LUBBOCK TO HEAR NEW GAS PROPOSAL

TWO TULSA MEN READY TO PIPE FUEL FOR CITY

COMMISSIONERS TO HEAR PLANS THURSDAY; RATE IS LOWER ONE

Another proposal to supply Lubbock and other Plains towns with natural gas from the Panhandle oil fields, has been submitted to the City Commission of Lubbock, and will come up for consideration at the regular meeting of the commission Thursday afternoon, it was learned today. The proposal is submitted, however, to be effective in the event that the company which now has a franchise to operate here, fails to meet its contract.

The recent proposal is backed by Ben H. Ash, independent operator in the Mid-continent oil field, and H. K. Nelson, also an experienced oil and gas man, both of Tulsa. The two have been here two or three days, and others interested in the project will be here to appear before the commission tomorrow, it was said.

Two Wells Ready
The proposal provides for construction of a line from a 6,000 acre tract in the Panhandle field on which two wells with a 600,000 cubic feet capacity are now drilled. Messrs. Ash and Nelson have told members of the commission that they are not trying and will not try, to break into the contract the city now has with A. J. McMahan and associates, who last fall were granted a franchise to operate here. They said, however, that in the event the present contract is not completed, they are ready, with all necessary finances, to begin actual construction operations at once, and in addition to this, are willing to post a cash guarantee with the city of $100,000 that they will fulfill their contract.

Officials of the Hope Construction company, pipeline contractors, of Pittsburgh, one of the largest operators in the world, are expected to be here for the meeting.

Rebated as a fresh challenge to the administration's Central American policy, particularly with respect to Mexico and Nicaragua, the resolution was offered last yesterday by the committee's chairman, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, and immediately received the support of a coalition of democratic and republican insurgents. The action surprised administration senators but they refused to indicate what stand they would take if the resolution reaches the senate floor.

Proposal Is Favored

Some members of the senate foreign relations committee today also predicted senate approval if the condition does not break down during the almost certain fight on the floor.

"We want to find out the facts and keep informed," Senator Borah declared, "but after the resolution, which would authorize the committee to spend $10,000 for expenses to visit such countries and to sit during the recess of congress at such times and places as it deems advisable."

Two Blown Over Truck

(By The Associated Press)
QUANAH, Texas, Feb. 23—Three men, unidentified, were killed and a score or more badly injured by an explosion of a 12 inch gas main two miles north of Quanah shortly before noon today.

The explosion occurred as a gang of nearly 100 men were working in an open ditch, raising the 12 inch main of the North Texas Utilities company (an Upham concern) with a 16 inch main and every man was blown out of the ditch by the force of the blast except two, who were burned to a cinder where they fell in the trench.

Two men were blown over a big motor truck and one of them apparently stunned by the fall, turned to death where he fell. The other, a flaming torch, kept rolling until he extinguished the flames and this saved his life.

Rescue crews and ambulances were at work at 11:30 a. m. and no adequate check of the dead had been made, nor had any of the dead been identified.

The men were employed by the Hope Engineering company. The cause of the blast or the manner in which it became ignited has not been ascertained.

TRACK MEN ARE READY TO MEET

600 Athletes Will Gather In Urbana Soon To Try To Break Records

URBANA, Ill., Feb. 23. (AP)—The nation's largest indoor relay meet, the annual carnival of the University of Illinois, will attract more than 600 athletes to the Illinois armory Feb. 24. Upward of 50 colleges will be represented with the pick of the midwest's athletic talent.

The Western, Missouri Valley and Midwest conferences will bring their full strength to the eight relays and ten special events and other sections will send a sprinkling of stars. Many of last year's champions will meet as rivals, several with carnival records to defend, among them Heister of Michigan, Kuck of Kansas State Teachers, Fell of Illinois and Burg of Chicago.

Ideal conditions at the huge Illinois armory, with its fast clay straightway and cinder track, enhance the prospect of record-making. Last year world marks were set by Alderman of Michigan State in the 200-yard dash; Heister of Michigan and Grim of Michigan State in the 75-yard dash; and Weaver of Illinois and Guthrie of Ohio State in the high hurdles, while Kuck of Kansas State Teachers broke the world shot put record with a toss of 59 feet 6 1/2 inches.

Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois are concentrating on the four-mile relay this year, Iowa, Minnesota, Notre Dame and Nebraska have strong mile quartets and Northwestern and the Kansas Aggies will meet in a classic two mile race. Their finish last year in this clash was the most exciting event of the carnival.

The all-around individual championship greatest honor to be won at the carnival will be contested by at least two of last year's competitors, Carey of Notre Dame and Sturtridge of DePaul, and Minnesota may send its new star, Ottensner.

BUFFALOES WIN CLOSING CLASH FROM MATADORS

TECH CAGERS FINISH UP YEAR'S SCHEDULE IN HARD BATTLE

The planning Jersied basketballers of Texas Tech have made their last appearance for the 1927 season. The Hightobotham crew concluded its year's card with the last of a two game series with the cagers of West Texas State Teachers college of Canyon, who won over the Matadors by a score of 35 to 23.

The closing game was full of sensational plays and was thrilling from beginning to end. The state's newest educational institution's athletes were battling against the veteran system of the Burton towners which has held supremacy in the Panhandle for eight rugged seasons, and for the past five years had held a light grip on the T. L. A. title. In consideration that this is the second season for the hustling Matadors and their system is in its infancy, and, that they closed with their season's "first card" a club that took a game from the Texas and Baylor universities this season, the wearers of the scarlet and black jerseys have been outstanding in their work.

Hard Starts Early
The Buffalo herd started its stampede in the early stages of the game and Lower half-forward "Teacher" Miller, center of the herd, sunk two counters to start the mighty drive. The Matadors with their offense work of Percy Walker, who flipped through the basket four sinkers in the initial half, were gradually trimming the margin of the Burton herd leading and as the half ended the score was 17 to 12. Coming back for the last half of the game the hustling Higgins, botham recruits had that "never say die" spirit they creep within one point of the Palo Duro herd's lead and for sometime were in tying distance with the Burton lads.

Half Tops Scorers
Alex Hale, leader of the herd, topped the field in scoring honors by chalking up one more point than he made on the evening before. Hale, flashy Burton forward, sunk six field goals and counted three free tosses, for a total of 15 points. "Big" Stringer, the Grand Salton product that rushed the floor workers last evening, was and leader of the talking ranks, and was only able to register seven points during the contest, however, as in the preceding game, the big Buff was the giant dynamo from which all plays were started. "Handsome Ransome" Walker, the scintillant guard of the Hightobotham forces, shared with Lower, the whit forward of the Canyon quint, for second honors with four field hoopers, Leslie "Al" Jennings, who failed to work the evening before due to illness, George "Buck" Weaver and Captain Dennis Vincent each ripped the basket for two counters each.

Largest Crowd Here
The largest attendance ever to witness a cager performance was present to witness the season's closing card. Watchers saw the Matadors drive into the offense of Texas' best cagers and snatch the ball from the hands of the Bulls in the course of the play frequently during the game.

The strong Teachers college quint left Lubbock early this morning for Canyon where they train for their hardest road trip of the season. Monday and Tuesday they clash with the Daniel Baker Hill Billies; to Abilene for four games, two each with A. C. C. and McMurry.

DETROIT STILL REIGNS AT BAT

Even Without Service Of The Great Cobb, Bengals Have Best Hitting Outfield

DETROIT, Feb. 23. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers benefit of Ty Cobb, will begin their 1927 diamond campaign in April with the hardest hitting outfield in the American League, despite the departure of the peerless batsman.

Washington's acquisition of the former Boston Red Sox slugger, has boosted the Senators' outfield batting average to .338, on the basis of 1926 performance, but even this hard hitting group of gardeners has a grand average 30 points below its Tiger contemporaries. The Detroit outfield this season will include the 1926 batting champion of the league, Henry Mauer, if he leaves a former champion in Harry Heilmann. His third member will be Robert Fothergill, whose embroilment did not keep him from leading the league for most of last season, though he was nosed out by his team mate in the September stretch.

The new Washington outfield consists of Goslin, Rice and Spieker. Cobb brought the Tigers to their present enviable position in center field, for realizing that he could not play in the middle pasture forever, he began three years ago to groom a successor. Mauer was his choice, but the Alabamian came along so slowly that once Cobb was ready to retire he had to wait.

After working with Mauer with slight success, he finally advised the understanding to follow his natural swinging style. At once Mauer began to bust the fences. Harry Heilmann also is credited with helping Mauer to improve. He gave him much attention last summer, and the outfielder sprang from the low 200's toward the top of the list.

Houston Golfers Open Tournament

(By The Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Feb. 23.—Ossie Carlton, Texas amateur golf champion, was leading the field of qualifiers Wednesday afternoon with virtually all the favorites in the Houston country club's thirteenth annual invitation golf tournament already in. Carlton shot a sparkling 71, 36 going out and 35 coming in, one under par for the course.

George Rotan, Houston title holder used 38 strokes on the out side and 35 on the inside.

George Van Elm, national amateur champion, was tied with Rotan for second place with a 73.

HOUSTON, Feb. 23. (AP)—Visiting golfers who had a choice between marking time or indulging in practice rounds Tuesday, went into real action in the Houston country club invitation meet Wednesday morning. So many were listed for play in the midday of the qualifying round that all the time between 8 a. m. and 3 p. m. was taken up.

None but first flight Houston players are in today's qualifying round. All the second and third flighters having stepped around the course in move or less sprightly fashion the day before.

The actual makeup of the field will not be known until all returns are in and canvassed late today.

Editorials The Dreamers Who Rule

I'll not fight with the powers of air. Sentences pass him through! Drawbridge, let fall, let's the lord of us all. The dreamer whose dream came true. Thus wrote Kipling, years ago. Being a practical matter of fact people, it is our tendency to admire the poetic fancy of those lines but to dismiss them with the remark: "Dreamers are all very well but after all it's not the dreamers who get the world's work done." There is where we prove ourselves much less wise than Mr. Kipling. For in spite of our speechless adoration of the level-headed, practical man of affairs, the fact remains that it is the dreamer and not the wise man who has made our nation what it is. No! Very well, go to a library, get out the files of a newspaper, and read all the testimony in the DeLoach $20,000,000 tax suit. Read how a poor young mechanic in Detroit, some 20 years ago, gave himself over to dreams and visions while his level-headed fellows were working and saving money. Read how the dreamer, whose name is Henry Ford, made his dream come true and changed a nation's way of living. Or consider Edison, the dreamer, who gave us electric lights, phonographs and a dozen other things. Consider Marconi, who was grandfathers to the radio; consider in fact, any of the men we call truly great and you will see that each of them was a man who dreamed a dream and devoted his life to making it a reality. Beware how you scoff at the dreamers. The world has always been at the disposal of any elegant dreamer who could induce his more practical brethren to get behind his dream with ready cash. Thousands of youths in America today are dreaming dreams of what America will be in the future. Most of them will live to see their visions shattered of course, but somewhere, right at this minute, there is a young man whose slowly-forming dream will yet be the law by which America moves. Perhaps he dreams of a scheme to release the power of the atoms and free us forever from drudgery; perhaps he dreams of a new philosophy that will free out the complexities and doubts of our modern life; perhaps he dreams of a new system of government which he is fated to install. We don't know. But we can be sure that somewhere, today, someone is seeing a vision that will be made a reality.

Discriminating Readers

FOR a long time it has been the custom for our literary folk to bewail the absence of a large demand for serious literature. Trash, they say, sells by the hundred thousands; copies of books of real literary merit languish on the shelves. Maybe this was so once, but it isn't now. To be sure, cheap books still sell enormously, but so do good books. Studied biographies, works on philosophy, psychology, science and history, satires on our national customs and so-called "problem novels" in which the American scene is painstakingly dissected, these are among the best sellers nowadays. America has developed a liking for good books. The old plaint is out of date.

What's The Hurry?

Are you in a hurry? Some day, when you're driving in heavy traffic, ask yourself why you and everyone else are going so fast. The average driver (the writer of this article included), frets and stewes when delayed for 20 seconds; he worms his way in and out, fumes when someone else half a minute's time. What's it all about? By driving leisurely, taking no chances and allowing any others who wish to speed by, one gets home not more than five minutes later than he does when he hurries. Are those extra five minutes worth all the trouble we drivers spend to save them?

Old Master's Ah, love, let us be true To one another for the world, To be before us like a land of dreams, So various, so beautiful, so new, Hath really neither joy, nor love, nor light, Nor certitude, nor peace, nor help for pain. Swept with confused alarm of Where ignorant armies clash by night. —Matthew Arnold: From "Dover Beach."

IN NEW YORK SEE-SAWING and DOWN BROADWAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—In one of the largest and best known department stores in Manhattan no playing cards can be purchased. It seems the founder, now dead, promised his mother, who belonged to the Victorian era, that he would never handle them. However, I noted a number of cocktail shakers on display. Speaking of prohibition, an amusing story has been going the rounds of Broadway concerning an incident in one of the several dozen speak-easies in the Times Square belt. A couple of young men who had been doing quite a lot of serious drinking suddenly took out a set of dice and began to roll them, betting on the result. The proprietor, rushing from behind the bar, came over to them and whispered: "Say, you better stop gambling! The place is full of police."

Which further reminds me that one of the very smart New York weeklies now prints in each number the recipe for making some trick cocktail and is selling many copies thereby. Europeans visiting our shores, and unable to comprehend the nature of the drinking situation, are most naive. A visitor or more than average prominence was called upon by a newspaperman of our acquaintance the other day. The new arrival produced a bottle of gin and reporter's eyes brightened. "Oh, the real stuff. Sneaked it in, I suppose," suggested the newspaperman. "No, indeed! I got it from the bell boy. You really should be careful," the reporter admonished. "Oh," proudly boasted the naive one, "this must be good. See, it has a Gordon label."

The last word in movie theaters, soon to open off Broadway, will have college-student ushers. Football here tips will be given the professor, according to a notice I saw posted up on a bulletin board of New York University. They must be blond, with straight noses, says the police, giving the impression that the movie ushers of tomorrow may be asked to compete with film heroes. And by the way of final admonition to those who must keep up in the absolutely latest dance steps: Drop the black bottom and go in for the new simplified tango! They're doing it, absolutely, everywhere, my dear. Each a Vogue has it become that one of the very popular tea dances is now held out three times a week in Longmeadow. And I understood that two bankers and at least one Russian prince—yes, they're very common in New York very common, indeed—have been open at the Tuesday afternoon gathering at the Anderson gallery. Which, would you like to make it unanamous? —GILBERT SWAN. (Copyright, 1927, NEA Service, Inc.)

WASHINGTON LETTER

SENATE TOO WINDY: MUM! FOUR-DAY SPEECHES USED TO BE COMMON

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of three articles by Rodney Dutcher, Washington correspondent, about Theodore F. Shuey, one of the capital's most interesting figures. As Senate reporter, Shuey has heard every speech delivered in the Senate in the last 25 years. BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Way back in the Reconstruction period, Vice President Charles G. Dawes, had been president of the Senate, would have frothed at the mouth, thrown a public fit and expired. Those were the days when senators started out on speeches which sometimes lasted four days. Those days still linger in the memory of Theodore F. Shuey, dean of the Senate's official reporters, who has been in "Congress" longer than any other man. Shuey is 82 years old and this is his 59th year of not-taking in the upper house. He came to the Senate in 1888, to the same Congress which had impeached President Andrew Jackson. Tribute From Senate The only time he has since been flustered enough to stop taking his shorthand notes was the other day when Dawes and several senators unexpectedly began to pay him public tribute on the occasion of his birthday. For a time Shuey was all broken up over this, he hadn't wanted any publicity before his 60th year was up. But he got over that blow and finally talked with your correspondent. The Senate has changed since those days of Allen G. Thurman, Thomas E. Bayard and other of Shuey's long-departed heroes. "Four-day speeches were common," Shuey's shorthand reporter recalls. "Sometimes they ran eight. They fought out big political questions in those reconstruction days. There were many Republicans and only a bare handful of Democrats to defend the interests of the south. It was all very bitter. "There's less oratory and more business now. They go right to the results and omit flowers. They used to waste a great deal of time." Shuey remembers a four-day speech by Garrett Davis of Kentucky, but he can't remember the subject. He recalls, however, that when John A. Logan of Illinois spoke for four days, stopping only for recesses, he was talking about the Fitzhugh Porter case. There was nothing to stop the Garretts and Logans of the period. Saved From Themselves But as the two big parties became more evenly divided late in the seventies, unanimous consent agreements, clotures and other ploys were resorted to to save senators from themselves. Shuey regrets most of all the passing of the great party leaders. There hasn't been one for the last 20 years, he says. Venrose, who ruled the Senate, was the last of the type. "Never used to have any of these blocs," he says. "Not in the days of George F. Edmunds of Vermont, who was chairman of the Judiciary Committee. I notice we're getting more and more into the bloc form of government, there isn't the political integrity, the fealty to party that we had." "There isn't the bitter partisanship of course; and perhaps that's a good thing, but I've noticed that the men who remained loyal to their party always gained most in the end." Shuey's is the one job many people wouldn't want. There are, indeed, few who could sit all afternoon listening to the senators spout. "Two things have always appealed

Contemporaries

A HORSE ON THE MAYOR

Out here in West Texas where the horse is so essential to the ranch industry—where that loyal mount will always find a place as long as there are cow camps—we know we haven't reached the horseless age. But Mayor Dever of Chicago apparently thinks we have, and has ordered all mounted police to ride motorcycles instead of horses henceforth. But a loud cry of protest is arising from the citizens of Chicago. Motorcycles may be more efficient; but there are a great many people who love the sleek, prancing horses as integral parts of the city's panorama, and they will not willingly be deprived of them. It is said that the question of horses versus motorcycles will play an important part in Chicago's coming mayoralty campaign. Perhaps we're not as close to the horseless age as the good mayor thought. In other words, his proclamation may be a horse on the mayor and not on the horse.—San Angelo Standard.

GOVERNMENT LOOKS AFTER BABIES

Kansas City Star: The government warns an anxious country that babies must not be kept up late at night to amuse the family or guests. Sound advice and well considered. In time a bureau may be established to receive daily reports from inspectors as to babies' put to bed on government hours. Meanwhile we await eagerly government regulations of diet, in addition to the admirable cooking instructions it already is issuing, directions on proper looks to read. Whatever would we do without these government bureaus?—Brownwood Bulletin.

to me here," he says, "although I've had many tempting offers to leave. "Nice Gentlemen" "I like the nice atmosphere of the Senate. It's an intelligent pursuit in which I am surrounded by nice gentlemen. Senatorial courtesy does a man's heart good. I like these few personalities who surround me. I hate to compare this atmosphere with the sordid things one meets up with in the field of competitive business. "And then, no matter how hard I work, I always know that Congress will recess sooner or later—and that I will have a good, long vacation." Shuey found some books on stenography while he was a boy on a farm. He studied them and later went to college. In 1862, then 18 years old, he joined the Union army. Afterward he became a newspaperman, aided by his shorthand, and through friends obtained the reporter's job in the Senate which he has held so long. He claims never to have been absent a single day through illness.

BARBS

A New Jersey assemblyman wants a bill making it legal to hurl hand grenades at saxophone players. It's a good idea, but why not also have a clause in the measure about mining the back yard against the "line chorus"? Citizens, besides the right of life, liberty, such as it is, and the like, should be allowed the privilege of deploying an infantry against street cars that won't stop on cold mornings. ... By all means people who look over your shoulder while you are trying to write should be hanged as spies. The mopping-up squad could be directed against the man who tells you about the tea holes-in-one he made in 1902, while you are concentrating on a putt. ... And keep the standing army in readiness to move against the big he-brute who says "Alrighty!" G. K. Chesterton suggests a statue of Sherlock Holmes be erected in England. He might pay the same honor to Senator Walsh. When King George was opening parliament he said the warships were being sent to China as a token of friendship. No wonder the Prince fell over his sword! The navy proposes to make the old frigate Constitution a floating museum. Better keep it handy, we may need that boat some day. We offer as today's miracle the man who played a piano for two days in Chicago and lives to play again. When Charley Hinger, the Illinois gangster, was locked up he was given a machine gun with which to "shoot himself." When a man is sentenced to hang in that country, they probably give him a horse. Every Headache Is A Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headaches is either nerve tension or strain. High nerve tension leads to high blood pressure, anoxia and serious injury to the nervous system. The best time you have a headache or neuralgic pain, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capadine in a little water. Being liquid Capadine acts almost instantly—in one-fifth the time required by tablets or powders. If the use of Capadine, as directed, does not give you full and permanent freedom from headaches, you may be sure that they are caused by some organic condition which should receive the attention of your oculist, dentist or family physician. Physicians and druggists recommend Capadine as the safe, quick and dependable agent for relieving nervous pains and high nerve tension. Every home should be supplied with Capadine. SAINT AND SINNER

BY ANNE AUSTIN COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA

FAITH'S eyes flew wide with interest and hope. "Has he had any luck yet? Does he know who wrote the letter?"

"Not so fast," she cautioned at her. "Churchill's had a special investigation. Crowell, I believe his name is, keeps ever court records with a finetooth comb. He has a list of about five possibilities—all cases in which Uncle Ralph defected but failed to get an acquittal. He dug into the records of from ten to fifteen years ago."

"But what will Churchill do now? The time is so short!" Faith cried desperately.

"Oh, he can't easily get a continuation to the next term of court," Bob reassured her. "But of course, none of us wants Cherry to stay in jail a day longer than is necessary. Crowell is going to make the rounds of the state prisons and then run down to Leavenworth if the prisons yield no clue."

"Have you seen Manning, the district attorney, the last few days?" Faith asked.

"He sent for me today," Bob acknowledged. "Wanted to question me about my testimony. You know, dear, I shall be called as a witness for the prosecution. It's inevitable. My testimony is absolutely required, since it was I who discovered the—the body. He knows I am friendly to the defense, naturally, and I have a hunch that he will keep me on the stand just as short a time as possible. Don't look like that, darling," he begged, reaching for her trembling hands.

Faith nodded, biting her lips. "I know you will do everything in the world you can to help Cherry, oh, by the way, I heard today that Mrs. Seymour Albright has arrived in New York on her way home from Switzerland. She'll be here for the trial."

"Good Lord," Bob groaned. "Why couldn't Aunt Alice have stayed in Switzerland?"

"She's probably interested in seeing her brother's murderer brought to justice," Faith said bitterly. "Of course she wants to believe that Cherry did it—she hated Cherry. Oh when I think of the whole clan lined up against one poor little frightened girl, all their millions thrown against her, to force her into the electric chair or prison for life—"

"You forget that she is young and beautiful—two weapons more powerful than any defense, except a murderer's confession, that Churchill could use against the prosecution," Bob reminded her. "And she is not friendless. George Pruitt came to me today and offered any sum up to ten thousand dollars—all of his personal fortune before he receives his inheritance from his father—to help clear her. If it is needed. He made it quite plain, however, that he was thinking of you, rather than of Cherry. He still loves you, Faith. I don't see why you poked me out when you could have had the only son-in-law the rich Lincoln Pruitts. Oh, forgive me, dearest! I'm not jealous, really. I'm pleased that others love you, so long as you are sure you want me."

Milk Is In A Class By Itself As A Food

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
 Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

MILK is said to be a perfect food. By this is meant that it contains all the essential elements, which if taken in sufficiently large amounts, allow normal growth and symmetrical development.

Health and even the maintenance of life itself may depend on the presence of certain indispensable constituents of life.

The adequacy of a food or of a diet depends on its containing:

1. Enough of the right sort of material to build up and repair the tissues of the body. The chief body-building substance is called protein. Milk, cheese, meat, fish and eggs furnish the most valuable forms of protein.
2. A variety of mineral substances, which are needed in the growth, maintenance and functioning of the parts of the body, such as the skeleton, lungs, brain, thyroid gland and muscles, and the blood and other body fluids.
3. An adequate amount of certain substances whose nature is not fully known but whose presence in the diet has been demonstrated to be necessary for health and energy. These are vitamins and in man. These substances, known as vitamins or accessory diet factors, are indispensable elements in food, although sometimes they are present only in minute amounts.
4. Enough material to furnish the energy required by the body. Fat, starch and sugar are the chief energy foods and these are transformed in the body into energy for its activities and into body heat. A large part of the protein in food is used, even during the growth period, for energy processes.
5. Only substances that are not poisonous to the average individual and that will allow normal digestive processes.

In addition, to be properly digested and of the utmost nutritive value, food should be of pleasing taste and of a consistency and appearance similar to other foods in customary use.

Clean milk fulfills all these requirements better than any other single article of food.

TREASURES FROM AN OLD HOMESTEAD

A sale! We stopped beside the road, lured by the magic that draws anyone in search of the "old."

I felt guilty the minute I stepped inside the house, where a kind little old lady had lived beside the road for over eighty years, and been a friend to man.

It was small and had been, this, before deserted by the tramping feet of strangers and the auctioneer's raucous voice. It had been more than tidy. It had been lovely!

The hall was wainscoted in paneled hued walnut, the little stair with its plain rail was simple and sweet.

In the parlor was the walnut organ kept for nearly seventy years without a scratch, and the horsehair set with which the little bride had gone to housekeeping. On the wall in an old frame was a steel engraving of the ten commandments. Illustrated and a sampler as perfect as the day. It was made "The Lord Will Provide." It said in tiny patient sentences:

An Old Spool Bed

On the porch were some things that had been sold, an old spinning wheel and an old "spool" bed. To me the greatest of all wonders was a trundle bed. Do you know what a trundle bed is? It is a little flat bed for the baby that can be pushed under the big bed in the daytime. Even the babies ruled in that would be old now.

Upholsterers, clocks, chests and lamps were waiting to be taken away. They had been sold, and the auctioneer was now selling the carpets on the floor.

Another Treasure

In a tiny black frame, tucked and abandoned in a corner of the bedroom, was a small engraved certificate that began, "I hereby certify that on the eighth day of June, in the year 1859, I joined in wedlock—"

I have the little walnut, horse-hair covered parlor set. The tiny sofa holds two. I look at the sofa and think of that little black frame, deserted and abandoned, with the words, "I do hereby certify that on the eighth day of June—"

I have not been able to sit in the little sofa yet.

ROTARIANS STAGE GOOD PROGRAM

Celebrating Washington's birthday and also the Twenty-second Anniversary of the Rotary club in the United States, a program appropriate to the occasion was rendered. Dean Gordon was in charge and spoke appropriately on why we celebrate birthdays, and especially the birth of Rotary.

Jim Kilpatrick, local attorney of the firm of Wilson, Kilpatrick and Randall spoke of "Rotary in America" giving a brief history of the organization and its accomplishments in the United States.

J. C. Granbery, head of the department of history in the Texas Technological college gave a splendid outline of the growth of Rotary in foreign fields, and looks forward to this organization as one of the outstanding forces to bring about world peace.

As a finale to the Rotary school which has been conducted during the last month, a set of questions was distributed at the luncheon today. At some meeting in the near future an oral examination will be held. It may be next Wednesday, or it may be a month away, but Rotarians are admonished to give this matter the attention it deserves, without delay, or they may regret their procrastination.

change in the situation that prompted the sending of additional naval forces to Nicaragua as a result of proposals of President Diaz for new treaty relations with the United States. Diaz's letter suggesting the new pact is not expected to reach Washington until after congress adjourns, but even if it arrived before then, there is no chance, according to informed officials, of the administration presenting such a treaty to the senate.

Proposal Is Outlined

An outline of the proposal made public in Managua last night by Diaz, disclosed that the United States is asked to protect the interest of Nicaragua for 100 years. The Washington government, under the plan, would retain the rights guaranteed by the Bryan-Chamorro treaty, including authority to build a canal across Nicaragua, and would be permitted to intervene in that country, when necessary to maintain an adequate and stable government and to assure free elections.

Attacking the American occupation of the Corinto-Managua railroad Dr. T. S. Vasa, confidential agent in Washington of the Nicaraguan liberal action asserted last night that it indicated Diaz' strength had reached its lowest ebb, and his jostling re-

$3,000 for His Discovery

Indigestion, constipation and their attendant ills respond quickly to a prescription known as "Gordon's," the discovery of a well-known Dallas pharmacist. "Gordon's" goes right to the seat of stomach and bowel troubles and relieves constipation, gas on the stomach, dyspepsia, heartburn, bloating after meals, excess acid, bad breath, sick headache, nervousness, tones up the digestive organs and stimulates the stomach and bowels to their normal functions.

"Gordon's" is sold by good druggists—$1.50 for 64 doses—less than 2 cents a dose. Your druggist will refund your money if one bottle fails to benefit. Ask for "Gordon's."—Adv.

Action Is Blocked
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22 (AP)—Administration senators temporarily blocked action today on Senator Borah's proposal that the senate foreign relations committee go on a tour this summer in Mexico and Nicaragua. Taking the view that the American government should be given an opportunity to say whether it thinks such a trip advisable in the situation, the administration bloc of the committee put through a motion under which the committee directed Senator Borah, as chairman to inquire whether Secretary Kellogg desires to appear and discuss the proposal.

The resolution will be taken up at another committee session tomorrow.

DAILY MARKET

Cotton Markets

NEW YORK COTTON NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 7 to 10 points. Early estimates placed the notices against March contracts in the neighborhood of 15,000 bales, but brokers supposed to be operating for important trade interests were ready buyers of March against sales of later deliveries, at about the recent differentials. This absorbed the near month offerings while there was buying of later months, promoted by reports of firmness in southern spot markets.

ATTEMPTS FAIL TO HALT SENATE DAM FILIBUSTER

would expedite action on the bill, because it would make impossible long filibusters such as that in progress in the senate.

Kendrick Opens Speech
When a quorum had assembled this morning Senator Kendrick, Wyoming, began an address on the importance of the Boulder canyon dam legislation to the states in the upper Colorado basin. The senate quickly emptied, but the galleries began to fill rapidly. During the early hours there has been but one spectator in the public gallery, Mrs. Johnson, wife of the California senator, who stayed throughout the night.

Filibuster Is Resumed
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—After an all-night session, during many hours of which less than half the membership was present, a quorum was secured in the senate at 9:07 o'clock this morning, and the filibuster against the Boulder canyon dam bill was resumed.

Those who had remained in the senate chamber in the long night vigil, during which the sergeant-at-arms sought valiantly to bring absentees to their desks, suffered good naturedly the joking remarks of their bright-eyed colleagues who strolled in one by one with a good night of sleep behind them.

No Warrants Served
Although a blanket warrant had been issued by the senate for the arrest of absentees, it was not served on any members.

When announcement was made that a quorum was present, Senator Phipps, Republican, Colorado, took up the fight against the measure which Senators Ashurst, Democrat, and Cameron, Republican, Arizona, had carried on throughout the night.

Other opponents of the bill were prepared to resist the Colorado senator. Senator Johnson, Republican, California, author of the bill, is trying to force a vote before adjournment tonight to prevent displacement of the measure.

Phipps States Stand
Senator Phipps declared that he was willing to vote for the bill, although it might react against companies in which he was personally interested, were he not opposed to the government's entry into the business of producing and manufacturing.

Under questioning by Senator Johnson the Colorado senator said he was a stockholder in the Nevada-Colorado electric company and a holding company interested in the producing electrical energy in the southwestern territory. Since coming to the senate he had taken no part in the debate of the measure, he said, but his son was manager of one of the companies.

Filibustering Determined
WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A tired but determined body of men yesterday went through the early hours of a prolonged senate session today watching with slim prospect of a let-up one of the greatest filibustering shows ever to be staged in that historic chamber.

The delaying tactics, launched by opponents of the Boulder canyon dam bill to prevent it reaching a vote here still under way at 7 a. m. at which time the senate had been in continuous session for twenty hours, except for a little more than three hours in the middle of the night when warrants were being served on absent members in the first of half a dozen efforts to obtain a quorum, and for the time required to hear President Coolidge's Washington birthday address at the joint session yesterday.

Twice the sergeant-at-arms was given a blanket warrant and ordered to arrest absentees as the senate sat yawning, unable to continue without a quorum and refusing to recess.

Johnson Is Fighter
Senator Johnson, republican California co-author of the bill, time and again mustered a bare majority to force the filibuster, led by Senators Cameron, republican, and Ashurst, Democrat, both of Arizona, to continue against time, but he was apparently leading a hopeless fight after failing to obtain a vote during the night, as the measure faces early displacement as the unfinished business of the senate.

It was found the senate completely deserted for the second time with a handful of sleepy senators in their seats, some still dressed in evening clothes, awaiting the leisure of their colleagues to complete a quorum. Only 28 answered "present" at 5 a. m. roll call, 20 less than was necessary.

While armed with warrants David S. Barry, the sergeant-at-arms, proceeded cautiously in the arrest of the absentees, never using force to compel attendance. Earlier in the morning he had obtained the presence of a sufficient number after three hours of telephoning and without serving a warrant. He again resorted to the telephone at 5 o'clock when Senator Ashurst permitted an interruption after two hours of speaking and many were found missing on a quorum roll.

Cameron Long Winded
Senator Cameron had carried on the filibuster in the first part of the night, speaking from 1:30 p. m., yesterday until 10:45 p. m. when Ashurst took up the fight against the bill. While Cameron read from voluminous reports and records, his colleague spoke extemporaneously during the long hours he held the floor.

The senate met yesterday at 11 o'clock and as it proceeded today without stop, one of the longest sessions of the body, if not the longest, was in prospect.

It was the first time that warrants for the arrest of absentees since 1915 when a filibuster was conducted against the Merchant Marine bill. The two long intermissions occasioned by the hunt for absentees left the senate helpless to do business and frequent factions suggestions gained only feeble laughter as senators shifted restlessly on the couches in cloak rooms.

Ma-field Is Quelled
While the senate sat idle during the first interim of the house awaiting a quorum, Ma-field, Democrat, Texas, sought unsuccessfully to bring up the administration prohibition reorganization bill and the measure to allow World War veterans loans on their bonus insurance certificates from other sources than banks. It was held the senate could not transact no business without a quorum.

Senator Ashurst withstood half a dozen attempts to halt the filibuster and served notice he would not yield "for any motion of any kind so long as this bill is before the senate."

GAS PROPOSAL

the meeting of the commission tomorrow. This company, according to Mr. Ash, has agreed to build a pipeline with all new equipment that would be given a thorough test before it is covered. The line would be of sufficient capacity to serve a city several times the size of Lubbock, in addition to other towns affected by the line, possibly as far as 14 miles in diameter. From the field to this city, it was said.

Industrial Rate Lower
Backers of the project propose to bring the gas here at the same rate as the McMahon contract for domestic purposes, but offer to give a much lower rate for industrial uses than the other proposal. The project already has financial backing, Mr. Ash said, and he offers to make proof to this assertion to any individual who is interested.

While city officials apparently feel that the McMahon interest have not met in every phase the terms of their contract, they feel also that under the circumstances, the firm should be given every opportunity to complete its plans. The franchise granted Mr. McMahon and associates last fall expired January 1, but a 90 day extension was granted. According to recent information from Mr. McMahon, he is prepared in every way now to proceed with his outline plans, and has said he will be here next week to meet city officials and others interested to show them every proof that he is ready to go on with the project.

It apparently was the sense of the commission today that no definite action will be taken on the new proposal pending more definite information from holders of the present franchise. The new proposal, however, will be up for discussion tomorrow.

McMahon Is Ready
Actual construction operations will be started in the very near future on the gas line between the Panhandle oil fields and Lubbock, to serve all intervening towns, according to Mr. W. Graves, of Amarillo, representative of the Texas Gas company, headed by A. J. McMahon and associates, who was here today.

The delay in construction operations has been occasioned by the inability of the company to get delivery of pipe for the project, together with investigations of financing interests in connection with the future development of the section to be served, as to whether or not the line as originally planned is ample to care for expected development.

McMahon Here Soon
Mr. Graves said the project is financially backed, and has been for some time; that Mr. McMahon and representatives of general contractors on the project, engineers for banking interests financing the job, and others interested in the project will be here next week for a conference with city officials; and that at this time, Mr. McMahon will be in position to announce the date of beginning of operations.

The line as originally planned has been checked up by engineers of banking firms to be inadequate to serve the territory, Mr. Graves said, and the estimates on the project place the total expenditures at approximately $6,000,000, including distribution systems at the various affected points, under the increased facilities as recommended by the engineers.

Size of Pipe Increased
The line as now planned to be laid is to be 16 inch from the field to Amarillo, 14 inch from Amarillo to Plainview, 12 inch from Plainview to Lubbock, and 8 inch to Staton and 10 inch east of Plainview. Such a line, with two booster stations, will supply 25,000,000 cubic feet of gas for daily consumption here he said. The booster stations will be at the field and at Plainview.

The field from which the gas will be produced is in the northern portion of Potter county, owned by Lee Ivins, of Amarillo, and on the tract a well was brought in the past few days with a 50,000,000 cubic feet production. This well with others on the tract is adequate to supply gas in quantity that leaves no doubt as to whether it will meet requirements.
