Jack Enters Review Of Foreign Policy

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy takes part today in a global review of American foreign policy. He also picked a New York banker, Robert V. Roosa, to be undersecretary of the Treasury for monetary affairs.

And Kennedy has chosen Archibald Cox, Harvard law professor and a campaign aide, for the job of solicitor general of the United States—the government's chief trial lawyer.

For a far-ranging look at the uneasy international situation, Kennedy arranged a luncheon meeting and afternoon conference with Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Kennedy and Fulbright may hold a news conference late in the day after their talks at the President-elect's seashore home.

ONCE CONSIDERED

Kennedy considered appointment of Fulbright as secretary of state, but earlier this month passed him over in favor of Dean Rusk, head of the Rockefeller Foundation.

In Washington Wednesday, Fulbright was critical of some of Kennedy's plans for domestic legislation. For example, the senator said the new Congress convening next month should defer action on Kennedy's call for increasing the minimum wage—now one dollar an hour—to $1.25.

An increase, Fulbright said, would put lagging American business at a disadvantage "in competing with our allies."

Fulbright added that he has no plans to express his views to the President-elect on this matter unless Kennedy calls for them.

Roosa, 42, who says he's an independent in politics, will be the Treasury department's No. 3 official as undersecretary for monetary affairs. He now is vice president of the New York Federal Reserve Bank in charge of research.

CONSULTED DILLON

Kennedy chose Roosa after consultation with the secretary of the Treasury-designate, Douglas Dillon, who is undersecretary of state in the outgoing Eisenhower administration.

The No. 2 command post in the Treasury, another undersecretary, is yet to be filled.

As in the case of Cox for solicitor general, Kennedy—a Harvard graduate himself — once more picked a man with Harvard background in selecting Roosa.

Roosa won his bachelor's degree in economics at the University of Michigan, and then served as a tutor and teaching fellow at Harvard University and as an instructor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology while earning a master's and doctor of philosophy degrees.

A native of Marquette, Mich., Roosa went to work for the New York Federal Reserve Bank in 1941. He has been with the bank ever since with the exception of three years in the Army during World War II. He was attached to the Office of Strategic Services and also served on the intelligence staff of Gen. Omar N. Bradley's 12th Army Group.

RESEARCH

At the bank, Roosa has been vice president in charge of research since 1956.

As undersecretary for monetary affairs, Roosa will be directly responsible for managing the $291 billion national debt, subject of course to the approval of Kennedy and Dillon.

Roosa's new job, which pays $21,000 a year, was created by Congress in 1954. The two men who have held the position in the Eisenhower administration — first W. Randolph Burgess and now Julian B. Baird—also were bankers.

Cox, 48, brings to the solicitor general job a broad background of previous service in government.

COORDINATOR

And during the presidential campaign he worked for Kennedy's election as coordinator of a team of professors who provided the candidate with material for speeches and statements.

Cox entered government service in 1941 with the National Mediation Board. Later he served as a lawyer in the solicitor general's office, which he now will head, and also in the state and labor departments.

He was born in Plainfield, N.J., and received his law degree at Harvard in 1937. Cox, his wife and three children live in Wayland, Mass.

As solicitor general at a salary of $20,500 a year Cox will work in the justice department under the President-elect's brother, Robert Kennedy, who has been named attorney general. The solicitor general is in charge of all the government's business in the Supreme Court.

Service Chief

Eugene Zuckert, 49, of Washington, has been named by President-elect Kennedy as secretary of the Air Force in the new administration. He is an attorney.

GOP May Ask Equal Time With Jack's News Parleys

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., said today if John F. Kennedy uses White House news conferences for "propaganda" purposes Republicans may ask for equal air time.

Kuchel, the assistant Senate Republican leader, said in an interview that Kennedy's plans to hold evening news conferences on live television indicate the Democrats may be planning "dramatic shows."

"If presidential news conferences are going to be used for propaganda purposes, then we Republicans will have to consider asikng for equal time," Kuchel said.

Equal time provisions of the law would not cover Kennedy until such a time as he might announce he is a candidate for reelection.

Kuchel said he had in mind speculative reports that Kennedy might call a prime hour television conference to discuss a single subject—possibly some controversal matter before Congress—and limit reporters' questions to that subject.

Kennedy's press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said at Palm Beach Tuesday that the new administration will ask the networks from time to time to carry evening presidential news conferences live but the networks will be free to carry any or all other presidential meetings with reporters on a live basis.

The press secretary said the requests might come at times of domestic or international crisis—or simply when Kennedy has something to announce which he regards as of unusual importance.

Aside from possible Republican complaints, Kennedy apparently is willing to risk in live television the kind of presidential boo-boos his predecessors didn't want to take a chance on.

Even President Eisenhower, who first approved televised conferences, insisted that the regular White House meetings with the press be taped for showing after the text of presidential remarks had been rechecked.

Kennedy's decision means that any possible ill-chosen word or phrase that might have international as well as national repercussions will be on the record instantly.

This will alter the present system under which the president cannot be quoted directly by reporters until a checked transcript of his remarks becomes available.

The television plan is a far cry from the precautions other presidents took to guard themselves against the Washington Naval Conference telling reporters that treaties under negotiation would not permit Japan to retain defenses on her home islands.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who averaged about 100 meetings a year with the press, rarely permitted direct quotations of his words. He once refused to give a House committee a transcript of his conference remarks, contending this would destroy his informal relationship with the reporters.

Harry S. Truman followed the FDR "no quote" rule except when a pungent phrase pleased him enough to let it be used.

Official Hawaii Recount Gives Votes To Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An official recount in Hawaii has tipped the newest state to President-elect John F. Kennedy by 115 votes.

That gives Kennedy 303 electoral votes to 219 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon. 269 were needed to win. Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., got 15.

With Hawaii's new totals, announced Wednesday more than seven weeks after the election, the final national popular vote goes like this:

Kennedy 34,221,531.

Nixon 34,108,474.

Plurality for Kennedy: 113,057 out of a total vote of 68,832,778. Other candidates got a total of 502,773, so that Kennedy's total still is less than a majority of all the popular votes.

Nixon at first had been listed as the winner in Hawaii by 141 votes. But Democrats gained a recount of all its precincts by citing errors in the certified returns.

With Hawaii finally settled, Kennedy carried 23 states; Nixon carried 26. Mississippi's eight unpledged votes went to Byrd, who also received six electoral votes from Alabama and one from Oklahoma.

The Electoral College voted on Dec. 19, making Kennedy's election official. The result will be presented to Congress Jan. 6. Both Republican and Democratic Hawaiian electors cast votes Dec. 19, since the outcome was still up in the air. Now, after some legal paperwork, Hawaii's Democratic votes will be the ones that count.

Monday Is City Holiday

Monday will be a holiday for all city offices, except for the police and fire departments. All city offices will be closed for the New Year holiday.

Police and fire personnel will be working regular shifts and employes in special categories will be on special call duty.

City Employes Feel Cold Chill

It was a little chilly in city hall this morning. Aged boilers in the city hall heating system gave up and quit heating water, leaving some employes shivering and all of them wearing coats.

Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said a check is being made to see what will be necessary to repair the boilers. One of them has been off duty prior to this cold spell. It was the second one that failed this morning.

Drizzle Wets City, No Ice

The drizzle that fell most of the day Wednesday left a welcome .08 of an inch on the ground in Big Spring and no ice.

"Ice on Road" signs were put up in some areas late Wednesday, but no severe icing conditions were reported in the area. However, more drizzle is forecast for tonight and combined with an expected low of 30 degrees, ice could develop on local roads. Law enforcement officers urge motorists to use caution when driving.

The slow drizzle blanketed the area with the maximum reading at Forsan and Chalk where .10 of an inch was measured. Most other parts of the county could find only a trace in their gauges.

Mitchell Hereford Sale Set Jan. 6

The annual Mitchell County Hereford sale has been set for Jan. 6 in the new agricultural pavilion on U.S. 80 highway west of Colorado City.

Several local breeders have consigned animals to the show. C. A. Walker will enter two as will Buchanan Herefords and W. L. Harkrider. Roy Henderson will have 14 head in the show, and Rexie Cauble is consigning one animal.

Work Piles Up In Post Office

After a breather during Christmas and the day after, the Post Office force is getting another workout.

Tuesday the total volume was 108,512 pieces, of which 31,481 were incoming and 77,031 were outgoing. Wednesday the total was 100,932 pieces, of which 32,609 were incoming and 68,323 were outgoing. These two days put the December total to 2,616,741. Comparable figures for the same number of days in December, 1959 were not immediately available. Through Dec. 26, 1959, the aggregate was 2,484,116.

Merger Voted

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Presbytery, with 110 United Presbyterian churches, voted 216 to 4 Wednesday night in favor of a proposed merger of Presbyterian, Methodist, United Church of Christ and Episcopal churches.

Church-State Violation Ruled Against School

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bremond Public School District has violated the principle of church-state separation but most of the violations have been corrected, State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar ruled today.

Dr. Edgar suggested to school board representatives, however, that they make an effort to acquire or build a school building for the district so as to take public school classes out of a building belonging to the Roman Catholic Church.

Edgar said he has no jurisdiction to require that nuns teaching in the schools not wear religious habits. The commissioner pointed out that long ago the attorney general had held that it is permissible for nuns to teach in the public schools.

The ruling today imposes on the Bremond school board the obligation to cover up a cross over the school building and the name "St. Mary's" on the building.

TAXPAYERS SUIT

The initial suit was filed by taxpayers in March 1959, styled Earl McIntyre Jr. vs. Stash Hoblinski. McIntyre is a former Methodist pastor at Bremond and Hoblinski was then board chairman.

The suit was sidetracked in the fall of 1959 when a district court ruled that the plaintiffs had "not exhausted all possible administrative remedies" before taking the case to court. Higher courts upheld the decision.

The Bremond board then denied the claims and appeal was made to Edgar. The plaintiffs have indicated that they will then return to the courts "seeking to bring about an actual separation of church and state in the school," if administrative action is not obtained.

The suit, first of its kind in the state, is viewed as an important test of "released-time religious instruction," the wearing of religious habits in schools and other principles of church-state separation.

RELIGIOUS HABITS

The taxpayers and church groups argue in the suit that the nuns' wearing of religious habits, the locale of the school building and the conduct of religious classes "are all factors that promulgate religion and constitute sectarian instruction. . . It is our contention that St. Mary's School is in truth and in fact a parochial school and is being operated in violation of state and federal constitutions."

Until 1947 the school was operated by the Catholic Church. The board then leased the building for $1 a year.

V. W. Baker, Bremond school superintendent, and Joseph Kotch, school board president, appeared before Edgar.

Asked if the district has enough facilities without using the present school building and nuns as teachers, Kotch replied, "No Sir." He said two bond issues to raise money for a new school building failed.

COSTLY

Kotch said it would cost $150,000 to build a new school. There are 1,400 people in the district.

"It would be a terrific blow to our district if those children were withdrawn from public schools," Baker said, referring to the loss of state aid of the children attended parochial schools.

Kotch said the nuns never refused to obey orders from the school board, whose seven members include three Catholics.

Witnesses said after the original suit was filed religious pictures were removed from the school walls and religious instruction was abandoned during school hours. Edgar asked, "I want to know whether action of your board in making these changes was an acknowledgment of violation of the separation of church and state."

Waco lawyer Jack Kultgen, representing the board, replied that it was "clear that teaching of religion in the school was improper. I believe the pictures were too." He added he had advised the board to make those changes.

Crash Kills 5 In Family

Top Sheared Off Car When It Hits Truck

WACO (AP) — Five members of a Dallas family died today when their car, returning from a gay holiday in Mexico City, crashed into a large parked truck. The other three occupants of the car were seriously injured.

The top of the car was virtually sheared off when it rammed under a Pearl Brewing Co. truck, fully loaded with 50,000 pounds and legally parked on the shoulder of Interstate 35 6 miles south of here.

Killed were David Meza, 35, the driver, who apparently fell asleep; his wife, Maria, 30; their sons, Joe, 6, and David Jr., 8; and Henry Meza, 16, a cousin of the driver. All were from Dallas, 97 miles north of here.

The other three children of the dead couple were injured seriously.

Gloria Ann Meza, 15, had serious cuts on her face and head; Mary Ann, 13, had a broken arm and leg; and Estella, 11, had head cuts.

Andy Andrews, 50, of Cisco, was in the cab and shaken up. He told officers he had stopped to fix his windshield wiper. Officers said his truck was parked legally on the shoulder of the busy highway. Both vehicles were north bound. Light rain was falling.

The site was just six miles north of the spot where two buses collided on Aug. 4, 1952, killing 42 people. The highway then was a conventional two-way facility. It now is divided.

The crash happened shortly after dawn, but it was hours before the bodies were extricated. The body of Joe Meza had been hidden from view. Papers in the Meza car showed it had crossed from Mexico into Laredo Wednesday. Laredo is 335 miles south of here on the same Interstate 35.

The body of David Meza was pinned beneath the steering wheel. All the dead were in the front seat, except David Meza Jr. He lived several hours after the crash, but the other four died outright.

The car, a Chevrolet sedan, bore a Dallas auto dealer's license tag.

David Meza was a packing company employe.

Propane Tank Explodes, Hurts 4 In New Jersey

BAYONNE, N. J. (AP) — A storage tank containing potent liquid propane exploded Wednesday night. Four men were injured, one of them critically, and hundreds fled their homes.

Scene of the explosion was the Sun Gas Products Corp., located in Bayonne's "Constable Hook" section, near New York Bay.

Flames climbed 1,000 feet into the sky and windows for blocks around were shattered by the impact.

Police evacuated everybody from within a five-block radius of the explosion scene and cordoned it off.

Firemen sprayed the flames and wet down a huge tank containing oil, just 200 yards away. At one point, flames were within 50 yards of the oil tank.

But shortly before 2 a. m. today, firemen announced the fire was under control.

Critically injured was truck driver Stanley Buchalski, 40, of Chester, N. Y. He was taken to Bayonne Hospital suffering from third degree burns over 40 per cent of his body.

Also injured were Billy Rowan, 27, of Bayonne, a volunteer worker; Earl Lewis, 47, of Port Jervis, N. Y., a truck driver; and Harold McCarter, 39, also of Bayonne. These men were not seriously injured. Police retracted an earlier report indicating one man had died, when a missing man was located.

Police gave this account of events leading up to the explosion:

Three men, including Buchalski and Lewis, were engaged in loading gas into a small tank.

Somehow, a spark ignited the gas.

A small drum of gas exploded, then another and another.

Buchalski and those with him tried to move their truck away from the exploding drums. It was then that Buchalski was burned.

Nobody is sure how many drums exploded; one report indicated there were 18.

But the smaller explosions were enough to touch off the big storage tank, which went up with earsplitting force.

Court Files ROW Case

County commissioners gave up Thursday on being able to clear up the Robert Miller, et al right-of-way case on FM 846 (Hamlin Road) in north - central Howard County.

Condemnation proceedings were filed against Miller and 13 co-defendants, many of whom are scattered all over the United States. Efforts to sign up the deeds singularly have proven impractical if not impossible, hence the condemnation route. R. B. Reeder, G. W. Elliott and George O'Brien were named commissioners for the proceedings. This particular state lateral road will connect U.S. 87 with the Luther road.

Swyers Named SA Commander

DALLAS (AP) — Brigadier B. Gordon Swyers has been named commander of the Texas Division of the Salvation Army. He succeeds Lt. Col. Ernest Pickering who recently was appointed field secretary for the Southern territory.

Police, FBI Seeking Clues In Daring Florida Burglary

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A key, combination, timetable and teamwork formed the ingredients for Florida's biggest burglary—a neat $400,000 theft from the vault of an armored car service.

Police and FBI agents were still trying to fit the pieces together today, more than 50 hours after thieves carted away the loot in 19 moneybags.

The vault contained an estimated $1 million in cash and checks. All of the sacks containing coins were left behind.

Investigators agreed that the theft could have been executed only with knowledge or actual aid provided by an employe or former employe.

Detective Inspector O. C. Bevnon said officers questioned more than 20 persons and that others would be called in. No arrests have been made.

"It was definitely an inside job," E. A. Rasdale, president of the firm, said. "They knew what they were doing and timed the whole thing just right."

All of the loss, the firm's first theft in its 23 years of operation, was insured.

Authorities pieced the burglary together like this:

The intruders—at least two and perhaps as many as four—entered the company's one-story building a few minutes after midnight Tuesday. They used a key to open the front door.

An alarm sounded at a burglar protective agency several blocks away when the door opened. One of the men followed the password procedure used by employes when entering and leaving the building at night. He telephoned the agency and gave a name and code number.

It took the operator six minutes to determine that the name and number failed to match those on file with the agency. Police arrived at the scene three minutes after the operator called them.

During the nine minutes which elapsed, the intruders walked through an unlocked door to the vault, opened it by dialing the combination, carried out the sacks and escaped.

The act began and ended during a 30-minute interval between the departure of one armored car from the building and scheduled arrival of another.

Police found the building deserted and the vault locked when they arrived. Before fleeing, a burglar set the vault's time-lock so that the door couldn't be opened for 72 hours.

"They would have taken it all," Rasdale said, "but they were on a rigid time schedule."

Tent City Negro Mysteriously Shot

SOMERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An evicted Negro sharecropper, asleep in a tent in this racially tense county's "tent city," was wounded early today by a shot from a passing car, Negro leaders said.

Sheriff C. E. Pattat could not be reached. He was reported out on an investigation and unavailable for an indefinite period.

The Rev. June Dowdy, a vice president of the Fayette County Civic and Welfare League, said Early B. Williams was wounded "in the fat part of his lower right arm."

Dowdy said Williams was sleeping in a tent located close by the rural road. The wounded man was taken to a Memphis hospital by auto.

It was the first reported instance of violence in the long simmering controversy that has gripped this rural county since the Negro league began its drive to register Negro voters last spring.

The "tent city" is a collection of tents erected on a Negro leader's farm.

Eight families have set up housekeeping in the tents, so far.

Whites contend the Negroes are being displaced by farm mechanization and that voter registration has nothing to do with it. They call "tent city" a propaganda move by Negro groups.

The justice department recently filed suit against 18 residents and a bank charging conspiracy to deprive Negroes of the right to vote. A federal judge in Memphis has denied a government plea for a temporary injunction that would bar eviction of Negro tenants until the trial is held.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals sitting in Cincinnati will hear a government appeal from that ruling today.

Cancer Expert Says Ailment Can Grow Fast

GALVESTON (AP)—An expert in the artificial production of cancer says the ailment can develop very rapidly.

Dr. I. Berenblum said in an interview that originally it was believed cancer evolved over a period of 5 to 40 years.

"Our studies show this is not so," said Dr. Berenblum, head of experimental biology at Wiezmann Institute of Science, Rehovoth, Israel.

He is here as visiting lecturer at the University of Texas medical branch.

"Our studies definitely prove that that cancer evolves in two stages," he said.

"To know the beginnings is to one day lead to the prevention of cancer," he said.

The two stages which are recognizable are:

1. A rapid stage—where a normal cell is converted into a tumor and can remain dormant for years.

2. A slow stage—where the sleeping tumor is irritated in some way and wakes up and begins to grow.

"Through experimental techniques, scientists have been able to take a normal cell and add a chemical compound and produce the first stage. Then with an irritant, called croton oil, they make the sleeping cancer cell active.

"When we know what these two stages in a cancer cell represent, we may understand the origin of cancer. It will help in cancer prevention, not in diagnosis," he said.

Scientists at the medical branch explained that it is the opinion of many in cancer research that most people develop dormant cancer cells. The reason these cells wake up in some people and not in others is still a mystery.

Public Hearing On Vice Possible

BEAUMONT (AP)—The possibility of a public hearing into alleged vice conditions in Jefferson County was voiced here Wednesday night.

A member of the Texas House General Investigating Committee, Rep. Lloyd Martin of Normangee, said he feels the prospects for holding a public hearing here "are better, as a result of the work done by the committee last week and the information it has been able to assemble over the holidays."

Insect Bites Given Study

By LAURA REESBY
Galveston Tribune Staff Writer
Written for The Associated Press

GALVESTON (AP)—When you slapped that insect on your arm and then stroked it with your fingernails a moment, was it just that—a minor irritation?

Perhaps it was considerably more important.

Dr. Don W. Micks, professor of medical entomology at the University of Texas Medical Branch here, has conducted a survey to find out just how much an insect bite affects health.

His findings have appeared in an official journal of the medical branch and have attracted national attention. He also gave the report before a recent convention of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene.

Dr. Micks found that in Texas 124 practitioners he questioned treated 1,905 illnesses arising from stings and bites of insects from 1955 to 59.

RESULTS OF STUDY

Highlights of the survey showed:

1. A high number of allergic reactions to stings of wasps. This is contrary to statements found in certain textbooks.

2. Wasp sting posed the most important sting problem in the state, both because of reactions and deaths.

3. Venom of the fire ant did not resemble that of any stinging insect previously studied. Micks added that "with the continuous westward extension of the range of the fire ant in Texas, it can be anticipated this species will become a much greater medical problem."

4. All instances of caterpillar sting were reported in the eastern half of Texas.

5. Brown spider bite appears to be largely unrecognized but is an emerging danger in Texas.

LITTLE IN TEXTS

Medical entomology textbooks have given limited attention to the problem.

Considering the comparatively large number of cases seen by 124 physicians, which compose only 1.5 per cent of those practising in Texas, "it would appear obvious this is a greater medical problem than previously realized," Micks said.

More often than not, lack of liaison between the medical entomologist and the practicing physician has retarded progress toward a better understanding of the relative importance of insect bites and stings in human disease," Micks declared.

The survey shows that wasp stings do the most damage in Texas.

During the period covered, 80 physicians reported 290 cases of wasp sting required treatment.

SEVERE REACTIONS

Forty-three per cent exhibited severe general reactions, including shock.

A total of 78 patients underwent treatment aimed at desensitization of wasp venom.

Three fatalities were reported. One death occurred in an individual who had been advised by his physician to undertake a desensitization program. The patient died several months later about 10 minutes after being stung by a wasp.

A total of 59 cases due to stings of the honey bee were reported. About 20 stings caused shock, hypertension or fainting.

Thirty-five physicians treated 75 cases of ant sting. Fainting and/or vomiting and abdominal cramping were present in most cases.

WORM STINGS

Caterpillar stings were reported in 54 patients. The majority of the stings were characterized by severe local pain and skin inflammation.

Eight cases of centipede bite were reported. All had severe local pain and swelling.

Medical attention was required by 27 individuals who were bitten by scorpions. They experienced severe pain and occasionally paralysis of an arm or leg.

Thirty-five cases due to the bite of the black widow spider were reported. The outstanding symptom was abdominal pain. Nausea and vomiting were frequent. A single fatality occurred in an 81-year-old man.

Kitty Keeps Zoo In Stock

HOUSTON (AP)—The Hermann Park Zoo relies on the generosity of Houstonians and donation barrels at the zoo to keep its cages filled with animals.

A zoo fund was started in 1954 at the suggestion of J. Leonard, a Houston geologist, whereby zoo officials post the name of an animal above donation barrels at the zoo. When visitors drop enough coins to reach the goal, an animal is purchased. Then a new project is begun.

Tom Baylor, zoo superintendent, estimates that donations average about $50 a month. A total of about $6,000 has been donated by visitors.

Baylor said the fund is especially useful in keeping the zoo supplied with rare state animals.

Some animals are too expensive for the zoo to buy. For example, an elephant cost more than $4,000 while hippos, giraffes, rhinos and gorillas run as high as $10,000 a pair.

A goal of a mate for every animal was set several years ago and it has almost been reached.

Bags Of Christmas Mail For Sick Girl

HARDY, Va. (AP) — Dorothy Ridgeway, 9, got her well-publicized Christmas wish for greeting cards but she may spend the next few days, or even months, going through them all.

An estimated 100 bags of undelivered Christmas mail filled the tiny Hardy post office and spilled out onto the steps and lawn. Another 20 or more in the mountainside house of the Ridgeways kept them virtually immobilized in their own home.

The Ridgeways have been eating only sandwiches since Christmas. Dorothy's mother said she couldn't even get to her stove or cabinets. "I can't get to anything," she said.

The family has spent most of its time opening mail since a message of unknown origin appeared on a Weather Bureau teletype circuit last Wednesday describing Dorothy's affliction with an incurable bone disease.

Water To Be Big Legislative Issue

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN (AP) — Pre-session sampling of sentiment concerning water legislation in the legislature indicates the issue will be big as ever.

"Water remains the constant No. 1 problem," said Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford, in answering an Associated Press poll of state senators and representatives.

A large percentage of legislators refused or failed to answer a question in an AP poll on a possible increase in appropriations for the state Board of Water Engineers. Many answers were contradictory and confused.

"I see the need but I don't see where the money is coming from," said Rep. B. H. Dewey of Bryan, prominent House leader.

Twenty-one legislators said they favored giving the Board of Water Engineers more money. Ten said they didn't want the board to have more money.

WATER MEETING

Just what the legislators will be given to consider in water legislation may be clearer after a Jan. 5 meeting of the governor's statewide water committee in Austin. About 200 persons have been appointed members of the group whose aim is to iron out controversies between various interests over the state before asking the legislature for changes in the statutes.

Much major water legislation has been stymied in the past because the lower valley vegetable growers did not see eye to eye with the High Plains cotton growers or the rice growers along the coast disagreed with industrial users in North Texas.

Gov. Price Daniel said the Jan. 5 meeting will consider, among other things, possible re-organization of the state board of water engineers, better financing of the board, and changes in statutes affecting the state water development board to make its financial assistance programs for local interests more flexible.

INCREASE ASKED

Daniel has recommended an increase of $1,505,841 for the board for 1962-63 for "strengthening research and planning in the board."

Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio said in answering the AP survey that he favors giving the board more money plus "adequate legislation needed to define responsibilities in the State Board of Water Engineers."

Rep.-elect Rayford Price of Frankston favors more money for the board "for loan purposes."

The proposed re-organization calls for the current full time three-man Board of Water Engineers to be replaced by a part time six - man commission that would set policy then rely on an executive director and an administrative staff to carry out the policy. Already controversy has developed over whether the proposed six-member commission should be named from different geographical regions of the state.

ADDED HEIGHT

Another proposal before the legislature likely will be a constitutional amendment allowing the state to pay for added height on dams built by federal agencies or local interests. A similar plan got a majority vote of both houses in 1957 but was killed in the final hours of the session by a Senate filibuster and a House fight over farm ponds.

Another proposal that has stirred up interest is the suggestion that water users who would benefit the most to pay at least part of the cost of water planning and development through a water use fee.

"It does not seem out of line to insist on the users of water meeting the costs of maintaining the revamped state water agency," said a recent editorial in the San Angelo Standard - Times. "While the estimated cost to San Angelo would not be excessive, it nevertheless adds a reason for concern."

MORE STEAM

"When state agencies or the legislature can run up the costs on cities as was done in establishing hours for firemen and policemen, the argument for dividing gasoline revenues to recompense cities for wear and tear on streets picks up steam. The added water levy adds fuel to the flames for cities are already hard-pressed for revenue."

Still another legislative problem is contamination of lakes, streams and underground water supplies by municipal and industrial wastes. At least five agencies are now interested to some extent in pollution control. However, attempts in the past to set up a central pollution control agency have been quickly batted down.

2 Injured As Trains Collide

SUGAR LAND, Tex. (AP)—A 165-car freight train pulled by five diesel units slammed into the rear of a parked freight during a heavy fog Wednesday injuring two crewmen.

Hundreds of cattle broke from their cattle cars and were later rounded up by cowboys. None of the cattle died. A fire broke out in a load of cotton but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Wreckage, scattered over a 150-yard area, blocked two highways —U.S. 59 and State 6.

Train engineer C. S. Brantley of Houston, who was not hurt, said the area was covered by heavy fog and drizzle at the time of the crash, 6:35 p.m. He said he received clearance by a dispatcher to leave the main line and enter the siding. Soon after he did so the trains crashed.

Injured were fireman J. T. McNamara of Houston who was pinned beneath an engine wheel and brakeman H. F. W. Muller, 37, of Houston who was pinned under a box car.

Prisoners Build Float

Inmates at LaTuna Federal Correctional Institute lay strips of aluminum foil on the float they are building for the Sun Parade in El Paso Jan. 2. A float entered by the prisoners in the parade last January won first prize.

Federal Convicts Working To Keep Sun Carnival Title

EL PASO (AP)—Federal prisoners are building an elaborate float depicting Montezuma and Cortez and they hope for another first prize in the Sun Carnival parade here Jan. 2.

They won last year with a float bearing the improbable title of Holiday Outdoors.

The 100 or so prisoners are working on the float at La Tuna, a minimum security Federal Correction Institute on the Texas and New Mexico border.

"We had a float in last year's parade but the idea didn't seem to catch fire," said Carl Myllo, vocational supervisor at La Tuna. "When the float won first prize, everybody got interested."

Myllo says the float project gives the 700 prisoners a tremendous boost in morale.

The prisoners first suggested building a "Trojan Horse" this year. The idea was discarded, not for obvious reasons, but because the materials needed weren't readily available.

The compromise features the Mexican Aztec ruler and the Spanish conqueror.

One of the main materials is surplus aluminum foil which bomber crews used during the war to confuse German radar.

Carpenteers among the prisoners cut the frames and figures of the Aztec that will be on sides of the float. Welders made the iron frame from discarded steel bars commonly used in reinforcing concrete. Some El Paso residents donated funds for costumes.

The prisoners are working against a tight schedule. The float will be towed to El Paso Dec. 31 or the next day and stored until the morning of the parade.

Although the prisoners won't see the parade, some may watch it on television.

Myllo said you can bet their cheers will be for "Montezuma and Cortez," although a few may hope silently they had built a "Trojan Horse."

Bad Highway Conditions In Texas Weather

By The Associated Press

Hazardous driving warnings were issued for the Guadalupe-Davis Mountains area Thursday after heavy fog bottled up shipping and was blamed for a train wreck in Southeast Texas.

The Weather Bureau warned that light snow mixed with freezing rain and sleet were creating traffic hazards in far West Texas. Patches of freezing drizzle were also reported in the Panhandle-Plains area early Thursday while snow swirled at Amarillo.

Fifty ships were docked at Port Houston, bottled up by heavy fog and rain. It was believed to be a record high for ships in port.

A torrential rain dumped more than 3½ inches of rain on Corpus Christi in a six-hour period during the night. Shortly before daylight rains, ranging from light drizzles to downpours, were reported at Lufkin, Houston, Laredo, Cotulla, Austin, College Station, Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene, San Antonio, Wichita Falls, Longview and Texarkana.

Dalhart, which had fog, had the lowest reading of 18 early Thursday. Amarillo had snow ,and 30 degrees and Lubbock reported freezing drizzle and 30 degree temperature.

El Paso, the only point in the state reporting clear skies, also had a pre-dawn reading of 30 degrees. The highest temperature reported was 66 degrees at Brownsville.

The forecasts called for continued cold weather through Friday with scattered snow, sleet and freezing drizzle in the mountains of far West Texas and in the upper Panhandle and rains over the rest of the state. A slight warming trend was forecast for the weekend.

DEAR ABBY

TRY AGAIN

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorcee, 39. I'm interested in a bachelor, 30, but he looks older because he's bald.

"Baldy" lives with his mother who, I'm told, is very wealthy. He invited me to have dinner at his home and meet his mother. I told him that I wouldn't accept unless his mother invited me personally. "Baldy" never mentioned it again and now I could kick myself because it's been three months and I still haven't met his mother, and now I realize that no girl gets anywhere with "Baldy" until she gets Mamma's okay. Do you think I mishandled this deal too badly to patch it up? I'd like to marry this man.

IN THE MARKET

DEAR IN: Don't look for an invitation from Mamma OR "Baldy." You should have struck while the iron was hot. If you are lucky, he'll give you another go-around and this time maybe you can catch the gold ring.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently a friend of mine had a very sweet baby girl, but she has talked of nothing ever since. No matter what the conversation is—or with whom—she always manages to bring it back to her baby. We hoped that the novelty would wear off, since it's her first baby, but it is getting worse instead of better. There is actually nothing to talk about because the baby is only six months old and doesn't do much of anything but lie there and coo, jabber and drool. What can we look forward to when this baby starts walking and talking?

TRULY WORRIED

DEAR TRULY: Brace yourself. New mothers (and some fathers), who are otherwise charming, considerate and thoughtful people, have become crashing bores where their children are concerned. A good friend could (and should) tell the offenders. They never will get wise by themselves.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My 14-year-old daughter is beautiful, but her posture is terrible. I tell her a hundred times a day to stand up straight, but it doesn't help. She says maybe if I quit nagging her about it, she'd straighten up. I've even tried that, but it didn't work. I'm afraid pretty soon she'll look like an old lady. I heard there was a brace contraption you could strap on growing children. Would you advise it?

TIRED OF NAGGING

DEAR TIRED: I wouldn't use a "brace contraption" without first consulting my physician. When someone she's eager to impress—like a boy—remarks on her slovenly posture, she'll probably react as though she's never been corrected before. Quit nagging her. This too shall pass.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO DOTTY ON STATE STREET: Be careful with "half-truths"—you may have been told the wrong half.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Spencer Tracy cornered one of the extras in "Devil at 4 O'Clock" and asked him: "How come an Indian like you is playing a Hawaiian?"

Said the extra, long a veteran of Hollywood Westerns: "I just wanted to be on the winning side for once."

Klan Leader Gives Up Fight

OLDSMAR, Fla. (AP) — Bill Hendrix, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan's Southern - Northern knights for several years, is quitting the klan because "I see no way to stop racial integration and it looks to me like the best thing to do is to accept it."

He told The Associated Press Wednesday night, "I cannot agree to go outside the law to maintain segregation."

The general contractor, twice an unsuccessful candidate for governor on a platform of segregation, said he would not "agree to such things as bombings and burning schools."

"But that's what the klan is going to have to turn to unless it agrees to go along with the laws," he said.

Top Cowboys Step Up Tempo

DALLAS (AP)—The top rodeo cowboys of the nation showed signs today of stepping up the tempo of their battle for cash and titles as the National Finals went into their fourth go-round.

The cowhands bettered two previous records—in steer wrestling and calf roping—Wednesday night and appeared to have greater mastery of the animals in the riding events.

In addition to the records bettered, rodeo circles talked today about the comeback of Jim Shoulders and the slump Harry Tompkins is suffering.

Shoulders, Henryetta, Okla., star and champion cowboy of the world last year, failed to win a dollar in the first two go-rounds.

Then Wednesday night, aboard a horse named Easy Money, Shoulders took top day prize of $347. But he has failed to win in his other specialty, bull riding, generally considered his best event.

Tompkins leads all other rodeo cowboys in the contest for this year's champion of the world title. Yet bulls have pitched him to the sand of the arena in three straight performances.

The Dublin, Tex., star, also entered in bareback bronc riding, has won a third place in that event, and last night shared second and third places with John Hawkins of Twain Harte, Calif.

Thus Tompkins has chalked up 891½ points in the finals—each dollar won is a point toward the title in any event and the all-round championship of the world.

Meanwhile Bob A. Robinson, the 26-year-old from Rockland, Idaho, crept up on Tompkins for the all-around championship. He started the finals 4,006 points behind Tompkins and has cut that margin to 3,656½, a gain of 349½ points.

Hope's Bearded Joke Went Over

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bob Hope, just returned from his annual Christmas tour of overseas military bases, says the boys loved all of his girls and one of his gags.

Hope and his troupe—including Zsa Zsa Gabor and Janis Paige—spent eight days in the Caribbean area and made a stop at the U. S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

At Guantanamo, Hope said, "I told them: 'Here you don't have to say friend or foe, just reach out and feel their chin.'"

"They loved that one," Hope said.

Sweepers On Strike

Refuse litters one of the main squares in Charleroi, Belgium, as public services approached a standstill in the national strike. The country's Socialist unions called the walkout in protest against proposed government tax increases and social welfare cuts to relieve the economic crisis brought on by the Congo situation.

Belgian King Returns As Strikers Riot

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola flew homeward from their honeymoon today as 15,000 demonstrating strikers surged through Brussels, smashing windows and overturning automobiles.

The king and his Spanish-born bride of 14 days interrupted their stay near Seville because of the Socialists' strike against the government's austerity program.

Officials of the Socialist-led General Workers Federation had criticized the king for remaining in Spain during the crisis.

Near the heart of the capital, demonstrators stoned a movie theater advertising newsreels of the sovereign's wedding on Dec. 15.

The demonstrators stayed clear of Brussel's neutral zone, where police riot squads were ready to break up any effort to enter. The Brussels Palace, Parliament buildings, government offices and ministries are located in the zone.

SOLDIERS RETURN

As the demonstrations entered their 10th day, Pierre Harmel, minister of public administration, disclosed that from 2,000 to 2,400 Belgian soldiers have been recalled from North Atlantic Treaty Organization units in West Germany.

The soldiers joined riot police in guarding government buildings. State police reserves also were called into the capital.

Harmel said the over-all situation showed improvement except in the big port of Antwerp, where the strike was spreading. The port area has been immobilized.

Leo Collard, Socialist party president, said the strike will continue "until our goal is reached." He claimed it was spreading in both the north and south.

The demonstration in Brussels started with a mass meeting of about 10,000 strikers and sympathizers in front of Socialist party headquarters. The turnout was far short of the 50,000 the party had predicted.

House Demos May Shelve Demands For Rules Change

WASHINGTON (AP)—A caucus of House Democrats next Monday is expected to shelve or ignore demands of liberal members for a change in House rules in the new Congress.

All the signs pointed today to a harmonious meeting at which the subject of breaking the Rules Committee's hold on legislation may not even come up.

"I look for a harmonious caucus and a harmonious opening day session next Tuesday," said Rep. Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., who helped draft the caucus notices sent to all 262 House Democrats.

The notices said the caucus would consider selection of a Democratic candidate for speaker, candidates for elective officers, and candidates for vacancies on the Ways and Means Committee. Significantly, perhaps they omitted reference to consideration of "any other business"—standard language on previous notices.

Cannon questioned claims of some members that the notices as sent out precluded consideration of proposals to change the rules.

It was reported reliably that the wording of the notices was approved by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Majority Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, who are slated to retain those posts in the new House.

Cannon said that if anyone wanted to bring up the matter of changing the rules it would be in order after all other business was disposed of. But he said he doubted that it would happen.

Both Rayburn and McCormack are at their homes. If a battle over the rules was in prospect, associates pointed out, the two leaders would be on hand in Washington to lay the groundwork for it.

Liberals who have unsuccessfully sought rules changes in the past apparently have formed no organization for another try this year. Many of them want to break the power of the Rules Committee coalition to bottle up bills. The conservative coalition is composed of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

Rayburn's associates represent him as being anxious to avoid a fight at the outset of the new session, especially a fight that might be lost.

Should the Rules Committee toss roadblocks in the path of legislation later, they claimed, the chances of breaking the committee's stranglehold would be better after John F. Kennedy has taken hold as president.

Until Kennedy is president and his legislative program runs into trouble in the Rules Committee, they reasoned, the new president would be presumptious to try to intervene in the internal affairs of the House. Later in the session, he could justify such intervention in the interest of his legislative program.

The present attitude of Democratic strategists with regard to changing the rules seems to be to withhold their fire until their program is in danger, and then to cut loose with everything they can muster, including the backing of the new president.

Civic Theatre Building Work Is Progressing

The pounding of hammers and buzz of saws has been steady for several weeks at the Prairie Playhouse as members of the Big Spring Civic Theatre push to get the building completed.

Hampered occasionally by a shortage of materials, the work has moved in spurts under the direction of Howard Brown, building chairman. The auditorium area is about completed after women in the organization painted the walls Monday. Construction work is now moving along on dressing rooms.

A general membership meeting is scheduled for tonight at 7:30 p.m. with plans for future play dates on the agenda. Tentatively, the group plans to produce a three-act play the last week of February. The Easter Pageant will be next on the schedule, followed by another three-act production the latter part of May.

The one-act plays produced during the Christmas holidays were considered successful and gave many members more time on stage. This phase of workshop production will be continued between productions throughout the year.

Election of a new board of directors will be held Jan. 19. If present plans are completed, readings for parts in the next three-act play will be held Jan. 5 and 6.

All interested residents are urged to participate in the organization, particularly in the various plays.

All Residents Must File Returns

Every citizen or resident of the U.S., including minors, who had a gross income of $600 or more in 1960, must file a federal income tax return on or before April 17, Ben M. Hawkins, administrative officer of the Internal Revenue Service office said today.

Free Document 5107, available from IRS, explains the filing requirements.

Young World Travelers Send Holiday Greetings

Did you notice that unusual holiday greeting cartoon in Wednesday's Herald?

If it seemed a bit "offbeat" probably the reason is that it came from an offbeat place.

It was a Christmas and New Year's message to families and friends from Terry Stanley and Wade Simpson, two young Big Springers who are making a leisurely jaunt around the world.

The art work was done by Terry, and the card was mailed to a friend here with instructions to insert it as a Herald greeting ad. It appeared without members of their families knowing about it in advance.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McKinney talked with Terry Tuesday night. The young men were in Tokyo, where they spent Christmas. They had been there for some days, plan to leave Jan. 17 for Manila, then Hong Kong, and then on to Europe.

Mrs. Colbert's Funeral Set

Funeral for Mrs. Clara Edna Colbert, 59, who died at 9 p.m. Wednesday in a local hospital, will be held Saturday. She was born March 3, 1901 in Dallas County and was a resident of Bracketville.

Services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Bracketville, with the Rev. Jack R. Cash officiating. Burial will be in the Bracketville City Cemetery.

Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home, in charge of local arrangements, will transport the remains overland to the Doran Funeral Home in Del Rio for interment.

She is survived by her husband G. G. Colbert, Bracketville; two sons, C. O. Jones, Big Spring, R. H. Jones, Waco; three brothers, Lewis Todd, Tahoka, Lee Todd, Dallas, and Jeff Todd, Dallas; one sister, Mrs. Chris Griffin, Odessa, and three grandchildren.

Theft Charged

Charges of theft over $50 were lodged with Justice of Peace Jess Slaughter Wednesday afternoon against Doris Jean Brown. Bond of $1,500 was set in the case but it had not been posted Thursday.

She is charged with having taken two pistols and a diamond ring from the J. T. Hensley home, where she had served as a maid. District Attorney Gil Jones said that the missing items were pawned.

DWI Charge

A charge of driving while intoxicated was lodged in County Court Thursday against James M. Brown. The complaint was dated Dec. 25. The defendant posted $500 bond.

A charge of aggravated assault upon a police officer was lodged against Charles (Chuck) Jones, Snyder, in connection with an incident on Dec. 24. He posted $1,000 bond.

Austin M. Wynn was charged with shoplifting in connection with the taking of a $1.98 white blouse in a store here on Dec. 26.

Burglars Make Two More Hauls

Burglars made relatively small hauls during the holidays.

An electric drill and portable saw were taken from the First Baptist Church sometime after Dec. 12. The theft was discovered this morning.

Carl Pearson at the Airport Grocery, 3107 W. 80, told police someone burglarized his place during the night. About $50 in cash was taken plus a quantity of beer and cigarettes.

177 CASES ARE DROPPED

The offices of the county judge, county attorney and county clerk were busy Thursday on action which will result in dismissal of 177 cases from the Howard County Court docket.

The cases are of 1958 or prior vintage and are considered by the court to be in a status which will not support prosecution. The action is being taken in an effort to rid the docket of some of its clutter.

NOW HE'S IN JAIL

Daring Young Man On Railroad Track

DECATUR, Ga. (AP)—A daring young man who drove his car five miles down a railroad track, over trestles and a bridge right in front of a fast freight train will spend the next six months safely in jail.

"I'll be swan if I know why we didn't run over him or why he didn't run off a trestle or something," marveled train engineer J. B. Broom.

Police who rushed to the scene and arrested Theron Luther George Jr., 18, also had words of praise for the young daredevil's skill in negotiating the track and trestles in the early morning darkness without a mishap, with Broom's train whistling impatiently behind.

But DeKalb County Judge Oscar Mitchell was not so impressed. "When I asked him what was his excuse he just said he was guilty and didn't have an excuse," the judge commented in passing sentence Wednesday.

The six-month sentence was on a charge of drunkenness on private property.

Broom said he first spotted the car sailing along the Seaboard Air Line tracks ahead of him at 4 p.m. Tuesday, its left wheels running on the crossties between the tracks and its right wheels on the dirt right-of-way.

Every time the driver came to a trestle he pulled all four wheels up on the crossties and bumped on across, the engineer said.

"If we'd come on that guy anywhere else along there we'd have overrun him sure.

"We happened to see him on a straight stretch, but after that we lost sight of him because of all the curves and hills and I didn't make more than seven or eight miles an hour because I was afraid I'd overrun him," Broom said.

Broom said every time his train went over a trestle he looked down, expecting to see the wreckage of the car on the highway below.

"We crossed three trestles in all and he wasn't down there under any of them."

Creeping along in the darkness so as not to smash into the rear of the car, Broom said after crossing an overpass "we saw him standing there right in the middle of the tracks and laughing at us and waving his hands. So I laughed about that time, too, and got out to see what had happened.

"I didn't get a chance to talk to him much because the cops came up about that time," he added. Police had been tipped previously that a car was running down the track, its headlights on and horn blowing.

The engineer said when the police were leading George off to jail he shouted for Broom to get a cable and pull his car off the tracks.

"I reckon he was afraid a train might hit it," Broom said.

District Cases Set In Martin

The 118th District Court will begin its January term in Martin County on Tuesday with empanelling of the grand jury.

One criminal case already is on the docket for trial at 10 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 5, and Gil Jones, district attorney, said the state was prepared to announce ready. The case is that of W. H. Cook, indicted for embezzlement of funds from the Stanton Implement Company where he was formerly employed.

Meanwhile, preparations were made for the beginning of the January term in Howard County on Jan. 23. Tuesday nine panels of 100 names each were drawn from the jury wheel for petit jurors during the term. Judge R. W. Caton will name a jury commission to draw up the list of 20 veniremen for the grand jury panel.

50,000 Aliens Expected To Report Addresses

Gordon L. Cornell, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, estimated today that approximately 50,000 aliens will report their addresses in the 150 Texas Counties under the jurisdiction of the Dallas Office which includes the Houston area.

The immigration official said that 327,514 aliens reported their addresses during January, 1960 in the entire State of Texas.

Cornell said that all non-citizens, except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives of certain international organizations and those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers, are required to file the address report.

He added that any alien who willfully violates the address report requirement may be fined up to $200, imprisonment for 30 days, and deported.

In addition, aliens who are not in the United States during January must report their address to the service within 10 days after their return.

The district director said that address report cards will be available at the Immigration Service Office at 1100 Main in Dallas, and local United States Post Offices beginning Jan. 2, 1961.

Motorists Hold 4 Wreck Average

Holiday drivers are maintaining an average of four auto accidents per day in Big Spring. One injury was reported in a mishap Wednesday.

Lillian Miller was checked and released at Cowper Clinic and Hospital following a mishap at 7th and Main. She was a passenger in a car driven by Ronald Reed Miller, 701 Nolan, which was in collision with a car driven by Donna Kay Kincaid, 1403 Lark.

William B. Abrams, 1004 Baylor, and Lawrence M. Anderson, Luther, were in collision at 10th and Main.

A wreck at 16th and State involved W. E. Williams, 114 Anna, and Jerry Lloyd Spence, Big Spring.

Drivers involved in a crash at 12th and Scurry were Jackie Richey, Gail Rt., and Glen Forgus, 310 Mesquite.

TAX FORMS IN THE MAIL

Happy New Year! And have you paid your taxes?

With postal clerks it's an impersonal duty, but they could be pardoned if this thought was in the back of their heads as they went about their duties today.

A dozen bulging sacks contained income tax forms for an estimated 15,000 individuals. Besides these, there were numerous letters to those who normally use only the short forms to declare their federal income tax.

3rd Case Pends

Geraldine Bush, who has two cases pending in County Court, has a felony case pending now. She posted $3,000 bond after being transferred from the city to the county on a charge of theft from person. The Negro woman has a shoplifting case pending from Oct. 14, 1960 and one for theft from Nov. 14, 1960 in County Court. The felony case was filed with Justice of Pease Jess Slaughter.

Mrs. Thomas' Rites Friday

Mrs. Lois Mildred Thomas died at 4:40 a.m. today in a local hospital. She was 54.

Born Feb. 19, 1906 in Merkel, she was married to Fred Thomas Feb. 16, 1930. A resident of Ackerly since 1948, she had lived in Vincent and the Fairview community. She was a member of the Ackerly Baptist Church.

Funeral will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Big Spring with the Rev. J. D. Mabry, pastor of the Ackerly Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

She is survived by her husband Fred Thomas, Ackerly; two daughters, Mrs. Imogene Ingram, Seagraves, Mrs. Dorothy Woods, Lubbock; two brothers, Charlie Creighton, Big Spring, Merrill Creighton, Big Spring; six sisters, Mrs. Mamie Robertson, Lubbock, Mrs. R. A. Carr, Lamesa, Mrs. B. F. Carr, Big Spring, Mrs. T. N. Culwell, Big Spring, Mrs. Tom Newton, Big Spring, Mrs. J. L. Brown, Vista, Calif.; a stepmother, Mrs. W. R. Creighton of Chicago, Ill.; and four grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be V. E. Shortes, L. Z. Shafer, Joe Lemons, C. A. Nichols, Tommy Horton, M. E. Dyer Jr., W. J. Rogers and Doff Raspberry.

Legion Pushes Member Drive

Additional reports on the membership dirve will be on the agenda tonight at the regular weekly meeting of the Howard County Post of the American Legion, 8 p.m. at the Legion home on the San Angelo highway.

The drive which lagged during pre-Christmas activities has taken a spurt, according to Roscoe Cone, chairman. Over 200 members for 1961 have been reported with many other workers still busy.

An expanded program of work for the year necessitates a goal of 801 members for 1961. This will still be short of the Post's record of some 1,000, shortly after the end of World War II. Post members are attempting to invite every eligible veteran to join.

W. A. McElrath with some 50 reported has taken an early lead. Calvin Foster, J. G. Littlejohn, Kenneth Brittain and Foy Dunlap have secured 10 or more. In addition each member is requested to enlist one other to make the goal possible.

Final arrangements for the Legion and Auxiliary annual "come and go" New Year Eve blackeyed pea party are to be completed at tonight's meeting, according to Commander Joe Pendleton, as well as some preliminary planning on several of the 1961 Youth Programs sponsored by the Post. Members and eligible veterans are welcomed at each Thursday night meeting.

Wright Outlines Proposals To Aid Country In Cold War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislative proposals designed to aid the United States in the cold war were outlined by Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.), a candidate for the Senate, at a news conference here Wednesday.

The 38-year-old Wright, who is seeking the Senate seat to be vacated by Vice President-elect Lyndon B. Johnson, said he will offer also bills dealing with social security, financing of municipal water supplies and college student aid.

One of his bills for the new Congress convening Jan. 3 would create a study committee to consider providing "a new ingredient—wages—in the tariff structure."

The committee, he said, would study the feasibility of creating a sliding tariff scale with the idea of encouraging payment in foreign countries of wages more in line with higher U.S. pay.

Wright said he will offer another bill aimed at helping to bring about land reform in Latin American countries.

This proposed program would provide for U.S. backing of long-term, low interest mortgage loans to help Latin Americans buy homes and farms.

The proposed bill would authorize the secretary of state to enter into agreements with various foreign countries to set up these programs.

Land reform, he said, is one of the biggest problems in these countries and a problem lending itself to Communist influence.

Wright said he also will offer these bills:

1. To provide for a higher pay incentive scale for foreign service personnel to acquire and remain proficient in difficult and little known foreign languages.

2. To direct that agriculture surpluses shall be used rather than stored, a measure which he is still studying.

3. To provide a $300 a year credit against federal income taxes for each child parents are sending to college. This would be credit against actual taxes rather than an additional deduction.

4. To permit $2,400 instead of $1,200 a year earnings for those receiving social security retirement pay.

Senior Employes Honored At Co-Op Holiday Program

Approximately 100 attended the annual employe party of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative and its kindred groups, Cap Rock Refrigerative and Westex Telephone Cooperatives, here Tuesday evening.

Pins for 15 years of service went to Clint Barrett, Euel Ferguson, F. E. Houston and W. A. Rinscer. Five-year pins went to Nathaniel Brown from the electric cooperative, and a 10-year pin to Millie L. Henson from the refrigerative unit.

The presentations were made by O. B. Bryan, manager, who himself had received a 20-year pin for his anniversary which occurred last July.

James Eiland presided, and Ira Schantz sang an a capella solo and led in Christmas carols. Wives, husbands and families of the employes were special guests at the dinner held in the HCJC student union building. Introduced as new employes during the year were Mrs. Curtis Erwin, Ila Mae Gray and Bruce Pitts. Robert Hudson was introduced as new attorney for the cooperative. Members of the boards of directors of the three cooperatives were presented to the group, and Bryan expressed his appreciation for loyal service, noting that "our service is only as good as our people are dedicated."

Cactus Paint Company Can Blend Paint For Your Decor

Cactus Paint Manufacturing Company, East Highway 80, has been blending paint in Big Spring for 12 years and maintains a complete line of painting supplies. The firm sells quality mixtures suitable for this region guaranteeing each can against manufacturing defects.

Gene Campbell, manager of the corporation, has facilities for making any blend of paint and sells both retail and wholesale to patrons of West Texas and eastern New Mexico.

Having complete laboratory facilities, Tony Bozich, paint chemist, can even prepare his own blends. When a housewife comes in with a piece of curtain, asking him to create a paint of that exact shade, he achieves amazing satisfaction.

The company packages paint in canisters varying from one-half pint to 55 gallon drums and each contains a blend of the same fine quality.

Employing 12 experienced men, Cactus Paint Co. makes interior and exterior house paints, oil paints, water base and trim paints, and even all types of industrial and masonry paints.

The company also makes varnishes, heat resistant paints, epoxy coatings (chemical resistant mixtures used by refineries), and paint used for swimming pools, boats and traffic devices.

For the very best in service and quality paints, come in and see the experienced personnel at the Cactus Paint Manufacturing Co., East Highway 80, near Cosden Refinery, or call AM 4-8922.

Remember, they blend and guarantee a paint for this region, the secret of their success.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — A fireman's bucket brigade came to the aid of Mrs. Ed Hoffman and painted her house in four hours.

Her husband, a fireman, died of injuries suffered in a fire early in March, so his buddies came to the aid of his widow.

Mrs. Hoffman served the workers a picnic dinner complete with fried chicken, potato salad and baked beans.

Blue Lustre Is Easy Way To Rug Care

Carpet and upholstery cleaning problems have been solved for housewives everywhere with the magic of Blue Lustre.

This unusual foam cleaner was developed especially for home carpet cleaning care and provides a safe, easy and economical method of carpet care which saves the busy housewife time, effort and money.

Housewives who use Blue Lustre realize that it is the cleaning quality of the foam that produces such excellent results and have found this true regardless of the type of rug shampoo applicator used and even a long handled brush will give satisfactory results.

Using Blue Lustre Carpet and Upholstery Cleaner is really very simple — vacuum carpets first. Then, after mixing Blue Lustre concentrate with water as directed, apply foam with any type of shampoo applicator or long handled brush. Let dry and vacuum again. The soil disappears and the colors spring back to life again, leaving the pile of the rug open and fluffy.

Actually what happens is that the Blue Lustre foam penetrates instantly into the carpet soil and its unique action holds the dirt particles in suspension for easy removal by vacuuming. Since all carpet soil and cleaning agent is removed, there is no residue of any kind left in the carpet to cause rapid resoiling — consequently, rugs and carpets stay cleaner longer.

Many housewives have found it convenient to keep Blue Lustre on hand so that they can give prompt attention to any soiled spots or traffic paths when they appear since it is unnecessary to go over the entire carpet again.

One half gallon size of Blue Lustre is sufficient to clean three 9x12 rugs and it is also available in the other convenient sizes of quarts and gallons.

This product can be purchased from Big Spring Hardware.

Tournament Favorites See Action Tonight

Decatur Baptist College decked Lubbock Christian, 85-80, in the first game of the HCJC Basketball Tournament here Thursday morning. The game was decided in overtime.

At one point in the contest, Lubbock led by 20 points. Decatur now becomes eligible to play San Angelo, which drew a first round bye, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Larry Rodgers led Lubbock while Wilson Whitmire paced Decatur with 20.

If all goes according to form in the ninth annual Howard College Basketball Tournament, which got under way here this morning, Tyler and San Angelo will clash in the Saturday night finals, immediately following a third place game between HCJC and Paris.

Form usually goes out the window in the local meet, however, a factor that has attracted 14 of the Southwest's better junior college teams here for the three day meet.

Other teams given an excellent chance to capture the title, in addition to the four aforementioned, include Decatur Baptist, Amarillo College, Clarendon, Odessa and Decatur.

Other quintets here include Schreiner Institute, Sayre, Okla.; San Antonio College, South Plains of Levelland, Frank Phillips of Borger and Lubbock Christian College.

Any of those clubs could get hot, however, and upset apple carts right and left.

Tyler, the undefeated favorite, and once-beaten San Angelo do not see action until tonight. Both drew first round byes.

Here's the way the teams were and are scheduled to line up in the first day of activity:

Decatur Baptist vs Lubbock Christian, 8:30 a.m.; Schreiner Institute vs Amarillo, 10:15 a.m.; Sayre, Okla., vs San Antonio, 12 noon; Frank Phillips vs Odessa, 1:45 p.m.; Paris vs Clarendon, 4 p.m.; South Plains vs HCJC, 5:45 p.m.; San Angelo vs winner of Decatur-Lubbock game, 7:30 p.m.; Tyler vs winner of Schreiner-Amarillo game, 9:15 p.m.

Play will be resumed in the consolation bracket at 8:30 a.m. Friday and games are on tap throughout the day—eight of them.

Should HCJC win its first two games, as it is favored to do, it would play again at 9:15 p.m. Friday.

Defending titlist is HCJC, which shaded San Angelo in last year's finals, 77-62. The Jayhawks have won the crown three times in its eight year history.

Tyler and Paris are both new to the meet. Tyler finished as runnerup to Parsons, Kansas, in the National Junior College Tournament last year.

Other former titlists in the field include San Angelo, which prevailed here in 1956-57, the year after Odessa won. San Angelo was undefeated the year it ruled the roost here and wound up winning the National Juco crown.

Seven teams of the newly organized Western Conference, HCJC included, are entered here. Tyler and Paris are representing the Texas Eastern Conference. Schreiner, San Antonio and Decatur are all Texas JC Conference clubs. San Angelo is representing the Pioneer Conference while Sayre belongs to an Oklahoma collegiate league.

Some of the junior college ranks' great players will be on display here. They include Folly Malone and Pete Pitrou of Tyler, Paris' Floyd Weaver, HCJC's Ronnie Weaks, San Angelo's Bubba Bailey, Larry Rodgers of Lubbock Christian, Nick Belzac of Odessa and Herb Johnson of Amarillo, among others.

A Most Valuable Player will be chosen at the conclusion of play Saturday night.

Coach of the winning team earns a transistor radio. Five other mentors will come in for a share of the loot. The outstanding player will be awarded a big trophy.

Ten members of the all-tournament squad will also get trophies. In all, prizes to be given away at the conclusion of the meet are valued at more than $400.

Prizes For Best Of Class

D. E. (Buddy) Travis, basketball coach at HCJC and director of the ninth annual Howard County Junior College Basketball Tournament, stands beside the prizes which will be given away at the conclusion of the tournament Saturday night. The loot is valued at more than $400 and is on display in the showcase of the Jayhawk Gym. The tournament started this morning, with eight games on tap today, eight Friday and as many on Saturday.

Steers And Monahans Vie In Tournament

Coach Delnor Poss loads up his Big Spring High School basketball team and takes it to Odessa today for the annual Odessa Invitational Tournament.

The Longhorns challenge Monahans at 3 p.m., in the first game of the tournament. The Steers will be underdogs in that one but that role is nothing new to the locals. They've rarely been favored in any of their 14 starts this season, and they're 7-7 at the moment.

Midland and Odessa High rule as co-favorites in the tournament. In other first round games, Odessa meets Brownfield, Permian of Odessa tries Midland and Odessa Ector challenges Iraan.

Monahans looms as a power in its own AAA conference. It is coached by Dick Street, who guided it to 20 wins last year.

The tournament continues through Saturday night. Big Spring, as will all other tournament teams, is assured of playing three games.

In tournament action to date, the Steers have gone to the finals in the San Angelo meet and won consolation laurels at Del Rio.

Big Spring owns victories over San Angelo Lake View, Colorado City, Brady, Brownwood, Sonora, Marfa and Del Rio San Felipe this year. It has lost to San Angelo, Colorado City, Sweetwater (2), Snyder (2) and Lamesa.

Probably starters for Big Spring are George Ryan, Dick Ebling, Ronnie Hamby, Ross Reagan and Donnie White.

Odessa lost its first game recently in the Dallas Tournament but will have the advantage of playing on its home court. Midland has come along faster than expected and will prove a large order for any team to handle.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Olie Cordill, the one-time Big Spring and Rice grid great who had been invited to tomorrow's reunion of the 1930-31 BSHS basketball team here, won't be able to make it.

Olie and his family instead will be heading for New Orleans on an all-expenses paid trip to the Sugar Bowl game between his alma mater and Ole Miss.

Olie Jr., won the trip for the entire family after being selected as "the best all-around boy" in the schools in Lafayette, La., where the Cordills now reside.

Young Cordill had a good year on the football greensward. He completed 47 passes for eight touchdowns, averaged 13 yards a carry and 40.6 yards on each of 27 punts.

He was the total offense leader in his district and easily rated all-district honors.

He accounted for well over 1,000 yards in rushing and passing, having picked up an average of something like 135 paces a game—outdistancing the second highest boy by about 15 yards a game.

Scouts from Louisiana college have, no doubt, been camping on young Olie's doorstep but his parents have always wanted him to go to Rice, where Olie Sr., was a star in the mid-30's. Quite probably, he'll be playing his college ball for the Houston school.

* * * *

Johnny Carson, the Houston pro gridder who played his college football at Georgia Tech, says Atlanta would draw more people than the Dallas Texans and Oakland combined, if the Georgia city was admitted to the American Football League.

* * * *

For a basketball team that wasn't supposed to win a game this season, the Big Spring Steers are doing sensationally—seven victories in their first 14 games.

* * * *

Be patient with me if I'm wrong but I don't think Southwest Conference football is nearly as colorful as it was in the '30's and '40's.

When mentors like Dutch Meyer and Rusty Russell quit the league, something electric went out of it. Defense has taken over. After watching Alabama and Texas in the Bluebonnet Bowl game, I can understand why the Cotton Bowl would hesitate to invite Bear Bryant to the Dallas classic. Bryant teaches good, sound football but a game in which one of his teams is involved runs the risk of being a downright dull contest.

An exception to the rule in Southwest Conference football may be Baylor's John Bridgers, who has perfected a highly entertaining brand of attack. Bridgers never uses his quarterback as a glorified pulling guard as is done in some offenses. His signal caller is a passer and a ball handler first and a ball carrier occasionally on a rollout run-pass option.

Give him time and he may revolutionize offenses throughout the conference.

* * * *

Bill (Chop) Van Pelt, in for the hoilidays from McAllen, says the football team there will have a host of lettermen back from last fall but it will be shy of speed in the backfield.

McAllen, where Van Pelt served as line coach under Hank Watkins, won seven of ten starts. The club played state-champion-to-be Corpus Christi Miller to a 20-7 decision and he doesn't go along with those who think Miller experienced an off night in the game. He thinks McAllen carried the fight to the enemy, made Miller look bad and could have won with a little luck.

He says the Van Pelts are pleased with their new home. The kids are still going bare footed, he adds.

Boston Fans Will Avenge Celts: Red

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Bob Cousy and others of the Boston Celtics, angry over being pelted with eggs by St. Louis Hawk fans, predict that Boston partisans will retaliate.

Celtic Coach Red Auerbach nodded agreement to Cousy's prediction.

The Hawks beat Boston 105-99 Wednesday night, the first time in three meetings they have been able to accomplish the feat. And St. Louis fans apparently expected another disappointing evening and came armed.

During a time out late in the fourth quarter, eggs started raining down on the Boston players. The floor had to be mopped and Frank Ramsey was boosted up to wipe off a backboard.

Auerbach told The Associated Press that as he was walking off the floor at the end of the game, a spectator dashed up to within five feet of him and whacked him squarely in the forehead with an egg.

The Boston coach had a red mark where he said the blow struck.

"This is a bush town and you can quote me," Auerbach said. "You know darn well that fans get excited during the game. But if they bring eggs in, they bring 'em to throw. They're not going to take 'em home."

The fiery coach asserted that "they ought to arrest people who do things like this and charge them with peace disturbance."

"When you play here you have to run a gauntlet (of fans) that throws programs and other things before you get off the floor."

Another victim of the egging, Tom Heinsohn, said "I felt like jumping into the crowd but there were women and children in it."

Bob Cousy said soberly: "The trouble with things like this is that the people in Boston will read about it and they will come armed too. Incidents like this are progressive and ought to be nipped in the bud."

Kiel Auditorium had a capacity crowd of 10,428 Wednesday night and as usual the fans screamed and howled whenever Auerbach stood up. Before the egg throwing, a fan hurled a bag of peanuts at the Boston coach.

Officials pleaded with the crowd over the public address system not to throw things on the floor, citing dangers to the players on both teams. But little heed was paid to the pleas.

The next St. Louis appearance in Boston is Jan. 18.

Dallas Quintets In Cage Finals

DALLAS (AP)—South Oak Cliff and Dallas Jefferson clash tonight for the championship of the Cotton Bowl Invitational High School Basketball Tournament.

South Oak Cliff beat Highland Park 57-45 Wednesday night to pull into the finals. Jefferson licked defending champion Dallas Hillcrest 53-44.

Aggie Giant Plays In Holiday Meet

LUBBOCK — Texas Tech may have back its 6-9 Harold Hudgens for the Holiday Doubleheaders here Dec. 29 and 30, but the Raiders' giant will still be a guy named "Shorty" to one of the participants.

He's the Texas Aggies' Lewis Qualls, who at 7 feet is the tallest player in the Southwest Conference if not in collegiate basketball.

South Plains need no introduction to the Aggies' tall man. Qualls led Smiley High School of Houston to a 58-42 victory over Hereford in the Conference 3A finals two years ago.

No string bean, the Aggie sophomore weighs 245 pounds. Lack of endurance was considered a handicap, but Qualls built himself up to the extent that last year he led the Aggie fish in scoring with a 12.3 average.

Qualls is coming around fast. Although the Aggies return six lettermen from the team that finished only a game out of the Southwest Conference throne room, he has played enough to average 6.3 points a game. Qualls has a fine touch for a big man and is an excellent free throw shooter.

Hudgens has been sidelined only two games for the Raiders. The junior from Ballinger had a 24-point and 17 - rebound average when he cracked a foot bone in the Kansas game. Coach Polk Robinson will have the hair-line fracture X-rayed again before Hudgens plays.

Qualls and Hudgens, the two tallest, won't face each other in the Doubleheaders since the Aggies and Raiders will not meet.

In the Aggies' opener, with Eastern Kentucky State at 7 p.m. Thursday, the tallest men they'll confront will be a pair of 6-7 performers, Ralph Richardson, letterman from Russell Springs, Ky., and Ronald Pickett, sophomore from Frankfort, Ky.

Tallest member of the U. S. Air Force Academy team, Texas Tech's foe at 9 p.m. Thursday, will be 6-6 Ray Lindquist, sophomore center from Hammond, Ind.

Friday night A&M meets the Air Academy at 7, followed by the Texas Tech - Eastern Kentucky game at 9.

Springer Horses Top Sunday Race

EL PASO—The powerful J. J. Phillips-trained entry of Solid Moment and Blue Frank top the New Year's Day racing program at Sunland Park as eight fast stepping sprinters clash in the New Year's Day allowance purse at 5½ furlongs.

Blue Frank, the property of E. T. Springer, whose stable is currently the leading money winner of the meeting, has accepted high-weight of 122 pounds for the contest.

Co-holder of the five-furlong track record, Blue Frank was unplaced in his last start here Sunday against Mac Mullen and Masud, but the New Year field should be more to his liking.

He has run kindly over the Sunland strip in all six starts this season and has been a consistent bread winner for the Springer stable. Conditions of the race appear well suited to the dark brown son of Fighting Frank and coupled in the wagering with Solid Moment looms the probable favorite.

Nominations:

FIRST (6 furl.)—Talent Tip, Wasa Anna, Burguete's Nahar, Negra Lita, Suggest Me, Polybomb, Hiram's Boots, Cobra C, Nino Hoet, Derodo, also Goose Lake, Kelso Star.

SECOND (6 furl.) — Reco Bar, Barn Dancer, Sir Bag, Gee Sioux, Frank Tip, Olymiadias, Vacuum Packed, Don Melody, Dark Talk, Runnin Trail, also Better Deyoh, Dakota Bill.

THIRD (350 yards)—The Miss Bank Purse, Hy Adventure, Hy Rico, Bad Repetition, Bonita Dandy, Cadalin Gay, Spanish Lariet, My Gracious, Amber Jag, Texas Pan, Sock Leo, also Handy Bar, Dainty String.

FOURTH (870 yards)—Silver Stick, Chic Obey, Mister Trix, Send For Me, Repowder Reagan Bar, Miss Antpride, Rusty Sam, Charmeal's Pride, Bull O'Val, also Holly's Gent.

FIFTH (1 M & 1-16)—Janie McGee, Tawny Gold, Sutton County, Tribal Custom, Colonel's Date, Floor Girl, Ver Moore, My Pa, Pa.

SIXTH (6 furl.)—Whiz Along, Border Rebel, Babetwoods, Half Share, Lucky Cider, Rambling Rhythm, Clan Elle, Red Chafe, B Jolly, Uncle Don Son, also Billy B, Lucky Carolac.

SEVENTH (1 mile and 1-16)—Vingh Alcadru, Brooks County, Jeenik, That's Major, Belle Loch, Bowdy Joe.

EIGHTH (1 mile)—"The Auld Lang Syne" Polly's Cracker, Jim's Jet, Trials Here, Wise Bear, Damask Cloth, Tribal Tip, Al Wil, Orsetep.

NINTH (5½ furl.)—"The New Years Day"—Blue Frank, Berto Barbone, Call Hy, A Dee W, Beau Bre, Solid Moment, No Gal, Fickle Fortune.

TENTH (1 mile)—R. Cos, New Issue, Bradie's Ann, Fair Manso, Montezano Boy, Top Price, Grey Strike, Frontier Sass, F Bond, To Betsy; also Etta Ace.

Midland Wins Lubbock Meet

MIDLAND — The Midland Bulldogs took on added prestige in state Class AAAA basketball circles by defeating Lamesa, 62-48, in the finals of the Caprock Invitational Basketball Tournament here Wednesday.

Charles Dishman, voted the outstanding player of the meet, led the Bulldogs in scoring with 25 points. Knox Nunnally added 20 for Midland.

Kenneth Crouch and Bruce Ashton each collected 14 for Lamesa.

Dimmitt won the small-school bracket by kayoing Abernathy, 64-42.

San Angelo Cats Lose In Tourney

SAN ANTONIO—The San Angelo Cats lost out in the second round of the San Antonio Invitational Basketball Tournament here to San Antonio Harlandale, 74-56.

The Cats had defeated San Antonio Tech in the first round, 70-55.

Harlandale earned the right to oppose Lamar of Houston in the semifinals by trouncing the Bobcats.

Buckeyes, St. John's Vie In Basketball Headliner

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some red hot college basketball will be on tap today and tonight when ranking teams clash in holiday tournaments, but the one to watch is the New York duel between Ohio State and St. John's of Brooklyn.

Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team and unbeaten in seven games, takes on St. John's in the stellar attraction of the Madison Square Garden holiday festival quarter-finals. St. John's, ranked No. 7, also has won all seven of its games. Two All-Americas, Ohio State's Jerry Lucas and Tony Jackson of St. John's, provide some extra punch in the billing.

The supporting game at the Garden also is a natural, for third ranked St. Bonaventure (8-0) tackles Utah, which lost its first two games but has since captured seven in a row.

Meanwhile, eight teams — four from North Carolina and four from outside—tee off in the Dixie classic first round this afternoon at Raleigh, N. C. Sixth-ranked Duke (7-0) meets Wyoming (3-3) in the night finale.

Fourth-ranked Indiana (6-1) won its first round game in the Los Angeles classic Wednesday night, defeating Stanford 58-50 as big Walt Bellamy led the way with 20 points.

In other first round games, Iowa outlasted California 83-80 in four overtimes, Southern California whipped Minnesota 75-52 and UCLA walloped Michigan State 98-61.

Indiana meets UCLA and Iowa opposes Southern California in the semifinals today.

Idaho, Oregon State, Seattle and Arizona State posted first round victories Wednesday in the Far West classic at Portland, Ore. Idaho upset Portland 65-51, Oregon State turned back Wisconsin 56-54, Seattle ousted Washington State 72-61 and Arizona State edged Oregon 54-53.

In addition to the two Far West tournaments, several others started, ended or went through the semifinals in a busy night of basket barrages.

Kansas eliminated defending champion Iowa State 76-72 and Kansas State ousted Oklahoma 73-52 in the semifinals of the Big Eight tournament at Kansas City.

In the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City Wichita defeated Houston 71-68. Utah State beat Texas Christian in the second game 87-65 which completed the first round. Baylor and New York U., which won first round games Tuesday, play in tonight's semifinals.

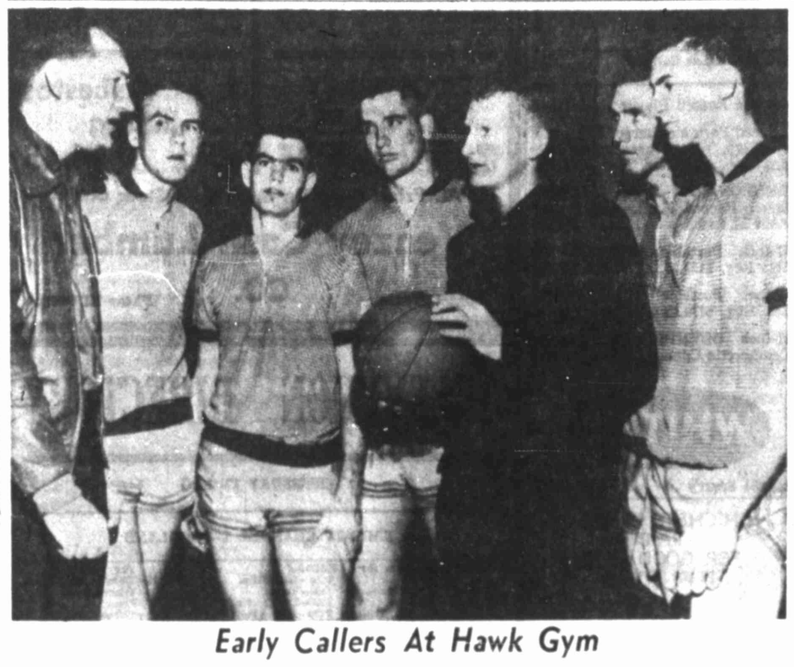

The Gator Bowl tourney started at Jacksonville, Fla., with defending champion Georgia whipping Florida State 62-56. In the opener police had to break up a fight near the end as Florida defeated Jacksonville 82-68.

Holy Cross and Miami (Fla.) meet in the finals tonight of the Hurricane classic at Miami Beach.

Detroit retained the Motor City tourney title as Charley North led the Titans to a 77-64 victory over Colorado State University.

The University of Denver beat Penn State 58-50 and captured the Evansville (Ind.) tournament title.

Two Ivy League teams invaded the Big Ten, and Michigan slugged Brown 74-56, while Northwestern routed Dartmouth 87-71.

Early Callers At Hawk Gym

Fine Backs Plentiful In Sugar Bowl Game

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—It's not an unusual situation, that of linemen taking a back seat to more celebrated and publicized backfield aces. And so it is in the Sugar Bowl Monday where Mississippi's powerful football squad figures to apply a lot of pressure on Rice defenses.

There's no shortage of backfield talent on either side, particularly with Mississippi where All America quarterback Jake Gibbs performs.

Though hardly blessed with the same type of performers, either in numbers or quality, Rice is adequately staffed with quarterback Billy Cox, halfback Bob Wayt and fullback Roland Jackson.

But let's look at the lines for a moment.

Guard Richard Price was one of the key men for Mississippi Coach Johnny Vaught this year and earned a berth on the All-Southeastern Conference team.

Guard Rufus King is the anchor man for Rice in the Owls' forward wall. King was one of the top forwards in the Southwest Conference during the 1959 season and played only defense this year because of an injury.

With Gibbs and Cox both topflight passers, it only follows there's pretty good ends on both sides. And in the Sugar Bowl, some 80,000 fans in Sugar Bowl Stadium and millions more on television (NBC) will see two pretty good ones in Johnny Brewer of the Rebels and Johnny Burrell of the Owls.

Brewer caught only seven passes during the regular season, but five went for touchdowns, three against Tulane in a 26-13 victory.

Burrell dragged in 20 tosses for 206 yards and three touchdowns and Rice coaches also rate him a prime blocker.

Although Gibbs' passing and running threat are largely responsible for Mississippi's being a 10-point favorite for the 1 p.m. (CST) game, one impartial observer looks for a close game.

Arkansas defensive coach Jim McKenzie termed Gibbs the big difference between the two teams, "But it'll be one mighty close game. I'll tell you that."

McKenzie mapped defensive tactics against both during the regular season. Arkansas lost to Ole Miss 10-7 and beat Rice 3-0.

Go-Kart Races Set For Sunday

ODESSA — The first Go-Kart race for 1961 is set for Sunday at the Odessa Raceway, located between Midland and Odessa.

This will be a class race, with each kart running in its own class. It is open to all ages and all classes of karts.

In all there will be ten races, plus a mystery feature race. Race time is 2:00 p.m. The public is invited and with the new sound system you can sit in your car and hear and see the races.

Drivers are asked to be at the track at 1:15 for time trials. The track is located just east of Rim Rock City on Highway 80.

Psychologist Offers Way To Avoid H-Bomb Wars

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There is a way to avoid H-bomb war horrors, a psychologist declared today.

He blamed the cold war mainly on human nature and the idea that mighty defenses assure security.

The way out lies through realizing this, and then seeking new ideas, said Dr. Charles E. Osgood of the University of Illinois.

He spoke after a famous British scientist-novelist, Sir Charles P. Snow, had predicted that within, at most, six years Red China and some other countries would have nuclear bombs.

"Within, at most, 10 years, some of those bombs are going off" unless scientists and others act to prevent it, Sir Charles said.

Dr. Ralph Lapp, physicist of Arlington, Va., presented private estimates of this country's tremendous nuclear power.

He said he figures the United States now has nuclear weapons equal to 50,000 of the atom bombs which destroyed Hiroshima, and could produce the equivalent of 30,000 more in a half dozen more years.

The scientists addressed sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Sir Charles spoke Tuesday night and the others today in sessions sponsored by an AAAS Committee on Science in the Promotion of Human Welfare.

Dr. Osgood said "nations today are lumbering down the one habitual path to 'security'—bigger and better weapons—gathering as they go tensions which make it less and less possible to conceive of any other alternatives."

Osgood said he agrees with others who question "whether being able to annihilate an enemy 10 to 100 times over deters him much more than being able to annihilate him once."

"All this frightens the daylights out of me, but frightening people isn't enough," he said.

"What we need, and that most urgently," he said, "is an enlivened search for new alternatives to war as a means of resolving human conflicts."

A world government may be the only permanent solution, he said.

To halt the arms race, Osgood suggested one-sided steps, announced in advance, to reduce tensions. If carefully done, "pressures of public opinion both internal and external would force reciprocation."

This, he said, "assumes that the Russians are more like us than bogeymen, that they would like to find a way out of this mess as much as we would, that their motivations are derived more from insecurity than from the urge to world domination."

Dr. Jerome D. Frank, psychiatrist of the Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, declared that "one of the great difficulties in the disarmament bargain is that the major parties to the bargain are not really represented at the table."

"The same problem arises, it should be noted, in collective bargaining in industry where the consumer is never effectively represented."

"The parties at the bargaining table are the powers themselves and the military forces which they represent," Frank said.

"In a real sense, the great conflict today is between the armed forces of the world and the civilian populations of the world. These are not organized, however, and there is no way of conducting bargaining among them."

School Case Takes Still Another Step

Application for a writ of error has been filed by Gil Jones, attorney for the Howard County school board in the litigation involving annexation of the Gay Hill and Center Point common school districts.

The writ was filed with the 11th District Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland and will be forwarded through channels to the Texas Supreme Court in Austin. If the high court approves the application, it will mean simply that the court will hear an appeal brought by the Howard County School Board. If not, then the appellate court's decision to remand the case to Howard County for original jurisdiction in the 118th District Court will stand.

The two common school districts sought to enjoin the county board following the issuance of an annexation order issued by the county board in May. The county board contended that the common school districts had first filed with the Texas Education Agency, thus had elected to take another procedural course prior to entering of the suit in district court here. And the trial court held in effect that for this reason it did not possess jurisdiction. The court of appeals, however, overturned this decision and in effect said that the 118th District Court was the proper court of original jurisdiction.

Kennedy-Type PT Boat For Parade

STUART, Fla. (AP)—A Navy PT boat, like the one that sank under John F. Kennedy in World War II action, is en route to Washington for Kennedy's presidential inaugural parade.

Seven enlisted men from the Navy's Mine Laboratory at Panama City are manning the 80-foot craft, built 17 years ago in the program to construct speedy torpedo boats for operations in the midst of enemy fleets.

Kennedy's Pacific wartime crew is scheduled to ride in the boat, to be hauled in the parade on a truck. The craft—No. 796—will be spruced up at Anacostia, D. C., Naval Station for the parade.

Dark-eyed Sandra Broxton, a freshman from Sherman, has been named "Miss Playmate of 1960" at Texas Tech College in Lubbock. She will be featured in the Playboy Section of Tech's La Ventana yearbook.

Mr. Sam Reveals Presidential Views

BONHAM (AP) — Eisenhower should never have exchanged medals for a white house. Hoover should have stayed in the line—not quarterback. And laconic Cal Coolidge did after all, have a sense of humor.

Those are the opinions of a 78-year-old man who served with all of them and the way he is going will serve with other presidents.

The man is Sam Rayburn, speaker of the U.S. House and a resident of Bonham, Tex.

Rayburn has served in the House for 47 years — during the administration of presidents dating back to Woodrow Wilson.

Here are some of his views on our last seven presidents, as told recently to Station KRLD of Dallas.

Woodrow Wilson: "One of the biggest brain men ever in the presidency. A scholar, a historian and he had a good working knowledge of the government. A mighty good president."

Warren G. Harding: "I didn't know Mr. Harding. He didn't have many meetings with young congressmen."

Calvin Coolidge: "I rather liked Coolidge, a quaint New Englander. He had a lot of fun about him. I remember when he was asked to explain why he didn't say much, he made about as smart an answer as I ever heard.

He said, 'you never have to explain anything you never said.' I think that's pretty smart, especially for politicians."

Herbert Hoover: "He was a mistake as a president. Hoover was an efficient man and a good man and I think a good man for the team—but not for captain."

Franklin Roosevelt: "Roosevelt became president in as serious times (except the war) as the country has had since the reconstruction. He came in with a program and the courage to carry it out. His first 100 days are a real American saga. We had 75 of our 135 million people without any buying power. Later we had prosperous times."

Harry S. Truman: "Truman will go down as one of our greatest presidents. He made many decisions of far reaching importance. And he was sworn in at as critical time as anybody who ever took office."

Dwight Eisenhower: "Of course, he was born in the 4th Congressional District (Rayburn's district) and he was a great general. He is a good man and a patriotic man who loves his country. He has served his country well probably better in the Army than as chief executive."

Rayburn refused to name a top president in the group of seven he served under.

"If I knew that answer, I'd refuse to say it," he declared.

He added, "Every president I ever met was a patriotic man who wanted to make this country and his generation better. I respect them all."

From Dagwood To Dogwood?

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A famous movie voice will soon come from a television dog.

Arthur Lake, famed Dagwood of one of the movies' most profitable series, "Blondie," is now producing and directing "Jimmy and Me," a TV series about a boy and his dog.

The dog was bailed out of a dog pound for $1.50 and will talk in the series. A number of actors were tested for the voice but none projected the whimsical, crackling voice of the great American underdog as did Dagwood.

MRS. ELLIOTT DWIGHT TAYLOR

Miss Gray, E. Taylor First To Wed In New Catholic Church

The initial wedding to be held in the New Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church united in marriage Helen Clare Gray and Elliott Dwight Taylor Wednesday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Y. C. Gray, 1704 Main, and the late Mr. Gray; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Taylor of New Iberia, La.

As the couple knelt on a white prie dieu, decorated with holly, double ring vows were read by Father Francis Beazley.

White poinsettias and tapers in Gothic arches flanked the altar, entwined with holly, while white satin bows and holly marked pews for the families. The bridal aisle, laid with white aisle cloth and set off with satin roping, repeated the bows of satin with the holly.

Ms. Leslie Green, organist, accompanied Mrs. Walter Harry as she sang "Panis Angelicus," "Ave Maria," "Veni, Jesu" and "Mother, At Thy Feet I'm Kneeling."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her cousin, Borden Gray.

BRIDAL GOWN

Of white peau de soie, the wedding gown was fashioned with a figurine bodice and full bell skirt, which swept into a chapel train. Long sleeves tapered to petal points, and the portrait neckline was enhanced with Alencon lace, re - embroidered in clusters of seed pearls.

A veil of silk illusion floated from a half - hat, beaded, and bearing a flat bow. The bride's bouquet, designed by the bridegroom, was a crescent of gardenias and lily of the valley interspersed with leather fern and velvet tubing. A string of pearls which she wore was a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. James Gatts of New Orleans, La., attended her sister as matron of honor; Caroline Taylor, of New Iberia, La., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Kathleen Gallagher of Corpus Christi, a cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Red satin velveteen made the frocks of the attendants, who carried red velvet muffs graced with white poinsettias and white tubing. Tapered sleeves came to petal points at the hands and necklines were rounded, their skirts were bell - shaped and hats were of red velvet trimmed with pearls.

For the best man, the bridegroom chose a cousin, Glenn R. Conrad of New Iberia; guests were seated by Robert O. Gray of Midland, Roger Loter and Robert Kerns, both of Lubbock, Richard C. Johnson of Fort Worth and Ray Pellerin of Breaux Bridge, La. Taper lighters were Arthur Dehlinger and Bobby Settles.

RECEPTION

After the ceremony, guest gathered at Cosden Country Club, where they were received by the couple, their mothers and the bridal party.

Camellias, brought from Louisiana by the mother of the bridegroom, decked the five - branched candelabrum which served as a centerpiece on the bride's table. Corsages for the mothers of the pair were made from the camellias, also.

The wedding cake, in three tiers and frosted in white, was served with other confections by Mrs. Robert Kerns, Mrs. Delbert Shirey, Celia Burnett, Winn Sherrill, Gale Howell, all of Lubbock and Judy Bealmear.

Mrs. Dee Jon Davis was at the register.

Others in the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Champ Rainwater, Mr. and Mrs. Ebb Hatch, Dr. and Mrs. Wofford Hardy, Mrs. George White, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, Mrs. Eugene Reynolds, Mrs. Monroe Johnson, Dee Jon Davis, Delbert Shirey and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hayden.

Guests attended from Snyder, Garden City, Midland, Lubbock, Plainview, Wichita Falls, Corpus Christi, New Iberia, La., and Lansford, Pa.

For a wedding trip to Sante Fe, N. M., the bride chose a sheath of imported wool in rust and wore matching accessories.

Upon the return from their trip, the Taylors will make a home at 2102 34th St., Lubbock, where the bridegroom is medical representative for the Stuart Company. He is a graduate of the Catholic High School in his home town and of the University of Southwestern Louisiana as well as the University of Oklahoma.

The bride, who was graduated from Big Spring High School, is a senior student in Texas Tech, where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and was named an outstanding junior; she is a member of the Newman Club and the Home Economics Club.

Open House Set To Fete Couple

An old - fashioned singing in Eddie, Texas, is probably responsible for a celebration which will take place Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Merrick, 600 E. 15th.

It was at such a singing that young J. F. Fields, who led the singers, met Mary Eula Whitaker, who was pianist for the group most of the time, and it so happened that Miss Whitaker needed an escort to the various gatherings.

What more natural, then, that the two should begin attending the songfests together. About a year later, Dec. 29, 1910, the two were married in the home of the bride's parents.

Sunday, that date will be marked with open house in the home of their youngest daughter, and friends are expected to call between the hours of 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. The observance was delayed in order that all of the couple's 10 children and their families may be present.

The gathering will be the first time in 10 years that the entire family has been together.

The Rev. and Mrs. Fields have lived in Big Spring for about three years, since his retirement as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Courtney; he was formerly pastor of the First Baptist Church in Penwell.

The couple is making a home at 2203 Morrison Drive; they have 28 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Children include Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fields of Corpus Christi; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Fields of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Tim Cox of Grand Prairie; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Altman of Buena Park, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Fields of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Craddock and Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Fields, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. George Clark of Andrews; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fields and the host couple of Big Spring.

'ROUND TOWN

With LUCILLE PICKLE

After spending Christmas with his son and his family, DR. and MRS. DICK LANE and DARRELL, DR. J. O. LANE left Wednesday for his home in Comanche. Although 82 years of age, Dr. Lane still cares for a number of patients in his profession of physician and surgeon. In fact, he still is delivering new citizens in Comanche and is expecting to be on hand for a new arrival soon after his return.

A friendship that began early in 1952 is still thriving between the family of MRS. WALTER BISHOP and a young man who was stationed at Webb AFB from Tennessee. In 1952, the young man, who was then LT. JIM NEAL took a room at the home of the late Walter Bishop and his wife and lived there for the two years he was in Big Spring. Last month he called from Chattanooga, Tenn., to say he wanted to spend Christmas here. The family thought it a good idea but never really believed he would come. Sure enough on Dec. 24 here came Mr. Neal with his mother, Mrs. Frank Neal, ready to celebrate with Mrs. Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson, Mrs. Lucile Burke and her son, Edmund.

Neal is now in the Air Force reserve and, while living in Chattanooga, he is the principal for a junior high school in Knoxville, Tenn.

MR. and MRS. REG JARVIS and their daughters, Joy and Jane, Houston, spent the holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Patterson, and other relatives.

• • •

The celebration was a little late but the spirit was the same Monday when members of the J. ARCHER family gathered at the home of their parents in Ackerly to observe the 60th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Archer.

All of the children were present during the day. They included Mrs. Lonnie Coker, Mrs. Lucy Britton, and Mrs. Lula Mae Watts all of Big Spring; Mrs. Wayne Smith of Lamesa, and Harold and Jack Archer of Ackerly. Jack was called to Aspermont but got by for a visit before he left. Also present were a granddaughter and her family, MR. and MRS. WAYNE HENRY and Shawna of Lubbock.

• • •

• • •

MR. and MRS. LESS WHITAKER, MRS. LESS WHITAKER JR. and her two sons of Amarillo are visiting in the homes of the Alfred Moodys and the C. W. Deatses.

• • •

MRS. NATHAN ALLEN had all her children and the grandchildren home for the holidays. MR. and MRS. NATHAN ALLEN JR. and Jeff, from Des Moines, N. M., MR. and MRS. A. O. FUQUA, Wayne, Clifford, Bonnie Jo and Deanna Ruth from Leuders, MR. and MRS. ELWOOD CARLILE, Robert and Elaine, and MRS. NED SANDERS and Billye of Big Spring were here for the reunion.

• • •

MR. and MRS. LEE PORTER returned Monday evening from Corpus Christi where they spent Christmas with their son and family, MR. and MRS. DEAN PORTER, getting acquainted with their new grandson, Gregory.

• • •

MR. and MRS. BILL QUIMBY had as their guests Monday her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. M. M. Fulmer, Rockdale.

Cunninghams Will Make Home In Westbrook Soon

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Arnold Cunningham will make a home in Westbrook following their marriage, Dec. 23, in the First Baptist Church, Abilene.

The bride is the former Lela Karen Parrish, daughter of Vester Parrish of Wingate and the late Mrs. Parrish. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cunningham of Merkel.

Double ring vows were read by the Rev. Lee Butler, pastor of the Iraan Baptist Church.

Attendants were Sandra Thompson of Dimmitt and Joe Cunningham of Merkel, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Bruce Knight of Merkel and Robert Ryan of Ira.

The new Mrs. Cunningham is a graduate of Winters High School and is now attending Hardin-Simmons University. A graduate of Merkel High School, Cunningham holds a degree from H-SU and is a coach and teacher in the local school.

Serviceman, Students Visiting Westbrook

WESTBROOK (SC)—College students home for the holidays are Danny Swafford and Dink Reese from Sam Houston in Huntsville; Linda Salley from H-SU in Abilene; J. F. Salley from Texas Tech; Roy Buchannan from Baylor in Waco; Dicky Lowery of Canyon.

Jerry C. Putman has arrived from Albuquerque, N.M., where he is stationed with the U.S. Air Force. He will visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Putman.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Parsons attended the wedding of Jerry Cunningham and Karen Parrish in Abilene Dec. 23.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Andress left Sunday afternoon for Haskell to spend a few days with their parents.

Guests in the Altis Clemmer home during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Bassinger and Neta of Andrews; Mrs. E. G. Johnson, Linda, Jimmy and Terry; Mr. and Mrs. Clemmer and Richard journeyed to Cisco Christmas Eve to be with Clemmer's mother, Mrs. Elbert Clemmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown. They were Christmas dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Ramsey of Clyde.

Mr. and Mrs. Era Clawson and Morris Don of Corpus Christi were guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Clawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Buss Gressett spent the holidays in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchins and children spent Christmas Day in Coahoma with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hutchins. Monday they left for Hamilton to spend the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Schrank.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Taylor and daughters of Houston were home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Taylor, and his brother, Don Taylor and family.

Shops Offering Wide Range Of Holiday Food

By The Associated Press

Ham and turkey again will be the top items on the housewives' judging by the offerings of superholiday shopping list this week, markets and neighborhood groceries.

Both lend themselves to repeat meals as well as the get-together of family or friends on New Year's Day.

Turkey is somewhat cheaper than a year ago. Ham generally is more expensive.

Canned hams, which are easier to carve, are featured in some stores, while some stores in the East also push fresh, or un-cured, hams as well as the conventional cured and smoked variety. Offerings of beef, lamb and fish are few and far between.

Eggs are up in scattered sections, renewing the upward surge of 1960. But eggs are so high poultry raisers are working hard to step up production. Chick hatchings climbed 20 per cent over a year earlier in November and may go as high as 40 per cent over a year earlier this month, but the big bulge in egg output won't come until late summer, 1961.

Best buys among vegetables are artichokes, cabbage, local beets and carrots, Florida celery, Chinese cabbage, medium - size yellow onions, potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips, rutabagas, endive and escarole.

Good buys are anise, bunched beets, broccoli, brussels sprouts, Western carrots, California celery, miscellaneous leafy greens, corn, mushrooms, spinach, parsnips, leeks and fall types of squash such as hubbard, acorn and butternut.

Fairly expensive items include cauliflower, parsley, peppers, peas, summer squash, tomatoes, watercress and white boiler onions.

Cranberries remain a good buy.

California oranges are an outstanding fruit buy, while good buys include best grade apples, avocados, pears and grapes. Fairly expensive fruits are limes, Spanish melons, tangerines and strawberries.

Daughter Born To Glenn Echolses

Mrs. J. R. Hale, 1015 Wood, has returned from Irving, where she visited her children, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn S. Echols, who became parents of a daughter on the morning of Christmas Eve.

The baby, born in Methodist Hospital, Dallas, has been named Eva Anne. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. Echols of Linden.

Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Wisenbaker of Humble are announcing the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mittie, to Mark Reeves III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Reeves Jr., of Coahoma. The ceremony will be performed in the Humble First Baptist Church, Jan. 28.

Chips 'N' Dips Are Good At Home

Often served in Mexican restaurants, this appetizer is equally good at home.

GUACAMOLE WITH CORN CHIPS

2 medium-sized avocados
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1 small onion (or more)
Piniento strips
Corn chips

Peel and mash ripe avocados and mix with lemon juice and salt. Add finely grated onion, including both pulp and juice.

Turn into serving dish; garnish with pimiento. Serve with corn chips to dunk into mixture.

Leon Gasses' Son Born Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Gass, 106 E. 22nd, are parents of a son, born Wednesday morning at 7:58 in Cowper Clinic and Hospital. The baby, who weighed 7½ pounds, has been named Stephen Craig; he is the first boy on the maternal side for four generations.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jennings, 1008 Bluebonnet, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jensen, Spokane, Wash.

Outdoor Activities Are Favorites Of Mrs. Watts

The outdoor life is the favorite of Mrs. James Watts, 1000 Baylor. However she will leave her outdoor activities to cooking, since that is a main hobby of the busy mother of three lively boys.

Mrs. Watts especially likes to make desserts; other hobbies include swimming and tennis. She enjoys playing bridge, reading and has recently refinished a bed and rocking chair that had belonged to her grandmother.

Making up the Watts household are six and a half year-old Bernard, who is a first grader at Washington School. Brook who is four and a half, and two-year-old Blaine.

The family has lived in Big Spring about a year and a half. They moved here from Odessa but San Angelo is the hometown of both Mr. and Mrs. Watts.

The recipes offered today by Mrs. Watts include desserts. The Tennessee Chess Pie is one which she acquired while living in Tennessee while her husband was stationed there in the Army.

The Lemon Chess Pie, she says, "is a little more trouble but is well worth the extra effort." She strongly suggests that you try the Hungarian Coffee Cake.

TENNESSEE CHESS PIE

2 eggs
1½ cups sugar (part brown, part white)
1 tbsp. corn meal
1 tbsp. flour
½ cup milk
¼ cup melted butter
½ tsp. vinegar
½ tsp. vanilla

Beat eggs and gradually add sugars. Stir in corn meal, flour, milk and butter. Add vinegar and vanilla.

Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake 45 minutes in 325 degree oven.

LEMON CHEESE PIE

Filling
4 3 oz. pkgs. cream cheese
1-3 cup lemon juice
3 eggs slightly beaten
¾ cup sugar

Let cream cheese stand at room temperature. Blend with lemon juice until smooth.

Add eggs and sugar; beat until fluffy. Pour in crust.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until set.

Remove and cool for 10 minutes. While the filling is cooling; mix the following topping:

1½ tsps. grated lemon rind
4 tsps. sugar
1 cup sour cream

Spread over pie and return to oven for 10 minutes more. Top with ½ teaspoon nutmeg.

Cool. Chill for three hours.

Crust:
Combine:
1¼ cups vanilla wafers
1 tbsp. sugar
1½ tsps. grated lemon rind
¼ cup melted butter

Press firmly into 9 inch pie plate.

HUNGARIAN COFFEE CAKE

1 pkg. hot roll mix
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
1-3 cup melted butter
½ cup chopped pecans
1-3 cup white syrup

Prepare roll mix as directed on package. When doubled, punch down. Mix sugar and cinnamon. Sprinkle about 1-3 cup evenly in bottom of solid tube pan that has been greased.

Shape dough into size of walnuts, dip in melted butter. Arrange in pan just touching each other.

Sprinkle balls with ½ the chopped nuts and half the remaining sugar mixture. Top with second layer of balls and sprinkle with remaining nuts and sugar mixture.

Let rise in warm place for 45 minutes or until double in size.

Drizzle syrup over balls.

Bake in 350 degree oven for 60 minutes or until well-browned.

Art Work

Displaying her first piece of art work is Mrs. James Watts, with her three boys, reading from tallest down, Bernard, Brook and Blaine. The plaque, mosaic crushed rocks, is made in the decorative colors of brown, orange and aqua to match the color scheme of the Watts home.

Wonderful Dish For Company

Tastes wonderful?

FESTIVE WILD RICE

1½ cups wild rice
5 tablespoons butter
1-3 to ½ cup blanched split almonds
¼ cup currants
1 pimiento

Cook rice according to package directions with water and salt called for; drain.

Melt butter in skillet (6 to 8 inches); add almonds; stir over moderately low heat until butter is golden brown; add to hot rice with currants that have been rinsed in hot water and drained; mix well.

Garnish with pimiento cut into thin rings. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Green Peas

So many ways to vary creamed green peas! Add canned mushrooms or onions or flavor with mint or curry.

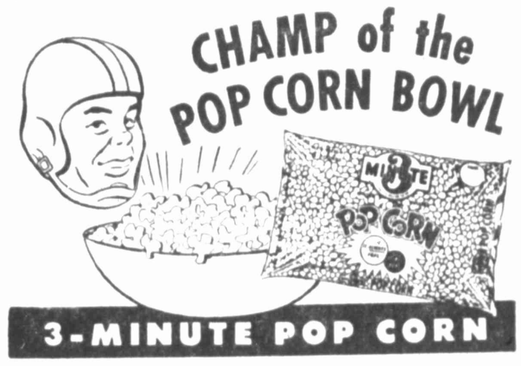

For That Snack On Christmas

New way with an old beverage.

HOT BUTTERED APPLE JUICE

Butter
Rum or rum flavoring
Dark brown sugar
Apple juice

For each serving, in a heavy footed glass or a mug put ½ teaspoon butter, 2 tablespoons dark rum or ½ teaspoon rum flavoring and 1 to 3 teaspoons sugar; fill with hot apple juice; stir and serve at once.

Ideal Winter Fare Is Raisin Pudding

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Newsfeatures Food Editor

Less rich than plum pudding, although it's made with suet, this steamed raisin pudding is one of the most satisfying winter desserts.

If you can manage it, make up the pudding and steam it just before serving. This way the texture is wonderfully light. But if you do have to re-heat the dessert, you'll find it still utterly delicious though not quite so fluffy.

The lemon sauce that accompanies the pudding is thickened with flour, so don't expect the clear effect that such a sauce, made with cornstarch, achieves.

STEAMED RAISIN PUDDING

1¼ cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. each cinnamon and clove
1 egg
¾ cup sugar
2 tbsps. dark molasses
1 cup finely chopped suet
1¼ cups seedless raisins
¾ cup hot water

Sift together the flour, soda, salt and spices. Beat egg until thick and ivory colored; mix with sugar, molasses, suet and raisins (rinsed in hot water and drained). Stir in sifted dry ingredients, then hot water. Turn into buttered 1-quart mold. Place on rack in large kettle, having boiling water come up to half the depth of the mold. Replenish with boiling water, if necessary, during steaming period. Keep kettle covered and steam 1½ hours, having water bubble gently. Serve hot with Lemon Sauce.

LEMON SAUCE

5 tbsps. sugar
2½ tbsps. flour
1 tbsp. butter
2 cups boiling water
Grated rind and juice of 1 large lemon
Salt

Stir together thoroughly the sugar and flour in a 1-quart saucepan. Add butter. Gradually stir in boiling water. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened. Stir in lemon rind and juice and salt to taste. Serve hot.

Classy Cherry Rolls Add Special Touch To Dining

Here's an easy idea to dress up any eating occasion whether it be regular meals, a party or a late evening snack. These Classy Cherry Rolls add a "special-occasion" touch to any dining event especially that fancy breakfast for guests. They can be served individually, or heaped in a basket to form a conversation piece for your table. They're attractive, tasty and easy to make.

CLASSY CHERRY ROLLS

No. 303 (1 lb.) can water pack red cherries
½ cup sugar
3 tbsps. cornstarch
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. almond flavoring
1 pkg. hot roll mix
3 tbsps. soft butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 tbsps. cream

Combine the cherries, sugar, cornstarch and salt. Cook until the mixture is thick and clear, stirring constantly. Add the almond flavoring. Cool.

Prepare the hot roll mix according to package directions for rich dough. When the dough is ready for shaping, roll it to a 12 x 8-inch rectangle. Dot with a tablespoon of the butter; fold the dough. Repeat twice. Roll to about ¼-inch thickness. Cut into 2-inch rounds.

Place on greased baking sheets. Let rise in a warm place until light, about 30 minutes.

Press an indentation in center of each roll. Fill each with the cherry filling.

Bake in a moderate oven, 350 (degrees F.), for 15 to 18 minutes.

Make icing by combining confectioners' sugar and cream; drizzle over baked rolls.

Yield: 24 rolls.

Omit sugar if sweetened red cherries are used.

Chestnut Tip

To remove shell and brown skin from chestnuts, gash the nuts and boil about 15 minutes in water to cover.

Newest In Cookbooks Yield Data, Pleasure

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Our guess is that more cook books are published in this country than in any other, although England may run us a close second.

Right now there are dozens of new ones, on many aspects of food preparation, to chose among.

The following should yield a generous number of dishes worth making, some valuable information and a good deal of reading pleasure.

Any hostess who numbers epicures among her friends and wants to entertain them in the style they like to encounter, would do well to look into "Menus for Entertaining" by Juliette Elkon and Elaine Ross (Hastings House). From its charming jacket to its last page, this book is a wholehearted sharing of 400 carefully tested recipes. It's 72 party menus include breakfasts, brunches and lunches, picnic barbecue and patio meals; formal and informal dinners. Acquaintance with European cuisine and professional experience in this country as food consultants and cooking teachers have given these authors fine background from which to write, and Narcisse Chamberlain has done a splendid job of editing their material.

"Cooking for the Freezer" by Myra Waldo (Doubleday) has an attractive device. Recipes are presented double-duty fashion: each one tells how to prepare a dish so that half may be used at once and half be freezer-stored. Because the recipes are particularly suitable for company, cooks may have a rehearsal before guests come.

"Favorite Breads from Rose Lane Farm" by Ada Lou Roberts (Hearthside) will lure any cook who enjoys or wants to learn how to bake yeast breads. Because the author has full confidence in her recipes, she is most persuasive and offers some practical and homey asides. Convinced that ground ginger is a "yeast Improver" Mrs. Roberts uses the spice in her recipes. Interesting, if true! As yet we haven't had a chance to prove this notion.

"The New Cruising Cookbook" by Russell K. Jones and C. McKim Norton (Norton) may give summertime galley slaves helpful winter reading. All its recipes were tested under small-craft minimum-equipment conditions. The two gentlemen who cooked the dishes with some aid from their wives and wrote the recipes are worthy short-order chefs. Cooks we know who have never set foot off land used this book (in its first edition) successfully in their home kitchens. The present revised edition adds new recipes and information on up-to-date equipment for galley meals.

"In A Persian Kitchen" by Maideh Mazda (Tuttle) is so delightful that it could encourage a cook who never dreamed of preparing Near East dishes to rush to the range. The Persian-born author came to this country to study; she married an American and eventually worked out her recipes in her Washington, D.C., kitchen. The introductions to the rules provide an interesting glimpse into Persian food customs.

"100 to Dinner" by Elspeth Middleton, Muriel Ransom Carter and Albert Vierin (University of Toronto Press) was planned for clubs, camps, resorts, institutions, industrial plants and public dining places. It could be extremely valuable to women who prepare church or organization dinners because the recipes in this new edition have had thorough testing over a long period of time and are written explicitly.

Yams Share Spotlight With Ham

When cold weather calls forth huge appetites, it's time for substantial suppers with ham and yams, two foods just "made for each other." And you can buy fresh yams now; you'll recognize these belles of the vegetable bin by a distinctive coppery skin color. This year nature and science have produced a bountiful crop of this moist, stringless wonder of the vegetable world.

Serve baked ham with Pineapple Creamed Yams or Citrus Yams. For an exotic touch, try a ham 'n' yam curry.

PINEAPPLE CREAMED YAMS
(Makes 4 servings)

1 9-ounce can sliced pineapple
1¼ cups mashed cooked yams, or 1 can (1-pound) yams, drained and mashed ½ cup sour cream
Walnut halves

Drain pineapple; reserve ¼ cup syrup. Combine pineapple syrup, yams and sour cream; blend. Cut sliced pineapple in quarters; reserve 4 quarters.

Arrange pineapple in 4 buttered individual casseroles. Top with yam mixture, reserved pineapple quarters and walnuts.

Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees) 20 minutes.

For Snacks Try A Sandwich Roll

Good way to use leftover ham.

HAM SANDWICH ROLLS

6 soft oval rolls
1½ cups firmly - packed finely diced cooked ham
¼ cup mayonnaise
1-3 cup undrained sweet pickle relish

Rolls should be about 4 inches long. Cut a thin slice from top of each and scoop out bottom halves; fill with mixture of ham, mayonnaise and pickle relish; replace tops.

There will be about 1-3 cup of the ham mixture for each roll. Makes 6 servings.

For An Ideal Appetizer Try Shrimp Remoulade

Use homemade or prepared mayonnaise for this appetizer.

SHRIMP REMOULADE

1 cup mayonnaise
2 hard-cooked eggs (minced)
¼ cup minced pimiento-stuffed
1 tbsp. minced green pepper
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 small clove garlic (crushed)
1¼ lbs. shrimp

Mix mayonnaise with eggs, olives, green pepper, mustard, Worcestershire and garlic; chill to blend flavors.

Have shrimp cooked and shelled and deveined; cut in half lengthwise if medium-sized or larger and if desired. Serve shrimp with sauce; garnish with salad greens or parsley.

Makes 8 servings. Garlic may be omitted.

More Meat In 1961

More meat is in sight for you next year.

Facts gathered by the Agricultural Marketing Service point to supplies large enough to provide 165 pounds of meat per person next year, compared to an estimate of 161 pounds in 1960.

In 1956, the meat supply averaged almost 167 pounds per person, but that was the only year on record when there was more meat than you may look forward to in 1961.

More than half of the meat supply, and most of the increase over 1960, will be in beef, because ranchers and farmers have been building up their beef cattle herds for the past three years.

You should have an abundance of beef all year long, but of course, the biggest supply always comes during the fall months.

Pork supplies will run smaller during the early part of 1960 but by fall they should increase. So the total amount of pork for next year will be larger than the 1960 total.

Lamb and mutton supplies per person next year are expected to be about the same as this year, because sheep growers are increasing the size of their flocks at about the same rate population is increasing.

And what about meat prices? They'll be lower, on the average, says AMS. A bigger supply usually means lower prices.

You may expect to pay about the same number of dollars for meat during the year, but you should get more pounds of meat for what you spend—and it should take a smaller percentage of your family income, says AMS.

For After Holiday Supper Try This

For an after Christmas supper try this.

SOUTHERN TURKEY CHOWDER

1 quart turkey broth
1 can (10 to 11 ounces) condensed tomato soup
1 can (about 8 ounces) cream-style yellow corn
Salt and pepper

Heat broth, undiluted soup and corn slowly, stirring often. Add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Yams Shine At Mealtime

Drenched with the gold of southern sunshine, yams set meals a-glow on drab winter evenings. Ham, baked, sliced or diced, is a perfect supper partner to a glamorous vegetable whose vivid orange hue proclaims its vitamin A content.

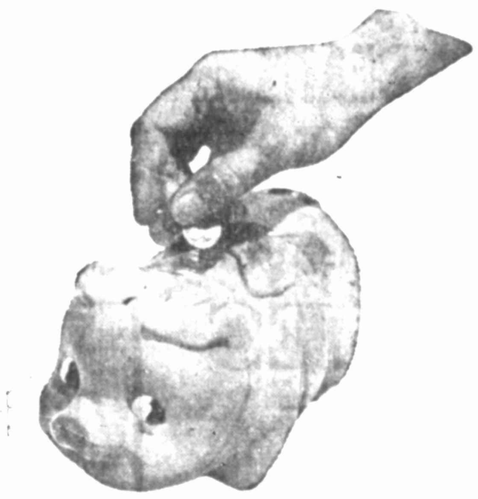

HAM 'N' YAMS WITH GRAPEFRUIT
(Makes 4 servings)

4 large slices cooked ham
1 can (13½ ozs.) frozen grapefruit sections, thawed
1 can (1-lb.) yams, drained, or 4 medium-sized yams, cooked, peeled and halved
1-3 cup firmly-packed brown sugar

Arrange half of ham in shallow baking dish. Top with grapefruit and yams.

Sprinkle with brown sugar. Top with remaining ham. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes.

A Devotional For Today

(Jesus) needed not that any should testify of man: for he knew what was in man. (John 2:25.)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank Thee for the Christ who is always beyond us. We rejoice that He is always calling us to heights we cannot reach but cannot rest from striving to attain. Keep us true to Him. In His name we pray. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Walking On Egg Shells

A British scientist-writer has sounded a prediction with somber overtones. Within six years or less a dozen nations, including China, will have A-bombs and H-bombs, says Sir Charles Percy Snow.

He goes on to cite the statistical peril of such a condition. With this many nations tinkering with the terrible power of these instruments, the likelihood of nuclear accident is going to increase sharply. Judging from the irresponsible actions of some, there is no telling whether they will realize the tremendous obligations of trusteeship they have assumed with the compounding of the bombs.

Snow goes on to say that it won't make much difference whether a bomb is discharged by accident or by design—it could easily be a cataclysmic trigger.

He advocates a cessation of nuclear testing as a token beginning to nuclear disarmament.

"On the one side, therefore, we have a finite risk. On the other side we have a certainty of disaster. Between a risk and a certainty, a sane man does not hesitate," he said. "It is the plain duty of scientists to explain this either-or. It is a duty which seems to me to come from the moral nature of the scientific activity itself."

You can agree or not agree with Snow, but he has put his finger on a hard fact—we are walking on an increasing bed of egg shells. Facing this problem realistically will become imperative unless we accede to the inevitable statistics of chance.

Texan In A Key Spot

Texas, already with a vice president, also will have a secretary of the Navy in the new administration.

John F. Kennedy announced Tuesday that John B. Connally Jr., Fort Worth attorney and business man, had been tapped to head the Navy department. By coincidence, it was another Texan, Robert Anderson, now secretary of the Treasruy, who entered the Cabinet as secretary of Navy under President Eisenhower.

Connally, had he been better known on a statewide level, likely would have been urged to become a candidate for the post Sen. Lyndon Johnson vacates prior to becoming vice president. Although largely a behind-the-scenes volunteer, he has been active in practical politics. He managed the 1948 campaign of Sen. Johnson and directed the senator's unsuccessful bid for the Democratic nomination at last summer's national convention. It is not difficult to imagine that the vice president-elect had some helpful words to say in behalf of the Connally appointment.

John Connally fits into the Kennedy pattern of young men possessing a good degree of seasoning, intellectual sharpness, executive ability and geared to the practical side of public administration. With these atributes, Connally will carry a devotion to his branch of service, for he was decorated during his World War II career.

I ALWAYS WORK HOLIDAYS

Around The Rim

Lady, Did You Make It?

Lady, did you make it? Or, were you one of the statistics that piled up on Christmas Day?

You scared me the first time I saw you. I was driving north on U.S. 87 about 30 miles north of Big Spring. As I remember, my speedometer read 50.

Then I saw you coming. One minute the rear view mirror was empty and the next minute I saw you coming. I don't know how fast, but it must have been at least 85 or 90. As you got closer, I began to worry a bit that you could see me.

The road was reasonably clear, but as you got closer we were meeting a string of cars. But you didn't slow down, just kept on coming up—fast.

There wasn't enough time for you to get around my car without hitting someone head-on. But you didn't slow down.

You started around anyway and then forced my car into the ditch to keep from hitting an oncoming car.

I'M GLAD I ONCE drove a hot rod racer as a teen-ager. That experience probably saved the lives of my good wife Joyce and I. I was able to keep control of the car off there on the soft shoulder, but it could have been tragic.

Then you vanished in the distance at the same speed with which you had caught and passed us.

I don't know where you were going. And I wonder if you got there.

What was waiting for you at the end of that daredevil drive north on U.S. 87? Was it a Christmas party or a funeral service?

EVEN IF YOU DID make it, was it worth risking your life and the lives of others to make it? How many other cars along that holiday packed highway did you force into the ditch or narrowly miss?

Later, we passed a wreck along the road. Ambulance attendants carried broken and torn bodies away amid screaming sirens and flashing red lights. I couldn't help but remember your careless driving.

Were you driving one of those torn and twisted masses of machinery scattered along the road? What about the other driver? Was it just someone trying to make a safe Christmas visit but was hit by a speeding, reckless driver?

I DIDN'T SEE your license number. I tried to see it but I was too busy trying to save our own lives as you faded into the dusk. I wish I could have recorded it. I would like to write you this letter and ask you why you were driving like that. I would like to ask what could possibly have been so important that your own life was unimportant as well as the lives of others.

I'm just downright curious: "Lady, did you make it?"

Bright Spotlight On Bobby Kennedy

WASHINGTON — The question is not whether Robert Kennedy will make a good Attorney General. Young as he is, his capacities have been amply demonstrated in one of the most difficult and demanding assignments of recent years when, as general counsel to the McClellan investigating committee, he began the disclosure of corrupt unionism.

The question is whether, as the President's brother, he will have been put in a position that is all but impossible. The microscope of political Washington will be fixed on him from the first day that he steps into the Department of Justice. Caesar's brother must be even more austerely above suspicion than Caesar's wife.

ON THE WHOLE the criticism from responsible sources over the appointment has been restrained. But the drumfire of attack has already begun. It comes from those who are not waiting for the administration to be installed to try to discredit it.

The report has been printed that local officials in Lake County, Indiana, adjoining Chicago, who were shown to have taken gifts from the pinball - slot machine ring, were not called before the McClellan committee. Later these same officials appeared with John F. Kennedy at a rally during the campaign, and Lake County, which is a steel center, went for the Democratic candidate by 54,000 votes.

THIS IS A SAMPLE of what is likely to come. The McClellan committee investigators say that the Democratic boss of Lake County, Metro Holovachka, was exposed and removed as District Attorney after it was shown that he had been receiving from $60,000 to $80,000 a year above his official salary. The others were minor figures with only an incidental connection with the ring.

There were four Republican Senators on the McClellan committee and for much of the time there was a Republican counsel. They were all trying their best to catch Kennedy up. And their most determined efforts — in the inquiry into the Kohler strike — came to very little. That, say Robert Kennedy's champions, should be a sufficient answer for all except those who are bound to find dirt whether it exists or not.

BUT IT SERVES to illustrate how, in his new role in the Cabinet, the young Kennedy must completely divorce himself from politics and, above all, from the politics of 1964. The slightest misstep, readily forgiven or even ignored from another appointee, will be immediately seized upon.

The Department of Justice is probably more than any other Cabinet post the focus of political pressures, since it is the seat of power from which important favors can be dispensed. A tax case can be suppressed. Parole can be used to free a prisoner with the right political connections. The selection of Federal judges is a power for good or ill. The troubled question of civil rights and civil liberties stirs deep political repercussions.

PRESIDENTS in the past have been troubled by reports of scandal in the Justice Department. One of Harry Truman's Attorney Generals, Tom Clark, approved the parole of Chicago gangsters and sent a shock wave through the legal community. Repeated efforts by Sen. Kenneth Keating, then head of a House judiciary investigating committee, to get Justice Clark to testify about happenings in the department failed.

Again, the department has been an example of legal wisdom, courage and integrity. One Attorney General who set those standards was the late Harlan Fiske Stone, who later became Chief Justice.

A SECOND OFFICER in the Justice Department, the Solicitor General, in effect, the government's trial lawyer before the Supreme Court, has at times in the past been a principal upholder of the highest legal tradition. President - elect Kennedy asked Prof. Paul Freund of the Harvard Law School, a former St. Louisan and one of today's great scholars of the law, to take this post. But Freund felt compelled to decline because, among his other obligations, he is directing the work on an eight - volume history of the Supreme Court. Another Harvard law professor, Archibald Cox, head of the Kennedy brain trust in the campaign, seems likely to get the post.

THE PRESENT Attorney General, William P. Rogers, has kept politics out of the department. He has not intefered with the findings of his professional Parole Board. His recommendations for the judiciary have met the standards set by the American Bar Association. At times he crossed influential Republican Senators, including the late Sen. Robert A. Taft, in refusing to name a particular candidate to a judgeship or to the office of United States District Attorney.

This is the standard against which the new Attorney General will be judged. If he succeeds he will have overcome an initial handicap such as has been imposed on few men in high office. The test will come in 1964. If the Justice Department has earned such high marks that it does not figure in charges and countercharges in that Presidential election, then Kennedy will have won his letter several times over.

Kennedy's Aware Of Public Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy shows all the signs of being highly conscious of public relations and, perhaps, public reaction.

Whether this will affect his presidency by deterring him from some step which may create adverse public reaction remains to be seen.

One example of his awareness of public relations, particularly in timing and maximum publicity, is the way he announced his top appointments.

Another is his willingness to have his news conferences broadcast by television and radio while he's holding them.

Here's another. A woman reporter asked him a question and identified herself and her organization.

INSTANTLY HE TOLD her a story carried by her publication was inaccurate and he would have to look into it before dealing with her further.

Here's another. At the time his new son was born he was walking through the corridor of the hospital when he spotted a reporter from a national magazine. He offered congratulations on a story it had carried.

So he's either personally keeping abreast of what's being written or he's made it his business to be kept well informed and up to date by his aides.

This is in contrast to President Eisenhower who once publicly said he did not do a lot of newspaper reading.

There is also a contrast between the two men in the way they publicly handled their Cabinet appointments.

Eisenhower, after winning the 1952 election, announced the selection of his nine-man Cabinet two and three members at a time.

This meant that in a relatively few days the complete Cabinet selection had been reported in the press. And Eisenhower acted fast.

He made his first announcement by Nov. 20, 1952 and was finished by Dec. 1.

KENNEDY TOOK his time. His associates let it be known he was seeking the best advice he could find before reaching decisions.

He didn't announce his first Cabinet appointment — Connecticutt's Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff as secretary of health, education and welfare—until Dec. 1.

But because of the way he handled all this, each appointment — by being the only one on a given day—got the maximum publicity in the press and on TV and radio.

The Trouble With Getting Rich

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Millions of Americans will probably write as their biggest resolution of 1961—"I will become a success."

Millions probably made the same stern resolve a year ago.

What happened? Most of those who sought success failed to attain it.

The reason why is hard to figure—particularly if, as we can probably assume in most cases, success is defined as the acquirement of more money.

There is no great secret about this. Almost unanimously those who have achieved wealth by their own efforts say they did so by a single means—concentrated hard work, intense application of their energy to the simple goal of making more money.

This is true in any field. It takes more than a gun and raw courage, for example, to become a successful bank robber. It takes endless hours of planning, study and rehearsal. It takes personal ability of a high order to assemble a staff of trained and dependable associates.

Even in his day, Jesse James had to learn to ride a horse. No, successful bank robbing is not for the idle dreamer.

Nor is success in any other avenue of endeavor. Even Jacques Casanova, the world's greatest tattle-tale lover, had to climb hundreds of trellises to hundreds of balconies to win undying fame. It wasn't easy.

Hard work as a means of success, however, has never been a popular recipe with the masses. They cling to the superstition there is an easier way.

There is. In fact, there are two. 1. Marry the boss' daughter—if he has no sons to leave his business to.

2. Inherit money.

But since there is a shortage of bosses with marriageable daughters, and few doting old aunts with fat bank accounts, many seek still a third easy magic formula.

The literary market is flooded with books giving so-called inside tips on how to achieve success.

In most cases these self-help books don't actually make one a success. But if read in bed at night, they sometimes provide a remarkable cure for insomnia—thus giving one more strength to daydream at the office on the job during the day.

Most of such books are aimed at low-paid workers who are sure that if they had lots of money they would have lots of happiness.

We have figured out our own ingenious way to quick wealth. It involves some work—but not too much.

We are going to write a "how to" book aimed solely at wealthy people whom the world recognizes as self-made successes.

Practically every such person we have met has an inner sorrow. Success hasn't been the bonfire of happiness he expected.

"There isn't much fun at the top," he says. "I had more fun when I was struggling up the ladder."

Such prosperous failures are desperately in need of help if they are ever to find real success. We intend to provide it.

The title of our book will be, "How to get rid of your money and be poor and happy again through a positive mental attitude."

There is only one hitch. So far we haven't been able to find a publisher.

Ophthalmologist Treats, Prescribes For Eyes

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you give me information on the progress and treatment of cataracts."

"I have had them in both eyes for more than three years. Do you recommend an oculist or an optometrist?—G.A.D."

I'm glad you asked that.

When I was somewhat younger, the term "oculist" was quite common. It is still used, for that matter, in some books published within the last year, but the word itself is becoming rarer. But I'm getting ahead of your questions.

A cataract is a cloudiness which occurs in the lens of the eye itself. At first it is hardly noticeable. As the cloudiness becomes more dense, it interferes with the rays of light entering the eye, and sight becomes dimmer.

When the cataract, or cloudiness, reaches a certain stage, which is known as becoming "ripe" or "mature," it can be removed by an eye surgeon. After that, light rays again can get through. With the addition of suitable eyeglasses, to make up for the removed lens, the patient again can see clearly.

It is neither necessary nor wise to remove cataracts before they are "ripe." It likewise is not a good idea to let them go too long. This isn't a sudden thing. There can be a variation of months, usually, between the time of being "ripe enough and being "too ripe."

But there's nothing to be gained by delay, once the cataract is ready. Furthermore, cataracts may not develop at the same rate in each eye. The doctor tries to arrange the timing so that one eye will be restored to usefulness before the other fails too much.

Now as to whom to consult: As I said, the term oculist is less often used these days. The preferred term is ophthalmologist—that is, a doctor who has had specialized training in care of the eyes.

An optometrist has quite another purpose. He is not a physician. He is concerned with the proper fitting of glasses so they correct blurring from nearsightedness, farsightedness or astigmatism.

It is true that conscientious optometrists are very helpful in urging people to go to ophthalmologists if they detect any suspicious signs of ailments in the eyes—cataracts, or any others. But the optometrists do not treat such disorders.

For cataracts, or for any eye ailments, go to an ophthalmologist. He is the only one qualified to use drugs or medications, do surgery, etc.

Naturally the ophthalmologist also will determine whether you need glasses and provide a prescription showing exactly what lenses you need, after which an optometrist can prepare the glasses for you.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is shortness of breath and a pain in the chest a sign of heart trouble?
—Mrs. J.C.N."

Maybe, maybe not. It's like asking whether a pain in the head is a sign of a headache or a sign of a tumor of the brain. There is only one sensible answer. Tell your physician about the pain, and by testing in various ways he'll soon find out whether it is serious or not. If I knew any other answer, I would give it to you, but that's the only one.

* * *

NOTE TO H.B.M.: Sciatica, my friend, is pain associated with the sciatic nerve — neuralgia, if you please. But what causes it? The nerve being pinched, or some infection along the nerve, or the like. So the best I can do is to suggest that your own doctor advise you, since I have no ways of guessing what may cause any difficulty in this nerve in your case.

Dr. Molner is delighted to receive letters from his readers, but regrets that because of the great number received daily he cannot answer them individually. Whenever possible, Dr. Molner uses readers' questions in his column.

Communist Infiltration Increasing

WASHINGTON — Not only are there more Communist spies in the world today than ever before, according to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, but the infiltration by Communist agitators in this country is increasing.

Many people have been pooh-poohing the Communist menace and unwittingly helping the cause of communism in this country. The theory that communism is just a "belief," or the doctrine of a political party which happens to differ with other political parties, is being widely accepted — even by the majority of the justices of the Supreme Court of the United States — but the truth is that it is a political organization which is financed, directed, assisted and engineered by a foreign government which is hostile to the United States.

THE TENDENCY to regard the "cold war" as of secondary importance and as permitting open tolerance of a Communist party is one of the biggest factors in the present situation. A "cold war" is hardly different from a "hot war" in requiring 100 per cent alertness against the enemy.

Lately there has been a drive on to cripple the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee — the only two congressional groups which constantly expose to public view Communist operations inside the United States. The agitation to abolish the House committee has had the assistance of gullible Americans who think they are merely fighting for the cause of "free speech." But FBI Director Hoover says:

"THE COMMUNISTS hope to repeat the success which they achieved on the West Coast last May in spearheading mob demonstrations by college students and other young people against a committee of Congress."

The FBI director not only warns against Communist infiltration of the youth movements in this country — as has happened in other countries — but, in recent articles that appeared in "Christianity Today," he points out how the Communists are trying hard to infiltrate American churches. He writes:

"From bases behind the Iron Curtain and in the non - Communist world," this cloud of Communist propaganda is drenching many lands, with a particularly heavy fall - out in this nation.

THE DEADLIEST of these Communist missiles — whose warheads are exceptionally heavy — are being directed against the Christian pulpit. Communists gunners, with special ideological training and schooled in atheistic perversity, are 'slighting in' the clergy — hoping to shatter, immobilize, and confuse this powerful forum of idealism, morality, and civic virtue. No assignment is more strategic in the Communist world today than the disruption of the church of God—both within and outside the Iron Curtain . . .

"THE COMMUNIST party, through infiltration tactics is attempting to reach inside the churches. In one instance, a Communist official instructed party members to join churches and become active in their organizations. Another member was working in the church office, while still another party official helped conduct the financial affairs of his parish. Most important, of course, is the youth field. A national party leader recently commented that Communist youth must find 'common ground' with church youth groups, 'not only for ideological reasons but also for the use of their facilities'."

Mr. Hoover says that the Communist tactic is to get clergymen or laymen to sign Communist - sponsored petitions which favor Communist objectives while cleverly hiding the Communist inspiration.

"TO THE COMMUNISTS, any support gained from church circles enables them to break down the moral antipathy of the community and gives them a desperately desired 'respectability.' Hence this strategy of Communist deceit is aimed to undermine, hoodwink, and exploit the Christian pulpit."

Mr. Hoover wrote three articles for "Christianity Today," a publication which circulates widely among churchmen. He outlined in detail the methods by which the Communists try to infiltrate the clergy. He does not accuse any clergyman of being indentified with the Communist cause, but merely warns against the tactics that are used to deceive the gullible.

A Risky Committee Spot

WASHINGTON — One indication of change in political climate is the fact that we have a new Congress coming to town and the committee marked for attack is the House Rules Committee—and not the Un-American Activities Committee.

This is a sign of how much the stress has shifted from Communist infiltration to civil rights and domestic welfare. The liberal press and politicos still dislike the Un-American Activities Committee, and its Senate counterpart called Internal Security—but these congressional groups are stronger, better run, and have more public acceptance than in the past. The last member of Un-American Activities to be defeated at the polls, on the issue of the committee, was Kit Clardy of Michigan, back in 1954.

BUT IT WON'T do to suppose that peace has been established between liberals and the Red hunters. Not long ago I was on a panel at the University of Maryland for the viewing and discussion of "Operation Abolition," a film by the committee on Communist attempts to destroy the committee. Another panelist was an embittered member (who was also a paid lobbyist) of the American Civil Liberties Union. As part of his attack, this man told the students that it is politically dangerous for fellow congressmen to criticize or discipline the committee.

THIS IS SUCH a pernicious falsehood that I tried to refute it in my remarks—and return to it now in my column. If there is any such thing as political danger, it does not lie in opposing the committee, but in belonging to it. Congressmen like James Roosevelt, newspapers like the Washington Post, and certain columnists much richer than this one, have almost made a career of beating on the committee—and have profited by the act. On the other hand, members and staff employes of the committee suffer the risks and losses.

MARTIN DIES of Texas, the first chairman, was made a household name of infamy by his detractors, and was virtually driven into retirement. He later returned to the House, but was defeated in a try for the Senate.

Another chairman, Harold Velde, a quiet and inoffensive man, was terribly villified in print and retired from office in 1956. J. Parnell Thomas, a chairman in the 80th Congress, was brutally assailed for his work (which was, in truth, pretty heavy-handed) and later exposed by Columnist Drew Pearson in a kickback scandal, tried and convicted. Thomas essayed a vindication come-back but got nowhere.

IRONICALLY, the committee's most celebrated and important job, the Alger Hiss case, marked the time of highest peril to its members. True, Richard Nixon and Karl Mundt mounted to the Senate on the wings of the Un-American Activities labors, but others had a different experience. John McDowell of Pennsylvania, a member of the Hiss panel, was defeated for re-election in 1948, the year of the "red herring." McDowell's friends always felt that he lost because he stayed in Washington on committee business instead of running scared. He later took his own life.

Richard Vail of Illinois was beaten twice, in 1948 and '52, with the committee as the issue. John McSweeney of Ohio was knocked off in 1950 for the same reason.

TWO OTHER MEMBERS were removed from the committee by the Democratic command. The House leadership got rid of John Rankin of Mississippi in 1949 by ruling that nobody (but Rankin was the target) could hold the chairmanship of one committee (Veterans Affairs in his case) and membership on another. Ed Hebert of Louisiana angered the reigning Democrats by his persistence in the Hiss case. A ripper resolution in 1949 was rammed through the Democratic caucus to the effect that nobody (but Hebert was the target) not a lawyer could sit on Un-American Activities.

Times have changed, and the general public as well as the political leadership now accepts the committee as a good thing—but only after many good men have risked their careers to prove it.

Finch Attorney Is Due Surgery

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Attorney Grant Cooper is due in the hospital Jan. 8 for long deferred surgery and will not personally represent Dr. R. Bernard Finch in the latter's third trial on a murder charge.

The lawyer who appeared for Finch in both the earlier trials said Wednesday his associate, Maxwell Keith, will be counsel for the physician accused of fatally shooting his socialite wife, Barbara Jean, 36, in July 1959.

Charged with Finch, 42, is his former mistress, Carole Tregoff, 24. Their third trial opens Jan. 3. In the previous two the juries deadlocked.

Economics Adviser

John F. Kennedy, President-elect, gestures as he answers questions from reporters after announcing the appointment of Dr. Walter H. Heller, 45, of St. Paul, Minn., at a press conference in Palm Beach. Dr. Heller, who heads the economics department at the University of Minnesota, will head up the chairmanship for the Council of Economics Advisers in the new administration.

Miss Saint's Unsaintly Word Will Follow Her 'Forever'

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A few months after Eva Marie Saint stunned the annual Screen Producers Guild dinner with that unsaintly four-letter word, the blonde actress went to Israel.

She tells this story: "One night about dusk my husband—Director Jeff Hayden—and I drove out to Caesarea—the ruins of the ancient seaport built by Herod the Great more than 2,000 years ago. We were all alone. I felt I was at the end of the world.

"I felt insignificant standing there amid those ruins of the once-powerful Roman Empire. Then another car drove up. A woman tourist got out and headed straight for me without even glancing at the history before her.

"'Miss Saint,' she said, 'I want to congratulate you for saying what a lot of us have felt at those stuffy banquets.'"

Eva said she then realized that her utterance that night would follow her forever.

Eva is known for her ladylike behavior both on and off the screen. Friends say that, with the one exception, they've never known her to use naughty language.

Why, then, did she do so before the biggest names in the movie industry?

"I was embarrassed," she says. "Jack Benny meant no harm in giving me the flowery introduction he did, saying how nice I was, how ethereal.

"I felt that no one but Joan of Arc could live up to such an introducton. It embarrassed me because I felt people were making fun of the way we live here.

"Finally, I got so embarrassed that I just got up to the microphone and the word came out before I realized it. I'm sorry."

Crosby Loses Paternity Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bing Crosby's son Dennis has been declared the father of a girl born out of wedlock three years ago to a Hollywood divorcee.

"Well, I expected it," said the son of the famous singer after the 9-3 verdict was returned Wednesday in Superior Court.

"We've won, honey," rejoiced Marilyn Miller Scott, picking up her daughter, Denise, the girl whose paternity was at issue.

"We've won, we've won," responded Denise, who was in the courtroom throughout the week-long trial.

Seven women and two men on the jury, composed entirely of parents, found that the prematurely bald Crosby fathered the girl at Mrs. Scott's apartment in February of 1957. Since this was a civil and not a criminal action, a unanimous verdict was not required.

Crosby, 26, and Mrs. Scott, 28, were instructed to return to court Tuesday. At that time the court could determine the amount Crosby will have to pay for the child's support. But this could be delayed by an appeal.

Crosby, now married to former showgirl Pat Sheehan, testified he was intimate with Mrs. Scott but could not remember details because he was intoxicated. Crosby said he had 16 to 20 drinks on the night in question. A medical expert called by Crosby's attorneys said Crosby could not have fathered the child if he had drunk as much as he said.

Two other witnesses called by the defense said two other men were intimate with Mrs. Scott during February, 1957, but Mrs. Scott denied knowing either of them.

Dennis never admitted paternity but said he gave Mrs. Scott $500 when she approached him and told him of her condition. He said he later agreed to a private arrangement under which he would pay her $300 a month. When she brought suit, he was ordered to pay $350 monthly pending trial.

Crosby and his wife have one child and are expecting another. He has adopted her 9-year-old son by a previous marriage.

CINEMA COMMENT

By Bob Smith

"The Three Worlds of Gulliver" include only two of fantastic import, the third being the one we all know, the one we'd all like to flee at times.

This is one of the themes in the re-written story of Gulliver in the film now showing at the Ritz Theatre. Gulliver doesn't like this world, so he ends up a giant among the Lilliputians, only to learn that some of the things he didn't like about his own world are even worse with small people.

He also goes to a land of giants, and there's no big improvement—other factors he dislikes in his own world loom larger where men are larger. Mere size doesn't change human nature one whit.

Jonathan Swift, in penning the story of Gulliver, aimed more at lampooning his own culture than at preaching, and he had little of romantic interest, but Hollywood fixed all that.

The film version is really rather entertaining, however, in its own way. And the camera effects are amazing. The technique used here is basically that developed for "King Kong" many years ago, but there has been a decided improvement. It gives one the feeling he really is watching a giant among pygmies.

Charges Planned Against Bomber

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Additional charges will be filed today against Richard Pavlick, facing federal prosecution for planning to bomb President-elect John F. Kennedy.

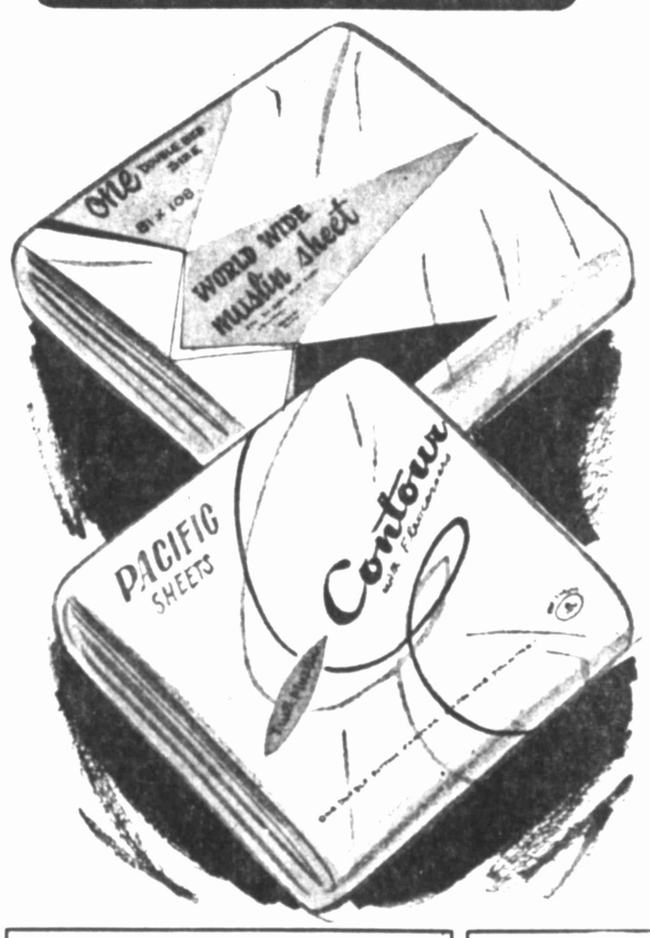

Palm Beach County Solicitor Joel Daves said county charges were contemplated as a precautionary measure to hold Pavlick if the Belmont, N. H., ex-postal clerk wins freedom in federal courts.
