Technicality Causes Ward Murder Trial to Be Postponed

SHERIFF HAYS OF RUSK COUNTY IS FINED BY JUDGE

Hays Failed to Make Return on Court Subpoenas

Sheriff George B. Hays of Rusk county was fined $100 for contempt of court by District Judge Charles L. Klapproth today when it was found that the East Texas official had failed to make returns on subpoenas of several material witnesses in the trial of John Ward for murder.

The case was passed to July 30, or two weeks from today, by Judge Klapproth and all witnesses and veniremen were instructed to appear in court at 10 o'clock on that morning.

Witnesses on which the sheriff at Henderson had failed to make returns all were defense witnesses. They included Will Pope, Joe Barton, Will Carbo, Mart Ashley and Mrs. M. L. Ward, all of Henderson. Another defense witness, Ross Martin, was found, after being called, to be in an asylum. Mrs. Lim Cook, defense witness, was found to be absent because she was unable to finance the trip here and instructions were given Sheriff Francis by the judge to make such provisions when the trial is called July 30.

The state had announced ready after District Attorney Bob Hamilton had called the name of numerous witnesses. He has George W. Dunaway and John Little and W. H. Hays in the case. The defense is represented by Joseph A. Seymour and C. W. Tate.

GOVERNOR'S RACE IS STILL NEBULOUS

AUSTIN, July 16. (P)—Pencils are being worn short and much mid-air oil has been spilled in politics get down to what seems to them the extremely serious business of plotting the courses of the respective candidates to determine the outcome of the current campaign.

Persons less interested speculate mildly and wonder how the races will come out but those who work in politics get down to what seems to them the extremely serious business of plotting the courses of the respective candidates to determine the outcome of the current campaign.

Near Distraction, Parents Spur Search for Their Missing Child; Have Little for Ransom

Here is the modest seven-room Hartsdale Manor, N. Y., from which 18-month-old Robert Connor vanished mysteriously while playing with a neighborhood companion. Not far away are the country homes of Felix Warburg, Adolph Lewinsohn and Dudley Field Malone.

Would he pay a ransom? "I don't know where I'd get it. I'm just working for a small salary for the State Department of Insurance." So Charles H. Connor, father of missing Bobby Connor, told reporters outside his Hartsdale Manor, N. Y., home, where he is now shown.

Near hysteria after the disappearance of her son, Bobby, Mrs. Charles H. Connor peers anxiously into the hedges of her Hartsdale Manor home in search of a clue that may lead to his whereabouts. Mrs. Connor, the daughter of a former police commissioner of Bridgeport, Conn., has four other children.

Candidate for Railroad Commissioner, John Pundt, in Critical Condition After Wreck

Most Candidates for Governor Say They Favor a Separate Texas Oil Commission

TYLER, July 16. (P)—The majority of Texas candidates for governor have committed themselves to "shape up" the state system of oil control.

C. C. McDonald today wired Carl Estes, Tyler publisher, that he is for "creation of a separate oil and gas commission" to regulate the industry, divorced from the railroad commission.

Estes Saturday asked the candidates for their stand on the proposed new body.

Tom Hunter wired that he is for "creation of a governor's cabinet of five to seven members" to assume and coordinate the duties of all commissions, boards and departments.

Maury Hughes and Clint Small previously had declared for a separate control group. James V. Allred and Edgar Witt were as yet uncommitted.

Midland Appears "In" as Snyder Is Clean-Swept

Midland virtually clinched this season's Sand Belt Golf association, Sunday, by clean-sweeping Snyder, fall-end, 32-8.

The sweep is the third of the season for the link stars of Midland.

Results of other clubs were not to be had.

Boys Well Cared For at Boy Scout Camp, It Is Proved

How well are boy scouts cared for in summer encampment? Sunday's swimming period furnishes an answer.

The "buddy system" reported a boy missing. He had dived into the pool and observers, keeping a close watch, reported he had not come to the surface.

Scout Executive A. C. Williamson of Sweetwater coolly took charge. A brief order was issued, all boys lined up and marched to their huts, a hurried moment elapsed while Williamson gave orders what sector of the pool each life guard was to dive into and the search was on.

A scout was dispatched from the huts to say the missing scout had been found in the encampment—having broken orders and gone to get first aid treatment for a skinned wrist, getting away from his buddy and emerging from the pool behind vegetation.

In the brief time his guards were in the pool they had covered every part of it and would have found the scout had he been there. Midland visitors to the site said.

The camp at Merizon is the largest camp ever held by troops of the Buffalo Trails council, according to John P. Howe of Midland, who inspected the camp Sunday. Howe said there is a total of 184 boy scouts in camp. Of this number 23 are from Midland.

Howe inspected the camp site in conjunction with officials from the Concho Valley council of boy scouts.

CLOVIS, N. M., FEUD IS IN COURTS AGAIN

CLOVIS, N. M., July 16. (P)—The famous Tate-Bohannon feud which has punctuated the quiet of eastern New Mexico at intervals for eight years, will find its way into the courts again July 23 when the Bohannon brothers—Carsey, Bee and Louis—go to trial for the slaying of Vernon Tate, former Clovis auctioneer, last February 12.

Tate, the victim of the last outbreak, was tried here in 1930 for the slaying of G. C. Bohannon and his son, Carl, father and brother of the Bohannans now facing trial.

Trouble between the families first started at a basketball game in the Ranchvale community west of Clovis. The Bohannon boys engaged in a fist fight. A year or so later the elder Tate and the Bohannon boys quarreled at a country store the argument ending in gun play. One of the Bohannans lost a finger.

The smoldering hatred flamed anew in 1930 when Tate and the elder Bohannon accompanied by his youngest son, Carl, met in front of the Citizens bank of Clovis. Both of the Bohannans were slain. Tate was acquitted.

It was at the same bank corner this year that Tate was slain. He died with his gun in his hands. Two of his slayers hid in the same bank vault where he had taken refuge during the gun fight with the elder Bohannon four years before.

Everett Grantham, who as an assistant district attorney aided in the prosecution of Tate, will defend the Bohannans. District Attorney J. C. Compton of Pecos, who led the prosecution in the former trial will represent the state again assisted this time by his brother, C. M. Compton, a former district attorney.

It has been announced that Judge Joseph L. Dailey of Albuquerque will preside at the trial, defense counsel asking that District Judge Harry L. Patton be disqualified.

Gardner, Mrs. Mix Win Mixed Foursome

F. D. Gardner and Mrs. C. A. Mix were winners Sunday in the second mixed handicap Scotch foursome directed by the Midland Women's Golf association. Their gross score, 53, was equalled by E. Russell Lloyd and Mrs. Frances Al. Covington and Roy McKee holds a one point allowed the Gardner-Mix team to cop.

Bill Bailey was paired with Mrs. Frank Aldrich, and Mr. Aldrich with Mrs. Sandy Auchterlonie.

TWIN COLTS BORN

SILVERTON, Ore. (P)—The Dionne quintuplets admittedly are entitled to international acclaim, but local folk believe the twin colts belonging to Harry Sanerud, farmer, should be publicized too. Twin colts are rare. Like the quintuplets, the twin stallions are progressing nicely too.

TROOPS RUSHED TO FRISCO; ALARMING SPREAD INDICATED

WASHINGTON, July 16. (P)—The United States government was prepared today to guarantee that none in the San Francisco strike would go hungry, although it considered the strike strictly a local problem.

The matter of moving provisions into the area would be of interstate commerce significance, therefore under government control.

By UNITED PRESS

San Francisco's general strike was called today as militia stood guard. Twenty thousand union men joined 20,000 already on strike in the bay area, paralyzing a territory in which live a total of 1,250,000 people.

No transportation of any kind was available, and hundreds of shops closed. Four thousand militiamen were rushed into the city, and 2,000 more were expected.

Public officials issued stirring calls to the citizenry to stand by organized government and promised rights and lives will be protected.

Violations broke out in several sections of the city. Trucks were overturned, one cafe operator was beaten, restaurant windows were smashed, and the communist headquarters was wrecked.

Only 19 restaurants were open, under permits by the strike committee, and police feared food riots would result.

At Houston, Texas, police were forced to clear docks of picketers. An attempt to restore order was made following the death of three negro independent longshoremen and the wounding of four persons when union men fired on a truckload of independents which passed the picket line Sunday. Three union men were charged with murder.

At San Antonio, 8,000 peon shells, 60 per cent of them women and girls, struck when their employers refused to raise the piece-work rate.

Portland, Ore., faced a general tieup.

New York labor leaders threatened to call a general shipping strike in sympathy with west coast strikers.

Minneapolis truckers are to strike tonight.

President Green, Federation of Labor chieftain, said the San Francisco strike will be long drawn out.

"I can see no prospect for an immediate settlement," he said.

At Washington, the labor department and the new labor relations board maintained a hands-off policy, hoping the president's special mediation board might bring a settlement in the San Francisco rioting.

Condition of Creek Remains Unchanged

Irbin Creek, about 70, oldtimer ranchman, was ill at his home, 702 N. Main today, following a chill contracted Sunday night. He suffered lapse of consciousness, it was reported, and his condition early this afternoon was unchanged. It was feared pneumonia might result.

167 Attend Class Lecture Sunday

Attendance at the Men's class of Hotel Scharbauer Sunday was 167. The south side led by Carl W. Covington and Roy McKee holds a sizeable lead in the contest which ends Sunday. A barbecue will be given at Cloverdale. The winning side gets ice cream.

Misses Vivian and Joan Arnett sang a duet. S. M. Francis broke all group attendance records when he brought in nearly a score of men and boys.

PIONEER 101 YEARS OLD

KELSO, Wash. (P)—Samuel Gatton, pioneer and Indian war veteran, observed his 101st birthday this month.

BONNER BEATEN IN ROBBERY TRY

WELLINGTON, July 16. (P)—John Bonner, theatre manager here, was beaten into unconsciousness late Saturday night by an unidentified man, who attacked and attempted to rob him as he left the Ritz theatre.

The assailant fled when he noticed that Cecil Wilson, Bonner's assistant, still was in the theatre office. Bonner regained consciousness within a few minutes and was found to have suffered a minor cut on the head when the man struck him from behind. His condition was not critical.

The attack was the third attempt to rob the theatre in the last 20 days. On the night of July 3 burglars entered the office and stole open the safe with nitroglycerine, but the burglarproof interior prevented them from gaining access to the money box.

On the night of July 10, burglars entered the theatre and broke into a filing cabinet, obtaining $25, but failed in an attempt to enter the safe.

BONNER OPERATED THEATRES HERE

John Bonner for three years operated theatres in Midland, moving from Midland to Wellington in January, 1933. Bill Blair succeeded him, leaving in August after eight months as manager of the Yucca theatre. Hal Grady, present manager, have here Aug. 8.

Bonner began operating the Grand later managing the Ritz, the Yucca and a second-run show, the Palace.

Cowboy Is Victim Of His Own Loop

Buck Sandlin, Pecos county cowboy was injured painfully Tuesday morning when he was the victim of his own rope in an unusual accident while working on the Ben Mayes ranch 7 miles west of Fort Stockton.

Just as Sandlin started to rope a steer his horse started pitching and threw him. The loop intended for the steer settled around his own neck in the mix-up, and the other end of the rope became coiled and securely fastened about the saddle horn at the same time. His horse started to run and dragged him fifty feet before being stopped.

Fortunately Sandlin was not working alone, and Chico Brown quickly caught the horse and released the entangled rider. His face was black as a result of suffocation. Sandlin was taken to Fort Stockton for medical treatment and was recovering nicely this week.

WE CAN'T ALL ESCAPE FROM WORLD AFFAIRS

When you look around at the troubled state of the nation these days, it is pretty easy to feel a lot of envy for Rockwell Kent, the artist.

Mr. Kent is off for Greenland, no less, where he is going to hole up with his Eskimo friends for an indefinite period. He has a little island up there, and while he is on it Mr. Kent won't have to worry about the New Deal, the high cost of living, the danger of war, or any of the other things that we stay-at-homes have to worry about.

"The real reason for my liking Greenland is not the things it has, but the things it hasn't got," he explains. "Up there you don't have to fight with railroads because they try to discontinue service on your branch. There are no political machines with funny bosses and a corrupt party system that makes you sick. The people leave you alone, and when you want anything they try to help."

All of which sounds pretty attractive, in these parlor times. Being surrounded by a sea of troubles, most of us have only two alternatives—to take up arms against them, or to grin doggedly and try to bear them. Mr. Kent has found a third—to get away from them and forget all about them, and his solution looks uncommonly attractive.

Unfortunately, however, it is the kind of thing that works only for the artist. Mr. Kent, being an artist, is one of the few genuine individualists left in the world; as such, he can lie himself to a lonely northern island and let the world go by with a clear conscience.

The rest of us are not so lucky. We may want to escape from the problems of every-day life, but we can't. We try hard enough, heaven knows—not by going off to Greenland, but by interesting ourselves in other things, such as baseball, races and summer novels and camping trips and golf scores; but it's a futile effort, and in the end the world forces itself on our attention whether we like it or not.

For no matter how abstract these problems may seem—problems like the virtues and defects of the profit system, or the armaments race, or the agricultural depression, or the evils of modern political machines—sooner or later they have a way of getting personal and affecting the money we earn or the prices we pay for things or our right to keep on living a moderately happy life.

We can't run away from them, no matter how far we go. We have to stick around, worry our heads off about them, and do our bit in the great job of finding a solution for them.

RELIEF AT LAST

President Roosevelt's Caribbean visit is a welcome reminder of the fact that the American government is at last tackling the task of rehabilitating the economic conditions of the people who live on the island of Puerto Rico.

These islanders welcomed American occupation at the close of the Spanish war; and yet, in the years since then, their membership in the American community has not done as much for them as they might reasonably have expected.

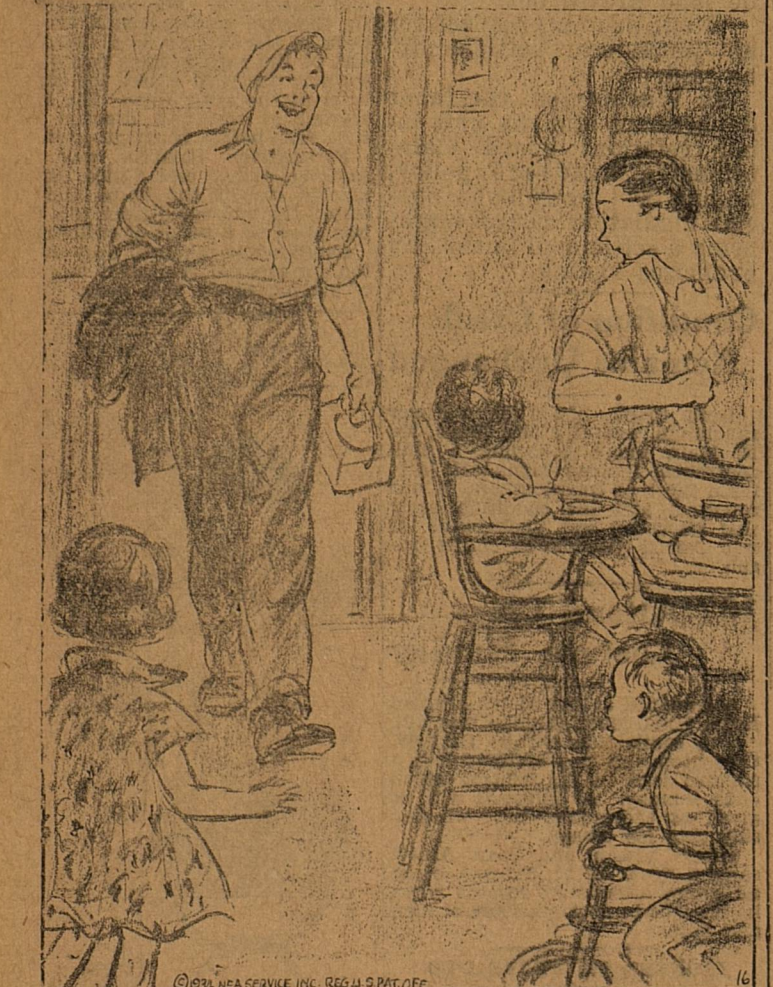

In recent years, especially, things have been pretty tough for many of them.

Now, in the wake of the president's visit, a committee of representatives from the U. S. Agriculture, Interior, and Treasury Departments, and the federal relief agencies, is in Puerto Rico to formulate a long-range program for the island's economic restoration.

Considerable funds are at the committee's disposal; out of its work should come measures which will make the famous American standard of living a reality for the people of the island.

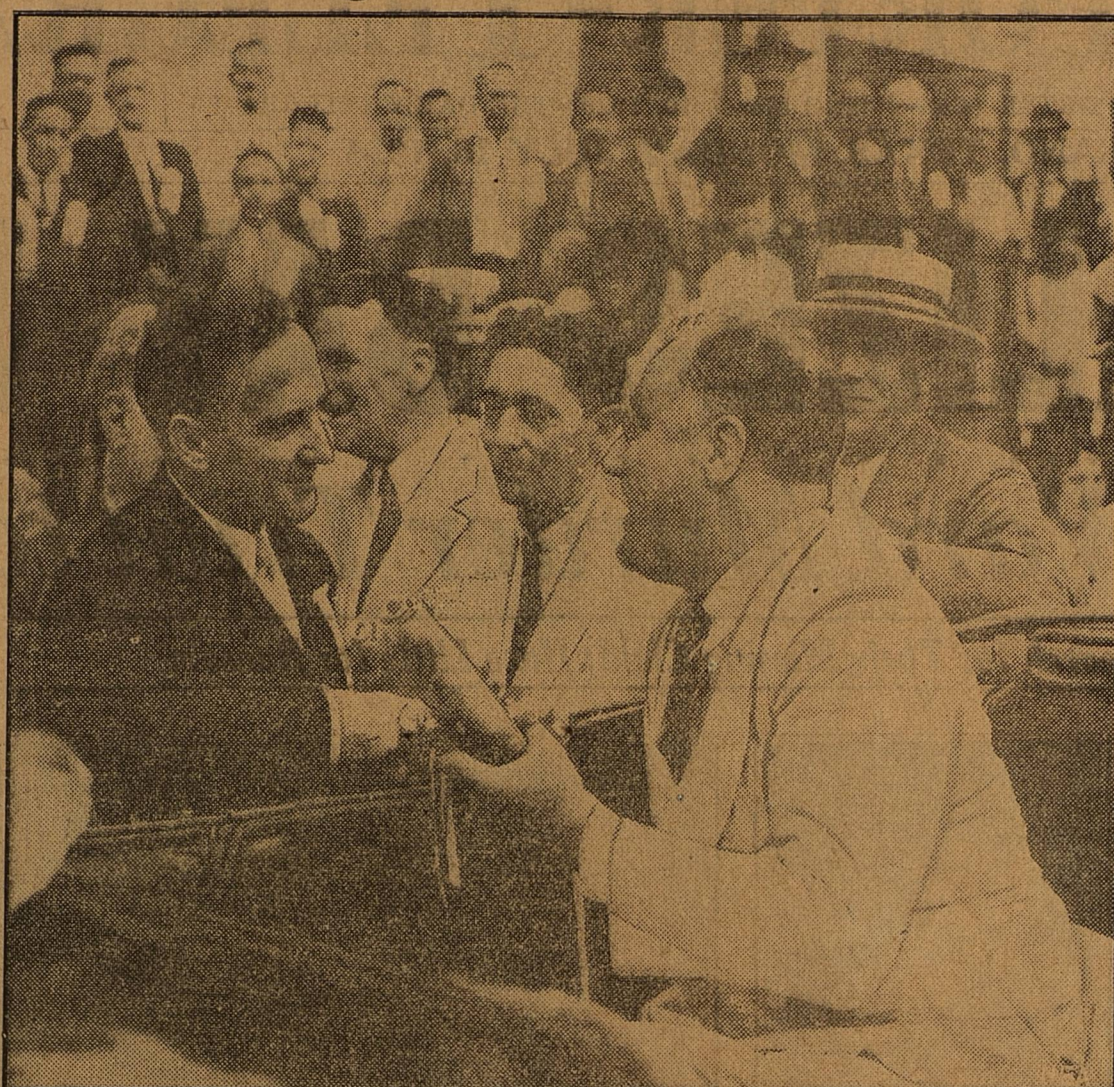

Dillinger is yellow, says a former convict who knows him, and the bandit will surrender when surprised. But how to surprise him!

Side Glances by Clark

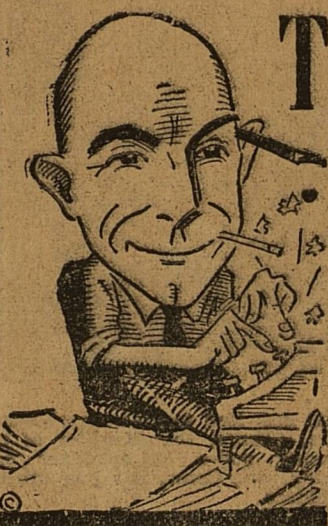

"Well, I certainly told the boss where to get off today."

Welcoming the President to Puerto Rico

While Puerto Ricans crowd the steps of the City Hall to watch, this was the scene as President Roosevelt was welcomed to Mayaguez by Senator Vardoe (left), leader of the island's majority party. The President is shown holding a scroll of welcome presented to him by a local society beauty.

The Town Quack

(Reserves the right to "quack" about everything with taking a stand on anything.)

I've heard a lot of comment about the destroying of cattle under the government's purchasing plan. Some say it isn't right. However, from the producer's standpoint it is a fine thing. Those cancer-eyed and lump-jawed cows would sell as eaters but they wouldn't pay the freight. When the government buys them the carcasses are killed, the rancher gets a little clear money, he gets to sell the hide and to use any of the meat he believes to be good. But he can't sell the meat or give it away. It must be used on his own premises.

The better cattle bought by the government are shipped to the federal packing plants and canned. Some say this meat ought to be distributed to the needy while it is fresh.

Old Tack, in the Amarillo Globe, says there are 800 employees in the plant at Amarillo. He cites some reasons why the government finds it more advisable to can the meat than to distribute it fresh.

One of the reasons the government is canning the meat is to avoid bitter feeling and resentment that would inevitably result from the distribution of fresh meat. In fact, it was tried several places and it did not work out. It was tried out with cured pork and there was much dissatisfaction among those who received it. Supposing for an example, that the government was to distribute a whole carcass of fresh beef. Some necessarily would receive the tenderloin and the roast and others would have to take the rump steak or the neck or the shoulder. And those who got the tough meat sure would set up an awful holler, charging discrimination. And so the welfare officials decided to can the meat and the plant is working out nicely. It's made into hamburger and stew. And it's mighty palatable and mighty good eating.

18 S. E. COUNTIES ARE DROUGHT HIT

HOUSTON, July 15. (U.P.)—Farmers in 18 southeast Texas counties are facing one of the most serious situations in recent years as a result of a drought that has lasted more than six weeks.

Many of the farmers who have not found it necessary even during depression years to ask crop loans, already have begun to make inquiries at the Production Credit Corporation about loans to carry them through the period which summer crops ordinarily would finance.

Unless the drought, which has extended over the entire Middle West practically all summer, but which began to show its effect here only six weeks ago, is definitely broken within the next 10 days, many ranchers in the vicinity of Lafayette county, west of here, will have to sell their cattle, as the ranges are beginning to suffer as well as the crops.

The feed crop, including corn and grain solvents, will be an 80 per cent loss, Manager J. I. McGregor of the Production Credit corporation estimated.

Dan Clinton, Harris county agricultural agent, estimated the corn crop in this vicinity was 65 per cent less already and other cultivated crops were about the same figure.

This figure amounts to a tremendous loss to farmers because the acreage planted in that crop was increased this year by at least 15 per cent, he said.

Cotton has withstood the drought successfully in all cases except where it was planted very late, according to reports from this section.

Truck gardens, an important business in many of these and surrounding counties, are ruined except where the growers had private irrigation arrangements, Clinton said.

The only thing that actually saved the truck garden was the fact that the bulk of his crops already had been marketed before the drought set in, Clinton said. "The real damage comes in on the second crops, which have only recently been planted. These are practically a total loss."

The fig crop has been severely damaged.

No estimate of the amount of the crop losses in dollars and cents could be obtained at this time, Clinton said.

The stricken section in southeast Texas is the territory west from Orange county to Lafayette, and southward to Calhoun county.

Midland Girls

At Waldemar Visit At San Antonio

Among the Camp Waldemar girls making an all day sightseeing trip to San Antonio, July 13, were Miss Evelyn Phillips and Miss Freda Rae Turner, Midland.

They visited the Alamo, the Spanish governor's palace, the old missions and many other historic and interesting places. Late in the afternoon they were guests at a at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson and Miss Mary Johnson, a fifth year camper at Waldemar. Both Miss Phillips and Miss Turner are popular campers at Waldemar. Miss Phillips is a member of the Comanche rifle team and she and Miss Turner were both selected to ride in the horse show, on July 4. Miss Turner, who is a junior camper, recently won second place in the junior free style swimming and first in the junior plunge for distance. She also appeared July 9 in a play, "The Fairy Wood."

Canned Vegetables Scored at Meeting

Scoring canned vegetables and fruit was the program of the Busy Bee Home Demonstration club meeting Friday at the home of Mrs. P. P. Barber. Corn, beans, pickles and peans were scored.

The A. and M. short course program was outlined by Miss Myrtle Miller, county agent.

A brief social hour followed, during which refreshments were served to Misses A. L. Hallman, Leonard Hallman, G. C. Driver, W. B. Driver, R. O. Brooks, O. M. Tyner, C. C. Carden, S. D. Wimberly, S. H. Gwyn, and Davis, Misses Miller and Bertha Godde.

SILVER COINS UNEARTHED

DRESDEN, Tenn. (U.P.)—A pile of silver coins of comparatively large denominations was unearthed here recently by a man digging worms for fishing bait. Ownership was not clear, but the best guess was that some Southerner buried his fortune before the fedrals came in the war between the states, and then died, or was killed.

Only four emperors are left in the world: Hirohito of Japan, Kang Whi of Manchukuo, George V of Great Britain, and Haile Selassie of Ethiopia.

ROBBERY VICTIM WAS NUDIST

ST. LOUIS, (U.P.)—It was 4 a. m. A drowsy sandwich shop attendant turned to greet a customer. To his amazement he saw a man utterly nude, but not, he later explained, a nudist. He had been robbed by a negro in an alley, he said, and was forced to disrobe. A phone call brought friends to the rescue.

BEGINNER'S LUCK

CLINTON, Conn. (U.P.)—Edward Fitzpatrick is a firm believer in beginner's luck. While seasoned fishermen complained of small catches, Fitzpatrick, casting a line for the first time, landed a 14-pound striped bass. It took him an hour to pull it into the boat.

STORK VISITED DOCTOR

MISSION, Tex. (U.P.)—Dr. A. D. Wilson raced the stork to the Paul Wycoff home and won. But while the medic was ushering Paul Wycoff, Jr., into the world, the stork took a shortcut to the doctor's house. Dr. Wilson arrived home to find himself the father of a five and a half pound baby girl. Dr. W. E. Whigham of McAllen, answering a hurry call, was present at the birth of his colleague's daughter.

WHITE BOSTON BULL BORN

ROCKVILLE, Conn. (U.P.)—A pure white pup, except for a black stubby tail, was among a litter of five born to Queen, pedigree Boston bull dog, owned by Mrs. Benjamin Lisk. A white Boston bull is considered rare.

FISHBALS WON PRIZE

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (U.P.)—Baseballs, tennis balls, footballs and basketballs are usual enough in most schools but along came Miss Dora P. Brinsmade, high school English teacher, with fishballs. She won a hooking school prize for the most tasty fishballs.

Clyde E. Thomas FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

In presenting to the public what the home folks think of Mr. Clyde E. Thomas, as candidate for District Judge, it is not intended to try to put him over as a local candidate; we believe, however, it is our duty, since we best know him, to testify as to his personality and qualifications.

He was our Prosecuting Attorney for two terms, some years ago, and afterwards Mayor for two terms, not having run for a third term, and his record in such offices has proved him to be a man of ability, honesty and highly patriotic motives. It is the respect and confidence of the people of Howard County in Mr. Thomas that has always given him a vote of more than 2 to 1 over his opponents.

Mr. Thomas graduated at the Rogers High School in Bell County, working for his board, and during the summer working as "snipe" on the Santa Fe Railway; when he entered the University of Texas, he waited on the table at B Hall for his board, and after he obtained his Academic education he began the study of law, but was unable to complete the full Law Course in School and obtain his law degree, but took the Bar Examination and received his license to practice law. Upon this examination he made a grade slightly more than a general average of 92%.

Mr. Thomas has been an active member of the church all his life, having served as Sunday School Teacher and Superintendent of the Sunday School and Member of the Official Board; and all of his family are members of the church.

Judge Thomas has probably had more actual courtroom practice, in the Trial Courts, and in the Courts of Appeal, and Supreme Court, than perhaps any lawyer in West Texas. He is qualified for the position as District Judge, as to character, as to maturity, and temperament, and as to both education and experience.

He often points out that he is not a "local" candidate, that his home and professional work are in the 70th Judicial District composed of the five Counties. From such doctrine it logically follows that he is not especially appealing to the citizens of Howard County alone, and it may be well said that if any candidate for District Judge appeals to the local vote of his own County, purely as a "local" candidate, that he is entitled only just to the vote of his own County, and no more.

We have hesitated, therefore, in deference to Mr. Thomas' views along this line in placing before the voters, outside of Howard County, the testimony as to his good character, ability and fitness for the office, but since we, his neighbors, know him best, we believe it our duty to speak, and hence a few of us do so through the columns of this splendid Midland paper.

OIL NOTES

By F. D. GARDNER
A test was expected to be run today on the C. J. Red Davidson well. The well was shut in last Tuesday after being shot, the rest of the week being taken up with the installation of tanks and separator.

Humble No. 1 Means, after cementing in the special 6 5/8-inch casing, drilled out the plugs and found the job to be successful. It drilled ahead four feet and is coring today at 4091 feet. This test is in Andrews county, 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 2, block A-35, public school land survey.

R. E. King, district geologist for the Magnolia company, has been transferred to South America and will sail from New York Aug. 3.

Continental's Borden county wildcat, No. 1 Johnson, 660 feet from the south and east lines of section 34, block 32, township 4 north, T. & P. Railway survey, topped the anhydrite at 960 feet. It is drilling at the present at a depth of 1440 feet.

At last reports the York & Harper No. 1 Bates, 663 feet from the north line and 666 feet from the east line of section 38, block 44, township 2 south, T. & P. Railway survey, Ector county, was drilling at a depth of 4245 feet.

E. W. Owen, with headquarters in San Antonio, division geologist for the Wertz Oil corporation, is in Midland for a few days on company business.

The names of the companies interested in the Currie et al No. 1 Calverly test, 320 feet from the north and east lines of section 24, block 36, township 4 south, T. & P. Railway survey, Glasscock county, have been announced. They are as follows: the Shell Petroleum corporation, the Argo Royalty company, the Simms Petroleum company, the Saltmount Oil company, the Honolulu Oil Corporation, Ltd., and the Darby Oil company.

An interesting new test is the R. S. Mathews et al No. 1 Evans in Winkler county. This wildcat, located about 5 1/2 miles west of the Red Davidson well in Ector county, was spudded July 10. Its location is 1320 feet from the north and west lines of section 46, block 73, public school land survey.

At latest reports, the Honolulu No. 1 J. E. Parker, 1470 feet from the south line and 1470 feet from the west line of section 7, block A-44, public school land survey, Andrews county, was drilling in red beds at 1245 feet.

AGAINST DAYLIGHT SAVING
ST. LOUIS, (U.P.)—Opposition of moving pure theater owners, labor union groups and the Municipal Theater association, which conducts the outdoor Municipal opera in Forest park here, resulted this year in defeat of a bill to provide daylight saving time for St. Louis. It died by unanimous vote of the public welfare committee of the board of Aldermen.

NEGROES WIN AND OTHER CLUBS LOSE

The record of the Black Colts, negro baseball club, was added to Sunday afternoon when they slugged out a 7-2 win over a club from Tahoka.

Chino Moreno hurried for the Colts and held the visitors nicely. He was relieved in later innings by Capt. Brown.

The Colts, who have won 14 and lost two games this season, scored one run in the third and one in the fourth innings, and cut loose in the eighth with five. The brace of Tahoka runs was made in the fifth inning.

Dodson and Batie hit home runs, Asky and Powell triples and Morales and Brown doubles.

COLTS, RINKEYDINKS GET SUNDAY PASTINGS

The league-leading Odessa club administered a shutout to the Midland Colts at Odessa, tabulating 8 runs.

Municipal park, a Grandfalls club scored 7 runs while the Howard Brothers' make-up team was garnering only 4.

Personals

C. C. Duffey caught the morning American Airways ship at Big Spring this morning for Columbus, Ohio. Members of his family could not be reached so his mission is not known.

Miss Ida Beth Cowden has returned from Austin, where she attended Texas university, to spend the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elliott F. Cowden.

J. C. Rice of El Paso is a business visitor in Midland today.

Miss Jean Yates has returned from Clondorff, where she spent her vacation.

Miss Dorris Hillyar left today for Waco, where she will spend a two-weeks vacation.

Real, Human Story Makes Best Film, Holds Don Woods

Donald Woods, who plays in his first picture as the leading man opposite Jean Muir in the Warner Bros. picture, "As the Earth Turns," now showing at the RITZ theatre, has made a careful study of story trends. He believes that stories and dramas with simple, wholesome, genuinely human qualities, such as the plot of "As the Earth Turns," are sure of a warm reception from the theatre-going public, and particularly this season.

"No story for years has portrayed with such vividness and fidelity to fact the life of the New England farmer as it really is," said Woods, "with its joys, its difficulties, its compensations, its romance and drama set forth in Gladys Hasty Carroll's novel."

"I have played more than two hundred roles of every conceivable nature on the stage before coming to Hollywood, and no part I have ever had afforded me greater satisfaction than the role of the young Polish boy who feels that his destiny is on the farm, tilling the soil as his forefathers did before him. The very fact that this novel was a best seller upholds my contention."

Jean Muir has the role of a farmer's daughter in this idyl of American life. Arthur Hill, David Landau, Sarah Padden, Egon Brecher, Dorothy Peterson, Emily Lowry, Dorothy Appleby, William Janney and Clara Blandick have other important roles.

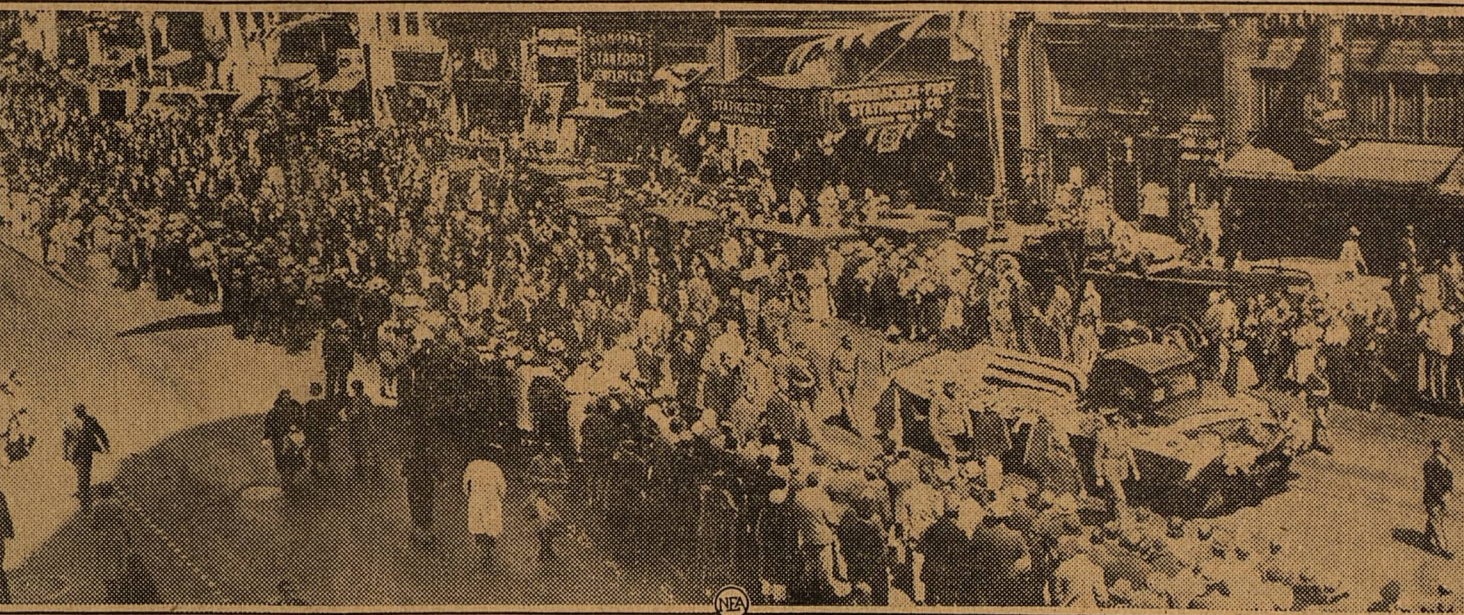

Wheeler, Woolsey Put 'em in Aisles At Yucca Theatre

Answering the demands of critics and fans for a film musical in the true sense of the word, the Yucca theatre will present "Cockeyed Cavaliers" today and Tuesday, starring Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey, with Thelma Todd and Dorothy Lee, in this RKO-Radio picture.

Directed by Mark Sandrich, "Cockeyed Cavaliers" employs the same unique technique he applied to "So This Is Harris," Motion Picture Academy prize-winner. Dialogue, sound effects, songs and incidental music occur as integral parts of a continuous symphony. Such bits as horse tails swishing, coach wheels grinding, hunters singing and animals grunting blend with the specially written melodies and dance routines by a galaxy of feminine pulchritude in continual rhythm.

Pursuing the trend of costume pictures, "Cockeyed Cavaliers" presents Wheeler and Woolsey as two erring knights of old carrying on with ultra modern melodies and comedy. Bert and Bob fall in with petite Dorothy Lee, who is eluding a forced marriage to a duke and masquerading as a boy. They crash the noble's palace and meet Thelma Todd. Dot and Bert and Thelma and Bob pair off into romances which are charged with sheer fun. The comedy reaches a hilarious pitch when the boys capture an escaped wild boar and receive a reward sufficient to take Dorothy out of pawn to the duke. "Cockeyed Cavaliers" features

40,000 MARCH AT FUNERAL OF DOCK STRIKE VICTIMS

Honoring two strikers shot down in the riots between police and striking longshoremen and their sympathizers, 40,000 marched in the mile-long procession that followed the bodies from union headquarters to a San Francisco funeral parlor. The procession, a section of which is shown here, was one of the largest ever seen in the coast city, with World War veterans forming a guard of honor for the two victims.

The Reichswehr Steps Out for a Royal Visitor

An event that helped divert German minds from the grim events of the Roehm revolt was the visit to President Von Hindenburg of the King and Queen of Siam. One of the colorful Berlin ceremonies in the tiny monarch's honor is pictured here as an honor company of the Reichswehr goose-steps smartly by the royal reviewer in front of the Monument to the Unknown Soldier.

MARINE CORPS TO TAKE ENLISTMENT

NEW ORLEANS—Until congress passed the naval appropriation bill providing funds to maintain the U. S. marine corps at its normal strength, the marine corps did not have the funds to keep its ranks filled. The new appropriations will enable the marine corps to fill the vacancies which occurred during the period of enforced economy.

Major P. D. Cornell in charge of the marine corps district of New Orleans with offices and examining rooms at 535 St. Charles St., announces that 200 of these vacancies have been assigned to his district which includes Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Mississippi.

Most of these vacancies will be filled from waiting lists of applicants who have already submitted evidence of their qualifications. Under the new appropriations, however, vacancies will be regularly filled so that the opportunity to serve in the Marine Corps which has been practically closed during the last year will be reopened to qualified young men.

Applicants must be graduates of high schools or have equivalent or superior education, must be over 18 years old and over 66 inches tall. Evidence of educational and physical qualifications and also of character and standing in home community must be submitted by mail before applicants are admitted to the examining offices.

Hoyt A. Baker, a graduate of Midland high school, is now serving with the U. S. marines. He was accepted for this service at New Orleans in March, 1933 and is with the marine guard aboard the battleship Mississippi, which is now in port at Eastport, Maine. Baker was recently promoted to private, first class. He is son of Newton G.

Baker of Midland.
The marine corps is essentially an expeditionary force and its men are trained and equipped for duty on either land or sea. Marines are serving on the battleships, cruisers, and aircraft carriers; they are ashore in foreign lands, such as China, Philippines, Honolulu, and the West Indies; and they are serving at the many marine bases and navy yards throughout the United States, including such cities as San Diego, Cal., Philadelphia, Pa., New York City, Washington, D. C., Seattle, Wash.

BOMB WAS BOLOGNA

PARIS (U.P.)—There was plenty of comedy in the recent "terrorization" of Paris by a bomber who signed himself "The Three Judges of Hell: Mines, Eakos and Rhadamante." Employees of the Bastille post office breathed panic for half an hour until experts opened a suspicious package and found—a bologna.

CLAIMS OLDEST MULE

RULO, Neb. (U.P.)—William Cunningham, a farmer near here, owns what is believed to be the oldest mule in the state. The mule, a mare, is 37 years old. The average life span of a mule, Cunningham says, is about 20 years. The animal, once gray, has turned white with age, but is still physically sound.

WHISKEY ODOR WAS CLUE
EL PASO, Tex. (U.P.)—An ingenious bootlegger used pecan hulls for his still fire because while producing a strong odor of whiskey, they gave off neither smoke nor odor. Unfortunately the distilled product retained its tell-tale smell. The bootlegger was arrested.
