MAN CONFESSES SLAYING SIX 1912

Austin Proration Hearing Brought to Close Saturday

CONCLUDED AFTER REQUEST FOR CONTINUANCE UNTIL APRIL 8 IS DENIED EAST TEXAS DELEGATES

AUSTIN, March 28. (AP)—The railroad commission's oil proration hearing was concluded late today after a request for a continuance by East Texans opposing proration had been denied.

The hearing was on placing an initial curb on the production of the new East Texas pools as well as on setting an allowable production figure for the entire state. Today was the fifth day.

The anti-prorationists, whose counsel was headed by Dan Moody, former governor, did not put on a single witness. Moody, in asking for a continuance until April 8, stated there was some testimony he wanted to adduce but that it was at present unavailable.

The central proration committee, which had recommended a daily allowable for the state for the next six months of from 656,000 to 686,000 barrels and for the new East Texas area of from 50,000 to 70,000 barrels, closed its case without argument of counsel.

Besides Moody, lawyers who spoke for the anti-prorationists were W. Dewey Lawrence, former assistant attorney general; Tom Beauchamp of Paris, Renne Allred of Henderson, brother of the present attorney general, and Charles F. Harty of Overton.

Hunter Urges Proration

Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls, an operator in the North Texas district, also made an argument to the commission. He urged that proration "be put on a sound economic basis in every section of the state or we do away with this so-called proration."

Hunter stated that proration should be either abandoned or made to apply equally to all districts. He said the Yates pool, one of the largest in Texas, had not been prorated below its maximum without physical wastage. He appealed to the commission to exempt the small wells from proration. He suggested the commission be given more funds to carry on its work.

The five representatives of the East Texans stated the railroad

GRAY COUNTY VOTES BONDS FOR HIGHWAY

PAMPA, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Gray county today voted a $2,250,000 paving bond issue for hard-surfacing state and federal highways and the principal county roads. Incomplete returns showed a majority for the bonds of 1,482 to 454.

The bonds will absorb a $627,000 indebtedness of two precincts. Concrete will be used on more than 75 miles of state and federal roads and asphalt and crushed rock on others. Work was expected to be expedited in order to give employment to men now idle.

An election set for April 4 in this precinct for a $1,600,000 issue will not be held. It was planned before the county-wide plan was made.

EIGHT MEN HURT BY BOMB SET TO KILL DRY RAIDERS

PAMPA, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Eight new oil wells were completed in Gray county this week for a total production of 16,511 barrels daily and 100,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The largest well was the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 4 Latham, west of the city, with 15,000 barrels daily output and 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

McIlroy's No. 1 Baer in section 125, block 3, extended the pool there with an initial production of 167 barrels.

The Scott, et. al No. 1 Cobb in section 184, block 3, made 20,000,000 feet of gas. Sun Oil company's No. 35 Combs-Worley, in section 35, block 3, came in for 429 barrels of oil and 9,000,000 feet of gas. Kewanee Oil and Gas company's No. 1-E Morse, in section 15, block A-9, did 325 barrels and the same firm's No. 3 Smith, section 149, block 3, was producing 420 barrels daily.

FLYING SQUADRON WILL AID DRY OFFICERS MAKE RAIDS OVER OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (AP)—Prohibition Administrator Amos W. Woodcock, on a visit here today said that if any changes are made in federal prohibition enforcement in Oklahoma they will be to strengthen present froces under Bee deMonburn, deputy administrator. Bee de Monbrun, deputy administrator.

Woodcock said the state would be visited periodically by a "flying squadron" to aid permanent forces in special "clean up" raids.

The home brewer will be safe in his basement, however, unless city or state forces molest him, Woodcock said, voicing the opinion that the best and quickest way to obtain strict observance of the national prohibition laws is to stop activities of the "big manufacturers and distributors."

MOTHER OF AMERICAN GIRL HELD IN FRANCE REACHES NICE SATURDAY

NICE, France, March 28. (US)—Mrs. James H. Nash, of St. Louis, Mo., mother of Mrs. Fred G. Nixon-Nirdlinger, arrived here today to be at her daughter's side during Mrs. Nixon-Nirdlinger's fight for acquittal in the slaying of her husband.

The two young Nixon-Nirdlinger children met their grandmother at the railroad station. Mrs. Nash was not permitted to see her daughter today, but Magistrate Vachier has arranged for a meeting in the local prison tomorrow.

LAST CASH BALANCE HERE IS $107,374

City Officials Give Figures On Wichita Falls' Financial Status

A net reduction of $488,706.23 in the city's indebtedness, including both bonds and warrants and permanent improvements costing $177,648.38 were cited as some of the accomplishments of the city government of Wichita Falls since March 31, 1928, in an additional statement issued by members of the city council Saturday. The statement further pointed to a sizeable overdraft on March 31, 1928, compared with a cash balance of $107,374.01 on the same date in 1931. The statement follows:

To the Citizens of Wichita Falls:

Since so many incorrect statements have been made concerning the affairs of the city government, the city council deems it advisable to issue a statement setting forth some additional facts not covered in their statement of last Friday.

Since March 31, 1928, the total indebtedness of the city of Wichita Falls, including both bonds and warrants, has been reduced $488,706.23. In other words the city now owes $488,706.23 less than it owed on March 31, 1928, and during that time permanent improvements costing $177,648.38 have been made out of revenue collected.

During that time the city has not voted any new bonds for new improvements. On the contrary, the city government has made every possible effort to gradually reduce the total indebtedness of the city and at the same time maintain the city's properties, including streets, sewers, fire, police and all other equipment, in a good state of repair.

Cash Balance

A cash balance on March 27, 1931, of $107,374.01 stood to the credit of the city of Wichita Falls, whereas on March 31, 1928, there

MANY CHILDREN INJURED IN WACO THEATER PANIC TEN SENT TO HOSPITALS

WACO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Ten children were carried to hospitals here today after a panic in the Waco theater during a children's matinee when a fuse blew out and an excited woman shouted "fire."

Three of the children were badly injured. It was estimated that 50 were hurt.

The theater was admitting children for two eggs each which were to be used in a city wide Easter hunt. Most of those injured were on a stairway leading to a balcony where they were crushed beneath the frantic mob of children.

A CHAMPION FOR 2930 DAYS

In four years, 1922-1926, Bobby Jones, the superb golfer, won five major championships. In 1928 and 1930 he was captain of the American team in the Walker cup matches. Jones has never lost an individual match against the British, and only one in a foursome under his leadership. American teams won their two widest victories in Chicago in 1928, and at Royal St. George's club, Sandwich, England, in 1930. Bobby Jones is bidding the game farewell. Authorities have stated a generation will most likely pass before another person captures more than half of the laurels he has in the last eight years. Dazed Survivors Tell Of Watching Children Freeze in School Bus

TOWNER, Colo., March 28. (UP)—A blizzard-swept wheat field tonight yielded the body of Carl Miller, raising to six the death toll of a storm disaster which overtook the Pleasant Hill school bus Thursday.

Miller, driver of the bus, died a hero. His body was found in a field three miles south and a half mile east of the bus, where, blinded by the storm and without sufficient clothing, he had wandered in search of aid for the 23 children in his bus.

His frozen body was taken to Holly and placed on a mortuary slab beside that of his daughter, May, 7, and four of her chums who died during 30 horrible hours while they were marooned in the bus by Thursday's blizzard.

HOLLY, Colo., March 28.—There are six heroes in the Morich mortuary here.

They sacrificed their lives that 19 others might live.

The children who died in the bus were the ones that gave their clothing to the smaller children.

Every one of them is a hero. When they found Miller's body three miles south and a mile east

ROXY SAYS GOODBYE TO HIS NEW YORK THEATER

His contract ends tomorrow, and he'll be back in town from tour to say goodbye to the large staff, including the ushers who are famous for their dipping courtesy, their generalissimo uniforms and the crack-marine drills.

Roxy, known to radio fans throughout the country, goes with Radio-Keith-Orpheum, but the theater he built four years ago will retain his name and he is to help out occasionally in an advisory capacity.

Labor Department Staff

AUSTIN, March 28. (UP)—State Labor Commissioner R. B. Gragg tonight announced appointment of his department staff. Its members are Mrs. Lillian D. Smith of Hardin county; B. H. Fuzzell, San Antonio; J. C. Smith, Waco; Mrs. Julia W. Jones, Dallas; Frank Harmsen, Houston. Gragg's chief deputy has not been selected.

TOWNER, Colo., March 28. (UP)—The harrowing story of 19 children, who watched five of their chums die when their school bus was stalled in a blizzard, was told here tonight.

For 30 hours the 19 survivors themselves fought of death as the blizzard raged, they told Dr. F. E. Casburn.

Many of the survivors probably will lose their hands and feet which were frozen during the terrible wait for rescue, Doctor Casburn said in relating to the story told him.

The children were exhorted by the bus driver to keep from freezing by moving about in the bus. They did, playfully, thinking at first that their plight was a great joke.

Clothing Divided

Those nearest the broken window complained.

The joke gradually became horror.

FIND NO TRACE OF YOUTH WHO ROBBED BANK IN PALESTINE

PALESTINE, March 28. (AP)—No trace had been found tonight of a lone, unmasked youth who robbed the First National bank of $7,620 shortly after it opened for business today.

The robber, described as tall and perhaps not over 20 years old, with a cap pulled low over his face, walked unnoticed through the outer offices and held a gun on the bank employes. After taking the money from the teller's cage, he locked the four employes present in the vault and escaped. Bystanders later said the man drove away in a small automobile.

The cashier used a telephone inside the vault to notify officers but they arrived too late to take up the pursuit. Vice President Clifford Hufsmith came from his home to release the employes locked in the vault.

The bank's loss was covered by insurance.

TWO SHEEPHERDERS DIE IN NEW MEXICO STORM

AMARILLO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Two sheep herders were added to the death toll from the blizzard of the past two days in reports from the Pecos river valley of eastern New Mexico today. The dead are Juan Selgado, native herder, and an unidentified man. Fruit, truck and lamb losses in the valley also were very heavy.

DISCOVERY OF INSANE JUROR CAUSES MISTRIAL IN IDAHO MURDER CASE

BONNERS FERRY, Idaho, March 28. (AP)—Discovery of an insane juror in the panel hearing the trial of John Reding, 25-year-old farmer accused of the murder of Llewellyn Curtis Church, caused District Judge E. E. Hunt to declare a mistrial last night.

The juror, Lester McMahon, Judge Hunt said other jurors told him, had been "acting queerly" for two days and had told them he was to be called as a witness for both the prosecution and the defense in the trial he was hearing.

Questioned by Judge Hunt tonight, McMahon said he could not serve as a juror "because I have been guilty of a crime." He said he based his assertion on a Bible statement, "A man who sits in judgment of murder will himself be judged of a crime."

Two physicians examined him and declared him to be insane.

FIND BODY AGED WOMAN IN HOUSE GUARDED BY BROTHER SINCE MARCH 5

BALTIMORE, March 28. (UP)—The body of an 84-year-old woman was removed by police today from a house on East Madison street, where it had been guarded by her 77-year-old brother since March 5, when she died.

Since that date, police learned, the brother has not ventured from the house during daylight hours. At night he has gone to small neighborhood stores to purchase enough food to keep him alive. He has permitted no one in the house.

The brother, police said, is James O'Neil. According to their report, Hester O'Neil died from injuries received in a fall about Feb. 15.

Investigation of the case was started by Coroner Potter.

DETROIT CONFESSION DISCLOSES MURDER OF FAMILY OF SIX BY MAN WHO USED AX AS WEAPON

DETROIT, March 28. (AP)—George Myer, 48, has confessed to Detroit detectives that he killed six persons, wiping out an entire family with an axe, in the little town of Villisca, Iowa, in 1912, police announced tonight.

Detectives said they felt certain Myer's story solves the axe-murder mystery which spread terror through four states 19 years ago.

Myer, who was being held here on a breaking and entering charge, said he killed Joseph Moore, his wife, and their four children, for $2,000 paid him by a stranger whose name he does not know and whom he has not seen since the night of the murder.

The stranger, he said, wanted Moore killed in revenge for Moore's alleged intimacy with the stranger's wife.

Test of Veracity

Moore's confession was made last night, but detectives held it secret for 24 hours while they made him tell and re-tell his story as a test of its veracity.

The elderly prisoner, on awakening this morning told detectives "I'm glad I confessed. Last night was the first night of peace I've had in 19 years."

His only regret, he said, was that he did not kill the stranger when he refused to pay him the last $1,000 of his promised $3,000 fee for Moore's death.

Arrested Feb. 3

Myer was arrested here on Feb. 3, on a robbery charge. While detectives were holding him for investigation an anonymous letter was received, saying that Myer could reveal "interesting things" about some murders in Villisca, Iowa, many years ago.

Myer laughed when questioned.

Police then sent a letter to Red Oak, Iowa, county seat of Montgomery county, in which Villisca is located, asking if any multiple-killing occurred there about 1912. Sheriff John Konkel replied that on June 9, 1912, Moore, his wife,

HOMER ALTMAN SAYS HE SHOT SELF DEFENSE

TESTIFIES TO FINDING BILL IN WIFE'S PURSE

Wife and Mother of Accused Take Stand to Aid Defense

ASPERMONT, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Homer Altman, 26, on trial here for murder in the slaying of Sam Tanner, 58, took the stand in his own defense Saturday afternoon immediately after his wife had finished giving her testimony.

The defendant testified that he was a tenant on Tanner's place in 1929 and part of 1930. About Oct. 11 last he said he and his wife took a bale of cotton in a trailer to the Rotan gin, where he opened his wife's purse and found a $10 bill tied up in her handkerchief.

Altman told the jury that after he had questioned his wife closely she told him of Tanner's visit to her at Rotan a few days before, that Tanner had declared he would have her for himself and had offered to buy her an automobile and a wrist watch.

He said his wife also admitted to him that she had written a letter to Tanner from Rotan.

This letter was offered in evidence as well as two letters alleged to have been written by Tanner to Mrs. Altman and to have been intercepted by Mrs. R. P. Allen.

Tells of Agreement

Continuing his testimony the defendant stated that he and his wife decided to move from the Tanner place and leave soon for New Mexico. He said he made arrangements to settle a $500 debt Tanner owed them by letting the latter pay them

STOCK SLUMP SALES HEAVY

Decline of $1 to $4 Result Report on Steel

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Stock declined $1 to $4 today in active selling, stimulated in part by reports that steel mill activity in the Youngstown district would show a decrease next week.

This drop, bringing operations to 48 per cent of capacity from 51 per cent, was said to reflect a falling off in automobile sheet orders, and the motor and steel shares were heavily sold. Rails, although not particularly active, went into new low ground for the year, as measured by the averages.

The turnover for the two hours was 2,100,000 shares, which exceeded the volume for full sessions on either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday.

Utilities were weak. American Telephone, Electric Power and Light, American Power and Light and Consolidated Gas lost $3. Industrial shares off $1 to $2 included U. S. Steel, General Motors, General Electric, American Can, Bethlehem, Du Pont, National Biscuit and Radio. Auburn Auto's loss was exceptional—nearly $14 net.

The state bureau of securities, reporting on an investigation of the recent market performance of Auburn, said nothing had been disclosed "that would warrant any intervention." Auburn closed today at $223.50. Its high for the year, made Wednesday, is $251.50 and its low $101.50.

RED CROSS WILL AID IN SEARCH FOR BODY

GREENVILLE, Texas, March 28. (AP)—All other efforts to find the body of Gus Bass, transportation company employe who was drowned Monday, having failed, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce today secured aid from the Red Cross. Johnny Burns, diver, was located at Glen Rose and started here with a truck of special equipment.

Galveston Light Boat Goes Adrift As Highest Seas Observed on Gulf Last 20 Years Snap Anchor Chain

GALVESTON, March 28. (AP)—Battered by north winds of storm velocity, the United States light vessel, Heald Bank, was blown far off her station in the gulf, 35 miles southeast of Galveston, Friday night when her anchor chain snapped and the ship drifted before the gale.

When the light ship arrived in Galveston late Saturday for a new anchor and repairs, her position on Heald Bank, which marks the turning point for ships bound to and from Texas ports, was left marked only by a buoy. It was the second time in more than 20 years that the ship was forced to leave her station by stress of weather. Work of getting the new anchor aboard and other repairs will be continued tonight and the lightship is expected to sail before daylight Sunday to resume her unguarded station.

Capt. D. H. McCluskey, her master, said the north winds which swept Texas, and which Saturday were creating havoc in Mexican ports, resulted in the highest seas he has observed in his 20 years of service.

The ship was riding to her 5,300-pound mushroom anchor and 720 feet of heavy chain when the chain parted as a tremendous sea swept the staunch light vessel.

BULLET FROM TRASH FIRE WOUNDS WOMAN IN LEG

SAN ANTONIO, March 28. (AP)—Wounded in the leg by an exploding rifle cartridge, as she stood near a trash fire, Pablota Campos, was under treatment at the county hospital today.

The woman was sweeping trash into the fire in the back yard of her home when the shell exploded. She was unable to explain the presence of the cartridge in the trash.

Finding of Wreckage Adds to Mystery of Unsolved SOS Call

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Wreckage floating on an oily patch in the Atlantic ocean 15 miles off Atlantic City late today led government officials to hope for definite information about mysterious SOS message they earlier thought to be a rum runner's fake.

Just as coast guards had decided their mission of "rescue" was due to be a blind so a cargo of liquor could be landed, the coast guard patrol, Sebago, radioed having found the wreckage and the oil area.

There was a heavy layer of oil, such as a foundering ship might leave on the water, and many bits of debris that might have been cargo.

The spot was in the general direction given in the rather vague distress signal before dawn.

The wreckage included more than 100 lanterns, with red glass and green bases and with "L. A. Co." painted on their sides. There were several barrels labeled "A. C. L. Crystals—lot 137," several boxes of paper drinking cups and quantities of brooms, spars and wreckage.

All these articles were found floating about in the oily area and the fact they were still so close together indicated they had not been there long.

The messages started at 12:30 a. m., and ceased at 2:06 a. m.—the last word from the air being an ironic "Leaving now, Goodby."

By triangulation, coast guard officials determined that the "ship" from which the distress calls came was on dry land at Hoboken, N. J. Investigators from the department of commerce went there.

Seven coast guard vessels—destroyers, cutters and power life boats—went chasing 30 miles off Barnegat, N. J. Messages from the "ship" said there were passengers aboard, that water was rising in the radio room, that lifeboats were about to be launched.

But the radio operator failed to tell the name of the ship. This, and the fact that the operator seemed unfamiliar with the business of sending aroused suspicions, but the rescue fleet was not ordered back.

When the first call came the Pan America was about 25 miles from the position given—30 miles off Barnegat. She sped to the rescue, but her radio officer noticed the nearer he got to his destination the fainter were the signals for help.

Burke Beats Gallows and Chair When Delivered to State That Has Long Banned Capital Punishment

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 28. (US)—Fred Burke, known as a wholesale killer, beat the gallows and the electric chair today when Gov. Henry C. Caulfield honored the requisition of the state of Michigan for the reputed arch-criminal, wanted in a half dozen other states.

An armored motor car was ready for the transport of Burke. The trip is planned for tomorrow.

Michigan has not employed capital punishment since the late 40's, although the voters of the state are to vote on the question at a referendum election next month.

Faces Life Imprisonment

Burke therefore stands a chance ultimately of dying of old age in the state prison at Jackson or up at Marquette, where they generally send the "tough ones," providing he is convicted of the murder of Charles Skelly, a St. Joseph, Mich., policeman. Burke, it is alleged, was annoyed when Skelly in December, asked him to come to the police station because of a trivial traffic argument and shot the officer dead.

Chicago authorities, who made the most desperate efforts to get possession of Burke, believing him the leader of the St. Valentine day machine gun squad which mowed down seven of the "Bugs" Moran gangsters, were disappointed at their failure, but announced that they would cooperate in getting Burke safely to Michigan and would furnirsh any evidence or witnesses needed by the Michigan prosecutors.

Governor Caulfield gave Michigan the preference because it appeared to him that the evidence against Burke there was more conclusive than that which any of the other claimants had been able to produce.

As preparations were going forward for the removal of Burke, rumors spread about the town that a large crowd of Chicago gangsters was mobolizing to effect his rescue.

OPEN ARGUMENTS IN TILLMAN RUM CONSPIRACY TRIAL

GUTHRIE, Okla., March 28. (AP)—Possibility of a verdict in the retrial of P. V. Ruch, former Tillman county attorney, on charges of conspiracy to violate federal liquor laws, ended tonight shortly before 9 o'clock as court recessed after hearing arguments of two attorneys.

An assistant district attorney and a defense lawyer gave the jury their versions of the case in a night session, but District Judge Edgar S. Vaught called a halt to proceedings before U. S. District Attorney Roy St. Lewis and Chief Defense Counsel J. B. Dudley, Oklahoma City, could present their arguments.

Ruch left the stand late today after being called to testify late yesterday.

The 49-year-old church elder and Sunday school teacher of Frederick, Okla., made sweeping denial of the charges that he and three other former Tillman county officials were engaged in a conspiracy to protect bootleggers and liquor manufacturers from molestation.

The three, C. A. Wages, former sheriff; R. S. Rogers, constable, and Bud Walls, deputy constable, are awaiting sentence on pleas of guilty to similar charges.

CONDITION JAMES COX REPORTED ENCOURAGING

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 28. (AP)—The condition of former Gov. James M. Cox, of Ohio, who underwent an emergency operation here today for acute appendicitis, was pronounced by hospital authorities to be as well as could be expected to be as wel las could be expected tonight.

The governor, owner of the news league, embracing newspapers in Miami and Dayton, and Springfield, Ohio, was stricken early today.

SIX VICTIMS BUS TRAGEDY HEROES

of the bus tonight he was virtually unclad. He had left most of his clothing in the bus for the children while he went to get help.

His trip out into the storm was foolhardy. He couldn't have reached help. But he tried.

Heroism of Children

Along with his heroism, perhaps greater, is that of the children, who died because they were nearly undressed. They had stripped so the younger and weaker companions could conserve their bodily energy which rapidly was diminishing because of lack of food.

There is no question that those who died were victims of the cold. The gasoline supply of the bus was exhausted hours before their death, which makes it impossible that gas was responsible.

I examined the bodies carefully and am convinced that the five children died by freezing—it is something like going to sleep, they did not suffer, toward the last.

The fact that a window was broken out did not expose any of the children particularly more than any others—it was so cold that the window made little difference.

It was just a case of survival of the fittest—the weaker children had less vitality, less resistance.

Now that the surviving children are safely in beds of Charles Maxwell's hospital at Lamar, where he has received them gratis, it looks as though they all probably will live and recover.

They were taken there this afternoon. I believe that most of them will recover so completely that all their limbs will be saved.

RESUME JURY SELECTION SOLDIER'S DEATH TRIAL

SAN ANTONIO, March 28. (AP)—Selection of a jury to try Lexie Jones, Fort Sam Houston soldier, charged with the murder of Daniel H. Uhr, was resumed today before District Judge Anderson from a special panel of talesmen summoned after an original venire had been exhausted.

The slaying has three times been detailed in court trials and the lawyers are finding it difficult to get jurors who have not heard something of the case.

PACIFIC COAST ESCAPES WORST OF DEPRESSION

LOS ANGELES, March 28. (US)—California and the Pacific coast suffered less from business depression than the East and its return to normalcy should be rapid, in the opinion of Dr. Frank F. Barham, publisher of the Evening Herald, who has just returned from a trip to New York.

Dr. Barham said that business throughout the country, as gauged by every reliable index, is improving, slowly perhaps, but certainly.

EIGHT NEW WELLS COMPLETED PAMPA AREA DURING WEEK

TRENTON, N. J., March 28. (US)—Eight men, including five federal employes and a township chief of police, were injured tonight in an explosion believed to have been caused by a bomb set to kill dry raiders.

The blast demolished two two-story brick houses at 1 and 3 Vermont avenue, in Lawrence township, just across the Trenton line, and rocked houses for a mile around.

Most of the victims were hurt in No. 1, where they were demolishing a still they had seized in a raid early in the afternoon. The explosion occurred in the basement of this house. Both No. 1 and No. 3 collapsed, burying those within, and then caught fire.

AUSTIN PRORATION HEARING ENDED

commission neither should not nor was it impowered to curb the flow of the new East Texas area.

"We already have gone over that bridge, and the case is now in the courts," C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, replied to one of the attorneys who was telling the commission it had no power to prorate. He was speaking of the Danciger case, in which the district court upheld the railroad commission's right to curb production. The decision was appealed.

Expect Decision Tuesday

It was thought likely that the railroad commission would make its decision by Tuesday, as the present proration order expires Wednesday.

Two recommendations had been made for East Texas. Besides the one by the central proration committee, the operators committee headed by W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, had recommended 85,000 barrels daily for the first 30 days, 75,000 for the second month and 90,000 for the third month.

The East Texans had announced plans to carry the matter to the courts in event the commission approved either of those figures. They would seek an injunction to prevent enforcement of proration.

In his argument today, Lawrence charged the prorationists had shown no evidence of physical waste in East Texas and mentioned the commission could consider only physical waste. He stated only one man testified to physical waste in East Texas and that that witness was merely theorizing because he admitted he had no experience in a like sand.

The witness, C. F. Roeser, independent operator of Fort Worth, had stated there was physical waste because of unequal withdrawals, likely to result in water encroachment and because of unnecessary loss of gas.

Admits Slaying Man

HOUSTON, March 28. (UP)—Following his identification by another prisoner in the county jail here today, Antonio Lopez admitted killing another young Mexican at Raymondville last September. Francisco Madero, held on a minor charge, saw Lopez kill the man at Raymondville. When put in jail together today he recognized the slayer and called the jailer.

MAN CONFESSES TO SLAYING SIX 1912

their four children and "two Stillinger girls" were killed with an ax.

Detectives confronted Myer with the letter.

He broke down, protesting wildly that he killed only six people, not eight. Declaring he wanted "to get it all off his chest" he told of the Moore killings as follows:

Contracts to Do Slaying

In June, 1912, he said, he met in a Kansas City saloon a stranger who told him he wanted a certain man killed. Myer replied he would do the killing "if the price was right." The stranger offered $5,000, told him where to find Moore, and the two made a rendezvous at Villisca for the ninth of June.

They met in the little Iowa town, and late at night on the designated date Myer stole to Moore's house, with the ax under his coat. He picked a lock and gained entrance. He found Moore asleep, and killed him.

At the blow Mrs. Moore started up from her sleep, and Myer struck her down. The four small children, hearing sounds of the tragedy, awakened, and Myer, to protect himself from possible identification, killed them too. He reported to his employer and received $2,000.

Detectives were grilling Myer ceaselessly tonight on the theory he may know something about the evangelist tragedy here three years ago, in which a family of six were slain with an ax while they slept. He steadfastly denied knowledge of it.

Eight Persons Slain

VILLISCA, Iowa, March 28. (AP)—The axe slaying of eight persons here the night of June 9, 1912, had all the earmarks of a best seller mystery story.

Joe Moore, his wife and four children ranging in ages from 16 to 4, and the two daughters of Joe Stillinger, arrived home from church about 9 o'clock the fatal night. They were never seen alive again.

When Moore failed to arrive at his implement shop the next morning, officers and neighbors entered the home. Eight bodies, their heads crushed by heavy blows, lay in beds throughout the house.

Every curtain in the home was drawn and shirts, petticoats, skirts and other wearing apparel were draped around the edges to shut out the light.

Bloody Ax Found

In the corner of a downstairs bedroom the bloody ax leaned against the wall. In Joe Moore's bedroom the sheet had been snatched from the bed and draped over a mirror as if the slayer had sought to blot out his reflection when he lighted the lamp found burning in the room.

Blood hounds, detectives, a finger print expert, were summoned but no tell-tale clues were found.

A minister, Rev. Lynn George J. Kelly, at Macedonia, 60 miles away, commented at breakfast that a murder had been committed. He said he had arrived from Villisca at 5 a. m. He was arrested but released. Five years later he was arrested again, tried and acquitted.

The investigation ran into months then years. But after Reverend Kelly had been acquitted in 1917, the case drifted into the records of crimes unsolved, resurrected occasionally on some faint clue.

CONDITION ROMANIAN PRINCE IS IMPROVED

BUCHAREST, March 28. (INS)—Crown Prince Michael of Roumania, seriously ill with grippe, was reported considerably improved today.

INVENTOR OF OLD TIME BRASS BAGGAGE CHECK DIES WISCONSIN HOME

WAUWATOSA, Wis., March 28. (US)—The man who invented the old time brass baggage check is dead here at his home.

He is William D. Carrick, 72, for many years general baggage agent for the Milwaukee railroad, with headquarters in Milwaukee.

Prior to the invention of the baggage checks, trunks and other pieces of luggage were marked with chalk which frequently rubbed off, causing losses and delays.

After the brass check had been in use for years, Carrick replaced it with the paper tag. He also was the first to introduce the glass-lined milk tank cars now in use on many railroads.

Carrick was born at Galt, Ont., in 1859. His funeral will be held Monday in Milwaukee.

LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS IS FOUND UNCONSCIOUS

WASHINGTON, March 28. (US)—Dr. Herbert Putnam, librarian of congress, was found unconscious on a sidewalk opposite the White House tonight.

Dr. R. Witt O'Hara, a passerby, took him to emergency hospital where it was said his condition was undetermined.

Dr. Putnam, who is 69 years old, has been librarian of congress for 32 years.

TWELVE DEAD AS RESULT OF STORM

the storm on his way home from school. Charles Beach, 50, a sheephearder, has been missing since Wednesday in the vicinity of South Casper, Wyo.

A busload of children, missing with John Doll, driver, since Thursday morning, near Sheridan Lake, Colo., was found safe at a farm home today. Twenty children and their teacher were rescued from a schoolhouse at Horace, Kan., in which they had spent two days and a night. Charles Fitzgerald, substitute mail carrier, was found alive but suffering keenly in his stalled automobile 16 miles from Lexington, Neb.

Charity Agencies Mobilized

As the real story of human death and suffering began to be told and physicians and charity agencies were mobilized for relief in a wide area including Wyoming, Colorado, South Dakota, Nebraska and the western parts of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, stockmen began to learn the fate of their herds on the ranges. Cattle were found by hundreds standing in snowdrifts, frozen to death. It was impossible to estimate the thousands of head lost in the storm area.

In the southern part of the storm area, where fruit trees were most advanced, it was reported that the peach, apricot and other stone-fruit crops were ruined and that the crop of early apples would be slim.

The storm had moved fanwise to northeast, east and southeast today. It was snowing and freezing in Oklahoma and Texas. The mid-south states of Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana reported rain, snow flurries and near freezing cold.

EASTER CONCERT TO BE HELD AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, March 28. (US)—Departing from the time-honored tradition of throwing open to youngsters the south grounds of the White House on Easter Monday for the sole purpose of egg rolling, Mrs. Herbert Hoover this year has arranged for a group of folk dances and concerts by the U. S. marine band, it was learned today.

AUSTRO-GERMAN PACT THREATENS HARMONY OF LEAGUE COUNCIL MEET

GENEVA, March 28. (US)—A fight which threatens to rip open the league council in May is shaping up here today over the proposed Austro-German customs union.

Challenging the fulminations of the French regarding the pact, economic experts here declare that the Austro-German step is the logical and proper outcome of the league's advocacy of economic unions.

The league will investigate the question thoroughly at the next council meeting, and league officials here admit they have little chance to force Austria and Germany to abandon their agreement.

AUTO RUNS 59 MILES ON GALLON OF GAS

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and more power. The Whirlwind Mfg. Co., Dept. 2970-N, Station C, Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. They also need men everywhere to make up to $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write them at once for free sample and big money making offer.

When You CAN'T QUIT

A headache is often the sign of fatigue. When temples throb it's time to rest. If you can't stop work, you can stop the pain. Bayer Aspirin will do it, every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and carry-on—in comfort.

Don't work with nerves on edge or try all day to forget a nagging pain that aspirin could end in a jiffy! Genuine aspirin can't harm you; just be sure it's Bayer.

In every package of Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, etc. Carry these tablets with you, and be prepared. To block a sudden cold on the street-car; quiet a grumbling tooth at the office; relieve a headache in the theatre; spare you a sleepless night when nerves are "jumping."

And no modern girl needs "time out" for the time of month! Bayer Aspirin is an absolute antidote for periodic pain.

Bayer Tablets Aspirin Genuine

Take Bayer Aspirin for any ache or pain, and take enough to end it. It can't depress the heart. That is medical opinion. That is why it is only sensible to insist on the genuine tablets that bear the Bayer cross. The pocket tin is a convenient size. The bottle of 100 tablets is most economical to buy.

WENTZ PROBE IN OKLAHOMA 'FIZZLES OUT'

Committee Adjourns Until Monday Morning at 10 o'Clock

PLAN EXECUTIVE SESSION FOR PREPARING REPORT

Wentz Announces He Will Remain on Commission Regardless

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—The highway investigation "fizzled out" today after threats had been made to "blow the top off of it."

The threat was made in private conversation by Senator W. T. Fidler following action of the committee in permitting Sid White, outside attorney, to cross-examine Commissioner Lew H. Wentz.

Fidler declared that he would have George S. Ramsey, Tulsa attorney, hurry to Oklahoma City and personally represent him before the committee as he (Fidler) is not a member of the committee.

Ramsey is private attorney for Wentz.

The committee stopped the cross-examination after 30 minutes on motion of Senator U. T. Rexroat.

Rexrot said White was not bringing out anything new and the testimony was merely a reiteration of testimony previously given by Wentz.

Adopt Rexroat Motion

The committee adopted the Rexroat motion, agreed to discharge all witnesses and adjourn until 10 a. m. Monday when an executive session will be held for the purpose of preparing a report.

White was brought into the case by Representative Nat Henderson, a member of the committee.

Henderson is author of the bill which has for its purpose the removal of Wentz from office.

In the course of his questioning, White asked Wentz if it would not be necessary that either he or the governor and the other two commissioners get out to restore harmony.

Wentz declared there is not a sufficient lack of harmony on the commission to prevent the orderly carrying out of the commission's business.

"There is a disagreement, however, on the method of buying cement," Wentz added.

Henderson asked Wentz if he intended to remain on the commission.

"I will remain on it under all circumstances," Wentz said.

PREDICT INCREASE ALL TEXAS FEED AND FOOD CROPS

AUSTIN, March 28. (UP)—If Texas farmers carry out their present planting intentions there will be an increase in all feed and food crops for 1931. Excluding cotton, Texas farmers, as reported to the federal division of agricultural economics here, will cultivate 15,897,000 acres. The increase is more than two million acres over the acreage harvested in 1930.

Summarized, the indications are:

Corn—Fifteen per cent increase in planting with a total of 5,682,000 acres, the largest planting since 1922 which had 5,729,000 acres.

Oats—Thirty per cent increase in plantings with a total acreage of 2,205,000. This will be the highest oats acreage, exceeding even the 1927 record holder by 2,000 acres.

Grain Sorghum—Five per cent increase with 3,072,000 acres. It will be the largest grain sorghum acreage ever planted in the state.

Other intention reports show: Potatoes, 12 per cent increase over last year's 41,000 acres; sweet potatoes, 50 per cent increase over 109,000 acres; peanuts, 60 per cent increase over 158,000 acres; cowpeas, 30 per cent increase over 148,000 acres; tame hay, five per cent increase over 702,000 acres.

The winter wheat acreage, sown in the fall, shows a 28 per cent increase over the 2,570,000 acres harvested last year.

National law prohibits the division gathering intentions on cotton planting. A vigorous acreage reduction campaign on cotton is being waged, including bills before the state legislature for forcible reduction as a soil conservation and pest combat measure.

MARY NOLAN OBTAINS MARRIAGE LICENSE

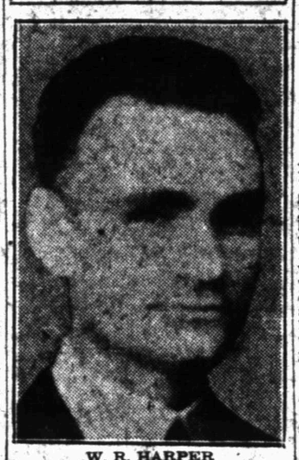

NEW YORK, March 28. (INS)—Mary Nolan, who was Imogene Wilson, Broadway showgirl, before she changed her name, got a marriage license today.

Miss Nolan and Frank Tinney, comedian, several years ago broke off a friendship which had received considerable publicity.

PREDICT DECREASE 1931 WHEAT CROP OF UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, March 28. (INS)—Based on figures compiled by the crop reporting board, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde today predicted this year's wheat crop would amount to 840,000,000 bushels this year, 17,000,000 bushels below the average of the last five years.

He also expressed the belief there would be a 10 to 12 per cent reduction in winter wheat acreage next fall. The annual intentions to plant report issued this week by the department, Hyde said, was "very encouraging."

Commenting on the decision of the federal farm board not to stabilize this year's wheat crop, he said that while he did not attempt to speak for the board, "it is a pretty safe bet that it will not sell its socks of stabilized wheat on terms which will compete with the new crop."

Hyde said it had been estimated that 236,000,000 bushels of wheat were fed on farms this winter, and if these figures were correct, the carryover on July 1 would be 230,000,000 bushels. The farm board has predicted the carryover would be 275,000,000 bushels.

"There is not the slightest danger of a market congestion in handling the new crop as has been suggested by the bureau of agricultural economics," he said.

Drouth loans are being made at the rate of $750,000 daily and to date approximately $22,000,000 has been loaned from the $45,000,000 appropriation made available by congress for drouth relief. The demand for loans is expected to cease in about 40 days, he said.

MARKET COMMISSION EMPLOYES OFFENSIVE TO MURRAY LOSE JOBS

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—Four employees of the state market commission will be discharged April 1 in compliance with Gov. W. H. Murray's wishes, Harry E. Cordell, president of the state board of agriculture and chairman of the market commission said today.

Employes to be discharged are W. L. Lollar, Pauls Valley, and Dave Roberts, Rush Springs, assistant graders; Fred Ingram, Oklahoma City, commission traffic manager, and Frank Welker, Oklahoma City, special representative for the market commission.

Governor Murray said that unless certain employes of the market commission are discharged he would not allow their salary claims to be paid for next month.

These four men were appointed by Cordell.

EIGHT MEN GIVEN PRISON SENTENCES AT BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, Texas, March 28.—Judge C. O. Hamlin's 90th district court was running in high gear all this week and court adjourned Friday with one of the highest records ever marked up by this tribunal.

District Attorney Ben J. Dean revealed Friday in reviewing the week of criminal activities, that eight men had received penitentiary sentences this week. The number of years given the eight convicted parties amounted to 27 years, Mr. Dean said.

Results of trials in criminal court this week before Judge Hamlin are as follows:

James C. Lucas, five years for hijacking.

Guy Warnic, five years for hijacking.

Emmett Braley, two years for burglary.

Wayne Young, two years each in two forgery cases.

J. E. Bayles, two years each in two forgery cases.

Raymond Armstrong, two years each in two theft cases.

Raymond Cheshire, two years on a charge of theft.

Victim Mexican Revolution Tells Strange History

EL PASO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Victim of Mexican revolution, Harold McKibben, 24, has returned to the United States to search for his parents, whom he has not seen in 20 years.

Bearded, ragged, starved and heart-sick, McKibben staggered across the border at Lizard Switch, an isolated spur 10 miles from El Paso and was picked up by border patrolmen today.

Speaking perfect Spanish and halting English, McKibben told a story of being taken from his home at Miami, Okla., by a Mexican family. In Mexico, his abductors fled as a revolution broke and wandered about until he became of age. In 1927 he returned to the United States to search for his parents, but was unsuccessful and went back to Mexico.

McKibben told officers he believed his mother was part Cherokee Indian and that he was an heir to valuable Oklahoma oil lands. Patrolmen turned him over to custody of immigration authorities, who investigated his story and being convinced it was authentic, released him. He then left town for Oklahoma.

CRIMINALS TAKE CASH AND CLOTHES AT BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDE, Texas, March 28.—Thieves plied their trade in Breckenridge again Thursday night, breaking in two establishments and escaping with $27 in cash, cigarets, cigars and chewing gum, police reported Friday.

No trace of the robbers who were at their work Thursday night, nor the "gypsy" women who last Wednesday afternoon "fleeced" a teller in the First National bank out of $320 nor the robbers of the Dynamo cleaning and pressing plant, where articles valued at $700 were taken, had been found Friday, Chief of Police John Kelley said.

The two places broken into Thursday night were the Panhandle filling station, number three, and the small stand of Helen Harris, blind girl, in the lobby of the county courthouse.

PIONEER LAMESA EDITOR SUCCUMBS TO ILLNESS

LAMESA, Texas, March 28.—Charles Houser, resident of this city for 22 years, died today.

Funeral services will be held from the Lamesa Baptist church Sunday afternoon with Rev. E. F. Cole, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in charge of the local Masonic lodge.

Mr. Houser was 72 years of age and was a pioneer newspaper editor in West Texas. He was until recently editor of the Dawson County Journal.

OKLAHOMAN FOUND GUILTY AND LIFE RECOMMENDED

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—A district court jury today found Chester Stone, 23-year-old oil field worker, guilty on a charge of first degree manslaughter and recommended a life sentence.

UMPIRE FOR OIL INDUSTRY IS PLAN OF BILL MURRAY

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—Appointment of an umpire for the nation's oil industry was advocated today by Gov. W. H. Murray.

Such an umpire should be named by the oil producing states, Murray said.

"I believe the oil industry should have some kind of an umpire the same as the baseball leagues or the motion picture industry, the governor said.

Murray said the duties of such an official would be to regulate the output, storage and price of crude oil throughout the United States.

"If this plan is followed and if the Oklahoma legislature would get behind it, Oklahoma City would be the oil capital of the world," Murray said.

The governor did not say whether he would submit such a plan at this session of the legislature.

"E-Z Kleen" Burner Box
No overhanging ledges. When grates are removed there isn't a single obstruction. The drip pan of beautiful sealed die work, is designed to catch any overflow from the cooking top. Can be cleaned with a few strokes of a cloth.

Patented "Even-Heet" Burner
Scientifically constructed, embodies a radial feature of 14 circle principle. An even distribution of heat prevents center burning while cooking and frying—the heat is the same at all points. Intensive heat, evenly distributed, saves time and gas. Porcelain finish makes them easy to keep clean.

Patented Rolled Top Warming Shelf
Eliminates the deep crack or crevice found on other ranges where shelf joins the back guard. The lining is all white rotar-fused porcelain of sealed die work construction underneath. No place for dirt and grease to accumulate.

PROBE OF CITY NEW YORK MAY GUIDE LEADERS

Political Fortunes Smith And Roosevelt To Be Involved

SMILING MAYOR DUE TO RETURN WITHIN WEEK

Tammany Leader Predicts Bigger and Better Victories in Future

By LOWELL LEAKE
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 28.—Mayor James J. Walker is coming back home next week to find his administration and its sponsors, Tammany hall, involved in investigations which may test the political adroitness and determine the political fortunes of at least two possible presidential candidates.

Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith is of Tammany. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who twice placed Smith in nomination for the presidency has had Tammany support.

Indirectly, pending investigations may affect the presidenital aspirations of other possible candidates, including Albert C. Ritchie, governor of Maryland; Joseph Robinson, senator from Arknasas and Smith's running mate against President Hoover three years ago; Owen D. Young, financier and industrialist, and Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson administration.

There is little doubt, even among Republican spokesmen, that the investigation of the Walker administration is intended to advertise again the sins of Tammany, as William Jennings Bryan did in the "Bryan belt" so effectively in 1896, 1904, 1908 and 1912.

Roosevelt Popularity

Action was speedy following certain demonstrations that Roosevelt might be capturing the imagination of southern "Hoover-crats" and Bryan Democrats as well as the political disciples of Robert M. LaFollette, the elder.

Roosevelt had led the way in a conference of governors on unemployment, and the discussion of unemployment insurance. He had guided through New York state the fight on the water power interests, as waged effectively by Smith when governor.

Also he had acquired the services for the state of a water power expert deposed by the Hoover-appointed federal power commission. A man whose fight had been waged by the progressive group in congress. He had declared his independence of the Raskob-Smith leadership through a declaration of the New York state party committee against the plan advanced by John J. Raskob, national chairman, to commit the national committee to a wet plank in the party platform.

Tammany Enemy

As a climax to this series of events, Governor Roosevelt, after demands for an investigation of the office of Thomas C. T. Crain, district attorney, declared again his independence of action by naming as investigator Samuel Seabury, crusading minister's son, a most bitter enemy of Tammany, a man whose political allegiance has been placed at times with at least five political parties, including Bull Moose and Populist.

Political experts declared that, while not exactly pleasing Tammany, this would serve to strengthen him in the "Bryan belt."

Then came a demand for an investigation of Mayor Walker—a problem which presented another "political poser" since it involved the question of siding with Tammany or perhaps risking displeasure in the "belt" should he run for the presidency.

The Republican legislature decided suddenly to initiate a "non-partisan investigation" of New York city government directed by Samuel Seabury, the same Seabury who now is directing three major corruption hunts.

Other investigations starting with that of Boss Tweed in 1871, have had varying success. Tammany's claws were clipped for 18 years that time. In 1890, Tammany retained its power; in 1894 (the Lexow inquiry), a Republican mayor was elected; in 1899, the investigating committee blew up: the 1931 investigation was heard by Seabury, then a supreme court justice.

The 1921 legislature investigation was followed by bigger and better Tammany victories.

"That," Tammany leaders claim, "will be the case after 1931."

Caddo Commissioner

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—John G. Moore, Apache, was named today by Gov. W. H. Murray as county commissioner in Caddo county to succeed W. E. Smith, who died recently.

VISITS AMARILLO

ANTHONY FOKKER

AMARILLO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Anthony Fokker, aircraft maker and designer of the Fokker plane, left Amarillo at 1:43 o'clock this afternoon on one of his own ships, over the transcontinental Western Air Express line for Albuquerque, N. M., en route to Los Angeles on business. Fokker arrived here this morning from Oklahoma City, having abandoned air travel during yesterday's storm.

GOVERNMENT TRIES EIGHT DEFENDANTS MAIL FRAUD CASE

VINITA, Okla., March 28. (AP)—With testimony of gifts of stock in the Anglo-American Royalties corporation to two small town bankers, the government pressed its case today against eight defendants accused of conspiracy and use of mails to defraud in connection with the operations of the concern, now defunct.

The bankers, Charles W. Watson of Drummond and L. A. Ferrell of Hennessey, testified the gifts were made by Ben F. Shields, president of the Fields Investment company of Tulsa who is one of the defendants on trial. Fields told them, the bankers related, that the royalties company followed a practice of setting aside "a little stock for a banker in a new community."

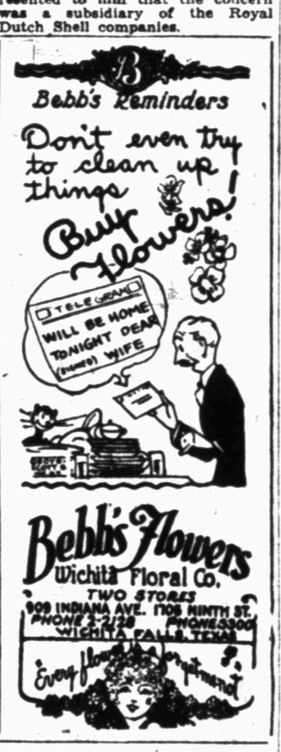

Watson said Duric C. McIntyre, president of the Anglo-American concern, accompanied Fields to his bank and that they showed him a letter signed by O. J. Fleming, pioneer Enid banker. McIntyre and Fleming are other defendants in the case.

A stock certificate made out to Watson for 2,500 of the Anglo-American shares was introduced as evidence.

Ferrell said a certificate for 2,500 shares was left on his desk a few days after he had refused to accept the stock from Fields. The Hennessy banker testified he had kept the certificate and had received eight dividends of $25 each on it.

Robert Tutt, 89-year-old Hennessey negro, reputedly the wealthiest man in Kingfisher county, testified late yesterday he had lost $40,000 in the Anglo-American stock.

He said Fields and McIntyre represented to him that the concern was a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell companies.

BELIEVE LITTLE WHEAT DAMAGE IN CHILDRESS AREA

CHILDRESS, Texas, March 28.—Farmers generally are of the opinion that wheat was not seriously damaged by the blizzard which covered this section Thursday night. Those fields which were not pastured closely were practically the only ones damaged. Farmers say the snow had covered the plants with the exception of the tops and the only damage was that portion above the snow. Others are of the opinion the freeze will cause a loss of possible one-third of the wheat in the county. It will be several days before the full damage will be known. Fruit and gardens were destroyed completely. So far but little corn had been planted and none was up. Farmers are expecting to begin farm work within the next 10 days. If wheat is killed the land will be placed in feed and cotton crops.

JUAREZ MAYOR FACES PROBE BY GOVERNOR

EL PASO, March 28. (AP)—According to information received here today, Gov. Andres Ortiz of Chihuahua, Mexico, is investigating the activities of Mayor Arturo N. Flores of Juarez in state politics. Jesus Quevedo of Juarez, political leader and alderman in charge of finances, said if the governor's investigation implicated Mayor Flores the latter undoubtedly would be dismissed. Arturo Chavez, state tax collector in Juarez and a close friend of the governor, was mentioned as a possible successor of Flores.

Radio Programs For Sunday Offer Special Features

(By The Associated Press)
(Time is Central Standard Throughout)

NEW YORK, March 28.—A concert by the Cleveland orchestra, the first of the Deems Taylor musical series, and a broadcast from London, are on Sunday's radio bill of fare.

The Cleveland orchestra will give the first of two Sunday broadcasts of symphony music via the combined WEAF and WJZ networks at 10:30 a. m.

The Deems Taylor series, also to be transmitted by the WEAF-WJZ networks, starting at 12:45 p. m., is designed to acquaint listeners with grand opera by presenting it in English with explanations. The series will last 10 weeks the first to be "Opera in America Today."

The London broadcast via WABC and stations at 11:30 a. m., is to bring a talk by Viscount d'Abernon who ranks among England's elder statesmen. His subject is to be "The Economic Crisis—Cause and Cure."

Among the stars billed for Sunday are Dennis King, light opera baritone, WEAF and stations at 2:30 p. m.; Belle Baker of vaudeville, WEAF and others at 1:30; Beniamino Gigli, opera tenor, WEAF and stations at 6:30; John Charles Thomas, operatic and concert baritone, WEAF hookup at 8:15 o'clock.

Otherwise your dials may be set for:

2:00 p. m.—Program of New York philharmonic symphony orchestra, to include "Iphigenia in Aulis," WABC network.

7:00 p. m.—Maurice Chevalier in three songs, WEAF chain.

8:00 p. m.—Irene Bordoni's musical love serial, WABC and group.

8:30 p. m.—The Detroit symphony orchestra and Edgar A. Guest, poet, WABC and chain.

9:15 p. m.—Concluding episode of the "Trial of Benedict Arnold," WEAF chain; talk by Charles Francis Coe, criminologist and author on "What Seals a Gangster's Lips" WJZ network.

In 1550 a Portugese navigator published a book on the subject of building a Panama canal.

CENSOR MUST PAY $5,000 DAMAGES TO BOOK SELLER OR FACE JAIL SENTENCE

CHICAGO, March 28. (UP)—The Rev. Philip Yarrow, president of the Illinois Vigilance association, had his choice today of going to jail or paying $5,000 to a man he was accused of entrapping into selling an obscene book.

A jury found that Yarrow had been guilty of malicious prosecution of Walter Shaver, a book seller who was arrested for selling an especially ordered copy of "A Night in a Moorish Harem" to George Brown, Yarrow's investigator. Shaver's suit was for $25,000.

The malice count included in the verdict made it possible for Judge Frank H. Hayes to send Yarrow to jail if the $5,000 judgment is not paid.

Just a Manly Brawl

DENVER.—Girls are taking to the manly art of settling disputes, rather than catty arguments which really never settle anything. This was shown in a dance battle here between Lillian Mills and Madie Ehlert. One called the other the sweet name of "liar." The other offered her "out in the alley," and the scrap started. Both girls were swinging fists furiously until the cops ruled the bout "no contest."

ADVANCED REFRIGERATION

To a Lady
about to buy an electric refrigerator

Of course you will want the very finest refrigerator you can buy. One that can be depended upon to keep foods properly fresh even on the most sizzling of summer days . . . one that will offer every modern convenience . . . one you will be proud to exhibit to visitors many years from today . . .

Did you know that Frigidaire, always in the forefront of its field, is responsible for developments in the past fifteen years that have made household refrigeration so healthful, convenient and economical?

The Frigidaire shown in the adjoining photograph, for instance, offers advantages you would possibly not expect to find in any refrigerator.

We hope that you will look into the advantages of Frigidaire very thoroughly before you decide which of the many good electric refrigerators to buy. We invite you to do so at the Frigidaire store most convenient to your home.

And, if you have a matter-of-fact, mechanicaly-minded husband, we will be especially pleased if you will bring him!

In gleaming white Porcelain
Frigidaire offers a new standard of Advanced Refrigeration

From their service-shelf tops to their graceful streamlined legs, the new Frigidaires represent a fine achievement in modern refrigeration.

The striking beauty of the pure all-white porcelain cabinet harmonizes perfectly with any kitchen color scheme. And these new Porcelain-on-steel Frigidaires are as brilliant in performance as they are in appearance—combining improvements and refinements that distinguish Frigidaire from all other refrigerators.

You will appreciate the faster freezing made possible by the "Cold Control"... ice cubes that tumble so easily from the Quickube Ice Tray . . . the fresher and crisper vegetables you take from the famous Frigidaire Hydrator.

You will recognize at once the advantages of the seamless, acid-resisting porcelain interior . . . elevated food shelves . . . the surplus powered, concealed unit that operates so quietly and at such low cost.

Here is Advanced Refrigeration . . . advanced in all that the term implies. And because of these advanced features and the savings they make possible, Frigidaire is the truly economical refrigerator.

WAGGONER NEW PRESIDENT OF JUNIOR C. OF C.

Oil Operator Succeeds Maurice Cheek as Chief

TEMPLE SHELL ELECTED FIRST VICE PRESIDENT

J. Will Gray and H. B. Dudley Honored as Special Board Meet

T. J. Waggoner Jr., oil operator here, and prominent in the civic and social activities and member of a prominent pioneer family, was elected president of the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting at the Wichita club Saturday.

Mr. Waggoner, who has served the Junior chamber as first vice president since the first of the year, was elevated to the presidency following the formal acceptance of the resignation of Maurice Cheek, who is to leave Sunday for Austin to assume his duties as an assistant attorney general.

Temple Shell, young attorney who has been practicing his profession here for several years, was elected Mr. Waggoner's successor as first vice president. Both he and Mr. Waggoner are charter members of the junior chamber, and have been among the most active in the organization. They have been members of several important committees and have been in charge of several of the major undertakings.

Mr. Waggoner was a member of the first board of directors, serving a one-year term and being again chosen a director at the beginning of the third year of the junior chamber. Last year he was chairman of the social committee. He is president of the Wichita club, and is a graduate of Southern Methodist university in Dallas.

Mr. Shell is completing his second year as a member of the board of directors. Last year he was chairman of the radio program committee and participated actively in various other undertakings. He is a graduate of Cumberland university in Lebanon, Tenn., and also is an alumnus both of Texas Christian university and the University of Texas. He also is a member of a pioneer family and was himself reared in Wichita Falls and attended the public schools here.

Gray Named Director

J. Will Gray, who has served as an alternate director, was elected to the directorate to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Cheek's retirement, and H. B. Dudley was elected an alternate director. Mr. Gray for many years served the late J. A. Kemp as secretary, while Mr. Dudley is with the land department of the Deep Oil Development company.

A Gladstone bag and brief case were presented to Mr. Cheek as an expression of appreciation for his services. Resolutions drafted by a committee consisting of Charles Spragins Jr., and Mr. Shell expressing regret at his departure were adopted.

The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, Maurice Cheek, president of the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, offered his resignation to the board of directors on Wednesday evening, March 25, 1931, because of the acceptance of his appointment as an assistant attorney general for the state of Texas;

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the board of directors of the Junior chamber of commerce, pass this resolution expressing our sincere regret of the resignation of our very able president, Mr. Cheek;

"And whereas, President Cheek has rendered the Junior chamber of commerce faithful, efficient and untiring service, we thank him, wish for him all the success that comes to man and open wide our doors for his return after his service as assistant attorney general shall have ended.

"Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this organization and that copies be furnished the daily papers."

OPTIMISTS EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE AT ANNUAL BANQUET

Nearly 200 persons are expected to attend the Optimist club annual installation banquet at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club Wednesday evening, according to club officers in charge of the program.

There will be no "principal speaker," but short talks will be made by Bert King, former district governor, and John B. Lawson of Vernon, present lieutenant governor. A feature of the program will be a humorous playlet in which the principal characters are past and present officers.

Dr. George T. Singleton, new president, and his roster of new officers, will be officially installed in the more serious part of the program. Max T. Junker, retiring president, will be toastmaster.

Musical numbers will also be included on the program, and there will be a short singsong. Following the banquet, there will be dancing and various games.

JUDGE RULES THAT ICE MAKING DISTRIBUTION IS NOT A PUBLIC UTILITY

AUSTIN, March 28. (AP)—Judge J. D. Moore of the 98th judicial district today declared ice manufacture distribution was not a public utility. Judge Moore's decision was rendered in the case of the state vs. Gulf States Utilities company.

The suit was instituted by the state to collect a franchise tax.

Judge Moore in deciding the ice business was not a public utility, stated its rates and services were not subject to state regulation. The decision was regarded as one of far reaching importance. More than $100,000 having been paid into the state by ice companies as franchise taxes, under protest.

The case was of further importance at this time because there is pending before the legislature a bill to declare the ice business a publicity and place it under the supervision of the railroad commission.

GREGG COUNTY GETS TENTH PRODUCER IN BEN LAIRD NUMBER 1

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 28.—Gregg county received its tenth producer when the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 1 Ben Laird was brought in Saturday.

The well, which is located in the extreme southern portion of the county made 426 barrels of high gravity oil in the first 25 minutes of gauged flow. It is regarded as one of the best wells in the entire field.

It is 6,200 feet north of the Bateman discovery well and is 100 feet from the east and south lines of the Laird tract in the Isaac Ruddle survey.

A spider is not an insect. Spiders belong to the class Arachnida, which also includes scorpions, mites and ticks.

How would you like to lose 19 pounds of fat in a month and at the same time increase your energy and improve your health? That's just what one western woman did—How happy she is.

How would you like to lose a load of unhealthy fat that you don't need and don't want and at the same time feel better than you have for years?

How would you like to lose your double chin and your too prominent abdomen and at the same time make your skin so clean and clear that it will compel admiration?

How would you like to get your weight down to normal and at the same time develop that urge for activity that makes work a pleasure and also gain in ambition and keenness of mind?

Get on the scales today and see how much you weigh—then get an 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts which will last you for 4 weeks. Take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—cut out pastry and fatty meats—and when you have finished the contents of this first bottle weigh yourself again.

Now you can laugh at the people who pay hundreds of dollars to lose a few pounds of fat—now you will know the safe, swift and pleasant way to lose unsightly fat and you'll also know that the 6 salts of Kruschen (Salts that your blood, nerves and glands should possess to function properly)—have presented you with glorious health.

After that you'll want to walk around and say to your friends, "One 85-cent bottle of Kruschen Salts is worth one hundred dollars of any fat person's money."

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts. Buy one bottle with the distinct understanding that you will be joyfully satisfied or money back.

Mrs. C. L. of Shepardsville, Kentucky, writes: "I have reduced 24 pounds in 31 days with Kruschen and I ate three meals a day." Allison's Drug Store knows all about Kruschen.—Adv.

SPUDDERS AND SAINTS TRY AGAIN SUNDAY TO RENEW FEUD

The Spudders are going in for something new this spring in bringing college baseball teams here for exhibition games. The collegiates are to be represented Monday and Tuesday by Baylor university and next Saturday by Texas Christian university. The games possibly were scheduled not so much out of any desire to experiment with the drawing power of college teams, but to provide competition for the Spudder hands. Nevertheless, it strikes us that these games might prove decidedly interesting to the populace at large and that attendance might be expected to equal that of games with clubs in the higher class professional circles. Exhibition game attendance is never too husky at best, but it is not difficult to find several reasons why the fans should be interested in viewing the college teams.

First of all it is something new. As far as we know, no college team has ever played in Wichita Falls. Baylor is famous in a baseball way as having produced Ted Lyons, who went straight from the campus at Waco and became an overnight pitching star in the American league. The Bears probably have ranked next to Texas university in winning conference games over a stretch of the last few years. And this year the Waco school even outranks the Longhorns in the early dope. Probably still more interesting is the presence of two renowned football players in the lineup. Bochey Koch, who was named on most all-America grid teams last winter, as a combination catcher and outfielder in the Baylor scheme and one of the team's batting stars. Jake Wilson, one of the finest quarterbacks in Southwest conference history, also divides his attention between two positions. When he is not pitching his hitting is utilitized in the outfield.

T. C. U. has not acquired the baseball reputation of Baylor, but it has a major league star who, like Lyons, stepped right off the campus into a major league uniform. He is Pete Donohue, now with the New York Giants. Chester Fowler, Fort Worth's present third baseman, played on the same Horned Frog teams with Donohue. The Frogs are not expected to be as powerful a factor in the conference baseball race as Baylor, but the team boasts luminaries in other sports almost the equal of Baylor's duo of Koch and Wilson. Adolph "Too Tall" Dietzel, the flag-pole basket ball star who was the sensation of the late conference race, and Noble Atkins, one of the greatest of all conference football centers as well as a member of T. C. U.'s pennant winning basket ball team, are regulars in the Horned Frog baseball lineup.

Nearly every spring training camp has its share of sore arms, but little has ever been learned about curing these ailments. Some players always have trouble with their arms in the spring and take 'em as a matter of course. Others might play 10 years and never suffer a bit with their arms, only to have the old whips go bad overnight never to return to normal. The cause of arm ailments is just as mysterious as the cure. Undoubtedly a majority are due to some sort of strain on muscles or tendons, but seldom can a player trace an arm injury to its exact source. Some think they have caught cold in their shoulders or elbows. Some players fondle their arms like pieces of rare old silk, while others simply start throwing the day they hit camp and keep more careful. The seriousness of a few arm troubles as those who are at it. The latter probably have as sore arm seldom can be determined in the early stages. The element of time alone tells the story. Baseball has made progress in many ways, but the game has learned little about sore throwing arms, either from a preventive or curative angle.

Sore arms have made their appearance in the Spudder camp in a big way only among the infielders. Debs Garms and Joe Hassler have been handicapped right from the start by arms that have allowed them to do little throwing. They have pursued exactly opposite methods of curing their ailing whips. Garms hasn't missed a fielding practice or an inning of an exhibition game. The only way Williams can keep him off third base is to order him off, and the skipper expressed the opinion at Mineral Wells that he was going to be forced to do that very thing if Debs' arm didn't start showing some improvement. The kid himself refuses to take rest cure. He declares the one way to whip it is to stay right in there and work it out. Except for the arm that has kept him from displaying his wares in a fielding way, he already would have gained the inside track on the third base job. He has socked the ball hard and often and seems to be able to more than hold up his end of it in an offensive way. Hassler in taking the opposite sort of cure has done just as little throwing as possible.

As the training siege wears into its late stages, camp champions are being crowned right and left. The undisputed championship of the "knife and fork league" settled upon Roland Flinn many days back. So far no serious competitors have developed. According to reports from headquarters, the present crew of Spudders is the weakest in this little side issue in many, many years, and Flinn has little competition. The silence crown has been won even more easily by Bob Fuss. And of all the names for a fellow who uses words like a Scotchman does money! It certainly is an ironical moniker that this youngster has fallen heir to, for he does everything but fuss. At the other extreme this boy Flinn—he's quite versatile—is running a good race with Herb Kelly. Either can talk enough to make up for Fuss' economy of words. And then there's Bob Cooney. Somebody has to do some extra talking for him, too.

Delayed a day by cold weather and wet grounds, the Spudders Sunday will attempt to open their home exhibition season with the St. Paul Saints furnishing the opposition for the matinee starting at 3 o'clock at the foot of Seventh street. The Saints were on the scene Saturday, just as anxious as the Spudders to get into a real ball game, but the opener had to be called off for the dual reason that the temperature was only a few points above the freezing mark and that the thaw of the frozen playing field at Athletic park left the surface too muddy to hazard a ball game.

The two squads engaged in the next best thing and went through a two-hour practice drill, the Saints getting in a bit of added exercise by walking to and from the park. Neither club could accomplish much because of the frigidity and the heavy going under foot.

Florrid and Terhune

Skipper Carl Williams was elated with the chance to hustle his men through even the sort of drill that consisted of little more than warming up throwing arms and getting in a few licks in batting practice, for the squad had been kept in complete idleness for the last two days and had suffered its first real setback from the elements since the start of training. A few more days of inactivity might have proved doubly harmful, but a smiling sun Saturday afternoon indicated that better things were in store for the next few days.

Ground conditions gave assurance that Sunday's game would be played, unless cold or rain interferes. The two clubs planned to stage the game as scheduled unless there is an appreciable drop in temperature.

Dick Florrid and L. S. Terhune have stood by more or less patiently since Thursday awaiting their chance to exhibit against the Saints. These two were assigned mound duty in the second game at Mineral Wells, which was rained out, and then Saturday Williams stuck by his original choices and was to have trotted the duo to the hill in the first game at Athletic park. Now they are billed for Sunday.

Choice of Four

Lefty Liefeld, famous Pittsburgh pitcher of "way back yonder" who is managing the Saints, announced Saturday that his selections would be made from the quartet of Prudhomme, Munns, Murphy and Van Atta, the four members of the Saint staff who did not work against the Spudders Wednesday at Mineral Wells.

St. Paul has a club fully organized, with one exception, for the American association pennant, but not much further along in its training than the Spudders. Liefield's lineup for the coming race apparently is set with Roettger at first, Saltzgaver second, Waninger and Morrissey shortstop and Hopkins third; Durst, Davis and Paschal in the outfield; Fenner and Snyder as catchers and Harriss, Bream and Betts, besides the quartet named, to make up the pitching staff. The only one of these players who has not yet reported is Outfielder Davis, who is to join the club next week when it returns to the training base at Mineral Wells.

New Lefty Arrives

Williams' job of nominating a Spudder pitching staff became more complicated Saturday with the arrival on the scene of a strapping 21-year-old Dutchman, who has been acquired from the Milwaukee team on option. Whether the newcomer, Ralph Blatz, will prove an able successor to Fussell, Cvengros and Wiltse, the line of blue-blooded southpaws who have so ably represented Wichita Falls for the last four years, remains to be seen, but he brings an impressive physique, as well as a formidable record, into the midst of the battle for places on the Spudder staff.

Blatz is an even six feet in height, weighs within a few ounces of 200 pounds and will not be 22 years old until next Sunday. He is a Milwaukee boy and was plucked from the sandlots by his home team last spring. He remained with the Brewers until June, though seldom used except in the bull pen. Then he was farmed to Springfield, where he had to step on the gas to win 14 games after the season was a month gone.

One Busy Week

The squad has been cut to the point where only three entirely inexperienced pitchers remain on the roster. These are Marvin Robertson, the Wichita Falls southpaw who learned his pitching fundamentals from Billy Disch, University of Texas' noted mentor; Lloyd Taylor from the Pacific coast, and Adrian Johnston, the Chillicothe boy. All of the others remaining have had one or more years of experience in organized baseball.

Of this latter group there are no less than 11, including Milt Steengrafe, who was expected to arrive here late Saturday or early Sunday. Then there are two others, Pressnell and Hebert, in the camp of the Browns, to bring the total number of experienced pitchers from which Williams is to pick his staff to 13.

The string of exhibition games scheduled this week undoubtedly will go far toward helping the foreman make his selections. The week is one of the busiest the Spudders have scheduled in several seasons, Baylor university is here Monday and Tuesday, the Dallas Steers Wednesday and Thursday and Texas Christian university Saturday. After the latter game there is a skip in the schedule to the following Sunday when the bearded House of David team makes its first appearance here in several years.

Major Leagues' Holdout Ranks Dwindle to Four Players

BAYLOR SENDS STRONG NINE HERE TO MEET SPUDDERS

Baylor Coach and Some of His Stars

WACO, March 28.—With two collegiate games with Northwestern university behind them, the Baylor Bears will leave here Sunday night, bound for Wichita Falls to meet the Spudders in a two-game series before opening their Southwest conference campaign next Saturday against A. & M. college at College Station.

Pat Parker, elongated sophomore from Lufkin and the best hurler on Coach Morley Jennings' squad, will face the Texas leaguers in the opening game Monday. Either Jake Wilson, the football star, or Lefty Allison will take the hill against the Spudders in the second game.

Coach Jennings has the best bunch of material a Baylor coach has had on hand since 1923 when Ted Lyons and his mates led the Bears to a conference championship. Baylor will furnish opposition to Texas university, the Baylor mentor believes.

Bochey Koch, all-America grid star and the hardest hitter on the team, will make his first appearance in Wichita Falls during the series. Koch plays in the outfield and also has been used as a catcher. He is built along the lines of Larry Bettencourt, last year's Spudder slugger, and his football record compares favorably with the one made by Bettencourt.

Coach Jennings has a veteran infield composed mostly of third-year performers. Beene and Stone, third baseman and shortstop respectively, end their college career this spring. Red Wells, another veteran baseball player and basketeer, is slated for second base duty.

Maurice Pierce, captain-elect of the football team, probably will be stationed at first base. Byerly, a youngster, will also make the trip and probably will see service in the series.

Koch, Wilson and Kiersky are the regulars in the outfield. When Wilson pitches, Raymond (The Mighty) Alford goes to the outfield. If Koch does not do the catching, these duties will fall on Harold Shelley, a fairly capable college backstop.

First Polo Game Of Spring Season Is Slated Sunday

Blues to Play Practice Game At 2:30 o'Clock on Clinerowe Field

The first polo game of the spring season will be played Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Clinerowe field, it was announced Saturday by C. H. Featherston. The Blues, Wichita Falls' first team, will play a team made up of several visiting players and Blues substitutes.

The polo club has been inactive during the winter months, but with the arrival of spring weekly games are planned here and on foreign fields. The public is invited to attend Sunday's contest. Clinerowe field is located at the juncture of Holliday street and the Lake Wichita road.

Hubert Stringer, Ernest Fain, Horrace Robbins and Featherston probably will make up the lineup of the Blues, while Dr. J. H. Fletcher and Bill McKemie will play with the opposing team.

BIG SIX ADOPTS NEW CODE OF ATHLETICS

NORMAN, Okla., March 28. (UP)—The Big Six conference Saturday began operation under a formal code of rules regarding subsidization of athletes and class "B" athletics.

The hiring of men to work on concession was legalized at the conference of Big Six faculty representatives which closed Friday night, but the work must not be designated merely to the athlete.

Promising an athlete a job was declared illegal but promises of attempting to find employment for a student was made legal. The encouragement of junior college athletes to attend Big Six schools was made permissible but to encourage athletes from other universities or colleges was banned.

Class "B" athletics were accepted at the conference. Maintenance of class "B" teams is optional to all schools and is not compulsory. Athletes must be eligible under present Big Six varsity elegibility rules and a year's play on "B" teams will county a year on the varsity three-year eligibility rule. Class "B" teams are interpreted to mean second teams.

EASTER HERO AGAIN FAILS TO WIN RACE

LIVERPOOL, March 28. (UP)—Jack Whitney's Easter Hero failed again Saturday in an attempt to win after his failure Friday in the grand national.

Saturday he ran in the champion steeplechase and finished in a dead heat with J. Drake's Coup de Chapeau. In each race, Easter Hero ran as the favorite. He was priced at 9 to 4 Saturday.

R. H. A. Gresson's Tide finished third.

Burglar, owned by an American, G. H. Bostwick, won the Magull plate race here Saturday. Burglar carried an impost of 126 pounds and paid 2 to 1.

Buffs Beat Exporters In Wild Game, 12 to 8

HOUSTON, March 28. (AP)—Cold weather and good baseball didn't mix Saturday and the Houston Buffs and the Beaumont Exporters put on a weird game, the Bisons winning, 12 to 8.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Beaumont	100 200 221—	8	10	1
Houston	013 202 40x—12	16	3

Buccaneers 9, Royals 1

GALVESTON, March 28. (AP)—Unusually frigid weather kept the Buccaneers hustling Saturday afternoon and they had little difficulty in pounding out a 9 to 1 victory over the Montreal Royals in the opening game of the series.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Montreal	000 000 001—1	9	4
Galveston	120 302 10x—9	15	1

Wendt, Griffin and Perkins; Carroll, Sweet and Boggess.

Sports 15, Pelicans 6

SHREVEPORT, March 28. (AP)—The Shreveport Sports defeated the New Orleans Pelicans 15 to 6 Saturday in the first game of two to be played.

Score:

New Orleans	103 010 100—	6
Shreveport	000 126 600—15

Cat Game Canceled

FOR WORTH, March 28. (AP)—For the third consecutive day, cold weather Saturday forced the cancellation of an exhibition game at La Grave field. The Cats were billed to play Texas Christian university, but in spite of a bright sun, it was deemed too cold for play at game time.

Indians Get Outfielder

SAN ANTONIO, March 28. (AP)—Another player was added to the San Antonio Indians Saturday when Eddie Brannick, traveling secretary of the New York Giants, announced that Manager John J. McGraw had released Outfielder Thomas Nash to the Tribe on option.

Steers vs. Blues

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—The Dallas Steers and the Kansas City Blues called off their game scheduled Saturday but hoped to meet Sunday, warmer weather being promised. The teams held light workouts Saturday.

Panthers Order Lights

FORT WORTH, March 28. (AP)—Fifty huge reflectors have been ordered and work will be started this week on the elaborate lighting system, which will illuminate La Grave field and give Fort Worth night baseball this year, according to announcement Saturday by Ted Robinson, president of the Panthers.

Ten steel towers will be erected to carry the reflectors.

Laredo Wins Meet

LAREDO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Laredo High school won the track and field meet for Jim Hogg and Webb counties Saturday with 67 1-2 points. Hebbronville scored 57 5-6, Mirando 41, and Oilton 22.

YOUNG HEAVYWEIGHT TO GET FIRST REAL TEST AGAINST RISKO MONDAY

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—The faithful will find out Monday night just how good this young Stanley Poreda is and what menace he holds for the veterans of the heavyweight division.

For more than a year now Poreda, a husky, finely muscled young warrior from Jersey City, N. J., has been fighting preliminaries and semifinals in Madison Square garden. Regularly he has been belting out the smaller fry of the heavyweights.

Monday night he tackles his first big league opposition, rubbery Johnny Risko, the Cleveland veteran, in his first bout at the garden. If he can batter the Baker Boy around, a stiff assignment for any youngster, the way is clear to an important role in the outdoor program.

Poreda has been brought along and for months has been meeting opposition far below his own ability. He is a clever youngster, cool under fire, and can punch with either hand. He scales around 190 pounds. The experts consider him the best of the youthful crop, a certain future title contender if rated gradually.

The garden has scaled its ticket price down to the level of the golden glove fees and for the first time in the history of the famous arena top price for ringside seats will be $3 for a major show.

EASTERN RACING SEASON OPENS MONDAY AT BOWIE

BALTIMORE, March 28. (AP)—Some 1,700 thoroughbreds were ready Saturday for the opening Monday of the eastern racing season at the Bowie track, in southern Maryland.

The season opens a day earlier than originally scheduled because of the addition of one day each by the four major Maryland tracks, the management of which agreed to turn over one day's proceeds to a Baltimore unemployment relief fund.

The regular Bowie meeting gets under way Tuesday with the inaugural handicap, $5,000 added, seven furlong special, as the feature race. The stake has attracted nominations of more than a score of sprinters. The meeting will continue through Saturday, April 11.

The Harve de Grace 12-day meeting opens April 13, and after this the Pimlico 12-day season opens April 27 to continue through May 9. Laurel has only a fall meeting.

TEXAS FARMERS DEFEAT CENTENARY BY 7 TO 1

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Behind the twirling of Shaw, sophomore right-hander, the Texas Aggies Saturday defeated the Centenary baseball team, 7 to 1, for an even division of the two-game series.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Centenary	010 000 000—1	7	5
A. & M.	005 010 11x—7	7	3

Vance, Collins, Hafey and Klein Remain Unsigned

Hebert, Gray and Stewart Pitch Browns to Victory Over Buffalo

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—With the sound of wood on horsehide growing in volume each day as the big league baseball clubs roll northward to open their season next month, four star gladiators of last year's campaign remain sulking in their tents.

And take it from Arthur (Dazzy) Vance, Chuck Klein, Phil Collins and Chick Hafey, they're going to stay there unless the front office comes through with a contract that carries the price they place on their services.

Vance, leading pitcher in effectiveness last year, is asking the Brooklyn Dodgers to pay him $25,000 for this year's services. President Frank York says $23,000 is the limit and the dazzler can either take that or continue his fishing at Homosass, Fla.

Hafey, bespectacled left fielder of the champion St. Louis Cardinals, is asking $15,000. President Sam Breadon hasn't said what he offered but it is reported to be $3,000 less. Breadon now is ready to trade the outfielder.

Klein, leading slugger of the Philadelphia Nationals, and Collins, the Phillies leading pitcher, want to be paid $14,500 and $12,000, respectively. President Louis Ruch has spent several long hours consulting with his two star players in vain and Collins is back at his butcher's block in Chicago while Klein is at his home in Indianapolis.

Al Simmons, big gun of the Athletics, has yet to affix his name to a contract but he cannot be classed as a holdout since he was given permission to train at Hot Springs. Last year he didn't sign until just before the opening game.

White Sox 2, Giants 1

SAN ANTONIO, March 28. (AP)—The White Sox jumped on left-handed Willie Walker in the first inning for four hits and two runs Saturday and defeated the New York Giants, 2 to 1, for the third victory in seven exhibitions.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
New York (N)	000 001 000—1	8	0

Mudhens 6, Robins 2

MIAMI, Fla., March 28. (AP)—The Toledo Mudhens, strengthened by the acquisition of Shortstop Bill Werber and Outfielder Fred Walker, on option from the New York Yankees, turned on Brooklyn Saturday and won the third game of the spring series, 6 to 2. The Robins won the first two games.

Score:	R.	H.	E.

Yankees 10, Jacksonville 5

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 28. (AP)—The New York Yankees opened their northward exhibition trek Saturday, by defeating a team representing a local cigar company and composed principally of former members of the Jacksonville Tars in the now defunct Southeastern league. The count was 10 to 5.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Jacksonville	020 021 000—5	6	2

Browns 8, Bisons 1

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 28. (AP)—Wallace Hebert, Walter Stewart and Sam Gray let the Buffalo Bisons of the International league down Saturday with nine widely scattered hits, and the Browns emerged victorious, 8 to 1, by pounding two pitchers for 12 hits.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Buffalo	000 109 000—1	9	3
St. Louis	100 301 03x—8	12	0

Michaels, Bergeron and Pytlack; Hebert, Stewart, Gray and Ferrell, Crouch.

Tigers 11, Pirates 10

LOS ANGELES, March 28. (AP)—Detroit's Tigers made it three in a row in the exhibition series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, a forced run in the tenth giving the Americans a 11 to 10 win in the concluding game.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Detroit	212 200 030 1—11	16	2

Indians 6, Colonels 2

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (UP)—Two left-handers, Milburn Sheffner and Walter Miller, held the Louisville American association team in check Saturday and Cleveland Indians scored a 6 to 2 exhibition victory.

Score—	R.	H.	E.

Athletics Idle

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 28. (AP)—The somewhat battered champion Athletics rested here Saturday, Captain Collins deciding that a day off would benefit all hands.

Phillies Take Rest

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 28. (UP)—The Phillies took a short workout here Saturday as part of a two-day lay-over, because of the cancellation of two of their exhibition games.

They will resume their barnstorming trip in Auburn, Ala., Monday, playing the Alabama Polytechnic nine there.

BUFFS TO PLAY NIGHT GAME FROM START OF SEASON TO ITS CLOSE

HOUSTON, March 28. (AP)—The Houston Buffs will blaze a new Texas league trail this season, when they open the season with night baseball. President Fred Ankenman of the Buffs announced Saturday that the herd would play its first scheduled league game at night here April 17, meeting Beaumont.

Texas league opening day attendance records are due to take a fall at this game; night ball has outdrawn the day game all along the line, and with the added incentive of an opening game, the Buffs hope to pack Buffalo stadium. It means the Herd will play night baseball from scratch and continue throughout the season.

ITALIAN SHOP KEEPER REAPS RICH HARVEST FROM GRAKLE VICTORY

LONDON, March 28. (UP)—Emilio Scala, Italian proprietor of a London coffee shop and holder of the first prize ticket in the grand national sweepstakes, revealed Saturday that before the race he had sold three-quarters of his ticket to a book makers' syndicate for about $50,000.

The ticket was worth around $1,900,000 when Grakle galloped home ahead of the field in the Aintree race Friday.

Scala hid himself away Friday night in an effort to escape the attention of thousands of persons who showered him with congratulations, but he was found later by newspaper men.

"I am still drinking lemonade, despite my luck," he said. "I'm not letting this turn my head. You can't go through life working hard and then suddenly have this thrust on you without feeling a tremendous change."

"Now I shall be able to do all I wanted to do for my invalid mother and also for my youngest boy, who is ill. They will be first in my thoughts."

He said he had cabled Premier Mussolini of his luck.

OKLAHOMA AGGIES SET PACE IN MAT TOURNEY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 28. (AP)—For the fourth time in as many years, western collegiate wrestlers threaten to take most of the honors in the National Collegiate Wrestling association's championship mat meet here.

When the preliminary conflicts were decided Friday night, 21 of the 32 grapplers in the semifinal round hailed from near or far western institutions.

Most of the glory of the early round grappling went to the Cowboys from Oklahoma A. & M., which sent a full team of eight to the mat championship tourney. Some of the Cowboy grapplers were able to qualify for the semifinals They included the only two defending champions, Jack Van Bebber, 165-pounder, and Conrad Caldwell, regarded as the best light heavyweight in the collegiate ranks.

The Oklahoma team has won the association championship for the last three years, but as a result of a change in the association's policy, no group title will be awarded this year.

SWIMMING SUGGESTED AS WEIGHT REMOVER

ST. LOUIS, March 28. (AP)—Instead of dieting to reach and keep your proper weight, try swimming.

That's the advice of Miss Jane Waite, 20-year-old aquatic expert, who holds a half-dozen Western Amateur Athletic union titles, and hopes to be among those present in the 1932 Olympics.

Although protesting that she swims "only for the fun of it," she worked at her pastime hard enough to grab off championships in the 50, 100, 220 and 440-yard free style events not to mention the 50, 100 and 220-yard back-stroke classes.

"Dieting," in her view, "is for those in some phase of illness. I have met most of the great swimmers and almost to an individual they are models of health and physique."

More Trade Rumors

BRADENTON, Fla., March 28. (UP)—Outfielder Taylor Douthit, and Pitchers Sylvester Johnson and Allyn Stout were mentioned Saturday as players likely to be included with St. Louis' holdout outfielder Chick Hafey in a trade with the Philadelphia Phillies for Chuck Klein, President Sam Breadon refused to comment on the reports.

Sonnenberg Slated

NEW YORK, March 28. (UP)—Gus Sonnenberg, honeymooning heavyweight wrestler, will return to New York for a bout, April 8, with an unknown opponent, probably Jean Ladue of Montreal, Jack Herman, promoter, announced Saturday.

Seven New Marks Are Established In Rice Contests

Marquette Medley Anchor Man Provides Biggest Thrill of Meet

HOUSTON, March 28. (AP)—Seven records, four for individual performance, fell Saturday in the fifth running of the Rice institute relays. Five were in the university class, one in the college class and one in the junior college division.

Among the outstanding events were the failure of Tom Warne, Northwestern pole vault star, to come back after his defeat Friday in the Texas university relays at Austin, and the brilliant finish of J. Walter, anchor man for the star Marquette medley relay team, to save his team from defeat by Oklahoma university.

Warne, who held the Texas relay record of 13 feet, 8½ inches in the pole vault tied with four other men, all supposedly inferior, in the Rice meet.

Great Finish

J. Walter pulled the fat out of the fire for fair in the medley. Seventy-five yards to go, a great burst of speed drew Walter abreast. He sailed by and hit the tape two feet ahead. The time, however, was only 10:59.8, almost nine seconds above the Austin time.

Hugh Rhea, stocky Nebraska football player, dropped record No. 1. He heaved the shot 50 feet, 10 inches—four feet, nine inches better than the old record, established in 1927.

John Hass of Minnesota bettered the 1928 record of Claude Bracey of Rice, in the 100-yard dash, tearing it off in 9.6, extraordinarily good time, considering the hostile wind.

The high jump record was third to fall. Strong of the Southwestern State Teachers of Oklahoma knocked it down, reaching 6 feet, 3⅛ inches.

Rice Bags One

Herman of Southern Methodist beat the existing mark in the javelin throw by a scant inch and a half. His throw was 186 feet, 7½ inches.

Rice institute got a little something for staging the show by writing a new record of 3:20 in the one-mile relay. Dick Jamerson, a fast football back of last fall, anchored the institute four in downing the Texas A. & M. record of 3.21, set up in 1928.

In the college class, the medley relay record was improved upon by two flat seconds by Abilene (Texas) Christian. The Christians made it in 3.31.6.

The junior college assault on the books was successful in the mile relay, the new time, 3:29.7, being made by John Tarleton of Stephenville, Texas.

LEADING PLAYERS OF GIRLS TOURNEY NAMED

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Twenty-four basket ball players who participated in the fourth annual girl's national Amateur Athletic union tournament here this week were awarded all-national medals Saturday night by a committee of sports writers and tournament officials who were appointed to select the tournament's outstanding players. The 24 selected will compose the honor roll of the tournament, no first and second teams being named. Forwards selected included:

Captain Babe Haden, Dallas Sunoco Oilers; Dell Harris, Durant, Okla.; Homalee McGehee, Cisco, Texas; Sunshine Kenny, Mingus, Texas and D. Fliford, Cisco, Texas.

TENNIS STARS PERFORM IN NEW ORLEANS MEET

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (UP)—The second annual invitation tennis tournament of the New Orleans Country club will be under way here Sunday and Monday when four ranking stars and some two-score other entrants will compete for honors.

Cliff Sutter, New Orleans star; George Lott, John Van Ryn, Davis cup stars, and Ellsworth Vines, one of the sensations of last summer, head the list of contestants.

Women's Net Champ

CHESTNUT HILLS, Mass., March 28. (UP)—Marjorie Sachs of Cambridge, 20-year-old southpaw, became national women's indoor singles tennis champion Saturday by a straight-set victory over Sarah Palfrey, 18, Brookline, 6-3, 8-6.

MANY NAMES OFFERED AS POSSIBLE SUCESSORS TO BARNARD

Baseball Mourns Loss Of Two Great Chiefs

NEW YORK, March 28. (INS)—Prominent baseball men throughout the nation stunned by the deaths within the past 24 hours of Ernest S. Barnard and the picturesque Ban Johnson, present and past presidents of the American league, speculated Saturday on the question:

"Who will be the new president?"

At least half a dozen possibilities were suggested in well-informed baseball circles Saturday, the names of the following having come up for discussion in this connection:

Mayor "Jimmy" Walker of New York City.

William Harridge, secretary of the American league.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators.

American league circles were shocked by the deaths, coming so close together, of Barnard and Johnson. Barnard died late Friday at the Mayo brothers' clinic at Rochester, Minn., the victim of a heart attack. Johnson, a mighty figure in baseball for years, died in St. Louis Saturday morning after a lingering illness.

No immediate action toward the election of a new president to succeed Barnard is likely to be taken. Frank Navin, vice president of the league, and William Harridge, the secretary, are expected to take over the reins dropped by Barnard, with Navin acting as the nominal head of the league. Most likely no successor to Barnard will be named until the annual American league baseball meeting next winter.

Ed Barrow, the New York Yankees' business manager, is regarded as a strong possibility for the position. He has spent a lifetime in baseball and knows every angle of the game. He managed the Red Sox for three years prior to his coming to New York in the fall of 1920. Prior to that he was president of the International league for seven years.

Johnson Burial

ST LOUIS, March 28. (AP)—The body of Byron Bancroft Johnson, 67, founder of the American league and its president 27 years, lay in state here Saturday, preparatory to its removal to Spencer, Ind., where funeral services will be held Wednesday.

Although his death was expected for weeks, Johnson's rugged constitution fought off the combined attacks of diabetes and infection and he survived by 16 hours, President Ernest S. Barnard, of the American league, Johnson's successor in office, who died late Friday.

Johnson had been in ill health since his retirement as president of the league in 1927.

A month ago an operation was performed, surgeons removing a toe because of infection. Later they told him it would be necessary to remove his right leg, but he refused to submit and the infection spread into the left leg.

The body will be placed in a $25,000 mausoleum in Spencer, Johnson built there several years ago.

Tributes from friends and acquaintances of the former czar of baseball began arriving Saturday from over the country. His widow, Mrs. Jennie Johnson, was en route to St. Louis Saturday night from her home at Spencer, Ind.

With Johnson, when he died Saturday morning, were his physician, Dr. Robert Hyland and a nurse.

Baseball Mourns Deaths

CHICAGO, March 28. (INS)—Deep sorrow over the deaths of E. S. Barnard, president of the American league, and Ban Johnson, former president of that league, was expressed here Saturday by K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball.

Landis said he had not the "least idea" who might be chosen to succeed Barnard.

The commissioner extended his condolences to Mrs. Johnson and said that with the passing of Ban Johnson baseball had lost one of its most outstanding figures.

Concerning Barnard, he asserted that "probably nobody had a broader acquaintance in all departments than he."

"Barnard," Landis continued, "was a fine combination of integrity, intelligence and industry, and his death entails not only a very great loss to the American league, but to baseball and to athletic activities everywhere . . . It was a common saying that 'you don't have to have it on paper with Barney.' His word was always good."

John A. Heydler, president of the National league, sent a wire to the Chicago offices of the American league, saying, "Barnard was one of baseball's most constructive workers. I have lost a friend."

Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, expressed himself as being touched at the deaths of Barnard and Johnson.

"I am deeply sorry to learn of the passing away of Ban Johnson and extend the deepest sympathy to Mrs. Johnson," he said.

Always Remembered

DETROIT, March 28. (INS)—Frank Navin, president of the Detroit major league baseball team, and now acting president of the American league through the death of the late Ernest Barnard, Saturday declared that the death of Ban Johnson was a "great blow to me personally and to the baseball world."

Navin, vice president of the league, succeeded in the temporary presidency through the death of Barnard. He declared that he will hold the position only long enough to allow election of a new president.

"Mr. Johnson will not be forgotten as long as the American league, his life's work, survives," declared Navin.

MEMPHIS TENNIS TEAM LOSES TO CHILDRESS

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 28.—The tennis team of Memphis High school broke even with the Childress team when Eugene McElreath, alternate for the local squad, defeated his opponent in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2. However, the doubles team composed of Jack McCann and Alfred, lost to the opponent after breezing through the first set. The score of this match was 6-3, 1-6, 4-6.

The matches were only practice affairs and will not count against the rating of the team in the county.

MOTHER OF HORNSBY'S WIFE DIES IN ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, March 28. (INS)—Mrs. Theresa Penning, 56, mother-in-law of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs, is dead here Saturday following a brief illness from pneumonia.

Mrs. Pennington passed away at St. John's hospital here Friday night.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Pennington is survived by Mrs. Jeanette Hornsby, an only child.

High School and College Netters Delayed by Cold

Coyotes to Start Championship Tennis Tournament This Week

Both the Junior college and high school tennis tourneys were marking time during a week of inclement weather. Snow, sleet, wind and rain made play impossible, and the net aspirants will receive the benefit of a much-needed rest.

Leaving the practice tournament unfinished, the high school racquet wielders entered into the final championship race with drawings being completed last week. In the practice tourney the only contestant to reach the final was the versatile Rufus King, nervy little athlete who mixes trapshooting and golf with his tennis. Rufus defeated four opponents with ease and was waiting for the winner of the other bracket when the practice scramble was called off.

First round play in the final tournament found Wolfson, Powers and Hanks defeating their opponents by impressive scores, although Wolfson was forced to rally to defeat Merril Stayton in the best two out of three sets. Cohen, Ayers and Biedenharn advanced to second round competition as the result of drawing byes. James Williamson, track star, handed King a free pass to the second round with a forfeit. If weather permits, the matches will probably go as far as the semifinals this week. Favorites in the upper bracket are King and Scarbrough, while Hanks looms as a sure winner in the bottom bracket.

The Junior college netsters also are idling while the elements hold sway. The practice tournament is still in session and may be completed this week. Contestants in each of the singles, boys' doubles and mixed doubles have been training diligently and many thrilling matches have resulted.

Preston Lee is the only one to reach the semifinals in the singles, the other matches in the quarter-finals still hanging fire. Lee eliminated Douglas Smyth, one of the favored entries, easily in the third round match. Comparatively few teams are entered in the two double departments, but the matches have provided plenty of thrilling competition.

OKLAHOMA AGGIE COACH TO SPEAK AT DUNCAN

DUNCAN, Okla., March 28.—Lynn Waldorf, head football coach of the Oklahoma A. & M. college, will be a Duncan visitor April 3. He will be the speaker at a special high school assembly and will deliver a lecture on athletics for the public that night.

Waldorf has accepted an invitation of the recently organized Duncan chapter of the national honorary athletic society for high school students to spend a day here. Coaches and athletes of neighboring schools have been invited to attend the night meeting here.

DEXTER SHELLEY SIGNS WITH PORTSMOUTH TEAM OF NATIONAL PRO LOOP

AUSTIN, March 28. (AP)—Dexter Shelley, all-Southwest conference halfback and captain of the 1930 University of Texas football team, has signed a contract to play next year with the Portsmouth, Ohio, Spartans of the National football league.

Shelley started his career at Austin High school and also starred at Terrill academy. He was co-captain of the Texas freshman team in 1927. Terms of the contract were not made known.

Coaches Register Plea for Uniform Cage Officiating

Interpretation Rules Varies Widely in Different Sections

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—An urgent appeal to the rules committee to devise some means to assure uniform officiating throughout the country was voiced Saturday by the National Association of Basket Ball Coaches at its final session.

After prolonged debate, during which the East accused the West of sponsoring rough play and the West declared the East had originated the "block," it was decided to pass the buck to the rules body at its meeting here next month.

It was suggested, among other things, that the rules committee get out a moving picture on a model basket ball game to be shown to coaches, officials and players in every section. Another scheme called for manufacturers of sporting goods to send a crack set of officials throughout the land to lecture and demonstrate the proper method of calling a game.

"As matters stand now," said Coach Keogan of Notre Dame, "it is necessary for a coach to teach his team a different style of game for every section, in which he plays. That is expecting a little too much."

Coach A. A. Schabinger of Creighton university was unanimously elected president of the association for the next year. Vice presidents named were H. G. Olsen, Ohio State; Roy Mundorff, Georgia Tech; H. B. Ortner, Cornell, and A. C. Lonberg, Northwestern.

The rules committee also was petitioned to do something toward defending the legitimate "block," such as placing diagrams in the next rule book to show what constitutes a legal play of that kind. The assembled mentors were almost unanimous in condemning the "block."

Braves vs. Reds

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 28. (UP)—Heavy showers during the morning forced cancellation of Saturday's scheduled game between the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds, the Braves' final training game of the year at St. Petersburg. The two teams will meet Sunday at Tampa and a game with the St. Louis Cardinals at Bradenton Monday will close Boston's exhibition series in Florida.

Coyotes Start Spring Grid Work This Week

By JACK ALLEN

Ushered in by appropriate weather, the spring football season for Wichita Falls High school will open during the latter part of the current week, according to Coach Barry Holton. One month of daily drills is the schedule planned for the spring session.

A new system is to be used this spring in the training methods. A plan, whereby the squads from Zundelowitz and Reagan junior highs will participate in the spring drills along with the high school squad, has been formulated by Coach Holton. The junior high aspirants will practice two weeks with the senior boys, learning the fundamentals and system that the Coyote mentor uses. Coaches A. D. Beck and Roy Golden, Reagan and Zundy coaches, respectively, will assist Coach Holton in the training, as will Bill Morris, assistant high school coach.

The four coaches along with H. A. Glass, principal of Zundelowitz, and W. A. Franklin, Reagan principal, and S. H. Rider, high school head, will meet in session sometime in the early part of this week for the purpose of discussing the feasibility of enforcing Coach Holton's plan. The plan has not yet been submitted to the school authorities, but it is expected to come through with flying colors and go into effect.

Two Weeks for Juniors

For two weeks on the high school field the two junior highs will be under the tutelage of Coach Holton and the other coaches. The one and only method of teaching fundamentals will be carried out by Colonel Holton and his staff. If necessary, a few of the letter men on the 1930 Coyote team will be pressed into service for the purpose of instructing the junior high gridders.

Fully 200 boys are expected to swarm all over the field on the first day of practice. After two weeks of the grind the junior high squads will go back to their home fields and the Coyote squad will continue practice.

One purpose of the idea, Baron Holton said, is to create interest among the student bodies of both the senior and junior high schools. Enthusiasm has been at a low ebb during the past season, and the Coyote mentor hopes to bring the promising young gridders out of the dormant spirit stage. Half of the time the spring session will be devoted to lectures on the rules and blackboard talks on fundamentals. The mental development will draw the major attention of the spring season.

Six Letter Men

"Individual perfection is the key of success on the gridiron," Coach Holton said. He stated that there were five steps in the teaching of fundamentals, including explanation, demonstration, practice by individual, correction by coach, and the striving for individual perfection. "The last step is the most important and means the difference between a good or mediocre football player," Coach Holton also stressed. He cited the experiences of Elmer Oliphant, sensational halfback for Purdue and Army in 1916, who practiced passing a football through a moving hoop in order to gain individual perfection.

On the offensive part of the game passing, kicking, handling the ball and running interference will draw the major part of attention during the session this spring. Pass defense, tackling and blocking will hold sway in the defensive department.

Six letter men return to make up the backbone of the 1931 Coyote machine, Max Sepkovitch, J. R. Holton, Ed Greenwood, Bob Brandon and Captain Bennett Withrow being the returning veterans. They will aid Coach Holton in carrying out his ultra-modern plan for spring training.

YOUNG STRIBLING IS BRIEF DALLAS VISITOR

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—W. L. (Young) Stribling Jr., Georgia heavyweight fighter, flew here Saturday from Tyler, Texas, and stopped for a brief visit with his grandmother, Mrs. C. H. Stribling. He was joined by his father and then flew on to Brownsville to engage in an exhibition match Sunday at Matamoras, Mexico.

The Striblings, father and son, accompanied by J. L. McCord, a friend, landed at Tyler Friday because of the rain and the elder Stribling came on to Dallas by automobile. They flew to Texas from Florida with Strib piloting his own ship.

Brooklyn Golfer In Speedy Finish To Tie For Peak

Whirlwind Final Round Of 71 Lands Pair In Tie With 228

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28. (AP)—Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn, won the North and South open golf championship here Saturday afternoon, defeating Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., by one stroke in a nine-hole play-off after they had tied for first honors in regular 72-hole grind with 288's. Cox's score was 36, one under par, for the play-off.

Shooting a 71 to come two strokes from behind, Cox tied Turnesa for first place. Both had 288 and the nine-hole play-off was arranged.

Turnesa entered the final 18 holes of competition two strokes ahead of Cox with a 215, but the latter shot a dazzling 71 on Saturday's round, while all Turnesa could do was match his 73 of Friday.

Turnesa and Cox split first and second prize money, which amounts to $2,500, and the play-off was little more than a formality.

Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., and Bobby Cruickshank, Purchase, N. Y., both of whom finished with 289's, one stroke behind the leaders, will divide third and fourth prizes, $750 and $600.

The sixth prize of $300 went to Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., who shot a 291 for the 72 holes of medal play, while Eddie Williams, Cleveland, with a 293, took the seventh prize of $250.

Harry Cooper, Chicago, Tommy Armour, Detroit and Henry Cuicl, Bridgeport, Conn., divided the eighth, ninth and tenth prizes, amounting to $450, and the eleventh prize of $90 went to young Paul Runyan, the defending champion.

FEW BILLS OF IMPORTANCE IN LIST COMPLETE

ONLY 38 WORKING DAYS REMAIN THIS SESSION

Some of Important Measures Not Yet Out Of Committee

AUSTIN, March 28. (AP)—Nearing the end of its 11th week of the 42nd session, the legislature was faced with disposal of nearly every major bill between now and May 12, the date set for sine die adjournment.

Few bills of major importance have been ground out since the legislature convened on Jan. 13 and leaders in both houses expressed the belief numerous bills would die on the calendar unless speedy action were obtained.

If the legislature meets each Saturday between now and May 12 it will have only 38 days to dispose of the maze of proposed legislation, much of which is highly controversial in nature and certain to consume a large amount of time.

Some of the major bills have not even been reported from from committee, including several revenue measures and the bill by Representative Petsch of Fredericksburg to establish a state commission to regulate public utilities. This bill will be acted on by a committee next week, probably Thursday.

Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt issued a statement today to allay fears, expressed in many quarters, of an extra session to clean up legislation. Witt denied the legislature would find itself in a jam in the closing days or that much needed legislation would die when the gavel fell at the end of the session. There is a distinct feeling of responsibility among the individual members to expedite legislation, Witt said.

Plan to Adjourn May 12

Speaker Fred Minor said he would entertain a resolution May 12 to adjourn sine die and Representative Anderson of San Antonio has announced he would offer such a resolution.

The senate worked this morning grinding out local and uncontested bills, while the house, for the first time in several weeks, took a Saturday off.

Extended argument over the highway bond issue in the senate gave rise to the prediction the fight would be even longer in the house where the opposition was regarded as more formidable. The senate spent Thursday and yesterday battling about the proposed $200,000,000 bond resolution and will resume the fight again Monday. Leading proponents of the resolution said they would try and obtain a vote on the resolution as soon as possible, but no prediction was made as to when that would be.

Achievement of House

The most notable achievement of the house last week was when the committee on oil, gas and mining voted out favorably Governor Sterling's bill to establish an oil and gas conservation commission to administer the oil and gas conservation laws. The committee report was made on the eve of the statewide proration hearing and caused considerable comment with oil men well divided on the subject. The bill would take oil and gas conservation out of the railroad commission.

The house ridded itself temporarily of the congressional redistricting question when it passed the bill by Representative Metcalf of San Angelo to increase the number of districts from 18 to 21. It was generally agreed, however, it would be sent to free conference committee and that the free conference report would be bitterly fought in both houses, regardless of the provisions of the bill it adopted.

More than a score of proposed amendments to the constitution were on the calendar awaiting action with several of them expected to touch off fireworks. In the latter category was one by Representative Moffett of Chillicothe to limit representation in the legislature to five from any county. It was engrossed last week and up for final action yesterday, but was withdrawn temporarily.

SPRINKLING OF WINE ON GRAVES IS OLD SERBIAN CUSTOM DEFENDANT SAYS

HAMMOND, Ind., March 28. (AP)—Eli Rogula, East Chicago, charged with possessing 70 gallons of wine explained in this way:

"You see, judge, I take it each Sunday to the cemetery and put a little on the graves of my old people so they will have something to drink."

"What will they do now?" asked Judge Smith.

"Well, they just won't get any that's all," said Eli. He hastened to explain it was just an old Serbian custom.

The judge continued the case.

CHARLES SCHWARTZ ASKS HABEAS CORPUS WRIT

LAREDO, Texas, March 28. (UP)—Charles Schwartz, alias "The Count," linked with the Arnold Rothstein murder case in New York, today applied for a writ of habeas corpus to the federal court at Houston, claiming that he was extradited from France, and according to a treaty between that country and the United States, he can be prosecuted only on the charge for which he was extradited.

Schwartz made a similar motion to the district court here but the write was denied. The Laredo district court set his trial for April 7.

Suit Transferred

EL PASO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—A suit of R. C. Crabb of Midland for $25,000 damages in connection with a land deal in Ector county was transferred from Pecos to the federal district court at El Paso today. Defendants in the suit were Frank V. Addis and Nancy Margaret Addis, residents of Illinois.

Olney and Graham Vie for Honors In Young County Literary Events Track Meet Postponed One Week

OLNEY, Texas, March 28.—Olney and Graham continued a merry battle for county honors in interscholastic league contests as literary events closed here today. Track and field events originally scheduled for today were postponed until next Saturday.

Though an official score is not available, an estimate indicates that only a few points separate leaders in the various divisions. A clean sweep for Olney in debates and declamations closed the gap between the Cubs and Graham for class A honors. Bitter Creek, Bunger and Profitt are waging a close fight for rural school honors. Newcastle has a safe lead for class B honors.

Winners in literary events follow:

Extemporaneous Speech—Girls, Lorene Rhodes, and boys, Oliver Graham, both of Graham.

Arithmetic—Graham ward.

Widow Late Army Officer Denies Her Actions Justified Conclusion Coroner Jury in Husband's Death

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28. (UP)—Mrs. Dorothy Winship, the young widow of Lieutenant Commander Emory A. Winship, millionaire San Franciscan, stood ready today to fight the accusation that she brought about her husband's suicide through jealousy.

Her fight will be for a widow's share of his estate, and for the inheritance of their year-old son, Emory Jr. The widow denied the blame fixed upon her in the legal edict of a coroner's jury.

"Servant gossip," and "the ravings of a drunken mind" fell from her lips as she went over the testimony of friends, employes and officials, charging her with a clandestine affection for the family chauffeur which led Commander Winshop to write a note, "I have an uncontrollable desire to take one or more lives," and then shoot himself.

Argument Over Estate

The inquest, and the tangled mass of charges and countercharges it brought out, developed into an argument over the Spanish-American war hero's estate. Attorneys for Winship said he changed his will two days before he ended his life, and that this document, materially reducing the widow's share, would be filed shortly in Macon, Ga., his official residence.

Meanwhile attorneys for Miss Helen Elizabeth Thompson, former film actress, injected another angle with a suit for $200 a month support from Winship as "a wife's share." A motion was presented to superior court asking the hearing of the suit be continued until the estate could be substituted for Winship as defendant.

Both Mrs. Winship and Miss Thompson promised contests to the will, should they be neglected. It was generally understood that no mention was made of the actress in the document.

Most of the testimony at the inquest dealt with the night of March 13 last, when Mrs. Winship left the man, whose childhood sweetheart she had been. They quarreled on returning from a party she said and she went upstairs to tell Ray McGuaigle, the chauffeur, to get the car and take her away.

Deaths

Mrs. S. M. Thorn

FREDERICK, Okla., March 28.—Funeral services were held at the First Baptist church of Davidson Thursday for Mrs. S. M. Thorn, 66, who died that morning at the home of her son, W. H. Thorn. In addition to this son she is survived by the following sons and daughters: J. M. Thorn, Calhoun, La.; Mrs. J. L. Howington, Baskin, La.; Mrs. Elizabeth Retis, New Orleans, La.

Frank M. Cullum

VERNON, Texas, March 28.—Funeral services for Frank M. Cullum, 50, were held Saturday afternoon in Vernon. Mr. Cullum died Thursday night following a long illness. He came to Wilbarger county in 1908 and conducted a mercantile business at Fargo, 12 miles north of this place. Surviving are his wife and four children, Fay, Roy, T. L. and Newell Cullum, all of Fargo.

Mrs. W. P. Edwards

RULE, Texas, March 28.—Funeral services were held in Haskell for Mrs. W. P. Edwards, age 49, who died in a sanitarium at Stamford first of the week. The deceased had been ill with pneumonia for the past three weeks. She is survived by three sons and three daughters.

J. A. Hamm

ELECTRA, Texas, March 28.—Funeral services for J. A. Hamm, 77, who died Friday in a Wichita Falls hospital, were held at the Assembly of God church Saturday at 4:30 o'clock with Rev. E. B. Crump, pastor, officiating. He had been in the furniture business here a number of years and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Rhoda Wellman, with whom he made his home in Electra, and Mrs. Stoward of West Texas.

Around Town

Miss Rachel Davis of Reagan school, Miss Hortense Goen of Crockett and Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan of the high school, all heads of the music departments of their respective schools, have returned from Vernon, where they were judges in the interscholastic glee club contest.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Solon Downing announce the arrival of a son, born at their home on the old Charlie road Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Vinson, 1657 Dayton street, are parents of a daughter, born at the Wichita General hospital late Saturday afternoon.

Miss Ollie Russell of Rogers, Ark., is here visiting her brother, J. P. Jones of Iowa Park, who is a patient at the Hargrave-Walker hospital.

HINDENBURG WILL HALT DISORDERS BY DRASTIC LAWS

BERLIN, March 28. (AP)—Millions of German citizens tonight were studying, in their evening newspapers, one of the most far reaching decrees ever promulgated in the young German republic.

It was "Father" Hindenburg's ukase for squelching disorder. Those who read radical papers did not know but that this might be the last issue of their paper for some time, for amid the drastic provisions of the decree is one empowering the authorities to suppress dailies for as long as eight consecutive weeks, if it were found necessary.

Those who belonged to such organizations as Adolph Hitler's brown shirts or the Communist red fronts did not know whether they could meet with the brethren again, for, under the new decree, their organizations may be dispersed with the stroke of a pen.

Furthermore, under the decree, such fundamental rights as freedom of the press, the inviolability of personal liberty, secrecy of postal, telegraphic and telephonic communication may be abrogated, at the government's discretion, while the decree is in force.

Organs of the middle parties saw in the presidential decree issued 48 hours after the reichstag adjourned for the summer, an effective counter measure against "political rowdyism." Radicals, on the other hand, were excited at what they called Chancellor Bruening's "draconic Easter message." They regarded it a serious threat to civic liberty. Some called it a "proclamation of a state of emergency."

The official Prussian press service sought to allay any fears of undue interference with liberty by explaining that the freedom of participating in decent, orderly political activity is not curtailed and that the decree is directed only against abuses.

ISSUE FORGERY WARRANT AT CUERO FOR FORMER TEXAS WOMAN POLITICIAN

CUERO, Texas, March 28. (UP)—A forgery warrant was issued here today for the woman giving her name as Mrs. K. M. Johnson, purported Democratic candidate for governor of Texas in 1926. The woman is held at Floresville on a similar charge.

A draft deposited in a bank here and bearing the name of a prominent San Antonio lumberman was discovered to be a forgery, officers said. They said the woman, claiming the name of Mrs. Laura Mucas and offering credentials, won the confidence of Cuero merchants who introduced her to bank officials. A check for $250 was cashed for her after she deposited a draft, officers said.

The woman was arrested at San Antonio Thursday night and taken to Floresville yesterday, where she was charged with forging the name of former Gov. W. P. Hobby to a check.

SERVICES HERE SUNDAY FOR CHARLES R. AVIS

The body of Charles Robert Avis, 33, for whom funeral services will be held from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Avis, 1318 Tenth street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock arrived here from Long Beach, Calif., Saturday and was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company.

Mr. Avis died in Long Beach Wednesday after a brief illness.

Dr. George P. Horst of the First Presbyterian church and Dr. Nat F. Grafton of the Floral Heights Presbyterian church are to conduct the services.

HOLD NEGRO COUPLE IN WICHITA LIQUOR RAID

Two cases of whisky were seized and a negro and his wife were arrested by Deputy Sheriff E. L. Kincaid in a raid on a Roosevelt street residence late Saturday afternoon. The deputy said he took several liquor orders over the telephone while he was at the house.

ANTI-GAMBLING FORCES WIN OFFICIAL VICTORIES

WASHINGTON, March 28. (INS)—Backers of a movement to curb spending of money by Americans in gambling resorts at Tia Juana, Mexico, won two victories from Washington officialdom today.

Solicitor of the Treasury Robert J. Mawhinney ruled the 6 p. m. border closing order is legal and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde ordered removal of a turnstile in an eight-mile fence along the California-Mexican lines.

SLAIN GANGSTER TO BE ACCUSED OF LINGLE DEATH

Attorneys for Brothers Plan To Shift Blame For Killing

ADJOURN MURDER TRIAL UNTIL MONDAY MORNING

By WILLIAM E. HALLBERG
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, March 28.—First moves were made today by attorneys for Leo V. Brothers to introduce the name of the late Frank Marco, Aiello gangster with many aliases, into Brothers' trial on charges of murdering Alfred J. Lingle, and to accuse Marco of the slaying.

This defense strategy became known when Brothers' counsel announced they had summoned Lieut. Walter Storms of the police bureau of identification, to bring into court police records of Marco's criminal career, which extends back to 1916.

Brothers' trial was in adjournment until Monday, when the state will call Alfred W. Kellstrom, trunk store salesman, and Col. Calvin S. Goddard, ballistics expert, to close the chief part of its case against the moody ex-St. Louisian.

Marco was killed on a New York City street Feb. 17, while a fugitive from two murder warrants against him in Chicago. Seven bullets were fired into his body, but his assailants never were identified. New York authorities asked Chicago police if the victim wasn't wanted in connection with the Lingle murder and were told that he was not.

Photographs of Marco

The defense showed two rogue's gallery photographs of Marco to David Mills, a state witness in the Brothers' trial late Friday. Mills, who had testified he saw Brothers run from the Illinois Central subway after Lingle was slain, studied the likenesses of Marco without recognition.

Nevertheless, Tyrell V. Krum, attorney for Brothers, said today the defense was convinced that Marco was the real slayer of the Chicago Tribune reporter and that the state's witnesses were confused by the dead gangster's resemblance to Brothers.

"Marco was a member of the Aiello gang, which included Julian (Potatoes) Kaufman, who used him as a chauffeur," Krum said. "Frankie Foster, the man who brought the gun which witnesses say killed Lingle, also was in this gang. Jack Zuta was the directing executive; Tony Aiello was the treasurer. Brothers had absolutely no connection of any kind with these characters.

"The Aiello gang would have had a real motive for killing Lingle if it is true that he was believed to be acting as a go-between for the Al Capone gang and police officials. Marco would have been a likely man for the job—he was known to police as Aiello's journeyman killer."

Krum said that if the opportunity presented itself, the defense also would try to stress the fact that Patsy Tardi, one of four men mentioned in the Lingle murder, Aiello, Zuta and Marco all have been killed within the last six months.

REPORT DISCOVERY OF JEWISH SCHOLAR'S TOMB AT SAFFURIE VILLAGE

JERUSALEM, March 28. (US)—The tomb of Yehuda Hanassi, famous Jewish scholar of the second century, was reported discovered today by archeologists excavating at the village of Saffurie, near Nazareth.

Yehuda Hanassi, who lived from 135 A. D. to 200, is credited with having edited the Mishna, the original talmud, which forms the basis of present Jewish religious laws.

Saffurie, now a town of some 4,000 inhabitants, was once the capital of Galilee. The learned Jewish scholar is understood to have lived there for 17 years. Today's discovery was made by an expedition of the Hebrew university here, headed by Dr. Sukenik. Dr. Sukenik says the tomb bears several Aramaic inscriptions, one of which reads: "Here lies the corpse of Rabbi Hanassi."

HOUSTON AGAIN LEADS IN TEXAS BUILDING PERMITS

DALLAS, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Building permit reports for the week in Texas showed Houston leading, with a total of $229,442; Tyler second with $164,968, and Lubbock third, with $123,341.

JURY FAILS TO AGREE IN CASE AT LOCKHART

LOCKHART, Texas, March 28. (AP)—The jury to which evidence on a liquor indictment against Bob Golightly was submitted here Thursday reported today to Judge M. C. Jeffrey that its members were "hopelessly deadlocked" over a verdict. The case was given the jury Thursday night.

Judge Jeffrey sent the jury back to its chambers for further deliberation, saying he would keep them 12 days if necessary to get a verdict.

Tax Association Meets

ODESSA, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Forty delegates from nine West Texas counties today attended a meeting of the Texas Tax association here. A resolution was passed asking the state legislature to vote no further taxes at this time.

HEAVY DAMAGE BY COLD WAVE

Orchards and Gardens Are Blighted by Blizzard

(By The Associated Press)

Already looking out upon orchards and gardens blighted by a blizzard which brought ruin to northern and western Texas Thursday and Friday, farmers and stockmen Saturday night faced the new fear of further damage from frost and freezing temperatures.

Government weather forecasts predicted frost Saturday night probably would extend to the coast, excepting in the lower Rio Grande valley. Freezing temperatures in the northeast portion of the state were predicted, although moderation was expected to bring partly cloudy and warmer weather to West Texas.

The lower Rio Grande valley apparently had escaped damage from freeze and frosts Friday night but recurrence of low temperatures was feared Saturday night.

Early gardens, fruit trees, flowers and shrubbery in the Panhandle were ruined or greatly damaged but Panhandle wheat farmers rejoiced over the moisture left by an eight-inch snow left by the storm.

Freezing weather extended as far south as Austin and San Antonio and eastward to Texarkana, although damage in Central Texas was believed slight.

Temperatures ranging from 12 at Amarillo to 26 at Kerrville, 24 at Gainesville, 28 at Tyler, 23 at Sherman and 26 at Texarkana were reported.

BIG BILL PLANS TO QUIT POLITICS AFTER THIS RACE

CHICAGO, March 29. (AP)—The master showman of Chicago politics, Mayor William Hale Thompson, is staging his last act in the mayoralty arena—but the comic touch is missing.

Instead, it is a serious Mayor Thompson battling for his fourth term against Anton J. Cermak, Bohemian-born "boss" of Cook county Democracy.

For "Big Bill"—win or lose—the curtain will fall after the April 7 election. The thrice-Republican mayor has announced this campaign—admittedly his hardest—is his last.

The din and ballyhoo typical of all Chicago campaigns has swelled in volume. But that characteristic part of Thompson politics is missing—the circus.

Into loop theaters, daily dozen of meetings were sprinkled with charges of "bigotry" and "gold coast deals" as the candidates tore into the final 10 days of the most intense battle of their political careers.

Already, close to a thousand hours of radio addresses, harmony broadcasts and dramatizations have been wirelessed into the city's homes. The "Cermak Troubadours" and Thompson's police quartet serenade the city nightly with their campaign songs.

The mayor still fights his own fight—his factional leaders the only allies. Former Senator Charles S. Deneen's organization is a political mummy. Leaders who supported Judge John H. Lyle in the primary are conspicuous by their absence.

RICHARDS GIVEN PRISON FURLOUGH SEVEN DAYS AGO

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Lee Simmons, general manager of the Texas state prison system, revealed today that Ben C. Richards of Dallas, under a three-year sentence for forgery in connection with the alleged "framing" of an election wager which resulted in the death of one man, had been free for a week on furlough.

Simmons said prison authorities were notified about a week ago by the governor's office at Austin that Richards had been granted a 60-day furlough. Officials at the Darrington farm released Richards.

Reports from Austin said the furlough was granted to permit Richards to aid in supporting his wife and baby in Dallas, both of whom were ill. He has served eight months of his sentence but has gained an extra six months because of excellent conduct, records show.

WIRE STRING ON KITE ELECTROCUTES YOUTH AT FORT WORTH SATURDAY

FORT WORTH, March 28. (UP)—Flying a kite with a small copper wire as string, Elbert Chesirs, 13, was eletrocuted late today when the kite wire came in contact with a high voltage line.

Elbert and some friends had been flying the kite from the street and his father, W. H. Chesirs, passing by, told them to go on a vacant lot, as he feared an auto might hit them.

The boys moved toward the vacant lot and shortly afterward Elbert was killed.

He still had the wire in his hand and his clothing was afire when J. H. Randle rushed out of a nearby house and knocked the kite wire away with a board.

A friend of the boy, Kenneth South, 9, was burned on the fingers when he came near the wire in an attempt to remove it.

DR. ALEXIS CARREL IS AWARDED CANCER PRIZE

WASHINGTON, March 28. (US)—Dr. Alexis Carrel, of the Rockefeller institute, received the Nordhoff-Jung cancer prize for 1930 at Georgetown university tonight. Ambassador von Prittwitz of Germany made the presentation.

The award carried $1,000 cash. It is given every two years for outstanding work in cancer research. It was founded by Dr. Sofie A. Nordhoff-Jung, of Washington, a member of the Georgetown Medical school faculty.

FIRST GASOLINE IS SHIPPED FROM NEW EAST TEXAS PLANT

HENDERSON, Texas, March 28.—The first gasoline to be made in the new plant of the East Texas Refining company was shipped from here today when five carloads was sent to Missouri and Michigan. The total capacity of the new refinery will be 6,000 barrels daily.

The first unit of the plant was placed in operation the last of this week and is now running 3,000 barrels.

The plant will be ready to run full capacity within the next week or 10 days. F. W. Burford, formerly of Tulsa, is president of the East Texas Refining company.

Materials arrived on the ground today and actual construction work will start Monday on the new eight-inch pipe line to be built by the Texas Pipe Line company from the Rusk county fields to Douglas, Nacogdoches county. The N. A. Saigh company was recently awarded the contract for the building of this 50-mile pipe line.

BIG REDUCTION IN CITY DEBTS

was a sizeable overdraft included in the indebtedness of the city. The financial condition of Wichita Falls is, therefore, better now to the extent of $596,080.24 than it was on March 31, 1928.

The city council is at this time preparing its budget for the coming fiscal year and has already made arrangements for reductions in the operation expenses of the city amounting to many thousands of dollars, both in payrolls and other expenses. The heads of all departments have been notified that it will be necessary for them to reduce the expenses in their respective departments to the lowest possible minimum. By this method, it is the expectation of the council to make a considerable reduction in the amount of taxes collected from the citizens of Wichita Falls for the coming year.

In 1930 a general reduction was made in the valuation of all real estate land values in the city of Wichita Falls. A very close study was made of the value of properties owned by the large corporations in the city and a considerable portion of the reduction in valuations of land values was offset by an increase in the valuation of property owned by the large corporations within the city limits.

It has been the policy of the city council to be fair and equitable to the citizenship as a whole in its attitude as to property valuations; but wherever possible to do so, it has always been the policy of the city government to favor the small home owners. An exhaustive study has been made of the amount of property that escaped taxation in the past and by subjecting such property to taxation the decrease in revenues because of the general reduction in land values has been made up. The present city council contemplates continuance of its study of the tax situation in Wichita Falls to the end that taxes may fall as equally as possible on the owners of property in this city.

The city administration has always taken an active interest in legislation introduced at Austin affecting the administration of city government. Both the mayor and the city attorney have sat in with representatives of other cities throughout the state in formulating the provisions of the various public utility regulation bills which have been introduced before the state legislature and have done everything possible to aid in securing their passage.

Gas Rates

A notable feature of these legislative measures is the provision for a commission clothed with power to regulate the prices charged by trunk gas lines for gas sold to the distributing companies serving the various cities of the state, as well as the local rates of all utilities. It was hoped by this means that a material and permanent reduction might be effected not only in gas rates but in all utility rates.

At the present time no commission of the state government has the power to regulate the rate at which trunk gas lines, such as the Lone Star Gas company, shall sell its gas to distributing companies. Consequently, when the question of a reduction of gas rates at Wichita Falls was taken before the railroad commission and a similar case at Fort Worth was submitted to the federal court, it was impossible to secure a reduction in rates, the federal court decision being that the local distributing company and the Lone Star Gas company were separate and distinct corporations and that the contract by which the Lone Star Gas company charges the local distributing company 45 cents per thousand for gas at the city gates were valid and that, therefore, the rate of 75 cents per thousand charged by the local distributing company was also valid.

It is our hope and belief that should a commission be appointed the rates charged by the Lone Star Gas company can be materially reduced. This, naturally, would have the effect of lowering gas rates charged by distributing companies not only in Wichita Falls but in all other Texas cities.

In April, 1929, the city through negotiations with the Texas Electric company secured a reduction of rates charged small domestic consumers from the then existing maximum of 11 and minimum of nine cents per kilowatt hour to the present maximum of seven cents and minimum of five cents per kilowatt hour. A reduction to the average consumer of approximately 25 per cent was thereby obtained.

The city has been on a cash basis since Nov. 1, 1928. It has collected interest on its deposited funds through the local banks in amounts ranging from $8,000 to $10,000 per year since that time; whereas for the fiscal year 1927-28, the city was forced to pay more than $19,000 interest on its overdraft with the local banks.

The following are some of the accomplishments of your city government since April 1, 1928, performed in the face of a reduction of nearly $100,000 annually in revenues:

CHILDREN TELL OF BUS TRAGEDY

keep them awake, fearing sleep would mean death.

One by one the children became exhausted. They slumped in their seats, and cried quietly, to themselves.

Then one of the little girls died. Miller's crude examination with his numbed hands convinced him of that. Then another toppled over and finally Miller saw his own daughter, May Miller, 7, die.

Miller told the older boys he was going to try to reach aid. He must have known he faced certain death. But if he did he kept it from the children.

"God bless you all," he said. "Pray somebody will find you. I don't believe I'll ever see you again." Then he left.

Bus Driver Missing

Tonight Miller's prophecy apparently was fulfilled. He was missing.

His prayer that the children would be found, however, was answered.

Abe Stonebreaker and Ernie Johnson, frantic over the absence of their children who had been dismissed from the Pleasant Hill school and sent toward home in the bus Thursday morning as the storm threatened, discovered the stranded bus late Friday.

Johnson found his own son, Kenneth, 8, dead.

Also dead were the bus driver's daughter and Orlo Untid, 8, and Robert Brown, 11.

The survivors were huddled together, too cold and exhausted to tell a coherent story of the long hours of waiting for rescue.

Doctors Battle Snow

Over snow-choked roads they made their way to the isolated ranch, a mile and a half from a telephone.

The plight of the children was serious. Medical supplies were few. Some of the children were in a critical condition.

Doctor Casburn sent Reinart to the telephone and summoned an airplane from Lamar, 60 miles away. Nurses were asked for. The plane was wanted to take the most critical to the hospital in Lamar.

Meantime, the 150 residents of Towner assembled all available medical supplies and sent them to the doctors on a sledge.

The men folk assembled. Fifty strong they went to the stalled bus, buried in a 15-foot drift, and removed the bodies. These were put on a sledge and taken to Holly.

Others set out to find Miller. It was considered a hopeless quest. They expected to find him dead, beaten by the storm somewhere along the route of the heroic trip for aid.

The airplane, piloted by Jack Hart, 35, and Max Mitchell, 18, came to a rough landing on a snow-covered field on the Reinart ranch. It brought Frances Delk and J. Rybak, nurses from Lamar.

Airplane Ambulance

A few minutes later it took off with Alice Huffaker, 14, and Blanche Stonebreaker, 10, the most seriously frozen.

It was Alice who told rescuers:

"We prayed, but it was so cold. No one came. We were all huddled together, and tried not to sleep. Some did though."

She referred to the five who perished.

Blanche said that she did not know that her sister had died during the awful hours.

"I thought she was asleep."

Blanche said that one boy in the bus had given his sobbing little sister all of his clothes, except his underwear, and that he himself ran about the bus trying to keep away the numbness.

"Oh, it was cold." Blanche said. The children said Miller burned fence posts after the gasoline gave out and the motor of the bus had stopped.

The only food they had were the lunches they had taken to school Thursday morning. It did not last long.

Doctor Casburn said most of the children still were too dazed from their experience to give all the details of the 30 hours in the bus.

HOOVER IMPROVED IN HEALTH AS SHIP APPROACHES COAST

ABOARD U. S. S. ARIZONA, March 28. (US)—President Hoover is nearing the American coast tonight, the insular problem temporarily behind him, to face the more pressing treasury deficiency and farm board politics.

It was learned he is satisfied with the organization of the Republican national committee, preferring to retain Secretary of War Hurley in his cabinet instead of having him succeed Senator Fess, of Ohio, as chairman of the committee, as was reported in Washington.

The Arizona, bearing the president homeward from his West Indian tour, is scheduled to reach Norfolk Sunday afternoon. The presidential party will go ashore at about 3 p. m. and board a special train that will reach Washington at 9 p. m.

President Hoover is greatly refreshed and improved in health by the rest he secured aboard ship and the wholesome food. He has kept in intimate touch with affairs through the ship newspaper and radio and plans a busy day Monday, when he will pick up his problems where he left them 10 days ago.

ALTMAN CLAIMS SELF DEFENSE

$150 in cash and assume certain other obligations including notes held by the First National bank at Hamlin. He testified that Tanner failed to carry out his part of the agreement and avoided him and that he heard Tanner was carrying a gun.

Last February, Altman told the jury, he came back from New Mexico alone and that on Feb. 25 he took a rifle and went to hunt rabbits during the afternoon. He said he went toward Tanner's hog pasture where he saw Sam Tanner.

He testified that as he approached he said, "Hello," to Tanner and asked the latter why he had not complied with their agreement regarding the debt. The defendant said Tanner replied that he would not carry it out if he took the notion and might never do it.

Describes Shooting

Tapner then cursed him, stooped behind a barrel in the pen and reached for his hip, Altman testified.

"Then I shot him because I thought he was going to shoot me and because he had abused my home and family," Altman said. "I was afraid of Tanner. He had a record of being a dangerous man."

The defendant testified that after killing Tanner he went home and with his brother Jim started toward Aspermont. Later he said he decided he wanted to see his wife and 20-day old baby in New Mexico and so the car was driven west.

The two were arrested about 11 o'clock that night near Lovington, New Mexico.

The defendant wept audibly as he related the story about his wife's relations with Tanner. He was on the stand for more than five hours and underwent a rigid state cross-examination, during which he denied that he and his wife separated at the time of the trouble. He said he was "hurt" and not mad at Tanner in spite of the fact that he believed Tanner had threatened "to get him out of the way."

The courtroom was jammed with a crowd of 700 persons throughout the day.

Morning Session

During the morning session of court, Paul Henderson, who lives in the Tanner neighborhood, told of going to Tanner's home after newspapers and testified that Tanner asked him if "Homer's wife was alone." He also said Tanner kept a loaded pistol in his room.

Mrs. J. I. Moore testified that Tanner had threatened to kill her husband on one occasion during trouble over some keys.

Mrs. E. C. Altman, mother of the defendant, told of going to see Tanner with her husband on business last October when she said Mrs. P. R. Allen, occupant of the Tanner house, showed them two letters written by Tanner to Juanita Altman, wife of the defendant. Mrs. Altman said she took the letters and gave them to Homer that night.

The wife of the defendant, who gave her age at 22 years, took the stand and told the jury that she had a six-weeks old baby and that her husband was affectionate with both her and the baby. The defense introduced letters bearing the imprints of the baby's hand and foot sent Homer Altman by his wife while she was at her mother's home in New Mexico.

She told of Tanner's approaches in Rotan as revealed in her husband's testimony and said she accepted the $10 because Tanner owed them money.

Testimony in the case closed at 8:50 o'clock Saturday night. Arguments will start at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The case is expected to reach the jury some time Monday afternoon.

DEEP OIL STABILIZES FUTURE PROSPERITY OF WICHITA FALLS

BUSINESS LEADERS PREDICT FOUNDATION NOW FIRM FOR FUTURE GROWTH GREAT CITY

By FRED L. HASKETT

Discovery of deep producing oil sands within the area of Wichita Falls has given renewed confidence in the future growth and stability of the city and the oil producing area. For years it has been the hopes that deep oil would be discovered but there was no necessity for development so long as the shallow sands proved so productive. In the past four or five years development has gradually dwindled, due to the fact that heavy production in other fields was more profitable and for the further reason that oil men have lived and worked in the hope of bigger production than the shallow sands of this area yielded, and drifted to brighter areas.

Deep Oil Company Organized

A little more than a year ago there was organized in Wichita Falls the Deep Oil Development company, and its purpose was to find sands of deeper horizons than had been discovered. The company has been ably managed and while its work apparently was slow yet every step was measured and as a result of the wisdom displayed by the officers and board of directors deep oil sands have been revealed and actual production is a fact this day.

What deep oil production means to Wichita Falls at this time, and its worth to the future growth and prosperity of the city is revealed by interviews given by well informed business men of Wichita Falls, as follows:

J. J. Perkins, capitalist: "The discovery of deep oil puts a firm foundation under Wichita Falls, such as we have never had before. Our future is now settled for many years to come."

N. H. Martin, capitalist, oil operator and president of Deep Oil Production company: "We have accomplished what we had confidence in. It has required lots of time and effort to make the discovery of deep oil a fact. My opinion is that Deep Oil's well in the K-M-A field will make a very satisfactory producer and may prove a big surprise. The Chalk Hill well is producing from the Canyon sand. This means we have at least two paying horizons deeper than we have ever had. The uncovering of these deeper sands means more to Wichita Falls than the finding of the shallow sands 20 years ago. It means oil men and operators need not leave Wichita Falls to seek new fields as there is plenty of virgin stuff here. There will be from 15 to 20 years more drilling ahead. It is difficult to really visualize what the finding of deep oil means for Wichita Falls."

Area Firmly Established

J. T. Harrell, president of the City National bank and oil operator: "Our mineral resources will continue to be the greatest of all our resources and finding deep oil establishes this as an oil producing area for many years to come. That means when the markets right themselves the city will continue to grow and prosper.

Sam Kruger, jewelry merchant: "Deep oil means the whole Wichita Falls oil area is to be developed again. It is a life-saver for our city, and the entire oil producing area of Northwest Texas."

J. T. Mytinger, president Security National bank: "Deep oil means a store of wealth for many years to come. I have had faith in Wichita Falls although some have wavered about the future. Now all of us have confidence in Wichita Falls and believe the city has a wonderful future as a result of our new discovery of deep oil sands. More money will perhaps come to us from the deep sands than we have secured from the shallow fields during the past 20 years."

J. L. Jackson Jr., investments and president chamber of commerce: "The biggest thing that has happened to Wichita Falls since oil was first discovered in Wichita county 20 years ago. The finding of deep oil gives us confidence in the future and will stabilize the city and the oil producing area in every way. It gives us a new program of development that means untold millions will be invested."

Greatest Oil Area Known

J. S. Bridwell, capitalist and oil operator: "Deep oil assures Wichita Falls as being in the greatest oil area in the world. We have found oil profitable for more than 20 years and the future will reveal as much to us as the past. We need not be discouraged about the oil business. It has created more wealth to Wichita county than any other factor ever can and while the industry is now in a deplorable condition it is bound to right itself and eventually we will enjoy greater prosperity than we have had here before. Oil being different to any other industry in that nature has provided a store house for it and will take care of it until we can profitably produce it."

Louis H. Gould, real estate and leases: "The discovery of deep oil near Wichita Falls strengthens every industry from the least to the greatest, and by that beneficial effect business of all kinds will revive. Already there is a different feeling and the future looks promising to me."

J. S. Hargett, manager of Wichita Falls Mill and Elevator company and president of the business council of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce: "The finding of deep oil has already built up the morale of the business men of Wichita Falls and the citizenship as well. It is the main topic of conversation when men meet together. Its discovery came at a most logical time."

J. M. Spoonts, member city council and druggist: "It is making all of us optimistic and I believe that when the K-M-A well gets its shot that exploration for deep oil will be as great as when the first shallow sands were found. I know of nothing that could happen at this time that was worth more to Wichita Falls and its entire oil producing area than the finding deep oil near Archer City. It means the future of our city is assured."

Wichita Falls Is Secure

Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent public free schools of Wichita Falls district: "The discovery of deep oil is significant to the future of Wichita Falls and it is fortunate that the discovery came at this moment. My belief is that Wichita Falls is on the eve of the greatest development ever experienced and that we are not half awake to the future. Great reserves of oil in the Wichita Falls area makes us as secure as with a big bank account. It stabilizes Wichita Falls."

A. E. Kelly, manager Texas Electric Service company: "Deep oil puts a solid foundation under Wichita Falls' future growth. The fact that deep oil is known to exist means that we have as much development work to be done in the future as has been done in the past 20-odd years."

Pat H. Simmons, active vice president of Wichita State Bank and Trust company: "The picture printed in the Daily Times showing the Chalk Hill deep well flowing was the biggest thing that has happened for Wichita Falls in many months. We are now assured of deep oil and that means our oil men will continue their residence here. The city has a real future and just as rapidly as business conditions become better just that fast will Wichita Falls become more prosperous. In fact our city is now in a position to keep a little ahead of the pace. We need not fear the future because the oil business will recover and it is a business that can recover almost over night."

Years of Activity Ahead

Marvin Smith, president of W. B. McClurkan & Co.: "In finding deep oil we have got what has long been desired by the oil operators as well as all others who have investments in Wichita Falls. We can now look forward to many years of activity in our oil fields."

Frank Timberlake of Perkins-Timberlake company: "Deep oil assures Wichita Falls many more years of real activity in the oil fields. It gives assurance of stabilized property values and when the oil business recovers we will see greater activity over all of the Northwest Texas area."

Jack Barnard, manager P. B. M. company: "Confidence has been restored by the finding of deep oil and that is an essential asset in determining the future, either business or city building. We now have confidence to go forward and to prepare for better days that are ahead of us. I have depended my faith in Wichita Falls upon the discovery of deep oil, which is now a fact."

Ralph DeShong, president of Saul's Stores: "Personally I feel more confident of the future than ever before. There is no chance to keep Wichita Falls down for the next 10 or 15 years. Renewal of drilling will give employment and that is needed most now by men who work in the oil fields."

W. M. McGregor, president of the First National bank: "The future of a city or community, like a business institution, can be determined by the foundation upon which it is constructed. Deep oil has strengthened the foundation of Wichita Falls for years to come. In the meantime let us continue our efforts to put additional strength to the splendid foundation by adding to our agricultural and industrial resources, and not lose sight of the fact that Wichita Falls is geographically located to make and will make a city."

Burton Stayton, manager Fresar's Furniture company: "I think the bringing in of the two deep oil wells gives a foundation upon which to build our city of the future. It is something that is definite and assured and should immediately prove a stabilizing influence upon all lines of business."

Canada Dry Ginger Ale Price Lowered Account Demand

Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Incorporated, announced Saturday the completion of a three-year program of plant expansion. This accomplishment is the signal for revealing their plan to supply a market estimated to be 10 times greater than their present business of 90,000,000 bottles a year.

This plan is based on a selling and advertising campaign scaled for the quality market. The first advertisement will appear in the newspapers of Thursday, April 2, and coincidently the sales campaign will be inaugurated with a message from P. D. Saylor, president of the company, to its distributors and dealers throughout the country.

The company is expanding its plants, making emergency enlargements at Montreal and Toronto, and are building a new plant at Edmonton, in Canada. United States plants in the Eastern seaboard territory have also been expanded.

Due to the increased demand for Canada dry ginger ale, which has permitted increased production, President Saylor announces that there will be reduction of 20 per cent in the retail price of their drink. The retailers will be protected in the price decline, he states.

The use of ginger ale as a beverage has increased rapidly in the United States during the past 10 years, and its use is attributed much to the newspaper advertising that has been done by Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Incorporated.

M & V TANK COMPANY ONE OF LARGEST TANK MANUFACTURERS IN TEXAS

Dating its organization back to the day of the Burkburnett oil boom, the M. & V. Tank company of Wichita Falls, is considered one of the largest welded steel tank concerns in Texas. Its products are shipped in many producing oil fields throughout the Mid-Continent area.

The firm was originally organized by F. E. Van Wormer and Amos J. Mitchell, who became associated as oil producers during the Burkburnett period. They organized the M. & V. Oil company, which is still in existence. The firm sold tanks at Burkburnett during the oil rush and afterwards engaged in the manufacturing business.

The plant in Wichita Falls is equipped with modern machinery and normally from 30 to 35 men are employed, which does not include the number in the office and traveling salesmen. The company recently opened a warehouse and storage lot at Arp, in the East Texas fields. A good business is being done there but it is necessary to ship the tanks by motor truck, due to a tie-up in railway business at that station.

The company manufactures welded tanks for storage and gunbarrel tanks. It also carries a complete stock of wooden stave tanks. In addition to its tank business the company sells Oilfield engines. A modern machine shop is maintained to repair these engines and a large stock of parts is carried.

One of the latest ventures of the company, and it is proving profitable, is the making of steel frames for poster advertising sign boards. The demand is coming from several states and the business has been such as to keep a number of men employed during the lull in the local oil situation.

The company has a pay roll of approximately $5,000 monthly. Raw materials as far as possible are purchased in Wichita Falls. Steel is purchased in carload lots direct from the mills.

The company is now being managed by F. E. Van Wormer, who has been active since the accidental death of Mr. Mitchell, which happened a few months ago. W. G. McMurray is plant superintendent.

The picture shows most of the buildings in which tanks are manufactured, also the shops where oil field engines are overhauled. Tanks in the foreground are reserve stocks.

TEXAS IN NEED FACTORIES FOR FARMERS GOOD

SOME CITIES ENCOURAGE FACTORIES BY FINANCES

Investments Will Be Made In Industries That Are Essential

Rural Texas stands in need of many industries to utilize the raw products and materials that are now being produced, and to give increase to further production, as reported in a recent survey.

With the steady growth of crop diversification there has risen a demand for the establishment of creameries and milk processing plants, canning plants for fruits and vegetables, cotton oil mills, poultry dressing plants, meat packing establishments, sweet potato curing plants, black-eyed pea processing plants, pecan shellers, feed mills, pickling plants, syrup, rice, paper, flour and lumber mills, soap factories, woolen and cotton mills, peanut mills, broom factories, cooking fat factories and plants that can utilize mineral production.

Many countries through their respective chambers of commerce are offering substantial bonuses to bring such plants to their towns and cities, assuring an abundant supply of raw materials. Others offer local private capital for investment in any needed industry.

Need Careful Surveys

Development of Texas ranching and farming will be stimulated with proper extension of needful industrial enterprises. Such development should be preceded by careful surveys as to raw materials, suitable location, outlet for finished commodities and transportation facilities. They will have to be ably managed, as experience in the past have shown that many unwarranted small, and sometimes large industries, have failed because of unwise promotion, or incompetent management.

Texas is steadily developing its agriculture and ranching. That there should be wool scouring plants or woolen mills in the nation's leading wool and mohair state seems logical. As to more cotton mills at this time there may be some doubt, but when conditions warrant such extension may be feasible.

Pecan Development

Texas as the largest pecan growing state could easily support more pecan shelling and manufacturing plants in a vast area of Central and Southwest Texas where that nut is native.

Texas annually imports large quantities of canned vegetables and fruits from the Pacific coast and the North, much of which could be canned in Texas' highly specialized areas raising vegetables and fruits. These areas also would lend themselves to development of quick-freezing plants and other modern refrigeration establishments. There doubtless is room in many areas of Texas for more turkey-dressing or general poultry killing and storage creameries and milk processing plants.

Texas is the nation's greatest agricultural and ranching state, producing annually from $700,000,000 to more than one billion dollars worth of farm and ranch raw products, many of which ought to be processed in Texas.

Oat Harvest Due Quite Early

Harvesting of winter oats will be much earlier this season than normal, states G. C. McGown, agricultural agent of Wichita county. Some fields that were not pastured are beginning to head and with a few days of dry warm weather the heads will ripen rapidly. Oat harvesting will give employment to hundreds of men over North and Northwest Texas.

GREAT PROSPERITY PREDICTED FOR WICHITA FALLS

W. L. Buck, senior member of the firm of W. L. Buck company, wholesale distributors of barber and beauty shop supplies, was a visitor in Wichita Falls last week. Mr. Buck resides in Oklahoma City, and had many years' experience in the wholesale and jobbing business in both Texas and Oklahoma. Discussing business conditions, he said:

"Now is the proper time for wholesale and jobbing concerns to establish branch houses in Wichita Falls, because rents are favorable and the Wichita Falls area is the most rapidly developing section in the southwestern states.

"Wichita Falls is the center of such a splendid trade territory and it is only possible to serve the territory from within and not from the outside. That is the reason why we established a branch in this city.

"Business has held up well during the past three years within Wichita Falls, and this under the most adverse circumstances. Conditions are now becoming normal in Wichita Falls and that means real prosperity is coming again.

"One of the greatest factors in making Wichita Falls an ideal jobbing city is the number of important hard surfaced highways that radiate from the city. Modern trend in merchandising is rapid turn-over and is forcing distributors to have service close to customer, and cities like Wichita Falls will benefit greatly from the new trend.

"Now is the accepted time for all Wichita Falls business firms to make preparations for expansion of their businesses. The opening of two new deep oil fields within a few miles of Wichita Falls simply means other pools will be opened when development is again under way. I have confidence that there is as much oil development ahead of Wichita Falls as there was when the first wells were discovered nearly 30 years ago.

"Wichita Falls has one of the brightest futures of any city. The irrigated valley, new oil fields with production from deep sands, the settled production of thousands of wells from the shallow sands. Great industrial progress is sure to come. Why fear the future? Just get in and prepare for greater times in Wichita Falls."

Lawton's Building Figures Exceed Those of Last Season; Much Work Now in Progress Throughout City

VERNON MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING IN INDUSTRIES

Twenty-five industrial concerns in Vernon produced during 1930 products valued at $4,075,980.16. The industries paid for raw materials $2,940,542.88 and $828,127.48 was paid to labor. That is a splendid record for a year like 1930, and under normal conditions the figures should be at least 50 per cent greater.

Vernon conducted an industrial exhibition last week and hundreds of citizens visited the show to learn what is made in Vernon. Other cities of Northwest Texas are planning similar exhibits.

Due to the bringing in of flowing well from a deep sand in Archer county, 18 miles south of Wichita Falls, business is expected to show a material increase in oil field activities of the Wichita Falls area.

Last year's building permit record showed $30,890 worth of new construction, and this year the amount is $38,540. It is said by authorities that the building permit figures are not the correct amount of money that is being actually expended.

Lawton is also doing considerable improvement of its water distribution system. Approximately four miles of 24-inch water mains from the filtering plant have been laid and there are four miles more to be laid before the line reaches Fort Sill.

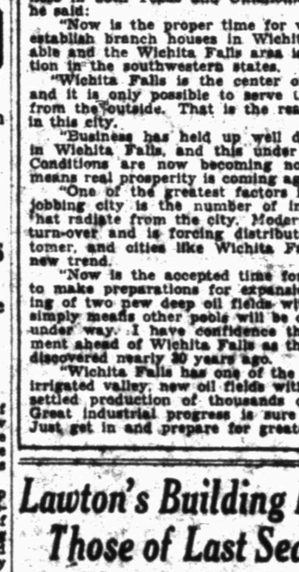

A new water reservoir is being erected, which will have a height of 95 feet. The tower is now about 70 per cent completed. The public and private work at Lawton has given employment to a large number of men.

The government has given a painting contract for the exterior of the federal building to C. B. Wodson of Lawton. The building is to be painted within 45 days.

Crop conditions are excellent in the Lawton territory. Wheat gives promise of a bountiful yield and farm work is far advanced. There has been ample moisture. The farmers have lived economically during the past year and with some ready money from the wheat crop farmers will begin to buy heavier.

Lawton expects to see Fort Sill improved during the coming year with expenditures running into millions of dollars.

BUILDING BIG STACK

This is the first of two big concrete smokestacks for Continental Oil company refinery in Wichita Falls. The stack is now about one-half its designed height of 125 feet. The stack being constructed replaced an old stack that was recently wrecked because of faulty construction. The new stack is lined with fire clay brick. The stack will be the highest in Northwest Texas.

Local Store Gets Big Contract for State Institutions

The Perkins-Timberlake company of Wichita Falls has been awarded large contracts for merchandise to state institutions, states R. M. Tittle.

Saturday contracts were sent the store for merchandise to be delivered to the Wichita Falls State hospital, San Antonio State hospital, Austin State school and the Austin State hospital. Delivery of the merchandise is to be made immediately and continues into June.

The Perkins-Timberlake company bid against some of the largest business firms in the country for this state business and winning of the contracts was pleasing to the officials of the store. The firm has bids in for considerable other requirements of the various state institutions.

Newspapers over Northwest Texas and Southwestern Oklahoma report retail trade more active than in months past.

RED AND WHITE GROCERY STORE SYSTEM SOUGHT

SYSTEM NATIONAL ONE SAYS WHOLESALE MAN

Number of Local Firms to Become Members New System, Is Revealed

The Red and White stores, a national organization, will be organized in Wichita Falls Monday night, March 30, states H. E. Terrell, manager of the Wooten Wholesale Grocery company.

The system of stores is known in West and Northwest Texas, stores having joined the organization at Amarillo and Plainview. There are now four cities in process of organization, being Abilene, San Angelo, Wichita Falls and Lubbock.

According to Mr. Terrell, there will be between 40 and 50 grocery stores in Wichita Falls that will join and be operated as Red and White stores. Briefly, the Red and White plan is a union of independent manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers banded together in a cooperative way to market products to the consuming public.

The plan is credited by economists as the most economical method of food distribution ever yet devised and furthermore insures the permanence of the independent merchant, says Mr. Terrell.

The Red and White organization is building around only high class expert merchandisers. Because of its international scope it is constantly on the alert for the newest merchandising trends and developments.

The Wooten Wholesale Grocery company plans to carry the organization into smaller cities and towns as rapidly as possible.

HEADLIGHTS

F. T. M.

The thing looked forward to now by the merchants and bankers of Northwest Texas is the harvesting of the wheat crop. That the crop is the best at this time of any crop ever produced is conceded by all who are interested in the production of wheat.

Old-timers of Northwest Texas are never anxious to see March moisture. Rain in March is detrimental to young calves and lambs, and usually of no great value to wheat. April rains bring out the grass and weeds, not too cold to injure cattle and give a finishing touch to make wheat produce abundantly.

Wheat in the vicinity of Dallas, and through the black land belt, has had too much rain and as a result there is considerable rust. More rain in that section means that the crop will not be quite so good as was expected 30 days ago.

From Bellevue west across the plains wheat is fine and an April rain will give the crop all the moisture that will be required for a record yield. When the crop is ready for harvest business is going to pick up in every line. Even at a low price millions of dollars of new money will flow into Northwest Texas.

Business will be good. Why! This is what one business man writes to the writer of this column: "Conditions here are about the same, although the farmers are securing many loans from the federal government and from another loan source. The crop produced this year will be at little expense. A banker here told Gen. John A. Hulen of the Burlington railway, that in six months people of his county would not know there had been a drouth or hard times had ever visited the county."

The banker was J. M. Crews, active vice president of the First National bank of Childress. Childress county is one of the hard-hit counties of Northwest Texas, making last year less than 9,000 bales of cotton, or one-fifth of what it has produced under normal conditions. Mr. Crews knows business conditions of the lower Panhandle country, which is the biggest loaf in the Wichita Falls' bread basket. What Mr. Crews says is true. A big wheat crop means money to every farmer, even at a low price. What the Childress banker is predicting is no more than bankers of Crowell, Quanah, Paducah and other counties that have above a normal acreage of wheat.

BETTER BUSINESS SHOWN BY REPORT RECENTLY COMPILED WEST TEXAS UTILITIES CO.

The 48 West Texas and Panhandle counties served by the West Texas Utilities company look forward into 1931 with optimism, according to a survey made available. The report points out that prospects for agricultural, ranching and general business prosperity have not been so bright in several years.

Abundant rainfall throughout the late fall and winter of 1930 and into the first months of 1931 have put a splendid season in the ground and with but slight spring and summer precipitation, all crops will have ample moisture for successful and profitable maturation.

Large Grain Acreage

Small grain, planted during the late fall of 1930, is up and gives every indication of an unusually large crop. It has been estimated that the 1931 grain production of West Texas will be increased over normal by approximately 30 per cent. Acreage sowed has been greatly increased over former years, and yield per acre should be substantially higher.

Cotton and other crops have not as yet been planted, although this work is going forward throughout the territory served by the company at the present time.

Cattle and sheep ranchers are especially fortunate in having fine pasturage. Grass is heavy and high, and favorable market conditions will insure a prosperous year for the ranching industry.

Better Business Shown

General business conditions have experienced a slight improvement, according to reports from throughout the properties, and it is expected that the next 60 or 90 days will produce increasing volume for wholesale, retail and jobbing houses throughout the territory.

The report points out that considerable unemployment, lack of collateral for negotiating loans, and the poor condition of oil markets are the principal deterrents to improved conditions at the present time. It is felt that approaching harvest, resumption of oil activities and the anticipated large crops will have a stabilizing effect on West Texas commerce and industry in the near future.

The West Texas Utilities company makes a property-wide survey of general agricultural, ranching and business conditions every 30 days. Covering a section some 45,000 square miles in area, this survey gives a composite picture of the estimated conditions in the territory served by the company.

Expansion Retail Trade Increases With Better Employment Condition And Rising Buying Power of Dollar

An expansion in retail trade due to increasing employment and rising purchasing power of the dollar is one of the probabilities of the present outlook as viewed by the Union Trust company, Cleveland.

According to the bank, people whose regular incomes have not been reduced during the depression can now purchase approximately 10 per cent more merchandise in volume than they could in 1929, as a result of the decline in living costs.

"The business picture as a whole seems more encouraging," says the bank in its business magazine Trade Winds. "Nevertheless such improvement as has occurred is largely attributed to seasonal causes and in many lines is not as large as normally would be expected at this time of the year.

"In spite of many instances in which activities have proved more satisfactory, the fact remains that the level of business has continued well below that of one year ago. The drastic extent of the depression is apparent everywhere and it is evident that it will take a long time to offset reversals of the past year and a half.

"Employment is increasing in a number of different parts of the country. Detroit employment index at the end of February stood at 81.3 compared with 76.5 one month ago. In Youngstown the dollar volume of wages was 8.2 per cent over that of January. There was substantial increase in employment in Cleveland and other cities.

"In the steel industry one of the most important recent developments has been the evidence of a firmer undertone of prices. Producers apparently are determined to make no further important concessions. In addition many large consumers hope that with the decline in quotations approximately to pre-war levels, steel prices are at or near bottom for the present cycle.

"In most lines, sales margins are extremely small with competition very keen—and even if the volume of business increases substantially as is anticipated, profit possibilities are problematical. On the whole, although the sign posts of better business have appeared, it may be some time before these indications materialize into realities."

AMARILLO FIRM AWARDED JOB DRAW COURTHOUSE

J. C. Berry of Amarillo, has been awarded the contract to draw the plans and specifications of the new courthouse to be erected at Wellington, county seat of Collingsworth. The courthouse will be one of the largest and finest buildings in Northwest Texas.

It is expected that the plans will be ready within a few weeks and that bids will be received some time in June.

BEST BUSINESS IN MARCH FOR PAST FOURTEEN MONTHS

Ralph De Shong, manager of Saul's Stores, reports business for March for the store in Wichita Falls was the best of any month during the past 14 months.

Mr. De Shong is very optimistic over the business outlook and believes the tide has turned in favor of better business for this section of Texas.

ROCK ISLAND AND DENVER PLAN PARLEY

According to statements made by Gen. John A. Hulen, vice president and general manager of the Fort Worth and Denver Railway company, officials of the Burlington and Rock Island lines are to meet in Chicago within a few days for a conference at which time a trackage agreement will be signed between the two railroads for trackage rights over the railroad to be constructed between Shamrock and Wellington.

It is reported that the agreement has been reached but so far no intimation has been given as to the contents of the agreement. However, the declaration of the Denver road officials that their line will be pushed into Wellington in time to handle the coming cotton crop means greater activity upon the part of the Burlington.

General Hulen also announced that engineers of the Denver's line are now completing a survey for the new railroad from Shamrock into Pampa. Three routes have been surveyed and final determination will be made shortly.

The Denver road has been working on the grade between Childress and the Red river crossing north of Childress. The company and the Texas Highway commission have also agreed upon the construction of over passes near Childress. However, when the agreement is signed between the two railroads involved it means the Denver road will push rapidly its construction program, which has been somewhat delayed.

Wichita Falls Firm Secures Big Steel Jobs From Amarillo

The Panhandle Steel Products company of Wichita Falls has been awarded the contract for several carloads of structural steel for an addition to a natural gas pumping station near Amarillo. This contract was let at the owner's headquarters in Kansas City to the lowest bidder, but the main factor in the local company's securing this business was their ability to make quick delivery.

This local steel company is now finishing fabrication of the structural steel required for the new elevator being erected in Amarillo by the Panhandle Milling company. The frame work of this elevator is of concrete over 130 feet high, but even though it is mostly of concrete, several carloads of structural steel are required to make up the hopper supports, motor house and train sheds. This steel contract was let to the Panhandle company by the owner of the mill in Dallas.

The shipment of the structural steel for the new eight-story Amarillo courthouse was completed by the local company last week.

GOVERNMENT INSTITUTIONS NEED DIETITIANS THIS TIME

The United States civil service commission has announced that the hospitals of the government public health service and the veterans administration throughout the country are in need of dietitians and that applications for the positions will be accepted by the commission until April 15.

Full information may be obtained from the United States civil service board of examiners at the postoffice or custom house in any city, or from the United States civil service commission at Washington.

ARCHER DEEP WELL EXPECTED TO FLOW INTO TANKS SUNDAY

Attention of District Operators Is Concentrated on Deep Producers in Kemp City and Archer City Sections

Deep Oil Development-Lindsay Drilling company No. 1 L. F. Wilson in block 76, A. T. N. C. L. survey, Archer county, Saturday morning succeeded in landing the eight-inch casing on the sand with perforated joint at 2208-14 feet and is cleaning out with the expectation of its flowing into the tanks by Sunday morning.

The bringing in of this well encountered an entirely new deep sand, which ended a search of many years by the operators in that county. It is second only in importance to the completion of the Fowler well in 1918 that brought on the Burkburnett excitement. However, no repetition of the Wichita county boom is looked for, but the well's completion assures a steady and orderly development of practically the entire northern portion of Archer county.

The well, which has been the week's sensation throughout all North Texas not on account of its output, but because of its discovery of the deep pay, made its initial flow one week ago today when it shot a stream of oil through 10-inch casing headed across the 250-foot pit. This flow lasted six minutes and was accompanied by a heavy gas pressure. Monday, with about 1,000 visitors on hand, the casing was turned upward in the derrick and later another flow sent a solid shower of oil far over the crown block, estimated at 125 barrels per minute. These flows have continued at 22-hour periods during the week, with a slight increase in gas pressure.

With the news of the strike the demand for leases became general and in a short time several deals were closed on the Deep Oil holdings and the adjoining tracts.

According to Deep Oil company officials, plans for a twin well to the north of the discovery well have been changed to a new location, and No. 2 Wilson is staked out 660 feet south of the well.

Archer County

With three 4000-foot tests spudded in and others rigging up while another is cleaning out to receive a 500-quart shot of nitroglycerin in an effort to determine the status of the new deep 3800-foot sand, the Kemp City area is setting the stage in south Wichita county in the hope of bringing back some of the scenes of activity enacted in this section during the stirring days of 1919-20.

Realization of these hopes rests to a great extent on the outcome of the wells now drilling in all directions from the Deep Oil Development company's No. 1 Munger estate, one mile north of the townsite. Of vast importance at this moment is the result of the shooting of the Deep Oil Development well in block 30. This test, which has been watched with the keenest of interest for the past month by all North Texas, after picking up a number of saturated limes at various depths carrying both oil and gas, at a depth of 3800 feet drilled seven feet of true sand. Drilling ceased and a test after a few hours on the swab made a number of flows. Conservative figures made by oil men well versed in the business estimated the well at 350 barrels. The oil tests 41 gravity.

That a pool of vast proportions underlies this section of Wichita and northern Archer counties below the horizons numbered among the prolific pays, has been the opinion of the greater portion of the district's operators for a number of years, and the outcome of the Deep Oil Development well in the event of a producer will verify this contention.

Standardization of the well is completed and work on cleaning out the hole will begin at once when the well will be in readiness to receive the shot.

According to the officials, no definite date for the shooting has been set but it is expected the county will shake itself some about the middle of the week. Notice will be printed in the newspapers so that the thousands of visitors may be at the scene in time for the blow off.

Young County

Development of the various pools in Young county went ahead during the week in the usual manner. New locations were staked out, new tests spudded in and a few wells, failures and producers were completed.

While the greater number of wells drilling are in the shallower fields in the Orth-Newcastle area, the district southeast of Herron City is just now showing considerable activity in the deeper sands.

West of Graham six miles, the Continental Oil company completed its No. 1 Baptist church tract deep test in the I. H. Hill survey as a 50-barreler after a 250-quart shot in the limy sand at 3820 feet.

Pipe line runs from the various pools of the district for the week ended Saturday averaged 60,400 barrels daily, a loss of 443 barrels below the runs in the previous seven days. Proration and natural decline in the output from wells on the older leases were held responsible for the decline.

PRAIRIE FINDS OIL HORIZON IN CARR CITY AREA

TULSA, Okla., March 28.—The producing horizon of the Carr City field has been found by the Prairie Oil and Gas company and T. B. Slick estate in their No. 5 Fixico-Hyde, in the southeast corner of the northwest of 2-8-5e, which has 500 feet of oil standing in the hole. The oil is believed to be coming from the Simpson sand, which was topped at 4140 feet. The top of the Wilcox sand was found at 4169 feet, the latter depth being the total depth of the well.

Konawa Pool

The Droppleman Drilling company's No. 1-A Deavers, in the southeast of the northwest of the southwest of 29-6-6e, which was brought in Wednesday is flowing by heads about 25 barrels an hour. The well is bottomed at 2715 feet and flowed 600 barrels in the first 24 hours.

Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Harjo, in the northwest of the southwest of the southeast of 29-6-6e, was drilling at 2615 feet with no sand.

Wewoka Townsite

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company's No. 5 Davis, in the northwest of the southeast of the northwest of 30-8-8e, is another producer for the townsite pool. The well topped the Cromwell at 3050 feet and cored all the way, and later cored from 3082 feet to 3096 all of which was sand with a very good showing of oil.

The Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Tomme, in the southeast of the northeast of the northeast of 25-8-7e, a west extension to the townsite pool, has recovered the core lost and now is coring ahead.

Wewoka-Holdenville

Jarvis and Holmes' No. 1 Narconey, in the southeast of the northwest of the southwest of 9-7-8e, topped the sand at 2940 feet with a total depth of 2944 feet and was cementing the eight-inch pipe at 2935 feet.

South of Seminole

Earlsboro Townsite

R. H. Pierce company and Turman Oil company's No. 1 Phillips in the southwest corner of the southeast of 8-9-6e, topped the Viola lime at 4316 feet. The eight-inch pipe was cemented on the bottom of the well at 4142 feet.

The Hudspeth Drilling company's No. 1 Rinehart-Donovan, in the southwest of the southwest of the northeast of the northwest of 3-11-3w, spudded in and set 50 feet of surface pipe. This is a new location.

Phillips Petroleum company's No. 2 Highland park, block 28, of the Highland addition, in the northeast quarter of 10-11-3w, has been staked.

Its No. 1 Temple, in the northeast of the northwest of the northeast of 10-11-3w, which was brought in Wednesday, completed its initial 4-hour flow for 8,405 barrels of oil.

Its No. 1 McBeth, in the northwest of the southwest of the northeast of 10-11-3w, was connecting up and will start bailing today. The well is bottomed at 6411 feet with the top of the Wilcox sand at 6312 feet and the 6-inch casing at 6310 feet.

F. C. Hall, incorporated, No. 1 Wilson, in the northeast of the southwest of the northwest of 10-11-3w, is connected up and will start bailing at once. The well is bottomed at 6550 feet with the top of the sand at 6440 feet and the 6-inch pipe at 6364 feet.

W. H. Riddle's No. 1 Giles, in the northeast corner of the southwest of 15-11-3w, has completed setting the 6-inch pipe at 6391 feet, and is the well in the limelight of the field at the present time. The well is nearly two locations west of the Oklahoma City Petroleum company No. 1 Lively, which came in for 4,000 barrels a day, bridged, cleaned out and tested 2,000 barrels an hour. The sand in the Giles well apparently is higher by 43 feet. The Lively well had the sand at 6443 feet and the Giles well is reported at 6400 feet. Should this well also come in for a producer, section 15 will supplant all other parts of the field as the "hot spot" in this great field.

Westgate Oil company's No. 1 Carey, in the southeast of the northeast of the southeast of 34-12-3w, in the north end of the field, set the 9-inch pipe at 5540 feet after finding the checker board lime at 5385 feet.

T. B. Slick estate's No. 2 Central, in the southeast corner of 3-11-3w, has the drill pipe stuck at 6405 feet and has shut down temporarily until it can be loosened.

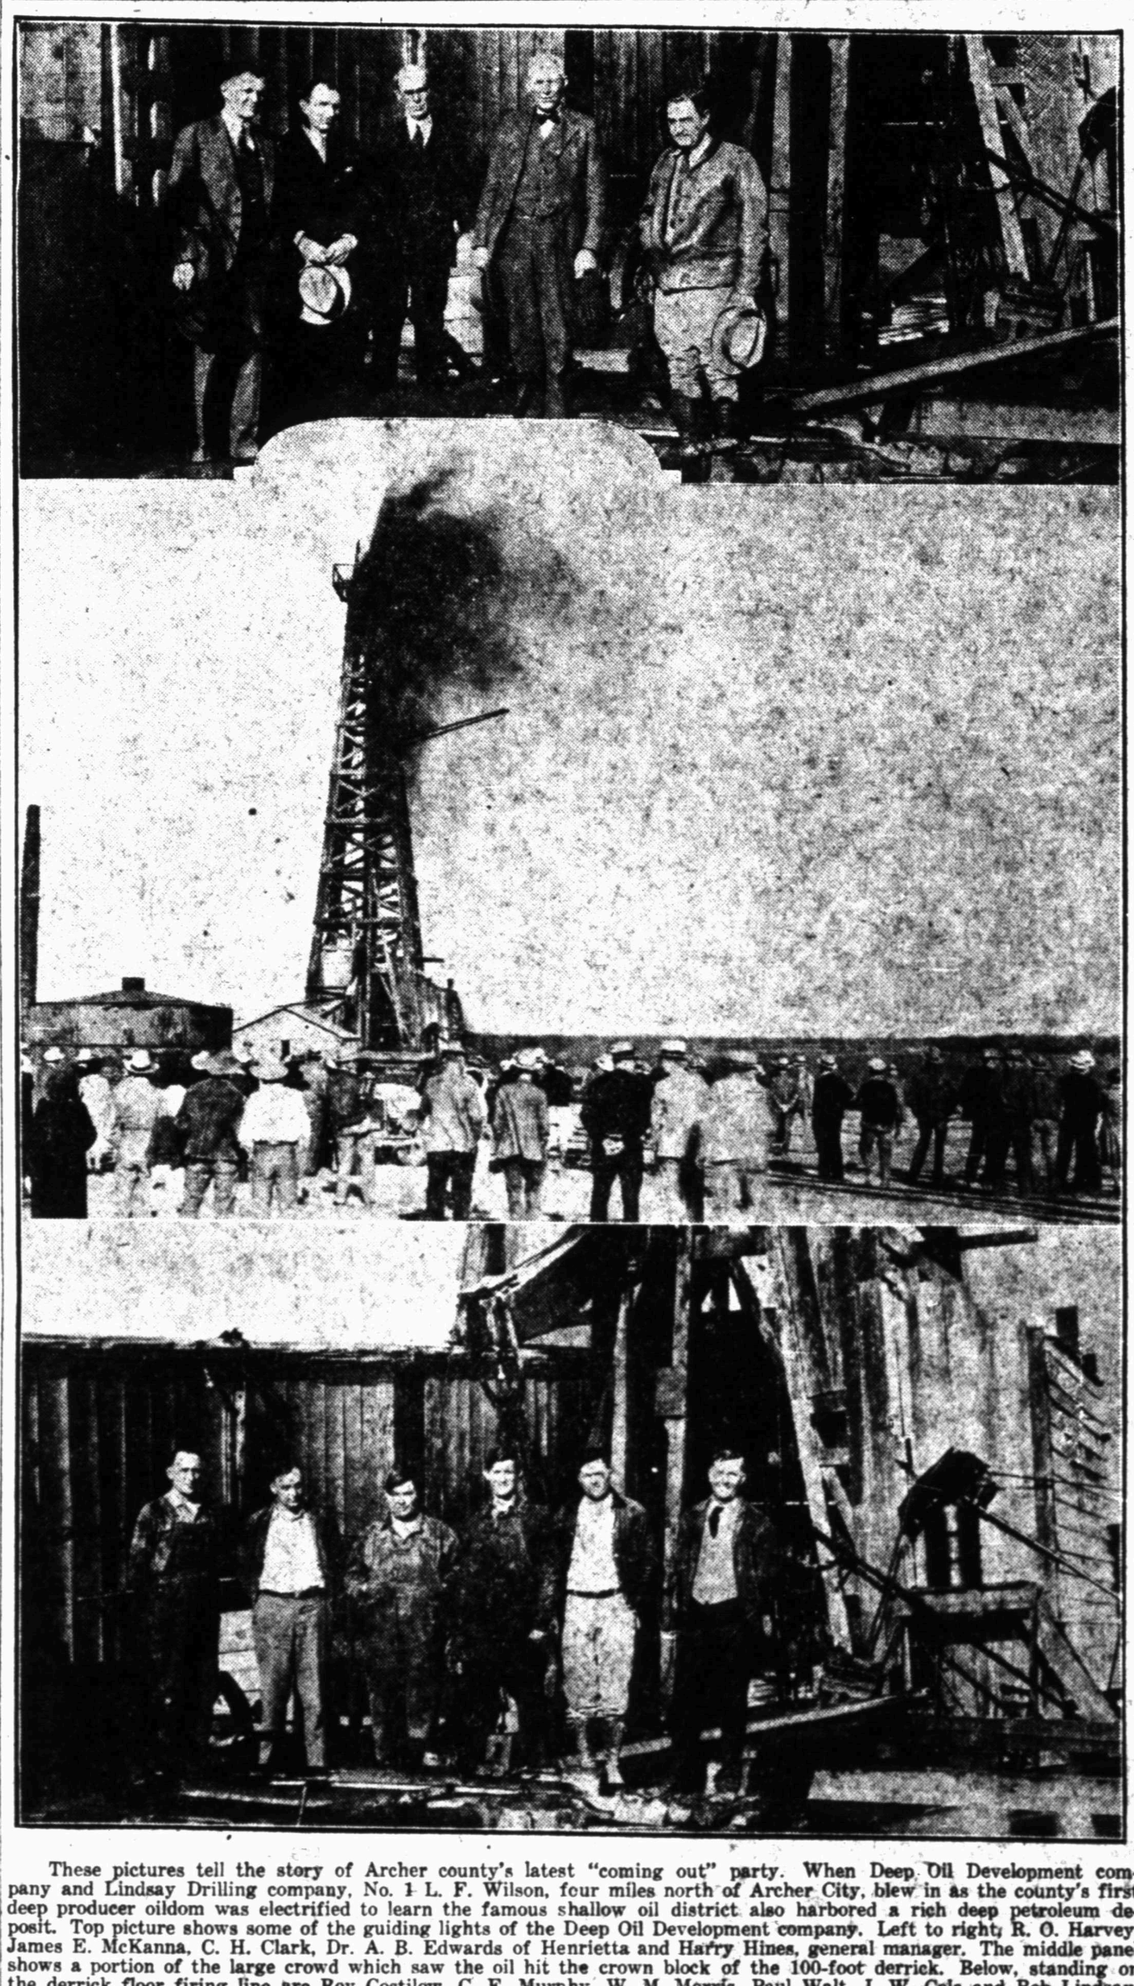

MAMIE APPELL GIVEN 13 MONTHS SENTENCE IN FEDERAL PRISON

The sentencing of Mamie Appell, who was given 13 months in the federal prison at Jacksonville, Ark., Friday afternoon, completed criminal work of federal district court for the northern district of Texas in Wichita Falls for this term.

This defendant was convicted by a jury on charges of possession and sale of morphine.

Hearing of motions occupied the entire session of court Saturday. Jury trials will be resumed Monday in civil cases.

WHEN ARCHER COUNTY'S OIL FIELD "GREW UP"

These pictures tell the story of Archer county's latest "coming out" party. When Deep Oil Development company and Lindsay Drilling company, No. 1 L. F. Wilson, four miles north of Archer City, blew in as the county's first deep producer oildom was electrified to learn the famous shallow oil district also harbored a rich deep petroleum deposit. Top picture shows some of the guiding lights of the Deep Oil Development company. Left to right, R. O. Harvey, James E. McKanna, C. H. Clark, Dr. A. B. Edwards of Henrietta and Harry Hines, general manager. The middle panel shows a portion of the large crowd which saw the oil hit the crown block of the 100-foot derrick. Below, standing on the derrick floor firing line are Roy Costilow, C. E. Murphy, W. M. Morris, Paul Walt, J. W. Cole and Bob Lindsay. Mr. Lindsay is head of the Lindsay Drilling company and the others are members of the drilling crew.

Preparations Made for Completion of Two Wells in Tatums, Oklahoma, Field As Test for Extension Is Abandoned

ARDMORE, Okla., March 28.—Two new producers were being completed in the Tatums district of Southern Oklahoma at the close of the week's activities. An extension test three-fourths of a mile to the northwest of production has been plugged and abandoned as dry and another test one-fourth of a mile to the southeast was drilling several hundred feet below the usual pay depths in the area.

The Carter Oil company has drilled plugs and was swabbing and bailing to completed, after setting 180 feet of perforated liner, in No. 1 Paul Robb in the northwest of the southwest of the northwest of 19-1s-2w, on the east side of the field. Casing was cemented in this test at 1,749 feet after oil sand and shale was logged at 1741-1856 feet. Total depth is 1896 feet.

The Amos Drilling company's No. 2 Hooks in the southwest of the southeast of the southeast of 13-1s-3w, on the northeast edge of the field, was shut down on account of rain. Operators had set the liner and started bailing before being forced to shut down. It had broken oil sand at 2005-2108 and solid sand topped at 2108 was penetrated to total depth at 2199 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum company has plugged and abandoned as dry No. 1 R. F. McCrory in the southeast corner of 10-1s-3w, three-fourths of a mile northwest of production. Total depth was 4240 feet. No. 1 D. C. Burton in the northwest of the southeast of the northwest of 30-1s-2w, one-fourth of a mile southeast of production, was drilling at 2935 feet in broken lime. This test is several hundred feet below the usual sand series found in the field. Operators will probably plug back to a broken sand at around 1500 feet if deeper horizons are not uncovered.

The Texas company's No. 6 Eaves in the northeast of the southwest of the southwest of 24-1s-3w, in the south portion of the area, was shut down for proration time with casing cemented at 2372 feet on oil sand just topped at that depth.

Will H. Smith's No. 1 McClarty in the southeast of the northwest of the northeast of 18-4s-8w, about one and a half miles southeast of the town of Hastings in western Jefferson county, was drilling at 1230 feet in blue shale.

Set Casing

McCrory and McCrory's No. 1 Little in the northwest corner of the southwest of 30-7s-6e, about one mile northwest of the town of Isom Springs in southern Marshall county, was drilling at 325 feet.

The Industrial Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Sharp in the northeast of the southeast of the northeast of 17-6s-5e, six miles southwest of Madill, was setting the 8-inch casing at total depth at 440 feet.

The Poor Boy Oil company's No. 3 Null in the southwest corner of the northwest of 24-5s-5e, in the Madill field, was drilling below 650 feet.

D. H. Curry and others' No. 1 Elmer Ward in the northwest of the southwest of the southeast of 15-5s-6e, six miles northeast of Madill, was preparing to resume drilling after setting 8-inch casing at total depth of 1668 feet.

Otto Reynolds No. 1 Rice in the southwest of the southeast of the southeast of the northeast of 36-5s-5e, south of production in the Madill field, was shut down for orders with total depth at 305 feet.

Magnolia Petroleum company has resumed drilling after a brief shutdown in No. 1 Dilley in the southeast of the northwest of the southeast of the southeast of 30-5s-6e, an old well deepening in the southeast portion of the Madill field. Total depth was 654 feet.

Batson, Starritt and Autry of Marietta have completed rigging up and are spudding in No. 1 Autry in the northwest corner of 26-6s-2e, Love county test, about seven miles northeast of Marietta. Contract depth for this test calls for 1600 feet and it is located on a block of approximately 1,000 acres.

C. V. Chenault and others have started drilling in No. 1-A Grogan in the northeast of the southwest of the northwest of 23-7s-6w, one and a half miles west of the old Humble field, in southern Jefferson county.

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company and Ramsey Petroleum corporation were drilling below 3500 feet in No. 6 Preston Culp in the northwest corner of the northeast of 6-5n-9w, in the west portion of the Cement district in Caddo county.

Don Phillips Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Lyle in the northeast of the southeast of the southwest of the northeast of 28-2s-2w, one and a half miles northwest of Graham in Carter county was still a rig waiting on tools.

ANDREWS WELL GETS INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Test Shows Promise After 600-Quart Nitro Shot

NEW PEAK SET FOR REAGAN DEEP FIELD

Broadening of Crockett County Powell Pool Indicated

SAN ANGELO, Texas, March 28.—The shooting into production of Deep Rock Oil company and others' No. 1 Kuykendall in Andrews county, rating 150 to 200 barrels daily by heads, and the establishment of a new production peak of 9,374 barrels of high gravity crude in 24 hours by Group No. 1 Oil corporation's (Texon) No. 4-B University, latest and largest of the world's nine deepest producers, in Reagan county, were high lights in West Texas oil development this week.

Gulf's No. 16 O'Brien in Ward county and Magnolia's No. 1 J. B. Walton in northern Winkler county made small flows; Taylor-Link Oil company's No. 1 Mrs. Mary Bullock, broadening the south end of the Powell pool in Crockett county one-half mile to the west, settled to 30 barrels daily on the pump, and Continental Oil company's No. 1-B Slaughter, a wildcat in Cochran county which adjoins the New Mexico line, obtained a light oil showing from 4784-93 feet and cored ahead in sandy lime.

Deep Rock Oil company and others' No. 1 Kuykendall, for sometime Andrews county's only active test, gave indications that it might became the equal of, if not a larger producer than, Fuhrman Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Ford, four miles to the southeast, the highest test structurally yet drilled in the county. It headed with cleaning out underway. The Fuhrman well was completed at 4553 feet for initial production of 225 barrels daily after a shot. No. 1 Kuykendall was shot with 600 quarts from 4236 to 4506 feet after plugging back from 4648 to 3565 feet and raising 6⅝-inch casing from 4263 to 4000 feet, where it was cemented. Before the shot the well never showed more than 3,500 feet of oil and was swabbed intermittently. After the shot gas tripled to an estimated 3,000,000 cubic feet daily. The California company and Atlantic Oil Producing company are part owners in the well, which is located 330 feet south and west of the center of section 24, block A-46, public school land. Four other small producers in the county are pinched, having no pipe line outlet.

Group No. 1 Oil corporation's No. 4-B University made its record flow of 9,374 barrels against 350 pounds pressure. This exceeded by 667.50 barrels the well's previous mark on Feb. 5. This was before it was tubed by order of the state railroad commission. When pressure was doubled to 2,000 pounds on March 10 the well burst its bonds at an undetermined level and for three days flowed partly out of control. New gates and bradenhead were installed and when Texan's No. 2-B University, being deepened, is recompleted, production in No. 4-B University likely will be killed for reconditioning of the well. No. 4-B is 8587 feet deep. Big Lake's No. 2-C University, another of the nine deep wells, also is being deepened, from 8668 feet. Seven of the deep producers during 24 hours ending Tuesday morning gauged 19,351 barrels of oil and tested 149,310,000 cubic feet of gas.

Well Shut Down

Magnolia's No. 1 Walton in northern Winkler county shut down at 3155 feet, flowing 55 barrels of oil in 24 hours. It struck the first oil from 2860-63 feet, encountered an estimated 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 2870-73 feet, increased at 2795 to 2802 and at 2107-20 feet and more oil from 3145-55 feet. The well is in section 16, block 77, public school lands, one and a quarter miles east of Magnolia's No. 3 Scarborough, initially a 75-barrel-a-day producer. Magnolia's No. 1 Bashara, which began deepening at 3109 feet after pumping only a few barrels of oil, had shown no increase in drilling to 3230 feet.

Gulf's No. 16 O'Brien in section 17, block F, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, in Ward county, flowed 90 barrels of oil in 12 hours through tubing from pay at 2637-43 feet. It had been carrying an estimated 4,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily since 2544 feet. Gulf's No. 7 Hutchins in section 4, block F, G. M. M. B. & A. survey, was reported to be making an estimated 1,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily when drilled to 2645 feet.

Emerald Oil company's No. 1 Williams, new producer in Jones county in section 17, block 19, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, swabbed 187 barrels of oil in 14 hours, bottomed at 2543 feet. Pay was topped at 2357 feet. The well is about three miles north of the Noodle Creek pool and an east offset to another Emerald producer, Stanolind Oil and Gas company moved in materials for a rotary test in the Royston field in Fisher county. It will be No. 2 Steele, 1200 feet from the west line and 330 feet from the south line of section 210, block 1, B. B. B. & C. Ry. Co. survey, a north offset to Condor Petroleum company's No. 1 M. Y. Wilson, a producer.

Cranfill Bros. and Gulf's No. 1 J. B. Tubbs, west central Crane county test, which since early October has been trying to revive short-lived, heavy production obtained at 4301 feet, was credited with an increase in fluid at 5188 feet. In drilling to 5220 feet it

Week's Activities in Wichita Falls District—By Jimmie Maxwell

Cox and Henderson have erected a derrick for their No. 1 McKeicham test to be drilled 2022 feet from the northwest and 150 feet from the northeast corner of lot 2, Comanche Indian reserve in Throckmorton county.

Hunter Oil corporation's No. 5 American Refining Properties, located in the J. M. Sharpe survey, abstract 262, south of Iowa Park in Wichita county, is drilling at a depth of 1180 feet.

E. C. Reed and others' No. 2 J. Tatum, located 150 feet from the north and 899 feet from the east lines of section 1918, T. E. & L. survey, is staked out in north Young county.

E. J. Stump and associates' No. 1 H. W. Barton, located in the W. Spillers survey, abstract 258, southwest of the deep test in southwest Wichita county, is drilling at 1580 feet.

Deep Oil Development company's No. A-1 L. F. Wilson, located in section 120, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county, is shut down at 1460 feet.

John Dixon and others' No. 1 Knight-Hines, located in the J. Pointevent survey, abstract 348, south Archer county, is abandoned as a dry hole at a depth of 1350 feet.

E. F. Taylor and others' No. 1 J. McNall, located 1400 feet from the south and 150 feet from the east lines of section 1997, T. E. & L. survey in north Young county, is dry and abandoned at a depth of 610 feet.

John L. Swanner is running 8¼-inch pipe at a depth of 912 feet in his No. 3 Parker & Parker test, located in block 15, Palo Pinto school lands in south Wichita county.

Hammond & Steele Drilling company has spudded in on its No. 1 Kemp-Kempner test, located 926 feet from the north and 1320 feet from the east lines of block 13, W. V. F. L., north Archer county.

Texas company's No. 397 W. T. Waggoner is completed as a shallow producer, making 25 barrels from a sand at 730-34 feet. The well is in section 4, G. C. & S. F. survey, southwest of Electra. The same company is drilling at 900 feet in its No. 396 test in same survey.

F. P. Hynes and others' No. B-2 J. T. Richardson, located in section 11, B. B. B. & C. R. R. survey, abstract 47, south Archer county, is dry at 1205 feet.

A. H. Stolz and others' No. 2 C. Baldwin in the west half of the southeast quarter of section 20, T. E. & L. survey, Young county, is drilling at 650 feet.

Jim Turner's No. 1 W. R. Davis located in section 28, Tarrant county school land, northeast of Iowa Park in Wichita county, has abandoned the hole as dry at a depth of 1802 feet.

Wiley Bennett and others' No. 1 J. Hawley, located in the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 29, block 2, H. & T. C. R. R. survey in Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1280 feet.

J. W. Wilson and associates have spudded in on their No. 1 J. H. White test, to be drilled 610 feet from the south and 640 feet from the east lines of the north half of block 14, section 40, A. T. N. C. L. survey, in Archer county.

Bowman Drilling company's No. 1 Johnson, located in the southeast quarter of section 11, block 10, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, and one mile west of the town of Odell in north Wilbarger county, is drilling at 900 feet.

Morrison & Ecklow's No. 1 C. T. Porter, a deep wildcat test located in the A. A. Baker survey, abstract 220 in Baylor county, is shut down at a depth of 1816 feet.

J. B. Jamison's No. 1 W. I. McInniss, located in the center of the southeast of the northwest quarter of section 10, Montague county school land survey, in Clay county, is shut down at 2505 feet.

Hazel B. Sparks has staked out location for No. A-1 R. Campbell test 450 feet from the south and 378 feet from the west lines of section 1389, east of Olney in Young county.

Roy I. Carter of Wichita Falls has shut down his No. 1 A. J. Malone, in the Brewster survey, northwest of the town of Celina, Collin county, Texas, a deep wildcat at a depth of 2500 feet.

Easter Oil company's No. F-1 W. T. Waggoner, located in the southeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section 48, block 2, H. & T. C. survey in Wilbarger county is drilling at 1600 feet.

Wise county joined the list of active areas during the week when the Orange County Refining company spudded in on its deep test. The well is located 150 feet east and 150 feet north of the most westerly southwest corner of the N. Trevino survey, Milligan heirs land in the northeast part of the county. The well is drilling at 470 feet.

Benson & Beson's No. 1 Rhomer, located 150 feet from the south and east lines of G. M. Casey survey, abstract 198, in Cooke county, is spudded and drilling at 800 feet.

Ard and Panhandle Refining company's No. 1 Jeffery, located in the north 40 of the northwest quarter of section 41, Orth-Newcastle area, Young county, is dry at 825 feet after testing a show of oil in a sand at 803-04 feet.

Darby Petroleum-Merry Brothers' No. 1 M. A. Richards, 330 feet from the north and east lines of section 13, B. S. & F. survey in Cottle county, near the town of Paducah, a 4600-foot test, is drilling in a hard lime at 3656 feet.

Isham and Tilton's Dutton, 4750 feet from the south and 2400 feet from the west lines of the Ben Jones survey in Wise county, is drilling at a depth of 950 feet.

Ard and Rathke Oil company's No. 1 Belknap Coal company, located in the east half of the southwest quarter of section 21, T. E. & L. survey, north of Newcastle in Young county, is drilling at 750 feet.

V. G. Byars and others' No. 1 M. A. Davis, located in the P. Polk survey, abstract 997, three miles north of Krum townsite in Denton county, is fishing for casing at a depth of 512 feet.

Glover & Ross' No. 1 Leberman, located in the northwest portion of section 221, T. E. & L. survey, south of Olney in Young county, is dry at 1078 feet. A sand showing about four barrels of oil and some water was tested at 983-1012 feet.

Jack Anthony and others made a spudder location for No. 1 C. C. Robinson, to be drilled in the northwest part of the east half of section 1850, T. E. & L. survey, Young county.

Goss & Hartley's No. 1 Carey Dolf, located 1560 feet from the south and 1980 feet from the east lines of the Hanah Estis survey, abstract 389, in Denton county, is rigging up rotary and will spud in some time next week.

The Hunter Oil corporation staked out location for No. 6 American Refining properties, to be drilled 300 feet west of No. 3 in the J. M. Sharpe survey, abstract 262, in southwest Wichita county.

Pilot Point and Jacobs syndicate's No. 1 C. Jacobs, located 150 feet from the north and west lines of R. Prather survey, abstract 1039, southwest Denton county, is drilling at 1250 feet.

H. D. Davis and others' No. 1 J. L. Stratton, located 150 feet from the south and east lines of Susan Sallis survey, abstract 250, Young county, is a dry hole at 586 feet.

Bridwell Oil company's No. 1 A. Stone, in the J. F. White survey, abstract 414, southeast Haskell county, a wildcat, is abandoned as dry at a depth of 1641 feet.

W. H. Dyer and others' No. 1 J. F. Barnett and others, located in section 2245, T. E. & L. survey, north of Newcastle, Young county, is a dry hole after testing a small show of oil at 733-38 feet. Total depth is 770 feet.

Brazos River Gas company's No. B-2 B. Keyser, located in the W. Watkins survey, abstract 1781, southeast of Bryson in Jack county is drilling at 1900 feet.

Frazier & King are rigging up to go deeper on their No. 1 W. L. King test in the southeast corner of the Wm. Henry survey, abstract 163, in Archer county. The well, which was completed a short time ago at a depth of 1825 feet, will be

TWO WELLS IN LATHROP FIELD ARE PRODUCERS

Completions Extend Gregg County Oil Pool Two Miles

DRILLING CAMPAIGN EXPECTED AS RESULT

Yield of Ernest Eslick Test Estimated at 20,000 Barrels

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 28.—Two completions raised the total number of producers in the Gregg county Lathrop pool to eight during the week ending Thursday, which was marked by extension of the field two miles to the northeast, penetration of pay sand by several tests and the resulting inauguration of a heavy drilling campaign, with many new locations announced.

The eighth producer was the Arkansas Fuel Oil company's No. 1-B Lathrop, located 5300 feet from the west line and 4350 feet from the north line, William Robinson survey. In a 30-minute test run the gauge showed a daily production of 12,000 barrels. The well is 300 feet north of Navarro Oil company's No. 1 G. B. Tenery producer and 1500 feet northeast of the Lathrop discovery well.

From the standpoint of encouragement of heavy drilling and brisk lease play in a new territory which formerly was regarded as being of light productivity or even dry, the most important completion of recent weeks was the Ernest Eslick No. 1 church lot, brought in for an estimated daily production of 20,000 barrels. The Eslick well is located 150 feet from the north line and 150 feet from the east line of the Spring Hill church 15-acre block, Dolores Sanches survey. It is about half way between the Lathrop discovery well and the Mamie S. Hammond No. 1 J. M. Hamby test. The Eslick well already has been offset on adjoining tracts to the northeast and southeast. Since the Eslick completion places a new complexion on much land to the east of the Lathrop well, much activity is expected to follow in the neighborhood.

Core Rich Sand

Opinion was divided here as to the source of indicated production in the Selby Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Snavely test, located 200 feet from the north line and 200 feet from the east line of the William Lyndale survey. The test is about one mile south of Gladewater and 11 miles southwest of Longview. Eighteen feet of rich oil sand has been cored in the Snavely test, while a third effort at coring was a failure as the sand was too soft to remain in the core barrel. The theory that the indication production constituted an extension of the pool running north and northwest from Kilgore was advanced by many. It was said that the East Texas Refining company's No. 1 Fisher, nearest producer, probably was located on the northwestern edge of the extension, as three dry holes already have been encountered to the immediate north and east of the Fisher well. Such a theory would indicate that production would swing to the west, possibly connecting the Bateman and Lathrop pools somewhere above Glatewater. Casing will be set in the Snavely test as soon as it arrives on the ground. It probably will be drilled in the latter part of next week. It is four miles due west of the Fisher producer.

The Arkansas Fuel Oil company has started work on four new tests on their acreage in the Lathrop area. Their No. 1 Harrison, located in the northwest corner of the Harrison tract and an eastern offset to the Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 4 Rodden, has been spudded in and is drilling below the 300-foot level. The No. 2 Harrison location, a south offset to the Tidal Oil company's No. 1 Lathrop, is building derrick. This test is located 150 yards east of the No. 1 location. Arkansas Fuel Oil's No. 1-C Lathrop, a south offset to Shell Petroleum corporation's No. 1 Davis, is rigging up and scheduled to be spudded in shortly. Derrick will be started as soon as possible on Arkansas Fuel Oil's No. 4 Lathrop, located immediately east of the No. 1-C derrick.

Building Derrick

Yount-Lee Oil company, holder of half interest in the Lathrop discovery well and a block of 2,500 acres, is building derrick for its first location. It is located about 75 yards west of Arkansas Fuel Oil's No. 1-B Lathrop producer. Yount-Lee are moving five rigs into the territory for immediate drilling.

Jule Alford's No. 1 Palmer, located on the Gladewater highway about six miles west of the town, has run derrick.

Phares and Sample's No. 1 Maude Smith, north offset to Hickman and Baird's No. 1 Maude Smith, has run derrick. The Hickman and Baird test is an east offset to Merren-Miller-Van Horn's No. 1 Maude Smith, which is being abandoned.

A new derrick is being constructed as a south offset to the Merren-Miller-Van Horn test on the Maude Smith tract. This test is just across the highway from the abandoned site.

The W. G. Ray Drilling company's No. 1 George Smith test, located about half a mile east of the East Texas Refining company's No. 1 Fisher producer, also is being abandoned. Exact depth of the hole was not determined. This test is south of the Merren-Miller-Van Horn test.

The B. A. Skipper Oil Co., Inc., No. 1 Thad Snoddy, which was spudded in last week, is drilling ahead below 1500 feet. The test is located in the most northern northeast corner of the W. H. Castleberry survey and is about 1200 yards northeast of the Lathrop discovery well.

Shell Petroleum corporation's No. 1 J. D. Davis, located 2880 feet from the west line and 4100 feet from the north line, William Robinson survey, was coring in chalk formation at 3564 feet. Two new locations were announced by Shell as follows: No. 1 Dorcas Wills, 180 feet from the east line and 312 feet from the south line and out of the northwest corner of the Wills tract, W. P. Chism survey, Gregg county; No. 1 J. B. Watson, 200 feet north of the railroad and 149 feet west of the east line of the Watson 100-acre tract, J. S. Caruthers survey, Gregg county. Several other locations in the Lathrop pool are being surveyed by Shell.

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 28.—The Magnolia Petroleum company's No. 2 Rodden, located about 300 feet north of the Magnolia No. 1 Rodden producer, Friday cored into rich oil sand at the 3588-foot level.

The Magnolia No. 2 Rodden is about 150 yards east of the Lathrop discovery well. It is located 500 feet from the northeast corner and 200 feet southeast of the northwest corner of a 42-acre lease in the William Robinson survey.

Four other wells in the Gregg county field are on the sand at present. These are Shell Petroleum's No. 1 Davis, Arkansas Fuel Oil's No. 2-A Lathrop, Lloyd Oil corporation's No. 1 Andrews and Selby Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Snavely.

Pipe Line Runs of District Slump 443 Barrels Day During Past Week

Pipeline movements from the different pools of the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, March 28, 1931, averaged 60,400 barrels daily. This is a slump of approximately 443 barrels per day as compared with the previous week's run.

Proration and natural decline in the production from wells on the older leases were responsible for the drop. Below are the runs by pools:

Pool—	Barrels Daily Last Week	Prev. Week
Archer county	11,547	11,675
Baylor county	640	640
Clay county	645	645
Cooke county	1,920	1,989
Foard county	43	43
Haskell county	24	24
Jack county	920	913
Montague county	3,568	3,588
Throckmorton county	323	326
Wichita county	19,035	19,151
Wilbarger county	9,681	9,773
Young county	12,064	12,126
Last week's total	60,400	60,843
Previous week's total	60,843

DISTRICT DEEP WILDCAT TESTS

(Week Ending March 29, 1931)

Archer County

Deep Oil Development company, No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located 330 feet from west line and 330 feet from south line of block 76, A. T. N. C. L. This is to be a 5500-foot test; sand showing oil at 1395-1415 feet. Oil sand 2207 to 2214. Running 8-inch casing.

Shappell Oil company, No. 2 Ferguson, located 1753 feet from east and 330 feet from north lines of E. Patterson survey, abstract 1179; 10-inch set at 110 feet. Waiting on cement.

Frazier & King, No. 1 W. L. King, located 1356 feet from south and 568 feet from east of W. Henery survey, abstract 163. Total depth 1825 feet. Rigging up to drill deeper.

Pink Hammond, No. 1 Mrs. S. E. Hutchinson, located 150 feet from north and east of block 142, Harris subdivision; location.

W. C. Young, No. 1 Langford et al, located 275 feet from north and 150 feet from west of block 148, Harris subdivision. Total depth 1425.

Baylor County

Douglas Oil company, No. 1 Robertson, located 2600 feet from north and 628 feet from east lines of section 264, H. & T. C. survey, abstract 1562; this to be a 3500-foot contract or deeper. Gas sand 600 to 602 feet, estimated at 25,000 or 30,000. Shut down at 1910 feet.

Cottle County

Darby Petroleum company et al, No. 1 M. A. Richards, 5000-foot test, 330 feet from north and east lines of section 13, B. S. & F. survey; drilling at 3656 feet.

Foard County

Throckmorton County

Swenson Oil and Gas company, No. 1 Swenson, located 2000 feet north and four feet west of southeast corner, D. B. & C. survey 175; is Ellenberger lime test. Possibility go 6000 feet or deeper. Bailed small show of gas. Sand showing oil at 5009 feet to 5010 feet. Total depth 5981 feet. Shut down.

Wichita County

Deep Oil Development company, No. 1 Hirschi, five miles northwest of Clara on south side of Red river, located 8349 feet from south and 300 feet from east lines of David Cowan survey, abstract 43; 11-inch casing set and cemented at 3160 feet. Set 9-inch at 4180 feet. Total depth 4368 feet. Rigging up rotary.

Deep Oil Development company, No. 1 Munger estate, one mile north of Kemp City, located 330 feet from north and west of block 30, Kemp Wichita valley farm lands; 15¼-inch casing set and cemented at 1541½ feet; 11-inch set and cemented at 3648 feet; 3675 to 3697 saturated lime; 3717 to 3740 saturated sandy lime; sandy lime, show oil at 3895 to 3911. Saturated lime 3926 to 3942. Total depth 5430. Plugged back to 3977 with 75 sacks cement. Rigging up cable tools.

W. H. Hammond, No. 3 Bradley, located 450 feet from north and 2650 feet from west lines of S. Holliday survey, abstract 497. Total depth 1818 feet; 10-inch set at 110. Waiting on cement.

Young County

Continental Oil company, No. 1 Primitive Baptist church, six miles west of Graham, located 250 feet from east and 4362 feet from south lines of I. H. Hill survey, abstract 128. This is to be a 5500-foot test. Cemented 10¾-inch casing at 2910 feet. Saturated lime 3815 to 3820. Tested five barrels, Ton Ellenberger 4665; show oil 4665 to 4675. Plugged back to 3820 to shoot. Shot with 100 quarts. Swabbed 30 barrels. Then shot 200 quarts. Tested 60 barrels. Shut down for orders.

ANDREWS WELL GETS INCREASE

flowed 307 barrels of fluid in 12 hours of which only 32 barrels was oil.

Southern Crude Oil Purchasing company's No. 2-A Cowden in section 34, block 43, township 1 north, T. & P. Ry. Co. survey, in northern Ector county, ran and cemented 8⅝-inch casing with 250 sacks at 3972 feet, still in brown lime. This is intended to shut off a hole full of salt water which has been carried since 1860-65 feet. In some quarters it was reported that gas was bubbling through the water, thought to be coming from 3942-45 feet, but this was not confirmed by Southern Crude. The same company's No. 1-A Cowden, discovery producer in northern Ector county, struck an estimated 50,000 cubic feet of gas at 3943 feet, 890 feet below sea level, topped the grey lime at 4020 feet, topped the pay at 4130 and was completed at 4244 feet for initial production of 281 barrels daily, flowing through casing. At 3972 feet No. 2-A Cowden was 907 feet below sea level. It probably will not begin drilling out cement until Wednesday or Thursday.

Get Gas Showing

A small showing of gas from 4784-93 feet in Continental Oil company's No. 1-B Slaughter, slightly south and west of the center of Cochran county, was struck somewhat higher than oil was encountered in Mariand Oil company's No. 1-A Slaughter, one mile to the northeast, but lower than the point at which No. 1-A Slaughter obtained gas. No. 1-A Slaughter was shot twice but failed to develop production and was abandoned late in November, 1929. No. 1-B Slaughter is in league 134, Armstrong county school land.

Southern Oil corporation's No. 2 Tippett, a recent completion in the Toberg-Tippett shallow pool in Pecos county immediately northwest of the Yates field, showed steady increase in production, pumping 573 barrels in 24 hours early in the week. It came in from 464 to 500 feet, pumping only 208 barrels of oil the first day. Cardinal Oil company began drilling a new test in the area, No. 7-E Tippett, 150 feet north and west of the southeast corner of the east 160 acres of the west half of section 40, block 194, C. C. & S. F. Ry. Co. survey.

Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Goode, east central Terrell county wildcat gasser and one of the most closely watched tests in West Texas for sometime, had drilled to 6060 feet in lime, unchanged. It struck a gauged 6,500,000 cubic feet of dry, sweet gas at 5606 feet on Friday, Feb. 13. The gas has remained steady. No. 1 Goode is about 22 miles south and slightly east of the Yates field.

Chas. Denney, W. R. Andrews and Perry Fox's No. 1 Fayette Tankersley, indicating a three-mile northern extension of the Irion county shallow, high gravity, sweet oil pool, was scheduled to go on the pump steadily. It shut down to install new equipment after pumping 45 barrels of oil and three barrels of water the first 36 hours from 1372 feet, seven feet in the pay sand. F. E. Webb and son and others' No. 1 Williams pulled pipe to abandon at 1508 feet after salt water had increased to a hole full at 1455 feet. Stanolind Oil and Gas company's No. 1 Williams, scheduled deep test in the southeastern corner of the county, had drilled to 3145 feet in blue slate.

Pay For Teachers

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—Teachers in state schools may be paid from the revolving fund of the institution for grading the examination papers of students taking extension courses if they are not compensated for the work out of their regular salary, Attorney General J. Berry King informed State Public Instruction Superintendent John Vaughan today.

New Vice Consul

EL PASO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Advices received here today said Oscar C. Harber of El Paso, American vice consul at Ensenada, Mexico, had been appointed vice consul at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

DEEP TESTS IN STEPHENS AREA HOLD INTEREST

Wildcat Prepares to Test For Wilcox Sand Near Comanche

FOUR WELLS ACTIVE IN SOUTH OKLAHOMA

George Pace Completing No. 7 Bush at Edge of Empire Field

DUNCAN, Okla., March 28.—Four active operations were listed for Stephens county at the close of the week, with virtually all interest centered on two deep tests. These rigs remained shut down.

The Carter Oil company cemented 101 feet of 15½-inch surface casing in its No. 1 L. W. Florence, in the NW-NW-NE of 11-3s-6w, a wildcat scheduled to make a test for the Wilcox sand nine miles east and three south of the town of Comanche.

Crane and Rankin are drilling in hard lime at 3255 feet in the No. 1 Adkins, in the NE-NE-SE of 14-1n-9w, interesting wildcat test just north of the Oil City field, northwest of Duncan.

Lee Morrison's No. 2 Hightower, in the SW-SW-NE of 15-3s-5w, southwest of the town of Loco, an old producer at 773 feet, topped gas sand at 914 feet and cemented the 6-inch casing at 843 feet.

George Pace is completing his No. 7 Bush, in the NW-NE-SE-NW of 3-2s-8w, on the southeast side of the Empire field, and has a showing of gas in broken sand from 1593 to 1629 feet and solid sand from 1629 to 1637 feet.

Wildcat Shut Down

Paul Turner and associates' No. 1 W. M. Andrews, in the NW-SW-SW of 5-2s-7w, a wildcat six miles south of Duncan, is still shut down at 1827 feet.

Obermeyer and Taylor's No. 1 Skelton in the NE-SW-SW of 32-1s-7w, a wildcat five miles south of Duncan, is still shut down at 1375 feet.

Ross Southard and associates' No. 1 O. R. McKinney, in the NE-NE-NE of 25-1n-8w, a wildcat, three miles northwest of Duncan, is still shut down at 1063 feet.

Max Pray and associates drilled plugs to test oil sand from 883 to 894 feet in their No. 1-A Cline, in the NE-NE-NE of 8-3n-10w, twin to a deep wildcat test near the Fort Sill military reservation, in Comanche county, and shut down after getting a showing estimated at a barrel a day. The No. 1 Cline, a wildcat test, contracted for 4500 feet, has been shut down pending efforts to get fuel oil in the twin and is still standing shut down at 2228 feet.

Gilbert and Lowery's No. 1 Forney, in the center of the SE-SE of 4-2s-11w, a wildcat, about five miles northwest of Walters in Cotton county, is drilling in hard lime below 2300 feet.

Don Phillips Oil and Gas company is rigging up rotary tools for its No. 1 Lyle, in the NE-SE-SW-NE of 28-2s-2w, a wildcat, one and one-half miles northeast of the town of Graham in Carter county.

THOUSANDS ACRES EAST TEXAS LAND TO BE NEGLECTED

DALLAS, March 28. (UP)—Thousands of acres of fertile crop lands in East Texas will not be tilled this year because of the eclipse of agriculture by oil, Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas Morning News, said tonight in a signed story.

The East Texas oil boom, coming at a time when farming was in dire distress, has both helped and hurt agriculture, Schoffelmayer declared. He pointed out six outstanding factors in the agricultural outlook for that section of Texas.

1. Counties in which oil excitement is highest will plant not more than 60 per cent of the usual crop acreage. Most of this reduction will be in cotton.

2. Oil leased to farmers average between $70 and $350 for each farm owner, based on an average of 70 acres per farm.

3. Wholesale reduction in the use of commercial fertilizer.

4. Severely restricted crop production credit by banks, causing many tenant farmers to quit agriculture and find work elsewhere.

5. Farmers with teams are finding employment in the oil fields. Displaced tenant farmers are catering to a floating population through cheaply constructed lunch counters and bunk houses.

6. The oil area provides an ample market for early vegetables, eggs, meats and dairy products.

East Texas Oil News

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 28. (UP)—While proration experts pied for curtailment of oil production in East Texas at a hearing in Austin, the extensive pool today boasted six new completions representing potential production of over 40,000 barrels daily. Three prominent wells were due to be brought in today.

In Gregg county, the Arkansas Fuel Oil company added the ninth producer to the field Friday, its No. 2-A Lathrop. Production was estimated at 15,000 barrels.

Arkansas company officials arrived today from Shreveport to witness bringing in the No. 2-A Lathrop, located in the same area.

In Rusk county four wells were completed:

Humble Oil and Refining company's No. 2 Peterson showed initial production of 10,997 barrels for the first 13 hours.

Ed M. Jones' No. 2 Crim showed initial production of 317 barrels for the first five hours.

The Anderson No. 1 Jobe showed initial production of 185 barrels an hour.

HENDERSON, Texas, March 28. (UP)—Plans for three of the largest pipe line projects out of the Joiner and Kilgore fields today hinged on the outcome of the fight for proration being waged in Austin.

Moody-Segraves-Morgan interests of Houston have planned a 12-inch line, of 75,000 barrels daily capacity, into Beaumont. The Gulf Pipe Line company seeks to connect an auxiliary line with its main trunk carrier from Oklahoma near Arp. Crude would be transported to Port Arthur refineries.

OIL ACTIVITIES IN WICHITA AREA

Hunter Oil corporation made location for its No. 1 B. E. Cooper test, to be drilled 750 feet from the north and 150 feet from the west lines of block 6, Crawford pasture, in south Archer county.

Wayne Hammon and others are drilling at 1976 feet in their No. 2 G. C. Booth deep test, located in Washington county R. R. survey, abstract 909, southeast of Bryson in Jack county.

Will Hudson and others' No. 1 J. Keeter, located in section 2128, T. E. & L. survey, southeast Throckmorton county, is fishing at a depth of 802 feet.

S. B. Glover and associates' No. 1 L. R. Drum in S. Tynes survey, abstract 274, Young county, is abandoned as dry at a depth of 505 feet.

W. E. Bernhard and associates staked out location for a test to be drilled 3007 feet from the east and 445 feet from the south lines of the northwest corner of section 8, T. E. & L. survey, Belknap Coal company tract, north of Newcastle in Young county.

F. A. Gorrie's No. 1 Heard, located in the Moses Barnes survey in north Young county, west of Newcastle, is drilling at a depth of 1190 feet.

F. P. Hynes and others are drilling at 350 feet on their No. 1 A. C. Casey test, located in the east 50 of the north 100 of the south 200 acres out of section 1906, Young county.

Stacey Jenkins' No. 1 J. T. Howe, located in the southwest quarter of section 59, T. E. & L. survey, in Young county, spudded in and is drilling 400 feet.

King Royalty company is drilling on its Nos. 18 and 20 J. Larimore tests in the south half of section 2246, T. E. & L. survey north of Newcastle in Young county.

J. D. Loofburrow's No. 1 W. J. Base, located 300 feet from the north and 1100 feet from the east lines of the west 160 acres of section 384, Young county, T. E. & L. survey, is drilling at 580 feet.

Texas company-McKanna's No. B-5 Jeffery, 300 feet west of B-3 producer in section 42, T. E. & L. survey in Young county, is rated at 225 barrels from the pay at 713-31 feet.

Putman Oil company's No. 1 C. J. Taack, located 1260 from the north and 801 from the east lines of section 264, T. E. & L. survey, west of True in Young county, is drilling at 640 feet.

J. F. West and others abandoned their No. 1 F. L. Miles test in the southwest quarter of section 63, T. E. & L. survey, in Young county, at a depth of 955 feet as a dry hole.

W. C. Young and others spudded in and are drilling at 250 feet on No. 1 J. Thomas, located 150 feet from the south and east lines of section 227, T. E. & L. survey, in Young county.

Christie Brothers' No. 1 J. H. McClaren in the J. Conner survey, abstract 57, block 4, southeast Young county, a deep test, is pulling 10-inch at 2625 feet and will run a string of 5 3-16 pipe.

R. H. Simpson and others' No. 1 W. A. Morris, located in the east 40 of the northwest quarter of section 2383, T. E. & L. survey, south Young county, spudded in and is drilling at 690 feet.

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

TULSA, Okla., March 28. (UP)—The term "potential" applying to production of oil wells is greatly misunderstood, R. S. McFarland, Tulsa, general manager of the Runray Oil company, told the conference of the mid-continent division of the American Petroleum institute's division of production yesterday.

"Potential production," he said, "is merely an estimate on the flow upon which percentages for ratable takings are determined."

McFarland assured the 100 production superintendents and oil officials that the country's crude supply virtually was inexhaustible and recommended a stringent control of drilling to curb the tendencies toward overproduction. He said all oil fields were greatly overrated in estimates of ultimate recoverable oil.

H. M. Stalcup, Skelly vice president, recommended unit operation of oil producing areas as well as new pools.

W. K. Whiteford, chief production engineer of the Barnsdall oil company, was elected chairman of the mid-continent district. D. L. Trax, Gypsy company, was named vice chairman, and E. L. Bell, Deep Rock Oil company, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—New locations in Oklahoma set a year's record this week with 32 stakings made. Activity was due to lease requirements and necessity of protecting of sets, operators said.

Oklahoma City reported 12 new locations. Creek county was second with five.

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—Production and pipe line takings in the Oklahoma City pool reached new peaks this week, company reports showed today. Activity was attributed to evening up operations to conform with the monthly nominations.

A total of 1,095,131 barrels was taken by purchasers. This was a daily average of 136,446 barrels.

New Business Firm

A new business for Wichita Falls will open this week at 717 Ohio avenue. It will be known as the "Wichita Auction House" and will deal in all types of merchandise to be sold at regular auctions, S. E. Russell is owner and manager of the new concern.

'Real Conflict Between Science And Religion' to Be Discussed Sunday At Open Forum Here by Noted Authority

Dr. Eustace Haydon, head of the department of comparative religions at the University of Chicago, will speak Sunday afternoon at the Memorial auditorium on "The Real Conflict Between Science and Religion," under the auspices of the Wichita Falls Open Forum.

Leaders of the forum are especially delighted to present Dr. Haydon immediately following the four-cornered religious forum held recently in the auditorium. The religious forum was not sponsored by the open forum, on account of the rule against discussion of creeds and sects, according to Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, director, but Dr. Haydon's discussion will relate in some manner to the talks by the four prominent speakers here last week.

The last lecture of the series will be held next month, with Dr. Edward Steiner of Grinnell college as the speaker.

DR. EUSTACE HAYDON

SENATE AGREES AND BILL KILLED

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—"You are about to fix things so the church members cannot have their home brew," Senator Alvin Moore charged today in fighting a tax on malt syrups.

The senate concurred with Moore and killed the bill by indefinitely postponing consideration of it.

MILK PRODUCERS ASK ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN HERE

Definite decision to sponsor an advertising campaign to continue through at least the next two months seeking to increase the volume of sales of milk and its products, particularly those home produced, was reached at a special meeting of the Wichita County Dairy association held in the courtroom of R. Y. Gwinn, justice of the peace, in the basement of the courthouse here Saturday.

The first of a series of advertisements tending to show the value of milk as a food will appear in the very near future, it was announced by Ben F. Greer, president of the association. Local creameries are to cooperate with the producers in financing the campaign, it was announced.

The meeting, Mr. Greer said, was one of the most largely attended since the dairy association was organized.

"From the expressions made," he added, "I am confident that the creameries want to cooperate with the producers. By working together, I feel that the milk production problem can be solved."

Mr. Greer was given renewed authority to serve as a committee of one to arrange for a cream separator for the mutual use of members of the association. The low price of whole milk, he explained, has made it more profitable to separate the milk, sell the whole cream and feed the skim milk to hogs and chickens than to market the whole product.

While it was generally agreed that the acceptance of the proposition of a Fort Worth concern to ship in a carload of purebred gilts is undesirable because of prices, most of those present declared their intention of stocking their places with sufficient pigs and chickens to absorb the supply of skim milk produced here.

Another special meeting of the association has been called for next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

OTHER LEADERS OPPOSE SENATOR REED'S PLAN TO ABOLISH FARM BOARD

WASHINGTON, March 28. (AP)—Senator Reed's proposal to abolish the farm board was opposed today by other Republican leaders.

Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee said it was "absurd" to talk of repealing the agricultural marketing act, declaring that even if the board's wheat operations have not been successful, it had handled many other commodities satisfactorily.

Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, said no change should be made until the board has been given ample time to demonstrate its ability.

FRED L. HASKETT PUBLICITY HEAD OF WICHITA C.-C.

Announcement of the appointment of Fred L. Haskett as publicity director for the chamber of commerce for a temporary period was made here Saturday by J. L. Jackson Jr., president of the organization, and A. M. Biedenharn, chairman of the publicity department.

Mr. Haskett has been granted a temporary leave of absence from the staffs of The Times and Record News, with which he has been connected for the past several months.

The particular task of Mr. Haskett, it was explained, will be to disseminate information concerning the recent discoveries near Wichita Falls of new deep oil producing horizons in the effort to convince outside capital of the attractiveness of investments here. His contributions will deal in a more general way with the opportunities for investment here.

His publicity will emphasize particularly, it was added, that an abundance of local labor is available without importing outside help.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR J. D. GULLETT HELD AT ELECTRA

ELECTRA, Texas, March 28.—J. D. Gullett, 71, died at the home of his half-brother, John Wolf, Friday evening following an illness which lasted three years. Services were held at the Totten Funeral home Saturday afternoon, with Rev. C. C. Klingman, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment was in the Electra cemetery.

He was born in Tennessee, but spent most of his life in Texas. He came to Electra 15 years ago from South Texas, and had been engaged in oil field work until three years ago. He was a printer by trade.

Survivors are a brother, J. R. Guliett, Phoenix, Ariz.; three half brothers, W. C. Wolf, Roswell, N. M.; Sam Wolf, Beaumont, and John Wolf, Electra.

GANDHI WITHSTANDS BITTER ATTACKS AND IS DOMINANT LEADER

BOMBAY, March 28. (INS)—Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, whose policy of eventual independence for India through conciliation and cooperation with Britain withstood the bitter attacks of extremists in the past few days, was again the dominant leader of India today.

Vindicating his principles in triumphant manner before the all-India congress at Karachi, the "Holy Man" accepted charge of the mission journeying to London this summer for renewed round table conferences.

It was a distinct triumph for Gandhism, signalizing a complete victory and defeat of opposing political factions. It was practically certain that he would proceed to London backed by Nationalists as well as the Indian millions.

Advices from Cawnpore in the united provinces, meanwhile, indicated the race disorders between Moslems and Hindus have not yet ended. It was estimated 124 persons have been killed since the riots broke out several days ago.

DOOLITTLE AND HERRICK WILL BE HONORED BY INTERNATIONAL AIRMEN

CLEVELAND, March 28. (UP)—James H. Doolittle, Kansas City speed pilot, and the late Myron T. Herrick, former ambassador to France, will be honored here on April 7 by the Ligue Internationale des Aviateurs for their contributions to aviation, the United Press learned today.

Doolittle will receive the Harmon trophy, one of the most coveted of aviation awards, for his successful experiments in blind flying as an agency of combatting fog while a scroll of the ligue will be presented the family of Herrick, commemorating his support of the Lafayette esquadrille, his part in the Paris reception of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his general interest in the advancement of aviation.

TEST PROMISES BIG EXTENSION LATHROP POOL

LONGVIEW, Texas, March 28.—A mile and a half extension of the Lathrop pool loomed here Saturday as a result of coring of sand in the Sultan Oil company's No. 1 J. F. Stuckey, commonly called the Spangler test. Sand was found in the Stuckey test at the 3614-foot level, it was said. A core of six feet of saturated sand was recovered.

The Stuckey test has been attracting wide attention due to the fact that it was more than a mile and a half northwest of the Lathrop discovery well and located in the heart of the territory which is said by experts to be the center of the great field. Drilling had been somewhat delayed due to the fact that a drill stem slip had been lost in the hole.

Finding sand at the 3614-foot level, 54 feet below where it was topped in the Lathrop discovery well, gives rise to the belief that production further to the northwest will be found at a greater depth than in the immediate vicinity of the Lathrop No. 1. This may indicate that the Lathrop is more in the center of the pool, it was pointed out.

Coring of sand in the Stuckey test opens up a large new territory to development. A large number of tests are expected to be started at once in the immediate vicinity of the test. Thousands of acres of new land will come in for development. This may result in the defining of the field in that direction, although it is now thought to extend far into Upshur county.

SCOTTISH RITE TO HOLD MAUNDY THURSDAY MEET

The annual Maundy Thursday service of the Ancient Order of Scottish Rite will be observed here Thursday evening, April 2, at 6:30 at the Masonic temple, Tenth street and Scott avenue, according to an announcement here Saturday.

Rabbi S. J. Schwab, president of the Wichita Valley Scottish Rite club, urged a full attendance. It was explained that every Scottish Rite Mason of the 14th degree or above is obligated to attend.

The following are scheduled to give obligatory toasts at Thursday night's banquet: Guy Rogers, Ed Peterson, Sydney Gaines, John Elder and George Lawler. The principal address will be delivered by Rabbi Schwab.

The banquet will be served by ladies of the Eastern Star.

PHYSICIANS OF SOUTH WILL MEET IN DALLAS

DALLAS, March 28. (UP)—Physicians and surgeons from points throughout the South will arrive here Sunday for the third annual clinical conference of the Dallas Southern Medical society.

The five-day conclave formally opens Monday. Dr. C. Jeff Miller, president of the American College of Surgeons, features the evening program with an address on "The Perils of Self-Treatment." Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, is to speak on "Foods, Fads and Foliiness."

Some of the most noted men in American medicine will deliver lectures at six Dallas hospitals during the conference. A series of postgraduate courses has been planned for the instruction of physicians. Studies in cancer and scientific exhibits will vary the program.

PLURALITY SUFFICIENT IN TRUSTEES ELECTION

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 28. (UP)—A majority of the votes cast is not needed to elect a member of the school board although more than two candidates may be in the race, Claude Keith, house member from Delaware county was advised today by Attorney General J. Berry King.

King said only a plurality of the votes cast was necessary for the election of the school board members.

MART MAN ACCIDENTALLY KILLED CLEANING GUN

MART, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Ben R. Lyon, 56, was accidentally shot and killed today while cleaning a pistol at the home of a daughter, Mrs. H. A. Davis. Funeral rites will be held tomorrow at his former home town, McGregor.

TIMES' DAILY MARKETS

REACTION FOLLOW EARLY ADVANCES IN PRICES FOR COTTON

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—An early advance in cotton promoted by steadiness in Liverpool and reports of continued unfavorable weather for new crop preparations in the South, was followed by reactions today under week-end liquidation which found comparatively little demand after the early buying ran its course. May sold off from 10.89 to 10.80 and closed at that figure with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 3 to 4 points.

The opening was steady 5 to 7 points higher on overnight buying orders from the trade and covering promoted by the steadier tone of Liverpool and Alexandria. The demand was supplied at 11.13 for July and 11.43 for October by realizing or week-end liquidation. This was absorbed. The market held fairly steady during the greater part of the morning, but weakened toward the close when the selling was accelerated by the action of the stock market. July sold off to 11.03 and October to 11.33 and closing quotations were the lowest of the day.

Egyptian cotton futures in Alexandria were 11 to 7 points higher and there was an advance of 3 points in the Liverpool spot quotations for Indian cotton.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP)—The cotton market was rather dull for the short week-end session here today and the price trend following a slight opening gain was moderately downward. At the start prices improved 2 to 3 points in sympathy with better Liverpool cables than due but the failure of the severe freeze to materialize in the southern portions of the belt soon started selling.

There was also more or less week-end liquidation and prices gradually eased off, making the lows of the day right at the end with prices 7 to 10 points under the highs of the early trading. The close was barely steady, showing net losses for the day of 4 to 7 points.

The long distance weather forecast for the coming week promising generally favorable crop weather probably helped the late decline.

Port receipts 5,026, for the season 8,378,-260, last season 9,037,675. Exports 9,243, for season 5,418,720, last season 6,117,484. port stocks 5,882,492, last year 1,938,662. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 97,009, last year 106,197. Spot sales at southern markets 5,086, last year 3,630.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, March 28. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices steady. Sales amounted to 4,000 bales and receipts totaled 7,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 7.06d, strictly good middling at 6.83d, good middling at 6.72d, strictly middling at 6.62d, middling at 5.83d, strictly low middling at 5.68d, low middling at 5.43d, strictly good ordinary at 5.03d, and good ordinary at 4.68d.

Futures were quiet with May at 5.79d, July at 5.88d, October at 5.99d, December at 6.07d, and January at 6.11d.

Cottonseed Oil

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Prime cottonseed: Unquoted.
Prime cottonseed oil, 6½@7.
Prime cottonseed meal, 43 per cent, $36.
Prime cottonseed hulls, $10.
Linters, average mill run, $6.50@7.35.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP)—The market for cottonseed oil futures was rather dull today with no sales reported either here or in the shorts. Spot Prime Summer yellow oil closed at 7.45 down 5 points and prime crude closed unchanged at 6.75. Futures closed steady, April 7.50; May 7.55; July 7.67; September 7.75; October 7.80.

Spot Cotton Prices

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Cotton 10.05, Houston 10.60, Galveston 10.70.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28. (AP)—Spot cotton closed steady, 5 points down. Sales 386; low middling 9.19; middling 10.34; good middling 11.04; receipts 890; stock 182,630.

Chicago Cotton Futures

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—Cotton futures closed: May 10.57, July 11.10, Oct. 11.43.

NEW LOW LEVELS IN STOCK MARKET SALES ARE HEAVY

NEW YORK, March 28. (AP)—Active selling sent stocks to new lows for the month today, leaving the market virtually half way between the year's top and bottom prices. Industrials and utilities were heavily sold; the rail average made a new 1931 minimum for the second successive day.

Sales of 2,100,000 shares in two hours exceeded the daily turnover for the full sessions on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. It was the busiest Saturday since the third week in February when the market was approaching its peak.

Weakness of rail stocks is usually taken as a bearish symptom, and the break by this group Friday, together with the publication of additional earnings statements for February, drew large offerings from the shorts and from margin accounts. Steel and motor shares were hurt by the estimate that Youngstown district operations next week would be 3 per cent lower, chiefly because the demand for automobile sheet steel had slackened. Bulls continued to withdraw from the power company stocks.

U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Radio, American Can, Woolworth, General Motors, Chrysler, Du Pont, General Electric and Westinghouse were off 1 to 3. American Telephone, American Power and Light, Consolidated Gas and Electric Power and Light lost 3, while Foster Wheeler, Worthington Pump and Vanadium dropped 4.

The poor income report by New York Central was conspicuous in the week-end news. Net operating income of this carrier, which affords a good cross section of the transportation industry, amounted to $1,555,911 last month against $4,112,065 a year ago, and gross was off more than $6,000,000. March car loadings for the class one roads are expected to show little improvement over January and February, so that the turn in earnings seems to be still ahead.

Some speculative copper was said to have been offered at 9¾ cents, a concession of ¼-cent from the custom smelters quotation. Trade circles look for little improvement in the metal over the next week or two, although it is hoped the middle of April will bring a stronger demand.

With the exception of bar silver, which rose ¼-cent here, the other financial markets were rather heavy.

Foreign exchanges did little. There was a small advance in Spanish pesetas and the French franc, which has been making new lows, was firm.

SHARP BREAKS IN PRICE FOR GRAINS CLOSING NERVOUS

CHICAGO, March 28. (AP)—Notwithstanding that widespread rain and snow were bearish on wheat and bullish on corn, both grains underwent sharp price breaks today. Pronounced weakness of securities served as a notable handicap, especially on wheat buyers, who also were deterred owing to an apparent finale as to predicted crop damage from abnormal cold. Considerable uneasiness was shown regarding likelihood of enlarged wheat shipments from Russia, as outbound Russian ports were expected to open soon.

Wheat closed nervous, 2 cents lower to ¼c advance, corn ⅛@⅜c down, oats ¼c off to ¼c up, and provisions unchanged to 7c decline.

Slackness of export demand for North American wheat persisted, and the largest estimate of overseas business was 400,000 bushels, entirely wheat from Canada. In this connection, bears contended that despite prospects of government-sponsored domestic wheat holdings being kept off the market indefinitely, the surplus would continue to operate as a drag against any material advance in prices.

Corn traders showed little concern over heavy rain and snow. Holders of future delivery contracts responded instead to the bearish influence of downturns in wheat and securities and to slowness of shipping demand.

Oats were neglected.

Provisions had a downward trend, paralleling hog values.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, March 28. (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit this week was slowed down by increased receipts. With the exception of some strength at Chicago on choice heavy steers, prices on killing classes were unevenly lower. In-between grades of fed steers at several points declined 25@50c and at Chicago yearling heifers were tendered a jolt of 50c@$1.00. Fed steers and yearlings $7.00@9.00. Chicago had a top of $11.00 on finished heavy steers and $10.35 on best yearlings. Country demand for replacement stock was narrow with feeders 25c lower. Stockers steady to 25c lower. Thin light yearling stockers cashed up to 38.00. Receipts 187,000 as compared with 161,150 last week and 169,804 the corresponding period a year ago.

Hogs closed the week steady to 20c higher than a week ago. St. Louis had a late top of $8.35. Offerings 448,000, a decrease of 51,500 from last week and 49,500 short of a year ago.

The week's sheep supply numbered around 338,000 against 324,073 last week and 391,-687 a year ago. Fat lambs steady to 35c lower. Aged stock registered little change. Chicago had a late top of $9.10 on good to choice lambs and most of the week's arrivals of Arizona spring lambs at Kansas City and St. Joseph turned at $10.50@11.10.

FORT WORTH, March 28. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Hogs—Receipts 600; good hogs offered; truck hogs $7.50 and less; steady.

Cattle—Receipts 280; nominal. For week: Slaughter steers and yearlings steady to 25c lower; other classes cattle and calves steady. COMMUNITY CHEST ASKS PAYMENT OF PLEDGES FOR NEED

Letters have been sent to subscribers to the Community Chest, asking them to pay their pledges now, on account of the dire financial condition of the chest, according to Mrs. Orr Bentley, executive secretary.

Relief agencies have had more calls for help than ever before and many subscribers have been unable to pay pledges, so that there is no source to which the officials may go to pay bills already made.

The meaning of a word in Chinese is indicated by the musical tone in which it is uttered. One word may have as many as five different tones, each of which, when sounded, gives to the word an entirely different meaning.

RESERVE OFFICERS OF WICHITA MEET HERE MONDAY EVE

A meeting of members of the military reserve and of former officers of the army has been called for Monday night at 8 o'clock in the American Legion quarters at the Memorial auditorium at which Maj. William S. Fulton of Houston, Texas, will deliver a talk on anti-aircraft artillery.

The talk will be illustrated with four reels of motion pictures entitled, "The Practical Employment of the Anti-Aircraft Artillery Regiment."

Capt. Duncan T. Boisseau, unit instructor of the 343rd field artillery at Fort Worth, will accompany Major Fulton here to consult with officers on matters which may come up during the evening.

Capt. Tom B. Martin, 1649 Huff avenue, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Wichita Falls citizens who have been sojourning in East Texas report that there is little evidence of substantial building construction within that area.

'FEMALE PONZI' GIVEN TWO YEARS IN PRISON FINED $120 IN PARIS

PARIS, March 28. (INS)—Martha Manau, "female Ponzi," today was sentenced to two years' imprisonment and ordered to pay a $120 fine for her part in financial transactions involving the loss of approximately $20,000,000 to investors in 1928.

Lazare Bloch, her former husband and associate in business, was given a prison term of 18 months and also was fined $120.

It was charged that Madame Hanau, through her financial paper, "Gazette du Franc," was greatly responsible for the huge swindle, which shocked money circles throughout the world.

Buildings Removed

All the buildings, 10 or 12 in number, have been removed from the site for the federal building in Wichita Falls, with exception of the old First Methodist church building, which is being wrecked at a rapid speed.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR
Looked Beyond the Mississippi

"Wise" men laughed when Jefferson, in 1803, bought the great trans-Mississippi region from the French. A wilderness! Waste land! Not worth thinking about! They laughed, too, when John Jacob Astor, a young easterner, went to a banker for money with which to finance a fur trading expedition to the new land. But the banker didn't laugh. For, with Astor, the banker saw a region rich with beaver. He backed the young man to the limit. And so was founded one of America's great fortunes.

Today, too, men of vision let their banker see "eye to eye" with them in their plans. They know that today's opportunities, taken at their flood, bring rewards undreamed of in Astor's time.

Plans Reported Complete Fourth Annual Conference of District Parent-Teacher Association

All plans are practically complete for the fourth annual conference of the Texas Congress, Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations in the 13th district, which has been called by Mrs. Frank B. Creighton, district president, for April 8, 9 and 10, at the Highland Heights Christian church in Wichita Falls.

At a meeting called by Mrs. T. H. Lawson, general chairman of arrangements, each subchairman's duties were discussed. It was announced that Mrs. George Bays will be in charge of transportation, and that Miss Mary McElheran, Camp Fire executive, will furnish two pages who will be in attendance at each session of the convention. Mrs. Bays and her committee will meet all trains and buses with cars upon which P.-T. A. stickers will be used to indicate their use as convention vehicles. Mrs. R. D. Lewis, president of Huey school, will prepare the question box which will be in charge of Mrs. A. F. Wood, state vice president, at the convention.

Associations which have lively pep songs to sing are asked to bring them so they can be sung by the various groups during recreational periods.

The publicity record book committee has been selected and are busy classifying and grading the 26 books which have been received from all over the district. The following units have entered the contest: Quanah, Henrietta, Rocky Point, Five-in-one, Petrolia, Seymour, Nocona, Pleasant Valley, City View, Electra (Thompson ward), Iowa Park, Burkburnett (grade), Burkburnett (high), Vernon (high), Vernon (Shive), Wichita Falls units include Alamo, Zundelowitz, Barwise, Bowie, Reagan, Austin,

Federated Women To Cooperate in Home Marketing

In a food market to be held at Bailey-Moline Hardware store Saturday, April 4, beginning at 8:30 a. m., the first cooperative move of federated club women toward the use of home products will be inaugurated. At that time, eggs, butter, canned fruits, canned jellies, jams, preserves and pickles will be offered for sale at prevailing retail prices.

A committee composed of women from the Wichita county federation of women's clubs at large and forum women who are a part of that federation met at the house of Mrs. G. D. Anderson recently to plan an organization in which rural and town women might best help one another.

The committee, composed of Miss Luise Webb, county demonstration agent, Mesdames J. W. Albertson, and W. E. DeValon, members of demonstration clubs, Mesdames G. D. Anderson, P. P. Langford, W. E. Huff and W. Newton Maser, members of the Woman's Forum, added to the rural women's slogan, "Buy Wichita county products—what helps us helps you," one to be followed by women of the cities, "Buy Wichita county products—spend your money at home."

Women of Wichita Falls will be urged to buy only home products and to confine their purchases to home merchants, giving in this way a cooperative service in line with the work that has been done by the welfare board, the Thrift Exchange, the Red Cross and church social service committees.

Every woman of the community is urged to visit the market to be held next Saturday at the Bailey-Moline Hardware store.

MRS. STREIGHT HOSTESS TO CLUB THURSDAY

Mrs. L. E. Streight was hostess to members of the "On to Chicago" club at her home Thursday afternoon when the quilt blocks that they have been working on were turned in, and plans completed to finish the quilt and sell it. The proceeds derived from the sale will be put to the credit of a fund that has been raised to send members to the supreme convention of the W. B. A. to be held in Chicago on July 18.

During the social hour, refreshments were served to Mesdames J. T. Hickman, A. W. Weaver, J. A. Kavanaugh, T. G. Southworth, E. J. McDonald, W. F. Carter, G. M. Horton and Miss Doris Land of Nocona.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. M. W. Lewis, April 9.

W. G. COLLINS WEDS MISS VIOLET CARPENTER

Announcement is made of the marriage of W. G. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Collins, and Miss Violet Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Carpenter. Both families reside in Petrolia Gardens. The ring ceremony was read by the Rev. John H. Land, Presbyterian minister at Lawton, Okla., Wednesday at his home.

The bride attended the local high school, and Mr. Collins is associated with the Peoples Ice company. Following a brief wedding tour, the couple will be at home in this city.

POETRY SOCIETY HEARS BEAUTIFUL ADDRESS

Mrs. J. Truman Stevens, president of the Poetry Society of Wichita Falls, in an impromptu paper on poetry given in the place of an address scheduled by a speaker who was not in town, made a strikingly beautiful analysis of poetry. "It is," she said, "unquestionably the oldest form of literature. Perhaps it originated in the chant of the priests as they offered sacrifices; but the chanted tales recounting the deeds of glorious wars must have come soon after."

"Originally," the speaker stated, "anything that could be chanted or sung was regarded as poetry. Now the song element has largely disappeared but the requirement of measured feet and lines remain and we may almost say that no poetry can be appreciated till it is read aloud. Poetry was invented to express lofty sentiments, sentiments of religion, the noble sentiments of patriotism and finally the sentiments of passionate love. It is still the loftiest form of literature and if we could siese at a grasp all the highest literary art, we would begin with the study of poetry."

Mrs. Stevens quoted well known poems that exemplified beauty nobility and truth, analyzing each for its particular aesthetic quality and in a continued talk, spoke of poetry in its relation to every day life. Her address was a pretty prelude to the program on poetry following.

Mrs. Ann Barker read poems submitted by all members present and a blind vote was made to select the best, a volume of Mrs. Grace Nol Crowell's poetry being offered for the prize. "Vagabond Poet," by Mrs. Stevens was first; "The Poet," by Mrs. Ira Cain, second and "Faces" by Mrs. Ann Barker, third.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Stevens presided and Mrs. Ann Barker acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Houston Rogers, who was ill. Mrs. J. W. Akin reported for the program committee. Mrs. Cain also presided in conducting the question box.

Federation Is Offered Site for State Building

(Special to The Times)

AUSTIN, March 28.—The possibility of Wichita Falls becoming state headquarters for the Texas Federation of Women's clubs was seen today when W. B. Hamilton of the Hamilton-Martin Investment company offered the federation a building site in Country Club estates.

Some months ago the federation contracted to buy a site in Austin. Difficulties developed when the time came to close the deal and the matter is now in litigation, so that the federation has had to delay its building plans. Mr. Hamilton, after a conference with Mrs. Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, announced that his company would be glad to give a site if the federation would establish its state headquarters in Wichita Falls.

The site offered is across the street from the Woman's Forum building in Wichita Falls, and has a 200-foot frontage. If it should be accepted by the federation Wichita Falls will become the center of women's club activities in Texas. No other city has offered a free site.

Mrs. R. F. Lindsay of Mount Pleasant, president of the federation, is understood to favor accepting the Wichita Falls offer. The federation plans to erect a building costing in excess of $100,000. It has already raised $42,000.

MRS. RATCLIFF HOSTESS TO COTERIE CLUB

Mrs. Edgar Rateliff was hostess to members of the Coterie club at her home Friday afternoon when an interesting lesson on Alfred Tennyson and his works were studied. Roll call was responded to with quotations from "The Princess" and Mrs. E. B. Bailey read a well prepared paper by Mrs. C. W. Buller on the poet. A splendid review of Enoch Arden was given by Mrs. C. E. Borland and Mrs. J. C. Mytinger gave one on "The Princess."

During a brief business session it was decided to change the time of the club meetings from 3 to 3:30 in the afternoon.

A salad plate was served to Mesdames E. B. Bailey, C. E. Borland, C. P. Burton, Rhea Howard, J. C. Mytinger, Edgar Rateliff, C. D. Shamburger, J. Wilkie Talbert, W. E. Young, and Mrs. Lucile Lancaster, guest of Mrs. Burton, Mrs. W. H. Badger of Austin, mother of Mrs. Bailey, and Mrs. M. C. Wertz.

MAJOR FRANCIS GRICE D. A. R. WILL MEET

An interesting program on "Foreign Aid in the American Revolution," will be featured when Major Francis Grice chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution meet at the Woman's Forum clubhouse next Saturday for their regular monthly luncheon and program.

Hostesses will include Mrs. E. T. Duff, chairman, with Mesdames J. P. Waggoner, Winthrop Rogers, E. B. Bailey, M. M. Garrett, Charles Birk, F. W. Fischer, D. G. Whitney, W. L. Herblin, George Pruitt and Mary K. Hartson.

SCHOOL PLAY PROVES UNUSUAL SUCCESS

Another pioneer project was successfully launched Friday evening by the Austin School Parent-Teacher association when the original play, "Wrong Impressions," was presented by an amateur cast consisting of members of the association.

The drama is encouraged by the national association as a worth while project carrying out one of the seven cardinal objectives of education, namely, the "Wise Use of Leisure," which is also a part of the P.-T. A. platform.

The one act play, which was full of humorous situations, was written and directed by Miss Oma King, a teacher of the school. The attractive setting for the play was made possible through the courtesy of the North Texas Furniture company.

The characters were forcefully portrayed by Mrs. W. W. Knaust, famous movie star; Mrs. Carl Lindsey, charming hostess to the actress; Mrs. J. R. Kolb, aristocratic social reformer; Mrs. J. D. McMahon, ambitious mother of two child prodigies; Mrs. H. C. Hammond, hired girl with ambition to be an acrobat; Mrs. Reece Carter as Little Annie with a desire to be a second Clara Bow, and Maurice Lindsey, ardent admirer of Al Jolson.

As a preliminary to the play, a singsong led by Miss Blanche Dean opened the program, followed by two musical numbers which were well received, a clarinet solo by Paul Raley, and a trumpet solo by Ben Bushfield. Both of these musicians wore gold medals recently won in local contests. Nettie Maxine Baber, another talented young musician of the school played the piano accompaniments.

BEN FRANKLIN P.-T. A. MEETS WEDNESDAY

Members of the Benjamin Franklin P.-T. A. will meet at the school Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock for a health program. The devotionals will include the congress prayer after which the singing mothers will give a group of songs. Mrs. C. A. Spragins will be the speaker for the afternoon and will talk on "Mental, Physical and Spiritual Health." Pupils of the school will have health posters on display. During the business session officers will be elected.

Hostesses will include Mesdames Skeen Staley, John Martin and A. W. Burnside.

In the Pictures

Mrs. A. D. Hill is a recent bride and was before her marriage Miss Berniece Taylor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor.

Misses Loraine Mathis, Jonnie Green Hawkins and Sam Wallace Jones are three talented violin pupils of Stanley M. Raub who will be presented in recital by their instructor Wednesday evening at the Episcopal parish house. Miss Mathis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Mathis and Miss Hawkins is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hawkins. The three young artists have been pupils of Mr. Raub for a number of years.

GIRL RESERVE GROUP TO SPONSOR BENEFIT

A "Knight Klub" will be sponsored by the service committee of the Girl Reserves of which Sadie Shain is chairman, and Elizabeth Albritton, Lenora Walker and Evelyn Taylor, members, at the Elks club Tuesday evening beginning at 9 o'clock. The affair will be a benefit and tickets may be obtained from the above girls at the Junior college, especially during the noon hour in cafeteria also at the door Tuesday night. Dance music will be played by Stafford and His Rhythm Kings and Frederick Sehmann will be master of ceremonies. A splendid program is being arranged.

Texans for Texas Convention Theme Of First District

Plans are rapidly getting in shape for the first district convention to be held in Graham April 20-21-22. Every indication is that this will be one of the best programs and conventions yet held in the district.

"Texans for Texas" has been given as the theme of the convention. Speakers have been selected who will bring before the women the outstanding work now being undertaken in the state. Attorney General Allred will address the women on Tuesday morning on state affairs. Lieutenant Governor Witt, presiding officer of the state senate, will talk on important state legislation. Former Gov. Pat M. Neff and United States Senator Tom Connally will also made addresses on timely subjects.

Fine arts evening will carry forward the same idea. On this program will be presented the delightful musical drama, "16 Rue Pigalle," which has been written and staged by two women of first district, Rebecca Smith and Margaret Collins.

It is significant that this "Texans for Texas" theme should feature the 30th anniversary of the founding of first district, as the progress of first district, the oldest district in the Federation of Women's Clubs, has coordinated with the educational and cultural progress of the state.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal will speak on president's evening on "Woman—a Builder." Mrs. R. F. Lindsay will address the convention on Tuesday morning on "A Permanent Home." Mrs. W. R. Potter will speak on Wednesday morning on "The General Federation Endowment Plan." Mrs. R. E. Buchanan will conduct a club institute and Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin will hold a parliamentary drill preceding the morning session.

Social courtesies will be a complimentary board luncheon tendered by the C. L. S. C. the hostess club, to the board members of first district, past presidents of the district and state officials. On Monday afternoon at 4 at the home of Mrs. A. A. Morrison all delegates and visitors will be entertained with a garden party. Tuesday afternoon a "chuck wagon supper" will be given complimentary by the Rotary club, the Lions club and the chamber of commerce.

Delegates and visitors planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. M. K. Graham at Graham. Registrations will be in the municipal auditorium as will all meetings of the convention. Mrs. H. E. Griffin of Graham is local chairman.

Lovely Courtesies to Pretty Bride-Elect Lead in Social Events of the Week-End

Two of the prettiest prenuptial honors of the spring season were given Friday and Saturday for Miss Ruth Moore, whose marriage to Gordon Fulcher of Austin, will take place at the home of her mother, Mrs. Charles J. Tucker, Saturday, April 4. Mrs. C. D. Shamburger entertained at a beautiful luncheon at the Forum clubhouse Friday at 1 o'clock, observing an exquisite color scheme of pink and green.

The bride-elect's table, covered with a handsome filet cloth, was centered with a lovely rock crystal bowl and plate, pink snapdragon, dainty ferns, pussy willow and Easter lilies filling the bowl. A filmy tulle ribbon led from the center of the honoree's plate where her place card, a heart of green, was stabbed with a silver arrow. Flowers, bowl and plate were Mrs. Shamburger's gift to Miss Moore whose chair was marked with a shower bow of green tulle, gaily colored hearts hanging from the tiny ribbons.

Place cards, which were also lovely favors, were green silk covered wire hearts, to which tiny nosegays of lilies of the valley were tied with pink tulle. Spring flowers in dainty shades of pink centered each pretty table and green and amber crystal service emphasized the dainty motif.

Buffet Luncheon

Mrs. Ivan Murchison's home on Grant street was a perfect bower for Cupid when Mrs. Murchison and Mrs. Burton Stayton entertained Saturday at noon with a buffet luncheon and kitchen shower honoring Miss Moore and her closest friends. Yellow and green, dainty as the daffodil, were the colors chosen by the hostesses for the charming bride-elect's honor.

The dining table, with a handsome lace cloth over yellow satin and a crystal bowl in the center filled with yellow snapdragons, jonquils and feathery ferns, was lighted by the flickering gleam of tall green tapers in crystal holders.

The small tables were covered with smart little plaid cloths in green and yellow and green bowls filled with spring flowers centered each table. Place cards and favors were clever suggestions of the shower, the green cards, on which the names were written in gold being tied with yellow ribbon to little round cookie cutter with green handles.

At the conclusion of the delicious luncheon, two maids brought in a large clothes hamper covered in green and tied over with golden ribbons. Each pretty gift for the honoree was tied in green and gold.

Austin P.-T. A. Will Present Health Program

The annual health program which is to be presented by Austin School Parent-Teacher association Wednesday, will be marked by informality. No outside speakers are scheduled for this occasion, the only talk being given by Miss Maybelle Moore on the "Influence of physical education on mental health." Miss Moore is one of Austin school's most popular young teachers and a very pleasing speaker.

A playlet written especially for this program will be presented by the third grade students under the direction of Misses Frances Boyd, Bernice Ewing and Winnie Biggerstaff. Thirty children, in colorful costume, will take part in this springtime health pageant, which is said to be very pretty.

An interesting array of nearly 100 health posters made by art students of Miss Mattie Mae Haynie and Miss Vivian Miles will be on display at this time in the entrance hall. This exhibit is reported to be even better in workmanship than the display in November which received such favorable comment.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. E. C. de Montel, Mrs. H. C. Hammond and Mrs. W. E. Timblin will report at this time, after which the annual election of officers will take place. All members are urged to show their loyalty by being present at the election.

WESLEY GIRLS WILL HAVE QUILT EXHIBIT

Those interested in unique, colorful and beautiful quilts both in modern and old-fashioned design, are invited to attend the exhibit and bazaar to be held by members of the Wesley Girls' Sunday school class of the First Methodist church at 902 Tenth street, Thursday and Friday. The affair is expected to prove a delightful social event as well as a bazaar. A tea booth is being arranged, also a homemade candy booth and places to sell fresh fruits and other things. A white elephant sale will also be a feature. A small admittance fee to the exhibit will be charged and tickets will be on sale at Renfro's Drug store. A cash prize will be given for the best and oddest quilt exhibited.

Quilts may be entered with Mesdames Jason Walker or H. C. Cheshire.

FATHER'S NIGHT AT ALAMO SCHOOL

The regular meeting of Alamo P.-T. A. which is usually held at the school Friday afternoon, will be held next Friday evening, beginning at 7:30 when a special program has been arranged to give fathers of the school an opportunity to take part in the year's work.

There will be presentation of a flag and at the close of the program, refreshments will be served.

New Officers Elected at Lovely Spring Luncheon of Garden Club

Mrs. J. C. Mytinger was elected chairman of the Garden club when members met for luncheon and program at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Friday morning and those who will serve with her are Mrs. L. H. Cullum, vice chairman; Mrs. C. E. McCutchen, recording secretary; Mrs. C. E. Bailey, corresponding secretary and Mrs. E. P. Bass, treasurer. Mrs. Timberlake reported for the nominating committee whose slate was unanimously chosen.

Mrs. Bert Bean, chairman, called the meeting to order and the invocation was given by Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin. Mrs. Bean made an interesting report of the meeting of the Federation of Garden clubs held March 19 in Dallas when Mrs. Gross R. Scruggs, president of Federated Garden Clubs of Texas, was hostess to the executive board at luncheon. Organization of more garden clubs and the importance of flower shows were the most interesting themes of discussion, Mrs. Bean stated.

Mrs. Bean requested that anyone having plants and flowers to be given away please call Mrs. Pies Crouch, extension chairman, who wished to give them to outlying schools.

Beautiful Tables

Tables were as usual beautifully decorated by members of the garden club, Mesdames J. J. Perkins and Peyton Gwynn furnishing the flowers on this occasion. Mrs. Perkins brought bowls of mixed flowers from her hothouse, the bougainvillea, stock, roses and calendula giving beautiful suggestion of spring. Mrs. Gwynn's bowl of purple wild buffalo flower and bright yellow blossoms proved the beauty of the native wild flowers of Texas.

Following the business session, Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin had charge of the program and presented Miss Margaret Bone who sang two pretty numbers, "Have You Ever Been to Texas in the Spring," the state song of Federated Garden clubs and "Spring Is a Lovable Lady," with Mrs. Grady England accompanying.

Mrs. C. E. Bailey talked on the planting and culture of chrysanthemums and Mrs. John T. Abbott talked on planting seed at this time of the year, emphasizing the fact that they should not be planted until spring, particularly petunias, snapdragons, calendula, verbena, etc. She stated that one could have many flowers through the summer by cutting them back and transplanting.

Mrs. Frank Timberlake concluded the program in a delightful talk on flowering shrubs, reading at the close, a lovely poem, "Glad Day."

PERFECT BRIDGE HAND WINS HOLDER 700 POINTS

DENVER, March 28. (AP)—James Kirk was dealt 13 clubs in a bridge game last night.

He didn't bid.

He set W. J. Swartz, the dealer, 700 points.

Schwartz bid one no trump, Kirk doubled and the others passed. It was Kirk's lead. He tossed his 13 clubs on the table for all the tricks.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN CARNIVAL SUCCESS

More than 300 attended the carnival at Benjamin Franklin school Friday night which was declared to have been a huge success. The affair was sponsored by the Benjamin Franklin P.-T. A. and various entertaining shows were given by pupils of the school.

Pupils of the negro school furnished excellent entertainment, and their program was given under the auspices of the rooms of Misses Helen Keller, Lattimer and Mrs. W. E. Young. "The Bachelor's Dream" was the title of a show given by pupils in Miss Cullen's room; Misses Siner and Tribble's rooms gave the "Jolly Entertainers'; "A Negro Baby" was the show given by pupils of Misses Rackley and Patrick, while pupils of Misses Rollins, Pickens and Ely sponsored the Junior Majestic. The radio review in charge of Mrs. Carl Waelder featuring KGKO artists was given in the main auditorium, and the fish pond over which Mrs. O. T. Kimbrough presided, proved a popular place.

RULE, Texas, March 28.—According to James E. Lindsey, special agent of Rule, there were 30,018 bales of cotton ginned in Haskell county from the 1930 crop, as compared with 24,682 bales ginned from the 1929 crop.

Brilliant Affairs Planned by Washington Society Following Holy Week in Capital City

By GEORGIANA WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Capital society is at sixes and sevens for want of a grand dame as its social dictator.

But there is no one, it seems, who will take the place and wield the power of Mrs. Mary Scott Townsend, whose death occurred a few days ago. For nearly half a century Mrs. Townsend was Washington's social dictator and until she retired because of ill health she reigned supreme.

Her passing has been followed by a buzz of gossip over society's teacups as to who may eventually reign in her place.

Times, however, have changed in the capital. Society leadership is split up with leaders in the various groups—governmental, diplomatic, and congressional. Overtopping all of these groups is the exclusive inner circle of native Washingtonians, descendants of the old Georgetown social set. Jealous tongues sometimes refer to them as the Georgetown "cave dwellers."

Of course, there is Mrs. John B. Henderson who for decades has been one of Washington's most prominent social leaders. The march of years, however, has forced Mrs. Henderson to forego most of her social activities. And like Mrs. Townsend there seems no one to take her place.

Yes, Mrs. Townsend's death has left a distinct void in Washington social circles. Those of the older set are recalling the brilliant days when Mrs. Townsend's word was law.

Mrs. Townsend's first Washington home was at 1703 K street, then Washington's most fashionable thoroughfare. Later she resided at 22 LaFayette square, now the Women's City club. This residence was later occupied by President Roosevelt during his first administration while the White House was being repaired.

Mrs. Townsend then purchased the beautiful mansion in Massachusetts avenue, where she lived until her death.

She annually gave a ball for her daughter, now Mrs. Welles, from her first grown-up days until her marriage. When President and Mrs. Roosevelt presented their daughter, Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, to society at the White House the event was followed by a ball for her in Mrs. Townsend's home.

The winter that President and Mrs. Roosevelt presented their younger daughter, Ethel to society while in the White House, the event was followed by one of Mrs. Townsend's elaborate flower balls in her honor.

Although capital society does no formal entertaining during holy week, many brilliant affairs are planned for the Easter holidays.

Varsity News

By HAROLD C. WRAY
University of Texas

AUSTIN, March 28.—W. Page Keeton of Vernon was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national academic scholarship society, at the spring election. Keeton is a senior law student and a member of the Chancellors, and the new honor came to him for his work in prelaw in the academic school. Fred T. Couper and William Warren of Wichita Falls were elected to the society last fall.

Olin W. Harvey Jr. of Wichita Falls, has been elected to Sigma Epsilon, national honorary and professional management fraternity. He was initiated two weeks ago. Harvey is a graduate student; he received the degree of bachelor of business administration in June, 1930.

William Duncan of Wichita Falls, senior business administration student, was elected and initiated by the Beta Alpha Psi honorary accounting fraternity.

Ford Chauncey of Wichita Falls, university law student, has been elected to Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity. Initiation was held Thursday.

Mary Louise Staley of Wichita Falls has been elected rush captain by the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. She will serve until next February.

Dell Hatchitt of Wichita Falls has been elected vice president of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority for the next year.

Katherine Marshall of Quanah was elected and initiated by the Orange Jackets, girls' honorary campus organization. She has also been appointed as the Orange Jacket reporter.

Mrs. W. B. Hampton of Quanah visited her daughter, Mary Lee Hampton, at the Chi Omega sorority house last week-end.

Mary Elizabeth Donnell, Kappa Alpha Theta, of Wichita Falls attended an informal buffet supper at the home of Sara Lee Moore last Sunday.

Dora Beth Wray of Wichita Falls, a resident of the dormitory, was hostess at the annual woman's building tea last Sunday.

Katherine Marshall of Quanah was one of the six Scottish Rite dormitory girls who were chosen for "All-Sardee" honors, and her picture will appear with that group in the Sardine, yearbook of the dormitory. The girls were elected on the basis of intellect, personality, and friendliness. Miss Marshall is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

Truman Willis of Wichita Falls and R. W. Chase of Clarendon were among the 60 electrical engineering seniors who made an inspection trip to San Antonio and intermediate plants last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Bill Duncan and Charles Warman of Wichita Falls attended the Alpha Phi sorority formal dance Friday night.

The annual banquet of the students of the college of engineering was held recently, honoring the grand "Old Man" of the engineers and the grand "Old Man" of the Texas campus, Dean T. U. Taylor, who is completing his 44th year as dean of the Texas engineers. Edgar Ellis, president; Asbury Parks, Wilbur Kent and O. K. Irvine, all of Wichita Falls were among the members of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering scholarship fraternity, who attended the banquet and presented newly elected members of the fraternity. Senator Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls made an address and spoke of the university of former days.

CHAS. R. FULLER WEDS MRS. FAYE STAMPFLY

The culmination of an interesting romance is announced in the marriage of Charles R. Fuller of Wichita Falls, to Mrs. Faye Stampfly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Barrett, which took place in Walters, Okla., March 4, with Rev. Willis W. Alverson, Presbyterian minister of that city, performing the ceremony in the parlors of the manse.

Mr. Fuller is a prominent insurance man of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. Fuller, formerly a resident of the city, was here from Los Angeles, Calif., on a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller will be at home to their friends after May 1 at their home 2008 Kemp boulevard.

More Air Safety

WASHINGTON.—A report of the war department shows that safety in aerial operations of the air corps has increased 1,000 per cent in the last 10 years. During the last six months of 1930, 16,903 miles were flown for each fatal accident. In 1921 only 1,718 miles were flown to each fatality.

Varied Programs Given in Friday Club Meetings

In the club programs of Friday afternoon, many interesting subjects were covered. Members of the 20th Century Junior who met with Mrs. True Cauble enjoyed a round table discussion of the history of the Restoration period led by Mrs. Franklin Henderson.

A refreshment plate was served during the social hour to Mesdames J. E. Hay, A. A. Werlla, Robert K. French, A. L. Hecht, Lloyd J. Taylor, Jack S. Rankin, Franklin Henderson, and Miss Jeanette Moore and three guests, Miss Eunice Gist of Frederick, Okla., Mrs. Robert Koonce of Tulsa, Okla., and Mrs. George Mobley.

Twentieth Century

Mrs. W. L. Hawkins was hostess to members of the 20th Century junior when Mrs. B. P. Williams was leader in a lesson on the Bible. Roll call was answered with responses about famous houses of worship.

Mrs. O. B. Albritton gave a background of the history of the first Jewish tabernacle which was the study for the afternoon and Mrs. Williams made the lesson particularly interesting by showing a miniature replica of the temple with the tents around it, each article that went in it, and the symbol it was to the people.

Story Telling Clubs

Members of the Wichita Falls Story Telling club were entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. W. C. Duncan by the Alpho Story Telling club who gave as the program, the same stories they will tell in the Easter program they are to give at the county farm.

Mrs. Harold Murph, president of the older club gave a pretty talk of greeting and Mrs. George Thorburn responded for the guests.

Roll call was answered with Bible quotations and Mrs. H. A. Glass, leader for the day, gave the eighth chapter of "Story Telling," by Cather, emphasizing the beginning, climax and ending of short stories. The ninth chapter of the original story being written by the club was given by Mrs. P. B. Curd.

Mrs. Patrick Henry told the beautiful Easter story and Mrs. Godfrey Engel told the legend of "Why the Robin Red Breast Sings at Easter." "Why the Lily was Chosen for the Easter Flower," was the theme of Mrs. L. E. McConnell's story.

Following the unusually pretty program, a delightful refreshment plate was served to Mesdames George Thorburn, George Truitt, J. B. McDowell, Bill Abbott, A. L. Proctor, L. S. Marlow, R. E. Benson and Olan Key, Mr. George Truitt, members of the Wichita Falls Story Telling club, Miss Bonnie Edna White of Duncan, Okla.; and the members of the Alpha Story Telling club including Mesdames P. B. Curd, R. L. Daugherty, W. C. Duncan, T. E. Durrett, H. A. Glass, Patrick Henry, Charles Litchfield, L. E. McConnell, Harold Murph, W. A. Scarborough, E. J. Tschabold, A. L. Williams, Godfrey Engel and J. E. Strong.

UNKNOWN TUNNEL FOUND UNDER CAPITAL AVENUE

WASHINGTON, March 28. (UP)—A 200-foot tunnel under B street, Northwest, near the capitol, has perplexed District of Columbia authorities the past few days.

The tunnel was discovered by workmen excavating in connection with the development of Capitol plaza, north of the capitol building. It has been ascertained that the underground passage never had any connection with federal buildings.

It is known, however, that both Union and Confederate forces during the civil war did their share of tunnelling and the theory has been advanced that northern troops for some reason now forgotten, did this bit of burrowing during the storm and stress.

Crossing Fatality

McALLEN, Texas, March 28. (AP)—George C. Switzer, 48, salesman, was killed instantly and his son, Clifton, 18, was seriously injured today when the car in which they were riding was struck by a westbound passenger train a mile west of McAllen. Both Switzer and his son were thrown clear of the car, which was demolished.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS

Committee of Awards

Committee of awards meets on Saturday of this week at local headquarters at 2 o'clock. All girls who expect to take rank at the council fire on April 12, must pass rank before the committee on Saturday. Girls must report to the headquarters before Saturday if they want to appear before the committee.

Glee Club

Miss Zona Younkin has agreed to organize a glee club for Camp Fire Girls. The first meeting will be held with her on Tuesday evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of her sister, Mrs. E. D. Steward, 1914 Tilden. Mrs. Steward will be accompanist for the club. Girls who have alto voices are especially welcome to join. Inquiries will be answered by the executive, as to membership in the club.

Word of Praise

The executive is very happy and proud of all of the guardians who have cooperated 100 per cent in making the Camp Fire birthday the best we have ever had. Every guardian and assistant in Wichita Falls and three from out of town attended the birthday party at the Y. W. Each group has been well represented in the radio program. We are anticipating the very best birthday council fire we have ever held on April 12. Watch for details!

Adi-Iwah

The Adi-Iwah group met on Thursday afternoon at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, to continue work on birthday honor. Next week the members will meet at local headquarters to make posters for the P.-T. A. district meeting to be held in Wichita Falls on April 8, 9 and 10.

Ahsonzong Group

The Ahsonzong group met at Junior college for a short business session on Thursday afternoon. The council fire date for group was set for Friday evening of this week, April 3. The candy sale and rummage sale planned for last week was postponed on account of the weather, and will be held later. Pauline and Irene West earned citizenship honor No. 311 for giving significance of one national holiday of five immigrant races—toward their birthday honor. The members went over to practice songs for the radio program, with the Mankilo group which met at Mrs. Stewards' after the business session. Those attending were Lucile Murchison, Lois and Jewell Gibbons, Gladys Young, Irene and Pauline West, Loucille and Mrs W. J. Willis, guardian.

Acancan Group

The Acancan group of Reagan junior high held its regular meeting on Wednesday at the regular club period of the school. Plans were discussed for the radio program, and Miss McIlheran gave a short talk on the Camp Fire Girls health chart. The girls are planning to begin the first of April to keep the chart. Those attending the meeting were Charlotte Lewis, Dorbandt Barnett, Mary Love Appleby, Clara Heffington, Margaret Fincher, Iona Swift, Virginia Rogers, Bernadine Arnold, Virginia Hanks, Leora Burgess, and the guardian, Miss Leska Howard.

Ano-lewa Group

The Ano-lewa group met on Thursday afternoon for its regular meeting. A candy sale was planned for April 4. The girls were happy over the earning of two honor beads for giving book reports and history of great statesmen. Ethel Ranbarger gave "Sarah Crew," by Burnett; Ruth Loughridge gave "Janice Meredith," by Ford; Hermione Vaughan, "A Man Without a Country,' by Hale; Phyllis Lesh, "The Edge of the Wilderness," by Eaton; Louise Rhoads, "Lucky Sixpence"; Madilane Hokett, "Black Beauty"; Mary Jo Groves, "Penrod," by Mark Twain. Several gave history of great statesmen.

Tanokiwin Group

The Tanokiwin group met at Austin school on Thursday afternoon. A new song was learned, after which a number of Indian symbols were studied by the members. Each member began the working out of her own Camp Fire symbol, in preparation for the first rank in Camp Fire.

Those attending were Kathryn Borden, Joy Campbell, Ruth Thomas, Sue Ann Timbiln, Marcella Dulaney, Ina Merle Gregory, Mildred Lightfoot, Diana Cloughley, mascot of group, and Miss Thelma Bridges, guardian.

Nowetompatimmin

The Nowetompatimmin group met at the home of Bessie Pauline Huddleston on Saturday afternoon. Each girl earned the citizenship honor No. 303 for giving five facts about the country and customs of five immigrant races. Mrs. B. L. Bryans told the girls some very interesting facts about the Pueblo Indians in New Mexico. Lovely refreshments were served to Mary Sue Conner of Archer City, Margaret Pierce, Dorothy Reeder, Evelyn Leveck, Ruth Stuckey, Virginia Rose Engel, Mary McIlheran, Earleen and Mrs. W. E. Polk, guardian, and Mrs. Bryans. Several games were enjoyed and kodak pictures taken of the girls in costume.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group met at Alamo school on Wednesday afternoon to complete plans for the radio program. Mrs. Frank Schram, guardian, asked the members to turn in the dues by the next meeting.

Mankilo Group

The Mankilo group met at the home of Mrs. E. D. Steward on Thursday afternoon to complete plans and practice songs for the radio program.

Tyler Bank Deposits

TYLER, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Tyler bank deposits gained $1,654,239 during the three months between Dec. 31, 1930, and March 25, 1931, reports showed yesterday in response to the national bank call. Deposits were $6,781,794, compared with $5,127,735 on Dec. 31.

JIMMY WALKER OFFERED $1,000 PER DAY TO PLAY MOTION PICTURE ROLE

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., March 28. (AP)—Anytime that Mayor James J. Walker wishes to quit his $25,000-a-year job as mayor of New York City, there are two positions awaiting him which would pay him just ten times that amount.

While admitting the offers had been made, Walker said today he expected to continue in office until his term expires the last day of 1933.

One offer was from a motion picture corporation which would pay him $1,000 daily, he said.

The second was a salary of $250,000 yearly to become associated with A. C. Blumenthal, New York and Los Angeles financier.

INTERNE DIES SUDDENLY AT HOSPITAL IN TULSA

TULSA, Okla., March 28. (UP)—Dr. Bernard J. O'Donnell, 25, St. Johns hospital interne, died suddenly in the emergency room of the hospital today.

He was taken to the hospital when he was found lying unconscious on a divan in a friend's house where a party was in progress.

An autopsy was ordered to determine cause of death.

A futile effort was made to locate his parents who were believed to live in Wyoming.

SUNDAY SERVICES TO CLOSE REVIVAL AT GRANT CHURCH

A revival which has been in progress at the Grant Street Methodist church during the last two weeks will close Sunday with the delivery of sermons at the morning and evening services by Rev. H. C. Hand of Clarksville, Texas, who has been in charge.

The subject of the morning sermon will be "Heaven," and that at the evening service, "Are Our Young People Safe?" The morning service will start at 11 o'clock and the evening service at 7:30 o'clock.

The revival has been declared to have been a great success, attracting large attendance and resulting in numerous additions to the church.

Record Breaking Traffic Toll Is Feared for 1931

WASHINGTON, March 28. (UP)—Record-breaking traffic casualties for 1931 were predicted today by the national conference on street and highway safety.

Depression and unemployment notwithstanding, the number of deaths so far this year are estimated by the American Automobile association at 5,800 which is slightly above the aggregate for the first quarter of 1930.

As open weather approaches, the harvest of death, injury and property damage beings in earnest. Statistics show January, February and March to be the low months. From April onward the number of casualties increase until December which usually establishes a new record each year.

There were 31,250 persons killed in 1930.

The total public debt of the United States at present is about $16,000,000,000, which is more than $130 per capita. This money was borrowed from citizens and residents of the country, who receive interest on their bonds. The U. S. has no foreign debt.

Now Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things —Fat Melts Away

NO tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the coarse lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

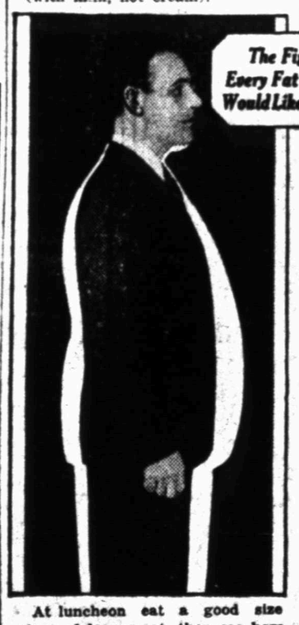

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with a teaspoonful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream).

At luncheon eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli or fresh turnips you can eat, EAT ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD of these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit; cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears—any except bananas. Substitute turnips for potatoes. Substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP-FULL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you now eat. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other foods, you'll never notice it. Drink water or not as you like.

4 TO 7 POUNDS GONE IN WEEK

At the end of a week, you'll see the scale down four to seven pounds—according to how much overweight you are—from what you weighed the day you started. Your health, too, will be better. You'll be more active, more vigorous than perhaps for years. Your friends will soon begin to notice your increasing slenderness. You'll soon avoid the embarrassment of being called fat or bulky. And you'll do it with NEVER A HUNGRY MOMENT!

If in doubt about this safe and simple way, ASK ANY DOCTOR. Show him this article. Ask him whether or not it is safe and sure. It marks the latest findings of scientific men in the field of weight reduction. For it performs two necessary and important functions.

The JAD SALTS clear the bowels and system of the excessive toxins most overweight people have. *The change in diet—the FILLING OF THE STOMACH TO ITS LIMIT—with foods that turn to energy instead of fat, decreases the weight day by day. The salts build up your health. The change in food eases off the fat.

Start today. Clip this dietary out and save it. Get big package of ordinary JAD SALTS for the cleansing part of the method at any drug store. A large bottle costs less than a dollar.

*Note particularly—the salts are urged purely as a poison-banishing agent—not as a reducing. The change in food does the work.—Adv.

MOFFETT URGES MORE EMPHASIS ON COTTON QUALITY

Hardeman County Legislator Offers Bill at Austin

WOULD HAVE STATE ADOPT NEW POLICY

Longer Staple and Broader Market Seen as Cotton's Needs

More emphasis upon marketing cotton and less upon cotton production methods will become the policy of the state department of agriculture if a bill introduced by Representaitve Moffett of Chillicothe becomes a law.

Mr. Moffett's bill seeks merely to establish a broad policy in regard to cotton without going into details. His position is that unless Texas, as the principal cotton-raising state, pays more attention to the quality and staple of its cotton, the day will soon be here when there will be no foreign market for cotton. He believes that efforts should be directed first to raising better cotton and second to finding new uses for cotton. His bill follows:

Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Texas:

Section 1. "Declaration of Policy." By this act it is expressly declared that the policy of the various agricultural agencies of the state of Texas, shall be shaped so that the subject of marketing and the increased use and outlet for farm products, especially cotton, shall be stressed at least as much as the production of said products, and the heads of the various agricultural agencies, departments, schools, colleges, etc., are hereby directed to take full and sufficient consideration of the policy herein established, and that the activities of the various agencies mentioned above be revamped, where same has not already been done, so as to conform with the provisions of this act.

Section 2. That the subject of grading, stapling and classing of cotton receive careful and intensive attention and study by the various agricultural agencies of the state, to the end that the first sale of cotton from the producer to the first buyer, shall be on a strict basis of class, grade and staple, and thereby tend to insure a commensurate return to the producer who grows a quality product.

Section 3. The sum of $10,000 is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the treasury of the state of Texas, not otherwise appropriated, for the purpose of establishing a cotton users research laboratory wherein new uses of cotton and expansion of present uses may be sought out, discovered, and made available. Said laboratory shall be under the direction and control of the governing authorities of the A. & M. college, though not necessarily located at the main college.

Section 4. The fact that Texas and American grown cotton is being rapidly displayed in the markets of the world by foreign grown cotton, thereby lowering the price of Texas and American grown cotton in an amount that runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars creates an emergency and an imperative public necessity, requiring that the constitutional rule, providing that bills be read on three separate days be suspended, and the same is hereby suspended, and it is so enacted.

ZOE BECKLEY'S CORNER

Supports Husband

"Dear Zoe: I have supported both my husband and myself ever since our marriage. I don't want to hurt him but I do not love him any more. I do love a man who is more my own age and a steady worker, kind and loving, whom I have known three years. I want to be free to give him the right kind of love and be true to him.

—HELEN P."

ZOE BECKLEY

Few people would feel you ought to go on forever supporting yourself and your husband, if he is neither an invalid or mentally unfit. On the other hand, my dearie, so many married women imagine themselves in love with another man when in reality it is merely that they are bored and disillusioned, that I urge you to consider honestly whether you are one of these.

Marriage is more than an experiment, to be abandoned if it doesn't work perfectly. Marriage is never perfect. But it is the best plan mortals have so far been able to dope out for the happiness of men and women and the welfare of the world. It will never succeed unless it is earnestly worked over. Only the extremest radicals believe it should be lightly broken at the first symptom of waning love.

If love cannot be brought back, at least respect and affection can often be. If your husband bucked up, got work and supported you in a decent little home I believe your marriage to him would have as good a chance of success as your marriage with the other man. But if your husband is a chronic, dyed-in-the-wool-loafer who cannot be redeemed, I'd be the last one to say you ought to go on supporting him in idleness. Why not talk the whole situation over seriously with him?

Cradle-Snatcher?

"Dear Zoe: For a year I have known a girl of 27 while I am 23. She is very pretty while I am no John Gilbert but I sincerely love her. Is she too old for me? Have I a chance to win her? She broke up once before with a boy because he was younger than she.

—L. M."

It seems as though there must be something a little undesirable about a girl who collects sweethearts younger than herself. Perhaps she is of the sophisticated type, which usually beglamors the youthful males and bores the older man. Generally speaking it is better for boys of 23 to run with girls a little younger. But there can never be a sweeping rule as each case is different and no outsider can judge.

Money in Beauty

"Dear Zoe: I have no high school education but want to learn shorthand and typing, or else a beauty culture. Which one would you advise? I am 17.

—FIFI JEAN."

Other things being equal, there is more money in the less crowded field of beauty culture. But like everything else, it has to be undertaken seriously and you have to be mighty good at it to succeed. A poor beduty parlor girl is no better off than an incompetent stenographer. If you are determined to be a wow in any case, there is a better chance in the beauty industry.

Wrong Number!

"Dear Zoe: I asked her to a party and at first she said yes, then changed her mind at the last minute, saying that if I knew anything about women I would know why she would not go. Can you tell me? And what should I do?

—EXASPERATED."

Probably something was wrong with you. Either you weren't properly dressed, or able to take her to the party in the right way, with cab and flowers and the rest of it, or you don't dance well. If she won't explain matters, ask some trustworthy friend of either sex to give you a straight tip. Often one can be put wise as to these matters, both painlessly and quickly, by following this simple method.

Shoddy Stuff

"Dear Zoe: I have been married 18 years. Almost from the first my wife ran around with men, one after another, letting them make love to her, lying to me about it and yet trying to break away from me. I am tired and disgusted. Must I continue earning a living for her when there are good women in the world?—REGUSTED CAP."

Not according to my views, you mustn't! In fact it is my opinion that you have stood it too long already. There are women who are natural-born curtesans and nothing can change them, neither love nor marriage nor their sense of loyalty to a decent man. It's simply the old story of trying to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear. Just can't be done. No one with a heart in his breast could condemn you to lifelong servitiude to such a woman.

Ne'er-Do-Well?

"Dear Zoe: I am engaged to a boy I have known for years. He is polite, clean and intelligent and we get along nicely. The one thing wrong is that he cannot seem to get a steady job and as things are now we'll never get married.

—DOT A."

If you have known him for years it ought to give you a good idea of his character. Is this inability to get a job a temporary thing? Or has he always been that way? There are some men, you know, who just never can make good. It is an infirmity—something lacking in his nature. Decide this point.

If after one last fair trial he gets nowhere it would be foolish to marry him, dearie. That is, unless you are prepared to earn the entire family budget. And I can't quite advise that.

Encourage Him

"Dear Zoe—I am a widow with three children and very lonely. A certain man came to see me once and I like him so well that I want to see him again, although he is much older than me.

—PANZY."

He may be afraid he is too old to interest you and therefore stays away. In that case a friendly note, telling him you enjoyed his visit and would like to see him oftener might work like a charm.

But I caution you not to encourage romantic notions. Not every man who pays casual attention to a woman is in love with her, or thinks of marriage. Think well of yourself about it before you dream any dreams. A woman with three children has many matters to consider before remarrying.

Mum Is the Word

"Dear Zoe: I come from a strict Italian family and am 25, engaged to marry a young man I think the world of. Ten years ago something bad happened to me entirely through ignorance. Zoe, ought I tell my sweetheart this? If my people knew, they would kill me or disown me. My mother is dead and so I ask you for advice.

—MAE."

Keep silent. To tell will do no good and may do terrific harm. There could be no possible reason for telling unless you intended to go on being of easy virtue—which you don't. You are a good girl; therefore there is no deception. Now forget the whole matter as if it never happened. Don't allow the remembrance to creep into your own mind even. Think of yourself as you wish to be—as you are. And respect yourself, as you deserve to.

Alcohol Seized

EL PASO, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Mounted United States customs officers today seized a liquor-laden automobile after a short chase, arresting one man. Seventy gallons of alcohol and 50 pints of whisky were seized. The man was driving near the Rio Grande. No charges were filed against him immediately.

County Red Cross News

Three hundred and fifty packages of garden seed have been given to the drouth stricken families of Wichita county for the making of home gardens. Each package contained enough seed to plant around half an acre of ground and will permit a liberal supply of vegetables for immediate use as well as for canning.

The American Red Cross will celebrate its fiftieth anniversary on May 21. The relief movement as carried on by the organization has grown from a few people helped in 1881 to over 2,000,000 American citizens in 22 states with the present year. In addition to this special relief regular service to the war veterans and in the field of health education and character building has been maintained. This celebration is not an organization activity but gives opportunity for each and every group of people to recognize in some way the growth and success of the greatest social agency of the American people.

April 5 marks the opening of the 17th annual negro health week in Texas. This week of health observation is conducted by the Texas Tuberculosis association, the United States public health service, and the national negro health week committee. The objective for the present year is "the establishment of the national negro health week on a year-round basis."

Carrigan School—The children in Miss Russell's and Miss Henson's rooms are having a "drink more milk" contest this period. Each day the boys and the girls check up the number of bottles of milk drank. To date the standings are as follows: Boys, 482 bottles; girls, 543 bottles in Miss Russell's room. In Miss Henson's room, boys 502 bottles; girls, 385 bottles. The second grade children, Miss Robert's room, have two contests. In the milk contest a count is taken each afternoon of the number of bottles of milk drank by the boys and by the girls. The winning side each day gets permission to use the library first. In the second contest each child tries to keep the health rules on his new health card. Those keeping each rule are privileged to march to the front of the room. Each child has a copy of the rules to tack up at home to help him to remember his rules.

Benjamin Franklin—The farm and its products is the project in Miss Rollins' room this semester. The children have visited a farm, have made posters of what the farm gives us to eat, and have made butter in their room. The children told the nutritionist about the butter-making. They brought crackers and cream from home. The next day the cream was put in jars and turns were taken in shaking it. The yellow crumbs of butter turned into a nice ball of butter. This was spread on the crackers. This project brought out English work, art work, health lessons, and above all the children were happy in the work, this latter being a vital health factor. Posters made by the different rooms are hanging in the cafeteria this week. These posters with health subjects are a correlated piece of art and health work. The crossword puzzle has become a health device. The third grade, Miss Patrick's room, use the crossword puzzle to work out the health rules. Words both horizontal and vertical suggest answers for health questions.

Crockett School—Vegetable lessons were presented by the nutritionist to the children of the first three grades this week. The children were encouraged to eat two vegetables besides potatoes each day, preferably a raw one and a cooked vegetable. Pictures of vegetables, were shown to the classes. The children classified them into the raw and cooked types. This was followed by the "rule" for the use of three vegetables each day. Reasons why such as for growth, for roughness, and for mineral content were listed. Each lesson closed with some game that gave the children practice in learning to recognize and name vegetables.

The STORY of SUE

by Margery Hale.

© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"Who drove that taxicab?" Judge Thornton asked the question quite simply. Some of the jurors looked a little bored. They had counted on a more dramatic question.

But all the theatricalism necessary was in the steel-edged answer that Sybil gave.

"The taxicab in which I rode that night was driven by Miss Sue Merryman, who was in disguise!"

Sue felt the astonishment that crept into people's widened eyes, opened mouths, hunched shoulders.

"I don't know."

"That is all, Miss Lester. May I put Miss Sue Merryman on the stand?" Judge Thornton appealed to the court.

As Sue took her seat on the witness box she had a strange sensation that she was acting in a play. It was so unreal for her to be there, questioned by Judge Thornton whose typist she had been for nearly a year. But it was wonderfully comforting to have Jack's gray eyes smiling steadily at her. She wouldn't be afraid! She was glad for the gay daring of the black and orange costume. But she knew that she must protect Corrinne. But how?

She looked at Jack and he nodded understandingly.

If she could just have a minute to ask him what she should say . . . If she didn't tell on Corrinne everyone would think that she had purposely framed Sybil. If she told on her, the manager of the taxicab company could be produced as material witness that Corrinne was actually in its employ.

Corrinne, she noted, was talking excitedly to Jack.

Then the questioning had started. "Miss Merryman, why were you driving a taxicab that night?"

"I was doing it for a friend who was ill and unable to attend to her duties. It was necessary for someone to replace her if she wanted to keep her position."

The words came so easily that Sue was surprised. Somehow she wasn't afraid. The faces of the audience had stopped swimming together and settled down into individuals. The clock was ticking steadily. It was raining and the water ran in little brown streams down the dirty window panes. Someone at the press table was writing and the heavy black pencil screeched as it made dark lines on the copy paper.

"Why were you in disguise, Miss Merryman?"

"In order to keep people from distinguishing between the friend whom I was replacing and myself."

"Oh, so the real driver also was doing the thing in masquerade? This seems to be a guessing party."

"Yes."

"And why?"

"I object!" Jack was standing again. "I don't believe that it is necessary to discuss that angle. It has no bearing on the case."

"The objection is overruled. Continue with the witness." The judge nodded to Judge Thornton.

"Why did this friend want to be disguised?"

"So she wouldn't be recognized."

"And why didn't she want to be recognized?"

Sue glanced at Jack, questioningly.

Monday: Corrinne takes the witness stand.

JUDGE SENTENCES MAN TO SERVE 75-YEAR TERM

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Formal sentence was passed today by District Judge Grover Adams on Ed Sims, 52, hotel proprietor, who was assessed a 75-year prison sentence three weeks ago by a jury which convicted him of murder for slaying Homer Lewis, 26, of Elam. Lewis was shot to death Jan. 17 in front of the farmhouse of the parents of Lewis' divorced wife, near Dallas. Mrs. Lewis testified she saw Sims shoot her former husband and declared the slayer was jealous of Lewis and had told her he was going to kill him.

Memphis Ginnings

MEMPHIS, Texas, March 28.—Memphis ginned 22,848 bales of cotton during the 1930 ginning season, according to figures made public this week by the department of commerce, through the bureau of census. The number was counted by running bales, round bales counted as half bales, linters not included. The total showed a decrease of more than 29,000 bales from last season.

CHILD DIES FROM SHOT FIRED THROUGH DOOR

DALLAS, March 28. (AP)—Thomas Allen Goad, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Goad, died today in a hospital from a bullet wound received Monday night when he was shot as he knocked at the door of a neighbor's house to ask the time, so his mother could set a clock.

Mrs. N. M. Wilson, who fired through the door of her house when she asked who was knocking and received no answer, will not be called before the grand jury, authorities said. They have accepted as correct her story that the shooting was accidental.

Building Permits Total $12,500 in Week Just Ended

Building permits in Wichita Falls for the week ended Saturday totaled $12,050, according to figures on file in the office of the city engineer. The largest permit was for a $10,000 house at the corner of Rose and Denver, owned by A. J. Weeth.

The year's total was brought to $33,001 by this week's figure, the largest in several weeks.

ONE DAY'S DANDRUFF

WHEN lazy glands won't open, the hair is starved and faded. WHEN lazy glands don't close, scalp is fouled by secretions.

LAZY GLANDS

A fastidiously clean body; a scalp that's a scandal. The white shame of American women. Dandruff!

Get rid of dandruff. Anyone can. And no one can ever hide it. In its secondary stage, the infested scalp sheds enough dead scale to fill a tablespoon every twenty-four hours!

And a simple treatment will end this disgusting condition!

Dandruff is caused by lazy glands that won't open and close. They need stimulating. You can do this with your finger-tips, dipped in Danderine, to dissolve the gum that has fouled the pores. The worst caked scalp will soften under this massage. There will not be a speck of dandruff after one application.

Do not neglect lazy glands, or the scalp will granulate and leave the hair dry as straw—and as dead. Even its color is affected when roots are starved, and telltale streaks must be "touched up." If you will only stimulate the glands you won't have to use color restorers.

Glands that stay open are just as bad! Hair and scalp get oily and odorous—soil and smell-up hats. Danderine is a positive corrective of this evil condition. It's a real medicine for sick scalps. And its fresh fragrance makes it a delightful thing to brush through the hair as the finishing touch to head daintiness.

And if you doubt that Danderine makes hair grow—measure the length after using one thirty-five cent bottle!

FAMOUS TRADE EXPERT TO BE SPEAKER HERE

M. J. Norrell Will Address Manufacturers and Jobbers Banquet

EXTENSION OF WICHITA SALES TERRITORY SOUGHT

Commerce Chamber Division to Be Host to Local Concerns

M. J. Norrell of Dallas, an official of the Magnolia Petroleum company and widely known authority on matters pertaining to wholesale trade, will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be given by the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce at the Kemp hotel the night of Thursday, April 9, according to the announcement Saturday of J. W. Chatham, chairman of the division.

The banquet is to be given for manufacturers and jobbers of Wichita Falls and every concern of that type will be invited to send two representatives. Invitations are now being distributed and the effort is being made to reach every such concern, regardless of whether they are members of the chamber. If any should be overlooked, the request was made by Mr. Chatham that the chamber of commerce be advised at once.

The invitations are being sent out with the further request that the chamber of commerce be advised of the names of those who will represent the various concerns. Preparations will be made for an attendance of between 200 and 250. The manufacturers and jobbers division is to bear the expense for the two representatives of each various concern. Those invited, however, will be permitted to bring as many guests of their own as they desire. The cover charge for such additional guest will be $1 each.

To Enlarge Territory

The banquet has been arranged, Mr. Chatham explained, for the purpose of discussing plans for enlarging and further developing the trade territory of the manufacturers and jobbers of Wichita Falls.

In addition to Mr. Norrell, it is planned to bring here as another speaker some retail merchant within the Wichita Falls trade area who will be asked to give in plain terms his opinion as to why Wichita Falls out of town jobbing business is not larger, and to make suggestions as to how the manufacturers and jobbers of the city should proceed to get the business of their legitimate territory.

Numerous changes in conditions, Mr. Chatham asserted, of recent years demand that Wichita Falls concerns make a more aggressive effort to obtain the out of town trade. For a number of years during and following the boom, it was about all the local wholesale and jobbing concerns could do to supply their home demands.

But expansion and development within the territory in recent years, the enlarging of the facilities of the concerns here, the construction of paved roads to practically every section of the territory and the fact that Wichita Falls has unusual railroad facilities, Mr. Chatham declared, all are factors that should cause the development of this city as a wholesale and jobbing distribution center.

National Population

"I feel that we have been particularly fortunate in obtaining Mr. Norrell as a speaker at the banquet," Mr. Chatham continued. "His reputation is national, and I can think of no other whom I would prefer for this particular occasion.

"He was a resident of West Texas for many years, and is familiar with our specific problems. For a long period, he was a traveling man for one of our West Texas firms. He resigned that work to go to Dallas to become head of the Dallas Wholesale Merchants association.

"He created that association and built it up to the point of being the largest and probably the most successful organization in the South.

"More recently he has served as manager of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce and president of the Texas National bank of Dallas. At present, he is an executive of the Magnolia Petroleum company. He is an able speaker, has appeared on numerous national programs and is a contributor to Nation's Business, System and other national magazines."

The addresses at the banquet, it was announced, will be followed by a round table discussion.

The first female aeronaut was one Madam Tibe or Thible. She joined the painter, Fleurant, aboard a balloon called the Gustave which ascended at Lyons, France, on June 4, 1784, in the presence of the royal family of France and the King of Sweden.

JEWEL-STUDDED PIERCE-ARROW PHAETON COSTS $125,000

In commemoration of the silver jubilee of the Kansas City Motor Car Dealers association, there was recently exhibited there, a jewel-studded Pierce-Arrow sport phaeton representing an investment of more than $125,000, undoubtedly the largest sum of money ever devoted to an individual motor car.

The car, in keeping with the occasion for which it was built, was finished in silver and upholstered in a special blue leather. Hub caps, instrument panel and gear shifting lever were utilized as mountings for more than $100,000 worth of precious jewels. Diamonds predominated in the glittering decorative scheme. In point of investment, the silver phaeton exceeded even the elaborate gold and white ceremonial Pierce-Arrow delivered to the shah of Persia, last year.

While on display, the silver phaeton was guarded constantly by special details of picked soldiers and private detectives, that the fortune in car and jewels might be kept intact. Even then, inquisitive spectators could not suppress the desire to tamper with the rare gems.

The jeweled beauty is similar to a Pierce-Arrow recently shipped to Delhi, India, as a feature exhibit at the princes' convention, an annual event attended by all the Indian potentates, and considered one of the most elaborate as well as the most exclusive affairs of the East. This car was finished in brilliant red, elaborated by extensive use of chromium plate and stainless steel.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR DAIRY EXHIBIT PLAINVIEW SHOW

PLAINVIEW, Texas, March 28.—Plans for the fourth annual Panhandle Plains Dairy show which will be held in Plainview April 6-9 are rapidly being completed. Testing of cattle to be shown by members will be completed this week. More than 300 head have been tested to date and prospects are that more than 500 will be tested before the work is completed. This work is a new service to the membership by the organization. Advance entries have been received from more counties than for any previous show. Many new breeders will make showings of creditable animals.

Entries for the annual sale on April 9 have closed and the sale committee has completed its inspections and accepted 18 females and six males to be sold. Some of the best individuals in West Texas will be offered in the sale. The sale will attract buyers from Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The main entertainment feature will be a pageant showing the development of dairying in Texas reaching a climax in the crowning of the queen of dairyland. Gov. Ross D. Sterling, Senator Tom Connally and other prominent men have been invited to take part in this event and add their approval to this development work. Princesses and maids of honor who will be dressed as dairy maids will be selected from each community in the 54 counties of the Panhandle Plains district to take part in the ceremony. Each chamber of commerce in the Panhandle Plains territory is requested to organize delegations and attend one or more days. Several towns have already completed arrangements for good delegations to attend the show.

International Wheat Export Pool May Result From Rome Conference Varied Views Cause Much Confusion

ROME, March 28. (AP)—An international wheat export pool, embracing Australia, Canada, Argentina, South Africa and India, and possibly the United States may be an unexpected result of the world's wheat conference here.

There was much confusion in the conference today. Delegates from 46 countries presented practically 46 different views about the solution of the problem of the world wheat surplus.

Non-European nations, however, began holding private meetings today in an effort to hit upon some plan whereby they might oppose the aggressive demands of European nations for a system of preferential tariffs which would mean a virtual boycott by Europe against foreign wheat.

They discussed the plan for the setting up of export boards in each country to manage the sale of surplus wheat abroad, while wheat producers would be asked to turn their surplus over to the boards to be marketed without guarantees.

These national boards, according to the plan discussed, would cooperate with each other to prorate the export trade. Participation of the United States in the plan was said to be very doubtful at the present time since that government does not officially recognize the conference. The two Americans who are here, C. W. Cross, of Aberdeen, South Dakota, representing the American Wheat Growers association, and John A. Simpson, of Oklahoma City, president of the National Farmers Union, are unofficial delegates.

HOLD MAN FOR GRAND JURY IN FATAL AFFRAY

GALVESTON, Texas, March 28. (AP)—Mitchell Frankovich waived examining trial today and was bound over to a grand jury under $1,000 bond when he was arraigned in justice court on a charge of assault to murder in connection with a pistol fight here March 13 in which Clarence Gregory was killed and Frankovich wounded.

John B. Sedgewick was sentenced to not less than two and not more than 20 years by Judge C. G. Dibrell today. Sedgewick was convicted of murder for the killing of William Ruenbuhl.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

A STRONGER LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY TO BETTER SERVE POLICYHOLDERS

BEFORE they joined forces, both the National Security Life Insurance Company of Wichita Falls, and the United Fidelity Life Insurance Company of Dallas, were recognized as strong, progressive, home-owned Companies. Now, with the two Companies operating as one, every policyholder enjoys even a greater security and better service because of the increased size and strength of the Company back of his policy.

The Company now has assets of approximately $3,000,000.00 . . . and insurance in force of approximately $40,000,000.00 on the lives of 25,000 persons.

All policies written by the two Companies will continue to be written, without changes of any kind . . . and every policyholder is assured that he will be able to get additional insurance of the type he now has at any time he wants it.

The Company offers a complete program of insurance for all ages, from birth to 65 years, with many special features designed to meet the needs of the individual and conform to living conditions imposed by modern civilization.

The interests of the policyholder always have been regarded by the Company as being of first importance. All letters from policyholders are given careful attention and all claims are promptly handled. The Company's offices in Wichita Falls and Dallas are now pledged to even a better service to policyholders . . . This consolidation is not only a merger of assets, but of directors and personnel as well, and the high ideals of service for which the Companies have stood individually will be blended and intensified by this expansion.

TO POLICYHOLDERS . . .

Your rights, interests and equities in the life insurance which you hold have been strengthened by this consolidation. Anyone who tries to tell you otherwise or persuades you to drop your policy in favor of one in another company is not your friend, but is merely seeking to further his own selfish interests.

What Good Are High Schools? -:- By Kathleen Norris

MRS. NORRIS

What good are high schools? They cost us millions every year, and what do they accomplish?

They take our girls and boys between the ages of 13 and 18, shut them up in rooms, and try to interest them in algebra, ancient history, dead languages, political and social theories, old English plays and elementary French and Spanish. Smatterings of everything; real knowledge of nothing.

Some of them put in courses of desiccated and pre-digested bookkeeping, stenography, architecture, domestic science. Some of the girls get cooking and dress-making two hours a week.

These restless, eager, life-hungry boys and girls burst out of school at 4 o'clock stifled and distracted by the odds and ends of uninteresting and unrelated information they have had to absorb. They all do as little as they possibly can, to struggle through, content themselves with C and D ratings, and escape from books to any other amusement that offers with all the frenzy of the recently imprisoned.

It is because we keep neither their hands nor their bodies busy that our children are in social rebellion today. They turn to movies, night clubs, dance halls, speakeasies. They rush all over the country in cars, because we have done all we can to bore them, to separate them from real living, to keep them from any genuine contacts with life, with service and real self-training, and knowledge of the value of money.

Which one of them ever actually used high school French or German, unless unusual circumstances forced him to take outside lessons in it?

If a boy is interested, worked to the healthful-fatigue point in a real job, paid so little money in wages that he begins to see exactly what those tens and twenties of dad's are worth, that boy is safe. The exceptionally wild or weak boy may not be, but the average American boy under those conditions is safe.

But if he is yawning, between the hours of 9 and 4, five days a week, over the Greek subjunctive, the Third Crusade, and the Mendelian theory, and idle, spending other persons' money, during every other waking hours, he is not safe.

It is my honest conviction that much of the immorality that distresses every thinking American parent, comes from this pernicious system of pigeon-hole education.

The effect of it appears to be to deflect most of them from what might be their natural interests, to encourage them in inconsequential thinking, idleness, distate for service and for honest living, and to foster in them strangely twisted ideas about spending money, good times, sex and their own nation.

With two complete holidays each week, long summer months of idleness, and Christmas and Easter holidays, they have too much spare time.

Yesterday I visited a family whose breadwinner earns a hard, inflexible $35 a week. There are three children, two in high school. They live in five crowded city rooms. The 17-year-old boy is studying political economy, ancient history, algebra, Latin, chemistry and practical carpentry. He has exactly one hour each week of the last.

The bright, handsome daughter of 15 takes courses in French, medieval history, algebra, Latin, cooking, swimming and domestic science. She was smoking a cigaret as she memorized the data of the Moorish Conquest, about 400 years ago. At a word she became extremely glib on the subject of calories, starches, phosphates. Her mother, ironing busily, looked on with pride. I asked if Jean could cook, and the mother observed mildly that she couldn't, she had to study too hard to do any work at home, and you couldn't expect them to learn much at school, what with two cooking lessons a month.

Public high schools? What good do they do?

This is an extreme case, of course. But there are thousands more or less like it. There are hundreds of thousands of anxious parents, straining to keep their children in high school, struggling to push them still further, into college, anxious and uneasy all the time, appalled by the cost of keeping big, vigorous youngsters in shoes and pocket money—and perhaps defeating themselves in the end.

We all know that the trend in our schools has been toward the practical, that decorations and stenography and dressmaking are indeed creeping into school programs—but we're a long way yet from the light.

Why couldn't the girl or boy of 14, finishing grammar grades, be required to choose a life work? The technical end of the movies or of the radio, store keeping, teaching, hotel management, medicine, nursing, bookkeeping, selling and buying—all could be taught.

But they ought to be taught, not minced and scrambled and sandwiched in between the dates of Greek battles and the sides of a triangle. For three hours, six mornings a week, the boy who wants to be a draughtsman ought to work at drawing, and the girl who wants to be a milliner work on hats. What good will French verbs and plant analysis do either?

And in the afternoon our high school children ought to scatter; one to the milliner's shop, to humbly make herself useful, one to the five-and-ten, to learn how to add ten and five without error, one to the hotel, to sort linen or answer the telephone, one to the actual carpenter's shop, to sweep shavings, until he could do something better.

Such students would come home tired and sobered to supper, and dad would not have to lose his temper trying to find out what on earth they had been doing since 4 o'clock, because he would know.

Such students would go into bigger jobs with some little practical knowledge of what life is, what a job it, what money is. And such students might be willing to spend an occasional evening at home, with a book, because the jarring, fatiguing contact with the real world, all afternoon long, had enhanced the value of home.

More dangerous than even the alcohol question, the motor car and night club and jazz problems, seems to me all this wasted time learning nothing, and this other wasted time that is called holidays, and after-school hours. The boy, already a man, has to ask another man for money to spend for sodas and movies and gas. The girl, at an age when her grandmother was married, was cooking, housekeeping, entertaining, bearing children, is telephoning her chum to ask between two yarns: "What'll we do tomorrow? It's Saturday."

If we could make our high schools real training schools for life, we should hear less of the viciousness of the rising generation. Education is too cheap nowadays; our children place small value on it. Every newspaper is a school; books, magazines, movies, newsreels, the very air bring to them more of science, politics, current events, philosophy, literature, languages, music, than the royal children in Buckingham Palace could get in Victoria's days. Anyone wh owants education and culture can get it today for nothing, and anyone who doesn't is not going to be helped by 25 hours per week of boredom.

Such youngsters as love high school, work hard, get good marks, go gratefully to the movies Saturday nights, and take their share of household labors all the rest of the time perhaps deserve these pleasant years of study. But for restless, uninterested, unsatisfactory students there ought to be no more school. Fourteen or 18, they are ripe for hard work, scarce money and real living.

What use is it to teach them our country's glorious history and constitution, if at the same times they are being set an example on all sides of disloyalty and scorn? Why cram them with French they will only use to read the menu in the speakeasy? Why force them to memorize the dates of the crusades, that holy grail of love for God and neighbor that is the real quest of all our lives?

MRS. NORRIS SAYS:

It is because we keep neither their minds nor their bodies busy that our children are in social rebellion today. They turn to movies, night clubs, dance halls, speakeasies. They rush all over the country in cars, because we have done all we can to bore them, to separate them from real living, to keep them from any genuine contact with life, with service and real self-training, and knowledge of the value of money.

If a boy is interested, worked to the healthful-fatigue point, in a real job, paid so little money in wages that he begins to see exactly what those tens and twenties of dad's are worth, that boy is safe.

But if he is yawning between the hours of 9 and 4, five days a week, over the Greek subjunctive, the Third Crusade, and the Mendelian theory, and idle, spending other persons' money, during every other waking hours, he is not safe.

There are hundreds of thousands of anxious parents, straining to keep their children in high school, struggling to push them still further, into college, anxious and uneasy all the time, appalled by the cost of keeping big, vigorous youngsters in shoes and pocket money—and perhaps defeating themselves in the end.

If we could make our high schools real training schools for life, we should hear less of the viciousness of the rising generation. Education is too cheap nowadays; our children place small value on it.

Anyone who wants education and culture can get it today, for nothing.

Such youngsters as love high school, work hard, get good marks, go gratefully to the movies Saturday nights, and take their share of household labors all the rest of the time perhaps deserve these pleasant years of study. But for restless, uninterested, unsatisfactory students there ought to be no more school. Fourteen or 18, they are ripe for hard work, scarce money and real living.

Scientists Detect Misfortune in Hundreds Lives Telling Fortunes By Means X-Ray Picture of Bones

CLEVELAND, March 28. (AP)—Telling fortunes by X-ray pictures of bones, scientists here have been able to detect misfortune in hundreds of lives.

Instead of using the lines of the palms of the hands to get an insight into human life, they study the shadow lines in X-ray pictures, or roentgenograms of hands, arms, legs and all other bones of the skeletons.

The pictures show the soft cartilagenous bones of the infant faintly and disconnected. They show how the opaque lime material flows into the bones as they mature to give strength and proper form. The pictures also show retardations of bone development, how some misfortune of disease or misery has interfered with maturation.

Described By Dr. Todd

These observations are described in the April issue of the Survey Graphic by Dr. T. Wingate Todd, head of the department of anatomy at Western Reserve university's medical school, and director of the Brush foundation, which is carrying on scientific studies for the betterment of the human race.

"Among the chemical mechanisms of the body stimulating and controlling the growth features are certain glands of internal secretions of which the best known is the thyroid gland of the neck," Dr. Todd says. "Activity in this group of glands is related in expression to maturation of the bones.

"Defects in the chemical mechanisms are registered in growth and development deficiencies of the skeleton. And these skeletal deficiences are, in their turn, usually associated with general bodily defect."

Research engineers have developed a new radio device that not only finds the source of electrical interference noises, but measures their intensity as well.

PERMANENT PASTURES AID MILK PRODUCTION

LA GRANGE, Texas, March 28.—The establishment of 195 permanent pastures in Fayette county in 1930 has helped to increase whole milk sales in the county from a bare 16,000 pounds a year ago to over 53,000 pounds daily in February, states W. H. DuPuy, farm demonstration agent. More than 100 additional permanent pastures were seeded down in the county last month with over 8,000 pounds of clover and grass seeds. The pasture combination consists of Bermuda, rescue and dallis grasses, and the following legumes: Bur clover, yellow blossoming sweet clover, white Dutch clover, black medic, and Kobe and Korean leapedeza.

An English chemist has perfected a paint which is so affected by the sun's rays that it appears black in the daytime and white at night.

Times' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek. Third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

GOING CALLING WITH A SIX-SHOOTER

The Mexico City newspaper, Excelsior, has raised a rather pointed question. Commenting upon Mr. Hoover's visits to South America and the West Indies, Excelsior wonders why he always has to travel in a battleship.

It does look just a little like going to pay a social call wearing a six-shooter under one's coat. On the other hand, custom has o. k.'d it. A battleship gives a presidential visit a dignity it might otherwise lack. And after all, a battleship that is being used for formal and peaceful purposes is much less apt to start shooting than one that isn't.

A CONTEST IN PROSPECT

There are prospects of another lively contest in this congressional district next year. If Congressman Guinn Williams' health permits him to seek re-election he will have opposition. If he should decide not to again seek the place there will be a lively scramble to succeed him.

The first to definitely announce for the place is Dr. C. J. Sherrill of Bellevue, now a member of the legislature. Another legislator, Fred Minor of Denton, now speaker of the house, is understood to be turning his eyes and his thoughts Washington-ward. Ex-Senator W. D. McFarlane of Graham has not discarded his congressional ambitions and is likely to again be in the race if Young county remains in this district. If redistricting is effected it will likely add two more counties to the district and perhaps one of them will have a candidate.

Wichita Falls is fairly certain to have one candidate for the place, and may have two or three. In the district as a whole there are nearly a dozen individuals willing to be called, and keeping their ears to the ground so as to be sure to hear the call if it is made.

TINKERING WITH TAXES

More than two score of revenue measures are pending in the house at Austin. Under the constitution revenue-raising measures must originate in the house. The revenue bills, the tobacco tax and the home insurance company tax, have been killed. The natural gas tax has been passed, being the only one of the revenue measures to get by in the house.

Among those remaining are measures proposing taxes on oleomargarine, jute, moving pictures, express companies, pipe lines, carbon black, sulphur, gross oil production (increase), intangible assets, lumber, salt, mortgage liens, malt extract, life insurance agencies and the income tax.

The house seems to look with disfavor on new taxes that are of general application, such as the tobacco and insurance taxes which have been defeated, and with more favor on taxes that hit some special section, such as the natural gas tax. It is probable that the sulphur tax will be increased, and that most of the new taxes on the oil industry will be approved.

The confusion which prevails with regard to revenue measures emphasizes the need, so often pointed out and as often ignored, of an exhaustive legislative survey of the tax problem as a whole. The legislature is tinkering, tinkering, when it ought to be remodeling.

THE HOUSE REDISTRICTING BILL

The congressional redistricting bill which the house at Austin passed last Wednesday has its merits and its faults. Its merits are that it is fair to West Texas, giving this region two additional seats; that it maintains fairly well the proper balance of population as between the districts. Its chief fault is that it quite unnecessarily createst a new district in East Texas and thus throws two members of the present congress into the same district.

Enough quibbling objections can be raised to it to perhaps block its passage in the senate. If that happens, it means that Texas' three additional congressmen will be elected at large and nobody seems to know just what the method of their election would be. Some lawyers think that there could be no run-off election provided for, and that the three who received the largest number of votes would be the nominees. When Texas was electing two congressmen at large, there were usually from 12 to 20 candidates. With three places to be filled there would probably be more. It is a situation that should be avoided at all costs.

The house bill throws Congressman Clay Briggs of Galveston and Congressman Mansfield of Columbus into the same district. Of the two, Mr. Mansfield appears to be more valuable to Texas. He is the ranking Democratic member of the important rivers and harbors committee. Mr. Briggs' chief committee assignment is on the merchant marine committee, a relatively unimportant one. The interests of these two, as well as the ambitions of a number of senators, make it very doubtful that the senate will agree to a congressional redistricting bill at this session.

It is to be hoped that an agreement can be effected. The best interests of Texas demand that a redistricting bill be passed at this session. To make it necessary to elect three congressmen at large would to a great extent vitiate the purpose of reapportionment.

This immediate section cannot complain of the bill. Ours is to be a larger district, if the house bill becomes the law, but it is well in line with the population ratio. If more counties must be added, Foard and Hardeman are the logical ones to add. Otherwise, the district remains as it has been. This section is concerned, however, with the enactment of a redistricting bill that is fair to all Texas and that avoids the election of congressmen at large.

BEAUMONT PLANS TO CELEBRATE

Beaumont is making plans to celebrate its 50th anniversary. It ought to celebrate in elaborate style, for it has something to celebrate. With port facilities, oil, lumber, rice and other things contributing to its prosperity, it can take pride in the present and look with confidence to the future.

The history of Beaumont in the years following the oil boom that first gave it city status is of interest to Wichitans because of the lesson that it holds for Wichita Falls. When Beaumont's oil boom subsided, about a quarter of a century ago, it underwent some experience to which Wichita Falls is no stranger. One was the inevitable reaction, due to depletion of its income. Another was that of seeing the oil companies move away from it to Houston, just as they later moved away from Wichita Falls to Fort Worth, Dallas and Tulsa.

Beaumont set about to repair the damage and it centered upon the port possibilities as its biggest asset. It has made of itself the outlet for the oil, lumber and rice that Southeast Texas produces. It is still an oil center, but it no longer looks to oil for its prosperity. It simply took full advantage of its other natural resources. How well it has succeeded is attested by the fact that it is now the sixth city in Texas in point of population, and that it is growing steadily and healthily.

Wichita Falls' opportunity differs from that of Beaumont, but it is no less promising an opportunity for that. The prosperity that comes from oil is too transient. It is as slippery as the oil itself. A presperity based on agriculture is surer and more enduring. Beaumont has found it out.

Borrowed Beauty in Religion

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)

Some days ago I wrote approvingly of the effort everywhere evident to bring beauty back to the buildings and services of churches that have long lived in ugly shelters and held themselves aloof from beauty of ritual.

I have had many letters of protest, from one angle or another of the question, written by Simon pure Protestants.

In the light of these letters, I should like to say these further words on beauty in religion:

Frankly I am a little uneasy over the fact that so much of the beauty that is being introduced into hitherto non-ritualistic churches is a borrowed beauty.

I enter an ancient cathedral in Europe and I enter into the calm of the ages; the spirit of countless saints and martyrs commune with mine; I am encompassed about by a cloud of witnesses that speak words of mellow wisdom into my ear; I see again the folk of a countryside melting their might together in a communal creation of a great cathedral.

It is all quite different from a Gothic cathedral run quickly up in a modern city through the effort of astutely managed "drives" for money and machine processes of carving and construction.

Beauty of building or ritual is not an alien something that can be imported and imposed upon a barren religious enterprise.

The best beauty in religion is not so much a creator of religion as it is the creature of religion.

I sometimes wonder whether a people has a right to a cathedral it could not create out of its own spiritual aspiration and artistic genius!

And a people is renegade to religion if it uses beauty as a narcotic to deaden the imperative demands of personal and social duty.

Ritual that dulls the passion for a progressive reconstruction of the social order is a handicap rather than a help to religion.

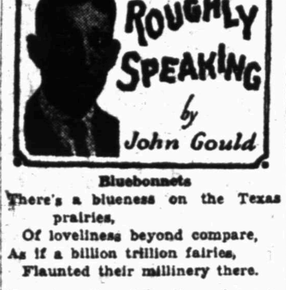

A religion that fosters beauty in its churches and accepts ugliness in its factories is half-blind.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I know that there is no good in them, but for a man to rejoice and to do good in his life—Ecclesiastes 3:12.

Bluebonnets

There's a blueness on the Texas prairies,
Of loveliness beyond compare,
As if a billion trillion fairies,
Flaunted their millinery there.

Too soon, they take them down to put away,
They're shown for just a little while,
But now they're out in stupendous array,

This is the first time in many years that we have been privileged to be in this part of Texas when the bluebonnets are abloom. We had not forgotten the beauty they bring to Texas at this time of the year—it isn't the sort of thing one can forget—but the years had dimmed the picture more than we realized. We doubt if there is anything, anywhere, to compare with it. Artists have tried to paint it, but there is something about it that oil and pigment cannot capture. One has to see the prairies decked with these flowers, stretching away until their blue mingles at the horizon with that of the Texas sky, to know the real loveliness of them.

It is planned to bring many visitors to this state in 1932, when Texas celebrates its centennial. If they can be brought here when the bluebonnets are in bloom, they will carry away with them an impression of Texas that none will ever forget.

In coming down here to Austin for a few days, we are following the example of President Hoover, Mayor Walker and Chairman Legge of the farm board. Recently each of them has decided to Get Away From It All. That is what we came to Austin to do.

We rise to remark, however, that this is a heck of a place in which to try to Get Away From It All. Between legislators, lobbyists, prorationists, anti-prorationists and all, it is about the worst place imaginable for one seeking restful solitude and the opportunity to commune with nature and one's own scul.

Still and all, we have enjoyed it. We haven't done much communing with nature but there have been many times when that sort of communion has seemed a good idea. After an hour or two of listening to the proration hearing, communion with nature offers attractions we hadn't previously considered. If we thought that we might roam out somewhere into the bluebonnet-clad plains on the green-robed hills without stumbling on a committee meeting of East Texans, we might try it. But the East Texans are everywhere. You are apt as not to comb a bunch of them out of your hair when making your toilet.

One thing that bothers us here at Austin is that we are always meeting old friends and that they invariably call us Johnny and ask us, "Well, what are you doing now?" in a tone of voice that sounds as if they never expected us to amount to anything and are anxious to confirm their expectations.

There is one consolation, however, in such encounters. We have surprised a good many of the folks who knew us as a lad because their firm belief at that time, relative to our future, was that we would wind up in the penitentiary. So far, we have escaped that.

It is funny how few folks turn out as adults in the way you expected them to. When you get back to your old home town, you find that the boys you expected to turn out badly are among the leading business men of the town. You find some who gave every promise of being somebody who have gotten nowhere at all. They say as the twig is bent the tree is inclined, but you can find some sturdy trees that were mighty ornery as twigs. When folks try to put human nature into formulas they run into trouble.

As this is written the legislature is getting into the final 60 days of the session, having passed very few bills, and having a mountainous heap of legislation awaiting its attention. It reminds me of one of these old East Texas nestors, of whom Austin has seen so many this week, trying to eat a $1.50 table d'hote dinner that somebody else is paying for. He would like to eat it all but his digestive tract isn't equal to the task.

The legislature has before it a lot more than it can possibly digest. As a result it is either going to leave a lot of things on the table or acquire one awful spell of indigestion. Some members realize the dangers in the situation, and are talking of advocating a system whereby the legislature would not remain in session four months continuously, but hold a number of brief meetings at intervals throughout the two-year term.

To watch the legislators a bit,
Part of the time they sit and think,
And part of the time, just sit.

Several dozen Wichitans have been in Austin this week. We wish to state that the conduct of each and all of them has been exemplary. They have been models of sobriety and decorum. Their relatives and friends need have no fears as to their conduct while here. And now, having publicly gone on record as to their behavior, we shall expect them, if occasion requires, to be equally complimentary as to our own.

The Wichitans probably felt very much at home. There is hard water here, too.

Not that the quality of the water was of any concern to the folks from East Texas, however.

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By LEE PAPE

Illustrations by Benny Potts

Me and pop was taking a wawk before supper, and there was a lot of peeple on a corner lissening to a man trying to sell them razors.

Being a fat man with 2 gold teeth in frunt to match his red mustash, saying, I tell you, gentlemen, its the opportunity of a lifetime. Its more than that, brothers, its the bargain of the century. Think of it, fokes, tomorrow an Eletricko Self Adjusting Razor will cost 5 dollers of any mans money, but today that same perfek shaving instrument can be had, as long as limited sipply holds out, for the rediculies sum of one doller. Simply as an avvertizing experiment, brothers, meerly as a meens of interducing the last werd in shaving comfort to men with enough common sents and scientific nollege to seeze the opportunity before its too late. And before I start handing these few remaining sampels out at the insignificant, absurd price of one doller, I will explain for the benefit of new arrivals that the Elecktro Self Adjusting Razor, founded on a new scientific patented principal, is the ony razor on the market today wich automatically and infallibly adjusts itself to the particular individual texture of your beard, scientifically changing its angle so as to get the maximum effect with the minimum effort. It cannot fail, brothers, because why? Because it is pure, absilute science, just as much as Einsteins theory or the law of gravitation. Now, boys, everybody who wunts to know the sensation of having a skin like a baby, step up and get an Elecktro Self Adjuster while they last for the laffably small sum of one doller.

And he started to hand them out and men started to push each other trying to buy one, me saying, Are you going to get one, pop?

Well, as one of the grate army of men in serich of the perfeck shave, I am strongly tempted, but as one of the even greater army who have been bernt buying things on street corners, I think I shall have sufficient will power to keep my eagerly fluttering doller in my nice warm pockit, pop sed.

Being a thin man with a green necktie, and pop sed, I see youve lerned the lesson yourself.

Yes I have, the man sed. But just the same this particular case seems to be the exception that proves the rule. I bawt one of this fellows razors yestidday, and this morning I tried it out, and believe it or not, stranger, it was more like dusting my beard off with a feather duster than scraping it off with cold steel. It was like magic, thats what it was like, it gave me the hrill of my life, and if I can pass the good werd along to other suffering soles Im ony too glad to do it, he sed.

Thanks fer the tip, it sounds good to me, pop sed.

And he took out a doller and bawt one, the fat man saying, Thank you, brother, just a few minits later and they'd all of been gone. Step up, any other of you men who wunt a shave thats as smooth as an angel's kiss, just a few more left, he sed.

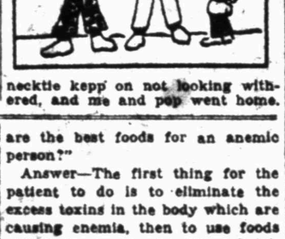

And me and pop kepp on going, me saying, Dou you reely bleeve its going to be so grate, pop?

I reely shouldent be serprised if Id found the perfeck razor at last, pop sed.

And after a while we terned around and started to wawk home again, and there was another crowd of men on the corner lissening about the razors, me saying, G, pop, look whose selling them this time.

Being the thin man with the green necktie, pop saying Yee gods stung again, Im going to stand here till I catch his eye, I wunt to wither him with a look.

And we stood there about 5 minits and the man with the green necktie kepp on not looking withered, and me and pop went home.

Sneezing and Yawning

Breathing is so essential to life that whenever there is an interference with the air supply the body takes violent means of remedying the situation. If some particle enters the nose, we sneeze. It it enters the bronchial tubes, we cough. A person who feels himself strangling will go through the most violent contortions in order to secure a good supply of air.

The nose is not only an organ for smelling, it is the guardian of the lungs. If some irritating substance is breathed, such as small particles of dust, or many types of gasses, which might cause an injury to the lungs, sensitive nerves in the nose report the situation to the brain, which issues an order to sneeze—a process of expelling the air so forcibly as to dislodge and discharge the irritant. The smaller particles of dust in the air we breathe are caught in the filter system of the nose which consists of small hairs and a sticky mucous lining.

Sneezing also protects the body against irritating light. As you have probably noticed when looking at the sun, you react by sneezing. This is a reflex whihc covers the eyeball with tears.

Just before catching a cold one usually has a fit of sneezing. This is because of acid exudations which are thrown out through the mucous membranes of the nose, and produce an irritation on the nerve endings.

While many people have probably tried it, no one has yet been able to commit suicide by holding his breath. This is because there is a very sensitive spot in the brain that watches over the amount of carbon dioxid which is present in the blood. If the small percentage of carbon dioxid contained in the blood increases, the sensitive brain cells send an impulse to the lungs which forces them to start working again, and we immediately begin to inhale unusually deeply so that we can expel the carbon dioxid that is irritating the brain cell.

Most of us develop lazy habits of breathing so that our body requires an extra supply of fresh air. Perhaps the air which we are inhaling is not as pure as it should be, or we are tired and do not fill our system with a fresh supply of oxygen. The brain then issues a command for us to stretch and yawn so that by inhaling we will absorb more oxygen, and by stretching we will stimulate our sluggish circulation.

All of us have had the experience of yawning because we see somebody else doing so. We do this because while we should have more oxygen we do without because of laziness. The eyes, upon seeing someone else taking in a fresh supply of air, report this to the brain, which, having its attention called to the incident, sends a command to the lungs to absorb more oxygen. This is on the same principle that when we see someone eating delicious food we find our appetites aroused. It is invigorating to go through the form of stretching and yawning whenever you feel tired.

An obstruction in the bronchial tubes produces coughing which tends to dislodge an obstruction in much the same manner that the explosion of gunpowder will dislodge and push forward a bullet. The most frequent obstructions of the breathing apparatus are of a mucus or catarrhal nature. These troubles can almost always be remedied by the proper dietetic measures.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Anemia

Question—M. H. H. asks: "What are the best foods for an anemic person?"

Answer—The first thing for the patient to do is to eliminate the excess toxins in the body which are causing enemia, then to use foods rich in iron and other blood building elements. These are found mostly in the greens, such as spinach, watercress, beet tops, etc.

Whole Grains

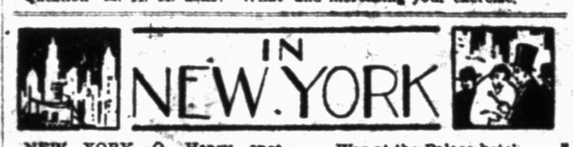

Question—A. G. writes: "In regard to the whole grains, I have been making wholewheat meal. How about buckwheat used in the same way, hulls and all?"

Answer—Any of the whole grains may be ground up and used in the same way in which the wholewheat meal is used.

Thyroid Tablets

Question—Mary K. asks: "Will you please tell me the symptoms of the lack of secretion of the thyroid gland? I once very foolishly took reducing tablets which were supposed to work on the thyroid gland. Ever since, I have been troubled with throat disturbances."

Answer—One with lack of secretion of the thyroid gland is liable to get fat and feel sluggish. Supplying the thyroid extract through tablet form can at best give only temporary relief. Under this treatment the weight will be reduced, the heart made to beat faster, and extreme nervousness will develop. The symptoms induced from taking overdoses of thyroid extract are much worse than for the patient to remain fat and sluggish. The only sensible way to reduce weight is through reducing your food intake and increasing your exercise.

NEW YORK.—O. Henry once wrote a tale of a "true coamopolite"—a fellow whose feet knew no home and whose state of mind was international.

Yet he engaged in a free-for-all fight in a Manhattan cafe because someone made slurring remarks about his two-by-four home town in Maine.

And true it is that New Yorkers who come from the outside—and that is almost everyone—leap at the first opportunity of meeting a fellowman from their own particular "neck of the woods."

Thus the barber is likely to halt in the middle of a haircut to observe: "Say, you've got a sort of western accent . . . where did you come from? . . . What? . . . San Francisco? . . . Well, well, I was out there at the time of the fair. . . . Was at the Palace hotel. . . ."

And so it goes. It doesn't mean a thing. But it helps to clear up memories that are gathering cobwebs.

Strangers standing at lunch counters or at speakeasy bars hear a word dropped about their home port and nervously wait a chance to get into the conversation.

"You don't mind, do you—but I happen to come from there myself. . . . And it's certainly good to hear about it. How long's it been since you were out there? . . . Say did you ever know . . ."

And there's the man or the woman you actually knew pretty well back home. And he comes to town. There is a very avalanche of hometowners upon his neck. He is dragged around to parties and questioned and cross-questioned until he grows a bit dizzy.

State societies flourish. A couple of young men have grown wealthy selling hometown papers.

Sometimes this latent hometown pride leads to situations almost as amusing as that imagined by O. Henry.

Not so long ago, a number of good ex-residents of Indiana decided to have a dinner for Joe Cook, the eminent clown, who was a son of their state.

Many dignitaries were invited and the chef of the particular hotel selected for the banquet was more than passingly anxious to put on a spread of foods that would have a "hometown" flavor.

Somehow, the chef got his dishes mixed and began to prepare chicken a la Maryland. Now to you or to me this would be a perfectly all right notion.

But it appears that the national chicken dish of Indiana is fixed without the dipping-in-batter process. At the last moment, the chicken appeared a la Indiana. And all was well!

Speaking of which reminds me that any number of cafes in New York cater to "special dishes" that remind visitors of the hometown or native lands.

There are places where the chicken and waffles appear from the hands of a colored mammy; places where the ham appears with a certain raisin sauce; places where the beans are western style and where they are Boston style; places that have special nights for special plates; places where corn bread is served hot from the tins, and places where you can get pie with your breakfast, if you insist.

And to all and sundry such are drawn the vagrant children of the varied states—all sitting apart and eyeing each other with an inquiring glance, as though to ask: "What part of the state did you come from, stranger?"

—GILBERT SWAN.

Choice
By Edgar A. Guest

I understand the man who cries
Against my scorn for pumpkin pies,
From differing tastes our views arise.

There is a reason deep and true
Why some think red a fairer hue
Than green or yellow, pink or blue.

'Gainst choice in dress or food or play,
Or hymns to sing the Sabbath Day,
I have no carping word to say.

But when another whispers low:
"No heed to all his vileness show.
He's rich, and therefore good to know."

I find I cannot comprehend
Why merely having gold to spend
Fits any man to be a friend.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON. — Conservatives of the Old Guard school are always shooting at the direct primary system and the progressives continue to defend it as warmly as ever. This battle, in which both sides appear to feel deeply and keenly, has been going on for years, so its recent skirmishes are not any new story except as they have developed new incidents of especial interest. For instance:

1. Al Smith, who as governor and presidential candidate displayed several of the unmistakable earmarks of a progressive, scandalized nearly all the other progressives by asserting that he had decided that the primary system was a failure.

2. The legislatures of Minnesota and Montana considered measures which would have done away with their state-wide primaries.

3. Progressive Republicans, following the recent progressive conference here, considered the suggestion to enter an opponent to President Hoover in most or all of the 17 states which have presidential primaries in 1932.

Voters Take Little Interest

Arguments against the direct primaries are, briefly: Voters take little interest in political contests until election time. Party responsibility is essential and the primary system enables parties to shirk responsibility although political leaders are nevertheless still able to control the system. Small minorities can dominate nominations through the primary. Often the best available men for office refuse to enter such a hurly-burly free-for-all as a primary. The system results in election of incompetents. It requires large expenditures of money.

The principal answers to that sort of thing are: Primaries are the only means the people have to express their preference; without them they must choose between two boss-picked candidates between whom there is often little choice. The system has often enabled the voters to oust reactionary men who have "sold out" to the selfish interests which dominate party organizations. It brought an end to the "good old party convention" which was characterized by corruption, bribery, vote buying and promises of patronage. The political bosses can always control a convention, but they can't always control a primary. Poor men whom the people really want in office don't have to spend much money and wealthy crooks who spend large sums to be nominated in primaries have to spend them more honestly than they used to on conventions.

Smith Draws Fire

Al Smith deeply pained many of his progressive friends by declaring against the primaries. Al said that he had originally thought the primaries a grand thing, but that 18 years of experience had convinced him otherwise. He soon learned, however that it was taking more than 18 years to convince most of the other old friends of primaries. They felt that Smith had lined himself up with all the political bosses in the country and the wealthy boys who stood behind them.

His was the first widely published attack on the primary system since that of Congressman Will Wood of Indiana, one of the most important Republican leaders. It was the same sort of attack previously uttered by such conservatives as Senator Dave Reed of Pennsylvania and Charles G. Dawes. Among those who hastened to pan Al for his new views were Senators Capper of Kansas, La Follette of Wisconsin and Walsh of Massachusetts. The progressive conference also endorsed the primary system.

The proposal to kill off the primaries in Montana—primaries which have produced Senators Tom Walsh and Burt Wheeler—has been definitely killed in the state legislature. The bill to abolish primaries in Minnesota, strongly opposed by Senator Shipstead, appears reasonably certain to meet a similar fate.

About 40 states now have nominating primaries for state-wide election contests and figures show that voters have taken an increasing interest in them. New York, which abandoned its primaries about 10 years ago, is the only one among the several largest states which does without them.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Jaundice is the result of the spread of bile throughout the body.

Bile is formed in the liver and passes from the liver into the gallbladder and into the intestines. If anything happens to prevent its passing in this manner, it is picked up by the blood and carried throughout the body. The skin and the whites of the eyes turn yellow and most of the excretions are colored.

There is a condition of mild inflammation of the bile ducts which temporally prevents the passing of bile out of the body. This is called catarrhal jaundice and usually clears up with careful medical treatment.

It may sometimes be associated with similar inflammation of the stomach and of the intestines associated with absorption of bile and there may be itching of the skin and perhaps even a depression, such as melancholia. When the bile begins to discharge, these symptoms begin to disappear.

There are other conditions associated with jaundice, however, which demand surgical attention. Stones can form in the gallbladder and block the passing of the bile out of the gallbladder. In such cases only a surgical operation will result in complete removal of the stones.

Indeed, it is customary in such cases, because of the fact that the stones tend to form rapidly, to remove the gallbladder entirely. A person can do without a gallbladder, since it apparently acts merely as a storage place for extra bile and when it is removed the bile goes directly from the liver to the intestines.

Tumors in the liver or tumors in the region of the bile ducts may cause pressure upon them or close them off in such a manner as to prevent a discharge of bile into the intestines. Jaundice also occurs in cases of this kind.

EVERYTHING READY FOR OPENING OF FREE COOKING SCHOOL

Mrs. Frances Northcross to Present Series of Lectures Under Auspices Of Daily Times and Record News

Everything is ready for the opening of The Times-Record News free cooking school Tuesday at the Memorial auditorium. Mrs. Frances Northcross, who will conduct the four classes starting Tuesday afternoon, is busy putting the final touches to the stage setting. Everybody will want to see this fine display in actual use, and everyone will be welcome to do so. For the benefit of those arriving early, the doors will be opened at 1 o'clock. Preceding each session a musical program will be presented. Mrs. Northcross will begin the demonstrations promptly at 2 o'clock.

The stage is a modern setting for a series of very practical talks that will be helpful to every woman present. The pleasing personality of Mrs. Northcross, supplemented by her refreshing humor, will make the sessions interesting, as well as instructive. The subjects to be discussed will include many phases of housekeeping, such as planning of meals, buying of foodstuffs, proper use of utensils and appliances, table settings and budgets. The far-reaching benefits of such a course of lectures by so notable an authority will make the cooking school an especially worthwhile event. Mrs. Northcross has had many years of experience, resulting in a nation-wide reputation for bringing timely hints on the world's oldest and most important calling, that of coping with the responsibilities of a home.

The recipes demonstrated each day will be printed and distributed at the hall. These will be in handy program form to be taken home and filed with other cookery material for future use.

To Answer Questions

A few questions prepared now on any subject bearing on cooking or home economics in general will help greatly to make the cooking school of individual benefit. Blanks will be distributed at the hall for this purpose and collected daily by the ushers. Mrs. Northcross will answer these questions from the platform at each session, at least as far as time will permit.

Be sure to take advantage of the opportunity to be presented at the conclusion of each class, to go upon the platform and inspect the various dishes prepared and for closer scrutiny of the appliances used by the lecturer. On display also will be the many very handsome gifts donated by Wichita Falls merchants for distribution at the last session on Friday.

Market baskets filled with food products donated by manufacturers and local food distribtuors will be awarded each day. These baskets will be especially welcome to any housewife in the preparation of daily menus.

It is suggested that pencil and notebook be placed now where they will not be overlooked Tuesday. They will both come in very handy at each class for jotting down hints for immediate application at home.

The Memorial auditorium Tuesday will witness the beginning of an unusually helpful series of lectures. Everything is ready for the comfort of womenfolk who will undoubtedly attend to the full capacity of the hall.

Everyone is cordially invited to attend, with friends and neighbors. Come early for the best seats. Doors will be open at 1 o'clock, with a bit of music for entertainment before Mrs. Northcross starts her talks sharply at 2 o'clock.

FLASHES Of LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—Perhaps the lady was joking. After reading a telegram of regret from Lou Tellegen that he could not attend a luncheon of authors (Lou wrote a book), Edith M. Stern, the hostess, said: "Mr. Tellegen has recently undergone a facial renovation operation. His doctor advises him that his face is still just a shade too pink and that a bit of retouching and a few minor alterations are necessary."

LOS ANGELES.—An eaglet, his leg blasted out of a cliff, has been hatched in an incubator and is hobnobbing with baby chicks. When it comes that time for the primal urge to eat his birth fellows he will be presented to an aviary.

NEW YORK.—Miss Ingeborg Mary Alice Meissner has had her first airplane ride from New York to her home in Stratford, Conn. Miss Ingeborg is 10 days old. A little gurgling on her part was translated by George Meissner, her father, a German war ace, into "I had a very enjoyable time."

WASHINGTON.—Two congressmen went to Europe on a foreign ship; several hundred postmasters planned holidays via foreign ships, the organizers of a patriotic children's pilgrimage booked a foreign ship. When a fellow is assistant postmaster general in charge of stimulating the American merchant marine such things are downright annoying. It was too late for Assistant Postmaster Glover to catch the congressmen, but he got the postmasters to change their minds.

NEW YORK.—Lionel Atwill acquired a bride of social prominence last June. Now his dressing room has chintz curtains, overstuffed chairs, globes of silver for grease paint, flowers bending out of china swans. Sighs Mr. Atwill: "I feel like a Barrymore."

TOULOUSE, France.—Passengers from France to Spain heretofore had to change trains because Spanish rails are narrower gauge than French rails. A new invention makes possible the changing of wheels instead, and the passengers remain on the same train, undisturbed.

Odorless Skunk Without Stripe Result Breeding

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 28. (AP)—And now, if you please, the eugenic polecat.

The much maligned skunk, mephitis if you want to get real formal about it, is on the way to losing its one claim to notoriety.

Stanley F. Sharpe, owner of a fur farm at Fishers, near here, made his bow today as one of the benefactors of mankind with the announcement that through his breeding experiments the odorless skunk has come to stay.

Not only has careful breeding, supplemented by veterinary surgery, removed the objectionable feature of close companionship with the wood pussy, Sharpe claims, but the animals also are stripeless.

Although his experiments are not fully concluded, Sharpe feels his eugenic and hygienic polecats have reached a stage of development where he may offer them to the nation's fur market with highly profitable results.

ABE MARTIN — ON TH' INDUSTRY O' KNOCKING

Fleein' From th' Anvil Chorus

Ther's one great an' growin' industry in this country employin' hundreds o' thousands o' people in ever' city, nook an' hamlet that's not losin' any sleep on account o' President Hoover's program, and that's th' business o' KNOCKIN'.

Ther's allus been a little knockin' goin' on here an' there since th' beginnin' o' time, but it has operated under th' sobriquet o' backbitin' an' wuz widely scattered. But somehow it got in with th' vanguard o' our country's progress an' t'day it is regarded as a matter o' course, jest th' same as th' typesettin' machine an' th' straight front corset. It is one o' our established customs. It seems t' be impossible t' make th' most commonplace remark without leadin' up t' a knock. Th' one thing above all others, t' my mind, that has furnished more real practice fer th' anvil chorus is th' automobile. What a relief it must be fer a poor auto owner t' git away from his neighbors, spin along th' quiet country lanes an' be able t' look int' th' faces o' smilin' cows an' friendly woodpeckers.

If knockers don't know anything mean about somebuddy they'll change th' subject. Ambitious wives with poor husbands make th' worst knockers, unless it's a bookkeeper with 12 children. Even at a weddin' knockers are ambushed behind banks o' sweet smellin' blooms, or tall stately palms, waitin' fer a burst o' laughter or th' low mumblin' tones o' th' organ that they may put over a well aimed knock without bein' heard. At th' banquet table, where good cheer an' friendship are supposed t' abide, th' knocker sits with glass turned down an' fumbles his roquefort cheese while he waits fer a chance t' slip one over. When a new baby come t' brighten th' home an' fond neighbors flock t' shower congratulations or run t' th' drug store, th' knocker is th' first one t' jolly th' mother an' chuch th' tiny pink stranger under th chin—an' th' first one t' go away an' make fun o' its nose.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE IS DOWNFALL OF LAWTON YOUTH CARRYING BOOZE

When Sheriff Neal Christian and two deputies stopped their car at the gate of a farmhouse, one mile and a half west of Lawton, to make inquiry wholly unofficial, a young man dashed out the door, jumped into a model A Ford roadster at hand and headed full steam away from there. The car "took" a fence without halting and attempted to plow through a garden but the soil was too soft and it stalled.

Naturally the officers wondered as to the cause of the young fellow's hurry and had started in pursuit. When the trio reached the car the fellow was engaged in destroying jars which contained liquor, but there was too much liquor aboard for the time he had at his disposal, and four full gallons were taken into possession.

Little Theater Now Rehearsing Satirical Comedy, 'Why Marry?' For Six-Day Showing in April

By MRS. EWING A. WATKINS

Due to the indefinite postponement of the state Little Theater tournament, the Wichita Falls Little Theater has deferred showing its tournament play, "Hell Bent for Heaven," and will present in its place on April 13, its original selection for May, Jessie Lynch Williams' clever satire on marriage, "Why Marry?"

In contrast to the heavy mystery element in the recent "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," this ironical critique on marriage and divorce scores high in subtle comedy and drama slightly tinged with satire. In her discerning manner Miss Williams has drawn vivid pictures of eight modern Americans and their views on divorce. Views ranging from indifferent condonations to fanatical disapproval.

Since Helen Grey has worked hard to attain the position of assistant to Ernest Hamilton, rising young scientist, she can see no reason why she should give up her work because she has unwillingly fallen in love with her co-worker, and less reason for handicapping Hamilton in his pursuit for germ-killing toxins by marrying him and living on part of his meager salary. But, since John Grey has educated his sister and given in to her desire for so unwomanly a thing as a career, he can not understand how she can be so unconventional as to work with her lover in an unchaperoned laboratory, or why she refuses his last hope for the preservation of her womanhood—that of marrying her scientist and making their close association respectable.

Rapid fire action takes place in the beautiful solarium of John Grey's country home. Since the discussion of marriage is entirely between members of the strong-willed Grey family, the debate grows heated and sometimes inarticulate as the losers, in the way of families, hurl insults at their opponents in frantic attempts to disguise their lack of knowledge, until pandemonium alone reigns.

Family Conference

As the well known type of middle-aged business man who believes in the superiority of man and money, John Grey calls his family together for the expressed purpose of settling once and for all the future of his sister, Helen, and to discuss his younger sister's chances of marrying into the wealthy Baker family. John does not fear Jean as he does the stronger-willed Helen. Conspicuously "sweet" Lucy Grey appears first in answer to her lord-husband's call, with her knitting and an expression of pious satisfaction. Closely following her is Cousin Theodore, Subdued, as becomes a poverty-stricken minister of the Gospel, Theodore has a great tolerance for the world and its weaknesses, with the exception of a very positive disapproval of divorce.

Adding an interesting touch to the deadly conventional family, Uncle Everett breezes in with his satirical comments on marriage. Since Uncle Everett is the esteemed Judge Grey and since his flippant remarks cover a very sound philosophy, he is respected by even his bullying nephew. But at Everett's arrival the cause of the meeting is momentarily forgotten as he calmly announces to his horrified relatives that his wife is in Reno getting a divorce. His only reason for the termination of their 80 years of wedded life seems to be a mutual dislike of tuttifrutti ice cream. Cutting short the outbursts of his family, he coolly changes the subject by accusing John of bullying his sisters. As the storm breaks above his head the two girsl under discussion are busy arranging their lives according to their own desires.

Jean Traps Man

Pretty little Jean follows the only creed she knows and traps a man she does not love into offering her a wedding ring and a bank account. What Rex Baker lacks in character he balances in money and Jean shyly consents to marrying him. But the clear-thinking Helen is assisting her lover in scientific experiments in a drab laboratory blissfully unaware of the plans John is concocting to separate her from Ernest Hamilton.

The overpowering urge to meddle causes John to disregard his uncle's warning and he prepares to mold the four young lives according to his own ideas. In his efforts to bind more tightly Rex's promise to Jean he causes their first lovers' quarrel, but not to be discouraged he turns to Helen and Ernest. However, his belief that money always talks fails, and his bullying only breeds contempt in the clear-thinking heads of the two young scientists. Maddened by his persistence they denounce marriage and convention and plan to live their lives as they wish.

In the ensuing chaos Uncle Everett steps in to convince his family that he knows more about marriage than anyone else since he has successfully lived through it. His delightfully clever philosophy lends balance as each Grey fights for his own belief.

"Why Marry?" will begin a six-day run at the Little Theater April 13.

MEDICINE MOUND NAMES DELEGATES TO WICHITA PARENT-TEACHERS MEET

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, March 28.—Plans have been made by the parent-teacher association at Medicine Mound for conducting a health crusade, providing for physical examinations for the pupils in the Medicine Mound school. A committee was appointed to make all necessary arrangements with the physicians and nurses.

Among other matters taken up by the P.-T. A. was the appointment of delegates to attend the district conference of the parent-teacher associations to be held in Wichita Falls. Mrs. L. L. Cobb, Mrs. W. C. Thurston and Mrs. Harry Cole being selected as delegates.

April 10 was set as the date for parents' visiting day at the school. At that time the parents are to feel free to visit anytime during the day to inspect work and notebooks of the different classes.

LAWTON, Okla., March 28.—Amount of building permits issued in Lawton since Jan. 1 has already exceeded in amount those issued the first three months of 1930, according to statistics issued from thec ity clerk's office. During the first three months of last year permits were issued for the building of $30,590 worth of property while this year's total is $38,540.

TOO CLOSE TO NATURE—By James J. Montague

Them folks run out of that cabin like it was on fire.

The old gentleman looked hopefully over his shoulder at me as I drove along the back road toward Tampa. He walked with a limp, and his sagging shoulders proclaimed his weariness. I drew up and asked if he wanted a hitch.

"I'd be a thousand times obliged to you," he said. "I missed the bus an' and I want to get back into town in time for a weddin'. It's right nice of you to pick me up."

He took a seat beside me. I soon discovered that he was familiar with the country, and could tell me many things I wanted to know about it. He had lived here all his life, which must have passed the Scriptural span, and he had kept his eyes open.

"There wasn't no skyscrapers in Tampa when I come here," he said. "But there was plenty of animals near by, an' that's what kep' me here all these years. Animals is like people to me. I'm that fond of 'em. Fact is that most of 'em is better'n some people, for they ain't got no deceit into 'em. Once you know 'em you can figger what they's goin' to do. If I was as spry as I used to be an' had me money enough I'd have an animal farm down here an' live with them an' study their ways. Then I'd get somebody to come down here an' take down what I tell 'em, an' make a book out of it. Me, I can't write. Never had time to learn how—been so busy lookin', round all the time. I can read some though, an' look at pitchers. When they show them lion an' tiger pitchers down to the theater I spend pretty near all my time there.

"Business? I ain't got much business now. I was a guide for a while, but I had to give it up. Folks that come down here expect a guide to show 'em where to go to kill critters. I don't want to kill 'em, I want to study 'em. I had to get out of the guidin' business on account of not bein' able to get away from the habit of pickin' up things an' makin' friends with them an' bringin' 'em into camp. It's curious how folks that live in cities thinks that snakes an' 'gators an' wildcats is agin' 'em, an' will harm 'em if they git the chanct. I know different. But I never could learn anybody else what I know. I suppose if one of them museum fellers was to come here I could guide him all right, an' hep him to learn a lot about the ways of animals. But if he wanted critters to stuff an' pack into glass cases I wouldn't be no good to him. I'd be too sorry to see killin' goin' on.

"When I first begun guidin' I'd been out in the woods an' swamps a lot as a boy, an' barrin' mosquitoes an' stingin' bugs like that I got to like everything that could move on its own laigs or fins. There was rattlers. Everybody don't understand rattlers, an' that's why they got a bad name. But they hadn't ought to have. If you step on a rattler he'd try to bite you, an' if he does he'll pizen you. But from what I know about 'em I'm sure that if they knowed their bite was pizen they wouldn't bite.

"A friend of mine who lived up in Ilion, New York state, sent some folks down here to me—folks that wanted to live in the open. They brought along tents, an' I got a boat an' took 'em up in the back bays below Fort Myers to show 'em what was to be seen down there. On the way down in the wagon—they wasn't no automobiles in them days—I see a 'gator about three foot long 'cross the road, an' picked him up an' put him in the wagon bed back of one of the seats. Them people made an awful row. You'd of thought it was a ragin' lion I'd picked up.

"But I soon made 'em see that he was just one of the Lord's creatures an' wouldn't harm nobody, and would be glad of a ride down south where the water was warmer. He was headed that way anyhow. But that night when we got into camp it turned cold, an' the 'gater that I'd tied by a line to a stake outside, got chilly an' come in an' climbed into bed with the head of the party who was a banker or somethin' of the kind.

"The way that ole feller yelled you'd of thought he was half way down the 'kator's neck, with the teeth grindin' him into powder. I had to take the 'gator away an' put him on a shorter line, an' even then there was scoldin' an' fussin' an' complainin' goin' on all night long. An' that 'gator, if the old fellow had just let em git under the blankets out of the draft would have slep' as peaceful as a little child all night long.

"When we got further down to where I had a shack the folks was reel tickled for there was bunks with ticks into 'em, an' a stove an' plenty to eat. But while we was settin' at supper in come a couple of my rattlers through a hole in the plankin', an' creepin' up to the fire starts in to get theirselves het up, like they would if there was sunshine outside. I'd lived along with them rattlers for three seasons and none of 'em had ever raised a tooth to me. But the minute they come in everybody set up a yell, an' ordered me to kill 'em quick.

"Well, I wasn't goin' to kill 'em, for they'd been my friends in the past by killin' off the ground animals that used to eat up the truck in my little garden. But they made me put them out of the house, an' I was right annoyed about it. But I needed the money I was gettin' for guidin', so they wasn't nothin' else to do. I could hardly sleep that night from thinkin' about them poor rattlers, shiverin' out in the cold, an' wonderin' what had happened that I wouldn't let them come in an' sleep snug an' comfortable beside the fire like they done the other times I'd been here.

"Why you know them folks even objected to 'coons an' possums an' little kind hearted-critters like them that had been my friends since I was a boy—only not of course the same ones. They seemed to think that anything that crawled on its belly or walked on four legs was an enemy to man. I knowed better of course, but when a feller is payin' you money you ain't in no position to teach him natural history.

"When we'd been there about three days, an' they'd got so they didn't think the chatter of a squirrel was the rattle of a snake, or that the grunt of a 'gator four miles away meant he was comin' ragin' through the swamps to sink his fangs into 'em, somethin' happened that broks up the whole business.

"Three years before I made friends with a nice pleasant little bear that I hadn't seen since. All animals have long memories, an' this one must of got to thinkin' about the good times him an' me had had together, for one night he comes snifflin' around the door. Everybody wanted to know what that was, an' I says it was only a bear.

"'Bear,' says three of 'em. 'Drive him away. Shoot him!'

"'He don't mean no harm,' I says, an' opened the door to show 'em.

"In he came, gruntin', an' began to trot around the cabin givin' each of my party a friendly look. He'd of wagged his tail if he'd of had one to wag.

"Well, that was the last of it. Them folks just run out of that cabin like it was on fire, an' nothin' would do the next mornin' but we must go back home. An' they didn't give me nothin' but mean looks, either. When I said somethin' about payin' me $20 for my services the big feller says:

"'Pay you for riskin' out lives? I suppose if them beasts had killed us you'd wanted a hundred dollars?'

"But that's just like city people. I wonder what they ever come down here for."

Prairie Hill School

ALTUS, Okla., March 28.—One hundred and eighty students have been enrolled in the Prairie Hill school this term, according to a report just filed by the superintendent with the county superintendent of schools.

FREE COAL GIVEN NEEDY BY CHURCH AT FREDERICK

FREDERICK, Okla., March 28.—Numerous radiators and blocks on cars burst Friday because of the freeze, the thermometer standing at 13 above at 8 o'clock that morning. About two inches of snow fell Friday, much of which melted before night. The snow and freeze is believed by farmers to have greatly damaged the wheat which had "booted." It is also feared that the freeze destroyed all the buds on fruit trees, eliminating any chance of getting any fruit this year.

Several tons of coal which had been stored in the basement of the courthouse was given to those needing it, many carrying it home in sacks.

FREDERICK CLUB PLANS TO IMPROVE AIRPLANE PORT

The Frederick Aviation club, which was recently organized, plans to make improvements to the airport of that thriving southwestern Oklahoma city.

The club has a splendid membership and much interest is being manifested in aviation. Any person who has had as much as one hour training in the air is eligible for membership. Associate members are permitted. A big meeting of the club is planned for Monday night, March 30, at which time definite plans will be outlined for the improvement of the airport.

Seed Fund Exhausted

LAWTON, Okla., March 28.—Although the county commissioners asked the state relief committee for 8,000 bushels of cottonseed for the use of drouth stricken farmers of Comanche county, relief funds have been exhausted, they were informed today and no more seed of any nature can be procured. Applications for seed to plant 16,000 acres had been filed with the county commissioners.

BUSINESS NOW SHOWING BEST UPGRADE MOVE

Each Quarter of Present Year Believed Will Be Better Than Last

FOREIGN BUSINESS BETTER THAN FOR MANY MONTHS

Dollar Value Rising and Considered Barometer For Trading Era

Officials of the United States department of commerce, who are in very close touch with business developments throughout the nation, reflect mild optimism, according to a statement received from Ernest L. Tutt, manager of the department of commerce organization in the Gulf-Southwest, upon his return from a conference of the department's branch managers, which has just ended in Washington.

Officials say that there is one unmistakably encouraging factor on the business horizon and that is the very marked improvement in the mental attitude of the average business man.

Bottom Has Been Reached

The shrewdest students and economists, Tutt says, are unanimous in thinking that the bottom has been reached or passed; that conditions may bump along for a while on a varying low level, but that before many months there should occur a clearly perceptible rise.

Statistical records show normal improvement in the month of February and these officials believe that gradual improvement is not only to be expected, but is the desirable way in which this improvement probably would be a mixed blessing.

The assistant secretary of commerce Dr. Julius Klein, said: "We are in the convalescent stage after a prolonged economic illness. The crisis is past and we are definitely setting foot on the pathway back to health, but no sensible convalescent, after a siege of influenza or typhoid, would dream of attempting to rush out and compete in a half-mile run. We should be well satisfied, I think, if our improvement is gradual at first, less we suffer another relapse."

It is the general belief, Tutt says, that the second quarter of this year will enjoy slightly better business than was the case during the first quarter, and in the fall it is expected that there will be an unmistakable and clearly perceptible upgrade movement under way.

Bond Market Is Better

Some of the things that may be related that show that business is looking up now are better quotations of genuinely high grade securities, including bonds. Some large issues last week, particularly some large railroad issues, show that there is a tendency for a flow of funds into the bond market, and economists tell us that the flow of funds to the bond market is a prerequisite to recovery. Various big corporations are taking advantage of low money. One large railway system is electrifying its lines throughout.

Residential construction began to rise last month and so far in March the increase in this type of building is greater than normal for the season. Fifteen million feet of floor space was the amount of building during the month of February, 1930, while in February of this year 18,500,000 feet of floor space were built.

Road building contracts for January and February, 1929, amounted to $40,000,000. For the corresponding period in 1930 $56,000,000 were expended on road contracts, and in 1931 road contracts amounted to $70,000,000 and attention is called to the fact that there is a direct ratio between highway mileage and auto sales.

Oil and Gas Lines

It has been pointed out that a half billion dollars will be spent during this year on oil and gas pipe lines, which is about the equal of the amount that was spent on these projects last year, and last year was the greatest year on record in this field of activity.

There was a noticeable improvement in the steel industry during February, and March orders so far are 40 per cent over orders for December.

February production of automobiles was 230,000 vehicles, which is the highest record since last August, and March is showing more than normal gain over February.

An interesting sidelight in the automobile market is that since the passage and the paying of the soldiers' bonus, there has been a very noticeable clearing up of used car stocks, which some say shows that the soldiers are spending a great deal of their money for secondhand automobiles.

It was pointed out that the cotton manufacturing industry usually leads the way both into and out of depression. The study of several past depressions, it is said, reveals this fact. There has been a substantial improvement in the cotton industry since the first of the year. February production was 5 per cent greater than January's production, whereas normally February is considerably lower than January.

Demand for Cotton Goods

Another significant fact is that new orders for cotton goods received by mills in February this year totaled 327,000,000 yards, which was 32 per cent more than the new orders for the month of January, and it was considerably larger than for February, 1930, and almost as large as for February during the boom year of 1929.

A further encouraging indication is that unfilled orders for cotton goods on hand at the end of February this year totaled 400,000,000 yards, as compared with 317,000,000 in January, and 361,000,000 in February, 1930, and it is especially encouraging that stocks at the end of February this year amounted to 319,000,000 yards, compared with 355,000,000 in January of this year, 445,000,000 yards for February, 1930, and 372,000,000 yards for February, 1929, and the improvement in the cotton industry has continued into the first two weeks of March.

Deliveries of raw silk from warehouses to mills, which is said to be the real measure of consumption, amounted to 54,000 bales in February, 1931, compared with 49,000 for February, 1930, and 46,000 for February, 1929. Stocks of raw silk are also lower, being 45,000 bales in February, 1931, 68,000 in February, 1930, and this is said to reflect a much healthier condition in this trade and it also reflects a revival of demand for the more expensive fabrics.

Labor Conditions Better

Secretary of Labor Doak, in connection with the report of that department on labor conditions at the end of February, said that there had been improvement of employment in industries amounting to 1.4 per cent for February, as compared with January, and that the improvement or pickup in wages paid amounted to 7.5 during the same period. Doak said that "this is the first satisfactory indication of a general upward trend since the stock market collapse in October, 1929." Officials also pointed out that employment had increased in the coal mining, quarrying, and hotel industries.

Officials of the department also pointed out that when due allowances are made for the price declines, we find that the volume of foreign trade was off during 1930 only about 10 per cent, whereas the average person thinks it was off a very great deal more, many having placed the figure at about 30 per cent.

It was also pointed out that the psychology of foreign markets has greatly improved in recent weeks and that the real efforts are being seriously undertaken to study the underlying complex causes of the depression to appraise the situation candidly and judiciously and to devise remedies.

In summing up what appears to be the reflection of the attitude of the various business experts, it would seem that that attitude might be considered one of mild optimism, that is, there is considerable sign of improvement during the first quarter of the present year, very gradual improvement will continue during the second quarter as compared with the first, and perhaps during the third quarter and certainly toward the end of the year, there will be a very noticeable, unmistakable improvement under way

New High-Speed Passenger Plane Built Along Lines Suggested by Lindbergh Near Ready for Flight

BURBANK, Calif., March 28. (AP)—A high-speed passenger airplane, developed from an idea of streamlining suggested by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, will be completed here next week and flown to Detroit for its first public exhibition at the national air show there early in April.

If it meets the expectations of engineers, it will cruise with six passengers at a speed of between 190 and 200 miles an hour, carrying a gasoline supply sufficient for a four-hour flight and a reserve tank for another half hour.

The ship is a low-wing Lockheed-Sirius model, one of the first of which was purchased by Colonel Lindbergh, who flew it from Los Angeles to New York a year ago in 14 hours and 45 minutes. But in the year that has passed, engineers working with the Lindbergh idea of retractable landing gear have changed it so that only a general resemblance remains.

Resembles Huge Bird

In the flight, the ship resembles a huge bird and virtually is as free of air obstructions as the feathered flier.

Going a step beyond the idea of a retractable landing gear, engineers have made the tail wheel retractable without making it rigid when it is in position for landing. The tail wheel disappears in the fuselage and the landing gear into the wing by means of hydraulic pressure, controlled by a lever in the cockpit.

The pilot, instead of being seated at the rear of the fuselage, is placed directly behind the motor in a covered cockpit, streamlined a third of the distance along the top of the fuselage. The passenger compartment is behind the pilot. Visibility from the cockpit is increased by the use for the first time of curved safety plate glass.

PLAY AND HUMOROUS SKIT FEATURE KIWANIS MEET

A playlet, under the direction of Jack Jeffus, will be one of the features of the Kiwanis club program Monday noon, it was announced Saturday by Pat Hardage, chairman for the day.

The play will deal with credit problems. Frederick Sehmann Jr., high school student, will also be on the program, presenting a humorous monolog.

LAWTON CITIZENS FALL FOR SMOOTH TALKING CON MAN

LAWTON, Okla., March 28.—A member of the floating population was working a good racket here up to the time a uniformed officer tapped him on the shoulder and invited him down to police headquarters for a chat with the chief.

He had evidently selected his list of victims with care. When he entered an office he introduced himself and claimed acquaintanceship dating several years back "when he used to live here." No one remembered him but he made them believe they must have known him and "just forgotten." Anyway he told them a pitiful story about being unable to secure work and having received word that his mother died that morning at her home in Chickasha, and he just wanted $2 bus fare, so that he might attend the last sad rites.

The con man "took" five county officials and several professional men downtown before police heard of his activities and placed him under arrest. The money found in his possession was returned, with his consent, to the buncoed victims.

He is now facing a felony charge. But it was a good racket while it lasted. Business was just so good here that the racketeer tarried too long.

Autographs Will Feature Easter Egg Hunt Altus

ALTUS, Okla., March 28.—Three autographed Easter egg sacks have been received from Gen. John J. Pershing, commander in chief of the American army in France during the world war, to greet Jackson county children on Easter day.

Jackie Coogan, the youthful movie favorite, who seems like just another boy returned a sack mailed with the inscription "Best Wishes, Jackie Coogan." The signature reveals that Jackie does not practice "muscular movement" very studiously when he goes to school.

Other notables who have sent greetings are Lew Wentz, Gov. William H. Murray and Gene Tunney.

Thomas A. Edison declined because he wished to conserve his strength in his business and experimental work.

Hoot Gibson, Admiral Richard Byrd, Al Smith, Janet Gaynor, Amos and Andy and Jack Dempsey have been requested to autograph sacks but have not as yet answered.

A baseball has been sent to Babe Ruth with a request that he autograph it for one of the prizes.

These sacks will be a portion of the prizes awarded several thousand children who are expected to participate in the Kiwanis club Easter egg annual hunt in this city on Easter Sunday.

At the hunt one year ago several thousand boys and girls from all southwestern Oklahoma counties and nearby Texas points participated in the event.

"Tighthateritis"

BALTIMORE.—Girls, if you have it, you'd better start wearing looser hats. By "it" we mean "tighthateritis," a new skin disease reported by British dermatologists and now under study by specialists of John Hopkins hospital. It comes from wearing hats which press against the brow and rupture tiny veins. This causes a red mark to appear and remain across the forehead.

CHURCHES ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR UNION RITES FOR ANNUAL SUNRISE SERVICES ON EASTER

Rev. Patrick Henry has been chosen by the Ministerial Alliance to bring the Pre-Easter message Friday. The service, which heretofore has been held at the First Christian church, will be held at the Majestic theater Friday afternoon from 12:15 until 1:15.

All the churches supporting this effort join in a cordial invitation to the public to enjoy this hour.

The choir of the First Methodist church will present special music, and W. L. Underwood, director of the choir of the First Southern Presbyterian church, will lead the audience in singing the opening hymns. Rev. Claude DeWitt, pastor of the Grace Methodist church, will read the Scripture and Dr. G. P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will lead in prayer, after which Reverend Mr. Henry, of the Highland Heights Christian church, will bring the principal message. Rev. Ben Bell, pastor of the Wilson Memorial Methodist church will offer the benediction.

PROGRAM COMPLETED FOR SUNRISE SERVICES

Perhaps the largest gathering that is had in Wichita Falls is the annual Easter sunrise service held each year on the bluffs west of the city, off the Seymour road. It was estimated the crowd last year was between 8,000 and 12,000 people.

The service this year will begin at daybreak. Rev. Claude DeWitt will lead in the opening prayer, followed by the Easter address by Dr. Gaines B. Hall. The dramatization to follow will depict four episodes from the life of Christ, which will be taken largely from the Scriptures. Roy J. Daniel will be the reader. Scene 1 will depict the Three Shepherds, who will be impersonated by Louis Bond, Frederick Sehmann and Patrick Henry Jr. The two angels will be represented by Misses Ina Merle Robinson and Jane Adams. Other characters in scene one will be Mrs. Victor Lowery as Mary, Oral Jones as Joseph and H. O. Newton as Simeon.

Scene two will be incidents from the boyhood of Jesus. Joe Witherspoon Jr. will represent the boy Jesus, and Mary, his mother, will be represented by Mrs. Victor Lowery. Music for this episode will be directed by Mrs. W. M. Priddy.

Scene three will be incidents from the ministry of Jesus. Paul Barnett Sr. will represent Christ. Other characters in this episode will be as follows: Woman of Samaria at the well, by Mrs. Sterling Crumpler; ruler with lifeless child, H. O. Newton and Julia Lynn Duncan; mothers, Miss Mary Hamilton, Mrs. C. H. Reid and Miss Katherine Sue Ralston; children, Irene Roberts, Ruth Nathalee Stuckey, Phoebe Jane Chenault, Julia Lynn Duncan, Mary Shapard, Margaret Ann Loggie, Dixie Potter Chenault, Katherine Reid, Martha Clark and Mary Clark. Music for this episode will be directed by Mrs. Wayne J. Holmes.

Scene four will be the Resurrection. Misses Ina Merle Robinson and Jane Adams will represent the two angels, and the three Marys will be impersonated by Mrs. Victor Lowery, Misses Katherine Sue Ralston and Mary Hamilton. The resurrection song will be sung by Mrs. Stanley Raub, assisted by a mixed quartet.

The prayer of benediction will be said by Rev. C. W. Thomas.

Rev. Patrick Henry, Ella Merle Mathis Bristol and Frank B. Creighton are members of the special committee in charge of this service representing the Ministerial Alliance.

Should the weather make it impractical to hold this service in the open, it will be presented at the Memorial auditorium at the same hour in the morning.

METHODISTS OF FLORAL HEIGHTS TO GIVE PAGEANT

A pageant depicting the crucifixion and the resurrection, by Bayard, will be presented at the Floral Heights Methodist church Easter Sunday at the regular evening service under the direction of Mrs. J. A. James and Mrs. George Thorburn.

Those taking the leading parts are Ray Bland, the centurion; Durwood Park, the lame man; Mrs. Paul Hines, Rhoda, daughter of the lame man; Mary Magdalene, Mrs. P. B. Cox; the other Mary, Mary Lou Johnson; Johana, Mrs. Fred Sehmann; John the disciple, Henry Barton; Junius, Robert Trevathan. Others in the cast include the following: J. E. Park, Loyd Bland, Fred Sehmann Jr., George Truitt, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Haynes, Vernon Bullard, S. E. Anthony, Darby Anderson, Mrs. Guy Holcomb, Thelma Adams, Mrs. Murrell Hooper, Mrs. Myrtle Anthony, Martha Johnson, Milton Johnson, Cora Lee Roberts, Helen Simpson, Elizabeth Wright, E. Van Deventer, John James, Woodrow Williamson, Irwin Morris and H. Daugherty, Mrs. O. Reeves. A number of children will also appear as Jerusalem children.

This pageant follows closely the harmony of Andrew's gospel narratives concerning the resurrection of Jesus. The costuming and staging is very beautiful and effective. Music will be in charge of Mrs. Thorburn. Mrs. O. E. Nichols will be at the organ. The service begins at 7:30 o'clock.

SACRED CONCERT AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

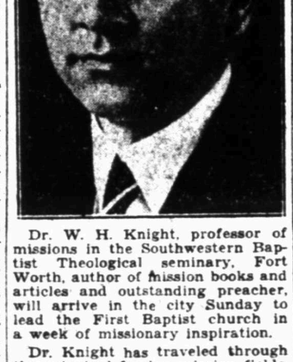

Announcement has been made by Dr. George P. Horst, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, that the evening service on Easter Sunday, April 5, will take the form of a sacred concert to be given under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, musical director and organist.

Themes of Passion week and of Resurrection day are the bases of three anthems which will be sung by a selected ensemble of 16 voices, the concluding number being "O Death, Where Is Thy Sting?" from the great English organist and composer, Sir John Stainer.

Many of the best voices in the city will assist in the presentation of several solos, a chorale for six women's voices, and a male quartet selection in addition to the ensemble numbers. Besides the vocal music to be included in the program, there will be a violin trio.

Dr. Horst will preside during the service.

MISSION PROFESSOR TO LEAD SERVICES AT FIRST BAPTIST

Dr. W. H. Knight, professor of missions in the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, Fort Worth, author of mission books and articles and outstanding preacher, will arrive in the city Sunday to lead the First Baptist church in a week of missionary inspiration.

Dr. Knight has traveled through the principal foreign mission fields, had personal contact with the missionaries, has a world-wide vision and passion, and is constantly sought for through the Southern Baptist convention to bring special addresses along this particular line, according to Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of the First Baptist church. Dr. Powers further stated, "No man is more capable to inform and inspire than Dr. Knight. We invite and urge the public to hear him, daily, 2:30 and 7:45 o'clock."

Cops Act as Nurse

CINCINNATI.—F. J. Albers, expecting a visit of the stork, was taking his wife to the hospital. As he neared Avondale police station, the accompanying physician told Albers that time was short and that the child would be born before they could reach the hospital. Albers turned into the station and Mrs. Albers gave birth to the child there. Patrolmen Spraul and Little served as nurses.

According to the treasury department, the president of the United States receives his salary check semi-monthly. He receives a check for $3,125 signed by the treasurer of the United States.

BAPTISM SERVICES FIRST METHODIST

Rev. S. S. McKenney, will have a special service for the baptism of infants and small children in the regular service of next Sunday at the First Methodist church at 10:50 a. m., using for this purpose water which he brought last summer from the fords of Jordan. This will be a peculiarly impressive ceremony. At the same hour decision day and reception day will be celebrated for the younger members in certain departments of the Sunday school, who have been in a course of training during this week, in doctrine and experience, for reception.

Vesper Hour to Be Given Over KGKO on Sunday

The "First Methodist Radio Vesper Hour" will be broadcast over station KGKO from 5 to 5:30 Sunday afternoon, at which time the following musical program, under the direction of Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis with Mrs. J. W. Akin Jr., at the organ, will be rendered: Quartet, "Love Divine" (Zundel), Mrs. C. Y. Tully, Mrs. N. M. Clifford, F. M. Hansen, Grover Bullington; tenor solo, "The Palms" (Faure), F. M. Hansen; trio, "Praise Ye" (Attila) (Verdi), Mrs. C. Y. Tully, Walter Robbins, Grover Bullington; quartet, "Now the Day Is Over" (Barnby), Mrs. Tully, Mrs. Clifford, Mr. Hansen, Mr. Bullington. Dr. S. Stephen McKenney, the pastor of this church, will also make a 10-minute address.

DR. WOOD TO SPEAK ON GREATEST WONDER

The "Greatest Wonder in the World" will be the subject of the sermon by Dr. H. T. Wood at the First Christian church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Special music will be given by a quartet composed of Mesdames Wilhite Steck, Ward and Miss Parker. R. E. Shepherd will lead a 15-minute singing of old hymns and will sing a solo. Because of the large audiences attending these services no seats are promised after 8 o'clock it is announced.

A special communion service will be held Thursday night at 8 o'clock celebrating the institution of the first communion service 1900 years ago. This service will be composed of special music, Scripture reading and prayer and the communion. Members of all other churches in the city, where this service is not being held, are invited to participate.

W. R. HARPER TO DIRECT MUSIC AT REVIVAL

W. R. Harper, director of music for the Lamar Avenue Baptist church, will direct the music for the Highland Heights Baptist church, 3003 York avenue, in the evangelistic campaign beginning Sunday, April 5. Mr. Harper will have a double choir composed of men and women of 50 voices. The laymen's club of the church will compose the men's choir, and their quartet will appear on the special numbers from time to time.

REVIVAL OPENS TODAY ON BUCHANAN STREET

A two-week revival meeting will begin at the Buchanan Street Church of Christ Sunday. J. Scott Greer, local minister for the church, will make the opening address of the revival Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service and will also speak at the evening service. After the first day Evangelist Cled E. Wallace of Temple, Texas, will have charge of the meeting and will do the remainder of the preaching. Singing will be conducted by local forces.

Services will be held twice daily: Evenings, 7:30 o'clock and weekday services at (noon) 12:15 to 12:45 o'clock.

DALHART STARTS $50,000 PROGRAM NEW BUILDINGS

DALHART, Texas, March 28.—Approximately $50,000 is being expended for new business structures in Dalhart at the present time. This amount represents three brick buildings now under construction, including one filling station, one garage and a grocery and drug store.

Work was started this week on the Continental Oil company's filling station, which when completed will cost $16,000. Work has been in progress several days on the Hutton & Cummings garage and the Victor Stewart building. Announcement of a new elevator on the industrial tracks of the Rock Island is expected in the near future. A $25,000 feed mill was recently completed by A. J. Mayfield and associates and is now in operation.

GRAHAM PASTOR TO ACCEPT CALL MADE BY WICHITA CHURCH

Rev. J. E. Montgomery, pastor of the First Christian church of Graham, who received a unanimous call from the Highland Heights Christian church last Sunday to become the successor of Rev. Patrick Henry, who has been elected secretary of the Texas Christian Missionary society with headquarters in Fort Worth, has advised J. N. Sherrill, chairman of the board of the Highland Heights Christian church, that he has accepted the call.

Rev. Mr. Montgomery will take charge of the local church within 30 to 60 days. He has been minister of the church at Graham for four years, during which time the membership has grown from 225 to 475. The members of the Highland Heights church are delighted that they are to have the services of Rev. Mr. Montgomery who is recognized throughout the churches of the state as one of the most aggressive and able members. Rev. Patrick Henry assumes active direction of his new position on April 1 and will continue to direct the work here until Rev. Mr. Montgomery can move to Wichita Falls.

Canadian-Made Planes

MONTREAL.—Airplanes, aircraft engines and landing gear manufactured in Canada during 1930 reached a value of $2,048,673. Canadian companies constructed 69 new airplanes during the first nine months of the year, and supplied more than 80 per cent of the demand for aircraft and parts in the dominion.

JACKSON COUNTY HAS MANY PERFECT SPELLERS

ALTUS, Okla., March 28.—Perfect spelling recitation certificates were issued this week from the office of the Jackson county superintendent of schools to 10 pupils of the Pleasant Point school.

These honor awards are issued to pupils of this county after they have received 10 smaller spelling certificates, each one of the 10 representing 10 lessons of perfect spelling.

Several pupils from other schools of the county have also received these awards earlier in the year.

When it comes to milk . .

isn't good enough!

There's no place in our milk vocabulary for the words "good enough." No, sir! And we don't believe there is in yours. When it comes to milk the best is none too good.

In Lehrack's Selected Grade "A" Milk we give you the best and nothing else. We insist on healthy herds, clean barns, sanitary milking conditions. Some people say we're too fussy, but we don't care.

We keep our own plant spotless. Drop in some day and see for yourself. See how our milk is scientifically pasteurized to make it absolutely pure and safe.

See how we wash, rinse, and sterilize every bottle twenty-five minutes. We've crossed out those risky words, "good enough."

That is why Lehrack's Selected Grade "A" Milk is so good for babies, and growing youngsters—and grown-ups. It is clean, rich, nourishing, safe—everything that's good and nothing that's bad.

Lehrack's is the milk that comes in the exclusive Cream Top bottle—inviting you to notice its tall crown of golden cream. Telephone us that you'd like to try this better milk.

Only Lehrack gives you the Cream Top bottle—symbol of uniform richness and quality Democratic Dry and Republican Wet Who Say Prohibition Not an Issue Simply Dodging Declares Smith

By ALFRED E. SMITH

If the question of the repeal or the retention of the 18th amendment is not a political issue how did it get into the constitution? One of the best organized, best financed and best directed political organizations that ever operated in this country, working year in and year out, Saturday and Sunday included, with its headquarters in the very shadow of the capitol itself, for the purpose, as expressed by one of its leading members, of keeping its eye on the national legislators, was responsible for the prohibtion propaganda that flooded the country. The leader of the Anti-Saloon league told me himself that he wrote the Volstead act and when I cross-questioned him about the accuracy of certain of its provisions which are out of line with facts, he let the cat out of the bag in a moment of haste and said "We were in the saddle and we drove through."

If it be true that prohibition is not a national issue, as has been suggested, how does it find its way into the platforms and political declarations of the candidates of so many states? In 1930, 19 states definitely declared in their platforms for the repeal of the 18th amendment. The press of the entire eastern part of the country hailed the new United State senator from New Jersey as the leader of the new thought within his party and openly praised him for his frank attitude, fearlessly taken as the press expressed it, when he declared for the repeal of the 18th amendment.

Significant is the fact that even some of those states of the union which were dry by local statute before the enactment of national prohibition were found in the wet column last fall, in that their political parties declared in their platforms in favor of the 18th amendment.

In the last presidential election both parties sought to escape prohibition as an issue; but before the Democratic national convention adjourned so that the delegates might have time to reconsider the vote by which I received their nomination, I telegraphed to the chairman of the convention, and my dispatch was read to the delegates. It said: "It is well known that I believe there should be fundamental changes in the present provisions for national prohibition. While I fully appreciate that these changes can only be made by the people themselves through their elected legislative representatives, I feel it to be the duty of the chosen leader of the people to point the way which, in his opinion, leads to a sane, sensible solution of a condition which I am convinced is entirely unsatisfactory to the great mass of our people."

In that telegram I further promised that I would give my views on all the issues in my speech of acceptance. In that speech, speaking of the 18th amendment, I proposed an amendment that would give to each individual state itself, after approval of its people, the right wholly within its own borders to import, manufacture or cause to be manufactured, and sell alcoholic beverages. Can anybody say that that telegram and that passage from my speech of acceptance did not raise an issue between President Hoover and myself with respect to the 18th amendment? President Hoover by declaring in his speech of acceptance against repeal of the 18th amendment created the impression in the public mind that he favored that amendment as it stands. The principal orator of the Republican campaign of 1928 was Senator Borah, who declared the sanctity of the 18th amendment to be the paramount issue of the campaign.

United States Senator Capper from Kansas may well be said to express the Republican attitude and in a statement issued in the capitol at Washington on the 7th of March this year, he said, "Phohibition cannot be straddled. It is an issue that must be met in the national campaign, and I believe the Republican party will be dry and that the Democrats will take the wet side. President Hoover will be the nominee of our party and the fight for the dry cause will bring about his re-election."

That leaves but one conclusion and that is that the Democratic dry who claims that prohibition is not an issue is shaking hands with the Republican wet who ventures the same statement. Both know that they are wrong and both are dodging. Both are seeking to evade the question in the vain hope that victory may come to their party on some other issue; but they are unwilling to face the question of the failure of the 18th amendment in man fashion. In my apinion, nothing will go further to compel both parties to stand up and be on the dead level than will the report and findings of the president's own commission.

Now I have no fault to find with the man whose constituency demands of him that he stand for the preservation of the 18th amendment without change. I have fault to find with the man whose constituency demands that he stand for repeal when he relinquishes that position in an effort to please the people of opposing thought.

It has been suggested within the last few days by a distinguished member of the United States senate that the prohibition issue is a smoke screen to cover the activity of the power combines of the country against legislation unfavorable to them or to avert the possibility of a definite plank in either of the party platforms aligning them with governmental ownership of power at the source. Certainly, the men of both parties who declare prohibition not to be an issue will challenge the accuracy of that statement. But no matter what happens to that controversy, the assertion that the 18th amendment is not an issue tends to confuse the public mind and to lead it away from the vital question. No amount of argument pro and con will change the undisputed and indisputable fact that that which everybody is talking about, and which appears in political platforms, and is discussed in every political group, is an issue, and it is foolhardy to attempt to deny it.

As a matter of fact, brushing aside all subterfuge and specious argument, a large part of the house of representatives, as well as the senate, was determined upon the wet and dry issue in the fall of 1930. In the state of Illinois, in the congress elected in 1928, only five representatives were known to be wet. As against the five, the new congress contains 21 from Illinois, committed either to revision or repeal of the 18th amendment. Does this suggest that prohibition is a political question?

What is true of Illinois is true of many other parts of the country; and the complete summation of it is that while the 71st congress, as far as the house of representatives was concerned, contained 76 representatives opposed to the present prohibition amendment, the next house of representatives contains 146 men elected on platforms or pledges committing them against the 18th amendment. And still there are some public men who seek to evade party responsibility by declaration that the 18th amendment is not a political issue.

It is a significant fact that in the 1930 election the states of the union containing almost 25 per cent of the total population of the country declared in the platforms of one or both parties for repeal of the 18th amendment or referendum looking to repeal. That means that if we were to proceed upon the basis, nation-wide, of representative government, 33 million people seek repeal as against 89 million who desire either the retention of the 18th amendment or have not yet expressed themselves about it by means of their political platforms in state elections.

The political significance of the 18th amendment, its retention, repeal, or modification, is best shown by the international interest displayed in the recent Literary Digest poll. Nearly five million people took the trouble to make definite answers to the questions submitted. This does not seem to indicate that there is so little lack of interest in the subject as not to make it a political issue.

I really think that what our friends who declare it not to be a political issue mean, is that it is not an issue for a single party to advocate. For instance, President Hoover rejoiced in the election of Senator Morrow, although on the question of prohibition Senator Morrow would be opposed to President Hoover. Democrats of all beliefs welcome to the legislative halls at Washington the election of all new Democratic congressmen and senators, whether or not they were elected on the issue of repeal of the 18th amendment.

So, reduced to commonplace language, everybody wants to win and when they are asking for votes they are not so particular about principle. A wet congressman from Ohio, if he helps to organize the house, will have just as large a bouquet of roses on his desk after his election as the driest representative from Tennessee. The real slogan of those who would evade the issue is, "Get them all; ask as few questions as possible; try and win."

Compromise with a principle, a dodging of the issue, a pussy-footing attitude, may for a while appear to have a successful life, but it is bound to be a short one. In the hustle and bustle of a national campaign, with its consequent cross-fire of campaign issues, you can becloud the vision of the American people for a limited period of time. You are bound, however, to meet with defeat when the good, hard, well-grounded, common sense of the rank and file of the people puts itself into action.

I admit the right of any state to desire the retention of the 18th amendment, if that is the way the majority of the people of that state feel about it. I said so in my speech of acceptance in 1928. And I promised to advocate such changes only as would preserve for the dry state the benefit of a national law that would continue to make interstate shipment of intoxicating beverages a crime. At the same time I believe that the residents of dry states should be willing to accord those of the wet states the same degree of self-government that they ask for themselves. How to accomplish this I will discuss in a later article.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

March 29, 1911

There was a large attendance and a royal good time was the result. Misses Olivia Smith and Stalling assisted, and after a short business meeting there was plenty of time for games. Ice cream and cake were served and the children all enjoyed the best kind of a good time.

Valuable Airports

WASHINGTON.—Real estate and buildings tied up in airports all over the United States represents a large sum, figures of the U. S. department of commerce show. There are now more than 1,100 airports scattered over the country and their value is estimated at $115,068,500. Improvements in progress this year calls for an expenditure of an additional $20,225,000. New York leads all other states in airport investment with $19,890,000.

CHINA INVENTED EVERYTHING

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers. But tonight I found out a lot of things without reading em. Bill, our eldest White Hope had a friend that had just come back from some expedition over in China with some College Boys, from Pomona College, of Pomona, Cal. And say, by the way that is one of the best Colleges in this whole Country, they are constantly grooming it for "The Oxford of America."

Well these boys had taken a lot of Movies of their trip and he just brought em up to the Ranch tonight and run them, and he told us a lot about China. Well China was having Liquor Pains, and they decided that the trouble with the Country was that the Officials of the Government was doing too much drinking. So they passed em an Amendment, just exactly two thousand years before Andy Volstead got his brilliant idea. So they passed it to keep the Officials from drinking, then nobody would be an Official, they would rather have the drink than the job.

So they not having a Democratic and Republican Party that was both afraid to say where they stood, in those days you stood where you stood. So they started in having trouble with Bootleggers. Just think of that, and here we thought we had the original Bootlegger problem.

Well along come the "Progressives" and held a Convention and decided to amend the Constitution, and put Liquor back with Rice as a National Commodity. So China really had all this fuss, that we are having away back before Confucious time. That old Confucious must have been quite a fellow, he was so smart they are just now figuring out what he really meant. But he dident get so far in his day, he had to die to make the Boys believe it. It dont do a fellow much good to be too far ahead of his time. Its better that he be a little Dumber and stay along with the times.

How Quick a College Boy Can Find Out the World Is Wrong

He showed us Movies of that great Chinese wall. It was a good deal like the ones the Republicans erected last year by the Architects, Hawley and Reed Smoot. China wanted to keep out her enemies, and Smoot and Hawley wanted to keep out our friends, and also keep our stuff in.

We keep out everything, unless it is owned by some rich Americans that want to bring it in, then the tariff dont hold. Take oil for instance. You cant bring in wheat, corn, cotton, or any of those in competition with our own, but Oil, you can. You can bring it in from Venzeula, or any other place, and knock ours out. Why? well thats because its owned by Americans who are richer, and more influential than the ones that have Independent oil Companies over here, but no foreign oil.

Our Alabi is that "It is saving our Oil." Thats just like shipping in foreign Autos, saying we want to save the ones we make, they might all wear out. But never mind that. That wont be changed as long as the Republicans stay in there, as we better just let that drop.

This Boy said that China along about two or three hundred A. D. (After Democrats) that China had the first League of Nations, that China was a lot of small Nations, and that they formed an exact League of Nations like the one that had the 14 points, and Lodge dident like any of em. Well they decided that that would be a good way to prevent war, they first got the two biggest ones to sign it, saying they wouldent fight each other. But they dident say that they wouldent join together and fight somebody else, so that scared the little ones till they thought they had to join for protection, and they all met and made out a Covenant, and it worked for a little while till they all got back on their feet from the last war and got armed for the next one, then some Lawyer found a flaw in it, and his country, which was one of the original signers, and the big one, they went out and defended their honor against some small ones, till they took em over, and the breaking up of the League of Chinese Nations was the start of the Chinese Empire. The League worked fine till they found out that the only way you can annex more territory is not by purchase, but by war.

Now Morrow has gone over to Europe to tell England and France and Italy that the Treaty they made with each other is Null and void, as far as we are concerned. See a lawyer has found a flaw in it. So from what I hear folks say and what I read, it just looks like China had the original idea of about everything that we had ever done and thought it was new.

Photography was one of theirs, so they are really responsible for Hollywood Printing, Gunpowder, Kimonas, Pajamas in the day time, worn by both men ond Women. This Boy says that most all the Revolutionary trouble over there starts in the Colleges among the Students. Well ours over here does too, but one good Cop with a Club can generally quell it.

Its funny how quick a College Boy can find out that the World is wrong. He might go out in the World from High School and live in it, and make a living in it for years and think it wasent such a bad place, but let him go to College and he will be the first one down on the Square on May Day to shout down with the Government. Course not all of em, but there is getting more and more, but soon as they grow up and go out and if they happen to make anything why they backslide, and he says it the same over there.

Well one great thing about China they dont bother nobody but themselves, they sure dont go off hunting trouble like all us "Civilized" Nations Commission some time (that goes all over the world to investigate everybodys business) and go see it.

MAKERS OF 'WHIZ' TOP DRESSING TO CONFINE CAMPAIGN TO THE PRESS

The R. M. Hollingshead company, manufacturers of Whiz top dressing, have just announced that the 1931 advertising program for this product will be confined to newspapers in 110 cities and to the trade press.

Their campaign in 1930 was conducted in the national magazines. The company feels that the use of local newspapers backed up with a direct mail campaign that has been prepared for the dealers, plus the use of attractive window trims, will prove highly productive.

Rivaling U. S.

BERLIN.—The divorce rate in Germany is steadily mounting due, according to experts, to the breaking up of unions made during the war period. Figures show that during 1929 there were 39,424 divorces granted. This represents an increase of 2,500 over those of 1928.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . . By Robert L. Ripley

EXPLANATION OF LAST SUNDAY'S CARTOON — The Longest Word: The long word of 310 letters was used as a means of demonstrating: 1. The extent to which even the English language is capable of forming enormous word monsters, and, 2. The whole field of superstitious divinatory practices which are as old as humanity. The literal translation of the long word is "A deluded human who practices divination or forecasting by means of phenomena, interpretation of acts or other manifestations related to the following animate or inanimate objects and appearances: birds, oracles, Bible, ghosts, crystal gazing, shadows, air appearances, birth stars, meteors, winds, sacrificial appearances, entrails of humans and fishes, fire, red hot irons, altar smoke, mice, grain picking by rooster, snakes, herbs, fountains, water, wands, dough, meal, barley, salt, lead, dice, arrows, hatchet balance, sieve, ring suspension, random dots, precious stones, pebbles, pebble heaps, mirrors, ash writing, dreams, palymistry, nail rays, finger rings, numbers, book passages, name letterings, laughing manners, ventriloquism, circle walking, wax, susceptibility to hidden springs, wine and shoulder blades." Various monastic authors of the middle ages writing on the subject of human superstition have actually used such a long word with a slightly varying sequence of items. General Bisson: Geral Bisson (1787-1811) was born in the French army and became an active member of it as soon as he could walk. He held every rank from private to general, gaining promotion by exceptional bravoure. He was a man of enormous stature and his drinking and eating feats were the talk of the French army. He drank 16 pints of wine for breakfast each morning for 22 years, without impairing his military usefulness in the least. Even in times of food shortage Napoleon himself always saw to it that the tremendous allowance for Bisson would not be curtailed in the least. See: Savarin's "Physiology of Taste."

Majestic Offers 'The Easiest Way' With 'The Sea Beneath' Wednesday 'Skippy' Will Come Next Saturday

Robert Montgomery, the straight lover, is great as usual, with particular emphasis on the denouement scene where Menjou brings about a show-down. This young man always excels in natural, carefully considered acting. "Madison" is a difficult part, done superbly.

Marjorie Rambeau, the New York stage character star, follows up her talkie "Min and Bill' success with a beautifully etched "Elfie" as the "bad example" of the piece, fits easily into the warp and woof of the plot, and the Rambeau interpretation is indeed splendid.

Anita Page, is good in anything she attempts and her "Peg", sister to Laura, is very satisfying. Clark Gable, of "The Last Mile," is Anita's husband. Extremely fine is the scene where he orders Laura from his house, as a person unfit for the neighbors to see.

For comedy, the famous Cohen and Kelley fun team is back in more arguments. Charlie Murray and George Sidney never were funnier than they are in "Go to Blazes." Majestic talking news contains many interesting and timely subjects and the cartoon, "Tex in 1999" goes over with a great big bang.

"The Seas Beneath"

Of the many unsolved mysteries of the war, one of the most baffling concerns the fate of some 28 German U-boats, according to George O'Brien, a former naval officer himself, and the leading man in "The Seas Beneath," the first talkie of the submarine warfare.

"The Seas Beneath," coming to the Majestic next Wednesday is based on the activities of an American "mystery ship" working in conjunction with an American submarine to capture a noted U-boat off the Canaries.

Marion Lessing, the Viennese star, makes her feature-picture debut as the German heroine of this production, and the supporting cast includes Warren Hymer, William Collier Sr., who also staged the production.

"Skippy"

Ever since Paramount presented to the world "Tom Sawyer," kids of all ages, from 6 to 60 have been asking when will they be able to see another of those delightful plays. Here is the answer. Of all the great kids there is none like "Skippy." He has friends from Maine to Mexico who chuckle at his pranks every morning over the breakfast table. He is the acknowledged king of all comic-strip characters, and will be seen at the Majestic starting next Saturday.

Mitzi Green, as Skippy's pestiferous next-door neighbor, Eloise, has a laughable characterization much like the exasperating, harum-scarum kid she portrayed in "Honey."

Enid Bennett, an excellent actress, returns to the screen in the sympathetic characterization of Skippy's "Ma."

Donald Haines, another graduate of "Our Gang" comedies and youthful star of the "Smitty" series, is the young "heavy" of "Skippy," as the son of the local dog-catcher.

Robert Coogan, the five-year-old kid brother of Jackie Coogan is "Sooky" brought to life. He bears an amazing resemblance to Jackie Coogan of "The Kid," who the world took to it's heart immediately.

The management of the Majestic is anticipating a greater run with "Skippy" than with "Tom Sawyer" and is advising all mothers and teachers to arrange to bring the k'ddies to the matinee shows, as the older kiddies are very likely to fill the theater during the evening as they did with "Tom Sawyer."

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR WEEK LOCAL THEATERS

Musical Feature Majestic Theater Added Attraction

"The Five Texas Rockets," youthful and talented young Texas beauties and well known interpreters of the modern arts of singing and dancing, have been engaged to appear at the Majestic for a three-day engagement starting Wednesday, April 1. These young women, Misses Sally Luke, Ruth Rawls, Irma Wilkinson, Minnie Merle Massie and Margaret Stanford are well known throughout the state, having appeared in the larger cities of Texas on both the Publix and R. K. O. circuits.

They will present a series of highly entertaining singing, dancing and novelty numbers and will appear in duos and trios as well as ensemble.

"The Five Texas Rockets," as the act is billed and known, have enjoyed a successful career. Following 18 weeks at the Bagdad Supper club in Dallas, they appeared in Jack McLallen's Revue, which played in New York and Brooklyn for 63 consecutive weeks. They come to the Majestic direct from an engagement on the Publix stage show circuit.

In addition to "The Five Texas Rockets," who are booked as a special attraction at the Majestic, the program will include George O'Brien in his latest picture, "The Seas Beneath," which features Marion Lessing, the screen's newest find.

'Man of the World' Strand Feature With William Powell and Big Cast 'Strangers May Kiss' Next Friday

Powell's excellence in romance and heart-tugging drama, plus the fascination of the Parisian setting, plus the presence in the cast of two superb actresses, plus an absorbing story make "Man of the World" a picture to get excited about, and that's why audiences Friday and Saturday were unanimous in their praise of this picture. Hollywood has an axiom that a picture is only as good as its supporting cast. Paramount gave William Powell in "Man of the World" player-support worthy of an actor of his proved ability and of the excellence of the story. Carole Lombard's great gift for dramatic interpretation, her youth, blonde beauty and vivacity are given their greatest chance for effective expression. She was seen recently in "Fast and Loose" and "It Pays to Advertise." Wynne Gibson came to the screen after a long and successful apprenticeship on the stage. She was seen to advantage in two Jack Oakie pictures, "The Gang Buster" and "June Moon." Lawrence Gray and Guy Kibbee have important roles.

And there is more entertainment with this feature attraction. Marjorie Beebe is starred in a two-reel comedy, "Ex-Sweetie" that is 20 minutes packed with laughs and hilarious fun. A delightful screen song, a scenic and the news of the world through the eyes of the Paramount complete the program.

"Strangers May Kiss"

Norma Shearer is starred in "Strangers May Kiss" which comes to the Strand next Friday. This picture marks the return of the delightful actress after an absence of more than six months. It is of unusual interest because it again has her as the heroine of a best-selling novel from the pen of Ursula Parrott, popular author, whose first book provided the story for "Divorce," the picture in which Miss Shearer won the 1930 award of the academy of motion picture arts and sciences for the outstanding performance of the year.

The new role is even a more daring one than that of the previous picture and the characterization is one of glamour and smart sophistication. Two of the screen's most popular leading men share masculine honors in the sparkling production, Robert Montgomery and Neil Hamilton. Robert Montgomery played with Miss Shearer in "Divorce" and "Their Own Desire," and recently was featured in "Inspiration" and "The Easiest Way." Neil Hamilton is best known for his remarkable performance in "The Dawn Patrol." An unusually imposing cast appears in supporting roles. Marjorie Rambeau, Irene Rich and Hale Hamilton have important parts in the pictures and others include Jed Prouty and Chonchita Montenegro, exotic Spanish dancer.

Signs for Short Subjects

Ethel Merman, starring in the stage hit, "Girl Crazy," has been signed to appear in a series of short subjects. Her first picture will be "Old Man Blues."

'THE PACE THAT KILLS' FOLLY THEATER SUNDAY FOR THREE-DAY SHOWING

Just at this moment the entire country is shocked at the revelations concerning the operations of a drug ring, whose activities were revealed through the death of a notorious gambler. Seizures of immense quantities of narcotics on their way to deal out death and destruction to America and American people have awakened the public to a realization of the proportions to which the narcotic traffic has grown, and the need for prompt and vigorous action if the spreading evil is to be checked. Therefore "The Pace That Kills," which comes to the Folly theater Sunday for three days, is particularly timely and carries a tremendous message to the thinking people of America. "The Pace That Kills" is a stark story of a clean country boy who encounters the destroyer all unprepared and pays the supreme penalty of folly and ignorance.

'Lightnin' at Gem With Will Rogers Starting Sunday

Will Rogers, international wit and philosopher, is one Hollywood star who has no taste for the public eye. He has never attended the premiere presentation of one of his pictures. When such an event is about to take place Rogers invariably finds it convenient to be at some distant point or on the way to one in an airplane.

Rogers does attend previews of his pictures, but on such occasions, manages to remain in hiding until the theater lights are dimmed before he makes his entrance and gropes for the single seat that has been reserved for him.

When the picture is finished and the lights go up, he is missing, having made a quiet exit before the final fadeout. He is on his way home before the first of the audience reaches the street.

"Lightnin'," coming to the Gem Sunday for three days, was adapted from John Golden's tremendously successful stage play. Rogers, in the leading role is supported by a cast that includes such notables as Louise Dresser, famous for her mother roles, Helen Cohan, youthful and talented daughter of the distinguished George M. Cohan, Joel McCrea, popular leading juvenile, J. M. Kerrigan, outstanding character comedian and Sharon Lynn.

Stars Gather Once Each Month at Exclusive Club Where They Frolic Hidden From Eyes of the Public

Shooting "Scarlet Hours"

Work on "Scarlet Hours," in which Nancy Carrol and Fredric March are co-starred, began Monday at the Paramount New York studios. Included in the cast are Phoebe Foster, Alison Skipworth, Alan Hale, Hubert Druce, Catherine Emmett, Donald Meek, Francine Dowd, Tod Waller, Clarence Derwent, Cora Witherspoon, Francis Pierlot and Charles Howard. "Scarlet Hours" was written by Edmund Goulding and is centered in the old quarter of Prague, Czecho-Slovakia.

Reverse Usual Method

Reversing the usual method of making a motion picture version of a stage hit, the comedy team of Smith and Dale is opening at the Palace theater in New York this week with the stage version of their succesful Paramount short, "The S. S. Malaria." The act will be on the boards with the original company until the comedy duo start production at the Paramount New York studios in "Mendel, Inc." in which they starred on the stage last season.

Tom Wilson in Cast

Tom Wilson, who first gained fame as a blackface comedian with D. W. Griffith, has been added to the cast of "The Vice Squad," inside story of the operations of the metropolitan police squads.

Constance Bennett in "The Easiest Way" with Robert Montgomery, Adolphe Menjou and Anita Page. The frank, fearless drama of a woman who sinned, at Majestic through Tuesday.

William Powell and Carole Lombard in "Man of the World," at Strand through Thursday.

Making French Version

A French version of "The Smiling Lieutenant," the Lubitsch-Chevalier production now being filmed at the Paramount New York studio is being made simultaneously with the English one. This is one of the few instances where the same cast has been used in both versions. Chevalier, Claudette Colbert, Miriam Hopkins and Georges Barbier, who have the principal roles, all speak fluent French.

Nugent Has Comedy Role

Edward Nugent, who broke into motion pictures as a laborer in a film studio, will have an important comedy role in the all-star cast of the Broadway stage hit, "Up Pops the Devil."

Ethel Barrymore, Noted Actress to Appear at Auditorium on April 16 One Night Only in 'The Love Duel'

Lee Shubert will present Ethel Barrymore in Lili Hatvany's Hungarian play, "The Love Duel," adapted by Zoe Akins, in the Memorial auditorium one night only, Thursday April 16.

"The Love Duel" is a sophisticated and cynical picture of modern continental society and offers Ethel Barrymore in one of her most brilliant roles. The characters and the plot were taken from life and consequently when the play was first acted in Budapest it created a sensation as the audience recognized the people on whom Baroness Hatvany had drawn to make her drama.

Baroness Hatvany is a prominent social and literary personage, well known in Europe. Miss Barrymore introduced her to America with her production of "The Love Duel," which she acted in her own theater in New York City and throughout the leading cities of the country. Hatvany's "Tonight or Never" is now being played in New York. Zoe Akins, who made the American version of "The Love Duel," has had many dramas produced in New York, including "Declasee," "The Royal Fandango" by Miss Barrymore, and "The Greeks had a Word for It," which is one of the season's successes on Broadway.

Miss Barrymore made her stage debut at the age of 13 in her grandmother, Mrs. John Drew's company. She has acted many roles, ranging from Shakespeare and Sheridan to Ibsen, Galsworthy, Pinero, Barrie, Somerset Maugham and many other modern playwrights of more or less importance. No other living actress has appeared in such a vared list of characters.

Walter Gilbert is leading man for Miss Barrymore. The cast includes Jane Bramley, Georgie Drew Mendum, Anita Rothe, Ethel Barrymore Colt, Carol March, Harry Plimmer, William Kershaw, Marcel Dill, Malcolm Soltan, Charles Quigley and John Drew Colt. Watson Barrett designed the three setting from sketches he made in Hungary and Switzerland. Edward A. McHugh is stage manager and Maurice Nitke musical director.

Mail orders will now be received, according to H. C. Cheshire, local promoter, if accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope and the proper remittance.

Clive Brook Returns

Having completed his role opposite Tallulah Bankhead in "Tarnished Lady," Clive Brook, has returned to Hollywood from New York to start work in "The Lawyer's Secret."

HERE AND THERE ON THE RADIO WAVES

PRESIDENT WILL GIVE EIGHT RADIO TALKS IN 60 DAYS

All of Hoover's Speeches to Be Broadcast Over NBC Chain

FIRST ADDRESS WILL BE AT RED CROSS MEETING

Three Appearances Are Scheduled During Trip Through Mid-West

Eight presidential addresses within two months will be broadcast over extensive NBC networks after President Hoover and his party return from their tour of American outposts in the Caribbean.

The president has utilized to a larger extent than any other executive, the vast facilities of radio in transmitting his messages to the American people. Including these eight talks scheduled between April 13 and June 16, the total number of times he has spoken to a nation-wide audience will have reached 47.

Half of the eight broadcasts will originate in Washington. The first will be on April 13 when President Hoover will address a gathering of American Red Cross representatives. On the following day, he will address the pan-American delegates in the hall of the Americas in the pan-American building. In a recent proclamation the executive called on the nation to generally observe April 14, pan-American day.

On May 4, President Hoover's address to the international chamber of commerce conclave will be picked up by NBC microphones and conveyed to American listeners. On May 21, his speech commemorating the 50th anniversary of the American Red Cross will be broadcast.

Next, the president will make his annual Memorial day address at the historical Valley Forge in Pennsylvania.

Three Hoover speeches to be delivered during his brief excursion to the mid-West in mid-June will also be broadcast by the National Broadcasting company.

The first of these will be heard June 15 at Indianapolis during the Republican Editorial association convention. The following day the executive will eulogize a former president in whose cabinet he served when he speaks at the dedication of the Harding memorial at Marion, Ohio. The third address of this tour will be made at Springfield, Ill., in dedicating the Lincoln memorial at the former home of the great emancipator.

London Financier Will Give Radio Talk in London

In the place of Hugh Walpole, whose talk has been postponed Columbia will present Viscount D'Abernon, eminent financier and former British ambassador to Berlin, in the international broadcast from London scheduled for 12:30 p. m., eastern standard time, Sunday, March 29, through WABC and a coast-to-coast network.

Lord D'Abernon has had a long career in many branches of statecraft, beginning in the Orient in 1882, when he was associated with the Greco-Turkish settlement and culminating in the positions of financial adviser to the Egyptian government and governor of the Imperial Ottoman bank. After several years as a member of the house of commons he was given a title by the Liberal government of Mr. Asquith, and was appointed chairman of important imperial commissions. In 1920 he went as ambassador to Berlin, and there originated the idea which later took concrete form as the Locarno pact.

His interest in economics and finance has not diminished during his service in other fields and he headed the British trade "crusade" to Argentina two years ago. More recently he published a pamphlet on the present abnormal slump throughout the world, which attracted widespread interest in Europe. The title of Lord D'Abernon's address will be "The Economic Crisis—Cause and Cure."

Italian Music to Fill Program of Beniamino Gigli

Beniamino Gigli, famous tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be the soloist in a program of Italian music to be broadcast Sunday evening, March 29, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, central standard time, from WEAF, over an NBC network. Mr. Gigli will sing the lovely aria "Cielo E Mar" from Ponchielli's opera "Lo Gioconda" as well as songs by Denza and Russo-Di Capua. Nathaniel Shilkret and the Victor concert orchestra will also be heard, playing a representative list of Italian compositions.

Mr. Gigli began his musical studies in early childhood, singing in the choir of the largest church in the conservatory in Rome, making his operatic debut 17 years ago. He rapidly became one of the most celebrated Italian tenors of the day, and has duplicated that popularity in this country since joining the Metropolitan Opera company. As a member of the Metropolitan, he has sung most of the leading tenor roles, and his fame has grown steadily since his American debut.

LILY PONS WILL PRESENT EASTER RADIO PROGRAM

Easter Sunday will mark what promises to be the most thrilling and important radio debut in many seasons, when Lily Pons, youthful French soprano who recently made a sensational debut at the Metropolitan opera house, steps before the microphone for the first time. Miss Pons who has been acclaimed as the logical successor to the great Adeline Patti, will be heard Sunday evening, April 5, beginning at 6:30 o'clock central standard time, from station WEAF, over an NBC network, in a program of operatic excerpts.

GOLD MEDAL BILL TO BE BROADCAST BY STATION WFAA

The Gold Medal express, latest feature of the National Broadcasting company, makes its initial appearance before the microphone. This weekly half hour program is sponsored by General Mills, Inc. The entertainers will be the Gold Medal Cake Flour orchestra, an internationally known New York recording orchestra which has already proved its popularity with thousands of radio fans; the Wheaties Boys, "Crispy," "Crunchy" and "Munchy," a trio of melodious songsters and imitators; and the Kitchen-tested Twins, a piano duo, composed of two well known stage and recording artists. These radio entertainers will appear regularly on each weekly half hour program of the Gold Medal express.

A novel feature of this new Gold Medal express program will be the weekly appearance of different vaudeville and recording stars. On the first program, March 30, the harmonica and steel guitar recording artist Smeck will give an imitation on the ukulele of Bill Robinson's tap dancing. Each week a different star will appear on the Gold Medal express program giving a novel and varied character to this broadcast. The Gold Medal Cake Flour orchestra will open the first program with the selection, "You're the One I Care For," and will later present a group of the most popular numbers of the week.

WJZ and associated radio stations of the National Broadcasting company will carry this program every Monday evening at the same time, 7:30 to 8 o'clock, central standard time, over 22 stations extending from New York to the Rocky mountains. Texas stations carrying the program are WFAA at Dallas and WOAI at San Antonio.

DENNIS KING WILL PRESENT ROMANTIC MUSICAL PROGRAM

Singing songs of the romantic type, ranging from the lusty humor of the Russian "Nichavo" to the brief and tender pathos of "Homing," Dennis King, motion picture and musical comedy star, will be heard as guest artist in the Swift "Garden Hour," Sunday, March 29, from 2:30 to 3 p. m., central standard time.

The program, seventh of a series of 13 weekly presentations sponsored by the Vigoro plant food division of Swift and company, will be broadcast over the National Broadcasting company's red network of 19 radio stations.

King, a baritone, is the product of the English legitimate stage. Before coming to America and subsequently becoming a musical comedy star, he played in Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" and "Anthony and Cleopatra." Lee Shubert, New York producer, announced recently that he will be starred in "Peter Ibbetson" which has not been played in the United States since 1917. King said this will be his first purely dramatic appearance since his coming to America.

He has starred in three of the leading musical productions of the past few years; "Three Musketeers," "Vagabond King," and "Rose Marie." He also played the screen version of "Vagabond King."

Swift and company's Master Gardener, who has been delighting millions of home gardeners each Sunday and Thursday during the past six weeks with his commonsense talks on gardening, will again speak for 10 minutes during the "Garden Hour." His topic, "The Garden Club Movement," is expected to aid members of garden clubs and similar organizations in their plans for spring planting and gardening activities.

SCOTTISH BALLADS TO BE PRESENTED DURING BROADCAST ON APRIL 2

Scottish melodies and ballads whose harmonies and beautiful lyrics have made them universally beloved will be presented Thursday, April 2, over a coast-to-coast NBC-WJZ network at 8:30 p. m. central standard time.

Frank Parker, tenor, and Frances Hessey, musical comedy and concert soprano, will be the featured vocalists. Miss Hessey will sing "Robin Adair" and "Loch Lomond," and Parker will be heard in "Lassie O' Mine."

The program opens with "Comin' Through the Rye" and ends with "Auld Lang Syne." It includes most of the best known Scottish airs and several which are rarely heard on the radio.

NOTABLES TO BE HEARD OVER MIKE ON APRIL 14 PAN AMERICAN PROGRAM

Addresses of President Hoover, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, and the Mexican Ambassador, Manuel C. Tellez, on Tuesday, April 14, "Pan American day" will be heard by listeners of the Columbia Broadcasting system from 11:30 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. central standard time.

A special program of music appropriate to "Pan American day," which will be played by the U. S. Marine band.

The program will originate in the beautiful Hall of the Americas of the Pan American Union building in Washington. Throughout the day the Pan American union will be the center of celebrations marking the peace and good will existing among the American nations.

HOW ANDY'S LAWSUIT WAS BROADCAST

By AL R. WILLIAMSON
Of the National Broadcasting Co.
(Written Especially for NEA Service and The Wichita Daily Times)

CHICAGO, March 28.—Most every one knows that Charles Correll and Freeman Gosden write all the dialog and portray all the characters in their Amos 'n' Andy episodes. But until now no one but themselves knew just how they worked to produce the desired voice for each character.

The recent breach of promise suit of Madame Queen against Andrew H. Brown, president of the Fresh Air Taxicab Co., Incorpulated, is a case in point.

For weeks both Correll and Gosden worked on each new voice, bringing out just the quality they sought to delineate the character they were to introduce. Then when the time came they were ready.

Those characters that "appeared" at the famous trial, that ended so ingloriously for Madame Queen, were divided as follows:

Amos, Lawyer Smith, the Judge, Brother Crawford, Lightnin' and Madame Queen were all played by Gosden, while Correll took the parts of Andy, Lawyer Collins and the bailiff.

"Order in the Court!"

A trial scene opens with the bailiff calling for order in the court.

In the studio Correl stood between six and eight feet from the back of the microphone. His hand was cupped to his mouth and he called into the air. Thus to the radio listener it sounded as though the bailiff had shouted into a large courtroom.

The judge enters and asks the attorneys if they are ready to proceed with the trial.

Gosden in portraying the character of the judge worked about six feet from the side of the microphone, talking in a low, soft, easy tone. In order to make his voice more impressive he was very deliberate and stood with his head slightly thrown back and his stomach pushed out.

In portraying Smith, Gosden worked about three feet directly in front of the microphone until during the final argument when his plea became dramatic and he stepped back to five feet.

Bouncing Brother Crawford

Brother Crawford takes the stand. He is a slight, nervous man, very precise in his speech.

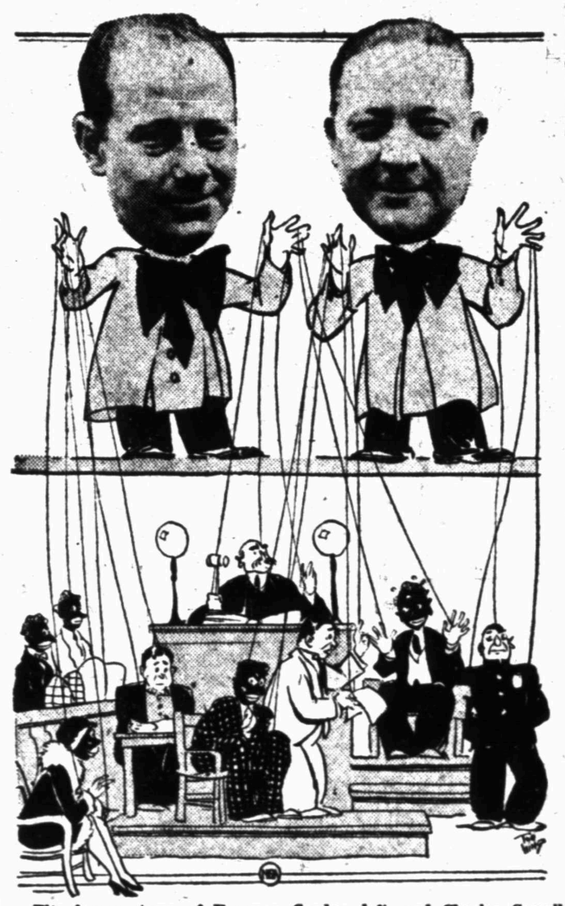

Gosden had to play the difficult role of portraying two characters, the prosecuting attorney and the witness for the prosecution, at the same time. In order to characterize Brother Crawford he sat in an arm chair, pushing himself up and down with his arms as he talked—in other words, bouncing.

When Smith asked the witness a question Gosden, as Smith, leaned away from the mike three feet. Before Crawford answered Gosden swerved toward the mike and began his bouncing in the chair. To the radio listener they were two distinct characters.

The defense lawyer, Collins, calls Andy to the stand.

Now Correll had to impersonate two characters. As Collins he worked about three feet from the microphone, but as Andy he went to within a few inches of the sensitive instrument.

Consequently, in the dialog that followed Correll constantly swerved to and from the mike, switching the tone and tempo of his voice within the fraction of a second to give the correct characterization.

Amos is on the stand. Gosden portrayed both Amos and Smith. As Amos he worked back and to one side of the microphone and, as Smith, directly into the mike. He swayed back and forth as he talked, changing his voice as he swung.

Lightnin' also was worked by talking a foot away from the microphone in a soft, deliberate voice.

Madam Queen on Stand

When Madam Queen took the stand there came one of the most dramatic points in the trial. For that matter, it was one of the most dramatic moments in the entire history of Amos 'n' Andy. Only once before did Correll and Gosden introduce a woman's voice in Amos 'n' Andy episodes. They fought shy of it as long as they could, but their situations worked them into the position of having to put her on the witness stand.

A lot of deep thought, hard work and worry went behind these few minutes of dialog. Gosden tested his voice against those of a number of women. He took his position about one foot from the microphone and talked. He took it easy, putting no apparent effort into the words.

At the close of each episode, two disheveled, perspiring young men opened the doors of the studio and leaned back for a relaxing cigaret before they donned their coats to go home for dinner.

Aided by "Legal Talent"

The legal perfection of the trial amazed even attorneys. Correll and Gosden obtained the actual routine procedure from A. L. Ashby, vice president and general counsel of the National Broadcasting company and the Chicago firm of Clarence Darrow, Smith Cronson & Smith.

However, the remainder of the legal background they picked up themselves from reading law books and from their general observation in courts and trial accounts from the newspapers.

Now that the trial is over, the boys feel that they have had exercise enough to last them until the golf season opens. For, besides jumping back and forth to obtain the right positions at the microphones for the various characters, they did a lot of walking around the studio to give the impression of witnesses leaving and walking up to the witness stand.

Quite a complete show-troup, this Correll and Gosden.

ETHEL BARRYMORE WILL BROADCAST TUESDAY

Ethel Barrymore, famous actress, will again be on the air Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock. The program Tuesday morning is the third of a series of 13 programs, featuring Miss Barrymore in a brief talk on women's fashions. Miss Barrymore's talk Tuesday morning is entitled "The Three New Spring Dress Styles." The program also features the popular and widely known Princetonian orchestra, whose part of the program this week is given over to five very popular fox trot numbers, "Happy Feet," "Reaching for the Moon," from Douglas Fairbanks' picture of the same name; "Tie a Little String Around Your Finger," "I'm Yours" and the never to be forgotten favorite, "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," popular several years ago.

Imagine This!

WELLINGTON, N. Z.—In these hard times would you recommend that your salary be cut? Neither would we, but Lord Blebisloe, governor general of New Zealand, has requested that his official salary of $25,000 a year be reduced 10 per cent for the public interest. The "request" has been granted.

YOUNG VETERANS HOLD RADIO JOBS COLUMBIA CHAIN

Announcer 26 Years of Age Has Longest Service Record

STARTED BROADCASTING WITH OLD CRYSTAL SET

Artist Can Play Any Stringed Instrument And Is Crooner

Don Ball is the youngest veteran in the ranks of Columbia's announcers. He is only 26 now, and has been at this microphone business for eight years. At 18, when he was a freshman at Brown university, his classmates used to huddle around the earphones of crystal sets and listen to Don put on one-man radio shows from station WEAN in Providence.

He can play any stringed instrument and for half hour stretches between afternoon classes Don Ball would announce Don Ball, crooning to the accompaniment of a guitar, banjo or ukelele.

He graduated from Brown with a Ph. B degree, the honor of having been leader of the musical clubs and class orator, a couple of thousand friends who predicted great success for him on the stage, and not even the remotest prospect of a job.

Radio was still a novelty, it had not yet been discovered that there was gold in them thar studios. So Don tucked his uke under one arm and waved goodbye to Providence with the other.

For a year he was a wandering minstrel of the big movie houses of the country, putting on, with no little success, his act with guitars and such and serving as master of ceremonies for movie house shows. In between he served as director of amusements in metropolitan clubs and hotels.

And then radio and Don came into their own. Network broadcasting began, the loud speaker supplanted the ear phones in the American home, high priced talent from concert stage, vaudeville and movies stormed the doors of broadcasting studios, and trained announcers were badly needed. Don and Columbia got together and that was that.

Don is blond, blue-eyed and curly haired, is five feet ten inches tall and weighs 165 pounds. He is fond of sports—tennis, golf, swimming and sailing. But above these he places rustic rambles—"the more primeval the better."

ROOSEVELT'S LIFE SUBJECT OF RADIO DRAMA OVER WABC

A dramatization of the life of Theodore Roosevelt, will be presented to school children by the American School of the Air and broadcast over WABC and a coast to coast network of the Columbia system at 1:30 p. m., central standard time, March 30.

The program will feature two or three incidents connected with the president's entrance into politics, his first rise to political fame and an almost unknown incident which happened to him when he was a ranchman. The episodes have been chosen to illustrate particularly the character of Roosevelt.

The drama, which opens in 1880 with Roosevelt as a young member of the Republican club of the 21st district, New York, and ends in Dickinson with Roosevelt lodging some prisoners with the sheriff after a 300 mile journey, has been adapted for the radio by Henry Fisk Carlton.

Young Opera Celebrity Will Sing Part in Cantata Over NBC Network Won Fame as Baritone in Chicago

One of America's youngest opera celebrities will be heard when Barre-Hill, baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company, sings the part of "Christ" in the DuBois cantata, "Seven Last Words of Christ," to be presented from the NBC Chicago studios Friday evening, April 3, at 8:30 o'clock central standard time.

Still in his early 20's Barre-Hill has, during the past three years with the Chicago operatic organization, reached a position of national prominence.

In the season just closed, Mr. Hill was chosen to create the baritone role in the world premier of the new jazz opera, "Camille." Selected and trained by Mary Garden to sing the difficult role of "Pelleas" opposite her "Melisande," Mr. Hill was acclaimed by Miss Garden and critics as one of the greatest singers in that role since the celebrated soprano created the "Melisande" in Paris 30 years ago.

Recently, because of the illness of a leading singer just preceding an opera performance in Boston, the young singer substituted successfully with only some three hours notice in a role that he had only sung once, some years before.

CLASSICAL MUSIC WILL BE FEATURED SIMMONS PROGRAM

Sigrid Onegin, Metropolitan star, who is one of the world's leading interpreters of contralto operatic roles, includes two selections from "Carmen" as well as noted concert songs as the Simmon's guest artist Monday, March 30, at 7:30 p. m. central standard time over station WABC and a large coast-to-coast Columbia network.

Madame Onegin sings the celebrated "Habanera" and the "Gypsy Song," both from Bizet's "Carmen" and "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Saint Saen's "Samson and Delilah." These are among the best known songs for contralto among the world's operatic literature. Another number is Schubert's "Der Erl Koenig," one of his best-loved works, a song written when he was but 18 years old. It is one of the finest narrative songs in all musical literature.

Well loved concert songs to be sung by Madame Onegin include Brahms "Sapphic Ode," Brewer's "The Fairy Pipers" and the traditional German folk song "Lauterbach."

She will be accompanied by a large concert orchestra under the direction of Wilfred Pelletier, noted Metropolitan conductor. Pelletier also conducts at the Ravinia Park opera and is a director of the San Francisco Opera company.

WEST TO BE SALUTED DURING NEXT CONOCO MUSICAL BROADCAST

Saluting the West, the next broadcast of the Conoco Listeners' hour will continue the series of programs dedicated to sections of the country of interest to motor travelers. Music typical of the West will be heard during the program in accordance with the wishes of the listeners themselves and promise an exceptionally fine broadcast. The orchestra and the quartet are preparing special features they report.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT REVIEW PRESENTS VARIETY BILL

At 8:30 o'clock each Wednesday night, the KGKO Wednesday night review goes on the air with Zack Hurt as master of ceremonies, with an hour of varied, peppy entertainment. The review this Wednesday night will include in the program such well known artists in the organization as the KGKO Ramblers, the Blue Room trio, Paul Cooper, Dolores Myler, Jimmy Dugan, the Irish tenor; the Premier trio, the Dulce Don Senyo trio, Harriet Bradley, well known mezzo soprano; Nancy Mead, and Zack Hurt, who besides being master of ceremonies, occasionally takes a turn at the microphone. The Wednesday night review has met the demand for a program presenting a great variety of entertainment.

THE WICHITA VALLEY FARMER

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE FARMER, DAIRYMAN, POULTRY RAISER AND FRUIT AND TRUCK GROWER

BILL TO FORCE SINGLE COTTON VARIETY URGED

Measure Modeled After Law in California Advocated

UNIFORMITY OF STAPLE DESCRIBED AS BENEFIT

Legislation Would Give Voters of Counties Right of Decision

AUSTIN, March 28.—Enactment of the one-variety cotton bill, modeled after California laws, would put farmers in Texas on the easier road to higher prices, in the opinion of J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture.

The bill, introduced by Representative Lawrence Westbrook of Waco, was sponsored in the legislature by the Texas cotton committee, a group of leaders in the cotton industry. Although following the theory of the California law, the bill would not be mandatory in its provisions.

It provides that voters of any county or community may hold an election to determine whether cotton grown in the community shall all be of one variety. After a variety has been established, it would be a misdemeanor to plant any other variety.

Planting a single variety or species in a single community would benefit everybody who handles the cotton, from the ginner to the spinner, McDonald said, with the ultimate benefit and profit acruing to the farmer.

McDonald pointed out that in ginning the speed of operations may be increased or decreased. Some staples, he said, gin best at low speed; others at high speed. But the ginner, forced to gin cotton of various staple length and strength, usually sets his machinery at an average speed, regardless of the type of cotton he is called upon to gin, since obviously it would be impractical to re-adjust his machinery for all the different types.

If the ginner knew, however, that all the cotton would be of a practically uniform staple and strength, he could adjust the gin so that it would be most efficient for that particular variety, assuring the farmer that the staple would not be injured in the ginning process.

The spinner, likewise, demands uniformity of staple above all else. His particular needs may be for a short staple, or for a long staple; but he doesn't want cotton that is part long and part short. Since the spinners' needs govern buyers, the buyers would gravitate toward those communities known to grow a uniform cotton. Thus the farmer would benefit, by being assured a market for his cotton at the highest price for that type of cotton.

McDonald cited the example of the state prison farms, which are limited to one or two varieties. Each variety is ginned at a separate gin, adjusted for that particular staple. As a consequence the prison product commanded a premium over the market last year amounting to $65,000 on a $600,000 crop.

GOVERNOR COMMENDS MOVEMENTS SEEKING NEW USE FOR COTTON

AUSTIN, March 28.—Governor Ross S. Sterling has joined the ranks of those who seek to open new markets for cotton by finding new uses for the South's greatest agricultural commodity.

On the eve of a southwide conference in Atlanta, Ga., March 23, Governor Sterling prepared a statement which was taken to the Atlanta meeting by Texas delegates, commending all movements to encourage the use of cotton.

DEMONSTRATION OF MEAT CANNING GIVEN IN BELL

TEMPLE, Texas, March 28.—A meat canning demonstration given by the Bell county home demonstration agent, Miss Maurine Beard, at the home of H. H. Hardeman near Palo Alto, 90 containers of beef were canned in the presence and with the help of 25 people of that community. F. J. Lesiker, a member of the group, announced that he was going to buy a cooker if he had to sell one of his mules to get it. On being asked which one he would sell he replied "Old Beck, probably she is the biggest one and will get us the biggest cooker, for we'll need a pretty big one to can for our family of 12."

ASPARAGUS ROOTS GIVEN BONHAM HOME GARDENERS

BONHAM, Texas, March 28.—A local nurseryman, Jim Gribble, has given each 4-H pantry demonstrator of the Fannin county home demonstration clubs enough asparagus roots of the Washington varieties to set a bed in her garden. These roots, along with a leaflet telling how to plant and care for an asparagus bed, were given out at the February county home demonstration council meeting.

Labor Saving Device

KERRVILLE, Texas, March 28.—The most popular household labor saving devices of an inexpensive nature as chosen by Kerr county home demonstration club women are egg slicer, vegetable grater, cheese and nut rotary grater, fruit corer, super-sieve colander on stand, pastry brush, supply of oiled paper containers for baking, white crayon for marking hems and the like in sewing, and suitable container for cut flowers.

President of Dairy Association Here Urges Citizens of Wichita To Patronize Home Milk Industry

By BEN F. GREER
President, Wichita Dairy Association

The dairy industry is one of the greatest of our many agricultural industries. Until recently dairying has been fairly prosperous and enjoying a place in the sun. By reason of its growing popularity, the economic depression, the increasing competition of oleomargarine and other substitutes for butter, the unemployment situation, have all tended to bring about such low prices that it has been hard to make ends meet and many are selling their cows and getting out of the game. That is always true of most agricultural industries except cotton, corn and wheat. The cotton farmer, the wheat farmer and the corn farmer, no matter how low prices are always plant with the hope that the price will improve. But with hogs and dairy cows in the South, especially when prices get low, the farmer at once tries to sell out his breeding stock and get out of the game, and then in a few years when the prices for hogs and dairy products get better and prices of breeding stock get high, he proceeds to buy on a high market and get back in the game.

The dairy industry for this section is fairly new, that is outside of the production of milk for the fluid milk market; also for the butter market. While it is in the dump right now, nevertheless it is a dependable industry especially for the irrigated valley. The farmer with irrigation can always assure himself of feed and pasture, and that is the only safe and sane way to get into the dairy game. If you are getting into it with the expectation of buying most or all of your feed, better not start for there will be times when you can't carry on that way and come out even. Right now our dairymen find themselves in a position where they must fight for their very existence or quit the game.

They do not wish to injure the creameries, but they have a right to expect a fair square deal from them. Our business is to produce, that of the creameries to take our product and prepare it for the market and distribute it to the trade. Our job right now is to take care of the surplus on this market and handle it so it will not only destroy us but the creamery men as well. That is what we are trying to do by skimming the whole milk shipping the cream out to other markets and taking the skim milk back home to feed to our stock. We as dairymen do not endorse a cut throat policy in any way form or fashion. The creamerymen cannot successfully defend a policy of all the producers milk or none, for that position is absolutely untenable. They can pooh the idea all they wish and call it fommyrot but that is the policy they have been following. Milk fights not only make prices ruinous but lower quality as well, and quality ought always rule milk and milk products.

Wish to Cooperate

We dairymen have nothing to cover up or hide, we are anxious to co-operate with the creamerymen and grocers in every possible way, to give the consuming public of Wichita Falls good pure clean milk, butter and other milk products at a living price. We spend our money in Wichita Falls and the nearby towns and feel that we are entitled to their support for our dairy products. We do not expect grocers to buy our butter exclusively, but we expect to see them quit pushing outside butter to the exclusion of home manufactured butter. Some are doing this. The creamery men have been just as guilty as the grocers, for they have added to the surplus by buying butter from outside creameries and putting it into their own cartons leading the consuming public believe they were buying home products.

It is not our desire to build a wall around the city of Wichita Falls, but we do believe that the people of Wichita Falls are loyal enough to the farmers of this trade territory to give him at least a fair share of their patronage, and we feel sure that many have bought butter in the past thinking they were buying butter manufactured here at home.

Butter consumption for the past 20 years in the United States has been on a standstill, 17 to 18 pounds per capita being consumed. Canada consumes 29.3 pounds, Australia consumes 29.8 pounds and New Zealand consumes 34.1 pounds per capita. Our people are consuming too much oleomargarine and other butter substitutes. It would take the production of 10,000,000 of the 25,000,000 cows in the United States to make the butter we would use if we could bring our per capita consumption up to that of New Zealand.

Why do people use oleomargarine? Simply because its cheaper than real butter, the oils used in its manufacture comes principally from foreign countries produced by the poorest paid labor in the world, where living conditions are simply nil. Its food value compared with butter is very low, as it does not contain the necessary vitamins contained in butter. Milk and its products are the nearest a perfect food that can be found. Eggs are the only food that can begin to compare with milk. When people learn the real true value of milk and milk products, as in time they will, there will be a wonderful expansion of the milk market. Some farmers sell all their milk and butter and buy oleomargarine to use at home. If I did that and milked cows I could never look old "Pide" in the face when I went to the barn to milk her. If the creameries and dairymen of the nation would start a campaign of education showing the true food value of milk and its products compared with the substitutes, it would not be long until there would be a greatly increased demand for milk and milk products. Milk and its products can be used in so many ways, is so healthful and delicious that there is no end to the expansion that could be made in the dairy market.

Good Comparison

Professor Washburn, of the Minnesota Experiment station has compiled the following accurate comparison of the values of milk with some of the most popular foods.

Name—	Retail Cost (in cnts)	Edible Solids	Milk (qt)
Porterhouse steak	.32	.85	.21
Round steak	.25	.81	.20
Hamburger	.20	.60	.15
Eggs	.45 doz.	1.27	.32
Broiler chicken	.33 lb.	2.25	.50
Fat fowl	.28	1.12	.28
Turkey	.30	.90	.23
White fish	.20	1.44	.35
Oysters (solids)	.40 qt.	2.00	.50
Ham	.30 lb.	.78	.19

Thus you see that milk compared with the above is in almost every case the cheaper food. The high quality of the milk produced in this area on account of the rigid rules under which most of it is produced should also be an argument why you should use the butter and other by-products produced in our milk shed.

The Wichita Dairy association is only asking a fair deal. We do not wish to run the creamery men's business nor do we wish to run the grocer's business, but they ask our patronage, so we in turn ask theirs. In other words we aim to "scratch the fellows back that scratches ours." If you don't buy our products how do you expect us to get the wherewith to buy yours? We do not hope to run counter to the laws of trade or supply and demand. In time when we get to be more expert dairymen, we expect to cull the unprofitable cows, we expect to learn how to feed more economically and do a lot of things that will help, not only ourselves but you as well, but while we are crawling, so to speak, in the dairy game won't you help us learn to walk and maybe, afterwhile run. We don't want you to give us your charity, but we do want you to buy and use our milk, butter and other by-products of milk.

We have been sleeping on our rights but we are beginning to awake to the possibilities. If you will only bear with us and help us we will help you to make Wichita Falls and the valley the dairy center of the Southwest. With nothing but good will for all concerned the dairymen of the Wichita Falls association ask your co-operation, and we promise you that we will try to give you your moneys worth.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. DARROW
Extension Service Editor

No farming enterprise has been harder hit by price slumps than the poultry industry. To make egg receipts cover feed costs is something of an achievement these days. Culling and selling off is now a regular order of business on most farms. Thousands of producers have quit feeding altogether. Two rays of hope shine through the gloom; prices must improve if Americans want eggs with their ham and bacon, and a few demonstrators are showing how to make a little money in spite of the price.

Every country farm and home demonstration agent whose poultry reports for February have been examined show at least one poultry flock demonstrator making a small profit above feed cost for the month. It's an art as well as a science to cut production costs to the quick without ruining production. In the records examined there is not an exception to the rule that the poultrymen who are breaking even or better had their hens laying 15 eggs or more each during the month.

Eighteen Gonzales county demonstrators using self-feeders to finish hogs report that corn worth 50 cents at the elevator is bringing from $1 to $1.50 per bushel via hogs.

Guests at a popular Beaumont hotel are treated to Mrs. Lura Rose' mint jelly when they eat lamb. She is a Jefferson county home demonstration club member who has learned how to convert a home product into cash.

Four-H club girls in Bowie county made 211 garments during February as part of their living-at-home contribution. The articles included aprons, pajamas, gowns, slips and smocks.

"Our first reason for growing a garden is because that is the quickest and surest way of getting something to eat" is the penetrating remark made by Edna Rodgers, Post Oak 4-H club member, in starting off her essay in a prize contest among garden demonstration club girls in Lamar county. Continuing she says: "The cotton farmers who don't take time to make a garden generally come out in debt in the fall. . . some money was spent for doctor bills when some of the health-giving medicine could have been taken in vegetables and would have tasted much better . . . I think every home should have a garden."

Ten feet of New Zealand spinach, 12 stalks of Brussels sprouts, and 10 feet of any other leafy vegetables desired is required of all 4-H club girl gardeners in Van Zandt county, for these, the home agent says, "will furnish leafy vegetables nine months of the year under normal conditions."

In Foard county gardens have attained a respectability born of drouth and demonstrations. "The next drouth will not catch my pantry empty if I can possibly grow vegetables with which to fill it," is heard on all sides, the home agent declares. Demonstrators have had as many as 10 varieties of vegetables growing all winter, and this has done a lot to end the reign of limited "bean and mustard" gardens.

The prize garden story comes from Smith county. Mrs. Merle Naile of Joy Home Demonstration club bought a 15-cent package of cauliflower seed for her hot bed in February, 1930. She transplanted what she wanted herself and gave the rest to six neighbors who set the plants out in late April, too late to mature before hot weather. It wilted, but stood through the summer, and when fall rains came it put on new growth and headed. All fall and winter it has produced until a total of 165 pounds of cauliflower has been gathered from one small package of seed.

More than half the gold mined in South Africa is produced in the Transvaal.

4-H CLUB LEADER FAVORS BILL TO CURB PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, March 28.—Believing that something must be done to curb production, J. L. Quicksall, Waco farmer and former legislator, has declared he would vote for the Olsen-McDonald cotton conservation bill were he a member of the legislature again.

Quicksall, one of the founders of the 4-H club movement, and long a worker for improved farm conditions, was a member of the 36th and 37th legislatures.

"There is no doubt," he said, "that something must be done to curtail excess production. I am convinced that if I were back in the legislature I should vote for a conservation plan such as is outlined in the McDonald bill.

"The legislature could at least afford to experiment with the measure, and if not successful it could be repealed."

Mr. Quicksall recalled the days when farmers laughed at the attempts of farm agents to point out better farming methods. The boys and girls clubs were formed, he said, because these young people offered a more fertile field of work than their elders. The club plan, first tried in Texas, later was expanded to the entire nation.

CERTIFIED SEED TO BE PLANTED ON BIG ACREAGE DURING 1931

AUSTIN, March 28.—Approximately 120,000 acres of cotton are planned for 1931 by cotton breeders who qualified before the state seed and plant board to produce registered and certified seed, according to R. V. Miller, seed certification chief.

The division also has 18 sorghum growers eligible to apply on approximately 3,500 acres of the various varieties, and about 500 acres each of oats and wheat.

The small grains and sorghums were but recently added to the certification program. Bills are pending in the legislature to add corn and citrus fruits to the list.

TRASH AND COWPEAS AID IN INCREASING CROPS OF HARDIN COUNTY MAN

KOUNTZE, Texas, March 28.—By plowing under trash and a crop of cowpeas early every fall, A. J. Jones, Hardin county farmer has in seven crop years improved an old piney woods upland farm until it produces 35 bushels of corn per acre with the help of a little fertilizer. As told by W. P. Barrett, county agent, the first year Mr. Jones made 15 bushels of corn per acre on an application of 100 pounds per acre of 4-12-4 fertilizer. Last season the same fertilizer application, due to six years of consistent soil improvement, gave a corn yield of 35 bushels per acre in spite of a bad summer drouth.

HEMP SACKS USED TO BEAUTIFY FARM HOMES

MATADOR, Texas, March 28.—The magic of home craft has turned 750 hemp sacks gathered from barns and sheds in Motley county into 50 beautiful hemp rugs to soften the floors and improve the appearance of farm living rooms. Before the living room contest is over in April there will be 132 of these rugs gracing home demonstration club members' homes if plans of Miss Ruth Bloodworth, home agent, work out, for every member in the county is on the job. In each case the hemp has been dyed to give colors in keeping with the color scheme of the room. No more than three colors have been employed per rug, one to give cheer and two to form a suitable background.

HARDEMAN COUNTY RECEIVES $50,000 IN DROUTH RELIEF

County Agent Luther T. Hunter at Quanah announces that 228 checks totalling $46,531.55 have been turned over to farmers of Hardeman county as drouth relief loans.

There has been over 300 applications for loans received and other checks are expected. None has been rejected so far. The highest loan was $460. It is expected the coming wheat crop in Hardeman county will enable most of the farmers to repay their loans.

Many Meteors Are Falling

It is estimated that 800,000,000 meteors strike the earth's atmosphere each day. These include the meteors too small to be observed without telescopes. The meteors that could be seen by the "naked" eye total 24,000,000 each 24 hours, and of this number only about 300 get through the earth's atmosphere and strike the earth in the United States. One meteor per year for each 10,000 square miles is estimated.

Archer Boy Proves That It Is Profitable to Feed Calves

ARCHER CITY, Texas, March 28.—Delevan Bratt, 4-H club boy on the Wilson ranch, made a net profit of $16.32 on the calf with which he is pictured above.

Delevan placed the calf on feed last Sept. 1, when it weighed 300 pounds. It was on feed 185 days, weighing 185 pounds at the end of that time. It was sold at Fort Worth for $8.25 per 100 pounds.

The total feed bill, plus cost of calf was $41.43. The feed included 384 pounds of wheat, 180 pounds of corn, 150 pounds of meal and 400 pounds of hay. The calf was 12 months old when sold.

Cow, Hen and Sow Declared Formula For Independence

Not a formula for riches, but a formula for economic independence, according to one man who follows it.

Ben F. Chapman, who commutes between his Bell county farm and his job as chief clerk in the state department of agriculture, learned the lesson of farm diversification early in his farming career—quite as much by accident as by design. He was a thorough cotton farmer when he became interested in hogs. To raise hogs he had to have corn. So he rotated his cotton with corn, and made the discovery that by rotating he could make as much cotton in three years as he previously made in four.

Root rot caused him to extend the diversification to include other grains—wheat, oats and barley—as rotating crops, and rather than sell the grain outright, he entered the dairying business. But cows demanded hay, so he planted sudan grass pastures. The weeds got bad so he bought sheep to keep them down. So the diversified farm grew. A barn was built to store the corn, and half paid for itself in year when the value of the stored corn jumped from 50 cents to a dollar a bushel. Chickens were logically added.

Chapman has lived on the Bell county farm for eight years, and estimates that during that time his family hasn't purchased more than $50 worth of canned groceries. Mrs. Chapman cans around 300 cans each year with a pressure cooker.

America Consumes Most of World's Supply of Rubber

Proration of native planted rubber in the world rose from 20 per cent in 1910—the boom year—to 50 per cent in 1930, as reported to the rubber industry recently.

Thirty years ago all rubber was obtained from "wild" trees while today only three per cent comes from that source.

The total area under rubber at the end of 1929 from 6,600,000 to 7,000,000 acres. Exports of rubber had risen from 94,000 tons in 1910 to 862,000 tons in 1929, and the amount last year was approximately 820,000 tons.

The United States is the largest importer of rubber, its absorption in 1929 reaching 470,000 tons. In 1930 it was estimated at 380,000 tons.

Production of rubber is now being made in the United States and large areas of arid lands in Southwestern Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and California are considered valuable lands for the production of rubber from a wild bush native to these sections.

PUBLIC WEIGHERS LACK AUTHORITY TO 'DOCK' COTTON

AUSTIN, March 28.—Public weighers have no authority to dock cotton for supposed moisture content, according to M. S. Fraze, weights and measures chief in the department of agriculture.

"There seems to be some uncertainty and difference of opinion as to whether a public weigher should dock cotton for supposed moisture," he said.

"A public weigher's weight certificate, receipt or weight sheet, should give the true beam weight, and the presence of moisture or damage is a matter of adjustment as between buyer and seller." He cited an opinion from the attorney general's department which said in part:

"In view of the plain provisions of the statute prescribing what shall be shown on the weight certificate it is our opinion that a public weigher would have no authority to place upon such certificate his estimate of how much water is contained in a bale of cotton. The public weigher has no way of knowing the weight of a bale of cotton except as shown by the scales. The statutes require him to state the true and correct weight."

MANY PLANT GARDENS IN KAUFMAN COUNTY

KAUFMAN, Texas, March 28.—Four hundred and thirty-one home demonstration club women and girls in Kaufman county have prepared and planted gardens according to the report of Miss Golden Fry, home agent for that county. Each gardener has been supplied with extension service publications on gardenening and the club girls have been taught how to measure off their space and what to plant in order to comply with the 4-H club program. Reports from the women indicate that 46 hot beds were made in January for starting early garden plants.

ANDERSON WOMAN PROFITS DESPITE LOW EGG PRICE

ANDERSON, Texas, March 28.—With her flock of 170 white leghorn hens laying an average of 10 eggs each, Mrs. H. M. Kelly of Erwin community in Grimes county managed a profit of $16.50 for January in spite of low prices for eggs. Close culling and feeding home-grown feed, mixing her own mash, and good care and sanitation are the reasons she gives for her success.

It has been found that aluminum becomes stronger in the bitter colds of high altitudes.

Tree Spraying Exhibition to Be Given Soon

A demonstration of fruit tree spraying will be held at the Wichita experiment station, Thursday, April 2, states G. C. McGown, agricultural agent in Wichita county.

Modern type spraying machinery is to be used and peach and plum trees will be sprayed. At the close of the spraying demonstration there will be discussed insect and disease control. The demonstration will be in charge of C. H. McDowell, superintendent of the experiment station, and L. E. Brooks, horticulturist.

Mr. McGown has made arrangements for several parties in adjoining counties to attend the demonstration, which will start promptly at 2 o'clock.

WISE COUNTY 4-H BOYS SCORE HIGH IN LAMB FEEDING

Feeder lambs from Wise county scored high at the recent fat stock show in Fort Worth and some of the best specimens were bought by the Fort Worth and Denver for its dining cars.

Several members of the 4H clubs have written M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, expressing their appreciation of the help he gave in making the demonstration successful. A typical letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Oates: In behalf of the 4-H club members of Wise county, I want to take this means of showing our appreciation for your aid in making our lamb feeding demonstration a success. You and your associates helped us to make a profit on our lambs and in turn inspired many boys in our country to feed lambs for the next show.

"We feel that this will be one of the best methods to convince our farmesr that Wise county is adopted to commercial sheep production. Again thanking you, I am,

"Ray Leslie O'Neal,
"4-H club member."

HOME GARDENS KEEP GROCERY BILLS LOW

TYLER, Texas, March 28.—Ten Smith county farm families, each with five members, spent an average of $4 for groceries in December and $3.30 in January. They lived well, too, for each of them had a pantry filled with 750 containers of home grown products, and a year 'round garden. Miss Nette Shultz, home demonstration agent, selected these records from her 4-H pantry demonstrations for an achievement day exhibit which featured how a family of five can assemble three times a day, year in and year out, at a well filled table representing very little cash outlay.

STATE RECORD FOR BUTTERFAT YIELD LOWERED

New Mark for Aged Cows Set by Comanche Entry

12-Year-Old Makes Profit Of $106.89 During Period

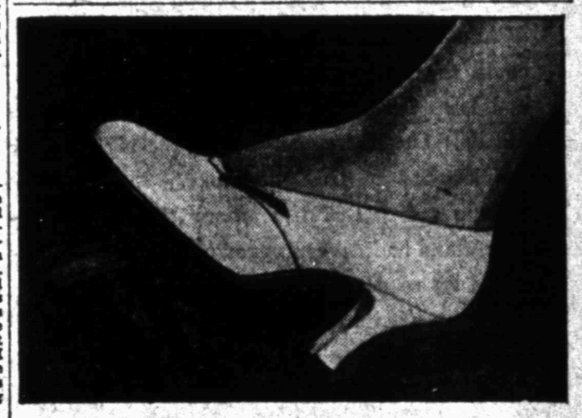

COMANCHE, Texas, March 28.—A Jersey cow, Blue Fox's Belle, owned by Mart Stephens, who lives in Comanche county near Sues, has set a new state record for all time of butterfat by an aged cow, lowering the record of a cow owned by the late Ed C. Lasater of Falfurrias. Mr. Stephens' cow was in the 305-day test and produced 508 pounds of butterfat and 10,896 pounds of milk making the class of AAA. She was 12 years and one month old when starting the test, and carried a calf 230 days. For six months during her test she produced more than 50 pounds of butterfat per month, yielding a total of 64.92 pounds of fat in her best month.

Blue Fox's Belle supersedes Majesty's Christel of F. 309422 owned and tested in the herd of the late Ed C. Lasater, Falfurrias, Texas. The former champion held the honor with a record of 505.26 pounds butterfat made in a test when she was 15 years and nine months of age.

Mr. Stephens, in keeping a record on three of his register of merit cows on the A. & M. extension service dairy calendar, found that such cows as these will make a profit even in low prices and dry weather. The profit records are as follows: The 508 pounds fat cow with an average butterfat test of 4.66 per cent made a profit of $106.89; the second cow, that had a record of 298½ days, made 7,100 pounds milk and 443.88 butterfat with an average test of 6.25 per cent, returning a profit of $108.18. The third cow, a young cow at the age of one year and 8½ months at the beginning of the test, produced 5,162 pounds of milk and 264.65 pounds of butterfat in 305 days' test, with an average test of 5.13 per cent, returning a profit of $56.26.

Besides these three cows, Mr. Stephens kept the extension service record on five other cows and the combined records show that he produced a total of 2,586.61 pounds of butterfat, or an average per cow in the herd of 323.32 pounds of butterfat, and a total profit of $624.31 or a profit of $78.03 per cow.

This Dainty Foot pushed a Ton in Ten Miles . . . THAT'S "CLUTCH-FOOT"

Every time you press the clutch you call on your leg muscles for 35 pounds of pressure. Ten miles . . . and you've pushed a ton! A whole "inch-ton" engineers prove.

Driving drudgery! Hupmobile's Free-Wheeling ends it. You shift from second to high, back and forth, and need never touch the clutch. Need never use it at all, except to start or back up. Free-Wheeling reduces clutch use 67%, as shown by road and traffic tests.

But clutch freedom is only a fragment of Hupmobile's great story. 20 to 44 per cent of the time you ride "on momentum." Resting your engine. Consuming almost no gas and oil.

The Silent Witness

AMONG the many cautions of the old wise men of China there is this: "When a woman discovers that the man she is going to marry possesses the secret of her past she must smile and keep the terror from her eyes. Having for the moment thus disarmed suspicion let her creep forth when the moon is hid and steal it from its place. There are deeds and thoughts in all our lives that should be flung upon the waters of the Swift River that join the Open Sea."

At the moment when George Ringwood picked out an undeveloped roll of film from his brother's goods and chattels which had just arrived and read "Pictures of an angel; Monte Carlo, 1929", these words of ancient Chinese philosophy slipped from Ann Riveley's mind so that she left the films in his hand.

"Monte Carlo, 1929? The place and the year of my brother's ghastly crash," he said. "There is history in this thing. I have often wondered who the woman was in that bad chapter of his. I'll take it into the village and have it developed at once."

She kept the terror from her eyes in the proper Chinese way, forced a smile and spoke. "I should. Or shall I save you the trouble and take it in myself?" Her heart stopped while she waited for his reply. If, without arousing suspicion, she could so obtain the silent witness to her part in that boy's crash there would be no need to creep forth when the moon was hid and steal it from its place. Its evidence would be destroyed and her complicity wiped out.

"OR perhaps it will be better to give it to him," he said. "He's coming home today." He put his arm round the shoulder of the panic-stricken girl. He had pinned his faith upon her bosom like a bunch of violets. "You will help to put my brother on his feet. He will need us both. He loved that woman, you see. If his hand had been steady when he tried to shoot himself—"

Ann shuddered and held her breath. Never could she forget that moment when the rumor had been brought to her of Noel Ringwood's suicide. She had egged him on the night before and laughed at his being broke. She had been making a circus of life among the Gay Young People and had never stopped to think that he had risked his money for her. But off had gone her fool's cap after that frightful shock and she had left Monte Carlo in a serious frame of mind. Then George, the man who counted, and who immediately won her heart. The discovery of the roll of films and that day's return of Noel threw the shadow of disaster over both their lives.

THEY left that charming cottage in which Noel was to live and walked through the gardens to George Ringwood's house. She had liked to see the cottage chimneys through the trees. They were a menace now.

They were to separate for an hour or two because George had work to do. Would he remember her offer to take the films to the village or was he determined to give it to Noel? Who could say? She dare not ask for it. She kissed him with fear in her heart. In terror and despair she re-entered the garden of the old house an hour afterwards, heard voices and laughter on the terrace and saw the brothers together, standing arm in arm. A cold douche of cowardice made her want to turn and bolt. But she was seen by George, who called and waved his hand. A sweep of physical weakness held her to her place, but to her intense surprise Noel held out his hand. He played the part of a stranger, a courteous and interested stranger, predisposed to like her for his brother's sake. She heard almost nothing that was said—introduction, congratulations, the usual conventional things. But she did hear, all too clearly, his knife-like cruelty when they were left together by George.

"I would rather see my brother dead than married to you," he said.

"If you've grown out of your idiocy do you suppose that I haven't of mine?"

"You're going to put up a fight?"

"To the last ditch," she said.

"All right. But my immediate job is to rescue my brother from you. Quite simple I find. He has given me the films. I shall develop those snapshots which show you with me at Monte Carlo in 1929 and put them in his hand."

"Are you going to do that merciless thing without giving me a chance? Aren't you going to discover what love has done for me?"

"Love doesn't alter nature and yours is callous and selfish as I know so well."

"Give me today and tomorrow. Be as fair as you would be to a man. I'll show you that love has changed me—or you can ruin my life."

Once he had loved this girl! "I'll be fair," he said.

Fear and cowardice left her. "I trust in my own soul," she told herself, quoting Browning's lines, "that can perceive the outward and the inward, Nature's good and God's."

EXTRAORDINARY hours followed. They were happy ones to George. The two people who meant most to him were together under his roof. Wearing the mask of friendship his brother and the woman he loved carried on their fight. Every one of her words and gestures Noel watched. He was sizing her up with deep anxiety so that he might save his brother from falling into a pit. But he could see this girl only as the young and thoughtless creature who had made a fool of him.

Then came Sunday night and his announcement of a climax which threw her into despair. "Your butler," he said to his brother, "takes photographs, I hear. I'm going to borrow his dark room and develop my telltale films."

"A good idea," said George.

Ann sprang to her feet, excused herself and followed Noel out. "Is there no way by which I can stop you from doing this thing?"

"No." He had never seen her look so lovely as she did.

"There is nothing I can say or do to make you hold your hand?"

"No."

"You're convinced after all these hours that I am unworthy to be George's wife?"

"Yes. Behind your outward devotion I can still see the superficial and merciless person who pushed me into disgrace."

She went to the door, stood for a moment and turned. "Will you give me that film in exchange for my suicide?"

"Are you prepared to do that?"

"Yes. Here. Tonight."

"I swear it before God."

"What would be the use?"

HER voice broke and there was a tremble on her lip. "It would save George from a disillusion that would be worse than death to me and prove to you that I've grown out of selfishness under his love." She held out her hand for the film.

As Noel left the room Ann followed—"Will you give me those films in exchange for my suicide?"

"Say nothing," said Noel under his breath "and do nothing until you see me again."

She went into the sitting-room where George drew her to his heart. "When you're mine by law and faith as by spirit you are now"—there was emotion in his voice—"you will come to a home made excellent by effort and harmony. At the end of every day we three will say with confidence, 'Pass night, all's well'."

She threw her arms about him. But she was unable to answer because torture gripped her throat.

"That you and Noel are such good friends is a great delight to me." He paid an unconscious tribute to the self-restraint which those two had succeeded in maintaining during all those tragic hours. What was to be the end?

The talk remained one-sided. All Ann could do was to cling to the man who loved her and whom she loved and wait for the sword to fall. The old clock marked off the brief moments of her reprieve.

AND then Noel came back. With a quick look at his brother and the girl he had tried to win he went to the fireplace and stood with his back to it.

"Well, now we shall know," said George.

Ann hung upon Noel's words.

"As a matter of fact we shan't. I was hopeless with a camera in those Monte Carlo days. Not a shot comes out."

"What? There's nothing of that woman?"

"Nothing at all," he said.

George went over to the window. A new moon lay on its back. "Well, let her float on the waters of the Swift River to the Open Sea," he said.

Noel threw the unbroken roll of film into the hottest part of the fire and bowed with admiration to the girl who had proved her courage and love.
