Monday Last Day for ASCS Certification

Monday, July 15, is the absolute deadline to certify wheat, feed grain and cotton acreage with the ASCS office, Bob Weatherly, county executive, told growers this week.

The purpose of certification is to make growers eligible for any disaster payment or deficiency payment that may be made.

Three days only remain to make certification, Thursday, Friday and Monday, and at this point, approximately 300 growers have not certified Mr. Weatherly said.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly that it is important that you sign up by the deadline if you want to receive these payments," he continued.

Disaster payments cover crop failures due to such things as hail, drought, windstorms, sandstorms, etc.

Deficiency payments are those payments due if the price of the product (feed grain, cotton or wheat) does not reach

Rolan Bryan, 69, Farmer-Rancher, Dies Unexpectedly

Rolan Clinton Bryan, 69, died shortly before 6:00 a.m. Monday, July 8, in Collingsworth General Hospital, a short time after being admitted.

Mr. Bryan had first become ill while attending the funeral of a brother recently and was hospitalized here for a short time last week. His death, however, came as a shock to those who knew him.

A prominent farmer, rancher, and church worker, Mr. Bryan had lived in the county 39 years and at the family home, 1101 Dalhart, since 1958.

Upon coming here, the family lived for a number of years at Aberdeen, then at Samnorwood, where he was active in community affairs.

He was an enthusiastic sportsman and booster of sports. As a young man, he played baseball, later his interests turned to hunting and fishing.

He was ordained a deacon of the Samnorwood Baptist Church, and upon moving to

Two Charged With Cattle Theft Here

Two men, one a former county resident, have been charged with cattle theft and are being held in Collingsworth County jail under $5,000 bond.

Sheriff John Rainey credited Highway Patrolmen Jackie Gunnels and Harold Price with bringing about the men's arrest, which occurred shortly before midnight Sunday, July 7.

He identified the two men as Aubrey Lee Pendergraft, 39, who formerly lived in the county, and Donald Wayne Wilcox, 33, of Casper, Wyoming.

The men are alleged to have taken two fat heifers, weighing from 700 to 750 each, from Benson Long's feedlot southwest of Wellington.

Sheriff Rainey said that Pendergraft is also wanted in Houston on charges of theft

TWIRLERS AT SCHOOL

Skyrocket twirlers, Lana Lacy, left, and Linda Coffee returned June 29 from the one-week Southern Methodist University Baton Twirling

School. Here they are in their pep rally uniforms. This fall, their uniforms will sparkle with sequins.

Three Hundred Expected At Methodist Barbecue

Approximately 300 area residents with a sprinkling of visitors are expected at the old-time community barbecue sponsored by First United Methodist Church, Friday, July 12, in Ellison Park. Serving will begin at 7:00 p.m. and continue until 9, Mrs. Cal Hurst, general chairman said this week as final plans were announced.

In case of rain, the barbecue will still be held, but it will be moved to First Methodist Church dining room.

This is a benefit event, and all food is donated by members of the church. All proceeds will go into the building fund, toward construction of a new sanctuary.

Barbecued beef, pit-cooked for many hours, will be served with the traditional trimmings, pinto beans, cole slaw, potato salads and drinks. There will be pies and cakes for dessert.

Ticket sales have been excellent, although tickets are still available from Goat Hopper, chairman, or other members of the finance committee.

Feasting and fellowship will be the theme for the evening, those in charge declare.

Lions Install New Officers on Monday

Mike Smith, engineer with the Texas Highway Department, was installed as Boss Lion of the Wellington Club Monday evening, July 8.

The installing officer was Rudie Tate of the Samnorwood Club, retiring deputy district governor at large for District 2T1.

Mr. Smith succeeds Jack Neeley, who has served during the last year.

Installed at the same time were Joe Montgomery, who was re-elected secretary-treasurer; Marlin Felts, assistant secretary-treasurer; Jerry Scott, first vice president; Chester White, third vice president; Jack Campbell, tail twister and Billy Colson, lion tamer.

New directors are Glenn McLain and John Coffee.

Mr. Smith announced that the club's first project during his tenure is laying sidewalks in front of the Collingsworth County Historical Museum. This is due to get under way late this week.

The club will continue those projects which are sponsored by District 2T1, including the High Plains Eye Bank, Girls Town, and the Crippled Children's Camp at Kerrville.

Mr. Tate, in a short speech, praised the Wellington Club's progress in the four years since it was organized. He then defined duties which club members have to their organization.

1974 Farm Bureau Queen Will Be Chosen Saturday

Eight Collingsworth beauties will seek the title of Farm Bureau Queen in the annual contest Saturday, July 13.

Final plans were announced by Mrs. Jerol Morris, committee chairman.

A new contest location was selected, the newly remodeled club room of Bura Handley

Community Center. Starting time is 8:00 p.m.

Contestants will include Juliana Baumgardner, last year's runner-up for the title, Linda Coffee and Angie Mitchell of Wellington.

Sharon Childers will represent Quail.

Coming from Samnorwood will be Cindy Coleman, Teresa Ray, Jayne Morgan and Judy Bell.

Bill Coleman of KGNC, Amarillo will be the master of ceremonies. Out of town judges will select the winner and runner-up.

The girls will wear formals and Mr. Coleman will interview each. She will then give a one-minute talk, "Why I Am Glad My Family Belongs To Farm Bureau."

The winner will receive her crown from the retiring County Farm Bureau Queen, Connie Lewis.

"The public is invited, and we urge you to attend and see the beauty and poise of these young women, all with farm backgrounds," said Mrs. Morris.

"We chose the community building club room to stage

County's Bank Assets Exceed $22.5 Million at June 30 Call

Combined assets and deposits of Wellington's two banks are each more than $5 million greater than a year ago. Not only does this become the highest mid-year figure in the county's financial history, it is also an unprecedented rise for a one-year period.

Combined assets were $22,545,520.88 and deposits were $20,786,280.92 when the calls were made by the Federal Reserve Bank and State Banking Commission on June 30.

A year ago, June 30, 1973, assets were $16,986,125.39 and deposits were $15,638,839.35.

The reason for this year's superior financial position is due in great part to the bumper crops harvested last fall and winter, executive officers of both banks believe.

C.T. Hubbard, president of Wellington State Bank, also points out that oil and gas lease money from the southeastern quarter of the county are now almost all in. It is estimated that in excess of $300,000 came into the banks in this county.

Not all his customers crop assets are in the bank, Mr. Hubbard points out. Most are holding their wheat, even though it was a short crop. Some still have cotton they are holding. Billy Moseley, executive vice president of City State Bank, believes people are managing their money better than in the past. Of the crop he said:

"More people made more money than ever before and they are holding on to it. More money is in time deposits. Some of our customers who usually borrow money to make a crop are not borrowing this year."

Some cattle are starting to sell earlier, he pointed out. His customers are holding very little of their wheat or cotton, he added.

Mid-year is often the low

Three Wellington Faculty Members Elected Monday

Election of three faculty members to the Wellington School system was announced Tuesday, July 9, by Supt. E.W. Clement.

They were hired in a meeting of the board Monday night.

A Pampa educator already widely known in the county, Melvin Cardwell, will succeed Mr. Clement as high school principal.

Miss Irene Martin of Hobbs, N.M. will teach math and Ronald L. Glenn of Albany is the all-level physical education instructor.

Mr. Cardwell has been on the Pampa High School faculty 16 years, the last seven as head of the vocational occupations department. Prior to that he headed the business education department 9 years.

He holds a bachelor of business administration degree from North Texas State University, Denton, and master of education degree from Southwestern State at Weatherford, Oklahoma.

In addition, he has an Oklahoma administrators certificate. He is a veteran of the Korean War and before entering the teaching profession he twice worked for Lederle Laboratories in Dallas. His home town is Whitesboro.

His wife is the former Wanda Hightower of Dodson, who also teaches at Pampa. They have a son who will be a freshman in high school and a daughter who will be a seventh grade student.

The family is active in the Church of the Nazarene.

Mr. Cardwell told the board and Mr. Clement that he wants to move into the school administration field and that he and his wife want to raise their children in a small town.

Miss Martin's home town is Hobbs, N.M. She was graduated this spring from Angelo State College at San Angelo with major field in elementary education, kindergarten and

Mrs. Johnson, Longtime County Resident, Dies

Mrs. Matt Johnson, who had lived here since early childhood, died in Collingsworth General Hospital at 4:30 a.m. Friday, July 5. She had been in ill health a number of months.

The family home is 1211 Dallas Street. Over a long period of years, Mrs. Johnson was active in civic work in Wellington, and at the same time was closely associated with her husband in the operation of his car dealership.

While her children were growing up, Mrs. Johnson was especially active in those organizations working with the school, and in the many activities in which the students engaged.

In recent years, her interest was with the Garden Club. She belonged to First Baptist Church.

Born May 10, 1901, at Chico, she was the former Edith Jewel Coe, daughter of the late R.S. and Sarah Stockton Coe. The family came to Collingsworth County in 1905, and Mrs. Johnson attended Wellington Schools.

She and Mr. Johnson were married in 1932. He died May

Loco-Arkie Reunion Will Be Held Aug. 4

The annual Loco-Arkie reunion will be held Sunday, August 4, in Bura Handley Community Center, Mrs. Cecil Lockhart, president, announced as plans for the event got under way.

Like all past reunions, this will be a gathering of both present residents of those communities and all who have lived there at any time in the past.

Registration will get under way at 9:00 a.m., and donuts and coffee will also be served at that time.

The basket lunch will be served at 12:00 noon and a business meeting is planned for 1:30 p.m. A short program will follow. Throughout the day, and as long as anyone wishes to remain, there will be visiting and reminiscing.

Each family is to bring a basket lunch, but coffee and tea will be furnished.

Working with Mrs. Lockhart on plans for the reunion are Mrs. A.V. Lowrie, secretary, and these other hosts, Mrs. George Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Williams of Abilene, Merritt Durfee and Miss Doris White.

An early announcement of the reunion is being made in order that out-of-town people who wish to attend can make plans to come.

Ex-Students Pre-Registration Drive Gets Under Way July 29

Wellington Ex-Students Association will hold its pre-registration drive during the week beginning Monday, July 29, to continue until the time of the reunion Saturday, August 3.

Volunteers are needed to conduct the drive among the business people of Wellington, and all others who may wish to pre-register, explained Mrs. Calvin Mitchell, president of the Ex-Students Association.

In an announcement of another major activity, she said the Collingsworth County Museum will be open all day Saturday in order that reunion visitors from out of town may visit it.

In discussing the importance of securing a large pre-registration, Mrs. Mitchell (the former Patsy Harper) said that Ex-students Association funds are low and money derived from pre-registration is needed.

"The $1.00 per member we get from this is the only way we have to support the association, and with the cost of stamps and paper up, it has become more expensive to mail out letters notifying ex-students of the reunion," Mrs. Mitchell said.

Those wishing to volunteer either as workers or to pre-register should call either Mrs. Mitchell or Mrs. Keith Smith (Dora E. McClaskey).

Another mailing of letters went out this week to ex-students whose addresses were not previously available.

"We are still needing addresses," Mrs. Mitchell emphasized. "In the two years since our last reunion, we have lost contact with many of these former and we would like to know where they are." There has been little response to the request for addresses of the graduates of the 1930s.

In the case of graduates of some years ago, not only has most of some entire classes moved from Wellington, but their families are gone, too, and there is no one left here for ex-students officers to contact.

"We will continue to bring our addresses up to date throughout the next year," Mrs. Mitchell said.

It is pointed out that the Ex-Students Association not only includes graduates of WHS, it also is for everyone who at any time attended school here, and all present and former faculty members.

Two Burglaries Over Holidays

Two burglaries were reported during the July Fourth holidays by Sheriff John Rainey.

Three calculators were taken from the office of Sagebrush Feed Lot on the night of Thursday, July 4 or early Friday. A window was broken to gain entry.

One set of footprints was found leading from the highway 203 to the broken window and back to the road, the Sheriff said.

He believes there may have been more than one person involved in the burglary.

The large barn on the Dick Sweet farm a mile north of town was entered on the night of July 3. This was burglarized of tools earlier, and Mr. Sweet had removed the remaining contents of the barn. Entry was gained by twisting a hasp off a door, the sheriff said.

Proper Tank Care Aids Operation of Septic System

College Station -- A septic tank can operate almost trouble-free for years if it is properly installed and operated, notes Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Septic tanks are the basic means of rural sewage disposal. A septic tank system consists of an underground, water-tight, concrete tank in which bacteria digest household organic solids to liquid and gaseous by-products and a disposal field in which liquid effluent percolates slowly into the soil.

"As long as the bacteria remain viable and there is sufficient time for decomposition and plenty of room for non-biodegradable residue (sludge) accumulation, problems seldom develop," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Homebuilders sometimes attempt to cut costs by installing inadequate disposal fields. Frequent stoppage might result if the tile drain field is not long enough for complete absorption of effluent by the soil. The length should depend on the infiltration rate of the soil and subsoil, not the price of installation."

A grease trap between the kitchen sink and septic tank is also a characteristic of a good septic tank system, according to Sweeten. It should be opened and cleaned at least twice yearly.

"Sludge should not be allowed to accumulate higher than within 12 inches of the discharge pipe," advises the engineer. "The accumulation of sludge on the bottom reduces the effective holding capacity of a septic tank, which in turn reduces the time for solids to settle and decompose. Undecomposed solids will clog the pores of the disposal system when they are forced out of the tank before proper treatment has been provided. Smaller tanks require more frequent cleanout than larger multi-stage units.

"Although actual cleaning may not be necessary more often than every two or three years, it is best to inspect the tank yearly."

To maintain a healthy environment for the bacteria in a septic tank, Sweeten recommends that certain household chemicals be used sparingly. Anaerobic bacteria, needed to decompose the organic matter, can be killed by abnormally high concentrations of harsh cleansers such as sodium hydroxide and sodium hypochlorite (bleach).

Born at Charleston, Arkansas, October 8, 1904, he was the son of the late Walter and Rowena Pendergrass Bryan. He was married to Miss Veta Kizer on January 18, 1925, at Mt. Hope, Ark., and they continued living in that state until they came to Collingsworth County.

Funeral services were conducted at 3:00 p.m. Wednesday, July 10, at First Baptist Church, with the Rev. Roy D. Collins, Jr., pastor, officiating. Burial was in North Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Kelsco Funeral Home.

point financially for this county and others of the area. Not so this time. Assets and deposits are higher than at the beginning of 1974, when they were $21,451,992.40, and when deposits were $15,844,714.08.

The current figures are only a little under those at the end of the first quarter, when assets were $22,857,231.65, and deposits were $21,190,381.35. In most years, there would have been a greater drop at the mid-year point.

Assets are up more than $7.5 million from the figure two years ago, and more than $9 million from three years ago.

Deposits likewise are up more than $8 million from 1972 and over $9 million greater than 1971.

Of the deposit figure of twenty and three quarter million dollars, $9,024,607.26 is in demand deposits -- the money bank depositors use for their day to day operations.

In keeping with a two-year trend, time deposits exceed demand deposits. On June 30 these totaled $11,761,673.66 and were drawing the highest rate of interest in the history of the county's banks. The figure has risen more than $3.5 million in the last year.

Loans are likewise up sharply, now standing at $11,577,945.06 compared to $8,489,685.61 a year ago.

Deposits were still rising when the June 30 bank call was made, with an average figure of $20,667,244.09 for the 15 preceding days.

the target price.

Of greatest concern in Collingsworth at this time are disaster payments on the county's hail-damaged wheat crop.

The disaster payment on wheat is 68 cents per bushel on the projected yield if the crop produced was less than 60 per cent of the projected yield, Mr. Weatherly reminded.

A bill is now pending in Congress which seeks to raise this payment to $1.00 per bushel, although at this time there is no way to know if it will be passed.

In some cases, growers can plant specified crops and not lose their eligibility for disaster payment, but there are so many variables that each operator is asked to check with the ASCS office before he plants anything.

Discussing the arrival date of disaster payment checks, Mr. Weatherly said it would probably be later in the fall.

"Again, this is not wholly true, for we may start making payments on straight wheat farms (those having no other crop but wheat) within 30 days," the ASCS executive said.

She was graduated from Rankin High School as valedictorian of her class and in college she was on the Dean's Honor List. She belongs to Kappa Delta Phi and Alpha Chi honorary societies. She is a Baptist.

Mr. Glenn, who will teach physical education on all grade levels, comes from Albany. He completes work for his degree from Angelo State College at the end of the first six weeks of the summer session with a major in physical education and minor in social studies.

Besides physical education classes Mr. Glenn will coach seventh grade football and assist with the varsity team.

He lettered in three major sports in Albany High School, but he did not participate in these in college. He comes to Wellington highly recommended, Head Coach James Williams said.

One math teacher remains to be elected in the school system, Mr. Clement said.

In charge of the barbecuing will be a group of men long known for their talents along this line, with A.J. Fires as chairman. Helping will be Henry Sullivan and Cliff Campbell and they will call on as many others as they need.

Chairmen in charge of the food were announced by Mrs. Hurst, and each of these is asking from 15 to 20 to help. They are: beans, Mrs. Bob McAlister; cole slaw, Mrs. Bill Hatch; potato salad, Mrs. Fred Covey; pies, Mrs. Barbara Williamson; cakes, Mrs. Barney Glenn and drinks, Mrs. Lynn Carter.

It is stressed by those working on the barbecue that this is a community-wide event and everyone is invited to attend.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris J. Holland, 1400 West Avenue, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Edward Henard, who live north of Wellington.

Church decorations were an arch, covered with emerald leaves, accented with orange and yellow gladioli, and on each side, a seven-branched candelabra and pedestal basket holding yellow and orange gladioli. The prie dieu completed the altar setting, and pew markers were white bells, tied with satin ribbon.

Presenting the wedding music were Robert Mack Saied of Dallas and Brad Kopp of Boulder, Colorado, vocalists, and Miss Juliana Baumgardner, organist.

Mr. Holland gave his daughter in marriage.

Her gown was of candlelight bridal satin, fashioned in princess lines with an empire waist. The bodice, made with a deep v neckline, and cap sleeves had an overlay of lace. Both her matching lace veil and the princess skirt swept to chapel length. She carried a cascade of yellow daisies and orange glamelias. She wore a bracelet which her grandmother, Mrs. W.S. White, received from the late Mr. White on their own wedding day.

and Mrs. Holland hosted to honor the couple, was given in the club room of Bura Handley Community Center.

The bride's table was laid with a net cloth over yellow, and her bouquet was the centerpiece. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

If you have trouble making even rows in your garden plot, use an old hand lawn mower. It will make two rows just the right width at the same time.

Cellophane wrappers covering new lampshades should be removed since they are usually unsightly and often warp the shade due to room humidity or heat from the lightbulb.

A handy head covering while doing housework is a short tie-around-the-waist apron. Apron strings are so convenient for tying around the head and the apron more than covers the hair.

To get rid of sand inside sleeping bags before those vacation camping trips, first clean thoroughly with a vacuum cleaner then generously coat the inside with baby powder (not talcum). Next, rub in the powder then turn upside down and the loosened sand will shake right out.

To neatly organize tots' drawers, use cardboard egg cartons whose individual cups hold tiny socks perfectly. The cartons create a neater appearance and are easier to get at when wanted.

Eight Children of W. W. Johnsons Gather Here for Three-Day Reunion

The family of the late Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Johnson gathered on the week end of July 5 through 7 for a reunion, the first get-together since 1970.

There are now 97 members of the family, and 53 of these were present.

The family met on Sunday, July 7, in the club room of Bura Handley Community Center for dinner and visiting.

Albums were displayed of past family reunions dating back to the 1930s. Other pictures were made to be placed in these same albums.

Eight of the nine children were present. R.B. Johnson of Fremont, Nebraska, suffered a heart attack four weeks previous and he and his family could not attend.

First generation of the family to settle in Collingsworth County were the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Johnson, parents of W.W. Johnson. They came 59 years ago from Eastland County and after operating a restaurant a year or two in Wellington, they moved to the Lillie community.

Mr. Johnson then established the first Lillie Store and operated it until his death in 1932. His son, W.W. Johnson, ran it for a year, then several others were hired to operate the business until it was sold out of the family.

Mr. and Mrs. W.W. Johnson and their older children arrived 56 years ago. They farmed in the Lillie community.

A special guest was a cousin, Jerrell Johnson of Borger.

Children and grandchildren attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Wilson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Burlin Wilson of Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. Don Wilson and Bryan of Austin and Lynn Wilson of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Boyer, Terry, Kelli and Jackie of Anchorage, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Johnson of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Wilson of Amarillo, and family, Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Barnhart and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Green, Cindy, Alan and Lisa of Amarillo; and Don Brady of Las Vegas, Nevada;

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Glenn and Dr. and Mrs. Granvel Killian, Kristi, and Melissa of Hollis and Miss Jan Glenn of Houston.

Wellington guests were Mrs. R.H. Isbell, G.H. Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Horton.

Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Scribner came from Plainview and Dr. and Mrs. J.L. Chase, Jr. from Pampa. The two women were on the faculty, along with Miss Sue Ward of Ada, Oklahoma, Mrs. Davis sister, when Mr. Davis was superintendent of Mobeetie Schools. This was during World War II, and they agree that those years brought a closeness between the families that has continued.

Other friends from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bairfield, Mr. and Mrs. Van Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morris of Clarendon; Mrs. Luther Butler of Leila Lake; Mrs. Lynn McLain, Mrs. Don Rummel, Leslie and Leah of Lubbock;

MR. AND MRS. JACK DAVIS

Reception Honors Mr. & Mrs. Davis Saturday on Their 40th Anniversary

Friends and relatives from Tennessee to Arizona came Saturday, July 6, to join Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis in celebrating their fortieth wedding anniversary. A reception in their honor was held in the Heritage Room.

This couple, both retired educators and outstanding in their fields, have taught in three of the county's four school systems of recent years.

The reception hosts were their children, Dr. and Mrs. John G. Thomas of Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pritchard of Albuquerque, N.M., and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Davis of College Station.

Those attending included not only former county residents and friends from the teaching profession, but other friends made through the Davis' other activities, in the United Methodist Church, Masonic Lodge and Eastern Star, music, DAR, farming and ranching.

Red roses decorated the entertaining room. The reception table was laid with a sheer cloth elaborately applied, and the centerpiece was a four-branched silver candelabra, having at the center a bowl holding roses. Other appointments were of crystal and silver.

A draped net cloth covered the registry, which held a small bowl of roses and a framed Kodak picture of the couple taken on their wedding day, July 4, 1924.

Alternating at these tables were Mr. Davis' great nieces, Roxie Bingham, Terrie Bingham and Toni Bingham of Leonard, and Kathy Horton and Chris Horton of Hollis.

Others in the house party were Miss Jean Moore and Mrs. Velma Moore of Tennessee, and Miss Sue Ward, Mrs. Davis' sister, of Ada, Oklahoma.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis are Oklahomans and their careers have been divided between the two states. However, his first school was in Collingsworth County—at Wrinklesocks. Few people have called it anything else, although its real name was Prairie View.

Both have taught at Vinson, Oklahoma and Centralview, near Mangum. Mrs. Davis also taught at Chetyenne, Oklahoma, and he at Arnett and Mobeetie.

Altogether, they have lived in Collingsworth County 30 years. He was superintendent and she a teacher at Dodson four years. They returned in 1950, to the Quail system, and two years later he became a principal in the Wellington Schools. The next year she joined him on the Junior High faculty.

What are some of the high points of their teaching career?

Neither Jack nor Dorothy Davis is given much to reminiscence. Although retired from teaching, they are still too busy and have too many activities.

"There have been so many wonderful people and so many exciting things," says she. Her husband, although he is quick to talk about education, never mentions the many things he has done individually for children he has taught, or ways in which he has met the needs of their families.

Mrs. Davis, the former Dorothy Ward, was born at Geary, Oklahoma, the daughter of the late Rev. Thomas Hamilton Ward, a Methodist clergyman, and Mrs. Ward. She received her bachelor's degree from Oklahoma College for Women, now Oklahoma College of Liberal Arts, Chickasha, and the master of education degree from West Texas State University. Her teaching career was in the fields of science and music.

Mr. Davis was born near Hollis, when it was still in Old Greer County. His parents were James Hugh and Martha Jane Kennedy Davis.

He received his bachelor's degree from Southwestern State College, Weatherford, and Master of arts degree from Western State College of Colorado. Both also attended the University of Arkansas and he at Texas Tech University and West Texas State University.

Mr. Davis worked in the public schools of Texas and Oklahoma 37 years, three as a classroom teacher, 18 as a principal of elementary or high schools, and 16 as a superintendent. He was made a life member of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

At Mobeetie, he also served as school tax collector and assessor.

Both are active in First United Methodist Church, and she has worked extensively among employed women in the church.

YH Holds Ice Cream Supper

Homemade ice cream and picnic suppers were served at the Young Homemakers Family Night picnic July 2 at Ellison Park.

Each family brought their own meal and the ice cream was provided by some of the members.

After the meal, the adults visited and the children played.

Those attending were the Dan Langford family, Tommy Powell family, the Joe Harris family, Jack Campbell family, Glenn Thomas family and the Farris Wood family.

The next Young Homemakers meeting will be Aug. 6.

Chad Carter Has Birthday

Chad Carter celebrated his fourth birthday recently with a party in the Hollis Nursery School, hosted by his grandmother, Mrs. C.B. Carter.

Boys attending the party were presented cars and the girls were given dolls, then the lamb shaped birthday cake, topped with four candles, was served. Punch and pops also were served, topped off with all day suckers and other candies.

Favors were balloons, party hats, soap bubbles and carrousel toys. "Happy Birthday" and "Chad's Had a Birthday" were sung, and a poem, "A Happy Year" was dedicated to Chad by Mrs. Fannie Mitchell.

Children present were Michael Masters of Fort Worth, Dana and Dena Patterson, Brent and Kristi Bennett, Devin Graves, Amy Chance and Chad.

Fabric Shortage May Come Next

The continuing energy problem will bring shortages to the fabric and apparel industry, according to Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"The total effect isn't predictable yet, but consumers should be prepared to take some steps to ease the strain," she said.

"Make sure each item in the wardrobe is worn. This may mean wearing a garment that was more fashionable last year than this year.

"Recycle whenever possible. Update garments for another year of wear or make them over for other members of the family," she suggested.

If you want a better car, you couldn't pick a better time to buy it.

Oldsmobile dealers are more anxious than ever to stir up business. They are in a generous mood for a couple of reasons. First, the 1974 model year is drawing to a close. So your Olds dealer can offer you especially generous year-end savings now—on compact Omega, mid-size Cutlass, family-size Delta 88 or luxurious Ninety-Eight or Toronado. Second, used cars are in short supply, particularly mid-size and full-size models. So your Olds dealer can offer you a very attractive trade allowance. Your savings may never be greater than now. All in all, you couldn't pick a better time to see your Oldsmobile dealer.

Open House Will Mark First Year's Service for RSVP

Open House throughout Wednesday, July 17, will mark the first anniversary of the Retired Senior Program - RSVP - in Collingsworth and Wheeler counties.

It will be in the RSVP office-senior citizen center on the west side of the square, according to Mrs. Mecca Manuel, director. A covered dish luncheon will be served at noon.

The public is invited to call any time during the day, Mrs. Manuel said. Assisting her in making arrangements is Mrs. Jean Reynolds, secretary.

The year's activities were reviewed, through which a large number of persons over 65 years of age, and others who are retired, have continued to be involved in activities in the mainstream of the community.

"We have set up 11 volunteer stations where more than 70 volunteers work and have accumulated a total of more than 5,000 hours," Mrs. Manuel said with pride.

One might suppose this service is to contemporaries of the RSVP members. Not so! One of their major projects has been with Four-H Club girls as young as 9 years old.

At Thomas Nursing Center, and Wellington Nursing Center before the two were combined, RSVP volunteers played games with the residents, just sit and visit, run errands, write letters, read or provide whatever the shut-in friend might need.

Four-H leaders faced a job of major proportions in teaching young girls to sew prior to the spring clothing project and style show.

Women in the RSVP program assisted all of these little girls in learning to "sew a straight seam" and the many other intricacies of making even a simple garment.

One of the newer programs is Dial-a-Shutin. More than 60 Wellington men and women, confined to their homes, receive friendly telephone calls each week. The volunteer probably just visits about the interests of the shut-in. Or perhaps the latter needs someone to listen while he talks.

Sorting and mending used clothing for the needy at the Community Action Center accounts for many volunteer hours.

At Collingsworth County Library, they rebind worn books. "We have a crochet instructor, who will teach you how to crochet each Friday afternoon," said Mrs. Manuel.

Then there is friendly visiting. Senior Citizens, work from their homes, "where we can see about our neighbors."

RSVP participants have fun among themselves.

Once each month, the third Wednesday, they hold a luncheon honoring all members who have a birthday during that month. Twice each month, the first and third Thursdays, they meet in the evenings for games of 42.

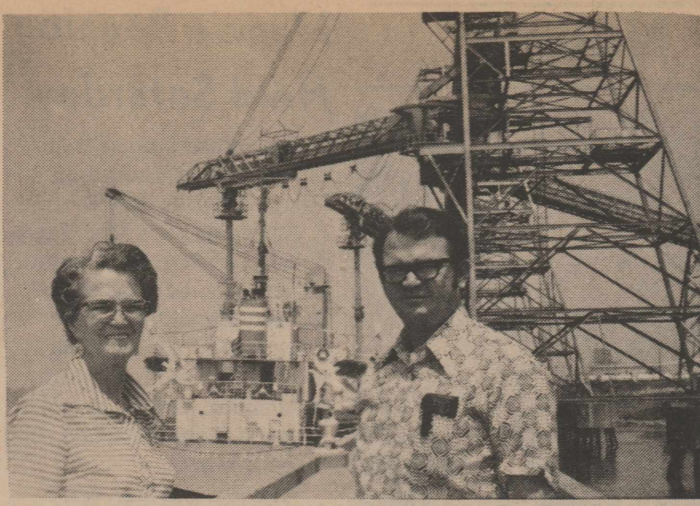

Much of the activity centers in the office for RSVP and Senior Citizens organization.

A year ago, there was only a vacant building on the west side of the square. An appeal brought furniture and curtains, until a home-like atmosphere was achieved.

RSVP is a federal program, administered through ACTION. Application for funding the two-county program was made by Collingsworth County, with Judge Zook Thomas and his secretary, Mrs. Bob Barton, and Mrs. Jimmie Sessions of the Panhandle Community Action Program accounted for the local work that led to approval of the two-county program.

Wellington is the project headquarters, with an office in Shamrock.

An advisory board heads the work. Collingsworth members are Judge Thomas, Rev. James Boswell, Mrs. Sessions, Howard Powell, Alvin Horton, John Coleman, Mayor Bill Hatch, and Mrs. Marie Golligh.

PORT OF BEAUMONT

Doyle Owens, traffic and transportation manager for the Port of Beaumont, and his mother, Mrs. Gerald Owens, pause during a visit to the dock area recently. In the background a Greek freighter is being loaded with grain.

Owens Approved as ICC Practitioner

Doyle Owens, traffic transportation manager for the Port of Beaumont, recently was approved as a practitioner before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He was one of 63 non-lawyers from throughout the United States passing the 6-hour test required for practice before the ICC, said his mother, Mrs. Gerald Owens, who returned late last week from a vacation in Beaumont.

Mr. Owens will now be able to plead cases on behalf of the Port of Beaumont before the commission.

In addition to his work, he teaches classes in the field of traffic and transportation at Lamar Tech. He has been at Beaumont since October 1972, going there from Kerr McGee Oil Company, Oklahoma City.

After graduating from Wellington High School, Mr. Owens worked in banks at Berger and Amarillo and was with an insurance company.

His wife, Dean, is from Berger, and they have two daughters.

On the board for Wheeler County are Shamrock Police Chief George Hooten, John Glascock, Mrs. Vera Biggers, J.P. Cook and C.E. Blake.

Navajo Tribal Council Leaders Visit "Texas"

Canyon - The great Comanche Chief in the show "Texas,"

Quannah Parker, played by Bruce Darby of Rocky, Oklahoma conferred with two members of the Navajo Tribal Council after a performance this week. Joe Domingo of Cuba, New Mexico, the head of the Parks and Recreation Commission of the Navajo Council and Marciano Apachito, one of the members who ranches near Alamo, New Mexico, attended the "Texas" production on a research mission. They are looking into ways to present the Navajo story to the visitors who are going into the reservation in increasing numbers. They were accompanied by David Yazzio, of the Parks and Recreation Department in Window Rock, Arizona.

In addition to attending a performance, the Council members visited the Panhandle Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, Texas to see the Indian exhibits, and conferred with some jewelers in a study of the distribution of Navajo jewelry and rugs. These visitors were in a crowd of almost 1200 the night they saw "Texas," the first evening of the year when the house was not sold out. Although two hundred seats at least are always sold in the Park so that campers there will have an opportunity to attend, it always is better to make reservations in advance if possible as there are often long lines.

For tickets and information write "Texas," Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2182. Show starts at 8:30 p.m. CDST through August 24, nightly except Sundays.

Baptist Men Plan Breakfast

The Men's Brotherhood of First Baptist Church will hold a prayer breakfast Sunday, July 14, in the church fellowship hall. It will begin at 8:00 a.m., according to T.P. Belew, president.

There will be a short business meeting.

It is open to all men who are interested, Mr. Belew said, urging a large attendance.

Children's Choirs Started at Church

Organization of two children's choirs at First Baptist Church is under way, with the first sessions being held Wednesday, evening, July 10, according to Benny Kilgo, music director.

First of these is the Young Musicians, for boys and girls in the fourth through sixth grades, with Mrs. Kilgo as director. She is assisted by Mrs. Dick Pendleton and Miss Betty Burba. Between 20 and 30 children will be included when enrollment is completed.

The Music Makers are even younger, in the first through third grades. Mrs. Larry Waters is their director, with Mrs. Charles Floyd and Miss Pam Vine assisting. This choir also will include between 20 and 30 children.

Both the Music Makers and the Young Musicians meet each Wednesday from 7:15 to 8:15 p.m., and they will continue through the school year, Mr. Kilgo said.

At present, it is expected that they will sing at one church service each month.

This brings to five the number of singing groups now active in First Baptist Church.

Mr. Kilgo directs the 30-voice adult choir which is heard at regular church services and on special occasions. Approximately 30 men and women participate—some having sung with the group for many years. Mrs. Don Reeves is the pianist and Mrs. Truman Estes the organist.

Twenty boys and girls make up the High School Youth Choir, which Mr. Kilgo directs, with Miss Burba as accompanist. Finally, there are the Good-time Singers, 26 women of the church under the direction of Mrs. Raymond Hodges. This group, which practices each Sunday at 5:00 p.m. has sung throughout the area at associational meetings and other church gatherings.

One new group is planned this fall, for the tiniest of all. This will be a music activity for pre-school children, Mr. Kilgo said.

AN ILL WIND BLOWS GOOD

Get ready to see a remarkable change in the landscape of this country over the next few years. Windmills will spring up across the countryside as air-power becomes an alternative source of energy. The idea isn't as absurd as many would believe. Windchargers were commonplace on farms and ranches in the late 30's until cheap gasoline and diesel fuel became available and the REA expanded its service.

Experts are quick to point out that windmills will never replace the oil, coal and nuclear powered electric generating plants of today, nor do they see windmills becoming a practical source of energy for individual homes. Windmill supporters do believe that air-powered generators will be useful as a supplemental source of energy and that by the year 2000, windmills could be producing as much as 1% of our total energy requirements.

Today's prototypes are made of cloth, wire, fiberglass of metal and are designed to turn as fast as possible in the slightest breeze. The blades must also be variable-pitched, which automatically turns the blade from the broadest side in a light wind to the narrowest side in a strong wind.

Scientists estimate that a windmill with 50-ft. long blades would generate 100 kilowatts in a 20 mph wind. But the same blade would produce 800 kilowatts in a 40 mph wind. Another experimental design with 125-ft. blades moving 200 mph at the tips would produce 1,000 kilowatts in a 20 mph wind.

One Eastern electric utility has concluded that a 250-kw windmill would not only be feasible, but also competitive with 30¢ per gallon fuel oil. The utility is paying 24¢ per gallon now. Offshore drilling rigs are also likely locations for windmill generated electricity.

Another experimental scheme calls for a 1,000-kw windmill hooked up to an air compressor which would pump air under pressure into abandoned oil wells or mines. Electricity would then be generated during peak periods by releasing the air to power gas-turbine generators.

Two Criminal Justice Grants Made in Area

AUSTIN — Governor Dolph Briscoe has approved two grants totaling $44,942 for improving law enforcement and justice in the area served by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, Amarillo.

Deaf Smith County will receive $9,542 for second-year employment of the criminal district attorney. The office was created in 1971, when it was separated for prosecutorial purposes from the office of district attorney of the 69th Judicial District. Deaf Smith County provides necessary secretarial assistance and operating expenses. Through the handling of the routine matters, the assistant enables the district attorney to concentrate on preparation and trial of criminal cases.

The second grant, $35,400, goes to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission for comprehensive criminal justice planning the 25-county area.

The money comes from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office. CJD administers the state's block grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration under the Crime Control Act of 1973.

The local grants were among 50 approved by the governor totaling $7.2 million.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — Constitutional Convention delegates approved a new approach to state revenue raising and sent delegates' hopes rising for a painless tax source.

The Convention authorized the legislature to levy a petroleum products manufacturing tax that will not (like three-fourths of gasoline taxes) go into highway building.

Sen. D. Roy Harrington of Port Arthur already is preparing for introduction next year a bill to impose a two cents per gallon gasoline tax at the refinery level.

At the same time, Harrington will propose reduction of the gasoline tax at the pump from five to three cents a gallon if the new constitution is approved.

Since 75 per cent of Texas-refined gasoline is sold out of state, proponents of the tax claim the two cent levy would raise $686 million in additional revenue without increasing the burden on Texans.

Although such a tax probably could be levied now, most of the money would go to highways instead of general revenue.

The convention went into its windup stages this week. Delegates began voting on the entire revision package, including proposed separate submissions of five alternative propositions.

When and if a two-thirds majority is mustered, the document and the "side issues" will go to the voters in the November general election.

HEATLY CUT OFF — The Constitutional Convention Compensation Committee served notice it didn't intend to allow Rep. W.S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah to charter airplanes at state expense. Convention officers said they won't approve any more such charges.

However, Healy indicated he won't take that without a fight. He produced an attorney general's ruling saying renting of aircraft by state employees on official trips is authorized, and called on officials to consider his bills legal.

Healy blamed his troubles on a "personal vendetta" against him by Convention President Price Daniel Jr. and Executive Director Jim Ray — which Daniel promptly denied.

A check of House records showed Healy, as of May 31, ranked 24th among state representative-convention delegates in total spending since last January.

NEAR RECORD PAID — Oil companies paid a near record $24.6 million in bonus payments for oil and gas leases on Texas public lands at the third largest oil and gas lease sale in history.

Bids were received for more than 336,037 acres and brought the permanent school fund to more than $1,074,743,900.

Texas will receive a substantially higher royalty for oil and gas produced from the state lands under new terms in effect for the sale. All royalties will be at least one-fifth. The state may also take its royalty "in kind" — which assures top prices for the state's portion of oil and gas and ability to sell the resources in areas where they are needed.

Three bids exceeded $1 million. One was for $9 million by Transocean Oil Incorporated of Houston — for 25 tracts, most of them in the Gulf of Mexico.

TEXANS PLEDGE $508,000 — Texas Democrats committed themselves to a record total of $508,000 during the June 29-30 party fund-raising telethon.

Two-thirds of the take — enough to pay off debts and last a few months into the future — will be retained by the state party after deductions for overhead of the telethon.

More than 1,000 volunteers manned 350 telephones in 16 Texas cities during the fund-raising extravaganza which brought in $7 million in pledges to the national party.

More than 3,000 pledges were received in Texas.

LIQUOR AGENTS CLEARED — An investigation by Atty. Gen. John Hill's staff found no evidence of mileage expense account padding by Dallas district office Alcoholic Beverage Commission inspectors.

Hill did recommend better record keeping procedures in the office to "remove suspicions and concerns."

He found irregularities in the manner in which the records are maintained and said that inspection tickets were in "a state of disarray."

AG OPINIONS — States and subdivisions are required to include equal employment opportunity clauses in federally-assisted construction contracts exceeding $10,000, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

- County Commissioners may expend county funds for service pins to reward county employees, and pins may include a replica of an unofficial county seal.

- An act extending workmen's compensation benefits to employees of political subdivisions is constitutional and applies to housing authorities. A Texas Municipal League and Texas Association of School Boards plan for self-insurance would not be subject to State Board of Insurance regulation.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor Briscoe appointed Natt Burke Holman of Houston to the Texas Water Rights Commission, effective July

The chairman of the House elections committee, Rep. Ed Harris of Galveston, called on Secretary of State Mark White Jr. to purge unqualified persons from voter registration lists.

Short Takes

Santa's Origin

Santa Claus' portrayal as a plump, jolly old man was originated in Harper's Weekly and a book of Christmas verse in 1863. The World Almanac says Thomas Nast, a 23-year-old artist, created Santa's image as the fat, red-suited, amiable fellow with a white beard and wide leather belt which characterize him today.

Tree Custom

The custom of decorating small evergreen trees is said to have been originated by Martin Luther following his viewing of stars shining above an evergreen tree on Christmas eve. The World Almanac recalls that the custom of decorating Christmas trees with lights, sweets and colored paper was observed by early German settlers in Pennsylvania.

Slightly Slanted

Gerrymandering is a legislative rearrangement of voting districts so that they favor the political party in power by creating new areas of support. The World Almanac notes that the term was coined after Massachusetts Gov. Elbridge Gerry redistricted a county so that its shape resembled a salamander.

First Draft

The first wartime conscription bill in the United States was passed March 3, 1863, and men between 20 and 45 years of age were required to be enrolled April 1, 1863. The World Almanac notes, however, that exemptions could be attained by paying draft officials $300, or by furnishing a substitute. Draft exemptions by cash payment were abolished July 4, 1864.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where New York state is planning to buy a couple of big power plants, probably on the strength of some pinheaded politician thinking he can run them smarter than Consolidated Edison.

"Public ownership of services," whereby the taxpayers buy a business and the politicians run and milk it, is very big among public sinecurians.

And when they are running the power plants like they run the postal service, folks can turn a switch and two weeks later the light may come on.

D.E. SCOTT

Strictly Fresh

Honesty may still be the best policy, but it won't buy you much protection in a goodly number of high places.

To many husbands, "spending" money is what the wife lifts from their own little hoard between pay days.

Today, most of the "beef" comes from the customers, not from the meat counter.

Successful Baseball Season Calls for Some Improvements

The summer youth baseball program is ending what is one of its best organized seasons. Perhaps official Little League for that age group has something to do with it. Certainly the men working with the program are right for leading young boys. And all of this has resulted in a high spirit de corps among the youngsters themselves.

A "Thank-You" is due from the town to everyone who worked in the program.

If anything more was needed, it was larger crowds — more parents — to see the games and to work in the program. This does not include those fathers whose work keeps them away. We just won't have a 100 per cent program until crowds are bigger at all age levels.

It has been brought up that the ball park, including the 20-odd year old grandstand, is looking a little shabby. In fact an adult out-of-town softball (men also play at Marian Airpark Diamond) has told the mayor it is the worst ball park they play in. This indeed will have to be corrected if we are to continue either youth baseball or adult softball.

Some of this at the grandstand can be done with hammer and nails, some new boards, and a good supply of paint. In some areas complete replacement will be needed.

Is it necessary for us to call on the city to do all of this? Couldn't parents of the youngsters who use it, and the men who play there, do the work not requiring an outlay of cash?

When crops are laid by and before we get busy with fall activities a big work day and chicken barbecue might not be a bad idea.

Finally, safer signs

By Mitchell Colby

NEW YORK (CEF)

New symbols, similar to those used internationally, are gradually replacing word messages on road signs throughout the United States to provide instant, unambiguous safety information to drivers. The changeover is to be completed by the end of 1974.

Also being standardized are sign colors — red for stop or prohibited maneuver, yellow for caution or general warning and so on.

Another small change which should reap great dividends in highway safety is the standardization of center, edge and lane striping.

Since more than 70 per cent of this country's two-lane secondary roads — where we do most of our driving and where two-thirds of our accidents occur — remain unmarked, color standardization of highway striping "is the most significant new dimension in pavement markings to date," according to John P. Manley, executive vice president of a company which manufactures reflective glass spheres used in striping paints.

This is what they call the "Morse Code of Highway Safety": Yellow will be the only color used for centerline markings indicating traffic moving in both directions. White will be used for lanes of traffic moving in the same direction and to indicate pavement edges.

On two-lane highways, a broken yellow centerline indicates passing permitted, with due caution for oncoming traffic. Double solid yellow lines mean no passing in either direction. A broken yellow line next to a solid yellow line indicates a passing zone only for traffic on the side of the broken line.

On multilane highways, opposing traffic will also be separated by double solid yellow lines. Traffic lanes going in the same direction will be separated by broken white lines.

There are other variations for highways with reversible lanes during rush hours and for those with two-way left turn lanes.

Tells It Like It Was

This book is a factual, detailed account of farm life in Southwestern Oklahoma before World War I. It describes a way of life that once flourished in the Eastern Panhandle and North Texas as it did in Southwestern Oklahoma.

As the true story of Irene Brown Bartel progresses from the arrival of her home-steading father through the vicissitudes of creating a productive farm and raising a family to be a credit to his name, a pioneering drama is unfolded in minutest detail.

Services Held Saturday for Accident Victim

An 8-year-old Pampa boy, Danny Glenn Downs, died in an Amarillo hospital Wednesday, July 3, of injuries received when a car struck his bicycle at a Pampa intersection.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winford Downs, formerly of Wellington.

Pampa police said the youth was riding his bicycle at an intersection about 3:40 p.m. Sunday, June 30, when he apparently went through a stop sign and was struck by the car. He was treated at the Amarillo hospital for head injuries, a fractured leg, and multiple bruises and abrasions.

Danny Glenn was born in Wellington February 11, 1967. He had attended Pampa Schools.

Funeral services were conducted at the Church of Christ in Wellington at 4:00 p.m. Saturday, with Tom Anderson, minister, and Grandol Forehand, former minister, officiating. Burial was in Memorial Gardens by Kelso Funeral Home.

Surviving Danny Glenn are his parents; a brother, William Downs of Pampa; two sisters, DeAnna of Pampa and Elaine of Odessa; and two half-brothers, Robert Rigo and Daniel Rigo of Pampa; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Skinny Downs of Pampa and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tunstall of Wellington; and his step-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davis of Albuquerque, N.M.

Shanks Attend Floral Workshop

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shanks of Wellington Florist attended a West Texas-New Mexico Floral Association meeting and workshop at Odessa Saturday through Monday, June 29 to July 1.

Speakers, who also gave demonstration of new styles in floral arranging, were Phil Rullada of Country Club Flowers, Phoenix, Arizona; Delores Shearer of Laguna Hills Flowers, Laguna Hills, Calif.; also, Kay Clifford of Kays Flowers Rector, Ark.; and Kariton Morris of Kariton Floral Gardens, Annapolis, Maryland. The commentators were Dean and Joyce White of Deans Design, Inc., Wichita, Kansas.

Dealers presented a trade fair, and the meeting headquarters was the Inn of the Golden West.

Basic Security Income Payments Increase in July

Basic supplemental security income payments will be increased starting in July, according to Travis C. Briggs, social security manager in Amarillo, Texas.

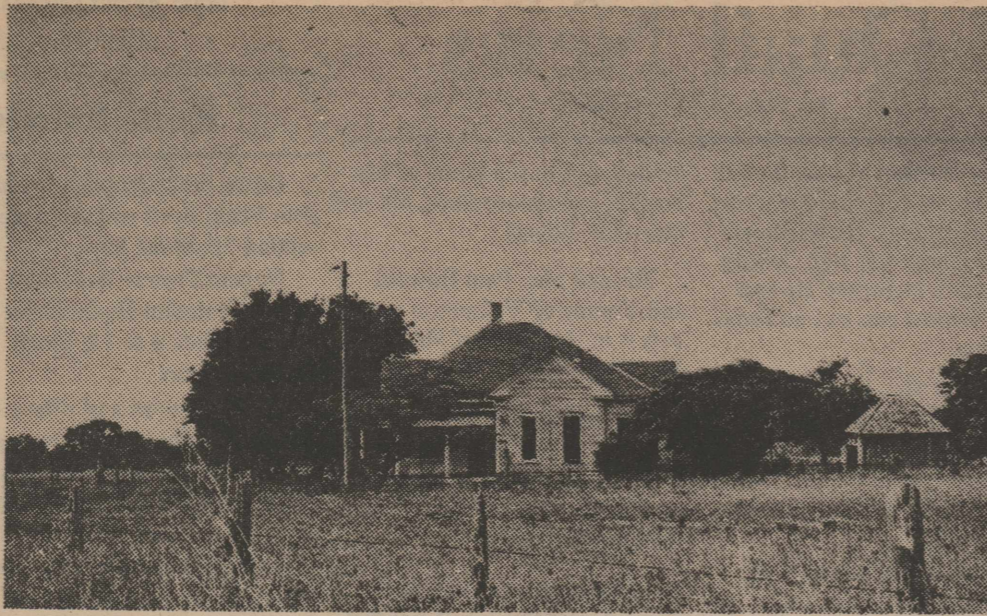

The supplemental security income program pays monthly checks to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 and over or blind and disabled. The amount people get depends primarily on other income they might have.

Eligible people with no other income at all who live in their own household have been getting supplemental security income payments of $140 a month for one person and $210 for a couple. Starting in July, these amounts will go to $146 and $219 under a recent change in the law enacted to keep supplemental security income payments in line with the cost of living.

Payments will also generally be increased to people who have other income and get reduced supplemental security income payments, according to Briggs.

Those who get supplemental security income payments don't have to do anything about their checks. Any increases due will be added to checks automatically.

People can get information about supplemental security income at any social security office.

COULD THIS BE A WINNER?—The Texas Department of Agriculture inaugurated its Family Land Heritage Program July 1 to recognize Texas farmers and ranchers whose families have been involved in a century or more of agricultural production on the same land. Those who qualify by Aug. 31 will be honored in a special ceremony at the State Fair, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

Low Volume Spray Controls Mesquite

Low volume aerial application of herbicides can cut costs and still be just as effective as standard dosages in controlling mesquite brush.

That conclusion came out of a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station project in which an estimated 30,000 acres were treated at 20 locations in the Rolling Plains, High Plains, Trans Pecos and South Texas.

C.H. Meadors of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Chillicothe-Vernon said the goal of the continuing research program is to combine economics with safer, more dependable brush control methods. The result should be better and cheaper forage production along with easier livestock handling.

The study so far has involved herbicide rates varying from 1/8 to 1 pound per acre in volumes of 1/8, 1/4 and 1/2 and 4 gallons an acre. Carriers have been oil-water emulsions, diesel oil, special oils and pre-packaged formulations.

Meadors said applications of 1/2-pound 2, 4, 5-T, combinations of 2, 4, 5-T and picloram, and 2, 4, 5-T and dicamba, in 1 gallon of a 1 to 6 diesel oil-water emulsion have been as effective for mesquite control as 1/2-pound of the herbicides in 4 gallons a 1 to 3 diesel oil-water emulsion per acre.

Low volume, low pressure aerial spray equipment was used in 42-foot swaths.

This low volume system is a reduction of 6 pints of diesel oil per acre and 18 pints of water per acre compared to conventional 4-gallon volumes, Meadors pointed out.

"It also means a 200-gallon load would treat 200 acres using 1 gallon an acre, whereas only 50 acres could be treated using 4 gallons per acre. This would appear to influence economics of brush control," he said.

Further Experiment Station research is aimed at developing more efficient low pressure spraying equipment, optimum swath widths, chemical formulations, carriers and more precision flagging.

Children Make First Communion

Sunday, June 30, was a special day for five young children of Our Mother of Mercy Catholic Church. It was the day of their First Holy Communion.

The event took place at the 9 o'clock Holy Mass, offered by Father Pat Burke, and the children were Rhonda Garcia, Sylvia Soldana, Rodney Soldana, Eddie Pena, and Mary Torrez. Father Pat spoke about the innocence of such children on such a day, and asked the congregation to pray on July 4 that America would get back some of her lost innocence and moral integrity in the wake of such shocks as Vietnam and Watergate.

Rangers Win Championship in Second Half of Little League

The City State Bank Rangers won the second half championship and the league champion, since they were already the first half champs, even though they were beaten once during the final week of play. On 7-1 the Rangers defeated the Cudd Brothers. Astros 17-12 with Kevin Needham (4-1) picking up the victory and Joe Saldano (1-2) the loss for the Astros.

The Rangers continued to win by beating the Wellington State Bank Cubs 11-10 on 7-2-74 and were led by Haskell Bonaparte and Brent Long with two hits each. Big New Symbol of Cotton Wins Honor

NEW YORK -- The new sign of cotton placed first at Texpo, the first international textile fabric trade show ever held in the United States.

Thousands of apparel manufacturers from all over the world were continually exposed to the new cotton symbol, which dominated the front cover of the official Texpo program.

J. Dukes Wooters Jr., president of Cotton Incorporated, the marketing and research company of America's cotton producers, said the cover placement of the new visual device gave cotton growers strong exposure to their second-level customers.

"Our primary aim was to capitalize on new opportunities offered American cotton farmers by the growing export market," said Wooters. "We also knew that the exposure would give domestic cotton users an increased awareness of cotton."

Wooters said international textile trade fairs have been held in Europe for years, but the Texpo event, held in the New York City Coliseum, represented America's first venture into the field.

"Cotton was right on top, where it belongs," said Wooters.

Mills from all over the world showed their new fabrics at Texpo, and some 8,000 fashion designers, stylists, marketing experts, and other decision-makers representing the manufacturers of apparel came to view the fabrics.

Little Girls Receive Ribbons, Close Season

First place ribbons were given to the members of the C&H team after their victory over Parson's, 8-2, July 8 at Marion Baseball Park. Both teams were treated to pop and cookies after the game.

Second place red ribbons were awarded to the Parson's team members.

The winning pitcher was Renee Daniel. Leading the hitting for C&H were Kathy Crelia, Daniel, Lori Lacy, Cindy Barton, and Carla Nunnally. Alta Porter coached.

Marilyn Hamilton took the loss. Top batters in the game for Parson's were Leslie Birkey, Belinda Crelia, Michelle Black and Veronica Foster. Joy Belew coached.

According to Mrs. Belew, the girls showed a great deal of enthusiasm during their first season of softball.

Lee's Aces 3-C, Martin's Loses

Lee's Grocery downed 3-C Construction in a close 10-8 game, July 8.

Charles Waugh (first) came up with three hits to lead Lee's Grocery win Monday night. Waugh had two singles and a double along with Jimmy Black's (third) and Lanny Ford's (second) two singles each. Colquitt Nash gave a boost with a three run homer. Lee's had 10 runs on 11 hits with three errors.

Kenny Black (LF) had two singles and a double in leading 3-C's hitting. Billy McAlister helped out with a triple and a single while Arnold Fincher came up with a double. Eight runs were made on nine hits with five errors.

In the second game, Martin's Seed dropped a close practice game to Childress with a 4-5 score.

The game was tied 4-4 in the bottom of the seventh when Johnson of Childress came up with a triple. Mike Heckathorne then flied out to center field and drove in the winning run.

Few errors were committed and the good defensive play from both teams kept the score low.

For Childress, the leading hitters were Brown and Sims with two singles each. Childress

Bulldozing Terracing Grading

Harold Elbert

—by Deskins Wells

IT WAS GOOD to see the flags flying in Wellington July 4. It was heartening to see an increase in the number in the business district and more flags displayed in front of homes.

THE KIWANIS Club and the Future Farmers are due congratulations for the vigor and effectiveness with which they have promoted this program. Patriotism is a noble emotion. There is no way of judging how much impression the display of flags will have upon the young who see this symbol of a great nation and its brave men and women fluttering in the breeze. There is no way of estimating the effect it will have on the future of our country.

COMMON-SENSE tells you the effect on the young is good. Patriotism makes you both proud and humble as you think of what the flag represents.

PEOPLE who have been complaining about the curb parking around the square can relax and prepare for easier parking in the near future. I suppose you read the story in the last issue of The Leader stating that the City Council by unanimous vote ordered angle parking to be returned around the curb. Single row parking with entry from either lane will be retained in the center.

HUNTING season for mourning doves has been set for our region from September 1 through October 30. The dove population is enormous this year. Dry weather is causing them to congregate more along streams and around ponds and lakes or near irrigated fields. There should be an abundance of these game birds in September.

CHARLES FLOYD, president of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce has this to say in his July 1 news letter to the membership:

"Let me take this time to personally say 'Thank You' for your continuing support of the Chamber of Commerce. I know of no other county which can equal ours in the support given to all our community projects. Our County is becoming a source of envy to many others because of the high quality of life and cooperation which we enjoy here. We have much to be thankful for in our county, but especially do we need to be thankful for the friendly, cooperative people which make up our county."

TO President Floyd's comment I would like to add an observation of my own. We can continue to be grateful and proud that we have people like Charles Floyd in positions of leadership.

NOW they tell me. The U.S. Department of Transportation admits that daylight saving time may have increased the use of gasoline. A study made by DOT also reveals that accidents among children has increased in the early morning hours in January and February. They have recommended that the return to standard time from the last Sunday in October to the last Sunday in February. The recommendation is a step in the right direction; but it is not enough. Daylight Saving Time should be limited from June 1 to Labor Day.

BICYCLE riding is wholesome exercise and it is a growing means of recreation here as well as over the entire United States. Whole families now take part in cycling. Unfortunately accidents are increasing as the bike riders increase in numbers. This means that increasing caution must be practiced by the people who ride the bicycles and even greater care must be taken by the people who drive the cars and trucks and other power driven vehicles.

SAFETY of the person on the bicycle must be safeguarded. As the cyclist become more numerous the drivers of autos and trucks will become more conscious of them. There is no place for reckless driving at any time. Proper law enforcement

Texas Trails Offer Much for Visitor

Multiple choice is the name of the vacation game in West Texas when it comes to riding the Texas Travel Trails. Four trails fall entirely within the western half of the state, while another three overlap its eastern rim.

Entirely West Texan in flavor are the Mountain Trail, Pecos Trail, Plains Trail and Forts Trail.

Sharing part of West Texas' geography are the lakes, Brazos and Hill Country Trails.

The listed attractions for all seven trails total 354. The four primary West Texas trails count up 202 among themselves, in a region larger than most of the 49 other states.

Other states, in fact have begun to emulate Texas' geographic approach to travel -- Montana and Missouri, for example -- while Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas and Nebraska have formed a region known as the Old West Trail.

Information on the seven West Texas trails is available from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in its new Wonderful West Texas Fun and Adventure Map.

Russian Film To Be Shown at Dodson Church

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Norman will present the film, "To Russia With Love," the story of Christian persecution behind the Iron Curtain, at the Dodson Church of the Nazarene Sunday, July 14, at 6:30 p.m.

This Dodson couple is now working with Underground Evangelism, a non-denominational Christian group which supplies bibles to people behind the Iron Curtain.

Besides the United States, Underground Evangelism operates in Canada, Australia, Switzerland, New Zealand, South Africa, Argentina, Mexico, Holland and Austria.

In addition to Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman will show the film at First Baptist Church, Hollis, on July 21; Church of the Nazarene, Pampa, July 28; Calvary Baptist Church, Childress Sunday, July 14, in the morning.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Norman speak, telling the work of the organization.

can help as people, behind the wheel become educated to the fact that the person on two wheels also has a right to be on the road. There is also an obligation on the part of the cyclist to observe due caution on all occasions.

CONVERSATION can be costly or disappointing as the case may be. The other morning Mrs. Henry Stall brought some small pods of fresh okra to the City Grocery. I had a sack ready but stepped out of line to talk a minute -- with my old college roommate Luther Sullivan -- at least he talked while I listened and wrote. When I turned around a lady was scooping the last of the okra into her bag. Not wishing to throw the plastic bag on the floor I bought four lemons. I should have made Luther buy those lemons.

Plainview Man New Manager of Farmers Co-op

Webb Johnson, a veteran South Plains gin manager, has been employed as manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin in Wellington.

Information on his selection by the board of directors was released by J.N. Glasgow of the Co-op staff.

Mr. Johnson succeeds W.E. (Dub) Marchant, who resigned as manager to become manager of the Memphis Co-op Gin.

Mr. Johnson has been manager of the co-op gin at Plainview, and has been around cotton gins in one capacity or another most of his life.

He and his family have bought the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thayne Amonett and are expected to move here about the middle of this month.

Mr. Glasgow also said that Jack Kellison, Co-op Gin manager, has resigned to accept a position with one of the co-op gins in Lorenzo. His successor has not been named.

Windmills Studied As Energy Source

An almost extinct symbol of the West Texas plains may be on the verge of making a unique comeback. The windmill, for years a source of power to pump water and to drive electrical generators before the coming of REA, will be one of the subjects under study by the Governor's Energy Advisory Council under a grant funded by the National Science Foundation. The New Technology committee of the energy council will undertake several projects that will study new technological sources of power and energy. One of the projects of the committee being investigated by Dr. Vaughn Nelson, head of the Department of Physics at West Texas State University, and Dr. Earl Gilmore, head of the Department of Physical Science at Amarillo College, will be a study of the potential for wind generated power in Texas.

The Panhandle Region of Texas and other large areas of the State may be particularly suited for this type of energy because of the strong steady winds that are recorded here. A recent study of weather records from the Amarillo and Lubbock National Weather Service Stations indicates a potential of capturable wind energy on the order of a trillion kilowatt hours annually for the Texas Panhandle Region. This data also indicates the Panhandle Region to have the highest wind energy density for any region of comparable size in the nation.

Although the windmill fell into disuse because they were engineered neither to compete nor integrate with the cheaper and more dependable REA supply, two technologies have developed in recent years that could make the capture and conversion of energy from wind economically feasible; the computer, with which the extensive calculations required in the necessary analysis of wind characteristics can be made, and modern solid-state electronic devices, which can provide the greatly increased efficiencies and dependabilities required in the conversion and control of the electrical energy produced.

Dr. Nelson and Dr. Gilmore with the aid of West Texas State University and Amarillo College, will gather and evaluate data in order to assess the program's feasibility through the study of contour maps of wind energy potential and probabilities of wind speed duration. The project will assess the types and estimate the capital cost of the most suitable installations for Texas; estimate the cost of energy production per KW hour; indicate unit size, possible uses and numbers of units required for various purposes; and discuss possible solutions to the problem of intermittency and energy storage.

The Governor's Energy Council, which was established by a legislative resolution authored by Senator Max Sherman of Amarillo, has been studying all aspects of our current and future energy situation for the past year. The grant by the National Science Foundation, which was approved, and presented to the Governor's Council on May 28, will allow the Council to expand their study projects and look toward earlier deadlines for their completion.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. McClaskey, Richard, Jr. and Kelly of Richardson, visited in the home of his mother Mrs. W.W. McClaskey, and his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith and Ann, Sunday. They were on their way to Northern New Mexico and Colorado.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Holliman were visited recently by Mr. and Mrs. H.B. Holliman and Don and Kathy of Lubbock, and by Mr. and Mrs. Dee Holliman of Panhandle.

Susan Coleman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John D. Coleman, and Terri Coleman, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mario Coleman, all of Canyon, visited for a week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Clark and children, George and Mary Ann, visited friends and relatives in Dallas over the weekend as well as Six Flags Over Texas in Arlington.

Mrs. Arthur Belew visited her daughters, Linda of Oklahoma City and Mr. and Mrs. Max Miller of Yukon, Okla. With her were Mrs. Janeece Bouldin, Sonya, and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Belew.

Home Management

By Mrs. Arla Felts

Consumers can take steps to protect themselves from unscrupulous "deals." Many Texans are victimized, gyped and deprived of their rights every day.

Older persons make prime targets since they tend to have trusting natures--and this creates special problems for them, especially since many live on fixed incomes.

To protect their money, older Texans, first, should remember it is their money--and they have the right to spend it as they wish. A reliable businessman respects a person's ability to judge quality and spend money wisely.

In view of that, older people should be careful of ads or phone calls that promise a prize or free gift.

Don't accept an offer unless all conditions are understood. Listen carefully to what the buyer must do.

When considering a purchase, get all conditions in writing on the sales slip. This includes delivery date, guarantee and right to exchange or return.

Don't accept verbal promises--they can't be enforced.

Resist pressure to sign a contract in a hurry--and don't sign at all if it has blanks that should be filled in. The best time to avoid trouble is before signing.

Jack Nelson Has Surgery

Jack Nelson underwent major surgery in St. Anthony's Hospital Monday, July 8. He was transferred from Collingsworth General Hospital Friday, July 5.

With him for the surgery were Mrs. Nelson and their daughters, Mrs. John Coffee and Mrs. Robert Henard of Lovington, N.M.

While Logan Bailey was on his vacation, he flew to Phoenix, Arizona, to visit his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M.J. Randon, and grandchildren, Michael, Tonia and Newell. He stayed from June 31 to July 5. While there he visited The Royal London Wax Museum.

Father Burke Plans Vacation

Father Pat Burke announced that he and his cousin, Jody Burke, were leaving on their vacation in Europe on July 22. They will be visiting relatives and friends in several European nations, and plan on returning to the US in mid-September.

Jody confesses to being lonely at leaving his new friends, and wants everyone to know how grateful he is for their love and for the interest the Wellington people showed him during his stay, especially his "wheelie" teacher, Cody Anglin.

During Father Pat's absence, the parish will be led by Father Jim Kirby, an Irish priest at present working in London, England. He will stay until early September, and will be replaced for the final two weeks by Father Schectel, a Jesuit priest from the University of San Francisco in California.

These priests will also take care of Father Pat's other church, St. Patrick's in Shamrock, and will live at the rectory at 12th and Floydada here.

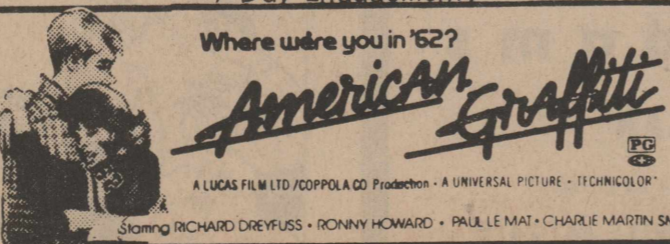

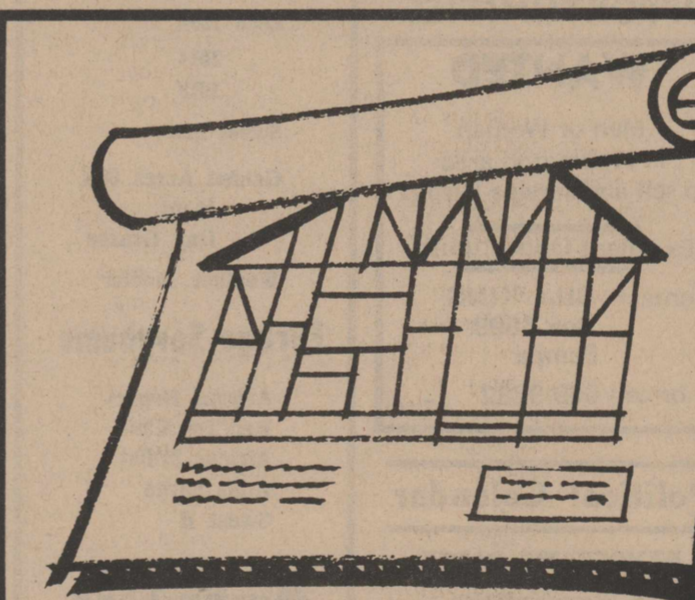

Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Reeves visited Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Bulls in Portales, N.M., recently. They also visited their daughter, Dr. and Mrs. E.B. Dempsey and daughters, Shelley and Susan in Odessa.

Mrs. James Richardson visited recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Williams in Plainview.
