MAJOR LAMAR FONTAINE.

Some Things This Remarkable Man Has Done.

Major Lamar Fontaine, of Clarksdale(spoke at the Crystal Springs Chautauqua last Monday. A representative of the associated press thus comments on his address:

At the morning hour today Col. Lamar Fontaine, the famous Mississippian, addressed a large and appreciative audience of the subject, "The Indians and the Buffalos." Colonel Lamar Fontaine is one of the most unique character in the South. He is 87 years young and like Moses is without dimness of the eye and with unabated strength. He was born in Washington county, Texas, in the identical spot where La Salle was murdered by Du Hult. He was adopted by the Comanche Indians who stole him when only five months old, and after escaping from them when a mere youth he was educated by a Polish exile. He is a Cosmopolite, and has been everywhere, only escaped the North Pole by four hundred miles. He traversed the Chinese wall from one end to the other, explored the sources of the Nile, crossed on camel back the arid sands of Sahara, mounted the Andean Plateau from Cuzoo to Lake Titicca; was in the famous charge of the Light Brigade in the Crimean war. He wrote the poem, "All Quiet Along the Potomac Tonight." He fired the first shot in the Civil War. He floated under a log with nose only above water, carrying 240,000 gun caps to the soldiers blockaded at the siege of Vicksburg.

His chirography is remarkable. Unaided with lens at his present age he can write the decalogue in a space covered by a dime. He wrote the transaction between Jefferson and Napoleon concerning the purchase of Louisiana on the blank side of a postal card. He was a remarkable hunter, chased elephants on the banks of the Congo, trapped dewur along the banks of the Ganges, pursued wild cattle along the banks of the Orinoco.

He is a great archaeologist. He looked into the crumbling piles of pyramids laid himself down in the sarcophagus with the embalmed and sainted dead and in their dust found the thrill and expectations of a better life.

He answered the riddle of mysterious Sphinx, probed into the mysterious tumuli of the mound-builders, searched for truth buried deep amid the ashes and urns of those mysterious people.—Yazoo oCunty News.

Major Fontaine is truly a remarkable man. This writer knew him personally when a mere lad, and has often heard him hold a circle of friends spell-bound by the recital of the wonderful things he had done and did. The Major claims to have been wounded 67 times and once saw the pulsations of his own heart by means of a mirror devised by himself. He has a certificate framed, which is signed by R. E. Lee, Commander of the Army of Northern Virginia" testifying that he had seen Major Lamar Fontaine kill 63 yankees in 65 minutes with a Whitworth rifle at a distance of more than 1,000 yards. He has another certificate signed by Gen. J. T. Jackson ,testifying that Major Fontaine was worth to his command as much as a full company of infantry.

These certificates are exhibited at every Confederate reunion, and no one has ever been able to pick the least flaw in their genuineness. Major Fontaine is a nephew of Mirabeau Lamar, the second president of the republic of Texas and also a nephew of Maurry, the geographer of the sea, with whom he was when the fires of the Civil War broke forth and appealed to his adventurous spirit. He was with Gen. Walker in both Nicaraguan expeditions, and arrived in New York just a day too late to participate in putting down the Sepoy rebellion in India, where every survivor under the English flag was knighted by Queen Victoria.

Major Fontaine is one of the greatest geodetic experts in the United States and his work in the line of map making is marvelous for its accuracy and finish. He speaks several languages and dialects, while his eyesight is something unbelievable. He can see things that do not exist to the ordinary vision. To him there exists a microcosm of teeming millions that is discernable to the ordinary eye only through a high power miscroscope. This writer has seen Major Fontaine write within the blue ruling on writing paper, which looked like a succession of the finest dots, but under the microscope, the dots become the most perfectly formed letters and words.

Added to all these remarkable accomplishments, the Major possesses an imagination in perfect keeping. He could come to Colorado tomorrow, borrow a rifle, saunter into some chaparel, fire off the gun a few times, return to town and after a few moments recital, have the mayor, the city council, the pastor of every church and every other God fearing and truth loving man in the community sign an affidavit that Major Fontaine had slain with his own hand a half dozen rhinocers, a sprinkling of elephants, a job lot of saber-toothed tigers, and a grizzly bear. But seriously—the Major is a truly wonderful man, mentally and physically. He is father of the "Battle Abbey" idea, and wears a full suit of confederate gray wherever he goes.

When Colonel Roosevelt announced his intention of raising a brigade for enlistment and service i nthe event of war with Mexico, Major Fontaine wrote him offering his services and asking for a commission of major, stating that he was not too old to fight.

HOUSTON CONVENTION PROVES TAME AFFAIR.

Anti Forces are in Such Majority That Little Enthusiasm is Aroused.

By Tom Finty, Jr.

Houston, Texas, Aug. 8.—The Democratic State Convention, which opened at noon, was quite as tame as it was predicted that it would be. In fact, it was about the most thoroughly domesticated convention that ever has been held in Texas. It was devoid of thrills. Delegates now and then tried to work up some enthusiasm, but they perspired more freely than they enthused. Imitations of the noises of the steam roller were feeble, and the jests over the name of M. H. Wolfe, of Dallas, put up by the pros for temporary chairman, were weak. Even the names of President Wilson and Governor Ferguson evoked only mild cheering, Governor Ferguson getting a little the better of it.

As a matter of fact, the convention scarcely rose to the dignity of a news item. This is because its program was foreknown and it was certain that the program would be executed. It was known that the prohibitionists would try to get a submission demand in the platform, that they would resist the contests in a number of counties where submission carried, and that they would endeavor to elect a state chairman and the officers of the convention. It was just as well known that they would lose all along the line, in fact, the pros themselves knew this, but were determined to make the fight so as to preserve a record and to call public attention to the methods of their antagonists.

The Hon. David E. Decker, of Hardeman county, recommended by the executive committee, overwhelmingly defeated M. H. Wolfe, a prominent business man of Dallas, the man who led the recent submission fight, for temporary chairman. Even Mr. Wolfe's own county, Dallas, voted solidly against him . Commissioner R. L. Winfrey announced the vote. Mr. Wolfe, who sat next to him, smiled as though undisturbed.

The antis got decidedly the best of it in the committee selection and in the choice of members of the State Executive Committee. They may even help themselves to more places on the executive committee by having the convention as a whole overturn some of the district selections.

There have been reports today that the program might be deviated from, but these reports have proved to be groundless. For example, Oscar L. Stribling, of Waco, advanced the proposition that the platform should contain a plank declaring that local option is democratic and prohibition is not. He contended that it was useless further to dodge this issue. Some few delegates agreed with him, and expressed a desire to beat the pros to it. But the suggestion did not gather force. It became known for one thing that Governor Ferguson's views in this regard remained unchanged. Therefore, the suggestion was not even presented to the platform committee.

Another report was that the pros and antis had agreed upon a compromise submission plank, a mere recital of the vote in the primary eletcion and a recommendation that each member of the legislature take note of the instructions of his district. But there was no such compromise; in fact, the alleged compromise plank was what the antis originally intended to offer.

The pros will go forward with their movement for a straight-out demand for submission. In fact, they have put the plank before the committee on resolutions and, when it is turned down, they will make a minority report.

SENATE COMMITTEE FAVORS SURTAX ON ALL GREAT INCOMES.

Washington, Aug. 5.—The senate committee on finance tonight agreed to impose a surtax of 13 per cent on all incomes in excess of $2,000,000. The house bill left the maximum surtax at 10 per cent upon the amount by which the total net income exceeds $500,000.

The various sub-committees that have been working on the provisions of the general emergency revenue bill are about ready to report to the full committee and the first meeting was held tonight. Eight pages of the income tax features were gone over. Nothing but minor matters were agreed upon, with the exception of the increase in the maximum surtax. The committee will meet again tomorrow and hold daily sessions hereafter, so the bill may be in shape to report and call up as soon as the shipping bill is concluded.

A compromise has been effected on the item imposing an excise tax on gross receipts of copper smelters and the sale of copper ranging from 1 to 3 per cent, according to the amount of receipts.

Reports from the copper states indicate a revolt against the democratic ticket, and the compromise was the result. Its exact terms are kept secret, but it is understood that the proposed tax is to be reduced and spread out to include lead and zinc.

The house bill does not tax tea or coffee. Concerning the report that these two articles were to be taxed, Chairman Simmons of the committee, said tonight there was no such intention on the part of any member of the committee. It was admited that it would be bad politics to put a tax on these two staple articles of daily consumption in the household, and besides it was said the revenue could be obtained without resorting to a tax on the breakfast table.

SAFETY FIRST.

"Motor car manufacturers are building "Safety First," right into their cars these days, and science is working hand in hand with them in their efforts, said Mr. Doss, local Dort distributor.

The tests that are applied to every part of the car are wonderful and particularly the machines that make them; and yet the principles used are simple at bottom. For instance, if you want to break a piece of iron wire you bend it back and forth rapidly a dozen or more times until it parts. Automobile enineeers have devised machines to do this with their axles, springs, crankshafts, valves, and the very frame of the car itself. These machines, giant in size, are veritable marvels of human ingenuity. In their huge jaws they will seize a crankshaft and twist and twist and twist until it fails apart. Gagues and dials on the machine record this twisting and the strength and toughness of the part tested. Other machines are devised to grasp an axle shaft and bend it double and straighten it out again. Still others will grip a valve stem and stretch it out like a rubber band to twice its original length. In fact science has provided means for testing every single part that goes into the car.

A well made axle shaft, such as on the Dort, can be bent double and straightened out again without injury, a similar crankshaft can be twisted through six complete turns. Springs will take hundreds of thousands of complete flexings before they show the first sign of weakness and so on.

It is this "Safety First" principle that has been responsible for the great strides that have been made in automobile building and it is one of the first principles employed in building the Dort.

SPIES SAID TO BE WATCHING PANAMA CANAL DEFENSES.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Activities of persons suspected of being spies employed by foreign governments to acquire information regarding the nature and extent of the defenses of the Panama canal have made the administration decide to request congress to supplement the existing laws against the improper acquisition of knowledge of military and naval plans and fortifications.

Several of the military powers of the world are believed to have undertaken to obtain information as to the character of the defense of the Panama canal. The latest incident to excite suspicion is the operations of a little Japanese power vessel, ostensibly a fishing launch, which sought to obtain a permit for pearl fishing in the waters of Panama bay and vicinity. The canal authorities have been warned that this craft appeared to have been making surveys.

Representatives of the department of justice and the war and navy departments have been in conference on the subject and it is expected that they will agree upon some drastic legislation to be submitted to congress. It is possible that the scope of the conference may be extended beyond the original ideas of a mere protection of the secrets of American coast defenses, to cover generally such attempts as have been common since the beginning of the present war to destroy powder and munition plants, upon which the United State government must rely in time of trouble.

OTHER MEXICAN BANDITS.

The United States has suffered from the depredation of more kinds of Mexican bandits than the human species. For instance the cotton boll weevil—it is a bandit bug from Mexico, which crossed the Rio Grande in 1888, and in Texas alone during one year did damage to the amount of $10,000,000. The cotton boll worm is another Mexican bandit much more destructive than the weevil. It is the tomato worm, the tobacco worm and the corn ear worm all rolled into one. The cattle fever tick is still another bandit to the credit of Mexico, which costs the cattle industry of this country wore than $10,000,000 a year. From Mexico came also the sheep and cattle scab parasite, for which the cattlemen and sheepmen of this country pay about $5,000,000 a year.

But the greatect bandit of all the horde that Mexico sends to us across the border, is Yellow Jack. Vera Cruz has for hundreds of years been known as the most prolific propagating spot for yellow fever in the world, and if ever the United States must start housecleaning down in Mexico, as it did in Cuba and Panama, these above mentioned bandits will be among the first to get economical attention. As long as they exist in Mexico, just so long will they continue to afflict the most important industries of this country.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

FAMOUS PONIES AT STATE FAIR

BUSCH ENTRY ALSO FEATURES FAMOUS CATTLE

President R. E. L. Knight of the State Fair of Texas, announces that through the courtesy of Mr. August A. Busch of St. Louis, visitors to the State Fair this year will have an opportunity to see Mr. Busch's wonderful herd of prize-winning Dexter cattle. This will be the first exhibit of true Dexters ever shown in the South.

Mr. Busch has been interested in Dexters for several years, and has gathered together the most wonderful collection of individuals ever seen in one herd. In fact, it is the only considerable collection now owned in this country and is expected to be one of the most interesting features of the 1916 State Fair.

The Dexter a Profitable Animal.

The Dexter is a representative of the diminutive Irish cattle that are world-famous for producing meat and milk of exceptional quality. Though its origin is clouded in obscurity, it is probably a member of the celebrated Kerry family of cattle, as the two breeds have many common characteristics. Its small size, and proportionately small cost of production should warrant the interest of American cattle raisers, especially when it is considered that the Dexter is a prolific producer of high quality milk and that its meat will compare most favorably with the breeds now highest in the favor of American stockmen.

The small size of the Dexter will be realized when the statement is made that famous bulls of the breed have weighed, at maturity, about 500 pounds—with the cows scaling a considerably less figure. The average adult stands about 36 inches high and is sturdily and compactly built, showing great depth of rib and general "beefiness."

Bevo Ponies to Be Shown.

In addition to his Dexters, Mr. Busch will show his world-famous stable of Bevo ponies. These wonderfully handsome little fellows—really horses in miniature, are undoubtedly the best specimens now in America. They are all of one size, 42 inches high, and are remarkably alike in color and general conformity. Mr. Busch states that he will show his Bevos to harness; four-in-hand, six-in-hand, tandem, etc.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the Fair Association, states that efforts have been made during each of the past several years to induce Mr. Busch to make these exhibits, and that their acquisition for this year's Fair is of the utmost value and importance. Mr. Stratton also states that one of the handsome new barns, which are now being constructed, will be reserved for the exclusive use of the Busch exhibits, and that there is no doubt but what these exhibits will be of great interest to a majority of the 1916 Fair visitors.

The wonderful increase in facilities provided for the 1916 State Fair of Texas, which will be held in Dallas October 14 to 29, has been extended to include practically all departments and divisions of the Fair. In the classes for agricultural and livestock entries this increase has been most marked, especially in the poultry section, where numerous new and interesting classifications have been created.

BIG PREMIUMS OFFERED AT 1916 STATE FAIR

DAIRY CATTLE DIVISION RECEIVES PROMINENT ATTENTION.

F. F. Sliney.

One of the most valuable features of any State Fair is found in the section devoted to exhibits of dairy cattle, and this is particularly true of the great State Fair of Texas, which has, during recent years, progressed to recognized leadership this division.

F. F. Sliney, of Dallas, who is director in charge of this department, recently announced that unusually valuable premiums are to be offered by the State Fair of Texas this year for Dairy Cattle exhibits—and that much new work would feature this division.

The Dairy Demonstration tests, according to Mr. Sliney, will be conducted this year under the direct personal supervision of a member of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the system of awarding premiums which will be used has been carefully devised to give all entries an equal chance. Economical production cost will be the deciding factor, and this will be established by applying a scientific "point" system originated at one of the government experiment stations.

It is strongly urged that farmers throughout the State enter their best dairy stock in this Demonstration, and it wll be to the advantage of each individual farmer to do so, for the actual value of each animal as a profit maker will be defintely established through these tests. The Dairy Demonstration tests will continue for 12 days and will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting features connected with the 1916 State Fair of Texas.

Mr. Sliney further announces that the Fair will open October 14, and rontinue to and through October 29.

WHAT EDITORS SAY OF RAILWAY ISSUE

Demand Peaceful Settlement of Wage Controversy.

STRIKE MUST BE AVERTED.

Almost Unanimously Newspapers Indorse Proposals of Railway Managers That Wage Question Be Settled by Interstate Commerce Commission or by Arbitration Under the Newlands Law.

Chicago.—The proposed strike by all railway train service employees in order to secure a wage increase of $109,000,000 a year is condemned by newspaper editors throughout the country.

They declare such a strike would be a public calamity and that it must be averted.

Almost unanimously the editors indorse the proposals made by the committee of railway managers to the leaders of the brotherhoods—that the wage question be settled by the interstate commerce commission or by arbitration under the Newlands law.

The following extracts from newspaper editorials fairly reflect public sentiment on this most important issue:

The interstate commerce commission should be empowered to prevent this threatened railroad strike. Write to your congressman about it.—Chicago Tribune.

The great public has more at stake than either the railway stockholders or the railway employees.—Davenport (Ia.) Times.

The interstate commerce commission represents the great public. It was created for the purpose of holding even the scales.—Rocky Mountain News, Denver.

The trainmen should take prudent thought. Arbitration is their wise policy.—Detroit Free Press.

The public will support any finding the interstate commerce commission may make.—Dallas (Tex.) News.

Public opinion ought to have re-enforced the position of the railroads long before now.—Galveston News.

The interstate commerce commission would certainly be responsible if it permitted a strike to come.—Minneapolis Journal.

The train crew unions have no case which they are willing to try in a court of arbitration or in the great court of public opinion.—New York Commercial.

The controversy is not between the railways and their employees, but between the public and the railway employees.—New York Globe.

The men now seem to show rather a consciousness of the weakness of their position than reliance upon its merits.—New York Times.

The interstate commerce commission cannot avoid regulating wages so long as it regulates rates.—New York Tribune.

The railroad brotherhoods are mistaken. There IS something to arbitrate.—New York World.

The railway employees are plainly in the wrong and should sense their mistake before they make a worse blunder.—Oshkosh (Wis.) Northwestern.

Neither side could afford to take the position of demanding more than the interstate commerce commission would approve.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The railroad employees are not suffering such intolerable wrongs that they cannot await the result of arbitration.—Portland Oregonian.

The greatness of the power for which the labor leaders are seeking is the very strongest argument why they should not have it.—Railway Age Gazette.

The public is as vitally interested in the situation as the railways or the employees.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Either the railroads are wrong or their employees are. Any just cause will stand investigation.—Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger.

This is the time when every American who loves his country should set aside his own schemes of aggrandizement.—Kansas City Journal.

The United States government cannot permit any strike that would tie up all the railroads of the country.—Leslie's Weekly.

It is just as true that organized labor may oppress the public intolerably as that organized capital may do it.—Lowell (Mass.) Citizen.

Those who would suffer most from a tying up of the nation's traffic would get no vote on the question of a strike.—Lincoln (Neb.) Star.

One thing is certain, the railroads, the railroad employees and the American people cannot afford such a strike.—Memphis Appeal.

We think the brotherhoods are making a mistake in refusing arbitration. Capital must get its living wage as well as labor.—Milwaukee Free Press.

Business can hobble along under high freight rates. Death would follow a general railroad strike.—Baton Rouge (La.) Times.

The American people do not believe there is any difference between the roads and the employees that cannot be adjusted peaceably.—Bloomington (Ill.) Pantagraph.

The railroads have accepted the perfectly reasonable and natural suggestion that the wage question be settled by arbitration.—Boston Journal.

Why should a vote be taken on a strike which the public will never tolerate?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

What Would We Do Without Sugar?

GATHERING SUGAR CANE

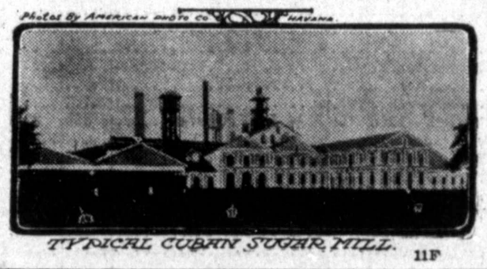

HOW SUGAR CANE GROWS

We are so used to sugar that we are likely to forget to give it its properly important place. Right now if somebody asked you what sugar was good for you'd probably say—"Oh! to put in coffee and tea and for making candies and desserts." That's it—we all think of sugar as a sweetener and overlook its value as a food.

The chemists classify sugar as a hydrocarbon—that name may or may not be interesting to us, but what is interesting is their statement that it has, as a hydrocarbon, equal food value with the starchy foods and by digestion largely adds to the fatty tissues of the body.

Why do we eat sugar anyway? Your first answer might be: "Because it is sweet and tastes good." Of itself the answer would be correct, but the more important fact is that the body craves sugar because it needs it. And when the body craves something it gives us an appetite for it. So primarily that's why we like sugar and things made with sugar and not just because they are sweet.

In view of the fact that sugar has gone up so tremendously of late these facts are interesting because we find that instead of the luxury sugar having gone up it is the FOOD sugar that has raised its price. Yet—even though the price is up we have to have our sweet food just the same.

TYPICAL CUBAN SUGAR MILL.

Certainly the makers of that delicious beverage Coca-Cola must have discovered that sugar is up, because one of the principal ingredients in making Coca-Cola syrup is fine cane sugar. Think of it!—they use an average of 80 tons of sugar a day—about 4 carloads. But unlike many manufacturers that company has itself borne the raise and so you and I pay just the same today for our bottle or glass of Coca-Cola that we've always paid. Incidentally, this phase of the situation is a good reminder of the benefits one gets from drinking a beverage as pure and good as Coca-Cola. Not only do we please our palates and derive wholesome refreshment from the drink but we also give our systems that bit of sugar sweetness that they crave and which is necessary to health and tissues. Is it any wonder then that Coca-Cola is so popular and so universally drunk that it has been called "the drink the nation drinks"?

DON'T NEGLECT CONSTIPATION

Constipation poisons the blood. After the stomach and small intestines have absorbed the nutritive values from the food, it is Nature's plan that the remainder should be cast out of the body promptly. When bowels do not move regularly and clean, the accumulated matter remains there rotting, decomposing, generating a POISONOUS GAS that passes into the blood.

This poison, borne by the blood to kidneys, heart, lungs and every vital organ, soon shows its effects in various symptoms of disease. Also, in skin eruptions, headaches, dull heavy feeling, loss of energy and ambition, nervousness, etc.

WHY PERMIT YOURSELF TO BE POISONED? You would not knowingly take arsenic or any other deadly poison into your system. But by permitting your bowels to remain constipated you are poisoning yourself just as surely. You are courting sickness and disease.

Violent cathartics that gripe are not a fit remedy for constipation. They "hit the bowels with a club" when GENTLE treatment and encouragement is needed.

DR. THACHER'S Liver and Blood Syrup

is the GENTLE yet SURE remedy your bowels need. It will strengthen the bowel muscles, act as a tonic, and HELP THE BOWELS TO HELP THEMSELVES.

Take this famous remedy and your bowels will soon be moving easily, regularly, of their own accord. No griping pains. No harsh treatment. Just NATURE'S OWN WAY.

Get a bottle this very day. Both 50-cent and $1.00 sizes.

THACHER MEDICINE COMPANY, Chattanooga, Tennessee.

IN SHALLOW WATER.

There are sharks on the coast of New Jersey. One killed a boy at Mattawan. And bit a man. The heart of the state is stirred. The word runs from Sandy Hook to Cape May, "Hunt the sharks!" The Federal cabinet "is giving the matter serious attention." The secretary of the treasury "has ordered the coast guard to co-operate with the state authorities to clear the coast of the sharks and prevent further loss of life." The commissioners of the bureau of fisheries "advises a campaign of shark hunting." Public advice is given to bathers to "keep in shallow watter."

New Jersey swarms with saloons. They feed on boys and weak men. They eat girls as tidbits. They devour the homes of women. They are easily caught and killed. But the law of New Jersey permits no land-shark hunting.

Let us pray!—National Daily.

There are over 3,300 of these sharks in Texas. They are spawned by the United States government and by the state of Texas in collusion against the property, health, happiness and morals of the people. They enjoy the protection of the government, both state and national, both in the preservation of their lives and in the prosecution of their man-eating work. Every one of them must be killed speedily.

Immediately after the sharks appeared on the New Jersey coasts there was a bill introduced in the senate to appropriate an enormous amount of money out of the treasury of the United States to help destroy them. We have seen no announcement of its passage, but we haven't heard a single word from the liquor press of Texas nor the pro-liquor politicians of Texas as to any violation of State's rights in the proposition. Nor was this plea made against the appropriation of $135,000 to help stamp out infantile paralysis in New York. But when we talk about having a Constitutional Amendment submitted by the congress of the United States to the several states, for their ratification or rejection, for killing these saloon sharks we hear at once a holy whine and a horrid howl raised by the sharks and by all those who think more of sharks than they think of men, that this is a violation of state's rights. Kill the sharks! Kill the sharks.—Home and State.

LIVER TROUBLE.

"I am bothered with liver trouble about twice a year," writes Joe Dingman, Webster City, Iowa. "I have pains in my side and back and an awful soreness in my stomach. I heard of Chamberlain's Tablets and tried them. By the time I had used half a bottle of them I was feeling fine and had no signs of pain." Obtainable everywhere.

MR. LASKY LETS CONTRACT.

The contract for the building of the three business houses between the new City National Bank building and the Bertner building on Second street, was let this week by Mr. Chas. H. Lasky to the same parties who are erecting the C. H. Earnest building, Messrs. Bafanze, Jones Co., of Temple, Texas.

The new block will be one story in height, of ornamental brick construction, marble front finish, with plate glass windows in bronze settings, and every up to the minute convenience and comfort. It goes without the saying that anything Mr. Lasky undertakes, will be done in the best manner, with the best materials, by the best skill the market affords.

Although no binding contract has been made bteween Mr. Lasky and any certain tenant, he has had many propositions to rent all the houses he will build. It will be in the very heart of the business district, and every storehouse will be adapted to the latest demands of modern business. The Record is rejoicing to see the last one of the old St. James lots adorned with an attractive business house. The completion of all the new buildings now in process of construction will mark the beginning of a new era in the business history of the town of Colorado. We are moving along on a higher plane than ever before, with better and loftier ideals before us. With the unmatched agricultural potentialities of the country tributary to the town, there is no reason, under average crop conditions, why Colorado should not be one of the very best town in West Texas, regardless of size. If sound business conditions, conservative yet progressive government, every appurtenance and accessory to comfortable living, combined with unsurpassed social, educational and religious advantages, are factors in a prosperous community, then Colorado has already reached that goal.

He was Scotch all right, was Sandy MacGregor, and had mislaid his wallet containing $500 at the railway station.

He telegraphed his loss to the railway station agent and the wallet was kept until his return a month later.

The finder, a young clerk, handed MacGregor the missing wallet and stood in an attitude of eager expectation. The Scot unheedingly counted his money and then looked long and suspiciously at the young clerk.

"Isn't it right?" stammered the latter in bewilderment.

"Right! Right! It's right enough," said MacGregor, "but whur's the month's interest?"—Ex.

AN ESSAY.

One of our boys wrote the following terse narrative about Elijah: "There was a man nawed Elijah. He had some bears and lived in a cave. Some boys tormented him. He said: 'If you keep on throwing stones at me I'll turn the bears on you and they'll eat you up.' And they did and he did and the bears did."—Southern Cross (Buenos Aires).

FARMERS GET FIRST NEW POWER IN ONE THOUSAND YEARS.

Farmers of Texas are becoming more and more convinced that they are finally coming into possession of a new power, and one that is actually the first placed at their disposal in more than a thousand years. Still, the modern age has done much for the farmer during the past decade in the way of providing him with better implements to use power.

The power, however, is that which comes with the realization of the importance to civilization of the gasoline tractor, an exhibition of which recently made in Dallas, startled thousands of Texas farmers, who had been impelled to attend the demonstration. They realized the fact, when they saw the great show, that it marked the first advance in a thousand years in the sources of power placed at their disposal.

The Post-Dispatch gives the following history of conquests of new power:

"The history of modern civilization, on the material side, is the history of successive conquests of new sources of power. Modern industrial civilization began when James Watt made the steam engine—a device which up till then had a limited use for pumping water from mines—automatic. Land transportation and water transportation leaped forward to new developments as the power of steam was adapted to their needs.

"Next came the development of electric power. A new realm of transportation was opened by it; new economies were made possible in industry.

"Then came the internal combustion engine—the age of gasoline, and for the first time in history the farmer was brought into the stream of a great power development. He had, as a farmer, had no share in either the age of steam or the age of electricity; he had merely shared in the general social advance. In 6,000 years of farming the ony change in sources of power in the field had been the substitution of the quick-moving horse for the patient ox, and this had been a mere gain in speed of traction—none at all in the amount of power under the farmer's hand, or the economy of the production. It has been attempted to use steam in the field, but without success; not one farmer in 100 has ever even heard of a steam plow. But the advent of the gasoline engine changed the fact of things for the farmer. All mechanical field aids until its appearance had been merely better appliances for using the power of horses; the advent of the tractor has placed within the farmer's grasp a new kind of power.

"The tractor multiplies the amount of power which may profitably be used by one man in the field—multiplies it to ten times. It provides a form of power which has high efficiency under circumstances in which it is impossible to use horses. It is a form of power which involves no expense when not in use except the interest on the investment, whereas a horse eats 365 days in the year. This is of great importance to a business whose activities vary so greatly with the seasons and also from day to day, according to the weather. The tractor enables the farmer to get power in the field by burning gasoline at the moment when it is needed, instead of burning up oats and hay—much more expensive fuels—in the bodies of his horses, whether he used them or not."—Waco News.

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

Adams Elected by House In Exciting 1824 Fight.

As there were no recognized political parties this year, election became a personal contest, which resulted as follows: Andrew Jackson, 99; John Quincy Adams, 84; William H. Crawford, 41; Henry Clay, 37. No one having received a majority, the house of representatives elected Adams. Thirteen states voted for him. John C. Calhoun was generally supported for vice president and was elected.

This is the first year where the popular vote is on record. That year it was: Jackson, 155,872; Adams, 105,321; Crawford, 44,282; Clay, 46,587. It is thus noted that, while Jackson received 50,000 more votes than Adams, yet he was defeated.

(Watch for the election of Andrew Jackson in 1828 in our next issue.)

A preacher of the "gospel-for-revenue" class, is reported as saying that the only way to be interesting is to break the ten commandments. Breaking every command of the decalogue is about the least original thing the common run of mankind can do. Old Adam began that school of originality, and every mother's son of us since has kept it up.

Many people wonder how the peons of Mexico can maintain such a protracted revolution as has been in progress in that country the past five years. The answer is, they are now fighting for something the achievement of which has never before been possible in their minds, and that thing is Land Not for his landlord's land, but that he might have a little land of his own. No revolution is possible in a nation where the people who produce its wealth own the land they work.

"Gee, but its too hot to work," proclaimed a six dollar the week clerk one evening this week, as he returned from his fifth excursion to the drug store for a cold drink costing 5c each time. We passed the place where this same youth lived later in the day and saw his old mother digging around the few flowers left living by the drouth and watering them with loving care. It was not too hot for her to work even at a labor of love for the beautiful, and we doubt if she had had one drink of ice water during the day. Sure, it was too hot for her lardy-dah mollycoddle of an imitation son to make a bluff at earning his princely pay, but it never gets too hot, nor the days grow too long for the good mothers to slave away their lives for their less worthy children, nor do they cease to delude themselves that Lizzie or Jasper is worth the sacrifice.

The most recent activity of old Villa is reported to be suicide. Without Villa, both the United States and the de facto government of Mexico would be at a loss for rag-chewing. We only hope the old rascal will stay dead till after the November election.

The "Chicken Doctor" is now one of the specialties of remedial science. He attends to all the real and alleged ailments to which poultry is hatched and collects a fee just like the other doctors. We remember once being introduced to a young lady of rather unconventional impulses, as "Doctor W," whereupon she immediately asked: "Alopathic, homeopathic, divinity, law, horse or corn doctor."

If the friends and supporters of Senator Culberson wish to see him nominated for the senate on August 26th, they had best be up and doing. Culberson clubs should be organized in every county and town, the members of which should pledge themselves to go to the polls on that date and vote for him. We believe that ex-Governor Colquitt polled practically his maximum strength in the recent primary, and if the former supporters of Dr. Brooks and ex-Goxernor Campbell, who are now narrowed to a choice between Culberson and Colquitt, will vote their convictions, we believe Culberson will win easily. The issue that the friends of Colquitt are trying to raise—that this campaign is a fight between the Washington-Texas politicians on one side, supporting Culberson and the people of Texas on the other side supporting Colquitt, is as meritorious as it will prove futile. Mr. Colquitt's campaign attitude toward President Wilson's administration, is founded on that well known text—

"When the devil is sick, the devil a saint would be;
When the devil is well, devil a saint is he."

It has always been said that the American Indians could never make a success as agricultural workers. To disprove this theory, Uncle Sam's wards on the government reservation near Canning, Cal., have just sold to the government $10,000 worth of cattle, seed and other farm produce, raised on their lands in the reservation, under conditions which would sorely try the skill and patience of the sons of several generations of expert farmers.

Hardly a train passes eastward that does not disclose some disgusted fellow, with his lares and penates loaded altogether in one car, making his ansbysis back to where he came from east. If it rains on these kind of people while en route back to God's pasture, they unload their stuff and reship on the next westbound train and try this dry country again.

The prosperity of the farmer depends more upon intelligently casting his ballot than upon any single factor.

IF "I"

When Colquitt published to the world, through the medium of the New York American, in December, 1914, just before he retired from the executive office, his dire prediction:—

"I am fully convinced the national election of 1916 will end the democratic regime"—

he evidently had a purpose in view. What was it?

Colquitt is not the man to recklessly rush into print merely to express his antagonism to President Wilson.

At all times and places, and under all circumstances, one predominant, all-pervading motive, shapes the course of O. B. Colquitt, and that is how shall O. B. Colquitt get on in the world? That is the one clue by which he can always be traced and trailed.

What, then, did he have in mind when, in evident pursuit of his own bent and inclination, he predicted that the democratic party was about to collapse?

When the conditions of that hour are recalled, and his overwhelming ambition is taken into consideration, it is not difficult to fix upon the purpose this remarkable deliverance.

It should be remembered that not long after it was made he went to New York and made a speech upon the text, "If I were president." It will be observed that in that fulmination he also hinted at this—"If I had been president."

It is true this proceeding was so ridculous only one New York paper paid any attention to it. But that didn't phase O. B. C. No billy goat was ever invented that cared less what people think about what he does than does O. B. C.

In 1914, the Bull Moose party was in full blast, and seemed to be about all there was to the republican party with any virility. Its boast was that it purposed to capture the South, and it was then preparing to do it. It was hot after live wires—such, for instance, as O. B. C., and it was dangling great prizes before them.

The presidency—how many men, great and small, have aimed there and written tragedy into their lives because they did so.

Sam Houston was talked of for president. In the view of O. B. C., Houston had much less reason to look forward to that high dignity than O. B. C.

IF
HAD BEEN PRESIDENT.

Do you begin to see which way this man of mighty valor was drifting? If you don't, there must be some obstruction in your understanding.—Waco News.

HOW IT SOUNDS AWAY FROM HOME.

Republican papers of the north are saying that the lead of Colquitt for senator is a repudiation of President Wilson. Colquitt said many bitter things about the president and his Mexican policy in a New York speech some months ago and among other things said he was incompetent. Is the democracy of Texas going to repudiate the president or rebuke Colquitt?—Sherman Democrat.

The Danish West Indies consists of three small islands, St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, which lie just east of Porto Rica. St. Thomas is the most important of them, not by reason of its size or products, but its geographical position. It is the key to the Carribean sea from the Atlantic ocean, and clearinghouse of all the trade that goes from that sea to Europe. It is the most important cable station of the western hemisphere. The price of $25,000,000 is a small one for the islands.

Dallas has passed a segregation ordinance which prevents negroes from acquiring homes in certain parts of the city. Where there are one or more negroes living in a block it is considered a negro section, and no white person can locate there in and otherwise. Segregation ordinances are being passed in several Oklahoma cities.

Many voters, claiming to be for Senator Culberson, express the opinion that he will be defeated because his friends will not turn out on the 26th and vote for him. In this conclusion, the Record inclines to the belief that such friends speak more from their own feelings and intentions in the matter, than from any expressions on the part of others. This is the very way to have Culberson defeated. If you really believe what you predict, the obligation is the heavier upon you to go to the polls and cast your vote for Culberson. Why admit that the friends of Colquitt are more watchful of his interests than the friends of Culberson? Do what you think is your own duty and keep your fears of what the other fellow may not do, to yourself, and Mr. Culberson will be nominated by a veritable avalanche. If he is defeated, it will be because of the dereliction of his friends.

THE LANDLESS MAN AND THE MANLESS LAND.

As we recollect it was Tolstoy who wrote the story about the barbed wire fence which inclosed a great pasture. The cattle had cropped the grass close within the inclosure, but outside were acres and acres of long grass.

"Why don't you tear down the fence so your cattle may range over all this pasture land?" the proprietor of the farm was asked.

"If we let them out we couldn't milk them," was the reply.

The barbed wire fence is like our present tax system which keeps men from the unused land.

This tax system is maintained for "milking" purposes.

The worst enemy of organized labor in its fight for higher wages and better conditions is the jobless man.

The jobless man has got to eat and he will eat even though he has to scab to do so.

In other words when there are three men after two jobs there will inevitably be low wages, strikes, strike-breakers, bloodshed and riots.

The jobless man is a direct product of the practice of withholding land from use.

Due to a shortsighted policy, our country has permitted every foot of useful land to be appropriated, chiefly by speculators. Today, while millions of acres of labor opportunities are withheld from use, thousands of jobless men are walking the highways bidding against their fellow-beings who have jobs.

The only way to open this land to use at this late date is to make it unprofitable to hold it for speculative purposes. This can be accomplished by an increased tax on its value. Furthermore, as taxes are increased on these land values, the taxes on buildings, improvements and industry can be lowered, thus providing another incentive for capital to employ labor. —The Ground Hog.

The man or woman who gets the idea into his or her head that the most obscure line in a country newspaper escapes careful reading, should take a hint from the following incident, which is but one of many like unto it: A subscriber to the Record stopped us on the street this week and said he wished to thank whomsoever was responsible for it, for putting the date of the paper on every page of the issue. It helped him keep tab on the dates of things he read, and instead of looking back on the front page for the date, he could pick up any scattered page of the paper and find out just "where he was at" by calendar reckoning. A small straw this, but it indicates the direction of public opinion as accurately as a whole haystack.

NO KICK, JUST A CRITICISM.

Frequently during the past two weeks— or to be mathematically accurate, five times—persons living west of town and some living in town but habituated to riding both for profit and pleasure in that direction, have asked the Record to register for them (without calling any names, of course) a kick as to the present condition of servitude of the river bridge west of town. The Record made a trip out that way this week in order to ascertain if the kick were founded in fact or otherwise. We found the facts awarrant for criticism, at least. The flooring is wearing quite thin in the wagon, buggy and auto tracks, and some of the flooring is audibly and visually loose. The rattling of the bracing rods would lead one to assume that a little tightening of the nuts would not be time and muscle squandered.

Of course, this is no more of the Record's business than the building of a safety railing along the side of the roadway up the steep hill west of town, that abuts upon sudden death or a broken limb in the shape of a fall of about 30 feet; no more of the Record's business than the upkeep of the courthouse and winding of the people's $2,000 Seth Thomas clock and saving it from destruction by rust plus neglect, as we know the tax payers of Mitchell county bought that clock, not to keep time, but to afford an object lesson to the voters in "eke-ernomical administration."

But it is somebody's business, and the quickest way to find out just whose business the conservation of public safety is, is to criticise the wrong one first. But seriously neighbors, the bridge does need a little looking after. A little attention now will save much labor and expense later on.

FOR SHAME—MY COUNTRY.

No outrage reported from European battlefields equals in horror the crime committed recently at Waco, Texas, by the crowd that mutilated, tortured, burned Jesse Washington, a seventeen-year-old colored boy. The American citizen who reads the account of this occurrence, reported by a special agent of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in The Crisis, without feeling the ineffaceable shame this deed has put upon his country must be dead to every noble impulse of humanity and patriotism.

That in a city of 30,000 people, with 33 churches, there should have been found but one minister to lift up his voice in protest after the event, is to us inconceivable. For this government to allow such crimes to be committed against its citizens within any state of the Union and take no action, is a reproach far deeper and more damning upon its honor than anything that has been charged against it by its bitterest critics since the war in Europe began.

The wretched victim had been convicted, the sentence of death was to be executed that very day. The wild cry was not for punishment, not even for justice, but for torture. The mayor of Waco stood looking down from his window upon the burning, "unconcerned" the agent reports, save for the injury to the tree from which the body hung. The chief of police witnessed the lynching. The photographer was engaged beforehand for the occasion. And we call ourselves a Christian nation!—Our Dumb Animals.

"I'm afraid these Louis XV heels are much too high for me. Perhaps you have lower ones—say about Louis X would do, I think."—London Opinion.

Speaking of the comparative abilities of Culberson and the other candidates for the United States senate, a local admirer of the first said, 'Culberson's shadow on the wall has more ability than all the others in their proper persons." We assume he expects to cast his vote for Culberson in the coming primary.

Col Theodore Roosevelt has been called Judas Iscariot by the men who have loved him, who have worshipped at his shrine and who have followed his political fortunes with the greatest devotion for many years. He is a fallen idol.—Austin American.

A GOOD MAN NEVER DIES.

A good man never dies—
In worthy deed and prayer,
And helpful hands and honest eyes,
If smiles and tears be there;
Who lives for you and me—
Lives for the world; he tries
To help; he lives eternally.

A good man never dies—
Who lives to bravely take
His share of toil and stress,
And for the weaker fellow's sake
Makes every burden less;
He may at last seem worn,
Lie fallen, hands and eyes
Folded—yet though we mourn and mourn,
A good man never dies.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

A THONGHT FOR THE WEEK.

There is no month in the whole year in which nature wears a more beautiful appearance than in the month of August. Spring has many beauties, and May is a fresh and blooming month, but the charms of this time of year are enhanced by their contrast with the winter season. August has no such advantages. It comes when we remember nothing but clear skies, green fields, and sweet-smelling flowers—when the recollection of snow, and ice, and bleak winds has faded from our minds as completely as they have disappeared from the earth; and yet what a pleasant time it is! Orchards and corn fields ring with the hum of labor. trees bend beneath the thick clusters of rich fruit, which bow their branches to the ground; and the corn, piled in graceful sheaves, or waving in every light breath that sweeps above it, as if it wooed the sickle, tinges the landscape with a golden hue. A mellow softness appears to hang over the whole earth.—Charles Dickens, in "Pickwick Papers."

HONORING MRS. NEAL.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. A. Pierce had her nearest neighbors bring their work and spend the time with Mrs. W. C. SOME INTERESTING PICTURES.

Will Schroder, son of Mrs. Nellie Schroder, has been employed for some time on the construction work of the great Elephant Butte dam, in New Mexico which is now about completed and will be dedicated by President Wilson on October 14th, sent his mother from time to time, many photographs of the big project taken at different stages of the work, as well as of many places of interest in the vicinity of the dam. Some of the pictures are postal card size, while some of them are panoramic views nearly two feet in length. After studying these views, one has almost as clear conception of the scene and work as could be gained by a personal visit. Aside from the informing feature of these pictures, there will be much satisfaction to both son and mother in after years to be reminded by them that he had a part in the building of this gigantic undertaking.

DEATH OF "GRANDMA" PHENIX.

Last Sunday afternoon at the home of her son, Dr. N. J. Phenix, Mrs. Mary A. Phenix, better known as Grandma Phenix, pasesd to her reward after a brief illness of only a few days, at the ripe age of 96 years, three months and two days.

She was born May 4th in the western district of Tennessee, and was the first white child born in that district. At the age of eight years her parents moved to what is now Quincy, Ill., when there was only one house there. It was nine miles to their nearest neighbor and it was not uncommon to hear wolves and panthers.

At the age of nineteen she married Dr. P. K. Phenix and in 1848 they came to Texas for her husband's health. They came down the Mississippi river during a cholera epidemic and saw the dead and dying on every hand, but always thinking of others, she helped to nurse the sick and comfort the sorrowing. They landed safely and settled in Lamar county, at what is now known as Paris, but then called Pinhook. There her husband's health grew better and he was actively engaged in his profession, going mles to visit the sick. She was as ever his helpmate and ministered to many a suffering one. From there they moved to Jack county and built the first substantial house in the county. Her husband helped to organize the county, locate the county seat and had the honor of naming it Jacksboro. Their house was used for a fort, courthouse, church house and hotel. At one time when the Indians made a raid the volunteers, who came for miles to their rescue, were fed for several days at their house.

They lived in Grayson, Hood, Hunt and several other counties. In fact they have lived in nearly all parts of the state, and each part was the better in their having lived there.

Since her husband's death she has lived in the west with her children and for nearly two years she has made her home in Colorado with her son, Dr. Phenix.

She was converted at the age of 12, and at the age of twenty-two years joined the Baptist church and lived devoted to its principles the remainder of her life of 84 useful years.

She was a woman of strong beliefs, and when once she was convinced a thing was her duty nothing prevented her from performing that duty. She was a close bible student and daily felt the Holy Spirit as her guide and relied on Him in hours of sunshine and shadow. His presence grew sweeter to her every day and she could truly know "at evening time it shall be light."

She was the mother of nine children, seven of whom are now living. Three were permitted to be with her at the last. She also leaves two brothers and esveral grandchildren and friends in all parts of the state who are the better by having been under her influence.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. L. Williamson at the Baptist church here and the remains laid to rest in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth! Yea saith the spirit; that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

"I AM BLIND."

There are few more pathetic appeals than this. It comes today from tens of thousands of victims of this appalling war. How many thousands more, ere the war ends, will meet this same sad fate of blindness no one can even guess. Among the organizations pleading for help for victims of the war none urges its claim with better reason than that of the Permanent Blind Relief War Fund. Its purpose is to make it possible for those whose sight has been destroyed on the field or in the trenches to learn some one of the several trades most suited to the blind, such as carpentry, mat-making, basket making, weaving, etc.

This organization has just sent out its second message to the churches and Sunday schools and people of America for contributions. Most truly it says:

"In their present pitiable condition, the blinded soldiers and sailors are, almost without exception, the world's most tragic unfortunates. They cannot see to find work; cannot perform work without preliminary instruction; cannot except through other agencies, sell their work or commercialize its results after it has been performed.

"These blinded soldiers are pathetically anxious to be useful. They stretch out impotent hands to you from across the ocean. They turn sightless eyes to you asking for aid."

Attractive little banks will be sent to all children and others who will apply for them in which dimes and even pennies may be collected. Address all gifts and correspondence to Frank A. Vanderlip, Esq., Treasurer, Permanent Blind Relief War Fund, 590 Fifth Ave., New York.

THE BUGGY RIDE.

Despite the changing times, I cherish the conviction that if there is anyone within sound of this typewriter who has missed taking his girl out riding with the old hoss and buggy of fame, he has missed something.

When grandma wore that bonnet,
An' grandpa wore his hat,
They took a horse 'n' buggy
An' 'loped—'jes think 'o that!
He said, "You're awful pretty!"
She said, "You're brave and true,"
An' then, beneath the bonnet,
I think they kissed, don't you?

The long summer afternoon on the long country roads is pleasant, but if it is evening and there is moonlight thrown in, it becomes a dream. You drive up to her home with some trepidation ,put in the clutch and the brake and the hoss anchors.

She is ready with surprising quickness. She must have expected you.

That bit of ribbon on her hair and that flower-

"Where are we going?" she asks casually, with the warm blood in her cheek, and, as you work the self-starter on the hoss, release the clutch and he shows signs of forward movement you reply: "To the end of the world," and she makes no objection.

Can you beat it?

You have youth and a day, and you know as well as anything can be known that the pomp of emperors in comparison is as 30 cents. Down the long, winding road to heaven, through the cool, shady, woodland places, by the shores of still lakes and along the dusty and flower-bordered highways of this life, the hoss and buggy move.

Slowly the talk drifts towards imperishable confidences, to little loving "asides," to the touches of friendly hands and feet, till someone says: "I could ride so forever." The word has been said, the old story is told again—and the troubles of a long lifetime together have begun.

Will no one stop them? Will no one shout aloud to them: "Young folks, the rapids are before you! Stop now, before it is everlastingly too late!" No. No one shouts thus, and so they go to their doom and are married and live happily ever after—or, at least, for some time, and the tide rises and the tide falls. And nobody tries to stop it.

RING OUT THE CHEAP; RING IN QUALITY

I asked a shoe man the other day why it was that shoes were so much higher in price than they used to be.

"Shoe leather has gone up," he said. "Most people think that's the reason. But it's only one reason.

"People are buying better shoes than they used to. They want more comfortable shoes. Better fit. They want longer wear and more style. They want some individuality, too."

I thought to myself: Well here's a condition just like the one we are experiencing in the automobile business.

Nearly every 3400 r. p. m. we have sold this year has been to someone who has driven a lower priced car.

I know for myself that it pays to buy better shoes as well as a better car.

But it seems that the great big buying public has the same idea, too.

I'm particularly strong for the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers because she's got tremendous endurance.

There are now more than 1,000,000 miles of use in owners' hands behind her—and that tells a lot.

Besides the factory writes me that she has a record of service of 99.21 percent perfect.

If you never had a run in her let me know. I want you to get this thrill whether you have any idea of buying or not.

PARAMOUNT GARAGE

AUGUST.

August gets its name from Augustus Caesar, who was a nephew of Julius. The career of his uncle had been the most brilliant in history, and Augustus did his best to eclipse it. He got a rural credits bill through the senate within a short time after he became emperor, came out frankly for a big navy, established an imperial reserve bank, created a tariff board and federalized the Roman militia. Rome had no more constructive period than that in which he was head of the state. The child labor law, which had cost the life of Julius Caesar at the hands of Casca and other mill operatives, became a fact under Augustus. He also gave the women suffrage, introduced one-cent postage, and forced an income tax law through the senate. He was immenesly popular with the masses, and the Augustan Age, in which he lived and reigned, is called the golden age of Rome.

However, Augustus still fell short of his illustrous uncle's fame. What he did not know was that war is a much more powerful factor in the lives of the great than all the agencies of civilization combined. His advisors urged him to fight more and think less, but Augustus refused. He was under the impression that a great change had come over the world. He thought war had served very well the purposes of his uncle, but that his own could only be served in their turn by progressive acts for the uplifting of humankind. His old age in which he realized his mistake, was the unhappiest of which we have any record. He originated the expression "Father was right."

His choice of August as his monumentment was based upon a family tradition of the Caesars that hot weather is the most enduring thing in the world. Julius Caesar went into this subject exhaustively. He found that while cold weather fluctuated a good deal and had notably done so during the glacial period, there was no record that hot weather had ever been any thing but plain hot weather. He took July as his monument, and his nephew took August. Whether they were wrong or not is easily answered by considering what people will probably be doing this season long after the pyramids have decayed.

The festive calf will show us how
  The Russians brought the Teutons back;
And greater caution will endow
  Examining the Skager Rack,
A dozen boys will man the pit
  Behind the soda fount at morn,
The harried farmer will submit
  The standard prayers for the corn,
The plumber's picture postal mail
  Will show him playing in the snow,
The silver whistle of the quail
  Will thread the morning's tender glow,
The hired man will press his suit
  Beneath his true love's trellised wall
The poet will take down his lute
  For seeing certain signs of Fall,
The hungry shark will flash his fin,
  Where ocean murmurs soft and low,
And the artful widow will blow in
  And seize the summer maiden's beau.

Experience is that beside which youth and beauty are to laugh. It tosses Cupid's bow aside and deftly operates a gaff. Your simple maid no more than sighs and babbles Browning in the sand. Her trust is in her soulful eyes and man's wide yearning for her hand. The widow smiles at this soft stuff, and boldly canters down the beach; in her campaign it is enough that man shall come within her reach. There is a shriek of startled prey, a cloud of sand obscures the sky. The chase goes thundering away as straight as swallows ever fly. By dune and moor it sweeps with all the zest of sportsmen after deer, and ere the shades of even fall she brings her man in by the ear.

At any rate, the war of kings will leave behind its second year, and each will bite a few more things in everybody else's ear. The issue now, we understand, pertains to who is loath to stop. They all desire the upper hand before they let the matter drop. The Czar must have the Dardannelles, the French must have the Kaiser's goat, the Teutons must have all the shells and Britain have the only boat. The Turks must have the Czar's back hair, the Austrians must all be dead, and each possessing whatsoe'er fight on for something else instead.

Meanwhile, our own beleagured troops
  Must guard the raging Rio Grande,
Experiment with army soups,
  And learn to sleep upon the sand.
It does seem hard, for all they get
  Of anybody else's gore;
For all the blood there is let,
  And all the game before our door.
However, if that valiant host
  Will just be patient with its lot,
It may be ours at last to boast
  A war in which no one was shot.

It was on August 3rd that Columbus set sail for America. He realized that there must be some neutral country to which the warring nations of Europe could appeal for judgment in claims of foul, where they could buy supplies and borrow money, and to which submarines could go in cases of severe blockade. He therefore induced Queen Isabella of Spain to pawn her wrist watch, and set sail with the well-wishes of all thoughtful people. Except for labor troubles, which resulted in his crew becoming unionized on Labor day, the voyage to America was uneventful.

The dog days will end on the 11th, when dog catchers will be interned. The first twenty-two days of August will be under the influence of Leo, the Lion, the fifth sign of the zodiac. People born in this period are very optimistic and think the Carranzistas will catch Villa. The last nine days of the month will be under the influence of Virgo the Virgin, the sixth sign of the zodiac. Virgo people have pure motives, and are the first people hoodwinked in a political campaign. The moon will be full on the 13th.

Then sweet September will have done
  Her best to win a medal,
And all the candidates will run
  As fast as they can pedal.

AUTO MAKERS SOUND WARNINGS TO RECKLESS MOTORISTS

"With automobile accidents increasing daily in the larger cities of the country, and civic authorities at their wits' end in an effort to solve the traffic problem, it seems to me that the time has come for the motorist to take up the burden," said Hugh Chalmers the other day.

"Although practically every record kept by a police department shows the pedestrian responsible in nine out of ten automobile accidents, we must recognize the fact that the general public is inclined to blame the toll of deaths and injuries on the driver of the car.

Bearing this in mind, I believe that it rests almost entirely with motor car owners whether future accidents are to increase with each season's new crop of drivers. In the first place, there is undoubtedly a portion of the blame resting with certain types of drivers.

The intoxicated "joy rider" and others of his ilk, who frequent city streets during the late hours of the night, are a menace to society. To this class, speed laws mean nothing. Heavy fines and imprisonment are about the only remedies that can be meted out to the joy-riding fraternity.

With the hundreds of thousands of new motor cars marketed every year by American motor car makers, traffic will undoubtedly grow more congested each season, and the necessity for extreme caution will increase. To prepare chauffeurs and owner-drivers for their responsibilities, I believe a campaign of education should be started by the various automobile clubs and motor trade papers along the lines of Safety First. The matter is not all one of speed limits or drastic legislation. Some drivers are more capable at thirty miles an hour than others are at ten. I feel sure that the real remedy will be found in the loyal cooperation of every man at the wheel obeying traffic laws now in force and reporting violations to the authorities.

As far as pedestrians are concerned, it should be just as much of an offense for the man on foot to disobey the traffic officer's signal as it is for the automobile driver to ignore it.

TWO BATTLES RAGE THROUGH NIGHT IN NORTHERN FRANCE.

London, Aug. 5.—Two tremdous battles are being fought in northern France tonight—in Picardy and before Verdun. Throughout the day on both fields the allies have held the mastery.

It was a powerful two days' offensive, but the British have pushed back the German lines north and west of Pozieres on a front of almost two miles for a distance of a quarter to a third of a mile.

After three days of terrific fighting northeast of Verdun, the French have not only halted the German offensive, but held all the important ground gained by their counter stroke. They claim to hold the strong Thiaumont work, the greater part of the village of Fleury and important strategic positions west of the Thiaumont-Fleury road, all of which were in the hands of the Germans before the battle. The powerful German attacks on the Vaux-Chapitre front delivered in the afternoon were broken up by the French fire. The first did not even succeed in approaching the French trenches. A counter attack routed the Germans after they had gained some ground in the second assault.

The losses of both sides in these two great battles have been enormous, according to news from the front. Thousand of bodies lie unburied while grievously wounded men are being left to die on the shell-swept battle ground owing to the impossibility of relief being sent under the fearful fire.

AUTO BANDITS ROBBING PAY CAR STILL AT LARGE.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 5.—Tonight, thirty-six hours after the daylight hold-up of the motor pay car of the Burroughs Adding Machine company by five automobile bandits, Detroit police still were as much in ignorance concerning the identity of the bold highwaymen or their possible whereabouts as though they had never existed.

It was admitted that for the present the men apparently have made good their escape with their booty, placed by the company officials at from $33,000 to $34,000.

Six men were released when they established alibis.

STATE FAIR AUTO SHOW TO HAVE ALL 1917 MODELS

J. S. Kendall.

J. S. Kendall, director in charge of the Automobile Division of the State Fair of Texas, announces that plans for the biggest automobile show the South ever saw have been completed by the Fair management, and that the active interest and cooperation of the Texas dealers has been secured.

During the past year the Automobile Building in Fair Park, Dallas, which houses this big show, has been extensively remodeled and redecorated, and its facilities have been brought right down to date, so that the 1916 show will be presented under the most favorable conditions possible.

There is no doubt but what this show will be presented under the most favorable conditions possible.

There is no doubt but what this show will be intensely interesting to many prospective car owners throughout the Southwest, as it offers practically the only opportunity the people of this section will have to see all the new 1917 models side by side, and to make comparisons of the relative vales of each.

John W. Atwood, of Dallas, who is president of the Automobile Dealers Association, states that the members of that body are all actively interested in the coming show and are making extensive preparations for their exhibits and demonstration work.

It is authoritatively stated that practically all of the popular makes will be included in the big show at the State Fair of Texas, and that each will be represented by its very latest models. Trucks and commercial cars will be seen in large numbers, as well as the best of the exclusively pleasure cars.

MANY MADE PRODUCTS WILL BE SEEN AT STATE FAIR

S. I. Munger

S. I. Munger, director in charge of the Manufactures Division of the State Fair of Texas, announces that the displays in his section this year will be a revelation to Fair visitors, and that practically every manufacturer of any importance in the Southwest will be represented with a good and thoroughly representative exhibit.

Particular attention has been paid by the Fair management this year to the matter of securing exhibits of the products "made-in-Texas," and it is stated that these products will be at the Fair in overwhelming numbers.

The average Texan has little or no real idea of the wonderful diversity of products made in this State, and the "Made-in-Texas" exhibits are expected for this reason, to be of a great deal of interest. They will include hundreds of articles which are not generally attributed to Texas manufacturers, but which are actually made here—and well made, too.

The Manufacturers exhibits at the State Fair are always interesting. This year, because of their increased numbers, and also because of the increasing importance of Texas as a manufacturing State, they are expected to be even more so.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the Fair Association, states that practically all the available space in the Manufactures Building has been contracted for, but that a few choice positions are still remaining, and that these may be secured by writing direct to the Fair Association, Dallas.

STATE FAIR ATTRACTIONS OF NEW HIGH STANDARD

H. A. Olmsted

The amusement features provided for the 1916 State Fair of Texas which opens at Dallas October 14 are the very best ever offered by any Fair management.

This positive assertion is made by H. A. Olmsted director in charge of the State Fair's department of Carnival and Music, and is based upon contracts already signed with some of the best carnival and musical organizations in the country.

The F. A. Wortham Shows, considered by many to be the best carnival on the road today, will be at Fair Park throughout the period of the Fair, October 14 to 29. With this carnival are some of the best and highest priced attractions in the carnival world and these shows are sure to be of great interest to every Fair visitor.

The various musical programs, of which there will be many, will be headed by Flaviu's Band. This is the organization headed by A. F. Flaviu, which won premier musical honors at the Panama-Pacific exposition, playing both the opening and closing engagements. Mr. Flaviu will bring the same organization to Dallas that scored so heavily at San Francisco, and a real treat is promised music lovers of the Southwest.

The various other attractions and amusements are the very best of their kinds and there is no doubt that the entertainment features of the 1916 State Fair will excel all former offerings.

THREE NEW COINS SOON TO BE IN CIRCULATION.

Three new artistically designed coins will probably be in circulation according to reports to local bankers from the federal mints. The new coins will be the half dollar, the quarter dollar and the dime. A statue of liberty is engraved on one side of the half dollar, with the American flag flying in the background. Branches of olive and oak are grasped in the hands of Liberty, which is outstretched, siginfying the bestowal of liberty. The other side of the coin bears the figure of an eagle perched on a mountain crag.

Tre quarter dollar coins bear a figure of liberty on one side with an olive branch in one hand and a shield on her arm. The other side of the coin shows a figure of an eagle in flight.

The dime has one side the head of liberty, with the winged cap, while the other side is engraved with the bundle of rods and battle ax, commonly known as the "fasces."

ATTRACTIVENESS OF A CITY.

Of late years a great deal of attention has been given to city beautification work. It is noted everywhere that great achievements are being made along this line. When the parks, public buildings, etc., are improved along civic lines, there is a natural inclination on the part of the home owners to also make their homes beautiful. A city is like an individual. When a fellow is dressed up he naturally feels a little proud of himself. When the influence is in the air, the citizens soon begin to vie with each other in making the most attractive improvements.

A logical result of a beautiful city is a general improvement of the sanitary conditions. The citizens are not satisfied to put up with slip shod methods. A beautiful boulevard and a littered alley make too great a contrast. The improvement of the one calls for the improvement of the other.

A beautiful city can not put up with vacant lots growing up in weeds and filled with rubbish. There is no more unsightly aspect to a city than a vacant lot, usually owned by a non-resident, on a well improved street, where the weeds grow rank and mosquitos and insects find a delightful refuge. Many cities are encouraging home gardening on vacant lots and the results are highly satisfactory. The gardening is profitable and at the same time removes a great big eye-sore.

To make a city really beautiful the work must be encouraged and pushed by every individual factor in that city. When the entire populace is worked up to accomplish a certain purpose, it is practically assured that that purpose will be accomplished and accomplished speedily.—Dallas Trade Review.

RAGMEN MAKING MONEY.

Look not with scorn now on the raggatherer, as he wends his way about the city streets and over country roads. He is making a profit such as has not been known in generations to men of his humble vocation.

Whereas formerly the buyer for the paper mill perhaps stood aloof and was frigidly distant when the peddler drove up to his door and showed his garnering from the ragbags of thrifty housewives, now he rather fawns upon the vender. For have not European and Asiatic paper mills been shut off so that prices have risen from 40 to 100 per cent

Now the ragman who brings his goods to the mill practically names ni sown price and his economic service to the paper trade has just been lauded by the secretary of commerce. Owners of ragbags, if commercially inclined, can increase their income.—Christian Science Monitor.

The latest reports from Chicago show that 284 persons have died in that city directly or indirectly from the effect of the heat wave during the past week.

State Superintendent W. F. Daughty declares that 282,000 boys and girls in Texas have grown to maturity without knowing how to read and write. The rural school development under Mr. Doughty has been marked. The state aid given to rural schools in this section has wonderfully stimulated rural school development.—Western Evangel.

HUSBAND RESCUED DESPAIRING WIFE

After Four Years of Discouraging Conditions, Mrs. Bullock Gave Up in Despair. Husband Came to Rescue.

Catron, Ky.—In an interesting letter from this place, Mrs. Bettie Bullock writes as follows: "I suffered for four years, with womanly troubles, and during this time, I could only sit up for a little while, and could not walk anywhere at all. At times, I would have severe pains in my left side.

The doctor was called in, and his treatment relieved me for a while, but I was soon confined to my bed again. After that, nothing seemed to do me any good. I had gotten so weak I could not stand, and I gave up in despair.

At last, my husband got me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I commenced taking it. From the very first dose, I could tell it was helping me. I can now walk two miles without its tiring me, and am doing all my work."

If you are all run down from womanly troubles, don't give up in despair. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It has helped more than a million women, in its 50 years of continuous success, and should surely help you, too. Your druggist has sold Cardui for years. He knows what it will do. Ask him. He will recommend it. Begin taking Cardui today.

Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper. J-66

She had been rather feeble for about six weeks, and her friends feared she would not be strong enough again to mingle with her neighbors. Mrs. Cooksey will be 85 years of age in October, yet her spirit is brave and her outlook upon life as cheerful as at fifty years. May she be spared for many years yet.

COME OUT FRIDAY NIGHT

To the tabernacle, where a mass meeting of the supporters of Senator Culberson will occur for the purpose of organizing a Culberson Club and giving concrete expression in numbers to the strength of Senator Culberson in Mitchell county.

It is urged that there be one representative, at least, from every voting precinct in the county, and every voter of Mitchell county who endorses the administration of President Wilson and the measures and policies that stand for the best and highest interests of Texas, is requested to be on hand and take part in the organization. Abilene has 500 members in its Culberson club; Wichita Falls has 400, while several towns no larger than Colorado have from 200 to 300 members. Surely Mitchell county will do as well. So, be sure you are on hand Friday night at the tabernacle.

FAT HOGS

I want all the fat hogs I can get on Saturday, August 12th. 8c for fat hogs. Bring them in Saturday morning. ED DUPREE

The big new gin plant of Scott & Lambeth was completed last Friday and every piece of the machinery tried out under steam power. There was not a hitch in belt, pulley, joint or wheel, and the plant is now simply "rearing to go." The Watson gin is also ready, with enlarged capacity over last season, for the incoming staple. The concrete gin is yet placing new equipment and overhauling the plant generally. The Cassell gin will likewise be ready for business by the time the cotton begins to come in.

From August 11th to 13th, has been the dates for the past five years for the advent to this market of the "first bale." It will be some days later this season—some farmers claim there will be no cotton open before September 1st. However, everything is in readiness for the cotton business.

If thinking of painting your home don't hesitate on account of the supposed high price of paint. See W. L. Doss first, and you'll let the contract right away.

The friends of Mr. W. P. Copeland, who was for several years cashier for the T. & P. road at this place and more recently agent for the same road at Roscoe, will be glad to know that he is the new postmaster at that place. Mr. Copeland is an expert business man and affable gentleman as well, and will make the people of Roscoe an ideal postmaster.

Some of the cattlemen are shipping their calves to market on account of the continued dry weather. Both grass and stock water have become matters of serious concern in this part of the vineyard.

JUST THE THING FOR DIARRHOEA

"About two years ago I had a severe attack of diarrhoea which lasted over a week," writes W. C. Jones, Buford, N. D. "I became so weak that I could not stand upright. A druggist recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The first dose relieved me and within two days I was as well as ever." Many druggists recommend this remedy because they know that it is relable. Obtainable everywhere.

Both the Earnest and bank buildings are growing daily toward completion at a satisfactory rate. When both are completed, Second street will compare favorably with the business streets of any town the size of Colorado. These two buildings will be of the most modern type and equipped with every convenience adapted to the lines of business to be carried on in them.

The city secretary and collector is now installed in the front office of the new city hall, where he daily sits at the seat of customs receiving and receipting whatever may be coming toword the municipal exchequer, whether it be ad valorem, school, special, poll or dog tax.

Billy Moeser is on guard during the day at the fire truck station of the city hall.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

THE FARMERS' SHORT COURSE.

To the Colorado Chamber of Commerce, aided and abetted by County Farm Demonstrator, W. A. Dulin, the farmers of Mitchell county, their wives, sons and daughters, are indebted a second time for a three days' short course last week, by the lecturers from the A. & M. College.

Every one who attended the short course conducted here last year, will bear cheerful testimony as to the permanent value of the instruction given. Many Mitchell county people recall the good work done by Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Garren of the A. & M. College, while here in the movable schools, which Mr. Dulin, our efficient and always wide-awake county demonstrator, was fortunate enough to secure for this county. They were here again last week, and the lectures of Mrs. Garren and her demonstrations on breads, yeasts, canning, preserving, use of fireless cookers, etc. were of the greatest interest and value to all who heard her. Mr. Garren was particularly happy in his lectures on growing legumes, soil improvement, seed selection and preparation, and kindred subjects.

"Plant diseases and their control" was ably discussed in all its phases by Prof. H. F. Blodgett. The bandit pests that cost the farmers of Texas millions of dollars every year, were discussed with the view singular to their control if not extermination. In view of the present invasion of the boll weevil of this section, the suggestions of Prof. Blodgett were of most timely interest.

The subject of budding and care of pecan trees was handled by Prof. J. A. Evans and practical demonstration made of budding the papershell variety upon the common wild stock, in the Looney pasture nine miles south of Loraine, which was witnessed by about a dozen farmers and others interested in pecan culture.

There was about 350 average attendance daily upon these lectures, and the greatest interest was manifested by men, women and the boys and girls, of which latter there was a large proportional attendance. This is a most hopeful and encouraging sign. When the boys and girls on the farms take a scientific interest in their surroundings and wish to learn to do things in a better, quicker, more sanitary and profitable way, the great problem of keeping them content on the farm, has prosperity, and no one but a jaundiced Agriculture is the mudsill of all national greatness: the basis of all our prosperity, and no one but a jaundiced mind will dispute the statement, that the one greatest advance made in the past half century in our national educational work, is in the domain of Agriculture. It has become as great and as dignified a profession as that of law, medicine or chemistry, to which latter agronomy is nearly allied.

The first meeting was called to order by J. L. Quicksall, district agent, after which the different lecturers of the corps made short and pertinent talks. Prof. T. J. Conoway spoke to the subject of Poultry—the different breeds and their commendable points, breeding, poultry house, yards and feeding for egg production, incubation and the rearing of chicks.

Judging of cattle, horses, mules and jacks, together with the feeding of cattle and hogs, was discussed by Prof. W. T. McGee, while the judging of dairy cattle, feeding and care of cows and calves, with demonstrations in butter making, was handled by Prof. R. L. Pou.

These annual short courses are worth many times what they cost to the people of Mitchell county. They benefit not only the farmers and wives who hear and witness the lectures and demonstrations, but their neighbors also who were not present, but see the concrete results in the products of their more fortunate neighbors.

The Colorado Chamber of Commerce has been the backbone in the promotion of these short courses, and much credit is due that organization for its efforts to bring the town and country interests into closer and more profitable co-operation.

Coming, the Methodist Carnival. The biggest and best carnival Colorado has yet had. Thursday and Friday Aug. 10 and 11. Remember the dates. On the courthouse lawn. NEW DEPARTURE IN MOTION PICTURE.

Mr. Taylor, Manager Opera House, Has Booked the Celebrated Triangle Service.

Mr. Chas. Taylor, manager of the Opera House, has just returned from Dallas, where he closed contract with the Famous Triangle people for special features.

These have the reputation of being the best and most expensive feature pictures ever put on the market, and Mr. Taylor deserves credit for venturing into a wider field, and in giving to the people of Colorado these splendid and expensive pictures.

Each night that the Triangle features are shown there will also be a new and popular comedy feature in two acts. A number of these comedies will feature "Fatty and Mabel," the most popular comedians in the movies today.

The Triangle program which is known as "The Best Money Can Buy," in connection with the special two-act comedy will be shown every Monday night.

He also closed a contract for special Clara Kimball Young subjects which are released through the "World's" program. These pictures are also special features of the very highest order, most of them featuring this famous player and are all worth twice the admission which will be charged.

Mr. Taylor has contracted with the Record for the space at bottom of first page and his week's program will appear there each issue.

He says he is going to give the people of this community more and better pictures for the money than was ever offered here before.

His program certainly gives a fine showing for next week. Every night is a good one. The first Triangle will be shown Monday.
