Largest Mass Walkout Since War Is Noted

Food Shortage Is Protested; U.S. Trains Stormed

(By The Associated Press)

MUNICH, Germany, Jan. 23 — Most of Bavaria was paralyzed today by a general strike of up to 1,000,000 workers. They were called out by union leaders to protest food shortages.

The strike started at midnight and was to last 24 hours. Indications in many areas were that it would continue through Saturday and Sunday. It was the largest mass labor walkout in Germany since the war.

No Violence Reported

No violence was reported by early afternoon in any major cities —Munich, Nuernberg, Wuerzburg, Augsburg, Passau, Coburg or Hof. Strikers occasionally were rough with small stores which stayed open in two areas, but generally the Bavarians used the strike as a day of rest.

Some 90,000 Munich workers demonstrated here in Adolf Hitler's old parade grounds, marching with red banners demanding "liberty," U. S. military government observers said Communist elements took part.

Hundreds of angry German commuters stormed U. S. military trains trying to get to work. Rail authorities finally put on emergency trains.

Communications and industrial plants in 26 cities and scores of towns were idle. The strike call had excluded workers for the military government and military establishments, switchboard operators, police employes and workers in hospitals.

Food To Be Increased

Lawrence Wilkinson, director of the U. S. military government economic division, said in a broadcast last night that $750,000,000 worth of food, will be imported at the expense of the U. S. and British governments into the two western zones this year. This marked a 50 per cent increase over last year and an expense to the United States alone of $600,000,000.

The strike, called by the Bavarian Trade Union and supported by the Communists, began in Munich at midnight when employes of street car lines and German railways walked off their jobs.

Communist elements in Bavaria have been quick to take advantage of the walkout, which affects all trade union members except those working for public services and the American military government.

There were indications that the strike might continue through Saturday, since some workers greeted the walkout as a "fine three-day holiday."

Trouble Is Feared

Further trouble was feared in Nuernberg, where 100,000 workers ended a 24-hour strike yesterday. Similar strikes have affected 100,000 in Cologne and another

Gas Shortage Facing Nation

Rationing And Price Control Are Predicted

Greater Output Of Fuel Oil Sought To Heat Homes

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Petroleum industry leaders warned today that a gasoline shortage next summer may be the price the nation will have to pay for getting enough heating oil this winter.

The National Petroleum Council recommended last night that the industry sacrifice gasoline production to increase fuel oil output for 60 days, and dig into crude oil inventories that might have gone for gasoline stockpiles.

Create Future Shortages

The 85-member industry advisory committee said today it recognized the recommendations "as creating future shortages of gasoline."

But the council believes "it is in the public interest to exert still greater effort toward meeting home heating requirements rather than meeting gasoline requirements."

In the interests of equitable distribution, the council also asked that household and industrial consumers limit their fuel on hand to a two-week supply and that even shortage areas take no more than a 30 day supply.

To help emergency areas and relieve transportation bottlenecks the council proposed a seven-day work week for tank car loading crews for the next two months.

Rationing Envisioned

Meanwhile, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug said he believes price and rationing controls will have to be slapped on oil next winter. It's too late to do it this year, he told a congressional committee.

The petroleum council joined Krug in urging a 15 per cent reduction in fuel oil and gasoline consumption, and a temporary end to conversions from coal to oil heat. When other types of heat are available, the council said, homeowners should use them.

Max Ball, head of the Interior department's oil and gas division, said the industry plan "will go as far as human effort can now go" to relieve the heating oil shortage.

The plan goes now to Attorney General Tom Clark who must approve it in the light of anti-trust

Mystery Seen In Illness Of Film Actress

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23 (AP) — Kay Francis, the actress, became seriously ill under mysterious circumstances today and her stage manager, Howard Graham, 37, was booked at police headquarters "for investigation of assault to kill."

Miss Francis and Graham were here with the stage production, "State of the Union."

Is Still Unconscious

Miss Francis was removed early today from her hotel to White Cross hospital, which described her condition as "just fair." She was still unconscious several hours after her arrival there.

Police said Graham, taken into custody at the hospital, asserted Miss Francis summoned him to her hotel room and said she had taken some sleeping tablets. She had been severely burned, he added, when she fell against a radiator.

Evidence Of Wild Party

Detective Karl Hanna and Police Sgt. Carl Clifton said they found evidence of a "wild party" in the hotel room.

Dr. M. Russoff, a specialist in internal medicine who attended the 43-year-old star of the screen and stage, declined to identify the nature of her illness.

Officer Clifton said Graham refused to submit to a uninalysis to determine whether he had been drinking and quoted him as adding:

"I'm not doing anything."

"You're not on the stage now," Clifton told Graham. 'You're in jail."

'You can conduct your own investigation," he said Graham replied.

Graham then was taken to be booked for investigation.

Surprise Is Expressed

William Blair, company manager for "State of the Union," expressed surprise at police detention of Graham.

"I can't see why they are hold-

Arctic Blasts Sweep Texas

Blizzard Roars On

Temperatures Are Far Below Zero

(By The United Press)

A steady stream of cold air from the Arctic pushed the nation's latest cold wave across the entire eastern section of the country from the Rocky mountains to the Atlantic coast today.

Temperatures sank far below zero in the midwest, setting new lows for this winter at many points.

The new onslaught came as many families in northern sections huddled over coal or wood stoves they set up hastily when they ran out of fuel oil for their heaters and furnaces. Many industrial plants found their gas supplies curtailed in the face of a serious shortage.

Will Sink Lower

Weather forecasters predicted that the mercury would sink to 40 below zero in parts of Minnesota and the Dakotas.

At midnight it was 31 below at Pembina, and Grand Forks, N. D. Fargo reported 30 below, Aberdeen, S. D., 27 below and Willmar, Minn., 25 below.

H. L. Jacobson, forecaster at the Chicago weather bureau, said the extreme cold appeared due to last through the week-end.

"The constant flow of cold from Canada is engulfing the entire eastern part of the nation," he said. "The southern edge is creeping toward the Gulf coast and the Carolinas with nothing in the way of warm air masses or south winds to stop it."

Worst Of Season

The mercury was expected to drop to 14 above zero at Atlanta, Ga.

Jacobson said the "core" of the cold wave, now the most prolonged of the season, appeared to center in the Red river section of Minnesota and North Dakota.

The number of deaths attributed directly or indirectly to the siege of cold weather during the past 10 days rose to 94 today with 75 persons dead in fires caused by overheated stoves, 16 frozen to death and two dead of over-exer-

Fear Is Felt Russians Will Get A-Bombs

Churchill Warns Now Is Time To Seek Agreement

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 23 — Winston Churchill declared today western Europe must unite quickly and demand a showdown with Moscow before the Russians develop atomic weapons, possibly in a year or so.

"I believe the best chance of preventing war is to bring matters to a head and come to a settlement with the Soviet government before it is too late," Churchill told the House of Commons.

Very Grave Dangers

"You may be sure the present situation cannot last. There are very grave dangers in letting everything run on and pile up until something happens and the matter passes all of a sudden out of your control."

The conservative party leader endorsed the labor government's proposal for unification of western Europe as a barrier to the spread of Communism. But he appealed to his political opponents to rise above party in fostering the plan:

"In trying to make a United Socialist Europe, you are on the same level as trying to make a United Communist Europe."

Chances Better Now

Chances for reaching an agreement with Russia are better now than "if we waited until the Soviet government had got their atomic weapons developed," he said.

Churchill recalled that when the present Parliament convened he predicted Russia would have the atom bomb in "three or four years." Now "two years have already elapsed."

Churchill appeared fully recovered from his recent illness. He spoke 45 minutes in a firm, clear voice and his sallies kept the House alert.

Should Seek Unity

In urging a common approach to Russia, Churchill said the western Democracies should seek unity among themselves "at the earliest possible moment," then take the initiative in seeking a

Colder Weather Is Forecast For Area

Snow Blankets South Plains; Mercury Is Expected To Drop To Around 10 Degrees

Snow was melting as the sun shone on the South Plains today, but temperature remained below freezing early this afternoon and a minimum of 10 to 13 degrees was forecast for early Saturday morning. Thursday night the arctice blast which had moved across this area had covered the state by mid-morning today, bringing snow to widely scattered points. As late as 12:30 o'clock this afternoon snow was falling at Fort Stockton, Rock Springs, Beaumont, Houston and Galveston. Light snow and sleet had started as far south as Lake Charles, La. About two inches snow already had fallen at Alexandria, La., and snow still was falling heavily. No snow was reported falling in West Texas at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon and little in New Mexico except in the southeastern part, reports received by the U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock showed.

The Associated Press reported the norther moved in through the Panhandle faster than had been anticipated, weather authorities said, and sped across Texas. It struck Houston about dawn today with 35-mile an hour winds accompanied by sleet, hail and rain. By 10:30 a. m. the temperature there was 38 and a 26 low was predicted there for tonight.

The cold blast which came over Lubbock at 9:45 p. m. Thursday night had followed a comparatively mild cold front which had arrived shortly before noon Thursday and had brought the principal effect of wind gusts reaching 48 miles an hour and sustained wind velocities as high as 38 miles an hour.

Snow Follows Rain

After arrival of the second cold front, light rain began falling at 10:40 p. m., followed by snow which ceased shortly after 3 o'clock this morning in Lubbock.

Snowfall totaled about one-half inch, with liquid precipitation measured at .05 inch, the weather station north of Lubbock reported this morning.

Lubbock minimum temperature was 20 degrees, recorded at 7:30 and 8:30 a. m., and was higher than the expected 12 degrees min-

General Reveals His Reasons For Keeping Silent

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—General Dwight D. Eisenhower said flatly today: "I am not available for and could not accept nomination to high political office."

The army chief of staff's statement referred to entry of his name in the New Hampshire presidential primary March 9.

"Ike" wrote Leonard V. Finder, publisher of the Manchester Union-Leader, that for two reasons he had heretofore "refrained from making the bald statement that I would not accept nomination."

Smack Of Effrontery

The first, Eisenhower said, was that such an expression would "smack of effrontery."

A second and deeper reason, the general added, was a "persistent doubt that I could phrase a flat refusal without appearing to violate that concept of duty to country which calls upon every good citizen to place no limitations upon his readiness to serve in any designated capacity."

Eisenhower said it is his conviction that "unless an individual feels some inner compulsion and special qualifications to enter the political arena—which I do not—a refusal to do so involves no violation of the highest standards of devotion to duty." He continued:

Reluctant To Say More

"It was only the possible misinterpretation of my attitude that caused me concern and so long as I could believe that mere denial of political ambition would prevent serious misunderstanding and misdirected effort, I was reluctant to say more.

"It would seem almost superfluous for me to add that as long as I live I shall hold myself in instant readiness to respond to any call by the government to military duty."

Eisenhower is scheduled to go on terminal leave from the army around February 15 and in June will become president of Columbia university.

His name not only has been entered through a delegate slate in the first presidential primary of the year in New Hampshire, but Republican supporters also entered his name in the Oregon primary in May.

Leading Dark Horse

Only yesterday some of his supporters announced they would make an effort to put him in the California primary, also scheduled

One Dead, Two Hurt In Blaze

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 23 (AP) — William Bean, 78, of Houston, suffered fatal burns and two members of his family sustained third degree burns when a 55-gallon drum of gasoline ignited in the back of his truck 12 miles west of here early today, deputy sheriffs reported.

Also burned and in critical condition at a hospital here are Betty Ruth Bean, 2, who suffered third degree burns about the body, and Floyd Bean, 37, driver of the truck, who suffered third degree burns on his hands, feet, face and chest, hospital attendants reported.

A Third Fire Starts

Deputy Sheriffs William Christoph and Arthur Villareal said the Bean family was enroute from Houston to California in a light truck. The elder Bean and three children of Floyd Bean and his wife, Nettie, 31, were asleep on mattresses. About 12 miles west f San Antonio Floyd Bean detected a fire in the gasoline drum, the

Theft Reports Are Received

Burglary of the residence of Fanny Busby, a negro woman of 2009 East Ave. B and theft of a combination radio-phonograph and 20 records, total value $120, were reported to law enforcement officials, it was announced today.

Entrance to the residence was through a kitchen window.

Two automobiles were reported recovered, one belonging to J. P. Rogers of 2405 East Ave. B and the other to R. A. Stebritz of 2314 Thirty-first.

Suspects Are Held

Two suspects were under investigation in connection with the theft.

Chief Dep. Sheriff Raymond Land and Dep. Sheriff Leonard Lott left Lubbock Thursday afternoon for Atlanta, Ga., where they will accept custody of James Lewis, wanted here for trial of a January term indictment of 99th district court charging him with theft by bailee Oct. 10 of a pistol of Harry W. Hubbard.

Hubbard is an inspector of the Lubbock office of the liquor control board. The indictment charged that Lewis, under contract to repair and refinish the weapon, converted it to his own use and benefit.

The sheriff's department said that J. W. Upton, jr., 22, alias T. J. Upton, charged in the court of C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, with forgery of a $55 check passed to

PAULEY GRAIN PROFITS REVEALED

Stassen Accused Of Telling Falsehoods

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 — Harold E. Stassen declared today that Edwin W. Pauley made $40,175 profit on two grain transactions following a speech my Secretary of Agriculture Anderson which depressed the market.

Stassen told a Senate appropriations subcommittee inquiring into Pauley's trading that Pauley took advantage of an "off the cuff" talk by Anderson on Sept. 19 in which Anderson said that grain prices were not realistic.

Statements Not Correct

"These statements, which of course were not correct, caused a temporary drop in grain prices," Stassen said.

He made the statement only a few minutes after Pauley pointed a finger at Stassen and demanded that the Republican presidential aspirant be required to confront him "right here, face to face, on the false-hoods he has told about me."

"We are going to give you an opportunity to be heard," Chairman Ferguson said.

Film Starlet Fight Victor

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 (U.P.) — Starlet Cora Williams nursed a handful of sore knuckles today while model Cathryn Hamilton applied cold packs to a swollen jaw.

The blondes suffered their minor injuries in a one-punch battle at Ciro's nightclub. Miss Williams won by a decision.

Hasty Departure

Miss Hamilton made a hasty departure with her escort. They were followed by Miss Williams and most of the nightery's patrons.

"Get out of the car and we'll settle this," yelled Miss Williams as Miss Hamilton drove away.

Then she turned to the fight fans following her and remarked:

"I guess I socked her a good one. She made a derogatory remark about a friend, and I couldn't let it pass."

Climax Is Reached

The argument started early yesterday on the dance floor, shifted to the powder room, and hit a climax when Miss Williams challenged:

"Let's step outside and settle this."

Witnesses said Miss Hamilton, 23, let go with a shove and Miss Williams, 21, and smaller, countered with a smack to the jaw.

Miss Hamilton said the argument started because Miss Williams invited her to a party "and I wouldn't go."

"I declined to dignify the encounter by physical retaliation," she said.

Donations For Ship Restoration Okayed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (U.P.)—The Senate Armed Services committee has approved a bill authorizing the navy to accept gifts to restore and preserve the frigate Constellation, which is now rotting in the Boston Navy yard.

The Constellation, which was said to have been in naval service for 100 years, is a sister ship to the Constitution, which was restored 20 years ago. Its restoration will cost an estimated $800,000.

Girl Seeks To Marry Negro

GOOCHLAND, Va., Jan. 23 (U.P.) —Margaret May Goosey, English girl who came to the United States to marry her negro wartime sweetheart, waited in jail today for immigration authorities to arrange her passage back home.

She came to this country to marry Thomas Henry Johnson but the wedding was blocked by Virginia's law against inter-racial marriages.

Moved In Anyway

When Margaret moved in with Johnson and his mother anyway, local indignation roused county authorities to take action against her and she was sentenced to six months in the industrial farm for women on "technical charges."

Commonwealth's Attorney J. C. Knibb said the sentence contained a proviso whereby it would terminate as soon as her deportation back to Britain could be arranged.

Immigration authorities said return passage had not yet been arranged. Margaret said she would return to England where Johnson could join her for their marriage.

Coloradoans To Map A-Bomb Rescue Plan

GOLDEN, COLO., Jan. 23. (U.P.)—Lt. Col. John J. Kelley of the Golden Reserve Officers association, said today the residents of this small town will meet next month to discuss how they will "go to the rescue" of its big neighbor, Denver, if the metropolis is hit by an atomic bomb.

He said the meeting, to be held Feb. 12, will stress the fact that in any atomic war, large cities would be the principal targets and that the small outlaying communities would have to lead in the rescue work.

"This is not just scare talk," he said. "It's high time that plain citizens everywhere faced the facts."

120,000 Vets Await Medical Attention

Veterans Administration Chief Orders Probe Of Backlog In Outpatient Care

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, jr., has ordered an investigation to see what, if anything, can be done to reduce the big backlog of veterans awaiting dental and medical care.

As of now 50,000 veterans are waiting for dental treatment and 70,000 are standing by to be examined for outpatient medical care.

According to Dr. Paul B. Magnuson, chief medical director, the agency's medical program is being restricted "all along the line" to keep expenditures within the limits set by Congress for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Magnuson said he does not intend to ask Congress for any more money now, although the Disabled American Veterans has urged a $32,000,000 deficiency appropriation.

The director said the program will be held within limits for the rest of the year. But he added that lack of funds has impaired efficiency and service as veterans' hospitals.

Agency spokesmen said their money-shortage was due to the fact that applications for treatment in the first half of the year

Tearful Mother Tells Of Threat To Baby

Hubby Forces 50-Year-Old Wife To Slay Him After He Had Killed Two Relatives

(By The United Press)

COLUMBIA, ME., Jan. 23— A 50-year-old mother, whose husband forced her to shoot him to death under threat of slaying her and her baby with the same gun he used to kill two relatives, faced arraingment on a manslaughter charge today.

Police termed the charge "a technicality" and said they accepted the story of Mrs. Alice Drinkwater who tearfully told them that "I just couldn't let him shoot the child."

Mrs. Drinkwater said she was in bed with her year-old daughter, Alice, when she discharged the gun.

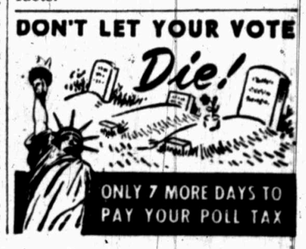

The frail, white-haired woman said her estranged husband, Thomas, a 62-year-old Bangor butcher, apparently was crazed as result of their domestic quarrels when he came yesterday to the farmhouse where she had moved following their separation.

Before he reached her bedroom he shot and killed Harley Worcester, 79, his father-in-law, and Mrs. Glenice Ellingwood, 25, a roomer and him own stepdaughter by a previous marriage.

Daughter Chained To Bed For 10 Years; Father Is Arrested

GOSHEN, Ind., Jan. 23. (U.P.)—A grim, white bearded bishop of the old-order Amish church maintained today that he had "done no wrong" in keeping his 41-year-old daughter roped and chained to a filthy bed in an unlighted room for the past 10 years.

The bishop, Samuel D. Hockstettler, 75, whose word is absolute law among the Amishmen in this area, was arrested yesterday on charges of assault and battery after a neighbor reported the imprisonment.

He was to be arraigned today.

Shows No Repentance

Hockstettler's face was a study in dour righteousness as he entered his jail cell last night. Neither by word nor action did he show any sign of repentance at the treatment he had accorded his daughter, Lucy.

In the cell, he did not take off his traditional Amish round hat. He was dressed severely in a black cape and a black buttonless suit, prescribed by the Amish law for all male members.

Sheriff Luther W. Yoder, who made the arrest late yesterday, said Hockstettler readily admitted the charges and led him to the unventilated and unlighted room where Miss Hockstettler was chained to a bed.

Says She Was Demented

The Amishman claimed that his daughter was demented and that he only dealt with her in accordance with Amish custom. He denied that he had done any wrong, Yoder said.

The old-order Amish sect is one of the most strict of all religious groups in this country. Its members reject all modern conveniences, and wear black clothes with no decorations, not even buttons. They do not believe in public institutions for the insane.

Yoder said he went to the farm home seven miles east of here after a neighbor reported he had heard chains rattling overhead during a visit to the house where the bishop and his daughter have lived alone since Hockstettler's wife died last November.

The sheriff said he found Miss Hockstettler crouched on a straw tick covered with filthy bedclothes. Cobwebs hung from the celing and the bedposts.

She Stared Blankly

He said she stared blankly when he entered her foul-smelling prison. Her matted grey hair was crawling with vermin and her wrists were crooked where the chains had rubbed.

Neighbors said that Lucy was normal when she left high school 25 years ago. Some of them recalled, however, that she expressed a desire at that time to leave the Amish church and the farm which her great grandfather settled more than 100 years ago.

They said her father began confining her to one room at that time and years later began tying her to the bed.

Hockstettler told Yoder she has been chained to the bed for only three years. Before that, he said, he used ropes to keep her tied down.

Yoder said that the daughter would be given a sanity hearing and if tests show she is insane, she will be confined to a state asylum.

Last Rites Saturday For Air Executive

HOUSTON, Jan. 23 (AP) — Last rites will be held here tomorrow for L. D. McKaughan, whose career in transportation spanned oxen and mule teams to an airline.

The 69-year-old vice president of Trans-Texas airways died at his home here yesterday.

McKaughan operated teams of oxen in the early oil field days of Spindletop and Orange and once had as many as 200 teams of mules hauling freight.

Representative Mahon Defends Accused Army Budget Officer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—A member of the House Military Appropriations subcommittee today came to the defense of Maj. Gen. George C. Richards, accused by another member of covering up army "dirt."

The accusation against Richards, who is the army's budget officer, was made in a House speech by Rep. Albert J. Engel, R., Mich., chairman of the subcommittee.

Rep. George H. Mahon, (D., Tex.) said he did not want to become involved in a public controversy with his committee colleague. But he said he had "complete respect for the confidence in the integrity and honesty" of Gen. Richards.

Mahon said he was aware the army had engaged in some wasteful practices, which Engel charged Richards had sought to "cover up" but that he never felt that the general was trying to prevent the subcommittee from knowing about them.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, D., Pa., defended Richards on the House floor after Engel's attack. He said Engel's speech was "full of innuendos." Walter later told newsmen Richards "is one of the most honorable men I have ever known." He said they were boyhood friends.

Suburbanites Irked By Annexation Talk

PASADENA, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—Residents of Pasadena were reported in a furious mood today over published reports that this city of 29,000 would become a suburb of Houston.

Publisher Roy Roussell of the Pasadena Daily Times led the battle against annexation.

In reply to a story in a Houston newspaper predicting that Pasadena and other suburban areas might be annexed to Houston prior to the 1950 census, the Daily Times today carried a story with a banner headline reading in bold type:

"Merger with Houston? It's not so, pardner!"

Roussell said all civic and political factions were "up in arms" at the very thought that Pasadena would "ever become just another section of Houston.

State-Wide Drive To Draft Ike Planned

HOUSTON, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—The "Draft Eisenhower for President" drive will get its start in Houston next month when an information center will be installed, it was announced today.

William Burnham, general membership chairman of the National Draft Eisenhower League, Inc., will be in Houston Feb. 5 to confer with Republican leaders and others interested in the movement.

Burnham is on a nine-state tour of the South and Southwest to install state organizations for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, retiring army chief of staff.

Santa Fe Teachers Hurt In Accident

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Jan. 23 (U.P.) Two Santa Fe school teachers were in a hospital here today with injuries they received in an automobile accident as they were returning from Highlands university to Santa Fe.

State police said that Miss Iris La Cook and Harold B. Freshley were injured when the automobile Freshley was driving collided with a pickup truck 22 miles west of Las Vegas on U. S. 85.

Uninjured in the accident were Harry Chamberlain and Kermitt Hill, Santa Fe school teachers also.

The teachers were returning from the university where they were taking education courses when the accident occured. Police gave no details of the accident.

Cotton Destroyed In Artesia, N.M. Fire

ARTSIA, N. M., Jan. 23 (U.P.) — Damage was estimated at $100,000 today in a fire that destroyed between 700 and 800 bales of cotton at a gin six miles north of here.

The fire which swept through the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Assn., gin broke out yesterday when sparks ignited the cotton.

Assistant manager of the Espuella gin, Everett Crume, said that it was the worst cotton fire in the history of Artesia. The loss was insured.

Dallas Doctor Foils Holdup

DALLAS, Jan. 23. (U.P.)—A 28-year-old white man was under guard in emergency hospital today following an exchange of shots with a doctor in which he was hit in the abdomen. His condition was considered poor.

Police said the man was wounded by Dr. E. L. Troutt, Oak Cliff optometrist, who told officers he saw the man loitering outside his office late last night and that he went back to his office and armed himself for protection before going out on the street.

Man Was Armed

Dr. Troutt told officers that as he was walking from his office the man came up behind him and said:

"All right, doctor, turn around and go back to your office."

"I then turned and fired," Dr. Troutt said.

The man then staggered back and fired three shots, the optometrist related, all missing. The man fled but was captured on a bus in the downtown Dallas area. Detectives said he was carrying a dagger and a revolver with three discharged cartridges in its cylinder.

Robbery was apparently the motive, police said. Dr. Troutt told officers he had never seen the man before.

Russian-Held Eastern Zone Of Germany Faces Food Shortage

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Edwin Shanke, long-time Associated Press correspondent in Germany, participated in a supervised, eight-day tour of Soviet occupied Thuringia and Saxony with seven other American news correspondents. This is a story on what he saw in the region, closed to newsmen except by specific approval of Soviet occupation authorities.)

By EDWIN SHANKE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DRESDEN, Soviet Occupied Saxony, Jan. 19 (Delayed)—A difficult food situation may force the Soviet union to ship grain into the Russian occupied eastern zone of Germany, which is being woven into a so-called Molotov plan of economy for eastern Europe.

"Soviet officials think they will have to import grain from the Soviet union, but a final decision has not yet been reached," Maj. Gen. Timoffei Dudarov, acting military governor for Saxony, told the first American correspondents to tour the Russian zone since last June.

Will Not Be A Gift

"You can be sure, however," he said, "that if we decide to bring in grain it will not be an outright gift."

This is the first time the Russians have spoken of shipping food into their zone. Their army lives mainly on German food, particularly perishables, and the American and British licensed press in Berlin have accused the Soviet union of exporting trainloads of German food eastward.

For the first time, too, the Russians revealed how eastern Germany is being drawn into the Moscow scheme of economy for eastern Europe, after turning down cooperation with the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Meet Bad Situation

To meet a "very bad" situation, raw materials are being drawn not only from Russia, but also from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia, Russian officials said. Most of the finished products processed from these materials are exported eastward as reparations.

"The Germans will pay for raw materials because you can be sure we are not engaging in any philanthropic deals," said Maj. Ivan Schinkevich, head of the industrial branch of the Soviet military administration's economic division in Thuringia.

Except for bread, many Germans disputed the Russian claims the ration is being met. The minister president of Saxony, Max Seydewitz, said from 70 to 80 per cent of the Saxons had received the potatoes they were entitled to until the next harvest—from two and a half to three hundredweights—"but 40,000 tons of potatoes are still lacking and we don't know where to get them."

"The ration is only on paper," some Germans said.

Often Comes Late

Others claimed the distribution of meat and fat often was late, and that frequent substitutions, such as fish for meat, were made. It appeared the food situation on the whole is no worse than in the western zones.

While the Russian officers conducting the tour denied a black market in food exists in the eastern zone, Germans said most of their wages were spent in illegal markets.

The most direct link between the economy of the U. S. S. R. and the occupation zone are completely Russian-owned and directed Soviet companies called the Soviet A. G. They represent the pick of German industry in the eastern zone. Of an original 198 plants selected by the Soviet, 74 have been returned to German hands and nationalized, leaving 124 Soviet companies, according to minister President Seydewitz.

Their products are shipped almost exclusively eastward. Because they are Soviet companies, Seydewitz said German officials "in no way" have anything to do with them or their products.

The Russian deputy director of the famed Meissen porcelain works said its products are sent "100 percent" to the Soviet bureau in Berlin, which runs a huge trust.

"While the dismantling of plants for reparations in the eastern zone has been completed, all Soviet companies are considered part of reparations and could still be moved to Russia," Maj. Schinkevich emphasized. "It was thought more expedient to leave them in Germany, at least temporarily."

Another Gain Shown In Consumer Index

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) — New record peaks in living costs were reported today by the Bureau of Labor statistics.

The consumers price index rose more than one per cent from mid-November to mid-December, reflecting price advances "for all major groups of items."

An indication that the mid-January index, when it is compiled, may be even higher was seen in the bureau's separate report today on wholesale prices for the week ended Jan. 17.

The wholesale index edged ahead 0.6 per cent, increasing for the 11th consecutive week and moving to one per cent under the record wholesale price peak registered in May, 1920, after World War 1.

Wholesale prices for farm products, led by grains and most livestock, set a new record. Foods declined a fraction but commodities other than food and farm products rose for the 17th straight week.

BLAST KILLS ONE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Max Jelin, 40, Broadway theatrical producer, was killed late today in an explosion which wrecked his apartment and damaged two others on the 14th floor of a newly constructed luxury residential building in mid-Manhattan. The blast crushed the walls and blew out windows of the two other apartments.

Legal Rights Of Women Are Discussed At Federation

City Federation of Women's clubs met at First Presbyterian church Fellowship hall Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Clarence Whiteside presiding. A nominating committee appointed at the meeting includes Mesdames M. C. Butler, William Bradbury and D. B. Pope.

Statements made by Briggs Irvin, local attorney, who spoke to the group on "Legal Rights of Women in Texas" included: women in Texas have almost equal rights with men as far as property rights are concerned; women must join with their husbands in making chattel mortgages on household goods; women are not allowed jury service in Texas; in criminal law, wife and husband cannot testify against each other unless either is a prosecuting witness; there is no alimony law in Texas; and the only contract a woman can enter in alone is one for necessities.

Mrs. Max Wiser, accompanied by Mrs. John T. Howell, sang "One Alone" from "The Desert Song."

At a tea hour which followed the program, the refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and decorated with yellow candles and an arrangement of daffodils and iris. Mrs. C. E. Maedgen, sr., assisted by Mesdames D. B. Pope, Lee O'Neil and T. C. Root, served guests. Mrs. John W. Mallory was in charge of arrangements and host clubs were Sorosis, Garden Study, Twentieth Century and Las Vistas.

Faced With Visit From Older Brother, Wife Is Gripped With Inferiority Feelings He Evokes

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I appeal to you for advice on my problem, which is a sudden overwhelming inferiority complex whenever I see my brother Bill, who is three years my senior and has always treated me with the indulgent condescenion usually accorded a harmless moron.

He graduate from high school with honors and I graduated a year later (at a slightly precocious age) with even more honors. While he did well in college, I did even better, winning a beauty and popularity contest to boot. But whereas his success thrilled me and I praised him highly, my success was never mentioned.

Bill married a grand girl with a typical Irish wit and temperament. I like her a lot but she affects me the same way he does. They surround themselves with a tight little circle of clever, witty friends who seems always to share some private joke. My friends are of all ages and types.

I am very happily married to a fine man, have two lovely children and much else to be thankful for, and this problem sounds silly to me as I try to define it. However, we are expecting Bill and Kay for a visit soon, after not seeing each other for two years, and I don't want my pleasure in the visit spoiled by this stupid complex.

DOESN'T THINK IT'S JEALOUSY

WHEN our first child was born I allowed some of my joy to creep into my first letter to them, but their reply was so filled with gentle amusement that I felt like the ridiculously proud parents in cartoons, and thereafter in writing just briefly mentioned baby's health. Now that they have become parents, their letters are hilarious accounts of the infant's precocity.

We have achieved as great, if not greater, financial success than they, although material things have never been of prime importance to me. And Bill is such a fine character that I can't believe there is any petty jealousy or attempt to deflate my ego.

It isn't as if I had waged a contest with Bill or ever referred to my own accomplishments. I even feel the urge to hide them from him, as if they might hurt his feelings, although there is no reason for it. Perhaps I am just hypersensitive where he is concerned, but my younger brother, with whom I am very close, reacts as I do. Thank you for any insight and help you may give me.

(Signed) E. G.

MAN'S ATTITUDE IS COMPETITIVE

DEAR E. G.: There is striving for supremacy here, but mostly in Bill's unconscious, I think. Your birth gave him no joy. Rather he resented your arrival on the scene, second in line, because in various ways thereafter it impinged upon and frustrated his erstwhile satisfied, unrivaled, imperious claim to exclusive adulation from mother or nannie.

Hence from earliest awareness you sensed a strong emanation of disapproval from him; and always you have wanted intensely to impress him favorably, not from rival motivation but to win him over, as it were, from his depreciating rejecting attitude which weighed mysteriously on your spirit, causing you to feel anxious, defensive, supplicating, inexplicably guilty in relation to him.

If your younger brother feels much the same reaction, it doubtless means that he, too, came in for a share of Bill's derisive displeasure at being dethroned and democratized, more or less, as she family multiplied.

Also the fact that Bill's manner suggests ironic indulgence of morons, and that you two are habitually deflated by it, indicates a tacit general understanding in childhood that he was unmistakeably his mother's favorite—since it is the child thus favored, even though subtly, who intangibly lords it over brothers and sisters, even though the latter may be basically abler and more gifted than he.

This is my interpretation of the significance or causation of your so-called overwhelming inferiority complex in relation to Bill. And the cure consists in a thorough housecleaning of your feelings about him, a shake-up that is long overdue.

So for advice: Discord as rubbish your old childish, awestruck idealization of him and aspiration to wrest accolade from him. And do this by the sane device of appraising him through mature, objective eyes, in the light of experience, and seeing him realistically for what he is, namely: a smug, self-centered, competitive and ungenerous, rather shallow and insensitive person.

The best way to make a hit on Bill is to be fully as self-satisfied, or call it self-accepting, as he is. So in vis-a-vis dealings hereafter, rest on the laurels of your achievements endorsed by others, and don't give a darn what he thinks, says or does of patronizing import.

Price War Rages

Disgusted Butcher Giving Meat Away

ST. HELENS, Ore., Jan. 23 (U.P.) When a meat price war drove hamburger down to 29 cents a pound, Butcher Roy H. Harrison gave it away.

"It might as well be free as just half free," he said when he began handing out a pound to each customer.

Harrington said his free hamburger offer had been taken up by about 400 housewives in the past two days. Two women even called up and asked him to deliver theirs.

Elsewhere in this town of 5,000, sirloin steak was selling for 45 cents a pound; pot roast for 39 and picnic hams for 45 cents. But meat stores were not jammed with customers.

"Most everyone shops on Saturday," one butcher explained. "And, after all, this is old stuff. The price war has been going on for 21 days."

Alleged Texas Slayer Of Three Relatives Enters Guilty Plea

JASPER, Jan. 23 (AP)—The trial of Clayton Rushing resumed today in the wake of the 26-year-old father's plea of "guilty" in the flat-iron slaying of three relatives.

Rushing, charged with the death of his father, step-mother and half-brother, told a Jasper county jury yesterday:

Death Penalty Sought

"I plead guilty because I am guilty."

His statement came after he entered a formal plea of guilt and Judge F. F. Adams asked:

"Are you pleading guilty because you have been advised to do so or are you pleading guilty because you are guilty?"

Rshing is being tried in the death of his 12-year-old half brother, Woodrow Wilson Rushing, whose partially nude body was found in the farm home of his parents Dec. 20.

The nude bodies of Rushing's father, Elbert Rushing, 71, and step-mother, Mrs. Lessie Hunt Rushing, 50, were found in an adjoining room.

Thirty witnesses were heard yesterday after a jury was completed at 2:30 p. m.

District Attorney Robert W. Hillin announced he would seek the death penalty.

Witnesses testified yesterday a hungry sow and her litter led to the discovery of the bodies and a pound of stew meat caused Sheriff R. C. Pace to set the time of the triple slayings.

Witnesses Testify

Thomas Eldridge, 14, told the jury he went to the three-room farm house Dec. 20 to report a stray sow and her litter. He said he saw his schoolmate, Woodrow Wilson, lying dead on the floor when he looked through a window after receiving no reply to a knock at the door.

Claude Ethridge, father of Thomas, testified he called Sheriff Pace.

Pace told how he found the three bodies in the bedrooms. He said the stew meat, which M. L. Childers, a Jasper butcher, testified he sold the elder Rushing on Dec. 13, apparently had been cooked for supper.

Charles D. Hulett, a Jasper taxi driver, related he took Rushing, the defendant, from Jasper to Newton at approximately 9:30 p. m. Dec. 13, after Rushing quibbled about a $3 fare.

SENTENCED TO DIE

JASPER, Jan. 23 (AP) — A criminal district court jury, deliberating 12 minutes on the fate of Clayton Rushing, charged with the flatiron slayings of three relatives, today convicted him of murder and sentenced him to death in the electric chair.

Premiere Showing Of McMillan Films Is Set For Tonight

Everything was all set here today for the world premiere showing of W. G. McMillan's African safari pictures and from the way tickets were selling, a packed house was indicated for the event scheduled at Lubbock High school auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

The premiere is being sponsored by the Lubbock Kiwanis club and after expenses are defrayed McMillan will divide proceeds with the Kiwanis club's boys and girls welfare fund.

More than 900 tickets for the showing of the colored motion pictures of the McMillan's African adventures had been sold up to Thursday noon and sales Thursday afternoon neared the 1,000 mark. Tickets for the premiere are $2.40 including tax with all seats reserved and all "bad seats" eliminated for the sale of tickets. Approximately 1,200 good seats, where the pictures may be seen, will be sold for the showing of the pictures.

Tickets will continue to be sold today until 6 p. m. for the premiere at the Adair Music company, 1012 Main, after which they will be put on sale at the high school box office.

Matinees for children are scheduled Saturday and Sunday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock and tickets for these showings may also be purchased at Adair's. Tickets for the matinees are 60 cents including tax for children and $1.50 including tax for adults. Subsequent night showings Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week are $1.50 with all seats reserved as in the case of the premiere.

McMillan and his son, William, took approximately 10,000 feet of motion pictures during the African hunt last fall, but only 2,500 feet of the choicest scenes will be shown to the public. The other film scenes are more or less of a personal nature and therefore edited out by McMillan in "splicing" the film for the public showing.

McMillan will follow the showing of the films with a narration over a public address system, Mr. and Mrs. McMillan and their son, William, will be introduced at the outset of the premiere.

The program will last about an hour and a half.

Seminole Plans 250 New Family Units

SEMINOLE, Jan. 23 (Special)—An estimated 250 new family units are now under construction or will be commenced by February 1st, according to a survey made by the Seminole Chamber of Commerce today.

C. R. Shaddix, Shaddix Motor Co., is building ten residences of the 2-bedroom variety, in the 1000 block on West Slaughter street, construction to begin within 5 days. C. Lindley, San Angelo motel operator is moving in barracks to divide into apartments, which will be located in the 200-block on S. East street, near the Seminole gin. Frank Corbett, local contractor, is erecting from 8 to 10 prefabricated units on the city limits bordering U. S. Highway 180. Julian Gady, plastering contractor is building ten residences of the 2-bedroom and garage variety, with plastered interiors on the corner of Crane street and Fullerton highway. Gady sold his holdings in San Pedro, California, to come to Seminole for this purpose.

Seminole Homes, Inc., has received the green light from the F. H. A., on their plan to erect 100 residences of the 2- and 3-bedroom and garage type and construction should be started within the next 10 days.

Approximately 75 homes, contracted by private individuals are now under construction, it was estimated.

Rites Saturday For Former Ennis Mayor

DALLAS, Jan. 23 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow in Ennis for Robert Fulton Brumback, 78, one-time locomotive engineer and for six years mayor of Ennis.

Brunback died in a hospital here last night.

He retired in 1939 as a railroad engineer and ended six years service as mayor in April of last year.

Services Set For Physician

Last rites for Dr. Fred W. Standerfer, 54, who died in his sleep early Thursday morning at his home at 310 Twenty-first, were planned for 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Methodist church.

Dr. H. I. Robinson, pastor, was to officiate, assisted by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, and Rev. Alsie H. Carleton, pastor of St. John's Methodist church.

Sanders Funeral home announced burial would be in Lubbock cemetery.

The body was to lie in state at the church from 2 to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Active pallbearers were to be Dr. R. T. Canon, Neil H. Wright, sr., Walter G. Alcorson, Dean W. L. Stangel, James G. Allen and Homer D. Grant.

Honorary pallbearers were Owen W. McWhorter, George Benson, Dr. J. T. Krueger, Arch S. Underwood, George P. Kuykendall, Robert C. Goodwin, Dr. DeWitt Neighbors, Fort Worth, Dr. Donald Ruthven, Houston, Dr. A. N. Neighbors, Austin, A. B. Davis, Otis Canon, Odessa, Hubert L. Allen, George Simpsons, Irving L. Jones, Charles Reed, Wesley Read, W. G. McMillan, Frank Gray, Don Jones, W. B. Price, Chas. A. Guy, Parker F. Brouty, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, W. C. Rylander, R. E. Strickland, C. J. Hollingsworth, Dr. Pat Williams, Post, Sam Lytal Floyd Bowen, Marley Jennings, and the staff of West Texas hospital.

Dr. Standefer, an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, had been a member of the West Texas hospital staff since 1924.

The West Texas hospital clinic is closed today in mourning for Dr. Standefer. Doctors' offices in the clinic are closed and any emergency work ordinarily handled in the clinic was to be referred to the hospital.

American People Look To Teachers For Educational Leadership, Speaker Says

Speaking before a group of approximately 175 teachers, principals, school board members and other educational leaders at the Lubbock Classroom Teachers Council annual banquet last night at Hotel Lubbock, Miss Marie Ernst, president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Educational association, strongly advocated that educators band together as a profession to further the cause of education in the United States and in the world.

"We (the teachers) have a tremendous task ahead of us," she said. "The world is looking to the United States for leadership, and the kind of leadership we give in the future depends upon how we educate our children. Teaching demands that we give of our services far beyond the call of duty."

Education Funds Small

The American public is somewhat lax on the subject of education, Miss Ernst stated. Only two per cent of the national income in the United States is spent on education, while Russia is spending 6.9 per cent of her national income for that purpose, she said. Although Americans spend four billion dollars each year on cigarettes, seven billion on horse racing, nine billion on liquor and 20 billion on other luxuries, only two and one-half billion dollars are spent annualy on educational facilities, she pointed out.

The American people want good schools, she said, and they are willing to pay for them. But they are looking to the teachers for leadership. "Youth, bewildered by the confusion and contradictions of our time, need guidance and help to lead them along the paths of justice, righteousness and clear thinking," she added.

"Fellow teachers, broadened opportunities for leadership are ours. Let us accept them vigorously and resolutely. It is a challenge—but it is also a glorious opportunity," she concluded.

Dinner music was furnished the group by a trio composed of Patsy Gibbs, cellist, Dorothy Dale Kennedy, violinist, and L. L. Stoelzing, pianist. Several numbers were presented by a male quartet from the Senior High School. Members of the quartet were: L. L. Stoelzing, first tenor; J. A. White, second tenor; Robert Leonard, first bass; and Kenneth Cox, second bass. J. H. Penn, originally scheduled to present a baritone solo on the program, was unable to sing because of an attack of laryngitis. He accompanied the male quartet on the piano.

A. B. Reese, president of the Lubbock Classroom Teachers council, was master of ceremonies for the program and introduced the speaker of the evening. The invocation was given by Roy Morris.

Bevin's Speech Interpreted As Concerted Attack On Communism

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Staff Writer

That was a shocking picture which British Foreign Secretary Bevin drew in the House of Commons yesterday when he charged that Russia is bent on a ruthless drive to dominate the whole European continent and that one-power domination "will inevitably lead to another world war."

There's a terrible finality about a declaration like that, and one wishes that it were possible to avoid such controversial statements. Still, it's dangerous for us not to know the truth about this "Cold War," since our very liberties are at stake. That certainly is one thing which impelled Mr. Bevin to speak so bluntly.

Two-Pronged Attack

However, I believe there is another reason for this speech, which set the world's cables to humming. It would be hard to believe that it was by pure coincidence that Bevin's fiery address came only a few hours after Washington published details of the pre-war dealings between Stalin and Hitler. This story was taken from captured Nazi documents, and has to do with the Russo-German partnership which, among other things, projected the division of Eastern Europe between the two countries —facts which this column has referred to more than once in previous articles.

We are entitled to assume, or so it seems to me, that Washington's release and Secretary Bevin's speech represent concerted action by the two major western powers. One object is to inform the world, not only the Democracies but the peoples of the Russian sphere of domination, concerning the true state of affairs. The other would seem to be to impress Moscow that the Western Allies mean business. Writing of these methods from Washington, John Hightower, AP diplomatic reporter, says:

Unvarnished Language

"There are some here in high places who feel that such tactics can do no good and may do considerable harm. But most officials seem convinced that the time has come for unvarnished language. They reason that if there is any merit in the theory that only American power can block Russian domination of Europe, then that power should be openly applied in understandable words as well as action."

Bevin is noted for the bluntness of his speeches but yesterday's broadside at Russia is the heaviest he has delivered in public since he became foreign secretary. One of his thrusts precipitated a scene in the House of Commons involving the two Communist members, Willie Gallacher and Philip Piratin. Bevin set them to shouting in protest when he said:

"The Great Conception"

"One of the first objects of Soviet and Communist policy is to prevent the European Recovery program from succeeding. But I do not see why I should be a party to keeping Europe in chaos and distress."

It wasn't made clear just why the two Reds should have protested this, in view of the fact that the Bolshevists have publicly proclaimed that they are out to defeat the Marshall plan.

Bevin also announced plans for a union of the nations of Western Europe to face the Russian drive for control of the whole continent. He declared that the time is ripe for the consolidation of Western Europe, and disclosed that Britain already has initiated talks with Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg. Furthermore Britain's alliance with France will be tightened and Italy and other countries will be brought into 'this great conception."

So it would seem that the mills of the Western Democracies are beginning to grind full speed.

Dog Breeders Plan Luncheon Meeting

Dog owners and breeders in this area have shown much interest in the proposed organization of an all-breed kennel club for the South Plains, and reservations are accumulating rapidly for a noon luncheon at the Hilton hotel Sunday, and a 2 p. m. business and organization meeting, sponsors of the project said yesterday.

The luncheon is scheduled for 12:30 o'clock, and those planning to attend were urged to make reservations by tonight if possible. The business meeting at 2 o'clock is open to the public without charge. Luncheon reservations should be made with Mrs. Carol Cobb at Animal hospital, or with Dr. W. T. Rogers at the Veterinary Clinic. Other sponsors of the meeting include Mrs. Harold Ball of the South Plains Kennels here.

Visiting speakers include Mrs. Aletha Conner of Monahans, a director of the Rocky Mountain-Sunshine dog show circuit, who is to talk on the dog show circuit and its benefits to individual affiliated clubs; T. A. Ayres of Odessa, a licensed handler and president of the West Texas Kennel club, who is to discuss selection of constitution and by-laws and their relation to the American Kennel club; H. C. Clark of Seminole, vice president of the West Texas Kennel club, who is to speak on the purpose of an all-breed kennel club; and Landon Skarda of Clovis, of the Pecos Valley Kennel club.

Houston Libel Suit Ends In Hung Jury

HOUSTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—A hung jury yesterday ended the trial here of a $150,000 libel suit brought against publishers of the Houston Post by Capt. Thomas E. Evans, former master of the steamship Warren Delano.

The suit was based on two articles published by the house in August, 1946. The stories included accounts by crew members of the vessel on a trip to Antwerp.

Globe-Trotting Hollywood Pair Planning South American Trip

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 — The globe-trotting couple, Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, plan to tour South America in May.

Last year the couple made a publicity and pleasure trip to Europe, their first vacation together in 10 years of marriage. They now plan to take a lengthy trip every year, Barbara said on the "Sorry, Wrong Number" set.

New Look Hurts Studio

Dorothy Lamour can't get away from sarongs. She'll wear one in "Let's Fall in Love"—studded with sequins and diamonds. Dotty plans an extended vacation after the film. She'll visit Baltimore, Palm Beach, New Orleans and New York.

Charles LeMaire of 20th-Fox's wardrobe department reports that the "New Look" (or is it getting old now?) has played havoc with his chores. Clothes that were modern wardrobe before the new fashion are now period stuff.

There will be no Hope in "Conn. Yankee." Director Tay Garnett told me the comic's usual appearance in Crosby films will be skipped this time. Garnett is striving for realism and Bob doesn't fit into the King Arthur period . . .

Westmore Permanent

Odds and Ends . . . Don't know whether it's intentional or not, but Jean Arthur, who plays a congresswoman in "A Foreign Affair," has a hair-do that makes her a ringer for Clare Boothe Luce . . . Did you know makeup man Perc Westmore is the only person with a life contract at Warners? "A Woman's Vengeance" (U-I) is a highly literate screen play written by Novelist Aldous Huxley. It concerns yet another husband accused of murdering his wife and though the plot is familiar, its intelligent treatment is not. Charles Boyer and Ann Blyth are admirable in their grim chores, but Jessica Tandy outshines them.

Leaders Cite Wartime Need

DALLAS, Jan. 23. (U.P.)—Leaders of the army and industry gathered in Dallas today to discuss ways of converting industry back to wartime production as quickly as possible in the event of a future war.

Leading the army contingent was Gen. Omar Bradley, Veterans administrator who will become army chief of staff when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower retires. Gen. Bradley was to arrive this afternoon. Thomas J. Hargrave was to be the personal representative of Secretary of Defense James V. Forrestal.

Gen. Bradley and John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power & Light Co., and Lone Star Steel Corp., will be main speakers at a banquet this evening.

Preliminary activities of the industry-army conference included a meeting last night of the Dallas Reserve Officers association. Gen. Thomas T. Handy, Fourth army commander, told the association that the United States must continue to keep up to date its training methods and techniques.

"We must have a large reservoir of trained personnel, both officers and enlisted," he said. "Reserve components must be capable of furnishing all the trained armed requirements for a swift mobilization over and above those to be provided by the regular establishment."

General Handy warned the group that if "we become cynical and indifferent about the United States we jeopardize our chances of national survival."

Japanese legend credits the origin of tea to the Buddist saint, Bodhirdharma, who become sleepy after staying awake five years to contemplate the Buddha and who is supposed to have cut off his eyelids to prevent their closing; the first tea plants springing up immediately from the discarded eyelids.

Negroes In Freedom Train Trial Fined

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 — Three negro school teachers, arrested here Jan. 8 while waiting to board the Freedom Train, were fined $5 each today in Recorder's court on charges of refusing to obey police commands to move on.

The charges, arresting officers testified, grew out of attempts to control a crowd waiting to view the Freedom Train.

The defendants, Charles Speaker, 54, Maurice Prevost, 40, and Bruce Neale, 55, were released by Judge Alwyn Justrabo on their own recognizance, pending an appeal. They denied all charges.

The three teachers, under Speaker's supervision, were in charge of 750 negro school children who had been waiting in line four hours.

"Operation America" First On Some Future Dictator's List

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding general of the strategic air command, warned last night that the United States, "the fattest prize of all time to international gangsters," now is "only a few hours away" from enemy bombers.

"The day some future dictator decides he is ready and time has come to launch his blitzkrieg to gain world domination, he will call in his boss airmen and simply say: 'Start Operation America'," Kenney said.

Offense Needed

In an address to the San Antonio Air Force association, the wartime commander of the Fifth Air force in the Pacific called for radar stations, warning devices, and flying patrols against unfriendly aircraft. But, he said, those precautions will not be enough.

"Defense is not the only thing necessary. We will need the long-range bombers and fighters to carry the war to enemies."

General Kenney predicted that any future world war will be an "air war" waged by weapons 'more deadly and far cheaper than the atomic bomb." He forecast a casualty toll of at least 20,000,000 for the nation's larger cities.

The general was to address 24,000 Lackland Army Air base men this afternoon on the base parade ground. Following that address, he will leave for Washington.

RANCHES ARE SOLD

LAREDO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Lloyd M. Bentsen, sr., and Elmer G. Bentsen, brothers, of Hidalgo county, have purchased the La Perla ranch in Zapata county and the Slator ranch in Webb-Zapata counties from Earl F. Slick of San Antonio and others for an indicated price of $353,500. The transaction, completed Dec. 24, 1947, with the filing of conveyances in Zapata county, came to light here today. It involved a total of 39,264.2 acres. The La Perla ranch of 21,552.2 acres, is located along the Rio Grande north of Zapata. The Slator ranch consists of 17,712 acres.

Cotton In Aid Plan Proposed

ATLANTA, Jan. 23 (AP) — Secretary of State George C. Marshall asked the American cotton industry today to back his European Recovery program as the alternative to collapse of world trade and social orders.

Marshall, speaking before the tenth meeting of the National Cotton Council of America, reminded the industry that if Europe should be forced to abandon its traditional rule of a trade partner and customer, "the consequences to our economy would be extremely serious."

Since cotton is one of the region's chief cash crops, said Marshall, "the South is directly interested in the volume of cotton exports to Europe under the proposed recovery program.

Farmers Face Shortage

"Such shipments," he continued "are estimated to total more than 10,000,000 bales in the four and a quarter year period. During the first 15 months shipments are planned to total 3,000,000 bales."

The secretary also touched on another major southern crop — tobacco. He said it would be shipped to Europe in considerable volume.

"It is not as essential as food and clothing, of course," said Marshall, "but even under austere living conditions and rationing it is found advisable to make some consessions to human nature."

Marshall also said American farmers might not be able to buy quite so much nitrogen fertilizer or farm machinery as they desired. But, he said:

"Such sacrifices and inconveniences as may result will really be insignificant by comparison with the tremendous handicaps under which European farmers are laboring. They are minor when measured against the alternatives — the situation that would face American agriculture if the structure of world trade and social order should collapse."

Shortly after Marshall concluded, the council received from its Foreign Trade committee a special recommendation urging support in principle of the European Recovery program.

Stolen Auto Quickly Recovered By Police

Recovery of an automobile seven minutes after it had been reported stolen Thursday night provided an example of close cooperation between law enforcement agencies.

City police were informed of theft of the 1946 Buick sedanette at 10:30 p. m., by R. A. Stebritz of 2314 Thirty-first.

At 10:37 p. m. Texas Highway Patrolmen T. A. Rowland and J. R. Whitmire radioed police headquarters that they had recovered the car in an alley between Thirtieth and Thirty-first, Aves. S and T. They further reported they were chasing the driver on foot after he fled. The suspect eluded them, however.

Meanwhile, Stebritz informed police he had seen the car at Nineteenth and Ave. Q, followed it east on Nineteenth and obtained a description of the driver, which he gave to officers. Two suspects were being questioned early this morning.

Spiritualists In Un-Supernatural Rage

Mediums Put "Hex" On Movie Maker And His New Picture

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 23 — The mediums who's call back dear, departed Uncle Luke for you—for a price — are hammering away at Movieland with everything from crystal balls to evil spooks to keep the boys out here from making their expose of phony spiritualism.

Paid-up members of the National Association of American Spiritualists, spurred by an un-supernatural rage, are up in arms against the non-believers at Eagle-Lion studios.

The "hex" is on.

Ectoplasmic Curses

Producer Ben Stoloff, who's trying to make a movie called "The Spiritualist," is too busy answering irate letters and hanging on the phone while a medium tells him off in ectoplasmic cuss words.

He keeps telling 'em they don't have to worry. He's only exposing the crooked ones.

That didn't sooth Mrs. Mitzie Munroe, who made a pilgrimage to the studio from San Francisco. She was, she set forth, president of the National Association of American Spiritualists and what was this she kept hearing about Stoloff's movie?

"It's not true we're hoaxes," she pronounced. "We have a very fine practice. It brings people happiness."

She went on about spiritualism letting "unhappy survivors transplant themselves into the unknown with ectoplasmic transmutation" and wanted Stoloff to let her okay the script. This kept up for an hour—while Stoloff squirmed.

"Mr. Stoloff's received countless letters placing a 'hex' on him," his secretary said. "They, of course, are all anonymous. But we've had hundreds of threatening notes that are signed."

Practitioners of the black art are particularly pained over the way Stoloff calls back the spirits. He does it with "spook makeup." Smears his ghosts with phosphorescent paint, turns on an ultra-violet ray, and lets 'em shimmer in all their fake horror.

"Outrage," shriek the mediums. "We'll hex you."

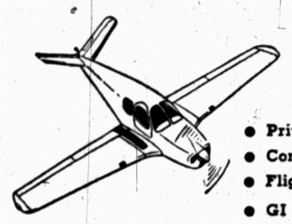

Stoloff says he can't feel anything—yet.

But a few of the extras can. They've been demanding double-pay, as per a guild ruling governing "performance of chores while in jeopardy."

Citrus fruits have been cultivated in the Orient for at least 2,000 years.

The 1947 budget of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization is $6 million.

The United States and the United Kingdom purchased over three-fifths of Canada's exports for the first half of 1947.

Westerners Beaten By Pampa, 57-46

PAMPA, Jan. 23 (Special)—A disheartened group of Lubbock Westerner cagers prepared to move into Borger today, where tonight they will attempt to gain their first District 1-AA basketball victory at the expense of the high-riding Bulldogs.

Gametime tonight is at 8 and unless the Westerners are to be counted out of the District 1-AA race entirely, they must win. But on the basis of the 11-point defeat last night, 57-46, at the hands of the Pampa Harvesters, a team that beat Borger by only one point, the locals will be very much on the short end of the odds.

Nothing seemed to work against the Harvesters in last night's encounter and the home team swept into an early lead that never was threatened. The Westerners never ceased to fight back, lowering the count, but never making a serious bid to take the lead.

The Pampans took the lead in the first minute of the game on a push shot by Center Jimmy King. Then Lubbock's Virgil Johnson evened the tally with two free shots, first of 10 successful charity tosses made by the rangy guard during the tilt. Johnson put the Westerners into the lead, briefly, seconds later by sinking another free throw and a layup shot. A free toss by Forward Arkie Miller and a crip by Guard Raymond Hernandez deadlocked the count at 5-5.

George Hamblin gave the home quint the lead with a corner set shot, then Miller increased the margin by weaving through the Lubbock defense for a crip. Westerner Forward Charles Galey and Guard Richard Herchenroeder sank two quick field goals, but Pampa's Derrell Davis and Hernandez tallied five points on two field goals and a free throw.

Hernandez and Davis combined their talents to give the Harvesters a 19-11 first quarter advantage. Then King, Davis and Miller turned the second period into a near rout with five perfect two pointers. Halftime score was 33-18.

The Westerners made a desperate bid early in the second half, when Alderson and Johnson hit the basket for a quick six points, but Miller and Davis ran the tally to 46-26. Little Doral Sandlin, a sub guard, provided the Lubbock five with a new scoring punch by dropping in three field goals to bring the score to 50-34 at the beginning of the final quarter.

Sandlin, Sub Bob Rooker and Bob Schmidt cut the Pampa lead with push and set shots, after starters Johnson and Henry fouled out. And with three minutes of play remaining in the game, they had reduced the Harvesters' margin to 55-41. Herchenroeder and Alderson dropped in field goals in the final seconds, but the home quint still held a decisive lead.

Pampa's Arkie Miller grabbed individual honors for the night with 15 points on six field goals and three charity tosses, but Lubbock's Virgil Johnson took runner-up post with 14 points on two field goals and 10 free throws. Jack Alderson was spectacular in the ball handling department, but was not up to his usual shooting form.

The Westerners end their road trip this evening in Borger, where they will meet the Bulldogs in another District 1-AA match. Off the basis of comparative scores, the Lubbock team again will be underdogs for this clash.

The box score:

LUBBOCK (46)	fg	ft	pf	PAMPA (57)	fg	ft	pf
Alderson f	2	3	2	Miller f	6	3	3

Oklahoma Ags Top Defenders

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP) — Things are back to normal in national college basketball circles—Rhode Island State's race-horse Rams once again are pouring in points at a mile a minute clip while the Oklahoma Aggies are up to their old tricks at "hogging" the cowhide.

A compilation by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau through games of Jan. 17, showed today that the Rams of Rhode Island had rained in 693 points in their first nine games for an average of 77 per game.

Aggies Rank First

The Oklahoma Aggies, last year's defensive champions, again ranked number one among major teams in keeping the opposition from scoring. The Missouri Valley power, winner of 12 of its 13 games, has yielded an average of only 33.6 points per game. In their last seven starts, the Aggies have permitted no team to score more than 34 points, limiting Baylor to 21 and Tulsa to 25.

Texas, Southwest conference champs, retains its free throw leadership with 189 successful charity tosses in 259 attempts for an average of 73 per cent.

Oregon of the Pacific Coast conference has committed the most personal fouls, 374 in 16 games, an average of 23.4 per game. Mississippi of the Southeastern conference has made the fewest, 68 in six games, averaging 11.3.

Slaton Cagers Drop Pair To Local Club

The O. L. Slaton Junior High school basketeers were dealt double defeats yesterday afternoon, while the Central Junior High school cagers drew no better than a tie in their games.

O. L. Slaton dropped a game to the Lubbock Boys club Midgets, 21-14, as Mikie Brady led the scoring with seven points. Billy Pressley topped the Slaton quintet with five tallies.

The Boys club Juniors romped to a 44-27 decision over the Slaton Juniors, with Gene Tollison taking honors on 14 points. Bobby Davis and Bobby Sexton divided Slaton honors with nine points apiece.

Meanwhile, the Central Junior High school cagers went to New Deal and divided two games. The New Deal Juniors won the first game, 30-29, with the Central Cowboys skidding to a 40-10 decision over the New Deal B team.

Coach Roy Morris announced that his Central Junior High school cagers would meet Midget and Junior teams from the Lubbock Boys club Friday night at 7 in the Lubbock High school gym.

ACC Mentor Says He Declined Hardin Job

ABILENE, Jan. 23 (AP) — A. M. (Tonto) Coleman, head football coach at Abilene Christian college, announced he had rejected an offer to go to Hardin college as head football coach and athletic director.

The vacancy at the Wichita Falls school was created when Thurman (Tugboat) Jones accepted an assistant's job at Texas A. and M.

RALLS WINNER

RALLAS, Jan. 23 (Special)—The Ralls Independents defeated the visiting Furr Food quintet of Lubbock last night, 46-33, with Furr Foods never getting too close. Ralls had a 23-16 margin at the half and, with "Butter" Reed and his brother Norman each scoring 12 points, the Ralls club held a steady edge. Forward Harris had 16 points for Furrs and was the leading scorer.

The Ralls Independents are seeking games, either home or away, and all managers interested in playing this cage club can contact Bill Mayes of Ralls.

Teams Battle At Whiteface

WHITEFACE, Jan. 23. (Special) —There wasn't much relaxing here today, as both boy and girl quintets resumed preparations for the second round of the Whiteface High School Invitational Basketball tournament.

Eyes of most spectators were on the Farwell and Shallowater cagers in the boys division, these two teams getting the jump on other quintets and appearing the most impressive in opening round play yesterday. Meanwhile, the spectators also eyed Whiteface and Meadow with respect in the girl's division.

Eight Games Today

Both championship and consolation play will be conducted today, with eight games on the docket. The Levelland "B" team makes its initial debut, along with Three Way, in the boy's division, while Stanton, Anton and Three Way girl cagers will make their first tournament appearacne.

Games last night saw all favorites advance to the second round, with none of the favored teams having much trouble in turning back the opposition.

Farwell had little trouble turning back the Morton cagers, 36-20, led by the outstanding work of Thomas at center, who pitched 15 points through the mesh.

Shallowater earlier in the day had stepped one notch ahead by trouncing the defending host team, Whiteface High school, 36-10. Weber at guard paced the visitors with 12 points, a third of his team's total.

Two other high school court clubs also scored victories and gave warning that they might be tough to count out of final calculations. Anton High won over Bula, 36-26, in a game that was close all the way, but which never gave too much promise of going to Bula. W. Wells of Anton, like Weber, scored a third of his team's 36 points.

John Shinn of Meadow racked up the highest count of any courtman in the opening round of the tourney, netting himself 17 points as the Meadow cagers coasted through to a 35-24 victory over Smyer High school. Shinn, a guard, sparkled in the attack all during the game.

In the girl's division, favored teams all came through their opening round without defeat and advanced to the second rung of the tourney ladder.

Bula turned back the Farwell girls, 30-18, while Shallowater beat off Muleshoe efforts to win, 22-13. Neither of the winning cage clubs are figured too strongly for the championship.

Two of the more highly favored girl cage crews, Whiteface and Meadow, had little trouble in coming into the second round with victories.

Whiteface handled the Smyer girls without effort, 31-13, and the Meadow feminines took the count of Morton, 34-13.

Opening round games were marked by similarity of scores, with three of the boys games being won by teams scoring 36 points. The fourth team scored 35.

In the girls bracket, similarity of scores was restricted to losing teams, three of them having identitifal scores of 13 points. The fourth team outdid these losers with 18 points.

Games in the championship bracket today began at 10 a. m. when the Whiteface girls played Three Way. Other championship games will be as follows: Anton boys versus Three Way at 1 p. m.; Bula girls versus Stanton at 2 p. m.; Meadow girls versus Anton at 7 p. m.; and Meadow boys versus Levelland "B" at 8 p. m.

In the consolation bracket, Bula boys play Morton at 11 a. m.; Smyer girls play Muleshoe at 3 p. m.; and Smyer boys play Whiteface at 4 p. m.

Play Gets Underway In Phoenix Tourney

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 23 (AP) — Almost a dozen visitors from foreign countries were on hand here today as the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament started.

Canada, with four, had the largest delegation among the 150 golfers who teed off in the three-day, 72-hole grind over the 6,578-yard layout.

But South Africa's Bobby Locke was the best known of the visitors, sharing favorites honors with Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa.

BEAU JACK TO FIGHT

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP) — Beau Jack, former world's light-weight champion, and Johnny Bratton, Chicago's flashy but erratic youngster, will meet in a 10 round bout featuring the first 1948 boxing show in the Chicago stadium tomorrow night.

May Play Hawaii

EL PASO, Jan. 23 (AP) — Oone Texas college and possibly two will play the University of Hawaii in football next season.

El Paso Mines has obtained sufficient financial backing to bring Hawaii here in 1949 after going to Honolulu Dec. 4 for the first of the proposed home-and-home series. The agreement hinged on Mines guaranteeing $15,000 for the trip to Texas and the El Paso district touchdown club underwrote that amount. A contract is expected to be signed soon.

Hardin college of Wichita Falls is negotiating similarly with Hawaii with the first game to be played at Wichita Falls.

ARKANSAS WINS

(By The Associated Press)

The University of Arkansas — tied with Texas and Baylor for the Southwest conference basketball lead—last night defeated Arkansas State college, 76-59, in a non-conference game at Jonesboro, Ark. No other conference teams saw action.

South Zone Cagers See Action Tonight

Three Leading Quintets Appear In No Danger Of Losing To Their Opponents

South Plains Class A cage teams will experience another busy night tonight, but the current leaders appear to be reasonably safe from losing their stand at the top of the heap.

Although anything can happen in the South Plains Class A realm when good teams start sharpshooting, the current leaders appear to have their campaigns pretty well in hand, and are in no imminent peril, at least, of dropping any percentage points in the looming floor contests.

All Leaders Play

All three south zone leaders see battle action on the Friday night schedule. Each tangles with oft beaten fives, but one never knows when one of those quintets will drive afloor to play a game such as Tahoka did against the Abernathy Antelopes. That one, in which Tahoka won, 44-25, proceeded to deadlock the issue tighter than Dick's hat band in the south zone.

Up to that point Abernathy had full sailing in a clear field. Its Antelopes had beaten Sundown, and Sundown had trimmed Tahoka.

Post's Antelopes meet the Sundown five in Sundown; Tahoka goes to Slaton and Abernathy goes afloor against O'Donnell in O'Donnell.

There is but one contest in the north zone which can possibly claim the limelight. Sudan high's undefeated Hornets play Littlefield's unpredictable Wildcats in Littlefield. The Hornets beat the Wildcats decisively earlier in the season. Littlefield, believed an up-and coming team, had a relapse on Tuesday night and was beaten, 50-38, by Muleshoe.

Morton is scheduled for an appearance against the Levelland high Lobos, running second to the Hornets, while Muleshoe goes to Olton.

Meet On Feb. 13

Both Sudan and Levelland appear headed for titular play higher in the Class A realm. They do not meet again until Feb. 13, a "Friday-the-13th" engagement, at which time Levelland's Lobos are expected to be much more polished and ready for Sudan than they were when they tangled in Sudan and the Hornets edged them, 31-23.

A Sudan-Levelland finish fight for district and even regional honors in basketball is nothing new. They go through that procedure just about every cage season.

The district holds an annual tournament in which the two winners from each zone fight it out for the right to continue on into the regional tourney. It is believed to be the only Class A district in the state which annually sends two teams to the regional tournament.

In District 3-A, where Floydada is undefeated, six teams see conference action Friday night. Floydada goes to Spur to continue defense of its district lead. Lockney meets Crosbyton and Matador goes against Ralls to round out the district schedule.

Between . . . The Lines

— By JOE KELLY —

Normally this column pays no attention to snide remarks other writers, with hangovers and time on their hands, write, but three recent cracks by Harry Gilstrap of Amarillo nettle. Not that they nettle this writer's thick skin; they nettle only because they are indirectly aimed for the ailing owner of the Lubbock Hubbers, Sam Rosenthal, who is in no condition, or position, to defend himself.

Therefore, we are going to answer the three specific barbs at Sam and ignore the rest, as we generally do anything that emanates from the late lamented center of West Texas.

First, information about conditions within the Red, White, Blue or Gold Sox (they all looked alike to the Hubbers last year), did not come from Sam. He is unperturbed by other ball clubs, concentrating his efforts on continuing to give Lubbock fans the best Class C diamond activities in Texas. That he does so, and does it effectively, is shown by the steady rise of the Hubbers.

Second, Gilstrap refers to the day the Hubber bus broke down and the team failed to arrive in time to play Borger. He remarks that Sam never returned the munificent sum of $50, which was the Borger guarantee. Apparently Gilstrap went to sleep at the fall meeting of the West Texas-New Mexico league (held in Amarillo, too). For the matter was brought up by Borger and, with League President Milton E. Price present, Sam stated that failure to return the guarantee was directed by Price. Moreover, Sam offered to refund the $50 gladly, then, the next day or any time.

Third, some sports editors and sports writers are too busy to worry overly about personal matters six months or more in advance. Therefore, the sum a Lubbock writer gets for scoring and covering the Lubbock Hubber home games has not seemed important. Undoubtedly the price is fair. I have never asked, or been told, the exact sum we get here. I have been told it is a dollar or two less than they pay in Amarillo. Therefore, since there is discontent in Amarillo about what Lubbock pays—and Gilstrap appears happy in Amarillo—I suggest that he stay there.

Incidentally, Amarillo, could the losses to Odessa and Wichita Falls rankle so much that as fine a coach as Howard "Bull" Lynch, with an outstanding record behind him, had to ask for a vote of confidence? We were under the impression he did pretty fair to middling with the material available this season.

Curtis Barrett dropped in last night to pass on some information vital to members of the South Plains Officials and Coaches Association. Curtis stated that he would begin distributing paid-up membership lists of the SPOCA on Tuesday. He warned that all members wanting their names on this list must have their 1948 dues paid not later than Tuesday noon.

• • •

O. J. "Bo" Sexton and Bert Kahn are to be commended on their generosity in agreeing to give up part of their valuable time each day. The two boxing experts have agreed to spend a part of each day at Sled Allen's arena, where a large number of Golden Gloves prospects are training. Most of the boys are novices and every bit of instruction helps them. And every bit of knowledge they gain means better Golden Gloves bouts in the future.

Shreveport Sports Purchase Catcher

SHREVEPORT, La., Jan. 23 (AP) The Shreveport Sports of the Texas league have acquired catcher Frank Souza from Portland, Ore., of the Pacific Coast league in a straight trade for Outfielder Jim Basso.

Souza appeared briefly with Beaumont in the Texas league last year.

Levelland's Lobos Down Olton, 48-8

Levelland High school's Lobos continued their winning ways in the District 4-A north zone last night, but the free throw record of one of their star players overshadowed even the 48-8 defeat they handed Olton high's Mustangs.

Bobby Hart, in seven tosses at the basket from the foul line, made all of them count to run his total for three games to 23 without a miss, and that had the players, the coaches and the fans agog.

Olton, appearing in Levelland against the Lobos, was badly outclassed just as its Mustangs were when they tangled with the Sudan Hornets who won, 46-8.

Hart was high point man with 15.

Brownfield and Post High school fives drove through a seesaw, nip-and-tuck cake battle in Post with Brownfield winning in the last three minutes, 30-27. Post led at halftime, 12-10 and held a three-point lead with three minutes to go.

At New Deal school the New Deal high Lions put on one of their famous last period rallies to edge the Idalou high Wildcats, 28-22, in a 7-B clash.

Another top South Plains tournament got underway at Idalou with the pick of West Texas independent cage teams competing. In the four games played Yellow Cab beat Crawford Electric, 51-28; Idalou trimmed Lorenzo, 57-15; Prim Drug don from Sudan, 31-27, and Levelland took the measure of the Leftwich Nailers, 39-33.

The tourney finals are set for Saturday night.

Eight San Antonio Boxers Are First To Qualify For Tourney

(By The United Press)

Eight San Antonio area boxers today were the first in Texas to qualify for the state Golden Gloves tournament, to be held in Fort Worth beginning Feb. 11.

Finalists will be decided tonight at Wichita Falls in another of the 20 regional Golden Gloves tournaments which send men to the state finals.

Results Last Night

Results of last night's bouts at San Antonio:

Flyweight — Homer Martinez, 112, Moonglow club, tko'd Jessie Herrera, 107, Boys club.

Bantamweight — Gilbert Romo, 117, CBS club, decisioned Frank Villaneuva, 116, Prospect Hill.

Featherweight — Howard Van Winkle, 127, Moonglow, decisioned Caesar Vela, 126, Moonglow. Van Winkle knocked down Vela five times.

Lightweight—Louis Flores, 133, Moonglow, tko'd Sgt. Pat Bowers, 130, Randolph field. Bowers was knocked down three times.

Welterweight — Manuel Vega, 143, Moonglow, decisioned Laverne Hrazeail, 143, Lackland field.

Middleweight — Charles Miller, 153, CBS club, tko'd Louis Parker, 157, Brooke Army Medical center.

Lightweight — Norman Theis, 172, Trinity university, won a split decision by one point over David Carter, 172, Trinity.

Heavyweight — Pvt. Ben Hales, 185, Brooke Medical center, tko'd Bill Ralls, 193, Trinity.

The Moonglow athletic club was awarded trophies for novice and open championships. There were 158 bouts in the four-day regional tournament in San Antonio.

Tournaments also are underway at Fort Worth and El Paso.

Cinder Path Artists In Workouts At Tech

Winter is in the air and the sharp biting wind is not encouraging to track athletes these days, but a group of Texas Tech students are pounding the cinders daily.

This handful of men probably will be the backbone of a Red Raider squad that will take part in the 25th Annual Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet on Farrington Field in Ft. Worth on March 19 and 20. Official track practice at Tech will not start for another two weeks, but conditioning already is under way.

Coach Maxey McKnight probably will concentrate on the track events at Ft. Worth, building his competing squad of approximately six men around Charlie Reynolds, Border Conference sprint champion. It is still too early, however, to know who will make the trip.

There will be four divisions in the track and field meet, with university, college, junior college and prep schools and high school athletes entering competition. Preliminary events will be run on March 20 and the finals in all divisions will be run the same afternoon.

R. D. Evans, director of the meet, expects a record number of entries for the track and field meet this year, which once again will be held in conjunction with the Southwestern Livestock Exposition.

Mike Jacobs Denies He Plans To Retire

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 23 (U.P.) Boxing Promoter Mike Jacobs, head of New York's 20th Century Sporting club, flatly denied published reports today tha he was planning to retire and said he would continue in the fight game "indefinitely."

"I am not going to retire," said the 67-year-old promoter who has been recuperating from a recent illness at this Normandy isle home. But he added that he intended to spend "as much time here as possible."

Tahoka Boxers Defeat Wilson

WILSON, Jan. 23 (Special) — Tahoka school boxers edged the Wilson school team, seven matches to six, here last night in the second meeting of the two teams this season.

The Wilson school fighters now have been working little more than a month, but have shown remarkable improvement since their first appearance against the Tahoka team in Tahoka.

Each team posted a knockout. W. J. Karl, Tahoka weighing 142, registered the first one when he put Tommy Bedgarz, also weighing 142, on the canvas for the count.

"Pinky" May of Wilson, 128-pounder, in the very next bout, kayoed Dan Martin, 127.

In the final bout of the evening Paul Hill of Tahoka, weighing 150, won by a technical knockout over Junior Wuenche, 150.

"Bo" Sexton, veteran Lubbock referee, himself an ex-fighter, refereed all bouts and won acclaim for his officiating.

Other results with the weights of the boxers and the names of Tahoka fighters appearing first: Brownie Williams, 69, decisioned Douglas Scott, 68; Max Dodson, 74, won from Jerold Coleman, 72, on decision; Charley Shunts, 75, beat Jimmy Schneider, 75, by decision; Wayne Martin, 80, lost to Javan Schneider, 79, by decision; Harley Shunts, 80, decisioned by Dewey Corley, 79; Lynn Hammershacker, 86, beat Cordell Hagens, 86, decision; Joe Brooks, 84, lost to R. J. Bednarz, 82, decision; Wayne Brashi, 85, beat John Hewlett, 89, by decision; Bill Short, 104, lost to Charles Scott, 104, on decision; Elwayne Crotwell, 100, lost to James Hewlett, 100, by decision.

About 500 persons witnessed the fights.

Judges were C. M. Wright and Albert Wuensche and Teinert served as timekeeper.

Bowling Scores

The Lions club keglers, leading the Civic Bowling League, were upset in two out of three matches last night on the Lubbock Bowling club lanes by the fourth-place American Legion five.

The defeat enabled the V.F.W. keglers to move into an even more challenging position, as they went ahead of the Jaycees by defeating that team in two out of three games. The ABC quintet gained ground at the expense of the Kiwanis team, winning two out of three, while the Optimists lost ground by dropping two of three games to the last-place Exhange club.

Havana Police Reserves Called Out To Meet Red Demonstrators

By FRANCIS L. McCARTHY
United Press Staff Writer

HAVANA, Jan. 23.—Powerful police reserves were called out in Havana today to meet expected Communist demonstrations over the slaying of a Communist leader, Jesus Menendez, 37, member of the Cuban House of Representatives.

Reports from Manzanillo, 540 miles southeast of Havana in oriente province, said Menendez was shot and killed in an argument with rural guards there when he refused to submit to arrest, claiming congressional immunity. One rural guard was wounded.

Was On Speech Tour

The gun battle took place in the Manzanillo railroad station when Menendez and his party pulled in on a train from Bayamo, 40 miles to the east, where he had been speaking to union groups.

Menendez was seeretary of the National Federation of Sugar Workers, one of the largest of two major Cuban labor groups still under Leftist control. He left Havana last Friday on a speaking tour.

Claim Assassination

Communist sources claimed that Menendez was shot in the back by Capt. Joaquin Castilla of the 13th Rural Guard squadron. Communist legislators Sen. Juan Marinello and Rep. Blas Roca telegraphed President Ramon Grau San Martin demanding "swift and exemplary" punishment for the "assassin."

The shooting took place af 7 p. m. yesterday. Cuban army troops immediately took over police duties in Manzanillo, a Communist stronghold. The body of Menendez, in a casket covered with the Cuban flag, was carried through the town on the shoulders of workers before being placed on a train to Havana for burial.

Red Crowds Gather

Several hundred sullen Communists gathered in front of Communist (Popular Socialist party) headquarters in the workers district of Havana early today after the shooting became known.

Police reserves were called out to circle the area in prowl cars and extra police squads also were sent to the nearby Communist radio station, which halted all programs and broadcast only funeral music and bulletins on Menendez' death.

Red Cross Official Claimed By Death

EDINBURG, Jan. 23. (AP)—W. C. Jones, 47, veteran disaster chairman of the Hidalgo county Red Cross chapter, died here yesterday. Jones, local manager for the Central Power & Light company, directed rescue and relief work in the 1933 Rio Grande valley hurricane and also helped rescue residents of Rio Rico, Mexico, during floods on the Rio Grande.

Goes To College To Be With But Ain't

VERMILLION, S. D., Jan. 23. (U.P.)—The University of South Dakota student newspaper, the Volante, conducted a survey among co-eds on why women go to college. Wrote one:

"I came to school to be went with, but I ain't."

Florida Citrus Ban Goes Into Effect

LAKELAND, Fla., Jan. 23. (AP) Florida's seven-day embargo on shipment of fresh citrus was in effect today.

Pickers jammed orchards throughout the citrus belt yesterday in an effort to have fruit inspected and certified before the embargo went into effect at midnight. Prices jumped to as high as $3 per box FOB for oranges, top price since the market settled after the first few days of the season.

Outstanding Military Students Are Named

Seven outstanding military sciense students at Texas Technological college, including three from Lubbock, have been officially designated as distinguished military students, Lt. Col. L. C. Adams, head of the military science department, announced Thursday.

This honor is a definite step towards their being designated as distinguished military graduates and consideration for appointment as second lieutenants in the regular army, Col. Adams said.

Included in those named from Lubbock are: Orville Alderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Alderson of 2222 Seventeenth street, a graduate in the Civil engineering department in June 1947 and the only graduate of the group, the others all being candidates for graduation; Louis D. Stevens, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stevens of 3214 Twenty-first, an electrical engineering student; and James L. Kee, a business administration student and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Kee.

Others named include Ray N. Rhodes, San Angelo, electrical engineering; Robert L. Adams, Coahoma, Marketing; Richard L. Tibbetts, Quitaque, accounting; and Harold W. Ballew, Hobbs, New Mexico, physics.

In order to be eligible for recognition as a distinguished military student the following requirements must be met: He must be a graduating senior possessing outstanding qualities of military leadership, have a definite aptitude for military service, be distinguished in academic leadership and campus activities, be scheduled to complete the advanced course in the senior division of the ROTC within one year, and be classified in the upper one third of his ROTC class.

Officers Are Chosen

ATLANTA, Jan. 23 (AP)—Thirteen state units of the National Cotton council announced today the election of new local officers for 1948.

The unit elections included:

Arkansas: L. T. Barringer, Memphis, Tenn., chairman; W. A. Baker, Pinebluff and E. F. Wade, Little Rock, Harold A. Young, North Little Rock, vice-chairmen.

Louisiana: J. H. Henry, Melrose, La., chairman; Norris C. Williamson, Lake Providence, and L. Kirby Newburger, New Orleans, vice-chairmen; C. A. Bertel, New Orleans, secretary.

Texas: George G. Chance, Bryan, chairman; James D. Dawson, Houston, Aubrey L. Lockett, Vernon, and T. W. Steiner, Gonzales, Texas, all vice-chairmen.

March Of Dimes Is Off To Good Start

Approximately $700 has been received in the March of Dimes campaign in response to letters mailed and about $200 or more has been given at booths, Marion T. Key and Waggoner Carr, co-chairmen of the campaign, announced Thursday afternoon.

Posters with attached coin receptacles have been placed at Texas Technological college and on locations along College avenue, in addition to places downtown where the posters and containers had been placed last weekend. Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity of which Carl Lawson is president, has charge of the collections at Tech.

Response At Booths Good

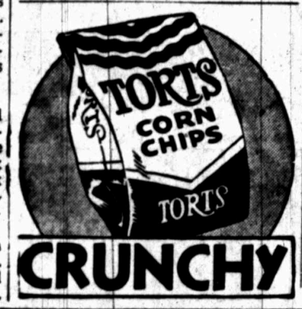

Good response has been received in the booths operated by the Jaycee-Ettes and Junior Welfare league at Hilton and Lubbock hotels, Citizens, First and Lubbock National banks and Hemphill-Wells Co. and Dunlap's department stores, it was announced.

Largest contributions have been three of $100 each, given by T. B. Duggan, sr., Durward Mahon and the Kuykendall Foundation. Charles C. Crenshaw, sr., gave $25.

A "Wishing Well" in which donations may be placed will be located in 1000-block Broadway Monday through Saturday next week. And construction of the well is being completed by members of Carpenters union local 1884 and Painters local union 342, who donated work.

Army Participation day was observed Tuesday, when donations were taken by Army personnel, who displayed a jeep in 1000-block Broadway.

Nearly one-half of the matches consumed in England before the war were imported.

Jones Refuses To Quit Race

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23 (U.P.) — Nearly complete returns gave Earl K. Long a heavy lead in the Democratic primary race for governor of Louisiana today, but second-running candidate Sam Jones refused to withdraw and predicted that he would win a runoff election Feb. 24.

The Democratic nominee is sure of election in this one-party state.

With 1,501 of the state's 1,878 precincts reporting, Long held a lead of 84,841 votes.

His total was 189,179, compared with 114,338 for Jones. Judge Robert F. Kennon ran third with 82,103 and U. S. Rep. James H. Morrison was fourth with 75,495.

Withdrawals Asked

The "old regular" political organization, which supported fourth-place candidate Morrison in the first primary, announced last night that it would throw its support to Long in the runoff and asked Jones to make a "graceful withdrawal."

Jones said he would not withdraw, however, and pointed out that "more people voted against Long than for Long."

The beginning of the second phase of a bitter campaign between Jones and Long was apparent when Jones predicted that most voters would "join the forces of decent government" and support him in February.

Long and Jones, both former governors, engaged in a series of furious charges and countercharges over alleged income tax irregularities during the first campaign, and that issue was expected to arise again.

Long, a brother of the late U. S. Sen. Huey P. (Kingfish) Long, has filed a million-dollar "conspiracy" suit against Jones, U. S. Rep. James Domengeaux, and two New Orleans newspapers, growing out of the income tax charges.

Longhorns' Famous "Water Boy" Hurt

HOUSTON, Jan. 23 (AP)—Tiny Billy (Rooster) Andrews, once famed as the University of Texas' "All-America Water Boy," remained in a serious condition today after his automobile overturned near Cypress last night.

The four-foot, eleven inch Andrews received fractures to the left knee and right hand and severe lacerations to the head and body, attendants at a Houston hospital reported.

Hospital attendants said Andrews was enroute to Austin when his automobile hit a soft shoulder in the road and overturned three times.

He is employed by an Austin sporting goods firm.

The tiny Andrews gained fame in the early forties as waterboy with the University of Texas football squad, which he also served as student manager.

His greatest personal satisfaction came in his closing three years at Texas, when he developed into such an exceptional drop kicker that Coach Dana X. Bible had him kick extra points.

A pipe was called "tobago" by the Italians. Columbus mistook the word for the name of the weed and called it tobacco.

Atomic Theft Trial Site Transferred

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 23 (U.P.)—Formal transfer of the trial of Ernest D. Wallis, charged with the theft of secret documents from the Los Alamos project, has been moved to the Chicago Federal court, it was reported today.

The transfer was approved by U. S. District court in Albuquerque. The Greenwood, Mo., resident filed a consent to transfer the case and waived trial in New Mexico.

Jealous Wife Cuts Husband's Allowance

Hen-Pecked Floridan Sues For Divorce

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 23.(U.P.)—Vincent P. Spiriti asked for a divorce here today because, he said, his wife Vivian is the jealous type.

She wouldn't let him see the newspapers until she had cut out all pictures of woman, he charged, and she turned off radio programs he wanted to hear because a woman's voice provoked her jealousy.

One day, Spiriti said, Vivian found he carried a picture of his sister in his billfold and made him give it back.

Besides he added, she cut his spending money allowance to 25 cents a week. It was 50 cents when they were first married in 1946.

Air Fields Named In Honor Of War Heroes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23. (U.P.)— The Air Force today named 10 air fields in honor of officers who died in the service of their country.

The announcement came in a redesignation of all air force installations as Air Force bases.

The 10 fields included:

Griffiss Air Force base, Fort Worth, Tex., named in honor of Lt. Col. Townsend Griffiss of Buffalo, N. Y., killed in a plane crash overseas, Feb. 15, 1942.

Holloman Air Force base, Alamogordo, N. M., named after Col. George V. Holloman, pioneer in guided missiles research killed in a crash at Formosa, March 19, 1946. He was born in North Carolina.

Walker Air Force base, Roswell, N. M., named in honor of Brig. Gen. Kenneth N. Walker, missing in action since he led a daylight bombing attack against Rabaul, New Britain. Born in Cerrillos, N. M.

Ernest Harmon Air Force base, Stephenville, Newfoundland, named in honor of Capt. Ernest Harmon, killed on a test flight near Stamford, Conn., in August, 1933. born in Dallas, Tex.

Multi-Millionaire Raps Aid Program

HOUSTON, Jan. 23. (U.P.)— Multi-millionaire Hugh Roy Cullen last night denounced the United States foreign aid program, saying it "will only make weaklings of foreign peoples" and warning "as long as this country has an indebtedness of some $258,000,000,000 it is not in a secure position.

Cullen, oilman-philanthropist of fabulous wealth, told a banquet group:

"The $6,000,000,000 that we now contemplate sending to Europe this year should either go to retiring the government bonds of this country or be put into atomic bombs and long-range airplanes to protect this country."

He declared that foreign relief would only support nations "which Stalin expects to take over."

Some oil wells cost about $250,000 to drill.

New Mexico Police Are Seeking Slayer

MADERA, Calif., Jan. 23 (AP) — Police Chief W. E. Thomas said today he was informed by Carlsbad, N. M., authorities that a man who has been employed at a packing plant near Madera is wanted in the New Mexico city on a murder charge, involving a 1924 shooting.

Chief Thomas said the man, Santiago Roman, 40, failed to show up for work this morning and a bus company employe told Thomas she sold him a ticket "somewhere south."

At Carlsbad, asst. dist. atty. Jack McGarry moved in district court to reinstate the charge of murder against Roman, who broke jail before trial in the slaying of Francisco Duarte in Malaga, N. M.

The prosecution in 1932 dismissed the original charge with leave to reinstate it.

Mineola Rent Hike Request Is Denied

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (U.P.)— Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods today rejected recommendations of two local rent advisory boards on grounds they failed to supply information required by the Rent Control act.

The Griffin, Ga., local board had recommended removal of rent controls in Spalding countyt, Ga.

The Mineola, Tex., board had recommended removal of controls in Wood county, Tex., except in the cities of Mineola, Winnsboro and Hawkins where it recommended a 10 per cent increase.

Woods said he was required by the rent act to disapprove their recommendations since neither had shown that the need for rental housing had been reasonably met.

Detectives Arrest High-Flying Pair

FORT WORTH, Jan. 23 (U.P.) — Two men were being held here today for "high" flying.

Detectives arrested the pair last night several hours after they took off from Midwest airport in a light training plane, buzzed the field for 15 minutes and landed in an oat field. They admitted they had been drinking.

Neither could explain exactly what prompted the unauthorized airplane flight. One commented, "there just wasn't nothing else to do."

Polar Peak Named After Texas Hero

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (U.P.)—A 3,000-foot Antarctic mountain today bore the name of Stephen F. Austin, Texas pioneer.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester said he was notified by Comdr. Finn Ronne, leader of an expedition now in the South polar region which discovered the mountain, that "the beautiful snow-covered dome mountain" named Mt. Stephen Austin is located at 75 degrees south latitude and 63 degrees west longitude.

The mountain, Comdr. Ronne added, is "almost in the center of a 55-mile deep bay which I have named the American Geographical Society bay."

The Ronne antarctic research expedition is sponsored by citizens of Beaumont, Tex.

The first commercial consignment of tea to Europe is believed to have reached Holland about 1610.

Suspect In Forged Check Foray Held

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Jan. 23 (U.P.)—A towering, bespectacled suspect has admitted leaving a trail of $1,200 in bad checks in his wake as he journeyed through the Southwest, Police Chief Pat Dugan said here today.

Dugan said the suspect was taken into custody Wednesday at the request of Phoenix, Ariz., police who had issued a warrant for his arrest. Dugan gave the six-foot-two-inch suspect's name as Martin Noonan of Phoenix.

Police Detective Paul Shaver said that Noonan admitted passing almost 50 checks:

Six checks on the Central Bank and Trust Co., Denver, Colo.; 15 on the Bank of America at Long Beach, Cal.; three on the Bank of America's branch at Hayward, Cal.; and about 25 on the National Bank of Arizona at Phoenix.

Replacement Is No. 1 Problem That Private Blood Banks Face

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Legal tender in a blood bank is blood.

"Dollars cannot be transfused into people's veins," blood bank experts plead. "What we want is blood."

New Plan Launched

Replacement has been the No. 1 problem of private blood banks.

The American Red Cross, which collected and sent millions of pints of blood overseas during world war II, has begun again the same service to supply blood and blood products free to all sick and injured citizens.

As in wartime, citizens will be asked to donate blood, and the Red Cross will pay costs of processing and distribution. On Jan. 12 the Red Cross launched at Rochester, N. Y., the first unit of a planned network of regional and local blood centers.

Private blood bank workers are watching the program carefully. They point out that the emotional impulse which drove private citizens to Red Cross blood gathering units during the war will be gone.

"They jammed the blood centers because it was the thought that maybe it was their husband or brother overseas who would need blood," explained Miss Marjorie Saunders, administrative assistant to the Buchanan Blood bank of Dallas.

Impulse Dies Quickly

"Within a few hours after we had sent all our blood supply to Texas City last April and then called for volunteers we were forced to set up three temporary bleeding stations.

"Unfortunately that impulse dies quickly."

Workers in private blood banks met in Dallas last fall to discuss their mutual problems, largest of which was blood replacement.

"The ideal situation would be to have each patient replace, pint for pint, the blood he is given by appealing to relatives and friends," said Dr. J. Richard Czajkowski of Seattle. "But we've found that only 80 per cent replacement by this means can be counted on."

In an effort to meet the problem, blood banks are fostering group plans by which a church, club or firm may "deposit" blood in return for a guarantee of transfusion when any member or his family needs it. The guarantee varies from six months to a year.

The groups are given quotas of blood which must be filled by voluntary donors monthly in the plans worked out by blood bank centers in Dallas, Seattle and San Francisco.

"We've got to educate the public that to participate in blood banks is just as essential as medical insurance," Dr. Czajkowski asserted.

The American Red Cross had offered in some cities to help community blood banks round up donors.

"But this still isn't satisfactory," said Dr. Osborne Brines of Detroit, where the Red Cross has helped secure donors. "We've had to increase the pressure on friends and relatives of a patient."

Recruiting For Navy Increases In Month

Recruiting for the Navy has increased since the first of the year, the Navy recruiting office announced today in reporting 13 men have been enlisted this month from this area.

Some of the high school graduates have been taking advantage of the Navy's new policy of picking one's trade before enlisting and thus being assured of going to the trade school chosen upon completion of recruit training. Quotas for some of the trade schools have been filled for this month, but many still are open, it was announced. A new quota will be issued the first of each month. A high school diploma qualifies a man for one of the trade schools now operated by the Navy. Physical standards have been lowered, in that color blindness is no longer disqualifying and one is acceptable if he can see 2/20 with each eye and they are correctable to 20/20 each with glasses. Further information may be obtained at the recruiting office.

Those enlisted this month are: Calvin Lewis Thomas, Billy Eugene Myers, James Lowell Turner, Raymond Acker Hunter, all of Lubbock; Reginal Lee Prather, Marvin Donald Gayle, both Denver City; Doyle Gene Lewallen, Wilson; James Andrew Lewallen, both of Wilson; James Earl Kimberlin, Ropesville; John William Williams, Earth; T. McGuire, C. L. Holden, C. V. Bright, all of Big Spring. Holden, entering under the plan of choosing a trade before enlisting, chose aviation electric material.

Low Bids For School Equipment Announced

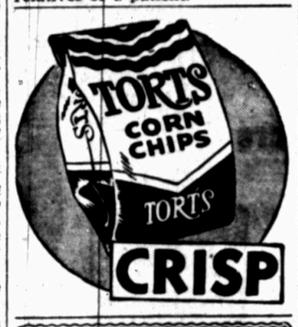

Low bids approximating a total of $45,000 for furniture and equipment for Lubbock's two new junior high schools were announced late Thursday by the board of trustees of Lubbock Independent school district through the office of A. C. Jackson, business manager.

The bids were opened at a board meeting Tuesday night, but due to number and complexity of the bids, results could not be announced before lengthy tabulation and study of the proposals was completed, it was explained.

Bids accepted included: 1,500 pedestal tablet arm chairs, $15.10 each installed, and 300 straight chairs, $7 each, from Southwestern Seating company, San Antonio; 64 office and teachers' desks from American Desk company, Temple, $37.50 each; 1,000 folding chairs, $4.20 each, from Gulf States Equipment company, Dallas.

Also 1,800 auditorium seats, $8.80 each from American Seating company, Dallas; and 100 folding cafeteria tables, $29 each, from Griggs Equipment company, Belton.

Potters of ancient times always secured the best possible designs for their tiles, since once in position the tiles could not be hidden or easly removed but served as an enduring record of the craftsman's skill.

Expert Says 1960 Car Will Be Powered By Synthetic Gasoline

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 23—When the American motorist buys his 1960 model he will be driving almost entirely on synthetic gasoline, an expert on fuels predicted today.

And his car will have more pep because it will be a superior quality gasoline, according to Howard Dimmig, vice president of Hydrocarbon research.

Plants Being Built

He told a meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers that two large plants for manufacture of synthetic gasoline already are under construction and should be in operation early in 1949. He estimated that a half dozen other plants will be started within the next six months.

In these plants, he said, natural gas is decomposed into a mixture of carbon monoxide and hydrogen and the gas mixture is then reacted over a suitable catalyst to produce a mixture of 85-90 per cent gasoline and 10-15 per cent diesel oil.

"The gasoline is of superior quality—in fact better than the present market demands and better than that presently made by conventional oil refining process," he said.

"The investment and operating cost are such as to make the process competitive with present crude oil refining products."

Oil Scarcity Seen

Dimmig predicted that the supply of natural crude oil will be "tight" within 10 years if the present rate of consumption continues. He recalled that the overall energy production or consumption in the United States for the last 50 years shows and increase of about 50 per cent. During the same period, he said, the production from coal has dropped about 10 per cent while that from crude oil has more than trebled in volume.

"In the so-called motor-age," he said, 'more transportation both of materials and of people is being done in trucks, buses and pleasure cars. The daily consumption of petroleum has gone from about 4,500,000 barrels daily before the war, to 5,500,000 at the present time, with a predicted 6,000,000 barrels by 1951."

Dimmig said that within 10 years atomic energy might be employed for large-scale power installations, but "it is difficult to visualize its use for trucks, buses and pleasure cars."

Dimmig said that the nation must develop its synthetic fuel program.

"It is necessary if we want to continue our present economy or way of living," he said.

Carpenter Building Coffin For War Dog That Met Death Under Wheels Of His Car

SALISBURY, Mass., Jan. 23. (U.P.)—Carpenter Ralph Barton's hands were sure and steady though a hint of a tear glistened in his eye today as he sawed and hammered a coffin for a war hero.

"I killed him," said Barton. "They say it wasn't my fault, but it was me that did it. And after he came home safe from four years of war in Europe."

Run Over By Car

Barton's skillful hands worked short pieces of wood into a small-sized box as he spoke. It was short, but big enough for the body of "Butch"—"the only dog from Salisbury to serve Uncle Sam."

That's the way it was put by Lawrence Peters, the town's director of veterans' services.

"We couldn't leave 'Butch" in the town dump," Peters explained. "That's where they brought him after he was run over by Barton's car. His back was broken and a policeman had to shoot him."

When Peters heard what happened to the black and white German shepherd dog, he gathered some veterans including Restaurant Chef James Moghabaghab, "Butch's" owner.

Burial Rites Planned

"We agreed 'Butch' had to have a hero's burial after what he's meant to this town," said Peters. "We put together $10—not much, but it will be enough for a real ceremony and a soldier's grave.

Peters received permission from the town authorities to remove "Butch's" body from the dump, and the Society for The Prevention of Cruelty to Animals agreed to hold a burial ceremony in Methuen.

"We don't know when it will be," said Peters. "There may be a couple of day's delay. We're expecting 'Butch's army service citation from Washington any day now."

Children's Day At Stock Show Today

BROWNWOOD, Jan. 23. (AP)—Today is "Childrens Day" at the fifth annual Brownwood Live Stock show and Gov. Beauford Jester is scheduled to be on hand to address the children and witness judging.

Poultry entries were judged yesterday. Grand champion male was shown by A. E. Spivey of Graham. The grand champion female was shown by J. M. Day, Brownwood. Both birds were Rhode Island Reds.

In the breeders sheep show judging, Leo Richardson, Iraan, exhibited the champion Rambouillet ram and Avery Stewart, Bangs, reserve champion; Gene Tongate, Brookesmith, champion and reserve champion Rambouillett ewe, C. Horton, Talpa, champion Delaine ram, and Owen Bragg, Talpa, reserve champion; Bragg, champion ewe; Joe Lemay, Valera, reserve champion Delaine ewe; H. C. Noe-ke, Sheffield, champion and reserve champion Corriedale rams, and three best ram lambs.

Complications Confront Labor Head's 45-Hr. Work Week Plan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 — There's been talk of making the American work week longer: From the present 40 hours to 44 or 45.

That's not likely to happen. There's a federal law now, called the Fair Labor Standards act. It's the 40-hour week law.

Plan Has Faults

Under this act workers in most businesses must get paid overtime at the rate of time-and-a-half for every hour worked over 40 hours a week.

Employers and unions can agree, any time they wish, to work 45 or 50 hours a week—provided the boss pays that overtime rate. If Congress tried to wipe out the 40-hour week and say men must work 44 or 45 hours before getting overtime, labor might react strongly.

Last spring Bernard M. Baruch, adviser to Presidents, suggested this country go on a 44-hour week.

And Charles E. Wilson, head of General Motors, the giant auto-making corporation, has suggested the same thing.

But why a 44-hour week?

The reason given is that, through longer hours worked, more goods might get produced. And, with more goods for sale, prices might come down.

Need More Materials

And yesterday William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said:

If Congress would pass laws to control inflation and keep living costs down, then labor might do this:

Agree not to ask for higher wages but, instead, agree to work 45 hours a week. But he didn't mean 45 hours at straight time pay.

In the steel industry the workers belong to the CIO and not to the AFL. CIO people say:

The steel industry is working at almost full capacity. At least, it's working 24 hours a day. The workers there work eight-hour shifts, 40 hours a week.

So how would the steel industry be able to turn out any more steel by letting the men work nine hours a day?

Or take the automobile industry. In this industry, too, the CIO, not the AFL, has the big unions. CIO men say:

The manufacture of autos is slowed down by a lack of steel for auto bodies, not by a lack of manpower or man-hours worked.

Would putting them on nine hours a day turn out more cars if the steel for making them is still lacking? Or would that just add to the cost of a new car and so help boost prices?

Honor Is Paid To Dr. White

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP)—A greater Baylor university, scholastically, athletically and spiritually, was President-elect W. R. White's hope as he neared inauguration.

Speaking at a dinner honoring him here last night, White said "if we all work together we can achieve greater things for Baylor."

White takes over as president of Baylor university Feb. 1, succeeding Pat M. Neff, who resigned.

A parting gift from the First Baptist church of Austin, where he has been serving as pastor, was a fund to be known as the Dr. and Mrs. Billy White scholarship, to be used for any needy student.

Meets Need Of Day

Dr. W. W. Melton, president of the Baylor board of trustees, said that Dr. White is a man "who meets the need of the day at Baylor. He will stand head and shoulders with the great men who have held the presidency."

Dr. White said he would like to see Baylor advance in the field of athletics, not only to have winning teams, but to demonstrate that real christianity is "not lop-sided and reaches out into all realms of life."

He added that if he could find a good football prospect, he'd take care of that, too.

White said he wanted to see an expanded and separate graduate school established.

He said he would like to see Baylor become greater in the quality of its spiritual life. "I want it to be deep, profund, inclusive, subtle and penetrating, motivating all life."

Harvard Geologist Is Speaker At Tech

Dr. Marlin P. Billings, professor of geology at Harvard university, spoke on the "Orogeny (mountain building) of the Appalachian Highlands of New England" last night in the Aggie Memorial auditorium at Texas Technological college, illustrating his talk with a series of lantern slides.

Dr. Billings, who is considered an outstanding authority on the history of the region, discussed methods of field work in the Appalachian highlands, explained the structure of the region, and interpreted its geological history. His talk covered three great geological periods in the development of the region, the Taconic, the Acadian, and the Appalachian periods.

Since the speech was of a technical nature, most of the approximately 200 persons present for the talk were students of geology at Tech, Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the Tech geology department, said.

Dr. Billings' speech was sponsored by the Distinguished Lectures Committee of the American Geological society which provides outstanding lecturers to speak to affiliated chapters, colleges and universities.

Jester Will Attend Governors' Confab

AUSTIN, Jan. 23 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester today was making plans to attend a Florida meeting of southern governors next month at which the chief executives will discuss proposals for regional universities for negroes.

The meeting was called by Gov. William Preston Lane, jr., of Maryland, chairman of the Southern Governors conference. Gov. Millard F. Caldwell of Florida suggested the meeting be held Feb. 7-8 at Tallahassee, and urged full attendance.

"If it's that important, I intend to go," Jester said.

"It makes us feel pretty good that Texas is out in front on these things," he added, pointing out that a Texas state university for negroes was set up at Houston last September and a temporary law school for negroes now is in operation at Austin.

Texas has no set policy on the idea of regional schools supported by the states, the governor explained. The suggestion was advanced as a possible means of economically assuring top class educational facilities for negroes.

Canned Vegetables Given To Red Cross

Several hundred cans of vegetables canned by Crosbyton women in war years have been given to the Lubbock county chapter of th American Red Cross.

The vegetables originally were canned for use in the school cafeteria at Crosbyton. The offer to the Lubbock chapter came from T. W. Dunn, president of the school board of Crosbyton, and C. O. Head, superintendent.

The food was sorted and inspected by E. H. Timian, sanitarian of the food division of the city health department, Mrs. H. E. Archer and Miss Lula Mae Cravens, volunteer chapter workers.

Olen Stewart wholesale grocery company furnished a truck and driver to bring the shipment to Lubbock and Paul Faulkner donated a storage place accessible to the Red Cross offices.

The food will be issued to needy persons who qualify for Red Cross financial assistance. Most of it will go to veterans. Other indigent persons for whom there are no local assistance resources will be eligible after proper investigation, it was announced.

MIDWAY TO BE ALTERED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) — Navy officials said today that plans are under consideration for "extensive alteration" of the Midway out of the Mediterranean for "extensive alterations," but will send in another aircraft carrier. There was speculation that one of the Midway's sister ships, the Franklin D. Roosevelt or Coral Sea, might take her place. The Navy did not specify. Both will be ready for assignment when the Midway withdraws during March.

WEST Texas constantly is being libeled. About the wind out here, that is.

There's been so much talk about wind on the Plains that even we who live out here have fallen for it, lock, stock and barrel. We've been told so many times that our country is the "windiest on earth" that we've come to believe it and we plead "guilty" without ever even considering the facts.

This is to say that we felt more wind at Bermuda, a celebrated vacation and resort spot, and in the Azores, on two recent stops at each place than anybody encounters on a normal day here. Inquires at Bermuda elicited the information that the wind there was a little bit greater than normal; at Terciera, in the Azores, we were told it was "more or less average."

Over on the European continent the wind didn't blow every day, but it blew as much and as frequently as it does here in West Texas. In Washington one day we remarked to Rep. George Mahon, while walking from the New House Office building to the capitol, that our average wind in West Texas couldn't touch the breeze we were encountering at the time.

Let's quit pleading guilty to having more, or worse, winds than we really have. A. B. Davis wasn't lying when presented to the Army Air Forces statistics proving that yarns about our breezes are overdrawn.

NOBODY has yet announced for State Representative from the 119th district and for our part, we hope no one does — except, of course, the incumbent, Preston Smith.

As a matter of fact, the people of Cochran, Hockley, Crosby, Lubbock, Terry, Lynn, Yoakum, Dawson and Gaines counties should do everything they can to dissuade any ambitious individual who might have false hopes of unseating Representative Smith.

Mr. Smith, a business man, has had two two-year terms in the House at Austin and has become one of the 12 or 15 men who really run things in the lower branch of the legislature. His seniority has stacked up to where he will be even a greater power next term than he was during the last — and that was plenty.

Because he is scrupulously honest and sincere, and a tremendous worker at his job, Mr. Smith should be kept at Austin as long as he can be persuaded to stay there.

Representatives of the people of the Smith calibre are unusual and the respect accorded him by his legislative colleagues makes him a most valuable man for the 119th district.

Keeping him in Austin should be a civic project on the part of the people of every one of his nine counties.

THE uncertainty of life and the inexorable demands of death never were illustrated to a more marked degree than in Lubbock early Thursday when Dr. Fred W. Standefer was found dead in his bed.

True, Doctor Standefer had not been in normal health for several years. He had suffered one especially serious heart attack, thereafter, several of slightly less degree of seriousness. Before going to bed Wednesday night he was not feeling up to par. Yet there was no reason for those closest to him to guess that his cheery voice and smile would be forever gone before the rising of another sun.

But that is the way life goes, sometimes, and the way death comes. If there is a comforting feeling connected with Doctor Standefer's passing it is that he crossed into the Great Unknown without further suffering, or pain.

So as many people in Lubbock and this area note with deep regret the loss of a good husband, a good father, a good citizen and a good doctor; as still many others, closer to him, mourn his passing, we join in a salute to the memory of a grand little guy whom we met more than a score of years ago, before he hung out his shingle, and whose success and constantly increasing stature in this community have since given us pleasure to view

BY DREW PEARSON: AID PROGRAM COULD BUILD UNITED STATES OF EUROPE

Russia Attempting To Steal This Country's Idea

WASHINGTON — The distance from Trieste to Paris is about half the distance between New York and Chicago. But the trip by the fastest train — the Simplon-Orient express takes nearly twice as long. One reason is that so much time is wasted with red tape at the border of each country. During the trip you are awakened no fewer than twelve different times by customs, passport, and monetary inspectors wanting to look at your baggage, stamp your passport or check on the amount of money in your wallet.

PEARSON

Each time you are awakened you say to yourself: "Abraham Lincoln was certainly right."

In other words, if Lincoln hadn't made the difficult and momentous decision that the federal union must be preserved, travelers crossing the United States today probably would be showing passports at half a dozen state lines, and we would be suffering the same kind of headaches which have almost capsized Europe.

Realizing the importance of unity, Soviet Russia is now engaged in trying to weld Eastern Europe and the Balkans into one homogeneous unit—the only sensible way Europe can operate. In other words, the boys from Moscow are stealing our idea. If we are smart, we won't let them get away with it.

Russian Force vs. U. S. Persuasion

The Russians of course are trying to weld Europe together by force—ruthless force. Regretfully, Abraham Lincoln had to resort to force of arms. But there were many differences.

Most important, perhaps, was the fact that Lincoln was trying to preserve something already in existence, while the Russians are trying to create something which never before existed. And it's highly doubtful that by knocking people's heads together and by shooting peasant leaders who don't cooperate, you can make European nations work together for keeps in a United States of Europe.

What real success the Russians have had—and unquestionably they have had some—has been attained more by clever propaganda and sales arguments.

All of which is by way of saying that important as the Marshall plan is, we have to go further and use it to build up first a United States of Western Europe, and later a United States of all Europe.

Bernie Baruch, testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations committee earlier this week, called it a political, economic and defense union. But regardless of the name, something like this must go hand-in-hand with the Marshall plan as an integral part of it, if our money is to build up permanent peace.

How to Execute Marshall Plan

Building up such a union is not going to be easy, but there are several ways of going at it. One of them is in the actual execution of the Marshall plan.

Personally, I share the anxiety of certain Republican Senators that we have good business executives in charge of the Marshall plan; and perhaps the most efficient way to build up Europe would be to tell the engineers of the Pennsylvania railroad to go in and reconstruct the French railways, while the New York Central would get the job of revamping the Italian railways—and so on.

This, however, would play right into the hands of the Communists. It would give them a heaven-sent opportunity to scream that American big business was trying to get its hands on the throat of European economy. In the end such a plan would cause more political harm than economic good.

On the other hand, I suggested to one or two foreign ministers while in Europe that a pool of international experts to be set up under the Marshall plan from which any member nation might draw in order to help rebuild its industries.

FOR instance, the automobile-factory pool would consist of experts from General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Kaiser, Rolls-Royce in England; Fiat in Italy; Citroen and Reynault in France. And when an automobile factory in Italy, for instance, wanted to rebuild, it would draw on this pool of experts.

In most cases it would call on an American. But the fact that several countries were included in the pool would smother the Communist cry of imperialism. Even more important, it would get European nations into the habit of working together.

The general reaction I received to the Count Sforza plan was good. Count Sforza, foreign minister of Italy, went even further than this. Explaining that he understood the American fear that U. S. money might be squandered, he suggested an international pool of inspectors to check on the expenditure of the money.

If the United States alone has its financial sleuths poking around Europe to see that Marshall plan money is being wisely spent, we will become just as hated as the flinty-hearted banker of Hollywood fame who snoops around the poor widow's home waiting for her to default on her mortage.

But if a group of Swiss, Swedish, Dutch, British, American, French and Belgian fiscal experts form an inspection commission to see that no money is wasted under the Marshall plan, the United States is not put in the misunderstood position of being Uncle Shylock.

Furthermore, these other countries are just as anxious to prevent any one of their members from wasting money as is the United States. Because waste of money by any one country means resentment in the United States and in the long run less money for other countries participating in the Marshall plan.

Finally, this kind of teamwork will help toward the ultimate goal of a United States of Europe.

It is understood, of course, that final and over-all direction for the Marshall plan would remain with the United States.

These are just a few suggestions regarding ways and means of achieving the world's most difficut political goal. A lot of other steps will be necessary, and this column will attempt to discuss some of them in the near future.

The fact that the goal is difficut, however, does not make it impossible. The USA has won some other difficult goals in the past, the most miraculous being our own welding together of thirteen struggling, disjointed, heterogeneouscolonies into the most powerful nation on earth. Having achieved that miracle, perhaps we can pass on some of our know-how to others.

Defense Money Being Spent To Wage "Yesterday's War"

WASHINGTON. — In their searching and highly significant report, the President's Air Policy commission did not pass judgment on how the total defense budget is divided between army, navy and air forces. But anyone who reads that report carefully can tell that the commission felt a lot of money now being spent on defense is being wasted because it is going for "yesterday's war."

CHILDS

Neither the army nor the navy has faced up to present-day realities. Millions and millions of dollars are being spent in ways that can never serve the security of the United States. This is true in spite of the merger of the armed services six months ago which was meant to stop such wastes.

The facts are known, in part at least, to men in high position, some of them in uniform. Waste on yesterday's war—or even day-before-yesterday's war — is particularly obvious in the navy. For example, shore installations which are being maintained on the Pacific coast can have no possible relation to any future war.

In the old days, when America was relatively isolated by the two oceans. This kind of waste did not matter too much. The military establishment was hardly more than a kind of museum piece. At the outbreak of a war we would brush it aside and build a new modern war machine. Behind the barrier of the oceans, there was always time.

There's No Second Chance

But as the Air Policy commission's report—called "survival in The Air Age"—makes dramatically clear, we shall never again have that much time. In the age of jet bombers and guided missiles, there is no second chance. An atomic Pearl Harbor would mean final and utter defeat and disaster.

The commission's report is the first over-all, impartial examination of the postwar military establishment and over-all strategy, if any. The commission was not authorized to pass on how the total defense budget should be spent. They came close to it, however, when they said:

"We view with great anxiety the pressures from many sides directed towards the maintenance of yesterday's establishment to fight tomorrow's war; an unwillingness to discard the old and take on the new; a determination to advance the interest of a segment at the sacrifices of the body as a whole. All this is understandable. For it comes in large part from loyalty of each service to its traditions. But we can no longer afford the waste it involves. Hope rests only with the ability of the Secretary of Defense under the President to discharge effectively the Authority vested in him with one objective in mind, — the maximum cost. It is imperative that this be done; for unless it is we will not have a military establishment capable of defending the country.

THE Air Commission called on Secretary of Defense James Forrestal to show that what had been done thus far to integrate the services and bring about essential economy. In tangible results Forrestal could show very little.

Members of the commission were fully aware of the tremendous task that was dumped in Forrestal's lap. In the past the navy has been the only force maintained between wars. It was kept in being to guard the sea approaches to the United States. Vested interests have grown up around the navy that are like barnacles which fasten on a ship too long in port. It is an institution hoary with tradition and hedged around by guardians of that tradition.

Forrestal's job is now to keep the navy as a force in being and as a security weapon safeguarding American interests all over the world while at the same time creating a second force in being in the air to guard the air approaches to the nation. To carry out the second half of this assignment means inevitably that the navy must be pruned: (1) Because many of its functions are now those of yesterday's war; and (2) Because the necessary money simply will not be available unless there is a drastic pruning.

The vested interests are not, of course, all inside the army and the navy. For many years after they had outgrown any conceivable usefulness for defense, the army continued to maintain posts that in their day had been useful in fighting the Indians. When it was proposed to abolish these posts, nearby towns rose up in indignation and brought congressional pressure to bear to stop the move. That happened repeatedly, and naturally, army officers, who didn't want to see any change, could ally themselves with these interests.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

SEVERAL mothers of girls in high school were worrying out loud over stories they had heard of high school kids drinking and having unchaperoned parties.

MILLETT

They all hoped their daughters weren't in on any such business. But, as one of them put it, "After all, you can't KNOW what teen-agers are up to. You just have to trust them to do the right thing."

That's the attitude of many of today's parents, but it's rather a foolish one. They don't trust a 2-year-old not to get hurt on a butcher knife.

Mothers used to assume it was their right to know what their daughters were up to. They knew before they went out where they were going, who their companions were, and when they were due home.

It wasn't snoopiness or lack of trust that made the mothers sit up until their daughters were home.

COMMON SENSE

IT WAS just common sense. A girl is more likely to get home on time if she knows her mother is waiting up for her. If she has to face her mother when she gets home, she isn't likely to drink.

And she can't get by with going to unchaperoned parties, or other places her parents wouldn't want her to go, as easily.

It sounds good to say, "You just have to trust your children to do right." But, if you want to be sure, you'd better keep a parential eye on them.

"The national income has reached an all-time high of 197 billion dollars per annum."—Press report. As we read the foregoing item, there came to mind the story of the man who acquired a $50,000 dog—by swapping two $25,000 cats for it.

"Try And Stop Me"

THREE old cronies were spending their 843rd consecutive day in the over-stuffed chairs of the Union League club library. They were discussing their idea of the perfect way to die.

One member, aged 82, said he hoped that he would die peacefully in his sleep. The second, aged 87, said he'd like to crash in a jet plane that was establishing a new world's record for speed. "It would sort of make me feel that I was keeping up with things to the very last minute," he explained.

The third members, just over 90, sighed gently and said, "You boys haven't got the right idea at all. I would like to be shot by a jealous husband."

WORSENING OUR MEAT PROBLEM

Thinking people must share the regrets and misgivings voiced the other day by Sen. Edward J. Thye, of Minnesota, because of the talk lately about the possibilities of meat rationing.

Such talk can't make conditions better, and it might make them infinitely worse. Talk alone might make rationing necessary.

If it continues, a certain number of people are sure to begin hoarding all the meat they can get their hands on. Some already may have started. In view of the millions of frozen food lockers in which meat can be kept almost indefinitely, this could make such serious inroads upon current supplies as to make rationing virtually unavoidable. Even limited panic buying could do much harm. With supplies as short as they are, it could create an appearance of near famine.

This does not suggest Congress should approve rationing without full study and discussion, or without consulting the wishes of the American people. But if the time comes when responsible leaders are convinced such regulations are unavoidable, it is to be hoped action will be expedited without unnecessary waste of time.

Every minute then devoted to unnecessary words would be that much more time for hoarders to do their worst. It might result in shortages so acute that there would be pracically no meat to ration to the great majority of the people who lack storage facilities.

settlement on "realistic terms."

Churchill read portions of a speech he made 15 months ago in which he said everybody was worried whether there would be another war and in which he "expressed no opinion."

Since then "the situation has deteriorated — and especially in the last six months," he said.

In a move for national unity behind Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's plan for western European consolidation, Churchill announced:

To Support Policy

"We give all our support to this policy.

"I think the British people, as a whole, will recognize the foreign secretary as representing an important element in their decent way of life and also as one who possesses strong and brave qualities above personal interest or factional clatter."

Physicians under 45 years old have a much lower death rate than the general U. S. population of the same ages but later in life physicians have a higher death rate than the rest of the population of the same ages.

Speaker Cites Need Of Visual Training

Importance of sight conservation and observance of safety in everyday work and living were stressed by Geo. Campbell of Lawton, Okla., in a talk at the luncheon of the American Business club at the Hilton hotel today noon.

Campbell, who was blind the first 18 years of his life, related his life's story and how he gained sight at the age of 18 through a series of four operations.

He said visual training in coordination of the eye and brain was the finest training a youth could receive and cited the work being done at the University of Chicago.

"Three out of five planes shot down by our boys in the Pacific in the early days of the war were our own planes, simply because our boys could not coordinate their eyes and brains fast enough to manipulate the guns," Campbell said. He said training conducted by the University of Chicago cut recognition time from 2.01 seconds to .550 miloseconds.

Campbell was introduced by Dr. William Cauley, program chairman. Larry Kennedy was introduced as a new member.

Texas Weather

imum. Readings at the same time Thursday had been 36 degrees, at 7:30 a. m., and 38 degrees, at 8:30 a. m. Temperature was 30 degrees at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The forecast given by the U. S. Weather bureau station here was: Much colder today, tonight and early Saturday morning, with a minimum of 10 to 13 degrees; not quite as cold in afternoon Saturday; rising trend in temperature Sunday, becoming colder in this area late Monday night or Tuesday. Some light precipitation is likely Sunday night or Monday, the forecast stated.

Pampa reported the lowest reading reported in the state, 12 degrees this morning, while further north at Oklahoma City the temperature dropped to five degrees above zero. Amarillo's 8:30 temperature was 17 degrees.

Low temperatures at 7:30 a. m. ranged from the 12 degree reported at Pampa to 55 at Brownsville, which was fog covered at that hour.

Melted As It Fell

The snowfall at Lufkin was heavy, but melted as it fell in a 35-degere temperature.

Other 7:30 readings reported by the Associated Press were Clarendon, 16; Abilene, 23; Big Spring, 23; Wink, 30; Wichita Falls, 17; Fort Worth, 23; Dallas, 24; Waco, 27; Junction, 26; San Antonio, 38; Corpus Christi and Houston, 49; Beaumont, 46; Galveston, 50; Laredo, 48; El Paso, 38; Texarkana, 24.

Liberty, east of Houston, reported its first snow in eight years.

Full Brunt To Come

With the full brunt of the cold wave yet to come in the south, rain and sleet were general along the Gulf coast. Snow fell in widely separated points. Lufkin, on the east side, received an estimated two inches between 6 and 9 a. m. The snow melted as it fell there.

College Station, in the central part; the Panhandle, Midland, Big Spring and Wink also reported snow.

At Beaumont, sleet turned to snow just before noon. Car tops and dry spots were completely covered, with snow still falling. It was the first snow of consequence there since January, 1940. Mixed sleet and snow were falling at Orange, in the same area, at noon.

High winds accompanied the storm.

A 35-mile wind went along with the snow at Houston, where a low of 26 was predicted for tonight.

Hillsboro had a low of 23 this morning.

Lower Readings Due

Much colder weather was forecast for all of Texas this afternoon, with temperatures eight to 14 in the Panhandle, 15 to 26 elsewhere in West Texas and in East Texas 10 to 18 in the north portion, 20 to 28 in south and 30 to 34 in extreme south.

The norther blew in with brisk winds. Light snow blanketed much of the Panhandle-Plains and in Amarillo 1.2 inches was measured. A light rain preceded the snow and highways were icy.

A hard one-inch crust of snow covered Odessa and surrounding territory this morning after a midnight to 6 a. m. fall and the temperature dropped to 22 degrees.

In the Midland territory two to three inches of "wet" snow covered the ground but the fall had stopped at 8 a. m. Ranchers welcomed te moisture. The lowest temperature during the night at Midland was 24 degrees.

Gusty Winds Hit

Snow driven by a brisk wind was falling at College Station at 9:30 a. m. and the temperature had dropped to 32 at 6 a. m. At Bonham the temperature dropped from 60 to 20 during the night. Gusty winds hit Gainesville, plunging the temperature to 19 there.

Fifteen-degree weather was in prospect for Dallas tonight after sub-freezing temperatures during the day. It was 23 there at 10 a. m.

The temperature at San Antonio at 6 a. m. was 41 when a 30-mile per hour norther started to shove it down. The forecast there called for snow flurries and a low of 16 to 20 Saturday morning. The high yesterday was a mild 79.

New Hospitals Get Approval

AUSTIN, Jan. 23. (AP)—New hospitals for 30 Texas communities have been approved for construction under the recently inaugurated state-federal hospital construction program.

Norman B. Roberts, of the state health department, said 20 of the projects await only approval on final plans and specifications for construction to begin.

The 30 projects are estimated to cost $8,295,401, with the federal government bearing one-third of the cost and local communities bearing the remainder.

Others Are Expected

Before June 30, Roberts expects to have granted approval on additional projects to bring the overall cost total in the first year of the program to $14,520,375. That total would permit utilization of the entire $4,840,125 federal grant to Texas for the first year. The program is planned to last five years.

Projects are approved on a priority basis, with highest priorities going to those communities with greatest needs and most limited existing facilities, Roberts explained.

The following 30 projects and estimated costs have been approved by the state:

Albany, 16 beds, $149,500.
Carrizo Springs, 30 beds, $301,400.
Uvalde, 40 beds, $378,800.
Mountae, 50 beds, $456,000.
Canadian, 16 beds, $124,000.
Pampa, 90 beds, $1,003,000.
San Saba, 22 beds, $232,500.
San Augustine, 24 beds, $124,030.
Port Lavaca, 20 beds, $227,000.
Carthage, 50 beds, $504,000.
Goliad, 14 beds, $127,500.
Newton, 39 beds, $303,720.
Sierra Blanca, 14 beds, $148,143.
Giddings, 16 beds, $132,800.
Port Arthur, public health center, $97,800.
Southton, 64 beds, $342,108.
Trinity, 22 beds, $100,000.
Ganado, 30 beds, $318,500.
Rocksprings, 10 beds, $112,500.
Madisonville, 21 beds, $100,550.
Woodville, 23 beds, $225,000.
Huntsville, 32 beds, $353,430.
Mason, 16 beds, $90,600.
Dumas, 28 beds, $234,920.
Henrietta, 23 beds, $88,800.
Austin laboratory, $90,000.
Sulphur Springs, 36 beds, $177,000.
Palestine, 60 beds $579,900.
Sonora, 12 beds, $150,000.
Midland, 75 beds, $1,135,000.

regulations. If he assures anti-trust clearance, Secretary Krug will give the industry the go-ahead.

Under the plan, oil companies could pool their supplies to save transportation and serve hardship cases. The council also called for fair distribution of available stocks to all customers, new or old. It asked that industry committees be set up in all 26 shortage states, and regional committees on the Atlantic coast, in the midwest and on the Gulf coast to facilitate such action.

As for the long term situation, the council said the industry needs more tankers and more steel to meet the "phenomenal" growth in demand.

far exceeded the number anticipated when budgets were made a year ago.

Most seriously affected by the enforced curtailment is the outpatient program under which veterans may go to their hometown doctors or dentists for care financed by the Veterans Administration.

Dr. E. M. Kennedy of the agency's dental service said dental care alone is consuming nearly 70 per cent of the money ear-marked for all outpatient care.

He said the law provides free dental care for any veterans up to a year after discharge. And for the rest of his life a veteran is entitled to free care of any teeth trouble while he was in military service.

Vernice Ford Named Stock Show Chairman

Vernice Ford, farm implement dealer, was re-elected chairman of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock show today at an executive committee meeting which also approved an increase of about 15 per cent in premiums to be paid at the 15th annual exposition here March 22-24.

Ford immediately announced the appointment of the following chairman of committees for the approaching show: Homert Hunt, finance; Oscar Nislar, Jr., Disbursements; Alex McDonald, sales ring; Raymond Burford, entertainment; R. C. Harvey, buyers, and O. J. Sexton, clerks of sales.

tion in sub-zero temperatures.

While the eastern states were locked in the most generally severe weather of the season, temperatures west of the Rockies weren't much better. Southern California expected the temperature to dip to 44 above zero today with some freezing expected in the citrus fruit belt.

Fuel Shortage Acute

The weather had its worst effect, however, in the upper Mississippi valley, suffering a dangerous shortage of fuel oil, and the Ohio valley where gas was being consumed so fast that utility companies had difficulty maintaining pressure in mains.

Ninety Minnesota towns reported critical shortages of oil and Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl called their mayors to a meeting next Wednesday to devise means of getting oil into the state. Youngdahl also met today with representatives of 35 oil dealers for a parley concerning high prices being asked for available stocks.

Mayor Harry Van Guilder of Ashland, Wis., appealed to state oficials to do everything possible to rush oil to the town on the south coast of Lake Superior.

Shipments Are Expected

Ten thousand gallons of fuel oil arrived at Cashton, Wis., yesterday, temporarily relieving a serious shortage that threatened to leave 400 homes without heat. Shipments also were expected momentarily at Viola and Mellen, Wis.

Three major gas companies imposed severe rationing in the great Pittsburgh industrial area and many plants were forced to convert to coal and oil to remain in operation. Some feared they would have to close entirely.

The East Ohio Gas company at Cleveland reinstated a 50 per cent cut in natural gas distribution to 300 industrial plants as the mercury headed again toward zero. Many of the plants converted to standby fuel for the duration of the cold spell.

Theft Reports

Wylie's drug store, had been arrested. Bond of $1,000 set by D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for the Brownfield route 5 resident had not been posted.

Tommie Washington, 41, Slaton negro, was fined $100 and court costs for liquor law violation, and was informed he also would have to pay $74.65 owed on a former fine before gaining liberty. He was in jail in lieu of payment Thursday night.

L. H. Smith, officials said, paid a $10 fine and county court costs on a check law violation charge.

Willie Lee Anderson, 21, a negro charged with desertion, was held in lieu of $750 bond. The complaint, filed in Lynn's court, charged desertion of two minor children.

Two Mexicans were held for immigration patrol officials, who probably will accept custody of them Saturday, it was announced.

Earnest Casstevens of 2319 Thirty-first reported his car was ransacked and a flashlight taken from the glove compartment. Small outside lights were also taken. G. W. Holmes of 2004 East Ave. E reported theft of a $58 bicycle.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP) — Cotton futures were reactionary in moderately active dealings today. Losses extended to a little more than $2 a bale in early trading on further hedge selling and liquidation. The market subsequently moved up about $1 a bale from the extreme lows on mill buying and short covering.

Dullness in cotton textiles and continued easiness in prices for nearby goods influenced some selling.

Private advices noted that low grades of spot cotton were moving slow and were accumulating on the market due to thte lack of foreign inquiry.

Cotton closed steady.

ing Graham," he said. "It obviously was an overdose of sleeping medicine."

Miss Frances was taken to the hospital about 8 a. m. and her stomach was pumped out, Blair reported.

The company manager said that the show would go on tonight, according to tradition. Arrangements were being made to fly in an actress to replace Miss Frances.

Miss Frances, a native of Oklahoma City, has been married four times, three of the marriages ending in divorce.

She was educated at convents in the vicinity of New York and trained for a business career, but on Nov. 9, 1925, she made her first stage appearance at the Booth theatre, New York, in a modern dress version of "Hamlet."

After appearing on the stage in New York and in stock productions throughout the country, she entered the movies in 1930 and his appeared in more than 50 films. She returned to the New York stage after an absence of 18 years in 1946 in "State of the Union."

Campaign Buttons And $16,000 All That's Left Of Ike Boom

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (UP)—Things happened too fast today for the political supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Wm. Bruce Pine, a leader of the Eisenhower-for-President movement who has been touring the Midwest to line up support for the General, called a news conference.

$16,000 Donated

About the same time, the army announced in Washington that the General himself would have an important statement momentarily.

Reporters and photographers hastened through a snowstorm to Pine's hotel room. Pine's desk was strewn with "Ike for President" buttons.

Pine, an executive of the national Draft Eisenhower league formed in New York, began telling of his talk last night with Gov. Dwight H. Green.

Bernard Epton, chairman of the Chicago and Cook county Eisenhower movement, told newsmen he had collected $16,000 to finance the campaign.

Just then the telephone rang. Somebody told Pine that Eisenhower had announced he could not be a candidate. Pine gulped and slid low in his chair.

Boom Fizzles

Epton said he didn't know what to do with the money. About $9,000 of it was in cash. Epton said he didn't know where all of it came from.

Pine glanced dubiously at the campaign button in his lapel. He took it off, and said he had no further plans.

The "Ike for President" boom went boom.

for May.

Eisenhower has been regarded as a leading "dark horse" for the 1948 Republican nomination for many months.

Only this week members of the Republican national committee meeting here had many huddles over the so-called Eisenhower threat.

In another political development, the CIO split politically over Henry Wallace's third party bid for the presidency.

The executive board of the labor organization which gave solid support to help elect the late President Roosevelt to a fourth term in 1944 voted 33 to 1 to reject Wallace's entry into the 1948 campaign as "politically unwise."

To Plug For Wallace

And the dissident group—representing about 1,250,000 of the organization's claimed 6,000,000 membership—gave every indication of plugging for Wallace anyway.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's Union and leader of the so-called left-wing element which opposed the anti-Wallace resolution, told reporters the Democrats won't stand "the chance of a snowball in hell" of electing President Truman in November.

Start On Expansion Program For Lubbock Given Approval

Groundwork for the start of city improvements costing close to $4,000,000 before the end of next summer was laid at the semi-monthly meeting of the city commission Thursday afternoon.

The program includes extensive expansions of the city electric, water and sewage departments; a $200,000 to $300,000 terminal building at Municipal airport; 10 to 15 miles of street paving; hundreds of new street lights in residence districts; improved business district illumination, including possible "white ways" for Nineteenth street and College avenue, and parks and recreation department improvements, including enlargement and modernization of the Mackenzie park swimming pool.

Allocations Are Given

Most of the work will be financed by $2,295,000 in city bonds on which the commission called for bids to be opened at the regular meeting Feb. 26.

The bonds to be sold include $1,850,000 voted in December, 1947, and $445,000 approved two years previously.

Among them are $900,000 for the electric department; $650,000 for waterworks; $300,000 for sanitary sewers and the sewage disposal plant; $150,000 for the airport terminal building; $129,000 for street lights; $91,000 for the parks and recreation department, and $75,000 for city hall improvements.

Paving Studied

The electric, waterworks and sewage bonds were voted last December and the others two years previously.

While the bond sales will provide most of the money required by the program, they will not pay for all the work planned.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has allocated $100,000 toward the cost of the airport terminal, upon which work must be started before July 1.

Little, if any, of the street paving will be paid for out of bond money. The commission does not know how much paving can be laid. However, City Engineer John Ruhmann was directed Thursday to prepare specifications for 87 blocks of surfacing for which petitions are on file. This may be doubled before cold weather halts paving work next fall. The total value is likely to run close to $500,000.

Street Lighting Planned

The city also has substantial sums on hand for improvements in some departments. Some of this money remains unexpended from previous bond sales. Some of it has been accumulated from taxation or other revenues for permanent improvements.

For example, the street and traffic lighting fund now has a balance of about $85,000, Mayor C. A. Bestwick reported. Of this $20,000 has been ear-marked for traffic lights. The remainder will be used in the street lighting program.

The money on hand, and realized from bond sales, he said, is expected to pay for about 800 residence district lights and probably a large part of the white ways planned for Nineteenth street and College avenue.

Expansion Program Set

Most of the electric plant bonds to be sold will be required for the payment of a turbine generating unit costing close to $700,000. The engine isn't scheduled to be in operation before the summer of 1949, but the building to house it will have to be started next summer or fall. Some of the bond money will be required for electric line extensions.

Most of the new waterworks money will be used to expand the distributing system, particularly in an effort to reach additions annexed to the city within the past two years. The program also includes a large overhead storage tank, costing more than $100,000, similar to one scheduled for delivery next month.

Plans for the sewage department include an addition costing possibly $200,000 to the disposal plant, and several new sanitary sewer mains. The largest will serve the Arnett-Benson and adjacent additions in Northwest Lubbock.

To Enlarge Swimming Pool

Members of the commission had hoped to be able to build at least one new swimming pool before next summer. Bonds thought to be enough for two new pools were voted in December, 1945. But costs have risen so much, the mayor said, that the money voted won't even pay for one pool. So the plans are to enlarge the one in Mackenzie park and to install equipment designed to insure sanitation of the water there.

The commission has no definite plans for immediate city hall improvements. However, the $75,000 in bonds voted for that purpose in December, 1945, will be sold on the recommendation of Finance Commissioner Fred Childress as a precautionary measure.

Commissioner Childress explained he has been advised that Lubbock may have an opportunity to get $75,000 from the federal government for a public health building if the city is prepared to match the federal allocation. A plan also is under consideration to build another city building to relieve extreme over-crowding in the present city hall.

Zone Action Postponed

Other business transacted during the commission meeting included:

Action on an ordinance changing a lot at Second street and College avenue from a C (resident-apartment house) zone to a J (limited industrial) zone was postponed. E. H. and Tom Carver, who urged the change, said they plan to build a machine shop on the site. Several GI home owners in the area protested their property would be damaged by such a structure. Members of the commission said they would investigate the complaints that the Carvers have been piling unsightly junk on the lot. They also said they would not be disposed to consider the zone change favorably without assurances from the Carvers that any place they erect will be kept in a sightly condition.

The commission declined the request of the 20-30 club for permission to use a sound truck the remainder of this month in the poll tax payment drive the organization is conducting.

Four Lots Purchased

The purchase of a GMC panel truck for the fire department at a cost of $1,800 was approved.

The commission also approved the purchase for $13,750 of four lots in about the 1600 block of Avenue A from M. O. Owens. The property is needed for the widening of that avenue, officials explained.

Payment of $475 was authorized to Haynes & Soash, contractors, for preparing estimates on the cost of moving back and rebuilding about 15 small structures in the 1600, 1700 and 1800 blocks of the same avenue.

Pavement on Thirty-second street from Avenues H to J was authorized.

Funds Requested For Air Corps' New Look

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress to appropriate $26,670,000 to give enlisted men in the air force a "New Look."

That is half the amount he estimates it will take to provide the winged GI's with a new type of uniform.

Father Returns Son To Harlem Prison

RICHMOND, Jan. 23 (AP)—Juan Morales, 28, was back at Harlem Prison farm today and Warden Joe Hines said the prisoner was returned last night by his father.

Morales slipped away from the farm during a heavy fog Wednesday morning. Hines said Morales went to his father's home south of Rosenberg and that the father drove the escapee back to the farm today.

The warden said Morales is serving a five-year sentence for burglary from Hidalgo county.
