Dr. Eckener Predicts Trouble As Graf Zeppelin Begins Trip To America

BAD WEATHER IN STORE FOR HUGE DIRIGIBLE

Airship Makes Smooth Departure From Hangar At Friedrichshafen

8 AMERICANS SAIL

Commander of Zeppelin Kisses Wife Goodbye as First Emotion

By WILLIAM HILLMAN
Universal Service Special Cable

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Aug. 1 (Thursday)—The Graf Zeppelin, with 18 passengers and a crew of 41, started for Lakehurst at 3:29 this morning. (10:29 p. m., New York daylight time.)

The great airship rose easily and departed smoothly toward the northwest.

Just as he climbed aboard Dr. Eckener gave out his last statement, saying:

"The weather still looks rather bad. I expect some trouble with it but we will dodge it all right.

"I expect to go by way of Basle and Besancon to the Mediterranean."

As he finished these words, Dr. Eckener, his full uniform giving him a military figure, took his wife by the arm, and walking with her in the shadow of the big ship, kissed her goodbye.

This is the first time that Dr. Eckener has displayed any emotion at leave-taking on his Zeppelin journeys.

It was 2:30 when United States Consul Lester Maynard, of Stuttgart, checked the passenger list and gave the ship a clear bill of health.

Eight Americans Sail

Of the 18 passengers going, eight are Americans. Two who had booked passage failed to show up.

"It is just as well," said Dr. Eckener, "because we are likely to run into dirty weather and I want to have as much reserve lifting capacity as possible."

Just at 2:30 the crew began to tune up the Zeppelin's motors. In spite of the early hour there were several hundred people milling about the field and cheering the passengers as they arrived.

The weather was clear under a starlit sky but the darkness of night was mixing with the graying dawn as the flares and numerous colored lights cast a fantastic glow over the scene.

"We look for a somewhat critical stretch of weather over Basle to Chalons on our route over the hills into the Rhone valley down which we will go to Gibraltar and then to the Azores."

Special Guard on Hand

This announcement was made by Dr. Hugo Eckener at 11:20 tonight.

As final plans for departure were made a special guard of armed police, with pistols prominently displayed, reinforced the armed

OKLAUNION GIRL KILLED, 2 HURT, IN CRASH

Wichitan Writes Book At Mile-a-Minute Aboard Zep

Frank E. Nicholson Called "Busiest Man" Aboard Giant Liner As He Works as Radio Announcer and Author

Frank Ernest Nicholson of Wichita Falls, who is to broadcast from the Graf Zeppelin as the airship nears this country, is writing a book about the voyage which is to be published shortly after the Zeppelin arrives, according to an announcement made Wednesday by E. P. Dutton & Company, Inc., of New York.

Nicholson, undoubtedly the busiest passenger aboard, will have set a record for speed when he hands over the completed manuscript, which will be in dictaphone records, together with sketches made on the voyage, to his publisher upon his arrival at Lakehurst. "Zepward Ho!" as the book will be called, will be the first book written entirely in the air during a non-stop flight.

Nicholson, whose "Favorite Jokes of Famous People," was published last fall, was selected for the task according to the announcement from Duttons, because his breezy, humorous style seemed particularly adapted to the requirements of a book written, literally, at the rate of a mile a minute, and because of his ability as a sketch artist.

Following directions from his publisher, Nicholson is dictating a minute by minute account of all he sees and hears aboard the Zeppelin in order that the book shall be a thoroughly vivid account of dirigible travel. He made his first transatlantic crossing on the Leviathan which left New York on May 4, and will contrast the relative merits of the two modes of travel.

He was a passenger aboard the giant dirigible several weeks ago when it was forced to turn back because of engine trouble developed after the ship was well on its way to America. Nicholson has remained in Europe since that time, in order to be ready for the present flight. He is the son of Judge and Mrs. E. W. Nicholson, 1815 Tenth street.

BULL FIGHTS

Norfolk, Neb., Promoters Of Roundup to Defy State Ruling

NORFOLK, Neb., July 31. (UP)—There will be bull fights in Norfolk Aug. 9, 10 and 11, and to prove it, directors of the Norfolk Chamber of Commerce assumed the roles of matadors this afternoon to flout in front of the attorney general the edict that his opinion meant nothing to them.

After receiving word today that Attorney General C. A. Sorensen had ruled that the holding of a bull fight here in connection with an annual "roundup" was against the state law, the officials of the local chamber of commerce, sponsors of the bull fight, sent out a challenge.

"We will hold the bull fight and it will require the presence of the state sheriff and his deputies as personal investigators to determine if the law is being violated," the directors answered with a snap of their fingers.

TEXANS BALK LAND TRANSFER

Oklahoma's Offer on Boundary Strip Declined

AUSTIN, July 31. (UP)—Any immediate prospect of Oklahoma "recovering" 28,500 acres of land along the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle border had passed tonight when it was learned here a majority of Texas' legislative committee favors retaining the land regardless of price.

It was revealed today that seven out of 13 Texans voted in Oklahoma City last week when negotiations were underway, not only against accepting Oklahoma's offer of $150,000, but against accepting any offer.

A second disclosure made today was the fact that an unofficial survey has shown another stretch of land between the two Panhandles to be rightly in Texas although now considered a part of Oklahoma. The land involves 4,800 acres.

The discovery of the second land error was announced by Samuel Gannett, the commissioner appointed by the U. S. supreme court to survey the disputed area. The land involved would be added to Lipscomb county, Texas, and taken from Beaver county, Oklahoma.

Two methods of procedure will be recommended. A separate action must be taken or the supreme court can be asked to order a survey of the North Panhandle boundary. The new difficulty could then be taken up under the present inter-state negotiations.

Cannon Again Called Backer of Anti-Smiths

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, in a statement issued here today said Bishop James Cannon Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, was the financial mainstay of the anti-Smith Democrats of Virginia "until a $17,000 'donation' was received from E. C. Jameson of New York last February."

Campaign expense returns filed with the clerk of the house of representatives show the anti-Smith Democrats of Virginia collected and disbursed "some $50,000 in the aggregate," Tinkham's statement said.

HOOVER'S SON ILL

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Allan Hoover, the president's son, is ill at the White House with a minor intestinal disorder.

Father Drowns Trying To Save His Daughter

HUGO, Okla., July 31. (UP)—An effort to save his daughter when she called for help resulted in a double tragedy near here today—the drowning of Bass Taylor, 45, and Nadine Taylor, 21, both of Monkstown, Texas.

The drownings occurred in Roebuck lake near here. Taylor, hearing his daughter's cry when she had gone beyond her depth while swimming, plunged into the water, clothes and all. Unable to swim, he sank before he had half way reached his daughter.

Golf Champion Not To Run for Congress

ATLANTA, Ga., July 31. (UP)—Bobby Jones, national open and amateur golf champion, announced today that he would not be a candidate for congress from the fifth Georgia district, a seat left vacant by the death last week of Congressman Leslie J. Steele.

Members of a delegation from Canton, Ga., original home of the Jones family, had asked the young Atlanta attorney to enter the race for the office.

Wichita Falls Woman Hurt in Waco Accident

WACO, Texas, July 31. (AP)—A woman giving her name as Mrs. Q. E. Walker of Wichita Falls, was treated at a local hospital today after she had fallen from a truck on a downtown street.

The truck was driven by her husband who said they were en route to Houston. Mrs. Walker's injuries were not serious.

Cleburne Man Faces Charge in Slaying

CLEBURNE, Texas, July 31. (UP)—Otis D. Rogers, 29, who was alleged to have shot and killed Horace Martin, 23, in a hotel room occupied by Rogers' wife and children, faced a murder charge tonight. The charge was filed after Martin's death from wounds early today.

Leahy's Attorneys Have Filed no Death Appeal

AUSTIN, July 31. (UP)—Attorneys for Harry J. Leahy, condemned to die for the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey, Mathis, had failed to file any writ in the court of criminal appeals when the office closed for the day.

CAR CARRYING YOUTHS HITS PARKED TRUCK

Etta Mae McHam, 19, Loses Life in Accident Near Electra

TRUCK UNLIGHTED

Driver Held Blameless In Smash After Quiz By Officers

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 31.—Etta Mae McHam, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. McHam of near Oklaunion, was killed instantly, and her two cousins, J. C. McHam of Wichita Falls and A. B. McHam of Hollis, Okla., were injured, when the car in which they were riding crashed into a truck parked by the side of the Electra-Vernon highway about four miles west of here early tonight.

Miss Alma McHam, sister of the accident victim, and D. M. Bookman, of Hollis, Okla., who were also in the car, were unhurt.

Truck Unlighted

Officers laid the blame for the accident on the absence of a tail light on either the truck or the trailer which was attached to it. L. Jones, of Holliday, driver of the truck, who was questioned, said he had parked when he ran out of gasoline. The car bearing the five persons, who were en route to Wichita Falls, crashed into the trailer before they were hardly aware of its presence, it was said. Etta Mae McHam's chest was badly crushed, and a pole extending from the trailer struck her, hurling her from the car to the pavement. She was dead when an ambulance found the victims. J. C. McHam sustained painful, though not serious injuries, and is in the Parmley-Ogden hospital here. A. B. McHam left the hospital after receiving emergency treatment.

Soon after the crash a passing motorist gathered up the dead and injured and started for Electra, but was met after a short while by a Totten Brothers ambulance which had been summoned. A transfer was made and the trip resumed.

Called Unavoidable

Jones, driver of the truck, accompanied the party here, and detailed the accident to officers, who, concluding the accident was unavoidable, made no arrests.

J. C. and A. B. McHam had been visiting their cousins, Etta Mae and Alma at Oklaunion when the accident occurred, it was said.

Immediately after the crash the parents of the girl victim were notified, and they came from Oklaunion. The body was removed late in the night to the family home one and one-half miles northeast of Oklaunion, and funeral services were tentatively set for Friday.

Reparations Conference Opens Session Tuesday

BERLIN, July 31. (UP)—Complete plans of the international reparations conference which opens at The Hague Tuesday reveal that most of Germany's activity will center around the vital problems of control of the Rhine valley and the rich Sarre basin, including separate discussions between French and German representatives.

Texas Officers to Get Slayer in Chicago

AUSTIN, July 31. (UP)—Carl Wright, Tarrant county sheriff, and Elbert Hoopeer, assistant district attorney, left for Chicago by airplane late today after obtaining a requisition from Gov. Dan Moody for Tenola Moore, negro, indicted at Fort Worth as the slayer of George Turner, motorcycle policeman, May 20, 1928.

Wichita's Pajama Parade Proves Wow!

Oyez, Even Tho' Reporter Dreamed It

By A. W. VON STRUVE
Record News Day Dreamer

Holy mackerel! Ain't it hot!

Just the kind of weather to make a guy see all kinds of mirages. Just for instance: C. E. McCutchen sitting at his desk at the First National bank in sky blue pajamas, keeping that cool aplomb with which to say "NO" when a badly bent news scribe steps in to ask for a loan until next payday.

Here's another mirage: City Manager George Fairtrace driving one of the street sweepers and attired for his task most efficiently. Chinese red silk with purple and gold dragon appliques. Good gosh, what a dream!

John Hirschi, president of the Wichita State, going down the street wearing pink pajamas with bright yellow borders and a green patch pocket. Wouldn't that give you a sunstroke?

Von Struve at Work

And, gosh-all-hemlock, Pink Hammond displaying a new novelty in a flying suit done in pink and cream georgette with baby blue lace trimming. What a rough neck he'd make out in the Wagon Mound country in a getup like that.

Speaking of a sure enough Fata Morgana! Consider District Attorney Sam Spence in green pajamas pleading a case for the state before District Judge Allan Montgomery in mauve and maroon ensemble. That would be court reform with vengeance for dog days!

That North Carolina editor surely started something when he proposed that men folks wear pajamas in hot weather.

Let your imagination ramble a little.

W. R. Davis, farmer who resides at Pleasant Valley, says he can't wear pajamas. How about a night shirt done in cimmarron and cream for a nice hot day?

Frank Michael, engineer for the Fort Worth and Denver, would look "hot" piloting his big Baldwin eight-wheeler ahead of 100 cars of Panhandle wheat in an engineer's ensemble of Nile green and deep tusk.

And Pastor Floyd A. Bash delivering a sermon attired in Dublin orange and Ulster green!

Jimmie Maxwell, the oil writer, in purple and gray!

Let your imagination ramble, let 'er ramble, folks . . .

MERCURY GOES TO 106 HERE

And "Fair and Warmer" Today, Says Forecast

Climaxing three stifling days in which the thermometer has risen above the 100 degree mark each day, the mercury reached 106 degrees Wednesday, the highest mark since the seasonal record of 108 degrees several weeks ago.

Prior to Monday the temperature during the day had hovered around the 98-degree mark for almost a week, occasional showers and light breezes giving relief from the previous hot days. Following the short but torrential shower last Sunday, the temperature has been above 100 degrees during each afternoon. At 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the temperature had risen to 103 degrees, later reaching 106 and then going down to 104 at 5 o'clock.

The Fort Worth and Denver dispatcher Wednesday afternoon reported high temperatures at all points in Texas both north and south of Wichita Falls. The Wichita Valley dispatcher reported clear weather and high temperatures to the west.

Forecasts for Thursday offered no apparent relief from the heat for residents of North Texas, with only light thundershowers predicted in the coastal region. Wichita Falls will find continued fair weather and no cloudiness to alleviate the heat, according to the reports.

TWO STRICKEN BY HEAT AT HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Texas, July 31. (AP)—Two heat prostration victims Wednesday night were recovering at Houston hospitals. They were Lee Warren, 56, roof worker, and an unknown Mexican from Pasadena.

The death of a negro, stricken while mowing a lawn, was given as "natural causes" rather than heat prostration. Maximum temperature here today was 91 degrees.

'Bob Gochenauer' Found To Be Woman of 28

LANCASTER, Pa., July 31. (UP)—Girlish hearts will flutter no more at the sight of handsome "Bob Gochenauer," who sang first tenor in the church choir and specialized in moonlight automobiles drives.

"Bob" was revealed today as Ellen Thomlinson, a young woman of 28, who had been posing successfully as a man for ten years.

Soviet Reserve Officers Called for Training

MOSCOW, July 31. (UP)—All reserve officers of the Soviet in the far eastern region who have been on long term leave, tonight were ordered to report for training immediately.

All branches of reservists whose birth years are 1902 and 1903 and who are resident in the far east also were ordered to report.

Jury, Lawyers, Bailiffs and Scribes Tour Snook's Former Trysting Spots

By MORRIS DE HAVEN TRACY

COLUMBUS, Ohio., July 31. (UP)—A strange pilgrimage was made this afternoon to the romantic shrines of Dr. James Howard Snook and Theora Hix and to the spot where their romance came to its tragic end.

Twenty automobiles, carrying jury, lawyers, bailiffs and newspaper men whirled at 40 and 50 miles an hour over the road the former Ohio State university professor and his 24-year-old mistress had traveled.

People gaped in wonder as the cavalcade stopped at innocent looking markets, in front of somber brick houses, on the university campus, the New York Central rifle range and toured the grounds of the cool, green Scioto Country club, dotted with golfers.

As the procession left the rifle

Tulsan Held After Attacking Two Women

TULSA, Okla., July 31. (UP)—Robert McKim, 30, was being held held pending charges af assault with intent to kill after shooting his estranged wife and beating and shooting at his sister-in-law, Mrs. D. W. Reed, St. Louis, at his home here today. Mrs. McKim's condition was serious. McKim had sought reconciliation. He said he was intoxicated when he fired and remembered nothing when arrested by officers soon after the shooting. Later, he admitted he fired several shots.

Tobacco Magnate's Son Guilty of Manslaughter

LONDON, July 31. (US)—Richard Joshua Reynolds, wealthy 23-year-old son of the late founder of the Reynolds Tobacco company, of Winston-Salem, N. C., today was found guilty of manslaughter in the death of Arthur Graham and sentenced to five months imprisonment. The jury deliberated for a half hour.

Graham was killed when struck by Reyonlds motor car.

REGISTRATIONS OF CARS GAIN

Gain of 600 Autos Shown In Seven Months

Wichita county has registered 600 more automobiles during the first seven months of 1929 than were recorded during the same period last year, according to statistics compiled Wednesday by C. E. Parker, deputy tax collector in charge of the automobile division. Of that number 432 new personal cars, exclusive of trucks and of rebuilt and transferred machines, have been registered during July, the figures showed.

The automobile division of the collector's office has deposited $9,931.25 in registration fees during the month just closing, Mr. Parker said an increase of about $2,000 over the amount handled during the same period in 1928.

Officials in the collector's department interpreted the additional registrations, especially of new machines for personal use, as an indication of the increased soundness of business conditions here.

"They can't talk hard times to me at the rate they come in here with their new pleasure cars," Mr. Parker explained.

"More than 400 people in the county have found the money for these machines in the last 30 days and another 400 will buy during August."

Leahy's Attorneys Hold Conference To Plan Final Fight Against Chair

AUSTIN, July 31. (AP)—Attorneys for Harry J. Leahy of Mathis, scheduled to die in the electric chair at Huntsville tomorrow night, conferred tonight on a plan of battle to stay the execution at Huntsville early Friday morning.

W. C. Wofford of Taylor and Mack Gates of Huntsville said court relief would be asked.

Wofford visited the court of criminal appeals and conferred briefly with Olin W. Finger, clerk. He was told that Judge F. L. Hawkins was the only member of the court in town.

It was reported that an effort would be made to have the execution stayed pending an appeal from the verdict of the jury at Georgetown last Saturday in finding Leahy sane, on grounds the commissioners who drew the panel were appointed by Judge Harry Dolan. He was disqualified from acting in the case because he was district attorney and helped prosecute Leahy at his murder trial there when he was given the extreme penalty.

It was said attorneys considered the advisability of filing a new affidavit alleging Leahy had become insane since the verdict of last Saturday.

"If I could get a new sanity trial for him, I am positive that we could stop the execution with the

INTERVENORS IN FRISCO'S PLEA DRAW ATTACK

San Antonio C.-C. and Nueces Navigation Officials Heard

R. I. WITNESS BARRED

Examiner Orders Testimony Of South Texan Left Out of Record

FORT WORTH, July 31. (Spl.)—Thirty-one witnesses representing chiefly Childress, Pampa and Shamrock and all intervening towns, arrived here Wednesday night prepared to urge extension of the proposed Fort Worth and Denver railroad line in that district at the I. C. C. hearing in progress here this week.

Fort Worth also will present a delegation in support of the Denver application.

FORT WORTH, July 31 (AP)—Frequent objections by Fort Worth and Denver City railway attorneys to testimony by witnesses in behalf of Frisco and Rock Island petitions for rail extensions in the Texas Panhandle brought today's testimony before Interstate Commerce Commission Examiner Charles D. Mahaffie to an abrupt close.

The cases of the St. Louis-San Francisco and Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf railways were concluded late in the day when B. H. Stanage, Frisco traffic manager, was recalled to correct figures in statistics he submitted yesterday.

Pawkett Intervenes

U. S. Pawkett, intervening for the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce and the proposed Gulf and West Texas railway from San Antonio to San Angelo via Brady, where it would connect with the Frisco, testified in behalf of the Rock Island-Frisco joint proposal. The latter two roads have asked the Interstate Commerce commission to let the Frisco purchase or lease the Gulf, Texas and Western between Sulphur Springs and Seymour, construct a connecting track from Seymour to Vernon and obtain trackage rights over the Rock Island to Fort Worth. The Rock Island, then, would build a line from the Seymour-Vernon route through Quanah and Wellington to Shamrock connecting with the Rock Island there. Joint trains would be operated by the Frisco and Rock Island between Seymour and Fort Worth and Dallas.

Pawkett was followed by R. L. McLennan, intervening for Nueces county navigation district No. 1 and the Corpus Christi Chamber of Commerce. Then Albert Reed, attorney for Amarillo intervenors, attempted to introduce testimony by A. S. Stinnett that Amarillo citizens had donated funds for terminals at Amarillo on the condition that the Rock Island extend its newly-constructed Amarillo-Liberal, Kansas, line southward.

Denver Objects

Fort Worth and Denver [illegible] objected to that line of testimony. Examiner Mahaffie [illegible] began interrogating the witness as to whether subscription blanks for the Amarillo terminals showed that Rock Island was to build a southern extension. When Stinnett an-

Good Confident Army Costs Will Be Reduced

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—Secretary Good expressed confidence today that certain army expenditures would be reduced in accordance with the wishes of President Hoover.

He discussed briefly the report yesterday on the inter-departmental board which recommended pay raises for all the services, and said he had not had an opportunity to study the recommendations. The board was created on the suggestion of the secretary of the navy, he said, after a bill had been introduced in the last session of congress to provide increases in navy pay, which had not been passed.

Wilbur Names Denver Girl to Indian Post

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Secretary of Interior Wilbur today announced the appointment of Miss Mary Stewart of Denver, Colo. and Washington as assistant director of education for the United States Indian service.

Motorship Bremen's Speed on Trip East Surprises Even Its Owners

PLYMOUTH, Eng., July 31. (US)—The motorship Bremen, pride of the Dorddeutscher Lloyd lines and holder of the record for fastest passage across the Atlantic from Southampton to New York, tonight set a new record for the New York to Plymouth crossing when it arrived at Plymouth harbor tonight at 11:14 p. m., in the record time of 4 days, 16 hours and 14 minutes.

This Bremen achievement eclipsed by 3 hours and 41 minutes the fastest time of the Cunard liner Mauretania, whose best time lowering passage was recorded in January of this year, in 4 days, 19 hours and 55 minutes. The Mauretania docked on its latest crossing yesterday at Plymouth, completing the trip from New York to Plymouth in 5 days, 1 hour and 1 minute.

The Bremen's time for the crossing from Southampton to New York, admittedly the easier of the two trips, was accomplished in 4 days, 17 hours and 42 minutes, in fair weather and calm seas. The record run ended today clips 1 hour and 28 minutes from the fastest West to East passage, something heretofore unheralded.

That the Bremen's own record crossing to New York should be broken on the return passage was hardly believed possible, but the fastest ship afloat set the shipping world agog with the possibilities of the motorship by virtue of her second run.

JUST THE Baer Facts

By Bugs Baer

EASTERN BOULEVARD PAJAMAS

NEW YORK, July 31.--An eastern business man was nailed by the John Laws for going to work in his pajamas.

Boys, that's where the East begins.

He was shuffled along to the judge, charge, walking in his sleep during banking hours.

The prosecuting attorney sang a venomous lullaby to the comatose jury. He claimed that no man had a right to wear pajamas in traffic jams.

We quote from Ostermoor versus the People: "This man walked down main street in an old fashioned flannel night gown and carpet slippers that he got for Christmas.

"The state does not object to the night gown, which is a sort of masculine mother hubbard, but the state does object to the carpet slippers he got for Christmas."

Objection sustained by the court. Reason, unknown. The court requires no reason.

If they wear pajamas to work in the East what will they wear in the West, where men are ditto?

Now, if they had worn those daylight pajamas in my old home town of Philadelphia, no one would have noticed it.

The state proceeds further: "At the sight of this queer looking pedestrian, clad only in a Chinese toga, the state militia mutined, strong men swooned and Fords shed their fenders in fright.

"An old Confederate army veteran did a standing, sitting, standing dive from a wicker rocker into an umbrella stand and a six-foot shadow started chasing its owner across the great divide.

"Real estate values depreciated 60 per cent, lightning rods on two-family bungalows threw off sparks and barbers ambushed themselves behind a thick coating of lather."

The integrity of a sovereign state shall not be impeached. If a man is allowed to wear pajamas in the high rent district, what is to prevent him from taking a shower bath on the rear end of a city street car?

Man would have more bunions if he had more toes. He is a gregarious biped, walking on two flat arches, is round shouldered and spends his career in a mental huddle from which he never emerges.

Mentally, he is about as bright as a corroded copper coin of the Tutt dynasty. But, every once in a great while, he has a brilliant idea such as going down to the office in his pajamas.

Policemen, do your duty. You are equipped with hickory clubs and blackjacks. The clubs are weighed on the executive end with six ounces of pig iron.

When you see a man walking to work in pajamas, raise that blackjack and give him his sleeping powders over the top of his skull. Then the little stars will twinkle and a policeman becomes his trundle bed.

Hark! What is that? Sixteen revolver shots. It is the Chicago nightingale.

DENVER HALTS RAIL SESSION

Attorney's Objections Put Stop to Hearing

swered "no," Mahaffie ordered him excused and his testimony removed from the record.

Reed, previously had another setback when the examiner ruled inadmissible petitions and resolutions signed by individuals and civic bodies in Amarillo, Aberdeen, Wellington, Childress and Collingsworth counties urging granting of the application to the Rock Island and Frisco. Reed also attempted to have read into the record a list of witnesses who could testify in favor of the Frisco-Rock Island route, but when Fort Worth and Denver counsel objected that also was disallowed.

Benefits Described

Most of today's testimony was from persons along the porposed Rock Island line from Quanah to Shamrock. They declared the line would benefit their territory. Some told of the comparative barrenness of land north of Shamrock until within a few miles of Pampa. The Fort and Denver is asking to build a line from Childress to Pampa generally parallel to the Rock Island proposal.

Examiner Mahaffie said today he hoped to conclude his hearings here by Friday night.

J. W. Barwise, Fort Worth and Denver attorney, attempted to show by the testimony of M. J. Dowlin, Frisco assistant general freight agent, that the Frisco was granted an I. C. C. permit for a line from Amarillo to Liberal, Kan., in May, 1926, but that line had not yet been opened to traffic. When Barwise completed his cross-examination Peters said: "I suppose the question was for the purpose of giving support to a claim by a Fort Worth and Denver official in a newspaper interview that if the Rock Island got the Shamrock-Beaver Creek permit it would take its time building it."

Examiner Intervenes

Examiner Mahaffie intervened, saying he wanted no such argumentative statements in the record. Barwise declared that if Peters' statement remained in the record he wished to challenge parts of it, to which Mahaffie replied, "I don't want to hear any more of it." The subject was dropped.

Witnesses today said the Shamrock-Beaver Creek line, connecting with a Vernon-Seymour route, for which the St. Louis-San Francisco has applied, would give a net railway operating income of $164,002 for the fifth year. H. F. Dittbrenner, Rock Island accountant, also said the Beaver Creek to Jacksboro line would give a similar income of $134,512.

Dowlin on Stand

Dowlin, who was testifying when yesterday's session ended, was the first witness today. He said that if the Fort Worth and Denver and Rock Island both were allowed to build into the Panhandle he judged estimated traffic would be divided between them. He declared the proposed Shamrock to Beaver Creek route, while lowering rates from the Panhandle into Fort Worth and Dallas, would not affect Panhandle-Oklahoma charges.

H. P. Ferdle, Rock Island assistant superintendent of transportation, testified his estimates indicated the Rock Island would save $147,196.05 through operation from Amarillo to Fort Worth on the proposed route because of the shorter distance than through El Reno, Okla. Handling costs on a single car via the present route are $28.95, he said, but those costs could be cut to $21.58 by the new line.

Figures were introduced to show the average time required to handle cars via Rock Island from Amarillo to Fort Worth via El Reno is three days.

Cattlemen, grain raisers, grain dealers and others have testified, urging the I. C. C. to permit (1) construction of a 44-mile line from Seymour to Vernon; (2) construction of a 34.5 mile line from Quanah to the Vernon-Seymour road near Beaver creek; (3) building of a 74 mile road from Quanah to Shamrock, via Wellington; (4) granting of trackage rights by the Chicago, Rock Island and Gulf from Jacksboro to Fort Worth to the St. Louis-San Francisco; (5) leasing or sale of the Gulf, Texas and Western between Seymour and Salesville, its ends, to the Frisco.

CHATHAM AND MYTINGER TO APPEAR TODAY

J. W. Chatham, traffic and industrial manager of the chamber of commerce, and J. C. Mytinger will go to Fort Worth Thursday morning in order to appear in the afternoon before the Interstate Commerce commission with regard to application of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad to construct a line from Childress to Pampa.

Petition of intervention from the local chamber of commerce was filed by Mr. Chatham Monday, supporting the application of the Denver lines. The testimony to be given by the local representatives will be designed to show that the territory between Childress and Pampa best can be served through the proposed Denver extension, it was said.

Mr. Chatham and Mr. Mytinger expect to return to the city Thursday night.

World Scout Jamboree Under Way in England

ARROWE PARK, BIRKENhead, England, July 31. (UP)—The "world jamboree" of Boy Scouts officially was under way tonight. Thirteen hundred sturdy American boys were taking a prominent part in the conclave which marks the 21st year of the organization's existence.

Sitting around the campfires in the big tent-city erected for the jamboree, the Boy Scouts reviewed the opening ceremonies and renewed their community singing this evening.

Time and Place of Naval Parley to Be Set Soon

WASHINGTON, July 31. (US)—Time and place of the five-power naval conference, based on President Hoover's theory of American naval parity with Great Britain, will be decided in Washington during the visit in October of the British premier, Ramsay MacDonald or his representative, it was learned today.

Othello Dickert, a Seattle boy, made such good airplane models that a large aircraft concern employed him to make models of the factory's products.

guards around the Zeppelin hangar. No chances were being taken of stowaways getting aboard at the last moment.

The Zeppelin leaves carrying 250 kilograms of assorted meats, three kilograms of Carvian, 20 kilograms cheese, 50 kilograms of fresh fruit, 200 kilograms of bread, 20 kilograms of fish, 20 litres of milk, six litres of cream. There are 150 bottles of wine besides champagne, whisky and liqueurs, 20 kilograms of chocolate, 15 kilograms of coffee, three kilograms of tea and 20 litres of orangeade for those who have prohibition leanings.

Eating Schedule

Meals will be served as follows: Breakfast, 7 to 10 a. m.; lunch, 12 to 2 p. m.; tea, 5 p. m.; dinner, 7 to 9 p. m.

Merrymaking was going on all evening throughout Friedrichshafen and especially at the Kurgarten hotel. All the terrace and indoor tables were occupied and frequent toasts were drunk.

The excitement increased as the "zero hour" approached. There was a sudden pause at 10:30 when a notice was posted on the bulletin board that an autobus would take all passengers to the hangar at 2:20 a. m.

The airship starts with 18 passengers—16 men and two women. Mr. Channing, the passenger who booked passage from Berne, Switzerland, did not arrive in time to go aboard. Over them all tonight was the beaming presence of the sturdy old commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener who tensely summed up the chances of the flight.

Eckener Eager

Eagerly and anxiously scanning the latest weather reports the famous old airship navigator declared:

"For meteorological reasons we are starting as early as possible. I am hoping in that way to avoid the storm from coming down on us from the English coast. The barometer there reads 137, with the force of the wind at eight miles an hour.

"The storm is thus creeping down slowly and I want to be away from these hills before it arrives.

"Is is hard to say now what the exact route will be. It will be much easier to determine that just around starting time.

"We may go down the Rhone valley, over Lyons, Marseilles and Gibraltar, and then westward, or we may go by way of Basle, Switzerland, and then along that route out toward the Azores.

"From the Azores we will depend upon the weather at that time for our decision as to whether we will take the northerly or southerly route to the American continent.

"With good luck we may make the crossing in 80 hours, which would permit us to arrive at Lakehurst before Sunday. Then again it may take us four days if bad weather develops.

"At any rate we are going over feeling our way along the wind and storm lanes."

NICHOLSON ABOARD

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, July 31. (UP)—Passengers aboard the dirigible Graf Zeppelin on its projected flight to Lakehurst, N. J., include the following:

Frank Nicholson, Nelson Morros, Richard Burke, all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. George Crouse of Syracuse, N. Y.; Joachim Rickard, an American living in Europe; Gregoire Gourevitsch, Polish pianist, and Mme. Gourevitsch; Werner Stauffacher, Basle, Switzerland; Martin Channing, Bern; Herbert Siebel, Seginaw; Carl Schulz, Kiel; Prof. Ernst Milarch, Bonn; Dr. Leisler Kiep of the Hamburg-American ship lines; Count Albrecht Montgelas, Berlin; Count Aired von Soden. Friedrichshafen; Heinz von Eschwege, Berlin engineer, and Walter Spiess of the ministry of transportation.

CONOCO MAKES CHANGES HERE

G. H. McIntyre to Succeed W. N. Alexander

The resignation of Walter N. Alexander, vice president and general manager of production for the Continetal Oil company in Texas, following the recent merger of the Continental with the Marland Oil companies, was announced Wednesday. Mr. Alexander will be succeeded by G. H. McIntyre, of Fort Worth, who will be in charge of the Texas and Southern Oklahoma headquarters for the company in Fort Worth.

Mr. Alexander, a veteran in the oil industry, has been associated with the development of Texas fields during the past decade. His widespread activities have brought him recognition as an authority in every phase of the industry and made him one of the best liked and most significant men in the field. His first associations here 10 years ago were with the Mutual Oil company of Denver. When the Mutual-Continental interests purchased the Texhoma Oil and Refining company, Mr. Alexander became head of the production department in Texas and was made vice president.

Removal of the purchasing department of the combined companies at Ponca City, Okla., was also made known Wednesday. H. C. Junk, head of the department, has been transferred to that city. Other changes in the organization and personnel of the companies are expected to be announced within the next few days.

Tariff Rates on Farm Products Are Increased

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Substantial increases in tariff rates on some agricultural products were made today by the senate finance committee in answer to repeated demands of farm representatives. Some were in the face of specific protests from Canada.

The rates were made public by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, in defiance of the secrecy rule of Republican members who are revising the house measure. Couzens made the new rates public at his office after Chairman Smoot had refused to divulge the committee's action.

Movie Magnate Says He Can't Be Diplomat

WASHINGTON, July 31. (US)—Louis B. Mayer, motion picture magnate of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation, today informed President Hoover that he would be unable to accept an appointment in the diplomatic service.

Mr. Mayer was in conference with President Hoover twice during the day. Several weeks ago he was asked if he would go to Turkey as ambassador. He explained to the president today that he could not conveniently leave his business in the United States for so long a period.

"He didn't guess my new dress was a year old!"

{A department store buyer told me the secret}

BUYER IN FIFTH AVENUE STORE. Like 92 out of every 100 buyers interviewed in 132 leading department stores, she insists upon pure, safe Lux.

"BILL calls me the best-dressed girl he knows. He doesn't guess that I spend less than most of the girls do.

"Just the other day he complimented me on my 'new' dress—and it was a dress I had all last summer!

"A buyer in our best department store told me my secret. 'If you wash nice materials in Lux,' she said, 'you'll find they stay new looking twice as long.'

"Since then, I've always used Lux. And my dresses and stockings and underthings stay like new for perfect ages! That gives everything I wear a much nicer look, and best of all, it saves me money for extra clothes, because I don't have to spend all my money just replacing worn-out things."

You, too, can keep everything you wear looking brand new so much longer, if you always use pure, safe Lux.

Then you won't have to spend all your clothes money replacing worn-outs—you can afford many extra clothes!

BAPTIST FIGHT GOES TO COURT

Petition Asks $10,000 Damages of Convention

FORT WORTH, July 31. (AP)—Suit for $10,000 damages and request for a temporary writ of injunction against the holding of an announced meeting of the Baptist missionary and educational state Sunday school convention in Longview, Aug. 19-25, was filed today in seventeenth district court against H. T. Wise, Fort Worth, president of the convention.

The suit was brought by the Texas Baptist state Sunday school convention, the annual meeting of which is scheduled to be held in Marshall, Aug. 20-25. Judge Culver of the seventeenth district court set hearing of the case for Saturday, Aug. 10.

The suit grew out of a controversy in October, 1928, when a meeting of the Baptist misionary and educational state Sunday school convention was held in Sherman. A disagreement over the election of officers resulted in a suit which still is pending in the court of civil appeals of the fifth district. The faction to which Wise belonged later declared all offices of the organization vacant and Wise was named president.

Previously in August, 1928, when the Texas Baptist Sunday school convention was held in San Antonio, W. F. Bledsoe was elected president and Wise vice president. Organization of the other body later and Wise's selection as its president has seriously conflicted with the other organization's activities and resulted in loss of both members and funds, the plaintiffs petition states.

The petition further alleges that Wise has incorrectly called the Longview meeting the forty-ninth annual convention of the Baptist missionary and educational state Sunday school association, claiming that there is no such organization and that Wise and others are endeavoring to get control of the original body.

Hanks Family Reunion Held at Crowell

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—More than 40 people, representing four generations, were in attendance at a family reunion held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hanks. This was the second annual reunion, the one of last year having been held with Mrs. Hattie Sessions of Munday, where the 1930 session will be held. She is a sister of Mrs. Hanks.

Those present at the reunion here were: Mrs. C. C. Williams, Ewell Williams, J. B. Williams and family, all of Sunset, Texas; Mrs. Hattie Sessions, Mrs. Dora Robertson, both of Munday; Mrs. J. F. Boyd and family of Knox City; Mrs. W. N. Brewster and daughter of Floydada; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and children of Borger; Mr. and Mrs. Streater Hanks and children; Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hanks and children; Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Henry and children; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Daniels; P. M. Hinkle and C. B. Hanks, all of Crowell.

Building Permits Lag Behind 1928 Figures

Two building permits were issued at the office of the city engineer Wednesday, one for the residence of O. N. Warren at 1320 North Sixth street, to cost $500, and the other for a filling station for the Langford Motor company at 524 Indiana avenue, to cost $7,500. These permits bring the total for the month to $67,498, an increase over the month of June when the total reached $58,000. The total for the first seven months of the year is $662,828, a considerable smaller amount than for the corresponding period last year.

Poland Pays Rail Debt To American Concern

NEW YORK, July 31. (UP)—The faith of Samuel Vauclain, chairman of the board of the Baldwin Locomotive works, in the integrity of public Poland has been rewarded. In July 1919 when the present government of Poland was only a few months old, Vauclain sold $8,965,000 worth of locomotives to the new republic. Poland has paid the final $995,000 of its debt.

THIEVES RAID CARS

Two cases of petty theft were reported to police headquarters Wednesday, according to the stolen property records. T. B. Wilson of Archer City reported that two nickel-plated head lamps had been removed from his automobile while he was in Wichita Falls. N. C. Williams of Dundee reported the theft of a pistol and scabbard from his car which was parked on a street in downtown Wichita Falls.

St. Kilda, one of the Outer Hebrides, has no postoffice, so stamps cannot be purchased there. Letters are put into tin cans with the necessary amount of postage fastened to sheepskin buoys. These are cast upon the waters and allowed to drift until picked up.

Attorney Finds Boyhood Fishing Stream Has Undergone Change

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 31. (UP)—Ever since Attorney J. R. Page succeeded in convicting the slayers of James H. Smith, traffic policeman, Smith's father has been urging Page to visit him on his farm at Warsaw, Mo., and go fishing.

Smith said he knew fishing holes in the Pomme de Terre river that were alive with fish and unknown to city Nimrods.

The promises of sport lured Page out of his comfortable bed at 4 a. m. Arriving at Warsaw he was met by Smith, who conducted him through brush and scrub oak to the Pomme de Terre. They surveyed the river. It was all Terre. The water wouldn't hide the bait or float a fish.

"Shucks," Smith explained, "I hadn't been over there for quite a while, but 30 or 40 years ago there were some of the finest fishing holes you ever saw."

Midwest Counts Five Drownings

KANSAS CITY, July 31. (INS)—Five lives were lost by drowning in Missouri and Kansas during the past 24 hours.

Three young men, employed as laborers at Lake Lotawana, near Kansas City, were drowned when the boat in which they were crossing the lake last night with six other laborers capsized. They were Melvin Oliver, 25, Gilbert Ostenbroek, 19, and Cornelius Ostenbroek, 18, all of Lees Summit, Mo.

Nine-year-old Evelyn Turner and her mother, Mrs. Harriet Gregory, 31, drowned in the Neosho river near Iola, Kan., where the girl was showing her mother her swimming ability. Walter Hall, a farmer, had swam to the child but the frantic mother plunged in and grasped Hall, causing him to lose his hold to the girl. Both mother and daughter drowned as a result.

Oklahomans Seek New Airmail Route

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Oklahoma representatives seeking an airmail route from St. Louis, through Tulsa and Oklahoma City to the Southwest met at the Washington hotel here today to formulate plans. They will press their demands before the postoffice interdepartmental committee Thursday.

Oklahomans here include Charles H. Hopkins, Tulsa, of the state chamber of commerce.

The route favored by the Oklahomans is from New York to St. Louis, via Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis and then from St. Louis through Oklahoma to Dallas and Fort Worth.

Crowell Party Visits Wichita Falls Man

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—A party of 21 people left here last Friday night, spending the night in Wichita Falls at the home of John Hays, former resident of Crowell. They visited Lake Wichita. The next day they stopped at Craterville park and enjoyed roller skating, going from there to Medicine Park for swimming and other sports.

Included in the party were: Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Olds, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell and son; Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Easley, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bain, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Owens, Mrs. Eula Lemons, Mrs. Lottie Magee, Julian Wright, Lynn Easley, Roy Barry, Richard Lovelady and Misses Mildred Richardson of Paducah, Ocie Freeman, Nona Owens and Leona Knox.

Workmen Avert Water Famine at Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 31. (INS)—A serious water famine was averted here shortly after noon today when workmen, who had been laboring feverishly for hours to repair the municipal mains, finished one emergency line.

There was only enough water available at the time to supply Albany's needs for about two hours. One reservoir was entirely empty and the other two were half empty.

HOOVER LAUDS BRITAIN'S STEP

Acceptance of Parity Principle Meets Approval

WASHINGTON, July 31. (UP)—Great Britain's acceptance of the principle of parity was characterized by President Hoover as "a forward step of the first importance" in efforts toward further naval disarmament, in a letter to Paul V. McNutt, commander of the American Legion.

McNutt was among the first to protest President Hoover's order suspending the building of three American cruisers. In his letter to the White House, the legion commander insisted that to reach parity with Great Britain, the United States would have to continue building while Britain would have to stop construction entirely.

Mr. Hoover pointed out in his letter that the actual problems concerning disarmament are "far more intricate and far more difficult than can be solved by the simple formula you suggest," and expressed confidence the legion favored disarmament to competitive building "with its continuous expansion and all its train of world dangers."

22 KILLED IN FIGHT

MEXICO CITY, July 31. (UP)—A land feud between agrarians of Tierradeagua and Acultzingo culminated in a battle in which 22 were killed and 17 injured, a dispatch to the newspaper Prensa from Orizaba said today.

It is stated that in the Belgian Congo elephants are more satisfactory than motor tractors.

REPORT SHOWS HEAVY CROPS

Big Yields in Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas

TOPEKA, Kan., July 31. (INS)—That Kansas will produce in 1929 a wheat crop of 145,000,000 bushels in spite of the adverse weather conditions and other happenings just previous to harvest time was the opinion expressed in the Aug. 1 summary of conditions by J. F. Jarrell, head of the agricultural department of the Santa Fe railroad. An increase of 10,000,000 bushels over the five-year average was predicted in the report.

This year's Oklahoma wheat yield is estimated at 35,000,000 bushels and the outlook for corn and cotton in that state is reported as good.

Texas has a cotton crop of 18,500,000 acres and has harvested approximately 40,000,000 bushels of wheat. The Nebraska wheat yield for this year is given as 55,000,000 bushels. Nebraska has a chance to mature 235,000,000 bushels of corn.

Lesson on "Service" Closes P-T. A. Course

An interesting lesson on "Service of the State and National Parent-Teacher Association," closed the vacation study course which has been in progress during the past five weeks, sponsored by the City P.-T. A. council.

Mrs. Frank B. Creighton, president of the 13th district, outlined the duties of state and national officers of the organization, consisting of a president and seven vice presidents in each branch, none of whom receives any salary. Only two regular salaries are paid by the state P.-T. A., these going to the executive secretary and her assistant. Only a few secretaries, all of whose time is required, receive recompense from the national organization. State officers and their chairman include a personnel of 161 workers.

A round table discussion on "What do you expect of your officers," followed.

Mrs. R. P. Willis read an outline of the policy of the Parent-Teacher association, supplemented by a letter from the state president, Mrs. Noyes Darling Smith, in which Mrs. Smith said the object of the P.-T. A. is to create in the minds of the citizens the necessity of securing the best of everything for the schools, but the P.-T. A. must not take part in any controversy because controversy kills the aim of the organization whose policy is to be non-partisan in every way.

The reason for national, state and district conventions was explained and each association urged to send regular delegates to these meetings. The state convention meets in Waco this year in November; the district meeting will be held in Electra next spring and the national will convene in Denver, Colo., in 1930.

A general discussion of "What the Study Course Has Meant to Me," formed a complete summary of the ground covered, especially emphasizing the help afforded in program building.

Mrs. Creighton urged associations to secure all pamphlets and magazines possible from the state P.-T. A. to be kept at the schools as a part of the library, available to anyone who has need of them.

Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta, who is health chairman of the 13th district, made a brief talk on the work of her department and displayed some attractive posters containing the "Child's Bill of Rights," which was drafted by Herbert Hoover when he was president of the American Child Health association.

Mrs. Creighton requested each local president to appoint a life membership chairman and suggested that the city council appoint a legislative chairman for duty through the coming year. Mrs. Creighton suggested also that the city council set some goal to be reached among the city schools during the coming year, beside the routine work. Working to rouse public sentiment against selling cigarets to minors was given as an example of something worth while, since the school nurse last year complained of cigaret smoking among first grade children.

The meeting adjourned with many expressions of regret that the lessons had ended.

A rising vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Creighton for her faithful attendance and the valuable instruction and inspiration she gave.

The average attendance for the series of meetings has been 25. Those attending Wednesday's meeting were Mesdames L. A. Beverly of Crowell, St. Andrews Myers of Henrietta, W. B. Taylor, Harry ten Brink, J. T. Osteen, O. H. Karr, John Hayes, H. W. Conn, Ben Crowell, P. B. Cox, J. L. Ware, R. P. Willis, T. P. Muirhead, Frank B. Creighton, O. T. Doell, R. M. Morrow, E. C. deMontel, R. L. Underwood, R. A. Bailey, W. Roberts, J. B. Scarborough and H. R. Cloughley.

CURLS

(To Little Mary G.)

"Oh curls are very nice!"
Say aunts, of course, and mothers
But I would rather far
That curls were made for others.

They're awfully hard to wash,
And take so long to dry,
And when they comb the snarls
It's hurts enough to cry.

And then they always catch
The buttons on your back.
That wouldn't happen if
Your hair were straight and black.

And curls are always pulled
And tweaked a lot by brothers;
That's why I'd rather far
That curls were made for others.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Constantly we wonder over one thing—the homes without books. We, who have drowned our sorrow in concentration on a book, have read a volume and sighed because we could not read it for the first time once more, and who read over and over certain dear favorites—we feel that books are part of home.

◇ ◇ ◇

Many have the magazine habit; and there are many splendid magazines. Many have the habit of reading those magazines, that personally we feel should never be put on a magazine rack. And there are so many who merely look at the head lines, the funnies and the sports in the daily newspapers—these of the masculine sex. Should it be feminine, we would say there are so many who merely look at the funnies and at the society news.

◇ ◇ ◇

And this is why, we believe, conversation has fallen into banter. One must have a "line" to be popular. Slang is the order of the day, and indeed slang is very expressive. But at that, it is good to sit with those who have read and thought and who are not one-track minded; who can skip from ancient history to most modern; who know and can discuss modern science and who know and can discuss Herodotus' history of ancient times. They live.

◇ ◇ ◇

We would not have wished to walk and talk with Socrates and his pupils. Our idea of good talk is to talk of ancient glories and modern wonders at times, and be silly at times, and then at times to work and to play.

Announcement Made Of Approaching Marriage

Of more than usual interest was the lovely bridge party given by Mesdames N. A. Brunsides and Porter Slack at the home of Mrs. J. H. Durnal on Beverly Drive Tuesday evening announcing the engagement and the approaching marriage of their sister, Miss Elizabeth Billinger to Charles Bonner Armstead, the wedding to take place Aug. 16.

The announcement was made in the form of little old fashioned news girls bearing the names and date of the wedding.

The chosen wedding colors of pink and green were emphasized in the table decorations and the refreshments.

The honoree was remembered with two lovely pictures. Others present were Misses Katherine Ashford, Elizabeth Love, Laurene Hambrick, Udys Weinstein, Ruby Hearing, Annie Louise Adylotte of Tulsa, Okla., Bernice Apple, Billy Vaughn, Louise Campbell, Dot Russell and Mesdames R. A. Wolf, Ed Crump, Bill Zale of Tulsa and L. M. Byers.

Birthday Party Given Paul Marney

Paul Marney celebrated his fifth birthday Wednesday afternoon at his home on Wilson street.

The afternoon was spent in playing games. Refreshments were served to Geraldine Brown, Dorothy Shade, Doyle McAda, Ray Marney, Maxine Brookbank, and the little host.

Smallest Trifle May Be Turning Point of a Life

Why the Man Who Expects to Be a Bachelor by Necessity May Find Himself a Benedict by Choice—Folly of Confessing Past Sins.

Dear Miss Dix—I have just graduated from one of the leading universities in this country. I have no money and no immediate prospects for a decent job. As I see it, it will take me at least 10 years to earn enough to support the kind of wife I want, in the style in which I would want to take care of her. By that time my personal attractiveness will have been discounted 200 per cent and half the desire to marry will have diminished. Granting, therefore, that I am to be a bachelor by necessity as well as choice, I have two kinds of bachelorhood to choose from—the monastic, or the wine, woman and song type. Which way will I find happiness, and what do you think of my life plan?—V. W. R.

Answer—It is only when we are very young, V. W. R., that we believe that we can plan out our lives as we do a railroad journey, and say that this will be my objective, and I shall arrive at that point on a certain date and be somewhere else on another day, and then I shall do so-and-so. When we are older we find out that we are puppets in the hands of fate, and that we are shaped by life, instead of our shaping our lives.

A thousand fortuitous circumstances determine our courses. A thousand influences modify our tastes and desires. A chance meeting with a stranger alters our destiny. Our fortune or failure may depend upon which turn we take at any street corner. No one has long enough vision to see the future, a year, a month, a week, a day, or even an hour. In reality we are like the hero of the old song, who said: "I don't know where I'm going, but I'm on my way."

So it is folly to discuss your plan of life seriously. You will change it every day, as you go along, and when at middle age you look back upon the neat little diagram for living that you made at college you will find that you have done most of the things that you didn't intend to do and left undone those things that you planned to do.

My chief criticism of your plan is that you are too pessimistic. You stand shivering on the brink of life, afraid to plunge in and strike out, and that attitude of itself brings failure. A man can only achieve as much as he thinks he can achieve, and if you set yourself down as a second rater, you will be one.

So don't start out in life with the belief that you will never be able to make enough money to support a family before you are middle-aged. Hundreds of thousands of other young men with less intelligence, with less education, and with less ability than you do it, so why should you not also be a go-getter?

Nor need you consider it necessary to wait to marry until you can provide a wife with a palace to live in and Rolls-Royces to ride in. The right sort of a woman is not a gold-digger and she enjoys working shoulder to shoulder with the man she loves and helping him win out.

Another mistake you make is in thinking that when you are 30 your personal attractiveness will have been discounted 200 per cent, and that half of your desire to marry will have diminished. On the contrary, a man of 30 is a thousand times more attractive in looks, in personality, in manners and conversation than any callow boy, and it is only then that he really begins to long to marry and settle down and have a home.

So a fig for your plans about not marrying until after you have made a fortune, and about being so blase at 30 that you will have lost interest in all women. The first pretty girl you come across who has the come-hither look in her eye for you will change all of your theories on that subject. And you will find when you get to be 30 that you are not the doddering old man you think you will be, but an alert youngster, just as interested in the feminine sex as ever.

And in case you do not marry, the kind of old bachelor you will make is also on the knees of the gods. We do not consciously choose our types. We grow into them by slow degrees, without knowing how it happens.

But whether you are one of the old bachelors who are jolly and generous and like an answer to prayer to all their relatives, or a sour and cynical and tight-fisted old bachelor whom everybody fears and dreads, depends upon your attitude toward life and whether you let the inevitable trials and tribulations of existence sour or sweeten you.

But, in any case whether the old bachelor is monastic or a rounder, he is a lonely old chap at last and one who misses the best of life, so take my tip and don't be one.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have lived a wild life and three years ago had an affair that proved tragic. Now I am engaged to a girl I love with all my heart. I told her about my past and then she confessed that she had also had one. Imagine my horror. Virtue has always been the first requisite in my ideal of a wife, and while this girl swears she has only had this one affair and that she will always be true to me, I cannot get this thing out of my mind. Loving her as I do, can I be happy with her? Can I trust her? Can I ever forget?—X.

Answer—It is a case of the pot calling the kettle black, isn't it Mr. X? Who are you to cast the first stone? Hasn't she just as much to forgive in you as you have to forgive in her? Has she any better reason for trusting you than you have for trusting her? Since you are both fellow sinners, why not forgive each other and wipe the slate off and start afresh?

I feel very sure that you can trust this girl never to stumble off the strait and narrow path again, but don't marry her unless you are big enough really to forget as well as forgive, and never to reproach her with her error.

But your case illustrates anew the folly of men and women confessing their past sins to each other. It does no good. It only destroys their faith in each other and gives them a wrong to brood over and a perpetual subject to quarrel over.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—India is not the only land that has its castes; other countries also have their pariahs. Such are servants. No treatment is too mean, no term too harsh to be applied to us, but the ladies are like queens. What a paragon of all virtues, what an epitome of intelligence each one of them is! Take, for instance, this servant problem. They have had it in their hands only for a short time—just for a few millenniums—and what stupendous results they have achieved! Servants are often referred to as ignorant and illiterate "hirelings." Great Scott! Why, many a housemaid has more in her feet than her mistress has in her head. And hirelings? Well, perchance, even college professors may be called that.

—D. T.

Answer—It is not fair, of course, to judge the individual by the class, and without doubt there are many men and women in domestic service who are far superior in intelligence and breeding to those for whom they work, but you must admit, D. T., that these are isolated instances and that the great majority of servants are not highly cultured.

It is greatly to be regretted that any stigma should be placed upon domestic service, because it keeps out of it many women who would find in it their most congenial and profitable occupation. There are many girls who have no aptitude for business; who find all the surroundings of a business office distasteful and uncongenial; who never learn the technique of selling, or acquire speed and facility in handling a typewriter but who are born housewives. They adore going on an orgy of cleaning, they thrill to pots and pans, and they have a genius for cooking.

These girls would be far happier in somebody's kitchen than they are in a business house, and they would earn more money, for by the time the average clerk's or stenographer's board and lodging is paid and the clothes that she has to have to present a suitable appearance are bought she has less money left than the girl who works in a home. But these girls take the less well-paid job because they do not want to be called servants.

The remedy for the situation rests in the hands of you girls in domestic service, D. T. You can raise your profession to one of honor and emolument, if you want to, by giving better service and by forcing the world to respect you and your work. Remember, there was a time when actors were outcasts, and when writers and especially newspaper reporters, sat below the salt and were looked down upon.

But the actors and newspaper people have raised their calling to the dignity of fine arts and forced the world not only to receive them, but to look up to them.

And domestic employes can do the same thing. As is proved from the fact that chefs and trained baby nurses have already achieved their place in the sun.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married five years and my husband and I get along just fine and we never quarrel except about one thing. He never will give me a cent of money of my own. If I ask him for things he will buy them for me, but if I only had $3 a week of my own, just for little things like embroidery floss and material to sew on I would be so happy. I work hard and am a good housekeeper and cook and my husband is well-to-do.—L. M.

Answer—If $3 a week would make you happy your husband deserves the Meanest Man's Medal for not giving it to you. Why, you earn that over many times by doing your cooking and washing and cleaning and scrubbing and sewing and all the other labor it takes to keep a comfortable home, as he would find out if he tried to hire a servant to take your place.

If your husband is such a tightwad that he will not even give you $3 a week to spend for the little things you need, why don't you go out and get yourself a job and work for some man who believes that the laborer is worthy of her hire?—DOROTHY DIX.

We Women

By BETTY BRAINERD

MOTHERS WHO KNOW

What is to be done about the younger generation?

The answer to that oft-repeated question is: Time.

For in another 25 years the younger generation, that insouciant, rebellious and daring lot, will be not the younger but the older generation.

Time is the answer to a number of crying questions. And in this case time will not only work its steadying, sobering way, but youngsters will not work any permanent evil upon society and may even bring good to pass.

"Believe me, no daughter of mine is ever going to be able to get away with the stuff I've put over on my mother!"

This remark of an 18-year-old girl is typical of a fairly prevalent state of mind.

Critics make the mistake of imagining that flaming youth is enamored of its course. As a matter of fact the majority of the wise-cracking petting crew is animated by a quite wholesome distaste for its mode of living. Not, perhaps, a distate sufficiently strong to bring about a reform, but strong enough to guarantee against a repetition in the next generation.

One feels a trifle sorry for that next younger generation.

They are going to have such a strait-laced, prunes and prisms time of it. For no parent is so strict as the parent who has himself gone the pace and made whoopee in his day.

"Aw, mother doesn't know what it's all about!"

That contemptuous, half-pitying comment will not be made, one imagines, about the mothers of the next generation.

Mother will know quite accurately what it's all about, so well, in fact, that daughter's chances of pulling a fast one will be very slight indeed.

The daughters of this wicked younger generation will be really protected, not merely sheltered from life.

They will be protected because their mothers will see to it that they obtain a knowledge of the world and its ways, and in addition a mechanism for evaluating their ambitions and their experiences.

Mother won't be relegated to the company of the dinosaur and other extinct species. She will be consulted and respected as one who knows—no foolin'!

AGED QUANAH WOMAN DIES

Mrs. Altha Shaw, 87, Claimed by Death

Special to The Record News

QUANAH, Texas, July 31.—Mrs. Altha Shaw, age 87, died at her home in Quanah Tuesday, and was buried in Quanah cemetery today. She had been a resident of Hardeman county and Quanah for over 40 years, coming here from Fannin county. She is survived by two sons, W. L. Bridge of McLean, Texas, who is in Quanah hospital following a major operation, and Harley Bridge of Hollis, Okla., and several grandchildren. Mrs. D. H. Cabeen of Honey Grove and J. B. Shaw of Texarkana, are step-children.

Her aged brother, A. M. Robeson, 88 years old, and another brother W. B. Robeson, have lived with her for years in her home in Quanah.

Mrs. Shaw had been a member of the Methodist church for 75 years.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

NEW YORK, July 31. (US)—The tea rooms look like Harlem restaurants these days. Girls in short sleeved dresses, backless, and all either burned black or painted that way with artificial tan.

It is amusing to see how short some women wear their dresses. Today I saw one about 40 years old, with her skirts three inches above her knees, and she looked unconscious of the fact. If they wear them that short and are fat women, they ARE unconscious.

A Swedish actress, London, making moving pictures, is reported as eating nothing but ham and eggs and drinking nothing but cold milk.

A Maltest cat in Chicago killed a mother rabbit and then nursed the six baby rabbits that she had orphaned, just as affectionately as if they were her own kittens.

A lesson, and a good one for Chicago.

From an English paper comes this bit. The writer had just returned from a trip to Glasgow:

"One of the outstanding attractions of Glasgow, is, to my mind, the wearing of Tartan skirts by some of the girls. This habit, Mrs. Horniman, requires a leg. If you are the kind of girl who blessed the old Russian boot fashion you should avoid it.

But given a leg, and so arrayed, you can walk through life on men's hearts.

I would lay me down and dee for bonny Kirsty Dundonnachie any day in a Tartan skirt; yes, even if she wore the Buchanan Tartan, which is mostly yellow and a loud yell.

Quanah Road Nearly Completed

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, July 31.—Paving crews on highway No. 5 west of Quanah who have been pouring concrete on this highway east from the Childress county line, have completed this work to Acme, and have moved the mixers to the west end of Third street in Quanah, to pave the balance of the distance west to Acme, about 8 miles. It is expected actual pouring of concrete on this strip will begin Friday. Gravel and materials will be trucked from the loading depot at Acme where the loading derrick and equipment is already set up.

With the completion of this stretch of road highway No. 5 will be paved across Hardeman county.

Crews are busy on the large and small drainage structures on the north end of highway No. 51, from Quanah to Red river. The south end of highway No. 51 has recently been accepted by the state department, and the grade is now being traveled to Pease river. It is expected construction work on No. 51 will be proceeded with continuously until the concrete is poured, which will give Quanah paved roads in the four directions.

County Attorney's Hobby Is Raising Chickens

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—County Attorney O. D. Beauchamp has a hobby, raising chickens. He now has about 500 White Leghorns running around the pens, seven weeks old. Fried chicken is on the bill of fare at the Beauchamp home.

At a cost of about $100 he constructed a small pen in the rear of the yard at his home near the Baptist church. All of the chickens and the house are contained in a space of about 50 by 50 feet. He is enjoying remarkable success with a ration suggested by the A. & M. college.

Mr. Beauchamp started in after he became interested in the Charles Weeks' project at Wichita Falls. He purchased a number of baby chicks from Mr. and Mrs. Claude Callaway at Foard City. He has succeeded in raising 95 per cent of the baby chicks.

ALTUS BUILDS NURSERY PONDS

Izaak Waltons Complete Model Pools

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., July 31.—With the completion of two fish nursery ponds one and one-half miles east of Altus this week the city will have what is considered by the Izaak Walton league to be two of the best nursery ponds in the state.

The ponds were started some time ago at the instigation of the local league and have been constructed on city property, immediately east of the city reservoir, at an approximate cost of $1,250. They cover three and one-half acres and vary from five feet to a feather edge in depth.

The nurseries are to be stocked each spring with 50,000 bass fry from the government hatcheries at Medicine Park. Of this number it is believed at least 25,000 will attain a length of five to eight inches when they will be drawn from the pools in October for disposition in Lake Altus, the city reservoir and neighboring streams.

Fishermen will be asked to throw back into the water all fish under the 12-inch minimum in order that as many of the stock fish will have opportunity to spawn as possible. It is estimated that it will thus be possible to keep the lakes in good fishing condition.

A. & M. Short Course Speakers Dwell on Dairy Development

Relief From One Crop System Pictured in Milk Production; Girls Told of Smoking and Drinking

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, July 31. (AP)—Dairying in Texas was the theme developed by speakers at today's general session of the farmers short course at A. & M. college.

Discussing factors that affect dairy development, C. N. Shepardson, head of the dairy husbandry department of the college, declared the future success of dairying depended primarily upon the ability to reduce costs of production through more efficient cows and more economical feeding.

Dairying promised a much needed relief from the evils of a one crop system, Shepardson said. A relief that is needed in many parts of Texas.

"Not only the farmers but also the business men of the state are realizing that there is a real need of dairying in our farm program," he said. "With the awakening of this interest on the part of all concerned, we have made one of the biggest steps in the development of Texas dairying."

Greater cow efficiency is one of the primary needs in this program, he pointed out, citing the fact that "the average production to the cow in Texas at present is slightly over 3,000 pounds a year, while th average for the country as a whole is about 4,000 and the average for some of the leading dairy states is more than 5,000 pounds to the cow."

More adequate housing facilities, more attention to the care and handling of milk and control or elimination of disease from milk herds were other needs urged.

One of the worst enemies to a girl's complexion and beauty is the cigaret and cocktail habit, Mrs. declared in an address before the Erschel S. Records of Fort Worth girls' section. She warned against the "ravages wrought to the most enchanting complexion by the continued use of such poison."

Miss May Eddy of Crockett, Houston county, and Mrs. Charles Duncan of Tyler, Smith county, were announced first place winners in class one and class two, respectively, of the state-wide improved living room contest. Each won $50 in cash.

A total of 1,096 farm women in 86 counties were entered in the contests.

Stockman Has 'Healing' Stone

Special to The Record News

BENJAMIN, Texas, July 31.—Henry Coody, stockman and farmer, a resident of Benjamin and Knox county for many years, has in his possession a madstone that has been in the Coody family for 150 years. Tradition has it that these small stones come from the stomach of the white deer and it is believed by many that they will draw the poison from wounds caused by being bitten by a dog or other animal afflicted with the rabies.

This stone in Mr. Coody's possession is small, about one and one-half inches in diameter, of a gray-ish brown color. It is still wrapped in the small napkin in which it was first put away, which is long since frayed and yellowed with age, though of fine linen and beautiful weave, with a faint pink border.

The stone has been used here a number of times with apparently good results.

Seminole Gauge Shows Another Small Drop

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., July 31.—The Greater Seminole field showed another decline of 291 barrels Tuesday when the pool produced 378,726 barrels of oil from 2,017 wells.

The field produced 379,017 barrels Monday and 379,117 barrels Sunday. No new wells were completed during the past 24 hours.

"Let's be fair about this matter of deciding which is the best cigarette," said OLD GOLD to Mr. American Smoker last January.

"That sounds reasonable," replied Mr. S. "What do you want me to do?"

"Well," continued O. G., "why don't you smoke me and the other three leading brands with paper masks covering our names, so you can't tell us apart? And leave it to your taste to say which one it likes best?"

And Mr. American Smoker did . . . with the following results.

In February, the nation gave OLD GOLD a rousing sales boost over January. In March, April, May and June this brisk upward sales swing continued unabated, with June racing ahead to nearly double the sales of January.

OLD GOLD wins in these tests because it IS a better cigarette. Blended by skilled blenders from Nature's choicest queen-leaf tobaccos, its finer quality just naturally proclaims itself in any reliable comparison of cigarettes.

PACKARD
STANDARD EIGHT
PRICES REDUCED
$290

THE Packard Motor Car Company has just advised us by telegram that effective August 1, prices of all models of the Standard Eight have been reduced $290. The new prices are as follows:

126" Wheelbase Models

5-Passenger Sedan	$1985
2-Passenger Coupe	2060
2-Passenger Convertible Coupe	2135

133" Wheelbase Models

4-Passenger Coupe	$2285
5-Passenger Club Sedan	2285
7-Passenger Sedan	2285
7-Passenger Sedan Limousine	2385
7-Passenger Touring	2185
2-Passenger Runabout	2085
5-Passenger Phaeton	2085

(Prices f. o. b. Detroit)

These reductions have been made because the factory expects to announce in the Fall new cars which though the same in size and of characteristic Packard appearance, will have enough changes to classify them as new models.

Many of these improvements and refinements have been in production for some time on current models. This, together with the fact that the new cars will be priced higher than the present cars were before the reduction, gives today's purchasers a very great price advantage. And also, immediate use of the largest selling and most popular car in the fine car field.

Two-thirds of those who buy the Packard Standard Eight give up other makes of cars. Thousands prefer to buy out of income. Your used car will be accepted as cash and if of average value will more than make the down payment on a new car.

THOSE GOOD OLD DAYS
◇ ◇ ◇
Daily Editorial

HISTORY has had a tough time untangling myth from reality.

This century is much more accurately informed on the ways of the ancients—their detailed habits and customs—than folk standing a thousand years closer to the same scenes.

The Dark Ages extinguished practically all lamps of learning. Literary spans between dim and medieval civilizations were lost in the wreck of the Holy Roman Empire, and copies of the classics once became so scarce that a complete version of Cicero's Orations or the Code Justinian remained unprocurable for entire generations.

Barbarism so thoroughly obliterated the tracks of its predecessors that the few erudite monks sweated at the task for eras, before they managed to piece together the links which chain decadent races to their illustrious origins.

Consequently, early art and chronicles are grotesque with inaccuracy and hyperbole.

Brutus was long credited with the settlement of Britain and the founding of London:

Common belief in immaculate conceptions is repeatedly indicated by such scribes as Nennius, to whom we are also indebted for the news that St. Patrick gave sight to the blind, hearing to the deaf, cleansed the lepers, cast out devils and raised nine from the dead."

The biographer of Alfred the Great traces his descent, step by step, to Seth and Adam.

"Leap year was caused by Joshua when he made the sun stand still."

Renaissance painters habitually clothed Biblical characters in contemporaneous costume and depicted them against local backgrounds.

The Siege of Troy, a favorite subject of Old Masters, discloses to modern amazement, that the Homeric heroes, and not the Chinese, were inventors of gunpowder and artillery.

Both priests and populace accepted Aesop's fables and similar parables as actual happenings. And a characteristic long-bow shot was the generally current tale of Alexander's death at the lips of a beautiful Indian girl, who had been fed on serpents and sent to the Conqueror, "as a fatal gift."

◇ ◇ ◇

A CHRISTMAS mystery play, performed by members of the clergy, presented "Moses in papal vestments, Balaam with large spurs, and David in a green waistcoat."

Any 10-year American schoolboy is a veritable encyclopedia, compared to the pundits of King Richard's reign or the wise-acres at Ethelbert's court.

Current knowledge of everything exceeds the combined store of information collected by all our intermediate forefathers, who hadn't the faintest notion of time, space, weight or numbers, and, up to the middle of the fifteenth century, located Jerusalem in the exact center of the earth.

Until the Elizabethan stage, fundamental thinkers were so few and far between, that their reflections and achievements emerge from the fogs of superstition and illiteracy like skyscrapers amid shanties.

Thus, Roger Bacon with his proposition to discard tradition and rely upon inquiry—and William of Newberry, declaring in 1208 "against the absurdity of the fabulous history of King Arthur and the prophesies of Merlin."

Leonardo DaVinci's ideas were also incredibly ahead of the procession.

If the existent equipment had provided the necessary tools, there's a man who might have left engineering monuments equal to his statuary and canvases.

But even his crystalline genius was flawed by leanings toward witchcraft and sorcery.

Such little rambles into yesterday furnish the only yardsticks by which we may measure progress.

Retrospection is the sovereign remedy for impatience. Contrast alone establishes values.

Many telephone subscribers are said to disfavor the new dial system and are seeking a return to the old way. The wrong number, perhaps, is better than no number at all.

Professional pugilism in Mexico is said to be gaining in popularity. If the boxing situation down there is anything like that north of the Rio Grande, that's a sure sign that the country has settled down.

Chicago's police commissioner has requested members of the force to eat more spinach. Maybe he thinks they need more iron in their systems. Well?

Two Nations That Are Mastering Destiny

WHEN Ramsay MacDonald and Herbert Hoover announced on the same day that they were curtailing the naval construction programs of their respective countries, they did more than merely reduce the eventual size of the British and American navies.

They proved that it is perfectly possible for men, or groups of men, to control destiny—to shape the currents of their times to fit their own will.

Does that seem far-fetched? Consider the entire situation for a moment.

England and America, the two greatest "world powers" today, stand in a situation which, always before in all the world's history, has led to war. Yet the prospects are that there will be no war. England and America, from present indications, will never fight one another.

This, of course, isn't solely the doing of Premier MacDonald and President Hoover. Thousands upon thousands of thinking men and women in each nation can share in the credit. But the result is the same. Until very recently it was said, and believed that England and America were "destined to fight it out" for world supremacy; and the two nations now are simply deciding that they don't care to submit to that kind of destiny.

Examine the chain of events that preceded the war between England and Germany.

The two were great commercial rivals. England had enjoyed a rich overseas trade for more than a century. Germany, younger, more bustling and more efficient, was getting into this trade, taking away old markets by wholesale.

In addition, Germany had built a vast war fleet—the only fleet in existence that could compare with England's. Leaders in each country kept comparing these fleets, talking about them, looking to the day when they would meet.

So in the course of time, the two nations went to war; and we have got into the habit of saying that that war was "inevitable."

Perhaps it was. Yet the present situation between America and England is the exact parallel of that earlier situation between Germany and England.

America, now, is cutting into Britain's markets, growing rich on an overseas trade that used to be Britain's. America, now, has the only fleet that can rival Britain's.

But the two nation's are turning away from the "inevitable" war. They are stopping in the midst of their rivalry, making concessions, squelching the war talk, looking for some way of making peace endure.

By the simple process of using common sense they are re-shaping their own destinies.

It may be, after all, that the rulers of the earth have learned something from the world war.

A Triumph for Justice

GOVERNOR BIBB GRAVES of Alabama proved himself an energetic and wise executive the other day when he ordered two companies of national guardsmen to Eufala, Ala., to protect a colored man who was being tried for a peculiarly brutal murder.

The prisoner's guilt was quite obvious, and feeling against him was running high. Conditions were just about right for a lynching; and the governor might well have asked himself, "Well, what's the difference? If the mob doesn't hang him now the state will have to hang him a couple of months later."

But Governor Graves saw things otherwise. He ordered out the soldiers and instructed them to "use any means necessary" to protect the negro from mob violence. The job was done efficiently. The negro was tried, convicted, and sentenced to hang. The law is taking its due course, and the prisoner's crime is going to be avenged.

And Governor Graves has saved his state from putting a black mark on its record.

The Lee's Record Falls

THE speed record for Mississippi river travel, set 59 years ago by the famous packet boat Robert E. Lee, has fallen. Dr. Louis Leroy's speed boat, the Bogie, has succeeded in clipping three hours off the Lee's record for the 1,200-mile run from New Orleans to St. Louis.

To Dr. Leroy, who has tried to shatter the mark before but has been balked by circumstances beyond his control, go hearty congratulations, of course. But his breaking of the record, when you stop to think about it, is really another testimonial to the speed of the famous old packet steamer.

The Lee was a regular passenger carrier, built in civil war days, when neither boats nor engines had been brought to their modern efficiency. The Bogie is a speed boat—a pleasure craft constructed solely for speed. Yet it could only take three hours off the Lee's mark! That fact speaks volumes for the Lee's all around excellence of design and construction.

CHATTY—GODDESS OF GAB

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of: "HER MAN," "HONEY LOU," "SALLY'S SHOULDERS," "MONEY LOVE," "LOVE BOUND," ETC.

COPYRIGHT 1929, CENTRAL PRESS ASS'N, INC., CLEVELAND, OHIO.

READ THIS FIRST

Charlotte Chatterton, nicknamed Chatty, is a born gossip. She loses her job in Mrs. Mayberry's millinery because she talks too much.

Her mother, a dressmaker, has one wealthy customer, Mrs. Van Nuys, an old friend. Through her Chatty gets a job in the files department of Mr. Van Nuys' bond house, downtown. There she falls in love with David Jordan, a bond salesman whom she once saw buying flowers in a shop near Mrs. Mayberry's.

Billie Langeneau, in charge of the files, tells Chatty that Jordan never pays any attention to the girls in the office except Agnes Herford, Mr. "Van's" secretary. When Chatty tells Agnes the story she adds a fib to it—and says that Billie also said that Agnes and Jordan were in love with each other. Winnie Talcott, Mr. "Van's" stenographer, says that sometimes Agnes goes out with Mr. Van, too.

Billie and her sister, Sara, come to live across the hall from the Chattertons, and Chatty learns that Billie is separated from her husband. But no one in the office knows she has ever been married, including George Mayhew, who's in love with her.

Billie is kindness itself to Chatty, and one night she gives a party in order that Chatty may meet Dave Jordan outside the office and become friends with him. That night Jordan makes love to Chatty for the first time, and she is very happy. But her happiness is shadowed by her discovery, that same night, that Pud, her young brother, is selling liquor from Ber. Tomlinson's drug store, where he works evenings. She begs him to stop doing it.

One night after closing time, Chatty remains at the office and goes through Agnes Herford's desk in search of a note she saw Jordan give her. In looking for it Chatty finds Agnes' diary—and in it the whole story of her love for Mr. Van Nuys! One entry mentions Chatty, and Agnes calls her "the silly little Chatterton" in it. Chatty mails it to Mrs. Van, not only to get even with Agnes for calling her silly, but to get Agnes "fired," if possible. She is afraid that Agnes will go to Mr. Van with the story that Billie has been gossiping about herself and Jordan, as Agnes has threatened to do that in her diary. And Chatty does not want Billie to find out that she lied to Agnes about her. Next day when she comes home to dress to go out with Jordan Mrs. Van is at her house. She looks as cheerful as usual, to Chatty's surprise.

"I'd just adore to do it!"

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XIV

The minute Chatty heard the door close behind Mrs. Van, she rushed into the front room to Mrs. Chatterton.

"You'll have to stop whatever you're doing, mother!" she cried, all hurry and excitement. "And you'll have to help me get this room cleaned up as it's never been cleaned before. . . . Mr. Jordan's coming at seven to take me out somewhere for dinner. Mr. Jordan from the office, you know, mother! —Mr. Jordan!"

Mrs. Chatterton smiled. "Yes—I've heard lots about Mr. Jordan, Chatty," she said quietly. "You haven't talked anything but 'Mr. Jordan' for over a month, now. I'll be interested to see him."

Chatty nodded as she began to rush about, picking up basting threads and bits of silk from the carpet. "Yes, and you'll have to look like something when you meet him!" she said. "Please put on your black taffeta, mother, and make yourself look like a lady—"

"I hope I am a lady," her mother remarked. "Have you ever been ashamed of me, Chatty?" She looked hurt.

"N-no," the girl answered, but her soft little mouth dropped at the corners as she spoke. "But I'm ashamed of this house—and I don't want Dave Jordan to see the sewing machine and all your dressmaking stuff around, the very first time he comes here. He's not used to girls whose mothers have to work for a living—and I don't want him to know that mine does until he's been friends with me for a long time."

Mrs. Chatterton had been bending over the cutting table, gathering up some scraps of white cloth. But now she turned and gave Chatty a wounded, unhappy look from her gentle, blue eyes.

"You make me feel as if you'd rather I didn't meet your young man," she said, gravely. "It's a mistake to be ashamed of your own family, Chatty."

"I'm not ashamed of you." Chatty rushed to her and put her slender young arms tight around her. "But—well, mother, Dave Jordan knows one girl who has so much money that she wouldn't think of trying to get along on less than ten thousand a year when she gets married, for instance. That's the kind of girls he's been going around with, I guess—and this place is sure to look awfully shabby and little and poor to him, isn't it? And that's why I want you to look particularly nice tonight. So that he'll know that my family is better than the place where we live. See?"

Whatever Mrs. Chatterton saw, she said very little more. "We'll fix up the old room as well as we can," she said. "We'll do our best—and angels can do no more!"

When everything was in order the little place looked pretty, after all, Chatty thought.

The evening was chilly, and so, as a last touch, she struck a match to the fire that was laid in the grate. The flicker of the flames and the glow of the lamp on the table in the middle of the room made everything look warm and glowing and cozy.

"I almost forgot that 'Dressmaking' sign in the window, though!" Chatty cried, and flew across the room to take it down. She hid it on the shelf in the hall closet.

"I think you're making a mistake by doing that," her mother told her, as they went into their bedroom to dress. "It would be better to let this young man know from the start everything there is to know about us. . . . He probably isn't thinking seriously of you, anyway, Chatty. A man who comes from a wealthy family, and knows wealthy girls, is very likely to marry a rich wife—not a poor nobody like you, my dear."

Chatty did not enjoy hearing herself called "a poor nobody." So she changed the subject. "How did Mrs. Van seem this afternoon? Happy and cheerful?" she asked, sitting on the floor to pull on a pair of silk stockings that had been washed so many times that they had to be handled with extreme care.

"What a queer question! Now, why on earth wouldn't she be happy and cheerful, Chatty?" There was surprise in Mrs. Chatterton's voice. "If there's any woman anywhere who has everything in life to make her happy and cheerful, that woman is Kate Van Nuys! She was saying just today that it didn't seem fair for me to have so little—and for her to have so much. Plenty of money and a wonderful husband! Everything."

"Then she hasn't seen Agnes' diary yet!" Chatty thought. "Because she won't be around shaking hands with herself after she reads that—and finds out how many times wonder husband has taken his private secretary out to lunch the last few months."

But it never entered her head to be sorry for Mrs. Van.

It never occurred to her that Mrs. Van might be in love with her husband just as much as she, herself, was in love with Dave Jordan—and that it might break Mrs. Van's heart to know that he ever noticed any woman but herself.

She whistled light-heartedly as she went about with her dressing—brushing back her hair into a smooth, honey-colored roll at the back of her head, rubbing the tiniest bit of talcum powder on the shiny end of her little nose, clasping Billie's pearls around her neck.

At 10 minutes before 7 she and her mother were sitting together in the front room, looking, as Chatty said, with a laugh, like "two ladies of leisure instead of a couple of debt-ridden wage slaves."

At five minutes before 7 Pud came flying up the front stairs taking two steps at a time, and bursting into the flat like a baby hurricane. He threw his hat down on the table in the middle of the room, took off his coat and threw it over the back of his chair, and then looked around for his supper.

"Aren't we eatin' tonight?" he wanted to know. "Say, what's everybody dolled up for? What's happenin'?"

Just as Chatty was opening her lips to tell him to pick up clothes, the doorbell rang sharply.

"There he is! There's Dave Jordan now!" she cried excitedly. "Pud, please put on your coat! A man from the office is taking me out for dinner, and when he comes up here I want you to shake hands with him and be as polite as you can—"

She stopped suddenly, and a look of horror came into her little face. "Pud," she said, "have you ever delivered—any—any packages for Ben Tomlinson to a man named Jordan? He's red-headed and he lives in a flat on the east side somewhere with some other bachelors."

Pud knew what she meant by "packages," and he flushed and threw an uneasy look at his mother.

"Naw," he answered, sullenly, "I don't know any such bozo. But I don't want to meet any of your friends, if that's the way you feel about me." And he went into his own room and slammed the door behind him.

Mrs. Chatterton's voice followed Chatty as she went to open the door. "I don't see why you should be ashamed of your brother," it said. "Lots of boys work afternoons after school—it's nothing to be ashamed of."

"If she only knew about him!" thought Chatty.

"I like your mother very much," Dave Jordan said 10 minutes later, when he and Chatty were going down the stairs side by side. "She's just the sort of a mother who'd have a daughter like you."

"Now, what do you mean by that?" Chatty's voice shook a little with the excitement and thrill that always came to her when she was with him.

"I mean that she's a lady—just as you are," Dave Jordan told her, in his plain, blunt way. "She's like my own mother. No paint, no powder, no high-hat stuff about her. She's a regular woman—sensible and sweet, isn't she?"

Chatty laughed, nestling against him as the pride of America started away from the curb.

"She told me tonight that I must be sensible about you," she said, unsteadily. "She told me I mustn't take you seriously."

"Why not?"

"Well, I'd been telling her that all the girls you knew were rich ones—girls who wouldn't get married on less than ten thousand a year, and so on. And she told me that one of those girls was probably the girl you would eventually marry instead of a poor one like me."

Chatty caught her breath after she said that. . . . it seemed such a bold thing to say to a man whom she didn't know so awfully well, even if she had let him kiss her two or three times, didn't it?

"I was engaged to the girl who wouldn't get married on less than ten thousand a year," Dave Jordan's voice came to her grimly, above the rush of the night wind in her ears. "And she—well, it's all off now. So you tell your mother for me that I'm not in any danger of marrying an heiress, in the near future, will you?"

Chatty did not answer. And he said nothing for a long time.

The pride of America had left the lights of the town behind, and was nosing its way into the darkness of the country when he spoke again:

"I'm taking you out to a restaurant called the 'Lollypop Inn'—ever been there?"

"I've told you and told you that I've never been anywhere!" Chatty answered him. "I've been a 9 o'clock girl all my life."

"That's why you're so sweet," he said, and he put one arm lightly around her shoulders.

He did not look like a man whose heart is smashed because his engagement has been broken, when he opened the door of the car for Chatty in the courtyard of the Lollypop Inn.

He did not behave like one, either, that night. He danced every dance with Chatty, as if she were the one girl on earth that he wanted to dance with and hold in his arms.

He ate quantities of fried chicken and shoe string potatoes and pie. And all the way home he kept his right arm around Chatty's soft little shoulders and drove with his left one.

She was sorry when the pride of America drew up before the red brick apartment building in Lipton street, all silver and black velvet with moonlight and shadows, and the glorious magical evening was over.

But she was happy—breathlessly, wildly happy—a second later when he turned in his seat and took her in his arms. Her head drooped back upon the rough shoulder of his coat, and he covered her face and her throat with kisses.

"Chatty—you're so doggoned sweet—so sweet," he told her huskily, unsteadily.

He stood in the road and lifted her out upon the pavement.

"Tomorrow night again?" he asked, holding her face between his two hands.

"Tomorrow night," she promised. He kissed her again and let her go.

The next morning Chatty slept late.

It was 9 o'clock when she walked into the office.

She threw her hat and coat on a hook in the cloakroom and fairly flew into the files room, where Billie was hard at work, checking client lists.

"New job for you!" she sang out, when she saw Chatty. "Jean Gilday's home was a sore throat, and they want you to answer the phones today."

Chatty had often taken care of the switchboard when Jean Gilday was at lunch, and she enjoyed doing it. It was such fun to "listen in" on telephone conversations in the office.

She was as happy as a lark, and as busy as a bee, when Dave came in at noon. He walked over to her and stood, smiling down at her.

"You'd probably enjoy having that job all the time," he said. "You seem to be having the time of your life."

"Oh, I'd adore to do it forever!" she warbled at him. "I've been hearing everybody's business all morning! Agnes has lot her office keys and she's been telephoning her home for them. Why, this is twice as exciting as the filing room!"

She laughed to herself, thinking of Agnes' keys, in the sewer pipes under the city, somewhere!

Plains Towns Sign Up for Natural Gas

QUITAQUE, Texas, July 31.—Prospective users of natural gas in Quitaque, Turkey and Silverton are getting their names on the dotted line and making the customary meter deposit, according to C. M. Walden of Quitaque who is in charge of operations in the three cities.

Silverton was leading in the parade the first of the week with 38 meter deposits received, Mr. Walden stated, with Quitaque following with 31. Turkey is third with deposits accompanying the service contract.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who rightly balances love and passion in his affection, is prudent."

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, July 31.—Tammany Hall has moved into its new wigwam, and with the moving comes an amazing disclosure of how the old Tammany was bulked. Up near the roof of the old wigwam, which has been torn down, rested Chief Tammany himself—a huge and imposing Indian figure. Surely, one thought, this historic symbol of a great political organization would be preserved and installed on the new building. What made it seem a certainty was that Chief Tammany was made of pewter. But Chief Tammany is gone. Those political leaders of a bygone day who had paid for him had paid for pewter and got spelter instead. Similarly, they contracted for some solid bronze statues. And these, too, have been exposed as barefaced fakes—just spelter, with a bronze patina painted on.

He Died Poor

The real Chief Tammany, a Delaware Indian who sold the white settlers a good bit of the state of Pennsylvania for some guns, shoes and mirrors, died poor. He cremated himself in his tent. The old chief had had a motto which Tammany hall appropriated for itself back in 1811. "Kwanie," he said, "kwanie che keeteru"—"I am master wherever I am."

Twice Twelve Hours

Around the clock in Times square—6 a. m.: Life stirs in the subway exits. Workmen in old clothes, carrying dinner pails, amble to the street, and to nearby construction and factory jobs.

8 a. m.: White-collar workers and girls begin to appear. They are the ones who must get to the office early and open it up for the day's business. The last of the all-night trucks lumber in restaurants.

9 a. m.: The office flood gathers, restaurants and drug store lunch counters begin to fill. Business gets under way and street traffic becomes a nuisance.

11 a. m.: The movie theaters open, and promptly are filled. The patrons are mostly men.

12 a. m.: Hardy chorus girls come out for a bit of air and a bite of breakfast. They come from the hotel and rooming house sections to the west and east. Many are not dressed for the street, but are hatless and wear flowered wrappers. Sallow-faced men stand against the buildings, reading racing sheets—figuring out the day's bets.

1 p. m.: Men in the theater business, having opened their offices, come down again for lunch. Only it's breakfast, mostly. Brisky office-workers are out for a real luncheon, and the loafers gather in eddies against the buildings.

2 p. m. to 9 p. m.: The theatrical business holds sway. Throngs for the matinees, throngs for the night performances.

9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.: The crowd thins out, but does not vanish, for the movies do business at all hours.

11 p. m. The homeward rush begins. Midnight comes, and crowds seek the dine-and-dance places and the night clubs. Theater lights go out, but the advertising display signs continue to glare.

2 a. m.: Broadway is quiet enough to be enjoyed by strollers, and it is not too late.

4 a. m.: The dead part of the day. Only an occasional speeding automobile, an occasional wraith-like pedestrian. All but street lights are out, and perhaps an hours' peace descends upon the crossroads of the world.

Luncheons Get Complicated

A young society woman gave a luncheon for 20 Junior leaguers the other day, and her menu looked like one of these buffets. Her friends were on the 18-day diet, and she had telephoned each of them to ask what day of the diet she was on. Proper meals were served at all times, and the hostess was obliged to provide 12 of the 18 "days" on the diet.

Beware of Helephobe

Are you a helephobe? If you are, don't go in for sun-tan. A helephobe is a person whose skin just won't take on that brown color. I am one, and many blond Nordics are. One of the local hospitals has warned helephobes to give up trying to be fashionable, and to prefer remaining pale and healthy. Too desperate an attempt to get a sepia shade in the epidermis may, the hospital warns, result in serious illness. And even those who tan easily should follow these rules: Take your sunlight in small doses. Don't sleep on the beach or the roof. When you go fishing or yachting, don't forget that the water reflects those ultra-violet rays that do all the damage. The men of New York, I notice, have gone in for lobster red more than the women, and the rushing business of drug and department stores proves to me a long-felt suspicion that the girls are a whole lot smarter.

Carranza Flight Commemorated in Memorial Album

WASHINGTON, July 31. (AP)—The signal corps of the army has prepared a memorial album commemorating the good will flight of the late Mexican aviator, Capt. Emilio Carranza, which will be transmitted to the Mexican government.

The album, bound in vellum, is a complete pictorial history of the courageous flier's exploits from the time of his arrival in the United States until the delivery of his body in Mexico City after the accident which took his life.

In transmitting the album to Secretary Stimson for delivery in Mexico, Secretary Good wrote as follows:

"This intrepid officer, in his brief visit to the United States, won the respect and admiration of soldier and civilian alike. Out of the sincere affection in which he was held and the genuine grief aroused in all hearts at the untimely death of their brother officer, grew the inspiration for this simple token of the regard in which the memory of Captain Carranza is held in the United States."

Newcastle-Olney Road Work to Start Soon

NEWCASTLE, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—Pouring of cement on the highway from Newcastle to Olney will begin in a few days, according to Mr. Stuckey of the Stuckey Construction company of Wichita Falls, which is in charge of the work. This will connect Newcastle up with Archer City and Wichita Falls when the hard-surfacing is completed.

GRANDFIELD, Okla., July 31.—Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Roseboom, of this city, departed Wednesday morning for Colorado Springs, Col., for an extended vacation. They are to join Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mount and family who have been away from Grandfield a week visiting in Colorado.

The Once Over
By H. I. PHILLIPS

A New National Hero Rises

(BEAUMONT, Texas.—H. C. Keen, acting county judge of Jefferson county, rose to unexpected heights of fame today when, with deadly aim of his trusty rifle, he stilled the voice and strains from a radio loud speaker next door. He fired three shots, totally demolishing the set.—News Item).

Judge Keen, who became at one bound, a truly great American and performed a deed, which has endeared him to all people who live close to their neighbors, was interviewed by this department today. He was presented with a petition signed by thousands of Americans asking that he organize and head a wild radio hunt and loud speaker safari. The idea would be to exterminate the more ferocious and bloodthirsty types of loud speakers, which are overrunning the country, causing great suffering and distress.

PHILLIPS

◇ ◇ ◇

The Texan indicated that he would accept if the expedition were sufficiently financed and equipped with ample artillery. He considers the rifle with which he slew the Beaumont radio set inadequate for any wide campaign.

◇ ◇ ◇

"It was the only weapon I had," he explained, "and I had to use it. It did the work, but I understand the set can be repaired. The loud speaker, for example, is now out of danger and will unfortunately recover. A deadlier weapon is essential in any broad campaign."

◇ ◇ ◇

Judge Keen explained in some detail the events leading up to the shooting. The radio, it appears, was being played day and night with the windows and doors open and with the loud speaker turned up to capacity, even during the weather forecast.

◇ ◇ ◇

"Just what moved you to shoot?" the judge was asked.

"Well," he replied, "I had been thinking of doing it for some time but 'I Kiss Your Hand, Madame' was the deciding factor."

"How so?"

"I swore that when the set played that for the 2,000th time I'd fire," he explained.

"I never knew there were so many madam hand-kissers in the world," continued the judge. "Listening to that radio, I got the idea there couldn't be more than a dozen males in the United States not engaged in that pastime. On the night in question the madam hand-kissers were evidently holding a big rally. Every third radio entertainer was doing it. It was pretty terrible.

"I knew I couldn't hold back much longer and when I heard it for the 1,999th time I loaded my gun and waited. I didn't have to wait more than four minutes before a male tenor began chirping it again."

"Did you shoot at once?"

"No, I didn't get him on the rise. I let him go a few seconds and then I let him have both barrels in full flight. The first charge got him between the first and second syllable of madam. Then I reloaded and got him squarely in the kisser. Then I blazed away again and shot off both madam's hands."

"Was it much of a thrill?" he was asked.

"Pretty good," said the judge, "but I want to take a few shots at something that will give me an even bigger kick."

"What's that?"

"One of those lady actors with the steamboat-whistle voice in the radio drama skits," he concluded.

A man is suing Henry Ford on the ground that he invented the gas-tank-over-the-motor. Up to this time it hadn't been supposed the person who thought up that idea would ever admit it.

Crowell Rotarians Plan Ladies' Night Aug. 28

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—The Rotary club of this city has named Aug. 28 as Ladies' night, when all the Anns will be present at a special meeting which will be attended by District Governor Bernard Bryant. Arrangements will be made to have visitors present from the clubs at Vernon and Quanah. Russell Beverly, Bert Self and Henry Ferguson were appointed by President Tom Bell to serve as a committee on arrangements.

A. F. OF L. RAPS HIGH TARIFFS

Matthew Woll Lodges Protest to Rates

By CHARLES S. HAYDEN
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The big industrialists of this country apparently have discovered a method by which they can eat their cake and have it, too. Sponsoring the highest possible protective tariff they obtain a monopoly on the United States' market for their products and through buying out competing concerns abroad or establishing branch factories there they are able to supply demands of their foreign trade without paying the high wages current in this country.

Woll Protests

This situation has called forth a most vigorous protest from Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, who insists that congress, in drafting the new tariff bill, should take cognizance of this situation. He contends that unless some safe-guards are provided American labor will find itself competing with foreign labor in the production of articles protected both by American patents and the American tariff wall. He has submitted to the finance committee of the senate a list of 250 American concerns with factories abroad and in discussing the situation says:

"Holders of these patents and trade marks seek thereby to have a monopoly of the American market, manufacture their products abroad with the low wage foreign labor, import these patent and trade-mark protected articles duty free or with a low tariff, but selling them on the basis of American costs, exploiting the consumer and denying to American labor the opportunity for employment."

The explanation given by the big industrialists is that if their patents are to be given full recognition and protection abroad the goods themselves must be manufactured in such countries. Woll, however, insists that in practically every instance they have availed themselves of the low wage scales prevailing in these foreign countries and cities several concerns, such as the Singer Sewing Machine company, Hoe & company, and "the Durham Duplex razor people," which he says manufacture parts abroad and send them to this country for assembly under American patents. Woll charges that Henry Ford has discontinued the manufacture of his tractors but intends to produce all the parts at his plant in Cork, Ireland, and expects to bring them into this country, duty free as agricultural implements, assembling them here.

Formidable List

The list of American concerns operating in foreign lands under foreign charters or other authorization is a most formidable one. It is admittedly incomplete but, at least, is a partial survey for 26 countries, although it does not include Great Britain, Ireland or Canada. In some of these countries foreign names have been adopted and doubtless there are many others owned by American interests but which ownership is not generally known. The automobile companies of the United States, particularly Ford and General Motors, apparently have the most far flung organization for the capture of foreign trade. There is scarcely a country in the world where they do not possess a factory or assembly plant and, by the same token, it appears that where one of them is there is the other one also.

The leaders of the American Federation of Labor are not seeking to have congress enact legislation which would prevent establishment of these branch factories abroad but they do insist that, so far as the American market is concerned, the protective tariff duties shall be made to apply with equal force on all goods of foreign production. They are somewhat skeptical of the demand which American manufacturers are making for figuring import duties on the basis of American costs. The fear is entertained that this will not serve to protect American labor and that by some hocus-pokus consumers in this country will be supplied with standard brands of trade-marked or patented articles actually produced in foreign countries. They believe this is the method which the big American manufacturers have devised to circumvent laws providing for restricted immigration, which have served to shut off the supply of cheap foreign labor.

JULY TAKES HEAT RECORD

Maximum Temperature for Month Averages 98.61

Excessive temperatures for several days near the middle of the month just closed offset the effect of 26 days of cloudy skies to run July's mean maximum temperature up to 98.61 degrees, according to figures supplied Wednesday by the Texas Electric Service company's weather bureau.

The 2.25 degrees by which the past month's average high temperature exceeded that of the same month in 1928 are traceable to the 10-day period of constantly increasing heat which culminated on July 17 in a new record for the year, the mercury mounting to the 106 degree line. Sixteen cloudy days, and 10 partly cloudy, with only 3.71 inches of rainfall, offer explanation of the sultriness which added to the discomfort caused by July's high temperatures.

With the thermometer dropping only once as low as 69 degrees, it is probable that no resident here could boast of having slept under blankets during July's nights.

The comparative weather reviews for July of 1929 and 1928 are as follows:

Mean maximum temperature, 1929, 98.61; 1928, 96.36.
Mean minimum temperature, 73.62; 74.03.
Mean temperature 86.07; 85.19.
Maximum temperature July 17, 106; July 16, 1928, 106.
Minimum temperature July 3, 7, 19, 26, 69; July 8, 67.
Greatest daily range, July 2, 17, 31, 30; July 16, 21, 23.
Precipitation for month 3.71 inches; 1928 inches; July 24, 1928, 1.84 inches.
Greatest daily precipitation July 19, 2.48 inches, July 24, 1.84 inches.
Number days more than .01 inches precipitation 1929, 3; 1928, 10.
Clear days, 1929, 8; 1928, 6.
Partly Cloudy 1929, 10, 1928, 16.
Cloudy, 1929, 16; 1928, 9.
Thunderstorms July 2, 19, 20, 22, 25, 28, 6 days; 1928, July 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 28, 7 days.

150 Expected At Henrietta Picnic For Kiwanians

Preparations are being made at Henrietta for the entertainment of approximately 150 persons at the tri-city Kiwanis club picnic Thursday evening for the Wichita Falls, Henrietta, and Ryan, Okla., organizations, according to Dr. Ralph Peterson, picnic committee chairman for the local club.

Preliminary canvas of the membership of the three clubs Wednesday indicated that about 60 persons from Wichita Falls, and about 40 each from Henrietta and Ryan will be present for the frolic, which is to be held at the Henrietta Golf Club park.

Arrangements have been made for outdoor games to precede the barbecue dinner, which will be served about 8 o'clock. Henrietta and Wichita Falls Kiwanians will stage a playground baseball game, the winner of which will meet a team representing the Ryan club. Horseshoe pitching is also on the card.

Entertainment numbers are to be given by each of the clubs during the evening. The Tesco male quartet of this city will provide the local club's after-dinner entertainment bill, it was announced.

Judges, Attorneys Cut August Court Work

Judge W. W. Cook is expected to return from his summer vacation trip in Colorado in time to preside at the calling of the appearance docket in the 78th district court next Tuesday. Judge Cook will act during August for both the 78th and the 30th court in the absence of Judge P. A. Martin, traveling in California. Judge Allan D. Montgomery, of the 30th court, will empanel a grand jury and call the docket in Archer county next Monday morning.

By an agreement between attorneys and the courts here, only the most urgent cases are to be tried during August. No juries have been drawn and the courts expect to handle only default judgments and divorce suits during the month except where an emergency make a trial necessary.

Former Wichitan Promotes Movie Giving Exploits of Frank Norfleet

J. Frank Norfleet, Texas' famous cowboy detective, with his "cannon" and his warrants for the arrest of two criminals, is in New York for a double purpose, according to a letter received here Wednesday by Ralph Rohatch, city motorcycle officer.

The letter was from Dennis Scaling, formerly of Wichita Falls, who is now in New York City promoting a motion picture production depicting the story of Norfleet's famous roundup of 32 criminals since 1919. The story of how the Texas cowboy was beaten out of his money by confidence men in Fort Worth and of how he trailed these men and later others through almost every state in the union, from California to Florida and from New York to Texas, was retold in the book "Norfleet," which was read and discussed throughout the nation.

The motion picture will put this story into visible ferm, by means of which the interesting exploits of Texas' cowboy-turned-detective will be placed in story sequence, the letter stated. The company is called "Frank Norfleet Productions," and has offices at 152 West Forty-Fifth street, New York.

Dennis Scaling, the Texan who is promoting the picture, formerly lived in Wichita Falls, having resided here for 12 years prior to becoming a farmer several years ago. He has many friends in North Texas, especially in Wichita Falls. The news that he is New York for the purpose of making a motion picture came as a surprise to many of his friends, since he had lived in Texas practically all of his life.

Nurse Gains 7 Lbs. in 2 Weeks with Yeast and Iron

"I am a nurse at the hospital," writes Miss Martha Burns, "and I want to let you know that I am glad to recommend your Ironized Yeast.

"It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good Ironized Yeast did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days."

People everywhere are amazed at the wonderful benefits of Ironized Yeast. Many write they were doubtful when they started. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they gained 5 to 15 pounds. Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Blemished skin gets clear and beautiful.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets in a handy bottle. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe—no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, get your money back from druggist or manufacturer.—Adv.

Wichita Falls Man Makes Statement

"My Wife and I Are Real Boosters For Orgatone, and Are Grateful to It," He Says

"Yes, my wife and I are real honest to goodness boosters for Orgatone now and are real grateful to it," said W. L. Doyle, of rural route No. 4, of the Mr. Doyle Farms, Wichita Falls, Texas.

"My wife has suffered for about three years," he continued, "with headaches, and just a general run down condition. She did not have any appetite and got to where she just didn't hardly eat enough to keep her going. She would have billious and dizzy spells, so bad, at times, she could hardly see anything, and would have to hold to keep from falling.

"She was troubled with constipation and was always having to take some strong laxative. She was very nervous and restless and didn't get a good night's sleep. She took all kinds of medicines, but never found the right medicine for her case. She was always tired and worn out, and really didn't have the energy to do her own work. I was really becoming worried about her condition.

"Orgatone was advertised so highly, she decided to give it a trial and now is feeling perfectly splendid in every way. She eats anything she wants, without the slightest trouble, and never has an ache or pain. All of her dizzy and billous spells are gone, and she isn't nervous or restless and sleeps fine every night. She isn't constipated anymore, and feels like doing all of her own house work. She has more energy and pep than she has all in a long time, and is just like a different person. Orgatone did my wife so much good, she persuaded me to try it, and I am now taking it on the strength of what it did for her, and am getting good results now, and I haven't been taking Orgatone but just a few days now. You can just put both of us down for real Orgatone boosters, and we are glad to make this statement for it is surely a wonderful medicine. Anyone who will take a bottle of it, will soon see for themselves."

Genuine Orgatone is manufactured by one of the world's largest laboratories and is not a so-called secret or patent remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Wichita Falls, exclusively by the Allison's Drug Store.—Adv.

Poison Ivy and Oak

It is related that when John Smith returned from the excursion where his life was saved by Pocahontus, he contracted a bad case of ivy poisoning, and he wrote a description of it in 1609, describing the pangs as "reddness, itchinge, and lastly blysters." Many people have felt the irritation by poison oak and ivy, but most people describe the itching with feeling adjectives and no nothing more than just let it "itch" out. This is a dangerous plan, as the poison sometimes spreads rapidly, and causes very serious consequences.

There are many varieties of this plant, known by various popular names, such as poison oak, poison sumac, and poison ivy. They cause a severe inflammation of the skin and in severe cases the poison may even extend internally, being carried by the blood to all part of the body.

These plants secrete a clear, transparent poisonous oil which is insoluble in water, and their leaves and bark are covered with it. Some people are more subject to these poisonings than others. Those who have sensitive mucous membranes or a skin which cannot resist vine poisoning are in every case suffering from a definite case of acidosis. Unusually contact with the plant is necessary to produce poisoning, but some are so sensitive that if they pass in the vicinity of these plants they will be poisoned, especially if the plants have just been agitated by some one previously passing by or by a breeze. In cases of fire where these plants are burned, the smoke will sometimes carry the irritating poisoning.

A few people have such good blood alkalinity that they can chew and swallow the leaves without any definite results. Such a normal alkalinity should be kept by all people at all times and if this were done there would be little danger of poisoning from this source. If, however, you do contract vine poisoning, the following treatment will be found effective:

When the first signs of a rash appear, go immediately to the bathroom and prepare a weak solution of lyewater, using one teaspoonful of dry lye to a quart of water. Have this solution ready by the side of the bath tub. Next, take a luke warm shower bath, or dip down in the tub of water so that the body becomes wet all over, then reach over and dip a nail brush in the lye solution. Vigorously brush the affected parts for two or three seconds, and for several inches around where the rash shows. Immediately wash off the solution with a warm shower or emerse the body completely in the tub of water, washing off every bit of the lye solution.

This quick application of lye will counteract the poison and will stop the trouble immediately. If the poison has penetrated too far into the tissues, such treatment may not remove all of the toxin. In any case, paint the affected parts twice daily with a mild solution of permanganate of potash. Your druggist can prepare such a solution for you. This is another alkali, which will counteract any oil that comes to the surface. It may be necessary to paint the affected parts for several days.

If you are susceptible to poison oak, you can sometimes prevent the poisoning by rubbing on the skin a 10 per cent solution of iron chloride before and after your journeys into the woods.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nail Biting

Question—Anxious writes—"I am 16 years of age and have always bitten my fingernails. Will you please tell me the cause and cure?"

Answer—Nervousness, caused by bad habits and especially improper diet, is the cause of your trouble. Dip the tips of your fingers several times daily in alum water. Every time you start biting your nails you will be discouraged to do so by the taste of the alum. At the same time start living on the diet I recommend in my weekly menus.

Water and Meals

Question—G. F. D. writes—"In your weekly menus you never mention any drink with a meal. Is water not to be used with meals?"

Answer—If you feel thirsty at meal time, drink a small amount of water without ice. It is much better, however, to do your water drinking between meals. Let your thirst dictate the amount, and you will finally get into the habit of drinking away from meals and not with them.

Tongue Burns

Question—Mrs. W. C. T. writes—"For several months I have been bothered with my tongue burning. Am 52 years old, and weigh 170 pounds. Am well and active. Can you advance a cause for this disagreeable trouble, and tell me how to remedy it?"

Answer—In the first place, you are at least 30 pounds overweight. If you will diet to reduce your weight to normal I am sure the tongue burning will disappear, as the same diet which will reduce your weight will remove the excess stomach acidity which is no doubt the cause of the burning.

Pioneers Meet At Newcastle

NEWCASTLE, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—Thousands of people attended the annual reunion of the Kutch-Manning Pioneer association and Indian Fighters reunion, which was held here on July 18, 19 and 20. Oldtimers, Indian fighters, former cowboys and ex-Texas rangers from over this state and Oklahoma and New Mexico, were present.

Service clubs of the county furnished the entertainment on the opening day, closing with an old fiddlers' contest at night. Mr. Hill winning first place and Earl Veal, second. In the hog calling contest, B. F. Johnson won first prize and Harvey Creel, second.

Dean Davis, president of the John Tarleton college, delivered the principal address of the second day. On the closing day, Carl McConnell of Fort Worth, who is publishing a history of the early days in these parts, spoke in the morning. The business session was held in the afternoon and the following officers elected: H. C. Williams Sr., of Newcastle, president; W. A. Ribble of Graham, vice president, and G. R. Whiteley of Newcastle, secretary.

Newcastle Methodist Revival Under Way

NEWCASTLE, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—The Methodists opened a revival meeting here last Friday night in which all other churches were invited to participate. D. Graham Griffin, director of Arlington Heights Baptist choir, Fort Worth, is in charge of the music. Mrs. Jess Watson has charge of the juniors and Miss Jessie Reagan looks after the personal workers' band among the young people. Frand Beard sees after the men and Mrs. Sam Hardy the women.

The financing of the revival has been turned over to Jess Watson, Edgar MacDonald and Russell Brown. J. A. Bellis, pastor of the church, is doing the preaching.

LIONS HEAR WALTON HEAD

Oneal Tells of Conservation Work of League

Policies and practices of the Izaak Walton league of America were discussed by Ben G. Oneal, president of the local chapter, in a luncheon address before members of the Lions club Wednesday noon at the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Oneal gave a brief review of the history of the organization, stating that it was formed about eight years ago by about 54 charter members, most of whom were men whose memories extended to the days of free ranging buffaloes in the Mississippi valley, and in whose youth wild ducks and geese were abundant.

The object of the organization, expressed in its motto, "defender of wood, water and wild life," is the preservation of such game and fish as now remains for future generations, the speaker said.

In its program of reforestation, the Izaak Walton league has planted as many as 30,000 trees in a single year; has saved numerous streams of the country from ruination through commercialization; has provided resting places and feeding grounds for migrating ducks and geese, thus saving millions of them; and has expended $40,000 to purchase a tract of hayland as a winter feeding ground for the United States only considerable herd of elk, located in Wyoming, according to Mr. Oneal.

Referring to the work of the local chapter, the speaker said that its outstanding accomplishments have been the origination of the present state fishing bill; providing funds for state fish hatcheries; assistance in obtaining a hatchery at Diversion dam; building of bass rearing ponds at Lake Kemp; and material help in obtaining the passage of a reasonable non-resident hunting license bill in Oklahoma for the Red river bottom lands.

A program of entertainment arranged by Milton Gaines included violin solos by Miss Alice Philo, accompanied by Miss Erle Ward, dances by Misses Elizabeth Robinson and Virginia Green; and a reading by Raymond Gaines.

Jury Taken To Trysting Spots

range where the murder was done, an old farmer stood at the roadside waving his arms wildly in the dust clouds which arose.

"To hell with Snook! Hang Snook!" he shouted.

Doctor Snook, who has been confined to the county jail for more than a month, refused what might well be his last opportunity to see again the spots which, in times gone by, had brought him happiness. He waived his right to make the pilgrimage and remained through the afternoon in his jail cell.

"I'd rather sleep," he told the United Press.

Jury Completed

The jury was completed with the selection of the thirteenth or alternate juror—a woman, Mrs. Harry Cassady—immediately on the opening of the afternoon session of Snook's trial for the murder of Miss Hix.

Then, at 3 p. m., the sheriff, acting under the order of the court, escorted the jury to five waiting automobiles and the tour started out High street from the great courthouse.

The first stop was made at the state market at Twelfth and High street. It developed that it was here that Doctor Snook had purcahsed from Jane Garnett, the proprietor, hamburger steak and rye bread on the night that Miss Hix was murdered. Snook is said to have returned home after the murder and prepared a hamburger sandwich.

Visit Country Club

From there the cavalcade drove to the Scioto Country club, which Snook is said to have visited the night of the murder. Then the procession whirled along to the New York Central Gun club range, five miles out of Columbus, noting the "quarry bridge" as it went. It was from the bridge that Snook is alleged to have tossed Miss Hix's purse after the murder. It never has been found.

The jury left its cars while deputy sheriffs pointed out to them the geography of the place. A rude wooden stake, about 100 yards from the fence, was the memorial of Theora Hix. It marked the spot where her body, beaten with hammer blows, the throat neatly slit and the abdomen cruelly gashed, was found on June 14.

After inspecting the murder site, the party visited Ohio university campus, the veterinary clinic where Doctor Snook had his offices, the dormitory where Theora once lived, the apartment where she lived at the time of the murder, the rooming house where Theora and the professor clandestinely met, and the Snook home, where Mrs. Snook still resides.

Then the party returned to the courthouse garage where Doctor Snook's blue coupe was on display It was in this car the quarrel which is alleged to have ended in Theora's death had its inception.

That ended the pilgrimage—as strange a one as Columbus ever has seen. The jury was returned to its room and was organized for its long period of isolation from the world. Judge Henry L. Scarlett had ordered it kept under guard.

Tomorrow morning the opening statements will be made and evidence will begin.

Croquet Cronies and Hoop Roller In Frenzied Race for New York

DALLAS, July 31. (UP)—Two groups of marathoners were racing out of the southwest tonight, each trying to reach New York before the other.

Whether the friction of croquet balls bounding over the highway would prevent the Texas cronies from reaching New York before the rolling hoop guided by H. B. Williams, 24, was the burning question.

Both the croquet artists and the hoop roller had certain speed advantages. The hoop roller, starting today from the city hall at Texas City, had the disadvantage of a late start and being farthest from his goal.

Likewise, the route he was taking through eastern Texas to Shreveport and Monroe, La., then north—was believed to have less pavement than that taken by the croquet men through Dallas.

But otherwise, the hoop roller had the breaks. Youth, so important in an endurance contest, was with him. Then again, he was traveling alone, unhandicapped by a conversant partner and a directing manager. No hoop rolling contests on the side were on his program—far different from the wandering cronies who twice have been waylaid by the offer of croquet competition.

As to whether Williams had an eye for meeting delightful girls en route, an enticement which has lured the croquesters time and again, is yet to be seen.

Joke Leads Easterwood To Run for Governor

DALLAS, July 31. (UP)—"I believe I'll try it," was the answer made to the United Press today by Col. William E. Eastwood, Dallas, when asked if he would run for governor.

Easterwood, financier and aviation enthusiast, said his candidacy for the gubernatorial office started as a joke, but because of requests from all parts of the state, he had "almost" decided to run.

"Lower taxes and fewer laws," would be his platform, he said.

4,500 ATTEND VODVIL BILL

Bellevue Program Draws Good Crowd

One of the largest crowds of the season, estimated at more than 4,500 persons, witnessed the weekly free vaudeville program at Bellevue park Wednesday night, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent.

Acts on the program included a concert by the Municipal band, under the direction of Paul Seeds; a jazz chorus by five little "Five-Year Old Flapperettes," students of the Tucker School of Fine Arts; a stringed instrument sextet composed of Mrs. A. W. Ayres, Miss Velma Lewis, Miss Clarice Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gold and Mr. Hoffman and featuring Miss Daisy Coombs in a Spanish dance; a novelty bagpipe act by Frank Humphrey with his daughter, Olive, in several Scotch dances; Miss Bonnie Pearl West in a tap dance entitled, "Thunder and Lightning"; Miss Faith Galmische in a toe-tap dance "All By Yourself in the Moonlight"; and a marimba act by Paul Sisk, accompanied by Miss Lorene Tucker at the piano.

Fire Loss For July $25,250

Property Valued at $641,000 Involved in Blazes

With a total of 41 runs made during the month of July by fire department companies, the fire loss amounted to $25,250, according to the monthly report of fire department officials. The total value of property involved in blazes during the month was $641,000, insurance coverage on this property amounting to $526,250. The report also showed that 350 fire inspections had been made in July by officials of the department.

Orchestras Compete For Dancers' Favor

A "battle of music" between Walt Whiteman's orchestra, which terminated its engagement at Lakeside park Wednesday night, and Charles de Sautelle's 11-piece orchestra, which opened a three-weeks' engagement Wednesday night, was held at the dance floor in the pavilion Wednesday night from 9 o'clock until midnight.

One orchestra was stationed at each end of the room, playing alternately, the popularity of each being measured by the number of dancers attracted to the floor by their music. Prior to the "musical battle," the De Sautelle orchestra played for the regular show program at the open-air coliseum from 8:30 until 9 o'clock.

WELLS NOT INJURED

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—That water from wells in this section is not injurious to either soil or crops, is the experience of J. H. McDaniel of near Foard City, who has a splendid garden each year and after 15 years of continued irrigation finds no bad results. The family cans up a large portion of the garden stuff raised, mostly in tin cans by the pressure method.

'ROBIN' PILOTS SHOWED HONOR

Jackson and O'Brine Are Kept on Move

ST. LOUIS, July 31. (AP)—Dale Jackson and Forrest O'Brine were hailed today as new conquerors of the air as St. Louis began a two-day celebration in honor of their achievement in piloting the monoplane St. Louis-Robin, to a new endurance record of 420 hours, 21 minutes and 30 seconds.

The fliers, who landed the plane last night amid the cheers of thousands, formally were received as heroes today at a chamber of commerce luncheon.

Later the fliers turned aside for a time from the round of celebrating to pay their respects to their friend and fellow airman, George Lea Lambert, who was killed in an airplane accident near here Monday. Lambert, son of Maj. Albert Bond Lambert, observer of the St. Louis-Robin's flight for the National Aeronautic association, was buried this afternoon.

Tomorrow O'Brine and Jackson will ride in a parade through the city to be publicly acclaimed. They will follow the same route traveled by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh two years ago when he came home from his epochal New York to Paris flight.

The fliers were presented inscribed wrist watches by the chamber of commerce and received many other gifts.

Maj. William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss-Robertson Airplane manufacturing company, sponsor, announced the company would make and give to the fliers a special Challenger Robin plane, the type of ship with which they broke the endurance record.

Maj. C. Ray Wassall, and P. C. Chaffee, the refueling crew, also were guests and both took bows.

U. S. Supreme In Air, Says Speaker

"Impetus given to commercial air transportation within the last few years has given the United States unquestioned supremacy formerly held in that field by Europe," said Phillip R. Shumway, traffic manager for the Braniff airlines, in an address before the Optimist club at the Kemp hotel Wednesday noon.

Immense 32-passenger Pullman planes now being prepared for use on passenger lines in this country will be dwarfed by ships which will be built within a few years, Mr. Shumway said.

"Development of aircraft represents one of the most speedy industrial conquests in history," the speaker said. "The forerunner of airplanes was the kite, while the railroad locomotive and automobile were the result of prolonged experimentation with numerous similar machines, developed slowly to the present stage."

Wilbur Calhoun, president of the Wichita Falls Airport corporation, introduced Mr. Shumway. Spanish songs were given in costume by Miss Eva Marie Ferguson, accompanied by her sister, Miss Juanita Ferguson. The club singsong was led by Joel MacGregor, with Miss Lorene Tucker accompanying.

Glaring Headlights Cause Truck Collision

LONGVIEW, Texas, July 31. (UP)—Glaring headlights were blamed today for the collision last night of two trucks which interrupted a gay party of 18 boys and girls on one of the trucks.

Four of the injured were taken to hospitals at Henderson for treatment following the accident which occurred at Pitner Junction near Kilgore.

Mrs H A Lawson

Best Satisfied Lady in Texas

When a person can depend on one medicine to keep herself and her family free from the effects of constipation for more than ten years, what more can you expect?

Mrs. H. A. Lawson, who lives at 2015 Terrace Drive in Dallas, says "Nature's Remedy hasn't failed us in the ten years since I first started using it for myself and children. I give these little tablets the credit for keeping us healthy all these years."

Results like that are what make Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) so popular. More than three million tablets are used a day. Any druggist will tell you to use them if you suffer from biliousness, sick headaches, indigestion, rheumatic aches and lack of energy. The cost is only 25c.—Adv.

ALCOHOL WAR FLAMES AGAIN

Police Hunt Blond Woman As Death Witness

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—A flare-up of Chicago's West Side alcohol war resulted in the deaths today of two racketeers and the serious wounding of a third.

Thomas McNichols, son of a former state representative, died at the county hospital after turning away from questioners with "don't bother me." They had been trying to find what the shooting was about and who the blond young woman was who took him to the hospital.

Beer Runner Killed

A few hours before, Jimmy Shupe beer runner and former convict, died in the Bridewell hospital, a victim of McNichols' bullets. Shot through the abdomen, George Riggins, owner of the West Madison Street Cigar store in front of which the shooting occurred, is not expected to live.

The young woman was sought as a key witness in the affair. She was believed to have driven McNichols to the cigar store in an automobile, sat in the machine while he leaped out and started firing at Shupe and Riggins as they stood in front of the store, and then to have driven him to the hospital after he stumbled back into the machine mortally wounded.

She left the hospital after telling attendants she was "going for his mother."

"It's the Corinne Gillespie jinx," said old-timers at the detective bureau. "It's 'Bad Luck' Corinne."

And for an explanation they went back to the escape from the county jail of "Terrible Tommy" O'Connor and Jimmy Laporte. Tommy has never been found but Jimmy was sent to prison for one to 10 years. Corinne began a career with West Side racketeers and the men she knew had a way of meeting violent deaths.

Married Gunman

She married one John Lafferty, third rate gunman, and after becoming the mother of a child she ran away with Jimmy Shupe, a pal in the gun business who spent much time at the Lafferty home. Lafferty swore he would turn in the whole gang, including Jimmy's brother, Tommy, now serving a prison sentence for the robbery of the International Harvester company.

"I don't care about Corinne," he said, "but I want my kid."

The kid was not forthcoming and Lafferty went to the police. A few days later they found his bullet torn body in a basement flat.

Police found Corinne and told her about it.

"What's that to me," she demanded and continued to live with Shupe.

Today Jimmy Shupe's body is in the county morgue. Police believe Corinne may again ask, "what's that to me," but they want to question her anyhow.

Crowell Rebekahs Visit in Quanah

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl.)—The degree team of the Rebekah lodge, 15 in number, accompanied by nine other lodge members, recently made a trip to Quanah where they visited the lodge. The degree team conferred work on one candidate at the lodge there.

Those making the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Clary, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Burrow, Mr. and Mrs. Clint White, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hollingsworth, Mrs. W. W. Griffith, Mrs. R. D. STUNTER KILLED

COLUMBIA, Ill., July 31. (UP)—While stunting at an altitude of 1,500 feet near here this afternoon in a biplane, Benedict A. Ritzler, 32-year-old East St. Louis Parks Airport aviation instructor, was killed when the plane crashed.

Give freely

When your Children Cry for It

Mothers, who take one simple precaution, are seldom worried. With a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria in the house they can do what their doctor would tell them to do, when baby is fretful, feverish, colicky, constipated or stuffed-up with cold—give a few drops of this pure vegetable, pleasant-tasking preparation. It comforts Baby and soothes him to sleep in a jiffy. It's perfectly safe for the youngest infant. Use it freely—and as often as needed, specialists advise. A more liberal dose is all it takes to comfort and relieve older children, when feverishness, bad breath, no appetite, colds, etc., show they need a good purging. The mark of genuine Castoria is the Fletcher signature on the wrapper. Look for it to avoid imitations.

Whisky Bottle Containing Field Notes Marker for Land Survey

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, July 31.—Whisky bottles in the olden days were used for things other than to contain whisky.

Records in the land office and attorney general's office prove this.

In a patent in the attorney general's office, in the process of being issued, the land described by the survey made in 1905 shows this connotation: south from 74 degrees, 1900 varas to a whisky bottle containing field notes.

BRITAIN LAYS VESTRIS BLAME

Ship Overloaded, Report of Board Reveals

LONDON, July 31. (UP)—Overloading of a steamship which was not in safe condition when it left port was found today by the British board of trade to be the cause of the sinking of the S. S. Vestris of the Lamport and Holt line off the coast of Virginia last November, a disaster which cost 111 lives.

The board adjudged that the responsible offices of Sanderson & Sons, New York agents of the Lamport & Holt line, were guilty of "wrongful act and default which contributed to the loss of the Vestris."

In view of the findings, the Star's political corerspondent said, it is understood every line of evidence given at the inquiry will be reconsidered in the light of possible criminal proceedings.

Those considered by the court to have been guilty of "wrongful act and default" are David Cook, vice president of Sanderson & Sons; Harry Wheeler, Marine superintendent, and Capt. W. S. Heasley, assistant superintendent of the firm. Cook was ordered to pay costs of the inquiry amounting to $2,500. The firm had charge of the loading of the Vestris.

The court also found that "some of the blame is attributable to the management of Alfred Wood, (general manager of the Lamport & Holt line) for not taking further measures for preventing overloading when he knew the ship had been previously overloaded."

L. C. Kimler, 84, Dies at Home Here

L. C. Kimler, 84, died at the family residence 2605 Lebanon road at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening. Funeral services will be held from the home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon with Rev. Pat Moreland, pastor of the Grant Street Methodist church, officiating. Arrangements will be under the direction of the Merkle Undertaking company. Interment will be in Rosemont.

Mr. Kimler is survived by his widow and three daughters, Mrs. Mattie Lockhart of Cyrene, Mo., Mrs. J. W. Furr of Jayton, Texas, and Mrs. W. A. Green of Wichita Falls; two sons, A. L. CITY SELECTS TANK TEAM

35 Compete in Contests at Westmoreland

A crowd of approximately 200 persons attended the city swimming meet at Westmoreland pool Wednesday afternoon when 35 entrants contested for the privilege of representing Wichita Falls in the tri-city meet to be held in Fort Worth next Saturday afternoon. Starter for the events was Curtis Beatty, life guard at the pool, and judges at the finish line were Otto Lazenby, manager of Westmoreland, and C. C. Frazee, city recreational director, who sponsored the meet.

Robert Dickson took three first places, in the 50-yard free style, the 50-yard back stroke and the 200-yard free style. Bonner Barton was an easy first in the 50-yard breast stroke. Johnnie Benton, diminutive 13-year-old life guard at the children's pool, took second place in the 200-yard swim. Henry Cook won second place in the 50-yard back stroke.

Evelyn Van Emden won the 50-yard free style and the 50-yard breast stroke in the junior girl's division. Betty Jane Sehmann took first in the diving events in this this class and second in the 50-yard free style.

In the boys' junior diving events, Robert Dickson took first with 61 points and Bill Mann took second with 58 points. In the senior diving events, Vernon Black took first with Homer Donohoe a close second.

A meeting of all the winners in the events will be held at the Westmoreland pool Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Mr. Frazee stated. A discussion of plans for the tri-city meet to be held Saturday will be held at that time, transportation will be arranged and an outline of the events will be presented.

Degrees Conferred On Four by DeMolays

The DeMolay degree, highest of degrees in the order of DeMolay, was conferred upon four candidates at the regular meeting of Hope chapter Wednesday night at the Masonic temple. A large attendance, including Masons and seven past master councilors of the order, was reported.

The following neophytes received the degrees: Guy Ashby, Pat Boruff, Daryl Daniel and Kenneth Wagoner. Bob Crocker, master councilor, presided at the meeting and was in charge of the conferring of the degrees. Following the regular meeting, an alumni meeting was held in the chapter room.

Installation of the officers elected at the meeting two weeks ago will be held next Wednesday night, it was announced.

American Newspaper In China Censored

PEKING, China, July 31. (AP)—The Daily Leader, an American newspaper, was put under the censorship ban today and Lejournal De Pekin, a French publication, was denied use of the mails. It was understood the Nationalist administration at Nanking considered both papers had, within the last few months, published articles which were altogether too critical of the government.

The order provided that the proofs of the Leader must be submitted each day to the censor for his approval. The paper however was permitted to continue use of the mails.

same witnesses and the same evidence," Wofford said.

Governor Moody is not expected to stay the execution, it was said.

Leahy was convicted of the murder of Dr. J. A. Ramsey of Mathis. At his first trial at George West in Liveoak county, he was given 50 years in prison. His motion for a new trial was granted by District Judge T. M. Cox and the case sent to Williamson county on a change of venue. There the jury ordered the death penalty inflicted.

Scheduled to die in the electric chair July 12, the execution was stopped when Miss Amanda Davidson of Taylor filed an affidavit, saying she believed Leahy had become insane since his conviction. Governor Moody moved the date of execution to Aug. 2, after Judge Dolan had issued a writ staying the electrocution until the sanity hearing could be held.

Leahy was convicted on testimony of a Mexican, who said he had been employed by Leahy to decoy Dr. Ramsey away from his home to a lonely spot in the brush near Mathis, where the murder was committed after Leahy forced Dr. Ramsey to sign some papers. The state's theory was that the papers were deeds to the old Leahy ranch, which Dr. Ramsey had purchased from a mortgage company.

Dry Agent Makes Bonds of $15,000

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 31. (UP)—W. W. Thomason, federal prohibition agent who has been in custody since July 5, charged with murder in connection with the deaths of James Harris and Oscar Lowery in an Independence Day liquor raid, tonight was released under $15,000 bonds.

At the same time Federal Judge E. S. Vaught denied the application for bond of Jeff Harris, Thomason's volunteer, undeputized, nonsalaried "under-cover" assistant.

Today's ruling, which followed yesterday's hearing, climaxed the struggle between Pottawatomie county officials and federal authorities for jurisdiction in the case.

New Refrigeration Improvements Seen

WASHINGTON, July 31. (US)—Hoping to relieve the public of undue anxiety, the U. S. public health service today declared the danger of serious accident from domestic refrigerating systems is relatively small with prospects that it will be removed entirely by new improvements.

This statement was concurred in by the bureau of standards and the bureau of mines, which joined the public health service in a study of recent deaths in Chicago.

Seminole Man Slashed To Death in Tulsa

TULSA, Okla., July 31. (UP)—Lloyd Tabor, 24, Seminole, was slain here today by J. T. Adair, 35, Tulsa, during a quarrel. Adair slashed Tabor's throat with a razor almost severing his head. Tabor walked almost a block before he dropped dead on the sidewalk. Cause of the quarrel was unknown, police said.

Bodies Recovered

HARLINGEN, Texas, July 31. (UP)—The bodies of Jim McCullum and A. Erringer were recovered today from an irrigation canal near Mercedes. The men drowned last night after their car struck a bridge railing in rounding a curve and plunged into the water.

CHURCH NAMES FINANCE HEAD

Hastings, Okla. Man Comes To South Side Baptist

At a called conference of the congregation of the South Side Baptist church Wednesday evening, C. M. Hastings of Elk City, Okla., was elected financial secretary of the church. Mr. Hastings will take charge of the financing of the building program recently adopted by the organization, including the construction of a new church building at the corner of Holliday and Keeler streets.

Rev. T. J. Furniss, pastor of the church who presided at the meeting, introduced Mr. Hastings as a church financier of high recommendations. The new secretary will manage all the financial affairs of the church in addition to his work in raising funds for the building program. He is also regarded as an addition to the church choir, Rev. Mr. Furniss announced.

Bids for the new buildings are already under consideration and the contract is expected to be let within the next two weeks, the pastor announced.

Girl's Story of Long 'Chute Jump Disproved

LOUISIANA, Mo., July 31.—The story of Mary Daly's 276-mile parachute jump from Chicago to Louisiana, was discredited today when she was identified as a girl who alighted from a train here last night and was driven in a truck to the scene of her "landing."

A. B. Hall, who resides in Bowling Green, near here, said he took Miss Daly from Bootho to a field where she later announced she landed in a parchute. Hall said the girl carried a large bag and explained she was looking for her sister who was making a parachute jump.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

THE Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Radio Set made its bow as "the greatest advance in radio since the coming of house current sets two years ago."

Knowing that an Atwater Kent statement can be taken at face value, thousands bought the new radio within a week of its appearance. Thousands more—then tens of thousands. Today the Atwater Kent Screen-Grid is going into homes everywhere, as the number of Atwater Kents that have been made and sold in seven years sweeps toward the three million mark.

So a reputation spreads. So a proved radio, with all the subtle fineness of construction that makes it do what every radio would like to do, sweeps on to new conquests.... How easily and quickly you can have one in your home! Why not call an Atwater Kent dealer this minute and say "home demonstration"?

This console is unsurpassed in outstanding beauty of appearance and quality in construction.

Radio Factory Bigger Than 28 Football Fields

Already the largest radio factory in the world, the Atwater Kent plant has been doubled in size. It is now doubly the largest, because the public asked for more—and more—of the radio that keeps on working.

It covers thirty-two acres of floor space. That makes it bigger than twenty-eight football fields, than three Yankee Stadiums, than two Yale Bowls, than seventeen Madison Square Gardens, than fifteen Leviathans, than nine Capitols at Washington.

Thirty-two acres of radio! Half a mile from end to end. Walk around—walk more than a mile and a half. Go into it—you see each Atwater Kent Screen-Grid Set being constructed and tested with as much care as if every detail were the biggest thing in the world.

The Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company, after twenty years' experience in making electrical precision instruments, began making radio sets in 1923. In a factory covering little more than an acre. By 1925 its increasing business made necessary a new fi- ... and more than 28 football fields.

WILTSE BESTS GIARD AND SPUDDERS GAIN ON CONTENDERS

GEORGE PAYNE FINISHES GAME

Howard Fitzgerald Features At Bat and Afield

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Harold Wiltse and Joe Giard engaged in the promised southpaw pitching duel yesterday and the Spudder won, 4 to 2. Both lefthanders chucked superb ball but neither finished the game, Giard leaving the pastime in the eighth inning for a teammate to run for him and Wiltse giving way to George Payne in the eighth, after the Indians had scored their tallies.

George caused the first batter to face him to go out and retired the hostiles in order in the ninth, in a continuation of remarkable and willing iron man hurling. Yesterday's game was George's fifth appearance on the hill in the last six days.

Glaser turned back the Spudders one-two-three in the eighth.

The Spudders scored the first run of the pastime in the fifth on a base on balls and a hit but it was loose support that largely contributed to their three tallies in the seventh, although one solid base smack helped.

Wiltse allowed six hits, passed three and hit one and Giard gave up only five blows but walked six in the southpaws' duel in which there was little to choose, with Hal having the edge, if any.

Brilliant fielding, in which Fitzgerald, Bennett and the Spudder infield, with Turgeon again the particular shining light, gave Wiltse lots of help in contrast to some slovenly support accorded Giard The Spudders played errorlessly for their second straight day.

Giard is the chucker obtained by San Antonio from Washington, after a dispute between the Nationals and Atlanta Crackers regarding his ownership was settled recently by Commissioner Landis.

Howard Fitzgerald was the outstanding star of the pastime, the greyhound of the garden whanging two hits in addition to his sparkling fielding. Howard was the only athlete to nick more than one blow in the day's pastiming.

The Spudders increased their lead to two games over the Houston Buffaloes, who lost to Dallas.

Hopkins Hurls Today

Paul Hopkins, the new pitcher acquired by the Spudders from the St. Louis Browns probably will hurl his first game today in Spudder regalia, though there is a possibility that Lester White will be Skipper Jim Galloway's choice.

Boss Pat Newman of the Indians was undecided last night over his hurler today but it may be Hargrove.

Real Pitching

Tate started the pastime with a base on balls but the next three Indians went out. Benton and Bennett walked in the Spudder half but were left on the lines.

Kott singled in the second but was stranded, thanks largely to a pair of fast plays by Turgeon Stapleton strolled but got no farther than first base.

Wiltse turned back the hostiles in order in the third Benton strolled for the second time to start the Spudder half but Flippen, Gordon and Riley completed a snappy play on Turgeon's grounder. Fitzgerald singled to center, the Spudders' first hit, but Giard tossed out Bennett.

Hal again retired the Tribe one-two-three, aided by Fitzgerald going to the fence to pull down Casey's drive in the fourth. Hermann dropped a hit into center after one was out, went to second on a passed ball and third on Stapleton's infield out, but was out trying to steal home. Arzatti was spiked in the arm while tagging Duke.

Gordon and Arzatti singled to right with one out but Giard fanned and Benton and Turgeon retired Arzatti on Tate's grounder.

Spudders Score

The Spudders scored the first run in the fifth. Crouch, first up, was passed and was sacrificed to second by Wiltse Benton's bunt which he had beaten out was foul and then Rabbit whanged the left field wall for two bases, scoring Crouch.

Casey singled to left in the sixth with one away but Fitzgerald made another sparkling snatch of Riley's drive and Bennett came in for Brozovich's liner. The Spudders failed to get on base.

For the third inning Wiltse retired the Indians in order in the seventh, when he struck out Kott, caused Gordon to pop to Benton and tossed out Arzatti himself.

We Score Three More

Crouch walked and again Wiltse put him on second with a bunt, and Jack scored when Gordon let Benton's hard hit bounder go through. Kott and Brozovich did the Alphonse and Gaston act on Turgeon's lift, which fell safely for two bases and scored Crouch. Fitzgerald blasted a sharp single to center, scoring Turgeon.

San Antonio tallied two in the eighth. Giard walked and Ballew ran for him. Tate also was passed. Flippen singled through short, scoring Ballew. Casey hit into a double play, Hermann to Turgeon to Stapleton, Tate going to third. Riley was hit by a pitched ball. Brozovich blasted a hit to right, scoring Flippen and advancing Riley to third. Payne relieved Wiltse and caused Meyers, batting for Kott, to ground to Turgeon on the second ball pitched.

Glaser retired the Spudders in order in the eighth.

Payne turned back the foe one-two-three in the ninth.

Fumigating Gas Kills Man in Apartment

KANSAS CITY, July 31. (UP)—Cyanide gas fumes, escaping into his apartment while he was sleeping, brought death to William E. Procell, 75. The cyanide was being used to fumigate an adjacent apartment. John Gumb, 6 years old, was found unconscious in an apartment on the same floor, but was revived.

Dog Insists on Going In Cell With Master

KANSAS CITY, July 31. (UP)—"Prince," a Boston bulldog, spent last night in a police cell because of devotion to his master, C. P. Couch, who was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and careless driving. Prince's Growls convinced officers it was best not to attempt to separate him from his master.

MANDELL AND CANZONERI SET

Fighters Finish Work For Title Go Tomorrow

By CHARLES W. DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—Sammy Mandell, ready to make his third stand in defense of the world lightweight championship, and his dynamic challenger, Tony Canzoneri, finished training today for their 10-round title engagement in the Chicago stadium Friday night.

The champion, looking and acting the part of a fighter trained to perfection, pulled stakes at his rural camp today, moving downtown to a gymnasium to go through whatever motions were considered necessary. He stepped through two spirited rounds with the gloves and breezed through light gymnasium exercises before ducking to the showers.

Canzoneri made it another afternoon of boxing at his Garden of Allah camp, before letting down until ring time. He boxed six fast rounds. He will not break camp until time to come into Chicago for the weighing-in Friday afternoon.

Daily Dope

By LARRY DAILEY

UNIQUE among baseball men is J. Alvin Gardner, prince of sportsmen and cagiest of magnates. Unrivaled in his extraordinary judgment of baseball and its players, and unequalled as a club owner who will pay any price to attain his end, that of winning, is this president of the Wichita Falls Spudders.

In all minor league baseball and even in the major league fields, the fame of Gardner, and with it that of Wichita Falls, has extended. I am writing this tribute to the Spudder prexy to express to him the appreciation of fandom here for placing Wichita Falls in the enviable position it holds in the baseball world.

And I am writing to accord him a full meed of recognition for the amazing talents which have not only marked him as an outstanding man in baseball, but which will carry him to greater achievements.

GARDNER is that rare combination of idealist and realist. The game is to him both a business and a recreation. He possesses that faculty of viewing the sport from the eyes of the fan and of the club owner. Victory lifts him to heights of joy; defeat plunges him to thick gloom. He is, praise be, a hard loser. You don't see men successful in baseball or in any endeavor if they accept defeat easily. Meeting defeat, he promptly sets his marvelous brain to work to bring victory. And he never fails.

The record of Gardner in acquiring young players for small sums, and in taking veteran castoffs and selling them to major league clubs is one indication of his marvelous instinct in picking diamonds in the rough. His ability to assemble winning clubs is another proof of his sagacity in sizing up men. And in gathering together a ball club, Gardner insists that they be men, the sort who are a credit to the game and the city they represent, as well as being star athletes.

So much for Gardner as a business man.

THIS has not been a successful season financially for the Wichita Falls club. Attendance has been disappointing. There were only a few more than 1,000 paid admissions when the club came home Tuesday from a two weeks road trip, and tied for first place. Yet Gardner did not hesitate to pay a heavy sum and give Skinny O'Neal to San Antonio to acquire Subway Andy Messenger, the ace of the Indian pitching staff.

So much for Gardner as a sportsman.

CARL Williams, manager of the 1927 Texas league and Dixie champion Spudders, and I were having coffee in Slick Ansley's cafe yesterday (shades of the old days when baseball and newspaper men got together over something besides coffee) and I learned a lot about some future Spudders.

Carls says that he has three players on his Abilene club, ranch of the Spudders who should be stars for the Wichita Falls team next year. They are Arthur Bradbury, catcher and Bear Allday, second baseban, who were here last spring in training camp, and Carol Burrows, a first baseman. Williams says Bradbury is a smart and excellent receiver; both Allday and Burrows are superb fielders, and that all three of them can hit. Carl's stamp of approval, meaning so much, indicates that the trio of youngsters mentioned are going to be valuable to have around next season.

Many 1929 Intersectional Games Listed for Southern Grid Teams

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 31. (AP)—A mid-summer inventory of the fall stock of football games reveals 16 major clashes between Dixie elevens and big eastern or western elevens.

Fifteen of the big contests will find teams of the Southern conference bidding for fame against alleged bigger opposition. The 16th struggle on the Dixie football program for 1929 pits Davidson college, non-conference member, against the Army, at West Point, N. Y., Oct. 5.

Precedent will be broken by two of the biggest northern football teams, with Pittsburgh's invasion of Durham for its tussle with Duke university, Oct. 5, and the Yale journey to Georgia for its grid tourney with University of Georgia at Athens Oct. 12. It will be the first time that Yale and Pittsburgh have invaded southern gridirons.

Seibold Wins Opener But Bears Cop Nightcap

CHICAGO, July 31. (AP)—Chicago split even in a double header with Boston here today and increased its first place lead over Pittsburgh to five games. The Cubs lost the opener, 7 to 1, but came back to take the second, 6 to 3. Pittsburgh lost its chance to gain by losing to Philadelphia 6 to 2.

Socks Seibold kept the Cubs well in check as the Braves won the opener.

In the second game Hack Wilson hit his 29th homer in the third with two runners on base and his 30th in the seventh with none on. Score:

Comical Max-Jack Affair More Complicated

DETROIT, July 31. (AP)—Coincident with announcement by the state boxing commission that the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmeling fight would be staged at Navin field here by Olympia arena, Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter, announced that he held a contract with Sharkey giving him prior claim on the latter's services.

Fitzsimmons said the contract, signed Aug. 23, 1928, holds good in all of the 27 states affiliated with the National Boxing association. Sharkey, Fitzsimmons said, would have to fulfill the contract before he could meet Schmeling or any other fighter in a match sponsored by Olympia arena.

The boxing commission announcement stated Sharkey and Schmeling would meet at Navin field, Sept. 19.

Pyle Is Ordered to Pay Labor Claims

LOS ANGELES, July 31. (UP)—Labor claims against C. C. Pyle, growing out of his recent second promotion of a transcontinental footrace, must be paid by Saturday morning or a complaint charging theft of labor will be filed, Deputy Labor Commissioner E. M. Richardson announced today.

The man who led Red Grange from the Illinois university gridiron and Suzanne Lenglen from the tennis courts of France wired $500 to the commission from Santa Rose today and forwarded with the money a plea for more time in which to raise a balance due of about $1,000.

It became known that Jim Thorpe, former all-American football star, also has filed a claim against Pyle, asking $250.22 for work done in California during the last bunion chagic.

The state labor commission is not accepting claims from the 15 winners, whose prizes range from $25,000 to $700. Only claims for actual labor performed within the state under contract are being received.

Tilden Through As Tennis Star

Youth Hope of U. S. in International Competition

By ALAN J. GOULD

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Gallant old Bill Tilden has had his last fling, the Davis cup is still safe for France and America now will turn to its tennis youth for future hopes of conquest.

It can be said definitely that the 1930 American Davis cup team will be composed entirely of youthful talent. Its nucleus probably will be John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, world's champions in doubles right now, though they still face the national championships at Brookline as a final test for 1929. Talk that a mistake was made in substituting George Lott for Frank Hunter in the singles brought the following reply from a spokesman in the official family today:

Singles Star Needed

"That's only guesswork. He put up a good fight in both singles matches and took a set from Cochet. Tilden was unable to do that.

"What we need now is to develop one or two new singles stars to take the place of Tilden," continued the same authority.

Tilden has rounded out 10 years of Davis cup competition, with a remarkable record of 17 victories and only three defeats in challenge round competition. Little Bill Johnston had won 11 and lost three when he passed from the picture after the 1927 challenge round.

His Record to Stand

Good as the Frenchmen have been now for several years they are unlikely to surpass these records.

Tilden won 13 successive challenge round singles matches before he was stopped by LaCoste and a trick knee at Germantown in 1926.

Tilden may, as he once wrote, "have no intention of giving up playing tennis as long as my two wabbling legs will function, my aged and enfeebled arm will swing and my aged dimmed eyes can see a ball"—but he need have no particular regrets at passing from the international area.

The SPORTLIGHT

By GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1929, New York Tribune Inc.; Trademark Registered U. S. Patent Office)

The Lack of Injuries

The Pirates had more than a double share of frosty luck last season when about half the ball club was in the hospital a big part of the year. Fate didn't help them out a lot this season by disabling Pie Traynor and Burleigh Grimes just as Donie Bush was whizzing along at the head of the pack. Injuries have decided many a pennant race. The record along this line belongs to one of the old Cleveland clubs of 25 years ago, when Larry Lajoie was in charge. On one eastern trip Harry Bemis, one of the two catchers, had his arm broken by a fast ball. Joss, Moore and two other pitchers had their arms hurt and couldn't work. Stovall had a bone fractured in his hip from a low throw. Lajoie was spiked and out for two months with blood poison. Bill Bradley was badly hurt and out for six weeks. Harry Bay stepped into a hole in center field and broke his leg. All told, the Cleveland club, with a pennant winning outfit well in the lead, lost ten regulars inside of a week and dropped to fourth place. There were eight .300 hitters on this club in the days when .300 hitters were scarce. They were Lajoie, Flick, Bemis, Nig Clarke, Bay, Bradley, Stovall and Turner.

With an average run of luck Lajoie as manager would have won at least two pennants, and so would have played in at least two world series. But there never has been a manager good enough to win pennants with players in a hospital.

The Same in Football

Injuries have decided as many football games as material and coaching. Many modern football schedules are terrific. In fact, they are entirely too hard when you consider the fact that they are played out by students somewhere between 19 and 22.

Many teams today face six or seven hard games on a nine-week schedule. As a result they must play half of these games with badly battered athletes, with half men or with material that is nerve worn.

It is practically impossible for any football team to tackle six or seven hard games and be physically and mentally fit, barring all the luck there is. Few injuries are serious, but bad knees, bad ankles, lame shoulders and frayed nerves take a heavy toll. These physical injuries might happen at any time in even a minor game, but at least the nerve pressure is much lighter.

What About Commercialism?

Most of the best golfers in the game invaded Montreal recently to take part in the Canadian open, where the first money prize was $400, or just a trifle more than the expenses of the trip.

Can you imagine any flock of prizefighters, boxers or what not among the bigger drawing cards swarming to some free-for-all for the love of the game and the thrill of competition?

On the other hand you get many of them not only demanding crazy financial rewards, but also refusing to let the other fellow make weight in order to eliminate even the slightest risk.

As Dr. Muldoon said recently, "A ring champion is a fellow who goes about the country getting whipped."

There is no other sport where you can gather as many professional stars in competition for small financial rewards as you get in golf. Canadian sportsmen have made the Canadian open an event worth going to, beyond the money-collecting side. They have made it a top-line sporting event, where even $400 first money won't keep away such stars as Hagen, Horton and Mac Smith, Farrell, Diegel, Sarazen and many others—who also happen to pay their own expenses back and forth. And to win this $400 the ultimate victor has to beat most of the best talent there is in professional golf.

The Literary Classic

After reading the stories signed by fighters, ball players, etc., the record still remains with one John Lawrence Sullivan. And it is one of George Ade's favorites. "It was announced," says Mr. Ade, "that Sullivan had been signed to cover the training activities and the battle itself when Fitzsimmons met Peter Maher in Texas. The famous John L. arrived without either a portable typewriter or a fountain pen, but that did not stop him. His readers, however, were a trifle startled the next day when they saw this:

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN

"E'en as the mantle of dewy eve descended from a purple sky across this sweep of open plain," etc, etc.

"I think," says Mr. Ade, "the readers might have fallen for the rest of it if the ghost writer hadn't lugged in that word 'e'en.' There is nearly always a limit."

BEARS DISPLAY FIGHTING FORM

Cubs Flash Pennant Winning Rallies

NEW YORK, July 31. (UP)—If the Chicago Cubs miss their pennant goal this year, the blame cannot be laid to any lack of fighting spirit.

Were this very essential ingredient the only requirement for a pennant winner, the clouting Cubs would have had the coveted bit of bunting safely stowed away by this time.

The Cubs have won several games in a row since returning from a successful tour of the East while the Pittsburgh Pirates, crippled by the loss of Burleigh Grimes, their mound ace, and Pie Traynor, one of the finest infielders ever to set foot on a diamond, have faltered badly.

The truly remarkable feature of the Cubs' latest winning streak is the fact that in only two of the nine games won were they not forced to come from behind to achieve success.

That in itself is a certain indication of the brand of fighting the Cubs are offering this year in their effort to finish ahead of the procession for the first time since 1918.

Quack Doctors Assailed

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 31. (INS)—A campaign designed to wage war against alleged "quack" doctors here and elsewhere in the state was outlined today by Dr. James Stewart, secretary of the state board of health, who is in Kansas City to investigate charges that some doctors here, licensed by the state and members of the Jackson County Medical society, are sharing practice and splitting fees with doctors who have no permit to practice in Missouri.

STUMP'S TEST GETS SHOWING

Archer County Wildcat Testing Sand

E. J. Stump and Moninger No. 1 J. H. White located 150 feet north and 150 feet east of the southwest corner of block 3, section 41, A. T. N. C. L. survey in Archer county is bailing a rich looking oil sand topped at 1457-64 feet. The well is in wildcat territory and in the event of a producer will be the means of extending the production of the Phillips Petroleum company wells in section 34, and 26, approximately one and a half miles in an eastward direction.

SILK PLANS TO DRILL DEEP TEST

W. W. Silk has leased approximately 10,000 acres out of the L. F. Wilson, Edwards and Coleman ranches in Archer county and plans are under way for the drilling some time this fall of a 6,000-foot test to be located in section 65, of the L. F. Wilson ranch in A. T. N. C. L. survey, about 12 miles south of the city of Wichita Falls. Mr. Silk has been working the past several months assembling this vast block of acreage for the first exploitation for deep oil to be made in the district.

SAND ENCOUNTERED IN FOARD TEST

Fain & McGaha No. 1 J. A. Jackson located in the Johnson survey, northwest of Thalia in Foard county encountered the sandy lime at 2024 feet and drilled six feet in. Pipe is cemented and the test will drill in during the next few days. The test is a diagonal offset to the northwest of the Shell Petroleum company's No. 1 Tarver Foard county's only producing oil well.

Quanah Rural Mail Route Is Extended

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, July 31.—Rural route No. 3 out of Quanah postoffice is being extended to serve 14 additional families residing at the super power plant of the West Texas Utilities company at Lake Pauline. This will add about four miles to the route of carrier O. M. Holt, according to Postmaster J. H. Wilson.

'A number of changes are being made on other routes out of Quanah for the accommodation of additional patrons, but none of these changes will necessitate additional mileage for the carriers.

Modesty Costs Life Of Explosion Victim

NEW YORK, July 31. (UP)—Modesty cost the life of Mrs. Jennie Cull, 26. A bottle of cleaning fluid exploded at her home last night igniting her clothing.

Her screams attracted neighbors who attempted to rush to her assistance, but she refused to unlock the door.

"I couldn't open the door," she gasped, "because all my clothes were burnt right off."

She died at Memorial hospital.

'16 Face Trial Aug. 26 For Slaying Officer

RALEIGH, N. C., July 31. (AP)—The 16 men and women charged with murdering Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt of Gastonia, and the seven others charged with assault will be tried in Mecklenburg superior court at a special session beginning Aug. 26. This was announced from Gov. O. Max Gardner's office here today. The case was adjourned in Gaston superior court yesterday.

Church Described As 'Vulgar Social Club'

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 31. (UP)—Describing the modern church as a "vulgar social club," Rev. R. C. Howard announced today he would ban from membership in the Kelham Avenue Baptist church here all parishioners who attended mixed bathing, public dancing and card playing parties, and those who swore.

A new leper colony is being established at Legaspi, Albay province, southern Luzon, P. I.

Historic St. John's church at Hampton, Va., is 319 years old.

Hoover Seeks New Fishing Hole Since Trout Season Ends

WASHINGTON, July 31. (US)—President Hoover is seeking new streams and fish to conquer with rod and reel.

With the brook trout season closed to him in the waters of Virginia and Maryland, he plans an early expedition into the Cumberland mountains for rainbow trout. The natives in that country have always fished for them with worms.

The president is anxious to see how they will respond to artificial bait. He will probably try this within two weeks. This Friday he plans to go to his retreat in the Virginia mountains.

HERO HONORED

New Army Airfield at Shreveport Named For Barkesdale

WASHINGTON, July 31. (INS)—The new army air field soon to be established at Shreveport, La., as the home of the third attack group will be known as Barkesdale field, the war department announced today.

The field is named in honor of Lieut. Hoy Barkesdale, a native of Mississippi, who lost his life in flight testing at Dayton, Ohio, in 1926. He was one of the American aces overseas and credited with bringing down eight enemy aircraft.

After the war he made a distinguished record as a test pilot. He was a second degree member of the Caterpillar club, having on two occasions been forced to use a parachute to save his life from falling planes.

Failures Define Coleman Limits

Special to The Record News

COLEMAN, Texas, July 31.—The Eastland Oil company pool, eight miles northeast of Coleman, has apparently been defined to the north and northeast, by the completion of three dry holes in that direction. No. 8-A Morris, Eastland Oil company lease, located in the southeast corner of block 13, had two feet of sand from the depth of 1985-87 feet, with a showing of oil and gas. No. 1 N. Buck's Midwest lease encountered a dry sand from 1964-1984 feet. No. 1 Ivy Keeney located northeast of the pool, 3000 feet north and 2500 feet east of the southwest corner of the R. Cochran survey, missed the producing sand.

One and one-half miles southwest of the Taylor-Link pool, Tom Weatherred et al. No. 2 Dalton, located in the northeast corner of section 156, encountered 100,000 cubic feet of gas in the Barker sand from 615 to 631 feet.

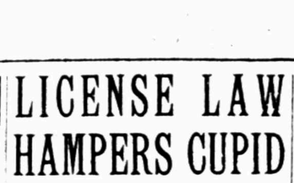
Rough Roads Jolt Watch Out of Baby's Stomach

SOMERVILLE, N. J., July 31. (INS)—Six-week-old Benjamin Bonini of Raritan, swallowed a small wrist watch and today owes his life to the rough roads near his home. The watch was jolted out of his throat as a motorcycle policeman was taking him to the hospital.



THE CURTIS PUBLISHING COMPANY

The Curtis Publishing company ranks as one of the leading magazine publishers of the country. It owns and publishes the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies' Home Journal and Country Gentleman. These have an aggregate circulation of 7,000,000. The company has been an outstanding developer of new color devices and designs and has one of the most efficient circulation organizations in the magazine field. The company's wholly owned plant in Philadelphia covers two city blocks and about 5,000 workers are employed.

Gross revenues fell off three per cent in 1928 but net income increased 12 per cent owing to lower operating expenses. Profits in 1928 were $19,328,861 which compared with $17,273,621 in 1927. The only recent year showing a recession was 1926 but even then the liberal dividend disbursements were more than earned.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock outstanding includes 900,000 shares of $7 cumulative preferred of no par value and 1,800,000 shares of no par common. The preferred is entitled to $100 a share in any liquidation and is redeemable at $120. It has no voting power until one quarterly dividend is in arrears when it votes equally with the common. In 1926 $6 and $2 extra was paid on the common; in 1927 $6 and $3 extra; in 1928 $6 and $3.50 extra. To May 2, 1929, $2.50 had been paid with $1 extra and 50 cents had been declared payable June 2. In February, 1929, there was a stock dividend of 100 per cent.

As of Jan. 1, 1929, total current assets were $12,236,912, current liabilities were $2,319,358 and net working capital was $9,917,554. Book value applicable to the common stock amounted to $37.53 a share.

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK

KANSAS CITY, July 31. (AP) (U. S. D. A.)—A sluggish demand at eastern dressed beef markets reflected itself on the live trade at most all points around the 11 market circuit. Killing classes of cattle ruled weak to unevenly lower, with the exception of a few loads of highly finished native grain feds.

Aggregate receipts estimated at 33,400, a decrease of 3,800 from last Wednesday, but 2,500 more than a year ago.

Curtailed supplies and a fairly broad shipping demand prompted a 10c to 25c price upturn on hogs at most centers. The day's top of $12.15 was paid at Chicago. Total offerings 59,800 against 65,732 a week ago and 67,083 the corresponding day last year.

Choice range lambs in Chicago scored $13.75 and a few natives made $13.50. The supply numbered around 42,500, a small increase over a week ago and a

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 31. (AP)—Unfavorable features in the weather and crop advices, combined with relatively steady Liverpool cables, seemed responsible for advance of about $1.50 a bale in the cotton market today. After selling up to 19.35 early, December reacted to 19.17 under realizing but firmed up again, selling at 19.43 in the late trading, closing at 19.40, with the general market closing firm at net advances of 26 to 34 points.

The opening was firm at an advance of 14 to 20 points on the higher cables from Liverpool, complaints of continued dry weather in West Texas, and apprehensions that further showers would stimulate weevil activity in the eastern belt. Active months soon showed not advances of about 18 to 22 points. Offerings increased right after the weekly report of the weather bureau appeared.

The official weather details showing high temperatures in Texas and Oklahoma may have accounted for some of the buying later, and the demand became more active following the publication of a private crop report which placed the condition of the crop at 63.9 compared with an end-June condition of 71.0. This report showed a lower condition figure than either of the two private reports previously issued, and was considered a factor on the late advance. October contracts sold up to 18.18 and March to 19.60, making net gains of 30 to 36 points and the close was within 2 or 3 points of the best on most positions.

Trading was active at the start and again in the late trading but comparatively quiet during the middle of the day.

Exports today were 13,572, making 8,240,838 bales so far this season, according to preliminary figures. Port receipts 24,386. U. S. port stocks 531,875.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 31. (AP)—Cotton prices reached new high ground for the present movement in today's trading following a period of unusually irregularity. A sharp rally after mid-session carried October up from 18.78 to 19.02 and the option closed at 19.00, or 23 points net higher. The general market closed steady at net advances of 23 to 31 points.

Liverpool cables were firm and the market here opened 2 to 4 points in response. Prices continued to advance after the start on buying. Active positions traded up from 75 cents to $1 a bale above yesterday's close with October at 18.97, and December 19.13.

Later the market turned irregular. In late trading the market rallied sharply on a private report giving the condition average of 68.9. December advanced to 19.20, or 25 to 29 points above the previous close. Final prices were at or near the best.

Receipts, 9,721; for week, 19,537; for year, 9,411,604; last year, 8,556,783. Exports, 13,572; for week, 32,896; for year, 7,949,923; last year, 7,800,839. Stocks, 503,227; last year, 533,150. Stock on shipboard, 30,807; spot sales, 5,472; last year, 4,772.

Stock Market's Very Pep Inspires Greater Volume of Trade Tuesday

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 31. (US)—Strength of the Morgan-First National stocks influenced steady advance in the market today. For the first time in weeks the upward movement had a real snap to it that helped attract additional demand. Steel advanced 3⅛, American Can 5, Union Carbide 7½, General Electric 10, United Aircraft 5. Central led a stronger Rail list with advance of 6½ points while Anaconda with other Coppers gained over 2 points on the average. Utilities turned more active and stronger with American & Foreign Power gaining 6⅛ more and Consolidated Gas 2 points. Oils remained dull but showed a somewhat firmer tendency. Call money remained at 10 per cent throughout but appeared to be in better supply toward the close. Turnover increased to near the 3,500,000 share level.

Steel common goes to a new high and others follow along. Among the outstanding were the Utilities of which Electric Investors stood out. Meeting of the directors brought no announcement but that did not stop the good buying of the stock. The fact that the split up of the shares was not announced did not have a bearish influence as it indicated even more favorable action for stockholders to come. National Power & Light was taken to a new high for the move also by those who have been most active in the Utility group for the last several months. Merger plan has been practically agreed upon and will be announced "at the right time." Practically all the group is harboring a fair sized short interest due to the erroneous advice of brokers who were influenced entirely by the mistaken idea that when a group of stocks has an outstanding advance they have to react right away.

Steel's earnings were more than pleasing. Even supposing that some less demand is experienced this quarter the results for the last half of the year should be fully as good as the first six months. Over the next six months the benefits from retirement of bonds will begin to show for the common stockholders and the strengthened capital position should permit of a more liberal system of reporting earnings. With net running at the rate of $20 a share annually a split up of the stock eventually seems likely. American Can enjoyed a more prominent place in the advance as Steel's strength was regarded as indicating friendliness toward the market by the Morgan-First National group.

Preparations of Motor interests to jazz their favorites coincident with introduction of new models caused short covering and some better demand for General Motors, Chrysler and others. The federal reserve permitting, is seems, the interested groups intend to go through with their operation as they have a good sized short interest to work against. Radio Corporation, it was stated, was planning formation of a managers syndicate to hold stock for officials along the lines of what Raskob did in General Motors. Kelvinator reported the improved earnings forecast here a month ago. Vick responded further to estimate of $9 a share earnings and expectation that the stock would be split up in the near future. Another leading stock exchange firm issued a special bullish analysis on Montgomery Ward, making about the fiftieth one put out in the last year.

"As we go to press it seems doubtful that a further advance in the Bank of England rate can be avoided." That's the opinion expressed in the National City bank's review, to be published tomorrow morning. The Bank of England directors will meet in the morning and if the rate were raised it would cause fear of a higher rate here. Current condition of the reserve does not appear to warrant a higher rate. While the main cause of fear that the Bank of England will raise is due to flow of gold to continental Europe the maintenance of a 5 per cent rate here with England at 6 per cent would be an aid to international banking plans whereas a higher rate here would tend to defeat the purpose of a higher English rate. The street hopes for a small decline in loans in report tomorrow afternoon but after the way it was fooled last week there is little definite opinion.

BEITZEL LOSES HIS LAST PLEA

Hollywood Canyon Murderer to Be Hanged

LOS ANGELES, July 31. (INS)—All hopes to save Russel St-Clair Beitzel, of Philadelphia, from the gallows vanished here today as the result of District Attorney Buron Fitts' announcement that his investigation had convinced him of Beitzel's guilt in the murder of his sweetheart, Barbara Mauger.

The Philadelphia slayer is scheduled to be hanged at San Quentin state prison Friday.

He had hoped to win a stay of execution on the strength of his amazing assertion that Miss Mauger, whose mutilated body was found in the Hollywood hills, is still alive. Governor C. C. Young declared he would not intercede on Beitzel's behalf after the district attorney had informed him of the results of his investigation.

WE SAY.....
IT CAN BE DONE!

There are still many people who really believe that business is not good during the summer months. These people feel it is no use trying to do much business during the summer.

Readers of The Daily Times-Record News make just as much money during the summer time as any other period of the year, in fact some make more. It is a commonly known fact that people spend more money during the summer time than any other time of the year and it is natural that with so many things to spend money for that there is bound to be more money in circulation during June, July and August. Somebody gets this money but it is only those who go after it.

In the summer as in any other season of the year money is spent for seasonable things and the merchant who carries seasonable merchandise is bound to do his share of the business if he gets a message to prospective buyers.

Mr. Merchant, if your shelves are stocked with seasonable merchandise, carry your message to Daily Times-Record News readers for they have money and will buy your merchandise if it is the kind that they wish to purchase. Therefore, Mr. Merchant, your problem is a merchandise problem rather than a slow business problem due to the season.

Watch these columns for further announcements. In the meantime why not telephone for a representative of our newspaper to explain our summer slump medicine and the cost of our prescriptions. You can get the summer business and we can help you.

State Line Fence to Be Paid for by Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., July 31. (AP)—Authority was given the state livestock sanitary board to reimburse counties for construction of a wire fence along the Mississippi-Louisiana state line in a resolution adopted today by the house of representatives. The resolution now goes to the senate.

Construction of the fence along the state line was recommended by livestock officials in order to prevent cattle from Louisiana, where no tick eradication campaign is under way, from crossing into Mississippi where an extensive campaign of tick eradication is being carried on.

Electra Society

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, July 30.—Members of the Truth Seekers class, of the First Baptist Sunday school, held their regular monthly social and business meeting Thursday afternoon in the Alathian class room at the church, and had as guests members of the Fidelis Matrons clas.

Mrs. W. W. Rivers, led in the devotional, and Mrs. E. B. Holcomb, offered the opening prayer. Mrs. Rivers, also gave a welcoming address to the visiting class. An interesting program of several readings and a number of songs was rendered, after which Mrs. E. B. Holcomb, gave word of thanks, in behalf of the visiting class for the hospitality, and entertainment.

At the close of the program Mrs. G. J. B. Totten and Mrs. E. V. Holtom sang "The End of a Perfect Day." Refreshments were served to the following guests, and members. Mesdames I. T. Stanford, E. B. Holcomb, M. J. Prasbour, F. E. Decose, R. L. Edmondson, H. M. Keesee, G. D. Yarbrough, T. T. Taylor, R. T. McKee, M. J. Theodford, of Fort Worth. Members of the entertaining class were Mesdames C. V. Ruth, J. A. Norwood, W. W. Rivers, A. S. Kerby, J. W. Swinson, O. L. Ely, Homer Jones, J. T. Clayton, T. A. Smullcer, W. N. Owens, J. L. Graham, Henry Fields, J. G. B. Totten and son James, D. D. Bailey, C. A. Renfroe, of Fort Worth, E. V. Holtom, of the Methodist Sunday school.

Mrs. Persky Entertains

Mrs. M. J. Persky entertained several guests Friday afternoon with a bridge party at her home on West Wharton street.

The reception room was beautifully decorated for the occasion with flowers of the season and a harmonizing color scheme was noted in other decorations. In the games Mrs. G. R. Davidson won high score, Mrs. Frank Fisher low score and Mrs. Clyde Dunn, received club prize.

A salad and ice course was served. Those present were Mesdames G. R. Davidson, T. N. Parmley, C. P. Engleking, George and Robert McGann, R. W. Brown, Jack Prince

RIVER BED OIL CLAIMS FILED

Settlement of Dispute May Be Forthcoming

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, July 31.—Assignments of error prepared by Assistant Attorney General W. W. Caves in the $50,000,000 oil proceedings, styled the state of Texas et al vs. Bradford et al, involving the title to the bed of the north fork of the Red river in Gray and Wheeler counties for a distance of 75 miles has been filed in the Travis county district court. The case involves titles to the river bed and also the validity of the Small land law of the last legislature which sought to completely validate the titles, and was passed over the veto of Governor Moody before enactment.

Cross assignments of error are being prepared by the various oil companies which old leases in the river bed and are opposing the state's suit, which names 710 defendants. Assignments of error have likewise been filed in behalf of M. H. Reed and W. T. Caswell, Austin capitalists, who have applied for the purchase of the river bed under the mineral statutes of Texas. Reed and Caswell's position is parallel to that of the state in seeking to recover the title of the land.

Litigants have until August 27 to file the transcript of the case. The completed transcript will not be filed in the third court of civil appeals for some time, awaiting the reconvening of the court from its summer vacation. It is hoped that this court will dispose of it quickly in order that it may reach the supreme court without a great delay.

Politics Barred In Appointment Of Road Patrol

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, July 31.—The state highway commission has decided that appointments for the 'state highway patrol' will be made regardless of political pull. In an announcement made Tuesday the commission instructed State Engineer Gibb Gilchrist to draft application blanks for the applicants and served notice that it would "serve no good purpose whatsoever for any applicant to appear in person or by friend before the highway commissioners or the highway engineer to urge his appointment."

Thirty of the 50 patrolmen authorized in the Williamson motor traffic regulatory measure passed during the second called session of the legislature will probably be employed immediately, the commissioners decided. The patrolmen are to enforce the regulations imposed by the measure.

"Appointments will be made strictly upon merit and capability," the commissioners announced. Application blanks can be obtained by writing to the state highway engineer at Austin, Engineer Gilchrist announced. All applicants will be given the opportunity to appear before the board before final selection is made.

Corsicana Pastor To Open Crowell Revival

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl)—The annual revival meeting of the Christian church of this city will begin here on Sunday, Aug. 4. It will continue for two weeks. The preaching will be done by Rev. Paul J. Merrill of Corsicana, a former pastor of this church and now engaged in evangelistic work. He conducted the revival of last year.

The singing will be conducted by the local pastor, Rev. R. O. Brewer, as he has had considerable experience as a singing evangelist, being in that work for a number of years.

Plans are being made to place seats on the south side of the church and have services in the open air.

Board Postpones Naming Of Institution Heads

Special to The Record News

AUSTIN, July 31.—Election of heads of the 17 state eleemosynary institutions was postponed by the board of control Tuesday pending a conference with the governor to "ascertain the probability of his approval of the appropriation for a psychopathic hospital." The motion for postponement of the election of the heads was made by Claude Teer and agreed to by Chairman R. B. Walthall and Roy L. Tennant, who compose the board. No date was set for the next meeting. The new year for the heads starts Sept. 1.

Burk Lions Nominate Mitchell for Honors

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 31.—The Burkburnett Lions club has taken an active part in the selection of a citizen of this city who has done the most to promote the general welfare of the city during the past year. C. E. Mitchell, president of the Lions, was selected as candidate for the place by the club membership. Other organizations and churches of the city have submitted names to be voted on in the near future.

NEW LUMBER YARD

CROWELL, Texas, July 31. (Spl)—The new Cicero Smith Lumber yard at Thalia opened for business last week under direction of Roy Ricks as manager. The stock of the new yard has not all arrived as yet, however it is being received daily and being placed in stock as fast as possible. Considerable lumber has already been sold.

A campaign to rid the state of quack grass, estimated to cost $10,000,000 annually, has been started in Michigan.

MAJESTIC: Last day of "Show Boat," drama of the Mississippi. Paramount news.

STRAND: Below zero weather forcing intense drama in "High Voltage," with William Boyd and Carol Lombard. Walt Roesner's orchestra. Movietone news.

OLYMPIC: Ken Maynard in "The Royal Rider." Sportlight. Mack Sennett comedy. Pathe news.

GEM: Richard Barthelmess in "Scarlet Seas." Comedy.

Five showings Thursday remain before the "Show Boat" looses its hawsers and drops down the river where other thousands will gather at the hoarse sound of her Mississippi river whistle and the jig-time piping of the old table calliope.

"Show Boat" proved beyond question the most popular sound picture brought to Wichita Falls, despite the fact that the best output of the new industry has hurried to this city with gratifying regularity. Why? New York. Ziegfeld—the old Mississippi. While most of us are content to let the New Yorker (an organism not yet successfully isolated) be himself, a play which has held New York spellbound for many months is pretty sure to find us waiting to render our own verdicts. And Ziegfeld has become an institution of national standing. A house of amazing dramatic creations, combining America's music with pulchritude and ingenious stage settings dazzling in their splendor. But particularly in the South, the romance of the big river, variously colored by more than a century of gallant Southern history, prepared the way for "Show Boat's" reception.

Courtroom scenes in which the audience was included in the play as a courtroom audience and entered dramatically into the production offered an innovation in the stage presentation of "The Trial of Mary Dugan"—so say the Eastern critics with reference to the show which opens at the Majestic Friday.

Bayard Vieller's engrossing tale of the chorus girl whose "sugar papa" very inconveniently found himself murdered one morning taxed the critics' ready supply of superlatives. Its principal recommendation to this column, in the talking-screen version, is the inclusion of Lewis Stone in the cast as the dissembling defense attorney—with all respect to Norma Shearer, who must be defended.

The movies have had a sufficient number of stars whose scintillation turned to sickly green hues if the assigned role varied materially at all from one lonely pattern. Lewis Stone's detail perfection in the enactment of character roles, regardless of the play involved, has been one of the brightest spots in cinema history.

Other entertainment promised for the week includes "The Time, The Place, and The Girl," at the Strand, with James Kirkwood and Betty Compson—turn way back in your catalog for James and Betty. You'll recall them.

At the Olympic, Ken Maynard will expose himself to the machinations of Roumania's Queen Marie on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. For Ken will take a bunch of hard-riding cowboys to "a small kingdom in Europe," captivate a 10-year-old king with wild West whoopee, and swap places with the entranced kid. Ken didn't give Roumania as his forwarding address, but we suspect Prince Carol is up to some dirty work again.

Tax Rates in Irrigation Districts To Remain Unchanged, Board Decides

The tax rate on land in the Wichita county water improvement district No. 1 will remain at 70 cents per $100, the same as that of last year, and the rate on land in district No. 2 will remain at $3.50 per acre in the irrigable area and at seven cents per acre in the non-irrigable area, it was announced Wednesday by G. A. Remington, general manager of the water improvement districts.

Taxes in district No. 1 are levied on an ad valorem basis and those in district No. 2 on an assessment of benefit basis, Mr. Remington pointed out in explaining the two different forms of taxation. These rates were fixed at a recent meeting of the board of directors of each district.

At the meeting of the board of district No. 1 receipts and disbursements in the interest and sinking fund and in the maintenance and operation fund were estimated for the years 1929 and 1930. In the interest and sinking fund, receipts for the year 1929 were estimated at $606,805.68 and for the year 1930 at $446,502.30. Disbursements for 1929 were set at $538,253.38 and those for 1930 at $395,590. In the maintenance and operation fund the estimated receipts for 1929 were $115,905.35 and those for 1930, $141,685.35. In this fund the estimated disbursements for 1929 were $114,370 and for 1930, $117,315.

TEXAS TROOPS TO OPEN CAMP

National Guard Units To Train at Palacious

Special to The Record News.

PALACIOS, Texas, July 31.—With the arrival here Thursday of advance detachments of the 36th division, Texas national guard, the stage will be set for the official opening Sunday of the 15-day annual summer encampment of the 6,200 officers and enlisted men of the division.

Movement of the main body of the troops will begin at 12:15 a. m. Saturday when El Paso units leave their home on the first of more than 20 special troop trains which will converge at Houston and Rosenberg Saturday night from all sections of the state for transportation over the Southern Pacific lines to Camp Palacios, the 1,300-acre site near here on which the federal government spent more than $300,000 in 1928 to build a permanent training camp for the guardsmen.

Difficult Rail Movement

Transportation of the scattered units of the division from their home stations so that all will arrive at the camp on the same day and in sufficient time to enable them to get settled in their quarters before sunset, is one of the most difficult railroad movements in the United States, as the last 18 miles of the journey is over a single-track railroad.

The division staff, under Maj. Gen. John A. Hulen, commanding, and Southern Pacific railroad officials, have worked out a schedule calling for the arrival of the first troop train at 5 a. m. Sunday and completion of the movement by 1 p. m. the same day. A maximum time of 30 minutes is allowed for detraining of troops and removal of equipment and baggage on each train. In past years the movement has been accomplished without a hitch under the joint supervision of G. B. Goodloe, superintendent of the Victoria division of the Southern Pacific, and Lt. Col. George D. Sears, assistant chief of staff, G-4, detraining officer.

A special staff of dispatchers, telegraph operators, inspectors, track walkers, car and engine repairmen and train crews will be on duty during the movement. Special patrols of railroad men will examine tracks and bridges after the passage of each train just as would be the case in war-time.

Prepare for Service

As set out in general orders, the mission for the entire division is to be prepared for active service at present strength in either federal or state emergency and for prompt expansion to war strength in the former case. To fulfill this mission, the division will be basically trained, which means a thorough military instruction of the individual; troop units to include the company, battery, aviation squadron, and detachments; and of staffs from battery to division.

An interesting feature of the camp will be the maneuvers on Aug. 8 and 9, involving all headquarters organizations of the division in a mimic warfare which will be directed by General Hulen from a command post at Blessing, 18 miles north of Camp Palacios.

The problem will stimulate the functions of a division in attack and all headquarters organizations will develop their special situations as a part of the maneuvers. Troops will not be employed except in the communications net-work of visual signals, field telephone and telegraph and radio.

Troops will sleep in tents during the camp. The entire morning period each day will be devoted to drill, with firing on the target ranges, reviews and schools of instruction on the afternoon schedule.

For recreation the troops will have baseball, boxing and swimming tournaments, bathing and fishing in Tres Palacios bay adjoining the camp grounds, and movies at night.

Dallam County Man, Given 25 Years Under Mask Law, Lodged in Jail Here

Militia Chief

Maj. Gen. John A. Hulen, commanding, 36th division, Texas national guard, who will direct the activities of the annual summer encampment. The Texas guardsmen's camp at Palacios will be the largest military post in the United States for the period it is in operation.

In a move to avert a threatened jail release, Dallam county officials Wednesday afternoon lodged Bert Dellinger, sentenced to 25 years in the state penitentiary for a masked assault upon a Dalhart Mexican, in the Wichita county jail for safe keeping. Dellinger has appealed from the prison sentence, imposed by a Dallam county jury after evidence in his trial showed that the attack had been made after the Mexican had given evidence before a grand jury.

The prisoner was moved to the Wichita county jail upon a commitment order signed by Reese Tatum, judge of the Dallam county district court. He was brought to Wichita Falls by Sheriff Alexander who said he had been warned that a release was being planned.

The officer said the alleged assault followed the firing of two shots upon a sleeping Mexican. The man was then beaten into unconsciousness and thrown out of an automobile several miles down the road, the officials reported.

Sheriff Asked to Seize Escaped Texas Convicts

The sheriff's department here was warned Wednesday to watch for Raymond Gill and Bruce Fowler, 18-year-old Dallas youths, who Wednesday morning escaped from a state prison farm and are believed to be moving toward this section. In a long distance telephone conversation with W. A. Denton, state prison warden, Charlie Gant, deputy sheriff, learned that the two young men are driving in a 1925 Ford car, with red wheels and bearing the license number 1-020-814. No details of the escape were given in the conversation.

ROBERTS GIVES BOND OF $2,000

Publisher Surrenders On Perjury Charges

P. B. Roberts, president of the Press Publishing company Wednesday made a $2,000 bond in two perjury indictments returned against him by the 30th district grand jury here last week. Mr. Roberts appeared voluntarily in the office of the sheriffs' department after word of the perjury warrants had reached him.

The indictments charge that the publisher gave false testimony in connection with garnishment proceedings brought against him by W. Dickson involving an alleged $1,000 debt owed by Roberts to Dickson. They specifically allege that Roberts said under oath on two occasions that he had two shares of stock in the Press Publishing company when, according to the terms used in the indictment, his stock amounted to 32 shares. Trial of the cases is expected to be set early in September.

Dairy Expert Begins Work Here Today

Although a truck load of his household goods had arrived in Wichita Falls, no definite word had been received here late Wednesday from John L. Mizell, former chamber of commerce secretary at Yoakum, Texas, whose work as dairy expert for Wichita county is scheduled to begin Thursday, Aug. 1.

Mr. Mizell was employed by the county commissioners court two weeks ago to direct the development of the dairy industry within the county. He is expected to share the office of G. C. McGown, county agent, and to work under the title of assistant agent as well as dairy expert.

John P. Marrs, county judge, was expecting a visit from the new director Wednesday afternoon or early Thursday. According to an outline of work covering a three year period, Mr. Mizell's first efforts will be directed toward completing a survey of the dairy conditions in the county.
