HEART MONITOR

This new heart monitor, at back, was installed this week at St. Joseph's Hospital, to be used principally in the operating room. The "patient" is Mary Aguirre of the hospital staff, and one electrode connecting her to the machine is beneath the patch of white tape on her chest. Sister Perpetua, hospital administrator, is at left, while Sister Augustine watches the monitor.

Part of a System

St. Joseph's Has New Heart Monitor

A heart monitor was installed in St. Joseph's Hospital this week, another piece of equipment to be used in the work of saving lives.

It will be used principally in the operating room to monitor the patient's heart during surgery, Sister Perpetua, the hospital administrator, said. It can be used also to make electrocardiograms.

"It is a part of a heart monitoring system used in major hospitals," Sister Perpetua said. It is also recommended to all hospitals in the Medicare program and it is expected to become a requirement.

During surgery, the monitor benefits both the doctors and the anesthetist, it was pointed out. The two anesthetists now working with the hospital, Mrs. Carolyn Shoemaker of Erick, Okla., and Miss Genevieve Jones of Memphis, are trained in its use. Wellington doctors use it also.

So sensitive is the monitor that the slightest irregularity of the heart is recorded.

The machine itself looks like a miniature television set, mounted on a slender pole at eye-level—tracings of light indicating the heart's condition move constantly across a five-inch screen, the largest made for heart monitoring equipment of this type.

This unit is manufactured by the Burdick Corp., of Milton, Wis., and the type was developed by the surgical team which is headed by Dr. Michael DeBaey of Houston.

To connect patient and machine, three small electrodes are taped onto his body, two of which pick up the electrical potential of the heart.

This is a versatile machine, Sister Perpetua pointed out. In St. Joseph's Hospital it can also be used for electrocardiograms.

In conjunction with additional equipment, it can be used to monitor a patient's heart in his room, and hooked to a relay system, read by qualified personnel in a central station.

Wellington Rotarians heard their district governor, Dr. Jack Rodgers of Odessa, as he made his annual visit to the Club Wednesday, August 7.

Inch of Rain Boosts Crops in Wide Area

Up to an inch of much-needed moisture fell over a wide band in the central and southern part of the county Monday evening, Aug. 12. However, only light rainfall was reported north of Salt Fork and in the eastern part of Collingsworth.

Ironically, crops in the parts of the county that have received more than 40 inches of rain this year were needing moisture badly, for much of the waters in May and July flooding drained off.

Wellington registered approximately one inch of rainfall, and to the northwest, Crossroads had 1.25.

Between these two points, 1.10 inches was recorded at the Cecil Masten farm.

Earl Keller reported that he had 1.10 inch also at the corner of Dalhart and 9th Streets, and a short distance south of the southwest corner of town, A. C. Shipley reported .70.

Lloyd Woodbridge reported 1 inch fell at his farm south of town, and farther on, W. M. Durfee, south of Loco, received 1.10 inches.

Rain was still good in the Fresno community, where J. B. Killian reported .90, but at Dodson, and to the area north of there, only one-half inch was received.

Newell McDaniel, who lives immediately over the state line east of Dodson said he received .40.

The area between Dodson and Hollis received a good rain on Tuesday night, however, recording from an inch to an inch and a half. This did not reach into the immediate Dodson area however.

Southwest of Wellington .75 was received in the Swearingin community.

Only one-half inch fell at Quail, but to the north, along Salt Fork River, moisture measured up to .90.

East of Wellington the rain became lighter, only .20 fell in the Shinnery area, and farmers did not even stop plowing.

North of Salt Fork River, about .30 was reported in the Lutie area and this was considered general for that section of the county.

For the county as a whole, crops were not hurting from the dry weather, but they were coming to the critical point, farmers believe, and some felt the rain came just in time.

Hugo McCord to Preach

Church of Christ Sets Meeting August 18-23

The Church of Christ of Wellington will host a gospel meeting Aug. 18-23, with services each morning at 10:00 and each evening at 7:30. Hugo McCord of Oklahoma City, Okla., will be the guest speaker.

Plans for the meeting were announced this week by E. J. Fletcher, minister of the church.

Mr. McCord attended Freed-Hardeman College, University of Illinois, Virginia Seminary, Southern Seminary, University of Tulsa, and New Orleans Seminary. He received BA, BD, MA, Th.D. degrees.

Mr. McCord has worked with congregations in Indianapolis, Washington, Dallas, Louisville, Bartlesville, New Orleans, and Midwest City. He has served as instructor at Oklahoma Christian College. He is the author of several books, among them "Disciples' Prayer," "Happiness Guaranteed," "The Christian Family," and "From Heaven or From Men."

"Brother McCord is married and the father of two children. He is well known throughout the brotherhood and holds meetings in many states and is often a guest speaker at one of the Christian colleges," said Minister Fletcher.

"We feel that in bringing Brother Hugo McCord to Wellington we are offering the people of our city an opportunity to hear one of the outstanding Bible scholars of our day, and it is our hope that they will avail themselves of this opportunity."

Mrs. R. H. Eads, Longtime Area Resident, Dies

Mrs. R. H. Eads, who made this county her home for 40 years before leaving in 1949, died Friday, Aug. 2 in Thomas Nursing Home. She lived in Pampa and Amarillo until 1965, when she returned here.

From 1918 to 1949, she and the late Mr. Eads operated a produce house in Wellington, which at the time they closed it was one of the older firms here operated by one family.

Mrs. Eads was the former Beulah Robbins, daughter of R. D. and Susan Robbins. She was born Oct. 31, 1886, in Bentonville, Ark.

She was married to Robert H. Eads Dec. 28, 1903, at Minco, Okla., and they lived at Tuttle, Okla., before coming to the Aberdeen community in 1909.

Mr. Eads preceded her in death Feb. 22, 1962.

She was a charter member of the First Christian Church in Wellington.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 4 in First Christian Church. Charles H. Hicks, minister, officiated and burial was in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Zook Thomas, Bill Langford, Charley Caldwell, Howard Riggs, Earl Hunter and Henry Langford.

Fifth from Wellington

Jan Blain Crowned Greenbelt Bowl Queen

Wellington's Jan Blain was chosen 1968 Greenbelt Bowl Queen at the annual Greenbelt Football game in Childress Saturday night, Aug. 10.

Miss Blain was nominated by Jim Lindsey of Wellington, a guard on the East team. The coronation took place at half-time of the game Saturday night, and was the climax to a series of entertainments given Friday and Saturday to honor the nominees.

Congressman Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, representing the 13th District, presented the trophy to the new queen.

Miss Blain is the fifth Wellington girl to be crowned Greenbelt Bowl Queen — the most to come from any town.

The first to be crowned was Miss Tanya Smith, now Mrs. Bill Herring of Dallas, in 1952. She was followed in 1961 by Miss Elaine Yarbrough, now Mrs. Tony White of Wellington; in 1963, Miss Beverly Singley, a student in Texas Technological College; and in 1964 by Miss Sammie Thompson, who is now Mrs. Kenneth Alan Davis of Mineral Wells.

• Joe Walker of Oklahoma in a Cessna 170 stopped to refuel at Wellington Flying Service.

• Flying a Cessna 172, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Stevenson landed Friday, Aug. 9. Los Angeles is their home base, and they are returning after a trip to Kansas City, Rockford, Ill., Dayton, O., Washington, D. C., Memphis, Tenn., and Wellington.

"Now it's LA or Bust," they noted in the Airport Register. The couple commented to Mr. and Mrs. Duggie Jameson and Cliff Hartman of Wellington Flying Service that they were very impressed with Marian Airpark.

"The only disadvantage they could see is that it's not lighted for night landing and take-off," Mrs. Jameson said.

"They had planned to stay a while, rest, eat supper, and then take off when it got cooler."

• Billy Pat Swift of Houston, formerly of Wellington, stopped by on his way to Spearman to spray feed. He was flying a Cessna 180.

• Gene Morrow of Morrow Flying Service has been at Hereford in agri-spraying operations. He left expecting to be gone two or three days, but this stretched to more than two weeks.

• All local ag pilots are working full time spraying the milo fields to combat the greenbug run. Mrs. Jameson reported. This infestation has been building up for several weeks but became critical only a few days ago.

• Troy Stafford of Tulsa brought his Swift in for repair at Wellington Flying Service.

• Gordon Maddox of Memphis brought his Piper Tri-Pacer to Wellington Flying Service recently.

• Harry Frye of Shamrock brought in his plane, a Cessna for repair, and has picked it up.

Mae Hutchings

Former Resident Has One-Man Exhibit

Mrs. Mae Hutchings, whose one-man show was held Tuesday, July 30 in Palestine, had never taken art lessons until three years ago.

A former Wellington woman, she had not yet discovered her talent when she and her husband, George, moved to Palestine.

Twenty-two of her paintings were on display, most of them in oils, the medium she prefers. Although she adds that pastels are "prettiest and softest."

Mrs. Hutchings is a student of Miss Annie B. Rogers, and her exhibit contained a variety of subjects.

Mrs. Hutchings has an 8-year-old daughter, Mary, who also has begun the study of art, and one of her paintings was included in her mother's show.

The artist is the daughter of Mrs. R. L. Tenison of Wellington, and a sister of Mrs. R. L. Templeton and Mrs. Bobo Castleberry. She says she had worked and cared for her children and didn't feel she had time for art lessons. She did not begin her studies until her sons, Dennis Ray Harris of Palestine and Robert Harris of Amarillo, were grown and Mary was in school.

Besides Mary's enthusiasm, Mae Hutchings says she also gets a great deal of encouragement from her husband, George.

Encouragement came, too, from her brother-in-law, Judge Templeton, who contends that painting is an industry that creates a marketable product.

He helped to found Sagebrush Arts and Crafts Association here to coordinate the sale of paintings, ceramics and other handicraft.

Mrs. Hutchings has been invited to show her work at Sagebrush.

GOLD COINS

Prior to 1933, those beautiful American gold coins in various denominations were in full circulation.

Then came the Emergency Banking Act of 1933, which nationalized all gold except for limited amounts permitted in the manufacturing of jewelry, dentistry and other industrial uses.

This Act prohibited banks from paying out gold coin, bullion or gold certificates. And it required the public to turn in all gold coin, bullion and gold certificates to a Federal Reserve Member Bank in exchange for suitable currency.

Then the gold was melted and formed into Standard mint bars 7 inches long, 3 3/4 inches wide, and 1 3/4 inches thick, each worth $14,070.

About four-fifths of this country's huge gold reserve, the world's largest, is stored in the United States Bullion Depository at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

This Is What Farmers Union Has Done For You!

- Given the farmers of the state a powerful voice in Washington and other places where important decisions are made that directly affect farm income.
- Sponsored a Washington Flier program to fly Texas farmers and ranchers to Washington to present economic facts to members of Congress supporting need for improved farm income in the state and to testify before hearings on the Farm Program.
- Helped the farmers in the state to be better informed on how farm income legislation would affect them, so that they would be alert to changes which might be detrimental.
- Was responsible for developing as good a four-year Farm Program as could possibly be passed through the Congress considering the opposition of one large farm organization and several cotton organizations.
- Got the concept of direct payments to the farmer firmly built into the programs for wheat, feed grain and cotton.
- Sought restoration of budgetary cuts that could cripple the effectiveness of the 1965 Farm Bill and damage existing and future programs for soil conservation, Farmers Home Administration, rural housing, school lunch programs, and rural electric cooperatives.
- Fought for and was effective in retaining the 7% investment tax credit on up to $20,000 worth of farm equipment.
- Fought for and was successful in getting revision of skip-row regulations removing the penalty, and the review of inequitable projected yield allocations tied to the skip-row planting pattern.
- Urged and was successful in getting the 2.11 cents increase in cotton payments announced for 1967.
- Protested sales policies permitting CCC sales of cotton in competition with sales of current stocks and was successful in influencing USDA to announce a program for 1967 allowing farmers more headroom to sell their 1967 crop.
- Provided its members with insurance services of all kinds including low cost Group Life and group hospitalization through Blue Cross. Made available low cost direct drug service to its Senior Members.
- Is the only farm organization in the state that has provided constructive support for programs that the farmers and rural communities need.

"Sandwich Month"

August is Sandwich Month—and what better way to begin it than by having an old-fashioned picnic?

If you're not the picnic type, then perhaps you would just like to stay home and experiment with the endless varieties of ingredients available for sandwich-making.

First, start with the bread—white or whole wheat, buns, muffins, Italian, French or Vienna loaves, datenut bread, poppy seed rolls, raisin bread, onion rolls, rye bread, Pumpernickel—the list is almost endless. Now add whatever you like.

You can use chicken, turkey, duck or other type of poultry. Eggs are also a popular ingredient for sandwiches.

If you prefer, try pork or beef—even seafood. Add to this any of a multitude of kinds of cheeses: Cheddar, American or Swiss, Gouda or Edma, Roquefort or Blue Cheese, or cream cheese. Now your sandwich is beginning to take shape!

Try using some vegetables, such as tomatoes, lettuce, celery and onion, green peppers, pimientos, cabbage, cucumbers and radishes, just to mention a few.

Finally choose what kind of spread or spice you want and you're ready to eat.

Here are several taste-tempting delights:

CHEESE-CHOPPED TURKEY SANDWICH

Use half a hamburger bun for each sandwich. Spread the cut side with butter or margarine. Add thinly sliced roast turkey, onions and tomatoes. Top with slices of sharp Cheddar cheese and pop under the broiler just until cheese begins to melt and is nipped with a golden brown. Meanwhile, warm the tops of the buns in the oven, so they'll be ready when the turkey-cheese halves come from the broiler.

August Sandwich Month Specials

Bagel or onion roll, cream cheese, smoked salmon, anchovies or canned salmon, sweet onion slices, freshly ground pepper and sprinkling of salt, with French fry garnish.

Buttered dark rye, corned beef, French fried onions, mustard, horseradish, lettuce, pickle garnish.

Toasted potato bread, shredded dried beef, chopped pimiento, Cheddar cheese, salad dressing, lettuce, with pickled whole beet garnish.

The combinations are almost endless. Why don't you try inventing your own special sandwich?

Vacation Precautions

Don't advertise your absence while you go on vacation. You should take these precautions:

1. Leave shades and blinds in normal position, not tightly shut.

2. Leave a few lights burning, or use a device to turn them on at night and off in daytime.

3. Halt milk and paper deliveries.

4. Make arrangements to have your lawn mowed.

5. Have your mail held at the post office, or arrange for a neighbor to pick it up.

6. Leave a key with a trusted neighbor.

7. Notify the police of the length of your absence. Tell them who has your house key.

Consumer Clips

● Consider this suggestion for baking fresh fruit. For best results, add a small amount of water and sugar to fruit that has been placed in a baking dish. Cover and bake in a moderate oven until fruit is fork tender.

● Bone discoloration in young poultry doesn't affect the quality, aroma, flavor or texture of the meat. Bone discoloration is due to changes in the protein coloring matter of the red blood cells from red to shades of brown.

● One of the most economical, yet flavorful cuts of beef is the blade chuck roast. USDA prime and choice grades of chuck can be roasted, even though it has several muscles that vary in tenderness. Chuck can be cooked as pot roast in all grades. Allow about three-fourths pound per person.

● Watermelon fits in especially well with gelatin fruit salads. It can be included either as a puree (reduce the liquid content somewhat in preparing the gelatin mixture) or in whole balls or tiny slivers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Richardson and daughters, Karen and Linda have returned home after a week's vacation in south Texas. They visited in Houston and also attended HemisFair in San Antonio.

Vikki worked with the "Texas" production in its costuming department while she was enrolled in West Texas State this summer. What Projects Will Further Collingsworth's Economic Growth

Is there a project you believe will help the economic growth of Collingsworth County? Right now you can step up and present it.

The Soil Conservation Districts of Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hall and Donley Counties are working toward a North Rolling Plains Resource Conservation and Development Project, whose chief aim is to better the economic opportunities of rural areas—ours is one. It appears an application is only weeks away.

Various organizations of the county are being asked to submit project proposals and most of us are a member of one or more of these organizations. We can step up and through them make our project known.

The RC&D Program is working in other parts of Texas. Water resources have been developed for recreation, wildlife, flood prevention, agricultural, municipal and individual use.

Another field is improvement of income-producing and tourist-attracting recreation facilities, including scenic and historical attractions.

RC&D encourages new industries using local materials and labor to locate within the approved area.

Its projects have included senior citizen housing, airport improvement, hospital and nursing home expansion, water development and management, animal health projects, insect control research, marketing co-operatives, industrial park development, catfish farming, and many others.

There are many sources of financing available, and one of the functions of the RC&D program is to help feasible projects find financing.

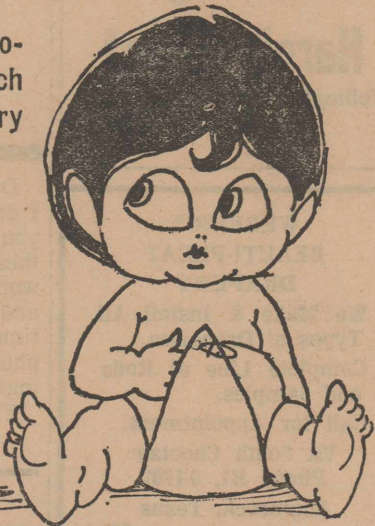

Local people working together are the key to the success of this program. Here is an opportunity waiting for us to take hold of it.

HUGLUND'S HAPPENINGS

August 15, 1769—Napoleon Bonaparte, French dictator and military genius, is born.

Huglund.

AUSTIN.—With the Republican convention out of the way, Paul Eggers of Wichita Falls got back to his campaign for governor of Texas.

And his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, got started on a round of meetings with delegates to the state Democratic convention to see what they want in the party platform.

Smith's 31 meetings with delegates from each of the 31 Senatorial districts is an unusual approach to the party grassroots. He is asking the delegates to tell him how he should campaign to offset the growing Republican threat.

Democrats recall that in 1960 when then Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was the Republican candidate for president, the unknown Republican for governor, William M. Steger, got 609,808 votes without even making a campaign. This time Eggers has been campaigning for months. He has been picking up support from dissident Democrats like Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and, with Nixon on the top of the ticket again, he is considered a real threat.

Eggers has been making a series of regional bus tours, campaigning in as many as 30 towns in four days, in an effort to duplicate the Smith success with personal campaigning.

During the primary campaign, Smith visited in 225 counties, some of which had never before seen a candidate for governor. This hard work showed up when he won the Democratic nomination easily.

Legislative Conference
Texas House Speaker Ben Barnes will attend the National Legislative Conference in Miami, Fla., Aug. 20-22.

Among the topics to be discussed by the state legislative leaders from all 50 states are bloc grants to states from the federal government, annual legislative sessions and others concerning the recent problems in state government.

Barnes is president-elect of the conference.
Atty.-Gen. Opinions
Community Action Agencies handling poverty programs may not be under the direction of county commissioners' courts nor may they be headed by persons designated by commissioners courts, according to an opinion by Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin.

Opinion notes that under the Texas Constitution, commissioners courts shall deal only with county business and concludes that poverty programs are not within the constitutional boundaries of commissioners court power.

Securities Decisions
State Securities Board received 22 applications for permits to sell $8,939,110 in securities in Texas last week.

Securities Commissioner William M. King said the applications included two Texas companies — Accelerators, Inc., of Austin, and Electronic Data Systems Corporation, Dallas. Deputy Commissioner Truman G. Holladay has ordered discontinuance of trade in the securities of Computronics Industries Corporation and Universal Computa-Data Corporation, both

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where the Food and Drug Administration took 7,800 pages of testimony, and spent 30 months and a heap of money to decide that any dope with less than 90% peanuts in it cannot be called peanut butter.

It could be that this 90% guideline will eventually be applied to other things, like politicians: whereby a man will have to have a record of 90% go-along with the party line or he can't legally call himself a Democrat or a Republican.

But, while 90% of perfection may be acceptable in peanut butter and politicians, it's not expected that folks can ever satisfy the spendocracy by paying only 90% of their taxes.

Humphrey was to meet with the heads of all international pavilions and to end his visit with a special Western Hemisphere solidarity program between the Mexican and Canadian pavilions.

Student Loans

Texas Opportunity Plan — a state program for making loans available to Texas college and university students — has helped 20,121 students since the program's inception in September, 1966.

Early Loco History Retold at Annual Reunion Sunday

Residents and former residents of the Loco and Arlie communities gathered Sunday, Aug. 11, to renew friendships, reminisce, and hear two talks packed with early history of their area.

Special guests this year were the present and former residents of the Pleasant Point and Fresno communities.

Altogether, approximately 145 were present for the covered dish dinner and the program that followed.

The gifts for the oldest persons attending went to Mrs. Lena Miller for the Arlie community and Mrs. G. W. Hunter for Loco.

Traveling the greatest distance were Zelma Stephens of Midland, from the Loco community, and Mrs. Roy Foster of Amarillo, from Arlie. One member of Loco school's first graduating class was present, Beth Gibson Stubblefield of Amarillo. This was the class of 1930, which had three members.

The graduation was in late April, indicating this may have been an 8-months term. Other members of the class were Ronald "Pee-wee" Sanders and Mildred Gibson.

Judge Glenn Thompson, who served five terms as county judge of Cochran County, and a former Loco resident, was master of ceremonies.

His wife, Naomi Hunt Thompson, gave "The History of Grandmother Griffin's Life in the Loco Community."

This indomitable woman, who knew Kit Carson and Buffalo Bill, and who found her father scalped by New Mexico Indians, was the grandmother of Mr. Thompson.

With her first husband, Jack Woods, she came to the Loco area about 1898. He died in 1904, and in 1909 she was married to W. O. Griffin. It was as "Grandmother Griffin" that she was known to two generations of this area's settlers.

Mrs. Thompson, who teaches at Morton, was chosen the Outstanding Teacher of Cochran County by the Federated Clubs. The last speaker was Mrs. Pat Bouchelle, who presented the history of Loco.

A tremendous amount of work and basic research has gone into this fact-filled history, which Mrs. Bouchelle began a year ago. It is still incomplete, she pointed out as she asked those present for information they may have pertaining to the area and its pioneers.

Her maps showed where the early settlers lived, and the owners of various Loco business houses were pinpointed.

Loco started in a location altogether different from its present site, Mrs. Bouchelle said. It was three miles south of Buck Creek and three north of Red River. United States Post Office records bear out the location of two post offices before the one generally believed to be the first, a half dug-out still standing on the R. R. Crawley farm.

Place names that are new to the present generation, but which held deep meaning to the pioneers, were called—Buck Creek, Brea and Latonia.

She noted that after the first school was moved to Loco, a storm blew it off the foundation. It was not replaced and the floor slanted, but classes continued, and the children called it the "up-grade school."

Along with her history, Mrs. Bouchelle has collected many early pictures which show pioneer homes long disappeared, schools and their students, and others.

Paintings by Miss Bonnie Willis, a former teacher, and Mrs. Goldie Stephens Hillsman of Petersburg were shown, and old clippings and pictures were brought.

Those who registered were: Edith Copeland Carter of Hollis, Edna Copeland Crow of Hollis, Ethel McGinnis of Amarillo, Mrs. J. M. McNabb of Childress, Mrs. Floy Kessler Rapp of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Woods of Childress, Inez Hagerman of Lubbock, Estelle Adkins of Amarillo, Mark and Etta Adkins of Amarillo, Olene Bearden of Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Rube Crawley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Alexander.

Adkins, Elizabeth Gibson Stubblefield of Amarillo, John Calcote, Pat and Louise Bouchelle, George Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rhoades of Amarillo, T. P. Belew, K. K. PLANT FACTS

Plants are more economical than flowers. With the proper care they last indefinitely, even in rooms that are not too well favored by sunlight.

When a number of plants are used, they should be of different leaf shapes and contrasting shades of green.

Tall plants have a tendency to give height to the room. And as they grow taller, they should be supported by green sticks.

To make these stick supports, tie artificial leaves of the same species up and down the entire length. Mount with green thread. The effect will be very satisfactory.

Large, split leaf Philodendrons come with a tall, heavy bark-like support.

Do not hesitate to consult your florist on potted plant care and the choice of flowers for special occasions.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Preston Smith has never had an easy race in any of his state campaigns and he faces a grueling campaign against well-financed opposition this year. This is nothing new to Preston Smith. As the member of a large family on the still unwatered plains he had to work hard for everything he ever achieved from grade school through Texas Tech to his present high and honorable position as Lieutenant Governor and candidate for Governor.

The hard fight has been the lot of the next Governor of Texas in all of his campaigns for state office. He has met each challenge with courage and determination and in all of these he has taken his campaign to the people with the number of his visits unmatched by any candidate for governor in recent years and it has paid off in votes. Now he has started another swing around the state that will take him to each of the state senatorial districts in Texas by the middle of September.

Note to the superintendents of nearby schools. Mrs. Wayne Tucker, the wife of Wellington's new band director, is an English teacher with a minor in Latin and she is looking for a job since there is no opening in the Wellington schools. She is a graduate of North Texas State University, Denton.

Some thefts make no more sense than sheer vandalism. Sometime this summer thieves stole all 50 of the blue and white football jerseys of the A team of the Childress Bobcats. They did not bother anything else—footballs, basketballs, shoes which might have been sold. The police chief said: They can't sell them, wear them or even give them away. The jerseys of the B team were left intact.

Truett Holland says it restores your faith to read of the first aid work of the Boy Scouts following the disastrous bus wreck near Tulia recently. The young Scouts returning from a vacation trip calmly took out their first aid kits and started binding up the wounds and ministering to the injured, maimed and shocked. They were not only given credit for minimizing the suffering of the injured; in some critical cases they were given credit for saving lives.

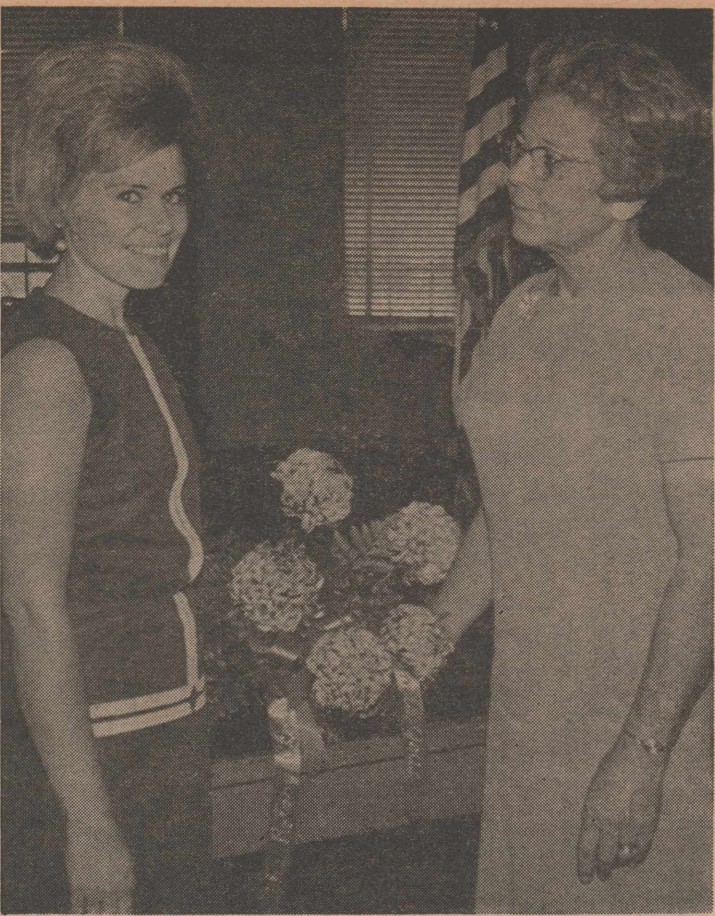

Young rancher Walter Jack Campbell is often seen driving to and from work in a wagon he made, leading his riding horse with his dogs along. Some time back, a man from New York passed him on Highway 83. The New Yorker stopped and asked to take his picture because his friends at home would never believe he had seen that in Texas. Perhaps the parade chairman can get Campbell to bring his outfit to the Fair.

I have been reading about the more mature people going back to college and was considering the idea of returning to the campus in Austin or perhaps Mexico City—almost anywhere except TAMU where there are practically no girls and few agriculturists and mechanics.

All was going well with my thoughts of returning to college when along comes a Leslie J. Nation who says that the mature people planning to re-enter college must learn "study reading". What is study reading? Here is what the professor says: "Study reading for school purposes is quite different from casual reading of newspapers or novels. It is more like reading detective stories, since you are searching for clues and trying to solve a mystery as you read." That wraps it up for me. I will not return as a student to the campus of West Texas State University in Canyon and neither will I return as a student to the University of Texas at Austin. I read detective stories all the time and I am never able to figure out who-dun-it. I want the conclusion to come as a complete surprise like finding a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Ben Ezzell had a good time amplifying on my account of seeing a rainbow north of Paducah and he proliferates as follows in a recent issue of The Canadian Record:

"Maybe the modern generation of youngsters is more sophisticated, but when we were children, one of the absolute certainties in our world of many wonders was that there was a pot of pure gold at the end of

Dozen Selected

Youth Conference to Draw County Youth

Twelve boys and girls will represent Collingsworth County at the Texas Youth Conference which will convene on the campus of the University of Texas Aug. 22 through 25.

Two Wellington girls who attended last year will serve as junior counselors.

The delegates are Sharon Gaston, Judy Porter, Kathy Tyler, Susan Oney, Billy McAlister, Barry Johnson, Teddy McLain, Mike Davis, Kay Taylor and Truitt Holton of Wellington and Betty Coleman and Laura Whitson of Samnorwood.

Their sponsors will be Mrs. H. L. Jenkins and Mrs. John Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. John Althaus.

The junior counselors, Debbie Lewis and Susan Coffee, will leave Sunday for a training period before the Youth Conference opens.

Junior counselors are responsible for planning and carrying out seminar discussions and have dormitory assignments.

They are the leaders of the conference.

The Texas Youth Conference is held each year to promote citizenship among the young of the state. Problems facing the county's youth are brought out every rainbow. As we began to grow older and bright wonder was tarnished by drab wisdom, we began to entertain doubts about the contents of that legendary pot . . . but never having actually reached the end of any rainbow, nor having known anyone who really had, we never completely lost the dream but just allowed it to fade quietly away in the afterglow.

"Now, however, we have the word of a man who has been there. Deskins Wells, reputable long-time editor of The Wellington Leader, long-time friend and a man of undoubted integrity, reports that he has been to the end of a rainbow . . . and a double rainbow at that. It was north of Paducah, a most unlikely place for a rainbow to end, on a recent trip, and Deskins' wife, Louise, was witness to the phenomenon . . . so all doubts must be allayed. It was a perfect double rainbow, Editor Wells reports, and due to the angle of the sun's rays the north end of the rainbow was right there by the side of the road.

"And Editor Deskins Wells, of The Wellington Leader, found no pot of gold at the end of that rainbow by the roadside north of Paducah, Texas. We're sure of that. It's not the kind of thing he'd keep to himself. If Editor Wells, or any other editor of our acquaintance, had found a pot of gold, the world would know about it.

"So the dream dies . . . but it dies reluctantly. After all, Editor Wells found only one end of that rainbow. Who knows? It just might have been the wrong end. That country North of Paducah is certainly not pot-of-gold country . . . never has been. If that rainbow had a pot of gold at its foot, it would certainly have been at the other foot . . . and that foot may have been planted in the mountains of Mexico somewhere, in the Aztec country, where pots of gold may exist.

"We'll cherish the dream, at any rate. Grim truth and drab wisdom must not be permitted to destroy all the golden wonders."

and these boys and girls study ways to meet these problems. The sponsors of the Texas Youth Conference are the law enforcement officers of Texas. The Skyrocket Youth Council met Thursday, August 8, in the Greenbelt building.

Barry Johnson, president, called the meeting to order and Elaine Karnes, secretary, read the minutes. The group was then led in the pledge to the flag.

For the program, a panel of local business men and women discussed youth problems of today and how to give the youth more advantages.

The panel consisted of Mrs. Truett Thomas, Jeff Wilson, C. T. Hubbard, Eddie Slay, Billy Moseley, Louis Graham, Donald Nunneley, and Judge Zook Thomas.

September 1 Final Date to Certify Crops

Farmers who have not reported and certified to their cotton, feed grain and diverted acres are reminded that Sept. 1 is the final date for doing this. Failure to report by the deadline date will cause loss of payments. To date, less than 50% of the farmers in the county have reported their acreages to the ASCS.

Farmers who had their acreages measured officially by the representative of the ASCS office must still sign their certification of performance, if this has not already been done.

Since time is running out and the rush period is on the county office will not have time to assist individuals as the personnel would like with their acreage determinations. Therefore each producer should have his acreage determinations made insofar as possible, before coming to the ASCS office.

"However, we will be glad to give whatever assistance we can as time permits," Millard P. Brown, county office manager said.

The monitor can be used for brain tracings or to record the regular pulse beat.

The cost of the monitor was $1,025, Sister Perpetua revealed.

The administrator announced also that as soon as possible, a defibrillator will be added to the monitor, making it one of the valued pieces of emergency room equipment.

She pointed out the importance of this by explaining that in organic heart disease, fibers of the heart muscle sometimes beat independently and without rhythm, a condition known as fibrillation. The heart may stop altogether, bringing death.

An electrical shock delivered by a defibrillator can correct the rhythm of the heart beat. It can sometimes start again the beating of a heart that has already stopped.

The monitor at St. Joseph's can detect heart fibrillation, but as it now stands, can do nothing about it.
