. Horn stated that they saw many Tech students on the trip and they are all planning to return this fall.

Floyd Farmers Go To Short Course

Special to The Avalanche
FLOYDADA, July 30.—Floyd county will be represented at the A. & M. Short Course this year as the presidents of several Home Demonstration Clubs and the winners of different contests, will attend. Miss Blanche Bass, county demonstrator will accompany the party, which plans to leave Saturday.

The Short Course is an annual affair and will last one week.

By utilizing waters of the Pylkara the largest river in the Nigritia, India, where it drops 400 feet in a series of falls, one of the greatest hydro-electric plants in that part of Asia will be developed.

Vagrants Pay $10 Into City Coffers

Business has been very quiet at the police station during the past two days. Only three arrests have been made and the case against one of these men was dismissed.

Two vagrants were locked up Thursday night and fines of ten dollars each were placed against them Friday morning.

FLOYDADA PLANS POULTRY SHOW

CHICKEN FAIR WILL BE HELD ON DECEMBER 9TH
10TH AND 11TH

FLOYDADA, July 30.—The sixth annual Floyd County Poultry Show will be held in Lockney the 9th, 10th and 11th of December this year and from all indications the show will be much larger than the 1925 show when State wide attention was attracted by the splendid display of poultry birds.

Six hundred and thirty-five birds were shown at the show which was held in Floydada in December of 1925. According to A. B. Muney, president of the organization, there are more than 1000 birds expected this year.

J. V. Frye, of Wayneka, Okla., who judged the show last year will return again this year and will have charge of the show. Frye's time will be spent in judging the contest with the exception of a short time the last day when he will answer questions relative to the proper way to show poultry.
