DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S CONTEST IS NIP AND TUCK OVER COUNTIES

Small Carries Hall County By Large Plurality; County Judge's Race Develops Into Very Close Contest

With the last box, Precinct No. 1, Memphis, reporting shortly before five o'clock Sunday morning, it developed that the following candidates for county offices had been elected: D. H. Arnold, District Clerk and Bill Bragg, County Attorney, these candidates having run without opposition; Judge A. C. Hoffman was re-elected County Judge; Miss Edna Bryan re-elected County Clerk; Holt Bowns Tax Collector; Mrs. Roy Guthrie, County Superintendent; J. B. Landis re-elected County Treasurer; W. A. Thompson re-elected County Surveyor running without opposition; R. N. Gillis re-elected Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1; J. Y. Snow Constable Precinct 1 J. B. Burnett, re-elected Commissioner Precinct No. 1.

Run-off races will be between Alexander and Lindgren for Sheriff and Bailey, Gilmore and J. E. Hughs for Tax Assessor. Reports were not available on other candidates for County Commissioner and Constable. Not all of the results in the state were obtainable, but the results were complete in the county races. The outcome of the District Attorney's race is uncertain as the count is very close and the boxes are not complete.

The vote in Hall County for county, district and other candidates is as follows:

STAFF IS GIVEN MIDNIGHT FEED LAST EVENING

Local People Serve Real Banquet To Staff Workers

Saturday midnight was a red letter occasion in The Democrat office. Memphis has a big heart and demonstrated it in a big way. All kinds of eats were available to the regular staff and some twenty other helpers. There was food to all and to spare. In fact, nothing like it has ever happened before in the annals of newspaperdom in this city.

While the staff was busily engaged in reporting the election returns, a table was spread in the back office fit for a king. It even had a table cloth on it—and what food! Everything was to be had that hungry workers crave. There were two immense bowls of potato salad. Think of it—potato salad—the leading salad on the market today—the finest food that an ordinary potato is capable of creating, except, of course, potato chips, and these were also to be had in plenty. In addition, there were two large cakes, olives, pickles, sandwiches, coffee, iced tea, biscuit, and the piece-de-resistance of the meal—fried chicken.

When, in a joking way, a column was perpetrated in The Democrat last Friday asking that the staff be remembered with food, it was never dreamed that the request, made large in jest, would be taken seriously, but it was, and

Three High Candidates In Governor's Race

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson overcame the early lead run up by Ross Sterling in the race for Governor and is leading the field by a substantial majority at the time of going to press Sunday morning. Clint Small is a good third and is holding his own. Mrs. Ferguson, Ross Sterling and Senator Small are pictured above. The Ferguson strength bears out the predictions of political prognosticators prior to the election.

CLINT SMALL STILL HAS A GOOD CHANCE TO GET IN RUN-OFF

Only Half Of Anticipated Vote Is Accounted For When Counting Ended; Large West Texas Vote Is Not In

A run off between Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson and R. S. Sterling for the Governorship seemed a probability when the Texas Election Bureau closed its tabulation for the night, with the possibility that the run off might be between Mrs. Ferguson and Clint Small. Sterling's margin over Small for second place is about 10,000 which is not decisive with the possibility of 350,000 votes to hear from. The number of counties reported complete is not sufficiently large to furnish an accurate basis for estimating the total vote, but there seems to be no reason to expect it to go much, if any, beyond the total of 735,000 votes cast in July, 1928.

At 1:30 a. m., Sunday morning, 208 out of 253 counties in the state, including 9 complete, gave the following totals: For Senator, Henry, 51,662; Mitchner 11,279; Sheppard, 152,161; for Governor, Ferguson, 79,573; Love,

BULLETIN

In the opinion of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, according to a telephone message received at 2:30 Sunday morning, Clint Small still has a good chance to forge into second place in the Governor's race, thereby winning a place in the run-off. Only half of the anticipated vote had been accounted for when the counting ended early Sunday morning, the Fort Worth newspaper pointed out, and only fifteen percent of the ballots that had been tabulated were from West Texas and the Panhandle, the sections that are supporting Small most heavily.

Herschel Wears His Pajamas At Election Party

Herschel Montgomery, genial linotype operator and columnist for The Democrat, returned from his vacation Saturday just in time to "get in" on The Democrat election party and extra. In view of the circumstances, Herschel decided to get even with somebody, so he did his work in a suit of pajamas! Just imagine that if you can. Any number of witnesses will testify to the fact that he was thus attired.

The pajamas were of a pale blue color, trimmed in black. Herschel never did give a satisfactory explanation as to why he was working in them, but it is thought he acquired the habit in Mexico, as he made a trip across the Rio Grande during his vacation. That may explain it.

Election Returns Are Presented To Some 1,500 People

A crowd of 1,500 people were present at The Democrat's election party last night. They started congregating in front of The Democrat office shortly before seven o'clock and at 4:30 Sunday morning some 20 or more were still on the job waiting to

ELECTION EXTRA CONTAINS ALL LATE NEWS

Reports Are To Be Resumed Sunday Afternoon

The Democrat is presenting to its readers this morning an election extra that carries much later news than any daily newspaper that reaches this section of the state, due to the fact that the special wire did not close until two o'clock, whereas the daily papers had to close their forms several hours earlier. Not satisfied with giving the local readers of the paper the latest election news, The Democrat is being distributed over the entire county so that every part may get the latest news concerning the outcome of the election.

The staff of The Democrat worked throughout the night, with only one intermission, in order to give this service. As soon as the papers were off the press, representatives of the paper started on their mission of delivering the papers over the county.

The news in the state races was received direct over a Western Union wire from the Texas Election Bureau at Dallas, and may be considered as authentic in every respect. The Texas Election Bureau is maintained by the Managing Editors' Association of Texas, which organization embraces as members the editors of the leading daily newspapers throughout Texas. News of the long

Wiley Orr Once More Shows How He Likes Staff

Just as the last word had been written concerning the immense amount of food donated to the staff of The Democrat, Wiley Orr came into the office with a large package addressed "To the entire force." Upon opening it, it was found to contain a box of fifty cigars for the men and a large box of candy for the women. Wiley was told that he would not be bothered this year, as he had furnished the eats two years ago at The Democrat election party, but he refused to listen to reason.

On top of all the other good eats to get some more of the very things that appeal most when night work is hardest! Thanks, Wiley, a hundred times for your thoughtfulness, your generosity and kindness!

Democrat Grateful For Helpers' Work In Staging Party

To the many workers who assisted the staff in taking the election returns Saturday night, The Democrat is grateful. Special thanks should be accorded Mrs. M. G. Ray who had charge of the local phone calls; Miss Myrtle Huff, who had charge of the long

13 BOY SCOUTS AID IN PARTY SATURDAY

Valuable Service Is Rendered By Youths Of This City

Thirteen Boy Scouts from the various troops of the city rendered invaluable service at The Democrat's election party Saturday evening. The boys were under the personal supervision of Dr. J. Hardin Mallard, the acting Scout Executive and they did a work that is greatly appreciated by The Democrat. Coming on the job shortly after 6:30 p. m., the Scouts stood their ground and did not leave the office until after midnight, when they were dismissed by the Executive.

The Scouts were divided so that they would render the most effective service. They were assigned to assist Dr. Mallard, who held a post at the door to the office and directed their activities in general, and others who were on duty. Several assisted local officers in handling the crowd and in keeping the street open. Others helped Lyman Robbins and Russell Clark. They were used to run errands, and in general, to make themselves useful.

The Scouts on duty were Bobby Thomas, Lewis Foxhall, Chas. Flanery, Floyd Wattenbarger, Julius Jones, Wayne Baker, James Johnson, James Travis, Herval Pounds, Jewel Jones, James Perkins, B. F. Shepherd, Jr., and Arthur Travis. This is the first time in the history of Memphis

PROBLEM OF HIGHWAY FINANCING BIG ISSUE IN GOVERNOR'S RACE

By ALONZO WASSON
In Dallas News.

The campaign for Governor, of which the first installment has now come to its day of reckoning, presents aspects radically different from those promised by the horoscopes of the most authentic prophets at its beginning, only four months ago. The contrasts are great enough to enforce the lesson of the vanity of trying to peer into the future of any political movement.

March 20, which was the day of the last special session of the Legislature adjourned, was the start-off of the campaign. At that time there were seven candidates for Governor, counting those who had resolved to run along with those who had announced. There is the same number today, omitting the four who are running for fame, fun or whim, and superfluously in any case. But if the number is the same the personnel of the company has undergone almost a 50 per cent change.

Changes in Entries

The plans of politicians, no less than those of mice and men, gang aft agley. The seven of that day were Mr. Miller, Mr. Love, Mr. Young, Mr. Mauritz, Mr. Ferguson, Mr. Mayfield and Governor Moody. Only four of these seven have remained to take the count. Mr. Mauritz got out, Mr. Ferguson was put out and of Governor Moody it may be said that he was kept out. In place of Mr. Ferguson there is Mrs. Ferguson, a change more nominal than actual; in place of Governor Moody there is Mr. Sterling and in place of Mr. Mauritz there is Mr. Small, though this substitution, unlike the others, had no cause which in bringing the one in took the other out. It was the law, as read by the Supreme Court, which put Mr. Ferguson out and Mrs. Ferguson in and it was his unwillingness to oppose the ambition of a friend which kept Governor Moody out.

The pitch and cast of the contest has differed as much from that which the situation on March 20 forecast. What to all political analysis seemed the logical agenda of the campaign has undergone a change even more kaleidoscopic than its personnel. The major issues of that day are the minor ones of this. The first has become last and the last first—at least on the stump.

Irrelevant Issue Stressed

It was plain enough when the Legislature adjourned that the problem of highway financing would come in for a good deal of discussion. It is true it was and is a matter over which the Governor exercises no jurisdiction, but it is a subject which enables candidates to tell thousands just what they want to hear, and that way votes are garnered. But if it was plain that this irrelevant matter would come in for a good deal of discussion, there is no one who would pretend to have foreseen that that subject would occupy the large place it has in the political discussions. That a matter of so little relevance—none at all, indeed—to the question of the relative fitness of seven men to be Governor has become, if not the paramount issue, the largest theme in the speeches of the candidates is the most surprising development in the campaign.

At that time it seemed decreed that taxation and public utility regulation would be the engrossing considerations and that the discussions of those subjects would develop well-defined issues which would definitely sway the ballots of those who are guided by a seasoned study of public questions. So it appeared only four months ago to students and soothsayers alike.

Utility Question Slighted

But so it has not been. The matter of public utility regulation has had only the poor reverence that is paid by occasional and parenthetical allusion. If any of the candidates is opposed to the regulation of the public utility corporations he has refrained from saying so, while among those who have committed themselves to that enterprise there has developed little more than trivial differences of opinion as to ways and means; is that what, four months ago, was prospectively a major issue has become one of the odds and ends of political discussion. Yet the belief persists that a matter which has been all but ignored on the stump will be a foremost place in the consideration of the next Legislature.

As a subject of debate among the candidates for Governor, the shrinkage of the taxation question has not been much less. It has lost none of its pertinence, nor any of its importance. But it has lost the paramountcy it had four months ago. It has not been ignored. But it has been subordinated, and to the consideration of a proposal over the determination of which the Governor of Texas can exercise no authority whatever.

Voters' Attention Diverted

Had there been a purpose to divert the attention of the voters from the consideration of matters the disposition of which would be largely affected by the attitude of the man chosen to be Governor it could not have been better accomplished than it has been by the intrusion into the campaign of the question whether highway bonds should or should not be issued.

During the last two special sessions of the Forty-First Legislature the proposal to abolish the ad valorem tax by the substitution of an income tax and by a larger use of the severance tax was brought to a stage of development which left it in need only of a militant championship to make it an important issue. But none of the candidates has championed it, at least in the manner necessary to make it a major issue, and thus give it a status which would make the outcome of

New Goodyear Tire Dealers

Mr. "D" and Mr. "P"—B. E. Davenport and T. M. Potts—owners of the D & P Chevrolet Co., who have been made authorized dealers for Goodyear Tires in Memphis. They have stocked a complete and extensive line of Goodyears in the D & P show rooms at Seventh and Noel.

the contest faintly intelligible as a sign of the popular desire. Thus a matter which, four months ago, seemed marked as probably the paramount issue of the campaign has come to be merely one of the et ceteras of the debate and of a debate that has been wholly lacking in educational quality.

Accomplishment of Candor

There has, however, been one noteworthy circumstance of the debate on the subject of taxation. This is that all but two of the candidates have omitted that line in the politician's litany which promises a reduction in the cost of government. All the five others have contented themselves with the more credible promise to be economical and to bring about an equitable distribution of the tax burden, recognizing that the services which have come to have a fixed place in the functions of State government can not be rendered with reasonable efficiency at much less than their present cost. The recognition of this fact is a mark of progress, though it is an accomplishment in candor rather than one toward the solution of the problem of tax reform. The problem, it may fairly be said, has had no consideration of the kind that is educational. It has been subordinated to a consideration of the affairs of the Highway Department, or rather of one of them, the selection being one over which, as has been said, the Governor has no jurisdiction.

Discussion Could Be Pertinent

Prospectively, at least, there are some questions relating to the Highway Department which could have been discussed by the candidates for Governor with some pertinence. There is a possibility, for example, if not something more, that the next Legislature will send down to the Governor a bill appropriating some part of the Highway Department's revenue for distribution among the counties, to reimburse them for what they have contributed toward the cost of building State highways. There is also a possibility that the next Legislature will send to the Governor a bill mak-

Personality Sketches Show Up Candidates For Major Offices

Brief statements concerning the candidates for U. S. Senator and Governor printed below show the type of men they are and their qualifications for state office. Many of the voters took these qualifications into consideration in casting their ballots at the polls Saturday.

The sketches, as compiled by The Dallas News, are as follows:

For United States Senator
Robert Lee Henry, Houston.—Has lived largely in the public eye. Came from Texarkana to be an assistant to Attorney General Charles A. Culberson; practiced law at Waco and went to Congress; retired in 1922 to make race for Senate. Later went to Houston and practiced law since. Was out-and-out Ku Klux Klansman in 1922, defeated by Mayfield. Campaign largely predicated on vigorous opposition to national prohibition as a failure.

C. A. Mitchner, Sherwood, Iron County.—The candidacy of Mr. Mitchner flashed big for a day and he won some Nation-wide celebrity for his espousal of a platform to provide a cow for every farmer.

From home at Sherwood conducted a quiet campaign. Morris Sheppard, Texarkana.—Prohibitionist, won a victory in Texas in 1912 when as Congressman from the Northwest Texas District he defeated Jacob F. Wolters for Joseph Weldon Bailey's senatorial seat. Was last Senator elected by Legislature and won both Bailey's unexpired term and that Gov. O. B. Colquitt had assigned to the veteran editor, R. M. Johnson of Houston. Six years later became father of Eighteenth Amendment and national prohibition. In 1928, when many Texas Democrats helped to carry the State for Hoover, he remained loyal to the party.

For Governor
Ross Sterling. Born during Reconstruction Days in the home of a Texas Confederate veteran, Ross Sterling climbed from poverty to wealth. Accepting chairmanship of the Highway Commission, he visited every county in the State in the interest of good roads. Highway bond plan has been crux of the primary contest. James Young. When Woodrow Wilson retired from the presidency, Representative James Young of Kaufman followed his chief into private life of his own volition, after a decade in Congress. For nineteen years a Sunday school superintendent, he is a lifelong prohibitionist. Fidelity to party he has made an outstanding issue in the race.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson. Mrs. Ferguson has spent practically three terms in the Governor's mansion at Austin, having taken up residence there twice as the wife of the Governor and once as mistress in her own name. She is a prohibitionist and her husband is against it, but they campaign in politics without the least friction.

C. Moody. Soapy Moody of Worth ran for Governor from the hurricane deck of a laundry wagon. He promised to 'dry clean' most of the state's dirty linen and give the rest a scrubbing. Some voters persist in the mistake that he is Dan Moody and his vote may reflect in some degree this confusion.

Clint C. Small. Mr. Small has held pretty nearly every public office that his neighbors could give and now they want him for Governor. He attained state-wide notice as State Senator, in which position he defended the claims of ranchmen to the beds of semi-dry streams running through their land.

Barry Miller. At the age of 16, Barry Miller was a page in the United States Senate. By the time he was 30, he was a member of the State Senate of Texas. From that time until now he has been a figure in Texas politics, notably in his gallant campaigns in behalf of Senator Charles A. Culberson during the latter and feeble years of Culberson. Mr. Miller has asked promotion from the lieutenant governorship to the mansion.

Earle Mayfield. He is proud of the fact that he is double second cousin to Allison Mayfield, one of the greatest Railroad Commissioners Texas ever had. Earle Mayfield was himself a member of the commission by appointment and two subsequent elections. He has served two terms in the State Senate and one in the national Senate.

Thomas B. Love. Mr. Love was three times elected to the lower house of the Legislature, including a term as speaker, and twice to the upper chamber, besides serving an appointive term as Commissioner of Insurance and Banking. He was noteworthy in his campaign support of Bryan, Wilson and McAdoo, and was an outstanding figure in the bolt of Texas Democrats to Hoover against Al Smith in 1928.

Dr. C. E. Walker. Dr. Walker of Grapevine spent one term in the Legislature and retired, as he thought, from politics. But this year, he decided to take a swing at the governorship. He is against the gin marriage law and wants legalized horse racing in Texas.

Frank Putnam. Mr. Putnam, a seasoned newspaper man and public relations expert, depends upon his typewriter to make his speeches and the mail to deliver them. He says he is a "good deliverer of liquor" but an abstemious user of it.

Paul Loven. "A German by inheritance, Irish by instinct and a Jew by business integrity," Paul Loven is the eleventh candidate for Governor. He is against prohibition which he denounces as hypothetical beauty, but an impractical hunchback." He is the youngest candidate in the race, being 37 years of age.

TREE SITTER IN MEMPHIS GOES UP THURSDAY

Archie Bagwell First To Start New Fad In This City

At least one tree sitter is on duty in Memphis and is going strong after more than 48 hours on the job. The first to bring the fad to Memphis is Archie Bagwell, 11 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Bagwell. Archie is perched high up in a cedar tree at the family home on South Sixteenth street. He went aloft at 4 p. m. Thursday afternoon.

Comfortable and Contented
The Memphis' tree sitter appears to be perfectly comfortable and contented. He has a chair rigged up to meet his needs. When he goes to sleep at night, he straps himself in, to keep from falling to the ground. Food is carried up to him by a younger brother.

Has Electric Light
In addition to his other conveniences, Archie has an electric light in the tree with him, having run an extension cord from the house. When visited by representatives of The Democrat, he said he did not feel at all tired and would stay aloft for many days to come. He asked the other day how much the local telephone company would charge to have a phone installed in the tree.

Memphis people who want to get their first glimpse of a real tree sitter should go out to the home of Mrs. J. W. Blanton some time during the day Sunday and see Archie on his perch. He will be glad to have visitors, and be sure to take the kiddies along. The sight is something they will enjoy.

Her Vigil by A. J. Dunlap

The March sun had tried all in vain
To pierce the spring clouds dull and grey
And snowflakes, half melted, had fallen
With half-frozen raindrops all day.
The crape of the cobwebs festooned
The dust-covered lintel and pane,
While up in the gables the wind
Was sobbing a springtime refrain.

She sat all alone with the cobwebs,
Alone in the dreary old pile,
With no one to cheer her at all
With kind word or warm friendly smile,
Deserted by those she had mothered,
She sat as the cold winds swept by,
And brooded alone in her sorrow,
Nor uttered a sob nor a sigh.

'Twas well that she sat in the gloaming,
In March as the cold winds swept by;
'Twas well that she patiently brooded,
And paused not to sob nor to sigh,
For if she had left off her brooding,
What would we have done in July,
When summer arrived and we wanted
An April-hatched chicken to fry?

Church Choir Has Prepared Program For Sunday Night

The choir of the First Presbyterian church had a delightful meeting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. M. McNeely Friday evening at which time a very unique and interesting musical program was arranged for the Sunday night service. This will be a request program, featuring favorite hymns.

There will be no sermon, but stories and interesting facts about some of the songs will be given by Dr. Mallard. Following are some of the numbers: "Is It Not Wonderful," Carolyn McNeely; duet, "In the Garden," Mrs. J. E. Bass and Mrs. C. D. Denny; "Face to Face," David Fitzgerald; quartette, "Lead Kindly Light," Mrs. Maynard H. Drake, T. E. Noel, Mrs. J. Hardin Mallard, Dr. M. McNeely. Responding to numer-

Memphis Owls And Silvertown Wolves Clash Here Today At 3:30

HOT CONTEST IS EXPECTED BY FANS

Owls Are Out for Revenge After Two Holiday Defeats

The Memphis Owls meet an old enemy here today when they cross bats with the Silvertown Wolves. This game has been looked forward to since the Owls met defeat at the hands of the Wolves in two games at Turkey on the third and fourth of July in two of the hardest games that they have ever played. The Wolves have added strength to their team since those games, and they made a good showing at the Amarillo Tournament. They come to Memphis determined to add another victory over the Owls to their perfect record, and the Owls are positive that this cannot be done.

According to word received Saturday afternoon from W. T. Gram, manager of the Wolves, Ollie Walker, underhanded hurler who has often sent teams home in defeat for the Owls, will in all probability take the mound for the Wolves; and he is assured that he will be backed by some of the fastest fielders and hardest hitters that can be gathered on the South Plains. Jack Knight, veteran Owl hurler who carried the Owls to victory in the Amarillo Tournament as well as in many games at home, will hold the same position for the home team; and he will be backed by the same old Owl spirit and excellent working machine.

Today's game is scheduled to be the really good game of the season in Memphis, and Owl expected to be packed before the game is called at

Memphis Owls Lose Fast Game Friday To Clarendon Team

The Memphis Owls lost their first game at home in three weeks Friday, when they dropped a fast game to Clarendon 8-5. Burleson took the mound for the Owls and allowed the Clarendon nine eleven hits, while Fitzgerald, opposing hurler, allowed the Owls only six hits. The game started slow and the Owls saw a 1-1 tie, but in three stanzas the Owls were run for each period, and they were to have the game in their grasp. The Clarendon sluggers tagged a rally in the next two innings, however, and accounted for seven of their eight runs in those two periods. Four errors for the Owls helped account for their defeat.

Wilson made the only home run of the game when he parked a line drive just out of reach of the left fielder. There were no men on bases when this homer was pulled out.

Clarendon Downed In Game Saturday

The Memphis Owls split the two-game series with Clarendon by taking the second game, Saturday, 15-5. The Owls started a hit and run game at the very opening, and Clarendon was wondering how to get them out throughout the entire game. Ables held the mound position for the Owls, and, although he almost let the Clarendon nine get away in the lead in the first inning, he pitched himself out of a hole by stopping them with only one run and three men on bases. In the third, Clarendon took three runs in an attempt to overcome the Owls' lead, but they found that it was impossible. The Owls biggest inning came in the sixth when they tallied five runs on four hits.

AMARILLO INVITES AMATEUR GOLFERS

Every amateur golfer maintaining a bona fide residence within the boundary line indicated on the above map is invited to participate in the Panhandle Amateur Golf Tournament at the Hillcrest Golf and Country Club, Amarillo, August 9 and 10. Many inquiries have been received by the manager of the tourney from players living outside these limits, however, since the meet is to give all amateur golfers within this territory a chance to play for the largest list of prizes ever offered in the Southwest, the committee is refusing all applications from golfers not living within the indicated limit.

Here is the Chrysler Royal Six Sedan, grand prize in the Panhandle Amateur Golf Tournament. About 90 other awards, ranging from a Kelvinator refrigerator to six golf balls and that represent an outlay of $5,200, have been donated by Amarillo merchants. A radio, high class golf equipment leather goods and silverware are included.

Standing by the car are the members of the tournament committee and the donor of the prize. Reading from left to right they are: W. W. Woolsey, Mansel Merriman, N. D. Bartlett and Wes Izzard of the committee and J. N. Riggs, of the Panhandle Motor Co. donor of the Chrysler. The tourney will be August 9 and 10. Those wishing to enter may get in touch with W. W. Woolsey, Chairman of the committee.

Here and There IN SPORTS

BY ADRIAN ODOM

You cannot loaf and win. Loafing has defeated more good teams in every sport in the world than any other one thing. A good team goes in the field against a poor one, and they know they can win. When they decide that they can win without working, they are very likely to lose.

There is a strange thing about starting a game by loafing. When a team falls behind it is almost impossible to go to work and win. This is true especially in football and baseball. For this reason, no really good team will loaf in a game regardless of the ability of the opponents.

Friday, a weak team defeated a far better team because the good team was loafing. The Owls went against Clarendon and lost a supposedly easy victory. They did not play baseball; victory was assured, and they did not have to play. That exhibition of egotism was the worst the Owls have ever shown.

It will likely never happen again. The wise old birds have probably received added wisdom from the results of Friday's game. With the Owls playing as they did, it did them much good to lose. Had they won that game they would have repeated their action, and may have had a much worse defeat in store for them in the future.

The absence of Clary and Thompson from the line-up may have had something to do with the type of play shown by the Owls, but it could not have possibly accounted for all of it. It is a weak team that is built on one or two men or even eight men. It takes nine men to make a baseball team, and a real team has every man as important to itself as any one of them.

The Owls were due a slump, however, after the long hard grind at Amarillo, and now for some real baseball. We will have it. It will start today when the Owls meet Silvertown. The Silvertown nine is practically the same as the team that played for Turkey in the holiday games. They defeated the Owls in two of the best contests of the season.

Junior sports should be encouraged in Memphis. It creates a desire for sports in the heart of the young boys, makes better players out of them, improves their bodies and makes good sportsmen. This is an advantage to high school and semi-pro sports in Memphis.

Scout Troop No. 4 Plans 3-Day Hike

Troop No. 4 of the local Boy Scouts are planning a three-day outing in the Browder Canyons north of Memphis starting next Tuesday afternoon and lasting through Friday. About sixteen boys of the troop with Scoutmaster J. Hardin Mallard will enjoy the outing. The three days will be spent in the study of scouting, camping and cooking over a camp fire, and several new Scouts will be initiated into the organization. The camp will also take up the study of hiking, tacking and swimming, and each day's program will include a variety of subjects.

An interesting program has been worked out by the Scoutmaster. It includes, besides the studying, games to be played during the day and around the campfire at night, story telling and treasure hunting.

Coy Harris, of Crowell, was a Memphis visitor Saturday.

THIS AND THAT

I am hoping that SMALL will be in the runoff. His MA and PA are also hoping that he will be the next governor of Texas. Some people say that he is too YOUNG, but it isn't so. He may not be an EARLE or anything like that, but he has a STERLING character. I'd just LOVE to see him elected because I know he'll BARRY politics and develop Texas.

Memphis at last has a tree sitter! No foolin', people, I'm telling the truth. Archie Boy Bagwell, 11 years old, who lives at 603 16th street, ascended a cedar tree in his front yard at 4 p. m. Thursday and he's been up ever since, a total of 56 hours at midnight last night.

I went out to see Archie yesterday afternoon and asked him how long he expected to stay up. "I'm going to try to beat those Amarillo boys," he said. That's the spirit, people, that's the spirit. I hope he stays up all summer, if it takes that long. Anything to beat Amarillo at anything.

Archie is all fixed up with a tarpaulin over his head, a nice comfortable seat in the forks of a limb and an electric light above his head. He says his chief occupation is reading, and that he's "not tired yet."

At the Palace Friday night a confirmed woman hater was giving his views on the inconsistency and independability of women. "The good Lord sure did make a big mistake out of one little rib," he said.

My intentions were good when I started this column. I fully intended to try to write something that would at least be readable, but right now—8:10 p. m. Saturday—election returns are coming in thick and fast and Russell Clark is making so much noise relaying the returns to Willis Walker at the Turkey Enterprise that I can't think. (I'll send the sheriff after the first man who says that isn't the only reason I can't think.)

Under existing conditions, I suppose I'll have to cease. (Cheers from the gallery).

But before I stop, I want to quote a few paragraphs that I found in a trade journal. These excerpts are being printed for the benefit of some of my severest critics. I believe the reasoning is sound. What do you think?

Public opinion changes slowly, usually so slowly that the change is barely perceptible. Individuals who try to defy this mighty public opinion are crushed like ants.

Reformers who try to move faster than public opinion are crucified.

When men try to fight the world they get their names into the newspapers. The public is amused by these skirmishes, just as men are amused when a goat butts its head against a concrete wall.

Midsummer Horse Show Scheduled

AMARILLO, July 26. (Special)—The Midsummer Horse Show at Amarillo, to be held August 2 under the auspices of the Tri-State Fair Association and the Junior Welfare League, has attracted 118 entries in the 15 classes of competitions.

Horses that have won prizes in Madison Square Garden, New York; Columbus, Ohio; Lexington, Kentucky; Fort Worth, San Antonio, and other big shows of the country are entered in the competition. These horses are now owned by residents of Amarillo, Pampa and Panhandle.

The 15 classes will be divided between a matinee and night performance. The matinee is intended primarily for children, and will include children's classes and the jumping horse class. Each program will be about three hours long, the matinee starting at 2:30 o'clock and the evening program at 8 o'clock.

Seats for the matinee will be

WEBSTER BROS. NAMED AGENTS FOR AUSTINS

New Autos Will Be Available Within Short Time

An announcement of interest to the automotive trade was made by Joe Webster Saturday when he stated that Webster Bros. had been appointed local agents for the American Austin bantam cars. The firm will handle this car in addition to Whippets and Willys-Knights.

The first shipment of the Austins is expected within the next several weeks. They will sell for around $500 delivered in Memphis fully equipped. The Austin weighs 1130 pounds, holds five pints of oil and five gallons of gasoline. The gasoline consumption is 40 miles to the gallon.

The cars will be available in three body types: Coupe, roadster, and commercial. They have a wheelbase of 77 inches and will develop a speed of 60 miles per hour.

A shipment of four Austin cars came through Memphis Friday night and created considerable interest. They were en route from Wichita Falls to Amarillo where they will be on display Sunday.

50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children between 7 and 15. Evening admission will be 75 cents for the grandstand. Most of the boxes have been reserved at $1.50 for each seat.

The fair association is improving its stables at an expense of several hundred dollars, and the improvement will be completed in time for the show. The event will be the first effort toward an annual horse show in Amarillo that promises to become one of the greatest in the Southwest.

Weighing, Testing Milk Profitable

Weighing and testing each cow's milk in the herd is the only sure way to bigger milk and cream checks, 400 Texas farmers are showing in dairy herd demonstrations conducted by county agents. Demonstrators and neighbors are learning that butterfat may be produced for less than 20 cents per pound by feeding each cow according to production, culling out the low producers, furnishing sudan grass pasture in summer, and following other good dairy management practices.

Demonstration records are kept on calendars furnished by the Extension Service through county agents. Characteristic of the information revealed in these records is the discovery in Terry county during a recent month that a cow can't begin to pay profits there until she has given 321 pounds of milk, or stated another way, the first 15.4 pounds of butterfat went to pay the feed bill. Many counties are reporting that green pasture cuts the cost of producing butterfat as much as 10 cents per pound in some cases, and that sometimes an acre of sowed pasture returns more money than an acre of cotton.

Leverett-Williams Serve Breakfasts

With Frank Conway as head "chef," Leverett-Williams Pharmacy has instituted a breakfast service through their fountain department, according to an announcement made this week by Vernon Williams.

Several club breakfast menus have been arranged in a manner that they may be served speedily. "After a number of insistent requests from some of our patrons, we decided to add a speedy breakfast service to our store," Mr. Williams said. "Business men and women especially seem to appreciate the opportunity of having their breakfast from our fountain when they are in a hurry," he said.

Ernest Jackson, of San Antonio, a resident of Memphis in the early days, is here for a visit with old friends.

To Bring You GREATER VALUES at LOWER PRICES

PRICES are low on many good tires, but there is only one "best". The Firestone Company, Firestone Dealers and Service Stores join in reducing distribution costs.

It was not enough for Firestone to originate and apply economies in tire building. Firestone now originates and further applies economies to distribution which reduce our cost and enable us to increase our volume at small profits... We invite you to come in and see the new Firestone Line at these low prices. We not only have tires in all popular sizes, but we have the cross sections so that you may examine the inside construction of the tire, and actually see the advantages of Firestone over other makes. You will be convinced that no such values have ever been offered you before.

Problems of Hiway

Highway Commissioners elect rather than appointive. These proposals over which the Governor could exercise a large determinative power. But both considered have not received a tenth consideration that has been given to the proposal to issue highway bonds, over which the Governor can exercise no more determinative power than can any private citizen.

With respect to that particular proposal, Mr. Sterling has committed himself unqualifiedly and Mr. Love has declared himself against it, though whether against both the submission and adoption of it or against only the adoption of it has not been, in all cases, made quite clear, notwithstanding the fact that the two propositions are so distinct and different that one might consistently favor the one and oppose the other.

Governor Could Not Determine
But it does not matter much whether those who are opposed to the issuance of highway bonds are also opposed to allowing the people to pass judgment on that policy. Nor does it matter more to Mr. Sterling and Mr. Love on the affirmative side of both propositions, the one unqualifiedly and the other qualifiedly. For none of them, if elected Governor, would have any authoritative voice in determining either of those questions.

One must suppose that all residents of the State who have reached the voting age know this, notwithstanding the overshadowing prominence which that proposal has had in the debates which immediately preceded it. But a stranger left to piece an understanding for our political processes deductive from the campaign speeches would never suspect it. He would be more likely to infer that among the powers of the Governor there is included the authority to sign a mortgage against the property of the State's citizens in any amount that he might please. At least, he would infer that a joint resolution of the Legislature, amending the State's constitution as much subject to the Governor's veto authority as is a bill, would be of transcendent importance.

Of the discussion of the proposal to issue highway bonds has been educational. But that marks no gain. For more of it has been miseducational. All of it has been irrelevant to the only considerations which logically concern the voter in making his choice among men who are rival aspirants to the office of Governor. Yet that irrelevance has been paramount over other matters which four months ago were thought to be of transcendent importance.

Initial Moves In River Navigation Project Under Way

DALLAS, July 26. (Special)—Declaring that the co-operation manifested by Fort Worth, Dallas, Galveston, Palestine, Corsicana, Denton, and other cities affected by Trinity River navigation, indicates a unified and wholesome spirit, John Fouts, newly appointed General Manager of the Trinity River Navigation Association today is preparing the initial moves in the project. Mr. Fouts pointed out that the dedication ceremonies on July 14th.

Significance of Ceremonies
At a recent luncheon sponsored by the Dallas Real Estate Board honoring West Texas and East Texas Chambers of Commerce, Judge Charles Coombes pointed out the significance of the dedication ceremonies. He declared that the unified spirit displayed by Fort Worth and Dallas was an extremely important contribution to the future of the Southwest. Hubert Harrison, Executive Secretary of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, informally paid tribute to the spirit of unification prevalent in Texas, and pointed out the importance of Trinity River Navigation to East Texas. In speaking of the attitude of Judge Coombes and Mr. Harrison, Mr. Fouts said, "With such men as Judge Coombes, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Davis of Galveston, and other important leaders, we should have no difficulty in selling the importance of Trinity River Navigation."

Civic Leaders Jubilant
Civic leaders here are jubilant over the enthusiastic support being accorded the navigation venture by Amon G. Carter of Fort Worth. A prominent banker here said, "Mr. Carter is undeniably one of the outstanding men in the country. When he starts a job, he always finishes it. His aid in Trinity River Navigation will be of immeasurable value. He has the respect of national leaders. In short, with Amon G. Carter backing the project, it can't fail." This tribute to Mr. Carter is the attitude of leaders of Dallas and other cities affected by navigation plans.

definitely proved that the Southwest is cognizant of the importance of Trinity River Navigation.

Dedication of Dredge

The dedication of the dredge John J. Simmons, which is digging a turning basin at the expense of the Trinity River Reclamation District, is hailed as one of the outstanding contributions to the future of Texas. The dedication ceremonies, according to Mr. Fouts, aroused a civic consciousness, concentrated the dynamic abilities of Fort Worth and Dallas, and acted as a means of impressing government engineers with the viewpoint of the people of Texas toward navigation.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Chapman and son, Cullen, left the first part of the week for a visit with Mr. Chapman's brother at Borger and his mother at Amarillo.

Mrs. Coy Harris, of Crowell, formerly of this city, came Friday for a visit with Mrs. Ray Webster and Mrs. Jim Martindale.

Archie Pool of Clarendon spent the day in Memphis, Wednesday, while en route to Denton.

Mrs. R. R. Thomas and children of Pampa are guests of Mrs. E. W. Thomas while E. W. Thomas and R. R. Thomas are attending the Farmers Short Course at College Station.

Mrs. S. F. Loy of Montague County is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. E. Cooper of Indian Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Davenport and children returned Wednesday from their vacation spent at Cowles, New Mexico.

E. W. Thomas of Memphis and R. R. Thomas of Pampa attended a dairy meeting at Plainview Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Easterling and daughters, Kathryn and Roberta, left Friday morning to visit relatives in Wichita Falls and Vernon.

13 Boy Scouts—

that Scouts have been used in this way, and since their service proved so satisfactory. The Democrat wants to commend them to the public at large as being of invaluable aid on public occasions of this kind.

It was remarkable to notice the way in which the Scouts obeyed the orders of their Scout Executive and those whom they assisted. They never had to be asked twice to do a given thing. They were "on their toes" every minute of the time, often anticipating in advance what would be asked of them. They never hesitated, or asked for instructions more than once, but went right ahead with their work like seasoned veterans.

The success of The Democrat's election party may be attributed in large part to the work done by the Scouts and their Executive and The Democrat not only wants to thank them for the service they rendered, but it is believed that the city in general feels the same way about the matter and is desirous of commending the boys on the way in which they deported themselves.

hear the report from Precinct No. 1, in Memphis. It was an orderly crowd and few demonstrations were made. The only real applause came when Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson forged ahead of Ross Sterling in the state count.

The Democrat began receiving reports shortly after seven o'clock. In addition to furnishing the state and county returns to the crowd here, the paper furnished a like service to the Turkey Enterprise at Turkey. Two long distance telephones and two local telephones were installed to take care of the reports, in addition to having the Western Union line in the office. Three large blackboards on The Democrat awning furnished the means of informing the crowd as to what was transpiring. In addition, hundreds of local and long distance telephone messages were answered.

distance telephone connection to Turkey; M. E. McNally for his reports on the county races; Olin Alexander and J. Claude Wells for their help in getting the reports to the crowds and calling off the figures, and helping in posting them.

The Democrat is also indebted to the City of Memphis, and Mayor S. T. Harrison particularly for permission to rope off the street in front of the office; to Chief of Police Bill Huddleston and Officer Marvin Humphreys for their invaluable services; to the King Furniture Company for the use of tables; to the First Baptist Church and Rev. E. T. Miller for the use of a blackboard and to the school board for the use of another board; to Carl Troop and the State Telephone Company for the installation of wires; to Roy Hardin for his good

Cow Testing Profitable

M. W. Hopkins, Grayson County farmer, is shown in the illustration, weighing and recording one cow's production in his large herd. "Testing is entirely practical for any dairy farmer," he says, "and the only way I know to lay the foundation for a profitable dairy business."

The Dapple-Gray

When the dapple-gray was a '4-yeer ole',
And he led the herd with a flying mane,
Then the idle days of the colt were done,
And the hour had come for the trace and rein
So we 'snubbed 'im up' at the 'emubbing post',
And he fought, red-eyed, for an hour or more,
'Til his will was broke by the hempen rope,
And he let us fit the old hackamore.
Then his value rose in the minds of men,
As he learned the law of the trace and rein.
As he drew the plow through the ranks of corn,
Or the dusty reaper that cut the grain.
When the world has learned with the dapple-gray
That the power to serve is the mete of worth—
Then the golden age of our dreams will dawn,
And a truer freedom will bless the earth.

work in taking the telegraphic reports, in addition to the work of the Boy Scouts, for which appreciation has already been expressed.

Election Extra—

election is tabulated from each county and sent into the office of The Texas Election Bureau. It is then dispatched to those papers who have purchased its services. The Democrat will continue to give telegraphic bulletins on the state races beginning today at two o'clock and continuing until ten o'clock tonight. Those interested are invited to come to The Democrat office and get the returns. By the time the count is stopped Sunday night, an accurate estimate on all state races should be available.

This paper will maintain a like service on August 23 when the run-off primary will be held.

Staff Is Given—

how! It seemed almost too good to be true, and if all the donors of the food could have seen the staff and their co-workers partaking of the food, there is no doubt but they would have felt amply repaid for the treat.

To begin with, fried chicken, cake, potato salad and all necessary trimmings were furnished through the thoughtfulness of J. M. Hackney and Edward Smith and his mother, Mrs. Ada Smith. From this time on, they can have anything they want around The Democrat office—even to the sign that proclaims this to be "Yout Home Paper." Mrs. Elmer S. Shelley brought down a veritable repast consisting of sandwiches, olives, pickles and "goodies" of all kinds as a treat from the two young Shelleys, Arnold and John. An immense quantity of iced tea to help wash down the delectable viands was furnished by Mrs. Jim Pearson with the compliments of Albert and R. C. Pearson. These two boys have always been favorites with The Democrat, but now they have endeared themselves even more so to the entire force.

Just as the force was about to get started on their eating orgy, in came a messenger from Rube's Coffee Shop with coffee and sandwiches. It was the best coffee that ever trickled through a percolator and the sandwiches were in keeping with the usual excellent ones made at Rube's. Rube Sisk and his whole outfit have proved themselves friends of The Democrat in many ways, but they capped the climax with their treat Saturday.

Adding to the enjoyment of the repast was a number of sacks of Memphis Potato Chips furnished through the courtesy of the Garrett Candy Company. These added just the right flavor to the meal. They were sent with the statement that since they did not have potato salad, they would send the next best thing—potato chips—and they proved to be equal to the occasion in every single respect.

Last, but not least, one of the finest angel food cakes that ever came into existence in this locality was sent down to the force with the compliments of Miss Ira Hammond. The cake was truly delicious. Along with the cake came a statement which said: "No publicity please," but we believe Miss Ira Hammond will forgive us for what we are saying about this cake. It was wonderful and every person on the staff is deeply grateful for the thoughtfulness shown.

After the table had been cleared, and the staff had once more gotten back to normal, following the surprise feed, ice cream was furnished the staff through the courtesy of the Clark Drug Company. It was sent up to what Mr. Clark said was a "hard working bunch." This cream exactly hit the spot that was left vacant by the feast, and made room for the coffee that was served to the staff by Mrs. Thos. B. Huff at three o'clock Sunday morning.

After all this food, it has been an exceedingly hard task to write any intelligible copy and all mistakes in this extra must be blamed upon people who take a newspaper man at his word when he says the staff gets hungry and that he, in particular, likes potato salad!
